Source well informed and reliable stated group headed by Gilbert and Peluffo hope to eject regime and put government in hands of three eminent civilians who will make plans for free elections thus Peluffo and company will get credit for restoring constitutionality. Another and less incredible plan based on Perons realization he cannot win in any free election involves.

Camp seems divided into three groups. Farrell and Nationalist supporters hold out against declaration of war, Peron is attempting to get away with war against Japan only and saying there is not time to attend San Francisco Conference, Teisaire backed by Navy and Democratic forces appears to have broken with Peron and favors war declaration against Germany and Japan followed by immediate call for free elections. Peluffo is active in Farrell's camp seeking ostensibly patriotic coalition dominated by undisclosed Axis and Nationalist interests. Army is apparently split which allows Navy to play dominant part. Civil war is possibility as Nationalists are fanatics. Peron has no chance in free elections as he has lost important segments of Army and popular support.

SUMMARY

In its drive for diplomatic recognition, the Argentine military government has made some ostensibly democratic gestures including: 1) Offers of reinstatement to certain university professors; 2) Promises to return to "constitutional normality"; 3) Removal of some extremist office-holders; 4) Passing hints at strained relations with Germany. These gestures were followed, however, by legislative and military shifts which further increased the regime's totalitarian character.

In February, pro-Nazi General Carlos von der Becke (Military Attache in Berlin, 1930-32) was made Commander-in-Chief of the Argentine Army. Pro-Fascist General Sanguinetti (Military Attache in Berlin, 1935-37) replaced pro-Allied General Victor J. Mayo in the command of the First Army which includes the Federal Capital's Campo de Mayo garrison, as well as important Uruguayan, Paraguayan and Brazilian frontier areas. Another extreme nationalist, ex-Minister of Agriculture, General Diego I. Mason, was made Chief of Staff.

A new decree on the Security of the State legalizes the annulment of constitutional liberties already accomplished in practice. It makes free political and trade union activities impossible, muzzles the press, and subjects all Argentines to imprisonment for expressing opinions against the government.

A second decree gives the National Postwar Council, headed by Vice-President Perón, virtual veto power over all measures of the Finance Ministry and of the Secretariats of Labor and of Industry and Commerce, dealing with wages, hours, and prices. This decree thus vests further control of the national economy in Colonel Perón, again legalizing an express violation of the country's constitution.

Finally, an official project was announced on 7 February for a state-controlled organization of industrialists, strongly resembling the Corporazione dell' Industria in Fascist Italy. Control of the new organization would be in the hands of Colonel Perón whose Corporate-State ideas are evident throughout the draft.

Thus, pro-totalitarian forces appear more deeply entrenched in the legal and military structure of the country than ever before, with the latest official measures attesting to the further elaboration and hardening of the regime's basic totalitarian pattern.

NEW TRENDS TOWARD TOTALITARIANISM IN ARGENTINA --
JANUARY - FEBRUARY 1945

I. ATTEMPTED CONCILIATION OF THE DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION

With the Mexico City conference of American Foreign Ministers slated to consider the question of recognizing the military government of Argentina, the Farrell-Peron regime has been making a determined effort to present a democratic and pro-Allied face to the world. The Socialist newspaper La Vanguardia reappeared 16 January, and has been permitted in subsequent issues to criticize the government strongly. Government-inspired rumors in Buenos Aires hinted that Argentina would soon declare war on the Axis,¹ and Argentina announced it would use sanctions against Germany because it has prevented the return of Argentine diplomats.² By the end of February, however, the flurry had largely subsided, and it was confidentially reported that Germany would permit the return of all Argentine diplomats without further hindrance.³

On 9 February the Government announced that it had reinstated the group of democratic professors who had lost their jobs in 1943 for asking the Government to return to constitutional rule. At the same time the Government also announced that its recently appointed drafting committee to draw up an organic Statute of Political Parties (Estatuto Organico de los Partidos Politicos) preparatory to holding national elections, had completed the preliminary phase of its work and that it was now entering the "pre-electoral stage which should carry the country to constitutional normality... as quickly as possible."⁴

4. UP, Buenos Aires, 9 February 1945.

REGRADED UNCLASSIFIED

There were various changes in the Government personnel in this period, apparently designed to give the impression that extremists were being removed from office. Among these was the resignation of Foreign Minister Orlando Peluffo, the discharge of David Uriburu, Interventor of Corrientes, and the appointment of ex-Socialist Attilio Bramuglia to the Interventorship of the Province of Buenos Aires, replacing Brigadier-General Juan Carlos Sanguinetti. While these changes may have looked hopeful to some foreign observers and even to some of the pro-democratic forces in Argentina, they did nothing to alter the fundamental character of the Government. On the contrary they were followed by legislative and military shifts which still further increased the regime's totalitarian control.

II. PROMOTION OF PRO-NAZI ARMY OFFICERS TO KEY POSITIONS

The annual army promotions announced for February moved into top position three men known for their pro-Nazi views: General Sanguinetti replaced pro-Allied General Victor J. Lajo in command of the First Army which garrisons the Federal Capital and the Uruguayan, Paraguayan, and Brazilian frontier areas. Ex-Minister of Agriculture Diego I. Mason was promoted to Chief of Staff; and General Carlos von der Becke was promoted from Chief of Staff to Commander in Chief of the army.⁵

General Sanguinetti, Military Attache in Berlin from 1935 to 1937, is known as an ultra-nationalist and firm supporter of the totalitarian nations, and as the author of an article defending Nazi Germany in the Army Journal "Revista Militar".⁶

5. SFRS, 22 February 1945.

6. "La Situacion Internacional Europea," Revista Militar, Buenos Aires, September 1938.

REGRADED UNCLASSIFIED

General Mason, another nationalist, was reported to have offered his resignation as Minister of Agriculture in protest at Argentina's break with the Axis a year ago.⁷ It was he who supplied the Nazi El Federal with newsprint which that newspaper could not get from Allied sources. General von der Becke, Military Attaché in Berlin from 1930 to 1932, is an outspoken Nazi sympathizer. He is one of the top directors of the Junta de Gobierno del Nacionalismo and was guest of honor last year at a banquet celebrating the fifth anniversary of El Pampero - El Federal.⁸ His brother Alejandro is head of the German chemical firm Química Schering, on the United States Proclaimed List.

These promotions further strengthen control of the army by men of known totalitarian sympathies. Mason and Von der Becke rule the army hierarchy, and Sanguinetti now occupies the superior command in the Federal Capital, which includes the strategic Campo de Mayo garrison. In addition, Sanguinetti heads the divisions disposed along the northeastern frontier.⁹

III. THE SECURITY DECREE

At the same time that pro-Nazis have been moved into strategic positions in the armed forces, three political and economic measures were taken by the military regime which will carry Argentina a long way toward even more complete totalitarian government.

The first of these was the decree on the Security of the State, given to the press on 29 January. The Security Decree gives the Argentine government a degree of police control unknown outside totalitarian countries. It places political parties at the mercy of the regime, makes union activities impossible for labor, exposes the press to the constant threat of government prosecution, prohibits any resistance to arbitrary state action, and subjects all Argentines to possible criminal action for expressing opinions against the government.

The decree is divided into forty-eight articles which define "acts against the security of the state" and establish prison terms for these offenses. The forty-eight articles are broken down into seven chapters: 1) Acts against the internal security of the State; 2) Acts against the external security of the State; 3) Acts against the supplying of the armed forces; 4) Acts against the national economy; 5) Acts against the execution of industrial work; 6) Acts against the security of aerial transport and telecommunications; and 7) General provisions.

There are the usual prohibitions against espionage, interfering with army supplies, photographing defense zones, interrupting communications, and so forth. But added to these considerations of military security are a number of very stringent provisions affecting political activity, labor, the press, and individual liberties.

Anyone who "promotes armed conflict between the citizens or classes of society" (Art. 6) is guilty of an act "against the internal security of the State," for which the penalty is one to four years of prison. Art. 7 establishes six months to three years in prison as the penalty for anyone who "instigates collective disobedience to laws or rules dictated by competent authority." Under Art. 8, six months to three years prison is the punishment for anyone who "sends to or from the exterior tendentious or false information destined to perturb the order, economy or security of the country."

Under this first chapter, an political opposition to the regime could be defined as "promoting" or "instigating" civil war or rebellion. Newsmen become liable to a prison sentence for sending out "false information" - which in the past has been very freely defined by the government - to other countries, or bringing such news into the country.¹⁰ The control of news is further broadened by Article 16. Punishable under "acts against the external security of the State" is the sending of news out of the country - including; evidently also truthful news - which is "contrary to the maintenance of friendly relations of the Nation with foreign governments."

Labor comes under strictest control according to Chapter 5 on "acts against the execution of industrial work." Any act "designed to impede, or diminish the returns of, industrial production" becomes a crime punishable by sentences of up to three years. (Art. 32.) Fomenting for any reason a "strike of employees or workers who are employed in national provincial or municipal distribution services" is punishable by imprisonment up to three years (Art.34.) Organization of other strikes which have been declared illegal by "competent authority" is also punishable by sentences of up to three years, under Art. 35. Generally, under Article 33, it becomes a crime to "cause work to cease or be suspended for motives foreign to it, or tendentiously to provoke economic, social or political questions to slow it down."

IV. FURTHER CENTRALIZATION OF ECONOMIC CONTROLS.

The day after the publication of the Security Decree, Colonel Peron sent to President Edelmiro P. Farrell a project for further centralizing control of the wage-price structure and post war economic planning, which was promptly signed and issued as a decree.

Under this decree, the National Postwar Council (Consejo Nacional de Postguerra) headed by Perón, must give prior approval to all measures of the Finance Ministry, Labor Secretariat and Secretariat of Industry and Commerce, dealing with wages, hours, and price-fixing. The Secretary of Industry and Commerce cannot send any decree projects to the cabinet for approval without including the recommendations and studies of the Postwar Council. The same prohibition applies to the Secretariat of Labor in all proposals for changes in salary scales or work-hours.

The Ministry of Finance was ordered in the same decree to submit to the Postwar Council within thirty days a project to control inflation. Among the measures which the Finance Ministry was ordered to take was one to encourage corporations to invest their reserves in non-negotiable government securities, bearing almost no interest, which could be exchanged after the war for machinery, plant expansion etc.¹¹ Although announced as a plan to curb inflation, this last measure may in effect intensify it. Since new machinery is not now available, corporation reserves are idle. The new measure, however, may easily put these funds into circulation by placing them at the disposal of the regime for its current deficit spending on armaments.¹²

11. Critica, Buenos Aires, 30 January 1945.

12. Last October the financial situation of the government was so bad that the Finance Ministry was forced to ask a 300 million peso loan from commercial banks to support the sagging government bond market (CIDI, Washington, 21 October 1944) In December there was a rumor in Buenos Aires financial circles of a billion peso government deficit. The National Post War Council, which was created last August to "co-ordinate, plan and carry out reforms of a social and economic character,"¹³ thus becomes another instrument for strengthening Colonel Perón's personal control over the national economy and for further developing his armaments program.

V. PLANS FOR A "CORPORATION" OF INDUSTRIALISTS

A third measure aimed at the centralization of political-economic controls in Argentina is the proposal, presented 7 February by Juan Fentanes, chief officer of the Presidency, for the creation of a state-controlled industrialists' organization. (For background and details of this proposal and businessmen's protests against it, see R & A 2842, forthcoming.)

Designed to eliminate the powerful Unión Industrial Argentina (U.I.A.) from the scene as a pressure group of manufacturers, the government plan would create a state-supervised association along lines of the Corporazione dell' Industria in Fascist Italy. No members of the present autonomous U.I.A.'s directive council would be permitted on the council of the new organization; its statutes would be drawn up by a commission on which Perón's Secretariat of Labor, his Ministry of War, and General Julio C. Checchi's Secretariat of Industry would be represented; enrollment of members would be supervised by the State; and the State would have representatives on the new directive council.¹⁴

Colonel Perón has long spoken of an association of economic groups under the State, his most recent reference to the subject being in his speech to the industrialists on 18 January.¹⁵ His views seem to follow the corporate ideas of Benito Mussolini.¹⁶ Peron has never used the expression "Corporations," but his description of what he calls sindicatos resembles closely the Fascist corporations in their earlier stage; they are semi-public associations of economic groups, supervised and in fact directed by the State, and cooperating with the government in the realization of its military and economic program.

VI. SIGNIFICANCE OF RECENT GOVERNMENT MEASURES

In view of the further strengthening of pro-Nazi controls over the Army, as well as of the new Security Decree, the further centralization of economic controls under Vice President Peron and the project to control the Union Industrial, such minor concessions to the democratic opposition as the reinstatement of professors weigh very little in the balance.

The main significance of the Security Decree, and the decree giving Peron's Postwar Council control of the key aspects of the national economy, is that they write into law some of the violations of the national constitution which have already in fact occurred.

In the past, the military regime has pretended that violations of constitutional guarantees were emergency measures under the State of Siege.

15. Accion Industrial, 23 January 1945

16. In Italy all branches of economic activity were organized in the 1920's as "corporations", and the corporations in turn eventually were represented in a "Chamber of Fasces and Corporations," which was first called into session in 1939.

Now, when the Argentine government is trying to spread the impression that it is returning to constitutional normality, the Security Decree makes these violations permanent law for the postwar period. Centralization of economic power in the Postwar Council, which violates the constitutional provisions on ministerial responsibility, likewise writes this violation into the statutes and would go far to adapt the country's legal structure to the emerging one-man control under Colonel Perón in the orthodox pattern of totalitarian leadership.¹⁷ In view of these measures, there is no evidence that the Farrell-Perón regime is returning to constitutional and democratic government. On the contrary, there is every evidence that it is elaborating and intensifying its totalitarian pattern.

17. There is no provision in the Argentine constitution for any veto over the ministries: chapter IV of the constitution provides merely that decrees must be signed by the cabinet and president together. (Arts. 87-89). There is, in fact, no provision for the three new Secretariats-- Labor, Industry and Aviation - which have been set up by the military government with cabinet rank. (Art. 87, as amended in 1898, provides for eight ministries, and the secretariats can be given cabinet rank only by amending the constitution.)

PRESENT SIZE OF FLEET... OWNERSHIP... POSITION IN NATIONAL ECONOMY
GROWTH... LOSSES... CONDITION... ACQUISITION POSSIBILITIES... COMMENT.

PRESENT SIZE OF FLEET

1. Present Argentine Merchant Fleet (vessels over 1000 g.r.t.) includes 73 vessels aggregating 346,356 g.r.t. representing a 65% increase in number of vessels and an 80% increase in tonnage over pre-war fleet of 44 vessels totaling 189,679 g.r.t. Increase in the merchant fleet results almost entirely from acquisitions of foreign flag vessels refuged in Argentine ports at commencement of hostilities. Present tanker fleet (included in above totals) includes 26 tankers of 145,666 g.r.t., a net increase of 1 vessel and 12,062 g.r.t. over pre-war fleet.

OWNERSHIP OF FLEET

2. Prior to the formation of the Flota Mercante in 1941 only 6 merchant vessels (5 tankers, 1 freighter) were state-owned; all others were owned by private companies. Now, 50% of all vessels are state-owned, operated by the Flota Mercante del Estado (formed for the purchase and operation of belligerent flag vessels tied up in Argentine ports) and Yacimientos Petroliferos Fiscales (Y.P.F.), the Argentine petroleum monopoly; 20% are owned and operated by Cia. Navegacion Dodero, a private firm; and ownership of all other vessels is divided among several small private companies.

POSITION OF FLEET IN NATIONAL ECONOMY

3. Lacking sufficient shipping of her own, Argentina has had to depend almost entirely on outside shipping to carry on her foreign trade. In 1941, with the acquisition of 16 Italian vessels refuged in her ports, it was possible to begin the formation of a fleet suitable for foreign trade. However 8 of these 16 vessels, as well as the majority of other refuged foreign vessels acquired later, are subject to return to their former owners after the war, with the result that Argentina faces a sizeable reduction in her fleet and dependence on foreign flag vessels for her overseas trade.

GROWTH OF FLEET

4. Since the formation of the Flota Mercante in 1941, the following vessels, aggregating 157,999 g.r.t., have been added to the Argentine fleet:

YEAR	VESSELS	TOTAL GROSS TONNAGE
1941	16 (Italian)	88,534
	4 (Danish)	11,036
1942	3 (German)	15,369
1943	4 (French)	30,842
	1 (Pan., ex-Roumanien)	4,382
	1 (Ven., ex-Italian)	8,196
TOTAL		157,999

5. Future additions will include the recently launched tanker, GENERAL MOSCONI (4,500 g.r.t.) first large vessel to be built in Argentine shipyards, and after the war the tanker, BUENOS AIRES (11,106 g.r.t.), built at Gothenburg in 1942 for Argentina and since immobilized there.

FLEET LOSSES

6. The Argentine Merchant Fleet has suffered the loss of 6 vessels, an aggregate of 37,106 g.r.t. Since 1941 these losses include 2 of the former Italian vessels acquired in 1941: RIO TERCERO, 4,866 g.r.t., sunk in 1942 by torpedoing, and RIO DE LA PLATA, 8,918 g.r.t., lost in 1944 as the result of a fire. Other losses resulted from fire, collision, torpedoing and one, ESSO FORMOSA (2,693 g.r.t.), from transfer to Panamanian flag.

CONDITION OF FLEET

7. The general condition of the Argentine Merchant Fleet can only be classed as fair. Of the 73 vessels comprising the fleet, 53 (almost 73%) are over-age, having been built prior to 1926, while others are badly in need of repair and reconditioning. There are only a few units which may be classified as "good," and these few cannot possibly fulfill the needs of Argentina's foreign trade. In order to maintain her position as a maritime nation in post-war trade, it is estimated that Argentina will need a minimum of about 75 modern vessels with a 7,000 tons capacity each.

ACQUISITION POSSIBILITIES

8. At best Argentina will have difficulty obtaining vessels to offset the pending depletion of her fleet. National shipbuilding facilities are not yet sufficiently developed to be of any importance with the result that Argentina must look abroad for this needed tonnage. Countries which could supply vessels through sale or construction are Sweden, England, Canada, Spain and the U.S.

9. As part of a trade agreement concluded with Spain in 1942, Argentina has two merchant vessels currently under construction in Spanish shipyards. Once these are launched, it is doubtful whether Spain will be willing to undertake any further construction for foreign account, until she herself has achieved a merchant fleet commensurate with her ambitious plans for the future. However, as new units are incorporated into the Spanish fleet, other older vessels might be released, for sale. Should this occur, Argentina would do well to avail herself of such an opportunity to replace vessels lost through return to original ownership.

COMMENT

10. Argentina's need for tonnage is urgent. Even now Brazil threatens her position and promises to offer serious post-war competition. Brazil boasted a pre-war fleet (disaged chiefly in coastal trade) of 122 vessels, 413,646 g.r.t., larger by 67,290 g.r.t. than the present Argentine fleet. Today her fleet comprises 131 vessels, 565,014 g.r.t., with additional vessels planned, and it is this ever growing fleet which presents the greatest threat to the Argentine.

Already, in hopes of establishing future shipping routes to North and South Africa and to Europe, Brazil has several vessels under construction in Canadian ship yards, and, in addition, plans to purchase or charter fast modern vessels from the U.S. to replace her war losses.

11. Chile, on the other hand, presents little threat because of the small size and generally poor condition of her merchant fleet (44 vessels, 144,761 F.R.t.). She plans a modern post-war fleet capable of competing to some extent in overseas commerce (Far East) but chiefly capable of carrying on extensive coastwise trade. Toward this goal, she has already approached the British and U.S. with regard to the possibility of obtaining new tonnage.

12. From the above facts, it is obvious that Argentina must lose no time in commencing to rebuild her fleet, if she hopes to participate to any extent in post-war commerce, or maintain her present position in South America.

Independently two most reliable and well placed sources report today anti government democratic groups have united under leadership of Rawson and will attempt coup probably from provinces about 1st week October. We rate information 2. Chances of success only fair but as person has alienated many in armed forces chances may be better. Big question hinges on unpredictable line up of army and navy, on availability of arms for plotters and their ability to keep plans secret from regime. Charge D'affaires advised and he requests you inform his home office.

Given in following is information from Correspondent and Author John White who was informed by Senator Cruzcoke after his conversation with Foreign Minister Fernandez and has our B-2 rating*Conrado Rios was recalled from Argentine after Armour because of a report from Chilean Military Attache Colonel Urizar giving conversation with Peron as follows:

Peron told Urizar Argentina and Chile should form one country because both are white races and have similiar economic interests. That any country to be great must face two oceans and under present modern war small countries have no place and Chile should be united with Argentina. "Therefore my friend that is what we are going to do with Chile for better or for worse. This is a necessity." Urizar asked permission to send conversation to Chilean Government but Peron said "No this is not official but conversation between friends" he also told Urizar or Raul Aldunte of Chilean civil defense that Argentines were not worrying about Uruguay because it will be absorbed. (MA comment: Investigation discloses that above report may be only a distorted and magnified version of our report 691 on 83850 and 3020 of 10 July. All indications are that Argentina seeks friendly agreement with Chile).

When Ambassador Armour called on Fernandez 1 July said USA does not wish overthrow of Peron but only wants him to put two friends of USA in cabinet and when that is done Armour will recommend recognition Argentine Government. Statement shocked Fernandez who told several Senators he considered situation serious for Chile and that such a policy would leave small countries to fight for themselves and was serious threat to South America democracies. Fernandez said Chile has three alternatives first to be a second Czech-slovakia and be absorbed by submitting to Argentine demands or second have rearmament race with Argentina or third that the USA put a stop to the arming in Argentina against democracies. Fernandez wants State Department to take steps against Argentina and says Chile cannot take measures unless backed by the USA which has given no assurance of its support. He said Chile cannot fight Argentina until ready and unless USA gives support. View here that Farrel will step aside and Peron assume Presidency and then elections held to give him six year term which is assured because Organized Labor supports him. In secret meeting of Chilean Senate about 19 July Chiles position will be decided. US assurances appear essential to fortify those opposed to appeasement of Argentina and prevent Chile conceding more raw material to present government.

Fernandez told Cruzcoke that Chile is ready to take any measures even war if backed by USA and that problem must be faced in coming week. MA comment: Foregoing may be partly distorted but has considerable confirmation by

No. C 23495 12 July 1944

Signed Brett CDC C 23495 for Chief of Staff.

Status air mission Argentina reurad 63538 July 11th. In our opinion, believe it highly desirable to retain mission in present status unless Argentina desires to break contract. If we initiate action to withdraw mission and break contract, the probabilities are that we will be unable to reestablish United States missions in that country and probably missions from some foreign country may be installed. Our desire is to establish missions in all countries of Central and South America, and to exclude all foreign missions. Colonel Cavenah on recent visit to this Headquarters was thoroughly briefed on the possible political developments. It is believed that he is capable of handling situation discreetly. In similar situation in Bolivia both air and ground mission personnel remained in the country and it is believed that their presence was extremely helpful in the final negotiations. Will keep War Dept informed, but news from mission may be scarce due to Cavenah's desire to keep away from Military Attache Embassy Office. We hesitate to communicate in anything higher than restricted code so as to avoid suspicion of mission activity. Contemplate sending supply plane to deliver certain essential items to mission and may obtain direct information through pilot of this plane.

Seriously doubt hostile intentions reur 59372 contemplated near future as this country believed to be seeking good will of neighbors. We think her capable of attacking Uruguay if she thought latter would not receive help from US and Brazil therefore sending munitions requested would let Argentina know support recipient and might prevent aggression should it be contemplated. Although this country is whipped up into a preparedness frenzy it is not a war like one and is smart enough not to invite disaster.

Local papers and press associations suddenly given free hand in publishing criticisms of Argentina originating outside country and press ordered to give prominence to criticisms. This change of policy believed adopted to create Anti American and Pro Government feeling in event of action by USA. Departure our Ambassador and Chiefs of other missions result in talk Government circles that US influence is stronger than suspected and that situation growing worse and possibly leading to break of relations therefore now is time to win good will of neighboring countries and to play up in press the innocent and humble position of Argentina before Giant of the North.

MEMORANDUM FOR:

THE SECRETARY, THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF.

Subject: Military Support for Paraguay and Uruguay.

1. The Secretary of State has informed the President that a communication has been sent from the State Department to the Joint Chiefs of Staff asking whether or not the United States could provide military support for either Paraguay or Uruguay, or both, if they should be attacked by Argentina. The President directs me to say that he hopes the Joint Staffs will be able to answer in the affirmative. He suggests that the weakness of the Argentine air force is such that with the help of Brazil we should be able to provide sufficient air force to counter any threat by Argentina without serious interference with our major war effort.

WILSON BROWN,
Rear Admiral, U.S.N.,
Naval Aide to the President.

Nr: 109 18 May 1944

to AIC.

Extra flights 2 per week Santiago to Buenos Aires and return operated Tuesdays and Thursdays since Dec 43 Panagra permit expired 17 May and Argentina refused renew.
Believe squeeze play by Argentina with concurrence Chile in favor Argentine Aero Poste and Chilean National Air Line to divert traffic to these 2 lines in their joint bi-weekly international schedules planned for near future Both lines have enough planes to start service but lack trans Andean experience, weather stations in north and south pass and oxygen equipment for crews, passengers. Extra flights Panagra booked solid to 4 June besides 55 passengers several tons air express waiting at Santiago. Argentina also refusing allow customary additional Panagra shuttle service to relieve congestion between Santiago and Mendoza when loads pile up both places when passes closed by weather.
Believe if this move unchecked Argentina will next find pretext cancel entire Panagra concession as for past 2 months they have been filing series of complaints against Panagra for technical violations. Ambassador requesting Washingtons views.

Election campaign has calmed down considerably. Gen Dutra, recourd 4609, has not yet accepted candidacy and has indicated he will not declare himself until electoral law is published legalizing political parties. Nor has Eduardo Gomes had anything further to say concerning his candidacy. In Dutra's case, delay will provide time to judge strength of his support and will allow the government to tighten up its machine which if desired, can be shifted upon publication of electoral law, to a compromise candidate.

Organizing, public meetings and behind the scenes jockeying continue but initial excitement has passed. All concerned are saving resources for main effort.

Located in Sao Paulo is Benedito Valadares, Governor of Minas Gerais, where he has been sounding out both government and opposition leaders to determine the acceptability of General Dutra as a candidate for President.

Milo Sao Paulo forwards reliable report that Valadares activity is undertaken with the concurrence of both President Vargas and General Dutra and further, that all elements contacted find Dutra acceptable. Valadares is shortly to continue to Rio Grande do Sul. Of interest is reported visit to Sao Paulo within next few days of Gen Goes Monteiro and Joao Alberto.

Late Saturday afternoon Rio newspapers carry short speculative items on Dutra as potential candidate.

Complexity and fluidity of situation as developed in last four days makes the above difficult to evaluate, and definite conclusions are not yet justified.

Certain considerations however are pertinent. If Vargas has decided, either independently or under pressure, not to stand for reelection, it is possible that Eduardo Gomes will withdraw from field in spite of the stature his candidacy has reached. In this eventuality a compromise candidacy would be probable. Dutra's remarks (reour 4543) included statement that a highly reputable civilian would be preferable. However, as a compromise candidate, Dutra would probably be acceptable to the opposition and certainly to President Vargas who ostensibly at least would have had part responsibility in his selection. Dutra is not tainted as are most high appointees surrounding the president and in fact, has become widely respected as a result of the BEF and his dedication to Army duties. While it is not believed that Dutra is personally ambitious for such an opportunity, he would probably accept if convinced of its necessity in order to maintain Brazil's international course, and internal unity and order.

It is pertinent to recall that 15 years of Varga's rule has left Brazil with few men of known competence and ability for high government office.

This to WAR 49607 now referring for Bissell nr 4566.

Labor manifestations in question constitute expression from Labor Syndicates which have always benefitted from government social legislation, are government controlled, and are generally pro-Vargas. All Syndicate officials, however minor, hold their posts by specific governmental approval and hence may be expected to remain loyal unless opposition should offer brighter prospect, which it has not yet done.

Communist splinter groups remain in divergence over election. Some groups feel victory of opposition would bring about weaker government less capable of dealing with Communist activities, and that support to opposition should therefore be given. Other groups feel that unified support would uncover their organization and jeopardize future activities. To be considered as a pro-Vargas factor in Communist thought is present trend toward Russian recognition.

Newspapers yesterday and today carried categorical denials from Ministries of War and Marine, that meeting of senior officers, to deal with political matters, took place. Both statements are ambiguous and are probably intended to save President's face and to avoid any possible alarm on part of public at the interest of the armed forces.

Emanating from within group of leaders of the armed forces, whose head is Minister of War Dutra, is information tonight that these leaders of the armed forces have obtained assurance from President Vargas that he will not be a candidate for Presidency.

On Thursday 8th March, on behalf of the armed forces, General Dutra will seek further assurance from Vargas that he will not accept nor otherwise attempt to retain the presidency. It is believed that Vargas will accede to this suggestion. In case Vargas does not accept the advice of the armed forces, plans of the latter for future action are not as yet completely formed, but there is possibility of a military Junta taking over control of the government.

Tonights Rio press carries statement that generals, admirals and brigadeiros have called upon Eduardo Gomes and assured him that president Vargas will not be a candidate. A highly placed member of the armed forces states that this report is true.

It is significant in that, originally, Eduardo Gomes states that he would run for the presidency only in case Vargas was hard headed enough to insist on doing so himself. Although Minister Dutra said yesterday that he thought Eduardo Gomes would run in any case, it is important to note trend in the planning of the leaders of the armed forces that both President Vargas and Eduardo Gomes be eliminated. These developments indicate a strong desire on part of all elements of armed forces to maintain tranquillity and to present a united front so that Brazils position internationally will not be jeopardized.

Reference radio this office number 4544 student demonstration in Rio tonight March 7th was largely attended and passed without disturbance.

Pointing up his remarks of 5th March, as noted in my telegram nbr 4533 of 6th March, concerning possibility of President Vargas not standing for election, the Minister of War again today referred to the matter in similar terms but in such a way as to indicate that such a development is a strong possibility.

There appeared in press for first time today, a report alleging the Presidents non candidacy. The press report takes the form of combined Army pressure being exerted upon the President. While such pressure is a possibility, General Dutras remarks to me today indicate that such a non candidacy probably falls within the scope of President Vargas plans and is not a result of pressure. On the other hand, Dutra may have implied to the President that the Army would welcome his abstention from candidacy.

General Christovao Barcellos, who recently assumed position of Chief of Staff of Army, gave up on Jan 10th his membership of Joint Brazil US Military Commission. He was chairman of that commission for two years, and temporary chairmanship has now passed to next senior Brazilian officer, Rear Admiral Jose Maria Neiva, Minister of War, rather reluctantly concurred in Barcellos's request to leave commission, however, pressure of work in General Staff is very real.

For this reason, President authorized action taken by Barcellos. Minister of War states that President will probably appoint an Army Brigadier General as senior Brazilian Army member ad interim (Fiuxa of Ordnance and Milton De Freitas of Motor Mechanized Arm are both under consideration).

Minister indicated however that an especially suitable Maj General will be found as chairman of commission, as successor to Barcellos, when character of permanent post war liaison between Brazil and United States is known.

Above info has been given to Charge D'Affaires this station. There will leave here by air mail pouch on Jan 13th a special report from senior US Army member of commission to Gen Ord on this subject.

Virgilio de Melo Franco
Dario de Almeida Magalhaes
Rafael Correio da Oliveira
Austregesilo de Athayde
Adauto Cardoso

Virgilio de Melo Franco is the reported organizing head of political group backing Eduardo Gomes (reourad 2839 and report number 7878 now in mail) Austregesilo and Correio da Oliveira are prominent journalists of Diarios Associados and Magalhaes is financially interested in that syndicate. Arrests of these important critics of the regime are for all conspiracy against President Vargas. This constitutes an unusually harsh measure by the government and is already causing unfavorable repercussions. Numerous additional arrests, in connection with the circulation of a new anti-government manifesto, are reported. It is believed that, in preparation for an election announcement, the government by these measures desires to prevent the increasingly vocal opposition from gaining the initiative and consequently appearing to force the government into such an announcement.

23 December 1944

Major General Ary Fiore, who normally reflects high army thought, stated privately yesterday his opinion that Vargas has decided to hold elections prior to the war's termination. He believes the President now stands a very good chance of being reelected. Further, he considers it possible that the election announcement may be made on New Year's Day when President Vargas customarily addresses the nation.

Oswaldo Aranha has just completed the purchase, with his brothers, of Vanguard, a daily newspaper. This paper may be used as an opposition vehicle when opportunity occurs.

There is evident a growing expectancy of coming political changes. The above mentioned arrests demonstrate President Vargas determination to control these changes and to maintain close personal direction of whatever course he has decided upon.

End.

Now seems likely that Foreign Minister Aranha will resign his post in near future. For full information of incidents leading to possible resignation see current Embassy cables and especially 2990 of this date.

Cable number 2955 of 18 August requests State to advise War of entire affair.

Stability of government is not threatened by Aranha's actions, and no effective coordinated opposition to Vargas is expected to result.

Minister of War in conversation states that Brazil-U S relations would not be adversely effected by a change in foreign ministers, especially political-military collaboration and cooperation.

By Minister of War I am advised this date that President Vargas has signed two decree laws concerning Brazilian Army. The first authorizes the activation of a Field Army Echelon (previously nonexistent). The second authorizes the creation of an army of the South encompassing the states of Rio Grande Do Sul, Santa Catarina, and Parana. An additional decree will probably be signed, I was told, on 17 August. It will specifically activate new units, and redesignate existing units, for the above mentioned army. It will also indicate an increase of general and other officers necessary for the new command. While all of the above is presently secret, it is expected that some notice of the establishment of the new army will be given to the press about 19 August. Written report follows when details become available.

Nr: 245 1st April, 1944

Personal attention Ord and Hertford. Nbr 245. To MILID.

Parading yesterday in City of Rio three Infantry Regiments First Division Expeditionary Force approximate strength present just over 6,000. Objective to satisfy popular curiosity about the Ex Force and encourage interest in war participation. Much popular enthusiasm evident but with careful inspired leadership in planning and press. Written report with newspapers next week by air mail. With full knowledge and concurrence of Ambassador Caffery my comment and conclusions as member Joint Commission are as follows. Highest military and civil authorities present en masse. BEF now matter of prestige for Government as latter gone too far in support of Ex Force to turn back. Prominent posters displayed stating BEF would avenge on European roll injuries and insults to Brazilian lives and nationals. Military tailors making large numbers special Ex Force Officials uniforms, soldiers of the First Expeditionary Division now wearing overseas combat uniform with shoulder patch "Brazil" (The above please teletype Cox Miami) Following for Ord G2 and OPD Continuance of present close collaboration by Brazil with United States may be seriously threatened unless the United States gives early positive assurance of movement overseas of at least part of Ex Force. All indications here point to end of May as desirable date for such movement. Under my present orders I am not discussing movement with Brazilians but I am being constantly faced with inquiry Elevation of Pro Ally honest, capable Brig Gen Arnaldo Carrasco to Minister Defense over heads of all Maj Gens and all but one Brig caused Maj Gens Escudero Espinosa Diaz and Brig Gen Benedetti to request retirement. General opinion this is oversensitive attitude but few other Brigs may follow suit. These retirements almost essential, at least next year for annual promotion purposes. Hand of Pro Nazi ambitious Lt Col Ramon Alvarez Goldsack, Cmdr First Arty Regt and friend of President may be behind Rios' wise but tradition breaking appointment of Junior Brig to Minister Defense, Argentina.

Rios taking at least one month sick leave for gastric ulcers. By Constitution Quintana Minister Interior governs as Vice Pres during this time. No trouble foreseen although rumors are rife. Tense situation created by both above events make us watchful. Fuentes probably return immediately from USA to become Commander in Chief Army.

[REDACTED] msg from Marshall to Considine.

Feeling rather strong in War and State Departments that it is most inadvisable to supply arms and ammunition to the Paraguayans as indicated by your Top Secret 203 dated 5 August 44. By your own admission in radio dated 20 July 44 indications are that some attempt will be made to overthrow the present government consequently any action by the War Department to place arms and ammunition at the disposal of the Vera-Aranda faction is definitely contrary to existing United States policy. You are advised that should the Paraguayan Government consider there is a need for arms and ammunition consideration will be given to a requisition made through established channels.

TOPSECRET msg to Wooten from Marshall

What follows is paraphrase of message received from Considine in Asuncion by War Department 5 August 44: "Benitez Vera has approached me and stated Paraguay needed 62,000 rifles with ammunition and some 81 mm mortar shells for complete mobilization. Vera made it clear he was not speaking as a government official. Aranda also approached me and stated that President Morinigo had asked him to do so. Aranda's approach was as he put it soldier to soldier and not to be considered as official. Aranda also asked for help and wanted to know what the United States was prepared to do. He stated antiaircraft guns, ammunition and tanks are needed. Both of the above requests were made due to considerable anxiety on part of Paraguayans as to Argentina's intentions. I also have information that General Andino and other Chaco officers are greatly worried by the Argentina situation. My opinion of the above is that while this may be a move on the part of the Paraguayans to get arms and ammunition for the group in power, there is also definite fear on the part of all concerned as to Argentina's intentions. Consequently I believe it would be a good thing to have General Wooten ring with him on proposed trip August 15 a dozen 50 caliber antiaircraft machine guns complete with ground mounts and ammunition to be given to the Paraguayan Government as a gift."

The War Department has information that Vera, Aranda and Stagni, all known to be pro Argentina, are planning some attempt at seizing control in Paraguay 15 August this year. On the other hand Andino is pro United States. Consequently any action on part of United States to place arms at the disposal of the Vera faction is considered most inadvisable. Considine is being so informed. Information is also available in the War Department that you may be approached with perseverance by Paraguayan officials in an effort to secure your support pertaining to supply of arms by United States. In this connection, it is desired that you not make any commitments or offer any encouragement to the Paraguayans. To avoid embarrassment on your part, you may advise that any request for equipment will have to be made to the War Department through routine channels. Should such official request materialize your advice will be sought.

Last night Benitez Vera told me Paraguay needed 66-2000 rifles with ammunition and some 81-1 MM mortar shells for complete mobilization. He wanted to know if we could furnish these. Benitez Vera stated he was speaking not a govt official. Col Aranda spoke to me this morning and said he wanted to talk as soldier to soldier and not officially. Aranda said Morinigo had asked him to speak to me. Aranda stated Paraguay was very upset by recent Argentine troop movements to frontier. That Farrell recently made radio speech in Corrientes telling people there that they must be prepared to defend their city "stone by stone". I have reliable confirmation of this Farrell statement. Aranda referred to an official US note stating that Brazil and US were prepared to assist Paraguay in case of Argentine aggression. He wanted to know what we were prepared to do materially. He again stressed that he spoke for Morinigo to me as soldier to soldier and not officially. Aranda referred to economic dependence of Paraguay on Argentina and said Paraguayan public as well as military and government officials are worried about the Argentine situation.

Most reliable informant states Gen Andino and other Chaco officers are greatly worried by Argentinas action. Aranda stated that due to Asuncions location it is exposed to sudden ground and air attack by Argentina. Aranda stated some arms are needed now and suggested anti aircraft guns and munitions, a few tanks etc. Aranda said government felt it had to do something to show public it is prepared to meet the situation. My evaluation is that while it may be attempt to get arms and munitions for the group in power there is genuine fear on the part of all concerned about the Argentine situation. Yesterday I forwarded to General Wooten an invitation from General Machuca asking Wooten to come here for the 15th of August celebration. If he came with 3 B-24 bombers fully equipped to add to the show the air force here is giving I believe good effect will be obtained. If they brought with them a dozen 50 caliber anti aircraft machine guns complete with ground mounts and ammunition as a present for this government we would forward our interests greatly with the Paraguayan govt. I do not agree with Charge D' Affaires opinion regarding airplanes here 15th August.

Request instructions.

Leaders of Herreristas by phone on 27 March learned from Buenos Aires Right Wing Nationalists following regarding Argentine plans:

Immediate and efficient cooperation with United Nations, Use of fleet for patrolling thereby acquiring from US materials for modernization,

Purchase light naval craft from England,

Renewal relations with Russia providing market for Argentine produce in exchange for arms and eliminating popular opposition to govt stirred up by communists in this hemisphere.

Generalities in conversations as follows:

Directed by Peron Argentine Govt will swing aggressively and militaristically to left thereby bringing to an end relations between Government of Argentina and Herreristas and other American right wing parties;

Peron having had sufficient police and army support will begin new phase of political action liquidating old friends to get new forces both external and internal behind govt;

Fear expressed that Peron may become rabid leftist and eradicate right wing movement which he could do with ease due thorough knowledge its workings.

From Marshall to Brett for action Wooten for information.

Letter from United States Military Attache Paraguay recommends participation by American planes in Paraguayan celebration of founding of Asuncion. He points out Argentina has successfully made use of similar occasions in past to impress Paraguay with Argentine power and believes Argentina will try to repeat at this celebration. Concludes that impressive demonstration by United States will help counteract Argentine influence, assist missions of United States and Brazil in Paraguay, and counteract pro-Nazi elements. Can you arrange to send three B-24 planes to Asuncion arriving August 13th and remaining until August 18th? United States Military Attache states 17000 gallons 10 octane gasoline available in Asuncion. Priority reply requested. Take no action until you are advised further.

General preparations placing army on alert re our 62 at last evidenced by activities other than staff. Increased tenseness noted undoubtedly partly due recall Argentine Ambassador from Washington. Feeling expressed by usually conservative army and civilian contacts that we are deserting Uruguay. Request indication attitude you desire be taken by this office with military under such conditions.

Told Colombo re my nr 61 on 9th July his request forwarded and would receive due consideration, but he should not be too optimistic. He says Uruguayan defense plans depend upon Lend Lease and if shipments per his request are not to be made he should be immediately notified so that he could tell President other sources armament must be explored or Uruguayan attitude changed.

Comment: Local authorities jittery due Argentine situation and our attitude re their request might have bearing their future attitude reour country, see my letter 2785 now enroute, Ambassador informed and cabling State.

Hr: 5192 7 July 1944

To War from Wooten USAFSA 5192 reurad 59406

Conference with Congdon in Rio revealed that urgency of request for arms and ammunition has resulted from apprehension in Uruguay concerning possible military action by the Argentine Army. It was pointed out that a very minimum of 60 days would be required before equipment could be assigned, shipped and received in Montevideo with another period of probably several weeks or months before effective use could be made of it. There appears to be no question involving the internal stability of the Uruguayan Government which in the present emergency has taken for granted US armed support in case of aggression by Argentina but as far as can be ascertained has made no inquiries concerning possible Brazilian reaction. No immediate military purpose would be served by the assignment of additional arms to Uruguay. Complete list of Uruguayan Army requests, a copy of which is already on file in War Department, is being brought to Washington by Colonel Edwards with notations by Uruguayan Minister of Defense on urgent current needs. All items on list are indicated by Uruguayan Minister as currently needed except 37 MM antitank guns, antiaircraft equipment and armored vehicles. This list does not represent a balanced military force and it is recommended that it not be considered as a suitable overall plan for the Uruguayan Army pending some kind of staff conversations concerning military collaboration with Uruguay. If however for political reasons in view of Uruguay's past and present cooperation with the US the assignment of additional equipment is considered necessary, it is recommended that a token assignment be made of the

4 July 1944

The Honorable
Cordell Hull,
Secretary of State,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

In a memorandum from the President's Naval Aide, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have been asked to comment on the military support which the United States can furnish either to Paraguay or Uruguay or both, in the event they are attacked by Argentina.

It is important that Brazil join at once in any action on our part. Brazilian forces are in position to participate immediately, Brazilian supply lines are needed to transport United States aid particularly for Paraguay, and Brazilian military and naval bases would be most important to United States operations and the supply of munitions to the forces opposing Argentina.

While the provision of any U.S. forces and supplies must be at the expense of our over-all war effort, limited support to countries attacked by Argentina can be provided by calculated diversion of U.S. resources without serious interference with our major war effort.

Initial support can best be provided by U.S. air and naval forces. Initially, a U.S. composite wing of about seven squadrons could be made available to augment the Brazilian air force within six weeks. In conjunction with the Brazilian air force, it is considered that these would be sufficient to overwhelm the Argentine air force.

U.S. naval forces could be provided immediately from the units attached to the 4th Fleet. The exact composition of naval forces would depend largely on the timing of the attack by Argentina.

The matter of equipment and supplies under the lend-lease program to increase the present fighting efficiency of Uruguay and Paraguay and to maintain the weapons they have already received is being given urgent study.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff consider that the forces that could thus be made available in conjunction with those of Brazil should provide adequate support, either to Paraguay or Uruguay, or both, should they be attacked by Argentina.

Sincerely yours,

For the Joint Chiefs of Staff:

WILLIAM D. LEAHY,
Admiral, U.S. Navy,
Chief of Staff to the Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy.

OF OFFICIAL ARGENTINE DUPLICITY BUT THEY THINK THEY HAVE THE US IN A POSITION OF DISADVANTAGE WITH THEIR ECONOMIC SITUATION SECURE FOR SEVERAL YEARS. THEIR OFFICIAL ATTITUDE IS NOT FRIENDLY AND THEY EXPECT TO DISRUPT THE SOLIDARITY OF SOUTH AMERICAN NATIONS BY ANY MEANS AVAILABLE. THIS BRITISH PRESSURE ON ARGENTINA IS NECESSARY AND WILL HAVE MORE EFFECT THAN OUR OWN. THE PRESENT SITUATION IN THE LA PLATA AREA IS CRITICAL DUE TO THE POSITION THE ARGENTINES HAVE WORKED THEMSELVES INTO. ONLY THE ARGENTINES CAN CLEAR IT. I PROPOSE TO SHOW FORCE IN MONTEVIDEO PERIODICALLY AND AS THE SITUATION PERMITS. ALSO TO ESTABLISH A SEAPLANE BASE IN URUGUAY. THE PRESENCE OF BIG PLANES OVER THE LA PLATA AREA HAD AN EXCELLENT EFFECT. I CONCUR IN PREVIOUS OFFICIAL REPORTS ON PERSONALITY OF INDIVIDUALS IN URUGUAYAN GOVERNMENT GOVERNMENT.
