Students will pay to play if millage fails

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

Student athletes, band members and debaters at Wayne-Westland junior and senior high schools will pay to play next fall under a plan adopted Monday by the school district.

A resolution to establish a fee for extracurricular activities should voters reject a June 11 tax increase proposal was approved unanimously by the Wayne-Westland school board.

The current secondary extracurricular activity program was eliminated by the board last month as part of nearly $5 million in administrative, staff and program cuts for next fall. The cuts will help trim a $7 million deficit (not including a current $2 million surplus) faced by the district, according to school officials.

Adopting an activities fee was recommended by a district committee that has been studying the policy since the April cuts.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS said Monday participation in extracurricular activities would likely decrease if the policy was implemented, but that the fee was the only way to fund the activities in the event the millage proposal falls.

"I know of no district (with a fee policy) where it has been effective," said Superintendent Dennis O'Nelli. "But the bottom line is that there's no other way to go.

"I just hope it doesn't matter (after June 11)." Associate superintendent William Harvey, who heads the district committee, called the fees "a shame" but said the district budget for 1990-91 couldn't support extracurricular activities without them. The resolution passed by the board covers athletics, cheerleaders, intramurals, forensics, debate, drama, musicals, newspapers, marching band and vocal music (after school performances and any activity that:

next grade or for graduation.

- Director or coach receives a stipend
- Participation is voluntary • No academic credit is granted
- Participation isn't required for progression to the

NO FORMAL schedule has been set, but the committee will probably forward a recommendation to the superintendent by July, Harvey said.

Harvey said the committee is looking at a threetiered fee schedule. He estimated the fee for athletics would be $200 per student, per sport. Music programs would be $35 per student and other activities could become self-supporting through funds raised by the students themselves, he said.

Payment options and a provision to reduce or waive fees for students from economically disadvantaged families are also being studied, he said.

"We're looking at a family plan for participation in more than one activity, kids working part-time for the district in lieu of cash and good old plastic (accepting credit card payments) - nothing has been ruled out yet," Harvey said.

GUIDELINES FOR economic hardship cases could be similar to those used for the free and reduced price lunch program, he said.

"No youngster would be denied the opportunity to participate," Harvey said.

Recycling center to open July 7

A city-run recycling center to open this summer will "bring (Westland) up to speed" with other western Wayne County communities in protecting the environment, said the man who will oversee the new facili-

"To my knowledge we're the only city in the surrounding area that hasn't moved in this direction," said Bruce Guertin, superintendent of roads for the department of public

The recycling center, to open July 7 adjacent to the DPS transfer site olf Marquette, east of Newburgh, was announced last week by Mayor Robert Thomas.

Thomas was out of town and unavailable for comment this week. The mayor made environmental issues part of his campaign last fall and in his January inaugural address said more attention would be paid to "waste management and recycling."

Although the recycling center could eventually save the city money, Guertin said reduced costs for processing trash weren't the primary motivation for the facility. "The idea is just to cut down on the amount of waste," he said.

'PEOPLE ARE beginning to realize - even those who aren't environmentally in tune — that we have to do something. They know that the landfills are filling up," he said.

78 teachers get layoff notices for fall

By Tedd Schneider staff writer.

Seventy-eight teachers received layoff notices from the financiallytroubled Wayne-Westland school district this week.

The layoffs, approved unanimous-ly by the school board Monday, will take effect next fall if voters fail to approve a tax increase proposal on the June 11 ballot.

"We're losing some excellent, out-standing, dedicated teachers," said board member Mathew McCusker.

The pink slips for 75 full-time and three part-time teachers include staff at all buildings, but are particularly heavy at the elementary level. Many of the 42 elementary teachers are from the expressive arts program, which was trimmed by twothirds last month as part of districtwide budget cuts for 1990-91 approved by the board.

One-sixth of the positions at each of four junior high schools (13 teachers total) also face layoffs because the junior high class day is being reduced by one hour, said Bill Taylor, associate superintendent for employee services.

Other teacher layoffs approved by the board were:

- Nine teachers from John Glenn High School
- Eight from the William D. Ford Vocational/Technical Center
- Two from Wayne Memorial High
- Two teachers currently on leave
- One district social worker One speech and language teacher.

20 years experience in Wayne-Westland, Taylor sald.

"A large number of teachers will also be displaced (reassigned)," Taylor said Monday.

Tom Svitkovich, associate superintendent for communication and finance, said reassignments would be finalized by the end of the week.

The layoffs represent about 71/2 percent of the current Wayne-Westland Education Assocation membership, according to figures provided by the union.

The layoff notices are given in the spring to meet contractual requirements with the teachers' union.

In recent years, the district has recalled many teachers who were given pink slips the previous spring. About one-third of the 63 teachers given notices in spring 1989 were called back. More than two-thirds of the 30 teachers laid off in the spring of 1988 were recalled.

Taylor said Monday only about 10 teachers would be recalled next fall. Those teachers are likely to return in part-time positions, he said.

Svitkovich also doubted a large recall, mainly because a large number of high-seniority teachers on the list are expected to retire.

Candidates want improved curriculum, communication with parents By Tedd Schnelder

This is the last of two articles on how the Wayne-Westland school board candidates view campaign issues. Leonard Posey, Linda Pratt and Laurel Raisanen discussed the issues during a May 10 interview at the Observer offices. The three are running for one board seat in the June 11 elec-

A beefed-up curriculum, better communication with parents and programs designed to deal with an increasingly diversified student population are things Wayne-Westland school board candidates would seek to improve the quality of education in the district.

All three candidates expressed concern about maintaining a highquality curriculum.

Challenger Laurel Raisanen expressed disappointment with district scores in Michigan Educational Assessment Program testing and said perhaps students were getting "too many choices" at the secondary level.

She cited a 1987-88 class offering for Wayne Memorial High School that listed 42 English class electives for students.

"THERE HAS TO be more math and science. We must get back to a basic curriculum," Raisanen said. "We're shortchanging our kids if we

Linda Pratt, also a challenger, said she was impressed with the way classes are taught at the Ford Vocational/Technical Center and would like to see that approach adopted in other buildings. "Those teachers teach to the needs of the students," Pratt said.

She noted CAD-CAM students at the center are learning trigonometry, something they might have difficulty with under conventional teaching techniques at the two high schools.

Leonard Posey, who is seeking election to the seat he was appointed to last December, said curriculum must be continually reviewed. "But," Posey said, "we also need to review the methods that we utilize in teaching that curriculum."

"I am concerned how we teach our kids as opposed to just what (is

Candidates discuss schools-of-choice, spending issues

By Marie Chesiney staff writer

Livonia Board of Education candidate Nagi Musleh got a surprise recently when he and board trustee Joseph Laura sat down for the first time to discuss education issues.

Laura and Musleh are vying for the one seat up for grabs in the June 11 school board election in the district, which includes the northern section of Westland.

One of the first topics to be discussed was the controversial schools of choice issue, put forth by educators and politicians as a way to achieve excellence in schools.

UNDER SCHOOLS of choice, parents can choose which school their. children will attend. The theory is that the plan will foster competition and thus produce better schools.

"We do have schools of choice in Livonia," said Laura, a Ford Motor-Co. product planner who is in his first board term. "Any kid is allowed to go to any school in Livonia, as long as they provide their own private transportation and there is room at the school. All you have to do is just ask for it."

lan Middle School who is trying to unseat Laura.

"This is news to me. This is a hot: issue in Michigan. Are we the leader in this area in Michigan? Why are we hiding this? Have we done any research to show how this is working? I will request information on whether research is being done now to show how it's working in Livonia."

MUSLEH CAME to the face-toface-session-armed with-criticisms of the Livonia School District, many of which dealt with what he called the district's "liberal ways of spending money."

"I was born a conservative and am still one. I'm ashamed that the board wants the city to help run the Bentley Center and I'm unhappy with the $1 million being spent on the physical education program. All That statement came as a surprise these decisions are coming from the superintendent's office and I don't see any objections from the board. It is a 'yes' board."

Laura, who as a board member has a working knowledge of the district's proposed $94.7 million budget, said he sees some financially lean times coming within the next three

These times, he said, will need a person with his financial background.

"There are some frightening times coming down the road. I alone add one thing, a financial background, to the budgetary process. I'm concerned about the fiscal management of the district. -

This district will get tight shortly. The days of the growth in the northwest are over, the days of large SEV increases are over. The days of the big windfalls are gone. We'll be bumping Headlee shortly. Our fund equity is drifting lower, as a percentage of our budget. Within the next three years, we'll be faced with the serious question of whether to ask for a Headlee override."

THE CANDIDATES then got hit with a more pleasant question how they would spend an unexpected $500,000 windfall from the state. .

"I have several pet projects, such as child care at no cost to taxpayers and expansion of the middle school sports program," Laura said. "But we'd ask the superintendent for his recommendations. That sounds like a great deal of money but it might not be. We'd have to ask, 'What would do the most for the greatest number of kids?""

Musleh agreed that $500,000 might be a "drop in the bucket" in the district.

"We should hire elementary counselors and I'd like to increase our kids' test scores," Musleh said. "Why should our students' scores be behind the scores of kids in Farmington Hills and Bloomfield Hills?"

Each candidate was then asked if he would be willing to give the $500,000 back to the taxpayers in the form of a tax break.

"We do this every year," Laura said. "It's a good concept but there's such a thing as fiscal responsibility. Right now, giving it back is not a problem. But those days will be over secretary earns an extra $100 a shortly."

While he was "not satisfied with the liberal way of spending" in the district, Musleh said he would not support giving the money back to the taxpayers.

"It would not be just my decision but the decision of all the board. But I couldn't support the idea. Residents complain about the taxes, but they want to see their kids well educated. A small increase in property taxes is no problem if I see my kid happy."

Merriman widening detours drivers

Local drivers are seeing a lot of 'detour" and "road crew ahead" signs in making job, family or shopping trips.

The reason is that the county is widening Merriman between Ford and Warren Road, a project to take most of the spring and summer.

Under a project funded by state. Wayne County and municipal money, Merriman is being reconstructed and expanded to four lanes of traffic

"The project is under way again

We'll have signs at either end indicating the road will be open only for local traffic," said Alan Richardson, Wayne County's assistant highway engineer.

A $1.46 million bid for the project was accepted last fall and some preliminary construction began before winter. The contract requires completion by September.

A related Merriman widening is being done in Livonia between Joy and Plymouth Road, affecting local drivers who want to reach industrial traffic, Richardson said, plants in that city.

THE DETOUR route for through traffic will send southbound cars east on Warren, south on Middlebelt and east on Ford. Northbound vehicles will be sent west on Ford, north on Venoy and east on Warren.

Merriman at Marquette is also scheduled for resurfacing, part of the county's normal road maintenance program, during the third week of May. These types of projects are done with the roads left open to

John Glenn principal shares a new success

James Myers, John Glenn High School principal, likes to help students gain successes and share those successes with them.

That's the reason he switched careers to return to education 15 years ago after being an assistant Washtenaw County prosecutor for one

In focusing on students' successes. Myers said that many people tend to "forget about the good things" that are happening at John Glenn High.

Myers, 44, had his own professionwhen he was named Wayne County's top secondary school principal for the 1989-1990 school year.

He was picked by an executive board committee of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals for his leadership, initiative, student involvement, community relations, and participation in local, state, and national education committees.

He switched careers because "I like kids and I wanted to get back with them," said Myers, who earned his degree at the Duke University law school.

During his short legal career, Myers served as a Washtenaw County Community College law instuctor and as a special adviser to an undercover law enforcement squad.

THE MASSP award was in the form of a certificate presented by Schramke, Redford Union High School principal.

The award is no surprise to some of Myers' students.

"He is not only a principal, but a friend to everyone who walks the halls of our building," said senior Angela Jackson. "I have never met anyone who could care for 1,800 people at the same time and never vary in the way he treats them. No one deserves this honor more than he

Another senior, Tamme Quinn, said that Myers is also a friend as well as a principal. "He has inspired al success to share Tuesday morning many of us and he has confidence in all of us. He is proud of John Glenn and we're proud to have such an excellent administrator."

> Mary Arno said Myers is a person who cares and takes pride in students and his own work.

"He has been a loyal friend as well as teacher," she said. "His leader-ship and dedication has contributed to the success and pride found in John Glenn High. He is also someone who makes you feel as part of the team and equally belong."

Candidates discuss education issues

All three candidates said the district needs to do a better job in reaching out to the general community on the upcoming millage election and other important issues, particularly those who aren't directly affected by the schools themselves.

Posey suggested a program that would allow local businesses to sponsor educational activities within the district. Also, he said, school-related groups such as local PTAs must work to develop an ongoing relationship with senior citizens, civic groups and others in the community.

"We can't just continue to send out 'Focus' (a school district newsletter) in a mass mailing and hope to get the point across," he said. "You've got to get administrators and teachers back into the community after

"IF WE'RE going to ask for (community) support, we have to sit down and talk to them," he said.

Pratt said things like the Student Assistant Task Force and PTA activities accomplish this to some degree. She cited a recent PTA ice cream social at Schweitzer Elementary that was open to the entire neighborhood.

"That's a small thing but it makes a connection (with the community) in . a very real, physical way with the school," she said.

But Pratt acknowledged that those kind of efforts need to be expanded in order to reach a greater number of people.

Raisanen said groups such as the Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee, which was formed last year to encourage resident involvement in school issues, is another way to expand community participation. Raisenan is an active member in the group.

Party activists also on ballot

Republicans call them the "backbone of the party."

For Democrats, they are the party's "footsoldiers".

Their ranks include famous elected officials - and, maybe, your next-door neighbor.

"They," of course, are precinct delegates - the unsung heroes of grass roots politics.

On paper, precinct delegates have one responsibility: electing delegates to the party's state convention -Detroit, in September, for the GOP; Flint, in August, for Democrats.

cinct delegates in fact have many more duties and much greater importance.

There will be primaries for many area state senators and representa-

Area Senate races shape up as follows:

• 12th District — Incumbent William Faust, D-Westland, will face Democratic challengers James Stamps of Belleville and Gregory Pitoniak of Taylor in the August primary. Pitoniak, a state representative, is the most interesting of the challengers, though some political observers expect him to withdraw. He was unavailable for comment-Wednesday.

The winner will face Republican Glen Kassel of Westland, though Kassel may also withdraw to pursue as U.S. Congressional race against William Ford, D-Taylor.

• 10th District — Incumbent George Hart, D-Dearborn, will face the winner of a GOP primary between Frank Guido and Mark Koldys, both also of Dearborn.

The district includes Garden City, among other communities.

IN AREA state House races:

• 33rd District — William Keith, Westland in the fall.

D-Garden City, the incumbent, will face Republican Donald Mullett in the fall. The district includes Garden City and a small part of Dearborn

- 34th District Veteran incumbent John Bennett, D-Redford, faces challengers James Balley and Frank Bradley Jr., both of Redford, in the primary. The winner will face GOP candidate Mark Steinhauer, also of Redford. The district includes Redford and a section of eastern Livo-
- 35th District Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, the incumbent, will face Democrat Robert Burnett, also of Livonia, in the fall. The district includes most of Livonia.
- -36th District Incumbent Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, will face Kathleen Keen-McCarthy of Plymouth Towmnship in the GOP primary. The winner will face Democrat • 6th District - R. Congressional races find few candidates

There won't be any action in area Congressional races until the fall.

No one is challenging any of the areas three representatives in the August primary and only one challenger faces a potential primary.

There could be a GOP primary in the 15th District, where Burl Adkins of Southgate and Glen Kassel of Westland have filed for the party nomination. Adkins, a downriver businessman, beat Kassel in the 1988 GOP primary, but lost the general election to incumbent William Ford, D-Taylor.

Kassel, however, has also filed for a state Senate seat and would have to withdraw from one of the races by the end of this week.

In other races:

ocrat Elmer White of Ann Arbor in the fall. Two years ago, Pursell defeated state Sen. Lana Pollack in one of the most expensive House races in Michigan history. A repeat isn't expected this time around.

The district includes northern Livonia, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township, but its balance is in Washtenaw, Jackson, Hillsdale, Lenawee and Branch counties.

• 17th District - Sander Levin, -D-Southfield, will face Republican Blaine Lankford of Royal Oak in the fall. The district includes Redford, Southfield, Dearborn Heights, Inkster, Lathrup Village, Oak Park, Royal Oak, Clawson, Pleasant Ridge, Huntington Woods, Ferndale, Berkley, Royal Oak Townmship and parts of Detroit and Madison

• 15th District — Ford will face • 2nd District — Incumbent Carl the Winner of the Adkins-Kassel pursell, R-Plymouth, will face Dem-race, if it occurs, and Libertarian

David Hunt of Ypsilanti in the fall. The district includes southern Livonia, Westland, Garden City and Canton, as well as other Wayne and Washtenaw communities.

Execunopposed

But commissioners will face challenges

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara is running unopposed, but there will be plenty of action in area county commission races this spring and summer.

. Neither a Republican nor Democrat filed against McNamara, virtually assuring the executive of a second term.

Primaries, however, are scheduled in three of the four local districts, with only commission vice chairwoman Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township, facing no opponents, in either the August primary or November general elec-

PERHAPS THE most hotly contested local race will occur in the 12th district, where Democratic incumbent Kay Beard of Inkster newly elected Westland councilwoman Terri Reighard-Johnson. Deborah Miller of Garden City and Hilliard L. Hampton Jr. of Inkster round out the field.

Beard has been a commission member since 1978 and is chairwoman of audit and veteran's services committees and a member of the health and human services committee. Recently, she helped propose a ballot proposal that would have asked voters to change the county executive's line of succession, though the matter has been tabled.

The winner will face GOP candidate Gerald Cox, a former Schoolcraft College trustee, in the fall.

The district includes Westland, Garden City and Inkster.

primary in the 11th District, with former Canton clerk Linda Churan facing Victor E. Gustafson of Canton for the right to challenge incumbent Milton Mack, D-Wayne, in Mack, a commission member since 1983, is chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and a member of the committees on administration and rules, public safety and judiciary and roads, airports and public service. He also chairs the county's solid waste implementation committee.

The district includes Canton, Romulus, Wayne, Belleville, Flat Rock, Rockwood and Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron townships.

• Newly elected 9th District Commissioner Kevin Kelley, D-Redford will face former state representative Jack Legel of Detroit in a primary that will probably assure election in the fall. No Republican filed in the district, which includes Redford and a portion of Detroit, west of Evergreen Road.

Kelley was appointed to the board early last year and elected in a special election last fall. He is chairman of the committee on maintenance and use of county buildings and a member of the audit and roads, airports and public service committees, Heintz is assured a third term in the 10th District. The only Republican on the commission, she was first elected in 1986. In addition to being vice chairwoman of commission, Heintz is a member of the committees on roads, airports and public service.

The district includes Livonia, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Town-

Communities sought for composting program

By Wayne Peal . staff writers

A group of western Wayne County townships hopes its planned compost pile proves more popular with neighboring communities than it has with its neighbors.

The Western Townships Utility Association is promoting the proposed compost pile as a trash-reducing, cost-saving measure for neighboring cities and townships.

The WTUA, including Plymouth. Canton and Northville townships, hopes other Wayne and Washtenaw county communities will bring grass clippings and tree trimmings to the 80-acre site at Geddes and Beck

There's no limit on the number of communities that could use it," said WTUA executive director Ann Bol-

The site is scheduled to begin operating in July, Bollin said. A $250,000 state grant was recently awarded to the WTUA to create the eomposting program.

Homeowners living near the Canton site have complained, however, arguing smells and increased truck traffic would lower property taxes.

Nearly 100 homeowners attended a recent Canton Township board meeting on the site. Site operators met again with homeowners Sunday to discuss complaints.

Despite the protest, neighboring communities are showing interest in the site.

"WE'D HAVE to at least take a look at it," said Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett, whose city operates a leaf-collection site of its own. "It could be cheaper to go in with someone else than to do it ourselves."

The Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority, a separate group including Westland, Garden City, Inkster, Dearborn Heights and Wayne, is also considering a composting plan, though it hasn't decided whether to use the Canton site. That group is considering a plan to ban yard waste from its Dearborn Heights incinerator.

Representatives from the WTUA promoted the pile in an appearance Friday before the Conference of Western Wayne, an intergovernmental group that includes the WTUA ed $10 per cubic yard they said was the township. and Central Wayne Sanitation com-

"With the WTUA and the incinerator group, eight of our communities have pledged to composting," CWW director Daniel Gilmartin said. "Now, we're interested in finding out what our other communities intend to do.".

SITE OPERATORS said they would charge communities $4 per cubic yard to dump leaves, grass clippings, twigs, tree stumps and brush - compared with an estimatcharged by nearby landfills.

"That works out to a savings of about $210,000 a year for a community of 50,000," said Peter Pekshan, whose company, Compost Systems Inc., owns the site.

Rekshan is also owner of Canton Analytical Labs, billed as Michigan's largest privately owned environmental laboratory. The site will be managed by Canton Recycling Co., under a subcontract with Compost Systems. Canton Recycling operated last year's test composting system in ties would separate yard waste from other trash and transport it, in plastic bags, to the compost center.

The humus would be offered back to the communities, for use in parks or on municipal golf courses.

Tree branches and stumps would be ground on site into wood chips. The chips, operators said, would be blended into the compost pile to reduce odor.

WTUA communities would share in the program's gross proceeds.

"We'd use the money for public Under the WTUA plan, communi- education and for depreciation on equipment," Bollin said. "Even though we wouldn't own the site, we'd own the equipment."

County aims to cut high infant mortality rate

New programs have been introduced to curb Wayne County's higher-than-average infant mortality

Among the initiatives are a new multi-service clinic jointly operated by the county health department and Arab Community Center for Economic and Social Services. The clinic is at 97600 Dix, Dearborn.

The county is also expanding its prenatal care program to include evening appointments at many health department locations. Increased hours will begin the week of

New programs were announced last week by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and county Commissioner Bernard Kilpatrick, D-Detroit, president of the Executive Task Froce on Infant Mortality.

The county has already implemented a home-visitation program for infants with reported drug exposure at birth. The program has received more than 50 referrals since beginning in March.

Manager spots fake $20 bill

By Diane Gale staff writer

A 22-year-old Canton gas station manager spotted a phony $20 bill last week and detained the man who tried to pass it until police arrived.

The 18-year-old Canton man had tried to pay, for gas using a dollar bill that had the corners from a $20 bill pasted on the ends. The man, however, denied knowing that the bill was fake.

'You just flip it over and can tell it was a one dollar bill," sald Tara Sobie, the manager of the Abraham Shell gas station on Haggerty, who refused the bill.

"It's happened here before, but we never caught them before," Sobie said. "He pumped the gas and handed me that. I said, 'You can't give me this.' "

The man asked why she wouldn't take the money, Sobie said.

"I said, 'Look what's wrong with this."

He denied recognizing what was wrong with the bill and allegedly told Sobie he got the bill from a

School bus bills tighten safety standards

By Tim Richard staff writer

A state Senate committee reported out three bills to update school bus safety laws amid calls for even stricter rules.

"I've been working on it two vears," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, sponsor of the main

Sen! Richard Fessler, R-Comnerce, who chairs the Senate Transportation Committee, said the measures met some resistance from school districts, bus drivers and unions who opposed change.

But a hearing in Walled Lake Monday produced endorsements from insurer AAA of Michigan, boards of education and drivers, he Fessler's panel Tuesday adopted the bills out on a series of 40 votes.

'WE TRIED to codify school bus safety standards at state-of-the-art levels," said Dillingham.

He cited regulations on mirrors, lights, when to use yellow and red flashers, training and inspections by the State Police Department.

Dillingham and Fessler both reported children killed by buses in rural portions of their districts.

Fessler sponsored two companion bills, one of which will require drivers to halt 20 feet from a school bus rather than the current 10 feet.

TOM DOWNS, a Lansing attorney representing a mother whose child was killed, advocated requiring "pusher buses" with the engine in the rear. Some fatalities occurred because drivers couldn't see children

They are due on the Senate calendar stooping in front of the hood of the bus to pick up dropped articles.

Fessler noted that several districts are buying pusher buses although the bills don't require them.

Downs, a well-known constitutional and labor attorney, asked Fessler to push a state study of the feasibility of a right-hand exit rule.

Under such a rule, a bus would be able to discharge only those students who live to the right of the route, eliminating their need to cross the road. "In dirt roads, it would require four miles (of travel) to go around the block," said Fessler, "It's expensive, but kids don't have to cross the road. Some areas of the country require right-hand exits."

Fessier agreed to seek completion of a state feasibility study by Oct. 1,

A STAFF analysis said the bill would cost the state "several million dollars per year" for training of drivers.

The bill will require entry-level drivers to comlete a school bus safety course within two years of starting work. It also will require six hours of continuing education every two years.

In his last-minute appearance, Downs advocated several other amendments that the committee didn't take up:

• Raising the minimum age for drivers to 21 because "I doubt if anyone 18 has the maturity to handle a school bus."

• Requiring the State Police, rather than local police, to investigate school bus accidents "to avoid good ol' boy protection. I know you don't have that in any of your counties," he told the panel.

Norwayne

Cleanup helps neighborhood

THE NORWAYNE community has long suffered from a negative image. But the Westland city administration recently took a major step recently to make sure that City Hall is trying not only to maintain the level of city services for Norwayne,

'but, it is hoped, improve them. The recent steps included three days of conacentrated ordinance enforcement. The city had building code officers checking for violations, police department ordinance officers issuing 48hour warning tickets for abandoned vehicles, two street sweepers going through the neighborhood, the cutting of grass in local parks, and the collecting of branches and debris.

The stepping up of ordinance and code enforcement isn't to be viewed as a punishment for Norwayne families. It should be seen as a way to keep up the neighborhood and prevent problems from cropping up.

IN OTHER cities, large and small, a percep- nance enforcement.

A stepped up ordinance enforcement program is a boost for all areas to the community.

tion by city officials that a neighborhood isn't worth saving leads to a lack of enforcement of basic ordinances covering abandoned cars and building code violations. That, in turn, increases the rate of deterioration of that neighborhood.

That shouldn't happen in Norwayne or any other part of the city.

The recent actions by the city administration gives the positive message that Norwayne is an important part of the community and won't be neglected by City Hall.

If all neighborhoods get the same attention, as promised by the city, every section of the community will benefit through the stepped up ordi-

Tiger Stadium New park must be close to old

OING TO DETROIT TIGERS games has always been part of a typical spring or J summer for suburban residents. The short trip to Tiger Stadium is an activity that goes beyond rooting for the home team or, in years the Tigers are hopelessly out of the pennant race, enjoying the nuances and atmosphere that make baseball so different from other Without getting overly sentimental about things, there's a multi-generational cultural factor at play here. You're seeing the rightfielder patrol the same territory Al Kaline so gracefully covered from the 1950s to the early '70s and baserunners literally following in the 70-yearold footsteps of Ty Cobb. And you're watching from the same seats (albeit newer, plastic ones) that your parents and grandparents bought tickets for years ago.

With the Tigers talking about a new ballpark in a new location, much of that could change within the next few years.

We continue to support the idea of a new, privately financed facility for the Tigers, particularly if it maintains the best parts of the old open air, natural grass, plenty of affordable, unobstructed seating for the everyday fan.

WE ARE DISTRAUGHT, however, over the tossed away like yesterday's garbage.

idea of Tom Monaghan building a baseball "palace" in a remote location far from the core of loyal Tigers supporters, a possibility that was hinted at in a recent team survey of season ticket

If not alongside the current ballpark, a new stadium should be built in Detroit or its immediate environs.

One of the charms of baseball is it's spur-ofthe-moment attraction. Also, games are designed as a pleasant summertime diversion, not an all-day outing. The current Tiger Stadium, despite its age and a number of flaws, makes that possible with a location close to a number of Surely that would change for Tigers fans in the inner ring of suburbs if the new stadium were built outside metro Detroit.

Secondly, a new stadium in an undeveloped location would violate the intent, if not the letter of our wishes against use of public money. The Tigers might pay for the structure itself, but they would obviously be relying on local and state governments to finance necessary utility and road improvements.

Finally, the little bit of baseball history that would remain if the Tigers built a new ballpark at or near the current site would be uprooted and

Environmental group benefits all

OR MEMBERS OF the East Michigan Environmental Action Council, Earth Day has been every day for the past 20 years. Formed in response to that first Earth Day, they marked their 20th anniversary at Cranbrook Institute of Science earlier this week with an evening of celebration and dialogue.

The tangible results of council members' 20 years of environmental watchdogging have been experienced by each of us.

Through their efforts, joined by others, we have higher water quality in our Rouge River, a more closely regulated Detroit incinerator and stronger solid and hazardous waste management

EMEAC was formed in 1970 by a small group. of doctors, lawyers, scientists and other coneerned citizens to address environmental and human health problems in southeast Michigan.

A grant from the Junior League of Birmingham in 1976 allowed a staff to be hired. Since then, staff and volunteers have been in the forefront to improve and protect air and water quality, protect valuable natural areas and represent our area of Michigan's interests at the legislative level in Lansing.

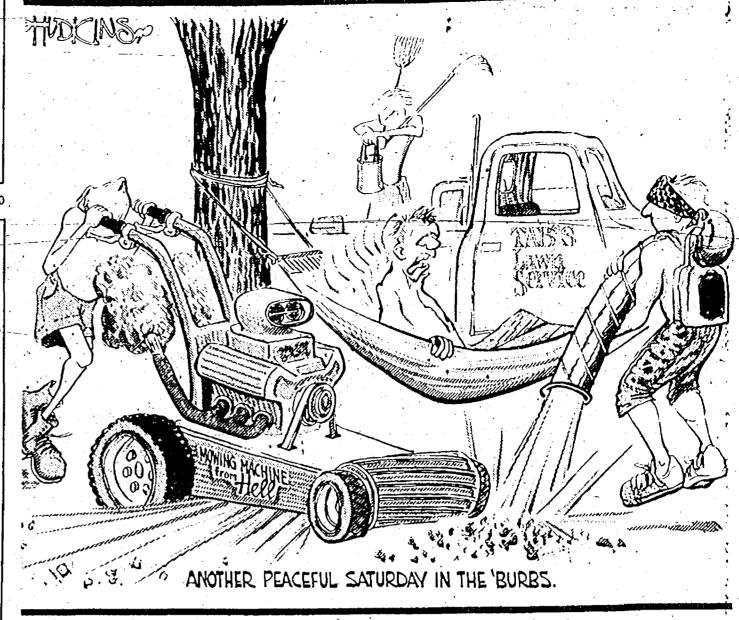

EMEAC has worked with the Recycling Center of Birmingham to reduce the volume of waste going from Birmingham households to landfills in Oakland County.

The council's used motor oil recycling project now has more than 100 participating collection sites in Oakland County and involves more than 60 volunteers, helping prevent used oil from contaminating water supplies, lakes and streams.

Other projects include protecting one of the few remaining wetlands in Southfield from destruction and working to tighten West Bloomfield's local wetlands ordinance.

TODAY, AS, the world becomes more Earthoriented, groups like EMEAC don't have time to sit back and take pride. They're on to the next stage, as the theme of their anniversary celebration suggests: "Earth Day into Action."

For all of us now living in a cleaner, safer southeast Michigan - thank you, EMEAC, for what you've done and what you're about to help

Schools trying to do job some parents won't accept

STUDENTS at Westland's John Glenn High School want to discuss sex, drugs, alcohol, divorce and violence as part of the school curricu-

"Where else are we going to learn to cope with these things and with stress so we can face the real world?" said senior Matthew Stravos responding to a statewide Department of Education poll.

At the opposite end of our Observer & Eccentric coverage area, we have an opposite situation.

In Rochester a handful of local parents are concerned about a required class which teaches skills for adolescents such as resisting peer pressure and how to develop self esteem. These parents say the class, part of a national program called Quest, lacks values and may teach students to make decisions which conflict with their parents' views.

Once upon a time, schools resisted putting money toward programs that strayed from academics. Just give students the basics, teach them to think and send them on to the world. There were counselors, sure, but they were mainly around to help make out next semester's schedule.

BUT YOUNG PEOPLE who grew up in the '60s became parents, divorce became common, drugs became more powerful and easy to get and this state's drinking age went from 21 to 18 then back to 21 - but 21 in name only.

The church didn't keep up with the times, or chimed in too late - losing regular churchgoers and failing to deal with the issues.

And the schools — to which attendance is mandatory until the age of 16 - were left to deal with the children society had abandoned. What Matthew Stravos is saying is condemning. We no longer can depend upon our families and religious institutions to help us deal with society's problems. Our schools have known this for some time. The numbers of support staff in the form of social workers and counselors has grown. Police liason officers now have offices in many high schools. Focus groups of students meet during class time around a variety of issues which involve dealing with their feelings. Students involved include recovering substance abusers, children of alcoholics, children of divorce.

"THE SCHOOLS are trying to do repair work," says Aram Vosgerchian, consultant for guidance, counseling and career development for Oakland Schools.

Classroom teachers are not only responsible for teaching their subject matter, but for recognizing the signs of substance abuse.

Shame on that group of Rochester parents for merely criticizing. If they don't like it - what do they intend doing about it? Shutting down that school program isn't the answer. As Stravos said: "Where else are we going to learn to cope with these things . .

What is needed is better parenting. Parenting has never been easy and parents these days are not inherently worse than in days gone by But of course the problems are more difficult.

Just like certain credits are rel quired for graduation, AIDS counseling (in Michigan) is required to get a marriage license, parenting classes should be required to be parents.

Right now, many schools are doing our job. They may make some mistakes — but they are trying to cover for ours. We should be grateful.

Millage foes: 'fire the coach' on millage

Proposals A and B and the Feb. 8 three millage proposals were overwhelmingly defeated in the Wayne-Westland school district. Yet here we are three months later facing yet another opportunity to say "NO" to increased taxes. Those defeated proposals called for increased taxes almost equal to the current proposals. The people said "no new taxes — new priorities," but instead there were threatened cuts in student programs and student services.

In business, if the company has financial problems which are not solved and continued to occur, they fire the CEO.

In sports, if the team loses and continues to lose, they fire the coach.

In schools, if the finances continue to be mismanaged year after year, they call another miliage election, threaten to cut student programs, and lay off teachers and custodians.

Maybe it's time the citizens of this community tell their elected school board to fire the CEO and the losing coach. Think about it when you vote

Melvin Straight, Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee

Vote 'yes'

To the editor:

June 11 marks a very critical day for the registered voters in the Wayne-Westland School District. This is the day we must determine what is to happen in the future for all children attending Wayne-Westland schools.

Wayne-Westland is an In-Formula School District. The only way we can receive more money per pupil is to renew the present millage and raise the millage at the same time. Like Dr. O'Neill has already stated, this is for a two-year period until the school districts find out the result of their lawsuit against the state of Michlgan. The state of Michigan must pass legislation to assure equal funding for all school districts.

We live in the Wayne-Westland School district and we must take responsibility for its future. We must vote yes on June 11 to assure that all our children will receive a good education. "Children are the future."

Marsha Slenka,

Westland a cement city

I do have to admit that, because there are so many shopping centers, it symbolizes a strong economy which is good.

But in my opinion the negative far out-weighs the positive. For every shopping center or strip mail we build, we have to tear down trees widen roads and control increased

As it is now we can go to almost any corner and find a strip mall.

It would seem to me that Westland and Livonia mails, along with the current strip mails, would be adquate enough to serve the consumers' needs.

The future plans of our community include several more malls, but no parks. We will soon become a cil of cement with none of nature beauties to appreciate.

GRIFFITHS' candidacy is likely to give Blanchard several problems. Among the old-time unionists around whom I grew up, it was an article of faith that workers should step aside at 65 and let the young advance, or else they were "taking

In your situation, your daughter had an 3.9 grade point average in English, journalism and social studies. Her required math courses in high school showed a grade point average of 3.2 Not bad considering she took the more challenging math courses, competing against, future engineers and the like.

However, when we average her language arts/journalism area grade point average (3.9) with the math grade point average (3.2), it rounds out to about 3.55.

Compounding the issue were her college entrance SAT scores showing the same pattern, extremely high in the verbal comprehension area but only very good in math.

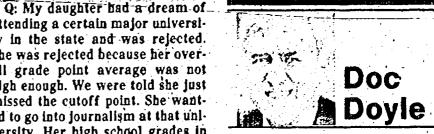

Your daughter never is going to be an engineer and doesn't want to be a math major, yet her 3.2 in math kept her from the college she wanted to attend. She wants to be a journalist, did well in journalism and related courses, has won writing awards but doesn't fit the mold.

It is easier to use the overall GPA and SAT results than to break these results down and review the results in relation to the student strength areas and goals in life. It also is politically safer to screen out students by using an overall GPA and SAT scores because of the huge number of applicants seeking admission. Pragmatically, this particular university needs to demonstrate high entrance standards for government and private foundation grant purposes. And "changing long-standing universities' procedures is harder than moving a graveyard," as Henry Bradgon said

Local legislators wary of Blanchard education plan

By Tim Richard staff writer

Suburban lawmakers are casting a wary eye at Gov. James Blanchard's "50-50 Education Partnership" plan until they learn how it will affect their districts.

Blanchard recently unveiled a plan to raise state aid to 50 percent of all school district budgets over a period of 10 years.

"I'm going to vote my district, not the whole state," said Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, summing up most lawmakers' feelings. Law's district includes the Plymouth-Canton and Northville districts, both of which are out-of-formula, meaning they receive no general state aid.

For two years, Blanchard has sought to strip out-of-formula disfricts of such categorical state aid as teacher pension payments, a move the districts stoutly resist.

A DEMOCRAT and a Republican hit Blanchard's proposal to mandate school attendance to age 18 or high school graduation, whichever comes

 School operating taxes would be limited to the rate of consumer price inflation, with the state reimbursing local districts the $40 million difference.

• The state would set up an "employability skills assessment" for every high school graduate and raise the mandatory attendance age to 18.

• State school aid would be raised to 50 percent of local budgets over 10 years.

• Voters would be asked to amend the constitution to earmark all lottery funds to go to public primary and secondary schools.

Some need the "safety valve" of being able to quit at 16 and the opportunity to return later when they're ready, said Faxon.

A few of the authors' favorite questions are:

guaranteed you couldn't fail?

staff writer

• If you could write your next fortune cookie message, what would it say?

• Name the one thing someone learns about you only after knowing you for a long time?

The key to a good question, or so says Murray, is "to have a positive focus. . . no downer answers."

"Second, it has to be universal so that everybody has a chance to answer," he said. "Third, everyone should answer it differently. And finally, the question shouldn't be too personal, embarrassing, or make a person uncomfortable."

ALONG WITH creating a foundation for conversation, "What A Question" has a number of other applications that readers may not have thought of.

"It may force a person to think about what another person is going through in his or her life at the time," Murray said. "Like before a parent scolds a teen, the book can be used as a tool in helping the parent understand the growing process that the teenager is going through.

"It can also be used as a party game by putting some of the questions down on paper and put them on a platter in the middle of the party," Murray said.

Murray has hints for reading the book. If you come across a question that you'd love to ask a specific person, jot their name down in the margin for future reference. Also memorizing certain questions can help break the ice on a date or liven up a dead conversation, he said.

How about this one for a new friend of the opposite sex: "Suppose you were a member of the opposite sex for one day and you happened to meet your current self. What would you like about your personality?"

IT MAY sound a lot like "Scruples," the board game that asks probing questions based on ethics and morals. Murray is quick to defend his book, saying that it's not a take-off on the game.

"'Scruples' is similar in that a small portion of the questions in the book deal with ethical situations, but I didn't set out to write the 'book of Scruples,'" said Murray, "Questions like 'childhood memory' aren't a part of the game (of 'Scruples')."

It took Murray several months to come up with the questions for the book. He'd think of them in the shower, driving, in the waking moments of the morning and the closing moments of the evening.

"I was in a total immersion of thinking of topics for discussion," he said. "My hope for the book is for it to spark conversation within the first 15-20 minutes of

"One can never completely know someone. This book will help with learning new things about your

Though the demographics of the book are vast, Murray believes that women may be more interested in "What A Question" than men,

"Women tend to be less satisfied in the conversation aspects of a relationship," said Murray. "They're eager to initiate conversation, and this book gives them permission to do so. "All-in-all, when somebody walks away from a good conversation, you feel that you know the other person better. You understand thoughts, feelings, and attitudes and that allows you to get along with the person

I have intended to write for months now but have always put it off for one reason or another.

Well, here I am and I would be interested to hear what you can tell about me from my handwriting sample. I am 41 and right-handed.

Ann Árbor

Dear L.M.,

I am glad you decided to write for an analysis of your handwriting. I hope you will find it helpful for better understanding yourself.

My first impression of your large handwriting is that you are a special young woman who is socially oriented and requires an active lifestyle. While I find this to be true, I also. find that your confidents are limited to a small number.

We all need to feel love and acceptance from others. Your own need for recognition at this particular time appears to be very strong. You also want very much to make a place for yourself in the sun. And you are ever trying to make that, first favorable impression. In so doing, you may come on a little strong.

PROBABLY, THE the most salient trait is an extreme need to protect certain aspects of your personality. To preserve this privacy, you will go to almost any length. An ascerbic retort seems ready for theperson who tries to invade your private life, Constantly being "on guard" has a way of creating tension for you.

Interest in history spurs look at women's role in it

By Julie Brown staff writer

Dianne Little didn't have much interest in history during high school and college. She just wasn't enthused about studying wars, laws and other traditional subjects.

"I couldn't relate to those types of things," said Little, a Livonia resi-ing and textiles, at Greenfield Vil- ment.

Several years ago, she began to present programs on women's history. In those presentations, Little wears historical clothing and talks about the lives of women of the past.

Much of the information available about everyday life came from journals kept by ordinary people.

"We learn a lot about women who women and our history."

During the Civil War, many women went to prison camps to care for their ailing husbands.

MOST WOMEN'S rights - being able to vote, to control earnings, to sign contracts — have only been won in the past 100 years, Little said. In earlier centuries, women who got married often lost many of their rights, including the right to own and inherit property.

"She's a real important person we need to know about."

Little is impressed with Blackwell's achievements and her persistence.

IN THE past, it was common for a midwife to attend a birth. The midwife was typically assisted by other women from the family, she said.

It was common for children to die "I always wonder how women handled that. We know these women had to be very strong.'

IN THE MIDDLE and late 19th century, a woman's role in the family was often exalted. Women were seen as the moral pillars of society and the home.

Some women of that era attended "lyceum" lectures, in churches. Women learned about writing and the fine arts at lectures.

"This was one way of learning about their world."

LITTLE WAS impressed with the quantity of information she found about women's role in history. She encourages others to read about women's history.

Little's husband is interested in photography. They've collected historical photos over the years. She brought some photos to the Plymouth AAUW program.

SHE ALSO brought a number of clothing items from bygone days, including dresses, corsets and other undergarments. Clothing styles of the 1850s were so restrictive that women weren't able to do much. The corsets they wore made breathing difficult.

"No wonder women fainted." She weighed an entire ensemble

KNOWING YOUR OPTIO IS THE FIRST STEP

Attend a free lecture on breast reconstruction and surgery presented by the specialists at Providence Hospital.

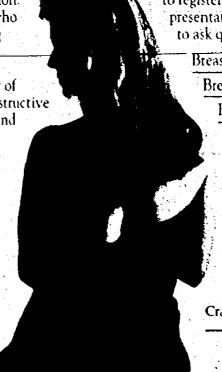

Making a change can be a difficult decision. But you're not alone. There are people who care, and people who can help. Knowing your options is the first step in deciding what's best for you.

lan T. Jackson, M.D., medical director of the Institute for Craniofacial and Reconstructive Surgery, will discuss new developments and surgical procedures in reconstructive breast surgery.

David B. Hawtof, M.D., will discuss the latest techniques in breast reduction surgery and the remarkable progress made in this area.

Hashim M. Alani, M.D., will address the area of breast augmentation and discuss the latest medical advancements.

If you are interested in atlending our free lecture, please call 424-3068 to register. Seats are limited. After the presentation, you will have the opportunity. to ask questions confidentially and privately.

Hefty's sells dogs to benefit children

One of the area's best-known coney island restaurants will stage its first hot dog sale Sunday, May 20, for the benefit of the Salvation Army's camping and youth pro-

Hefty's Hot Dog Stand, 26080 Grand River, Redford, is normally closed on Sundays but will be open 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday to sell 11 varities of hot dogs, including its coney islands, for $1 each — table service or carry out.

All sales will go to support the summer camp and youth programs for underpriviledged children who attend the Salavation Army's Brightmoor Corps Community Cen ter in Detroit.

The Salvation Army hopes to send at least 100 children from the Brightmoor area to summer camp this year. Last year more than 800 children from the Detroit area participated in the camping program.

Hefty owners Nick and Stella Marabeas, their family and other employees are donating their time.

The Marabeas family has been associated with the coney island business since the late 1920s, when Gus Marabeas operated a summer hot dog stand in downtown Detroit. Hefty's opened at its Redford location in 1966.

REFORMED CHURCH

He's reaching out to the unchurched

By Julie Brown staff writer

Eric Moore was raised in a Christian home and always sensed his calling to be involved in the ministry.

Moore, 31, is pastor of the Canton Community Church. which meets for Sunday worship services at Field Elementary School in Canton. He knows that not everyone in his age group attends worship services regularly and would like to get those "unchurched" people to come to

"We've looked at a lot of the demographics in the

He's looking for "baby boomers that are very busy people that want something that's very valuable, very beneficial to them. We want to be another option for them to look at."

Moore and his family came to Canton in May of 1989 from Chattanooga, Tenn., to establish a new church in Canton. He started to meet with people, and the church's first worship service was held Sept. 10.

WORSHIPERS AT the Canton Community Church. which is affiliated with the Evangelical Free Church of America, began by meeting for services at Moore's

"Then we outgrew that and have moved into the school." Worshipers have met at Field Elementary School since February. About 45 people attend a typical Sunday morning service.

Moore's been pleased with the welcome he's received from other Canton clergy. He hasn't found they resent the presence of a newcomer.

"I have gotten very positive responses. They've been very supportive, very helpful to me."

Moore's a 1977 graduate of Romulus High School. He attended Tennessee Temple University in Chattanooga, where he earned a bachelor's degree in communication

He earned a master of divinity degree from Temple Baptist Theological Seminary in Chattanooga. Moore and his wife, Kim, a homemaker, have two children, Lincoln, 41/2, and Brittany, 3.

They came to the Detroit area in part to be close to other family members who live in the area. "We wanted to raise our kids near family."

MOORE'S BEEN busy establishing a new church. He also works part time for American Speedy Printing in Canton and Romulus, and has met people from churches through that work.

"Everybody needs printing, including churches. So that's been a good experience." Moore also teaches speech at William Tyndale College in Farmington Hills and finds that rewarding.

He's had some exposure to the Evangelical Free Church of America, and has liked what he's seen. There

"We're the first one in Wayne County, in fact." He likes the fact that the church isn't divisive over issues not central to faith.

"People our age are not interested in sectarianism." Young adults avoid attending church for a number of reasons, he's found. Some think worship services are boring and not relevant to their lives.

Some may feel churches are interested only in collection plate isn't passed although there is a box by the door for donations.

Some young families just don't find the time to go to

"People are very busy, and Sunday's kind of their day to unwind and do their own thing."

HE'S FOUND some young parents realize their kids need some kind of spiritual values. That can bring young adults back to church. Often, people who've had a bad experience with a church decide to stop going to services.

"They'll give up on the church, but they won't give up on God," Moore said. "We want to understand what keeps them away and then address those issues to bring them back."

Worshipers at Canton Community Church would like their own building at some point, but that's down the road, he said. Churches can get into financial trouble if they try to grow too fast.

"We want to develop an identity that says we are Canton. People want to be part of a community.

Part of that effort includes small group meetings for Bible study. Meeting in smaller groups helps people develop friendships, Moore said.

Moore uses music during Sunday worship services, and would like to develop a team of musicians in the future. That's a good way to involve people in ministry, he said.

Church members also hope to reach out to others in the community. Last fall, they sponsored a children's Halloween carnival at Field Elementary School. Worshipers hope to help with other needs in the community.

Moore tries to make worship services both interesting and thought-provoking. "We are an M-TV generation and if you come in and bore people to death, you lose them." At the same time, he doesn't want services to fudge in the presentation of

"We try to be straightforward about what we communicate, not pull any punches. I want them to think throughout the week about what happened at that ser-

Challenge

Grief is more than just adjusting to loss dreams of those who grieve.

Finally, the words come to my lips: Death is our ultimate challenge. Grief is something more than an adjustment to loss. It is deeper than might all come back and speak of what a counselor most often addresses. Death cuts to the core of the very mystery of life, so it is a religious question.

The ultimate challenge of death is more than that which leads to a discussion of belief in life after death. When someone you have loved dies, their disappearance is simply unbelievable.

GRIEF LITERATURE tells us about the stage called shock, disbelief. The issue that strikes us at the death of another is something more than making an adjustment. It challenges reality. It pushes us beyond our understanding.

After working with persons who

I have lectured on ety makes death a trivial matter. the stages of grief. I have listened to Those in mourning like this are conthese people and their struggle with tinually given easy answers - "Get this loss. I have worked with the over your grief," or "Go see a counselor." Experts seek to give answers where there are no answers.

> We should better say, go home and live with the mystery. Then we the mystery of death. We all might tell our stories until the stories begin to resemble the great wisdom of a people.

> With the experience of death. there seem so many of us who are smart but not wise. We know the answers of the books we have read. Somehow they miss the deeper level:

In all these discussions of grief I see nothing that challenges us to grasp what this experience does to deepen life. When someone close to you has died, all the trivial things of life fade away. Our society seems entirely unable to help us grapple with this deepening.

Secondly, our society seems unable to deal with the spiritual struggle that can follow a death. People contemplate suicide after the death of someone close. Their view of God and of worship often changes. Fears. are aroused. All of these things are grounded in spiritual issues.

AFTER WORKING with a group of grieving people for an evening, I am convinced that psychology will not answer their needs. Unfortunately, much of what passes for religion will not address the deeper levels that have been touched. One husband was told "You should feel good, for your wife is in heaven."

Our society does not help us to symbolize mystery. Telling of dreams by grieving people helps to begin to point us toward this mys-

It is the "in" thing to work with persons who are having severe grief reactions. There are even grief classes for children. But the more I am aware of these things the more I feel that we are mainly dealing with the surface.

If you agree with me that death is our ultimate challenge, we might do well to push ourselves beyond support, understanding and caring. There may be no answers, but certainly there is the quest, and hopefully the love of those who seek it to-

Unexpected treat

OWE an apology to Jim Karas of Lansing. Jim is with the Michigan Travel Bureau, and he was leading a group of writers and photographers around the Upper Peninsula when we got to Van Riper State Park. It was the end of a long day and we were anxious to reach Michigamme Lake Lodge, once the summer home of a business mogul and now a wonderful log lodge a few miles west of Marquette.

If you have ever been on a group tour, you know how you feel about 4:45 in the afternoon. All you want is to have a cold drink and take your shoes off. But first, per our itinerary, we were slowing to turn into Van Riper State Park.

"Can't we skip this and go on to the lodge?" somebody said, but Jim turned left off the highway and parked. It is a perfectly nice little park, named after a doctor who had treated mining families for a dollar a month, including teeth. But we could see the lodge from there, with people stretched out on their lawn chairs with their

THE PARK HAS A great little sand beach, picnic tables, playground, campground and a store that sells 'moosetrack ice cream.' We saw all that in five minutes and would have gone back to the bus if it wasn't for the moose.

We've been hearing for years about the moose antics up north, and there, in a tiny building with a moose head behind glass, was a videotaped story about the great moose lift. Jim led us casually to it and walked away. When he wanted us back on the bus 20 minutes later, he couldn't move us from the spot.

There were thousands of moose in the UP when settlers arrived in the 19th century, but logging and mining soon wiped out their habitat, leaving new growth for the white tail deer. The deer carry a brain worm, harmless to deer, but fatal to moose, so that finished off the rest of the moose population in northern Michigan.

Moose were thriving in Algonquin Provinical Park in Ontario, so the State of Michigan and the Province of Ontario agreed to a moose lift. They chose Marquette County near Lake Michigamme in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan because it is one of the places with very few white tail deer and a great moose habitat.

THE VIDEO SHOWS a helicopter chasing a moose on to a frozen lake, shooting the moose with a tranquilizer gun from the helicopter, the crew leaping to the ground to hood a moose and cut off its antlers. That draws oohs of disapproval from the video watchers, but they say it doesn't hurt the moose, which will grow new antlers, and it protects the handlers.

A second crew flew in to hoist the hefty moose into a harness and fly it to a staging area, where they put the sedated animals into moose-sized stalls with sand for footing, snow for water and hay for food, and drove them on a flatbed truck through the night to Marquuette County.

Crowds waited hours on one of the coldest days of the year for the trucks to arrive and the moose to be set loose. One moose ran straight into the crowd and bounced off a car, but the rest headed straight for the woods.

There were 59 moose lifted in 1985 and another 30 in 1987; like Noah's Ark they came two by two. There are now about 160 moose in the woods, lots of moose babies, and one moose, called Gulliver, who wandered as far as White-

School will be out soon and many brave young travelers will be headed for Europe to scour the continent, exploring the hodgepodge of cultures while expanding their horizons. Europe can be easy on a budget as long as you're not

Whatever you do, don't leave home without your Let's Go, published by the Harvard Student Agencies Inc.

Let's Go is called "the Bible of the budget traveler," which is understandable since the book is as thick as the Bible and readers believe in every word printed.

The books have all the best suggestions on the cheapest places to go with details, directions and "don't misses" in each city. You can pick one up for $13.95 at most local bookstores. Ask for the most current issue because the publisher revises and updates it every year

BEFORE YOU GO, make sure you have your Internation. al Youth Hostel Pass. Hostels are by far the cheapest stays in Europe. Also make sure to buy a Eurail Youthpass before > you go. Europe has a great intracontinental rail system and you can usually hop on a train to any major city within moments after deciding on your next destination. With the Eurail Youthpass. you can travel to 16 European countries for one or two months with unlimited use in second class rail service. (See related travel tips for hostel and Eurail Youthpass information.)

I CAN'T stress how important it is to pack light.

You'll be weary of trudging up from train stations and bus stops with loads of unused items. Believe me, I know. There's no room for fashion as a trekker. Besides, most young travelers end up looking the same after a while, with a backpack strapped to their shoulders, torn Jeans and tennis shoes, accessorized in cheap jewelry bought from street vendors in Paris or London.

Just bring what you need. There are usually laundry facilities in most hostels.

If you pack a blow dryer, make sure to get international outlet adapters because the outlets in Europe are different sizes. You can buy them at most electrical supply and hard-

IN MOST cases you'll find yourself getting off the train in some major city with no idea where to go or what to do.

Your best bet is to find the tourist office usually centered within the main train station.

The front desk people are often cranky after answering tourist questions all day, but they have all the resources you'll need at their fingertips. It's in your best interest to be patient and listen attentively.

Change your money at the main train station or find the nearest American Express office. Most places welcome American currency, including hostels, but you'll never get the best deal there.

Hang on to your backpack. I have never seen a more severe look of panic as when my friend thought someone had snatched his pack at a Berlin train station. I thought he would kill our other friend when she showed up with the pack and a "just kidding" smile plastered on her face. Don't be careless; traveling is no fun when you're packless

European cities have great public transportation systems, and most offer good deals if you buy a two-day or five-day pass for use on the subways and buses. In London, for example, you should buy a Visitors Travel

Card for the amount of time you'll be spending in the city. It's cheaper than paying each time you get on; with the card you get unlimited use on the Tube (subway) and bus.

Trekkers set out to see world

By Noreen Flack staff writer

So, where do you start a youthful European tour?

My advice is to start in London; the flight over is cheap and there's no language barrier so it'll give you a chance to get used to the culture.

London is an inexpensive city considering everything it has to offer. Let's Go quotes Dr. Samuel Johnson as saying, "When a man is tired of London, he is tired of life; for there is in London all that life can afford."

I must agree with him. Some cities you'll tire of after a few days, but London is endless with streetside happenings.

Tour Ireland and Scotland for relaxation and pub cheer. The Irish and Scottish are the friendliest welcomers on earth. They also maintain the cheapest and cleanest bed and breakfasts in Europe and offer hearty noon time lunches at pubs.

MANY TRAVELLERS who are taking a break from college or have recently graduated start their travels around August in the Scandinavian countries, usually Norway or Sweden. They travel through the months working their way down the continent until they arrive in Greece for Christmas. That's a lot of territory to cover but many die-hard trekkers say it's the best way to see it all.

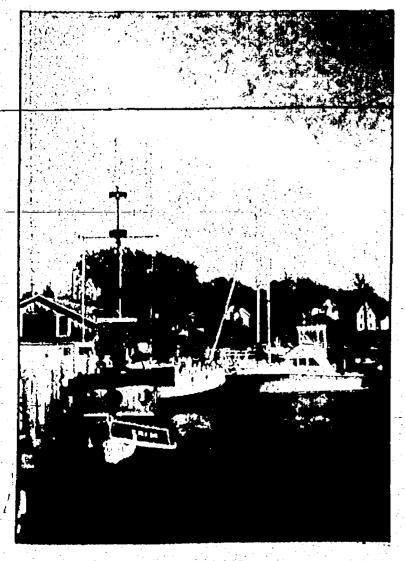

However you go, get yourself to Amersterdam. A friend of mine tells me Bob's Hostel near the Red Light District is a great place to stay. Psychedelic signs light up this wild city which comes complete with legal drug use and hashish window displays; not to mention the evocative sex shows that saturate the district.

There are actually more self-proclaimed philosophers than sex watchers or drug participants in Amsterdam. Most of the time you'll find yourself tired from late night hostel discussions and arguments over world issues. Fortunately, curfews in Amsterdam hostels are less stringent and often non-existent.

Pickpockets and petty thieves are said to lurk near the Red Light District, so be careful with your money. But don't fret, there is nothing violent about the town. Although the Dutch lifestyle of Amsterdam may seem a bit strange at first, even the thieves are harmless. Anywhere you roam in Europe is much safer than the streets of Detroit and even many of its suburbs!

South Haven's beaches beckon

Nine marinas offer transient docks for visiting boats and sailboat rentals to qualified visitors.

By Roberta Schwarfz special writer

The arrival of summer in South Haven brings thousands of visitors to this quaint town on the shore of Lake Michigan every year.

-South Haven is a place of festivals, vineyards and good restaurants, which offers a lot to those who make the drive from Detroit or Chicago to this sunny spot on the lake's white sands.

This resort town boasts a rich history of the Eastland and other sailing vessels.

The Eastland, a 269-foot twin screw steel ship, was built in Port Huron in 1903 and transported

The ship brought many tourists from Chicago to South Haven in those yearly days. But in 1915 the ship capsized in Chicago's harbor on an excursion outling and more than 800 people drowned.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF the Eastland and other historical ships grace the walls of the Golden Brown Bakery, a combination of excellent cafeteria and baked goods stores with the best salad bar in town-A regular hometown meeting place and the first stop on Saturday mornings, the bakery brews savory coffee and serves home cooking .---Every morning on the sun porch of the bakery, the Breakfast Club interviews local celebrities, such as Tiffany artist William Scudella, for WCSY

In the early 1900s, South Haven's harbor hosted huge passenger steamers and small launches that carried visitors up the Black River to Riverside, Cresent and Mooney parks and to dances in pavillions or picnics on the park grounds. Today South Haven is a quiet summer resort town of tasteful souvenir shops, fashlonable appar-

Overlooking the lake on 51 North Shore Drive, the stately Plantation House Restaurant features breakfast and lunch dishes such as omelets, walfles and sandwiches. It's busy on Sunday mornings but most people don't seem to mind waiting.

The Idler restaurant has been converted from a historic sailing versel. The view from the deck is worth the price of the meal alone.

Clementine's Saloon at 418 Phoenix St. features a marvelous woodenbar with superb carvings of wildlife. Waitresses serve cocktails, sandwiches, steaks and seafood in a casual atmosphere. A range of menu selections includes hamburgers, wet burritos and hefty appetizers. It's the place to go for crowd fun.

IT'S FUN TO cheer on the wind surfers and sailboat racers from the beaches or take in historical exhibits at the Lake Michigan Maritime Museum along the Black River. Visitors can study lake lore artifacts and board antique vessels docked beside the museum.

Chicago style hot dogs, complete with the Windy City ingredients of rehish, onions and chili, may be bought at beachside stands and will tantalize the taste buds of even the most jaded beachcombers. Cottages that have overlooked the lake for nearly a hundred years fascinate those who roam the beaches in search of shells, surf and a chat with swimmers and sunbathers.

HEAD OVER to West Berlin for some good German beer and numerous monumental sites. Many World War II remnants remain standing roofless from bomb damage and are used as museums.

Of course, you must visit the Berlin Wall, or what is left of it. Although soldiers still walk on top of the Wall to ward off folks with hammers, most tourists bring chisels to break a few bits off when they turn their backs.

Most West Berliners are the best dressers on earth and seem pretty taken up with style and fashion. But there is no shopping for you. Everything is extremely expensive especially near Central Station. Get your one day visa at Checkpoint Charlie and cross over to East Berlin for a taste of the Communist culture. Although East Berlin is a fairly depressing place, it's livelier than the many rural areas of East Germany. And East Berlin offers some of the cheapest drinking nights you'll ever spend (but you must be back before midnight.) You can really fill up on some great East German meals for less than $4.

DON'T MISS out on Paris. I feel I have. I haven't made my way there yet but most European travellers I have met said Paris is the most enchanting of all European cities.

Unfortunately, Italy is usually bombarded with tourists (mainly Americans) during the summer months which takes away from the beauty of its wonderous cities.

My brother Brian and sister Maria toured Italy during July a couple of years ago and said some tourist spots were so filled with Americans they felt like they were back home. Try to save Milan, Venice, Florence and Rome for low season months like October or November.

To be a good traveller you must be easy-going and spontaneous. You'll meet people along the way that could become great companions. Be flexible with your schedule if they are travelling a different route.

But most importantly, have a great time.

"We want the adventurous and people looking for fun," Janet Thompson, president of American Youth Hostels, said at the recent rib-

In comparison, hotel rooms in New York City range from $75 to $350 and average $135 a night, according to Thomas McConnell, a consultant to the hotel industry.

American Youth Hostels is the U.S. affiliate of the International Youth Hostel Federation, which coordinates 5,366 hostels in 69 countries and has 4 million members.

Travel tips

• Airfare to Europe:

Caledonia Travel Club in Windsor about as cheap as they come; $320 goundtrip to London most of the (line, but many flights leave from Toronto. If you purchase a $25 adanced student ticket with Via Rail in Windsor and take a train ride to Toronto, you're still saving a bundle.

Travel Charters in Troy book charter flights with American Trans Air and offer low fares for approximately $498 roundtrip to London and good deals to Paris. Call 528-3500.

Access International based in New York offers considerably low fares from Detroit to most major European countries and Africa. Call (800)

British Airways runs some great specials to London during the low season (Jan. 15-May 31, Oct. 1-Dec. 14), as well as Pan Am. British Airways stops in Montreal, but Pan Am Is usually direct.

• International Youth Hostel

Before you go make sure you have your hostel pass in hand. Hostels are by far the cheapest stays in Europe. You can purchase a pass for $25 (good for one year) at the Michigan Council of American Youth Hostels at 3024 Coolidge Highway, Berkley. Call 545-0511 for more information.

Students only: If you're a student, International Student Exchange will hook you up with all the necessities including cheap airfares, rail passes and youth hostel cards. Write to ISE Flights Inc., 5010 East Shea Boulevard, Suite A104, Scottsdale, Ariz. 85254.

dwarfism or PSD, an often reversi-disorder that can result in dramatic retardation of physical and developmental growth.

Children with PSD are most commonly diagnosed between ages 3-4. They have no hereditary disposition to small stature and otherwise are generally healthy physically.

WHILE ANNA is a fictitious, composite character, she represents many of the most classic symptoms Ann suffers from psychosocial of PSD, first identified by Dr. Gerald Powell in 1967. In addition to drable emotionally-induced pituitary, matte growth retardation, these children have a history of bizarre behavior that revolves around eating, such as gorging and vomiting, stealing and hoarding food,

Other common abnormal behaviors can include insomnia, night wanderings, chronic depression, poor peer relations, self-injury and general destructiveness. Many also are accident prone and have poor motor skills and delayed language develop-

A common denominator among psychosocial dwarfs is that they are victims of emotional deprivation, both subtle and overt, said Dr. Nancy Hopwood, professor of pediatrics and communicable diseases at the University of Michigan Medical Center, Ann Arbor.

Among preschoolers who are growing slowly and don't have a known medical illness, the incidence of emotional component growth failure is at least 50 percent, although not all children with stress-induced growth disorders are psychosocial dwarfs, Hopwood said.

"We see children all the time who experience periods of slow growth they don't have the classical symptoms of psychosocial dwarfism," she

The most striking feature of PSD is that physical and developmental growth resumes at an accelerated rate almost immediately upon removing the children from their family environment. The earlier the intervention the more dramatic the improvement.

"IN VERY, severely growth-retarded children with PSD, if you put them in a different environment, such as a hospital, they start gaining weight right away even though they're not eating any differently," Hopwood sald. "Some of these children can gain 3-4 pounds in as many days - just a phenomenal growth rate."

This accelerated "catch-up" growth is almost always accompanied by developmental and behavioral improvement. The changes occur without specific medical, hormonal or psychiatric treatment. In fact, the use of growth hormone that may be emotionally based, but therapy is futile with these children

"Nutrients aren't metabolized for growth, so there's a real resistance! to hormone therapy," Hopwood said.

The only known successful treatment of classical PSD is to promptlyremove the children from their homes and quarantine them from their parents and siblings. In most cases, foster placement under court order is the intervention of choice, Hopwood said.

Returning the children to their natural families is successful onlyabout 10 percent of the time, since only families willing to seek help and undergo marital and/or family counseling are capable of reintegration, she added.

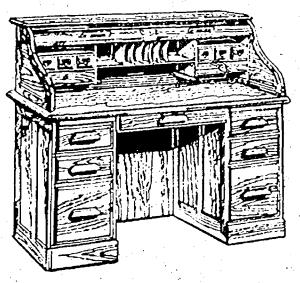

Children with PSD frequently come from two-parent families or newly blended, reconstituted households in which there is a lot of unresolved stress and anger. Poor communication, chronic maternal depression, physical and/or emotional spouse or child abuse and parental alcoholism and/or drug abuse are common stress factors in such households.

Retail salaries comparatively lower in state

Michigan is a nice place to live, but you might not want to work in retail here.

Wages and salaries for Michigan retail employees - from the top dog in the board room to the lowliest stock boy - are generally lower than in other parts of the country, according to retail specialist Joseph Spinali of Roth Young in Southfield.

According to the Roth Young 1990 wage and salary review for retail placement, Michigan retail merchandisers, personnel directors, and advertising/sales promotion staff wages tend to fall on the low end of the scale. Corporate headquarters, store and department employee wages are also below the national average.

"I would say we fall in the low-middle to the upper end of the low salary and wage scale," Spinali said.

Only two segments of the retail market according to the Roth Young study - finance/electronic data processing and human resource employees — approach the national average, he said.

SPINALI SAID he isn't sure why treasurers, controllers and computer systems managers are better paid than their other retail counterparts. Human resource managers fare better because of the abundance of unions and strict worker safety laws in Michigan,

Which isn't to say the area doesn't have benefits that outweigh pay, Spinali said. "But from a strict wage and salary view, this area (pays) lower than the national average."

Richard Valade, partner-in-charge of the Arthur Andersen & Co. retail practice, said lower wages and salaries are primarily driven by this area's lower cost of living.

"I would have to agree (salaries and wages) are lower than either coast, but whether it's lower than any areas in the middle I don't think can be said." Valade said.

To attract employees, retailers on the east and west coasts must pay workers enough so they can enjoy a certain standard of living,

Samuel Skeeghan, president of the Detroit-area office of Roth Young, said the lower wages are historically supported.

Prior to the purchase of Hudson's by the Dayton Hudson Corp., southeast Michigan had a significant retail corporate center. After the sale, the higher paid corporate employees — and those being groomed for those jobs — were moved to Minneapolis.

HUDSON'S STRONG presence prior to the move, prevented other retailers from entering the southeast Michigan market,

The only remaining local corporate headquarters, the K mart Corp., has traditionally paid lower wages and salaries, Skeeghan said, with the exception being merchandise buyers who are gener-

Skeeghan said employees in and near corporate centers such as New York, Chicago, Los Angeles tend to be higher paid than employees in other markets. In addition to historical reasons, southeast Michigan salaries are lower because of a large work force, Spinali said. "There is a very high turnover in retail help at all levels, but there's always someone willing to take the job.' Adding to the problem of the larger work force is that for the past decade retailers have been trimming staff to do more with fewer employees, Spinali said, Arthur Andersen's Valade, however, said the work pool is beginning to shrink. "That will undoubtedly drive wages up." WITHIN THE PAST several years, employers have increased entry level compensation above the minimum wage to attract em-

"As that goes up, it's bound to impact the jobs with higher responsibility," he said. Whether Michigan wages will rise to levels seen on the east and west coasts is uncertain, Valade added.

Roth Young's Skeeghan said several factors offset the area's lower wages. For example, the wage and salary surveys do not include bonuses, automobile usage or other forms of compensation. Southeast Michigan has a comparatively low cost of living and a geography that lends itself to mobility, he said. "People don't realize how easy it is to move around in this area. You can work in a city, and drive to the country within an hour."

"If a person is looking to get ahead in retail, this is not such a good area to be in, but if a person is looking for a nice place to live, it is," Skeeghan said.

Almost everyone would love to be the "master, of his own fate," and this month's subject, Alan Rose, is no exception. Rose, 35 and single, works for a large manufacturing company as a systems design engineer and lives-in Troy. His current income is about $49,000 per year. His major concern and focus is establishing his own business, perhaps as early as

Rose believes that by starting a business he can double his current income within the next two years. This, along with the freedom to control his own destiny, are the primary motivating factors in starting a business.

Rose's financial strengths will help in starting a new business. He has a solid nest egg to smooth out the financial rough spots he will likely encounter. He has few financial obligations, no debt beyond the house and car payments, and this allows the luxury of taking a risk with the new venture.

Time is also on his side because he is young enough to begin again with his wealth accumulation if the business fails. His biggest strength is his desire to plan ahead for his new business enterprise.

Rose does have a few financial weaknesses. He has no previous business operations experience, which could be a great detriment to a successful business venture. He lacks personal disability insurance currently and will be responsible for his own health insurance when he starts his own business. Currently, he has no will or estate plan to help determine where his assets will go should something unexpectedly befall him. Finally, he has no pension plan and few personal retirement assets.

If the business is successful, all of the financial weaknesses except the lack of business operation exFinancial Position

perience, can be quickly and easily remedied. Careful selection of ad--visers and some in-depth study can help overcome the lack of business

THIS MONTH is a good time to describe to Rose and all other budding entrepreneurs some of the legal questions and ramifications of starting a business.

One important question is: What type of business entity should I have: sole proprietorship, partnership or corporation?

The simplest form of business is the sole proprietorship. There is only one owner. The business assets and the personal assets of the owner are indistinguishable. That is, personal assets can be reached by business creditors, and personal creditors can reach business as-

The second type of business, the partnership, is an entity where two or more people agree to run a business together. The arrangement is also rather simple, requiring that only a certificate of copartnership be filed in the county in which the business will be based. Again, there is no separate liability from business and personal creditors. In addition, the creditors of the partnership can reach the personal assets of each of the partners. The profits or losses of the business flow through to the partners' personal returns in proportion of their ownership of the partnership. The third entity, the corporation, is somewhat more complex. To initiate a corporation, you are required to file articles of incorporation with the state of Michigan. You are also required to keep records separate from personal records. You must file proper documentation with the state-of Michigan and federal government in order to obtain identification numbers for tax purposes. If a corporation is properly filed and run, it is deemed to be a "legal person" separate from the shareholders (the owners of stock of the corpo-

GENERALLY, the liability of the corporation for debts and legal claims will be limited to its net worth and not that of the shareholders unless the shareholders have personally obligated themselves. This means that creditors of the corporation cannot reach personal assets of the shareholders. The corporation is taxed as a separate entity on its profits, and any losses suffered by the corporation can only be offset by future or, in some cases, past profits.

If the corporation becomes an electing small business corporation, sometimes referred to as an S corporation, this does not affect tion often enjoys, but it does affect the taxation of corporate profits. An S corporation does not pay a corporate tax. Instead, it is treated like a sole proprietorship or partnership, and any profits or losses flow through to the shareholders in proportion to their ownership.

If Rose is concerned that there may be significant liability possible in the type of services to be performed, we would suggest he incorporate to avail himself of the "limited liability" given by the corporation form. The limited liability is of no use in the event the creditors desire personal guarantees of the shareholders, in which case, the personal assets can be reached if business creditors are not paid.

Prior to starting a business, it would be a good idea if Rose interviewed and chose an accountant and an attorney, both of whom practice in the business area. The attorney can help him set up his business properly and avoid legal problems later. The accountant can be of great assistance in helping Rose determine the best type of business, can set up the books and records properly and provide useful information for the day-today running of a business.

ROSE IS PLANNING to hire an entry-level programmer to work for him. This programmer is a graduating college student with whom Rose has worked previously. He would work on a part-time

To simplify his business bookkeeping, it might be advisable to structure this programmer's job as an independent contractor, rather than an employee. If the person is an employee, Rose will be required to file much paperwork with respect to the employee and will be responsible for various taxes, including income tax withholding, worker's disability compensation insurance, Michigan unemployment taxes, and Social Security taxes.

By starting now, Rose will have a distinct advantage when he begins his business. Proper planning helps prevent poor performance.

Unemployment rate, business activity index rise slightly here

Michigan's seasonally adjusted April unemployment rate remained basically unchanged from its Marchlevel, inching up by a tenth of a point to 7.3 percent.

According to Jack C. Barthwell III, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), the national unemployment rate rose by two tenths of a point in April to 5.4 percent, up from 5.2 percent in March.

"In April there were seasonal job gains in the state's service and retail trade sectors," Barthwell said. These were offset, however, as the auto industry reported some job declines and the construction industry 'experienced smaller-than-normal hiring gains, resulting from poor weather conditions during the month 'and rising interest rates.'

According to labor force estimates prepared for Michigan by the federil Bureau of Labor Statistics, the humber of jobless workers rose by 4,000 in April to 331,000. In March, Jabor force was unemployed.

A year ago, April 1989, statewide. unemployment stood at 6.5 percent ployment in the state declined by 46,000 in April to 4,180,000. The size of the civilian labor force also fell, dropping by 42,000 to 4,511,000.

Among the nation's 11 largest states, Michigan had the highest April jobless rate, followed by Texas at 8.4 percent. Illinois and Ohio had the third- and fourth-highest rates at 6.1 and 5.9 percent, respectively. North Carolina had the lowest rate at 3.8 percent.

For the three months ending in April, Michigan's unemployment rate averaged 7.4 percent, down from 7.7 percent during the November through January quarter. Last $27,000 or 7.2 percent of the state year, Michigan's jobless rate averaged 6.5 percent for the February through April period. Michigan's unadjusted April Jobless rate declined with 293,000 out of work. Total em-, by more than half a point, dropping to 7.0 percent from 7.6 percent in March. The number of unemployed declined by 29,000 to 311,000.

BUT THE MICHIGAN Business Activity Index (MBAI) rose three points in March to close at a level of 130 compared to 127 in February. Nearly all components of the index shared in this growth, with the exception of auto sales. Auto sales slumped as a reflection of less promotional activity offered in March compared with the prior months.

The Michigan economy, after removing inflation, was running 7.7 percent below the first quarter of 1989. While this is a serious shortfall, there seems to be stability in the 125 to 130 range on the index and the direction since year-end has been modestly upward.

The MBAI represents 10 different measures of Michigan economic activity compiled monthly by the Economics Department of Manufacturers Bank.

The MBAI is seasonally adjusted, corrected for inflation, and expressed on an index basis with base year 1982 equal to 100.

The MBAI series has been calculated monthly since 1957 and depicts state economic activity over six full swings of the U.S. business cycle.

Hanson PLC is different but profitable

Q. I find all my friends that are interested in investing are talking about Hanson PLC. I have read the Value Line Survey report on the company, but I would appreciate it if you would make some comments on the company.

Jennifer R. Stansberry of Livonia

A. Hanson is a British company that does about 40 percent of its business in the United States. Last year it had total sales of $11.3 billion. In Great Britain sales were $5.9 billion, and profits were $790 million. U.S. sales were $5.3 billion, and profits were $625 million.

It is a company of a great many pieces and of many varieties of business. Management seems to have great skill in buying businesses, greatly improving their profitability and selling them at a good profit. If it were strictly an operating business, its margins would suggest it were one of the most efficient and profitable businesses in the world. But, since a great deal of its profits have come from selling businesses, those margins do not carry the normal meaning.

Nevertheless, the figures need to be looked at. Since 1980, sales have grown from $1.6 billion to $11.3 billion. That is a compound annual increase of 23.9 percent.

In the same period, pre-tax income is up from $92 million to $2.2 billion, a 42-percent compound annu-

Earnings per share have increased at 24.6 percent and dividends at 25.4 percent.

Based on a recent price of $19% and 1989 earnings per share of $1.67, the price-earnings ratio is 12. That's a very reasonable price for the kind of growth this management has been

I suspect most investors would be more comfortable if most of the profits came from operations, but it's hard to fault the results. In the first quarter of 1990, earnings per American Depository Receipt advanced 11 percent, from 28 to 31 cents.

In Great Britain, Hanson's holdings include Imperial Tobacco and British Ever Ready.

In the Untied States, better-known brands include Kaiser Cement, Endicott Johnson and Frye Footwear, Jacuzzi Whirlpool Bath and Faberware Cookware.

Hanson's growth is not a recent development. The company has 26 consecutive years of increased earnings measured in British currency and accounting. Its shares have appreciated at 29 percent compounded annually since they were placed on the market in 1964.

The company has an excellent record and seems reasonably priced in relation to current earnings. The recent price of 1934 and the indicated dividend of 90 cents represents a vield of 4.6 percent.

Automotive writing facing inglorious end

At least one local automotive journalist threatened to punch Wall Street Journal reporter Joseph B. White in the nose while he was researching a recently published investigative piece that chronicled how some auto enthusiast magazine writers review cars while taking fees and payments from auto companies for outside work.

Meanwhile, another WSJ reporter working on the plece claimed she had access to federal income tax records and would use them to further the investigation.

Unfortunately, such unseemly behavior is typical of journalists when they turn their considerable power against their own: Regardless, the Journal did raise an issue about whether the influence of car magazines is, literally, up for sale, and the response from most of the magazines was a little weak.

PERHAPS THE most candid response came from Pat Bedard, who writes for Car and Driver and Esquire magazines, when he said most auto writers don't consider themselves reporters, but "enthusi-

Bedard himself belongs to an older generation of writers who immersed themselves in racing, rallying, inechanics and engineering, and often managed to convey a good deal of the sweat and visceral emotion many of us felt for cars. Cars often attracted the likes of Tom Wolfe, who wrote about stock cars, motorcycles and Detroit designers, while a handful of specialists including Ken Purdy, Henry Manney and Tony Hogg used a flair for the language to bring humor and warmth to a subject they clearly loved uncritically

But somehow the cadre of specialized magazines shifted from breeding and supporting a group of writers that managed to write about cars and the culture surrounding them with considerable grace to something else

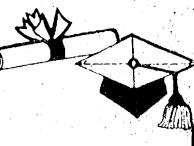

The notion that auto enthusiast magazines were opinion makers, and the opinions formed led to car sales, changed them from magazines you liked to carry around in your back pocket to some kind of cheezy consumer-advice manuals. And in the process, the focus of the writers became almost exclusively what was a good car to buy

FROM THIS it seemed a small step to outright influence peddling, from the Machiavellian schemes of magazine promotions such as Motor Trend's Car of the Year and Car and Driver's Ten Best awards, to increasing largess from the world's auto companies aimed at the major enthusiast magazines.

In the past few years, there have been growing rumblings about a cadre of automotive writers getting significant fees for doing consulting work for the automakers, free-lance public relations fees and advertising consulting fees.

The dollars involved dwarf magazine writers salaries, as well as the pay of most working newspaper types. It's a bit much to think that it doesn't influence what appears in a magazine story, or that an individual's judgment is left unsullied.

It also should be self-evident to anybody in this business that money in the pocket is not the same as "inside" access, or the often plush treatment afforded journalists at press conferences and introductions of new products. Even the pope got free cars when he visited Detroit....

A WINDOW OF OPPORTUNITY

A public service announcement of this newspaper and Wayne State University.

You can get free publicity

By Mary DiPaolo special writer

Imagine this scenario: You're the newly appointed CEO for a Fortune 500 company. You're sitting at your desk when suddenly the telephone rings. You answer and find yourself talking to Rob Lowe's agent.

Before you have an opportunity to say anything, the agent offers what claims to be your company's "chance of a lifetime." He says Lowe wants to serve as celebrity spokesman for the product your company will introduce nationally next summer. To top it all off, Lowe's services are being made available free of charge.

How do you respond?

IF YOUR reaction is to say
"Thanks, but no thanks," you know a lot more about the power of publicity and public relations than you may have thought. That's because the actor probably ranks lowest on the list of celebrity spokesmen at the moment.

Hakuhodo Inc. has announced it is suing Lowe because it says it was forced to yank a Suzuki ad campaign featuring the 26-year-old actor. The campaign was halted in May of last year after release of the home video involving Lowe and two young women.

Hakuhodo claims that Lowe knew when he renewed his contract with the company in March of the same year that the tape could embarrass him and Suzuki. Hakuhodo is seeking to recover the $650,000 it paid to Lowe and his company — along with additional monetary damages.

BY "SAYING no to Lowe," you've already proven that you understand the power of publicity and public relations.

But as small business owners and managers, do you also know that this same power is available to you and your company on a regular basis?

Every day tens of millions of dollars' worth of media exposure is given away in this country. Although this statement may have the unsettling ring of a matchbook cover land deal, the ability to generate positive publicity—and—public relations for yourself and your organization is

And you won't need thousands of dollars, an expensive publicist or many media "connections" to get the publicity you're looking for.

Publicity and public relations are two of the most underused forms of promotion that small businesses may pursue on a routine basis.

Over the next two weeks, we will discuss how publicity and public relations works to enhance (and possibly replace) current and future promotional programs.

Mary DiPaolo is the owner of MarkeTrends, a Farmington Hills-based business consulting firm. She is also producer and host of the cable television series, "Chamber Perspectives."

Business index off

In April, the Detroit Area Business Activity Index fell to 137, a onepoint decline from March.

Weakness was especially pronounced in auto and truck production and in steel output during April. Some of this weakness was offset by improvements in auto sales and the volume of financial transactions, adjusted for inflation.

For the time being, the local economy appears to be plateaued with Michigan's motor vehicle production running 20 to 30 percent below comparable periods of 1989. Prospects for an early revival in basic vehicle butput levels, absent inventory building in anticipation of a third-quarter strike, seem remote.

Pets of the week

Tinker, a 7-year-old long-hair cat, and Bear, a 3-year-old mastif/shepherd mix, need homes. Tinker (Control No. 299595) is charcoal-colored with big green eyes and has a sweet temperament. She has been spayed and declawed. Bear (Control No. 276300) is described as well behaved, especially for a large dog. To adopt these pets or other, or to check for lost pets, call the Westland Kindness Center of the Michigan Humane Society, 721-7300. The center is at 37255 Marquette, Westland.

Madonna College to host piano teachers' seminar

Greater Detroit will hold its monthly teachers workshops on the Madonna College campus beginning Sept. 15.

The workshops are designed primarily for elementary school music teachers from the metro Detroit area.

"The Orff-Schulwerk method of teaching music is intended to complement our music/education program," said Ernest Nolan, dean, graduate studies and humanities. "Our students expressed an interest in Orff's unique approach and Madonna College agree that it would assist them in achieving both the students' and college's goal of improving music education for children," he said.

The program directs children's instincts into learning music by hear-

The Orff-Schulwerk Association of ing and making music first, then reading and writing later. It integrates movement, speech, song and instrumental playing to teach the elements of music. In a non-competitive atmosphere, each child is encouraged to contribute according to ability. Created by composers Carl Orff and Gunild Keetman in Europe, Orff-Schulwerk is in use worldwide and its basic text have been translated into 14 languages. There are more than 3,000 Orff-Schulwerk teachers in the United States. The seven workshops are available for one college credit hour. In the future, Madonna will offer the three levels of courses necessary for certification.

holding contempt Spring session

OBODY ASKED ME, but I've got more than a few opinions to share anyway. I'm just full of such stuff. At least that's what people are always telling me - that I'm full of it. So here are a few changes I'd like to suggest:

• The weather. I don't like it. I've lived in Michigan all my life, and I still don't like it. Except during the summer.

When the sun's out. And I'm not working.

• College baseball. It's ridiculous.

The Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference deserves a commendation for combining the silliest elements of both the big-time (NCAA Division I) and small-time (NAIA) leagues in the state.

The GLIAC baseball season ended in the first week of May. Just when the weather was starting to become baseball-like.

The NAIA season ended at about the same time. At least the NCAA I conferences - the Big Ten and Mid-American — continue past the half-way point of the

But both the Big Ten and the MAC compound a bad situation (our climate) by making it worse. Each has a no-makeup rule for weathered-out games within the league. Imagine that; a Central Michigan can reschedule a rained-out double-header with Adrian, but years. not with Western Michigan, its closest pursuer in the

The GLIAC hierarchy, in all its wisdom, has chosen to imitate this, too. So it has a league season with the vast majority of its games scheduled for April, when the weather is questionable at best. And a no-makeup

This frenzy has infected colleges and high schools as well. The main argument against adding a week or so to the college baseball season is that it would interfere with the start of the NCAA tournament.

And now the high schools. In one sweeping move, the football playoffs went from 64 teams to 128. Just like Coaches love the plan to divide each of the four classes in half. Not too surprising. After all, it doubles their team's chances to qualify.

Martin ponders future at EMU

By C.J. Risak staff writer

A lot of things have gone right for Doug Martin this season.

But the most important has not. His Eastern Michigan University baseball team has failed, according to Martin, to fulfill its potential. And that has frustrated him.

It's easily detectable. And it doesn't reflect Martin's own success, which even with two sub-par pitching performances last week, was significant.

"We've had some problems," was about as deep as the junior from Redford Catholic Central wanted to delve. "I really don't want to talk about it, but a lot of people don't have confidence."

Much of that problem, Martin contended, stems from a coaching staff that lacks confidence in the players. "Eastern's program is such that not many seniors are on the team," said Martin. "They usually get frustrated and leave (for a shot with the pros), or just quit."

MARTIN WILL face that situation this summer. He is finishing his junior year and will be eligible for the pro baseball draft. He won't commit to one path or the other. Not now.

"I'm supposed to play summer ball in California," he said. "I'm not sure if I will. Everything depends on the draft."

Frustration, in spite of effort, can breed such uncertainty. Martin has pitched well for the Hurons. He has a 6-5 record and a 3.33 earned run average, with 32 strikeouts and 29 walks in 73 innings. He also has one

He is 4-2 in Mid-American Conference games, and was 10th in ERA and tied for fourth in wins in league rankings released last week.

'We've had the talent the last three years and haven't been able to win.'

> --- Doug Martin EMU vitcher

Certainly, Martin would like to surpass his freshman season at EMU, when he was 9-2 with a 3.74 ERA. He surely will post better numbers than last year's 6-5, 6.90 ERA.

BUT MORE importantly, he'd rather see the Hurons win. "We've had the talent the last three years and haven't been able to win," he said. "We have to win the rest of our games."

Such a feeling makes his personal goal for the remainder of the season predictable.

"I want to finish strong. I want to win the rest of my starts in the MAC. so maybe, somehow, we can pull out be corrected quickly, and improvethe championship."

"I TOYED with it last year," said Martin of the knuckler. "But I never had confidence in it until this year. Now it's one of my best pitches. It's a good 'out' pitch.'

Still, problems exist.

"There's always room for improvement," said Martin. "I have a lot more to do to reach my potential. I've had mechanical problems with my pitching. I need someone to show me what I'm doing wrong. I did get a lot of help last summer from the Michigan pitching coach (Ace Adams) in the Cape Cod League."

Canton celebrates 3rd straight crown

By Brad Emons staff writer

Plymouth Canton's boys tennis team did something that the Los Angeles Lakers couldn't do in the NBA and that's 'Three-peat.'

The Chiefs won a tightly contested tournament at Livonia Stevenson, winning the overall championship for a third consecutive year with a team-high 15 points. And they did it despite coming up empty in all seven flights.

"It was a real nice team effort," said Canton coach Jim Hayes of his 10-man squad (four singles players and three doubles teams). "We were fortunate we got some good draws. They're always tight and there were a lot of close matches."

Canton, which finished second to neighbor Plymouth Salem in the dual-meet standings, won the overall title after the Rocks finished tied with Farmington for fourth on Tuesday. (The final standings are based both on league meet performance and dual-meet record.)

Only four points separated the top six teams.

Host Stevenson and city rival Livonia Churchill tied for second at the WLAA meet with 13 points apiece, while Salem and Farmington each had 12. Livonia Franklin was sixth with 11. (See tournament results.)

CANTON REACHED four finals with most of the seeds holding form. The Chiefs' Scott Jones, the second seed, fell to top seed Todd Herremans of Farmington Harrison in the championship match at No. 3 singles, 6-4, 6-2.

-At No. 1 doubles, Stevenson's topseeded duo of Scott Ceru and Joel Emrich ran their record to 12-0 with a 6-3, 6-2 triumph over Kris Kilpelainen and Bryan Williams, the third seeds, from Canton.

Stevenson also took the No. 2 doubles crown as top seeds Jeff Block and Shane Millner also remained unbeaten on the season, defeating second seeds Brady Owens and Shawn Hart of Canton, 7-5, 6-3.

Salem's Mike Mulder and Joe Binder captured the No. 3 doubles title with a 3-6, 6-2, 6-3 victory in a battle of top seeds.

But Canton got a big boost from a pair of non-finalists.

Rod Jesena, the Chiefs' No. 2 player, picked up pair of wins, scoring two points before losing to Farmington's Ed MacDonald in the semifinals.

MacDonald wound up retiring after two games because of the legcramps in the final against Churchill's Matt Daniel.

CANTON ALSO earned another point at No. 4 singles when Paul Croll won his first-round match in a third-set-tiebreaker.

Croll was eliminated in the second. round by eventual winner Eric Curnow, a junior from Franklin. Curnow, the top seed, took No. 4 flight with a 6-3, 7-5 triumph over Churchill's Nadir Khan, the second seed.

"We've always had somebody come through and pick up a fourth point for us in a lot of our dual meets," said Hayes, "As it turns out. those two guys (Jesena and Croll) came up with some big points. All our doubles teams played well, Jones did a nice job in singles, and don't forget Brian Schmidt (No. 1 singles). They're all champions."

A much-anticipated matchup for the No. 1 singles crown between North Farmington freshman Seth Hoffman and Northville freshman Mark Schwagle - both nationally ranked age-group players in the U.S. Tennis Association — never materi-

Schwagle won the title by defeating Churchill's Puneet Ailowadi in a duel of top seeds, 6-1, 6-1.

Meanwhile, Hoffman and his North teammates sat at home.

THE RAIDERS, who finished 8-2 during the dual-meet campaign, were suspended by their own coach, Rick Jones, for disciplinary reasons.

"It was a difficult decision for me to make and it's something I don't want to go through again," said the first-year coach. "It's strictly a disciplinary action and it's not fair for the kids to hear about it. It's a thing between me and them.

"We have good kids, but some realized they messed up. It's something I think that had to be done. High school tennis is a team thing and hopefully they'll all learn from

Jones said he got total support from parents and North administra-

"It was totally my decision," he said. "The principal (Don Cowan), our building athletic manager (Ken Dean) and Mr. (Ron) Holland (the Farmington Public Schools AD) all are in agreement with my decision. These kids paid a heavy price for their action and they're taking their medicine, but parental support is strong and I've had no complaints."

Jones said the suspensions "goes beyond" the team's conduct on the court.

"There was a problem, Coach Jones addressed it and we support him totally," said Holland. "I haven't received any calls regarding his ac-

WITH THE ABSENCE of North, one can only speculate what might have happened on Tuesday before the rains nearly suspended the meet an extra day.

"You put seven more in the draw and things are going to be different," said Hayes. "Without North being there I'm sure it had an effect. But he (Jones) made the decision and I'm sure it's a sound one. He's a class guy and I'm sure it was a tough decision, but give him time and he'll develop it (North) into a good program."

North will return to action Friday at the Class A regional at Southfield-Lathrup, while Canton will try to earn berth in the state tournament by finishing among the top two teams this weekend in the regional tourney in Ann Arbor regional.

Lakers sign Hoffman

By Ray Setlock staff writer

Matt Hoffman, the focal point of the North Farmington basketball program for the past three seasons, has decided to continue his career at Lake Superior State University in to think beyond college. Sault Ste. Marie.

server team the last two years, averaged 2014 points, 81/2 assists and 41/2 steals last season for the Raiders. He' joins Randy White of Redford Bishop Borgess, another all-area player, on Lake Superior's list of recruits,

"I am extremely pleased with my decision," Hoffman said. "It was tough, but I feel Lake Superior will offer me a good oportunity."

The Lakers, a member of the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, will have eight freshmen into their program next season, giving Hoffman with a chance to showcase his talents.

"The coach seems to like me," Hoffman said. "I need to get stronger and quicker over the summer, but I'm confident I'll do that."

HOFFMAN CONSIDERED many Division I and II schools before finally reaching his decision.

"I looked at many different options," Hoffman said. "Lake Superior State seemed to be interested in my future and I liked that. My family and girlfriend were there to help me make my decision. That really took some pressure off me.".

Hoffman's father, Doug, says Lake Superior coach Mark Paluszak was honest from the very beginning.

"Paluszak was one of the first guys to recruit Matt," he said. "He seemed interested in Matt's future. That was an important element in the decision."

Although his son had discussions with a number of Division I schools.

Doug Hoffman is glad Matt-chose to play Division II.

"THERE IS A difference between Division I and II," he said. "When you play Division I college basketball, the game is your life. You begin

"In Division II, Matt will be able Hoffman, a member of the All-Ob- to keep things in perspective, get a quality education and have fun playing the game of basketball."

Hoffman thinks he has the skills to play Division I basketball, but he said that's not where he wants to be right now.

"I feel that I'm good enough to play in the (Mid-American Conference)," Hoffman said. "But I am going to be more comfortable at Lake Superior State. It's really a beautiful place."

North Farmington coach Tom Negoshian credits Hoffman's decision to attend Lake Superior State.

"I THINK Matt made the decision that was best for him and his family and that's all you can do," Negoshian said. "He'll do OK at Lake Superior."

Negoshian said Hoffman will have to adjust to certain things on the college level.

"In college, you're playing against a top-notch kid every night," he said. "There are very few weak links in the chain when you get to college. That is not always the case in high school. Sometimes you may play against a guy who dosen't belong on the floor in high school, but in college they all belong there."

If there's one thing Doug Hoffman likes most about Matt playing at Lake Superior State, it's that all the schools in the GLIAC are relatively close in proximity.

"I'll be able to watch many of his road games," the elder Hoffman sald. "I wouldn't be able to do that if he went to Eastern Michigan or another MAC school."

Glenn's Stover fires 2-hit.shutout

Westland John Glenn's 3-0 baseball victory Monday over host Walled Lake Central keeps the Rockets' hopes alive in the Lakes Division race in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activtles Association.

John Glenn (12-2, 7-2) is a game behind firstplace Farmington and will play today against Plymouth Salem in the division finale. A Glenn win and a North Farmington victory over Farmington will give the Rockets a piece of the crown. Veteran hurler Eric Stover paced the Rockets, posting five strikeouts and one walk in seven innings, He yielded just two hits and improves his record to 4-0. Glenn managed all of its runs in the third inning, as Gary Pierce doubled and later scored the game-winner on a single by Jerry Shippe.

The Rockets collected five hits. On Saturday, Glenn swept a double-header from host Garden City, winning the first game, 15-1, and the nightcap, 17-2. In the opener, the Rockets collected 11 hits. Mike White had three hits and three RBI to lead the attack. Winning pitcher John Ward tossed four innings for the Rockets, striking out four and walking

In the second game, Joe Decker earned the victory for John Glenn, going the first four innings before giving way to Stover and Brian Ste-Shippe's three hits and three RBI led the victors. White added two hits and four RBI.

Garden City's record is 6:10 overall and 2.5 in the league. RU is 8-7, 3-3. NORTHVILLE 3, FRANKLIN 0: Livonia

Franklin couldn't find enough offensive punch Monday to defeat visiting Northville. The Patriots (5-7, 4-5) managed just two hits in the losing effort. George Smoover was the wining pitcher for Northville. He threw a complete game, striking out two. Despite a solid effort, Tad Dennis was tagged with the loss for Franklin. He scattered seven hits and walked just one in going the distance.

CHURCHILL 3, FARMINGTON 2: Livonia Churchill (3-10) scored two runs in the first inning Tuesday to upset state-ranked Farmington (13-2) in a WLAA (crossover) match-up.

Junior left-hander Mike Thomas hurled seven strong innings to earn the win for host Churchill. He had eight strikeouts and did not walk a batter.

Jason Gabel paced the Churchill offense with two hits and an RBI. Eric Miller suffered the loss for Farmington, allowing six hits and two walks in seven innings. On Monday, Churchill pitcher Dan Ackerman allowed 11 hits en route to an 8-4 defeat against WLAA-Western Division co-leader Walled Lake Western. Junior Bill Morris had two hits in the losing effort.

CLARENCEVILLE 5. HARPER WOODS 1: Chris Foss performed well on the mound and with the bat Tuesday to lead Livonia Clarenceville past Metro Conference leader Harper Woods.

The Trojans improve their record to 8-6 overall and 8-3 in the Metro Conference, one game out of first. Foss recorded seven strikeouts, while hurling seven innings. He scattered two hits and walked two. Offensively, Foss contributed two hits and two RBI.

Chargers meet Falcons in final

Livonia Churchill (9-1-2) warmed up for its Western Lakes Activities Association championship showdown today with top-ranked Farmington by downing a pair of oppenents last week.

On Friday in WLAA-Western Division action, Churchill nipped host Northville 1-0 on a goal by Lori Place with approximately five minutes to play in the game.

Place scored on a header off a cross by Nikki Johnson.

Churchill goalie Dana Keller left in the first half after getting kicked in the head and was replaced by Monia Cervi, who finished up to preserve the shutout.

On Wednesday, Churchill, pounded visiting Walled Lake Central, 7-0.

The Chargers led 4-0 at halftime.

Scoring stars were plentiful for the Chargers: Kris Brazin (goal); Fran Priebe (goal and two assists); Stephanie Speen (goal); Lori Place (goal); Mechelle Brazin (goal); Melina Garnett (goal) and Kristy Thurston (goal).

Keeper Cervi only had to make two saves.

Thursday's game against the Falcons will start at 5:30 at Farmington.

Churchill is the only team in the state this year to beat Farmington, which was the top-rated team in the state this week in the Michigan High School Coaches Association soccer poll.

Farmington played the first game without allstater Carrie Maier, who was playing on a team in Europe at the time, and Chargers' coach Nick O'Shea knows it will be even tougher to defeat the Falcons a second time.

"They have added another quality player (Maier) to a list of quality players," said O'Shea. O'Shea, however, does not plan to do anything different this time around.

"We'll go out pretty much the same way," he said. "We'll keep it lose at practice, have some. fun, and come out and play the game."

STEVENSON 9, CENTRAL 0: Shannon Wilkinson scored three goals Monday to help propel Livonia Stevenson (7-4-1) past visiting Walled Lake Central ' in WLAA Lakes Division action.

The Spartans led 4-0 at balftime. * Lori Godlewski added a goal and three assists, and

Jean Barnes, Michele Brach, Amy Emerson, Ragen

Covne and Jenny Melia each scored a goal. Karen Groulx and Alicia Smith combined for the shutout in net. Stevenson finished in third place in the Lakes Division and will host Northville at 7 tonight.

FRANKLIN 8, HARRISON 0: Patty Shea (three goals) and Kerl Zabell (two goals) combined to lead Livonia Franklin (5-6) past visiting Farmington Harrison Monday, in a WLAA Western Division affair. Jenny Whitfield, Sue Barone and Stacy Lorentz also tallied for the Patriots.

LADYWOOD 1, BISHOP FOLEY 1: Freshman goalle Liz Gunn stopped 21 shots Tuesday as Livonia Ladywood (4.5.4, 1.4.3) earned a tie in a Catholic League game at Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

Ladywood was outshot 22 to 10. Amie Morelli tallied for the Blazers, while Karen

Williams scored for Foley. On Saturday, Ladywood lost to visiting Farmington Mercy, 4-2, in Catholic League action.

The game was tied 2-2 at the half, before Mercy rallied to win it in the second period.

Cassie Ozog scored one of the Ladywood goals.

Mercy outshot the Blazers 20-7.

Marauders ousted in Cup

It hardly makes sense. The Redford Marauders passed their two biggest tests, then — with a berth in the national Amateur Cup regional soccer finals at stake - they failed miserably in a game they should have won.

"We played terrible," said Marauder coach Nick O'Shea after his team came up flat and lost to the Fort Wayne (Ind.) Sport Club on overtime penalty kicks Sunday at Livonia's Jaycee Park (the match was scheduled for Bicentennial Park, but heavy rains made the field unplayable).

"We just had a bad game," O'Shea added. "The two teams we played previously (in the Cup tournament) were both much better. We were uninspired. I don't know why. Maybe it was a bit of a letdown looking at the caliber of our competition. We have a tendancy to play to the level of our competition.'

It may not have helped the Marauders to score first. Thirty minutes into the first half, on a restart, Rob Ludwig lined a hard shot that the Fort Wayne keeper barely deflected off the crossbar. Chris Speen was there for the tap in, giving the Marauders the lead.

Fort Wayne tied it with 25 minutes left in regulation, poking in a shot that rebounded off Marauder defender Scott Steiner.

TWO 10-MINUTE overtimes failed to produce a goal, forcing penalty kicks to resolve the issue. Each team took five (with five different players shooting); Fort Wayne converted all five of its chances, getting a break when Marauder keeper Brian O'Shea was called for moving early to make a save on its second try. Fort Wayne got another shot and scored.

The Marauders made their first two shots, but Speen shot high on the third. However, this time the Fort Wayne keeper was detected moving early. Speen shot again, but the keeper made a diving save - and that was the difference.

Sorktowne

Fort Wayne will advance to the regional finals in St. Louis.

"We just weren't playing smart," said Nick O'Shea. The Marauders failed to take advantage of their forwards' superior quickness and ability by continually playing long balls, which the taller Fort Wayne defenders could play easily, instead of getting the ball on the ground to the Marauder forwards.

Also hurting the Marauders was the absence of defender Wally Barrett, who received a red card in the previous Cup match and was forced to sit out.

"We may have missed Wally's motivational factor more than anything," said Nick O'Shea. "He's intense. He gives everything he has to win. He's inspirational."

The Marauders could have used the on-field leadership. Because, as Nick O'Shea summed up, "Plain and simple, we just didn't play well."

Farmington boots Chiefs, 1-0 By Dan O'Meara

staff writer

Proponents of sport say it is an education.

That's what 15-year-old Michael Giese of Farmington got when he toured Asia for 17 days last month with the East-West Soccer Club of Cleveland, Ohio.

Giese, a freshman at Farmington High School, was the lone Michigan player chosen to participate in the international competition against teams from Taiwan and China.

"I think it was a great experience because all-the players learned a lot," Glese said. "Not so much in the way of formal education, but how lucky we are to be Americans, because those countries are so less and less."—

The American team stayed one night in Japan before flying to Taiwan where it spent the next eight days, adjusting to the time difference and playing four games against Taiwanese opposition.

GIESE, ONE of the youngest on the East-West team which consisted of players ranging in age from 14 to 23, and his teammates went to mainland China for two games after that.

While relations between the United States and Red China have been strained since the massacre in Tiananman Square last summer, the East-West team was encouraged through American diplomatic channels to make the trip and maintain a U.S. presence in that country.

Because of the sensitive nature of the trip and the historic rivalry between the two Chinas, nobody affiliated with the East-West contingent could discuss the trip beforehand.

the trip to China," Glese said, "and in China we couldn't talk about the trip to Taiwan."

The American team was a big attraction in mainland China where pro-democracy rallies were ruthlessly squashed last June and communist control reasserted.

"Everywhere we went in China we were sure to see a guy standing there with an army uniform on," Glese

THE TWO games against the communist Chinese drew a total of 35,000 spectators; including 25,000 for one. The Red Army was unable. to restrain the people, who were ea. ger for contact with the Americans, according to Glese.

"After the game we were handing out American flags, and the people rushed over and wanted to touch us and shake hands," he said. "They really admired us because we were Americans and wanted to be like us.

"One of the biggest things about the trip was the feeling all of us had after that game. It gave us an understanding of who we are and what our country stands for."

The Americans didn't have as much contact with the natives in nationalist China but did quite a bit of sightseeing and had several banquets with Taiwanese officials, Glese said.

The pollution he saw in Taiwan and the poverty in communist China made an impression on him. "The pollution in Taiwan was terrible," he said. "There were no trash cans. Everything was on the street. The whole time we were there we didn't see blue sky, and every body "In Taiwan we couldn't talk about of water was covered with junk.

Mayflies have short life cycle

Ephemeral is a word that describes many species and events in nature, especially during the spring. Bloodroot flowers with their brilliant white petals last less than a week. Even the passage of migrant birds in spring is a fleeting occu-

An insect known as a mayfly seems to epitomize the word ephermeral. In fact, its family name is Ephermerida. Mayflies appear in their winged form for only one or two days and then they die.

Though one stage of their life cycle can be measured in hours, they spend most of their life as an immature underwater nymphs.

There are many different species of mayflies, but most of them have the same basic features and adaptations. Eggs laid by adults are attached to underwater vegetation elther singly or in masses.

In a short period of time after laying, eggs hatch into nymphs that will remain underwater eating plant material for one to two years. While in: their nymphal stage, they serve as food for many aquatic animals.

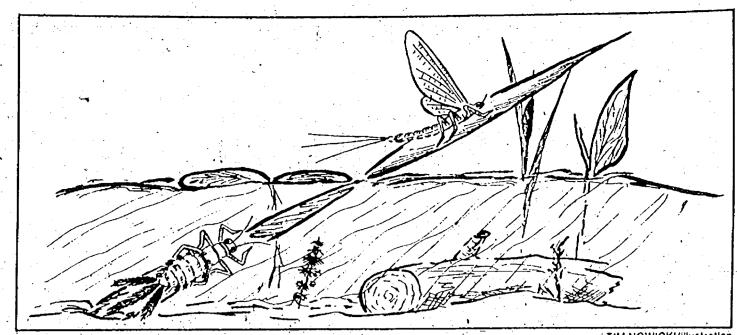

Though found in the bottom mud most of the time, they still provide food for several species of fish.

Nymphs of aquatic insects do not look like the adults they will eventually become. Mayfly nymphs have six legs to walk with, as the adult will, but it does not have any wings. Adults typically have two pair of wings. The front pair is much larger than the rear pair.

Underwater nymphs must breath by means of gills, while the adults breath in air through small openings on the abdomen. Adult mayfiles have three hair-like filaments that extend from the abdomen and possibly aid in stabilization while flying. These filaments can also be seen on

After growing and storing energy, the nymph will climb out of the water and metamorphize into a winged adult. Mayfiles often emerge in large numbers and can be seen resting on buildings or attracted to lights, waiting to shed their "skin." After shedding, their aerial courtship flight and mating take place. Dinos to rule science center

It's not the real dinosaur, but it's as close as we're likely to come. Six lifelike robot creatures will be returning to the Detroit Science Center for an exhibit May 18-Sept. 26.

The creatures range from the Corythosaurus — the shortest at 14 feet tall — to the 34-foot-tall Apatosaurus, formerly known as the Bron-

Visitors can stand within inches of e giant creatures, watching as they bellow loudly, move their heads, ving their tails and feed. Animation provided by computer programs tached to the dinosaur's frame.

The creatures were designed by the Kokoro Co. Ltd. of Los-Angeles and Tokyo in consultation with paleontologist John Horner, curator of the Museum of the Rockies, Montana State University.

The center is open 9:30 a.m. to 4 olm., Tuesday-Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 pim. Saturdays and noon to 6 p.m. Sundays. Admission is $4 for children 6-12 and $2 for children 4-5. Group rates are available.

Business highlighted

Madonna College is undertaking a new project designed to boost international business knowledge, export skills and cultural sensitivity.

The program seeks to develop an international management program for business managers, a joint bachelor's and master's program in international business, an international awareness program for the community at-large and a faculty development program in international business concepts and strategy. The program was made possible through a U.S. Department of Education grant. Madonna will receive more than $145,000 over the life of the two-year grant.

The management program is scheduled to include seminars and training sessions, culminating in a two- to three-week program in Eu-

The five-year combined bachelor's and master's program will also involve spending time in Europe.

-To increase international awareness, a multimedia presentation will be developed for area high schools.

Additional information is available by calling Madonna's division of business and computer systems, 591-$117. Madonna is at I-96 and Levan, Biyonia.

Charley's Crab

Chuck Muer is putting out the call for memorabilia -- menus, photos, mugs and other items - from the original Charley's Crab on Pine Lake in Oakland County. It was 20 years ago this month that Muer launched his now nationally known Charley's Crab restaurant concept on Pine Lake. Memorabilia will be displayed at a Charley's Crab reunion party from 1-3 p.m. Sunday, May 20, at Charley's Crab in Troy. Anyone having memorabilia to display should call Bob Jones, general manager, at 879-2060. All former regular guests and employees of the original Crab are being invited to purchase tickets and join in the reunion. Tickets for the event - a benefit for the Friends of Detroit Rowing, to help purchase a new rowing shell - are $25 per person and include food and beverage. For information on ordering tickets contact Charley's Crab.

The Kruse and Muer on Main restaurant in Rochester is the second venture for the partnership of Bill Kruse of Rochester Hills and Chuck Muer. Their first restaurant in the area is Kruse and Muer Quality Foods in Rochester Hills. For the new restaurant, they acquired the former Main Street Bar & Grill in downtown Rochester.

The interior has been completed redecorated. The 10-foot wood carving of two Englishmen that used to be at the Brass Rail in Detroit still graces the front of the building. Highlights of the new decor are a 50foot-long black marble bar, natural brick walls, mahogany-stained woodwork and floral leaf carpeting.

A special portion of the Kruse and Muer on Main menu is the Caribbean Lime section devoted to poultry, fish and shellfish broiled or char-grilled with fresh lime and Carribean spice. In contrast to the partner's other more informal restaurant, the new location has china dinnerware and full liquor service. Prices range from $4.95-$7.25 at lunch, $6.95-$13.95 at dinner.

Skyline Club

Michael Russell, certified master chef of the Skyline Club in Southfield, recently returned from Singapore where he was a member of the United States National Culinary Team competing against 18 countries in the Food Asia Salon Culinaire 1990. Russell reached a personal gold medal score to help the U.S. team to a fourth place finish overall, with Singapore, West Germany and Switzerland finishing first, second and third.

The Skyline Club is planning a fund raiser dinner for Russell on Saturday, June 9. The dinner is open to and Royal Oak. the public by reservations. For more details call the club at 350-9898.

Flame-broiled

Yaya's Flame Broiled Chicken, which opened recently next to Crowley's at the Livonia Mall, offers fast food that concentrates on chicken dinners, salads and sandwiches featuring Grade A chicken marinated in an oil-free blend of herbs and spices. The chicken is flame-broiled over an open grill. The chicken is described as low in fat, cholesterol and calories, and prepared 100 percent naturally. Meals are served in two minutes or less.

Dinner series

Several dinner series are being offered on the Les Gruber Food and Wine Subscription Series at the London Chop House in Detroit. The International Series begins Thursday, May 17, with a dinner highlighting "The Far East. The American Series, which began in April, continues Thursday, May 31, with "California, New Orleans and the Heartland." The New London Chop House Series, which also began in April, continues Thursday, June 14, with "The Other White Wines."

Subscription Dinners are priced at $75 per person for one dinner; $65 per person for a full series. Six or more dinners are $55 per person. The Grand Finale dinner is $75 per person with purchase of six or more dinners. The dinners, being offered through November, each have a different theme. For more information call the London Chop House.

Expanded menu

America's Pizza Cafe in Southfield has added 22 new dishes to its menu. The cafe specializes in gourmet pizzas cooked in a wood-fire oven and also has offered pastas, salads and desserts since opening last August. Recently added are 11 new pizzas (for a total of 23), including three pizzas without cheese; eight new pastas, two salads and one calzone. Among the new gourmet pizzas is Bob Talbert's prize-winning Coney Island Pizza. A second America's Pizza Cafe is scheduled to open soon in the Fox Theatre Building in downtown Detroit.

Name change

The Michigan-based company formerly known as Wabam Wabow has changed its name to Door 2 Door. The company takes prepared meals from the doors of local restaurants to the doors of local homes and businesses. It began delivery meals to customer's homes and offices with one restaurant in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area in December 1988 and has grown to represent more than 20 restaurants in areas including Birmingham, West Bloomfield, Troy, Southfield, Farmington Hills

"I've cooked and cleaned, scrubbed and rubbed, fussed and cussed . . . and all of this was in the first hour.

"My dear, don't ask me about the second hour. I'm too tired."

So begins the melody of Jo Thompson's life, an entertaining rendition of high drama, humor and pathos, belted out by the attractive performer in a husky, true voice seasoned by more than 50 years' experience.

And now, Thompson, a native Detroiter who has wowed fans for years in area clubs, faces the stellar performance of a varied career, a mid-June appearance in the intimately exquisite Weill Hall at New York City's famed Carnegie

"Jo Thompson: This Is My life --Melodies & Madness," a creative menage of songs, dialogue and piano put together by Thompson's 32year-old son Gregory Dunmore, is a tribute to an unusually talented mother.

It is also more — a tribute to Dunmore's father and Thompson's 1989. The Carnegie appearance is a

"I'M THRILLED," Jo Thompson said simply during a recent interview in the West Bloomfield home of her youngest son. "I know Al is looking down smiling. He would want it this way."

Things went his way in other matters as well.

While a reporter and editor with the Pittsburgh Courier during the 1950s, Dunmore was offered an opportunity to relocate in Miami. He jumped at the chance. A young entertainer, whose career he followed after becoming smitten with her press photograph, was then appearing at smart supper and nightclubs in the area.

The first thing Dunmore did in Miami was arrange an interview with the young singer and planist. named Jo Thompson. They were" married a short time later.

Hold on to your hats. It is funny. It is bright. It is filled with laughter. It is superb. The Marquis Theatre's production of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is absolutely sensational and is without doubt one of the best shows anywhere in recent years.

A blockbuster cast of local singer/ dancer/actors has somehow come together in this show. Physician Edward Lewin leads the group, in the role created by Zero Mostel, and is phenomenal. So is everyone else.

The tremendous choreography of Derek Wolshonak is one reason for the success. At the Santa Fe Opera last summer, Wolshonak did the choreography for "A Night at the Chinese Opera," which turned a stark, somber piece into a work of genius.

Wolshonak has talent to work with - actors who know how to play their parts, are quick on their lines, and understand timing to makes the jokes funny.

"A FUNNY THING" is a 1962 Broadway musical of Stephen Sondheim, one of the first after his collaboration with Leonard Bernstein on "West Side Story." This show was written before Sondheim took on the bitter satire in "Follies," "A Little Night Music" and "Sweeney Todd."

It comments on society but with mild light-hearted humor. A naive Hero (Michael Smith) is in love with stupid Philia (Chris Jones), who can't count to three. His philandering father Senex (Phil Cole) has been distant with his overbearing wife Domina (Caitlin McNell) for 29 years. The couple goes to the country to visit her mother, giving Hero a chance to meet Philia, who lives next door at the House of Marcus Lycus (Michael Talon), a home of courtesans. Hero's slave Pseudolus (Edward Lewin) sees his opportunity for freedom if he can arrange the marriage.

Hysterium (Charles Van Hoose) tries to stay calm while he is in charge of Hero's innocence in his parents' absence. He is easily bribed when the secret of his erotic pottery is discovered. Lycus is frightened when he learns his virgin, Philia, may have the plaque and gives her over to Pseudolus for safekeeping until Captain Gloriosus (Ken Haering) arrives.

The plot complicates when Senex, dressed in hot pink, returns becuase his wife's bust has a broken nose, and' is persuaded to stay at Erronius'; (Robert Closson) house.

Ken Haering's deep baritone voice is glorious as "Bring Me My Bride" and Caitlin McNeil's "Farewell" prove to be one of the funniest numbers of the evening. The five courtesan dancers are exquisite.

ARTHUS RIZZO'S tight stage direction reaches a pinnacle of success in Act II when the plot thickens and confusion tangles everything. Rizzo's synchronization of entraces and exits is extraordinary.

David Nelson's set design adds to the show's success. Like the set in Sondheim's "Into the Woods," threehouses have been placed on the stage. Lack of scenery changes brings the show in at just over two hours. Nelson's use of whites and grays in the accentuates Judy Dery's mainty-colored costumes that are highly reminiscent of the Broadway ones. Balconies and freely moving doors means lots of action with exits and entrances.

Cheryl Bubar does the musical direction, but an extremely competent Joe Bono conducts an orchestra perfectly in synch with the singers never covering their lines, not an easy thing to do with a brass ensem-

the grounds of the State Capitol last week, drew several hundred advocates for more state support for the arts and a handful of dissenters.

The statewide effort, organized by Michigan Advocates for the Arts of Detroit, was to draw attention to the need for an additional $1.6 million to bring the funding up to previous levels and support Senator Jack Faxon's (D-Farmington Hills) $250 million bond issue. This latter is to finance cultural, history and science organizations, public broadcasting and historic preservation throughout

The Attack, which took place on a near perfect May morning, was wellhandled, friendly and colorful. After the outdoor rally and lunch on the lawn, artists demonstrated their skills in corners of the rotunda of the put the emphasis on the pleasure the newly refurbished Capitol Building and clusters of constituents went to skills needed to accomplish it.

The Michigan Art Attack, held on find their local legislators for a bit of personal, alblet, gentle arm-twist-

25% CA51 REBATE ON REAL ESTATE COMMISSIONS

By J. R. Paine Realtor and Broker

Imagine getting 25% of the commission you paid your broker rebated back to you at closing! While there are no fixed commission rates, most Brokers charge six percent of the sale price of your home as commission at the time of closing. There are few homeowners who do not experience a pang of remorse as they watch a big piece of the gain from the sale of their home spent on real estate commissions. For instance, on a $200,000 home, the homeowner has to pay $12,000 in commission. Wouldn't it be wonderful to have the Broker hand you a cash rebate of $3,000 at closing?! Most homeowners will say yes, I want it.

Move over GM, Ford and Chrysler. HMS is ushering in its exclusive real estate commission rebate program. It is known as the "HMS Cashback Listing" and all homes listed under this exclusive program are guaranteed a 25% cash rebate at closing out of the full commission paid for complete real estate services. The "HMS Cashback Listing" guarantees each homeowner full real estate multilisting services plus the full-time services of efficient, experienced, and professional Realtors, attorneys, agents, as well as mortgage and title experts. With HMS, you list, sell, close and movel The HMS staff works around the clock when necessary to consumate the sale of the home.

The "HMS Cashback Listing" program starts on May 21, 1990 and ends on July 21. 1990. It is a special program designed to add some excitement to the 1990 homeselling season. Homes are selling well despite interest rates and despite gloom and doom predictions by some self-serving groups.

HMS, Home Marketing Specialists Inc, is leading America toward lowering the high cost of selling homes. HMS sells homes priced from $70,000 to $2,000,000 everywhere in Michigan. At HMS, homeowners can choose from several home marketing programs that best fit their requirements. At HMS, each home receives customized services because each home is special in its own way.

HMS has offices throughout the tri-county area. HMS' national office is located at 26222 Telegraph Road in Southfield. You can call (313) 373-7170 to reach HMS. in North Oakland County, you can call (313) 656-3030. In Macomb County, call (313) 228-2090 and in Wayne County, call (313) 592-0929.

The HMS commission rebate program is the first of its kind in the history of real estate sales. Who but HMS would have thought of it!

Kauffman success has poetic ring

Earlier this month, a Lenawee County farmer received one of five Arts Foundation of Michigan Awards, given each year to recognize outstanding achievement in the arts in Michigan.

Just in case you're a little perplexed by that, let me add that the farmer and the highly distinguished fiction writer, Janet Kauffman, are one and the same person.

Kauffman, best known for her critically acclaimed 1984 short story collection, "Places in the World a Woman Could Walk," and last year's "Obscene Gestures for Women" (both published by Alfred Knopf), said she's especially pleased to be singled out for the AFM Award, since the honor has made her feel she's more a real part of this state's literary scene.

"I've lived here many years, and I've done all my work here," said the author, now in her 40s. "But I think I've still seen myself, in a way, as (an outsider). I'm very, very pleased the award came from a foundation in Michigan."

KAUFFMAN, WHO came to Michigan almost 20 years ago (to take a job teaching at Jackson Community College), grew up on a Pennsylvania tobacco farm, the daughter of a Mennonite

Though she herself was not raised as a Mennonite, she emphasizes that her close exposure to the pacifistic, morally strict culture has affected her writing profoundly.

It has also even affected her writing schedule.

"I just write when I can, which is about two days a week. I had such a rigid childhood and, because of that, I find that I really resist routines and schedules."

WHEN SHE'S not at her writing desk, Kauffman spends her time teaching various writing and literature courses at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

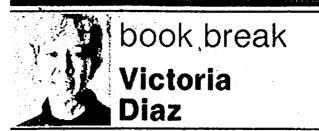

Or she's working hard to convert much of the farmland to a wildlife habitat. Or she's busy just hanging out with ducks, deer, pheasant and what-have-you on her 80 acres near Hudson.

(Although she refuses to discuss her family in interviews, a husband and children are in her life, also.)

ON READING her short fiction, it's quickly apparent that her rural environment and upbringing color her work signifi-

She sets her stories on farms and in small towns, and peoples them with small-town, rural characters. Oddly, her teaching career and background almost never come into play.

But, should you think that Kauffman writes uncomplicated tales of simple folk leading the simple life, think again. Brief and sparingly written though they are, the stories are often astonishingly complex.

SOME, LIKE the short-short, "Women Over Bay City," (from her most recent fiction collection), may even leave most readers downright mystified.

The story, complete on less than two pages, centers on a man who stands and watches as thousands of geese-like women descend from a wintry sky, and come to land in a deserted field. ("I have seen women pull a lot of stunts, he thought. But nothing like this.")

In a sense, the brief story reads more like an extended poem than'a short story, as does much of Kauffman's fiction - not surprising, in view of the fact that Kauffman started out as a poet, and still writes and publishes a considerable amount of poetry.

"The Easter We Lived in Detroit," an outstanding story in the new collection - about a lonely woman who has lost her daughter to a Bible-thumping book burner - had its inception in poetry, Kauffman said.

"Many of my stories begin as poems. But that's one of the things I tell my students at Eastern. You can write without always knowing exactly what you're doing or where you're KAUFFMAN ACTUALLY came to writing and publishing comparatively late, not publishing until sometime after finishing graduate studies at the University of Chicago.

Gordon Lish, a top editor at Knopf, read some of her poetry, and asked Kauffman if she'd ever considered writing fiction. She hadn't, but when she tried her hand at short stories. Lish went to bat for her at Knopf and, soon after, "Places in the World a Woman Could Walk" was published.

The collection would later win Kauffman the Rosenthal Award for fiction from the American Academy-Institute of Publishing-wise, it has been smooth sailing ever since for Kauffman. In addition to her two short story collections, a novel, "Collaborators," came out in 1986.

Meanwhile, many of her short stories and poems have appeared in magazines like the New Yorker. Paris Review and Denver Quarterly.

Animated color: butterfly garden

Q. I am a lazy gardener who wants to get the maximum color effect from as minimal effort as possible. I'm looking for a theme that would be interesting and not involve too much extra expense. Our house is on the edge of a small town, here in Michigan. The yard behind the house is a wide-open, sunny space, and fenced-in on three sides. How can you help us out?

A. You can achieve both a naturally charming theme and enhanced color effects if you plant flowers that attract butterflies. You would then become a member of a small, but dedicated group of butterfly gardeners. Aside from the fence you already have that minimizes strong wind currents, you will more likely entice those colorful wanderers if as you might normally have in a bird

They also like an open stretch of sidewalk to bask in the sun. It takes a little more if you get serious about the matter and choose to breed and rear butterflies.

You may horrify some of your gardener friends with your deliberate attempt to attract butterflies which in their other stages are the dreaded caterpillar and larvae. If that's the case, just remind your friends that it doesn't take much extra effort to handle excessive larvae. or to do a little extra planting for the pleasure and color of their company.

While Michigan cannot compete with California and tropical regions for their vast number and variety of you also accommodate them with a butterfly species, you nonetheless small patch of wet sand and water may be able to attract monarchs, painted ladies, coppers, white, and swallowfails, among other butter--flies that either migrate here or are part of Michigan's natural habitat.

The type of flowers that attract these butterflies need to have broad and relatively shallow petals for the butterfly to perch on. The flowers that serve their needs for nectar as well as your for aesthetic pleasure are zinnias, asters, marigold, phlox, most daisles, sweet Williams, coneflowers, larkspur and morning glory. Lilac bushes attract butterflies as do nettles that can be planted among the other flowers. You may not want to go as far as planting milkweed, preferred by monarch butterflies who also are attracted to the other flowers.

Q. Now that our son has gone off -to college, I'm about to change his old bedroom into a guest-sitting room. I want an elegant look that would make guests feel welcome including my son on school vacations visits, yet not look too much like a bedroom. So far, I've decided to use an English, tufted, red-leather sleep sofa, a leather-topped writing desk with an upholstered chair. I'm also considering stippling or rag-finishing the old paneling. Could you give me any further ideas on how to coordinate the arrangement? I don't want to use much more red in this small

A. Since you already have wood paneling, you should refinish it and then stain it in a soft blue-green tint. No amount of stippling or rag-finishing will eyer achieve the authentic effects of natural wood grains. Save that technique for a plaster wall.

Install a wall-to-wall carpet in light beige with a small pin-dot motif in very dark red and green. Swag the window in an off-white batiste draped over a brass metal rod, coordinated with brass colored vertical blinds. Finish off the red-green complementary scheme with crystal and gilt lamps and tapestry pillows for the English sofa. This will be an elegant addition to your home and a suitable environment for guests.

Realtors collect food

Realtor members of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors are, for the second consecutive year, holding a canned food drive during the month of May. The food collected will be passed on to the Salvation Army and then distributed to those in need within the local communities.

"We collected over 3,000 canned goods during our 1989 drive," said Pat Stokes, who chairs the event, "and we are striving to reach the 8,000 mark this year."

Humorist signs his new book

Pulitzer Prize-winning humorist Dave Barry will be signing his new book, "Dave Barry Turns 40," 6-7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, in Borders Book Shop in the Novi Town-Center, off Novi Road, just south of I-98. "One of the more traumatic aspects of reaching age 40 is the realization that you no longer have the same body you had when you were 21," Barry said. "I'know I don't. Sometimes when I take a shower I look down at my body and want to scream: 'Hey, THIS isn't my body! THIS body belongs to Willard Scottl' "

Get away from it all in the bedroom suite

Once upon a long time ago, outhouses were built far away from the living quarters. If there were separate bedrooms, they were small. Family members sometimes slept together in lofts.

As recently as the 1950s, the small bathroom, with a combination tub and shower, often was tucked away in an unobtrusive corner of the house. Bedrooms were still fairly

Evolution in the industry brought fancier elements to the existing bath, perhaps a second sink and the half-bath. Bedrooms got a little big-

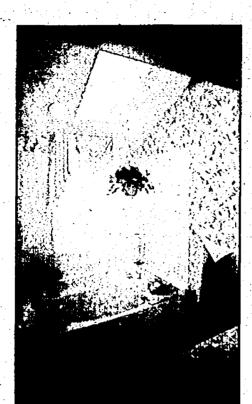

The demand now is for large, luxurious master bedroom/bath suites.

"There's a lot more time and thought put into those specific areas than five years ago," said Scott Jacobson, president of a Birmingham development company. "People coming through models spend a lot of time looking at those spaces," he added.

"IT'S THEIR own personal haven," said Rick Lorenz, developer and builder of Plymouth Homestead Estates. "People in this price range ($327,000 and up) are less concerned about a guest room and more concerned about the master bath."

"We're selling a lifestyle," said David Robertson, sales and marketing manager for Robertson Brothers Co. of Bloomfield Hills. "The whole thing about a home is feeling good."

"It's a big thing," said James Bonadeo, president of a Plymouth building company and president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, "I think it's their own little spa."

The bathroom in the Carmel model includes a separate tub and shower. Note the skylight, recessed lighting and angled ceiling.

Here's but a small sample of what's currently available in master

• The Howard Stanley Co. of West Bloomfield offers a master suite with a whirlpool tub, toilet and sink in one compartment, a second toilet and sink in another compartment with both connected by a common shower and corridor.

The bedroom portion of the suite consists of up to 236 square feet plus two large walk-in closets and a linen closet.

• Kimron Construction Co. of Novi offers a suite with a separate whirlpool tub, shower, double sink and heat light.

The bedroom is 290 square feet, suites on the area building scene, ___ not including a large, walk-in closet. A connecting room of 116 square feet can be used as a sitting room for the suite or a fourth bedroom.

• RTL Inc., Lorenz's Plymouth company, offers a master suite of 768 square feet that includes a sitting room, two walk-in closets, a whirlpool tub with a double-tub option, a separate shower with seats, a make-up vanity and the bedroom.

CATHEDRAL CEILINGS, walkout decks, skylights, recessed lighting and ceiling fans are common regardless who's doing the building. Double-sized tubs and fancy glass windows are options.

Some builders, including Holtzman & Silverman of Farmington Hills, Howard Stanley Co., Robert R. Jones of West Bloomfield and Robertson Brothers make fireplaces available.

RTL offers extras like a connecting garden room, towel warmers and special steam showers.

Buyers seem to love the concept of master suites.

"It's personal comfort," Lorenz said. "They've been through the stages of raising kids, taking care of everyone else's needs. Now they say, 'I'm going to take care of my needs.' "Our market is primarily (people in their) 40s," Lorenz said. "Kids take over the family room. Adults seem to take over the master bedroom," said Bonadeo. "It's very practical. It's almost like a private suite," said Carol Neutz, a sales agent for Howard project.

Brent Wasik and his wife, Pamela Bell-Wasik, recently moved into a house with a master suite built by Bonadeo in Plymouth.

"It's like one wing in the house is just our private section," Brent said.

MASTER SUITES are available in: all 13 floor plans at the Heathers in Bloomfield Township which start from $136,900 to $279,900.

Most buyers at The Heathers agree, after some persuasion, that a master suite is more desirable than a third bedroom, Robertson said. Convenience is a blg selling point.

New home sales 'soft'

parently are slowing the pace of new home sales in suburban Detroit.

When that happens, information and publicity become especially desirable commodities to builders. Several sales representatives and real estate professionals made those observations Monday during a get-together sponsored by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan. "It (the market) is substantially off from last year," said David Bubes, a sales rep for Wineman & Komer Building Co. "Doom and gloom in employment has put caution in people.

"I hear there's more transferees going out than coming in," he added.-Bette Kessler, a sales rep for the Herman Frank-

Meet David and Terry, a young couple who moved into Stonebridge during Phase I. They're delighted with their new home and wish their friends and others could have the opportunity to make the same smart move that they made.

There are 6 different floorplans from which to choose. Plus, you'll quickly discover other great features like oversized bedrooms and family rooms, luxurious bathrooms, vaulted ceilings, European kitchens, winding sidewalks, and West Bloomfield schools.

With Phase I almost sold out, Stonebridge Phase II promises to be just as successful. So, take David and Terry's advice and make plans to visit us today.

Master bath fits in space over garage

A wide foyer entry gives a great first impression for this spacious Tudor that was designed for a small lot. At the entry, the stair going up is open and the stair to the basement is neatly tucked below this stair area.

The formal living an dining rooms are to the right and the family room. to the left. Rear access is from the family room-and a separate break. fast and kitchen are provided. Notice the wet bar shown for the family room, the half bath shown central and the isolated laundry at the garage entrance.

There are four bedrooms for the second floor by way of the open rail stair. Three bedrooms share a central bath and powder room and are shown with large closet space.

The master bedroom suite extends from the front of the garage 54 feet to the rear of the plan. The spacious bedroom is compartment style and includes a separate shower along with the garden tub as well as two lavatories, a dormer for extra light, and a walk-in closet that will accommodate a large wardrobe.

The bedroom can be divided into a bed area and a sitting area. A-slopedceiling is shown.

The Tudor exterior style is enhanced by the traditional board and batten finish for the second floor and brick finish for the first floor. A recessed entry is provided by a special extended roof slope.

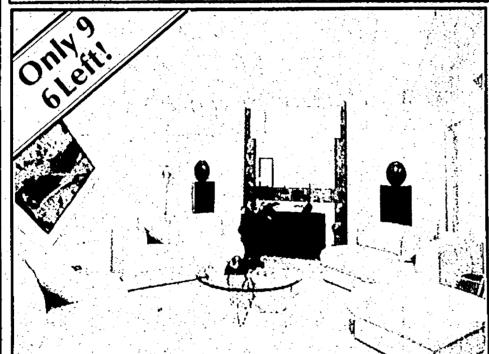

The plan is No. 3041. It includes 3,036 square feet of heated space. All W.D. Farmer plans include construction details for energy efficiency and are drawn to meet FHA and VA requirements. For more information, write to W.D. Farmer, P.O. Box 450025, Atlanta, Ga. 30345.

PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF TH

Reincarnation: the theory behind garage sales

(AP) - Every Saturday morning come spring, a million people out there are looking for a sign.

The sign says, "Garage Sale.' Some would like to add a shingle that asks us to "Recycle furniture — it's good for the environment."

Coleen Johnston is a believer. She decorated her home by shopping what she calls "the country's largest distribution system." And she has written a book, "Garage Sale Decorator — a Penny Pincher's Shopping and Decorating Guide," to help other people create interior decor with bargain merchandise.

"We were looking for an old house to renovate," sald Johnston, who lives in Zumbrota, Minn., with her husband, Bruce, and children, Sarah and Patrick: "We decided to build and live here until we found that big old house. But we did so much work in this place we decided to stay."

Their home is filled with finds from auctions and moving sales and garage sales. There's the captain's chair from Canada, the square grand piano from Goodhue and the wicker settee from their Zumbrota neighborhood.

'What we' like most is to find things that are native to the area. It's a nice way to be in touch with the history of our surroundings," she said. Johnston paid only $2 for the wicker sofa and $1 for the matching chair. They were repainted and dressed with pillows to match drapes, and set in an oak-appointed dining room.

The Civil War-era piano was advertised in a moving sale for more than Johnston wanted to pay. When it outlasted the sale, the owner reduced the price and delivered the instrument. It's the focal point of an entry parlor.

JOHNSTON HAS done most of the rehabbing on the items she finds, including chair caning and rush seats. She pointed to a rocker "that cost $15 and took 150 hours to restore."

Johnston has written for handcraft magazines, produced two romance novels, as yet unpublished, and has a historical novel in process. Her story on the farm crisis was among finalists in a Redbook short story contest.

She got to thinking other people might need some tips on garage sale decorating and sent out sample chapters, getting responses within two weeks.

Published by Betterway Publications, "Garage Sale Decorator" is a Book of the Month Club selection in the Homestyle Books Division and has traveled to the Munich Book Fair.

Her decorating guide talks about periods and styles, how to shop the sales and offers tips on wood, textiles, breakables, metal, plastics and miscellany. Final chapters provide stepby-step decorating and profiles of "Rooms with a (Point of)

It can be scary at first. Johnston prescribes getting over that hurdle by pounding the nail. ("Find a closet if you're afraid to try a wall.")

She likes to hang groups of garage treasures with a common theme. A wall in her living room features some antique weaving shuttles, spools and bobbins with a square of family coverlet displayed in a frame. Some of the shuttles date back to 1837 and were found in a thrift shop. Others came from a garage sale.

MANY OF their belongings are reincarnations.

"Changing is more than rearranging," she said. "It means seeing pieces in a new light. It means using them for a different purpose than you have before."

The "what if" game can transport you" from the darkness of the garage to the sunny heights of dream rooms," Johnston says in her book.

"It is the tool that will help you make the pieces you buy uniquely yours, instead of just castoffs from someone else's

Black walnut a premier wood

(AP) - Ancient Romans loved walnuts, and thought so highly of the meaty fruit that they planted the tree throughout south central Europe and England, Attention always focused on the walnut for its nut crop, while oak prevailed as the choice for furniture.

In America, though, native black walnut has always been prime stock. WOOD magazine reports that while frontier families gathered walnuts to eat, city craftsmen worked the dark wood into classic pieces. Today, black walnut continues as the aristocrat of native hardwoods and the hallmark of tradition.

of the eastern half of the U.S. and southern Ontario. Prime walnut requires moist, deep, rich, welldrained soil, such as is found in the upper Mississippi River valley.

In idvilic conditions, walnut reaches a height of 150 feet and a six-foot diameter. More commonly, it matures at about 100 feet with a threefoot diameter. The tree's thick, darkbrown to brownish gray bark has marked ridges.

Walnut's distinctive leaves measure one to two inches in length and carry a dozen or more leaflets. In spring, flowing catkins emerge on WALNUT'S HEARTWOOD varies from a purplish-brown with thin, dark veins to gray-brown and even orange-brown. The narrow sapwood tends to be white.

Unfigured walnut has straight, somewhat open grain. Figured walnut - fiddleback, burl, stump and crotch - feels coarse-textured. A cubic foot of dry walnut weighs about 39 pounds, making it just a little heavier than cherry.

Walnut remains a favorite for furniture, paneling, musical instru-

Black walnut's range covers most branch twigs. In mid-summer, nuts ments, turned bowls, relief carvings and sculpture. Veneer proves popular in marquetry and as furniture accents. Walnut's shock-resistance, strength and stability also make itperfect for shotgun and rifle stocks.

> Black walnut rates as classic cabinet stock not only because of its eye appeal, but because woodworkers get good results with either hand or power tools. But it does sometimes require special treatment.

Walnut works best for sculptures and large figures with simple lines, or signs and relief carvings.

Mix up a batch of cleaners

If you are always buying more fancy new cleaning products than you need, you can save money by using a few basic, readily available products to make your own cleaning solutions. With fewer products around, you reduce the chance that they will be misused by children or adults.

Here are some inexpensive and effective cleaning solutions you may want to try:

• Ammonia: Mix two tablespoons ammonia in one quart warm water. Use it to clean painted walls, countertops and other kitchen and bathroom surfaces. - Dilute ammonia with three parts water in an empty pump-spray bottle. Use it to clean windows. Use full-strength ammonia to remove wax from floors and to clean the oven.

Caution: Always wear rubber or vinyl gloves when cleaning with ammonia or any other strong or strong-smelling solution. When using it full strength, make sure the work area is well ventilated.

• Vinegar: Mix two tablespoons vinegar in one quart warm water. Use it to clean kitchen and bathroom surfaces.

- Mix one-half cup vinegar with one tablespoon salt. Use it as a metal cleaner to scour copper and brass. Rinse the metal well and buff dry with a soft cloth.

- To clean mineral deposits from the water channels of pump-feed drip coffeemakers, try this: Run a quart of half vinegar, half water solution through a brewing cycle, followed by two cycles with plain water.

- Pine oil: This product makes quick work of cleaning and deodorizing garbage pails and bathroom and kitchen floors. If you dilute the pine oil, you don't have to rinse.
- Baking soda is an efficient grease cutter and deodorizer, is less abrasive than commercial cleansers—and doesn'tscratch polished surfaces.
- To clean countertops and enamel or chrome appliances, rub them with baking soda and water mixed into a paste, rinse thoroughly and polish with a soft, dry cloth.

 — To clean and deodorize the inside of a refrigerator, freezer or cutting surface such as a butcher's block, sponge it with a solution made by mixing a few tablespoons of baking soda with a quart of water.

- Use baking soda on a cloth or a sponge to clean coffee pois, tea pots and thermos bottles.

- If coffee from a percolator tastes bitter, mix a teaspoon of baking soda in a quart of water and run it through the
