Chairman, NWFA

One Association, MANY BENEFITS

Welcome to the 2022 NWFA Industry Guide, the hardwood flooring industry's go-to resource. Much like the NWFA, this book offers various benefits, and each is as unique as the person turning the pages. Contractors can find the products they need for an installation. Manufacturers can find new partners to distribute their products. Distributors can connect with customers in their area. The possibilities are endless.

I keep the industry guide at my desk and use it frequently to find those products that we are not asked for regularly. We also use it to find NWFA Certified Professionals in other markets, and it also results in people from other markets reaching out to us for items we sell.

But there is one common thread throughout this guide. Every company and every individual listed within is dedicated to our product, our craft, and our industry. The passion we all have for wood floors and providing our customers with an authentic and timeless product for their homes is why we do what we do. It's real wood for real life, by real, devoted people.

This guide clearly demonstrates that the entire supply chain is represented by one organization dedicated to doing what's right for the entire industry. With nearly 3,000 member companies worldwide, the NWFA supports installers, manufacturers, distributors, retailers, importers/exporters, inspectors, and consultants in the hardwood flooring industry. As an association, our mission is to develop programs and opportunities that add value to your business and help you reach your professional goals.

Despite the recent challenges our industry has had to face, we remain optimistic as we've heard that many of you are forging forward and continuing to execute on growth plans. In fact, according to the NWFA and Hardwood Floors magazine's recent industry outlook survey, all four segments are expecting sales to go up somewhat (3-7 percent) or significantly (8+ percent) in 2022. Regardless of what the future may hold, savvy businesses know that small investments can have big results. And your association and your peers listed in the following pages can play a key role.

In these crazy times, if you are not looking to the future, you will be caught flat-footed when the future arrives. Planning ahead is really tough to do with how hard everything is right now, but if the last 18 months has taught us anything, it is that things constantly are going to be changing from here on out.

For the minimal cost of a one-year NWFA membership, each member can pick and choose the benefits that best fit their needs and easily see a return on their investment. A contractor's call to the NWFA's technical hotline when facing a problem on the jobsite, a distributor or manufacturer utilizing the NWEAU to virtually train their workforce, a retailer having their sales team become Certified Professionals easily can save thousands of dollars. These are just a few examples; I could go on about the valuable solutions you get in return for the $475 a one-year NWFA membership costs.

So, as you look ahead to 2022 and beyond, I encourage you to take full advantage of the benefits available to you through an NWFA membership. It's an investment you can't afford to miss. Contact the team at 800.422.4556 or visit nwfa.org today to learn more. ■

FINDING TOMORROW'S FLOORING PROFESSIONALS

As we prepare the 2022 NWFA Industry Guide, employees are still hard to come by in most industries. And the flooring industry is no exception.

Talking with NWFA members across the country, one thing is clear: regardless of record sales for most companies, sales would be even higher if we had more people to make, sell, and install it.

While the freight industry remains a huge hindrance in meeting market demand as well, those issues are expected to clear up by the first quarter of 2022. But labor will not – it has been an issue since the Great Recession, and it will remain a problem for our generation to solve.

Considering labor, even before COVID-19, the flooring industry was facing an unprecedented need for installers. A report from Blackstone says 3,000 to 6,000 installers are needed each year for the next 10 years. Now, we not only need installers, but also salespeople, drivers, and mill workers, in the short-term. As things smooth out again into some form of normalcy, the need for workers will diminish with the exception of installers.

To address those needs, NWFA created its federally recognized Wood Flooring

Apprenticeship, and continues to develop its education and certification programs online and in-person to meet the growing demands for installation training.

However, NWFA only educates students who are already employees of NWFA members. This won't take care of the need for new blood as the Baby Boomers continue to retire while the market remains strong. We need to get in front of future employees as they decide to come into the flooring industry and help show the rich opportunities and tradition of craftsmanship we have to offer.

This year, NWFA partnered with several other flooring industry associations and leaders to create the Floor Covering Education Foundation (FCEF). The mission of the FCEF is to provide recruitment, scholarships, and placement for tomorrow's flooring professionals. It's focused on installation, as that is the hardest need to meet throughout the country.

As an NWFA member, you can access scholarships through the FCEF for students to take five of NWFA's hands-on courses. The scholarships generally cover half of the tuition cost. And if you install other surfaces, you also can select introductory courses from other approved education providers such as the Ceramic Tile Education Foundation (CTEF), Natural Stone Institute (NSI), and Certified Flooring Installers (CFI).

In addition to applying for scholarships, you also can help locate the next generation of installers by donating funds to the FCEF, which will allow it to market the entire flooring industry to potential employees through high school, technical school, GI Veteran career fairs, and social media.

Long-term, as an industry, we also will need to start thinking about how we reward our installers. Can we attract talent without wages and benefits that match those of other trades? Can we come close to paying what other trades do (electricians, plumbers, and welders, to name a few)?

NWFA is hard at work with federal and state agencies to implement its apprenticeship, provide NWFA and FCEF scholarships, and to get the word out on the rewarding opportunities the wood flooring industry has to offer.

But we need your help – we need members to go to local job fairs, meet with local guidance counselors, locate potential employees, send them to training, put them into the apprenticeship program, and be willing to pay them to learn as they go. This type of system creates loyalty, which often is the reason given for not sending new employees to training. Now, with the FCEF willing to pay half of most entry tuitions, you have financial support to help bring on new employees. Visit nwfa.org to learn more about these opportunities. ■

IT STANDS ALONE.

SOLVA-MASTIC®
WFR 930 Since we have introduced Stauf WFR-930 in the US market, it has truly changed the landscape of adhering engineered flooring. This patented product spreads easily, and cleans wet or dry without etching the finish of the floor. It also meets all the standards for IAQ, even in the state of California. WFR-930 is an alcohol based adhesive that eliminates hollow spots, and its simplicity is unmatched. We have heard from installers over and over again, and the consensus is always the same: "Don't EVER stop making this adhesive". WFR-930 stands in a class all its own. We aren't going anywhere and neither is the floor you just laid!

Stick with what works.

Engineered Flooring System

An alternative to solid hardwood flooring – Only from Union Tool

The Union Tool Corporation offers a complete material handling and coating system for laminating engineered flooring. Count on Union Tool for your next engineered flooring system.

- Includes a hot melt roller coater, lay-up conveyor, multi-nip laminator and flying cutoff saw.
- The hot melt roller coater applies a controlled and consistent amount of (PUR) adhesive.
- The lay-up conveyor allows a piece of lamella to be placed on top of the coated core.
- The multi-nip laminator is then used for pressing and holding the two pieces together.
- The flying cutoff saw will then cut to length different size planks as they are fed out of the multi-nip laminator.

Engineered Flooring Core Feeder,
automatically feeds cores directly
into the Hot Melt Roller Coater

WHO NEEDS PLYWOOD?

When you can make your own flooring base core.

With the recent shortage and increased cost of plywood, Ogden Group has developed a manufacturing method that replaces plywood with a solid engineered core substrate.

The solid core substrate consists of a 2-ply construction - a rotary peeled veneer bottom layer and a top layer comprised of sticks that are gang-ripped from 4/4 low-grade lumber. The wear layer is applied on top of the core substrate, just as it would be placed on plywood. The substrate core is made into a panel that is 2' wide by 8' long. This panel is then ripped into the widths required for the flooring. Based on the 2' x 8' panel, the machinery system can produce approximately 30,000 sq. ft. of substrate core per shift.

There are several advantages of manufacturing your own solid engineered core.

- The cost of the solid engineered core is a fraction of the price of plywood
- You no longer need to rely on outside vendors to provide your substrate
- Significantly less glue lines on the solid core - resulting in increased tooling life
- Requires minimal labor due to the automation of the system
- A core that is 100% made in the USA

- Cost effective
- Fast return on investment
- Tested and proven product
- Independence from plywood supplier
- Minimum labor required for manufacturing

Call for more information on how to produce your own core and become independent from overseas plywood manufacturing companies.

BE PART OF BUILDING SOMETHING BIG

Where We've Been

It's no secret, the hardwood industry has been losing market share to products that look like wood, but have none of the natural benefits or authentic attributes of Real American Hardwood. In order to recapture market share and improve industry stability, hardwood organizations united to form the Real American Hardwood Coalition.

Where We Are

The goal is to develop a national consumer promotion campaign on a scale that's never been seen before. And a lot has been accomplished in a short period of time—including the completion of a consumer research initiative, establishing brand guidelines, registering trademarks, and launching social media profiles.

Where We're Going, Together

The next steps will have the largest impact on the industry and require buy-in from all industry stakeholders. The Coalition is preparing to launch a comprehensive promotion campaign—including a consumer-oriented website, in-store promotion at top big box stores, a broad media relations campaign, social media influencer partnerships, print and web advertising, and much more.

How You Can Get Involved

Moving the campaign forward and expanding its reach will take the support of the entire industry—for the benefit of the entire industry.

- Make a voluntary contribution to help fund the consumer promotion campaign.
- Use the Real American Hardwood logo on your sales and marketing communications, facilities and vehicles, products, and website.
- Follow @RealAmericanHardwood on Instagram and Facebook, and tag #RealAmericanHardwood in your social media posts.

Visit RealAmericanHardwood.org to learn more.

Engineered Flooring System

An alternative to solid hardwood flooring – Only from Union Tool

The Union Tool Corporation offers a complete material handling and coating system for laminating engineered flooring. Count on Union Tool for your next engineered flooring system.

- Includes a hot melt roller coater, lay-up conveyor, multi-nip laminator and flying cutoff saw.
- The hot melt roller coater applies a controlled and consistent amount of (PUR) adhesive.
- The lay-up conveyor allows a piece of lamella to be placed on top of the coated core.
- The multi-nip laminator is then used for pressing and holding the two pieces together.
- The flying cutoff saw will then cut to length different size planks as they are fed out of the multi-nip laminator.

Engineered Flooring Core Feeder,
automatically feeds cores directly
into the Hot Melt Roller Coater

We help organizations sell more profitably.

Value-Added Selling is a content-rich message of hope: You can compete aggressively and profitably in your markets with your total value, not just with price. We can design, customize, and deliver this message for your organization. We do this through custom, in-house training programs and public seminars.

Planiseal[®] PMB

Quickest way to block 100% of moisture?

Start with two coats of Planiseal PMB.

For installations of hardwood and resilient flooring, Planiseal PMB is now approved for two-coat applications to offer complete moisture protection. A double coat of this ready-to-use product can handle up to 25 lbs. (11.3 kg) MVER (ASTM F1869) and 100% RH (ASTM F2170), with no moisture testing or surface profiling required.

Once cured, Planiseal PMB can be readied for floor coverings with rapid-curing, bond-enhancing preparation products. Skimcoat and patch on top of Planiseal PMB quickly and easily with the Planipatch / Planipatch Plus system. Or lay down a rapid self-leveling underlayment with Polyplan RSL. These prep products also eliminate the need for a primer, saving in both time and materials.
