Title: Preliminary draft for the encoding of an extended Egyptian Hieroglyphs repertoire

Source: Michel Suignard

Status: Individual Contribution

Distribution: UTC

Summary: This document contains a draft proposal for the encoding of an extended Egyptian Hieroglyph repertoire covering all periods from the classical period to the Greco-Roman period. Combined with the existing Egyptian Hieroglyphs it lists 7340 characters.

Introduction

Egyptian hieroglyphs have evolved from a set slightly above 700 characters during most of the classical period (from Old Kingdom, Middle Kingdom, to New Kingdom) to a much larger repertoire in the Greco-Roman period. In that era, the number of hieroglyphic characters have exploded to a number close to 8000. Typically, that larger set is known as Ptolemaic, but this is a simplifying assumption as many of these extensions have been found to be in use in the classical periods as well.

The explosion in glyph diversity was also accompanied by an increase in the number of phonetic values that could be assigned to a single glyph, up to twenty or even more readings. Overall, deciphering late usage of the script has proven to be challenging.

This document does not pretend to describe in details the various complexities of the extended Egyptian Hieroglyphs and its usage. There are many publications on that subject, a bibliographic references section will be created in a future version of this document.

The intent of this proposal is to set the base for the encoding of the extended set, allowing Egyptologists to communicate data in a unified encoding platform. Then each element of the extended set can be indexed in a database where additional information can be conveyed, related to the sound, semantic, sources, description, etc. In many aspects this is similar to the work done for the Han ideographs where many ancillary data elements are associated with each Han characters (commonly known as the 'Unihan' database).

The first order is to establish a taxonomy to make an inventory of these 7000+ characters. There is a common agreement to use the A-Z grouping created by Gardiner, going from 'A:Man and his Occupations' to 'Z: Strokes, signs' or at least something similar. However, it becomes difficult to create meaningful sub-groups within these large groups when some of them go from 50-60 elements to over 600 elements. Furthermore, many characters being composed of multiple simpler characters can be set in different groups (for example characters associating a human with an animal or an object). At the end there is a large dose of arbitrary choice to be made when creating such taxonomy and an important goal is to use an existing one.

The author considered two sets:

- Hieroglyphica as available in the publication and the related font
- IFAO (Institut Français d'Archéologie Orientale du Caire) catalog

Hieroglyphica simply augments the Gardiner grouping by adding either horizontal extensions (in the A group, A1 is extended to A1A, A1B, A1C) and new numbers (in the same A group, the regular Gardiner A1 to A58 values are extended beyond A500). Similar characters can be located in different part of this extended set, making difficult to correlate (such as the A13 subgroup and the A214-A223 subgroups).

The IFAO grouping is more detailed in its sub-grouping. But, because the hieroglyphs have many attributes, criteria, no ideal taxonomy can be created. Even the IFAO indexing, which further decomposes each major Gardiner section into many sub-sections (such as the A section into more than 20 sub-sections), has many limitations which result from the fact that many entities can arbitrarily belong to different sub-sections. To avoid multiple catalog entries, IFAO has rules determining in which of the possible groups, one character should be located.

For reference the IFAO classification for A: Man and his Occupations has the following categories (translated from French):

Men and Rulers (homme et souverains)

- Man seated or kneeling empty handed (homme assis ou agenouillé les mains vides)
- Man standing empty handed (homme debout les mains vides)
- Man, head down (homme, la tête en bas)
- Man adoring or bent (homme adorant ou penché)
- Man on the ground or in water (homme à terre ou dans l'eau)
- Man standing, holding a stick (homme debout, tenant un bâton)
- Man seated or kneeling, holding something (homme assis ou agenouillé, portant quelque chose)
- Man standing, holding something (homme debout, portant quelque chose)
- Man seated, pouring water (homme assis, versant de l'eau)
- Man standing, pouring water (homme debout, versant de l'eau)
- Man hiding (homme se cachant)
- Man working (homme au travail)
- Sheperd and porter (berger et portier)
- Man carrying a balluchon (homme portant un baluchon)
- Man standing, composed with a hieroglyphic sign (homme debout, en composition avec un signe hiéroglyphique)
- Man holding a weapon (homme tenant une arme)
- Soldier (soldat)
- Prisoner and enemy (prisonnier et ennemi)
- Dancer and acrobat (danseur et acrobates)
- Musician (musicien)
- Man and animal (homme et animal)
- Man in a boat (homme dans un bateau)
- Child (enfant)
- Dwarf (nain)
- Notable seated on a chair (notable assis sur un siège)
- King or god seated without crown (Roi ou dieu assis sans couronne)
- King or god standing without crown (Roi ou dieu debout sans couronne)
- King wearing the white crown (Roi portant la couronne blanche)
- King wearing the red crown (Roi portant la couronne rouge)
- Dead person kneeling (défunt agenouillé)
- Mummy (momie)
- Statue (statue)

While the IFAO grouping and rules were tempting, the author did not use that system, mainly by absence of a good font using it. In addition, the IFAO catalog uses black silhouetted glyphs which look very different from more modern representation, making the matching difficult. By opposite, the Hieroglyphica model with its detailed outline glyphs is well implemented in publicly available fonts.

Another consideration was to create a simple mechanism to extend the existing Egyptian Hieroglyphic block already encoded in Unicode in U+13000-U+1342F. As such, using a related naming scheme and ordering was deemed more appropriate. The choice is not final. Should a different taxonomy be preferred in the future, it is always possible to switch as long as it is done before the encoding proposal becomes stable and appears in a version of the Unicode Standard. In all cases, the code point and name assigned to these extended hieroglyphs are identifiers that only become fully meaningful when associated with their ancillary data.

Encoding Proposal

The proposal is an extension of the existing Egyptian Hieroglyphs; it augments the existing block containing 1071 characters with another 6269 characters located in two blocks:

13430-143FF: Egyptian Hieroglyphs Extended-A,

14680-143FF: Egyptian Hieroglyphs Extended-B

The first block contains the Gardiner groups: A, B, C, D, E F, G, H, I, K, L, M, Q, X, and Y. The second block contains the Gardiner groups: N, O, P, R, S, T, U, V, W, Z, and AA. The out of sequence grouping is related to size optimization for the two blocks. This could be re-evaluated as this draft evolves.

It should be noted that the initial block containing 1071 characters is in itself an extension of the classical repertoire which is typically around 760 characters. The extension covers additional numerals, directional variants, nomes (former administrative regions of Egypt), enclosures.

The Hieroglyphica collection add more variants but not necessarily in a parallel process. For example, the nomes are not all present, and the ones identified are spread among many different groups such as: E, F, G, N, and T.

The order used is the one established by Hieroglyphica, augmented with characters unique to the Unicode Egyptian Hieroglyphs original block and the characters that were part of the Hieroglyphica font but not repertoried in the Hieroglyphica book. Some of these extraneous characters may have been added in relation to work done under the Dendara project. There are also some additions coming from the Aegyptus font.

Naming convention

All the extended hieroglyphs use one of the following naming conventions:

hhhhh EGYPTIAN HIEROGLYPH HG-xdddx

hhhhh EGYPTIAN HIEROGLYPH HG-xdddxx

hhhhh EGYPTIAN HIEROGLYPH HG-AAdddx

hhhhh EGYPTIAN HIEROGLYPH HG-NUdddx

hhhhh EGYPTIAN HIEROGLYPH HG-NLdddx

(‘h’ is an hexadecimal digit, ‘x’ is any letter between A and Z, ‘d’ is a decimal digit)

This naming convention is not used for the existing characters (encoded in the existing Egyptian Hieroglyphs block) because of the immutability principle for Unicode character name. Unless noted otherwise, it can be derived by adding the prefix ‘HG-’ to their catalog number and inserting an additional 0 in the numeric value, for example ‘A001’ becomes ‘HG-A0001’.

The name list for the extended blocks uses the cross-reference system to insert the existing characters into the regular extended system. This means that the cross reference to 13000  EGYPTIAN HIEROGLYPH A001 appears before 13434  EGYPTIAN HIEROGLYPH HG-A0001A and should be interpreted as HG-A0001. This allows to use the name list for the extended block as a complete reference list for all 7340 Egyptian Hieroglyphs.

When the mapping is not straightforward, an annotation is used saying something like:

- HG-A0006M referenced as -A006A

(which means that the former A006A reference becomes HG-A0006M in the extended naming system)

This complication arises from the fact that the original Hieroglyphica naming on which the ‘HG-’ system is based is not compatible with the naming used in the original Egyptian Hieroglyphs block. While the original Gardiner names and numbers are the same, the extensions are not.

Name list presentation

The first pages show the original Egyptian Hieroglyphs block using the Hieroglyphica font. The intent is to review these glyphs to spot any regression. That font will be likely be used for the next version of Unicode.

Following are the same sections for Egyptian Hieroglyphs Extended from Hieroglyphica, with the cross references showing the characters already encoded in the original block. Note that some glyphs are either too light or too large to fit in cell, these weight and size issues will be fixed in a further version of this draft.

Beyond the cross references that are only used for mapping purposes, some annotations are used:

- Unusual mapping noted as 'HG-zzzzz referenced as -yyyyy' which refer to specific mapping between the name in the original block and the extended block (see above)
- Reverse notation in the form '-yyyyy mapped to HG-zzzzz' to help locate the unusual mapping
- Terms 'nage', 'nagx', and 'nhg' denotes extension to the original Hieroglyphica font and are for internal editorial use

All these notations are editorial and will be removed in a future version of this draft.

Database design

Along with this document, a new database is being created to associate each hieroglyph with ancillary data. The goal is to offer an online tool similar to the Unihan database already available on the Unicode web site. Each Egyptian Hieroglyph will have an entry with a number of fields listed in two groups:

- 1) Catalog Information with the following fields:
 - Primary catalog number – This is the reference used in the character names in the extended blocks in the HG-zzzzz
 - IFAO – in the form of page number, number in page
 - Cauville – in the form of page number, order in page
 - Gardiner – original Gardiner catalog identifier
 - Kurth – in the form of group number, page number, number in group,
 - Val Phon -
 - Hieroglyphica – catalog identifier
 - Hieroglyphica extended – catalog identifier
 - Unikemet – catalog identifier
 - Douros – catalog identifier
- 2) Other Data
 - Description – free form description of the glyph
 - Components – list of all glyph components
 - Determinative – typically indicates end of word and meaning
 - Logograph (or logogram) – indicates word
 - Phoneme (or phonogram) – indicates one or more sound
 - Variants – similar entries

Current issues

The following issues are still being investigated:

1) Variants

Many characters look like variant of each other, some more than other. Do we try to use any variation sequences for encoding or not? If yes, what is the criteria for going that way? For example, it would be easy to create variants for mirrored/horizontal/vertical. Some glyph variants that were in the font as extension to the base Hieroglyphica set have not been included in this extended set when the distinction was too subtle.

2) Glyph variations with the original glyphs used in the existing Egyptian Hieroglyphs block

The following table shows these differences. In some cases, both the original and the updated glyphs are still represented in the extended set, in some cases only the updated glyphs are represented.

Acknowledgements

The author wants to thank the following persons for their contribution to the effort: Debbie Anderson and Ken Whistler for their kind feedback to the previous drafts, Jochen Hallof and Barbara Richter for their contribution to the determination of the mapping to the existing encoded Egyptian hieroglyphs as well as the additional extensions beyond the original Hieroglyphica set. In addition, Barbara Richter and Debbie Anderson provided many documents helping the creation of this draft proposal. Important other resources were the original Egyptian Hieroglyphs proposal created by Michael Everson, as well as the Aegyptus font created by George Douros.

This block shows Egyptian hieroglyphs already encoded in the Egyptian hieroglyphs block using cross-reference in the location where there would appear in the taxonomy used for this block.

When the cross-references use different catalog numbers, an annotation is included showing the discrepancy in the form 'HG-xxxx referenced as -yyyy', HG-xxxx stands for Egyptian Hieroglyphs Extended, -yyyy for original Egyptian Hieroglyphs catalog number from 13000-1342E.

Annotation symbols: nhg (new Hieroglyphica glyph from font), not in original name list, nage (new Aegyptus glyph, covering original yyyy extensions), nagx (new Aegyptus glyph, original to Aegyptus)

When the cross-references use different catalog numbers, an annotation is included showing the discrepancy in the form 'HG-xxxx referenced as -yyyy', HG-xxxx stands for Egyptian Hieroglyphs Extended, -yyyy for original Egyptian Hieroglyphs catalog number from 13000-1342E.

Annotation symbols: nhg (new Hieroglyphica glyph from font), not in original name list, nage (new Aegyptus glyph, covering original yyyy extensions), nagx (new Aegyptus glyph, original to Aegyptus)
