IDENTIFIERS

ABSTRACT Developed to facilitate location and ordering of AIM/ARM (Abstracts for Instructional Materials/Abstracts for Research Materials) documents in the ERIC system, this index indicates the availability of all VT (Vocational-Technical) document numbers assigned by the ERIC Clearinghouse on Vocational and Technical Education between 1967 and 1976. More than 17,000 document numbers are included, covering VT 000 000 - 024 049 (assigned when AIM and ARM were two separate publications) and VT 100 001 - 103 600 (assigned after 1974 when the two were merged into one publication). For each VT number, one of the following types of information on availability is provided: (1) an ED number, which indicates the document's acceptance into the ERIC system and which should be used for ordering the document from EDRS (ERIC Document Reproduction Service); (2) an "s" following an ED number, which signals a document that is available only in a microfiche set and cannot be ordered individually; (3) N, which means that the document is not available because it was either not placed into the ERIC system or was subject to copyright restriction; and (4) an MP number, which applies to manpower research documents from 1966 to 1969 and should be used in ordering from EDRS. Also provided are a price list for the microfiche sets and a form (including general price information) for ordering documents from EDRS. (ELG)

ABSTRACT

The Complete VT-ED Cross-Reference Index for the AIM/ARM System was compiled to end years of frustration on the part of users trying to locate AIM/ARM documents in the ERIC system. The index consolidates 17,000 plus VT numbers in one easy-to-read reference guide, and tells users whether documents are available in individual microfiche and hard copy or in microfiche sets only. Manpower listings for the years 1966 through 1969 are also included in the reference index. An "NP" designation after a VT number tells the user that the document is NOT AVAILABLE IN MICROFICHE, HARD COPY, OR MICROFICHE SETS from the ERIC Document Reproduction Service (EDRS). The cross-reference index makes obsolete the need for several resource books when tracking down a single VT number within the AIM/ARM system. The cross-reference index includes an explanation on how to use the manual and a KEY for easy reference. The purpose of the index is to ease the difficulty involved in converting VT numbers to ED numbers and to facilitate their request through EDRS.

FOREWORD

Finding and using relevant research information is a major task for researchers, curriculum specialists, teachers, administrators, and students. This is a time consuming job. With this new VT-ED cross-reference index, the National Center for Research in Vocational Education hopes to facilitate literature and document searches by consolidating key information in an easy reference index.

With one quick glance the user will now be able to tell if an AIM/ARM document is available in individual microfiche or hard copy, a microfiche set, or not available through the AIM/ARM and ERIC systems.

The task of compiling this index involved a great deal of work for the compilers, Kathleen Jezierski and Joan Mitric. Typing and proofing was a major undertaking for the typist, Evelyn Kearns. We wish to express our appreciation to these staff members. It is our hope that this publication will prove a valuable reference tool and that its use will serve the needs of the vocational education community.

NUMBERING SEQUENCES USED IN THIS PUBLICATION

This cross-reference list applies only to AIM and ARM documents numbered VT 000 000 through VT 024 049 and AIM/ARM documents numbered VT 100 001 through VT 103 600. These documents span the years from Fall 1967 through December 1976. Future cross-reference lists are unnecessary as all documents are now referenced with the ERIC Document (ED) number only.

Before learning how to use this index, there is some background information which may be useful to you in understanding the AIM/ARM system. This system was originally established as the AIM (Abstracts of Instructional Materials) and ARM (Abstracts of Research Materials) system. Two separate publications were published, one containing AIM materials, the other ARM materials. All of these documents were assigned VT numbers (the AIM and ARM prefix used in sequencing documents for the information system).

However, from 1967 through 1973, the VT number also had another meaning. It was used by the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) Clearinghouse on Vocational and Technical Education as their Clearinghouse accession number (the in-house control number used in processing documents for the ERIC system). Initially every document that was received for consideration in either system was automatically assigned a VT number. If the document was placed in the ERIC system, it later was assigned an ED number by the ERIC Processing Facility which coordinates all input from the various Clearinghouses.

On the other hand, if the document was considered more suitable for the AIM and ARM system and not ERIC, the original VT number was left intact and the document made available in a microfiche set through the ERIC Document Reproduction Service (EDRS). Because EDRS only accepts orders for microfiche or hard copy under the ED number designation, these microfiche sets (containing anywhere from 25 to 200 documents) were assigned a single ED number. This means that microfiche sets are only available as sets and that individual VT numbered documents within a set are not available for purchase. In order to obtain one or more VT numbered documents, one must purchase the entire set. Hard copy for a microfiche set of documents is not available. A list of the microfiche sets and their prices (current as of press time) is provided at the end of the index as is an EDRS price list and order form.

The VT numbers for the period 1967 through 1973, when the system was divided into instructional (AIM) and research (ARM) materials, begin with VT 000 000 and end with VT 024 049. There is a VT number listed for every document received by the system from VT 000 000 through VT 015 134. As stated previously, all documents received by the system were automatically assigned a VT number. However, not all of these documents were accepted by either the ERIC or AIM and ARM systems, and therefore, were not processed. This accounts for many of the NP (not processed) designations in this part of the index.

In 1972, this policy of assigning a VT number to all acquisitions changed. Now only documents that were considered for processing were assigned VT numbers. Of course not all of these documents were actually put into the ERIC and AIM and ARM systems. Some were rejected because of poor copy, content, or other reasons. This accounts for two things: 1) the omissions to be found in the VT numbers after VT 015 134 and 2) the continuation of the use of NP designations after some VT numbers.

Beginning with 1974, changes occurred which affect the nature of the AIM and ARM system.

The two publications, AIM and ARM, were merged to form one publication, AIM/ARM (Abstracts of Instructional and Research Materials in Vocational and Technical Education). With this merger came a revised numbering system. The VT prefix was retained, but the new numbering system began with VT 100 001. In other words, no documents exist for the range of numbers from VT 024 050 through VT 100 000. From this point on only documents that were announced in the AIM/ARM publication were assigned VT numbers. This means that there are no VT number omissions in the range of numbers from VT 100 001 through VT 103 600 when the AIM/ARM system and the use of the VT numbering was completed. For this range of numbers, however, you will still find the NP designation after some VT numbers. Here, as in instances throughout the publication, the use of NP represents documents that were copyrighted and for which a reproduction release was not granted. It also represents documents that were omitted from a microfiche set.

Another change that occurred was that documents were no longer processed together for inclusion in either the AIM/ARM or ERIC systems. The ERIC Clearinghouse on Career Education name change, reflecting changing terminology, replaced the Clearinghouse on Vocational and Technical Education and was moved to another location. All documents received by the AIM/ARM system were now considered only for that system. Consequently, all documents between VT 100 001 and VT 101 950, are to be found in microfiche sets only.

Again, to facilitate the purchase of individual VT numbered documents through EDRS, a cooperative agreement was arranged between the two systems. Within each issue, all 200 VT numbered AIM/ARM documents were submitted to the career education clearinghouse and those that were pertinent to the ERIC system were accessioned and eventually assigned an individual ED number. Those AIM/ARM documents that were not pertinent were placed in a microfiche set to which a "set" ED number was assigned. The range of numbers for which this arrangement applies is VT 101 951 through VT 103 600.

At this time AIM/ARM document processing was terminated but, announcement of vocational and technical materials continues. The publication's new name is Resources in Vocational Education (RIVE), and all documents announced are processed directly through the ERIC system. Each of these documents has an ED number and is individually and immediately available from EDRS in microfiche or hard copy.

HOW TO USE THIS CROSS-REFERENCE INDEX

The index is divided into two sections: VT 000 000 through VT 024 049 and VT 100 001 through VT 103 600. These two sets of numbers represent all of the VT numbers used in the AIM/ARM system. The sections follow each other continuously and the only break to be found between sections is that which exists between VT 024 049 and VT 100 001.

There are two sets of VT to ED conversion numbers on each page. The VT (Vocational-Technical) numbered columns represent those documents accessioned by the AIM/ARM system. The ED (ERIC Document) numbered columns represent the ED reference number under which a document can be located in an ERIC microfiche collection or purchased from EDRS.

The numbers in the VT column follow sequentially except where an asterisk (*) has been used to indicate that a VT number(s) has been omitted intentionally. There are four types of information listed in the ED column: (1) an eight-digit ED number which indicates that this document has been accepted by the ERIC system on an individual basis; (2) an eight-digit ED number followed by an "s" which indicates that the document can only be located in a microfiche set; (3) an "NP" designation indicating that the document was copyrighted and not available for reproduction or was initially considered for processing and later rejected; and (4) an MP (Manpower) number which represents a special collection of documents in the area of manpower research for the period 1968-1969. These MP numbered documents are available from EDRS and may be ordered using the MP number designation instead of an ED number.

KEY TO THE CROSS-REFERENCE INDEX

- VT - indicates a Vocational-Technical document in the AIM/ARM system. All VT numbers must be converted to ED numbers before ordering from EDRS or locating in microfiche collection.
- ED - indicates the ERIC Document number assigned to a VT document. Order document from EDRS using this number.
- MP - indicates Manpower research documents. Order documents from EDRS using this number.
- NP - indicates documents that were not processed or copyrighted and are not available from EDRS.
- s - located after some ED numbers. Indicates document is available only in a microfiche set. Use this ED number (minus the "s") when ordering microfiche sets from EDRS or in locating sets in an ERIC microfiche collection.
