Labour Prepares for the Municipal Fight

On Wednesday a meeting was held at Lady Lane, reresentative of the various elements of the city and organised under the suspices of the Trades Council, to discuss and clucidate the Labour programme that has been prepared for sub-mission to the electorate of Waterford. for the forthcoming municipal elections. Prior to the discussion of the various stems on the programme an instructive lecture touching on the various phases the Labour movement was delivered by the Rev. Father Kelleher, S.T.L.

Mr. Luke Larkin, President of the Trades Council, presided, and the attend-ance included Mr. Knox, of the Labour Co-operative movement, Belliust, and delegates from the Waterford Nurses

Is opening the proceedings, Mr Larkin said his first duty that night, on behalf of the Trades, Council, was to extend their hearty welcome to the delegates tresent on behalf of the Nurses Union (applause). He referred to the discussion they had on the Irish Labour programme at a meeting held on Monday night, and the present meeting of all

Rev. Fether Kelleher, who was ed an enthusiastic welcome, said Yesthey thing to say that might help to illuminate in any way the labour programme, and it just struck me that I had something already written that seemed to bear on the subject. That is the conclusion of a lecture that I started in the Town Hall on the occasion of the concert, but, owing to the long programme that was to be got through. I start in the paper were written before I saw the programme, and what I read in the Town Hall has been published all ready. I was antious to make very clear the exeminal justice of your clear the sevential justice of your clear the stack of those people who have been trying to spread the yiew that the Labour movement is an extreme movement, and I support in the chief of the ch ed on the part of organised labour. But it is a struggle against almost overwhelming odds. The full weight of wealth position and official influence is on the other side. The capitalist interest has countless means of weakening its influence and hampering his efficiency at every stage. But in spite of all that, it is not of great political consequence, but this is done only with the greatest possible difficulty at every stage. But in spite of all that, it is many able forender the entire industrial situation extremely insecure; and for its reason, if for no higher, the forces of the other side would appear to be save themselves, and no one would have a word to say against them for doing so, if saving themselves did not mean in practice keeping others from coming into their own. That, to my mind, is the great ethical difference between capitalgreat ethical difference between capitalist federations, as actually constituted, and labour unions. The latter are trying to remove social injustices and injustices, the former are trying to preserve them. But I am quite satisfied that most, especially of the smaller employers and farmers would be ready to ployers and farmers, would be ready to forward the cause of labour—as labour itself not so long ago did to forward the cause of the farmers (applause)—had they not been frightened into an alliance with and submission to the wealthy merchants and what are called the gentlemen farmers. And unfortunately it is s fact that bad tactice on the part of labour itself have helped greatly to forward such an alliance. And this brings me to the second point I would submit to you to night viz., the necessity for a more carefully considered programme.

The present programme is too vague and too needlessly aggressive on paper.
There can be no objection to discussing ided s such as the Co-operative Common-wealth and the Workers' Republic. But when labour appears to commit itself to a definite goal which can easily be repregramme at a meeting held on Monday seinted by the defenders of capitalism as altogether destructive, a desire to pull the delegates was called so that they down without any clear indication of could have the able views of Father what is going to be built up—the ordinary, easy-going citizen, who would be ready and eager enough to help the workers, is frightened and driven to oppose them. Nothing would please the real enemies of labour better than that its forces should be wasted in discuss. its forces should be wasted in discussing and fighting about remote schemes of socialism and communism, while they would be kept secure from any attacks on their untenable position. It assure you those gentlemen are much less atraid of the bogey of socialism than they are of concrete demands for higher wages, better houses, reasonable hours, and public representation. If then it and public representation. If, then, it is necessary for labour to formulate a definite objective beyond the general aim of removing injustice and securing a reasonable store of all the advantages of civilized life which it does so much to maintain life much formulate that chies. maintain, it must formulate that objective clearly and intelligently, and show at to be such as can win the support of the majority of the people of this country. The success of labour need be in no way prejudicial to the interests of the ordinary farmer and employed or, indeed, of anyone else who does not aim at living a life of luxury at the expense of others. But that is not how it is made to appear. The attitude of the "Independent" newspaper for some weeks pae twould show you that a combined attempt is being made to trighten the country into opposition to labour, to Workers Union, also contributed a brief think to importial observers, in making it clear that it was not a movement of extremism, and in no words of mine, but the questing authorities recognised as mentorious, and authorities recognised as mentorious, and authorities recognised as the first point for Trades to first power. The labour movement that it is in my first point for Trades to first power. The labour movement that it is in the power of the power in proved labour conditions. Neither is the first point for great the country and steadifications with which this talk about what labour will do in this talk about what labour will do in the remote and misty future is implicated by the enormous difficulty in doing the meaning that the part of organized labour. do not point the way to the establishment of a better system, nor even to the abolition of the capitalist system, except in the altogether destructive sense of killing industry outright. Nay more, I would go so far as to say that even for the purpose of increasing wages and bettering working hours, agitations, and strikes of themselves were never quite strikes of themselves were never quite so effective as they appeared, and recent happnings would seem to show that they are losing some of their former efficiency. The workers are always at a great disadvantage in case of strikes. Starvation for oneself, one's wife, and children is a sharp and cruel weapon to fight against, and that is the weapon by which the large capitalists always hope to win. As one of them put it on a famous occasion, they knew they could always count on three square meals no matter who suffers. Sometimes, too, it matter who suffers. Sometimes, too, it is the weaker employers, men scarcely differing at all in status from the workers themselves, and sometimes it is the general public who have been made to suffer most from strikes. The effect of this is to drive the natural friends of labour into an alliance with its natural enemies. It can well understand the reason why things work out in such a perverse manner, and it is interesting to remember that something precisely similar happened before in the struggle against landlordism. In Belfast, when the men were out on strike, the ship owners did not suffer they got their meals. But all the same it is a mistake from which the same it is a mistake from which the country suffers; and it is a source of weakness to the labour movement itself. I hope that as the movement grows in power it will be in a position to exercise more vigilance over the rash spirits who may be over-inclined for hasty action without considering the effect in all its bearings. The labour organisation, therefore, cannot remain content with strikes and agitations. These things it cannot give up, but if it is to be really sefficied as against capitalism, and, above all if it is to reform society, it must reinforce them by attending to more constructive items in its programme. These items must be determined by the consideration of what it aims at and the possibilities of the sitution which socially faces it. We may all take it that the labour movement, in addition to alleviating immediate hardships, aims at securing for the workers a status in society, and a grip on so hope that as the movement grows in ships, aims at securing for the workers a status in society, and a grip on society's resources, so that they may be no longer described by that abominable name, Proletariat. How in the present conditions can it hope to accomplish this most effectively? I have given this phase of the question a good deal of thought, and I briefly suggest the constructive programme which I believe would be found most effective. In the first place, it must devote more attention to the industrial abuses it undertakes to remedy. It will not do until a certain remedy. It will not do until a certain trade or a certain number of employers make up their minds to strike for higher wages or better conditions. It ought to agree on what is a reasonable minimum agree on what is a reasonable minimum wage for men and women, and what are reasonable hours. Then the recognised labour authority in each city, town, or district, as the case may be should find out where this standard of wages on hours is not being observed. The employer, or whoever else is responsible, should be approached. In many cases there will be plenty of excuses, and explanations forthcoming, but these should not occasion any insuperable difficulty. Then there is the educational work to be done. Unless its members are educated in a real sense the labour movement can never hope to be a really are educated in a real sense the labour movement can never hope to be a really effective power. And I may say that the education of the workers children is a duty which trades unionists owe to their country said to their own mosperity. Finally, there is the co-operative movement, which trades unionism can link up with itself and which will give it, new life and strength. My object in grouping these items together is to suggest a certain programme by which labour can programme "b safely work forward to its proper place in society. The process of transforming society may be difficult; and tedlous, but if the labour movement is senious it must undertake it or something like it. In conclusion, Father Kelleher said they heard, sometimes too often, of labour representatives talking about bringing the country to their feet. There was no use in talking like that. Labour did not want that. If Labour got justice it was enough. They could get all they wanted through an appeals to justice wanted through an appeal to justice, and not to this kind of force. That was what the landlords did, and they should know better. In a case of brute force they should consider the capitalists had all the resources at their command to beat them. But if they appealed to justice and reason they would have the country on their side and would beat them (applause).

An interesting discussion followed on the Labour programme, and interesting addresses were contributed by the ladies present. Nurse Foley informed the meeting that the nurses excepting two or three, had joined up in the ranks of the union; and before the week was out she expected these nurses would come in. She re-ferred to the appalling conditions under which the unfortunate poor of the city existed. She drew an unhappy but faithful portrayal of the housing conditions of the poor, and referred to the insanitary condition of the lanes. leading to their homes. She spoke of the Corporation's responsibilities on this subject.

Mr Keane, T.C., followed and said the Local Government Board had blocked the Corporation on the housing scheme. He believed if they had a strong Labour Party in the Corporation the health of the city could be improved. They might motice that Councillor O'Neill had taken certain action with regard to the public health, and they might also notice that efforts were made to silence him. He believed the worker should see that his child got a proper education now, as, he recalled, in their time they had no such chance.

Nurse Foley said the sanitary officers could do a lot, but the sanitary officer was in the humiliating position of being in touch with the landlord, and the landford was on the Council. There was an old phrase, "Go to law with the devil and the court held in hell' (laughter). That was how it was with the sanitary officers of the Corporation.

Mr. Larkin named one of the sanitary officers who did his duty in the interests

Workers Union, also contributed a brief address, during the course of which she expressed the hope that when the next scheme of houses were being built they would be a vast improvement on pre rique echemes.

Mr. Larkin proposed a vote of thanks to Father Relieher.
Father Relieher briefly replied, and, Mr. Knox having addressed the meeting, the proceedings closed.

JOHN WAISH 18 DARRONSTRAND STREET. The Ballybricken Burglary Case

At the Munster Assizes, held in Cork, on Tuesday, Richard O'Neill and James Corcoran Richard O'Neill and James Corcoran, two young men, pleaded not guilty to the charge that on September 1st they broke into and took from the shop of Thomas Francis Sheedy, Ballybricken, 30 wedding rings, 20 keeper rings, 6 gold watches, 6 gold bracelets, 6 curb bracelets, 2 islwar watches, 9 gold neck chains, 1 gold Celtic cross, 1 gold-filled watch, a ten dollar bill, a two dollar bill, and a pair of gold cuff links.

ten dollar bill, a two dollar bill, and a pair of gold cuff links.

Mr. R. H. Kinshan (instructed by Mr. P. R. Buggy, solr., Waterford) defended.

Mr. Sheedy, pawnbroker, Ballybrioken, gave evidence of leaving his premises at 5 o'clock in the evening of Sept. 1st. In one window of the shop jewellery was displayed. Next morning, at 9.45, when he arrived, he found that the lock of the glass door which closed in the window had been broken, and there was a quantity of jewellery missing. At this stage Mr. Kinahan, on behalf of the prisoner O'Neill, said that he was instructed by his solicitor to withdraw instructed by his solicitor to withdraw the ples of not guilty, and then to offer a plea of guilty for him (O'Neill) in respect of such of the articles as were found in his house.

His Lordship—You propose to enter a nolle prosequi?

Mr. Serjeant McSweeney—Yes.

Corcoran was then discharged, and O'Neill pleaded guilty.

Mr. Kinahan said that O'Neill was 25 years of age; and hitherto there was nothing against him. Previously he was a clerk in a bakery in Waterford, then he got a position in Dublin. Krom there he went to Manchester, but failed to get employment, and returned home to Waterford. The value of the articles found, and to which he had pleaded guilty to taking, was £22 odd. He was already three months in gaol, and counsel read a petition from prisoner asking his lordship for mercy. There was nothing ever against him, and in a moment of weakness and foolishness he committed this act, for which he was deeply story.

SENTENCE AGAIN DEFERRED Cork, Wednesday.
The sentence on Richard O'Neill has been further deferred on, it is stated, the prisoner supplying a list of the places where the unrecovered jewellery exists to his lordship.

On Thursday the centence on O'Neill was again deferred.

Guaranteed Price for Com. - The gua tanteed prices for grain (wheat outs, barley, and rye), according to the Corrier Production Act, are based on the screage grown, irrespective of yield or time of tale. If by April (1920) the market price for these cereals (averaged over the pre-ceding six months) falls below the gua-ranteed prices, then the Government are committed to pay the difference per acre (based on the average yield). This, however, is little likely to happen, in the present season at any rate, and though your corn area has been measured to check the claim you may have had to make, the current prices obtained ar-certain to absolve the Government from eny liability to growers. There is some probability of the guarantee being medi-tied in certain particulars for next year's Sowing Wheat.—It is not by any means Sowing Wheat.—It is not by any means foo late to sow winter wheat provided you can get a chance of the soil being dry and free working. Of course the earlier winter wheat is sown the better the chance it has of getting well established before the frosts of winter set in; if sown late there is always the risk of it being seriously checked when just coming over ground. It would be advistable to pickle the seed against smut by coming over ground. It would be advisable to pickle the seed against smut by sprinkling it with a copper sulphate solution and turning it over once or twice afterwards until the grain is completely lifty. According to a leaflet of the English Board of Agriculture the practice is to empty a sack (four bushels) of grain on a clean wooden floor, and to sprinkle

Irish Christmas Cards and Calendars made in Waterford cards, and it is the duty of every Irishman and Irishwoman (who has the economic welfare of Ireland at heart) to purchase Irish-made Christmas cards, which have acquired a great reputation for neat and artistic designs, as compared with the tawdry and sloppy cards dumped here from foreign countries. Original in design, the Irishmade cards can be relied upon to satisfy all individuals who possess that vague quality called "taste." "The apparel of proclaims the man." might be altered to The card proclaims the taste of the individual who sends it." Irish made Christmas cards satisfy the tastes of those who appreciate genuine artistic talent. Vulgar seekers after gaudy and flashy things will, of course, be disappointed in the Irish-made cards. Irish agri never appealed to the vulgar and money spent annually on Christmas pointed in the Irish-made cards. Irish art never appealed to the vulgar and in the people, and it cannot be changed to meet with their approval.

We are glad to be able to state that the Art Department of the local Technical School has turned out a beautiful selection of Irish-made Christmas cards this year. The designs reflect great oredit on the pupils of the Art School, and we think the cards should command a ready sale. Amongst the designs are and we think the cards should command a ready sale. Amongst the designs are, Reginald's Tower, Dunbrody Abbey, the French Church, chancel, arch, and nave of Blackfriars' Abbey, Waterford, west doorway of the Blackfriars' Abbey, etc. Appropriate inscriptions are printed on all the cards.

Another welcome present for the coming year is an Irish-made calendar.
Several artistic calendars (Celtic design) are put on the market by the Technical School, and they are ornamental as well as useful. The designs in many cases are taken from the Book of Kells. It is necessity to inspect these specimens of Trish elendars in order to form an opinion at their intrinsic merits. Messrs.

M. H. Gill and Son, Idd., 112 Quay, have a complete stock, we understand, of A complete stock, we understand, of those choice novelties, and Irish-Irelanders would do well to pdy a visit to this establishment to see what local students are capable of doing in the way of artistic Irish Christmas cards, calendars, etc. We believe the Art School of the Central Technical Institute to be the best equipped school of the kind in Ireland. CINEMA PROJECT ADVANCED. COUKERY CLASSES FOR MEN.

inities was held on Friday last, the Most

Committee of his attendance at the re-cent meeting of the Bould of Technical Instruction, where, amongst other things, no brought up the matter of the Committee's difficulty in providing, for classes in anotor and electrical engineering owing to shortage of funds. The Board expressed their sympathy with the Committee in the matter, and made reference to this need in a subsequent resolution. His Lordship expressed himself as very pleased at references that were made by officials of the Department to the good work that is being done in the Institute.

Regarding the question arising out el minutes it was noted that the Department had approved of the teachers' classes proposed in Irish and in rural science, including school gardening. Also it was noted that the Department had approved or the appointment of Mr. W. H. Johns attended by children"

A proposal for a class in domestic handicraft was considered, the Secretary submitting a syllabus for a similar class which is being conducted elsewhere.

After discussion it was decided to authorise the starting of such class.

Application had also been made for a class in cookery for men.

The general feeling of the Committee was that it a sufficiently large number of applicants could be secured to maintain such class it would be well worth trying, and the Secretary was authorised to take the necessary preliminary steps towards the formation of the class.

The visitors appointed for the month of December were the Right Rev. Dr. Miller, M.A. (Lord Bishop of Cashel and Emly) and Councillor P. Cahill.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the Committee on the 19th Decem-

SPURTING TATTLE

Work on the new racecourse at Cork is proceeding apace.

"Skeets" Martin, one of the oldest jockeys at present riding in England, it is stated, will not ride next season, and delicate health is the cause. During his long stay in England the American jockey has made himself popular with all classes, and he will have many wishes for his return to the saddle.

The riding record of the late J. Thompson, made in 1907, when he rode 53 winners, remained unbeaten until this year. Both Joseph Canty and H. H. Beasley have aurpassed it. The former set up new figures by riding 65 winners. Beasley was successful on 58 occasions. The last-named jockey, however, had most winners on the flat.

W. Barrett was easily first of the professional riders in Ireland in point of wins to mounts. He had 110 mounts, which yielded 49 winners, so that his over-age worked out at the high rate of 44.54

During the past season several Trish trainers provided winners in England and elsewhere. Thus, Mr. J. T. Rogers won races in England with Damaged Goods, Orange Water and Golden Fleece. F Mor-gan won the Grand Sefton Steeplechase mittee was held on Friday hat, the Most new. Dr. Hackett, Lord hishop of Water-tond and Lisandre, presiding.

His Lordship the Bishop informed the Committee of his attendance at the recent meeting of the Board of Technical went over to France a few months later and appropriated the Paris Steeplechase.

The sensation at the recent Newmarket sales was the relusal of the Clarehayen trainer to accept a bid of 11,500gs, for the unbeaten Comrade, the Bachelor's Double—Sourabaya colt, who won his three races during the summer. The colt is two years old, and as recently as September, 1918, Gilpin picked him up from Mr. L. Neu-mann for the paltry sum of 25gs.

CITY WATER FAMINE.

During the past week the soarcity of water in the city has been acute. Owing to the short supply at Tycor reservoir, certain districts have suffered very considerably, some institutions suffering especially. In houses in the higher levels, such as St. John's Hill, rainbutts and pump water have to be re-lied on to eke out supplies for domestic purposes. There has been an unsually long drought, for the season of the year, dillowing a dry summer, and this has brought matters to a crisis. An auxiliary pipe from the source of supply at Knockaderry would. it is believed in Knockaderry would it is believed in official circles, solve the difficulty. The scheme for this auxiliary service has already been considered by the Corporation, but so far no steps have been taken to carry out the work, which, of course, would be very costly.

One authority expresses the view that a good month's rainfall would refill all our cisterns; another says the remody to our cisterns; another says the remedy (a new Knockaderry pipe) will take two

LOCAL CHEMISTS ASSISTANTS'

The Waterford chemists assistants' have declared a strike which will take effect to-morrow night at 9 o'clock. The assist-ants demand a living wage, better condi-tions of employment, and shorter hours.

WATERFORD FAIR. The cattle fair held on Monday was well furnished with stock, and the demand for fat supplies was rather brisk.

The relaxation of the export restrictions induced many to the fair to dispose of their stocks. Stores did not meet with a good demand, but certain lots command ed the average prices ruling for some months back. The drop in store sales is assigned to the scarcity of feeding stuffs and root crops in England, which, it is stated, does not encourage the purchase of stores for cross-Channel beef producing purposes. Quotations:— Yearlings, £12 to £16 10s.; two year olds, £20 to £30; three year olds, £30 to £38; beef, £5 10s. to £7 (dead weight); mutton, arrangements to hold a race meeting at 1s. 4d. per lb.; fat pigs, 167s. per cwt., Ballyduff, Kilmeaden, on New Year's which shows an advance of 11s 3d on the Day.

CITY PETTY SESSIONS

on the Quay.
Complainent swore that on Sunday night he was on duty in the vicinity of the Quay, when he saw a crowd coming along shouting, and one of the party was playing a mouth organ. He stopped the man who was playing the mouth organ, with a view to getting his name, and the rest of the crowd dispersed, shouting "Up, Ibublin!" "Up, the Rebels!" as well as some other words. Their conduct, he said, for some time past, especially about the bridge, was anything but creditable, and numerous complants were made about them.

R.M.—Are they here to-day!

Witness—They are not. I don't believe they would recognise the court. One of the defendants is a farmer's son, and the other a painter. the Quay, when he saw a crowd coming on the other a painter.

Mayor—And they work in Waterford?

Witness—Yes. There were about 20 in the crowd altagether.

Sergeant Stattery—There is no record against them. Sergeant Waldron, continuing, said he sergeant Waldron, continuing, said he arrested two of the defendants, who were already prosecuted, and the other two were identified. The "Waterford News," he believed, was complaining about hooliganism on the quay.

Mayor—I think we are treating the defendants very longerthy in finite them defendants very lepiently in fining them 6s, with the warning that if this conduct goes on they will get a much heavier sentence. (Our reporter fails to see the sergeant's point; but when he refers to playing a mouth organ as 'incolligan-ism" there is greet scope for his activity in suppressing the music of melodeon players marching along the principal streets at night in double file rendering music-hall ditties in the very best "Up England" style.)

HOUSE FAMINE.

rent of 3s. Mr. P. A. Murphy, solr., appeared for Mrs. Allen appeared and said she had six children. Mr. Murphy (to plaintiff)—What objection have you to the tenant, considering he pays the rent punctually?

Plaintiff—The owner wants posses-Mr. Murphy—For what? Witness—For himself. Mr. Murphy—Who is the owner? Witness—A Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy—Is this a tenement house? Witness-Yes.. There were six families in it one time, and now they are cut down to three.

Mr. Murphy—Could you help to those three families a house?

those three families a house?
Witness—I got a house for one.
Mr. Murphy—Did you make an effort to get houses for the other?
Witness—Yes.
Mr. Murphy—Can you get a house?
The R.M. asked why the agent brought forward the prosecution instead of the owner?

Mr. Murphy said that course had been adopted regularly, and he raised the question of several occasions, as did Mr Keane, that it should be the owner. Proceeding, Mr. Murphy asked the witness if he had any authority from Mr. Murphy to being from Mr. Murphy to bring forward the case witness's name.

Mr. Murphy-And your authority is in writing?

Mr. Keane—No.

Mr. Keane—I thoroughly agree with Mr. Murphy that the prosecution should be in the name of the owner.

Mr. Murphy—How long is this man the owner?

Witness—Two months.

R.M. (to witness)—That opens up another question. You have met with serious difficulties. The R.M. quoted the sections bearing on the procedure of legal proceedings in such cases, and also referred to the Emergency Act of 1918, and said the fact was the case bristled with difficulties. The Mayor said that nobody could know the impossibility of getting houses us well as he did, as the Corporation had a large number of houses, and when one of them became vacant there was a troop of would-be tenants following him. There was a famine in houses at the present time. Proceeding, he said he would not be a party to sending people out on the streets.

In reply to the Mayor, the witness said he did not say that the owner was a bachelor, and the R.M. jocosely suggest-ed that he might be a "married bachelor" (laughter).

The case was dismissed without preju-

SMASHED "THE ROLL OF HONOUR."

Thomas Morrissey, Dungarvan, was charged in custody with a assaulting Police-station Constable White, and also with the damage of G.S.W.R. property.

Mr. McCoy, solr., appeared for the Railway Company, and Mr. H. D. Keane defended. Mr. McCoy said that on the 1st inst. Mr. McCoy said that on the 1st hist. the defendant went into the railway station and broke the glass of the "Roll of Honour" list. When challenged by Mr. White he struck him on the face and became very violent, until collared by the police. They had made inquiries, and found defendant to be the respectable for the very remerciable parents. and found defendant to be the respectable parents from Dungarvan. Having made amends for the damage, he (Mr. McCoy) was instructed, under the circumstances, and taking into account his respectability and the fact that a conviction might interfere with him—he beligioned his Majesty's navy—he asked leave to withdraw the case.

Mr. Keane said Mr. McCoy had met the case very fairly, everything he said the prices of controlled articles of food.

Waterford Jewellery Charge

BIX MONTHS FOR DEFENDANT.

Cork, Friday. Richard O'Neill, who was charged with the larceny of jewellery from Mr. Sheedy's pawn office at Ballybricken, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the second division. The sentence is to take effect from the 1st of October.

WATERFORD BUILDING TRADES' A conference of men employed in the building trade in Waterford was recently beld in the city, at which the following John Purcell, house agent, sought to held in the city, at which the following recover possession of rooms held by trades were represented:—Carpenters Geoffrey Allen, Peter street, at the weekly and joiners masons, stonecutters, plasterers and plumbers. It was devided terers, and plumbers. It was decided that's demand be made on the builders In cross-examination, witness admitted that defendant paid the rent punctually, and was in possession of the place four years on the 21st January last came from Dungarvan to Waterford, where he met his former companions. He had been a tectotaller, and when he took drink it overcame him. The case was willidrawn.

"A CONVICT'S LIFE IS THE LIFE FOR ME! The National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to children prosecuted Patrick Fitzgerald, Hudson's lane, Wa-

Patrick Fitzgerald, Hudson's lame, Waterford, for neglect of his children.

Mr. Keanel solr., who appeared for the Society, said this gentleman was an army pensioner, and was charged with neglecting his four children, aged 14, 8; 6, and 4. Early this year he took the pledge, but did not keep it long. In September he took the pledge again; and kept it very shortly. He had 30s, a week from the army and 24s, unemployment money and instead of this money being a benefit to his family it was tuite the reverse and had made a drunkard of the reverse and had made a drunkerd of the defendant. He had forgotten his duty to himself and his family, and on one occasion, when he had six bottles of porter and some whiskey in him, he came home at 12 o'clock at night and commenced to abuse and threaten his poor wife. She had to leave the house, and since then she tried to keep herself and her little children by selling fruit and vegetables. They had no home, no fire. the children were hungry and cold, and only for a neighbour who was good enough to take them in and contribute come support, they would have been in a very bad way. On one occasion he went to such an extreme pitch that he Baid "A convict's life is the life forme."

Mr. Walsh, the inspector, swore that defendant took the pledge in January and kept it until the 1st April (All Fools Day), when he gave way to drink again.
Witness was ill for some time, but on the 18th July he visited the house, when the 18th July he visited the house, when he saw the children there, but the mother was out of it, and one of the children was doing the work of the house. To wards the end of September defendant again took the pledge, but broke it again, and witness, on account of his conduct, applied for instructions as to what to do, and he got instructions to prosecute. He asked for a chance, and brought a temperance certificate to witness and promised to be a good father, on the strength of which promise and certificate they did not go on with the certificate they did not go on with the prosecution. On the 29th of November witness had occasion to visit the house witness had occasion to visit the house again, when he found the defendant considerably under the influence of drink, and the family were all out of the house. Nineteen Years!

"I have been free from lumbago and kidney weakness for fully nineteen years, and have excellent health at this date—15th April, 1919—thanks to Doan's. Pills," says Mr. Chas. Bloomfield, of 177 Convamore Road, Grimsby

How Different Until 1900! On 10th March, 1900, Mr. Bloomfield said:—"For several years I had painful bouts of lumbago and kidney complaint. I never had rest from the torment, and was laid up on occasions for weeks at a time—unable to turn in bed, and helpless in every way. The dread of these sudden lumbago peins upset my nerves and kept me from sleep. I had frequent attacks of headache and dizziness, too, and my sight got alarmingly dimmed. Kidney disorder was also made plain by the urine, which scalded and cast a sedi-

"No relief came my way till I tried Doan's Pills, but then a great change was apparent. Every day I got better. The kidneys and bladder were plainly helped; I felt the headaches and dizziness passing off, the pains left my back, and my muscles lost their stiffness. One month's treatment—five boxes of Doan's Pills— rid me of lumbago, and of every single sign of kidney weakness. ' (Signed) Chas. Bloomfield."

THE MAYORALTY.

Wednesday, being the 1st of January, the election of a Mayor for the current year was the first business before the Corporation which met on that day. There was a full attendance of Aldermen and Mr. Thomas Purcell-moved, and Mr. P.

N. Barron seconded, that the senior Alderman (Ald. Richard Cooke) take the chair. Ald. P. A. Power then proposed that Ald. If. A. Fower then proposed that Ald. Bedmond occupy the chair for the residue of the year. This was seconded by Ald. Purcell, and passed unanimously. When the Mayor resumed the chair, Captain Johnson proposed Mr. Thomas Wilson to fill the office of Mayor for the year 1870. Ald ! Murphy | seconded, and no other candidate being proposed Mr. Wilson was duly elected Mayor.

WATER BAILIFF FEES. As usual, the question of Water Bailiff Fees came before the Council, and the Town Clerk informed the Corporation that a settlement between them and the Harbour Board had been arrived at. By this arrangement £130 additional was given to the Harbour Commissioners, the Corporation retaining Fees of about £530. Dr. Scott disapproved of the eettlement, but after considerable discussion it was arrest to

Irish-Ireland Dancing Class

SUCCESSFUL OPENING PRACTICE.

The inaugural practice of Cumann na Rinnceoiri Gaedhealac (Irish-Ireland Dancing Class) took place in the Temperance Hall on Wednesday. Judging by the huge attendance and the enthusiasm of the members, the class should prove one of the most successful ever held in Portlairge. There were about 80 couples present! Several of the! national figure dances were performed with much grace and precision, and although many of those participating were not fully initidances were performed with much grace and precision, and although many of those participating were not fully initiated in the intricacies of Irish dancing, they got through the dances very proficiently. Last night's practice was more or less of an informal character, and we understand that teaching lessons will commence on Next Wednesday night. about an hour will be devoted to coaching pupils in the different steps and tig-ures, and the second hour will be con-

years back; it was known to Irish-Irelanders and those in national organisations, but has never touched the general fine effect to make Ireland self-suportatream of Irish social life. The Gaelic League did magnificent work in fostering the dances, and it might be taken for granted that those social entertainments of the Gael would have been entertainments. tirely neglected were it not for the spirit infused into the young people by that "dangerous" movement But if Irish figure dancing is to be made generally popular it meut be done efficiently and with due precision. We have often reason to complain, even at leading Gaelic re-unions, of the way some rinnceoiri rush through the dances; and those slapdash methods have not made an agreeable impression on people outside the pale of Irish-Ireland. We trust that the days of the tre-na-ceile | dancing have been left behind, and that our new class in Portlairge will set a standard—the genuine standard—for the performance of national figure dances, which are really beautiful when well executed. We understand that in the local branch of the Gralic League densing could not be the Gaelic League dancing could not be catered for during the past six or seven years owing to the large number of years owing to the large number of language classes held—every result was occupied. That accounts, in e ay, for the comparatively small need of adults who were equipped to conce the Irish figure dances. We should like to mention that the music for the practice last hight was really capital. Messrs. Seamus Nolan (violin), J. Murphy (violin), J. Power (violin), and Liam O'Lypch (clarionet) were in their best form.

What we liked best of all was the distinotively Irish "atmosphere" that per-vaded the hell. The absence of ridicu-lous conventions, sickly smiles (of twopence looking down on a penny), make these Irish gatherings interesting and enjoyable, and reflect truly the Irish temperament.

Law-Makers and Law-Breakers

The Irish Nation has become an illegal assembly. By kind peremission of Mr. MacPherson and Lord French, four members of the Privy Council have decreed that the five great national organisations no longer exist. They might at least have given us one Privy Councillor for each organisation. It is unkind to devote but four-fifths of so hon-ourable a gentleman to each suppression. But, vulgar fractions notwitstanding, the four suppressors are men of consider ble standing. They have been trained in the ideal school. The man who signs bimself "James Campbell" is, for instance, the ex-Legal Assessor of the Ul-Provisional Government.

Ross "was the Unionist member for Derry City from 1892 to 1895, and when he jumped for a judgeship and got took his Unionism to the Bench him. "Frank Brooke" is one of the Brooke family of Farmanach who have Brooke family of Fermanagh, who have been to Sir Edward Carson an easis in that ocunty's desert of Republicanism. Finally, "Thos. L. O'Shaughnessy" is the Recorder of Dublin, notable mainly by reason of his vitriolic denunciation of the Cathodic priesthood of Meath during Catholic priesthood of Meath during hearing of the Meath election petition. It is this quarette who have sud-denly pranced upon the public stage and have humorously declared that the na-tional organisations are now dead. The applause has not been great.

Haypily, for our reply to so lardly a gesture by four ex-rebels we have not far to go. Merely as far as "James Cambbell" on January 5th, 1912. On that date, in the City of Dublin-since become the City of Proclamations—"James Campbell" said in a public speech

He for one would never hesitate, either in public or in private, to urge and persuade his loyalist fellowcountrymen to resort to every means every means available to men of honour and courage—before they would consent to be deprived of that which was their heritage."

If "James Campbell" does really desire to suppress Sinn Fein, he had beare also suppress all traces of his past especially press cuttings of his speeches.

Nothing could be finer from the Sinn Fein point of view, nothing could be more militantly seditious than the advice to his followers "to resort to every means, every means available to men of Political agility could no further go.

But even proclamations are not always what they seem. This latest one may have been designed either to suppress Sinn Fein or to do the very opposite—to exasperate it into violent activity. It it has been designed to suppress Sinn Fein, there must be a spice of humour in the designers. If the second is its object: if it is issued in the hope that this final thrust at an already goaded people might provide Mr. Churchill, saddened at the withdrawal from Russia, with a winter campaign nearer home—if that be winter campaign nearer home—if that be the originating intention of the proclaimers, that also will fail. Yet no effort will be spared to make it succeed. The English press have half guessed at the policy of their Government as regards Ireland. The London "Times" exposes that policy boldly:—

It is inconceivable, it says, "that any responsible members of Parliament or politicians would deliberately advocate the provocation of an out-advocate the provocation of an out-break in Ireland in the hope that Home Rule might thus be drewned in a sea of blood and repression, but we fear there are some who would con-template a rebellion in Ireland at this template a rebellion in Ireland at this time with thoughtless equanimity."

If the "some" to whom the "Times" reters were not in high places, the warning mote of the "Times" would be unnecessary. The mere sounding of it suggests that it is somebody at the top who is trying to provoke an insurrection.

On this same point the London "Daily Express" is more outspoken. In their issue of Saturday, Nov. 28th, the "Daily Express" made this comment upon the latest proclamation:—

Everyone is on the alert for the out-lower than this. Meanwhile we are planting trees. While English Cabinets and Irish Privy Councils sit solemnly devising new goads for us, we are doing the first uniures, and the second hour will be confined to general dancing!

The objects of Cumania na Rinnecciri Gaedhealac should be fully realised, we think, before the end of the session, when a very large number of cailini and buacailli should be able to take part in Gaelic festivities such as Cellidate Maror, etc. Irish dancing has been to a sent and extent in the catacombs tor very back; it was known to Irish Ire progress. If, at the appearance of every progress. If, at the appearance of every proclamation, each Irishman increased his efforts to make Ireland self-suport-

Arthur Griffith in Liverpool THE IRISH GARRISON IN ENGLAND, Mr. Griffith addressed an immense gathering in the Stadium, Liverpool, on Sonday. There were upwards of five thousand people present, and overflow meetings had to be held.

Mr. Griffith dealt with the progress of the national cause, and spoke of the manner in which differential treatment was meted out to Unionist and Nationalist Ireland. He referred to the fact that in 1913 Judge Moore told the people of Birkenhead that if Home Rule were carried its baptism in Ireland would be a baptism of blood, and Sir James Camp bell told the Orangemen of Ulster that civil war was the path of danger, but it was also the path of duty. These were the words of men who were now in the name of the British Government, ruling in Ireland. If they were used or spoken by any man in Ireland other than these he would be liable to a sentence of penal servitude for twenty years. What con-tributed most of the opposition to the League of Nations Treaty in the United States was the manner in which the English Government was acting in Ireland-a Government which, while professing to seek peace and freedom for the world, was, at the same time attempting to crush the Irish nation. As an answer to the attacks upon the Motherland, he would ask the Irish people in England to combine together and show by their organisation a determination that if there was going to be an English garrison in Ireland there was going to e an Irish garrison in England.

Mr P. J. Kelly, Chairman of the Irish
Self-Determination League of Greet Britain, said: "We are getting the whole Irish race in England into line. Liverpol sets the exmaple with 200,000 solid supporters. All Irish centres, including London, will be stirred within the next two months."

Referring to the murder of Constable Downing, Mr. Griffith assured has Livermool audience that Sinn Fein had nothing to do with the shooting. It was the work of ordinary criminals,

NEW MATERIALS IN PLUSH. Among new materials is a plush that is almost the exact imitation of moleskin. It is a great improvement on anything that also previously appeared and should prove most useful for collars, cuffs, and strimmings generally of costs made of velour de laine, serge, burella, etc. These materials are in great request for smart wrap-coats. Velvet is, perhaps, more elegant, especially when trimmed with fox or sable, but is considerably more expensive. Caracul plush is another excellent imitation, made in beautiful colours for evening wear. Wraps made of it are lined with velvet, and they are therefore reversible and econothey are therefore reversible and economical, as the velvet can be worn outside by day and the caracul by night.

PANNIERS DRAPERIES, AND LONGER SKIRTS.

The pannier—that but a few short weeks ago carried all before it—is already on the wane. It will, however, not disappear immediately, but will be seen until the New Year, when the prophets are of opinion that the Directoire styles will prevail. A drapery that requires for its expression the once universally worn bustle is under consideraseen until the New Year, when the prophets are of opinion that the Directoire styles will prevail. A drapery that requires for its expression the once universally worn bustle is under consideration, but whether it will become popular is another question. It is certainly very pleasing on a Directoire dress. An very pleasing on a Directoire dress. Another fashion that is being discussed is a revival of the croslet skirt, a matter for congratulation, since it proves becoming to nearly all types of women. The longer skirt is making a bidding for farour but is seen as yet only on every favour, but is seen as yet only on even-

TROUSER.

The divided skirt has become quite a factor in the dress of the moment. It has appeared frequently of late upon the stage, where it may not be so out of place, and also at dimner and private dances. It is very much in evidence at fancy dress balls, and even ordinary skirts are slashed up to give the Turkish trouser effect, when sen at these revels. However, it is a fashion that will not become general, and is possibly merely a passing oraze. Or it may be that La Mode, being at a loss for a novelty, has fallen back upon this masculine gar-ment, knowing that some of her devotees will wear anything, if only it be fashion-able.

frock is another seasonable garment that grows in favour daily, both for town and country wear. This is, perhaps, not surpnising, since it is light, warm, and becoming, but it is expensive and requires to be made up on satin or silk.

THE VOGUE FOR LEATHER.

Entire gowns are being made of leather or kid, for country wear. surface is as soft as volve, and of this material many jumpers are made, which are worn with fashionable check and plaid skirts or with olain colours. These jumpers are frequenty finished with aringe, cut from the material itself Leather garments are also embellished with wool or sid stitchery. GLOVES.

Gloves have always formed an important item of the feminine wardnobe, and with short sleeves, long gloves are again necessary. With bell sleeves, half-long gloves are worn, and these are somewhat less expensive. Gauntlet gloves are frequently lined with a contrasting colour, which shows when turned back. There were scenes at Waterford Corpo ration on Tuesday, when the proceeded (before the ordinary busi-W88 introduced) count. said. important projects that were before the citizens from the time he work office. As that would probably be the last excelled of the year, he would like to mention them. A certain stage had been arrived at with regard to a great number of them, and it was only terr to the city-zons that he should state what had been done. First, he mentioned the Harbour Bill, which was a necessity to the Har-bour Board for the proper handling of the city's trade. When the project was that it presented an opportunity for imposing town dues, which for many years had been mentioned as a means of extracting a very substantial revenue for the municipal body, and it was the belief of such a long-service official as the Borough Treasurer. When the matter matured, they found those town dues were not applicable. They had an opportunity before the late election of blocking the Harbour Bill, but they blocking the Harbour Bill, but they could not see their way to de it. As they could not get town dues, they put in a clause for what was stated some years ago to be the cost of building the claim for the maintenance of the quays as a dock road. He naid a clowing the as a dock road. He paid a glowing tri-bute to the work of Mr. Murphy Law Adviser, in London in connection with the Bill: They found in London, how-ever after consultation with the barrieters, that they would be laughed out of court in looking for £34,000 paid out of the annual revenue and never claimed during the three years the Harbour Found ration in getiting a proportion of the cost of the quay, and that, he was pleased to say, was passed in the measure. All the Council's rights were safeguarded, and every iota they possessed—and some of them were unique in the Three Kingdoms were all reserved and approved of by the new Act. But what that measure would bring into-

"Sit down," again commanded the Mayor hotly, but Mr. O'Neill, with equal heat! said he would not. The Mayor was then proceeding with his speech and affecting to ignore Mr. O'Neill, but the latter continued to speak simultaneously, and as the Mayor was heard to say something about the harbour fees, Mr. C. voill said—"You are here for an electioneering dodge."

In the next moment the Mayor could not make himself heard, for Mr. O'Neill with regard to the question of permits interrupted with the retort—"What are which affected every industry in we to receive out of those fees? What country.

Mrs. Poole again appealed for a hearing for the Mayor. Mayor has no right to make an electioneering address.

Mr. O'Neill You were shoved in here by a dodge.

Mr. Donnelly here took up the running and said he did not think it thin to the citizens that the Mayor's wistatement should not be allowed to be made.

Mr. O'Neill Give me a chance and I will make an electioneering speech.
Mr. Donnelly: did not think Mr.

O'Neill's conduct for the last six or seven months was fair to the citizens. The Mayor's information was more important than Mr. O'Neill's notice of motion (a remark that was applauded by a couple of men at the back of the room). Mr. O'Neill-It is not. Let the Mayor give an explanation of what he did with he says but tomfoolery.

The storm them subsided for the moment, and the Mayor proceeded to say that the citizens lost an extraordinary opportunity by the failure of the electric lighting echeme, but unfortunately their offer which was a good one, would have been accepted but that an individual came along and deprived then of suggestion to communicate with that liberty. The Corporation could not merchants immediately. now look forward to installing electric electric lighting for many years, and he would recommend that they advertise the lighting of Waterford by electricity and pass it over for a certain period to a private company. Coming to the housing question, he said all they could get from the House of Commons was 25s. for every £1 collected. That would mean, after allowing a reasonable rent of Sa 6d., that the tenant should pay a loss of 4s. or 5s. to the ratepayers. He would mot recommend them to adopt that, but to press for £2 from the Treasury for to press for £2 from the Treasury for every £1 collected, which would secure them against loss. For the quay paving they had got from the Road Board £18,000, and they proposed to pave the quay from Reginald's Tower as far as the money would go. The difficulty was as to hiwether they would pave it with wood or stone, and Mr. Fleming had suggested that where the tide came much the gested that where the tide came over the quay they pave it with stone setts. They been offered £1,700 for demobilised soldiers' work, and the suggestion was that they trunk the first half mile of the quay, probably down auto outhe! Clerk Tower, with stones from near Ballina-neesagh. There was £500 lodged for cleaning John's Pill and £100 for clearing the sand out of Tycor. That was absolutely a gift to the city. Mr. O'Neill-When is that gift going to come off? Mayor—Immediately. As to the gas they had an interview with Mn Anderson, gas manager, and there was also a letter there from Mr. Fleming. They had called for arbitration from the Board of Mr. O'Neill stood up and said—"On a point of order, Mr. Mayor, I should like with the reduction of 10s. per for in the price of coal they hoped to stop that to you giving an electioneering speech, but to transact business."

Trade. They were threatened with an increase in the cost of gas to 7s., but with the reduction of 10s. per for in the price of coal they hoped to stop that increase. He next referred to the opening of the bridge and to the success ul-action Mesers. Murphy had against them preventing them from imposing tolls on the opening of the bridge during the night. The consequence would be a very large increase in the demand for the bridge by steamers, and the Council would have to take into consideration the appointment of a night staff as well as a day staff, which would entail more The Mayor hotly replied—'You wasting the time of the Council for wasting the time of the Council for with E4 for work on every alternative Sunday.

The Mayor said that probably before he would call the public meeting this absurd regulation would be withdrawn. If pecessary, he would call a public meeting (applause).

Mr. Maher asked what were the ar-rears on the Ferrybank water rate, and Mr. Kent replied that they were very small.

Mr. O'Neill Can you say the same for Brough Treasurer—The reports are expression, who attended the meeting to express that project against the recent appointment of a midwilery inspector by Mr. O'Neil-I did not see them. There the Corporation. this side of the city?

THE CORN STRIKE.

Mr. Donnelly said he understo d there was only a difference of is. between the corn merchants and the men on strike. and he thought it advisable to ask the merchants to bridge ever the matter, and he would ask the Town Clerk to communicate with them on the subject. It was only a matter of 6d. to either side, which was like a mere grop o: water in the ocean. CAPT. WALSH'S APPLICATION. When the recommendation to grant Captain Waish of the Fire Brigade an increase of £5 per annum was read, Mr. O'Neill asked what was me duty. This man had other jobs, and did nothing to warrant the Corporation giving him one penny, much less than £10 for this work. What was his duty as Captain of value for £10? The Borough Surveyor replied that he had £5 since his appointment, and was entitled to an increase on that now. Mr. O'Neill-What does he get for attending every fire?

Borough Surveyor—One pound.

Mr. Donnelly proposed the application be granted, and said that Captain Walsh was entitled to it for the work he had to do. Mr. O'Neill-Lonergan does the work and he is getting nothing. man Lonergan's wages be increased from 37s. 6d. to 40s. Mr. Cahill proposed an amendment that the salary be inceresed to 45s Mr. O'Neill seconded. Mr. Donnelly asked if Lonergan was an inspector of cinemas.

Town Clerk—He is not.
Mr. O'Neill—He lost the job.

Mrs. Poole said the committee spent tion about two hours going into those applications carefully and making the recommendations, and when they were brought before the meeting now they were changed. She thought it better to make all the recommendations at the Council meetings, considering they never got to the end of their agenda Mayor—What additions has he (Lonergan) in the shape of perquisities?

Mr. O'Neill—The same as Walsh.

Mayor—Don't interrupt, please.

The Borough Surveyor said that the

Mr. Cahill said that Mr. Lonergan and his family had to attend the telephone in the house at all hours. Mr. O'Neill+The whole lot of them are working for 35a.

Mr. ONeill I demand a poll.

On a poll the following voted for the amendment. Mrs. Poole Messrs O'Neill.

Against-Ald Murray, Ald. R. Hearne,

Councillors W. Fitzgerald, Dr. Morris, Cassin, and the Mayor-6. The amendment was declared carried, and the Mayor said—Allow me again to express my disapprobation of the committee's work being undone by the Corporation. MR. FEELY'S SALARY.

Mr. Feely, Perly Sessions Clerk, wrote reminding the Corporation of his application for an increase of salary which was sent to the Council in August last. Town Clehk-His salary is £20 per year.

Mr. O'Neill said that some three months ago he happened to have a notice of motion on the agenda which was never reached, and he (O'Neill) made some statements that Mr. Feely did not carry out the duties according to his office. M. Feely wrote back saying he did, and he (O'Neill) asked the Town Clerk, Mr Higgins, to read the minutes of certain committee meetings to show that he did not. One of their officials, he said, was insulted, and he did not believe in having their officials insulted, no matter if it came from Dublin Castle. He did not object to increasing Mr. Feely's salary, although he stated he did. What he did object to was Mr. Feely ignoring the authority of the Public Health Commitignoring the women and children.

Mr. J. Foley, Chairman of the city branch of the Union, said the supposed branch of the Council. The sumposed branch of the city. tee, which was one of the most important of the city. Certain people, continued port the Mayor.

"I think," said Mr. C'Neill, "the Mayor should not be wasting the time tool might be a highwayman who an ex-member of the Council. Mr. Cahill supported the proposal sent there to get insulted. When they are the money persons could easily substitute their own to say to Mr. Feely, but he thought they photos for those of the drivers."

The Mayor said the regulation was sent down officials the word was to "pop sent down officials the council. The sumsent down officials the word was to "pop out" or "get out." If Tom O'Neill, proceeded the speaker, referring to himself, was to be prosecuted they would get half-a dozen of summonses. He asked the Town Clerk now to read the report of the committee.

Mayor—This does not originate at the present moment. This is a matter, which must originate at the Council for reference to the Finance and Law Committee, which is the usual procedure, and there-fore the recommendation will come up at the next meeting. Any complaint Mr. O'Neill has to make he can make it at the committee when the application comes before them at their next meeting. I move that the application be referred to the Finance and Law Committee.

Mr. O'Neill—I will be there.

Mayor-You will be welcome. Mr. O'Neill-I won't be so welcome at alkiws, 🔒 🔏

NURSES STRONG PROTEST. Mr. O'Nell introduced a deputation of nurses representative of the midwifery are a lot in this city not paying water rates, and a lot in this Corporation, woman, said the object of their visit was to enter their protest in connection with the appointment of the inspector of arrears sheets were submitted to the sub-committee and were open for la sub-committee and were open for la fair, considering that some of the nurses spection. Members of the committee held the same certificates as the lady shad attended, but Mr. O'Nelll did not who was appointed. She expressed the attend to inspect the sheets.

Mayor—The usual course:

Mrs. Foley, who acted as spokes, woman, said the object of their visit was to enter their protest in connection with the appointment of the inspector of midwives. They did not think it was spection. When a subject the lady who was appointed. She expressed the attend to inspect the sheets.

Mayor—The usual course one that should be held by a doctor or a nurse that was not practising and they were there to ask the Corporation to rewere there to ask the Corporation to re-consider the question. The nurses had written to the Local Government Board on the subject, expressing their protest, but, so far got no answer.

Mrs. Poole—This lady was elected at the last meeting. Mrs. Foley—Yes.

Mrs. Poole—You must have a notice of motion to reheind that, then.

Mrs. Foley-Well, of course, I am not member of the Corporation yet, and I did not know of that.

This reply was greeted with applause from the other nurses present.

Mrs. Poole Another thing you want to understand is that this lady, Mrs. Webb, is only supposed to look after the very poor. She is not supposed to interfere with the ordinary nurses in their rantee of that. Mrs. Poole-This position was tised, and she was appointed by us. It was open to you or any nurse to apply for it. There was nothing secret or underhand. Mrs. Foley said the nurses thought that those who were practising were not eligible for the position, but this lady was practising like themselves, and she asked who was to look after her nursing

Mrs. Poole—The salary is £40 a year, and anybody outside a practising nurse could not take the position, as £40 would not keep her. Proceeding, Mrs. Pools detailed the midwifery inspector's duty, to the effect that she was to visit the lanes and alleys of the poor unfortunate people who had not covering for their children when born, or clothing to put on those children. It was her function be Fire Brigade? to see that the child was properly looked Borough Surveyor—His duty is to look after, and to see the mother. She would fter the hose whenever a fire occurs. He not interfere with Mrs. Foley or any where nurses were brought in by respectable people. "She dare not go near you," continued Mrs. Poole. Mrs. Foley—I go to the very poor, and go to the lanes and alleys.

Mrs. Poole—That is where she looks davs.

after you, where the poor are. Mrs. Foley-I am not convinced yet that she does not supervise the work of anybody that Holds a certificate as a recognised nurse, and holds a certificate recognised by the Local Government Board. Mrs. Poole She goes to the ca

It was decided to grant the £10.

It was recommended that Fire Brigade

The very poor.

Mrs. Foley I go to the very very poor.

Mrs. Foley I go to the very very poor.

Mrs. Foley I go to the very very poor. Mrs. Poole That is her job.
Mrs. Foley You said a few moments ago she would not go to the cases of a recognised nurse. Mrs. Poole I did not, only in the case of the poor.

Mrs. Foley said if the Corporation did non meet them on the question they would have to wait for the new Corpora Mr. McDonnell and they could not re scind any resolution without a notice of motion. He thought they should refer the matter back to the Child Welfare Committee, and let the nurses deputation appear before them.

Mr. O'Neill-This is under a modified Act—a different Act of Parliament altogether. Mrs. Foley-I propose that you advertise again. Mrs. Poole-You cannot do that. Mrs. Foley-It was not in the advertise-as handy women, when Mrs. Poole intervened saying they had nothing to do with the making of the law.

Mr. O'Neill (to the Mayor)-Mrs. Poole is interrupting now. She is out of order. Why not rule her out of order now Mayor-Sit down.

The nurse, who was speaking, said that Mrs. Webb did not hold science certificates the same as some of the nurses of the deputation did. She referred to their certificates, and went on to say that she knew of a remark made by Dr. Kennedy that Mrs. Webb was the only suitable person for the position, which went to show that the thing was talked over be-forehand. Mrs. Webb said this would help to pay her rent, but although the speaker was not a Waterford woman her husband was a Waterford man who sacrificed his life in France and left her with four children, and she believed she or the other nurses were just as much deserving of the position, and it should not be handed over to Mrs. Webb. She had no power to come and examine their work or go into their character or morala. It was not fair. It was a doctor who held those positions in England and not nurses, and she had reason to know it (applause). She looked to the Mayor and gentlemen of the Corporation to reconsider the matter.

Mr. Doyle—If they have a grievance we should do all we could for them.

Mayor—The position is this—whether you saw the advertisement or not we cannot say. It was duly advertised, as re-commended by the Medical Officer of Health, and passed by the Council. We do not know whether the L.G. Board will opprove of the election or not. If they do it will be impossible to alter it, and if they don't there will be a new advertisement issued and a new election. That is all we can do. Dr. Morris-This may come to a great crisis indeed, and if we are not careful we may risk the spoiling of a thriving industry. MR. GOULDING'S INCREASE.

It was recommended that Mr. Joseph

Goulding's salary be increased by 15a. | Mr. Donnelly proposed that Mr. Goulding get the clerical workers' standard, and increase his salary by 15s.

The Mayor said Mr. Donnelly was out of order as the recommendation had not been proposed yet. Mr. Cassin proposed the adoption the recommendation.

Mr. O'Neill seconded. Mr Donnelly then proposed an amend ment of 15s.

Mr. Keane seconded.

Mr. Jones-You have a resolution on the books that you must pay fair wages, and they have a fair wage standard in the Clerical Union the same as any other union. I don't see the necessity of a poll

A poll was taken, and the following voted for the amendment :- Mrs. Poole, Meesrs Doyle, Cahill, Jones, Hayes, Phelan, Cassin, McDonnell, Keane, Donnelly and O'Neill-11. Against-Ald Murray and Ald. R Hearne

The Mayor did not vote, and the amend ment was declared carried.

Mr. Keane informed the Mayor he did not vote on the question, although he made a protest a minute ago of disapproval about the Corporation undoing the committee's recommendation. The Mayor said he was consistent in the attitude adopted by him. He did not vote against the recommendations. THE BISHOP'S PALACE. His Lordship Bishop Millar wrote: Mr. O'Ne "It is proposed to dispose of the Palace, graph Act.

Waterford, on the ground that it is unsuitable under present conditions as a private residence. There is a small plot on the grounds which is held under a long lease from the Corporation at an annual rent of £26, and the consent of the Corporation is therefore necessary before disposing of this portion. I shall be very much obliged it the matter is brought before the next meeting of the Council for their kind permission to dispose of our interest. Of course your interests regarding rent will be carefully protected.

In a P.S., his Lordship said if the Corporation preferred disposing of their interest he kindly invited them to specify their terms. In reply to Mr. Donnelly, the Town Clerk said the lease was a very long one of 999 years. Mr. Donnelly said if their interests were protected they could give the necessary vermission. .. Mayor-I suggest referring the matter to the Finance and Law Committee and let Mr. Kent go into the question. The Mayor's suggestion was adopted.

GAS COMPANY BLOCKED. The Borough Surveyor wrote calling the city's attention to the notice from the Gas Company appearing in the Press on the evening of the 29th ult., with refer ence to the proposed increase of gas from 5s. 7d. to 7s. per 1,000 cubic feet. It was, he pointed out in fact, an application to the Board of Trade under the 1918 Act (Temporary Increases) to modify clause II. of the City of Waterford Gas Act, 1898, and raise the standard price of gas to 7s., subject to an increase or decrease of one penny per 1,000 cubic feet for every shilling, trise or fall, on the coat of coal... If it was their (Council's) intention to make representation to the Board of Trade with reference to this application notice should be lodged within 14 days from the date of notice.

The Mayor said the statement of the Gas Company was they were running at a loss, and they intended increasing the price of gas from 5s. 7d. to 7s., but now, since there was a decrease of 10s, in the price of coal, he did not seehow the Gas Company could stand on their proposed increase in regard to the matter. To protect the city as far as they could he would move that the matter be referred to Mr. Murphy (Law Adviser) to take the necessary steps to object to the increase and have the necessary notice lodged within 14

The suggestion was adopted.

BRIDGE OPERATOR'S WAGES. The Street Committee recommended the wages of Joseph Grace, Bridge Operator, be increased from £3 to £3 10s. per week. They stated at the last meeting of the Council it was decided to grant, as from 4th August last, the date of his application, the operator the standard rate which, according to the Amalgamated Society of Enginees, was £4 per week), subject to the verification by the Borough Surveyor, who informed the committee he was unable to ascertain the standard rate paid in the city.

Mr. O'Neill proposed the adoption of the recommendation to put the matter in

Mr. Sinnott seconded. Mr. Cahill proposed that he get the standard rate. Mr. Hayes seconded, and said as far as they could ascertain the standard wage was £4.

It was decided, without any discussion, to grant £4 per week On the priposition of Mr. Jones, se-conded by Mr. Hayes, James Connolly, caretaker of Knockaderry Reservoir, was granted £3 per week.

The Waterworks Committee recommended an increase of 10s., bringing his total wages to £2 10s., bringing his total wages to £2 10s., but Mr. Jones said the increase recommended was inadequate to a foreman who was entitled to £5. a foreman who was entitled to £5.

ing the past season.

EMPLOYMENT OF DEMOBILISED MEN.

The Street Committee recommended that the Council accept the offer of a free grant from the L.G. Board for the purpose of providing employment, which was approved of by the Board (a) Deep-ening and cleaning of John's Pill, £500; (b) Washing of about 500 tons of sand at Lycor filter beds, £100; (c) Trunking and metalling of part roadway on Quay for about half a mile in length and 60 feet in width, £1,162.

Mr. Doyle proposed the adoption of the the recommendation, and expressed the hope that the question of employment would be confined to citizens.

Mr. McDonnell asked if there was to be any expenditure from the Corporation funds to add to this grant.

The Mayor replied that this expenditure was passed, subject to the Street Committee being satisfied that no charge will be involved on the rates of Waterford. This money must be absolutely free for the use of the city without entailing any expenses on them. He asked them to pass it, subject to that recommendation. Mr. McDonnell asked if £500 was rather small for the deepening and cleaning of John's Pill?

Mayor That is the Surveyor's recom mendation. Mr. O'Neill-If this money is going to be granted by the Government we don't know if we will ge it in another seven years. We were promised money for the Quay seven years ago and did not get it yet. If they were going to get the work done they must pay those men the standard wages, and £500, in Mr. O'Neill's opinion, would not go far.

Mr. Keane—I understand this money will be paid. The Mayor nodded assent.

The Borough Surveyor said the money was to be expended on the work for demobilised men, and they could not employ anybody but ex-soldiers.
It was decided to approve of the re commendation. ROAD BOARD GRANT.

The Street Committee also recommen The Street Committee also recommended that in view of the Road Board having suggested that the Corporation should expend £2,400 on improvements of sec tions of the Quay roads and towards approved works, estimated to cost that sum, and having stated that the Board would be prepared to make a grant of £1,800 in respect thereof, subject to the Treasury's sanction, they recommended the Council to approve of the proposal.

Mr. O'Neill said it was a very small grant from the Road Board, and the Mayor said in future they would get £1,800. OVER-CROWDING OF THEATRES.

The Public Health Committee recommended the annual renewal of licenses to the Waterford Cinema Palace, in respect of the Collecum, and also the Waterford Cinema Company.

Mr. J. J. Doyle said he objected to the eved crowding of cinema houses., He was of opinion they allowed too many people in, and they had to stand during the entertainment. Mr. O'Neill-Who is the Inspector of Cinemas now?

Mrs. Poole No one. Hr. O'Neill regarded this as an important matter, and said they should be prepared to protect the lives of the people and have some inspector. Mr. Donnelly-Are we bound to have an inspector?

Mr. O'Neill-Yes, under the Cinemato-Mr. Donnelly—And have the ratepayers Manchester, Eng.

to pay for that accommodation? Mrs. Poole-Why did we knock of My.

Lonergan? The Borough Surveyor replied the reason was if a fire occurred in the city and if Mr. Lonergan was at the cinemas, ha could not be there at the same time Mr. Maher I think we should have Cinema Inspector.

Mr. Cahill-The lives of the citizens might be as dangerous in the cinemas as out of them.

Mr. O'Neill—Another thing is the morals of the pictures.

Mrs. Poole Mr. T. P. O'Connor is the Censor. The members generally expressed the view that there should be an inspector, and adopted the recommendation on the question of inspection. The Town Clerk reported there was an important communication from the L.G. Board in reference to the housing of the working classes, and the Mayor said it should be referred to the Housing Committee with the instruction that any member could go into the office and read the documenta documents.

Mr. O'Neili said a document like that should be printed and circulated amongst the members and it was unfair to suggest that the members should call into the office to read it when they might not have the time at their disposal.

The Mayor said it was unfair to the ratepayers of the city to get such a long document printed when it would never be read.

be read.
The discussion dropped.
RECOMMENDATION.

The Finance and Law Committee recommended that a lease for 21 years from the 29th September, 1918, at the penal rent of £66, reducible to £26 10s. If the rates and taxes are punctually paid, be granted to Mr. Patrick W. Kenny of his holdings at Barrack street and Green's Lane, on which there are at present 18 small two-storied dwelling houses, bubject to his making an outlay, within two years from the date of the sanction of the lease of at least £180 on renewals of the wood-work, plastering and slates, to the satisfaction of the Corporation or the Borough Surveyor. The recommendation was adopted.

Wedding at the Abbey Church

A pretty wedding took place at the Abbey Church, Ferrybank, on Wednesday, in the presence of a very large congregation of the bride's friends. The contracting parties were Captain Conway William Carew Shipley, Surrey, and Miss Mar-Carew Shipley, Surrey, and Miss Margaret Elly Graves, daughter of the late Mr. A. E. Graves, and Mrs. Graves, Rockingham House, Ferrybank. The Eight Rev. Dr. Green, Dean of Liamore, officiated at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. F. W. Hatch, Rector, Farrybank. The bride, who is highly esteemed in Waterford social circles, looked very well, being charmingly attired in shell-pink gown with beautiful veil. She was given away by her brother, Mr. Allen Graves, and the bridesmaids, who Allen Graves, and the bridesmaids, who presented a pretty appearance in pink and gold tissue, with golden shoes, were Miss R. Paul, Ballyglan, and Miss Anderson, Ballymountain. The attendant on the bridegroom was Captain C. A. Baker, Aldershot. After the ceremony the boys' cathedral choir rendered in beautiful harmony the Wedding March, Mr. R. Ashford presiding at the organ. The happy couble, who were the recipi-

Thin, Sleepless, Nervous

Wreck HEALTH AND VIGOUR COMPLETELY RESTORED BY DR. CASSELL'S TABLETS.

Mrs. E. M. Johnson, 12, Maryland Boad, Stratford, London, E. 15, says:—"In 1915, during the air raids, I had a severe nervous breakdown. Il could neither est nor aleep, was a martyr, to pain and headache, and just a nervous wreck, wasted to a shadow and afraid to be left alone. To go out by myself terrified me; I lay about all day living on nothing but milk, and was so weak that I would cry for no reason at all. My husband has since told me that when he went back from leave in 1916 he never expected to see me alive again. But at last I got Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and began to seel better directly. It could eat and sleep, and my health rehumed rapidly. Now I am as well and strong as ever.

Dr. Cassell's Tablela are the perfect modern home remedy for Nervous Break-digen. Nerve Pailure, Neuritis, Mainuti-tion, Washing Anatomic Scoplessness, Pa-digestion, Kidney Trouble, and Premature Decay. Specially suitable for nursing Mothers and women of middle age. Soldby chemists and stores in all parts of the world. Prices: ls. 3d. and 3s., the 8s. size being the more economical. Free information on any case sent on request. THE PROFITEERING ACT.
The Clerk read a copy of the circular from the Board of Trade re the enforcement of the Profiteering Act in the discount of the Profiteering Act in the Act in the Profiteering Act in the Act in trict. The cost of enforcing the Act would be borne by the rates. A committee would be formed to enfocre the In reply to Mr. Grubb, the Clerk said the Board of Trade would fix the retail prices, and the committee would see that such prices were adhered to.

Mr. Power and Mr. Grubb expressed the view that the posting up of a list of prices would be as much as the Council could do for the present. Any person overcharged could make a complaint to the committee, which will consist of all the members of the Council. This was agreed to.

The Clerk said, re the fixing of the price of coal, he would arrange for a meeting in a few days between the coal merchants and the Council for the purpose of fixing and publishing the price of coal in the district: WATER SUPPLY

TOWN SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

Mr. M. J. Lonergan, Town Surveyor, wrote stating that the intakes at source of water supply require cleaning. A sum of £15 would do that and other work that requires to be attended to. He inspected defective sewers and walls reported to last meeting, and forwarded suggestions for their repair. He tried to carry out the Council's instructions re having the wells at Tobarnogroun and Clareen closed, but the Council's workmen refused to do the work.

Mr. Power said that he thought if the Clareen well was covered with concrete, and a pump or sluice erected there, it would meet the case. If anything went wrong at the source of the water supply, it would be a serious thing for the if the wells were done away with. Furthermore, he understood that the people in Olareen district would not allow the well to be closed.

The Oerk said he had been told that the well was polluted from sewage and from milk from the creamery. of the M.O.H. be got as to the alleged pollution of the well, and also an estimate of the cost of the concrete cover-

The Waterford Munition ractory

On Tuesday, in the Dublin Courts, before Justice Pim and a city special jury, the action of Thompson and Son, Limited, v. the King (Petition of Right) came on for hearing.

Mr. T. M. Healy, opening the case for plaintiffs, said it appeared to him that the facts were of great commercial and almost of general importance. After the peace one of the places to be disposed of by the Government was the National Cartridge Factory in Waterford. Messass Thompson were men of considerable weight and experience and with business; places in various other towns in Ireland
Mr. F. C. Thompson, a member of the plaintiff's firm, had an interview with Sir Howard Frank in London in May, and on the 22nd of that month Mr Thompson wrote to Sir Howard Frank a letter, in which he said:—"If, therefore, you will kindly let me have an offer, I will, if it is reasonably near my estimate, close the matter at once. I have bid you well for the place as a going concern, and if you really mean favourably to consider offers to utilise the premises for industrial development I do not think the question of the value of the stores (which are largely composed of obsolete tools and materials) should be allowed to stand in the To that letter a reply by telegraph way. came from Sir Howard Frank, in the following terms:—"Will accept, subject to contract, £24,200 for Waterford factory, as we hold it, including stores, but excluding Board of Works property and contain press correct of Grandonton Contains cluding Board of Works property and certain press spares of Gramophone Co., which is not factory property, as pointed out by Major Devine, subject your acceptance and confirmation by noon Tucsday, 27th inst." A letter from the Ministry (Factory Disposal branch), dated May 24th, confirmed that telegram. On the day of the receipt of the letter Messis Thompson telegraphed:—"We accept your offer at £24,000, conditions as to Board of Works and Gramophone properly being as represented. Kindly forward draic contract to Carlow, with definite information as to holding agreement from railway company, and ask your local representative to give us facilities to compresentative to give us facilities to compare stores, so that possession may be obtained this month. A reply was received stating that instructions were given to prepare the necessary contract. In a letter which followed that telegram was confirmed, and it added that the contract was being prepared, and that it would be sent to the plaintiffs with a few days. It also stated:—"The land is at present held temporarily under the emergency powers of the Crown, but, as you are aware, the Great Southern and West. ern Railway Company has expressed willingness to consider grant of a lease for ten years, with a possible extension then required for railway purposes. This is, however, a matter of negotiation between yourselves and the railway company. A telegram has been sent to the factory management as follows: "Waterford factory sold to Thompson, including stores, subject contract." In a subsequent letter from the Ministry of Munitions, in reply to the statement. "We take it that you are in a position to arrange with the railway company to give range with the railway company to give us a letting agreement free from such reus a letting agreement free from such restrictive clauses as they suggest, it was stated:—"It rests with you to make the best terms you can with the railway company." The solicitor for the plaintiffs introduced a few phrases into the draft agreement, and on the 1st July the solicitor to the Treasury wrote that they had decided not the process of the
