INTRODUCTION

This report is a revision, up-dating and expansion of the Bank's Report EC-167-70, External Public Debt, Service Payments and Terms, 1965-1969, Projected Service Payments 1970-1980. The purpose of the report is to provide a ready source of reference for data on the debt of developing countries. The report also presents the maximum of data which the Bank may publish on the subject consistent with understandings on the confidentiality of the data.

Since the publication of Report EC-167-70 revisions have been made in the data of several countries as the result of the receipt of new information and the review of information already in Bank files. This accounts for any differences between the data in this report and data previously published. Because the revision process continues, compilations prepared by the Bank since the closing date of this report may differ slightly from those shown here.

Table 1 presents a summary of the development from 1965 to 1970 of the external public debt and debt service of 80 developing countries which report to the Bank. The debt outstanding for the years, 1965 to 1969 are expressed in U.S. dollars using the exchange rates in effect at the end of each year. The debt outstanding as of the end of 1970 is shown at the rates in effect on that date and also at the rates in effect as of the end of 1971. A description of the method of exchange rate conversion is given in the section on "Definitions".

For the most part the amounts in Table 1 were compiled from detailed data reported to the Bank under a reporting system in which Bank members participate. These data are supplemented by information from a reporting system on external lending by DAC countries operated jointly by the OECD and IERD. They are also checked against, and supplemented by, data from published sources. However, amounts shown for Brazil and Israel are based on summary tables compiled by the central banks of those countries. No data are shown for a country for the years prior to that country's first report to the Bank or for years for which data of satisfactory quality are not available. However, estimated amounts for those countries and years are included in the regional totals.

Table 2 presents for individual developing countries a summary by category of debt (type of creditor) of debt outstanding, commitments, disbursements, and service payments. In the final column are shown cancellations of commitments as a minus figures, adjustments for exchange rate changes and other arithmetic differences. Wherever possible the years covered in this table are 1965 to 1970 inclusive. If a country did not start reporting its debt to the Bank until after 1965, the first year given is the year of that country's first reliable report. The Arab Republic of Egypt, Brazil, Ghana, Israel and the Syrian Arab Republic are omitted from this table since consistent information on their debt status and transactions in the past is not available. These countries have also been omitted from Tables 4, 5a, 5b and 5c for the same reason. Because more reliable data have become available, the data used in Tables 2, 4, 5a, 5b and 5c have been revised over that used in Tables 1 and 3 for the following countries: Afghanistan, Iran, Turkey and Zaire. The categories of indebtedness given in these tables are based on a classification by type of creditor. The categories are as follows: suppliers' credits, credits from private banks, credits from other private creditors, loans from international organizations, loans from DAC governments, loans from East Bloc governments, and loans from other governments. A more detailed description of the categories is given in the section of this report on "Definitions".

Table 3 gives an estimated projection of debt outstanding and service payments for the total of the 80 developing countries and for each of the six geographic regions. The projection for each region and the total are broken down by the categories listed above. The projection is based on debt outstanding including undisbursed as of December 31, 1970. Projections are not given for individual countries since this information is classified as confidential.

Table 4 gives, for individual developing countries, a matrix of the terms of three-year averages of debt contracted in 1965 to 1967 and in 1968 to 1970. The matrix shows four ranges for maturities and three for interest rates. The table also gives the average interest rate, average grace period, average maturity, grant element and grant equivalent of loans, grant element and grant equivalent of loans and grants, the amount of grants received and the amount of loans used in the calculation. The amount of loans used in the calculation may be less than the total shown in the matrix because loans whose terms are unknown could not be used in calculating average terms or grant elements.

Tables 5a, 5b and 5c show for each of 75 countries and the East African Community ¹ the average amount of loan commitments and grant disbursements and the grant equivalent for the three years 1968 to 1970. In Table 5a countries are listed alphabetically. In Table 5b the countries are ranked by absolute amounts and by grant equivalents. Finally, in Table 5c the countries are ranked by absolute amounts per capita and by grant equivalents per capita.

DEFINITIONS

Source of Information

The principal source of information for the tables are reports received by the Bank from developing countries which have received either IERD loans or IDA credits. The 80 countries included in this report are those whose reporting is sufficient for a reliable presentation of total debt outstanding and future service payments as of end 1970. The system under which these reports are made to the Bank is known as the Debtor Reporting System (DRS) and is described in a Bank publication, "Manual for Reporting External Debt and Grants". Under this system, countries are requested to report to the Bank in detail on their external public debt, in aggregate on their external private debt, and in aggregate on grants received. The requirements to report on private debt and grants have only been in effect since 1970. Most countries have not made either the institutional or operational arrangements to meet these requirements. For that reason data on private debt are not given in this report, and the data on grants were derived from reports of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD).

The requirements for reporting on external public debt have been in effect for several years. However, since countries are not required to report until they have received either an IERD loan or an IDA credit, information is lacking for some countries in the earlier years. There are certain other gaps in the information reported. Under the DRS, countries submit annually a report giving the status of individual external debts outstanding and transactions during the past year. The report is up-dated quarterly by the submission of detailed information on debts contracted during the quarter. Cooperating with the IERD in this debt collection system are three regional development banks: the African Development Bank, the Asian Development Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank.

The data received from debtor countries are checked with and supplemented from several other sources. The chief of these is the reports received by the Bank under the Expanded Reporting System on External Lending (ERS). The ERS is operated jointly by the Bank and OECD. In this system, seventeen participants, consisting of the sixteen countries which are members of the Development Assistance Committee (DAC) ^{/1} and the Commission of the European Economic Community, report to the IERD and OECD on their official lending, private lending which is insured and guaranteed by an official agency in the creditor country, and grants. Official loans are reported individually in semi-annual status reports with quarterly updating giving the details of new loans and grants committed. Private lending is reported semi-annually in aggregate.

The present report includes information on official loans derived from the ERS wherever such information supplements that available from the debtor. No information on private lending reported under the ERS is included in the tables of this report. Information on grants included in the tables are derived not from the ERS but from data obtained from another reporting system operated by the OECD alone.

^{/1} DAC member countries are the following: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

Other information used in the preparation of the tables is compiled from statements and reports of several regional development banks, published reports of government lending agencies, prospectuses of bond issues, and numerous financial publications and newspapers.

Although every effort is exerted to make the statistics complete, the quality of the coverage varies between countries and from year to year at times for individual countries. The Bank has made progress in improving coverage through checking with the sources mentioned above and supplementing the statistics with reliable information wherever available. The Bank also sends missions to member countries to gather data at first hand and to give technical assistance in setting up debt administration procedures and in making reports to the Bank.

Coverage

Under the Debtor Reporting System and in these tables, external public debt:

- a. includes all debt that is owed to creditors outside the debtor country in foreign currency, goods or services, with an original or extended maturity of over one year and that is an obligation of the national government, of a political subdivision, or an agency of either, or of an autonomous public body. It also includes external private debt guaranteed by any of the foregoing;
- b. does not include: (1) transactions with the International Monetary Fund, (2) private debts unless they are publicly guaranteed, (3) other external obligations, such as reparations, so long as the amounts and terms have not been agreed, (4) debts repayable at the option of the borrower in local currency.

The following matrix outlines the coverage of public debt. The segments of debt defined as public are indicated by the word, "yes". Those segments which are marked with "no" are excluded from the statistics unless otherwise noted. Although these definitions are followed whenever possible, gaps in reporting occur for certain countries in some years.

DEBTORS CREDITORS	Central government and agencies	Autonomous public bodies	Political sub-divisions and agencies	Private debtors with public guarantee	Private debtors without public guarantee
Governments and their agencies	yes	yes	yes	yes	no
Private creditors guaranteed by official creditor agency	yes	yes	yes	yes	no
Private creditors not guaranteed by official creditor agency	yes	yes	yes	yes	no
International organizations	yes	yes	yes	yes	no

Data for grants represent disbursements and include the following kinds of grants and grant-like transactions:

- a. Official bilateral grants in cash and kind by DAC countries;
- b. Grant-like transactions (loans repayable in recipients' currencies) by DAC countries;
- c. Grants by United Nations agencies; and
- d. Disbursements on loans by the Inter-American Development Bank which are repayable in recipients' currencies.

Description of the Data

1. The categories of debt shown in Tables 2 and 3 are as follows:

Suppliers' credits are credits reported by debtor countries for which the creditor is identified as a manufacturer, exporter, or other supplier of goods.

Credits from private banks are so classified if the ownership of the bank is private or, if publicly-owned, the bank conducts business normally handled by private banks.

Credits from other private creditors include those from all creditors in the private sector of the donor country other than those classified as suppliers and private banks. Also included in this category are bonds and obligations arising out of nationalization.

Loans from international organizations include loans and credits granted by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the International Development Association, the African Development Bank, the Asian Development Bank, the Inter-American Development Bank, the European Investment Bank, the European Development Fund, The Council of Europe, Eurofima, and the Banco Centroamericano de Integracion Economica. Excluded from this category are loans made out of funds administered by an international organization on behalf of a single donor government, e.g., loans from the Social Progress Trust Fund administered by Inter-American Development Bank for the United States. Such loans are classified as loans from governments.

Loans from governments include loans from governments, their agencies, (including central banks) and from autonomous public bodies. Loans from DAC governments are those made by the sixteen member governments of the Development Assistance Committee (see footnote 1 on page v). Loans from East Bloc governments are those from Albania, Bulgaria, China (Mainland), Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Rumania and U.S.S.R.

2. Amounts outstanding include undisbursed portions (amounts not yet drawn by the recipient) unless designated as disbursed only. Amounts outstanding represent principal only (excluding interest except in cases where interest is reported as part of the principal) and are net of past repayments.
3. Commitments represent the total of loans for which the contracts are signed in the year specified.
4. Disbursements represent drawings on loan commitments and are shown in the year in which the drawing takes place.
5. Service payments are principal and interest payments made in foreign currencies, goods or services. For obligations where it has not been possible to separate interest from principal payments, interest is included in the principal column and in the amount outstanding. Service payments for the years 1965 to 1969 represent actual transactions as reported. Service payments for the years 1979 to 1980 are the estimated payments due on the debt outstanding including undisbursed as of December 31, 1969. The projected payments are not forecasts of the total service payments that may be expected to be made in those years, since not only may new debts be contracted, but the terms and estimated drawings of undisbursed amounts on the existing debt may change. Excluded from the projections of service payments in Table 3 are debts for which information on repayment terms is not available, although amounts outstanding and transactions on those debts are included in the figures in Tables 1 and 2.

6. The grant element of loans is the face value of loan commitments less the discounted present value of the future flow of amortization and payments of interest, using the customary discount rate of 10%, expressed as a percentage of the face value. In calculating the grant element of loans and grants together, the grant element of grants is taken at 100% and the grant element of the two is weighted average of both grant elements.
7. The grant equivalent is the grant element multiplied by the amount of loans and/or grants used in the calculation of the grant element.

Exchange Rates

Data received by the Bank under both the Debtor Reporting System and the Expanded Reporting System are expressed in the currencies in which debts are payable or in which transactions took place. Amounts outstanding and transactions (commitments, disbursements and payments) are converted at the rate in effect on the date of the outstanding or the date on which the transaction took place. Par values established by the International Monetary Fund are used whenever they exist. If no par value has been established for a period, current market values are used. This practice has been uniformly followed for the years 1965 to 1969.

However, because of the drastic changes in currency values in 1971, certain other practices were followed in an effort to present more realistic dollar equivalents. In Table 1 the debt outstanding as of December 31, 1970 is valued in U.S. dollars at exchange rates in effect as of that date in one column; in the next column the same debt outstanding as of December 31, 1970 is valued at rates as of the end of 1971. The former are for the most part IMF par values; the latter are the new rates announced by the IMF at the end of December 1971. The new rates are either new par values or central exchange rates. If a currency does not have a par value or central exchange rate, the currency market rate was used.

A portion of the debt of these countries is repayable in multiple currencies (i.e. in more than one currency). The computerized records of the Bank do not contain a currency breakdown of the debts payable in multiple currencies. The major part of these debts is obligations to international organizations for which information on the breakdown of currencies is available. Work is proceeding on incorporating this information in the Bank's computer file but the results were not available for this report. Therefore, such debts are entered at their book value in all tables of this report.

Also included in the debt of many countries are obligations payable in currency whose value is stated in gold. It has been the usual practice for member countries to report such debts to the Bank in their nominal currency value without making any adjustment in the figures as that currency changes in relationship to gold. The incorrect reporting procedure has not been significant until the widespread currency adjustments of 1971. Such debts are included in this report at their nominal currency values although the Bank expects to make appropriate adjustments in its records in the future. For the most part these debts are obligations to East European countries.

Projected service payments have been converted to U.S. dollars in the following way:

- (1) Service payments due in 1971 were converted at average market rates for the year.
- (2) Service payments due from 1972 onward were converted at IMF par values, central exchange rates or market values as of December 31, 1971.
- (3) Obligations with special currency features described above (Multiple currencies, maintenance of value in gold) were included at their nominal values without adjustment for the change in value of currencies or gold.
