Teachers, district ratify pact

The Wayne-Westland Board of Education ratified a new teacher contract Monday, but not before two trustees raised concerns about what it will cost the district in dollars and goodwill among taxpayers.

Despite fears of a possible budget crunch that could threaten student programs, a split Wayne-Westland school board Monday approved a new teacher contract that will cost the district $3.5 million over two years.

Five of seven board members hailed the two-year pact, saying pay raises of 3 percent this year and 5 percent next vear are among the lowest increases negotiated in the state.

But two board members, worried that voters will turn down a tax renewal next year, opposed the contract and warned that it will push the district closer to financial ruin.

"We literally cannot afford to give an 8-percent raise over two years," said trustee Laurel Raisanen, who cast one of the opposing votes.

Teachers ratify

The 5-2 vote came just hours after teachers, casting secret ballots in buildings across the district, ratified the contract in an 807-to-71 vote. School officials still must reach contract agreements with seven other employee workers to cabinet officials.

Teachers, in accepting the pact, conceded to a nine-point educational-improvement plan calling for smoke-free schools, more elementary parent-teacher conferences and a one-day extension of their work year, among other mea-

HUD steps into Holliday Park Co-op dispute

By Darrell Clems Staff Writer

Tension between residents and management at a north Westland housing cooperative has escalated, prompting a federal agency to step in

The dispute arose last month over a controversial tree-cutting policy implemented by the seven-member board of directors of the Holliday Park Townhouses Cooperative, southeast of Wayne and Joy roads.

Despite a protest by residents, the board ordered a 25-year-old sugar maple tree chopped down because of concerns that its proximity to a residential building could cause structural

Hundreds of residents rallied behind Margaret Henkel, who lost an emotional battle to save the tree that stood in front of a vacant house next door to her. The tree had shaded her yard.

But the dispute has raised a broader question of whether the Holliday Park board has abused its powers, prompting the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to intervene.

HUD steps in

Under orders from HUD, property manager Richard Tebbe and board president Gene Suchy said they have imposed a moratorium on all property improvements in Holliday Park until they can meet with federal officials to diedies the neighborhood problems. HUD oversees the mortgage on the a petition that Henkel's supporters circulated in August in an effort to save the sugar maple tree. They collected about 370 signatures to oppose the treecutting policy in the 703-unit complex.

HUD received copies of the petition even before the Holliday Park board did, prompting an inquiry by the feder al agency, Suchy and Tebbe said.

dents signed because they were misled. The management has since received letters from some residents who claim they either didn't understand what they were signing — or regret signing.

Henkel and her supporters deny forging any signatures. Moreover, they said some residents have backed away from challenging the management because they fear potential eviction.

Holliday Park resident John Webster accused the management of "intimidating people and trying to convince them that they didn't really realize what they were signing.

Holliday Park has some 600 trees, and Tebbe and Suchy have said older ones are being removed because they threaten structural damage to buildings and sewers. That increases maintenance costs, they said.

"It's a budget consideration," Tebbe said.

Management under fire

· But the management has come under fire for being power-hungry and ignoring the wishes of Holliday Park residents.

"What they're doing is terrible," Henkel said.

In a new development, the management has offered a $500 reward for information leading to the prosecution of residents whom Tebbe and Suchy believe forged signatures on the petitions.

On Monday, HUD supervisor Kendel King declined to comment at length on the dispute until HUD officials can meet with the Holliday Park management — possibly as early as next week.

But King did confirm that HUD is concerned that Holliday Park management has allowed property improvements without notifying HUD. Structural, improvements, such as patios and indoor renovations, are supposed to be cleared with HUD, King said.

Suchy had suggested the HUDimposed moratorium on property improvements were sweeping in

"If you got a plant for Mother's Day, you're not allowed to put it on corporate soil," he told the Observer. Concerned about HUD stepping in, Suchy added later that, "Where it goes from here, no one knows. Frankly, it's a little scary."

Trustees Leonard Posey, Vicki Welty, Francis "Bud" Winter, Richard LeBlanc and Sharon Felan supported the contract. Raisanen and Fred Warmbier opposed it.

Despite the split vote, the board appeared to agree that - with or without the pay raises - the district will face program cuts next year if voters reject a tax renewal.

"Our premise is on some type of renewal." Welty said.

 District voters last year approved a two-year, 7.75-mill tax increase. But board members hope to propose a smaller millage next year, in hopes that voters will find a renewal more palatable. They haven't yet decided on a ballot proposal.

On Monday, Warmbier said voters hadn't been told last year that part of the 7.75-mill tax increase would be used to pay for the latest round of teacher salary increases. The tax plan was sold to voters on the belief it was solely for student programs, he said.

Concerns raised

Moreover, Warmbier's opposition any fears of a potential strike.

We literally cannot afford to give an 8-percent raise over two years.'

Laurel Raisanen trustee

stemmed from his concerns about an economic slump and the inability of Westland residents — particularly senior citizens and the unemployed — to pay the tab for teacher salary increases.

"We are not an affluent community," he said. "We're not a Birmingham or a Plymouth or even a Livonia.'

Raisanen raised concerns that student, programs could suffer because of teacher salary increases.

"If we're using up all of our money on wages, it makes it even more difficult to start new programs in our district," she said, adding that the district's $6.5-million fund equity could be wiped out if next year's millage fails.

Most board members commended the bargaining teams who reached an agreement that averted

Posey, the board president, accused Warmbier of focusing on money issues while ignoring the need for quality education. And he told Raisanen he was "personally disappointed" with her for commending teachers for a job well done, "but yet you don't want to compensate them.'

Winter noted that some topnotch teachers have already left the local district for better-paying jobs elsewhere — a move that he said could be avoided with better sala-

LeBlanc said both sides made concessions in contract negotiations, and neither walked away from the bargaining table completely satisfied.

"If both sides have a little frustration when it's done, I believe that proves it was a fair and equitable contract." he said.

Felan agreed and said, "I never felt that we gave away the farm." Welty commended teachers for avoiding threats of a strike during the talks. "Our teachers have acted professionally," she said. "They stayed in the schools. The "s" word was not on their tongues. Few district residents came out to oppose the teacher contract. But one resident, Roberta Paquette, told board members that they don't understand "how people hurt just to pay their taxes and send their children to school." In calling for more frugal spending, Warmbier said many local residents will suffer because of the impending shutdown of General Motors Corp.'s Willow Run plant in Ypsilanti, among_other GM cut-Posey responded, "This is not General Motors. We don't make automobiles, and we shouldn't be compared to the private sector."

Superintendent Thomas predicted that if the board had rejected the contract, the district could've been forced to pay even higher salaries if the issue had gone to arbitration.

"I'm very proud of the contract." he said.

"Rehearsing helps eliminate mental errors and physical mistakes on the field," says Cramer, who is instrumental music director and marching band director at

In his post as head of instrumental music, Cramer also directs the symphonic, concert, and jazz bands and the school orchestra.

The band is currently preparing for an October filled with performance dates. The first is the Michigan Band Invitational Sunday, Oct. 11 in Flint's Atwood Stadium. Showtime for the Rockets Marching Band is 4:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, Oct. 14, the band will perform at the Wayne Memorial Band Review. On Saturday, Oct. 24, the band will host the John Glenn Invitational at the school on Marquette, between Wayne and Newburgh roads.

Thirteen bands, including those from Glenn and Wayne Memorial, are scheduled to perform.

Then it's on to the state finals band championship Saturday, Oct. 31, at Eastern Michigan Uni-

It's Cramer's first year at Glenn. He previously taught music at Jefferson and Elliott elementary schools in the Wayne-Westland district. His previous experience includes teaching band and vocal music in Buchannan Public Schools near the Michigan/Indiana border and band in Ravenna Public Schools near Grand Rapids.

Marching band is an extracurricular activity at Glenn so members must commit to three rehearsals each week from 6:30-9:30 p.m.

Cramer, who holds a bachelor's degree in music education and a master's in conducting from Western Michigan University, also brings professional experience to his Glenn post. A percussionist, he has played with the Kalamazoo Symphony Orchestra, Twin Cities Symphony Orchestra and the Southwest Michigan Symphony Orchestra.

Although the Glenn band is small — 56 members (a school in Glenn's class usually has about 150-200 band members), Cramer is excited about his young musicians and encouraged about the band's future.

"We have some fine soloists," says Cramer, singling out Laura Deschaine and Benjamin Hayes who play the mellophone and Others include Charidy Robertson, color guard captain and Jim Renkes, drum major.

Cramer believes the district's previous pay to participate policy and the fact that marching band is an extracurricular activity rather than class has hurt membership. He's encouraged, however, that an upcoming crop of junior high school musicians will help bolster band membership in future years.

Associate superintendent moves to district

Wayne-Westland school board members have been known to voice concerns about a large percentage of teachers and administrators living outside the district.

But one administrator, Norine Blake, received congratulations during Monday's board meeting for recently moving into the district. Blake, associate superintendent for instruction and planning, started work here last school year.

Blake was congratulated by district resident Val Wolf on the same night that board member Fred Warmbier voiced concerns that more than half of Wayne-Westland's teachers live outside the district.

Superintendent Larry Thomas lives near the district's boundaries, but still lives in the Livonia school district. He, too, expects to move to Wayne-Westland within the next year or so.

The discussion about Vandenberg emerged Monday when Jim Netter, a local NAACP activist, told the board that he fears "racial steering" by the Wayne Police Department has hurt enrollment at the school near Annapolis and Venoy roads.

Two Wayne police dispatchers were suspended for one day after they warned a white caller last year that mostly blacks lived near Vandenberg, particularly in the Hickory Hollow Apartments, Netter said.

The tape-recorded conversation prompted Hickory Hollow's owners to file a still-pending lawsuit in-U.S. District Court against the police department.

"These dispatchers had been considered good employees who had never had a problem before," Wayne city attorney Richard Clark said Tuesday. "They made a mis-

The white female caller had questioned the police department about neighborhood crime near Vandenberg, Netter said, adding that the dispatchers' statements "made drugs and crime synonymous with being black.'

The lawsuit seeks to stop the police department from engaging inwhat Netter called "racial steering."

"I just don't think that's what we're paying the Wayne police to do," Netter said.

Netter also told the school board he's concerned that erratic school attendance boundaries have caused

Many children who live near Vandenberg — some within walk-. ing distance - are bused to other schools in the district, Netter said.

School board president Leonard Posev - the only black ever elected to the school board - assured Netter and other Vandenberg parents that the board "is not involved" in trying to discourage whites from attending Vandenberg.

Posey called the Wayne dispatchers' statements "deplorable" and

Thomas told the Vandenberg parents that similar complaints about antiquated school attendance boundaries have come from several doing is not what's good for the kids," he told the board.

> 'We want our sixth-grade kids back with the sixth-graders," parent Linda Jolly said, adding that she's worried her son's skills may be slipping.

Parent Earlene Calloway has sixth-grade twins at Vandenberg. Her daughter, Wendy, is in the split class, but her son, Robert, isn't. She said her daugher brings home virtually no homework, but her son regularly does.

The daughter also told the board said she would rather be in a class with all sixth-graders.

Thomas promised to have his administration study the problem, though he didn't promise that the split class could be avoided. With 36 sixth-graders at Vandenberg, Thomas said officials - by contract - can't put that many students in one room.

Citizen nominees sought

Nominations are sought for the ennual First Citizen of Westland community service award.

A four-member judging commit tee, to be named this month, will select the winner of the seventh annual award.

The First Citizen will be publicly honored at the Westland Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon Tuesday, Nov. 10. As in past years, the name of the First Citizen will be announced the previous week.

The 1992 award will be given to a volunteer who has contributed to the quality of life in the Westland community.

Deadline for nominations is 5 Dm., Thursday, Oct. 22. Nominations are to be submitted to: Westland First Citizen Award. Westland Observer editorial department, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

The award is cosponsored by the Westland Observer and the Chamber of Commerce.

Winners of the award, initiated in 1986 by the Observer to recognize a person for volunteer community service, in past years were Joseph Benvo, Thomas Brown, Sam Corrado, Linda Pratt, Sharon Scott and Margaret Harlow. Combined their backgrounds cover municipal government service, education, church groups, recreation and business. Residency in the city isn't required for nominees, but persons submitting nominations should include as much detailed information on the impact the person has had in his/her group or groups. There are no limits to the nominee's background other than the service must be as a volunteer.

tion company has been charged with assaulting another man at a local bar, causing a skull fracture that required surgery.

Robert McGregor, 31, was arraigned Monday in Westland's 18th District Court on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. He is accused of attacking Richard Jenkins of Livonia with a microphone stand.

McGregor's attorney, Steven Bullock, said McGregor interfered in a dispute in which he tried to stop Jenkins, 35, from harassing a womappear in 18th District Court next Thursday for a preliminary examination to determine if he should stand trial on the charge.

If convicted, he could face a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison. He has been released from jail on a $10,000 personal bond, his attorney said.

Jenkins, who suffered a skull fracture, was initially transported by Westland Fire Department personnel-to Garden City Hospital following the 2 a.m. incident that occurred on Aug. 26, Bullock said.

Jenkins then was transferred to Detroit Receiving Hospital, where he underwent surgery for the head injury, Bullock said. Jenkins spent several days in the hospital.

Following Monday's arraignment. Bullock said: "It is unfortunate that Mr. Jenkins was injured. However, I am confident that Mr. McGregor will be exonerated of these charges once the entire story is known.'

He also took aim at prosecutors and said, "Once again, the Wayne County prosecutor has failed to take the entire situation into consideration prior to charging an in-

Former school board member honored

Former Wayne-Westland school board member Andrew Spisak was honored Monday for seven years of service to the school district.

Spisak, who resigned in July, received a plaque from the new school board during Monday's meeting. He also received a certificate from the Michigan Association of School Boards.

Board president Leonard Posey said Spisak's contributions to the school district may not be immediately appreciated, but predicted that residents in the future "will look back at what a fine board member and community leader he was.

Spisak, in turn, commended the new board for what he called a fair and equitable settlement on a new teachers contract that gives teachers a 3-percent raise this year and a 5-percent raise next year.

"I think this board is doing some excellent things," he said.

Spisak's tone was much more conciliatory than it was before he resigned in early July, shortly after new Superintendent Larry Thomas started his job on July 1.

Spisak stepped down because he was angry over the forced retirement of former Superintendent Dennis O'Neill, ousted by a board majority that wanted new leader-

The new board had planned to honor former board member Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek on Monday, but she couldn't attend the meeting. Kozorosky-Wiacek, who lost her reelection bid in June, will be honored at a future board meeting.

Costly mandates struck from voc ed bill

By Tim Richard Staff Writer

Rep. William Keith is watering down his vocational schooling bill in hopes of getting it through the Michigan Legislature this year.

Keith, D-Garden City, started House Bill 4165 last winter in his House Education Committee with a plan similar to Germany's system, where students spent some days in class and others on the job.

Currently his bill calls for a 15member state commission - businesspeople, union leaders and edu--cators along with state officials that can tell high schools what skills graduates need to qualifyfor

"We want to provide a seamless transition from school to work," Keith said recently as a subcommittee worked on the bill's fourth

"If we don't move this through the House in the next few days, the Senate won't have much opportunity to work on this. It might be June before we can get this," he said. The Legislature is scheduled to break Oct. 8 until after the election.

Mandates out

At the insistence of Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, Keith removed sections that would call for a 200day school year and 20 days of in-

"We took out those controversial things," said Bankes, who said estimates showed the bill as drafted would cost $6,900 per teacher statewide - and more in the metropolitan area, where wages are higher.

Everybody liked the concept. Then we get down to the details,' said Bankes. She said her school districts — Livonia, Clarenceville and Redford Union — are adamant that the cabinet council not soak money out of existing school aid.

State Board of Education president Dorothy Beardmore, a Republican from Rochester, told Keith she couldn't see the need of setting "another coordinating body when we have a Michigan Council on Vocational Education and the State Board." Otherwise, Beardmore said, the Keith bill is in line with the State Board's goals.

Keith replied, "We're attempting to bring together the best talent and minds to deal with the restructuring of education.'

Without big business and organized labor on board, Keith said, there won't be support for getting necessary state and private funds for job training. "You'd have to have that level of support," he said.

Lobbyists like it

Lobbyists fell into line in support of the rewritten bill.

'We want to provide a seamless transition from school to work.'

> William Keith D-Garden City

"We support the bill in concept," said Tom White of the Small School Boards Association. "It's an improvement to eliminate the man-

"There are many, many positive things," said Bill Mayes of Ithaca, representing the 2,500-member Michigan Occupational Education Association. "We suggest the council take a look at the specificjob skills needed by high school graduates. Will Mudge of the National Federiation of Independent Business asked that small firms -- with 100 or fewer employees - be allocated a specific seat on the panel. Small firms rather than large corporations are providing two-thirds of the new jobs in the current economy, he said.

"A very valid issue," Keith agreed, but he resisted writing the allocation into the law. He suggested small business simply lobby state officials for an appointment.

The same plea came from Polly Reber, representing the 5,700-member Small Business Association of Michigan.

"Isn't it a problem," asked Rep. Susan Munsell, R-Howell, for someone from a small business to invest that kind of time in a state council?"

"We have that problem getting people to serve on our committees, Reber admitted. "But you can find a committed person.

State economy is No. 1 issue, survey says

Tom Shields, president of Marketing Resource Group Inc., presented the results of the poll Sept. 24 at the Michigan Chamber Conference on Taxes and the Economy at the Grand Traverse Resort in Traverse City.

The survey of 800 registered Michigan voters was conducted by Marketing Resource Group Inc. from Sept. 8-15 with a margin of error of plus or minus 3.5 percent, within a 95-percent degree of confidence. It shows the economy is the No. 1 issue. According to the chamber survey, 72 percent of voters say the most important problem in Michigan voters are more con- Michigan is unemployment or the track economy. This is up from 35 percent one year ago.

"The survey shows overwhelmingly that the economy is the key issue on voters' minds," said

"Last year, voters' concerns were more diverse. Now their concern over the economy dominates the issue agenda. People are unsure about an economic recovery. Almost two-thirds of Michigan voters believe the economy will worsen or stay the same in the next year," said Shields.

The poll also finds Michigan voters believe the direction of the state and the country are on the wrong track. Sixty-seven percent of voters surveyed say Michigan is on the wrong track, while 72 percent say the United States is on the wrong

On the tax issue, Shields said voters believe that businesses in Michigan are over-taxed. Forty-five percent of surveyed voters say taxes on businesses are too high, 23 percent say it's about right and 14 percent say taxes are too low.

"The survey shows people understand high taxes cost Michigan jobs. People think taxes on businesses in Michigan are too high. They also understand the relationship between taxes, jobs and the economy. I'm very disappointed by the anti-business tone of the campaign against Proposal C. The type of anti-employer rhetoric that has been used in campaigns against Proposal C is clearly at odds with what we found in the survey," said James Barrett, president of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

High court ruling on state aid to benefit local districts

Suburban school districts won half a loaf of state aid in the Michigan Supreme Court.

The high court ruled 4-3 Tuesday

■ The state was wrong to take away ("recapture") funds for categoricals - special education, transportation for special education students, bilingual instruction, and the lunch and supplemental milk program. The 1990 recapture cost more than 50 districts some $72 million.

■ The state doesn't have to pay school districts' Social Security taxes despite a 1956 agreement, "Social Security coverage is not a staterequired activity or service within the meaning of the Headlee amendment," said the high court majority.

The high court has sent the case to the Michigan Court of Appeals which will "quantify the amount of underfunding," said Dennis Pollard of Hardy, Lewis, Pollard and Page in Birmingham.

Pollard said it might take a year of two before the case is resolved.

"I would hope the court in the interest of the kids would try to prioritize its docket," he said. Pollard noted that the state contribution to schools has dropped significantly since 1978 - "from about 40 percent to less than 20 percent.

"Fhat's a significant drop off The court is now saying the state "must come back to 1978 levels.

ALthough Pollard hd not read the 89-page opinion when contacted early Wednesday morning, he said: "It looks as though it's a favorable decision. One of the most significant things is the ruling appears to be across the board - every distrct would stand to gain," said Pollard. .

The case was filed by Gerald Schmidt, a Warren Woods School joined by more than 50 other plaintiffs, mostly from the metropolitan suburbs and the Lake Michigan

Among the co-plaintiffs were: The Avondale, Birmingham, Farmington, Rochester, Southfield,

Troy and West Bloomfield school The Livonia, Plymouth-Canton

Dissenting - though for differing reasons - were Chief Justice Michael Cavanagh and Justices Charles Levin and Dorothy Comstock Riley.

Boyle's majority reversed a 1990 decision by the Court of Appeals' then-chief judge, Robert Danhof, who dismissed the suburban districts' case. Danhof, whom the suburbs viewed as their arch-foe, retired from the bench a year ago.

The case goes back to the Court

The complex decision revolves around two sections of the 1978 Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution.

Sec. 29 prohibits the state "from reducing the state financed proportion of the necessary costs of any existing activity or service required of units of local government . . new activity or service . . . shall not be required by the legislature. unless a state appropriation is made and disbursed to pay the unit of local government." Sec. 30 requires the state to pay units, the same proportion in effect

Wrote Boyle: "The state is obliggated to afford each unit providing the activity or service the same proportion of funding that the state provided on a statewide basis in the year that the Headlee amendment was ratified (1978)."

· She added: "Social Security covi erage is directly imposed by federal law and therefore is not required by state law within the meaning of Sec.

DREAMS: MORE THAN JUST SUGARPLUMS

by Kenneth Pitts, M.D.

Ever been chased by a pelican? Fallen off a rainbow? Walked around your old neighborhood at night and couldn't find your way home?

Maybe in your dreams. Dreams - those seemingly senseless movies we see in our minds at night -- are a phenomenon that's been around for 140 million years.

Although we still have a long way to go to really know what dreams are all about, we have learned quite a bit. One thing we know for sure: Our dreams can teach us much about ourselves and our problems

Dreams uncover painful pasts In 1905, psychoanalyst Sigmund Freud shared his beliefs that dreams had deep meaning, and were important tools in psychological treatment. a place in their minds for buried or Freud believed that everyone has repressed" information, which is not available to us by ordinary methods of recall. The buried information involves painful experiences, memories, and feelings related to disturbing events in our pasts. Although we are not aware of them, these repressed memories—knowledge about yourself and others are still active in our lives, and influence our current behavior.

Dreams, according to Freud, could help patients uncover the painful material that was causing unhealthy behavior. By confronting these painful experiences, recognizing, understanding, and accepting them, patients gained freedom to handle the conflict in a healthier way.

Freud's notions still apply today Today, it is widely believed that dreams perform a valuable function. When we dream, we are actually "thinking while asleep" be solving problems, easing tensions, and working out conflicts even when we're deep in slumber. Happy dreams may even compensate for the bad things happening in our lives. Don't feel bad if you can't interpret your dreams. Just the fact that you are dreaming means that you're accomplishing something. And if you're one of those people who says, "I don't dream," guess what? Everybody dreams

So, dream on! Even while you're asleep, you can gain a wealth of Both then-Gov. James Blanchard, a Democrat, and his successor, Republican John Engler, supported "recapture." They and key lawmakers of both parties saw it as a method of closing the gap between rich ($9,000 per student) and poor ($2,500) school districts.

The Supreme Court itself split across philosophical lines. The majority included Boyle and Mallett, both appointed by Blanchard, and Brickley and Griffin, with Republican backgrounds.

Chief Justice Cavanagh, in a lone dissent, upheld the state's position. Cavanagh said state aid should be calculated as a percentage of aid to all local school districts in the aggregate. "As long as the state is prevented from shifting its funding responsibilities onto local governments on an overall, statewide basis," Sec. 29 is satisfied, said one of the court's most liberal members.

State to help fund S'craft building

Barring unforseen circumstances, Schoolcraft College's new 61,000-square-foot building will go up without a new tax and be ready for the fall 1994 school year. Just goes to show what a little lobbying can do. In March, officials were worried that the state wouldn't agree to pay for half the construction cost because the economy is in the So college president Richard McDowell talked to a few state legislators, and the college hired a building's $7.8 million construc-"It didn't look real promising (in March)," said Adelard

The child care center, currently occupying a house, will move into the cinder-block building vacated by the counseling department. The three houses currently harboring the accounting office, pur-

Nobody has had time to figure out yet who will move into much of the empty space left after the move occurs, Raby said.

The three-story building will also hold 12 new classrooms, including four computer labs.

The computer labs were added after the original construction cost estimate ($7.2 million) was made, and boosted that estimate by $250,000, Raby said, Furthermore since the original estimate was made in 1990 presupposing a construction start in 1991, another $350,000 was tacked on due to

Most area ACT scores higher than state average

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

The American College Testing scores for college-bound, class-of-' 92 students in Observer-area schools are mostly higher than the state average, but five of them are down from last year.

The ACT exam is administered four times a year in Michigan schools. The individual scores are used by colleges and universities, in part, to decide who will be admitted. (Grades, course selection and extracurricular activities are also weighed.) The highest possible ACT score is 36.

The schools beating the state average (22.2) are Plymouth-Canton's two high schools (23.4), Thurston High School in Redford (22.7), Livonia's three high schools (23.6), Plymouth Christian Academy (23.4) and Detroit Catholic Central

The schools falling below the state average are Garden City High School (21.8), Redford Union High but one test does not make an edu-School (22.1) and Wayne-Memorial High School (20.9). Figures for John Glenn High School were not made available to the Observer.

Although five of the aforementioned schools (Plymouth-Canton, Thurston, Redford Union, Livonia and Catholic Central) posted lower scores than last year, school officials warn that average scores will usually decrease in direct proportion to the number of students taking the test.

The figures for Plymouth-Canton are a good example. The average ACT score for college-bound students decreased from 24.2 to 23.4 in the last two school years. But the number of students taking the test jumped from 274 to 364, too. The same applies to Livonia's three high schools, where 80 more collegebound kids took the test than last year and the average ACT score fell by half a point.

"I'm pleased with the high scores,

At Garden City High School, the average 1992 ACT score is lower than the state average, but it's also eight-tenths of a point higher than the year before.

Principal Geraldine Kiessel said she's "not at all ashamed of the fact that our students are scoring on the national average (22.0). We are an average kind of community with an average I.Q. number of students.

Kiessel added that between last year and this year there was a 14 percent increase in the number of students who scored 20 or more on the ACT, and she's proud of that.

Kiessel also said that the most wealthy school districts, Livonia forexample, will generally have higher ACT scores than their less-affluent counterparts. "Stevenson (High-School) always has off-the-wall scores, really high," she said. "The money people have the higher scores.

Al Edwards, the district's cation," said Plymouth-Canton search and evaluation specialist, schools spokesman Dick Egli. agreed with Kiessel in that "you" tend to find higher (ACT) scores in higher socioeconomic areas." Although Livonia's average score declined this year, Edwards said the most important factor is that 70 percent of the students who graduposed to 67 percent the year before. Thurston High School principal Stewart Schauder said he's happy with his students' ACT results, although less than 50 percent of the 1992 graduating class took the test ated last June took the test as op-

He said that the school is making si it "difficult for our kids not to be inthe core curriculum, (and) we know that students .can't be successful taking too many non-core courses

As for getting into a good university, Schauder said that a student's: ACT score is the most important factor, but grade point average and the kind of classes a student takes also weigh heavily.

Apprentice hopes to nail title

A 25-year-old Westland resident will compete this weekend in the International Carpentry Apprenticeship Contest and Exhibition at Cobo Hall. The award. Best Apprentice of 1992, includes a $1,500 cash prize.

By Anne Sullivan Special Writer

Dave Neighbor, a 25-year-old Westland resident, has a rare opportunity.

This weekend he will find out if he is the best in North America at what he does. Neighbor is competing in the International Carpentry Apprenticeship Contest and Exhibition at Cobo Hall, Oct. 4 and 5.

The award, Best Apprentice of 1992, includes a $1,500 cash prize.

He has already earned the title of best in Michigan. Now he will find out just how far his skills will carry him.

Neighbor got into carpentry because he always liked to build things. When he graduated from Huron Valley Lutheran High School in Westland, he purchased tools, and before he was married, he built a waterbed.

"I was always good at math," said Neighbor. "There's a lot of math in carpentry and it's kind of a natural ability."

Family supporters

Neighbor's cheering section at the competition this weekend will include his wife, Susan, and daughter, Daphne, who is 18 months old. The family lived in Garden City for three years before moving to Westland last year.

In addition to his wife and daughter, Neighbor's supporters also will include his parents, Bruce and Virginia Neighbor of Livonia and brothers, Brian, Doug and Greg.

Neighbor graduated from the Detroit Carpentry Joint Apprenticeship Training School in June. He was in a fouryear program there, which combined work and school. "My dad always told me to go to school and get a trade," said Neighbor. "I like to build things. My wife told me I should be a carpenter because I was always building around the house."

The encouragement and a taste of working professionally convinced Neighbor to pursue a career in carpenture.

Training needed

He now holds two certificates in carpentry, a federal certificate and one from the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

In school, Neighbor learned all the skills necessary in every phase of carpentry, from roughing in a building to finished carpentry, in both commercial and residential work.

To enroll in the training school, an individual must be working in the business, at a union job. The school has been open since 1941.

The competition is an annual event for students graduating from the Detroit school and other schools across the state.

Students are tested on everything they've learned in the four years and are given a project to build in eight hours. Judging is based on how much of the project is completed and how well it is done and how tolls are used.

The written test consists of the different aspects of carpentry. Past tests which Neighbor has taken have included questions ranging from welding to house framing to reading blue prints. He's not taking any chances and is spending this week re-reading all his material.

Working together: Foreman Mike Hubbort (right) goes over some blue prints with apprentice Dave Neighbor. Neighbor will compete this weekend for "Best Apprentice of 1992" honors at the Cobo Conference and Exhibition Center.

This competition is the culmination of area and state contests. Neighbor will compete against carpenter apprentice graduates from throughout the United States and Neighbor has worked primarily as a residential carpenter.

In March after he won the state competition he found out he was being laid off. But he was lucky. After taking the title as Michigan's Best Carpenter Apprentice he landed a job almost immediately. He works now as a commercial contractor at Walbridge and Aldinger in Detroit.

"The director of the school spreads the name of the winners," said Neighbor, adding that contributed to him landing the job so quickly.

"Carpentry tends to be one day out, one day in," said Neighbor.

As a career, Neighbor acknowledges that carpentry is risky, because of the nature of the work.

"It does tend to be driven by the economy, especially residential carpentry," said Neighbor.

He changed careers

Carpentry is a career change for Neighbor. He started working in broadcast and commercial video, but found it very difficult to get a career going in that field.

He got a job doing stage work, and liked building sets.

"They told me if I wanted to do that, I needed experience as a carpenter," said Neighbor. "I had a brother who was working as a carpenter and he helped me find my first job, then a union job."

Admission to the contest and exhibition to be held 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days is free.

Theater puts on new face for opening this week

BY TEDD SCHNEIDER STAFF WRITER

Call it the Mai Kai makeover.

Although as building rehabs go. the task of turning a 30-year-old western Wayne County movie house into a Broadway-style showcase for live theater, concerts and other events encompasses far more than a mere facelift.

A full-tilt personality transplant is more like it.

And with a day to go before the George Burns Theatre for the Performing Arts throws open its doors, the man overseeing this cosmetic surgery construction job is predicting rave reviews.

Going to the theater should be a special experience and the changes we're making will help that happen," said Michael Giddings, vice president for Center Stage Productions.

Giddings pointed out dozens of changes - both front row, center and behind the scenes - during a tour of the theater at Plymouth and Farmington roads.

A lobby with all new lighting, carpeting, wall and ceiling treatments and refreshment area head the list. Then there's the new, indoor ticket office (the old one becomes a valetparking stand), 'remodeled restrooms, facilities updated for disabled patrons

Backstage are remodeled dressing rooms, a fly loft for scene changes and stage lighting.

In all, Giddings estimates $750,000 worth of work before the curtain rises for George Burns and Florence Henderson Friday night

But the star of the whole production — the building itself remains intact, he said.

Theater officials took the recommendations of Birmingham designer Ron Rea and his Peterhansrea firm to heart in keeping the '60s feel and flair of the theater alive for its '90s reincarna-

Rea wanted to play off the art deco look of the theater's painted and gazed brick, glass expanses World's Fair pavilion. "We decided to maintain the integrity of the 1962 building and play upon the '60s to our advantage.

That, Giddings added, is something that was covered up during the building's brief, 1988 stint as a concert hall.

The Omni Star people came in and made the interior very con--temporary with the gold flaked walls and everything but it just didn't match the rest of the building," Giddings said.

'They didn't use the architeoture to their advantage."

The Burns will incorporate its namesake into the design as well.

Displays featuring quotes from the 96-year-old entertainer, his memorabilia and a contemporary graphics tribute will highlight the long lobby. A board with celebrity handprints of theater performers - a la Pine Knob's famous wall — is also planned.

Inside, patrons will be treated to wide, well-lit aisles, clean sight lines and 1,396 comfortable seats. The Burns will use the same seats redone by the Omni Star.

"Because of the intimate nature of the theater, even in the back row you're relatively close to the stage," Giddings said.

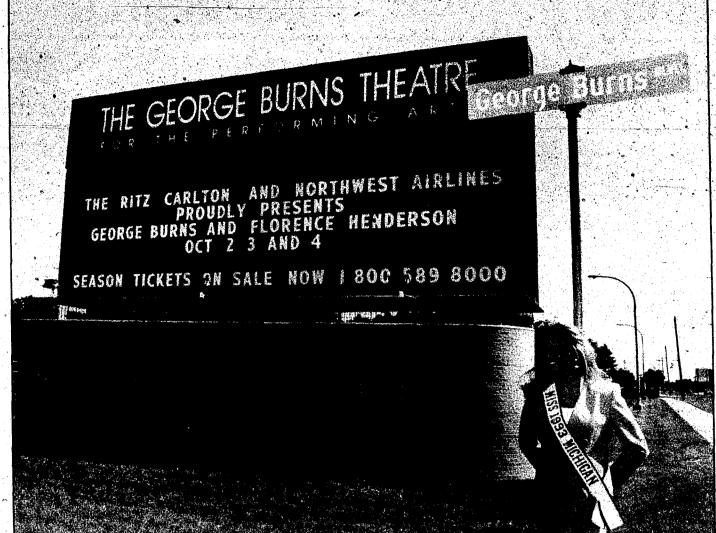

A section in the rear, center is being converted to portable seating and can be removed to accomodate wheelchairs, Giddings

The building's sprinkler system was updated as directed by the Livonia fire marshal.

Giddings said future plans may include construction of a cantilevered balcony to accomodate either additional seating, corporate suites or a combination.

"Eventually, we hope to rent the building out for corporate meetings and other events," he Streets renamed: Honorary street signs were installed Monday in Livonia to commemorate the opening of the George Burns Theatre for the Performing Arts. For the occasion, Farmington Road has been renamed George Burns Blvd. and Plymouth Road retitled Gracie Allen Road. The signs will be posted through Sunday, Oct. 4. Among those at the special ceremony Monday were 1993 Miss Michigan Shannon Clark. The theater opens Friday with Burns and Florence Henderson.

bus-and-truck shows can back right into the building, making set-up and tear-down easier. Auxiliary dressing rooms in trailers at the rear of the theatercould one day be replaced by a permanent addition, Giddings

A typical show will play a 7-10 day run at the Burns, with performances Wednesday-Sunday, said Bill Breidenbach, who is in charge of staging.

The first season will run 26 weeks with an anticipated expansion to 39 weeks in 1993 94, he said.

Shows typically bring in a crew of 30-40 with another 30 or so local technians hired for the run.

Just a few of the side effects a diabetic has to live with. Or die with.

Most of us know that diabetics must take daily insulin shots to control their disease. But what many people don't know is that even with the shots, a host of complications can arise. Like blindness. Kidney failure. Gangrene. Heart disease. And nerve damage.

If fact, it's these side effects of diabetes that are so brutal and often life-threatening. So please give to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. Because there's only one way to eliminate the complications. Eliminate the disease.

Mill feud

et's stop the squabbling and get on with the renovation and expansion of Nankin Mill, one of the jewels of Westland.

For generations, thousands of local elementary school children visited the building when it was used, in part, as a nature center.

About 10 years ago, the nature center was closed because of county budget problems.

But in recent years, the county and a private support group, Friends of the Mill, have worked together to spruce up the building, built in the mid-19th century and now used as the county's parks department headquarters.

Although there has been substantial progress in improving the three-level building, a dispute surfaced last week at the Westland City Council meeting when the county asked the city to approve a site plan.

The county, through parks director Hurley Coleman, feels the council is stalling the proposed renovation and expansion of the building, on Ann Arbor Trail near Farmington Road. On this issue, the county is dead wrong.

The council rejected the county's plans last week because architectural drawings were incomplete and there were concerns about the proposal plan from the building and fire departments.

But Coleman was concerned about any delay because the Friends of the Mill, which has raised thousands of dollars for the mill since it was formed five years ago, wants the project arted. The council should stand by its position that the county is asking the city for special consideration that it doesn't give other builders or developers.

The building of 8,700 square feet would be more than doubled with the 9,100-foot expansion, making it a much more improved nature center for children and adults who would visit

Mayor Robert Thomas, whose department heads have raised the building and fire concerns about the site plan, promised speedy cooperation with the county to speed up the required approval.

But councilman Kenneth Mehl is on the right track in insisting that the county follow the rules required of other builders and developers. Obviously, safety and fire requirements have to be met and the county is no exception. If safety is the issue, let's make sure it isn't compromised.

If the problem is "protecting your turf," let's stop squabbling like children and get on with the business at hand.

Everyone hopes the building's improvements will be done quickly, but let's not take short cuts which could lead to other problems.

While the council is right in defending its procedures and insisting on compliance with local ordinances, officials must be conscious that the mill is not a car wash or gas station expansion. The mill is certainly one of the city's jewels, albeit owned by the county, and should be put at the top of the council's agenda to quickly approve the revised site plan.

Reality cancels out allure of 'C'

roposal C sounds alluring — a 30 percent cut in school operating property taxes over five years. But in the name of public safety, we urge a "no" vote Nov. 3.

If it passes, the state by 1997 must find a way to reimburse local school districts $1.3 billion of the revenue they lose. And there's no way to pay for

"Cut & Cap" short of a major state tax increase or the North Carolinization of our state.

The state can't pay the $1.3 billion freight out of revenue growth. Look at the current $7.5 billion budget; One-third is for education, Engler's sacred cow; one-third is for welfare, which is driven by the caseload; $1 billion is for prisons. That leaves about $1.7 billion for the rest of state government and for Proposal C.

Even if the administration's 5 percent a year projected growth in revenue were realistic, there still wouldn't be $1.3 billion for Proposal C by 1997.

Engly and the State Chamber of Commerce won't consider a state tax increase. There's no way tuitions and state fees could be lifted high enough to raise $1.3 billion. So we'd be left with the North Carolinization of Michigan.

You remember the fire in the North Carolina chicken processing plant where 25 died, in part because the company had padlocked a possible escape door. No workplace inspector ever had set foot in the place.

You remember the two pension funds that went belly up in North Carolina because of inadequate state regulation. Hundreds of workers in their 50s were left high and dry.

Someone must pay for Proposal C. We fear it will be public safety. It's already happening:

- A year ago two workers at an auto parts maker in Ionia were crushed to death in a press. Afterward, a Labor Department inspector cited the firm 216 times for safety violations. The MIOSHA effort is staffed so poorly that it will take 13 years to inspect every worksite in the state once.
- Some 2,800 sex offenders are due for release from state prisons in the next two years. All probably should receive therapy, but only 1,000 are receiving it. Our prison population has doubled since 1985, but the number of psychologists is down by 20 to 76.
- The owner of two Farmington Hills insurance agencies was charged last March with converting more than $250,000 in premiums for his own use. State police, the Insurance Bureau and the Attorney General's office uncovered the scam. How many will they miss when staffs are laid off to pay for Proposal C?

Proposal C has a high pricetag in dollars and a bloody pricetag in human safety. Vote no.

PROP'C" AT ANY COST. ANY QUESTIONS? YEAH, DOES ANY OF THE GUYS HANDLERS UNDERSTAND ARM-ANNA-LEG? A NEW TV SHOW. THE PRICE ISN'T RIGHT.

LETTERS

realize teachers have a tough job. I taught for six years. But then so do I and a lot of other people. The difference is teachers are earning average salaries of $47,000 for a 10-month year.

I am a rehabilitation counselor with the Michigan Board of Education. Our agency works a 12-month year and we do not get a week off at Christmas or Easter.

The starting salary for rehabilitation counselors with a master's degree is about $23,000. Michigan teachers start at about $25,000 with a bachelor's degree.

A rehabilitation counselor averages $35,000 a year — the highest about $39,000 — with a 4-4.5-percent raise a year. However, because of budget constraints, our wages are frozen for this fiscal year.

We work with adults with chronic medical conditions, mental retardation, emotional and mental illness, who want to work. Even though our job is extremely tough, I enjoy it.

I am so tired of hearing teachers complain about their wages. As state rehabilitation counselors, we all earn the same pay for the same level across the state. That approach may solve the continual battle we hear over teachers' salaries. Then maybe they will start earning what their other Department of Education employees with the same education and seniority earn.

Our suburbs hold GOP hostage

ichigan, like the rest of the country, is becoming suburbanized. Chrysler's decision to move its corporate headquarters from urban Highland Park to suburban Auburn Hills merely symbolizes-the fundamental demographic transformation that has been taking place for the past 35 years.

It's no surprise that politics, too, are being transformed. Today's suburban electorate is unlike either the rural voters who dominated American politics in the 19th century or the urban voters who largely ran the show in the first half of the 20th.

Suburbanites in general:

- Own their own houses and therefore pay property taxes. They might be the first demographic group ever to be defined by their taxpaying status.
- Are skeptical of activist governments that take their tax money but use it to benefit somebody else.
- Tend, therefore, to oppose social welfare programs.
- Support, however, what might be called public works—i.e., governmental activities that benefit most folks.

These tendencies lie behind the major turning points in modern American politics. Political scientists call them "watershed elections," because they set the course of politics for the next 15 or 20 years.

Lyndon Johnson was forced from office in 1968 in part because the war in Vietnam was deeply unpopular with many of his liberal, younger constituents. But just as important, LBJ stood for the Great Society, a series of gov ernmental programs that took tax money from suburbanites and used it to benefit minorities.

Suburbanites were persuaded to take a chance on Ronald Reagan because he represent ed a way out of Jimmy Carter's Great Inflation that eroded the incomes and inflated the property taxes of suburbanites. "Are you better off now than you were four years ago?" is not only great political theater; it's solid suburban political economy.

PHILIP POWER

And now 12 years of Republican control are held hostage by the Great Recession that is hurting more white-collar workers (i.e., folks who live in the suburbs) than any other recession in our history. President Bush's nightmare is that those same suburbanites who sustained his party for so many years will be the same folks who find it in their interest to turn against him.

To win back suburbanites, Democrats must persuade them they can manage the economy better than Republicans have.

This would not be easy for a traditional, urban-centered Democratic politician who advocates social welfare programs and income redis-

But success might come to a politican who argues that America's froubles are rooted in failure to train and educate everybody in the workforce and who explains that the real reason for the crosion of our national competitiveness lies in an ideological fascination with trickledown passivism.

It's a strategy focused on folks who live in the suburbs.

And it explains just why Gov. Clinton was in suburban Macomb County two weeks ago and why President Bush last Saturday made a Michigan train trip stop in suburban Plym

Students will wise up to importance of this test

QUESTION: My son, a sophomore, doesn't really apply himself in high school. His couselor says he has above average ability. Now I understand that if he doesn't do well on his 10th grade MEAP (Michigan Educational Assessmen Test) this week, he won't graduate. Am I correct? What do you predict in all this?

ANSWER: Your son can graduate in 1994, but he won't receive a State of Michigan endorsed diploma, which means he lacks certain essential skills any boy with above average ability should have mastered after 13 years in

Said as kindly as possible, it means your above average ability son drifted through school by the course of least resistance. He probably was carried on the backs of kindly teachers who should have flunked him but didn't because they knew they would get him back next year anyway.

I know because I was one of those warm, fuzzy high school math teachers who taught a section of remedial math. It was a class where you felt successful if the kids remembered to bring a book and a pencil.

The responsibility is now on the student's back to perform. And parents are given three years (10-12th grades) to internalize the fact that it is their responsibility for their child turning off the hard rock and hitting the books.

On a softer note, school curriculum leaders recognize that times have changed. Geometry in my day was first introduced in the 10th grade. Basic geometric concepts are now taught in upper elementary. But kids adjust with the times.

Certainly any quality school district will set up special remediation experiences for those students who, for whatever reasons, didn't apply themselves. Indeed, some students just blew off the MEAP, knowing it had no impact on their graduation.

The real shocker will be when scores are posted and students start asking each other if they passed. We know high school peers can't run a number on their own peers. Now we have factors such as losing face, embarrasment in not passing 50 percent of a test that really only measures essential math and comprehension skills through the ninth grade.

I predict:

■ If 195 of 600 students in a school district failed, i.e. the math section on the first go around, about 35 percent or 68 students will pass on the retake. These 68 would have passed the first time if they had paid attention and worked at it.

After some refresher remediation (this means time after school), another 45 percent will pass. These students probably learned many of the essential skills but have poor recall and need immediate reinforcement prior to going into the testing environment. But this group also doesn't want its free time spent in after school study halls. So they form peer study groups and get

■ That leaves about 20 percent who won't get the message until their senior year. Being existentialists, they don't worry about yesterday nor tomorrow only today. In a normal, middle class community, almost all these children will eventually pass; it's just when.

■ A few won't pass and I believe these students are closet dyslexia, etc., which special education missed (and they don't miss many).

At one point in my career, probably when I was president of the Plymouth Education Association, I often viewed competency testing as a device to trap teachers. Now I believe the MEA and administrative organizations should endorse this effort. It is based on the principle that the student must take responsibility for his/her own learning.

Let's put the ball in the students' and parents' corner while, at the same time, helping parents with limited backgrounds through a massive, clearly articulated remediation program. It's our job! Community colleges shouldn't have to remediate 30 to 40 percent of high school graduates.

I taught driver education and math in my younger days, with the same kids in both classes. The students did minimal in remedial math without my continual badgering. I developed a tough driver ed exam that students were told they had to pass to get into the car to get a license.

The test included math questions such as, if a car weighing 1,000 pounds is going 60 miles per hour and needs X feet to stop, how far would a 2,500 pound vehicle take if it is on ice and the stopping distance is tripled? Students who failed the test formed study groups and all students passed their driver ed math. They had an incentive.

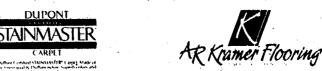

Create the need and kids will rise to the occasion.

et's stop the squabbling and get on with the renovation and expansion of Nankin Mill, one of the jewels of Westland.

For generations, thousands of local elementary school children visited the building when it was used, in part, as a nature center. About 10 years ago, the nature center was closed because of county budget problems.

But in recent years, the county and a private support group, Friends of the Mill, have worked together to spruce up the building, built in the mid-19th century and now used as the county's parks department headquarters.

Although there has been substantial progress in improving the three-level building, a dispute surfaced last week at the Westland City Council meeting when the county asked the city to approve a site plan.

The county, through parks director Hurley Coleman, feels the council is stalling the proposed renovation and expansion of the building, on Ann Arbor Trail near Farmington Road. On this issue, the county is dead wrong.

The council rejected the county's plans last week because architectural drawings were incomplete and there were concerns about the . proposal plan from the building and fire depart-

But Coleman was concerned about any delay because the Friends of the Mill, which has raised thousands of dollars for the mill since it was formed five years ago, wants the project

The council should stand by its position that the county is asking the city for special consideration that it doesn't give other builders or de-

The building of 8,700 square feet would be more than doubled with the 9,100-foot expansion, making it a much more improved nature center for children and adults who would visit

Mayor Robert Thomas, whose department heads have raised the building and fire concerns about the site plan, promised speedy cooperation with the county to speed up the required approval.

But councilman Kenneth Mehl is on the right track in insisting that the county follow the rules required of other builders and developers. Obviously, safety and fire requirements have to be met and the county is no exception. If safety is the issue, let's make sure it isn't compromised.

If the problem is "protecting your turf," let's stop squabbling like children and get on with the business at hand.

Everyone hopes the building's improvements will be done quickly, but let's not take short cuts which could lead to other problems.

While the council is right in defending its procedures and insisting on compliance with local ordinances, officials must be conscious that the mill is not a car wash or gas station expansion. The mill is certainly one of the city's jewels, albeit owned by the county, and should be put at the top of the council's agenda to quickly approve the revised site plan.

'Don't complain'

realize teachers have a tough job. I taught for six years. But then so do I and a lot of other people. The difference is teachers are earning average salaries of $47,000 for a 10-

I am a rehabilitation counselor with the Michigan Board of Education. Our agency works a 12-month year and we do not get a week off at Christmas or Easter.

The starting salary for rehabilitation counselors with a master's degree is about $23,000. Michigan teachers start at about $25,000 with a bachelor's degree.

A rehabilitation counselor averages $35,000 a year — the highest about $39,000 — with a 4-4.5-percent raise a year. However, because of budget constraints, our wages are frozen for this fiscal year.

We work with adults with chronic medical conditions, mental retardation, emotional and mental illness, who want to work. Even though our job is extremely tough, I enjoy it.

I am so tired of hearing teachers complain about their wages. As state rehabilitation counselors, we all earn the same pay for the same level across the state. That approach may solve the continual battle we hear over teachers' salaries. Then maybe they will start earning what their other Department of Education employees with the same education and seniority earn.

Reality cancels out allure of 'C'

roposal C sounds alluring — a 30 percent cut in school operating property taxes over five years. But in the name of public safety, we urge a "no" vote Nov. 3.

If it passes, the state by 1997 must find a way to reimburse local school districts $1.3 billion of the revenue they lose. And there's no way to pay for

"Cut & Cap" short of a major state tax increase or the North Carolinization of our state.

The state can't pay the $1.3 billion freight out of revenue growth. Look at the current $7.5 billion budget: One-third is for education, Engler's sacred cow; one-third is for welfare, which is driven by the caseload; $1 billion is for prisons. That leaves about $1.7 billion for the rest of state government and for Proposal C.

. Even if the administration's 5 percent a year projected growth in revenue were realistic, there still wouldn't be $1.3 billion for Proposal C by Engler and the State Chamber of Commerce won't consider a state tax increase. There's no way tuitions and state fees could be lifted high enough to raise $1.3 billion. So we'd be left with the North Carolinization of Michigan.

You remember the fire in the North Carolina chicken processing plant where 25 died, in part because the company had padlocked a possible escape door. No workplace inspector ever had set foot in the place.

You remember the two pension funds that went belly up in North Carolina because of inadequate state regulation. Hundreds of workers in their 50s were left high and dry.

Someone must pay for Proposal C. We fear it will be public safety. It's already happening:

- A year ago two workers at an auto parts maker in Ionia were crushed to death in a press. Afterward, a Labor Department inspector cited the firm 216 times for safety violations. The MIOSHA effort is staffed so poorly that it will take 13 years to inspect every worksite in the
- Some 2,800 sex offenders are due for release from state prisons in the next two years. All probably should receive therapy, but only 1,000 are receiving it. Our prison population has doubled since 1985, but the number of psychologists is down by 20 to 76.
- The owner of two Farmington Hills insurance agencies was charged last March with converting more than $250,000 in premiums for his own use. State police, the Insurance Bureau and the Attorney General's office uncovered the scam. How many will they miss when staffs are laid off to pay for Proposal C?

Proposal C has a high pricetag in dollars and a bloody pricetag in human safety. Vote no.

Our suburbs hold GOP hostage

ichigan, like the rest of the country, is becoming suburbanized. Chrysler's decision to move its corporate headquarm urban Highland Park to suburban Auburn Hills merely symbolizes the fundamental demographic transformation that has been taking place for the past 35 years.

It's no surprise that politics, too, are being transformed. Today's suburban electorate is unlike either the rural voters who dominated American politics in the 19th century or the urban voters who largely ran the show in the first half of the 20th.

Suburbanites in general:

- Own their own houses and therefore pay. property taxes. They might be the first demographic group ever to be defined by their taxpaying status.
- Are skeptical of activist governments that take their tax money but use it to benefit some-
- Tend, therefore, to oppose social welfare
- Support, however, what might be called public works - i.e., governmental activities that benefit most folks.

These tendencies lie behind the major turning points in modern American politics. Political scientists call them "watershed elections," because they set the course of politics for the next 15 or 20 years.

Lyndon Johnson was forced from office in 1968 in part because the war in Vietnam was deeply unpopular with many of his liberal, younger constituents. But just as important, LBJ stood for the Great Society, a series of gov ernmental programs that took tax money from suburbanites and used it to benefit minorities

Suburbanites were persuaded to take a chance on Ronald Reagan because he represent ed a way out of Jimmy Carter's Great Inflation that eroded the incomes and inflated the property taxes of suburbanites. "Are you better off now than you were four years ago?" is not only great political theater; it's solid suburban polit ical economy.

PHILIP POWER

And now 12 years of Republican control are held hostage by the Great Recession that is hurting more white-collar workers (i.e., folks who live in the suburbs) than any other recession in our history. President Bush's nightmare is that those same suburbanites who sustained his party for so many years will be the same folks who find it in their interest to turn against

To win back suburbanites, Democrats must persuade them they can manage the economy better than Republicans have.

This would not be easy for a traditional, urban-centered Democratic politician who advocates social welfare programs and income redistribution.

But success might come to a politican who árgues that America's troubles are rooted in failure to train and educate everybody in the workforce and who explains that the real reason for the erosion of our national competitiveness lies in an ideological fascination with trickledown passivism.

It's a strategy focused on folks who live in the Long drive qualifier

Qualifying in District No. 7 with drive of 343 yards, 3 inches, Livonian Rob Peterson is one of 39 competitors from across the country entered in the Chrysler National Long Driving Championship, set for Saturday and Sunday in Boca Raton (Fla.) Resort and

The 18th annual event, with a total purse of $60,000, includes five former champions including defending champ Art Sellinger of Irving. Texas.

The winner will receive $18,000 and a new Chrysler Concorde.

Peters and Michael Kintis of Kalamazoo are the lone entries from Michigan.

Daniels named coach

Bob Daniels, a 1977 graduate of Livonia Churchill High School, was named Tuesday as the new head hockey coach at Ferris State University.

Daniels, a three-year assistant at Ferris, recently became interim coach for the Bulldogs following the resignation of former two-year coach Bob Mancini, who left for Michigan Tech.

Ferris is coming off its best finish ever (third place) in the Central Collegiate Hockey League.

"Bob brings a terrific strength of character to the position and gives the obvious continuity we need to face the challenges that lie ahead," Ferris State athletic director Dean Davenport said.

Daniels, 33, played collegiately at Michigan State, receiving a bachelor of arts in accounting in 1982. He holds a masters in sports organization from Miami of

He started his collegiate coaching career at Miami as a graduate assistant before moving to University of Illinois-Chicago (1987-89). He joined the Ferris coaching staff as an assistant in 1990.

Daniels was also three-time Coach of the Year in the North American Junior Hockey League (1983-86) with the Hennessy Engineers. He was an assistant coach at the 1986 U.S. Olympic Sports Festival.

National Trails fourth in 50-over World Series

Area players posted impressive numbers in the Senior Softball World Series last week at Canton Softball Center, but their team settled for fourth place in the 50-and-over division for the second year in a row.

By Dan O'Meara Staff Writer

The National Trails players had hoped to be hometown champions in the Senior Softball World Series at Canton Softball Center last week.

Instead, the 50-and-over team comprised of Observerland men, earned a respectable fourth-place finish for the second consecutive year. The Old A's from California won the division title.

'From what we saw, we think we were as good as any other team." National Trails players Bob Kaump said. "With a couple breaks, we could have won the whole thing.'

Kaump noted that Nothdurft Tool from the East Side had mercied runnerup Miami Masters 20-5 in the pre-tournament seeding round.

"I guess it shows there is a lot of parity in the 50-and-over age group," Kaump said. "Eight to 10 teams couldhave won it, and (the winning team) just has to stay hot and healthy.

In the elimination round Friday, National Trails defeated Pet Rock 12-6 and rallied from a 13-0 deficit to nip Pittsburgh Gold 14-13. Trails trailed 13-8 going into the last inning when it scored the necessary six runs with eight

'All of (the hits) were clean," Kaump said. "None of them were tainted or errors. We just hit the ball. We had a lot of people say it was the nicest comeback they've seen in quite awhile.'

National Trails lost 9-8 to the Old A's on Saturday, rebounded with a 26-11 victory over Betty and Jake's of Maryland but was eliminated 8-4 by Kap Vending of California.

'We were awfully close; we just didn't get to finish when we had to," Kaump said. "We played some pretty good teams and did all right. We were fourth in the world, and we're pleased with that."

Pete Woodard of Plymouth was the team's leading hitter with a .777 average in nine games. He had 21 hits in 27 chances, scored 17 runs and drove in another 24.

Other leaders were Milo Karhu (Farmington Hills), .774 (24-31), 18 runs, 11 RBI; Chuck Hebestreit (Livonia), .592 (16-27), 15 runs, 15 RBI; Kaump (Redford), .535 (15-28), 12 runs, five RBI; and Ken Johnson (Livonia), .500 (11-22), six runs, seven RBI.

The National Trails roster also includes Bob Delfgauw and Vaughn Covert (Redford), Jerry Ratkowicz and Joe Martin (Canton), Don Dombey (Livonia), Jim Newman and Don Phillippi (Northville), Al Moran (Farmington Hills), John Fawcett (Plymouth) and, from areas other than western Wayne County, David Storvis, Joe Gamrat, Dave Pusz, John Sprys and Jim Raniszewski.

National Trails is managed by Terry Lockey of Plymouth and coached by Bill Hannan of Redford. Al and Rich Frank are the sponsors.

The age-group winners were the 75over Olympic Seniors (Los Angeles), the 70-over San Diego Silver Hawks, the 65-over Fountain Valley Barons (Anaheim), the 60-over California Gold Rush and the 55-over Northern California Angels.

Shamrocks hold edge in DePorres re-match

By Brad Emons and Dan O'Meara Staff Writers

The nip-and-tuck battle between your friendly prognosticators continued as the season progresses into week No. 5 of high school football.

By virtue of correctly picking 12 of 15 games, the smiling Welshman (Brad Emons) holds a slim advantage over the frowning Irishman (Dan O'Meara).

Emons is 44-15 overall, while O'Meara, 11-4 a week ago, drops to 43-16 for the year.

Here is a preview of this weekend's action:

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all 7:30 p.m.)

Liv. Churchill at W.L. Western: Churchill is winless in four starts, losing to three potential playoff teams. Western, meanwhile, is unbeaten and coming off its biggest victory in school history, a 21-7 triumph over Farmington Harrison. PICKS — Western rolls again.

Farmington at Liv. Stevenson: Something has got to give as both teams seek their first victory of the year. Stevenson had lost by an average of only 5.3 points until last week's 49-0 drubbing at the hands of unbeaten Westland John Glenn. The Falcons are also reeling following last week's 14-7 loss to Walled Lake Central. PICKS - Stevenson clips the Falcons.

Westland Glenn at Ply. Salem: The Rockets have outscored their first four opponents 168-21. Salem (2-2) is fresh The Rocks handled Glenn last year, 28-7, but the shoe could be on the other foot time as Glenn comes at you with offensive weapons in droves led by tallbacks Joe Paddock and Matt Howton (56 yards rushing on one drive and a TD against Stevenson), quarterback Brian Morrison, tight end Mike Bint, receivers Bryan PICKS — The Rockets keep orbiting.

Dbn. Edsel Ford at Garden City: This is a key game in the Northwest Suburban League. The Cougars (3-1) are led by quarterback Scott Latham and running back Jeff Grace. Edsel (1-3), the preseason NSL favorite, relies on Mike Hazimeh.

GRID PICKS

who rushed for 100 yards last week in a 21-14 win over Redford Union. Cougars claw their way to victory, Emons says.

Redford Union at Jackson Northwest: Northwest's defense has been lost somewhere in the Territories. The Mounties have mounted up losses to Haslett (23-O), Eaton Rapids (61-28), Jackson Lumen Christi (34-6) and Tecumseh (48-0). Their offensive attack is led by quarterback Matt Webb, who has thrown for 768 yards (67 of 137) and five touchdowns. His favorite receiver is Mike Nau (25 catches/226 yards), RU, meanwhile, is steaming mad after missing out on an opportunity to beat Edsel Ford. PICKS -RU ready for a Panther victory?, both say Lincoln Park at Wayne Memorial: The Zebras (2-2) earned their stripes last week with a 22-15 victory over Wolverine League favorite Wyandotte. Lincoln Park (2-2), led by quarterback Phil Barbosa, was ambushed last week, 27-18, by Belleville. Which Wayne team will show up this week? PICKS — O'Meara likes the Railsplitters, but Emons plays a hunch and goes with Wayne.

Roch. Hills Lutheran NW at Liv. Clarenceville: Last Saturday, Clarenceville (1-3) played well enough to win, losing 7-6 to Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook. Northwest (0-4) played Mount Clemens Lutheran North tough before losing 14-7. PICKS — Clarenceville wins its second Metro Conference game.

Bishop Borgess vs. Riverview Gab. Richard (at Garden City Junior High): Borgess is 0-4 under first-year coach Craig James. Upcoming Tri-Sectional foe Gabriel Richard (3-1) pounded Allen Park Cabrini last week, 34-7, as Matt White scored three TDs, rushing for 226 yards on 21 carries. PICKS - King Richard

St. Agatha vs. Royal Oak Shrine (at Besco, John Miller and Derek Besco. Royal Oak Kimball): Shrine earned its first victory of the year on Saturday a lastminute pass to beat Dearborn St. Alphonsus. The Aggles (3-1) have captured three straight since a season-opening 6-0 loss to Redford Thurston, Halfback Mike Tymczak, who had 118 yards in last week's win over Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, joins quarterback Paul Parsell to lead the Agatha offense. PICKS - Aggies steer toward another win.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all 1 p.m. unless noted)

Northville at Livonia Franklin: The unbeaten Patriots (4-0) have all the incentive in the world to win this one after blowing a 16-point lead in the final quarter to the Mustangs (3-1) last season. Franklin, potentially headed for a Western Division showdown with Walled Lake Western, is also playing at home (which should help). PICKS — Franklin flies a should help). PICKS kite, eletrocutes Northville.

Ply. Canton at Farm. Harrison, noon: The Hawks have lost two straight, but in their defense, it was against two quality football teams (Franklin and Western). Canton (0-4) should be more to their like ing, although the Chiefs lost two games (Monroe and Northville) they should have won. PICKS — Harrison gets that win-

W.L. Central at N. Farmington, 1:15 p.m.: North tailback Todd Anderson has piled up 634 yards rushing in four games as the Raiders are off to a 3-1 start. Central (2-2) clipped Farmington last week, 14-7, to even its Lakes Division record at 1-1. PICKS — Anderson should reach the 800 plateau before the afternoon is over as North rolls.

Taylor Center at Red. Thurston: What's this? Thurston (3-1) scored 25 points and gave up 20 to Taylor Kennedy? The Eagles' surprisingly high point total on both ends could signal something is up. Taylor Center, meanwhile, is winless after losing in the final minute last week to 3-1 Melvindale. PICKS - Thurston continues its error-free football with another Tri-River League win.

Lutheran Westland at B.H. Cranbrook: The Warriors (1-3) have generated little offense since joining the Metro Conference. Coming off a pair of shutouts, Lutheran Westland is facing a Cranbrook (2-2) team which edged Clarenceville last week, 7-6. Lutheran Westland lost the week before to Clarenceville, 25-0. - The Cranes win comfortably.

Redford CC vs. Det. DePorres (7:30 p.m. at Clarenceville): This is the key matchup of the week between the Catho-Ilc League's best and unbeaten. DePorres upset CC in last year's Catholic League final, 16-15, on Charles Winters' spectacular run. Ronnie Austion has stepped in and picked up the slack for the graduated. Winters at tallback. The defense, mean-while, has not allowed a point in wins over Dearborn Fordson, Villanova (Ontario)
Catholic, Allen Park Cabrini and Madison Heights Bishop Foley. CC's defense has been just as stingy, while the offense has been scoring points in buriches. PICKS The Shamrocks need no luck, clipping

Ocelots overtake Cuyahoga in OT

Schoolcraft College men's soccer coach Van Dimitriou knew what to expect — a tough road match, one that could decide the NJCAA Region 12 champion.

That's exactly what the Ocelots got Saturday at Cuyahoga CC, outside Cleveland. And they survived this test, displaying the mettle of a champion with a come-from-behind 5-2 overtime victory.

The win boosted SC's record to 5-0 (7-0 overall) halfway through its region schedule. Cuyahoga is 4-1, with Macomb CC next at 3-2

'This team had a lot of individual talent, more than even we have." Dimitriou said of Cuvehoga. "But they found out our team has character. Our guys never, never did not think they would

Time nearly ran out on the Ocelots, however, who were without forward Matt Lividini, out with a hamstring pull. Cuyahoga scored twice in the first 30 minutes of the match, and it remained that way until late in the game, although SC had chances.

But the tide didn't change until Cuyahoga started losing its composure. First its coach was red-carded, then the team captain was, both midway through the second half.

Still, SC failed to find the net until Dominic Vella took command in the final four minutes. 'He was dominant," said Dimitriou. "That was the best game I've seen a Schoolcraft player play since Nick O'Shea in 1980."

Vella, from Livonia Churchill. headed in a Dave Matovski cross with four minutes left in regulation to finally put the Ocelots on the board. Two minutes later, Vella headed in a Cosenza corner kick to knot it at 2-all.

The lovertime periods were dominated by SC. Another Cuvahoga player was red-carded. leaving the home team with nine players. Three minutes into the second overtime, stopper Greg Wolters put SC ahead 3-2, converting a cross from Tim Lampi.

Cosenza ended his frustrations with a goal a minute later, on a pass from Sean Ryan, and a minute after that Jeff Cardinal punched home the rebound of a Brian Hauman shot to make it 5-2. Cosenza also assisted on Cardinal's goal.

■ SC WOMEN'S SOCCER

When going up against two of the nation's top six teams, and your team is struggling, hope is about all there is to cling to.

Lady Ocelot soccer coach Nick O'Shea knew his team was in for trouble last weekend when it hosted the Schoolcraft Invitational. On Saturday, the Lady Ocelots went up against sixthranked Florissant Valley CC; on Sunday, they met top-ranked SC lost both, but played well against Flo Valley in a 2-0 loss. The performance wasn't as good against Meramec, a 6-0 defeat.

"We played real good the first day." said O'Shea, whose team is now 1-7-1 for the season. "We were moving some players around, and we were definitely more aggressive. They're starting to get the hang of playing at this level."

But at the end of the Flo Valley game, stopper Becca Raymor received her second yellow card, putting her on the sidelines for the rest of that match and SC's next one against Meramec. That dented SC's chances.

Meramec, which beat Farmingdale 2-0 Saturday, won the tourney title for the third-straight year.

SC VOLLEYBALL

The Lady Ocelots warmed up for this weekend's Schoolcraft Ocelot Invitational with a 15-12, 15-7, 15-7 win at Macomb CC Tuesday. The victory lifted SC's record to 9-2-20 overall, 3-0 in the Eastern Conference.

Nancy Ehlert led the attack with nine kills and 14 assists-tokills; she also had 12 digs. Julie Wood had seven kills, 14 digs and two service aces, and Dani Sheehy had six kills, one solo block and four block assists.

On Friday and Saturday, SC will play host to seven other teams - five from Illinois. The Illinois teams are Elgin, Kankakee, McHenry, Belleville and Parkland: in-state teams competing are Mott and Lake Michigan. Elgin, Kankakee, Belleville and SC are expected to be among those ranked in the first NJCAA

SC opens its Invitational playing conference rival Mott at 1 p.m. Friday. The Ocelots also play Belleville (6 p.m.) and McHenry (7:15 p.m.) Friday. Last weekend, SC played three matches at Tri-State University, winning two.

Crusaders climb in polls

The challenges confronting Madonna University's volleyball team this season are the same, in one way in particular - Northwood Insti-

The Northwomen have dominated the NAIA District 23 for years. When Madonna defeated them in a regular-season match last season, it marked the first time Northwood had lost to a district team in a halfdozen years. The Northwomen avenged that defeat by upsetting Madonna in the district tournament at Madonna.

That end-of-the-season disappointment kept the Lady Crusaders from realizing their No. 1 goal: the NAIA Tournament. Northwood went on to finish third nationally.

Making "the Tournament" remains as Madonna's top priority. But winning the district tournament may not be necessary - there may be another way.

The Crusaders are currently ranked 15th in the NAIA. It's a new situation for them; they improved their record to 16-3 Tuesday with their eighth-straight victory, a 15-5. 15-6, 15-3 triumph over visiting Tri-State University (from Angola, Ind.). Madonna is 2-0 in the dis-

"I don't worry about that stuff," said coach Jerry Abraham, trying to shrug the rankings off. Then he added: "We're excited about it, yeah. We have to get into the top 10 (in the country) to get an at-large bid if we don't win it outright."

Only four at-large bids to the NAIA Tournament are issued. Those top-25 teams that don't win their district championships are the first to land one.

MADONNA

Perhaps Madonna won't have to worry about rankings. A win Tuesday would go a long way toward eliminating the need — the Crusaders play at Northwood, the only regular-season meeting between the two powerhouses scheduled. Northwood is ranked fourth in the NAIA with a 14-3 record.

With five senior starters, including All-American Cindy Choban, the Northwomen will be difficult to beat. But Madonna has shown some firepower, too.

Like outside hitter Elena Oparka, a Schoolcraft College graduate who has been unstoppable the last few weeks. Oparka's hard hitting earned her district player of the week hon-

In the victory over Tri-State, she had 14 kills with a .650 kill average. Dana Finley had 12 kills (.500), Tonia Smith totaled nine kills (.750) and 15 digs, and Maureen Paulin collected eight kills (.425) and 14 kills (13 per game).

But Tri-State and Northwood are worlds apart. Still, Abraham is convinced his team can meet - and beat - the challenge ahead: "We're going to get better and better and better. We have a lot of depth and experience. As long as Mazie continues to set well and improve . . she's the key..

"I'm pleased with what she's doing. She's been doing a great job. But as our hitters keep improving, she has to step up. A setter can't afford an off-day against a good team."

Last Saturday, Madonna traveled to National Lewis University for a pair of matches, winning both. The Crusaders defeated Lewis 15-8, 15-11, 15-8 and Wisconsin Lutheran 15-10, 15-9, 15-17, 15-5.

Against Lewis, Oparka had 19 kills (.633) and three service aces; Finley had 12 kills (.454); Smith had eight kills (.313), 17 digs and five aces; and Pilut had 37 assiststo-kills (12.3), two solo blocks and two block assists.

Joelle Smith paced the Cougars with eight points, while teammate Kim Kanable added seven.

Ladywood wins 9th

Unbeaten Livonia Ladywood had bit of a struggle Tuesday before downing host Dearborn Divine Child, 65-55.

The Blazers won it at the free throw line, hitting 21 of 29 (72.4 percent):

Senior guard Mary Jo Kelly led the victorious Blazers (9-0 overall, 2-0 Central Division) with 23 points. She hit 16 of 16 from the line in the second half.

Sophomores Tara Overaitis and Melissa Campeau added 13 and 12, respectively.

Jessica Toth paced the host Falcons (5-3, 0-2) with 12 points.

Lutheran Westland wins

Sopliomore center Jenny Pruchnik scored 16 points Tuesday, leading Lutheran High Westland to a 51-21 Metro Conference victory at Detroit Lutheran West.

Sophomore guard Amy Gentz added nine points, while senior forward Lori Mackay grabbed eight rebounds for the Warriors, now 4-3 overall and 2-0 in the Metro.

The host Leopards, who trailed 25-11 at intermission, fell to 2-5 overall and 0-2 in the conference.

Liggett trips Trojans

In another Metro encounter Tuesday, host Grosse Pointe University-Liggett turned back Livonia Clarenceville, 39-30.

The first quarter proved to be the difference as the Knights outscored Clarenceville 11-4.

Wendy Roy scored 12 points in a losing cause, while senior pointguard Angie Wakefield was next best with six.

Extra point beats C'ville

By MARTY BUDNER STAFF WRITER

Cranbrook and Livonia Clarenceville played a Metro Conference football game Saturday afternoon in Bloomfield Hills, but it was hard to tell which was the better team.

The only difference was an extra point as the host Cranes won 7-6.

As the score suggests, it was a "slugfest matching two virtually even teams.

Check out the game statistics. Each team had 11 first downs. Each team punted four teams. Each team threw the ball less than six times. Each team had one intercep-Cranbrook compiled 229 total yards; Clarenceville had 236. It can't get much closer.

"They're a tough, hard-nosed team," said Cranbrook first-year coach Del Walden. "I never thought for a minute they'd be easy for us."

Clarenceville coach Russ McKenzie had a similar post-game analy-

"It was a very close game . . . I thought it was a pretty even game on both sides," he said.

The similarities even touched the scorii g. Each team registered their points in the second quarter.

Cranbrook, taking advantage of a Clarenceville fumble (recovered by Crane defender Michael Howell), struck first.

Four plays after the recovery, the Cranes scored when senior Roger Mali broke through the middle of the Clarenceville line, cut down the left sideline, eluded an attempted diving tackle by Trojan defender Mark Kaljevic, and scampered into the corner of the end zone.

The game's critical play turned out to be the successful extra-point kick by Jeffrey Hurlbert.

But the Trojans answered on their ensuing series. Clarenceville went 75 yards in just four plays, highlighted by a 52-yard rumble down the sideline by 200-pound senior Todd Soop. The Trojans' attempted two-point conversion pass was unsuccessful.

Clarenceville enjoyed a slight offensive advantage in the second half, running 30 plays to Cranbrook's 24.

Late in the game, the Trojans left Cranbrook with the ball at the Crane 8. Clareficeville hoped to hold defensively and get the ball back in relatively good field position with a couple minutes left. But the strategy backfired when the Cranes came up with a couple key first downs on runs by Matthew Brown and Howell.

"We thought we could pin them down there and get the ball back," said McKenzie. "But it didn't work out.

Cranbrook's leading ground gainer was Marcus Mancuso with 116 yards in his best outing of the year. Howell paced the defense with 11 solo tackles and a couple fumble re-

"We made some mistakes and had some penalties that got us in trouble," said Del Walden. "And we need to work on getting our outside game going."

Carl Holston led the Trojans with 101 yards in 17 carries, while Soop contributed 78 yards in seven at-

The Trojans had 234 total yards, 196 coming on the ground.

Defensively, Ryan McEwen recorded seven solo tackles, including two sacks, and three assists. Soop was in on five solos and five assists, while Steve Parks figured in eight tackles.

Warriors blanked again

In another Metro Conference-West Division game Saturday, host Lutheran High Westland (1-3) could not contain unbeaten Detroit Lutheran West, falling to the Leopards, 36-0.

Robert Walker, a junior tailback, scored a pair of touchdowns while rushing for 142 yards on 23 carries. He also intercepted three passes, including a 65-yard TD return.

The Warriors have been shut in their first two Metro starts.

Healthy Churchill blanks Troy, 2-0 Livonia Churchill is starting to put things together in boys soccer. The Chargers ran their overall:

season record to 6-3-2 with a 2-0 win Monday over visiting Troy

Goalie Kal Kaliszewski recorded his seventh shutout of the year, backed by a stingy defense led by junior Brian O'Beirne at sweeper, along with Brian Peters, Kevin Callaway and Justin Monson.

'I'm happy with our team, we finally have all our injuries healed." Churchill coach Mark Mason said. "This is the first game where we've had a healthy team.'

Churchill led 1-0 at halftime when senior midfielder Kevin DeHority scored on a throw-in from Charlie Roberts. At the 13-minute of the second half, Vince DeMassa sent a cross to Roberts, who booted in home for Churchill's second goal.

The Titan soccer team, loaded with local talent, is holding its own thus far under the guidance of firstyear coach Morris Lupenec. U-DM was 4-3-1 through last Sunday's win over Valparaiso, and had a four-game unbeaten streak going.

Freshman defender Scott Wiggins (from Livonia Stevenson) had done his part. Wiggins was one of two Titans named to the Bradley Invitational all-tournament team; he had one assist entering last week's games. Freshman midfielder Dario Rauker (Livonia Churchill) had two goals and an assist in U-DM's first eight games.

George Burns to check out theater

Broadway comes to the suburbs with the grand opening of the new George Burns Theatre for the Performing Arts in Livonia.

BY KEELY WYGONIK

"Fall in love with what you're doing," that's the secret to George Burns' success. At 96, he's still performing, and loving every minute of it. "I love show business, and I'll be very glad to come to the Detroit area," said Burns who will dedicate his one and only namesake theatre, the George Burns Theatre for the Performing Arts on the corner of Plymouth and Farmington Roads in Livonia. He will be appearing with special guest Florence Henderson, accompanied by a 21-piece orchestra, Oct. 2, 3 and 4. Tickets are still available for the 8 p.m. Saturday Oct. 3 and 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 4 shows.

'No, I haven't performed with her before, but she's good. She'll do the first half of the show, I'll do the second. I'll sing a little, dance, talk."

Stuart Gorelick, president of Center Stage Productions, Inc., owner and producer of the George Burns Theatre for the Performing Arts, said he's probably George Burns' number one fan.

It will be George Burns' first visit to Livonia. The last time he performed in Detroit was four or five years ago.

When asked what's it's like to have a theater named after you he said - "it feels great.

"We're bringing Broadway to the suburbs." Gorelick said. "There are definitely a lot of people in this area that really do enjoy Broadway type enter tainment, and maybe they're hesitant about going downtown. People like the

LSO opens 19th season with outstanding pianist

By Linda Ann Chomin Special Writer

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra's 1992-93 season promises excitement and listening pleasure for the entire family with classical and iazz performances by flutist Alexander Zonjic, the world premiere of a guitar concerto by James Lentini, and the debut of a children's concert series.

"This is the biggest advance, a leaping forward with national and international guest soloists. Armando Ghitalla was first trumpet with the Boston Symphony for 20 years. Alexander Zonjic is on his fourth CD with Warner Bros," said Francesco DiBlasi, LSO music di-

The popular melodies of Rossini's Barber of Seville, Grieg's Piano Concerto in A minor with guest pianist Ralph Votapek, Lebenbom's Gamatria, and Gershwin's American in Paris open the Livonia Symphony Orchestra's 19th season 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 10, in the Churchill High School Auditorium, 8900 Newbrugh, Livonia.

Tickets are $10 ($6 seniors/students, $3 children accompanied by an adult) and available at the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road at Five Mile, Madonna University, Schoolcraft and Levan, Hammell Music, 15630 Middlebelt and at the door the night of the concert. For information, call the symphony hotline 458-6575 or the symphony office 421-1111, office hours are noon to 4 p.m., Mondays and Wednesdays. Votapek won the first Van Cli-burn International Plano Competition in 1962. He has performed with the Chicago Symphony, Boston Pops, and throughout Europe. This summer, he toured South America for the 15th time and made his first recital appearance in Seoul, Korea. Votapek is artist-in-residence at Michigan State University.

"Ralph Votapek is one of the finest pianists around. We'll also be doing George Gershwin's American in Paris with the big taxi horns from big Paree. It requires five percussionists," DiBlasi said.

"We're dedicating the program to Ernie Jones, who died a few weeks ago. We've lost a real good friend, and supporter.'

Jones conducted the LSO's annual Cabaret benefit at Madonna University. The 1992-93 season offers three selections on May 1. series of 13 concerts.

After Votapek leads off the Séries A Saturday evening concerts, Ghitalla guests Nov. 14-in Faberman's Double Concerto for Trumpet. Also on the program orchestra violist, Christopher Tew conducting his Elegy for Strings - November

The orchestra presents the first of three seasonal classics when Rose Marie Floyd's Contemporary Civic Ballet joins them at 8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 4, in Tchaikovsky's The Nutcracker. Children's Concert with Santa Claus delights youngsters of all ages 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 5. Holiday Pops tops the menu 8 p.m., Dec. 5.

Volodymyr Schesiuk guest conducts Tchaikovsky, Wagner and Liszt on the Feb. 6 concert. Young Artist Competition winners, and Stevenson High School Chorus also perform.

"This is Volodymyr Schesiuk's American conducting debut. He emigrated to the U.S. from the Soviet Union last season. Volodymyr is a violinist with the orchestra, a real fine violinist," DiBlasi said.

Concluding Series A, Zonjic and Friends treat concert goers to jazz

Series B, also known as the Library Series, spotlights chamber style concerts in the intimacy of the 300 seat Livonia Civic Center Library Auditorium. At 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 22, Joshua Cullen, 8, will perform Mozart's Piano Concerto in A

Feb. 19, star attractions are Eentini's Concerto for Guitar, and Barry's Dances with Wolves.

Closing Series B, the Michigan Ballet Theatre joins the orchestra Mar. 26 for Prokofiev's Peter and the Wolf.

The new children's series, Series C opens 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 23 with an introduction to the LSO strings at the Livonia Civic Center Library Auditorium.

"Some of the Friday night library concert series will be carried over for the children's concerts. There will be questions and answers, and demonstrations by instruments in the different sections of the orchestra." DiBlasi said.

On Saturday, Feb. 20 the program introduces the orchestrals woodwinds, and on Mar. 27 the LSO brass takes center stage.

Outer layer of bark key to tree survival skeleton alive in the forest near my home. It's at least 200 years old and dooking at it reminds me of the early settlement days of southeastern

TIMOTHY Michigan. If it NOWICKI could talk it would tell stories about the bear, wolves, Native Americans of the area, and storms that killed most of its neighbors.

Everytime I pass this 10-footeight-inch circumference, 35-inch in diameter skeleton of a sugar maple tree, it amazes me that it is still affive. Only a 12-foot shell of the trunk remains. Though in this ring of bark are the tubes that transport food and water to sustain life. It's not even a complete shell, a third of the total trunk it missing.

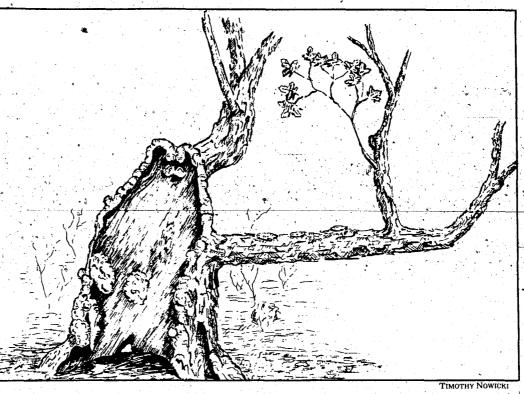

Yet sprouting from the south side of this skeleton are two branches that continue to grow. One is an 11-inch diameter branch that protrudes horizontally for 18 feet. It looks like it puts an excessive strain on the remaining supporting foundation of its

In addition, near the tip of the shell is another larger 14-inch branch that grows out and upward putting additional strain on the anchors of the hull.

As I examine the blackened, charred inside of the hull, there are massive callused scares that formed years ago when branches broke off during its maturation. These scares are barely noticeable from the outside, but served to protect the inside from invasion by fungus and insects.

Skeleton: A third of this sugar maple is missing, yet sprouting from the south side are two branches that continue to grow.

The resistence of this scare tissue to the perturbations of the past attest to its effectiveness.

It almost seems impossible that this skeleton can sustain life. But the outer layer under the bark is the most important for a tree, because it provides avenues of transport for food and water. Wood that makes up the interior of a tree is not used for transport as it gets older. Heartrot is the decay of the inner most part of the trunk due to old age.

Transporting life giving materials by this shell is remarkable, but supporting the weight of the two branches seems almost impossible. There are no counter balancing branches to help disburse the stress of the two remaining branches. It looks like part of a straw is doing the work of a steel rod.

Banks eye women's financial needs

Banks have begun programs to attract an untapped market: women. They're reaching out, offering advice on topics ranging from day-today banking to investments to business plans for entrepreneurs.

By R.J. KING SPECIAL WRITER

When a spouse dies or a marriage dissolves, wives who rely on their husbands to make financial decisions may be unprepared or unable to handle complicated affairs such as estate planning or asset management.

Women who want to invest savings for a child's college education may have no idea how the stock and bond markets work, whether commodities are a wise investment or if the interest rate on a certificate of deposit is too low.

As a result, several area banks are expanding the focus of their services to encourage more women to take charge of financial decisions in the hopes a new segment of business opportunities will result.

The Bank of Bloomfield Hills, has formed a Women's Advisory Committee to help it meet the financial management needs of women. Other banks encourage husbands and wives to get involved in investment planning as a team to hedge against unforeseen personal tragedies.

"In our analysis of the private bank-. ing community, there is a lack of marketing and understanding of the female client to such an extent that a wife suddenly finds herself thrust into the financial world due to a husband's death, disability, or as a result of divorce,' said David Provost, president of the Bank of Bloomfield Hills.

"There's a deep concern by some women about how they can continue to provide for the family if their husband is no longer there. We're also addressing concerns of professional, single women as well by offering seminars and other services designed specifically for wom-

The Women's Advisory Committee is perhaps the most-telling indicator of the bank's intentions. Already, two chairwomen appointed to the committee come from the highest levels of corporate and organizational management, a domain often absent of strong female

"We're just sending letters out now to prospective women clients, and in the near future will be putting together financial advisory seminars on a monthly hasis," said Doreen Hermelin, a resident of Bingham Farms who serves on the board of directors of several organizations, including the Bank of Bloomfield Hills' Community Advisory Board.

"I don't think women's needs are any different from men's when it comes to banking, but there has been a lack of programs targeted directly to them. The bank is also adding another female private banker to its staff of six, which now means there's four private bankers who are men and three who are women."

She is joined by Patricia Hartmann, a Bloomfield Hills resident, who is assistant treasurer and a member of the board of directors of the Ziebart International Corp. in Trov.

Most recently, the bank held a tea at the Townsend Hotel in downtown Birmingham as a way to better market itself before women. In the past, Provost said banks tied their marketing efforts exclusively to basketball games and golf courses in hopes of benefiting from one of the strongest bonds known to nature - men and sports.

Metrobank in Farmington Hills, formerly the Metropolitan Bank of Farmington, which specializes in working with small business owners, has expanded its lineup of internal and external services to better serve a growing number of female entrepreneurs.

"More and more women are coming into our offices seeking guidance about how to get a business started," said Robert Heinrich, president of Metro-

"Most of the businesses are in the retail industry, and some common question are about getting loans and lines of Rita Stark, a volunteer for the Oakland County Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW), said such services were welcome.

"We answer a lot of calls from women recently divorced who have trouble putting their finances together, so with banks becoming more involved, it really,

Firm takes the pain out of selling your used car

By GERALD FRAWLEY STAFF WRITER

The worst part about buying a new car is dealing with the hassle of getting rid of the old car.

Do you trade in and if you do, how do you know you're getting a good price? Or do you go through the process of selling it yourself, devoting the time and energy, that is. sometimes needed to sell a car in what is becoming a competitive en-

George E. Matyanowski would prefer it if you just called him. Four months ago, Matyanowski started Gem Auto Network, a used-car brokerage firm.

For a $55 listing fee, Matyanowski promises to take the hassle out of selling your car.

While their are car locator services, Matyanowski is the first in the area to help people sell their cars - or perhaps more accurately, to sell the car for people.

Matyanowski likens what he does for car owners to what real estate agents do for homeowners. "It's called consignment selling. I market the car'

Matyanowski began his company about four months ago. Ron Chenier, a frequent contributor to automotive magazines, developed the idea and helped set him up in busi-

After receiving a call, the first thing Matyanowski does is appraise the car. "The goal is to sell the car within 30 days; higher priced cars take a little longer."

· Matyanowski said he has discovered most of the cars he sells are above $10,000. "It seems like that's where we're going because those are the hardest to sell."

People selling cars below price are often able to sell it themselves

After the appraisal, he sits down with the seller to work out a price. 'That (the selling price) is more than he could get as a trade-in and less than a person could buy it for (from a dealer)."

Matyanowski promises a better selling price than what a car seller might get for a trade-in, time savings and convenience.

Trading in a car when buying a new one is the easiest way, he admits, but it is not the most fiscally responsible. "I'm sure you've heard the horror stories."

If a car has no value to the dealer, he really doesn't want it, he said. "He may be talking to you on one line and talking to a car broker on another line trying to get rid of it."

Matyanowski said he has also heard of instances in which auto dealers are less willing to negotiate 'the dealer's best price" to offset the cost of a higher trade-in allow-

As for time savings and convenience, Matyanowski said with his handling all of the details - like advertising, phone calls, paperwork, qualifying buyers and negotiating a final price - all the seller has to do is make one phone call to him.

Matyanowski stressed that the seller isn't taken out of the loop entirely. Buyers can still talk to the owner about the car and we make sure they can see the maintenance

Two points in particular have had special appeal to car sellers security.

By prequalifying buyers he assures there are no bad checks, he

Also, by selling the cars at his office, he assures safety. "It's a sad comment, but I had one client who after putting it out on the corner and taking calls on the phone, a couple of guys showed up on his doorstep with baseball bats."

Such instances are rare, he admits, but there are a lot of people. particularly the elderly and single women who are reluctant to have strangers visiting their homes. ...

Buyers benefit from the service as

They are getting privately owned cars, have a large selection, the cars are free of liens, they can "trade in" their own car and can also purchase warranties on the vehicles

Matyanowski said that although he doesn't currently offer financing, he can direct people to financing institutions.

In the future, Matyanowski said he hopes to assist buvers in obtaining financing in much the same way as new car dealers finance. He is currently discussing possibilities with financial institutions so he can offer the service.

Matyanowski stressed he is not a finder service. If he gets a call from someone looking for a particular car, if he has one in inventory, he's willing to accommodate that perpany is about.

At any given time, he is selling 15 automobiles, Matyanowski said. Optimally, he would like to have 25 cars to sell at a time.

Dale Russell said his primary reason for using the service was just to sell his car.

"I was trying to sell my car (a 1988 Dodge Daytona Shelby Z) for almost a year and didn't have any luck," he said.

Russell said he wanted to sell his car and purchase his dream car, - a Corvette - but used auto dealers had offered so little that he couldn't

One day, Matyanowski called and explained how is business worked. "I figured I would go down and give

Two weeks after he agreed to list his car with Matyanowski, the car was sold. Two week later. He had his Corvette.

"Mine was the first car he sold," Russell said. "I got thousands more than I was offered earlier."

"It was the first time I ever dealt , with an outfit like this, but I was we pleased," he said. "It turned out to.

be a much easier way of doing it." Yinger he did receive any offers he deemed reasonable while trying to sell his car himself. "I had a lot of offensive offers, people looking to steal the car for far less than it was worth." he said. After contacting Matyanowski, he sold his car in a little less than a o three weeks."

Generally, he sells his older cars by himself, he said, "but in my business, I just don't have a lot of spare time.'

Selling a car on your own is time consuming, he continued. Taking phone calls, sitting around waiting for people to show, and haggling. with buyers who aren't serious ...? about buying the car takes time away from other things he has to do.....

floor. I am trying to sleep in the back seat of a '66 Mustang.

That is my daughter up there driving, her sister dozing with her face wedged against the glass. I find the transmission tunnel surprisingly supportive under my ribcage.

I am, of course, too old for this. Which is exactly why I could hardly turn down the chance to help bring back this car that was young when the Beatles had short hair and a few more troops were going to do the job in Vietnam.

faithful to the memory of my old yellow Triumph.

Now that she is nearly set in a career studying and protecting the natural habitat, this car with its big V-8, dual exhausts and prehistoric emission equipment seems an even stranger obsession.

Still, she is hardly alone. Immaculately restored vintage Mustangs today are de rigueur in California, even as BMW is fading.

Even a beat up hardtop still wears as well as a paint-stained pair of jeans.

My daughter ended her search for a rust-free Mustang by doing a cash deal in a driveway some 80 miles east of Los Angeles - where the high desert air preserves a sheet metal body like a mammoth frozen in a glacier — for a clean '66 the owner said he took from his brother on a bad debt.

It struck me that this transaction had some ominous overtones for the auto industries of three continents. Here was my daughter, a fledgling target market, making her first significant investment in an automobile and eschewing some 600 or so new models in favor of a car that came out of the factory the year she

A friend her age in Chicago nods approval, and adds "What could you get new for that kind of money anyway - a Festiva?'

I reset the timing in a motel parking lot in Vegas, and we balanced the front tires someplace in Utah, the rear tires outside of Denver. The radio gets rewired in front of a truck stop in Nebraska, where a kid with longish hair in another '66, not as clean, tells me where to find the fuse box.

In Chicago, I adjust the clutch.

_ I am showing off, but also marv eling at the elegant simplicity of the 289 V-8 that functions with only a couple of rubber hoses to the carburetor and with a good cam could top 300 horsepower.

A couple of years later, the government in the name of emission control would seal the adjustment screws, ending forever that symbiotic relationship between a man and his carburetor; but I hadn't quite lost the touch.

My daughter left both of us in Detroit, to drive the last 400 miles to Pennsylvania alone, leaving me feeling something like I had when she took off down the sidewalk on her first bicycle. She called later that night, to say she had arrived

"You know, it was a lot easier than I thought, driving that big car on the highway instead of a little one," she said.

Maybe for her.

Concert to feature Irish music, dance

By M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

Lovers of bluegrass, country and traditional Irish music; dance; and storytelling will be treated to a night of lively entertainment when Comhaltas Ceoltoiri Eireann performs at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 10 at Mercy High School in Farmington Hills

Comhaltas Ceolotoiri Eireann (Ireland's Cultural Movement) is including Detroit in its tour of 18 North American venues.

Featured in "Musical Echoes of Ireland" will be 14 national champions from all four provinces of Ireland presenting traditional music.

They include Patty Fallon, emcee and a bodhran (percussion) player; fiddlers Thomas Morrow and Stephen O'Kelly; harpist Deirdre Macklin; uilleann piper James O'Grady; concertina player Dympna O'Sullivan; accordion player Colin Nea: concert flutist John Wynne: singer and flutist Colm O'Donnell; vocalist Colette Finnegan; and dancers Michael Hogan, Caroline Daly, Lorna Coyle and Jerry Flynn.

Tickets are $12 per person; $10 for children and retirees. For $20, patrons can enjoy dinner, Irish dancing and the concert. Tickets are available at Donovan's Country Store and Irish Imports in Farm-

Dearborn, or by calling 255-7677, 335-6327 or 476-3270.

Concert co-chairman Dan O'Kennedy of Livonia said it's a show anyone would enjoy.

"People certainly will enjoy themselves. There's a story in every Irish song," he said."This is Irish culture at its very best; it's really digging into the depths of Irish his-heir artistic experience and quality ranges videly. But they share an affinity for art.

VAAL show unveils varied brush strokes

The brush strokes of their palette will draw the limelight at the Visual Arts Association of Livonia's annual fall showcase of member talent Nov. 1-13 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile. Lobby hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

The show, co-hosted by the Livonia Arts Commission, is a confidence booster for amateur and professional artists alike. The artwork - watercolors, oils and mixed media — ranges in price from $60 to $500. You can meet the artists 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 1.

Bill Borden, a Cleveland Institute of Arts graduate, Ford Motor Co. industrial designer and nationally acclaimed watercolorist, will jury the show and present a variety of awards.

His landscape paintings reflect representational realism. His paintings of machinery flirt with ab-

"What I usually look for is not so much the professional approach but a feeling for the subject matter, a commitment to the painting," said the American Watercolor Society signature member.

"It's easy to develop a formula to do the same painting over and over again. That's fairly easy to sense. When you see somebody who really has a feeling and commitment to originality, that kind of work stands out.'

Arts commission support

"As an arts commission, we certainly have to have the ability to exhibit work of people at the level they're at," said Jack Olds, commission chairman.

The commission displays artwork in the city hall lobby and the Livonia Civic Center Library Art Gallery. "I'm glad we have two spots that can handle artists at different points of advancement in their careers." Olds said.

"The camaraderie and support progressing artists in groups like VAAL get from each other is really important," he added. "Usually, more advanced professional artists want to exhibit solo, but I think the progressing artist likes to join with others and get some strokes and ideas. It's a good spirit they have.'

That's not to say some of the work in VAAL's fall show isn't advanced.

"Over the years, the Livonia Arts Commission has. purchased some of the paintings for the city's permanent fine art collection," said West Bloomfield artist Anna Helkowsky, co-chairing the show with Redford Township artist Evelyn Henry.

Laurels aren't advantage

Having a new juror each year levels the selection field for the 65-member club.

"You can't rest on your laurels," said Helkowsky, who's studying fine art at Madonna University in Livonia. "There's always the possibility the judge might look at pieces from last year's winners and re-Helkowsky says her work "borders on very loose realism. I'm going into more still life now - objects, flowers, everyday things. Life is filled with nice little, moments. I'm always looking around and finding a little moment where I can say, 'Gosh, isn't that interesting.

"I'm still groping as an artist," she added, "I'm seeing what I feel most comfortable doing. The fun thing about being an artist is that you get to play with different media - to explore different ways of putting lines on canvas and paper and see what pleases you.'

A VAAL member for six years and student for two years, Helkowsky works in oils, watercolors and pas-

Her slow, controlled brushstroke yields defined color texture and thicker color richness. "Sure there's art done loose and relaxed that can be very rich," the Livonia Artists Club member said. "But that depends on the personality of the artist. My slowness is a reflection of my hesitancy in knowing my media. I'm just at the dawn of mastering technique.

Her pursuit of painting, however, is at high noon. "Eventually, I lose myself in the media I'm working in. I forget time, hunger. I just immerse myself in it. There's a lot of exploration to see what suits me and my temperament.

Livonia Artists Club member Lorraine Whitacre, who took Best of Show last fall, designed the show's program cover this year.

"I thought about it for about a month before the idea popped into my head of portraying two Canadian geese flying south in fall," the Farmington Hills

Whitacre, who also won the Livonia Arts Commission Award and first place for watercolor last fall, plans to enter at least two pieces for judging this year: a water-media nature abstraction and a realistic atercolor floral VAAL's mission is simple; to promote skill building in the visual arts through studio classroom work and twice-yearly exhibits of student work.

Native West to spotlight sandpainting, basketry

By Linda Ann Chomin Special Writer

Navajo sandpaintings and southwest Indian basketry will command center stage Friday-Sunday, Oct. 2-4, at Native West gallery, 863 W. Ann Arbor Award-winning Navajo artists Chester Begay and Alberta Tsosie of Farmington, N. M., will demonstrate sandpainting.

"I'm excited because the sandpainters are always tremendous, but this is the only time I anticipate having basketry here. They're very difficult to find," said Becky Dodson, gallery co-owner with husband Doug. "There's not that many weavers left out there, not when the baskets take three months out of somebody's life.'

Vince Ferrari, a Native American art collector and trader from New Mexico, will bring willow, yucca, bear grass, cottonwood and horsehair baskets woven by Paiute, Papago (Tohono Oodham), Apache and Navajo Indians.

Basketry became a means of survival in the mid-1500s.

"Researchers have found that basketry preceded pottery. They've found baskets in the Southwest from around A.D. 500. Some of the early Anasazi pottery were formed around baskets," said assistant manager Lisa Roberts.

Techniques used to weave basketry include coiling, twining and plaiting, "The basketry that Vince is bringing are the tribes that make baskets today, Dodson said.

Basketry prices range from $6 to "I'm trying to find some Apache burwere used for getting food. There was a strap that went around the head," said Ferrari in an interview from his Arroyo Trading Co. in New Mexico.

The series is open to the public and consists of five sessions led by area authors, each focusing on a different category of writing. Admission is $20 per individual session (you may pay at the door) or $78 for the entire series.

Jim Burnstein will begin the fall 1992 series Oct. 13 with a session that looks at the steps a screenwriter takes — from idea stage, to script outline, to first draft, to final draft, and eventually to Hollywood and the marketplace.

Burnstein, .who lives in Plymouth, spends much of his time on the West Coast, where he works mainly on made-for-television movies with such film companies as 20th Century Fox and Touchstone Pictures. He's also a playwright.

For those interested in the writing of non-fiction or in how true stories can serve as a basis for fiction. the Oct. 20 program, led by true crime writer Lowell Cauffiel, promises to be an eyeopener.

Cauffiel says he'll clue his audience in on how to thoroughly research a story, how to become a 'welcome intruder" at a police station and how to get to know the people who work there. He'll also discuss marketing techniques.

In his 20-plus years as a journalist. Cauffiel has written for The Detroit News and Detroit Monthly crime books. (The most recent, 'Forever and Five Days," was reviewed in this column in April.)

If you're enchanted by poems and poets, mark your calendar for Oct. 27 when Rochester poet Margo La-Gattuta will lead an experimental workshop in creativity, especially as it applies to poetry writing. A veteran teacher and award winning poet, LaGattuta's third poetry collection, "The Dream Givers," was recently

In this session, expect some lively, on the spot writing exercises designed to open up the creative, right side of the brain. If you have already written a work you'd like to *share, bring it along.

On Nov. 3, participants can get a closer look at fiction writing in general and the historical novel in particular. Author Elaine - Watson ("Anna's Rocking Chair" and "To Dwell in the Land") will provide an overview of the historical novel, the process of researching and writing it, and she'll discuss her own experiences writing in this popular genre. Publishing tips will also be an essential part of the session.

Valerie Scho Carey ("The Bevil and Mother Crump") will conclude the current "Author-Author" series yet complete. with a workshop on writing for children, scheduled for Nov. 10.

Focusing on one of the hottest Hine art markets in publishing today, the award-winning storyteller plans to talk about different types of children's literature, emphasizing the category she most often works in picture books.

Getting story ideas, avoiding writer's block and finding a publisher will also be discussed along with the many pitfalls involved in writing children's literature. Finally, participants will learn how smart writers can create a "dummy" to help them sell their work.

Program coordinator Helen Balmer, who came up with the idea for the "Author-Author" series three years ago, says she knows of no other such program in the Detroit area.

"Navajo, they're the only tribe on the continent that do sand paintings. I'll be bringing full story and ceremonial sandpaintings. Traditional sandpaintings are used for religious, ceremonial and curing purposes. There are sandpaintings for heart troubles and ulcers." Ferrari said.

Along with the sandpaintings, the Navajo incorporate herbs, prayers, songs and chants into the ceremonies.

Sandpainting ceremonies begin on a bed of white sand on the dirt floor in an ailing or offending person's hogan. The shaman, or medicine man, uses the sacred colors to draw ceremonial designs kept secret by the Navajo for hundreds of years. When a sandpainting is completed, the medicine man touches a certain spot on the painting, then relays the cure by touching the person.

Swept onto a blanket, the sandpainting is cast into the wind before sunset.

Although ceremonial sandpaintings contain important cultural messages, so do sandpaintings used to relate Navajo lore and legend. Bears dominate many of these sandpaintings.

"The bear is a very revered animal. He's the most powerful anion the continent," Ferrari

"I'll be bringing 'The Home of the Bear and Snake' sandpainting. The 'Home of the Bear and Snake' is done to ensure the bear's survival, to make sure they have a home, their own home not in conflict with man.'

"I'll have 'Buffalo People' sandpaintings. 'Buffalo People' is surrounded by housing shapes, tepees or hogans. This ceremony was done to attract the buffalo," Ferrari said.

"The white, blue, gold and black lines stand for the four seasons: spring, summer, fall and winter.

"There are lines leading to the buffalo, making sure they have what they need to attract the buffalo, also the four sacred crops: corn, squash, bean and tobacco.

"Four's a big number with Navajo: the four seasons, four sacred colors, four moons, Besides traditional sandpaintings, Ferrari will bring contemporary sand art created by artists like Jerald Sherman, who uses acrylic paint, sand and oil in his mixed-media work.

"The sandpainting market used to be strictly a collector's or souvenir market. Today it's a decorator's market because people are decorating their homes in Southwestern colors and themes," Ferrari said.

Prices of sandpaintings range from $4 to $1.500.

Hours for the demonstrations by Begay and Tsosie, along with storytelling by Ferrari, are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Call Native West at 455-8838.

ion when converting the grist mill to one of 20 hydroelectric-powered village plants he started between 1919 and 1944 in the Rouge, Raisin, Huron and other river valleys. Built in 1914, the powerhouse of the Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane in Dearborn served as the prototype for the village industry mills.

Up until 1948, when the Wayne County Park Division acquired it from the Ford estate, the mill specialized in producing stencils to mark Ford car parts.

In 1957, Nankin Mills became a nature center under the guidance of naturalist Mary Ellsworth. The mill was closed in 1980 by the parks division to save money.

The mill is along the banks of the Middle Rouge, at Ann Arbor Trail and Farmington Road.

Resoration began three years ago. The roof has been replaced, windows have been restored and exterior paint was scraped before fresh coats of white paint and black Nankin Mills lettering were added.

At last year's fund-raiser, Nancy Watkins, Wayne County parks system designer, said, "We're going to turn Nankin Mills back into a nature center.'

The Ann Arbor architectural firm Quinn Evans estimates costs at $1 million to restore the mill and build an annex. Early photos previous to Ford's ownership show the mill had a white-clapboard, two-story annex.

Photos of Ford and Thomas Edison standing on the front porch of the mill were pulled from files at last year's reception, which raised $450 after expenses.

Friends of Nankin Mills hopes the reception encourages others to become interested in the project. It is looking for new members to help restore the mill - and the raccoons to the nature center.

"I would hope people would still like to support the project. The program begins at 6 p.m. with local officials greeting people who have come, and with stories and ancedotes being told about the mill. Mehelich said. "Nancy Watkins tells one heck of a story.'

The door prize is a bottle of Michigan wine, judged Best of Show at the Michigan State Fair this year.

Nankin Mills note cards and Christmas cards will be sold during the reception along with a limited edition of ornaments also with the mill pictured on them.

Tickets are available at Nankin Mills, 33175 Ann-Arbor Trail, call 261-1990; Westland City Hall Treasurer's office, 467-3169; or from Mehelich; call her after 6 p.m. at

Registration will be at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 22. Classes will take place 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day in the Liberal Arts Building at the college, 18600 Haggerty, just south of Seven Mile in Livonia.

The sessions are open to the pub-now. Participants may sign up for all three days or just for sessions of special interest. Call the college at 462-4448 for a brochure or more in-

This fall, Schoolcraft will bring nationally known sewing expert Margaret Islander to share her skills with students in specially planned hands on workshops. Is-

lic. Registration is being accepted lander is a frequent consultant to the clothing industry and owns her own Islander School of Fashion Design in Oregon.

Her classes at Schoolcraft will include a two-day, hands-on workshop on pant drafting as well as a one-day session on industrial shortcuts for the home sewer.

In addition to these classes, other choices include "Serging from A to Z," "Machine Quilting" and "Magi- " the intricate, unusual art of metal cal Machine Applique." These are all daylong sessions, with students bringing their own sewing machines or sergers to use in class.

Internationally known artist/instructor Shay Pendray will teach threads, silks and a rainbow gallery of other threads into each intricate Knitters will be pleased to know that Jean Clark, known for her creative knitwear, will teach a handson workshop on "Creating Your Own Knitting Pattern. "Traditional Counted Thread" will be explored in another class. with participants creating a band sampler similar to those in the 17th and 18th centuries. The all-time favorite art of smocking will provide interested students with a finished piece that can be used in a variety of ways. Carol Digby will be the instructor for this class.

Award-winning artist Rosemary Gratch will share her knowledge on the art of "Surface Design and Fabric Painting," as well as display some of her own sought-after wearable art, Gratch has a well-earned reputation for beautiful garments she has created. Complementing any sewing or needlework skill is a workshop taught by artist Leslie Masters on 'Color and Design." Masters, who has had numerous one-woman art shows, is an expert on the subject. A session on "Pattern Making and Design" will teach participants about fit, design and construction via hands-on development of current fashion trends using flat pattern design.

The arts are a business like anything else, and one special work-shop addresses that. "There's No Business Like Sew Business" is a session headed by sewing columnist. Barbara Gash and Saundra Weed. Whether one has a sewing service or is manufacturing a product to sell, this informative class will offer numerous tips on sewing for profit.

Pewabic hosting tile historian

Pewabic Pottery will host a lecture by tile historian Cleota Reed 2-4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 3.

Reed will lecture and show slides of the architectural tile of California.

Pewabic Pottery is at 10125 E. Jefferson, just more than three miles east of downtown Detroit across from Waterworks Park. Visitor hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday. For more information, call 822-0954.

Reed's published works include numerous articles and a book on Moravian Pottery and Tileworks in Doylestown, Pa. She recently received a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship to study tile in the United States. She currently lives in Syracuse, N.Y.

Pewabic Pottery wil host a twoday, hands-on workshop by ceramic artist and teacher Walter Ostrom 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday-Friday, Nov. 12-13. The cost of the workshop is $75. Registration deadline

Ostrom will demonstrate handbuilding and majolica glazing techniques and provide one-on-one assistance to students as they work.

Ostrom has gained an international reputation, not only for his own decorative earthenware pottery, but also for his unusual teaching style. He currently heads the ceramic program at the Nova Scotia School of Art and Design in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Pewabic Pottery, founded in 1903 by Mary Chase Perry Stratton and Horace Caulkins, is a non-profit organization that serves the community through classes, lectures, workshops, exhibitions, tours, and the production of handcrafted vessels and architectural tile for public and private installations.

It is housed in a 1907-Tudor Revival building designed by architect William Stratton, and is registered as a National Historic Landmark. It is owned and operated by the non-profit Pewabic Society Inc., a tax-exempt membership organization funded in part by the National Endowment for the Arts and the Michigan Council for Arts and Cul-

' lished in Europe and India, as well as in Latin America.

Hernandez, a Trinidadian born in Detroit, has a master of fine arts degree in creative writing and a bachelor of arts degree in journalism and psychology. She currently works in the auto industry as a journeyman mechanic, where she gathers material for her stories.

She has published two chapbooks, "Quiet Battles" and "Snake Onda Latina en Poesia." She has taught writing at the Wayne State University Labor School and the Western Wayne Correctional facility, where she edited "Gittin' Down: Profiles from Michigan Prison Writers.

Sanchez is a former resident of Detroit, now living in San Antonio, where he is pursuing his career in writing. He has published five books of poetry, including "Authentic Chicano Food is Hot" and "Why Am I So Brown?", now in its second printing Sanchez has read throughout Michigan and elsewhere in the United States and Canada, and recently was invited to return as poet in residence for the Battle Creek School System.

Local photographer Monte Nagler will celebrate the publication of his first hardcover monograph, "Statements of Light," at an open reception in his honor 7 p.m. Friday Oct. 23, at Borders Book Shop in the Novi Town Center.

The public may meet Nagler and enjoy cake and refreshments. The Novi Town Center is off Novi Road, just south of ~ I-96.

"Statements Light," published by Suburban Communications, contains 76 black and white photographs taken by Nagler in his travels around the world. The foreword is written by veteran photographer Tony Spina. A limited deluxe edition that includes an original Nagler photograph is also available.

Nagler, a fine art photographer based in Farmington Hills, is perhaps best known for his column in the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and his seminars at area colleges. He also travels to galleries across the country. His award-winning works are in many private and public collections, including that of his former employer, the Ford Motor Co.

Nagler left a career as an engineer to become a fine art photographer after studying with Ansel Adams. Since then, he has espoused photography as a way to experience beauty and share it with others. His lectures and displays are perennial favorites at Borders Novi.

Saturday, Oct. 10, Livonia Art in the Park weekend in that, sales office, 19241 Newburgh, 10, community and the Plymouth office sponsored a sidewalk booth at Fall Festival.

"I'm really excited about it," said Betty Barbour, manager of the Bloomfield Hills office. "I'm just hoping it leaves an impression with ■ Saturday, Oct. 10. West all senior citizens and little chil-Bloomfield office will host a white dren."

Hellen McAllister, a Realtor associate, is coordinating for the West Bloomfield office.

"I think it's very important that people do something to benefit the communities they work in," she said. "To me, that's part of a good

Recently after a severe rain-the basement was finished by the builder at the time of purchase or after the closing by others. When I responded that the job was done by someone other than the builder, I was told that I would be responsible for the damage. I contend that the sump pump in my unit, as well as every other sump pump in the complex that protects all the other units from flooding, serves the benefit of the association as a whole and should be its responsibility. What do you think?

It would be necessary for me to review your condominium documents to determine exactly who is responsible for the repairs. I can say that generally sump pumps that service more than one unit are the responsibility of the association or, if the responsibility of the co-owner, then the association is generally obligated to reimburse the co-owner for the cost involved in maintaining the sump pump. Obviously, the damage from the sump pump failure may be incidental to a common element defect that is generally the responsibility of the association. Contact an attorney to review your condominium documents and provide you with an opinion as to the specifics of your case.

Selling seminar on tap

Syndicated real estate columnist Tom Ervin will join a panel of speakers at a free seminar called 'Selling Your Home?" 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 13, at the Holiday Inn Livonia West, 17123 N. Laurel Park-Drive.

Sponsored by the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors and Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, the seminar will address the following questions:

■ What can be done to make sure your house sells for top dol-

■ How much is too much to ask for your house?

■ What are the benefits of working with a Realtor?

How can you speed the sale of your house?

■ How can you become informed about the selling process?

■ Is seller-financing right for Seating is limited. To reserve a seat, call 478-1700, Ext. 241. A canned food good is requested in place of an admission fee to be donated to the Salvation Army.

Home alone

Empty nesters want less with more

Less square footage in exchange for amenities they may have lacked in previous housing — that's what singles and empty nesters are demanding from the market. Concerned with more than shelter, these buyers want to feel good about where they live.

(Last in a series)

By Doug Funke Staff Writer

"We don't have as many rooms but the rooms we have have — with a very open feeling — have high ceilings, big windows, things like that. The doors are more than eight feet tall, big heavy doors with nice brass plates. They put nice moldings in the house, marble, wood floors where we wanted.

"We liked the idea so many services were going to be taken care of . . . lawn care, sprinkling system, snow removal."

— Janet Bagley Kirkway Pines, Bloomfield Hills Couples with two incomes and no kids, empty nesters whose children have grown and wealthy singles share something in common: They all prefer nice complements to extra space in new homes today.

"They may be willing to downsize square footage to some extent, but not luxury amenities," said Gilbert "Buzz" Silverman, co-chairman of Holtzman & Silverman Cos. in Farmington Hills.

"The whole trend of what I see is smaller but better value," said Paul Robertson Jr., president of Robertson Brothers in Bloomfield Hills.

rector for the Selective Group in Farmington Hills.

Condominium ownership with fewer maintenance worries also proves alluring. That goes for working people and retirees.

Buyers crave a sense of the dramatic, Silverman said. They appreciate large foyers that make a statement, cathedral cellings, second-floor bridges.

Other attractions— a large master suite, skylights and perhaps a three-car garage. Extras like food preparation islands and a char-broil grill in the kitchen also impress.

"Every Holtzman & Silverman home focuses on volume ceilings, drama or dream baths, substantial closets within the master suite," Silverman said. "Kitchens have skylights, breakfast rooms, screened-in porches.

want three-car garages. It's an additional holding area for a boat, work shop, golf cart, children's bicycles. It's a terrific value for $5,000-$7,000," he said.

Square footage in and of itself isn't as important to this buying segment as quality amenities, Whitefield said.

They want two walk-in closets maybe with some built-ins in the master suite. a luxurious bath, a whirlpool, perhaps a separate shower stall.

"Maybe they want a library where they can do some work. They're not looking for just a big dining room, but one large enough to accommodate the family for holiday dinners," she said.

Volume space - something other than a flat, eight-foot high ceiling sells in this market, Robertson

"They're looking for lots of windows, a very nice master bath with tub and shower, room for two sinks and a big, walk-in closet," he said. "They're willing to compromise on bedrooms and they'll give up square footage if you give them high ceilings.

Lifestyle is more important than investment possibilities in this buy, Robertson said. Golf courses, lakes. biking/jogging trails, pools, clubhouses and tennis courts sell well.

About 35 percent of Selective's buyers in this category have no children living at home. Lifestyle, rather than financial investment, becomes a prime purchasing motivator, Whitefield said.

But that's not to say that value appreciation is ignored. Many builders are willing to deal with special requests.

'We would design houses for that market (double income, no kids) exactly the same as houses for children." Silverman said. "They may be thinking about having children or the home may have to be sold to people with children."

Tastes constantly evolve.

"I can see the buyer has become a little more traditional," Whitefield said. "They've gone back to some basics - wood cabinets, dark wood floors, wood trim. In the mid '80s, it seemed like everybody was contemporary.

"I see us doing more things to make their lives easier," she added. "Recycling has prompted some variations in kitchen plans.'

Computer options and wiring allowing automation like the Smart House also will become more available, Whitefield predicted.

"People will want it not because it's new. What people are looking at is what will it do for me? Will it save me money, time?'

August a building bonanza

AP — Construction of new homes and apartments posted the steepest advance in 18 months in August. the government reported, but analysts predicted that activity will level off for the rest of the year.

The Commerce Department said housing starts surged 10.4 percent, to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.24 million, up from 1.12 million in July.

Except for the Northeast, all regions reported gains including the South, where some analysts had expected construction to be curbed in drew late in the month.

Analysts said the big increase was due to mortgage rates that dropped below 8 percent in August for the first time in two decades.

"It seemed to unleash some people who were waiting in the wings, said economist David F. Seiders of the National Association of Home Builders.

But Seiders contended the weak labor market will restrain housing activity during the remainder of 1992. "We certainly won't see 10 percent increases month after month," he said.

Seiders said there appears to be little speculative construction and that builders "are apparently trying to build right to the demand side of the market.'

starts shot up 19 percent in February 1991 and the first since a 10.1 percent gain last May. They had fallen 2.4 percent in July and 4.1 percent in June, a decline that was attributed to wet weather. In addition to lower rates, the August rebound was helped by builders trying to catch up with rain-delayed construction.

■ The August increase was the largest since

He pointed to a slight decline in August in the number of building eter of future activity. They dipped 1.6 percent, to a 1.06 million annual rate, after a 4.7 percent advance in July.

Lenard Mills, an economist with the Federal National Mortgage Association, agreed the August advance cannot be sustained, even with continued low mortgage rates. 'Missing still is job growth," he Still, the August increase was the largest since starts shot up 19 percent in February 1991 and the first since a 10.1 percent gain last May. They had faller 2.4 percent in July and 4.1 percent in June.

Mills suggested the June and July decline was caused in part by wet weather. In addition to lower rates, the August rebound was helped by builders trying to catch up with rain-delayed construction, he said.

highest level since reaching a 1.34 million annual rate in March. The increase helped boost new construction 20.2 percent above that of the first eight months of 1991.

Single-family starts, which dropped 2.7 percent in July, jumped 8.5 percent a month later, to a 1.06 million annual rate.

Apartment construction soared 30 percent, to 148,000, after remaining unchanged in July. Analysts said the pace in this volatile sector could not be sustained.

Regionally, starts rose 15.2 percent in the West, to a 311,000 annual rate; 14.5 percent in the Midwest, to 308,000, and 9.8 percent in the South, to 506,000. But building activity fell 6.7 percent in the Northeast, to a 112,000 rate.

AP - For many families the kitchen is the heart of the home. It's the place where the family gathers to eat, to talk, and to share experiences. But creating a warm, welcoming kitchen involves more than the right look.

You must create feelings of coziness, comfort, and security. That may sound difficult, but it's not, Kitchen and Bath Ideas magazine suggests the following ways to put "heart" into your kitchen:

Fit furnishings to people. One measure of homeyness is hospitality, the ability of a kitchen to be physically accommodating. Physical comfort promotes psychological comfort. Sitting areas should be furnished with an easy chair or two, so guests can vary their positions to maintain comfort. Arrange cocktail tables so your guests can retrieve a glass or coffee cup without undue stretching or scooting.

Cater to the nesting instinct. Despite the common longing for large kitchens, there is such a thing as too much space. Vast space can jeopardize feelings of security. Often, the people who occupy a large room are left feeling insignificant and exposed. Before you settle on an overscale kitchen and family room combination, consider what puts your family at ease. Not all open floor plans are bad if consideration is given to creating cozy people places. Maybe you need an extended kitchen with defined areas for dining and relaxing. Those areas should be user-friendly - the furniture should be comfortable, and quiet conversation possible.

Small rooms, cozy nooks, and alcoves cater to our nesting instincts in a way large rooms almost never do.

■ Warm it up. Like space and furnishings, finishing materials on the floor, walls, counters, and cabinets evoke emotional responses. Sleek materials such as metal, granite, marble, and laminate are often regarded as cold, formal, even glamorous. Wood, tile, slate, brick, and butcher block evoke a warm and casual feeling.

That doesn't mean you shouldn't use the formal materials. Their effect can be tempered by combining them with materials that have a warmer image. If you prefer granite counters, balance their stone-cold character with a wood floor. If you've selected laminate cabinetry, warm it with wood trim, butcherblock countertops, or tile backsplashes.

Color also can enliven a kitchen. Greens, blues, warm reds, buttery yellows, teals, and jewel tones are the kinds of rich hues often associated with at-home elegance and graci-

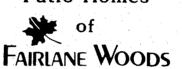

Enclose for comfort. It's no accident that large windows and sliding glass patio doors are being supplanted by divided windows and sets of French doors. Architects, designers, and homeowners are coming to the realization that large, undivided expanses of glass produce a feeling of being exposed. On the other hand, large windows and doors that feature muntins (narrow framing members that divide the panes of glass) seem to provide a reassuring sense of enclosure.

Those divided windows and French doors also create cottage-caliber charm.

Highlight your interests. A kitchen, no matter how grand and stylish or how efficiently designed, is not likely to feel homey if it's devoid of signs of life. What gives a kitchen character and identity are telltale signs that real people - with their own tastes and preferences, interests, and eccentricities actually live there.

Heirlooms, collections, souvenirs, family photographs, and other objects that are personally meaningful need to be on exhibit, where they can be seen and appreciated every day.

Builders downsize for affordability closer to reality for some when a group of builders, bankers and residents unveiled a $43,000 house aimed at closing the gap between housing haves and have-nots.

"This is not a novelty house made of plastic," said Mick McGraw, a developer and chairman of the group. "This uses simple ideas from the past . . . a smaller home that's easy to

The house was designed after the Citizens League of Greater Grand Rapids, a community advocacy group, issued a report citing a critical shortage of housing for low- to moderateincome families in a city once ranked as one of the most affordable housing markets in the country. A task force was given the challenge of building a house for less than $50,000.

In 1991, the average cost of a new house in Grand Rapids was $130,000, not including the cost of the lot. The average cost of an existing house in the county was $80,000.

With 5 percent down, monthly mortgage payments on the

- The American dream of owning a house inched task force's house would be about $500 a month, including taxes and insurance, McGraw said Wednesday. But the $43,000 selling price of the house doesn't include a lot.

And while the house itself may be a dream come true, finding a lot for it may be a nightmare.

A 60-by-120-foot lot in the area is about $18,000, if you can find one, the task force said. Many areas require larger lots, adding a hefty chunk onto the price of the house. Communities like to have bigger homes," McGraw said.

"It falls into the 'not in my back yard' syndrome." For Joy and Paul Swidwa, finding an affordable house took three years as they looked at more than 100 houses.

'When my husband and I started, we were looking for the kind of housing my parents started out with - the threebedroom ranch and garage for $40,000. We discovered real fast that it wasn't about to happen," said Mrs. Swidwa.

After adjusting their expectations and learning to do without, they bought a house in Grand Rapids on land contract for $74,000 about three years ago. In a land contract, the seller owns the house until it is completely paid for.

Sugar, sugar

Ancient mix sweet on unwanted hair

Women spend millions zipping, zapping and doing what-ever to get rid of unwanted body hair. That process could have been less painful and costly had they known about a sweet depilatory Arabic women have been cooking up since Cleopatra ruled Egypt.

By Sue Mason Staff Writer

You can zip it off with hot wax, zap it with electrolysis, whisk it away with a razor or smear it into oblivion with chemi-

do, it always comes back. Why else would it

UNWANTED body hair. Leave the hairy legs to King Kong, the mustache to Burt Reynolds and the "nubs" to Don Johnson. Women want silky, smooth legs, neat bikini lines and the like and they'll spend millions for the lotions, potions and notions to get Enter the latest product in the war against unwanted hair - sugar . . . Yep, you read that right. Sugar, actually sugaring, is causing a stir in Europe and just turning up in the United States as an all-natural safe, less painful way of removing unwanted hair. It may be the latest, but by no means is the newest hair removal product. Its origins date back to ancient Egypt (word has it that Cleopatra herself used sugaring), and the sugar and lemon paste has been cooked up in kitchens of Arabic women for centuries.

Skeptical about its effectiveness? Then talk to Fran Greenwell. First, she shows you her arms, then goes into a spiel about the wonderfulness of such a simple product.

'The first time you use it can be intimidating," she admits. "I learned to do it (sugaring) by doing my arms. I had no hair on my arms for the longest

A licensed cosmetologist, Greenwell has been a facialist for seven years and was looking for new hair removal techniques when she happened on sugaring. It's an all-natural product that can be used anywhere on the body and with regular use can reduce and in many cases halt the growth of unwanted hair. It's especially good for sensitive areas like the bikini line and on the face, Greenwell said.

Different strokes

The idea is the same as waxing, stripping the hair away with the help of a sticky depilatory, but that's about all the two have in common, according to Greenwell.

With waxing, the application is made in the direction hair is growing. If it grows in five different directions, it has to be applied in five different directions. And the wax can only be used once because the stripping process removes too much skin with the hair.

There is a right and wrong way to apply wax. The wrong way can cause bruising and pain. There's also a chance of burns because it is applied hot and waxing also leaves a sticky residue.

Not so with sugaring. The honey-colored paste can be applied in any direc-

the skin. Body heat warms the paste needed to do your legs.

"I think the fact that it's sticky is what makes it work," said Greenwell, stretching and folding a piece to warm it before applying it. "It's nice on the face; it's quick. You spread it on and strip it off."

If it gets too gooey, a sprinkle of baby powder firms it up. If it gets too warm and can't be pulled off, a splash of warm water and it rinses away. You can also put a small piece between the finger and thumb and use it like tweezers to remove one hair at a time.

Finding a source

Greenwell is knowledgeable about sugaring because of the time she invested in learning about the process. That's how she wound up as executive director of the U.S. Division of the Britishbased Cleopatra Cosmetics, marketing its sugaring paste, "Cleopatra's Caress," stateside.

Don't let the title fool you. You won't find Greenwell in a splashy corporate office. The firm's U.S. division has its own phone number and occupies space in her home.

She found Cleopatra Cosmetics by calling a few salons in London whose numbers she found in a phone book at the library. She liked what she heard and decided to sign on.

Past practice: The distinctive profile of Cleopatra serves as the artwork for the British-made sugaring product, "Cleopatra's Caress."

Cleopatra Cosemtics was the brainchild of an Egyptian man and his British wife who was introduced to sugaringwhen her sister-in-law visited their Brighton, England home. So impressed was she with the results that they formed Cleopatra Cosemtics.

Even though Greenwell has yet to advertise the product, she has received orders, some due to word of mouth, others party. The success of the party prompted the organizers to form the Italian American Club.

And as in previous years, the conclusion of the eeklong observance will be that annual Columbus Day party which will be Saturday, Oct. 10, at Laurel Manor in Livonia.

For the last 15 years, the club has used the party to honor Italian Americans for their contributions to the community. The first year, seven people were singled out for the honor - Joseph Bargagna, Mary Di-Ponio, Vine Panackia, Lucia Paparella, Eugene Pulice Sr. and Jim Tringali.

Since then the honor has gone to Ben Celani (1978), Enzo Paparelli (1979), Angelo DiPonio (1980) John Bommarito (1981) Joseph Panackia Jr (1982), Alex Fedrigo (1983), Bob Ficano (1984), John DeSignore (1985), Francis Stella (1986), Tony Greco and Mary Panakia (1987), Thomas Celani (1988), Cal Comito (1989), Loretta Bruni (1990) and Rose Du-

The 1992 honoree will Angelo D'Orazio, president of D'Orazio Paving Co. D'Orazio was born in Abruzzi. Italy in August 1937 and immigrated to the United States in 1956.

Over the years, the club has continued to attract new members. Within four years of its founding, its membership included 280 families. To meet their needs, it bought the Rosedale Gardens Subdivision Clubhouse and offered members golf and bowling leagues, picnics, dinners, parties, even golf outings.

But in 1990, the club decided to sell the clubhouse and buy more than five acres of land at 1-275 and Five Mile Road to build a new facility to handled the needs of ever-growing membership.

If all goes according to plans, the new cultural center will have three banquet halls and kitchen facility, meeting rooms and three regulation bocci ball courts.

But it' not all fun and games for the club, which prides itself in its civic involvement. A variety of casuses have benefitted for the club's efforts, including the Felecian Sisters' Angela Hospice Home Care. For five years, the club has staged a fashion show fund raiser for its benefit. That evening of food and fashion will be held in November at Jacobson's Lau rel Park store.

Until then, the club is focusing on it Columbus week activities. Tickets are still available for the Columbus Day party at $40 each, which includes dinner, dancing and open bar. To order, call Loretta Bruni at 473-9464 or Mary Panackia at 522-3911.

This is the handwriting of an 83year-old woman with a marvelous sense of humor. My own love of humor quickly drew me to your letter. Not only are you humorous but you also are a good conversationalist with interests that reach beyond the mundane. These qualities will endear you to any person or group.

A most delightful woman shines through this handwriting like a bright light. To be gracious and express warmth comes naturally to you. I suspect you have spent your entire lifetime helping other people.

You are people-oriented and are at home in the company of others. People quickly sense this about you and in turn relate to you. And yet you also need time to be by yourself to recharge your emotional batteries. You do not like people prying into your personal affairs.

You are idealistic and openminded in your thinking. An occasional tendency to retreat to your ivory tower to do a little day-dreaming is noted.

Presently, you appear to be a bit dissatisfied with some aspect of your life. Although I am not able to determine exactly what it is, I don't think you will let it get the best of Those long lower loops that tangle with the lines below suggest that you are restless and need activity and variety. At times you become so involved you have difficulty keeping things sorted out. I suspect this is when the tad of procrastination I see takes place.

Tommy Gardner honored by players

THE BRIDGE CROWD

'Character can't be developed in ease and quiet. Only through experience, trial and suffering can the soul be strengthened, vision cleared, ambition inspired and success achieved.' — Helen Keller

One among us in our suburban world of bridge who has gained the love and respect of all is Tom Gardner of Southfield. I first met Tommy some 40 years ago when he was playing in the most vigorous rubber bridge game played west of the Hudson to the edge of the Windy City.

Every Monday evening, an array of Detroiters and WOODY some of the best from the Midwest would gather at the DAC card room for dinner and "deal." If your playing credentials weren't exceptional, you just weren't acceptable. Few of that crew are still with us, the exceptions being the Reindel brothers, Bill Bauble of Grosse Pointe and Tommy.

In what he calls his "scar-filled full life," he has become one of the Motor City's truly fine players, having achieved his "Diamond Life Master" rating (more than 5,000 points) just this year. There are only eight players in Michigan to precede him in this glory.

Tommy is the first one to say, at his savory age, "If you win you're an old pro and if you lose you're an old man." His devoted wife Beverly, who in her own right is an excellent performer and his favorite playing partner, attributes much of his success to the determination and devotion he has for the game. Certainly the unselfish hours he contributes to teaching and bridge seminars can't be matched. As Thomas Paine wrote, "Character is what you are in the dark." Tom's glows radiantly!

On Wednesday evening recently a wonderful group (20-odd tables) gathered at the Gardner's midweek Southfield duplicate game to celebrate his 71st on earth and his Diamond Life Master award. Beverly will blush if you mention this, but she was the one who graciously arranged for the 42-inch-square cake and pizza for 80-odd players attending. It was an extremely pleasant occasion for a very deserving person, and I was fortunate to have been dealt into this splendid event.

The transition from rubber to duplicate bridge is difficult and daring because the thrust and result are specifically different. In the former, the single significant purpose is to ensure your contract. In match play (duplicate), averages usually don't win tournaments. You must intently search for better scores. and if a favorable probability is commensurate with the risk to achieve, you are a winner if you can execute effectively. Note Tom's aptitude on the accompanying hand he and Beverly played in the recent August Oak Park MBA Sectional.

East's pre-emptive bid (not vulnerable) was indeed a disruptive maneuver, which required Tom's careful and calculated consideration. As you can see, Tom has nine winners when at trick (2) he lavs down the diamond ace, which reveals a sure line of play — two spades, one heart, five diamonds and a club. Tom knew that every declarer would find the same result and he wanted no part of such an average. Note

Here is the four-card ending.

At trick (10), Tom led dummy's club to his king and West's ace. West could still win his club 10 and spade queen, but at trick (11) he had to play his spade nine to dummy's jack and Tom's 10th trick.

Voter drive helps girl scouts garner leadership badges won't be eligible to vote in a presidential election until the year 2000, but that doesn't mean they have no interest in politics.

BY JULIE BROWN STAFF WRITER

The girls, · 11-year-old sixth graders at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth Township, belong to Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 726. Troop members decided to sponsor a voter registration project this fall.

The girls and their leaders set up a registration booth the evenings of Sept. 22-24 at the Kroger store on Sheldon in Canton. The project was planned "so that more people can get a chance to vote," said Megan, a Canton resident.

The effort was part of the Girl Scout "Leadership" badge, said Cherri Megasko of Canton, troop leader. "One of the requirements is that they get involved in something civic-minded." During a presidential election year, a voter registration project seemed particularly appropriate.

Troop members set a goal of registering 100 voters during the three evenings; they discovered that the community already has a high percentage of registered voters, Megasko said.

Several parents deputized by the Canton Township clerk worked with the Scouts, accepting voter registrations at the supermarket booth. Some passers-by didn't register at the booth, but took forms home.

Scouts registered voters from Canton, the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township. All 12 girls in the troop participated.

Megasko, telemarketing director with Lintas Marketing Communication in Warren, has found the girls are interested in the Clinton-Bush race. Troop members recently took a straw poll, to see which candidate had more support within the ranks of Troop No. 726.

'They're about equally divided." The troop includes one Bush supporter who feels strongly about her candidate, and she might just be able to sway the others, Megasko

"They are very excited." During a recent campout, the girls and leaders spent an hour or so around the campfire discussing the upcoming. election. Megasko was surprised to see how interested and well-informed the sixth graders were.

Katie Tolbert, a Canton resident, doesn't have a strong preference, but is leaning toward the GOP. "I think Bush might be a better way to go, but Clinton seems to be doing pretty good too.'

Her friend Megan Moore sees the November race as being close.

"Probably Bush (will win), but it's close, very close," she said, taking a break from her voter registration duties.

"I haven't been following it perfectly closely," she said of the presidential race. Megan's inclined to support the Democratic ticket.

'Maybe for Clinton, because it's somebody new. Clinton might be a better candidate.

Megan and Katie don't think middle school students should be who to vote for," Megan said. Both Megan Moore and Katie Tolbert .. do plan to register to vote as soon as they reach age 18.

With all the talk of a gender gap affecting the outcome of presidential races, will future candidates court the vote of Megan. Katie and other young women who'll be voting for years to come?

Do you want to speak in tongues? Today's Charismatic movement emphasizes that modern Christians experience this gift, But the Bible teaches that tongues were a gift for only the apostles and their hearers (Mark 16:14-18). Tongues ceased when the written Scriptures were completed (C or 138-10; II Peter 1:16-21), Our church is sponsoring a seminar to study this subject on October 8 at 7:30 p.m. See our display in this paper.

Gathering a flock

Pastors share training, churches

By Julie Brown Staff Writer

The name "West Woods Community Church" might not seem all that unusual, but its reason for being is a bit different. The name was created following the merger of West Plymouth Community Church and Willow Woods Community Church of Livonia. "It was an ingenious combination of West and Woods, so that's how we got it," said the Rev. Chuck Bernal of Livonia, co-pastor of the new congregation. He'd previously been pastor of the Willow Woods congregation, which had met for about 31/2 years at the Livonia Mall Cinemas.

West Plymouth Church had been meeting for almost five years, with the Rev. Phil Rogers of Plymouth Township serving as pastor. He and Bernal have known each other since the mid-1980s, and decided to join forces in an effort to reach the unchurched.

"We both attended Southwestern Seminary, which is in Fort Worth, Texas," said Bernal, 37. He was pastor of a Texas congregation at that time, and Rogers and his wife came to that church to worship.

"So out of that we developed a friendship," Bernal said. When their families ended up in Michigan, the two pastors decided to merge their congregations. "This is an outflow of what God's been doing in our lives," Bernal said.

Unity the key

"Conventional wisdom says this couldn't work," said Rogers, 32. Both congregations had a certain loyalty to their pastors, but members have done just fine with the new arrangement.

"There's a lot of things you have to work through, and our folks have handled it extremely well," Rogers said. Both pastors are pleased to see such unity.

'In our church, we believe that every member is a minister," Bernal said. "We've got a really great team of people supporting us.

Worship is 10 a.m. each at West Middle School, 44401 Ann Arbor Trail, at Sheldon in Plymouth Township. The first combined service was Sunday, Sept. 13. The pastors shared preaching duties, providing an overview of their phi-

"We really had an incredible service," Rogers said. A saxophonist performed, and another worshiper did an interpretive dance. The pastors' wives, Carolyn Bernal and Diana Rogers, presented a David Letterman-type skit, based on the theme of the Top 10 real reasons for

"We called it a grand opening celebration," he said. "It was more of a party." The emphasis was on demonstrating that "Christian pizzazz is not an oxymoron, that these two can go together.'

The pastors have found that in many cases people's reasons for not attending church aren't theological. Some find it difficult to make the connection between what's going on in their lives and weekly worship.

The two want to provide an atmosphere of acceptance, in which those who are working 40-50 hours a week and handling family responsibilities as well can find something

"We want them to leave the service feeling like they've gotten something out of it they can use.' Bernal said. "They can come, and they can have fun. They can be inspired and encouraged.

People of moral courage choose to do what is right, just

MORAL PERSPECTIVES

This is the season in the calendar of the Jewish faith devoted to introspection, self scrutiny, and repentance. I share with all the readers of the Observer & Eccentric this perspective RABBI IRWIN on the goals of a GRONER moral life. 1. A Growing

Mind. Never have people been as conscious as today of the importance of good health. The feats of medical science are reported daily in the press, celebrated in the mass media and eagerly discussed in our informal conversa-

But in our concern for our physical well-being, we ought not neglect the cultivation of our spiritual resources, the aspiration to wisdom and knowledge which is the hallmark of the growing mind.

Knowledge is one of the best guarantees we can acquire against the constriction of the habitual and the familiar. To learn something we have never known before is to enter the domain of surprise and wonderment. It is to savor an experience of adventure.

To be truly educated means to be open to new challenges of thought, all the time. A knowledgeable person is not someone who once read a book, and never got over it. Rather, he or she is one who continues to learn and to seek knowledge.

2. The Helping Hand. Implanted deep within the human spirit is the capacity to seek out the needs of others, and to know the delight which comes from the act of service itself. Has a child ever slipped a hand into yours, just because he wanted to walk beside you? Have you ever seen your gift or your word evoke on a face darkened by distress a transforming smile of joy? Then you have experienced the delight which is truly the enlargement of life itself.

So many of us strike bargains with our conscience and "give charity" as if it were a kind of transaction arranged with an eye to the balance sheet. The highest form of charity is not a gift, but a righteous deed. It is not done mechanically. Rather, it is accompanied by an experience of helpfulness and sense of humanity.

Charity involves imagination and insight. Some people refuse to participate in philanthropy for, as they put it, they ask for nothing from anyone and therefore need give nothing in return. But they are profoundly mistaken. Each of us has come into a world, into a community, into a country built by the labor and sacrifice of untold generations. The greatest benefactor cannot give to society as much as society has given to him.

3. A Brave Heart. Of enormous importance to our world is that virtue known as moral courage. This is the readiness to expose one's self to sacrifice, sometimes even to suffering, in order to uphold and advance a moral principle. The greatest heroes of history are those who were ready to endure disapproval, contempt, rejection or even worse, rather than depart from what they saw as the right course.

The quality of moral courage is asked of each of us. In the pressure of our collective lives, we accept without questions the standards of our group and the questionable practices of our day. We encounter an increasing number of little compromises that circumstances urge us to make. They are petty, seemingly insignificant yieldings of a higher motive to a lower impulse.

Sometimes the good is identified with what is accepted and prevalent. Many a teenager has tried to convince his dubious parents by the logic of "everyone is doing it," as though numbers determine values. . Or else we say, "Go fight City Hall."

A wise man said, "You can determine a man's character by what he stands for, but even more accurate ly by what he won't stand for."

The person of moral courage wil declare: "This is what I choose a right. I will not surrender to the great god of conformity. I seek to impart to my children independ ence of will and judgment which will enable them to be differen from others, when the principles a truth and integrity are at stake."

Livonia. That New Focus service is designed for those seeking a deeper understanding of Christianity.

"At the same time, we don't forget those who are Christian," Bernal said. Baby boomers ages 25-45 and their children are the primary target for the new congregation, although older worshipers also attend and are more than welcome.

The pastors plan to alternate preaching duties from Sunday to Sunday for the next few months. Beyond that, there'll be more freedom for each to do seven- or eightweek Sunday series.

Attendance at the Sept. 13 service was about 285, and the pastors anticipate it will level off to about 200 after the euphoria of the first service. Attendance at Bernal's church had averaged 90 to 100 and was 80-90 at West Plymouth Church.

'Churches kind of get into a building frenzy too soon," Bernal said. That can set the tone and determine the direction of ministry. Once you get that building, you're kind of locked into that. The building will happen, but that's not the priority."

Christian Science celebrates 100 years

The world headquarters church for First Church of Christ, Scientist, with branches in Plymouth. Livonia and Westland, celebrated a milestone in September. It turned 100. In 1879 the Christian Science church was organized like most other churches in the United States, on a congregational basis in which members govern by vote. But for this little church with its emphasis on spiritual healing, that proved unworkable.

Drifting and dissension weakened it. So in December 1889, the founder of the church. Mary Baker Eddy, dissolved her church, For more than three years her followers were without any formal church organization

Then Sept. 23, 1892, Mrs. Eddy called together her few remaining followers and asked them to form a church that would be governed by a five-person Board of Directors. Overthe next 18 years, until she died in 1910, she carefully removed from this new church every element that might tempt its members to trust in

'Zebrahead': So-so film

"Zebrahead," a low-budget movie about an interracial relationship in an urban high school, was shot in Detroit, set in Detroit, with local actors making up two-thirds of its cast. This will guaran-

John Monaghan tee an audience, at least locally, when it opens here on Oct.

But despite the optimistic word, including reports that the film was among the hottest tickets at Toronto's Festival of Festivals, "Zebrahead" is a mish-mash of noble intentions and uneven acting that never amounts to much.

Filmmaker Anthony Drazan, fielding questions after a preview screening last month, admitted he was striving for emotional impact more than realism when he wrote and directed the film. This explains the lapses of logic in the all-too-familiar plot.

Zack (Michael Rapaport), a white Detroit teenager with a puzzling New York accent, has a passion for African-American culture that makes him controversial among both black and white classmates. Some welcome his interest while others label him a "zebrahead," a black wanna-Controversy turns to violence when Zack starts dating his best friend's gorgeous cousin Nikki (N'Bushe Wright). Insensitive white friends ask Zack embarrassing questions about sleeping with a black girl while Nikki's mother insists that Zack is only slumming.

"Zebrahead" walks the walk. It talks the talk. Still you can't shake the feeling that the whole project was bankrolled (by Oliver Stone among others) largely because of the recent success of black-oriented films like "Boyz 'n the Hood."

Director Drazan, who is white, says the movie sprang from the Zack-like frustration he experienced while growing up and dating in the 1950s and '60s. He considered setting the film back then, making it more of a nostalgia piece, until he discovered that these same racial barriers exist today.

Placing the film in the urban decay of the 1990s also gave him the chance to mine the topical territory of crack cocaine and homeboys packing guns at the roller rink. He sets the film in an Indian summer swelter where once-beautiful homes are separated by overgrown vacant lots.

"Zebrahead" prominently features several Detroit locations, including Union Street, Cody High School and the ubiquiand culminates their sexual encounter with murder. The plot thickens when the woman, an attorney, takes on the defense of a troubled young man who has confessed to the murders.

Antonio Banderas plays the young man, Angel, who is secretly studying to be a bullfighter as his domineering mother bullies him into religious studies.

When he is questioned about his sexual preferences by his bullfighting teacher, his response is violence. He follows a woman who lives in his apartment building, his teacher's girlfriend and attempts to sexually assault her.

Guilt-ridden, the young man goes to the police and confesses attacking the woman, who initially denies anything has occurred. To the officer's surprise, Angel also confesses to the murder of two men he says he picked up. He confesses to killing two women, also bullfighting students, who have been missing. The case against Angel seems to be pretty airtight after he leads police to the bodies of the women, buried on the grounds of the matador school. But what about the lean, somber bullfighting maestro, Diego, played by Nacho Martinez, who lives on the school grounds?

As the movie opens, Diego is using a graphically violent movie for erotic purposes. He morbidly replays a videotape of the goring, which left him with limp and ended his bullfighting career.

But let's not forget about Maria, the statuesque attorney, played by Assumpta Sena, who has her own murderous tendencies. Maria turns out to be very aware of Diego, obsessed as she is with bull-fighting.

Maria and Diego are made for each other, a real couple from hell, and they both know it.

Some of the details are particularly Spanish but the overall questions it raises certainly are applicable in our violent society. What kind of society glorifies violence and death? The victims are endless.

"Matador" is available on cassette at local video stores. If you have a comment, question or sugestion, send it to LeAnne Rogers, Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

tous Renaissance Center. The opening sequence pans across street after street of crumbling homes, set to music by Taj Mahal.

And then there's Zack's family's record store, Saul's Medley Land, a Motor City museum of jazz and soul that doesn't really exist but should.

Zack's grandfather started the place in the 1940s (the old man insists that he introduced Be-Bop), and now runs it with son Richard (Ray Sharkey). So dynamic is Sharkey's performance as a philandering, strangely sympathetic father that the other actors look like amateurs in comparison.

N'Bushi Wright, though incredibly beautiful, never develops her character fully. As in most movies about high school, neither she nor Michael Rapaport look the proper age.

Even when you examine "Zebrahead" in the best light possible — as perhaps the first theatrical movie treatment of typical Detroit neighborhoods — it still fails to treat the city on its own unique terms. In terms of the story, we've walked these streets too many times before.

Also worth a look this month:

A pair of casehardened police detectives track them to Star City, Ark., where the local sheriff has his own ideas of justice.
- "1492: Conquest of Paradise" (wide release begins Oct. 9). The current interest in the director's cut of "Blade Runner" may spark interest in Ridley Scott's handling of the Christopher Columbus saga. The always watchable Gerard DePardieu plays the explorer. Chances are its better than Ilya Salkind's star-studded flop that hit theaters this summer
- "Of Mice and Men" (wide release begins Oct. 16). A new version of the John Steinbeck classic about a pair of hired hands who dream of starting their own ranch. Gary Sinese stars as George (he also directed) while John Malkovich performs his usual magic as the dimwitted Lenny.

Questions I get asked

When people find out what I do for a living, they usually ask me a few questions. As a rule, most ask exactly the same questions. So in the interest of avoiding a future conversation that I've already Jill Hamilton had, here are the ques tions and answers about my glamourous career in the freelance writing biz.

Do you know (fill in name of other columnist)?: No. I don't. Freelancers are a hermetic lot and don't work at the office with all the normal people. I haven't been in the newspaper office since 1991. I use the modern technological method of moderning in my columns. I'm not sure exactly how the whole thing works, but I do it anyway.

Where do you work then?: In my taxdeductable home office, which is really an extra room with a computer where we store our bicycles.

Do you like working at home?: Yes and no. The disadvantages are no health insurance and I don't get paid for talking to my co-workers at the water cooler. Also, I never have to pretend I am working.

Do you make a lot of money?: Let's put it this way: When I worked at a convenience store in college, I was much richer than I am now.

Do you ever meet anyone famous? Rarely. The two times I saw famous people this year (John Flansburgh of They Might Be Giants and Tommy Stinson of the Replacements) occurred just because I happened to walking around Ann Arbor at the same time as them.

But sometimes I do meet sort of pseudo-famous people through my job. The other day I went to a record release party for Mark Curry - someone his record company hopes will be famous one day. Curry and his entourage took us out to dinner at Fishbone's in Greektown. Curry got really drunk and ended up walking on the tables. His CD was pretty good though.

So how do you do interviews then?: By phone. This can be a hit-or-miss proposition. Sometimes, a whole list of questions disappears in about one minute when an interviewee, like Michael Penn for example, answers with short grunts and "I don't knows." Other people, like Matthew Sweet, will hear one question, then happily expound on the subject for the rest of the interview.

How do you come up with ideas?: When can't get to sleep at night, I come up with plenty of ideas. By morning, I've forgotten them all.

If you have a comment, question or suggestion, send it to Jill Hamilton, Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Table activism: Unlike its counterparts in the '60s and '70s, political activism on college campuses now is more likely to take lessconfrontational forms, such as registering people to vote. Getting out the vote at a young age

By LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER
erek Einhorn, 21, from West Bloomfield diligently takes notes on a fresh spiral notebook. Which wouldn't look out of the ordinary on a typical afternoon in a university classroom, except for what the senior English major happens to be jotting down for his own benefit.

Rather, he's devising ways to rouse people his age out to vote.

The group Einhorn belongs is Just Vote, one of several non-partisan campus organizations trying to accomplish such a goal through registration, education and getting people out to the polls on Nov. 3.

Along with nine other students, Einhorn sees his efforts as a civic obliga-

"It's important because, as people say, we're going to be the ones running this country," said Einhorn, who is a graduate of West Bloomfield High. "Also, it sends a message to our leaders now that we are an important part of the population.

Important, yes, but politically active?

Think again.

Statistics indicate people between 18-35 traditionally vote less than those older. The trend is expected to continue in this election, according to pollsters.

A Times Mirror poll, quoted in U.S. News & World Report, predicts only 28 percent of those 35 and younger eligible are likely to vote for president this year.

Weaned on MTV and raised in the conservative clover of the Reagan years, the 18-29 age population is one said to be saturated in cynicism and rampant in mistrust toward the political system. They've been told to expect less than their parents.

Thus, they have seemingly accepted the idea that they are unable to change the status quo.

"Young people expect a lot more out of government than any other age group,' said Gregory Markus, a political science professor at U-M. "But they have the lowest voter turnout of any age group by far. They pay taxes . . . and expect services from the government.

The notion there is something more to (political participation) than just paying taxes hasn't been put across to younger people.'

With such a dire outlook, people tend to write off the post-babyboomers as less effective in affecting change. But not all Markus savs studies indicate political participation among college students who tend to fall into the 18-24 age group — is as high or higher than in the campus protest era of the '60s and '70s.

"It just may take different forms, and not be as dramatic," he said.

Involvement is more likely to come in the less-confrontational form of voter education and registration.

Tim Leighton, 27, of Garden City is active in the non-partisan student political group Psi Sigma Omega at Madonna University. He's also a deputy register, taking a class through Wayne County to become certified.

Much of his efforts involve dispensing information to other students on campus. "A lot of times it's a lack of educajor with emphasis in political science. They don't know who's running or they don't know anything about the candidate or they don't believe their vote means anything.

Michelle Dube, 19, of Birmingham finds herself in similar situations at Eastern Michigan University where she works as an office manager in the student government office.

"I try to tell people the more people in our age group who vote it helps," said Dube, a 1991 graduate of Birmingham Seaholm. "In the past, people in our age ground haven't voted because they don't think it matters. But it does.'

But why, unlike their apathetic counterparts, have they become active? In many cases, a particular cause or special

Politics of Passion

Pleasant nature: Wally Pleasant's acousticdriven music retains sardonic humor and biting

Folk artists bare souls more personally

On the cover: Alex Lumelsky, who performs under the moniker Mooshka, uses acoustic music to explore the personal politics of love and friendship. Bill

Hansen took the trackside pho-

Woody Guthrie in the '40s and '50s and Bob Dylan and Phil Ochs in the '60s excelled in using the folk idiom to raise consciousness of an entire genera-

Through plaintive imagery, heartfelt lyrics tinged with bitter irony, their music made profound statements that hold weight even in these dire times.

Their efforts are certainly not lost on a new generation of folk artists who have emerged on the local circuit. They embrace a good deal of the passion and commitment of those forbearers of folk.

But such area performers as Wally Pleasant, Alex Lumelsky and Mary McGuire steer clear of the overt political commentary in their music.

"It's not because I don't care," says Mary McGuire, 30, who makes up one half of the musical tandem Mary McGuire & Myk Rise. "I write about things that happen to me and what happens to ot. er people.

"l'olitics are a lot different than they were back in the '60s. There was a lot more change back then."

"Sure I watch the news and pay attention to all the good and bad things going on," added Lumelsky, 24, who is a Southfield resident and performs under the moniker of Mooshka. "Right now, I'm not ready to comment on that Instead Lumelsky's music, much like Wally Pleasant and Mary McGuire & Myk Rise, is a challenging foray into the personal politics of love and friendship. The journey is nward instead of outward.

In the case of Lumelsky and McGuire, acoustic music has become something of a refuge after stints in relatively successful local rock 'n' roll bands.

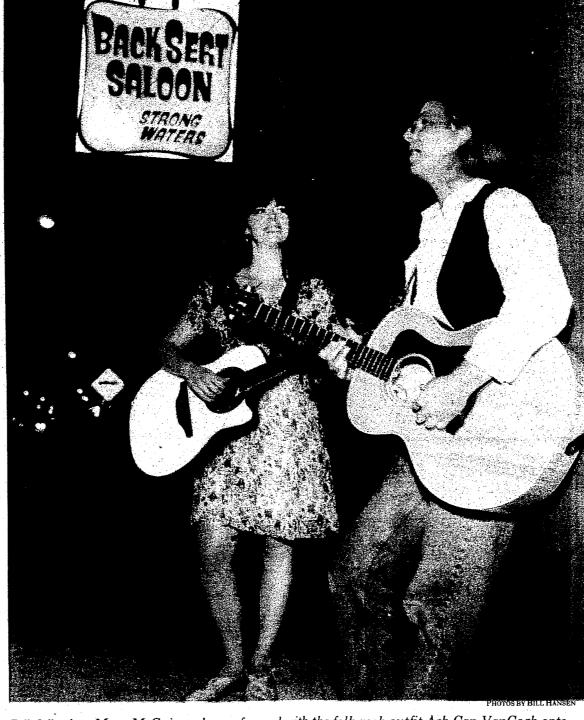

Lumelsky was a songwriter in the highly promising youthful group Phineas Gage, which broke up a year ago McGuire was a member of the multi-talented outfit Ash Can VanGogh and later Spiral Dance.

Socio-political situations didn't draw them to acoustic music. Rather, the genre offers a more viable avenue to express feelings eloquently.

'It's a little more intimate than playing in a rock band," McGuire said. "And it's not as loud."

Pleasant agrees, though his music bridges a precarious gap between folk music thoughtful introspection and 1980 punk irreverence. The 1985 Birmingham Groves graduate carves his niche as a sardonic storyteller.

His highly-sought-after cassette "Song About Stuff" has been fawned over by college radio - particularly at Michi gan State University where Pleasant was a student. The release is fortified with 14 brash and biting nuggets, such as "Psycho Roommate" and "She's in Love with a Greek." Audiences obviously prefer irreverence to political sub stance, judging by the overwhelming response to Pleasant's asunder of derisive tunes

"People my age aren't really politically active," said Pleasant, 25, who's worked as a social worker, "but they're politically aware.

"If you do a song on something they feel strongly about, they'll get behind you. People don't like songs that vaguely talk about issues.

And if one of his numbers does take a political spin, it's usually wrapped in barbed cynicism. Pleasant has a song pegged for his soon-to-be released album entitled "I Was a Teenage Republican," which humorously compares this young person's affliction to that of a teenage werewolf.

The song perhaps mirrors the distrust the 20-something generation has for the political process as a whole.

"I save kind of grown up in an era where I hear my dad talking about the days when you could get a good factory job and own a house right out of high school," Pleasant said. 'Today, you can't do that with a college degree. "Its hard not to be cynical."

Son acknowledges the relationship as it is

Dear Barbara,

My son recently moved in with his girlfriend. He lives in another city and called to tell me. I am happy that he sounded so excited and in love. Simultaneously, he told me that probably he will marry her sometime in the next year. This too is good

Then he asked me how I would feel if he does not invite his grandfather, my father. At first I was a little surprised at request, but then, after a little thought, I understood completely. My son is 22 and my father has never called aim not to ask him how he feels, not to ask him what he is doing, not to exchange oleasantries. The last straw came last year when we were together at a family function. My father looked straight at my son, his grandson, and drew a blank. He simply didn't know who he was. Understandably, my son and I were both angry and hurt. My father was almost as absent when I was growing up.

When I think of these things I want to tell my son to handle it the way it feels best to him. I really don't care if my father is there and if my son will feel better about getting married that way then I want to support him.

However, I do have one second thought on the subject. Am I behaving in an ugly way and allowing my son to do the same if I allow him to leave my father off the list? Although it will be a very small wedding, my father will find out about it through relatives who will be there. Should I let him find out through them or should I call him and tell him he is not being invited and why?

I do feel angry with my father for being so uninvolved in my life but I do not want to live a life characterized by hate. I know my son feels the same way and will accept whatever advice I give him.

Dear mother and daughter,

If you really feel the way you do, that is, you honestly can cope with any consequences that may arise from not inviting your father, then tell your son to give his wedding so that he will have the most self-respect.

I understand your sincere desire to be the best person you can be. It is admirable. In some relationships, being our best means being able to be independent of the other person in the relationship. Separation, in body and in spirit, is often most difficult to accept when we have a strong blood tie with the individual caus-

Just because we call someone a father. daughter, mother or son does not mean that they fulfill the many meanings those words imply. To call someone by one of those titles connotes a loving relationship with that person. Sometimes no such relationship exists.

It is brave of your son to recognize his grandfather's indifference. Many others couldn't because it would be too painful. Excluding him need not be a sign of hate but one of pride and independence. As with many other actions, it is not the behavior but the reason behind the behavior that is important.

The reason behind your son's behavior is a wish to be honest about the relationship and not to lie that he had a grandfather he never really had. If your son invites him for social or political reasons, he would have to accept that he lies to himself. This would be an unfortunate habit to which one might become addict-

By getting more people his age to turn out, he believes elected officials will listen to their concerns.

'They're not going to unless they see that this generation cares," he said.

Political activism in others such as Greg Shannon, 18, of Livonia have been partly influenced, ironically enough, by MTV and some rock 'n' roll bands, which have stressed the importance of voting to their younger audience.

The freshman at U-M is also involved in the Just Vote campaign, inspired by a similar endeavor Rock the Vote to register people at a recent U2 concert.

They (U2) were very pro-choice, and pro-Clinton. You could see that during the concert," he said. "I asked a lot of people what they thought about it afterward and they didn't think rock stars should be doing that.

"I don't think a rock group should be telling me what person to vote for as president but a lot of people listen to music and it's a good way to talk about the importance of registering to vote."
