The Home Builders & Remodelers Association of Western Massachusetts (HBRAWM) is pleased to provide you with this free edition of this Consumer Guide to Building and Remodeling. Please utilize this guide to help you find a professional to solve your building/remodeling needs. 2019 marks the 65th edition of the "Original" Western Mass Home & Garden Show and since its inception, our mission has remained the same: Bring the public face to face with quality professionals providing products and service for the home and garden in the Pioneer Valley. HOME SHOW 2019 has 325 vendors in over 700 booths to help people gather ideas to build, remodel, decorate, and improve their home and gardens.

Our association has been a consumer source of the Pioneer Valley for over 75 years. Our association strives to educate consumers on the correct way to hire a contractor. If a consumer knows what to look for in a contractor; properly checks out references; knows what they want with their project and conveys that to the contractor, they can avoid some potential headaches down the road. Many times, problems arise because the consumer and contractor did not have a clear vision of the outcome of the project. It is imperative to have a good open line of communication with your builder and to spell everything out in your contract.

From our humble beginnings with just a handful of builders to over 450 member companies today, our association is a diversified group of artisans, craftspeople and industry leaders that have joined to continually strive to raise the standards of the industry by educating our members and consumers about the latest changes and developments in residential construction techniques, regulations, building practices and codes on the local, state and national levels. Not only have our members been instrumental in building our Western Mass communities for over 75 years, but our association and its members strive to serve those same communities through volunteer efforts with charitable groups such as Homes for our Troops, Extreme Makeover: Home Edition, Greater Springfield Habitat for Humanity, Rebuilding Together Springfield, the American Red Cross, The Zoo at Forest Park, Children's Miracle Network, the American Cancer Society, the Boys & Girls Clubs of Springfield and the Shriners are among a few. By utilizing one of our members, you can be assured that you are using a professional that strives to keep abreast of local, state and national issues, as well as a company that cares about its community.

The HBRAWM educates our members about upcoming legislation and regulations to keep them abreast on how to run their business effectively. We educate our members through various publications, in-classroom seminars and on-line education. Our association is approved by the state of MA to be a Course Administrator to offer courses to fulfill mandatory educational programs for contractors to renew their licenses. Our classes, which are taught by industry experts, are offered in the Springfield and Sturbridge area, and we offer our classes on-line. For more information about these continuing education classes, please visit our website at www.hbrawm.com.

If you do not find the information that you need at the Home Show or in this guide, please call our office at (413) 733-3126 and one of our HBRA staff members will be glad to help you. I am confident that you will find this guide, our staff and our members to be a tremendous resource. Please take advantage of our expertise and let us be your source for quality contractors for your building and remodeling needs.

10 Tips for a Smooth Home Remodel

Follow these 10 tips when you embark on an exciting home remodeling project.

- 1. Establish effective two-way communication with the home remodeler. It's essential to have good communication for a smooth home remodeling project. Does the remodeler listen? Does he or she answer questions clearly and candidly? Can you reach him when you need to? Does he return phone calls promptly? Does he let you know when problems arise and work with you on solving them?
- 2. Make sure you are compatible with the contractor. You'll spend a lot of time with your remodeler so it's important to have a good rapport and trust in him or her.
- 3. Set a clear and mutual understanding about the schedule. You and your home remodeler should agree on the schedule up front to avoid conflict and problems later in the project.
- 4. Request a written proposal. Often, two people remember the same conversation differently. Get the proposal in writing and work with the remodeler to ensure it reflects your wishes.
- 5. Get a clear and mutual understanding on miscellaneous details up front. There are a lot of little details that need to be settled before work starts. What times of day will they be working? How will he or she access the property? How will cleanup be handled? How will they protect your property?
- 6. Remember to be flexible. Remodeling is an interruption of your normal life. Remember to be flexible during the project so that you can handle the unexpected and go with the flow.
- 7. Discuss and agree on how change orders will be handled. With home remodeling there is always the chance you may want to change materials or other project details during the job. Before work starts, make sure you agree with your remodeler about how these changes will be handled. Also understand that changes could affect the schedule and the budget, so it's important you have all changes in writing.
- 8. Agree on a well-written contract that covers all the bases. The contract should include these elements: a timetable for the project, price and payment schedule, detailed specifications for all products and materials, insurance information, permit information, procedures for handling change orders, lien releases, provisions for conflict resolution, notice of your right under the Federal Trade Commission's Cooling Off Rule (your right to cancel the contract within three days if it was signed someplace other than the remodeler's place of business), and details on the important issues (such as access to your home, care of the home, cleanup and trash removal).
- 9. Ask for a written lien waiver from the home remodeler upon completion of the work. If the remodeler hires subcontractors for portions of the work, then it is their responsibility to see the subcontractors compensated. In order to ensure this has been done and to protect yourself, ask for a written lien waiver when the work is finished. This document will verify everyone has been paid.
- 10. Establish a project plan, covering all phases and dependencies in the work. Plan your big picture goals with the remodeler and discuss your needs. Hire a remodeler who will plan with you, listen to concerns and answer questions.

Before You Move In: The New Home Walk-Through

Before you go to settlement on your purchase of a newly constructed home, you and your builder will do a walk-through to conduct a final inspection.

This walk-through provides an opportunity to spot items which may need to be corrected or adjusted, learn about the way your new home works and ask questions about anything you don't understand.

Often, a builder will use the walk-through to educate buyers about:

- The operation of the house's components.
- The buyer's responsibilities for maintenance and upkeep.
- Warranty coverage and procedures.
- The larger community in which the home is located.

Operation of Home Components

When you buy a new appliance or piece of equipment, such as a printer or a washing machine, you usually have to read the instructions before you understand how to use all of the features. With a new house, you will receive a stack of instruction booklets all at once. It helps if someone takes the time to show you how to operate all of the kitchen appliances, heating and cooling systems, water heater and other features. Such an orientation is particularly useful because people often are so busy during a move that they have trouble finding time to carefully read instruction booklets.

Maintenance Responsibilities

Part of your walk-through will be learning about maintenance and upkeep responsibilities. Most new homes come with a one-year warranty on workmanship and materials. However, such warranties do not cover problems that develop because of failure to perform required maintenance. Many builders provide a booklet explaining common upkeep responsibilities of new home owners and how to perform them.

Should a warranted problem arise after you move in, the builder is likely to have a set of warranty service procedures to follow. Except in emergencies, requests for service should be in writing. This helps to ensure that everyone clearly understands the service to be performed.

Builder Visits During the Year

Many builders schedule two visits during the first year — one near the beginning and the other near the end — to make necessary adjustments and to perform work of a non-emergency nature. Don't expect a builder to rush out immediately for a problem such as a nail pop in your drywall. Such problems occur because of the natural settling of the house and are best addressed in one visit near the end of the first year.

Your Inspection Checklist

Create a checklist when inspecting the house. The list should include everything that needs attention, and you and your builder should agree to a timetable for repairs. Builders prefer to remedy problems before you move in because it is easier to work in an empty house. Some items may have to be corrected after move-in. For instance, if your walk-through is in the winter, your builder may have to delay landscaping adjustments until spring.

It is important that you be thorough and observant during the walk-through. Examine all surfaces of counters, fixtures, floors and walls for possible damage carefully. Sometimes disputes arise because a buyer may discover a gouge in a counter top after move-in, and there is no way to prove whether it was caused by the builder's workers or the buyer's movers. Many builders ask their buyers to sign a form at the walk-through stating that all surfaces have been inspected and that there is no damage other than what has been noted on the walk-through checklist.

Ask a lot of questions during the walk-through and take notes on the answers. Don't worry about asking too many questions. That is how you learn. It is important to view the walk-through as a positive learning experience that will enhance the enjoyment of your new home.

Heat Your Home Safely

Natural gas is commonly used in homes as an energy source. And like any energy source, it must be used correctly to be efficient and safe.

Natural gas is a versatile, clean-burning fuel. It is often used to heat your home, cook food, heat water to bathe with, dry clothes, and even start the fire in the fireplace. In its natural state, it is a non-toxic, colorless, tasteless and odorless gas. The “smell” you recognize as natural gas odor is added so you will know if there is a gas leak in your home.

Responding to Gas Leaks

Gas may escape from faulty appliances, loose connections, service lines inside or outside your home, or from the gas main. If you ever smell gas, take these precautions immediately:

1. Do not light any matches or turn any electrical switches on or off in your home.
2. Ventilate the room or home by opening doors and windows.
3. If the odor is very strong or you hear a hissing noise, leave your home immediately. Go to a neighbor's home and call the fire department.

Maintaining Your Furnace or Boiler

You should also regularly inspect your furnace or boiler. A properly maintained furnace runs more efficiently and saves you money.

Follow the manufacturer's instructions to perform the inspection. If the instructions are missing, follow this checklist for inspecting your furnace or boiler:

1. Make sure the unit is free of dust, rust or any other signs of corrosion. Make sure the space around it is clear of paint, solvents, rags, paper or any other combustible products.
2. Check the air filter regularly, every one to two months. Replace or clean it if necessary. You can save 5% or more on your energy bills by doing so regularly.
3. Check the blower by thoroughly examining it and the belt (if your furnace has one) for cracks or excessive wear. Replace it if necessary.
4. Inspect space heaters annually as well. As with any gas appliance, trouble signs to look for are: a yellow flame; soot; a lingering pungent smell; or overheating.

Caring for Gas Appliances

Many homes have gas appliances in the kitchen and laundry rooms. A few simple precautions will help to keep gas appliances running safely and efficiently, too.

Never use the top burners or the oven of a gas range for home-heating purposes. Ranges and ovens are designed as cooking appliances only. Used improperly, they present a fire and burn hazard, and a malfunctioning gas range can produce toxic carbon monoxide.

Gas clothes dryers also need to be checked periodically. Make sure the dryer vent hose is free of lint. Lint buildup in the hose can cause a fire. Check the manufacturer's instructions for information on how to remove lint from the hose, or call a qualified appliance repair contractor.

Even if everything appears to be in working order, it makes good safety sense to have all your gas appliances and furnace checked by a qualified heating contractor on a regular basis (annually is recommended).

Checklist for Finding and Hiring a Builder or Remodeler

Doing your homework with help you have a more successful experience.

Use this checklist to help you select a home builder or home remodeler to work on or build your home.

- Contact your local home builders' association for the names of member builders and remodelers. You can also ask family, friends or coworkers for recommendations.
- Make sure the builder or home remodeler has a permanent business location and a good reputation with local banks and suppliers.
- Find out how long they have been in the building business. It usually takes three to five years to establish a financially sound business. You want to make sure they will be around after the construction is complete to service any warranties.
- Check out the company's rating and if there have been any complaints filed with your local Better Business Bureau. www.bbb.org.
- Make sure the builder/remodeler has sufficient workers compensation and general liability insurance. If not, you may be liable for any construction-related accidents on your premises.
- Ask the builder/remodeler to provide you with names of previous customers. If they won't, beware. If they do, ask the customers if they would hire the builder/remodeler again.
- Ask if you can see the builder/remodelers work. Both completed and in progress. Check for quality of workmanship and materials.
- Do you feel you can easily communicate with the builder/remodeler? Remember, you will be in close contact with them throughout the construction process and afterwards as you live in your new home.
- Make sure the builder/remodeler provides you with a complete and clearly written contract. The contract will benefit both of you. If you are having a new home built, get and review a copy of the home warranty and homeowner manual as well.
- Be cautious of unusually low-priced bids. If the builder/remodeler is unable to pay for the materials and labor as the project proceeds, this may indicate a potential problem. Keep in mind that less expensive does not necessarily mean better!
- Verify that your remodeler is an EPA Lead-Safe Certified Renovator if you are planning work in a pre-1978 home that will disturb more than six square feet of painted surfaces inside the home or 20 square feet on the exterior of the home. Learn more about the EPA's lead paint rule.

Questions to Ask Your Home Builder

When you're thinking about buying a new home, selecting the right home builder is a key step in creating the home of your dreams. You should feel comfortable asking a potential home builder every question that you think is important. And, a professional builder or sales representative will want to make you a happy and satisfied home owner.

Besides the questions of "How much does it cost?," and "When can we move in?," here are some other questions you should ask:

- Will the builder give you references of recent buyers/occupants?
- Does the builder have a financing plan established?
- Are there options in the floor plan — for example, can a basement or deck be added?
- Can a room such as the basement be left unfinished?
- How much "customizing" can be done versus standard features?
- Can appliances be up- or down-graded?
- Are there any additional fees relating to the home or development?
- Will there be a home owners' association? If so, what will the dues cost and what do they cover?
- Does the builder offer a warranty program?
- Does the price include landscaping? What if the plants die within a year?
- Are there any restrictive covenants?
- What are the estimated taxes on the property?
- How is the school system rated?
- Are day care and grocery stores convenient and satisfactory?
- What about emergency facilities — police, fire department and hospitals?
- Are there any major development plans for the area in the next five years?

Home Maintenance Quiz

It's the weekend and you have a whole list of household chores to do. Oh, we know you'd rather be golfing or playing tennis or watching TV, but keeping your home in good shape is important. Your home may be the biggest investment you will ever make. Taking good care of it with regular maintenance is necessary to maintain its value and ensure it will provide a comfortable, safe shelter for you and your family for a long time.

Here is a home maintenance quiz that will test your maintenance knowledge. While this quiz does not address every home maintenance project, it does provide helpful tips and reminders for chores you may have overlooked.

1. How often do forced-air furnace filters need to be changed?
At least every three months during the heating season.
2. What part of the faucet usually needs to be replaced when you have a water leak?
The washer.
3. Should you run hot or cold water through your garbage disposal?
Cold water.
4. How often should the moving parts of garage doors be oiled?
Every three months.
5. What tools can you use to unclog your drains?
A plunger and a plumber's snake.
6. What tool can be used to unclog a toilet?
Coil spring-steel auger.
7. What faucet part needs to be cleaned every three to four months?
Aerator- the screen inside the end of the faucet.
8. What can you use for traction on icy sidewalks, steps and driveways?
Cat litter or sand – never use salt because it damages the pavement.
9. Where should the fire in your fireplace be built?
On the andirons or grate – never on the fireplace floor.
10. What will prevent soot and add color to the fire in your fireplace?
Throw in a handful of salt.
11. Where should your firewood be stored?
Outside, away from your house and not directly on the ground.
12. What helps keep unpainted concrete floor easy to keep clean?
Concrete sealer.
13. What should you use to clean unpainted concrete floors?
A solution of 4 to 6 teaspoons of washing soda in a gallon of hot water. Mix scoring powder to the solution for tough jobs.
14. When can you clean hardwood floors with water?
When the floors have a polyurethane finish.
15. Do hardwood floors need to be waxed?
Hardwood floors that do not have a polyurethane finish probably will need to be waxed periodically. Use liquid or paste "spirit" wax.
16. What is the best polish for vinyl floors?
Water emulsion wax.
17. When is basement condensation at its maximum?
In new homes because gallons of water went into the concrete of basement walls.
18. Why should noisy water pipes be fixed promptly?
The condition that causes noisy pipes may be accompanied by vibration that can cause fittings to loosen and leak.
19. Why should frozen pipes be thawed slowly?
Frozen pipes should be thawed slowly to prevent the formation of steam, which could cause the pipe to burst.
20. How often should your roof be inspected?
A qualified roofer should inspect your roof every three years.
21. What should be regularly checked on your security system?
The alarms and circuit breakers should be checked to make sure they are in working order and the sensors should be inspected one by one.

22. To ensure your safety, what household equipment uses batteries that must be checked regularly to make sure they are operable?
Smoke and carbon monoxide detectors.
23. What do you use to fill in holes and cracks in plaster walls and gypsum wallboard?
Spackling.
24. What is the white powdery substance that develops on masonry walls?
Efflorescence sometimes appears on masonry walls. It is crystallized soluble salts that can be removed by scrubbing with water and a stiff brush.
25. At what temperature should your water heater be set?
120 degrees Fahrenheit.
26. How often do skylights need to be inspected?
Skylights should be inspected each time your roof is inspected so leaks don't develop from cracks and interruptions around its seals, caulking and flashings.

27. What is a simple solution you can use to wash extremely dirty exterior windows?
A solution of equal parts vinegar and water or 3 tablespoons of denatured alcohol per quart of warm water. Use a piece of crumpled newspaper to wash the glass to avoid lint left behind by paper towels.
28. What can you use to help a window slide easily?
Rub the channel with a piece of paraffin.
29. What should you look for when you inspect your siding yearly?
Determine if wood-sided homes need to be repainted; check to see if the caulking around the windows and doors has split and cracked, and replace the caulk; clean the mildew; trim shrubbery away so it does not touch the siding.

Quick Home Cleaning Tips

Does the mere thought of tackling your weekly house cleaning chores exhaust you? Unfortunately you can't eliminate the tasks entirely or you and your house will quickly become the talk of the neighborhood.

Don't fret! Simply incorporate these quick cleaning tips into your routine to help make chores more manageable.

Daily Maintenance

Give the shower and bath a quick wipe down after every use. There are several daily shower sprays on the market that will do the job. Keep a sponge or squeegee in the shower, along with the shower spray, to eliminate the build-up of soap scum and mold, which creates more work later.

Within Reach

Disinfectant wipes, even baby wipes, are a great way to quickly clean something when you make a mess. Keep canisters in the kitchen, bathroom and living room for quick and easy access. When they are in reach, you are more apt to clean up the mess immediately rather than put it off until later.

Also, gather all of the supplies you will need to complete a task before you begin. Put them in a tote or basket to carry around with you as you clean. You will spend less time traveling from room to room hunting down the products you need.

Spray and Walk Away

If you are doing heavy cleaning to your bathroom or kitchen, just spray and walk away. Cleaning products are designed to dig deep into the stain to help dissolve it. When you spray and then immediately wipe it off, you are not giving the product time to do its job. Thoroughly spray down the areas you are cleaning and then tend to another task. When you go back to the area to be cleaned, the product will have done most of the work, creating less scrubbing for you.

Beat the Clock

You don't have to carve out an entire afternoon to take care of your house cleaning. Set a timer for 15 or 30 minutes and restrict your duties to that time period. You will find that when you are "on the clock" you are more efficient and less distracted. What you don't get done in that time frame can be saved until the next time. By scheduling your duties in shorter segments you won't feel as if it has taken up as much of your time.

(This article is a reprint from the NAHB's House Keys at www.nahb.org.)

Time for Spring Time Organization

Step outside and take a deep breath. The snow is melting and flowers are blooming and the fresh scent of spring is once again in the air. This means that heavy coats and scarves are giving way to short sleeves, and snow shovels are being replaced with small gardening tools. But where to store all of your now-unneeded winter accessories?

Effective storage ideas are abundant, and getting organized now will ensure you are prepared when Old Man Winter comes back around. Some hoping to get organized may find it helpful to start by making a list of everything they want to store. This list will help ensure that nothing gets lost once the organizing and storage begins.

If you have additional space in a basement or garage, you may want to look into purchasing shelving. Easy-to-install, heavy-duty shelving can be purchased at just about any major home supply store such as Home Depot or Lowe's. Many of these units are designed so that you can leave as much room between the shelves as you like, making it easy to get larger and smaller items onto the same unit and saving you space.

It is important that when shopping for storage shelving that you look carefully at the installation process. While most are simple enough to install in less than one hour, some may be more involved, requiring multiple tools. Look before you buy and you will have a smoother process while getting organized.

Heavy winter clothing can take up lots of closet space, leaving you with little additional room for your spring wardrobe. If you are looking for clothing storage space, have you considered what may not be under your bed? Many home owners forget about the ample storage space lurking there. Invest in some under-the-bed storage units. Many such units work perfectly for storing heavy coats and sweaters until next season, especially in homes with limited storage space. Simply fold your clothing and additional accessories flat and place them into the storage containers. The containers slide right under the bed for excellent out-of-sight storage. These handy units can be found at just about any store that sells storage solutions and are relatively inexpensive.

When looking at storing winter tools such as snow shovels, step into your garage and look up. The additional space on the walls towards the ceiling may lend itself to a long rack with hooks where tools can be hung.

For city dwellers, storage can take an interesting angle of its own. Stretched to find storage space in often cramped apartments, some builders are responding to the need. Fixes to the storage problem include larger built-in cabinets and an unique process known as raised floors. A section of the floor is elevated like a platform, high enough to include small access doors with space to store boxes, skis, heavy coats or just about anything an urbanite may need to pack away with the coming of spring.

Storing all of that winter gear away can be as easy as you make it. Remember, make a list and assess what you will need. Take a look around first to see what you already have that can be used for storage. With just a little preparation, storing your winter items can be as relaxing as a warm spring breeze.

Decoding Energy Efficiency Lingo

The terminology for energy-efficient homes can be very technical and confusing to home owners. Here are some simple definitions to help you understand popular energy-saving options for your home.

Energy-Efficient Home

A home that uses less energy than a traditional home without compromising service to owners and occupants. Energy efficiency can be achieved through things such as improved thermal envelopes, solar-oriented construction, low-e windows and efficient appliances. Note that energy efficiency and energy conservation are different in that conservation efforts reduce or eliminate services to save energy.

Net Zero-Energy Home

A home in which energy production and consumption are equivalent. That means the energy produced by the home must meet the household's needs. Rooftop solar panels are perhaps the most common way for homes to produce energy. To help achieve net-zero energy, the home should be designed using a holistic, whole-house approach that strives for efficiency and reduces energy consumption without sacrificing service or comfort.

Net Zero-Energy-Ready Home

A home that is outfitted with the necessary structural and technological support to install energy-producing technologies. Net zero energy-ready homes are appropriate for home owners who plan to install energy-producing technology in the future but do not have the means or desire to do so at the current time. When the home owner is ready to install such technology, it will be a much simpler process.

Net Positive-Energy Home

A home that produces more energy than the household needs. A home owner could receive credit from their utility company for the excess energy returned to the grid that is produced by the energy technologies and saved by energy-efficiency measures.

(This article is a reprint from the NAHB's House Keys at www.nahb.org.)

Assess Your Home's Efficiency with an Energy Audit

You may be wondering how to save money on your energy bills this year. Conducting a do-it-yourself home energy audit is a fast, relatively simple way to assess how much energy your home consumes and determine what you can do to make your home more energy efficient.

A home energy audit will show you where your home is losing energy, how efficient your heating and cooling systems are, and ways to conserve electricity. All it takes is a thorough inspection of the areas listed here and keeping a checklist of the problems you found.

Air Leaks

Stopping or minimizing drafts can save on annual energy costs. Some places to inspect where air commonly seeps from homes include gaps around baseboards, wall and ceiling junctures, electrical outlets, switch plates, window frames, weather stripping, fireplace dampers, attic doors, window-mounted air conditioners and foundation seals.

On your home's exterior, look at the areas where two different building materials meet, such as corners and areas where siding or brick come together with chimneys or the foundation. If you can rattle windows or see daylight around door or window frames, you likely are losing air.

Once you've identified the leaks, seal them with caulk, weather stripping or the same material as the original seal. You can also attach plastic sheets around your windows.

Insulation

In older homes especially, you may have insufficient insulation in the ceiling and walls. Your attic door should be insulated and close tightly. Openings around pipes, ductwork and chimneys should be sealed. Look for a vapor barrier — tarpaper or a plastic sheet — under the attic insulation. To check your walls, make a small hole in a closet or other out-of-the-way place and probe into the wall with a long stick or screwdriver. If it's an outside wall, the area should be completely filled with an insulating material.

Fill the gaps in any openings with expanding foam. Flexible caulk should be used to seal any electrical boxes in the ceiling. If your home lacks a vapor barrier, consider painting interior ceilings with vapor barrier paint. This reduces the amount of water vapor that can pass through the ceiling, which reduces your insulation's effectiveness.

Heating and Cooling Equipment

Inspect your heating and cooling equipment. See if ducts and pipes located in unheated spaces and your water heater and hot water pipes are insulated. Dirt streaks around your ductwork, especially near the seams, are evidence of leaks.

Have your equipment checked and cleaned by a professional annually. If you have a forced-air furnace, replace your filters as soon as they are dirty. Even if they aren't, replace them every 30 to 60 days.

Lighting

Look at the bulbs in your home and determine if a lower-watt bulb would work just as well for your needs. For lights that will be used more than two hours each day, replace your incandescent bulbs with compact fluorescent bulbs and you can save up to 75% of the energy used for lighting.

A home audit is a great way to find out your home's energy deficiencies and make simple improvements that will save you time and money in the long run.

Fantastic crew! I would highly recommend this company. Nick is responsive, pays attention to detail and is very reasonably priced. He is also a very honest GC. My husband and I plan to recommend him to everyone we know!

ARM? GPM? PITI? You'd have to be a cryptologist to figure out some of the terms buyers encounter during the home buying process. Doing research on how to buy a house before beginning the process can greatly improve your experience and prepare you for the exciting course ahead. And with this glossary of home buying terms at your side, you can rest easy that your new home won't get lost in translation.

A-L

- Adjustable Rate Mortgage (ARM). A loan whose interest rate is adjusted according to movements in the financial market.
- Amortization. A payment plan by which a borrower reduces a debt gradually through monthly payments of principal and interest.
- Annual Percentage Rate (APR). The annual cost of credit over the life of a loan, including interest, service charges, points, loan fees, mortgage insurance, and other items.
- Appraisal. An evaluation to determine what a piece of property would sell for in the marketplace.
- Appreciation. The increase in the value of a property.
- Assessment. A tax levied on a property or a value placed on the worth of property by a taxing authority.
- Assumption. A transaction allowing the buyer of a home to assume responsibility for an existing loan on the home instead of getting a new loan.
- Balloon. A loan which has a series of monthly payments (often for 5 years or less) with the remaining balance due in a large lump sum payment at the end.
- Binder. A receipt for a deposit paid to secure the right to purchase a home at terms agreed upon by the buyer and seller.
- Buydown. A subsidy (usually paid by a builder or developer) to reduce the monthly payments on a mortgage loan.
- Cap. A limit to the amount an interest rate or a monthly payment can increase for an adjustable rate loan either during an adjustment period or over the life of the loan.
- Certificate of Occupancy. A document from an official agency stating that the property meets the requirements of local codes, ordinances, and regulations.
- Closing. A meeting to sign documents which transfer property from a seller to a buyer. (Also called settlement)
- Closing Costs. Charges paid at settlement for obtaining a mortgage loan and transferring real estate title.
- Conditions, Covenants, and Restrictions (CC and Rs). The standards that define how a property may be used and the protections the developer has made for the benefit of all owners in a subdivision.
- Condominium. A home in a multi-unit complex; each purchaser owns an individual unit, and all the purchasers jointly own the common areas, such as the surrounding land, hallways, etc.
- Conventional Loan. A mortgage loan not insured by a government agency (such as FHA or VA).
- Convertibility. The ability to change a loan from an adjustable rate schedule to a fixed rate schedule.
- Cooperative. A form of ownership in a multi-unit complex; the purchasers own shares of the entire complex rather than owning individual units.
- Credit Rating. A report ordered by a lender from a credit bureau to determine if the borrower is a good credit risk.
- Default. A breach of a mortgage contract (such as not making monthly payments).
- Density. The number of homes built on a particular acre of land. Allowable densities are usually determined by local jurisdictions.

- Down Payment. The difference between the sales price and the mortgage amount on a home. The down payment is usually paid at closing.
- Due-on-Sale. A clause in a mortgage contract requiring the borrower to pay the entire outstanding balance upon sale or transfer of the property. A mortgage with a due-on-sale clause is not assumable.
- Earnest Money. A sum paid to the seller to show that a potential purchaser is serious about buying.
- Easement. Right-of-way granted to a person or company authorizing access to the owner's land; for example, a utility company may be granted an easement to install pipes or wires. An owner may voluntarily grant an easement, or in some cases, be compelled to grant one by a local jurisdiction.
- Equity. The difference between the value of a home and what is owed on it.
- Escrow. The handling of funds or documents by a third party on behalf of the buyer and/or seller.
- Federal Housing Administration (FHA). A federal agency which insures mortgages that have lower down payment requirements than conventional loans.
- Fixed Rate Mortgage. A mortgage whose interest rate remains constant over the life of the loan. The payments are not necessarily level. (See Graduated Payment Mortgage and Growing Equity Mortgage).
- Fixed Schedule Mortgage. A mortgage whose payment schedule for the life of the loan is established at closing. The payments and interest rate are not necessarily level.
- Graduated Payment Mortgage (GPM). A fixed-rate, fixed-schedule loan which starts with lower payments than a level payment loan; the payments rise annually over the first 5 to 10 years and then remain constant for the remainder of the loan. GPMs involve negative amortization.
- Growing Equity Mortgage (Rapid Payoff Mortgage). A fixed-rate, fixed-schedule loan which starts with the same payments as a level payment loan; the payments rise annually, with the entire increase being used to reduce the outstanding balance. No negative amortization occurs, and the increase in payments may enable the borrower to pay off a 30-year loan in 15 to 20 years, or less.
- Hazard Insurance. Protection against damage caused by fire, windstorm, or other common hazards. Many lenders require borrowers to carry it in an amount at least equal to the mortgage.
- Housing Finance Agency. A state agency which offers a limited amount of below-market-rate home financing for low-and moderate-income households.
- Index. The interest rate or adjustment standard which determines the changes in monthly payments for an adjustable rate loan.
- Infrastructure. The public facilities and services needed to support residential development, including highways, bridges, schools, and sewer and water systems
- Interest. The cost paid to a lender for the use of borrowed money.
- Joint Tenancy. A form of ownership by which the tenants own a property equally. If one dies, the other would automatically inherit the entire property.
- Level Payment Mortgage. A mortgage whose payments are identical for each month over the life of the loan.
- Mortgage Broker. A broker who represents numerous lenders and helps consumers find affordable mortgages; the broker charges a fee only if the consumer finds a loan.
- Mortgage Commitment. A formal written communication by a lender, agreeing to make a mortgage loan on a specific property, specifying the loan amount, length of time and conditions.
- Mortgage Company (Mortgage Banker). A company that borrows money from a bank, lends it to consumers who want to buy homes, then sells the loans to investors.
- Mortgagee. The lender who makes a mortgage loan.
- Mortgage Loan. A contract in which the borrower's property is pledged as collateral and which can be repaid in installments over a long period. The mortgagor (buyer) promises to repay principal and interest, to keep the home insured, to pay all taxes, and to keep the property in good condition.
- Mortgage Origination Fee. A charge by a lender for the work involved in preparing and servicing a mortgage application (usually 1 percent of the loan amount).
- Negative Amortization. An increase in the outstanding balance of a loan when a monthly payment is not large enough to cover all of the interest due.
- Note. A formal document showing the existence of a debt and stating the terms of repayment.
- PITI. Principal, interest, taxes, and insurance (the 4 major components of monthly housing payments).
- Point. A charge of 1 percent of the mortgage amount. Points are a one-time charge assessed by the lender at closing to increase the interest yield on a mortgage loan.
- Prepayment. Payment of all or part of a debt prior to its maturity.
- Principal. The amount borrowed in a loan, excluding interest and other charges.
- Property Survey. A survey to determine the boundaries of your property. The cost will depend on the complexity of the survey.
- Rapid Payoff Mortgage. (See Growing Equity Mortgage).
- Recording Fee. A charge for recording the transfer of a property, paid to a city, county, or other appropriate branch of government.
- Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA). A federal law requiring lenders to provide home buyers with information about known or estimated settlement costs. The act also regulates other aspects of settlement procedures.
- R-Value. The resistance of insulation material (including windows) to heat passing through it. The higher the number, the greater the insulating value.
- Sales Contract. A contract between a buyer and seller which should explain, in detail, exactly what the purchase includes, what guarantees there are, when the buyer can move in, what the closing costs are, and what recourse the parties have if the contract is not fulfilled or if the buyer cannot get a mortgage commitment at the agreed-upon terms.
- Settlement. (See Closing).
- Shared Appreciation Mortgage. A loan in which partners agree to share specified portions of the down payment, monthly payment, and appreciation.
- Tenancy in Common. A form of ownership in which the tenants own separate but equal parts. To inherit the property, a surviving tenant would either have to be mentioned in the will or, in the absence of a will, be eligible through state inheritance laws.
- Title. Evidence (usually in the form of a certificate or deed) of a person's legal right to ownership of a property.
- Transfer Taxes. Taxes levied on the transfer of property or on real estate loans by state and/or local jurisdictions.
- Veterans Administration (VA). A federal agency which insures mortgage loans with very liberal down payment requirements for honorably discharged veterans and their surviving spouses.
- Walk-Through. A final inspection of a home before settlement to search for problems that need to be corrected before ownership changes hands.
- Warranty. A promise, either written or implied, that the material and workmanship of a product is defect-free or will meet a specified level of performance over a specified period of time. Written warranties on new homes are either backed by insurance companies or by the builders themselves.
- Zoning. Regulations established by local governments regarding the location, height, and use for any given piece of property within a specific area.
