

RINK MAKERS — Northville Jaycees, who joined with Recreation Director Robert Prom in preparing sites for several ice rinks Saturday, had their fingers crossed in hopes of freezing weather this week. Rinks are planned at Ford Field, Village Green Subdivision, and at several other locations. Meanwhile efforts are being made to secure materials and volunteers for construction of small rink shelters. Interested persons are asked to call John Buckland at 349-0773 or Cecil Morin at 349-5707.

In The City

Small Water Rate Cut Proposed

A modest reduction in water rate bills appears in the offing as the Northville City Council gets set for a public hearing December 21 on an ordinance amendment.

The reduction, which shaves 10-cents or more from water bills that were increased substantially a year ago, is incorporated in the amendment suggested by the city council Monday night.

The amendment represents a 7-percent reduction, compared to the 40-percent increase ordered by the council last year.

Council action follows on the heels of a report that while increased 1970 rates failed to diminish the water department debt as much as initially anticipated the debt nevertheless was decreased sufficiently to warrant a rate reduction.

If the amendment is adopted, the minimum quarter bill will drop 10-cents, from $5.60 to $5.50. A year ago the minimum rate was $4.55.

Rates as recommended in the amendment for 8,000 to 12,000 gallons of water used would drop 5-cents, from 80-cents to 75-cents per 1,000 gallons; for 13,000 to 20,000 gallons, 10-cents from 80-cents to 70-cents per 1,000 gallons; and for over 20,000 gallons, 5-cents from 50 to 45-cents per 1,000 gallons.

Officials estimate that the 1970 increased rates have reduced the debt from $80,000 to $49,000 less than anticipated because of a fall-off in expected new housing construction. Should this (existing) rate continue, officials predict the debt could be paid

City Aid to Ski Club Excludes Members Living in Township

Part of the high school ski club program will be backed by city money, it was decided by the Northville City Council Monday night.

Council voted unanimously to pay up to $400 — at a rate of $4 for each city-resident participant — for transportation to and from the ski slopes.

Excluded from the council measure are members of the ski program who live in the township.

While city money for this program will go to the Northville Recreation Department, which is jointly operated by the city and township, the money was specifically earmarked for city residents because the township board earlier decided not to underwrite the program.

Until this year the ski program had been a regular part of the recreation department program. But because of rising costs and a ballooning recreation department budget the council and the township board shaved the budget and one of the programs scrapped was the ski club.

Subsequently, Recreation Director Robert Prom and one of the ski club's volunteer adult chaperones, Richard Lyon, appealed to the council, to restore the ski program. The council then agreed to partially finance the program — provided the township board agreed to do the same. Township officials declined, and a new appeal was raised before the council Monday by Councilman Paul Folino and City Manager Frank Ollendorff.

According to Folino, some 120 high school age students initially expressed interest in the club this year. Then a week ago, 80 students showed up at an organizational meeting. Of this number, 75 paid $4 to offset the cost of busing for the season. It was not known Monday how many of the 75 are township residents.

(Under the measure adopted by the council Monday, city residents would get their transportation money back and the transportation fee would be paid by the city through the recreation department. Members of the club who live in the township would have to pay their own transportation fee.)

Both Folino and Ollendorff argued that the minimal investment by the

Councilmen Could Get Bonus Terms

Two councilmen, and the mayor, whose terms expire in April, could receive seven additional months in office if the Michigan State Senate this week follows the lead of the House of Representatives.

The Senate was slated to convene yesterday (Wednesday) and take up the Substitute House Bill 4232, approved earlier by the house, which would provide odd-year elections in November for Michigan cities.

If the bill is passed and the city council takes no action to exempt

Northville, the terms of Councilmen Wallace Nichols and Charles Lapham would be extended until November.

Original proposed legislation would also have made similar provisions for township and school elections. The substitute measure, however, affects only cities. Proponents of the measure see it as a first step toward consolidation of elections, with township and school elections being changed within the next two to four years.

The measure before the Senate provides that a city may 'opt-out' (vote to maintain its present election dates) within 30 days of the act becoming law. The bill, if approved by the Senate, could take effect yet this month.

Under the bill, city-elected officials whose terms expire in the spring of 1971 or at any other time prior to November 1971 would continue in office and would not be up for election until November 1971. Furthermore, officials whose present terms are scheduled to end anytime between November 1971 and November 1973 would continue in office until November 1973.

In Northville this latter provision would affect Councilmen Paul Folino and Kenneth Rathert, who were elected to four-year terms in April last year.

Cities desiring to keep their present election dates may do so by council resolution within 30 days after the bill is signed by the governor. Such cities, under the bill, could in the future go to the odd-year November election, or annual November elections, by adoption of an ordinance.

In addition to the odd-year November election, the bill also provides for an August odd-year primary. Primaries are not required where no more than twice the number to be elected file nominating petitions. In Northville primary elections are not required by charter.

The Northville council has informally discussed the proposed state legislation but has taken no steps to support or oppose it. The Michigan Municipal League, however, supports the bill, although it admits that it will

Cheers! Tax Bills Go Out

One of the "bundles of joy" area residents aren't likely to appreciate under their Christmas trees are the winter tax bills that this year in Northville — city and township — total more than $2.5 million.

Increased tax bills, according to City Manager Frank Ollendorff, reflect a near 11-percent increase in the state equalization factor.

In Northville Township, Treasurer Joseph Straub reports that the total winter tax bill for Northville School District is $1,209,681.88, and in the Plymouth School District the school tax bill totals $156,312.16.

Township bills also include $40,413 in township taxes (1-mill), $286,490.51 in county taxes, and $71,222.63 for Schoolcraft Community College.

City Clerk Martha Milne reports the following tax breakdown:

In the Oakland County portion of the city, $47,871.79 in county taxes and $315,900.72 in Northville School District taxes.

In the Wayne County portion of the city, $128,623.08 in county taxes and $614,552.49 in Northville school taxes. The school tax totals include taxes for the community college.

(Taxes for the operation of the city are collected in the summer and thus are not included in the bills property owners just received.)

Deadline for payment of taxes without penalty is February 28 in the township and February 15 in the city.

It's Light Up Time

Northville area residents were reminded this week that plans are underway for the 10th annual Christmas Lighting Contest sponsored by the Northville Jaycees.

"The Jaycees will be out in force the evening of Sunday, December 20th to judge the best symbols of the spirit of Christmas," reported J. Cecil Morin, Jaycee publicity chairman.

Residents of the city and the township area immediately surrounding the city are asked to burn their lights brightly from 7 p.m. until 11 p.m. while the roving judges inspect each residential area.

"And don't be surprised," said Morin, "if a stranger knocks at your door that evening to ask for your name and a few details about your display."

Each group of Jaycees will choose finalists from among the areas they visit for submission to a committee that will make the final selection later in the evening.

The winner will be notified as soon as a decision is reached, he said.

Last year's winner: the Fred Sarnes residence at 20248 Woodhill Drive where more than 5,000 sparkling white bulbs magically outlined the house.

Persons wishing additional information are asked to call Morin at 349-5707 or William Broadus at 349-6042.

Brooks' Rezoning Denied by Township

By a vote of 6-1, Northville Township trustees axed a rezoning request by Leonard Brooks to permit construction of a 70,000 square foot regional shopping center on the northwest corner of Seven Mile and Haggerty Road.

The action came Tuesday night with Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg casting the lone dissenting vote.

In August the board granted without dissent a rezoning petition by Nate Shapero to permit construction of a shopping center on the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty Roads, adjoining the Brooks property.

In a letter to the board, representatives for Brooks requested the board "refer the matter back to planning commission and ask George Vilican (township planning consultant) to render positive specific criticism...for the purpose of formulating an acceptable plan."

Vilican's letter to the board indicated he had not changed his opinion of the rezoning petition since August, stating "the request to rezone to B-3 does not represent the most sound use of land and it would have a negative affect on the subdivision to the west."

A spokesman for Brooks told board members he felt they (the board) did not have all the facts to make a decision and therefore the matter should be referred back to the planning commission for further study.

Trustee Bernard Baldwin, who represents the board on the planning commission, stated that the information submitted by Brooks

"contains nothing new. The question is does the proposed use constitute proper use of the land."

The things they (Brooks) would like to present are site plans," Baldwin said, "and ultimately would come before the commission if the rezoning were approved."

Baldwin also said he objected to Brooks' concern with Vilican's opinion that rezoning not be granted. "The final decision is made by the board and not by Vilican."

"The letter (from Brooks' representatives) is highly presumptuous," Baldwin concluded.

Clerk Eleanor Hammond said that "as a consumer, I can not see that far into the future to see the necessity of two shopping centers in that area. I do not see the need within the next 10 years."

Brooks' representatives stated the only objection raised by Vilican was the affect the center would have on the subdivision to the west. An

Name Thomson To Commission

Don Thomson was unanimously appointed to the Township planning commission Tuesday night by township trustees. Thomson succeeds Leonard Klein who resigned in August to run successfully for the township board.

Other appointments made at Tuesday's meeting include Charles Guider to the board of canvassers and Mrs. Charles Chase to the library commission.

WOMEN'S LIB? Maybe that's what was behind the thinking of a male patron who came into the Northville post office last week to pick up a parcel waiting for him. Actually, the parcel was really two packages, reports Postmaster John Steimel. The patron hefted them, then quipped before leaving the post office hefty handed, "They're too heavy. My wife will be in to pick them up later."

SALE OF MAYBURY Sanatorium property is scheduled to be recommended to Detroit Common Council by Russell Chambers, real estate supervisor for the City of Detroit, at the council meeting at 9:45 a.m. today (Thursday). Chambers has said he will present an outline of the method and conditions for the sale of the 900 acres of choice Maybury land owned by Detroit since 1921.

TENURE of city employees is gaining ground each year, City Manager Frank Ollendorff reported in noting that 17 of the 28 full time employees who were here more than five years ago are still on the job. Average tenure is now seven years, he said, with seven employees having been employed more than 10 years.

MONTHLY PARENT-PRINCIPAL session conducted informally by Principal Fred Holdsworth at Northville High School will be held a week early, at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday, December 16, in the materials center, because of the Christmas holidays.

FINAL DECISION on the 1971 harness racing dates will probably be made this week, although the deadline is not until December 15. A published report that a "compromise" plan would leave Northville Downs with an abbreviated 30-night meet during the prime summer season has been discredited by the racing commissioner's office. It's probable, however, that the local track will be awarded a split schedule with an early, pre-spring meet, summer dates and late winter racing.

AN APPOINTMENT and two reappointment to the library commission and the board of review, respectively, were made by the city council this week. Named to the library commission, replacing Mrs. W. H. Cansfield, was Mrs. Jané Wiegand. Reappointed to the board of review were Wilson Funk and J. Burton DeRusha.

POST OFFICE HOURS have been extended for the next 10 days to help Northville residents during the peak mailing period. Postmaster John Steimel announces that parcel post and stamp windows will be open from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. today and Friday and Monday through Friday next week. This Saturday and next, December 19, hours will be extended to 4 p.m. The post office also will be open this Sunday and next, December 20, from 1 to 4 p.m. Regular hours, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m., resume December 21 with the office closed on Christmas.

Moore-Belanger Vows Read

Martha Lee Moore of Dearborn became the bride of Timothy Eugene Belanger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eugene Belanger, 23869 Lynwood, Northville, in a candlelight ceremony November 6 at Mt. Olivet United Methodist Church in Dearborn. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Elmer Moore of Dearborn.

Both the Reverend Edward Coley of Mt. Olivet church and the Reverend Charles Irvin of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Ann Arbor officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory organza gown, with a Victorian neckline and bishop sleeves. The dress and chapel-length train were trimmed with satin and Venetian lace with pale pink velvet ribbon. She wore a matching headpiece with an elbow-length veil and carried white and pink roses.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Marilyn Moore of Dearborn Heights, Junior bridesmaid was Miss Karen Moore, the bride's niece. All wore avocado green dresses with bright pink velvet trim and chiffon bishop sleeves. They wore pink roses in their hair and carried mixed bouquets tied with pink velvet streamers.

Holiday Breads Use Fruits, Spice

Now is the time to bake special breads and cookies to have ready for holiday visitors. The Record is asking area residents to share favorite recipes with our readers for "good eating."

- 1 c. butter
- 1 c. white sugar
- 1 c. brown sugar

Chop walnuts, rinse raisins and drain well. Cream butter and sugar. Stir in beaten eggs and apples. Sift flour with salt, soda and spices, and blend into creamed mixture. Stir in raisins, peels, cherries, and walnuts. Drop by spoonful about two inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in hot oven (400) about 15 min. Makes about six dozen.

Mrs. Miller adds, "The day before baking I measure sugars, cook the apples, chop the nuts and raisins and measure the fruits. Then the mixing is much easier and faster the day of baking... pack all these well."

Singer Offers Folk Program

Country western music is most fun when it's shared - so Carol Jean Porter of Twelve Mile Road, Novi, has become a volunteer entertainer, singing for veterans and convalescent home patients.

Mrs. Porter, 27, is the wife of William J. Porter and the mother of five young children, ranging in age from eight to "almost a year."

She began to sing and compose country music about two years ago, she recalls, as a friend who was playing the guitar interested her in it. She now plays the banjo also. She has written 27 original pieces and has 11 in process of copyright with agencies in Southfield and Nashville, Tennessee.

She works her composing and singing "whenever there's time" on her schedule. She has appeared before a Big Brothers group in Macomb county and has visited Oak Hill and Beverly Manor convalescent homes in the area, as well as the U.S. Veterans' Hospital in Allen Park.

Detroit-born Mrs. Porter admits she never expected to like "country western" a few years ago but finds it's "a fun thing to do" as the music has to have meaning behind the words.

Orchard Hills Gives 'Scrooge's Christmas'

"Scrooge's Christmas" will be presented two consecutive evenings by sixth graders at Orchard Hills Elementary School. Directing the operetta will be Mrs. Cynthia Pryer, music teacher at the school.

Performances are scheduled for December 17 at the regular meeting of the Orchard Hills Booster Club and again December 18. The operetta begins each evening at 7:30 in the gymnasium. There is no admission charge.

Coming Sunday

Opera Tells Christmas Tale

Gian-Carlo Menotti's short Christmas opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," will be presented by the Detroit Overture to Opera troupe at 3:30 p.m. this Sunday at Northville High School auditorium.

The title role of the little crippled shepherd is being taken by Kevin Green of Windsor, who has appeared in leading roles in Windsor Light Opera's productions of "Sound of Music," "Bye Bye Birdie," and "Music Man." He also has appeared as soprano soloist at Detroit First Presbyterian Church.

Roma Riddell is the widowed and distraught mother. Canadian-born, the soprano soloist has performed with the Toronto Opera Festival and with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. This is her seventh appearance with Overture.

The three kings are being played by Joseph E. M. Ryan, Russell Smith and Broth. Gabriel Balassone.

Costume Designer J. Michael Bloom has received critical acclaim for his "magnificent post card-bright costumes". Stage director and designer Thomas Aston is responsible for the "simple and lovely" stage set.

Dr. David DiChiera, 35, general director, is chairman of the music department at Oakland University and in the field of musicology is noted for his research work and numerous publications on 18th century opera. Dr. DiChiera recently was presented an award by the City of Detroit for his contribution to the cultural life of the city.

In 1958 he received a Fulbright award for study in Italy. Before coming to Oakland he taught at U.C.L.A. where he was graduated in 1956 with highest honors and honorary membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

Known as a leading figure in the development of opera in Michigan, Dr. DiChiera has guided the Overture company to bring new or seldom heard works to Detroit-area audiences and to give talented young professionals from the area opportunity to perform.

"Amahl and the Night Visitors" is an opera in which critics praise "the lovely arias and appealing duets between mother and child." Also noted in the production is a peasant dance choreographed by Harriet Berg.

The production is being brought here by the Northville Committee of the Detroit Opera Association, headed by Mrs. Ernest J. Shave and Mrs. Donald Ware. Tickets are available at $3 for adults and $2 for students from any member. They also will be sold at the door.

THE STORY OF "AM AHL AND THE NIGHT VISITORS"
A Christmas Miracle

Somewhere in the world lives a little crippled shepherd called Amahl, with his mother, an impoverished widow. Nothing is left to them of the little they ever had, and they are now faced with hunger and cold in their empty house.

Three Wise Men, on their way to Bethlehem, stop at the hut and ask to be taken in for the night. Amahl and his mother welcome them as well as they can, and are much astonished at the splendor of their robes and the wealth of gifts they are carrying with them. When Amahl's mother realizes that the Three Kings are looking for a newborn babe and that the expensive gifts are all destined for him, she becomes bitter and envious. She cannot understand why at least some of these gifts are not to be bestowed upon her own child who is so poor and sickly.

Under cover of darkness, while the Three Kings are asleep, she steals some of the gold from them... and is caught red-handed. When she explains to the Three Kings that she needs this gold to feed her starving child, she is readily forgiven. With great tenderness they try to explain to her who this newborn child is and how much he needs the love of every human being to build his coming kingdom. Touched by their words, the poor widow not only gives back the stolen gold, but wishes she could add a gift of her own. Little Amahl comes to her rescue. He impulsively hands to the Three Kings his wooden crutch, his most precious possession which he himself made, and in doing so he is miraculously cured of his lameness.

As dawn approaches in the sky, the Three Kings make ready to resume their journey. Amahl begs his mother to let him join them, and he is finally allowed to follow the Kings to Bethlehem to adore and give thanks to the Christ Child.

Sponsored by Ski Club

Bake Sale Set Saturday

A bake sale, sponsored by the Northville Ski Club, will be held Saturday during the day in front of Lapham's Men's Store on Main Street.

Members of the club, all senior high students, are attempting to raise money to help offset the cost of weekly skiing activities.

The students, a spokesman said, "want to finance as much of this project as possible by themselves even though the skiing program is sponsored by the recreation department with the aid of volunteer adult leaders."

The city council Monday night voted to pay up to $400 for the transportation of skiers to the slopes. But according to Councilman Paul Folino, this money is but a minor part of the expenses incurred by club members.

"We appreciate the aid of the city," the spokesman said, "and the students want to show officials that they will do whatever possible themselves to guarantee the success of this program."

Nursing Course

St. Mary Hospital once again is offering a refresher course to inactive registered nurses interested in returning to work.

The refresher course offered as a community service, will begin on March 1, 1971 and end on April 22, 1971.

Nurses interested in the course are asked to make an appointment for an interview.

Deadline for interviews is February 10, 1971. Contact Mrs. W. Gusfa at 427-4800 - Monday through Friday - for an appointment.

INFERNO — A little before 8 p.m. Thursday, lightning struck in the vicinity of the R. P. Hoffmann residence at 41600 Nine Mile Road near Meadowbrook. Hoffmann checked his barn, which contained several pieces of equipment including a new tractor and many sentimental items and animals belonging to the family, but found nothing wrong. Minutes later his wife, seeing a glow, asked if he didn't leave the lights on in the barn. Within an hour, despite efforts of the Novi and Northville fire departments as well as back up support from Farmington and Livonia units, an estimated $50,000 damage had been done. Flames ruptured a gas tank in the tractor but left a 2500 gallon tank (below) unharmed. No one was injured.

6 Arrested On Narcotics

Five men and a woman, all of Saginaw, were arrested, arraigned and are waiting examination, scheduled for next week, in charges of possession of narcotics.

A car driven by Mack Witherspoon, 21, and containing Gloria Henderson, 20, Lany Billingsley, 21, Ephersin Wary, 20, Melvin Moore, 19, and Frank Moore, 20, was stopped by Novi Patrolmen John Johnson and Frank Barbas at 1:10 a.m. Thursday after the officers had seen the car pull out of a gas station at the corner of I-96 and Novi Road, closed at that hour.

As the car pulled to the curb, officers observed "something being thrown out the rear window," according to reports.

Investigation revealed two rolled up sticks of what field tested to be marijuana, enclosed in a package of cigarette papers along with a package of 'Zig-Zag' cigarette papers and a empty yellow envelope.

Officers report that the 'Zig-Zag' brand one frequently used to roll marijuana cigarettes.

The car and subjects were searched and 11 envelopes of the same size as the empty one were found in the trunk. The contents of one was tested and found to be marijuana, police said. The others were sent to the State Police Crime Laboratory in Plymouth for identification.

Further search of the car disclosed the remains of a marijuana cigarette on the floor in the right rear, and a partially concealed .22-Caliber revolver under the front seat, police said.

$4,357,475.22 total tax levy from the two communities this winter.

Four districts in Novi and three in Wixom will receive shares from total tax levies of $2,501,461.53 and $1,856,013.69, respectively.

In Novi, the Novi, Walled Lake, Northville and South Lyon school districts will receive a combined $2,007,027.70 divided up as follows:

Novi...$1,426,512.80 (39.05 mills)
Northville...$314,793.91 (41.79 mills)
Walled Lake...$245,041.10 (42.15 mills)
South Lyon...$20,679.89 (41.45 mills)

The remainder will go, according to City Treasurer Gerry Stipp to library, county drains, county operating and Oakland Intermediate School District funds. Taxes also for Schoolcraft College and the Wayne County Intermediate School District will be paid by property owners who live within the Northville School District.

Some 4,000 bills have been out in Novi since December 1 according to Mrs. Stipp.

In Wixom, according to the mayoral assistant, Robert Case, three school districts — Walled Lake, Novi and South Lyon — will receive benefits as follows:

Walled Lake...$1,667,048.00 (41.80 mills)
South Lyon...$4,471.81 (41.06 mills)
Novi...$790.26 (38.65 mills)

"The millage figure," Case explained, "includes 7.40 mills paid to the Oakland County Intermediate School District."

Wixom has had its bills, some 3,500 according to Case, out since November 28.

Both communities have a February 15 deadline before which taxes may be paid without penalty.

Between February 15 and March 1, residents will be charged 4 percent late fee and after March 1, accounts will be transferred to Pontiac where an additional 1/2 percent per month will be charged.

Councilman Fears Shortage

City Puts Ban on Sale Of Novi Sewer Taps

Upon the urging of Councilman Edwin Presnell Monday night Mayor Joseph Crupi placed a ban on the sale of all future sewer taps by the city.

"Until a study can be made," Crupi said, "and we can see where we stand, there will be no more taps, with the exception of those already under contractual agreement, sold unless by specific council authorization."

"It is possible we don't have any taps left to sell," said Presnell.

The move came on the heels of action honoring a contract made with the Village of Novi in 1967 for 125 sewer taps by Samuel Hechtman of Detroit's Practical Homes.

Councilmen expressed fear that the sewer capacity in Novi is dangerously close and may even exceed the number of taps allocated to the city.

Hechtman, a developer of property on 10 Mile west of Haggerty Road, contracted with the village in 1967 for 125 taps for a townhouse development he was planning.

The county sewer schedule at that time allowed for .56 taps per apartment, or in Hechtman's case two units per tap, according to City Manager Dallas Zonkers.

Last May, however, the city changed that schedule to allow for bedrooms instead of apartments, assigning one bedroom per .75 taps, and putting all other bedroom units on a full tap.

Hechtman's development calls for one, two and three bedroom units.

Councilman Louie Campbell pointed out that Hechtman had decreased the number of units but added to the total number of bedrooms.

Because of the contract signed by Harold Ackley, then village manager, the city will have to honor Hechtman's claim to the older schedule of two units per tap, according to Crupi.

This allows him, at a maximum of a three bedroom unit, six bedrooms on a single tap.

Presnell noted Tuesday morning that there are several private residences in Novi that approach this ratio.

In other business Monday night, the council:

— Opened and passed to City Manager Zonkers for report two bids on plumbing for the DPW building. The bids ranged between $1200 and $1500.

— Directed Zonkers to meet with Police Chief Lee BeGole and School Superintendent Thomas Dale to decide on the best method of traffic enforcement during hours of dismissal at Novi Elementary School.

Council had received a letter requesting a patrolman to be placed on the scene to direct traffic.

JH Bands Eye Concert

Novi Junior High bands will present a concert of traditional Christmas music Wednesday, December 16, at Novi Junior-Senior high.

The concert is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Mrs. Janith Rolston will be directing the eighth grade band and the seventh grade orchestra while Richard Stannard will lead the seventh grade band.

The concert begins at 8 p.m.

Novi's string program originated three years ago with 11 students and has grown to 31 students in grades five through seven. The concert marks the first performance of a string group at the junior high level.

BeGole said that it was not a problem of children walking but one of busses getting out into traffic. He offered to split the cost of a patrolman with the school board and suggested that as an alternative the board set up a safety patrol as they had done in the past.

— Moved to have Zonkers present a packet of letters and other materials requesting a change in the speed limit along 10 Mile in the neighborhood of Orchard Hills Elementary to county officials.

The materials are to be gathered by homeowners associations and private citizens in Willowbrook, Echo Valley and Meadowbrook Glens.

The council also directed Zonkers to prepare a list of the improvements that are holding up completion and acceptance of Meadowbrook Glens roads.

— Assured Ron Birou, Meadowbrook Glens citizen, that a proposed Big Boy restaurant, planned for Novi Road, would be adequately policed for pollution.

"We can't allow any pollution to go on, and everything in my power will be done should any situation develop," promised Councilman Campbell.

"The restaurant reportedly will dump 10,000 gallons of waste every day into the Walled Lake Creek which flows into Meadowbrook Lake," said Birou.

— Received a request from George Athas, chairman of the planning commission, for a tape recorder to be used at planning meetings.

"It would be used only for reference," said Athas, "and the tapes would be released only by order of the commission chairman or the council."

— Granted to Denver Cockrum a recreation license for his property on 10 Mile between Wixom and Napier roads.

Cockrum plans to turn the 1000 acres over to snowmobiles.

"We don't rent any," he said, "people will bring their own machines."

Multiple Housing Zoning Denied by Wixom Council

By unanimous vote Tuesday night the Wixom City Council denied a petition for multiple family zoning in the area of Beck and West Maple roads.

"We have several multiple zonings in the area now," said Councilman Elwood Grubb, "and I don't think we can afford any more."

"Grubb noted that recent laxes in mortgage rates pointed to a boom in single family residential building and urged the council to stay away from multiple type zoning.

Gregory Donovan, one of the petitioners involved in the request, pointed out that the City planning consultants, Vilican and Lehman, had recommended multiple housing for the area, that he was building a condominium type development and would thus attract a more permanent type of resident, and that because of a utility pipeline through the property and a peat-bog in the northern portion of it there would be sufficient open space to satisfy city ordinances.

Council was unmoved, however, and voted to a man to deny the request.

At the recommendation of Councilman Robert Dingledey, council placed on the ballot for the December 22 meeting the question of whether or not city planners should be paid.

"They are a fine body and they give of their time freely," said Dingledey. "I think they should receive something for it."

"If we do that for one board," said Councilman Val Vangieson, "we'll have to do it for them all. I think its a fine idea; I just don't think we have the money."

The motion came on the heels of Councilman Howard Coe's suggestion that the planners be financed through a re-evaluation and up-dating of Wixom zoning laws. Coe's idea was tabled until further study could be made.

In other business Tuesday, the council:

— Moved for a meeting between it and the DPW to work out grievances which had appeared in several instances concerning hook-up to city sewers.

Councilman Vangieson wanted to know exactly how many complaints concerning sewer risers had been directed to the city and what was being done about settling them.

DPW Chief Robert Trombley was absent from the meeting and the matter was set aside pending discussion with him.

— Set a public hearing for January

12 concerning a rezoning request for four acres of land bordering the west side of Beck Road and running to the C. & O railroad tracks.

The petition comes from Jaeser Industries, a light manufacturing firm making precision electrical parts.

— Refused a request from HMW Joint Ventures, owners of large tracts of land south of Pontiac Trail, to negate $400 worth of interest which has accumulated on the companies unpaid 1969 winter tax bill.

According to mayoral assistant Robert Case, last year's tax bill had never been paid by the firm. Case hinted at a mix-up in the company's Southfield mailing addresses but gave no further explanation.

The firm, Case noted, had never

— Tabled a request from Harry Flanagan of 1926 Hopkins Drive to lay sand in the portion of Loon Lake for purposes of improving the area for swimming.

Councilman Vangieson balked at granting the permit saying that he would like to check out with the county the specifications involved in the permit and the reasons why an application filed by Flanagan with the state was not followed up.

Loon Lake has been under study recently by Vangieson's 'Natural Resources Commission' and by the county as a result of extensive silting which is alleged to have occurred because of lagooning done by developers in the area.

County Names First Blacks To Top Posts

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners has appointed the first black members to the important posts of civil service commissioner and county road commissioner.

Appointments to various county boards and commissions were made in open balloting at the December 3 meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

Freddie G. Burton, a Detroit Attorney, was elected to a six-year term on the three-member County Civil Service Commission. He won over five other candidates on the sixth ballot, getting the minimum 13 votes needed for election.

Burton replaces William E. Kreger, Wyandotte newspaper publisher and soft drink bottling executive who served as a road commissioner for 15 years.

Theodore Stephens, a Highland Park attorney, was elected to a six-year term on the three-member Civil Service Commission, replacing incumbent Thomas V. LoCicero who had served 21 years. He got 17 votes to win easily over four others. Civil service commissioners receive $40 per meeting for a maximum of 200 meetings annually.

Willard Koths, a prominent Taylor businessman, was elected to a four-year term on the Wayne County Child Development Center (in Northville Township) administrative board, replacing incumbent Mrs. Mary Jane Liddy. Until less than two years ago, Koths had served for 21 years on the Wayne County Social Welfare Board. Previous to that, he was a member of the old County Board of Supervisors.

NORTHVILLE POLICE DEPT. REPORT - OCTOBER, 1970:
 Northville Police Dept. Report for October, 1970, was received and placed on file.

PUBLIC HEARING FOR CONFIRMATION OF S.A. ROLL NO. 32:
 Mr. Clyde Dethloff, representing the F.O.E. and two of their members were present. Mr. Dethloff said the Eagles were still protesting their assessment as being too high and also the fact that they were a non-profit organization and that they have 9 parking spaces. City Mgr. said they have four legal spaces, could get nine by double and triple parking.

After discussion and the report of several adjustments, moved by Nichols, support by Lapham, to adopt the Resolution of Confirmation for Roll No. 32, Parking Improvement, as amended on Nov. 16, 1970. Unanimously carried.

SET DATE OF PUBLIC HEARING FOR REZONING N. CENTER ST. PROPERTY TO P.O.:
 City Mgr. re-capped the inception of this rezoning. At one time, Mr. Robert Cole had made application to re-zone his lot, located on N. Center. A public hearing for the Planning Commission was scheduled and Mr. Cole asked that his petition be withheld and left on file until such time as he might want to re-activate it.

Meanwhile the Planning Commission held a Public Hearing and approved the Professional Office zoning amendment.

Moved by Rathert, support by Nichols, to set the date of December 7, 1970, 8 p.m. at the Northville City Hall to consider adoption of the Professional Office District zoning amendment, on recommendation of the Planning Commission.

Unanimously carried.
MAPLEWOOD PARK SITE CONDEMNATION:

City Mgr. reported that an offer had been made for the 4 lots in question @ $5,000 each. Council has 2 possibilities: begin condemnation procedure or consider paving streets in this area. This will be on the December 7th Agenda.

Councilman Folino had informed the City Mgr. he was interested in this item of business. Stated there are two property owners north of City property in the Gerald Avenue area interested in water and sewer. This would tie in with industrial development of this area. Council felt this should be given some consideration during the next few months. City Mgr. to do a Feasibility Study on this.

REVIEW OF CITY WATER RATE ORDINANCE:
 City Mgr. reported that according to Auditors the past year is the first time the City's Water Account has been in the black; also that it might be wise to consider revising the water rates. City Mgr. was asked to present an analysis for the December 7th meeting.

CHARTER REVISION:
 There will be a Work Session on Nov. 23rd at 8 p.m.

RESOLUTION - DEPOSITING OF OAKLAND CO. TAX MONIES:

CITY MAP PROPOSAL:
 City Mgr. stated the supply of all maps needed replenishing and that necessary changes should be made in the basic City map - these maps are for zoning, streets and working maps. He has had a price from the Planning Consultant's firm. Council asked, that additional prices or price be obtained for comparison. (Councilman Lapham asked of an overlay of utility lines, incorporating the 4 into an area map could be considered).

PRELIMINARY 1971 IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM:
 City Mgr. reviewed his Memo No. 70-28 "1971 Improvement Program". He asked Council members if they had additions to this list to notify him and indicate priorities.

BOARD & COMMISSION MINUTES:
 Minutes of the November 10, 1970, Planning Commission Meeting were received and placed on file.

MISCELLANEOUS:
 City Mgr. reported dump boxes at Salem Disposal will no longer be available after December 1st. He stated there were two choices - no place for residents to dump or find another location for the boxes. The City Mgr. is to write to Northville Township about cancelling this, effective December 15th, City Mgr.

City Mgr. discussed the matter of the maintenance contract for the heating-cooling system of the City Hall. This contract has always been automatically renewed. However, another company (recently organized by the former employees of Honeywell) have given a price of $3,535.00 for the annual maintenance which is slightly lower than that of Honeywell's - $3,933.00. Inasmuch as Honeywell is currently replacing most parts and going over the entire system, the City Mgr. recommends renewing contract with Honeywell another year at their above price.

City Mgr. reported that Detroit Concrete Products has some unfinished work on their job of streets and intersections which has not been accomplished within their stated time limit. He is recommending no action at this time on their Performance Bond.

The City Mgr. reported he had given the Girl Scouts permission to use a portion of the E. Main St. parking lot on Sunday. Council will meet later for a short Work Session.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 10:50 p.m.

Elementary Pupils Camp

By NANCY DINGELDEY
 Sixth grade students of Wixom Elementary combined with those of Loon Lake Elementary Schools left Monday morning for the annual camping expedition at the Proud Lake Recreation Area. Camping at Proud Lake was instituted in the school's curriculum in 1956 and is an event most sixth graders look forward to as they progress through the elementary grades.

The children spend the entire week at camp, have their meals and sleep in the dorms set-up for this purpose. Mother and father volunteers serve as counselors as do the teachers and school principals.

During the week, students "stray" from the usual school routine and under the direction of Miss Barbara Garbutt, outdoor education teacher for the Walled Lake Consolidated Schools, study a variety of subjects directly related to the great outdoors. Among them are astronomy, field ecology, wild life, plants and water conservation. Probably the most popular with the students is firearm safety and microscopic studies. Ranger Hartley Thornton also participates in the program pointing out the varied animal and plant life in the area during the daily hikes.

Students have a free recreation period from 3:30 until dinner time. There are daily duty groups, under the direction of the counselors, whose responsibility it is to either clean up the dorms or do "K.P." The evening programs are meant to be informative but also entertaining. This year a regular-length movie and a magician are two of the programs scheduled. The day comes to an end at 9 p.m., and after a full day of hiking and outdoor activities there isn't much resistance.

Friday finds camping gear packed and stowed in the familiar yellow school bus for the trip back home. To many of the youngsters, their week at camp will be long remembered.

Then there's the "tail" of a poor little pooch - a "heinz" vaguely resembling a German Shepherd. A woman driving on Pontiac Trail in the vicinity of Old Plank Road saw an injured dog and reported it to city hall. Eventually several people got involved - among them a patrolman and Dr. Val VanGieson. The story was pieced together - the dog, an apparent stray, was hit by a car and laid behind a tree for about two days in the bitter cold weather, waiting to die.

"Missy" as Sue VanGieson affectionately calls the dog, is now sporting a cast on her left hind leg and is managing to get around. Val reports that all the bones in the foot were completely smashed and even after everything is healed she will have a "gimp". However, she's a loveable animal, eats like a horse and about the only trick she can perform is wag her tail.

Right now, the concern is to either find "Missy's" family or to find a family who has room in their home, and in their heart for a dog with a "gimpy" leg and waggy tail.
 Gene Whaley was in Ohio for several days last week attending the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Clifton Ross. She was 85 years old. Besides her husband, who is 94, she leaves many grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Bill, Dorothy and Skip Abrams, along with Peggy and Ed Ruggles, spent the long Thanksgiving holiday at Fyfe Lake. An interesting note is that this was the 17th year the Abrams and the Ruggles families have shared their table together at the same place. I'd say that was tradition!

The annual Christmas program at the Wixom Elementary School will be held this year on December 15 at 7:30 in the school multi-purpose room. The first grade students will present a play, "The ABC's of Christmas", written and directed by their teachers, Mrs. Christensen, Miss LaMarre and Mrs. Thompson.

Miss Carol Wargelin, vocal instructor, will direct the fifth grade chorus, selections including some different arrangements of familiar carols. Under the direction of Miss Meribeth Metevia, the fifth and sixth grade band students will present a program of instrumental music of traditional Christmas carols.

Refreshments will be served following the program. Since there are no fifth or sixth grade scouts, baby sitting for the younger set will not be available.

The children, however, will have the opportunity to see the entire program at school earlier the same day.

Six thousand miles and three weeks later, Ray and Wilhelmina Lahti have returned to their home on Nalene Street after a sweeping tour of the Southwest. A stop in St. Louis took them to the Gateway Arch and a spectacular view after a ride up to the top in a strange space capsule-like transportation system. And on a clear day -

More stops were made at Hot Springs, Carlsbad Caverns and White Sands Monument. Ray said it was a rather erie place to see. The sands are, actually fine, white crystals of gypsum.

Westward to Tuscon and Green Valley with a short visit with the Ray Wietalas, the Lahti's backyard neighbors in Wixom until a short time ago. They also stopped in on the George Strouds, parents of Elia Salo, in Tuscon. Juarez and Nogales, Mexico, were further planned stops and through Texas. According to Ray, it's a good thing Texas has Interstate Highway "can you imagine, three days driving and still in Texas"?

According to police, officers received a complaint of odors emitting from Mergraf Oil at 1:35 p.m. Thursday. Editorials... a page for expressions ...yours and ours

Any hope that the city of Northville might acquire some 240 acres of Maybury Sanatorium property as a nature area and golf course was flickering dimly this week.

The Detroit common council will be asked today (Thursday) to approve a plan to offer the 960-acres of rolling terrain to interested parties on a sealed-bid basis. The land will probably be advertised for sale next week.

In reply to an inquiry from this newspaper concerning the city of Northville's expressed desire to acquire the eastern-most 240 acres of the property, Detroit Comptroller Robert Roselle said that he thought "it would be better to allow a developer to acquire the total site and then negotiate with the local government about providing recreation needs when rezoning is sought".

That's either double-talk for saying Detroit can get more money by selling the total parcel to a developer, or Mr. Roselle is confused.

First of all, Maybury is in the township. Therefore, the city would have no opportunity to "negotiate" with the new owner. (I'm assuming the Detroit comptroller was suggesting that in return for "favorable" rezoning a developer might set aside a recreation area).

Secondly, I'd seriously question the prospects of any rezoning that would permit a higher density of development than now exists on the site. Presently, it is zoned for single-family residential homes on half and one-acre size lots. If water and sewer is provided, the lot sizes could be reduced to 110-foot frontage, or a minimum of 18,000 square feet.

I'm not sure how many single family homes on 18,000-square-foot lots can be placed on some 900 acres. But it must be a couple thousand, give or take a hundred and allowing for streets. But I'm fairly certain it won't be enough to satisfy most developers; they'll want to increase the density with multiple dwellings.

Within the crowded, non-green confines of the city of Detroit it must be evident that when you replace open space with houses and people the need for open space becomes more acute.

What better way to boost the value of some 700-plus acres of land than by advertising it as adjoining a 200-acre golf course and nature area?

And what about the price offered by the city of Northville? Some $700,000 to $800,000 for 240 acres. That's about $3,000 per acre, hardly a steal.

For some reason the city of Detroit has declined to consider the city of Northville proposal. There have been no negotiations, only "we'll let you know when we decide".

Now we know. The land's going on the open market. It's been indicated that the city of Detroit hopes to erase a $3 million deficit through the sale of the Maybury site. That's a little over $3,000 per acre.

Wouldn't it be a sad commentary if the site would actually bring more money to the city of Detroit through a split sale?

It might complicate things just a little; one sale would be cleaner.

But what about inter-community cooperation, service to the people: Isn't that what government's all about?

If the community of Northville could retain 240 acres of Maybury for future recreation use, wouldn't this be solving a problem of the future today?

It's a fairly safe bet that the 900-plus acres of rolling, wooded terrain that now makes Maybury one of the most beautiful sights to behold in western Wayne county, won't be preserved in its present state very long once it becomes the property of a developer.

It isn't being suggested here that it should. Trees must eventually give way to people.

But the efforts of the city council of Northville to preserve a small part of this beauty should be lauded and supported by all residents of our community, city and township alike.

And it should be recognized and considered by Detroit's common council.

Speaking for Myself Anyone for Artificial Christmas Trees?

YES...

Nuts on tradition. Artificial Christmas trees couldn't possibly be any more trying or less appealing than the dismembered variety.

While the democratic process had precluded any chance of the artificial tree winning out in our house, it is significant that the sentimental majority has never once volunteered to saw, chisel, bend or twist the crooked, real trees that invariably find their way into our family room. They leave that job to daddy, who by the time the job is done needs straightening himself.

I have fallen from a ladder, axed a leg, broken out in a rash, sawed notches on my thumb, and, as my Kiwanis friends in South Lyon will attest, nearly succumbed to fumes inside a van loaded with Christmas trees.

It wouldn't be so bad if the majority would select a tree that didn't require a lumberjack and block-and-tackle to erect. Once, it was seriously suggested that I chop a hole in the ceiling so they could enjoy the tree on two floors.

Aroma? You bet. But I've never liked the smell of kerosene, and there's nothing merry about rubbing kerosene on sap sticky hands riddled with cuts and bruises.

Jack W. Hoffman
Northville Record

NO...

An artificial Christmas tree in my home? Never. Conservationists may argue that harvesting of our Scotch pines, balsams, spruces and firs will create a lack of trees for future generations to see and admire, but their arguments fail to hold water when confronted with the Christmas tree industry's reforestation programs. Operators of tree farms keep new trees coming at a pace which at least equals their sales pace.

This mild drawback to having real trees in the home is readily offset by all the benefits - headed by aesthetics. A phony tree, however skillfully designed, is still a phony tree. It does not smell real (despite spray scents now available), nor look really real.

Right behind aesthetics comes tradition. A tradition of phoniness is hardly something anyone would want to establish in his home.

An additional beauty of real trees is that even a ten-thumbed boob such as I can install one in its stand - but installing branches in a naked pole in an artificial tree could prove my downfall in addition to sinking my Christmas spirits in the unreality of it all!

Not satisfied with earlier safarises into a man's mind, the literary vultures have begun another autopsy of Ernest Hemingway in the wake of the posthumous novel, "Islands in The Stream."

It should, I guess, come as no surprise. The vultures have been feeding on Hemingway since he put a gun in his mouth and blew off the top of his head. Indeed, they were flapping their wings even before he composed The Old Man and The Sea. The new novel just increases their appetite.

We can expect that these overstuffed vultures will pick their teeth on sentences and paragraphs from the new book and by some ingenious clinical method find in them reasons why the author lived and especially why he died.

Most authors are turned inside-out by the examination of their works but none has been so thoroughly dissected and analyzed as Hemingway.

Ever since a college professor of mine, whose greatest claim to medical fame was knowing how to spread mercurochrome, extracted a sentence from For Whom The Bell Tolls and triumphantly concluded, "It symbolizes the inner conflict of the author," I've been suspicious of literary critics.

Literary examination is one thing; psychiatric examination and conclusion is another. If a man wants his mind examined he goes to a doctor - not to an English Ph.D.

The works of Hemingway, just as those by Shakespeare, should be enjoyed - or disliked - on the basis of what is written not on what went through the author's mind as he wrote it. When my wife says, "Hemingway is boring," I can appreciate her appraisal. And when I tell her, "Hemingway (his works) is beautiful," she at least can understand me.

Therein, I think, is the real key to Hemingway: if you are looking for an exciting story read someone else. If you want to read style - beautifully turned sentences read Hemingway.

Islands in The Stream is like that. It's a lousy story, is devoid of plot, and overall has little "I can't put it down" adventure. On the other hand, the words and sentences and episodes, while not consistently up to Hemingway standard, are beautiful in their simplicity. And when one considers that Hemingway ended his life before he could polish the final product, the result is remarkably good.

Divided into three parts with but a tiny thread tying them together, the first section of Islands in The Stream, I believe, is the best of Hemingway.

"Thomas Hudson slipped back quickly from the wheel to look over the stern. The fish showed, deep astern, looking tiny and foreshortened in the depth but in the small time Thomas Hudson looked at him he grew steadily in size. It was not as rapidly as a plane grows as it comes in toward you but it was steady."

Similarly, the dialogue is more than dialogue. It is carefully honed sentences more characteristic of Hemingway, perhaps, than his shockingly real portrayal of brutality.

His style slips in the second and third sections but even here there are good examples of what I like best of the author.

"He steered all that night and he had Ara on the flying bridge with him until midnight and then Henry. They were running with a heavy beam sea and steering was like riding a horse downhill, he thought. It is all downhill and sometimes it is across the side of a hill. The sea is many hills and in here it is broken country like the badlands."

If you found Hemingway's earlier works boring Islands in The Stream won't be any different. If you're a Hemingway fan you'll like his new book - and parts of it, perhaps, more than his other novels. And if you're a literary critic with a flare, for psychiatry read a medical journal.

Clarifies Bus Stand

To the Editor:

I certainly cringe at the thought of using the local newspaper as a place for arguments among adults, but I would like to clarify and defend my position on the bus situation in Willowbrook II.

I want the same safety for my children and my neighbors as the gentleman wants for his. I want to stand at the door and wave Good By to my children and see them safely on the bus each morning just as his wife does. I wonder if he realized what it is to get children into a car every morning during the winter to take them to school and then creating a traffic hazard at Orchard Hills school with school busses and cars all over the parking lot dropping children off at school - then the return trip at the end of the day. Pity the poor child who's mother doesn't have a second car and must walk home in a snow or sleet storm.

I fear the attitude is "What is prudent for one in the demands of safety and comfort is foolish for another."

Me too??? Yes, I do pay my taxes as do the other people in this subdivision and the point to be made is that this is a democracy that we live in today and tax monies should be used for the good of all concerned. I will defend your child's right to safety - Will you do the same for me???

Sincerely once again,

Every Communist communication must convey an orthodox, that is, revolutionary activating messages to the party and its followers. This same communication must convey a different, soothing, pacifying and paralyzing message to the opponents of Communism.

The Communists seek to replace traditional American symbols with those of their own design.

The "peace" sign was designed by Bertrand Russell for the Communists; and in an interview on February 19, 1958 stated that he knew he had chosen an anti-Christian design long associated with Satanism. He hated the very thought of God; and hoped that every kind of religious belief would die.

To this very day, the inverted broken cross - identical to the "peace" symbol - is known in Germany as a death reeve. Not only was it ordered by Hitler's National Socialists that it must appear on German death notices, but it was a part of the inscription prescribed for the gravestones of Nazi officers of the dread SS.

Millions of American youths have been flashing this same "V" sign, thinking it a sign of "peace". This very same sign is now used widely by young Socialist Alliance, and the S.D.S. society.

Also known as the Nero Cross and sign of the broken Jew, the sign originated back to 67 A.D. when the deranged Emperor Nero had the disciple Peter crucified upside down; thus the broken Jew.

The "Nero Cross" or peace symbol was thus adopted by the Satanists who sought to make a mockery of the teachings of Christ.

Do we, as true Americans, want any part of this symbolic Communist filth?

To the Editor:

The Northville JAYCEES wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to the Northville community for the wonderful support they gave our organization for the recent Northville Junior Miss Pageant. We were fortunate in having such a fine turn-out to see and acclaim the eight lovely senior high contestants the pageant spotlighted. Northville is indeed blessed with talented young people who have shown an active interest in developing themselves more fully. It is indeed refreshing to find the sparkling attitudes the eight participating girls had on such a wide variety of subjects and accomplishments.

Northville should be proud of these young people ... the Northville JAYCEES certainly are! Our special thanks and wishes for future continued

200 Benefit Checks Spell Big Business at Hospital

"Social security is big business — especially the first week of each month," declared Larry Sbonek, patient affairs officer of the Northville State Hospital.

He explained that the hospital receives approximately 200 social security checks on behalf of their patients, totaling a little more than $24,000 monthly, or an estimated annual total exceeding one quarter million dollars.

Extensions of State Hospital

Satellite Units Aid Mental Health

How do you provide effective mental health services to Detroit and its suburbs when the hospital is more than 20 miles from downtown Detroit and virtually inaccessible by public transportation?

The answer at Northville State Hospital has been to move the services closer to the people.

In recent years the hospital has established five aftercare and community centers within Wayne County, all of them designed to make services more accessible.

The Northwest clinic, 17350 Livernois between Six and Seven Mile in Detroit, provides regular outpatient, preadmission, aftercare and consultation services. Opened in 1968, it serves more than 250 cases per month.

In southwest Detroit, the hospital operates the Fisher Center, located at the old rectory for St. Boniface Church, 2243 Twelfth Street near the Fisher expressway. It was opened during the summer of 1969. Since the center is in an area with large numbers of Spanish-speaking residents, many of the staff recruited for the unit are bilingual.

A third unit, providing aftercare services primarily, is in downtown Detroit in the Cadillac Square Building.

Last spring, the hospital opened its Young Adult Community Center, 1130 Grand River Avenue.

The Fieldbrook Unit is a comprehensive community mental health center housed in its own building on the hospital grounds. It serves a catchment area of 200,000 persons from Redford Township, Livonia, Plymouth and Northville. Provided by the unit are outpatient and inpatient services, consultation and education, diagnostic services, crises intervention, etc. Approximately 300 cases are served each month.

Dr. Richard Budd, Northville's medical superintendent, plans to develop more satellite units in the future. Currently, on the drawing boards is a plan to reorganize the hospital's inpatient services so that the units will each be responsible for patients from smaller geographic areas. He hopes at the same time to develop more effective provisions for aftercare services.

However, in a meeting with community relations personnel from state hospitals and community mental health boards, Dr. Budd pointed out that moving services closer to the people is a process fraught with logistic problems and interagency complications.

All state hospitals have decreased their census by about 50-percent in recent years, Dr. Budd said. But too often, they haven't prepared the community to accept returning patients. The result is that the hospitals had to become heavily involved in community programming if they wanted to prevent rehospitalizations.

"At this point we run headlong into the community and into community agencies," said Dr. Budd. "We have various community agencies and community mental health centers supported by Act 54 funds, which are getting started and going hell bent for leather with programs mostly designed along consultation and outpatient lines. They function grandly for awhile but all of a sudden find they have patients on their hands who need hospitalization. Then they find there's no place to hospitalize many of these persons in the community, so they turn back to the state hospitals."

"So we have the state hospitals charging into the community and the community mental health centers charging into the hospitalization field — both of them running on a collision course."

"Very few programs are actually designed according to needs of patients," he said. "But if we could keep our programs simple and address ourselves to basic treatment of patients, we might evolve something."

"In a sense, the hospital is imposing its programs on the community — not at their request. It's the professionals who want our help, not the people. They don't want a mental health center in their neighborhood and we'll have to do a lot of public relations before the community can accept our programs."

"Northville State Hospital is beginning to relate to the community mental health board in Detroit; we're trying to combine some of our programs. If both of us, the state hospitals and the community boards, could abandon some of our concepts, we might be able to get together and set up a third approach which would be better for patients.

"I'm not satisfied that the community itself knows how to set up mental hospital programs but neither am I satisfied that the state hospital with its orientation knows how to set up community programs. But there should be a middle ground where we could get together and actually provide a service for mentally ill persons."

John Pantalone Stars, But Novi Falls to Dexter, 68-56

Despite a star performance from cub John Pantalone, the Dexter Dreadnaughts were able to keep the Wildcats caged through four quarters of season opening basketball Friday night to end up on top 68-56.

A sophomore fresh from the jayvee ranks, Pantalone was high scorer in the Novi assault with 20 points and had the fewest penalties, two, among the three-man powerhouse that accounted for all but six of Novi's points.

Tom and Pat Boyer were the other two members of that trio posting 18 and 12 points, respectively, while Bob Vivian and Bob Pisha were the only other Wildcats to see action.

Novi trailed the entire game with but one exception, a two point lead early in the first period that lasted for a scant 23 seconds.

Baskets at 7:33, 6:43 and 6:21 of

Another Loss

Former Oakland County top scorer Mike Page lead a stinging attack against the Wildcats Tuesday as Country Day, in its season opener, handed Novi a 64-45 defeat. Top Novi scorer was Pat Boyer with 14.

The junior Wildcats were fed into the fan first, they came out on the underside of a 51-30 score.

the first period by Pantalone and Pat Boyer brought the Wildcats out of a two point hole, into a tie and up to a two-point lead.

Mike Kinachuck, ace Dreadnaught scorer with 23, checked Novi's hopes, however, at 5:58 by sinking the tying basket and half a minute later, Jim Aseltine gave the hosts the lead.

It was like that the rest of the game with the Wildcats never getting closer than eight points.

Novi takes on Chelsea Friday under home nets hoping to avenge either of two swappings. Both at home and away last season Chelsea gained the upper hand: 58-49 and 71-58.

Local Jayvee Cagers Split

Things are coming up roses in Northville but in Novi the skies are cloudy as jayvee cagers in both schools swing into their third and second games respectively this week.

Northville took a squeaker from South Lyon 48-46 last week Tuesday and joined the varsity in victory over Clarenceville by a more decisive margin 52-42 Friday.

Novi, however, lost its opening game with Dexter Friday night by a narrow 50-49.

Rod Crane and Bart Taylor were high scorers in the South Lyon and Clarenceville games with 16 and 19 respectively for the Mustangs.

Northville coach Bob Simpson is pleased with his team's performance but feels shooting from the floor could be better: "We averaged about 32 percent against Clarenceville," said Simpson, "It should be closer to 40 percent or 45 percent for the entire team."

Novi played an up and down game against Dexter getting as far off the pace as nine points during the second period.

The Wildcats stayed within one point of a tie during the last six minutes of the game, however, and even led in the closing minute. The final 44 seconds were killers, however, as Dreadnaught Doug Dermady netted the winning basket.

Gene Spencer was the high scorer for the Wildcats with 20.

Northville, slated to go against Fenton Tuesday, and will meet Milford on Friday. Novi sees action against Country Day and Chelsea this week.

OUTNUMBERED — Novi (in the dark suits) seems outnumbered by Dexter Dreadnaughts as the two teams battle for a rebound. The Wildcats saw the lead only once — briefly early in the first period — as Dexter won easily, 68-56.

Matmen Pin O-C

Schoolcraft college matmen trimmed the Highland Lakes campus of Oakland Community College with two pins and five decisions to win 25-11 on the mats last week.

Pins for the local team were turned in by Pat Kern and Tim Ottewell in the 150-pound and heavyweight classes. Highland Lakes' Tom Tlatting pinned Schoolcraft in the 177-pound class, but decisions for Schoolcraft at 118, 126, 158, 167 and 190 turned the tide.

Local matmen travel to Holland Michigan Saturday to take on Hope College.

Take 40-8 Mat Victory

Mustangs Clip Wildcats

A Mustang victory hung an 0-2 record on the Wildcats last week as both squads kicked off their 1970-71 wrestling season.

Novi opened against Southfield's Country Day last week Tuesday and lost the match 37-13. Northville opened against Novi on the Wildcat's mat Wednesday and came away with a 40-8 victory leaving Novi wondering what happened.

In that Country Day match, Novi racked up points in the 132-pound, 138-pound and heavyweight divisions with a decision and two pins.

Junior Pat Ford won the 132-pound match by a narrow one-point margin with a take down, near pin, escape and reversal.

Stan Jackson, another junior, pinned Country Day's Allen Shook in the second period of the 138-pound contest, while 212-pounder Terry Auten wound up the scoring with a pin in the heavyweight division.

Novi got pinned in the 98, 105, 126, 155, and 185-pound classes while losing decisions in the 112, 119, 145 and 167-pound contests.

Northville came on strong in its opening performance Wednesday night as it hustled its way through all but two of the matches, losing a decision at 112 pounds to Wildcat Tom Ford (4-0), and a pin at 155-pounds to junior Kevin Schingeck.

All told the Mustangs pinned five Wildcats and got the upper hand in as many decisions.

Today, Saturday and Tuesday both schools will see action. Northville goes to Clarkston, the Dexter invitational and Waterford Mott while Novi will be at Dexter for a dual meet and at Airport High School and Walled Lake Wester.

Mustangs Nip Trojans in 52-49 Thriller

THRILLS APLENTY — With fans screaming their approval, the Mustangs rallied in the final seconds of Friday's game to edge past the Trojans for a 52-49 victory. Below, Clarenceville's Dick Novell

(51) sticks his fingers in the way of a cocked pass (left), while Bill Andrews (12) flies high for a shot under the net at the right.

There's nothing like a razor close basketball game — particularly if the hometown wins — to excite partisan fans.

And that's the way it was Friday night as screaming, foot-stomping fans exercised their lungs while Northville's varsity cagers pulled out a 52-49 victory over Clarenceville in the waning seconds of the home-court opener.

It was a particularly sweet triumph for Coach Omar Harrison's quintet, coming as it did on the heels of a dismal season opener three nights earlier at South Lyon where the Lions coasted to a 47-44 win in non-conference play.

The victory Friday over the Trojans gives the Mustangs an early share of first place in the Wayne-Oakland League race going into tomorrow night's contest at Milford, which also won its first league contest Friday — a surprising 46-45 win over defending champion Bloomfield Hills.

With about 15 seconds to play and up by just one point, the Mustangs lost the edge as the Trojans fired a two-pointer. But Northville's veteran forward, Kerry Cushing, came back with a quick layup and then, after Clarenceville was tagged for walking, Northville took the ball at half-court and fed into Cushing who pushed through another field goal for the three-point victory margin.

Harrison was obviously pleased with the game's outcome — his first win as varsity coach — but he was far from pleased with his squad's performance. "We were lucky," he said, "just lucky. We only hit 29-percent of our shots, and to win a game with that kind of shooting you've got to be lucky."

At the free-throw line, the Mustangs hit 12 of 19 shots for 63-percent — bettering Clarenceville's 11 of 24 (45-percent) output.

After leading 22-13 at the end of the first quarter, the Mustangs slipped behind at the intermission, 24-22, and were trailing by three points, 40-37, going into the final stanza.

While it was Cushing who tossed in what proved to be the winning baskets, it was Guard Rick Sechler who took the game's scoring laurels with 19 points. Six of those points — two field goals and two charity shots — came in the Mustangs' catch-up performance in the last quarter.

In that final quarter Sechler was sidelined with five fouls. Trojan forward Phil Halstead also was sent to the bench with five fouls.

Cushing was Northville's scoring runnerup, pushing through 16 points to equal Clarenceville's Chip Meyerillis, who was the high scorer for the visitors.

Beat Fenton

It was another cliff hanger here Tuesday night as the Mustangs nipped a late Fenton rally to claim a 45-43 triumph — their second win of the season.

Tied going into the fourth quarter, Northville jumped into a six-point lead, biggest margin of the game, before the visiting cagers scored a field goal and two free throws in the final minute to slice the margin to two points. But that's where the score stayed as local quintet took control at the two-second mark.

Steve Utley took scoring for the Mustangs, pumping in 18 points while picking off 18 rebounds.

Fenton led at the end of first quarter 11-10, and kept its point margin at the half 22-21 before the two teams hit the three-quarter mark with a 32-32 tie.

Use Permit Turned Down

One application for an extended use permit was turned down and another postponed by the Novi Appeals Board at its monthly meeting last week Tuesday.

Both requests, to sell groceries were from service stations — one a Sunoco station at 24670 Novi Road near the I-96 expressway and the other a Boron station at 10 Mile and Novi Road.

The application from the Boron Station was postponed because no representative appeared.

The application from the Sunoco station, handled by Sun Oil Company, was denied because of an attorney's opinion that grocery sales and gasoline sales were not compatible uses.

NORTHVILLE HARDWARE

107 N. CENTER ST. - 349-0131

APARTMENT FIRE — A Northville fireman surveys damage done to a unit of the Northville Green Apartments when a fire started between the walls of a building under construction. The fire of undetermined cause broke out Thursday at 2:45 p.m. Firemen also battled a blaze Friday at 1:40 a.m. that destroyed one of the old children's units on the east side of Maybury Sanatorium. According to fire officials, lightning may have hit the structure. There were no injuries reported in either fire.

ELECTED — Republican State Representative Clifford Smart, serving the Oakland County area including Walled Lake, Novi, Wixom, South Lyon and part of the city of Northville, was named minority leader of the House of Representatives this week. An expert on education, Smart is the former superintendent of schools of Walled Lake.

In other business Tuesday night, trustees unanimously agreed not to accept the city's billing of $1,100 to construct a second floor exit in the Scout-Recreation building to permit the facility to be used for the cooperative nursery school.

Included in the motion was the recommendation that the city review the expenses of the Scout-Recreation building and include them in the budget for the next year.

Trustees also approved —
 — purchase of a base station radio for the police department from RCA for $952.80;

— advertising for sale of the old fire truck owned jointly by the township and city;

— purchase of two water pressure gauges at a cost of $243 each;

— adjustment of the monthly water billing for Kings Mill Clubhouse and pool to $12.

Trustees denied a request from the water and sewer commission to reduce inspection charges from 10 percent to five percent.

The supervisor was instructed to — — make arrangements for dumping facilities for township residents at the new land fill near Napier and Six Mile;

— contact Wayne County Road Commission advising it that Northville Road, Ridge, Sheldon, Beck, Napier, Seven Mile, Six Mile and Five Mile roads are in need of major improvements, and to learn what plans they have;

— contact the proper authorities to determine what steps must be taken to put Maybury Sanatorium and Detroit House of Correction surplus lands back on the township tax rolls.

Ski Club Gets

city represented only a portion of the costs to club members since each must pay his own ski tow and rental fees. City support, they said, would permit others to participate who might not otherwise do so. It also would permit youngsters to ski more often, they added.

Ollendorff said the addresses of all ski club members will be checked to determine if they are township or city residents.

Earlier, when it was suggested that the ski program should more properly be operated by the school system it was pointed out that while this is possible in the future it could cost the taxpayer more money that if it were operated by the recreation department. Apparently, school operated programs require costly professional supervision while the city, through volunteers such as Lyon, can operate the program at a lesser cost, Ollendorff explained.

One of the initial arguments against the program was that it meant the recreation department would be underwriting programs taking place outside the city. It was argued that money should be spent on recreation programs inside the community.

Bonus Term

not resolve the "long ballot" problem in some cities. The League sees the measure as "a step in the right direction" that will encourage further ballot reform.

Last week the Brighton City Council went on record supporting the bill as have other Michigan cities.

Locally, the proposed bill gets a little sticky because the council is currently considering recommendations of its charter study committee to revamp the council structure and the election procedure.

Specifically, the council is considering whether or not to place on the April ballot charter changes that would — — Provide for the bi-annual election of two councilmen to four year terms and one to a two-year term, with the election of the mayor by the council from the council. (The council would remain at five members).

— Provide for an early March election to permit new council members more time to study annual budget proposals before being required to vote on them.

Propose Rate Cut

off in about 18 months.
 With the proposed new rates, however, the debt reduction would continue but would take about three years to pay off the debt. If the 1969 rates were restored, the debt would never be paid off, according to City Manager Frank Ollendorff.

The manager said the addition of 80 new homes in the city would "wipe out" the debt.

In his report to the council Monday, Ollendorff said the city now has 1,500 water customers — up slightly over four years ago. Four years ago, the average use of water was from 12,000 to 13,000 gallons. Today that average use is up to 16,000 gallons.

Also coming up for hearing on December 21 will be a planning commission request that three lots on the east side of North Center Street, north of Rayson, be rezoned from R-2 (two-family residential) to P.O. (professional office district).

A year or more ago, the zoning request asked that the property be rezoned commercial. Since then the matter has been tabled. It was slated to come up for hearing this past Monday, but because adjacent property owners had not been notified by mail of the amendment to make it professional office space rather than commercial the hearing was adjourned to December 21.

Hearing on the proposed rezoning of three lots on the west side of North Center, south of the proposed Chatham supermarket, to permit development of a Burger Chef restaurant also has been set for public hearing on December 21.

Earlier, the planning commission unanimously recommended the rezoning following its public hearing on the request.

In other action Monday, the council —

— Waived bids on the preparation of base maps indicating lots, zoning and streets, and voted to have its City Engineer Harold Penn prepare them at a cost of $12,000 within 90 days.

— Voted to set machinery in motion for condemnation proceedings to acquire four lots in the Maplewood area for park purposes.

— Authorized the city manager to begin advertising for the sale of the fire truck, just replaced by a new vehicle, provided the proposed sale is approved by the township, which jointly owns the old truck with the city.

— Informally agreed to grant an extension of time, to Al Rottman in which he is to come up with the money to purchase the well site property from the city. Council is expected to formally approve purchase agreement on December 21.

Jaycees Set Candy Sale

Northville Jaycees will conduct a two-day blitz of the downtown area Friday and Saturday, December 19 and 20, as they sell candy in return for cash donations.

"Any amount of donation", a spokesman said, "will be more than appreciated in order to bring Christmas cheer and happiness for the forgotten youngsters at the Wayne County Child Development Center."

The candy sale will take place in several areas beginning at 4 p.m. on December 19 and continuing throughout the following day at the A & P and Kroger supermarkets and elsewhere in the Main Street area.

Jaycees will be identified by name tags "and smiling faces."

Staffers Go Christmas Shopping

Stumped for A Gift? Maybe We've Got The Answer

If you're still struggling with your Christmas shopping list... and if you'd like your gift to cause "oohs and aahs" when it's opened... and if you'd like to keep the price around 10 bucks... maybe you ought to continue reading.

Of course, there's still 13 shopping days until Christmas and no real reason for last-minute panic. Lots of people enjoy the crush of the rush on the 24th. But sometimes the selections dwindle down to a precious few; and you might have to settle for pink for a boy, or blue for a girl, or something like that.

Anyway, as a special service to their readers, the staffers of The Northville Record—Novi News, Brighton Argus and South Lyon Herald went Christmas shopping last week.

As an assignment nine reporters started scouring the local stores for gifts for various relatives. Each chose a typical relative and searched for the ideal gift for under 10 dollars.

Maybe their suggestions will help solve your problems. So instead of running around yourself, why not let your eyes do your shopping through our white pages.

Following you'll find what Paul Fetters selected for mother; what Jim Quinlan liked for dad; the gift ideas Sally Burke found for brother; and what Mary Ann Belyea chose for a sister; brave Ernie Brown made the selections for the wife; and Marilyn Herald went shopping for a husband (or should that be "a gift for a husband?"); Jean Day shopped for a daughter; Jack Hoffman for a son; while the most fearless of them all, Rollicking Rollie Peterson, selected the perfect gift for a mother-in-law!

FOR DAD

If the sons and daughters of this land shop carefully, fathers have a good chance of receiving gifts other than the traditional garish necktie or the pragmatic handkerchief.

For the more studious father, who happens to enjoy hunting or fishing, there are a number of books explaining the finer points of these arts. While the color illustrated books run as high as $30, there are smaller books with more meat in them at prices less than $10. Perhaps the best sport book buys are these which "specialize" in areas such as trout fishing or small game rifles — such books rarely run over nine dollars.

There is also a large selection of books on pro football, hockey, basketball and baseball, most of which sell for prices well above 10 dollars.

If a father is a pro sport enthusiast, there are a number of very realistic games which simulate the strategy behind the sport and allow the player to act much as a professional coach.

A word of caution on buying sport games: make sure that the game is designed for an adult, since there are a number of "pro" games which are about as challenging as "Old Maid".

There are many outdoor games, but one in particular fits the father who likes to hold outdoor barbeques. That is Lawn Bowling — which is really the ancient Bocci Ball so popular in Italy and France. One of the oldest games still played (dating back to Roman times), it consists of a number of wooden balls. The idea of the game is simple and it is fun for everyone. Best of all, some sets sell for eight to nine dollars.

The final suggestion is three dimensional tic-tac-toe. This game sells for slightly over 10 dollars but makes an attractive item for a den as well as giving a thoughtful father hours of enjoyment.

With careful shopping, there are even more gifts that could please a father and provide him with something to do after Christmas — besides take all those red and black neckties back to the store.

FOR MOTHER

Given the problem of buying for "a mother who has everything," a guy who has a fear of spending is driven to a number of alternatives.

He can either (A) buy the same thing he did last year, and the year before and the year before; or (B) buy something he knows she can't use, thereby adding to the clutter in the house; or (C) decide on a motherly figure ($10), devote two hours to the task, and buy something she hasn't got.

Adopting the latter tack, I went to Lila's on Northville's Main Street where I came across a white tea pot with a black pattern fired on each side. It stood about seven inches tall and cost $7.50.

The saleswoman said it was of ironware which, I suppose is a kind of china. At any rate it looked nice and I put it on my mental list and drifted over to the candles.

Candles are something I like to buy and my mother usually is the object of my passion so I didn't stay there very long. I noticed, none the less, that they had an excellent selection from spherical to oval to star shaped candles from $2 to $3.

Wandering across the street, I went into Hugh Harvis and was attracted by a Reuge, Swiss movement music box for $8. It was a small wooden box with a glass in it through which you could see the mechanism working. Only about 3"x5" with a picture painted on the lid, it was just a petite box simply meant for my mother. Not so fast there, I thought and continued looking.

Elsewhere in the store I noticed a teapot set with four cups and a broken glass type of finish for $9.50. There were others there, all with cups, for as low as $7. Still I wasn't satisfied.

Fondue pots and accessories were for the most part too expensive but they did have one — plain and attractive — made of what looked like spun aluminum, complete with forks, stand, plate and fire holder — everything except the food for $8.

Good deal I thought, and I was going to buy it, when something told me to try one more place.

I went back across the street to the D&C store and just walked up and down the aisles.

I was just about to leave when I saw it. A combination jewelry and music box with a little bird in a cage that swung back and forth and sung "Beautiful Dreamer." Being of the opinion that beauty should be considered before utility I dismissed the tea pots and fondue kettles and paid $9.35 on the spot.

Sorry folks — I got the last one.

FOR SON

I'm convinced fathers shouldn't shop for their sons.

That's because fathers are overgrown boys who, unconsciously or deliberately, are likely to pick those gifts best suited to their own tastes.

Take me for example. I found three great games at Gambles in Northville that were particularly exciting and within my budget.

The first, a Hot-Shot Hockey game, was a thriller with little players who skate, slide and turn like real men, and it sold for $9.35. The second was an electric football game that permitted me to quarterback my own plays. It was priced at $8.08. And finally, there was this Pro-shot basketball game that had all the earmarks of a fun evening in front of the fireplace. It sold for just under $10.

But as I played with these games, hoping no one would see me, it occurred that dad, not son, would

1-Card of Thanks

OUR RECENT sad loss leaves us with grateful hearts toward neighbors and friends. Their comforting expressions of sympathy and thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hart and family

The family of Mary Jane Bidwell wishes to thank you from the bottom of their hearts, for the wonderful acts of kindness shown during her illness and upon her passing. Our heartfelt thanks to Brownies, The Rebekah Lodge, for the dinner. The Presbyterian Church ladies for the dinner at the house, Eastern Stars for the memorial service, friends and neighbors for thoughtful, acts of kindness and floral offerings. All is deeply appreciated by her sons and daughters.

In Loving Memory of Harold and Mark Hierlthy They Softly Walk They are not gone who pass beyond the clasp of hand, out from the strong embrace. They are but come so close we need not grope with hands, nor look to see, nor try to catch the sound of feet. They have put off their shoes softly to walk by day within our thoughts, to tread at night our dream-led paths of sleep.

They are not lost who find the sunset gate, the goal of all their faithful years. Nor lost are they who reach the summit of their climb, the peak above the clouds and storms. They are not lost who find the light of sun and stars and God.

Mr. & Mrs. Robert Loveland I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for the money cards and flowers sent to me while my stay in St. Joseph Hospital.

Here's Our Christmas Shopping Tips

 probably get the biggest kick out of them.
 So, magnanimously I set aside my own boyhood preferences and picked instead a Carom Game Board, priced at $8.50, that was really more than 100 games in one. With that many games, I told myself, all of us are bound to find something we like.
 Picking a game for my other son was similar. This time shopping at Northville Hardware, I found an archery set that included a 25-pound bow, four arrows, and arm and finger guards. It was just outside my reach, however, priced at $11.95.
 Then there was this Russkit, a do-it-yourself adventure in which you build your own car with chassis, motor, wheels, etc. It sold for an even 10 bucks.

Both were the kind of gifts I would enjoy most. But not my son. I picked instead a $7.77 microscope lab, figuring if he is going to be collecting toads and bugs anyway, he might just as well see what they look like under closer inspection. It might scare him into leaving them alone.

FOR DAUGHTER
 Any mother of two daughters has a rather precise idea of what to shop for by the beginning of December — for girls are quite vocal about "wishing."

So Saturday I had no trouble finding the tam-and-mitten sets at Freydl's Women's Wear shop at 118 East Main Street. At $6 they are available in various colors. My eye was caught, however by the fuzzy mittens in deep pinks and blues for $3. The I saw the warm-looking wool gloves with leather palms for driving (also $3) and made a mental note to do some hinting myself.

Since I wasn't absolutely certain about the color wanted, I crossed the street to Brader's Department Store to look at an item on Laurie's list. Only an 11-year-old would ask for boys tennis shoes! The salesclerk confirmed that this is the junior high fad — so a pair of plain white five-hole shoes in size 5 1/2 was an easy purchase at $4.99 — they also come with "racing stripes" at $7.99. Laurie already had tried on the shoes and informed us that a size adjustment — about two sizes downward — is necessary when girls adopt a "unisex look." (Personally, I would have chosen to buy the pretty-pink fuzzy slippers in the window at $3.99).

The stop a few doors away at Stone's Gamble's Toyland was merely a sentimental journey as a pre-teen and teenager no longer want dolls and games. I did notice a new item, though, for the preschool, which might be a "mod" piece on anyone's desk — a large hour glass filled with blue-and-white grains that empties in seconds.

 At the Sunflower Shop at 116 East Main Street I found everything a teen mentions. Hanging by the door are long belts woven in Ireland with deer braided fringe. In rainbows of color they are $4 — and are "the thing" to wrap about the waist of a skirt or pants. The only decision here was which one? Then, in the rear of the shop are earrings for pierced ears (pearl ones are $2) as well as others for the pierced-look. These earrings range from $1.50. Owner Marie Bonamico also seeks out antique jewelry and had several pair of earrings in her collection, some with dangling stones. I wasn't sure about the amethystlike ones; so a return visit will be upcoming.

FOR HUSBAND
 It wasn't easy to make my selection. I considered a can of paint and a roller from any of our three hard goods stores in South Lyon but discarded that as an unworthy Christmas type remembrance.

Another thing I rejected was a man's wig from the Hidden Room, although I think my dear husband would appreciate it to keep his head warm.

At Baran's Jewelry I might have purchased a set of cuff links and tie bar as they had some very attractive ones with various colored sets. All were between $5 and $10.

I wound up at Coe's Men's Wear where I fell for the fake fur hats. They are incredibly soft, shaped like a regular man's hat and I have a hunch hubby will feel very sporty wearing one. Also, they are not quite so conspicuous as a wig and serve the same purpose — warmth. They sell for $9 and are available in either medium brown or black.

At Coe's I also was attracted to a "key jector" for $4.50. They are a box type key case but at the press of a color-coded button, out pops your key.

FOR WIFE
 South Lyon has hard goods stores, clothing stores, drug stores, hardware and jewelry and novelty stores, a new pet store and green houses and flower shops available to a man searching for a gift for his wife. However, the city also contains one of this area's truly unique stores — E R's Western Shop.

E R's carries everything imaginable for this horse-loving area's populace. But — the question arose on the way to the shop — do they have anything for my wife who neither likes nor dislikes the animals?

Yes, the courteous salesgirl proved, E R's does have some items for the wife — and for less than $10. I chose a nice pair of leather driving gloves (choice of brown or black — $8.50). I could have selected a hand-tooled, hand-dyed leather purse (small size, $8.50) or nice slacks (range from under $5 to $8.95).

Most other items had a too definite Western flair for my purposes.
FOR BROTHER
 Coming up with an unique gift idea for my brother proved to be a bit more difficult than I thought it would be, especially since this Christmas was bound to be inundated with Playboy puzzles.

On a $10 budget, it would be possible to buy three puzzles and still have enough left over the the latest issue of the magazine!

Discarding that idea, I pondered a carve-your-own pipe at Hugh Jarvis (about $5) before realizing my brother stopped whittling when he left cub scouts and never did take up pipe smoking.

A marvelous wall plaque caught my eye at Lila's. Headed "Regulations of the Manson House," it listed where men and women staying at the house could and could not be at the same time. The idea behind it was Victorian, but it would have been a great ice-breaker in any bachelor's quarters. However, $15 was more than my budget could take.

I finally settled on a four and one-half inch wide tie at Freydl's for $5. Made of woven linen-like fabric, the ties came in prints and solids I chose one in an orange, blue, green and chartreuse floral pattern.

"He'll never wear that!" the boss quipped upon seeing my find. "It looks like something they wear on Bimini when the natives get restless," he laughed.

Visibly shaken by his Scrooge-ish manner, I answered "He won't get a duplicate. And even you, boss, don't believe in returning presents."

Little does the boss know the $5 allotted in my unexpended budget is ear-marked for cab fare — to get my brother to the airport in time for the next flight to Bimini!

FOR SISTER
 You can find suitable gifts for a teenage sister — and for under $10 — in almost any kind of department or variety store. Teetering between childhood and young womanhood, Sis is apt to enjoy anything from a cuddly stuffed toy available from $3 and up in the dime store, to an almost grownup sheer baby doll pajama set you can buy at the local dress shop for almost $10.
 If she's a costume jewelry fan, buy her a musical box in which to keep her treasures. If you have $10 to spend, some of them will be inexpensive enough to allow you to buy a unique new buckle ring made from silver-colored mesh that's priced at a dollar.

 If you haven't any idea what size to buy, don't worry, the belt ring is adjustable, as are many of the costume jewelry rings on the market and available in drug, jewelry, dress, department and variety shops.

If Sis is the mod type, she'll enjoy sporting a suede sash that you can buy for about $6.

Or maybe she'd like a leather barrett to hold her pony tail together. They range in price from $1.49 for the dime-store variety, to close to $10 for the hand-tooled type you will find in leather goods shops or at local art show displays.

Charms are still big with today's teens and most jewelry stores stock high school mascot charms.

If she's sentimental about things she's done lately — maybe a record or you could buy her a record charm to remind her of the latest school dance, or a megaphone if she's a cheerleader.

Silver charms are available from $1.50 to about $5.

Whatever you decide, chances are you'll find your teenage sister's stocking one of the easiest to fill come Christmas eve.

FOR MOTHER-IN-LAW
 Shopping for a mother-in-law can be a touchy situation and presents more problems for the husband than the wife. Anything bordering on the intimate, of course, is out.

The easy way around it — as it is all for shopping needs — is to have mom-in-law compile a list of things to get for her family, and you do the same for her, or, rather, have your wife do it.

If you don't have a list, then you simply walk through the department, drug, jewelry or knick-knack store and ask what they have for under $10. Take into consideration mom's tastes.

Suggestions: wallets, gloves (which can't use an extra pair), scarves, perfume, costume jewelry, aprons, novels, records, a chopping block, or a spice rack, just to name a few things.

'I Had The Meanest Mother in The World'

Rev. Charles F. Boerger
St. Paul's Lutheran, Northville

I had the meanest mother in the world. While other kids ate candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich. I wasn't alone in my suffering. My sisters and brothers had the same mean mother I did.

My mother insisted on knowing where we were at all times. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She insisted, if we said we'd be gone an hour, that we be gone an hour or less, not one hour and one minute.

I am almost ashamed to admit it, but she actually struck us! Not just once, but every time we did as we pleased. Can you imagine someone actually hitting a child just because he disobeyed? Now you can begin to see how mean she really was.

The worst is yet to come. We had to be in bed by 9:30 each night and up early the next morning. We could not sleep until noon like our friends. So while they slept, my mother actually had the nerve to break the child labor laws.

Yes, she actually made us work! We had to wash dishes, make our own beds, learn to cook, rake the leaves, cut the grass, weed the garden, and all sorts of cruel things. I think she laid awake nights thinking up mean things for us to do.

She always insisted upon us telling the whole truth and nothing but the truth even if it killed us... and it nearly did.

By the time we were teenagers, she was much worse and our lives became almost unbearable. None of this tooting the horn of a car to hurry our girlfriend out of the house. She embarrassed us no end by making us go to the door and introduce ourselves to the gal's parents.

I forgot to mention this, but while my friends were dating at the mature age of 12 and 13, my old-fashioned mother refused to let me date until I was 16 — and then only if I was going to a school function.

My mother was a complete failure as a mother. None of us has ever been arrested or has beaten his mate. Each of my brothers went through college without marching in a protest parade, or taking part in a riot, or burning his draft card, or the many other fun-things done by some of their classmates. Mother forced us to grow up into God-fearing, educated, honest adults.

Using this as a background, I am trying to raise my children. I stand a little taller and I am filled with pride when my children call me "mean." Because, you see, I thank God He gave me the meanest mother in the world.

VIRTUOSO

You wouldn't believe your ears if your baby were suddenly to play a Beethoven sonata.

But, of course, no one expects a baby to do more than "play at" a piano. It takes years of study and preparation and a "bushel" of talent to become an accomplished pianist. In fact, to become any kind of success in this life takes hard work and experience. If this boy is to make his mark in the world — whether as a pianist, engineer, doctor or lawyer — he must be trained and guided.

The challenges that confront him in later years will not only be concerned with his occupation but will also involve his spiritual growth. In a world growing ever more complex, basic precepts of religion and faith will have to be cultivated. Through the Church give your child and yourself the opportunity to acquire faith for the future.

Newspaper, Not TV Gave Milliken Biggest Boost

LANSING — When listening to my political commentators these days, one gets the idea television is an all-powerful persuader in the modern political campaign.

"Make up some good, slick advertisements and then buy all the tube time you can to air them," goes the theory of political persuasion they are expounding.

In the midst of all this there comes at least one successful candidate who didn't put all his eggs in the television basket this year. In fact, aides to the candidate say another instrument they used was the "single most effective advertising device" they had.

That candidate is Gov. William G. Milliken, and the instrument which he used so successfully was an eight-page, color rotogravure section which was inserted in the state's larger newspapers just before the election.

MILLIKEN forces printed and distributed 2.5 million copies of the eight-page, tabloid size piece of literature.

Chances are, you saw a copy of it, with a color portrait of the governor on the cover, inside pages devoted to brief biographies of the Milliken family and running mate James Brickley, and a section outlining their positions on issues ranging from education to crime.

"A lot of people knew the governor had a lot of programs on which he was working," explains one aide. "But they didn't know the 'humanizing' aspects of him — his war record, his family and things like that.

"We also had the problem that his record was spread over a lot of areas, and you just can't lay that in front of the voter in a 30 second television spot," he said.

THE SUPPLEMENT was printed on a crash basis after it evolved from staff meetings. The printing was held up one week because Milliken didn't like the first version put together and a quick reworking job had to be done.

But the final result pleased Milliken and his aides and, they feel, was the "single most effective advertising device they used."

"Television is the big glamour item right now," said another aide. "I think some people have forgotten the purpose of political advertising whatever form it takes."

"That purpose is to communicate with the voter, to catch his attention and get your message over to him," he said. "If you do a more effective job of that than your opponent, you're probably going to win."

SHE MAY be out of her seat in the Michigan State Senate, but the only woman who has sat in that body the last four years isn't going to roll over and play dead.

"I may die with my boots on, but I won't quit," vows Mrs. Lorraine Beebe, a Dearborn Republican whose defeat was attributed mainly to her staunch support of abortion law reforms.

"They can't keep me quiet by voting me out of the Senate," she said.

Mrs. Beebe says she'll concentrate on the women's rights field, possibly by coordinating the various groups in Michigan and channeling their efforts together.

"I'VE GAINED a lot of knowledge about the way things really work in the legislature in the past four years, and I certainly hope to use this experience," she said. "I want to tell the women of Michigan what's happening here."

Mrs. Beebe feels her defeat was "a real slap to the women of this state."

"It is totally unfair to have an all male Senate telling the people of this state what they can eat, how much they can get paid and how fast they can drive as it would be to have an all woman Senate doing those things," she said.

"I believe that in their hearts, women are seeking some form of liberation," she said. "I can sense a restlessness, an uncomfortable-ness in them. There's a big world out there that needs the talents and abilities of women. That is why Beebe isn't quitting."

Dental Sealant Not Far Away

IT IS ENTIRELY possible that before long a visit to the dentist for a two-or-three-minute application of a plastic sealant on one's teeth may permanently do away with cavities. This is the hope of Dentsply International, the leading producer of dental equipment and supplies.

The dental-supplies industry is characterized by a high degree of fragmentation. There are many small (and often privately owned) firms which have a stake in the business. In fact, there exists only a relatively limited number of publicly owned companies whose major interests center around dental equipment.

The aforementioned development is just one example of the progress and changes occurring in the growing field of dental supplies.

standards, increased stress upon personal appearance, high spendable income, and an expanding population. Also, benefits will come from new and more effective dental procedures and products, and from federal and state dental health programs.

The dental-supplies industry is characterized by a high degree of fragmentation. There are many small (and often privately owned) firms which have a stake in the business. In fact, there exists only a relatively limited number of publicly owned companies whose major interests center around dental equipment.

In addition, there is a fairly sizable number of companies which are primarily identified with other fields but also possess some interest in the dental field. Among these are Johnson & Johnson, IPCO Hospital Supply, American Hospital Supply, Litton Industries, Warner Lambert, Pennwalt, and Narco Scientific.

PRIOR to the mid-1960s, there was undoubtedly a larger number of smaller companies in the dental-supplies field than exist today. In the merger binge of the middle to late 1960s, many of these small firms were acquired by the conglomerates and other large companies bent on diversification.

In 1966, for example, Pennwalt acquired S.S. White Dental, one of the world's largest dental-supplies firms. Sybron was formed through a merger of Ritter Pfaudler and Taylor Instrument in 1968, and Sybron now derives nearly half of its sales from dental, medical, and laboratory equipment.

CAVITRON and Warner Lambert (via its Lactona Products Division) produce ultrasonic units for cleaning and drilling. Sybron, American Hospital Supply, and a division of Litton Industries, produce items such as dental chairs, console units, and sterilizers.

The Detroit Pistons have to be the sports surprise of the year around these parts, the way they reeled off those nine consecutive victories at the beginning of the season and the way they're playing at the present time.

The lowly Pistons. Last year they were lucky to finish in the cellar, they were so inept. Poor play under pressure was their hallmark. Get close while the other team was day dreaming against a tailender, then blow it by throwing the ball away or missing a shot on top of the bucket.

Like everybody else, I've been trying to figure out what in one short year has made the Pistons a winner. So I decided the way to find out was to attend a game and see for myself. And what better way to evaluate the new Pistons than to see them play the New York Knicks, the world champs.

What Detroit did to the Knicks is now a pleasant memory. The Pistons fell 10 points behind in the first quarter (and I thought here we go, shades of yesteryear), then, led by hot-shooting Guards Jimmy Walker and Dave Bing, they came to life, overtook the Knicks and finally crushed them with a 101-83 victory.

I couldn't believe it. It was so easy. In essence they did to the Knicks what the Knicks have done to so many teams. The Pistons harassed them to death on defense, bottling up that smooth New York attack.

Not one, but every Piston did his job. Detroit had a cohesiveness that in years past has been lacking. The Pistons weren't flawless in execution, but when they made a mistake, they didn't sulk. They alertly redoubled their efforts on defense and on the boards and thus kept the pressure on the Knicks.

This aspect of Detroit's play — pressure team, defense which includes an aggressive board game — more than any other factor is the difference between 1969 and 1970.

To accomplish this objective, however, wouldn't have been possible if there hadn't been improvement at one key position — center. Here is where games are won and lost in pro ball.

Good outside shooting is a must and it can win ball games, but no team is going to be hot every game. The center, then, can make the difference by giving you the second chance or by getting the high percentage bucket. He gives you consistency.

Willis Reed has done it for New York. Lou Allcindor does it for Milwaukee. In the game last week Otto Moore and Bob Lanier did it for the Pistons by hauling down the rebounds and defending Willis Reed. They kept Detroit on top of the game.

Moore, at 7' 1" is a mighty fine center, a good shooter and an agile rebounder, but not quite quick enough or big enough to alone handle the likes of Reed and Allcindor for a complete game.

Lanier is another matter altogether. Big (6' 11" and 260 pounds), he physically looks like Willis Reed's big brother and played like it last week. He physically beat Reed to death under the boards.

Now the only thing the Pistons need to really be a consistently potent force, if not the premiere team in the NBA, is a top-notch forward, with the physical size, agility and shooting eye. Until that time, the Pistons are a solid team capable of

Out of the Horse's Mouth

Send your questions, comments, and horse show news to "Horse's Mouth", care of South Lyon Herald, South Lyon, Mi 48178. This column is open to news of all breeds of horses and ponies.

There is a new horse club starting in this area for "amateur horse lovers". This is a group for families and their horses who would like to participate in trail riding, horse shows and social activities.

The next meeting will be held December 13, at 1:30 p.m. in the Wixom Elementary School located on Wixom Road. All are welcome.

The following meeting will be a Christmas party with a pony raffle. For additional information, call Christine Olewnik, 349-7242.

There is a great deal of folklore associated with horses. Some of it is based on fact. Some of it is pure superstition. Here are some of the more common statements and misstatements which you are likely to hear.

A foal's legs at birth are as long as they will ever be.

False. This can be disproved easily by looking at a mare and foal together, the mare's legs are much longer. The cannon bone however, is just about the same length and will not change much. Most of the growth comes in the forearms and gaskins and, of course, in the body.

Horses cannot vomit. True. A valve between the stomach and the esophagus prevents burping or vomiting except when the stomach is greatly stretched and distended. Very rarely will a horse vomit; when he does it is a grave and nearly always fatal sign.

A horse sees everything as being bigger than it really is because his eyes magnify. This is why man can control him.

False. This statement is so absurd that it is included in a list of other absurd statements used by psychologists in testing intelligence!

Horses can see behind them. True. Horses can see in an almost complete circle. They cannot, however, see what is under their noses. There is a blind area underneath the head, just as there is under our chins.

Horses do not lie down unless they are sick. False. Although horses can sleep standing up due to an elaborate stay mechanism which locks their forelegs in place, they also like to lie down to sleep if they have a warm, dry, safe place to do so. A nervous or unhappy horse will not lie down. Happy animals, that feel relaxed and at home, like to stretch out and give their legs a rest.

Horses can see in the dark. False. No animal can see in total darkness, but their night vision is far better than ours and they can see quite well in very dim light.

Horses are color blind. True. Horses have no cone cells in their retinas. It is with cone cells that animals perceive color.

If you are lost, give your horse his head and he will find the way home. Don't count on it! Although equines have a strong homing instinct, they, too, can become confused in strange surroundings and wander aimlessly for hours.

Horses are not affectionate. False. If handled with affection, horses and ponies will respond with affection.
