

BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY

EIGHTH EDITION

BRYAN A. GARNER
EDITOR IN CHIEF

A.

a.1. (usu. cap. & often ital.) A hypothetical person <A deeds Blackacre to B>.2. [Latin] From; by; in; on; of; at. 3.[Law Latin] With. 4.[Law French] Of; at; to; for; in; with. 5.Securities. A letter used in a newspaper stock-transaction table to indicate that cash was paid during the year in addition to regular dividends. 6.Securities. A letter used in a newspaper mutual-fund transaction table to indicate a yield that may include capital gains and losses as well as current interest. 7. (cap.) Securities. A letter used in a newspaper corporate earnings report to identify the American Stock Exchange as the primary market of a firm's common stock. 8. (cap.) Securities. An above-average grade given to a debt obligation by a rating agency. • The grades, as ranked by Standard & Poor's, range from AAA (highest) down to CCC. The equivalent standards from Moody's are Aaa, Aa, A, Baa, and so on down to C. 9.Marine insurance. A rating assigned in Lloyd's Register of Shipping to ships considered to be in first-class condition. 10.abbr.ADVERSUS. 11.(cap.) Hist. A scarlet letter worn as punishment by a person convicted of adultery. 12.Roman law. An abbreviation for absolvo written on wooden tablets by criminal-court judges to indicate a vote for acquittal. 13.Roman law. An abbreviation for antiquo (“for the old law”) written on wooden tablets by the participants in a popular assembly to indicate a vote against a proposed bill.

A

A.abbr.ATLANTIC REPORTER.

A. 2D

A.2d.abbr.See ATLANTIC REPORTER.

AAA

AAA.abbr.1.AMERICAN ARBITRATION ASSOCIATION. 2.AMERICAN ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION . 3.AMERICAN ACADEMY OF ACTUARIES. 4.AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT ACT . 5. See accumu-lated-adjustments account under ACCOUNT.

AAC

AAC.abbr.ANNO ANTE CHRISTUM.

AACN

AACN.abbr.ANNO ANTE CHRISTUM NATUM.

AALS

AALS.abbr.ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN LAW SCHOOLS.

AARCC

AARCC.abbr. ALTERNATIVE AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH AND COMMERCIALIZATION CORPO-RATION .

AAU

AAU.abbr. Amendment to allege use. See TRADEMARK-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

A AVER ET TENER

a aver et tener (ay ay-v<<schwa>>r [or ah ah-v<<schwa>>r] et ten-<<schwa>>r). [Law French] To have and to hold. See HABENDUM CLAUSE.

AB

AB.abbr.See able-bodied seaman under SEAMAN.

ab,prep. [Latin] From; by; of.

ABA

ABA.abbr.1.AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION. 2.AMERICAN BANKERS ASSOCIATION.

ABACINATE

abacinate (<<schwa>>-bas-<<schwa>>-nayt), vb. To blind (a person) by placing a red-hot iron or metal plate in front of the eyes.

ABACTION

abaction (ab-ak-sh<<schwa>>n). See ABIGEATUS.

AB ACTIS

ab actis (ab ak-tis), n.[Latin “in relation to proceedings”] Roman law. An officer responsible for public records (acta), registers, journals, or minutes; a court clerk; a notary.

ABACTOR

abactor (ab-ak-t<<schwa>>r or -tor). See ABIGEUS.

AB AGENDO

ab agendo (ab <<schwa>>-jen-doh), adj.[Latin] Unable to act; incapacitated for business or transactions of any kind.

ABALIENATION

abalienation (ab-ayl-y<<schwa>>-nay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.[fr. Latin abalienare “to alienate”] Civil law. The transfer of an interest in or title to property; ALIENATION(2). • In Roman law, the term was abalienatio (“a perfect conveyance from one Roman citizen to another”), which was anglicized to abalienation. — abalienate,vb.

ABAMITA

abamita (<<schwa>>-bam-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Civil law. A great-great-great-aunt.

ABANDONED APPLICATION

abandoned application. Patents & trademarks. An application removed from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office docket of pending applications because the applicant (or the applicant's attorney or agent of record) filed an express notice of abandonment, failed to take appropriate action at some stage in the prosecution of a nonprovisional application within the time specified by the PTO rules (or because the statutory period expired for a provisional application), or failed to pay the issue fee. • Abandonment of a patent or trademark application does not automatically result in abandonment of the invention or the mark. Cf. ABANDONED INVENTION; ABANDONED MARK.

ABANDONED EXPERIMENT

abandoned experiment. Patents. An unsuccessful attempt to reduce an invention to practice. • Unless it is publicly known, an abandoned experiment does not qualify as prior art under § 102 of the Patent Act, so it does not bar future patents.

ABANDONED INVENTION

abandoned invention. See INVENTION.

ABANDONED MARK

abandoned mark. See abandoned trademark under TRADEMARK.

ABANDONED PROPERTY

abandoned property. See PROPERTY.

ABANDONED, SUPPRESSED, OR CONCEALED

abandoned, suppressed, or concealed, adj. Patents. Intentionally or accidentally hidden from public notice, not reduced to practice, or not patented. • Another person's earlier invention will not be considered prior art if the first inventor abandoned the field to others or is held to have lost the right to patent by suppressing or concealing the invention. But if the suppression or concealment occurred after the art became known to the public, then it still qualifies as prior art. See MPEP § 2138.03. [Cases: Patents 82. C.J.S. Patents §§ 114–118.]

ABANDONED TRADEMARK

abandoned trademark. See TRADEMARK.

ABANDONEE

abandonee (<<schwa>>-ban-d<<schwa>>-nee). One to whom property rights are relinquished; one to whom something is formally or legally abandoned.

ABANDONMENT

abandonment, n. 1. The relinquishing of a right or interest with the intention of never again claiming it. • In the context of contracts for the sale of land, courts sometimes use the term abandonment as if it were synonymous with rescission, but the two should be distinguished. An abandonment is merely one party's acceptance of the situation that a nonperforming party has caused. 2. Family law. The act of leaving a spouse or child willfully and without an intent to return. • Child abandonment is grounds for termination of parental rights. Spousal abandonment is grounds for divorce. Cf. DESERTION. [Cases: Divorce 37; Infants 157. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 20, 41.]

“The lines of distinction between abandonment and the many forms of child neglect are often not very clear so that failure to support or to care for a child may sometimes be characterized as abandonment and sometimes as neglect.” Homer H. Clark Jr., The Law of Domestic Relations in the United States § 20.6, at 895 (1988).

abandonment of minor children. See NONSUPPORT.

constructive abandonment. See constructive desertion under DESERTION.

malicious abandonment. 1. The desertion of a spouse without just cause. See criminal desertion under DESERTION. [Cases: Divorce 37. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 20, 41.] 2. See voluntary abandonment.

voluntary abandonment. 1. As a ground for divorce, a final departure without the consent of the other spouse, without sufficient reason, and without the intention to return. [Cases: Divorce 37. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 20, 41.] 2. In the law of adoption, a natural parent's willful act or course of conduct that implies a conscious disregard of or indifference to a child, as if no parental obligation existed. — Also termed malicious abandonment. [Cases: Adoption 7.4.]

3. Criminal law. RENUNCIATION(3). 4. Bankruptcy. A trustee's court-approved release of property that is burdensome or of inconsequential value to the estate, or the trustee's release of nonadministered property to the debtor when the case is closed. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3131–3137. C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 188–189.] 5. Contracts. RESCISSION(2). 6. Insurance. An insured's relinquishing of damaged or lost property to the insurer as a constructive total loss. Cf. SALVAGE(2). [Cases: Insurance 2236. C.J.S. Abatement and Revival §§ 135, 146, 148, 151–154.] 7. Trademarks. A mark owner's failure to maintain the mark's proper use in commerce or failure to maintain its distinctive character. • Abandonment is an affirmative defense to an action for trademark infringement. — Also termed nonuse. [Cases: Trade Regulation 70. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 217–218.] 8. Copyright. Hist. An affirmative defense to a copyright-infringement claim governed by pre-1989 law, based on the author's general publication of the work without a copyright notice. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 50.1(4).] 9. Intellectual Property. The loss of an intellectual-property right, as by disuse, neglect of formalities, or failure to pay a required fee.

abandonment by operation of law. See constructive abandonment.

actual abandonment. 1. Patents. Intentional relinquishment of the right to patent protection, evidenced, for example, by more than mere inactivity or delay in filing the application. • Actual abandonment may be express or implied, but every reasonable doubt about intent will be resolved in the inventor's favor. [Cases: Patents 82. C.J.S. Patents §§ 114–118.] 2.Trademarks. Intentional loss of trademark protection by discontinuing commercial use of the mark with the intention of not using it again. [Cases: Trade Regulation 70. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 217–218.]

constructive abandonment. 1.Patents. The closing of a patent-application prosecution by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office when an applicant fails to respond to an office action within the time allowed, usu. six months, or fails to pay an issue fee. • If the delay was unintentional or unavoidable, the application may be revived. [Cases: Patents 107. C.J.S. Patents §§ 157–158.] 2.Patents. Abandonment of an invention by operation of law regardless of the inventor's intention, such as when the inventor forfeits the right to patent by selling or offering to sell the invention or by describing it in a publication more than a year before seeking patent protection. 35 USCA § 102. [Cases: Patents 80. C.J.S. Patents §§ 105–106, 108–111.] 3.Trademarks. An owner's loss of trademark protection, regardless of whether the mark is registered, by allowing the mark to lose its distinctiveness, such as by letting the name become a generic term for that type of goods, or by otherwise failing to maintain the mark's distinctive character. • For example, licensing the use of the mark without retaining control over how it is used would result in constructive abandonment. — Also termed abandonment by operation of law. [Cases: Trade Regulation 76. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 222–224.]

express abandonment.Patents. An applicant's intentional and clear termination of a patent prosecution. • An express abandonment must be made in a signed writing and received by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office in time for the Office to act before the patent issues. Once an application is expressly abandoned, it cannot be revived, and the applicant cannot preclude the public from freely availing itself of the invention's benefits. Abandonment of a patent application does not result in abandonment of the invention. — Also termed formal abandonment. [Cases: Patents 107. C.J.S. Patents §§ 157–158.]

formal abandonment.See express abandonment.

implied abandonment.Patents. An inventor's failure to take steps to protect an invention, such as by failing to claim the invention when disclosed in a patent application or by permitting an application to be abandoned, esp. by failing to file an answer to an office action within the time allowed. [Cases: Patents 107. C.J.S. Patents §§ 157–158.]

ABANDONMENT OF CONTEST

abandonment of contest.Patents. The withdrawal by a party from an interference contest. • The abandonment of contest must be in writing. The contest is dissolved as to the abandoning party. [Cases: Patents 106(5).C.J.S. Patents § 166.]

ABANDUM

abandum (<<schwa>>-ban-d<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin] Hist. A thing that has been forfeited. — Also spelled abandun; abandonum.

AB ANTE<TT>

ab ante (ab an-tee), adv.[Latin] Hist. Before; beforehand; in advance. — Also termed ab antecedente.

AB ANTIQUO

ab antiquo (ab an-tI-kwoh), adv.[Law Latin] Hist. From ancient times; of old. — Also termed ab antiqua.

ABARNARE

abarnare (ab-ahr-nair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] Hist. To detect or disclose a secret crime; to bring to judgment.

ABATABLE NUISANCE

abatable nuisance. See NUISANCE.

ABATAMENTUM

abatamentum (<<schwa>>-bay-t<<schwa>>-men-t<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin] Hist. See ABATEMENT(5).

ABATARE

abatate (ab-<<schwa>>-tair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] Hist. To abate.

ABATEMENT

abatement (<<schwa>>-bayt-m<<schwa>>nt), n.1. The act of eliminating or nullifying <abatement of a nuis-ance> <abatement of a writ>. [C.J.S. Nuisances §§ 86–89.] 2. The suspension or defeat of a pending action for a reason unrelated to the merits of the claim <the defendant sought abatement of the suit because of misnomer>. See plea in abatement under PLEA. [Cases: Abatement and Revival 58.]

“Although the term ‘abatement’ is sometimes used loosely as a substitute for ‘stay of proceedings,’ the two may be distinguished on several grounds. For example, when grounds for abatement of an action exist, the abatement of the action is a matter of right, but a stay is granted in the court's discretion. And in proper circumstances a court may stay a proceeding pending the outcome of another proceeding although a strict plea in abatement could not be sustained.” 1 Am. Jur. 2d Abatement, Survival, and Revival § 3 (1994).

3. The act of lessening or moderating; diminution in amount or degree < abatement of the debt>.4.Wills & estates. The reduction of a legacy, general or specific, as a result of the estate's being insufficient to pay all debts and legacies <the abatement of legacies resulted from the estate's insolvency>. Cf. ADEPTION. [Cases: Wills 804–818.] 5.Archaic. The act of thrusting oneself tortiously into real estate after the owner dies and before the legal heir enters <abatement of freehold>. — Also termed (in sense 5) abatamentum. — abate,vb. — abat-able,adj.

ABATEMENT CLAUSE

abatement clause. A lease provision that releases the tenant from the rent obligation when an act of God precludes occupancy.

ABATER

abater (<<schwa>>-bay-t<<schwa>>r or -tor). 1. One who abates something. 2. A plea in abatement. See plea in abatement under PLEA.

ABATOR

abator (<<schwa>>-bay-t<<schwa>>r or -tor). 1. A person who eliminates a nuisance. See ABATEMENT(1). [Cases: Nuisance 20, 74.] 2. Hist. A person who tortiously intrudes on an heir's freehold before the heir takes possession. See ABATEMENT(5).

ABATUDA

abatuda (ab-<<schwa>>-t[y]oo-d<<schwa>>), n. [fr. Law Latin abatudus "debased"] Hist. A thing diminished, such as money reduced in value by clipping (moneta abatuda).

ABAVIA

abavia (<<schwa>>-bay-vee-<<schwa>>), n. [Latin] Civil law. A great-great-great-grandmother.

ABAVUNCULUS

abavunculus (ab-<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>ng-ky<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>s), n. [Latin] Civil law. A great-great-great-uncle. — Also termed avunculus maximus.

ABAVUS

abavus (ab-<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>s), n. [Latin] Civil law. A great-great-grandfather.

ABBACY

abbacy (ab-<<schwa>>-see). Eccles. law. An abbot's jurisdiction or term of tenure.

ABBESS

abbess (ab-is). Eccles. law. A female spiritual superior of a convent. Cf. ABBOT.

ABBEY

abbey (ab-ee). Eccles. law. A monastery governed by an abbot, or a convent governed by an abbess.

ABBEY LAND

abbey land. (usu pl.) Hist. Real property held by an abbey in mortmain and therefore exempt from tithes. See MORTMAIN.

ABBOT

abbot (ab-<<schwa>>t). Eccles. law. A superior or governor of an abbey. Cf. ABBESS.

ABBREVIATED TERM SHEET

abbreviated term sheet. See TERM SHEET.

ABBREVIATIO PLACITORUM

Abbreviatio Placitorum (<<schwa>>-bree-vee-ay-shee-oh plas-i-tor-<<schwa>>m), n. [Law Latin “summary of the pleas”] Hist. An abstract of pleadings culled from the rolls of the Curia Regis, Parliament, and common-law courts from the 12th to 14th centuries, compiled in the 17th century, printed in 1811, and attributed variously to Arthur Agarde, Deputy Chamberlain of the Exchequer, and to other keepers of the records. Cf. YEAR BOOKS.

ABBREVIATOR

abbreviator. 1. One who abbreviates, abridges, or shortens. 2. Eccles. law. An officer in the court of Rome appointed as assistant to the vice-chancellor for drawing up the Pope's briefs and reducing petitions, when granted, into proper form to be converted into papal bulls.

ABBROACHMENT

abbroachment (<<schwa>>-brohch-m<<schwa>>nt), n. Hist. The act of forestalling the market by buying wholesale merchandise to sell at retail as the only vendor. — Also spelled abbrochment; abbrochement. — ab-broach, vb.

ABC TEST

ABC test. The rule that an employee is not entitled to unemployment insurance benefits if the employee (A) is free from the control of the employer, (B) works away from the employer's place of business, and (C) is engaged in an established trade. • The name derives from the A, B, and C commonly used in designating the three parts of the test. [Cases: Social Security and Public Welfare 293, 351, 385. C.J.S. Social Security and Public Welfare §§ 166–169, 186, 214–215.]

ABC TRANSACTION

ABC transaction. Oil & gas. A sale of a working interest from an owner (A) to an operator (B) in return for a cash payment and the right to another (usu. larger) payment when the well produces, followed by A's sale of the right to the production payment to a corporation (C), which pays A in cash borrowed from a lender on C's pledge of the production payment. • Thus A receives cash taxed at capital-gains rates, and B pays part of the purchase price with nontaxable production income. The tax advantages of this transaction were eliminated by the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

ABDICATION

abdication (ab-di-kay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. The act of renouncing or abandoning privileges or duties, esp. those connected with high office <Edward VIII's abdication of the Crown in 1936> <the court's abdication of its judicial responsibility>. — abdicate (ab-di-kayt), vb. — abdicable (ab-di-k<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj. — abdicator (ab-di-kay-t<<schwa>>r), n.

ABDITORY

abditory (ab-di-tor-ee), n.[Law Latin abditorium “box, receptacle”] A repository used to hide and preserve goods or money. — Also termed abditorium (ab-di-tor-ee-*<<schwa>>*m).

ABDUCTION

abduction (ab-d*<<schwa>>k-sh<<schwa>>*n), n.1. The act of leading someone away by force or fraudulent persuasion. • Some jurisdictions have added various elements to this basic definition, such as that the abductor must have the intent to marry or defile the person, that the abductee must be a child, or that the abductor must intend to subject the abductee to concubinage or prostitution. 2.Archaic. The crime of taking away a female person, esp. one who is below a certain age (such as 16 or 18), without her consent by use of persuasion, fraud, or violence, for the purpose of marriage, prostitution, or illicit sex. [Cases: Criminal Law 45.10. C.J.S. Kidnapping §§ 5–6.] 3. Loosely, KIDNAPPING. See ENTICEMENT OF A CHILD. — abduct,vb. — abductor,n. — abductee,n.

“Abduction seems not to have been a crime at early common law, but found its way thereinto through an old English statute which defined the crime substantially as the taking of a woman against her will for lucre, and afterwards marrying her, or causing her to be married to another, or defiling her, or causing her to be defiled.” Justin Miller, Handbook of Criminal Law § 104, at 319 (1934).

ABEARANCE

abearance (<<schwa>>-bair-*<<schwa>>*nts), n. Archaic. Behavior; conduct.

“The other species of recognizance, with sureties, is for the good abearance, or good behaviour. This includes security for the peace ...” 4 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 253 (1769).

AB EPISTOLIS

ab epistolis (ab ee-pis-t*<<schwa>>*-lis), n.[Latin] Hist. An officer who maintained the correspondence (epistolae) for a superior; a secretary.

ABERCROMBIE<TT> CLASSIFICATION

Abercrombie classification.Trademarks. One of the four types of trade designation — whether by mark, name, or dress — as generic, descriptive, suggestive, and arbitrary or fanciful, in increasing order of distinctiveness. Ab-ercrombie & Fitch Co. v. Hunting World, Inc., 537 F.2d 4, 9 (2d Cir. 1976). [Cases: Trade Regulation 12.]

ABERRANT BEHAVIOR

aberrant behavior (a-ber-*<<schwa>>*nt). A single act of unplanned or thoughtless criminal behavior. • Many courts have held that aberrant behavior justifies a downward departure — that is, a more lenient sentence — under the federal sentencing guidelines, based on a comment in the introduction to the Guidelines Manual to the effect that the guidelines do not deal with single acts of aberrant behavior. U.S. Sentencing Guidelines Manual ch. 1, pt. A, ¶ 4.

ABESSE

abesse (ab-es-ee), vb.[Law Latin] Roman & civil law. To be absent; to be away from a place where one is supposed to be (as before a court). Cf. ADESSE.

ABET

abet (<<schwa>>-bet), vb.1. To aid, encourage, or assist (someone), esp. in the commission of a crime <abet a known felon>.2. To support (a crime) by active assistance <abet a burglary>. See AID AND ABET. Cf. INCITE. [Cases: Criminal Law 59(5). C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 133, 135, 998–999.] — abetment,n.

ABETTATOR

abettator (ab-<<schwa>>-tay-t<<schwa>>r), n.[Law Latin] Archaic. See ABETTOR.

ABETTOR

abettor. A person who aids, encourages, or assists in the commission of a crime. — Also spelled abetter. — Also termed (archaically) abettator. See principal in the second degree under PRINCIPAL; [Cases: Criminal Law 59. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 127, 998.]

AB EXTRA

ab extra (ab ek-str<<schwa>>), adv.[Latin] From outside; extra; beyond.

ABEYANCE

abeyance (<<schwa>>-bay-<<schwa>>nts), n.1. Temporary inactivity; suspension. 2.Property. A lapse in suc-cession during which no person is vested with title. — abeyant,adj.

“Abeyance, from the French bayer, to expect, is that which is in expectation, remembrance, and intendment of law. By a principle of law, in every land there is a fee simple in somebody, or else it is in abeyance; that is, though for the present it be in no man, yet it is in expectancy belonging to him that is next to enjoy the land.” 1 Richard Burn, A New Law Dictionary 4 (1792).

ABIATICUS

abiaticus (ab-ee-ay-t<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>s), n.[Law Latin “descended from a grandfather”] Hist. A grandson in the male line; a son's son. — Also spelled aviaticus.

ABIDE

abide,vb.1. To tolerate or withstand <the widow found it difficult to abide the pain of losing her husband>.2. To obey <try to abide the doctor's order to quit smoking>.3. To await <the death-row prisoners abide execution>.4. To perform or execute (an order or judgment) <the trial court abided the appellate court's order>.5. To stay or dwell <the right to abide in any of the 50 states>.

ABIDE BY

abide by,vb. To act in accordance with or in conformity to.

AB IDENTITATE RATIONIS

ab identitate rationis (ab I-den-ti-tay-tee ray-shee-oh-nis or rash-ee-oh-nis). [Law Latin] Hist. By identity of reason; for the same reason.

ABIDING CONVICTION

abiding conviction.See CONVICTION.

ABIGEATUS

abigeatus (<<schwa>>-bij-ee-ay-t<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman & civil law. The act of stealing cattle by driving them away (abigere); cattle-rustling. • In the later civil law, the usual term for this was abaction. — Also termed abigeat.

ABIGEUS

abigeus (<<schwa>>-bij-ee-<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman & civil law. One who steals cattle, esp. in large numbers; a cattle-rustler. • This was known in the later civil law as an abactor. Pl. abigei.

“The stealing of a single horse or ox might make a man an abigeus, but it seems that the crime could not be committed on less than four pigs or ten sheep. They need not however be taken all together. In such a state of the law one would expect thefts of three pigs or eight sheep to become abnormally common.” 1 James Fitzjames Stephen, A History of the Criminal Law of England 27 (1883).

ABILITY

ability. The capacity to perform an act or service; esp., the power to carry out a legal act <ability to enter into a contract>.

present ability.The actual, immediate power to do something (esp. to commit a crime).

AB INCONVENIENTI

ab inconvenienti (ab in-k<<schwa>>n-vee-nee-en-tI), adv.[Law Latin] From hardship or inconvenience. See argumentum ab inconvenienti under ARGUMENTUM.

AB INITIO

ab initio (ab i-nish-ee-oh), adv.[Latin] From the beginning <the injunction was valid ab initio>. Cf. IN INITIO.

AB INTESTATO

ab intestato (ab in-tes-tay-toh), adv.[Latin] By intestacy <succession ab intestato is often treated as being ne-cessary because of the neglect or misfortune of the deceased proprietor>. Cf. EX TESTAMENTO.

AB INVITO

ab invito (ab in-vI-toh), adv.[Latin] By or from an unwilling party; against one's will . Cf. IN INVITUM.

AB IRATO

ab irato (ab I-ray-toh), adv.[Latin] By one who is angry. • This phrase usu. refers to a gift or devise made adversely to an heir's interests, out of anger. An action to set aside this type of conveyance was known at common law as an action ab irato.

ABISHERING

abishering. See MISKERING.

ABJUDGE

abjudge (ab-j<<schwa>>j), vb. Archaic. To take away or remove (something) by judicial decision. Cf. ADJUDGE.

“As a result of the trial a very solemn judgment is pronounced. The land is adjudged to the one party and his heirs, and abjudged (abiudicata) from the other party and his heirs for ever.” 2 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, The History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 63 (2d ed. 1899).

ABJUDICATIO

abjudicatio (ab-joo-di-kay-shee-oh), n.[Law Latin] The act of depriving a person of a thing by judicial decision.

ABJURATION

abjuration (ab-juu-ray-sh<<schwa>>n), n. A renouncing by oath.

abjuration of the realm. An oath taken to leave the realm forever.

“If a malefactor took refuge [in sanctuary] ... the coroner came and parleyed with the refugee, who had his choice between submitting to trial and abjuring the realm. If he chose the latter course, he hurried dressed in pilgrim's guise to the port that was assigned to him, and left England, being bound by his oath never to return. His lands escheated; his chattels were forfeited, and if he came back his fate was that of an outlaw.” 2 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 590 (2d ed. 1899).

oath of abjuration. English law. An oath renouncing all right of descendants of a pretender to the Crown.

ABJURE

abjure (ab-joor), vb. 1. To renounce formally or on oath <abjure one's citizenship>. 2. To avoid or abstain from <abjure one's civic duties>. — abjuratory (ab-joor-<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj.

ABLATIVE FACT

ablative fact. See divestitive fact under FACT.

ABLE

able, adj. Legally competent and qualified <able to transfer title>.

ABLE-BODIED SEAMAN

able-bodied seaman. See SEAMAN.

ABLEGATE

ablegate (ab-l<<schwa>>-gayt), n. A papal envoy on a special mission, such as carrying a newly appointed cardinal's insignia of office.

ABLEISM

ableism. Prejudice against or disregard of disabled people's needs and rights; discrimination that unreasonably favors able-bodied persons. See DISCRIMINATION(1), (2). — ableist, adj.

ABLE SEAMAN

able seaman. See able-bodied seaman under SEAMAN.

ABLE TO WORK

able to work. Labor law. (Of a worker) released from medical care and capable of employment; esp., not qualified to receive unemployment benefits on grounds of illness or injury. [Cases: Social Security and Public Welfare 477–495. C.J.S. Social Security and Public Welfare §§ 255–258.]

ABLOCATION

ablocation (ab-loh-kay-sh<<schwa>>n). Archaic. The leasing of property for money. Cf. LOCATIO.

ABMATERTERA

abmatertera (ab-m<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>), n. [Latin] Civil law. A great-great-great-aunt. See MATERTERA MAXIMA.

ABNEPOS

abnepos (ab-nep-ahs or -ohs), n. [Latin] Civil law. A great-great-grandson; the grandson of a grandson or granddaughter.

ABNEPTIS

abneptis (ab-nep-tis), n. [Latin] Civil law. A great-great granddaughter; the granddaughter of a grandson or granddaughter.

ABNORMAL LAW

abnormal law. The law as it applies to persons who are under legal disabilities such as infancy, alienage, insanity, criminality, and (formerly) coverture.

ABNORMALLY DANGEROUS ACTIVITY

abnormally dangerous activity. An undertaking that necessarily carries with it a significant risk of serious harm even if reasonable care is used, and for which the actor may face strict liability for any harm caused; esp., an activity (such as dynamiting) for which the actor is held strictly liable because the activity (1) involves the risk of serious harm to persons or property, (2) cannot be performed without this risk, regardless of the precautions taken, and (3) does not ordinarily occur in the community. • Under the Restatement (Second) of Torts, determining whether an activity is abnormally dangerous includes analyzing whether there is a high degree of risk of harm, whether any harm caused will be substantial, whether the exercise of reasonable care will eliminate the risk, whether the activity is a matter of common usage, whether the activity is appropriate to the place in which it occurs, and whether the activity's value to society outweighs its dangerousness. Restatement (Second) of Torts § 520 (1977). — Also, esp. formerly, termed extrahazardous activity; ultrahazardous activity. See strict liability under LIABILITY. [Cases: Negligence 305. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 176–179.]

ABODE

abode. A home; a fixed place of residence. See DOMICILE; PLACE OF ABODE.

ABOGADO

abogado (ah-boh-gah-doh), n. [Spanish] Spanish law. An advocate; a lawyer.

AB OLIM

ab olim (ab oh-lim), adj. [Law Latin] Of old.

ABOLISH

abolish, vb. To annul, eliminate, or destroy, esp. an ongoing practice or thing.

ABOLITION

abolition. 1. The act of abolishing. 2. The state of being annulled or abrogated. 3. (usu. cap.) The legal termination of slavery in the United States. [Cases: Slaves 24. C.J.S. Peonage §§ 3–5.] 4. Civil law. Withdrawal of a criminal accusation; a sovereign's remission of punishment for a crime. 5. Hist. Permission granted to the accuser in a criminal action to withdraw from its prosecution. See NOLLE PROSEQUI.

ABOMINABLE AND DETESTABLE CRIME AGAINST NATURE

abominable and detestable crime against nature. See SODOMY.

A BON DROIT

a bon droit (ay or a bawndrwah), adv. [Law French] With good reason; justly; rightfully.

ABORIGINAL COST

aboriginal cost. See COST(1).

ABORIGINAL TITLE

aboriginal title. See TITLE(2).

ABORTEE

aborte (⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-bor-tee). A woman who undergoes an abortion. [Cases: Abortion and Birth Control 0.5.]

ABORTICIDE

aborticide. See ABORTIFACIENT.

ABORTIFACIENT

abortifacient (⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-bor-t⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-fay-sh⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩nt), n. A drug, article, or other thing designed or intended to produce an abortion. — Also (rarely) termed aborticide. — abortifacient, adj.

ABORTION

abortion, n. 1. An artificially induced termination of a pregnancy for the purpose of destroying an embryo or fetus. • In Roe v. Wade, the Supreme Court first recognized a woman's right to choose to end her pregnancy as a privacy right stemming from the Due Process Clause of the 14th Amendment. 410 U.S. 113, 93 S.Ct. 705 (1973). Sixteen years later, in Webster v. Reproductive Health Services, the Court permitted states to limit this right by allowing them to enact legislation that (1) prohibits public facilities or employees from performing abortions, (2) prohibits the use of public funds for family planning that includes information on abortion, or (3) severely limits the right to an abortion after a fetus becomes viable — that is, could live independently of its mother. 492 U.S. 490, 109 S.Ct. 3040 (1989). In 1992, the Court held that (1) before viability, a woman has a fundamental right to choose to terminate her pregnancy, (2) a law that imposes an undue burden on the woman's right to choose before viability is unconstitutional, and (3) after viability, the state, in promoting its interest in potential human life, may regulate or prohibit abortion unless it is necessary to preserve the life or health of the mother. Planned Parenthood of Southeastern Pa. v. Casey, 505 U.S. 833, 112 S.Ct. 2791 (1992). In 2000, the Court again considered abortion rights and reaffirmed Casey in holding the Nebraska law at issue unconstitutional because (1) it failed to provide an exception to preserve the health of the mother, and (2) it unduly burdened a woman's right to choose a late-term abortion, thereby unduly burdening her right to choose abortion itself. Stenberg v. Carhart, 530 U.S. 914, 120 S.Ct. 2597 (2000). — Formerly also termed procuring an abortion; criminal operation; criminal miscarriage; pro-curing miscarriage. [Cases: Abortion and Birth Control 0.5.] 2. The spontaneous expulsion of an embryo or fetus before viability; MISCARRIAGE. — abort, vb. — abortionist, n.

“The word ‘abortion,’ in the dictionary sense, means no more than the expulsion of a fetus before it is capable of living. In this sense it is a synonym of ‘miscarriage.’ With respect to human beings, however, it has long been used to refer to an intentionally induced miscarriage as distinguished from one resulting naturally or by accident. There has been some tendency to use the word to mean a criminal miscarriage, and there would be distinct advantages in assigning this meaning to it; but there are so many references to lawful abortion or justification for abortion that it is necessary to speak of 'criminal abortion' or the 'crime of abortion' to emphasize the element of culpability." Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 186–87 (3d ed. 1982).

“Modern legal historians dispute whether, and to what extent, abortion constituted a crime at English common law. One view finds that, at most, abortion was an ecclesiastical crime, and concludes that the common law allowed a woman and her abortionist to terminate a pregnancy at all stages of gestation without secular penalties. Another claims that all abortions are at least secular wrongs to the fetus and that only the problems of proving a causal relationship between some abortions and fetal death prevented the punishment of all abortions. Substantial authority exists, however, for a middle ground: although no penalties attached to abortions before the fetus had quickened, performing a postquickening abortion was a common-law crime, most likely a misdemeanor.” Susan Frelich Appleton, “Abortion,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice 1, 1 (Sanford H. Kadish ed., 1983).

induced abortion. An abortion purposely and artificially caused either by the mother herself or by a third party. See ABORTIFACIENT.

late-term abortion. An abortion performed during the latter stages of pregnancy, usu. after the middle of the second trimester.

partial-birth abortion. An abortion in which a viable fetus is partially delivered before being destroyed.

spontaneous abortion. See MISCARRIAGE.

therapeutic abortion. An abortion carried out to preserve the life or health of the mother. [Cases: Abortion and Birth Control 0.5.]

“Until recently it was common to speak of ‘therapeutic abortion.’ The literal meaning of the term is an abortion induced for medical reasons, but it was commonly understood to mean one for the purpose of saving the mother's life” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 193 (3d ed. 1982).

ABORTIVE CHILD

abortive child. See CHILD.

ABORTIVE TRIAL

abortive trial. See MISTRIAL.

ABOUTISSEMENT

aboutissement (a-boo-tees-mahn), n. [Law French] An abuttal or abutment.

ABOVE

above,adj. & adv. (Of an appellate court) having dealt with an appeal in the case at issue; having the power to review the case at issue. Cf. BELOW.

ABOVE-MENTIONED

above-mentioned,adj. See AFORESAID.

ABOVE-STATED

above-stated,adj. See AFORESAID.

ABOVE-THE-LINE

above-the-line,adj. (Of a deduction) taken after calculating gross income and before calculating adjusted gross income. • Examples of above-the-line deductions are IRA contributions and moving expenses. Formerly, individual tax returns had a dark line above which these deductions were written. Cf. BELOW-THE-LINE. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3114. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 59.]

ABPATRUUS

abpatruus (ab-pa-troo-<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman & civil law. A great-great-great-uncle. — Also termed patruus maximus.

ABRIDGE

abridge,vb.1. To reduce or diminish <abridge one's civil liberties>.2. To condense (as a book or other writing) <the author abridged the treatise before final publication>.

ABRIDGMENT

abridgment. 1. A condensed version of a longer work. 2.Hist. A legal digest or encyclopedia.

ABRIDGMENT OF DAMAGES

abridgment of damages.The right of a court to reduce the damages in certain cases. See REMITTITUR. [Cases: New Trial 162(1). C.J.S. New Trial §§ 271–274, 276–278.]

ABROAD

abroad,adv. Outside a country; esp., other than in a forum country.

ABROGARE

abrogare (ab-roh-gair-ee), vb. [Latin] Roman law. To remove something from an old law by a new law. — Also termed exrogare.

ABROGATE

abrogate (ab-r<<schwa>>-gayt), vb. To abolish (a law or custom) by formal or authoritative action; to annul or repeal. Cf. OBROGATE. — abrogation,n.

ABROGATION OF ADOPTION

abrogation of adoption.Family law. An action brought by an adoptive parent to terminate the parent–child relationship by annulment of the decree of adoption. • An adoption may be nullified if it resulted from fraud, misrepresentation, or undue influence, or if nullification is in the child's best interests. — Also termed annulment of adoption. Cf. WRONGFUL ADOPTION.

ABS

ABS.abbr. 1.AMERICAN BUREAU OF SHIPPING. 2.AUTOMATED BOND SYSTEM. 3. See able-bodied seaman under SEAMAN.

ABSCOND

abscond (ab-skond), vb.1. To depart secretly or suddenly, esp. to avoid arrest, prosecution, or service of process. 2. To leave a place, usu. hurriedly, with another's money or property. — abscondence (ab-skon-d<< schwa>>nts), n.

ABSCONDING DEBTOR

absconding debtor.See DEBTOR.

ABSENCE

absence,n.1. The state of being away from one's usual place of residence. 2. A failure to appear when expected. 3.Louisiana law. The state of being an absent person. — Also termed (in sense 3) absentia.

ABSENT DEBTOR

absent debtor.See DEBTOR.

ABSENTE

absente (ab-sen-tee). [Latin] In the absence of. • This term formerly appeared in law reports to note the absence of a judge <the court, absente Ellis, J., was unanimous>.

ABSENTEE

absentee,n.1. A person who is away from his or her usual residence; one who is absent. 2. A person who is not present where expected. 3. A person who either resides out of state or has departed from the state without having a representative there.

“Generally, a person is an absentee when he is absent from his domicile or usual place of residence; but in light of pertinent statutes he is an absentee when he is without the state and has no representative therein.” 1 C.J.S. Ab-sentee § 2, at 339 (1985).

absentee,adj. Having the characteristics of an absentee <absentee voter>.

absentee,adv. In an absentee manner <Debby voted absentee>.

ABSENTEE BALLOT

absentee ballot.See BALLOT(2).

ABSENTEE LANDLORD

absentee landlord. See LANDLORD.

ABSENTEE MANAGEMENT

absentee management. See absentee landlord under LANDLORD.

ABSENTEE VOTE

absentee vote. See absentee voting under VOTING.

ABSENTEE VOTING

absentee voting. See VOTING.

ABSENTE REO

absente reo (ab-sen-tee ree-oh). [Latin] The defendant being absent. • This phrase appears syntactically as what English language grammarians term a “nominative absolute.”

ABSENTIA

absentia. 1. ABSENCE(3). 2. IN ABSENTIA.

ABSENT PARENT

absent parent. See noncustodial parent under PARENT.

ABSENT PERSON

absent person. See PERSON(1).

ABSOILE

absoile (ab-soyl), vb. See ASSOIL.

ABSOLUTE

absolute, adj. 1. Free from restriction, qualification, or condition <absolute ownership>. 2. Conclusive and not liable to revision <absolute delivery>. 3. Unrestrained in the exercise of governmental power <absolute monarchy>. — absolute, n.

ABSOLUTE ASSIGNEE

absolute assignee. See ASSIGNEE.

ABSOLUTE ASSIGNMENT

absolute assignment. See ASSIGNMENT(2).

ABSOLUTE AUCTION

absolute auction. See auction without reserve under AUCTION.

ABSOLUTE-BAR RULE

absolute-bar rule. The principle that, when a creditor sells collateral without giving reasonable notice to the debtor, the creditor may not obtain a deficiency judgment for any amount of the debt that is not satisfied by the sale. [Cases: Mortgages 375, 559(3); Secured Transactions 230, 240. C.J.S. Mortgages §§ 674–676, 934–935, 937, 950; Secured Transactions §§ 162–170, 172, 174–175.]

ABSOLUTE CONTRABAND

absolute contraband. See CONTRABAND.

ABSOLUTE CONVEYANCE

absolute conveyance. See CONVEYANCE.

ABSOLUTE COVENANT

absolute covenant. See COVENANT(1).

ABSOLUTE DEED

absolute deed. See DEED.

ABSOLUTE DEFENSE

absolute defense. See real defense under DEFENSE(4).

ABSOLUTE DELIVERY

absolute delivery. See DELIVERY.

ABSOLUTE DISPARITY

absolute disparity. Constitutional law. The difference between the percentage of a group in the general population and the percentage of that group in the pool of prospective jurors on a venire.

- For example, if African-Americans make up 12% of a county's population and 8% of the potential jurors on a venire, the absolute disparity of African-American veniremembers is 4%. The reason for calculating the disparity is to analyze a claim that the jury was not impartial because the venire from which it was chosen did not represent a fair cross-section of the jurisdiction's population. Some courts criticize the absolute-disparity analysis, favoring instead the comparative-disparity analysis, in the belief that the absolute-disparity analysis understates the deviation. See FAIR-CROSS-SECTION REQUIREMENT; DUREN TEST; STATISTICAL-DECISION THEORY Y. Cf. COMPARATIVE DISPARITY. [Cases: Jury 33(1.1). C.J.S. Juries §§ 269–273, 279, 306.]

ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

absolute divorce. See divorce a vinculo matrimonii under DIVORCE.

ABSOLUTE DUTY

absolute duty. See DUTY(1).

ABSOLUTE ESTATE

absolute estate. See ESTATE(1).

ABSOLUTE GIFT

absolute gift. See inter vivos gift under GIFT.

ABSOLUTE GUARANTY

absolute guaranty. See GUARANTY.

ABSOLUTE IMMUNITY

absolute immunity. See IMMUNITY(1).

ABSOLUTE INTEREST

absolute interest. See INTEREST(2).

ABSOLUTE LAW

absolute law. A supposed law of nature thought to be unchanging in principle, although circumstances may vary the way in which it is applied. See NATURAL LAW .

ABSOLUTE LEGACY

absolute legacy. See LEGACY.

ABSOLUTE LIABILITY

absolute liability. See strict liability under LIABILITY.

ABSOLUTE MAJORITY

absolute majority. See MAJORITY.

ABSOLUTE MARTIAL LAW

absolute martial law. See MARTIAL LAW.

ABSOLUTE NOVELTY

absolute novelty. See NOVELTY.

ABSOLUTE-NOVELTY REQUIREMENT

absolute-novelty requirement. See absolute novelty under NOVELTY.

ABSOLUTE NUISANCE

absolute nuisance. See NUISANCE.

ABSOLUTE NULLITY

absolute nullity. See NULLITY.

ABSOLUTE OBLIGATION

absolute obligation.See OBLIGATION.

ABSOLUTE PARDON

absolute pardon.See PARDON.

ABSOLUTE POLLUTION EXCLUSION

absolute pollution exclusion.See pollution exclusion under EXCLUSION(3).

ABSOLUTE PRESUMPTION

absolute presumption.See conclusive presumption under PRESUMPTION.

ABSOLUTE-PRIORITY RULE

absolute-priority rule.Bankruptcy. The rule that a confirmable reorganization plan must provide for full payment to a class of dissenting unsecured creditors before a junior class of claimants will be allowed to receive or retain anything under the plan. • Some jurisdictions recognize an exception to this rule when a junior class member, usu. a partner or shareholder of the debtor, contributes new capital in exchange for an interest in the debtor. 11 USCA § 1129(b)(2)(B)(ii). [Cases: Bankruptcy 3561. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 395.]

ABSOLUTE PRIVILEGE

absolute privilege.See PRIVILEGE(1).

ABSOLUTE PROPERTY

absolute property.See PROPERTY.

ABSOLUTE RIGHT

absolute right.See RIGHT.

ABSOLUTE SALE

absolute sale.See SALE.

ABSOLUTE SIMULATED CONTRACT

absolute simulated contract.See CONTRACT.

ABSOLUTE TITLE

absolute title.See TITLE(2).

ABSOLUTE VETO

absolute veto.See VETO.

ABSOLUTIO

absolutio (ab-s<<schwa>>-loo-shee-oh). See ABSOLUTION(2).

ABSOLUTION

absolution (ab-s<<schwa>>-loo-sh<<schwa>>n).1. Release from a penalty; the act of absolving. 2.Civil law. An acquittal of a criminal charge. — Also termed absolutio. 3.Eccles. law. Official forgiveness of sins.

ABSOLUTISM

absolutism (ab-s<<schwa>>-loo-tiz-<<schwa>>m), n. In politics, the atmosphere surrounding a dictator whose power has no restrictions, checks, or balances; the belief in such a dictator. — absolutist (ab-s<<schwa>>-loo-tist), adj. & n.

ABSOLVE

absolve (ab- or <<schwa>>b-zolv), vb.1. To release from an obligation, debt, or responsibility. 2. To free from the penalties for misconduct. — absolver,n.

ABSOLVITOR

absolvitor (ab-sol-vi-t<<schwa>>r), n. Scots law. A decision in a civil action in favor of the defender; an acquittal. — absolvitory,adj.

ABSORBABLE RISK

absorbable risk.See RISK.

ABSORPTION

absorption,n.1. The act or process of including or incorporating a thing into something else; esp., the application of rights guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution to actions by the states. 2.Int'l law. The merger of one nation into another, whether voluntarily or by subjugation. 3.Labor law. In a postmerger collective-bargaining agreement, a provision allowing seniority for union members in the resulting entity. 4.Real estate. The rate at which property will be leased or sold on the market at a given time. 5.Commercial law. A sales method by which a manufacturer pays the reseller's freight costs, which the manufacturer accounts for before quoting the reseller a price. — Also termed (in sense 5) freight absorption. — absorb,vb.

ABSQUE

absque (abs-kwee), adv.[Latin] Without.

ABSQUE ALIQUO INDE REDDENDO

absque aliquo inde reddendo (abs-kwee al-<<schwa>>-kwoh in-dee ri-den-doh), adv.[Law Latin] Hist. Without rendering anything therefrom. • This phrase appeared in royal grants in which no tenure was reserved.

ABSQUE CONSIDERATIONE CURIAE

absque consideratione curiae (abs-kwee k<<schwa>>n-sid-<<schwa>>-ray-shee-oh-nee kyoor-ee-ee), adv.[Law Latin] Without the consideration of the court; without judgment.

ABSQUE DUBIO

absque dubio (abs-kwee d[y]oo-bee-oh), adv.[Latin] Without doubt.

ABSQUE HOC

absque hoc (abs-kwee hok), adv.[Latin] Archaic. Without this. • The phrase was formerly used in common-law pleading to introduce the denial of allegations. — Also termed sans ce que. See TRAVERSE.

ABSQUE IMPETITIONE VASTI

absque impetitione vasti (abs-kwee im-p<<schwa>>-tish-ee-oh-nee vas-ti), adv.[Law Latin] Hist. See WITHOUT IMPEACHMENT OF WASTE.

ABSQUE INJURIA DAMNUM

absque injuria damnum (ab-skwee in-joor-ee-<<schwa>> dam-n<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] See DAMNUM SINE INJURIA. — Often shortened to absque injuria.

ABSQUE IPSIUS REGIS SPECIALI LICENTIA

absque ipsius regis speciali licentia (abs-kwee ip-see-<<schwa>>s ree-jis spesh-ee-ay-II li-sen-shee-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Hist. Without the special authority of the king himself. • The phrase was part of a law forbidding Crown vassals from transferring land without a special warrant.

ABSQUE TALI CAUSA

absque tali causa (abs-kwee tay-IIkaw-z<<schwa>>), adv.[Law Latin] Without such cause. • In common-law pleading, this was part of the larger phrase de injuria sua propria, absque tali causa (“of his own wrong, without such cause”) appearing in a reply that a trespass plaintiff made to counter a defendant's claim of excuse. In an assault case, for example, if a defendant pleaded that he had struck the plaintiff in self-defense, the plaintiff could reply that the defendant was guilty of his own wrong committed without such cause as alleged. See DE INJURIA.

ABS RULES

ABS Rules.Maritime law. Industry standards for the construction, maintenance, and operation of seagoing vessels and stationary offshore facilities, as set and enforced by the American Bureau of Shipping. See AMERICAN BUREAU OF SHIPPING .

ABSTAIN

abstain,vb.1. To voluntarily refrain from doing something, such as voting in a deliberative assembly. 2. (Of a federal court) to refrain from exercising jurisdiction over a matter. [Cases: Federal Courts 41–65.]

ABSTENTION

abstention. 1. The act of withholding or keeping back (something or oneself); esp., the withholding of a vote. 2. A federal court's relinquishment of jurisdiction when necessary to avoid needless conflict with a state's administration of its own affairs. 3. The legal principle underlying such a relinquishment of jurisdiction. Cf. COMITY; OUR FEDERALISM. [Cases: Federal Courts 41–65. C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 16, 40.]

Burford abstention. A federal court's refusal to review a state court's decision in cases involving a complex regulatory scheme and sensitive areas of state concern. Burford v. Sun Oil Co., 319 U.S. 315, 63 S.Ct. 1098 (1943).

Colorado River abstention. A federal court's decision to abstain while relevant and parallel state-court proceedings are underway. Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States, 424 U.S. 800, 96 S.Ct. 1236 (1976).

equitable abstention. A federal court's refraining from interfering with a state administrative agency's decision on a local matter when the aggrieved party has adequate relief in the state courts.

permissive abstention. Abstention that a bankruptcy court can, but need not, exercise in a dispute that relates to the bankruptcy estate but that can be litigated, or is being litigated, in another forum. • In deciding whether to abstain, the bankruptcy court must consider (1) the degree to which state law governs the case, (2) the appropriateness of the procedure to be followed in the other forum, (3) the remoteness of the dispute to the issues in the bankruptcy case, and (4) the presence of nondebtor parties in the dispute. 28 USCA § 1334(c)(1). [Cases: Federal Courts 47.5.]

Pullman abstention. A federal court's decision to abstain so that state courts will have an opportunity to settle an underlying state-law question whose resolution may avert the need to decide a federal constitutional question. Railroad Comm'n v. Pullman Co., 312 U.S. 496, 61 S.Ct. 643 (1941). [Cases: Federal Courts 43, 46.]

Thibodaux abstention (tib-<<schwa>>-doh). A federal court's decision to abstain so that state courts can decide difficult issues of public importance that, if decided by the federal court, could result in unnecessary friction between state and federal authorities. Louisiana Power & Light Co. v. City of Thibodaux, 360 U.S. 25, 79 S.Ct. 1070 (1959). [Cases: Federal Courts 41, 43.]

Younger abstention. 1. A federal court's decision not to interfere with an ongoing state criminal proceeding by issuing an injunction or granting declaratory relief, unless the prosecution has been brought in bad faith or merely as harassment. Younger v. Harris, 401 U.S. 37, 91 S.Ct. 746 (1971). — Also termed equitable-restraint doctrine. [Cases: Federal Courts 49, 51, 54.] 2. By extension, a federal court's decision not to interfere with a state-court civil proceeding used to enforce the criminal law, as to abate an obscene nuisance. See OUR FEDERALISM.

ABSTINENCE

abstinence (ab-st<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>nts). The practice of refraining completely from indulgence in some act; esp., the practice of not having sex or of not consuming alcoholic beverages.

ABSTRACT

abstract, n.1. A concise statement of a text, esp. of a legal document; a summary. See ABSTRACT OF JUDGMENT; ABSTRACT OF TITLE. 2. Patents. A one-paragraph summary of an invention's design and function, including its nature, structure, purpose, and novelty. • The abstract is a required part of a patent application, and also appears on the front page of the patent itself. It may not exceed 150 words. For the purpose of determining adequacy of disclosure, the abstract is considered to be part of the specification. See 35 USCA § 112. — Also termed abstract of the disclosure; abstract of the specification. [Cases: Patents 99. C.J.S. Patents § 139.]

ABSTRACT COMPROMIS

abstract compromis. See general compromis under COMPROMIS.

ABTRACTER

abstracter. See ABTRACTOR.

ABSTRACT IDEA

abstract idea. Intellectual property. A concept or thought, removed from any tangible embodiment. • An abstract idea is one of the categories of unpatentable subject matter, along with natural phenomena and laws of nature. But a process that uses abstract ideas to produce a useful result can be patented. Copyright law likewise will not protect an abstract idea, but only its expression. The law of unfair competition, on the other hand, does protect abstract ideas that meet the other criteria of a trade secret. See business-method patent under PATENT.

ABSTRACTION

abstraction (ab- or <<schwa>>b-strak-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The mental process of considering something without reference to a concrete instance <jurisprudence is largely the abstraction of many legal particulars>. 2. A theoretical idea not applied to any particular instance <utopia in any form is an abstraction>. 3. The summarizing and recording of a legal instrument in public records <abstraction of the judgment in Tarrant County>. 4. The act of taking with the intent to injure or defraud <the abstraction of funds was made possible by the forged signature on the check>. — abstract (ab-strakt), vb.

ABSTRACTION-FILTRATION-COMPARISON TEST

abstraction-filtration-comparison test. Copyright. A judicially created test for determining whether substantial similarity exists between two works in an action for infringement. • In the first step, the court dissects the copy-righted work's structure and isolates each level of abstraction or generality (abstraction test). In the second step, the court examines each level of abstraction and separates out the unprotectable elements such as ideas, processes, facts, public-domain information, and merger material (filtration test). In the third step, the court compares the resulting core of protectable expression with the accused work to determine whether substantial elements of the copyrighted work have been misappropriated (comparison test). This test was first applied by the Second Circuit in Computer Associates Int'l, Inc. v. Altai, Inc., 982 F.2d 693 (2d Cir. 1992). Although that case involved computer software and the test is usu. applied in software-infringement cases, the test has also been applied to nonsoftware works. — Also termed abstraction-filtration test. See SIMILARITY. Cf. ABSTRACTIONS TEST. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 53(1).]

ABSTRACTIONS TEST

abstractions test.Copyright. A means of comparing copyrighted material with material that allegedly infringes the copyright by examining whether the actual substance has been copied or whether the two works merely share the same abstract ideas. • The primary authority for the abstractions test is Judge Learned Hand's opinion in Nichols v. Universal Pictures Corp., 45 F.2d 119 (2d Cir. 1930). Although referred to as a “test,” it is not a bright-line test, but an approach to discerning the boundaries of protectable expression by isolating and comparing each level of abstraction in the two works, from the lowest (most detailed) to the highest (most conceptual). Cf. ABSTRACTION-FILTRATION-COMPARISON TEST; LOOK-AND-FEEL TEST. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 53(1).]

ABSTRACT JURIDICAL ACT

abstract juridical act.See ACT.

ABSTRACT OF A FINE

abstract of a fine.See NOTE OF A FINE.

ABSTRACT OF CONVICTION

abstract of conviction.A summary of the court's finding on an offense, esp. a traffic violation. [Cases: Auto-mobiles 144.2(5.1).]

ABSTRACT OF JUDGMENT

abstract of judgment.A copy or summary of a judgment that, when filed with the appropriate public office, creates a lien on the judgment debtor's nonexempt property. See judgment lien under LIEN. [Cases: Judgment 768(1).C.J.S. Judgments §§ 559–561, 568.]

ABSTRACT OF RECORD

abstract of record.An abbreviated case history that is complete enough to show an appellate court that the questions presented for review have been preserved. [Cases: Appeal and Error 579; Criminal Law 1103.C.J.S. Appeal and Error § 496.]

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

abstract of the disclosure.See ABSTRACT(2).

ABSTRACT OF THE SPECIFICATION

abstract of the specification.See ABSTRACT(2).

ABSTRACT OF TITLE

abstract of title. A concise statement, usu. prepared for a mortgagee or purchaser of real property, summarizing the history of a piece of land, including all conveyances, interests, liens, and encumbrances that affect title to the property. — Also termed brief; brief of title. [Cases: Abstracts of Title 1. C.J.S. Abstracts of Title §§ 2–3, 5.]

good and merchantable abstract of title. An abstract of title showing clear, good, and marketable title, rather than showing only the history of the property. See clear title, good title, and marketable title under TITLE(2).

ABTRACTOR

abstractor (ab- or <<schwa>>b-strak-t<<schwa>>r). A person who prepares abstracts of title. — Also spelled abstracter. [Cases: Abstracts of Title 3. C.J.S. Abstracts of Title §§ 6–20.]

ABSTRACT QUESTION

abstract question. See HYPOTHETICAL QUESTION.

ABSURDITY

absurdity, n. The state or quality of being grossly unreasonable; esp., an interpretation that would lead to an unconscionable result, esp. one that the parties or (esp. for a statute) the drafters could not have intended and probably never considered. Cf. GOLDEN RULE.

A-B TRUST

A-B trust. See bypass trust under TRUST.

AB URBE CONDITA

ab urbe condita (ab <<schwa>>r-bee kon-di-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] From the founding of the city (esp. Rome in 753 B.C.). • This term is sometimes used in abbreviated form in classical dates. For example, the date “23 A.U.C.” means “23 years after the founding of Rome,” or 730 B.C. — Abbr. A.U.C.

ABUSE

abuse (<<schwa>>-byoos), n. 1. A departure from legal or reasonable use; misuse. 2. Physical or mental mal-treatment, often resulting in mental, emotional, sexual, or physical injury. — Also termed cruel and abusive treatment. Cf. NEGLECT; CRUELTY.

abuse of the elderly. Abuse of a senior citizen by a caregiver. • Examples include deprivation of food or medication, beatings, oral assaults, and isolation. — Also termed elder abuse. [Cases: Assault and Battery 48. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 2–3, 62, 64–66, 81.]

carnal abuse. See sexual abuse (1).

child abuse. 1. Intentional or neglectful physical or emotional harm inflicted on a child, including sexual molestation; esp., a parent's or caregiver's act or failure to act that results in a child's exploitation, serious physical or emotional injury, sexual abuse, or death. 2. An act or failure to act that presents an imminent risk of serious harm to a child. • Child abuse can be either intentional or negligent. The first case of child abuse actually prosecuted occurred in New York City in 1874. An eight-year-old girl named Mary Ellen was found to have been severely abused. Her abusers were prosecuted under the law for prevention of cruelty to animals, since no law protecting children then existed. Child abuse was first recognized as a medical concern in 1962, when Dr. C. Henry Kempe introduced the medical concept of battered-child syndrome. — Also termed cruelty to a child; cruelty to children; child maltreatment. See abused child under CHILD; battered child under CHILD; BATTERED-CHILD SYNDROME. Cf. secondary abuse. [Cases: Infants 13–13.5(2), 15. C.J.S. Infants §§ 5, 92–98.]

domestic abuse. See domestic violence under VIOLENCE.

elder abuse. See abuse of the elderly.

emotional abuse. Physical or mental abuse that causes or could cause serious emotional injury.

secondary abuse. Child abuse suffered by children who, although they are not physically abused, witness domestic violence within their families.

sexual abuse. 1. An illegal sex act, esp. one performed against a minor by an adult. — Also termed carnal abuse. 2. RAPE(2). [Cases: Assault and Battery 59; Infants 13. C.J.S. Assault and Battery § 74; Infants §§ 5, 92–93, 95–98.]

spousal abuse. Physical, sexual, or psychological abuse inflicted by one spouse on the other spouse; esp., wife-beating. See BATTERED-WOMAN SYNDROME.

abuse (<<schwa>>-byooz), vb. 1. To damage (a thing). 2. To depart from legal or reasonable use in dealing with (a person or thing); to misuse. 3. To injure (a person) physically or mentally. 4. In the context of child welfare, to hurt or injure (a child) by maltreatment. • In most states, a finding of abuse is generally limited to maltreatment that causes or threatens to cause lasting harm to the child.

ABUSED CHILD

abused child. See CHILD.

ABUSEE

abusee (<<schwa>>-byoo-zee), n. One who is or has been abused.

ABUSE EXCUSE

abuse excuse. Criminal law. The defense that a defendant cannot tell right from wrong or control impulses because of physical or mental abuse suffered as a child. • Like the traditional excuse of insanity, the abuse excuse is asserted by a defendant in an effort to avoid all culpability for the crime charged. Cf. BATTERED-CHILD SYNDROME; BATTERED-WOMAN SYNDROME.

ABUSE OF DISCOVERY

abuse of discovery.See DISCOVERY ABUSE.

ABUSE OF DISCRETION

abuse of discretion. 1. An adjudicator's failure to exercise sound, reasonable, and legal decision-making. 2. An appellate court's standard for reviewing a decision that is asserted to be grossly unsound, unreasonable, illegal, or unsupported by the evidence. See DISCRETION. [Cases: Appeal and Error 946; Criminal Law 1147. C.J.S. Appeal and Error § 772.]

ABUSE OF PROCESS

abuse of process.The improper and tortious use of a legitimately issued court process to obtain a result that is either unlawful or beyond the process's scope. — Also termed abuse of legal process; malicious abuse of process; malicious abuse of legal process; wrongful process; wrongful process of law. Cf. MALICIOUS PROSECUTION. [Cases: Process 168–171. C.J.S. Process §§ 106–114.]

“One who uses a legal process, whether criminal or civil, against another primarily to accomplish a purpose for which it is not designed is subject to liability to the other for harm caused by the abuse of process.” Restatement (Second) of Torts § 682 (1977).

ABUSE OF RIGHTS

abuse of rights. 1.Int'l law.A country's exercise of a right either in a way that impedes the enjoyment by other countries of their own rights or for a purpose different from that for which the right was created (e.g., to harm another country).2.Louisiana law. A person's exercise of a right in an unneighborly spirit that, while of no benefit to that person, causes damage to the neighbor.

ABUSE-OF-RIGHTS DOCTRINE

abuse-of-rights doctrine.Civil law. The principle that a person may be liable for harm caused by doing something the person has a right to do, if the right is exercised (1) for the purpose or primary motive of causing harm, (2) without a serious and legitimate interest that is deserving of judicial protection, (3) against moral rules, good faith, or elementary fairness, or (4) for a purpose other than its intended legal purpose. [Cases: Torts 6. C.J.S. Torts §§ 5, 16–22.]

ABUSE OF THE ELDERLY

abuse of the elderly.See ABUSE.

ABUSE-OF-THE-WRIT DOCTRINE

abuse-of-the-writ doctrine.Criminal procedure. The principle that a petition for a writ of habeas corpus may not raise claims that should have been, but were not, asserted in a previous petition. Cf. SUCCESSIVE-WRIT DOCTRINE. [Cases: Habeas Corpus 896.]

ABUSER

abuser (<<schwa>>-byoo-z<<schwa>>r), n.1. One who abuses someone or something.
2.ABUSE(1).

ABUSIVE

abusive (<<schwa>>-byoo-siv), adj.1. Characterized by wrongful or improper use <abusive discovery tactics>.2. (Of a person) habitually cruel, malicious, or violent <abusive parent>. — abusively,adv.

ABUSUS

abusus (<<schwa>>-byoo-s<<schwa>>s), n. Civil law. The right to dispose of one's property.

ABUT

abut (<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>t), vb. To join at a border or boundary; to share a common boundary with <the company's land in Arizona abuts the Navajo Indian reservation>. — abutment (<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>t-m<<schwa>>nt), n.

ABUTTALS

abuttals (<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>t-<<schwa>>lz). Land boundaries; the boundary lines of a piece of land in relation to other contiguous lands. — Also termed (archaically) buttals.

ABUTTER

abutter (<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>t-<<schwa>>r).1. The owner of adjoining land; one whose property abuts another's. [Cases: Adjoining Landowners 1.C.J.S. Adjoining Landowners §§ 2, 6–8, 39.]

“The major right of [an abutter] is that of access to his property — a right of reasonable ingress and egress. He is entitled to compensation for any substantial impairment of this reasonable access. The right normally includes the right to have, at some point, a driveway onto his premises. An abutter does not have the right to the continued flow of traffic in the same amount or pattern past his premises.” Osborne M. Reynolds Jr., Handbook of Local Government Law § 180, at 620 (1982).

2. Land that adjoins the land in question.

ABUTTING FOOT

abutting foot.See FRONT FOOT.

A/C

a/c.abbr.ACCOUNT(4).

ACADEMIC

academic,adj.1. Of or relating to a school or a field of study; esp., of or relating to a field of study that is not vocational or commercial, such as the liberal arts <academic courses>.2. Theoretical; specif., not practical or immediately useful <academic question>.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM

academic freedom. The right (esp. of a university teacher) to speak freely about political or ideological issues without fear of loss of position or other reprisal. [Cases: Colleges and Universities 8.1(3). C.J.S. Colleges and Universities § 25.]

ACADEMIC LAWYER

academic lawyer. A law professor, usu. one who maintains a law practice on the side.

ACADÉMIE DE DROIT INTERNATIONAL DE LA HAYE

Académie de Droit International de La Haye. See HAGUE ACADEMY OF INTERNATIONAL LAW .

ACADEMY

academy. 1. An institution of higher learning. 2. An association dedicated to the advancement of knowledge in a particular field, such as the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers. 3. A private high school. 4. (cap.) A garden near Athens where Plato taught; hence, the school of philosophy that he led.

A CANCELLANDO

a cancellando (ay kan-s<<schwa>>-lan-doh). [Law Latin] From canceling.

“It has its name of chancery, cancellaria, from the judge who presides here, the lord chancellor or cancellarius; who, Sir Edward Coke tells us, is so termed a cancellando, from cancelling the king's letters patents when granted contrary to law” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 46 (1768).

A CANCELLIS

a cancellis (ay kan-sel-is), n. [Law Latin] Hist. A chancellor, so called because he performed the duties of office behind a cancelli (“lattice”).

A CANCELLIS CURIAE EXPLODI

a cancellis curiae explodi (ay kan-sel-is kyoor-ee-I ek-sploh-dl). [Law Latin] Hist. To be expelled from the bar of the court.

A CAUSE DE CY

a cause de cy (ay kaw-z<<schwa>> d<<schwa>> see), adv. [Law French] For this reason.

ACCEDAS AD CURIAM

accedas ad curiam (ak-see-d<<schwa>>s ad kyoor-ee-<<schwa>>m), n. [Law Latin “you are to go to the court”] Hist. An original writ for removing a replevin action to a royal court from either of two feudal courts — a court baron or a hundred court. • It is a recordare facias loquelam for replevin actions. See RECORDARE FACIAS LOQUELAM.

ACCEDE

accede (ak-seed), vb.1. To consent or agree. 2. To be added (to something else) through accession. 3. To adopt. See ADOPTION(5).4. (Of a body politic) to accept unification with or annexation into another body politic. — accession, accedence (ak-see-d<<schwa>>nts), n.

ACCELERATED COST RECOVERY SYSTEM

Accelerated Cost Recovery System. An accounting method that is used to calculate asset depreciation and that allows for the faster recovery of costs by assigning the asset a shorter useful life than was previously permitted under the Internal Revenue Code. • This system applies to property put into service from 1981 to 1986. It was replaced in 1986 by the Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System. — Abbr. ACRS. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3476. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 230, 234, 239, 249.]

ACCELERATED DEPRECIATION METHOD

accelerated depreciation method. See DEPRECIATION METHOD.

ACCELERATED DISCLOSURE

accelerated disclosure. See accelerated discovery under DISCOVERY.

ACCELERATED DISCOVERY

accelerated discovery. See DISCOVERY.

ACCELERATED-REENTRY THEORY

accelerated-reentry theory. See POST-EXPIRATION-SALES THEORY.

ACCELERATED REMAINDER

accelerated remainder. See REMAINDER.

ACCELERATION

acceleration, n.1. The advancing of a loan agreement's maturity date so that payment of the entire debt is due immediately. [Cases: Bills and Notes 129(2). C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 76, 92–100.] 2. The shortening of the time for vesting in possession of an expectant interest. — Also termed acceleration of remainder. [Cases: Remainders 5. C.J.S. Estates §§ 77, 80.] 3. Property. The hastening of an owner's time for enjoyment of an estate because of the failure of a preceding estate. 4. Securities. The SEC's expediting of a registration statement's effective date so that the registrant bypasses the required 20-day waiting period. — accelerate, vb.

ACCELERATION CLAUSE

acceleration clause. A loan-agreement provision that requires the debtor to pay off the balance sooner than the due date if some specified event occurs, such as failure to pay an installment or to maintain insurance. Cf. DEMAND CLAUSE; INSECURITY CLAUSE. [Cases: Bills and Notes 129(2). C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 76, 92–100.]

ACCELERATION OF REMAINDER

acceleration of remainder. See ACCELERATION(2).

ACCEPTABLE IDENTIFICATION OF GOODS AND SERVICES MANUAL

Acceptable Identification of Goods and Services Manual. Trademarks. A U.S. Government publication that sets forth, for goods and services, known acceptable international class categorizations and descriptions that may be used in trademark applications submitted to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. • This manual is available from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, and through the PTO's website at http:// www.uspto.gov.

ACCEPTANCE

acceptance, n.1. An offeree's assent, either by express act or by implication from conduct, to the terms of an offer in a manner authorized or requested by the offeror, so that a binding contract is formed. • If an acceptance modifies the terms or adds new ones, it generally operates as a counteroffer. Cf. OFFER. [Cases: Contracts 22(1). C.J.S. Contracts §§ 46–51, 53–54; Trading Stamps and Coupons §§ 7–9.]

acceptance by silence. Acceptance of an offer not by explicit words but through the lack of an offeree's response in circumstances in which the relationship between the offeror and the offeree justifies both the offeror's expectation of a reply and the offeror's reasonable conclusion that the lack of one signals acceptance. • Ordinarily, silence does not give rise to an acceptance of an offer. [Cases: Contracts 22(1). C.J.S. Contracts §§ 46–51, 53–54; Trading Stamps and Coupons §§ 7–9.]

qualified acceptance. A conditional or partial acceptance that varies the original terms of an offer and operates as a counteroffer; esp., in negotiable instruments (bills of exchange), an acceptor's variation of the terms of the instrument. [Cases: Bills and Notes 83. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 38.]

2. A buyer's assent that the goods are to be taken in performance of a contract for sale. • Under UCC § 2-606, a buyer's acceptance consists in (1) signifying to the seller that the goods are conforming ones or that the buyer will take them despite nonconformities, (2) not making an effective rejection, or (3) taking any action inconsistent with the seller's ownership. If the contract is for the sale of goods that are not identified when the contract is entered into, there is no acceptance until the buyer has had a reasonable time to examine the goods. But if the buyer deals with them as owner, as by reselling them, a court may find constructive acceptance. [Cases: Sales 178(1). C.J.S. Sales §§ 189–191, 194–197.] “Acceptance means communicated acceptance.... [It] must be something more than a mere mental assent.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 34 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919). [But Corbin adds:] “This use of the word ‘communicated’ is open to some objection. To very many persons the word means that knowledge has been received. Frequently a contract is made even though the offeror has no such knowledge. In such case the acceptance is not ‘communicated’ and yet it consummates the contract.” Id. n.2.

“Acceptance of a conveyance or of a document containing a promise is a manifestation of assent to the terms thereof made, either before or after delivery, in accordance with any requirements imposed by the grantor or promisor. If the acceptance occurs before delivery and is not binding as an option contract, it is revocable until the moment of delivery.” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 106 (1979).

3. The formal receipt of and agreement to pay a negotiable instrument. [Cases: Bills and Notes 66–84. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 4, 19, 21, 24, 37–40.] 4. A negotiable instrument, esp. a bill of exchange, that has been accepted for payment.

acceptance au besoin (oh b<<schwa>>-zwan). [French “in case of need”] An acceptance by one who has agreed to pay the draft in case the drawee fails to do so.

acceptance for honor.An acceptance or undertaking not by a party to the instrument, but by a third party, for the purpose of protecting the honor or credit of one of the parties, by which the third party agrees to pay the debt when it becomes due if the original drawee does not. • This type of acceptance inures to the benefit of all successors to the party for whose benefit it is made. — Also termed acceptance supra protest; acceptance for honor supra protest. [Cases: Bills and Notes 71. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 37.]

“ ‘Acceptance for honour supra protest’ is an exception to the rule that only the drawee can accept a bill. A bill which has been dishonoured by non-acceptance and is not overdue may, with the consent of the holder, be accepted in this way for the honour of either the drawer or an indorser (i.e., to prevent the bill being sent back upon the drawer or indorser as unpaid) by a friend placing his own name upon it as acceptor for the whole, or part only, of the amount of the bill; after a protest has been drawn up declaratory of its dishonour by the drawee. Similarly, where a bill has been dishonoured by non-payment and protested any person may intervene and pay it supra protest for the honour of any person liable thereon; the effect being to discharge all parties subsequent to the party for whose honour it is paid.” 2 Stephen's Commentaries on the Laws of England 202–03 (L. Crispin Warmington ed., 21st ed. 1950).

accommodation acceptance.The acceptance of an offer to buy goods for current or prompt shipment by shipping nonconforming goods after notifying the buyer that the shipment is intended as an accommodation. • This type of “acceptance” is not truly an acceptance under contract law, but operates instead as a counteroffer if the buyer is duly notified. [Cases: Sales 23(4). C.J.S. Sales §§ 38–40.]

banker's acceptance.A bill of exchange drawn on and accepted by a commercial bank. • Banker's acceptances are often issued to finance the sale of goods in international trade. — Abbr. BA. — Also termed bank acceptance. [Cases: Banks and Banking 189; Bills and Notes 151. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 452–458; Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 131.]

blank acceptance.Acceptance by a bill-of-exchange drawee before the bill is made, as indicated by the drawee's signature on the instrument.

conditional acceptance.An agreement to pay a draft on the occurrence or nonoccurrence of a particular event. [Cases: Bills and Notes 83. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 38.]

express acceptance.A written or oral expression indicating that the drawee has seen the instrument and does not dispute its sufficiency. • While a written acceptance is typically signified by the stamped or written word “ac-cepted” or “presented,” usu. on the instrument itself, an oral acceptance must be made directly to a drawer or holder who has waived the right to a written acceptance.

implied acceptance. An acceptance implied by a drawee whose actions indicate an intention to comply with the request of the drawer; conduct by the drawee from which the holder is justified in concluding that the drawee intends to accept the instrument. [Cases: Bills and Notes 70. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 21.]

special acceptance. An acceptance that departs from either the terms of a bill or the terms added to but not otherwise expressed in a bill. • An example is an acceptance of a draft as payable in a particular place even though the draft contains no such limitation. [Cases: Bills and Notes 83. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 38.]

trade acceptance. A bill of exchange for the amount of a specific purchase, drawn on and accepted by the buyer for payment at a specified time. [Cases: Bills and Notes 1. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 2–3, 5–6, 8–9, 17–18, 22.]

5. An insurer's agreement to issue a policy of insurance. [Cases: Insurance 1731. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 273, 276–280.] — accept, vb. “And in some instances, insurance companies have even specified in the application forms that acceptance of an applicant's offer will not occur until the insurance policy is literally delivered to the applicant — that is, the insurer chooses to structure the arrangement so that acceptance is to be manifested by the physical delivery of the insurance policy to the applicant.” Robert E. Keeton & Alan I. Widiss, Insurance Law: A Guide to Fundamental Principles, Legal Doctrines, and Commercial Practices § 2.1, at 39–40 (1988).

6. An heir's agreement to take an inheritance. See TACIT ACCEPTANCE. 7. See ADOPTION(5).

ACCEPTANCE AU BESOIN

acceptance au besoin. See ACCEPTANCE(4).

ACCEPTANCE BY SILENCE

acceptance by silence. See ACCEPTANCE(1).

ACCEPTANCE COMPANY

acceptance company. See sales finance company under FINANCE COMPANY.

ACCEPTANCE CREDIT

acceptance credit. See time letter of credit under LETTER OF CREDIT.

ACCEPTANCE CRITERIA

acceptance criteria. Intellectual property. Agreed-on performance standards that a custom-made product such as computer software or hardware or a commercial website must meet before the customer is legally obligated to accept the product and pay for it. See ACCEPTANCE

TESTING.

ACCEPTANCE DOCTRINE

acceptance doctrine. Construction law. The principle that, once an owner accepts the work of a contractor, the contractor is not liable to third parties for an injury arising from the contractor's negligence in performing under the contract, unless the injury results from a hidden, imminently dangerous defect that the contractor knows about and the owner does not know about. — Also termed accepted-work doctrine. [Cases: Negligence 1205(8). C.J.S. Negligence § 601.]

ACCEPTANCE FOR HONOR

acceptance for honor. See ACCEPTANCE(4).

ACCEPTANCE-OF-THE-BENEFITS RULE

acceptance-of-the-benefits rule. The doctrine that a party may not appeal a judgment after having voluntarily and intentionally received all or some part of the relief provided by it. [Cases: Appeal and Error 160. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 193–194.]

ACCEPTANCE SAMPLING

acceptance sampling. The practice of examining only a few items from a shipment to determine the acceptability of the whole shipment.

ACCEPTANCE SUPRA PROTEST

acceptance supra protest. See acceptance for honor under ACCEPTANCE(4).

ACCEPTANCE TESTING

acceptance testing. Intellectual property. Formal experiments conducted by or on behalf of the customer to determine whether computer software or hardware or a commercial website satisfies the customer's acceptance criteria. • Usual, an acceptance-testing provision in a sales contract or license agreement is accompanied by a termination provision allowing the customer to back out of the contract if the product is not acceptable. — Also termed requirements testing. See ACCEPTANCE CRITERIA.

ACCEPTARE

acceptare (ak-sep-tair-ee), vb. [Latin] Civil law. To accept or assent to, as a promise made by another.

ACCEPTED-WORK DOCTRINE

accepted-work doctrine. See ACCEPTANCE DOCTRINE.

ACCEPTILATION

acceptilation (ak-sep-t<<schwa>>-lay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. [fr. Latin acceptilatio “release”] Roman & civil law. An oral release from an obligation even though payment has not been made in full; a complete discharge, esp. through a fictitious payment. — Also termed (in Roman law)

acceptilatio. Cf. APOCHA.

ACCEPTOR

acceptor. A person or entity that accepts a negotiable instrument and agrees to be primarily responsible for its payment or performance. [Cases: Bills and Notes 73. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 39.]

ACCEPTOR SUPRA PROTEST

acceptor supra protest. One who accepts a bill that has been protested, for the honor of the drawer or an indorser. [Cases: Bills and Notes 71, 80. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 37.]

ACCEPT SERVICE

accept service. To agree that process has been properly served even when it has not been. — Also termed accept service of process.

ACCESS

access, n. 1. An opportunity or ability to enter, approach, pass to and from, or communicate with <access to the courts>. 2. Family law. VISITATION(2). 3. Family law. The opportunity to have sexual intercourse. Cf. NON-ACCESS.

multiple access. In a paternity suit, the defense that the mother had lovers other than the defendant around the time of conception. • The basis for the defense is that because the mother bears the burden of proof, she must be able to prove that only the defendant could be the child's father. In some jurisdictions, this is still known by its common-law name, the exceptio plurium concubentium defense, or as simply the plurium defense. Juries or judges who wished to dismiss the case because of the mother's promiscuity, rather than because of the improbability of the defendant's paternity, often accepted this defense. Most states have now abrogated the defense. In fact, in recent years the issue of multiple access has declined in importance with the rise of highly accurate paternity testing. [Cases: Children Out-of-Wedlock 50. C.J.S. Children Out-of-Wedlock §§ 103, 106.]

4. Patents & trademarks. The right to obtain information about and to inspect and copy U.S. Patent and Trademark Office files of patents, patent applications, trademark applications, and inter partes proceedings pertaining to them. 5. Copyright. An opportunity by one accused of infringement to see, hear, or copy a copyrighted work before the alleged infringement took place <the duplication of the error proved that the defendant had access to the work>. • Proof of access is required to prove copyright infringement unless the two works are strikingly similar. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 83(3.1).] “Since direct evidence of copying is rarely available, a plaintiff can rely upon circumstantial evidence to prove this essential element; the most important component of such circumstantial evidence to support a copyright infringement claim is proof of access. Evidence of access and substantial similarity create an inference of copying and establish a prima facie case of copying.” 18 Am. Jur. 2d Copyright and Literary Property § 206 (1985).

6. Copyright. The right to obtain information about and to inspect and copy U.S. Copyright Office files and deposited materials. See (for senses 3 & 4) POWER TO INSPECT. — access, vb.

ACCESS EASEMENT

access easement. See EASEMENT.

ACCESSIO

accessio (ak-s<<schwa>>sh-ee-oh) n. [Latin] Roman law. 1. The doctrine by which something of lesser size, value, or importance is integrated into something of greater size, value, or importance.

“If the identity of one thing (the accessory) is merged and lost in the identity of the other (the principal), the owner of the principal is the owner of the thing.... There is said to be accessio.... The term is used by some commentators (and, following them, by the French Civil Code) in a much wider sense to include all cases in which there has been an addition to my right, i.e. in which the object of my ownership has increased. The owner of an animal therefore acquires ownership of the young of the animal at birth by accessio, though in physical terms there has been not an accession but a separation. In this sense accessio includes all the original natural modes except occupatio and thesauri inventio. And there are other, intermediate, meanings. Since accessio as an abstract word is not Roman and no clear classification emerges from the texts, no one meaning or classification can be said to be ‘right,’ but those adopted by the French Civil Code are so wide as to be almost meaningless.” Barry Nicholas, An Introduction to Roman Law 133 & n.1 (1962).

2. ACCESSION(4).

ACCESSION

accession (ak-sesh-<<schwa>>n). 1. The act of acceding or agreeing <the family's accession to the kidnapper's demands>. 2. A coming into possession of a right or office <as promised, the state's budget was balanced within two years after the governor's accession>. 3. Int'l law. A method by which a nation that is not among a treaty's original signatories becomes a party to it <Italy became a party to the nuclear-arms treaty by accession>. See Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties, art. 15 (1155 U.N.T.S. 331, 8 I.L.M. 679 (1969)). — Also termed adherence; adhesion. See INSTRUMENT OF ACCESSION . 4. The acquisition of title to personal property by bestowing labor on a raw material to convert it to another thing <the owner's accession to the lumber produced from his land>. — Also termed (in Roman law) accessio. See ADJUNCTION(2). [Cases: Accession 1. C.J.S. Accession §§ 2–8.]

“Accessio is the combination of two chattels belonging to different persons into a single article: as when A's cloth is used to patch B's coat, or a vehicle let on hire-purchase has new accessories fitted to it.” R.F.V. Heuston, Salmond on the Law of Torts 113 (17th ed. 1977).

5. A property owner's right to all that is added to the property (esp. land) naturally or by labor, including land left by floods and improvements made by others <the newly poured concrete driveway became the homeowner's property by accession>. • In Louisiana law, accession is the owner's right to whatever is produced by or united with something, either naturally or artificially.

La. Civ. Code arts. 483, 490, 507. Cf. ANNEXATION. 6. An improvement to existing personal property, such as new shafts on golf clubs. “The problem of accessions arises infrequently, judging from reported cases, but an obvious instance of the difficulty arises where a motor vehicle is being financed by a secured party and the debtor in possession of necessity acquires a new engine or new tires for the vehicle If the seller of the engine or tires reserved a security interest at the time the goods were installed, the seller should prevail over the vehicle's secured party, with a right to remove the accessions. Conversely, if the sale were on open credit with no security interest reserved, or if the seller acquired a security interest after installation of the goods, then the financier of the vehicle should prevail.” Ray D. Henson, Handbook on Secured Transactions Under the Uniform Commercial Code § 4-22, at 93 (2d ed. 1979).

7. The physical uniting of goods with other goods in such a manner that the identity of the original goods is not lost. UCC § 9-102(a)(1). 8. ACCESSORYSHIP.

ACCESS ORDER

access order. See VISITATION ORDER.

ACCESSORIAL

accessorial (ak-s<<schwa>>-sor-ee-<<schwa>>l), adj. 1. (Of a promise) made for the purpose of strengthening another's credit <an accessorial pledge by way of guaranty>. — Also termed accessory. 2. Criminal law. Of or relating to the accessory in a crime <accessorial guilt>. [Cases: Criminal Law 68–77. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 137–142.]

ACCESSORIAL OBLIGATION

accessorial obligation. See COLLATERAL OBLIGATION.

ACCESSORY

accessory (ak-ses-<<schwa>>-ree), n. 1. Something of secondary or subordinate importance. 2. Criminal law. A person who aids or contributes in the commission or concealment of a crime. • An accessory is usu. liable only if the crime is a felony. Cf. PRINCIPAL(2). [Cases: Criminal Law 68–77; Homicide 573. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 137–142.] — accessory, adj. — accessoryship, n.

“In most jurisdictions, the common-law distinctions between principals and accessories have largely been abolished, although the pertinent statutes vary in form and substance. Conceptually, the common-law pattern remains the same: The person who aids, abets, commands, counsels, or otherwise encourages another to commit a crime is still regarded as a party to the underlying crime as at common law, even though the labels principal in the first degree, principal in the second degree, and accessory before the fact are no longer used, and even though it usually does not matter whether the aider and abettor is or is not present at the scene of the crime.” 1 Charles E. Torcia, Wharton's Criminal Law § 35, at 202–03 (15th ed. 1993).

accessory after the fact. An accessory who was not at the scene of the crime but knows that a crime has been committed and who helps the offender try to escape arrest or punishment. 18 USCA § 3. • Most penal statutes establish the following four requirements: (1) someone else must have committed a felony, and it must have been completed before the accessory's act; (2) the accessory must not be guilty as a principal; (3) the accessory must personally help the principal try to avoid the consequences of the felony; and (4) the accessory's assistance must be rendered with guilty knowledge. An accessory after the fact may be prosecuted for obstructing justice. — Sometimes shortened to accessory after. [Cases: Criminal Law 74, 82. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 140, 146–147.]

“At common law, an accessory after the fact is one who, knowing that a felony has been committed by another, receives, relieves, comforts, or assists the felon, or in any manner aids him to escape arrest or punishment. To be guilty as an accessory after the fact one must have known that a completed felony was committed, and that the person aided was the guilty party. The mere presence of the defendant at the scene of the crime will not preclude a conviction as an accessory after the fact, where the evidence shows the defendant became involved in the crime after its commission.” 21 Am. Jur. 2d Criminal Law § 209, at 275–76 (1998).

accessory at the fact. See principal in the second degree under PRINCIPAL (2).

“A principal in the second degree is one by whom the actual perpetrator of the felony is aided and abetted at the very time when it is committed; for instance, a car-owner sitting beside the chauffeur who kills someone by over-fast driving, or a passenger on a clandestine joy-riding expedition which results in manslaughter; or a bi-gamist's second ‘wife,’ if she knows he is committing bigamy. (In early law he was not ranked as a principal at all, but only as a third kind of accessory — the accessory at the fact.)” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 86 (16th ed. 1952).

accessory before the fact. An accessory who assists or encourages another to commit a crime but who is not present when the offense is actually committed. • Most jurisdictions have abolished this category of accessory and instead treat such an offender as an accomplice. — Sometimes shortened to accessory before. See ACCOMPLICE. [Cases: Criminal Law 68, 81. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 137, 146–147.]

“An accessory before the fact is a person who procures or advises one or more of the principals to commit the felony. This definition requires from him an instigation so active that a person who is merely shown to have acted as the stake-holder for a prize-fight, which ended fatally, would not be punishable as an accessory. The fact that a crime has been committed in a manner different from the mode which the accessory had advised will not excuse him from liability for it. Accordingly if A hires B to poison C, but B instead kills C by shooting him, A is none the less liable as accessory before the fact to C's murder. But a man who has counselled a crime does not become liable as accessory if, instead of any form of the crime suggested, an entirely different offence is committed.” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 88 (16th ed. 1952).

ACCESSORY BUILDING

accessory building. See BUILDING.

ACCESSORY CONTRACT

accessory contract.See CONTRACT.

ACCESSORY OBLIGATION

accessory obligation.See OBLIGATION.

ACCESSORY RIGHT

accessory right.See RIGHT.

ACCESSORYSHIP

accessoryship. The status or fact of being an accessory. — Also termed (loosely) accession.

ACCESSORY THING

accessory thing.See THING.

ACCESSORY USE

accessory use.See USE(1).

ACCESS TO COUNSEL

access to counsel.See RIGHT TO COUNSEL.

ACCIDENT

accident,n.1. An unintended and unforeseen injurious occurrence; something that does not occur in the usual course of events or that could not be reasonably anticipated. 2.Equity practice. An unforeseen and injurious occurrence not attributable to mistake, negligence, neglect, or misconduct.

“The word ‘accident,’ in accident policies, means an event which takes place without one's foresight or expectation. A result, though unexpected, is not an accident; the means or cause must be accidental. Death resulting from voluntary physical exertions or from intentional acts of the insured is not accidental, nor is disease or death caused by the vicissitudes of climate or atmosphere the result of an accident; but where, in the act which precedes an injury, something unforeseen or unusual occurs which produces the injury, the injury results through accident.” 1A John Alan Appleman & Jean Appleman, Insurance Law and Practice § 360, at 455 (rev. vol. 1981).

“Policies of liability insurance as well as property and personal injury insurance frequently limit coverage to losses that are caused by ‘accident.’ In attempting to accommodate the layman's understanding of the term, courts have broadly defined the word to mean an occurrence which is unforeseen, unexpected, extraordinary, either by virtue of the fact that it occurred at all, or because of the extent of the damage. An accident can be either a sudden happening or a slowly evolving process like the percolation of harmful substances through the ground. Qualification of a particular incident as an accident seems to depend on two criteria: 1. the degree of foreseeability, and 2. the state of mind of the actor in intending or not intending the result.” John F. Dobbyn, Insurance Law in a Nutshell 128 (3d ed. 1996).

culpable accident. An accident due to negligence. • A culpable accident, unlike an unavoidable accident, is no defense except in those few cases in which wrongful intent is the exclusive and necessary basis for liability.

unavoidable accident. An accident that cannot be avoided because it is produced by an irresistible physical cause that cannot be prevented by human skill or reasonable foresight. • Examples include accidents resulting from lightning or storms, perils of the sea, inundations or earthquakes, or sudden illness or death. Unavoidable accident has been considered a means of avoiding both civil and criminal liability. — Also termed inevitable accident; pure accident; unavoidable casualty. Cf. ACT OF GOD. [Cases: Automobiles 201(10); Negligence 440. C.J.S. Motor Vehicles § 517; Negligence §§ 66–68, 209.]

“Inevitable accident ... does not mean a catastrophe which could not have been avoided by any precaution whatever, but such as could not have been avoided by a reasonable man at the moment at which it occurred, and it is common knowledge that a reasonable man is not credited with perfection of judgment.” P.H. Winfield, A Textbook of the Law of Tort § 15, at 43 (5th ed. 1950).

“An unavoidable accident is an occurrence which was not intended and which, under all the circumstances, could not have been foreseen or prevented by the exercise of reasonable precautions. That is, an accident is considered unavoidable or inevitable at law if it was not proximately caused by the negligence of any party to the action, or to the accident.” W. Page Keeton et al., Prosser and Keeton on the Law of Torts § 29, at 162 (5th ed. 1984).

ACCIDENTAL

accidental, adj. 1. Not having occurred as a result of anyone's purposeful act; esp., resulting from an event that could not have been prevented by human skill or reasonable foresight. 2. Not having been caused by a tortious act.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

accidental death. See DEATH.

ACCIDENTAL-DEATH BENEFIT

accidental-death benefit. An insurance-policy provision that allows for an additional payment (often double the face amount of the policy) if the insured dies as a result of an accident, as defined in the policy, and not from natural causes. — Abbr. ADB. [Cases: Insurance 2599. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1094, 1096, 1170–1171.]

ACCIDENTAL HARM

accidental harm. See HARM.

ACCIDENTALIA

accidentalia (ak-si-den-tay-lee-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin “accidental things”] Hist. Incidents of a contract; non-essential contractual terms to which the parties expressly stipulate. Cf.

 ESSENTIALIA.

“Accidentalia have their existence entirely by express stipulation, and are never presumed without it.” William Bell, Bell's Dictionary and Digest of the Law of Scotland 406 (George Watson ed., 7th ed. 1890).

ACCIDENTALIA FEUDI

accidentalia feudi (ak-si-den-tay-lee-<<schwa>> fyoo-dI). [Law Latin] Hist. All nonessential terms in a feudal contract; esp., those that are not essential to the fee (such as building restrictions). Cf. ESSENTIALIA FEUDI.

ACCIDENTAL INJURY

accidental injury. See INJURY.

ACCIDENTAL KILLING

accidental killing. Homicide resulting from a lawful act performed in a lawful manner under a reasonable belief that no harm could occur. — Also termed death by misadventure; homicide by misadventure; killing by misadventure; homicide per infortunium. See justifiable homicide under HOMICIDE; involuntary manslaughter under MANSLAUGHTER. Cf. MALICIOUS KILLING. [Cases: Homicide 762.]

ACCIDENTAL STRANDING

accidental stranding. See STRANDING.

ACCIDENT AND HEALTH INSURANCE

accident and health insurance. See health insurance under INSURANCE.

ACCIDENT-BASED INSURANCE

accident-based insurance. See occurrence-based liability insurance under INSURANCE.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE

accident insurance. See INSURANCE.

ACCIDENT POLICY

accident policy. See INSURANCE POLICY.

ACCIDERE

accidere (ak-sid-*<<schwa>>*r-ee), vb. [Latin] Civil law. 1. To fall down. 2. By extension, to befall or happen to.

ACCIPE ECCLESIAM

accipe ecclesiam (ak-si-pee e-klē-z[h]ee-*<<schwa>>*m). [Law Latin] Hist. Eccles. law. Receive this church or living. • The phrase was used by Patrons in presenting an incumbent to a vacant parish. Trado tibi ecclesiam (“I deliver this church [or living] to you”) was also used. Cf. TRADO TIBI ECCLESIAM .

ACCIPERE

accipere (ak-sip-<<schwa>>r-ee), vb.[Latin] Civil law. To receive; esp., to take under a will.

ACCIPITARE

accipitare (ak-sip-<<schwa>>-tair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] Hist. To pay (a lord) in order to become a vassal; esp., to pay relief upon succeeding to an estate.

ACCLAMATION

acclamation.Parliamentary law. 1. Approval or election by general consent, usu. demonstrated by applause or cheering. • Election by acclamation is common in large conventions where only one candidate has been nominated. 2. Voting by applause or shouting.

ACCOLA

accola (ak-<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>), n.[Latin “person living nearby”] 1.Roman law. A person who inhabits or occupies land near a certain place, such as one who dwells near a river. 2.Hist. An agricultural tenant; a tenant of a manor.

ACCOMENDA

accomenda (ak-<<schwa>>-men-d<<schwa>>).Hist. Maritime law. A contract between a cargo owner and a shipmaster whereby the parties agree to sell the cargo and divide the profits (after deducting the owner's costs). • This contract actually consists of two agreements: a mandatum, by which the owner gives the shipmaster the power to dispose of the cargo, and a partnership contract, by which the parties divide any profits arising from the sale. See MANDATE(5). [Cases: Shipping 104. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 247–250, 252–254.]

ACCOMMODATED PARTY

accommodated party.A party for whose benefit an accommodation party signs and incurs liability. Cf. AC-COMMODATION PARTY.

ACCOMMODATION

accommodation,n.1. A loan or other financial favor. 2. The act of signing an accommodation paper as surety for another. See ACCOMMODATION PAPER. 3. The act or an instance of making a change or provision for someone or something; an adaptation or adjustment. See PUBLIC ACCOMMODATION; REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION . 4. A convenience supplied by someone; esp., lodging and food.

public accommodation.A business that provides lodging, food, entertainment, or other services to the public; esp. (as defined by the Civil Rights Act of 1964), one that affects interstate commerce or is supported by state action. [Cases: Civil Rights 1043. C.J.S. Civil Rights § 23.]

ACCOMMODATION ACCEPTANCE

accommodation acceptance. See ACCEPTANCE(4).

ACCOMMODATION BILL

accommodation bill. See ACCOMMODATION PAPER.

ACCOMMODATION DIRECTOR

accommodation director. See dummy director under DIRECTOR.

ACCOMMODATION INDORSEMENT

accommodation indorsement. See INDORSEMENT.

ACCOMMODATION INDORSER

accommodation indorser. See INDORSER.

ACCOMMODATION LAND

accommodation land. See LAND.

ACCOMMODATION LINE

accommodation line. Insurance. One or more policies that an insurer issues to retain the business of a valued agent, broker, or customer, even though the risk would not be accepted under the insurer's usual standards.

ACCOMMODATION LOAN

accommodation loan. See LOAN.

ACCOMMODATION MAKER

accommodation maker. See MAKER.

ACCOMMODATION NOTE

accommodation note. See NOTE(1).

ACCOMMODATION PAPER

accommodation paper. A negotiable instrument that one party cosigns, without receiving any consideration, as surety for another party who remains primarily liable. • An accommodation paper is typically used when the cosigner is more creditworthy than the principal debtor. — Also termed accommodation bill; accommodation note. [Cases: Bills and Notes 49, 96. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 24–25, 63.]

ACCOMMODATION PARTY

accommodation party. A person who, without recompense or other benefit, signs a negotiable instrument for the purpose of being a surety for another party (called the accommodated party) to the instrument. • The accommodation party can sign in any capacity (i.e., as maker, drawer, acceptor, or indorser). An accommodation party is liable to all parties except the accommodated party, who impliedly agrees to pay the note or draft and to indemnify the accommodation party for all losses incurred in having to pay it. See SURETY. [Cases: Bills and Notes 49, 96, 122. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 24–25, 63.]

ACCOMMODATION SURETY

accommodation surety. See voluntary surety under SURETY.

ACCOMMODATUM

accommodatum (<<schwa>>-kom-<<schwa>>-day-t<<schwa>>m), n. See COMMODATUM.

ACCOMPANY

accompany, vb. To go along with (another); to attend. • In automobile-accident cases, an unlicensed driver is not considered accompanied by a licensed driver unless the latter is close enough to supervise and help the former.

ACCOMPLICE

accomplice (<<schwa>>-kom-plis). 1. A person who is in any way involved with another in the commission of a crime, whether as a principal in the first or second degree or as an accessory. • Although the definition includes an accessory before the fact, not all authorities treat this term as including an accessory after the fact. [Cases: Criminal Law 59. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 127, 998.]

“There is some authority for using the word ‘accomplice’ to include all principals and all accessories, but the preferred usage is to include all principals and accessories before the fact, but to exclude accessories after the fact. If this limitation is adopted, the word ‘accomplice’ will embrace all perpetrators, abettors and inciters.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 727 (3d ed. 1982).

“A person is an ‘accomplice’ of another in committing a crime if, with the intent to promote or facilitate the commission of the crime, he solicits, requests, or commands the other person to commit it, or aids the other person in planning or committing it.” 1 Charles E. Torcia, Wharton's Criminal Law § 38, at 220 (15th ed. 1993).

2. A person who knowingly, voluntarily, and intentionally unites with the principal offender in committing a crime and thereby becomes punishable for it. See ACCESSORY. Cf. PRINCIPAL(2). “By definition an accomplice must be a person who acts with the purpose of promoting or facilitating the commission of the substantive offense for which he is charged as an accomplice. State v. White, N.J. 1984, 484 A.2d 691, 98 N.J. 122.” Model Penal Code § 2.06 annot. (1997).

ACCOMPLICE LIABILITY

accomplice liability. See LIABILITY.

ACCOMPLICE WITNESS

accomplice witness. See WITNESS.

ACCOMPT

accompt. See ACCOUNT(1).

ACCORD

accord, n. 1. An amicable arrangement between parties, esp. between peoples or nations; COMPACT; TREATY. 2. An offer to give or to accept a stipulated performance in the future to satisfy an obligor's existing duty, together with an acceptance of that offer. • The performance becomes what is known as a satisfaction. — Also termed executory accord; accord executory. See ACCORD AND SATISFACTION ; SATISFACTION. Cf. COM-PROMISE; NOVATION. [Cases: Accord and Satisfaction 1. C.J.S. Accord and Satisfaction §§ 2–17, 25–33.]

“An accord is a contract under which an obligee promises to accept a stated performance in satisfaction of the obligor's existing duty. Performance of the accord discharges the original duty.” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 281(1) (1979).

“The term executory accord is sometimes used to underscore the point that the accord itself does not discharge the duty. It also reflects an historical anachronism, now generally rejected, under which an unperformed accord was not a defense to an action on the underlying duty.” E. Allan Farnsworth, Contracts § 4.24, at 289 n.10 (3d ed. 1999).

3. A signal used in a legal citation to introduce a case clearly supporting a proposition for which another case is being quoted directly.

accord, vb. 1. To furnish or grant, esp. what is suitable or proper <accord the litigants a stay of costs pending appeal>. 2. To agree <they accord in their opinions>.

ACCORD AND SATISFACTION

accord and satisfaction. An agreement to substitute for an existing debt some alternative form of discharging that debt, coupled with the actual discharge of the debt by the substituted performance. • The new agreement is called the accord, and the discharge is called the satisfaction. Cf. COMPROMISE; NOVATION; SETTLEMENT(2), (3). [Cases: Accord and Satisfaction 1. C.J.S. Accord and Satisfaction §§ 2–17, 25–33.]

“ ‘Accord and satisfaction’ means an agreement between the parties that something shall be given to, or done for, the person who has the right of action, in satisfaction of the cause of action. There must be not only agreement (‘accord’) but also consideration (‘satisfaction’). Such an arrangement is really one of substituted performance.” 1 E.W. Chance, Principles of Mercantile Law 101 (P.W. French ed., 13th ed. 1950).

ACCORDANT

accordant (<<schwa>>-kor-d<<schwa>>nt), adj. In agreement <accordant with these principles>.

ACCOUCHEMENT

accouchement (<<schwa>>-koosh-m<<schwa>>nt or ak-oosh-mawn). [French] Childbirth.

ACCOUNT

account, n. 1. ACCOUNTING(3) <the principal filed an action for account against his agent>. — Also spelled (archaically) accompt.

“The action of account lies where one has received goods or money for another in a fiduciary capacity, to ascertain and recover the balance due. It can only be maintained where there is such a relationship between the parties, as to raise an obligation to account, and where the amount due is uncertain and unliquidated.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 56, at 144 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

2. ACCOUNTING(4) <the contractor filed an action for account against the nonpaying customer>. 3. A statement by which someone seeks to describe or explain an event <Fred's account of the holdup differed significantly from Martha's>. 4. A detailed statement of the debits and credits between parties to a contract or to a fiduciary relationship; a reckoning of monetary dealings < the trustee balanced the account at the end of each month>. • In wills and estates, an account is a brief financial statement of the manner in which an executor or administrator has performed the official duties of collecting the estate's assets and paying those who are entitled. An account charges the executor or administrator with the value of the estate as shown by the inventory, plus any increase, and credits the executor with expenses and costs, duly authorized disbursements, and the executor's commission. — Abbr. acct.; a/c. — Also termed accounting. See STATEMENT OF ACCOUNT. 5. A course of business dealings or other relations for which records must be kept <open a brokerage account>.

account in trust. An account established by an individual to hold the account's assets in trust for someone else. [Cases: Trusts 34.]

account payable. (usu. pl.) An account reflecting a balance owed to a creditor; a debt owed by an enterprise in the normal course of business dealing. — Often shortened to payable. — Also termed note payable. Pl. accounts payable.

account receivable. (usu. pl.) An account reflecting a balance owed by a debtor; a debt owed by a customer to an enterprise for goods or services. — Often shortened to receivable. — Also termed note receivable. Pl. accounts receivable.

account rendered. An account produced by the creditor and presented for the debtor's examination and acceptance.

account settled. An account with a paid balance.

account stated. 1. A balance that parties to a transaction or settlement agree on, either expressly or by implication. • The phrase also refers to the agreement itself or to the assent giving rise to the agreement.

“An account stated is a manifestation of assent by debtor and creditor to a stated sum as an accurate computation of an amount due the creditor.” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 282(1) (1979).

“If a creditor and a debtor wish to compromise or liquidate a disputed or unliquidated debt, they may do so by either a substituted contract or an accord. If, however, their agreement is in the nature of a computation, it is called an account stated. An account stated, then, is a manifestation of assent by both parties to the stated sum as an accurate computation of the debt.” E. Allan Farnsworth, Contracts § 4.24, at 286 (1982).

2. A plaintiff's claim in a suit for such a balance. 3. Equity practice. A defendant's plea in response to an action for an accounting. • The defendant states that the balance due on the statement of the account has been discharged and that the defendant holds the plaintiff's release. — Also termed stated account.

accumulated-adjustments account. Tax. An item on the books of an S corporation (usu. an equity item on the corporation's balance sheet) to account for taxable-income items passed through to shareholders, such as accumulated earnings — earned before the corporation converted from a C corporation to an S corporation — that would have been distributed as a dividend to the shareholders if the corporation had remained a C corporation. • One of the theories underlying the accumulated-adjustments account is that the shareholders should not be permitted to avoid dividend-tax treatment on a corporation's accumulated earnings just because the corporation converts from C status to S status. IRC (26 USCA) § 1368(e)(1). — Abbr. AAA. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3896. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 376–377.]

adjunct account. An account that accumulates additions to another account.

annual account. See intermediate account.

assigned account. A pledge of an account receivable to a bank or factor as security for a loan. [Cases: Assignments 10; Pledges 5; Secured Transactions 181. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 19–21; Pledges § 8; Secured Transactions §§ 25, 134–136.]

bank account. A deposit or credit account with a bank, such as a demand, time, savings, or passbook account. UCC § 4-104(a). [Cases: Banks and Banking 151. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 266–268, 277–278.]

blocked account. An account at a bank or other financial institution, access to which has been restricted either by the government or by an authorized person. • An account may be blocked for a variety of reasons, as when hostilities erupt between two countries and each blocks access to the other's accounts. — Also termed frozen account. [Cases: Banks and Banking 128, 151. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 266–268, 270, 277–278, 280–282, 327.]

book account. A detailed statement of debits and credits giving a history of an enterprise's business transactions.

capital account. An account on a partnership's balance sheet representing a partner's share of the partnership capital. [Cases: Partnership 81. C.J.S. Partnership §§ 91, 336, 340.]

charge account. See CHARGE ACCOUNT.

client trust account. See CLIENT TRUST ACCOUNT.

closed account. An account that no further credits or debits may be added to but that remains open for adjustment or setoff.

community account. An account consisting of community funds or commingled funds. See COMMUNITY PROPERTY.

contra account (kon-tr<<schwa>>). An account that serves to reduce the gross valuation of an asset.

convenience account. An apparent joint account, but without right of survivorship, established by a creator to enable another person to withdraw funds at the creator's direction or for the creator's benefit. • Unlike a true joint account, only one person, the creator, has an ownership interest in the deposited funds. Convenience accounts are often established by those who need a financial manager's help and want to make it easy for the manager to pay bills. Although the manager's name is on the account, he or she does not contribute any personal funds to the account and can write checks or make withdrawals only at the direction of or on behalf of the creator.

current account. 1. A running or open account that is settled periodically, usu. monthly. 2. A partner's account that reflects salary, withdrawals, contributions, and other transactions in a given period. 3. Banking. A depositor's checking account. 4. The portion of a nation's balance of payments that represents its exports, imports, and transfer payments.

custodial account. An account opened on behalf of someone else, such as one opened by a parent for a minor child. • Custodial accounts most often arise under the Uniform Transfers to Minors Act (1983). All states have enacted either that act or its earlier version, the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act. Property can be set aside by a donor or transferred to a third party as custodian for the benefit of a minor, usu. as an irrevocable gift. This is a much simpler mechanism than a trust. The custodian has powers and fiduciary duties similar to those of a trustee, except that the custodian is not under a court's supervision. The custodian must account for the property and turn it over to the beneficiary when he or she reaches majority. See UNIFORM TRANSFERS TO MINORS ACT.

deposit account. A demand, time, savings, passbook, or similar account maintained with a bank, savings-and-loan association, credit union, or like organization, other than investment property or an account evidenced by an instrument. UCC § 9-102(a)(29). — Abbr. D.A. [Cases: Banks and Banking 151; Building and Loan Associations 40. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 266–268, 277–278; Building and Loan Associations, Savings and Loan Associations, and Credit Unions §§ 66, 68, 71–79.] escrow account. 1. A bank account, generally held in the name of the depositor and an escrow agent, that is returnable to the depositor or paid to a third person on the fulfillment of specified conditions. — Also termed escrow deposit. See ESCROW(2). [Cases: Deposits and Escrows 11–26. C.J.S. Depositaries §§ 4–5, 8–10, 13–25, 27; Escrows §§ 2–15.] 2. See impound account.

frozen account. See blocked account.

impound account.An account of accumulated funds held by a lender for payment of taxes, insurance, or other periodic debts against real property. — Also termed escrow; escrow account; reserve account. See ESCROW(2).

intermediate account.An account filed by an executor, administrator, or guardian after the initial account and before the final account. • This account is usu. filed annually. — Also termed annual account.

joint account.A bank or brokerage account opened by two or more people, by which each party has a present right to withdraw all funds in the account and, upon the death of one party, the survivors become the owners of the account, with no right of the deceased party's heirs or devisees to share in it. • Typically, the account-holders are designated as “joint tenants with right of survivorship” or “joint-and-survivor account-holders.” In some jurisdictions, they must be so designated to establish a right of survivorship. — Abbr. JA. — Also termed joint-and-survivorship account. [Cases: Joint Tenancy 1. C.J.S. Estates § 19; Joint Tenancy §§ 2, 4, 7–9.]

lien account.A statement of claims that fairly informs the owner and public of the amount and nature of a lien. [Cases: Liens 9; Mechanics' Liens 116. C.J.S. Liens § 10; Mechanics' Liens § 121.]

liquidated account.An account whose assets are clearly ascertained, either by agreement of the parties or by law.

long account.An account involving numerous items or complex transactions in an equitable action, usu. referred to a master or commissioner.

margin account.A brokerage account that allows an investor to buy or sell securities on credit, with the securities usu. serving as collateral for the broker's loan.

multiple-party account.An account that has more than one owner with a current or future interest in the account. • Multiple-party accounts include joint accounts, payable-on-death (P.O.D.) accounts, and trust accounts. Unif. Probate Code § 6-201(5).

mutual account.An account showing mutual transactions between parties, as by showing debits and credits on both sides of the account.

“[E]ach party to a mutual account occupies both a debtor and creditor relation with regard to the other party. A mutual account arises where there are mutual dealings, and the account is allowed to run with a view to an ultimate adjustment of the balance. In order to establish a mutual account, it is not enough that the parties to the account have cross demands or cross open accounts; there must be an actual mutual agreement, express or implied, that the claims are to be set off against each other.” 1 Am. Jur. 2d Accounts and Accounting § 6, at 564 (1994).

mutual-fund wrap account.An investment account that allocates an investor's assets only among mutual funds rather than stocks or other investments. See wrap account.

negotiable-order-of-withdrawal account.See NOW account.

nominal account (nahm-n). An income-statement account that is closed into surplus at the end of the year when the books are balanced.

NOW account (now). An interest-bearing savings account on which the holder may write checks. — Also termed negotiable-order-of-withdrawal account. [Cases: Banks and Banking 151. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 266–268, 277–278.]

offset account. One of two accounts that balance against each other and cancel each other out when the books are closed.

open account. 1. An unpaid or unsettled account. 2. An account that is left open for ongoing debit and credit entries by two parties and that has a fluctuating balance until either party finds it convenient to settle and close, at which time there is a single liability.

partial account. A preliminary accounting of an executor's or administrator's dealings with an estate. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 509(11). C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 883.]

pay-on-death account. A bank account whose owner instructs the bank to distribute the account's balance to a beneficiary upon the owner's death. • Unlike a joint-and-survivorship account, a pay-on-death account does not give the beneficiary access to the funds while the owner is alive. — Abbr. POD account. — Also termed pay-on-death bank account.

pledged account. A mortgagor's account pledged to a lender in return for a loan bearing interest at a below-market rate. [Cases: Pledges 5. C.J.S. Pledges § 8.]

profit-and-loss account. A transfer account of all income and expense accounts, closed into the retained earnings of a corporation or the capital account of a partnership. [Cases: Corporations 311; Partnership 81. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 505–506; Partnership §§ 91, 336, 340.]

real account. An account that records assets and liabilities rather than receipts and payments.

reserve account. See impound account.

revolving charge account. See revolving credit under CREDIT(4).

running account. An open, unsettled account that exhibits the reciprocal demands between the parties.

sequestered account. An account (such as a joint bank account) that a court has ordered to be separated, frozen, and impounded.

share-draft account. An account that a member maintains at a credit union and that can be drawn on through the use of share drafts payable to third parties. • A share-draft account operates much like a checking account operates at a bank. — Also termed share account. [Cases: Building and Loan Associations 40. C.J.S. Building and Loan Associations, Savings and Loan Associations, and Credit Unions § 66.]

suspense account. A temporary record used in bookkeeping to track receipts and disbursements of an uncertain nature until they are identified and posted in the appropriate ledgers and journals. • A suspense account does not appear in a final financial statement. It is a useful tool when, for example, a lump-sum receipt or expenditure must be broken down to match several transactions before posting.

tax-deferred account. An interest-bearing account whose earnings are not taxable as income to the account holder before the earnings are withdrawn. • Tax-deferred accounts include most types of IRAs, variable annuities, 401(k) plans, cash-value life insurance, and most other types of tax-deferred savings instruments.

trust account. See CLIENT TRUST ACCOUNT.

wrap account. An investment account for which the investor, helped by a stockbroker, selects an account manager and pays a fee based on a percentage of the total assets to be managed. • Most wrap accounts contain a portfolio of investments, including stocks, bonds, and cash. Investors generally provide a risk profile but do not select the investments or give instructions to buy or sell. — Also termed wrap-fee account. See mutual-fund wrap account.

ACCOUNTABLE

accountable, adj. Responsible; answerable <the company was held accountable for the employee's negligence>. — accountability, n.

ACCOUNTABLE RECEIPT

accountable receipt. See RECEIPT.

ACCOUNTANT

accountant. 1. A person authorized under applicable law to practice public accounting; a person whose business is to keep books or accounts, to perform financial audits, to design and control accounting systems, and to give tax advice. • For some purposes, the term includes a professional accounting association, a corporation, and a partnership, if they are so authorized. [Cases: Accountants 1. C.J.S. Accountants § 2.]

certified public accountant. An accountant who has satisfied the statutory and administrative requirements to be registered or licensed as a public accountant. — Abbr. CPA.

2. A defendant in an action of account.

ACCOUNTANT-CLIENT PRIVILEGE

accountant-client privilege. See PRIVILEGE(3).

ACCOUNTANT OF COURT

accountant of court. Scots law. An official of the Court of Session who exercises supervision over the accounts of court-appointed managers and receivers of estates, such as trustees in bankruptcy and guardians of incompetent persons.

ACCOUNTANT'S LIEN

accountant's lien. See LIEN.

ACCOUNT BOOK

account book. A journal in which a business's transactions are recorded. See SHOP BOOKS.

ACCOUNT DEBTOR

account debtor. See DEBTOR.

ACCOUNT DUTY

account duty. See DUTY(4).

ACCOUNT EXECUTIVE

account executive. See STOCKBROKER.

ACCOUNT FOR

account for. 1. To furnish a good reason or convincing explanation for; to explain the cause of. 2. To render a reckoning of (funds held, esp. in trust). 3. To answer for (conduct).

ACCOUNTING

accounting. 1. The act or a system of establishing or settling financial accounts; esp., the process of recording transactions in the financial records of a business and periodically extracting, sorting, and summarizing the rec-orded transactions to produce a set of financial records. — Also termed financial accounting. 2. A rendition of an account, either voluntarily or by court order. • The term frequently refers to the report of all items of property, income, and expenses prepared by a personal representative, trustee, or guardian and given to heirs, beneficiaries, or the probate court. See ACCOUNT(4). 3. A legal action to compel a defendant to account for and pay over money owed to the plaintiff but held by the defendant (often the plaintiff's agent); ACCOUNTING FOR PROFITS. — Also termed account render; account; action of account. 4. More broadly, an action for the recovery of money for services performed, property sold and delivered, money loaned, or damages for the nonperformance of simple contracts. • Such an action is available when the rights of parties will be adequately protected by the payment of money. — Also termed action on account; account; action of book debt. 5. Commercial law. An equitable proceeding for a complete settlement of all partnership affairs, usu. in connection with partner misconduct or with a winding up. See WINDING UP. [Cases: Partnership 331. C.J.S. Partnership §§ 387, 391.] 6. Secured transactions. A record that (1) is authenticated by a secured party, (2) indicates the aggregate unpaid secured obligation as of a date no more than 35 days before or after the date of the record, and (3) identifies the components of the obligations in reasonable detail. UCC § 9-102(a)(29). [Cases: Secured Transactions 162. C.J.S. Secured Transactions § 112.]

ACCOUNTING FOR FRUITS

accounting for fruits. Civil law. A claim for the return of natural or civil fruits against an adverse possessor or other person obligated by law or contract to account for fruits. See FRUIT(2).

ACCOUNTING FOR PROFITS

accounting for profits. An action for equitable relief against a person in a fiduciary relationship to recover profits taken in a breach of the relationship. — Often shortened to accounting.

“The term accounting, or accounting for profits, is used in several ways. In its most important meaning, it is a restitutionary remedy based upon avoiding unjust enrichment. In this sense it reaches monies owed by a fiduciary or other wrongdoer, including profits produced by property which in equity and good conscience belonged to the plaintiff. It resembles a constructive trust in that tracing may be used to reach profits. But even if tracing fails, the plaintiff may recover a judgment for the profits due from use of his property.” Dan B. Dobbs, Law of Remedies § 4.3(5), at 408 (2d ed. 1993).

ACCOUNTING METHOD

accounting method. A system for determining income and expenses for tax purposes.

accrual accounting method (<<schwa>>-kroo-<<schwa>>l). An accounting method that records entries of debits and credits when the liability arises, rather than when the income or expense is received or disbursed. — Also termed accrual basis. Cf. cash-basis accounting method. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3099; Taxation 1078. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 25, 46, 57, 371; Taxation § 1759.]

capitalization accounting method. A method of determining an asset's present value by discounting its stream of expected future benefits at an appropriate rate.

cash-basis accounting method. An accounting method that considers only cash actually received as income and cash actually paid out as an expense. Cf. accrual accounting method. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3100; Taxation 1078. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 25, 44, 56; Taxation § 1759.]

completed-contract accounting method. A method of reporting profit or loss on certain long-term contracts by recognizing gross income and expenses in the tax year that the contract is completed. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3101; Taxation 1078. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 21, 24–26; Taxation § 1759.]

cost accounting method. The practice of recording the value of assets in terms of their cost. — Also termed cost accounting.

direct charge-off accounting method. A system of accounting by which a deduction for bad debts is allowed when an account has become partially or completely worthless.

equity accounting method. A method of accounting for long-term investment in common stock based on acquisition cost, investor income, net losses, and dividends.

fair-value accounting method. The valuation of assets at present actual or market value.

installment accounting method. A method by which a taxpayer can spread the recognition of gains from a sale of property over the payment period by computing the gross-profit percentage from the sale and applying it to each payment. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3104; Taxation 1078.

C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 47–50; Taxation § 1759.]

percentage-of-completion method. An accounting method in which revenue is recognized gradually during the completion of the subject matter of the contract.

physical-inventory accounting method. A method of counting a company's goods at the close of an accounting period.

purchase accounting method. A method of accounting for mergers whereby the total value paid or exchanged for the acquired firm's assets is recorded on the acquiring firm's books, and any difference between the fair market value of the assets acquired and the purchase price is recorded as goodwill.

ACCOUNTING PERIOD

accounting period. A regular span of time used for accounting purposes; esp., a period used by a taxpayer in determining income and related tax liability.

ACCOUNTING RESEARCH BULLETIN

Accounting Research Bulletin. A publication containing accounting practices recommended by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. — Abbr. ARB.

ACCOUNTING SERIES RELEASE

Accounting Series Release. A bulletin providing the Securities and Exchange Commission's requirements for accounting and auditing procedures to be followed in reports filed with that agency. — Abbr. ASR.

ACCOUNT IN TRUST

account in trust. See ACCOUNT.

ACCOUNT PARTY

account party. The customer in a letter-of-credit transaction. — Also termed applicant.

ACCOUNT PAYABLE

account payable. See ACCOUNT.

ACCOUNT RECEIVABLE

account receivable. See ACCOUNT.

ACCOUNT RENDER

account render. See ACCOUNTING(3).

ACCOUNT RENDERED

account rendered. See ACCOUNT.

ACCOUNT REPRESENTATIVE

account representative. See STOCKBROKER.

ACCOUNT SETTLED

account settled. See ACCOUNT.

ACCOUNTS-RECEIVABLE INSURANCE

accounts-receivable insurance. See accounts-receivable insurance and credit insurance under INSURANCE.

ACCOUNT STATED

account stated. See ACCOUNT.

ACCOUNT STATEMENT

account statement. See STATEMENT OF ACCOUNT.

ACCOUPLE

accouple, vb. Archaic. To unite; to marry.

ACCREDIT

accredit (<<schwa>>-kred-it), vb. 1. To give official authorization or status to. 2. To recognize (a school) as having sufficient academic standards to qualify graduates for higher education or for professional practice. [Cases: Schools 4. C.J.S. Schools and School Districts § 811.] 3. Int'l law. To send (a person) with credentials as an envoy. — accreditation (<<schwa>>-kred-i-tay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. — accredited, adj.

ACCREDITED INVESTOR

accredited investor. See INVESTOR.

ACCREDITED LAW SCHOOL

accredited law school. See LAW SCHOOL.

ACCREDITED REPRESENTATIVE

accredited representative. See REPRESENTATIVE.

ACCREDULITARE

accredulitare (<<schwa>>-kred-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>-tair-ee), vb. [Law Latin] Hist. To purge an offense by an oath.

ACCRESCE

accresce (<<schwa>>-kres), vb. Civil law. To accrue or increase.

ACCRETION

accretion (<<schwa>>-kree-sh<<schwa>>n). 1. The gradual accumulation of land by natural forces, esp. as alluvium is added to land situated on the bank of a river or on the seashore. Cf. ALLUVION; AVULSION(2); DELICTION; EROSION. [Cases: Navigable Waters 44; Waters and Water Courses 93.C.J.S. Navigable Waters § 94; Waters §§ 177–182, 184–185.] 2. Any increase in trust property other than increases ordinarily considered as income. [Cases: Trusts 272–274. C.J.S. Trover and Conversion §§ 510, 539–554.] 3.Civil law. The right of heirs or legatees to unite their shares of the estate with the portion of any coheirs or legatees who do not accept their portion, fail to comply with a condition, or die before the testator. 4. A beneficiary's gain through the failure of a coheir or colegatee to take his or her share. 5.Scots law. The perfection of an imperfect or defective title by some act by the person who conveyed title to the current holder. — accretive, accretionary,adj.

ACCROACH

accroach (<<schwa>>-krohch), vb. To exercise power without authority; to usurp. — accroachment (<<schwa>>-krohch-m<<schwa>>nt), n.

ACCROCHER

accrocher (a-kroh-shay), vb.[Law French] 1.ACCROACH. 2. To delay.

ACCROCHER UN PROCÈS

accrocher un procès (a-kroh-shay <<schwa>>n proh-say). [French] To stay the proceedings in a suit.

ACCRUAL, CLAUSE OF

accrual, clause of.See CLAUSE OF ACCRUAL.

ACCRUAL ACCOUNTING METHOD

accrual accounting method.See ACCOUNTING METHOD.

ACCRUAL BASIS accrual basis.See accrual accounting method under ACCOUNTING METHOD.

ACCRUAL BOND

accrual bond.See BOND(3).

ACCRUE

accrue (<<schwa>>-kroo), vb.1. To come into existence as an enforceable claim or right; to arise <the plaintiff's cause of action for silicosis did not accrue until the plaintiff knew or had reason to know of the disease>. [Cases: Action 61; Limitation of Actions 43–114. C.J.S. Actions §§ 230–234; Contracts § 582; Employ-er–Employee Relationship § 87; Limitations of Actions §§ 21, 81–195, 197–212, 303; Physicians, Surgeons, and Other Health-Care Providers § 108; RICO (Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations) § 16.]

“The term ‘accrue’ in the context of a cause of action means to arrive, to commence, to come into existence, or to become a present enforceable demand or right. The time of accrual of a cause of action is a question of fact.” 2 Ann Taylor Schwing, California Affirmative Defenses § 25:3, at 17–18 (2d ed. 1996).

2. To accumulate periodically <the savings-account interest accrues monthly>. — accrual,n.

ACCRUED ASSET

accrued asset. See ASSET.

ACCRUED COMPENSATION

accrued compensation. See COMPENSATION.

ACCRUED DEPRECIATION

accrued depreciation. See accumulated depreciation under DEPRECIATION.

ACCRUED DIVIDEND

accrued dividend. See accumulated dividend under DIVIDEND.

ACCRUED EXPENSE

accrued expense. See EXPENSE.

ACCRUED INCOME

accrued income. See INCOME.

ACCRUED INTEREST

accrued interest. See INTEREST(3).

ACCRUED LIABILITY

accrued liability. See LIABILITY.

ACCRUED RIGHT

accrued right. See RIGHT.

ACCRUED SALARY

accrued salary. See SALARY.

ACCRUED TAX

accrued tax. See TAX.

ACCRUER

accruer. See CLAUSE OF ACCRUAL.

ACCRUING COSTS

accruing costs. See COST(3).

ACCT

acct. abbr. ACCOUNT(4).

ACCUMULANDO JURA JURIBUS

accumulando jura juribus (<<schwa>>-kyoom-y<<schwa>>-lan-doh joor-<<schwa>>joor-i-b<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. By adding rights to rights.

“[Accumulando jura juribus] will be found in deeds, as expressing the intention of the maker or granter of it that the right thereby conferred on the grantee is not to be regarded as coming in place of other rights which the grantee has or may acquire otherwise, but as an addition thereto: the rights conferred are not prejudicial to other rights existing or future.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 10 (4th ed. 1894).

ACCUMULATED-ADJUSTMENTS ACCOUNT

accumulated-adjustments account. See ACCOUNT.

ACCUMULATED DEPRECIATION

accumulated depreciation. See DEPRECIATION.

ACCUMULATED DIVIDEND

accumulated dividend. See DIVIDEND.

ACCUMULATED-EARNINGS CREDIT

accumulated-earnings credit. See CREDIT(7).

ACCUMULATED-EARNINGS TAX

accumulated-earnings tax. See TAX.

ACCUMULATED INCOME

accumulated income. See INCOME.

ACCUMULATED LEGACY

accumulated legacy. See LEGACY.

ACCUMULATED PROFIT

accumulated profit. See PROFIT(1).

ACCUMULATED SURPLUS

accumulated surplus. See SURPLUS.

ACCUMULATED TAXABLE INCOME

accumulated taxable income. See INCOME.

ACCUMULATIO ACTIONUM

accumulatio actionum (<<schwa>>-kyoom-y<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh ak-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Scots law. The accumulation of actions, which was permitted only in certain circumstances, as when a widow and her children jointly sued to recover damages for the husband's and father's death.

ACCUMULATION

accumulation, n. 1. The increase of a thing by repeated additions to it; esp., the increase of a fund by the repeated addition of the income that it creates. 2. The concurrence of several titles to the same thing. 3. The concurrence of several circumstances to the same proof. 4. The retention of dividends for future distribution. 5. Insurance. An increase in the principal sum insured for, effective upon renewal of a policy, without a change of premiums. — accumulate, vb.

ACCUMULATIONS, RULE AGAINST

accumulations, rule against. The rule that a direction to accumulate income from property — the income to be distributed later to certain beneficiaries — is valid only if confined to the perpetuity period. Cf. RULE AGAINST PERPETUITIES . [Cases: Perpetuities 9. C.J.S. Perpetuities § 45.]

ACCUMULATION TRUST

accumulation trust. See TRUST.

ACCUMULATIVE

accumulative (<<schwa>>-kyoo-my<<schwa>>-lay-tiv or -l<<schwa>>-tiv), adj. Increasing by successive addition; cumulative.

ACCUMULATIVE DAMAGES

accumulative damages. See DAMAGES.

ACCUMULATIVE DIVIDEND

accumulative dividend. See cumulative dividend under DIVIDEND.

ACCUMULATIVE JUDGMENT

accumulative judgment. See JUDGMENT.

ACCUMULATIVE LEGACY

accumulative legacy. See LEGACY.

ACCUMULATIVE SENTENCES

accumulative sentences. See consecutive sentences under SENTENCE.

ACCUSATION

accusation, n. 1. A formal charge of criminal wrongdoing. • The accusation is usu. presented to a court or magistrate having jurisdiction to inquire into the alleged crime. 2. An informal statement that a person has engaged in an illegal or immoral act.

malicious accusation. An accusation against another for an improper purpose and without probable cause. See MALICIOUS PROSECUTION. [Cases: Malicious Prosecution 15, 26. C.J.S. Malicious Prosecution or Wrongful Litigation §§ 23, 38.]

ACCUSATIO SUSPECTI TUTORIS

accusatio suspecti tutoris (ak-yoo-zay-shee-oh s<<schwa>>-spek-tī t[y]oo-tor-is). [Latin “accusation against a suspected tutor”] Roman law. A civil action on behalf of a child under the age of puberty against a tutor for negligence or fraud in the performance of the tutor's duties.

ACCUSATOR

accusator (ak-yoo-zay-t<<schwa>>r), n. [Latin] Roman law. The person who brought charges in a criminal case. Pl. accusatores.

ACCUSATORIAL SYSTEM

accusatorial system. See ADVERSARY SYSTEM.

ACCUSATORY

accusatory (<<schwa>>-kyoo-z<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj. Of, relating to, or constituting an accusation.

ACCUSATORY BODY

accusatory body. A body (such as a grand jury) that hears evidence and determines whether a person should be charged with a crime.

ACCUSATORY INSTRUMENT

accusatory instrument. See CHARGING INSTRUMENT.

ACCUSATORY PART

accusatory part. The section of an indictment in which the offense is named.

ACCUSATORY PLEADING

accusatory pleading. See PLEADING(1).

ACCUSATORY PROCEDURE

accusatory procedure. See ADVERSARY SYSTEM.

ACCUSATORY STAGE

accusatory stage. Criminal procedure. The point in a criminal proceeding when the suspect's right to counsel attaches. • This occurs usu. after arrest and once interrogation begins. Cf. CRITICAL STAGE. [Cases: Criminal Law 641.3. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 282.]

ACCUSATRIX

accusatrix (<<schwa>>-kyoo-z<<schwa>>-triks), n. Hist. A female accuser.

ACCUSE

accuse,vb. To charge (a person) judicially or publicly with an offense; to make an accusation against <she accused him of the crime> <he was accused as an accomplice>.

ACCUSED

accused,adj. Of or relating to someone or something implicated in wrongdoing < accused infringer>; esp., of or relating to a product that allegedly infringes someone's intellectual-property rights <accused device> <accused work>.

accused,n.1. A person who has been blamed for wrongdoing; esp., a person who has been arrested and brought before a magistrate or who has been formally charged with a crime (as by indictment or information).2. A person against whom legal proceedings have been initiated.

ACCUSER

accuser.Eccles. law. A person who accuses another of a crime. • In ecclesiastical courts, an accuser cannot be a person who has been convicted of a crime, has been excommunicated, or is otherwise disqualified.

ACCUSING JURY

accusing jury.See GRAND JURY.

A CE

a ce (a s<<schwa>>), adv.[Law French] For this purpose.

A CEL JOUR

a cel jour (<<schwa>> sel zhoor), adv.[Law French] At this day.

AC ETIAM

ac etiam (ak ee-shee-<<schwa>>m oresh-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Common-law pleading. 1. And also. • These words introduced a genuine claim in a pleading in a common-law case in which a fictitious claim had to be alleged to give the court jurisdiction. In other words, the phrase ac etiam directed the court to the real cause of action. — Also spelled acetiam.

“[T]o remedy this inconvenience, the officers of the king's bench devised a method of adding what is called a clause of ac etiam to the usual complaint of trespass; the bill of Middlesex commanding the defendant to be brought in to answer the plaintiff of a plea of trespass, and also to a bill of debt: the complaint of trespass giving cognizance to the court, and that of debt authorizing the arrest.” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 288 (1768).

“[Once] it was established that the King's Bench was not exclusively a court for ‘crown cases,’ but could also be used for civil litigation, it was not difficult to extend the jurisdiction a step further by allowing the ordinary citizen to allege that the defendant had committed a trespass or other breach of the peace ‘and also’ that the defendant was under some obligation to the plaintiff, and to treat the allegation concerning breach of the peace as a mere fiction which need not be proved, and to allow the suit to be maintained solely on the basis of the civil obligation. The Latin words ‘ac etiam’ were the crucial ones in the old complaint that stated the fictitious breach of the peace ‘and also’ the actual civil obligation.” Charles Herman Kinnane, A First Book on Anglo-American Law 269 (2d ed. 1952).

2. The clause that introduced the real allegation after a fictitious allegation of trespass. — Also termed (in sense 2) ac etiam clause.

ACF

ACF.abbr. ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES.

ACHIEVE

achieve,vb. Hist. To do homage upon the taking of a fee or fief.

ACID-TEST RATIO

acid-test ratio.See QUICK-ASSET RATIO.

ACKNOWLEDGE

acknowledge,vb.1. To recognize (something) as being factual or valid < acknowledge the federal court's juris-diction>.2. To show that one accepts responsibility for <acknowledge paternity of the child>.3. To make known the receipt of <acknowledged the plaintiff's letter>.4. To confirm as genuine before an authorized officer <ac-knowledged before a notary public>. [Cases: Acknowledgment 1. C.J.S. Acknowledgments §§ 2–4.] 5. (Of a notary public or other officer) to certify as genuine <the notary acknowledged the genuineness of the signature>.

ACKNOWLEDGED FATHER

acknowledged father.See FATHER.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

acknowledgment. 1. A recognition of something as being factual. 2. An acceptance of responsibility. 3. The act of making it known that one has received something. 4. A formal declaration made in the presence of an authorized officer, such as a notary public, by someone who signs a document and confirms that the signature is authentic. • In most states, the officer certifies that (1) he or she personally knows the document signer or has established the signer's identity through satisfactory evidence, (2) the signer appeared before the officer on the date and in the place (usu. the county) indicated, and (3) the signer acknowledged signing the document freely. Cf. VERIFI-CATION(1). [Cases: Acknowledgment 1. C.J.S. Acknowledgments §§ 2–4.]

“An acknowledgment is a verification of the fact of execution, but is not a verification of the contents of the instrument executed; in other words, an acknowledgment is the method of authenticating an instrument by showing it was the act of the person executing it, while a verification is a sworn statement as to the truth of the facts stated within an instrument.” 1A C.J.S. Acknowledgments § 2 (1985).

5. The officer's certificate that is affixed to the document. — Also termed (in sense 5) certificate of acknowl-edgment; (loosely) verification. See PROOF OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT. 6. A father's public recognition of a child as his own. — Also termed acknowledgment of paternity.

formal acknowledgment. 1. A father's recognition of a child as his own by a formal, written declaration that meets a state's requirements for execution, typically by signing in the presence of two witnesses. • In Louisiana law, this recognition may also be made by a mother. La. Civ. Code art. 203. 2. A father's recognition of a child as his own in the child's registry of birth or at the child's baptism. • In this sense, a formal acknowledgment typically occurs when a man signs the birth certificate or baptismal certificate as the father or announces at the baptismal service that he is the father. The fact that a man is named as the father on a certificate of birth or baptism is not a formal acknowledgment unless the father signs the document.

informal acknowledgment.A father's recognition of a child as his own not by a written declaration but by receiving the child into his family or supporting the child and otherwise treating the child as his own offspring.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT MONEY

acknowledgment money.See LAUDEMIMUM.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF DEBT

acknowledgment of debt.Louisiana law. Recognition by a debtor of the existence of a debt. • An acknowleg-ment of debt interrupts the running of prescription.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF PATERNITY

acknowledgment of paternity.See ACKNOWLEDGMENT(6).

ACLU

ACLU.abbr.AMERICAN CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION.

A CONFECTIONE

a confectiōne (ay k<<schwa>>n-fek-shee-oh-nee). [Law Latin] From the making.

A CONFECTIONE PRAESENTIUM

a confectiōne praesentium (ay k<<schwa>>n-fek-shee-oh-nee pri-zen-shee-<< schwa>>m). [Law Latin] From the making of the indentures.

A CONSILIIS

a consiliis (ay k<<schwa>>n-sil-ee-is), n.[Law Latin “of counsel”] See APOCRISARIUS.

A CONTRARIO SENSU

a contrario sensu (ay k<<schwa>>n-trair-ee-oh sen-s[y]oo), adv.[Law Latin] On the other hand; in the opposite sense.

ACP

ACP.abbr. ADMINISTRATIVE DOMAIN-NAME CHALLENGE PANEL.

ACPA

ACPA.abbr. 1.ANTICYBERSQUATTING CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT.
2.ANTICOUNTERFEITING CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT.

ACP CHALLENGE

ACP challenge.Trademarks. An administrative procedure to settle disputes over Internet domain names, conducted by an Administrative Domain-Name Challenge Panel (ACP) under the auspices of the World Intellectual Property Organization and in accordance with the WIPO (Revised) Substantive Guidelines. • The guidelines are viewable at <http://www.gtld-mou.org/docs/racps.htm>.

ACQUAINTANCE RAPE

acquaintance rape.See RAPE.

ACQUEST

acquest (<<schwa>>-kwest). See ACQUET.

ACQUET

acquet (a-kayor <<schwa>>-kwet), n.[French acquêt “acquisition”] (usu. pl.) Civil law. 1. Property acquired by purchase, gift, or any means other than inheritance. • The term is most commonly used to denote a marital acquisition that is presumed to be community property. — Also termed acquets and conquests. 2. Property acquired by either spouse during the marriage. — Also termed acquest. See COMMUNITY PROPERTY. See also AC-QUIST.

ACQUETS AND CONQUETS

acquets and conquests.See ACQUET(1).

ACQUETS AND GAINS

acquets and gains (<<schwa>>-kets).Louisiana law. The assets comprising the community property of spouses who are subject to the Louisiana community-property laws. — Often shortened to acquets.

ACQUIESCE acquiesce (ak-wee-es), vb. To accept tacitly or passively; to give implied consent to (an act) <in the end, all the partners acquiesced in the settlement>. — acquiescent,adj.

ACQUIESCENCE

acquiescence (ak-wee-es-<<schwa>>nts).1. A person's tacit or passive acceptance; implied consent to an act.

commercial acquiescence.Patents. Action or inaction by a patentee's competitor that reflects the competitor's belief that the patent is valid. • A patent owner may use another person's actions or inactions, such as taking a license or attempting to design around a patent, as circumstantial evidence of the nonobviousness of a patented invention or of a patent's validity or enforceability. [Cases: Patents 36.1(1). C.J.S. Patents §§ 98–99.]

2.Int'l law.Passivity and inaction on foreign claims that, according to customary international law, usu. call for protest to assert, preserve, or safeguard rights. • The result is that binding legal effect is given to silence and inaction. Acquiescence, as a principle of substantive law, is grounded in the concepts of good faith and equity.

ACQUIETANDIS PLEGIIS

acquietandis plegiis (<<schwa>>-kwI-<<schwa>>-tan-dis plee-jee-is), n.[Law Latin “for acquitting sureties”] Hist. A writ to force a creditor to discharge a surety when the debt has been satisfied.

ACQUIETATUS

acquietatus (<<schwa>>-kwI-<<schwa>>-tay-t<<schwa>>s), adj.[Law Latin] Hist. Pronounced not guilty by a jury; acquitted.

ACQUIRE

acquire,vb. To gain possession or control of; to get or obtain.

ACQUIRED ALLEGIANCE

acquired allegiance.See ALLEGIANCE.

ACQUIRED CORPORATION

acquired corporation.See CORPORATION.

ACQUIRED DISTINCTIVENESS

acquired distinctiveness.See DISTINCTIVENESS.

ACQUIRED FEDERAL LAND

acquired federal land.See LAND.

ACQUIRED LAND

acquired land.See LAND.

ACQUIRED RIGHT

acquired right. See RIGHT.

ACQUIRED-RIGHTS DOCTRINE

acquired-rights doctrine. The principle that once a right has vested, it may not be reduced by later legislation. • The Universal Copyright Convention applies the doctrine to copyright protections, esp. terms, that controlled before the Convention took effect. — Also termed doctrine of acquired rights.

ACQUIRED SERVITUDE

acquired servitude. See SERVITUDE(2).

ACQUIRED SURPLUS

acquired surplus. See SURPLUS.

ACQUIRENDA

acquirenda, n. pl. [Latin] Hist. Things to be gained by purchase.

ACQUISITA ET ACQUIRENDA

acquisita et acquirenda (<<schwa>>-kwiz-i-t<<schwa>> et ak-w<<schwa>>-ren-d<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Scots law. Things acquired and to be acquired. • Certain legal actions (such as inhibition) affected both acquired property and property to be acquired while some actions (such as seizure) affected only property that had already been acquired.

ACQUISITION

acquisition, n. 1. The gaining of possession or control over something < acquisition of the target company's assets>. 2. Something acquired .

creeping acquisition. The gradual purchase of a corporation's stock at varying prices on the open market. • As a takeover method, a creeping acquisition does not involve a formal tender offer, although the SEC may classify it as such for regulatory purposes. — Also termed creeping tender offer.

derivative acquisition. An acquisition obtained from another, as by sale or gift.

new acquisition. An estate not originating from descent, devise, or gift from the parental or maternal line of the owner. • For example, an estate acquired from a nonrelative is a new acquisition. See nonancestral estate under ESTATE (1).

original acquisition. An acquisition that has never been the property of anyone else, such as a copyright owned by an author.

ACQUISITION COST

acquisition cost. See COST(1).

ACQUISITIVE OFFENSE

acquisitive offense.See OFFENSE(1).

ACQUISITIVE PRESCRIPTION

acquisitive prescription.See PRESCRIPTION.

ACQUIST

acquist (<<schwa>>-kwist), n. Hist. The act of obtaining (a thing); acquisition. • The idiomatic tendency is to use acquist for the action and acquet for the result. Cf. ACQUET.

ACQUIT

acquit,vb.1. To clear (a person) of a criminal charge. 2. To pay or discharge (a debt or claim).

ACQUITTAL

acquittal,n.1. The legal certification, usu. by jury verdict, that an accused person is not guilty of the charged offense.

acquittal in fact.An acquittal by a jury verdict of not guilty.

acquittal in law.An acquittal by operation of law, as of someone who has been charged merely as an accessory after the principal has been acquitted.

implied acquittal.An acquittal in which a jury convicts the defendant of a lesser included offense without commenting on the greater offense. • Double jeopardy bars the retrial of a defendant on the higher offense after an implied acquittal. [Cases: Double Jeopardy 100.1.]

2.Contracts. A release or discharge from debt or other liability; ACQUITTANCE. [Cases: Release 8. C.J.S. Release § 2.] 3.Hist. The obligation of a middle lord to protect a tenant from a claim, entry, or molestation by a paramount lord arising out of service that the middle lord owes the paramount lord.

ACQUITTANCE

acquittance,n. A document by which one is discharged from a debt or other obligation; a receipt or release indicating payment in full. — acquit,vb.

ACQUITTED

acquitted,adj.1. Judicially discharged from an accusation; absolved. 2. Released from a debt.

ACRE

acre. An area of land measuring 43,560 square feet.

foot acre.A one-foot-deep layer of coal, water, or other material spread over one acre. • This measurement method is used to value coal land for tax purposes. It is also used to measure the volume and capacity of reservoirs.

ACREAGE-CONTRIBUTION AGREEMENT

acreage-contribution agreement.Oil & gas. A support agreement under which one party promises to grant leases or interest in leases in the area of a test well to the party who drills the test well in exchange for drilling or geological information if the test well is drilled to a certain depth. See SUPPORT AGREEMENT.

ACRE-FOOT

acre-foot. A volume measurement in irrigation, equal to the amount of water that will cover one acre of land in one foot of water (325,850 gallons). [Cases: Weights and Measures 3. C.J.S. Weights and Measures § 3.]

ACRE RIGHT

acre right.Hist. In New England, a citizen's share in the common lands. • The value of the acre right varied among towns but was fixed in each town. A 10-acre lot in a certain town was equivalent to 113 acres of upland and 12 acres of meadow, and an exact proportion was maintained between the acre right and salable land. [Cases: Common Lands 10. C.J.S. Common Lands §§ 12–13.]

ACROSS-THE-BOARD

across-the-board,adj. Applying to all classes, categories, or groups <an across-the-board tax cut>.

ACRS

ACRS.abbr.ACCELERATED COST-RECOVERY SYSTEM.

ACT

act,n.1. Something done or performed, esp. voluntarily; a deed. — Also termed action.

“ ‘[A]ct’ or ‘action’ means a bodily movement whether voluntary or involuntary” Model Penal Code § 1.13.

2. The process of doing or performing; an occurrence that results from a person's will being exerted on the external world; ACTION(2). — Also termed positive act; act of commission.“The term act is one of ambiguous import, being used in various senses of different degrees of generality. When it is said, however, that an act is one of the essential conditions of liability, we use the term in the widest sense of which it is capable. We mean by it any event which is subject to the control of the human will. Such a definition is, indeed, not ultimate, but it is sufficient for the purpose of the law.” John Salmond, Jurisprudence 367 (Glanville L. Williams ed., 10th ed. 1947).

“The word ‘act’ is used throughout the Restatement of this Subject to denote an external manifestation of the actor's will and does not include any of its results, even the most direct, immediate, and intended.” Restatement (Second) of Torts § 2 (1965).

abstract juridical act.Civil law. A juridical act whose validity may be independent of the existence or lawfulness of the underlying cause. • In some systems, examples include negotiable instruments, debt remission, debt acknowledgment, and the novation of an obligation. See juridical act.

act in pais (in pay). [Law French] An act performed out of court, such as a deed made between two parties on the land being transferred. See IN PAIS.

act in the law. An act that is intended to create, transfer, or extinguish a right and that is effective in law for that purpose; the exercise of a legal power. — Also termed juristic act; act of the party; legal act.

act of hostility. See ACT OF HOSTILITY.

act of law. See act of the law.

act of omission. See negative act.

act of the law. The creation, extinction, or transfer of a right by the operation of the law itself, without any consent on the part of the persons concerned. — Also termed legal act; act of law. Cf. LEGAL ACT.

act of the party. See act in the law.

administrative act. An act made in a management capacity; esp., an act made outside the actor's usual field (as when a judge supervises court personnel). • An administrative act is often subject to a greater risk of liability than an act within the actor's usual field. See IMMUNITY(1).

bilateral act. An act that involves the consenting wills of two or more distinct parties, as with a contract, a conveyance, a mortgage, or a lease; AGREEMENT(1).

conversionary act. An act that, unless privileged, makes the actor liable for conversion.

external act. An act involving bodily activity, such as speaking.

intentional act. An act resulting from the actor's will directed to that end. • An act is intentional when it is foreseen and desired by the doer, and this foresight and desire resulted in the act through the operation of the will.

internal act. An act of the mind, such as thinking.

judicial act. An act involving the exercise of judicial power. — Also termed act of court.

“The distinction between a judicial and a legislative act is well defined. The one determines what the law is, and what the rights of parties are, with reference to transactions already had; the other prescribes what the law shall be in future cases arising under it.” Union Pacific R.R. v. United States, 99 U.S. 700, 721 (1878) (Field, J., dissenting).

jural act (jooor-*<<schwa>>*l). An act taken in the context of or in furtherance of a society's legal system. — Also termed jural activity.

“In order to identify an act as a jural act, it must be the kind of act that would be engaged in by someone who is enforcing a law, determining an infraction of the law, making or changing a law, or settling a dispute.” Martin P. Golding, Philosophy of Law 23 (1975).

juridical act. Civil law. A lawful volitional act intended to have legal consequences. Cf. abstract juridical act.

juristic act. See act in the law.

legal act. See LEGAL ACT.

ministerial act. An act performed without the independent exercise of discretion or judgment. • If the act is mandatory, it is also termed a ministerial duty. See ministerial duty under DUTY(2).

negative act. The failure to do something that is legally required; a nonoccurrence that involves the breach of a legal duty to take positive action. • This takes the form of either a forbearance or an omission. — Also termed act of omission.

negligent act. An act that creates an unreasonable risk of harm to another.

predicate act. See PREDICATE ACT.

quasi-judicial act. See QUASI-JUDICIAL ACT.

tortious act. An act that subjects the actor to liability under the principles of tort law.

unilateral act. An act in which there is only one party whose will operates, as in a testamentary disposition, the exercise of a power of appointment, or the voidance of a voidable contract.

unintentional act. An act not resulting from the actor's will toward what actually takes place.

verbal act. 1. An act performed through the medium of words, either spoken or written. 2. Evidence. A statement offered to prove the words themselves because of their legal effect (e.g., the terms of a will). • For this purpose, the statement is not considered hearsay.

3. The formal product of a legislature or other deliberative body; esp., STATUTE. • For the various types of acts, see the subentries under STATUTE.

ACTA DIURNA

acta diurna (ak-t<<schwa>> dI-<<schwa>>r-n<<schwa>>). [Latin “daily proceedings”] Roman law. A public register of the daily proceedings of the senate, assemblies of the people, or the courts.

ACT AND DEED

act and deed. 1. A formally delivered written instrument that memorializes a bargain or transaction. 2. Hist. Words in a traditional spoken formula used when signing a legal instrument. • Immediately after signing, the party would touch the seal and declare, “I deliver this as my act and deed.”

ACT AND WARRANT

act and warrant.Scots law.A sheriff's order appointing a trustee in bankruptcy, upon which the trustee assumes office and becomes vested with the bankruptcy estate.

ACTA PUBLICA

acta publica (ak-t<<schwa>> p<<schwa>>b-li-k<<schwa>>), n. pl.[Latin] Roman & civil law. Things of general knowledge and concern; matters transacted before certain public officers.

ACTE

acte (akt), n.[French] French law. 1. An instrument; a proof in writing, such as a deed, bill of sale, or birth certificate.

acte authentique (akt oh-tawn-teek). A deed executed with certain prescribed formalities, in the presence of a notary or other official.

acte de décès (akt d<<schwa>> day-say). A death certificate.

acte de francisation (akt d<<schwa>> frangk<<schwa>>-za-syawn). A certificate confirming that a ship is of French nationality.

acte de mariage (akt d<<schwa>> mar-yahzh). A marriage certificate.

acte de naissance (akt d<<schwa>> nay-s<<schwa>>nts). A birth certificate.

acte de notoriété.A deposition made before a notary to record and preserve a claim, usu. to property. • Historically, most actes de notoriété were conducted to establish the identity and genealogy of a purported heir. The depositions were subject to exclusion as hearsay. But an acte de notoriété may also appear in a chain of title. See United States v. Repentigny, 72 U.S. 211 (1866).

acte extrajudiciaire (akt eks-tr<<schwa>>-zhuu-dee-syair). A document served by a huissier at the request of one party on another party without legal proceedings. See HUISSIER(1).

l'acte de l'état civil (lakt d<<schwa>> lay-tah see-veel). A public document relating to status (e.g., birth, divorce, death).

2. An act; conduct.

acte d'héritier (akt day-ri-tyay). [French "act of an heir"] Conduct by an heir indicating an intent to accept the succession.

ACTING

acting,adj. Holding an interim position; serving temporarily <an acting director>.

ACTING CHARGÉ D'AFFAIRES

acting chargé d'affaires.See CHARGÉ D'AFFAIRES.

ACTING EXECUTOR

acting executor.See EXECUTOR.

ACTING OFFICER

acting officer. See OFFICER(1).

ACT IN PAIS

act in pais. See ACT.

ACT IN THE LAW

act in the law. See ACT.

ACTIO

actio (ak-shee-oh alsoak-tee-oh), n. [Latin] 1. Roman & civil law. An action; a right or claim. 2. A right of action. [Cases: Action 1. C.J.S. Actions §§ 2–9, 11, 17, 21, 32–33, 36.] 3. Hist. At common law, a lawsuit. Pl. actiones (ak-shee-oh-nee-z).

actio ad exhibendum (ak-shee-oh ad ek-si-ben-d<<schwa>>m). Roman law. An action to compel a defendant to produce property so as to establish that it is in the defendant's possession. Pl. actiones ad exhibendum.

actio aestimatoria (ak-shee-oh es-ti-m<<schwa>>-tor-ee-<<schwa>>). See DE AESTIMATO.

actio arbitraria (ak-shee-oh ahr-bi-trair-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action in which a judge issued an interlocutory decree ordering the defendant to do something (such as restoring property to the plaintiff) on pain of a monetary judgment payable to the plaintiff. • This action was so called because the judge could assess the damage at a high figure if the defendant failed to comply with the interlocutory order. Pl. actiones arbitrarie (ak-shee-oh-nee-z ahr-bi-trair-ee-I).

actio auctoritas (ak-shee-oh awk-tor-i-tas). Roman law. A seller's guarantee against eviction from mancipated land coupled with a promise to pay twice the sale price as damages if the buyer is evicted. • The guarantee was implicit in the mancipation process. See MANCIPATION.

actio bonae fidei (ak-shee-oh boh-nee fi-dee-I). Roman law. One of a class of actions in which a judge could take equitable considerations into account in rendering a decision. Pl. actiones bonae fidei.

actio calumniae (ak-shee-oh k<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m-nee-ee). Roman law. An action to restrain, or collect damages for, a malicious civil suit. • The victim could also pursue criminal charges. Pl. actiones calumniae. See CALUMNIA.

actio civilis (ak-shee-oh s<<schwa>>-vi-lis). [Latin “a civil action”] Roman law. An action founded on the traditional Roman law, rather than the innovations of magistrates. Pl. actiones civiles. Cf. actio honoraria.

actio commodati (ak-shee-oh kom-<<schwa>>-day-ti). [Latin “action on loan”] Roman law. An action for the recovery of a thing gratuitously lent but not returned to the lender. — Also termed commodati actio. Pl. actiones commodati. See COMMODATUM.

actio commodati contraria (ak-shee-oh kom-<<schwa>>-day-tl k*<<schwa>>n-trair-ee-<<schwa>>*). Roman law. An action by a gratuitous borrower against a lender for extraordinary expenses or damage caused by the lender's default. Pl. actiones commodati contrariae.

actio commodati directa (ak-shee-oh kom-<<schwa>>-day-tl di-rek-t*<<schwa>>*). Roman law. An action by a lender against a borrower for restitution for an item gratuitously lent. Pl. actiones commodati directae.

actio condictio indebiti (ak-shee-oh k*<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh in-deb-<<schwa>>*-tl). See condictio indebiti under CONDICTIO. • Strictly speaking, the headword is a solecism, since a condictio is a type of actio, but this phrase is occasionally found in legal literature. Pl. actiones condictio indebiti.

actio conducti (ak-shee-oh k*<<schwa>>n-d<<schwa>>*k-tl). [Latin “action for the thing hired”] An action by the lessee of a thing or the hirer of another's services to enforce the contract or claim damages for breach. — Also termed actio ex conducto. Cf. actio locati.

actio confessoria (ak-shee-oh kon-f*<<schwa>>-sor-ee-<<schwa>>*). [Latin “action based on an admission”] 1. See vindicatio servitutis under VINDICATIO. 2. An action in which the defendant admits liability but does not express it in a fixed sum. • A judge therefore assesses the damages.

actio contraria (ak-shee-oh k*<<schwa>>n-trair-ee-<<schwa>>*). Roman law. A counterclaim. Pl. actio contra-ria. Cf. actio directa.

actio criminalis (ak-shee-oh kri-m*<<schwa>>*-nay-lis). Roman law. A criminal action. Pl. actiones criminales.

actio damni injuria (ak-shee-oh dam-nl in-joor-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action for damages for tortiously causing pecuniary loss. Pl. actiones damni injuriae. See actio legis Aquiliae.

actio de communi dividundo (ak-shee-oh dee k*<<schwa>>-myoo-nl di-vi-d<<schwa>>*n-doh). [Latin “for dividing a thing held in common”] Roman & civil law. An action to partition common property. — Sometimes shortened to de communi dividundo. Pl. actiones de communi dividundo. See ADJUDICATIO.

actio de dolo malo (ak-shee-oh dee doh-loh mal-oh). Roman law. An action of fraud. • This type of action was widely applied in cases involving deceitful conduct. — Also termed actio doli. Pl. actiones de dolo malo.

actio de in rem verso (ak-shee-oh dee in rem v*<<schwa>>*r-soh). See action de in rem verso under ACTION(4). Pl. actiones de in rem verso.

actio de pauperie (ak-shee-oh dee paw-p*<<schwa>>*r-ee). Roman law. An action for harm done by a domestic four-legged animal. • The owner could either pay for the damage or surrender the animal to the injured party. Justinian extended this action to include wild animals in some circumstances. See PAUPERIES.

actio de peculio (ak-shee-oh dee p<<schwa>>-kyoo-lee-oh). Roman law. An action against a paterfamilias or slave owner concerning the value of the child's or slave's separate funds (peculium). Pl. actiones de peculio.

actio de pecunia constituta (ak-shee-oh dee p<<schwa>>-kyoo-nee-<<schwa>>kon-sti-t[y]oo-t<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action on a promise to pay a preexisting debt. Pl. actiones de pecunia constituta.

actio depositi contraria (ak-shee-oh di-poz-<<schwa>>-tĭ k<<schwa>>n-trair-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action that a depositary has against the depositor for unpaid expenses. Pl. actiones depositi contrariae.

actio depositi directa (ak-shee-oh di-poz-<<schwa>>-tĭ di-rek-t<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action that a de-positor has against a depositary for the return of the deposited item. Pl. actiones depositi directae.

actio de tigno juncto (ak-shee-oh dee tig-noh j<<schwa>>ngk-toh). [Latin "action for joining timber"] Roman law. An action by the owner of material incorporated without payment into the defendant's building. • It was akin to a theft action. The plaintiff could recover up to twice the value of the material. Pl. actiones de tigno juncto.

actio directa (ak-shee-oh di-rek-t<<schwa>>). Roman law. 1. An action founded on strict law and conducted according to fixed forms; an action based on clearly defined obligations actionable at law based on a statute or a praetor's edict. 2. A direct action, as opposed to a counterclaim (actio contraria). Cf. actio in factum; actio utilis. Pl. actiones directae.

actio doli (ak-shee-oh doh-II). See actio de dolo malo.

actio empti (ak-shee-oh emp-tĭ). Roman law. An action by a buyer to compel a seller to deliver the item sold or for damages for breach of contract. — Also termed actio ex empto. Pl. actiones empti.

actio ex conducto (ak-shee-oh eks k<<schwa>>n-d<<schwa>>k-toh). See actio conducti. Pl. actiones ex con-ducto.

actio ex contractu (ak-shee-oh eks k<<schwa>>n-trak-t[y]oo). Roman law. An action arising out of a contract. • This term had a similar meaning at common law. Pl. actiones ex contractu.

actio ex delicto (ak-shee-oh eks d<<schwa>>-lik-toh). Roman law. An action founded on a tort. Pl. actiones ex delicto.

actio ex empto (ak-shee-oh eks emp-toh). See actio empti.

actio exercitoria (ak-shee-oh eg-z<<schwa>>r-si-tor-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action against the owner or lessee (exercitor) of a vessel, esp. for contracts made by the master. Pl. actiones exercitoriae.

actio ex locato (ak-shee-oh eks loh-kay-toh). See actio locati.

actio ex stipulatu (ak-shee-oh eks stip-y<<schwa>>-lay-t[y]oo). Roman law. An action brought to enforce a stipulatio. See STIPULATION(3).

actio ex vendito (ak-shee-oh eks ven-d<<schwa>>-toh). See actio venditi.

actio familiae erciscundae (ak-shee-oh f<<schwa>>-mil-ee-ee <<schwa>>r-sis-k<<schwa>>n-dee). [Latin “action to divide an estate”] An action for the partition of the inheritance among heirs. — Sometimes shortened to familiae erciscundae. See ADJUDICATIO.

actio finium regundorum (ak-shee-oh fl-nee-<<schwa>>m ri-g<<schwa>>n-dor-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “action for regulation of boundaries”] Roman law. An action among neighboring proprietors to fix or to preserve property boundaries. See ADJUDICATIO.

actio furti (ak-shee-oh f<<schwa>>r-tI). Roman law. An action by which the owner of stolen goods can, according to the circumstances, recover a multiple of their value from the thief by way of penalty, without prejudice to a further action to recover the goods themselves or their value. See furtum manifestum under FURTUM.

actio honoraria (ak-shee-oh [h]on-<<schwa>>-rair-ee-<<schwa>>). Pl. actiones honorariae. See ACTIONES HONORARIAE.

actio hypothecaria (ak-shee-oh hI-poth-<<schwa>>-kair-ee-<<schwa>>). See HYPOTHECARIA ACTIO.

actio in factum (ak-shee-oh in fak-t<<schwa>>m). Roman law. An action granted by the praetor when no standard action was available. • The closest Anglo-American equivalent is action on the case or trespass on the case. See trespass on the case under TRESPASS. Cf. actio directa; actio utilis.

actio injuriarum (ak-shee-oh in-juur-ee-ahr-<<schwa>>m). Roman law. An action that lay against anyone who had attacked the body, reputation, or dignity of any person. — Also spelled actio iniuriarum. Pl. actiones inju-riarum (ak-shee-oh-nee-z in-juur-ee-ahr-<<schwa>>m).

actio in personam (ak-shee-oh in p<<schwa>>r-soh-n<<schwa>>m). Pl. actiones in personam. See action in personam under ACTION(4).

actio in rem (ak-shee-oh in rem). Pl. actiones in rem. See action in rem and real action under ACTION(4).

actio institoria (ak-shee-oh in-sti-tor-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] Roman law. An action against a principal by one who contracted with the principal's business agent, limited to matters arising out of the business. See INSTITOR.

actio iudicati (ak-shee-oh joo-di-kay-tI). Roman law. An action to enforce a judgment by execution on the de-fendant's property. Pl. actiones iudicati.

actio legis (ak-shee-oh lee-jis). See LEGIS ACTIO.

actio legis Aquiliae (ak-shee-oh lee-jis <<schwa>>-kwil-ee-ee). Roman law. An action under the Aquilian law; specif., an action to recover for loss caused by intentional or negligent damage to another's property. — Also termed actio damni injuria; actio damni injuria dati. See LEX AQUILIA.

actio locati (ak-shee-oh loh-kay-tī). [Latin “action for what has been hired out”] Roman law. An action that a lessor (the locator) of a thing might have against the hirer, or an employer against a contractor. — Also termed actio ex locato (ak-shee-oh eks loh-kay-toh). Cf. actio conducti.

actio mandati (ak-shee-oh man-day-tī). 1. Civil law. An action to enforce a contract for gratuitous services or remuneration. 2. Hist. An action to enforce a contract for gratuitous services. See MANDATUM. Pl. actiones mandati.

actio mixta (ak-shee-oh mik-st<<schwa>>). Roman law. A mixed action; an action in which two or more features are combined, as an action for damages and for a penalty, or an action in rem and in personam. Pl. actiones mixta (ak-shee-oh-nee-z mik-st<<schwa>>).

actio negatoria (ak-shee-oh neg-<<schwa>>-tor-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action brought by a landowner against anyone claiming to exercise a servitude over the landowner's property. — Also termed actio negativa. Pl. actiones negatoriae.

actio negotiorum gestorum (ak-shee-oh n<<schwa>>-goh-shee-or-<<schwa>>m jes-tor-<<schwa>>m). Roman law. An action against a gestor for the mismanagement of the principal's property, or for any acquisitions made in the course of management. • The gestor could bring a counteraction to recover management-related expenses (actio contraria negotiorum gestorum). Pl. actiones negotiorum gestorum. See NEGOTIORUM GESTOR.

actio non accrevit infra sex annos (ak-shee-oh non <<schwa>>-kree-vit in-fr<<schwa>> seks an-ohs). [Latin “the action did not accrue within six years”] Hist. A plea to the statute of limitations by which the defendant asserts that the plaintiff's cause of action has not accrued within the last six years. Pl. actiones non accreverant infra sex annos.

actio non ulterius (ak-shee-oh non <<schwa>>l-teer-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “an action no further”] Hist. The distinctive clause in a plea to abate further maintenance of the action. • This plea replaced the puis darrein continuance. Pl. actiones non ulterii. Cf. plea to further maintenance to the action, plea puis darrein continuance under PLEA.

actio Pauliana (ak-shee-oh paw-lee-ay-n<<schwa>>). [Latin “action attributed to Paul” or “Paulian action”] An action to rescind a transaction (such as alienation of property) that an insolvent debtor made to deceive the debtor's creditors. • This action was brought against the debtor or the third party who benefited from the transaction. Pl. actiones Paulianae.

“[A]ctio Pauliana, a name which has been shewn to be inserted by a glossator, after the first publication of the Digest. It lay where the debtor had impoverished himself to the detriment of his creditors, e.g. by alienations, by incurring liabilities or allowing rights to lapse, but not for failing to acquire or for paying just debts It lay against the debtor, who might have since acquired property But its chief field was against acquirers privy to the fraud, or even innocent, if the acquisition was gratuitous.” W.W. Buckland, A Text-Book of Roman Law from Augustus to Justinian 596 (Peter Stein ed., 3d ed. 1963).

actio perpetua (ak-shee-oh p<<schwa>>r-pech-oo-<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action that is not required to be brought within a specified time. Pl. actiones perpetuae. Cf. actio temporalis.

actio personalis (ak-shee-oh p<<schwa>>r-s<<schwa>>-nay-lis). Roman law. A personal action. Pl. actiones personales.

actio pignoratitia (ak-shee-oh pig-n<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>>-tish-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action of pledge; an action founded on a contract of pledge. — Also spelled actio pigneraticia; actio pignoratitia. — Also termed pignoratitia actio. Pl. actiones pignoratitiae. See PIGNUS.

actio poenalis (ak-shee-oh pi-nay-lis). Roman law. An action in which the plaintiff sued for a penalty rather than compensation. Pl. actiones poenales (ak-shee-oh-nee-z pi-nay-leez). Cf. actio rei persecutoria.

actio popularis (ak-shee-oh pop-y<<schwa>>-lair-is). [Latin “popular action”] Roman law. An action that a male member of the general public could bring in the interest of the public welfare. Pl. actiones populares (ak-shee-oh-nee-z pop-y<<schwa>>-lair-eez).

“Actiones populares. Actions which can be brought by ‘any one among the people.’ ... They are of praetorian origin and serve to protect public interest They are penal, and in case of condemnation of the offender the plaintiff receives the penalty paid There are instances, however, established in statutes or local ordinances, in which the penalty was paid to the state or municipal treasury, or divided between the aerarium and the accuser, as, e.g., provided in a decree of the Senate in the case of damage to aqueducts.” Adolf Berger, Encyclopedic Dictionary of Roman Law 347 (1953).

actio praejudicialis (ak-shee-oh pree-joo-dish-ee-ay-lis). Roman law. A preliminary action; an action begun to determine a preliminary matter on which other litigated matters depend. Pl. actiones praejudiciales.

actio praetoria (ak-shee-oh pri-tor-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman law. A praetorian action; one introduced by a praetor rather than founded on a statute. Pl. actiones praetoriae (ak-shee-oh-nee-z pri-tor-ee-I).

actio pro socio (ak-shee-oh proh soh-shee-oh). Roman law. An action brought by one partner against another. Pl. actiones pro socio. See SOCIETAS.

actio Publiciana (ak-shee-oh p<<schwa>>-blish-ee-ay-n<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action allowing a person who had acquired bonitary ownership of land to recover it from a third party, so that the person would in due course acquire full title by prescription. • This action is named for Publicius, who might have been the first praetor to grant the action. — Also termed actio Publiciana in rem. See bonitary ownership under OWNERSHIP.

actio quanti minoris (ak-shee-oh kwon-tI mi-nor-is). [Latin “an action for the shortfall in value”] Roman & civil law. A purchaser's action to recover for his overpayment for a defective item. Pl. actiones quanti minoris. Cf. actio redhibitoria.

“If a defect appeared which had not been so declared the buyer, if he sued within six months, could claim rescission of the sale by the actio redhibitoria, and, if within twelve months, could claim the difference between the price paid and the actual value of the defective slave or animal by the actio quanti minoris. In both actions the knowledge or ignorance of the seller was irrelevant: liability was strict.” Barry Nicholas, An Introduction to Roman Law 181 (1962).

actio quod jussu (ak-shee-oh kwod j<<schwa>>s-[y]oo). Roman law. An action against a paterfamilias or a slaveowner for enforcement of a debt contracted on behalf of the paterfamilias or slaveowner by a son or a slave.

actio quod metus causa (ak-shee-oh kwod mee-t<<schwa>>s kaw-z<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action to penalize someone who wrongfully compelled the plaintiff to transfer property or to assume an obligation. • The plaintiff could obtain damages of four times the value of the loss suffered. Pl. actiones quod metus causa.

actio realis (ak-shee-oh ree-ay-lis). [Law Latin] Hist. A real action. Pl. actiones reales.

actio redhibitoria (ak-shee-oh red-i-bi-tor-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman & civil law. An action for restoration to cancel a sale because of defects in the thing sold. Pl. actiones redhibitoriae. Cf. actio quanti minoris.

actio rei persecutoria (ak-shee-oh ree-I p<<schwa>>r-si-kyoo-tor-ee-<< schwa>>). [Law Latin “an action for pursuing a thing”] Roman law. An action to recover a specific thing or monetary compensation, rather than a penalty. Pl. actiones rei persecutoriae (ak-shee-oh-nee-z ree-I p<<schwa>>r-si-kyoo-tor-ee-I). Cf. actio poenalis.

actio rerum amotarum (ak-shee-oh reer-<<schwa>>m am-<<schwa>>-tair-<<schwa>>m). Roman law. An action to recover items stolen by a spouse shortly before a divorce. Pl. actiones rerum amotarum.

actio rescissoria (ak-shee-oh re-si-sor-ee-<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action to restore to the plaintiff property lost by prescription. • This action was available to minors and other persons exempt from prescriptive claims against their property. Pl. actiones rescissoriae.

actio serviana (ak-shee-oh s<<schwa>>r-vee-ay-n<<schwa>>). Roman law. An action by which a lessor could seize, in satisfaction of unpaid rent, the lessee's personal property brought onto the leased premises. Pl. actiones servianae.

actio servi corrupti (ak-shee-oh s<<schwa>>r-vI k<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>>p-tI). [Latin] Roman law. An action for corrupting a slave or servant. • Since the “corruption” could take the form of bribery to find out the master's confidential business information, one scholar suggested in a famous article that it could be the precursor of the modern law of trade secrets. A. Arthur Schiller, Trade Secrets and the Roman Law: The Actio Servi Corrupti, 30 Colum. L. Rev. 837 (1930). Other scholars strongly disagree (see quotation).

“The actio servi corrupti presumably or possibly could be used to protect trade secrets and other similar commercial interests. That was not its purpose and was, at most, an incidental spin-off. But there is not the slightest evidence that the action was ever so used.” Alan Watson, Trade Secrets and Roman Law: The Myth Exploded, 11 Tul. Eur. & Civ. L.F. 19, 19 (1996).

actio stricti juris (ak-shee-oh strik-t[ʃ]oor-is). Roman law. A class of personal actions enforceable exactly as stated in the formula without taking equitable considerations into account; an action of strict right. • This type of action was often used to recover a definite sum of money or a particular object that was the subject of a formal promise (stipulatio). Pl. actiones stricti juris. See FORMULA(1).

actio temporalis (ak-shee-oh tem-p[ə]schwa-ray-lis). Roman & civil law. An action that must be brought within a specified time. Pl. actiones temporales. Cf. actio perpetua.

actio tutelae (ak-shee-oh t[y]oo-tee-lee). Roman law. An action arising from a breach of the duty owed by a guardian (tutor) to the ward, such as mismanagement of the ward's property. Pl. actiones tutelae.

actio utilis (ak-shee-oh yoo-t[ə]schwa-lis). Roman law. An extension of a direct action, founded on utility rather than strict right, available esp. to persons having an interest in property less than ownership. • This type of action was modeled after the actio directa. Pl. actiones utiles. Cf. actio directa; actio in factum.

actio venditi (ak-shee-oh ven-d[ə]schwa-t[ɪ]). Roman law. An action by which a seller could obtain his price or enforce a contract of sale. — Also termed actio ex vendito. Pl. actiones venditi.

actio vi bonorum raptorum (ak-shee-oh v[ɪ] b[ə]schwa-nor[ə]schwa-m rap-tor[ə]schwa-m). Roman law. A penal action to recover goods taken by force. • A successful plaintiff would also receive three times the value of the taken property. Cf. INTERDICTUM QUOD VI AUT CLAM.

actio vulgaris (ak-shee-oh v[ə]schwa-l-gair-is). Hist. An ordinary action, as opposed to one granted in special circumstances. Pl. actiones vulgares.

legis actio. See LEGIS ACTIO.

ACTION

action. 1. The process of doing something; conduct or behavior. 2. A thing done; ACT(2). 3. Patents. OFFICE ACTION.

advisory action. Patents. See advisory office action under OFFICE ACTION.

4. A civil or criminal judicial proceeding. — Also termed action at law. [Cases: Action 1. C.J.S. Actions §§ 2–9, 11, 17, 21, 32–33, 36.] “An action has been defined to be an ordinary proceeding in a court of justice, by which one party prosecutes another party for the enforcement or protection of a right, the redress or prevention of a wrong, or the punishment of a public offense. But in some sense this definition is equally applicable to special proceedings. More accurately, it is defined to be any judicial proceeding, which, if conducted to a determination, will result in a judgment or decree. The action is said to terminate at judgment.” 1 Morris M. Estee, Estee's Pleadings, Practice, and Forms § 3, at 1 (Carter P. Pomeroy ed., 3d ed. 1885).

“The terms ‘action’ and ‘suit’ are nearly if not quite synonymous. But lawyers usually speak of proceedings in courts of law as ‘actions,’ and of those in courts of equity as ‘suits.’ In olden time there was a more marked distinction, for an action was considered as terminating when judgment was rendered, the execution forming no part of it. A suit, on the other hand, included the execution. The word 'suit,' as used in the Judiciary Act of 1784 and later Federal statutes, applies to any proceeding in a court of justice in which the plaintiff pursues in such court the remedy which the law affords him." Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 3 (2d ed. 1899).

“ ‘Action,’ in the sense of a judicial proceeding, includes recoupment, counterclaim, set-off, suit in equity, and any other proceeding in which rights are determined.” UCC § 1-201(b)(1).

action at law.A civil suit stating a legal cause of action and seeking only a legal remedy. See suit at law and suit in equity under SUIT.

action de die in diem (dee dI-ee in dI-em). [Law Latin “from day to day”] Hist. 1.An action occurring from day to day; a continuing right of action. 2. An action for trespass for each day that an injury continues.

“That trespass by way of personal entry is a continuing injury, lasting as long as the personal presence of the wrongdoer, and giving rise to actions de die in diem so long as it lasts, is sufficiently obvious.” R.F.V. Heuston, Salmond on the Law of Torts 42 (17th ed. 1977).

action de in rem verso (dee in rem v<<schwa>>r-soh). [Latin “action for money applied to (the defendant's) advantage”] 1.Roman & civil law. An action for unjust enrichment, in which the plaintiff must show that an enrichment was bestowed, that the enrichment caused an impoverishment, that there is no justification for the enrichment and impoverishment, and that the plaintiff has no other adequate remedy at law, including no remedy under an express or implied contract. 2.Roman law. An action brought against a paterfamilias or a slaveowner who benefited from the transaction of a child or slave. — Also termed (in both senses) actio de in rem verso.

action en declaration de simulation.Louisiana law. An action to void a contract. See simulated contract under CONTRACT.

action ex contractu (eks k<<schwa>>n-trak-t[y]oo). A personal action arising out of a contract. [Cases: Action 27. C.J.S. Actions § 85.]

“Actions ex contractu were somewhat illogically classified thus: covenant, debt, assumpsit, detinue, and account. The action of covenant lay where the party claimed damages for a breach of contract or promise under seal. The writ of debt lay for the recovery of a debt; that is, a liquidated or certain sum of money alleged to be due from defendant to plaintiff. The writ of detinue was the ancient remedy where the plaintiff claimed the specific recovery of goods, chattels, deeds, or writings detained from him. This remedy fell into disuse by reason of the unsatisfactory mode of trial of ‘wager of law,’ which the defendant could claim; and recourse was had to the action of replevin. In the American States an action of replevin founded upon statute provisions is almost universally the remedy for the recovery of specific personal property.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 5 (2d ed. 1899).

action ex delicto (eks d<<schwa>>-lik-toh). A personal action arising out of a tort. [Cases:

Action 27. C.J.S. Actions § 85.]

“The actions ex delicto were originally the action of trespass and the action of replevin.”
Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 5 (2d ed. 1899).

action for money had and received. At common law, an action by which the plaintiff could recover money paid to the defendant, the money usu. being recoverable because (1) the money had been paid by mistake or under compulsion, or (2) the consideration was insufficient. [Cases: Implied and Constructive Contracts 10–25. C.J.S. Implied and Constructive Contracts §§ 11–23.]

“The action for money had and received lay to recover money which the plaintiff had paid to the defendant, on the ground that it had been paid under a mistake or compulsion, or for a consideration which had wholly failed. By this action the plaintiff could also recover money which the defendant had received from a third party, as when he was accountable or had attorned to the plaintiff in respect of the money, or the money formed part of the fruits of an office of the plaintiff which the defendant had usurped.” Robert Goff & Gareth Jones, The Law of Restitution 3 (3d ed. 1986).

action for money paid. At common law, an action by which the plaintiff could recover money paid to a third party — not to the defendant — in circumstances in which the defendant had benefited. [Cases: Implied and Constructive Contracts 6. C.J.S. Implied and Constructive Contracts § 8.]

“The action for money paid was the appropriate action when the plaintiff's claim was in respect of money paid, not to the defendant, but to a third party, from which the defendant had derived a benefit. Historically, the plaintiff had to show that the payment was made at the defendant's request; but we shall see that the law was prepared to ‘imply’ such a request on certain occasions, in particular where the payment was made under compulsion of law or, in limited circumstances, in the course of intervention in an emergency on the defendant's behalf, which in this book we shall call necessitous intervention.” Robert Goff & Gareth Jones, The Law of Restitution 3 (3d ed. 1986).

action for poinding. Hist. A creditor's action to obtain sequestration of the land rents and goods of the debtor to satisfy the debt or enforce a distress.

action for the loss of services. Hist. A husband's lawsuit against one who has taken away, imprisoned, or physically harmed his wife in circumstances in which (1) the act is wrongful to the wife, and (2) the husband is deprived of her society or services. [Cases: Husband and Wife 209(3).]

action for the recovery of land. See EJECTMENT.

action in equity. An action that seeks equitable relief, such as an injunction or specific performance, as opposed to damages. See suit in equity under SUIT. [Cases: Action 21. C.J.S. Actions § 124.]

action in personam (in p<<schwa>>r-soh-n<<schwa>>m). 1. An action brought against a person rather than property. • An in personam judgment is binding on the judgment debtor and can be enforced against all the property of the judgment debtor. 2. An action in which the named defendant is a natural or legal person. — Also termed personal action; (in Roman and civil law) actio in personam; actio personalis. Pl. actiones in personam; actiones personales. See IN PERSONAM. [Cases: Action 16. C.J.S. Actions §§ 10–12, 66, 69, 71–72, 74–77.]

action in rem (in rem). 1. An action determining the title to property and the rights of the parties, not merely among themselves, but also against all persons at any time claiming an interest in that property; a real action. [Cases: Action 16. C.J.S. Actions §§ 10–12, 66, 69, 71–72, 74–77.] 2. Louisiana law. An action brought for the protection of possession, ownership, or other real rights in immovable property. La. Civ. Code arts. 3651 et seq. 3. Louisiana law. An action for the recovery of possession of immovable property. La. Civ. Code art. 526. — Also termed (in Roman law) actio in rem; actio realis; real action. Pl. actiones in rem. See IN REM. 4. An action in which the named defendant is real or personal property.

action of account. See ACCOUNTING(3).

action of assize. Hist. A real action by which the plaintiff proves title to land merely by showing an ancestor's possession. See ASSIZE.

action of book debt. See ACCOUNTING(4).

action of declarator. Scots law. An action brought in the Court of Session for the purpose of establishing a legal status or right. — Also termed declarator; action for declaratory.

action of ejectment. See EJECTMENT(3).

action of reprobator. See REPROBATOR.

action on account. See ACCOUNTING(4).

action on expenditure. An action for payment of the principal debt by a personal surety.

action on the case. See trespass on the case under TRESPASS.

action per quod servitium amisit (p<<schwa>>r kwod s<<schwa>>r-vish-ee-<< schwa>>m <<schwa>>-mI-sit). [Latin] Hist. An action for the loss of a servant's services.

action quasi in rem (kway-sI in remorkway-zI). An action brought against the defendant personally, with jurisdiction based on an interest in property, the objective being to deal with the particular property or to subject the property to the discharge of the claims asserted. See quasi in rem under IN REM. [Cases: Action 16. C.J.S. Actions §§ 10–12, 66, 69, 71–72, 74–77.]

action to quiet title. A proceeding to establish a plaintiff's title to land by compelling the adverse claimant to establish a claim or be forever estopped from asserting it. — Also termed quiet-title action. [Cases: Quieting Title 1. C.J.S. Quieting Title §§ 1, 3, 6.]

action to review judgment. Rare. 1. MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL. 2. A request for judicial review of a nonjudicial body's decision, such as an administrative ruling on a workers'-compensation claim. • The grounds for review are usu. similar to those for a new trial, esp. patent errors of law and new evidence.

amicable action. See test case (1) under CASE.

civil action. An action brought to enforce, redress, or protect a private or civil right; a noncriminal litigation. — Also termed (if brought by a private person) private action; (if brought by a government) public action. [Cases: Action 1. C.J.S. Actions §§ 2–9, 11, 17, 21, 32–33, 36.]

“The code of New York, as originally adopted, declared, ‘the distinctions between actions at law and suits in equity, and the forms of all such actions and heretofore existing, are abolished; and there shall be in this State hereafter but one form of action for the enforcement or protection of private rights and the redress of private wrongs, which shall be denominated a civil action.’ With slight verbal changes the above provision has been enacted in most of the States and Territories which have adopted the reformed procedure.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 106 (2d ed. 1899).

class action. See CLASS ACTION.

collusive action. An action between two parties who have no actual controversy, being merely for the purpose of determining a legal question or receiving a precedent that might prove favorable in related litigation. — Also termed fictional action. [Cases: Action 8. C.J.S. Actions §§ 34–35, 37.]

common-law action. An action governed by common law, rather than statutory, equitable, or civil law. [Cases: Action 21. C.J.S. Actions § 124.]

criminal action. An action instituted by the government to punish offenses against the public. [Cases: Action 18. C.J.S. Actions § 68.]

cross-action. An action brought by the defendant against the plaintiff based on the same subject matter as the plaintiff's action. See CROSS-CLAIM.

derivative action. See DERIVATIVE ACTION.

direct action. See DIRECT ACTION.

fictional action. See collusive action.

fictitious action. An action, usu. unethical, brought solely to obtain a judicial opinion on an issue of fact or law, rather than for the disposition of a controversy. [Cases: Action 8. C.J.S. Actions §§ 34–35, 37.]

hypothecary action (hI-poth-<<schwa>>-ker-ee). Roman & civil law. An action for the enforcement of a mortgage (hypotheca); a lawsuit to enforce a creditor's claims under a hypothec or hypothecation. — Also termed actio hypothecaria.

innominate action (i-nom-i-n-*<<schwa>>*t). An action that has no special name by which it is known. Cf. nominate action.

joint action. 1. An action brought by two or more plaintiffs. 2. An action brought against two or more defendants. [Cases: Action 50(4.1).]

local action. An action that can be brought only in the jurisdiction where the cause of action arose, as when the action's subject matter is a piece of real property. [Cases: Courts 7. C.J.S. Courts §§ 20–22, 37.]

matrimonial action. An action relating to the state of marriage, such as an action for separation, annulment, or divorce. [Cases: Divorce 1; Marriage 57. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 2, 5, 97–98; Marriage § 64.]

mixed action. An action that has some characteristics of both a real action and a personal action. [Cases: Action 30. C.J.S. Actions §§ 78–83.]

“In early times the only mixed actions were those for the partition of lands, for which a writ was provided in the common-law courts. The remedy was further enlarged by the statute of 31 Hen. VII c. 1, and 32 Hen. VIII c. 32, which gave compulsory partition, by writ at common law. These statutes formed the basis of partition in the American States; but in England and here courts of Chancery have been found most convenient, and their procedure most favorable for the division of estates in land. The statutes at the present time, in most of the States, prescribe a procedure which is quite similar to that in equity practice.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 10–11 (2d ed. 1899).

nominate action (nom-i-n<<schwa>>t). An action that is known by a name, such as a confessory action, a petitory action, or a possessory action. Cf. innominate action.

nonpersonal action. An action that proceeds within some category of territorial jurisdiction other than in personam — that is, jurisdiction in rem, quasi in rem, or over status.

penal action. 1. A criminal prosecution. [Cases: Action 18. C.J.S. Actions § 68.] 2. A civil proceeding in which either the state or a common informer sues to recover a penalty from a defendant who has violated a statute. • Although civil in nature, a penal action resembles a criminal proceeding because the result of a successful action is a monetary penalty intended, like a fine, to punish the defendant. See COMMON INFORMER. [Cases: Action 19. C.J.S. Actions § 70.]

“At one time it was a frequent practice, when it was desired to repress some type of conduct thought to be harmful, to do so by the machinery of the civil rather than of the criminal law. The means so chosen was called a penal action, as being brought for the recovery of a penalty; and it might be brought, according to the wording of the particular statute creating the penal action, either by the Attorney-General on behalf of the state, or by a common informer on his own account. A common informer was anyone who should first sue the offender for the penalty. Penal actions are still possible in a few cases, and their existence renders invalid several suggested distinctions between civil wrongs and crimes.” John Salmond, Jurisprudence 107 (Glanville L. Williams ed., 10th ed. 1947).

“For in ‘penal actions,’ unless the statute expressly authorizes private persons to act as informers, the State alone can sue and recover the penalty; and yet there is full authority for ranking such suits by it as merely civil proceedings.” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 538 (16th ed. 1952).

3. A civil lawsuit by an aggrieved party seeking recovery of a statutory fine or a penalty, such as punitive damages. [Cases: Action 19. C.J.S. Actions § 70.]

“[T]here exists a well-known class of proceedings called ‘penal actions,’ by which pecuniary penalties can be recovered — in some cases by any person who will sue for them — from the doers of various prohibited acts; these acts being thus prohibited, and visited with penalties, solely on account of their tendency to cause evil to the community at large, ‘considered as a community.’ For example, a person who, in advertising a reward for the return of lost property, adds that ‘no questions will be asked’ incurs by the Larceny Act, 1861, a penalty of £50 recoverable by anyone who will sue for it.” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 533–34 (16th ed. 1952).

personal action. 1. An action brought for the recovery of debts, personal property, or damages arising from any cause. — Also termed remedial action. [Cases: Action 30. C.J.S. Actions §§ 78–83.]

“Personal actions are subdivided into those brought for the recovery of a debt or of damages for the breach of a contract, or for tort, for some injury to the person or to relative rights or to personal or real property. The most common of these actions are debt, covenant, assumpsit, detinue, trespass, trespass on the case, trover, and replevin.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 34, at 65 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

2. See action in personam.

petitory action (pet-<<schwa>>-tor-ee). 1. Roman & civil law. An action to establish and enforce title to property independently of the right to possession. 2. Civil law. An action for the recognition of ownership or other real right in immovable (or sometimes movable) property. • In civil-law systems, the petitory action (revendication) is a much broader and more effective remedy than the rei-vindicatio, the Roman prototype. This action is based on, and tends to protect, real rights, that is, ownership and its dismemberments. It is therefore a real action, distinguishable from personal actions based on (and tending to protect) personal rights. Generally, the petitory action is available for the protection of the ownership of both movables and immovables. In Louisiana, however, the petitory action is for the recognition of ownership or other real right in immovable property, brought by a person who is not in possession of it. La. Code Civ. Proc. art. 3651. An action for the recognition of such a right in movable property is an innominate real action, known as a revendicatory action. — Also termed petitory suit; petitorium; revendication. [Cases: Real Actions 6.]

plenary action (plee-<<schwa>>-ree or plen-). A full hearing or trial on the merits, as opposed to a summary proceeding. Cf. summary proceeding under PROCEEDING.

possessory action (p-<<schwa>>-zes-<<schwa>>-ree). 1. An action to obtain, recover, or maintain possession of property but not title to it, such as an action to evict a nonpaying tenant. — Also termed possessorium. [Cases: Ejectment 17; Replevin 1. C.J.S. Ejectment § 24; Replevin §§ 2–7.]

“The possessory action is available for the protection of the possession of corporeal immovables as well as for the protection of the quasi-possession or real rights in immovable property. It is distinguished from the petitory action which is available for the recognition and enforcement of ownership or of real rights in another's immovable, such as a usufruct, limited personal servitudes, and predial servitudes.” A.N. Yiannopoulos, Civil Law Property § 333, at 653 (4th ed. 2001).

2.Maritime law. An action brought to recover possession of a ship under a claim of title. [Cases: Admiralty 8. C.J.S. Admiralty §§ 59–61.]

private action.See civil action.

public action.See civil action.

real action. 1. An action brought for the recovery of land or other real property; specif., an action to recover the possession of a freehold estate in real property, or seisin. 2.Civil law. An action based on, and tending to protect, a real right, namely, the right of ownership and its dismemberments. • It is distinguishable from a personal action, which is based on (and tends to protect) a personal right. 3.Louisiana law. An action brought for the protection of possession, ownership, or other real rights in immovable property.La. Code Civ. Proc. arts. 3651 et seq. — Also termed action in rem; actio in rem; actio realis. See SEISIN. [Cases: Real Actions 1–6.]

“If the question be asked why it was that a large part of the really English law which Bracton undertook to expound is found in connection with the subject of real actions, while in Blackstone's treatise only the personal actions are deemed worthy of attention, the answer must be that the former were dying out. When Chitty wrote (1808) the old real actions were practically obsolete, and in the succeeding generation such vestiges of them as remained were abolished by statute.” Hannis Taylor, The Science of Jurisprudence 574 (1908).

“The principal real actions formerly in use were (1) the writs of right; (2) the writs of entry; (3) the possessory assizes, such as novel disseisin and mort d'ancestor. Real actions are those in which the demandant seeks to recover seisin from one called a tenant, because he holds the land. They are real actions at common law because the judgment is in rem and awards the seisin or possession.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 32, at 63 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

redhibitory action.Civil law. An action brought to void a sale of a thing having a defect that renders it either useless or so flawed that the buyer would not have bought it in the first place. See REDHIBITION. [Cases: Sales 113; Vendor and Purchaser 123. C.J.S. Sales §§ 123, 128–129, 199; Vendor and Purchaser §§ 300–305.]

remedial action.1.REMEDIAL ACTION. 2. See personal action (1).

representative action.1.CLASS ACTION; 2.DERIVATIVE ACTION(1).

rescissory action.Scots law. An action to set aside a deed.

revendicatory action (ree-ven-di-k<<schwa>>-tor-ee). See petitory action.

separate action. 1. An action brought alone by each of several complainants who are all involved in the same transaction but either cannot legally join the suit or, not being required to join, choose not to join it. 2. One of several distinct actions brought by a single plaintiff against each of two or more parties who are all liable to a plaintiff with respect to the same subject matter. — Also termed several action.

several action. See separate action.

sham action. An objectively baseless lawsuit the primary purpose of which is to hinder or interfere with a competitor's business relationships. See Professional Real Estate Investors, Inc. v. Columbia Pictures Indus., Inc., 508 U.S. 49, 113 S.Ct. 1920 (1993). — Also termed sham lawsuit; sham suit. See SHAM EXCEPTION.

statutory action. An action governed by statutory law rather than equitable, civil, or common law. [Cases: Action 3. C.J.S. Actions §§ 22–25, 28.]

test action. See test case (2) under CASE.

third-party action. An action brought as part of a lawsuit already pending but distinct from the main claim, whereby a defendant sues an entity not sued by the plaintiff when that entity may be liable to the defendant for all or part of the plaintiff's claim. • A common example is an action for indemnity or contribution. [Cases: Parties 50. C.J.S. Parties §§ 128–131, 142, 151.]

transitory action. An action that can be brought in any venue where the defendant can be personally served with process. [Cases: Venue 4. C.J.S. Venue §§ 8–9.]

“Transitory actions are universally founded on the supposed violation of rights which, in contemplation of law, have no locality. They are personal actions, that is, they are brought for the enforcement of purely personal rights or obligations. If the transaction on which the action is founded could have taken place anywhere, the action is generally regarded as transitory; but if the transaction could only have happened in a particular place ... the action is local. Some authorities, considering the effect of the distinction, define transitory actions as actions which may be tried wherever defendant may be found and served.” 92 C.J.S. Venue § 8, at 678–79 (1955).

Action. A former independent federal agency that administered various volunteer-services programs including Foster Grandparents, Retired Senior Volunteers, Senior Companions, Volunteers in Service to America, and Student Community Service Projects. • Its functions were transferred to the Corporation for National and Community Service in 1995. See CORPORATION FOR NATIONAL AND COMMUNITY SERVICE .

ACTION, CAUSE OF

action, cause of. See CAUSE OF ACTION.

ACTION, FORM OF

action, form of. See FORM OF ACTION.

ACTION, RIGHT OF

action, right of. See RIGHT OF ACTION.

ACTIONABLE

actionable, adj. Furnishing the legal ground for a lawsuit or other legal action <intentional interference with contractual relations is an actionable tort>.

actionable per quod (p<<schwa>>r kwod). (Of potentially defamatory words) not inherently defamatory and therefore requiring allegation and proof of special damages. • For example, if the defendant says, "The plaintiff is crazy," the utterance is actionable per quod. That is, the plaintiff must prove, in addition to the utterance, that the defendant intended the words to mean that the plaintiff was mentally impaired or deficient in business or professional capacity, and that these words caused the plaintiff to suffer special damages. See PER QUOD.

actionable per se (p<<schwa>>r say). (Of defamatory words) legally and conclusively presumed defamatory. • In the law of defamation, words actionable per se are inherently libelous or slanderous. For example, if a person says of a fiduciary, "That person embezzles client funds," the utterance is actionable per se. The plaintiff does not have to allege or prove special damages. See PER SE.

"The terminology 'actionable per se' has proven treacherous, in that it has invited confusion with another doctrine which obtains in defamation cases. This is the doctrine which distinguishes between words (such as, 'You are a thief') which convey a defamatory meaning on their face, and, on the other hand, words of veiled detraction whose offense is apparent only when the context and circumstances are revealed. The former are sometimes said to be defamatory 'per se' or slanderous 'per se' or libelous 'per se,' whereas the latter, to be properly pleaded, must have an accompanying 'innuendo' or explanation. Clearly this requirement has no relationship to the other rule, that certain slanders are and others are not actionable without a showing of special damage, but the use of the phrase 'per se' in both connections has produced confusion, and we find many American courts adopting the practice of requiring, in cases where the defamation, whether slander or libel, must be explained by an 'innuendo' to reveal its defamatory meaning, that special damages be also pleaded." Charles T. McCormick, Handbook on the Law of Damages § 113, at 417 (1935).

ACTIONABLE NEGLIGENCE

actionable negligence. See NEGLIGENCE(1).

ACTIONABLE NUISANCE

actionable nuisance. See NUISANCE(3).

ACTIONABLE PER QUOD

actionable per quod. See ACTIONABLE.

ACTIONABLE PER SE

actionable per se. See ACTIONABLE.

ACTIONABLE WORD

actionable word. A term that is defamatory in itself. See libel per se under LIBEL. [Cases: Libel and Slander 6–14. C.J.S. Libel and Slander; Injurious Falsehood §§ 2, 5, 10–12, 17–42, 104.]

ACTION AGENDA

action agenda. See action calendar under CALENDAR(4).

ACTIONARE

actionare (ak-shee-<<schwa>>-nair-ee), vb. [Law Latin] To bring an action; to sue.

ACTION AT LAW

action at law. See ACTION(4).

ACTION CALENDAR

action calendar. See CALENDAR(4).

ACTIONE DIE IN DIEM

action de die in diem. See ACTION(4).

ACTIONE IN REM VERSO

action de in rem verso. See ACTION(4).

ACTIO NEGATIVA

actio negativa. See actio negatoria under ACTIO.

ACTIO NEGATORIA

actio negatoria. See ACTIO.

ACTIO NEGOTIORUM GESTORUM

actio negotiorum gestorum. See ACTIO.

ACTIONEM NON HABERE DEBET

actionem non habere debet. See ACTIO NON.

ACTION EN DECLARATION DE SIMULATION action en declaration de simulation. See ACTION(4).

ACTIONES HONORARIAE

actiones honorariae (ak-shee-oh-nee-z [h]on-<<schwa>>-rair-ee-I). A praetorian action; a class of equitable actions introduced by the praetors to prevent injustices.

ACTIONES LEGIS

actiones legis. See LEGIS ACTIO.

ACTIONES NOMINATAE

actiones nominatae (ak-shee-oh-nee-z nom-<<schwa>>-nay-tee), n. pl.[Latin “named actions”]
Hist. Actions for which the Chancery had well-established forms. See CASU CONSIMILI.

ACTIONES POENALES

actiones poenales (ak-shee-oh-nee-z pee-nay-lee-z), n. pl.[Latin “penal actions”] See actio poenalis under ACTIO.

ACTION EX CONTRACTU

action ex contractu.See ACTION(4).

ACTION EX DELICTO

action ex delicto.See ACTION(4).

ACTION FOR DECLARATOR

action for declarator.See DECLARATOR.

ACTION FOR DECLARATORY

action for declaratory.See action of declarator under ACTION(4).

ACTION FOR MONEY HAD AND RECEIVED

action for money had and received.See ACTION(4).

ACTION FOR MONEY PAID

action for money paid.See ACTION(4).

ACTION FOR POINDING

action for poinding.See ACTION(4).

ACTION FOR THE LOSS OF SERVICES

action for the loss of services.See ACTION(4).

ACTION FOR THE RECOVERY OF LANDACTION IN EQUITY

action in equity.1.ACTION. 2. See suit in equity under SUIT.

ACTION IN PERSONAM

action in personam.See ACTION(4).

ACTION IN REM

action in rem.See ACTION(4).

ACTION OF ACCOUNTACTION OF ASSIZE

action of assize. See ACTION(4).

ACTION OF BOOK DEBTACTION OF DEBT

action of debt. See CONDICTION.

ACTION OF DECLARATOR

action of declarator. See ACTION(4).

ACTION OF EJECTMENTACTION OF REPROBATOR*ACTIO NON

actio non (ak-shee-oh non). [Latin "an action not"] Hist. A declaration in a special plea denying the plaintiff's right to maintain the action. • The full phrase was actionem non habere debet (ought not to have or maintain the action). See special plea under PLEA.

ACTION ON ACCOUNTACTIO NON ACCREVIT INFRA SEX ANNOS<TT>

actio non accrevit infra sex annos. See ACTIO.

ACTION ON DECISION

action on decision. A legal memorandum from attorneys in the Internal Revenue Service's litigation division to the Service's Chief Counsel, containing advice on whether the Service should acquiesce, appeal, or take some other action regarding a court's decision that is unfavorable to the Service. — Abbr. AOD.

ACTION ON EXPENDITURE

action on expenditure. See ACTION(4).

ACTION ON THE CASEACTIO NON ULTERIUS

actio non ulterius. See ACTIO.

ACTIO NOXALIS

actio noxalis (ak-shee-oh nok-say-lis), n. See NOXAL ACTION.

ACTION PER QUOD SERVITIUM AMISIT

action per quod servitium amisit. See ACTION(4).

ACTION QUASI IN REM

action quasi in rem. See ACTION(4).

ACTION TO QUIET TITLE

action to quiet title. See ACTION(4).

ACTION TO REVIEW JUDGMENT

action to review judgment. See ACTION(4).

ACTIO PAULIANA

actio Pauliana. See ACTIO.

ACTIO PERPETUA

actio perpetua. See ACTIO.

ACTIO PERSONALIS

actio personalis. See ACTIO.

ACTIO PIGNERATITIA

actio pignoratitia. See ACTIO.

ACTIO POENALIS

actio poenalis. See ACTIO.

ACTIO POPULARIS

actio popularis. See ACTIO.

ACTIO PRAEJUDICIALIS

actio praejudicialis. See ACTIO.

ACTIO PRAETORIA

actio praetoria. See ACTIO.

ACTIO PRO SOCIO

actio pro socio. See ACTIO.

ACTIO PUBLICIANA

actio Publiciana. See ACTIO.

ACTIO PUBLICIANA IN REM

actio Publiciana in rem. See actio Publiciana under ACTIO.

ACTIO QUANTI MINORIS

actio quanti minoris. See ACTIO.

ACTIO QUOD JUSSU

actio quod jussu. See ACTIO.

ACTIO QUOD METUS CAUSA

actio quod metus causa. See ACTIO.

ACTIO REALIS

actio realis. See ACTIO.

ACTIO REDHIBITORIA

actio redhibitoria. See ACTIO.

ACTIO REI PERSECUTORIA

actio rei persecutoria. See ACTIO.

ACTIO RERUM AMOTARUM

actio rerum amotarum. See ACTIO.

ACTIO RESCISSORIA

actio rescissoria. See ACTIO.

ACTIO SERVIANA

actio serviana. See ACTIO.

ACTIO SERVI CORRUPTI

actio servi corrupti. See ACTIO.

ACTIO STRICTI JURIS

actio stricti juris. See ACTIO.

ACTIO TEMPORALIS

actio temporalis. See ACTIO.

ACTIO TUTELAE

actio tutelae. See ACTIO.

ACTIO UTILIS

actio utilis. See ACTIO.

ACTIO VENDITI

actio venditi. See ACTIO.

ACTIO VI BONORUM RAPTORUM

actio vi bonorum raptorum. See ACTIO.

ACTIO VULGARIS

actio vulgaris. See ACTIO.

ACTIVE ADOPTION-REGISTRY STATUTE

active adoption-registry statute. See ADOPTION-REGISTRY STATUTE.

ACTIVE BREACH OF CONTRACT

active breach of contract. See BREACH OF CONTRACT.

ACTIVE CASE

active case. See CASE.

ACTIVE CONCEALMENT

active concealment. See CONCEALMENT.

ACTIVE CONDUCT

active conduct. See CONDUCT.

ACTIVE-CONTROL-OF-VESSEL DUTY

active-control-of-vessel duty. See ACTIVE-OPERATIONS DUTY.

ACTIVE DEBT

active debt. See DEBT.

ACTIVE DUTY

active duty. 1. Military law. The full-time status of being in any of the U.S. armed forces. 2. See positive duty under DUTY(1).

ACTIVE EUTHANASIA

active euthanasia. See EUTHANASIA.

ACTIVE INCOME

active income. See INCOME.

ACTIVE INDUCEMENT

active inducement. See INDUCEMENT.

ACTIVE NEGLIGENCE

active negligence. See NEGLIGENCE.

ACTIVE-OPERATIONS DUTY

active-operations duty. Maritime law. A shipowner's obligation to provide safe working conditions, in the work areas that it controls, for the longshoremen who are loading or unloading the ship. — Also termed active-control-of-vessel duty. Cf. TURNOVER DUTY; INTERVENTION DUTY. [Cases: Shipping 84(3.2).]

ACTIVE SUPERVISION

active supervision. Antitrust. Under the test for determining whether a private entity may claim a state-action exemption from the antitrust laws, the right of the state to review the entity's anticompetitive acts and to disprove those acts that do not promote state policy. See STATE-ACTION DOCTRINE; MIDCAL TEST. [Cases: Monopolies 12(15.5). C.J.S. Monopolies §§ 136, 138–143.]

“The active supervision requirement stems from the recognition that where a private party is engaging in the anticompetitive activity, there is a real danger that he is acting to further his own interests, rather than the governmental interests of the State. The requirement is designed to ensure that the state-action doctrine will shelter only the particular anticompetitive acts that, in the judgment of the State, actually further state regulatory policies. To accomplish this purpose, the active supervision requirement mandates that the State exercise ultimate control over the challenged anticompetitive conduct.” Patrick v. Burget, 486 U.S. 94, 100–01, 108 S.Ct. 1658, 1663 (1988).

ACTIVE TRUST

active trust. See TRUST.

ACTIVE WASTE

active waste. See commissive waste under WASTE(1).

ACTIVITY

activity. 1. The collective acts of one person or of two or more people engaged in a common enterprise. 2. MARKET VOLUME.

ACTIVITY INCIDENT TO SERVICE

activity incident to service. An act undertaken by a member of the armed forces as a part of a military operation or as a result of the actor's status as a member of the military. • For example, if a member of the military takes advantage of that status by flying home on a military aircraft, the flight is activity incident to service, and a claim against the government for any injuries received may be barred under the Feres doctrine. See FERES DOCTRINE.

ACTO

acto (ahk-toh), n. Spanish law. 1. ACT(1). 2. ACT(2). 3. An action or lawsuit.

ACT OF ADJOURNAL

Act of Adjournal.Scots law. A regulation issued by the High Court of Justiciary to regulate procedure both in that court and in the lower criminal courts.

ACT OF ASSEMBLY

Act of Assembly.Scots law. A piece of legislation passed by the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland for governing the affairs of that church and its members.

ACT OF ATTAINDER

act of attainder.See BILL OF ATTAINDER.

ACT OF BANKRUPTCY

act of bankruptcy.An event, such as a debtor's fraudulent conveyance of property, that triggers an involuntary bankruptcy proceeding against a debtor. • The 1978 Bankruptcy Reform Act abolished this requirement as a condition to an involuntary bankruptcy proceeding. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2281. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 56.]

ACT OF COMMISSION

act of commission.See ACT.

ACT OF CONGRESS

act of Congress.A law that is formally enacted in accordance with the legislative power granted to Congress by the U.S. Constitution. • To become a law, or an act of Congress, a bill or resolution must be passed by a majority of the members of both the House of Representatives and the Senate. Bills or resolutions may generally be introduced in either chamber, except that bills for generating revenue must be introduced in the House of Representatives. When a bill or resolution is introduced in a chamber, it is usu. assigned to a committee. If it is passed by the committee, it is reported to the full chamber. If it passes in the full chamber, it is reported to the other chamber, which then usu. assigns it to a committee in that chamber. If it passes by majority votes of the committee and full body in that chamber, it is reported back to the originating chamber. If its terms have changed in the second chamber, it is submitted to a conference committee, consisting of members from both chambers, to work out a compromise. When the bill or resolution is passed, with the same terms, by both chambers, it is signed by the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate (usu. the President Pro Tempore), and is presented to the President of the United States for signature. If the President signs it or fails to return it to Congress within ten days, the bill or resolution becomes law. But if the President vetoes the bill or resolution, it must be passed by a two-thirds majority of the House of Representatives and the Senate to become law. U.S. Const. art. I, § 7; 3 The Guide to American Law 165–66 (West 1983).

ACT OF COURT

act of court. 1. See judicial act under ACT. 2.Scots law. A memorandum setting forth the proceedings in a lawsuit. 3.Scots law. A rule made by a sheriff regulating proceedings within the sheriffalty.

ACT OF GOD

act of God. An overwhelming, unpreventable event caused exclusively by forces of nature, such as an earthquake, flood, or tornado. • The definition has been statutorily broadened to include all natural phenomena that are exceptional, inevitable, and irresistible, the effects of which could not be prevented or avoided by the exercise of due care or foresight. 42 USCA § 9601(1). — Also termed act of nature; act of providence; superior force; vis major; irresistible superhuman force; vis divina. Cf. FORCE MAJEURE; unavoidable accident under ACCIDENT. [Cases: Contracts 303(3), 309(1). C.J.S. Contracts §§ 520–524.]

“Act of God may be defined as an operation of natural forces so unexpected that no human foresight or skill could reasonably be expected to anticipate it. It has been suggested that it also has the wider meaning of ‘any event which could not have been prevented by reasonable care on the part of anyone.’ This nearly identifies it with inevitable accident, but, however desirable this may be for scientific arrangement of the law, there is no sufficient authority to back this view.” P.H. Winfield, A Textbook of the Law of Tort § 16, at 45–46 (5th ed. 1950).

“As a technical term, ‘act of God’ is untheological and infelicitous. It is an operation of ‘natural forces’ and this is apt to be confusing in that it might imply positive intervention of the deity. This (at any rate in common understanding) is apparent in exceptionally severe snowfalls, thunderstorms and gales. But a layman would hardly describe the gnawing of a rat as an act of God, and yet the lawyer may, in some circumstances, style it such. The fact is that in law the essence of an act of God is not so much a positive intervention of the deity as a process of nature not due to the act of man, and it is this negative side which needs emphasis.” Id. at 47.

“[A]ll natural agencies, as opposed to human activities, constitute acts of God, and not merely those which attain an extraordinary degree of violence or are of very unusual occurrence. The distinction is one of kind and not one of degree. The violence or rarity of the event is relevant only in considering whether it could or could not have been prevented by reasonable care; if it could not, then it is an act of God which will relieve from liability, howsoever trivial or common its cause may have been. If this be correct, then the unpredictable nature of the occurrence will go only to show that the act of God in question was one which the defendant was under no duty to foresee or provide against. It is only in such a case that the act of God will provide a defence.” R.F.V. Heuston, Salmond on the Law of Torts 330 (17th ed. 1977).

ACT OF GRACE

act of grace. An act of clemency; esp., such an act performed at the beginning of a monarch's reign or at some other significant occasion.

ACT OF HONOR

act of honor. Commercial law. A transaction, memorialized in an instrument prepared by a notary public, evidencing a third person's agreement to accept, for the credit of one or more of the parties, a bill that has been protested. • The UCC eliminated this type of transaction.

ACT OF HOSTILITY

act of hostility. An event that may be considered an adequate cause for war; CASUS BELLI.
— Also termed hostile act.

ACT OF INDEMNITY

act of indemnity. 1. A statute that relieves specified persons, esp. government officials, from some penalty to which they might be subject as a result of having exceeded their powers or having otherwise acted illegally. 2. A statute that compensates persons for damage incurred as a result of some public measure or government service.

ACT OF LAW

act of law. 1. See act of the law under ACT; 2. LEGAL ACT.

ACT OF LEGISLATION

act of legislation. 1. A formal change in the law that existed previously. 2. A statute.

ACT OF NATURE

act of nature. 1. ACT OF GOD. 2. VIS MAJOR.

ACT OF OMISSION

act of omission. See negative act under ACT.

ACT OF PARLIAMENT

act of Parliament. A law made by the British sovereign, with the advice and consent of the lords and the commons; a British statute.

ACT OF PARLIAMENT OF SCOTLAND

act of Parliament of Scotland. 1. A statute passed by the Parliament of Scotland between its creation in the 14th century and 1707. 2. ACT OF THE SCOTTISH PARLIAMENT.

ACT OF PETITION

act of petition. Hist. A summary proceeding in which litigants provide brief statements supported by affidavit. • This procedure was used in the English High Court of Admiralty.

ACT OF POSSESSION

act of possession. 1. The exercise of physical control over a corporeal thing, movable or immovable, with the intent to own it. 2. Conduct indicating an intent to claim property as one's own; esp., conduct that supports a claim of adverse possession. [Cases: Adverse Possession 14–26. C.J.S. Adverse Possession §§ 30–47.]

ACT OF PROVIDENCE

act of providence. 1. ACT OF GOD. 2. VIS MAJOR.

ACT OF SALE

act of sale. An official record of a sale of property; esp., a document drawn up by a notary, signed by the parties, and attested by witnesses. [Cases: Sales 28. C.J.S. Sales §§ 68–73.]

ACT OF SEDERUNT

act of sederunt (s<<schwa>>-deer-<<schwa>>nt). Scots law. A regulation issued by the Court of Session to regulate procedure in that court or in the lower civil courts.

ACT OF SETTLEMENT

Act of Settlement. Hist. An act of Parliament (12 & 13 Will. 3, ch. 2 (1701)) that resolved the question of royal succession unsettled after the Glorious Revolution of 1688. • The question was resolved by limiting the Crown to Protestant members of the House of Hanover. The Act also provided that the sovereign must be a member of the Church of England, and it established that judges would hold office during good behavior rather than at the will of the sovereign.

ACT-OF-STATE DOCTRINE

act-of-state doctrine. Int'l law. The principle that no nation can judge the legality of a foreign country's sovereign acts within its own territory. • As originally formulated by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1897, the doctrine provides that “the courts of one country will not sit in judgment on the acts of the government of another done within its own territory.” Underhill v. Hernandez, 168 U.S. 250, 252, 18 S.Ct. 83, 84 (1897). The Supreme Court later declared that though the act-of-state doctrine is compelled by neither international law nor the Constitution, it has “institutional underpinnings.” Banco Nacional de Cuba v. Sabbatino, 376 U.S. 398, 423, 84 S.Ct. 923, 937 (1964). [Cases: International Law 10.9. C.J.S. International Law § 34.]

ACT OF SUPREMACY

Act of Supremacy. Hist. A statute that named the English sovereign as supreme head of the Church of England (26 Hen. 8, ch. 1). • The Act was passed in 1534 during Henry VIII's reign and confirmed in 1559 (1 Eliz., ch. 1) to counteract pro-Catholic legislation enacted during the reign of Mary Tudor. In addition to making the monarch both head of state and head of the church, the Act defined some of the monarch's powers as head of the church, such as the power to issue injunctions relating to ecclesiastical affairs.

ACT OF THE LAW

act of the law. See ACT.

ACT OF THE PARTY

act of the party. See act in the law under ACT.

ACT OF THE SCOTTISH PARLIAMENT

act of the Scottish Parliament. A statute passed by the Parliament of Scotland created by the Scotland Act of 1998. • It is typically cited by year, the letters ASP, and a serial number. — Also termed act of Parliament of Scotland.

ACT OF UNIFORMITY

Act of Uniformity.Hist. Any of several 16th- and 17th-century acts mandating uniform religious practices in England and Ireland; specif., an act requiring the use of the Book of Common Prayer.

ACT OF UNION

Act of Union.Any of several acts of Parliament uniting various parts of Great Britain. • The term applies to (1) the Laws in Wales Act (1535), which united Wales with England and made that principality subject to English law, and (2) the Union with Ireland Act (1800), which abolished the Irish Parliament and incorporated Ireland into the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. It is used loosely in reference to the Union with Scotland in 1707, which was made not by statute but by treaty, approved by separate acts of the parliaments of Scotland and England, which by the treaty dissolved each parliament and created the new state of Great Britain with one parliament, the Parliament of Great Britain.

ACTOR

actor. 1. One who acts; a person whose conduct is in question. 2.Archaic. A male plaintiff. 3.Hist. An advocate or pleader; one who acted for another in legal matters. Cf. REUS(1).4.Roman law. (ital.) A person who sues; a claimant. — Also termed (in sense 4) petitor. Pl. (in sense 4) actores.

ACTRIX

actrix (ak-triks).Archaic. A female plaintiff.

ACTS OF ASSEMBLY

acts of assembly.See SESSION LAWS.

ACTUAL

actual,adj. Existing in fact; real <actual malice>. Cf. CONSTRUCTIVE.

ACTUAL ABANDONMENT

actual abandonment.See ABANDONMENT(9).

ACTUAL AGENCY

actual agency.See AGENCY(1).

ACTUAL ALLEGIANCE

actual allegiance.See ALLEGIANCE.

ACTUAL ASSENT

actual assent.See ASSENT.

ACTUAL AUTHORITY

actual authority. See AUTHORITY(1).

ACTUAL BAILMENT

actual bailment. See BAILMENT.

ACTUAL BIAS

actual bias. See BIAS.

ACTUAL CAPITAL

actual capital. See CAPITAL.

ACTUAL CASH VALUE

actual cash value. See VALUE(2).

ACTUAL CAUSE

actual cause. See but-for cause under CAUSE(1).

ACTUAL CHANGE OF POSSESSION

actual change of possession. A real, rather than constructive, transfer of ownership. • A creditor of the transferor cannot reach property that has actually changed possession.

ACTUAL CONTROVERSY

actual controversy. 1. CONTROVERSY(2), (3).

ACTUAL DAMAGES

actual damages. See DAMAGES.

ACTUAL DELIVERY

actual delivery. See DELIVERY.

ACTUAL ESCAPE

actual escape. See ESCAPE(2).

ACTUAL EVICTION

actual eviction. See EVICTION.

ACTUAL FORCE

actual force. See FORCE.

ACTUAL FRAUD

actual fraud. See FRAUD.

ACTUAL-INJURY TRIGGER

actual-injury trigger. Insurance. The point at which an insured suffers damage or injury (such as the time of an automobile accident), so that there is an occurrence invoking coverage under an insurance policy. — Also termed injury-in-fact trigger. Cf. EXPOSURE THEORY; MANIFESTATION THEORY; TRIPLE TRIGGER .

ACTUAL INNOCENCE

actual innocence. See INNOCENCE.

ACTUAL KNOWLEDGE

actual knowledge. See KNOWLEDGE.

ACTUAL LOSS

actual loss. See LOSS.

ACTUALLY LITIGATED

actually litigated. (Of a claim that might be barred by collateral estoppel) properly raised in an earlier lawsuit, submitted to the court for a determination, and determined. • A party is barred by the doctrine of collateral estoppel from relitigating an issue that was actually litigated — usually including by summary judgment but not necessarily by default judgment — in an earlier suit involving the same parties, even if that suit involved different claims. Restatement (Second) of Judgments § 27 cmt. d (1980). [Cases: Judgment 720. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 757, 803, 813.]

ACTUAL MALICE

actual malice. See MALICE.

ACTUAL MARKET VALUE

actual market value. See fair market value under VALUE(2).

ACTUAL NOTICE

actual notice. See NOTICE.

ACTUAL PHYSICAL CONTROL

actual physical control. Direct bodily power over something, esp. a vehicle. • Many jurisdictions require a showing of “actual physical control” of a vehicle by a person charged with driving while intoxicated. [Cases: Automobiles 332. C.J.S. Motor Vehicles §§ 1382–1394.]

ACTUAL POSSESSION

actual possession. See POSSESSION.

ACTUAL REDUCTION TO PRACTICE

actual reduction to practice. See REDUCTION TO PRACTICE.

ACTUAL-RISK TEST

actual-risk test. The doctrine that, for an injured employee to be entitled to workers'-compensation benefits, the employee must prove that the injury arose from, and occurred in the course and scope of, employment. [Cases: Workers' Compensation 604–618. C.J.S. Workmen's Compensation §§ 365–373, 376–387.]

ACTUAL SEISIN

actual seisin. See seisin in deed under SEISIN.

ACTUAL SERVICE

actual service. See PERSONAL SERVICE(1).

ACTUAL TAKING

actual taking. See physical taking under TAKING(2).

ACTUAL TOTAL LOSS

actual total loss. See LOSS.

ACTUAL VALUE

actual value. See fair market value under VALUE(2).

ACTUARIAL EQUIVALENT

actuarial equivalent. The amount of accrued pension benefits to be paid monthly or at some other interval so that the total amount of benefits will be paid over the expected remaining lifetime of the recipient. [Cases: Annuities 6; Pensions 131. C.J.S. Annuities §§ 13–14, 17–20; Pensions and Retirement Plans and Benefits §§ 69, 86.]

ACTUARIALLY SOUND RETIREMENT SYSTEM

actuarially sound retirement system. A retirement plan that contains sufficient funds to pay future obligations, as by receiving contributions from employees and the employer to be invested in accounts to pay future benefits. Cf. NONACTUARIALLY SOUND RETIREMENT SYSTEM. [Cases: Pensions 48. C.J.S. Pensions and Retirement Plans and Benefits §§ 23–25, 27.]

ACTUARIAL METHOD

actuarial method. A means of determining the amount of interest on a loan by using the loan's annual percentage rate to separately calculate the finance charge for each payment period, after crediting each payment, which is credited first to interest and then to principal. [Cases: Interest 59. C.J.S. Interest and Usury; Consumer Credit § 74.]

ACTUARIAL PRESENT VALUE

actuarial present value. The amount of money necessary to purchase an annuity that would generate a particular monthly payment, or whatever periodic payment the plan provides, for the expected remaining life span of the recipient.

ACTUARIAL SURPLUS

actuarial surplus. An estimate of the amount by which a pension plan's assets exceed its expected current and future liabilities, including the amount expected to be needed to fund future benefit payments. [Cases: Pensions 104. C.J.S. Pensions and Retirement Plans and Benefits §§ 58, 60, 121, 127.]

ACTUARIAL TABLE

actuarial table. An organized chart of statistical data indicating life expectancies for people in various categories (such as age, family history, and chemical exposure). • Actuarial tables are usually admissible in evidence. — Also termed expectancy table; mortality table; mortuary table. Cf. LIFE TABLE.

ACTUARIUS

actuarium (ak-choo-air-ee-*<<schwa>>*s or ak-tyoo-), n. [Latin] Roman law. 1. A notary or clerk; a shorthand writer. 2. A keeper of public records.

ACTUARY

actuary (ak-choo-air-ee), n. A statistician who determines the present effects of future contingent events; esp., one who calculates insurance and pension rates on the basis of empirically based tables. — actuarial (ak-choo-air-ee-*<<schwa>>*l), adj.

ACTUM

actum (ak-t*<<schwa>>*m), n. [Latin] A thing done; an act or deed.

ACTUM ET TRACTATUM

actum et tractatum (ak-t*<<schwa>>m et trak-tay-t<<schwa>>*m). [Law Latin] Hist. (Of an instrument) done and transacted.

ACTUS

actus (ak-t*<<schwa>>*s), n. [Latin] 1. An act or action; a thing done. 2. Hist. An act of Parliament; esp., one passed by both houses but not yet approved by the monarch. Cf. STATUTUM(1). 3. Roman law. A servitude for driving cattle or a carriage across another's land. Cf. ITER(1). — Also termed (in sense 3) JUS ACTUS.

ACTUS ANIMI

actus animi (ak-t*<<schwa>>s an-<<schwa>>*-m). [Law Latin] Hist. An act of the mind; an intention. See ANIMUS.

“Again, consent, which is essential to all contracts, is an actus animi, and is presumed in all cases where the contract is ex facie regular.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 21–22 (4th ed. 1894).

ACTUS LEGITIMUS

actus legitimus (ak-t<<schwa>>s l<<schwa>>-jit-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. An act in the law; a juristic act; specif., an act the performance of which was accompanied by solemn rituals.

ACTUS PROXIMUS

actus proximus (ak-t<<schwa>>s prok-si-m<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. An immediate act, as distinguished from a preparatory act, esp. in the commission of a crime.

ACTUS REUS

actus reus (ak-t<<schwa>>s ree-<<schwa>>s alsoray-<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin "guilty act"] The wrongful deed that comprises the physical components of a crime and that generally must be coupled with mens rea to establish criminal liability; a forbidden act <the actus reus for theft is the taking of or unlawful control over property without the owner's consent>. — Also termed deed of crime; overt act. Cf. MENS REA. [Cases: Criminal Law 26.C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 44–45, 1110.]

“The word actus connotes a ‘deed,’ a physical result of human conduct. When criminal policy regards such a deed as sufficiently harmful it prohibits it and seeks to prevent its occurrence by imposing a penalty for its commission. It has long been the custom of lawyers to describe a deed so prohibited by law in the words actus reus. Thus actus reus may be defined as ‘Such result of human conduct as the law seeks to prevent.’ It is important to note that the actus reus, which is the result of conduct, and therefore an event, must be distinguished from the conduct which produced the result. For example, in a simple case of murder it is the victim's death (brought about by the conduct of the murderer) which is the actus reus; the mens rea is the murderer's intention to cause that death. In other words, the crime is constituted by the event, and not by the activity (or in certain cases, as we shall see, by the omission to act) which caused the event.” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 13 (16th ed. 1952).

“The phrase ‘deed of crime’ [= actus reus] as so used does not indicate the crime itself but merely one of the ingredients of crime; and this ingredient may be present without any crime at all, just as hydrogen is one of the ingredients of water but may be present without water. The words ‘deed of crime’ are so suggesting of the crime itself, however, that perhaps the Latin phrase ‘actus reus’ is less likely to cause confusion. The actus reus is es-sential to crime but is not sufficient for this purpose without the necessary mens rea, just as mens rea is essential to crime but is insufficient without the necessary actus reus.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 831 (3d ed. 1982).

ACUS

ACUS.abbr. ADMINISTRATIVE CONFERENCE OF THE UNITED STATES.

A.D.

A.D.abbr. ANNO DOMINI.

AD

ad (ad), prep. [Latin] At; by; for; near; on account of; to; until; upon; with relation to; concerning.

ADA

ADA.abbr.AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT.

AD ABUNDANTIOREM CAUTELAM

ad abundantio rem cautelam (ad ab-<<schwa>>n-dan-shee-or-<<schwa>>m kaw-tee-l<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. For more abundant caution. — Also termed ad cautelam ex superabundanti (ad kaw-tee-l<<schwa>>m eks s[y]oo-p<<schwa>>r-ab-<<schwa>>n-dan-tI).

AD ADMITTENDUM CLERICUM

ad admittendum clericum (ad ad-mi-ten-d<<schwa>>m kler-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] See DE CLERICO ADMITTENDO.

AD ALIUD EXAMEN

ad aliud examen (ad ay-lee-<<schwa>>d eg-zay-m<<schwa>>n), adv.[Law Latin] To another tribunal.

AD ALIUM DIEM

ad alium diem (ad ay-lee-<<schwa>>m dI-<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] To another day.

ADAPTATION RIGHT

adaptation right.Copyright. A copyright holder's exclusive right to prepare derivative works based on the pro-tected work. • For example, before a movie studio can make a film version of a book, it must secure the author's adaptation right. See DERIVATIVE WORK. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 12(3).]

AD ASSISAS CAPIENDAS

ad assisas capiendas (ad <<schwa>>-sIz-<<schwa>>s kap-ee-en-d<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] To take assizes; to hold assizes.

A DATO

a dato (ay day-toh), adv.[Law Latin] From the date. — Also termed a datu.

AD AUCTORITATEM PRAESTANDAM

ad auctoritatem praestandam (ad awk-tor-i-tay-t<<schwa>>m pree-stand-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. For interposing their authority. • The phrase typically referred to tutors or curators ad litem who provided authority but incurred no personal liability in exercising their office.

AD AUDIENDAM CONSIDERATIONEM CURIAE

ad audiendam considerationem curiae (ad aw-dee-en-d<<schwa>>m k<<schwa>>n-sid-<<schwa>>-ray-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m kyoor-ee-I), vb.[Law Latin] To hear the judgment of the court.

AD AUDIENDUM ET DETERMINANDUM

ad audiendum et determinandum (ad aw-dee-en-d<<schwa>>m et di-t<<schwa>>r-mi-nan-d<<schwa>>m), vb.[Law Latin] To hear and determine. See OYER ET TERMINER .

ADB

ADB.abbr.ACCIDENTAL-DEATH BENEFIT.

AD BARRAM

ad barram (ad bahr-<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] To the bar; at the bar.

AD BARRAM EVOCATUS

ad barram evocatus (ad bahr-<<schwa>>m ee-voh-kay-t<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Called to the bar. See CALL TO THE BAR.

AD CAMPI PARTEM

ad campi partem (ad kam-pIahr-t<<schwa>>m or -tem). [Law Latin] For a share of the field or land.

AD CAPTANDUM LUCRUM

ad captandum lucrum (ad cap-tan-d<<schwa>>m loo-kr<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. For the purpose of making gain.

AD CAPTUM VULGI

ad captum vulgi (ad kap-t<<schwa>>m v<<schwa>>l-jI). [Law Latin] Adapted to the common understanding. • The phrase appeared in reference to statutes concerning matters that people usu. handled without legal assistance.

AD CAUTELAM EX SUPERABUNDANTI

ad cautelam ex superabundanti.See AD ABUNDANTIOREM CAUTELAM.

AD CIVILEM EFFECTUM

ad civilem effectum (ad s<<schwa>>-vI-l<<schwa>>m e-fek-t<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. As to the civil effect. • The phrase appeared in reference to the effect of an act in a civil case, as distinguished from the effect of the same act in a criminal case.

AD COELUM DOCTRINE

ad coelum doctrine.The common-law rule that a landowner holds everything above and below the land, up to the sky and down to the earth's core, including all minerals. • This rule governs ownership of “hard” (immovable) minerals such as coal, but not “fugacious” (volatile) minerals such as oil and gas. Cf. RULE OF CAPTURE.

AD COELUM ET AD INFEROS

ad coelum et ad inferos.[Law Latin] Up to the sky and down to the center of the earth <the ownership of land extends ad coelum et ad inferos>.

AD COLLIGENDUM

ad colligendum (ad kol-i-jen-d<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] For collecting < administrator ad colligendum>.

AD COLLIGENDUM BONA DEFUNCTI

ad colligendum bona defuncti (ad kol-i-jen-d<<schwa>>m boh-n<<schwa>> di-f<<schwa>>ngk-tI). [Law Latin “for collecting the goods of the deceased”] Special letters of administration authorizing a person to collect and preserve a decedent's property.

AD COMMUNEM LEGEM

ad communem legem (ad k<<schwa>>-myoo-n<<schwa>>m lee-j<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin “to common law”] Hist. A writ of entry available after the death of a life tenant to recover a reversionary interest in land alienated by the tenant. — Also termed entry ad communem legem.

AD COMMUNE NOCUMENTUM

ad commune nocumentum (ad k<<schwa>>-myoo-nee nok-y<<schwa>>-men-t<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] To the common nuisance.

AD COMPARENDUM

ad comparendum (ad kom-p<<schwa>>-ren-d<<schwa>>m), vb.[Law Latin] To appear. • This term is part of the larger phrase ad comparendum, et ad standum juri (“to appear and to stand to the law”). — Also termed (in standard Latin) ad comparandum.

AD COMPUTUM REDDENDUM

ad computum reddendum (ad k<<schwa>>-m-pyoo-t<<schwa>>m ri-den-d<<schwa>>m), vb.[Law Latin] To render an account.

AD CONSIMILES CASUS

ad consimiles casus (ad k<<schwa>>-n-sim<<schwa>>-leez kay-s<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. To similar cases. See CONSIMILI CASU.

AD CONVINCENDAM CONSCIENTIAM JUDICIS

ad convincendam conscientiam judicis (ad kon-vin-sen-d<<schwa>>m kon-shee-en-shee-<<schwa>>m joo-di-sis). [Law Latin] Scots law. Sufficient to satisfy the moral conviction of the judge. • The phrase appeared in reference to circumstantial evidence that was admissible in paternity cases because direct proof was unavailable.

ADCORDABILIS DENARII

adcordabilis denarii (ad-kor-day-b<<schwa>>-lis di-nair-ee-I), n.[Latin] Hist. Money paid by a vassal to the lord upon the sale or exchange of a feud.

AD CULPAM

ad culpam (ad k<<schwa>>l-p<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] Until misconduct.

AD CURIAM

ad curiam (ad kyoor-ee-<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] At a court; to court.

AD CURIAM VOCARE

ad curiam vocare (ad kyoor-ee-<<schwa>>m voh-kair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] To summon to court.

AD CUSTAGIA

ad custagia (ad k<<schwa>>-stay-jee-<<schwa>>), adv.[Law Latin] At the costs.

AD CUSTUM

ad custum (ad k<<schwa>>s-t<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] At the cost.

ADD

add,n. Parliamentary law. A form of amendment that places new wording at the end of a motion or of a paragraph or other readily divisible part within a motion. See amendment by adding under AMENDMENT(3).

AD DAMNUM CLAUSE

ad damnum clause (ad dam-n<<schwa>>m). [Latin “to the damage”] A clause in a prayer for relief stating the amount of damages claimed. See PRAYER FOR RELIEF . [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 679; Pleading 72.C.J.S. Pleading §§ 110–115.]

“Where the amount the plaintiff is entitled to recover appears from the statement of facts — as where the amount due the plaintiff is alleged on breach of a money demand, the demand of judgment may take the place of an ad damnum clause.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 209 (2d ed. 1899).

ADDED DAMAGES

added damages.See punitive damages under DAMAGES.

AD DEFENDENDUM

ad defendendum (ad di-fen-den-d<<schwa>>m), vb.[Latin] To defend.

ADDENDUM

addendum (<<schwa>>-den-d<<schwa>>m). Something to be added, esp. to a document; a supplement.

ADDICENT

addicent (ad-i-sent), n. Roman law. One who transfers something by official authority.

ADDICERE

addicere (<<schwa>>-dis-<<schwa>>r-ee), vb.[Latin] Roman law. To adjudge, allot, or condemn.

ADDICT

addict (a-dikt), n. A person who habitually uses a substance, esp. a narcotic drug. [Cases: Chemical Dependents 1; Controlled Substances 38.C.J.S. Chemical Dependents §§ 2–3.] — addict (<<schwa>>-dikt), vb. — addictive,adj. — addiction,n.

drug addict.A person who is psychologically or physiologically dependent on a narcotic drug.

addict,vb.Roman law. 1. To adjudge (to); to deliver under court order. 2. More broadly, to surrender a thing (to someone else).

ADDICTIO

addictio (<<schwa>>-dik-shee-oh), n.[Latin] Roman law. The awarding by a magistrate of a person or thing to another, as the property of a debtor to a creditor, or as a form of conveyance. — Also termed addiction. Pl. addictiones (<<schwa>>-dik-shee-oh-nee-z).

ADDICTIO IN DIEM

addictio in diem (<<schwa>>-dik-shee-oh in dī-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “assignment for a fixed period” or “postponement to a date”] Roman law. A clause in a contract of sale in which the parties agree that the contract can be terminated if the seller receives a better offer within a specified period. — Also termed in diem addictio.

ADDICTION

addiction. 1. The habitual and intemperate use of a substance, esp. a potentially harmful one such as a narcotic drug. • The usual requisites are (1) an emotional dependence that leads to compulsiveness; (2) an enhanced tolerance of the substance, leading to more potent doses; and (3) physical dependence such that withdrawal symptoms result from deprivation. 2.ADDICTIO.

ADDICTIVE DRUG

addictive drug.See DRUG.

AD DIEM

ad diem (ad dī-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] At a day; at the appointed day.

ADDITION

addition. 1. A structure that is attached to or connected with another building that predates the structure; an extension or annex. • Although some courts have held that an addition is merely an appurtenant structure that might not actually be in physical contact with the other building, most courts hold that there must be physical contact. 2. A title or appellation appended to a person's name to show rank, occupation, or place of residence. • In English law, there are traditionally four kinds of additions: (1) those of estate, such as yeoman, gentleman, or esquire; (2) those of degree (or dignity), such as knight, baron, earl, marquis, or duke; (3) those of trade or occupation, such as scrivener, painter, mason, or carpenter; and (4) those of place of residence, such as London, Bath, or Chester. It was formerly required by the statute of additions (1 Hen. 5, ch. 5) that original writs and indictments state a person's addition, but the practice has long since been abolished.

ADDITIONAL CLAIMS AFTER ALLOWANCE

additional claims after allowance. Patents. Claims submitted for the first time by amendment after the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office has informed the applicant of the patent application's allowance. • Once a notice of allowance has been issued, the applicant may not by right submit additional claims. But in some circumstances, such as when the applicant seeks to add only dependent claims, the supervisory examiner has authority to enter an amendment containing additional claims after allowance but on or before the date when the issue fee is paid. See amendment after allowance under PATENT-APPLICATION AMENDMENT . [Cases: Patents 109. C.J.S. Patents §§ 152–155.]

ADDITIONAL-CONSIDERATION RULE

additional-consideration rule. Employment law. An exception to the employment-at-will principle, whereby an employee who does not have a written contract but who undertakes substantial hardship in addition to the normal job duties — as by relocating to a different city based on oral assurances of job security — can maintain a breach-of-contract claim if the employer does not fulfill its agreement. [Cases: Master and Servant 3(1), 4.C.J.S. Employer–Employee Relationship §§ 22–26, 42.]

ADDITIONAL DAMAGES

additional damages. See DAMAGES.

ADDITIONAL EXTENDED COVERAGE

additional extended coverage. Insurance. A policy endorsement providing supplemental residential coverage for a variety of perils, including vandalism, damage from falling trees, and water damage from the plumbing system.

ADDITIONAL GRAND JURY

additional grand jury. See special grand jury under GRAND JURY.

ADDITIONAL INSTRUCTION

additional instruction. See JURY INSTRUCTION.

ADDITIONAL INSURANCE

additional insurance.See INSURANCE.

ADDITIONAL INSURED

additional insured.See INSURED.

ADDITIONAL LEGACY

additional legacy.See LEGACY.

ADDITIONAL-PERILS CLAUSE

additional-perils clause.See INCHMAREE CLAUSE.

ADDITIONAL SERVITUDE

additional servitude.See SERVITUDE(2).

ADDITIONAL STANDARD DEDUCTION

additional standard deduction.See DEDUCTION.

ADDITIONAL TAX

additional tax.See stopgap tax under TAX.

ADDITIONAL TERM

additional term.See TERM(5).

ADDITIONAL WORK

additional work.See WORK(1).

ADDITUR

additur (ad-<<schwa>>-tuur). [Latin “it is added to”] A trial court's order, issued usu. with the defendant's consent, that increases the jury's award of damages to avoid a new trial on grounds of inadequate damages. • The term may also refer to the increase itself, the procedure, or the court's power to make the order. — Also termed increscitur. Cf. REMITTITUR. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2344; New Trial 161. C.J.S. New Trial § 263.]

ADD-ON CLAUSE

add-on clause.An installment-contract provision that converts earlier purchases into security for new purchases. [Cases: Secured Transactions 114, 146. C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 10, 83, 103–105.]

ADDONE

addone (<<schwa>>-doh-nee), p.pl.[Law French] Given to. — Also spelled addonne.

ADD-ON INTEREST

add-on interest.See INTEREST(3).

ADD-ON LOAN

add-on loan. See LOAN.

ADDRESS

address, n. 1. The place where mail or other communication is sent. 2. In some states, a legislature's formal request to the executive to do a particular thing, such as to remove a judge from office. 3. Equity practice. The part of a bill in which the court is identified. See DIRECTION(5).

ADDRESS TO THE CROWN

address to the Crown. Upon a reading of a royal speech in Parliament, the ceremonial resolution by Parliament expressing thanks to the sovereign for the gracious speech. • Formerly, two members were selected in each house for moving and seconding the address. With the commencement of the 1890–1891 session, a single resolution was adopted.

ADDUCE

adduce (<<schwa>>-d[y]oos), vb. To offer or put forward for consideration (something) as evidence or authority <adduce the engineer's expert testimony>. — adduction (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>k-sh<<schwa>>n), n. — adducible (<<schwa>>-d[y]oo-s<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj.

ADEA

ADEA. abbr. AGE DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT ACT.

ADEEM

adeem, vb. To revoke or satisfy (a willed gift) by some other gift.

AD EFFECTUM

ad effectum (ad i-fek-t<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] To the effect.

AD EFFECTUM SEQUENTEM

ad effectum sequentem (ad i-fek-t<<schwa>>m si-kwen-t<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] To the effect following.

ADEMPTIO

ademptio (<<schwa>>-demp-shee-oh), n. [Latin] Roman law. Ademption. • The term referred to the revocation of a legacy under certain circumstances, as when the item bequeathed no longer existed or when the testator no longer owned the item. The ablative form ademptions means “by ademption.” Pl. ademptions (<<schwa>>-demp-shee-oh-nee).

ADEMPTION

ademption (<<schwa>>-demp-sh<<schwa>>n), n. Wills & estates. The destruction or extinction of a testamentary gift by reason of a bequeathed asset's ceasing to be part of the estate at the time of the testator's death; a beneficiary's forfeiture of a legacy or bequest that is no longer operative. • There are two theories of ademption. Under the identity theory of ademption, a devise of a specific piece of property will fail if that property is not a part of the testator's estate upon his or her death. Under the intent theory of ademption, by contrast, when a specific devise is no longer in the testator's estate at the time of his or her death, the devisee will receive a gift of equal value if it can be proved that the testator did not intend the gift to be adeemed. The intent theory has been codified in § 2-606 of the 1990 Uniform Probate Code. — Also termed extinguishment of legacy. Cf. ABATEMENT; ADVANCEMENT(4); LAPSE(2). [Cases: Wills 764–771. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1742–1761, 1770–1773.] — adeem (<<schwa>>-deem), vb. — adeemed, adempted,adj.

ademption by extinction.An ademption that occurs because the unique property that is the subject of a specific bequest has been sold, given away, or destroyed, or is not otherwise in existence at the time of the testator's death. [Cases: Wills 767–768. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1749–1761.]

ademption by satisfaction.An ademption that occurs because the testator, while alive, has already given property to the beneficiary in lieu of the testamentary gift. [Cases: Wills 766. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1743–1744, 1753.]

ADEO

adeo (ad-ee-oh). [Latin] So; as.

ADEQUACY OF DISCLOSURE

adequacy of disclosure.Patents. Satisfaction of the statutory requirements that the specification in a patent application (1) gives enough detailed information to enable one skilled in the art to make and use the claimed invention (the enablement requirement); (2) discloses the best way the inventor knows to make and use the invention (the best-mode requirement); and (3) shows that the inventor was in full possession of the claimed invention on the application's filing date (the written-description requirement). • A patent that fails to meet any one of these requirements may be rejected under 35 USCA § 112. Any issued patent with an inadequate disclosure is invalid, although the challenger has to overcome the presumption of validity. — Also termed sufficiency of disclosure. See ENABLEMENT REQUIREMENT; BEST-MODE REQUIREMENT. [Cases: Patents 99.C.J.S. Patents § 139.]

ADEQUACY TEST

adequacy test.See IRREPARABLE-INJURY RULE.

ADEQUATE

adequate,adj. Legally sufficient <adequate notice>.

ADEQUATE ASSURANCE

adequate assurance.See ASSURANCE.

ADEQUATE CARE

adequate care.See reasonable care under CARE.

ADEQUATE CAUSE

adequate cause.See adequate provocation under PROVOCATION.

ADEQUATE COMPENSATION

adequate compensation.See just compensation under COMPENSATION.

ADEQUATE CONSIDERATION

adequate consideration.See CONSIDERATION(1).

ADEQUATE NOTICE

adequate notice.See due notice under NOTICE.

ADEQUATE PROTECTION

adequate protection.Bankruptcy. The protection afforded to a holder of a secured claim against the debtor, such as a periodic cash payment or an additional lien <the bankruptcy court permitted the lender to foreclose on the debtor's home after finding a lack of adequate protection of the lender's property interest>.11 USCA § 361. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3062.C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 208.]

“Bankruptcy intends to safeguard secured creditors’ encumbrances, but the stay threatens them by preventing the secured creditors from foreclosing or taking other actions to apply the property's value against the secured debt. Bankruptcy aims to guard against this threat by ordering relief ... for lack of adequate protection of the secured interest.” David G. Epstein et al., Bankruptcy § 3-27, at 140 (1993).

ADEQUATE PROVOCATION

adequate provocation.See PROVOCATION.

ADEQUATE REMEDY AT LAW

adequate remedy at law.See REMEDY.

ADEQUATE REPRESENTATION

adequate representation.See REPRESENTATION(3).

ADEQUATE-STATE-GROUNDS DOCTRINE

adequate-state-grounds doctrine.A judge-made principle that prevents the U.S. Supreme Court from reviewing a state-court decision based partially on state law if a decision on a federal issue would not change the result. [Cases: Federal Courts 502.]

ADEQUATE WARNING

adequate warning.See WARNING.

ADESSE

adesse (ad-es-ee), vb. Civil law. To be present. Cf. ABESSE.

ADEU

adeu (<<schwa>>-dyoo), adv.[Law French] Without day. • This is a common term in the Year Books, indicating a final dismissal from court (alez adeu “go hence without day”). See GO HENCE WITHOUT DAY; ALLER SANS JOUR.

AD EVERSIONEM JURIS NOSTRI

ad eversionem juris nostri (ad i-v<<schwa>>r-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m joor-is nos-tr I). [Law Latin] To the overthrow of our right.

AD EXCAMBIUM

ad excambium (ad eks-kam-bee-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] For exchange; for compensation.

AD EXHAEREDATIONEM

ad exhaeredationem (ad eks-heer-<<schwa>>-day-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] To the disinheritance; to the injury of the inheritance.

“The writ of waste calls upon the tenant to appear and shew cause why he hath committed waste and destruction in the place named, ad exhaeredationem, to the disinherison of the plaintiff.” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 228 (1768).

AD EXITUM

ad exitum (ad ek-si-t<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] At issue; at the end (usu. of pleadings).

ADF

ADF.abbr. AFRICAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION.

AD FACIENDAM JURATAM ILLAM

ad faciendam juratam illam (ad fay-shee-en-d<<schwa>>m j<<schwa>>-ray-t<< schwa>>m il-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] To make up that jury.

AD FACIENDUM

ad faciendum (ad fay-shee-en-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin] To do; to make.

AD FACTUM PRAESTANDUM

ad factum praestandum (ad fak-t<<schwa>>m pree-stan-d<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin “for the performance of a particular act”] Scots law. An obligation to perform an act other than paying money; an obligation that must be strictly fulfilled (such as to hand over a vase sold).

“In popular language almost all obligations may be said to be of this class, but there are obligations of a peculiar character which alone are denoted by the legal signification of this phrase. The obligation of a debtor is clearly one for the performance of a certain act, namely, the payment of his debt; but a decree at the instance of his creditor would not be termed a decree ad factum praestandum. An obligation ad factum praestandum is one for the performance of an act within the power of the obligant” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 27 (4th ed. 1894).

AD FEODI FIRMAM

ad feodi firmam (ad fee-<<schwa>>-dīf<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] To fee farm. See FEE FARM.

AD FIDEM

ad fidem (ad fī-d<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] In allegiance; under allegiance; owing allegiance. • This term appeared in a variety of phrases, including ad fidem regis (“under the king's allegiance”) and natus ad fidem regis (“born in allegiance to the king”).

AD FILUM AQUAE

ad filum aquae (ad fī-l<<schwa>>m ak-wee), adv.[Law Latin] To the thread of the water; to the central line or middle of a stream. • This refers to the ownership reach of a riparian proprietor. — Also termed ad medium filum aquae.

AD FILUM VIAE

ad filum viae (ad fī-l<<schwa>>m vī-ee), adv.[Law Latin] To the middle of the way; to the central line of the road. — Also termed ad medium filum viae.

AD FINEM

ad finem (ad fī-n<<schwa>>m), adv.[Latin] To the end. • This citation signal, abbreviated in text ad fin., formerly provided only the first page of the section referred to, but now usu. directs the reader to a stated span of pages.

ADFINIS

adfinis (ad-fī-nee-z), n. [Latin] Roman law. A relative of one's spouse. Pl. adfines.

ADFINITAS

adfinitas (ad-fin-i-tas), n. [Latin] Roman law. The connection between a husband or wife and relatives of his or her spouse.

AD FIRMAM TRADIDI

ad firmam tradidi (ad f<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>m tray-d<<schwa>>-dī), n.[Law Latin] See FARM LET.

AD FUNDANDAM JURISDICTIONEM

ad fundandam jurisdictionem (ad f<<schwa>>n-dan-d<<schwa>>m joor-is-dik-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. For the purpose of founding jurisdiction.

See ARRESTUM JURISDICTIONIS FUNDANDAE CAUSA.

AD GAOLAM DELIBERANDAM

ad gaolam deliberandam (ad jay-l<<schwa>>m di-lib-<<schwa>>-ran-d<<schwa>>m), vb.[Law Latin] To deliver the jail; to make jail delivery. See COMMISSION OF GAOL DELIVERY ; JAIL DELIVERY.

AD GRAVAMEN

ad gravamen (ad gr<<schwa>>-vay-m<<schwa>>n), adv.[Latin] To the grievance, injury, or oppression of (another person).

ADHERE

adhere,vb.1. (Of one house in a bicameral legislature) to reject the other house's insistence on a difference in legislation that has passed both houses, without requesting a conference. Cf. INSIST ON.

“When both houses have insisted [on differing views about an amendment] without a request for conference, it is also in order to move to adhere. Adoption of a motion to adhere represents an unyielding attitude of the adopting house. It is unparliamentary for an adhering house to request a conference; however, the other house may continue to insist and request a conference. It is in order for an adhering house to recede from its adherence and agree to a conference.” National Conference of State Legislatures, Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure § 768, at 556–57 (2000).

2.Scots law. To live together as husband and wife. 3.Scots law. (Of an appellate court) to affirm a lower court's judgment. — adherence,n.

ADHERENCE

adherence. 1.ACCESSION(3).2.Scots law. The duty of spouses to live together.

ADHESION

adhesion. See ACCESSION(3).

ADHESIONARY CONTRACT

adhesionary contract.See adhesion contract under CONTRACT.

ADHESION CONTRACT

adhesion contract.See CONTRACT.

ADHESORY CONTRACT

adhesory contract.See adhesion contract under CONTRACT.

ADHIBERE

adhibere (ad-h<<schwa>>-bair-ee), vb.[Latin] Civil law. To apply; to put (a thing) to use; to exercise.

ADHIBERE DILIGENTIAM

adhibere diligentiam (ad-h<<schwa>>-bair-ee dil-<<schwa>>-jen-shee-<<schwa>>m), vb.[Latin] Civil law. To use care.

AD HOC

ad hoc (ad hok), adj.[Latin “for this”] Formed for a particular purpose <the board created an ad hoc committee to discuss funding for the new arena>. — ad hoc,adv.

AD HOC ARBITRATION

ad hoc arbitration.See ARBITRATION.

AD HOC COMMITTEE

ad hoc committee.See COMMITTEE.

AD HOC COMPROMIS

ad hoc compromis.See COMPROMIS.

AD HOMINEM

ad hominem (ad hom-<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>m), adj.[Latin “to the person”] Appealing to personal prejudices rather than to reason; attacking an opponent's character rather than the opponent's assertions <the brief was replete with ad hominem attacks against opposing counsel>. — ad hominem,adv.

AD HUNC DIEM

ad hunc diem (ad h<<schwa>>ngk dI-<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] To this day.

ADIATE

adiate (ad-ee-ayt), vb. Roman–Dutch law.To accept as beneficiary under a will. — adiation,n.

AD IDEM

ad idem (ad I-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin] To the same point or matter; of the same mind <the parties reached a consensus ad idem and agreed to consummate a sale>.

A DIE CONFECTIONIS

a die confectionis (ay dI-ee k<<schwa>>n-fek-shee-oh-nis), adv.[Law Latin] From the day of the making.

A DIE DATUS

a die datus (ay dI-ee day-t<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin “given from (such-and-such) a day”] A lease provision estab-lishing the beginning of the rental period.

ADIEU

adieu (<<schwa>>-dyoo). [Law French “to God”] Farewell. • This term, although etymologically distinct, appears sometimes in the Year Books in place of adeu. See ADEU; ALLER A DIEU.

AD INDE

ad inde (ad in-dee), adv.[Law Latin] To that or them; thereto.

AD INFEROS

ad inferos.[Law Latin] To the center of the earth. See AD COELUM ET AD INFEROS .

AD INFINITUM

ad infinitum (ad in-f<<schwa>>-nI-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “without limit”] To an indefinite extent .

AD INFORMANDUM JUDICEM

ad informandum judicem (ad in-for-man-d<<schwa>>m joo-di-s<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. For the judge's information. — Also termed ad informationem judicis.

AD INFORMATIONEM JUDICIS

ad informationem judicis.See AD INFORMANDUM JUDICEM.

AD INQUIRENDUM

ad inquirendum (ad in-kw<<schwa>>-ren-d<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin “to inquire”] Hist. A writ instructing the recipient to investigate something at issue in a pending case.

AD INSTANTIAM PARTIS

ad instantiam partis (ad in-stan-shee-<<schwa>>m pahr-tis), adv.[Law Latin] Hist. At the instance of a party.

AD INTERIM

ad interim (ad in-t<<schwa>>r-im), adv.[Latin] Hist. In the meantime; temporarily.

AD INTERIM COPYRIGHT

ad interim copyright.See COPYRIGHT.

ADIRATUS

adiratus (ad-<<schwa>>-ray-t<<schwa>>s), adj.[Law Latin] Hist. Lost; strayed; removed.

ADITIO

aditio (<<schwa>>-dish-ee-oh), n. Hist. An outsider's informal acceptance of heirship.

ADITIO HEREDITATIS

aditio hereditatis (<<schwa>>-dish-ee-oh h<<schwa>>-red-i-tay-tis). [Latin “entering on an inheritance”] Roman law. An heir's acceptance of an inheritance. — Also spelled aditio haereditatis. See CRETION.

ADJACENT

adjacent,adj. Lying near or close to, but not necessarily touching. Cf. ADJOINING.

ADJECT

adject (a-jekt), adj. To annex or adjoin. — adject,adj.

ADJECTIO DOMINII PER CONTINUATIONEM POSSESSIONIS

adjectio dominii per continuationem possessionis (<<schwa>>-jek-shee-oh d<<schwa>>-min-ee-I p<<schwa>>r k<<schwa>>n-tin-yoo-ay-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m p<<schwa>>-zes[h]-ee-oh-nis). [Latin] Roman law. The acquisition of the right to property ownership by continued possession. • This acquisition is otherwise known as usucapio or acquisitive prescription. See USUCAPIO; adequate prescription under PRESCRIPTION.

ADJECTIVE LAW

adjective law (aj-ik-tiv). The body of rules governing procedure and practice; PROCEDURAL LAW. — Also termed adjectival law. [Cases: Action 1.C.J.S. Actions §§ 2–9, 11, 17, 21, 32–33, 36.]

“The body of law in a State consists of two parts, substantive and adjective law. The former prescribes those rules of civil conduct which declare the rights and duties of all who are subject to the law. The latter relates to the remedial agencies and procedure by which rights are maintained, their invasion redressed, and the methods by which such results are accomplished in judicial tribunals.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 1 (2d ed. 1899).

ADJOINING

adjoining (<<schwa>>-joyn-ing), adj. Touching; sharing a common boundary; CONTIGUOUS. Cf. ADJACENT. [Cases: Adjoining Landowners 1. C.J.S. Adjoining Landowners §§ 2, 6–8, 39.] — adjoin (<<schwa>>-joyn), vb.

ADJOINING OWNER

adjoining owner. See OWNER.

ADJOURN

adjourn (<<schwa>>-j<<schwa>>rn), vb. Parliamentary law. To end or postpone (a proceeding). Cf. RECESS(2).

“A motion to recess suspends the current meeting until a later time; the unqualified motion to adjourn terminates the meeting. When an assembly reconvenes following a recess, it resumes the meeting at the point where it was interrupted by the motion to recess. When an assembly reconvenes following an adjournment, it begins an entirely new meeting, starting with the first step in the regular order of business.” Alice Sturgis, The Standard Code of Parliamentary Procedure 76 (4th ed. 2001).

adjourn sine die (sI-nee [or sin-ay] dI-ee). [Latin “without date”] To end a deliberative assembly's or court's session without setting a time to reconvene. — Also termed adjourn without day. Cf. RISE(4).

adjourn to a day certain.To end a deliberative assembly's or court's session while fixing a time for the next meeting. — Also termed adjourn to a day and time certain; fix a day to which to adjourn.

adjourn without day.See adjourn sine die.

ADJOURNATUR

adjournatur (aj-<<schwa>>r-nay-t<<schwa>>r). [Latin] It is adjourned. • This word formerly appeared at the end of reported decisions.

ADJOURNED

adjourned. See STAND ADJOURNED.

ADJOURNED MEETING

adjourned meeting.See MEETING.

ADJOURNED TERM

adjourned term.See TERM(5).

ADJOURNMENT

adjournment (<<schwa>>-j<<schwa>>rn-m<<schwa>>nt), n. 1. The act of adjourning; specif., a putting off of a court session or other meeting or assembly until a later time. See ADJOURN.

adjournment sine die (<<schwa>>-j<<schwa>>rn-m<<schwa>>nt sI-nee [or sin-ay] dI-ee). The ending of a deliberative assembly's or court's session without setting a time to reconvene. — Also termed adjournment without day.

“The term adjournment sine die (or adjournment without day) usually refers to the close of a session of several meetings: (a) where the adjournment dissolves the assembly — as in a series of mass meetings or in an annual or biennial convention for which the delegates are separately chosen for each convention; or (b) where, unless called into special session, the body will not be convened again until a time prescribed by the bylaws or constitution — as in the case of a session of a legislature.” Henry M. Robert, Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised § 8, at 81 (10th ed. 2000).

conditional adjournment. An adjournment that does not schedule another meeting, but provides for reconvening the assembly at an officer's or board's call or under other defined circumstances.

2. The period or interval between adjourning and reconvening. [Cases: Criminal Law 649; Trial 26. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1155; Trial § 113.]

ADJOURNMENT DAY

adjournment day. See DAY.

ADJOURNMENT DAY IN ERROR

adjournment day in error. See DAY.

ADJUDGE

adjudge (<<schwa>>-j<<schwa>>j), vb. 1. ADJUDICATE(1). 2. To deem or pronounce to be. 3. To award judicially. 4. Scots law. (Of a creditor) to take a debtor's estate through adjudication. See ADJUDICATION(3). 5. To award (some or all of a debtor's estate) to a creditor.

ADJUDGER

adjudger, n. 1. One who adjudges. 2. Scots law. An adjudging creditor.

ADJUDICATAIRE

adjudicataire (<<schwa>>-joo-di-k<<schwa>>-tair), n. Canadian law. One who buys property at a judicial sale.

ADJUDICATE

adjudicate (<<schwa>>-joo-di-kayt), vb. 1. To rule upon judicially. 2. ADJUDGE(2). 3. ADJUDGE(3). — Also termed judicate.

ADJUDICATEE

adjudicatee (<<schwa>>-joo-di-k<<schwa>>-tee). Civil law. A purchaser at a judicial sale.

ADJUDICATIO

adjudicatio. Roman law. A part of a formula in a partition action by which the judge assigned the parties real rights in their shares; specif., a part of a formula (i.e., the praetor's statement of an issue for a judex) directing the judex to apportion property in a divisory action. • Adjudicatio was used to apportion property in divisory actions such as actio de communi dividundo, actio familiae erciscundae, and actio finium regundorum. It was not part of the formula in any other type of action. See FORMULA(1).

ADJUDICATION

adjudication (<<schwa>>-joo-di-kay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. 1. The legal process of resolving a dispute; the process of judicially deciding a case. 2. JUDGMENT.

former adjudication. See FORMER ADJUDICATION.

3. Scots law. The Court of Session's transfer of heritable property to a creditor as security for or in satisfaction of a debt, or its vesting title in an entitled claimant.

ADJUDICATION HEARING

adjudication hearing. See HEARING.

ADJUDICATION WITHHELD

adjudication withheld. See deferred judgment under JUDGMENT.

ADJUDICATIVE

adjudicative (<<schwa>>-joo-di-k<<schwa>>-tiv), adj. 1. Of or relating to adjudication. 2. Having the ability to judge. — Also termed adjudicatory; judicative.

ADJUDICATIVE-CLAIMS ARBITRATION

adjudicative-claims arbitration. See ARBITRATION.

ADJUDICATIVE FACT

adjudicative fact. See FACT.

ADJUDICATIVE LAW

adjudicative law. See CASELAW.

ADJUDICATOR

adjudicator (<<schwa>>-joo-di-kay-t<<schwa>>r). A person whose job is to render binding decisions; one who makes judicial pronouncements.

ADJUDICATORY

adjudicatory. See ADJUDICATIVE.

ADJUDICATORY HEARING

adjudicatory hearing. See adjudication hearing under HEARING.

ADJUDICATORY PROCEEDING

adjudicatory proceeding. See adjudication hearing under HEARING.

AD JUDICIUM PROVOCARE

ad iudicium provocare (ad joo-dish-ee-<<schwa>>m proh-v<<schwa>>-kair-ee), vb. [Latin] To summon to court; to commence an action.

ADJUNCT

adjunct (aj-<<schwa>>ngkt), adj. Added as an accompanying object or circumstance; attached in a subordinate or temporary capacity <an adjunct professor>. — adjunct,n.

ADJUNCT ACCOUNT

adjunct account.See ACCOUNT.

ADJUNCTION

adjunction (<<schwa>>-j<<schwa>>ngk-sh<<schwa>>n).1. The act of adding to. 2.Civil law. The union of an item of personal property owned by one person with that owned by another. See ACCESSION(4). [Cases: Ac-cession 1.C.J.S. Accession §§ 2–8.]

ADJUNCTUM ACCESSORIUM

adjunctum accessorium (<<schwa>>-j<<schwa>>ngk-t<<schwa>>m ak-s<<schwa>>-sor-ee-<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin] An accessory or appurtenance.

AD JUNGENDUM AUXILIUM

ad jungendum auxilium (ad j<<schwa>>n-jen-d<<schwa>>m awg-zil-ee-<<schwa>>m), vb.[Law Latin] To join in aid.

AD JURA REGIS

ad jura regis (ad joor-<<schwa>>ree-jis), n.[Law Latin “for the rights of the king”] Hist. A writ brought against a person seeking to eject the holder of a royal benefice. • The writ was available to the holder of the benefice.

ADJURATION

adjuration (aj-<<schwa>>-ray-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The act of solemnly charging or entreating. 2. A swearing; a solemn oath.

ADJURE

adjure (<<schwa>>-juur), vb. To charge or entreat solemnly <the President adjured the foreign government to join the alliance>. — adjuration (aj-<<schwa>>-ray-sh<<schwa>>n), n. — adjuratory (<<schwa>>-juur-<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj. — adjurer, adjuror (<<schwa>>-juur-<<schwa>>r), n.

ADJUST

adjust,vb.1. To determine the amount that an insurer will pay an insured to cover a loss. 2. To arrive at a new agreement with a creditor for the payment of a debt. [Cases: Insurance 3234. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1345–1347.]

ADJUSTABLE-RATE MORTGAGE

adjustable-rate mortgage.See MORTGAGE.

ADJUSTED BASIS

adjusted basis.See BASIS.

ADJUSTED BOOK VALUE

adjusted book value. See BOOK VALUE.

ADJUSTED COST BASIS

adjusted cost basis. See BASIS.

ADJUSTED GROSS ESTATE

adjusted gross estate. See ESTATE(3).

ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME

adjusted gross income. See INCOME.

ADJUSTED ORDINARY GROSS INCOME

adjusted ordinary gross income. See INCOME.

ADJUSTED PRESENT VALUE

adjusted present value. See PRESENT VALUE.

ADJUSTER

adjuster. One appointed to ascertain, arrange, or settle a matter; esp., an independent agent or employee of an insurance company who negotiates and settles claims against the insurer. — Also termed claims adjuster. [Cases: Insurance 3222. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1343–1344.]

independent adjuster. An adjuster who solicits business from more than one insurance company; one who is not employed by, and does not work exclusively for, one insurance company.

ADJUSTING ENTRY

adjusting entry. An accounting entry made at the end of an accounting period to record previously unrecognized revenue and expenses, as well as changes in assets and liabilities.

ADJUSTMENT BOARD

adjustment board. An administrative agency charged with hearing and deciding zoning appeals. — Also termed board of adjustment; board of zoning appeals. [Cases: Zoning and Planning 354. C.J.S. Zoning and Land Planning §§ 180–181, 183–186, 189.]

ADJUSTMENT BOND

adjustment bond. See BOND(3).

ADJUSTMENT SECURITY

adjustment security. See SECURITY.

ADJUTANT GENERAL

adjutant general (aj-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>nt), n. (usu. cap.) 1. The administrative head of a military unit having a general staff. [Cases: Armed Services 4, 6.1. C.J.S. Armed Services §§ 14, 16–17, 19, 37.] 2. An officer in charge of the National Guard of a state. [Cases: Militia 3, 7. C.J.S. Armed Services § 291.]

AD LARGUM

ad largum (ad lahr-g*<<schwa>>m*), adj.[Law Latin] At large; at liberty; unconfined.

ADLEGIARE

adlegiare (ad-lee-jee-air-ee), vb.[Law Latin] To purge (oneself) of a crime by oath. See PURGATION.

AD LEVANDAM CONSCIENTIAM

ad levandam conscientiam (ad l*<<schwa>>-van-d<<schwa>>m* kon-shee-en-shee-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Scots law. For the purpose of easing the conscience. • The phrase typically described certain confessions that a criminal suspect voluntarily made when apprehended and that could be used as evidence in the criminal trial. But an arrested suspect's responses to questions posed by the arresting officer were usu. not admissible because only a magistrate could ask such questions.

AD LIBELLUM RESCRIBERE

ad libellum rescribere (ad l*<<schwa>>-bel<<schwa>>m* ri-skrI-b*<<schwa>>-ree*), vb.[Latin] Roman law. To write an answer to a petition, esp. one to the emperor. See RESCRIPT(3).

AD LIBITUM

ad libitum (ad lib-i-t*<<schwa>>m*), adv.[Law Latin] At pleasure. • The modern term ad-lib (adj. & vb.), borrowed from drama and music, is essentially the same; it means “at the performer's pleasure,” and allows the performer discretion in innovating a part impromptu.

“[B]ut in actions where the damages are precarious, being to be assessed ad libitum by a jury, as in actions for words, ejectment, or trespass, it is very seldom possible for a plaintiff to swear to the amount of his cause of action; and therefore no special bail is taken thereon” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 292 (1768).

AD LITEM

ad litem (ad II-tem or -t*<<schwa>>m*). [Latin “for the suit”] For the purposes of the suit; pending the suit. See guardian ad litem under GUARDIAN.

AD LONGUM

ad longum (ad long-g*<<schwa>>m*). [Law Latin] Hist. At length.

AD LUCRANDUM VEL PERDENDUM

ad lucrandum vel perdendum (ad loo-kran-d*<<schwa>>m* vel p*<<schwa>>-r-den-d<<* schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] For gain or loss. • These were emphatic words in a warrant of attorney. It is sometimes expressed “to lose and gain.” See WARRANT OF ATTORNEY.

AD MAJOREM CAUTELAM

ad majorem cautelam (ad m<<schwa>>-jor-<<schwa>>m kaw-tee-l<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] For greater security.

ADMANUENSIS

admanuensis (ad-man-yoo-en-sis), n.[Law Latin fr. Latin ad- + manus “a hand”] Hist. An oath-taker who places a hand on the Bible.

AD MANUM

ad manum (ad may-n<<schwa>>m), adj.[Latin] At hand; ready for use.

ADMEASUREMENT

admeasurement (ad-mezh-<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>nt), n.1. Ascertainment, assignment, or apportionment by a fixed quantity or value, or by certain limits <the ship's admeasurement is based on its crew, engine, and capac-ity>.2. A writ obtained for purposes of ascertaining, assigning, or apportioning a fixed quantity or value or to establish limits; esp., a writ available against persons who usurp more than their rightful share of property. — admeasure (ad-mezh-<<schwa>>r), vb.

admeasurement of dower.Hist. A writ to recover property from a widow who held more than she was entitled to. — Also termed admensuratione dotis.

admeasurement of pasture.Hist. A writ against a person whose cattle have overgrazed a common pasture.

AD MEDIUM FILUM AQUAE

ad medium filum aquae.See AD FILUM AQUAE.

AD MEDIUM FILUM VIAE

ad medium filum viae.See AD FILUM VIAE.

AD MELIUS INQUIRENDUM

ad melius inquirendum (ad mee-lee-<<schwa>>s in-kw<<schwa>>-ren-d<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin “for making better inquiry”] Hist. A writ commanding a coroner to hold a second inquest.

ADMENSURATIO

admensuratio (ad-men-sh<<schwa>>-ray-shee-oh), n.[Law Latin] Hist. Admeasurement.

ADMENSURATIONE DOTIS

admensuratione dotis.See admeasurement of dower under ADMEASUREMENT.

ADMINICLE

adminicle (ad-min-i-k<<schwa>>l), n.1. Corroborative or explanatory proof. 2.Scots law. A writing that tends to establish the existence or terms of an otherwise unavailable document, such as a lost will or deed. — Also termed adminiculum.

ADMINICULAR

adminicular (ad-m<<schwa>>-nik-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>r), adj. Corroborative or auxiliary <adminicular evidence>.

ADMINICULAR EVIDENCE

adminicular evidence.See EVIDENCE.

ADMINICULATE

adminiculate (ad-m<<schwa>>-nik-y<<schwa>>-layt), vb. Scots law. To give corroborating evidence.

ADMINICULUM

adminiculum (ad-m<<schwa>>-nik-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m), n.[Latin “support”] Roman law. Legal or evidentiary means of supporting one's case; ADMINICLE.

ADMINISTRATION

administration,n.1. The management or performance of the executive duties of a government, institution, or business. 2. In public law, the practical management and direction of the executive department and its agencies. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 301–513. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 49–171.] 3. A judicial action in which a court undertakes the management and distribution of property. • Examples include the administration of a trust, the liquidation of a company, and the realization and distribution of a bankrupt estate. See JOINT ADMINISTRATION. 4. The management and settlement of the estate of an intestate decedent, or of a testator who has no executor, by a person legally appointed and supervised by the court. • Administration of an estate involves realizing the movable assets and paying out of them any debts and other claims against the estate. It also involves the division and distribution of what remains. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 1–516. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 2–98, 100–181, 183–877, 879–899, 935–966; Parent and Child § 259; Wills § 157.] — administer,vb. — administrative,adj.

administration cum testamento annexo (k<<schwa>>m tes-t<<schwa>>-men-toh <<schwa>>-nek-soh). [Latin “with the will annexed”] An administration granted when (1) a testator's will does not name any executor or when the executor named is incompetent to act, is deceased, or refuses to act, and (2) no successor executor has been named or is qualified to serve. — Abbr. c.t.a. — Also termed administration with the will annexed. [Cases: Ex-ecutors and Administrators 21. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 947–948.]

administration de bonis non (dee boh-nis non). [Latin “of the goods not administered”] An administration granted for the purpose of settling the remainder of an intestate estate that was not administered by the former administrator. — Abbr. d.b.n. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 37. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 935–936, 946.]

administration de bonis non cum testamento annexo (de boh-nis non k<<schwa>>m tes-t<<schwa>>-men-toh <<schwa>>-nek-soh). An administration granted to settle the remainder of a testate estate not settled by a previous administrator or executor. • This type of administration arises when there is a valid will, as opposed to an administration de bonis non, which is granted when there is no will. — Abbr. d.b.n.c.t.a.

administration durante absentia (d[y]uu-ran-tee ab-sen-shee-<<schwa>>). An administration granted during the absence of either the executor or the person who has precedence as administrator.

administration durante minore aetate (d[y]uu-ran-tee mi-nor-ee ee-tay-tee). An administration granted during the minority of either a child executor or the person who has precedence as administrator.

administration pendente lite (pen-den-tee II-tee). An administration granted during the pendency of a suit concerning a will's validity. — Also termed pendente lite administration; special administration. See PENDENTE LITE. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 22. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 951–952, 954–956.]

administration with the will annexed. See administration cum testamento annexo.

ancillary administration (an-s<<schwa>>-ler-ee). An administration that is auxiliary to the administration at the place of the decedent's domicile, such as one in another state. • The purpose of this process is to collect assets, to transfer and record changed title to real property located there, and to pay any debts in that locality. — Also termed foreign administration. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 518–526. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 916–935.]

“The object of ancillary administration is to collect assets of nonresident decedents found within the state and remit the proceeds to the domiciliary executor or administrator.... One of the principal purposes of ancillary administration is to protect local creditors of nonresident decedents by collecting and preserving local assets for their benefit.” 31 Am. Jur. 2d Executors and Administrators §§ 1057–1058, at 686 (2002).

caeterorum administration (set-<<schwa>>-ror-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “of the rest”] An administration granted when limited powers previously granted to an administrator are inadequate to settle the estate's residue.

domiciliary administration (dom-<<schwa>>-sil-ee-er-ee). The handling of an estate in the state where the decedent was domiciled at death.

foreign administration. See ancillary administration.

general administration. An administration with authority to deal with an entire estate. Cf. special administration.

limited administration. An administration for a temporary period or for a special purpose. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 22. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 951–952, 954–956.]

original administration. An administration that is not ancillary to a domiciliary administration.

pendente lite administration. See administration pendente lite.

public administration. In some jurisdictions, an administration by an officer appointed to administer for an intestate who has left no person entitled to apply for letters (or whose possible representatives refuse to serve). [Cases: Executors and Administrators 24.]

special administration. 1. An administration with authority to deal with only some of a decedent's property, as opposed to administering the whole estate. 2. See administration pendente lite. Cf. general administration. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 22. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 951–952, 954–956.]

temporary administration. An administration in which the court appoints a fiduciary to administer the affairs of a decedent's estate for a short time before an administrator or executor can be appointed and qualified. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 22. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 951–952, 954–956.]

ADMINISTRATION BILL

administration bill. See BILL(3).

ADMINISTRATION EXPENSE

administration expense. Tax. A necessary expenditure made by an administrator in managing and distributing an estate. • These expenses are tax-deductible even if not actually incurred by the time the return is filed. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 108. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 237.]

ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES

Administration for Children and Families. A unit in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services responsible for health issues involving children and families, refugees, legalized aliens, and people with developmental disabilities. — Abbr. ACF.

ADMINISTRATION LETTERS

administration letters. See LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

administration of justice. The maintenance of right within a political community by means of the physical force of the state; the state's application of the sanction of force to the rule of right.

ADMINISTRATION ON AGING

Administration on Aging. A unit in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services responsible for promoting the welfare of the elderly and for assisting the states and Native American governments in doing so.

ADMINISTRATION PENDENTE LITE

administration pendente lite. See ADMINISTRATION.

ADMINISTRATION WITH THE WILL ANNEXED administration with the will annexed. See administration cum testamento annexo under ADMINISTRATION.

ADMINISTRATIVE ACT

administrative act. See ACT.

ADMINISTRATIVE ADJUDICATION

administrative adjudication. The process used by an administrative agency to issue regulations through an adversary proceeding. Cf. RULEMAKING. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 441–513. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 87, 115–171.]

ADMINISTRATIVE AGENCY

administrative agency. See AGENCY(3).

ADMINISTRATIVE COLLATERAL ESTOPPEL

administrative collateral estoppel. See COLLATERAL ESTOPPEL.

ADMINISTRATIVE CONFERENCE OF THE UNITED STATES

Administrative Conference of the United States. A former independent federal agency that provided a forum where agency heads, private attorneys, university professors, and others studied ways to improve the procedures that agencies use in administering federal programs. • ACUS was abolished in 1995. — Abbr. ACUS.

ADMINISTRATIVE-CONTROL RULE

administrative-control rule. Tax. The rule making the grantor of a trust liable for tax if the grantor retains control that may be exercised primarily for the grantor's own benefit. IRC (26 USCA) § 675. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4028.]

ADMINISTRATIVE-CONVENIENCE EXCEPTION

administrative-convenience exception. Bankruptcy. A provision permitting a bankruptcy plan to have a separate classification for small, unsecured claims, to the extent that the separate classification will assist in a more efficient disposition of the estate, as by paying or eliminating the small claims earlier than other claims. 11 USCA § 1122(b). [Cases: Bankruptcy 3550. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 386.]

ADMINISTRATIVE CRIME

administrative crime. See CRIME.

ADMINISTRATIVE DEVIATION

administrative deviation. A trustee's unauthorized departure from the terms of the trust.

ADMINISTRATIVE DISCHARGE

administrative discharge. See DISCHARGE(8).

ADMINISTRATIVE DISCRETION

administrative discretion. See DISCRETION(4).

ADMINISTRATIVE DOMAIN-NAME CHALLENGE PANEL

Administrative Domain-Name Challenge Panel. Trademarks. A board of experts convened under the auspices of the World Intellectual Property Organization to decide Internet domain-name disputes. — Abbr. ACP.

ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSE

administrative expense. 1. OVERHEAD. 2. Bankruptcy. A cost incurred by the debtor, after filing a bankruptcy petition, that is necessary for the debtor to continue operating its business. • Administrative expenses are entitled to payment on a priority basis when the estate is distributed. 11 USCA § 503(b). See general administrative expense under EXPENSE. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2871–2879. C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 232, 250–254, 281, 354.]

ADMINISTRATIVE FREEZE

administrative freeze. Bankruptcy. The refusal by a debtor's bank to permit withdrawals from the debtor's bank account after the bank learns that the debtor has filed bankruptcy, usu. because the debtor owes money to the bank in addition to maintaining funds on deposit. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2678. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 164.]

ADMINISTRATIVE HEARING

administrative hearing. An administrative-agency proceeding in which evidence is offered for argument or trial. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 469. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 134, 136, 138–139.]

ADMINISTRATIVE INTERPRETATION

administrative interpretation. See INTERPRETATION.

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW

administrative law. The law governing the organization and operation of administrative agencies (including executive and independent agencies) and the relations of administrative agencies with the legislature, the executive, the judiciary, and the public. • Administrative law is divided into three parts: (1) the statutes endowing agencies with powers and establishing rules of substantive law relating to those powers; (2) the body of agency-made law, consisting of administrative rules, regulations, reports, opinions containing findings of fact, and orders; and (3) the legal principles governing the acts of public agents when those acts conflict with private rights. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 1. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 2.]

“Administrative law deals with the field of legal control exercised by law-administering agencies other than courts, and the field of control exercised by courts over such agencies.” Felix Frankfurter, The Task of Administrative Law, 75 U. Pa. L. Rev. 614, 615 (1927).

“[A]dministrative law is to labor law, securities regulation, and tax what civil procedure is to contracts, torts, and commercial law. Administrative law studies the way government institutions do things. It is therefore the pro-cedural component to any practice that affects or is affected by government decisionmakers other than just the courts. Its study goes beyond traditional questions; it explores a variety of procedures and it develops ideas about decisionmaking and decisionmakers.” 1 Charles H. Koch, Administrative Law and Practice § 1.2, at 2 (2d ed. 1997).

international administrative law. 1. The internal law and rules of international organizations. 2. The substantive rules of international law that directly refer to the administrative matters of individual states. 3. Domestic ad-ministrative law specifically concerned with international problems or situations. — Also termed administrative international law.

ADMINISTRATIVE-LAW JUDGE

administrative-law judge. An official who presides at an administrative hearing and who has the power to ad-minister oaths, take testimony, rule on questions of evidence, and make factual and legal determinations. 5 USCA § 556(c). — Abbr. ALJ. — Also termed hearing examiner; hearing officer; trial examiner. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 443. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 138.]

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES COURTS

Administrative Office of the United States Courts. An office in the judicial branch of the federal government responsible for administering the nonjudicial business of the federal courts (except the Supreme Court), disbursing funds, collecting statistics, fixing certain salaries, and purchasing supplies and equipment. • Created in 1939, the Office is supervised by the Judicial Conference of the United States. 28 USCA §§ 601 et seq. — Abbr. AOUSC; AO. See JUDICIAL CONFERENCE OF THE UNITED STATES. [Cases: Courts 55. C.J.S. Courts §§ 107–109.]

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICER

administrative officer. See OFFICER(1).

ADMINISTRATIVE ORDER

administrative order. See ORDER(2).

ADMINISTRATIVE PATENT JUDGE

administrative patent judge. See JUDGE.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE ACT

Administrative Procedure Act. 1. A federal statute establishing practices and procedures to be followed in rulemaking and adjudication. • The Act was designed to give citizens basic due-process protections such as the right to present evidence and to be heard by an independent hearing officer. 2. A similar state statute. — Abbr. APA. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 4. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 3.]

ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEEDING

administrative proceeding. A hearing, inquiry, investigation, or trial before an administrative agency, usu. ad-judicatory in nature but sometimes quasi-legislative. — Also termed evidentiary hearing; full hearing; trial-type hearing; agency adjudication. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 309, 341–513. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 71, 76–171.]

ADMINISTRATIVE PROCESS

administrative process. 1. The procedure used before administrative agencies. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 309. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 71.] 2. The means of summoning witnesses to an agency hearing. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 464. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 124, 132.]

ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDY

administrative remedy. See REMEDY.

ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW

administrative review. See REVIEW.

ADMINISTRATIVE RULE

administrative rule. An officially promulgated agency regulation that has the force of law. • Administrative rules typically elaborate the requirements of a law or policy. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 381. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 87, 91.]

ADMINISTRATIVE RULEMAKING

administrative rulemaking. See RULEMAKING.

ADMINISTRATIVE SEARCH

administrative search. See SEARCH.

ADMINISTRATIVE SEARCH WARRANT

administrative search warrant. See administrative warrant under WARRANT(1).

ADMINISTRATIVE TRIBUNAL

administrative tribunal. An administrative agency before which a matter may be heard or tried, as distinguished from a purely executive agency; an administrative agency exercising a judicial function. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 309. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 71.]

ADMINISTRATIVE WARRANT

administrative warrant. See WARRANT(1).

ADMINISTRATOR

administrator (ad-min-<<schwa>>-stray-t*<<schwa>>*r). 1. A person who manages or heads a business, public office, or agency. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 17. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 34.]

court administrator. An official who supervises the nonjudicial functions of a court, esp. the court's calendar, judicial assignments, budget, and nonjudicial personnel. [Cases: Courts 55. C.J.S. Courts §§ 107–109.]

local administrator. Conflict of laws. An administrator appointed in the state where property is located or where an act is done.

2. A person appointed by the court to manage the assets and liabilities of an intestate decedent. • This term once referred to males only (as opposed to administratrix), but legal writers now generally use administrator to refer to someone of either sex. In the Restatement of Property, the term administrator includes the term executor unless specifically stated otherwise. Cf. EXECUTOR (2).

administrator ad colligendum (ad kol-i-jen-d*<<schwa>>*m). An administrator appointed solely to collect and preserve the decedent's estate.

administrator ad litem (ad II-tem or -t*<<schwa>>*m). A special administrator appointed by the court to represent the estate's interest in an action usu. either because there is no administrator of the estate or because the current administrator has an interest in the action adverse to that of the estate. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 22. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 951–952, 954–956.]

administrator ad prosequendum (ad prahs-<<schwa>>-kwen-d*<<schwa>>*m). An administrator appointed to prosecute or defend a certain action or actions involving the estate. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 22. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 951–952, 954–956.]

administrator c.t.a. See administrator cum testamento annexo.

administrator cum testamento annexo (k*<<schwa>>m tes-t<<schwa>>*-men-toh <<schwa>>-nek-soh). An administrator appointed by the court to carry out the provisions of a will when the testator has named no executor, or the executors named refuse, are incompetent to act, or have died before performing their duties. — Also termed administrator c.t.a.; administrator with the will annexed. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 21. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 947–948.]

administrator d.b.n. See administrator de bonis non.

administrator de bonis non (dee boh-nis non). An administrator appointed by the court to administer the decedent's goods that were not administered by an earlier administrator or executor. • If there is no will, the administrator bears the name administrator de bonis non (abbr. administrator d.b.n.), but if there is a will, the full name is administrator de bonis non cum testamento annexo (abbr. administrator d.b.n.c.t.a.). [Cases: Executors and Administrators 37. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 935–936, 946.]

administrator durante absentia (d[y]uu-ran-tee ab-sen-shee-<<schwa>>). An administrator appointed to act while an estate's executor or an administrator with precedence is temporarily absent.

administrator durante minore aetate (d[y]uu-ran-tee mi-nor-ee ee-tay-tee). An administrator who acts during the minority of a person who either is named by the testator as the estate's executor or would be appointed as the estate's administrator but for the person's youth.

administrator pendente lite. See special administrator.

administrator with the will annexed. See administrator cum testamento annexo.

ancillary administrator (an-s<<schwa>>-ler-ee). A court-appointed administrator who oversees the distribution of the part of a decedent's estate located in a jurisdiction other than where the decedent was domiciled (the place of the main administration). [Cases: Executors and Administrators 518. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 916.]

domiciliary administrator. A person appointed to administer an estate in the state where the decedent was domiciled at death.

foreign administrator. An administrator appointed in another jurisdiction. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 517. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 915.]

general administrator. A person appointed to administer an intestate decedent's entire estate.

public administrator. A state-appointed officer who administers intestate estates that are not administered by the decedent's relatives. • This officer's right to administer is usu. subordinate to the rights of creditors, but in a few jurisdictions the creditors' rights are subordinate. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 24.]

special administrator. 1. A person appointed to administer only a specific part of an intestate decedent's estate. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 22. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 951–952, 954–956.] 2. A person appointed to serve as administrator of an estate solely because of an emergency or an unusual situation, such as a will contest. — Also termed (in sense 2) administrator pendente lite.

ADMINISTRATOR'S BOND

administrator's bond. See fiduciary bond under BOND(2).

ADMINISTRATOR'S DEED

administrator's deed. See DEED.

ADMINISTRATRIX

administratrix (ad-min-<<schwa>>-stray-triks or ad-min-<<schwa>>-str*<<schwa>>*-triks). Archaic. A female administrator. Pl. administratrices, administratrices. See ADMINISTRATOR(2).

ADMIRALITAS admiralitas (ad-m*<<schwa>>-ral-<<schwa>>*-tas), n. [Law Latin] 1. Admiralty; an admiralty court. 2. SOCIETAS NAVALIS.

ADMIRALTY

admiralty (ad-m*<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>>*-tee), n. 1. A court that exercises jurisdiction over all maritime contracts, torts, injuries, or offenses. • The federal courts are so called when exercising their admiralty jurisdiction, which is conferred by the U.S. Constitution (art. III, § 2, cl. 1). — Also termed admiralty court; maritime court. [Cases: Admiralty 1.C.J.S. Admiralty §§ 2–12, 33, 37, 41, 69–70, 83, 280.] 2. The system of jurisprudence that has grown out of the practice of admiralty courts; MARITIME LAW. 3. Narrowly, the rules governing contract, tort, and workers'-compensation claims arising out of commerce on or over navigable water. — Also termed (in senses 2 & 3) admiralty law. — admiralty, adj.

ADMIRALTY, FIRST LORD

Admiralty, First Lord. See FIRST LORD OF THE ADMIRALTY.

ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME JURISDICTION

admiralty and maritime jurisdiction. The exercise of authority over maritime cases by the U.S. district courts sitting in admiralty. See 28 USCA § 1333. — Often shortened to admiralty jurisdiction; maritime jurisdiction. See ADMIRALTY(1); SUPPLEMENTAL RULES FOR CERTAIN ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME CLAIMS . [Cases: Admiralty 1–25. C.J.S. Admiralty §§ 2–86, 280; Conflict of Laws § 49.]

ADMIRALTY CLAUSE

Admiralty Clause. The clause of the U.S. Constitution giving the federal courts jurisdiction over admiralty and maritime cases. U.S. Const. art. III, § 2, cl. 1.

ADMIRALTY COURT

admiralty court. See ADMIRALTY(1).

ADMIRALTY EXTENSION ACT

Admiralty Extension Act. A 1948 statute extending admiralty-tort jurisdiction to include all cases in which damage or injury is caused by a vessel on navigable water, regardless of where the injury or damage occurred. 46 USCA app. § 740. • Specifically, the Act extended jurisdiction over damages and injuries that a vessel causes on land, such as to bridges and piers or to people on them. — Abbr. AEA.

ADMIRALTY JURISDICTION

admiralty jurisdiction. See ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME JURISDICTION.

ADMIRALTY LAW

admiralty law. 1. ADMIRALTY(2), 2. ADMIRALTY(3).

ADMISSIBILITY

admissibility (ad-mis-<<schwa>>-bil-<<schwa>>-tee), n. The quality or state of being allowed to be entered into evidence in a hearing, trial, or other proceeding. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2011; Trial 43. C.J.S. Trial § 162.]

“ ‘Admissibility’ can best be thought of as a concept consisting of two quite different aspects: disclosure to the trier of fact and express or implied permission to use as ‘evidence.’ If we think of admissibility as a question of disclosure or nondisclosure, it is usually easy to say whether or not an item of evidence has been admitted. When we consider the question of permissible use, the concept seems much more complex. In the first place, evidence may be ‘admissible’ for one purpose but not for another.... In the second place, questions of the permissible use of evidence do not arise only at the time of disclosure to the trier of fact. The court may have to consider admissibility in deciding whether to give the jury a limiting instruction, whether or not an opponent’s rebuttal evidence is relevant, and whether or not counsel can argue to the jury that the evidence proves a particular point.” 22 Charles Alan Wright & Kenneth W. Graham Jr., Federal Practice and Procedure § 5193, at 184 (1978).

conditional admissibility. The evidentiary rule that when a piece of evidence is not itself admissible, but is admissible if certain other facts make it relevant, the evidence becomes admissible on condition that counsel later introduce the connecting facts. • If counsel does not satisfy this condition, the opponent is entitled to have the conditionally admitted piece of evidence struck from the record, and to have the judge instruct the jury to disregard it. [Cases: Criminal Law 672, 681; Federal Civil Procedure 2014; Trial 51. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1217; Trial § 177.]

curative admissibility. The rule that an inadmissible piece of evidence may be admitted if offered to cure or counteract the effect of some similar piece of the opponent’s evidence that itself should not have been admitted. [Cases: Criminal Law 396; Evidence 155. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 758; Evidence §§ 248–250.]

limited admissibility. The principle that testimony or exhibits may be admitted into evidence for a restricted purpose. • Common examples are admitting prior contradictory testimony to impeach a witness but not to establish the truth, and admitting evidence against one party but not another. The trial court must, upon request, instruct the jury properly about the applicable limits when admitting the evidence. Fed. R. Evid. 105. [Cases: Criminal Law 385; Trial 54. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 656, 753; Trial § 179.]

multiple admissibility. The evidentiary rule that, although a piece of evidence is inadmissible under one rule for the purpose given in offering it, it is nevertheless admissible if relevant and offered for some other purpose not forbidden by the rules of evidence. [Cases: Criminal Law 385; Trial 54. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 656, 753; Trial § 179.]

ADMISSIBLE

admissible (ad-mis-<<schwa>>-b*<<schwa>>*l), adj. 1. Capable of being legally admitted; allowable; permissible <admissible evidence>. 2. Worthy of gaining entry or being admitted .

ADMISSIBLE EVIDENCE

admissible evidence. See EVIDENCE.

ADMISSION

admission (ad-mish-*<<schwa>>*n), n. 1. Any statement or assertion made by a party to a case and offered against that party; an acknowledgment that facts are true. Cf. CONFESSIO. [Cases: Criminal Law 405; Evidence 200–205. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 877; Evidence §§ 293, 340, 364–467, 469–471.]

admission against interest. A person's statement acknowledging a fact that is harmful to the person's position as a litigant. • An admission against interest must be made either by a litigant or by one in privity with or occupying the same legal position as the litigant; as an exception to the hearsay rule, it is admissible whether or not the person is available as a witness. Fed. R. Evid. 801(d)(2). A declaration against interest, by contrast, is made by a nonlitigant who is not in privity with a litigant; a declaration against interest is also admissible as an exception to the hearsay rule, but only when the declarant is unavailable as a witness. Fed. R. Evid. 804(b)(3). See declaration against interest under DECLARATION(6).

admission by employee or agent. An admission made by a party-opponent's agent during employment and concerning a matter either within the scope of the agency or authorized by the party-opponent. [Cases: Criminal Law 410; Evidence 237–245. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 890–891; Evidence §§ 366, 433–442, 444–450, 454.]

admission by party-opponent. An opposing party's admission, which is not considered hearsay if it is offered against that party and is (1) the party's own statement, in either an individual or a representative capacity; (2) a statement of which the party has manifested an adoption or belief in its truth; (3) a statement by one authorized by the party to make such a statement; (4) a statement by the party's agent concerning a matter within the scope of the agency or employment and made during the existence of the relationship; or (5) a statement by a coconspirator of the party during the course of and in furtherance of the conspiracy. Fed. R. Evid. 801(d)(2). [Cases: Criminal Law 405–410; Evidence 221–253. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 877, 880, 882–884, 887–895, 905, 932, 936–940, 942–946; Evidence §§ 293, 364, 366, 410.]

admission by silence. The failure of a party to speak after another party's assertion of fact that, if untrue, would naturally compel a person to deny the statement. [Cases: Criminal Law 407;

Evidence 220. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 887; Evidence §§ 390–393.]

admission in judicio. See judicial admission.

adoptive admission. An action by a party that indicates approval of a statement made by another, and thereby acceptance that the statement is true. [Cases: Criminal Law 407; Evidence 220. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 887; Evidence §§ 390–393.]

extrajudicial admission. An admission made outside court proceedings.

implied admission. An admission reasonably inferable from a party's action or statement, or a party's failure to act or speak. — Also termed tacit admission. [Cases: Evidence 265(12). C.J.S. Evidence § 471.]

incidental admission. An admission made in some other connection or involved in the admission of some other fact.

incriminating admission. An admission of facts tending to establish guilt. [Cases: Criminal Law 405. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 877.]

judicial admission. A formal waiver of proof that relieves an opposing party from having to prove the admitted fact and bars the party who made the admission from disputing it. — Also termed solemn admission; admission in judicio; true admission. [Cases: Criminal Law 406(4); Evidence 206, 265(7). C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 882–884; Evidence §§ 364, 469, 472, 475–476.]

quasi-admission. An act or utterance, usu. extrajudicial, that creates an inconsistency with and discredits, to a greater or lesser degree, a present claim or other evidence of the person creating the inconsistency. [C.J.S. Evidence §§ 293, 340, 364–467, 469–471.]

solemn admission. See judicial admission.

tacit admission. See implied admission.

true admission. See judicial admission.

2. Acceptance of a lawyer by the established licensing authority, such as a state bar association, as a member of the practicing bar, usu. after the lawyer passes a bar examination and supplies adequate character references <admission to the bar>. • The entry of a lawyer on the rolls of an integrated bar, usu. after the fulfillment of two prerequisites: graduating from law school and passing a state bar examination. — Also termed admission to practice law. [Cases: Attorney and Client 7. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 19–22.]

admission on motion. Permanent admission of a lawyer who is in good standing in the bar of a different state without the need for a full bar examination. [Cases: Attorney and Client 10. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 26–28.]

admission pro hac vice (proh hak vi-see or proh hak vee-chay). Temporary admission of an out-of-jurisdiction lawyer to practice before a court in a specified case or set of cases. See PRO HAC VICE. [Cases: Attorney and Client 10. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 26–28.]

3.Patents. A concession or representation by a patent applicant that an activity, knowledge, or a publication is prior art. • An admission requires the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office examiner to consider the relevant item as prior art, even if it does not technically qualify as prior art. — Also termed admission of prior art. [Cases: Patents 51(1). C.J.S. Patents §§ 31–33, 39.]

ADMISSION TAX

admission tax. See TAX.

ADMISSION TO BAIL

admission to bail. An order to release an accused person from custody after payment of bail or receipt of an adequate surety for the person's appearance for trial. See BAIL(1).

ADMISSION TO PRACTICE LAW

admission to practice law. See ADMISSION(2).

ADMISSION TO SUFFICIENT FACTS

admission to sufficient facts. See SUBMISSION TO A FINDING.

ADMITTANCE

admittance. 1. The act of entering a building, locality, or the like. 2. Permission to enter. 3. Hist. The act of giving seisin of a copyhold estate. • Admittance corresponded with livery of seisin of a freehold. Copyhold estates were abolished by the Law of Property Act of 1922. See COPYHOLD.

ADMITTED ASSET

admitted asset. See ASSET.

ADMITTED CORPORATION

admitted corporation. See CORPORATION.

ADMITTENDO CLERICO

admittendo clerico (ad-mi-ten-doh kler-<<schwa>>-koh). See DE CLERICO ADMITTENDO .

ADMITTENDO IN SOCIUM

admittendo in socium (ad-mi-ten-doh in soh-shee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Hist. A writ for associating certain persons, such as knights, to justices of assize on the circuit.

ADMIXTURE

admixture (ad-miks-ch<<schwa>>r). 1. The mixing of things. 2. A substance formed by mixing.

ADMONITION

admonition (ad-m<<schwa>>-nish-<<schwa>>n), n.1. Any authoritative advice or caution from the court to the jury regarding their duty as jurors or the admissibility of evidence for consideration <the judge's admonition that the jurors not discuss the case until they are charged>. [Cases: Criminal Law 852; Trial 133.6. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1371; Trial §§ 331–332.] 2. A reprimand or cautionary statement addressed to counsel by a judge <the judge's admonition that the lawyer stop speaking out of turn>. [Cases: Criminal Law 730; Trial 133.4. C.J.S. Trial § 331.] 3. Eccles. law. An authoritatively issued warning or censure. — admonish (ad-mon-ish), vb. — admonitory (ad-mon-<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj.

ADMONITIO TRINA

admonitio trina (ad-m<<schwa>>-nish-ee-oh trI-n<<schwa>>), n.[Law Latin “triple warning”] Hist. A threefold warning advising a defendant charged with a capital crime that refusal to answer questions about the offense would in itself be considered a capital crime punishable by death. See PEINE FORTE ET DURE .

AD MORDENDUM ASSUETUS

ad mordendum assuetus (ad mor-den-d<<schwa>>m <<schwa>>-swee-t<<schwa>>s), adj.[Law Latin] Hist. Accustomed to bite. • This phrase was a common charge in a declaration of damage done by a dog to a person or to another animal.

ADMORTIZATION

admortization (ad-mor-t<<schwa>>-zay-sh<<schwa>>n).Hist. The reduction of property of lands or tenements to mortmain.

ADNEPOS

adnepos (ad-nep-ohs), n.[Latin] Hist. A great-great-grandson.

ADNEPTIS

adneptis (ad-nep-tis), n.[Latin] Hist. A great-great-granddaughter.

ADNIHILARE

adnihilare (ad-nI-h<<schwa>>-lair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] Hist. To annul; to make void.

AD NOCUMENTUM

ad nocumentum (ad nok-yoo-men-t<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] Hist. To the nuisance; to the hurt or injury.

AD NON EXECUTA

ad non executata (ad non ek-s<<schwa>>-kyoo-t<<schwa>>), adv.[Latin] Hist. For the things not executed (as by an executor).

ADNOTATIO

adnotatio (ad-noh-tay-shee-oh), n.[Latin] Roman law. A note written in the margin of a document; esp., the reply of the emperor in his own hand to a petition addressed to him. Pl. adnotationes (ad-noh-tay-shee-oh-nee-z). See RESCRIPT(3).

AD OMISSA VEL MALE APPRETIATA

ad omissa vel male appretiata (ad oh-mis-<<schwa>> vel mal-ee <<schwa>>-pree-shee-ay-t*<<schwa>>*). [Law Latin] Scots law. Concerning things omitted or undervalued. • The phrase appeared in reference to an executor's duty to include in an estate's inventory previously omitted items or to reevaluate undervalued items in the estate's inventory.

ADOPTABILITY

adoptability, n. Family law. 1. A child's availability to be adopted, esp. by reason of all legal impediments having been removed. 2. The likelihood of a child's being adopted; a prospective adoptee's desirability from the prospective parents' point of view. — adoptable, adj.

ADOPTED CHILD

adopted child. See CHILD.

ADOPTEE

adoptee. A person who has become the legal child of one or two nonbiological parents. — Also termed adopted child.

ADOPTION

adoption, n. 1. Family law. The creation of a parent-child relationship by judicial order between two parties who usu. are unrelated; the relation of parent and child created by law between persons who are not in fact parent and child. • This relationship is brought about only after a determination that the child is an orphan or has been abandoned, or that the parents' parental rights have been terminated by court order. Adoption creates a parent-child relationship between the adopted child and the adoptive parents with all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities that attach to that relationship, though there may be agreed exceptions. There is a distinction between adoption and legitimation, and between adoption and fostering. Adoption usu. refers to an act between persons unrelated by blood; legitimation refers to an act between persons related by blood. Universally, a decree of adoption confers legitimate status on the adopted child. See adopted child under CHILD. Cf. LEGITIMATION(2). [Cases: Adoption 1. C.J.S. Adoption of Persons §§ 2-4.]

“Although adoption is found in many societies, ancient and modern, primitive and civilized, and is recognized by the civil law, it was unknown at common law. Accordingly, adoption is entirely a creature of statute” Elias Clark et al., Gratuitous Transfers: Wills, Intestate Succession, Trusts, Gifts, Future Interests, and Estate and Gift Taxation Cases and Materials 73-74 (4th ed. 1999).

adoption by estoppel. 1. An equitable adoption of a child by one who promises or acts in a way that precludes the person and his or her estate from denying adopted status to the child. 2. An equitable decree of adoption treating as done that which ought to have been done. • Such a decree is entered when no final decree of adoption has already been obtained, even though the principal has acted as if an adoption has been achieved. A petitioner must show an agreement of adoption, relinquishment of parental authority by the child's biological parents, assumption of parental responsibility by the foster parents, and a de facto relationship of parent and child over a substantial period. Such a claim typically occurs when an adoptive parent has died intestate, and the child tries to be named an heir. In a minority of states, adoption by estoppel may be a basis for allowing a child to participate in a wrongful-death action. — Also termed equitable adoption; virtual adoption. See ESTOPPEL(1).3. See de facto adoption. [Cases: Adoption 6. C.J.S. Adoption of Persons §§ 25–40.]

adult adoption.The adoption of one adult by another. • Many jurisdictions do not allow adult adoptions. Those that do often impose restrictions, as by requiring consent of the person to be adopted, but may not look too closely at the purpose for which adoption is sought.

agency adoption.An adoption in which parental rights are terminated and legal custody is relinquished to an agency that finds and approves the adoptive parents. • An agency adoption can be either public or private. In all states, adoption agencies must be licensed, and in most they are nonprofit entities. Parents who voluntarily place a child for adoption most commonly use a private agency. Cf. private adoption.

black-market adoption. 1. An illegal adoption in which an intermediary (a broker) receives payment for his or her services. 2. Baby-selling.

closed adoption.An adoption in which the biological parent relinquishes his or her parental rights and surrenders the child to an unknown person or persons; an adoption in which there is no disclosure of the identity of the birth parents, adopting parent or parents, or child. • Adoptions by stepparents, blood relatives, and foster parents are exceptions to the no-disclosure requirement. — Also termed confidential adoption. Cf. open adoption; cooperative adoption.

cooperative adoption.A process in which the birth parents and adoptive parents negotiate to reach a voluntary agreement about the degree and type of continuing contact after adoption, including direct visitation or more limited arrangements such as communication by telephone or mail, the exchange of either identifying or non-identifying information, and other forms of contact. Cf. open adoption; closed adoption.

de facto adoption.An adoption that falls short of the statutory requirements in a particular state. • The adoption agreement may ripen to a de jure adoption when the statutory formalities have been met or if a court finds that the requirements for adoption by estoppel have been met. — Also termed adoption by estoppel. [Cases: Adoption 6. C.J.S. Adoption of Persons §§ 25–40.]

de facto stepparent adoption.See second-parent adoption.

direct-placement adoption.See private adoption.

embryo adoption.Slang. The receipt of a frozen embryo that is implanted into a recipient's womb. • Donors must waive all parental rights before the recipients of the embryo assume legal ownership or custody. The process is not considered to be a legal adoption because American law does not treat embryos as children.

equitable adoption. See adoption by estoppel.

gray-market adoption. See private adoption.

identified adoption. See private adoption.

independent adoption. See private adoption.

intercountry adoption. See international adoption.

international adoption. An adoption in which parents domiciled in one nation travel to a foreign country to adopt a child there, usu. in accordance with the laws of the child's nation. • International adoptions first became popular after World War II and escalated after the Korean Conflict because of the efforts of humanitarian programs working to find homes for children left orphaned by the wars. More recently, prospective parents have turned to international adoption as the number of healthy babies domestically available for adoption has steadily declined. — Also termed transnational adoption; intercountry adoption. See MULTIETHNIC PLACEMENT ACT OF 1994.

interracial adoption. See transracial adoption.

interstate adoption. An adoption in which the prospective parents live in one state and the child lives in another state. See INTERSTATE COMPACT ON THE PLACEMENT OF CHILDREN.

joint adoption. An adoption in which the prospective parents apply as a couple and are approved or rejected as a couple, as opposed to filing separate and individual applications to adopt a child. • Although the term most often applies to adoption by a married couple, it also applies to an adoption petition by two unmarried partners who are adopting a child.

open adoption. An adoption in which the biological mother (sometimes with the biological father) chooses the adoptive parents and in which the child often continues to have a post-adoption relationship with his or her biological family. • Typically the birth parents meet the adoptive parents and participate in the separation and placement process. The birth parents relinquish all legal, moral, and nurturing rights over the child, but usu. retain the right to continuing contact and to knowledge of the child's welfare and location. Cf. closed adoption; cooperative adoption.

posthumous adoption. An adoption that becomes legally final after the death of either an adoptive parent or the adopted child. • Few states recognize posthumous adoptions; most require all parties to an adoption to be alive at the time the final judgment is rendered.

private adoption. An adoption that occurs independently between the biological mother (and sometimes the biological father) and the adoptive parents without the involvement of an agency. • A private adoption is usu. arranged by an intermediary such as a lawyer, doctor, or counselor. Legal custody — though sometimes not physical custody — remains with the biological parent or parents until the termination and adoption are complete. — Also termed private-placement adoption; direct-placement adoption; direct adoption; gray-market adoption; identified adoption;

independent adoption. Cf. agency adoption.

private-placement adoption. See private adoption.

pseudo-stepparent adoption. See second-parent adoption.

second-parent adoption. An adoption by an unmarried cohabiting partner of a child's legal parent, not involving the termination of a legal parent's rights; esp., an adoption in which a lesbian, gay man, or unmarried heterosexual person adopts his or her partner's biological or adoptive child. See Restatement (Third) of Property: Wills and Other Donative Transfers § 2.5 cmt. i. • Although not all jurisdictions recognize second-parent adoption, the practice is becoming more widely accepted. See In re Adoption of B.L.V.B., 628 A.2d 1271 (Vt. 1993); In re Adoption of Tammy, 619 N.E.2d 315 (Mass. 1993); In re Adoption of Evan, 583 N.Y.S.2d 997 (Sur. Ct. 1992). — Also termed de facto stepparent adoption; pseudo-stepparent adoption. Cf. stepparent adoption.

stepparent adoption. The adoption of a child by a stepfather or stepmother. • Stepparent adoptions are the most common adoptions in the United States. Cf. second-parent adoption.

transnational adoption. See international adoption.

transracial adoption. An adoption in which at least one adoptive parent is of a race different from that of the adopted child. • Under federal law, child-placement agencies may not use race as a factor in approving adoptions. 42 USCA § 5115a. — Also termed interracial adoption. See MULTIETHNIC PLACEMENT ACT OF 1994.

virtual adoption. See adoption by estoppel.

wrongful adoption. See WRONGFUL ADOPTION.

2. Roman law. The legal process of creating a parent-child relationship with a young person who is still under the power of another father. • The adopted person became part of the new paterfamilias's agnatic family with exactly the same standing as children (or grandchildren) by blood. This was later modified by Justinian. 3. Contracts. The process by which a person agrees to assume a contract previously made for that person's benefit, such as a newly formed corporation's acceptance of a preincorporation contract. Cf. ADROGATION. [Cases: Corporations 448(2). C.J.S. Corporations §§ 70–71, 73.] 4. Trademarks. The mental act necessary to acquire legal rights in a trademark, consisting of knowledge and intention to use a trademark on or in connection with a product or service in commerce. [Cases: Trade Regulation 63. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 31, 35, 37.] 5. Parliamentary law. A deliberative assembly's approval or endorsement by vote of a motion or report. — Also termed acceptance; consent; passage; ratification. — adopt, vb. — adoptive, adj.

ADOPTION AGENCY

adoption agency. A licensed establishment where a biological parent can voluntarily surrender a child for adoption. See agency adoption under ADOPTION.

ADOPTION AND SAFE FAMILIES ACT

Adoption and Safe Families Act.A 1997 federal law that requires states to provide safe and permanent homes for abused and neglected children within shorter periods than those required by earlier state and federal laws. • The primary focus is on the safety and well-being of the child, in contrast to previously paramount rights of the parents. The ASFA signaled a dramatic shift in the philosophy of child-protection proceedings that had controlled since 1980 under the Adoption Assistance and Child Welfare Act. — Abbr. ASFA. See ADOPTION ASSISTANCE AND CHILD WELFARE ACT; FOSTER-CARE DRIFT.

ADOPTION ASSISTANCE AND CHILD WELFARE ACT

Adoption Assistance and Child Welfare Act.A 1980 federal statute whose purpose was to force states to use reasonable efforts (1) to avoid removing children from their homes, (2) to reunite families when children had been removed because of abuse or neglect, and (3) when reunification failed, to terminate parental rights and place the children in permanent homes.42 USCA §§ 620 et seq.; §§ 670 et seq. • The Act provided funds for foster-care placement, Child Protective Services, family preservation and reunification, and foster-care reform to states complying with the Act. Its aim was to prevent the unnecessary removal of children from homes and to hasten the return of children in foster care to their families. It has now been essentially overruled in philosophy by the 1997 enactment of the Adoption and Safe Families Act. See ADOPTION AND SAFE FAMILIES ACT.

ADOPTION-ASSISTANCE PLAN

adoption-assistance plan.An employer-sponsored program that provides financial assistance to employees for adoption-related expenses.

ADOPTION BY ESTOPPEL

adoption by estoppel.See ADOPTION(1).

ADOPTION BY REFERENCE

adoption by reference.See INCORPORATION BY REFERENCE.

ADOPTION-REGISTRY STATUTE

adoption-registry statute.A law that provides for the release of adoption information if the biological parent, the adoptive parent, and the adoptee (after he or she reaches a certain statutorily prescribed age) all officially record their desire for its release. — Also termed voluntary-registry law.

active adoption-registry statute.A registry statute that authorizes a state authority to seek out parties' desires to obtain or release adoption information when one party expresses a desire for that information.

passive adoption-registry statute.A registry statute allowing parties to register their desires for release of adoption information after an adopted child reaches a specified age.

ADOPTIVE ADMISSION

adoptive admission. See ADMISSION(1).

ADOPTIVE-ADMISSIONS RULE

adoptive-admissions rule. Evidence. The principle that a statement offered against an accused is not inadmissible hearsay if the accused is aware of the statement and has, by words or conduct, indicated acceptance that the statement is true. See adoptive admission under ADMISSION(1).

ADOPTIVE FATHER

adoptive father. See adoptive parent under PARENT.

ADOPTIVE MOTHER

adoptive mother. See adoptive parent under PARENT.

ADOPTIVE PARENT

adoptive parent. See PARENT.

AD OPUS

ad opus (ad oh-p<<schwa>>s), adv. [Law Latin] For the benefit; for the use. • This term indicated an intent to create a use to benefit another. See USE (4).

AD OSTENDENDUM

ad ostendendum (ad ah-sten-den-d<<schwa>>m), vb. [Law Latin] To show.

AD OSTIUM ECCLESIAE

ad ostium ecclesiae (ad ah-stee-<<schwa>>m e-kee-z[h]ee-ee), adv. [Law Latin] At the church door. See dower ad ostium ecclesiae under DOWER.

AD PARATAM EXECUTIONEM

ad paratam executionem (ad p<<schwa>>-ray-t<<schwa>>m ek-si-kyoo-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. For execution on completed diligence. • The phrase appeared in judgments.

AD PARES CASUS

ad pares casus (ad par-eez kay-s<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. To similar cases.

AD PERPETUAM REI MEMORIAM

ad perpetuam rei memoriam (ad p<<schwa>>r-pech-oo-<<schwa>>m ree-I m<<schwa>>-mor-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Hist. For a perpetual record of the matter.

“By the statute 1685, a register-book is appointed to be kept, in which entails are to be recorded, with the name of the maker, the heirs, the provisions and conditions of the entail, ‘all to remain in the said register ad perpetuam rei memoriam.’ ” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 29–30 (4th ed. 1894).

AD PERPETUAM REMANENTIAM

ad perpetuam remanentiam (ad p<<schwa>>r-pech-oo-<<schwa>>m rem-<<schwa>>-nen-shee-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. To remain forever. • When a vassal surrendered the right of property to the superior ad perpetuam remanentiam, the surrender was in favor of the superior, as distinguished from a transfer in favorem, in which the vassal transferred the property to the superior to be regranted in favor of a purchaser.

AD PIOS USUS

ad pios usus (ad pI-ohs yoo-s<<schwa>>s oryoo-z<<schwa>>s), adv.[Law Latin] For pious (religious or charitable) uses or purposes. • This phrase was used in reference to gifts and bequests.

AD PRISTINUM STATUM

ad pristinum statum (ad pris-ti-n<<schwa>>m stay-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Hist. To its pristine condition.

ADPROMISSION

adpromission (ad-pr<<schwa>>-mish-<<schwa>>n). [fr. Latin adpromissio] Roman law. 1. A suretyship contract in which the surety promises to be liable for no more than the debtor owes. • Roman law had three types of adpromission: (1) sponsion; (2) fidepromission; and (3) fidejussion. In addition, mandatam and pactum de con-stitutio could indirectly be used by way of guarantee. 2. A suretyship relation. — Also termed adpromissio.

ADPROMISSOR

adpromissor (ad-prom-is-<<schwa>>r), n. [Latin] Roman law. A surety for a debtor under a promise by stipulation. See ADPROMISSION.

AD PROSEQUENDAM

ad prosequendam (ad prahs-<<schwa>>-kwen-d<<schwa>>m), vb.[Law Latin] To prosecute.

AD PUNCTUM TEMPORIS

ad punctum temporis (ad p<<schwa>>ngk-t<<schwa>>m tem-p<<schwa>>-ris), adv.[Law Latin] At the point of time.

AD QUAERIMONIAM

ad quaerimoniam (ad kweer-<<schwa>>-moh-nee-<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] On complaint of.

AD QUEM

ad quem (ad kwem), adv.[Latin] To whom. • This term is used as a correlative to a quo in computation of time or distance. For example, the terminus a quo is the point of beginning or departure; the terminus ad quem is the end of the period or point of arrival.

AD QUOD CURIA CONCORDAVIT

ad quod curia concordavit (ad kwod kyoor-ee-<<schwa>> kon-kor-day-vit). [Law Latin] To which the court agreed.

AD QUOD DAMNUM

ad quod damnum (ad kwod dam-n<<schwa>>m). [Latin “to what damage”] Hist. A writ directing the sheriff to inquire of jurors under oath to what damage a grant (as of a fair, market, liberty, or other franchise) would be to various people if the king were to make the grant. • The writ was issuable from the court of chancery. — Also termed writ of ad quod damnum.

AD QUOD NON FUIT RESPONSUM

ad quod non fuit responsum (ad kwod non fyoo-it ri-spon-s<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] To which there was no answer. • This phrase was used in law reports to indicate an unresponded-to argument or objection.

ADR

ADR.abbr.1.ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION. 2.ASSET-DEPRECIATION RANGE. 3.AMERICAN DEPOSITORY RECEIPT.

AD RATIONEM PONERE

ad rationem ponere (ad ray-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m poh-n<<schwa>>-ree), vb.[Law Latin “to give a reason”] To cite (a person) to appear. • The Exchequer summoned persons to appear and explain a charge with this phrase.

AD RECOGNOSCENDUM

ad recognoscendum (ad ree-kog-n<<schwa>>-sen-d<<schwa>>m), vb.[Law Latin] To recognize. • These were formal words in writs.

ADRECTARE

adrectare (ad-rek-tair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] Hist. To do right; to satisfy.

AD RECTUM

ad rectum (ad rek-t<<schwa>>m), vb.[Law Latin] To right; to meet an accusation.

AD REPARATIONEM ET SUSTENTATIONEM

ad reparationem et sustentationem (ad rep-<<schwa>>-ray-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m et s<<schwa>>-sten-tay-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] For repairing and keeping in suitable condition.

AD REPRIMENDAM IMPROBITATEM HUIUS GENERIS HOMINUM

ad reprimendam improbitatem huius generis hominum (ad rep-ri-men-d<<schwa>>m im-proh-bi-tay-t<<schwa>>m hI-<<schwa>>s [or hwI-<<schwa>>s] jen-<<schwa>>-ris hom-<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Hist. To repress the dishonesty of this class of men. • The phrase appeared in reference to obligations that the law imposed on certain persons (such as innkeepers) because they were in a unique position to receive and misappropriate valuables entrusted to them. Cf. NAUTAE, CAUPONES, STABULARII.

AD RESPONDENDUM

ad respondendum (ad ree-spon-den-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin] To answer. See capias ad respondendum under CAPIAS; habeas corpus ad respondendum under HABEAS CORPUS.

AD RIMANDAM VERITATEM

ad rimandam veritatem (ad ri-man-d<<schwa>>m ver-i-tay-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Hist. For the investigation of the truth. • Parol testimony was sometimes allowed ad rimandam veritatem.

ADROGATE

adrogate (ad-roh-gayt), vb. Roman law. (Of a man) to adopt a son or daughter who is not already under another father's power (patria potestas). • Daughters became eligible for adoption in the later Empire.

ADROGATION

adrogation (ad-roh-gay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.[fr. Latin arrogatio (a-roh-gay-shee-oh)] Roman law. An adoption of a person of full capacity (sui juris) into another family. — Also termed adrogatio (ad-roh-gay-shee-oh). Cf. ADOPTION (3). — adrogate, vb.

“When the person to be adopted was sui juris, and not in the power of a paterfamilias, the ceremony of adoption was called adrogatio.” Lord Mackenzie, Studies in Roman Law 132 (John Kirkpatrick ed., 7th ed. 1898).

ADS

ads.abbr.AD SECTAM.

AD SATISFACIENDUM

ad satisfaciendum (ad sat-is-fay-shee-en-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin] To satisfy. See capias ad satisfaciendum under CAPIAS.

ADSCENDENTES

adscendentes (ad-sen-den-teez), n. pl.[Latin] Civil law. Ascendants.

ADSCRIPTI GLEBAE

adscripti glebae (ad-skrip-tIglee-bee), n.[Latin “(tenants) tied to the soil”] Roman law. Tenants or serfs bound to the land. • If the land was conveyed, the serfs were conveyed along with it. — Also termed glebae ascriptitii.

ADSCRIPTITIUS

adscriptitius (ad-skrip-tish-ee-<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman law. 1. A supernumerary citizen or soldier. 2. A tenant bound to the land. — Also spelled adscripticius; ascripticius.

ADSCRIPTUS

adscriptus (ad-skrip-t<<schwa>>s), adj.[Latin] Roman law. 1. Added, annexed, or bound by or in writing; enrolled or registered. 2. Bound, as in servus colonae adscriptus (a tenant bound to an estate as a cultivator) or fundus adscriptus (an estate bound to or burdened with a duty). — Also spelled ascriptus; ascriptitius. See ADSCRIPTUS GLEBAE.

ADSCRIPTUS GLEBAE

adscriptus glebae (ad-skrip-tuus glee-bee). [Latin “(a tenant) tied to the soil”] Roman law. A tenant or serf bound to the land. • If the land was conveyed, the serfs were conveyed along with it, but in other respects they were free citizens. — Also termed glebae ascriptitius. Pl. adscripti glebae.

AD SECTAM

ad sectam (ad sek-t<<schwa>>m), adj.[Law Latin] At the suit of. • This term, in abbreviated form, was used in indexing the names of cases by defendant — for example, “B ads. A” if B is the defendant. — Abbr. ads.; adsm.

ADSESSOR

adessor (ad-ses-<<schwa>>r), n.[Latin] 1.Roman law. A legally qualified assistant or adviser to a judge. 2.Hist. Assessor. • This was a title of a master in chancery. — Also spelled assessor.

AD SIMILES CASUS

ad similes casus (ad sim-<<schwa>>-leez kay-s<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. To like cases. See CONSIMILI CASU.

ADSM

adsm.abbr.AD SECTAM.

ADSTIPULATOR

adstipulator (ad-stip-y<<schwa>>-lay-t<<schwa>>r), n.[Latin] Roman law. An additional party to a contract who could enforce the contract along with the principal (i.e., the stipulator). • An adstipulator who enforced an agreement would have to, in turn, pay the stipulator. An adstipulator was brought in to avoid the rule that a person could not directly stipulate for payment after death.

AD SUSTINENDA ONERA MATRIMONII

ad sustinenda onera matrimonii (ad s<<schwa>>s-ti-nen-d<<schwa>>on-<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>ma-tr<<schwa>>-moh-nee-I). [Latin] Scots law. To bear the burdens or expenses of the married state. • The phrase appeared in reference to the purpose for which the dowry was used.

AD TENTANDAS VIRES HAEREDITATIS

ad tentandas vires haereditatis (ad ten-tan-d<<schwa>>s vI-reez h<<schwa>>-red-i-tay-tis). [Latin] Hist. For the purpose of testing the strength of the inheritance.

AD TERMINUM ANNORUM

ad terminum annorum (ad t<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>m <<schwa>>-nor-<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] For a term of years.

AD TERMINUM QUI PRAETERIIT

ad terminum qui praeteriit (ad t<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>m kwI pri-ter-ee-it). [Law Latin “for a term which has passed”] A writ of entry to recover land leased out to a holdover tenant. — Also termed entry ad terminum qui praeteriit.

AD TESTIFICANDUM

ad testificandum (ad tes-ti-fi-kan-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin] To testify. See habeas corpus ad testificandum under HABEAS CORPUS; subpoena ad testificandum under SUBPOENA.

AD TUNC

ad tunc.[Latin] Then and there.

AD TUNC ET IBIDEM

ad tunc et ibidem (ad t<<schwa>>ngk et i-bI-d<<schwa>>m orib-i-d<<schwa>>m), adv.[Latin] Hist. Then and there being found. • This phrase was formerly used in indictments.

ADULT

adult (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>ltorad-<<schwa>>lt), n. A person who has attained the legal age of majority, generally 17 in criminal cases and 18 for other purposes. — Also termed major. Cf. MINOR(1). [Cases: Infants 68.5. C.J.S. Infants §§ 43–45.] — adult (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>lt), adj.

vulnerable adult.An adult who is physically or mentally disabled; esp., one dependent on institutional services.

ADULT ADOPTION

adult adoption.See ADOPTION.

ADULT CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTION

adult correctional institution.See PRISON.

ADULT DISABLED PERSON

adult disabled person.See PERSON(1).

ADULTER

adulter (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>l-t<<schwa>>r), n.[Latin] Roman law. An adulterer; a man guilty of adultery.

ADULTERA

adultera (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>l-t<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman law. An adulteress; a woman guilty of adultery.

ADULTERATE

adulterate (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>l-t<<schwa>>-rayt), vb. To debase or make impure by adding a foreign or inferior substance. [Cases: Adulteration 4. C.J.S. Adulteration §§ 2, 6–9.] — adulteration,n.

ADULTERATED DRUG

adulterated drug.See DRUG.

ADULTERATOR

adulator (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>l-t<<schwa>>-ray-t<<schwa>>r), n.[Latin fr. adulterare “to adulterate”] Civil law. A corrupter; a forger; a counterfeiter, as in adulteratores monetae (“counterfeiters of money”).

ADULTERINE

adulterine (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>l-t<<schwa>>-rin), adj.1. Characterized by adulteration. 2. Illegal; unlicensed. 3. Born of adultery. 4. Of or involving adultery.

adulterine,n. Archaic. An illegitimate child.

ADULTERINE BASTARD

adulterine bastard.See BASTARD.

ADULTERINE GUILD

adulterine guild.Hist. A group of traders who act like a corporation without a charter and who pay an annual fine for permission to exercise their usurped privileges.

ADULTERINI

adulterini (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>l-t<<schwa>>-rI-nI). [Law Latin] Hist. Children begotten adulterously. Cf. INCESTUOSI.

ADULTERIUM

adulterium (ad-<<schwa>>l-teer-ee-<<schwa>>m), n.[Latin] Roman & civil law. 1. The crime of adultery. 2. A punishment imposed for the offense of adultery.

“Adulterium.... [A]dultery ... was considered a criminal offense only when committed by a married woman (adultera) [Before the Lex Julia de adulteriis coercendis of 18 B.C.], customary law admitted only immediate revenge of the husband Under the Julian statute, the father of the adulterous woman was permitted to kill her and her partner (adulter) if he surprised them in his or her husband's house. The husband's rights were rather limited; he was forced to divorce her, for otherwise he made himself guilty of matchmaking [pandering] Besides, he or his father had to accuse the adulteress of adulterium which now became a public crime prosecuted before a criminal court." Adolf Berger, Encyclopedic Dictionary of Roman Law 352 (1953).

ADULTERY

adultery (<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>l-t<<schwa>>-ree), n. Voluntary sexual intercourse between a married person and someone other than the person's spouse. • In many jurisdictions, adultery is a crime, but it is rarely prosecuted. In states that still permit fault divorce, proof of adultery is a ground on which a divorce may be granted. A court may also use proof of adultery as a reason to reduce the offending spouse's marital-property award in a property division. Judges traditionally viewed adultery as a reason for denying the offending spouse primary custody of a child in a child-custody dispute. But today, only the deleterious effect of immoral behavior on the child is typically considered relevant. — Formerly also termed spouse-breach; avowtry. Cf. FORNICATION; INFIDELITY. [Cases: Adultery 1.C.J.S. Adultery §§ 2–8.] — adulterous,adj. — adulterer, adulteress,n.

“Returning to the question of adultery, evidently this word cannot be interpreted today in precisely the meaning it bore for the Old Testament patriarchs. On Old Testament principles one may marry several wives, even two sisters; and a married man may and should beget children for his dead brother. When Sarah found herself childless, she advised her husband Abraham to go in unto her maid, so that she might obtain children by the maid. Such acts, though evidently not adulterous within the original meaning of the Decalogue, would be regarded as adulterous by the laws and customs of Western society at the present day.” Glanville Williams, The Sanctity of Life and the Criminal Law 134 (1957).

“If a statute provided for the punishment of adultery without definition of the term, this gave rise to a difficulty as to the meaning of the word. In England, (1) the common-law meaning of the word was sex with another's wife, but this was not a common-law offense; (2) as the name of an offense it referred to sex by a married person with one other than the spouse, but that was recognized only in the ecclesiastical court.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 455 (3d ed. 1982).

“In some states, sexual intercourse between two married persons, who are not married to each other, constitutes adultery on the part of both; sexual intercourse between a married person and an unmarried person likewise constitutes adultery on the part of both. In other states, adultery can be committed only by a married person. Thus, sexual intercourse between two married persons, who are not married to each other, constitutes adultery on the part of both; but if only one party to the sexual intercourse is married, the intercourse constitutes adultery on the part of the married person and fornication on the part of the unmarried person. In other states, sexual intercourse constitutes adultery only where the woman is the married party. Thus, sexual intercourse between a married woman and a married man other than her spouse or sexual intercourse between a married woman and an unmarried man constitutes adultery on the part of both; but if the woman is unmarried, neither party is guilty of adultery even if the man is married.” 2 Charles E. Torcia, Wharton's Criminal Law § 211, at 531 (15th ed. 1994).

double adultery.Adultery between persons who are both married to other persons. [Cases: Adultery 1. C.J.S. Adultery §§ 2–8.]

incestuous adultery.Adultery between relatives; adultery committed by persons who are closely related. [Cases: Adultery 1; Incest 3. C.J.S. Adultery §§ 2–8; Incest§ 3.]

open and notorious adultery.Archaic. Adultery in which the parties reside together publicly, as if married, and the community is generally aware of the living arrangement and the fact that the couple is not married. [Cases: Marriage 53. C.J.S. Marriage § 45.]

single adultery.Adultery in which only one of the persons is married. [Cases: Adultery 1. C.J.S. Adultery §§ 2–8.]

ADULT OFFENDER

adult offender.See OFFENDER.

ADULT PROTECTIVE SERVICES

Adult Protective Services.A governmental agency with responsibility for investigating allegations of elder abuse and neglect and for responding appropriately. • Every state has such an agency. — Abbr. APS.

AD USUM ET COMMODUM

ad usum et commodum (ad yoo-s<<schwa>>m [or -z<<schwa>>m] et kom-<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] To the use and benefit.

AD VALENTIAM

ad valentiam (ad v<<schwa>>-len-shee-<<schwa>>m), adv.[Law Latin] To the value.

AD VALOREM

ad valorem (ad v<<schwa>>-lor-<<schwa>>m), adj.[Latin “according to the value”] (Of a tax) proportional to the value of the thing taxed. [Cases: Taxation 1, 1201.1. C.J.S. Taxation §§ 1–3, 5–6.] — ad valorem,adv.

AD VALOREM DUTY

ad valorem duty.See DUTY(4).

AD VALOREM TARIFF

ad valorem tariff.See TARIFF(2).

AD VALOREM TAX

ad valorem tax.See TAX.

ADVANCE

advance, n. 1. The furnishing of money or goods before any consideration is received in return.
2. The money or goods furnished.

ADVANCE BILL

advance bill. See BILL(6).

ADVANCE-DECLINE INDEX

advance-decline index. See INDEX(2).

ADVANCE DIRECTIVE

advance directive. 1. A document that takes effect upon one's incompetency and designates a surrogate decision-maker for healthcare matters. • The Uniform Health-Care Decision Act (1993) states that the power of attorney for healthcare must be in writing and signed by the principal. Unless otherwise stated, the authority is effective only upon a determination that the principal lacks capacity, and it ceases to be effective once the principal regains his capacity. The agent must make decisions in accordance with the principal's relevant instructions, if there are any, or in the principal's best interests. — Also termed power of attorney for healthcare; healthcare proxy. See POWER OF ATTORNEY; UNIFORM HEALTH-CARE DECISION ACT. 2. A legal document explaining one's wishes about medical treatment if one becomes incompetent or unable to communicate. — Often shortened to directive. — Also termed medical directive; physician's directive; written directive. See NATURAL-DEATH ACT; PROXY DIRECTIVE. Cf. LIVING WILL. 3. DO-NOT-RESUSCITATE ORDER. [Cases: Health 916.]

ADVANCED TELEVISION ENHANCEMENT FORUM

Advanced Television Enhancement Forum. A standard-setting organization that defines the protocols for HTML-based enhanced television. • The organization is an alliance of representatives from broadcast and cable networks, the consumer electronics and personal-computer industries, and television-transport companies. — Abbr. ATVEF.

ADVANCEMENT

advancement, n. A payment or gift to an heir (esp. a child) during one's lifetime as an advance share of one's estate, with the intention of reducing or extinguishing or diminishing the heir's claim to the estate under intestacy laws. • In some jurisdictions, the donor's intent is irrelevant if all the statutory elements of an advancement are present. A few jurisdictions define the relationship between the donor and donee to include inter vivos transfers between ancestors and descendants. Cf. ADEPTION. [Cases: Descent and Distribution 93–118; Wills 757–762. C.J.S. Descent and Distribution §§ 69, 95–111, 116; Wills §§ 1774–1790.] — advance, vb.

“It is sometimes difficult to know whether money which a parent has given to his child is an advancement or not, but, generally speaking, an advancement is money which is given either to start a child in life or to provide for him, and does not include casual payments, so that a child is not bound to account for every sum received from a parent.” G.C. Cheshire, Modern Law of Real Property 784 (3d ed. 1933).

ADVANCE PAYMENT

advance payment. See PAYMENT.

ADVANCE PREMIUM

advance premium. See PREMIUM(1).

ADVANCE PRICING AGREEMENT

advance pricing agreement. Tax. A usu. binding arrangement made between a multinational company and one or more national tax authorities about what method the company will use to calculate transfer prices. • The agreement's purpose is to reduce or eliminate double taxation. — Abbr. APA.

bilateral advance pricing agreement. An advance pricing agreement made between a company and two tax authorities.

multilateral advance pricing agreement. An advance pricing agreement made between a company and more than two tax authorities.

unilateral advance pricing agreement. An advance pricing agreement made between a company and one tax authority. • This does not necessarily allow a company to avoid double taxation. A tax authority that is not a party to the agreement is not bound by the transfer-pricing method specified in the agreement.

ADVANCE SHEETS

advance sheets. A softcover pamphlet containing recently reported opinions by a court or set of courts. • Advance sheets are published during the interim between an opinion's announcement and its inclusion in a bound volume of law reports. Cf. slip opinion (1) under OPINION; REPORT(3). [Cases: Courts 103; Reports 1. C.J.S. Courts §§ 170, 173–174, 176; Reports §§ 2–3.]

“As a bound volume of any series of reports is not published until sufficient matter has accumulated to fill it, it necessarily results in the holding of the first decisions rendered after the preceding volume has been issued, until there are enough more to justify the publication of the next volume. Even after enough material has been accumulated to fill a volume, there is necessarily considerable time consumed in its printing, indexing, and binding before the book is ready for delivery. Hence, it is customary, as soon as a part of the volume has come from the press, to issue such part in pamphlet form; and these paper-bound copies are known as ‘advance sheets.’ They are portions of the next volume issued in advance of final publication, being paged as they will appear in the bound volume. Advance sheets enable the enterprising lawyer to obtain the decisions right down almost to the date of his search for the law.” Frank Hall Childs, Where and How to Find the Law 21 (1922).

ADVANCING MARKET

advancing market. See bull market under MARKET.

ADVANTAGIUM

advantagium (ad-van-tay-jee-⟨schwa⟩m), n. [Law Latin] Hist. An advantage.

ADVENA

advena (ad-v⟨schwa⟩-n⟨schwa⟩), n. [Latin] Roman law. One who has come from abroad, esp. for a temporary stay; a sojourner.

ADVENTITIA BONA

adventitia bona (ad-ven-tish-ee-⟨schwa⟩ boh-n⟨schwa⟩). See BONA ADVENTITIA.

ADVENTITIA DOS

adventitia dos (ad-ven-tish-ee-⟨schwa⟩ dohs), n. [Latin] Civil law. A dowry given by someone other than the wife's paterfamilias. Pl. adventitiae dotes.

ADVENTITIOUS PROPERTY

adventitious property. See PROPERTY.

AD VENTREM INSPICIENDUM

ad ventrem inspiciendum (ad ven-tr⟨schwa⟩m in-spish-ee-en-d⟨schwa⟩m), n. [Latin] See DE VENTRE INSPICIENDO.

ADVENTURA

adventura (ad-ven-t[y]oor-⟨schwa⟩), n. [Law Latin] Hist. An adventure. • Flotsam, jetsam, and lagan were styled adventurae maris (“adventures of the sea”).

ADVENTURE

adventure. 1. A commercial undertaking that has an element of risk; a venture. Cf. JOINT VENTURE. 2. Marine insurance. A voyage involving financial and insurable risk, as to a shipment of goods. — Often shortened to venture. [Cases: Insurance 2214.]

common adventure. A maritime enterprise, characterized as an undertaking in which all participants, including the carrier, everyone with an interest in the cargo, and the insurers of all share the risks of the perils of the sea. • The principle of shared risk is fundamental to maritime law. — Also termed joint adventure; common venture.

gross adventure. A loan on bottomry, so called because the lender will be liable for the gross (or general) average. See BOTTOMRY.

joint adventure. 1. See common adventure. 2. See JOINT VENTURE.

ADVENTURER

adventurer. A person who undertakes a hazardous action or enterprise; one with a stake in a commercial ad-venture.

ADVERSARIUS

adversarius (ad-v<<schwa>>r-sair-ee-<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman law. An adversary in a lawsuit.

ADVERSARY

adversary (ad-v<<schwa>>r-ser-ee), n. An opponent; esp., opposing counsel. — adversary, adversarial,adj.

ADVERSARY PROCEDURE

adversary procedure.See ADVERSARY SYSTEM.

ADVERSARY PROCEEDING

adversary proceeding. 1. A hearing involving a dispute between opposing parties <Judge Adams presided over the adversary proceeding between the landlord and tenant>.2.Bankruptcy. A lawsuit that is brought within a bankruptcy proceeding, governed by special procedural rules, and based on conflicting claims usu. between the debtor (or the trustee) and a creditor or other interested party <the Chapter 7 trustee filed an adversary proceeding against the party who received $100,000 from the debtor one week before the bankruptcy filing>. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2156. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 26.]

ADVERSARY SYSTEM

adversary system.A procedural system, such as the Anglo-American legal system, involving active and unhin-dered parties contesting with each other to put forth a case before an independent decision-maker. — Also termed adversary procedure; (in criminal cases) accusatorial system, accusatory procedure. Cf. INQUISITORIAL SYSTEM.

“The term adversary system sometimes characterizes an entire legal process, and sometimes it refers only to criminal procedure. In the latter instance, it is often used interchangeably with an old expression of continental European origin, ‘accusatorial procedure,’ and is juxtaposed to the ‘inquisitorial,’ or ‘nonadversary,’ process. There is no precise understanding, however, of the institutions and arrangements denoted by these expressions.” Mirjan Damaska, “Adversary Procedure,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice 24, 24–25 (Sanford H. Kadish ed., 1983).

ADVERSE

adverse. 1. Against; opposed (to).2. Having an opposing or contrary interest, concern, or position. 3. Contrary (to) or in opposition (to).4.HOSTILE.

ADVERSE-AGENT DOCTRINE

adverse-agent doctrine.The rule that an agent's knowledge will not be imputed to the principal if the agent is engaged in fraudulent activities that are concealed as part of the fraud. [Cases: Principal and Agent 180.C.J.S. Agency §§ 440, 442.]

ADVERSE AUTHORITY

adverse authority. See AUTHORITY(4).

ADVERSE-DOMINATION DOCTRINE

adverse-domination doctrine. The equitable principle that the statute of limitations on a breach-of-fiduciary-duty claim against officers and directors (esp. a corporation's action against its own officers and directors) is tolled as long as a corporate plaintiff is controlled by the alleged wrongdoers. • The statute is tolled until a majority of the disinterested directors discover or are put on notice of the claim against the wrongdoers. The purpose of this doctrine is to prevent a director or officer from successfully hiding wrongful or fraudulent conduct during the limitations period. FDIC v. Shrader & York, 991 F.2d 216, 227 (5th Cir. 1993). This doctrine is available only to benefit the corporation. — Also termed adverse dominion; doctrine of adverse domination. [Cases: Limitation of Actions 58(4, 5). C.J.S. Limitations of Actions § 205.]

ADVERSE DOMINION

adverse dominion. 1. See ADVERSE-DOMINATION DOCTRINE. 2. Torts. Rare. The unlawful exercise of authority or control over goods so that the true owner is dispossessed. See CONVERSION(2). 3. Rare. ADVERSE POSSESSION. [Cases: Limitation of Actions 58(4, 5). C.J.S. Limitations of Actions § 205.]

ADVERSE EASEMENT

adverse easement. See prescriptive easement under EASEMENT.

ADVERSE EMPLOYMENT ACTION

adverse employment action. An employer's decision that substantially and negatively affects an employee's job, such as a termination, demotion, or pay cut. — Also termed adverse job action.

ADVERSE ENJOYMENT

adverse enjoyment. See ENJOYMENT.

ADVERSE IMPACT

adverse impact. See DISPARATE IMPACT.

ADVERSE INFERENCE adverse inference. See INFERENCE.

ADVERSE-INFERENCE RULE

adverse-inference rule. See ADVERSE-INTEREST RULE.

ADVERSE INTEREST

adverse interest. An interest that is opposed or contrary to that of someone else.

ADVERSE-INTEREST RULE

adverse-interest rule. The principle that if a party fails to produce a witness who is within its power to produce and who should have been produced, the judge may instruct the jury to infer that the witness's evidence is unfavorable to the party's case. — Also termed empty-chair doctrine; adverse-inference rule. [Cases: Criminal Law 788; Evidence 77; Trial 211. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1341; Evidence §§ 169–173; Trial §§ 501–504, 568.]

ADVERSE JOB ACTION

adverse job action. See ADVERSE EMPLOYMENT ACTION.

ADVERSE OPINION

adverse opinion. See OPINION(2).

ADVERSE PARTY

adverse party. See PARTY(2).

ADVERSE POSSESSION

adverse possession. 1. The use or enjoyment of real property with a claim of right when that use or enjoyment is continuous, exclusive, hostile, open, and notorious. • In Louisiana, it is the detention or enjoyment of a corporeal thing with the intent to hold it as one's own. La. Civ. Code art. 3421. — Also termed adverse dominion. Cf. PRESCRIPTION(5). [Cases: Adverse Possession 1–95. C.J.S. Adverse Possession §§ 2–225, 263–299, 327–338; Conflict of Laws § 76.]

constructive adverse possession. 1. Adverse possession in which the claim arises from the claimant's payment of taxes under color of right rather than by actual possession of the land. 2. Louisiana law. Adverse possession by operation of law. • When a possessor holds title to the property and corporeally possesses part of it, the possessor is deemed to have constructive possession of the rest of the property described in the title. La. Civ. Code art. 3426. [Cases: Adverse Possession 86–95. C.J.S. Adverse Possession §§ 210–225, 263, 265–267, 277, 279, 291, 293, 299.]

2. The doctrine by which title to real property is acquired as a result of such use or enjoyment over a specified period of time. See POSSESSION.

ADVERSE PRESUMPTION adverse presumption. See adverse inference under INFERENCE.

ADVERSE TITLE

adverse title. See TITLE(2).

ADVERSE USE

adverse use. See USE(1).

ADVERSE WITNESS

adverse witness. See hostile witness under WITNESS.

ADVERSUS

adversus (ad-v<<schwa>>r-s<<schwa>>s), prep. [Latin] Against. • The first letter of this term was formerly used in law reports in place of the more commonly used v. (“versus”). — Abbr. a.

ADVERSUS BONOS MORES

adversus bonos mores.See CONTRA BONOS MORES.

ADVERTENT NEGLIGENCE

advertent negligence.See NEGLIGENCE.

ADVERTISING

advertising. 1. The action of drawing the public's attention to something to promote its sale. 2. The business of producing and circulating advertisements.

comparative advertising.Advertising that specifically compares the advertised brand with another brand of the same product.

competitive advertising.Advertising that contains little information about the advertised product, and that is used only to help a producer maintain a share of the market for that product.

informative advertising.Advertising that gives information about the suitability and quality of a product.

ADVERTISING INJURY

advertising injury.See INJURY.

ADVERTISING SUBSTANTIATION

advertising substantiation.A doctrine of the Federal Trade Commission making it an unfair and deceptive act to put out an advertisement unless the advertiser first has a reasonable basis for believing that each claim in the advertisement is true.

ADVICE

advice (ad-vIz).1. Guidance offered by one person, esp. a lawyer, to another. See ADVICE OF COUNSEL. 2. Notice of the drawing of a draft for goods or services. See LETTER OF ADVICE. — advise (ad-vIz), vb.

remittance advice.Notice that a sum of money has been sent (esp. by mail) for goods or services. See REMIT-TANCE.

ADVICE AND CONSENT

advice and consent.The right of the U.S. Senate to participate in making treaties and appointing federal officers, provided by U.S. Const. art. II, § 2. • As to treaties, the Senate's advice and consent generally includes Senate involvement in the negotiation process, and the need for a two-thirds majority of the Senate for ratification. As to public officers, the Senate's advice and consent generally includes the right to vote on approval of an appointment. [Cases: United States 35. C.J.S. United States §§ 23, 53, 56–57.]

ADVICE OF COUNSEL

advice of counsel. 1. The guidance given by lawyers to their clients. 2. In a malicious-prosecution lawsuit, a defense requiring both a complete presentation of facts by the defendant to his or her attorney and honest compliance with the attorney's advice. [Cases: Malicious Prosecution 21, 25(2). C.J.S. Malicious Prosecution or Wrongful Litigation §§ 25, 42, 44–47.] 3. A defense in which a party seeks to avoid liability or punishment by claiming that he or she acted reasonably and in good faith on the attorney's advice. • Such a defense usu. requires waiver of the attorney–client privilege, and the attorney cannot have knowingly participated in implementing an illegal plan. [Cases: Criminal Law 37.20. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 56, 94–95.]

“Advice of counsel is a defense to a limited number of torts involving lack of probable cause, bad faith, or malice as an element of the cause of action. By far the most frequent cause of action against which the defense is asserted is malicious prosecution. The defense may also be asserted to avoid liability for punitive damages on the reasoning that good faith reliance on advice of counsel defeats the malice necessary to an award of punitive damages. In civil matters, the advice is typically obtained from the defendant's own attorney; when the underlying proceeding is criminal, the advice may be obtained from the district attorney's office or similar source and may take the form of action by that officer rather than advice followed by action by the defendant.” 4 Ann Taylor Schwing, California Affirmative Defenses § 41:26, at 82 (2d ed. 1996).

ADVICE-OF-COUNSEL DEFENSE

advice-of-counsel defense. Patents. In an action for infringement, an assertion that after learning of the owner's rights, the defendant sought, obtained, and relied on an attorney's well-reasoned opinion before continuing the challenged act. • Courts treat the assertion as a factor in determining whether an act was willful (to support enhanced damages). It is not a true defense. Cf. willful infringement under INFRINGEMENT. [Cases: Patents 227. C.J.S. Patents § 403.]

ADVICE OF CREDIT

advice of credit. Notice by an advising bank of the issuance of a letter of credit. [Cases: Banks and Banking 191.10. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 341–366, 368–370, 372–376.]

AD VINDICTAM PUBLICAM

ad vindictam publicam (ad vin-dik-t<<schwa>>m p<<schwa>>b-li-k<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Scots law. For vindicating the public interest. • The phrase appeared in reference to the purpose for which government prosecuted crimes.

ADVISARE

advisare (ad-vi-zair-ee), vb. [Law Latin] To consult, deliberate, or consider. See CURIA ADVISARI VULT.

ADVISEMENT

advisement (ad-vIz-m<<schwa>>nt). Careful consideration; deliberation <the judge took the matter under ad-visement and promised a ruling by the next day>.

ADVISORY ACTIONADVISORY COMMITTEE

advisory committee. A committee formed to make suggestions to some other body or to an official; esp., any one of five committees that propose to the Standing Committee on Rules of Practice and Procedure amendments to federal court rules, the five committees being responsible for appellate, bankruptcy, civil, criminal, and evidence rules. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 31.]

ADVISORY COUNSEL

advisory counsel. See COUNSEL.

ADVISORY JURY

advisory jury. See JURY.

ADVISORY OFFICE ACTION

advisory office action. See OFFICE ACTION.

ADVISORY OPINION

advisory opinion. See OPINION(1).

AD VITAM

ad vitam (ad vI-t<<schwa>>m), adj. [Latin] For life.

AD VITAM AUT CULPAM

ad vitam aut culpam (ad vI-t<<schwa>>m awt k<<schwa>>l-p<<schwa>>m), adj. [Law Latin] For life or until misbehavior. • This phrase described a tenure of office.

AD VITANDUM PERJURIUM ad vitandum perjurium (ad vI-tan-d<<schwa>>m p<<schwa>>r-juur-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Scots law. For avoiding perjury. See OB METUM PERJURII.

ADVOCACY

advocacy. 1. The work or profession of an advocate. 2. The act of pleading for or actively supporting a cause or proposal.

ADVOCARE

advocare (ad-v<<schwa>>-kair-ee), vb. [Law Latin] 1. To advocate, defend, or protect. 2. To acknowledge or admit openly, as to acknowledge a child (advocare filium).

ADVOCASSIE

advocassie (ad-v<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>-see), n.[Law French] Advocacy.

ADVOCATA

advocata (ad-v<<schwa>>-kay-t<<schwa>>), n.[Law Latin] Hist. A patroness; a woman holding the right to present to a church.

ADVOCATE

advocate (ad-v<<schwa>>-kit), n.1. A person who assists, defends, pleads, or prosecutes for another.

public advocate.An advocate who purports to represent the public at large in matters of public concern, such as utility rates or environmental quality.

2.Civil & Scots law. A barrister; specif., a member of the Faculty of Advocates (the Scottish counterpart of a barrister) or of the Society of Advocates in Aberdeen (a society of solicitors). • A member of the Aberdeen society is designated “advocate in Aberdeen.” Cf. BARRISTER. 3.Hist. Eccles. law. A person who is trained in both canon and secular law and can (1) appear in an ecclesiastical or admiralty court on another's behalf, and (2) give legal advice. • Members of the College of Advocates (also known as Doctors' Commons) bore the title of advocate. After the dissolution of the College in 1857, the term became indistinguishably associated with barrister. — advocate (ad-v<<schwa>>-kayt), vb. — advocacy (ad-v<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>-see), n.

ADVOCATE-DEPUTE

advocate-depute.Scots law. One of a number of advocates appointed by the Lord Advocate to prosecute criminal cases in his or her name.

ADVOCATE GENERAL

Advocate General.Scots law. An officer appointed under the Scotland Act of 1998 to advise the British government on Scotland and to represent it in court.

ADVOCATE OF THE FAITH

advocate of the faith.Eccles. law. Counsel for the prosecution in a heresy trial.

ADVOCATE-WITNESS RULE

advocate-witness rule.See LAWYER-WITNESS RULE.

ADVOCATI ECCLESIAE

advocati ecclesiae (ad-v<<schwa>>-kay-tI e-klee-z[h]ee-ee), n. pl.[Latin “church advocates”] Hist. Eccles. law. 1. Church patrons who had a right to present a clerk to a benefice. See ADVOWSON. 2. Legal advocates retained to argue cases relating to a church.

ADVOCATIO

advocatio (ad-v<<schwa>>-kay-shee-oh), n.[Law Latin] Hist. 1.An inferior's management of a business for a superior. 2. The defense of a religious establishment. 3.ADVOWSON. 4.Civil law. The quality, function, privilege, office, or service of an advocate; legal assistance.

ADVOCATION

advocation (ad-v<<schwa>>-kay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. Scots law. The removal of a criminal case from a lower court to the High Court of Justiciary for verdict.

ADVOCATIONE DECIMARUM

advocatione decimarum (ad-v<<schwa>>-kay-shee-oh-nee des-<<schwa>>-mair-<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin] Hist. A writ to collect a tithe belonging to the church.

ADVOCATOR

advocator (ad-voh-kay-t<<schwa>>r), n.[Law Latin] Hist. 1.A person who calls on another to warrant a title. 2. A warrantor. 3. The patron of a benefice.

ADVOCATUS

advocatus (ad-voh-kay-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin “advocate”] 1.Roman law. A legal adviser; a person who assists clients with cases before judicial tribunals. Cf. CAUSIDICUS. 2.Hist. The patron who has an advowson. — Also termed advowee; avowee. See ADVOWSON. 3.Hist. A person called on by another to warrant a title.

ADVOCATUS DIABOLI

advocatus diaboli (ad-voh-kay-t<<schwa>>s dI-ab-<<schwa>>-II), n.[Latin “devil's advocate”] Eccles. law. An official who argues against a person's beatification or canonization.

ADVOCATUS ECCLESIAE

advocatus ecclesiae (ad-v<<schwa>>-kay-t<<schwa>>s e-klee-z[h]ee-ee). [Law Latin] Hist. Eccles. law. The patron of a benefice.

ADVOCATUS FISCO

advocatus fisci (ad-voh-kay-t<<schwa>>s fisk-I). [Latin] Roman law. An official responsible for representing the emperor in cases involving the public fisc.

AD VOLUNTATEM

ad voluntatem (ad vol-<<schwa>>n-tay-t<<schwa>>m), adv. & adj.[Law Latin] At will.

ADVOUTRER

advoutrer (ad-vow-tr<<schwa>>r), n.[Law French] Hist. An adulterer. — Also termed advouter; advouterer; advoultre.

ADVOUTRY

advoutry (ad-vow-tree), n.[Law French] Hist. Adultery between two married persons. — Also spelled advowtry.

ADVOWEE

advowee (ad-vow-ee). A patron who holds an advowson; ADVOCATUS(2). — Also spelled avowee.

advowee paramount. The sovereign, or highest patron.

ADVOWSON

advowson (ad-vow-z<<schwa>>n). Eccles. law. The right of presenting or nominating a person to a vacant benefice in the church. • The person enjoying this right is called the “patron” (patronus) of the church, and was formerly termed “advocatus,” the advocate or defender, or in English, the “advowee.” The patron presents the nominee to the bishop (or, occasionally, another church dignitary). If there is no patron, or if the patron neglects to exercise the right within six months, the right lapses and a title is given to the ordinary (usu. the bishop) to appoint a cleric to the church. Cf. PRESENTATION(2); INSTITUTION(5).

“A right of presentation has always been regarded as a valuable object of a sale, a species of real property which can be transferred and dealt with generally in the same way as a fee simple estate in lands Thus an advowson may be conveyed away in fee simple, fee tail, for life or years, or the conveyance may be limited to the right of next presentation or of a specified number of future presentations.” G.C. Cheshire, Modern Law of Real Property 110 (3d ed. 1933).

“An advowson is the perpetual right of presentation to an ecclesiastical living. The owner of an advowson is known as the patron. When a living becomes vacant, as when a rector or vicar dies or retires, the patron of the living has a right to nominate the clergyman who shall next hold the living. Subject to a right of veto on certain specified grounds, the Bishop is bound to institute (formally appoint) any duly qualified person presented. This is a relic of the days when it was common for the lord of a manor to build and endow a church and in return have the right of patronage.” Robert E. Megarry & P.V. Baker, A Manual of the Law of Real Property 414 (4th ed. 1969).

advowson appendant (<<schwa>>-pen-d<<schwa>>nt). An advowson annexed to a manor, and passing as incident to it, whenever the manor is conveyed to another. • The advowson passes with the manor even if it is not mentioned in the grant.

advowson collative (k<<schwa>>-lay-tiv). An advowson for which there is no separate presentation to the bishop because the bishop happens to be the patron as well. • In this case, the one act by which the benefice is conferred is called “collation.”

advowson donative (don-<<schwa>>-tiv or doh-n<<schwa>>-tiv). An advowson in which the patron has the right to put a cleric in possession by a mere gift, or deed of donation, without any presentation to the bishop. • This type of advowson was converted into the advowson presentative by the Benefices Act of 1898. — Also termed donative advowson.

“An advowson donative is when the king, or any subject by his licence, doth found a church or chapel, and ordains that it shall be merely in the gift or disposal of the patron; subject to his visitation only, and not to that of the ordinary; and vested absolutely in the clerk by the patron's deed of donation, without presentation, institution, or induction. This is said to have been anciently the only way of conferring ecclesiastical benefices in England; the method of institution by the bishop not being established more early than the time of archbishop Becket in the reign of Henry II." 2 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 23 (1766).

advowson in gross. An advowson that is separated from the manor and annexed to a person. • All advowsons that have been separated from their original manors are advowsons in gross.

advowson presentative (pri-zen-t<<schwa>>-tiv). The usual kind of advowson, in which the patron has the right to make the presentation to the bishop and to demand that the nominee be instituted, if the bishop finds the nominee canonically qualified.

donative advowson. See advowson donative.

AEA

AEA.abbr.See ADMIRALTY EXTENSION ACT.

AEDES

aedes (ee-deez), n.[Latin] Roman law. A building; esp., a temple (aedes sacra).

AEDIFICARE

aedificare (ee-d<<schwa>>-fi-kair-ee), vb.[Latin] Roman law. To erect a building.

AEDILE

aedile (ee-dil). Roman law. A magistrate charged with policing the city, managing public buildings and services, supervising markets, and arranging public games. — Also spelled edile.

AEDILITIUM EDICTUM

aedilium edictum (ee-d<<schwa>>-lish-ee-<<schwa>>m ee-dik-t<<schwa>>m). See edictum aedilicium under EDICTUM.

AEGROTUS

aegrotus (ee-groh-t<<schwa>>s), adj.[Latin] Sick; indisposed by illness.

AEMULATIONIS CAUSA

aemulationis causa (ee-my<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh-nis kaw-z<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. For the purpose of rivaling or annoying.

AEMULATIO VICINI

aemulatio vicini (ee-my<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh vis-i-nee). [Latin] Scots law. The use of land in a way injurious to a neighbor.

AENUM

aenum. See ordeal by water (2) under ORDEAL.

AEQUITAS

aequitas (ek-w<<schwa>>-tas oree-kw<<schwa>>-tas), n.[Latin] Roman law. Equity, as opposed to jus strictum or jus summum.

AEQUUS

aequus (ee-kw<<schwa>>s), adj.[Latin] Equal; even. • A provision in a will, for example, might divide the re-siduary estate ex aequis (the adverbial form) among the legatees.

AERARIUM

aerarium (i-rair-ee-<<schwa>>m), n.[Latin fr. aes “money”] Roman law. The treasury of the Roman Republic. See FISCUS.

AES

aes (eez), n.[Latin] Roman law. 1. Copper. 2. Money, of whatever metal.

AES ALIENUM

aes alienum (eez ay-lee-ee-n<<schwa>>m or al-ee-), n.[Latin “another's money”] Roman law. Money owed to another; borrowed money.

AESNECIA

aesnecia (ees-neesh-ee-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] See ESNECY.

AES SUUM

aes suum (eez s[y]oo-<<schwa>>m), n.[Latin “one's own money”] Roman law. Money lent to a borrower.

AESTHETIC FUNCTIONALITY

aesthetic functionality. See FUNCTIONALITY.

AESTHETIC ZONING

aesthetic zoning. See ZONING.

AESTIMATIO

aestimatio (es-t<<schwa>>-may-shee-oh). [Latin] Roman law. An agreement by which the owner of goods handed them over to another person with the understanding that the other would sell what he could for the most he could get, paying the owner an agreed price for whatever goods sold and returning the others. Pl. aestimationes (es-t<<schwa>>-may-shee-oh-neeZ).

AETAS

aetas (ee-tas), n.[Latin] Roman law. Age.

AETAS INFANTIAE PROXIMA

aetas infantiae proxima (ee-tas in-fan-shee-ee prok-s<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman law. The first part of the period of childhood between infancy (up to 7 years) and puberty (12 to 14 years); esp., for males, the period between 7 and 10 1/2 years of age. Cf. AETAS PUBERTATI PROXIMA; PUERITIA.

AETAS LEGITIMA

aetas legitima (ee-tas l<<schwa>>-jit-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman law. Lawful age.

AETAS PERFECTA

aetas perfecta (ee-tas p<<schwa>>r-fek-t<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman law. Complete age; the age of majority.

AETAS PRIMA aetas prima (ee-tas prI-m<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman law. First age. See INFANTIA.

AETAS PUBERTATI PROXIMA

aetas pubertati proxima (ee-tas pyoo-b<<schwa>>r-tay-tIprok-s<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman law. The second period of childhood, (for males) from 10 1/2 to 14 years of age. Cf. AETAS INFANTIAE PROXIMA; PUERITIA.

AETATE PROBANDA

aetate probanda (ee-tay-tee proh-ban-d<<schwa>>). See DE AETATE PROBANDA.

AFDC

AFDC.abbr.AID TO FAMILIES WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

AFF'D

aff'd.abbr.Affirmed.

AFFECT

affect,vb.1. Most generally, to produce an effect on; to influence in some way. 2.Civil law. To pledge (property or revenues) as security for a loan; HYPOTHECATE. 3.Scots law.To seize (debtor's property, etc.).

AFFECTATION DOCTRINE

affectation doctrine.See AFFECTS DOCTRINE.

AFFECTING COMMERCE affecting commerce.(Of an industry, activity, etc.) touching or concerning business, industry, or trade; esp., under the Labor–Management Relations Act, burdening or obstructing commerce, or having led or tending to lead to a labor dispute that burdens or obstructs the free flow of commerce. 29 USCA § 152(7).

AFFECTION

affection. 1. Fond attachment, devotion, or love <alienation of affections>.2.Hist. The pawning or mortgaging of a thing to ensure the payment of money or performance of some other obligation.

AFFECTS DOCTRINE

affects doctrine.Constitutional law. The principle allowing Congress to regulate intrastate activities that have a substantial effect on interstate commerce. • The doctrine is so called because the test is whether a given activity “affects” interstate commerce. — Also termed effects doctrine or (erroneously) affectation doctrine. [Cases: Commerce 7(2). C.J.S. Commerce § 6.]

AFFECTUS

affectus (<<schwa>>-fek-t<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Hist. Intent; disposition of mind.

AFFECTUS SINE EFFECTU

affectus sine effectu (e-fek-t<<schwa>>s sI-nee e-fek-t[y]oo). [Latin “an intention without effect”] Hist. An intention that is not carried out.

AFFEER

affeer (<<schwa>>-feer), vb.[fr. Old French affeurer “to tax”] Hist. To fix the amount of an amercement. — affeerment,n.

AFFEEROR

affeeror (<<schwa>>-feer-<<schwa>>r), n. Hist. An official responsible for assessing amercements in cases in which no precise penalty is given by statute.

AFFERMER

affermer (a-f<<schwa>>r-may), vb.[Law French] 1. To let to farm. 2. To make sure; to confirm.

AFF'G

aff'g.abbr.Affirming.

AFFIANCE

affiance (<<schwa>>-fi-<<schwa>>nts).1.Archaic. The act of confiding. 2. The pledging of faith; specif., the act of promising to wed.

AFFIANT

affiant (<<schwa>>-fi-<<schwa>>nt).1. One who makes an affidavit. — Also termed deponent. [Cases: Affi-davits 2. C.J.S. Affidavits §§ 8–12.] 2.COMPLAINANT(2).

AFFIDARE

affidare (af-<<schwa>>-dair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] To swear faith to; esp., a tenant's pledge of faith to a lord.

AFFIDATIO DOMINORUM

affidatio dominorum (af-<<schwa>>-day-shee-oh dom-<<schwa>>-nor-*<<schwa>>*m), n.[Law Latin] Hist. An oath taken by lords in Parliament.

AFFIDATUS

affidatus (af-<<schwa>>-day-t-*<<schwa>>*s), n.[Law Latin] Hist. A tenant by fealty.

AFFIDAVIT

affidavit (af-<<schwa>>-day-vit). A voluntary declaration of facts written down and sworn to by the declarant before an officer authorized to administer oaths, such as a notary public. • A great deal of evidence is submitted by affidavit, esp. in pretrial matters such as summary-judgment motions. Cf. DECLARATION(1), (8). [Cases: Affidavits 1. C.J.S. Affidavits §§ 2–6.]

affidavit after appeal.Patents. A sworn statement submitted to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office after the filing of a notice of appeal from an adverse determination by an examiner. • An affidavit or declaration submitted after a case has been appealed will not be admitted without a showing of good and sufficient reasons why it was not presented earlier. [Cases: Patents 111. C.J.S. Patents §§ 180–183.]

affidavit after final rejection.Patents. A sworn statement submitted to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office after an application's final rejection. — Also termed declaration after final rejection.

affidavit of claim.An affidavit in which a plaintiff asserts that he or she has a meritorious cause of action.

affidavit of continued use.See DECLARATION OF USE.

affidavit of defense.See affidavit of merits.

affidavit of incontestability.See DECLARATION OF INCONTESTABILITY.

affidavit of increase.Hist. An affidavit that lists — and seeks reimbursement from the opposing party for — the additional costs (above the filing fee and other basic fees charged by the court clerk) incurred by a party in taking a matter through trial. • Attorney fees, witness payments, and the like were included in this affidavit. See COSTS OF INCREASE.

affidavit of inquiry.An affidavit, required in certain states before substituted service of process on an absent defendant, in which the plaintiff's attorney or a person with knowledge of the facts indicates that the defendant cannot be served within the state. [Cases: Process 74, 137. C.J.S. Process §§ 57, 89.]

affidavit of merit.See CERTIFICATE OF MERIT.

affidavit of merits. An affidavit in which a defendant asserts that he or she has a meritorious defense. — Also termed affidavit of defense. [Cases: Judgment 160, 391. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 345, 407.]

affidavit of nonprosecution. An affidavit in which a crime victim requests that the perpetrator not be prosecuted. • In many cases, if the victim files an affidavit of nonprosecution, the prosecutor will withdraw or not file criminal charges against the perpetrator on grounds that there is no victim. Sometimes, though, the prosecutor will go forward with the prosecution even if the victim files an affidavit of nonprosecution.

affidavit of notice. An affidavit stating that the declarant has given proper notice of hearing to other parties to the action.

affidavit of service. An affidavit certifying the service of a notice, summons, writ, or process. [Cases: Process 137. C.J.S. Process § 89.]

affidavit of use. See DECLARATION OF USE.

affidavit of verification. See VERIFICATION(1).

affidavit under § 8. See DECLARATION OF USE.

affidavit under § 15. See DECLARATION OF INCONTESTABILITY.

counteraffidavit. An affidavit made to contradict and oppose another affidavit. [Cases: Affidavits 1. C.J.S. Affidavits §§ 2–6.]

IFP affidavit. See poverty affidavit.

in forma pauperis affidavit. See poverty affidavit.

pauper's affidavit. See poverty affidavit.

poverty affidavit. An affidavit made by an indigent person seeking public assistance, appointment of counsel, waiver of court fees, or other free public services. 28 USCA § 1915. — Also termed pauper's affidavit; in forma pauperis affidavit; IFP affidavit. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2734.]

self-proving affidavit. An affidavit attached to a will and signed by the testator and witnesses certifying that the statutory requirements of due execution of the will have been complied with. • The affidavit, which recites the facts of the will's proper execution, permits the will to be probated without the necessity of having the witnesses appear and prove due execution by their testimony. [Cases: Wills 113. C.J.S. Wills §§ 253–255.]

sham affidavit. An affidavit that contradicts clear testimony previously given by the same witness, usu. used in an attempt to create an issue of fact in response to a motion for summary judgment. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2539; Judgment 185.2(8). C.J.S. Judgments § 266.]

supplemental affidavit. An affidavit made in addition to a previous one, usu. to supply additional facts. [Cases: Affidavits 16. C.J.S. Affidavits §§ 53–55.]

AFFILARE

affilare (af-<<schwa>>-lair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] To put on record; to file.

AFFILE

affile (<<schwa>>-fil), vb. Archaic. To file.

AFFILIATE

affiliate (<<schwa>>-fil-ee-it), n.1. A corporation that is related to another corporation by shareholdings or other means of control; a subsidiary, parent, or sibling corporation. [Cases: Corporations 1.5. C.J.S. Corporations § 15.] 2.Security. One who controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with an issuer of a security. SEC Rule 10b-18(a)(1) (17 CFR § 240.10b-18(a)(1)). See CONTROL PERSON. Cf. ASSOCIATED PERSON. — affiliate (<<schwa>>-fil-ee-ayt), vb. — affiliation (<<schwa>>-fil-ee-ay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.

AFFILIATED DIRECTOR

affiliated director.See outside director under DIRECTOR.

AFFILIATED GROUP

affiliated group.A chain of corporations that can elect to file a consolidated tax return because at least 80% of each corporation is owned by others in the group. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3870.]

AFFILIATED PURCHASER

affiliated purchaser.See PURCHASER(1).

AFFILIATION ORDER

affiliation order.See filiation order under ORDER(2).

AFFINE

affine (<<schwa>>-fn). A relative by marriage.

AFFINITAS

affinitas (<<schwa>>-fin-i-tas). [Latin] Roman law. Relationship by marriage.

AFFINITAS AFFINITATIS

affinitas affinitatis (<<schwa>>-fin-i-tas <<schwa>>-fin-i-tay-tis), n.[Law Latin “affinity of affinity”] Hist. Relationship by two marriages, e.g., with one's stepmother's stepchild; a connection that arises from marriage but is neither consanguinity nor affinity. Cf. CONSANGUINITY; AFFINITY.

AFFINITY

affinity (<<schwa>>-fin-<<schwa>>-tee).1. A close agreement. 2. The relation that one spouse has to the blood relatives of the other spouse; relationship by marriage. 3. Any familial relation resulting from a marriage. Cf. CONSANGUINITY. See relative by affinity under RELATIVE. Cf. AFFINITAS AFFINITATIS ; CONSANGUINITY. [Cases: Marriage 10. C.J.S. Marriage § 17.]

“There is no affinity between the blood relatives of one spouse and the blood relatives of the other. A husband is related by affinity to his wife's brother, but not to the wife of his wife's brother. There is no affinity between the husband's brother and the wife's sister; this is called affinitas affinitatis.” 2 Charles E. Torcia, Wharton's Criminal Law § 242, at 573 (15th ed. 1994).

collateral affinity.The relationship of a spouse's relatives to the other spouse's relatives. • An example is a wife's brother and her husband's sister. [Cases: Marriage 10. C.J.S. Marriage § 17.]

direct affinity.The relationship of a spouse to the other spouse's blood relatives. • An example is a wife and her husband's brother.

quasi-affinity.Civil law. The affinity existing between two persons, one of whom has been engaged to a relative of the other.

secondary affinity.The relationship of a spouse to the other spouse's marital relatives. • An example is a wife and her husband's sister-in-law.

AFFIRM

affirm,vb.1. To confirm (a judgment) on appeal. • Sometimes the verb is used without a direct object <we affirm>. The equivalent expression in British English is to deny the appeal. [Cases: Appeal and Error 1124–1145.C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 714, 745, 770, 814, 826, 864–868, 878–898.] 2. To solemnly declare rather than swear under oath. 3. To testify or declare by affirmation.

AFFIRMANCE

affirmance,n.1. A ratification, reacceptance, or confirmation.

“A party who has the power of avoidance may lose it by action that manifests a willingness to go on with the contract. Such action is known as ‘affirmance’ and has the effect of ratifying the contract. See Restatement of Restitution § 68. The rule stated in this Section is a special application of that stated in § 85, under which a promise to perform a voidable duty is binding. On ratification, the affirming party is bound as from the outset and the other party continues to be bound.” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 380 cmt. a (1979).

2. The formal approval by an appellate court of a lower court's judgment, order, or decree. [Cases: Appeal and Error 1124–1145. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 714, 745, 770, 814, 826, 864–868, 878–898.] 3. The manifestation of a choice by someone with the power of avoidance to treat a voidable or unauthorized transaction as valid or authorized. 4. The manifestation of a choice, by one on whose behalf an unauthorized act has been performed, to treat the act as authorized.Restatement (Second) of Agency § 83 (1958). — affirm,vb.

AFFIRMANCE DAY GENERAL

affirmance day general. See DAY.

AFFIRMANT

affirmant. A person who testifies under affirmation and not under oath. [Cases: Witnesses 227. C.J.S. Witnesses § 394.]

AFFIRMATION

affirmation, n. A pledge equivalent to an oath but without reference to a supreme being or to "swearing"; a solemn declaration made under penalty of perjury, but without an oath. Fed. R. Civ. P. 43(d). • While an oath is "sworn to _____," an affirmation is merely "affirmed," but either type of pledge may subject the person making it to the penalties for perjury. Cf. OATH. [Cases: Witnesses 227. C.J.S. Witnesses § 394.] — affirm, vb. — affirmatory, adj.

AFFIRMATIVE

affirmative, adj. 1. Supporting the existence of certain facts <affirmative evidence>. 2. Involving or requiring effort <an affirmative duty>.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION

affirmative action. A set of actions designed to eliminate existing and continuing discrimination, to remedy lingering effects of past discrimination, and to create systems and procedures to prevent future discrimination. See reverse discrimination under DISCRIMINATION. [Cases: Civil Rights 1033(3), 1236. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 18, 20, 23–24, 64–65.]

AFFIRMATIVE CHARGE

affirmative charge. See affirmative instruction under JURY INSTRUCTION.

AFFIRMATIVE CONDITION

affirmative condition. See positive condition under CONDITION(2).

AFFIRMATIVE CONVERSE INSTRUCTION

affirmative converse instruction. See JURY INSTRUCTION.

AFFIRMATIVE COVENANT

affirmative covenant. 1. COVENANT(1). 2. COVENANT(4).

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

affirmative defense. See DEFENSE(1).

AFFIRMATIVE DUTY

affirmative duty. See DUTY(1).

AFFIRMATIVE EASEMENT

affirmative easement. See EASEMENT.

AFFIRMATIVE INJUNCTION

affirmative injunction. See mandatory injunction under INJUNCTION.

AFFIRMATIVE INSTRUCTION

affirmative instruction. See JURY INSTRUCTION.

AFFIRMATIVE MISCONDUCT

affirmative misconduct. See MISCONDUCT.

AFFIRMATIVE PLEA

affirmative plea. See pure plea under PLEA(3).

AFFIRMATIVE PREGNANT

affirmative pregnant. A positive statement that ambiguously implies a negative; a statement that does not explicitly deny a charge, but instead answers an unasked question and thereby implies culpability, as when a person says "I returned your car yesterday" to the charge "You stole my car!" Cf. NEGATIVE PREGNANT .

AFFIRMATIVE PROOF

affirmative proof. See PROOF.

AFFIRMATIVE RELIEF

affirmative relief. See RELIEF.

AFFIRMATIVE REPRESENTATION

affirmative representation. See REPRESENTATION(1).

AFFIRMATIVE SERVITUDE

affirmative servitude. See positive servitude under SERVITUDE(2).

AFFIRMATIVE STATUTE

affirmative statute. See STATUTE.

AFFIRMATIVE TESTIMONY

affirmative testimony. See TESTIMONY.

AFFIRMATIVE WARRANTY

affirmative warranty. See WARRANTY(3).

AFFIRMATIVE WASTE

affirmative waste. See commissive waste under WASTE(1).

AFFIX

affix (<<schwa>>-fiks), vb.1. To attach, add to, or fasten on permanently. See FIXTURE.
 2.Trademarks. To attach, physically or functionally, a trademark or servicemark to the goods or services it represents. • A mark must be affixed to show that it is used in trade. If physical attachment is impossible or impracticable, the mark may be used on a container or tag, or (esp. with servicemarks) displayed prominently in advertising. [Cases: Patents 98; Trade Regulation 64. C.J.S. Patents §§ 137–139; Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 34.] — affixation (af-ik-say-sh<<schwa>>n), n.

AFFIXUS

affixus (<<schwa>>-fik-s<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Roman law. Affixed or fastened to.

AFFORARE

afforare (af-<<schwa>>-rair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] To set a price or value on a thing.

AFFORCE

afforce (<<schwa>>-fors), vb. To strengthen (a jury) by adding new members.

AFFORCEMENT

afforcement (<<schwa>>-fors-m<<schwa>>nt), n.[Law Latin] Hist. 1.A reinforcement or fortification; esp., the reinforcing of a court on a solemn or extraordinary occasion. 2. A fortress. — Also termed afforciamment (<<schwa>>-for-sh<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>nt); afforciammentum (<<schwa>>-for-shee-<<schwa>>-men-t<<schwa>>m).

AFFORCING THE ASSIZE

afforcing the assize.Hist. A method of securing a jury verdict from a hung jury either by denying food and drink to the members until they reached a verdict or by bringing in new jurors until 12 would agree.

AFFOREST

afforest,vb. To convert (land) into a forest, esp. by subjecting it to forest law. [Cases: Woods and Forests 1. C.J.S. Woods and Forests §§ 1–2.] — afforestation,n.

AFFRANCHIR

affranchir (a-frahn-sheer). See AFFRANCHISE.

AFFRANCHISE

affranchise (<<schwa>>-fran-chIz), vb. Archaic. To set free; to liberate from servitude or an obligation. • The equivalent verb in Law French was affranchir.

AFFRAY

affray (<<schwa>>-fray). The fighting, by mutual consent, of two or more persons in some public place, to the terror of onlookers. • The fighting must be mutual. If one person unlawfully attacks another who resorts to self-defense, the first is guilty of assault and battery, but there is no affray. — Also termed fray. Cf. RIOT; un-lawful assembly under ASSEMBLY; ROUT. [Cases: Criminal Law 45.15. C.J.S. Affray §§ 2–3, 5, 7, 13, 20.]

“An affray differs from a riot, a rout, or an unlawful assembly in that an affray is not premeditated and in order to constitute a riot, a rout, or an unlawful assembly at least three participants are essential, while ... an affray may be committed by only two. Moreover, an affray is more of a private nature than a riot.” 2A C.J.S. Affray § 3, at 519 (1972).

“The word ‘affray’ comes from the same source as the word ‘afraid,’ and the tendency to alarm the community is the very essence of this offense.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 479 (3d ed. 1982).

casual affray. See CHANCE-MEDLEY.

mutual affray. See MUTUAL COMBAT.

AFFRECTAMENTUM

affrectamentum (<<schwa>>-fɹɛk-t<<schwa>>-mɛn-t<<schwa>>m). See AFFREIGHTMENT.

AFFREIGHTMENT

affreightment (<<schwa>>-fɹaɪt-m<<schwa>>nt). The contracting of a ship to carry cargo. — Also termed charter of affreightment; (in French law) affretement; (in Law Latin) affrectamentum. See CONTRACT OF AFFREIGHTMENT. [Cases: Shipping 104. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 247–250, 252–254.]

AFFRETEMENT

affretement. See AFFREIGHTMENT.

A FINE FORCE

a fine force (ay fɪn fɔrs). [Law French] Of pure necessity.

AFIS

AFIS.abbr.AMERICAN FORCES INFORMATION SERVICE.

AFL-CIO

AFL-CIO.abbr.AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR AND CONGRESS OF INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATIONS .

AF OF M

AF of M.abbr.AMERICAN FEDERATION OF MUSICIANS.

A FORCE

a force (ay fors). [Law French] Of necessity.

A FORCE ET ARMES

a force et armes (ay fors et ahr-mis). [Law French] With force and arms. — Also spelled a force et armis. See VI ET ARMIS.

AFORESAID

aforesaid (<<schwa>>-for-sed), adj. Mentioned above; referred to previously. — Also termed aforementioned; above-mentioned; above-stated; said.

AFORETHOUGHT

aforethought (<<schwa>>-for-thawt), adj. Thought of in advance; deliberate; premeditated <malice afore-thought>. See MALICE AFORETHOUGHT.

A FORTIORI

a fortiori (ay for-shee-or-Ior ah for-shee-or-ee), adv.[Latin] By even greater force of logic; even more so <if a 14-year-old child cannot sign a binding contract, then, a fortiori, a 13-year-old cannot>. Cf. A MULTO FOR-TIORI .

AFRICAN DEVELOPMENT FOUNDATION

African Development Foundation. A nonprofit federal foundation that supports the self-help efforts of poor people in African countries by making grants and by making and guaranteeing loans to any African entity engaged in peaceful activities that enable African people to develop more fully. • ADF was created by the African Development Foundation Act and began operating in 1984. 22 USCA § 290h. — Abbr. ADF.

AFTER-ACQUIRED DOMICILE

after-acquired domicile. See DOMICILE.

AFTER-ACQUIRED-EVIDENCE DOCTRINE after-acquired-evidence doctrine. Employment law. The rule that if an employer discharges an employee for an unlawful reason and later discovers misconduct sufficient to justify a lawful discharge, the employee cannot win reinstatement. • The doctrine either shields the employer from liability or limits the available relief when, after an employee has been terminated, the employer learns for the first time that the employee engaged in wrongdoing that would have resulted in a discharge anyway. McKennon v. Nashville Banner Publ'g Co., 513 U.S. 352, 115 S.Ct. 879 (1995). [Cases: Master and Servant 37. C.J.S. Employer–Employee Relationship §§ 60, 86.]

AFTER-ACQUIRED PROPERTY

after-acquired property. 1. Secured transactions. A debtor's property that is acquired after a security transaction and becomes additional security for payment of the debt. UCC § 9-204. — Also termed future-acquired property. [Cases: Secured Transactions 13, 116. C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 12, 85.] 2. Bankruptcy. Property that the bankruptcy estate acquires after commencement of the bankruptcy proceeding. 11 USCA § 541(a)(7). [Cases: Bankruptcy 2558. C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 120, 122.] 3.Wills & estates. Property acquired by a person after making a will. • The old rule was that a testamentary gift of personal property spoke at the time of the testator's death, whereas a gift of lands spoke from the date of the will's execution (so that after-acquired property was not disposed of), but this has been changed by legislation in most states. [Cases: Wills 8, 578. C.J.S. Wills §§ 53, 55–56, 1099–1104.]

AFTER-ACQUIRED-PROPERTY CLAUSE

after-acquired-property clause. A mortgage provision that makes any later-acquired real estate subject to the mortgage. [Cases: Mortgages 131. C.J.S. Mortgages § 174.]

AFTER-ACQUIRED TITLE

after-acquired title. See TITLE(2).

AFTER-ACQUIRED-TITLE CLAUSE

after-acquired-title clause. Oil & gas. A provision in an oil-and-gas lease extending the lease's coverage to include any interest in the property that the lessor may obtain after the lease is signed. • A common formulation is “This lease covers all the interest now owned by or hereafter vested in the lessor”

AFTER-ACQUIRED-TITLE DOCTRINE

after-acquired-title doctrine. The principle that title to property automatically vests in a person who bought the property from a seller who acquired title only after purporting to sell the property to the buyer. [Cases: Vendor and Purchaser 8. C.J.S. Vendor and Purchaser § 6.]

AFTERBORN CHILD

afterborn child. See CHILD.

AFTERBORN HEIR

afterborn heir. See HEIR.

AFTERCARE

aftercare. See juvenile parole under PAROLE.

AFTER COST

after cost. See COST(1).

AFTERMARKET

aftermarket. See secondary market under MARKET.

AFTER THE FACT

after the fact. Subsequent to an event of legal significance <accessory after the fact>.

AFTRA

AFTRA.abbr.AMERICAN FEDERATION OF TELEVISION AND RADIO ARTISTS.

AG

AG.abbr.ATTORNEY GENERAL.

AGAINST THE FORM OF THE STATUTE

against the form of the statute.Contrary to the statutory requirements. • This formal phrase, which traditionally concludes an indictment, indicates that the conduct alleged contravenes the cited statute and therefore constitutes a criminal offense. In modern contexts, the full conclusion often reads: “against the form of the statute in such case made and provided.” The phrase is a translation of the Law Latin contra formam statuti. [Cases: Indictment and Information 32(4).]

AGAINST THE PEACE AND DIGNITY OF THE STATE

against the peace and dignity of the state.A concluding phrase in an indictment, used to condemn the offending conduct generally (as opposed to the specific charge of wrongdoing contained in the body of the instrument). • This phrase derives from the Law Latin contra pacem domini regis (“against the peace of the lord the king”), a charging phrase formerly used in indictments and in civil actions of trespass. Cf. KING'S PEACE. [Cases: Indictment and Information 32(3).]

AGAINST THE WEIGHT OF THE EVIDENCE against the weight of the evidence.(Of a verdict or judgment) contrary to the credible evidence; not sufficiently supported by the evidence in the record. See WEIGHT OF THE EVIDENCE.

AGAINST THE WILL

against the will.Contrary to a person's wishes. • Indictments use this phrase to indicate that the defendant's conduct was without the victim's consent.

AGALMA

agalma (<<schwa>>-gal-m<<schwa>>). [Greek] A figure or design on a seal.

AGARD

agard (<<schwa>>-gahrd). [Law French] An award. See NUL FAIT AGARD.

AGARDER

agarder (ah-gahr-day), vb.[Law French] To award, adjudge, or determine; to sentence or condemn.

AGE

age,n. A period of time; esp., a period of individual existence or the duration of a person's life.

• In American usage, age is stated in full years completed (so that someone 15 years of age might actually be 15 years and several months old). State statutes define various types of ages, as shown in the subentries.

age of capacity.The age, usu. defined by statute as 18 years, at which a person is legally capable of agreeing to a contract, maintaining a lawsuit, or the like. • A person may be authorized to make certain critical personal decisions at an earlier age than the general age of capacity, such as the decision whether to bear a child, to donate blood, to obtain treatment for sexually transmitted diseases, to marry, or to write a will. The age of capacity to write a will is typically not 18, but 14. — Also termed age of majority; legal age; lawful age. See CAPACITY(2). [Cases: Infants 1. C.J.S. Infants §§ 2–4.]

age of consent.The age, usu. defined by statute as 16 years, at which a person is legally capable of agreeing to marriage (without parental consent) or to sexual intercourse. • If a person over the age of consent has sexual intercourse with a person under the age of consent, the older person may be prosecuted for statutory rape regardless of whether the younger person consented to the act. See statutory rape under RAPE. [Cases: Infants 5; Marriage 19. C.J.S. Infants § 111; Marriage § 26.]

age of criminal responsibility.The age at which a child may be held responsible for a criminal act. • In American criminal law, some state statutes allow a child as young as 7 to be held responsible (as a juvenile) for some acts. See, e.g., N.D. Cent. Code § 12.1-04-01. The minimum age for imposing adult liability is as low as 10. See, e.g., Ind. Code Ann. § 31-30-3-4(3). But in some circumstances, at least one state allows an offender to be tried as an adult at any age. See, e.g., Mich. Comp. Laws Ann. § 712A.2d.

age of discretion. 1. The age at which a person is considered responsible for certain acts and competent to exercise certain powers. • For example, a person must be a legal adult to be eligible to serve a summons. 2. PUBERTY.

age of majority. 1. The age, usu. defined by statute as 18 years, at which a person attains full legal rights, esp. civil and political rights such as the right to vote. • The age of majority must be the same for men and women. In almost all states today, the age of majority is 18, but the age at which a person may legally purchase and consume alcohol is 21. — Also termed lawful age; legal age. 2. See age of capacity. — Also termed (in both senses) full age. [Cases: Child Support 389; Infants 1; Parent and Child 16. C.J.S. Infants §§ 2–4; Parent and Child §§ 13–37.]

age of reason.The age at which a person becomes able to distinguish right from wrong and is thus legally capable of committing a crime or tort. • The age of reason varies from jurisdiction to jurisdiction, but 7 years is traditionally the age below which a child is conclusively presumed not to have committed a crime or tort, while 14 years is usu. the age below which a rebuttable presumption applies. A child of 14 or older has traditionally been considered legally competent to commit a crime and therefore held accountable. With the creation of juvenile courts and their investiture of delinquency jurisdiction over children from birth to age 18, these traditional distinctions have nearly vanished. They surface from time to time in murder cases when a juvenile court considers whether to certify or transfer a very young child for trial in criminal court or when a prosecutor seeks to bypass the juvenile court by filing criminal charges against a young child. [Cases: Infants 59, 66. C.J.S. Infants §§ 189, 197, 204.]

fighting age. The age at which a person becomes eligible to serve in (or liable to conscription into) a military unit. [Cases: Armed Services 17, 20.4(1). C.J.S. Armed Services § 42.]

full age. See age of majority.

lawful age. 1. See age of capacity. 2. See age of majority (1).

legal age. 1. See age of capacity. 2. See age of majority (1).

AGE DISCRIMINATION

age discrimination. See DISCRIMINATION.

AGE DISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT ACT

Age Discrimination in Employment Act. A federal law prohibiting job discrimination based on a person's age, esp. unfair and discriminatory employment decisions that negatively affect someone who is 40 years old or older. 29 USCA §§ 621–634. • Passed in 1967, the Act applies to businesses with more than 20 employees and to all governmental entities. — Abbr. ADEA. [Cases: Civil Rights 1199. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 56–58.]

AGENCY

agency. 1. A fiduciary relationship created by express or implied contract or by law, in which one party (the agent) may act on behalf of another party (the principal) and bind that other party by words or actions. See AUTHORITY (1). [Cases: Principal and Agent 1. C.J.S. Agency §§ 2, 4–6, 23, 25–27, 33, 38–40, 58.]

“The basic theory of the agency device is to enable a person, through the services of another, to broaden the scope of his activities and receive the product of another's efforts, paying such other for what he does but retaining for himself any net benefit resulting from the work performed.” Harold Gill Reuschlein & William A. Gregory, The Law of Agency and Partnership § 1, at 3 (2d ed. 1990).

actual agency. An agency in which the agent is in fact employed by a principal. [Cases: Principal and Agent 96, 99. C.J.S. Agency §§ 148–149, 153–164.]

agency by estoppel. An agency created by operation of law and established by a principal's actions that would reasonably lead a third person to conclude that an agency exists. — Also termed apparent agency; ostensible agency; agency by operation of law. [Cases: Principal and Agent 25(3), 137. C.J.S. Agency §§ 61, 157, 211.]

agency by necessity. See agency of necessity.

agency by operation of law. See agency by estoppel.

agency coupled with an interest. An agency in which the agent is granted not only the power to act on behalf of a principal but also a legal interest in the estate or property involved. • This type of agency is irrevocable before the interest expires, unless the parties agree otherwise when creating the interest. The agency survives even if the principal becomes insane or dies. See power coupled with an interest under POWER(3). [Cases: Principal and Agent 34, 43(2). C.J.S. Agency §§ 114–119, 136.]

agency from necessity. See agency of necessity.

agency in fact. An agency created voluntarily, as by a contract. • Agency in fact is distinguishable from an agency relationship created by law, such as agency by estoppel. [Cases: Principal and Agent 8. C.J.S. Agency §§ 36–40.]

agency of necessity. An agency arising during an emergency that necessitates the agent's acting without authorization from the principal; the relation between a person who in exigent circumstances acts in the interest of another without being authorized to do so. • It is a quasi-contractual relation formed by the operation of legal rules and not by the agreement of the parties. — Also termed agency from necessity; agency by necessity. See NEGOTIORUM GESTIO. [Cases: Principal and Agent 14(1), 99. C.J.S. Agency §§ 20, 53, 153–164; Architects § 21.]

apparent agency. See agency by estoppel.

exclusive agency. The right to represent a principal — esp. either to sell the principal's products or to act as the seller's real-estate agent — within a particular market free from competition. • Strictly speaking, an exclusive agency merely excludes all other brokers, but not the owner, from selling the products or property. — Also termed exclusive agency to sell; exclusive franchise; sole selling agency. Cf. EXCLUSIVE RIGHT OF SALE.

“Contracts involving the element of exclusive agency generally fall into three classes: (1) where the contract does not prevent the principal from making direct sales but deprives him of the right to appoint other agents; (2) where the agent is the only one with any right to sell; and (3) where the exclusive agency is accompanied with a stipulated right to commissions on all sales whether made through the agent or not.” 3 Am. Jur. 2d Agency § 268, at 768 (1986).

express agency. An actual agency arising from the principal's written or oral authorization of a person to act as the principal's agent. Cf. implied agency. [Cases: Principal and Agent 96. C.J.S. Agency §§ 148–149.]

financing agency. A bank, finance company, or other entity that in the ordinary course of business (1) makes advances against goods or documents of title, or (2) by arrangement with either the seller or the buyer intervenes to make or collect payment due or claimed under a contract for sale, as by purchasing or paying the seller's draft, making advances against it, or taking it for collection, regardless of whether documents of title accompany the draft. UCC § 2-104(2).

general agency. A principal's delegation to an agent, without restriction, to take any action connected with a particular trade, business, or employment. — Also termed universal agency. [Cases: Principal and Agent 93. C.J.S. Agency § 172.]

implied agency. An actual agency arising from the conduct by the principal that implies an intention to create an agency relationship. Cf. express agency. [Cases: Principal and Agent 99. C.J.S. Agency §§ 153–164.]

ostensible agency. See agency by estoppel.

special agency. An agency in which the agent is authorized only to conduct a single transaction or a series of transactions not involving continuous service. [Cases: Principal and Agent 94. C.J.S. Agency § 172.]

undisclosed agency. An agency relationship in which an agent deals with a third party who has no knowledge that the agent is acting on a principal's behalf. • The fact that the agency is undisclosed does not prohibit the third party from seeking redress from the principal or the agent. [Cases: Principal and Agent 138–146. C.J.S. Agency §§ 166, 369–371, 385, 387–388, 393, 412–419, 448–451.]

universal agency. See general agency.

2. An agent's place of business. 3. A governmental body with the authority to implement and administer particular legislation. — Also termed (in sense 3) government agency; administrative agency; public agency; regulatory agency. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 101. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 8.]

federal agency. A department or other instrumentality of the executive branch of the federal government, including a government corporation and the Government Printing Office. • The Administrative Procedure Act defines the term agency negatively as being any U.S. governmental authority that does not include Congress, the courts, the government of the District of Columbia, the government of any territory or possession, courts-martial, or military authority. 5 USCA § 551. The caselaw on this definition focuses on authority: generally, an entity is an agency if it has authority to take binding action. Other federal statutes define agency to include any executive department, government corporation, government-controlled corporation, or other establishment in the executive branch, or federal regulatory board. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 101; United States 30. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 8; United States § 49.]

independent agency. A federal agency, commission, or board that is not under the direction of the executive, such as the Federal Trade Commission or the National Labor Relations Board. — Also termed independent regulatory agency; independent regulatory commission. [Cases: United States 29. C.J.S. United States §§ 52, 57.]

local agency. A political subdivision of a state. • Local agencies include counties, cities, school districts, etc.

quasi-governmental agency. A government-sponsored enterprise or corporation (sometimes called a government-controlled corporation), such as the Federal National Mortgage Corporation. [Cases: United States 53. C.J.S. United States §§ 83, 88–95.]

state agency. An executive or regulatory body of a state. • State agencies include state offices, departments, divisions, bureaus, boards, and commissions. — Also termed state body.

AGENCY ADJUDICATION

agency adjudication. See ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEEDING.

AGENCY ADOPTION

agency adoption. See ADOPTION.

AGENCY FOR HEALTHCARE RESEARCH AND QUALITY

Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality. An agency in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services responsible for conducting research into improving the quality of healthcare, reducing its cost, and broadening access to essential healthcare services.

AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Agency for International Development. See UNITED STATES AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT .

AGENCY FOR TOXIC SUBSTANCES AND DISEASE REGISTRY

Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry. An agency in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services responsible for evaluating the impact on public health of the release of hazardous substances into the environment, for maintaining a registry of contaminated waste sites, and for conducting research on the effects of hazardous substances on human health. — Abbr. ATSDR.

AGENCY JURISDICTION

agency jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

AGENCY RECORDS

agency records. Under the Freedom of Information Act, documents that are created or obtained by a government agency, and that are in the agency's control at the time the information request is made. 5 USCA § 552; United States Dep't of Justice v. Tax Analysts, 492 U.S. 136, 109 S.Ct. 2841 (1989). [Cases: Records 54. C.J.S. Records §§ 99–100, 103–104.]

AGENCY REGULATION

agency regulation. See REGULATION(3).

AGENCY SECURITY

agency security. See government security under SECURITY.

AGENCY SHOP

agency shop. See SHOP.

AGENCY-SHOP MEMBERSHIP

agency-shop membership. See FINANCIAL-CORE MEMBERSHIP.

AGENDA

agenda. A list of things to be done, as items to be considered at a meeting, usu. arranged in order of consideration. — Also termed calendar; calendar of business; order of business. Cf. PROGRAM(1).

consent agenda. See consent calendar under CALENDAR(4).

debate agenda. See debate calendar under CALENDAR(4).

final agenda. An agenda that a deliberative assembly has adopted, or that has been adopted for a deliberative assembly by an officer or board charged with setting such an agenda.

proposed agenda. An agenda offered, usu. with the notice calling the meeting that the agenda covers, for a deliberative assembly's consideration. — Also termed tentative agenda.

report agenda. See report calendar under CALENDAR(4).

special-order agenda. See special-order calendar under CALENDAR(4).

tentative agenda. See proposed agenda.

unanimous-consent agenda. See consent calendar under CALENDAR(4).

AGENS

agens (ay-jenz). [Latin] 1. One who acts or does an act; an agent. Cf. PATIENS. 2. A plaintiff.

AGENT

agent. 1. Something that produces an effect <an intervening agent>. See CAUSE (1); ELECTRONIC AGENT. 2. One who is authorized to act for or in place of another; a representative . — Also termed commissionaire. Cf. PRINCIPAL(1); EMPLOYEE. [Cases: Principal and Agent 1, 3. C.J.S. Agency §§ 2, 4–9, 11–16, 18, 23, 25–27, 33, 38–40, 58.]

“Generally speaking, anyone can be an agent who is in fact capable of performing the functions involved. The agent normally binds not himself but his principal by the contracts he makes; it is therefore not essential that he be legally capable to contract (although his duties and liabilities to his principal might be affected by his status). Thus an infant or a lunatic may be an agent, though doubtless the court would disregard either's attempt to act as if he were so young or so hopelessly devoid of reason as to be completely incapable of grasping the function he was attempting to perform.” Floyd R. Mechem, Outlines of the Law of Agency 8–9 (Philip Mechem ed., 4th ed. 1952).

“The etymology of the word agent or agency tells us much. The words are derived from the Latin verb, ago, agere; the noun agens, agentis. The word agent denotes one who acts, a doer, force or power that accomplishes things.” Harold Gill Reuschlein & William A. Gregory, The Law of Agency and Partnership § 1, at 2–3 (2d ed. 1990).

apparent agent. A person who reasonably appears to have authority to act for another, regardless of whether actual authority has been conferred. — Also termed ostensible agent. [Cases: Principal and Agent 99. C.J.S. Agency §§ 153–164.]

bail-enforcement agent. See BOUNTY HUNTER.

bargaining agent. A labor union in its capacity of representing employees in collective bargaining. [Cases: Labor Relations 291. C.J.S. Labor Relations § 274.]

broker-agent. See BROKER.

business agent. See BUSINESS AGENT.

clearing agent. Securities. A person or company acting as an intermediary in a securities transaction or providing facilities for comparing data with respect to securities transactions. • The term includes a custodian of securities in connection with the central handling of securities. Securities Exchange Act § 3(a)(23)(A) (15 USCA § 78c(a)(23)(A)). — Also termed clearing agency.

co-agent. A person who shares with another agent the authority to act for the principal. — Also termed dual agent. Cf. common agent.

commercial agent. 1. BROKER. 2. A consular officer responsible for the commercial interests of his or her country at a foreign port. 3. See mercantile agent.

common agent. An agent who acts on behalf of more than one principal in a transaction. Cf. co-agent.

corporate agent. An agent authorized to act on behalf of a corporation; broadly, all employees and officers who have the power to bind the corporation. [Cases: Corporations 397–399. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 586–587, 591, 593–596, 598.]

county agent. See juvenile officer under OFFICER(1).

del credere agent (del kred-<<schwa>>-ray or kray-d*<<schwa>>*-ray). An agent who guarantees the solvency of the third party with whom the agent makes a contract for the principal. • A del credere agent receives possession of the principal's goods for purposes of sale and guarantees that anyone to whom the agent sells the goods on credit will pay promptly for them. For this guaranty, the agent receives a higher commission for sales. The promise of such an agent is almost universally held not to be within the statute of frauds. — Also termed del credere factor. [Cases: Factors 29.]

diplomatic agent. A national representative in one of four categories: (1) ambassadors, (2) envoys and ministers plenipotentiary, (3) ministers resident accredited to the sovereign, or (4) chargés d'affaires accredited to the minister of foreign affairs. [Cases: Ambassadors and Consuls 1–8. C.J.S. Ambassadors and Consuls §§ 2–32.]

dual agent. See co-agent.

emigrant agent. One engaged in the business of hiring laborers for work outside the country or state.

enrolled agent. See ENROLLED AGENT.

escrow agent. The third-party depository of an escrow; ESCROW(3). — Also termed escrow holder; escrowee; escrow officer. [Cases: Deposits and Escrows 13. C.J.S. Depositories §§ 15–17; Escrows §§ 8–10.]

fiscal agent. A bank or other financial institution that collects and disburses money and services as a depository of private and public funds on another's behalf.

foreign agent. A person who registers with the federal government as a lobbyist representing the interests of a foreign nation or corporation.

forwarding agent. 1. See FREIGHT FORWARDER. 2. A freight forwarder who assembles less-than-carload shipments (small shipments) into carload shipments, thus taking advantage of lower freight rates. [Cases: Carriers 178. C.J.S. Carriers § 463.]

general agent. An agent authorized to transact all the principal's business of a particular kind or in a particular place. • Among the common types of general agents are factors, brokers, and partners. [Cases: Insurance 1634(2); Principal and Agent 93. C.J.S. Agency § 172; Insurance §§ 193–194.]

“Although the distinction between general and special agents can be difficult to apply, the terminology is some-times used by courts and the distinction plays a major role in the Restatement of Agency. A general agent ... is an integral part of the principal's business and does not need fresh authorization for each separate transaction. A manager of a store is an example of a general agent.” J. Dennis Hynes, Agency, Partnership, and the LLC in a Nutshell 21 (1997).

government agent. 1. An employee or representative of a governmental body. [Cases: United States 36. C.J.S. United States §§ 56–57.] 2. A law-enforcement official, such as a police officer or an FBI agent. 3. An informant, esp. an inmate, hired by law enforcement to obtain incriminating statements from another inmate. • An accused's Sixth Amendment right to counsel is triggered when the accused is questioned by a government agent.

high-managerial agent. An agent of a corporation or other business, having authority to formulate corporate policy or supervise employees. — Also termed superior agent.

independent agent. An agent who exercises personal judgment and is subject to the principal only for the results of the work performed.

innocent agent. Criminal law. A person whose action on behalf of a principal is unlawful but does not merit prosecution because the agent had no knowledge of the principal's illegal purpose; a person who lacks the mens rea for an offense but who is tricked or coerced by the principal into committing a crime. • Although the agent's conduct was unlawful, the agent might not be prosecuted if the agent had no knowledge of the principal's illegal purpose. The principal is legally accountable for the innocent agent's actions. See Model Penal Code § 2.06(2)(a).

insurance agent. See INSURANCE AGENT.

jural agent. See JURAL AGENT.

land agent. See LAND MANAGER.

listing agent. See LISTING AGENT.

local agent. An agent appointed to act as another's (esp. a company's) representative and to transact business within a specified district.

managing agent. A person with general power involving the exercise of judgment and discretion, as opposed to an ordinary agent who acts under the direction and control of the principal. — Also termed business agent. [Cases: Principal and Agent 50.]

mercantile agent. An agent employed to sell goods or merchandise on behalf of the principal. — Also termed commercial agent.

nonservant agent. An agent who agrees to act on the principal's behalf but is not subject to the principal's control over how the task is performed. • A principal is not liable for the physical torts of a nonservant agent. See IN-DEPENDENT CONTRACTOR. Cf. SERVANT.

ostensible agent. See apparent agent.

patent agent. A specialized legal professional — not necessarily a licensed lawyer — who prepares and prosecutes patent applications before the Patent and Trademark Office • Patent agents must be licensed by the Patent and Trademark Office. — Also termed patent solicitor; registered patent agent.

primary agent. An agent who is directly authorized by a principal. • A primary agent generally may hire a subagent to perform all or part of the agency. Cf. subagent.

private agent. An agent acting for an individual in that person's private affairs. [Cases: Principal and Agent 92(3).]

process agent. A person authorized to accept service of process on behalf of another. [Cases: Corporations 668(4); Process 58. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 954–956; Process § 39.]

procuring agent. A person who obtains drugs on behalf of another person and delivers the drugs to that person. • In criminal-defense theory, the procuring agent does not sell, barter, exchange, or make a gift of the drugs to the other person because the drugs already belong to that person, who merely employs the agent to pick up and deliver them.

public agent. A person appointed to act for the public in matters pertaining to governmental administration or public business. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 1. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 1–9, 12–17, 21.]

real-estate agent. An agent who represents a buyer or seller (or both, with proper disclosures) in the sale or lease of real property. • A real-estate agent can be either a broker (whose principal is a buyer or seller) or a salesperson (whose principal is a broker). [Cases: Brokers 6. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 25–26, 31–32.]

record agent. See INSURANCE AGENT.

registered agent. A person authorized to accept service of process for another person, esp. a corporation, in a particular jurisdiction. — Also termed resident agent. [Cases: Corporations 507(5), 668(4); Process 58. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 728, 954–956; Process § 39.]

selling agent. The real-estate broker's representative who sells the property, as opposed to the agent who lists the property for sale. Cf. LISTING AGENT. [Cases: Brokers 18. C.J.S. Brokers § 49.]

soliciting agent. 1. Insurance. An agent with limited authority relating to the solicitation or submission of applications to an insurance company but usu. without authority to bind the insurer, as by accepting the applications on behalf of the company. [Cases: Insurance 1634(3). C.J.S. Insurance § 195.] 2. An agent who solicits orders for goods or services for a principal. 3. A managing agent of a corporation for purposes of service of process. [Cases: Corporations 668(5).]

special agent. 1. An agent employed to conduct a particular transaction or to perform a specified act. [Cases: Principal and Agent 94. C.J.S. Agency § 172.] 2. See INSURANCE AGENT.

specially accredited agent. An agent with whom a third person has been specially invited to deal by the principal under circumstances leading the third person to believe that he or she will be notified if the authority is altered or revoked.

statutory agent. An agent designated by law to receive litigation documents and other legal notices for a nonresident corporation. • In most states, the secretary of state is the statutory agent for such corporations. [Cases: Corporations 507(5, 12), 646, 668(14). C.J.S. Corporations §§ 725, 728, 902, 959.]

stock-transfer agent. An organization that oversees and maintains records of transfers of shares for a corporation. [Cases: Corporations 128.1.]

subagent. A person to whom an agent has delegated the performance of an act for the principal; a person designated by an agent to perform some duty relating to the agency. • If the principal consents to a primary agent's employment of a subagent, the subagent owes fiduciary duties to the principal, and the principal is liable for the subagent's acts. Cf. primary agent. — Also termed subservant. [Cases: Principal and Agent 73. C.J.S. Agency §§ 257–263, 265–267.]

“By delegation ... the agent is permitted to use agents of his own in performing the function he is employed to perform for his principal, delegating to them the discretion which normally he would be expected to exercise personally. These agents are known as subagents to indicate that they are the agent's agents and not the agents of the principal. Normally (though of course not necessarily) they are paid by the agent. The agent is liable to the principal for any injury done him by the misbehavior of the agent's subagents.” Floyd R. Mechem, Outlines of the Law of Agency § 79, at 51 (Philip Mechem ed., 4th ed. 1952).

successor agent. An agent who is appointed by a principal to act in a primary agent's stead if the primary agent is unable or unwilling to perform.

superior agent. See high-managerial agent.

transfer agent. An organization (such as a bank or trust company) that handles transfers of shares for a publicly held corporation by issuing new certificates and overseeing the cancellation of old ones and that usu. also maintains the record of shareholders for the corporation and mails dividend checks. • Generally, a transfer agent ensures that certificates submitted for transfer are properly indorsed and that the right to transfer is appropriately documented. [Cases: Corporations 128.1.]

undercover agent. 1. An agent who does not disclose his or her role as an agent. 2. A police officer who gathers evidence of criminal activity without disclosing his or her identity to the suspect.

universal agent. An agent authorized to perform all acts that the principal could personally perform. [Cases: Principal and Agent 50.]

vice-commercial agent. Hist. In the consular service of the United States, a consular officer who was substituted temporarily to fill the place of a commercial agent who was absent or had been relieved from duty.

3. Patents. A person who is not an attorney but who has fulfilled the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office requirements as a lay representative and is registered to prepare and prosecute patent applications before the PTO. • To be registered to practice before the PTO, a candidate must establish mastery of the relevant technology (by holding a specified technical degree or equivalent training) in order to advise and assist patent applicants. The candidate must also pass a written examination (the "Patent Bar") that tests knowledge of patent law and PTO procedure. — Also termed patent agent. Cf. PATENT ATTORNEY. [Cases: Patents 97. C.J.S. Patents §§ 135–138, 145, 178.]

agent not recognized. Patents. A patent applicant's appointed agent who is not registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. • A power of attorney appointing an unregistered agent is void.

associate agent. An agent who is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, has been appointed by a principal agent, and is authorized to prosecute a patent application through the filing of a power of attorney. • An associate agent is often used by outside counsel to assist in-house counsel.

AGENT PROVOCATEUR

agent provocateur (ay-j<<schwa>>nt pr<<schwa>>-vok-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>rorazhawn praw-vaw-k<<schwa>>-tuur), n. 1. An undercover agent who instigates or participates in a crime, often by infiltrating a group suspected of illegal conduct, to expose and punish criminal activity. 2. A person who entraps another, or entices another to break the law, and then informs against the other as a lawbreaker.

AGENT'S LIEN

agent's lien. See LIEN.

AGENT'S POWER

agent's power. See POWER(3).

AGE OF CAPACITY

age of capacity. See AGE.

AGE OF CONSENT

age of consent. See AGE.

AGE OF CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY

age of criminal responsibility. See AGE.

AGE OF DISCRETION

age of discretion. See AGE.

AGE OF MAJORITY

age of majority. See AGE.

AGE OF REASON

age of reason. See AGE.

AGER

ager (ay-j<<schwa>>r), n. [Latin] Roman law. Land or territory; esp., a portion of land enclosed by definite boundaries.

ager arcifinius (ay-j<<schwa>>r ahr-si-fin-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin "land having irregular boundaries; unsurveyed land"] Roman law. Land enclosed only as a means of identification, not as a limit. Pl. agri arcifinii. Cf. ager limitatus.

ager limitatus (ay-j<<schwa>>r lim-i-tay-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin "field limited" or "land enclosed by boundaries"] Roman & civil law. Land with settled boundaries; esp., land whose boundaries have been fixed by a surveyor. • The term applied to land belonging to the state by right of conquest, then granted and sold in individual plots. Cf. ager arcifinius. Pl. agri limitati (ag-rI lim-i-tay-tI).

"The agri limitati of the Roman law were lands detached from the public domain, and converted into private property, by sale or grant, beyond the limits of which the owners could claim nothing." John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 36 (4th ed. 1894).

ager publicus (ay-j<<schwa>>r p<<schwa>>b-li-k<<schwa>>s). Land of the people; public land.

AGGRAVATED

aggravated,adj.1. (Of a crime) made worse or more serious by circumstances such as violence, the presence of a deadly weapon, or the intent to commit another crime <aggravated robbery>. Cf. SIMPLE(1).2. (Of a tort) made worse or more serious by circumstances such as intention to cause harm or reckless disregard for another's safety <the defendant's negligence was aggravated by malice>. [Cases: Negligence 272–276. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 88–113.] 3. (Of an injury) harmful to a part of the body previously injured or debilitated <an aggravated bone fracture>. See AGGRAVATION RULE. [Cases: Damages 58. C.J.S. Damages § 165.]

AGGRAVATED ARSON

aggravated arson.See ARSON.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT

aggravated assault.See ASSAULT.

AGGRAVATED BATTERY

aggravated battery.See BATTERY.

AGGRAVATED DAMAGES

aggravated damages.See punitive damages under DAMAGES.

AGGRAVATED KIDNAPPING

aggravated kidnapping.See KIDNAPPING.

AGGRAVATED LARCENY

aggravated larceny.See LARCENY.

AGGRAVATED MISDEMEANOR

aggravated misdemeanor.See serious misdemeanor under MISDEMEANOR.

AGGRAVATED ROBBERY

aggravated robbery.See ROBBERY.

AGGRAVATED SODOMY

aggravated sodomy.See SODOMY.

AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCE

aggravating circumstance.See CIRCUMSTANCE.

AGGRAVATING ELEMENT

aggravating element.See aggravating circumstance under CIRCUMSTANCE.

AGGRAVATING FACTOR

aggravating factor.See aggravating circumstance under CIRCUMSTANCE.

AGGRAVATION

aggravation. 1. The fact of being increased in gravity or seriousness. 2. Eccles. law. A censure threatening the recipient with an increase in the penalties associated with excommunication, usu. because the recipient disre-garded an earlier sentence. • For example, a person who spurned a sentence of excommunication might be sub-jected to an anathema (a formal ban or curse). — aggravate, vb.

AGGRAVATION RULE

aggravation rule. Workers' compensation. The principle that when an on-the-job injury combines with a preex-isting injury, resulting in a greater disability than that which would have resulted from the on-the-job injury alone, the entire disability is compensable as if it had occurred at work. [Cases: Workers' Compensation 552–566. C.J.S. Workmen's Compensation §§ 325–337.]

AGGRAVATOR

aggravator. 1. One who commits a crime with an aggravating circumstance. 2. See aggravating circumstance under CIRCUMSTANCE. Cf. MITIGATOR.

AGGREGATE

aggregate (ag-r<<schwa>>-git), adj. Formed by combining into a single whole or total <aggregate income>. — aggregately, adv.

aggregate (ag-r<<schwa>>-git), n. An assemblage of particulars; an agglomeration <aggregate of interests>.

aggregate (ag-r<<schwa>>-gayt), vb. To collect into a whole <aggregate the claims>.

AGGREGATE CONCEPT

aggregate concept. Tax. An approach to taxing business organizations whereby an organization is viewed as a collection of its individual owners, not as a separate taxable entity. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3879; Taxation 1015. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 17–18; Taxation § 1707.]

AGGREGATE CORPORATION

aggregate corporation. See CORPORATION.

AGGREGATE DEMAND

aggregate demand. See DEMAND(4).

AGGREGATE INCOME

aggregate income. See INCOME.

AGGREGATE SENTENCE

aggregate sentence. See SENTENCE.

AGGREGATE SUPPLY

aggregate supply. See SUPPLY.

AGGREGATE THEORY OF PARTNERSHIP

aggregate theory of partnership. The theory that a partnership does not have a separate legal existence (as does a corporation), but rather is only the totality of the partners who make it up. Cf. ENTITY THEORY OF PARTNERSHIP. [Cases: Partnership 63. C.J.S. Partnership § 68.]

AGGREGATIO MENTIUM

aggregatio mentium (ag-r<<schwa>>-gay-shee-oh men-shee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “gathering together of minds”] See MEETING OF THE MINDS.

AGGREGATION

aggregation. Patents. 1. A set of parts that do not cooperate in structure or function, and are therefore unpatentable as an invention; the opposite of a combination. [Cases: Patents 25. C.J.S. Patents § 86.] 2. Hist. A patent examiner's label for a claimed invention that may or may not be a patentable combination but whose claims do not clearly explain how the parts cooperate to produce a new or unexpected result. • As a term of art, aggregation lost its usefulness when it was replaced by a statutory test in § 103 of the Patent Act of 1952. — Also termed juxtaposition. Cf. COMBINATION (4).

“I think of a football team as a combination; one passes, one receives, another runs, and still others hold the line. Eleven men are doing different things, each in his own way, and not always simultaneously; yet they are working to a common end, to advance the ball; and they coact as a unit. I think of a track team as an aggregation; one runs, another hurdles, another jumps, another throws. They all work for a common general end, to amass points for their alma mater; but there is lacking the vital spark of cooperation or coordination. They work, not as one unit, but as several.” Skinner v. Oil, 54 F.2d 896, 898–99 (10th Cir. 1931).

“The mere combining of old machine parts, each operating in the old way and accomplishing the old result, is an aggregation, and hence unpatentable; whereas, if a new result be produced by the joint action of the elements, and if such a result be not the mere adding together of the contributions of the separate elements, then there exists a patentable combination.” Roger Sherman Hoar, Patent Tactics and the Law 38 (3d ed. 1950).

AGGREGATION DOCTRINE

aggregation doctrine. The rule that precludes a party from totaling all claims for purposes of meeting the minimum amount necessary to give rise to federal diversity jurisdiction under the amount-in-controversy requirement. See diversity jurisdiction under JURISDICTION; AMOUNT IN CONTROVERSY. [Cases: Federal Courts 344.]

AGGREGATION OF CLAIMS

aggregation of claims. Patents. In a patent application, an excessive number of claims that do not differ significantly in scope and are essentially duplicative. • Although a patent applicant may claim an invention and its various features in a reasonable number of ways, each claim must differ materially from the others. — Also termed multiplicity of claims; undue multiplicity of claims. [Cases: Patents 124. C.J.S. Patents § 210.]

AGGREGATION REJECTION

aggregation rejection. See REJECTION.

AGGRESSION

aggression. Int'l law. A grave breach of international law by a nation. • The prohibition of aggression is a peremptory rule (jus cogens). Aggressors are guilty of an international crime. But there is no generally accepted definition of what constitutes aggression despite many attempts over the years to devise one. In 1974, the United Nations General Assembly adopted a Resolution on the Definition of Aggression (Resolution 3314 (XXIX) of December 14, 1974). It defines aggression, in part, as “the use of armed force by a State against the sovereignty, territorial integrity, or political independence of another country, or in a manner inconsistent with the Charter of the United Nations....” The definition does not extend to measures that, in certain circumstances, might constitute aggression, nor does it recognize exceptional circumstances that would make the enumerated acts defensive rather than offensive. The U.N. Security Council has never expressly relied on the resolution when determining whether a nation's acts constitute a “threat to the peace, breach of the peace, or act of aggression.” (See U.N. Charter art. 39, 59 Stat. 1031.) The difficulty of finding a generally accepted definition of aggression is reflected in Article 5 of the Statute of the International Criminal Court (37 I.L.M. 999). It confers jurisdiction on the Court over “the crime of aggression” but also requires the parties to the Statute to define the crime before the Court can exercise jurisdiction. [Cases: War and National Emergency 1, 19. C.J.S. War and National Defense §§ 1, 5–6.]

“Although classical aggression has generally been thought to involve direct military operations by regular national forces under government control, today subjugation and control of peoples may well result from resort to non-military methods. Economic pressures on the other states; demands couched in traditional diplomatic terms but laden with implied threats to compel action or inaction; fifth column activities; the endless propaganda harangue urging another state's peoples to rise against their government; the aiding and abetting of rebel bands intent on overthrowing another government; and a wide range of other modern techniques must be included in the concept of aggression in so far as they are delicts at international law, for they are directed against the sovereign independence of a state.” Ann Van Wynen Thomas & A.J. Thomas Jr., The Concept of Aggression in International Law 69 (1972).

direct aggression. Aggression in which a state's regular armed forces participate.

indirect aggression. Aggression carried out by some means other than through a state's regular armed forces.

“[I]ndirect aggression would seem to have two prime meanings: (1) delictual acts armed or unarmed and conducted vicariously by the aggressor state through third parties which endanger the essential rights of a state, rights upon which its security depends, and (2) delictual acts taken directly by the governing authorities of a state against another state or vicariously through third-party groups which do not involve the use of armed force, but which do endanger the essential rights of a state upon which its security depends. No directly military operations by the regular armed forces of a state are involved in either case; therefore the aggression can be regarded as an indirect method of constraint carried on by the aggressor state.” Ann Van Wynen Thomas & A.J. Thomas Jr., The Concept of Aggression in International Law 69 (1972).

AGGRESSOR CORPORATION

aggressor corporation. See CORPORATION.

AGGRESSOR DOCTRINE

aggressor doctrine. The principle precluding tort recovery for a plaintiff who acts in a way that would provoke a reasonable person to use physical force for protection, unless the defendant in turn uses excessive force to repel the plaintiff. [Cases: Assault and Battery 13. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 19–21.]

AGGRIEVED

aggrieved, adj. (Of a person or entity) having legal rights that are adversely affected; having been harmed by an infringement of legal rights.

AGGRIEVED PARTY

aggrieved party. See PARTY (2).

AGI

AGI. abbr. See adjusted gross income under INCOME.

AGILLARIUS

agillarius (aj-schwa-lair-ee-schwa), n. [Law Latin] Hist. A keeper of a herd of cattle in a common field; a hayward.

AGING OF ACCOUNTS

aging of accounts. A process of classifying accounts receivable by the time elapsed since the claim came into existence for the purpose of estimating the balance of uncollectible accounts as of a given date.

AGING-OUT

aging-out, n. A foster child's or minor ward's reaching the age at which any legal right to care expires. • Aging-out usu. occurs when the child reaches the age of majority and becomes ineligible for foster care. Some states allow an extension of eligibility up to age 21 if the child is still in school or cannot live independently, or if it is otherwise in the child's best interests to remain in foster care and the child consents. See INDEPENDENT-LIVING PROGRAM M.

AGIO

agio (aj-ee-oh oray-jee-oh). The premium paid for the exchange of one kind of money for another, such as paper currency for coin or one country's currency for another's.

AGIOTAGE

agiotage (aj-ee-<<schwa>>-tij). 1. The business of dealing in foreign exchange. 2. Speculative buying and selling of securities.

AGIST

agist (<<schwa>>-jist), vb. To allow animals to graze on one's pasture for a fee.

AGISTER

agister (<<schwa>>-jis-t<<schwa>>r). One who takes and pastures grazing animals for a fee; a person engaged in the business of agistment. • An agister is a type of bailee for hire. — Also spelled agistor. — Also termed gisetaker.[Cases: Animals 21. C.J.S. Animals § 46.]

AGISTER'S LIEN

agister's lien. See LIEN.

AGISTMENT

agistment (<<schwa>>-jist-m<<schwa>>nt). 1. A type of bailment in which a person, for a fee, allows animals to graze on his or her pasture; the taking in of cattle or other livestock to feed at a per-animal rate. [Cases: Animals 21. C.J.S. Animals § 46.] 2. A charge levied upon the owner or occupier of land. — Also termed gisement. See TITHE OF AGISTMENT.

agistment of sea-banks.Hist. A charge on land used to pay for the upkeep of dikes that prevent the encroachment of the sea.

AGISTOR

agistor. See AGISTER.

AGNATE

agnate (ag-nayt), adj. Related or akin through male descent or on the father's side.

agnate,n.1. A blood relative whose connection is through the male line. 2. A relative on the father's side, whether or not traced exclusively through the male line. Cf. COGNATE.

AGNATIC

agnatic (ag-nat-ik), adj. (Of a relationship) restricted to affiliations through the male line. — Also termed agnatical (ag-nat-i-k<<schwa>>l).

AGNATIO

agnatio (ag-nay-shee-oh). [Latin] Roman law. Kinship through the male line, not necessarily involving blood ties; specif., an affiliation of free persons of either sex in the power (patria potestas) of the senior living male or of a male who would be in his power if he were living. • An agnatic relationship could be created either by adoption or by a blood relationship (cognatio) traced solely through the male side of a family. See COGNATIO; patria potestas under POTESTAS.

AGNATION

agnation (ag-nay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. The relationship of agnates.

AGNATUS

agnatus (ag-nay-t<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman law. A person related through the male line. Cf. COGNATUS.

“[Agnati were] all individuals subject for the time being to the same patria potestas, or who would be so subject were the common ancestor alive. Brothers and sisters, with their uncles, aunts, nephews, nieces, and other collaterals (not having been received into another family), if related through males, were agnates. The civil issue of the state was the Agnatic Family. Cognates were all persons who could trace their blood to a single ancestor or ancestress, and agnates were those cognates who traced their connection exclusively through males.” John Bouvier, Bouvier's Law Dictionary (8th ed. 1914).

AGNOMEN

agnomen (ag-noh-m<<schwa>>n). [Latin] 1. An additional name or title; a nickname. 2.Roman law. An additional name, given in recognition of some achievement or to reflect adoption by a different gens. See NOMEN.

AGRARIAN

agrarian (<<schwa>>-grair-ee-<<schwa>>n), adj. Of or relating to land, land tenure, or a division of landed property. — agrarian,n.

AGRARIAN LAW

agrarian law.Roman & civil law. The body of law governing the ownership, use, and distribution of rural land.

AGRARIUM

agrarium (<<schwa>>-grair-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. A tax on, or tribute payable out of, land.

A GRATIA

a gratia (ay gray-shee-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] EX GRATIA.

AGREEMENTUM

agreementum (<<schwa>>-gree-<<schwa>>-men-t<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Agreement;

an agreement.

AGREE

agree,vb. 1. To unite in thought; to concur in opinion or purpose. 2. To exchange promises; to unite in an en-gagement to do or not do something. 3.Parliamentary law. To adopt (usu. in the phrase agree to). See ADOP-TION(5).

AGREED-AMOUNT CLAUSE

agreed-amount clause.An insurance-policy provision that the insured will carry a stated amount of coverage.

AGREED BOUNDARY

agreed boundary.See BOUNDARY.

AGREED-BOUNDARY DOCTRINE

agreed-boundary doctrine.The principle by which adjacent landowners resolve uncertainties over land boun-daries by permanently fixing the boundaries by agreement; specif., the rule that owners of contiguous land may agree on the boundary between the parcels, as long as the actual boundary is uncertain, there is agreement between the two owners about the boundary line, there is acquiescence in the agreed line for a time exceeding the statute of limitations, and the agreed boundary is identifiable on the ground. — Also termed doctrine of practical location. See agreed boundary under BOUNDARY. [Cases: Boundaries 46, 48. C.J.S. Boundaries §§ 67, 69–73, 83.]

AGREED CASE

agreed case.See agreed statement of facts under STATEMENT OF FACTS.

AGREED DECREE

agreed decree.See DECREE.

AGREED DISMISSAL

agreed dismissal.See dismissal agreed under DISMISSAL(1).

AGREED JUDGMENT

agreed judgment.See JUDGMENT.

AGREED PRICE

agreed price.See PRICE.

AGREED STATEMENT OF FACTS

agreed statement of facts.See STATEMENT OF FACTS.

AGREED STATEMENT ON APPEAL

agreed statement on appeal.See agreed statement of facts under STATEMENT OF FACTS .

AGREED VALUE

agreed value. See VALUE(2).

AGREEMENT

agreement. 1. A mutual understanding between two or more persons about their relative rights and duties re-garding past or future performances; a manifestation of mutual assent by two or more persons. [Cases: Contracts 1. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 2–3, 9, 12.] 2. The parties' actual bargain as found in their language or by implication from other circumstances, including course of dealing, usage of trade, and course of performance. UCC § 1-201(b)(3). [Cases: Sales 33. C.J.S. Sales § 43.]

“The term ‘agreement,’ although frequently used as synonymous with the word ‘contract,’ is really an expression of greater breadth of meaning and less technicality. Every contract is an agreement; but not every agreement is a contract. In its colloquial sense, the term ‘agreement’ would include any arrangement between two or more persons intended to affect their relations (whether legal or otherwise) to each other. An accepted invitation to dinner, for example, would be an agreement in this sense; but it would not be a contract, because it would neither be intended to create, nor would it in fact create, any legal obligation between the parties to it. Further, even an agreement which is intended to affect the legal relations of the parties does not necessarily amount to a contract in the strict sense of the term. For instance, a conveyance of land or a gift of a chattel, though involving an agreement, is ... not a contract; because its primary legal operation is to effect a transfer of property, and not to create an obligation.” 2 Stephen's Commentaries on the Laws of England 5 (L. Crispin Warmington ed., 21st ed. 1950).

“An agreement, as the courts have said, ‘is nothing more than a manifestation of mutual assent’ by two or more legally competent persons to one another. Agreement is in some respects a broader term than contract, or even than bargain or promise. It covers executed sales, gifts, and other transfers of property.” Samuel Williston, A Treatise on the Law of Contracts § 2, at 6 (Walter H.E. Jaeger ed., 3d ed. 1957).

agreement incident to divorce. See DIVORCE AGREEMENT.

agreement of sale. An agreement that obligates someone to sell and that may include a corresponding obligation for someone else to buy. [Cases: Sales 1. C.J.S. Sales § 2.]

agreement to agree. 1. An unenforceable agreement that purports to bind two parties to negotiate and enter into a contract; esp., a proposed agreement negotiated with the intent that the final agreement will be embodied in a formal written document and that neither party will be bound until the final agreement is executed. 2. A fully enforceable agreement containing terms that are sufficiently definite as well as adequate consideration, but leaving some details to be worked out by the parties. [Cases: Contracts 25. C.J.S. Contracts § 60.]

“Although the parties expect that they will reach agreement on the missing terms, what they expect to happen if they fail to reach agreement is often unclear. They may understand that there will be no contract at all or they may understand that there will be a contract with the missing term supplied as a matter of law. If the latter is their understanding, a question arises whether the agreement is one with open terms sufficiently definite to be enforceable or whether it is a mere unenforceable 'agreement to agree.' ” E. Allan Farnsworth, Contracts § 3.29, at 217 (3d ed. 1999).

agreement to sell. An agreement that obligates someone to sell. [Cases: Sales 1. C.J.S. Sales § 2.]

antenuptial agreement. See PRENUPTIAL AGREEMENT.

binding agreement. An enforceable contract. See CONTRACT. [Cases: Contracts 1. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 2–3, 9, 12.]

closing agreement. Tax. A written contract between a taxpayer and the Internal Revenue Service to resolve a tax dispute. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4761. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 654.]

cohabitation agreement. See COHABITATION AGREEMENT.

divorce agreement. See DIVORCE AGREEMENT.

formal agreement. An agreement for which the law requires not only the consent of the parties but also a manifestation of the agreement in some particular form (e.g., a signed writing), in default of which the agreement is unenforceable. Cf. formal contract under CONTRACT. [Cases: Contracts 30. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 66–67, 72.]

integrated agreement. See INTEGRATED CONTRACT.

invalid agreement. See invalid contract under CONTRACT.

living-together agreement. See COHABITATION AGREEMENT.

marital agreement. See MARITAL AGREEMENT.

marital settlement agreement. See DIVORCE AGREEMENT.

negotiated agreement. See NEGOTIATED AGREEMENT.

outsourcing agreement. See OUTSOURCING AGREEMENT.

point-and-click agreement. See POINT-AND-CLICK AGREEMENT.

postnuptial agreement. See POSTNUPTIAL AGREEMENT.

prenuptial agreement. See PRENUPTIAL AGREEMENT.

property settlement agreement. See PROPERTY SETTLEMENT(2).

reconciliation agreement. See RECONCILIATION AGREEMENT.

separation agreement. See SEPARATION AGREEMENT.

side agreement. 1. An agreement that is ancillary to another agreement. 2. Int'l law. An international accord that is specifically negotiated to supplement a broader trade treaty. • For example, NAFTA contains no provisions about labor standards or environmental protection. But two side agreements about those areas were negotiated separately and designed to supplement NAFTA, making the treaty more attractive to the ratifying bodies. — Also termed supplemental agreement.

simple agreement. An agreement for which the law requires nothing for its effective operation beyond some manifestation that the parties have consented.

subordination agreement. An agreement by which one who holds an otherwise senior interest agrees to subordinate that interest to a normally lesser interest, usu. when a seller agrees to subordinate a purchase-money mortgage so that the buyer can obtain a first-mortgage loan to improve the property. [Cases: Secured Transactions 147. C.J.S. Secured Transactions § 108.]

supplemental agreement. See side agreement.

surrogate-parenting agreement. See SURROGATE-PARENTING AGREEMENT.

takeover agreement. An agreement under which a defaulting party's surety agrees to perform the original contract in the defaulting party's stead.

trust agreement. See declaration of trust (2) under DECLARATION(1).

unconscionable agreement (<<schwa>>n-kon-sh<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l). An agreement that no promisor with any sense, and not under a delusion, would make, and that no honest and fair promisee would accept. • For commercial contexts, see UCC § 2-302. — Also termed unconscionable contract; unconscionable bargain. [Cases: Contracts 1. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 2-3, 9, 12.]

underwriting agreement. An agreement between a corporation and an underwriter covering the terms and conditions of a new securities issue. [Cases: Corporations 79. C.J.S. Corporations § 186.]

valid agreement. See valid contract under CONTRACT.

voidable agreement. See voidable contract under CONTRACT.

void agreement. See void contract under CONTRACT.

AGREEMENT OF IMPERFECT OBLIGATION

agreement of imperfect obligation. See unenforceable contract under CONTRACT.

AGREEMENT OF RESCISSION

agreement of rescission. See RESCISSION(2).

AGREEMENT OF SALE

agreement of sale. See AGREEMENT.

AGREEMENT ON TRADE-RELATED ASPECTS OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights. See TRIPS.

AGREEMENT RELATING TO LIABILITY LIMITATION OF THE WARSAW CONVENTION

Agreement Relating to Liability Limitation of the Warsaw Convention and The Hague Protocol. See MONTREAL AGREEMENT.

AGREEMENT TO AGREE

agreement to agree. See AGREEMENT.

AGREEMENT TO MARRY

agreement to marry. See marriage promise under PROMISE.

AGREEMENT TO SELL

agreement to sell. See AGREEMENT.

AGRI

agri (ag-rī), n. pl. [Latin] Lands.

AGRIBUSINESS

agribusiness. The pursuit of agriculture as an occupation or profit-making enterprise, including labor, land-use planning, and financing the cost of land, equipment, and other necessary expenses.

AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT ACT

Agricultural Adjustment Act. A 1933 federal statute that paid farmers not to produce crops in an effort to raise crop prices. • The U.S. Supreme Court declared the Act unconstitutional in 1936 on grounds that Congress had overstepped its power to regulate commerce. A second, more limited Agricultural Adjustment Act was enacted in 1938. — Abbr. AAA. [Cases: Agriculture 3.1.]

AGRICULTURAL COOPERATIVE SERVICE

Agricultural Cooperative Service. The federal agency within the U.S. Department of Agriculture responsible for helping farmers to organize farm cooperatives. • The Service also collects statistical information on co-ops and publishes Farmer Cooperatives, a monthly magazine.

AGRICULTURAL-DISPARAGEMENT LAW

agricultural-disparagement law. A statute designed to protect food producers from and provide remedies for pecuniary harm resulting from false and malicious reports of food contamination. • A typical statute applies to false and disparaging public statements implying or claiming that a perishable food product is unsafe for human consumption. It typically applies when the speaker or writer knows that the statements are false because the claim or implication has no basis in reliable scientific inquiry, facts, or data. — Also termed veggie-libel law; perishable-food-disparagement act; agricultural-product-disparagement law; food-disparagement law.

AGRICULTURAL LABOR

agricultural labor. Work that is performed on a farm or ranch, or that pertains to the production of commodities, such as harvesting crops, raising livestock, or obtaining milk, honey, or other animal products. • Agricultural labor is often excluded from certain labor laws, such as unemployment insurance and workers' compensation.

AGRICULTURAL LIEN

agricultural lien. See LIEN.

AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE

Agricultural Marketing Service. An agency in the U.S. Department of Agriculture responsible for compiling and publishing marketing information, establishing and enforcing quality standards for agricultural products, testing those products, and making grants to states and farmers. • It was established by the Secretary of Agriculture in 1972. — Abbr. AMS.

AGRICULTURAL-PRODUCT-DISPARAGEMENT LAW

agricultural-product-disparagement law. See AGRICULTURAL-DISPARAGEMENT LAW.

AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE

Agricultural Research Service. An agency in the U.S. Department of Agriculture responsible for conducting agricultural research to ensure the production of high-quality food and food products. — Abbr. ARS.

AGRICULTURE

agriculture. The science or art of cultivating soil, harvesting crops, and raising livestock. [Cases: Agriculture 3.1.]

“ ‘Agriculture’ is broader in meaning than ‘farming’; and while it includes the preparation of soil, the planting of seeds, the raising and harvesting of crops, and all their incidents, it also includes gardening, horticulture, viticulture, dairying, poultry, bee raising, and ranching.” 3 Am. Jur. 2d Agriculture § 1, at 934–35 (1986).

AGRI LIMITATI

agri limitati (ag-rī lim-i-tay-tī). See ager limitatus under AGER.

AGUILAR–SPINELLI TEST

Aguilar–Spinelli test (ah-gee-lahr spi-nel-ee orag-w<<schwa>>-lahr). Criminal procedure. A standard for determining whether hearsay (such as an informant's tip) is sufficiently reliable to establish probable cause for an arrest or search warrant. • Under this two-pronged test — which has been replaced by a broader, totality-of-the-circumstances approach — the reliability of both the information and the informant must be assessed independently. Aguilar v. Texas, 378 U.S. 108,

84 S.Ct. 1509 (1964); Spinelli v. United States, 393 U.S. 410, 89 S.Ct. 584 (1969). Cf. TOTALITY-OF-THE-CIRCUMSTANCES TEST. [Cases: Criminal Law 211(3); Searches and Seizures 118.C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 330, 337; Searches and Seizures §§ 160–165, 167.]

AGUNAH

agunah (ah-goo-nah), n. Jewish law. 1. A woman whose husband has deserted her or otherwise disappeared. • She may not remarry until either proving his death or obtaining a divorce. 2. A woman whose husband will not agree to a divorce.

AGVA

AGVA.abbr.AMERICAN GUILD OF VARIETY ARTISTS.

AHUPUAA

ahupuaa (ah-hoo-poo-ah-ah). [Hawaiian] A variable measure of Hawaiian land, traditionally understood to stretch from the sea to the mountains, to allow the people to obtain the various materials needed for subsistence offered at different elevations. — Also spelled ahupua'a.

AICPA

AICPA.abbr.American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. [Cases: Accountants 3.1.]

AID

AID.abbr.1. See artificial insemination by donor under ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION . 2.UNITED STATES AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT.

aid,n. Hist. 1.A subsidy or tax granted to the king for an extraordinary purpose. — Also termed grant-in-aid. 2. A benevolence or tribute (i.e., a sum of money) granted by the tenant to his lord in times of difficulty and distress. • Over time, these grants grew from being discretionary to matters of right. The three principal aids were: (1) to ransom the lord's person if he was taken prisoner; (2) to contribute toward the ceremony of knighting the lord's eldest son; and (3) to provide a suitable portion to the lord's eldest daughter when she married. 3. Assistance in defending a lawsuit in which the plaintiff also has a claim against an unsued third party having a joint interest in the defense.

AID AND ABET

aid and abet,vb. To assist or facilitate the commission of a crime, or to promote its accomplishment. • Aiding and abetting is a crime in most jurisdictions. — Also termed aid or abet; counsel and procure. [Cases: Criminal Law 59. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 127, 998.] — aider and abettor,n.

“The phrase ‘aid and abet’ and ‘aider and abettor’ seem unnecessarily verbose.... [A]ny aid given with mens rea is abetment; hence to add the word ‘aid’ to the word ‘abet’ is not necessary and is sometimes misleading.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 724–25 (3d ed. 1982).

“In connection with the principal in the second degree or accessory before the fact, the terms ‘aid’ and ‘abet’ are frequently used interchangeably, although they are not synonymous. To ‘aid’ is to assist or help another. To ‘abet’ means, literally, to bait or excite, as in the case of an animal. In its legal sense, it means to encourage, advise, or instigate the commission of a crime.” 1 Charles E. Torcia, Wharton's Criminal Law § 29, at 181 (15th ed. 1993).

AID AND COMFORT

aid and comfort.Help given by someone to a national enemy in such a way that the help amounts to treason. [Cases: Treason 6. C.J.S. Treason § 8.]

“Aid and comfort may be given in various ways, such as buying a vessel and fitting it for service in aid of the enemy, delivering prisoners and deserters to the enemy, or selling critical materials with knowledge of the fact that the purchaser buys them to use in the manufacture of gunpowder for the enemy, or otherwise to aid him in his prosecution of the war. And the courts have given short shrift to the claim that such a sale was not intended to aid the enemy but only to make a profit.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 502 (3d ed. 1982).

AIDED-AWARENESS SURVEY

aided-awareness survey.Trademarks. A trademark survey in which interviewees are asked to choose from a spectrum of choices that prominently feature the desired response. • Aided-awareness surveys are often dis-counted or entirely disregarded by courts in trademark-infringement actions. — Also termed aided-recall survey. [Cases: Trade Regulation 580. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 268, 271.]

AIDE-MÉMOIRE

aide-mémoire (ayd-mem-wahr). [French] Int'l law.A diplomatic document that a diplomatic agent leaves with the receiving state's department of foreign affairs on the occasion of a démarche. • The aide-mémoire presents the receiving state with a precise record of the substance of the diplomatic agent's mission. It is typically written in an impersonal style, without mentioning either the addressee or the author. It appears on printed letterhead and is dated, but it is not signed, initialed, or embossed with a seal. See DÉMARCHE.

AIDER

aider,n.1. An act of aiding; the curing of a defect. 2. One who aids another.

AIDER BY PLEADING OVER

aider by pleading over.The cure of a pleading defect by an adversary's answering the pleading without an ob-jection, so that the objection is waived.

AIDER BY SUBSEQUENT PLEADING

aider by subsequent pleading.The cure of a pleading defect by an adversary's answer that refers to or admits a material fact or allegation that was not mentioned in the pleading, or an answer that shows the correct basis for the plaintiff's pleading. — Also termed express aider.

AIDER BY VERDICT

aider by verdict. The cure of a pleading defect by a trial verdict, based on the presumption that the record contains adequate proof of the necessary facts even if those facts were not specifically alleged. — Also termed cure by verdict. [Cases: Indictment and Information 200–203; Pleading 432–437. C.J.S. Indictments and Informations §§ 252–256; Pleading §§ 873–886.]

“AIDER BY VERDICT. Wherever a pleading states the essential requisites of a cause of action or ground of defense, it will be held sufficient after a general verdict in favor of the party pleading, though the statement be informal or inaccurate; but a verdict will never aid the statement of a title or cause of action inherently defective.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 332, at 531 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

AIDING AN ESCAPE

aiding an escape. The crime of helping a prisoner escape custody. [Cases: Escape 5. C.J.S. Escape §§ 19–23, 25–26.]

AID OF THE KING

aid of the king. Hist. A request of the king made by a tenant for relief from another's demand for rent.

AID OR ABET

aid or abet. See AID AND ABET.

AID OR ABET INFRINGEMENT

aid or abet infringement. Patents. Through some affirmative act or conduct, to actively induce or assist with another person's infringement. • Aiding or abetting patent infringement is actionable under § 271(b) of the Patent Act. Cf. infringement in the inducement under INFRINGEMENT.

AID PRAYER

aid prayer. Hist. A plea by a life tenant or other holder of less than a fee simple to bring into the action another who holds an interest in the estate (such as a reversioner or remainderman) to help defend the title. — Also termed prayer in aid.

AIDS

aids. See AID(2).

AID TO FAMILIES WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN

Aid to Families with Dependent Children. Obsolete. A federally funded, state-administered welfare program that provided financial assistance to needy families with dependent children. • Aid to Families with Dependent Children has been replaced by Temporary Assistance to Needy Families. — Abbr. AFDC. See TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE TO NEEDY FAMILIES.

AIEL

aiel (ay-<<schwa>>l), n.[Law French] Hist. 1.A grandfather. 2. A writ by an heir of a grandfather for recovery of the grandfather's estate, which had been wrongfully possessed by a stranger. — Also termed (in sense 2) writ of aiel. — Also spelled aile; ayel; ayle. Cf. BESAYEL; COSINAGE.

AIH

AIH.abbr. See artificial insemination by husband under ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION .

AIKEN<TT> EXEMPTION

Aiken exemption.Copyright. An exception in the law of infringement that permits retail establishments with less than 2,000 square feet of space to play radio and television broadcasts for employees and patrons without ob-taining a license. Twentieth Century Music Corp. v. Aiken, 422 U.S. 151, 95 S.Ct. 2040 (1975). — Also termed store-receiver exemption. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 48.1. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intel-lectual Property §§ 86–91.]

AIMABLE COMPOSITEUR

aimable compositeur (ay-mah-bl<<schwa>> kon-poh-zee-tuur). [French] See AMIABLE COMPOSITOR .

AIPA

AIPA.abbr. AMERICAN INVENTORS PROTECTION ACT.

AIPLA

AIPLA.abbr. AMERICAN INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW ASSOCIATION.

AIRBILL

airbill. A document serving as a bill of lading for goods transported by air. • The term includes air consignment notes and air waybills. [Cases: Carriers 51. C.J.S. Carriers § 390.]

AIRCRAFT PIRACY

aircraft piracy. See air piracy under PIRACY(2).

AIR LAW

air law. The part of law, esp. international law, relating to civil aviation.

AIRMAN'S CERTIFICATE

airman's certificate. A license that every aircraft pilot must have to operate an aircraft in U.S. airspace. 49 USCA §§ 44701–44711; 14 CFR § 61.3. [Cases: Aviation 122. C.J.S. Aeronautics and Aerospace §§ 42–45, 56.]

AIRMAN'S INFORMATION MANUAL

Airman's Information Manual. A publication of the Federal Aviation Administration, providing the funda-mental requirements of any pilot who flies in national airspace.

AIR PIRACY

air piracy. See PIRACY.

AIR POLLUTION

air pollution. Environmental law. Any harmful substance or energy emitted directly or indirectly into the air, esp. if the harm is to the environment or to the public health or welfare. [Cases: Environmental Law 241–301.]

AIR-QUALITY-CONTROL REGION

air-quality-control region. Environmental law. A federally designated area in which communities share an air-pollution problem, often involving several states; an interstate area or major intrastate area that the Environmental Protection Agency designates for monitoring and ameliorating ambient air-quality standards. 42 USCA § 7407(c). [Cases: Environmental Law 254–301.]

AIR-QUALITY CRITERIA

air-quality criteria. Environmental law. The legal limits that the Environmental Protection Agency sets for pollutants in a defined area and at a specified time. [Cases: Environmental Law 255.]

AIR RIGHT

air right. The right to use all or a portion of the airspace above real property.

AIR-SERVICES AGREEMENT

air-services agreement. See AIR-TRANSPORT AGREEMENT.

AIRSPACE

airspace. The space that extends upward from the surface of land, esp. so far as is necessary for the owner or possessor to have reasonable use and enjoyment of the incidents of its ownership or possession. Cf. OUTER SPACE.

national airspace. Int'l law. The pillar of air above a nation's territory — including internal waters and the territorial sea — over which it has complete and exclusive sovereignty and through which foreign aircraft have no right of innocent passage. • There is no agreement on the boundary between national airspace and outer space.

navigable airspace. The area above the legally established minimum flight altitudes, including the area needed to ensure safe takeoffs and landings of aircraft. 49 USCA § 40102(a)(30). [Cases: Aviation 3, 231. C.J.S. Aeronautics and Aerospace §§ 7–9, 21, 73.]

AIR-TRANSPORT AGREEMENT

air-transport agreement. A contract governing the operation of air services; esp., an intergovernmental agreement governing the operation of international air services between their territories. — Also termed air-services agreement.

AIR WAYBILL

air waybill. See WAYBILL.

AISIAMENTUM

aisiamentum (ay-shee-<<schwa>>-men-t<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] An easement or privilege.

AISNE

aisne. See EIGNE.

A ISSUE

a issue (ah is[h]-yoo). [Law French] At issue.

AJS

AJS.abbr. AMERICAN JUDICATURE SOCIETY.

A JURE SUO CADUNT

a jure suo cadunt (ay joor-ee s[y]oo-oh kay-d<<schwa>>nt). [Latin] Scots law. They fall from their right. • The phrase appeared in reference to those who lose a property right through loss of possession or through abandon-ment.

A.K.A.

a.k.a.abbr. Also known as.

AL

àl (ahl), prep. [Law French] At.

À LA GRANDE GREVAUNCE

a la grande grevaunce (ah l<<schwa>> grawnd gr<<schwa>>-vawns). [Law French] To the great grievance.

ALAI

ALAI.abbr. L'ASSOCIATION LITTERAIRE ET ARTISTIQUE INTERNATIONALE.

A LARGE

a large (ah lahrzh). [Law French] Free; at large.

A LATERE

a latere (ay lat-<<schwa>>-ree). [Latin] From the side; collaterally. • This term was formerly used to denote collateral succession rather than lineal succession.

ALBACEA

albacea (ahl-b<<schwa>>-thay-<<schwa>>), n. Spanish law. An executor; the person named by a testator to carry out the directions of a will.

ALBA FIRMA

alba firma (al-b<<schwa>> f<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] See WHITE RENT.

ALBANUS

albanus (al-bay-n<<schwa>>s), n.[Law Latin] See ADVENA.

AL BARRE

al barre (ahl bahr). [Law French] At the bar.

ALBUM BREVE

album breve (al-b<<schwa>>m breev or bree-vee). See BREVE.

ALBUS LIBER

albus liber (al-b<<schwa>>s II-b<<schwa>>r). [Law Latin “white book”] Hist. An ancient book containing a compilation of the laws and customs of the city of London. — Also termed White Book.

ALCALDE

alcalde (ahl-kahl-day or al-kal-dee). [fr. Arabic al-qadi “the Cadi” or “the judge”] Spanish law. 1.Hist. A judicial officer. • The alcalde's functions typically resembled those of a justice of the peace. 2. The mayor of a Spanish or Spanish-American town, usu. with a judicial element. • This is the modern sense.

ALCOHOL AND TOBACCO TAX AND TRADE BUREAU

Alcohol and Tobacco Tax and Trade Bureau.A bureau in the U.S. Department of the Treasury that administers the laws governing the production, use, and distribution of alcohol and tobacco products, and collects excise taxes on firearms and ammunition. • The Bureau has the tax-enforcement functions of the former Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms. — Abbr. TTB.

ALCOHOLOMETER

alcoholometer. See BREATHALYZER.

ALDERMAN

alderman. A member of a city council or other local governing body. — Also termed alderperson. [Cases: Mu-nicipal Corporations 84. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 214–215.]

ALDERMANNUS

aldermannus (al-d<<schwa>>r-man-<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. An alderman.

aldermannus civitatis vel burgi (siv-i-tay-tis vel b<<schwa>>r-jI). An alderman of a city or borough.

aldermannus hundredi seu wapentachii (h<<schwa>>n-dri-dIyoo wahp-<<schwa>>n-tay-kee-I). An alderman of a hundred or wapentake.

aldermannus regis (ree-jis). An alderman of the king, so called because he is appointed by the king or gives the king's judgment in the premises allotted to him.

aldermannus totius Angliae (toh-shee-<<schwa>>s ang-gee-ee). An alderman of all England, similar to the chief justiciary of England in later times. See JUSTICIARY.

ALDERPERSON

alderperson. See ALDERMAN.

ALDERWOMAN

alderwoman. A female member of a city council or other local governing body. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 84. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 214–215.]

ALEA

alea (ay-lee-<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman law. 1. A game of chance. 2. The chance of gain or loss in a contract.

ALEATOR

aleator (ay-lee-ay-t<<schwa>>r). [Latin] Roman law. A gambler; dice player.

ALEATORY

aleatory (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj. Dependent on uncertain contingencies. • The word aleatory derives from the Latin word aleator, meaning “a gambler,” which itself comes from alea (a die used in gaming). — Also termed aleatoric.

ALEATORY CONTRACT

aleatory contract. See CONTRACT.

ALEATORY PROMISE

aleatory promise. See PROMISE.

ALEGAL

alegal, adj. Outside the sphere of law; not classifiable as being legal or illegal <the law often treats the promises of unmarried cohabitants as contractual words rather than alegal words of commitment>. — alegality, n.

ALER A DIEU

aler a Dieu.See ALLER A DIEU.

ALER SANS JOUR

aler sans jour.See ALLER SANS JOUR.

ALE SILVER

ale silver.Hist. A rent or tribute paid annually to the lord mayor of London by persons who sold ale within the city.

ALEVOSIA

alevosia.Spanish law. MALICE. See Pico v. United States, 228 U.S. 225, 33 S.Ct. 482 (1913).

ALEZ ADEU

alez adeu (ah-lay ah-duu). See ADEU.

ALFET

alfet (al-fet).Hist. A cauldron filled with boiling water, used to scald the arm of a person undergoing an ordeal. See ordeal by water (2) under ORDEAL.

ALFORD<TT> PLEA

Alford plea. A guilty plea that a defendant enters as part of a plea bargain, without actually admitting guilt. • This plea is not considered compelled within the language of the Fifth Amendment if the plea represents a voluntary, knowing, and intelligent choice between the available options <the defendant — realizing the strength of the prosecution's evidence and not wanting to risk receiving the death penalty — entered into an Alford plea>.North Carolina v. Alford, 400 U.S. 25, 91 S.Ct. 160 (1970). Cf. NO CONTEST . [Cases: Criminal Law 273(4.1), 273.1(2). C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 365–374.]

ALGORITHM

algorithm.Patents. A mathematical or logical process consisting of a series of steps, designed to solve a specific type of problem. • Algorithms were long considered abstract ideas and therefore unpatentable subject matter. But in 1998, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit found valid a patent on financial software as “a practical application of a mathematical algorithm [that] produces a useful, concrete and tangible result.” State St. Bank & Trust Co. v. Signature Fin. Group, 149 F.3d 1368, 1373 (Fed. Cir. 1998). That precedent makes it easier to patent computer software, which consists almost entirely of algorithms. [Cases: Patents 6. C.J.S. Patents §§ 26–27.]

ALGORITHM EXCEPTION

algorithm exception.Patents. The general rule that an abstract mathematical function, such as an algorithm, cannot be patented. • The exception was first articulated by the U.S. Supreme Court in Gottschalk v. Benson, 409 U.S. 63, 93 S.Ct. 253 (1972). The rule was undermined by State St.

Bank & Trust Co. v. Signature Fin. Group, 149 F.3d 1368 (Fed. Cir. 1998). In that case, the court decided that a machine's transformation of numerical data into a calculated share price was a sufficient and practical application of a mathematical algorithm, formula, or calculation because the final share price was "a useful, concrete and tangible result." — Also termed mathematical-algorithm exception.

ALI

ALI.abbr.AMERICAN LAW INSTITUTE.

ALIA ENORMIA

alia enormia (ay-lee-<<schwa>> i-nor-mee-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin "other serious wrongs"] Hist. A general allegation of injuries made at the conclusion of the declaration by a plaintiff in a trespass action. [Cases: Trespass 40(5). C.J.S. Trespass § 85.]

ALIAMENTA

aliamenta (al-ee-<<schwa>>-men-t*<<schwa>>*). [Latin] A liberty of passage or open way, such as a path through another's hedge or drainage for a waterway.

ALIAS

alias (ay-lee-*<<schwa>>*s), adj. Issued after the first instrument has not been effective or resulted in action.

alias, adv.1. Otherwise called or named; also known as <William Grimsby, alias the Grim Reaper>.2. At another time.

alias,n.1. An assumed or additional name that a person has used or is known by. — Also termed assumed name; fictitious name. [Cases: Names 14.C.J.S. Names §§ 29–34.] 2.Hist. A second writ issued after the first has failed. See alias writ under WRIT. Pl. aliases.

ALIAS DICTUS

alias dictus (ay-lee-*<<schwa>>s dik-t<<schwa>>*s), adv.[Latin] Otherwise called; ALIAS(1).

ALIAS EXECUTION

alias execution.See EXECUTION.

ALIAS PROCESS

alias process.See PROCESS.

ALIAS SUBPOENA

alias subpoena.See SUBPOENA.

ALIAS SUMMONS

alias summons.See SUMMONS.

ALIAS WRIT

alias writ. See WRIT.

A LIBELLIS

a libellis (ay li-bel-is). [Law Latin] Roman law. 1. An officer having charge of petitions (libelli) addressed to the emperor or sovereign. 2. CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER .

A LIBELLO UT LIBELLATUR

a libello ut libellatur (ay l<<schwa>>-bel-oh <<schwa>>t lib-<<schwa>>-lay-t<< schwa>>r). [Law Latin] Hist. From the libel as laid. • The phrase appeared in a dismissal in favor of a defendant.

ALIBI

alibi (al-<<schwa>>-bi), n. [Latin “elsewhere”] 1. A defense based on the physical impossibility of a defendant's guilt by placing the defendant in a location other than the scene of the crime at the relevant time. Fed. R. Crim. P. 12.1. [Cases: Criminal Law 31.5. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 87.] 2. The fact or state of having been elsewhere when an offense was committed.

alibi, vb. To offer or provide an alibi for <the conspirators alibied for each other>.

ALIBI WITNESS

alibi witness. See WITNESS.

ALIEN

alien (ay-lee-<<schwa>>n or ayl-y<<schwa>>n), n. A person who resides within the borders of a country but is not a citizen or subject of that country; a person not owing allegiance to a particular nation. • In the United States, an alien is a person who was born outside the jurisdiction of the United States, who is subject to some foreign government, and who has not been naturalized under U.S. law. [Cases: Aliens 1–15. C.J.S. Aliens §§ 2–13, 16–46.]

alien ami. See alien friend.

alien amy. See alien friend.

alien enemy. A citizen or subject of a country at war with the country in which the citizen or subject is living or traveling. — Also termed enemy alien. [Cases: War and National Emergency 11. C.J.S. War and National Defense §§ 7–8.]

“In its natural meaning, the term ‘alien enemy’ indicates a subject of a State with which this country is at war; but in considering the enforcement of civil rights, the test is not nationality, but residence or place of business. Hence, if a person is voluntarily resident in or is carrying on business in an enemy country, then he is an alien enemy even though he be a British subject or the subject of a neutral State” 1 E.W. Chance, Principles of Mercantile Law 52–53 (P.W. French ed., 13th ed. 1950).

alien friend. An alien who is a citizen or subject of a friendly power. — Also termed (in Law French) alien amy; alien ami.

alien immigrant. See IMMIGRANT.

enemy alien. See alien enemy.

illegal alien. An alien who enters a country at the wrong time or place, eludes an examination by officials, obtains entry by fraud, or enters into a sham marriage to evade immigration laws. — Also termed undocumented alien. [Cases: Aliens 52–59. C.J.S. Aliens §§ 53, 70–71, 75, 77–82, 84–87, 92, 97–100, 102, 107, 109–111, 114, 116–134, 136, 138–149, 151–180, 182–275.]

nonresident alien. A person who is neither a resident nor a citizen of the United States.

resident alien. An alien who has a legally established domicile in the United States. See NATURALIZATION. [Cases: Aliens 3. C.J.S. Aliens §§ 6, 8, 13.]

undocumented alien. See illegal alien.

alien, vb. See ALIENATE.

ALIENABLE

alienable (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-n*<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l orayl-y<<schwa>>*-), adj. Capable of being transferred to the ownership of another; transferable <an alienable property interest>. — alienability, n.

ALIENAGE

alienage (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-nij orayl-y*<<schwa>>*-nij), n. The condition or status of being an alien. See DECLARATION OF ALIENAGE. [Cases: Aliens 1. C.J.S. Aliens §§ 2–3, 5.]

ALIEN AMI

alien ami. See alien friend under ALIEN.

ALIEN AMY

alien amy. See alien friend under ALIEN.

ALIEN AND SEDITION ACTS

Alien and Sedition Acts. Hist. Four statutes passed in 1798 designed to silence critics of the Federalist party by tightening residency requirements for citizenship, granting to the President the power to jail aliens considered dangerous to the country, and restricting freedoms of the press and speech by criminalizing speech hostile to the government. • All the acts had expired or been repealed by 1802.

ALIENATE

alienate (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-nayt orayl-y*<<schwa>>*-), vb. To transfer or convey (property or a property right) to another. — Also termed alien. — alienator, n.

ALIENATIO FEUDI

alienatio feudi (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-nay-shee-oh fyoo-dI). [Law Latin] Hist. Disposition of a feudal right.

ALIENATIO FEUDIFIRMAE FEUDIFIRMARUM

alienatio feudifirmae feudifirmarum (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-nay-shee-oh fyoo-di-f<<schwa>>r-mee fyoo-di-f<<schwa>>r-mair-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin “disposition of a feuholding of feuholders”] Hist. A conveyance to avoid the prohibition on alienation of Crown lands. • It was nullified by statute in 1597.

ALIENATION

alienation (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-nay-sh<<schwa>>n or ayl-y<<schwa>>-nay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. Withdrawal from former attachment; estrangement <alienation of affections>.2. Conveyance or transfer of property to another <alienation of one's estate>. [Cases: Property 11. C.J.S. Property §§ 27, 33.] — alienative (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-nay-tiv or ayl-y<<schwa>>-), adj.

“[A]ny transfer of real estate short of a conveyance of the title is not an alienation of the estate.” 4A John Alan Appleman & Jean Appleman, Insurance Law and Practice § 2741, at 325 n.12 (rev. vol. 1969).

involuntary alienation. Alienation against the wishes of the transferor, as by attachment. — Also termed involuntary conveyance.

ALIENATION CLAUSE

alienation clause. 1. A deed provision that either permits or prohibits the further conveyance of the property. [Cases: Deeds 144(1), 149.C.J.S. Deeds §§ 275, 305–307, 309, 313.] 2. Insurance. A clause in an insurance policy voiding coverage if the policyholder alienates the insured property. [Cases: Insurance 3051. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 574, 640–652, 772.]

ALIENATION OF AFFECTIONS

alienation of affections. A tort claim for willful or malicious interference with a marriage by a third party without justification or excuse. • Where the cause of action still exists, the elements are (1) some wrongful conduct by the defendant with the plaintiff's spouse, (2) the loss of affection or loss of consortium of the plaintiff's spouse, and (3) a causal relationship between the defendant's conduct and the loss of consortium. Heartbalm statutes in 26 states and the District of Columbia have now abolished in whole or in part suits for alienation of affections. But the doctrine thrives elsewhere. For example, a North Carolina court has upheld a $1 million award to an ex-wife who filed an alienation-of-affections action against her ex-husband's new wife. Hutelmyer v. Cox, 514 S.E.2d 554 (N.C. Ct. App. 1999). See CONSORTIUM; HEARTBALM STATUTE. [Cases: Husband and Wife 322–337.]

ALIENATION OFFICE

alienation office. See OFFICE.

ALIENATIVE FACT

alienative fact. See FACT.

ALIEN CORPORATION

alien corporation. See foreign corporation under CORPORATION.

ALIENEE

alienee (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-nee or ayl-y*<<schwa>>*-nee), n. One to whom property is transferred or conveyed. — Also termed disponent.

fraudulent alienee. One who knowingly receives an asset by means of fraudulent alienation. [Cases: Fraudulent Conveyances 156–158.]

ALIEN ENEMY

alien enemy. See ALIEN.

ALIEN FRIEND

alien friend. See ALIEN.

ALIENIGENA

alienigena (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-nij-<<schwa>>-n*<<schwa>>*). [Latin] Hist. An alien. Cf. INDIGENA.

ALIENI GENERIS

alieni generis (ay-lee-ee-ni [or al-ee-] jen-<<schwa>>-ris). [Latin] Of another kind; of a foreign kind.

ALIENI JURIS

alieni juris (ay-lee-ee-ni [or al-ee-] joor-is), adj. [Latin] Roman law. Subject to the power or authority of another. — Also spelled alieni iuris.

ALIEN IMMIGRANTALIENISM

alienism. The state, condition, or character of an alien.

ALIENIST

alienist. A psychiatrist, esp. one who assesses a criminal defendant's sanity or capacity to stand trial.

ALIENOR

alienor (ay-lee-<<schwa>>-n*<<schwa>>*r or -nor), n. One who transfers or conveys property to another. — Also termed disponent.

ALIENUS

alienus (ay-lee- or al-ee-ee-n<<schwa>>s), adj.[Latin] Roman law. Belonging to another. • Alienus homo means “another's slave.”

ALIMENT

aliment.Scots law. The financial support that an indigent person is entitled to receive from a spouse or, if un-married, from a relative or relatives in a prescribed order, beginning with the person's children. — Also termed (in English law) alimony.

ALIMENTA

alimenta (al-<<schwa>>-men-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Roman law. Things necessary to sustain life, such as food and clothing.

ALIMONY

alimony (al-<<schwa>>-moh-nee).1. A court-ordered allowance that one spouse pays to the other spouse for maintenance and support while they are separated, while they are involved in a matrimonial lawsuit, or after they are divorced. • Alimony is distinct from a property settlement. Alimony payments are taxable income to the receiving spouse and are deductible by the payor spouse; payments in settlement of property rights are not. The Supreme Court has held unconstitutional a statute that imposed alimony obligations on the husband only. Orr v. Orr, 440 U.S. 268, 99 S.Ct. 1102 (1979). — Also termed spousal support; maintenance. Cf. CHILD SUPPORT; DIVORCE AGREEMENT. [Cases: Divorce 208, 230. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 315, 320–331, 336–339, 369, 394–400, 422–426, 481–487.]

“ ‘Alimony,’ which signifies literally nourishment or sustenance, means, in a general sense, the allowance required by law to be made to a spouse from the other spouse's estate for support or maintenance, either during a matrimonial suit or at its termination, where the fact of marriage is established and the right to a separate main-tenance is proved. Similarly stated, alimony is the allowance which a party may be compelled to pay to his or her spouse for maintenance when they are living apart or after they have been divorced.” 27B CJS Divorce § 306, at 102–03 (1986).

alimony in gross.Alimony in the form of a single and definite sum not subject to modification. — Also termed lump-sum alimony. [Cases: Divorce 241. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 395–397.]

alimony pendente lite (pen-den-tee II-tee). [Latin pendente lite “pending litigation”] See temporary alimony.

final alimony.See permanent alimony.

lump-sum alimony.See alimony in gross.

periodic alimony.See permanent alimony.

permanent alimony.Alimony payable in usu. weekly or monthly installments either indefinitely or until a time specified by court order. • This kind of alimony may usu. be modified for changed circumstances of either party. It terminates upon the death of either spouse and usu.

upon the remarriage of the obligee. — Also termed final alimony; periodic alimony. [Cases: Divorce 230. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 369, 394–400, 422, 425–426, 481–487.]

provisional alimony. See temporary alimony.

rehabilitative alimony. Alimony found necessary to assist a divorced person in acquiring the education or training required to find employment outside the home or to reenter the labor force. • It usu. has time limitations, such as a maximum of one or two years. — Also termed short-term alimony; transitional alimony. [Cases: Divorce 247. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 373–377, 405–413.]

reimbursement alimony. Alimony designed to repay a spouse who during the marriage made financial contributions that directly enhanced the future earning capacity of the other spouse. • An example is alimony for a wife who worked full-time supporting herself and her husband with separate-property earnings while he earned a medical degree. [Cases: Divorce 231. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 370, 379.]

temporary alimony. Interim alimony ordered by the court pending an action for divorce or separation in which one party has made a claim for permanent alimony. — Also termed provisional alimony; alimony pendente lite; allowance pendente lite. [Cases: Divorce 208. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 315, 320–331, 336–339, 422–426.]

transitional alimony. See rehabilitative alimony.

2. English law. ALIMENT.

ALIO INTUITU

alio intuitu (ay-lee-oh in-t[y]oo-<<schwa>>-t[y]oo), adv. [Latin “under a different aspect”] In a different view; with respect to another case or condition.

ALIOQUI SUCCESSURUS

alioqui successurus (ay-lee-oh-kwI s<<schwa>>k-ses-<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Hist. (Of an heir) otherwise entitled to succeed. • The phrase appeared in reference to an heir who would have succeeded to the property by law, even without a deed granting succession rights. — Also spelled alioquin successurus.

“In the general case, an heir who succeeds to an estate, incurs by his succession liability for the debts and obligations of his ancestor But if the heir succeeding to the estate can take it up in a different character from that of heir of the last proprietor, if he be alioqui successurus, such liability is not incurred.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 38 (4th ed. 1894).

ALIQUALIS PROBATIO

aliqualis probatio (al-i-kway-lis proh-bay-shee-oh). [Law Latin] Hist. Proof of some sort. • The phrase referred to evidence that, although not meeting strict legal requirements, was the best available under the circumstances.

ALIQUOT

aliquot (al-<<schwa>>-kwot), adj. Contained in a larger whole an exact number of times; fractional <5 is an aliquot part of 30>.

ALiquOT-PART RULE

aliquot-part rule. The principle that a person must intend to acquire a fractional part of the ownership of property before a court can declare a resulting trust in the person's favor. [Cases: Trusts 62–90. C.J.S. Trover and Conversion §§ 10–11, 128–142, 144–173.]

ALITER

aliter (al-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r). [Latin] Otherwise; it would be otherwise.

“If I trespass on another's land, and make an excavation there without leaving any rubbish on the land, the trespass ceases as soon as I leave the land, and does not continue until I have filled the excavation up again. Consequently only one action will lie, and in it full damages are recoverable for both the past and the future. Aliter if I have brought a heap of soil and left it on the plaintiff's land.” R.F.V. Heuston, Salmond on the Law of Torts 42 (17th ed. 1977).

ALI TEST

ALI test. See SUBSTANTIAL-CAPACITY TEST.

ALIUD

aliud (ay-lee-<<schwa>>d). [Latin] Something else; another thing.

ALIUD EXAMEN

aliud examen (ay-lee-<<schwa>>d ig-zay-m<<schwa>>n). [Latin “another investigation” or “another trial”] A different or foreign mode of trial.

ALIUD SIMULATUM, ALIUD ACTUM

aliud simulatum, aliud actum (ay-lee-<<schwa>>d sim-y<<schwa>>-lay-t<<schwa>>m, ay-lee-<<schwa>>d ak-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Hist. One thing pretended, another thing done.

ALIUNDE

aliunde (ay-lee-y-<<schwa>>n-dee), adj. [Latin] From another source; from elsewhere <evidence aliunde>. See extrinsic evidence under EVIDENCE. [Cases: Criminal Law 957; Federal Civil Procedure 2371; Trial 344. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1415–1418; Trial §§ 921–926.]

ALIUNDE RULE

aliunde rule. Evidence. The doctrine that a verdict may not be impeached by a juror's testimony unless a foundation for the testimony is first made by competent evidence from another source.

ALJ

ALJ.abbr.ADMINISTRATIVE-LAW JUDGE.

ALL AND SINGULAR

all and singular.Collectively and individually.

ALL-CLAIMS RULE

all-claims rule.Patents. The now-abandoned doctrine that a patent is invalid unless every inventor named in the patent made an inventive contribution to every claim in the patent. • Section 116 of the Patent Act now expressly provides that inventors may apply for a patent jointly even though each did not make a contribution to the subject matter of every claim. [Cases: Patents 92. C.J.S. Patents §§ 126, 134.]

ALLEGATA

allegata (al-<<schwa>>-gay-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] pl.ALLEGATUM.

ALLEGATIO FALSI allegatio falsi (al-<<schwa>>-gay-shee-oh fal-sIorfawl-sI). [Latin] Hist. An untrue allegation. Cf. EXPRESSIO FALSI.

ALLEGATION

allegation,n.1. The act of declaring something to be true. 2. Something declared or asserted as a matter of fact, esp. in a legal pleading; a party's formal statement of a factual matter as being true or provable, without its having yet been proved. — allege,vb.

defensive allegation.Eccles. law. A defendant's response in an ecclesiastical action; specif., a defendant's pleading of the facts relied upon that require the plaintiff's response under oath. Cf. primary allegation (2).

“The proceedings in the ecclesiastical courts are therefore regulated according to the practice of the civil and canon laws [T]heir ordinary course of proceeding is; first, by citation, to call the party injuring before them. Then ... to set forth the complainant's ground of complaint. To this succeeds the defendant's answer upon oath; when, if he denies or extenuates the charge, they proceed to proofs by witnesses examined, and their depositions taken down in writing, by an officer of the court. If the defendant has any circumstances to offer in his defence, he must also propound them in what is called his defensive allegation, to which he is entitled in his turn to the plaintiff's answer upon oath, and may from thence proceed to proofs as well as his antagonist.” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 100 (1768).

disjunctive allegation.A statement in a pleading or indictment that expresses something in the alternative, usu. with the conjunction “or” . [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 675; Indictment and Information 72; Pleading 20, 53. C.J.S. Indictments and Informations § 152; Pleading §§ 72–73, 150.]

material allegation.In a pleading, an assertion that is essential to the claim, charge, or defense primary allegation. 1. The principal charge made against an adversary in a legal proceeding.

.

2.Eccles. law. The opening pleading in an action in ecclesiastical court. Cf. defensive allegation.
— Also termed primary plea.

3.Eccles. law. The entire statement of facts to be used in a contested suit.

ALLEGATION OF FACULTIES

allegation of faculties.Family law. Archaic. A statement detailing a husband's or wife's property, made by a spouse who seeks alimony. See FACULTIES. [Cases: Divorce 239. C.J.S. Divorce §§ 416–419, 421–426.]

ALLEGATION OF USE

allegation of use.See amendment to allege use under TRADEMARK-APPLICATION AMENDMENT .

ALLEGATIONS-OF-THE-COMPLAINT RULE

allegations-of-the-complaint rule.See EIGHT-CORNERS RULE.

ALLEGATUM

allegatum (al-<<schwa>>-gay-t<<schwa>>m), n.[Latin] A fact alleged in a pleading; ALLEGATION. Pl. alle-gata.Cf. PROBATUM.

ALLEGED

alleged (<<schwa>>-lejd), adj.1. Asserted to be true as described <alleged offenses>.2. Accused but not yet tried <alleged murderer>.

ALLEGIANCE

allegiance. 1. A citizen's obligation of fidelity and obedience to the government or sovereign in return for the benefits of the protection of the state. • Allegiance may be either an absolute and permanent obligation or a qualified and temporary one.

acquired allegiance.The allegiance owed by a naturalized citizen.

actual allegiance.The obedience owed by one who resides temporarily in a foreign country to that country's government. • Foreign sovereigns, their representatives, and military personnel are typically excepted from this requirement. — Also termed local allegiance.

natural allegiance. The allegiance that native-born citizens or subjects owe to their nation.

permanent allegiance.The lasting allegiance owed to a state by citizens or subjects.

temporary allegiance.The impermanent allegiance owed to a state by a resident alien during the period of resi-dence.

2.Hist. A vassal's obligation to the liege lord. See LIEGE.

ALL-ELEMENTS RULE

all-elements rule. Patents. The doctrine that each element of a claim must be present in an allegedly infringing device in order to establish literal infringement. • This rule acts to limit the doctrine of equivalents and prevent the doctrine's application to an entire claim, rather than the claim's constituent elements. — Also termed all-limitations rule. Cf. ALL-STEPS RULE E; INHERENCY DOCTRINE. [Cases: Patents 226.6. C.J.S. Patents § 415.]

ALLEN<TT> CHARGE

Allen charge. Criminal procedure. A supplemental jury instruction given by the court to encourage a deadlocked jury, after prolonged deliberations, to reach a verdict. Allen v. United States, 164 U.S. 492, 17 S.Ct. 154 (1896). — Also termed dynamite charge; dynamite instruction; nitroglycerine charge; shotgun instruction; third-degree instruction. [Cases: Criminal Law 865(1.5). C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1386.]

ALLER A DIEU

aller a Dieu (a-lay <<schwa>> dyuuordyoo). [Law French] To go to God. • This phrase prays for the case to be dismissed from court. — Sometimes spelled aler a Dieu. Cf. ADIEU.

ALLER SANS JOUR

aller sans jour (a-lay sanzhoor). [Law French] To go without day. • This phrase prays for a final dismissal of a case. — Also spelled aler sans jour. See GO HENCE WITHOUT DAY; ADEU.

ALL-ESTATE CLAUSE

all-estate clause. See ALL-THE-ESTATE CLAUSE.

ALL-EVENTS TEST

all-events test. Tax. A requirement that all events fixing an accrual-method taxpayer's right to receive income or incur expense must occur before the taxpayer can report an item of income or expense. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3373.]

ALLEVIARE

alleviare (<<schwa>>-lee-vee-air-ee), vb. [Law Latin] To levy or pay a fine or composition.

ALL FAULTS, WITH

all faults, with. See AS IS.

ALL FOURS

all fours. See ON ALL FOURS.

ALL-HOLDERS RULE

all-holders rule. Securities. 1. An SEC rule that prohibits a public offering by the issuer of shares to some, but not all, of the holders of a class of shares. 2. An SEC rule requiring a tender offeror to make its offer to all the target company's shareholders. [Cases: Securities Regulation 52.30–52.50. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 121–122, 127–128, 131–138, 140–141.]

ALLIANCE

alliance. 1. A bond or union between persons, families, states, or other parties. Cf. STRATEGIC ALLIANCE. 2. Int'l law. A union or association of two or more states or nations, usu. formed by league or treaty, esp. for jointly waging war or mutually protecting against and repelling hostile attacks. • An example is the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Cf. DÉTENTE; ENTENTE.

ALLIED OFFENSE

allied offense. See OFFENSE(1).

ALL-INCLUSIVE MORTGAGE

all-inclusive mortgage. See wraparound mortgage under MORTGAGE.

ALLISION

allision (<<schwa>>-lɪzh-<<schwa>>n), n. Maritime law. The contact of a vessel with a stationary object such as an anchored vessel or a pier. • In modern practice, “collision” is often used where “allision” was once the preferred term. Cf. COLLISION. [Cases: Shipping 81. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 184–187.] — allide (<<schwa>>-lɪd), vb.

ALL-LIMITATIONS RULE

all-limitations rule. See ALL-ELEMENTS RULE.

ALLOCABLE

allocable (al-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj. That can be assigned or allocated.

ALLOCATION

allocation, n. A designation or apportionment for a specific purpose; esp., the crediting of a receipt or the charging of a disbursement to an account < allocation of funds>. — allocate, vb. — allocable, adj. — allocator, n.

ALLOCATIONE FACIENDA allocatione facienda (al-<<schwa>>-kay-shee-oh-nee fay-shee-en-d<<schwa>>), n. See DE ALLOCATIONE FACIENDA.

ALLOCATUR

allocatur (al-<<schwa>>-kay-t<<schwa>>r). [Law Latin] It is allowed. • This word formerly indicated that a writ, bill, or other pleading was allowed. It is still used today in Pennsylvania to denote permission to appeal. — Also termed allogatur.

special allocatur. An allowance of a writ (such as a writ of error) that is legally required in certain cases.

ALLOCUTE

allocute (al-<<schwa>>-kyoot), vb. To deliver an allocution in court.

ALLOCUTION

allocution (al-<<schwa>>-kyoo-sh*<<schwa>>*n), n. Criminal procedure. 1. A trial judge's formal address to a convicted defendant, asking him or her to speak in mitigation of the sentence to be imposed. • This address is required under Fed. R. Crim. P. 32(c)(3)(C). 2. An unsworn statement from a convicted defendant to the sentencing judge or jury in which the defendant can ask for mercy, explain his or her conduct, apologize for the crime, or say anything else in an effort to lessen the impending sentence. • This statement is not subject to cross-examination. [Cases: Sentencing and Punishment 356–360. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1498.]

victim allocution. A crime victim's address to the court before sentencing, usu. urging a harsher punishment. [Cases: Sentencing and Punishment 361. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1460, 1472, 1479–1480, 1492–1495, 1530, 1779.]

ALLOCUTORY

allocutory (<<schwa>>-lok-y*<<schwa>>*-tor-ee), adj. Of or relating to an allocution <allocutory pleas for mercy>.

ALLOCUTUS

allocutus. See ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

ALLOD

allod (al-*<<schwa>>*d), n. Hist. The domain of a household.

ALLODIAL

alodial (<<schwa>>-loh-dee-*<<schwa>>*l), adj. Held in absolute ownership; pertaining to an allodium. Cf. FEUDAL. — Also spelled alodial. — allodially, adv.

“The term ‘alodial’ originally had no necessary reference to the mode in which the ownership of land had been conferred; it simply meant land held in absolute ownership, not in dependence upon any other body or person in whom the proprietary rights were supposed to reside, or to whom the possessor of land was bound to render service. It would thus properly apply to the land which in the original settlement had been allotted to individuals, while bookland was primarily applicable to land the title to which rested on a formal grant. Before long, however, the words appear to have been used synonymously to express land held in absolute ownership, the subject of free disposition inter vivos or by will.” Kenelm E. Digby, An Introduction to the History of the Law of Real Property 11–12 (5th ed. 1897).

ALLODIUM

allodium (<<schwa>>-loh-dee-<<schwa>>m), n. An estate held in fee simple absolute. — Also spelled alodium. — Also termed alod; alode. [Cases: Estates in Property 5. C.J.S. Estates §§ 11–12.]

“In this country, one who has full ownership of land is said to own it allodially — that is, free of feudal services and incidents.” Thomas F. Bergin & Paul G. Haskell, Preface to Estates in Land and Future Interests 18 (2d ed. 1984).

ALLOGATUR

allogatur. See ALLOCATUR.

ALLOGRAPH

allograph (al-<<schwa>>-graf). An agent's writing or signature for the principal. • This is the antonym of auto-graph. [Cases: Principal and Agent 132(1).]

ALLONGE

allonge (a-lawnz). A slip of paper sometimes attached to a negotiable instrument for the purpose of receiving further indorsements when the original paper is filled with indorsements. • Former UCC § 3-202 required that indorsements be made on the instrument unless there was no space — and only then could an allonge be used. Current § 3-204(a) eliminates that requirement and provides that “a paper affixed to the instrument is part of the instrument.” The UCC comment makes it clear that the allonge is valid even if space is available on the instrument. [Cases: Bills and Notes 183. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 147, 149.]

ALL-OR-NONE OFFERING

all-or-none offering. See OFFERING.

ALL-OR-NONE ORDER

all-or-none order. See ORDER(8).

ALL-OR-NOTHING RULE

all-or-nothing rule. A gloss on the rule against perpetuities holding that a class gift is invalid in its entirety if it is invalid in part. • The effect is to invalidate a class member's interest even if it vests within the period of the rule because it may be subject to partial divestment by the remote interest of another class member. [Cases: Perpetuities 4(1). C.J.S. Perpetuities §§ 2, 12, 15–18, 20–24, 27–28, 30, 33, 35–36, 52–53.]

ALLOTMENT

allotment, n. 1. A share or portion of something, such as property previously held in common or shares in a corporation, or time assigned to speakers or sides in a deliberative assembly. [Cases: Common Lands 14. C.J.S. Common Lands §§ 17–19.] 2. In American Indian law, the selection of specific land awarded to an individual allottee from a common holding. [Cases: Indians 13. C.J.S. Indians §§ 82, 84.] — allot, vb.

ALLOTMENT CERTIFICATE

allotment certificate.Securities. A document that records the essential elements of a subscription of shares, as how many shares are to be purchased, the price to be paid, and the payment and delivery schedule.

ALLOTMENT NOTE

allotment note.English law. A seaman's written assignment of a portion of his wages to a wife, parent, grand-parent, or sibling. • These notes are governed by the Merchant Shipping Act of 1970, § 13(1).

ALLOTMENT SYSTEM

allotment system.English law. The practice of dividing land into small portions for cultivation by agricultural laborers and others.

ALLOTTEE

allottee. One to whom an allotment is made; a recipient of an allotment.

ALLOWABLE STATE

allowable state.Patents. Of a patent claim, the condition of containing patentable subject matter in an acceptable form.

ALLOWANCE

allowance. 1. A share or portion, esp. of money that is assigned or granted.

allowance pendente lite.See temporary alimony under ALIMONY.

backhaul allowance.A price discount given to customers who get their goods from a seller's warehouse as a reflection of the seller's freight-cost savings.

family allowance.A portion of a decedent's estate set aside by statute for a surviving spouse, children, or parents, regardless of any testamentary disposition or competing claims. • Every state has a statute authorizing the probate court to award an amount for the temporary maintenance and support of the surviving spouse (and often for dependent children). The allowance may be limited for a fixed period (18 months under the Uniform Probate Code) or may continue until all contests are resolved and a decree of distribution is entered. This support, together with probate homesteads and personal-property allowances, is in addition to whatever interests pass by the will or by intestate succession. See probate homestead under HOMESTEAD. Cf. spousal allowance. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 173–201. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 344–393.]

gratuitous allowance.A pension voluntarily granted by a public entity. • The gratuitous (rather than contractual) nature of this type of allowance gives the pensioner no vested rights in the allowance. [Cases: Pensions 2.]

spousal allowance.A portion of a decedent's estate set aside by statute for a surviving spouse, regardless of any testamentary disposition or competing claims. • This allowance is superior to the claims of general creditors. In some states, it is even preferred to the expenses of administration, funeral, and last illness of the spouse. — Also termed widow's allowance; widower's allowance. See probate homestead under HOMESTEAD. Cf. family allowance. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 173–201. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 344–393.]

widower's allowance. See spousal allowance.

widow's allowance. See spousal allowance.

2. The sum awarded by a court to a fiduciary as payment for services. 3. A deduction.

depletion allowance. A tax deduction for the owners of oil, gas, mineral, or timber resources corresponding to the reduced value of the property resulting from the removal of the resource. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3490, 3501, 3504. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 261–265.]

4. Archaic. A special sum that a court awards to the prevailing party in addition to the usual costs of court, esp. in a difficult case. — Also termed extra allowance; special allowance. 5. Patents. The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office's decision to issue a patent to an applicant; specif., the patent examiner's approval of an application's claims. • Once a Notice of Allowance is sent, the inventor must pay an issue fee before the PTO issues the patent. [Cases: Patents 107. C.J.S. Patents §§ 157–158.] 6. Trademarks. The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office's decision to approve a trademark for which the application was made under § 1(b) of the Lanham Act. • If a trademark application is made under § 1(b) and approved by the PTO, the PTO issues a certificate of registration and publishes notice of the registration in the Official Gazette. [Cases: Trade Regulation 214. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 180.]

ALLOWED APPLICATION

allowed application. See PATENT APPLICATION.

ALLOW THE APPEAL

allow the appeal. See REVERSE.

ALLOYNOUR

alloynour (<<schwa>>-loy-n<<schwa>>r). [Law French] Hist. One who conceals, steals, or furtively carries off something.

ALL-PURPOSE PUBLIC FIGURE

all-purpose public figure. See PUBLIC FIGURE.

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

All rights reserved. Copyright. A phrase required as part of a valid copyright notice under the Buenos Aires Convention. • Because other international copyright treaties do not require the phrase, and all signatories to the Buenos Aires Convention are parties to other treaties, the phrase is now surplusage.

ALL-RISK INSURANCE

all-risk insurance. See INSURANCE.

ALL-STEPS RULE

all-steps rule. Patents. The doctrine that in order for a method or process claim to be literally infringed by an accused process, the accused process must have every step and limitation — or an equivalent — of the infringed claim. Cf. ALL-ELEMENTS RULE. [Cases: Patents 229. C.J.S. Patents § 410.]

ALL SUBSTANTIAL RIGHTS

all substantial rights. Patents. Every right in a patent (whether or not held by the grantor) that is of value when the patent rights or an undivided interest in a patent is transferred. • A transfer is not a transfer of all substantial rights to a patent if: (1) it is territorially restricted; (2) its term is less than the patent term; (3) it contains field-of-use limitations; or (4) it does not convey rights to all claims in the patent. [Cases: Patents 202(1). C.J.S. Patents § 332.]

ALL-THE-ESTATE CLAUSE

all-the-estate clause. English law. The provision in a conveyance transferring “all the estate, right, title, interest, claims, and demand” of the grantor in the property conveyed. — Also termed all-estate clause.

“It was also usual before 1882 to add what was called an ‘all estate clause’ with the object of ensuring that the entire interest of the grantor should be transferred. This was as a matter of fact quite ineffective to transfer any-thing that would not pass automatically, and it is now omitted in reliance on the enactment that, unless a contrary intention is expressed, every conveyance is effectual to pass all the estate, right, title, interest, claim, and demand which the conveying parties respectively have in, to, or on the property.” G.C. Cheshire, Modern Law of Real Property 679–80 (3d ed. 1933).

ALLUREMENT

allurement. Torts. An attractive object that tempts a trespassing child to meddle when the child ought to abstain. See ATTRACTIVE-NUISANCE DOCTRINE. [Cases: Negligence 1172–1178. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 399, 476–477, 494–526.]

ALLUVIAL MINING

alluvial mining. The practice of removing sand and gravel from a riverbed.

ALLUVIO MARIS

alluvio maris (<<schwa>>-loo-vee-oh mar-is). [Latin “alluvion of the sea”] The formation of soil or land from the sea.

ALLUVION

alluvion (<<schwa>>-loo-vee-<<schwa>>n). [fr. Latin alluvio “flood”] Roman & civil law. 1.

Strictly, the flow or wash of water against a shore or riverbank. 2. An accumulation of soil, clay, or other material deposited by water; esp., in land law, an addition of land caused by the buildup of deposits from running water, the added land then belonging to the owner of the property to which it is added. — Also termed alluvium. 3. Louisiana law. An accumulation of soil, clay, or other material deposited on the bank of a river. • In Louisiana, lands formed on a seashore or the bank of a navigable lake are not alluvion. They belong to the state rather than the riparian owners. Cf. ACCRETION(1); AVULSION(2); DELICTION; EROSION. [Cases: Navigable Waters 44; Waters and Water Courses 93. C.J.S. Navigable Waters § 94; Waters §§ 177–182, 184–185.] — alluvial,adj. — allu-viate,vb. — alluviation,n.

ALLUVIUM

alluvium. See ALLUVION(2).

ALL WRITS ACT

All Writs Act. A federal statute that gives the U.S. Supreme Court and all courts established by Congress the power to issue writs in aid of their jurisdiction and in conformity with the usages and principles of law. 28 USCA § 1651(a). [Cases: Federal Courts 10.1.]

ALLY

ally. Int'l law. 1. A nation tied to another by treaty or alliance. 2. A citizen or subject of an allied nation.

ALMARIA

almaria (al-mair-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin “cupboard, bookcase”] The archives of a church or library. — Also termed armaria.

ALMOIGN

almoign (al-moyn). [Law French “alms”] 1. Alms; a church treasury; an ecclesiastical possession. 2. FRANKALMOIN.

ALMOIN

almoin. See FRANKALMOIN.

ALMONER

almoner (al-m<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>r). A person charged with distributing the alms of a monarch, religious house, or other institution. • This office was first instituted in religious houses and although formerly one of importance is now almost a sinecure.

ALMS

alms (ahmz). Charitable donations; any type of relief bestowed on the poor.

ALMS FEE

alms fee. Hist. A fee held by frankalmoin. See FRANKALMOIN.

ALMSHOUSE

almshouse.Archaic. A dwelling for the publicly or privately supported poor of a city or county.

ALMS LAND

alms land.Hist. Land held in frankalmoin. See FRANKALMOIN.

ALNAGER

alnager (al-n<<schwa>>-j<<schwa>>r). [Law Latin] Hist. A royal official responsible for collecting taxes (the alnage) on woolen cloth. • The tax was abolished in 1699.

ALOD

alod. See ALLODIUM.

ALODE

alode. See ALLODIUM.

ALODIUM

alodium. See ALLODIUM.

A LOUR FOY

a lour foy (ah loor fwah). [Law French “in their faith”] In their allegiance.

ALPHA SUBCLASS

alpha subclass.Patents. In U.S. patent law, a patent classification that has an alphabetic suffix.

ALPHA TESTING

alpha testing.Intellectual property. The first phase of operational experimenting with a software program before the program's production release, usu. at the developer's site. • Often, alpha testing involves only modular or component testing and not system testing. Alpha testing is usu. followed by beta testing, in which the entire system is tested at a customer's site before the product is released to the general public. Cf. BETA TESTING.

ALTA

ALTA.abbr.American Land Title Association.

ALTA PRODITIO

alta proditio (al-t<<schwa>> proh-dish-ee-oh). [Law Latin] See TREASON.

ALTARAGE

altarage (awl-t<<schwa>>r-ij).Eccles. law. 1. The offerings made upon an altar or to a church.
2. An endowment or honorarium received by a priest for services performed at the altar.

ALTA VIA

alta via (al-t<<schwa>> vI-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] A highway.

ALTERATION

alteration. 1. Property. A substantial change to real estate, esp. to a structure, usu. not involving an addition to or removal of the exterior dimensions of a building's structural parts. • Although any addition to or improvement of real estate is by its very nature an alteration, real-estate lawyers habitually use alteration in reference to a lesser change. Still, to constitute an alteration, the change must be substantial — not simply a trifling modification.

structural alteration. A significant change to a building or other structure, essentially creating a different building or structure.

2. An act done to an instrument, after its execution, whereby its meaning or language is changed; esp., the changing of a term in a negotiable instrument without the consent of all parties to it. • Material alterations void an instrument, but immaterial ones do not. An alteration is material if it (1) changes the burden of a party (as by changing the date, time, place, amount, or rate of interest), (2) changes the liabilities or duties of any party (as by adding or removing the name of a maker, drawer, indorser, payee, or cosurety), or (3) changes the operation of the instrument or its effect in evidence (as by adding words or negotiability, changing the form of an indorsement, or changing the liability from joint to several). [Cases: Alteration of Instruments 1–30. C.J.S. Alteration of Instruments §§ 2–99, 104–109.] “With respect to written instruments, ‘alteration’ generally means a change in an instrument's sense of language caused by a party to the instrument, and does not include such changes by non-parties or ‘strangers’ to the instrument. Although the distinction is not always observed, technically an alteration by a non-party or stranger to the instrument is a ‘spoliation,’ not an alteration, which does not invalidate it or change the rights or liabilities of the parties in interest, so long as the original writing remains legible.” 4 Am. Jur. 2d Alteration of Instruments § 1 (1995).

material alteration. 1. A significant change in something; esp., a change in a legal instrument sufficient to alter the instrument's legal meaning or effect. [Cases: Alteration of Instruments 1. C.J.S. Alteration of Instruments §§ 2–4.] 2. An unauthorized change in an instrument or an addition to an incomplete instrument resulting in the modification of a party's obligations. UCC § 3-407(a). [Cases: Alteration of Instruments 1–30. C.J.S. Alteration of Instruments §§ 2–99, 104–109.]

ALTERCATION

altercation. A vehement dispute; a noisy argument.

“altercation. The traditional view is that this word refers to ‘a noisy brawl or dispute,’ not rising to the seriousness of physical violence.... But in AmE, the word now often denotes some type of scuffling or fighting, especially in police jargon.” Bryan A. Garner, A Dictionary of Modern American Usage 34 (1998).

ALTER EGO

alter ego. A corporation used by an individual in conducting personal business, the result being that a court may impose liability on the individual by piercing the corporate veil when fraud has been perpetrated on someone dealing with the corporation. See PIERCING THE CORPORATE VEIL. [Cases: Corporations 1.4(4). C.J.S. Corporations § 12.]

ALTER-EGO RULE

alter-ego rule. 1. Corporations. The doctrine that shareholders will be treated as the owners of a corporation's property, or as the real parties in interest, whenever it is necessary to do so to prevent fraud or to do justice. [Cases: Corporations 1.4(4). C.J.S. Corporations § 12.] 2. Criminal law. The principle that one who defends another against attack stands in the position of that other person and can use only the amount of force that the other person could use under the circumstances. [Cases: Assault and Battery 68; Homicide 757. C.J.S. Assault and Battery § 93.]

ALTERING OR AMENDING A JUDGMENT

altering or amending a judgment. A trial court's act of correcting a substantive mistake in a judgment, as by correcting a manifest error of law or fact. Fed. R. Civ. P. 59(e). [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2641–2662.]

ALTERNAT

alternat (awl-t<<schwa>>r-nit or al-ter-nah). [French] The rotation in precedence among states, diplomats, etc., esp. in the signing of treaties. • This practice gives each diplomat a copy of the treaty with the diplomat's signature appearing first.

ALTERNATE

alternate. Parliamentary law. A proxy for a delegate, usu. chosen in the same manner as the delegate rather than chosen by the delegate. See DELEGATE(2); PROXY(1).

ALTERNATE LEGACY

alternate legacy. See LEGACY.

ALTERNATE VALUATION DATE

alternate valuation date. Tax law. The date six months after a decedent's death. • Generally, the estate can elect to appraise the decedent's property either as of the date of the decedent's death or as of the alternate valuation date. See BASIS. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4184.20; Taxation 895(4). C.J.S. Taxation §§ 1902–1903.]

ALTERNATIM

alternatim (al-t<<schwa>>r-nay-tim or awl-), adv. [Latin] Interchangeably; by turns.

ALTERNATIVE AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH AND COMMERCIALIZATION

Alternative Agricultural Research and Commercialization Corporation. A federally chartered corporation in the U.S. Department of Agriculture responsible for funding the development and marketing of new nonfood products made from farm and forestry materials. — Abbr. AARCC.

ALTERNATIVE CONSTITUENCY

alternative constituency. See NONSHAREHOLDER CONSTITUENCY.

ALTERNATIVE CONTRACT

alternative contract. See CONTRACT.

ALTERNATIVE DEVISE

alternative devise. See DEVISE.

ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION

alternative dispute resolution. A procedure for settling a dispute by means other than litigation, such as arbitration or mediation. — Abbr. ADR. — Also termed dispute resolution. See ARBITRATION; MEDIATION. [Cases: Arbitration 1. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 2–3.]

“ADR can be defined as encompassing all legally permitted processes of dispute resolution other than litigation. While this definition (or something like it) is widely used, ADR proponents may object to it on the ground that it privileges litigation by giving the impression that litigation is the normal or standard process of dispute resolution, while alternative processes are aberrant or deviant. That impression is false. Litigation is a relatively rarely used process of dispute resolution. Alternative processes, especially negotiation, are used far more frequently. Even disputes involving lawyers are resolved by negotiation far more often than litigation. So ADR is not defined as everything-but-litigation because litigation is the norm. Litigation is not the norm. ADR is defined as every-thing-but-litigation because litigation, as a matter of law, is the default process of dispute resolution.” Stephen J. Ware, Alternative Dispute Resolution § 1.5, at 5–6 (2001).

ALTERNATIVE EXPRESSION

alternative expression. Patents. In a patent claim, a recitation of two or more elements or limitations that perform the same function <iron, steel, or other magnetic material>. • Although once contrary to U.S. Patent and Trade-mark Office policy, alternative expressions are now permitted if they present no uncertainty or ambiguity about the scope or clarity of the claims. — Also termed alternative language. [Cases: Patents 101(5).]

ALTERNATIVE JUDGMENT

alternative judgment. See JUDGMENT.

ALTERNATIVE LIABILITY

alternative liability. See LIABILITY.

ALTERNATIVE MANDAMUS

alternative mandamus. See MANDAMUS.

ALTERNATIVE-MEANS DOCTRINE

alternative-means doctrine.Criminal law. The principle that when a crime may be committed in more than one way, the jury must be unanimous on the defendant's guilt but need not be unanimous on the possible different methods of committing the crime, as long as each possible method is supported by substantial evidence. [Cases: Criminal Law 872.5. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1396–1398, 1543.]

ALTERNATIVE-METHODS-OF-PERFORMANCE CONTRACT

alternative-methods-of-performance contract.See alternative contract under CONTRACT.

ALTERNATIVE MINIMUM TAX

alternative minimum tax.See TAX.

ALTERNATIVENESS REJECTION

alternativeness rejection.See REJECTION.

ALTERNATIVE OBLIGATION

alternative obligation.See OBLIGATION.

ALTERNATIVE ORDER

alternative order.1. See ORDER(2). See ORDER(4).

ALTERNATIVE PLEADING

alternative pleading.See PLEADING(2).

ALTERNATIVE PROMISE

alternative promise.See PROMISE.

ALTERNATIVE RELIEF

alternative relief.See RELIEF.

ALTERNATIVE REMAINDER

alternative remainder.See REMAINDER.

ALTERNATIVE SENTENCE

alternative sentence.See SENTENCE.

ALTERNATIVE WRIT

alternative writ.See WRIT.

ALTERNIS VICIBUS

alternis vicibus (al-t<<schwa>>r-nis vis-i-b<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. Eccles. law. By turn; alternately. • The patrons of two united churches could exercise their right of presentation to a benefice alternis vicibus.

ALTERUM NON LAEDERE

alterum non laedere (al-t<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>m [or awl-] non lee-d<<schwa>>-ree). [Latin “not to injure another”] Roman & civil law. To hurt no one by word or deed. • This was one of the three general precepts in which Justinian expressed the requirements of the law (Digest 1.1.10.1; Institutes 1.1.3). Cf. HONESTE VIVERE; SUUM CUIQUE TRIBUERE.

ALTERUTER

alteruter (al-t<<schwa>>r-yoo-t<<schwa>>r or awl-). [Law Latin] One of two; either.

ALTIUS NON TOLLENDI

altius non tollendi (al-shee-<<schwa>>s non t<<schwa>>-len-dI). [Latin “of not raising higher”] Roman & civil law. A servitude prohibiting a landowner from building a house above a certain height.

ALTIUS TOLLENDI

altius tollendi (al-shee-<<schwa>>s t<<schwa>>-len-dI). [Latin “of raising higher”] Roman & civil law. A servitude that allows a landowner to build a house as high as desired.

ALTO ET BASSO

alto et basso. See DE ALTO ET BASSO.

ALTUM MARE

altum mare (al-t<<schwa>>m mair-ee ormahr-ee), n. [Law Latin] Hist. The high seas; the deep seas.

A LUI ET A SES HERITIERS POUR TOUJOURS

a lui et a ses heritiers pour toujours (a lwee ay a sayz e-ree-tyay poor too-zhoor). [Law French] To him and his heirs forever. See and his heirs under HEIR.

ALVEI MUTATIO

alvei mutatio (al-vee-I myoo-tay-shee-oh). [Latin fr. alveus “the bed or channel of a stream”] Hist. A change in a stream's course.

ALVEUS

alveus (al-vee-<<schwa>>s), n. [Law Latin] Hist. The bed or channel through which a stream flows in its ordinary course. [Cases: Waters and Water Courses 89. C.J.S. Waters §§ 170–174, 188–189.]

ALWD

ALWD (ahl-w<<schwa>>d oral-w<<schwa>>d). abbr. See ASSOCIATION OF LEGAL WRITING DIRECTORS .

ALWD CITATION MANUAL

ALWD Citation Manual. A guide to American legal citation written and edited by legal-writing professionals affiliated with the Association of Legal Writing Directors. • First published in 2000 as an alternative to the Bluebook, it contains one citation system for all legal documents and does not distinguish between citations in law-journal footnotes and those in other writings. The full name is the ALWD Citation Manual: A Professional System of Citation. — Often shortened to ALWD Manual. Cf. BLUEBOOK.

A.M.

a.m.abbr.ANTE MERIDIEM.

AMA

AMA.abbr.1. American Medical Association. 2. Against medical advice.

A MA INTENT

a ma intent (ah mah an-tawn). [Law French] On my action.

AMALGAMATION

amalgamation (<<schwa>>-mal-g<<schwa>>-may-sh<<schwa>>n), n. The act of combining or uniting; con-solidation <amalgamation of two small companies to form a new corporation>. See MERGER. [Cases: Corporations 581.C.J.S. Corporations §§ 792–797.] — amalgamate,vb. — amalgamator,n.

AMALPHITAN CODE

Amalphitan Code (<<schwa>>-mal-f<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>n).Hist. A compilation of maritime law made late in the 11th century at the port of Amalfi near Naples. • The Code was regarded as a primary source of maritime law throughout the Mediterranean to the end of the 16th century. — Also termed Amalphitan Table; Laws of Amalfi; Tablets of Amalfi.

A MANIBUS

a manibus (ay man-<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>s), n.[Law Latin] Hist. A royal scribe.

AMANUENSIS

amanuensis (<<schwa>>-man-yoo-en-sis), n.[fr. Latin ab- “from” + manus “hand”] One who takes dictation; a scribe or secretary.

A MANU SERVUS

a manu servus (ay man-yoo s<<schwa>>r-v<<schwa>>s). [Latin] A handservant; scribe; secretary.

AMBACTUS

ambactus (am-bak-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Hist. 1. A messenger. 2. A servant whose services are hired out by the master.

AMBASCIATOR

ambasciator (am-bash-ee-ay-t<<schwa>>r). [Law Latin] Hist. A person sent about in the service of another; an ambassador.

AMBASSADOR

ambassador. 1. A diplomatic officer of the highest rank, usu. designated by a government as its resident repre-sentative in a foreign state. • Ambassadors represent the sovereign as well as the nation and enjoy many privileges while abroad in their official capacity, including immunity. Ambassadors are distinguished from ministers and envoys, who represent only the state where they are from and not the sovereign. Ambassadors are also generally distinguished from certain legates who have only ecclesiastical authority. But the papal nuncio and some legates, such as the legate a latere, bear the rank of ambassador. See NUNCIO; LEGATE. [Cases: Ambassadors and Consuls 1–8. C.J.S. Ambassadors and Consuls §§ 2–32.] 2. A representative appointed by another. 3. An unofficial or nonappointed representative. — Also spelled (archaically) ambassador. — ambassadorial,adj. — ambassadorship,n.

ambassador extraordinary.An ambassador who is employed for a particular purpose or occasion and has limited discretionary powers. Cf. ambassador plenipotentiary.

ambassador leger.See resident ambassador.

ambassador ordinary.See resident ambassador.

ambassador plenipotentiary.An ambassador who has unlimited discretionary powers to act as a sovereign's or government's deputy, esp. to carry out a particular task, such as treaty negotiations. — Also termed minister plenipotentiary; envoy plenipotentiary. Cf. ambassador extraordinary.

ordinary ambassador.See resident ambassador.

resident ambassador.An ambassador who resides in a foreign country as the permanent representative of a sovereign or nation. • A resident ambassador has the right to request a personal interview with the host nation's head of state. — Also termed ambassador leger; ordinary ambassador; ambassador ordinary.

AMBER ALERT

Amber Alert.A system by which the police can rapidly broadcast to the general public a report of a missing or endangered child by means of radio and television announcements. • The alert is named for Amber Hagerman of Texas, a nine-year-old who was abducted and murdered in 1996 by an unknown person. The system has been adopted by many communities in the U.S. and Canada. Local variations exist. In Arkansas, for example, the system is called the Morgan Nick Alert after a child who was abducted by a stranger in 1995. — Also termed Amber Plan.

A.M. BEST COMPANY

A.M. Best Company.An investment-analysis and -advisory service. • A.M. Best rates the financial strength of businesses from A++ (strongest) to A+, A, A–, B++, and so on to C– and D. A grade of E means that the company is under state supervision, and an F indicates that the company is in liquidation.

AMBIDEXTER

ambidexter. 1. A judge or embracer who takes bribes from both sides in a dispute. 2. A lawyer who abandons the party that he or she initially represented in a dispute to represent the opposing party in the same suit. 3. A person who engages in double-dealing.

“Ambidexter is he that, when a matter is in suit between men, takes money of the one side and of the other, either to labour the suit, or such like; or if he be of the jury, to give his verdict.” William Rastell, Termes de la Ley 28 (1st Am. ed. 1812).

AMBIGUITAS LATENS

ambiguitas latens (am-bi-gyoo-<<schwa>>-tas lay-tenz). See latent ambiguity under AMBIGUITY.

AMBIGUITAS LATENS ET AMBIGUITAS PATENS

ambiguitas latens et ambiguitas patens (am-bi-gyoo-<<schwa>>-tas lay-tenz et am-bi-gyoo-<<schwa>>-tas pay-tenz). [Latin] Hist. Latent and patent ambiguity. See latent ambiguity and patent ambiguity under AMBIGUITY.

AMBIGUITAS PATENS

ambiguitas patens (am-bi-gyoo-<<schwa>>-tas pay-tenz). See patent ambiguity under AMBIGUITY.

AMBIGUITY

ambiguity (am-bi-gyoo-<<schwa>>-tee), n. An uncertainty of meaning or intention, as in a contractual term or statutory provision. Cf. MEANING. [Cases: Contracts 143(2); Statutes 190. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 303–305; Statutes § 321.] — ambiguous (am-big-yoo-<<schwa>>s), adj.

“In the context of statutory interpretation the word most frequently used to indicate the doubt which a judge must entertain before he can search for and, if possible, apply a secondary meaning is ‘ambiguity’. In ordinary language this term is often confined to situations in which the same word is capable of meaning two different things, but, in relation to statutory interpretation, judicial usage sanctions the application of the word ‘ambiguity’ to describe any kind of doubtful meaning of words, phrases or longer statutory provisions. Hinchy's case prompted the suggestion that if, in a particular context, words convey to different judges a different range of meanings ‘derived from, not fanciful speculations or mistakes about linguistic usage, but from true knowledge about the use of words, they are ambiguous.’ ” Rupert Cross, Statutory Interpretation 76–77 (1976).

ambiguity on the factum. An ambiguity relating to the foundation of an instrument, such as a question relating to whether a testator intended for a particular clause to be part of an agreement, whether a codicil was intended to republish a former will, or whether the residuary clause was accidentally omitted.

calculated ambiguity. A purposeful use of unclear language, usu. when two negotiating parties cannot agree on clear, precise language and therefore leave a decision-maker to sort out the meaning in case of a dispute. • Strictly speaking, this is a misnomer: the more precise term is vagueness, not ambiguity. See VAGUENESS(1).

extrinsic ambiguity. See latent ambiguity.

intrinsic ambiguity. See patent ambiguity.

latent ambiguity. An ambiguity that does not readily appear in the language of a document, but instead arises from a collateral matter when the document's terms are applied or executed <the contract contained a latent ambiguity: the shipping terms stated that the goods would arrive on the Peerless, but two ships have that name>. — Also termed extrinsic ambiguity; equivocation; ambiguitas latens. [Cases: Contracts 143(2); Evidence 452. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 303–305; Evidence §§ 1222–1224.]

“Instead of this word ‘equivocation,’ the phrase ‘latent ambiguity’ is sometimes used by courts, — ‘latent’ because it does not develop until we seek to apply it and then discover the equivocation. This phrase was invented by Lord Bacon, in one of his maxims, and it long held sway; but it has only served to confuse discussion, and his other word for the same thing, ‘equivocation,’ is more suitable, and has come into general use since Professor Thayer's masterly analysis of the subject some fifty years ago.” John H. Wigmore, A Students' Textbook of the Law of Evidence 529 (1935). — In fact, the usual term today is latent ambiguity. — Eds.

patent ambiguity (payt-<<schwa>>nt). An ambiguity that clearly appears on the face of a document, arising from the language itself <the nonperformance was excused because the two different prices expressed in the contract created a patent ambiguity>. — Also termed intrinsic ambiguity; ambiguitas patens. [Cases: Contracts 143(2); Evidence 451. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 303–305; Evidence §§ 1222, 1224–1225.]

“[L]atent ambiguity ... must be carefully distinguished from patent ambiguity, where words are omitted, or contradict one another; for in such cases explanatory evidence is not admissible. Where a bill of exchange was expressed in words to be drawn for ‘two hundred pounds’ but in figures for ‘£245,’ evidence was not admitted to show that the figures expressed the intention of the parties.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 401 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

AMBIGUITY DOCTRINE

ambiguity doctrine. See CONTRA PROFERENTEM.

AMBIT

ambit (am-bit). 1. A boundary line or limit; esp., the scope of a statute or regulation, or the sphere of influence and authority of an agency, committee, department, or the like. 2. A space surrounding a house or town.

AMBITUS

ambitus (am-bi-t<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin ambitus “deviousness, corruption”] Hist. The procuring of a public office by money or gifts; the unlawful buying and selling of a public office.

AMBULANCE CHASER

ambulance chaser. 1. A lawyer who approaches victims of accidents in hopes of persuading them to sue for damages. 2. A lawyer's agent who engages in this activity. — ambulance-chasing,n.

AMBULANCE-CHASING

ambulance-chasing. A blatant form of solicitation in which the lawyer (either personally or through an agent) urges injured people to employ the lawyer to represent them.

AMBULATORY

ambulatory (am-by<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj.1. Able to walk <the accident victim is still ambula-tory>.2. Capable of being altered or revised; not yet legally fixed .

AMBULATORY AUTOMATISM

ambulatory automatism.See AUTOMATISM.

AMBULATORY DISPOSITION

ambulatory disposition.See DISPOSITION(2).

AMBULATORY WILL

ambulatory will.See WILL.

A ME

a me (ay mee). [Latin] From me. • This phrase was used in feudal grants to denote tenure held directly of the chief lord. The phrase is short for a me de superiore meo (ay mee dee s[y]oo-peer-ee-or-ee mee-oh), meaning “from me of my superior.” Cf. DE ME.

A ME DE SUPERIORE MEO

a me de superiore meo (ay mee dee s[y]oo-peer-ee-or-ee mee-oh). [Law Latin] Hist. From me, of my superior. • In a feudal land grant, this phrase provided that when feudal title was completed, the grantee would hold the land of the grantor's superior.

AMELIORATE

ameliorate (<<schwa>>-meel-y<<schwa>>-rayt), vb.1. To make better <the charity tries to ameliorate the con-ditions of the homeless>.2. To become better < with time, the situation ameliorated>.

AMELIORATING WASTE

ameliorating waste.See WASTE(1).

AMELIORATION

amelioration, n. 1. The act of improving something; the state of being made better. 2. An improvement. — ameliorative, adj.

AMELIORATIVE WASTE

ameliorative waste. See ameliorating waste under WASTE(1).

AMENABLE

amenable (<<schwa>>-mee-n<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l or -men-<<schwa>>-), adj. Legally answerable; liable to being brought to judgment <amenable to process>. — amenability, n.

AMEND

amend, vb. 1. To make right; to correct or rectify <amend the order to fix a clerical error>. 2. To change the wording of; specif., to formally alter (a statute, constitution, motion, etc.) by striking out, inserting, or substituting words <amend the legislative bill>. See AMENDMENT(3). — amendable, adj. — amendability, n.

amend a previous action. See amend something previously adopted.

amend something previously adopted. Parliamentary law. (Of a deliberative assembly) to change an otherwise final text. — Also termed amend a previous action.

AMENDATORY

amendatory (<<schwa>>-men-d<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj. Designed or serving to amend; corrective <an amendatory rider to an insurance policy>.

AMENDED COMPLAINT

amended complaint. See COMPLAINT.

AMENDED PLEADING

amended pleading. See PLEADING(1).

AMENDED RETURN

amended return. See TAX RETURN.

AMENDE HONORABLE

amende honorable (<<schwa>>-mend on-<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l or a-mawnd on-<<schwa>>-rah-b<<schwa>>l). [French “honorale reparation”] Hist. A formal reparation for an offense or injury, done by making an open and usu. humiliating acknowledgment and apology so as to restore the victim's honor. • This apology could be accomplished, for example, by walking into church with a rope around the neck and a torch in hand, begging forgiveness from the injured party.

AMENDE PROFITABLE

amende profitable (<<schwa>>-mend proh-fee-tahb-l<<schwa>>), n. Roman–Dutch law. In a defamation action, reparations made by a defendant who pays a sum that the plaintiff has named under oath as being less than full satisfaction for the claim.

AMENDER

amender, n. One who amends (a document, etc.).

AMENDMENT

amendment. 1. A formal revision or addition proposed or made to a statute, constitution, pleading, order, or other instrument; specif., a change made by addition, deletion, or correction; esp., an alteration in wording. [Cases: Constitutional Law 4, 10; Statutes 131. C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 5–6; Statutes § 243.] 2. The process of making such a revision.

amendment as of course. An amendment, usu. to pleadings, that a party has a statutory right to apply for without the court's permission.

amendment on court's own motion. A change to a pleading or other document by the judge without a motion from a party. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 826; Pleading 232. C.J.S. Pleading § 326.]

nunc pro tunc amendment (n<<schwa>>ngk proh t<<schwa>>ngkornuungk proh tuungk). An amendment that is given retroactive effect, usu. by court order. [Cases: Judgment 326; Motions 56(2). C.J.S. Judgments § 299; Motions and Orders §§ 51, 61.]

3. Parliamentary law. A motion that changes another motion's wording by striking out text, inserting or adding text, or substituting text. See AMEND (2). Cf. BLANK(2).

amendment by adding. An amendment that places new wording at the end of a motion or of a paragraph or other readily divisible part within a motion. • Some authorities treat amendment by adding as a form of amendment by inserting. Cf. amendment by inserting.

amendment by inserting. An amendment that places new wording within or around a motion's current wording. • Some authorities distinguish amendment by adding, which places new wording after the current wording, from amendment by inserting. Cf. amendment by adding.

amendment by striking out. An amendment that removes wording from a motion's current wording.

amendment by striking out and inserting. An amendment that removes wording and replaces it with alternative wording. • The motion can properly apply only to inserting wording in place of the wording being struck out; it cannot strike out some wording and insert new wording in a different place. See amendment by substituting; CREATE A BLANK.

amendment by substituting. 1. A special type of amendment by striking out and inserting that replaces an entire main motion or a paragraph or other readily divisible part within a main motion; an amendment of greater scope than a perfecting amendment. Cf. perfecting amendment. 2. An amendment by striking out and inserting. See amendment by striking out and inserting. — Also termed amendment in the nature of a substitute (in sense 1); substitute; substitution; substitute amendment. • Parliamentary writers differ on when an amendment by striking out and inserting qualifies as an amendment by substituting. Some manuals treat the two as equivalent and apply the same rules to them. Others maintain that an amendment is not a substitute unless it replaces the entire main motion — or at least a readily divisible part within the main motion — and apply different rules to an amendment by substituting than to a less drastic amendment.

amendment in the nature of a substitute. See amendment by substituting (1).

amendment of the first degree. See primary amendment.

amendment of the first rank. See primary amendment.

amendment of the second degree. See secondary amendment.

amendment of the second rank. See secondary amendment.

amendment to the amendment. See secondary amendment.

amendment to the main question. See primary amendment.

amendment to the text. See primary amendment.

committee amendment. An amendment to a motion reported by a committee to which the motion was referred.

first-degree amendment. See primary amendment.

floor amendment. An amendment offered from the floor by an individual member, as distinguished from a committee amendment. Cf. committee amendment.

friendly amendment. An amendment that the mover of the motion being amended supports, and to which no other member objects.

“The term ‘friendly amendment’ is often used to describe an amendment offered by someone who is in sympathy with the purposes of the main motion, in the belief that the amendment will either improve the statement or effect of the main motion, presumably to the satisfaction of its maker, or will increase the chances of the main motion's adoption. Regardless of whether or not the maker of the main motion ‘accepts’ the amendment, it must be opened to debate and voted on formally (unless adopted by unanimous consent) and is handled under the same rules as amendments generally.” Henry M. Robert, Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised § 12, at 154 (10th ed. 2000).

“Often, such an amendment is proposed as a ‘friendly amendment,’ simply indicating that the member proposing the amendment feels it will be acceptable to the maker of the main motion. If the maker of the original motion does not wish to accept the amendment, the amendment must then receive a second to come before the assembly, and will receive the usual consideration by the assembly. However, even the acceptance of the proposed amendment by the maker of the motion is simply a statement of support, and every member of the assembly retains the right to object to the amendment's adoption by general consent, and to debate and vote on the amendment.” Alice hostile amendment. An amendment that is opposed by the supporters of the main motion.

Sturgis, The Standard Code of Parliamentary Procedure 53 (4th ed. 2001).

killer amendment. An amendment that has the effect, intended or not, of ensuring the defeat of the main motion.

nongermane amendment. An amendment that adds an unrelated rider. • A nongermane amendment is out of order in most ordinary assemblies and many legislative bodies. But some legislative bodies, in jurisdictions where legislation may embrace more than one subject, allow nongermane amendments to a bill. See RIDER.

perfecting amendment. An amendment that merely edits the form of a main motion or a primary amendment but does not substantially change its content; an amendment of lesser scope than an amendment by substituting. Cf. amendment by substituting (1).

primary amendment. An amendment that directly amends the main motion. Cf. secondary amendment.

pro forma amendment. An amendment moved solely for the purpose of obtaining the floor and treated as withdrawn once the mover has spoken. • The customary pro forma amendment in Congress is a motion “to strike the last word.”

secondary amendment. An amendment that alters a pending primary amendment. Cf. primary amendment.

second-degree amendment. See secondary amendment.

substitute amendment. 1. A secondary amendment that substantially replaces rather than edits a primary amendment. 2. See amendment by substituting.

AMENDMENT AFTER ALLOWANCE

amendment after allowance. See PATENT-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDMENT AFTER APPEAL

amendment after appeal. See PATENT-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDMENT AFTER FINAL ACTION

amendment after final action. See PATENT-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDMENT AFTER PAYMENT OF ISSUE FEE

amendment after payment of issue fee. See PATENT-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDMENT BEFORE FIRST ACTION

amendment before first action. See preliminary amendment under PATENT-APPLICATION AMENDMENT T.

AMENDMENT BY IMPLICATION

amendment by implication. A rule of construction that allows a person to interpret a repugnant provision in a statute as an implicit modification or abrogation of a provision that appears before it. • Amendments by implication are not favored. See United States v. Welden, 377 U.S. 95, 102 n.12, 84 S.Ct. 1082, 1087 n.12 (1964).

AMENDMENT IN EXCESS OF FILING FEE

amendment in excess of filing fee. See PATENT-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDMENT OF INDICTMENT

amendment of indictment. The alteration of the charging terms of an indictment, either literally or in effect, after the grand jury has made a decision on it. • The indictment usu. cannot be amended at trial in a way that would prejudice the defendant by having a trial on matters that were not contained in the indictment. To do so would violate the defendant's Fifth Amendment right to indictment by grand jury. [Cases: Indictment and Information 159. C.J.S. Indictments and Informations § 193.]

constructive amendment of indictment. The admission of evidence that modifies the indictment by modifying the elements of a charged offense or by establishing an offense different from or in addition to those in the indictment.

AMENDMENT OF MARK IN REGISTRATION

amendment of mark in registration. See amendment of registration under TRADEMARK-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDMENT OF REGISTRATION

amendment of registration. See TRADEMARK-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDMENT ON COURT'S OWN MOTION

amendment on court's own motion. See AMENDMENT(2).

AMENDMENT TO ALLEGE USE

amendment to allege use. See TRADEMARK-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDMENT TO DIFFERENT REGISTER

amendment to different register. See TRADEMARK-APPLICATION AMENDMENT.

AMENDS

amends, n. Compensation given for a loss or injury; reparation.

AMENITY

amenity. [fr. Latin amoenitas "pleasantness"] Something tangible or intangible that increases the enjoyment of real property, such as location, view, landscaping, security, or access to recreational facilities.

A MENSA ET THORO

a mensa et thoro (ay men-s<<schwa>> et thor-oh). [Latin “from board and hearth”] (Of a divorce decree) ef-fecting a separation of the parties rather than a dissolution of the marriage . • Not all states provide for such a proceeding. See divorce a mensa et thoro under DIVORCE; SEPARATION; A VINCULO MATRIMONII. [Cases: Divorce 155.C.J.S. Divorce §§ 223–225.]

AMERCE

amerce (<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>rs), vb.1. To impose a fine or penalty that is not fixed but is left to the court's discretion; to punish by amercement. 2. To fine or punish in any manner. — amerceable (<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>r-s<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), amerciable (<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>r-see-<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj.

“There were two more aspects to this financial scheme of permitting suitors to use the royal courts — for a con-sideration. The practice developed of ‘amercing’ or fining those who were ‘in the mercy of the king’ because they had put forward a false claim, or had made a false defense. In other words the loser of the suit had to pay a fine for his supposedly unjust effort to deny or resist the claim of his opponent.” Charles Herman Kinnane, A First Book on Anglo-American Law 272 (2d ed. 1952).

AMERCEMENT

amercement (<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>rs-m<<schwa>>nt), n.[fr. Law French estre à merci “to be at the mercy (of another),” fr. Latin merces “payment”] 1. The imposition of a discretionary fine or penalty by a court, esp. on an official for misconduct <an amercement proceeding>.2. The fine or penalty so imposed <an amercement charged to the sheriff for failing to return the writ of execution>. — Also termed cashlite; (archaically) amer-ciament; merciament. [Cases: Sheriffs and Constables 125. C.J.S. Sheriffs and Constables §§ 335–385.]

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF ACTUARIES

American Academy of Actuaries.A national organization of actuaries who must meet specified educational requirements and have at least three years of actuarial work experience. • Created in 1965, the Academy promotes public awareness of the actuarial profession, represents the profession before federal and state governments, and sponsors continuing-education conferences. — Abbr. AAA. See ACTUARY.

AMERICAN ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION

American Accounting Association.An organization of accounting practitioners, educators, and students. • The Association, founded in 1916, promotes accounting as an academic discipline by sponsoring research projects and continuing-education seminars. — Abbr. AAA. [Cases: Accountants 3.1.]

AMERICAN ARBITRATION ASSOCIATION

American Arbitration Association. A national organization that maintains a panel of arbitrators to hear labor and commercial disputes. — Abbr. AAA. [Cases: Arbitration 26; Labor Relations 453. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 60, 62; Labor Relations §§ 464–465.]

AMERICAN BANKERS ASSOCIATION

American Bankers Association. A voluntary trade association of banking institutions, including banks, trust companies, and savings banks and associations, whose members represent the vast majority of banking deposits in the United States. • The association was founded in 1875. — Abbr. ABA.

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION

American Bar Association. A voluntary national organization of lawyers organized in 1878. • Among other things, it participates in law reform, law-school accreditation, and continuing legal education in an effort to improve legal services and the administration of justice. — Abbr. ABA. [Cases: Attorney and Client 31. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 8–9.]

AMERICAN BAR FOUNDATION

American Bar Foundation. An outgrowth of the American Bar Association involved with sponsoring and funding projects in law-related research, education, and social studies. [Cases: Attorney and Client 31. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 8–9.]

AMERICAN BUREAU OF SHIPPING

American Bureau of Shipping. An organization of marine underwriters, shipbuilders, and marine carriers charged with conducting research, technological development, officer training, and standards of building, maintaining, and operating seagoing vessels and stationary offshore facilities. • The organization was founded in 1862 as the American Shipbuilders' Association. Its name was changed in 1898, and it was formally recognized in the Merchant Marine Act of 1920. Its core mission is to promulgate rules for evaluating the design of new vessels and structures and for maintaining all existing vessels and structures. — Abbr. ABS. See ABS RULES .

AMERICAN CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION

American Civil Liberties Union. A national organization whose primary purpose is to help enforce and preserve individual rights and liberties guaranteed by federal and state constitutions. — Abbr. ACLU.

AMERICAN CLAUSE

American clause. Marine insurance. A policy provision that prevents an insurer from claiming contribution from a policy later purchased by the insured. [Cases: Insurance 2247. C.J.S. Insurance § 1207.]

AMERICAN COMMON LAW

American common law. See COMMON LAW(2).

AMERICAN DEPOSITORY RECEIPT

American depository receipt. A receipt issued by an American bank as a substitute for stock shares in a for-foreign-based corporation. • ADRs are the most common method by which foreign companies secure American shareholders. Companies that offer ADRs maintain a stock listing in their domestic market in their domestic currency, while the ADRs are held in U.S. dollars and listed on a U.S. stock exchange, usu. the New York Stock Exchange. — Abbr. ADR. — Also termed American depository receipt. [Cases: Corporations 94. C.J.S. Corporations § 172.]

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE TABLE OF MORTALITY

American Experience Table of Mortality. Insurance. A chart developed by insurers in the 1860s to predict mortality rates and thereby more accurately set insurance rates. • The Table was widely used by insurers to establish rates until the 1950s.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR AND CONGRESS OF INDUSTRIAL ORG.

American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations. A voluntary affiliation of more than 100 labor unions that operate autonomously yet benefit from the affiliation's political activities and its establishment of broad policies for the national labor movement. — Abbr. AFL-CIO.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF MUSICIANS

American Federation of Musicians. A labor union composed of musicians, orchestra leaders, contractors, copyists, orchestrators, composers, and arrangers. • In the recording industry, artists hired by record companies that have agreements with the union must be paid according to the union's set scale. — Abbr. AF of M.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF TELEVISION AND RADIO ARTISTS

American Federation of Television and Radio Artists. A labor union composed of actors, announcers, narrators, and vocalists. • In the entertainment industry, performers hired by producers that have agreements with the union must be paid according to the union's set scale. It is affiliated with the AFL-CIO. — Abbr. AFTRA.

AMERICAN FORCES INFORMATION SERVICE

American Forces Information Service. An agency in the U.S. Department of Defense responsible for operating the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service, the Armed Forces Press and Publications Service, and a Broadcast Center. • Established in 1977, the Service publishes various periodicals and pamphlets and the Stars and Stripes newspapers. — Abbr. AFIS.

AMERICAN GUILD OF VARIETY ARTISTS

American Guild of Variety Artists. A labor union composed of performers in nightclubs, cabarets, theaters, and other areas of live entertainment. • The Guild regulates its members' contracts with agents through an agreement with the Artists' Representatives Association. — Abbr. AGVA.

AMERICAN INDIAN LAW

American Indian law. See NATIVE AMERICAN LAW.

AMERICAN INNS OF COURT FOUNDATION

American Inns of Court Foundation. See INN OF COURT(2).

AMERICAN INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW ASSOCIATION

American Intellectual Property Law Association. A national bar association of lawyers who practice patent, trademark, copyright, trade-secret, and unfair-competition law. • The association was formerly known as the American Patent Law Association. Membership is also open to law students who are interested in intellectual-property law. — Abbr. AIPLA.

AMERICAN INVENTORS PROTECTION ACT

American Inventors Protection Act. Patents. A 1999 statute designed to (1) curb deceptive practices by invention-promotion companies, (2) reduce patent fees, (3) provide a defense against infringement for a party who in good faith reduced a patented invention to practice at least one year before a patent's effective filing date, (4) extend the patent term when the PTO is responsible for a delay in issuance, and (5) require publication of a patent application 18 months after its filing unless the applicant requests otherwise. Pub. L. No. 106–113, 113 Stat. 1501. — Abbr. AIPA.

AMERICAN JUDICATURE SOCIETY

American Judicature Society. An organization made up of judges, lawyers, and lay people for the purpose of improving the administration of justice. • The AJS was founded in 1913. Its interests include ensuring the judiciary's independence, improving judicial selection and the performance of juries, and educating the public about the justice system. — Abbr. AJS.

AMERICAN LAW INSTITUTE

American Law Institute. An organization of lawyers, judges, and legal scholars who promote consistency and simplification of American law by publishing restatements of the law and other model codes and treatises, as well as promoting continuing legal education. — Abbr. ALI.

AMERICAN LAW INSTITUTE TEST

American Law Institute test. See SUBSTANTIAL-CAPACITY TEST.

AMERICAN LLOYD'S

American Lloyd's. See LLOYD'S UNDERWRITERS.

AMERICAN NATIONAL STANDARDS INSTITUTE

American National Standards Institute. A private nonprofit organization, founded in 1918, that administers the U.S. standardization- and conformity-assessment system and coordinates voluntary participants in the system. — Abbr. ANSI.

AMERICAN OPTION

American option. See OPTION.

AMERICAN PATENT LAW ASSOCIATION

American Patent Law Association. See AMERICAN INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW ASSOCIATION .

AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

American Printing House for the Blind. A federally aided institution that assists blind children by distributing Braille books, talking books, and educational aids without charge. • The printing house was incorporated in Kentucky in 1858. — Abbr. APH.

AMERICAN RULE

American rule. 1. The general policy that all litigants, even the prevailing one, must bear their own attorney's fees. • The rule is subject to bad-faith and other statutory and contractual exceptions. Cf. ENGLISH RULE. [Cases: Costs 194.16; Federal Civil Procedure 2737.1. C.J.S. Costs § 125.] 2. The doctrine that a witness cannot be questioned on cross-examination about any fact or circumstance not connected with the matters brought out in the direct examination. [Cases: Witnesses 269. C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 471–476.]

AMERICAN SHARE

American share. See SHARE(2).

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF COMPOSERS, AUTHORS, AND PUBLISHERS

American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers. Copyright. One of the U.S. performing-rights societies that license and police the public performance of nondramatic musical works on behalf of the copyright owners. — Abbr. ASCAP.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF WRITERS ON LEGAL SUBJECTS

American Society of Writers on Legal Subjects. The formal name for Scribes, an association of lawyers dedicated to the improvement of legal writing. Founded in 1953, it sponsors annual writing competitions and publishes The Scribes Journal of Legal Writing, the first journal devoted exclusively to legal writing.

AMERICAN STOCK EXCHANGE

American Stock Exchange. An organized stock exchange and self-regulating organization under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, located in New York City and engaged in national trading of corporate stocks. • It often trades in the securities of young or small companies because its listing requirements are less strict than those of the New York Stock Exchange. — Abbr. AMEX; ASE. [Cases: Exchanges 1–15; Securities Regulation 40.10–40.16. C.J.S. Exchanges §§ 2–43; Securities Regulation §§ 154–163, 165–168.]

AMERICAN-STYLE OPTION

American-style option. See American option under OPTION.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT

Americans with Disabilities Act. A federal statute that prohibits discrimination — in employment, public services, and public accommodations — against any person with a disability (“a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more of the major life activities”). 42 USCA §§ 12101–12213. • Under the ADA, major life activities include any activity that an average person in the general population can perform with little or no difficulty, such as seeing, hearing, sleeping, eating, walking, traveling, and working. The statute applies to both private and governmental entities, but not to a private employer having fewer than 15 employees. 42 USCA § 12111(5)(A). — Abbr. ADA. See DISABILITY. [Cases: Civil Rights 1016, 1053, 1215. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 2, 6–7, 9–10, 19, 21, 61, 85.]

AMEX

AMEX (am-eks). abbr. AMERICAN STOCK EXCHANGE.

AMI

ami (<<schwa>>-mee), n. [Law French, fr. Latin amicus] A friend. • This term appears in several traditional legal phrases, such as prochein ami (“next friend”). — Also spelled amy. See NEXT FRIEND.

AMIABLE COMPOSITOR

amiable compositor. Int'l law. An unbiased third party, often a head of state or high government official, who suggests a solution that disputing countries might accept of their own volition. — Also termed aimable compo-siteur.

AMICABLE ACTION

AMICABLE COMPOUNDER

amicable compounder. See COMPOUNDER(1).

AMICABLE SCIRE FACIAS TO REVIVE A JUDGMENT

amicable scire facias to revive a judgment. See SCIRE FACIAS.

AMICABLE SUIT

amicable suit. See test case (1) under CASE.

AMICUS

amicus. 1. AMICUS CURIAE. 2. See amicus brief under BRIEF(1).

AMICUS BRIEF

amicus brief. See BRIEF(1).

AMICUS CURIAE

amicus curiae (<<schwa>>-mee-k<<schwa>>s kyoor-ee-Ior <<schwa>>-mI-k<<schwa>>s kyoor-ee-ee al-soam-i-k<<schwa>>s). [Latin "friend of the court"] A person who is not a party to a lawsuit but who petitions the court or is requested by the court to file a brief in the action because that person has a strong interest in the subject matter. — Often shortened to amicus. — Also termed friend of the court. Pl. amici curiae (<<schwa>>-mee-kee or <<schwa>>-mI-sIor <<schwa>>-mI-kI). [Cases: Amicus Curiae 1–3. C.J.S. Amicus Curiae §§ 2–14.]

AMISH EXCEPTION

Amish exception. An exemption of the Amish from compulsory-school-attendance laws under the Free Exercise Clause of the First Amendment. • In Wisconsin v. Yoder, 406 U.S. 205, 92 S.Ct. 1526 (1972), the Supreme Court held that Amish children could not be compelled to attend high school even though they were within the age range of the state's compulsory-attendance law. The Court has very narrowly construed the Amish exception and has refused to extend it to non-Amish children. See COMPULSORY-ATTENDANCE LAW; FREE EXERCISE CLAUSE.

AMITA

amita (am-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Civil law. The sister of one's father; an aunt on the father's side. Pl. amitae.

AMITINA

amitina (am-<<schwa>>-tI-n<<schwa>>). [Latin] Civil law. The daughter of a paternal aunt or maternal uncle; a female first cousin. Pl. amitinae.

AMITINUS

amitinus (am-<<schwa>>-tI-n<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Civil law. The son of a paternal aunt or maternal uncle; a male first cousin. Pl. amitini.

AMITTERE CURIAM

amittere curiam (<<schwa>>-mit-<<schwa>>-ree kyoor-ee-<<schwa>>m), vb. [Law Latin] Hist. To lose the privilege of attending court.

AMITTERE LEGEM TERRAE

amittere legem terrae (<<schwa>>-mit-<<schwa>>-ree lee-j<<schwa>>m ter-ee). See LIBERAM LEGEM AMITTERE.

AMITTERE LIBERAM LEGEM

amittere liberam legem (<<schwa>>-mit-<<schwa>>-ree lib-<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>m lee-j<<schwa>>m). See LIBERAM LEGEM AMITTERE.

AMNESTY

amnesty, n. A pardon extended by the government to a group or class of persons, usu. for a political offense; the act of a sovereign power officially forgiving certain classes of persons who are subject to trial but have not yet been convicted <the 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act provided amnesty for undocumented aliens already present in the country>. • Unlike an ordinary pardon, amnesty is usu. addressed to crimes against state sovereignty — that is, to political offenses with respect to which forgiveness is deemed more expedient for the public welfare than prosecution and punishment. Amnesty is usu. general, addressed to classes or even communities. — Also termed general pardon. See PARDON. [Cases: Pardon and Parole 26. C.J.S. Pardon and Parole §§ 3, 31.] — amnesty,vb.

“Amnesty... derives from the Greek amnestia (‘forgetting’), and has come to be used to describe measures of a more general nature, directed to offenses whose criminality is considered better forgotten.” Leslie Sebba, “Amnesty and Pardon,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice 59, 59 (Sanford H. Kadish ed., 1983).

express amnesty.Amnesty granted in direct terms.

implied amnesty.Amnesty indirectly resulting from a peace treaty executed between contending parties.

AMNESTY CLAUSE

amnesty clause.A clause, esp. one found in a peace treaty, that wipes out past offenses such as treason, sedition, rebellion, and even war crimes. • A sovereign may grant amnesty to all guilty persons or only to certain categories of offenders.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

Amnesty International.An international nongovernmental organization founded in the early 1960s to protect human rights throughout the world. • Its mission is to “secure throughout the world the observance of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.” Amnesty Int’l Statute, art. 1.

A MORTE TESTATORIS

a morte testatoris (ay mor-tee tes-t<<schwa>>-tor-is). [Latin] Hist. From the death of the testator. • The phrase appeared in reference to the moment when a legacy vests in the beneficiary.

AMORTIZATION

amortization (am-<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>-zay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The act or result of gradually extinguishing a debt, such as a mortgage, usu. by contributing payments of principal each time a periodic interest payment is due.

negative amortization.An increase in a loan's principal balance caused by monthly payments insufficient to pay accruing interest.

2. The act or result of apportioning the initial cost of a usu. intangible asset, such as a patent, over the asset's useful life. Cf. DEPRECIATION. — Sometimes also termed amortizement.

AMORTIZATION RESERVE

amortization reserve.See RESERVE.

AMORTIZATION SCHEDULE

amortization schedule. A schedule of periodic payments of interest and principal owed on a debt obligation; specif., a loan schedule showing both the amount of principal and interest that is due at regular intervals over the loan term and the remaining unpaid principal balance after each scheduled payment is made.

AMORTIZE

amortize, vb. 1. To extinguish (a debt) gradually, often by means of a sinking fund. 2. To arrange to extinguish (a debt) by gradual increments. 3. Hist. To alienate or convey lands to a corporation (that is, in mortmain). — Also spelled amortise. See MORTMAIN.

AMORTIZED LOAN

amortized loan. See LOAN.

AMORTIZED MORTGAGE

amortized mortgage. See MORTGAGE.

AMORTIZEMENT

amortizement. See AMORTIZATION.

AMOTION

amotion. 1. A turning out, as the eviction of a tenant or the removal of a person from office. [Cases: Landlord and Tenant 275; Officers and Public Employees 70. C.J.S. Landlord and Tenant §§ 716–718, 724; Officers and Public Employees § 175.] 2. The common-law procedure available to shareholders to remove a corporate director for cause. [Cases: Corporations 294. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 454–457.]

“The cases do not distinguish clearly between disfranchisement and amotion. The former applies to members, and the latter only to officers; and if an officer be removed for good cause, he may still continue to be a member of the corporation. Disfranchisement is the greater power, and more formidable in its application; and in joint stock or moneyed corporations no stockholder can be disfranchised, and thereby deprived of his property or interest in the general fund, by any act of the corporation, without at least an express authority for that purpose.” 2 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *298 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

3. The wrongful moving or carrying away of another's personal property.

AMOUNT IN CONTROVERSY

amount in controversy. The damages claimed or relief demanded by the injured party in a lawsuit. • For a federal court to have diversity jurisdiction, the amount in controversy must exceed $75,000. 28 USCA § 1332(a). — Also termed jurisdictional amount; matter in controversy. See DIVERSITY OF CITIZENSHIP ; AGGREGATION DOCTRINE. [Cases: Courts 119, 167; Federal Courts 335.]

AMOUNT REALIZED

amount realized. Tax. The amount received by a taxpayer for the sale or exchange of an asset, such as cash, property, services received, or debts assumed by a buyer. Cf. GAIN(3); LOSS(2). [Cases: Internal Revenue 3194; Taxation 996. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 113; Taxation §§ 1732–1733.]

AMOVE

amove, vb. To remove (a person) from an office or position.

AMOVEAS MANUS

amoveas manus (ay-moh-vee-*<<schwa>>s man-<<schwa>>*s). [Law Latin “that you remove your hands”] Hist. 1. A judgment ordering the Crown to relinquish possession of land to the complainant. • The judgment is so called from the emphatic words quod manus domini regis amoveantur (“that the hands of the king be removed”). 2. The writ issued on the judgment.

AMPLIATIO

ampliatio (am-plee-ay-shee-oh), n. [Latin] Roman law. 1. The act of deferring or reserving judgment. 2. In a criminal trial before a comitia, the repeating of evidence at the jury's request. Pl. ampliaciones (am-plee-ay-shee-oh-nee-z).

AMPLIATION

ampliation (am-plee-ay-sh-*<<schwa>>*n). Civil law. An extending; a postponement of the decision in a case.

AMPLIUS

amplius (am-plee-*<<schwa>>*s), adj. & adv. [Latin] Hist. More; further.

AMS

AMS. abbr. AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE.

AMT

AMT. abbr. See alternative minimum tax under TAX.

AMTRAK

Amtrak. See NATIONAL RAILROAD PASSENGER CORPORATION.

A MULTO FORTIORI

a multo fortiori (ay m-*<<schwa>>*l-toh for-shee-or-I). [Latin] By far the stronger reason. Cf. A FORTIORI.

AMUSEMENT TAX

amusement tax. See TAX.

AMY

amy (<<schwa>>-mee), n.[Law French] A friend. • This is an alternative spelling of ami. See AMI.

ANACONDA CLAUSE

anaconda clause.See MOTHER HUBBARD CLAUSE(1).

ANACRISIS

anacrisis (an-<<schwa>>-krI-sis).Civil law. An investigation or inquiry, esp. one conducted by torture.

ANALOG

analog.Patents. A different material, usu. a chemical or DNA sequence, that produces the same result as the specified material when used in a certain way. • To prevent others from free-riding on their innovations without technically infringing their exclusive rights, patent applicants often include analogs in their claims. — Also spelled analogue. — Also termed functional analog; equivalent.

ANALOGOUS ART

analogous art. See ART.

ANALOGOUS USE

analogous use. 1.Patents. The application of a process already known in one field of art to produce a similar result in another field. • Unless the fields are so unrelated or the outcomes so different as to produce a novel, useful, and nonobvious result, an analogous use is not patentable. 2.Trademarks. The use of a mark in marketing and advertising a product or service before the actual sale of the product or service, in order to establish the mark's use in commerce. • For the owner to take advantage of the analogous-use doctrine, the marketing campaign must be substantial and the product or service must be available soon after the campaign. An owner who files an in-tent-to-use application may tack on the period of analogous use for purposes of priority and incontestability.

ANALYTICAL JURISPRUDENCE

analytical jurisprudence.See JURISPRUDENCE.

ANARCHIST

anarchist,n. One who advocates the overthrow of organized government by force or who believes in the absence of government as a political ideal. — anarchism (the philosophy), n.

ANARCHY

anarchy,n.1. Absence of government; lawlessness. 2. A sociopolitical theory holding that the only legitimate form of government is one under which individuals govern themselves voluntarily, free from any collective power structure enforcing compliance with social order. — anarchic,adj.

criminal anarchy. A doctrine advocating the overthrow of organized government by force or violence, by assassinating a head of government, or by some other unlawful act. • Most states have laws limiting speech that incites criminal anarchy. The laws do not apply to abstract philosophical expressions or predictions or like expressions protected by the First and Fourteenth Amendments. Criminal-anarchy statutes (e.g., 18 USCA § 2385) apply only to speech that is calculated to induce forceful and violent activity, such as attempts to incite people to riot, or that otherwise generates some “clear and present danger” that the advocated violent overthrow may be attempted or accomplished. See Gitlow v. New York, 268 U.S. 652, 666, 45 S.Ct. 625, 630 (1925).

ANATHEMA

anathema (<<schwa>>-nath-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>), n. An ecclesiastical curse that prohibits a person from receiving communion (as in excommunication) and bars the person from contact with members of the church. — anathematize, vb.

ANATOCISM

anatocism (<<schwa>>-nat-<<schwa>>-siz-<<schwa>>m), n. [fr. Greek anatokismos “to lend on interest again”] Rare. 1. Compound interest. See compound interest under INTEREST(3). 2. The practice of compounding interest.

ANATOMICAL GIFT

anatomical gift. See GIFT.

ANCESTOR

ancestor, n. A person from whom an estate has passed; ASCENDANT. • This word is the correlative of heir. Cf. HEIR(1). common ancestor. A person to whom the ancestry of two or more persons is traced.

ANCESTRAL DEBT

ancestral debt. See DEBT.

ANCESTRAL ESTATE

ancestral estate. See ESTATE(1).

ANCESTRY

ancestry. A line of descent; lineage.

ANCHORAGE

anchorage. Maritime law. 1. An area where ships anchor. 2. A duty paid by shipowners for the use of a port; a toll for anchoring. [Cases: Shipping 7. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 18–20.]

ANCIENT

ancient, adj. Evidence. Having existed for a long time without interruption, usu. at least 20 to 30 years <ancient deed> <ancient map>. • Ancient items are usu. presumed to be valid even if proof of validity cannot be made. Fed. R. Evid. 901(b)(8). [Cases: Evidence 372. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 1010–1012, 1014–1015.]

ancient, n. A senior member of an Inn of Court or of Chancery.

ANCIENT DEMESNE

ancient demesne. See DEMESNE.

ANCIENT DOCUMENT

ancient document. See DOCUMENT.

ANCIENT FACT

ancient fact. See FACT.

ANCIENT HOUSE

ancient house. See HOUSE.

ANCIENT LAW

ancient law. The law of antiquity, considered esp. either from an anthropological standpoint or from the stand-point of tracing precursors to modern law.

“Ancient law uniformly refuses to dispense with a single gesture, however grotesque; with a single syllable, however its meaning may have been forgotten; with a single witness, however superfluous may be his testimony. The entire solemnities must be scrupulously completed by persons legally entitled to take part in them, or else the conveyance is null, and the seller is re-established in the rights of which he had vainly attempted to divest himself.” Henry S. Maine, Ancient Law 225–26 (17th ed. 1901).

ANCIENT-LIGHTS DOCTRINE

ancient-lights doctrine. The common-law principle by which a landowner acquired, after 20 years of uninter-rupted use, an easement preventing a neighbor from building an obstruction that blocks light from passing through the landowner's window. • The window (or other opening) is termed an ancient light. This doctrine has rarely been applied in the United States. — Also termed ancient-windows doctrine. [Cases: Easements 11. C.J.S. Easements § 51.]

“[A] notice ‘Ancient Lights,’ which is often seen affixed to the wall of a building, only denotes a claim by or on behalf of the owner that he has acquired, by prescription or otherwise, a right to a reasonable amount of light, free from interruption, over adjoining land; but it must not be supposed that such a notice is necessary in order to protect a legal right.” 2 Stephen's Commentaries on the Laws of England 347 (Crispin Warmington ed., 21st ed. 1950).

“Under the English doctrine of ancient lights, which has been soundly repudiated in this country, if a landowner had received sunlight across adjoining property for a specified period of time, the landowner was entitled to continue to receive unobstructed access to sunlight across the adjoining property; the landowner acquired a negative prescriptive easement and could prevent the adjoining landowner from obstructing access to light.” 1 Am. Jur. 2d Adjoining Landowners § 90, at 889 (1994).

ANCIENT READINGS

ancient readings.Hist. Lectures on ancient English statutes, formerly having substantial legal authority.

ANCIENT RENT

ancient rent.Hist. The rent reserved at the time the lease is made, if the estate was not then under lease.

ANCIENTS

ancients.Hist. Certain members of seniority in the Inns of Court and Chancery. • In Gray's Inn, the society con-sisted of benchers, ancients, barristers, and students under the bar, with the ancients being the oldest barristers. In the Middle Temple, those who passed the readings were termed ancients. The Inns of Chancery consisted of both ancients and students or clerks.

ANCIENT SERJEANT

ancient serjeant.Hist. English law. The eldest of the Crown's serjeants. • The last serjeant to hold this office died in 1866.

ANCIENT WALL

ancient wall.See WALL.

ANCIENT WATERCOURSE

ancient watercourse.See WATERCOURSE.

ANCIENT-WINDOWS DOCTRINE

ancient-windows doctrine.See ANCIENT-LIGHTS DOCTRINE.

ANCIENT WRITING

ancient writing.See ancient document under DOCUMENT.

ANCILLA

ancilla (an-sil-<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Hist. A female auxiliary or assistant.

ANCILLARY

ancillary (an-s<<schwa>>-ler-ee), adj. Supplementary; subordinate <ancillary claims>. — ancillarity (an-s<<schwa>>-la[i]r-<<schwa>>-tee), n.

ANCILLARY ADMINISTRATION

ancillary administration.See ADMINISTRATION.

ANCILLARY ADMINISTRATOR

ancillary administrator. See ADMINISTRATOR(2).

ANCILLARY ATTACHMENT

ancillary attachment. See ATTACHMENT(3).

ANCILLARY BILL

ancillary bill. See ancillary suit under SUIT.

ANCILLARY CLAIM

ancillary claim. See CLAIM(4).

ANCILLARY GUARDIANSHIP

ancillary guardianship. See GUARDIANSHIP.

ANCILLARY JURISDICTION

ancillary jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

ANCILLARY LEGISLATION

ancillary legislation. See LEGISLATION.

ANCILLARY LETTERS TESTAMENTARY

ancillary letters testamentary. See LETTERS TESTAMENTARY.

ANCILLARY PROCEEDING

ancillary proceeding. See ancillary suit under SUIT.

ANCILLARY PROCESS

ancillary process. See ancillary suit under SUIT.

ANCILLARY RECEIVER

ancillary receiver. See RECEIVER.

ANCILLARY RECEIVERSHIP

ancillary receivership. See RECEIVERSHIP.

ANCILLARY SUIT

ancillary suit. See SUIT.

ANCILLARY TO PRIORITY

ancillary to priority. Patents. An issue that is so logically related to the issue of priority of invention that it cannot be separated from the issue of priority. • The question whether an issue is ancillary to priority was once used to challenge the jurisdiction of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, but the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences now has explicit jurisdiction over ancillary issues. [Cases: Patents 90(1). C.J.S. Patents §§ 120–122.]

ANCIPITIS USUS

ancipitis usus. See conditional contraband under CONTRABAND.

ANDERS<TT> BRIEF

Anders brief. Criminal procedure. A brief filed by a court-appointed defense attorney who wants to withdraw from the case on appeal based on a belief that the appeal is frivolous. • In an Anders brief, the attorney seeking to withdraw must identify anything in the record that might arguably support the appeal. The court then decides whether the appeal is frivolous and whether the attorney should be permitted to withdraw. Anders v. California, 386 U.S. 738, 87 S.Ct. 1396 (1967). — Also termed no-merit brief. [Cases: Criminal Law 1077.3. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1689–1694.]

“Anders requires an attorney to assume two somewhat contradictory roles when filing a no-merit brief. The first, and most important, role is that of an advocate. Anders makes clear that the first duty of appellate counsel is to study the record and to consult with the defendant to ascertain whether there is anything in the record to support an appeal. Counsel should not consider the case with a view toward finding no merit or of acting as a neutral party. Only if counsel can find no issue of even arguable merit does he change hats and become an amicus curiae.” Jonathan M. Purver & Lawrence E. Taylor, Handling Criminal Appeals § 138, at 285 (1980).

AND HIS HEIRS

and his heirs. See HEIR.

AND OTHER GOOD AND VALUABLE CONSIDERATION

and other good and valuable consideration. See other consideration under CONSIDERATION.

ANDROLEPSY

androlepsy (an-dr<<schwa>>-lep-see). [fr. Greek “seizure of men”] Hist. The taking by one nation of citizens or subjects of another nation either in reprisal or to enforce some claim (as to surrender or punish a fugitive). — Also termed androlepsia (an-dr<<schwa>>-lep-see-<<schwa>>).

ANECIUS

anecius (<<schwa>>-nee-shee-<<schwa>>s), n. [Law Latin] Hist. The eldest; the firstborn; the senior, as contrasted with puisne (“the younger”).

ANGARIA

angaria (ang-gair-ee-<<schwa>>). [Greek] 1. ANGARY. 2. Roman law. (ital.) A compulsory service consisting in the transport of goods or persons for the imperial post; a public Pony Express rider. 3.Hist. A service exacted by a lord beyond what is due. Pl. angariae.

ANGARY

angary (ang-g<<schwa>>-ree).Int'l law.A country's right, in war or other urgent circumstances, to seize — for temporary use — neutral merchant ships in its inland or territorial waters as well as aircraft within its territory, with full indemnity by the country. — Also termed right of angary; jus angariae; angaria.

“In many respects the content and scope of the right of angary remain unclear and there is little evidence of State practice on several controversial questions. In practice, the right has been exercised mainly in wartime. Never-theless, several writers consider it to be applicable in times of peace and in cases of absolute necessity, such as the evacuation of the population in the event of a national emergency.” Rainer Lagoni, “Angary, Right of,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Public International Law (1992).

ANGLICÉ

Anglicé (ang-gl<<schwa>>-see), adv.[French] In English. • This term formerly appeared in pleadings to signal an English translation or restatement of a previous Latin word or phrase <panis, Anglicé, bread>.

ANGLO-AMERICAN COMMON LAW

Anglo-American common law.See American common law under COMMON LAW(2).

ANGLO-SAXON LAW

Anglo-Saxon law.The body of royal decrees and customary laws developed by the Germanic peoples who dominated England from the 5th century to 1066.

ANHLOTE

anhote,n. Hist. A single tribute or tax paid according to custom, such as scot and lot. See SCOT AND LOT.

ANIENTE

aniente (an-ee-<<schwa>>nt or an-ee-ent), adj.[Law French] (Of a law, etc.) having no force or effect; void. — Also spelled anient. — Also termed aniens.

ANIMAL

animal. Any living creature other than a human being. — Also termed creature.

domestic animal. 1. An animal that is customarily devoted to the service of humankind at the time and in the place where it is helped. See DOMITAE NATURAE; MANSUETAE NATURAE. 2. Any animal that is statutorily so designated.

feral animal.A domestic animal that has returned to a wild state. • Feral animals, unlike others of their species, are usu. unsocialized to people.

vicious animal. 1. An animal that has shown itself to be dangerous to humans. 2. Loosely, one belonging to a breed or species that is known or reputed to be dangerous. • A vicious animal may be domestic, feral, or wild. See VICIOUS PROPENSITY.

wild animal. 1. An animal that, as a matter of common knowledge, is naturally untamable, unpredictable, dan-gerous, or mischievous. See FERAE NATURAE. 2. Any animal not statutorily designated as a domestic animal. — Also termed wild creature.

“Wild creatures, such as game, are part of the land and pass with it, though it cannot be said that they are within the ownership of any particular person. Wild creatures which have been tamed belong to the person who has tamed them, and animals too young to escape belong to the owner of the land on which they are, but in each case the owner has only a qualified property in them, for the moment they gain or regain their natural liberty the ownership is lost.” G.C. Cheshire, Modern Law of Real Property 118 (3d ed. 1933).

ANIMAL AND PLANT HEALTH INSPECTION SERVICE

Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. An agency in the U.S. Department of Agriculture responsible for controlling or eliminating pests and plant diseases by regulating the shipment of agricultural products within the United States. • Established in 1977, some of its functions were transferred to the U.S. Department of Homeland Security in 2003. — Abbr. APHIS.

ANIMAL LAW

animal law, n. The field of law dealing with vertebrates other than humans. • The field cuts across many traditional doctrinal areas (e.g., contracts, torts, administrative law) as well as jurisprudence. Topics include wild-life-management law, laws concerning treatment of laboratory animals, and laws relating to companion animals.

ANIMO

animo (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-moh). [Latin] See ANIMUS(2).

ANIMO ET CORPORE

animo et corpore (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-moh et kor-p⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-ree), adv. [Latin] By the mind and by the body; by the intention and by the physical act of control < possession is acquired animo et corpore >.

ANIMO ET FACTO

animo et facto (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-moh et fak-toh). [Latin] Hist. By act and intention.

“Thus, for example, in acquiring a domicile, mere residence is not sufficient, if there be not the intention to acquire it, as domicile can only be acquired animo et facto.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 21 (4th ed. 1894).

ANIMO FELONICO

animus felonico (an-<<schwa>>-moh f<<schwa>>-lon-<<schwa>>-koh), adv.[Latin] With felonious intent; with the intention to commit a felony.

ANIMUS

animus (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s). [Latin] 1. Ill will; animosity.

class-based animus. A prejudicial disposition toward a discernible, usu. constitutionally protected, group of persons. • A class-based animus is an essential element of a civil-rights conspiracy case. [Cases: Civil Rights 1033(1), 1137. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 18, 20, 23–24, 34, 39–40.]

2. Intention. • All the following Latin “animus” phrases have analogous adverbial forms beginning with “animus” (the definition merely needing “with” at the outset). For example, animus furandi means “with the intention to steal,” animus testandi means “with testamentary intention,” etc.

animus adimendi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s ad-i-men-dI). [Latin] The intention to adeem.

animus belligerendi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s b<<schwa>>-lij-<<schwa>>-ren-d I). [Latin] The intention to wage war.

animus cancellandi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s kan-s<<schwa>>-lan-dI). [Latin] The intention to cancel. • This phrase usu. refers to a will.

animus capiendi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s kap-ee-en-dI). [Latin] The intention to take or capture.

animus contrahentium (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s kon-tr<<schwa>>-hen-shee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] The intention of the contracting parties.

animus dedicandi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s ded-<<schwa>>-kan-dI). [Latin] The intention to donate or dedicate.

animus defamandi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s def-<<schwa>>-man-dI). [Latin] The intention to defame. [Cases: Libel and Slander 2. C.J.S. Libel and Slander; Injurious Falsehood § 43.]

animus derelinquendi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s dee-rel-ing-kwen-dI). [Latin] The intention to abandon.

animus deserendi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s des-<<schwa>>-ren-dI). [Latin] The intention to desert (usu. a spouse, child, etc.). [Cases: Divorce 37(3). C.J.S. Divorce § 52.]

animus differendi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s dif-<<schwa>>-ren-dI). [Latin] The intention to obtain a delay. • The phrase animus differendi (“with the intention to obtain a delay”) appeared in reference to a presumption that certain actions of a defendant were designed to obtain a delay.

animus domini (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s dom-<<schwa>>-nI). [Latin] Roman law. The intent to exercise dominion over a thing; the intent to own something. Cf. animus possidendi.

“All possession has two elements, a physical and a mental, which the Romans distinguish as corpus and animus. The first is the physical relation of the possessor to the object. The second is his sense of that relation. If he is minded to deal with the thing as his own (animus domini — animus sibi habendi), no matter whether rightfully or wrongfully, he possesses in the fullest sense.” R.W. Lee, The Elements of Roman Law 179–80 (4th ed. 1956).

animus donandi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s doh-nan-dI). [Latin] The intention of donating; the intention to give. [Cases: Gifts 15.]

animus et factum (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s et fak-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “mind and deed”] The intention and the deed. • This phrase can refer to a person's intent to reside in a given country permanently or for an inde-finite period.

animus felonius (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s fe-loh-ni-k<<schwa>>s). [Latin] The intention to commit a felony. [Cases: Criminal Law 20. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 31–33, 35–39; Negligence § 913.]

animus furandi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s fyuu-ran-dI). [Latin] The intention to steal. • In Roman law, the focus was on the unauthorized use of property rather than an intent to permanently deprive the owner of it. [Cases: Larceny 1, 3. C.J.S. Larceny §§ 1(1, 2), 9, 25–29.]

“[An] intent to deprive the owner of his property permanently, or an intent to deal with another's property un-lawfully in such a manner as to create an obviously unreasonable risk of permanent deprivation, [is] all that is required to constitute the animus furandi—or intent to steal.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 332–33 (3d ed. 1982).

animus gerendi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s j<<schwa>>-ren-dI). [Latin] The intention to act as heir.

animus immiscendi et adeundi hereditatem (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s im-i-sen-d I et ad-ee-<<schwa>>-n-dI h<<schwa>>-red-i-tay-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin] The intention to meddle with and take up a succession.

animus indorsandi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s in-dor-san-dI). [Law Latin] Hist. The intention of indorsing. • One who indorsed a check animo indorsandi would be liable for the amount if the check was dishonored.

animus injuriandi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s in-joor-ee-an-dI). [Latin] The intention to injure, esp. to insult.

animus lucrandi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s loo-kran-dI). [Latin] The intention to make a gain or profit.

animus malus (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s mal-<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Evil intent.

animus manendi (an-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s m<<schwa>>-nen-dI). [Latin “will to remain”] The intention to remain; the intention to establish a permanent residence. — Also termed animus remandendi. [Cases: Domicile 4(2). C.J.S. Domicile §§ 11–19, 25–27, 29–34, 37–40.]

animus morandi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-ran-dI). [Latin “will to tarry”] The intention to remain. • Although animus morandi is broadly synonymous with animus manendi, morandi suggests less per-manency.

animus nocendi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s noh-sen-dI). [Latin] The intention to harm.

animus obligandi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s ahb-li-gan-dI). [Latin] The intention to enter into an obligation.

animus occidendi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s ahk-si-den-dI). [Latin] The intention to kill.

animus possidendi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s pah-s⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-den-dI). [Latin] Roman law. The intent to possess a thing. Cf. animus domini.

animus quo (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s kwoh). [Latin] The intent with which; motive.

animus recipiendi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s ri-sip-ee-en-dI). [Latin] The intention to receive.

animus recuperandi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s ri-k[y]oo-p⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-ran-dI). [Latin] The intention to recover.

animus remanendi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s rem-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-nen-dI). [Latin] See animus manendi.

animus republicandi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s ree-pub-l⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-kan-dI). [Latin] The intention to republish.

animus restituendi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s r⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-sti-tyoo-en-dI). [Latin] The intention to restore.

animus revertendi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s ree-v⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩r-ten-dI). [Latin] The intention to return (to a place). • In Roman law, this intent was a factor in deciding whether animals, such as doves and bees, remained in a person's ownership.

animus revocandi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s rev-oh-kan-dI). [Latin] The intention to revoke (a will) <her destruction of the will indicated that she had animus revocandi>. [Cases: Wills 170. C.J.S. Wills §§ 390, 393, 413–414.]

animus signandi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s sig-nan-dI). [Latin] The intention to sign. [Cases: Wills 72. C.J.S. Wills §§ 169–170.]

animus testandi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s tes-tan-dI). [Latin] Testamentary intention.

animus ulciscendi (an-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-m⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s ⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩l-si-sen-dI). [Latin] The intention to take revenge.

ANNATES

annates (an-ayts oran-its), n.[fr. Law Latin annata] See FIRST FRUITS(2).

ANNATS

annats (an-*<<schwa>>*ts). See FIRST FRUITS(2).

ANNEX

annex,n. Something that is attached, such as a document to a report or an addition to a building.

ANNEXATION

annexation,n.1. The act of attaching; the state of being attached. 2.Property. The point at which a fixture becomes a part of the realty to which it is attached. [Cases: Fixtures 6.] 3. A formal act by which a nation, state, or municipality incorporates land within its dominion. • In international law, the usual formalities of announcing annexation involve having specially commissioned officers hoist the national flag and read a proclamation. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 29. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 45–46, 54.] 4. The annexed land itself. Cf. ACCESSION (5). — annex,vb.

cherry-stem annexation. 1. Annexed land that resembles (on a map) a cherry because the annexed territory — the cherry — is not contiguous to the acquiring municipality, and the narrow corridor of annexed land leading to the targeted area resembles a stem. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 29(4). C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 48–51.] 2. The process of annexing land with this configuration.

ANNIVERSARY DATE

anniversary date.Insurance. The annually recurring date of the initial issuance of a policy. Cf. POLICY YEAR.

ANN, JOUR, ET WAST

ann, jour, et wast (an, zhoor, ay wayst). [Law French] See YEAR, DAY, AND WASTE .

ANNO ANTE CHRISTUM<TT> anno ante Christum (an-oh an-tee kris-t*<<schwa>>*m), adv.[Latin] In the year before Christ. — Abbr. A.A.C.

ANNO ANTE CHRISTUM NATUM<TT>

anno ante Christum natum (an-oh an-tee kris-t*<<schwa>>m nay-t<<schwa>>*m), adv.[Latin] In the year before the birth of Christ. — Abbr. A.A.C.N.

ANNO DOMINI

Anno Domini (an-oh dom-<<schwa>>-nIor -nee). [Latin “in the year of the Lord”] Of the modern era. • This phrase denotes the method of calculating time from the birth of Christ <A.D.

1776>. — Abbr. A.D. — Also termed Year of Our Lord.

ANNONAE CIVILES

annona civiles (<<schwa>>-noh-nee s<<schwa>>-vI-leez), n.[Latin] Hist. Yearly rents issuing out of particular lands and payable to certain monasteries.

ANNO ORBIS CONDITI

anno orbis conditi (an-oh or-bis kon-di-tI), n.[Latin] The year of the creation of the world. — Abbr. AOC.

ANNO REGNI

Anno Regni (an-oh reg-nI). [Latin] In the year of the reign. • A.R.V.R. 22, for example, is an abbreviated reference to Anno Regni Victoriae Reginae vicesimo secundo (“in the twenty-second year of the reign of Queen Victoria”). — Abbr. A.R.

ANNOTATIO

annotatio (an-oh-tay-shee-oh). [Latin] RESCRIPT(3).

ANNOTATION

annotation (an-<<schwa>>-tay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. A brief summary of the facts and decision in a case, esp. one involving statutory interpretation. 2. A note that explains or criticizes a source of law, usu. a case. • Annotations appear, for example, in the United States Code Annotated (USCA). 3. A volume containing such explanatory or critical notes. 4.RESCRIPT(3). Cf. NOTE(2). — annotate (an-<<schwa>>-tayt), vb. — annotative (an-<<schwa>>-tay-tiv), adj. — annotator (an-<<schwa>>-tay-t<<schwa>>r), n.

“One of the most important classes of Search Books is those included in the category of Annotations. They are important and valuable, in that they often purport to give, in very condensed form, some indication of the law, deduced from the cases or statutes, as well as to point out where similar cases can be found.” William M. Lile et al., Brief Making and the Use of Law Books 84 (3d ed. 1914).

ANNOUNCE

announce, vb. To make publicly known; to proclaim formally <the judge announced her decision in open court>.

ANNOYANCE

annoyance. See NUISANCE(1).

ANNUAL ACCOUNT

annual account. See intermediate account under ACCOUNT.

ANNUAL CROPS

annual crops. See CROPS.

ANNUAL DEPRECIATION

annual depreciation. See DEPRECIATION.

ANNUAL EXCLUSION

annual exclusion. See EXCLUSION(1).

ANNUAL GIFT-TAX EXCLUSION

annual gift-tax exclusion. See annual exclusion under EXCLUSION.

ANNUAL MEETING

annual meeting. See MEETING.

ANNUAL MESSAGE

annual message. See MESSAGE.

ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE

annual percentage rate. See INTEREST RATE.

ANNUAL PERMIT

annual permit. A permit, required by some states, that must be paid each year by a corporation that does business in the state. • In some states, the permit fee is set according to the corporation's capitalization.

ANNUAL REPORT

annual report. A yearly corporate financial report for shareholders and other interested parties. • The Securities Exchange Act of 1934 requires registered corporations to file an annual report on the SEC's Form 10-K. An annual report includes a balance sheet, income statement, statement of changes in financial position, reconciliation of changes in owners' equity accounts, a summary of significant accounting principles, other explanatory notes, the auditor's report, and comments from management about prospects for the coming year. — Also termed annual statement; financial report.

ANNUAL VALUE

annual value. See VALUE(2).

ANNUA PENSIONE

annua pensione. See DE ANNUA PENSIONE.

ANNUITANT

annuitant (<<schwa>>-n[y]oo-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>nt), n. A beneficiary of an annuity. [Cases: Annuities 1. C.J.S. Annuities §§ 2-4, 6-9, 21.]

ANNUITY

annuity (<<schwa>>-n[y]oo-<<schwa>>-tee). 1. An obligation to pay a stated sum, usu. monthly or annually, to a stated recipient. • These payments terminate upon the death of the designated beneficiary. [Cases: Annuities 1.C.J.S. Annuities §§ 2–4, 6–9, 21.] 2. A fixed sum of money payable periodically. 3. A right, often acquired under a life-insurance contract, to receive fixed payments periodically for a specified duration. Cf. PENSION. 4. Patents. See MAINTENANCE FEE. 5. A savings account with an insurance company or investment company, usu. established for retirement income. • Payments into the account accumulate tax-free, and the account is taxed only when the annuitant withdraws money in retirement.

annuity certain. An annuity payable over a specified period, regardless of whether the annuitant dies. — Also termed term annuity.

annuity due. An annuity that makes payments at the beginning of each pay period. Cf. ordinary annuity.

cash-refund annuity. An annuity providing for a lump-sum payment after the annuitant's death of the difference between the total received and the price paid.

constituted annuity. Louisiana law. An annuity that has a maximum duration of ten years and, under some circumstances, can be redeemed before the term's expiration. La. Civ. Code art. 2796.

contingent annuity. 1. An annuity that begins making payments when some future event occurs, such as the death of a person other than the annuitant. 2. An annuity that makes an uncertain number of payments, depending on the outcome of a future event.

continuing annuity. See survivorship annuity.

deferred annuity. An annuity that begins making payments on a specified date if the annuitant is alive at that time. — Also termed deferred-payment annuity. Cf. immediate annuity.

fixed annuity. An annuity that guarantees fixed payments, either for life or for a specified period.

group annuity. An annuity payable to members of a group, esp. employees, who are covered by a single annuity contract, such as a group pension plan.

immediate annuity. An annuity paid for with a single premium and that begins to pay benefits within the first payment interval. Cf. deferred annuity.

joint annuity. An annuity payable to two annuitants until one of them dies, at which time the annuity terminates for the survivor (unless the annuity also provides for survivorship rights). See survivorship annuity.

life annuity. An annuity payable only during the annuitant's lifetime, even if the annuitant dies prematurely.

life-income period-certain annuity. An annuity that pays a specified number of payments even if the annuitant dies before the minimum amount has been paid.

nonrefund annuity. An annuity with guaranteed payments during the annuitant's life, but with no refund to anyone at death. — Also termed straight life annuity; pure annuity.

ordinary annuity. An annuity that makes payments at the end of each pay period. Cf. annuity due.

private annuity. An annuity from a private source rather than from a public or life-insurance company.

pure annuity. See nonrefund annuity.

refund annuity. An annuity that, upon the annuitant's death, pays to the annuitant's estate the difference between the purchase price and the total payments received during the annuitant's lifetime.

retirement annuity. An annuity that begins making payments only after the annuitant's retirement. • If the annuitant dies before retirement, an agreed amount will usu. be refunded to the annuitant's estate.

single-premium deferred annuity. An annuity for which a party pays a lump-sum premium in exchange for receiving a specified sum at a future date. • The income earned on the investment is tax-free until it is withdrawn. — Abbr. SPDA.

straight annuity. An annuity that makes payments in fixed amounts at periodic intervals. Cf. variable annuity.

straight life annuity. See nonrefund annuity.

survivorship annuity. An annuity providing for continued payments to a survivor, usu. a spouse, after the original annuitant dies. — Also termed continuing annuity.

tax-deferred annuity. See 403(b) plan under EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLAN.

tax-sheltered annuity. See 403(b) plan under EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLAN.

term annuity. See annuity certain.

variable annuity. An annuity that makes payments in varying amounts depending on the success of investment strategy. See variable annuity contract under CONTRACT. Cf. straight annuity.

ANNUITY BOND

annuity bond. See BOND(3).

ANNUITY DEPRECIATION METHOD

annuity depreciation method. See DEPRECIATION METHOD.

ANNUITY INSURANCE

annuity insurance. See INSURANCE.

 ANNUITY POLICY

annuity policy. An insurance policy providing for monthly or periodic payments to the insured to begin at a fixed date and continue through the insured's life.

ANNUITY TRUST

annuity trust. See TRUST.

ANNULMENT

annulment (<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>l-m<<schwa>>nt), n. 1. The act of nullifying or making void; VOIDANCE. 2. A judicial or ecclesiastical declaration that a marriage is void. • An annulment establishes that the marital status never existed. So annulment and dissolution of marriage (or divorce) are fundamentally different: an annulment renders a marriage void from the beginning, while dissolution of marriage terminates the marriage as of the date of the judgment of dissolution. Although a marriage terminated by annulment is considered never to have occurred, in most states today a child born during the marriage is not considered illegitimate after the annulment. Cf. DI-VORCE. [Cases: Marriage 56. C.J.S. Marriage § 63.] 3. A rescission. See RESCIND(3). — annul (<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>l), vb.

ANNULMENT OF ADOPTION

annulment of adoption. See ABROGATION OF ADOPTION.

ANNULMENT OF JUDGMENT

annulment of judgment. A retroactive obliteration of a judicial decision, having the effect of restoring the parties to their pretrial positions. • Types of annulment include reversal and vacation. See REVERSE; VACATE(1).

ANNUM LUCTUS

annum luctus (an-<<schwa>>m l<<schwa>>k-t<<schwa>>s), n. [Latin “year of mourning”] Roman law. The year following the death of a married man during which his widow could not remarry, because of the confusion that would ensue in determining the parentage of a child born a few months after a second marriage within that year. — Also sometimes termed year in mourning.

ANNUS

annus (an-<<schwa>>s). [Latin] A year.

ANNUS CONTINUUS

annus continuus (an-<<schwa>>s k<<schwa>>n-tin-yoo-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “a continuous year”] Roman law. A straight 365-day period, without interruption. Cf. ANNUS UTILIS.

ANNUS DELIBERANDI

annus deliberandi (an-<<schwa>>s d<<schwa>>-lib-<<schwa>>-ran-di). [Latin “the year for deliberating”] Scots law. The year during which an heir could determine whether to enter an inheritance and represent an ancestor. The period was later shortened to six months. See DAMNOSA AUT LUCROSA.

“The entry of an heir infers serious responsibilities, and therefore the year is allowed for consideration. The annus deliberandi commences on the death of the ancestor, unless in the case of a posthumous heir, in which case the year runs from the heir's birth.” William Bell, Bell's Dictionary and Digest of the Law of Scotland 47 (George Watson ed., 7th ed. 1890).

ANNUS, DIES, ET VASTUM

annus, dies, et vastum (an-<<schwa>>s, dI-eez, et vas-t*<<schwa>>m*). [Law Latin] See YEAR, DAY, AND WASTE.

ANNUS ET DIES

annus et dies (an-<<schwa>>s et dI-eez). [Law Latin] A year and a day. See YEAR-AND-A-DAY RULE.

ANNUS UTILIS

annus utilis (an-<<schwa>>s yoo-t*<<schwa>>-lis*). [Latin “a year that can be used”] Roman law. A 365-day period during which legal rights could be exercised, not including days when the courts were closed or when a person could not otherwise pursue those rights; a year made up of the available days for conducting legal business. Cf. ANNUS CONTINUUS.

ANNUUS REDITUS

annuus reditus (an-<<schwa>>s red-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] A yearly rent.

ANOMALOUS INDORSEMENT

anomalous indorsement. See irregular indorsement under INDORSEMENT.

ANOMALOUS JURISDICTION

anomalous jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

ANOMALOUS-JURISDICTION RULE

anomalous-jurisdiction rule (<<schwa>>-nom<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>s). The principle that a court of appeals has provisional jurisdiction to review the denial of a motion to intervene in a case, and if the court of appeals finds that the denial was correct, then its jurisdiction disappears — and it must dismiss the appeal for want of jurisdiction — because an order denying a motion to intervene is not a final, appealable order. • This rule has been criticized by courts and commentators. Many appellate courts, upon finding that the trial court properly denied a motion to intervene, will affirm the denial instead of dismissing the appeal for want of jurisdiction. — Sometimes shortened to anomalous rule. [Cases: Appeal and Error 329, 782; Federal Courts 555, 587. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 32, 241–242.]

ANOMALOUS PLEA

anomalous plea. See PLEA(3).

ANOMALOUS PLEADING

anomalous pleading. See PLEADING(1).

ANOMALOUS RULE

anomalous rule. See ANOMALOUS-JURISDICTION RULE.

A NON DOMINO

a non domino (ay non dom-<<schwa>>-noh). [Law Latin] Hist. From one who is not the proprietor.

A NON HABENTE POTESTATEM

a non habente potestatem (ay non ha-ben-tee poh-tes-tay-t*<<schwa>>m*). [Latin] Scots law. From one not having power. • This phrase appeared most commonly in a conveyance in reference to a seller who was not the owner.

“If A. disposed ground, which he held on a personal title, to B., he could not grant warrant for the infeftment of B., himself being uninfeft; but he could assign to B. the unexecuted precept of sasine in his (A.'s) own favour, and on it B. could complete his feudal title. If, instead of thus assigning a valid precept, A. himself granted a precept for the infeftment of B., such a precept was a non habente potestatem, and ineffectual. This was a defect, however, which was remedied by prescription.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 5 (4th ed. 1894).

ANONYMOUS

anonymous, adj. Not named or identified <the police arrested the defendant after a tip from an anonymous informant>. — anonymity (an-<<schwa>>-nim-<<schwa>>-tee), n.

ANONYMOUS CASE

anonymous case. A reported case in which the word “anonymous” is substituted for at least one party's name to conceal the party's identity. See, e.g., Anonymous v. Anonymous, 735 N.Y.S.2d 26 (App. Div. 2001).

ANONYMOUS WORK

anonymous work. See WORK(2).

ANOYSANCE

anoysance (<<schwa>>-noy-z<<schwa>>nts), n. [Law French] Hist. An annoyance or nuisance. See NUISANCE.

ANSI

ANSI. abbr. AMERICAN NATIONAL STANDARDS INSTITUTE.

ANSWER

answer,n.1. A defendant's first pleading that addresses the merits of the case, usu. by denying the plaintiff's allegations. • An answer usu. sets forth the defendant's defenses and counterclaims. [Cases: Pleading 76–87. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 159–162, 164, 168–173.]

false answer.A sham answer in a pleading. See sham pleading under PLEADING (1). [Cases: Pleading 359. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 653–654.]

2. A person's, esp. a witness's, response to a question posed.

evasive answer.A response that neither directly admits nor denies a question. • In discovery, this is considered a failure to answer. Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(a)(3).

unresponsive answer.Evidence. A response from a witness (usu. at a deposition or hearing) that is irrelevant to the question asked. — Also termed nonresponsive answer. [Cases: Witnesses 248. C.J.S. Witnesses § 430.]

3.Patents. A patent applicant's response to an office action.

answer,vb.1. To respond to a question, a pleading, or a discovery request < the company failed to answer the interrogatories within 30 days>. [Cases: Pleading 76–100; Pretrial Procedure 301–306. C.J.S. Discovery §§ 63–70; Pleading §§ 159–162, 164, 166, 168–178, 202, 764, 769.] 2. To assume the liability of another .3. To pay (a debt or other liability) <she promised to answer damages out of her own estate>.

ANSWER DATE

answer date.See answer day under DAY.

ANSWER DAY

answer day.See DAY.

ANSWER IN SUBSIDIUM

answer in subsidium.Hist. In equity pleading, an answer supporting a plea.

ANTAPOCHA

antapocha (ant-ap-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>). [Latin “counter-receipt”] Roman & civil law. A counterpart to a receipt (i.e., an apocha), signed by the debtor and delivered to the creditor as proof of payment. Cf. APOCHA.

ANTE<TT>

ante (an-tee), prep. [Latin] Before. Cf. POST.

ANTEA

antea (an-tee-<<schwa>>), adv.[Latin] Formerly; heretofore.

ANTECEDENT

antecedent (an-t<<schwa>>-seed-<<schwa>>nt), adj. Earlier; preexisting; previous. — antecedent (preceding thing), n. — antecedenence (quality or fact of going before), n.

ANTECEDENT BASIS

antecedent basis. Patents. A general word or phrase in a patent claim or description to which a later specific word or phrase must refer. • Claims will be rejected as impermissibly vague or indefinite if the latter word is not clearly connected to its antecedent because the wording becomes ambiguous. In general, a term is first introduced with an indefinite article and is later referred to with the definite article (or said). [Cases: Patents 101(6).]

ANTECEDENT CLAIM

antecedent claim. A preexisting claim. • Under the UCC, a holder takes an instrument for value if it is taken for an antecedent claim. UCC § 3-303(a)(3).

ANTECEDENT DEBT

antecedent debt. See DEBT.

ANTECESSOR

antecessor (an-t<<schwa>>-ses-<<schwa>>r oran-t<<schwa>>-ses-<<schwa>>r), n. [Latin]
1. Roman law. A professor of law. 2. Hist. An ancestor. 3. Hist. A predecessor to an office.

ANTEDATE

antedate (an-ti-dayt), vb. 1. To affix with a date earlier than the true date; BACKDATE(1) <antedate a check>. 2. To precede in time <the doctrine antedates the Smith case by many years>. — Also termed predate. Cf. POSTDATE. — antedate, n.

ANTEDATING OF A PRIOR-ART REFERENCE

antedating of a prior-art reference. Patents. The removal of a publication, a U.S. patent, or a foreign patent cited as prior art against the application by filing an affidavit or declaration establishing the applicant's completion of the invention in this country, or in another NAFTA or WTO member country, before the effective date of the cited reference. • The term applies only to U.S. patent applications. An issued patent may also antedate a prior-art reference if the conception predates the prior art and the inventor used due diligence in reducing the concept to practice. — Also termed antedating a reference; swearing behind a prior-art reference; carrying back the date of invention. [Cases: Patents 62(1).]

ANTE EXHIBITIONEM BILLAE<TT>

ante exhibitionem billae (an-tee ek-si-bish-ee-oh-n<<schwa>>m bil-ee). Before the exhibition of the bill; i.e., before a suit has begun.

ANTE<TT> FACTUM

ante factum. A thing done before; a previous act or fact. — Also spelled ante-factum.

ANTE LITEM MOTAM<TT>

ante litem motam (an-tee II-tem moh-t<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin “before the lawsuit was started”] Hist. Before an action has been raised; before a legal dispute arose — i.e., at a time when the declarant had no motive to lie. • This phrase was generally used in reference to the evidentiary requirement that the acts upon which an action is based occur before the action is brought. In Scotland, the phrase also referred to the obligation of an estate intromitter to become confirmed as executor of the estate before a creditor could sue the estate. Otherwise, the intromitter could be held personally liable for the decedent's debts. — Sometimes shortened to ante litem.

ANTE MERIDIEM<TT>

ante meridiem (an-tee m<<schwa>>-rid-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Before noon. — Abbr. a.m.; A.M.

ANTE<TT> MORTEM

ante mortem. [Latin] Before death.

ANTE<TT> MORTEM INTEREST

ante mortem interest (an-tee mor-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An interest existing before (but not after) a transferor's death.

ANTE<TT> MORTEM STATEMENT

ante mortem statement. See dying declaration under DECLARATION(6).

ANTENATUS

antenatus (an-tee-nay-t<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] A person born before a certain political event that affected the person's political rights; esp., a person born before the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Cf. POST-NATUS. Pl. antenati.

ANTENUPTIAL

antenuptial (an-ti-n<<schwa>>p-sh<<schwa>>l), adj. See PRENUPTIAL.

ANTENUPTIAL AGREEMENT

ANTENUPTIAL CONTRACT

antenuptial contract. See PRENUPTIAL AGREEMENT.

ANTENUPTIAL GIFT

antenuptial gift. See prenuptial gift under GIFT.

ANTENUPTIAL WILL

antenuptial will. See prenuptial will under WILL.

ANTE OMNIA<TT>

ante omnia (an-tee ahm-nee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. 1. Before anything else is done; first of all. • Objections that could bar the litigation were usu. discussed ante omnia. 2. Above all other things.

ANTE REDDITAS RATIONES

ante redditas rationes (an-tee red-<<schwa>>-tas ray-shee-oh-nis or rash-ee). [Law Latin] Scots law. Before accounts are rendered. • A tutor could not file an action against a minor to recover payments unless the tutor first provided an accounting of the ward's estate.

ANTHROPOMETRY

anthropometry (an-thr<<schwa>>-pom-<<schwa>>-tree). A system of measuring the human body, esp. the size relationships among the different parts. • Before the advent of fingerprinting, minute measurements of the human body — taken and compared to other persons' measurements — were used to identify criminals and deceased persons. Cf. BERTILLON SYSTEM. — anthropometric,adj.

ANTI-ASSIGNMENT ACT

Anti-Assignment Act.A federal statute prohibiting the assignment or transfer of claims against the United States. 31 USCA § 3727.

ANTI-ASSIGNMENT-IN-GROSS RULE

anti-assignment-in-gross rule.Trademarks. The doctrine that an assignment of a mark without the goodwill symbolized by the mark is invalid. • Although trademark rights are not destroyed when a mark is assigned in gross, the failure of the assignor to continue to use the mark, coupled with an ineffective transfer, may result in abandonment. — See assignment in gross under ASSIGNMENT. [Cases: Trade Regulation 101.1. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 205.]

ANTIBOOTLEG

antibootleg,adj. Copyright. Of or pertaining to an effort to combat or discourage illegal recording, distribution, and sale of unauthorized reproductions of live and broadcast performances. • The federal antibootleg statute, 18 USCA § 2319A, and the antibootleg statutes of several states criminalize bootlegging activities. — antibootleg-ging,n. See ANTIBOOTLEG STATUTE .

ANTIBOOTLEG STATUTE

antibootleg statute.Copyright. A law, esp. a state law, that prohibits making, distributing, or selling an unauthorized recording of a live performance.

ANTICHRESIS

antichresis (an-ti-kree-sis). [Latin “in place of interest”] Roman & civil law. A mortgage in which the mortgagee retains possession of the mortgaged property and takes the fruits (such as rents) of the property in lieu of interest on the debt. La. Civ. Code art. 3176. [Cases: Mortgages 1. C.J.S. Mortgages §§ 2–6.]

“Under the Civil Code of Louisiana, taken from the Code Napoleon, there are two kinds of pledges: the pawn, when a movable is given as security, and the antichresis, when the security given consists in immovables or real estate. Under the latter the creditor acquires the right to take the rents and profits of the land, and to credit, annually, the same to the interest, and the surplus to the principal of the debt, and is bound to keep the estate in repair, and to pay the taxes. Upon default upon the part of the debtor, the creditor may prosecute the debtor, and obtain a decree for selling the land pledged.” 3 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *403–04 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

ANTICHURNING RULE

antichurning rule.Tax. A statutory or regulatory provision that denies certain tax advantages, esp. accelerated depreciation and amortization schedules, to taxpayers who acquire property in a transaction that does not result in a significant change in the property's ownership or use. See CHURNING(2).

ANTICIPATED

anticipated,adj. Patents. (Of a patent claim) having all the same elements of a prior-art reference. • If a claim is anticipated by a previous invention or publication, that claim is not allowable; if a patent has already been issued, it will be declared invalid. — Also termed fully met.

ANTICIPATED COMPROMIS anticipated compromis.See general compromis under COMPROMIS.

ANTICIPATION

anticipation. 1. The distribution or receipt of trust income before it is due. 2.Patents. The prior invention or disclosure of the claimed invention by another, or the inventor's own disclosure of the claimed invention by publication, sale, or offer to sell if that disclosure predates the date of the patent-application filing by more than one year. • By disproving the claim's novelty, anticipation bars the allowance of a claim and provides a defense to an action for infringement based on that claim. See NOVELTY(2). [Cases: Patents 50.1. C.J.S. Patents §§ 37, 40.] — anticipate,vb.

“Anticipation implies spoiling something for someone, by getting in ahead; obviously this can only be done by a device (or description of a device), and only to a patent.” Roger Sherman Hoar, Patent Tactics and the Law 51 (3d ed. 1950).

ANTICIPATORY BREACH

anticipatory breach.See BREACH OF CONTRACT.

ANTICIPATORY FILING

anticipatory filing.The bringing of a lawsuit or regulatory action against another with the expectation that the other party is preparing an action of its own. • If properly brought, an anticipatory filing may determine procedural matters such as jurisdiction and venue. See

FIRST-TO-FILE RULE; RACE TO THE COURTHOUSE.ANTICIPATORY NUISANCE

anticipatory nuisance. See NUISANCE.

ANTICIPATORY OFFENSE

anticipatory offense. See inchoate offense under OFFENSE(1).

ANTICIPATORY REPLICATION

anticipatory replication. See REPLICATION.

ANTICIPATORY REPUDIATION

anticipatory repudiation. See REPUDIATION.

ANTICIPATORY SEARCH WARRANT

anticipatory search warrant. See SEARCH WARRANT.

ANTIRCUMVENTION DEVICE

anticircumvention device. Copyright. An apparatus designed to prevent bypassing, avoiding, removing, deactivating, or impairing a technological measure that controls access to a work protected by copyright; an apparatus in a media player or receiver, such as a DVD player or a TV satellite dish, designed to prevent unauthorized use or duplication of copyrighted material.

ANTICOMPETITIVE CONDUCT

anticompetitive conduct. Antitrust. An act that harms or seeks to harm the market or the process of competition among businesses, and that has no legitimate business purpose.

ANTICONTEST CLAUSE

anticontest clause. See NO-CONTEST CLAUSE.

ANTICOUNTERFEITING CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT

Anticounterfeiting Consumer Protection Act. Copyright & trademarks. A federal law to discourage counterfeiting of trademarks and copyrighted merchandise such as computer programs, phonorecords, and motion pictures. • The law imposes criminal liability for trafficking in counterfeit goods and services (18 USCA § 2318), provides for the seizure of counterfeit goods (15 USCA § 1116(d)(9)), and provides enhanced statutory civil penalties (15 USCA § 1117(c)). — Abbr. ACPA.

ANTICYBERSQUATTING CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT

Anticybersquatting Consumer Protection Act. Trademarks. A 1999 federal law authorizing a trademark owner to obtain a federal-court order transferring ownership of a domain name from a cybersquatter to the trademark owner. • A mark's owner must show that (1) the mark and the domain name are identical or confusingly similar; (2) the mark was distinctive when the domain name was first registered; (3) the trademark's owner used the mark commercially before the domain name was registered; and (4) the domain registrant acted in bad faith and intended to profit from the trademark's use. Registering a domain name with the intent to sell it to the trademark owner is presumptively an act of bad faith. But if a defendant can prove a legitimate reason for the domain-name registration, the defendant may be allowed to keep the name. — Abbr. ACPA. — Also termed Trademark Cy-berpiracy Prevention Act. [Cases: Trade Regulation 628. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 298.]

ANTIDEFICIENCY LEGISLATION

antideficiency legislation. See LEGISLATION.

ANTIDEFICIENCY STATUTE

antideficiency statute. See antideficiency legislation under LEGISLATION.

ANTIDESTRUCTIBILITY STATUTE

antidestructibility statute. See DESTRUCTIBILITY OF CONTINGENT REMAINDERS.

ANTIDESTRUCION CLAUSE

antidestruction clause. A provision in a security protecting a shareholder's conversion rights, in the event of a merger, by granting the shareholder a right to convert the securities into the securities that will replace the company's stock when the merger is complete. See convertible security under SECURITY.

ANTIDILUTION ACT

antidilution act. Trademarks. A statute prohibiting actions that are likely to lessen, diminish, or erode a famous mark's capacity to identify and distinguish goods and services, without regard to whether the action creates a likelihood of confusion, mistake, or deception. • The Federal Trademark Dilution Act provides relief against another's commercial use of a mark or tradename that dilutes the distinctive quality of a famous mark. More than half the states also have antidilution statutes, which are based on the International Trademark Association's 1964 Model State Trademark Bill. — Also termed antidilution statute. [Cases: Trade Regulation 366. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 79.]

ANTIDILUTION PROVISION

antidilution provision. A convertible-security provision that safeguards the conversion privilege from share splits, share dividends, or other transactions that might affect the conversion ratio. See CONVERSION RATIO; DILUTION(2). [Cases: Corporations 66, 116. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 177–179, 233–240, 242.]

ANTIDISSECTION RULE

antidissection rule. Trademarks. A rule, applied in comparing potentially conflicting marks, that requires that the marks be compared as a whole or as they are viewed by consumers in the marketplace, not broken down into their component parts. • The antidissection rule does not preclude an analysis of the dominant and subordinate features of a mark to determine which features make the most significant impression on consumers, but the mark must still be considered in its entirety. See TOUT ENSEMBLE. [Cases: Trade Regulation 346.]

ANTIDUMPING LAW

antidumping law. A statute designed to protect domestic companies by preventing the sale of foreign goods at less than fair value, as defined in the statute (for example, at a price below that of the domestic market). See DUMPING. [Cases: Customs Duties 21.5. C.J.S. Customs Duties §§ 135–152.]

ANTIDUMPING TARIFF

antidumping tariff. See TARIFF(2).

ANTI-EVOLUTION STATUTE

anti-evolution statute. Hist. A law that forbids the teaching of the theory of evolution in schools. • Such statutes were held unconstitutional as violative of the Establishment Clause in Epperson v. Arkansas, 393 U.S. 97, 89 S.Ct. 266 (1968). — Also termed evolution statute. See CREATIONISM.

ANTIFRAUD RULE

antifraud rule. See RULE10b-5.

ANTIGRAPH

antigraph (an-ti-graf). Archaic. A copy or counterpart of an instrument.

ANTIGRAPHUS

antigraphus (an-tig-r<<schwa>>-f<<schwa>>s), n. [Law Latin] Hist. An officer who maintains tax revenues; a comptroller.

ANTIHAZING STATUTE

antihazing statute. A (usu. criminal) law that prohibits an organization or members of an organization from requiring a prospective member, as a condition of membership, to do or submit to any act that presents a substantial risk of physical or mental harm. • In 1874 Congress passed the first antihazing statute, directed at stopping hazing by midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy. Most states have passed their own antihazing statutes. — Also termed hazing statute.

ANTI-HEARTBALM STATUTE

anti-heartbalm statute. See HEARTBALM STATUTE.

ANTI-INJUNCTION ACT

Anti-Injunction Act. A federal statute providing that a federal court may not enjoin state-court proceedings unless an injunction is (1) expressly authorized by Congress, (2) necessary for the federal court's in rem jurisdiction, or (3) necessary to prevent relitigation of a judgment rendered by the federal court. 28 USCA § 2283. See NORRIS–LA GUARDIA ACT. [Cases: Courts 508. C.J.S. Courts §§ 216, 218–219.]

ANTI-JOHN LAW

anti-john law. A criminal-law statute punishing prostitutes' customers. [Cases: Prostitution 1. C.J.S. Prostitution and Related Offenses §§ 2–4, 8–13, 17, 21–24.]

ANTILAPSE STATUTE

antilapse statute. Wills & estates. A statute that substitutes certain heirs of some types of testamentary beneficiaries when the beneficiary has predeceased the testator and permits them to take the gift, which would otherwise fail and thus pass to the residuary beneficiary (if any) or to the intestate heirs. • Under the common law and the laws of all states, a testamentary beneficiary must survive a testator or else the gift is said to lapse. Although most states have enacted antilapse statutes, their terms vary from state to state. — Also termed lapse statute; nonlapse statute. [Cases: Wills 774–777. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1791–1808.]

ANTIMANIFESTO

antimanifesto. Int'l law. A proclamation in which a belligerent power asserts that the war is a defensive one for that power.

ANTIMARITAL-FACTS PRIVILEGE

antimarital-facts privilege. See marital privilege (2) under PRIVILEGE(3).

ANTINOMIA

antinomia (an-ti-noh-mee-⟨schwa⟩). [Greek] Roman law. An ambiguity in the law. See ANTINOMY.

ANTINOMY

antinomy (an-tin-⟨schwa⟩-mee), n. A contradiction in law or logic; esp., a conflict of authority, as between two decisions <antinomies in the caselaw>. — antinomic (an-ti-nom-ik), adj.

ANTIPIRACY

antipiracy, adj. Copyright & trademarks. Of or pertaining to an effort to combat or discourage illegal reproduction, distribution, or use of copyrighted or trademarked products <an antipiracy group>.

ANTIQUA CUSTUMA

antiqua custuma (an-ti-kw-⟨schwa⟩ k-⟨schwa⟩s-t[y]oo-m-⟨schwa⟩). [Law Latin “ancient customs”] Hist. A tax on wool, woolfells, and leather, under St. 3 Edw. • The distinction between antiqua custuma and nova custuma arose when the king imposed new taxes on the same articles in the 22nd year of his reign. Cf. NOVA CUSTUMA.

ANTIQUA ET NOVA

antiqua et nova (an-tī-kw<<schwa>> et noh-v<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. Old and new (rights).

“Antiqua et nova The technical terms in our law equivalent to these Latin terms are, heritage and conquest; heritage (antiqua) being that estate to which any one succeeds as heir; conquest (nova) that which he succeeds to or acquires by purchase, gift, or any singular title. The distinction between heritage and conquest is now abolished, 37 & 38 Vict. cap. 94, § 37.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 50 (4th ed. 1894).

ANTIQUARE

antiquare (an-ti-kwair-ee), vb.[Latin] Roman law. 1. To reject a proposal for a new law. • Those who voted against a proposed law wrote on their ballots the letter “A” for antiquo (“I am for the old law”). 2. To repeal a law.

ANTIQUA STATUTA

antiqua statuta (an-tī-kw<<schwa>> st<<schwa>>-t[y]oo-t<<schwa>>). See VETERA STATUTA .

ANTIQUUM DOMINICUM

antiquum dominicum (an-tī-kw<<schwa>>m d<<schwa>>-min-i-k<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Ancient demesne. See DEMESNE.

ANTIQUUS ET NOVUS EXTENTUS

antiquus et novus extentus (an-tī-kw<<schwa>>s et noh-v<<schwa>>s ek-sten-t<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Scots law. Old and new extent. • The phrase appeared in reference to the valuation of land for tax purposes, with old valuations assessed in the year 1280, and new valuations assessed several times after that date. Cf. QUANTUM NUNC VALENT; QUANTUM VALUERUNT TEMPORE PACIS.

ANTISHELVING CLAUSE

antishelving clause. Patents. A provision in a patent-licensing contract, usu. one in which payment is based on royalties, requiring the licensee to put the patented article into commercial use within a specified time and to notify the patentee if the licensee decides to stop selling or manufacturing it. • The licensee generally agrees to commercially exploit the patent or else risk losing the license or exclusivity. Antishelving clauses are also used in trademark licenses. — Also termed antishelving provision; shelving clause; shelving provision. [Cases: Patents 211(1). C.J.S. Patents § 348.]

ANTISOCIAL PERSONALITY DISORDER

antisocial personality disorder. See PSYCHOPATH.

ANTISPAMMING LAW

antispamming law. A statute enacted to combat or criminalize the sending of unsolicited commercial e-mail. • Many states have such a law. See SPAM.

ANTISUBROGATION RULE

antissubrogation rule (an-tee-s<<schwa>>b-roh-gay-sh<<schwa>>n). Insurance. The principle that an insurance carrier has no right of subrogation — that is, no right to assert a claim on behalf of the insured or for payments made under the policy — against its own insured for the risk covered by the policy. See SUBROGATION. [Cases: Insurance 3510. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1465–1466, 1489.]

ANTITAKEOVER STATUTE

antitakeover statute. A state law designed to protect companies based in the state from hostile takeovers.

ANTITHETARIUS

antithetarius (an-tith-<<schwa>>-tair-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. An accused person who asserts that his or her accuser is guilty of the crime. Cf. APPROVER(1).

ANTITRUST CIVIL PROCESS ACT

Antitrust Civil Process Act. A federal law prescribing the procedures for an antitrust action by way of a petition in U.S. district court. 15 USCA §§ 1311 et seq.

ANTITRUST GUIDELINES FOR THE LICENSING OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Antitrust Guidelines for the Licensing of Intellectual Property. A set of criteria, jointly issued by the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Justice Department and the FTC, that those agencies apply in deciding whether to initiate an investigation or enforcement action as a result of restrictions in patent, copyright, trade-secret, and know-how licenses. 4 Trade Reg. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 13,132 (Apr. 6, 1995).

ANTITRUST LAW

antitrust law. 1. The body of law designed to protect trade and commerce from restraints, monopolies, price-fixing, and price discrimination. • The principal federal antitrust laws are the Sherman Act (15 USCA §§ 1–7) and the Clayton Act (15 USCA §§ 12–27).

“As legislative history and case law both disclose, the general objective of the antitrust laws is the maintenance of competition. Competition per se thus becomes a goal of the legal order. Yet, competition is not a concept which defines itself; notions about the desirability of competition may shape judgments about how the law should apply, at least at its indistinct edges.” Lawrence A. Sullivan, Handbook of the Law of Antitrust § 5, at 20 (1977).

2. (cap.) SHERMAN ANTITRUST ACT.

ANTLIKE PERSISTENCY

antlike persistency. Patents. Slang. The steady tenacity of a patent solicitor who tries to wear down the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office by prosecuting patent claims until the PTO eventually relents. • Judge Learned Hand coined this pejorative expression in Lyon v. Boh, 1 F.2d 48, 49–50 (S.D.N.Y. 1924).

AO

AO.abbr.ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES COURTS.

AOC

AOC.abbr.1.ANNO ORBIS CONDITI. 2. And other consideration. See other consideration under CONSID-ERATION.

AOD

AOD.abbr.ACTION ON DECISION.

AOGI

AOGI.abbr.See adjusted ordinary gross income under INCOME.

AOUSC

AOUSC.abbr. ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES COURTS.

APA

APA.abbr. 1.ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE ACT. 2.ADVANCE PRICING AGREEMENT.

A PAIS

a pais (ah payor-pays). [Law French] Hist. At or to the country; at issue.

A PARI

a pari (ay par-I). [Law Latin] Hist. Equally; in like manner.

APARTHEID

apartheid (<<schwa>>-pahrt-hayt or <<schwa>>-pahr-tIt). Racial segregation; specif., a comprehensive go-vernmental policy of racial discrimination and segregation, as it was practiced in South Africa.

APERTUM BREVE

apertum breve.See BREVE.

APERTUM FACTUM

apertum factum (<<schwa>>-p<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>m fak-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “open deed”] An overt act.

APERTURA TESTAMENTI

apertura testamenti (ap-<<schwa>>r-t[y]oor-<<schwa>> tes-t<<schwa>>-men-tI). [Latin “opening of the tes-tament”] Roman law. A procedure for proving a will by which the witnesses acknowledged their signatures and seal before a magistrate and the will was opened and publicly read.

APEX DEPOSITION

apex deposition. See DEPOSITION.

APEX JURIS

apex juris (ay-peks joor-is). [Latin “summit of law”] An extreme point or subtlety of law, such as a merely technical objection in pleading or an extreme interpretation of a doctrine. Cf. APICES LITIGANDI.

APEX RULE

apex rule. Mining law. The principle that a vein of ore may be mined if it extends beyond the vertical boundaries of the surface claim on which the vein apexes. — Also termed extralateral right. Cf. INTRALIMINAL RIGHT. [Cases: Mines and Minerals 30. C.J.S. Mines and Minerals § 69.]

APH

APH. abbr. AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND.

APHIS

APHIS. abbr. ANIMAL AND PLANT HEALTH INSPECTION SERVICE.

APICES LITIGANDI

apices litigandi (ay-pi-seez lit-i-gan-dI). [Law Latin] Extremely fine points (or subtleties) of litigation. Cf. APEX JURIS.

APJ

APJ. abbr. See administrative patent judge under JUDGE.

APOCHA

apocha (ap-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>). Roman & civil law. A receipt acknowledging payment.

- An apocha discharges only the obligation represented by the payment, in contrast to an acceptilation, which discharges an entire debt. — Also spelled apoca. Cf. ACCEPTILATION; ANTAPOCHA.

APOCHAE ONERATORIAE

apochae oneratoriae (ap-<<schwa>>-kee oh-n<<schwa>>r-ay-tor-ee-ee). [Law Latin “cargo receipt”] Hist. Bills of lading.

APOCHA TRIUM ANNORUM

apocha trium annorum (ap-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-k⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩ trɪ-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩m ⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-nor-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩m). [Latin “receipt for three years”] Scots law. Hist. Receipts for three consecutive periodic payments, the production of which gave rise to a presumption that prior installments had been properly paid.

“The production by the debtor of receipts for the last three consecutive installments of a termly payment, such as feu-duty, rent, wages or interest, raises a presumption, the apocha trium annorum, rebuttable by parol evidence, that all prior instalments have been duly paid. The same inference is not justified by one receipt, even for three or more instalments. Nor do receipts for three instalments justify an inference that a bill, granted for earlier arrears, has been paid.” 2 David M. Walker, Principles of Scottish Private Law 143 (4th ed. 1988).

APOCRISARIUS

apocrisarius (⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-pɒk-ri-sair-ee-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s), n.[Latin] Hist. Eccles. law. 1. An ambassador; a mes-senger, such as a Pope's legate. 2. One who answers for another; esp., an officer who presented church matters to the emperor and conveyed the answers to the petitioners. 3. One who, upon consultation, gives advice in eccle-siastical matters. — Also termed responsalis; a responsis; secretarius; consiliarius; referendarius; a consiliis.

APOGRAPHA

apographa (⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-pɒg-r⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-f⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩), n. pl.[fr. Greek apographein “to copy”] 1.Civil law. An examination and enumeration of things possessed; an inventory. 2. Copies; transcripts. — apographal,adj.

APOSTASY

apostasy (⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-pɒs-t⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-see).1.Hist. A crime against religion consisting in the total renunciation of Christianity by one who had previously embraced it. 2.Eccles. law. Abandonment of religious vows without dispensation.

APOSTATA CAPIENDO

apostata capiendo.See DE APOSTATA CAPIENDO.

APOSTATE

apostate (⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-pɒs-tayt). A person who has forsaken religion or a particular religion. — Also termed (archaically) apostata (ap-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-stay-t⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩).

A POSTERIORI

a posteriori (ay pos-teer-ee-or-Ior ah pos-teer-ee-or-ee), adv.[Latin “from what comes after”] Inductively; from the particular to the general, or from known effects to their inferred causes <as a legal analyst, she reasoned a posteriori — from countless individual cases to generalized rules that she finally applied>. Cf. A PRIORI. — a posteriori,adj.

APOSTILLE

apostille (<<schwa>>-pos-til). [French “postscript, footnote”] Int'l law. A marginal note or observation; esp., a standard certification provided under the Hague Convention for authenticating documents used in foreign countries. — Also spelled apostil. See CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY(1).

APOSTLE

apostle (<<schwa>>-pos-<<schwa>>l), n. Civil & maritime law. 1. A letter sent from a trial court to an appellate court, stating the case on appeal. 2. The record or papers sent up on appeal. — Also termed apostoli. 3.DIMISSORY LETTERS .

APOSTOLUS

apostolus (<<schwa>>-pos-t<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>s), n.[fr. Greek apostolos “one sent from another”] Hist. A messenger, ambassador, legate, or nuncio. Pl. apostoli (<<schwa>>-pos-t<<schwa>>-ll).

APOTHECA

apotheca (ap-<<schwa>>-thee-k<<schwa>>), n.[fr. Greek apotheke “store”] Civil law. A repository, as for wine or books. Pl. apothecae.

APPARATUS

apparatus. See MACHINE.

APPARATUS CLAIM

apparatus claim.See PATENT CLAIM.

APPARATUS LIMITATION

apparatus limitation.Patents. The inclusion of a structure or physical apparatus in a method or process claim. • An apparatus limitation, while not objectionable, carries little weight toward establishing the patentability of a method or process claim.

APPARENT

apparent,adj.1. Visible; manifest; obvious. 2. Ostensible; seeming.

APPARENT AGENCY

apparent agency.See agency by estoppel under AGENCY(1).

APPARENT AGENT

apparent agent.See AGENT(2).

APPARENT ASSENT

apparent assent.See ASSENT.

APPARENT AUTHORITY

apparent authority. See AUTHORITY(1).

APPARENT DANGER

apparent danger. See DANGER.

APPARENT DEFECT

apparent defect. See patent defect under DEFECT.

APPARENT EASEMENT

apparent easement. See EASEMENT.

APPARENT HEIR

apparent heir. See heir apparent under HEIR.

APPARENT PRINCIPAL

apparent principal. See PRINCIPAL(1).

APPARENT SERVITUDE

apparent servitude. See SERVITUDE(2).

APPARENT TITLE

apparent title. See COLOR OF TITLE.

APPARITOR

apparitor (<<schwa>>-par-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r or -tor). 1. Roman law. (ital.) An officer who served a court, esp. as secretary, messenger (viator), or herald. — Also termed viator. 2. Civil law. An officer who attends court to execute judicial orders. 3. Eccles. law. An officer who executes orders and decrees, esp. by serving summonses.

APPARLEMENT

apparlement (<<schwa>>-pahrl-m<<schwa>>nt), n. [Law French] Hist. Likelihood, as in the apparlement of war.

APPARURA

apparura (ap-<<schwa>>-ruur-<<schwa>>), n. [fr. Law Latin apparare “to furnish”] Hist. Furniture, apparel, implements, or tackle.

APPEAL

appeal, n. 1. A proceeding undertaken to have a decision reconsidered by a higher authority; esp., the submission of a lower court's or agency's decision to a higher court for review and possible reversal <the case is on appeal>. — Also termed petition in error; (in Scots law) falsing of dooms. See CERTIORARI. [Cases: Appeal and Error 1. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 2, 14.]

appeal as of right. See appeal by right.

appeal by application. An appeal for which permission must first be obtained from the reviewing court. — Also termed appeal by leave. [Cases: Appeal and Error 358. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 63, 81, 298–299, 312.]

appeal by right. An appeal to a higher court from which permission need not be first obtained. — Also termed appeal as of right; appeal of right. [Cases: Appeal and Error 358. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 63, 81, 298–299, 312.]

appeal de novo. An appeal in which the appellate court uses the trial court's record but reviews the evidence and law without deference to the trial court's rulings. — Also termed de novo review; de novo judicial review. [Cases: Appeal and Error 892. C.J.S. Appeal and Error § 756.]

appeal from the decision of the chair. Parliamentary law. A motion by which a member invokes the assembly's right of reviewing its chair's decision on a point of order. — Also termed appeal from the ruling of the chair.

appeal from the ruling of the chair. See appeal from the decision of the chair.

appeal in forma pauperis (in for-m<<schwa>> paw-p<<schwa>>r-is). An appeal by an indigent party, for whom court costs are waived. Fed. R. App. P. 24. See IN FORMA PAUPERIS. [Cases: Appeal and Error 389. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 322–323.]

consolidated appeal. An appeal in which two or more parties, whose interests were similar enough to make a joinder practicable, proceed as a single appellant. [Cases: Appeal and Error 325, 328, 816. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 234–235, 238, 671.]

cross-appeal. An appeal by the appellee, usu. heard at the same time as the appellant's appeal. [Cases: Appeal and Error 14(4). C.J.S. Appeal and Error § 27.]

delayed appeal. An appeal that takes place after the time for appealing has expired, but only when the reviewing court has granted permission because of special circumstances. [Cases: Appeal and Error 356, 357. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 264, 288–290.]

devolutive appeal (di-vol-y<<schwa>>-tiv). An appeal that does not suspend the execution of the underlying judgment.

direct appeal. An appeal from a trial court's decision directly to the jurisdiction's highest court, thus bypassing review by an intermediate appellate court. • Such an appeal may be authorized, for example, when the case involves the constitutionality of a state law.

duplicious appeal. An appeal from two separate judgments, from a judgment and an order, or from two orders. [Cases: Appeal and Error 422. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 371, 375, 380.]

frivolous appeal. An appeal having no legal basis, usu. filed for delay to induce a judgment creditor to settle or to avoid payment of a judgment. • Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 38 provides for the award of damages and costs if the appellate court determines that an appeal is frivolous. Fed. R. App. P. 38. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2839, 2840.]

interlocutory appeal. An appeal that occurs before the trial court's final ruling on the entire case. 28 USCA § 1292(b). • Some interlocutory appeals involve legal points necessary to the determination of the case, while others involve collateral orders that are wholly separate from the merits of the action. See INTERLOCUTORY APPEALS ACT; FINAL-JUDGMENT RULE. [Cases: Appeal and Error 68. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 82–84.]

judgment-roll appeal. An appeal based only on the pleadings, the findings of the court, and the judgment.

limited appeal. An appeal from only certain portions of a decision, usu. only the adverse or unfavorable portions.

precautionary appeal. See protective appeal.

protective appeal. A precautionary appeal filed by counsel when the client might otherwise lose an effective right to appeal. • A protective appeal is typically filed when (1) a client's motion to intervene has been denied, and the trial court is entering other orders that the client wants to appeal, (2) counsel has doubts about where to appeal, (3) counsel has doubts about the length of the appeal period, or (4) the client must preserve uncertain or contingent rights. — Also termed precautionary appeal.

suspensive appeal. An appeal that stays the execution of the underlying judgment. [Cases: Appeal and Error 458. C.J.S. Appeal and Error § 411.]

2.Hist. The charging of someone with a crime; specif., an accusation of a crime, esp. treason or a felony.

appeal, vb. 1. To seek review (from a lower court's decision) by a higher court <petitioner appeals the conviction>. 2.Hist. To charge with a crime; accuse. — appealability, n.

APPEALABLE DECISION

appealable decision. See DECISION.

APPEAL AS OF RIGHT

appeal as of right. See appeal by right under APPEAL.

APPEAL BOND

appeal bond. See BOND(2).

APPEAL BRIEF

appeal brief. See BRIEF.

APPEAL BY LEAVE

appeal by leave. See appeal by application under APPEAL.

APPEAL BY RIGHT

appeal by right. See APPEAL.

APPEAL COURT

appeal court. See appellate court under COURT.

APPEAL DE NOVO

appeal de novo. See APPEAL.

APPEALER

appealer. Archaic. APPELLANT.

APPEAL FROM THE CHAIR

appeal from the chair. Parliamentary law. An assembly member's formal objection to a decision made by the chair. • If the appeal is seconded, the chair must state what question was answered and explain the reasons for the chair's decision, then allow the members present to vote in support of or against that decision.

APPEAL IN FORMA PAUPERIS

appeal in forma pauperis. See APPEAL.

APPEAL OF FELONY

appeal of felony. Hist. A procedure by which a person accused another of a crime, demanded proof of innocence by wager of battle, or informed against an accomplice. — Also termed appellum de felonia.

APPEAL OF RIGHT

appeal of right. See appeal by right under APPEAL.

APPEALS COUNCIL

appeals council. A commission that hears appeals of rulings by administrative-law judges in social-security matters. [Cases: Social Security and Public Welfare 8.15, 142.5. C.J.S. Social Security and Public Welfare §§ 14–15, 73–74.]

APPEALS COURT

appeals court. See appellate court under COURT.

APPEARANCE

appearance, n. Procedure. A coming into court as a party or interested person, or as a lawyer on behalf of a party or interested person; esp., a defendant's act of taking part in a lawsuit, whether by formally participating in it or by an answer, demurrer, or motion, or by taking postjudgment steps in the lawsuit in either the trial court or an appellate court. [Cases: Appearance 1–29; Federal Civil Procedure 561–574. C.J.S. Appearances §§ 2–59.] — appear, vb.

“The English courts did not, until modern times, claim jurisdiction over the person of the defendant merely by service of summons upon him. It was deemed necessary to resort to further process by attachment of his property and arrest of his person to compel ‘appearance,’ which is not mere presence in court, but some act by which a person who is sued submits himself to the authority and jurisdiction of the court. Any steps in the action, such as giving bail upon arrest, operated as an appearance or submission.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Com-mon-Law Pleading § 5, at 24 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

“The term ‘appearance’ is used particularly to signify or designate the overt act by which one against whom suit has been commenced submits himself to the court’s jurisdiction, although in a broader sense it embraces the act of either plaintiff or defendant in coming into court An appearance may be expressly made by formal written or oral declaration, or record entry, or it may be implied from some act done with the intention of appearing and submitting to the court’s jurisdiction.” 4 Am. Jur. 2d Appearance § 1, at 620 (1995).

appearance de bene esse. See special appearance.

appearance pro hac vice (proh hak vI-see or proh hahk vee-chay). [Latin] An appearance made by an out-of-state lawyer for one particular case, usu. by leave of court. • For more on the pronunciation of this term, see PRO HAC VICE. [Cases: Attorney and Client 10. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 26–28.]

appearance under protest. English & Canadian law. See special appearance.

compulsory appearance. An appearance by one who is required to appear by having been served with process. [Cases: Appearance 1. C.J.S. Appearances §§ 2–4, 6.]

general appearance. A general-purpose appearance that waives a party’s ability later to dispute the court’s au-thority to enter a binding judgment against him or her. [Cases: Appearance 8(1), 19(1); Federal Civil Pro-cedure 566. C.J.S. Appearances §§ 6, 13, 18–19, 21–22, 24, 30, 34, 39, 53.]

initial appearance. A criminal defendant’s first appearance in court to hear the charges read, to be advised of his or her rights, and to have bail determined. • The initial appearance is usu. required by statute to occur without undue delay. In a misdemeanor case, the initial appearance may be combined with the arraignment. See ARRAIGNMENT. [Cases: Arrest 70; Criminal Law 261–264. C.J.S. Arrest §§ 61–64; Criminal Law §§ 355, 357–360, 362–363.]

limited appearance. See special appearance.

special appearance. 1. A defendant’s pleading that either claims that the court lacks personal jurisdiction over the defendant or objects to improper service of process. 2. A defendant’s showing up in court for the sole purpose of contesting the court’s assertion of personal jurisdiction over the defendant. • Special appearances have been abolished in federal court. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b). — Also termed limited appearance; appearance de bene esse; (in English & Canadian law) appearance under protest. [Cases: Appearance 9(2, 3); Federal Civil Procedure 565. C.J.S. Appearances §§ 4, 7, 23, 25–28.]

voluntary appearance. An appearance entered by a party's own will, without the service of process. [Cases: Ap-pearance 1. C.J.S. Appearances §§ 2–4, 6.]

APPEARANCE BOND

appearance bond. See bail bond under BOND(2).

APPEARANCE DATE

appearance date. See answer day under DAY.

APPEARANCE DAY

appearance day. See answer day under DAY.

APPEARANCE DE BENE ESSE

appearance de bene esse. See special appearance under APPEARANCE.

APPEARANCE DOCKET

appearance docket. See DOCKET(1).

APPEARANCE DOCTRINE

appearance doctrine. In the law of self-defense, the rule that a defendant's use of force is justified if the defendant reasonably believed it to be justified. [Cases: Assault and Battery 67; Homicide 795. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 87–92.]

APPEARANCE PRO HAC VICE

appearance pro hac vice. See APPEARANCE.

APPEARANCE TERM

appearance term. See TERM(5).

APPEARANCE TICKET

appearance ticket. See CITATION(2).

APPEARANCE UNDER PROTEST

appearance under protest. English & Canadian law. See special appearance under APPEARANCE.

APPELLANT

appellant (<<schwa>>-pel-<<schwa>>nt). A party who appeals a lower court's decision, usually seeking reversal of that decision. — Formerly also termed appealer. Cf. APPELLEE. [Cases: Appeal and Error 321. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 232–233.]

APPELLATE

appellate (<<schwa>>-pel-it), adj. Of or relating to an appeal or appeals generally.

APPELLATE BRIEF

appellate brief. See BRIEF(1).

APPELLATE COUNSEL

appellate counsel. See COUNSEL.

APPELLATE COURT

appellate court. See COURT.

APPELLATE DIVISION

appellate division. A department of a superior court responsible for hearing appeals; an intermediate appellate court in some states, such as New York and New Jersey. [Cases: Courts 50. C.J.S. Courts § 106.]

APPELLATE JURISDICTION

appellate jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

APPELLATE RECORD

appellate record. See RECORD ON APPEAL.

APPELLATE REVIEW

appellate review. See REVIEW.

APPELLATE RULES

appellate rules. A body of rules governing appeals from lower courts. [Cases: Courts 80(4).]

APPELLATIO

appellatio (ap-<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh), n. [Latin] Roman law. An appeal from a lower court. Pl. appellationes (ap-<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh-nee).

APPELLATION OF ORIGIN

appellation of origin. Trademarks. Representation of a product's geographic origin by use of a mark — such as a symbol, word, phrase, or graphic element such as a map — whose use is regulated to ensure that the product so marked reflects some well-known feature peculiar to the region. • This term usu. applies to a product whose quality or some characteristic feature has been gained by natural means, such as by the nature of the local climate or soil, or by the nature of the way it is made, such as by local customs of production. For example, the appellation burgundy can be used only for wines made from certain types of varietal grapes from particular regions of France. [Cases: Trade Regulation 32.1. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 55.]

APPELLATOR

appellator (ap-<<schwa>>-lay-t*<<schwa>>*r), n. [Latin] Roman & civil law. An appellant.

APPELLEE

appellee (ap-<<schwa>>-lee). A party against whom an appeal is taken and whose role is to respond to that appeal, usu. seeking affirmance of the lower court's decision. See RESPONDENT. Cf. APPELLANT. [Cases: Appeal and Error 326. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 232–233, 238.]

APPELLO

appello (<<schwa>>-pel-oh), vb. [Latin] Roman law. I appeal. • This was the form of making an appeal apud acta (in the presence of the judge).

APPELLOR

appellor (<<schwa>>-pel-or or ap-<<schwa>>-lor). Hist. English law. A person who formally accuses another of a crime, challenges a jury, or informs against an accomplice.

APPELLUM DE FELONIA

appellum de felonia. See APPEAL OF FELONY.

APPENDANT

appendant (<<schwa>>-pen-d*<<schwa>>*nt), adj. Attached or belonging to property as an additional but sub-sidiary right. — appendant, n.

APPENDANT CLAIM

appendant claim. See dependent claim under PATENT CLAIM.

APPENDANT EASEMENT

appendant easement. See easement appurtenant under EASEMENT.

APPENDANT POWER

appendant power. See POWER(5).

APPENDITIA

appenditia (ap-en-dish-ee-<<schwa>>), n. [Law Latin] Hist. The appendages or appurtenances of an estate.

APPENDIX

appendix, n. 1. A supplementary document attached to the end of a writing <the brief includes an appendix of exhibits>. • For the requirements of an appendix to a federal appellate brief, see Fed. R. App. P. 30. 2. English law. A volume that contains material documents and other evidence presented in a lower court. • The volume is used by the House of Lords or Privy Council when functioning as an appellate tribunal. Pl. appendixes, appendices.

APPENSURA

appensura (ap-en-s[y]oor-<<schwa>>), n.[fr. Latin appendere “to weigh out”] Hist. The payment of money by weight rather than by count.

APPLICABLE EXCLUSION AMOUNT

applicable exclusion amount.Tax. The dollar value of an estate that is exempt from federal estate and gift taxes. See unified estate-and-gift-tax credit under TAX CREDIT.

APPLICABLE EXCLUSION CREDIT

applicable exclusion credit.See unified estate-and-gift-tax credit under TAX CREDIT .

APPLICANDO SINGULA SINGULIS

applicando singula singulis (ap-li-kan-doh sing-gy<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> sing-gy<<schwa>>-lis). [Law Latin] Hist. By applying each to each; to apply each condition to. • The phrase was used in deed constructions.

APPLICANT

applicant. 1. One who requests something; a petitioner, such as a person who applies for letters of administration. 2.ACCOUNT PARTY.

APPLICATION

application. 1. A request or petition. See COPYRIGHT APPLICATION; PATENT APPLICATION ; TRADEMARK APPLICATION. 2.MOTION.

ex parte application.See ex parte motion under MOTION(1).

interlocutory application.A motion for equitable or legal relief sought before a final decision.

3.Bankruptcy. A request for an order not requiring advance notice and an opportunity for a hearing before the order is issued. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2156. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 26.]

APPLICATION DIVISION

Application Division.Patents. The part of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office that is responsible for accepting patent applications, assigning them serial numbers, checking them for completeness and formalities, placing them in file wrappers, and assigning them to appropriate art groups based on class and subclass of technology.

APPLICATION FOR A REISSUE PATENT application for a reissue patent.See PATENT APPLICATION.

APPLICATION FOR LEAVE TO APPEAL

application for leave to appeal.A motion requesting an appellate court to hear a party's appeal from a judgment when the party has no appeal by right or when the party's time limit for an appeal by right has expired. • The reviewing court has discretion whether to grant or reject such a motion. [Cases: Appeal and Error 361; Federal Courts 660. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 300–302, 304.]

APPLICATION NUMBER

application number. Patents & trademarks. The eight-digit sequential number assigned by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office to a patent or trademark application. • Applications are typically referred to by application number, which consists of a two-digit series code, a slash, and a six-digit serial number. References to patent applications also include the filing date < application no. 08/944,183, filed September 20, 1978>. — Also termed serial number.

APPLICATION SERVICE PROVIDER

application service provider. A business that hosts software on its computers and gives subscribers access as needed. • The subscriber does not need to purchase a license to use the software before the provider sends it to the subscriber's computer, usu. over the Internet or a private electronic network. — Abbr. ASP.

APPLIED-ART DOCTRINE

applied-art doctrine. Copyright. The rule that a pictorial, graphic, or sculptural work that has an inherent use apart from its appearance, and is also an expressive work apart from its utility, may qualify for copyright protection. • Examples have included bookends, lamps, and sundials. In contrast to applied art, industrial designs are not copyrightable, although they may be protected by design patents instead. — Also termed useful-article doctrine. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 4. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property §§ 9–10, 16.]

APPLIED COST

applied cost. See COST(1).

APPLY

apply, vb. 1. To make a formal request or motion <apply for a loan> <apply for injunctive relief>. 2. To employ for a limited purpose <apply payments to a reduction in interest>. 3. To put to use with a particular subject matter < apply the law to the facts> <apply the law only to transactions in interstate commerce>.

APPOINTED COUNSEL

appointed counsel. See assigned counsel under COUNSEL.

APPOINTEE

appointee. 1. One who is appointed. 2. One who receives the benefit of a power of appointment. See POWER OF APPOINTMENT. [Cases: Powers 1. C.J.S. Powers § 2.]

permissible appointee. A person to whom appointive property may be assigned under a power of appointment. — Also termed object of the power of appointment; object of the power; object of a power.

APPOINTIVE ASSET

appointive asset. See ASSET.

APPOINTIVE PROPERTY

appointive property. See PROPERTY.

APPOINTMENT

appointment, n. 1. The designation of a person, such as a nonelected public official, for a job or duty; esp., the naming of someone to a nonelected public office <Article II of the U.S. Constitution grants the President the power of appointment for principal federal officials, subject to senatorial consent>. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 8; United States 35. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees § 47; United States §§ 23, 53, 56–57.]

public appointment. An appointment to a public office. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 8. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees § 47.]

2. An office occupied by someone who has been appointed . 3. Parliamentary law. The naming of an officer, the members of a committee, or the holder of any other title in an organization by means other than the organization's election. 4. The act of disposing of property, in exercise of a power granted for that purpose <the tenant's appointment of lands>. See POWER OF APPOINTMENT. [Cases: Powers 1. C.J.S. Powers § 2.] — appoint, vb. — appointer (for senses 1–3), n. — appointor (for sense 4), n.

illusory appointment. A nominal, unduly restrictive, or conditional transfer of property under a power of appointment. [Cases: Powers 36(3). C.J.S. Powers § 21.]

“Like many other theories which are very plausible in the abstract, experience has shown that the doctrine of illusory appointments is difficult in application, since the term ‘illusory’ is vague and indefinite. And, because of the difficulty of formulating rules for determining what is an illusory appointment and the evils resulting from attempts to substitute the judicial will for the intent of the donor and donee of the power, the doctrine has been condemned or rejected by many courts.” 62 Am. Jur. 2d Powers of Appointment § 186 (1990).

APPOINTMENTS CLAUSE

Appointments Clause. The clause of the U.S. Constitution giving the President the power to nominate federal judges and various other officials. U.S. Const. art. II, § 2. [Cases: United States 35. C.J.S. United States §§ 23, 53, 56–57.]

APPORT

apport (<<schwa>>-port), n. [Law French] Hist. A tax, expense, tribute, or payment.

APPORTIONMENT

apportionment, n. 1. Division into proportionate shares; esp., the division of rights and liabilities between two or more persons or entities. 2. Tax law. The act of allocating or attributing moneys or expenses in a given way, as when a taxpayer allocates part of profits to a particular tax year or part of the use of a personal asset to a business. [Cases: Taxation 1005. C.J.S. Taxation § 1719.] 3. Distribution of legislative seats among districts; esp., the allocation of congressional representatives among the states based on population, as required by the 14th Amendment. • The claim that a state is denying the right of representation to its citizens through improper ap-portionment presents a justiciable issue. — Also termed legislative apportionment. See REAPPORTIONMENT. [Cases: Elections 12(6).] 4. The division (by statute or by the testator's instruction) of an estate-tax liability among persons interested in an estate. — apportion,vb.

APPORTIONMENT CLAUSE

apportionment clause.Insurance. A policy provision that distributes insurance proceeds in proportion to the total coverage. [Cases: Insurance 2193.C.J.S. Insurance § 1117.]

APPORTIONMENT OF LIABILITY

apportionment of liability.Torts. The parceling out of liability for an injury among multiple tortfeasors, and possibly the plaintiff as well. • Apportionment of liability encompasses such legal doctrines as joint and several liability, comparative responsibility, indemnity, and settlements. See Restatement (Third) of Torts: Apportionment of Liability (1999). [Cases: Negligence 484, 549; Torts 22. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 154–156, 262–264; Torts §§ 39–44.]

APPORTIONMENT RULE

apportionment rule.Oil & gas. The minority doctrine that royalties accrued under an oil-and-gas lease on land that is subdivided during the lease term must be shared by the landowners in proportion to their interests in the land. • For example, if Grey granted a lease to Simms, then sold one-half of the land to Metcalfe, Simms and Metcalfe would each be entitled to one-half of any royalty from the land, no matter where the producing well was located. Only California, Mississippi, and Pennsylvania follow this rule. Cf. NONAPPORTIONMENT RULE.

APPORTUM

apportum (<<schwa>>-por-t<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin] Hist. The revenue, profit, or emolument that something brings to its owner. • This was often used in reference to a pension.

APPOSE

appose (<<schwa>>-pohz), vb. Hist. 1.To interrogate, esp. with difficult questions. 2. To confront (someone) with objections to something. 3. To examine the books and accounts of; audit.

APPOSER

apposer (<<schwa>>-pohz-<<schwa>>r).Hist. 1. A questioner; interrogator. 2. An Exchequer officer who ex-aminated sheriffs' accounts; specif., an officer responsible for examining the sheriff's estreat (book of fines), comparing the entries with those in court records, and apposing (interrogating) the sheriff on each sum in the estreat. • This office was abolished in England in 1833. — Also termed foreign apposer.

APPOSITE

apposite (ap-<<schwa>>-zit), adj. Suitable; appropriate.

APPRAISAL

appraisal,n.1. The determination of what constitutes a fair price; valuation; estimation of worth. 2. The report of such a determination. — Also termed appraisalment. Cf. ASSESSMENT(3). — appraise,vb.

APPRAISAL CLAUSE

appraisal clause.An insurance-policy provision allowing either the insurer or the insured to demand an independent estimation of a claimed loss. [Cases: Insurance 3249. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1379–1380.]

APPRAISAL REMEDY

appraisal remedy.The statutory right of corporate shareholders who oppose some extraordinary corporate action (such as a merger) to have their shares judicially appraised and to demand that the corporation buy back their shares at the appraised value. — Also termed appraisal right; dissenters' right; right of dissent and appraisal. [Cases: Corporations 182.4(5), 584. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 348, 799–801.]

APPRAISAL TRINITY

appraisal trinity.The three most commonly accepted methods of appraising real property: the market approach, the cost approach, and the income approach. See MARKET APPROACH; COST APPROACH; INCOME APPROACH. [Cases: Evidence 601(4). C.J.S. Evidence §§ 1338, 1346–1350.]

APPRAISEMENT

appraisalment. 1.APPRAISAL. 2. An ADR method used for resolving the amount or extent of liability on a contract when the issue of liability itself is not in dispute. • Unlike arbitration, appraisalment is not a quasi-judicial proceeding but instead an informal determination of the amount owed on a contract. [Cases: Arbitration 1. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 2–3.]

APPRAISER

appraiser. An impartial person who estimates the value of something, such as real estate, jewelry, or rare books. — Also termed valuer.

merchant appraiser.See MERCHANT APPRAISER.

APPRECIABLE

appreciable,adj. Capable of being measured or perceived.

APPRECIATE

appreciate,vb.1. To understand the significance or meaning of. 2. To increase in value.

APPRECIATION

appreciation,n. An increase in an asset's value, usu. because of inflation. Cf.

DEPRECIATION. — appreciate,vb. — appreciable,adj.

APPRECIATION SURPLUS

appreciation surplus.See revaluation surplus under SURPLUS.

APPRECIATION TEST

appreciation test.Criminal law. A test for the insanity defense requiring proof by clear and convincing evidence that at the time of the crime, the defendant suffered from a severe mental disease or defect preventing him or her from appreciating the wrongfulness of the conduct. • This test, along with the accompanying plea of not guilty by reason of insanity, was established by the Insanity Defense Reform Act of 1984. 18 USCA § 17. — Also termed Insanity Defense Reform Act of 1984 test. See INSANITY DEFENSE. [Cases: Criminal Law 48.]

APPREHENSIO

apprehensio (ap-ri-hen-see-oh). [Latin] 1.APPREHENSION(1).2.Civil law. Seizure; a procedure for acquiring something that belongs to no one. • It is a type of occupatio.

APPREHENSION

apprehension,n.1. Seizure in the name of the law; arrest <apprehension of a criminal>. [Cases: Arrest 68(4). C.J.S. Arrest § 45.] 2. Perception; comprehension; belief <the tort of assault requires apprehension by the plaintiff of imminent contact>.3. Fear; anxiety <most people approach public speaking with some apprehension>. — apprehend,vb.

APPRENTICE

apprentice. 1.Hist. A person bound by an indenture to work for an employer for a specified period to learn a craft, trade, or profession.

“Apprentices, in the strict legal sense, are servants, usually but not necessarily infants, who agree to serve their masters with a view to learning some trade or business, and whose masters on their part agree to instruct them. The contract is usually for a term of years and is normally embodied in a deed, in which case the apprentice is said to be bound by an indenture of apprenticeship. It is customary for the father of the apprentice (or some person standing in loco parentis), as well as the apprentice himself to execute the deed or other instrument, and thus become liable for the due observance by the apprentice of his obligations thereunder. When an apprentice deliberately misconducts himself in such a way that, in the case of any other servant, his behaviour would amount to a repudiation of the agreement, and thereupon the master decides to accept the repudiation and dismisses him, the apprentice's repudiation is not effective, and the contract is not terminated, unless the Court find that such a course would be for the infant's benefit. Otherwise the infant could do indirectly what he could not do directly — namely, bring about a rescission of the contract.” 2 Stephen's Commentaries on the Laws of England 133–34 (L. Crispin Warmington ed., 21st ed. 1950).

2. A learner in any field of employment or business, esp. one who learns by hands-on experience or technical on-the-job training.

APPRENTICE OF THE LAW

apprentice of the law.Hist. 1.A law student. 2. A barrister of junior status. — Also termed apprentice en la ley; apprenticius ad legem.

APPRENTICIUS AD LEGEM

apprenticius ad legem (a-pren-tish-ee-<<schwa>>s ad lee-j<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] APPRENTICE OF THE LAW.

APPRIZE

apprize,vb. To appraise; to assign a value to.

APPROACH, RIGHT OF

approach, right of.See RIGHT OF APPROACH.

APPROPRIATED RETAINED EARNINGS

appropriated retained earnings.See EARNINGS.

APPROPRIATED SURPLUS

appropriated surplus.See SURPLUS.

APPROPRIATION

appropriation,n.1. The exercise of control over property; a taking of possession. Cf. EXPROPRIATION; MI-SAPPROPRIATION. 2. A legislative body's act of setting aside a sum of money for a public purpose. • If the sum is earmarked for a precise or limited purpose, it is sometimes called a specific appropriation. [Cases: States 129. C.J.S. States §§ 230, 232.] 3. The sum of money so voted. 4.Torts. An invasion of privacy whereby one person takes the name or likeness of another for commercial gain. [Cases: Torts 8.5(6). C.J.S. Right of Pri-vacy and Publicity §§ 9–16, 40–43, 45.] 5. The transfer of a benefice, together with all its interests, to a spiritual corporation. See spiritual corporation under CORPORATION. Cf. IMPROPRIATION. 6. The benefice so transferred. — appropriate,vb. — appropriable,adj. — appropriator,n.

APPROPRIATIONS BILL

appropriations bill.See BILL(3).

APPROPRIATOR

appropriator,n. Hist. Eccles. law. The corporate possessor of an appropriated benefice — that is, a benefice that has been perpetually annexed to a spiritual corporation, often a monastic house.

APPROVAL SALE

approval sale.See sale on approval under SALE.

APPROVE

approve, vb. 1. To give formal sanction to; to confirm authoritatively. 2. Parliamentary law. To adopt. See ADOPTION(5). — approval, n.

APPROVED DRUG PRODUCTS WITH THERAPEUTIC EQUIVALENCE EVALUATIONS

Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations. See ORANGE BOOK .

APPROVED INDORSED NOTE

approved indorsed note. See NOTE(1).

APPROVED LIST

approved list. See LEGAL LIST.

APPROVEMENT

approvement. 1. English law. The right of an owner of common lands to enclose them partially and receive income arising from them. • This right — originally granted by the Statute of Merton (1235) — is still available, but a landowner seeking to approve land must receive the government's consent to do so. 2. Hist. The act of avoiding a capital conviction by accusing an accomplice; turning king's evidence.

APPROVER

approver (<<schwa>>-proo-v<<schwa>>r), n. Hist. 1. One who offers proof; esp., a criminal who confesses and testifies against one or more accomplices. See relative confession under CONFESSION. Cf. ANTITHETARIUS. 2. An agent or bailiff; esp., one who manages a farm or estate for another.

APPROXIMATION, DOCTRINE OF approximation, doctrine of. See DOCTRINE OF APPROXIMATION.

APPRUARE

appruare (ap-roo-air-ee), vb. [Law Latin] Hist. To obtain a benefit from land by making improvements.

APPURTENANCE

appurtenance (<<schwa>>-p<<schwa>>rt-[<<schwa>>-]n<<schwa>>nts), n. Something that belongs or is attached to something else <the garden is an appurtenance to the land>.

“The word ‘appurtenances’ which in former times at least was generally employed in deeds and leases is derived from the word apparentir which is Norman French and means to belong to. Speaking broadly, the word means anything corporeal or incorporeal which is an incident of, and belongs to some other thing as principal. At a time when the construction of conveyances was of a more technical character than it is at present the word was considered of much greater importance than it is now and it was considered that in its absence from a lease or other conveyance a very restricted meaning should attach to the words of the description of the premises conveyed.” 1 H.C. Underhill, A Treatise on the Law of Landlord and Tenant § 291, at 442–43 (1909).

APPURTENANT

appurtenant,adj. Annexed to a more important thing. — Also termed (in Scots law) part and pertinent.

APPURTENANT EASEMENT

appurtenant easement.See easement appurtenant under EASEMENT.

APR

APR.abbr.See annual percentage rate under INTEREST RATE.

À PRENDRE

à prendre (ah prawn-dr<<schwa>> or -d<<schwa>>r). [French] For taking; for seizure. See PROFIT à PRENDRE.

A PRIORI

a priori (ay prI-or-Ior ah pree-or-ee), adv.[Latin “from what is before”] Deductively; from the general to the particular <as an analyst, he reasoned a priori — from seemingly self-evident propositions to particular conclu-sions>. Cf. A POSTERIORI. — a priori,adj.

A PROVISIONE VIRI

a provisione viri (ay pr<<schwa>>-vizh-ee-oh-nee vI-rI). [Latin] By the provision of a man (i.e., a husband).

APS

APS.abbr.1.ADULT PROTECTIVE SERVICES. 2.AUTOMATED PATENT SYSTEM.

APUD ACTA

apud acta (ap-<<schwa>>d ak-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Roman & civil law. Among the acts; among the judicial proceedings recorded in writing. • This phrase refers to appeals taken orally in the presence of the judge.

APUD JUDICEM

apud judicem.See IN JUDICIO.

APV

APV.abbr.See adjusted present value under PRESENT VALUE.

A QUA

a qua (ay kwayorkwah). [Latin] See A QUO.

AQUA

aqua (ak-w<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman law. 1. Water. 2. A watercourse. Pl. aquae (ak-wee).

aqua aestiva (ak-w<<schwa>> es-ti-v<<schwa>>). Summer water; water used only in the summer.

aqua currens (ak-w<<schwa>> k<<schwa>>r-enz). See aqua profluens.

aqua dulcis (ak-w<<schwa>> d<<schwa>>l-sis). Fresh water. — Also termed aqua frigida.

aqua fontanea (ak-w<<schwa>> fon-tay-nee-<<schwa>>). Springwater.

aqua frigida (ak-w<<schwa>> fris-k<<schwa>>). See aqua dulcis.

aqua profluens (ak-w<<schwa>> prof-loo-enz). Flowing or running water. — Also termed aqua currens.

aqua quotidiana (ak-w<<schwa>> kwoh-tid-ee-ay-n<<schwa>>). Daily water; water that can be drawn at all times of the year. — Also spelled aqua cottidiane.

aqua salsa (ak-w<<schwa>> sal-s<<schwa>>). Salt water.

AQUAEDUCTUS

aquaeductus (ak-wee-d<<schwa>>k-t<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin “conveying of water”] See servitus aquae ducendae under SERVITUS.

AQUAE FERVENTIS JUDICIUM

aquae ferventis iudicium.[Latin] Eccles. law. See ordeal by water (2) under ORDEAL.

AQUAE FRIGIDAE JUDICIUM

aquae frigidae iudicium.[Latin] Eccles. law. See ordeal by water (1) under ORDEAL.

AQUAEHAUSTUS

aquaehaustus (ak-wee-haws-t<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin “drawing of water”] A servitude granting the right to draw water from a well, pool, spring, or stream on another's land. — Also termed jus aquaehaustus; servitus aquae-haustus; servitus aquae hauriendae.

AQUAE IMMITTENDAE

aquae immittendae (ak-wee im-<<schwa>>-ten-dee). [Latin “waters to be discharged”] A servitude consisting in the right of one whose house is surrounded by other buildings to discharge wastewater on the neighboring roofs or yards. • This is similar to common-law drip rights. — Also termed stillicidium. Cf. servitus stillicidii under SERVITUS; DRIP RIGHTS.

AQUA FONTANEA

aqua fontanea. See AQUA.

AQUA FRISCA

aqua frisca.See aqua dulcis under AQUA.

AQUAGIUM

aquagium (<<schwa>>-kway-jee-<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin] Hist. 1.A canal for draining water, esp. from marshy land. 2. A payment for supplying water to a mill or carrying goods by water.

AQUA PROFLUENS

aqua profluens.See AQUA.

AQUA QUOTIDIANA

aqua quotidiana.See AQUA.

AQUA SALSIA

aqua salsa.See AQUA.

AQUATIC RIGHT

aquatic right.See WATER RIGHT.

AQUILIAN LAW

Aquilian law.See LEX AQUILIA.

A QUO

a quo (ah or ay kwoh), adv.[Latin] From which. — Also termed a qua. See AD QUEM ; court a quo under COURT.

A QUO INVITO ALIQUID EXIGI POTEST

a quo invito aliquid exigi potest (ay kwoh in-vI-toh al-i-kwid ek-s<<schwa>>-jIpoh-test). [Latin] Scots law. From whom something may be exacted against his will. • The phrase appeared in reference to the position of a debtor under a legal obligation, as distinguished from his position under a natural, voluntary obligation.

A.R.

A.R.abbr.ANNO REGNI.

ARABANT

arabant (<<schwa>>-ray-b<<schwa>>nt). [Latin] They plowed. • This term was applied to those who held by the tenure of plowing and tilling the lord's lands within the manor.

ARABLE LAND

arable land.See LAND.

ARALIA

aralia (<<schwa>>-ray-lee-<<schwa>>), n. See arable land under LAND.

ARATIA

aratia (<<schwa>>-ray-shee-<<schwa>>), n. See arable land under LAND.

ARATOR

arator (<<schwa>>-ray-t<<schwa>>r), n.[Law Latin] Hist. A farmer of arable land.

ARATRUM TERRAE

aratum terrae (<<schwa>>-ray-tr<<schwa>>m ter-ee), n.[Law Latin] Hist. The amount of land that can be plowed with a single plow; plowland.

ARATURIA

araturia (ar-<<schwa>>-t[y]oor-ee-<<schwa>>), n.[Law Latin] See arable land under LAND.

ARB

ARB.abbr.ACCOUNTING RESEARCH BULLETIN.

ARBITER

arbiter (ahr-b<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r). One with the power to decide disputes, such as a judge <the Supreme Court is the final arbiter of legal disputes in the United States>. Cf. ARBITRATOR.

ARBITRAGE

arbitrage (ahr-b<<schwa>>-trahzh), n. The simultaneous buying and selling of identical securities in different markets, with the hope of profiting from the price difference in those markets. — Also termed space arbitrage. [Cases: Securities Regulation 53.17(4). C.J.S. Securities Regulation § 153.] — arbitrageur (ahr-b<<schwa>>-trahzh-<<schwa>>r), arbitrageur (ahr-b<<schwa>>-trah-zh<<schwa>>r), n.

covered-interest arbitrage.The simultaneous investment in a currency and execution of spot- and forward-rate foreign-exchange contracts to take advantage of exchange-rate and interest-rate differentials between currencies without assuming foreign-exchange risk.

currency arbitrage.The simultaneous purchase of a currency in one market and sale of it in another to take advantage of differences or fluctuations in exchange rates.

kind arbitrage.Purchase of a security that, having no restriction other than the payment of money, is exchangeable or convertible within a reasonable time to a second security, with a simultaneous offsetting sale of the second security. — Also termed convertible arbitrage.

risk arbitrage.Arbitrage of assets that are probably, but not necessarily, equivalent; esp., arbitrage of corporate stock in a potential merger or takeover, whereby the target company's stock is bought and the acquiring company's stock is sold simultaneously.

time arbitrage.Purchase of a commodity against a present sale of the identical commodity for a future delivery; esp., the simultaneous buying and selling of securities for immediate delivery and future delivery, with the hope of profiting from the difference in prices.

ARBITRAGE BOND

arbitrage bond.See BOND(3).

ARBITRAMENT

arbitrament (ahr-bi-tr<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>nt).1. The power to decide for oneself or others; the power to decide finally and absolutely. 2. The act of deciding or settling a dispute that has been referred to arbitration. [Cases: Arbitration 48. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 91, 95, 107.] 3.AWARD. — Also spelled (archaically) ar-bitrement.

ARBITRAMENT AND AWARD

arbitrament and award.A plea that the same matter has already been decided in arbitration. [Cases: Arbitration 81–82. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 124–129, 148, 150–155.]

ARBITRARY

arbitrary,adj.1. Depending on individual discretion; specif., determined by a judge rather than by fixed rules, procedures, or law. 2. (Of a judicial decision) founded on prejudice or preference rather than on reason or fact. • This type of decision is often termed arbitrary and capricious. Cf. CAPRICIOUS.

ARBITRARY MARK

arbitrary mark.See arbitrary trademark under TRADEMARK.

ARBITRARY NAME

arbitrary name.See arbitrary trademark under TRADEMARK.

ARBITRARY TRADEMARK

arbitrary trademark.See TRADEMARK.

ARBITRATION

arbitration,n. A method of dispute resolution involving one or more neutral third parties who are usu. agreed to by the disputing parties and whose decision is binding. — Also termed (redundantly) binding arbitration. Cf. MEDIATION(1). [Cases: Arbitration 1. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 2–3.] — arbitrate,vb. — arbitral,adj.

ad hoc arbitration.Arbitration of only one issue.

adjudicative-claims arbitration.Arbitration designed to resolve matters usu. handled by courts (such as a tort claim), in contrast to arbitration of labor issues, international trade, and other fields traditionally associated with arbitration.

compromissory arbitration. An international arbitration grounded on a mutual promise to define the scope of the dispute and abide by the arbitrator's decision. See COMPROMIS.

compulsory arbitration. Arbitration required by law or forced by law on the parties.

final-offer arbitration. Arbitration in which each party must submit a "final offer" to the arbitrator, who may choose only one. • This device gives each party an incentive to make a reasonable offer or risk the arbitrator's accepting the other party's offer. The purpose of this type of arbitration is to counteract arbitrators' tendency to make compromise decisions halfway between the two parties' demands.

grievance arbitration. 1. Arbitration that involves the violation or interpretation of an existing contract. • The arbitrator issues a final decision regarding the meaning of the contractual terms. 2. Labor law. Arbitration of an employee's grievance, usu. relating to an alleged violation of the employee's rights under a collective-bargaining agreement. • The arbitration procedure is set out in the collective-bargaining agreement. Grievance arbitration is the final step in grievance procedure. — Also termed rights arbitration. See GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE. [Cases: Labor Relations 434.5.]

"The great majority of today's collective bargaining agreements provide for an impartial arbitrator to hear and decide grievances under the bargaining agreement. The details of grievance arbitration vary considerably among agreements." Douglas L. Leslie, Labor Law in a Nutshell 264 (3d ed. 1992).

interest arbitration. Arbitration that involves settling the terms of a contract being negotiated between the parties; esp., in labor law, arbitration of a dispute concerning what provisions will be included in a new collective-bargaining agreement. • When the parties cannot agree on contractual terms, an arbitrator decides. This type of arbitration is most common in public-sector collective bargaining.

judicial arbitration. Court-referred arbitration that is final unless a party objects to the award.

rights arbitration. See grievance arbitration.

voluntary arbitration. Arbitration by the agreement of the parties.

ARBITRATION ACT

arbitration act. A federal or state statute providing for the submission of disputes to arbitration. [Cases: Arbitration 2. C.J.S. Arbitration § 4.]

ARBITRATION AND AWARD

arbitration and award. An affirmative defense asserting that the subject matter of the action has already been settled in arbitration.

ARBITRATION BOARD

arbitration board. A panel of arbitrators appointed to hear and decide a dispute according to the rules of arbitration. [Cases: Arbitration 26. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 60, 62.]

ARBITRATION BOND

arbitration bond. A performance bond executed by the parties in an arbitration. See PERFORMANCE BOND(1).

ARBITRATION CLAUSE

arbitration clause. A contractual provision mandating arbitration — and thereby avoiding litigation — of disputes about the contracting parties' rights, duties, and liabilities. [Cases: Arbitration 1.1. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 2, 6.]

ARBITRATION OF EXCHANGE

arbitration of exchange. The simultaneous buying and selling of bills of exchange in different international markets, with the hope of profiting from the price difference of the currencies in those markets. See ARBITRAGE; DRAFT(1).

ARBITRATOR

arbitrator, n. A neutral person who resolves disputes between parties, esp. by means of formal arbitration. MEDIATOR; ARBITER. — Also termed (in Latin) compromissarius. [Cases: Arbitration 26, 29. C.J.S. Arbitration §§ 58, 60, 62, 68, 107, 109.] — arbitratorship, n.

ARBITREMENT

arbitrement. Archaic. See ARBITRAMENT.

ARBITRIUM

arbitrium (ahr-bi-tree-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] An award; a decision of an arbitrator.

ARBOR CIVILIS

arbor civilis (ahr-b<<schwa>>r siv-<<schwa>>-lis). [Latin “civil tree”] A genealogical tree. — Also termed arbor consanguinitatis.

ARBOR CONSANGUINITATIS

arbor consanguinitatis. See ARBOR CIVILIS.

ARBOR FINALIS

arbor finalis (ahr-b<<schwa>>r fi-nay-lis). [Latin] Hist. A boundary tree; a tree used for marking a boundary line.

ARBORUM FURTIM CAESARUM

arborum furtim caesarum (ahr-bor-<<schwa>>m f<<schwa>>r-tim si-sair-<<schwa>>m or si-zair-). [Latin] Roman law. A civil action in tort for secretly cutting down trees on another's land.

ARCANA IMPERII

arcana imperii (ahr-kay-n<<schwa>> im-peer-ee-I). [Latin] State secrets.

ARCARIUS

arcarius (ahr-kair-ee-*<<schwa>>*s). [Latin] Hist. A treasurer; a keeper of public money.

ARCHAIONOMIA

Archaionomia (ahr-kee-<<schwa>>-noh-mee-<<schwa>>). A Latin translation of Saxon laws, published in 1568 by William Lambarde.

ARCHBISHOP

archbishop.Eccles. law. A church officer who has authority over all ecclesiastical matters within a province. • Within the Church of England, the Archbishop of Canterbury is superior in rank to but does not control the Archbishop of York, who has supreme authority in the province of York. Both are appointed for life by England's monarch (as head of the Church of England), on the advice of the Prime Minister, and are members of the House of Lords.

ARCHBISHOPRIC

archbishopric.Eccles. law. An archbishop's jurisdiction or province.

ARCHDEACONRY

archdeaconry.Eccles. law. 1. An archdeacon's jurisdiction. 2. The office or rank of an archdeacon.

ARCHDEACON'S COURT

Archdeacon's Court.See COURT OF ARCHDEACON.

ARCHDIACONAL COURT

Archdiaconal Court.See COURT OF ARCHDEACON.

ARCHES COURT OF CANTERBURY

Arches Court of Canterbury.See COURT OF ARCHES.

ARCHICAPPELLANUS

archicapellanus (ahr-kee-kap-<<schwa>>-lay-n-*<<schwa>>*s). [Law Latin] Hist. A chief or high chancellor.

ARCHITECT OF THE CAPITOL

Architect of the Capitol.The officer in the legislative branch of the federal government responsible for main-taining the buildings and grounds of the U.S. Capitol, the Supreme Court, and the Library of Congress. • The Architect also plans and supervises new building construction. The office was established in 1876. 2 USCA §§ 1801, 1811.

ARCHITECT'S LIEN

architect's lien.See LIEN.

ARCHITECTURAL REVIEW

architectural review. See DESIGN REVIEW.

ARCHITECTURAL WORK

architectural work. See WORK(2).

ARCHIVAL COPY

archival copy. Copyright. A copy of an original piece of software, made by the consumer for backup. • An owner may make archival copies of software without infringing its copyright. But if the owner transfers the original software, all archival copies must also be transferred or else destroyed. 17 USCA § 117.

ARCHIVE

archive, n. (usu. pl.) 1. A place where public, historical, or institutional records are systematically preserved. 2. Collected and preserved public, historical, or institutional papers and records. 3. Any systematic compilation of materials, esp. writings, in physical or electronic form. — archive, vb.

ARCHIVIST OF THE UNITED STATES

Archivist of the United States. The federal officer in charge of the National Archives and Records Administration.

ARCIFINIOUS

arcifinious (ahr-s<<schwa>>-fin-ee-<<schwa>>s), adj. [fr. Latin arcifinius “having irregular boundaries”] Civil law. 1. (Of a landed estate) having natural boundaries such as woods, mountains, or rivers. 2. (Of a country) having a frontier that forms a natural defense.

ARCTA ET SALVA CUSTODIA

arcta et salva custodia (ahrk-t<<schwa>> et sal-v<<schwa>>k<<schwa>>-stoh-dee-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Hist. In close and safe custody. • A defendant arrested under the writ of capias ad satisfaciendum was said to be kept arcta et salva custodia.

ARDOUR

ardour. [Law French] Hist. An arsonist.

AREA BARGAINING

area bargaining. Negotiation of collective-bargaining agreements by a union with several employers in a particular geographic area.

AREA-RATE CLAUSE

area-rate clause. Oil & gas. A price-escalation provision in a long-term gas contract permitting an automatic increase in the contract price if any regulatory agency prescribes or allows a higher price on gas sold in the area. — Also termed FPC clause.

AREA-STANDARDS PICKETING

area-standards picketing. Labor law. The practice that a union undertakes to protect its members in a particular region by picketing employers that may undercut the market through the potentially lower labor costs of a non-union workforce.

AREA VARIANCE

area variance. See VARIANCE(2).

AREEDA–TURNER TEST

Areeda–Turner test. Antitrust. An economic test for predatory pricing whereby a price below average variable cost is presumed to be predatory and therefore illegal. • This test is widely accepted by federal courts. Its name derives from the coauthors of an influential law-review article: Phillip Areeda & Donald F. Turner, Predatory Pricing and Practices Under Section 2 of the Sherman Act, 88 Harv. L. Rev. 692 (1975). They reformulated their test in 3 Phillip Areeda & Donald F. Turner, Antitrust Law ¶¶ 710–722 (1978). See PREDATORY PRICING.

À RENDRE

à rendre (ah rawn-dr<<schwa>> or -d<<schwa>>r). [Law French] To render; to yield.

ARENTARE

arentare (ar-<<schwa>>n-tair-ee). [Law Latin] To rent out; to let out at a certain rent.

A REORGANIZATION

A reorganization. See REORGANIZATION(2).

ARERE

arere (<<schwa>>-reer), adj. [Law French] Behind in payment (as of rent); in arrears.

A RESPONSIS

a responsis (ay ri-spon-sis), n. [Law Latin] See APOCRISARIUS.

ARG

arg. abbr. ARGUENDO.

ARGENTARIUS

argentarius (ahr-j<<schwa>>n-tair-ee-<<schwa>>s), n. [Latin] Roman law. A moneylender; a banker.

ARGENTARIUS MILES

argentarius miles (ahr-j<<schwa>>n-tair-ee-<<schwa>>s mI-leez), n. [Law Latin] Hist. A money porter who carries money from the lower to the upper Exchequer to be examined and tested.

ARGENTUM

argentum (ahr-jen-t<<schwa>>m), n.[Latin] Silver; esp., silver coinage.

ARGENTUM DEI

argentum Dei (ahr-jen-t<<schwa>>m dee-I), n.[Law Latin] See DENARIUS DEI.

ARGUENDO

arguendo (ahr-gyoo-en-doh). [Latin “in arguing”] 1. For the sake of argument < assuming arguendo that discovery procedures were correctly followed, the court still cannot grant the defendant's motion to dismiss>.2. During the course of argument <counsel mentioned arguendo that the case has been followed in three other decisions>. — Abbr. arg.

ARGUMENT

argument. 1. A statement that attempts to persuade; esp., the remarks of counsel in analyzing and pointing out or repudiating a desired inference, for the assistance of a decision-maker. 2. The act or process of attempting to persuade. See ORAL ARGUMENT; CLOSING ARGUMENT.

ARGUMENTATIVE

argumentative,adj.1. Of or relating to argument or persuasion <an argumentative tone of voice>.2. Stating not only facts, but also inferences and conclusions drawn from facts <the judge sustained the prosecutor's objection to the argumentative question>.

ARGUMENTATIVE INSTRUCTION

argumentative instruction.See JURY INSTRUCTION.

ARGUMENTATIVE PLEADING

argumentative pleading.See PLEADING(1).

ARGUMENTATIVE QUESTION

argumentative question.A question in which the examiner interposes a viewpoint under the guise of asking a question. • This is considered an abuse of interrogation. [Cases: Witnesses 236. C.J.S. Witnesses § 406.]

ARGUMENTUM

argumentum (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m), n.[Latin] An argument. Pl. argumenta.

argumentum ab auctoritate (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ab awk-tor-<<schwa>>-tay-tee). [Latin] An argument from authority (of a statute or case).

argumentum ab impossibili (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ab im-pah-sib-<<schwa>>-l I). [Latin] An argument from impossibility.

argumentum ab inconvenienti (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ab in-k<<schwa>>n-vee-nee-en-tl). [Latin] An argument from inconvenience; an argument that emphasizes the harmful consequences of failing to follow the position advocated.

argumentum a contrario (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ay k<<schwa>>n-trair-ee-oh). [Latin] An argument for contrary treatment.

argumentum ad baculum (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad bak-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An argument depending on physical force to back it up.

argumentum ad captandum (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad kap-tan-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An argument appealing to the emotions of a crowd.

argumentum ad crumenam (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad kroo-mee-n<<schwa>>m). [fr. Latin crumena "purse"] An argument appealing to the purse (or one's desire to save money).

argumentum ad hominem (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad hom-<<schwa>>n<<schwa>>m). [Latin "argument to the man"] An argument based on disparagement or praise of another in a way that obscures the real issue.

argumentum ad ignorantiam (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad ig-n<<schwa>>-ran-shee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An argument based on an adversary's ignorance of the matter in dispute.

argumentum ad invidiam (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad in-vid-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An argument appealing to one's hatreds or prejudices.

argumentum ad iudicium (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad joo-dish-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An argument addressed to the judgment; a proof based on knowledge or probability.

argumentum ad misericordiam (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad miz-<<schwa>>-ri-kor-dee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An argument appealing to pity.

argumentum ad populum (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad pop-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An argument appealing to the crowd.

argumentum ad rem (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad rem). [Latin] An argument on the point at issue.

argumentum ad verecundiam (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ad ver-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>n-dee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An argument appealing to the listener's modesty; an argument based on the opinions of people who are considered authorities.

argumentum a simili (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m ay sim-<<schwa>>-li). [Latin "argument from a like case"] An argument by analogy or similarity.

argumentum baculinum (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m bak-y<<schwa>>-li-n<<schwa>>m). [fr. Latin baculus "a rod or scepter"] An argument appealing to force.

argumentum ex concesso (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m eks k<<schwa>>n-ses-oh). [Latin]

An argument based on an earlier admission by the adversary.

argumentum ex silentio (ahr-gyoo-men-t<<schwa>>m eks si-len-shee-oh). [Latin] An argument from silence — i.e., based on the absence of express evidence to the contrary.

ARIMANNI

arimanni (ar-<<schwa>>-man-I), n.[Law Latin] Hist. A fine for not joining the army when summoned.

ARISE

arise,vb.1. To originate; to stem (from) . 2.To result (from) <litigation routinely arises from such accidents>.3. To emerge in one's consciousness; to come to one's attention <the question of appealability then arose>.4. (Of a court) to adjourn; to suspend sitting.

ARISING-IN JURISDICTION

arising-in jurisdiction.See JURISDICTION.

ARISTOCRACY

aristocracy. 1. A privileged class of persons, esp. the hereditary nobility. 2. A government ruled by a privileged class.

ARISTODEMOCRACY

aristodemocracy. A government consisting of both democratic and aristocratic elements; a government in which power is divided between the nobility (or more powerful group) and the rest of the people.

ARKANSAS RULE

Arkansas rule.Secured transactions. The principle that the collateral securing a loan is presumed to be worth at least as much as the loan's balance, and that the creditor has the burden to prove that a sale of the collateral would not satisfy the loan amount. Norton v. National Bank of Commerce, 398 S.W.2d 538 (Ark. 1966). [Cases: Secured Transactions 229, 240.C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 161, 164–166, 168–169, 172, 174–175, 180–183.]

ARM

ARM.abbr.See adjustable-rate mortgage under MORTGAGE.

ARMA

arma (ahr-m<<schwa>>), n. pl.[Latin] Roman law. 1. Arms; weapons. 2. Military service.

arma moluta (ahr-m<<schwa>> m<<schwa>>-loo-t<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Sharp weapons that cut, as contrasted with blunt instruments that bruise or break.

arma reversata (ahr-m<<schwa>> ree-v<<schwa>>-r-say-t<<schwa>>). [Law Latin]

Reversed arms. • This was a punishment for a felon or traitor.

ARMARIA

armaria. See ALMARIA.

ARMATA VIS

armata vis (ahr-may-t<<schwa>> vis). See VIS ARMATA.

ARMED

armed,adj.1. Equipped with a weapon <an armed robber>.2. Involving the use of a weapon <armed robbery>.

ARMED CONFLICT

armed conflict.Int'l law. 1. A state of open hostility between two nations, or between a nation and an aggressive force. • A state of armed conflict may exist without a formal declaration of war by either side. 2. A military action taken under Article 42 of the United Nations Charter. — Also termed police action.

ARMED NEUTRALITY

armed neutrality.See NEUTRALITY.

ARMED PEACE

armed peace.See PEACE.

ARMED ROBBERY

armed robbery.See ROBBERY.

ARMED SERVICES BOARD OF CONTRACT APPEALS

Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals.A quasi-judicial board that reviews appeals from final decisions of contracting officers involving disputes relating to contracts made by elements of the Department of Defense and designated civilian agencies. • Its decisions are subject to judicial review.

ARMIGER

armiger (ahr-m<<schwa>>-j<<schwa>>r), n.[Latin fr. arma “arms” + gerere “to bear”] Hist. 1.One who bears arms; an armor-bearer; an esquire. 2. A servant who carried the armor of a knight. 3. A tenant by scutage; a valet.

ARM-IN-ARM

arm-in-arm,adj. Of, relating to, or involving a transaction between parties whose personal interests are involved. Cf. ARM'S-LENGTH.

ARMISCARA

armiscara (ahr-m<<schwa>>-skair-<<schwa>>), n.[Law Latin] Hist. 1.A punishment consisting of carrying a saddle on one's back as a sign of subjection. 2. A fine.

ARMISTICE

armistice. See TRUCE.

ARM OF THE COURT

arm of the court.An officer of the court who performs tasks or duties related to the court's functions.

ARM OF THE SEA

arm of the sea.The portion of a river or bay in which the tide ebbs and flows. • It may extend as far into the interior as the water of the river is propelled backward by the tide. [Cases: Navigable Waters 1(4).C.J.S. Navigable Waters § 4.]

ARM OF THE STATE

arm of the state.An entity created by a state and operating as an alter ego or instrumentality of the state, such as a state university or a state department of transportation. • The 11th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution generally bars suits in federal court by individuals against states. The Amendment has been interpreted as protecting arms of the state as well as the state itself. Cities and local school districts have been held not to be arms of the state. [Cases: States 45. C.J.S. States §§ 79, 82, 136.]

ARMS, LAW OF

arms, law of. 1. Rules concerning conditions of war, such as the treatment of prisoners. 2. The law relating to the right to bear arms. [Cases: Weapons 1. C.J.S. Weapons §§ 1–8, 61–62.] 3. The law relating to armorial bearings, i.e., coats of arms granted by the College of Heralds in England, Lord Lyon King of Arms in Scotland, and corresponding officers in some other countries.

ARMS, RIGHT TO BEAR

arms, right to bear.See RIGHT TO BEAR ARMS.

ARMS CONTROL

arms control.Int'l law.A policy of minimizing instabilities in the military field by lessening the possibility of the outbreak of war while reducing in number a country's weapons of mass destruction. Cf. DISARMAMENT.

ARM'S-LENGTH

arm's-length,adj. Of or relating to dealings between two parties who are not related or not on close terms and who are presumed to have roughly equal bargaining power; not involving a confidential relationship <an arm's-length transaction does not create fiduciary duties between the parties>. Cf. ARM-IN-ARM M. [Cases: Contracts 1; Fraud 7. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 2–3, 9, 12.]

ARM'S-LENGTH PRICE

arm's-length price. See PRICE.

ARM'S-LENGTH TRANSACTION

arm's-length transaction. See TRANSACTION.

ARMY

army. 1. A military force, esp. of ground troops. [Cases: Armed Services 4. C.J.S. Armed Services §§ 14, 16–17, 19, 37.] 2. Any substantial group of individuals armed for combat. 3. A vast, organized group.

regular army. The permanent military establishment, maintained during both war and peacetime.

ARRA

arra (ar-⟨schwa⟩), n. [Latin “earnest, deposit”] Roman & civil law. Earnest money; money given as evidence of a completed bargain. Also spelled arrha. See DENARIUS DEI. Cf. GOD'S PENNY. — Pl. arrae.

ARRAIGNMENT

arraignment, n. The initial step in a criminal prosecution whereby the defendant is brought before the court to hear the charges and to enter a plea. Fed. R. Crim. P. 10. Cf. PRELIMINARY HEARING; initial appearance under APPEARANCE. [Cases: Criminal Law 261–264. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 355, 357–360, 362–363.] — arraign, vb.

ARRANGEMENT IN ORDER OF BREADTH

arrangement in order of breadth. Patents. The placement of claims in a patent application in order of scope so that the first claim in the application or patent is the broadest and later claims are progressively narrower. [Cases: Patents 98. C.J.S. Patents §§ 137–139.]

ARRANGEMENTS COMMITTEE

arrangements committee. See COMMITTEE.

ARRANGEMENT WITH CREDITORS

arrangement with creditors. Bankruptcy. A debtor's agreement with creditors for the settlement, satisfaction, or extension of time for payment of debts. See BANKRUPTCY PLAN. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3661.100–3661.115.]

ARRANGER FOR DISPOSAL

arranger for disposal. Environmental law. An entity that owns or possesses hazardous substances, and either disposes of them or has an obligation to control them. • An arranger for disposal can be held liable for environmental cleanup costs under CERCLA. [Cases: Environmental Law 445(1).]

ARRAY

array,n.1. A panel of potential jurors; VENIRE(1) <the array of mostly wealthy professionals seemed to favor the corporate defendant>. [Cases: Jury 66, 114. C.J.S. Juries §§ 271, 312, 355, 359, 443–444.] 2. The jurors actually empaneled <the array hearing the case consisted of seven women and five men>.3. A list or roster of empaneled jurors <the plaintiff obtained a copy of the array to help prepare for voir dire>. [Cases: Jury 69. C.J.S. Juries §§ 282, 316.] 4. Order; arrangement <the array of jurors from oldest to youngest>.5. A militia <the array organized antigovernment rallies>.6. A series of statistics or a group of elements .

array,vb.1. To empanel a jury for trial. 2. To call out the names of jurors, one by one, as they are empaneled.

ARREAR

arrear,n. (usu. pl.) 1. The state of being behind in the payment of a debt or the discharge of an obligation <the creditor filed a lawsuit against the debtor who was in arrears>. — Also termed arrearage. 2. An unpaid or overdue debt <the creditor reached an agreement with the debtor on settling the arrears>.3. An unfinished duty <the arrears of work have accumulated>. See IN ARREARS.

ARREARAGE

arrearage. See ARREAR(1).

ARRENT

arrent (<<schwa>>-rent), vb. Hist. To let at a fixed rent; specif., to give royal permission to enclose (a portion of public land) in exchange for annual rent.

ARREST

arrest,n.1. A seizure or forcible restraint. 2. The taking or keeping of a person in custody by legal authority, esp. in response to a criminal charge; specif., the apprehension of someone for the purpose of securing the administration of the law, esp. of bringing that person before a court. [Cases: Arrest 68(3). C.J.S. Arrest §§ 43–44.] — arrest,vb.

“The question of what constitutes an arrest is a difficult one. On one end of the spectrum, it seems apparent that detention accompanied by handcuffing, drawn guns, or words to the effect that one is under arrest qualifies as an ‘arrest’ and thus requires probable cause. At the other end, a simple questioning on the street will often not rise to the level of an arrest. Somewhere in between lie investigative detentions at the stationhouse” Charles H. Whitebread, Criminal Procedure § 3.02, at 61 (1980).

arrest by warrant.See lawful arrest under ARREST.

arrest in execution.See arrest on final process.

arrest in quarters.Military law. A nonjudicial punishment that can be given to officers and warrant officers only by a general, a flag officer in command, or an officer exercising general court-martial jurisdiction. See BREACH OF ARREST. [Cases: Military Justice 525. C.J.S. Military Justice §§ 24–27.]

arrest on final process.Hist. Arrest in a civil case after the conclusion of a trial. — Also termed arrest in execution.

arrest on mesne process (meen).Hist. Arrest in a civil case before trial takes place.

citizen's arrest.An arrest of a private person by another private person on grounds that (1) a public offense was committed in the arrester's presence, or (2) the arrester has reasonable cause to believe that the arrestee has committed a felony. [Cases: Arrest 64. C.J.S. Arrest §§ 12–15.]

civil arrest.Hist. An arrest and detention of a civil-suit defendant until bail is posted or a judgment is paid. • Civil arrest is prohibited in most states.

false arrest.An arrest made without proper legal authority. Cf. FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

house arrest.See HOUSE ARREST.

lawful arrest.The taking of a person into legal custody either under a valid warrant or on probable cause that the person has committed a crime. Cf. unlawful arrest. — Also termed arrest by warrant; warrant arrest.

malicious arrest.An arrest made without probable cause and for an improper purpose; esp., an abuse of process by which a person procures the arrest (and often the imprisonment) of another by means of judicial process, without any reasonable cause. • Malicious arrest can be grounds for an action for abuse of process, false imprisonment, or malicious prosecution.

parol arrest (p<<schwa>>-rohlorpar-<<schwa>>l). An arrest ordered by a judge or magistrate from the bench, without written complaint, and executed immediately, such as an arrest of a person who breaches the peace in open court. See CONTEMPT.

pretextual arrest.An arrest of a person for a minor offense for the opportunity to investigate the person's in-volvement in a more serious offense for which there are no lawful grounds to make an arrest. — Also termed pretext arrest.

rearrest. A warrantless arrest of a person who has escaped from custody, violated parole or probation, or failed to appear in court as ordered.

subterfuge arrest.An arrest of a suspect for the stated purpose of obtaining evidence of one crime but with the underlying intent to search the suspect for evidence of a different crime.

unlawful arrest.The taking of a person into custody either without a valid warrant or without probable cause to believe that the person has committed a crime. Cf. lawful arrest.

warranted arrest.An arrest made under authority of a warrant.

warrantless arrest.A legal arrest, without a warrant, based on probable cause of a felony, or for a misdemeanor committed in a police officer's presence. — Also termed arrest without a warrant. See WARRANT. [Cases: Arrest 62. C.J.S. Arrest §§ 10–11.]

3.Maritime law. The taking of a ship and sometimes its cargo into custody by virtue of a court's warrant. [Cases: Admiralty 48. C.J.S. Admiralty §§ 157, 239.]

ARRESTABLE OFFENSE

arrestable offense.See OFFENSE(1).

ARRESTANDIS BONIS NE DISSIPENTUR

arrestandis bonis ne dissipentur.See DE ARRESTANDIS BONIS NE DISSIPENTUR.

ARRESTANDO IPSUM QUI PECUNIAM RECEPIT arrestando ipsum qui pecuniam recepit.See DE ARRESTANDO IPSUM QUI PECUNIAM RECEPIT .

ARRESTATIO

arrestatio (ar-<<schwa>>-stay-shee-oh), n.[Law Latin] Hist. An arrest.

ARREST BY WARRANT

ARRESTEE

arrestee. 1. A person who has been taken into custody by legal authority; a person who has been arrested. 2.Scots law. One who holds property attached by arrestment.

ARRESTER

arrestor. One who arrests. — Also spelled arrestor.

ARREST IN EXECUTION

arrest in execution.See arrest on final process under ARREST.

ARREST IN QUARTERS

arrest in quarters.See ARREST.

ARRESTMENT

arrestment. 1. The arrest of a person or of personal effects. 2.Scots law. The taking or attachment of property belonging to another person but in the possession of a third party, either to obtain security or to found jurisdiction. • The process of attachment is similar to garnishment: the property holder is ordered to withhold the property from the debtor. The court may order that the property be transferred to the creditor.

arrestment in execution.Postjudgment arrestment to preserve property on which to collect the judgment.

arrestment in security.See arrestment on the dependence.

arrestment on the dependence. Prejudgment arrestment to secure payment of a judgment against a debtor who is likely to leave the country to escape the creditor. • The arrestment may be ordered even though the creditor has not begun an action on the debt or an action is still pending. — Also termed arrestment in security.

arrestment to found jurisdiction. Arrestment for the purpose of conferring legitimate legal authority on a court, esp. when the debtor is a foreigner who is not present in and does not own land in a given place.

3. The action of checking or stopping something.

ARRESTO FACTO SUPER BONIS MERCATORUM ALIENIGENORUM

arresto facto super bonis mercatorum alienigenorum (<<schwa>>-res-toh fak-toh s [y]oo-p<<schwa>>r boh-nis m<<schwa>>r-k<<schwa>>-tor-<<schwa>>m ay-lee-ee-nI-j<<schwa>>-nor-<<schwa>>m or al-ee-). [Latin “seizure of the goods of foreign merchants”] Hist. A writ to seize the goods of an alien, taken in recompense of goods taken from an English subject living abroad.

ARREST OF INQUEST

arrest of inquest. A plea that a matter proposed for inquiry has already been investigated and should therefore not be reexamined.

ARREST OF JUDGMENT

arrest of judgment. The staying of a judgment after its entry; esp., a court's refusal to render or enforce a judgment because of a defect apparent from the record. • At common law, courts have the power to arrest judgment for intrinsic causes appearing on the record, as when the verdict differs materially from the pleadings or when the case alleged in the pleadings is legally insufficient. Today, this type of defect must typically be objected to before trial or before judgment is entered, so that the motion in arrest of judgment has been largely superseded. — Also termed allocutus. [Cases: Criminal Law 966–976; Judgment 259–269. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1453–1457; Judgments §§ 95–105.]

“An arrest of judgment [under common law] was the technical term describing the act of a trial judge refusing to enter judgment on the verdict because of an error appearing on the face of the record that rendered the judgment invalid.” United States v. Sisson, 399 U.S. 267, 280–81, 90 S.Ct. 2117, 2125 (1970).

ARREST ON FINAL PROCESS

arrest on final process. See ARREST.

ARREST ON MESNE PROCESS

arrest on mesne process. See ARREST.

ARREST RECORD

arrest record. 1. A form completed by a police officer when a person is arrested. 2. A cumulative list of the instances when a person has been arrested. — Also termed police blotter; (in sense 2) bench blotter; blotter; log.

ARRESTUM JURISDICTIONIS FUNDANDAE CAUSA

arrestum jurisdictionis fundandae causa (<<schwa>>-res-t<<schwa>>m juur-is-dik-shee-oh-nis fun-dan-dee kaw-z<<schwa>>). [Law Latin “an arrestment for the purpose of founding jurisdiction”] Scots law. An arrestment to bring a foreigner under the jurisdiction of Scottish courts. • This type of arrestment originated in Dutch law. See JURISDICTIONIS FUNDANDAE.

ARREST WARRANT

arrest warrant. See WARRANT(1).

ARREST WITHOUT A WARRANT

arrest without a warrant. See warrantless arrest under ARREST(1).

ARRÊT

arrêt (ah-retor -ray). [French] Civil law. 1. A judgment, sentence, or decree of a court with competent jurisdiction. 2. A sovereign's decree. Pl. arrêts.

ARRÊT DE RÈGLEMENT

arrêt de règlement (<<schwa>>-re d<<schwa>> re-gl<<schwa>>-mahn), n. [French] Hist. Civil law. A decision issued by Parliament to establish a rule of procedure, civil law, or custom.

ARRETTED

arretted (<<schwa>>-ret-id), adj. [Law French] (Of an accused) brought before a judge and charged with a crime.

ARRHA

arrha (ar-<<schwa>>). See ARRA.

ARRHA SPONSALITIA

arrha sponsalitia (ar-ee spon-s<<schwa>>-lish-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] Roman law. A payment made to guarantee fulfillment of a promise to marry.

ARRIAGE AND CARRIAGE

arriage and carriage (ar-ij). Hist. Indefinite services formerly demandable from tenants, but prohibited by statute in the 18th century.

ARRIÈRE-BAN

arrière-ban (ah-ree-air-bahn or-ar-ee-air-ban), n. [French] Hist. 1. A king's proclamation summoning vassals to military service. 2. The group of vassals so summoned.

ARRIERE FEE

arriere fee.FEE(2).

ARRIERE FIEF

arriere fief.See arriere fee under FEE(2).

ARRIERE VASSAL

arriere vassal.See VASSAL.

ARROGATIO

arrogatio. See ADROGATION.

ARROGATION

arrogation (ar-<<schwa>>-gay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The act of claiming or taking something without the right to do so <some commentators argue that limited military actions unilaterally ordered by the President are an arrogation of Congress's power to declare war>.2.Roman & civil law. The adoption of an adult; specif., the adoption of a person sui juris, as a result of which the adoptee loses independence and comes within the paternal power (patria potestas) of the adopting father. [Cases: Adoption 5. C.J.S. Adoption of Persons §§ 18–24.] — arrogate,vb.

ARS

ARS.abbr. AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE.

ARSER IN LE MAIN

arser in le main (ahr-say an l<<schwa>> man or an l<<schwa>> man), n.[French “burning in the hand”] Hist. A punishment of burning or branding the left thumb of a lay offender who falsely claimed and was allowed the benefit of clergy, so that the offender would be distinguished if he tried to claim the benefit again. — Also termed arsure en le main (ahr-soor awn l<<schwa>> man or awn l<<schwa>> man).

ARSON

arson,n.1. At common law, the malicious burning of someone else's dwelling house or outhouse that is either appurtenant to the dwelling house or within the curtilage. [Cases: Arson 1. C.J.S. Arson §§ 2–3.]

“The thing that is burnt must be a ‘house’, but this word has a large meaning; already in 1220 we find the burning of a barn that was full of corn treated as a felony.” 2 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 492 (2d ed. 1899).

“The burning of one's own dwelling to collect insurance did not constitute common-law arson. It was generally assumed in early England that one had the legal right to destroy his own property in any manner he chose.” Denis Binder, “Arson: Legal Aspects,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice 80, 80 (Sanford H. Kadish ed., 1983).

“At common law, arson is the wilful and malicious burning of the dwelling house of another. It may occur during the nighttime or the daytime, and it is an offense against the security of habitation or occupancy, rather than against ownership or property.” 3 Charles E. Torcia, Wharton's Criminal Law § 334, at 324–25 (15th ed. 1995).

2. Under modern statutes, the intentional and wrongful burning of someone else's property (as to destroy a building) or one's own property (as to fraudulently collect insurance). See Model Penal Code § 220.1(1). — Also termed (in Latin) crimen incendii; (in sense 2) statutory arson. Cf. HOUSEBURNING; CRIMINAL DAMAGE TO PROPERTY. “The term ‘statutory arson’ is employed to designate the entire area of statutory proscription which is analogous to, but does not constitute, common-law arson. It is important to have mutually exclusive labels here not only for the reasons mentioned in the preceding section, but because some of the state statutes provide a penalty for arson without defining the word and hence adopt the common-law definition.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 287 (3d ed. 1982).

“(1) Arson. A person is guilty of arson, a felony of the second degree, if he starts a fire or causes an explosion with the purpose of: (a) destroying a building or occupied structure of another; or (b) destroying or damaging any property, whether his own or another's, to collect insurance for such loss. It shall be an affirmative defense to prosecution under this paragraph that the actor's conduct did not recklessly endanger any building or occupied structure of another or place any other person in danger of death or bodily injury.” Model Penal Code § 220.1 (1997).

aggravated arson. Arson accompanied by some aggravating factor, as when the offender foresees or anticipates that one or more persons will be in or near the property being burned. [Cases: Arson 12. C.J.S. Arson § 19.]

ARSONABLE

arsonable, adj. (Of property) of such a nature as to give rise to a charge of arson if maliciously burned <only real property, and not personal property, is arsonable>. [Cases: Arson 5. C.J.S. Arson §§ 4–5, 12–14.]

ARSON CLAUSE

arson clause. Insurance. An insurance-policy provision that excludes coverage of a loss due to fire if the insured intentionally started the fire. [Cases: Insurance 2166(3). C.J.S. Insurance § 922.]

ARSONIST

arsonist. One who commits arson; INCENDIARY(1).

ARSONOUS

arsonous, adj. Of, relating to, or involving arson <an arsonous purpose>.

ARSURA

arsura (ahr-s[y]oor-<<schwa>>), n. [Law Latin] Hist. 1. The trial of money by heating it after it is coined. 2. The loss in weight from this process.

ARSURE EN LA MAIN

arsure en la main (ahr-soor awn lah man), n.[Law French] See ARSER IN LE MAIN .

ART

ART.abbr.ASSISTED REPRODUCTIVE TECHNOLOGY.

art. 1. Creative expression, or the product of creative expression. 2. An occupation or business that requires skill; a craft. 3.Patents. A field of useful endeavor; the methodical application of knowledge or skill in creating something new. [Cases: Patents 5. C.J.S. Patents §§ 13–14, 16.]

analogous art.Patents. A technique, product, application, machine, or method that is reasonably related to the problem addressed by the invention, and with which the inventor is assumed to be familiar. — Also termed per-tinent art. See NONOBVIOUSNESS. [Cases: Patents 16(3).]

nuisance prior art.Patents. Information that appears to anticipate or obviate an invention, but does not actually do so because the earlier described invention was neither reduced to practice nor adequately disclosed in any documents. • Nuisance prior art does not bar a patent's issuance, but it may prolong the prosecution. The term does not apply to efforts that are not prior art at all, such as descriptions of unsuccessful attempts to reduce an invention to practice, or to writings that do not disclose real inventions or technology, such as science fiction.

pertinent art. 1. See analogous art. 2. See relevant art.

prior art.Patents. Knowledge that is publicly known, used by others, or available on the date of invention to a person of ordinary skill in an art, including what would be obvious from that knowledge. • Prior art includes (1) information in applications for previously patented inventions; (2) information that was published more than one year before a patent application is filed; and (3) information in other patent applications and inventor's certificates filed more than a year before the application is filed. The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and courts analyze prior art before deciding the patentability of a comparable invention. 35 USCA § 102. [Cases: Patents 16(2). C.J.S. Patents § 69.]

relevant art.Patents. Art to which one can reasonably be expected to look for a solution to the problem that a patented device tries to solve. • The term includes not only knowledge about a problem in a particular industry, but also knowledge accumulated in scientific fields whose techniques have been commonly employed to solve similar problems. — Also termed pertinent art.

4.Hist. In a seduction case, the skillful and systematic coaxing of another to engage in sexual activity.

ART AND PART

art and part,adj. & adv. English & Scots law. Aiding in or contributing to the commission of a crime <the lookout was involved in the burglary on an art-and-part basis> <the baker acted art and part in the prisoner's escape by producing a cake with a file in it>. See ACCESSORY(2).

art and part,n. Scots law. Participation in or encouragement of a crime; criminal guilt by assisting, advising, or participating in the crime. Cf. OPE ET CONSILIO .

“Scots law never distinguished between degrees of participation in a crime, between what English law distinguished as accession before the fact, concomitant accession, and accession after the fact. In treason all participants were treated as principal offenders and indictments in other cases charged the accused as ‘actor or art and part’. The Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1887 made this an unnecessary but implied charge in all indictments.” 6 David M. Walker, A Legal History of Scotland 397 (2001).

ARTFUL PLEADING

artful pleading.See PLEADING(2).

ART GROUP

art group.Patents. A collection of art units in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, led by a group director.

ARTICLE

article,n.1. Generally, a particular item or thing <article of clothing>.

proprietary article.(often pl.) A product manufactured under an exclusive right to sell it.

2. A separate and distinct part (as a clause or stipulation) of a writing, esp. in a contract, statute, or constitution <Article III>.3. (pl.) An instrument containing a set of rules or stipulations <articles of war> < articles of incorporation>.4. A nonfictional literary composition forming an independent part of a publication, such as a law review or journal .5.Patents. A workpiece, product, or thing that is operated on, modified, or changed by a machine or process. 6.Patents. An article of manufacture. See MANUFACTURE. 7.Eccles. law. In an ecclesiastical court, one of a plaintiff's complaints or charges against the defendant. • The complaint or charge may be presented by oral declaration or by a written document.

article,vb.1. To bring charges against by an exhibition of articles. 2. To be an article clerk.

ARTICLE OF MANUFACTURE

article of manufacture.See MANUFACTURE.

ARTICLE OF MERCHANDISE

article of merchandise.1.MERCHANDISE(1).MERCHANDISE(2).

ARTICLE I COURT

Article I court. 1. See legislative court under COURT. 2. A type of federal legislative court that is not bound by the requirements of or protected under U.S. Const. art. III, § 2, and that performs functions similar to those of an administrative agency, such as issuing advisory opinions. U.S. Const. art. I, § 8. Cf. ARTICLE III COURT.

“Congress also has the power, within certain limits, to create what are called ...Article I tribunals These Article I tribunals are really akin to administrative agencies; that is, the ‘judges’ do not have any constitutionally guaranteed lifetime tenure and protection from salary diminution; they are not governed by the case or controversy limitation of Article III... At the present time, Article I courts include territorial courts, certain courts in the District of Columbia, courts martial, and legislative courts and administrative agencies that adjudicate ‘public rights.’ ” John E. Nowak & Ronald D. Rotunda, Constitutional Law 22–23 (4th ed. 1991).

ARTICLE II JUDGE

Article II judge.A U.S. bankruptcy judge or magistrate judge appointed for a term of years as authorized by Congress under Article II of the U.S. Constitution.28 USCA §§ 151 et seq., 631 et seq. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2123; United States Magistrates 11. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 7; United States Commissioners §§ 2–6.]

ARTICLE III COURT

Article III Court.A federal court that, deriving its jurisdiction from U.S. Const. art. III, § 2, hears cases arising under the Constitution and the laws and treaties of the United States, cases in which the United States is a party, and cases between the states and between citizens of different states. — Also termed constitutional court. Cf. ARTICLE I COURT. [Cases: Federal Courts 1.1.]

ARTICLE III JUDGE

Article III judge.A U.S. Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, or District Court judge appointed for life under Article III of the U.S. Constitution. [Cases: Judges 1. C.J.S. Judges §§ 2–7.]

ARTICLE 15

Article 15.See nonjudicial punishment under PUNISHMENT.

ARTICLED CLERK

articled clerk.English law. A clerk who works for a solicitor in exchange for learning the profession; a clerk bound by articles of apprenticeship.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT

articles of agreement.A writing that records matters that the parties agreed on when forming a partnership or business or transferring real property. • Unlike a contract, articles of agreement usu. contain only agreements and not express promises of performance, e.g., “the parties agree that it is not possible to guarantee delivery within ten days.” Articles of agreement often supplement a contract. They may be informal or detailed.

ARTICLES OF AMENDMENT

articles of amendment.A document filed to effectuate an amendment or change to a corporation's articles of incorporation. [Cases: Corporations 40.C.J.S. Corporations § 38.]

ARTICLES OF APPRENTICESHIP

articles of apprenticeship.Hist. A contract under which a minor agrees to work for a master for a specified time in exchange for learning a trade.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

articles of association. 1.ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. 2. A governing document — similar to articles of incorporation — that legally creates a nonstock or nonprofit organization. — Also termed articles of organization. — Often shortened (informally) to articles. See governing document under DOCUMENT(1). [Cases: Corporations 18. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 26, 33–35, 41, 559.]

ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION

Articles of Confederation.The instrument that governed the association of the 13 original states from March 1, 1781 until the adoption of the U.S. Constitution. • They were prepared by the Continental Congress, submitted to the states in 1777, and later ratified by representatives of the states empowered by their respective legislatures for that purpose.

ARTICLES OF DISSOLUTION

articles of dissolution.A document that a dissolving corporation must file with the appropriate governmental agency, usu. the secretary of state, after the corporation has settled all its debts and distributed all its assets. [Cases: Corporations 610(1). C.J.S. Corporations §§ 835–837.]

ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT

articles of impeachment.A formal document alleging the specific charges against a public official and the rea-sons for removing that official from office. • It is similar to an indictment in a criminal proceeding. See IM-PEACHMENT(1). [Cases: United States 35. C.J.S. United States §§ 23, 53, 56–57.]

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION

articles of incorporation.A governing document that sets forth the basic terms of a corporation's existence, including the number and classes of shares and the purposes and duration of the corporation. • In most states, the articles of incorporation are filed with the secretary of state as part of the process of forming the corporation. In some states, the articles serve as a certificate of incorporation and are the official recognition of the corporation's existence. In other states, the government issues a certificate of incorporation after approving the articles and other required documents. — Also termed articles of association; articles of organization; certificate of incorporation. — Often shortened (informally) to articles. Cf. BYLAW(1); CHARTER(5). See governing document under DOCUMENT(1). [Cases: Corporations 18. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 26, 33–35, 41, 559.]

ARTICLES OF ORGANIZATION

articles of organization.1.ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. 2.ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION(2).

ARTICLES OF PARTNERSHIP

articles of partnership.See PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT.

ARTICLES OF THE CLERGY

Articles of the Clergy.Hist. A statute enacted in 1315 to settle the jurisdictions of the ecclesiastical and temporal courts. — Also termed Articuli Cleri.

ARTICLES OF THE EYRE

articles of the eyre (air).Hist. A series of questions put to the members of a community by the justices in eyre to discover what breaches of the law had occurred during the court's absence. • The inquiry enabled the justices to fine criminal behavior and to raise revenue for the Crown through the levying of penalties. See EYRE. Cf. CHAPTER. — Also termed capitula itineris.

ARTICLES OF THE PEACE

articles of the peace.English law. A sworn complaint in which a person alleges that a named person poses a threat to the complainant's person, family, or property.

ARTICLES OF UNION

Articles of Union.Hist. The 25 articles agreed to by the English and Scottish parliaments in 1707 for the union of the two kingdoms.

ARTICLES OF WAR

articles of war. 1. The rules and regulations that govern the activities of an army and navy. 2. (cap.) The body of laws and procedures that governed the U.S. military until replaced in 1951 by the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

ARTICULATED PLEADING

articulated pleading.See PLEADING(1).

ARTICULI

articuli (ahr-tik-y<<schwa>>-II), n.[Latin] Articles; items. • This term was applied to several English statutes and treatises.

ARTICULI CLERI

Articuli Cleri (ahr-tik-y<<schwa>>-IIkleer-I). [Law Latin] See ARTICLES OF THE CLERGY .

ARTICULI MAGNAE CHARTAE

articuli magnae chartae (ahr-tik-y<<schwa>>-lImag-nee kahr-tee), n.[Latin] Hist. The 49 preliminary articles on which Magna Carta was founded.

ARTICULI SUPER CARTAS

Articuli super Cartas (ahr-tik-y<<schwa>>-lIs[y]oo-p<<schwa>>r kahr-t<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin “articles upon the charters”] Hist. A statute passed in 1300 to confirm and enlarge many particulars of Magna Carta and the Forest Charter.

ARTICULO MORTIS

articulo mortis.See IN ARTICULO MORTIS.

ARTIFICE

artifice (ahr-t<<schwa>>-fis). A clever plan or idea, esp. one intended to deceive.

ARTIFICER

artificer. 1. A skilled worker, such as a mechanic or craftsman; an artisan. 2. One who builds or contrives; an inventor.

ARTIFICIAL

artificial,adj.1. Existing only by virtue of or in consideration of the law < artificial presumption>. • This term is often used in reference to a company or a corporation. See artificial person under PERSON(3).2. Made or pro-duced by a human or human intervention rather than by nature <artificial condition>.3. Of or relating to artifice <an artificial demeanor>.

ARTIFICIAL CONDITION

artificial condition.See CONDITION(4).

ARTIFICIAL DAY

artificial day.See DAY.

ARTIFICIAL FORCE

artificial force.Patents. A natural force that is so transformed in character or energies by human power as to become something new.

ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION

artificial insemination.Family law. A process for achieving conception, whereby semen is inserted into a woman's vagina by some means other than intercourse. • If the woman is married when the artificial insemination and the birth occur, and her husband has consented to the insemination, and the insemination is performed by a licensed physician, the husband is considered the father of the child. If the woman is unmarried at the time of the insemination, several factors, varying from jurisdiction to jurisdiction, determine whether the donor is considered the father of the child. Cf. IN VITRO FERTILIZATION ; GAMETE INTRAFALLOPIAN TRANSFER; ZYGOTE INTRAFALLOPIAN TRANSFER .

artificial insemination by donor. Artificial insemination in which the semen donor is someone other than the recipient's husband. — Abbr. AID. — Also termed heterologous artificial insemination; exogamous insemination.

artificial insemination by husband. Artificial insemination in which the semen donor is the recipient's husband. — Abbr. AIH. — Also termed homologous insemination; endogenous insemination.

endogenous insemination. See artificial insemination by husband.

exogamous insemination. See artificial insemination by donor.

heterologous artificial insemination. See artificial insemination by donor.

homologous artificial insemination. See artificial insemination by husband.

ARTIFICIAL PERSON

artificial person. See PERSON(3).

ARTIFICIAL PRESUMPTION

artificial presumption. See presumption of law under PRESUMPTION.

ARTIFICIAL SUCCESSION

artificial succession. See SUCCESSION(4).

ARTIFICIAL WATERCOURSE

artificial watercourse. See WATERCOURSE.

ARTISAN

artisan. 1. An artist; esp., a skilled crafter. 2. Patents. A person of ordinary skill in an art, for purposes of determining whether a patent application meets the enablement requirement of 35 USCA § 112. • In patent-law terms, the disclosure in the application must teach the artisan how to practice the invention. — Also termed skilled artisan.

ARTISAN'S LIEN

artisan's lien. See mechanic's lien under LIEN.

ARTISTIC LICENSE

artistic license. See LICENSE.

ARTISTIC WORK

artistic work. See WORK(2).

ART UNIT

art unit. Patents. A group of patent examiners in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office specializing in a particular field of technology. • Each art unit is led by a senior patent examiner.

A RUBRO AD NIGRUM

a rubro ad nigrum (ay roo-broh ad nI-gr<<schwa>>m). [Latin] From the red to the black — i.e., from the title of a statute (formerly often printed in red letters) to its body (often printed in black letters).

AS

as (as), n.[Latin] 1.Roman law. A pound weight or a coin weighing a pound, divisible into 12 parts, called unciae. • As and the multiples of its unciae were used to denote interest rates. See UNCIA. 2.Roman & civil law. A whole inheritance; the whole of an asset. Pl. asses.

AS-APPLIED CHALLENGE

as-applied challenge.See CHALLENGE(1).

ASCAP

ASCAP.abbr. AMERICAN SOCIETY OF COMPOSERS, AUTHORS, AND PUBLISHERS.

ASCENDANT

ascendant (<<schwa>>-sen-d<<schwa>>nt), n. One who precedes in lineage, such as a parent or grandparent. — Also termed ancestor. Cf. DESCENDANT. — ascendant,adj.

collateral ascendant.Loosely, an aunt, uncle, or other relative who is not strictly an ancestor. — Also termed collateral ancestor.

lineal ascendant.A blood relative in the direct line of ascent; ancestor. • Parents, grandparents, and great-grandparents are lineal ascendants.

ASCENT

ascent. The passing of an estate upwards to an heir in the ascending line. Cf. DESCENT.

ASCRIPITICIUS

ascripticius. See ADSCRIPTITIUS.

ASCRIPITITIUS

ascriptitius (as-krip-tish-ee-<<schwa>>s), n. See ADSCRIPTITIUS.

ASCRIPITUS

ascriptus. See ADSCRIPTUS.

ASE

ASE.abbr.AMERICAN STOCK EXCHANGE.

AS EFFEIRS

as effeirs.See EFFEIRS, AS.

AS-EXTRACTED COLLATERAL

as-extracted collateral.See COLLATERAL.

ASEXUALIZATION

asexualization. See STERILIZATION.

ASEXUALLY REPRODUCING PLANT

asexually reproducing plant.Patents. A plant that reproduces other than by seeds. • Examples of asexual re-production include cutting, grafting, and budding. Only new, distinctive, and nonobvious species of asexually reproducing plants may be protected under the Plant Patent Act. 35 USCA § 161. [Cases: Patents 14. C.J.S. Patents § 22.]

ASFA

ASFA.abbr.ADOPTION AND SAFE FAMILIES ACT.

ASHWANDER<TT> RULES

Ashwander rules. A set of principles outlining the U.S. Supreme Court's policy of deciding constitutional questions only when necessary, and of avoiding a constitutional question if the case can be decided on the basis of another issue. • These rules were outlined in Justice Brandeis's concurring opinion in Ashwander v. Tennessee Valley Authority, 297 U.S. 288, 56 S.Ct. 466 (1936). They include the policy that the court should not decide a constitutional question in a friendly suit, should not anticipate a question of constitutional law, should not create a rule of constitutional law that is broader than that called for by the facts of the case, should not decide a constitutional issue if the case can be decided on another ground, should not rule on the constitutionality of a statute unless the plaintiff is harmed by the statute or if the plaintiff has accepted the benefits of the statute, and should not rule on the constitutionality of an act of Congress without first analyzing whether the act can be fairly construed in a way that would avoid the constitutional question. — Also termed Brandeis rules. [Cases: Constitutional Law 46(1). C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 88–89, 92.]

AS IS

as is,adv. & adj. In the existing condition without modification <the customer bought the car as is>. • Under UCC § 2-316(3)(a), a seller can disclaim all implied warranties by stating that the goods are being sold “as is” or “with all faults.” Generally, a sale of property “as is” means that the property is sold in its existing condition, and use of the phrase as is relieves the seller from liability for defects in that condition. — Also termed with all faults. [Cases: Contracts 205.30; Sales 267. C.J.S. Contracts § 359; Sales §§ 238, 263–270.]

AS-IS WARRANTY

as-is warranty.See WARRANTY(2).

ASKED PRICE

asked price. See PRICE.

ASKING PRICE

asking price. See PRICE.

AS OF RIGHT

as of right. By virtue of a legal entitlement <the case is not one triable to a jury as of right>.

ASP

ASP. abbr. APPLICATION SERVICE PROVIDER.

AS PER

as per. In accordance with; PER(3). • This phrase has traditionally been considered a barbarism, per being the preferred form in commercialese <per your request>. But even per can be improved on <as you requested>.

ASPIRIN WARS

aspirin wars. Slang. A series of false-advertising lawsuits between makers of over-the-counter pain relievers in the 1980s, all regarding the boundaries of comparative advertising.

ASPORTATION

asportation (as-p<<schwa>>r-tay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. The act of carrying away or removing (property or a person). • Asportation is a necessary element of larceny. — Also termed carrying away. See LARCENY. [Cases: Kidnapping 1; Larceny 17; Robbery 10. C.J.S. Kidnapping §§ 1–2; Larceny § 6; Robbery § 5.] — asport, vb. — asportative, adj.

“There is no larceny unless the personal goods of another which have been taken by trespass are ‘carried away,’ but this technical requirement may be satisfied by a very slight movement. There must be ‘asportation,’ to use the word commonly found in the early cases, but the slightest start of the carrying-away movement constitutes asportation.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 323 (3d ed. 1982).

“To constitute larceny, there must be a taking or caption and carrying away or asportation of the property of another. There is a caption when the defendant takes possession. He takes possession when he exercises dominion and control over the property. There is an asportation when he carries away the property; any carrying away movement, however slight, is sufficient. An asportation presupposes a prior caption; therefore, there can be no asportation unless there has first been a caption.” 3 Charles E. Torcia, Wharton's Criminal Law § 357, at 412–13 (15th ed. 1995).

ASPORTAVIT

asportavit (as-por-tay-vit). [Law Latin] He carried away.

ASR

ASR.abbr.ACCOUNTING SERIES RELEASE.

ASSAILANT

assailant. 1. One who physically attacks another; one who commits an assault. 2. One who attacks another using nonphysical means; esp., one who attacks another's position or feelings, as by criticism, argument, or abusive language.

ASSART

assart.Hist. 1. The action of pulling up trees and bushes in a forest to make the land arable. • This was a crime if done without a license. 2. A piece of land made arable by clearing a forest.

ASSASSINATION

assassination,n. The act of deliberately killing someone, esp. a public figure, usu. for hire or for political reasons. — assassinate,vb. — assassin,n.

ASSAULT

assault,n.1.Criminal & tort law. The threat or use of force on another that causes that person to have a reasonable apprehension of imminent harmful or offensive contact; the act of putting another person in reasonable fear or apprehension of an immediate battery by means of an act amounting to an attempt or threat to commit a battery. [Cases: Assault and Battery 2, 48. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 2–4, 6–8, 62, 64–66, 81.] 2.Criminal law. An attempt to commit battery, requiring the specific intent to cause physical injury. — Also termed (in senses 1 & 2) simple assault; common assault. 3. Loosely, a battery. 4. Popularly, any attack. Cf. BATTERY. — assault,vb. — assaultive,adj.

“Ordinary usage creates a certain difficulty in pinning down the meaning of ‘assault.’ Etymologically, the word is compounded of the Latin ad + saltare, to jump at. In popular language, it has always connoted a physical attack. When we say that D assaults V, we have a mental picture of D attacking V, by striking or pushing or stabbing him. In the middle ages, however, the terms ‘assault’ and ‘battery’ were given technical meanings which they have retained ever since. It became settled that though an assault could be committed by physical contact, it did not require this, since a show of force raising an apprehension in the mind of the victim was sufficient. Also, a ‘battery’ did not require an actual beating; the use of any degree of force against the body would suffice. The acts of spitting on a person and kissing without consent are both batteries.” Glanville Williams, Textbook of Criminal Law 135–36 (1978).

“In addition to the classic definitions of assault, some jurisdictions have used assault as a generic term to describe either assault or battery. Thus, a defendant who intentionally injures somebody may be convicted of assault rather than battery.” Arnold H. Loewy, Criminal Law in a Nutshell 57 (2d ed. 1987).

aggravated assault.Criminal assault accompanied by circumstances that make it more severe, such as the intent to commit another crime or the intent to cause serious bodily injury, esp. by using a deadly weapon. See Model Penal Code § 211.1(2). [Cases: Assault and Battery 54. C.J.S.

Assault and Battery §§ 72–74, 80–81.]

“The common law did not include any offense known as ‘aggravated assault.’ However, it did make provision for certain situations in this field, under other names. If, for example, the intended application of force to the person would have resulted in murder, mayhem, rape or robbery, if successful, and the scheme proceeded far enough to constitute an attempt the prosecution was for an attempt to commit the intended felony.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 180 (3d ed. 1982).

assault purpensé (<<schwa>>-sawlt poor-pawn-say). [French] Hist. Premeditated assault. — Also termed assultus premeditatus (<<schwa>>-s<< schwa>>l-t<<schwa>>s pree-med-<<schwa>>-tay-tis).

“Even before the conquest, ... deliberately planned assassinations came to be distinguished and put into the list of Crown pleas as forsteal. The original sense of this word was lying in wait to ambush the victim. After the conquest this is expressed in various terms in French and Latin, but frequently takes the form of assault purpensé, or assultus premeditatus. In time this yields before malitia excogitata, and so introduces us to the very troublesome word ‘malice.’” Theodore F.T. Plucknett, A Concise History of the Common Law 444 (5th ed. 1956).

assault to rape. See assault with intent to commit rape.

assault with a deadly weapon. An aggravated assault in which the defendant, using a deadly weapon, threatens the victim with death or serious bodily injury. — Also termed assault with a dangerous weapon. [Cases: Assault and Battery 56. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 77–79.]

assault with intent. Any of several assaults that are carried out with an additional criminal purpose in mind, such as assault with intent to murder, assault with intent to rob, assault with intent to rape, and assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury. • These are modern statutory inventions that are often found in state criminal codes. [Cases: Homicide 725; Rape 16; Robbery 13. C.J.S. Rape §§ 32, 36–43; Robbery §§ 78–79, 82.]

assault with intent to commit rape. An assault carried out with the additional criminal purpose of raping the victim. — Also termed assault to rape. [Cases: Rape 6. C.J.S. Rape § 19.]

atrocious assault. An assault that causes severe wounding or maiming.

attempted assault. An attempt to commit an assault; an attempted battery that has not progressed far enough to be an assault, as when a person intends to harm someone physically but is captured while or after trying to locate the intended victim in his or her place of employment. • Traditionally, most commentators held that an attempted assault could not exist because assault was in itself an attempt to commit a crime. Many modern authorities, however, assert that an attempted assault can occur, and that it should be punishable. — Also termed attempt to assault. See ATTEMPT TO ATTEMPT. [Cases: Assault and Battery 61. C.J.S. Assault and Battery § 82.]

“[I]t is apparent that reference may be made to an ‘attempt to assault’ without logical absurdity. There is nothing absurd in referring to an attempt to frighten, which would constitute, if successful, a criminal assault in most jurisdictions.... It is not surprising, therefore, that there is a tendency to break away from the ancient view that there is no such offense known to the law as an attempt to commit an assault.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 168 (3d ed. 1982).

“By far the most interesting cases in this area are the attempted assault cases. Where assault is defined as intentionally putting another in fear of a battery, there is of course no basis for denying the possibility of an attempt. Where, however, assault is defined as an attempted battery, attempted assault looks very much like the forbidden ‘attempt to attempt’ a battery. For this reason some courts have held that there is no such crime as attempted assault. Other courts, however, have held that an attempted assault can exist, defining it as an attempted battery which has not progressed far enough to be an assault.” Arnold H. Loewy, Criminal Law in a Nutshell 223–24 (2d ed. 1987).

civil assault.An assault considered as a tort and not as a crime. • Although the same assaultive conduct can be both a tort and a crime, this term isolates the legal elements that give rise to civil liability. [Cases: Assault and Battery 2. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 2–4, 6–8.]

conditional assault.An assault expressing a threat on condition, such as “your money or your life.”

criminal assault.An assault considered as a crime and not as a tort. • This term isolates the legal elements that give rise to criminal liability even though the act might also have been tortious. [Cases: Assault and Battery 48. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 2–3, 62, 64–66, 81.]

excusable assault.An assault committed by accident or while doing a lawful act by lawful means, with ordinary caution and without any unlawful intent.

felonious assault.An assault that is of sufficient severity to be classified and punished as a felony. See aggravated assault; assault with a deadly weapon. [Cases: Assault and Battery 60. C.J.S. Assault and Battery § 63.]

indecent assault.See sexual assault (2).

malicious assault with a deadly weapon.An aggravated assault in which the victim is threatened with death or serious bodily harm from the defendant's use of a deadly weapon. • Malice is inferred from both the nature of the assault and the weapon used. [Cases: Assault and Battery 56. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 77–79.]

sexual assault. 1. Sexual intercourse with another person who does not consent. • Several state statutes have abolished the crime of rape and replaced it with the offense of sexual assault. [Cases: Rape 1. C.J.S. Rape §§ 1–3, 15.] 2. Offensive sexual contact with another person, exclusive of rape. • The Model Penal Code lists eight circumstances under which sexual contact results in an assault, as when the offender knows that the victim is mentally incapable of appreciating the nature of the conduct, either because of a mental disease or defect or because the offender has drugged the victim to prevent resistance. See Model Penal Code § 213.4. — Also termed (in sense 2) indecent assault. Cf. RAPE. [Cases: Assault and Battery 59. C.J.S. Assault and Battery § 74.]

simple assault.1. See ASSAULT(1).2. See ASSAULT(2).

“(1) Simple Assault. A person is guilty of assault if he: (a) attempts to cause or purposely, knowingly or recklessly causes bodily injury to another; or (b) negligently causes bodily injury to another with a deadly weapon; or (c) attempts by physical menace to put another in fear of imminent serious bodily injury.” Model Penal Code § 211.1 (1997).

ASSAULT AND BATTERY

assault and battery.Loosely, a criminal battery. See BATTERY.

“Although the term assault and battery is frequently used when a battery has been committed, one who commits a battery cannot also be punished for committing an assault, since the lesser offense of assault blends into the actual battery.” Paul Marcus, “Assault and Battery,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice 88, 88 (Sanford H. Kadish ed., 1983).

ASSAULTEE

assaultee. A person who is assaulted.

ASSAULTER

assaulter. A person who assaults another.

ASSAULT WITH A DANGEROUS WEAPON assault with a dangerous weapon.See assault with a deadly weapon under ASSAULT.

ASSAY

assay,n.1. A proof or trial, by chemical experiments, of the purity of metals, esp. gold and silver. 2. An examination of weights and measures. [Cases: Weights and Measures 3. C.J.S. Weights and Measures § 3.]

ASSAYATOR REGIS

assayator regis.See ASSAYER OF THE KING.

ASSAYER

assayer. One who makes assays of precious metals.

ASSAYER OF THE KING

assayer of the king.Hist. An officer of the royal mint, appointed by St.2 Hen. 6, ch. 12, who receives and tests bullion taken in for coining. — Also termed assayator regis.

ASSECURARE

assecurare (<<schwa>>-sek-y<<schwa>>-rair-ee), vb.[Law Latin] Hist. To make secure, as by pledges.

ASSECURATION

assecurator (<<schwa>>-sek-y<<schwa>>-ray-sh<<schwa>>n).Marine insurance. Insurance.

ASSECURATOR

assecurator (<<schwa>>-sek-y<<schwa>>-ray-t<<schwa>>r).Marine insurance. An insurer.

ASSEMBLY

assembly. 1. A group of persons organized and united for some common purpose.

delegate assembly.See CONVENTION(4).

deliberative assembly.Parliamentary law. A body that transacts business according to parliamentary law. • A deliberative assembly typically has several distinctive characteristics: (1) it is a group of people who meet all together to propose, discuss, and possibly vote on courses of action to be undertaken in the group's name; (2) participants are free to use their own judgment; (3) enough people participate that a certain degree of formality in proceedings is desirable; (4) each participant has one vote and may dissent without fear of expulsion; and (5) when some members are absent, the members actually present have the authority to act for the entire group (subject to quorum and other requirements). See Henry M. Robert, Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised § 1, at 2 (10th ed. 2000).

ordinary assembly.Parliamentary law. A deliberative assembly other than a legislative body.

riotous assembly.Hist. An unlawful assemblage of 12 or more persons causing a disturbance of the peace. See RIOT. [Cases: Riot 1. C.J.S. Riot; Insurrection §§ 2–10.]

unlawful assembly.A meeting of three or more persons who intend either to commit a violent crime or to carry out some act, lawful or unlawful, that will constitute a breach of the peace. Cf. RIOT. [Cases: Unlawful Assembly 1. C.J.S. Unlawful Assembly §§ 2–5, 9–13.]

“In order that the assembly may be ‘unlawful,’ it is not necessary that the object of the meeting should itself be illegal. The test is, not the illegality of the purpose for which the persons are met, but the danger to the peace which their meeting involves. The mere fact, therefore, that the purpose is unlawful is not enough; it must be shown that it involves reasonable apprehension of a breach of the peace. Thus, if a number of persons meet to plan a fraud, they may be guilty of a conspiracy, but their meeting is not an unlawful assembly.” 4 Stephen's Commentaries on the Laws of England 135–36 (L. Crispin Warmington ed., 21st ed. 1950).

“An unlawful assembly differs from a riot in that if the parties assemble in a tumultuous manner, and actually execute their purpose with violence, it is a riot; but if they merely meet on a purpose, which, if executed, would make them rioters, and, having done nothing, they separate without carrying their purpose into effect, it is an unlawful assembly.” 77 C.J.S. Riot; Insurrection § 2, at 565 (1994).

2. In many states, the lower house of a legislature. 3.Parliamentary law. CONVENTION(4).4.Patents. In a patent claim, a collection of parts used to form a structure.

ASSEMBLY, RIGHT OF

assembly, right of. See RIGHT OF ASSEMBLY.

ASSENSIO MENTIUM

assensio mentium (<<schwa>>-sen-see-oh men-shee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin "assent of minds"] See MEETING OF THE MINDS.

ASSENT

assent, n. Agreement, approval, or permission; esp., verbal or nonverbal conduct reasonably interpreted as willingness. See CONSENT. — assent, vb.

"The requirement of 'assent,' which is fundamental to the formation of a binding contract, implies in a general way that both parties to an exchange shall have a reasonably clear conception of what they are getting and what they are giving up." Marvin A. Chirelstein, Concepts and Case Analysis in the Law of Contracts 66 (1990).

actual assent. Assent given by words or conduct intended to express willingness.

apparent assent. Assent given by language or conduct that, while not necessarily intended to express willingness, would be understood by a reasonable person to be so intended and is actually so understood.

constructive assent. Assent imputed to someone based on conduct.

express assent. Assent clearly and unmistakably communicated.

implied assent. Assent inferred from one's conduct rather than from direct expression.

mutual assent. Agreement by both parties to a contract, usu. in the form of offer and acceptance. • In modern contract law, mutual assent is determined by an objective standard — that is, by the apparent intention of the parties as manifested by their actions. Cf. MEETING OF THE MINDS. [Cases: Contracts 15. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 35–36, 38.]

ASSENTED STOCK

assented stock. See STOCK.

ASSENTING-SILENCE DOCTRINE

assenting-silence doctrine. The principle that an accusation will be taken as true, despite silence by the accused, if the accusation was made under circumstances in which silence can be fairly said to be an agreement. • This doctrine is usu. held to be invalid as a measure of a criminal defendant's guilt. [Cases: Criminal Law 407. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 887.]

ASSERT

assert, vb. 1. To state positively. 2. To invoke or enforce (a legal right). — assertor, n.

ASSERTION

assertion,n.1. A declaration or allegation. 2. A person's speaking, writing, acting, or failing to act with the intent of expressing a fact or opinion; the act or an instance of engaging in communicative behavior. See assertive conduct under CONDUCT.

ASSERTIVE CONDUCT

assertive conduct.See CONDUCT.

ASSERTIVE QUESTION

assertive question.Civil law. A question asked of a witness at a criminal trial, by which inadmissible evidence is sought, to provide the jury with details regarding another crime. Cf. INTERROGATIVE QUESTION.

ASSERTORY COVENANT

assertory covenant.See COVENANT(1).

ASSERTORY OATH

assertory oath (<<schwa>>-s<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>-ree). See OATH.

ASSESSABLE INSURANCE

assessable insurance.1.INSURANCE. 2. See assessable policy (1) under INSURANCE POLICY.

ASSESSABLE POLICY

assessable policy.1.INSURANCE POLICY. 2. See assessable insurance (1) under INSURANCE.

ASSESSABLE SECURITY

assessable security.See SECURITY.

ASSESSABLE STOCK

assessable stock.See STOCK.

ASSESSED VALUATION

assessed valuation.See VALUATION.

ASSESSEE

assessee (as-<<schwa>>-see), n. A person against whom a payment is assessed.

ASSESSMENT

assessment,n.1. Determination of the rate or amount of something, such as a tax or damages <assessment of the losses covered by insurance>. [Cases: Damages 95–126; Internal Revenue 4520; Taxation 308.C.J.S. Damages §§ 105–153, 163–164; Internal Revenue § 641; Parent and Child § 344; Taxation § 1673.] 2. Imposition of something, such as a tax or fine, according to an established rate; the tax or fine so imposed < assessment of a luxury tax>. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4520; Taxation 308. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 641; Taxation § 1673.]

“There is a distinction between public improvements, which benefit the entire community, and local improve-ments, which benefit particular real estate or limited areas of land. The latter improvements are usually financed by means of special, or local, assessments. These assessments are, in a certain sense, taxes. But an assessment differs from a general tax in that an assessment is levied only on property in the immediate vicinity of some local municipal improvement and is valid only where the property assessed receives some special benefit differing from the benefit that the general public enjoys.” Robert Kratovil, Real Estate Law 465 (6th ed. 1974).

assessment for benefits. See special assessment.

deficiency assessment. An assessment by the IRS — after administrative review and tax-court adjudication — of additional tax owed by a taxpayer who underpaid. See DEFICIENCY(2). [Cases: Internal Revenue 4520. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 641.]

double assessment. The act of requiring that tax be paid twice for the same property. See double taxation under TAXATION.

erroneous assessment. An assessment that deviates from the law and creates a jurisdictional defect, and that is therefore invalid.

excessive assessment. A tax assessment that is grossly disproportionate as compared with other assessments. [Cases: Taxation 40(7). C.J.S. Taxation § 35.]

frontage assessment. A municipal tax charged to a property owner for local improvements that abut a street or highway, such as sidewalks, pavements, or sewage lines. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 469. C.J.S. Mu-nicipal Corporations §§ 1281–1283, 1285.]

jeopardy assessment. An assessment by the IRS — without the usual review procedures — of additional tax owed by a taxpayer who underpaid, based on the IRS's belief that collection of the deficiency would be jeopardized by delay. IRC (26 USCA) §§ 6811 et seq. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4548. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 651.]

local assessment. A tax to pay for improvements (such as sewers and sidewalks) in a designated area, levied on property owners who will benefit from the improvements. — Also termed local-improvement assessment. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 405. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 1116–1118.]

“Since there is [an] important and fundamental distinction between the tax in the more limited sense and the local assessment, the question often arises whether provisions in constitutions and statutes which refer by name to taxes, include also local assessments. This is primarily a question of legislative intention. In the absence of anything to show the specific intention of the legislature, the general rule is that the local assessment possesses such marked peculiarities differentiating it from the tax in the more limited sense of the term, that the use of the term ‘tax’ does not prima facie show an intention to include local assessments.” 1 William H. Page & Paul Jones, A Treatise on the Law of Taxation by Local and Special Assessments § 39, at 67

(1909).

maintenance assessment. See MAINTENANCE FEE(2).

political assessment. Hist. A charge levied on officeholders and political candidates by a political party to defray the expenses for a political canvass.

special assessment. The assessment of a tax on property that benefits in some important way from a public improvement. — Also termed assessment for benefits. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 405. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 1116–1118.]

3. Official valuation of property for purposes of taxation <assessment of the beach house>. — Also termed tax assessment. Cf. APPRAISAL. [Cases: Taxation 309. C.J.S. Taxation §§ 478–480.] 4. An audit or review < internal financial assessment> <environmental site assessment>. — assess, vb.

ASSESSMENT BOND

assessment bond. See BOND(3).

ASSESSMENT COMPANY

assessment company. An association that offers its members life insurance, and then pays for death losses by levying an assessment on the surviving members of the association.

ASSESSMENT CONTRACT

assessment contract. See CONTRACT.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

assessment district. See DISTRICT.

ASSESSMENT FOR BENEFITS

assessment for benefits. See special assessment under ASSESSMENT.

ASSESSMENT FUND

assessment fund. The balance of the assessments of a mutual-benefit association, minus expenses, from which beneficiaries are paid. [Cases: Beneficial Associations 17. C.J.S. Beneficial Associations § 28.]

ASSESSMENT INSURANCE

assessment insurance. See INSURANCE.

ASSESSMENT LIST

assessment list. See ASSESSMENT ROLL.

ASSESSMENT PERIOD

assessment period. A taxable period.

ASSESSMENT RATIO

assessment ratio. For property-tax purposes, the ratio of assessed value to fair market value.

ASSESSMENT ROLL

assessment roll. A record of taxable persons and property, prepared by a tax assessor. — Also termed assessment list. [Cases: Taxation 408. C.J.S. Taxation § 580.]

ASSESSMENT WORK

assessment work. Mining law. The annual labor (such as improvements) that must be performed on an unpatented mining claim to continue to hold the claim. [Cases: Mines and Minerals 23. C.J.S. Mines and Minerals §§ 84, 96.]

ASSESSOR

assessor. 1. One who evaluates or makes assessments, esp. for purposes of taxation. — Also termed (specif.) tax assessor. [Cases: Taxation 309, 312. C.J.S. Taxation §§ 455–457, 459–461, 478–480.] 2. A person who advises a judge or magistrate about scientific or technical matters during a trial. See MASTER(2). 3. ADSESSOR. — assessorial (as-<<schwa>>-sor-ee-*<<schwa>>*l), adj. — assessorship, n.

ASSET

asset. 1. An item that is owned and has value. 2. (pl.) The entries on a balance sheet showing the items of property owned, including cash, inventory, equipment, real estate, accounts receivable, and goodwill. 3. (pl.) All the property of a person (esp. a bankrupt or deceased person) available for paying debts or for distribution.

accrued asset. An asset arising from revenues earned but not yet due.

admitted asset. An asset that by law may be included in evaluating the financial condition of an insurance company. Cf. nonadmitted asset. [Cases: Insurance 1363. C.J.S. Insurance § 168.]

appointive asset. An asset distributed under a power of appointment.

assets by descent. The portion of an estate that passes to an heir and is sufficient to charge the heir with the decedent's specialty debts. — Also termed assets per descent.

assets in hand. The portion of an estate held by an executor or administrator for the payment of debts chargeable to the executor or administrator. — Also termed assets entre main; assets entre mains.

assets per descent. See assets by descent.

asset under management. A securities portfolio for which an investment adviser provides ongoing, regular supervisory or management services.

capital asset. 1. A long-term asset used in the operation of a business or used to produce goods or services, such as equipment, land, or an industrial plant. — Also termed fixed asset. 2.

For income-tax purposes, any of most assets held by a taxpayer except those assets specifically excluded by the Internal Revenue Code. • Excluded from the definition are, among other things, stock in trade, inventory, and property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of trade or business. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3230.1–3261. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 127–145, 490–491, 671.]

commercial assets.The aggregate of available property, stock in trade, cash, and other assets belonging to a merchant.

current asset.An asset that is readily convertible into cash, such as a marketable security, a note, or an account receivable. — Also termed liquid asset; quick asset; near money; financial asset.

“Current assets are assets expected to be converted to cash, sold, or consumed during the next twelve months, or within the business's normal operating cycle if the cycle is longer than a year. The operating cycle is the period from the time that cash is used to acquire goods and services, these goods and services are sold to customers, and the accounts receivable from these customers are collected in cash. For a small retail store, the operating cycle may be only a few weeks or months. For a shipbuilding company, however, the normal operating cycle could run several years.” Jay Alix & Elmer E. Heupel, Financial Handbook for Bankruptcy Professionals § 9.2, at 354 (1991).

dead asset.A worthless asset that has no realizable value, such as an uncollectible account receivable.

earning asset.(usu. pl.) An asset (esp. of a bank) on which interest is received. • Banks consider loans to be earning assets.

equitable asset.An asset that is subject to payment only in a court of equity.

financial asset.See current asset.

fixed asset.See capital asset (1).

frozen asset.An asset that is difficult to convert into cash because of court order or other legal process.

hard asset.See real asset.

hidden asset.An asset carried on the books at a substantially reduced or understated value that is considerably less than market value.

illiquid asset.An asset that is not readily convertible into cash, usu. because of (1) the lack of demand, (2) the absence of an established market, or (3) the substantial cost or time required for liquidation (such as for real property, even when it is desirable).

individual asset.(usu. pl.) Property belonging to a member of a partnership as personal property, apart from the firm's property. [Cases: Partnership 67. C.J.S. Partnership §§ 70–72.]

intangible asset.Any nonphysical asset or resource that can be amortized or converted to cash, such as patents, goodwill, and computer programs, or a right to something, such as services paid for in advance.

legal asset. A decedent's asset that by law is subject to the claims of creditors or legacies. — Also termed probate asset. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 38. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 2, 121, 130.]

liquid asset. See current asset.

mass asset. An intangible asset, such as a dominant market position, that is made up of several components but that is considered a single entity for purposes of depreciation, because the loss of any component of the asset is replaced by new components, so that the whole asset has little or no fluctuation in value. • An entity with a dominant market position might lose a vendor but, because of its dominant market position, still be able to replace the loss with a new vendor. The market position is therefore considered a mass asset.

net assets. See net worth under WORTH.

net quick assets. The excess of quick assets less current liabilities. See QUICK-ASSET RATIO.

new asset. Wills & estates. In the administration of a decedent's estate, property that the administrator or executor receives after the time has expired to file claims against the estate.

nominal asset. An asset whose value is difficult to assess, such as a judgment or claim.

nonadmitted asset. An asset that by law may not be included in evaluating the financial condition of an insurance company because it cannot be converted quickly into cash without a financial loss. Cf. admitted asset. [Cases: Insurance 1363. C.J.S. Insurance § 168.]

nonprobate asset. Property that passes to a named beneficiary upon the owner's death according to the terms of some contract or arrangement other than a will. • Such an asset is not a part of the probate estate and is not ordinarily subject to the probate court's jurisdiction (and fees), though it is part of the taxable estate. Examples include life-insurance contracts, joint property arrangements with right of survivorship, pay-on-death bank accounts, and inter vivos trusts. — Also termed nonprobate property. Cf. WILL SUBSTITUTE.

personal asset. An asset in the form of money or chattels.

premarital asset. Property that a spouse owned before marrying. • In most jurisdictions, this is part of the spouse's separate property. See SEPARATE PROPERTY. Cf. COMMUNITY PROPERTY.

probate asset. See legal asset.

quick asset. 1. Cash and other current assets other than inventory. 2. See current asset.

real asset. 1. An asset in the form of land. 2. Loosely, any tangible asset. — Also termed hard asset.

tangible asset. An asset that has a physical existence and is capable of being assigned a value.

wasting asset. An asset exhausted through use or the loss of value, such as an oil well or a coal deposit.

ASSET ACQUISITION

asset acquisition. Acquisition of a corporation by purchasing all its assets directly from the corporation itself, rather than by purchasing shares from its shareholders. — Also termed asset purchase. Cf. SHARE ACQUISITION.

ASSET ALLOCATION

asset allocation. The spreading of funds between different types of investments with the intention of decreasing risk and increasing return.

ASSET-BACKED SECURITY

asset-backed security. See SECURITY.

ASSET-BASED FINANCING

asset-based financing. See FINANCING.

ASSET-COVERAGE TEST

asset-coverage test. Accounting. A bond-indenture restriction that permits additional borrowing only if the ratio of assets (typically net tangible assets) to debt (typically long-term debt) does not fall below a specified minimum.

ASSET-DEPRECIATION RANGE

asset-depreciation range. Tax. The IRS's range of depreciation lifetimes allowed for assets placed in service between 1970 and 1980 and for assets depreciated under the Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System under the Tax Reform Act of 1986. — Abbr. ADR. See ACCELERATED COST RECOVERY SYSTEM. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3476. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 230, 234, 239, 249.]

ASSET DIVIDEND

asset dividend. See DIVIDEND.

ASSET-PROTECTION TRUST

asset-protection trust. See self-settled trust under TRUST.

ASSET PURCHASE

asset purchase. See ASSET ACQUISITION.

ASSETS BY DESCENT

assets by descent. See ASSET.

ASSETSENTE MAIN

assets entre main. See assets in hand under ASSET.

ASSETS IN HAND

assets in hand. See ASSET.

ASSETS PER DESCENT

assets per descent. See assets by descent under ASSET.

ASSET UNDER MANAGEMENT

asset under management. See ASSET.

ASSET VALUE

asset value. See NET ASSET VALUE.

ASSEVERATE

asseverate (<<schwa>>-sev-<<schwa>>-rayt), vb. To state solemnly or positively; to aver. See AVERMENT. — asseveration (<<schwa>>-sev-<<schwa>>-ray-sh<< schwa>>n), n.

ASSIGN

assign, n. (usu. pl.) See ASSIGNEE.

assign, vb. 1. To convey; to transfer rights or property <the bank assigned the note to a thrift institution>. 2. To assert; to point out <the appellant assigned as errors two of the trial court's rulings>. See ASSIGNMENT OF ERROR .

ASSIGNABLE

assignable, adj. That can be assigned; transferable from one person to another, so that the transferee has the same rights as the transferor had <assignable right>. Cf. NEGOTIABLE. [Cases: Assignments 1. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 2–7; Right of Privacy and Publicity § 42.]

ASSIGNABLE LEASE

assignable lease. See LEASE.

ASSIGNATION

assignment (as-ig-nay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. 1. Archaic. An appointment of a time and place to meet, esp. for en-gaging in illicit sex. 2. Eccles. law. A specific allegation in a defendant's counterpleading. 3. French law. A plaintiff's complaint; a writ of summons.

ASSIGNATION HOUSE

assignment house. See DISORDERLY HOUSE.

ASSIGN DOWER

assign dower.To set out the legal description of a widow's share of her deceased husband's estate. See DOWER.

ASSIGNED ACCOUNT

assigned account.See ACCOUNT.

ASSIGNED COUNSEL

assigned counsel.See COUNSEL.

ASSIGNED ERROR

assigned error.See ERROR.

ASSIGNED RISK

assigned risk.See RISK.

ASSIGNEE

assignee (<<schwa>>-sI-neeor as-<<schwa>>-nee). One to whom property rights or powers are transferred by another. • Use of the term is so widespread that it is difficult to ascribe positive meaning to it with any specificity. Courts recognize the protean nature of the term and are therefore often forced to look to the intent of the assignor and assignee in making the assignment — rather than to the formality of the use of the term assignee — in defining rights and responsibilities. — Also termed assign. [Cases: Assignments 90. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 73, 84, 88.]

absolute assignee.A person who is assigned an unqualified interest in property in a transfer of some or all of the incidents of ownership.

assignee ad interim.An assignee appointed between the time of bankruptcy and the appointment of a regular assignee.

assignee for value.An assignee who has paid for or otherwise given consideration for the assignment.

collateral assignee.A lender who is assigned an interest in property (usu. real property) as security for a loan.

gratuitous assignee.An assignee under an assignment not given for value.

subassignee. A person to whom a right is assigned by one who is a previous assignee of the right.

ASSIGNEE CLAUSE

assignee clause.A provision of the Judiciary Act of 1789 that prevented a litigant without diversity of citizenship from assigning a claim to another who did have the required diversity. • In 1948 the assignee clause was replaced by 28 USCA § 1359, which denies federal jurisdiction when a party is improperly or collusively joined, by as-signment or otherwise, merely to invoke jurisdiction.

ASSIGNER

assigner. See ASSIGNOR.

ASSIGNMENT

assignment. 1. The transfer of rights or property <assignment of stock options>. [Cases: Assignments 31. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 43, 46.] 2. The rights or property so transferred <the aunt assigned those funds to her niece, who promptly invested the assignment in mutual funds>.

“An assignment is a transfer or setting over of property, or of some right or interest therein, from one person to another; the term denoting not only the act of transfer, but also the instrument by which it is effected. In these senses the word is variously applied in law.” Alexander M. Burrill, A Treatise on the Law and Practice of Voluntary Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors § 1, at 1 (James Avery Webb ed., 6th ed. 1894).

“Negotiability differs from assignment, with which it has obvious affinities, in at least two respects. In the first place no notice need be given of the transfer of a negotiable instrument, and in the second place the transfer of such an instrument is not subject to equities. Thus whereas an assignor only transfers his rights subject to any defences which could be pleaded against him, a transfer of a negotiable instrument to someone in good faith passes a good title, free from any such defences. For instance a person who receives a cheque in good faith obtains a good title, even though the cheque may have been stolen. It is not, of course, any document which has the attributes of negotiability. Only those documents recognized by the custom of trade to be transferable by delivery (or endorsement) are negotiable. Other documents can only be transferred by assignment.” P.S. Atiyah, An Introduction to the Law of Contract 278–79 (3d ed. 1981).

absolute assignment. An assignment that leaves the assignor no interest in the assigned property or right. [Cases: Assignments 71. C.J.S. Assignments § 73.]

assignment by operation of law. A transfer of a right or obligation as a necessary consequence of a change in legal status, regardless of the affected party's intent. • For example, a right and a corresponding obligation may disappear if they vest in the same person, as might happen in a merger or acquisition.

assignment for value. An assignment given in exchange for consideration.

assignment in gross. A transfer of a company's trademark separately from the goodwill of the business. • Courts often hold that such an assignment passes nothing of value to the transferee. — Also termed naked assignment. See ANTI-ASSIGNMENT-IN-GROSS RULE. [Cases: Trade Regulation 93, 101.1. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 9, 205.]

assignment of account. An assignment that gives the assignee the right to funds in an account, usu. to satisfy a debt. [Cases: Assignments 10. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 19–21.]

assignment of application. 1. Patents. The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office's formal routing of a patent or trademark application to the examining group to which it appears to belong based on subject matter. 2. The transfer of the right to prosecute a patent or register a trademark. • The assignee must show ownership in the property to be patented or registered and, if less than absolute, the extent of ownership. See 37 CFR § 3.73. [Cases: Patents 183.]

assignment of dower (dow-<<schwa>>r). The act of setting apart a widow's share of her deceased husband's real property. [Cases: Dower and Curtesy 65–112. C.J.S. Dower §§ 75–129, 169–170.]

assignment of income. See assignment of wages.

assignment of lease. An assignment in which a lessee transfers the entire unexpired remainder of the lease term, as distinguished from a sublease transferring only a portion of the remaining term. [Cases: Landlord and Tenant 74. C.J.S. Landlord and Tenant §§ 30, 53.]

assignment of realty. A transfer of a real-property interest that is less than a freehold. • The term includes debt-security interests in land.

assignment of wages. A transfer of the right to collect wages from the wage-earner to a creditor. — Also termed assignment of income. [Cases: Assignments 11.1.]

assignment pro tanto. An assignment that results when an order is drawn on a third party and made payable from a particular fund that belongs to the drawer. • The drawee becomes an assignee with respect to the drawer's interest in that fund. [Cases: Assignments 49. C.J.S. Assignments § 55.]

collateral assignment. An assignment of property as collateral security for a loan. [Cases: Secured Transactions 181. C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 25, 134–136.]

common-law assignment. An assignment for the benefit of creditors made under the common law, rather than by statute. [Cases: Debtor and Creditor 1. C.J.S. Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 2, 4; Creditor and Debtor §§ 2–3.]

conditional assignment. An assignment of income (such as rent payments or accounts receivable) to a lender, made to secure a loan. • The lender receives the assigned income only if the assignor defaults on the underlying loan. [Cases: Mortgages 199(2); Secured Transactions 181. C.J.S. Mortgages §§ 301–302; Secured Transactions §§ 25, 134–136.]

effective assignment. An assignment that terminates the assignor's interest in the property and transfers it to the assignee.

equitable assignment. An assignment that, although not legally valid, will be recognized and enforced in equity — for example, an assignment of a chose in action or of future acquisitions of the assignor. • To accomplish an “equitable assignment,” there must be an absolute appropriation by the assignor of the debt or fund sought to be assigned. [Cases: Assignments 48. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 2, 53.]

fly-power assignment. A blank written assignment that, when attached to a stock certificate, renders the stock transferable. [Cases: Corporations 125. C.J.S. Corporations § 229.]

foreign assignment. An assignment made in a foreign country or in another jurisdiction.

general assignment. Assignment of a debtor's property for the benefit of all the assignor's creditors, instead of only a few. — Also termed voluntary assignment. See ASSIGNMENT FOR THE BENEFIT OF CREDITORS. [Cases: Debtor and Creditor 1. C.J.S. Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 2, 4; Creditor and Debtor §§ 2–3.]

gratuitous assignment. An assignment not given for value; esp., an assignment given or taken as security for — or in total or partial satisfaction of — a preexisting obligation. [Cases: Assignments 54. C.J.S. Assignments § 60.]

mesne assignment (meen). A middle or intermediate assignment; any assignment before the last one.

naked assignment. See assignment in gross.

partial assignment. The immediate transfer of part but not all of the assignor's right. [Cases: Assignments 30. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 10–12.]

preferential assignment. See PREFERENTIAL TRANSFER.

total assignment. An assignment empowering the assignee to enforce the entire right for the benefit of the assignor or others. • Examples are assignment to secure an obligation and assignment to a trustee.

voluntary assignment. See general assignment.

wage assignment. An assignment by an employee of a portion of the employee's pay to another (such as a creditor). [Cases: Assignments 11.1.]

3. The instrument of transfer <the assignment was appended to the contract>. [Cases: Assignments 31. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 43, 46.] 4. A welfare recipient's surrender of his or her rights to child support (both current and past due) in favor of the state as a condition of receiving governmental financial assistance <the assignment made economic sense to her because her child support amounted to $200 a month, while she received $400 a month in welfare>. 5. A task, job, or appointment <the student's math assignment> <assignment as ambassador to a foreign country>. 6. The act of assigning a task, job, or appointment <the assignment of various duties>.

assignment of the floor. Parliamentary law. The process by which the chair recognizes who is entitled to speak.

7. In litigation practice, a point that a litigant advances <the third assignment of error>.

new assignment. Hist. A plaintiff's restatement of a claim because the first complaint did not contain sufficient details. • The purpose was to allow a plaintiff to reply to a defendant's responsive plea that did not address the plaintiff's specific claim because the complaint was too general. New assignment has been replaced by amended pleadings. — Also termed novel assignment.

“A new assignment is a restatement in the replication of the plaintiff's cause of action. Where the declaration in an action is ambiguous and the defendant pleads facts which are literally an answer to it, but not to the real claim set up by the plaintiff, the plaintiff's course is to reply by way of new assignment; that is, to allege that he brought his action, not for the cause supposed by the defendant, but for some other cause, to which the plea has no application." Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 214, at 370 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

ASSIGNMENT CLAUSE

assignment clause.Oil & gas. See CHANGE-OF-OWNERSHIP CLAUSE.

ASSIGNMENT DIVISION

Assignment Division.The section of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office that is responsible for recording as-signments and other documents affecting title to patent and trademark applications, patents, and registrations.

ASSIGNMENT FOR THE BENEFIT OF CREDITORS

assignment for the benefit of creditors.Assignment of a debtor's property to another person in trust so as to consolidate and liquidate the debtor's assets for payment to creditors, any surplus being returned to the debtor. • This procedure serves as a state-law substitute for federal bankruptcy proceedings. The debtor is not discharged from unpaid debts by this procedure since creditors do not agree to any discharge. [Cases: Debtor and Creditor 1. C.J.S. Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 2, 4; Creditor and Debtor §§ 2–3.]

ASSIGNMENT OF DOWER

assignment of dower (dow-<<schwa>>r). See ASSIGNMENT(2).

ASSIGNMENT OF ERROR

assignment of error.A specification of the trial court's alleged errors on which the appellant relies in seeking an appellate court's reversal, vacation, or modification of an adverse judgment. Pl. assignments of error.See ER-ROR. Cf. WRIT OF ERROR. [Cases: Appeal and Error 718; Criminal Law 1129. C.J.S. Appeal and Error § 578; Criminal Law § 1688.]

ASSIGNMENT OF INCOME

assignment of income.See assignment of wages under ASSIGNMENT(2).

ASSIGNMENT-OF-INCOME DOCTRINE

assignment-of-income doctrine.Family law. The common-law principle that the person who has earned income is the person taxed on it, regardless of who receives the proceeds. • Under this doctrine, future income assigned to another is taxable to the assignor. For example, in Lucas v. Earl, 281 U.S. 111, 50 S.Ct. 241 (1930), the Court held that a husband who was the sole wage-earner could not assign to his wife half his income and then pay the federal income tax on only the unassigned part.

ASSIGNMENT OF LEASE

assignment of lease. See ASSIGNMENT(2).

ASSIGNMENT OF PROPERTY

assignment of property. See EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION.

ASSIGNMENT OF REALTY

assignment of realty. See ASSIGNMENT(2).

ASSIGNMENT-OF-RENTS CLAUSE

assignment-of-rents clause. A mortgage provision or separate agreement that entitles the lender to collect rents from the mortgaged premises if the borrower defaults. [Cases: Mortgages 199(2). C.J.S. Mortgages §§ 301–302.]

ASSIGNMENT OF RIGHTS

assignment of rights. Contracts. The transfer of rights, esp. contractual rights, from one party to another. [Cases: Assignments 17.]

ASSIGNMENT OF WAGES

assignment of wages. See ASSIGNMENT(2).

ASSIGNMENT PRO TANTO

assignment pro tanto. See ASSIGNMENT(2).

ASSIGNOR

assignor (as-<<schwa>>-noror <<schwa>>-sI-n<<schwa>>r or <<schwa>>-sI-nor). One who transfers property rights or powers to another. — Also spelled assigner. [Cases: Assignments 1. C.J.S. Assignments §§ 2–7; Right of Privacy and Publicity § 42.]

ASSIGNOR ESTOPPEL

assignor estoppel. See ESTOPPEL.

ASSIMILATIVE CRIMES ACT

Assimilative Crimes Act. A federal statute providing that state law applies to a crime committed within a federal enclave in that state (such as a reservation or military installation) if the crime is not punishable under federal law. 18 USCA § 13. • This statute uses local laws as gap-fillers for federal criminal law.

ASSISA ARMORUM

assisa armorum (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> ahr-mor-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin “assize of arms”] Hist. A statute requiring the keeping of arms for the common defense. — Also termed assize of arms. See Assize of Arms under ASSIZE(2).

ASSISA CADERE

assisa cadere (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> kad-<<schwa>>-ree), vb.[Law Latin] Hist. To fail in the assize, as by being nonsuited.

ASSISA CONTINUANDA

assisa continuanda (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> k<<schwa>>n-tin-yoo-an-d<<schwa>>) [Law Latin] Hist. A writ addressed to the justices of assize for the continuation of a case.

ASSISA DE FORESTA

assisa de foresta (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> dee for-es-t<<schwa>>), n.[Law Latin “assize of the forest”] Hist. A statute concerning orders to be observed in the royal forest. — Also termed ordinatio forestae; assisa forestae.

ASSISA DE MENSURIS

assisa de mensuris (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> dee men-s[y]oor-is), n.[Law Latin “assize of measures”] Hist. A common rule for weights and measures, established by Richard I in the eighth year of his reign.

ASSISA DE MORTE ANTECESSORIS

assisa de morte antecessoris. See assize of mort d'ancestor under ASSIZE(6).

ASSISA DE NOCUMENTO

assisa de nocumento (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> dee nok-y<<schwa>>-men-toh), n.[Law Latin “assize of nuisance”] See assize of nuisance under ASSIZE(8).

ASSISA DE UTRUM

assisa de utrum (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> dee yoo-tr<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin “assize of utrum”] See ASSIZE UTRUM.

ASSISA FORESTAE

assisa forestae. See ASSISA DE FORESTAE.

ASSISA FRISCAE FORTIAE

assisa friscae fortiae. See assize of fresh force under ASSIZE(8).

ASSISA MORTIS D'ANCESTORIS

assisa mortis d'ancestoris (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> mor-tis dan-ses-tor-is), n.[Law Latin] See assize of mort d'ancestor under ASSIZE(6).

ASSISA NOVAE DISSEYSINAE

assisa novae disseysinae (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> noh-vee di-see-zin-ee), n.[Law Latin] See ASSIZE OF NOVEL DISSEISIN.

ASSISA PANIS ET CEREVISIAE

assisa panis et cerevisiae (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> pan-is et ser-<<schwa>>-vish-ee-ee), n.[Law Latin “assize of bread and ale”] Hist. A statute passed in the 51st year of the reign of Henry III, regulating the sale of bread and ale. — Also termed statute of bread and ale.

ASSISA PROROGANDA

assisa proroganda. See DE ASSISA PROROGANDA.

ASSISA ULTIMAE PRAESENTATIONIS

assisa ultimae praesentationis (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> <<schwa>>l-ti-mee pree-z<<schwa>>n-tay-shee-oh-nis or prez-<<schwa>>n-), n.[Law Latin] See assize of darrein presentment under ASSIZE(8).

ASSISA VENALIUM

assisa venalium (<<schwa>>-sI-z<<schwa>> v<<schwa>>-nay-lee-<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin] Hist. The assize of salable commodities.

ASSISE

assise. See ASSIZE.

ASSISER

assiser. See ASSIZER.

ASSISTANCE

assistance. Civil law. Compensation for an effort to save a threatened vessel, cargo, or ship personnel at sea. Cf. NO CURE, NO PAY.

ASSISTANCE, WRIT OF assistance, writ of. See WRIT OF ASSISTANCE.

ASSISTANCE OF COUNSEL

assistance of counsel. Representation by a lawyer, esp. in a criminal case. • The phrase in its modern uses derives from the Sixth Amendment: “In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right ... to have the assis-tance of counsel for his defense.” U.S. Const. amend. VI. See RIGHT TO COUNSEL . [Cases: Criminal Law 641.13. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 304–305.]

effective assistance of counsel. A conscientious, meaningful legal representation, whereby the defendant is ad-vised of all rights and the lawyer performs all required tasks reasonably according to the prevailing professional standards in criminal cases. See Fed. R. Crim. P. 44; 18 USCA § 3006A.

“The law is in flux on precisely what constitutes the ‘effective’ assistance of counsel. The Supreme Court has yet to set forth a definitive standard, and lower courts have adopted differing ones. Prior to the 1970s the most common standard was the ‘mockery of justice’ standard, under which counsel's assistance was ‘ineffective’ only when it was so inadequate that it reduced the trial

'to a farce' or rendered it a 'mockery of justice.' Since that time, most courts have abandoned this formulation in favor of more stringent requirements, stipulating, for example, that 'counsel must exercise [the] normal skill and knowledge which normally prevails at the time and place' (Moore v. United States, 432 F.2d 730 (3d Cir. 1970)), that counsel must render the 'reasonably competent assistance of an attorney acting as his diligent advocate' (United States v. Decoster, 487 F.2d 1197 (D.C. Cir. 1973)), or that counsel's representation must be 'within the range of competence demanded of attorneys in criminal cases' (Marzullo v. Maryland, 561 F.2d 540 (4th Cir. 1977)). All of these new standards beg the questions of what traditional level of practice is to be regarded as 'customary,' 'diligent,' or 'reasonable.' Thus, little has been definitively resolved by the new, higher standards." Arval A. Morris, "Right to Counsel," in 1 Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice 278, 283 (Sanford H. Kadish ed., 1983).

ineffective assistance of counsel. A representation in which the defendant is deprived of a fair trial because the lawyer handles the case unreasonably, usu. either by performing incompetently or by not devoting full effort to the defendant, esp. because of a conflict of interest. • In determining whether a criminal defendant received ineffective assistance of counsel, courts generally consider several factors: (1) whether the lawyer had previously handled criminal cases; (2) whether strategic trial tactics were involved in the allegedly incompetent action; (3) whether, and to what extent, the defendant was prejudiced as a result of the lawyer's alleged ineffectiveness; and (4) whether the ineffectiveness was due to matters beyond the lawyer's control.

"The Sixth Amendment right to assistance of counsel has been held to imply the 'right to the effective assistance of counsel.' The Court has often said that the converse — ineffective assistance of counsel — is a constitutional denial of the Sixth Amendment right, even if the lawyer has been retained by rather than appointed for the defendant. 'Ineffective' does not necessarily mean incompetent or unprepared; it means an inability to perform as an independent lawyer devoted to the defendant.... However, counsel's assistance is not necessarily ineffective because the lawyer made mistakes. Only very serious errors, such as would likely have produced an entirely different outcome at trial, will suffice to require a new trial." Jethro K. Lieberman, The Evolving Constitution 263–64 (1992).

ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER FOR PATENTS

Assistant Commissioner for Patents. See commissioner for patents under COMMISSIONER.

ASSISTANT COMMISSIONER FOR TRADEMARKS

Assistant Commissioner for Trademarks. See commissioner for trademarks under COMMISSIONER.

ASSISTANT JURISDICTION

assistant jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

ASSISTANT UNITED STATES ATTORNEY

Assistant United States Attorney. See UNITED STATES ATTORNEY.

ASSISTED CONCEPTION

assisted conception.Family law. The fertilization of a woman's egg with a man's sperm by some means other than sexual intercourse. See ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION ; IN VITRO FERTILIZATION; GAMETE INTRA-FALLOPIAN TRANSFER; ZYGOTE INTRAFALLOPIAN TRANSFER .

ASSISTED REPRODUCTIVE TECHNOLOGY

assisted reproductive technology.Family law. Any medical means of aiding human reproduction, esp. through laboratory procedures. — Abbr. ART. — Also termed assisted reproduction; assisted-reproductive therapy.

ASSISTED SELF-DETERMINATION

assisted self-determination.See assisted suicide under SUICIDE.

ASSISTED SUICIDE

assisted suicide.See SUICIDE.

ASSIZE

assize (<<schwa>>-sIz), n.1. A session of a court or council.

maiden assize.Hist. 1.An assize in which no prisoner is sentenced to death. 2. An assize in which the sheriff presents the judges with white gloves because there are no prisoners to try. • This practice stemmed from a custom in which a prisoner who was convicted of murder but pardoned by the Crown presented gloves to the judges as a fee.

2. A law enacted by such a body, usu. one setting the measure, weight, or price of a thing.

Assize of Arms.An 1181 statute requiring every man to keep arms suitable to his station in life. See ASSISA ARMORUM.

Assize of Clarendon (klar-<<schwa>>n-d<<schwa>>n).Hist. A decree issued in 1166 by Henry II to the justices in eyre and sheriffs concerning criminal procedure. • The Assize expanded the reach of the king's courts by asserting royal jurisdiction over serious crimes. See CONSTITUTIONS OF CLARENDON.

Assize of Northampton.Hist. A decree issued in 1176 by Henry II as an expansion and reissue of the Assize of Clarendon, instructing judges esp. on questions of tenure, relief, and dower.

3. The procedure provided for by such an enactment. 4. The court that hears cases involving that procedure. 5. A jury.

grand assize.(often cap.) A sworn panel summoned by judicial writ to resolve disputes concerning real property. • Henry II instituted the Grand Assize in the 12th century as an alternative to trial by battle. — Also termed magna assisa.

petite assize.A jury convened to decide questions of possession.

6. A jury trial.

assize of mort d'ancestor (mor[t] dan-ses-t<<schwa>>r). An action for the recovery of land belonging to the claimant's ancestor. • Mort d'ancestor was abolished in the early 19th century. — Also termed assisa mortis d'ancestoris; assisa de morte antecessoris.

judicial assize. An assize begun by judicial writ and deriving from pleas of gage, mort d'ancestor, and darrein presentment.

petty assize. An assize begun by an original writ. • Petty assizes were characterized by the form of the writ, which specified the questions to be put to the panel, and ordered that a panel be assembled. The petty assizes were novel disseisin, mort d'ancestor, utrum, and darrein presentment.

“The word ‘Assisa’ means originally the sitting of a court or assembly. It then comes to denote the things done, the enactments passed, at such a court or assembly. Thus we speak of the Assize of Clarendon, or the Assize of Northampton. Certain of these enactments in Henry II's reign introduced a new procedure for the trial of questions as to the ownership or possession of lands held by free tenure. The Grand Assize introduced this new procedure for the determination of questions of ownership; the possessory assizes for the determination of question of possession.”
1 William Holdsworth, A History of English Law 275 (7th ed. 1956).

7. A jury's finding. 8. A writ. — Also spelled assise; assisa.

assize of darrein presentment (dar-ayn pri-zent-m<<schwa>>nt), n.[fr. French dernier présentation “last pre-sentment”] Hist. A writ allowing a person with a right of advowson that had been disturbed by another claimant to have a jury determine who had last presented a clerk to a benefice and then to allow that person to present again and to recover damages for interference. • This was abolished by the Real Property Limitation Act of 1833 and was replaced by the quare impedit action. — Also termed darreign presentment; assize of last presentation; assisa ultimae praesentationis; assize de ultima presentatione. — Also spelled darreign. See ADVOWSON; QUARE IMPEDIT.

“An assise of darrein presentment, or last presentation, lies when a man, or his ancestors, under whom he claims, have presented a clerk to a benefice, who is instituted; and afterwards upon the next avoidance a stranger presents a clerk, and thereby disturbs him that is the real patron. In which case the patron shall have this writ, directed to the sheriff to summon an assise or jury, to enquire who was the last patron that presented to the church now vacant, of which the plaintiff complains that he is deforced by the defendant: and, according as the assise determines that question, a writ shall issue to the bishop; to institute the clerk of that patron, in whose favour the determination is made, and also to give damages” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 245 (1768).

“[A]t some time or another during his reign Henry gave a possessory action, the assize of darrein presentment ... which stands to the writ of right of advowson in somewhat the same relation as that in which the novel disseisin stands to the writ of right for land. If the church is vacant and two persons are quarrelling about the advowson, it is very necessary that some provisional, some possessory judgment should be given The principle of the new assize is, simply stated, this: 'He who presented last time, let him present this time also; but this without prejudice to any question of right.' An inquest of neighbours is summoned to declare who it was that presented the last parson." 1 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, The History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 148–49 (2d ed. 1898).

assize of fresh force.Hist. A writ available in urban areas to disseise another's land. • This writ is so called because it was available only within the first 40 days after title accrued to the person seeking it. — Also termed assisa friscae fortiae.

assize of novel disseisin.Hist. A writ for a tenant who has been disseised of lands and tenements. • This institution of English law flourished for about 300 years — from the 12th century to the 15th. It had become wholly obsolete by the mid-17th century. — Also termed assisa novae disseysinae.

"[Up to the 15th century,] 'assize of novel disseisin' was a series of perfectly plain words, as plain as the words 'proceeding in recent ejection,' which translate them into modern English, would be to us. Even to humble contemporaries whose linguistic horizons did not extend beyond English, the institution itself apart from its name was perfectly straightforward. It meant that if a freeholder of land was ejected from his property he could require the sheriff to set up a jury of twelve, have them go look at the land, and bring them before the king's justices when they next came to hold court in the county. The justices asked the jurors whether the freeholder had been illegally put out of his holding, as he complained, and if they said that he had then the court would restore the land to him at once." Donald W. Sutherland, The Assize of Novel Disseisin 1–2 (1973).

assize of nuisance.Hist. A writ available to a landowner suffering from a nuisance on another's land; a writ to abate a nuisance. • This writ also entitled a successful plaintiff to damages. — Also termed assisa de nocumento.

"The assize of nuisance. — This was supplementary to the famous assize of novel disseisin which was limited to redressing any act of the defendant that interfered with the plaintiff's seisin of land. It was therefore useless if the injury to the plaintiff began wholly on the defendant's land (e.g., if he erected there a dam which diverted water from the plaintiff's land), for the injury was not a disseisin as there was no entry on the plaintiff's land. This gap was filled by the assize of nuisance as early as the thirteenth century. It extended both to injuries to servitudes stricto sensu and to common rights." P.H. Winfield, A Textbook of the Law of Tort § 130, at 443 (5th ed. 1950).

ASSIZER

assizer,n. Hist. 1.A member of a grand assize. See grand assize under ASSIZE(5).2.Scots law. A juror. 3. One having custody of the standards of weight and measure; esp., one who fixes the assize of bread, ale, and other items of general consumption. — Also spelled assizor; assiser; assisor.

ASSIZES DE JERUSALEM

Assizes de Jerusalem (<<schwa>>-sIz-<<schwa>>z d<<schwa>> j<<schwa>>-roo-s<< schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m). A code of feudal law intended to serve as the law of the lands conquered by the Crusaders. • The code was prepared in the 12th century after the 1099 conquest of Jerusalem.

ASSIZE UTRUM

assize utrum (yoo-tr<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Hist. A writ to determine whether land claimed by a church was held by lay or spiritual tenure. • This writ is named after its emphatic word, which required the fact-finder to determine whether (utrum) the land belonged to the church. — Also termed (erroneously) assize of utrum; assize de utrum.

“In the assize utrum a jury was summoned to decide whether land was held by lay or spiritual tenure — a pre-liminary question to any litigation about it, for the Church claimed jurisdiction over spiritual land. Later the Church was to lose this jurisdiction, and the assize utrum became the parson's substitute for the writ of right. This curious development was brought about in this way. A parson could not use the writs of right, for, like a life tenant, he could not trace his title back to the seisin of an ancestor. The assize utrum could be made to serve the parson, however, for the question asked in the writ was whether certain land in a parish was ‘the free alms of the Church of X.’ If the answer was ‘yes,’ then it followed that it was the parson of the parish's land.” Brian Simpson, An Introduction to the History of the Land Law 30–31 (1961).

“[T]he ‘assize utrum’ ... is important as being the first instance known to us of the general use of the royal procedure by way of inquest in a matter of private litigation. If the answer of the inquest was that this land was held in frankalmoign, then the case went to the ecclesiastical court; if that it was lay fee, then to the appropriate lay tribunal. In the course of the thirteenth century the ecclesiastical courts lost their jurisdiction over land held by spiritual tenure, and the ‘assize utrum’ came to be used not as a merely preliminary procedure but as a mode of deciding in royal courts a question of title to glebe land.” Geoffrey Radcliffe & Geoffrey Cross, The English Legal System 33–34 (G.J. Hand & D.J. Bentley eds., 6th ed. 1977).

ASSIZOR

assizor. See ASSIZER.

ASSOCIATE

associate, n. 1. A colleague or companion. 2. A junior member of an organization or profession; esp., a lawyer in a law firm, usu. with fewer than a certain number of years in practice, who may, upon achieving the requisite se-niority, receive an offer to become a partner or shareholder. — Also termed associate attorney. 3. Hist. English law. An officer of a common-law court responsible for maintaining the court's records, attending jury trials, and entering verdicts. • In 1894, associates' duties were taken over by the staff of the Central Office. See CLERK OF ASSIZE; CENTRAL OFFICE.

ASSOCIATE AGENT

associate agent. See AGENT(3).

ASSOCIATE ATTORNEY

associate attorney. See ATTORNEY.

ASSOCIATED PERSON

associated person. Securities. 1. A partner, officer, director, branch manager of a broker or dealer, or any person performing similar functions or occupying a similar status, any person directly or indirectly controlling, controlled by, or under common control with the broker or dealer, or any employee of the broker or dealer — with two exceptions: (1) those whose functions are solely clerical or ministerial, and (2) those required to register under state law as a broker or dealer solely because they are issuers of securities or associated with an issuer of securities. 15 USCA § 78(a)(21), (49). [Cases: Securities Regulation 40.12. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 157–158, 165.] 2. A natural person who is a partner, officer, director, or employee of: (1) the issuer; (2) a general partner of a limited partnership issuer; or (3) a company or partnership that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the issuer. Cf. AFFILIATE(2).

ASSOCIATE JUDGE

associate judge. See JUDGE.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE

associate justice. See JUSTICE(2).

ASSOCIATION

association. 1. The process of mentally collecting ideas, memories, or sensations. 2. A gathering of people for a common purpose; the persons so joined. 3. An unincorporated organization that is not a legal entity separate from the persons who compose it. • If an association has sufficient corporate attributes, such as centralized management, continuity of existence, and limited liability, it may be classified and taxed as a corporation. — Also termed unincorporated association; voluntary association. [Cases: Associations 1. C.J.S. Associations §§ 2–3, 8.]

beneficial association. See benevolent association.

benefit association. See benevolent association.

benevolent association. An unincorporated, nonprofit organization that has a philanthropic or charitable purpose. — Also termed beneficial association; benefit association; benevolent society; fraternal society; friendly society. [Cases: Charities 39. C.J.S. Charities § 60.]

homeowners' association. 1. An association of people who own homes in a given area and have united to improve or maintain the area's quality. 2. An association formed by a land developer or homebuilder to manage and maintain property in which the developer and the builder own an undivided common interest. • Homeowners' associations — which are regulated by statute in many states — are commonly formed by restrictive covenant or a declaration of restrictions. — Also spelled homeowners association.

nonprofit association. A group organized for a purpose other than to generate income or profit, such as a scientific, religious, or educational organization. [Cases: Charities 1, 39, 46. C.J.S. Charities §§ 2–3, 60, 62–63.]

owners' association. See OWNERS' ASSOCIATION.

professional association. 1. A group of professionals organized to practice their profession together, though not necessarily in corporate or partnership form. 2. A group of professionals organized for education, social activity, or lobbying, such as a bar association. — Abbr. P.A. [Cases: Attorney and Client 31. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 8–9.]

trade association. An association of business organizations having similar concerns and engaged in similar fields, formed for mutual protection, the interchange of ideas and statistics, and the establishment and maintenance of industry standards. • A trade association may be composed of members of a single industry (e.g., the Chemical Manufacturers Association) or members having a common interest or purpose (e.g., the Consumer Mortgage Coalition). Among the joint actions that a trade association often takes are collecting industry data, advertising, marketing, and engaging in public relations and government relations.

ASSOCIATION-IN-FACT ENTERPRISE

association-in-fact enterprise. Under RICO, a group of people or entities that have not formed a legal entity, but that have a common or shared purpose, and maintain an ongoing organizational structure through which the associates function as a continuing unit. • A RICO violation is not shown merely by proving that an enterprise, including an association-in-fact, exists. A pattern of racketeering activity must also be proved. 18 USCA § 1961(4); United States v. Turkette, 452 U.S. 576, 101 S.Ct. 2524 (1981). [Cases: Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations 36.]

ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN LAW SCHOOLS

Association of American Law Schools. An organization of law schools that have each graduated at least three annual classes of students. — Abbr. AALS.

ASSOCIATION OF LEGAL WRITING DIRECTORS

Association of Legal Writing Directors. A nonprofit corporation composed of the directors and former directors of law-school legal-writing programs, mostly in the United States. • Created in 1996 to improve those programs, it supports research and scholarship; holds a biennial conference; conducts (with the Legal Writing Institute) an annual survey of the programs; maintains a listserv; represents writing teachers before the American Bar Association; and publishes various resources, including the ALWD Citation Manual. — Abbr. ALWD (al-wid).

ASSOIL

assoil (<<schwa>>-soyl), vb. [Law French] Hist. To acquit or absolve; to deliver from excommunication. — Also spelled assoile. — Also termed absoile; assoilyie.

ASSULTUS PREMEDITATUS

assultus premeditatus. See assault purpensé under ASSAULT.

ASSUMED BOND

assumed bond. See guaranteed bond under BOND(3).

ASSUMED NAME

assumed name. 1. ALIAS(1). 2. The name under which a business operates or by which it is commonly known <Antex Corporation's assumed name is Computer Warehouse>. • Many states require an individual or business operating under an assumed name to file an assumed-name certificate, usu. in the secretary of state's office or the county clerk's office where the principal place of business is located. — Also termed fictitious name. See D/B/A. Cf. corporate name under NAME. [Cases: Corporations 46. C.J.S. Corporations § 99.]

ASSUME OR REJECT

assume or reject. Bankruptcy. (Of a debtor-in-possession or a trustee) to make an election under the Bankruptcy Code concerning an executory contract or an unexpired lease within a prescribed period, depending on the chapter of the Code under which the case is proceeding and the subject matter of the contract. • The timing, procedure, and consequences of the election are described in 11 USCA § 365.

ASSUMPSIT

assumpsit (<<schwa>>-s<<schwa>>m[p]-sit). [Law Latin “he undertook”] 1. An express or implied promise, not under seal, by which one person undertakes to do some act or pay something to another <an assumpsit to pay a debt>. 2. A common-law action for breach of such a promise or for breach of a contract <the creditor's assumpsit against the debtor>. [Cases: Assumpsit, Action of 1. C.J.S. Assumpsit, Action of §§ 2, 4–6.]

“It was early known as ‘trespass on the case upon promises,’ but in time came to be designated assumpsit (he assumed or promised), and lies for damages for breach of all contracts, parol or simple, whether written or verbal, express or implied.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 9–10 (2d ed. 1899).

“In its origin an action of tort, [assumpsit] was soon transformed into an action of contract, becoming afterwards a remedy where there was neither tort nor contract. Based at first only upon an express promise, it was afterwards supported upon an implied promise, and even upon a fictitious promise. Introduced as a special manifestation of the action on the case, it soon acquired the dignity of a distinct form of action, which superseded Debt, became concurrent with Account, with Case upon a bailment, a warranty, and bills of exchange, and competed with Equity in the case of the essentially equitable quasi-contracts growing out of the principle of unjust enrichment. Surely, it would be hard to find a better illustration of the flexibility and power of self-development of the Common Law.” James Barr Ames, “The History of Assumpsit,” in 3 Select Essays in Anglo-American Legal History 298 (1909).

general assumpsit. An action based on the defendant's breach of an implied promise to pay a debt to the plaintiff. — Also termed common assumpsit; indebitatus assumpsit. [Cases: Assumpsit, Action of 7. C.J.S. Assumpsit, Action of § 10.]

“General assumpsit is brought for breach of a fictitious or implied promise raised by law from a debt founded upon an executed consideration. The basis of the action is the promise implied by law from the performance of the consideration, or from a debt or legal duty resting upon the defendant.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 59, at 153 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

“[T]he word ‘assumpsit’ suggest[s] the making of a promise. While that is true in the case of the action of special assumpsit, the promise alleged in the action of general assumpsit was only a fiction. Accordingly in the latter action, the word ‘assumpsit’ no more means that an obligation exists as the result of making a contract, than that a contract is involved because the obligation is described as quasi-contractual.” Charles Herman Kinnane, A First Book on Anglo-American Law 633–34 (2d ed. 1952).

indebitatus assumpsit (in-deb-i-tay-t<<schwa>>s <<schwa>>-s<<schwa>>m[p]-sit). [Latin “being indebted, he undertook”] 1.Hist. A form of action in which the plaintiff alleges that the defendant contracted a debt and, as consideration, had undertaken (i.e., promised) to pay. • The action was equivalent to the common-law action for debt (an action based on a sealed instrument), but could be used to enforce an oral debt. In England, indebitatus assumpsit was abolished in 1873 by the Judicature Act. But it is still used in several American states, such as California. See CONCESSIT SOLVERE. 2. See general assumpsit.

“[I]f I verbally agree to pay a man a certain price for a certain parcel of goods, and fail in the performance, an action of debt lies against me; for this is a determinate contract: but if I agree for no settled price, I am not liable to an action of debt, but a special action on the case, according to the nature of my contract. And indeed actions of debt are now seldom brought but upon special contracts under seal [T]he plaintiff must recover the whole debt he claims, or nothing at all. For the debt is one single cause of action, fixed and determined; and which therefore, if the proof varies from the claim, cannot be looked upon as the same ... action of debt But in an action on the case, on what is called an indebitatus assumpsit, which is not brought to compel a specific performance of the contract, but to recover damages for its non-performance, the implied assumpsit, and consequently the damages for the breach of it, are in their nature indeterminate; and will therefore adapt and proportion themselves to the truth of the case which shall be proved, without being confined to the precise demand stated in the declaration.” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 154 (1768).

special assumpsit.An action based on the defendant's breach of an express contract. — Also termed express assumpsit. [Cases: Assumpsit, Action of 6. C.J.S. Assumpsit, Action of § 4.]

“Special assumpsit lies for the recovery of damages for the breach of simple contract, either express or implied in fact. The term ‘special contract’ is often used to denote an express or explicit contract as contrasted with a promise implied in law.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 58, at 148 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

“From the allegations concerning the ‘assumpsit,’ a new action which split off from the action on the case came to be known as the action of assumpsit. Since, however, the plaintiff had to allege and prove a specific or special promise, in order to get a judgment, the action came to be known as the action of 'special assumpsit.' When the special promise came to be regarded as the basis of the action, the action came to be regarded as a contract action, rather than one based on unclassified 'wrongs.' ” Charles Herman Kinnane, A First Book on Anglo-American Law 633–34 (2d ed. 1952).

ASSUMPTION

assumption, n. 1. A fact or statement taken for granted; a supposition . 2. The act of taking (esp. someone else's debt or other obligation) for or on oneself; the agreement to so take <assumption of a debt>. — assume, vb.

implied assumption. The imposition of personal liability on a land purchaser who buys subject to a mortgage and who deducts the mortgage amount from the purchase price, so that the purchaser is treated as having assumed the debt. [Cases: Mortgages 279. C.J.S. Mortgages § 395.]

ASSUMPTION CLAUSE

assumption clause. 1. A mortgage provision that prohibits another from assuming the mortgage without the permission of the mortgagee. [Cases: Mortgages 272. C.J.S. Mortgages §§ 382–383.] 2. A provision by which the transferee of an instrument agrees to assume an obligation of the transferor.

ASSUMPTION FEE

assumption fee. A lender's charge for processing records for a new buyer's assumption of an existing mortgage. [Cases: Mortgages 279. C.J.S. Mortgages § 395.]

ASSUMPTION OF THE RISK

assumption of the risk. Torts. 1. The act or an instance of a prospective plaintiff's taking on the risk of loss, injury, or damage <the skydiver's assumption of the risk>. — Also termed assumption of risk. [Cases: Negligence 550. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 360–361.]

“[Assumption of risk] has been a subject of much controversy, and has been surrounded by much confusion, because ‘assumption of risk’ has been used by the courts in several different senses, which traditionally have been lumped together under the one name, often without realizing that any differences exist. There are even courts which have limited the use of the term ‘assumption of risk’ to cases in which the parties stand in the relation of master and servant, or at least some other contractual relation; but they have been compelled to invent other names for other cases, such as ‘incurred risk,’ or ‘volenti non fit injuria.’ This appears to be largely a distinction without a difference; and most courts have made general use of the one term.... In its most basic sense, assumption of risk means that the plaintiff, in advance, has given his express consent to relieve the defendant of an obligation of conduct toward him, and to take his chances of injury from a known risk arising from what the defendant is to do or leave undone.” W. Page Keeton et al., Prosser and Keeton on the Law of Torts § 68, at 480–81 (5th ed. 1984).

2. The principle that one who takes on the risk of loss, injury, or damage cannot maintain an action against a party that causes the loss, injury, or damage <assumption of the risk was not a valid defense>. • Assumption of the risk was originally an affirmative defense, but in most jurisdictions it has now been wholly or largely subsumed by the doctrines of contributory or comparative negligence. The risk assumed by the person was often termed an in-curred risk.

implied assumption of the risk. An assumption based on the plaintiff's conduct that seems to consent to relieve another of liability for negligence. • For this defense to apply, the plaintiff's conduct must suggest (1) open consent to the risk, (2) voluntary participation in the activity, and (3) full understanding of the danger. See VOLENTI NON FIT INJURIA.

primary assumption of the risk. A legal conclusion that the defendant was not negligent because the defendant either did not owe a duty of care to the injured party or did not breach any duty owed. • Courts decide questions of duty through policy judgments, which include the relative balance between risks and utilities.

“Primary assumption of risk occurs when the plaintiff voluntarily participates in an activity involving certain inherent risks and encounters one of the inherent risks; the defense is a complete bar to recovery because there is no duty of care to protect another from the risks inherent in a voluntary activity.” 4 Ann Taylor Schwing, California Affirmative Defenses 2d § 48:24, at 59 (1996).

“Primary assumption of risk is sometimes viewed as a misnomer. This concept is frequently described as a no-duty rule because the plaintiff, by engaging in a known and potentially risky activity, has relieved the defendant of the duty of care normally owed to the plaintiff. Under the primary-assumption-of-risk/no-duty doctrine, ‘there [would be] no liability because the defendant did not breach a duty of care to the plaintiff.’ [Kenneth S. Abraham, The Forms and Functions of Tort Law 155 (1997).] Traditionally, the no-duty rule completely bars a plaintiff's recovery. Courts limit the use of primary assumption of risk in comparative-negligence jurisdictions because of the harshness of this rule. Recently, some comparative-negligence jurisdictions have started to review primary assumption-of-risk claims within the framework of their comparative-fault system, refusing to automatically bar the plaintiff's entire recovery.” Luke Ellis, Note, Talking About My Generation: Assumption of Risk and the Rights of Injured Concert Fans in the Twenty-First Century, 80 Texas L. Rev. 607, 618 (2002).

secondary assumption of risk. 1. The act or an instance of voluntarily encountering a known unreasonable risk that is out of proportion to any advantage gained. • With secondary assumption of the risk, the fact-finder considers the reasonableness of the plaintiff's conduct in the particular case, balancing the risks and utilities under the circumstances. 2. An affirmative defense to an established breach of a duty, based on a claim that the plaintiff acted unreasonably in encountering a known risk. See contributory negligence under NEGLIGENCE.

voluntary assumption of the risk. An intentional and unreasonable exposure of oneself to danger created by another's negligence, when one knows or has reason to know of the danger.

ASSURANCE

assurance, n. 1. Something that gives confidence; the state of being confident or secure <self-assurance>.2.English law. See life insurance under INSURANCE <she obtained assurance before traveling abroad, naming her husband as the beneficiary>.3. The act of transferring real property; the instrument by which it is transferred <the owner's assurance of the farm to his son>.4. A pledge or guarantee <adequate assurances of the borrower's solvency>. — assure,vb.

adequate assurance. 1.Contracts. A circumstance or a contractual obligor's act that gives an obligee reason to be confident that the contract will be duly performed. • If the obligee has good reason to feel insecure and justifiably demands assurance, an obligor's failure to provide adequate assurance may constitute a repudiation of the contract. UCC § 2-609. 2.Bankruptcy. Evidence that a debtor will probably be able to perform its obligations under a contract, such as the posting of a bond or a showing that the debtor will generate sufficient income to pay any arrearages and future payment obligations. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2481, 3114. C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 103–104, 226.]

collateral assurance.A pledge made in addition to the principal assurance of an agreement.

common assurance.See MUNIMENT OF TITLE.

further assurance.A covenant contained in a warranty deed whereby the grantor promises to execute any document that might be needed in the future to perfect the title that the original deed purported to transfer.

ASSURED

assured,n. Insurance. One who is indemnified against loss; INSURED. [Cases: Insurance 2100. C.J.S. Insurance § 389.]

ASSURER

assurer. See INSURER.

AS THEIR INTERESTS MAY APPEAR

as their interests may appear.See ATIMA.

ASTIPULATION

astipulation (as-tip-y<<schwa>>-lay-sh<<schwa>>n).Archaic. Agreement; assent.

ASTITUTION

astitution (as-t<<schwa>>-t[y]oo-sh<<schwa>>n).Archaic. See ARRAIGNMENT.

ASTRARIUS

astrarius (as-trair-ee-<<schwa>>s), n.[Law Latin “hearth owner”] Hist. The owner or occupant of a house. — Also termed astrer (as-tr<<schwa>>r). See heres astrarius under HERES.

ASTRONOMICAL DAY

astronomical day.See solar day (2) under DAY.

ASYLEE

asylee (<<schwa>>-sI-lee). A refugee applying for asylum; an asylum-seeker. [Cases: Aliens 53.10(3). C.J.S. Aliens §§ 85, 92, 97, 205, 218.]

ASYLUM

asylum. 1. A sanctuary or shelter. 2. Protection of usu. political refugees from arrest by a foreign jurisdiction; a nation or embassy that affords such protection. — Also termed political asylum. [Cases: Aliens 53.10(3). C.J.S. Aliens §§ 85, 92, 97, 205, 218.] 3. An institution for the protection and relief of the unfortunate, esp. the mentally ill. — Also termed (in sense 3) insane asylum. [Cases: Asylums 1–8; Mental Health 31. C.J.S. Asylums and Institutional Care Facilities §§ 2–15; Insane Persons §§ 45, 47, 53.]

ATAMITA

atamita (<<schwa>>-tam-i-t<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Civil law. A great-great-great-grandfather's sister.

AT ARM'S LENGTH

at arm's length. See ARM'S-LENGTH.

ATAVIA

atavia (<<schwa>>-tay-vee-<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Roman & civil law. A great-great-great-grandmother.

ATAVUNCULUS

atavunculus (at-<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>ngk-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Civil law. A great-great-great-grandfather's brother.

ATAVUS

atavus (at-<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman & civil law. The male ascendant in the fifth degree; a great-grandfather's or great-grandmother's grandfather; a fourth grandfather.

AT BAR

at bar. Now before the court <the case at bar>. — Also termed at bench; at the bar.

AT BENCH

at bench. See AT BAR.

AT EQUITY

at equity. According to equity; by, for, or in equity.

A TERME

a terme (a tairm). [Law French] For a term.

a terme de sa vie (a tairm d<<schwa>> sa vee). [Law French] For the term of his life.

a terme que n'est mye encore passe (a tairm k<<schwa>> nay mee awn-kor pahs). [Law French] For a term that has not yet passed.

a terme que passe est (a tairm k<<schwa>> pahs ay). [Law French] For a term that has passed.

ATF

ATF.abbr. BUREAU OF ALCOHOL, TOBACCO, FIREARMS, AND EXPLOSIVES.

ATILIAN LAW

Atilian law.See LEX ATILIA.

ATIMA

ATIMA (<<schwa>>-tee-m<<schwa>>).abbr. As their interests may appear. • The phrase is sometimes used in insurance policies to show that the named insured has an interest, usu. an unspecified one, in the property covered by the policy and is entitled to benefits to the extent of that interest. The phrase is also used in a policy's mortgage clause to protect the mortgagee's real-property interest. See INSURABLE INTEREST; MORTGAGE CLAUSE. [Cases: Insurance 3450. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1404, 1520.]

ATINIAN LAW

Atinian law.See LEX ATINIA.

AT ISSUE

at issue.Taking opposite sides; under dispute; in question <the federal appeals courts are at issue over a question of law>.

AT-ISSUE WAIVER

at-issue waiver.An exemption from the attorney–client privilege, whereby a litigant is considered to have waived the privilege by taking a position that cannot be effectively challenged without analyzing privileged information. Cf. OFFENSIVE-USE WAIVER. [Cases: Witnesses 219(3).]

ATLANTIC REPORTER

Atlantic Reporter.A set of regional lawbooks, part of the West Group's National Reporter System, containing every published appellate decision from Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Maryland, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Vermont, as well as the decisions of the District of Columbia Municipal Court of Appeals, from 1885 to date. • The first series ran from 1885 to 1938; the second series is the current one. — Abbr. A.; A.2d.

AT LARGE

at large. 1. Free; unrestrained; not under control <the suspect is still at large>.2. Not limited to any particular place, person, matter, or question < at-large election>.3. Chosen by the voters of an entire political entity, such as a state, county, or city, rather than from separate districts within the entity <councilmember at large>.4. Not ordered in a topical way; at random <statutes at large>.5. Fully; in detail; in an extended form <there wasn't time to discuss the issue at large>.

AT-LARGE ELECTION

at-large election. See election at large under ELECTION.

AT LAW

at law. According to law; by, for, or in law.

ATMATERTERA

atmatertera (at-may-t<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] Civil law. A great-great-great-grandmother's sister. — Also termed abmatertera magna (ab-may-t<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>> mag-n<<schwa>>).

AT MATURITY

at maturity. See date of maturity under DATE.

ATORT

atort (a-tor), adv.[Law French] Hist. Wrongfully.

A TORT ET A TRAVERS

a tort et a travers (a tor tay a tra-vair). [Law French] Without consideration or discernment.

A TORT OU A DROIT

a tort ou a droit (a tor oo a drwah). [Law French] Right or wrong.

AT PAR

at par, adj. (Of a stock or bond) issued or selling at face value.

ATPATRUUS

atpatruus (at-pa-troo-<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Civil law. A brother of a great-great-grandfather.

AT-RISK RULES

at-risk rules, n. pl. Statutory limitations of a taxpayer's deductible losses to the amount the taxpayer could actually lose, to prevent the taxpayer from sheltering income. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3389.]

ATROCIOUS ASSAULT

atrocious assault. See ASSAULT.

ATROCIOUS FELONY

atrocious felony. See FELONY.

ATS

ATS.abbr. At the suit of.

ATSDR

ATSDR.abbr. AGENCY FOR TOXIC SUBSTANCES AND DISEASE REGISTRY.

ATTACH

attach, vb. 1. To annex, bind, or fasten <attach the exhibit to the pleading>. 2. To take or seize under legal authority <attach the debtor's assets>. [Cases: Attachment 1; Federal Civil Procedure 581. C.J.S. Attachment §§ 2–4, 7.] 3. To become attributed; to adhere <jeopardy attaches when the jury is sworn>.

ATTACHÉ

attaché (at-<<schwa>>-shayor a-ta-shay), n. A person who serves as a technical adviser to an embassy. [Cases: Ambassadors and Consuls 3. C.J.S. Ambassadors and Consuls §§ 15–23.]

ATTACHIAMENTA BONORUM

attachiamenta bonorum (<<schwa>>-tach-ee-<<schwa>>-men-t-<<schwa>> b-<<schwa>>-nor-*<<schwa>>*m), n. [Law Latin] Hist. A distress taken on goods and chattels by bailiffs, as security to answer an action for debt.

ATTACHIAMENTUM

attachiamentum (<<schwa>>-tach-ee-<<schwa>>-men-t-*<<schwa>>*m), n. [Law Latin] An attachment. Pl. at-tachiamenta.

ATTACHING CREDITOR

attaching creditor. See CREDITOR.

ATTACHMENT

attachment. 1. The seizing of a person's property to secure a judgment or to be sold in satisfaction of a judgment. — Also termed (in civil law) provisional seizure. Cf. GARNISHMENT; SEQUESTRATION(1). [Cases: Attachment 1; Federal Civil Procedure 581–590. C.J.S. Attachment §§ 2–4, 7.]

attachment of wages. The attachment by a plaintiff of a defendant's earnings as an employee. • In some jurisdictions, an attachment-of-earnings order requires the defendant's employer to deduct a specified sum or percentage of the defendant's wages or salary and to pay the money into court. The court then sends the money to the plaintiff. Federal law provides a garnishment statute for satisfaction of judgments for child support and alimony. Under this statute, up to 50% of a wage-earner's disposable income can be seized if the wage-earner has another family of dependents and up to 60% if there is only one family. If the obligor is more than three months in arrears, an additional 5% can be seized until the arrearage is paid. 15 USCA § 1673(b)(2). — Also termed attachment of earnings; wage-withholding; automatic wage-withholding; wage assignment. Cf. GARNISHMENT; INCOME-WITHHOLDING ORDER. [Cases: Execution 420.5; Garnishment 1. C.J.S. Exchanges § 24; Executions § 24.]

provisional attachment. A prejudgment attachment in which the debtor's property is seized so that if the creditor ultimately prevails, the creditor will be assured of recovering on the judgment through the sale of the seized property. • Ordinarily, a hearing must be held before the attachment takes place, and most courts require the creditor to post a bond for any damages that result from the seizure (esp. if the creditor ultimately loses in the lawsuit). [Cases: Attachment 4. C.J.S. Attachment §§ 12, 14.]

2. The arrest of a person who either is in contempt of court or is to be held as security for the payment of a judgment. [Cases: Execution 421. C.J.S. Executions § 24.] 3. A writ ordering legal seizure of property (esp. to satisfy a creditor's claim) or of a person. — Also termed writ of attachment. [Cases: Attachment 140; Federal Civil Procedure 581. C.J.S. Attachment § 156.]

ancillary attachment. An attachment that results in seizure and holding of property pending a resolution of the plaintiff's claim. — Also termed attachment on mesne process. [Cases: Attachment 1. C.J.S. Attachment §§ 2–4, 7.]

4. The creation of a security interest in property, occurring when the debtor agrees to the security, receives value from the secured party, and obtains rights in the collateral. UCC § 9-203. Cf. PERFECTION. [Cases: Secured Transactions 133. C.J.S. Secured Transactions § 34.] 5. The act of affixing or connecting; something (as a document) that is affixed or connected to something else.

ATTACHMENT BOND

attachment bond. See BOND(2).

ATTACHMENT LIEN

attachment lien. See LIEN.

ATTACHMENT OF EARNINGS

attachment of earnings. See attachment of wages under ATTACHMENT(1).

ATTACHMENT OF RISK

attachment of risk. The point when the risk of loss of purchased goods passes from the seller to the buyer. UCC § 2-509. [Cases: Sales 198.]

ATTACHMENT OF WAGES

attachment of wages. See ATTACHMENT(1).

ATTACHMENT ON MESNE PROCESS

attachment on mesne process. See ancillary attachment under ATTACHMENT(3).

ATTAINDER

attainder (<<schwa>>-tayn-d<<schwa>>r), n.1. At common law, the act of extinguishing a person's civil rights when that person is sentenced to death or declared an outlaw for committing a felony or treason. 2.Hist. A grand-jury proceeding to try whether a jury has given a false verdict. 3. The conviction of a jury so tried. See BILL OF ATTAINDER. — attain (<<schwa>>-taynt), vb.

“The word attainder is derived from the Latin term attinctus, signifying stained or polluted, and includes, in its meaning, all those disabilities which flow from a capital sentence. On the attainder, the defendant is disqualified to be a witness in any court; he can bring no action, nor perform any of the legal functions which before he was admitted to discharge; he is, in short, regarded as dead in law.” 1 Joseph Chitty, A Practical Treatise on the Criminal Law 725 (2d ed. 1826).

ATTAINT

attaint (<<schwa>>-taynt), adj. Maligned or tarnished reputationally; under an attainder for crime.

attaint, n. Hist. A writ to inquire whether a 12-member jury gave a false verdict. • If it was so found (by a 24-member jury), the judgment based on the verdict was overturned. The writ was abolished in England in 1826.

ATTEMPT

attempt, n.1. The act or an instance of making an effort to accomplish something, esp. without success. 2.Criminal law. An overt act that is done with the intent to commit a crime but that falls short of completing the crime. • Attempt is an inchoate offense distinct from the attempted crime. Under the Model Penal Code, an attempt includes any act that is a substantial step toward commission of a crime, such as enticing, lying in wait for, or following the intended victim or unlawfully entering a building where a crime is expected to be committed. See Model Penal Code § 5.01. — Also termed criminal attempt; offer. See DANGEROUS-PROXIMITY TEST; INDISPENSABLE-ELEMENT TEST ; LAST-PROXIMATE-ACT TEST; PHYSICAL-PROXIMITY TEST; PROBABLE-DESISTANCE TEST ; RES IPSA LOQUITUR TEST. Cf. CONSPIRACY; SOLICITATION(2). [Cases: Criminal Law 44. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 114–123.] — attempt, vb.

“An attempt to commit an indictable offence is itself a crime. Every attempt is an act done with intent to commit the offence so attempted. The existence of this ulterior intent or motive is the essence of the attempt.... [Yet] [a]lthough every attempt is an act done with intent to commit a crime, the converse is not true. Every act done with this intent is not an attempt, for it may be too remote from the completed offence to give rise to criminal liability, notwithstanding the criminal purpose of the doer. I may buy matches with intent to burn a haystack, and yet be clear of attempted arson; but if I go to the stack and there light one of the matches, my intent has developed into a criminal attempt.” John Salmond, Jurisprudence 387 (Glanville L. Williams ed., 10th ed. 1947).

“Attempt ... is the most common of the preliminary crimes. It consists of steps taken in furtherance of an indictable offence which the person attempting intends to carry out if he can. As we have seen there can be a long chain of such steps and it is necessary to have some test by which to decide that the particular link in the chain has been reached at which the crime of attempt has been achieved; that link will represent the actus reus of attempt” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 79 (16th ed. 1952).

ATTEMPTED ASSAULT

attempted assault.See ASSAULT.

ATTEMPTED MARRIAGE

attempted marriage.See void marriage under MARRIAGE(1).

ATTEMPTED MONOPOLIZATION

attempted monopolization.See MONOPOLIZATION.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

attempted suicide.See SUICIDE.

ATTEMPT TO ASSAULT

attempt to assault.See attempted assault under ASSAULT.

ATTEMPT TO ATTEMPT

attempt to attempt.A first step made toward a criminal attempt of some sort, such as a failed effort to mail someone a note inciting that person to engage in criminal conduct. • As a general rule, courts do not recognize an attempt to commit a crime that is itself an attempt. But some jurisdictions recognize this offense, esp. when the attempted crime is defined to be an independent substantive crime. For example, some jurisdictions recognize an attempted assault if assault is defined as placing a person in apprehension of bodily injury (as opposed to being defined merely as an attempted battery). In this situation, courts have been willing to punish conduct that falls short of the attempted crime but constitutes more than mere preparation to commit it. See attempted assault under ASSAULT.

ATTENDANCE OFFICER

attendance officer.See TRUANCY OFFICER.

ATTENDANT

attendant,adj. Accompanying; resulting <attendant circumstances>.

ATTENDANT CIRCUMSTANCE

attendant circumstance.See CIRCUMSTANCE.

ATTENDANT TERM

attendant term. See TERM(4).

ATTENTATE

attentate (<<schwa>>-ten-tayt), n. Hist. 1. A criminal attempt. 2. An assault. 3. An erroneous step taken by a lower-court judge after a case has been stayed or appealed.

ATTENUATION DOCTRINE

attenuation doctrine (<<schwa>>-ten-y<<schwa>>-way-sh<<schwa>>n). Criminal procedure. The rule providing that evidence obtained by illegal means may nonetheless be admissible if the connection between the evidence and the illegal means is sufficiently attenuated or remote. • This is an exception to the fruit-of-the-poisonous-tree doctrine. See FRUIT-OF-THE-POISONOUS-TREE DOCTRINE . [Cases: Criminal Law 394.1(3). C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 771, 773–775.]

ATTERMINARE

atterminare (<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r-mi-nair-ee), vb. [Law Latin] 1. To put off to a succeeding term; to adjourn. 2. To prolong the time to pay a debt.

ATTERMINEMENT

atterminement (<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r-min-m<<schwa>>nt). 1. The granting of a delay for some purpose; esp., the extension of time to pay a debt. 2. The fixing of a time limit. — attermine, vb.

ATTERMOIEMENT

attermoiement (at<<schwa>>r-moy-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>nt). [Law French] Eccles. law. COMPOSITION(1).

ATTEST

attest (<<schwa>>-test), vb. 1. To bear witness; testify <attest to the defendant's innocence>. 2. To affirm to be true or genuine; to authenticate by signing as a witness <attest the will>. [Cases: Wills 113. C.J.S. Wills §§ 253–255.] — attestation (a-te-stay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. — attestative (<<schwa>>-tes-t<<schwa>>-tiv), adj.

ATTESTATION CLAUSE

attestation clause. A provision at the end of an instrument (esp. a will) that is signed by the instrument's witnesses and that recites the formalities required by the jurisdiction in which the instrument might take effect (such as where the will might be probated). • The attestation strengthens the presumption that all the statutory requirements for executing the will have been satisfied. Cf. TESTIMONIUM CLAUSE. [Cases: Wills 113. C.J.S. Wills §§ 253–255.]

ATTESTED COPY

attested copy. See certified copy under COPY.

ATTESTED WILL

attested will. See WILL.

ATTESTER

attester (<<schwa>>-tes-t<<schwa>>r). One who attests or vouches for. — Also spelled attestant; attestator; attestor.

ATTESTING WITNESS

attesting witness. See WITNESS.

AT THE BAR

at the bar. See AT BAR.

AT THE COURTHOUSE DOOR

at the courthouse door. (Of the posting of a notice of judicial sale, etc.) on the courthouse door, or in direct proximity to the door, as on a bulletin board that is located just outside the door and that is regularly used for the posting of legal notices. • Some statutes may specify that the notice be actually posted on the door. See POST-ING(5).

AT-THE-MARKET PRICE

at-the-market price. See PRICE.

ATTORN

attorn (<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>rn), vb. 1. To agree to be the tenant of a new landlord. [Cases: Landlord and Tenant 15. C.J.S. Landlord and Tenant §§ 21–22, 277, 279.] 2. To transfer (money, goods, etc.) to another.

ATTORNATUS

attornatus (at-<<schwa>>r-nay-t<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] One who is attorned, or put in the place of another; an attorney.

ATTORNEY

attorney. 1. Strictly, one who is designated to transact business for another; a legal agent. — Also termed at-torney-in-fact; private attorney. 2. A person who practices law; LAWYER. — Also termed (in sense 2) attor-ney-at-law; public attorney. Cf. COUNSEL. — Abbr. att'y. Pl. attorneys. [Cases: Attorney and Client 63. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 165–166, 179–181, 234.]

associate attorney. 1. See ASSOCIATE(2). 2. Patents. An attorney who is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, who has been appointed by a principal attorney, and who is authorized to prosecute a patent application through the filing of a power of attorney.

[Cases: Patents 97. C.J.S. Patents §§ 135–138, 145, 178.]

attorney ad litem (ad li-tem or -t<<schwa>>m). A court-appointed lawyer who represents a child during the course of a legal action, such as a divorce, termination, or child-abuse case. • The attorney owes to the child the duties of loyalty, confidentiality, and competent representation. A child's right to legal representation in a juvenile proceeding was mandated in In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S.Ct. 1428 (1967). The appointment of an attorney ad litem is a limited one — only for a specific lawsuit. — Also termed child's attorney; attorney for the child. Cf. guardian ad litem under GUARDIAN.

attorney not of record. 1. A lawyer who is not recognized as a party's legal representative. Cf. attorney of record (1). 2. Patents & trademarks. An attorney whose name is not included in a power of attorney on file with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office for a patent or trademark application. • An attorney not of record may nevertheless prosecute a patent application if registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and appointed by the principal attorney. 37 CFR § 1.34(a). Cf. attorney not recognized.

attorney not recognized. Patents. An attorney appointed by a patent applicant but not registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. • A power of attorney appointing an unregistered attorney is void. Cf. attorney not of record.

attorney of record. 1. The lawyer who appears for a party in a lawsuit and who is entitled to receive, on the party's behalf, all pleadings and other formal documents from the court and from other parties. — Also termed counsel of record. See OF RECORD(1). [Cases: Appearance 3. C.J.S. Appearances §§ 9–12.] 2. Patents & trademarks. The attorney or agent whose name is included in the power of attorney filed by an applicant for a patent or a trademark registration. • For a patent application, the attorney of record must be a patent attorney or a patent agent. [Cases: Patents 97. C.J.S. Patents §§ 135–138, 145, 178.]

briefing attorney. 1. An attorney who specializes in brief-writing, particularly appellate briefs and legal memo-randa. 2. CLERK(5).

research attorney. 1. An attorney who specializes in providing legal support by researching, by writing memoranda, and by preparing drafts of documents. 2. CLERK(5). • In some jurisdictions, a research attorney is a midlevel law clerk, above a briefing attorney but below a staff attorney.

special attorney. See special counsel under COUNSEL.

staff attorney. 1. A lawyer who works for a court, usu. in a permanent position, on matters such as reviewing motions, screening docketing statements, preparing scheduling orders, and examining habeas corpus petitions. • Staff attorneys do not rule on motions or decide cases, but they review and research factual and legal points, and recommend proposed rulings to judges, as well as drafting the orders implementing those rulings. See CLERK(5). [Cases: Courts 55. C.J.S. Courts §§ 107–109.] 2. An in-house lawyer for an organization, esp. a nonprofit organization but sometimes a corporation. Cf. in-house counsel under COUNSEL.

ATTORNEY, POWER OF

attorney, power of. See POWER OF ATTORNEY.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW

attorney-at-law. See ATTORNEY(2).

ATTORNEY-CLIENT PRIVILEGE

attorney-client privilege. See PRIVILEGE(3).

ATTORNEY-CLIENT RELATIONSHIP

attorney-client relationship. See RELATIONSHIP.

ATTORNEY FEES

attorney fees. See ATTORNEY'S FEES.

ATTORNEY FOR THE CHILD

attorney for the child. See attorney ad litem under ATTORNEY.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

attorney general. The chief law officer of a state or of the United States, responsible for advising the government on legal matters and representing it in litigation. — Abbr. AG. Pl. attorneys general. [Cases: Attorney General 1. C.J.S. Attorney General §§ 2–3.]

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

attorney general's opinion. 1. An opinion furnished by the U.S. Attorney General to the President or another executive official on a request concerning a question of law. [Cases: Attorney General 6. C.J.S. Attorney General §§ 7–15.] 2. A written opinion by a state attorney general, usu. given at the request of a public official, interpreting a legal provision.

ATTORNEY IN CHARGE

attorney in charge. See lead counsel (1) under COUNSEL.

ATTORNEY-IN-FACT

attorney-in-fact. See ATTORNEY(1).

ATTORNEY MALPRACTICE

attorney malpractice. See legal malpractice under MALPRACTICE.

ATTORNEY NOT OF RECORD

attorney not of record. See ATTORNEY.

ATTORNEY NOT RECOGNIZED

attorney not recognized. See ATTORNEY.

ATTORNEY OF RECORD

attorney of record. See ATTORNEY.

ATTORNEYS AND AGENTS REGISTERED TO PRACTICE

Attorneys and Agents Registered to Practice Before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. A PTO publication listing all registered patent attorneys and agents by name and location.

ATTORNEY'S FEES

attorney's fees. The charge to a client for services performed for the client, such as an hourly fee, a flat fee, or a contingent fee. — Also spelled attorneys' fees. — Also termed attorney fees. Cf. RETAINER(2). [Cases: Costs 194.10; Federal Civil Procedure 2737. C.J.S. Costs § 125.]

ATTORNEY'S LIEN

attorney's lien. See LIEN.

ATTORNEY-WITNESS RULE

attorney-witness rule. See LAWYER-WITNESS RULE.

ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT

attorney work product. See WORK PRODUCT.

ATTORNEY-WORK-PRODUCT PRIVILEGE

attorney-work-product privilege. See WORK-PRODUCT RULE.

ATTORNMENT

attornment (<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>rn-m<<schwa>>nt), n.1. A tenant's agreement to hold the land as the tenant of a new landlord. [Cases: Landlord and Tenant 15. C.J.S. Landlord and Tenant §§ 21–22, 277, 279.] 2. A constructive delivery involving the transfer of mediate possession while a third person has immediate possession; esp., a bailee's acknowledgment that he or she will hold the goods on behalf of someone other than the bailor. • For the other two types of constructive delivery, see CONSTITUTUM POSSESSORIUM ; TRADITIO BREVI MANU. — attorn, vb.

“[Another] form of constructive delivery is that which is known to English lawyers as attornment.... The mediate possessor of a thing may deliver it by procuring the immediate possessor to agree with the transferee to hold it for the future on his account, instead of on account of the transferor. Thus if I have goods in the warehouse of A and sell them to B, I have effectually delivered them to B so soon as A has agreed with B to hold them for him, and no longer for me.” John Salmond, Jurisprudence 306–07 (Glanville L. Williams ed., 10th ed. 1947).

ATTRACTIVE NUISANCE

attractive nuisance.See NUISANCE.

ATTRACTIVE-NUISANCE DOCTRINE

attractive-nuisance doctrine.Torts. The rule that a person who owns property on which there is a dangerous thing or condition that will foreseeably lure children to trespass has a duty to protect those children from the danger < the attractive-nuisance doctrine imposed a duty on the school to protect the children from the shallow, polluted pond on school property>. — Also termed turntable doctrine; torpedo doctrine. See ALLUREMENT; DANGEROUS INSTRUMENTALITY . [Cases: Negligence 1172–1178. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 399, 476–477, 494–526.]

ATTRIBUTION

attribution,n. The process — outlined in the Internal Revenue Code — by which a person's or entity's stock ownership is assigned to a related family member or entity for tax purposes. — Also termed stock attribution. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3626. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 17–18.] — attribute,vb. — attributive,adj.

ATTRIBUTION RIGHT

attribution right.Copyright. A person's right to be credited as a work's author, to have one's name appear in connection with a work, or to forbid the use of one's name in connection with a work that the person did not create. • Attribution rights constitute one aspect of the moral rights recognized primarily in civil-law countries. Under the Visual Artists Rights Act of 1990, the creators of a very limited class of works — called works of visual art — have certain statutory attribution rights. 17 USCA § 106A. Under the Berne Convention Implementation Act, attribution rights afforded foreign copyright owners may be enforceable in the U.S. — Also termed rights of attribution; paternity; maternity. Cf. INTEGRITY RIGHT; MORAL RIGHT. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 36. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property §§ 10, 40–41, 97.]

ATT'Y

att'y.abbr.ATTORNEY.

ATVEF

ATVEF.abbr. ADVANCED TELEVISION ENHANCEMENT FORUM.

AT WILL

at will.Subject to one's discretion; as one wishes or chooses; esp. (of a legal relationship), able to be terminated or discharged by either party without cause <employment at will>.

AT-WILL EMPLOYMENT

at-will employment.See employment at will under EMPLOYMENT.

AT-WILL TENANCY

at-will tenancy.See tenancy at will under TENANCY.

ATWOOD<TT> DOCTRINE

Atwood doctrine. The principle that, to the extent an ERISA plan and its summary-plan description conflict regarding the circumstances under which benefits may be denied, the summary-plan description controls. Atwood v. Newmont Gold Co., 45 F.3d 1317 (9th Cir. 1995); 29 USCA § 1022. See SUMMARY-PLAN DESCRIPTION. [Cases: Pensions 47. C.J.S. Pensions and Retirement Plans and Benefits §§ 31–33.]

AU BESOIN

au besoin (oh b<<schwa>>-zwan). [French “in case of need”] A designation in a bill of exchange stating who is responsible for payment if the drawee fails or refuses to pay. • Au besoin is part of the phrase au besoin, chez Messrs. Garnier et DuCloux (meaning “in case of need, apply to Messrs. Garnier and DuCloux”).

A.U.C.

A.U.C.abbr.AB URBE CONDITA.

AUCTION

auction,n. A sale of property to the highest bidder. • Under the UCC, a sale at auction is complete when the auctioneer so announces in a customary manner, as by pounding a hammer. UCC § 2-328. — Also termed auction sale. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 1. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers § 3.] — auction,vb.

auction without reserve.An auction in which the property will be sold to the highest bidder, no minimum price will limit bidding, the owner may not withdraw property after the first bid is received, the owner may not reject any bids, and the owner may not nullify the bidding by outbidding all other bidders. • In an auction without reserve, the owner essentially becomes an offeror, and each successively higher bid creates a contingent contract, the highest bid creating an enforceable agreement. — Also termed absolute auction. See WITHOUT RESERVE. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.]

auction with reserve.An auction in which the property will not be sold unless the highest bid exceeds a minimum price. See WITH RESERVE. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.]

Dutch auction. 1. An auction in which property is initially offered at an excessive price that is gradually lowered until the property is sold. 2. An auction in which several identical items are offered simultaneously, one to a bidder, and sold to the highest bidders for the amount of the lowest winning bid. 3.Securities. A method of tendering stock shares whereby a corporation provides a price range, shareholders indicate how many shares they will sell and at what price, and the corporation buys however many shares it wants at the lowest prices offered. — Also termed Dutch-auction tender method.[Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.] 4.Securities. An auction of securities, usu. other than stock, in which a security's price is gradually lowered until it meets an acceptable bid and is sold. 5.Securities. An auction of a new issue of stock in which there is a stated minimum price per share, but bidders may offer a higher price for any number of shares until the highest price offered becomes the final price at which all the shares issued will be sold. — Also termed (in sense 4) offer for sale by tender.

knock-out auction. An auction at which two or more bidders have agreed in advance not to bid against one another. • At common law, knock-out auctions were not forbidden, on grounds that a person could not be constrained to make an offer. But most jurisdictions now have statutes that (1) forbid dealers (those who buy at auctions with the intention of reselling to others) from giving or offering an inducement to abstain from bidding at an auction, and (2) penalize the person who seeks such an inducement from a dealer.

AUCTIONEER

auctioneer, n. A person legally authorized to sell goods or lands of other persons at public auction for a commission or fee. • The auctioneer is the property owner's agent up to the moment when a purchaser's bid is accepted, when the auctioneer becomes the purchaser's agent. — Formerly also termed vendue master. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 3. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2–3.]

AUCTION MARKET

auction market. See MARKET.

AUCTION SALE

auction sale. See AUCTION.

AUCTOR

auctor (ahk-tor), n. [Latin “author”] 1. The source of a right or title, such as a grantor; AUTHOR(2). 2. A principal.

AUCTORE PRAETORE

auctore praetore (awk-tor-ee pree-tor-ee). [Latin] 1. Roman law. On the authority of the praetor. 2. Scots law. With the sanction of a judge.

AUCTOR IN REM SUAM

auctor in rem suam (awk-tor in rem s[y]oo-*<<schwa>>*m). [Latin] Hist. One who acts on one's own behalf; a principal in one's own affairs.

AUCTORITATE JUDICIS

auctoritate judicis (awk-tor-<<schwa>>-tay-tee joo-di-sis). [Latin] Hist. By judicial authority.

AUDIENCE

audience, n. A hearing before judges. See RIGHT OF AUDIENCE.

AUDIENCE TEST

audience test.Copyright. A judicial analysis used to determine whether the lay observer or an ordinary, reasonable audience would conclude that the protectable expression in a copyrighted work is substantially similar to the expression in the accused work. — Also termed ordinary-observer test; ordinary-lay-observer test. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 53(1).]

AUDIO HOME RECORDING ACT

Audio Home Recording Act.Copyright. A 1992 federal law designed to prevent copyright-infringement suits based on the manufacture, importation, distribution, or sale of digital-audio technology. • Manufacturers of digital recording devices must pay royalties on sales of the devices and related media, and build security mechanisms into each device. The security mechanisms allow the owner of a digital-recording device to make a copy from the original medium, but not to make a copy from the copy. 17 USCA §§ 1001–1010. — Abbr. AHRA. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 67.2. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property § 58.]

AUDIOVISUAL WORK

audiovisual work.See WORK(2).

AUDIT

audit,n. A formal examination of an individual's or organization's accounting records, financial situation, or compliance with some other set of standards. See GENERALLY ACCEPTED AUDITING STANDARDS. — audit,vb. — auditor,n.

audit of return.See tax audit.

compliance audit.An audit conducted by a regulatory agency, an organization, or a third party to assess compliance with one or more sets of laws and regulations.

correspondence audit.An IRS audit of a taxpayer's return conducted by mail or telephone. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4443. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 616, 618.]

desk audit.A review of a civil-service position to determine whether its duties and responsibilities fit the prescribed job classification and pay scale. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 11.8. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 74, 77.]

double audit.An audit of the same subject performed separately by two independent auditors.

environmental audit.A company's voluntary self-audit to evaluate its environmental-management programs and to determine whether it is in compliance with environmental regulations.

event-driven audit.An audit that focuses on particular transactions or activities that may raise significant legal issues. • Unlike routine periodic audits, an event-driven audit can focus substantial auditing resources on analyzing a particular event.

field audit.An IRS audit conducted at the taxpayer's business premises or lawyer's offices. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4443. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 616, 618.]

independent audit. An audit conducted by an outside person or firm not connected with the person or organization being audited.

internal audit. An audit performed by an organization's personnel to ensure that internal procedures, operations, and accounting practices are in proper order.

office audit. An IRS audit of a taxpayer's return conducted in the IRS agent's office. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4443. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 616, 618.]

periodic audit. An audit conducted at regular intervals to assess a company's current condition.

post audit. An audit of funds spent on a completed capital project, the purpose being to assess the efficiency with which the funds were spent and to compare expected cash-flow estimates with actual cash flows.

tax audit. The review of a taxpayer's return by the IRS, including an examination of the taxpayer's books, vouchers, and records supporting the return. — Also termed audit of return. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4443. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 616, 618.]

transactional audit. An audit performed for due-diligence purposes to determine whether there are potentially significant problems with a transaction. • Transactional audits are often conducted in real-property transactions to identify any environmental problems. In that context, the audit is sometimes called a site assessment.

AUDITA QUERELA

audita querela (aw-dī-t<<schwa>> kw<<schwa>>-ree-l<<schwa>>). [Law Latin “the complaint having been heard”] A writ available to a judgment debtor who seeks a rehearing of a matter on grounds of newly discovered evidence or newly existing legal defenses. [Cases: Audita Querela 1. C.J.S. Audita Querela § 2.]

“The writ of audita querela (= quarrel having been heard) ... , introduced during the time of Edward III, was available to re-open a judgment in certain circumstances. It was issued as a remedy to defendant where an important matter concerning his case had arisen since the judgment. Its issue was based on equitable, rather than common law principles.” L.B. Curzon, English Legal History 103 (2d ed. 1979).

“Audita querela is distinguished from coram nobis in that coram nobis attacks the judgment itself, whereas audita querela may be directed against the enforcement, or further enforcement, of a judgment which when rendered was just and unimpeachable.” 7A C.J.S. Audita Querela § 2, at 901 (1980).

AUDIT COMMITTEE

audit committee. See COMMITTEE.

AUDIT LETTER

audit letter. A written request for an attorney, banker, or someone else to give financial auditors information about a person or entity being audited, including information about pending or threatened litigation. • The recipient of an audit letter usu. sends the response (called an audit-letter response) directly to the financial auditors. See AUDIT RESPONSE. [Cases: Attorney and Client 106, 112. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 234, 255, 258–260.]

AUDIT-LETTER RESPONSE

audit-letter response. See AUDIT RESPONSE.

AUDIT OF RETURN

audit of return. See tax audit under AUDIT.

AUDIT OPINION

audit opinion. See OPINION(2).

AUDITOR

auditor. A person or firm, usu. an accountant or an accounting firm, that formally examines an individual's or entity's financial records or status.

county auditor. An official who examines a county's accounts and financial records.

state auditor. The appointed or elected official responsible for overseeing state fiscal transactions and auditing state-agency accounts. See AUDIT. [Cases: States 76. C.J.S. States § 229.]

AUDIT PRIVILEGE

audit privilege. In an intellectual-property license agreement, the right of the licensor to inspect the licensee's books and records. — Also termed audit rights.

AUDIT REPORT

audit report. An outside auditor's written statement, usu. accompanying a company's financial statement, ex-pressing the auditor's opinion of the accuracy of the company's financial condition as set forth in the financial statement.

AUDIT RESPONSE

audit response. A letter that an attorney provides to a client's financial auditors, usu. at the client's request, re-garding matters such as pending or threatened litigation. • Audit responses should comply with the American Bar Association's Statement of Policy Regarding Lawyer's Responses to Auditors' Requests for Information, published in December 1975. — Also termed audit-letter response. See AUDIT LETTER.

AUDIT RIGHTS

audit rights. See AUDIT PRIVILEGE.

AUDIT TRAIL

audit trail.The chain of evidence connecting account balances to original transactions and calculations.

AUGMENTED ESTATE

augmented estate.See ESTATE(3).

AULA REGIS

aula regis (aw-l<<schwa>> ree-jis). [Latin “king's hall”] Hist. See CURIA REGIS .

AUNT JEMIMA<TT> DOCTRINE

Aunt Jemima doctrine.Trademarks. The principle that a trademark is protected not only from use on a directly competing product, but also from use on a product so closely related in the marketplace that consumers would be confused into thinking that the products came from a single source.Aunt Jemima Mills Co. v. Rigney & Co., 247 F. 407 (2d Cir. 1917); 15 USCA § 1114. • In the namesake case, the name used on pancake flour was later used on syrup. The issue was not whether a competitor was trying to pass off goods, but whether it was fair to let the name's second user jeopardize the goodwill built up by the first user. See COMPLEMENTARY GOODS. [Cases: Trade Regulation 339, 341. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 81, 84, 86.]

AURAL ACQUISITION

aural acquisition.Criminal law. Under the Federal Wiretapping Act, hearing or tape-recording a communication, as opposed to tracing its origin or destination. 18 USCA § 2510(4). [Cases: Telecommunications 494.C.J.S. Telegraphs, Telephones, Radio, and Television §§ 247–249, 254, 264–265.]

AUSA

AUSA.abbr.See Assistant United States Attorney under UNITED STATES ATTORNEY.

AUSTRALIAN BALLOT

Australian ballot.See BALLOT(4).

AUTHENTIC ACT

authentic act.Civil law. 1. A writing signed before a notary public or other public officer. [Cases: Acknowledgment 1. C.J.S. Acknowledgments §§ 2–4.] 2. A certified copy of a writing. [Cases: Evidence 343.C.J.S. Evidence §§ 887–888.]

AUTHENTICATE

authenticate,vb.1. To prove the genuineness of (a thing). [Cases: Criminal Law 444; Evidence 366–381.] 2. To render authoritative or authentic, as by attestation or other legal formality. See UCC § 9-102(a)(7). [Cases: Contracts 37. C.J.S. Contracts § 79.]

AUTHENTICATION

authentication,n.1. Broadly, the act of proving that something (as a document) is true or genuine, esp. so that it may be admitted as evidence; the condition of being so proved <authentication of the handwriting>. [Cases: Criminal Law 444; Evidence 366–381.] 2. Specif., the assent to or adoption of a writing as one's own.

“The concept of authentication, although continually used by the courts without apparent difficulty, seems almost to defy precise definition. Some writers have construed the term very broadly, as does Wigmore when he states that ‘when a claim or offer involves impliedly or expressly any element of personal connection with a corporeal object, that connection must be made to appear’ So defined, ‘authentication’ is not only a necessary preliminary to the introduction of most writings in evidence, but also to the introduction of various other sorts of tangibles.” John W. Strong et al., McCormick on Evidence § 218, at 350 (5th ed. 1999)(italics in original).

self-authentication. Authentication without extrinsic evidence of truth or genuineness. • In federal courts, certain writings, such as notarized documents and certified copies of public records, may be admitted into evidence by self-authentication. Fed. R. Evid. 902. [Cases: Criminal Law 444; Evidence 366–381.]

AUTHENTIC INTERPRETATION

authentic interpretation.See INTERPRETATION.

AUTHENTICUM

authenticum (aw-then-t<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>m).Roman & civil law. 1. An original instrument. 2. (cap.) A Latin version of 134 Novels promulgated by Justinian mostly in Greek between A.D. 535 and 556. — Also termed Authenticæ.

AUTHOR

author. 1.Copyright. The person who creates an expressive work, or the person or business that hires another to create an expressive work. • In copyright law, “author” applies to a broad range of occupations, including writers, artists, programmers, choreographers, and translators. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 41(1).] 2. One from whom a right or title derives in some way other than by descent. See AUCTOR(1).

AUTHORITATIVE PRECEDENT

authoritative precedent.See binding precedent under PRECEDENT.

AUTHORITY

authority. 1. The right or permission to act legally on another's behalf; esp., the power of one person to affect another's legal relations by acts done in accordance with the other's manifestations of assent; the power delegated by a principal to an agent <authority to sign the contract>. — Also termed power over other persons. See AGENCY. [Cases: Principal and Agent 96.C.J.S. Agency §§ 148–149.]

“The term ‘authority,’ like the term ‘contract,’ may easily be used in three senses, and is therefore a term to be avoided when accurate reasoning is desirable. It may be used to mean (1) the operative acts of the principal, (2) a physical document executed by the principal, or (3) the legal relations consequent upon the preceding operative facts (1) and (2), and especially the legal power conferred upon the agent to bring the principal into new legal relations without any further action by the principal. The operative facts may be spoken words, a document together with the acts necessary to execute it, or other conduct by the principal apparently expressing an intention to create a power. Hereafter, the word ‘authority’ will be used to denote these operative facts; in other cases the word power will usually be substituted. This latter word is not so likely to be taken in shifting senses, in spite of the fact that ‘power of attorney’ generally means a physical document under seal.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 508 n.1 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

actual authority. Authority that a principal intentionally confers on an agent or authority that the agent reasonably believes he or she has as a result of the agent's dealings with the principal. • Actual authority can be either express or implied. — Also termed real authority. [Cases: Principal and Agent 96, 99. C.J.S. Agency §§ 148–149, 153–164.]

“Actual authority is such as a principal intentionally confers upon the agent, or intentionally, or by want of ordinary care, allows the agent to believe himself to possess.” Cal. Civ. Code § 2316.

apparent authority. Authority that a third party reasonably believes an agent has, based on the third party's dealings with the principal, even though the principal did not confer or intend to confer the authority. • Apparent authority can be created by law even when no actual authority has been conferred. — Also termed ostensible authority; authority by estoppel. [Cases: Principal and Agent 99. C.J.S. Agency §§ 153–164.]

“The term ‘apparent authority’ means that a legal power is vested in the agent in the absence of any intention by the principal that it should exist, or even in spite of his intention that it should not exist. The operative facts causing this power to exist are acts of the principal which, considered along with surrounding facts, induce the third person with whom the agent deals to believe reasonably that the principal intended the power to exist. The power is real and not merely apparent. The agent is indeed a wrongdoer in exercising the power. He possesses the power but not the legal privilege of using it. Likewise, the authority (meaning the action of the principal creating the agent's power) is real. It is only the intention of the principal to create such a power that is merely apparent (i.e., non-existent).” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 510 n.1 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

“ ‘Apparent authority’ of an insurance agent means such authority as an insurer knowingly permits the agent to assume, or which it holds him out as possessing, that is, such authority as he appears to have by reason of actual authority or such authority as a reasonably prudent man would suppose the agent to possess.” John Alan Appleman & Jean Appleman, Insurance Law and Practice § 8674 (1981).

authority coupled with an interest. Authority given to an agent for valuable consideration. •

This authority cannot be unilaterally terminated by the principal. [Cases: Principal and Agent 34. C.J.S. Agency §§ 114–119.]

constructive authority. Authority that is inferred because of an earlier grant of authority.

express authority. Authority given to the agent by explicit agreement, either orally or in writing. — Also termed stipulated authority. [Cases: Principal and Agent 96. C.J.S. Agency §§ 148–149.]

general authority. A general agent's authority, intended to apply to all matters arising in the course of business.

implied authority. Authority intentionally given by the principal to the agent as a result of the principal's conduct, such as the principal's earlier acquiescence to the agent's actions. — Also termed presumptive authority. [Cases: Principal and Agent 99. C.J.S. Agency §§ 153–164.]

incidental authority. Authority needed to carry out actual or apparent authority. • For example, the actual authority to borrow money includes the incidental authority to sign commercial paper to bring about the loan. — Also termed inferred authority. [Cases: Principal and Agent 99. C.J.S. Agency §§ 153–164.]

inherent authority. Authority of an agent arising from the agency relationship.

naked authority. Authority delegated solely for the principal's benefit, without giving any consideration to the agent. • This authority can be revoked by the principal at any time.

ostensible authority. See apparent authority.

presumptive authority. See implied authority.

real authority. See actual authority.

special authority. Authority limited to an individual transaction.

stipulated authority. See express authority.

supervisory authority. See SUPERVISORY AUTHORITY.

2. Governmental power or jurisdiction <within the court's authority>. 3. A governmental agency or corporation that administers a public enterprise < transit authority>. — Also termed public authority. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 2. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 7–9.]

constituted authority. (often pl.) The legislative, executive, and judicial departments officially and rightfully governing a nation, people, municipality, or other governmental unit; an authority properly appointed or elected under organic law, such as a constitution or charter.

examining authority. A self-regulatory organization registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission and vested with the authority to examine, inspect, and otherwise oversee the activities of a registered broker or dealer.

4. A legal writing taken as definitive or decisive; esp., a judicial or administrative decision cited as a precedent <that case is good authority in Massachusetts>. • The term includes not only the decisions of tribunals but also statutes, ordinances, and administrative rulings. [Cases: Courts 88. C.J.S. Courts § 139; Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 187.]

adverse authority.Authority that is unfavorable to an advocate's position. • Most ethical codes require counsel to disclose adverse authority in the controlling jurisdiction even if the opposing counsel has not cited it.

imperative authority.Authority that is absolutely binding on a court. — Also termed binding authority. Cf. binding precedent under PRECEDENT.

persuasive authority.Authority that carries some weight but is not binding on a court.

“It may be well to call attention to the fact that the word ‘authority’ is used by lawyers in at least two senses, one abstract and the other concrete. The word [in its concrete sense] refer[s] to the book or other repository to which one resorts to find propositions of law, and sometimes the word is used in an even narrower sense to mean reported cases. In its abstract sense, however, ‘authority’ is substantially equivalent to ‘influence’ or ‘power,’ and in this sense ‘authority’ may be divided into two grades, in that the force of a statement of law is either imperative (that is to say, absolutely binding upon the courts) or simply persuasive. The use of the terms ‘primary’ and ‘secondary’ authority, as applied in the concrete sense, must not be confused with the use of the terms ‘imperative’ and ‘persuasive’ authority, as used in the abstract sense. That is to say, a book of primary authority may be either imperative or persuasive, according to the circumstances ... , or it may be of no force at all. Books of secondary authority are, in the nature of things, usually merely of persuasive authority.” William M. Lile et al., Brief Making and the Use of Law Books 12 (3d ed. 1914).

primary authority.Authority that issues directly from a law-making body; legislation and the reports of litigated cases.

secondary authority.Authority that explains the law but does not itself establish it, such as a treatise, annotation, or law-review article.

5. A source, such as a statute, case, or treatise, cited in support of a legal argument <the brief's table of authorities>.

AUTHORITY BY ESTOPPEL

authority by estoppel.See apparent authority under AUTHORITY(1).

AUTHORIZATION CLAUSE

authorization clause.Patents. A Patent Act provision directing that if a person uses or manufactures something protected by a valid U.S. patent, acts on behalf of the U.S. government, and acts with the government's authori-zation or consent, the U.S., not the person, is deemed the infringing user or manufacturer. • If an infringing act is done by a government contractor or subcontractor working for the U.S. and the act is covered by the authorization or consent clause, the patent owner's only recourse is a suit against the U.S. in the U.S. Claims Court for com-pensation. The authorization or consent clause is in the second paragraph of 28 USCA § 1498(a). — Also termed consent clause. [Cases: United States 97.C.J.S. United States §§ 184–186.]

AUTHORIZE

authorize,vb.1. To give legal authority; to empower <he authorized the employee to act for him>.2. To formally approve; to sanction <the city authorized the construction project>. — authorization,n.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL

authorized capital.See nominal capital under CAPITAL.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL STOCK

authorized capital stock.See capital stock (1) under STOCK.

AUTHORIZED COMMITTEE

authorized committee.See SPECIAL LITIGATION COMMITTEE.

AUTHORIZED SHARES authorized shares.See capital stock (1) under STOCK.

AUTHORIZED STOCK

authorized stock.See capital stock (1) under STOCK.

AUTHORSHIP

authorship. See work of authorship under WORK(2).

AUTHOR'S RIGHT

author's right.Copyright. The system of protecting the moral and economic rights of the creator of a work, esp. in civil-law countries. — Also termed (in French) droit d'auteur; (in German) Urheberrecht; (in Italian) diritto d' autore; (in Spanish) derecho de autor.

“[O]n almost every point of consequence, the traditions of copyright and author's right are far more alike than they are unlike. One reason is that the Berne Convention bridges the two traditions, with the result that its extensive minimum standards have dictated substantively similar rules for countries in both camps.” Paul Goldstein, International Copyright: Principles, Law, and Practice 4 (2001).

AUTHOR'S SHARE

author's share.Copyright. An author's portion of royalties, as determined by an agreement with the publisher.

AUTOCRACY

autocracy (aw-tok-r<<schwa>>-see), n. Government by one person with unlimited power and authority; unlimited monarchy. — autocratic (aw-t<<schwa>>-krat-ik), adj. — autocrat (aw-t<<schwa>>-krat), n.

AUTOGRAPH

autograph, n. A person's own writing or signature; HOLOGRAPH. Cf. ALLOGRAPH.

AUTOLIMITATION

autolimitation, n. An authority's establishment of rules that, in effect, limit the authority's own power. — auto-limit, vb.

“The theory of Jellinek (Allgemeine Staatslehre), so far as the writer understands it, is not an explanation either. In his view something which he calls the State, not defined, but, as it seems, a group of persons, finds itself in pos-session of power, and establishes rules. These are the law. This process he calls ‘autolimitation.’ It is true that a body with supreme power does make law. An autocrat, man or group, without rules, may do justice, though it probably will not, but it does not make law — there is no Rechtsstaat. But autolimitation is, as Professor Brierly notes ... , a contradiction in terms. If the State's power is limited, it must be by some superior power. But even accepting the analysis, we are no better off.” W.W. Buckland, Some Reflections on Jurisprudence 24 (1945).

AUTOMATED BOND SYSTEM

Automated Bond System. The New York Stock Exchange's computerized network that enables subscribers to electronically transmit quotations and execute orders for bond trades. — Abbr. ABS.

AUTOMATED PATENT SYSTEM

Automated Patent System. A computerized database of patents, maintained by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office database. — Abbr. APS. — Also termed automated patent search system.

AUTOMATED TRANSACTION

automated transaction. A contract formed or performed, in whole or in part, by electronic means or by electronic messages in which either party's electronic actions or messages establishing the contract are not intended to be reviewed in the ordinary course by an individual. UCITA § 2-102(a)(7), 102:10UC; UETA § 14.

AUTOMATIC-ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE

automatic-adjustment clause. A provision in a utility-rate schedule that allows a public utility to increase its rates without a public hearing or state review, if certain operating costs, such as the price of fuel, increase. Federal Energy Regulatory Comm'n v. Mississippi, 456 U.S. 742, 102 S.Ct. 2126 (1982). [Cases: Electricity 11.3(4, 6); Public Utilities 128, 167. C.J.S. Electricity § 33; Public Utilities §§ 36, 44–46, 48, 87, 96.]

AUTOMATIC-ASSIGNMENT DOCTRINE

automatic-assignment doctrine. Trademarks. The rule that, absent evidence to the contrary, the sale of an entire business carries with it and transfers to the purchaser any common-law marks used in that business without the need for a written assignment. • For marks registered under the Lanham Act or under some state registration schemes, a written assignment is required to transfer an interest in a registered mark or in a pending application to register a mark. [Cases: Trade Regulation 102. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 205, 207.]

AUTOMATIC DISCLOSURE

automatic disclosure. See DISCLOSURE(2).

AUTOMATIC PERFECTION

automatic perfection. See PERFECTION.

AUTOMATIC STAY

automatic stay. See STAY.

AUTOMATIC SUSPENSION

automatic suspension. See automatic stay under STAY.

AUTOMATIC-TRANSFER STATUTE

automatic-transfer statute. See TRANSFER STATUTE.

AUTOMATIC WAGE-WITHHOLDING

automatic wage-withholding. See attachment of wages under ATTACHMENT(1).

AUTOMATISM

automatism (aw-tom-<<schwa>>-tiz-<<schwa>>m), n.1. Action or conduct occurring without will, purpose, or reasoned intention, such as sleepwalking; behavior carried out in a state of unconsciousness or mental dissociation without full awareness. • Automatism may be asserted as a defense to negate the requisite mental state of voluntariness for commission of a crime. [Cases: Criminal Law 46. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 96–98, 113.] 2. The state of a person who, though capable of action, is not conscious of his or her actions. — automaton, n.

“How far is automatism a defence? It has been defined as involuntary action performed in a state of unconsciousness not amounting to insanity. Theoretically the defence is that no act in the legal sense took place at all — the plea is that there was no volition or psychic awareness.” George Whitecross Paton, A Textbook of Jurisprudence 315 (G.W. Paton & David P. Derham eds., 4th ed. 1972).

ambulatory automatism. Automatism that consists in irresponsible or purposeless wanderings.

AUTOMOBILE EXCEPTION

automobile exception. An exception to the warrant requirement in Fourth Amendment search-and-seizure law, holding that the police may, without a warrant, thoroughly search a movable vehicle for which the individual has a lessened expectation of privacy (such as a car or boat) if probable cause exists. • For purposes of this doctrine, exigent circumstances are presumed to exist. Once the right to conduct a warrantless search arises, the actual search may take place at a later time. Carroll v. United States, 267 U.S. 132, 45 S.Ct. 280 (1925); California v. Acevedo, 500 U.S. 565, 111 S.Ct. 1982 (1991). See exigent circumstances under CIRCUMSTANCE. [Cases: Controlled Substances 114; Searches and Seizures 60. C.J.S. Searches and Seizures § 79.]

AUTOMOBILE EXCLUSION

automobile exclusion. See EXCLUSION(3).

AUTOMOBILE-GUEST STATUTE

automobile-guest statute. See GUEST STATUTE.

AUTOMOBILE HOMICIDE

automobile homicide. See vehicular homicide under HOMICIDE.

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

automobile insurance. See INSURANCE.

AUTONOMIC LAW

autonomic law (aw-t<<schwa>>-nom-ik). The type of enacted law that has its source in various forms of sub-ordinate and restricted legislative authority possessed by private persons and bodies of persons. • Examples are corporate bylaws, university regulations, and the rules of the International Monetary Fund.

AUTONOMOUS TARIFF

autonomous tariff. See TARIFF(2).

AUTONOMY

autonomy (aw-tahn-<<schwa>>-mee), n. 1. The right of self-government. 2. A self-governing state. — auto-nomous (aw-tahn-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s), adj.

AUTONOMY OF THE PARTIES

autonomy of the parties. See FREEDOM OF CONTRACT.

AUTONOMY PRIVACY

autonomy privacy. See PRIVACY.

AUTOPSY

autopsy (aw-top-see). 1. An examination of a dead body to determine the cause of death, esp. in a criminal investigation. — Also termed postmortem; necropsy. [Cases: Coroners 14. C.J.S. Coroners and Medical Examiners § 16.] 2. The evidence of one's own senses.

“To a rational man of perfect organization, ... the best and highest proof of which any fact is susceptible is the evidence of his own senses. Hence autopsy, or the evidence of one's own senses, furnishes the strongest probability and indeed the only perfect and indubitable certainty of the existence of any sensible fact.” Gentry v. McMinnis, 3 Dana 382 (1835)(as quoted in John H. Wigmore, A Students' Textbook of the Law of Evidence 214 (1935)).

AUTOPTIC EVIDENCE

autoptic evidence (aw-top-tik). See demonstrative evidence under EVIDENCE.

AUTOPTIC PREFERENCE

autoptic preference (proh-f<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>nts). The presentation of an item for inspection by the court. See demonstrative evidence under EVIDENCE. [Cases: Criminal Law 404.45; Evidence 188. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 854–855; Evidence §§ 789–791, 794, 796.]

“Yet another form of proof that may present difficulties in defining evidence is what Wigmore calls ‘autoptic preference.’ By this barbarism, the learned author was referring to those few cases in which it is possible to bring before the jury the material fact itself, rather than evidence of the fact.” 22 Charles Alan Wright & Kenneth W. Graham Jr., Federal Practice and Procedure § 5163, at 33 (1978).

AUTRE ACTION PENDANT

autre action pendant (oh-tr<<schwa>> ak-see-awn pahni-dahin). [Law French] Another action pending. • This phrase was formerly used in pleas of abatement.

AUTRE DROIT

autre droit (oh-tr<<schwa>> drwah). [Law French] In right of another. • This phrase describes the manner in which a trustee holds property for a beneficiary.

AUTREFOIS

autrefois (oh-tr<<schwa>>-fwahoroh-t<<schwa>>r-foyz). [Law French] On another occasion; formerly.

autrefois acquit (<<schwa>>-kwitor a-kee). A plea in bar of arraignment that the defendant has been acquitted of the offense. — Also termed former acquittal. See DOUBLE JEOPARDY. [Cases: Criminal Law 289–297; Double Jeopardy 100.1. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 381–383.]

“Suppose that a transgressor is charged and acquitted for lack of evidence, and evidence has now come to light showing beyond doubt that he committed the crime. Even so, he cannot be tried a second time. He has what is termed, in legal French, the defence of autrefois acquit. Similarly, if he is convicted, even though he is let off very lightly, he cannot afterwards be charged on fresh evidence, because he will have the defence of autrefois convict. These uncouth phrases have never been superseded, though they might well be called the defence of ‘previous acquittal’ and ‘previous conviction’; and ‘double jeopardy’ makes an acceptable generic name for both.” Glanville Williams, Textbook of Criminal Law 24 (1978).

autrefois attain (<<schwa>>-taynt).Hist. A plea in bar that the defendant has already been attainted for one felony and therefore cannot be prosecuted for another.

autrefois convict.A plea in bar of arraignment that the defendant has been convicted of the offense. See DOUBLE JEOPARDY. [Cases: Criminal Law 289–297; Double Jeopardy 105. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 240, 381–383.]

AUTRE VIE

autre vie (oh-tr<<schwa>> vee). [Law French] Another's life. See PUR AUTRE VIE; VIE.

AUXILIARY

auxiliary (awg-zil-y<<schwa>>-ree), adj.1. Aiding or supporting. 2. Subsidiary.

AUXILIARY COVENANT

auxiliary covenant.See COVENANT(1).

AUXILIARY JURISDICTION

auxiliary jurisdiction.See assistant jurisdiction under JURISDICTION.

AUXILIATOR

auxiliator (awg-zil-ee-ay-t<<schwa>>r), n.[Latin] Hist. A helper; an assistant.

AUXILIUM

auxilium (awg-zil-ee-<<schwa>>m), n.[Latin] Hist. Aid; esp., compulsory aid such as a tax or tribute to be paid by a vassal to a lord as an incident of the tenure by knight's service.

AUXILIUM AD FILIUM MILITEM FACIENDUM ET FILIAM MARITANDAM

auxilium ad filium militem faciendum et filiam maritandam (awg-zil-ee-<<schwa>>m ad fil-ee-<<schwa>>m mil-<<schwa>>-tem fay-shee-en-d<<schwa>>m et fil-ee-am mar-<<schwa>>-tan-d<<schwa>>m), n.[Law Latin] Hist. A writ ordering a sheriff to levy a tax toward the knighting of a son and the marrying of a daughter of tenants in capite of the Crown.

AUXILIUM CURIAE

auxilium curiae (awg-zil-ee-<<schwa>>m kyoor-ee-Iorkyoor-ee-ee). [Latin] Hist. A court order summoning a party to appear and assist a party already before the court.

AUXILIUM REGIS

auxilium regis (awg-zil-ee-<<schwa>>m ree-jis), n.[Latin] Hist. The Crown's tax levied for royal use and public service, such as a tax granted by Parliament.

AUXILIUM VICE COMITI

auxilium vice comiti (awg-zil-ee-<<schwa>>m vI-see kom-<<schwa>>-tI), n.[Latin] Hist. An ancient tax paid to sheriffs.

AVAIL

avail, n. 1. Use or advantage <of little or no avail>. 2. (pl.) Profits or proceeds, esp. from a sale of property <the avails of the trust fund>.

AVAILABLE

available, adj. Legally valid <available claims> <available defenses>.

AVAILABLE FOR WORK

available for work, adj. (Of a person) ready, willing, and able to accept temporary or permanent employment when offered.

AVAILMENT

availment, n. The act of making use or taking advantage of something for oneself <availment of the benefits of public office>. — avail, vb.

AVAIL OF MARRIAGE

avail of marriage. See VALOR MARITAGII.

AVER

aver (<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>r), vb. To assert positively, esp. in a pleading; to allege.

AVERAGE

average, n. 1. A single value that represents a broad sample of subjects; esp., in mathematics, the mean, median, or mode of a series. 2. The ordinary or typical level; the norm. 3. Maritime law. Accidental partial loss or damage to an insured ship or its cargo during a voyage. [Cases: Shipping 186–202. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 458–470.] — average, vb. & adj.

extraordinary average. A contribution by all the parties concerned in a commercial voyage — whether for vessel or cargo — toward a loss sustained by some of the parties in interest for the benefit of all.

general average. Average resulting from an intentional partial sacrifice of ship or cargo to avoid total loss. • The liability is shared by all parties who had an interest in the voyage. — Abbr. GA. — Also termed gross average; general-average contribution. [Cases: Shipping 186–202. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 458–470.]

“[G]eneral average refers to certain extraordinary sacrifices made or expenses incurred to avert a peril that threatens the entire voyage. In such a case the party sustaining the loss confers a common benefit on all the parties to the maritime venture. As a result the party suffering the loss has a right — apart from contract or tort — to claim contribution from all who participate in the venture. The doctrine of general average is thus an equitable principle derived from the general maritime law. General average is an exception to the principle of particular average that losses lie where they fall; rather the loss becomes ‘general,’ meaning that it is spread ratably among all the parties involved in the maritime adventure. The doctrine of general average is of ancient vintage, and can be traced back to remotest antiquity.” Thomas J. Schoenbaum, Admiralty and Maritime Law § 16-1, at 522–23 (1987).

particular average. Average resulting from an accidental partial loss or damage. • Any average that is not general is termed particular. The liability is borne solely by the person who suffered the loss. — Also termed simple average; partial average; petty average.

4.Hist. A service, esp. one of carriage, due from a feudal tenant to a lord. • The average is mentioned in the Do-mesday Book, but the exact nature of the service is unclear. Based on etymological studies, some authorities believe the term referred to the performance of work with or by beasts of burden. But because the term's origin is unclear, this theory is not universally accepted.

AVERAGE BOND

average bond. See BOND(2).

AVERAGE COST

average cost. See COST(1).

AVERAGE DAILY BALANCE

average daily balance. See DAILY BALANCE.

AVERAGE GROSS SALES

average gross sales. See SALE.

AVERAGE TAX RATE

average tax rate. See TAX RATE.

AVERAGE VARIABLE COST

average variable cost. The average cost per unit of output, arrived at by dividing the total cost (fixed cost and variable cost) by output. See COST (1). Cf. LONG-RUN INCREMENTAL COST.

AVERAGING DOWN

averaging down. An investment strategy in which shares in the same company are purchased at successively lower prices to achieve a lower average cost than the first purchase.

AVERAGING UP

averaging up. An investment strategy in a rising market in which equal numbers of shares are purchased at successively higher prices to reduce the investment's average cost basis. • For example, if an investor buys an equal number of shares at $10, $13, $15, and $18, the average cost per share is $14.

AVERMENT

averment (<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>nt), n. A positive declaration or affirmation of fact; esp., an assertion or allegation in a pleading <the plaintiff's averment that the defendant ran a red light>. Cf. ASSEVE-RATE.

immaterial averment. An averment that alleges something in needless detail; a statement that goes far beyond what is in issue. • This type of averment may be ordered struck from the pleading. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 652, 1125; Pleading 22, 364. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 75–77, 668, 683.]

negative averment. An averment that is negative in form but affirmative in substance and that must be proved by the alleging party. • An example is the statement “she was not old enough to enter into the contract,” which is more than just a simple denial. Cf. TRAVERSE. [Cases: Pleading 78, 119–123. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 160–161, 186–187, 189–190.]

AVERMENT OF NOTICE

averment of notice. A statement in a pleading that someone else has been properly notified about some fact. See NOTICE.

AVIATION EASEMENT

aviation easement. See avigational easement under EASEMENT.

AVIATION INSURANCE

aviation insurance. See INSURANCE.

AVIGATIONAL EASEMENT

avigational easement. See EASEMENT.

AVIGATION EASEMENT

avigation easement. See avigational easement under EASEMENT.

A VINCULO MATRIMONII

a vinculo matrimonii (ay ving-ky<<schwa>>-loh ma-tr<<schwa>>-moh-nee-I). [Latin] From the bond of ma-trimony. — Often shortened to a vinculo. See divorce a vinculo matrimonii under DIVORCE.

AVIZANDUM

avizandum (av-i-zan-d<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Scots law. Deliberation; advisement. • The judge is said later to “advise” the case — that is, to give an opinion.

“To make avizandum with a process, or part of it, is to take it from the public court to the private consideration of the judge.” William Bell, Bell's Dictionary and Digest of the Law of Scotland 82 (George Watson ed., 7th ed. 1890).

AVOID

avoid, vb. To render void <because the restrictive covenant was overbroad, the court avoided it>. • Because this legal use of avoid can be easily confused with the ordinary sense of the word, the verb to void is preferable.

AVOIDABLE

avoidable,adj.1. Not inevitable; subject to prevention <an avoidable accident>.

practically avoidable.(Of harm) capable of being eliminated in whole or substantial part without the incurrance of prohibitive expense or hardship.

2. Capable of being refrained from <avoidable habits>.3. Voidable.

AVOIDABLE-CONSEQUENCES DOCTRINE

avoidable-consequences doctrine.See MITIGATION-OF-DAMAGES DOCTRINE.

AVOIDABLE COST

avoidable cost.See COST(1).

AVOIDANCE

avoidance,n.1. The act of evading or escaping <avoidance of tax liability>. See TAX AVOIDANCE. 2. The act of refraining from (something) <avoidance of an argument>.3.RESCISSION(1).4.VOIDANCE; 5. ANNULMENT(1) <avoidance of the agreement>.6.CONFESSION AND AVOIDANCE <the defendant filed an avoidance in an attempt to avert liability>. — avoid,vb.

AVOIDING POWER

avoiding power.See POWER(5).

AVOISION

avoision (<<schwa>>-voy-zh<<schwa>>n), n. An ambiguous act that falls between legal avoidance and illegal evasion of the law. • The term, coined by Arthur Seldon, an economist, is a blend of evasion and avoidance. Avoision usu. refers to financial acts that are not clearly legal tax avoidance or illegal tax evasion, but it sometimes appears in other contexts.

“The book is in three parts, divided into tiny chapterlets, forty-two in all. The first part takes up what Katz calls ‘avoision’: a fusion of ‘avoidance’ and ‘evasion’ that denotes cases in which it is unclear whether a person's conduct should be considered lawful avoidance of the law's prohibitions or illegal evasion. Two actresses are vying for the same part. Mildred knows that Abigail has been unfaithful to her husband. If she threatens to tell the husband unless Abigail forgoes the audition, that would be blackmail, and a crime. Instead she tells Abigail that she is mailing a letter addressed to the husband that reveals Abigail's infidelity and that has been timed to arrive the morning of the audition. Knowing that Abigail will stay home to intercept the letter, Mildred will have achieved the same end as she would have done by committing blackmail, yet her conduct is not criminal.” Richard A. Posner, “The Immoralist,” New Republic, July 15, 1996, at 38.

AVOUCHER

avoucher (<<schwa>>-vow-ch<<schwa>>r).Hist. A tenant's calling upon a warrantor of title to the land to help the tenant defend the title.

AVOUTRY

avoutry. See ADULTERY.

AVOWAL

avowal (<<schwa>>-vow-<<schwa>>l), n.1. An open declaration. 2.OFFER OF PROOF . — avow,vb.

AVOWANT

avowant (<<schwa>>-vow-<<schwa>>nt), n. A person who makes avowry in an action of replevin.

AVOWEE

avowee. See ADVOCATUS.

AVOWRY

avowry (<<schwa>>-vow-ree), n. Common-law pleading. An acknowledgment — in an answer to a replevin action — that one has taken property, and a justification for that taking <the defendant's avowry was based on alleged damage to the property by the plaintiff>. Cf. COGNIZANCE(4). [Cases: Replevin 64.] — avow,vb.

AVOWTER

avowter.Hist. An adulterer. • The crime was called avowtry. — Also spelled advouterer; avowterer; avouter; advowter.

AVOWTRY

avowtry. See ADULTERY.

AVULSION

avulsion (<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>l-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. A forcible detachment or separation. 2. A sudden removal of land caused by change in a river's course or by flood. • Land removed by avulsion remains the property of the original owner. Cf. ALLUVION; ACCRETION(1); DELICTION; EROSION. 3. A tearing away of a body part surgically or accidentally. [Cases: Navigable Waters 45; Waters and Water Courses 94. C.J.S. Navigable Waters §§ 100, 111; Waters §§ 176, 183.] — avulse,vb.

AVUNCULUS

avunculus (<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>ngk-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman & civil law. A maternal uncle; one's mother's brother.

AVUNCULUS MAXIMUS

avunculus maximus (mak-s<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s). See ABAVUNCULUS.

AVUS

avus (av-<<schwa>>s oray-v<<schwa>>s), n.[Latin] Roman & civil law. A grandfather.

AWARD

award,n. A final judgment or decision, esp. one by an arbitrator or by a jury assessing damages. — Also termed arbitrament.

award,vb. To grant by formal process or by judicial decree <the company awarded the contract to the low bidder> <the jury awarded punitive damages>.

AWARD IN INTERFERENCE

award in interference.See PRIORITY AWARD.

AWAY-GOING CROPS

away-going crops.See CROPS.

AWOL

AWOL.abbr.Absent without leave; missing without notice or permission. [Cases: Armed Services 36; Military Justice 667. C.J.S. Armed Services §§ 153–155, 157; Military Justice §§ 2, 4–11, 13, 57.]

AXIOM

axiom (ak-see-<<schwa>>m), n. An established principle that is universally accepted within a given framework of reasoning or thinking <“innocent until proven guilty” is an age-old axiom of criminal law>. — axiomatic (ak-see-<<schwa>>-mat-ik), adj.

AYANT CAUSE

ayant cause (ay-<<schwa>>nt).Civil law. 1. One to whom a right has been assigned by will, gift, sale, or exchange; an assignee. 2. One who has a “cause” or standing in one's own right.

AYE

aye (I), n. Parliamentary law. An affirmative vote.

AYEL

ayel (ay-<<schwa>>l). See AIEL.

AYLE

ayle (ayl). See AIEL.

B.

B.abbr.BARON(3).

B2B

B2B.abbr. BUSINESS-TO-BUSINESS .

B2C

B2C.abbr. BUSINESS-TO-CONSUMER .

BA

BA.abbr.See banker's acceptance under ACCEPTANCE(4).

BABY ACT, PLEADING THE

baby act, pleading the.Slang. The act of asserting a person's infancy as a defense to a contract claim.

BABY-BARTERING

baby-bartering. See BABY-SELLING.

BABY BOND

baby bond.See BOND(3).

BABY-BROKERING

baby-brokering. See BABY-SELLING.

BABY DOE

Baby Doe.A generic pseudonym for a very young child involved in litigation, esp. in the context of being provided with medical care. • Today a gender designation is often added: Baby Girl Doe or Baby Boy Doe. The generic term is used to shield the child's identity.

BABY FTC ACT

Baby FTC Act.A state statute that, like the Federal Trade Commission Act, outlaws deceptive and unfair trade practices.

BABY MOSES LAW

Baby Moses law.See SAFE-HAVEN LAW.

BABY-SELLING

baby-selling. The exchange of money or something else of value for a child. • All states have prohibitions against baby-selling. It is not considered baby-selling for prospective adoptive parents to pay money to a birth mother for pregnancy-related expenses. — Also termed baby-brokering; baby-bartering.

BABY-SNATCHING

baby-snatching. See child-kidnapping under KIDNAPPING.

BAC

BAC.abbr.BLOOD ALCOHOL CONTENT.

BACHELOR

bachelor. 1. An unmarried man. 2. The usual title of the first degree that is conferred on a university graduate. 3.English law. A member of one of the orders of chivalry, such as the Order of the Bath. — Also termed (in sense 3) knight bachelor.

BACHELOR OF LAWS

bachelor of laws.See LL.B.

BACK

back,vb.1. To indorse; to sign the back of an instrument. 2. To sign so as to show acceptance or approval. 3. To sign so as to indicate financial responsibility for. 4.Hist. (Of a magistrate) to sign a warrant issued in one county to permit its execution in the signing magistrate's county.

“[Although] the warrant of the judge of the Court of King's Bench extends over the whole realm, ... that of a justice of the peace cannot be executed out of his county, unless it be backed, that is, indorsed by a justice of the county, in which it is to be carried into execution. It is said, that formerly there ought in strictness to have been a fresh warrant in every fresh county, but the practice of backing warrants has long been observed, and was at last sanctioned by the statute 23 Geo. 2. c. 26. s. 2, and 24 Geo. 2. c. 55.” 1 Joseph Chitty, A Practical Treatise on the Criminal Law 45 (2d ed. 1826).

BACKADATION

backadation. See BACKWARDATION.

BACKBEREND

backberend (bak-ber-<<schwa>>nd). [Old English] Hist. 1.The bearing of stolen goods upon the back or about the person. • Backberend is sometimes modernized to backbearing. 2. A person caught carrying stolen goods. — Also spelled bacberende; backberinde. Cf. HANDHABEND.

“Backberinde signifieth bearing upon the Back, or about a Man. Bracton useth it for a Sign or Circumstance of Theft apparent, which the Civilians call Furtum manifestum....” Giles Jacob, A New Law-Dictionary (8th ed. 1762).

BACK CARRY

back-carry,n.Hist. The crime of carrying, on one's back, unlawfully killed game.

BACKDATE

backdate,vb.1. To put a date earlier than the actual date on (something, as an instrument). • Under UCC § 3-113(a), backdating does not affect an instrument's negotiability. Cf. POSTDATE.
2. To make (something) retroactively valid.

BACK DOOR TO BERNE

back door to Berne.Copyright. A U.S. copyright owner's simultaneous publication of the copyrighted work in both the U.S. and Berne Convention countries in order to obtain Berne Convention protection. • This backdoor method was used before 1989, when the U.S. became a member of the Berne Convention. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 34. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property §§ 21, 92.]

BACK-END LOAD

back-end load.See load fund under MUTUAL FUND.

BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION

background of the invention.Patents. In a U.S. patent application and any resulting patent, the section that identifies the field of art to which the invention pertains, summarizes the state of the art, and describes the problem solved by the invention. • The Background of the Invention section usu. includes two subsections: "Field of the Invention" and "Description of the Related Art." A mistaken inclusion in this section of a reference that postdates the date of invention may be construed as an admission. [Cases: Patents 99. C.J.S. Patents § 139.]

BACKHAUL ALLOWANCE

backhaul allowance.See ALLOWANCE(1).

BACKING

backing. Endorsement, esp. of a warrant by a magistrate. See BACK(4).

BACK-IN RIGHT

back-in right.Oil & gas. A reversionary interest in an oil-and-gas lease entitling an assignor to a share of the working interest after the assignee has recovered specified costs from production.

BACK LANDS

back lands.Generally, lands lying away from — not next to — a highway or a watercourse.

BACKPAY AWARD

backpay award.A judicial or quasi-judicial body's decision that an employee or ex-employee is entitled to accrued but uncollected wages or benefits. — Sometimes shortened to backpay.

BACKSPREAD

backspread.Securities. In arbitrage, a less than normal price difference in the price of a currency or commodity. See ARBITRAGE; SPREAD(3).

BACK TAXES

back taxes. Taxes that, though assessed for a previous year or years, remain due and unpaid.

BACK-TITLE LETTER

back-title letter. A letter from a title insurer advising an attorney of the condition of title to land as of a certain date. • With this information, the attorney can begin examining the title from that date forward.

BACK-TO-BACK LOAN

back-to-back loan. See LOAN.

BACK-TO-WORK AGREEMENT

back-to-work agreement. A contract between a union and an employer covering the terms under which the employees will return to work after a strike.

BACKWARDATION

backwardation. Securities. A fee paid by the seller of securities so that the buyer will allow delivery after their original delivery date. — Also termed backadation; inverted market.

BACKWARD INTEGRATION

backward integration. See INTEGRATION(5).

BACKWATER

backwater. See WATER.

BACULUS

baculus (bak-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>s orbak-<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>s). Hist. A rod or staff used to symbolize the conveyance of unimproved land. See LIVERY OF SEISIN . See FESTUCA.

BAD

bad, adj. Invalid or void; legally unsound <bad service of process> <bad law>.

BAD-BOY DISQUALIFICATION

bad-boy disqualification. Securities. An issuer's disqualification from certain SEC-registration exemptions as a result of the issuer's securities-law violations.

BAD-BOY PROVISION

bad-boy provision. Securities. A statutory or regulatory clause in a blue-sky law stating that certain persons, because of their past conduct, are not entitled to any type of exemption from registering their securities. • Such clauses typically prohibit issuers, officers, directors, control persons, or broker-dealers from being involved in a limited offering if they have been the subject of an adverse proceeding concerning securities, commodities, or postal fraud.

BAD CHARACTER

bad character. A person's predilection toward evil. • In limited circumstances, proof of bad character may be introduced into evidence to discredit a witness. Fed. R. Evid. 608, 609. See character evidence under EVIDENCE.

BAD CHECK

bad check. See CHECK.

BAD-CONDUCT DISCHARGE

bad-conduct discharge. See DISCHARGE(8).

BAD DEBT

bad debt. See DEBT.

BAD-DEBT LOSS RATIO

bad-debt loss ratio. The ratio of uncollectible debt to a business's total receivables.

BAD-DEBT RESERVE

bad-debt reserve. See RESERVE.

BAD FAITH

bad faith, n. 1. Dishonesty of belief or purpose <the lawyer filed the pleading in bad faith>. — Also termed mala fides (mal-<<schwa>> fl-deez).

“A complete catalogue of types of bad faith is impossible, but the following types are among those which have been recognized in judicial decisions: evasion of the spirit of the bargain, lack of diligence and slacking off, willful rendering of imperfect performance, abuse of a power to specify terms, and interference with or failure to cooperate in the other party's performance.” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 205 cmt. d (1979).

2. Insurance. An insurance company's unreasonable and unfounded (though not necessarily fraudulent) refusal to provide coverage in violation of the duties of good faith and fair dealing owed to an insured. • Bad faith often involves an insurer's failure to pay the insured's claim or a claim brought by a third party. 3. Insurance. An insured's claim against an insurance company for an unreasonable and unfounded refusal to provide coverage. Cf. GOOD FAITH. [Cases: Insurance 3335, 3379. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1164, 1576–1577.] — bad-faith, adj.

BAD-FAITH ENFORCEMENT

bad-faith enforcement. Patents. 1. The filing of an infringement action by a patentee who knows that the accused product or process does not infringe or that the patent is invalid or unenforceable. 2. In an infringement action, a counterclaim alleging that at the time of filing suit, the patentee knew that the accused product or process does not infringe or that the patent is invalid or unenforceable. • A counterclaim for bad-faith enforcement arises under § 2 of the Sherman Act and under the common law of unfair competition. Cf. PATENT-MISUSE DOCTRINE.

BAD-FAITH FILING

bad-faith filing, n. Bankruptcy. The act of submitting a bankruptcy petition that is inconsistent with the purposes of the Bankruptcy Code or is an abuse of the bankruptcy system (that is, by not being filed in good faith). • A court may dismiss a bankruptcy case if it finds that the petition was filed in bad faith.

BADGE OF FRAUD

badge of fraud. A circumstance generally considered by courts as an indicator that a party to a transaction intended to hinder or defraud the other party, such as a transfer in anticipation of litigation, a transaction outside the usual course of business, or a false statement. See FRAUD. [Cases: Fraud 3; Fraudulent Conveyances 13–16.]

BADGE OF SLAVERY

badge of slavery. 1. Strictly, a legal disability suffered by a slave, such as the inability to vote or to own property. 2. Broadly, any act of racial discrimination — public or private — that Congress can prohibit under the 13th Amendment. [Cases: Constitutional Law 83(2). C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 482–486.]

BADGER GAME

badger game. A scheme to extort money or some other benefit by arranging to catch someone in a compromising position and then threatening to make that person's behavior public.

“The ‘badger game’ is a blackmailing trick, usually in the form of enticing a man into a compromising position with a woman whose real or pretended husband comes upon the scene and demands payment under threat of prosecution or exposure.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 451 (3d ed. 1982).

BAD-MAN THEORY

bad-man theory. The jurisprudential doctrine or belief that a bad person's view of the law represents the best test of what the law actually is because that person will carefully calculate precisely what the rules allow and operate up to the rules' limits. • This theory was first espoused by Oliver Wendell Holmes in his essay The Path of the Law, 10 Harv. L. Rev. 457 (1897). In the essay, Holmes maintained that a society's legal system is defined by predicting how the law will affect a person, as opposed to considering the ethics or morals supposedly underlying the law. Under Holmes's theory, the prediction is best made by viewing the law as would a “bad man” who is unconcerned with morals. Such a person is not concerned with acting morally or in accord with a grand philosophical scheme. Rather, that person is concerned with whether and to what degree certain acts will incur punishment by the public force of the law. See LEGAL REALISM. — Also termed prediction theory.

BAD MOTIVE

bad motive. See MOTIVE.

BADS

bad_s, n. Slang. In economics, the counterpart of “goods,” characterized by a negative correlation between the amount consumed and the consumer's wealth; specif., the kinds of products that tend to be bought only by poor people.

“Some products are termed ‘bads’ because consumption of the product tends to decrease with increasing wealth. Spam is one example of a bad, while beef tenderloin is generally thought to be a good.” Donald S. Chisum et al., Principles of Patent Law 54 (1998).

BAD TITLE

bad title. See TITLE(2).

BAGA

baga (bag-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Hist. A bag or purse, esp. one in which original writs were kept by the Chancery.

BAGMAN

bagman. A person who collects and distributes illegally obtained money; esp., an intermediary who collects a bribe for a public official.

BAIL

bail, n. 1. A security such as cash or a bond; esp., security required by a court for the release of a prisoner who must appear at a future time <bail is set at $500>. Cf. RECOGNIZANCE. [Cases: Bail 39. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings §§ 2, 4–7, 31–32.]

bail absolute. A type of fiduciary bond conditioning a surety's liability on the failure of an estate administrator, executor, or guardian to properly account for estate funds. See fiduciary bond under BOND(2).

cash bail. A sum of money (rather than a surety bond) posted to secure a prisoner's release from jail. — Also termed stationhouse bail. [Cases: Bail 73. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings §§ 88–92.]

civil bail. A bond or deposit of money given to secure the release of a person arrested for failing to pay a court-ordered civil debt. • The bail is conditioned on the payment of the debt. [Cases: Bail 1. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings §§ 2, 191.]

excessive bail. Bail that is unreasonably high considering both the offense with which the accused is charged and the risk that the accused will not appear for trial. • The Eighth Amendment prohibits excessive bail. [Cases: Bail 52. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings § 69.]

stationhouse bail. See cash bail.

2. The process by which a person is released from custody either on the undertaking of a surety or on his or her own recognizance. 3. Release of a prisoner on security for a future appearance; esp., the delivery of a person in custody to a surety <the court refused bail for the accused serial killer>. [Cases: Bail 39. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings §§ 2, 4–7, 31–32.] 4. One or more sureties for a criminal defendant <the attorney stood as bail for her client>. See BAILER(1). “As a noun, and in its strict sense, bail is the person in whose custody the defendant is placed when released from jail, and who acts as surety for defendant's later appearance in court.... The term is also used to refer to the undertaking by the surety, into whose custody defendant is placed, that he will produce defendant in court at a stated time and place.” 8 C.J.S. Bail § 2 (1988).

bail above. See bail to the action.

bail below. See bail to the sheriff.

bail common. Hist. A fictitious surety filed by a defendant in a (usu. minor) civil action. — Also termed common bail; straw bail.

“[T]he Common Pleas made a distinction between common and special bail, allowing the former, in cases where the defendant voluntarily appeared to the process, or where the damage expressed in it appeared to be but of a trifling amount, and requiring the latter only, when the plaintiff's demand or the damage he had sustained appeared to be something considerable. In time therefore, in common cases, every defendant took the liberty of offering John Doe and Richard Roe, for his bail....” 1 George Crompton, Practice Common-Placed: Rules and Cases of Practice in the Courts of King's Bench and Common Pleas lxi (3d ed. 1787).

bail to the action. Hist. A surety for a civil defendant arrested by a mesne process (i.e., a process issued during the lawsuit). • If the defendant lost the lawsuit, the bail to the action was bound either to pay the judgment or to surrender the defendant into custody. — Also termed bail above; special bail. Cf. bail to the sheriff.

bail to the sheriff. Hist. A person who pledged to the sheriff that a defendant served with process during a civil action would appear on the writ's return day. — Also termed bail below. Cf. bail to the action.

“This kind of bail is called bail to the sheriff, because given to that officer, and for his security; and bail below, because subordinate or preliminary to bail to the action or special bail, which is termed bail above.” 1 Alexander M. Burrill, A Law Dictionary and Glossary 174 (2d ed. 1867).

common bail. See bail common.

special bail. See bail to the action.

straw bail. See bail common.

5. Obs. Legal custody of a detainee or prisoner who obtains release by giving surety for a later appearance. 6.Canadian law. A lease.

bail-à-rente. A lease in perpetuity.

bail emphytéotique.A renewable lease for a term of years that the lessee may prolong indefinitely.

bail,vb.1. To obtain the release of (oneself or another) by providing security for future appearance <his parents bailed him out of jail>. [Cases: Bail 39. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings§§ 2, 4-7, 31-32.] 2. To release (a person) after receiving such security <the court bailed the prisoner>. [Cases: Bail 39. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings§§ 2, 4-7, 31-32.] 3. To place (personal property) in someone else's charge or trust < bail the goods with the warehouse>.

BAILABLE

bailable,adj. (Of an offense or person) eligible for bail.

BAILABLE OFFENSE

bailable offense.See OFFENSE(1).

BAILABLE PROCESS

bailable process.See PROCESS.

BAIL ABOVE

bail above.See bail to the action under BAIL(4).

BAIL ABSOLUTE

bail absolute.See BAIL(1).

BAIL-À-RENTE

bail-à-rente. See BAIL(6).

BAIL BELOW

bail below.See bail to the sheriff under BAIL(4).

BAIL BOND

bail bond.See BOND(2).

BAIL BONDSMAN

bail bondsman.See BAILER(1).

BAIL CLAUSE

Bail Clause.The clause in the Eighth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution prohibiting excessive bail. • This clause was derived from similar language in England's Bill of Rights (1689).

BAIL COMMISSIONER

bail commissioner. 1. A judge empowered to hold an emergency hearing to set bail when a hearing cannot be held during regular court hours. • A bail commissioner does not review other judges' bail decisions. 2. An officer appointed to take bail bonds. — Also termed commissioner of bail. [Cases: Bail 48. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings § 39, 50–53.] 3.Hist. A court-appointed officer who took recognizance of bail in civil cases.

BAIL COMMON

bail common.See BAIL(4).

BAIL COURT

Bail Court.Hist. An ancillary court of Queen's Bench responsible for ensuring that bail sureties were worth the sums pledged (i.e., hearing justifications) and handling other procedural matters. • The court was established in 1830 and abolished in 1854. — Also termed Practice Court.

BAIL DOCK

bail dock.A small compartment in a courtroom used to hold a criminal defendant during trial. — Often shortened to dock. — Also spelled bale dock. See DOCK(3).

BAILEE

bailee. A person who receives personal property from another as a bailment. See BAILMENT. [Cases: Bailment 1. C.J.S. Bailments §§ 2–13, 15, 19, 22–24, 31.]

BAILEE POLICY

bailee policy.See INSURANCE POLICY.

BAIL EMPHYTÉOTIQUE

bail emphytéotique.See BAIL(6).

BAIL-ENFORCEMENT AGENT

bail-enforcement agent.See BOUNTY HUNTER.

BAILER

bailer. 1. One who provides bail as a surety for a criminal defendant's release. — Also spelled bailor. — Also termed bail bondsman; bailman. 2.BAILOR(1).

BAILIFF

bailiff. 1. A court officer who maintains order during court proceedings. • In many courts today, the bailiff also acts as crier, among other responsibilities. See CRIER. — Also termed (in England and Wales) usher; (in Scotland) macer. 2. A sheriff's officer who executes writs and serves processes. [Cases: Sheriffs and Constables 24. C.J.S. Sheriffs and Constables §§ 50–51.]

bailiff-errant.Hist. A bailiff appointed by the sheriff to deliver writs and other process within a county. Cf. bailiffs of franchises.

bailiffs of franchises.Hist. Bailiffs who execute writs and perform other duties in privileged districts that are outside the Crown's (and therefore the sheriff's) jurisdiction. Cf. bailiff-errant.

“Bailiffs of Franchises are those who are appointed by every Lord within his Liberty, to do such Offices therein, as the Bailiff Errant does at large in the County.” Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary (1670).

bailiffs of hundreds.Hist. Bailiffs appointed by a sheriff to collect fines, summon juries, attend court sessions, and execute writs and process in the county district known as a hundred. See HUNDRED.

bailiffs of manors.Hist. Persons appointed to superintend the estates of the nobility. • These bailiffs collected fines and rents, inspected buildings, and took account of waste, spoils, and misdemeanors in the forests and demesne lands.

bound bailiff.Hist. A deputy sheriff placed under bond to ensure the faithful performance of assigned duties. — Also termed bumbailiff.

“The sheriff being answerable for the misdemesnors of these bailiffs, they are therefore usually bound in a bond for the due execution of their office, and thence are called bound-bailiffs; which the common people have corrupted into a much more homely appellation [i.e., bumbailiff].” 1 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 334 (1765).

bumbailiff. 1.BrE. Slang. A bailiff of the lowest rank who performs the most menial tasks, such as arresting debtors and serving writs. • In British English, “bum” is slang for a person's buttocks. Some sources suggest that bumbailiffs are so called because they often approached debtors from behind before arresting them. 2. See bound bailiff.

high bailiff.Hist. A bailiff attached to a county court, responsible for attending court sessions, serving summonses, and executing orders, warrants, and writs.

special bailiff.Hist. A deputy sheriff appointed at a litigant's request to serve or execute some writ or process related to the lawsuit.

BAIL IN ERROR

bail in error.Security given by a defendant who intends to bring a writ of error on a judgment and desires a stay of execution in the meantime. See appeal bond, supersedeas bond under BOND(2).

BAILIVIA

bailivia. See BAILIWICK.

BAILIWICK

bailiwick (bay-l<<schwa>>-wik). The office, jurisdiction, or district of a bailiff; esp., a bailiff's territorial jurisdiction. — Also termed bailivia; baliva; balliva.

“In the early days a village was called a ‘wick.’ Each village had a bailiff who was its peace officer. His authority was limited to the territory of the wick. A bailiff was popularly referred to as a ‘bailie,’ and before long a bailie's wick was expressed as his ‘bailiwick.’ And in time this word came to be used to indicate the special territory over which a peace officer exercises his authority as such. Although it may be changed by statute, the normal situation is that the bailiwick of a policeman is his city, the bailiwick of a sheriff is his county and the bailiwick of a state officer, such as a member of the Highway Patrol, is the state.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 1096 (3d ed. 1982).

BAIL-JUMPING

bail-jumping, n. The criminal offense of defaulting on one's bail. See Model Penal Code § 242.8. See JUMP BAIL. [Cases: Bail 97. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings § 73.] — jump bail, vb. — bail-jumper, n.

BAILMENT

bailment. 1. A delivery of personal property by one person (the bailor) to another (the bailee) who holds the property for a certain purpose under an express or implied-in-fact contract. • Unlike a sale or gift of personal property, a bailment involves a change in possession but not in title. Cf. PAWN. [Cases: Bailment 1. C.J.S. Bailments §§ 2–13, 15, 19, 22–24, 31.]

“The customary definition of a bailment considers the transaction as arising out of contract. Thus Justice Story defines a bailment as ‘a delivery of a thing in trust for some special object or purpose, and upon a contract express or implied, to conform to the object or purpose of the trust’ [Joseph Story, Bailments 5 (9th ed. 1878)]. There has, however, been a vigorous dissent to this insistence on the contractual element in bailments. Professor Williston ... defines bailments broadly ‘as the rightful possession of goods by one who is not the owner’ [4 Samuel Williston, Law of Contracts 2888 (rev. ed. 1936)].... It is obvious that the restricted definition of a bailment as a delivery of goods on a contract cannot stand the test of the actual cases. The broader definition of Professor Williston is preferable.” Ray Andrews Brown, The Law of Personal Property § 73, at 252, 254 (2d ed. 1955).

“Although a bailment is ordinarily created by the agreement of the parties, resulting in a consensual delivery and acceptance of the property, such a relationship may also result from the actions and conduct of the parties in dealing with the property in question. A bailment relationship can be implied by law whenever the personal property of one person is acquired by another and held under circumstances in which principles of justice require the recipient to keep the property safely and return it to the owner.” 8A Am. Jur. 2d Bailment § 1 (1997).

actual bailment. A bailment that arises from an actual or constructive delivery of property to the bailee.

bailment for hire. A bailment for which the bailee is compensated, as when one leaves a car with a parking attendant. — Also termed lucrative bailment.

bailment for mutual benefit. A bailment for which the bailee is compensated and from which the bailor receives some additional benefit, as when one leaves a car with a parking attendant who will also wash the car while it is parked.

bailment for sale. A bailment in which the bailee agrees to sell the goods on behalf of the bailor; a consignment.

bailment for sole benefit of bailor. See gratuitous bailment.

constructive bailment. A bailment that arises when the law imposes an obligation on a possessor of personal property to return the property to its rightful owner, as with an involuntary bailment.

gratuitous bailment. A bailment for which the bailee receives no compensation, as when one borrows a friend's car. • A gratuitous bailee is liable for loss of the property only if the loss is caused by the bailee's gross negligence. — Also termed naked bailment; depositum; naked deposit; gratuitous deposit; deposit; bailment for sole benefit of bailor.

involuntary bailment. A bailment that arises when a person accidentally, but without any negligence, leaves personal property in another's possession. • An involuntary bailee who refuses to return the property to the owner can be liable for conversion. — Also termed involuntary deposit. See abandoned property, lost property, mislaid property under PROPERTY.

lucrative bailment. See bailment for hire.

naked bailment. See gratuitous bailment.

2. The personal property delivered by the bailor to the bailee. [Cases: Bailment 4. C.J.S. Bailments § 20.] 3. The contract or legal relation resulting from such a delivery. [Cases: Bailment 1. C.J.S. Bailments §§ 2–13, 15, 19, 22–24, 31.] 4. The act of posting bail for a criminal defendant. 5. The documentation for the posting of bail for a criminal defendant.

BAILOR

bailor (bay-lor or bay-l<<schwa>>r). 1. A person who delivers personal property to another as a bailment. — Also spelled bailer. 2. BAILER(1).

BAILOUT

bailout, n. 1. A rescue of an entity, usu. a corporation or an industry, from financial trouble. 2. An attempt by a business to receive favorable tax treatment of its profits, as by withdrawing profits at capital-gain rates rather than distributing stock dividends that would be taxed at higher ordinary-income rates. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3750. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 395.]

BAILOUT STOCK

bailout stock. See STOCK.

BAILPIECE

bailpiece. 1. Hist. A document recording the nature of the bail granted to a defendant in a civil action; specif., a surety issued to attest the act of offering bail 2. More modernly, a warrant issued to a surety upon which the surety may arrest the person bailed by him. • The bailpiece was filed with the court and usu. signed by the defendant's sureties. See BAIL(2); RECOGNIZANCE. — Sometimes written bailpiece.

BAIL-POINT SCALE

bail-point scale.A system for determining a criminal defendant's eligibility for bail, whereby the defendant either will be released on personal recognizance or will have a bail amount set according to the total number of points given, based on the defendant's background and behavior.

BAIL REVOCATION

bail revocation.The court's cancellation of bail granted previously to a criminal defendant.

BAILS MAN

bailsman. See BAILER(1).

BAIL TO THE ACTION

bail to the action.See BAIL(4).

BAIL TO THE SHERIFF

bail to the sheriff.See BAIL(4).

BAIRN'S PART

bairn's part.See LEGITIM.

BAIT ADVERTISING

bait advertising.See BAIT AND SWITCH.

BAIT AND SWITCH

bait and switch.A sales practice whereby a merchant advertises a low-priced product to lure customers into the store, only to induce them to buy a higher-priced product. • Most states prohibit the bait and switch when the original product is not actually available as advertised. — Also termed bait advertising. [Cases: Consumer Protection 7. C.J.S. Credit Reporting Agencies; Consumer Protection § 59.]

BAKER V. SELDEN DOCTRINE

Baker v. Selden doctrine.See MERGER DOCTRINE (1).

BALANCE

balance,vb.1. To compute the difference between the debits and credits of (an account) <the accountant balanced the company's books>.2. To equalize in number, force, or effect; to bring into proportion <the company tried to balance the ratio of mid-level managers to assembly-line workers>.3. To measure competing interests and offset them appropriately <the judge balanced the equities before granting the motion>. — balance,n.

BALANCED ECONOMY

balanced economy.See ECONOMY.

BALANCED FUND

balanced fund.See MUTUAL FUND.

BALANCE OF CONVENIENCE

balance of convenience.A balancing test that courts use to decide whether to issue a preliminary injunction stopping the defendant's allegedly infringing or unfair practices, weighing the benefit to the plaintiff and the public against the burden on the defendant.

BALANCE OF POWER

balance of power.Int'l law.A relative equality of force between countries or groups of countries, as a result of which peace is encouraged because no country is in a position to predominate.

BALANCE OF PROBABILITY

balance of probability.See PREPONDERANCE OF THE EVIDENCE.

BALANCE OF SENTENCE SUSPENDED

balance of sentence suspended.A sentencing disposition in which a criminal defendant is sentenced to jail but credited with the time already served before trial, resulting in a suspension of the remaining sentence and release of the defendant from custody. Cf. SENTENCED TO TIME SERVED.

BALANCE SHEET

balance sheet.A statement of an entity's current financial position, disclosing the value of the entity's assets, liabilities, and owners' equity. — Also termed statement of financial condition; statement of condition; statement of financial position. Cf. INCOME STATEMENT.

BALANCE-SHEET INSOLVENCY

balance-sheet insolvency.See INSOLVENCY.

BALANCE-SHEET TEST

balance-sheet test.See balance-sheet insolvency under INSOLVENCY.

BALANCING TEST

balancing test.A judicial doctrine, used esp. in constitutional law, whereby a court measures competing interests — as between individual rights and governmental powers, or between state authority and federal supremacy — and decides which interest should prevail.

BALE

bale. A package of goods wrapped in cloth and marked so as to be identifiable on a bill of lading.

BALIVA

baliva. See BAILIWICK.

BALLISTICS

ballistics. 1. The science of the motion of projectiles, such as bullets. 2. The study of a weapon's firing characteristics, esp. as used in criminal cases to determine a gun's firing capacity and whether a particular gun fired a given bullet.

BALLIVA

balliva. See BAILIWICK.

BALLIVO AMOVENDO

ballivo amovendo (b<<schwa>>-II-voh ay-moh-ven-doh). [Latin "a bailiff to be removed"] Hist. A writ to remove from office a bailiff who does not have sufficient land in the bailiwick as required by the Statute of Westminster (1285).

BALLOON NOTE

balloon note. See NOTE(1).

BALLOON PAYMENT

balloon payment. See PAYMENT.

BALLOON-PAYMENT MORTGAGE

balloon-payment mortgage. See MORTGAGE.

BALLOT

ballot, n. 1. An instrument, usu. a paper or ball, used for casting a vote. [Cases: Elections 126(5), 215. C.J.S. Elections § 118(1).] 2. The system of choosing officers by a recorded vote, usu. by marking a paper.

absentee ballot. A ballot that a voter submits, sometimes by mail, before an election. — Also termed absentee vote. See absentee voting under VOTING. [Cases: Elections 126(6), 216.1. C.J.S. Elections §§ 114, 118(1).]

bullet ballot. See bullet vote under VOTE(1).

exhausted ballot. See exhausted vote under VOTE(1).

joint ballot. A vote by legislators of both houses sitting together as one body.

preferential ballot. See preferential vote under VOTE(1).

secret ballot.A vote cast in such a way that the person voting cannot be identified. Cf Australian ballot. [Cases: Elections 126(6), 215. C.J.S. Elections §§ 114, 118(1).]

“The secret ballot, when used to protect citizens when choosing their representatives, is a hallmark of a democratic system of government; but, when it is used to conceal a public official's vote, it violates the fundamental tenet of an elected or appointed official's ultimate accountability to the electorate.” Op. Tex. Att'y Gen. H-1163 (1978).

spoiled ballot.A ballot reflecting a vote that cannot be counted because it was cast in a form or manner that does not comply with the applicable rules. See illegal vote under VOTE(1).

3. A vote in a series of one or more votes that is not conclusive until one candidate attains the necessary majority or supermajority <the candidate was nominated on the 21st ballot>.4. A list of candidates running for office <four candidates are on the ballot>. — ballot,vb.

Australian ballot.A uniform ballot printed by the government, listing all eligible candidates, and marked in secret. • Before Australian ballots became standard, candidates often printed their own ballots with only their names, and watchers at polling places could see whose ballot a voter was casting. — Loosely termed secret ballot. [Cases: Elections 126(5), 164. C.J.S. Elections § 118(1).]

Massachusetts ballot.A ballot in which, under each office, the names of candidates and party designations are printed in alphabetical order. • This is a type of Australian ballot.

office-block ballot.A ballot that lists the candidates' names under the title of the office sought without mentioning the candidates' party affiliations. [Cases: Elections 126(5), 168(1), 173. C.J.S. Elections §§ 118(1), 158.]

party-column ballot.A ballot that lists the candidates' names in separate columns by political party regardless of the offices sought by the candidates. [Cases: Elections 126(5), 168(1), 173. C.J.S. Elections §§ 118(1), 158.]

Texas ballot.A ballot that the voter marks for the candidates that he or she does not want elected. • The Texas ballot is particularly useful when the number of candidates only slightly exceeds a large number of representatives being elected.

BALLOT BOX

ballot box.A locked box into which ballots are deposited.

BAMAKO CONVENTION

Bamako Convention on the Ban of the Import into Africa and the Control of Transboundary Movement of Hazardous Wastes Within Africa.A 1991 treaty prohibiting the importation of hazardous wastes into Africa and restricting the transfer of wastes among African nations. • The treaty's objectives are to protect human health and the environment from the dangers posed by hazardous wastes by banning their importation, banning the dumping of waste in seas and internal waters, and reducing waste generation. Only a nation that is a member of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) can become a party to the Bamako Convention. — Often shortened to Bamako Convention.

BAN

ban, n. 1. Hist. A public proclamation or summons. • Bans dealt with a variety of matters, such as the calling to arms of a lord's vassals or the proclamation that an offender was henceforth to be considered an outlaw. 2. Eccles. law. An authoritative ecclesiastical prohibition; an interdict or excommunication. 3. BANNS OF MATRIMONY. — Also spelled bann.

ban, vb. To prohibit, esp. by legal means.

BANALITY

banality (b<<schwa>>-nal-i-tee), n. Hist. Fr. Can. law. A lord's right to make his vassals use his own winepress, oven, mill, etc.

BANC

banc (bangk or bongk). [French] A bench; esp., the bench on which one or more judges sit. — Also spelled bank. — Also termed bancus. See EN BANC.

BANCO

banco (bang-koh). 1. A seat or bench of justice. See EN BANC. 2. A tract of land cut off by the shifting of a river's course; esp., land that has become cut off in such a manner from the country it originally belonged to. See AVULSION(2).

BANCUS

bancus (bang-k<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin “bench”] Hist. English law. A court or tribunal.

bancus publicus. See bancus superior.

bancus reginae (bang-k<<schwa>>s r<<schwa>>-jI-nee). See QUEEN'S BENCH.

bancus regis (bang-k<<schwa>>s ree-j<<schwa>>s). See KING'S BENCH.

bancus superior (bang-k<<schwa>>s s<<schwa>>-peer-ee-<<schwa>>r). Upper bench. • The King's Bench was so called during the Protectorate (1653–1659). — Abbr. b.s. — Also termed bancus publicus (“public bench”).

B AND E

B and E. abbr. Breaking and entering. See BURGLARY(2).

BANE

bane. Hist. A malefactor or murderer; a person whose criminal act calls for the raising of the hue and cry.

BANISH

banish, vb. See EXILE.

BANK

bank. 1. A financial establishment for the deposit, loan, exchange, or issue of money and for the transmission of funds; esp., a member of the Federal Reserve System. • Under securities law, a bank includes any banking institution, whether or not incorporated, doing business under federal or state law, if a substantial portion of the institution's business consists of receiving deposits or exercising fiduciary powers similar to those permitted to national banks and if the institution is supervised and examined by a state or federal banking authority; or a receiver, conservator, or other liquidating agent of any of the above institutions. 15 USCA § 78c(a)(6). [Cases: Banks and Banking 1, 232, 289. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 6, 482–483, 599–600.] 2. The office in which such an establishment conducts transactions.

“A bank is a quasi public institution, for the custody and loan of money, the exchange and transmission of the same by means of bills and drafts, and the issuance of its own promissory notes, payable to bearer, as currency, or for the exercise of one or more of these functions, not always necessarily chartered, but sometimes so, created to subserve public ends, or a financial institution regulated by law A bank is wholly a creature of statute doing business by legislative grace and the right to carry on a banking business through the agency of a corporation is a ‘franchise’ which is dependent on a grant of corporate powers by the state.” 1A Michie on Banks and Banking § 2, at 5–6 (1993).

bank for cooperatives. A bank within a system of banks established to provide a permanent source of credit to farmers' cooperatives and supervised by the Farm Credit Administration. [Cases: Banks and Banking 401–409. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 665–666.]

collecting bank. In the check-collection process, any bank handling an item for collection, except for the payor bank or the depository bank. UCC § 4-105(5). [Cases: Banks and Banking 156–163. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 317, 319, 322, 327, 382–400, 402, 404, 407, 409–410, 414.]

commercial bank. A bank authorized to receive both demand and time deposits, to engage in trust services, to issue letters of credit, to rent time-deposit boxes, and to provide similar services.

correspondent bank. A bank that acts as an agent for another bank, or engages in an exchange of services with that bank, in a geographical area to which the other bank does not have direct access.

custodian bank. A bank or trust company that acts as custodian for a clearing corporation and that is supervised and examined by a state or federal authority.

depository bank. The first bank to which an item is transferred for collection. UCC § 4-105(2). [Cases: Banks and Banking 120, 121, 137, 158. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 272–276, 322, 328, 330, 383, 395–397, 399, 402, 404.]

drawee bank. See payor bank.

Federal Home Loan Bank. See FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANK.

federal intermediate credit bank. One of a system of 12 regional banks created in 1923 to discount obligations of agricultural credit corporations and similar institutions making short-term loans to farmers and ranchers. • The system is now merged with federal land banks to create the federal farm-credit system. [Cases: United States 53(7). C.J.S. United States §§ 90, 92–93.]

federal land bank. See FEDERAL LAND BANK.

intermediary bank. A bank to which an item is transferred in the course of collection, even though the bank is not the depository or payor bank. UCC § 4-105(4).

investment bank. A bank whose primary purpose is to acquire financing for businesses, esp. through the sale of securities. • An investment bank does not accept deposits and, apart from selling securities, does not deal with the public at large. See INVESTMENT BANKER. [Cases: Brokers 2. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 2–5.]

member bank. A bank that is a member of the Federal Reserve System. — Also termed reserve bank. See FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM. [Cases: Banks and Banking 359. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 661–662.]

mutual savings bank. A bank that has no capital stock and in which the depositors are the owners. See SAVINGS-AND-LOAN ASSOCIATION. [Cases: Banks and Banking 289; Building and Loan Associations 1. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 599–600; Building and Loan Associations, Savings and Loan Associations, and Credit Unions §§ 2–4.]

national bank. A bank incorporated under federal law and governed by a charter approved by the Comptroller of the Currency. • A national bank is permitted to use the abbreviation N.A. (national association) as part of its name. [Cases: Banks and Banking 232, 238. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 482–483, 496.]

negotiating bank. A financial institution that discounts or purchases drafts drawn under a letter of credit issued by another bank. [Cases: Banks and Banking 191. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 341–366, 368–370, 372–376.]

nonbank bank. A financial institution that either accepts demand deposits or makes commercial loans, but, unlike banks, does not do both at the same time and therefore can avoid federal regulations on bank ownership. • Nonbank banks were esp. prolific in the 1980s, but amendments to the definition of a bank under federal law have essentially closed this loophole.

nonmember bank. A bank that is not a member of the Federal Reserve System. See FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM.

payor bank. A bank that is asked to pay the amount of a negotiable instrument and, on the bank's acceptance, is obliged to pay that amount; a bank by which an item is payable as drawn or accepted. • Because the bank is the drawee of a draft, it is also termed a drawee bank. UCC § 4-105(3). [Cases: Banks and Banking 137, 158. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 322, 328, 330, 383, 395–397, 399, 402, 404.]

presenting bank. A nonpayor bank that presents a negotiable instrument for payment. UCC §

4-105(6). [Cases: Banks and Banking 158. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 322, 383, 395–397, 399, 402, 404.]

private bank. An unincorporated banking institution owned by an individual or partnership and, depending on state statutes, subject to or free from state regulation.

remitting bank. A payor or intermediary bank that pays or transfers an item.

reserve bank. See member bank.

respondent bank. A bank, association, or other entity that exercises fiduciary powers, that holds securities on behalf of beneficial owners, and that deposits the securities for safekeeping with another bank, association, or other entity exercising fiduciary powers. SEC Rule 14a-1(k) (17 CFR § 240.14a-1(k)).

savings-and-loan bank. See SAVINGS-AND-LOAN ASSOCIATION.

savings bank. A bank that makes primarily home mortgage and some other consumer loans, receives deposits and pays interest on them, and may offer checking accounts. • Historically, savings banks did not provide any checking services. [Cases: Banks and Banking 289. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 599–600.]

state bank. A bank chartered by a state and supervised by the state banking department. • For a state bank to have FDIC insurance on deposits, it must become a member of the Federal Reserve System. [Cases: Banks and Banking 2–6. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 2–5, 7–9, 15–18.]

bank, vb. 1. To keep money at <he banks at the downtown branch>. 2. To deposit (funds) in a bank <she banked the prize money yesterday>. 3. Slang. To loan money to facilitate (a transaction) <who banked the deal?>. • The lender's consideration usu. consists of a fee or an interest in the property involved in the transaction.

BANKABLE PAPER

bankable paper. See PAPER.

BANK ACCEPTANCE

bank acceptance. See banker's acceptance under ACCEPTANCE(4).

BANK ACCOUNT

bank account. See ACCOUNT.

BANK-ACCOUNT TRUST

bank-account trust. See Totten trust under TRUST.

BANK BILL

bank bill. See BANKNOTE.

BANKBOOK

bankbook. See PASSBOOK.

BANK CHARTER

bank charter. See CHARTER(3).

BANK CREDIT

bank credit. See CREDIT(4).

BANK DISCOUNT

bank discount. The interest that a bank deducts in advance on a note. See DISCOUNT(2).

BANK DRAFT

bank draft. See DRAFT.

BANKER

banker. A person who engages in the business of banking.

BANKEROUT

bankerout, adj. Archaic. Indebted beyond the means of payment; bankrupt. — Also spelled bankrout.

BANKER'S ACCEPTANCE

banker's acceptance. See ACCEPTANCE(4).

BANKER'S BILL

banker's bill. See finance bill under BILL(6).

BANKER'S LIEN

banker's lien. See LIEN.

BANKER'S NOTE

banker's note. See NOTE (1).

BANK EXAMINER

bank examiner. A federal or state official who audits banks with respect to their financial condition, management, and policies. [Cases: Banks and Banking 17. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 10–14.]

BANK FOR COOPERATIVES

bank for cooperatives. See BANK.

BANK FRAUD

bank fraud. See FRAUD.

BANK HOLDING COMPANY

bank holding company. A company that owns or controls one or more banks. • Ownership or control of 25 percent is usu. enough for this purpose. — Abbr. BHC. [Cases: Banks and Banking 521–528. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 524, 661, 718–731, 746–747.]

BANKING

banking. The business carried on by or with a bank.

BANKING ACT OF 1933

Banking Act of 1933. See GLASS-STEAGALL ACT.

BANKING DAY

banking day. 1. Banking hours on a day when a bank is open to the public for carrying on substantially all its banking functions. • Typically, if the bookkeeping and loan departments are closed by a certain hour, the remainder of that day is not part of that bank's banking day. 2. A day on which banks are open for banking business.

“ ‘Banking day’ is defined in [UCC §] 4-104(1)(c) [now 4-104(a)(3)]. The definition was designed to exclude from the ‘banking day’ all bank holidays (although some states added specifics on holidays) as well as the portions of a day on which one or more of the substantial departments of the bank closed off their services to the public, even though it remained open for accepting deposits and withdrawing funds as well as continuously processing items for payment or for dispatch. Clearly, when night depositaries came into vogue, their existence did not extend the ‘banking day.’ The present existence and growing use of so-called 24-hour teller machines also does not extend the banking day. The nature of the banking day is sufficiently tenuous that banks would do well to fix a definite cutoff hour under subsection 4-107(1).” William D. Hawkland, Uniform Commercial Code Series § 4-104:01, at 4-43 (1984).

BANKING GAME

banking game. A gambling arrangement in which the house (i.e., the bank) accepts bets from all players and then pays out winning bets and takes other bettors' losses. [Cases: Gaming 68(.5).]

BANK NIGHT

bank night. A lottery in which a prize is awarded to a person (often a theater patron) whose name is drawn randomly from a hopper. [Cases: Lotteries 3. C.J.S. Lotteries §§ 2–7, 11.]

BANKNOTE

banknote. A bank-issued promissory note that is payable to bearer on demand and that may circulate as money. — Also written bank note. — Also termed bank bill. [Cases: Banks and Banking 196–212. C.J.S. Banks and Banking § 250.]

spurious banknote. 1. A banknote that is legitimately made from a genuine plate but that has forged signatures of the issuing officers, or the names of fictitious officers. 2. A banknote that is not a legitimate impression from a genuine plate, or is made from a counterfeit plate, but that is signed by the persons shown on it as the issuing officers. — Also termed spurious bank bill.

BANK RATE

bank rate. See INTEREST RATE.

BANKR. REP.

Bankr. Rep. abbr. Bankruptcy Reporter. — Also abbreviated B.R.

BANKRUPT

bankrupt, adj. Indebted beyond the means of payment; insolvent. — Also spelled (archaically) bankerout; bankrout. — bankrupt, vb.

bankrupt, n. 1. A person who cannot meet current financial obligations; an insolvent person. • This term was used in bankruptcy statutes until 1979, and is still commonly used by nonbankruptcy courts. But the Bankruptcy Code uses debtor instead of bankrupt. 2. DEBTOR(2).

cessionary bankrupt. Archaic. A person who forfeits all property so that it may be divided among creditors. • For the modern near-equivalent, see CHAPTER 7. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2221. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 45.]

BANKRUPTCY

bankruptcy. 1. A statutory procedure by which a (usu. insolvent) debtor obtains financial relief and undergoes a judicially supervised reorganization or liquidation of the debtor's assets for the benefit of creditors; a case under the Bankruptcy Code (Title 11 of the United States Code). • For various types of bankruptcy under federal law, see the entries at CHAPTER. — Also termed bankruptcy proceeding; bankruptcy case; insolvency proceeding. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2001. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 2.]

“There are two general forms of bankruptcy: (1) liquidation and (2) rehabilitation. Chapter 7 of the Code is entitled ‘Liquidation.’ The terms ‘straight bankruptcy’ and ‘bankruptcy’ often are used to describe liquidation cases under the bankruptcy laws because the vast majority of bankruptcy cases are liquidation cases. In a typical Chapter 7 liquidation case, the trustee collects the nonexempt property of the debtor, converts that property to cash, and distributes the cash to the creditors. The debtor gives up all the nonexempt property she owns at the time of the filing of the bankruptcy petition and hopes to obtain a discharge. Chapters 11, 12, and 13 of the Bankruptcy Code contemplate debtor rehabilitation. In a rehabilitation case, creditors look to future earnings of the debtor, not to the property of the debtor at the time of the initiation of the bankruptcy proceeding, to satisfy their claims. The debtor generally retains its assets and makes payments to creditors, usually from postpetition earnings, pursuant to a court-approved plan.” David G. Epstein et al., Bankruptcy § 1-5, at 8-9 (1993).

family-farmer bankruptcy. See CHAPTER 12 (2).

farmer bankruptcy. See CHAPTER 12 (2).

involuntary bankruptcy. A bankruptcy case commenced by the debtor's creditors (usu. three or more), or, if the debtor is a partnership, by fewer than all the general partners. 11 USCA § 303(b). — Also termed involuntary proceeding. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2281. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 56.]

liquidation bankruptcy. See CHAPTER 7 (2).

malicious bankruptcy. An abuse of process by which a person wrongfully petitions to have another person adjudicated a bankrupt or to have a company wound up as insolvent. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2187. C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 36, 64.]

straight bankruptcy. See CHAPTER 7 (2).

voluntary bankruptcy. A bankruptcy case commenced by the debtor. 11 USCA § 301. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2251. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 50.]

2. The field of law dealing with the rights of debtors who are financially unable to pay their debts and the rights of their creditors. — Also termed bankruptcy law. 3. The status of a party who has declared bankruptcy under a bankruptcy statute. — Also termed statutory insolvency. 4. Informally, the fact of being financially unable to pay one's debts and obligations as they become due; insolvency. • The roots of bankruptcy are the Latin bancus (table) and ruptus (broken). The English word bankruptcy derives from the Italian banca rotta, referring to the medieval Italian custom of breaking the counter of a financially failed merchant. — Also termed (in sense 4) failure to meet obligations.

BANKRUPTCY ACT

Bankruptcy Act. The Bankruptcy Act of 1898, which governed bankruptcy cases filed before October 1, 1979.

BANKRUPTCY CASE

bankruptcy case. A proceeding commenced by filing a voluntary or involuntary petition under a bankruptcy statute. See BANKRUPTCY (1).

BANKRUPTCY CLAUSE

bankruptcy clause. See IPSO FACTO CLAUSE.

BANKRUPTCY CODE

Bankruptcy Code. Title I of the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978 (as amended and codified in 11 USCA), which governs bankruptcy cases filed on or after October 1, 1979. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2011. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 2.]

BANKRUPTCY COURT

Bankruptcy Court. A U.S. district court subunit comprising the bankruptcy judges within the district and exclusively concerned with administering bankruptcy proceedings. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2121, 2123. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 7.]

BANKRUPTCY CRIME

bankruptcy crime.A crime committed in connection with a bankruptcy case, such as a trustee's embezzling from the debtor's estate. 18 USCA §§ 152–157. See bankruptcy fraud under FRAUD.

BANKRUPTCY ESTATE

bankruptcy estate.A debtor's legal and equitable interests in property at the beginning of a bankruptcy case where the property is subject to administration. See 11 USCA § 541. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2491–2559.C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 105–109, 111, 113–120, 122–124, 126, 128.]

BANKRUPTCY FRAUD

bankruptcy fraud.See FRAUD.

BANKRUPTCY JUDGE

bankruptcy judge.See JUDGE.

BANKRUPTCY LAW

bankruptcy law. 1.INSOLVENCY LAW. 2. Traditionally, a statute that provides some relief and protection to an insolvent debtor or to the debtor's creditors. Cf. INSOLVENCY LAW. 3.BANKRUPTCY(2).

BANKRUPTCY PLAN

bankruptcy plan.A detailed program of action formulated by a debtor or its creditors to govern the debtor's rehabilitation, continued operation or liquidation, and payment of debts. • The bankruptcy court must approve the plan before it is implemented. — Often shortened to plan. — Also termed plan of reorganization (for Chapter 11); plan of rehabilitation (for Chapter 13). See ARRANGEMENT WITH CREDITORS. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3531–3570, 3704. C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 381–411, 438.]

BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDING

bankruptcy proceeding. 1.BANKRUPTCY(1).2. Any judicial or procedural action (such as a hearing) related to a bankruptcy. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2156.C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 26.]

BANKRUPTCY-REMOTE ENTITY

bankruptcy-remote entity.A business entity formed in a manner designed to minimize the risk of becoming a debtor in a bankruptcy case. • The entity's organizational charter usu. requires at least one independent director to be appointed, as well as a unanimous vote by the entity's directors, before a bankruptcy petition may be filed. The business is usu. a special-purpose entity established to perform limited functions, such as to purchase and hold accounts receivable or other financial assets that generate revenue. It also has only one or a few primary creditors, to reduce the likelihood of an involuntary bankruptcy. A bankruptcy-remote entity will sometimes issue securities instead of receiving a loan from a financial institution. See SINGLE-PURPOSE

PROJECT; SPECIAL-PURPOSE ENTITY; project financing under FINANCING.

BANKRUPTCY TRUSTEE

bankruptcy trustee. See TRUSTEE(2).

BANK SECRECY ACT

Bank Secrecy Act. A federal statute that requires banks and other financial institutions to maintain records of customers' transactions and to report certain domestic and foreign transactions.

• This act, passed by Congress in 1970, is designed to help the federal government in criminal, tax, and other regulatory investigations. 12 USCA § 1829b; 31 USCA § 5311. [Cases: Banks and Banking 16; United States 34. C.J.S. Banks and Banking § 27; United States §§ 162–163.]

BANK STATEMENT

bank statement. See STATEMENT OF ACCOUNT(1).

BANK-STATEMENT RULE

bank-statement rule. Commercial law. The principle that if a bank customer fails to examine a bank statement and any items returned with it, and report to the bank within a reasonable time any unauthorized payments because of a material alteration or forgery, the customer may be precluded from complaining about the alteration or forgery. UCC § 4-406. [Cases: Banks and Banking 148(3, 4), 174. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 416, 419, 421–428, 430–432, 434–438.]

BANN

bann, n. [Law Latin] Hist. 1. The power of a court to issue an edict, esp. one relating to the public peace. 2. The edict itself. — Also termed bannum.

“An essential attribute of judicial power in the later periods is the bann, the right to command and forbid. Etymologically, bann comes from a root signifying loud speech. It may have meant at first the order issued by the leader in war; later an administrative command or ordinance. Hence it covers the official proclamation of peace in the court, and then it comes to mean the peace itself. In the older Frank sources, bann appears in the Latin as sermo, and sermo regis is the king's peace. Extra sermonem regis ponere means to put out of the peace. Another Latin or rather Latinized German word is forisbannire, from which comes our word ‘banish.’ ” Munroe Smith, The Development of European Law 35 (1928).

BANNITIO

bannitio (b<<schwa>>-nish-ee-oh or ba-). [Law Latin] Hist. Expulsion by a ban or public proclamation; banishment. See EXILE; BAN(1).

BANNITUS

bannitus (ban-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. A person under a ban; an outlaw. See BAN(1).

BANNS OF MATRIMONY

banns of matrimony.Family law. Public notice of an intended marriage. • The notice is given to ensure that objections to the marriage would be voiced before the wedding. Banns are still common in many churches. — Also spelled bans of matrimony. — Also termed banns of marriage. [Cases: Marriage 24.]

“A minister is not obliged to publish banns of matrimony unless the persons to be married deliver to him, at least seven days before the intended first publication, a notice in writing stating the Christian name and surname and the place of residence of each of them and the period during which each has resided there.... Banns are to be published in an audible manner and in the form of words prescribed by the rubric prefixed to the office of matrimony in the Book of Common Prayer on three Sundays preceding the solemnisation of marriage during morning service or, if there be no morning service on a Sunday on which they are to be published, during evening service.” Mark Hill, Ecclesiastical Law 136 (2d ed. 2001) (dealing with practice in the Church of England).

BANNUM

bannum. See BANN.

BAR

bar,n.1. In a courtroom, the railing that separates the front area, where court business is conducted, from the back area, which provides seats for observers; by extension, a similar railing in a legislative assembly <the spectator stood behind the bar>.2. The whole body of lawyers qualified to practice in a given court or jurisdiction; the legal profession, or an organized subset of it <the attorney's outrageous misconduct disgraced the bar>. See BAR ASSOCIATION. [Cases: Attorney and Client 31. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 8–9.]

integrated bar.A bar association in which membership is a statutory requirement for practicing law; a usu. statewide organization of lawyers in which membership is compulsory in order for a lawyer to have a law license. — Also termed unified bar.

specialty bar.A voluntary bar association for lawyers with special interests, specific backgrounds, or common practices.

unified bar.See integrated bar.

voluntary bar.A bar association that lawyers need not join to practice law.

3. A particular court or system of courts <case at bar>. • Originally, case at bar referred to an important case tried “at bar” at the Royal Courts of Justice in London. 4.BAR EXAMINATION <Pendarvis passed the bar>.5. A barrier to or the destruction of a legal action or claim; the effect of a judgment for the defendant . Cf. MERGER(6).6. A plea arresting a lawsuit or legal claim <the defendant filed a bar>. See PLEA IN BAR. [Cases: Pleading 108, 109. C.J.S. Pleading § 180.] 7.Patents. Statutory preclusion from patentability, based on publication, use, sale, or other anticipatory activity that occurred before an invention's critical date and thereby negated the invention's novelty. • Under § 102 of the Patent Act, a person is not entitled to a patent if (1) before the date of invention, the same invention was publicly known or used by others in this country or was patented or described in a printed publication anywhere in the world; (2) more than one year before the U.S. filing date, the invention was patented or described in a printed publication anywhere in the world or was in public use, on sale, or offered for sale in the U.S.; (3) the invention has been abandoned by the applicant; (4) the invention was first patented by the applicant or its representatives in a foreign country before the U.S. filing date, and the foreign application was filed more than 12 months before the U.S. filing; (5) before the date of invention, the invention was described in a patent granted on an application filed by someone else in the U.S.; (6) the inventor did not invent the subject matter of the application; or (7) the invention was previously made in this country by someone else who has not abandoned, suppressed, or concealed it. — Also termed statutory bar. [Cases: Patents 80. C.J.S. Patents §§ 105–106, 108–111.]

8.Trademarks. Statutory preclusion of certain marks from listing on the Principal Register. • Under 15 USCA § 1052, a mark is not entitled to registration if: (1) it consists of immoral, deceptive, or scandalous matter; (2) it falsely suggests a connection with, or brings into contempt or disrepute, a living or dead person, an institution, a belief, or a nation's symbols; (3) it depicts or simulates the flag, coat of arms, or other insignia of the U.S., a state, a municipality, or a foreign nation; (4) it consists of a geographic designation that, when used on wines or spirits, designates a place other than the goods' actual origin; (5) it consists of the name, signature, or portrait of a living person who has not consented to registration; (6) it is likely to deceive or to cause confusion or mistake because when applied to specific goods and services it resembles someone else's unabandoned mark registered in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, or an unabandoned mark or tradename previously used in the U.S.; (7) it is descriptive or deceptively misdescriptive of the goods or services; (8) it is primarily geographically descriptive or primarily geographically misdescriptive of the goods or services; (9) it is primarily a surname; or (10) it comprises matter that, as a whole, is functional. [Cases: Trade Regulation 156–167. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 158–165, 167.]

bar,vb. To prevent, esp. by legal objection <the statute of limitations barred the plaintiff's wrongful-death claim>.

BAR ASSOCIATION

bar association.An organization of members of the legal profession <several state bar associations sponsor superb CLE programs>. See BAR(2). [Cases: Attorney and Client 31. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 8–9.]

local bar association.A bar association organized on a local level, such as an association within a county or city. • Local bar associations are voluntary in membership.

state bar association.An association or group of attorneys that have been admitted to practice law in a given state; a bar association organized on a statewide level, often with compulsory membership. • State bar associations are usu. created by statute, and membership is often mandatory for those who practice law in the state. Unlike voluntary, professional-development bar associations such as the American Bar Association, state bar associations often have the authority to regulate the legal profession, by undertaking such matters as disciplining attorneys and bringing lawsuits against those who engage in the unauthorized practice of law.

BAR DATE

bar date. Patents. The date by which a U.S. patent application must be filed to avoid losing the right to receive a patent. • In the U.S., the bar date for a patent application is one year after the invention is disclosed in a publication or patented in another country, or put into public use, sold, or offered for sale in the U.S. <since the invention was offered for domestic sale on January 1, 2000, the bar date for the U.S. patent application is January 1, 2001>. Cf. absolute novelty under NOVELTY. [Cases: Patents 67.1. C.J.S. Patents § 52.]

BAREBOAT CHARTER

bareboat charter. See CHARTER(8).

BAREBONES INDICTMENT

barebones indictment. See INDICTMENT.

BARE LICENSE

bare license. See LICENSE.

BARE LICENSEE

bare licensee. See LICENSEE.

BARE OWNERSHIP

bare ownership. See trust ownership under OWNERSHIP.

BARE POSSIBILITY

bare possibility. See naked possibility under POSSIBILITY.

BARE PROMISE

bare promise. See gratuitous promise under PROMISE.

BARE STEERAGEWAY

bare steerageway. Maritime law. The lowest speed necessary for a vessel to maintain course.

BARE TRUSTEE

bare trustee. See TRUSTEE(1).

BAR EXAMINATION

bar examination. A written test that a person must pass before being licensed to practice law. • The exam varies from state to state. — Often shortened to bar. [Cases: Attorney and Client 6. C.J.S. Attorney and Client § 18.]

Multistate Bar Examination. A nationally standardized part of a state bar examination given as a multiple-choice test covering broad legal subjects, including constitutional law, contracts, criminal law, evidence, property, and torts. — Abbr. MBE.

BAR EXAMINER

bar examiner. One appointed by the state to test applicants (usu. law-school graduates) by preparing, administering, and grading the bar examination. [Cases: Attorney and Client 6. C.J.S. Attorney and Client § 18.]

BARGAIN

bargain, n. An agreement between parties for the exchange of promises or performances. • A bargain is not necessarily a contract because the consideration may be insufficient or the transaction may be illegal. See BARGAIN SALE; informal contract under CONTRACT. [Cases: Contracts 1. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 2–3, 9, 12.] — bargain, vb.

“A bargain is an agreement of two or more persons to exchange promises, or to exchange a promise for a performance. Thus defined, ‘bargain’ is at once narrower than ‘agreement’ in that it is not applicable to all agreements, and broader than ‘contract’ since it includes a promise given in exchange for insufficient consideration. It also covers transactions which the law refuses to recognize as contracts because of illegality.” Samuel Williston, A Treatise on the Law of Contracts § 2A, at 7 (Walter H.E. Jaeger ed., 3d ed. 1957).

catching bargain. An agreement on unconscionable terms to purchase real property from — or loan money secured by real property to — a person who has an expectant or reversionary interest in the property.

illegal bargain. A bargain whose formation or performance is criminal, tortious, or otherwise contrary to public policy.

plea bargain. See PLEA BARGAIN.

time-bargain. See FUTURES CONTRACT.

unconscionable bargain. See unconscionable agreement under AGREEMENT.

BARGAIN AND SALE

bargain and sale. 1. A negotiated transaction, usu. for goods, services, or real property. 2. Hist. A written agreement for the sale of land whereby the buyer would give valuable consideration (recited in the agreement) without having to enter the land and perform livery of seisin, so that the parties equitably “raised a use” in the buyer. • The result of the transaction was to leave the legal estate in fee simple in the seller and to create an equitable estate in fee simple in the buyer until legal title was transferred to the buyer by delivery of a deed. In most jurisdictions, the bargain and sale has been replaced by the statutory deed of grant. [Cases: Deeds 22. C.J.S. Deeds § 16.]

BARGAIN-AND-SALE DEED

bargain-and-sale deed. See DEED.

BARGAINED-FOR EXCHANGE

bargained-for exchange. Contracts. A benefit or detriment that the parties to a contract agree to as the price of performance in return for a promise. • The Restatement of Contracts (Second) defines consideration exclusively in terms of bargain, but it does not mention benefit or detriment.

BARGAINEE

bargainee. The buyer in a bargained-for exchange.

BARGAINING AGENT

bargaining agent. See AGENT(2).

BARGAINING UNIT

bargaining unit. A group of employees authorized to engage in collective bargaining on behalf of all the employees of a company or an industry sector. [Cases: Labor Relations 202. C.J.S. Labor Relations §§ 173–174, 176, 178, 180–181, 183–186.]

BARGAIN MONEY

bargain money. See EARNEST MONEY.

BARGAINOR

bargainor (bahr-g<<schwa>>n-or-orbahr-g<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>r). The seller in a bargained-for exchange.

BARGAIN PURCHASE

bargain purchase. See BARGAIN SALE.

BARGAIN SALE

bargain sale. A sale of property for less than its fair market value. • For tax purposes, the difference between the sale price and the fair market value must be taken into account. And bargain sales between family members may lead to gift-tax consequences. — Also termed bargain purchase.

BARGAIN THEORY OF CONSIDERATION

bargain theory of consideration. The theory that a promise or performance that is bargained for in exchange for a promise is consideration for the promise. • This theory underlies all bilateral contracts. See bilateral contract under CONTRACT. [Cases: Contracts 50. C.J.S. Contracts § 87.]

“[C]lassical contract theory tended to associate the doctrine of consideration with the concept of bargain. The emphasis of classical law shifted away from actual benefits and detriments to the mutual promises which constitute a wholly executory contract. American lawyers developed from this trend a ‘bargain theory of consideration’ and similarly in English law a more modern basis for the doctrine of consideration was found by some lawyers in the notion that a contract is a bargain in which the consideration is the price of the bargain. Allied to this is the supposed rule that nothing can be treated as a consideration unless it is seen by the parties as the ‘price’ of the bargain.” P.S. Atiyah, An Introduction to the Law of Contract 119 (3d ed. 1981).

BAROMETER STOCK

barometer stock. See STOCK.

BARON

baron. 1. Hist. A man who held land directly from the Crown in exchange for military service. 2. Hist. A husband. See BARON ET FEME. 3. One of the judges of the former English or Scottish Courts of Exchequer. — Abbr. B. See BARONS OF THE EXCHEQUER. 4. A noble rank; specif., the lowest rank in the British peerage. 5. Generally, a lord or nobleman.

BARONES SCACCARII

barones scaccarii. See BARONS OF THE EXCHEQUER.

BARONET

baronet. Hist. A non-noble hereditary title that descends in the male line only. • Baronets originated in 1611 when James I began selling the title as a way to raise revenue.

BARON ET FEME

baron et feme (bar-<<schwa>>n ay fem). [Law French] Hist. Husband and wife. See COVERTURE; FEME COVERT.

BARONIAL COURT

baronial court. See COURT.

BARON PARKE'S RULE

Baron Parke's rule. See GOLDEN RULE.

BARONS OF THE EXCHEQUER

Barons of the Exchequer. Hist. The six judges of the Court of Exchequer. • After the 1873 transfer of the Court's jurisdiction to the High Court of Justice, the judges were known as justices of the High Court. — Also termed barones scaccarii. See COURT OF EXCHEQUER.

BARONY

barony (bar-<<schwa>>n-ee). 1. BARON(1). 2. TENURE(2).

BARRA

barra (bah-r-<<schwa>>). [Law French “bar”] Hist. 1. See PLEA IN BAR. 2. A barrister. — Also spelled barre.

BARRATOR

barrator (bar-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r), n. A fomenter of quarrels and lawsuits; one who stirs up dissension and litigation among people. — Also spelled barretor. Cf. CHAMPERTOR.

“Barrator or Barater (Fr. Barateur, a Deceiver) Is a common mover or maintainer of Suits, Quarrels, or Parts, either in Courts or elsewhere in the Country, and is himself never quiet, but at variance with one or other.” Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary (1670).

BARRATRY

barratry (bar-<<schwa>>-tree orbair-), n.1. Vexatious incitement to litigation, esp. by soliciting potential legal clients. • Barratry is a crime in most jurisdictions. A person who is hired by a lawyer to solicit business is called a capper. See CAPPER(1). [Cases: Champerty and Maintenance 4(.5), 5(.5), 9. C.J.S. Champerty and Maintenance, Barratry and Related Matters §§ 25–27.] 2. Maritime law. Fraudulent or grossly negligent conduct (by a master or crew) that is prejudicial to a shipowner. [Cases: Seamen 14; Shipping 61. C.J.S. Seamen §§ 30–32; Shipping § 159.]

“[S]ailing out of port in violation of an embargo, or without paying the port duties, or to go out of the regular course upon a smuggling expedition, or to be engaged in smuggling against the consent of the owner, are all of them acts of barratry, equally with more palpable and direct acts of violence and fraud, for they are wilful breaches of duty by the master. It makes no difference in the reason of the thing, whether the injury the owner suffers be owing to an act of the master, induced by motives of advantage to himself, or of malice to the owner, or a disregard of those laws which it was the master's duty to obey, and which the owner relied upon him to observe. It is, in either case, equally barratry.” 3 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *305–06 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

3. The buying or selling of ecclesiastical or governmental positions. 4. The crime committed by a judge who accepts a bribe in exchange for a favorable decision. Cf. BRIBE. — barratrous (bar-<<schwa>>-tr<<schwa>>s), adj.

BARRIER TO ENTRY

barrier to entry. An economic factor that makes it difficult for a business to enter a market and compete with existing businesses.

“Strictly speaking, a barrier to entry is a condition that makes the long-run costs of a new entrant into a market higher than the long-run costs of the existing firms in the market; a good example is a regulatory limitation on entry. The term is also used, more questionably, as a synonym for heavy start-up costs.” Richard A. Posner, Economic Analysis of Law § 10.8, at 227 (2d ed. 1977).

BARRING OF ENTAIL

barring of entail. The freeing of an estate from the limitations imposed by an entail and permitting its free disposition. • This was anciently done by means of a fine or common recovery, but later by a deed in which the tenant and next heir join. — Also termed breaking of entail; disentailment. See ENTAIL. [Cases: Deeds 127; Estates in Property 12. C.J.S. Deeds § 247; Estates §§ 22–27.]

BARRISTER

barrister (bar-is-t<<schwa>>r), n. In England or Northern Ireland, a lawyer who is admitted to plead at the bar and who may argue cases in superior courts. • In many other Commonwealth nations, the legal profession is similarly divided into barristers and solicitors. Cf. SOLICITOR(4). — barristerial (bar-<< schwa >>-steer-ee-*<< schwa >>*l), adj.

inner barrister. 1.QUEEN'S COUNSEL. 2. A student member of an Inn of Court.

outer barrister.A barrister called to the bar, but not called to plead from within it, as a Queen's Counsel or (formerly) serjeant-at-law is permitted to do; a barrister belonging to the outer bar. — Also termed utter barrister. See CALL TO THE BAR; OUTER BAR.

vacation barrister.A barrister who, being newly called to the bar, for at least three years must attend inn-of-court functions that are held during the long vacation.

BARTER

barter,n. The exchange of one commodity for another without the use of money. — barter,vb.

BASE

base,adj. Servile; (of a villein) holding land at the will of the lord. See base estate under ESTATE(1).

BASE COURT

base court.See COURT.

BASED ON

based on.Copyright. Derived from, and therefore similar to, an earlier work. • If one work is “based on” an earlier work, it infringes the copyright in the earlier work. To be based on an earlier work, a later work must embody substantially similar expression, not just substantially similar ideas. See derivative work under WORK(2).

BASE ESTATE

base estate.See ESTATE(1).

BASE FEE

base fee.1.FEE(2).2.fee simple determinable under FEE SIMPLE.

BASEL CONVENTION

Basel Convention on the Control of Transboundary Movements of Hazardous Waste and Their Disposal.A 1992 treaty establishing formal rules and procedures for the transportation and disposal of hazardous waste across national borders. • The United States had not ratified the treaty as of 2003. — Often shortened to Basel Convention.

BASELINE

baseline.Int'l law.The line that divides the land from the sea, by which the extent of a state's coastal jurisdiction is measured. [Cases: International Law 7. C.J.S. International Law §§ basement court.Slang. A low-level court of limited jurisdiction, such as a police court, traffic court, municipal court, or small-claims court.

23–24.]

BASEMENT COURT

BASE-POINT PRICING

base-point pricing. 1. A pricing method that adds the price at the factory to the freight charges, which are calculated as the cost of shipping from a set location to the buyer's location. • The chosen shipping base point may be the same for all customers, or it may be a specific, established location, such as a manufacturing plant nearest to the buyer. 2. A uniform pricing policy in which the cost of transportation to all locations is presumed to be the same.

BASE SERVICE

base service.Hist. Agricultural work performed by a villein tenant in exchange for the lord's permission to hold the land. Cf. KNIGHT-SERVICE.

BASE TENURE

base tenure.See TENURE.

BASIC CROPS

basic crops.See CROPS.

BASIC-FORM POLICY

basic-form policy.See INSURANCE POLICY.

BASIC MISTAKE

basic mistake.See MISTAKE.

BASIC NORM

basic norm.See NORM.

BASIC PATENT

basic patent.See pioneer patent under PATENT(3).

BASILICA

basilica (b<<schwa>>-sil-i-k<<schwa>>). [Greek] Hist.1. (cap.) A 60-book Greek summary of Justinian's Corpus Juris Civilis, with comments (scholia). • The Basilica (“royal law”) was begun by the Byzantine emperor Basil I, and it served as a major source of the law of the Eastern Empire from the early 10th century until Constantinople's fall in 1453. 2. A colonnaded hall used as a law court or for trading; specif., in ancient Rome, a public building usu. used as a court of justice. • A basilica typically featured a nave with two aisles and an apse. Architects adopted the basilica's layout for the design of early Christian churches.

BASIS

basis. 1. A fundamental principle; an underlying condition. 2. Tax. The value assigned to a taxpayer's investment in property and used primarily for computing gain or loss from a transfer of the property. • When the assigned value represents the cost of acquiring the property, it is also called cost basis. — Also termed tax basis. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3195; Taxation 996.1–998. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 114–115; Taxation §§ 1726, 1732–1734.] Pl. bases.

adjusted basis. Basis increased by capital improvements and decreased by depreciation deductions. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3197; Taxation 996.1–998. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 119; Taxation §§ 1726, 1732–1734.]

“[I]t is well to consider the word ‘adjusted’ in the term ‘adjusted basis.’ Often, after property is acquired, certain adjustments (increases or decreases to the dollar amount of the original basis) must be made. After these adjustments, the property then has an ‘adjusted basis.’ ” Michael D. Rose & John C. Chommie, Federal Income Taxation § 6.04, at 300 (3d ed. 1988).

adjusted cost basis. Basis resulting from the original cost of an item plus capital additions minus depreciation deductions.

carryover basis. The basis of property transferred by gift or in trust, equaling the transferor's basis. — Also termed substituted basis. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3201.]

stepped-up basis. The basis of property transferred by inheritance. • Stepped-up basis equals the fair market value of property on the date of the decedent's death (or on the alternate valuation date). [Cases: Internal Revenue 3205. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 116.]

substituted basis. 1. The basis of property transferred in a tax-free exchange or other specified transaction. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3184. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 120–121, 124.] 2. See carryover basis.

BASIS POINT

basis point. One-hundredth of 1%; .01%. • Basis points are used in computing investment yields (esp. of bonds) and in apportioning costs and calculating interest rates in real-estate transactions.

BASKET CLAUSE

Basket Clause. See NECESSARY AND PROPER CLAUSE.

BASSE JUSTICE

basse justice (bahs zhoo-stees). [Law French “low justice”] Hist. A feudal lord's right to personally try a person charged with a minor offense.

BASTARD

bastard. 1. See illegitimate child under CHILD. 2. A child born to a married woman whose husband could not be or is otherwise proved not to be the father. • Because the word is most commonly used as a slur, its use in family-law contexts is much in decline. [Cases: Children Out-of-Wedlock 1. C.J.S. Children Out-of-Wedlock §§ 2–11.]

adulterine bastard. A child born to a married woman whose husband is not the father of the child. • The rebuttable presumption is generally that a child born of the marriage is the husband's child. A child born to a woman by means of artificial insemination may be termed an adulterine bastard, but most jurisdictions prohibit a husband who has consented to the artificial insemination from denying paternity and responsibility for the child. Cf. ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION.

BASTARD EISNE

bastard eisne. See EISNE.

BASTARDY

bastardy. See ILLEGITIMACY.

BASTARDY PROCEEDING

bastardy proceeding. See PATERNITY SUIT.

BASTARDY PROCESS

bastardy process. See PATERNITY SUIT.

BASTARDY STATUTE

bastardy statute. Archaic. A criminal statute that punishes an unwed father for failing to support his child. • These statutes have been found unconstitutional because they unfairly discriminate against fathers and do not punish unwed mothers. So they are unenforceable.

BATABLE GROUND

batable ground (bay-t<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l). Land of uncertain ownership. • Batable (or debatable) ground originally referred to certain lands on the border of England and Scotland before the 1603 union of the two kingdoms.

BATCH NUMBER

batch number. See SERIES CODE.

BATES NUMBER

Bates number. See BATES-STAMP NUMBER.

BATES STAMP

Bates stamp, n. 1. A self-advancing stamp machine used for affixing an identifying mark, usually a number, to a document or to the individual pages of a document. 2. BATES-STAMP NUMBER. — Sometimes (erroneously) written Bate stamp.

BATES-STAMP

Bates-stamp,vb. To affix a mark, usu. a number, to a document or to the individual pages of a document for the purpose of identifying and distinguishing it in a series of documents <the paralegal is Bates-stamping the records described in the request for discovery>. — Sometimes (erroneously) written Bate-stamp.

BATES-STAMP NUMBER

Bates-stamp number.The identifying number that is affixed to a document or to the individual pages of a document. • The term gets its name from a self-advancing stamp machine made by the Bates Manufacturing Company. The number is typically used to identify documents produced during discovery. — Often shortened to Bates number; Bates stamp.

BATHTUB CONSPIRACY

bathtub conspiracy.See intra-enterprise conspiracy under CONSPIRACY.

BATSON CHALLENGE

Batson challenge.See CHALLENGE(1).

BATTERED CHILD

battered child.See CHILD.

BATTERED-CHILD SYNDROME

battered-child syndrome.Family law. A constellation of medical and psychological conditions of a child who has suffered continuing injuries that could not be accidental and are therefore presumed to have been inflicted by someone close to the child, usu. a caregiver. • Diagnosis typically results from a radiological finding of distinct bone trauma and persistent tissue damage caused by intentional injury, such as twisting or hitting with violence. The phrase was first used by Dr. Henry Kempe and his colleagues in a 1962 article entitled “The Battered Child Syndrome,” which appeared in the Journal of the American Medical Association. As a result of research on battered-child syndrome, the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare drafted a model statute requiring physicians to report serious cases of suspected child abuse. See CHILD-ABUSE AND -NEGLECT REPORTING STATUTE. [Cases: Criminal Law 474.4(4).]

BATTERED-PERSON SYNDROME

battered-person syndrome.See BATTERED-WOMAN SYNDROME.

BATTERED-SPOUSE SYNDROME

battered-spouse syndrome.See BATTERED-WOMAN SYNDROME.

BATTERED-WIFE SYNDROME

battered-wife syndrome.See BATTERED-WOMAN SYNDROME.

BATTERED WOMAN

battered woman.Family law. A woman who is the victim of domestic violence; a woman who has suffered physical, emotional, or sexual abuse at the hands of a spouse or partner. See domestic violence under VIOLENCE.

BATTERED-WOMAN SYNDROME

battered-woman syndrome.Family law. A constellation of medical and psychological conditions of a woman who has suffered physical, sexual, or emotional abuse at the hands of a spouse or lover. • Battered-woman syndrome was first described in the early 1970s by Dr. Lenore Walker. It consists of a three-stage cycle of violence: (1) the tension-building stage, which may include verbal and mild physical abuse; (2) the acute battering stage, which includes stronger verbal abuse, increased physical violence, and perhaps rape or other sexual abuse; and (3) the loving-contrition stage, which includes the abuser's apologies, attentiveness, kindness, and gift-giving. This syndrome is sometimes proposed as a defense to justify or mitigate a woman's killing of a man. — Sometimes (more specif.) termed battered-wife syndrome; (more broadly) battered-spouse syndrome; (broadly) battered-person syndrome. [Cases: Criminal Law 474.4(3).]

BATTERY

battery,n.1.Criminal law. The use of force against another, resulting in harmful or offensive contact. — Also termed criminal battery. [Cases: Assault and Battery 48. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 2–3, 62, 64–66, 81.]

“Criminal battery, sometimes defined briefly as the unlawful application of force to the person of another, may be divided into its three basic elements: (1) the defendant's conduct (act or omission); (2) his ‘mental state,’ which may be an intent to kill or injure, or criminal negligence, or perhaps the doing of an unlawful act; and (3) the harmful result to the victim, which may be either a bodily injury or an offensive touching.” Wayne R. LaFave & Austin W. Scott Jr., Criminal Law § 7.15, at 685 (2d ed. 1986).

aggravated battery.A criminal battery accompanied by circumstances that make it more severe, such as the use of a deadly weapon or the fact that the battery resulted in serious bodily harm. • In most state statutes, aggravated battery is classified as both a misdemeanor and a felony. [Cases: Assault and Battery 54. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 72–74, 80–81.]

sexual battery.The forced penetration of or contact with another's sexual organs or the perpetrator's sexual organs. Cf. RAPE. • In most state statutes, sexual battery is classified as both a misdemeanor and a felony. [Cases: Rape 1. C.J.S. Rape §§ 1–3, 15.]

simple battery.A criminal battery not accompanied by aggravating circumstances and not resulting in serious bodily harm. • Simple battery is usu. a misdemeanor but may rise to a felony if the victim is, for instance, a child or a senior citizen. [Cases: Assault and Battery 48. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 2–3, 62, 64–66, 81.]

2.Torts. An intentional and offensive touching of another without lawful justification. — Also termed tortious battery. [Cases: Assault and Battery 2. C.J.S. Assault and Battery §§ 2–4, 6–8.]

Cf. ASSAULT. — batter,vb.“A battery is the actual application of force to the body of the prosecutor. It is, in other words, the assault brought to completion. Thus, if a man strikes at another with his cane and misses him, it is an assault; if he hits him, it is a battery. But the slightest degree of force is sufficient, provided that it be applied in a hostile manner; as by pushing a man or spitting in his face. Touching a man to attract his attention to some particular matter, or a friendly slap on the back is not battery, owing to the lack of hostile intention.” 4 Stephen's Commentaries on the Laws of England 62–63 (L. Crispin Warmington ed., 21st ed. 1950).

BATTLE OF THE FORMS

battle of the forms.The conflict between the terms of standard forms exchanged between a buyer and a seller during contract negotiations. • In its original version, UCC § 2-207 attempted to resolve battles of the forms by abandoning the common-law requirement of mirror-image acceptance and providing that a definite expression of acceptance may create a contract for the sale of goods even though it contains different or additional terms. — Also termed UCC battle of the forms. See MIRROR-IMAGE RULE. [Cases: Sales 22(4), 23(4). C.J.S. Sales §§ 38–40, 223.]

“The rules of offer and acceptance are difficult to apply in certain circumstances known as the ‘battle of the forms’ where parties want to enter into a contract, but jockey for position in an attempt to use the rules of law so as to ensure that the contract is on terms of their choosing.” P.S. Atiyah, An Introduction to the Law of Contract 54 (3d ed. 1981).

BATTURE

batture (b<<schwa>>-tyooror ba-toor). [French] Soil, stone, or other material that builds under water and may or may not break the surface. • If batture builds against a bank and breaks the surface, it becomes alluvion. See ALLUVION(2). [Cases: Navigable Waters 44(6); Waters and Water Courses 93. C.J.S. Waters §§ 177–182, 184–185.]

BAUMES LAW

Baumes Law.A statute that provides for stricter criminal prosecution and penalties up to life imprisonment for an offender who has four convictions for felonies or certain misdemeanors. • The first Baumes Law, named for New York state Senator Caleb H. Baumes, was passed by the New York legislature in 1926. Cf. THREE-STRIKES LAW.

BAWD

bawd.Archaic. A person, usu. a woman, who solicits customers for a prostitute; a madam. See DISORDERLY HOUSE(2). Cf. PIMP. [Cases: Prostitution 1.C.J.S. Prostitution and Related Offenses §§ 2–4, 8–13, 17, 21–24.]

BAWDY HOUSE

bawdy house.See DISORDERLY HOUSE(2).

BAY

bay.Int'l law. An inlet of the sea, over which the coastal country exercises jurisdiction to enforce its environmental, immigration, and customs laws. [Cases: International Law 5. C.J.S. International Law §§ 14–20.]

historic bay.A bay that, because of its shape, would not be considered a bay subject to the coastal country's jurisdiction, except for that country's long-standing unilateral claim over it; a bay over which the coastal country has traditionally asserted and maintained dominion.

BAYH–DOLE ACT

Bayh–Dole Act.Patents. A federal statute that permits the U.S. Government to take title to or require licensing of nongovernmental inventions made by small businesses and nonprofit organizations while participating in federally funded programs. • Under the Act, an entity funded by the federal government must timely disclose any invention made in the course of a federally funded program. The entity may elect to retain title and to file and prosecute a patent application covering the invention. If the entity retains title to the invention, the government may still “march in” to force the entity to grant exclusive or nonexclusive licenses in appropriate circumstances. The Act is codified in 35 USCA §§ 200–212. — Also termed Patent and Trademark Law Amendments Act. See MARCH-IN RIGHTS.

BCD

BCD. See bad-conduct discharge under DISCHARGE.

BCD SPECIAL COURT-MARTIAL

BCD special court-martial.See COURT-MARTIAL.

BCIA

BCIA.abbr. BERNE CONVENTION IMPLEMENTATION ACT.

BEA

BEA.abbr.BUREAU OF ECONOMIC ANALYSIS.

BEADLE

beadle (beed-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩).1.Hist. A court crier with duties similar to those of a constable. See NUNTIUS(3).2.Hist. Eccles. law. A minor parish officer who serves the vestry's needs in various ways, including giving notice of the vestry's meetings, executing its orders, and attending its inquests. 3. A macebearer at Oxford University or Cambridge University. — Also spelled bedel.

BEAK

beak.BrE slang. A magistrate or justice of the peace.

BEAR

bear,vb.1. To support or carry <bear a heavy load>.2. To produce as yield < bear interest>.3. To give as testimony <bear witness>.

BEAR DRIVE

bear drive. See BEAR RAID.

BEARER

bearer. One who possesses a negotiable instrument marked "payable to bearer" or indorsed in blank. [Cases: Banks and Banking 137; Bills and Notes 118, 153. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 328, 330; Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 80, 82, 128.]

BEARER BILL OF LADING

bearer bill of lading. See BILL OF LADING.

BEARER BOND

bearer bond. See BOND(3).

BEARER DOCUMENT

bearer document. See bearer paper under PAPER.

BEARER INSTRUMENT

bearer instrument. See bearer paper under PAPER.

BEARER PAPER

bearer paper. See PAPER.

BEARER SECURITY

bearer security. See SECURITY.

BEAR HUG

bear hug. Slang. A (usu. hostile) takeover strategy in which the acquiring entity offers the target firm a price per share that is significantly higher than market value, intending to squeeze the target into accepting.

reverse bear hug. A maneuver by which a takeover target responds to a bidder's offer by showing a willingness to negotiate but demanding a much higher price than that offered. • This is usu. an antitakeover tactic.

BEAR MARKET

bear market. See MARKET.

BEAR RAID

bear raid. Slang. High-volume stock selling by a large trader in an effort to drive down a stock price in a short time. • Bear raids are prohibited by federal law. — Also termed bear drive.

BEAT

beat,n.1. A law-enforcement officer's patrol territory. 2. A colloquial term for the principal county subdivision in some southern states, such as Alabama, Mississippi, and South Carolina. 3. A voting precinct.

BE AT THE HORN

be at the horn.Scots law. See PUT TO THE HORN.

BEAUPLEADER

beaupleader (boh-plee-d<<schwa>>r). [Law French "fair pleading"] Hist. 1.A fine imposed for bad or unfair pleading. 2. A writ of prohibition that prevented a sheriff from taking a fine for bad pleading. • The Statute of Marlbridge (1267) prohibited the taking of fines for this type of pleading. See PROHIBITION(2).

BEAUTY CONTEST

beauty contest.Slang. A meeting at which a major client interviews two or more law firms to decide which firm to hire.

BEDEREPRE

bederepre. See BEDRIP.

BEDRIP

bedrip.Hist. A copyhold tenant's service of reaping the landlord's grain. — Also spelled bederepre; biderepe.

BEFORE-AND-AFTER THEORY

before-and-after theory.Antitrust. A method of determining damages for lost profits (and sometimes overcharges), whereby the plaintiff's profits are examined before, during, and after the violation to estimate the reduction in profits due to the defendant's violation. — Also termed before-and-after method. Cf. YARDSTICK THEORY; MARKET-SHARE THEORY.

"In its simplest form, the [before-and-after] theory looks at the plaintiff's net profits before and after the injury period, discounts all dollars to their present value, and gives the plaintiff a sum that, before trebling, will bring its earnings during the injury period up to the same average level as its earnings during the noninjury periods." Herbert Hovenkamp, Economics and Federal Antitrust Law § 16.7, at 450 (1985).

BEFORE FIRST ACTION

before first action,adv. Patents. After the filing of a patent application but before the mailing of any office action by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office examiner. • For example, an applicant typically files an information disclosure statement before first action, and often files preliminary amendments as well. [Cases: Patents 104. C.J.S. Patents §§ 145–147, 149–151, 173–175.]

BEFORE THE FACT

before the fact. In advance of an event of legal significance.

BEG

beg, vb. 1. To request earnestly; to beseech. 2. Hist. To request to be appointed as guardian for (a person). 3. Hist. To request that someone be appointed as guardian for. 4. To ask for charity, esp. habitually or pitifully.

BEGGAR-THY-NEIGHBOR POLICY

beggar-thy-neighbor policy. A government's protectionist course of action taken to discourage imports by raising tariffs and instituting nontariff barriers, usu. to reduce domestic unemployment and increase domestic output. • This term is sometimes applied to competitive currency devaluation.

BEHAVIORAL SCIENCE

behavioral science. The body of disciplines (psychology, sociology, anthropology) that study human behavior.

BEHOOF

behoof, n. Archaic. A use, profit, or advantage that is part of a conveyance < to his use and behoof >. — behoove, vb.

BEIGE BOOK

beige book. Slang. The popular name of the Federal Reserve's Summary of Commentary on Current Economic Conditions by Federal Reserve District, a publication that summarizes the economic conditions in each of the 12 Federal Reserve Bank regions. • Each Federal Reserve Bank gathers information from reports submitted by bank and branch directors; through interviews with economists, market experts, and key business contacts; and from other sources. The beige book is published eight times each year.

BEKANNTMACHUNG IM PATENTBLATT

Bekanntmachung im Patentblatt. [German] Patents. The date on which a Gebrauchsmuster (German petty patent) is published and made available to the public.

BELIEF

belief, n. A state of mind that regards the existence of something as likely or relatively certain.

BELIEF-ACTION DISTINCTION

belief-action distinction. Constitutional law. In First Amendment law, the Supreme Court's distinction between allowing a person to follow any chosen belief and allowing the state to intervene if necessary to protect others from the practices of that belief.

BELIEF-CLUSTER

belief-cluster. In critical legal studies, a group of unconnected ideas or opinions that appear to be related when considered together in reference to a specific subject, such as racism, sexism, or religious intolerance.

BELIEVE

believe,vb.1. To feel certain about the truth of; to accept as true. Cf. SUSPECT.

reasonably believe.To believe (a given fact or combination of facts) under circumstances in which a reasonable person would believe.

2. To think or suppose.

BELLIGERENCY

belligerency.Int'l law. 1. The status assumed by a nation that wages war against another nation. [Cases: War and National Emergency 1.C.J.S. War and National Defense §§ 1, 5.] 2. The quality of being belligerent; the act or state of waging war.

BELLIGERENT

belligerent,n. A country involved in a war or other armed international conflict. Cf. NEUTRAL. — belligerent,adj.

BELLUM

bellum (bel-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] See WAR(1).

BELLUM INTER DUOS

bellum inter duos (bel-<<schwa>>m in-t<<schwa>>r d[y]oo-ahs). [Law Latin] Hist. War between two persons; a duel.

BELLUM JUSTUM

bellum justum (bel-<<schwa>>m j<<schwa>>s-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Int'l law. A just war; one that the proponent considers morally and legally justifiable, such as a war against an aggressive, totalitarian regime. • Under Roman law, before war could be declared, the fetiales (a group of priests who monitored international treaties) had to certify to the Senate that just cause for war existed. Thomas Aquinas and other medieval theologian-jurists debated the circumstances that justified war; some canonists supported the notion of a just war against non-Catholics. With the adoption of the U.N. Charter, the bellum justum concept has lost its legal significance. The Charter outlaws the use of force except in self-defense. U.N. Charter arts. 2(4), 51 (59 Stat. 1031). — Also termed just war; justifiable war.

BELLWETHER STOCK

bellwether stock.See barometer stock under STOCK.

BELONG

belong,vb.1. To be the property of a person or thing <this book belongs to the judge>. See OWNERSHIP. 2. To be connected with as a member <they belong to the state bar>.

BELONGINGS

belongings. 1. Personal property; EFFECTS. See personal property; under PROPERTY. 2. All property, including realty.

BELOW

below, prep., adv. & adj. 1. Beneath; under; underneath. 2. (Of a lower court) having heard or having the power to hear the case at issue in the first instance <court below>; at a lower level <the motion was heard below>. Cf. ABOVE.

BELOW-MARKET LOAN

below-market loan. See interest-free loan under LOAN.

BELOW-THE-LINE

below-the-line, adj. (Of a deduction) taken after calculating adjusted gross income and before calculating taxable income. • Examples of below-the-line deductions are medical payments and local taxes. Cf. ABOVE-THE-LINE.

BEN AVON DOCTRINE

Ben Avon Doctrine. The principle that due process entitles public utilities to judicial review of rates set by public-service commissions. Ohio Valley Water Co. v. Borough of Ben Avon, 253 U.S. 287, 40 S.Ct. 527 (1920). [Cases: Constitutional Law 298. C.J.S. Constitutional Law § 1345.]

BENCH

bench. 1. The raised area occupied by the judge in a courtroom <approach the bench>. 2. The court considered in its official capacity <remarks from the bench>. 3. Judges collectively <bench and bar>. 4. The judges of a particular court <the Fifth Circuit bench>.

BENCH BLOTTER

bench blotter. See ARREST RECORD(2).

BENCH CONFERENCE

bench conference. See SIDEBAR CONFERENCE(1).

BENCH DOCKET

bench docket. See DOCKET(1).

BENCHER

bencher. A governing officer of an English Inn of Court; one of the Masters of the Bench. See INN OF COURT(1).

BENCH LEGISLATION

bench legislation. See JUDGE-MADE LAW(2).

BENCHMARK

benchmark. A standard unit used as a basis for comparison.

BENCH MEMO

bench memo. 1. A short brief submitted by a lawyer to a trial judge, often at the judge's request. 2. A legal memorandum prepared by an appellate judge's law clerk to help the judge in preparing for oral argument and perhaps in drafting an opinion. • A trial-court judge may similarly assign a bench memo to a law clerk, for use in preparing for hearing or trial or in drafting an opinion.

BENCH PAROLE

bench parole. See bench probation under PROBATION.

BENCH PROBATION

bench probation. See PROBATION.

BENCH RULING

bench ruling. An oral ruling issued by a judge from the bench.

BENCH TRIAL

bench trial. See TRIAL.

BENCH WARRANT

bench warrant. A writ issued directly by a judge to a law-enforcement officer, esp. for the arrest of a person who has been held in contempt, has been indicted, has disobeyed a subpoena, or has failed to appear for a hearing or trial. • A bench warrant is often issued for the arrest of a child-support obligor who is found in contempt for not having paid the support obligation. [Cases: Criminal Law 263. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 355.]

BENE FACTUM

bene factum (ben-ay fak-t<<schwa>>m). See BONUM FACTUM.

BENEFICE

benefice (ben-<<schwa>>-fis). 1. Hist. A feudal estate in land, held during the life of the tenant. See BENEFICIUM(3).

“[T]he vassal no longer owns the land, but ‘holds’ it ‘of’ the lord — the vassal has become a ‘tenant’ (from the Latin, ‘tenere’, to hold). The vassal's interest in the land so held, first called a ‘benefice’, is now a ‘feudum’, anglicised in modern law as ‘fee.’” Peter Butt, Land Law 52 (3d ed. 1996).

2. Hist. Eccles. law. An estate held by the Catholic Church in feudal tenure. See BENEFICIUM(1), (2).3. An ecclesiastical office such as a bishopric or parish; a preferment.

4.BENEFICIUM(3).

BÉNÉFICE

bénéfice (bay-nay-fees). [French “benefit”] French law. A benefit or advantage; esp., a privilege given by law rather than by agreement of the parties.

BÉNÉFICE DE DISCUSSION

bénéfice de discussion.[French] BENEFIT OF DISCUSSION.

BÉNÉFICE DE DIVISION

bénéfice de division.[French] BENEFIT OF DIVISION.

BÉNÉFICE D'INVENTAIRE

bénéfice d'inventaire.[French] BENEFIT OF INVENTORY.

BENEFICIAL

beneficial,adj.1. Favorable; producing benefits <beneficial ruling>.2. Consisting in a right that derives from something other than legal title < beneficial interest in a trust>.

BENEFICIAL ASSOCIATION

beneficial association.See benevolent association under ASSOCIATION.

BENEFICIAL ENJOYMENT

beneficial enjoyment.See ENJOYMENT.

BENEFICIAL HOLDER OF SECURITIES

beneficial holder of securities.A holder of equitable title to corporate stock. • The stock is not registered under the holder's name in the corporation's records.

BENEFICIAL IMPROVEMENT beneficial improvement.See valuable improvement under IMPROVEMENT.

BENEFICIAL INTEREST

beneficial interest.See INTEREST(2).

BENEFICIAL OWNER

beneficial owner.See OWNER.

BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP

beneficial ownership.See OWNERSHIP.

BENEFICIAL POWER

beneficial power. See POWER(5).

BENEFICIAL USE

beneficial use. See USE(1).

BENEFICIARY

beneficiary (ben-<<schwa>>-fish-ee-er-ee or ben-<<schwa>>-fish-<<schwa>>-ree), n.1. A person for whose benefit property is held in trust; esp., one designated to benefit from an appointment, disposition, or assignment (as in a will, insurance policy, etc.), or to receive something as a result of a legal arrangement or instrument. 2. A person to whom another is in a fiduciary relation, whether the relation is one of agency, guardianship, or trust. 3. A person who is initially entitled to enforce a promise, whether that person is the promisee or a third party. — beneficiary, adj.

contingent beneficiary. 1. A person designated by the testator to receive a gift if the primary beneficiary is unable or unwilling to take the gift. — Also termed contingency beneficiary. 2. A person designated in a life-insurance policy to receive the proceeds if the primary beneficiary is unable to do so. — Also termed secondary beneficiary. [Cases: Insurance 3483, 3485. C.J.S. Insurance § 1428.]

creditor beneficiary. A third-party beneficiary of a contract who is owed a debt that is to be satisfied by another party's performance under the contract. [Cases: Contracts 187(1). C.J.S. Contracts § 602.]

direct beneficiary. See intended beneficiary.

donee beneficiary. A third-party beneficiary who is intended to receive the benefit of the contract's performance as a gift from the promisee.

expectant beneficiary. See expectant distributee under DISTRIBUTE.

favored beneficiary. A beneficiary of a will who receives disproportionate amounts of the testator's property as compared with others having equal claims to the property, raising the specter of the beneficiary's undue influence over the testator. See UNDUE INFLUENCE. [Cases: Wills 164–166. C.J.S. Wills §§ 367–375.]

incidental beneficiary. 1. A third-party beneficiary who is not intended to benefit from a contract and thus does not acquire rights under the contract. Cf. intended beneficiary. [Cases: Contracts 187(1). C.J.S. Contracts § 602.] 2. A person to whom a settlor of a trust does not manifest an intention to give a beneficial interest but who may benefit from the trust's performance.

income beneficiary. A person entitled to income from property; esp., a person entitled to receive trust income. [Cases: Trusts 273. C.J.S. Trover and Conversion §§ 542–550.]

intended beneficiary. A third-party beneficiary who is intended to benefit from a contract and thus acquires rights under the contract as well as the ability to enforce the contract once those rights have vested. — Also termed direct beneficiary. Cf. incidental beneficiary. [Cases: Contracts 187(1). C.J.S. Contracts § 602.]

life beneficiary. One who receives payments or other benefits from a trust for life. [Cases: Trusts 140. C.J.S. Trover and Conversion §§ 254–257.]

primary beneficiary. The person designated in a life-insurance policy to receive the proceeds when the insured dies.

secondary beneficiary. See contingent beneficiary (2).

third-party beneficiary. A person who, though not a party to a contract, stands to benefit from the contract's performance. • For example, if Ann and Bob agree to a contract under which Bob will render some performance to Chris, then Chris is a third-party beneficiary. [Cases: Contracts 187(1). C.J.S. Contracts § 602.]

unborn beneficiary. A person who, though not yet born, is named in a general way as sharing in an estate or gift. • An example might be a grandchild not yet born when a grandparent specifies, in a will, that Blackacre is to go to “my grandchildren.”

BENEFICIARY HEIR

beneficiary heir. See HEIR.

BENEFICIO PRIMO ECCLESIASTICO HABENDO

beneficio primo ecclesiastico habendo (ben-<<schwa>>-fish-ee-oh pry-moh <<schwa>>-klee-z[h]ee-as-t*<<schwa>>-koh h<<schwa>>*-ben-doh). [Latin “having the first ecclesiastical benefice”] Hist. A writ from the king to the lord chancellor ordering the appointment of a named person to the first vacant benefice.

BENEFICIUM

beneficium (ben-<<schwa>>-fish-ee-*<<schwa>>*m), n. [Latin “benefit”] 1. Roman law. A privilege, remedy, or benefit granted by law, such as the beneficium abstinenti (“privilege of abstaining”), by which an heir could refuse to accept an inheritance (and thereby avoid the accompanying debt). 2. Hist. A lease, generally for life, given by a ruler or lord to a freeman. • Beneficium in this sense arose on the continent among the German tribes after the collapse of the Roman Empire.

“All those to whom the Frankish king had given land and to whom the Frankish emperor had granted political authority had received it on certain conditions. They were the recipients of royal favor — a beneficium. Their holding came to be so styled.” Max Radin, Handbook of Anglo-American Legal History 126 (1936).

3. Hist. English law. An estate in land granted by the king or a lord in exchange for services. • Originally, a beneficium could not be passed to the holder's heirs, in contrast to feuds, which were heritable from an early date. Tenants, however, persisted in attempting to pass the property to their heirs, and over time the beneficium became a heritable estate. As this process occurred, the meaning of beneficium narrowed to a holding of an ecclesiastical nature. See BENEFICE(1).“Beneficia were formerly Portions of Land, etc. given by Lords to their Followers for their Maintenance; but afterwards as these Tenures became Perpetual and Hereditary, they left their Name of Beneficia to the Livings of the Clergy, and retained to themselves the Name of Feuds. And Beneficium was an estate in land at first granted for Life only, so called, because it was held ex mero Beneficio of the Donor ... [b]ut at Length, by the Consent of the Donor, or his Heirs, they were continued for the Lives of the Sons of the Possessors, and by Degrees past into an Inheritance....” Giles Jacob, A New Law-Dictionary (8th ed. 1762).

“In England from almost, if not quite, the earliest moment of its appearance, the word feodum seems not merely to imply, but to denote, a heritable, though a dependent right. But if on the continent we trace back the use of this word, we find it becoming interchangeable with beneficium, and if we go back further we find beneficium interchangeable with precarium. A tenancy at will has, we may say, become a tenancy in fee.... The Norman conquest of England occurs at a particular moment in the history of this process. It has already gone far; the words feum, feudum, feodum are fast supplanting beneficium....” 1 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, The History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 67–68 (2d ed. 1898).

4.Hist. Eccles. law. A feudal tenure for life in church-owned land, esp. land held by a layperson. • Over time, this sense of beneficium faded, and it came to be restricted to that of an ecclesiastical living, i.e., a benefice.“The pope became a feudal lord; and all ordinary patrons were to hold their right of patronage under this universal superior. Estates held by feudal tenure, being originally gratuitous donations, were at that time denominated beneficia: their very name as well as constitution was borrowed, and the care of the souls of a parish thence came to be denominated a benefice.” 4 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 106 (1769).

5.Hist. A benefit or favor; any particular privilege, such as benefit of clergy (beneficium clericale).6.BENEFICE(3). — Also termed (in senses 3–6) benefice.

BENEFICIUM ABSTINENDI

beneficium abstinendi (ben-⟨schwa⟩-fish-ee-⟨schwa⟩m ab-sti-nen-dī). [Latin “privilege of abstaining”] Roman law. The right of an heir to refuse an inheritance and thus avoid liability for the testator's debts.

“[T]hese heirs came also to be protected by the praetor, viz. by the jus or beneficium abstinendi. Provided they took care not to act as heir in any kind of way, then, whether they formally demanded the privilege or not, their own property could not be made liable for their ancestor's debts.” R.W. Leage, Roman Private Law 220 (C.H. Ziegler ed., 2d ed. 1930).

BENEFICIUM CEDENDARUM ACTIONUM

beneficium cedendarum actionum (ben-⟨schwa⟩-fish-ee-⟨schwa⟩m see-den-day-r-⟨schwa⟩m ak-shee-oh-n-⟨schwa⟩m). [Latin “privilege of having actions made over”] Roman & Scots law. The right of a cosurety who might or might not have paid the debt to compel the creditor to give over the right of action against the debtor and the other cosuretaries. • Under Scots law, a cosurety's (or cocautitioner's) right of action against the nonpaying cosurety arises on payment, without the necessity of compelling the creditor to assign the action. But in Roman law, the right of action arose before the paying of the debt.

BENEFICIUM COMPETENTIAE

beneficium competentiae (ben-⟨schwa⟩-fish-ee-⟨schwa⟩m kom-p⟨schwa⟩-ten-shi-ee). [Latin “privilege of competency”] Roman & Scots law. A debtor's right to be ordered to pay only as much as the debtor reasonably could, so that after assigning his or her estate to creditors, the debtor kept enough to live on. See assignment for the benefit of creditors under ASSIGNMENT; SALVO BENEFICIO COMPETENTIAE.

BENEFICIUM DIVISIONIS beneficium divisionis (ben-⟨schwa⟩-fish-ee-⟨schwa⟩m di-vizh-ee-oh-nis). See BENEFIT OF DIVISION.

BENEFICIUM INVENTARII

beneficium inventarii (ben-⟨schwa⟩-fish-ee-⟨schwa⟩m in-ven-tay-ree-Ior in-ven-tair-ee-I). [Latin “with the benefit of inventory”] Roman law. The right of an heir to take an inventory within a set time before deciding whether to accept an inheritance. • An heir could provisionally take the succession and disclaim responsibility for debts beyond the estate's value until the inventory was completed and the inheritance accepted or rejected. This right was introduced by Justinian. — Also termed cum beneficio inventarii (k⟨schwa⟩m ben-⟨schwa⟩-fish-ee-oh in-ven-tair-ee-I).

BENEFICIUM ORDINIS

beneficium ordinis (ben-⟨schwa⟩-fish-ee-⟨schwa⟩m or-d⟨schwa⟩-nis). [Latin “privilege of order”] Roman & Scots law. A surety's right to require a creditor to seek payment from the principal debtor before seeking payment from the surety. See BENEFIT OF DISCUSSION.

“Beneficium Ordinis... by the civil law and our own, a cautioner, simply bound as such, is entitled to insist that the principal be first discussed by extreme diligence.” Hugh Barclay, A Digest of the Law of Scotland 76 (3d ed. 1865).

BENEFICIUM SEPARATIONIS

beneficium separationis (ben-⟨schwa⟩-fish-ee-⟨schwa⟩m sep-⟨schwa⟩-ray-shee-oh-nis). [Latin “privilege of separation”] Roman law. The right of a creditor of the deceased to have the property of the deceased separated from an heir's property. • This separation protected the creditors by ensuring that the deceased's property was not used to pay the heir's creditors. — Also termed separatio bonorum.

BENEFIT

benefit, n. 1. Advantage; privilege <the benefit of owning a car>. 2. Profit or gain; esp., the consideration that moves to the promisee . — Also termed legal benefit; legal value. Cf. DETRIMENT(2).

death benefit.(usu. pl.) A sum or sums paid to a beneficiary from a life-insurance policy on the death of an insured.

fringe benefit.A benefit (other than direct salary or compensation) received by an employee from an employer, such as insurance, a company car, or a tuition allowance. — Often shortened (esp. in pl.) to benefit. [Cases: Master and Servant 72. C.J.S. Employer–Employee Relationship §§ 146–152, 155, 175.]

general benefit.Eminent domain. The whole community's benefit as a result of a taking. • It cannot be considered to reduce the compensation that is due the condemnee. [Cases: Eminent Domain 91. C.J.S. Eminent Domain § 85.]

peculiar benefit.See special benefit.

pecuniary benefit.A benefit capable of monetary valuation.

special benefit.Eminent domain. A benefit that accrues to the owner of the land in question and not to any others. • Any special benefits justify a reduction in the damages payable to the owner of land that is partially taken by the government during a public project. — Also termed peculiar benefit. [Cases: Eminent Domain 91. C.J.S. Eminent Domain § 85.]

3. Financial assistance that is received from an employer, insurance, or a public program (such as social security) in time of sickness, disability, or unemployment . [Cases: Social Security and Public Welfare 140.5, 251. C.J.S. Social Security and Public Welfare §§ 48–49, 58–59, 61, 146–150, 211.] — benefit,vb.

BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

benefit association.See benevolent association under ASSOCIATION.

BENEFIT CERTIFICATE

benefit certificate.A written obligation to pay a named person a specified amount upon stipulated conditions. • Benefit certificates are often issued by fraternal and beneficial societies. [Cases: Beneficial Associations 18(1). C.J.S. Beneficial Associations § 29.]

BENEFIT OF AN EARLIER FILING DATE

benefit of an earlier filing date.Patents & trademarks. For a patent or trademark applicant, the advantage of being assigned the filing date of a related, earlier-filed application. • Under 35 USCA § 119: (1) a U.S. patent application is given the filing date of an earlier foreign application filed in accordance with the Paris Convention as long as the U.S. filing occurs not more than one year after the foreign filing; and (2) a continuing application filed in accordance with 35 USCA § 120 is given the filing date of an earlier-filed U.S. application. Similarly, under 15 USCA § 1126(d), a U.S. trademark applicant receives the filing date of an earlier-filed foreign application if: (1) the foreign application was filed in a Paris Convention country; and (2) the U.S. application is filed within six months after the foreign application. — Also termed benefit of priority filing date; claim of priority. [Cases: Patents 110. C.J.S. Patents § 156.]

BENEFIT-OF-BARGAIN RULE

benefit-of-bargain rule. See BENEFIT-OF-THE-BARGAIN RULE.

BENEFIT OF CESSION

benefit of cession. Civil law. A debtor's immunity from imprisonment for debt. • The immunity arises when the debtor's property is assigned to the debtor's creditors. See CESSIO BONORUM.

BENEFIT OF CLERGY

benefit of clergy. 1. At common law, the privilege of a cleric not to be tried for a felony in the King's Court <in the Middle Ages, any man who could recite the "neck verse" was granted the benefit of clergy>. • Although clergy includes monks and nuns as well as priests, there are no known cases of women claiming or being granted benefit of clergy. Congress outlawed benefit of clergy in federal courts in April 1790. It was abolished in England in 1827 but survived even longer in some American states, such as South Carolina, where it was successfully claimed in 1855. State v. Bosse, 42 S.C.L. (3 Rich.) 276 (1855). — Also termed clergy privilege; clericale privilegium. See NECK VERSE.

"Benefit of clergy was a remarkable privilege which, although now obsolete, was for centuries of great importance in criminal law. Some knowledge of it is even now essential for a proper understanding of common law crimes. After William the Conqueror separated the ecclesiastical from the secular courts, the clergy put forward the claim that all persons in holy orders should be exempt from secular jurisdiction in all proceedings, civil or criminal. Eventually the rule was established that 'clerks' of all kinds, who committed any of the serious crimes termed felonies, could be tried only in an ecclesiastical court, and therefore were only amenable to such punishments as that court could inflict. Any clerk accused of such crime was accordingly passed over to the bishop's court. He was there tried before a jury of clerks by the oaths of twelve compurgators; a mode of trial which usually ensured him an acquittal." J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 75 (16th ed. 1952).

" 'Benefit of clergy,' in its origin, was the right of a clergyman not to be tried for felony in the King's Court. In ancient times, when the Church was at the peak point of its power, it preempted jurisdiction over felony charges against clergymen. It demanded that in any case in which a clergyman was charged with felony, the case be transferred to the Ecclesiastical Court for trial. The benefit was extreme because conviction of felony in the King's Court resulted in the sentence of death, whereas the Ecclesiastical Court did not make use of capital punishment." Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 4 (3d ed. 1982).

2. Religious approval as solemnized by church ritual <the couple had several children without benefit of clergy>. • This common use of the phrase is premised on a misunderstanding of its original meaning (sense 1).

BENEFIT OF COUNSEL

benefit of counsel. See RIGHT TO COUNSEL(1).

BENEFIT OF DISCUSSION

benefit of discussion. Civil law. A guarantor's right to require a creditor to seek payment from the principal debtor before seeking payment from the guarantor. — Also termed (in French law) bénéfice de discussion; (in Scots law) right of discussion. [Cases: Guaranty 42(1), 45, 77(2).]

“Benefit of Discussion. By common law a cautioner, bound simply as such, had right to insist that the creditor should discuss the principal debtor, that is, exhaust his estate by diligence, before coming upon him for payment of the debt.” William K. Morton & Dale A. Whitman, Manual of the Law of Scotland 299 (1896).

BENEFIT OF DIVISION

benefit of division. Civil law. A surety's right to be sued only for a part of the debt proportionate to the number of solvent cosureties. — Also termed (in Roman law) beneficium divisionis; (in French law) bénéfice de division; (in Scots law) right of division. [Cases: Principal and Surety 66, 168, 169. C.J.S. Principal and Surety §§ 72, 218–219.]

BENEFIT OF INVENTORY

benefit of inventory. Civil law. The principle that an heir's liability for estate debts is limited to the value of what is inherited, if the heir so elects and files an inventory of the estate's assets. — Also termed bénéfice d'inventaire. [Cases: Descent and Distribution 119. C.J.S. Descent and Distribution §§ 112, 114, 123.]

BENEFIT OF PRIORITY FILING DATE

benefit of priority filing date. See BENEFIT OF AN EARLIER FILING DATE.

BENEFIT-OF-THE-BARGAIN DAMAGES

benefit-of-the-bargain damages. See DAMAGES.

BENEFIT-OF-THE-BARGAIN RULE

benefit-of-the-bargain rule. 1. The principle that a party who breaches a contract must pay the aggrieved party an amount that puts that person in the same financial position that would have resulted if the contract had been fully performed. [Cases: Damages 117.] 2. The principle that a defrauded buyer may recover from the seller as damages the difference between the value of the property as represented and the actual value received. — Also termed benefit-of-bargain rule. Cf. OUT-OF-POCKET RULE. [Cases: Fraud 59(2).]

BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION

benevolent association. See ASSOCIATION.

BENEVOLENTIA REGIS HABENDA

benevolentia regis habenda (ben-<<schwa>>-v*<<schwa>>-len-shee-<<schwa>>* ree-jis)

h<<schwa>>-ben-d<<schwa>>). [Latin “the king's benevolence to be had”] Hist. A fine paid to receive the king's pardon and a restoration of place, title, or estate.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

benevolent society. See benevolent association under ASSOCIATION.

BENTHAMISM

Benthamism. See hedonistic utilitarianism under UTILITARIANISM.

BENTHAMITE

Benthamite, adj. Of or relating to the utilitarian theory of Jeremy Bentham. See hedonistic utilitarianism under UTILITARIANISM.

BEP

BEP. abbr. BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING.

BEQUEATH

bequeath (bi-kweeth), vb. 1. To give property (usu. personal property) by will. [Cases: Wills 1. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1, 3, 174.] 2. Hist. To assign or transfer real or personal property by formal declaration, either inter vivos or after death.

BEQUEATHAL

bequeathal. See BEQUEST.

BEQUEST

bequest (bi-kwest), n. 1. The act of giving property (usu. personal property) by will. [Cases: Wills 1. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1, 3, 174.] 2. Property (usu. personal property other than money) disposed of in a will. — Also termed bequeathal (bi-kwee-th<<schwa>>l). Cf. DEVISE; LEGACY.

charitable bequest. A bequest given to a philanthropic organization. See CHARITABLE ORGANIZATION. [Cases: Charities 4. C.J.S. Charities §§ 3–4.]

conditional bequest. A bequest whose effectiveness or continuation depends on the occurrence or nonoccurrence of a particular event. • An example might be a testator's gift of “the income from the farm to my daughter, Betty, until she remarries.” If a condition prohibits certain legal conduct, such as using tobacco or growing a beard, it is sometimes termed a reformation condition or character-improvement condition. [Cases: Wills 639–668. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1380–1424.]

demonstrative bequest. A bequest that, by its terms, must be paid out of a specific source, such as a stock fund. [Cases: Wills 755. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1664, 1667–1677, 1679–1683.]

executory bequest. A bequest of a future, deferred, or contingent interest in personal property. [Cases: Wills 625. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1314–1317, 1319.]

general bequest. 1. A bequest of a general benefit, rather than a particular asset, such as a gift of money or a gift of all the testator's stocks. 2. A bequest payable out of the general assets of the estate. [Cases: Wills 756. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1663, 1667–1677, 1679–1683.]

monetary bequest. See pecuniary bequest.

money bequest. See pecuniary bequest.

pecuniary bequest. A testamentary gift of money; a legacy. — Also termed monetary bequest; money bequest. [Cases: Wills 566, 567. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1141, 1143–1147.]

remainder bequest. See residuary bequest.

residuary bequest. A bequest of the remainder of the testator's estate, after the payment of the debts, legacies, and specific bequests. — Also termed remainder bequest. [Cases: Wills 586. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1176–1179, 1184.]

specific bequest. A bequest of a specific or unique item of property, such as any real estate or a particular piece of furniture. [Cases: Wills 753. C.J.S. Wills §§ 1662, 1667–1677, 1679–1683.]

BERLIN ACT

Berlin Act. Copyright. A 1908 revision of the Berne Convention prohibiting formalities as a requirement for copyright protection, recommending (but not requiring) a term of protection equal to the life of the author plus 50 years, and expanding the types of works eligible for copyright protection. • Motion pictures were included in copyright protection for the first time. — Also termed Berlin Act of 1908; 1908 Berlin Act.

BERNE ADDITIONAL PROTOCOL

Berne Additional Protocol. Copyright. A 1914 amendment to the Berne Convention providing for reprisals against a foreign national who publishes simultaneously in both a member nation and the author's own nonmember and nonreciprocating country. • The reprisal was aimed at the United States, which until 1989 refused to join the Berne Convention but whose citizens could enjoy Berne protection by first publishing in a member nation. See BACK DOOR TO BERNE .

BERNE CONVENTION

Berne Convention. Copyright. An international copyright treaty providing that works created by citizens of one signatory nation will be fully protected in other signatory nations, without the need for local formalities. • The treaty was drafted in Berne in 1886 and revised in Berlin in 1908. It is now administered by the World Intellectual Property Organization and prescribes minimum levels and terms of copyright protection. The United States ratified the Berne Convention in 1989 and changed several aspects of U.S. copyright law to comply with the treaty's terms. — Also termed Berne Copyright Convention; Berne Convention for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Property. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 34. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property §§ 21, 92.]

BERNE CONVENTION IMPLEMENTATION ACT

Berne Convention Implementation Act. Copyright. The 1988 federal law making the United States a signatory to the Berne Convention, 102 years after the convention was first opened for signatures. • The law ended rigid formalities for registration and marking, although registration is still required before U.S.-copyright owners can sue for infringement. Pub. L. No. 100-568, 102 Stat. 2853. — Abbr. BCIA.

BERNE COPYRIGHT CONVENTION

Berne Copyright Convention. See BERNE CONVENTION.

BERNE-MINUS

Berne-minus, adj. Copyright. Of or relating to the second sentence of Art. 9(1) of the TRIPs Agreement, which provides that intellectual-property rights and duties under the Berne Convention will not be expressly enforced on noncomplying signatories through the TRIPs Agreement. U.S. reluctance to expressly protect moral rights of authors and artists has been criticized as a “Berne-minus” attitude.

BERNE PARIS ACT

Berne Paris Act. Copyright. A 1971 revision of the Berne Convention reducing the obligations of nations that became members as colonies of signatories. — Also termed 1971 Paris Act of the Berne Convention.

BERNE-PLUS

Berne-plus, adj. Copyright. Of or relating to a copyright-treaty provision that affords greater intellectual-property protection than the minimum required by the Berne Convention, either by granting stronger rights or by extending protection to new forms of subject matter. • The term arose during negotiations over the TRIPs Agreement, reflecting the principle that the treaty should incorporate and build on existing international law. The WIPO treaties are said to be “Berne-plus” treaties because they incorporate Berne protections and add additional protections of their own.

BERNE SAFEGUARD CLAUSE

Berne Safeguard Clause. Copyright. A provision in the Universal Copyright Convention barring protection in Berne Union countries for the works of any country that withdraws from the Berne Union after January 1, 1951. • The purpose of the clause was to prevent countries from withdrawing from the Berne Union in favor of the more relaxed copyright-protection standards of the Convention. The clause was amended in 1971 to give developing countries the right to opt out of its mandate.

BERNE UNION

Berne Union. Copyright. The treaty alliance of Berne Convention member nations.

BERRY RULE

Berry rule. The doctrine that a defendant seeking a new trial on grounds of newly discovered evidence must show that (1) the evidence is newly discovered and was unknown to the defendant at the time of trial; (2) the evidence is material rather than merely cumulative or impeaching; (3) the evidence will probably produce an acquittal; and (4) the failure to learn of the evidence was not due to the defendant's lack of diligence. Berry v. State, 10 Ga. 511 (1851). [Cases: Criminal Law 938(1). C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1447.]

BERTILLON SYSTEM

Bertillon system (b<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>-lon or bair-tee-yawn). A system of anthropometry once used to identify criminals by measuring and describing them. • The Bertillon system is named for Alphonse Bertillon, the French anthropologist who developed the technique early in the 20th century. It has been largely replaced by fingerprinting. Cf. ANTHROPOMETRY.

“The system of identification known as the Bertillon system is worked out on the assumption that an individual's physical measurements are constant after maturity is attained. Such measurements include height, span of arms, sitting height, length of head, width of right ear, length of left foot, length of left middle finger, length of left little finger, and length of left forearm. The Bertillon system also records photographs (front and profile), hair and eye color, complexion, scars, tattoo marks and any asymmetrical anomalies.” Encyclopedia of Criminology 81–82 (Vernon C. Branham & Samuel B. Kutash eds., 1949), s.v. “Criminalistics.”

BES

bes (bes), n. [Latin] 1.Roman law. Two-thirds of the Roman as, or pound, consisting of 8 unciae (ounces) out of 12. See AS; UNCIA. 2.Civil law. Two-thirds of an inheritance.

BESAYEL

besayel (bes-ay-<<schwa>>l). [Law French] Hist. 1.A writ of right used by a great-grandfather's heirs to recover property held by the great-grandfather. See assize of mort d'ancestor under ASSIZE(6).2. A great-grandfather. — Also spelled besaiei; besaile; bisaile; besayle. Cf. AIEL; COSINAGE.

BESLUIT

besluit (bi-sloyt), n.[Dutch “decision”] Roman–Dutch law. A legislative resolution or decree.

BESPEAKS-CAUTION DOCTRINE

bespeaks-caution doctrine.Securities. The principle that if soft information in a prospectus is accompanied by cautionary language that adequately warns investors that actual results or events may affect performance, then the soft information may not be materially misleading to investors. • Soft information includes forecasts, estimates, opinions, and projections about future performance. The doctrine was codified in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.

BEST BID

best bid.See BID(1).

BEST EDITION

best edition. Copyright. A particular version of a copyrighted work that is published in the U.S. before the date of deposit and that is designated by the Library of Congress, in its discretion, as the most suitable for its purposes. • Two copies of a copyrighted work, in the selected best-edition form, must be deposited with the Library. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 50.10. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property §§ 38–39.]

BEST EFFORTS

best efforts. Diligent attempts to carry out an obligation <the contractor must use best efforts to complete its work within the stated time>. • As a standard, a best-efforts obligation is stronger than a good-faith obligation. Best efforts are measured by the measures that a reasonable person in the same circumstances and of the same nature as the acting party would take. — Also termed best endeavors. Cf. due diligence (1) under DILIGENCE; GOOD FAITH . [Cases: Contracts 189. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 341–342.]

BEST-EFFORTS CONTRACT

best-efforts contract. See CONTRACT.

BEST-EFFORTS UNDERWRITING

best-efforts underwriting. See UNDERWRITING.

BEST EMBODIMENT

best embodiment. See BEST MODE.

BEST ENDEAVORS

best endeavors. See BEST EFFORTS.

BEST EVIDENCE

best evidence. See EVIDENCE.

BEST-EVIDENCE RULE

best-evidence rule. The evidentiary rule providing that, to prove the contents of a writing (or a recording or photograph), a party must produce the original writing (or a mechanical, electronic, or other familiar duplicate, such as a photocopy) unless it is unavailable, in which case secondary evidence — the testimony of the drafter or a person who read the document — may be admitted. Fed. R. Evid. 1001–1004. — Also termed documentary-originals rule; original-writing rule; original-document rule. [Cases: Criminal Law 398–403; Evidence 157–187. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 833–845; Evidence §§ 1054–1131.]

“Down to a century or more ago, the term ‘best evidence’ was a good deal used; ‘the best evidence that the nature of the thing will afford’ was said to be required. But this loose expression never represented a concrete rule. The only positive and concrete rules of the kind are those above named. And today, though the cant phrase is sometimes invoked, and though an inference may be made against a party who fails to produce what might be better evidence, yet no court will in general exclude relevant evidence because there might be better evidence available.” John H. Wigmore, A Students' Textbook of the Law of Evidence 219 (1935).

BESTIALITY

bestiality (bes-chee-al-<<schwa>>-tee). Sexual activity between a human and an animal. • Some authorities restrict the term to copulation between a human and an animal of the opposite sex. See SODOMY. [Cases: Sodomy 1.C.J.S. Sodomy §§ 2–6.]

BEST INTERESTS OF CREDITORS

best interests of creditors.Bankruptcy. A test for confirmation of a reorganization plan whereby the court inquires into whether the plan ensures that the value of property to be distributed to each creditor is at least the amount that the creditor would receive if the debtor's estate were liquidated in a Chapter 7 case. • A court may not confirm a plan in a Chapter 9, Chapter 12, or Chapter 13 case unless it is in the best interests of the creditors. In a Chapter 11 case, a court may confirm a plan even though some creditors do not vote to accept it if the court finds that the plan is in the creditors' best interest. 11 USCA §§ 944(7), 1129(a)(7), 1225(a)(4), 1325(a)(4). — Also written best interest of creditors.

BEST INTERESTS OF THE CHILD

best interests of the child.Family law. A standard by which a court determines what arrangements would be to a child's greatest benefit, often used in deciding child-custody and visitation matters and in deciding whether to approve an adoption or a guardianship. • A court may use many factors, including the emotional tie between the child and the parent or guardian, the ability of a parent or guardian to give the child love and guidance, the ability of a parent or guardian to provide necessities, the established living arrangement between a parent or guardian and the child, the child's preference if the child is old enough that the court will consider that preference in making a custody award, and a parent's ability to foster a healthy relationship between the child and the other parent. — Abbr. BIC. — Also termed best interest of the child. Cf. PARENTAL-PREFERENCE DOCTRINE.

BEST-INTERESTS-OF-THE-CHILD DOCTRINE

best-interests-of-the-child doctrine.Family law. The principle that courts should make custody decisions based on whatever best advances the child's welfare, regardless of a claimant's particular status or relationship with the child. • One important factor entering into these decisions is the general belief that the child's best interests normally favor custody by parents, as opposed to grandparents or others less closely related. The doctrine is quite old, having been stated, for example, in the early-19th-century case of Commonwealth v. Briggs, 33 Mass. 203 (1834). — Sometimes shortened to best-interests doctrine; best-interest doctrine. See PARENTAL-PREFERENCE DOCTRINE E.

BEST MODE

best mode.Patents. The best way that the inventor knows to work the invention described and claimed in a patent or patent application. • A patent application must disclose the best mode known to the inventor at the time of the filing. Failure to disclose the best mode can render a patent invalid. 35 USCA § 112, ¶ 1. — Also termed best embodiment. Cf. ENABLEMENT REQUIREMENT. [Cases: Patents 98. C.J.S. Patents §§ 137–139.]

BEST-MODE REQUIREMENT

best-mode requirement. Patents. The requirement that a patent application show the best physical method known to the inventor for using the invention. Cf. ENABLEMENT REQUIREMENT. [Cases: Patents 98. C.J.S. Patents §§ 137–139.]

BESTOW

bestow, vb. To convey as a gift <bestow an honor on another>. — bestowal, n.

BEST USE

best use. See highest and best use under USE(1).

BET

bet, n. Something (esp. money) staked or pledged as a wager. [Cases: Gaming 1.] — bet, vb. — betting, n. — bettor, n.

layoff bet. A bet placed by a bookmaker to protect against excessive losses or to equalize the total amount placed on each side of the wager. See LAYOFF BETTOR. [Cases: Gaming 73.]

BETA-TEST AGREEMENT

beta-test agreement. Intellectual property. A software license agreement, usu. between a software developer and a customer, permitting the customer to use the software program in a “live” environment before its release to the general public. • Beta-test agreements differ from more conventional software licenses in that they typically (1) have more significant limitations on liability; (2) contain few, if any, warranties; and (3) require user evaluation and feedback. — Also termed software beta-test agreement.

BETA TESTING

beta testing. Intellectual property. The process of testing products and services, esp. software, under real-life conditions. • Consumers often engage in beta testing at no cost in exchange for reporting to the developer how satisfied they are, any problems they encounter, and any suggested improvements. To protect a trade secret or to avoid a statutory bar, the developer may require the user to sign a nondisclosure agreement. Cf. ALPHA TESTING .

BET DIN

bet din. Family law. A rabbinical tribunal empowered by Jewish law to decide and enforce matters of Jewish law and custom; esp., a tribunal consisting of three rabbis who decide questions of Jewish law.

BETROTHAL

betrothal. 1.Eccles. law. A religious ceremony confirming an agreement to marry. • Historically, a betrothal was performed months or years before the parties wedded. It was in theory as legally binding as a marriage and created an impediment to marriage with any other person, but not an insurmountable impediment. In modern form, the betrothal is usu. part of the marriage ceremony. — Also termed betrothment. See ENGAGEMENT(2). Cf. precontract under CONTRACT; ESPOUSALS. 2.Slang. A corporate merger agreement.

BETROTHMENT

betrothment. See BETROTHAL(1).

BETTERMENT

betterment. 1. An improvement that increases the value of real property; esp., an enhancement in the nature of an alteration or addition that goes beyond repair or restoration to a former condition. [Cases: Improvements 1.C.J.S. Improvements §§ 2, 4.] 2. An improvement of a highway, railroad, or building that goes beyond repair or restoration. 3. An increase in value, esp. real-estate value, attributable to improvements. See IMPROVEMENT.

BETTERMENT ACT

betterment act.A statute requiring a landowner to compensate an occupant who improves the land under a mistaken belief that the occupant is the real owner. • The compensation usu. equals the increase in the land's value generated by the improvements. — Also termed occupying-claimant act; occupant statute. [Cases: Improvements 4. C.J.S. Improvements § 5.]

BETTERMENT TAX

betterment tax.A tax for the improvement of highways.

BETTING

betting. See PARIMUTUEL BETTING.

BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT

beyond a reasonable doubt.See REASONABLE DOUBT.

BEYOND SEAS

beyond seas.Hist. 1.(Of a person) being absent from a jurisdiction or nation; out of the country, esp. across the ocean. • This term was used when a person could not be served with a summons, notice, etc. because the person was absent from the jurisdiction. Some jurisdictions toll the statute of limitations during a defendant's absence. 2. Out of state. • Although originally beyond seas meant “out of the country,” the U.S. Supreme Court declared that the term includes absence from a state. Murray's Lessee v. Baker, 16 U.S. 541, 545 (1818). — Also termed beyond sea; beyond the seas; ultra mare.

“[I]t has been provided that if any person or persons against whom there shall be any cause of action shall at the time of its accrual be beyond seas, then the person or persons entitled to any such cause of action shall be at liberty to bring the same against such person or persons within such time as before limited, after his or their return from beyond seas.” John Indermaur, Principles of the Common Law 240 (Edmund H. Bennett ed., 1st Am. ed. 1878).

B.F.

b.f. abbr.BONUM FACTUM.

BFOQ

BFOQ.abbr.BONA FIDE OCCUPATIONAL QUALIFICATION.

BFP

BFP. See bona fide purchaser under PURCHASER(1).

BHC

BHC.abbr.BANK HOLDING COMPANY.

BIA

BIA.abbr.BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

BIAS

bias,n. Inclination; prejudice; predilection <the juror's bias prompted a challenge for cause>. — bias,vb. — biased,adj.

actual bias.Genuine prejudice that a judge, juror, witness, or other person has against some person or relevant subject. Cf. implied bias.

implied bias.Prejudice that is inferred from the experiences or relationships of a judge, juror, witness, or other person. — Also termed presumed bias. Cf. actual bias.

judicial bias.A judge's bias toward one or more of the parties to a case over which the judge presides. • Judicial bias is usu. insufficient to justify disqualifying a judge from presiding over a case. To justify disqualification or recusal, the judge's bias usu. must be personal or based on some extrajudicial reason. [Cases: Judges 49. C.J.S. Judges § 108.]

BIC

BIC.abbr.BEST INTERESTS OF THE CHILD.

BICAMERAL

bicameral,adj. (Of a legislature) having two legislative houses (usu. called the House of Representatives, or the Assembly, and the Senate). • The federal government and all states except Nebraska have bicameral legislatures. [Cases: States 26. C.J.S. States § 40.] — bicameralism,n.

BICAMERAL CLAUSE

Bicameral Clause.The constitutional provision that creates the two legislative chambers of Congress. See U.S. Const. art. I, § 1.

BID

bid,n.1. A buyer's offer to pay a specified price for something that may or may not be for sale  .

best bid.The highest auction bid; in the letting of a contract, the lowest bid by a qualified bidder. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.]

bid in.A bid made by the owner of auctioned property to ensure that the property is not sold below actual value. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.]

bid off.To purchase by bid at auction or judicial sale. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.]

upset bid.A bid in a judicial sale made for more than the purchaser's bid so that the sale will be set aside (i.e., upset). [Cases: Judicial Sales 19.]

2. A submitted price at which one will perform work or supply goods <the subcontractor's bid>. See BID-SHOPPING. — bid,vb. — bidder,n.

competitive bid.A bid submitted in response to public notice of an intended sale or purchase.

firm bid.A bid that, by its terms, remains open and binding until accepted or rejected. • A firm bid commonly contains no unusual conditions that might defeat acceptance.

open bid.A bid that the bidder may alter after submission so as to meet competing bids.

sealed bid.A bid that is not disclosed until all submitted bids are opened and considered simultaneously.

BID AND ASKED

bid and asked.Securities. A notation describing the range of prices quoted for securities in an over-the-counter stock exchange. • Bid denotes the buying price, and asked denotes the selling price. See SPREAD(2). [Cases: Exchanges 13. C.J.S. Exchanges §§ 2, 18.]

BID BOND

bid bond.See BOND(2).

BIDDING UP

bidding up.The act or practice of raising the price for an auction item by making a series of progressively higher bids. • Bidding up is unlawful if the bids are made collusively by persons with an interest in raising the bids. Cf. BY-BIDDING; SHILLING(1). [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7.C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.]

BIDEREPE

biderepe. See BEDRIP.

BID IN

bid in. See BID(1).

BID OFF

bid off. See BID(1).

BID PEDDLING

bid peddling. See BID-SHOPPING.

BID PRICE

bid price. See PRICE.

BID QUOTE

bid quote. Securities. The price a broker will pay for a security or commodity.

BID-SHOPPING

bid-shopping. A general contractor's effort — after being awarded a contract — to reduce its own costs by finding a subcontractor that will submit a lower bid than the one used in calculating the total contract price. • If a lower bid is obtained, the general contractor will receive a windfall profit because the savings are usu. not passed on to the property owner. The subcontractor whose bid is used in the initial proposal can seek to avoid bid-shopping by insisting that it be irrevocably named in the contract as the project's subcontractor.

BID WANTED

bid wanted. Securities. A dealer's notation that bids are being sought from anyone on a security for sale. • The notation appears in the pink sheets. — Abbr. BW. See PINK SHEET.

BIENNIAL SESSION

biennial session. See SESSION(1).

BIENNIUM

biennium (bI-en-ee-<<schwa>>m). 1. A two-year period. 2. The period for which many state legislatures make appropriations. [Cases: States 131.C.J.S. States §§ 234–239.]

BIENS

biens (beenz or byenz). [French] Hist. Goods; property. • Biens includes real property in most civil-law jurisdictions. Cf. BONA.

BIFACTORAL OBLIGATION

bifactoral obligation. See OBLIGATION.

BIFURCATED DIVORCE

bifurcated divorce. See divisible divorce under DIVORCE.

BIFURCATED TRIAL

bifurcated trial. See TRIAL.

BIGAMOUS

bigamous (big-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s), adj. 1. (Of a person) guilty of bigamy. 2. (Of a marriage) involving bigamy.

BIGAMUS

bigamus (big-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s), n. Hist. 1. One who commits bigamy; a bigamist. 2. A man who marries a widow, or who remarries. • Under ecclesiastical law, a bigamus could be denied benefit of clergy.

BIGAMY

bigamy, n. 1. The act of marrying one person while legally married to another. • Bigamy is distinct from adultery. It is a criminal offense if it is committed knowingly. In 1878, the U.S. Supreme Court held that the government was not constitutionally prohibited from banning Mormon polygamy. Reynolds v. United States, 98 U.S. (8 Otto) 145 (1878). [Cases: Bigamy 1. C.J.S. Bigamy §§ 2–6, 8.] 2. Eccles. law. The act of marrying a widow or widower, or a divorced person. • Sense 2 is valid even under modern ecclesiastical law, but it is not an offense, only a bar to entering holy orders. — Also termed sequential marriage. Cf. POLYGAMY; MONOGAMY; ADULTERY. — bigamist, n.

BIG BATH

big bath. Slang. A write-off of significant costs, taken to shed an unprofitable business line or to remove the necessity for future write-offs.

BIG BOARD

Big Board. 1. The New York Stock Exchange. • This sense of Big Board may have derived from the former name of the NYSE — New York Stock and Exchange Board. 2. A quotation display showing the current prices of securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

BIG POT

big pot. See MAIN POT.

BILAGINES

bilagines (bi-lay-j*<<schwa>>-nee*z). [Law Latin] Hist. Town bylaws; laws made by a town's inhabitants for their own government.

BILAN

bilan (bee-lahn). [French "balance sheet"] Civil law. A book used by bankers and merchants to record all that they owe and all that is owed to them; a balance sheet.

BILANCIIS DEFERENDIS

bilanciis deferendis (b<<schwa>>-lan-shee-is def-<<schwa>>r-en-dis).Hist. An obsolete writ ordering a corporation to carry weights to a given place to weigh wool licensed for transportation.

BILATERAL

bilateral,adj. Affecting or obligating both parties .

BILATERAL ACT

bilateral act.See ACT.

BILATERAL ADVANCE PRICING AGREEMENT

bilateral advance pricing agreement.See ADVANCE PRICING AGREEMENT.

BILATERAL CONTRACT

bilateral contract.See CONTRACT.

BILATERAL MISTAKE

bilateral mistake.See mutual mistake (1) under MISTAKE.

BILATERAL MONOPOLY

bilateral monopoly.See MONOPOLY.

BILBOES

bilboes (bil-bohz).Hist. 1. A device for punishment at sea consisting of a board with holes that secure an offender's hands and feet. Cf. STOCKS. 2. An iron bar with sliding shackles for confining the ankles of prisoners, esp. on shipboard.

BILL

bill,n.1. A formal written complaint, such as a court paper requesting some specific action for reasons alleged. 2. An equitable pleading by which a claimant brings a claim in a court of equity. • Before the merger of law and equity, the bill in equity was analogous to a declaration in law. The nine parts of every equitable bill are (1) the address to the person holding the great seal, (2) the introduction, which identifies the parties, (3) the premises, which state the plaintiff's case, (4) the confederating part, in which the defendants are charged with combination, (5) the charging part, in which the plaintiff may try to overcome defenses that the defendants may allege, (6) the jurisdictional clause, showing that the court has jurisdiction, (7) the interrogating part, inserted to try to compel a full and complete answer, (8) the prayer for relief, and (9) the prayer for process to compel the defendants to appear and answer. — Also termed bill in equity. See DECLARATION(7). — Also termed bill in chancery; bill of chancery; bill of equity; bill for foreclosure. [Cases: Equity 128–153.]

“The statement of the plaintiff’s cause of action in equity is called the bill. To this bill the defendant (unless he could protect himself by a demurrer or a plea) was obliged to put in an answer under oath.” George Tucker Bispham, The Principles of Equity: A Treatise on the System of Justice Administered in Courts of Chancery § 9, at 12 (11th ed. 1931).

bill for a new trial. A bill in equity to enjoin a judgment and to obtain a new trial because of some fact that would render enforcement of the judgment inequitable. • The fact must have been either unavailable or unknown to the party at trial through fraud or accident. Cf. MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL. [Cases: Fraudulent Conveyances 258; New Trial 124(1). C.J.S. New Trial §§ 147, 170, 174–175, 177, 185–186.]

bill for redemption. See bill of redemption.

bill in aid of execution. A bill filed by a judgment creditor to set aside a fraudulent encumbrance or conveyance. [Cases: Fraudulent Conveyances 258.]

bill in perpetuam rei memoriam. See bill to perpetuate testimony.

bill in the nature of a bill of review. A postjudgment bill of review filed by someone who was neither a party to the original suit nor bound by the decree sought to be reversed. — Also termed supplemental bill in the nature of a bill of review. [Cases: Equity 442.]

bill in the nature of a bill of revivor. A bill filed when a litigant dies or becomes incapacitated before the litigant’s interest in property could be determined. • The purpose of the bill is to resolve who holds the right to revive the original litigation in the deceased’s stead. [Cases: Equity 116.]

bill in the nature of a supplemental bill. A bill bringing to court new parties and interests arising from events that occur after the suit is filed. • A supplemental bill, in contrast, involves parties or interests already before the court. [Cases: Equity 294.]

bill in the nature of interpleader. A bill of interpleader filed by a person claiming an interest in interpleaded property. [Cases: Interpleader 23. C.J.S. Interpleader §§ 33–34.]

bill of certiorari. A bill in equity seeking removal of an action to a higher court. See CERTIORARI. [Cases: Certiorari 42(.5).]

bill of complaint. An original bill that begins an action in a court of equity. See COMPLAINT(1). [Cases: Equity 128–153.]

“A suit in equity, under the procedure of the English Court of Chancery, which was generally adopted in the American States prior to the code, is instituted by the plaintiff filing a bill of complaint. The plaintiff is usually called the complainant, in the Federal courts the complainant or plaintiff indifferently. The bill is in substance a petition to the chancellor, or judge of the court of equity, setting forth at large the grounds of the suit, and praying the process of the court, its subpoena, to bring the defendant into court and compel him to answer the plaintiff’s bill, and, also, for such relief by decree or interlocutory remedy, by way of injunction, etc., as the plaintiff supposes himself entitled to.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 55 (2d ed. 1899).

bill of conformity. A bill filed by an executor or administrator who seeks the court's guidance in administering an estate. • The bill is usu. filed to adjust creditors' claims.

bill of costs. A certified, itemized statement of the amount of costs owed by one litigant to another, prepared so that the prevailing party may recover the costs from the losing party. — Also termed cost bill. [Cases: Costs 202. C.J.S. Costs § 148.]

bill of discovery. A bill in equity seeking disclosure of facts within the opposing party's knowledge. See DISCOVERY. [Cases: Equity 129.]

bill of evidence. A transcript of testimony heard at trial.

bill of exceptions. 1. A formal written statement — signed by the trial judge and presented to the appellate court — of a party's objections or exceptions taken during trial and the grounds on which they are founded. • These bills have largely been replaced by straight appeals under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. See EXCEPTION(1). [Cases: Exceptions, Bill of 1. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 461–463.] 2. In some jurisdictions, a record made to preserve error after the judge has excluded evidence.

bill of foreclosure. A bill in equity filed by a lender to have mortgaged property sold to satisfy all or part of the secured, unpaid debt. [Cases: Mortgages 444. C.J.S. Mortgages § 739.]

bill of interpleader. An original bill filed by a party against two or more persons who claim from that party the same debt or duty. • The requesting party asks the court to compel the contenders to litigate and establish their rights to the debt or the duty. See INTERPLEADER. [Cases: Interpleader 23. C.J.S. Interpleader §§ 33–34.]

“The common law offered the stakeholder no relief, in that if he paid in good faith to one claimant, he might nevertheless be sued by and required to pay another claimant. And a judgment at law in favor of one claimant against the stakeholder was no defense to an action against the stakeholder by another claimant. However, in equity the bill or suit of interpleader offers him a remedy in that he may interplead (bring) into one action all of the claimants, turn the money or property over to the court, be himself dismissed from the proceeding, and have the court decide which of the claimants is entitled to the fund or property” William Q. de Funiak, Handbook of Modern Equity § 108, at 241–42 (2d ed. 1956).

bill of peace. An equitable bill filed by one who is threatened with multiple suits involving the same right, or with recurrent suits on the same right, asking the court to determine the question once and for all, and to enjoin the plaintiffs from proceeding with the threatened litigation. • One situation involves many persons having a common claim but threatening to bring separate suits; another involves one person bringing a second action on the same claim. [Cases: Equity 51(1). C.J.S. Equity §§ 38–41.]

“By a bill of peace we are to understand a bill brought by a person to establish and perpetuate a right which he claims, and which, from its nature, may be controverted by different persons, at different times, and by different actions; or, where separate attempts have already been unsuccessfully made to overthrow the same right, and justice requires that the party should be

quieted in the right, if it is already sufficiently established; or if it should be sufficiently established under the direction of the court. The obvious design of such a bill is to procure repose from perpetual litigation, and therefore, it is justly called a bill of peace.” Joseph Story, Commentaries on Equity Jurisprudence § 853, at 567 (W.E. Grigsby ed., 1st English ed. 1884).

“If there was a dispute as to some right involving a multiplicity of persons (e.g., as to a man's right to take tolls, or to a right of way traversing many estates), a bill of peace could be brought in equity to establish the right and so secure repose from the prospect of incessant or multifarious litigation. Bills of peace have now in practice been superseded by modern procedural provisions for the joinder of parties and for representative actions.” Robert E. Megarry & P.V. Baker, Snell's Principles of Equity 570 (27th ed. 1973).

bill of privilege.Hist. The formal process for suing an attorney or officer of the court.

“Attorneys and all other persons attending the courts of justice (for attorneys, being officers of the court, are always supposed to be there attending) are not liable to be arrested by the ordinary processes of the court, but must be sued by a bill, called usually a bill of privilege, as being personally present in court.” William Blackstone, 3 Commentaries on the Laws of England 289 (1768).

bill of redemption.A bill in equity filed to enforce a right to redeem real property, usu. following a mortgage foreclosure or a delinquent-tax sale. — Also termed bill for redemption.

bill of review.A bill in equity requesting that a court reverse or revise a prior decree. [Cases: Equity 442.]

bill of revivor.A bill filed for the purpose of reviving and continuing a suit in equity when the suit has been abated before final consummation. • The most common cause of such an abatement is the death of either the plaintiff or the defendant. [Cases: Equity 303.]

bill of revivor and supplement.A compound of a supplemental bill and a bill of revivor, joined for convenience. • Its distinct parts must be framed and proceeded on separately. [Cases: Equity 294–309.]

bill quia timet.An equitable bill used to guard against possible or prospective injuries and to preserve the means by which existing rights are protected from future or contingent violations. • It differs from an injunction, which corrects past and present — or imminent and certain — injuries. One example is a bill to perpetuate testimony. See QUIA TIMET. [Cases: Equity 17. C.J.S. Equity § 55.]

bill to carry a decree into execution.A bill brought when a decree could not be enforced without further court order because of the parties' neglect or for some other reason. — Also termed bill to enforce a decree. [Cases: Equity 438.]

bill to perpetuate testimony.An original bill to preserve the testimony of a material witness who may die or leave the jurisdiction before a suit is commenced, or to prevent or avoid future litigation. — Also termed bill in perpetuam rei memoriam. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 1293; Pretrial Procedure 64. C.J.S. Pretrial Procedure §§ 13–17, 34.]

bill to suspend a decree. A bill brought to set aside a decree. [Cases: Equity 430.]

bill to take testimony de bene esse (dee or d<<schwa>> bee-nee es-ee also day ben-ay es-ay). A bill brought to take testimony pertinent to pending litigation from a witness who may be unavailable at the time of trial. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 1293; Pretrial Procedure 64. C.J.S. Pretrial Procedure §§ 13–17, 34.]

cost bill. See bill of costs.

cross-bill. A bill brought by the defendant against the plaintiff in the same suit, or against other defendants in the same suit, relating to the matters alleged in the original bill. [Cases: Equity 195–206.]

nonoriginal bill. A bill relating to some matter already litigated by the same parties. • It is an addition to or a continuation of an original bill.

original bill. A bill relating to some matter that has never before been litigated by the same parties with the same interests. [Cases: Equity 128–153.]

skeleton bill of exceptions. A bill of exceptions that, in addition to the formal parts, contains only the court's directions to the clerk to copy or insert necessary documents into the record for appellate review, but does not contain the actual evidence or trial-court rulings. • For example, the statement “the clerk will insert the official transcript here” is typically a skeleton bill. [Cases: Exceptions, Bill of 23. C.J.S. Appeal and Error § 468.]

supplemental bill. A bill filed for the purpose of adding something to an original bill. • This addition usu. results from the discovery of new facts or from a new understanding of facts after the defendant has put on a defense. [Cases: Equity 294–301.]

supplemental bill in the nature of a bill of review. See bill in the nature of a bill of review.

3. A legislative proposal offered for debate before its enactment. [Cases: Statutes 1–23. C.J.S. Statutes §§ 2–6, 9–18, 21–42.]

administration bill. A bill drafted and submitted by the executive branch.

appropriations bill. A bill that authorizes governmental expenditures. • The federal government cannot spend money unless Congress has appropriated the funds. U.S. Const. art. I, § 9, cl. 7. — Also termed spending bill. See APPROPRIATION(2), (3). [Cases: United States 85. C.J.S. United States §§ 156–158.]

budget bill. A bill designating how money will be allocated for the following fiscal year.

clean bill. A bill that has been changed so much by a legislative committee that it is better to introduce a new bill (a “clean” one) than to explain the changes made. — Also termed committee substitute.

companion bill. A bill introduced in the other house of a bicameral legislature in a substantially identical form.

deficiency bill. An appropriation bill covering expenses omitted from the general appropriation bills, or for which insufficient appropriations were made. • An urgent deficiency bill covers immediate expenses usu. for one item, and a general deficiency bill covers a variety of items.

engrossed bill. 1. A bill in a form ready for final passage by a legislative chamber. 2. A bill in the form passed by one house of the legislature. See ENGROSS(3); ENGROSSMENT(2).

“An engrossment is a proofreading and verification in order to be certain that the bill before the house is identical with the original bill as introduced with all amendments that have been adopted correctly inserted.” National Conference of State Legislatures, Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure § 735-2, at 525 (2000).

enrolled bill. A bill passed by both houses of the legislature and signed by their presiding officers. See ENROLL(2); ENROLLED-BILL RULE. [Cases: Statutes 37. C.J.S. Statutes §§ 56–58.]

house bill. (often cap.) A legislative bill being considered by a house of representatives. — Abbr. H.; H.B.

money bill. See revenue bill.

must-pass bill. Legislation of vital importance, such as an appropriation without which the government will shut down. • A must-pass bill will often attract unrelated riders. See RIDER.

omnibus bill. 1. A single bill containing various distinct matters, usu. drafted in this way to force the executive either to accept all the unrelated minor provisions or to veto the major provision. 2. A bill that deals with all proposals relating to a particular subject, such as an “omnibus judgeship bill” covering all proposals for new judgeships or an “omnibus crime bill” dealing with different subjects such as new crimes and grants to states for crime control.

prefiled bill. A bill that has been drafted and submitted before a legislative session begins.

private bill. A bill relating to a matter of personal or local interest only. Cf. special law under LAW.

“A private Bill is a measure for the interest of some person or class of persons, whether an individual, a corporation, or the inhabitants of a county, town, parish, or other locality, and originates on the motion of some member of the [legislature] in which the Bill is introduced.” Courtenay P. Ilbert, Legislative Methods and Forms 28 (1901).

public bill. A bill relating to public policy in the whole community.

revenue bill. A bill that levies or raises taxes. • Federal revenue bills must originate in the House of Representatives. U.S. Const. art. I, § 7, cl. 1. — Also termed money bill.

senate bill. (often cap.) A legislative bill being considered by a senate. — Abbr. S.; S.B.

spending bill. See appropriations bill.

4. An enacted statute <the GI Bill>.5. An itemized list of charges; an invoice <hospital bill>. See FEE STATEMENT.

bill of parcels. 1. A seller's itemized list of goods and prices, intended to assist a buyer in detecting any mistakes or omissions in a shipment of goods. 2.INVOICE.

bill payable.See account payable under ACCOUNT.

bill receivable.See account receivable under ACCOUNT.

bill rendered.See account rendered under ACCOUNT.

6. A bill of exchange; a draft <the bank would not honor the unsigned bill>. See DRAFT(1). [Cases: Bills and Notes 1. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 2–3, 5–6, 8–9, 17–18, 22.]

advance bill.A bill of exchange drawn before the shipment of the goods.

banker's bill.See finance bill.

blank bill.A bill with the payee's name left blank. Cf. DRAFT(1).

domestic bill. 1. A bill of exchange that is payable in the state or country where it is drawn. [Cases: Bills and Notes 128. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit§ 85.] 2. A bill on which both the drawer and drawee reside within the same state or country. — Also termed (in sense 2) inland bill of exchange. Cf. foreign bill. [Cases: Bills and Notes 13. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 5.]

finance bill.A bill of exchange drawn by a bank in one country on a bank in another country to raise short-term credit. • Finance bills are often issued in tight money periods, and usu. have maturity dates of more than 60 days. — Also termed banker's bill; working capital acceptance.

foreign bill.A bill of exchange drawn in one state or country and payable in another. Cf. domestic bill. [Cases: Bills and Notes 13, 128. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 5, 85.]

inland bill of exchange.See domestic bill (2).

investment bill.A bill of exchange purchased at a discount and intended to be held to maturity as an investment.

7. A formal document or note; an instrument <bill of sale>.“The expression ‘bill of sale’ includes bills of sale, assignments, transfers, declarations of trust without transfer, inventories of goods with receipts thereto attached, or receipts for purchase-monies of goods, and other assurances of personal chattels, and also powers of attorney, authorities, or licences to take possession of personal chattels as security for any debt, and also any agreement, whether intended or not to be followed by the execution of any other instrument, by which a right in equity to any personal chattels, or to any charge or security thereon, shall be conferred” Joshua Williams, Principles of the Law of Personal Property 60 (11th ed. 1881) (tracking the definition in the [U.K.] Bills of Sale Act of 1878).

“A transfer may be either an absolute assignment by way of gift or sale, or an assignment by way of mortgage or security only; but in either case when a written document of any sort is used to effect the transfer, the document is called technically a ‘bill of sale.’ ” Arthur Weldon & H. Gibson Rivington, Gibson's Conveyancing 302 (14th ed. 1933).

bill obligatory. A written promise to pay; a promissory note under seal. — Also termed single bond. See NOTE(1). [Cases: Bills and Notes 41. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 5.]

bill of debt. A debt instrument, such as a bill obligatory or promissory note. [Cases: Bills and Notes 28. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 2–3, 7–9, 12, 22, 75.]

bill of lading. See BILL OF LADING.

bill penal. A written promise to pay that carries a penalty in excess of the underlying debt for failure to pay. Cf. bill single.

bill single. A written promise to pay that is not under seal and has no penalty for failure to pay. — Also termed single bill. Cf. bill penal.

grand bill of sale. 1. Hist. An instrument used to transfer title to a ship that is at sea. 2. An instrument used to transfer title of a ship from the builder to the first purchaser.

single bill. See bill single.

skeleton bill. A bill drawn, indorsed, or accepted in blank.

8. A piece of paper money . 9. A promissory note <the debtor signed a bill for $7,000>. [Cases: Bills and Notes 28. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 2–3, 7–9, 12, 22, 75.]

BILLABLE HOUR

billable hour. A unit of time used by an attorney, law clerk, or paralegal to account for work performed and chargeable to a client. • Billable hours are usu. divided into quarters or tenths of an hour. [Cases: Attorney and Client 140. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 324–326, 328–329.]

BILLABLE TIME

billable time. An attorney's, law clerk's, or paralegal's time that is chargeable to a client. Cf. NONBILLABLE TIME. [Cases: Attorney and Client 140. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 324–326, 328–329.]

BILLA CASSETUR

billa cassetur (bil-⟨schwa⟩ k⟨schwa⟩-see-t⟨schwa⟩r). See CASSETUR BILLA.

BILLA EXCAMBII

billa excambii (bil-⟨schwa⟩ eks-kam-bee-I). [Latin] See BILL OF EXCHANGE.

BILLA EXONERATIONIS

billa exonerationis (bil-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩ ig-zon-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-ray-shee-oh-nis). [Latin] See BILL OF LADING.

BILLA VERA

billa vera (bil-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩ veer-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩). [Latin] See TRUE BILL.

BILL BROKER

bill broker. A middleman who negotiates the purchase or sale of commercial paper.

BILL CHAMBER

Bill Chamber. Hist. Scots law. A division of the Court of Session in which some remedies could be granted. • The Lord Ordinary on the Bills presided over the court. It was abolished in 1933 and merged into the Court of Session.

BILLETA

billeta (bil-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-t⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩). Hist. A proposed statute or petition presented in Parliament.

BILLHEAD

billhead. A printed invoice containing a business's name and address.

BILL IN AID OF EXECUTION

bill in aid of execution. See BILL(2).

BILL IN EQUITY

bill in equity. See BILL(2).

BILLING CYCLE

billing cycle. The period between billings for goods sold or services rendered.

BILLIN PERPETUAM REI MEMORIAM

bill in perpetuam rei memoriam. See bill to perpetuate testimony under BILL (2).

BILL NUMBER

bill number. The number assigned to a proposed piece of legislation, typically designating the house in which it was introduced (S. for senate or H.R. for house of representatives) followed by a sequential number.

BILL OF ADVENTURE

bill of adventure. Maritime law. A shipper's written statement that the shipped property belongs to another and is conveyed at the owner's risk.

BILL OF ATTAINDER

bill of attainder. 1.Archaic. A special legislative act that imposes a death sentence on a person without a trial. 2. A special legislative act prescribing punishment, without a trial, for a specific person or group. • Bills of attainder are prohibited by the U.S. Constitution (art. I, § 9, cl. 3; art. I, § 10, cl. 1). — Also termed act of attainder. See ATTAINDER; BILL OF PAINS AND PENALTIES . [Cases: Constitutional Law 82.5. C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 429–431.]

BILL OF CREDIT

bill of credit. 1. Legal tender in the form of paper, issued by a state and involving the faith of the state, designed to circulate as money in the ordinary uses of business. U.S. Const. art. I, § 10. [Cases: States 145. C.J.S. States § 251.] 2.LETTER OF CREDIT.

BILL OF ENTRY

bill of entry.Maritime law. A written description of goods filed by an importer with customs officials to obtain permission to unload a ship's goods.

BILL OF EXCHANGE

bill of exchange.See DRAFT(1).

BILL OF HEALTH

bill of health.Maritime law. A statement certifying the healthy condition of a ship's cargo and crew. • The bill is issued by the port authority from which a vessel sails and is shown to the port authority at the ship's destination as proof that the ship's cargo and crew are disease-free. A “clean” bill states that no contagious or infectious diseases were present at the port; a “touched” or “foul” bill states that the named disease was suspected, anticipated, or actually present. [Cases: Shipping 15. C.J.S. Shipping § 11.]

BILL OF INDEMNITY

bill of indemnity. 1.Hist. An act of Parliament passed annually to protect officeholders who unwittingly fail to take a required oath from liability for acts done in an official capacity. • A more general statute, the Promissory Oaths Act, replaced the bill of indemnity in 1868. 2. A law protecting a public official from liability for official acts. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 114. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 247–248, 251–258.] 3. An initial pleading by which a plaintiff seeks to require another (often an insurance company) to discharge the plaintiff's liability to a third person.

BILL OF INDICTMENT

bill of indictment.An instrument presented to a grand jury and used by the jury to declare whether there is enough evidence to formally charge the accused with a crime. See INDICTMENT; NO BILL; TRUE BILL.

BILL OF INFORMATION

bill of information. 1.INFORMATION. 2.Hist. A civil suit begun by the Crown or by those under its protection, such as a charity.

BILL OF INTERPLEADER

bill of interpleader. See BILL(2).

BILL OF LADING

bill of lading (layd-ing). A document acknowledging the receipt of goods by a carrier or by the shipper's agent and the contract for the transportation of those goods; a document that indicates the receipt of goods for shipment and that is issued by a person engaged in the business of transporting or forwarding goods. UCC § 1-201(b)(6). • A negotiable bill of lading is a document of title. — Abbr. B/L. Cf. WAYBILL; AIRBILL. [Cases: Carriers 51; Shipping 106. C.J.S. Carriers § 390; Shipping §§ 256–257.]

“A bill of lading may be regarded in three several aspects. (1) It is a receipt given by the master of a ship acknowledging that the goods specified in the bill have been put on board; (2) it is the document [that] contains the terms of the contract for the carriage of the goods agreed upon between the shipper of the goods and the shipowner (whose agent the master of the ship is); and (3) it is a ‘document of title’ to the goods, of which it is the symbol. It is by means of this document of title that the goods themselves may be dealt with by the owner of them while they are still on board ship and upon the high seas.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 380 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

bearer bill of lading. A negotiable bill of lading that authorizes the carrier or holder of freight to deliver it to the bearer.

claused bill of lading. See unclean bill of lading.

clean bill of lading. A bill of lading containing no clause or notation qualifying the bill's terms. • Possible clauses or notations could include a provision for deck storage or a recording of cargo damage. Cf. unclean bill of lading. [Cases: Carriers 52(2). C.J.S. Carriers § 438.]

destination bill of lading. A bill procured to be issued at the destination point or any other place than the place of shipment. UCC § 7-305. [Cases: Shipping 106(3). C.J.S. Shipping §§ 260–263, 265.]

foul bill of lading. See unclean bill of lading.

long-form bill of lading. A bill of lading that expressly contains all the terms of the transportation contract. Cf. short-form bill of lading.

negotiable bill of lading. A bill of lading calling for the delivery of goods to the bearer or to a named person's order. UCC § 7-104. [Cases: Carriers 54; Shipping 106(5). C.J.S. Carriers § 398; Shipping § 259.]

nonnegotiable bill of lading. See straight bill of lading.

ocean bill of lading. A negotiable bill of lading used in shipment by water. — Often shortened to ocean bill. [Cases: Shipping 106. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 256–257.]

onboard bill of lading. A bill of lading reflecting that goods have been loaded onto a ship. • In multimodal shipments, an onboard bill of lading may include goods loaded onto land vehicles also. — Often shortened to onboard bill.

order bill of lading.A negotiable bill of lading stating that the goods are consigned to the order of the person named in the bill. [Cases: Carriers 54. C.J.S. Carriers § 398.]

overseas bill of lading.A bill of lading used for overseas shipment by water or air. UCC § 2-323. • In air freight, an overseas bill of lading is called an air waybill. — Often shortened to overseas bill.

short-form bill of lading.A bill of lading that does not expressly contain all the terms of the transportation contract, but incorporates them by reference to another document, usu. one at the office of the carrier.

spent bill of lading.A negotiable bill of lading that is not produced, canceled, or surrendered after the carrier has delivered the goods. — Often shortened to spent bill.

straight bill of lading.A nonnegotiable bill of lading that specifies a consignee to whom the carrier is contractually obligated to deliver the goods. • In some countries, including England, a document is not a bill of lading unless it is negotiable. — Also termed nonnegotiable bill of lading. [Cases: Carriers 51. C.J.S. Carriers § 390.]

through bill of lading.A bill of lading by which a carrier agrees to transport goods to a designated destination, even though the carrier will have to use a connecting carrier for part of the passage. UCC § 7-302. — Often shortened to through bill. [Cases: Carriers 51. C.J.S. Carriers § 390.]

unclean bill of lading.A bill of lading that shows on its face that the goods were damaged or that there was a shortage of goods at the time of shipment. — Also termed claused bill of lading; foul bill of lading. Cf. clean bill of lading.

BILL OF MIDDLESEX

bill of Middlesex.Hist. A process by which the Court of the King's Bench in Middlesex obtains jurisdiction over a defendant who resides in a county outside the Court's jurisdiction, by alleging a fictitious trespass in a county over which the court has jurisdiction. • Once the sheriff returns the bill noting that the defendant is not in the county where the trespass occurred, a latitat is issued to the sheriff of the defendant's actual residence. See LATITAT.

“The bill of Middlesex is a kind of capias, directed to the sheriff of that county, and commanding him to take the defendant, and have him before our lord the king at Westminster on a day prefixed, to answer to the plaintiff of a plea of trespass. For this accusation of trespass it is, that gives the court of king's bench jurisdiction in other civil causes, as was formerly observed; since when once the defendant is taken into custody ... , he, being then a prisoner of this court, may here be prosecuted for any other species of injury.” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 285 (1768).

BILL OF MORTALITY

bill of mortality.Hist. A record of the number of deaths occurring in a given district. • Bills of mortality were compiled — often week to week — in England from late in the 16th century to the 19th century as a way to keep track of the plague and other highly contagious diseases.

BILL OF PAINS AND PENALTIES

bill of pains and penalties.A legislative act that, though similar to a bill of attainder, prescribes punishment less severe than capital punishment. • Bills of pains and penalties are included within the U.S. Constitution's ban on bills of attainder. U.S. Const. art I, § 9. [Cases: Constitutional Law 82.5. C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 429–431.]

BILL OF PARCELS

bill of parcels.See BILL(5).

BILL OF PARTICULARS

bill of particulars.A formal, detailed statement of the claims or charges brought by a plaintiff or a prosecutor, usu. filed in response to the defendant's request for a more specific complaint. • The bill of particulars has been abolished in federal civil actions and replaced by the motion for a more definite statement. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(e). But it is still used in some states (such as California) and in federal criminal cases. See Fed. R. Crim. P. 7(f). — Also termed statement of particulars. See MOTION FOR MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT . [Cases: Indictment and Information 121; Pleading 313. C.J.S. Indictments and Informations § 137; Pleading § 531.]

“Although it has been said that the bill of particulars is not a discovery device, it seems plain that it is a means of discovery, though of a limited nature. It is the one method open to a defendant in a criminal case to secure the details of the charge against him.” 1 Charles Alan Wright, Federal Practice and Procedure § 129, at 646–47 (3d ed. 1999).

BILL OF PEACE

bill of peace.See BILL(2).

BILL OF PRIVILEGE

bill of privilege.See BILL(2).

BILL OF REDEMPTION

bill of redemption.See BILL(2).

BILL OF REVIEW

bill of review.See BILL(2).

BILL OF REVIVOR

bill of revivor.See BILL(2).

BILL OF REVIVOR AND SUPPLEMENT

bill of revivor and supplement. See BILL(2).

BILL OF RIGHTS

bill of rights. 1. (usu. cap.) A section or addendum, usu. in a constitution, defining the situations in which a politically organized society will permit free, spontaneous, and individual activity, and guaranteeing that governmental powers will not be used in certain ways; esp., the first ten amendments to the U.S. Constitution. [Cases: Constitutional Law 82(2). C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 445–446, 630.] 2. (cap.) One of the four great charters of English liberty (1 W. & M., 1689), embodying in statutory form all the principles of the other three charters, namely, Magna Carta, the Petition of Right (3 Car. 1 (1628)), and the Habeas Corpus Act (31 Car. 2 (1679)).

BILL OF SALE

bill of sale. An instrument for conveying title to personal property, absolutely or by way of security. Cf. DEED. [Cases: Sales 141, 215. C.J.S. Sales § 215.]

BILL OF SIGHT

bill of sight. Maritime law. A declaration made to a customs officer by an importer who is unsure about what is being shipped. • The bill of sight allows an importer to inspect the goods before paying duties.

BILL OF STORE

bill of store. Hist. A license authorizing a merchant to carry necessary stores and provisions free of duty.

BILL OF SUFFERANCE

bill of sufferance. Hist. A license authorizing a merchant to trade between English ports without paying customs duties.

BILL PAYABLE

BILL PENAL

bill penal. See BILL(7).

BILL QUIA TIMET

bill quia timet. See BILL(2).

BILL RECEIVABLE

BILL RENDERED

BILLS AND NOTES

bills and notes. 1. PAPER(1). 2. PAPER(2).

BILLS IN A SET

bills in a set. A bill of lading made up of a series of independent parts, each bearing a number and providing that goods delivered against any one part voids the other parts. • Traditionally, in overseas-goods shipments, the parts of this type of bill were sent under separate cover so that if one was lost, the buyer could take delivery of the goods with another one. UCC § 7-304.

BILL SINGLE

bill single. See BILL(7).

BILL STATUS

bill status. The current state of a proposed law in the legislative process, such as its assignment to a committee, its schedule for a hearing or a vote, and its passage or defeat by one or both houses.

BILL TAKEN PRO CONFESSO

bill taken pro confesso (proh k<<schwa>>n-fes-oh). [Latin “as if admitted”] Hist. An order issued by a court of equity when a defendant fails to file an answer.

BILL TO CARRY A DECREE INTO EXECUTION

bill to carry a decree into execution. See BILL(2).

BILL TO ENFORCE A DECREE

bill to enforce a decree. See bill to carry a decree into execution under BILL (2).

BILL TO PERPETUATE TESTIMONY

bill to perpetuate testimony. See BILL(2).

BILL TO SUSPEND A DECREE

bill to suspend a decree. See BILL(2).

BILL TO TAKE TESTIMONY DE BENE ESSE

bill to take testimony de bene esse. See BILL(2).

BIMETALLISM

bimetallism. A monetary system in which currency is defined in terms of two metals (usu. gold and silver), both being legal tender and with a fixed rate of exchange between them. • The American money system was based on a bimetallic standard from 1792 to 1873.

BIND

bind, vb. 1. To impose one or more legal duties on (a person or institution) < the contract binds the parties > < courts are bound by precedent >. 2. Hist. To indenture; to legally obligate to serve. — bindingness, n. — binding, adj.

BIND DAY

bind day.See BOON DAY.

BINDER

binder. 1. A document in which the buyer and the seller of real property declare their common intention to bring about a transfer of ownership, usu. accompanied by the buyer's initial payment. 2. Loosely, the buyer's initial payment in the sale of real property. Cf. EARNEST MONEY. 3. An insurer's memorandum giving the insured temporary coverage while the application for an insurance policy is being processed or while the formal policy is being prepared. [Cases: Insurance 1748.] — Also termed binding receipt; binding slip.

BINDING

binding,adj.1. (Of an agreement) that binds .2. (Of an order) that requires obedience <the temporary injunction was binding on the parties>.

BINDING AGREEMENT

binding agreement.See AGREEMENT.

BINDING ARBITRATION

binding arbitration.See ARBITRATION.

BINDING AUTHORITY

binding authority.See binding precedent under PRECEDENT.

BINDING INSTRUCTION

binding instruction.See mandatory instruction under JURY INSTRUCTION.

BINDING PRECEDENT

binding precedent.See PRECEDENT.

BINDING RECEIPT

binding receipt.See BINDER.

BINDING SLIP

binding slip.See BINDER.

BIND OVER

bind over,vb.1. To put (a person) under a bond or other legal obligation to do something, esp. to appear in court. 2. To hold (a person) for trial; to turn (a defendant) over to a sheriff or warden for imprisonment pending further judicial action. • A court may bind over a defendant if it finds at a preliminary examination that there is enough evidence to require a trial on the charges against the defendant. [Cases: Criminal Law 240. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 353.] — binding over,n. — bindover,adj.

BINDOVER HEARING

bindover hearing. See PRELIMINARY HEARING.

BIOLOGICAL

biological, adj. 1. Of or relating to biology or life <biological study>. 2. Genetically related <biological parents>.

BIOLOGICAL CHILD

biological child. See natural child under CHILD.

BIOLOGICAL FATHER

biological father. See FATHER.

BIOLOGICAL MATERIAL

biological material. Patents. Patentable microorganisms — such as bacteria, fungi, algae, protozoa, and viruses — that are capable of self-replication. • To satisfy the Patent Act's enablement requirement, biological material that is the subject of a U.S. patent application must be deposited in an appropriate cell depository before the patent is granted. [Cases: Patents 14. C.J.S. Patents § 22.]

BIOLOGICAL MOTHER

biological mother. See MOTHER.

BIOLOGICAL PARENT

biological parent. See PARENT.

BIOLOGICAL WARFARE

biological warfare. See WARFARE.

BIOTECHNOLOGY

biotechnology. Patents. A branch of molecular biology dealing with the use of biological processes to produce useful medical and industrial materials. Cf. GENETIC ENGINEERING.

BIOTECHNOLOGY PATENT PROCESS PROTECTION ACT

Biotechnology Patent Process Protection Act. Patents. A 1995 federal statute that made biotechnological processes per se patentable if either the process or the resulting material is novel and nonobvious. 35 USCA § 103(b). — Also termed Biotechnology Act.

BIPARTITE

bipartite, adj. (Of an instrument) executed in two parts by both parties.

BIRPI

BIRPI. See INTERNATIONAL BUREAU FOR THE PROTECTION OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY.

BIRRETUM

birretum (b<<schwa>>-ret-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] A cap or coif formerly worn by British judges and serjeants-at-law.

BIRTH

birth. The complete extrusion of a newborn baby from the mother's body. • The quotation below states the traditional legal view of birth. In a few jurisdictions, the state of the law may be changing. In South Carolina, for example, a child does not have to be born alive to be a victim of murder; a woman can be convicted of fetal murder if her baby is stillborn because of the mother's prenatal drug abuse.

“For purposes of criminal law — and also for those of property law, e.g. to become a holder of property and so transmit it again to new heirs, or to enable the father to obtain curtesy of his wife's lands — birth consists in extrusion from the mother's body, i.e. in having ‘come into the world.’ If but a foot be unextricated, there can be no murder, the extrusion must be complete, the whole body of the infant must have been brought into the world. But it is not necessary that the umbilical cord should have been severed. And to be born alive the child must have been still in a living state after having wholly quitted the body of the mother.” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 104 (16th ed. 1952).

BIRTH CERTIFICATE

birth certificate. A formal document that records a person's birthdate, birthplace, and parentage. • In all 50 states, an adopted child receives a second birth certificate reflecting his or her adoptive parents. In such a case, the original birth certificate is usu. sealed and can be opened only by court order. Some states allow limited access, depending on the year when an adoptee was born and (sometimes) on whether the birth parents consent. The trend today is to open records if (1) both the child and the biological parent consent — for example, through an adoption registry, or (2) the child requests and, upon notification, the biological parent does not veto the request. Oregon enacted the first statute to permit access to birth records upon the unilateral demand of the adopted child, once the child reaches the age of majority. See ADOPTION-REGISTRY STATUTE. [Cases: Health 397.]

BIRTH CONTROL

birth control. 1. Any means of preventing conception and pregnancy, usu. by mechanical or chemical means, but also by abstaining from intercourse. 2. More narrowly, contraception.

BIRTHDAY CLUB

birthday club. See GIFTING CLUB.

BIRTH FATHER

birth father. See biological father under FATHER.

BIRTH INJURY

birth injury. Harm that occurs to a fetus during the birth process, esp. during labor and delivery. Cf. PRENATAL INJURY.

BIRTH MOTHER

birth mother. See MOTHER.

BIRTH PARENT

birth parent. See PARENT.

BIRTH RECORDS

birth records. Statistical data kept by a governmental entity concerning people's birthdates, birthplaces, and parentage. [Cases: Health 397.]

BIS

BIS. abbr. BUREAU OF INDUSTRY AND SECURITY.

BI-SCOT

bi-scot. Hist. English law. A fine imposed for not repairing banks, ditches, and causeways.

BISHOP

bishop. The chief superintendent and highest-ranking member of the clergy within a diocese.
 • The bishop is subject to the archbishop of a province. [Cases: Religious Societies 27. C.J.S. Religious Societies § 43.]

“[A] bishop ... has several courts under him, and may visit at pleasure every part of his diocese. His chancellor is appointed to hold his courts for him, and to assist him in matters of ecclesiastical law” 1 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 370 (1765).

BISHOPRIC

bishopric (bish-<<schwa>>-prik). 1. DIOCESE. 2. The office of a bishop.

BISHOP'S COURT

bishop's court. 1. An ecclesiastical court usu. held in the diocese cathedral and presided over by the bishop's chancellor. 2. Hist. Eccles. law. (cap.) A court (usu.) held in the cathedral of a diocese, the judge being the bishop's chancellor, who applied civil canon law. • The jurisdiction included appeals from the Court of Archdeacon. In a large diocese, the bishop's chancellor would have commissaries in remote parts who held consistory courts. See CONSISTORY COURT.

BITING RULE

biting rule. A rule of construction that once a deed or will grants a fee simple, a later provision attempting to cut down, modify, or qualify the grant will be held void. [Cases: Deeds 124; Wills 601(2).C.J.S. Deeds § 245.]

BIVENS<TT> ACTION

Bivens action. A lawsuit brought to redress a federal official's violation of a constitutional right. Bivens v. Six Unknown Named Agents of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, 403 U.S. 388, 91 S.Ct. 1999 (1971). • A Bivens action allows federal officials to be sued in a manner similar to that set forth at 42 USCA § 1983 for state officials who violate a person's constitutional rights under color of state law. [Cases: United States 50.1.]

. BIZ

.biz.Trademarks. A top-level domain name assigned by ICANN for use by businesses as distinct from individual, personal, or noncommercial use. See DOMAIN NAME; INTERNET CORPORATION FOR ASSIGNED NAMES AND NUMBERS.

B/L

B/L.abbr.BILL OF LADING.

BLACKACRE

Blackacre. A fictitious tract of land used in legal discourse (esp. law-school hypotheticals) to discuss real-property issues. • When another tract of land is needed in a hypothetical, it is often termed “Whiteacre.”

“Blackacre is the most celebrated tract of land in the world of the law Blackacre is wholly mythical, yet totally real. It is a concept, living in the realm of the mind and doubly valuable since much of the law of property has the same type of reality.” John E. Cribbet, Principles of the Law of Property 2 (2d ed. 1975).

BLACK ACT

Black Act.Hist. An English statute (9 Geo. ch. 22) establishing the death penalty for the unlawful killing or maiming of animals. • The statute was passed in 1722 in the wake of crimes committed by persons with faces blackened or otherwise disguised. The statute was repealed in 1827. The classic study of this law is E.P. Thompson, Whips and Hunters: The Origins of the Black Act (1975).

BLACK ACTS

Black Acts.Scots law. Statutes of the Scottish Parliament passed from 1535 to 1594 and recorded in a book printed in black letter.

BLACK BOOK OF THE ADMIRALTY

Black Book of the Admiralty.English law. A medieval code of maritime law containing admiralty laws, ordinances, and proceedings, decisions, and acts of the monarch, the Lord High Admiral, and the Court of Admiralty. • The Black Book is considered a definitive source for customary English maritime law. It also contains a copy of the Rules of Oleron, an 11th-century compilation of common maritime law.

BLACK BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER

Black Book of the Exchequer.Hist. A record book containing treaties, conventions, charters, papal bulls, and other English state documents. • It dates from the 13th century. — Also termed Liber Niger Parvus.

BLACK CAP

black cap.A square cap worn by English judges on certain state or solemn occasions. • The black cap was formerly worn by judges when handing down a death sentence.

BLACK CODES

black codes.(usu. cap.) Hist. 1.Antebellum state laws enacted to regulate slavery. 2. Laws enacted shortly after the Civil War in the ex-Confederate states to restrict the liberties of the newly freed slaves to ensure a supply of inexpensive agricultural labor and to maintain white supremacy.

“Clearly, leaders of the old South who survived the war were in no mood for racial equality. It was a bitter enough pill that the slaves were legally free; there was no inclination to go beyond the formal status. The Black Codes of 1865, passed in almost all of the states of the old Confederacy, were meant to replace slavery with some kind of caste system and to preserve as much as possible of the prewar way of life.” Lawrence M. Friedman, A History of American Law 504 (2d ed. 1985).

BLACK ECONOMY

black economy.See SHADOW ECONOMY.

BLACK HAND

Black Hand.Hist. Any of several secret societies that were active in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. • Most of these organizations were composed of anarchists or separatists and engaged in terrorism. In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, a loosely knit Sicilian–Italian criminal organization called the Black Hand extorted money from Italian immigrants to the U.S. through threats and acts of violence. Chapters of the organization were established throughout the United States and Canada. The New York City Police Department created the nation's first bomb squad to deal with the bombs used by the Black Hand. A band of Spanish anarchists in the late 19th century and a group of Serbian anarchists in the early 20th century were also called the Black Hand. The organizations were not related. — blackhander,n.

BLACK-LEG LABOR

black-leg labor.See SCAB.

BLACKLETTER LAW

blackletter law.One or more legal principles that are old, fundamental, and well settled. • The term refers to the law printed in books set in Gothic type, which is very bold and black. — Also termed hornbook law.

BLACKLIST

blacklist,vb. To put the name of (a person) on a list of those who are to be boycotted or punished <the firm blacklisted the former employee>. — blacklist,n.

BLACK-LUNG DISEASE

black-lung disease.See PNEUMOCONIOSIS.

BLACKMAIL

blackmail,n.1. A threatening demand made without justification; EXTORTION. Cf. FEEMAIL; GRAYMAIL; GREENMAIL(1), (2). [Cases: Extortion and Threats 25.1. C.J.S. Threats and Unlawful Communications §§ 2–20.] — blackmail,vb.

“[Blackmail is] a certain rate of Money, Corn, Cattle, or other consideration, paid to some inhabiting upon, or near the borders, being persons of name and power, allied with ... known Robbers ... to be thereby by them freed and protected from the danger of those Spoil-takers.” Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary (1670).

“ ‘Black-mail’ (black rent) was anciently used to indicate ‘rents reserved in work, grain or baser money’ (i.e. baser than silver). It was also employed at one time to refer to ‘a tribute formerly exacted in the north of England and in Scotland by freebooting chiefs for protection from pillage.’ [Quoting American College Dictionary (1948).] Such practice was extortion, in the literal sense, and hence ‘blackmail’ is frequently used to indicate statutory extortion or sometimes an extorsive threat. And the federal statute forbidding the sending of an extorsive threat by mail has been referred to as the ‘blackmail statute.’ ” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 451 (3d ed. 1982).

2.BLACK RENT.

BLACKMAIL SUIT

blackmail suit.See SUIT.

BLACK MARIA

black maria.Slang. A locked van used by the police to transport prisoners to and from jail.

BLACK MARKET

black market.1.MARKET. 2.SHADOW ECONOMY.

BLACK-MARKET ADOPTION

black-market adoption.See ADOPTION.

BLACKOUT PERIOD

blackout period.Trademarks. The time between the examining attorney's approval of an intent-to-use application for publication in the Official Gazette and the issuance of a notice of allowance after publication, during which the applicant may not file a statement of use or make any other substantive amendment to the application. [Cases: Trade Regulation 214. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 180.]

BLACK-RAGE INSANITY DEFENSE

black-rage insanity defense.See INSANITY DEFENSE.

BLACK RENT

black rent.Hist. Feudal rents paid in work, grain, or money baser than silver. — Also termed blackmail. Cf. WHITE RENT.

BLACKSTONE LAWYER

Blackstone lawyer.Slang. 1. A lawyer with a broad knowledge of blackletter principles. 2. A self-educated lawyer (esp. in antebellum America) whose legal training consists primarily of reading Blackstone's Commentaries.

BLACK WARD

black ward.Hist. A subvassal; a vassal of the king's vassal.

BLAINE AMENDMENT

Blaine amendment.A provision in a state constitution for stricter separation of church and state than is required by the Establishment Clause. • In 1875, at the request of President Ulysses S. Grant, Senator James G. Blaine proposed an amendment to the U.S. Constitution, applying the Free Exercise and Establishment Clause to the states, and specifically prohibiting the use of any state funds to support any religious institutions, including private church-run schools (esp. Roman Catholic). The House of Representatives passed the amendment, but the Senate narrowly voted against it. Many states, however, amended their constitutions to include a “Blaine Amendment” strictly prohibiting the use of public money for the support of religious institutions.

BLAME

blame,n.1. An act of attributing fault; an expression of disapproval <the judge said all of the plaintiff's attorneys were to blame>.2. Responsibility for something wrong <blame rested with all the defendants>. — blame,vb. — blameworthy, blamable,adj.

BLANC SEIGN

blanc seign (blahnk sayn). [Law French] Civil law. A signed paper entrusted to someone with the power to bind the signer within the limits of the agreement between the signer and the grantee. See POWER OF ATTORNEY(1).

BLANK

blank.Parliamentary law. 1. A ballot cast without a vote, effectively an abstention. 2. A name, number, time, or other term left open in a motion, to be filled in by vote after taking proposals from the floor. • An election is a common form of filling a blank: each nomination is effectively a proposal for filling the blank in the question, “Resolved, That _____ is elected.” See CREATE A BLANK; FILL A BLANK.

BLANK ACCEPTANCE

blank acceptance.See ACCEPTANCE(4).

BLANK BAR

blank bar.Hist. A plea in bar interposed by a defendant in a trespass action. • This type of plea was filed to compel the plaintiff to state exactly where the alleged trespass occurred. — Also termed common bar.

BLANK BILL

blank bill.See BILL(6).

BLANK BOND

blank bond.See BOND(2).

BLANK CHECK

blank check.See CHECK.

BLANK CONSENT

blank consent.A general authorization from a natural parent who voluntarily relinquishes a child for private adoption and allows adoption proceedings without further consent. • Jurisdictions are divided over whether a blank consent is valid if the natural parents do not identify and approve the prospective adoptive parents. — Also termed blanket consent; general consent.

BLANKET AGREEMENT

blanket agreement.Labor law. A collective-bargaining agreement that applies to workers throughout an organization, industry, or geographical area. [Cases: Labor Relations 241. C.J.S. Labor Relations § 217.]

BLANKET BOND

blanket bond.See BOND(2).

BLANKET CONTRACT

blanket contract.See CONTRACT.

BLANKET LICENSE

blanket license.See LICENSE.

BLANKET LIEN

blanket lien. See LIEN.

BLANKET MORTGAGE

blanket mortgage. See MORTGAGE.

BLANKET POLICY

blanket policy. See INSURANCE POLICY.

BLANKET SEARCH WARRANT

blanket search warrant. See SEARCH WARRANT.

BLANK FORM

blank form. Copyright. A form, usu. one for record-keeping and business purposes, that does not convey information until it has been filled in. • Blank forms are not eligible for copyright protection. — Also termed business form. See BLANK-FORMS RULE.

BLANK-FORMS RULE

blank-forms rule. Copyright. The principle that forms are not protectable by copyright if they are designed for recording information but do not themselves convey any information. • The rule, first promulgated by the U.S. Supreme Court in Baker v. Selden, 101 U.S. 99 (1879), is now a U.S. Copyright Office regulation, 37CFR § 202.1(c). See MERGER DOCTRINE (1). [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 10.4. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property §§ 11–12, 16, 92, 101.]

BLANK INDORSEMENT

blank indorsement. See INDORSEMENT.

BLANK STOCK

blank stock. See STOCK.

BLASPHEMY

blasphemy (blas-f<<schwa>>-mee), n. Irreverence toward God, religion, a religious icon, or something else considered sacred. • Blasphemy was a crime at common law and remains so in some U.S. jurisdictions, but it is rarely if ever enforced because of its questionable constitutionality under the First Amendment. Cf. PROFANITY. [Cases: Criminal Law 45.20. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 7.] — blaspheme (blas-feemorblas-feem), vb. — blasphemous (blas-f<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s), adj. — blasphemer (blas-fee-m<<schwa>>r), n.

“Blasphemy is the malicious revilement of God and religion. In England blasphemy was the malicious revilement of the Christian religion.... Blasphemy has been held to be a common-law crime [in the United States] because of its tendency to stir up breaches of the peace. It is expressly made punishable by some of the statutes.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 474, 475 (3d ed. 1982).

BLENDED FAMILY

blended family. See FAMILY.

BLENDED FUND

blended fund. See FUND(1).

BLENDED SENTENCE

blended sentence. See SENTENCE.

BLENDED TRUST

blended trust. See TRUST.

BLENDING CLAUSE

blending clause. A provision in a will disposing of both the testator's own property and the property over which the testator has a power of appointment, so that the two types of property are treated as a unit. [Cases: Wills 589.]

BLIND-BIDDING

blind-bidding. Copyright. In the licensing of movies for first-run engagements, the practice by film distributors of requiring theater owners to bid for and book movies without having seen them.

- By statute, some states prohibit blind-bidding.

BLIND ENTRY

blind entry. See ENTRY(2).

BLIND PIG

blind pig. See BLIND TIGER.

BLIND PLEA

blind plea. See PLEA(1).

BLIND SELLING

blind selling. The sale of goods without giving a buyer the opportunity to examine them.

BLIND TIGER

blind tiger. Slang. A place where intoxicants are illegally sold. • This term was commonly used during Prohibition. — Also termed blind pig. See PROHIBITION(3).

BLIND TRUST

blind trust. See TRUST.

BLOC

bloc. A group of persons or political units aligned with a common interest or purpose, even if only temporarily <voting bloc>.

BLOCK

block,n.1. A municipal area enclosed by streets <three blocks away>. See LOT (1).2. A quantity of things bought or sold as a unit .

BLOCKADE

blockade.Int'l law.A belligerent's prevention of access to or egress from an enemy's ports by stationing ships to intercept vessels trying to enter or leave those ports. • To be binding, a blockade must be effective — that is, it must be maintained by a force sufficient to prevent access to ports. — Also termed simple blockade; de facto blockade. [Cases: War and National Emergency 19. C.J.S. War and National Defense § 6.]

“A blockade must be existing in point of fact; and in order to constitute that existence, there must be a power present to enforce it. All decrees and orders, declaring extensive coasts and whole countries in a state of blockade, without the presence of an adequate naval force to support it, are manifestly illegal and void, and have no sanction in public law.” 1 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *144 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

“The word blockade properly denotes obstructing the passage into or from a place on either element, but is more especially applied to naval forces preventing communication by water. Unlike siege it implies no intention to get possession of the blockaded place. With blockades by land or ordinary sieges neutrals have usually little to do.” Theodore D. Woolsey, Introduction to the Study of International Law § 202, at 351 (5th ed. 1878).

pacific blockade.Int'l law. A blockade that is established without a declaration of war.

public blockade.Int'l law. An established blockade of which the blockading nation gives formal notice to the governments of neutral nations.

BLOCKAGE RULE

blockage rule.Tax. The principle that a large block of stock shares may be valued at less than the total value of the individual shares because such a large block may be difficult to sell at full price. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4534; Taxation 1072. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 523, 646.]

BLOCK-BOOKING

block-booking,n. Copyright. In the licensing or use of movies, the practice by film distributors of conditioning the license or use on the acceptance of an entire package or block of films, which typically includes unwanted or inferior films. • In United States v. Loew's, Inc., 371 U.S. 38, 83 S.Ct. 97 (1962), the U.S. Supreme Court condemned block-booking as an illegal tying arrangement that violates the Sherman Act.

BLOCKBURGER<TT> TEST

Blockburger test.Criminal law. A test, for double-jeopardy purposes, of whether a defendant can be punished separately for convictions on two charges or prosecuted later on a different charge after being convicted or acquitted on a charge involving the same incident; a comparison of two charges to see if each contains at least one element that the other does not. • Although the test is frequently called the same-evidence test, that term is misleading since the analysis involves the elements of the charged offenses rather than the facts of the incident. Blockburger v. U.S., 284 U.S. 299, 304, 52 S.Ct. 180, 192 (1932). — Also termed same-elements test; actual-evidence test. Cf. SAME-CONDUCT TEST; SAME-TRANSACTION TEST. [Cases: Double Jeopardy 135, 136. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 246.]

BLOCKBUSTING

blockbusting. The act or practice, usu. by a real-estate broker, of persuading one or more property owners to sell their property quickly, and often at a loss, to avoid an imminent influx of minority groups. • Blockbusting is illegal in many states. [Cases: Brokers 1, 4; Civil Rights 1076. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 6–12; Civil Rights §§ 2–3, 14–17, 21.]

BLOCKED ACCOUNT

blocked account. See ACCOUNT.

BLOCKED CURRENCY

blocked currency. See CURRENCY.

BLOCKED INCOME

blocked income. See INCOME.

BLOCK GRANT

block grant. An unrestricted grant of federal funds. [Cases: United States 82. C.J.S. United States § 155.]

BLOCKING PATENT

blocking patent. See PATENT(3).

BLOCK INTEREST

block interest. See add-on interest under INTEREST(3).

BLOCK POLICY

block policy. See INSURANCE POLICY.

BLOCK VOTING

block voting. A shareholders' agreement to cast their votes in a single block. See voting trust under TRUST.

BLONDER-TONGUE DOCTRINE

Blonder-Tongue doctrine. Patents. The rule that a patentee is barred by collateral estoppel from relitigating the validity of a patent that has been held invalid in an earlier proceeding in which the patentee had a full and fair opportunity to litigate the patent's validity. • The rule was adopted by the U.S. Supreme Court in Blonder-Tongue Laboratories, Inc. v. University of Illinois, 402 U.S. 313, 91 S.Ct. 1434 (1971). — Also termed Blonder-Tongue rule. [Cases: Patents 327(13).]

BLOOD

blood. A relationship between persons arising by descent from a common ancestor. See RELATIVE.

entire blood. See full blood.

full blood. The relationship existing between persons having the same two parents; unmixed ancestry. — Also termed whole blood; entire blood.

half blood. The relationship existing between persons having the same father or mother, but not both parents in common. — Sometimes written half-blood. See relative of the half blood under RELATIVE. [Cases: Descent and Distribution 35. C.J.S. Descent and Distribution §§ 29, 42.]

heritable blood. Hist. A relationship between an ancestor and an heir that the law recognizes for purposes of passing good title to property. — Also termed inheritable blood. [Cases: Descent and Distribution 21. C.J.S. Descent and Distribution § 24.]

mixed blood. Archaic. The relationship between persons whose ancestors are of different races or nationalities.

“The term ‘mixed bloods,’ as used in treaties and statutes, has been held to include persons of half, or more or less than half, Indian blood, derived either from the father or from the mother.” 42 C.J.S. Indians § 3 (1991).

whole blood. See full blood.

BLOOD, CORRUPTION OF THE blood, corruption of the. See CORRUPTION OF BLOOD.

BLOOD ALCOHOL CONTENT

blood alcohol content. The concentration of alcohol in one's bloodstream, expressed as a percentage. • Blood alcohol content is used to determine whether a person is legally intoxicated, esp. under a driving-while-intoxicated law. In many states, a blood alcohol content of .08% is enough to charge a person with an offense. — Abbr. BAC. — Also termed blood alcohol count; blood alcohol concentration. See DRIVING UNDER THE INFLUENCE; DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED. [Cases: Automobiles 332, 411. C.J.S. Motor Vehicles §§ 1382–1394, 1397–1411.]

BLOOD BORDER

blood border. Slang. The dividing line between adjoining states that have different minimum drinking ages. • The term derives from the fact that juveniles from the state with the higher minimum age drive to the state with a lower minimum age, purchase and consume alcohol, and drive home intoxicated.

BLOOD FEUD

blood feud. See FEUD(4).

BLOOD-GROUPING TEST

blood-grouping test. A test used in paternity and illegitimacy cases to determine whether a particular man could be the father of a child, examples being the genetic-marker test and the human-leukocyte antigen test. • The test does not establish paternity; rather, it eliminates men who could not be the father. See PATERNITY TEST; GENETIC-MARKER TEST; HUMAN-LEUKOCYTE ANTIGEN TEST . [Cases: Children Out-of-Wedlock 58. C.J.S. Children Out-of-Wedlock §§ 75–76.]

BLOOD MONEY

blood money. 1. Hist. A payment given by a murderer's family to the next of kin of the murder victim. — Also termed wer. 2. A reward given for the apprehension of a person charged with a crime, esp. capital murder.

BLOOD RELATIVE

blood relative. See RELATIVE.

BLOOD TEST

blood test. The medical analysis of blood, esp. to establish paternity or (as required in some states) to test for sexually transmitted diseases in marriage-license applicants. See SEROLOGICAL TEST.

BLOODWITE

bloodwite. Hist. 1. EFFUSIO SANGUINIS(1). 2. EFFUSIO SANGUINIS(2). 3. The right to levy a fine involving the shedding of blood. 4. The exemption from the payment of a fine involving the shedding of blood. 5. Scots law. A penalty for a brawl or riot in which blood is shed.

BLOTTER

blotter. 1. ARREST RECORD. 2. WASTE BOOK.

BLS

BLS. abbr. BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.

BLUE-BLUE-RIBBON JURY

blue-blue-ribbon jury. See blue-ribbon jury under JURY.

BLUE BOOK

Blue Book. 1. A compilation of session laws. See SESSION LAWS(2).2. A volume formerly published to give parallel citation tables for a volume in the National Reporter System. 3.English law. A government publication, such as a Royal Commission report, issued in a blue paper cover.

BLUEBOOK

Bluebook. The citation guide — formerly titled A Uniform System of Citation — that is generally considered the authoritative reference for American legal citations. • The book's complete title is The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation. Although it has been commonly called the Bluebook for decades, the editors officially included Bluebook in the title only in the mid-1990s. The book is compiled by the editors of the Columbia Law Review, the Harvard Law Review, the University of Pennsylvania Law Review, and The Yale Law Journal. Cf. ALWD CITATION MANUAL.

BLUE BOOKS

blue books.See SESSION LAWS.

BLUE CHIP

blue chip,n. A corporate stock that is considered a safe investment because the corporation has a history of stability, consistent growth, and reliable earnings. — Also termed blue-chip stock. — blue-chip,adj.

BLUE LAW

blue law.A statute regulating or prohibiting commercial activity on Sundays. • Although blue laws were formerly common, they have declined since the 1980s, when many courts held them invalid because of their origin in religion (i.e., Sunday being the Christian Sabbath). Blue laws usu. pass constitutional challenge if they are enacted to support a nonreligious purpose, such as a day of rest for workers. — Also termed Sunday law; Sunday-closing law; Sabbath law; Lord's Day Act. [Cases: Sunday 3–30(8). C.J.S. Sunday §§ 8–83.]

BLUE LIST

Blue List.Securities. A daily listing (on blue paper) of secondary-market offerings of municipal bonds.

“Municipal bonds available for resale in the secondary market are listed by state in The Blue List, along with such information as the number of bonds offered, issuer, maturity date, coupon rate, price, and dealer making the offering. Ratings are not included. But there are sections on settlement dates of recent new offerings, prerefunded bonds, and miscellaneous offerings (some U.S. government and agency obligations, railroad equipment trust certificates, corporate bonds, and even preferred stocks). The dollar value of listings, referred to as the floating supply, gives an indication of the size and liquidity of the secondary municipal market.” The New York Institute of Finance, How the Bond Market Works 185 (1988).

BLUE NOTE

blue note. See NOTE(1).

BLUE-PENCIL TEST

blue-pencil test. A judicial standard for deciding whether to invalidate the whole contract or only the offending words. • Under this standard, only the offending words are invalidated if it would be possible to delete them simply by running a blue pencil through them, as opposed to changing, adding, or rearranging words. [Cases: Contracts 137. C.J.S. Contracts § 297.]

BLUE-RIBBON JURY

blue-ribbon jury. See JURY.

BLUE-SKY

blue-sky, vb. To approve (the sale of securities) in accordance with blue-sky laws <the company's IPO has not yet been blue-skyed>.

blue-sky, adj. (Of a security) having little value.

BLUE-SKY LAW

blue-sky law. A state statute establishing standards for offering and selling securities, the purpose being to protect citizens from investing in fraudulent schemes or unsuitable companies. [Cases: Securities Regulation 248–273. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 3, 374–376, 379–411, 414.]

“Although the public is probably more aware of the existence and operation of the several federal statutes administered by the Securities and Exchange Commission, most state legislation in this area is broader in scope. State securities laws, commonly referred to as ‘blue sky’ laws, were enacted long before the Securities Act of 1933, and Congress specifically preserved these laws instead of attempting to preempt the field for federal legislation.” Louis Loss & Edward M. Cowett, Blue Sky Law 3 (1958).

“The first legislative attempts to regulate securities transactions were effected on the state level, with the first general securities law being said to have been enacted by the State of Kansas in 1911, and with 48 jurisdictions having enacted such statutes by 1933. These statutes were said to be enacted to stop the sale of stock in fly-by-night concerns, visionary oil wells, distant gold mines, and other fraudulent exploitations. A similar description of the early legislative purpose is that such acts were aimed at ‘speculative schemes which have no more basis than so many feet of blue sky,’ and this description has had a lasting influence in that state securities acts are commonly referred to as ‘blue sky laws.’ ” 69A Am. Jur. 2d Securities Regulation — State § 1 (1993).

“The state legislatures entered the arena of securities regulation more than twenty years before Congress.... [T]he statutes, which vary widely in their terms and scope, are commonly referred to as ‘blue sky’ laws, an appellation with several suggested origins. It has been said, for example, that the Kansas legislature was spurred by the fear of fast-talking eastern industrialists selling everything including the blue sky.” 1 Thomas Lee Hazen, Treatise on the Law of Securities Regulation § 8.1, at 490–92 (3d ed. 1995).

BLUEWATER SEAMAN

bluewater seaman. See able-bodied seaman under SEAMAN.

BLURRING

blurring, n. Trademarks. A form of dilution in which goodwill in a famous mark is eroded through the mark's unauthorized use by others on or in connection with dissimilar products or services. • Blurring is one type of dilution that is actionable under the Federal Trademark Dilution Act, 15 USCA § 1125(c) <the court found that Nabisco's use of a fish shape in its animal crackers diluted Pepperidge Farm's famous Goldfish trademark>. — Also termed dilution by blurring; diminution. Cf. TARNISHMENT. [Cases: Trade Regulation 366. C.J.S. Trade-Mark, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 79.]

“Blurring is a lessening of the fame possessed by a famous mark. One might begin to think about blurring by recalling ‘free association’ exercises or games, in which one player says a word and the other player must respond instantly with the first word that pops into his or her head. By definition, a strong or famous mark is likely to produce both a prompt and a uniform ‘free association’ response when mentioned to most consumers. Thus when I say ROLEX, you — and almost everyone else — will likely say ‘watches.’ ... On the other hand, a weak mark will produce no response at all, or a variety of responses from different consumers.... If the owners of the ROLEX mark had no way to prevent the use of that mark on pencils, or pianos, or pistachio nuts, because those products are so remote from watches that they could not prove any likelihood of confusion, eventually, the automatic free association of the ROLEX mark with watches, and watches alone, would be destroyed. The mark would be less famous than before. It would be blurred.” Roger E. Schechter & John R. Thomas, Intellectual Property § 30.3, at 710–11 (2003).

BMI

BMI. abbr. BROADCAST MUSIC, INC.

BOARD

board. 1. A group of persons having managerial, supervisory, or advisory powers <board of directors>. • In parliamentary law, a board is a form of deliberative assembly and is distinct from a committee — which is usu. subordinate to a board or other deliberative assembly — in having greater autonomy and authority. 2. Daily meals furnished to a guest at an inn, boardinghouse, or other lodging <room and board>. [Cases: Contracts 191. C.J.S. Contracts § 344.]

BOARD-CERTIFIED

board-certified, adj. (Of a professional) recognized by an official body as a specialist in a given field of law or medicine <board-certified in civil litigation>. See BOARD OF LEGAL SPECIALIZATION.

BOARD LOT

board lot. See round lot under LOT(3).

BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT

board of adjustment. See ADJUSTMENT BOARD.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

board of aldermen. See CITY COUNCIL.

BOARD OF APPEALS

Board of Appeals. Patents & trademarks. Hist. A quasi-judicial body within the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office that was empowered to hear appeals by applicants whose patent applications had been wholly or partially rejected by patent examiners. • Its work is now done by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. See BOARD OF PATENT APPEALS AND INTERFERENCES.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

board of directors. 1. The governing body of a corporation, elected by the shareholders to establish corporate policy, appoint executive officers, and make major business and financial decisions. — Also termed (esp. in charitable organizations) board of trustees. See DIRECTOR. [Cases: Corporations 297. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 460–461.] 2. The governing body of a corporation, partnership, association, or other organization, elected by the shareholders or members to establish policy, elect or appoint officers and committees, and make other governing decisions. — Often shortened (informally) to board. — Also termed board of governors; board of managers; board of trustees (esp. in charitable organizations); executive board. See DIRECTOR.

staggered board of directors. A board of directors whose members' terms of service overlap so that only part of the board's makeup is voted on in any single election. • Typically, members serve terms of two or more years, with some members' terms expiring at each annual election. See Del. Code Ann. tit. 8, § 141 (1991) (authorizing classified boards with two or three classes having two- or three-year terms). — Also termed classified board of directors. [Cases: Corporations 291. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 450–451.]

BOARD OF EDUCATION

board of education. A state or local agency that governs and manages public schools within a state or local district. Cf. SCHOOL BOARD. [Cases: Schools 51. C.J.S. Schools and School Districts §§ 110–111.]

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

board of equalization. See EQUALIZATION BOARD.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS

board of examiners. See EXAMINING BOARD.

BOARD OF FIRE UNDERWRITERS

board of fire underwriters. Insurance. An unincorporated voluntary association made up of fire insurers. [Cases: Insurance 1218. C.J.S. Insurance § 1724.]

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

board of governors.1.BOARD OF DIRECTORS. 2. (cap.) FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD OF GOVERNORS .

BOARD OF GREEN CLOTH

Board of Green Cloth.Hist. A group of persons responsible for governing the royal-household staff, esp. in financial matters such as accounting for expenses and paying servants' wages. • The Board consisted of the Lord Steward and inferior officers, and its name derived from the green cloth that covered the table used by the Board to conduct its duties. In more ancient times, it kept the peace and maintained courts of justice within the area around the royal household (i.e., the verge). — Also termed Counting House of the King's Household; Green Cloth.

BOARD OF HEALTH

board of health.A municipal or state agency charged with protecting the public health. [Cases: Health 361.]

BOARD OF IMMIGRATION APPEALS

Board of Immigration Appeals.The highest administrative tribunal for matters arising under U.S. immigration law, charged with hearing appeals from the Immigration and Naturalization Service. • The Board is made up of five permanent members appointed by the Attorney General and two immigration judges who serve on a temporary basis. Most cases are heard by panels of two permanent judges and one temporary judge. — Also termed Immigration Appeals Board. [Cases: Aliens 54(5). C.J.S. Aliens §§ 120, 126, 187, 220–224.]

BOARD OF LEGAL SPECIALIZATION

board of legal specialization.A body, usu. an arm of a state bar association, that certifies qualified lawyers as specialists within a given field. • Typically, to qualify as a specialist, a lawyer must meet a specified level of experience, pass an examination, and provide favorable recommendations from peers. [Cases: Attorney and Client 3. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 11–12.]

BOARD OF MANAGERS

board of managers.See BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

BOARD OF MEDICAL EXAMINERS

Board of Medical Examiners.See EXAMINING BOARD.

BOARD OF PARDONS

board of pardons.A state agency, of which the governor is usu. a member, authorized to pardon persons convicted of crimes. [Cases: Pardon and Parole 55.1.]

BOARD OF PAROLE

board of parole. See PAROLE BOARD.

BOARD OF PATENT APPEALS AND INTERFERENCES

Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences. Patents & trademarks. The quasi-judicial body in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office that hears (1) appeals from patent applicants whose claims have been rejected by a patent examiner, and (2) interference contests between two or more applicants trying to patent the same invention. • This tribunal assumed the work previously handled by the Board of Appeals and the Board of Patent Interferences. The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit hears appeals from this tribunal. See INTERFERENCE(3). [Cases: Patents 111. C.J.S. Patents §§ 180–183.]

BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS

board of police commissioners. An administrative tribunal vested with disciplinary powers over law-enforcement personnel.

BOARD OF REGENTS

board of regents. A group of persons appointed to supervise an educational institution, esp. a university. [Cases: Colleges and Universities 7. C.J.S. Colleges and Universities §§ 15–18.]

BOARD OF REGISTRATION

board of registration. A state agency authorized to license and discipline members of a trade or profession. [Cases: Licenses 22, 38. C.J.S. Agriculture § 4.]

BOARD OF REVIEW

board of review. 1. A body that reviews administrative-agency decisions. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 513. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 166–171.] 2. A body that reviews property-tax assessments. [Cases: Taxation 464–492. C.J.S. Social Security and Public Welfare § 200; Taxation §§ 681, 686–726.] 3. In some cities, a board that reviews allegations of police misconduct. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 185(12). C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 516, 520–521.]

BOARD OF TAX APPEALS

Board of Tax Appeals. See TAX COURT, U.S.

BOARD OF TRADE

board of trade. 1. A federation of business executives dedicated to advancing and protecting business interests. 2. An organization that runs a commodities exchange. See CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE. [Cases: Commodity Futures Trading Regulation 6. C.J.S. Securities Regulation § 455.] 3. Hist. The Lords of the Committee of the Privy Council that had jurisdiction over trade and foreign plantations. • Today, the responsibilities once assigned to this committee are carried out by the ministry for trade and industry.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

board of trustees. See BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

BOARD OF VETERANS' APPEALS

Board of Veterans' Appeals. The agency in the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs responsible for reviewing decisions on entitlements to veterans' benefits. • The Board's decisions are subject to review by the U.S. Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims.

BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS

board of zoning appeals. See ADJUSTMENT BOARD.

BOATABLE

boatable, adj. See NAVIGABLE.

BOATABLE WATER

boatable water. See NAVIGABLE WATER(1).

BOC

boc (bok), n. Hist. A written document, esp. one that conveys land. — Also spelled bock.

BOCKLAND

bockland. See BOOKLAND.

BOCLAND

bocland. See BOOKLAND.

BODILY HARM

bodily harm. See HARM.

BODILY HEIR

bodily heir. See heir of the body under HEIR.

BODILY INJURY

bodily injury. See INJURY.

BODY

body. 1. The main part of a written instrument, such as the central part of a statute (after the title and preamble) or the middle part of a complainant's bill in equity. 2. A collection of laws. — Also termed body of laws. See CORPUS JURIS. 3. An artificial person created by a legal authority. See CORPORATION. 4. An aggregate of individuals or groups. See BODY POLITIC. 5. A deliberative assembly <legislative body>. See deliberative assembly under ASSEMBLY. 6. An aggregate of individuals or groups <student body>. 7. BODY OF A CLAIM .

BODY CORPORATE

body corporate. See CORPORATION.

BODY EXECUTION

body execution. 1. CAPIAS. 2. EXECUTION.

BODY OF A CLAIM

body of a claim. Patents. The portion of a patent claim that defines the elements or steps of the invention. • The body of the claim follows the preamble and transition phrase. In a combination claim, the body of a claim sets forth the elements of a patentable combination. Cf. PREAMBLE(2); TRANSITION PHRASE.

BODY OF A COUNTY

body of a county. A county as a whole.

BODY OF LAWS

body of laws. See BODY(2).

BODY POLITIC

body politic. A group of people regarded in a political (rather than private) sense and organized under a common governmental authority.

BODY-SNATCHING

body-snatching, n. The unlawful removal of a corpse, esp. from a grave. — body-snatcher, n.

BOGUS

bogus (boh-g<<schwa>>s), adj. Not genuine; counterfeit; SPURIOUS(1). Cf. GENUINE.

BOGUS CHECK

bogus check. See bad check under CHECK.

BOGUS WILL

bogus will. See WILL.

BOILERPLATE

boilerplate, n. 1. Ready-made or all-purpose language that will fit in a variety of documents. • The term, first recorded in 1893, may have referred to steel plates affixed to boilers. But the modern sense comes from the use of the term to refer to copy set on printing plates (or molds to make the plates) and distributed in that form to newspapers. The copy could not be edited. 2. Fixed or standardized contractual language that the proposing party views as relatively nonnegotiable. [Cases: Contracts 1. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 2–3, 9, 12.] — boilerplate, adj.

BOILER-ROOM TRANSACTION

boiler-room transaction.Slang. A high-pressure telephone sales pitch, often of a fraudulent nature.

BOLGER<TT> TEST

Bolger test. The judicial test for determining whether a statement is commercial speech, by examining (1) whether it is an advertisement; (2) whether it refers to a specific product or service; and (3) whether the speaker has an economic motivation for making the statement. Bolger v. Youngs Drug Prods. Corp., 463 U.S. 60, 66–67, 103 S.Ct. 2875, 2879–80 (1983). • An affirmative answer to all three questions is “strong support” that the speech is commercial, but it is not dispositive; rather, the decision should be based on common sense.

BOLSTER

bolster,vb. To enhance (unimpeached evidence) with additional evidence. • This practice is often considered improper when lawyers seek to enhance the credibility of their own witnesses. [Cases: Witnesses 318. C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 562–564.]

BOLTS

bolts.Hist. Student-argued cases in the Inns of Court. • These practice cases were held privately, in contrast to the more formal and public moots. — Also termed boltings.

BOMBARDMENT

bombardment.Int'l law. An attack from land, sea, or air with weapons that are capable of destroying enemy targets at a distance with bombs, missiles, or projectiles.

BONA

bona (boh-n<<schwa>>), n.[Latin “goods”] Chattels; personal property. Cf. BIENS.

bona adventitia (boh-n<<schwa>> ad-ven-tish-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] 1.Roman law. Goods acquired by free persons in some way other than through their paterfamilias, or by slaves in a way other than through their owner. 2.Civil law. Goods acquired fortuitously, but not by inheritance. — Also spelled bona adventicia. — Also termed adventitia bona.

bona confiscata (boh-n<<schwa>> kon-fi-skay-t<<schwa>>). Goods confiscated by — or forfeited to — the Crown.

bona felonum (boh-n<<schwa>> f<<schwa>>-loh-n<<schwa>>m). Personal property belonging to a convicted felon.

bona forisfacta (boh-n<<schwa>> for-is-fak-t<<schwa>>). Forfeited goods.

bona fugitivorum (boh-n<<schwa>> fyoo-j<<schwa>>-ti-vor-<<schwa>>m). Goods belonging to a fugitive. — Also termed bona utlagatorum.

bona immobilia (boh-n<<schwa>> i-moh-bil-ee-<<schwa>>). Immovable property.

bona mobilia (boh-n<<schwa>> moh-bil-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] Movable property. See MOVABLE.

bona notabilia (boh-n<<schwa>> noh-t<<schwa>>-bil-ee-<<schwa>>). Notable goods; property worth accounting for in a decedent's estate. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 11. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 13.]

bona paraphernalia (boh-n<<schwa>> par-<<schwa>>-f<<schwa>>r-nay-lee-<<schwa>>). Clothes, jewelry, and ornaments not included in a married woman's dowry.

bona peritura (boh-n<<schwa>> per-<<schwa>>-t[y]uur-<<schwa>>). Perishable goods; goods that an executor or trustee must diligently convert into money.

bona utlagatorum (boh-n<<schwa>> <<schwa>>t-lay-g<<schwa>>-tor-<<schwa>>m). See bona fugitivorum.

bona vacantia (boh-n<<schwa>> v<<schwa>>-kan-shee-<<schwa>>). [Latin “vacant goods”] 1. Property not disposed of by a decedent's will and to which no relative is entitled under intestacy laws. See ESCHEAT. 2. Ownerless property; goods without an owner. • Bona vacantia often resulted when a deceased person died without an heir willing and able to make a claim. The property either belonged to the finder or escheated to the Crown. — Sometimes shortened to vacantia. — Also termed vacantia bona.

bona waviata (boh-n<<schwa>> way-vee-ay-t<<schwa>>). Stolen goods thrown away in flight by a thief. • The goods escheated to the Crown as a penalty to the owner for failing to pursue the thief and recover the goods.

vacantia bona. See bona vacantia.

BONA ACTIVA

bona activa (boh-n<<schwa>> ak-tI-v<<schwa>>). [Latin “active goods”] 1. Assets. See ASSET(1). 2. The claims that a person has against others. Cf. BONA PASSIVA.

BONA CASTRENSIA ET QUASI CASTRENSIA

bona castrensia et quasi castrensia (boh-n<<schwa>> ka-stren-shee-<<schwa>> et kway-sI [orkway-zI] ka-stren-shee-<<schwa>>). [Latin “goods acquired for military or quasi-military (i.e., public) service”] Roman law. The property that a son could dispose of, by testament or otherwise, without his paterfamilias's consent. See PATERFAMILIAS.

BONA CONFISCATA

bona confiscata. See BONA.

BONAE FIDEI

bonae fidei (boh-nee fI-dee-I). [Latin] Of good faith; in good faith.

BONAE FIDEI POSSESSOR

bonae fidei possessor (boh-nee fl-dee-I p<<schwa>>-zes-<<schwa>>r). [Latin] Roman law. A good-faith possessor of property owned by another. • Unless the owner sued to recover the property, the possessor became the rightful owner after a specified time elapsed, unless the property had been stolen or taken by force. See USCAPIO.

BONA ET CATALLA

bona et catalla (boh-n<<schwa>> et k<<schwa>>-tal-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Goods and chattels.

BONA FELONUM

bona felonum. See BONA.

BONA FIDE

bona fide (boh-n<<schwa>> fld or boh-n<<schwa>> fl-dee), adj. [Latin “in good faith”] 1. Made in good faith; without fraud or deceit. 2. Sincere; genuine. See GOOD FAITH. — bona fide, adv.

BONA FIDE CONTRACT

bona fide contract. See CONTRACT.

BONA FIDE EMPTOR

bona fide emptor (boh-n<<schwa>> fld-ee emp-t<<schwa>>r). [Latin] Good-faith purchaser. See bona fide purchaser under PURCHASER(1).

BONA FIDE HOLDER FOR VALUE

bona fide holder for value. See HOLDER FOR VALUE.

BONA FIDE INTENT TO USE

bona fide intent to use. Trademarks. A specific, good-faith intention to use a mark in the ordinary course of trade in interstate commerce and not merely to reserve it for later use, as determined by objective circumstantial evidence. • A federal registration obtained under Lanham Act § 1(b) requires a bona fide intent to use the mark. If the required intent is later determined to be lacking, the registration may be invalidated.

BONA FIDE JUDGMENT CREDITOR

bona fide judgment creditor. See JUDGMENT CREDITOR.

BONA FIDE OCCUPATIONAL QUALIFICATION

bona fide occupational qualification. An employment qualification that, although it may discriminate against a protected class (such as sex, religion, or national origin), relates to an essential job duty and is considered reasonably necessary to the operation of the particular business. • Such a qualification is not illegal under federal employment-discrimination laws. — Abbr. BFOQ. [Cases: Civil Rights 1118, 1529. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 25, 161–162.]

“The bona fide occupational qualification is a complete defense. It is invoked when the defendant makes a distinction expressly forbidden by Title VII, such as the refusal to hire women or women with preschool-age children, the reassignment of pregnant employees, or the exclusion of particular ethnic groups from particular jobs.... The employer's motivation for excluding the protected class is not significant in evaluating the BFOQ defense. The inquiry focuses on the necessity of using an expressly forbidden classification. The fact that the employer adopted the exclusion for invidious reasons, rather than for the business consideration on which the defense is based, is not material. Thus, if the exclusion, in fact, is proved to be necessary it may be used, even if invidiously motivated.” Mack A. Player, Employment Discrimination Law § 5.29, at 282–83 (1988).

BONA FIDE OPERATION

bona fide operation. A real, ongoing business.

BONA FIDE PERCEPTIO ET CONSUMPTIO

bona fide perceptio et consumptio (boh-n<<schwa>> fl-dee p<<schwa>>r-sep-shee-oh et k<<schwa>>n-sump-shee-oh). [Latin] Hist. Gathering and consuming in good faith. • The phrase appeared in reference to the rights of a bona fide possessor to keep fruit that the possessor gathers in good faith and consumes in good faith.

BONA FIDE POSSESSION

bona fide possession. See POSSESSION.

BONA FIDE PURCHASER

bona fide purchaser. See PURCHASER(1).

BONA FIDE PURCHASER FOR VALUE

bona fide purchaser for value. See bona fide purchaser under PURCHASER(1).

BONA FIDES

bona fides (boh-n<<schwa>> fl-deez), n. [Latin] 1. GOOD FAITH. 2. Roman law. The standard of conduct expected of a reasonable person, esp. in making contracts and similar actions; acting without fraudulent intent or malice.

BONA FIDE SALE

bona fide sale. See SALE.

BONA FISCALIA

bona fiscalia (boh-n<<schwa>> fis-kay-lee-<<schwa>>), n. Public property.

BONA FORISFACTA

bona forisfacta. See BONA.

BONA FUGITIVORUM

bona fugitivorum. See BONA.

BONA GRATIA

bona gratia (boh-n<<schwa>> gray-shee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] Roman law. In goodwill; in a friendly way. • The phrase typically referred to a divorce by mutual consent.

BONA GRATIA MATRIMONIUM DISSOLVITUR

bona gratia matrimonium dissolvitur (boh-n<<schwa>> gray-shee-<<schwa>> ma-tr<<schwa>>-moh-nee-<<schwa>>m di-sol-v<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r). [Law Latin “the marriage is dissolved in a friendly way”] Hist. A consensual divorce.

BONA IMMOBILIA

bona immobilia. See BONA.

BONA MEMORIA

bona memoria (boh-n<<schwa>> m<<schwa>>-mor-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] Good memory. • Bona memoria, as used in the phrase sanae mentis et bonae memoria (of sound mind and good memory), refers to a testator's mental capacity. See MIND AND MEMORY.

BONA MOBILIA

bona mobilia. See BONA.

BONA NOTABILIA

bona notabilia. See BONA.

BONA PARAPHERNALIA

bona paraphernalia. See BONA.

BONA PASSIVA

bona passiva (boh-n<<schwa>> pa-sI-v<<schwa>>). Roman law. Liabilities. Cf. BONA ACTIVA.

BONA PERITURA

bona peritura. See BONA.

BONA UTLAGATORUM

bona utlagatorum. See bona fugitivorum under BONA.

BONA VACANTIA

bona vacantia. See BONA.

BONA WAVIATA

bona waviata.See BONA.

BOND

bond,n.1. An obligation; a promise.

“[A]n obligation, or in English a ‘bond,’ is a document written and sealed containing a confession of a debt; in later times ‘contract’ is the genus, ‘obligation’ the species.” 2 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, The History of English Law 207 (2d ed. 1899).

2. A written promise to pay money or do some act if certain circumstances occur or a certain time elapses; a promise that is defeasible upon a condition subsequent; esp., an instrument under seal by which (1) a public officer undertakes to pay a sum of money if he or she does not faithfully discharge the responsibilities of office, or (2) a surety undertakes that if the public officer does not do so, the surety will be liable in a penal sum.“The fact that an instrument is called a ‘bond’ is not conclusive as to its character. It is necessary to disregard nomenclature and look to the substance of the bond itself. The distinguishing feature of a bond is that it is an obligation to pay a fixed sum of money, at a definite time, with a stated interest, and it makes no difference whether a bond is designated by that name or by some other, if it possesses the characteristics of a bond. There is no distinction between bonds and certificates of indebtedness which conform to all the characteristics of bonds.” 1 Silvester E. Quindry, Bonds & Bondholders Rights & Remedies § 2, at 3–4 (1934).

appeal bond.A bond that an appellate court may require from an appellant in a civil case to ensure payment of the costs of appeal; a bond required as a condition to bringing an appeal or staying execution of the judgment appealed from. Fed. R. App. P. 7. Cf. supersedeas bond. [Cases: Appeal and Error 373–395; Federal Courts 661, 687. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 264, 288, 290–291, 295, 322–352.]

appearance bond.See bail bond.

arbitration bond.See ARBITRATION BOND.

attachment bond.A bond that a defendant gives to recover attached property. • The plaintiff then looks to the bond issuer to satisfy a judgment against the defendant. [Cases: Attachment 261; Federal Civil Procedure 585. C.J.S. Attachment §§ 247–251, 258.]

average bond.Marine insurance. A bond given to the captain of a ship by consignees of cargo subject to general average, guaranteeing payment of their contribution once it is ascertained, on condition that their goods be promptly delivered. [Cases: Shipping 198. C.J.S. Shipping § 470.]

bail bond.A bond given to a court by a criminal defendant's surety to guarantee that the defendant will duly appear in court in the future and, if the defendant is jailed, to obtain the defendant's release from confinement. • The effect of the release on bail bond is to transfer custody of the defendant from the officers of the law to the custody of the surety on the bail bond, whose undertaking is to redeliver the defendant to legal custody at the time and place appointed in the bond. — Also termed appearance bond; recognizance. See BAIL. [Cases: Bail 54.1.]

bid bond.A bond filed in public construction projects to ensure that the bidding contractor will enter into the contract. • The bid bond is a type of performance bond. [Cases: Public Contracts 9. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 12.]

blank bond.Archaic. A bond in which the space for the creditor's name is left blank.

blanket bond. 1. A bond covering several persons or projects that require performance bonds. 2. See fidelity bond.

bond for land.A bond given by the seller of land to a buyer, binding the seller to convey once the buyer tenders the agreed price. — Also termed bond for a deed. Cf. BINDER(1). [Cases: Vendor and Purchaser 27. C.J.S. Vendor and Purchaser § 22.]

bond of corroboration.An additional obligation undertaken to corroborate the debtor's original obligation.

bond to keep the peace.See peace bond.

bottomry bond.A contract for the loan of money on a ship, usu. at extraordinary interest, for maritime risks encountered during a certain period or for a certain voyage. • The loan can be enforced only if the vessel survives the voyage. — Also termed bottomage bond. Cf. respondentia bond. [Cases: Shipping 89–100. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 223–231.]

“A bottomry bond, strictly speaking, is a mortgage or pledge of a ship by the owner or agent, to secure the repayment of money lent for the use of the ship; and the conditions of it are, that if the ship is lost, the lender loses his money; but if it arrives, then, not only the ship itself is liable, but also the person of the borrower.” John Indermaur, Principles of the Common Law 169 (Edmund H. Bennett ed., 1st Am. ed. 1878).

“[T]he bottomry bond ... is a sort of mortgage on a ship, entered into for the purpose of raising money in case of necessity in a foreign port. The advance of communications has caused bottomry and respondentia bonds to pass virtually out of use.” Grant Gilmore & Charles L. Black Jr., The Law of Admiralty § 1-10, at 25 n.85 (2d ed. 1975).

claim-property bond.See replevin bond.

common-defeasance bond.See penal bond.

common-law bond.A performance bond given by a construction contractor. • A common-law bond exceeds the requirements of a statutory performance bond because it provides additional coverage for construction projects. Cf. PERFORMANCE BOND. [Cases: Principal and Surety 65, 66(1). C.J.S. Principal and Surety §§ 70, 72–73, 75.]

common money bond.A promise to pay money as a penalty for failing to perform a duty or obligation.

contract bond.See PERFORMANCE BOND.

cost bond.A bond given by a litigant to secure the payment of court costs. [Cases: Costs 120–124; Federal Civil Procedure 2732. C.J.S. Costs §§ 73–74.]

counterbond. A bond to indemnify a surety.

delivery bond. See forthcoming bond.

depository bond. A bond given by a bank to protect a public body's deposits should the bank become insolvent.

discharging bond. A bond that both permits a defendant to regain possession of attached property and releases the property from the attachment lien. — Also termed dissolution bond. See forthcoming bond. [Cases: Attachment 261. C.J.S. Attachment §§ 247–251, 258.]

executor's bond. A bond given to ensure the executor's faithful administration of the estate. See fiduciary bond. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 26. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 71.]

“The English law did not require an executor to give bond because he was appointed by the testator and his authority was derived from the will rather than court appointment. Some American jurisdictions do not require a bond of an executor. In the majority of our states a testator may by will dispense with the executor's bond, but in absence of such testamentary provision a bond will be required.” Thomas E. Atkinson, Handbook of the Law of Wills § 113, at 621 (2d ed. 1953).

fidelity bond. A bond to indemnify an employer or business for loss due to embezzlement, larceny, or gross negligence by an employee or other person holding a position of trust. — Also termed blanket bond. [Cases: Insurance 1014, 2400. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 8, 1075.]

fiduciary bond. A type of surety bond required of a trustee, administrator, executor, guardian, conservator, or other fiduciary to ensure the proper performance of duties. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 26; Trusts 161. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 71; Trover and Conversion § 302.]

forthcoming bond. 1. A bond guaranteeing that something will be produced or forthcoming at a particular time, or when called for. 2. A bond (usu. given to a sheriff) to permit a person to repossess attached property in exchange for that person's commitment to surrender the property in the event of an adverse judgment; specif., a bond required of a defendant as a condition of retaining or regaining possession of a chattel in an attachment or replevin action, whereby the surety agrees to surrender the chattel and to pay its value if the plaintiff wins the lawsuit. — Also termed delivery bond. Cf. replevin bond. [Cases: Attachment 261. C.J.S. Attachment §§ 247–251, 258.]

general-average bond. Maritime law. A cargo owner's bond exacted by a carrier to ensure that the owner will pay the general average contribution. • When the contribution amounts are disputed, the carrier requires this bond before agreeing to unload the ship. It may also be required when the amounts are undisputed, as security of payment. — Also termed average bond. See general average under AVERAGE(3). [Cases: Shipping 198. C.J.S. Shipping § 470.] guaranty bond. A bond combining the features of a fidelity and a surety bond, securing both payment and performance.

heritable bond.Scots law. A bond secured by land.

hypothecation bond.A bond given in the contract of bottomry or respondentia. [Cases: Shipping 89–100. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 223–231.]

indemnity bond.A bond to reimburse the holder for any actual or claimed loss caused by the issuer's or some other person's conduct. [Cases: Indemnity 28.]

injunction bond.A bond required of an injunction applicant to cover the costs incurred by a wrongfully enjoined party; a bond required as a condition of the issuance or continuance of a bond. Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(c). [Cases: Injunction 148. C.J.S. Injunctions §§ 168–174.]

interim bond. 1. A bond set by a police officer when a person is arrested for a minor offense, such as a misdemeanor, without a warrant. • Although the bond allows the arrestee to be released, it requires that the person be available for arraignment. 2. A bond set by a judge or magistrate and attached to a misdemeanor warrant.

judicial bond.A bond to indemnify an adverse party in a lawsuit against loss occasioned by delay or by deprivation of property resulting from the lawsuit. • Judicial bonds are usu. classified according to the nature of the action in which they are required, as with appeal bonds, injunction bonds, attachment bonds, replevin bonds, forthcoming or redelivery bonds, and bail bonds. A bond of a fiduciary — such as a receiver, administrator, executor, or guardian — is often required as a condition to appointment.

liability bond.A bond intended to protect the assured from a loss arising from some event specified in the bond.

license bond.A bond required of a person seeking a license to engage in a specified business or to receive a certain privilege. — Also termed permit bond. [Cases: Licenses 26. C.J.S. Licenses § 42.]

maintenance bond.A bond guaranteeing against construction defects for a period after the completion of the contracted-for work. [Cases: Principal and Surety 82; Public Contracts 45. C.J.S. Principal and Surety §§ 72, 77, 111; Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 45.]

negotiable bond.A bond that can be transferred from the original holder to another. [Cases: Bonds 74.]

official bond. 1. A bond given by a public officer requiring the faithful performance of the duties of office. 2. A bond filed by an executor, guardian, trustee, or other fiduciary. See fiduciary bond. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 37. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 61–62.]

payment bond.A bond given by a surety to cover any amounts that, because of the general contractor's default, are not paid to a subcontractor or materialman. [Cases: Principal and Surety 82; Public Contracts 46. C.J.S. Principal and Surety §§ 72, 77, 111; Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 46–50.]

“[T]he bond serves two purposes: it assures the owner a lien-free project, and it induces suppliers and subcontractors to accept work on the project, perhaps at a lower price, because of the assurance that they will be paid. Since no additional charge is generally made for a payment bond when a performance bond is being purchased, the two are usually issued simultaneously.” Grant S. Nelson, Real Estate Finance Law § 12.2, at 881 (3d ed. 1994).

peace bond. A bond required by a court from a person who has breached or threatened to breach the peace. — Also termed bond to keep the peace. See BREACH OF THE PEACE. [Cases: Breach of The Peace 15.1, 22. C.J.S. Breach of the Peace §§ 14, 18, 21, 23–25; Domestic Abuse and Violence §§ 2–3.]

penal bond. A bond requiring the obligor to pay a specified sum as a penalty if the underlying obligation is not performed. — Also termed penal bill; common-defeasance bond. [Cases: Bonds 1, 50. C.J.S. Bonds §§ 2–4, 7, 32, 34, 39.]

performance bond. See PERFORMANCE BOND.

permit bond. See license bond.

personal bond. 1. See bail bond; BAIL. 2. A written document in which an obligor formally recognizes an obligation to pay money or to do a specified act. 3. Scots law. A bond containing a promise without security.

probate bond. A bond, such as that filed by an executor, required by law to be given during a probate proceeding to ensure faithful performance by the person under bond. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 26. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 71.]

redelivery bond. See replevin bond.

refunding bond. A bond given to assure an executor that a legatee will return an estate distribution should the remaining estate assets be insufficient to pay the other legacies. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 299. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 541.]

registered bond. A governmental or corporate obligation to pay money, represented by a single certificate delivered to the creditor. • The obligation is registered in the holder's name on the books of the debtor. [Cases: Corporations 471; Municipal Corporations 936. C.J.S. Corporations § 667; Municipal Corporations § 1700.]

removal bond. 1. A bond to cover possible duties owed by a person who removes goods from a warehouse for export. 2. A bond required in some states when a litigant seeks to remove an action to another court. [Cases: Removal of Cases 89. C.J.S. Removal of Causes § 168.]

replevin bond (ri-plev-in). 1. A bond given by a plaintiff to replevy or attach property in the defendant's possession before judgment is rendered in a replevin action. • The bond protects the attaching officer and ensures the property's safekeeping until the court decides whether it should be returned to the defendant. — Also termed replevy bond. See REPLEVIN. [Cases: Replevin 33. C.J.S. Replevin § 54.] 2. A bond given by a defendant in a replevin action to regain attached property pending the outcome of litigation. • The bond does not discharge the attachment lien. [Cases: Replevin 49. C.J.S. Replevin §§ 76–77.] — Also termed replevy bond; claim-property bond; redelivery bond. Cf. forthcoming bond.

respondentia bond (re-spon-den-shee-<<schwa>> or ree-). A contract containing the pledge of a ship's cargo; a mortgage of a ship's cargo. Cf. bottomry bond. [Cases: Shipping 89–100. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 223–231.]

“A respondentia bond is a loan upon the pledge of the cargo, though an hypothecation of both ship and cargo may be made in one instrument; and generally, it is only a personal obligation on the borrower, and is not a specific lien on the goods, unless there be an express stipulation to that effect in the bond; and it amounts, at most, to an equitable lien on the salvage in case of loss.” 3 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *354–55 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

simple bond. 1. A bond without a penalty. 2. A bond payable to a named obligee on demand or on a certain date.

statutory bond. A bond that literally or substantially meets the requirements of a statute. [Cases: Bonds 31, 50. C.J.S. Bonds §§ 21–23, 28, 32, 34, 39.]

straw bond. A bond, usu. a bail bond, that carries either a fictitious name or the name of a person who is unable to pay the sum guaranteed; a worthless or inadequate bond.

submission bond. A bond given by a litigant who agrees to submit a lawsuit to arbitration and to be bound by an arbitrator's award. [Cases: Arbitration 14. C.J.S. Arbitration § 184.]

supersedeas bond (soo-p*<<schwa>>r-see-dee-<<schwa>>*s). An appellant's bond to stay execution on a judgment during the pendency of the appeal. Fed. R. Civ. P. 62(d); Fed. R. App. P. 8(b). — Often shortened to supersedeas. See SUPERSEDE(2). Cf. appeal bond. [Cases: Appeal and Error 460; Execution 158(2); Supersedeas 5. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 408–410, 418; Executions §§ 155–156.]

surety bond. See PERFORMANCE BOND.

ten-percent bond. A bail bond in the amount of 10% of the bond otherwise required for a defendant's release. • This type of bond usu. allows a defendant to arrange a bond without the services of a bondsman or other surety.

unsecured bail bond. A bond that holds a defendant liable for a breach of the bond's conditions (such as failure to appear in court), but that is not secured by a deposit of or lien on property. See RECOGNIZANCE. [Cases: Bail 40, 55. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings §§ 8, 93–95.]

3. A long-term, interest-bearing debt instrument issued by a corporation or governmental entity, usu. to provide for a particular financial need; esp., such an instrument in which the debt is secured by a lien on the issuer's property. Cf. DEBENTURE. “Typically debt securities are notes, debentures, and bonds. Technically a ‘debenture’ is an unsecured corporate obligation while a ‘bond’ is secured by a lien or mortgage on corporate property. However, the word ‘bond’ is often used indiscriminately to cover both bonds and debentures A ‘bond’ is a long term debt security while a ‘note’ is usually a shorter term obligation. Bonds are historically bearer instruments, negotiable by delivery, issued in multiples of $1,000 with interest payments represented by coupons that are periodically clipped and submitted for payment.” Robert W. Hamilton, The Law of Corporations in a Nutshell 128 (3d ed. 1991).

accrual bond. A bond — usu. the last collateralized-mortgage-obligation issue — from which no principal or interest payment will be made until any bonds issued earlier have been fully paid. — Also termed Z-bond.

adjustment bond. A bond issued when a corporation is reorganized. — Also termed reorganization bond.

annuity bond. A bond that lacks a maturity date and that perpetually pays interest. — Also termed consol; perpetual bond; continued bond; irredeemable bond. [Cases: Annuities 1. C.J.S. Annuities §§ 2–4, 6–9, 21.]

arbitrage bond. A municipal bond, the proceeds of which are invested in bonds paying a higher yield than that paid by the municipality on its own bonds. • Under the Internal Revenue Code, the tax-free aspect of municipal-bond income may be lost if the bonds are classified as arbitrage bonds. See ARBITRAGE. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3132.10. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 94, 98.]

assessment bond. A municipal bond repaid from property assessment taxes. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 950. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 1708–1709.]

assumed bond. See guaranteed bond (1).

baby bond. A bond usu. having a face value of $1,000 or less.

bearer bond. A bond payable to the person holding it. • The transfer of possession transfers the bond's ownership. Cf. registered bond. [Cases: Bonds 74, 86.]

bond and mortgage. A bond that is backed by a mortgage on realty. — Also termed mortgage bond. Cf. DEBENTURE(3).

book-entry bond. A bond for which no written certificate is issued to reflect ownership.

callable bond. See redeemable bond.

chattel-mortgage bond. A bond secured by a mortgage on personal property.

closed-end mortgage bond. A mortgage bond with provisions prohibiting the debtor from issuing additional bonds against the bond's collateral.

collateral trust bond. 1. A bond representing a debt secured by the deposit of another security with a trustee. — Also termed collateral trust certificate. 2. A long-term corporate bond that is secured by other companies' mortgage bonds held by the corporation, which pledges and deposits the mortgage bonds in trust. • The interest on these collateral trust bonds is typically lower than that received on the bonds pledged; the surplus is used to form a sinking fund to redeem the collateral trust bonds. A holding company often issues these bonds by pledging the stock of a subsidiary.

commodity-backed bond. A bond with interest payments or principal repayment tied to the price of a specific commodity, such as gold. • This type of bond, which has a low interest rate but provides a hedge against inflation because the commodity price will usu. rise, is often issued by a firm with a stake in the commodity.

consolidated bond. 1. A railroad bond secured by a mortgage on the entire railroad line formed by several consolidated railroads. Cf. divisional bond. 2. A single bond that replaces two or more outstanding issues.

construction bond. A bond issued by a governmental entity for a building project. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 911. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations § 1649.]

continued bond. See annuity bond.

convertible bond. A bond that can be exchanged for stock shares in the corporation that issued the bond. [Cases: Corporations 470. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 664–665.]

corporate bond. 1. An interest-bearing instrument containing a corporation's promise to pay a fixed sum of money at some future time. • A corporate bond may be secured or unsecured. [Cases: Corporations 470. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 664–665.] 2. A bond issued by a corporation, usu. having a maturity of ten years or longer.

county bond. A county-issued bond paid through a levy on a special taxing district, whether or not the district is coextensive with the county. [Cases: Counties 187. C.J.S. Counties § 226.]

coupon bond. A bond with attached interest coupons that the holder may present to receive interest payments. See BOND COUPON.

cumulative income bond. See income bond.

cushion bond. A bond paying an uncommonly high interest rate.

debenture bond. See DEBENTURE(3).

deferred-interest bond. A bond whose interest payments are postponed for a time.

discount bond. A bond sold at its current market value, which is less than its face value. — Also termed non-interest-bearing bond.

divisional bond. A railroad bond secured by a mortgage on a specific segment of a consolidated railroad system. Cf. consolidated bond (1).

endorsed bond. See guaranteed bond (1).

equipment trust bond. A bond secured by tangible property, such as an airplane. • A trustee usu. holds title to the equipment, which is leased to the issuer. — Also termed equipment trust certificate.

first-mortgage bond. A long-term bond that has the first claim on specified assets.

flat bond. A bond that trades without accrued interest.

floating-interest bond.A bond with an interest rate that moves up and down with changing economic conditions.

flower bond.A Treasury bond redeemable before maturity if used to settle federal estate taxes. • Flower bonds were issued before April 1971 and reached final maturity in 1998. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4830. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 548–549, 727.]

foreign bond.A bond issued in a currency different from that used where the issuer is located, such as a Canadian-government bond that is denominated in U.S. dollars and issued in the United States.

full-faith-and-credit bond.See general-obligation bond.

general-mortgage bond.A corporate bond secured by a blanket mortgage on property. • The general-mortgage bond, however, is often less valuable because it is subordinate to prior mortgages. [Cases: Corporations 470. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 664–665.]

general-obligation bond.A municipal bond payable from general revenue rather than from a special fund. • Such a bond has no collateral to back it other than the issuer's taxing power. — Often shortened to obligation bond. — Also termed full-faith-and-credit bond. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 953.]

“There are two main types of bonds issued by local governments: general obligation bonds and revenue bonds.... Bonds will be assumed to be general obligation unless they themselves contain a clear promise to pay only out of a special fund.” Osborne M. Reynolds Jr., Handbook of Local Government Law § 104, at 323 (1982).

gold bond. 1.Hist. A bond payable in gold coin or U.S. currency at the election of the bondholder. • This type of bond existed until 1933, when the U.S. monetary system abandoned the gold standard. 2. A commodity-backed bond that is secured by gold and issued by a gold-mining company.

government bond.See savings bond; government security under SECURITY(4).

guaranteed bond. 1. A bond issued by a corporation and guaranteed by a third party. • This type of bond is common among railroads. — Also termed endorsed bond; assumed bond; joint bond. 2. A bond issued by a subsidiary corporation whose parent corporation guarantees the principal and interest payments.

high-yield bond.A high-risk, high-yield subordinated bond issued by a company with a credit rating below investment grade. — Also termed junk bond; high-yield debt obligation.

improvement bond.See revenue bond.

income bond.A corporate bond secured by the corporation's net income, after the payment of interest on senior debt. • Sometimes this type of bond is a cumulative-income bond, in which case, if the income in any year is insufficient to pay the full interest, the deficit is carried forward as a lien on any future income. — Also termed cumulative income bond. [Cases: Corporations 470. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 664–665.]

indeterminate bond. A callable bond with no set maturity date.

industrial-development bond. 1. A type of revenue bond in which interest and principal payments are backed by a corporation rather than a municipality. • This type of bond usu. finances a private business facility. 2. A tax-exempt municipal bond that finances a usu. local industry. — Also termed industrial-revenue bond. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 912. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations § 1650.]

interchangeable bond. A bond that can be exchanged for a different type of bond, such as a coupon bond that may be exchanged for a registered bond.

interest bond. A bond paid in lieu of interest due on other bonds.

investment-grade bond. A bond with a rating of BBB or better by the leading bond rating services. See INVESTMENT-GRADE RATING.

irredeemable bond. See annuity bond.

joint and several bond. A bond in which the principal and interest are guaranteed by two or more obligors. [Cases: Bonds 51. C.J.S. Bonds §§ 40–43.]

joint bond. A bond signed by two or more obligors. • In contrast to a joint and several bond, all the obligors must be joined if an action is brought on the bond. [Cases: Bonds 51. C.J.S. Bonds §§ 40–43.]

junior bond. A bond subordinate in priority to another bond.

junk bond. See high-yield bond.

leasehold-mortgage bond. A bond issued by a lessee and secured by the lessee's leasehold interest.

Lloyd's bond. Hist. English law. A corporate bond issued on work done or goods delivered. • A bond issued in this manner avoids any restriction on indebtedness existing either in law or in corporate bylaws. The term supposedly derives from an English lawyer named Lloyd, who is credited with devising the method.

mortgage bond. A bond secured by the issuer's real property.

multimaturity bond. See put bond.

municipal bond. A bond issued by a nonfederal government or governmental unit, such as a state bond to finance local improvements. • The interest received from a municipal bond may be exempt from federal, state, and local taxes. — Often shortened (in plural) to municipals; munies. — Also termed municipal security. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 911. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations § 1649.]

noncallable bond. See noncallable security under SECURITY.

non-interest-bearing bond. See discount bond.

nonstatutory bond. See voluntary bond.

obligation bond. See general-obligation bond.

open-end mortgage bond. A mortgage bond that can be used as security for another bond issue.

optional bond. A bond that the holder may redeem before its maturity date if the issuer agrees.

option tender bond. See put bond.

participating bond. A bond that entitles the holder to a share of corporate profits but does not have a fixed interest rate.

passive bond. A bond bearing no interest. See passive debt under DEBT. [Cases: Bonds 63. C.J.S. Bonds § 52.]

perpetual bond. See annuity bond.

post-obit bond. An agreement by which a borrower promises to pay to the lender a lump sum (exceeding the amount advanced) upon the death of a person whose property the borrower expects to inherit. • Equity traditionally enforces such bonds only if the terms are just and reasonable. — Also termed post-obit agreement.

premium bond. A bond with a selling price above face or redemption value. See PREMIUM(3).

put bond. A bond that gives the holder the right to redeem it for full value at specified times before maturity. — Also termed multimaturity bond; option tender bond. Cf. put option under OPTION.

railroad-aid bond. A bond issued by a public body to fund railway construction.

redeemable bond. A bond that the issuer may call for payment. — Also termed callable bond.

re-funding bond. A bond that retires an outstanding bond. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 913. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 1651, 1653.]

registered bond. A bond that only the holder of record may redeem, enjoy benefits from, or transfer to another. Cf. bearer bond. [Cases: Bonds 74, 86.]

reorganization bond. See adjustment bond.

revenue bond. A government bond repayable from public funds. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 950(15).]

savings bond. A nontransferable bond issued by the U.S. government. [Cases: United States 91. C.J.S. United States §§ 164, 167.]

school bond. A bond issued by a city or school district to fund school construction.

secured bond. A bond backed by some type of security. Cf. DEBENTURE(2). [Cases: Schools

97. C.J.S. Schools and School Districts §§ 522–524, 527–529.]

serial bond.A bond issued concurrently with other bonds having different maturity dates.

series bonds.A group of bonds issued under the authority of the same indenture, but offered publicly at different times and with different maturity dates and interest rates.

single bond.See bill obligatory under BILL(7).

sinking-fund bond.A bond backed by a sinking fund for bond redemption. See sinking fund under FUND(1). [Cases: Municipal Corporations 951. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 1704–1705.]

special-tax bond.A municipal bond secured by taxes levied for a specific governmental purpose, usu. improvements. — Also termed special-assessment bond. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 950. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 1708–1709.]

state bond.A bond issued by a state. [Cases: States 147.]

statutory bond.A bond given in accordance with a statute. [Cases: Bonds 31, 50. C.J.S. Bonds §§ 21–23, 28, 32, 34, 39.]

subordinated bond.See junior bond.

tax-exempt bond.A bond that pays tax-free interest. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3132.10; Taxation 992. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 94, 98; Taxation § 1723.]

term bond.A bond that matures concurrently with other bonds in that issue.

Treasury bond.See TREASURY BOND.

unsecured bond.See DEBENTURE(3).

voluntary bond.A bond not required by statute but given anyway. — Also termed nonstatutory bond.

Z-bond. See accrual bond.

zero-coupon bond.A bond paying no interest. • It is sold at a discount price and later redeemed at face value, the profit being the difference. — Also termed passive bond. See zero-coupon security under SECURITY.

bond,vb.1. To secure payment by providing a bond <at the creditor's insistence, Gabriel consolidated and bonded his various loans>.2. To provide a bond for (a person) <the company bonded its off-site workers>.

BOND AND MORTGAGE

bond and mortgage.See BOND(3).

BOND CONVERSION

bond conversion.The exchange of a convertible bond for another asset, usu. stock.

BOND COUPON

bond coupon. The part of a coupon bond that is clipped by the holder and surrendered to obtain an interest payment. See coupon bond under BOND(3).

BOND COVENANT

bond covenant. A bond-indenture provision that protects bondholders by specifying what the issuer may or may not do, as by prohibiting the issuer from issuing more debt. See BOND INDENTURE(1).

BOND CREDITOR

bond creditor. See CREDITOR.

BOND DISCOUNT

bond discount. See DISCOUNT(3).

BOND DIVIDEND

bond dividend. See DIVIDEND.

BONDED

bonded, adj. (Of a person or entity) acting under, or placed under, a bond .

BONDED DEBT

bonded debt. See DEBT.

BONDED WAREHOUSE

bonded warehouse. See WAREHOUSE.

BOND FOR A DEED

bond for a deed. See bond for land under BOND(2).

BOND FOR DEED

bond for deed. 1. CONVEYANCE(6). 2. BOND FOR TITLE.

BOND FOR LAND

bond for land. See BOND(2).

BOND FOR TITLE

bond for title. Real estate. The seller's retention of legal title until the buyer pays the purchase price. — Also termed bond for deed. Cf. contract for deed under CONTRACT. [Cases: Vendor and Purchaser 27. C.J.S. Vendor and Purchaser § 22.]

BOND FUND

bond fund. See MUTUAL FUND.

BONDHOLDER

bondholder. One who holds a government or business bond.

BOND INDENTURE

bond indenture. 1. A contract between a bond issuer and a bondholder outlining a bond's face value, interest rate, maturity date, and other features. 2. A mortgage held on specified corporate property to secure payment of the bond.

BONDING COMPANY

bonding company. See COMPANY.

BOND ISSUE

bond issue. See ISSUE(2).

BONDMAN

bondman. See BONDSMAN(2).

BOND OF CORROBORATION

bond of corroboration. See BOND(2).

BOND PREMIUM

bond premium. See PREMIUM(3).

BOND RATING

bond rating. A system of evaluating and appraising the investment value of a bond issue.

BOND RETIREMENT

bond retirement. The cancellation of a bond that has been called or paid.

BONDSMAN

bondsman. 1. One who guarantees a bond; a surety. 2. A serf or peasant; VILLEIN. — Also termed (in sense 2) bondman.

BOND TABLE

bond table. A schedule used in determining a bond's current value by its coupon rate, its time to maturity, and its effective yield if held to maturity.

BOND TRUST

bond trust. See TRUST.

BONES GENTS

bones gents (bohn jents). [Law French “good men”] Hist. Qualified or competent persons; esp., men qualified to serve on a jury.

BONIFICATION

bonification (bahn-<<schwa>>-fi-kay-sh<<schwa>>n). A tax remission, usu. on goods intended for export. • Bonification enables a commodity to be sold in a foreign market as if it had not been taxed.

BONI HOMINES

boni homines (boh-nIhom-<<schwa>>-neez). [Law Latin “good men”] Hist. Free tenants who judged each other in their lord's court.

“[W]e may find traces of juries in the laws of all those nations which adopted the feudal system, as in Germany, France, and Italy; who had all of them a tribunal composed of twelve good men and true, ‘boni homines’...” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 349 (1768).

BONIS CEDERE

bonis cedere (boh-nis see-d*<<schwa>>-ree*). [Latin “to cede one's goods”] Civil law. A transfer or surrender of property, usu. from a debtor to a creditor.

BONIS NON AMOVENDIS

bonis non amovendis. See DE BONIS NON AMOVENDIS.

BONITARIAN

bonitarian (bahn-<<schwa>>-tair-ee-in), adj. Roman law. 1. Equitable or beneficial. — Also termed bonitary. Cf. QUIRITARIAN. 2. Hist. Pertaining to or designating a property interest governed by praetorian edict rather than civil law. See edictum praetoris under EDICTUM.

BONITARY

bonitary (bahn-<<schwa>>-tair-ee), adj. BONITARIAN(1).

BONITARY OWNERSHIP

bonitary ownership. See OWNERSHIP.

BONO ET MALO

bono et malo (boh-noh et mal-oh). See DE BONO ET MALO.

BONORUM POSSESSIO CONTRA TABULAS

bonorum possessio contra tabulas (b*<<schwa>>-nor<<schwa>>m* p*<<schwa>>-zes[h]-ee-oh kahn-tr<<schwa>> tab-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>s*). [Latin “possession of goods contrary to the terms of the will”] Roman law. An order authorizing the applicant to take possession of an estate contrary to the testament. • Magistrates made such orders in certain cases, as where a testator passed over a daughter or an emancipated son who was not expressly disinherited. The legacies in the will remained valid, but if the testator passed over any male in the testator's power (patria potestas), the will was invalidated and intestacy resulted. — Also termed contra tabulas.

“The Praetor could not affect the civil validity of a will; he could not make or unmake a heres. He could, however, give bonorum possessio to a person, heres or not at civil law, which gave him power to take possession of the goods by appropriate steps, bonorum possessio contra tabulas...” W.W. Buckland, A Text-Book of Roman Law from Augustus to Justinian 324 (Peter Stein ed., 3d ed. 1963).

BONUM FACTUM

bonum factum (boh-n<<schwa>>m fak-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin] A good or proper act or deed. — Abbr. b.f. — Also termed bene factum.

BONUS

bonus. 1. A premium paid in addition to what is due or expected <year-end bonus>. • In the employment context, workers' bonuses are not a gift or gratuity; they are paid for services or on consideration in addition to or in excess of the compensation that would ordinarily be given. 2.BOUNTY(3).3.Oil & gas. A payment that is made in addition to royalties and rent as an incentive for a lessor to sign an oil-and-gas lease <the lessee received a large bonus at closing>. [Cases: Mines and Minerals 79.1(2). C.J.S. Mines and Minerals §§ 289, 291–293.]

“The amount of bonus paid, usually referred to as a per acre amount, may fluctuate widely between properties. The amount paid depends upon the nature of the development activity in the vicinity. If the land is located in a semi-proven area, or in a logical extension of a proven field, the bonus paid may be substantial.” Richard W. Hemingway, The Law of Oil and Gas § 2.5, at 57 (3d ed. 1991).

performance bonus. A bonus given as a reward for outstanding productivity.

BONUS SHARE

bonus share. See bonus stock under STOCK.

BONUS STOCK

bonus stock. See STOCK.

BONUS ZONING

bonus zoning. See incentive zoning under ZONING.

BOODLE

boodle. Slang. Money paid as a bribe, usu. to a public official.

BOODLING

boodling.Hist. Slang. Bribery. — boodle,vb.

BOOK

book,vb.1. To record in a book (as a sale or accounting item) <Jenkins booked three sales that day>.2. To record the name of (a person arrested) in a sequential list of police arrests, with details of the person's identity (usu. including a photograph and a fingerprint), particulars about the alleged offense, and the name of the arresting officer <the defendant was booked immediately after arrest>.3. To engage (someone) contractually as a performer or guest <although the group was booked for two full performances, the lead singer, Raven, canceled and this action ensued>. See BOOKING CONTRACT .

BOOK ACCOUNT

book account.See ACCOUNT.

BOOK ENTRY

book entry. 1. A notation made in an accounting journal. 2. The method of reflecting ownership of publicly traded securities whereby a customer of a brokerage firm receives confirmations of transactions and monthly statements, but not stock certificates. See CENTRAL CLEARING SYSTEM. [Cases: Brokers 23, 26. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 65, 67–69.]

BOOK-ENTRY BOND

book-entry bond.See BOND(3).

BOOK EQUITY

book equity.The percentage of a corporation's book value allocated to a particular class of stock. Cf. BOOK VALUE; MARKET EQUITY.

BOOKIE

bookie. See BOOKMAKER.

BOOKING CONTRACT

booking contract.An agreement by which an actor or other performer is engaged.

BOOKKEEPING

bookkeeping,n. The mechanical recording of debits and credits or the summarizing of financial information, usu. about a business enterprise. Cf. ACCOUNTING.

double-entry bookkeeping.A method of bookkeeping in which every transaction recorded by a business involves one or more “debit” entries and one or more “credit” entries. • The debit entries must equal the credit entries for each transaction recorded.

single-entry bookkeeping.A method of bookkeeping in which each transaction is recorded in a single record, such as a record of cash or credit accounts.

BOOKLAND

bookland (buuk-land).Hist. Land held under charter or deed; freehold land. • This was a privileged form of ownership (usu. free of the customary burdens on land) generally reserved for churches and leaders. — Also spelled bocland; bockland. — Also termed charter-land. Cf. LOANLAND; FOLKLAND.

“Charter-land is such as a man holds by charter, that is, by evidence in writing, which otherwise is called freehold.... [T]his land was held with more easy and commodious conditions, than folkland and copy-hold land held without writing; ... it is a free and absolute inheritance; whereas land without writing is charged with payment and bondage; so that for the most part noblemen and persons of quality possess the former, and rustics the other. The first we call freehold and by charter: the other, land at the will of the lord.” Termes de la Ley 80 (1st. Am. ed. 1812).

“From very early times it was common to make grants of land to religious bodies or to individuals. The grants were effected by the king as the chief of the community, with the consent of the great men, who in conjunction with the great ecclesiastics, after the introduction of Christianity, formed the Witenagemot, or Assembly of the Wise. The grant was made by means of a ‘book’ or charter. Land thus granted was said to be ‘booked’ to the grantee, and was called bocland or bookland. Thus bookland comes to mean land held under a written instrument by private persons or churches; who or whose predecessors are, or at least are supposed to have been, grantees of the community. The practice seems, after the introduction of Christianity, to have prevailed chiefly in favour of religious houses, and in this way the great ecclesiastical corporations acquired their property.... In process of time the conception of bookland seems to be coextensive with that of alodial land.” Kenelm E. Digby, An Introduction to the History of the Law of Real Property 11–12 (5th ed. 1897).

“Prior to the Conquest, property in land was divided into bocland, folcland, and laenland. The exact nature of these rights has been disputed, but probably bocland was held by owners of high station claiming under a charter of privileges originally granted by the King, while folcland was held by ordinary owners according to the custom of the district in which the land lay. Laenland, or loanland, appears to have represented something in the nature of a tenancy of a less enduring character. It derived its existence from the loan of land by one person to another, and hence emphasises the relation later known as that of feudal landlord and tenant. Furthermore, as bocland became more common, a tendency for laenland and bocland to coalesce appeared.” A.K.R. Kiralfy, Potter's Outlines of English Legal History 195 (5th ed. 1958).

BOOKMAKER

bookmaker. A person who determines odds and receives bets on the outcome of events, esp. sports events. See BOOKMAKING.

BOOKMAKING

bookmaking. Gambling that entails the taking and recording of bets on an event, such as a horse race. [Cases: Gaming 73.]

BOOK OF ORIGINAL ENTRY

book of original entry. A day-to-day record in which a business's transactions are first recorded.

BOOKS OF ACCOUNT

books of account. See SHOP BOOKS.

BOOKS OF ADJOURNAL

Books of Adjournal. Scots law. The records of the High Court of Justiciary.

BOOKS OF SEDERUNT

Books of Sederunt. Scots law. The records of the Court of Session.

BOOK VALUE

book value. The value at which an asset is carried on a balance sheet. Cf. BOOK EQUITY . adjusted book value. Inventory value adjusted to reflect the inventory's current actual value.

BOOK-VALUE STOCK

book-value stock. See STOCK.

BOOMAGE

boomage. 1. A fee charged by a company for collecting and distributing logs that have accumulated in its boom (i.e., a line of sawed logs collected and stored on a stream's surface). [Cases: Logs and Logging 14.] 2. A right to enter on riparian lands to fasten booms. 3. An anchorage fee charged by a canal proprietor. [Cases: Canals 27. C.J.S. Canals § 33.]

BOON

boon, n. Hist. Unpaid services, rendered in kind or labor, without being fixed in amount or time, that some tenants owed to the landowner as a condition of tenancy.

BOON DAY

boon day. (usu. pl.) Hist. One of several days in the year when copyhold tenants were obliged to perform base services for the lord (such as reaping corn) without pay. — Also termed due day. — Sometimes (erroneously) termed bind day.

BOOT

boot, n. 1. Tax. Supplemental money or property subject to tax in an otherwise tax-free exchange. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3679. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 406–407.] 2. Corporations. In a corporate reorganization, anything received other than the stock or securities of a controlled corporation. 3. Commercial law. Cash or other consideration used to balance an otherwise unequal exchange. 4. Hist. ESTOVERS(1).

BOOT CAMP

boot camp. 1. A camp for basic training of Navy or Marine Corps recruits. 2. A military-like facility esp. for juvenile offenders. • Boot camps are specialized programs for offenders who are generally nonviolent males from 17 to 25 years old. While proponents applaud the success of these programs, others find their long-term success limited at best. See shock incarceration under INCARCERATION.

BOOTHAGE

boothage (boo-thij). See BOTHAGIUM.

BOOTLEG

bootleg,vb. Copyright. To make, distribute, or traffic in unauthorized sound recordings or music videos of live, broadcast, or recorded performances that have not been commercially released by the copyright owner. • The term strictly applies only to unauthorized copies of commercially unreleased performances. Dowling v. United States, 473 U.S. 207, 209 n.2, 105 S.Ct. 3127, 3129 n.2 (1985) (Blackmun, J.). Cf. PIRACY(3). — bootleg, bootlegged,adj.

BOOTLEG COPY

bootleg copy. Copyright. See BOOTLEG RECORDING(1).

BOOTLEGGER

bootlegger,n. A person who manufactures, transports, or sells something illegally, esp. alcoholic beverages. See MOONSHINE. [Cases: Intoxicating Liquors 137, 138, 146. C.J.S. Intoxicating Liquors §§ 242–243, 248, 264–265, 268–270.]

BOOTLEG RECORDING

bootleg recording,n. Copyright. 1. An unauthorized fixation or copy of a live or broadcast performance in a tangible medium or digital duplication made available over the Internet. — Also termed bootleg copy; underground recording; import recording. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 67.2. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property § 58.] 2. See PIRATE RECORDING.3.COUNTERFEIT RECORDING.

BOOTSTRAP

bootstrap,vb.1. To succeed despite sparse resources. 2. To reach an unsupported conclusion from questionable premises.

BOOTSTRAP DOCTRINE

bootstrap doctrine.Conflict of laws. The doctrine that forecloses collateral attack on the jurisdiction of another state's court that has rendered final judgment. • The doctrine applies when a court in an earlier case has taken jurisdiction over a person, over status, or over land. It is based on the principle that under res judicata, the parties are bound by the judgment, whether the issue was the court's jurisdiction or something else. The bootstrap doctrine, however, cannot give effectiveness to a judgment by a court that had no subject-matter jurisdiction. For example, parties cannot, by appearing before a state court, “bootstrap” that court into having jurisdiction over a federal matter. [Cases: Judgment 818. C.J.S. Judgments § 986.]

“If the court which rendered the judgment has, with the parties before it, expressly passed upon the jurisdictional question in the case, or had opportunity to do so because the parties could have raised the question, that question is res judicata, and is therefore not subject to collateral attack in the state in which the judgment is sued on. This has been called the ‘bootstrap doctrine,’ the idea being that a court which initially had no jurisdiction can when the issue is litigated lift itself into jurisdiction by its own incorrect but conclusive finding that it does have jurisdiction.” Robert A. Leflar, American Conflicts Law § 79, at 159 (3d ed. 1977).

BOOTSTRAP SALE

bootstrap sale. See SALE.

BOOTY

booty. 1. Int'l law. Movable taken from the enemy as spoils in the course of warlike operations. — Also termed spoils of war. 2. Property taken by force or piracy; prize or loot.

BOP

BOP. abbr. BUREAU OF PRISONS.

BORDAGE

bordage (bor-dij). Hist. A type of tenure in which a tenant holds a cottage and a few acres in exchange for providing customary services to the lord. — Also termed bordagium.

BORDAR

bordar (bor-d<<schwa>>r). Hist. A bordage tenant. • The status of such a tenant was less servile than that of a villein tenant. See BORDAGE; VILLEINAGE. — Also termed bordarius (pl. bordarii).

BORDER

border. A boundary between one nation (or a political subdivision) and another.

BORDER AND TRANSPORTATION SECURITY DIRECTORATE

Border and Transportation Security Directorate. The division of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security responsible for maintaining the safety of the nation's borders and transportation systems. • The Directorate includes the Transportation Security Administration, the U.S. Customs Service, the border security functions of the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Service, the Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service, and the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center. It is the Department's largest division. — Abbr. BTS.

BORDER CONTROL

border control.Int'l law. A country's physical manifestation of its territorial sovereignty, by which it regulates which people and goods may enter and leave. • As a practical matter, border controls are often used to contain plant and animal diseases, fight terrorism, and detect the movement of criminals.

BORDEREAU

bordereau (bor-d<<schwa>>-roh), n.1. A description of reinsured risks; esp., a periodic report provided by a cedent to a treaty reinsurer, consisting of basic information affecting the reinsurance treaty, such as the underlying insureds, the types of risks covered, policies, and dates of loss. See REINSURANCE TREATY. 2. A detailed note of account. Pl. bordereaux. — bordereau,vb.

BORDER SEARCH

border search.See SEARCH.

BORDER WARRANT

border warrant.See WARRANT(1).

BORD-HALFPENNY

bord-halfpenny (bord-hay-p<<schwa>>-nee). See BOTHAGIUM.

BORLANDS

bordlands.Hist. Land used by the nobility to produce food. • Bordlands remained under the nobility's direct control or were given to tenants who produced provisions for the landowner. Cf. BORDAGE.

BORG

borg (borg), n. Hist. Scots law. 1. A thing deposited as a security, esp. for bail or a suretyship. 2. A surety. — Also spelled borgh; borh.

BORGH

borgh.1.BORG. 2.BORROW.

BORH

borh.1.BORG. 2.BORROW.

BORK

bork (bork), vb. Slang. 1. (Of the U.S. Senate) to reject a nominee, esp. for the U.S. Supreme Court, on grounds of the nominee's unorthodox political and legal philosophy. • The term derives from the name of Robert Bork, President Ronald Reagan's unsuccessful nominee for the Supreme Court in 1987. 2. (Of political and legal activists) to embark on a media campaign to pressure U.S. senators into rejecting a President's nominee. 3. Generally, to smear a political opponent.

BORN-ALIVE TEST

born-alive test. 1. Under the common law, a showing that an infant was completely expelled from the mother's womb and possessed a separate and independent existence from the mother. 2. A showing that an infant, at the time of birth, was capable of living a separate and independent existence (regardless of how long the infant actually lived).

BORN VALID

born valid.Patents. Presumed to be good; entitled to the legal presumption that a patent was justified when issued and that challengers bear the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that the patent should not have been granted. • Defenses against infringement claims take one of three tacks: denying that the product infringes on the plaintiff's rights, challenging the validity of the patent itself, or challenging its enforceability. — Also termed presumption of validity. [Cases: Patents 112.1. C.J.S. Patents §§ 194, 203–205, 207.]

“The patent statute is unambiguous: ‘A patent shall be presumed valid The burden of establishing invalidity of a patent or any claim thereof shall rest on the party asserting such invalidity.’ A patent is born valid. It remains valid until a challenger proves it was stillborn or had birth defects, or is no longer viable as an enforceable right.” Roper Corp. v. Litton Sys., Inc., 757 F.2d 1266, 1270 (Fed. Cir. 1985)(quoting 37 USCA § 282).

BOROUGH

borough (b<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>), n.1. A town or township with a municipal charter, such as one of the five political divisions of New York City. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 6. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations § 12.] 2.English law. A chartered town that originally sent a member to Parliament. 3.Hist. A fortified or important town. — Also spelled burgh.

BOROUGH COURT

borough court.English law. An inferior civil court of record, usu. presided over by the municipal recorder. • Most borough courts were abolished by Parliament in 1972. Cf. BOROUGH SESSIONS; RECORDER(1).

BOROUGH ENGLISH

borough English.Hist. A common-law rule of descent whereby the youngest son (or sometimes the youngest daughter or collateral heir) inherited all his father's lands. • If the landowner had no issue, his youngest brother inherited the land. This practice applied to socage tenures in some parts of England. It was abolished by statute in 1925. — Also termed postremogeniture; ultimogeniture; burgh English; burgh Engloys. See PRIMOGENITURE.

BOROUGH FUND

borough fund.English law. The revenue generated by a municipal borough.

BOROUGH-HOLDER

borough-holder. See BORSHOLDER.

BOROUGH REEVE

borough reeve. See REEVE.

BOROUGH SESSIONS

borough sessions. Criminal court sessions held before a municipal recorder. Cf. BOROUGH COURTS; RECORDER(1).

BORROW

borrow, n. A frankpledge. — Also spelled borgh; borh. See DECENARY; FRANKPLEDGE.

borrow, vb. 1. To take something for temporary use. 2. To receive money with the understanding or agreement that it must be repaid, usu. with interest. See LOAN. [Cases: Contracts 194.]

BORROWED CAPITAL

borrowed capital. Funds lent to a corporation or other entity to finance its operations, such as cash dividends that are declared by a corporation but temporarily retained (with stockholder approval) to provide operating funds. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4133; Taxation 378. C.J.S. Taxation § 550.]

BORROWED EMPLOYEE

borrowed employee. See EMPLOYEE.

BORROWED SERVANT

borrowed servant. See borrowed employee under EMPLOYEE.

BORROWED-STATUTES DOCTRINE

borrowed-statutes doctrine. The principle that if one state adopts a statute identical to that of another state, any settled judicial construction of that statute by the courts of the other state is binding on the courts of the state that later enacts the statute. [Cases: Courts 95(2); Statutes 226. C.J.S. Courts § 157; Statutes §§ 358–361.]

BORROWER

borrower. A person or entity to whom money or something else is lent.

BORROWHEAD

borrowhead. See BORSHOLDER.

BORROWING STATUTE

borrowing statute. A legislative exception to the conflict-of-laws rule holding that a forum state must apply its own statute of limitations. • A borrowing statute specifies the circumstances in which a forum state will apply another state's statute of limitations. [Cases: Limitation of Actions 2. C.J.S. Limitations of Actions § 26.]

BORSHOLDER

borsholder (bors-hohl-d<<schwa>>r).Hist. 1. The chief of a tithing or frankpledge. 2. A petty constable. — Also termed borough-holder; borrowhead; headborough.

BOSTON INTEREST

Boston interest.See INTEREST(3).

BOTE

bote (boht).Hist. 1. A compensation or profit; esp., an allowance of wood; ESTOVER(1). — Also spelled bot; boot.

cartbote. See plowbote.

firebote. See housebote.

haybote. See HAYBOTE.

hedgebote. See HAYBOTE.

housebote. An allowance of wood from the estate used to repair a house or to burn in the fireplace. — Also termed firebote.

plowbote. An allowance of wood for the construction and repair of farm equipment. — Also termed cartbote.

wainbote. An allowance of wood for the repair of wagons.

2. A compensatory payment for causing an injury. Cf. BOTELESS.“Bot (relief, remedy, compensation) was set at a certain number of shillings in case of wounding, a higher number if the wound injured not only flesh but also bone; indemnity had to be higher if the bone was broken. And so it went with other injuries.” Charles Herman Kinnane, A First Book on Anglo-American Law 215 (2d ed. 1952).

Godbote. A church fine paid for offenses against God.

hadbote.Hist. Amends for an affront to or violence against a person in holy orders. — Also spelled had-bot.

kinbote. See manbote.

maegbote (mag-boht). Bote paid to the relatives of an injured person.

manbote. Compensation for killing someone. — Also termed kinbote.

theftbote. The acceptance of a payment from a thief in exchange for an agreement not to prosecute; COMPOUNDING A CRIME. • The payment might be either a bribe or a return of the stolen goods themselves. This was a form of compounding a felony.

“Another offence of this class is theftbote or composition with a thief by which the person robbed takes his goods again and by contract suppresses the robbery and defrauds justice. This crime is punishable by fine and imprisonment.” 1 Sir Robert Chambers, A Course of Lectures on the English Law: 1767–1773 448 (Thomas M. Curley ed., 1986).

3. A tenant's right to use as much wood from the estate as necessary for fuel, fences, and other agricultural operations. • Bote in this sense is an earlier form of estovers. 4. The repair of bridges, highways, and public works. 5. An assessment levied to fund such repairs.

BOTELESS

boteless (boht-l<<schwa>>s), adj.1.Hist. Of or relating to an offense that cannot be expiated or otherwise remedied by the payment of a fine, the offender being required to suffer loss of liberty or life. • Boteless offenses appeared in Anglo-Saxon Britain about A.D. 700. They appear to have involved treason or violence against the king. 2.Hist. Without relief or remedy; without the privilege of making satisfaction for a crime by pecuniary payment. • The modern word bootless is derived from this term. Cf. BOTE(2).

“In the laws of Ine it appeared possible, in the discretion of the kind, to put certain offenders to death, rather than let them save themselves by paying a money fine. This involved a step in the modern direction, as far as criminal law is concerned. The ‘boteless’ offense, that is, the offense which can not be fully expiated by the payment of a money fine so that the guilty person must suffer loss of liberty or life is so familiar to us that we take it as a matter of course; it seems, however, to have first appeared in Anglo-Saxon Britain about the year A.D. 700. In general, these ‘boteless’ offenses seem to have appeared in connection with matter that we would say now involved treason or violence offered to the king.” Charles Herman Kinnane, A First Book on Anglo-American Law 216–17 (2d ed. 1952).

BOTHAGIUM

bothagium (bah-thay-jee-<<schwa>>m).Hist. Customary dues paid to a lord for placing a booth in a fair or market. — Also termed bord-halfpenny; boothage.

BOTILER OF THE KING

botiler of the king.Hist. An officer who provided the king's wines. • By virtue of office, the botiler could choose two casks from every wine-laden ship. The modern word butler is derived from botiler.

BOTTOMAGE BOND

bottomage bond.See bottomry bond under BOND(2).

BOTTOM-HOLE AGREEMENT

bottom-hole agreement.Oil & gas. A support agreement in which the contributing party agrees to make a cash contribution to the drilling party in exchange for geological or drilling information if the well is drilled to the agreed depth. See SUPPORT AGREEMENT. [Cases: Mines and Minerals 79.2. C.J.S. Mines and Minerals § 296.]

BOTTOMLAND

bottomland. Low-lying land, often located in a river's floodplain.

BOTTOMRY

bottomry.Maritime law. A contract by which a shipowner pledges the ship as security for a loan to finance a voyage (as to equip or repair the ship), the lender losing the money if the ship is lost during the voyage. • The term refers to the idea that the shipowner pledges the ship's bottom, or keel. Cf. RESPONDENTIA. [Cases: Shipping 88. C.J.S. Shipping § 221.]

BOTTOMRY BOND

bottomry bond.See BOND(2).

BOUGHT AND SOLD NOTES

bought and sold notes.Two memoranda prepared by a broker to record the sale of a note. • The broker sends the bought note to the purchaser, and sends the sold note to the seller.

BOUGHT NOTE

bought note.See NOTE(1).

BOULEVARD RULE

boulevard rule.The principle that the driver of a vehicle approaching a highway from a smaller road must stop and yield the right-of-way to all highway traffic. [Cases: Automobiles 171(5).]

BOULWARISM

boulwarism.Labor law. A bargaining tactic in which an employer researches the probable outcome of collective bargaining and uses the information to make a firm settlement offer to a union on a take-it-or-leave-it basis, so that there is no real negotiation. • Boulwarism is now considered to be an unfair labor practice by the National Labor Relations Board. The practice takes its name from Lemuel Boulware, vice president for employee relations at General Electric Company, who used the technique during the mid-20th century. [Cases: Labor Relations 389. C.J.S. Labor Relations §§ 153–154, 159–160, 391–395, 397.]

BOUNCED CHECK

bounced check.See bad check under CHECK.

BOUND

bound,adj.1. Constrained by a contractual or other obligation <they are bound to make the payments by the first of each month>.2. (Of a court) constrained to follow a precedent <bound by a Supreme Court decision>.

bound,n. (usu. pl.) 1.BOUNDARY <metes and bounds>.2. A limitation or restriction on action <within the bounds of the law>.

bound,vb. To delineate a property boundary <property bounded by the creek>. Cf. BIND.

BOUNDARY

boundary. 1. A natural or artificial separation that delineates the confines of real property <the creek serves as a boundary between the two properties>. See METES AND BOUNDS. [Cases: Boundaries 1–25. C.J.S. Boundaries §§ 2–63.]

“The object of all rules for the establishment of boundaries is to ascertain the actual location of the boundary as made at the time. The important and controlling consideration, where there is a conflict as to a boundary, is the parties' intention, whether express or shown by surrounding circumstances” 11 C.J.S. Boundaries § 3 (1995).

agreed boundary.A negotiated boundary by which adjacent landowners resolve uncertainties over the extent of their land. — Also termed boundary by agreement; boundary by acquiescence. See DOCTRINE OF PRACTICAL LOCATION.

land boundary.The limit of a landholding, usu. described by linear measurements of the borders, by points of the compass, or by stationary markers. See FORTY; LEGAL DESCRIPTION. [Cases: Boundaries 1–25. C.J.S. Boundaries §§ 2–63.]

lost boundary.A boundary whose markers have decayed, changed, or been removed or displaced in such a manner that the boundary's correct location can no longer be determined with confidence.

natural boundary.Any nonartificial thing (such as a river or ocean) that forms a boundary of a nation, a political subdivision, or a piece of property. — Also termed natural object. [Cases: Boundaries 4. C.J.S. Boundaries §§ 5–6.]

private boundary.An artificial boundary marker. [Cases: Boundaries 5. C.J.S. Boundaries §§ 3, 5, 7.]

public boundary.A natural formation that marks the beginning of a boundary line. — Also termed natural boundary. [Cases: Boundaries 4. C.J.S. Boundaries §§ 5–6.]

2.Int'l law. A line marking the limit of the territorial jurisdiction of a state or other entity having an international status. [Cases: International Law 5. C.J.S. International Law §§ 14–20.]

BOUNDARY BY ACQUIESCENCE

boundary by acquiescence.See agreed boundary under BOUNDARY.

BOUNDARY BY AGREEMENT

boundary by agreement.See agreed boundary under BOUNDARY.

BOUNDARY TRAFFIC

boundary traffic.The movement of persons or goods across an international boundary.

BOUND BAILIFF

bound bailiff.See BAILIFF.

BOUNDED TREE

bounded tree. A tree that marks a corner of a property's boundary.

BOUNDER

bounder. A visible mark that indicates a territorial limit in a land survey.

BOUNTY

bounty. 1. A premium or benefit offered or given, esp. by a government, to induce someone to take action or perform a service . 2. A gift, esp. in a will; generosity in giving <the court will distribute the testator's bounty equally>. 3. The portion of a salvage award exceeding what the salvor would be entitled to on the basis of quantum meruit. — Also termed gratuity; bonus.

BOUNTY HUNTER

bounty hunter. A person who for a fee pursues someone charged with or suspected of a crime; esp., a person hired by a bail-bond company to find and arrest a criminal defendant who has breached the bond agreement by failing to appear in court as ordered. — Also termed bail-enforcement agent.

BOUNTY LAND

bounty land. See LAND.

BOUNTY-LAND WARRANT

bounty-land warrant. Hist. A state- or federal-government-issued certificate affirming a veteran's eligibility to apply for ownership of a certain amount of public land. • A veteran had to apply for a bounty-land warrant; it was not automatically granted. When the application was approved, the veteran received notice that the warrant had been issued in the veteran's name and was on file in the General Land Office. The veteran could then sell or otherwise transfer the bounty-land warrant to anyone, even a nonveteran. The warrant holder acquired the right to redeem the warrant and apply for a land patent. The last statute authorizing the issue of bounty-land warrants was enacted in 1894, and the last warrants were issued in 1906.

BOURSE

bourse (buurs). [French] French law. An exchange; a stock exchange. — Also termed bourse de commerce.

BOUTIQUE

boutique (boo-teek). A small specialty business; esp., a small law firm specializing in one particular aspect of law practice .

BOVATA TERRAE

bovata terrae (boh-vay-t<<schwa>> ter-ee). [Law Latin] Hist. See OXGANG.

BOW-BEARER

bow-bearer.Hist. An officer responsible for apprehending trespassers and poachers in the king's forest.

BOX

box,vb. Hist. Eng. & Scots law.To file a paper with a court of law.

BOX DAY

box day.Hist. Scots law. One of the vacation days formerly appointed for filing papers in the Court of Session.

BOX-TOP LICENSE

box-top license.See shrink-wrap license under LICENSE.

BOYCOTT

boycott,n.1. An action designed to achieve the social or economic isolation of an adversary. • The term derives from Captain Charles C. Boycott, an English landowner in famine-plagued Ireland of the 1870s; because of his ruthless treatment of Irish tenant farmers, the Irish Land League ostracized him. 2. A concerted refusal to do business with a party to express disapproval of that party's practices. 3. A refusal to deal in one transaction in an effort to obtain terms desired in a second transaction. • Under the Sherman Antitrust Act, even peaceful persuasion of a person to refrain from dealing with another can amount to a boycott. See 15 USCA §§ 1–7. Cf. PICKETING; STRIKE. — boycott,vb.

consumer boycott.A boycott by consumers of products or services to show displeasure with the manufacturer, seller, or provider.

group boycott.Antitrust. 1.CONCERTED REFUSAL TO DEAL. 2. A type of secondary boycott by two or more competitors who refuse to do business with one firm unless it refrains from doing business with an actual or potential competitor of the boycotters. • A group boycott can violate the Sherman Act and is analyzed under either the per se rule or the rule of reason, depending on the nature of the boycott. See PER SE RULE; RULE OF REASON.

“Since early in this century, courts have interpreted Section 1 [of the Sherman Act] to limit the ability of competing firms to agree not to deal with or to isolate another firm. Unlike many cartels, where all competitors voluntarily join to fix prices (and share monopoly rewards), concerted refusals to deal usually involve a subset of all market participants who band together to gain market power by destroying or coercing their rivals. Such organized refusals to deal with a particular firm are usually given the pejorative label of ‘group boycotts.’ ” Ernest Gellhorn & William E. Kovacic, Antitrust Law and Economics in a Nutshell 204 (4th ed. 1994).

primary boycott.A boycott by union members who stop dealing with a former employer.

secondary boycott.A boycott of the customers or suppliers of a business so that they will withhold their patronage from that business. • For example, a group might boycott a manufacturer who advertises on a radio station that broadcasts messages considered objectionable by the group.

BOYKIN ACT

Boykin Act.Patents. Hist. A statute, passed after World War II, that extended the U.S. patenting deadlines for citizens of former enemy nations. • A similar measure, the Nolan Act, was passed after World War I.

BOYLE DEFENSE

Boyle defense.See GOVERNMENT-CONTRACTOR DEFENSE.

B.R

B.R.abbr.1. Bankruptcy Reporter. — Also abbreviated Bankr. Rep.2.Bancus Regis [Latin “King's Bench”].3.Bancus Reginae [Latin “Queen's Bench”]. • This abbreviation has been replaced by the English initials of these courts, K.B. and Q.B.

BRACERY

bracery.Hist. 1. The offense of selling pretended rights or title to land. • This practice was outlawed by statute of 32 Hen. 8, ch. 9. 2.EMBRACERY.

BRACKET CREEP

bracket creep.The process by which inflation or increased income pushes individuals into higher tax brackets.

BRACKET SYSTEM

bracket system.Tax law. A system for collecting a sales tax based on an index providing for a graduated payment depending on the purchase price of the item, the purpose being fourfold: (1) to avoid having the seller collect a tax less than one cent; (2) to avoid requiring the state to figure the exact amount of tax on each sale; (3) to allow the seller to have a ready means for fixing the tax to be collected; and (4) to allow the state to collect about the right amount of tax. • This system may be provided for either by statute or by administrative regulation. [Cases: Taxation 1338.1. C.J.S. Taxation § 2062.]

BRACTON

Bracton. The common title of one of the earliest books of English law, De Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliae (ca. 1250). • Henry of Bratton (also known as Bracton), a judge of the Court of King's Bench and of Assize, is credited with writing the work, though he may have merely revised an earlier version.

“Bracton's book is the crown and flower of English medieval jurisprudence.... Romanesque in form, English in substance — this perhaps is the best brief phrase that we can find for the outcome of his labours; but yet it is not very good. He had at his command and had diligently studied ... various parts of the Corpus Iuris Civilis, of the Decretum, and the Decretals, and he levied contributions from the canonist Tancred.... Bracton's debt — and therefore our debt — to the civilians is inestimably great. But for them, his book would have been impossible; but for them ... we should have missed not only the splendid plan, the orderly arrangement, the keen dilemmas, but also the sacerdotal spirit of the work. On the other hand, the main matter of his treatise is genuine English law laboriously collected out of the plea rolls of the king's court.... [H]is endeavor is to state the practice, the best and most approved practice, of the king's court, and of any desire to romanize the law we must absolutely acquit him." 1 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, The History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 206–09 (2d ed. 1898).

BRADY ACT

Brady Act. A federal law establishing a national system for quickly checking the background of a prospective handgun purchaser. • The formal name of the law is the Brady Handgun Violence Prevention Act. The U.S. Supreme Court held unconstitutional the law's interim provision, which required chief state law-enforcement officers (usu. sheriffs) to conduct background checks until the national system was in place. The act is named for James Brady, who, as a member of President Ronald Reagan's staff, was wounded by gunfire during an attempted presidential assassination in 1981. 18 USCA §§ 921–930.

BRADY<TT> MATERIAL

Brady material. Information or evidence that is favorable to a criminal defendant's case and that the prosecution has a duty to disclose. • The prosecution's withholding of such information violates the defendant's due-process rights. Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83, 83 S.Ct. 1194 (1963). See exculpatory evidence under EVIDENCE. Cf. JENCKS MATERIAL. [Cases: Constitutional Law 268(5); Criminal Law 700. C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 1053–1060; Criminal Law §§ 486, 490, 510, 1233, 1236.]

BRAIN DEATH

brain death. See DEATH.

BRAKE

brake. See DUKE OF EXETER'S DAUGHTER.

BRANCH

branch. 1. An offshoot, lateral extension, or division of an institution <the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of government>. 2. A line of familial descent stemming from a common ancestor <the Taylor branch of the Bradshaw family>. — Also termed stock.

BRAND

brand. Trademarks. A name or symbol used by a seller or manufacturer to identify goods or services and to distinguish them from competitors' goods or services; the term used colloquially in business and industry to refer to a corporate or product name, a business image, or a mark, regardless of whether it may legally qualify as a trademark. • Branding is an ancient practice, evidenced by individual names and marks found on bricks, pots, etc. In the Middle Ages, guilds granted their members the right to use a guild-identifying symbol as a mark of quality and for legal protection. — Also termed brand name.

private brand. An identification mark placed on goods made by someone else under license or other arrangement and marketed as one's own. • The seller of private-brand goods sponsors those goods in the market, becomes responsible for their quality, and has rights to prevent others from using the same mark.

BRAND ARCHITECTURE

brand architecture. Trademarks. The strategic analysis and development of optimal relationships among the multiple levels of a company and its brands, products, features, technology, or ingredient names. [Cases: Trade Regulation 5. C.J.S. Trade-Mark, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 5, 16.]

BRANDEIS BRIEF

Brandeis brief (bran-dīz). A brief, usu. an appellate brief, that makes use of social and economic studies in addition to legal principles and citations. • The brief is named after Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis, who as an advocate filed the most famous such brief in Muller v. Oregon, 208 U.S. 412, 28 S.Ct. 324 (1908), in which he persuaded the Court to uphold a statute setting a maximum ten-hour workday for women.

BRANDEIS RULES

Brandeis rules. See ASHWANDER RULES.

BRANDING

branding. 1. The act of marking cattle with a hot iron to identify their owner. [Cases: Animals 5. C.J.S. Animals § 15.] 2. Formerly, the punishment of marking an offender with a hot iron.

BRAND NAME

brand name. 1. BRAND. 2. TRADENAME.

BRANKS

branks (brangks). Hist. An instrument used to punish scolds, consisting of an iron framework that surrounded the head and entered the mouth to keep the offender's tongue depressed. — Also termed scolding bridle. See SCOLD. Cf. CASTIGATORY.

BRASSAGE

brassage (bras-ij). Hist. A government charge for the actual cost of coining metals. • Any profit is termed seigniorage. See SEIGNIORAGE(2).

BRAWL

brawl, n. 1. A noisy quarrel or fight. 2. The offense of engaging in such a quarrel or fight. • In most jurisdictions, the offense is a statutory civil misdemeanor. 3. Hist. Eccles. law. The offense of disturbing the peace of a consecrated building or area; specif., a disturbance, such as arguing, within the churchyard or church. • Until 1860, offenders faced trial in ecclesiastical courts. — Also termed brawling. — brawl, vb.

BREACH

breach,n. A violation or infraction of a law or obligation <breach of warranty> <breach of duty>. — breach,vb.

BREACH OF ARREST

breach of arrest.A military offense committed by an officer who, being under arrest in quarters, leaves those quarters without a superior officer's authorization. See arrest in quarters under ARREST.

BREACH OF CLOSE

breach of close.The unlawful or unauthorized entry on another person's land; a common-law trespass. — Also termed breaking a close. See CLOSE(1). [Cases: Trespass 10. C.J.S. Trespass §§ 13–15.]

BREACH OF CONTRACT

breach of contract.Violation of a contractual obligation by failing to perform one's own promise, by repudiating it, or by interfering with another party's performance. [Cases: Contracts 312, 315. C.J.S. Contracts § 561.]

“A breach may be one by non-performance, or by repudiation, or by both. Every breach gives rise to a claim for damages, and may give rise to other remedies. Even if the injured party sustains no pecuniary loss or is unable to show such loss with sufficient certainty, he has at least a claim for nominal damages. If a court chooses to ignore a trifling departure, there is no breach and no claim arises.” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 236 cmt. a (1979).

active breach of contract.Civil law. The negligent performance of a contractual obligation, to the point of acting outside the contract's terms. • Under Louisiana law before 1984, active breach of contract was contrasted with passive breach of contract, which was a failure to perform the obligations created by the contract. Unlike a passive breach, an active breach of contract could give rise to a claim in contract and in tort. The distinction was abolished in 1984. Cf. passive breach of contract. [Cases: Contracts 312. C.J.S. Contracts § 561.]

anticipatory breach.A breach of contract caused by a party's anticipatory repudiation, i.e., unequivocally indicating that the party will not perform when performance is due. • Under these circumstances, the nonbreaching party may elect to treat the repudiation as an immediate breach and sue for damages. — Also termed breach by anticipatory repudiation; constructive breach. See anticipatory repudiation under REPUDIATION. [Cases: Contracts 313. C.J.S. Contracts § 534.]

“A repudiation by one party may occur before the time for performance has arrived. Such a repudiation is called an anticipatory breach, and it gives the innocent party the option of treating the contract as terminated at once and suing for damages immediately if he chooses or, alternatively, of waiting until the time of performance has arrived, and then again calling on the other party to perform. Should he choose the latter course he runs the risk that the contract may possibly become frustrated in the interim, in which case he will have lost his right to damages.”

P.S. Atiyah, An Introduction to the Law of Contract 298 (3d ed. 1981).

constructive breach. See anticipatory breach.

continuing breach. A breach of contract that endures for a considerable time or is repeated at short intervals.

efficient breach. An intentional breach of contract and payment of damages by a party who would incur greater economic loss by performing under the contract. See EFFICIENT-BREACH THEORY.

immediate breach. A breach that entitles the nonbreaching party to sue for damages immediately.

material breach. A breach of contract that is significant enough to permit the aggrieved party to elect to treat the breach as total (rather than partial), thus excusing that party from further performance and affording it the right to sue for damages. [Cases: Contracts 317, 318. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 334, 450–455, 507, 541–544.]

“In determining whether a failure to render or to offer performance is material, the following circumstances are significant: (a) the extent to which the injured party will be deprived of the benefit which he reasonably expected; (b) the extent to which the injured party can be adequately compensated for the part of that benefit of which he will be deprived; (c) the extent to which the party failing to perform or to offer to perform will suffer forfeiture; (d) the likelihood that the party failing to perform or to offer to perform will cure his failure, taking account of all the circumstances including any reasonable assurances; (e) the extent to which the behavior of the party failing to perform or to offer to perform comports with standards of good faith and fair dealing.” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 241 (1979).

partial breach. A breach of contract that is less significant than a material breach and that gives the aggrieved party a right to damages, but does not excuse that party from performance; specif., a breach for which the injured party may substitute the remedial rights provided by law for only part of the existing contract rights. [Cases: Contracts 319. C.J.S. Contracts § 593.]

passive breach of contract. Civil law. A failure to perform the requirements of a contract. • Under Louisiana law up to 1984, passive breach of contract was contrasted with active breach of contract, which was negligence in performing a contractual obligation. While an active breach of contract could give rise to claims in contract and in tort, a passive breach of contract usu. did not give rise to a tort claim. Cf. active breach of contract. [Cases: Contracts 315. C.J.S. Contracts § 561.]

total breach. A breach of contract for which the remedial rights provided by law are substituted for all the existing contractual rights, or can be so substituted by the injured party; esp., a material breach that gives rise to a claim for damages based on the aggrieved party's remaining rights to performance under the contract. [Cases: Contracts 317. C.J.S. Contracts § 507.]

BREACH OF COVENANT

breach of covenant. The violation of an express or implied promise, usu. in a contract, either to do or not to do an act. See COVENANT. [Cases: Contracts 312. C.J.S. Contracts § 561.]

BREACH OF DUTY

breach of duty. The violation of a legal or moral obligation; the failure to act as the law obligates one to act; esp., a fiduciary's violation of an obligation owed to another. See NEGLIGENCE. [Cases: Negligence 250. C.J.S. Negligence § 59.]

BREACH OF PEACE

breach of peace. See BREACH OF THE PEACE.

BREACH OF PRISON

breach of prison. See PRISON BREACH.

BREACH OF PROMISE

breach of promise. The violation of one's word or undertaking, esp. a promise to marry. • Under English common law, an engagement to marry had the nature of a commercial contract, so if one party broke the engagement without justification, the innocent party was entitled to damages. See HEARTBALM STATUTE . [Cases: Breach of Marriage Promise 1–36. C.J.S. Breach of Marriage Promise §§ 2–21.]

BREACH OF THE PEACE

breach of the peace. The criminal offense of creating a public disturbance or engaging in disorderly conduct, particularly by making an unnecessary or distracting noise. — Also termed breach of peace; disturbing the peace; disturbance of the peace; public disturbance. See disorderly conduct under CONDUCT. [Cases: Breach of the Peace 1–14. C.J.S. Breach of the Peace §§ 2–13; Domestic Abuse and Violence §§ 3, 6.]

“A breach of the peace takes place when either an assault is committed on an individual or public alarm and excitement is caused. Mere annoyance or insult is not enough: thus at common law a householder could not give a man into custody for violently and persistently ringing his door-bell. It is the particular duty of a magistrate or police officer to preserve the peace unbroken; hence if he has reasonable cause to believe that a breach of the peace is imminent he may be justified in committing an assault or effecting an arrest.” R.F.V. Heuston, Salmond on the Law of Torts 131 (17th ed. 1977).

“The beginning of our criminal justice ... was concerned very largely with the problem of keeping the peace. Because of this fact all early indictments included some such phrase as ‘against the peace of the King’; and until recently statutory provisions for simplification, indictments in this country were thought to be incomplete without some such conclusion as ‘against the peace and dignity of the state.’ As a result of this history all indictable offenses are sometimes regarded as deeds which violate the public peace, and hence in a loose sense the term ‘breach of the peace’ is regarded as a synonym for crime.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 477 (3d ed. 1982).

BREACH OF TRUST

breach of trust. A trustee's violation of either the trust's terms or the trustee's general fiduciary obligations; the violation of a duty that equity imposes on a trustee, whether the violation was willful, fraudulent, negligent, or inadvertent. • A breach of trust subjects the trustee to removal and creates personal liability.

BREACH OF WARRANTY

breach of warranty. 1. A breach of an express or implied warranty relating to the title, quality, content, or condition of goods sold. UCC § 2-312. [Cases: Sales 284. C.J.S. Sales § 251.] 2. Insurance. WARRANTY(3).

BREAD ACTS

bread acts. Hist. Laws providing for the sustenance of persons kept in prison for debt. • These laws were formerly on the books in both England and the United States.

BREAD-AND-CHEESE ORDEAL

bread-and-cheese ordeal. See ordeal of the morsel under ORDEAL.

BREADTH OF A CLAIM

breadth of a claim. Patents. The scope or extent to which a patent claim excludes others from infringing activity.

BREAK

break, vb. 1. To violate or disobey (a law) <to break the law>. 2. To nullify (a will) by court proceeding <Samson, the disinherited son, successfully broke the will>. 3. To escape from (a place of confinement) without permission <break out of prison>. 4. To open (a door, gate, etc.) and step through illegally <he broke the close>.

BREAKAGE

breakage. 1. An allowance given by a manufacturer to a buyer for goods damaged during transit or storage. 2. Insignificant amounts of money retained by racetrack promoters from bets. • The retention of these small sums avoids the inconvenience of counting and paying out inconsequential winnings. [Cases: Gaming 9.]

BREAK A HOUSE

break a house. To violently and feloniously remove or sever any part of a house or its locks.

BREAKDOWN OF THE MARRIAGE

breakdown of the marriage. See IRRETRIEVABLE BREAKDOWN OF THE MARRIAGE.

BREAKING

breaking, n. Criminal law. In the law of burglary, the act of entering a building without permission. [Cases: Burglary 9(1). C.J.S. Burglary §§ 11–12, 14–16, 20.]

“[T]o constitute a breaking at common law, there had to be the creation of a breach or opening; a mere trespass at law was insufficient. If the occupant of the dwelling had created the opening, it was felt that he had not entitled himself to the protection of the law, as he had not properly secured his dwelling.... In the modern American criminal codes, only seldom is there a requirement of a breaking. This is not to suggest, however, that elimination of this requirement has left the ‘entry’ element unadorned, so that any type of entry will suffice. Rather, at least some of what was encompassed within the common law ‘breaking’ element is reflected by other terms describing what kind of entry is necessary. The most common statutory term is ‘unlawfully,’ but some jurisdictions use other language, such as ‘unauthorized,’ by ‘trespass,’ ‘without authority,’ ‘without consent,’ or ‘without privilege.’ ” Wayne R. LaFare & Austin W. Scott Jr., Criminal Law § 8.13, at 793–94 (2d ed. 1986).

BREAKING A CASE

breaking a case. 1. The voicing by one appellate judge to another judge on the same panel of a tentative view on how a case should be decided. • These informal expressions assist the judges in ascertaining how close they are to agreement. 2. The solving of a case by the police.

BREAKING A CLOSE

breaking a close. See BREACH OF CLOSE.

BREAKING AND ENTERING

breaking and entering. See BURGLARY(2).

BREAKING A PATENT

breaking a patent. The act of demonstrating that a patent is invalid or unenforceable because it was used unlawfully by the patentee (esp. in violation of antitrust laws), or improperly issued by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office because of fraud, the existence of prior art, or any other barrier to proper issuance. • Defendants in patent-infringement actions may overcome the infringement allegations by showing that the patent should not have been allowed in the first place (so it is invalid), or that the patentee has misused the patent (so the patent is unenforceable). [Cases: Patents 97. C.J.S. Patents §§ 135–138, 145, 178.]

BREAKING BULK

breaking bulk, n. 1. The act of dividing a large shipment into smaller units. 2. Larceny by a bailee, esp. a carrier, who opens containers, removes items from them, and converts the items to personal use. — Also termed breaking bale. [Cases: Larceny 15. C.J.S. Larceny §§ 30–32, 45–48.] — break bulk, vb.

BREAKING-BULK DOCTRINE

breaking-bulk doctrine. Hist. The rule that a bailee who had lawful possession of property delivered in bulk and wrongfully took the property committed larceny only if the bailee broke the container open and took part or all of the contents. • If the bailee wrongfully took the property without opening the container, the act was theft but not larceny. — Also termed breaking-bale doctrine.

BREAKING OF ENTAIL

breaking of entail.See BARRING OF ENTAIL.

BREAK-UP FEE

break-up fee.See TERMINATION FEE.

BREAST OF THE COURT

breast of the court.A judge's conscience, mind, or discretion. • This phrase is a loan translation (or calque) of the Latin phrase in pectore judicis. See IN PECTORE JUDICIS.

BREATHALYZER

Breathalyzer. A device used to measure the blood alcohol content of a person's breath, esp. when the police suspect that the person was driving while intoxicated. • Breathalyzer test results are admissible as evidence if the test was properly administered. — Also termed alcoholometer; drunkometer; intoxilyzer; intoximeter. See BLOOD ALCOHOL CONTENT. [Cases: Automobiles 411. C.J.S. Motor Vehicles §§ 1397–1411.] — breathalyze,vb.

BREATHING ROOM

breathing room.Slang. The postbankruptcy period during which a debtor may formulate a debt-repayment plan without harassment or interference by creditors. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3533.]

BREDWITE

bredwite (bred-w<<schwa>>t).Hist. A penalty for not complying with regulations relating to the weight or quantity of bread.

BREHON

brehon (bre-h<<schwa>>n).Hist. In Ireland, a judge.

BREHON LAW

Brehon law (bre-h<<schwa>>n law).Hist. The ancient system of law in Ireland at the time of its conquest by Henry II. • This law was formally abolished in 1366. — Sometimes spelled Brehon Law.

“[T]he Irish were governed by what they called the Brehon law, so stiled from the Irish name of judges, who were denominated Brehons. But king John in the twelfth year of his reign went into Ireland, and carried over with him many able sages of the law; and there by his letters patent, in right of the dominion of conquest, is said to have ordained and established that Ireland should be governed by the laws of England But to this ordinance many of the Irish were averse to conform, and still stuck to their Brehon law: so that both Henry the third and Edward the first were obliged to renew the injunction And yet, even in the reign of queen Elizabeth, the wild natives still kept and preserved their Brehon law” 1 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 100–01 (1765).

B REORGANIZATION

B reorganization. See REORGANIZATION(2).

BREPHOTROPHUS

brephotrophus (bre-fah-tr<<schwa>>-f<<schwa>>s). [Greek] Civil law. A person who manages institutions that receive and care for poor or abandoned children. • The word is Greek in origin (lit. meaning “one who feeds an infant”) and was used in late Roman law, but it first appeared in English in the 18th century. Pl. brephotrophi.

BRETHREN

brethren (breth-r<<schwa>>n), n. pl. Brothers, esp. those considered spiritual kin (such as male colleagues on a court) <my brethren argue in the dissent that my statutory interpretation is faulty>. • The use of this collegial term has naturally dwindled as more women have entered law and esp. into the judiciary. Cf. SISTREN.

BRETTS AND SCOTS, LAWS OF THE

Bretts and Scots, Laws of the. The customary laws used by the Celtic tribes of Scotland. • Edward I of England purported to abolish the laws in the early 14th century.

BREVE

breve (breev orbree-vee), n. [Law Latin] Hist. Writ. • The word brevis meant “short,” and brevia were short writs, unlike charters. Pl. brevia (bree-vee-<<schwa>>).

album breve (al-b<<schwa>>m breev orbree-vee). A blank writ; a writ with a blank or omission in it.

apertum breve (<<schwa>>-p<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>m breev orbree-vee). [Latin “open writ”] An open, unsealed writ. See patent writ under WRIT. Cf. CLAUSUM.

breve de bono et malo (breev orbree-vee dee boh-noh et mal-oh). See DE ODIO ET ATIA.

breve de conventionne (breev orbree-vee dee k<<schwa>>n-ven-shee-oh-nee). See WRIT OF COVENANT.

breve de cursu. See WRIT OF COURSE.

breve de recto (breev orbree-vee dee rek-toh). See DE RECTO.

breve de transgressionne super casum (breev orbree-vee dee trans-gres[h]-ee-oh-nee s[y]oo-p<<schwa>>r kay-s<<schwa>>m). See TRESPASS ON THE CASE.

breve innominatum (breev orbree-vee i-nom-<<schwa>>-nay-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “innominate writ”] A writ that recites a cause of action only in general terms.

breve magnum de recto (breev orbree-vee mag-n<<schwa>>m dee rek-toh). See DE RECTO PATENS.

breve nominatum. A writ in which the complaint particularly states the time, place, and demand.

breve perquirere (breev orbree-vee p<<schwa>>r-kwI-r<<schwa>>-ree). [Latin “to obtain a writ”] To purchase a writ or license of trial in the king's courts.

breve rebellionis. See COMMISSION OF REBELLION.

breve testatum (breev orbree-vee tes-tay-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “a witnessed writ”] A written memorandum used to memorialize the terms of a conveyance and investiture of land. • Witnesses to the conveyance did not sign the document, but their names were recorded. Brevia testata were introduced to reduce disputes concerning the terms of oral grants.

brevia amabilia (bree-vee-<<schwa>> am-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>-bil-ee-<< schwa>>). [Latin “writs with agreement”] Writs obtained with the agreement or consent of the opposing party in an action.

brevia anticipantia (bree-vee-<<schwa>> an-tis-<<schwa>>-pan-shee-<< schwa>>). [Latin “anticipatory writs”] Anticipatory or preventive writs. • Six were included in this category: writs of mesne; warrantia chartae; monstraverunt; audita querela; curia claudenda; and ne injuste vexes. See QUIA TIMET.

brevia formata (bree-vee-<<schwa>> for-may-t<<schwa>>). [Latin “writs of approved form”] Writs of established and approved form, issued as a matter of course. Cf. brevia magistralia.

brevia judicialia (bree-vee-<<schwa>> joo-dish-ee-ay-lee-<<schwa>>). [Latin “judicial writs”] Writs that issue during an action or afterward in aid of judgment. • A court issued such a writ after an original writ had issued out of Chancery. Cf. brevia originale.

brevia magistralia (bree-vee-<<schwa>> maj-i-stray-lee-<<schwa>>). [Latin “masters' writs”] Writs issued by the masters or clerks of chancery according to the circumstances of particular cases. • These writs, unlike some others, might be varied in accordance with the complainant's particular situation. Cf. brevia formata.

brevia originale (bree-vee-<<schwa>> <<schwa>>-rij-i-nay-lee). [Latin] Original writ. • This writ began a judicial action. Cf. brevia judicialia.

brevia selecta (bree-vee-<<schwa>> s<<schwa>>-lek-t<<schwa>>). [Latin “selected writs”] Choice or selected writs or processes. — Abbr. brev. sel.

BREVET

brevet (br<<schwa>>-vetorbrev-it). [French] 1. Military law. A commission promoting an officer to a higher rank, esp. during wartime, but without a corresponding pay increase. [Cases: Armed Services 8, 13.1(5). C.J.S. Armed Services § 26.] 2. French law. A privilege or warrant granted by the government to a private person, authorizing a special benefit or the exercise of an exclusive privilege. • For example, a brevet d'invention is a patent for an invention. 3.Patents. A patent. — Also termed (in sense 3) brevet d'invention.

BREVET OFFICER

brevet officer.See OFFICER(2).

BREVIA AMICABILIA

brevia amicabile.See BREVE.

BREVIA ANTICIPANTIA

brevia anticipantia.See BREVE.

BREVIA FORMATA

brevia formata.See BREVE.

BREVIA JUDICIALIA

brevia judicialia.See BREVE.

BREVIA MAGISTRALIA

brevia magistralia.See BREVE.

BREVIA ORIGINALE

brevia originale.See BREVE.

BREVIARIUM ALARICIANUM

Breviarium Alaricianum (bree-vee-air-ee-<<schwa>>m al-<<schwa>>-ri-kay-n-<<schwa>>m). [Latin] An abridgment (or breviary) of Roman law compiled by order of the Visigoth king Alaric II, published for the use of his Roman subjects in the year 506. • Revised versions were known as the Lex Romana Visigothorum. It was also termed the Breviarium Aniani after Alaric's chancellor, Anian, who edited and distributed the work. — Also termed Breviary of Alaric (bree-vee-er-ee <<schwa>>v al-<<schwa>>-rik).

“Though the Breviarium was later replaced by the Lex Visigothorum in the Visigothic kingdom, it continued in use in southern France and Lombardy, which had meantime passed under the dominion of the Franks. Its qualities made the Breviarium a book of high authority throughout the whole of western Europe during the Middle Ages and it was one of the main channels through which Roman law entered western European law prior to the Reception.” David M. Walker, The Oxford Companion to Law 151–52 (1980).

BREVIA SELECTA

brevia selecta.See BREVE.

BREVIATE

breviate (bree-vee-⟨schwa⟩t). [Latin] Hist. An abstract of a writing; esp., a short statement attached to a Parliamentary bill summarizing the contents of the bill.

BREVIA TESTATA

brevia testata (bree-vee-⟨schwa⟩ tes-tay-t⟨schwa⟩). [Latin] Hist. See breve testatum under BREVE.

BREVIBUS ET ROTULIS LIBERANDIS

brevibus et rotulis liberandis (bree-v⟨schwa⟩-b⟨schwa⟩s et roch-⟨schwa⟩-l⟨schwa⟩s lib-⟨schwa⟩r-an-dis). [Latin “breves and rolls to be freed”] Hist. A writ ordering a sheriff to turn over to a successor all paraphernalia of office.

BREVI MANU

brevi manu (bree-vIman-yoo), adv. [Latin “with a short hand”] Roman & civil law. 1. Directly; by the shortest route. 2. Without a legal warrant; on one's own authority. • In Roman law, the term referred to the contractual transfer (traditio) of ownership of an item to one who already had physical control of the item. See TRADITIO BREVI MANU; CONSTITUTUM POSSESSORIUM. In Scotland, this phrase usu. signified the performance of an act without the necessity of resorting to the courts.

“Thus, for example, it was anciently the practice in Scotland for an heritable proprietor, on his own authority, to poind his tenant's moveables for payment of his rent, without applying to any other judgeBrevi manu in the Roman law is usually applied to a kind of constructive delivery. A thing is said to be transferred by brevi manu tradition, when it has been previously in the buyer's possession on some other title, as pledge or loan.” William Bell, Bell's Dictionary and Digest of the Law of Scotland 134 (George Watson ed., 7th ed. 1890).

BREVITATIS CAUSA

brevitatis causa (brev-i-tay-tis kaw-z⟨schwa⟩). [Latin] Scots law. For the sake of brevity. • The phrase was inserted in legal documents to show that another document had been incorporated by reference but not fully quoted.

BREV. SEL.

brev. sel. See brevia selecta under BREVE.

BRIBE

bribe, n. A price, reward, gift, or favor bestowed or promised with a view to pervert the judgment of or influence the action of a person in a position of trust. Cf. BARRATRY(4).

“The core concept of a bribe is an inducement improperly influencing the performance of a public function meant to be gratuitously exercised.” John T. Noonan Jr., Bribes xi (1984).

BRIBEE

bribee. One who receives a bribe. — Also termed bribe-taker.

BRIBE-GIVER

bribe-giver. See BRIBER.

BRIBER

briber. One who offers a bribe. — Also termed bribe-giver.

BRIBERY

bribery,n. The corrupt payment, receipt, or solicitation of a private favor for official action. • Bribery is a felony in most jurisdictions. See Model Penal Code § 240.1. Cf. KICKBACK. [Cases: Bribery 1. C.J.S. Bribery §§ 2–3, 5–8, 10–11.] — bribe,vb.

“If money has been corruptly paid and corruptly received, for the purpose of influencing official action, do we have one crime of which two are guilty, or two different crimes? No uniform answer is possible under existing statutes. Under some of the provisions bribery is one offense and references to (1) giving or offering a bribe, or (2) to receiving or soliciting a bribe, are merely factual statements in regard to the guilt of one party or the other. Under another plan ‘bribery’ is employed as a generic term to cover two different offenses: (1) giving or offering a bribe, and (2) receiving or soliciting a bribe. A third plan uses the word ‘bribery’ to indicate the offense of the briber and ‘receiving a bribe’ for the other side of the transaction.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 537 (3d ed. 1982).

commercial bribery. 1. The knowing solicitation or acceptance of a benefit in exchange for violating an oath of fidelity, such as that owed by an employee, partner, trustee, or attorney. Model Penal Code § 224.8(1).2. A supposedly disinterested appraiser's acceptance of a benefit that influences the appraisal of goods or services. Model Penal Code § 224.8(2).3. Corrupt dealing with the agents or employees of prospective buyers to secure an advantage over business competitors.

BRIBE-TAKER

bribe-taker. See BRIBEE.

BRIBOUR

bribour (brI-b<<schwa>>r). [fr. French bribeur] Hist. A thief.

BRIDGE BANK

bridge bank.A national bank chartered to operate an insolvent bank for up to three years or until the bank is sold. [Cases: Banks and Banking 285–287, 505. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 576–578, 580–584, 586, 597–598, 673, 676–679, 682–687, 690–694, 696, 699–705, 708–717.]

BRIDGE LOAN

bridge loan.See LOAN.

BRIDGE THE GAP

bridge the gap. Trademarks. To capitalize on the goodwill associated with an existing trademark or tradename by using it or a similar mark on new lines of products or services, or on the same products or services in new marketing territories.

BRIEF

brief, n. 1. A written statement setting out the legal contentions of a party in litigation, esp. on appeal; a document prepared by counsel as the basis for arguing a case, consisting of legal and factual arguments and the authorities in support of them. — Also termed legal brief; brief of argument. [Cases: Appeal and Error 756; Criminal Law 1130; Federal Courts 712. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 607–608, 616–618; Criminal Law § 1688.]

amicus brief. A brief, usu. at the appellate level, prepared and filed by an amicus curiae with the court's permission. — Sometimes shortened to amicus.

Anders brief. See ANDERS BRIEF.

appeal brief. 1. See appellate brief. 2. Patents. A patent applicant's brief to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, arguing that the patent examiner was incorrect in rejecting the application. Cf. EXAMINER'S ANSWER.

appellate brief. A brief submitted to an appeals court; specif., a brief filed by a party to an appeal pending in a court exercising appellate jurisdiction. • The brief may be filed for an individual party or on behalf of two or more parties. — Also termed appeal brief.

“An appellate brief is a written argument in support of or in opposition to the order, decree, or judgment below.” Frederick Bernays Wiener, Briefing and Arguing Federal Appeals 37 (rev. ed. 1967).

Brandeis brief. See BRANDEIS BRIEF.

proof brief. A preliminary appellate brief to be reviewed by the clerk of the court for compliance with applicable rules. • Proof briefs are required by local rules of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit. A proof brief in full compliance will be accepted and filed. If not in compliance, it will be returned for corrections to be made, and a deadline will be set for refiling. After all proof briefs have been accepted in a case, a date is set for filing a final brief, which may be modified only to include joint-appendix references, repagination, or updated citations.

reply brief. A brief that responds to issues and arguments raised in the brief previously filed by one's opponent; esp., a movant's or appellant's brief filed to rebut a brief in opposition. See REBUTTAL(3). [Cases: Appeal and Error 762. C.J.S. Appeal and Error § 619.]

trial brief. Counsel's written submission, usu. just before trial, outlining the legal issues before the court and arguing one side's position. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 1951; Trial 18. C.J.S. Trial §§ 91–92.]

2. English law. A solicitor's document that abstracts the pleadings and facts to inform a barrister about the case. 3. ABSTRACT OF TITLE. 4. CASE NOTE. — brief, vb.

BRIEFING ATTORNEY

briefing attorney. See ATTORNEY.

BRIEF OF ARGUMENT

brief of argument. See BRIEF(1).

BRIEF OF TITLE

brief of title. See ABSTRACT OF TITLE.

BRIEF-WRITING

brief-writing. The art or practice of preparing legal briefs. — Also termed brief-making. — brief-writer, n.

BRIEVE

briefe. Hist. Scots law. A chancery writ ordering that a trial be held on the matters specified in the writ. • By the late 20th century, briefes were rarely used except in proceedings to appoint a curator for an incompetent person.

BRIEVE OF MORTANCESTRY

briefe of mortancestry. See MORT D'ANCESTOR.

BRIGANDAGE

brigandage (brig-<<schwa>>n-dij). Archaic. Plundering and banditry carried out by bands of robbers. • Piracy is sometimes called “maritime brigandage.”

BRIGBOTE

brigbote (brig-boht), n. Hist. An obligation, often extracted as a tax or a charge on land, to contribute to the cost of maintaining castles, walls, and bridges.

BRIGHT-LINE RULE

bright-line rule. A legal rule of decision that tends to resolve issues, esp. ambiguities, simply and straightforwardly, sometimes sacrificing equity for certainty.

BRING AN ACTION

bring an action. To sue; institute legal proceedings.

BRING TO BOOK

bring to book. To arrest and try (an offender) <the fugitives were brought to book and convicted>.

BRITISH SUBJECT

British subject. The status conferred on a citizen of the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth countries such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and India by the British Nationality Act of 1981. • Although this is the current sense, the phrase British subject has had many different meanings over the years, under different statutes.

BROADCAST MUSIC, INC

Broadcast Music, Inc. Copyright. One of the U.S. performing-rights societies that, on behalf of copyright owners, license the public performance of nondramatic musical works. — Abbr. BMI.

BROADENED REISSUE PATENT

broadened reissue patent. See PATENT(3).

BROADENING OF A CLAIM

broadening of a claim. Patents. The enlargement of the scope of a patent claim to expand its coverage. • The broader a patent claim, the greater the scope of protection because more methods or devices may potentially infringe the claim. But drafting a claim broadly increases the risk that an accused infringer may successfully invalidate the claim through prior art. See prior art under ART.

BROADENING STATEMENT

broadening statement. Patents. Wording in a claim to the effect that the invention includes forms other than the details shown in the application. • A broadening statement is usu. taken as boilerplate and given little or no effect. — Also termed catch-all.

BROADER THAN THE INVENTION

broader than the invention, adj. (Of a patent claim) having a scope that exceeds the limits of the invention disclosed in the application or patent.

BROAD-FORM INSURANCE

broad-form insurance. See INSURANCE.

BROAD-FORM POLICY

broad-form policy. See INSURANCE POLICY.

BROAD INTERPRETATION

broad interpretation. See liberal construction under CONSTRUCTION.

BROADSIDE OBJECTION

broadside objection. See general objection under OBJECTION.

BROCARD

brocard (brahk-<<schwa>>rd or broh-k<<schwa>>rd). An elementary legal principle or maxim, esp. one deriving from Roman law or ancient custom.

BROCARIUS

brocarius (broh-kair-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. A broker; a middleman between buyer and seller.

BROKER

broker, n.1. An agent who acts as an intermediary or negotiator, esp. between prospective buyers and sellers; a person employed to make bargains and contracts between other persons in matters of trade, commerce, or navigation. • A broker differs from a factor because the broker usu. does not have possession of the property. Cf. FACTOR. [Cases: Brokers 2.C.J.S. Brokers §§ 2–5.] 2. Securities. A person engaged in the business of conducting securities transactions for the accounts of others. [Cases: Securities Regulation 11.20, 40.12, 60.32. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 72, 157–158, 164–165, 195, 217.] — broker, vb.

“The most important determining factor of what constitutes a ‘broker’ is whether the party is dealing for itself or for another. A broker may, by contract, have title to property pass through it (though usually it does not), and it may, by contract, collect from the consumer, but a broker does not deal on its account. Two preliminary requirements must be met for a finding that an individual is acting as a broker: (1) the person is acting for compensation; and (2) the person is acting on behalf of someone else.” 12 Am. Jur. 2d Brokers § 1 (1997).

broker-agent. 1. A person who acts as an intermediary between parties to a transaction, and as a representative of one of them. [Cases: Brokers 2, 6. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 2–5, 25–26, 31–32.] 2. A person licensed both as a broker and as an agent. [Cases: Brokers 3. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 14–24.]

broker-dealer. A brokerage firm that engages in the business of trading securities for its own account (i.e., as a principal) before selling them to customers. • Such a firm is usu. registered with the SEC and with the state in which it does business. See DEALER(2). [Cases: Securities Regulation 11.20, 40.12, 60.32. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 72, 157–158, 164–165, 195, 217.]

“Since many broker-dealers maintain custody of funds and securities belonging to their customers, safeguards are required to assure that the customers can recover those funds and securities in the event the broker-dealer becomes insolvent. The three principal techniques that have been utilized are (a) financial responsibility standards for broker-dealers, (b) requirements for segregation of customers' funds and securities, and (c) maintenance of an industry-wide fund to satisfy the claims of customers whose brokerage firms become insolvent.” David L. Ratner, Securities Regulation in a Nutshell 182–83 (4th ed. 1992).

broker for sale. A broker retained to sell something, but having neither possession of the goods nor any right of action in the broker's own name on contracts that the broker enters into. [Cases: Brokers 2, 6. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 2–5, 25–26, 31–32.]

broker's broker. A municipal securities broker or dealer who routinely effects transactions for the account of other brokers, dealers, and municipal securities dealers.

commercial broker. A broker who negotiates the sale of goods without having possession or control of the goods. Cf. FACTOR(2). [Cases: Brokers 2, 6. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 2–5, 25–26, 31–32.]

commission broker. A member of a stock or commodity exchange who executes buy and sell orders.

customhouse broker. A broker who prepares paperwork for the entry or clearance of ships, and for the import or export of goods. — Also termed customs broker. [Cases: Customs Duties 60.5. C.J.S. Customs Duties §§ 56, 66–70.]

discount broker. 1. A broker who discounts bills of exchange and promissory notes, and advances money on securities. 2. A broker who executes buy and sell orders at commission rates lower than those of full-service brokers. [Cases: Brokers 69. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 177–180.]

government-securities interdealer broker. A broker engaged exclusively in the business of transacting in government securities for parties who are themselves government brokers or dealers.

institutional broker. A broker who trades securities for institutional clients such as banks, mutual funds, pension funds, and insurance companies.

insurance broker. Insurance. A person who, for compensation, brings about or negotiates contracts of insurance as an agent for someone else, but not as an officer, salaried employee, or licensed agent of an insurance company. • The broker acts as an intermediary between the insured and the insurer. — Also termed producer. [Cases: Insurance 1609. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 179, 181.]

“The term ‘insurance broker’ is often used to characterize an individual who is thought to act primarily on behalf of a purchaser in an insurance transaction. This delineation ... is employed by some courts and writers even though almost all insurance brokers are actually compensated for their services through commissions that are paid by the insurers. Because brokers receive compensation from the insurer, it seems evident that a persuasive argument can be made for not treating a broker as an agent of the insurance purchaser.” Robert E. Keeton & Alan I. Widiss, Insurance Law: A Guide to Fundamental Principles, Legal Doctrines, and Commercial Practices § 2.5, at 83–84 (1988).

loan broker. A person who is in the business of lending money, usu. to an individual, and taking as security an assignment of wages or a security interest in the debtor's personal property.

merchandise broker. One who negotiates the sale of merchandise without possessing it. • A merchandise broker is an agent with very limited powers.

money broker. A broker who negotiates the lending or raising of money for others.

mortgage broker. An individual or organization that markets mortgage loans and brings lenders and borrowers together. • A mortgage broker does not originate or service mortgage loans. [Cases: Brokers 2. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 2–5.]

note broker. A broker who negotiates the discount or sale of commercial paper.

real-estate broker.A broker who negotiates contracts of sale and other agreements (such as mortgages or leases) between buyers and sellers of real property. • Real-estate brokers must be licensed in the states where they conduct business. [Cases: Brokers 2, 3. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 2–5, 14–24.]

registered broker.A broker registered or required to be registered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. [Cases: Securities Regulation 40.12. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 157–158, 165.]

responsible broker-dealer.A broker-dealer who communicates bids or offers on the floor of a stock exchange at the designated location for trading in a reported security or who, in an off-exchange transaction, communicates the bid or offer as either a principal or an agent, for its own or another's account. SEC Rule 11Ac1-1(a)(21) (17 CFR § 240.11Ac1-1(a)(21)).

securities broker.A broker employed to buy or sell securities for a customer, as opposed to a securities dealer, who trades as a principal before selling the securities to a customer. See DEALER(2).

BROKERAGE

brokerage. 1. The business or office of a broker . [Cases: Brokers 2. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 2–5.] 2. A broker's fee <collect the brokerage after the house sells>. [Cases: Brokers 39. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 116–117, 143.]

BROKERAGE CONTRACT

brokerage contract.An agency agreement employing a broker to make contracts in the name of and on behalf of the principal and for which the broker receives a commission. [Cases: Brokers 7, 40. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 25, 27–32, 51, 117–120, 125, 143.]

BROKER-AGENT

broker-agent. See BROKER.

BROKERAGE-RUN DIVIDEND-REINVESTMENT PLAN

brokerage-run dividend-reinvestment plan.See DIVIDEND-REINVESTMENT PLAN.

BROKER CALL LOAN

broker call loan.See call loan under LOAN.

BROKER-DEALER

broker-dealer. See BROKER.

BROKER FOR SALE

broker for sale.See BROKER.

BROKER'S BROKER

broker's broker. See BROKER.

BROKER'S NOTE

broker's note. See NOTE(3).

BROTHEL

brothel. A building or business where prostitutes ply their trade; a whorehouse. — Also termed house of ill fame. See DISORDERLY HOUSE(2).

BROTHER

brother. A male who has one parent or both parents in common with another person.

brother-german. A full brother; the son of both of one's parents. See GERMAN.

consanguine brother (kahn-sang-gwin or k<<schwa>>n-san-gwin). Civil law. A brother who has the same father, but a different mother.

half brother. A brother who has the same father or the same mother, but not both.

stepbrother. The son of one's stepparent.

uterine brother (yoo-t<<schwa>>r-in). Civil law. A brother who has the same mother, but a different father.

BROTHER-IN-LAW

brother-in-law. The brother of one's spouse or the husband of one's sister. • The husband of one's spouse's sister is also sometimes considered a brother-in-law. Pl. brothers-in-law.

BROTHER-SISTER CORPORATION

brother-sister corporation. See sister corporation under CORPORATION.

BROWNFIELD SITE

brownfield site. An abandoned, idled, or underused industrial or commercial site that is difficult to expand or redevelop because of environmental contamination. Cf. GREENFIELD SITE(1).

BRUSSELS ACT

Brussels Act. Copyright. A 1948 revision of the Berne Convention mandating the life-plus-50-years copyright term as a minimum standard, extending the moral rights of attribution and integrity in most member countries to the full copyright term, extending the broadcast right to television, strengthening protection of several forms of copyright protection, and extending some protection to industrial designs.

BRUSSELS CONVENTION

Brussels Convention. See BRUSSELS SATELLITE CONVENTION.

BRUSSELS SATELLITE CONVENTION

Brussels Satellite Convention. Copyright. A 1974 treaty standardizing the regulation of broadcasting and cable retransmission using satellites. • Since the Convention addresses regulation of the signal rather than copyright or neighboring rights, what is transmitted is protected even if the content is not protected by any intellectual-property right. The U.S. ratified the Brussels Satellite Convention in 1984. — Also termed Brussels Convention; Convention Relating to the Distribution of Program-Carrying Signals Transmitted by Satellite.

BRUTON<TT> ERROR

Bruton error (broot-<<schwa>>n). The violation of a criminal defendant's constitutional right of confrontation by admitting into evidence a nontestifying codefendant's confession that implicates both of them, where the statement is not admissible against the defendant under any exception to the hearsay rule. • The error is not cured by a limiting instruction to the jury to consider the confession only against the one who made it, because of the high risk that the jury will disregard the instruction. Bruton v. United States, 391 U.S. 123, 88 S.Ct. 1620 (1968). [Cases: Criminal Law 662.10, 662.11. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1130–1131.]

BRUTUM FULMEN

brutum fulmen (broo-t<<schwa>>m f<<schwa>>l-men or -m<<schwa>>n). [Latin “inert thunder”] 1. An empty noise; an empty threat; something ineffectual. 2. A judgment void on its face; one that is, in legal effect, no judgment at all. [Cases: Judgment 27, 485, 486. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 499, 512, 546, 549.]

BRYAN TREATIES

Bryan treaties. Int'l law. Any of 48 treaties designed to avert war by requiring the signatories to submit disputes of any kind to standing peace commissions. • The first of these treaties, named after Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, was signed between the United States and Great Britain in 1914.

B.S.

b.s.abbr. See bancus superior under BANCUS.

BSA

BSA.abbr. BUSINESS SOFTWARE ALLIANCE.

BSD LICENSE

BSD license. See LICENSE.

BSD-STYLE LICENSE

BSD-style license. See BSD license under LICENSE.

BTA

BTA.abbr.Board of Tax Appeals. See TAX COURT, U.S.

BTS

BTS.abbr.1.BORDER AND TRANSPORTATION SAFETY DIRECTORATE. 2.BUREAU OF TRANSPORTATION STATISTICS .

BUBBLE

bubble.Slang. A dishonest or insubstantial business project, generally founded on a fictitious or exaggerated prospectus, designed to ensnare unwary investors.

BUBBLE ACT

Bubble Act.An English statute passed in 1720 to prevent corporate fraud.

BUCKETING

bucketing.Securities. The illegal practice of receiving an order to buy or sell stock but not immediately performing the order. • The perpetrator profits by executing the order when the stock market goes down or up, respectively, but confirming the order to the customer at the original price.

BUCKET SHOP

bucket shop.Securities. An establishment that is nominally engaged in stock-exchange transactions or some similar business, but in fact engages in registering bets or wagers, usu. for small amounts, on the rise or fall of the prices of stocks and commodities. • A bucket shop uses the terms and outward forms of the exchanges, but differs from exchanges because there is no delivery of — and no expectation or intention to deliver or receive — the securities or commodities nominally exchanged.

BUCKLEY AMENDMENT

Buckley Amendment.See FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT.

BUDAPEST TREATY

Budapest Treaty on the International Recognition of the Deposit of Microorganisms for the Purpose of Patent Procedures.Patents. An international treaty promulgating standards and procedures for depositing microorganisms and requiring member countries to recognize a deposit of biological material made in any depository approved by the World Intellectual Property Organization. • The purpose of the Budapest Treaty is to allow inventors to satisfy the enablement requirement of national patent laws by depositing in a convenient depository a sample of a microorganism to be patented. The U.S. is a signatory to the Budapest Treaty.

BUDGET

budget. 1. A statement of an organization's estimated revenues and expenses for a specified period, usu. a year. 2. A sum of money allocated to a particular purpose or project.

BUDGET BILL

budget bill. See BILL(3).

BUENOS AIRES CONVENTION

Buenos Aires Convention. Copyright. A 1910 treaty regulating copyright reciprocity among Latin American nations and the United States. • Under this agreement, the phrase “all rights reserved” guaranteed copyright protection in member nations. Since all the Convention's signatories are now signatories to more recent and broader international-copyright treaties, this Convention now has little if any practical effect.

BUFFER ZONE

buffer zone. Land-use planning. An area of land separating two different zones or areas to help each blend more easily with the other, such as a strip of land between industrial and residential areas. [Cases: Zoning and Planning 31, 272. C.J.S. Zoning and Land Planning §§ 40, 42, 122.]

BUG

bug. 1. A flaw or mistake in a computer program that results in an error or undesired result. 2. The printed mark of a labor union.

BUGGERY

buggery, n. Sodomy or bestiality. See SODOMY. [Cases: Sodomy 1. C.J.S. Sodomy §§ 2–6.] — bugger, vb. — bugger, n.

BUGGING

bugging, n. A form of electronic surveillance by which conversations may be electronically intercepted, overheard, or recorded, usu. covertly; eavesdropping by electronic means. See EAVESDROPPING; WIRETAPPING. [Cases: Telecommunications 494. C.J.S. Telegraphs, Telephones, Radio, and Television §§ 247–249, 254, 264–265.]

BUILDING

building. A structure with walls and a roof, esp. a permanent structure. • For purposes of some criminal statutes, such as burglary and arson, the term building may include such things as motor vehicles and watercraft.

accessory building. A building separate from but complementing the main structure on a lot, such as a garage. • The question whether a structure is an “accessory building” is often litigated in zoning disputes.

BUILDING-AND-LOAN ASSOCIATION

building-and-loan association. A quasi-public corporation that accumulates funds through member contributions and lends money to the members buying or building homes. Cf. SAVINGS-AND-LOAN ASSOCIATION. [Cases: Building and Loan Associations 1, 24–37.]

C.J.S. Building and Loan Associations, Savings and Loan Associations, and Credit Unions §§ 2–4, 11, 18–19, 66–67, 69, 71–74, 77–100, 109–113, 115.]

BUILDING CODE

building code.A law or regulation setting forth standards for the construction, maintenance, occupancy, use, or appearance of buildings and dwelling units. — Also termed (for dwelling units) housing code. [Cases: Health 392.]

BUILDING LEASE

building lease.See LEASE.

BUILDING LINE

building line.A boundary drawn along a curb or the edge of a municipality's sidewalks to establish how far a building must be set away from the street to maintain a uniform appearance. • This is often referred to as a setback requirement. [Cases: Zoning and Planning 64, 252. C.J.S. Zoning and Land Planning §§ 50, 117.]

BUILDING LOAN

building loan.See LOAN.

BUILDING PERMIT

building permit.A license granted by a government agency (esp. a municipality) for the construction of a new building or the substantial alteration of an existing structure. [Cases: Zoning and Planning 385.]

BUILDING RESTRICTIONS

building restrictions.Regulations governing the type of structures that can be constructed on certain property. • The restrictions are usu. listed in zoning ordinances or restrictive covenants in deeds. Cf. BUILDING CODE; restrictive covenant under COVENANT(4). [Cases: Zoning and Planning 62, 251.C.J.S. Zoning and Land Planning §§ 51, 53, 115.]

BUILD-TO-PRINT CONTRACT

build-to-print contract.See CONTRACT.

BUILT-IN OBSOLESCENCE

built-in obsolescence.See planned obsolescence under OBSOLESCENCE.

BULK

bulk,adj. (Of goods) not divided into parts .

BULK DISCOUNT

bulk discount.See volume discount under DISCOUNT.

BULK MORTGAGE

bulk mortgage.See MORTGAGE.

BULK SALE

bulk sale.A sale of a large quantity of inventory outside the ordinary course of the seller's business. • Bulk sales are regulated by Article 6 of the UCC, which is designed to prevent sellers from defrauding unsecured creditors by making these sales and then dissipating the sale proceeds. — Also termed bulk transfer. [Cases: Fraudulent Conveyances 47.]

BULK TRANSFER

bulk transfer.See BULK SALE.

BULKY GOODS

bulky goods.See GOODS.

BULL

bull.Eccles. law. 1. A document issued by a Pope, so called from the leaden seal attached to it. 2. A seal attached to an official document, esp. a papal edict.

BULLA

bulla (buul-⟨schwa⟩ or b⟨schwa⟩l-⟨schwa⟩). [Law Latin] A metal or wax papal seal or document.

BULLET BALLOTBULLETIN DES LOIS

bulletin des lois (buul-⟨schwa⟩-tan day lwah).French law. The publication that provides official notice of the text and effective date of a law or decree.

BULLET VOTE

bullet vote.See VOTE(1).

BULLION

bullion (buul-y⟨schwa⟩n). An uncoined solid mass of gold or silver.

BULLION FUND

bullion fund.Public money used by a mint to purchase precious metals for coinage and to pay bullion depositors.

BULL MARKET

bull market.See MARKET.

BULLPEN

bullpen.Slang. 1. An area in a prison where inmates are kept in close confinement. 2. A detention cell where prisoners are held until they are brought into court.

BUMBAILIFF

bumbailiff. See BAILIFF.

BUMBERSHOOT INSURANCE

bumbershoot insurance.See INSURANCE.

BUM-MARRIAGE DOCTRINE

bum-marriage doctrine.Evidence. The principle that the marital-witness privilege may not be asserted by a partner in a marriage that is in fact moribund, though legally valid. See marital privilege (2) under PRIVILEGE (3). [Cases: Witnesses 51. C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 147, 159, 163–164, 171, 173.]

BUMPING

bumping. 1. Displacement of a junior employee's position by a senior employee. 2. An airline-industry practice of denying seats to passengers because of overbooking. [Cases: Carriers 236(1.2). C.J.S. Carriers § 493.]

BUNCO

bunco. A swindling game or scheme; any trick or ploy calculated to win a person's confidence in an attempt to deceive that person. — Also spelled bunco. — Also termed bunco steering. Cf. CONFIDENCE GAME. [Cases: False Pretenses 16.]

BUNCO STEERER

bunco steerer. 1. One who uses tricks, schemes, or other illegal devices to obtain money or property from others; a swindler. 2. One who acts as a decoy in bunco. — Also termed bunco operator; bunco man. See CONFIDENCE MAN.

BUNDLE

bundle. See RECORD(4).

bundle,vb. To sell related products or services in one transaction at an all-inclusive price.

BUNDLED SOFTWARE

bundled software.Software that is sold together with hardware, other software, or services at a single price.

BUNDLE OF RIGHTS

bundle of rights.See PROPERTY(1).

BUNDLING

bundling,n. In the computer industry, the practice of charging a single price for a combination of hardware, software, or services. • Personal computers are typically sold with bundled software, such as an operating system and applications software that are preinstalled on the hardware.

BUNKHOUSE RULE

bunkhouse rule.The principle that an employee's injury suffered while living in an employer's housing is compensable even if the injury occurs during off-duty hours. [Cases: Workers' Compensation 709. C.J.S. Workmen's Compensation §§ 454–455.]

BURDEN

burden,n.1. A duty or responsibility <the seller's burden to insure the shipped goods>.2. Something that hinders or oppresses .3. A restriction on the use or value of land; an encumbrance <the easement created a burden on the estate>.4.Scots law. An encumbrance, restriction, or obligation imposed on a person or on property < the burden of curatorship> . • When the burden is on real property, it is called a real burden. — burden,vb. — burdensome,adj.

undue burden.A substantial and unjust obstacle to the performance of a duty or enjoyment of a right. • For example, excessive discovery requests place an undue burden on the person who must produce the data requested. And a state law requiring a particular kind of mud flap on trucks may place an undue burden on the flow of interstate commerce.

BURDEN OF ALLEGATION

burden of allegation.A party's duty to plead a matter in order for that matter to be heard in the lawsuit. — Also termed burden of pleading.

BURDEN OF GOING FORWARD WITH EVIDENCE burden of going forward with evidence.See BURDEN OF PRODUCTION.

BURDEN OF PERSUASION

burden of persuasion.A party's duty to convince the fact-finder to view the facts in a way that favors that party. • In civil cases, the plaintiff's burden is usu. “by a preponderance of the evidence,” while in criminal cases the prosecution's burden is “beyond a reasonable doubt.” — Also termed persuasion burden; risk of nonpersuasion; risk of jury doubt. — Also loosely termed burden of proof. [Cases: Evidence 90–98. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 120–129.]

BURDEN OF PLEADING

burden of pleading.See BURDEN OF ALLEGATION.

BURDEN OF PRODUCTION burden of production.A party's duty to introduce enough evidence on an issue to have the issue decided by the fact-finder, rather than decided against the party in a peremptory ruling such as a summary judgment or a directed verdict. — Also termed burden of going forward with evidence; burden of producing evidence; production burden; degree of proof. [Cases: Evidence 90–98. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 120–129.]

BURDEN OF PROOF

burden of proof. 1. A party's duty to prove a disputed assertion or charge. • The burden of proof includes both the burden of persuasion and the burden of production. — Also termed onus probandi. See SHIFTING THE BURDEN OF PROOF. 2. Loosely, BURDEN OF PERSUASION. [Cases: Evidence 90. C.J.S. Evidence § 120–121, 126, 128.]

“In the past the term ‘burden of proof’ has been used in two different senses. (1) The burden of going forward with the evidence. The party having this burden must introduce some evidence if he wishes to get a certain issue into the case. If he introduces enough evidence to require consideration of this issue, this burden has been met. (2) Burden of proof in the sense of carrying the risk of nonpersuasion. The one who has this burden stands to lose if his evidence fails to convince the jury — or the judge in a nonjury trial. The present trend is to use the term ‘burden of proof’ only with this second meaning” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 78 (3d ed. 1982).

“The expression ‘burden of proof’ is tricky because it has been used by courts and writers to mean various things. Strictly speaking, burden of proof denotes the duty of establishing by a fair preponderance of the evidence the truth of the operative facts upon which the issue at hand is made to turn by substantive law. Burden of proof is sometimes used in a secondary sense to mean the burden of going forward with the evidence. In this sense it is sometimes said that a party has the burden of countering with evidence a prima facie case made against that party.” William D. Hawkland, Uniform Commercial Code Series § 2A-516:08 (1984).

middle burden of proof. A party's duty to prove a fact by clear and convincing evidence. • This standard lies between the preponderance-of-the-evidence standard and the beyond-a-reasonable-doubt standard. See clear and convincing evidence under EVIDENCE. [Cases: Evidence 596. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 1299, 1304–1306, 1308, 1310–1311, 1315–1317.]

BUREAU OF ALCOHOL, TOBACCO, AND FIREARMS

Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms. See ALCOHOL AND TOBACCO TAX AND TRADE BUREAU ; BUREAU OF ALCOHOL, TOBACCO, FIREARMS, AND EXPLOSIVES.

BUREAU OF ALCOHOL, TOBACCO, FIREARMS, AND EXPLOSIVES

Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives. A unit in the U.S. Department of Homeland Security responsible for enforcing laws relating to firearms and explosives and laws relating to the production, taxation, and distribution of alcohol and tobacco products. • Formerly called the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms and a part of the Department of the Treasury, its law-enforcement functions were transferred in the Homeland Security Act of 2002. Pub. L. No. 107-296, 116 Stat. 2135. — Abbr. ATF. Cf. ALCOHOL AND TOBACCO TAX AND TRADE BUREAU .

BUREAU OF ARMS CONTROL

Bureau of Arms Control. A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for directing U.S. participation in multilateral arms-control negotiations and in the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons. • It also monitors developments relating to arms control and weapons development.

BUREAU OF CONSULAR AFFAIRS

Bureau of Consular Affairs. A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for protecting U.S. citizens and interests abroad. • Through its Office of Passport Services it issues over 7 million passports each year.

BUREAU OF CUSTOMS

Bureau of Customs. See UNITED STATES CUSTOMS SERVICE.

BUREAU OF DEMOCRACY, HUMAN RIGHTS, AND LABOR

Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor. A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for developing policy on human rights and freedoms and for preparing the annual Country Reports on Human Rights Practices. — Abbr. DRL.

BUREAU OF DIPLOMATIC SECURITY

Bureau of Diplomatic Security. A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for developing security programs for diplomats and American interests worldwide. • It also operates the Diplomatic Courier Service and supervises the transportation of classified documents and materials. — Abbr. DS.

BUREAU OF ECONOMIC ANALYSIS

Bureau of Economic Analysis. A unit in the U.S. Department of Commerce responsible for compiling and analyzing data about the U.S. economy. • It is a part of the Department's Economics and Statistics Administration. — Abbr. BEA.

BUREAU OF ECONOMIC AND BUSINESS AFFAIRS

Bureau of Economic and Business Affairs. A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for developing policy on international matters relating to food, communications, energy, air transportation, and maritime affairs. — Abbr. EB.

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING

Bureau of Engraving and Printing. A unit in the U.S. Department of the Treasury responsible for designing and printing the nation's paper currency, postage stamps, Treasury securities, and other documents. — Abbr. BEP.

BUREAU OF EXPORT ADMINISTRATION

Bureau of Export Administration. The former name of a bureau in the U.S. Department of Commerce that issues export licenses and enforces export-control laws. • The unit's name was changed in 2002 to the Bureau of Industry and Security. — Abbr. BXA.

BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

Bureau of Indian Affairs. A unit in the U.S. Department of the Interior responsible for helping Indian and Alaskan native people manage their affairs under the trust relationship with the U.S., and for promoting programs for their benefit. • Originally created as part of the War Department in 1824, the Bureau was transferred to the Interior Department in 1849. — Abbr. BIA.

BUREAU OF INDUSTRY AND SECURITY

Bureau of Industry and Security. A unit in the U.S. Department of Commerce responsible for issuing export licenses and enforcing export-control laws. • The Bureau is charged with furthering U.S. national-security, foreign-policy, and economic interests while furthering the growth of U.S. exports. It was named the Bureau of Export Administration until 2002. — Abbr. BIS.

BUREAU OF INTELLIGENCE AND RESEARCH

Bureau of Intelligence and Research. A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for coordinating activities of U.S. intelligence agencies to ensure consistency with U.S. foreign policy. • The Bureau also monitors foreign public and media opinions. — Abbr. INR.

BUREAU OF INTERNATIONAL LABOR AFFAIRS

Bureau of International Labor Affairs. A unit in the U.S. Department of Labor responsible for helping formulate policy on international matters that affect American workers. • For example, the Bureau compiles and publishes worldwide data on child-labor practices and on foreign labor markets and programs. It also studies the labor consequences of immigration proposals and legislation.

BUREAU OF INTERNATIONAL NARCOTICS AND LAW ENFORCEMENT

Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement. A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for coordinating the narcotics and anticrime-assistance activities of the Department and for advising the President, the Secretary of State, and others on international narcotics matters. — Abbr. INL.

BUREAU OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION AFFAIRS

Bureau of International Organization Affairs. A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for coordinating U.S. diplomatic participation in the United Nations and other international organizations and conferences. — Abbr. IO.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

Bureau of Labor Statistics. An independent agency in the U.S. Department of Labor responsible for compiling and analyzing statistical information on employment and the economy. • The Bureau reports on employment, unemployment, consumer and producer prices, consumer expenditures, import and export prices, wages and employee benefits, productivity and technological change, employment projections, and occupational illness and injury. — Abbr. BLS.

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT

Bureau of Land Management.The unit within the U.S. Department of the Interior responsible for managing the national-resource lands (some 450 million acres) and their resources and for administering the mineral resources connected with acquired lands and the submerged lands of the Outer Continental Shelf (OCS). • The bureau was established on July 16, 1946, by consolidating the General Land Office (established in 1812) and the Grazing Service (established in 1934). See 35 USCA §§ 1731 et seq.

BUREAU OF NONPROLIFERATION

Bureau of Nonproliferation.A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for leading efforts to prevent the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, delivery systems, and advanced conventional arms. — Also termed Nonproliferation Bureau.

BUREAU OF OCEANS AND INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL AND SCIENTIFIC AFFAIRS

Bureau of Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs.A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for coordinating U.S. ocean, environment, and health policies. — Abbr. OES.

BUREAU OF POLITICAL–MILITARY AFFAIRS

Bureau of Political–Military Affairs.A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for analyzing defense-related policy issues, managing security-assistance funds, and coordinating peacekeeping and humanitarian operations. — Abbr. PM. — Also termed Political–Military Affairs Bureau.

BUREAU OF POPULATION, REFUGEES, AND MIGRATION

Bureau of Population, Refugees, and Migration.A unit in the U.S. Department of State responsible for formulating policy and administering U.S. assistance and admissions programs for refugees and others. — Abbr. PRM.

BUREAU OF PRISONS

Bureau of Prisons.The unit in the U.S. Department of Justice responsible for operating the federal prison system. • It oversees all federal penal and correctional facilities, assists states and local governments in improving their correctional facilities, and provides notice of prisoner releases. 18 USCA §§ 4041 et seq. See NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF CORRECTIONS. — Abbr. BOP.

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION

Bureau of Reclamation.A unit in the U.S. Department of the Interior that built dams in 17 western states and is now responsible for selling hydroelectric power from those dams and water from the reservoirs. • Among the 600 dams constructed are Hoover Dam and Grand Coulee Dam.

BUREAU OF THE BUDGET

Bureau of the Budget.See OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET.

BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

Bureau of the Census. A unit in the U.S. Department of Commerce responsible for conducting and publishing the census required by the U.S. Constitution to be taken every ten years. • Established in 1902, the Bureau also conducts other population surveys and estimates as required by law. It is a part of the Department's Economics and Statistics Administration. — Also termed Census Bureau.

BUREAU OF THE MINT

Bureau of the Mint. See UNITED STATES MINT.

BUREAU OF THE PUBLIC DEBT

Bureau of the Public Debt. A unit in the U.S. Department of the Treasury responsible for issuing and redeeming Treasury bills, notes, and bonds, and for managing the U.S. Savings Bond Program.

BUREAU OF TRANSPORTATION STATISTICS

Bureau of Transportation Statistics. A unit in the U.S. Department of Transportation responsible for compiling and publishing transportation statistics. — Abbr. BTS.

BUREAU VERITAS

Bureau Veritas. See VERITAS.

BUREAUX INTERNATIONAUX REUNIS

Bureaux Internationaux Reunis pour la Protection de la Propriete Intellectuelle. See INTERNATIONAL BUREAU FOR THE PROTECTION OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY .

BURFORD ABSTENTION

Burford abstention. See ABSTENTION.

BURGAGE

burgage (b<<schwa>>r-gij). Hist. 1. A type of socage tenure in which tenants paid annual rents to the lord of the borough. See SOCAGE. 2. Scots law. The tenure by which a burgh held its land of the king, the service due being watching and warding. See WATCH AND WARD. — Also termed burgage tenure.

BURGATOR

burgator (b<<schwa>>r-gay-t<<schwa>>r). Hist. A burglar; a person who breaks into a house or an enclosed space.

BURGESS

burgess (b<<schwa>>r-jis). Hist. 1. An inhabitant or freeman of a borough or town. 2. A magistrate of a borough. 3. A person entitled to vote at elections. 4. A representative of a borough or town in Parliament.

“[Burgesses] are properly Men of Trade, or the Inhabitants of a Borow or Walled Town; yet we usually apply this name to the Magistrates of such a Town, as the Bailiff and Burgesses of Leominster. But we do now usually call those Burgesses who serve in Parliament, for any such Borow or Corporation.” Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary (1670).

BURGH ENGLISH

burgh English (b<<schwa>>rg ing-glish). See BOROUGH ENGLISH.

BURGH ENGLOYS

burgh Engloys (b<<schwa>>rg ing-gloiz). See BOROUGH ENGLISH.

BURGLAR

burglar,n. One who commits burglary.

BURGLARIOUS

burglarious (b<<schwa>>r-glair-ee-<<schwa>>s), adj. Of or relating to burglary <burglarious intent>. — burglariously,adv.

BURGLARIZE

burglarize,vb. To commit a burglary <the defendant burglarized three houses>. — Also termed (esp. in BrE) burgle.

BURGLARY

burglary,n.1. The common-law offense of breaking and entering another's dwelling at night with the intent to commit a felony. 2. The modern statutory offense of breaking and entering any building — not just a dwelling, and not only at night — with the intent to commit a felony. • Some statutes make petit larceny an alternative to a felony for purposes of proving burglarious intent. — Also termed (in sense 2) breaking and entering; statutory burglary. Cf. ROBBERY. [Cases: Burglary 1. C.J.S. Burglary §§ 2–5.]

BURGLARY TOOL

burglary tool.(often pl.) An implement designed to assist a person in committing a burglary. • In many jurisdictions, it is illegal to possess such a tool if the possessor intends to commit a burglary. [Cases: Burglary 12. C.J.S. Burglary §§ 44–48.]

BURGLE

burgle. See BURGLARIZE.

BURIAL INSURANCE

burial insurance.See INSURANCE.

BURIED-FACTS DOCTRINE

buried-facts doctrine.Securities. The rule that a proxy-statement disclosure is inadequate if a reasonable shareholder could fail to understand the risks presented by facts scattered throughout the proxy. • In applying this rule, a court will consider a securities disclosure to be false and misleading if its overall significance is obscured because material information is buried in footnotes, appendixes, and the like. [Cases: Securities Regulation 49.21.]

BURKING

burking,n. The crime of murdering someone, usu. by smothering, for the purpose of selling the corpse. • This term arose from the Scottish murder team of Burke and Hare, whose practice in 1828 of suffocating their victims while leaving few visible marks made the corpses more salable to medical schools. — burke,vb.

BURLAW

burlaw. See BYRLAW.

BURLAW COURT

burlaw court.See BYRLAW COURT.

BURNT-RECORDS ACT

burnt-records act.A statute that enables a property owner to quiet title if the public records for the property have been lost or destroyed in a disaster.

BURSTING-BUBBLE THEORY

bursting-bubble theory.Evidence. The principle that a presumption disappears once the presumed facts have been contradicted by credible evidence. [Cases: Evidence 85, 89. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 131, 135, 152–156, 160.]

BUSH DOCTRINE

Bush doctrine.The policy announced by President George W. Bush after the September 11, 2001 attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon, to the effect that nations harboring terrorists will be treated as terrorists themselves and may be subject to a first-strike strategy. Cf. SOVEREIGN EQUALITY .

BUSINESS

business. 1. A commercial enterprise carried on for profit; a particular occupation or employment habitually engaged in for livelihood or gain. 2. Commercial enterprises <business and academia often have congruent aims>.3. Commercial transactions <the company has never done business in Louisiana>. See DOING BUSINESS. 4. By extension, transactions or matters of a noncommercial nature <the courts' criminal business occasionally overshadows its civil business>.5.Parliamentary law. The matters that come before a deliberative assembly for its consideration and action, or for its information with a view to possible action in the future. • In senses 2, 3, and 4, the word is used in a collective meaning.

new business. An item of business introduced from the floor or taken from the table without having been scheduled for consideration. See TAKE FROM THE TABLE.

old business. See unfinished business.

unfinished business. A general order carried over from an earlier meeting in the same session because the meeting adjourned before or while considering it. • The term “unfinished business” is preferred to “old business,” which may incorrectly imply renewed consideration of business that has been finally disposed of. See general order under ORDER(4); SESSION(2).

unfinished business and general orders. A common category on an agenda. See unfinished business; general order under ORDER(4).

BUSINESS AGENT

business agent. 1. See managing agent under AGENT. 2. A labor-union representative selected to deal with employers.

BUSINESS ASSOCIATIONS

business associations. See BUSINESS ENTERPRISES.

BUSINESS COMBINATION

business combination. 1. The consolidation, for accounting purposes, of a corporation and one or more incorporated or unincorporated businesses. 2. The two entities considered as one entity for accounting purposes.

BUSINESS COMPULSION

business compulsion. See economic duress under DURESS.

BUSINESS CORPORATION

business corporation. See CORPORATION.

BUSINESS COURT

business court. See COURT.

BUSINESS CYCLE

business cycle. The recurrent expansion and contraction of economic activity.

BUSINESS DAY

business day. See DAY.

BUSINESS ENTERPRISES

business enterprises. The field of law dealing with various forms of business, such as corporations, limited-liability companies, and partnerships. — Also termed business entities; business associations; enterprise organizations.

BUSINESS ENTRY

business entry. A writing admissible under the business-records exception to the hearsay rule. See BUSINESS-RECORDS EXCEPTION. [Cases: Criminal Law 436; Evidence 351. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1032, 1034–1037; Evidence §§ 904–915, 917–923, 928–931, 965–966, 1023, 1025.]

BUSINESS-ENTRY RULE

business-entry rule. See BUSINESS-RECORDS EXCEPTION.

BUSINESS EXPENSE

business expense. See EXPENSE.

BUSINESS FORM

business form. See BLANK FORM.

BUSINESS GAIN

business gain. 1. GAIN(2). 2. GAIN(3).

BUSINESS GUEST

business guest. See BUSINESS VISITOR(1).

BUSINESS HOMESTEAD

business homestead. See HOMESTEAD.

BUSINESS-INTERRUPTION INSURANCE

business-interruption insurance. See INSURANCE.

BUSINESS INVITEE

business invitee. 1. INVITEE. 2. BUSINESS VISITOR(1).

BUSINESS-JUDGMENT RULE

business-judgment rule. Corporations. The presumption that in making business decisions not involving direct self-interest or self-dealing, corporate directors act on an informed basis, in good faith, and in the honest belief that their actions are in the corporation's best interest. • The rule shields directors and officers from liability for unprofitable or harmful corporate transactions if the transactions were made in good faith, with due care, and within the directors' or officers' authority. [Cases: Corporations 310(1). C.J.S. Corporations §§ 475, 477–484, 487–489.]

“The business judgment rule is a presumption protecting conduct by directors that can be attributed to any rational business purpose. In order to plead and prove a claim, a plaintiff must plead and prove facts overcoming this presumption. Where the presumption is overcome, directors bear the burden of proving the fairness of the challenged conduct. The difference between these two levels of judicial scrutiny — a presumption in favor of directors that protects conduct that is rational, versus a burden of proving fairness — frequently is outcome determinative.” 1 Dennis J. Block et al., The Business Judgment Rule 18–19 (5th ed. 1998).

BUSINESS LOSS

business loss. See ordinary loss under LOSS.

BUSINESS MEETING

business meeting. See MEETING.

BUSINESS METHOD

business method. Patents. A way or an aspect of a way in which a commercial enterprise is operated.

BUSINESS-METHOD EXCEPTION

business-method exception. Intellectual property. The traditional doctrine that business methods are not protected by intellectual-property laws. • Early caselaw established that “pure methods of doing business” were unpatentable. But in 1998, the Federal Circuit held in State St. Bank & Trust Co. v. Signature Fin. Group (149 F.3d 1368) that business methods are not per se unpatentable if they otherwise meet the requirements for a valid patent. The European Patent Convention expressly excludes business methods from patent protection. [Cases: Patents 7.14. C.J.S. Patents §§ 17–19, 27–28.]

BUSINESS-METHOD PATENT

business-method patent. See PATENT(3).

BUSINESS METHODS PATENT INITIATIVE

Business Methods Patent Initiative. A U.S. Patent and Trademark Office program that added a second level to business-method-patent reviews for the purpose of reducing the number of business-method patents issued. • The PTO created the initiative in response to complaints that examiners improperly approved many business-method patents. After an examiner approves the application and before a business-method patent is granted, a second examiner must completely review the application and either reject the application or affirm the issuance of the patent.

BUSINESS-PARTNER INSURANCE

business-partner insurance. See partnership insurance under INSURANCE.

BUSINESS PLAN

business plan. A written proposal explaining a new business or business idea and usu. covering financial, marketing, and operational plans.

BUSINESS-PURPOSE DOCTRINE

business-purpose doctrine. Tax. The principle that a transaction must serve a bona fide business purpose (i.e., not just for tax avoidance) to qualify for beneficial tax treatment. [Cases:

Internal Revenue 3071, 3315, 3396. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 13–14, 151.]

BUSINESS RECORD

business record. A report, memorandum, or other record made usu. in the ordinary course of business. • It may be ordered produced as part of discovery in a lawsuit.

BUSINESS-RECORDS EXCEPTION

business-records exception. Evidence. A hearsay exception allowing business records (such as reports or memoranda) to be admitted into evidence if they were prepared in the ordinary course of business. • If there is good reason to doubt a record's reliability (e.g., the record was prepared in anticipation of litigation), the exception will not apply. Fed. R. Evid. 803(6). — Also termed business-entry rule. [Cases: Criminal Law 436; Evidence 351. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1032, 1034–1037; Evidence §§ 904–915, 917–923, 928–931, 965–966, 1023, 1025.]

BUSINESS-RISK EXCLUSION

business-risk exclusion. See EXCLUSION(3).

BUSINESS SOFTWARE ALLIANCE

Business Software Alliance. Copyright. An international trade organization representing leading software and e-commerce developers, formed to educate governments and the public about software issues and to fight software piracy and Internet theft. — Abbr. BSA.

BUSINESS-TO-BUSINESS

business-to-business, adj. Of or relating to commerce between businesses, as distinguished from commerce between a business and consumers. — Abbr. B2B. Cf. BUSINESS-TO-CONSUMER.

BUSINESS-TO-BUSINESS E-COMMERCE

business-to-business e-commerce. Electronic commerce between businesses over the Internet.

BUSINESS-TO-CONSUMER

business-to-consumer, adj. Of or relating to commerce between a business and consumers, as distinguished from commerce between businesses. — Abbr. B2C. Cf. BUSINESS-TO-BUSINESS.

BUSINESS-TO-CONSUMER E-COMMERCE

business-to-consumer e-commerce. Electronic commerce between a business and consumers over the Internet.

BUSINESS TRANSACTION

business transaction. An action that affects the actor's financial or economic interests, including the making of a contract.

BUSINESS TRUST

business trust. See TRUST.

BUSINESS VISITOR

business visitor. 1. Torts. A person who is invited or permitted to enter or remain on another's land for a purpose directly or indirectly connected with the landowner's or possessor's business dealings. — Also termed business invitee; business guest. See INVITEE. 2. Immigration law. A non-U.S. citizen who has a B-1 visa, which allows the person to be employed while in the United States.

BUST-UP MERGER

bust-up merger. See MERGER.

BUT-FOR CAUSE

but-for cause. See CAUSE(1).

BUT-FOR MATERIALITY

but-for materiality. Patents. In an analysis of allegedly inequitable conduct, a test for determining the materiality of withheld information by assessing whether the withheld information, if disclosed, would have resulted in a finding of unpatentability. • Under this test — also called the objective but-for test — the issue is whether the patent would have issued if not for the misconduct of the applicant. By contrast, under the subjective but-for test, the issue is whether the misrepresentation caused the examiner to issue the patent. Although both tests have been applied by the courts, the Federal Circuit has rejected the but-for materiality test in favor of the materiality test codified in 37 CFR § 1.56. — Also termed objective but-for test. [Cases: Patents 97. C.J.S. Patents §§ 135–138, 145, 178.]

BUT-FOR TEST

but-for test. Tort & criminal law. The doctrine that causation exists only when the result would not have occurred without the party's conduct. — Also termed (in criminal law) had-not test. See but-for cause under CAUSE(1). [Cases: Criminal Law 26; Negligence 379. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 44–45, 1110.]

BUTLERAGE

butlerage. Hist. A duty on wine imported into England, payable to the royal butler. Cf. PRISAGE.

BUT SEE

but see. See SED VIDE.

BUT SO INSANE AS NOT TO BE RESPONSIBLE

but so insane as not to be responsible. See GUILTY BUT MENTALLY ILL.

BUTTALS

buttals (b<<schwa>>t-<<schwa>>lz). Archaic. See ABUTTALS.

BUTTS AND BOUNDS

butts and bounds. See METES AND BOUNDS.

BUY

buy. See PURCHASE(1).

BUY-AND-SELL AGREEMENT

buy-and-sell agreement. See BUY-SELL AGREEMENT.

BUY-BACK CLAUSE

buy-back clause. 1. Contracts. A provision that requires a manufacturer or franchiser to buy back inventory and equipment if the distributor or franchisee's contract is terminated prematurely. 2. Contracts. A clause allowing the seller of property the right or opportunity to repurchase the property under stated conditions. 3. Insurance. An insurance-policy clause that provides for the reinstatement of coverage that the insurer excludes or cancels if the insured meets certain conditions. • For instance, buy-back clauses are often used to reinstate some of the coverage taken away under pollution-exclusion clauses.

BUY-DOWN

buy-down, n. Money paid by the buyer of a house to reduce the mortgage-interest payments.

BUYER

buyer. One who makes a purchase. See PURCHASER.

buyer in ordinary course of business. A person who — in good faith and without knowledge that the sale violates a third party's ownership rights or security interest in the goods — buys from a person regularly engaged in the business of selling goods of that kind. • Pawnbrokers are excluded from the definition. UCC § 1-201(b)(9). [Cases: Sales 234. C.J.S. Sales §§ 232–233, 235.]

qualified institutional buyer. Securities. An institution with more than $100 million in invested assets.

BUYER'S MARKET

buyer's market. See MARKET.

BUYING-IN

buying-in, n. The purchase of property by the original owner or an interested party at an auction or foreclosure sale. — buy in, vb.

BUYING ON MARGIN

buying on margin. See MARGIN TRANSACTION.

BUYING SYNDICATE

buying syndicate. See SYNDICATE.

BUY ORDER

buy order. See ORDER(8).

BUYOUT

buyout, n. The purchase of all or a controlling percentage of the assets or shares of a business. Cf. MERGER(8). — buy out, vb.

leveraged buyout. The purchase of a publicly held corporation's outstanding stock by its management or outside investors, financed mainly with funds borrowed from investment bankers or brokers and usu. secured by the corporation's assets. — Abbr. LBO. [Cases: Corporations 116. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 233–240, 242.]

management buyout. 1. A buyout of a corporation by its own directors and officers. 2. A leveraged buyout of a corporation by an outside entity in which the corporation's management has a material financial interest. — Abbr. MBO. See GOING PRIVATE.

BUY–SELL AGREEMENT

buy–sell agreement. 1. An arrangement between owners of a business by which the surviving owners agree to purchase the interest of a withdrawing or deceased owner. Cf. CONTINUATION AGREEMENT. 2. Corporations. A share-transfer restriction that commits the shareholder to sell, and the corporation or other shareholders to buy, the shareholder's shares at a fixed price when a specified event occurs. [Cases: Corporations 82, 116. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 180–181, 193–195, 233–240, 242.] — Also termed buy-and-sell agreement. Cf. OPTION AGREEMENT.

BW

BW.abbr. BID WANTED.

BXA

BXA.abbr. BUREAU OF EXPORT ADMINISTRATION.

BY-BIDDER

by-bidder. At an auction, a person employed by the seller to bid on property for the sole purpose of stimulating bidding by potential genuine buyers; SHILL(2). — Also termed puffer. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.]

BY-BIDDING

by-bidding. The illegal practice of employing a person to bid at an auction for the sole purpose of stimulating bidding on the seller's property. — Also termed puffing. Cf. BIDDING UP; SHILLING(1). [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8–17.]

BY-ELECTION

by-election. See ELECTION(3).

BY GOD AND MY COUNTRY

by God and my country.Hist. A customary reply for a criminal defendant when asked at arraignment, “Culprit, how wilt thou be tried?”

BYLAW

bylaw [fr. Danish bye, Old Norse byr, “town”] 1.Parliamentary law. (usu. pl.) A rule or administrative provision adopted by an organization for its internal governance and its external dealings. • Although the bylaws may be an organization's most authoritative governing document, they are subordinate to a charter or articles of incorporation or association or to a constitution. The “constitution and bylaws” are sometimes a single document. See governing document under DOCUMENT; ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. Cf. CONSTITUTION. [Cases: Condominium 7; Corporations 54, 113, 116. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 111, 114, 116, 120, 220–225, 233–240, 242; Estates§ 202.] 2.ORDINANCE. — Sometimes spelled by-law; byelaw.

“By-law is now felt to be a compound of the preposition by and law, but originally by was the Danish by ‘town, village’ (found in Derby, Whitby, etc.), and the Danish genitive-ending is preserved in the other English form byr-law.” Otto Jespersen, Growth and Structure of the English Language 75 (9th ed. 1938).

BYLAW MAN

bylaw man.Hist. One of the chief men of a town, usu. appointed for some purpose under the town's corporate bylaws.

BY OPERATION OF LAW

by operation of law.See OPERATION OF LAW.

BYPASS TRUST

bypass trust.See TRUST.

BYRLAW

byrlaw (bir-lah), n. English & Scots law. Hist.1.The local custom of a township or district for resolving disputes over boundaries, trespasses, and the use of common lands, as well as farming issues. 2. A particular custom established by the common consent of landholders in a township or district. 3. The area over which a township or district court has jurisdiction. — Also spelled burlaw.

BYRLAW COURT

byrlaw court.Hist. Scots law. A community assembly that judged minor disputes arising in the community. • The assembly members were called byrlawmen or birleymen. — Also spelled burlaw court.

BYRTHYNSAK

byrthynsak (b<<schwa>>r-th<<schwa>>n-sak), n.[Anglo-Saxon byrthen “burden” + sacu “lawsuit”] Hist. The theft of a calf or ram that is the most a man can carry on his back.

BYSTANDER

bystander. One who is present when an event takes place, but who does not become directly involved in it.

C.

c.abbr.1.CIRCA. 2.COPYRIGHT.

CA

ca.abbr.CIRCA.

CA.abbr. CERTIFICATION AUTHORITY.

CA. AD RE

ca. ad re.abbr.See capias ad respondendum under CAPIAS.

CABAL

cabal (k<<schwa>>-balor k<<schwa>>-bahl). A small group of political schemers or conspirators. • The term is sometimes said to have originated as an acronym from a committee of five ministers of Charles II, whose sur-names began with C, A, B, A, and L (Clifford, Arlington, Buckingham, Ashley, and Lauderdale). Though colorful, this etymology is false: the term came into English directly from the French cabale “intrigue,” which derives ultimately from Hebrew kabbalah “received lore.”

CABALA

cabala (kab-<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> or k<<schwa>>-bahl-<<schwa>>). An esoteric or obscure doctrine.

CABALLERIA

caballeria (kah-bah-ye-ree-ah). [Spanish] Spanish law. An allotment of land in regions formerly conquered by Spain, such as Mexico and the southwestern United States. • Originally a Spanish feudal tenure held by a soldier, a caballeria eventually came to refer to an area of land. It usu. measures 100 by 200 feet in the United States, and between 30 and 200 acres in Mexico and other former Spanish territories.

CABINET

cabinet. (often cap.) The advisory council to an executive officer, esp. the President. • The President's cabinet is a creation of custom and tradition, dating back to the term of George Washington. The U.S. Constitution alludes to a group of presidential advisers — the President “may require the Opinion, in writing, of the principal Officer in each of the executive Departments, upon any Subject relating to the Duties of their respective Offices” (art. II, § 2, cl. 1) — but the term cabinet is not specifically mentioned. The cabinet today comprises the heads of the 15 executive departments: the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Defense, the At-torney General, the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Commerce, the Sec-rtary of Labor, the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, the Secretary of Transportation, the Secretary of Energy, the Secretary of Education, the Secretary of Veterans Affairs, and the Secretary of Homeland Security. Other officials, such as the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and the director of the Office of Management and the Budget, have been accorded cabinet rank. [Cases: United States 35. C.J.S. United States §§ 23, 53, 56–57.]

inner cabinet. The heads of the departments of State, Treasury, Defense, and Justice. • This group is so called because in most administrations it tends to be closer to the executive and more influential than the rest of the cabinet (the outer cabinet).

kitchen cabinet. An unofficial and informal body of noncabinet advisers who often have more sway with the executive than the real cabinet does. • This term was first used derisively in reference to some of President Andrew Jackson's advisers, who, because of their reputation for unpolished manners, were supposedly not important enough to meet in the formal rooms of the White House.

“The term [kitchen cabinet] began to lose its sting after Jackson's time. But because most Presidents do have circles of personal friends, the idea remains. Theodore Roosevelt had his ‘tennis cabinet.’ Jonathan Daniels referred to Warren Harding's ‘poker cabinet.’ Herbert Hoover had an exercise-loving ‘medicine ball cabinet.’ Even governors can play the game. In writing of New York's Alfred Smith, Ed Flynn mentions the ‘golfing cabinet.’” William Safire, Safire's New Political Dictionary 389 (1993).

CABLE AND SATELLITE DIRECTIVE

Cable and Satellite Directive. See DIRECTIVE ON THE COORDINATION OF CERTAIN RULES CONCERNING COPYRIGHT AND NEIGHBOURING RIGHTS APPLICABLE TO SATELLITE BROADCASTING AND CABLE RETRANSMISSION .

CABOTAGE

cabotage (kab-<<schwa>>-tij). Int'l law. 1. The carrying on of trade along a country's coast; the transport of goods or passengers from one port or place to another in the same country. • The privilege to carry on this trade is usu. limited to vessels flying the flag of that country. 2. The privilege of carrying traffic between two ports in the same country. 3. The right of a foreign airline to carry passengers and cargo between airports in the same country.

“Some writers maintain [that cabotage] should be applied only to maritime navigation; in this context one can distinguish between petit cabotage — transport between ports situated on the same sea (e.g. Bordeaux–Le Havre) — and grand cabotage — transport between ports situated on different seas (e.g. Bordeaux–Marseille). However, the term is also properly applied to transport between two inland points on an international river within one State, although the term grand cabotage is sometimes incorrectly applied to transnational transport between the inland ports of different riparian States on the same waterway. River cabotage properly so called is sometimes also referred to as local transport. Finally, the term has also been adopted to describe commercial air transport between airports situated in the same State.” Robert C. Lane, “Cabotage,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Public International Law 519–20 (1992).

CA'CANNY STRIKE

ca'canny strike. See STRIKE.

CACICAZGOS

cacicazgos (kah-see-kahz-gohs). Land held in entail by caciques (leaders of Indian villages) and their descendants in Spanish America.

CADASTRE

cadastre (k<<schwa>>-das-t<<schwa>>r). A survey and valuation of real estate in a county or region compiled for tax purposes. — Also spelled cadaster.

CADENA

cadena (ka-day-n<<schwa>>). [Spanish “chain”] Spanish law. A period of imprisonment; formerly, confinement at hard labor while chained from waist to ankle.

cadena perpetua (ka-day-n<<schwa>> p<<schwa>>r-pet-w<<schwa>>). Life imprisonment.

cadena temporal (ka-day-n<<schwa>> tem-por-ahl). Imprisonment for a term less than life.

CADERE

cadere (kad-<<schwa>>-ree), vb. [Latin “to fail”] Hist. 1. To end, cease, or fail. • This term usu. refers to the failure of a writ action. Cadit breve, for example, means “the writ fails.” 2. To be changed or turned into. • Cadit assisa in juratum means “the assize is changed into a jury.”

CADIT QUAESTIO

cadit quaestio (kay-dit kwes-chee-oh). [Latin] Hist. The question falls to the ground; the dispute is over.

CADUCA

caduca (k<<schwa>>-d[y]oo-k<<schwa>>), n. pl. [Latin “fallen things”] 1. Civil law. Heritable property; property descending to an heir. 2. Roman law. Property forfeited for crime. See LAPSE. 3. Roman law. Property that either was without an heir or could not be taken by the testamentary heir or legatee. • In many cases, the property would escheat to the state. See ESCHEAT.

CADUCARY

caducary (k<<schwa>>-d[y]oo-k<<schwa>>-ree), adj. (Of a bequest or estate) subject to, relating to, or by way of escheat, lapse, or forfeiture of property <the statute was intended to waive the rights of the caducary heirs>.

CADUCE

caduce (k<<schwa>>-d[y]oos), vb. To take by escheat or lapse <the government caduced the unclaimed mineral royalties>.

CADUCITY

caducity (k<<schwa>>-d[y]oo-s<<schwa>>-tee), n. The lapse of a testamentary gift <the testator failed to provide a contingency for the caducity of the legacy>.

CAETERIS PARIBUS

caeteris paribus. See CETERIS PARIBUS.

CAETERIS TACENTIBUS

caeteris tacentibus. See CETERIS TACENTIBUS.

CAETERORUM ADMINISTRATION

caeterorum administration. See ADMINISTRATION.

C.A.F.

c.a.f. Cost, assurance, and freight. • This term is synonymous with C.I.F. [Cases: Sales 201(4). C.J.S. Sales §§ 224–227.]

“[I]n a French contract the term ‘C.A.F.’ does not mean ‘Cost and Freight’ but has exactly the same meaning as the term ‘C.I.F.’ since it is merely the French equivalent of that term. The ‘A’ does not stand for ‘and’ but for ‘assurance,’ which means insurance.” William D. Hawkland, Uniform Commercial Code Series § 2-320 (1984).

CAFC

CAFC.abbr. UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE FEDERAL CIRCUIT.

CAFETERIA PLAN

cafeteria plan. An employee fringe-benefit plan allowing a choice of basic benefits up to a certain dollar amount. [Cases: Pensions 28. C.J.S. Pensions and Retirement Plans and Benefits §§ 11–15.]

CAHOOTS

cahoots (k<<schwa>>-hoots). Slang. Partnership, esp. in an illegal act; collusion <the lawyer was in cahoots with her client>.

CAIRNS'S ACT

Cairns's Act (kairn-z<<schwa>>z). Hist. An 1858 statute that expanded the relief available in England's chancery courts to include monetary damages in addition to injunctive relief. • Cairns's Act was superseded by the Judicature Acts of 1873–1875. — Also spelled Cairns' Act. Cf. JUDICATURE ACTS .

CALANDRA<TT> RULE

Calandra rule (k<<schwa>>-lan-dr<<schwa>>). The doctrine that a grand-jury witness may be compelled to answer questions about certain items, even though the items were obtained by the police illegally. United States v. Calandra, 414 U.S. 338, 94 S.Ct. 613 (1974). [Cases: Grand Jury 36.]

CALCULATED AMBIGUITY

calculated ambiguity. See AMBIGUITY.

CALDWELL ERROR

Caldwell error. See ERROR(2).

CALEFAGIUM

calefagium (kal-i-fay-jee-<<schwa>>m), n. Hist. A feudal right to take wood from the King's forest or the lord's estate.

CALENDAR

calendar, n. 1. A systematized ordering of time into years, months, weeks, and days; esp., the Gregorian calendar established by Pope Gregory XIII in 1582 and adopted in Great Britain in 1752. • The Gregorian calendar is used throughout the Western world. [Cases: Time 1. C.J.S. Time § 2.]

Gregorian calendar. See NEW STYLE.

Julian calendar. See OLD STYLE.

2. A court's list of civil or criminal cases. [Cases: Criminal Law 632(2); Trial 9. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1144; Trial § 60.]

court calendar. See COURT CALENDAR.

short-cause calendar. A trial calendar on which a short-cause trial may be scheduled for the 10th day after the opposing party is given notice. • The request for scheduling must include an affidavit that the trial will take no longer than a certain specified period (e.g., an hour).

special calendar. A calendar marked with court cases that have been specially set for hearing or trial. See special setting under SETTING. [Cases: Trial 13. C.J.S. Trial §§ 77, 81–90.]

trial calendar. See DOCKET(2).

3. A list of bills reported out of a legislative committee for consideration by the entire legislature. 4. Parliamentary law. AGENDA. — Also termed calendar of business.

action calendar. The list of business awaiting a deliberative assembly's vote. — Also termed action agenda.

consent calendar. A list of business awaiting a deliberative assembly's vote that is not expected to be substantially opposed and is therefore scheduled for a vote without debate, or for automatic adoption unless a member objects. — Also termed consent agenda; unanimous-consent agenda; unanimous-consent calendar.

“An assembly with a large number of routine or noncontroversial matters on its agenda may find it not only convenient but expeditious to consider these matters under unanimous consent procedure. This gives every member an opportunity to object. At the same time, it gives the presiding officer an opportunity to dispose of a great deal of the agenda confronting the assembly quickly and efficiently, particularly when it would be most helpful to the assembly to get its job done. This can even be done by taking en bloc action (that is, disposing of various items at the same time without taking separate consideration of them) when matters are not controversial or are of minor importance to the assembly, though every member has the right to object.” Floyd M. Riddick & Miriam H. Butcher, Riddick's Rules of Procedure 56 (1985).

debate calendar. The list of business that is awaiting a deliberative assembly's vote and that is not on the consent calendar. — Also termed debate agenda.

report calendar. The list of business coming before a deliberative assembly for information only rather than for its vote. • An item on the report calendar may be the subject of a vote in the future. — Also termed report agenda.

special-order calendar. The list of business scheduled as special orders. — Also termed special-order agenda. See special order under ORDER(4).

unanimous-consent calendar. See consent calendar.

calendar, vb. 1. To place an important event on a calendar, esp. so that the event will be remembered. 2. To place a case on a calendar.

CALENDAR CALL

calendar call. A court session in which the judge calls each case awaiting trial, determines its status, and assigns a trial date.

CALENDAR DAY

calendar day. See DAY.

CALENDAR MONTH

calendar month. See MONTH(1).

CALENDAR MOTION

calendar motion. See MOTION(1).

CALENDAR OF PRISONERS

calendar of prisoners. Hist. A list kept by the sheriffs containing the names of all the prisoners in custody alongside notes about each prisoner's present and past convictions.

CALENDAR YEAR

calendar year. See YEAR(1).

CALENDARS

Calends (kal-*<<schwa>>*ndz). Roman law. In the ancient Roman calendar, the first day of the month. — Also spelled kalends. Cf. IDES; NONES.

CALL

call, n.1. A request, demand, or command, esp. to come or assemble; an invitation or summons.

call for the orders of the day. Parliamentary law. A demand that the meeting proceed according to its order of business. — Also termed call for the regular order.

call for the regular order. See call for the orders of the day.

call of a meeting. Parliamentary law. Formal written notice of a meeting's time and place, sometimes stating its business, sent to each member in advance.

call of the house. A legislative body's order compelling each absent member's attendance, usu. instructing that the sergeant-at-arms arrest and present each absentee.

“In legislative bodies or other assemblies that have legal power to compel the attendance of their members, a procedure that can be used to obtain a quorum, if necessary, is the motion for a Call of the House. This is a motion that unexcused absent members be brought to the meeting under arrest. A Call of the House is not applicable in voluntary societies.” Henry M. Robert, Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised § 40, at 339 (10th ed. 2000).

call of the roll. See roll call.

call to order. Parliamentary law. 1. The chair's declaration that a deliberative assembly has properly convened and is ready for business. — Also termed convocation. 2. The chair's request that a member follow the applicable rules or observe appropriate decorum. See DECORUM.

quorum call. A roll call to determine whether a quorum is present. See QUORUM.

roll call. Parliamentary law. A calling of the roll to take attendance or a vote. See roll-call vote under VOTE(4). — Also termed call of the roll.

2. A demand for payment of money.

margin call. A securities broker's demand that a customer put up money or stock as collateral when the broker finances a purchase of securities. • A margin call usu. occurs when the market prices of the securities are falling. — Also termed maintenance call. [Cases: Brokers 24(2). C.J.S. Brokers §§ 71–72.]

3. See call option under OPTION. 4. A demand for the presentation of a security (esp. a bond) for redemption before the maturity date. [Cases: Corporations 473. C.J.S. Corporations § 670.] 5. A landmark designating a property boundary. • The landmarks are chosen by the surveyor and recorded in his field notes or in the accompanying deed. See METES AND BOUNDS.

call, vb. 1. To summon. 2. To demand payment of money. 3. To redeem (a bond) before maturity.

CALLABLE

callable,adj. (Of a security) redeemable by the issuing corporation before maturity. See REDEMPTION. [Cases: Corporations 68. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 177, 180–183.]

CALLABLE BOND

callable bond.See redeemable bond under BOND(3).

CALLABLE PREFERRED STOCK

callable preferred stock.See STOCK.

CALLABLE SECURITY

callable security.See redeemable security under SECURITY.

CALLED MEETING

called meeting.See special meeting under MEETING.

CALL EQUIVALENT POSITION

call equivalent position.Securities. A security position that increases in value as the value of the underlying equity increases. • It includes a long convertible security, a long call option, and a short put option. SEC Rule 16a-1(b) (17 CFR § 240.16a-1(b)). [Cases: Securities Regulation 5.25(3). C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 28–29.]

CALL FOR THE ORDERS OF THE DAY

call for the orders of the day.See CALL(1).

CALL FOR THE REGULAR ORDER

call for the regular order.See call for the orders of the day under CALL(1).

CALLING TO THE BAR

calling to the bar.See CALL TO THE BAR.

CALL LOAN

call loan.See LOAN.

CALL OF A MEETING

call of a meeting.See CALL(1).

CALL OF THE HOUSE

call of the house.See CALL(1).

CALL OF THE ROLL

call of the roll.See roll call under CALL(1).

CALL OPTION

call option. See OPTION.

CALL PATENT

call patent. See PATENT(2).

CALL PREMIUM

call premium. The percentage amount of a bond's face value that a company pays, along with the face value, to redeem a callable bond; the difference between a bond's call price and its par value.

CALL PRICE

call price. See PRICE.

CALL-PROTECTION CLAUSE

call-protection clause. A clause in a bond issue or a callable-preferred-stock issue prohibiting the issuer from recalling the security during a specified period. [Cases: Corporations 68, 473. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 177, 180–183, 670.]

CALL THE QUESTION

call the question. Parliamentary law. 1. (Of a member) to move to close debate. 2. (Of a deliberative assembly) to adopt a motion to close debate. See CLOSE DEBATE .

CALL TO ORDER

call to order. See CALL(1).

CALL TO THE BAR

call to the bar, n. The admission of a person to practice law. • This common phrase is a loan translation of the Latin ad barram evocatus (“called to the bar”). See AD BARRAM EVOCATUS. — Also termed calling to the bar. [Cases: Attorney and Client 7. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 19–22.]

CALL UP

call up, vb. Parliamentary law. To bring before a deliberative assembly business that is ready for consideration <call up the motion to reconsider>.

CALUMNIA

calumnia (k<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m-nee-<<schwa>>), n. pl. [Latin “vexatious proceedings”] Roman law. Vexatiously instituted civil proceedings or knowingly false criminal charges made against someone. • The victim had civil or criminal remedies depending on the circumstances.

CALUMNIAE JUDICIUM

calumniae judicium (k<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m-nee-ee joo-dish-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin "action for vexation"] Roman law. A countersuit that a defendant who was maliciously sued could bring after winning a judgment in the principal action.

CALUMNIAE JUSJURANDUM

calumniae jusjurandum (k<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m-nee-ee j<<schwa>>s-j<<schwa>>-ran-d<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin "oath of calumny"] Roman law. An oath given by a litigant that he is not suing or defending vex-atiouly.

CALUMNIATE

calumniate (k<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m-nee-ayt), vb. To slander or make false charges against. — calumnia-tor,n.

CALUMNY

calumny (kal-<<schwa>>m-nee), n. Archaic. 1. The act of maliciously misrepresenting someone's words or actions in a way that is calculated to injure that person's reputation. 2. A false charge or imputation. — calumnious (k<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m-nee-<<schwa>>s), adj. — calumniator (k<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m-nee-ay-t<<schwa>>r), n.

CALVIN'S CASE

Calvin's case.The decision establishing that persons born in Scotland after the 1603 accession of James I to the English throne were deemed natural-born subjects of the King of England and could inherit English land.Calvin v. Smith, 7 Eng. Rep. 1, 2 S.T. 559 (1608).

CALVO CLAUSE

Calvo clause (kahl-voh). A contractual clause by which an alien waives the right to invoke diplomatic immunity. • Such a clause typically appears in a contract between a national government and an alien.

CALVO DOCTRINE

Calvo doctrine.Int'l law. The rule that resident aliens have the same rights to protection as citizens, but no more. • This doctrine, which sought to establish a minimum international standard for the treatment of aliens, was developed by the Argentinian jurist Carlos Calvo in his treatise Le droit international théorique et pratique (5th ed. 1896). The doctrine was intended to prevent aliens from abusing their right of diplomatic protection. It was re-jected by many states on the ground that the doctrine sought to deprive states of their right to protect their citizens in countries when the rights of the general population fell below the minimum international standards.

CAMBIALE JUS cambiale jus (kam-bee-ay-lee j<<schwa>>s). [Latin "law of exchange"] The law of commercial exchange.

CAMBIATOR

cambiator (kam-bee-ay-t<<schwa>>r).Hist. An exchanger, usu. of money (cambiatores monetae).

CAMBIST

cambist (kam-bist). [fr. Latin cambiare “to exchange”] A broker who trades promissory notes or bills of exchange. — Also termed cambiator.

CAMBIUM

cambium (kam-bee-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin “exchange”] Hist. 1.An exchange of money, debt, or land.

cambium locale.A contract of exchange in which a person agrees to pay a sum of money at one location in consideration of money received at another location. — Also termed cambium mercantile; cambium trajectitium.

cambium reale.An exchange of land. — Also termed cambium manuale.

2. A mercantile contract in which the parties agree to exchange money for money; a bill of exchange. — Also termed escambium. 3.Eccles. law. An exchange of money that potentially allows one party to profit. • Historically, most forms of cambium were forbidden under laws against usury but were gradually allowed as a fair recompense for trouble and risk. Cf. (in sense 3) USURY.

CAMERA

camera (kam-<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>>). [Latin] Chamber; room. See IN CAMERA.

CAMERA REGIS

camera regis (kam-<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>> ree-jis). [Latin “chambers of the king”] Hist. A locale that the king takes a particular interest in, usu. expressed as a royal privilege benefiting a city.

CAMERARIUS

camerarius (kam-<<schwa>>-rair-ee-<<schwa>>s). [fr. Latin camera “chamber”] Hist. 1.A chamberlain or other treasurer in charge of public money. 2.BAILIFF.

CAMERA SCACCARII

Camera Scaccarii.See EXCHEQUER CHAMBER.

CAMERA STELLATA

Camera Stellata (kam-<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>> st<<schwa>>-lay-t<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] See STAR CHAMBER, COURT OF.

CAMPERS

campers.Hist. The share of a lawsuit's proceeds payable to a champertor. See CHAMPERTY.

[Cases: Champerty and Maintenance 1. C.J.S. Champerty and Maintenance, Barratry and Related Matters §§ 2–3, 5–6, 12, 14.]

CAMPIPARTIA

campipartia. See CHAMPERTY.

CAMPIPARTICEPS

campiparticeps. See CHAMPERTOR.

CAMPIPARTITIO

campipartitio (kam-p<<schwa>>-pahr-tish-ee-oh). [Law Latin] See CHAMPERTY.

CAN

can,vb.1. To be able to do something <you can lift 500 pounds>.2. To have permission (as often interpreted by courts); MAY <no appeal can be filed until the filing fee is paid>.

CANCEL

cancel,vb.1. To destroy a written instrument by defacing or obliterating it < she canceled her will by marking through it>.2. To terminate a promise, obligation, or right <the parties canceled the contract>. [Cases: Contracts 251.]

CANCELED CHECK

canceled check. See CHECK.

CANCELLARIA

cancellaria (kan-s<<schwa>>-lair-ee-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] See CHANCERY (1). — Also termed curia cancellaria.

CANCELLARIUS

cancellarius (kan-s<<schwa>>-lair-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] 1. A chancellor, scrivener, or notary. 2. See LORD CHANCELLOR.

CANCELLATION

cancellation,n.1. The act of defacing or obliterating a writing (as by marking lines across it) with the intention of rendering it void. 2. An annulment or termination of a promise or an obligation. [Cases: Cancellation of Instruments 1; Contracts 249. C.J.S. Cancellation of Instruments; Rescission §§ 2–7; Contracts §§ 422, 424, 427–428, 456, 465–466, 484.]

flat cancellation. The cancellation of an insurance policy without any charge to the insured. [Cases: Insurance 1933.]

3. An equitable remedy by which courts call in and annul outstanding void or rescinded instruments because they may either spawn vexatious litigation or cloud someone's title to property. [Cases: Cancellation of Instruments 1. C.J.S. Cancellation of Instruments; Rescission

§§ 2–7.] 4.Trademarks. The removal of a trademark from the Principal Register. • A trademark already on the Principal Register can be challenged by a person who claims to be damaged by the placement. For five years after a mark is allowed, it can be canceled for any reason that would have blocked allowance of the application. After that time, if the owner files a declaration under § 15, the grounds for cancellation are more restricted. See INCONTESTABILITY STATUS. Cf. OPPOSITION. [Cases: Trade Regulation 281. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 150, 188, 191–192.] — cancel,vb. — cancelable,adj.

CANCELLATION CLAUSE

cancellation clause.A contractual provision allowing one or both parties to annul their obligations under certain conditions. — Also termed termination clause. [Cases: Contracts 217, 250. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 436–443, 446, 448–449, 462, 500–501.]

CANCELLATURA

cancellatura.Hist. See CANCELLATION.

CANCELLED CHECK

cancelled check.See CHECK.

CANCELLI

cancelli (kan-sel-I). [Latin “lattice, grille”] Archaic. 1. Lines drawn on a writing, esp. a will, indicating its revocation. See CANCELLATION(1).2.Hist. The rails or latticework enclosing the bar of a court.

C & F

C & F.abbr.COST AND FREIGHT. — Also spelled CandF.

CANDIDATE

candidate,n.[fr. Latin candidatus, “clothed in white”; fr. candidus, “white,” from the white toga worn by a can-didate for public office in ancient Rome as a symbol of clean government] An individual seeking nomination, election, or appointment to an office, membership, award, or like title or status. • A candidate for election becomes a “nominee” after being formally nominated. Cf. NOMINEE(1).

CANDLEMAS

Candlemas. See quarter day under DAY.

CANFARA

canfara (kan-f<<schwa>>-r<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Hist. A trial by hot iron, formerly used in England. See ordeal by fire under ORDEAL.

CANON

canon (kan-<<schwa>>n), n.1. A rule or principle, esp. one accepted as fundamental.

canon of construction. A rule used in construing legal instruments, esp. contracts and statutes. • Although a few states have codified the canons of construction — examples of which are contra proferentem and eiusdem generis — most jurisdictions treat the canons as mere customs not having the force of law. — Often shortened to canon. — Also termed rule of construction; rule of interpretation. [Cases: Contracts 143; Statutes 174. C.J.S. Contracts § 302; Statutes § 306.]

“A frequent criticism of the canons [of construction], made forcefully by Professor Llewellyn many years ago, is that for every canon one might bring to bear on a point there is an equal and opposite canon. This is an exaggeration; but what is true is that there is a canon to support every possible result.” Richard A. Posner, The Federal Courts: Crisis and Reform 276 (1985).

canon of descent. (usu. pl.) A common-law rule governing intestate succession. • In England, canons of descent tended to concentrate landholdings in the hands of a few people, an approach generally rejected in the United States. — Also termed canon of inheritance. [Cases: Descent and Distribution 1–19. C.J.S. Conflict of Laws §§ 71, 84; Descent and Distribution §§ 1–22; Right of Privacy and Publicity § 42.]

“The common-law canons of descent tended to prevent the diffusion of landed property, and to promote its accumulation in the hands of a few. The principles sprang from the martial genius of the feudal system. In the United States the English common law of descents, in its essential features, has been rejected; each State has established a law for itself.” William C. Anderson, A Dictionary of Law 349 (1889).

2. (usu. cap.) A maxim stating in general terms the standards of professional conduct expected of lawyers. • The Model Code of Judicial Conduct (1990) contains five canons and hundreds of specific rules. [Cases: Attorney and Client 32(2). C.J.S. Attorney and Client § 44.] 3. A rule of ecclesiastical law. 4. A corpus of writings. 5. A clergy member on the staff of a cathedral.

honorary canon. A canon who serves without pay or other benefits.

6. A fixed regular payment or tribute made as a contribution payable to the church.

CANON EMPHYTEUTICUS

canon emphyteuticus (kan-*<<schwa>>n em-fi-t[y]oo-ti-k<<schwa>>*s). [Latin fr. Greek] Roman law. The annual payment that an emphyteuta made under a contract of emphyteusis. See EMPHYTEUSIS; EMPHYTEUTA.

CANONICAL

canonical (k*<<schwa>>-non-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>*l), adj. 1. (Of a rule or decree) prescribed by, in conformity with, or relating to canon law. 2. Orthodox; conforming to accepted rules or conventions.

CANONICAL DISABILITY

canonical disability. See DISABILITY(3).

CANONICAL IMPEDIMENT canonical impediment. See IMPEDIMENT.

CANONICAL LAW

canonical law. See CANON LAW.

CANONICAL PURGATION

canonical purgation. See PURGATION.

CANONIST

canonist (kan-<<schwa>>n-ist), n. An expert in canon law; esp., a canon lawyer or professor of ecclesiastical law.

CANON LAW

canon law. 1. A body of western ecclesiastical law that was compiled from the 12th to 14th centuries. • It has grown steadily since that time, and is now codified in the Codex Juris Canonici of 1983, replacing that of 1918. — Also termed corpus juris canonici; papal law; jus canonicum. 2. A body of law developed within a particular religious tradition. — Also termed church law; canonical law. Cf. ECCLESIASTICAL LAW. [Cases: Religious Societies 5.C.J.S. Religious Societies § 6.]

“The indirect contributions of the canon law to the development of English law were as great as, and the direct contributions far greater than, those made by the civil law. Indirectly the canon lawyers gave much even to the purely secular law of England, because, during the early Middle Ages, most of the judges or the royal courts were ecclesiastics acquainted with the chief doctrines of canon law.... The direct influence of the canon law in England resulted from its being the law which was administered in the courts of the Church.” W.J.V. Windeyer, Lectures on Legal History 41 (2d ed. 1949).

“Canon law has its roots in theology. But, so far as England is concerned, it may be defined as so much of the law of England as is concerned with the regulation of the affairs of the Church of England.” E. Garth Moore & Timothy Briden, Moore's Introduction to English Canon Law 9 (2d ed. 1985).

CANON OF CONSTRUCTION

canon of construction. See CANON(1).

CANON OF DESCENT

canon of descent. See CANON(1).

CANON OF INHERITANCE

canon of inheritance. See canon of descent under CANON(1).

CANT

cant (kant). Civil law. A method of dividing commonly held property by awarding it to the highest-bidding owner on condition that the successful bidder must buy out each coowner's interest. — Also termed licitation.

CANTRED

cantred (kan-tred). [fr. Welsh cant “hundred” + tref “village”] See HUNDRED.

CANUM

canum (kay-n<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. A duty or tribute payable from a tenant to a lord, usu. consisting of produce from the land.

CANVASS

canvass,vb. 1. To examine in detail; scrutinize <that issue has been repeatedly canvassed by our state's courts>.2. To formally count ballots and report the returns <canvass the votes>.

“When all the ballots have been collected, including those of the presiding officer, the secretary, and the tellers, the ballots are canvassed by the tellers. Canvassing the ballots means more than just counting. It includes evaluating ballots to identify those that are invalid, blank, cast for illegal nominees, illegible, abstaining, and the like, and reporting the total results to the presiding officer for his announcement of the results.” Ray E. Keeseey, Modern Parliamentary Procedure 113 (1994).

3. To solicit political support from voters or a voting district; to take stock of public opinion <the candidate is actively canvassing the Western states>. — canvass,n.

CAP

cap,n. An upper limit, such as a statutory limit on the recovery in a tort action or on the interest a bank can charge. — cap,vb.

CAPACITATE

capacitate (k<<schwa>>-pas-<<schwa>>-tayt), vb. To qualify; to make legally competent. — capacitation (k<<schwa>>-pas-<<schwa>>-tay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.

CAPACITY

capacity. 1. The role in which one performs an act <in her corporate capacity>.

proprietary capacity.The capacity of a city or town when it engages in a business-like venture rather than a governmental function. See PROPRIETARY FUNCTION. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 57. C.J.S. Mu-nicipal Corporations §§ 104, 106, 108, 110–115, 117–118, 122, 137–138, 143, 145–146.]

representative capacity.The position of one standing or acting for another, esp. through delegated authority <an agent acting in a representative capacity for the principal>. [Cases: Principal and Agent 1. C.J.S. Agency §§ 2, 4–6, 23, 25–27, 33, 38–40, 58; Architects § 21.]

2. The power to create or enter into a legal relation under the same circumstances in which a normal person would have the power to create or enter into such a relation; specif., the satisfaction of a legal qualification, such as legal age or soundness of mind, that determines one's ability to sue or be sued, to enter into a binding contract, and the like <she had full capacity to bind the corporation with her signature>. • Unless necessary to show the court's jurisdiction, a plaintiff's pleadings need not assert the legal capacity of any party. A party wishing to raise the issue of capacity must do so by specific negative pleading. Fed. R. Civ. P. 9(a). — Also termed (specif.) capacity to sue; power over oneself. See STANDING. Cf. LACK OF CAPACITY. [Cases: Contracts 11; Federal Civil Procedure 111; Infants 70. C.J.S. Contracts § 32; Infants §§ 215, 226.] 3. The mental ability to understand the nature and effect of one's acts <his acute pain reduced his capacity to understand the hospital's admission form>. — Also termed mental capacity; sane memory. See COMPETENCY.

criminal capacity.The mental ability that a person must possess to be held accountable for a crime; the ability to understand right from wrong. See INSANITY; INFANCY. [Cases: Criminal Law 46; Homicide 815. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 96–98, 113.]

diminished capacity.An impaired mental condition — short of insanity — that is caused by intoxication, trauma, or disease and that prevents a person from having the mental state necessary to be held responsible for a crime. • In some jurisdictions, a defendant's diminished capacity can be used to determine the degree of the offense or the severity of the punishment. — Also termed diminished responsibility. Cf. INSANITY. [Cases: Criminal Law 46; Homicide 816. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 96–98, 113.]

disposing capacity.See testamentary capacity.

testamentary capacity.The mental ability that a person must have to prepare a valid will. • This capacity is often described as the ability to recognize the natural objects of one's bounty, the nature and extent of one's estate, and the fact that one is making a plan to dispose of the estate after death. Traditionally, the phrase “of legal age and sound mind” refers to the testator's capacity. — Also termed disposing capacity; disposing mind; sound mind. See age of capacity under AGE. [Cases: Wills 21–55. C.J.S. Indians § 117; Wills §§ 2, 4–40.]

4. The ability or power to do or experience something.

decreased capacity.A diminution in a person's physical ability because of an illness, injury, or impairment.

CAPACITY DEFENSE

capacity defense. See DEFENSE(1).

CAPACITY TO SUE

capacity to sue. See CAPACITY(2).

CAPAX DOLI

capax doli (kay-paks doh-II). See DOLI CAPAX.

CAPAX NEGOTII

capax negotii (kay-paks ni-goh-shee-I), adj. [Latin “capable of entering into a transaction”] (Of a person) having capacity to enter into a contract; capable of transacting business.

CAPE

cape (kay-pee). Hist. [Latin “take”] A writ filed to recover possession of land.

cape magnum (kay-pee mag-n<<schwa>>m). [Latin “grand” cape] A writ granting possession of land before a tenant's appearance in the action. — Also termed magnum cape; grand cape.

cape parvum (kay-pee pahr-v<<schwa>>m). [Latin “little” cape] A writ for the recovery of land issuing after the appearance of the tenant in the action. — Also termed petit cape.

“Cape is a writ judicial touching plee of land or tenements, so tearmed (as most writs be) of that word in itselpe, which carieth the especiallest intention or end thereof. And this writ is divided in (Cape magnum, & Cape parvum:) both which ... take hold of things immoveable, and seeme to differ betweene themselves in these points. First, because (cape magnum) or the (grand Cape) lyeth before appearance, and (Cape parvum) afterward. Secondly, the (Cape magnum) summoneth the tenent to aunswer to the default, and over to the demaundant: (Cape parvum) summoneth the tenent to aunswer to the default onely: and therefore is called (Cape parvum) or in French English (petit Cape.)” John Cowell, The Interpreter (1607).

CAPIAS

capias (kay-pee-<<schwa>>s orkap-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “that you take”] Any of various types of writs that require an officer to take a named defendant into custody. • A capias is often issued when a respondent fails to appear or when an obligor has failed to pay child support. — Also termed writ of capias; body execution. [Cases: Process 9.]

capias ad audiendum judicium (ad aw-dee-en-d<<schwa>>m joo-dish-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “that you take to hear the judgment”] In a misdemeanor case, a writ issued to bring the defendant to hear the judgment to be imposed after having failed to appear.

capias ad computandum (ad kom-pyoo-tan-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin “that you take for computation”] Hist. A writ issued when a debtor has failed to appear and make account after losing in an action of account render. See ACCOUNTING(3).

capias ad faciendum. Hist. A writ used to enforce a creditor's judgment against a debtor by authorizing the debtor's arrest and imprisonment.

capias ad respondendum (ad ree-spon-den-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin “that you take to answer”] A writ commanding the sheriff to take the defendant into custody to ensure that the defendant will appear in court. — Abbr. ca. resp.; ca. re.; ca. ad re.

capias ad satisfaciendum (ad sat-is-fay-shee-en-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin “that you take to satisfy”] Hist. A post-judgment writ commanding the sheriff to imprison the defendant until the judgment is satisfied. — Abbr. ca. sa. [Cases: Execution 421. C.J.S. Executions § 24.]

capias extendi facias (ek-sten-dIfay-shee-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩s). [Latin “take for extending”] Hist. A writ of execution issued against one who is indebted to the Crown, commanding the sheriff to arrest the debtor.

capias in withernam (in with-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩r-nahm). [Law Latin “taking again”] A writ authorizing the sheriff to seize the goods or cattle of a wrongful distrainer. — Also termed writ of withernam. See WITHERNAM.

capias pro fine (proh fI-nee). [Latin “that you take for the fine”] A writ for the arrest of a person who had not paid an imposed fine. — Also termed capiatur pro fine. [Cases: Fines 9.]

capias utlagatum (⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩t-l⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-gay-t⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩m). [Latin “you take the outlaw”] A writ commanding the arrest of an outlawed person. [Cases: Criminal Law 1000.]

CAPIENDO SECURITATEM PRO DUPLICATIONE FEUDIFIRMAE

capiendo securitatem pro duplicatione feudifirmae (kap-ee-en-doh si-kyuur-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩-tay-t⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩m proh d[y]oo-pli-kay-shee-oh-nee fyoo-di-f⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩r-mee). [Law Latin “by taking caution for the payment of a double of the feu-duty”] Hist. In a precept for entry of an heir, a clause that cautions against taking a double feu payment when the investiture did not expressly provide for it.

CAPITA

capita. See PER CAPITA.

CAPITAL

capital, adj. 1. Of or relating to economic or financial capital <capital market>. 2. Punishable by execution; involving the death penalty . [Cases: Sentencing and Punishment 1610. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1529–1530, 1606–1607.]

capital, n. 1. Money or assets invested, or available for investment, in a business. 2. The total assets of a business, esp. those that help generate profits. 3. The total amount or value of a corporation's stock; corporate equity. See capital stock under STOCK. [Cases: Corporations 61. C.J.S. Corporations § 130.]

actual capital. Funds generated by the sale of stock. See capital stock (1) under STOCK.

authorized capital. See nominal capital.

circulating capital. See floating capital.

debt capital. Funds raised by issuing bonds.

equity capital. Funds provided by a company's owners in exchange for evidence of ownership, such as stock. [Cases: Corporations 60. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 122–125.]

fixed capital. 1. The amount of money invested in fixed assets, such as land and machinery. 2.

Fixed assets.

floating capital. 1. Funds not allocated to a particular class of the corporation's capital stock. 2. Funds not pre-sently invested or committed; esp., money retained for the purpose of meeting current expenditures. — Also termed circulating capital.

impaired capital. Corporate funds consisting of assets that are less than the sum of the corporation's legal capital and its liabilities.

legal capital. An amount equal to the aggregate “par” or stated value of all outstanding shares of a corporation, or, in the case of stock without par value, an amount set by the board of directors. • A minority of states require this amount to remain in the corporation to protect creditors. — Also termed stated capital. [Cases: Corporations 60. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 122–125.]

moneyed capital. Money that is invested with the intent of making a profit.

nominal capital. The minimum value of the shares that a company is authorized by its association documents to issue. — Also termed authorized capital.

paid-in capital. The money paid for the capital stock of a corporation. [Cases: Corporations 16, 60. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 41–43, 122–125.]

proprietary capital. Money that represents the initial investment in a sole proprietorship.

risk capital. 1. Money or property invested in a business venture, esp. one in which the investor has no managerial control. 2. See venture capital.

stated capital. 1. See legal capital. 2. The total equity of a corporation as it appears on the balance sheet.

subscribed capital. The total value of stock for which there are subscriptions (contracts of purchase).

venture capital. Funds invested in a new enterprise that has high risk and the potential for a high return. — Also termed risk capital. See SEED MONEY.

working capital. Current assets (such as cash, inventory, and accounts receivable) less current liabilities. • Working capital measures liquidity and the ability to discharge short-term obligations. [Cases: Corporations 152. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 295–299.]

CAPITAL ACCOUNT

capital account. See ACCOUNT.

CAPITAL ASSET

capital asset. See ASSET.

CAPITAL CONTRIBUTION

capital contribution. 1. Cash, property, or services contributed by partners to a partnership. [Cases: Partnership 72, 355. C.J.S. Partnership §§ 80, 409.] 2. Funds made available by a shareholder, usu. without an increase in stock holdings. [Cases: Corporations 60. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 122–125.]

CAPITAL CRIME

capital crime. See capital offense under OFFENSE(1).

CAPITALE

capitale (kap-i-tay-lee). [Latin “a thing”] Hist. 1. Movable property, esp. animals (such as 100 head of cattle). • Over time, chattel became the more common term. 2. A stolen thing, or its equivalent value. Pl. capitalia.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURE

capital expenditure. An outlay of funds to acquire or improve a fixed asset. — Also termed capital improvement; capital outlay.

CAPITAL EXPENSE

capital expense. See EXPENSE.

CAPITAL FLIGHT

capital flight. The sending of large amounts of investment money out of a country, usu. as a result of panic caused by political turmoil or a severe recession.

CAPITAL GAIN

capital gain. The profit realized when a capital asset is sold or exchanged. — Also termed capital gains. Cf. ordinary gain under GAIN(3); capital loss under LOSS. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3230.1–3234. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 128–129, 132, 490–491.]

“Throughout most of the history of income taxation in the U.S., a distinction has been drawn between the rate of taxation on ‘ordinary income’ (or ordinary loss) and ‘capital gain’ (or capital loss). ‘Capital gain’ refers to the income from certain transactions in some assets, called capital assets, or from other transactions that Congress has said should be taxed as capital gain.... The most common form of capital gain or loss transaction is a sale of an asset such as a share of stock or a parcel of land, for cash.” John K. McNulty, Federal Income Taxation of Individuals in a Nutshell 420 (5th ed. 1995).

long-term capital gain. The profit realized from selling or exchanging a capital asset held for more than a specified period, usu. one year. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3260. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 127.]

short-term capital gain. The profit realized from selling or exchanging a capital asset held for less than a specified period, usu. one year. • It is treated as ordinary income under current federal tax law. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3260. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 127.]

CAPITAL-GAIN DISTRIBUTION

capital-gain distribution. See capital-gain dividend under DIVIDEND.

CAPITAL-GAIN DIVIDEND

capital-gain dividend. See DIVIDEND.

CAPITAL GAINS

capital gains. See CAPITAL GAIN.

CAPITAL-GAINS TAX

capital-gains tax. See TAX.

CAPITAL GOODS

capital goods. See GOODS.

CAPITAL IMPAIRMENT

capital impairment. The financial condition of a corporation whose assets are less than the sum of its legal capital and its liabilities.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT

capital improvement. See CAPITAL EXPENDITURE.

CAPITALIS

capitalis (kap-i-tay-lis), adj. [Latin] 1. Roman law. (Of a crime) punishable by death, loss of liberty, or loss of citizenship. See CAPUT. 2. Hist. (Of a person or judicial proceeding) that is principal or chief.

capitalis, n. [Latin "chief"] Hist. A principal (or chief) person, object, or judicial proceeding.

CAPITALIS BARO

capitalis baro (kap-i-tay-lis bar-oh). [Latin "chief baron"] Hist. The chief baron of the Court of Exchequer. See CHIEF BARON.

CAPITALIS CUSTOS

capitalis custos (kap-i-tay-lis k<<schwa>>s-tohs). [Latin "chief guardian"] Hist. 1. A chief warden or magistrate. 2. Loosely, a mayor.

CAPITALIS DOMINUS

capitalis dominus (kap-i-tay-lis dom-<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>s). [Latin "chief lord"] Hist. A tenant's immediate lord; CHIEF LORD.

CAPITALIS JUSTICIARIUS

capitalis justiciarius (kap-i-tay-lis j<<schwa>>s-tish-ee-air-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin "chief justiciary"] Hist. The principal minister of state who governed when the king traveled abroad. • By the 13th century the duties of office were more judicial than political. See JUSTICIARY(2).

CAPITALIS JUSTICIARIUS AD PLACITA CORAM REGE TENENDA

capitalis justiciarius ad placita coram rege tenenda (kap-i-tay-lis j<<schwa>>s-tish-ee-air-ee-<<schwa>>s ad plas-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>> kor-<<schwa>>m ree-jee t<<schwa>>-nen-d<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. Chief justice for holding pleas before the king. • This phrase — which dates from the 13th century — referred to the chief justice of the King's Bench.

CAPITALIS JUSTICIARIUS BANCII

capitalis justiciarius bancii (kap-i-tay-lis j<<schwa>>s-tish-ee-air-ee-<<schwa>>s ban-sI). [Latin] Chief justice of the bench. • This phrase — which dates from the 13th century — referred to the chief justice of the Court of Common Pleas.

CAPITALIS JUSTICIARIUS TOTIUS ANGLIAE

capitalis justiciarius totius Angliae (kap-i-tay-lis j<<schwa>>s-tish-ee-air-ee-<<schwa>>s toh-shee-<<schwa>>s ang-gee-ee). [Latin] Hist. Chief justice of all England. • This was the title of the presiding justice in the court of aula regis.

CAPITALISM

capitalism,n. An economic system that depends on the private ownership of the means of production and on competitive forces to determine what is produced. Cf. COMMUNISM(1). — capitalist,adj. & n.

CAPITALIS PLEGIUS

capitalis plegius (kap-i-tay-lis plee-jee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “chief pledge”] Hist.1.A chief pledge or surety. 2.BORSHOLDER.

CAPITALIS TERRA

capitalis terra (kap-i-tay-lis ter-<<schwa>>). [Latin “head-land”] Hist. A piece of land lying before, or at the head of, other land.

CAPITALIZATION

capitalization,n.1. The act or process of capitalizing or converting something into capital. 2. The amount or sum resulting from this act or process. 3. The total amount of long-term financing used by a business, including stocks, bonds, retained earnings, and other funds. 4. The total par value or stated value of the authorized or outstanding stock of a corporation.

thin capitalization.The financial condition of a firm that has a high ratio of liabilities to capital.

undercapitalization. The financial condition of a firm that does not have enough capital to carry on its business. [Cases: Corporations 1.4(1). C.J.S. Corporations §§ 9, 13.]

CAPITALIZATION ACCOUNTING METHOD

capitalization accounting method. See ACCOUNTING METHOD.

CAPITALIZATION RATE

capitalization rate. The interest rate used in calculating the present value of future periodic payments. — Also termed cap rate; income yield.

CAPITALIZATION RATIO

capitalization ratio. The ratio between the amount of capital raised and the total capitalization of the firm. — Also termed capital ratio.

CAPITALIZE

capitalize, vb. 1. To convert (earnings) into capital. 2. To treat (a cost) as a capital expenditure rather than an ordinary and necessary expense. 3. To determine the present value of (long-term income). 4. To supply capital for (a business).

CAPITALIZED EXPENSE

capitalized expense. See EXPENSE.

CAPITAL LEASE

capital lease. See LEASE-PURCHASE AGREEMENT.

CAPITAL LEVERAGE

capital leverage. The use of borrowed funds in a business to obtain a return greater than the interest rate. See LEVERAGE.

CAPITAL LOSS

capital loss. See LOSS.

CAPITAL MARKET

capital market. See MARKET.

CAPITAL OFFENSE

capital offense. See OFFENSE(1).

CAPITAL OUTLAY

capital outlay. 1. CAPITAL EXPENDITURE. 2. Money expended in acquiring, equipping, and promoting a business.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

capital punishment. The sentence of death for a serious crime. — Also termed death penalty. See DEATH PENALTY.

“At Common Law capital punishment was imposed for a few very serious offences such as treason, murder, rape, and burning a dwelling-house. Even as late as 1688, despite the exceptionally rigorous laws which had been enacted during the reigns of the Tudors and Stuarts, no more than about fifty offences carried the death penalty. In the eighteenth century, however, their number began spectacularly to increase.... Broadly speaking, in the course of the hundred and sixty years from the Restoration to the death of George III, the number of capital offences had increased by about one hundred and ninety.” 1 Leon Radzinowicz, A History of English Criminal Law § 1, at 4 (1948).

CAPITAL RATIO

capital ratio. See CAPITALIZATION RATIO.

CAPITAL RECOVERY

capital recovery. The collection of charged-off bad debt that has been previously written off against the allowance for doubtful accounts.

CAPITAL RETURN

capital return. See RETURN.

CAPITAL-RISK TEST

capital-risk test. Securities. A method of determining whether a transaction constitutes an investment contract (subject to securities laws), whereby if a substantial portion of the capital used by a franchiser to start its operations is provided by a franchisee, then the transaction is treated as an investment contract. [Cases: Securities Regulation 5.10. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 3, 9–10, 33.]

CAPITAL STOCK

capital stock. See STOCK.

CAPITAL-STOCK TAX

capital-stock tax. See TAX.

CAPITAL STRUCTURE

capital structure. The mix of debt and equity by which a business finances its operations; the relative proportions of short-term debt, long-term debt, and capital stock.

CAPITAL SURPLUS

capital surplus. See SURPLUS.

CAPITAL TRANSACTION

capital transaction. A purchase, sale, or exchange of a capital asset.

CAPITANEUS

capitaneus (kap-i-tay-nee-<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin “tenant in chief”] 1.Hist. A tenant in capite; one who holds title directly from the king. — Also termed cataneus. 2.Maritime law. A ship captain or naval commander. 3. A ruler or leader.

CAPITATION

capitation. See poll tax under TAX.

CAPITATION TAX

capitation tax. See poll tax under TAX.

CAPITIS AESTIMATIO

capitis aestimatio (kap-i-tis es-ti-may-shee-oh). [Latin “valuing of a head”] Hist. A monetary estimate of a person's life, made to assess a penalty for the person's slaying. See WERGILD.

CAPITIS DEMINUTIO

capitis deminutio (kap-i-tis dem-i-n[y]oo-shee-oh). [Latin “reduction of status”] Roman law. A diminution or alteration of a person's legal status. — Also spelled capitis diminutio. See DE CAPITE MINUTIS.

“Capitis deminutio is the destruction of the ‘caput’ or legal personality. Capitis deminutio, so to speak, wipes out the former individual and puts a new one in his place, and between the old and the new individual there is, legally speaking, nothing in common. A juristic personality may be thus destroyed in one of three ways: (1) by loss of the status libertatis. This is the capitis deminutio maxima; (2) by loss of the status civitatis. This is the capitis deminutio media (magna); (3) by severance from the agnatic family. This entails capitis deminutio minima.” Rudolph Sohm, The Institutes: A Textbook of the History and System of Roman Private Law 178–79 (James Crawford Ledlie trans., 3d ed. 1907).

capitis deminutio maxima (kap-i-tis dem-i-n[y]oo-shee-oh mak-si-m<<schwa>>). [Latin “maximum reduction of status”] Roman law. The diminution of a person's legal status as a result of being reduced to slavery.

capitis deminutio minima (kap-i-tis dem-i-n[y]oo-shee-oh min-i-m<<schwa>>). [Latin “minimal reduction of status”] Roman law. The diminution of a person's legal status involving a change of family, while both citizenship and freedom were retained.

capitis deminutio minor (kap-i-tis dem-i-n[y]oo-shee-oh mI-n<<schwa>>r). [Latin “minor reduction of status”] Roman law. The diminution of a person's legal status involving a loss of citizenship but not of freedom. • Under the Empire, banishment for life to an island or other restricted area had this effect. — Also termed capitis deminutio media.

CAPITULA

capitula (k<<schwa>>-pich-<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>). [Law Latin “chapters”] Hist. 1.Collections of laws or ordinances organized under various headings. — Also termed capitulary. 2. Chapters or assemblies of ecclesiastical persons.

CAPITULA CORONAE

capitula coronae (k<<schwa>>-pich-<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> k<<schwa>>-roh-nee). [Latin “chapters of the Crown”] Hist. A more detailed form of the articles of the eyre. See ARTICLES OF THE EYRE.

CAPITULA DE JUDAEIS

capitula de judaeis (k<<schwa>>-pich-<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> dee joo-dee-is). [Latin “chapters on the Jews”] Hist. 1.Laws concerning the Jews. 2. Questions posed by the justices in eyre to determine the amount a Jew would pay to receive the king's protection and a license to conduct business. • The capitula de judaeis reflected the pervasive anti-Semitism of medieval England. Cf. ARTICLES OF THE EYRE.

CAPITULA ITINERIS

capitula itineris (k<<schwa>>-pich-<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> I-tin-<<schwa>>-ris). [Law Latin “chapters of the eyre”] See ARTICLES OF THE EYRE.

CAPITULARY

capitulary (k<<schwa>>-pich-<<schwa>>-ler-ee). [Latin “chapter or section (of a code)”] 1. Any orderly and systematic collection or code of laws. See CAPITULA(1).2.Hist. A law or series of laws enacted by a Frankish king, esp. Charlemagne, dealing esp. with ecclesiastical affairs.

CAPITULATION

capitulation (k<<schwa>>-pich-<<schwa>>-lay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The act of surrendering or giving in. 2.Int'l law. An agreement to surrender a fortified place or a military or naval force. • A commander in control may generally make such an agreement for the place or force. [Cases: War and National Emergency 9. C.J.S. War and National Defense § 4.] 3.Hist. An agreement between a Christian state and a non-Christian one (such as the Ottoman Empire) giving subjects of the former certain privileges in the territory of the latter. — capitulate,vb. — capitulatory,adj.

CAPJ

CAPJ.abbr.See chief administrative patent judge under JUDGE.

CAPPER

capper. 1. One who solicits business for an attorney. See BARRATRY(1); RUNNER (2).2.Slang. A person who acts as a lure for others (as in a gambling or confidence game). — Also termed (in sense 2) stool pigeon.

CAP RATE

cap rate.See CAPITALIZATION RATE.

CAPRICE

caprice (k<<schwa>>-prees), n.1. Arbitrary or unfounded motivation. 2. The disposition to change one's mind impulsively.

CAPRICIOUS

capricious (k<<schwa>>-prish-<<schwa>>s), adj.1. (Of a person) characterized by or guided by unpredictable or impulsive behavior. 2. (Of a decree) contrary to the evidence or established rules of law. Cf. ARBITRARY.

CAPTA

CAPTA.abbr.CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION AND TREATMENT ACT.

CAPTAIN-OF-THE-SHIP DOCTRINE

captain-of-the-ship doctrine.In medical-malpractice law, the doctrine imposing liability on a surgeon for the actions of assistants who are under the surgeon's control but who are employees of the hospital, not the surgeon. [Cases: Health 787.]

CAPTAIN'S MAST

captain's mast.Military law. The nonjudicial punishment of an enlisted person by a military commanding officer. • This type of punishment is usu. for a minor offense. See nonjudicial punishment under PUNISHMENT. [Cases: Armed Services 39; Military Justice 525. C.J.S. Armed Services §§ 155, 159; Military Justice §§ 24–27.]

CAPTATION

caption (kap-tay-sh<<schwa>>n).Civil law. Coercion of a testator resulting in the substitution of another person's desires for those of the testator. • The term formerly applied to the first stage of a hypnotic trance. Cf. UNDUE INFLUENCE . [Cases: Wills 154. C.J.S. Wills § 345.]

CAPTATOR

captator (kap-tay-t<<schwa>>r).Civil law. A person who obtains or tries to obtain a gift or legacy through artifice. See UNDUE INFLUENCE.

CAPTIO

captio (kap-shee-oh).Hist.1. An arrest of a person, or a seizure of a thing. 2. The holding of court.

CAPTION

caption. 1. The introductory part of a court paper stating the names of the parties, the name of the court, the docket or file number, and a description of the paper. Fed. R. Civ. P. 10(a). Cf. STYLE(1). [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 626; Pleading 4, 43–46. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 8, 96–99, 163.] 2. The arrest or seizure of a person by legal process.

CAPTIVE

captive,n.1. A person who is unlawfully seized and held by another. Cf. PRISONER. 2.PRISONER OF WAR. 3. An animal, esp. a wild one, that is caught and kept confined.

CAPTIVE-AUDIENCE DOCTRINE

captive-audience doctrine. 1.Constitutional law. The principle that when the listener cannot, as a practical matter, escape from intrusive speech, the speech can be restricted. [Cases: Constitutional Law 90. C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 539, 542.] 2.Labor law. The rule that prohibits either party to a union election from making a speech on company time to a mass assembly of employees within 24 hours of an election. — Also termed captive-audience rule.

CAPTIVE INSURANCE

captive insurance.See INSURANCE.

CAPTIVE INSURANCE COMPANY

captive insurance company.See INSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPTIVE INSURER

captive insurer.See captive insurance company under INSURANCE COMPANY.

CAPTIVE LAW FIRM

captive law firm.See LAW FIRM.

CAPTURE

capture. See RULE OF CAPTURE.

CAPTURE-AND-HOLD RULE

capture-and-hold rule.Oil & gas. For royalty-calculation purposes, the doctrine that “production” occurs when oil or gas is pumped to the surface and stored, whether at the wellhead or elsewhere on the leased property. Cf. MARKETABLE-PRODUCT RULE.

CAPUT

caput (kap-<<schwa>>t), n. [Latin “head”] 1.Hist. A head, chief, or principal person. 2.Roman law. A person. 3.Roman law. A person's condition or status.

“A ‘natural,’ as opposed to an ‘artificial,’ person is such a human being as is regarded by the law as capable of rights or duties: in the language of Roman law as having a ‘status.’ ... Besides possessing this general legal capacity, or status, a man may also possess various special capacities, such as the ‘tria capita’ of liberty, citizenship, and family rights. A slave having, as such, neither rights nor liabilities, had in Roman law, strictly speaking, no ‘status,’ ‘caput,’ or ‘persona.’ ... It must however be remembered that the terms ‘persona’ and ‘caput’ were also used in popular language as nearly equivalent to ‘homo,’ and in this sense were applied to slaves as well as to freemen.” Thomas E. Holland, The Elements of Jurisprudence 80–81 (4th ed. 1888).

CAPUT COMITATUS

caput comitatus (kap-<<schwa>>t kom-<<schwa>>-tay-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin “head of the county”] Hist. The head of a county; a sheriff.

CAPUT GERAT LUPINUM

caput gerat lupinum (kap-<<schwa>>t jeer-<<schwa>>t loo-pl-n<<schwa>>m). [Latin “let him bear the head of a wolf”] Hist. An outlawed felon considered a pariah — a lone wolf — open to attack by anyone. See OUT-LAWRY.

“He who breaks the law has gone to war with the community; the community goes to war with him. It is the right and duty of every man to pursue him, to ravage his land, to burn his house, to hunt him down like a wild beast and slay him; for a wild beast he is; not merely is he a ‘friendless man,’ he is a wolf....Caput gerat lupinum — in these words the court decreed outlawry.” 2 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, The History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 449 (2d ed. 1899).

CAPUT MORTUUM

caput mortuum. Archaic. A matter or thing that is void as to all persons and for all purposes.

CARCANUM

carcanum (kahr-kay-n<<schwa>>m). [Latin “iron collar, pillory”] Hist. A prison or workhouse.

CARCELAGE

carcelage (kahr-s<<schwa>>-lij). [fr. Latin carcer “prison”] Hist. Prison fees.

CARCER

carcer (kahr-s<<schwa>>r), n. [Latin “jail, prison”] Hist. A prison or jail, esp. one used to detain rather than punish. • Carcer, as used in English law and Roman law, usu. referred to a jail used as a place of detention during trial or after sentence pending execution, rather than as a place of punishment. The modern term incarceration derives from this word.

CARDINAL-CHANGE DOCTRINE

cardinal-change doctrine. Contracts. The principle that if the government makes a fundamental, unilateral change to a contract beyond the scope of what was originally contemplated, the other party (usu. a contractor) will be released from the obligation to continue work under the contract. • A contractor's allegation of cardinal change is essentially an assertion that the government has breached the contract. [Cases: United States 73(17).]

CARDO CONTROVERSIAE

cardo controversiae (kahr-doh kon-tr<<schwa>>-v<<schwa>>r-shee-ee). [Law Latin] Hist. The hinge of the controversy; the main point of a controversy.

CA. RE

ca. re. See capias ad respondendum under CAPIAS.

CARE

care, n. 1. Serious attention; heed <written with care>. 2. Under the law of negligence or of obligations, the conduct demanded of a person in a given situation. • Typically, this involves a person's giving attention both to possible dangers, mistakes, and pitfalls and to ways of minimizing those risks <standard of care>. See DEGREE OF CARE; REASONABLE PERSON. [Cases: Negligence 230. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 34, 59, 114, 116–117.]

adequate care. See reasonable care.

due care. See reasonable care.

extraordinary care. See great care.

great care. 1. The degree of care that a prudent person exercises in dealing with very important personal affairs. 2. The degree of care exercised in a given situation by someone in the business or profession of dealing with the situation. — Also termed extraordinary care; high degree of care; utmost care.

high degree of care. See great care.

highest degree of care. 1. The degree of care exercised commensurate with the danger involved. [Cases: Negligence 230. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 34, 59, 114, 116–117.] 2. See great care.

ordinary care. See reasonable care.

proper care. See reasonable care.

reasonable care. As a test of liability for negligence, the degree of care that a prudent and competent person engaged in the same line of business or endeavor would exercise under similar circumstances. — Also termed due care; ordinary care; adequate care; proper care. See REASONABLE PERSON. [Cases: Negligence 233. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 34, 118–121, 125–127, 130–131, 133.]

slight care. The degree of care a person gives to matters of minor importance; the degree of care given by a person of limited accountability.

utmost care. See great care.

3. Family law. The provision of physical or psychological comfort to another, esp. an ailing spouse, child, or parent.

CAREER CRIMINAL

career criminal. See RECIDIVIST.

CAREER OFFENDER

career offender. See OFFENDER.

CAREER VICE-CONSUL

career vice-consul. See VICE-CONSUL.

CAREGIVER

caregiver. Family law. A person, usu. not a parent, who has and exercises custodial responsibility for a child or for an elderly or disabled person. — Also termed caretaker; custodian. See RESIDENTIAL RESPONSIBILITY.

CARELESS

careless, adj. 1. (Of a person) not exercising reasonable care. 2. (Of an action or behavior) engaged in without reasonable care. Cf. RECKLESS.

CARELESSNESS

carelessness, n. 1. The fact, condition, or instance of a person's either not having done what he or she ought to have done, or having done what he or she ought not to have done. 2. A person's general disposition not to do something that ought to be done.

“The word ‘carelessness’ as a synonym for negligence can be committed by those who care deeply. A man may take all the care of which he is capable, and yet be accounted negligent for failing to reach the objective standard. He may honestly ... believe that the facts are such that he is not imperilling anyone; but he may be held to have been negligent in arriving at that belief. An incompetent driver may be convicted of driving ‘without due care and attention’ even though he was doing his level best. The careless person is the person who does not take the care he ought to take: never mind whether he felt careful. He can be held to be negligent in making a perfectly honest mistake.” Glanville Williams, Textbook of Criminal Law 44–45 (1978).

CA. RESP

ca. resp. See capias ad respondendum under CAPIAS.

CARETAKER

caretaker. See CAREGIVER.

CARETAKING FUNCTIONS

caretaking functions. Family law. A parent's or caregiver's task that either involves interaction with a child or directs others' interaction with a child. • Some caretaking functions include feeding and bathing a child, guiding the child in language and motor-skills development, caring for a sick child, disciplining the child, being involved in the child's educational development, and giving the child moral instruction and guidance. Principles of the Law of Family Dissolution: Analysis and Recommendations § 2.03 (ALI, Tentative Draft No. 3, pt. I, 1998). Cf. PARENTING FUNCTIONS.

CARGO

cargo. Goods transported by a vessel, airplane, or vehicle; FREIGHT(1).

general cargo.Goods and materials of various types transported by carriers, often in a common load, with few or no restrictions.

hazardous cargo.Dangerous goods or materials whose carriage is usu. subject to stringent regulatory and statutory restrictions.

CARGO INSURANCE

cargo insurance.See INSURANCE.

CARJACKING

carjacking. The forcible theft of a vehicle from a motorist; the unlawful commandeering of an automobile. 18 USCA § 2119. [Cases: Robbery 1.C.J.S. Robbery §§ 2, 4, 12, 90–91.] — carjack,vb.

CARNAL ABUSE

carnal abuse.See sexual abuse (1) under ABUSE.

CARNALIS COPULA

carnalis copula.See SEXUAL RELATIONS(1).

CARNAL KNOWLEDGE

carnal knowledge.Archaic. Sexual intercourse, esp. with an underage female. — Sometimes shortened to knowledge. [Cases: Incest 6; Rape 7.C.J.S. Incest § 5; Rape § 17.]

“The ancient term for the act itself was ‘carnal knowledge’ and this is found in some of the recent cases and statutes. The phrase ‘sexual intercourse,’ more common today apart from legal literature, is also found in recent cases and statutes. Either term, when the reference is to rape, is sometimes coupled with the word ‘ravish.’ And unlawful intercourse with a girl under the age of consent is often characterized as ‘carnal knowledge and abuse.’ ” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 201 (3d ed. 1982).

CARNET

carnet (kahr-nay). A customs document allowing an item (esp. an automobile) to be exported temporarily from one country into another country.

CARRIAGE

carriage. Transport of freight or passengers.

CARRIAGE AND INSURANCE PAID TO carriage and insurance paid to.A mercantile-contract term allocating the rights and duties of the buyer and the seller of goods with respect to delivery, payment, and risk of loss, whereby the seller must (1) clear the goods for export, (2) procure and pay for insurance against the buyer's risk of damage while the goods are in carriage, (3) deliver the goods to the buyer's chosen carrier, and (4) bear the costs of carriage (apart from import duties) to the named destination. • When the goods are delivered to the carrier, the seller's delivery is complete; the risk of loss then passes to the buyer. Any mode of transportation can be used to carry the goods. — Abbr. CIP. Cf. CAR-RIAGE PAID TO.

CARRIAGE OF GOODS BY SEA ACT

Carriage of Goods by Sea Act. Maritime law. A 1936 federal statute regulating a carrier's liability for the loss or damage, and sometimes the delay, of ocean cargo shipped under a bill of lading. 46 USCA §§ 1300–1315. • The Act defines many of the rights and responsibilities of both the issuers and the holders of ocean bills of lading. — Abbr. COGSA. [Cases: Shipping 103. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 232–242.]

“The Carriage of Goods by Sea Act (COGSA), the domestic enactment of the international convention popularly known as the Hague Rules, allocates the risk of loss for cargo damage that occurs during ocean transportation to or from the United States under contracts evidenced by bills of lading and similar documents of title. It is the central statute in commercial admiralty, governing over $200 billion worth of American foreign commerce annually. The other major maritime countries of the world have also adopted the Hague Rules to govern their international ocean commerce.” Michael F. Sturley, The Fair Opportunity Requirement Under COGSA Section 4(5): A Case Study in the Misinterpretation of the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 19 J. Mar. L. & Com. 1, 1–2 (1988).

CARRIAGE PAID TO

carriage paid to. A mercantile-contract term allocating the rights and duties of the buyer and the seller of goods with respect to delivery, payment, and risk of loss, whereby the seller must (1) clear the goods for export, (2) deliver them to the buyer's chosen carrier, and (3) pay the costs of carriage (apart from import duties) to the named destination. • When the goods are delivered to the carrier, the seller's delivery is complete; the risk of loss then passes to the buyer. Any mode of transportation can be used to carry the goods. — Abbr. CPT. Cf. CARRIAGE AND INSURANCE PAID TO.

CARRIED INTEREST

carried interest. Oil & gas. In an oil-and-gas lease, a fractional interest that is free of some or all costs of exploring, drilling, and completing the well. • The owner of a carried interest may earn royalties on production but does not have a working interest, at least until all costs are recouped by the working-interest owner or owners, and often until some multiple of those costs is paid.

CARRIER

carrier. 1. An individual or organization (such as a shipowner, a railroad, or an airline) that contracts to transport passengers or goods for a fee. Cf. SHIPPER. [Cases: Carriers 3, 235. C.J.S. Aeronautics and Aerospace § 179; Carriers §§ 2, 385.]

common carrier. A commercial enterprise that holds itself out to the public as offering to transport freight or passengers for a fee. • A common carrier is generally required by law to transport freight or passengers or freight, without refusal, if the approved fare or charge is paid. —

Also termed public carrier. [Cases: Carriers 4.]

“[A] ‘common carrier’ is bound to take all goods of the kind which he usually carries, unless his conveyance is full, or the goods be specially dangerous; but may charge different rates to different customers.” Thomas E. Holland, The Elements of Jurisprudence 299 (13th ed. 1924).

marine carrier.A carrier operating on navigable waters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.

non-vessel-operating common carrier.Maritime law. A freight forwarder that does not own the means of transportation, but that contracts with a shipper to transport freight, and with a carrier to perform the transportation. • The non-vessel-operating common carrier becomes the carrier in the contract with the original shipper, and the shipper in the contract with the eventual carrier. See FREIGHT FORWARDER. — Abbr. NVOCC.

private carrier.Any carrier that is not a common carrier by law. • A private carrier is not bound to accept business from the general public. — Also termed contract carrier. [Cases: Automobiles 76; Carriers 3. C.J.S. Aeronautics and Aerospace § 179; Carriers §§ 2, 385; Motor Vehicles §§ 5, 105–113.]

2.INSURER.

CARRIER'S LIEN

carrier's lien.See LIEN.

CARROLL<TT> DOCTRINE

Carroll doctrine. The principle that a broadcast licensee has standing to contest any grant of a competitive license by the Federal Communications Commission because the grant could lead to a diminution in broadcast service by causing economic injury to an existing licensee. Carroll Broadcasting Co. v. FCC, 258 F.2d 440 (D.C. Cir. 1958). [Cases: Telecommunications 404.]

CARRY

carry,vb.1. To sustain the weight or burden of; to hold or bear <more weight than a single person can carry>.2. To convey or transport <carrying the coal from one state to another>.3. To possess and convey (a firearm) in a vehicle, including the locked glove compartment or trunk of a car <he carried the guns in his trunk>. • The United States Supreme Court adopted this definition in interpreting the phrase carries a firearm as used in a statute imposing a mandatory prison term on a person who uses or carries a firearm while committing a drug-trafficking crime. Muscarello v. U.S., 524 U.S. 125, 118 S.Ct. 1911 (1998). [Cases: Weapons 10.] 4. In a figurative sense, to possess or hold (insurance, etc.) <the decedent did not carry life insurance>.5.Parliamentary law. To adopt. • In this sense, the verb may be either intransitive <the motion carries> or transitive (in a passive construction) <the motion is carried>. See ADOPTION(5).6. To provide funds or credit for the payment of (stock, etc.), often as an advance, for an agreed-on period <the investor carried the stock purchases for eight months>.7. To absorb the cost of holding or having, usu. temporarily <the business will carry the debt for another quarter>.

CARRY AWAY

carry away,vb. To take or move (stolen property, etc.). • The traditional count for larceny was that the defendant “did steal, take, and carry away” the property. A “carrying away” can be a slight movement of the property. See ASPORTATION. [Cases: Larceny 17; Robbery 10.]

CARRYBACK

carryback.Tax. An income-tax deduction (esp. for a net operating loss) that cannot be taken entirely in a given period but may be taken in an earlier period (usu. the previous three years). — Also termed loss carryback; tax-loss carryback. Cf. CARRYOVER. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3438; Taxation 1043. C.J.S. Taxation § 1752.]

CARRYFORWARD

carryforward. See CARRYOVER.

CARRYING AWAY

carrying away.See ASPORTATION.

CARRYING BACK THE DATE OF INVENTION carrying back the date of invention.See ANTEDATING OF A PRIOR-ART REFERENCE.

CARRYING CHARGE

carrying charge. 1. A cost, in addition to interest, paid to a creditor for carrying installment credit. 2. Expenses incident to property ownership, such as taxes and upkeep.

CARRYING COST

carrying cost.See COST(1).

CARRYOVER

carryover. An income-tax deduction (esp. for a net operating loss) that cannot be taken entirely in a given period but may be taken in a later period (usu. the next five years). — Also termed loss carryover; tax-loss carryover; carryforward; loss carryforward; tax-loss carryforward. Cf. CARRYBACK. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3438, 3439; Taxation 1043.C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 409; Taxation § 1752.]

CARRYOVER BASIS

carryover basis.See BASIS.

CARTA

carta (kahr-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. A charter, deed, or other written instrument.

CARTA DE FORESTA

Carta de Foresta.See CHARTA DE FORESTA.

CARTA FORESTAE

Carta Forestae. See CHARTA DE FORESTA.

CARTA MERCATORIA

Carta Mercatoria (kahr-t<<schwa>> m<<schwa>>r-k<<schwa>>-tor-ee-<<schwa>>). Hist. An English statute (enacted in 1303) establishing various rules that favored certain foreign merchants. • In exchange for paying customs duties, merchants received extensive trading rights throughout England, the power to export their merchandise, the liberty to dwell where they pleased, and certain legal rights. — Also termed Statutum de Nova Custuma.

CARTBOTE

cartbote. See plowbote under BOTE(1).

CARTE BLANCHE

carte blanche (kahrt blawnsh). [French “blank card”] 1. A signed, blank instrument that is filled out at an agent's discretion. 2. Full discretionary power; unlimited authority.

CARTEL

cartel (kahr-tel), n.1. A combination of producers or sellers that join together to control a product's production or price. 2. An association of firms with common interests, seeking to prevent extreme or unfair competition, allocate markets, or share knowledge. [Cases: Monopolies 12(1.14, 1.16). C.J.S. Monopolies §§ 54–55, 73–74, 77, 80–82, 85, 87, 93, 105, 143, 153.] 3. Int'l law. An agreement between belligerents about the means of conducting whatever relations they allow during wartime; esp., such an agreement regarding the exchange of prisoners. — Also spelled chartel. — cartelize (kahr-t<<schwa>>-Iz or kahr-tel-Iz), vb.

CAR TRUST CERTIFICATE

car trust certificate. See EQUIPMENT TRUST CERTIFICATE.

CARTULARY

cartulary (kahr-tyoo-lair-ee), n. A collection of legal documents, esp. charters and title deeds to property.

CARUCAGE

carucage (kar-<<schwa>>-kij). [Law Latin] Hist. A tax imposed either on a carucate or on the plows used on the land. — Also termed carvage.

CARUCATE

carucate (kar-<<schwa>>-kayt). [Law Latin] Hist. A measure of land for assessment purposes, usu. considered about 120 acres. • This amount was thought to be as much land as one plow with eight oxen could plow in a year. A carucate was used to assess taxes. — Also termed carucata; carve; plowland. Cf. HIDE(1); OXGANG.

CARVAGE

carvage. See CARUCAGE.

CARVE

carve (karv), n. See CARUCATE.

CARVE OUT

carve out,vb.1. To create an explicit exception to a broad rule. 2.Tax. To separate from property the income derived from the property.

CARVEOUT

carveout,n.1. An explicit exception to a broad rule. 2.Tax. For tax purposes, the separation from property of the income derived from the property.

CA. SA

ca. sa.See capias ad satisfaciendum under CAPIAS.

CASA

CASA.abbr.1.COURT-APPOINTED SPECIAL ADVOCATE. 2.COURT APPOINTED SPECIAL ADVOCATES .

CASATA

casata (k<<schwa>>-say-t<<schwa>>).Hist. A house with enough land to support one family.

CASATUS

casatus (k<<schwa>>-zay-t<<schwa>>s).Hist. A vassal or feudal tenant possessing a casata.

CASA VOLUNTEER

CASA volunteer.Family law. A specially screened and trained child-welfare volunteer appointed by the court to conduct an independent investigation of both the state agency and the family and to submit a report with findings and recommendations. • In some jurisdictions, such volunteers are provided for statutorily. They sometimes act as guardians ad litem. The CASA volunteer usu. (1) provides independent assessment of the child's needs, (2) acts as an advocate for the child, and (3) monitors agency decision-making and court proceedings. See COURT AP-POINTED SPECIAL ADVOCATES.

CASE

case. 1. A civil or criminal proceeding, action, suit, or controversy at law or in equity <the parties settled the case>.

active case.A case that is still pending.

case at bar.A case under the immediate consideration of the court. — Also termed case at bench; instant case; present case. See BAR(3).

case made. See case reserved (1).

case of first impression. A case that presents the court with an issue of law that has not previously been decided by any controlling legal authority in that jurisdiction.

case reserved. 1. A written statement of the facts proved at trial and drawn up and stipulated to by the parties, so that certain legal issues can be decided by an appellate court. — Also termed case made; special case. 2. Hist. An agreement between litigants to submit the case to a judge rather than to a jury.

“It should have come as no surprise ... that in most cases ‘merchants were not fond of juries.’ For one of the leading measures of the growing alliance between bench and bar on the one hand and commercial interests on the other is the swiftness with which the power of the jury is curtailed after 1790.... [D]uring the last years of the eighteenth century American lawyers vastly expanded the ‘special case’ or ‘case reserved,’ a device designed to submit points of law to the judges while avoiding the effective intervention of a jury. In England, Lord Mansfield had used a similar procedure to bring about an alliance between common lawyers and mercantile interests.” Morton J. Horwitz, The Transformation of American Law, 1780–1860 141–42 (1977).

case stated. 1. A formal written statement of the facts in a case, submitted to the court jointly by the parties so that a decision may be rendered without trial. — Also termed case agreed on. [Cases: Trial 368. C.J.S. Trial § 1022.] 2. Hist. A procedure used by the Court of Chancery to refer difficult legal questions to a common-law court. • This procedure was abolished in 1852. 3. English law. An appeal from a Magistrates' Court to the Divisional Court of Queen's Bench on a point of criminal law. • After ruling, the magistrate states the facts for the appeal and the Queen's Bench rules on the question of law presented by the magistrate's ruling.

inactive case. A pending case that is not proceeding toward resolution. • This may occur for several reasons, such as nonservice, want of prosecution, or (in a criminal case) the defendant's having absconded.

instant case. See case at bar.

present case. See case at bar.

special case. See case reserved (1).

test case. 1. A lawsuit brought to establish an important legal principle or right. • Such an action is frequently brought by the parties' mutual consent on agreed facts — when that is so, a test case is also sometimes termed amicable action or amicable suit.

“The suit is spoken of, in the affidavits filed in support of it, as an amicable action, and the proceeding defended on that ground. But an amicable action, in the sense in which these words are used in courts of justice, presupposes that there is a real dispute between the parties concerning some matter of right. And in a case of that kind it sometimes happens, that, for the purpose of obtaining a decision of the controversy, without incurring needless expense and trouble, they agree to conduct the suit in an amicable manner, that is to say, that they will not em-barrass each other with unnecessary forms or technicalities, and will mutually admit facts which they know to be true, and without requiring proof, and will bring the point in dispute before the court for decision, without subjecting each other to unnecessary expense or delay. But there must be an actual controversy, and adverse interests. The amity consists in the manner in which it is brought to issue before the court. And such amicable actions, so far from being objects of censure, are always approved and encouraged, because they facilitate greatly the administration of justice between the parties. The objection in the case before us is, not that the proceedings were amicable, but that there is no real conflict of interest between them; that the plaintiff and defendant have the same interest, and that interest adverse and in conflict with the interest of third persons, whose rights would be seriously affected if the question of law was decided in the manner that both of the parties to this suit desire it to be." Lord v. Veazie, 49 U.S. 251, 255 (1850)(Taney, C.J.).

2. An action selected from several suits that are based on the same facts and evidence, raise the same question of law, and have a common plaintiff or a common defendant. • Sometimes, when all parties agree, the court orders a consolidation and all parties are bound by the decision in the test case. — Also termed test action.

2. A criminal investigation <the Manson case>.3. An individual suspect or convict in relation to any aspect of the criminal-justice system <the probation officer said he considers Mr. Jones a difficult case>.4. An argument <the debater made a compelling case for gun control>.5. An instance, occurrence, or situation  .6. TRESPASS ON THE CASE <the actions of trover and case are not entirely defunct>.

CASE ABSTRACT

case abstract. See CASE NOTE.

CASE AGREED ON

case agreed on. See case stated (1) under CASE.

CASEBOOK

casebook. A compilation of extracts from instructive cases on a particular subject, usu. with commentary and questions about the cases, designed as a teaching aid. See SOCRATIC METHOD. Cf. HORNBOOK.

CASEBOOK METHOD

casebook method. An inductive system of teaching law in which students study specific cases to learn general legal principles. • Professor Christopher C. Langdell introduced the technique at Harvard Law School in 1869. The casebook method is now the most widely used form of instruction in American law schools. — Also termed case method; case system; Langdell method. Cf. SOCRATIC METHOD; HORNBOOK METHOD.

CASE BRIEF

case brief. See CASE NOTE.

CASE EVALUATION

case evaluation. See MEDIATION(1).

CASEFLOW

caseflow. 1. The movement of cases through the judicial system, from the initial filing to the final appeal. 2. An analysis of that movement.

CASE-IN-CHIEF

case-in-chief. 1. The evidence presented at trial by a party between the time the party calls the first witness and the time the party rests. 2. The part of a trial in which a party presents evidence to support the claim or defense. Cf. REBUTTAL.

CASELAW

caselaw. The law to be found in the collection of reported cases that form all or part of the body of law within a given jurisdiction. — Also written case law; caselaw. — Also termed decisional law; adjudicative law; juri-sprudence; organic law.

“Case law in some form and to some extent is found wherever there is law. A mere series of decisions of individual cases does not of course in itself constitute a system of law. But in any judicial system rules of law arise sooner or later out of the solution of practical problems, whether or not such formulations are desired, intended or consciously recognized. These generalizations contained in, or built upon, past decisions, when taken as normative for future disputes, create a legal system.” Karl N. Llewellyn, “Case Law” in 3 Ency. Soc. Sci. 249 (1930).

CASE LAWYER

case lawyer. An attorney whose knowledge is largely confined to a specific field of expertise.

“A working lawyer cannot expect to keep abreast of all this output of ideas, but he can at least study some portion so as to liberalize his views of law and to avoid the reproach of being a mere case lawyer.” Lord Wright, The Study of Law, 54 Law Q. Rev. 185, 185 (1938).

CASELOAD

caseload. The volume of cases assigned to a given court, agency, officer, judge, law firm, or lawyer.

CASE MADE

case made. See case reserved (1) under CASE.

CASE-MANAGEMENT ORDER case-management order. A court order designed to control the procedure in a case on the court's docket, esp. by limiting pretrial discovery. — Abbr. CMO. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 1935; Pretrial Procedure 747. C.J.S. Trial § 47.]

CASE METHOD

case method. See CASEBOOK METHOD.

CASE NOTE

case note. A short statement summarizing a case, esp. the relevant facts, the issues, the holding, and the court's reasoning. — Sometimes written casenote. — Also termed brief; case brief; case statement; case abstract.

CASE NUMBER

case number. The number assigned to a lawsuit when it is filed with the clerk of the court. • Each case has a distinct number that distinguishes it from all other suits filed within the jurisdiction.

CASE OF FIRST IMPRESSION

case of first impression. See CASE.

CASE-OR-CONTROVERSY REQUIREMENT

case-or-controversy requirement. The constitutional requirement that, for a federal court to hear a case, the case must involve an actual dispute. See CONTROVERSY(3); advisory opinion under OPINION(1). [Cases: Federal Courts 12.]

“The courts of the United States do not sit to decide questions of law presented in a vacuum, but only such questions as arise in a ‘case or controversy.’ The two terms can be used interchangeably, for, we are authoritatively told, a ‘controversy,’ if distinguishable at all from a ‘case,’ is distinguishable only in that it is a less comprehensive term, and includes only suits of a civil nature.” Charles Alan Wright, The Law of Federal Courts 60 (5th ed. 1994).

CASE PLAN

case plan. A written procedure for the care and management of a child who has been removed from his or her home and placed in foster care or in an institution. • The case plan includes (1) a description of the place where the child has been placed, (2) a plan for providing the child with safe and proper care, and (3) a plan for services that will be provided to the child's parents. Each state must have a case-review system formulated to ensure that the child is placed in the least restrictive and most appropriate place and that the plan is in the best interests of the child; the plan must be reviewed every six months. See ADOPTION AND SAFE FAMILIES ACT.

CASE RESERVED

case reserved. See CASE.

CASE STATED

case stated. See CASE.

CASE STATEMENT

case statement. See CASE NOTE.

CASE SYSTEM

case system. See CASEBOOK METHOD.

CASE-WITHIN-A-CASE RULE

case-within-a-case rule. Torts. The requirement that a legal-malpractice-action plaintiff show that, but for the attorney's negligence, the plaintiff would have won the case underlying the malpractice action. [Cases: Attorney and Client 112. C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 258–260.]

CAS FORTUIT

cas fortuit (kah for-twee). [French “fortuitous case”] Insurance. An unforeseeable event; an inevitable accident; FORTUITOUS EVENT.

CASH

cash, n. 1. Money or its equivalent. 2. Currency or coins, negotiable checks, and balances in bank accounts. — cash, vb.

petty cash. Currency kept on hand for incidental expenditures.

CASH-AGAINST-DOCUMENTS SALE

cash-against-documents sale. See documentary sale under SALE.

CASH-AND-CARRY CLAUSE

cash-and-carry clause. Int'l law. A regulation that, before U.S. involvement in World War II, allowed belligerent countries to pay cash for goods whose export was prohibited. • Formally, this regulation was entirely neutral, but in practice it favored Great Britain.

CASH BAIL

cash bail. See BAIL(1).

CASH-BASIS ACCOUNTING METHOD

cash-basis accounting method. See ACCOUNTING METHOD.

CASH BOOK

cash book. An account book of all cash received and paid out by a business.

CASH BUDGET

cash budget. A period-by-period schedule of a business's opening cash on hand, estimated cash receipts, cash disbursements, and cash balance. • A cash budget is used to project a business's cash receipts and disbursements over some future period.

CASH COLLATERAL

cash collateral. See COLLATERAL.

CASH CYCLE

cash cycle. The time it takes for cash to flow into and out of a business, such as the time between the purchase of raw materials for manufacture and the sale of the finished product.

CASH DISCOUNT

cash discount. See DISCOUNT.

CASH DIVIDEND

cash dividend. See DIVIDEND.

CASH EQUIVALENT

cash equivalent. A short-term security that is liquid enough to be considered equivalent to cash.

CASH-EQUIVALENT DOCTRINE

cash-equivalent doctrine. Tax. The doctrine requiring income to be reported even if it is not cash, as when the taxpayer barter to receive in-kind payments. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3116, 3714.]

CASH-EXPENDITURE METHOD

cash-expenditure method. Tax. A technique used by the IRS to reconstruct a taxpayer's unreported income by comparing the amount spent on goods and services during a given period with the income reported for that period. • If the expenditures exceed the reported revenue, the IRS treats the difference as taxable income. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4530.1.]

CASH FLOW

cash flow. 1. The movement of cash through a business, as a measure of profitability or liquidity. 2. The cash generated from a business or transaction. 3. Cash receipts minus cash disbursements for a given period. — Sometimes written cashflow.

cash flow per common share. The cash flow from operations minus preferred stock dividends, divided by the number of outstanding common shares.

discounted cash flow. A method of evaluating a capital investment by comparing its projected income and costs with its current value. • Discounted cash flow is used to determine the value of a company by calculating the present value of its future cash flows. In theory, the value of the corporation's assets equals the present value of the expected cash flow generated by those assets. — Also termed discounted-cash-flow method. — Abbr. DCF; DCF method.

incremental cash flow. The net increase in cash flow attributable to a particular capital investment.

negative cash flow. A financial situation in which cash outflow exceeds cash inflow. See INSOLVENCY.

net cash flow.Cash inflow minus cash outflow.

CASHIER

cashier,n.1. One who receives and records payments at a business. 2. A bank's or trust company's executive officer, who is responsible for banking transactions. [Cases: Banks and Banking 105(3)–109(3), 314. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 252–256, 264–265, 631–632.]

cashier,vb. To dismiss from service dishonorably <after three such incidents, Jones was cashiered>.

CASHIER'S CHECK

cashier's check.See CHECK.

CASHLITE

cashlite. See AMERCEMENT.

CASH MERGER

cash merger.See MERGER.

CASH OR DEFERRED ARRANGEMENT

cash or deferred arrangement.A retirement-plan provision permitting an employee to have a certain amount of compensation paid in cash or contributed, on behalf of the employee, to a profit-sharing or stock-bonus plan. • A 401(k) plan is a type of cash or deferred arrangement. — Abbr. CODA.

CASHOUT

cashout,n. An arrangement by a seller to receive the entire amount of equity in cash rather than retain an interest in the property. — cash out,vb.

CASH-OUT MERGER

cash-out merger.See cash merger under MERGER.

CASH-REFUND ANNUITY

cash-refund annuity.See ANNUITY.

CASH SALE

cash sale.See SALE.

CASH SURRENDER VALUE

cash surrender value.See VALUE(2).

CASH TENDER OFFER

cash tender offer.See TENDER OFFER.

CASH-TRANSACTION REPORT

cash-transaction report. IRS Form 4789, which requires banks and other financial institutions to report cash transactions above a certain amount. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4473. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 631–632.]

CASH VALUE

cash value. 1. See fair market value under VALUE(2). 2. See full cash value under VALUE(2).

CASH-VALUE OPTION

cash-value option. See OPTION.

CASING

casing. Oil & gas. The pipe in a wellbore hole, cemented into place to prevent pollution and to protect the hole.

intermediate casing. Casing that protects deep formations against pollution from drilling and producing operations.

production casing. Wellbore pipe through which oil and gas is produced. • Production casing is the last pipe set in the hole.

surface casing. Casing that protects groundwater against pollution from drilling and producing operations. • Surface casing is the first pipe set in the hole.

CASINGHEAD GAS

casinghead gas. Oil & gas. Natural gas in a liquid solution with crude oil, produced at the casinghead (top) of an oil well. • Casinghead gas separates from the oil at the time of production or shortly afterward.

CASING POINT

casing point. Oil & gas. The point at which a well has been drilled to the desired depth and the owners must decide whether to place production pipe (“casing”) in the hole to complete and equip the well for production.

CASSARE

cassare (k<<schwa>>-sair-ee), vb. [Law Latin fr. Latin cassus “void”] Hist. To quash or nullify. • Cassare usu. referred to voiding an agreement, law, or writ. See CASSETUR BILLA; CASSETUR BREVE.

CASSATION

cassation (ka-say-sh<<schwa>>n), n. A quashing. See COURT OF CASSATION.

CASSETUR BILLA

cassetur billa (k<<schwa>>-see-t<<schwa>>r bil<<schwa>>). [Latin “that the bill be quashed"] Hist. 1. A judgment quashing a plea in abatement. — Also termed judgment of cassetur billa. 2. A plaintiff's on-the-record admission that a defendant's plea in abatement cannot be avoided. • This statement discontinues the action. — Also termed billa cassetur; quod billa cassetur.

CASSETUR BREVE

cassetur breve (k<<schwa>>-see-t<<schwa>>r bree-vee). [Latin "that the writ be quashed"] Hist. A judgment quashing an action begun by writ. — Also termed judgment of cassetur breve.

CASSIS/BIB

CASSIS/BIB. Patents. A U.S. Patent and Trademark Office database of bibliographies relating to patents, sorted by their classification. • CASSIS stands for Classification and Search Support Information System. Cf. CAS-SIS/CLASS.

CASSIS/ CLASS

CASSIS/CLASS. Patents. A U.S. Patent and Trademark Office database of patents sorted by classification, available at any PTO Depository Library. Cf. CASSIS/BIB.

CAST

cast, vb. To formally deposit (a ballot) or signal one's choice (in a vote) < most voters cast their ballots for write-in candidates>.

CAST A CLOUD ON

cast a cloud on, vb. Patents. Create doubt about (a patent, esp. its validity).

CASTIGATORY

castigatory (kas-ti-g<<schwa>>-tor-ee). Hist. A device for punishing scolds by repeatedly plunging them un-derwater. • This device is mentioned by the ancient Saxons (scealfing stole) and in Domesday Book (cathedra stercoralis). It was also used to punish bakers and brewers by ducking them into "stinking water" (stercore), possibly into a midden. — Also termed ducking stool; cucking stool; trebucket. See SCOLD. Cf. BRANKS.

"[A] common scold, ... if convicted, shall be sentenced to be placed in a certain engine of correction called the trebucket, castigatory, or cucking stool, which in the Saxon language signifies the scolding stool; though now it is frequently corrupted into ducking stool, because the residue of the judgment is, that, when she is so placed therein, she shall be plunged in the water for her punishment." 4 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 169 (1769).

CASTING VOTE

casting vote. See VOTE(1).

CAST-IRON-PIPE DOCTRINE

cast-iron-pipe doctrine. See DIVIDEND-CREDIT RULE.

CASTLE DOCTRINE

castle doctrine. Criminal law. An exception to the retreat rule allowing the use of deadly force by a person who is protecting his or her home and its inhabitants from attack, esp. from a trespasser who intends to commit a felony or inflict serious bodily harm. — Also termed dwelling defense; defense of habitation. See RETREAT RULE. [Cases: Homicide 747, 760.]

CASTLE-GUARD

castle-guard, n. Hist. 1. The protection of a castle. 2. A form of knight-service in which a tenant must protect the lord's castle. 3. The tenure giving rise to this knight-service. 4. A tax once imposed in lieu of this knight-service. 5. The territory that is chargeable with the tax imposed in lieu of the knight-service. — Also termed (in senses 2–5) ward.

“Castleguard is an imposition upon such of the king's subjects as dwell within a certain compass of any castle, to the maintenance of such as watch and ward it. It is sometimes used for the circuit itself which is inhabited by such as are subject to this service.” William Rastell, Termes de la Ley 70 (1st Am. ed. 1812).

CASUAL

casual, adj. 1. (Of employment) occurring without regularity; occasional . See casual employment under EMPLOYMENT. 2. (Of an event or occurrence) not expected, foreseen, or planned; fortuitous .

CASUAL AFFRAY

casual affray. See CHANCE-MEDLEY.

CASUAL CONDITION

casual condition. See CONDITION(2).

CASUAL DEFICIT

casual deficit. An unforeseen shortfall of funds.

CASUAL EJECTOR

casual ejector. See EJECTOR.

CASUAL EMPLOYMENT

casual employment. See EMPLOYMENT.

CASUAL NEGLIGENCE

casual negligence. See NEGLIGENCE.

CASUALTY

casualty. 1. A serious or fatal accident. 2. A person or thing injured, lost, or destroyed.

CASUALTY GAIN

casualty gain. Insurance. The profit realized by an insured when the benefits paid exceed the insured property's adjusted value.

CASUALTY INSURANCE

casualty insurance. See INSURANCE.

CASUALTY LOSS

casualty loss. See LOSS.

CASUALTY POT

casualty pot. Tax. A step in evaluating tax liability in which casualty gains and losses are compared to determine whether a net loss or gain has occurred. Cf. MAIN POT.

CASU CONSIMILI

casu consimili (kay-s[y]oo k<<schwa>>n-sim-<<schwa>>-II), n. [Latin "in a like case"] Hist. A writ of entry allowing the holder of a reversionary interest in land to sue for the return of land alienated by a life tenant or a tenant by the curtesy. • This writ originated in the second Statute of Westminster (13 Edw. I) ch. 24 (1285), which expanded the writs available to litigants by requiring the Chancery to issue a writ for any situation that called for a writ similar to one that had previously issued consimili casu ("in a like case"). Specifically, the statute provided (in Latin) that "as often as it shall happen in chancery that in one case a writ is found, and in a like case [in consimili casu], falling under the same right, and requiring like remedy, no writ is to be found, the clerks of chancery shall agree in making a writ..." Many other writs were framed under Westminster 2, but this particular writ's close association with the statute led to its taking the generic name. — Also termed consimili casu; entry in casu consimili. See ACTIONES NOMINATAE.

CASU PROVISIO

casu proviso (kay-s[y]oo pr<<schwa>>-vI-zoh). [Latin "in the case provided"] Hist. A writ of entry to recover a reversion in land alienated by a tenant in dower, i.e., a widow with a life estate in the alienated land.

CASUS

casus (kay-s<<schwa>>s). [Latin] 1. A chance accident; an event without human intervention or fault. Cf. CULPA(1); DOLUS(1). 2. A situation actually contemplated by the legislature in enacting a statute that applies to the situation. • In this sense, the term is opposed to casus omissus. Cf. CASUS OMISSUS .

CASUS AMISSIONIS

casus amissionis (kay-s<<schwa>>s <<schwa>>-mis[h]-ee-oh-nis). [Latin "the occasion of the loss"] Hist. The circumstances under which a document is lost or destroyed. • In an action to prove the contents of a lost instrument, the circumstances under which a document was lost was required evidence. Lost documents are now covered by Federal Rule of Evidence 1004(1).

CASUS BELLI

casus belli (kay-s<<schwa>>s bel-I). [Latin] An act or circumstance that provokes or justifies war.

CASUS FOEDERIS

casus foederis (kay-s<<schwa>>s fed-<<schwa>>r-is). [Latin “the case of the treaty” or “the case of the agreement”] 1.Int'l law. A provocative act by one nation toward another, entitling the latter to call upon an ally to fulfill the terms of an alliance. 2. A clause within a treaty of alliance specifying such provocative acts. 3.Contracts. A case or an event falling within the terms of a contract.

CASUS FORTUITUS

casus fortuitus (kay-s<<schwa>>s for-t[y]oo-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin] 1. A fortuitous event. 2. A loss not attributable to human fault.

CASUS IMPROVISUS

casus improvisus (kay-s<<schwa>>s im-pr<<schwa>>-vI-z<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Hist. An unforeseen case; a case not provided for.

“Casus improvisus This phrase is of frequent occurrence, and admits of varied illustration. Thus, if an Act of Parliament has been passed for the removal of some inconvenience, or the suppression of some evil, and specifies the circumstances or cases in which it is to have application, and a case occurs which is not specified by the Act, in which, nevertheless, the application of the Statute would be beneficial, this is a casus improvisus, and neither the procedure nor the provisions of the Act can be applied to it. The Statute cannot be strained so as to be made applicable to a case for which it does not provide. Statutes, however, which are purely remedial are construed liberally, and are often extended to cases similar to those mentioned in the Act, although such cases do not fall within the letter of the enactment.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 70 (4th ed. 1894).

CASUS INCOGITATI

casus incogitati (kay-s<<schwa>>s in-koj-i-tay-tI). [Law Latin] Hist. Circumstances unthought of. • Circumstances that were not otherwise addressed in an instrument could be determined on equitable grounds.

CASUS INSOLITUS

casus insolitus (kay-s<<schwa>>s in-sol-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Hist. An unusual circumstance; an unusual event.

CASUS MAJOR

casus major (kay-s<<schwa>>s may-j<<schwa>>r). [Latin] An extraordinary casualty.

CASUS MALE INCLUSUS

casus male inclusus (kay-s<<schwa>>s mal-ee in-kloo-s<<schwa>>s). [Latin “case wrongly included”] A situation literally provided for by a statute or contract, but wrongly so because the provision's literal application has unintended consequences.

CASUS OMISSUS

casus omissus (kay-s<<schwa>>s <<schwa>>-mis-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “case omitted”] A situation not provided for by a statute or contract, and therefore governed by caselaw or new judge-made law. Pl. casus omissi. Cf. CASUS(2). [Cases: Statutes 186. C.J.S. Statutes § 320.]

“At times a state of war appears to exist between the courts and the parliamentary draftsman. The courts decline to come to the rescue when a casus omissus is revealed, so words appropriate to cover the casus omissus are added to the statute. More frequently the draftsman gets in first and, anticipating a strict construction by the courts coupled with a total lack of sympathy if there should happen to be a casus omissus, he produces a statute which is nothing less than horrific in its detail.” Rupert Cross, Statutory Interpretation 11–12 (1976).

CASUS RARIOR

casus rarior (kay-s<<schwa>>s rair-ee-or).Hist. An exceptional case. Pl. casus rariores.

CATALLA

catalla (k<<schwa>>-tal-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin “chattels”] Hist. 1.CHATTEL. — Also termed catals.

“Catals (catalla) alias chatels, cometh of the Normans. For ... all movable goods ... are called chatels: the contrary whereof is (fief) which we do call fee.” John Cowell, The Interpreter (1607).

2. Cattle used for plowing.

CATALLA OTIOSA

catalla otiosa (k<<schwa>>-tal-<<schwa>> oh-shee-oh-s<<schwa>>). [Law Latin “nonworking chattels”] Hist. 1.Chattels that are not animals. 2. Animals not used for plowing or pulling plows or carts (averia carucae).

CATALLIS CAPTIS NOMINE DISTRICTIONIS

catallis captis nomine districtionis (k<<schwa>>-tal-is kap-tis nahm-<<schwa>>-nee di-strik-shee-oh-nis). [Latin “chattels taken in name of distress”] Hist. A writ permitting a landlord who is owed rent to distrain (i.e., seize) the doors, windows, and gates of the tenant's house.

CATALLIS REDDENDIS

catallis reddendis (k<<schwa>>-tal-is ri-den-dis). See DE CATALLIS REDDENDIS.

CATALS

catals. See CATALLA.

CATANEUS

cataneus. See CAPITANEUS.

CATCHALL

catchall,adj. Broad; widely encompassing <the catchall factor allows the jury to consider all circumstances extenuating the gravity of the crime>.

catchall,n. See BROADENING STATEMENT.

CATCHING BARGAIN

catching bargain.See BARGAIN.

CATCHPOLL

catchpoll (kach-pohl).Hist. A sheriff's deputy or bailiff. — Also spelled catchpol; catchpole.

“Catchpol ... (One that catches by the Poll) Though now taken as a word of Contempt, yet in ancient times, it was used, without reproach, for such as we now call Sergeants of the Mace, Bailiffs, or any other that use to Arrest Men upon any Action.” Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary (1670).

CATEGORICAL QUESTION

categorical question.See QUESTION(1).

CATER COUSIN

cater cousin (kay-t<<schwa>>r). A distant relative. • The term derives from the French quatre cousin, meaning a cousin in the fourth degree.

CATHEDRAL

cathedral.Eccles. law. The principal church of a diocese, in which the bishop's throne, or cathedra, is situated.

CATHEDRAL PREFERMENT

cathedral preferment.Eccles. law. In a cathedral church, a deanery, archdeaconry, canonry, or other office below the rank of bishop.

CATHOLIC CREDITOR

catholic creditor.See CREDITOR.

CATONIANA REGULA

Catoniana regula (k<<schwa>>-toh-nee-ay-n<<schwa>> reg-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>). See REGULA CATONIANA.

CATS AND DOGS

cats and dogs.Slang. 1. Nonperforming securities. 2. Highly speculative securities.

“Wall Street disdainfully regards most penny stocks as cats and dogs, a popular phrase in use since 1879 to describe low-priced, often worthless, speculative securities. The single word dog also means a worthless security, and the related pup meant a low-priced, inactive stock during the 1940s and 1950s.” Kathleen Odean, High Steppers, Fallen Angels, and Lollipops: Wall Street Slang 10 (1988).

CATTLE-RUSTLING

cattle-rustling. The stealing of cattle.

CATTLE-TRESPASS

cattle-trespass. See TRESPASS.

CAUCUS

caucus (kaw-k<<schwa>>s), n.1. Representatives from a political party who assemble to nominate candidates and decide party policy. [Cases: Elections 125. C.J.S. Elections § 104.] 2. A meeting of a group, usu. within a deliberative assembly, of people aligned by party or interest to formulate a policy or strategy. — caucus,vb.

“The term caucus also sometimes applied to a similar meeting of all the known or admitted partisans of a par-ticular position on an important issue — in a convention or any other deliberative assembly — who meet to plan strategy toward a desired result within the assembly. Such a meeting may be held on the presumed informal understanding that those who attend will follow the decisions of the caucus.” Henry M. Robert, Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised § 59, at 588 (10th ed. 2000).

separate caucus.A confidential mediation session that a mediator holds with an individual party to elicit settle-ment offers and demands. • When separate caucuses are used, the mediator typically shuttles between the two (or more) sides of a dispute to communicate offers and demands. Formerly, ABA Model Rule of Professional Re-sponsibility 2.2 (governing when a lawyer could act for more than one client or as an intermediary between parties) applied when a lawyer acted as a mediator. Although the rule was deleted from the Model in 2002, many states have similar rules in effect. The rule requires a lawyer acting as an intermediary to inform the parties about mediation and the mediator's role, to act impartially, and to have a good-faith belief that the matter can be resolved in all parties' best interests.

CAUSA

causa (kaw-z<<schwa>>), n.[Latin] 1.CAUSE(1).

“One of the vaguest terms of the Roman juristic language. Starting from the basic meaning of cause, reason, inducement, the jurists use it in very different senses....Causa is the reason for which some judicial measures (actions, exceptions, interdicts) were introduced by the praetor....

Sometimes causa is roughly identical with animus when it alludes to the subjective motive, intention, or purpose of a person.” Adolf Berger, Encyclopedic Dictionary of Roman Law 382–83 (1953).

causa causans (kaw-z<<schwa>> kaw-zanz). An immediate or effective cause. See immediate cause under CAUSE(1).

causa jactitationis maritagii (kaw-z<<schwa>> jak-ti-tay-shee-oh-nis mar-<<schwa>>-tay-jee-I). [Latin “cause of assertion of marriage”] See JACTITATION OF MARRIAGE.

causa matrimonii praelocuti (kaw-z<<schwa>> ma-tr<<schwa>>-moh-nee-I pree-l<<schwa>>-kyoo-tl). [Latin “cause of prearranged marriage”] Hist. A writ of entry available to a woman who had given land to a suitor who refused to marry her within a reasonable time. — Also termed entry for marriage in speech.

causa proxima (kaw-z<<schwa>> prok-si-m<<schwa>>). The immediate or latest cause. See proximate cause under CAUSE.

causa remota (kaw-z<<schwa>> ri-moh-t<<schwa>>). A remote or indirect cause. See remote cause under CAUSE.

causa sine qua non (kaw-z<<schwa>> si-nee kway nonalsosin-ay kwah nohn). A necessary cause; the cause without which the thing cannot be or the event would not have occurred. See but-for cause under CAUSE(1).

2.Roman & civil law. A consideration or inducement.“The revolution of the ancient law of Contract was consummated when the Praetor of some one year announced in his Edict that he would grant equitable actions upon Pacts which had never been matured at all into Contracts, provided only that the Pacts in question had been founded on a consideration (causa).” Henry S. Maine, Ancient Law 28 (17th ed. 1901).

“Article 1131 of the French Civil Code provides that: ‘L’obligation sans cause, ou sur une fausse cause, ou sur une cause illicite, ne peut avoir aucun effet.’ This cause or causa is a synonym for consideration, and we find the terms used interchangeably in the earlier English authorities.” John Salmond, Jurisprudence 361 (Glanville L. Williams ed., 10th ed. 1947).

causa falsa (kaw-z<<schwa>> fal-s<<schwa>> [orfawl-s<<schwa>>]). See falsa causa.

causa non secuta (kaw-z<<schwa>> non s<<schwa>>-kyoo-t<<schwa>>). [Latin “the (expected) consideration not having followed”] Roman law. A consideration that has failed; failure of consideration.

falsa causa (kaw-z<<schwa>> fal-s<<schwa>> [orfawl-s<<schwa>>]). [Latin “mistaken reason or motive”] Roman law. Falsity of consideration. • This might result from several things, such as a mistaken reason for making a gift or bequest. — Also termed (esp. in civil law) causa falsa.

CAUSA CAUSAE EST CAUSA CAUSATI

causa causae est causa causati (kaw-z<<schwa>> kaw-zee est kaw-z<<schwa>> kaw-zay-tI). [Latin “the cause of a cause is the cause of the thing caused”] Torts. The principle that the cause of the cause (rather than only the immediate cause) should also be considered as the cause of the effect.

CAUSA COGNITA

causa cognita (kaw-z<<schwa>> kog-ni-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. After investigation; the cause (or facts) having been ascertained. Cf. POST CAUSAM COGNITAM .

“Formerly, inhibitions were not granted except causa cognita (although a different rule now prevails), because they imposed a restraint on the full exercise of the rights of property; and in our own time decrees of divorce or judicial separation are not granted, except on inquiry into the facts, and cause shown warranting such orders.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 71–72 (4th ed. 1894).

CAUSA DATA CAUSA NON SECUTA

causa data causa non secuta (kaw-z<<schwa>> day-t<<schwa>> kaw-z<<schwa>> non si-kyoo-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Roman law. The consideration having been given but the counterpart not having followed. • The phrase appeared in reference to consideration promised for an act that never took place — e.g., an advance payment for work not done, or a gift given in contemplation of marriage before the wedding was called off. See CONDICTIO.

CAUSA DEBENDI

causa debendi (kaw-z<<schwa>> di-ben-dI). [Latin] Hist. The grounds of debt.

CAUSA ET MODUS TRANSFERENDI DOMINII causa et modus transferendi dominii (kaw-z<<schwa>> et moh-d<<schwa>>s trans-f<<schwa>>r-en-dI d<<schwa>>-min-ee-I). [Law Latin] Hist. The title and the manner of transferring property. — Also (erroneously) spelled causa et modus transferendi dominii.

CAUSA FALSA

causa falsa. See falsa causa under CAUSA(2).

CAUSA JACTITATIONIS MARITAGII

causa jactitationis maritagii (kaw-z<<schwa>> jak-ti-tay-shee-oh-nis mar-<<schwa>>-tay-jee-I). [Latin “cause of assertion of marriage”] See JACTITATION OF MARRIAGE .

CAUSAL

causal (kaw-z<<schwa>>l), adj. 1. Of, relating to, or involving causation . 2. Arising from a cause . Cf. CAUSATIVE.

CAUSAL CHALLENGE

causal challenge. See challenge for cause under CHALLENGE(2).

CAUSALITY

causality (kaw-zal-⟨schwa⟩-tee), n. The principle of causal relationship; the relation between cause and effect <the foreseeability test is one of duty and of causality>. — Also termed causation. — causal, adj.

CAUSA LUCRATIVA

causa lucrativa. See LUCRATIVA CAUSA.

CAUSA MATRIMONII PRAELOCUTI

causa matrimonii praelocuti. See CAUSA(1).

CAUSAM NOBIS SIGNIFICES QUARE

causam nobis significes quare (kaw-z⟨schwa⟩m noh-bis sig-nif-⟨schwa⟩-seez kwair-ee). [Latin “that you signify to us the cause why”] Hist. A writ ordering a town's mayor to give seisin of land to a grantee of the king.

CAUSA MORTIS

causa mortis (kaw-z⟨schwa⟩ mor-tis), adj. Done or made in contemplation of one's own death. See gift causa mortis under GIFT.

CAUSA NON SECUTA

causa non secuta. See CAUSA(2).

CAUSA PROMISSIONIS

causa promissionis (kaw-z⟨schwa⟩ pr⟨schwa⟩-mish-ee-oh-nis). Eccles. law. The doctrine that an informal undertaking does not oblige if it lacks a good cause.

CAUSA PROXIMA

causa proxima. See CAUSA(1).

CAUSARE

causare (kaw-zair-ee), vb. [Law Latin fr. Latin causari “to litigate”] To litigate; to show cause against.

CAUSA REMOTA

causa remota. See CAUSA(1).

CAUSA SCIENTIAE

causa scientiae (kaw-z⟨schwa⟩ sI-en-shee-ee). [Law Latin] Scots law. Cause of knowledge. • The phrase typically referred to a witness's basis for drawing a particular conclusion, esp. in a case involving scientific expertise.

CAUSA SINE QUA NON

causa sine qua non. See CAUSA(1).

CAUSATION

causation (kaw-zay-sh<<schwa>>n). 1. The causing or producing of an effect <the plaintiff must prove causa-tion>. 2. CAUSALITY.

“Here is the key to the juridical treatment of the problems of causation. We pick out the cause which in our judgment ought to be treated as the dominant one with reference, not merely to the event itself, but to the jural consequences that ought to attach to the event.” Benjamin Cardozo, The Paradoxes of Legal Science 83 (1928).

negative causation. Securities. The defense that part of the plaintiff's damages were caused by factors other than the depreciation in value of the securities resulting from registration-statement defects. • If negative causation is proved, the plaintiff's damages should be reduced. 15 USCA § 77k(e). [Cases: Securities Regulation 25.21(5). C.J.S. Securities Regulation § 89.]

transaction causation. Securities. The fact that an investor would not have engaged in a given transaction if the other party had made truthful statements at the required time. [Cases: Securities Regulation 60.47. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 208–210, 215.]

CAUSATIVE

causative (kaw-z<<schwa>>-tiv), adj. 1. Effective as a cause or producing a result <causative factor of the ac-cident>. 2. Expressive of causation <the causative relationship between drinking and assault>. Cf. CAUSAL.

CAUSATOR

causator (kaw-zay-t<<schwa>>r), n. [Latin “promoter of litigation”] Hist. 1. A litigant. 2. A person who manages or litigates a cause for another.

CAUSE

cause, n. 1. Something that produces an effect or result <the cause of the accident>.

“It has been said that an act which in no way contributed to the result in question cannot be a cause of it; but this, of course, does not mean that an event which might have happened in the same way though the defendant's act or omission had not occurred, is not a result of it. The question is not what would have happened, but what did happen.” Joseph H. Beale, The Proximate Consequences of an Act, 33 Harv. L. Rev. 633, 638 (1920).

but-for cause. The cause without which the event could not have occurred. — Also termed actual cause; cause in fact; factual cause.

concurrent cause. One of two or more causes that simultaneously produce a result.

contributing cause. A factor that — though not the primary cause — plays a part in producing a result.

cooperative cause. Archaic. A person who is contributorily or comparatively negligent.

direct and proximate cause. See proximate cause.

direct cause. See proximate cause.

efficient adequate cause. See proximate cause.

efficient cause. See proximate cause.

efficient intervening cause. See intervening cause.

efficient proximate cause. See proximate cause.

factual cause. See but-for cause.

first cause. See proximate cause.

immediate cause. The last event in a chain of events, though not necessarily the proximate cause of what follows. — Also termed effective cause.

initial cause. See proximate cause.

intervening cause. An event that comes between the initial event in a sequence and the end result, thereby altering the natural course of events that might have connected a wrongful act to an injury. • If the intervening cause is strong enough to relieve the wrongdoer of any liability, it becomes a superseding cause. A dependent intervening cause is one that is not an act and is never a superseding cause. An independent intervening cause is one that operates on a condition produced by an antecedent cause but in no way resulted from that cause. — Also termed intervening act; intervening agency; intervening force; independent intervening cause; efficient intervening cause; supervening cause; novus actus interveniens; nova causa interveniens. See superseding cause. [Cases: Negligence 430. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 202–205.]

jural cause. See proximate cause.

legal cause. See proximate cause.

primary cause. See proximate cause.

procuring cause. 1. See proximate cause (2). 2. Real estate. The efforts of the agent or broker who effects the sale of realty and who is therefore entitled to a commission. [Cases: Brokers 53. C.J.S. Brokers §§ 166–169.]

proximate cause. 1. A cause that is legally sufficient to result in liability; an act or omission that is considered in law to result in a consequence, so that liability can be imposed on the actor. [Cases: Negligence 375.] 2. A cause that directly produces an event and without which the event would not have occurred. [Cases: Negligence 379, 385. C.J.S. Negligence § 197.] — Also termed (in both senses) direct cause; direct and proximate cause; efficient proximate cause; efficient cause; efficient adequate cause; initial cause; first cause; legal cause; pro-curing cause; producing cause; primary cause; jural cause. Cf. (in sense 2) remote cause.

“The four ‘tests’ or ‘clues’ of proximate cause in a criminal case are (1) expediency, (2) isolation, (3) foreseeability and (4) intention.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 823 (3d ed. 1982).

“ ‘Proximate cause’ — in itself an unfortunate term — is merely the limitation which the courts have placed upon the actor's responsibility for the consequences of the actor's conduct. In a philosophical sense, the consequences of an act go forward to eternity, and the causes of an event go back to the dawn of human events, and beyond. But any attempt to impose responsibility upon such a basis would result in infinite liability for all wrongful acts, and would ‘set society on edge and fill the courts with endless litigation.’ [North v. Johnson, 58 Minn. 242, 59 N.W. 1012 (1894).] As a practical matter, legal responsibility must be limited to those causes which are so closely connected with the result and of such significance that the law is justified in imposing liability. Some boundary must be set to liability for the consequences of any act, upon the basis of some social idea of justice or policy.” W. Page Keeton et al., Prosser and Keeton on the Law of Torts § 41, at 264 (5th ed. 1984).

remote cause. A cause that does not necessarily or immediately produce an event or injury. Cf. proximate cause (2). [Cases: Negligence 383.]

sole cause. The only cause that, from a legal viewpoint, produces an event or injury. • If it comes between a defendant's action and the event or injury at issue, it is treated as a superseding cause. [Cases: Negligence 431. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 202, 315.]

“When this one dominant cause is found it is treated as the ‘sole cause’ for the purposes of the particular case, even if it might not be so treated in a different kind of cause of action. A ‘sole cause’ which intervenes between defendant's act and the result in question is spoken of as a ‘superseding cause.’ ... The phrase ‘sole cause,’ meaning the only cause which will receive juridical recognition for the purposes of the particular case, is convenient to give emphasis to three points: (1) If defendant's act was the sole cause of the death or other socially-harmful occurrence, it is by definition a proximate cause thereof; (2) if something other than his act was the sole cause of the harm there need be no further inquiry so far as he is concerned; (3) it is not necessary that defendant's act should have been the sole cause of the harm, — which is merely another form of stating that a contributory cause is sufficient.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 781–82 (3d ed. 1982).

superseding cause. An intervening act or force that the law considers sufficient to override the cause for which the original tortfeasor was responsible, thereby exonerating that tortfeasor from liability. — Also termed sole cause. Cf. intervening cause. [Cases: Negligence 431. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 202, 315.]

supervening cause. See intervening cause.

unavoidable cause. A cause that a reasonably prudent person would not anticipate or be expected to avoid.

2. A ground for legal action <the plaintiff does not have cause to file suit>.

good cause. A legally sufficient reason. • Good cause is often the burden placed on a litigant (usu. by court rule or order) to show why a request should be granted or an action excused. The term is often used in employment-termination cases. — Also termed good cause shown; just cause; lawful cause; sufficient cause.

“Issues of ‘just cause,’ or ‘good cause,’ or simply ‘cause’ arise when an employee claims breach of the terms of an employment contract providing that discharge will be only for just cause. Thus, just cause is a creature of contract. By operation of law, an employment contract for a definite term may not be terminated without cause before the expiration of the term, unless the contract provides otherwise.” Mark A. Rothstein et al., Employment Law § 9.7, at 539 (1994).

probable cause. See PROBABLE CAUSE.

3. A lawsuit; a case <the court has 50 causes on the motion docket>.

preferred cause. A case that a court may for good reason accelerate and try ahead of other cases. — Also termed preference case; preference cause.

short cause. A case that requires little time to try, usu. half a day or less. — Also termed short-cause trial.

4. CAUSA(2).

cause, vb. To bring about or effect <dry conditions caused the fire>.

CAUSE-AND-PREJUDICE RULE

cause-and-prejudice rule. Criminal law. The doctrine that a prisoner petitioning for a federal writ of habeas corpus on the basis of a constitutional challenge must first show that the claim rests on either a new rule of constitutional law (one that was unavailable while the case was heard in the state courts) or a fact that could not have been uncovered earlier despite due diligence, and then show by clear and convincing evidence that if the constitutional error had not occurred, the prisoner would not have been convicted. 28 USCA § 2254(e)(2). • This is an exception to the procedural-default doctrine. Before 1996, the cause-and-prejudice rule allowed federal courts to grant relief on the basis of a constitutional challenge that was not presented to the trial if the prisoner showed good cause for failing to make the challenge at trial, and also showed that the trial court's error actually prejudiced the prisoner. [Cases: Criminal Law 1438; Habeas Corpus 404–409.]

CAUSE CÉLÈBRE

cause célèbre (kawz s<<schwa>>-leborkawz say-leb-r<<schwa>>). [French “celebrated case”] A trial or decision in which the subject matter or the characters are unusual or sensational <the O.J. Simpson trial was a cause célèbre in the 1990s>.

CAUSE IN FACT

cause in fact. See but-for cause under CAUSE(1).

CAUSE LIST

cause list. See DOCKET(2).

CAUSE OF ACTION 1

cause of action. 1. A group of operative facts giving rise to one or more bases for suing; a factual situation that entitles one person to obtain a remedy in court from another person; CLAIM(4) <after the crash, Aronson had a cause of action>. [Cases: Action 1, 2. C.J.S. Actions §§ 2–9, 11, 17, 21, 26, 31–33, 36.]

“What is a cause of action? Jurists have found it difficult to give a proper definition. It may be defined generally to be a situation or state of facts that entitles a party to maintain an action in a judicial tribunal. This state of facts may be — (a) a primary right of the plaintiff actually violated by the defendant; or (b) the threatened violation of such right, which violation the plaintiff is entitled to restrain or prevent, as in case of actions or suits for injunction; or (c) it may be that there are doubts as to some duty or right, or the right beclouded by some apparent adverse right or claim, which the plaintiff is entitled to have cleared up, that he may safely perform his duty, or enjoy his property.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 170 (2d ed. 1899).

2. A legal theory of a lawsuit . Cf. RIGHT OF ACTION. — Also termed (in senses 1 & 2) ground of action.

new cause of action. A claim not arising out of or relating to the conduct, occurrence, or transaction contained in the original pleading. • An amended pleading often relates back to the date when the original pleading was filed. Thus, a plaintiff may add claims to a suit without facing a statute-of-limitations bar, as long as the original pleading was filed in time to satisfy the statute. But if the amended pleading adds a claim that arises out of a different transaction or occurrence, or out of different alleged conduct, the amendment does not relate back to the date when the original pleading was filed. Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(c).

3. Loosely, a lawsuit <there are four defendants in the pending cause of action>.

CAUSE-OF-ACTION ESTOPPEL

cause-of-action estoppel. See COLLATERAL ESTOPPEL.

CAUSIDICUS

causidicus (kaw-zid-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>s), n. [Latin “pleader”] Roman law. A speaker or pleader who pleaded cases orally for others. Cf. ADVOCATUS.

CAUTIO

cautio (kaw-shee-oh), n. [Latin “security”] Roman & civil law. 1. Security usu. given to ensure the performance of an obligation. See BAIL(1); BOND(2). 2. A surety. Pl. cautiones (kaw-shee-oh-nee-z).

cautio fidejussoria (kaw-shee-oh fi-dee-y<<schwa>>-sor-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] Security given by a third party in a contract of fidejussio. See FIDEJUSSION.

cautio judicatum solvi (kaw-shee-oh joo-di-kay-t<<schwa>>m sol-vI). [Latin] A plaintiff's security for court costs. — Also spelled cautio judicatum solvi. [Cases: Costs 105. C.J.S. Costs §§ 59, 63.]

cautio Muciana (kaw-shee-oh myoo-shee-ay-n<<schwa>>). [Latin “security introduced by Mucius Scaevola”] Security given by an heir or legatee to obtain immediate possession of a conditional inheritance. • The condition in the will usu. required an heir to refrain from doing some act, such as marriage or overseas travel.

cautio pignoratitia (kaw-shee-oh pig-n<<schwa>>r<<schwa>>-tish-[ee]-<< schwa>>). [Latin “security by pledge”] Security given by pledging goods. — Also spelled cautio pignoratitia; cautio pignoratitia. Cf. actio pignoratitia under ACTIO.

cautio pro expensis (kaw-shee-oh proh ek-spen-sis). [Latin “security for costs”] Security for court costs. [Cases: Costs 105. C.J.S. Costs §§ 59, 63.]

cautio usufructuaria (kaw-shee-oh yooz-y<<schwa>>-fr<<schwa>>k-choo-air-ee-<< schwa>>). [Latin “tenant's security”] Security given by a usufructuary or tenant for life or a term of years against waste of the enjoyed property. See USUFRUCT. [Cases: Landlord and Tenant 184(1); Life Estates 6. C.J.S. Estates § 54.]

CAUTION

caution (kay-sh<<schwa>>n). Civil & Scots law. 1. Security given to ensure performance of some obligation. See JURATORY CAUTION(2). 2. The person who gives the security; a cautioner. See BAIL(4).

CAUTIONARY INSTRUCTION

cautionary instruction. See JURY INSTRUCTION.

CAUTIONE ADMITTENDA

cautione admittenda. See DE CAUTIONE ADMITTENDA.

CAUTIONER

cautioner (kaw-sh<<schwa>>n<<schwa>>r or [in senses 2 & 3] kay-sh<<schwa>>n-<< schwa>>r). 1. A person who cautions or warns. 2. Civil & Scots law. A person who puts up security to ensure the performance of some obligation. 2. Scots law. A personal security.

CAUTION MONEY

caution money. See EARNEST MONEY.

CAUTIONRY

cautionry (kay-sh<<schwa>>n-ree), n. Scots law. The obligation to act as surety for another.

C.A.V.

c.a.v.abbr.CURIA ADVISARI VULT.

CAVEAT

caveat (kav-ee-aht orkay-vee-at orkav-ee-at). [Latin “let him or her beware”] 1. A warning or proviso <he sold the car to his friend with the caveat that the brakes might need repairs>.

caveat actor (kay-vee-at ak-tor). [Latin] Let the doer, or actor, beware.

caveat emptor (kay-vee-at emp-tor). [Latin “let the buyer beware”] A doctrine holding that purchasers buy at their own risk. • Modern statutes and cases have greatly limited the importance of this doctrine. [Cases: Sales 41, 269; Vendor and Purchaser 37(1). C.J.S. Sales §§ 52, 271; Vendor and Purchaser §§ 49, 51–63, 67–69, 79.]

“It [caveat emptor] is one of that tribe of anonymous Latin maxims that infest our law [T]hey fill the ear and sound like sense, and to the eye look like learning; while their main use is to supply the place of either or both.” Gulian C. Verplanck, An Essay on the Doctrine of Contracts 218 (1825).

“Caveat emptor is the ordinary rule in contract. A vendor is under no duty to communicate the existence even of latent defects in his wares unless by act or implication he represents such defects not to exist.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 245 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

“This action of unfair competition is the embodiment in law of the rule of the playground — ‘Play fair!’ For generations the law has enforced justice.... The maxim caveat emptor is founded on justice; the more modern rule that compels the use of truth in selling goods is founded on fairness. It conflicts with the rule of caveat emptor.” Harry D. Nims, The Law of Unfair Competition and Trade-Marks 25 (1929).

caveat venditor (kay-vee-at ven-di-tor). [Latin] Let the seller beware. [Cases: Sales 269. C.J.S. Sales § 271.]

caveat viator (kay-vee-at vI-ay-tor). [Latin “let the traveler beware”] The duty of a traveler on a highway to use due care to detect and avoid defects in the way.

2. A formal notice or warning given by a party to a court or court officer requesting a suspension of proceedings <the decedent's daughter filed a caveat stating the facts on which her will contest is based>.3. Under the Torrens system of land titles, a formal notice of an unregistered interest in land. • Once lodged with the register of deeds, this notice prevents the register from recording any dealing affecting the estate or the interest claimed. See TORRENS SYSTEM. [Cases: Records 9(13.1).] — caveat,vb.

CAVEATABLE

caveatable (kay-vee-at-<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj. Of or relating to a legal or equitable interest that is protectable by a caveat. See CAVEAT(2), (3).

CAVEATEE

caveatee (kay-vee-at-ee). One whose interest is challenged by a caveat.

CAVEATOR

caveator (kay-vee-ay-t<<schwa>>r). One who files a caveat, esp. to challenge the validity of a will; CON-TESTANT(1).

C.B.

C.B.abbr.1.COMMON BENCH. 2.Hist. Chief Baron of the Exchequer.

CBA

CBA.abbr. COLLECTIVE-BARGAINING AGREEMENT.

CBO

CBO.abbr. CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE.

CBOE

CBOE.abbr.CHICAGO BOARD OPTIONS EXCHANGE.

CBOT

CBOT.abbr.CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

CBT

CBT.abbr.CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

CC

CC.abbr.1. Circuit, city, civil, or county court. 2. Chancery, civil, criminal, or Crown cases. 3.CIVIL CODE.

CCC

CCC.abbr.1.COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION. 2.CUSTOMS COOPERATION COUNCIL.

C CORPORATION

C corporation.See CORPORATION.

CCPA

CCPA.abbr. COURT OF CUSTOMS AND PATENT APPEALS.

CCR

CCR.abbr. UNITED STATES COMMISSION ON CIVIL RIGHTS.

CD

CD.abbr.CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT.

CDC

CDC.abbr. CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION.

CDFI FUND

CDFI Fund.abbr.COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT FINANCIAL INSTITUTION FUND.

CEA

CEA.abbr.COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISORS.

CEAP

ceap (cheep).Hist. Anything for sale; a chattel (usu. cattle) used as a medium for barter.

CEAPGILD

ceapgild (cheep-gild).Hist. A tax or fine paid with an animal rather than with money. — Also spelled ceapgilde.

CEASE

cease,vb.1. To stop, forfeit, suspend, or bring to an end. 2. To become extinct; to pass away. — cessation (se-say-sh<<schwa>>n), n.

CEASE-AND-DESIST LETTER

cease-and-desist letter.A cautionary notice sent to an alleged wrongdoer, describing the offensive activity and the complainant's remedies and demanding that the activity stop. • A cease-and-desist letter is commonly used to stop or block the suspected or actual infringement of an intellectual-property right before litigation.

CEASE-AND-DESIST ORDER

cease-and-desist order.A court's or agency's order prohibiting a person from continuing a particular course of conduct. See INJUNCTION; RESTRAINING ORDER . [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 510; Injunction 157, 202.1. C.J.S. Injunctions §§ 240–241; Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 159.]

CEASEFIRE

ceasefire. See TRUCE.

CEDANT

cedant. See REINSURED.

CEDE

cede (seed), vb.1. To surrender or relinquish. 2. To assign or grant. — cession (sesh-<<schwa>>n), n. — cessionary (sesh-<<schwa>>n-er-ee), adj.

CEDENT

cedent. See REINSURED.

CÉDULA

cédula (say-doo-lah). [Spanish] Spanish law. 1. An official document used to identify someone; an identity card. 2. A promissory note. 3. A summons; specif., a citation requiring a fugitive to appear in court to face criminal charges. • The citation is usu. affixed to the fugitive's door. 4.Hist. A decree of the Spanish Crown; esp., a royal enactment issued by the Council of Castile or of the Indies.

CEILING PRICE

ceiling price. See PRICE.

CEILING RENT

ceiling rent. See RENT(1).

CENEGILD

cenegild (kay-n<<schwa>>-gild). Hist. An expiatory fine paid by a murderer to the victim's relatives.

CENSERE

censere (sen-seer-ee), vb. [Latin "to express an opinion"] Roman law. To decree or resolve.

CENSO

censo (sen-soh). [Spanish] Spanish law. 1. The census; specif., an official count of the people within a nation, state, district, or other political subdivision. 2. Ground rent. 3. An annuity or payment for the use of land.

censo al quitar (ahl kee-tahr). A redeemable annuity. — Also termed censo redimible.

censo consignativo (kawn-seeg-nah-tee-voh). A transferable annuity backed by a lien on the debtor's real prop-erty. • The debtor retains full legal title to the real property. — Also termed censo consignatorio.

censo enfiteutico (en-fee-tay-oo-tee-koh). A real property owner's annuity from a usufructuary tenant; an annuity paid from an emphyteusis (a long-term lease of land). See EMPHYTEUSIS.

censo redimible. See censo al quitar.

censo reservatio (ray-ser-vah-tee-oh). An annuity payable by a grantee of land to the grantor. • The annuity is reserved when the land is transferred to the grantee.

CENSOR

censo,r,n.1.Roman law. (ital.) A Roman officer who acted as a census-taker, assessor, and reviewer of public morals. 2. A person who inspects publications, films, and the like for objectionable content. 3. In the armed forces, someone who reads letters and other communications and deletes material considered a security threat. — cen-sorial,adj. — censorship,n.

censor (sen-s<<schwa>>r), vb. To officially inspect (esp. a book or film) and delete material considered offensive.

CENSORIAL JURISPRUDENCE

cen-sorial jurisprudence. See LAW REFORM.

CENSUMETHIDUS

cen-sumethidus (sen-s<<schwa>>-meth-<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] See MORTMAIN. — Also spelled censumorthidus.

CENSURE

cen-sure (sen-sh<<schwa>>r), n. An official reprimand or condemnation; harsh criticism <the judge's careless statements subjected her to the judicial council's censure>. — censorious,adj.

cen-sure,vb. To reprimand; to criticize harshly <the Senate censured the senator for his inflammatory remarks>.

CENSUS

cen-sus. The official counting of people to compile social and economic data for the political subdivision to which the people belong. Pl. censuses.[Cases: Census 1. C.J.S. Census §§ 5, 8.]

federal census.A census of a state or territory, or a portion of either, taken by the Census Bureau of the United States. • The Constitution (art. I, § 2) requires only a simple count of persons for purposes of apportioning con-gressional representation among the states. Under Congress's direction, however, the census has evolved to include a wide variety of information that is useful to businesses, historians, and others not affiliated with the federal government. [Cases: Census 1. C.J.S. Census §§ 5, 8.]

CENSUS BUREAU

Census Bureau. See BUREAU OF THE CENSUS.

CENTENA

cen-tena (sen-tee-n<<schwa>>). [fr. Latin centum “hundred”] Hist. A district containing 100 freemen, established among the Germans, Franks, Goths, and Lombards. • The centena corresponds to the Saxon hundred.

CENTENARIUS

cen-tenarius (sen-t<<schwa>>-nair-ee-<<schwa>>s). [fr. Latin centum “hundred-man”] Hist. A petty judge or undersheriff of a hundred. See HUNDRED.

CENTER FOR MINORITY VETERANS

Center for Minority Veterans.A unit in the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs responsible for promoting the use of VA services, benefits, and programs by minority veterans.

CENTER FOR WOMEN VETERANS

Center for Women Veterans.A unit in the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs responsible for advising female veterans about VA programs and for evaluating VA programs to ensure access by women.

CENTER-OF-GRAVITY DOCTRINE

center-of-gravity doctrine.Conflict of laws. The rule that, in choice-of-law questions, the law of the jurisdiction with the most significant relationship to the transaction or event applies. — Also termed significant-relationship theory; grouping-of-contacts theory. [Cases: Action 17. C.J.S. Actions §§ 18–20; Conflict of Laws §§ 2–3, 12, 15, 20, 23, 27–32, 34–40, 42–48, 50–65, 96–97, 100, 102, 105–107.]

CENTERS FOR DISEASE CONTROL AND PREVENTION

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.An agency in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services responsible for conducting medical research and for responding to public-health emergencies. • It was established by Department reorganization in 1999. — Abbr. CDC.

CENTESIMA

centesima (sen-tes-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>), n. & adj. [Latin “one-hundredth”] Roman law. The hundredth part; 1%. See USURAE CENTESIMAE.

CENTRAL AMERICAN COURT OF JUSTICE

Central American Court of Justice.A court created by a 1908 convention between Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, and Nicaragua, to guarantee the rights of the various republics to maintain peace and harmony in their relations and to prevent recourse to the use of force. • The convention expired after ten years, and the court ceased to exist in 1918.

CENTRAL CLEARING SYSTEM

central clearing system.A method of facilitating securities transactions in which an agent or subsidiary of an exchange acts as a clearinghouse for member brokerage firms by clearing their checks, settling their accounts, and delivering their payments. • Most transactions are reflected solely by computerized book entries, and clearing-house statements are submitted showing the net balance to be paid to reconcile the member firm's accounts.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT

Central Criminal Court.The Crown Court sitting in London, formerly known as the Old Bailey. • The Central Criminal Court, created in 1834, has jurisdiction to try all indictable offenses committed in London. See CROWN COURT .

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT ACT

Central Criminal Court Act. See PALMER'S ACT.

CENTRAL GOVERNMENT

central government. See federal government (1) under GOVERNMENT.

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

Central Intelligence Agency. An independent federal agency that compiles intelligence information, conducts counterintelligence activities outside the United States, and advises the President and the National Security Council on matters of foreign intelligence and national security. • It was created by the National Security Act of 1947. 50 USCA §§ 401 et seq. — Abbr. CIA. See NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL.

CENTRAL OFFICE

Central Office. The primary office for most of England's courts. • The Central Office was established in 1879 to consolidate the masters and associates of the common-law courts, and the clerical functions of the Crown Office of the Queen's Bench Division, the Report and Enrollment offices of the Chancery Division, and several other offices.

CENTUMVIRI

centumviri (sen-t<<schwa>>m-v<<schwa>>-rɪ), n. pl. [Latin "hundred men"] Roman law. A court with jurisdiction to hear important cases, esp. those relating to inheritances and disputed wills. • The court originally consisted of 105 judges — 3 from each of the 35 tribes.

CEO

CEO. abbr. CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER.

CEORL

ceorl (chorl). Hist. A Saxon freeman who either possessed no landed property or held land of a thane by paying rent or providing services. • After the Norman Conquest, ceorls were reduced to the status of unfree villeins. Under Norman rule, the variant form of the word, churl, became associated with a base peasant, and soon acquired the connotation of a surly, coarse person (hence the modern meaning). — Also termed churl; ciriliscus.

CEPI

cepi (see-pl). [Latin] Hist. I have taken. • Cepi was often used in a capias return by an arresting sheriff, as in cepi corpus et est in custodia ("I have taken the defendant [or body] and he is in custody").

"But for injuries committed with force to the person, property, or possession, of the plaintiff, the law, to punish the breach of the peace, and prevent its disturbance in the future, provided also a process against the defendant's person.... This process was called a capias ad respondendum, which at once authorised the sheriff to take the defendant, and imprison him till the return-day, and then produce him in court.... If by this process the defendant was arrested, the sheriff returned it with cepi corpus indorsed. But notwithstanding this writ commanded the sheriff to take and secure him till the return-day, he might, at his own peril, have let the defendant continue at large; though he was liable, in case of his non appearance in court, to make amends to the plaintiff in an action for an escape, or to be amerced by the court for the contempt, in not producing the body pursuant to the return he had made on the writ." George Crompton, Practice Common-Placed: Rules and Cases of Practice in the Courts of King's Bench and Common Pleas xlii–xliii (3d ed. 1787).

cepi corpus et bail (see-pIkor-p<<schwa>>s et bayl). I have arrested and then released the defendant on a bail bond.

cepi corpus et committitur (see-pIkor-p<<schwa>>s et k<<schwa>>-mit-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r). I have arrested and committed the defendant (to prison).

cepi corpus et est languidus (see-pIkor-p<<schwa>>s et est lang-gw<<schwa>>-d<<schwa>>s). I have arrested the defendant and he is sick. • This notation in a sheriff's return indicated that the defendant was too sick to be moved safely from the place of arrest.

cepi corpus et paratum habeo (see-pIkor-p<<schwa>>s et p<<schwa>>-ray-t<<schwa>>m hay-bee-oh). I have made an arrest and am ready to produce the defendant.

CEPIT

cepit (see-pit). [Latin] Hist. He took. • This was the main verb in a declaration in an action for trespass or replevin.

CEPIT ET ABDUXIT

cepit et abduxit (see-pit et ab-duk-sit). [Latin] Hist. He took and led away. • This declaration appeared in either a writ of trespass or a larceny indictment for theft of an animal.

CEPIT ET ASPORTAVIT

cepit et asportavit (see-pit et as-por-tay-vit). [Latin] Hist. He took and carried away. • This declaration appeared in either a writ of trespass or a larceny indictment for a defendant's wrongfully carrying away goods.

CEPIT IN ALIO LOCO

cepit in alio loco (see-pit in ay-lee-oh loh-koh). [Latin] Hist. He took in another place. • This phrase appeared in a replevin-action pleading in which a defendant asserted that the property had been taken at a place other than that named in the plaintiff's declaration.

CEQ

CEQ.abbr. COUNCIL ON ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY.

CERAGE

cerage (seer-ij). See WAX SCOT.

CERA IMPRESSA

cera impressa (seer-<<schwa>> im-pres-<<schwa>>). [Latin “impressed wax”] Hist. An impressed seal. • Cera impressa originally referred only to wax seals, but later came to include any impressed seal, regardless of the substance impressed. See SEAL.

“The courts have held that an impression made on wafers or other adhesive substance capable of receiving an impression comes within the definition of ‘cera impressa.’ If then wax be construed to be merely a general term including any substance capable of receiving and retaining the impression of a seal, paper, if it has that quality, may well be included in the category. The machine now used to impress public seals does not require any substance to receive or retain the impression, which is as well defined, as durable — less likely to be defaced than that made on wax. It is the seal which authenticates, not the substance impressed.” William C. Anderson, A Dictionary of Law 926 (1889).

CERATIUM

ceratium (si-ray-shee-*<<schwa>>*m). See WAX SCOT.

CERCLA

CERCLA (s<<schwa>>r-kl<<schwa>>).abbr. Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980. • This statute holds responsible parties liable for the cost of cleaning up hazardous-waste sites.⁴² USCA §§ 9601 et seq. See SUPERFUND. [Cases: Environmental Law 436.]

“CERCLA is probably the most controversial environmental law ever enacted. Supporters praise it as a vital program to safeguard human health and the environment from the toxic consequences of decades of irresponsible waste handling. Citing cost estimates ranging up to $750 billion, critics deride it as an extraordinarily expensive measure which imposes crippling liability on innocent parties to fund clean-ups which are either unnecessary or largely ineffective.” John G. Sprankling & Gregory S. Weber, The Law of Hazardous Wastes and Toxic Substances in a Nutshell 256 (1997).

CEREMONIAL MARRIAGE

ceremonial marriage. See MARRIAGE(3).

CERT

cert.abbr.CERTIORARI.

CERTAIN CONTRACT

certain contract. See CONTRACT.

CERTANS DE DAMNO VITANDO

certans de damno vitando (s<<schwa>>r-tanz dee dam-noh vI-tan-doh). [Law Latin] Hist. Striving to avoid a loss. — Sometimes shortened to damno vitando.

CERTANS DE LUCRO CAPTANDO

certans de lucro captando (s<<schwa>>r-tanz dee loo-kroh kap-tan-doh). [Law Latin] Hist. Striving to make a gain; attempting to obtain an advantage.

CERTIFICANDO DE RECOGNITIONE STAPULAE

certificando de recognitione stapulae (s<<schwa>>r-ti-fi-kan-doh dee rek-<<schwa>>g-nish-ee-oh-nee stay-py<<schwa>>-lee). [Law Latin "by certifying the recognition of the statute staple"] Hist. A writ commanding the holder of certain commercial debt instruments (i.e., the mayor of the staple) to certify to the lord chancellor the existence and terms of a statute staple (i.e., a bond for commercial debt) wrongfully detained by a party to the bond. See STATUTE STAPLE.

CERTIFICAT D'UTILITE

certificat d'utilite.[French] Patents. UTILITY MODEL.

CERTIFICATE

certificate,n.1. A document in which a fact is formally attested <death certificate>. See STOCK CERTIFICATE. 2. A document certifying the bearer's status or authorization to act in a specified way <nursing certificate>.3. A notice by one court to another court of the action it has taken <when issuing its opinion, the Seventh Circuit sent a certificate to the Illinois Supreme Court>.

CERTIFICATE CREDITOR

certificate creditor.See CREDITOR.

CERTIFICATED SECURITY

certificated security.See SECURITY.

CERTIFICATE INTO CHANCERY

certificate into chancery.English law. The decision of a common-law court on a legal question submitted by the chancery court.

CERTIFICATE LAND

certificate land.See LAND.

CERTIFICATE OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT

certificate of acknowledgment.See ACKNOWLEDGMENT(5).

CERTIFICATE OF AMENDMENT

certificate of amendment.A document filed with a state corporation authority, usu. the secretary of state, re-flecting changes made to a corporation's articles of incorporation. [Cases: Corporations 40. C.J.S. Corporations § 38.]

CERTIFICATE OF APPEALABILITY

certificate of appealability. In an appeal from the denial of federal habeas corpus relief, a document issued by a United States circuit judge certifying that the prisoner showed that a constitutional right may have been denied. 28 USCA § 2253(c)(2). • The prisoner does not have to show that the case would succeed on the merits, only that reasonable jurists would find the claim at least debatable. Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 322, 336, 123 S.Ct. 1029, 1039 (2003). If the certificate is not issued, no appeal is possible. 28 USCA § 2253(c)(1); Fed. R. App. P. 22(b). — Also termed (before 1996) certificate of probable cause; certificate of reasonable doubt; writ of probable cause. — Abbr. COA.

CERTIFICATE OF ASSIZE

certificate of assize. Hist. In England, a writ granting a retrial. • The certificate of assize has been replaced by a court order granting a new trial.

CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY

certificate of authority. 1. A document authenticating a notarized document that is being sent to another jurisdiction. • The certificate assures the out-of-state or foreign recipient that the notary public has a valid commission. — Also termed certificate of capacity; certificate of official character; certificate of authentication; certificate of prothonotary; certificate of magistracy; apostille; verification. 2. A document issued by a state agency, usu. the secretary of state, granting an out-of-state corporation the right to do business in the state. [Cases: Corporations 648. C.J.S. Corporations § 903.]

CERTIFICATE OF BAD FAITH

certificate of bad faith. In a case in which a party has been allowed to proceed in a United States district court in forma pauperis, a document issued by the court attesting that an appeal by that party would be frivolous and therefore should not be allowed unless the party pays the ordinary filing fees and costs. 28 USCA § 1915(a)(3). Cf. CERTIFICATE OF GOOD FAITH.

CERTIFICATE OF CAPACITY

certificate of capacity. See CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY(1).

CERTIFICATE OF CONFERENCE

certificate of conference. A section of a pleading or motion filed with the court, usu. contained separately on a page near the end of the document, whereby the party filing the pleading or motion certifies to the court that the parties have attempted to resolve the matter, but that a judicial determination is needed because an agreement could not be reached. • Courts require some motions to have a certificate of conference attached to them. This compels the parties to try to resolve the issue themselves, without burdening the court unless necessary. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c), 37.

CERTIFICATE OF CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY

certificate of convenience and necessity. A certificate issued by an administrative agency granting operating authority to a utility or transportation company. — Also termed certificate of public convenience and necessity. [Cases: Automobiles 77; Carriers 8; Public Utilities 113. C.J.S. Aeronautics and Aerospace § 189; Carriers §§ 356–366, 373–376, 378–381, 383–384; Motor Vehicles §§ 174, 179–183; Public Utilities §§ 4, 69, 71.]

CERTIFICATE OF CONVICTION

certificate of conviction. A signed and certified warrant authorizing a person's imprisonment after an adjudication of guilt.

CERTIFICATE OF CORRECTION

certificate of correction. 1. A document that corrects an error in an official document, such as a certificate of incorporation. 2. Patents. A document issued by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office after a patentee or assignee rectifies a minor error unrelated to either questions of ownership or else defects in a patent application's specifications or drawings. • The certificate can correct only three types of errors: (1) mistakes made by the PTO, (2) minor clerical or typographical errors, and (3) the omission or misidentification of an inventor's name. 35 USCA §§ 254–256. Cf. reissue patent under PATENT(3). [Cases: Patents 126. C.J.S. Patents §§ 215–216.]

CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT

certificate of deposit. 1. A banker's certificate acknowledging the receipt of money and promising to repay the depositor. 2. A bank document showing the existence of a time deposit, usu. one that pays interest. — Abbr. CD. [Cases: Banks and Banking 152. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 294–300, 370.]

negotiable certificate of deposit. A security issued by a financial institution as a short-term source of funds, usu. with a fixed interest rate and maturity of one year or less. [Cases: Banks and Banking 152. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 294–300, 370.]

CERTIFICATE OF DISCHARGE

certificate of discharge. See SATISFACTION PIECE.

CERTIFICATE OF DISHONOR

certificate of dishonor. See NOTICE OF DISHONOR.

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION certificate of dissolution. A document issued by a state authority (usu. the secretary of state) certifying that a corporation has been dissolved.

CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION

certificate of election. A document issued by a governor, board of elections, or other competent authority certifying that the named person has been duly elected. [Cases: Elections 126(7), 265. C.J.S. Elections § 119(1).]

CERTIFICATE OF GOOD FAITH

certificate of good faith. In a case in which a party has been allowed to proceed in a United States District Court in forma pauperis, a document issued by the court attesting that an appeal by the party would not be frivolous, so the party should not be required to pay costs or security. • District judges occasionally issue certificates of good faith even though they are never required: a party is allowed to appeal in forma pauperis unless the court issues a certificate of bad faith. 28 USCA § 1915(a)(3). Cf. CERTIFICATE OF BAD FAITH.

CERTIFICATE OF HOLDER OF ATTACHED PROPERTY

certificate of holder of attached property. A certificate given by a person who holds — but does not own — property attached by a sheriff; the certificate sets forth the holder's interest in the property. [Cases: Attachment 187. C.J.S. Attachment §§ 239–241.]

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION

certificate of incorporation. 1. A document issued by a state authority (usu. the secretary of state) granting a corporation its legal existence and the right to function as a corporation. — Also termed charter; corporate charter. 2. ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. [Cases: Corporations 18. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 26, 33–35, 41, 559.]

CERTIFICATE OF INDEBTEDNESS

certificate of indebtedness. 1. DEBENTURE. 2. TREASURY BILL. 3. CERTIFICATE OF DEPOSIT .

CERTIFICATE OF INSURANCE

certificate of insurance. A document acknowledging that an insurance policy has been written, and setting forth in general terms what the policy covers. [Cases: Insurance 1710.]

CERTIFICATE OF INTEREST

certificate of interest. Oil & gas. A document evidencing a fractional or percentage ownership in oil-and-gas production.

CERTIFICATE OF MAGISTRACY

certificate of magistracy. See CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY(1).

CERTIFICATE OF MARRIAGE

certificate of marriage. See MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE.

CERTIFICATE OF MERIT

certificate of merit. A certificate, signed by the plaintiff's attorney and filed with the complaint in a civil suit, declaring that the plaintiff's attorney has conferred with at least one competent expert and afterward concluded that the suit has merit. • Many states have a law mandating certificates of merit in certain types of cases, such as professional malpractice. The law's purpose is to weed out frivolous claims as early as possible. In those states, if a certificate is not filed with the complaint, the action is usu. dismissed. If the law requires the certificate to be signed under oath or penalty of perjury, it is sometimes called an affidavit of merit.

CERTIFICATE OF OCCUPANCY

certificate of occupancy.A document indicating that a building complies with zoning and building ordinances. • A certificate of occupancy is often required before title can be transferred and the building occupied. [Cases: Health 392; Zoning and Planning 371. C.J.S. Zoning and Land Planning §§ 191, 199, 203.]

CERTIFICATE OF OFFICIAL CHARACTER

certificate of official character.See CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY(1).

CERTIFICATE OF PROBABLE CAUSE

certificate of probable cause.See CERTIFICATE OF APPEALABILITY. — Abbr. CPC.

CERTIFICATE OF PROOF

certificate of proof.See PROOF OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

CERTIFICATE OF PROTEST

certificate of protest.See NOTICE OF DISHONOR.

CERTIFICATE OF PROTHONOTARY

certificate of prothonotary.See CERTIFICATE OF AUTHORITY(1).

CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY

certificate of public convenience and necessity.See CERTIFICATE OF CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY .

CERTIFICATE OF PURCHASE

certificate of purchase.A document reflecting a successful bid for property at a judicial sale. • The bidder receives a property deed if the land is not redeemed or if the sale is confirmed by court order. — Also termed certificate of sale. [Cases: Judicial Sales 61. C.J.S. Judicial Sales §§ 48–52.]

CERTIFICATE OF REASONABLE DOUBT certificate of reasonable doubt.See CERTIFICATE OF APPEALABILITY.

CERTIFICATE OF REDEMPTION

certificate of redemption.A document issued by a sheriff or other statutorily designated officer to a debtor whose property has been foreclosed as evidence that the debtor paid the redemption price for the foreclosed property. See statutory redemption under REDEMPTION.

CERTIFICATE OF REGISTRATION

certificate of registration. 1. Copyright. A U.S. Copyright Office document approving a copyright application and stating the approved work's registration date and copyright registration number. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 50.25. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property §§ 39, 96.] 2. Trademarks. A document affirming that the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office has allowed and recorded a trademark or servicemark. • The certificate identifies (1) the registered mark, (2) the date of first use, (3) the type of product or service that the mark applies to, (4) the registration number and date, (5) the registration's term, (6) the original application date, and (7) any conditions or limitations on registration. [Cases: Trade Regulation 251. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 149, 199–201.]

CERTIFICATE OF REGISTRY

certificate of registry. Maritime law. A document certifying that a ship has been registered as required by law. See REGISTRY(2). [Cases: Shipping 5. C.J.S. Shipping § 16.]

CERTIFICATE OF REHABILITATION

certificate of rehabilitation. 1. A document issued in some states by a court or other authorized governmental agency, such as a parole board, as evidence that a convicted offender is entitled to recover at least some of the rights and privileges of citizenship. • The terms and conditions under which certificates of rehabilitation are issued vary widely among the states that use them. Some states, such as New York, issue different kinds of rehabilitation certificates based on the number or type of convictions. 2. A document issued by a (usu. local) government on the renovation, restoration, preservation, or rehabilitation of a historic building. • The certificate usu. entitles the property owner to favorable tax treatment. 3. A document attesting that substandard housing has been satisfactorily renovated and meets housing-code standards.

CERTIFICATE OF SALE

certificate of sale. See CERTIFICATE OF PURCHASE.

CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE

certificate of service. A section of a pleading or motion filed with the court, usu. contained separately on the last page, in which the filing party certifies to the court that a copy has been mailed to or otherwise served on all other parties. • A certificate of service is usu. not included with the initial pleading that the plaintiff files to begin a suit, because that pleading is usu. filed before it is served (although the plaintiff may be required to file proof of service). Other pleadings and motions are usu. required to have a certificate of service. Fed. R. Civ. P. 5(d). — Also termed proof of service. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 665; Pleading 336; Process 132. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 577, 579–583; Process §§ 79–80.]

CERTIFICATE OF STOCK

certificate of stock. See STOCK CERTIFICATE.

CERTIFICATE OF TITLE

certificate of title.A document indicating ownership of real or personal property. UCC § 9-102(a)(10). • This document usu. identifies any liens or other encumbrances. [Cases: Property 9. C.J.S. Property §§ 35–37.]

CERTIFICATION

certification,n.1. The act of attesting. 2. The state of having been attested. 3. An attested statement. 4. The writing on the face of a check by which it is certified. 5. A procedure by which a federal appellate court asks the U.S. Supreme Court or the highest state court to review a question of law arising in a case pending before the appellate court and on which it needs guidance. • Certification is commonly used with state courts, but the U.S. Supreme Court has steadily restricted the number of cases it reviews by certification. See 28 USCA § 1254(2). Cf. CER-TIORARI. [Cases: Federal Courts 392, 463.]

CERTIFICATION AUTHORITY

certification authority.An organization that issues digital certificates and maintains a database of certificates available on the Internet. • Many states have licensing laws for certification authorities. — Abbr. CA. — Also termed certifying authority.

CERTIFICATION HEARING

certification hearing.See transfer hearing under HEARING.

CERTIFICATION MARK

certification mark.See certification trademark under TRADEMARK.

CERTIFICATION OF BARGAINING AGENT

certification of bargaining agent.See UNION CERTIFICATION.

CERTIFICATION OF LABOR UNION

certification of labor union.See UNION CERTIFICATION.

CERTIFICATION TO STATE COURT

certification to state court.The procedure by which a federal court of appeals defers deciding a novel question of state law by certifying the question to the highest court of the state. See CERTIFICATION(5). [Cases: Federal Courts 392.]

CERTIFICATION TRADEMARK

certification trademark.See TRADEMARK.

CERTIFIED CHECK

certified check.See CHECK.

CERTIFIED COPY

certified copy.See COPY.

CERTIFIED FILE HISTORY

certified file history. Patents. A patent application together with records of all proceedings and correspondence related to its prosecution, as certified by the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office for appeals, arbitration, and other postprosecution proceedings. Cf. FILE WRAPPER. [Cases: Patents 160.C.J.S. Patents §§ 275–276.]

CERTIFIED FINANCIAL STATEMENT

certified financial statement. See FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

CERTIFIED JUVENILE

certified juvenile. See JUVENILE.

CERTIFIED MAIL

certified mail. See MAIL.

CERTIFIED MILITARY LAWYER

certified military lawyer. See LAWYER.

CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT

certified public accountant. See ACCOUNTANT.

CERTIFIED QUESTION

certified question. A point of law on which a federal appellate court seeks guidance from either the U.S. Supreme Court or the highest state court by the procedure of certification. [Cases: Federal Courts 392, 463.]

CERTIFY

certify, vb. 1. To authenticate or verify in writing. 2. To attest as being true or as meeting certain criteria. 3. (Of a court) to issue an order allowing a class of litigants to maintain a class action; to create (a class) for purposes of a class action. Cf. DECERTIFY. See CERTIFICATION. — certified, adj.

CERTIFYING AUTHORITY

certifying authority. See CERTIFICATION AUTHORITY.

CERTIORARI

certiorari (s<<schwa>>r-shee-<<schwa>>-rair-lor -rair-ee or -rah-ree). [Law Latin “to be more fully informed”] An extraordinary writ issued by an appellate court, at its discretion, directing a lower court to deliver the record in the case for review. • The writ evolved from one of the prerogative writs of the English Court of King's Bench, and in the United States it became a general appellate remedy. The U.S. Supreme Court uses certiorari to review most of the cases that it decides to hear. — Abbr. cert. — Also termed writ of certiorari. Cf. CERTIFICATION(5).

[Cases: Certiorari 1. C.J.S. Certiorari §§ 2–4, 6, 8, 33.]

“The established method by which the Court of King's Bench from the earliest times exercised superintendence over the due observance of their limitations by inferior courts, checked the usurpation of jurisdiction, and main-tained the supremacy of the royal courts, was by writs of prohibition and certiorari. A proceeding by writ of certiorari (cause to be certified) is a special proceeding by which a superior court requires some inferior tribunal, board, or judicial officer to transmit the record of its proceedings for review, for excess of jurisdiction. It is similar to a writ of error, in that it is a proceeding in a higher court to superintend and review judicial acts, but it only lies in cases not appealable by writ of error or otherwise.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 340, at 541 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

“The discretionary writ of certiorari has come to control access to almost all branches of Supreme Court juris-diction. Appeal jurisdiction has been narrowly limited, and certification of questions from federal courts of ap-peals has fallen into almost complete desuetude. Certiorari control over the cases that come before the Court enables the Court to define its own institutional role.” Charles Alan Wright et al., Federal Practice and Procedure § 4004, at 22 (2d ed. 1996).

“The writ of certiorari (from the Latin certiorarie ”in form“) is used today in the United States as a general vehicle of discretionary appeal. Historically, however, the writ had a much narrower function. It lay only to inferior courts and only to demand that the record be ‘certified’ and sent to the King's Bench to see if that [inferior] court had exceeded its power in particular cases. It was most frequently used to review criminal indictments and local administrative orders, and was often used to examine the statutory authority for acts of administrative bodies created by statute.” Daniel R. Coquillette, The Anglo-American Legal Heritage 248 (1999).

certiorari facias (s<<schwa>>r-shee-<<schwa>>-rair-Ifay-shee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “cause to be certified”] The command of a writ of certiorari, referring to certification of the court record for review.

CERTIORARI PETITION

certiorari petition.See PETITION.

CERT POOL

cert pool.A group of clerks in the U.S. Supreme Court who read petitions for certiorari and write memorandums for the justices with a synopsis of the facts and issues and often a recommendation of whether a grant of certiorari is warranted.

“The cert pool is not without its critics. Some commentators have contended that inexperienced clerks in the cert pool give short shrift to cases of practical importance in favor of cases presenting esoteric legal questions.... Other critics have contended that the cert pool does little to advance its stated goal of efficiency.... Pool clerks frequently must take the time to formally summarize petitions that would occasion only a brief, candid recommendation to ‘deny’ from their own Justices.” Robert L. Stern et al., Supreme Court Practice 291 (8th ed. 2002).

CERTUM AN ET QUANTUM DEBEATUR?

certum an et quantum debeatur? (s<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>m an et kwon-t<<schwa>>m dee-bee-ay-t<<schwa>>r). [Law Latin] Hist. Certain whether there is a debt due at all, and how much is owed? • These were the two questions that had to be resolved before a defendant could make a plea in compensation.

CERTUS PLEGIUS

certus plegius (s<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>s plee-jee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “sure pledge”] See SALVUS PLEGIUS.

CERTWORTHY

certworthy,adj. Slang. (Of a case or issue) deserving of review by writ of certiorari. — certworthiness,n.

CESS

cess (ses), n. Hist. 1.English law. An assessment or tax. 2.Scots law. A land tax. — Also spelled cesse; sess.

CESSATION-OF-PRODUCTION CLAUSE

cessation-of-production clause.Oil & gas. A lease provision that specifies what the lessee must do to maintain the lease if production stops. • The purpose of the clause is to avoid the uncertainties of the tempo-rary-cessation-of-production doctrine. Cf. TEMPORARY-CESSATION-OF-PRODUCTION DOCTRINE . [Cases: Mines and Minerals 78.1(9). C.J.S. Mines and Minerals §§ 260–263.]

“Many oil and gas leases contain provisions intended to give lessees more certainty than is given by the temporary cessation of production doctrine. Usually, such provision takes the form of a temporary cessation of production clause, a provision in the lease that states that the lease will be maintained so long as production does not cease for more than an agreed period of time, usually sixty to ninety days.... So long as sixty days does not elapse without operations on the property, the lease will not terminate even though there is no production.” John S. Lowe, Oil and Gas Law in a Nutshell 258 (3d ed. 1995).

CESSAVIT PER BIENNIUM

cessavit per biennium (se-say-vit p<<schwa>>r bI-en-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “he ceased for two years”] Hist. A writ of right available to a landlord to recover land from a tenant who has failed to pay rent or provide prescribed services for a two-year period. • The writ could also be used to recover land donated to a religious order if the order has failed to perform certain spiritual services. — Also termed cessavit.

CESSE

cesse. See CESS.

CESSER

cesser (ses-<<schwa>>r).1.Hist. A tenant whose failure to pay rent or perform prescribed services gives the landowner the right to recover possession of the land. — Also spelled cessor; cessure. 2. The termination of a right or interest.

“A proviso of cesser is usually annexed to long terms, raised by mortgage, marriage settlement, or annuity, whereby the term is declared to be determinable on the happening of a certain event; and until the event provided for in the declaration of cesser has occurred, the term continues.” 4 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *90 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

“The cesser of a term, annuity or the like takes place when it determines or comes to an end. The expression was formerly chiefly used with reference to long terms of years created by a settlement for the purpose of securing portions, etc., given to the objects of the settlement. In such cases, it was usual to introduce a proviso that the term should cease when the trusts thereof were satisfied (as, for example, on the death of the annuitant where the term was created to secure an annuity). This was called a proviso for cesser.” Jowitt's Dictionary of English Law 308 (John Burke ed., 2d ed. 1977).

CESSET EXECUTIO

cesset executio (ses-<<schwa>>t ek-s<<schwa>>-kyoo-shee-oh). [Latin “let execution stay”] An order directing a stay of execution.

CESSET PROCESSUS

cesset processus (ses-<<schwa>>t proh-ses-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “let process stay”] An order entered on the record directing a stay of a legal proceeding.

CESSIO

cessio (sesh-ee-oh). [Latin “cession”] A relinquishment or assignment; CESSION.

CESSIO ACTIONUM

cessio actionum (sesh-ee-oh ak-shee-oh-n*<<schwa>>m*). [Latin] Roman law. The assignment of an obligation by allowing a third party to (1) sue on the obligation in the name of the party entitled to it, and (2) retain the proceeds.

CESSIO BONORUM

cessio bonorum (sesh-ee-oh b*<<schwa>>-nor-<<schwa>>m*). [Latin “cession of goods”] Roman law. An assignment of a debtor's property to creditors. [Cases: Debtor and Creditor 1, 12. C.J.S. Assignments for Benefit of Creditors §§ 2, 4, 27; Creditor and Debtor §§ 2–3, 106–109.]

“It was the Roman equivalent of modern bankruptcy.... [O]ne who thus made cessio bonorum would not become infamis, was never liable in future beyond his means, for the old debts, and was not liable to personal seizure thereafter in respect of them.” W.W. Buckland, A Manual of Roman Private Law 388 (2d ed. 1939).

CESSIO FORI

cessio fori (sesh-ee-oh for-I). [Latin] Hist. The giving up of business; the act of becoming bankrupt.

CESSIO IN JURE

cessio in jure (sesh-ee-oh in joor-ee). [Latin “transfer in law”] Roman law. A fictitious action brought to convey property, whereby the claimant demanded certain property, the owner did not contest the claim, and a magistrate awarded the property to the claimant.

CESSION

cession (sesh-<<schwa>>n). 1. The act of relinquishing property rights. 2. Int'l law. The relinquishment or transfer of land from one nation to another, esp. after a war, as part of the price of peace. [Cases: Indians 11.C.J.S. Indians § 71.] 3. The land so relinquished or transferred.

CESSIONARY BANKRUPT

cessionary bankrupt. See BANKRUPT.

CESSMENT

cessment (ses-m<<schwa>>nt). Hist. An assessment or tax.

CESSOR

cessor. See CESSER.

CESSURE

cessure. See CESSER.

CESTUI

cestui (set-ee orses-twee). [French “he who”] A beneficiary. — Also spelled cestuy.

CESTUI QUE TRUST

cestui que trust (set-ee [orses-twee] kee [or k<<schwa>>] tr<<schwa>>st). [Law French] Archaic. One who possesses equitable rights in property, usu. receiving the rents, issues, and profits from it; BENEFICIARY. — Also termed fide-commissary; fidei-commissarius. Pl. cestuis que trust or (erroneously) cestuis que trustent. [Cases: Trusts 139. C.J.S. Trover and Conversion § 251.]

“[A]n alternative name for the beneficiary is ‘cestui que trust,’ an elliptical phrase meaning ‘he [for]= whose [benefit the] trust [was created].’ In this phrase cestui is pronounced ‘settee’ (with the accent on the first syllable), que is pronounced ‘kee,’ and trust as in English. Grammatically the plural should be cestuis que trust (pronounced like the singular); but by an understandable mistake it is sometimes written cestuis que trustent, as if trust were a verb.” Glanville Williams, Learning the Law 10 (11th ed. 1982).

CESTUI QUE USE

cestui que use (set-ee [orses-twee] kee [or k<<schwa>>] yoos). Archaic. The person for whose use and benefit property is being held by another, who holds the legal title to the property. Pl. cestuis que use or (erroneously) cestuis que usent. [Cases: Trusts 131. C.J.S. Trover and Conversion § 241.]

“The basis of this institution was the transfer of property to a trusted friend, who was to hold it not for personal benefit but for the purpose of carrying out the transferor's instructions. The person to whom the land was conveyed for this purpose was the ‘feoffee to uses’; the person for whose benefit the land was conveyed — the beneficiary — was the ‘cestui que use’ ... , from the law French ‘cestui a que use le feoffment fuit fait.’ ” Peter Butt, Land Law § 702, at 97 (3d ed. 1996).

CESTUI QUE VIE

cestui que vie (set-ee [orses-twee] kee [or k<<schwa>>] vee). The person whose life measures the duration of a trust, gift, estate, or insurance contract. Cf. MEASURING LIFE. [Cases: Life Estates 1. C.J.S. Estates §§ 28–29, 31, 34.]

“[L]et us assume that A instead transfers ‘to E for the life of A.’ Since A has used his own life as the measuring life of E's estate, A has given away all that he had. Because E's estate is measured by the life of someone other than himself, his estate is called an estate pur autre vie. A, whose life is the measuring life, is called the cestui que vie.” Thomas F. Bergin & Paul G. Haskell, Preface to Estates in Land and Future Interests 36 (2d ed. 1984).

CETERIS PARIBUS

ceteris paribus (set-<<schwa>>-ris par-<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Other things being equal. — Also spelled caeteris paribus.

CETERIS TACENTIBUS

ceteris tacentibus (set-<<schwa>>-ris ta-sen-t<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Hist. The others being silent. • This phrase appeared in serially printed law reports after an opinion by one judge. It referred to the judges who did not vote or express an opinion. — Also spelled caeteris tacentibus. See SERIATIM.

CF.

cf.abbr.[Latin confer] Compare. • As a citation signal, cf. directs the reader's attention to another authority or section of the work in which contrasting, analogous, or explanatory statements may be found.

C.F.

C.F.abbr.COST AND FREIGHT.

CFC

CFC. See controlled foreign corporation under CORPORATION.

CFO

CFO.abbr. CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER.

CFP

CFP.abbr.Certified financial planner. See FINANCIAL PLANNER.

CFR

CFR.abbr.1.CODE OF FEDERAL REGULATIONS. 2.COST AND FREIGHT.

CFTC

CFTC.abbr.COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION.

CGL INSURANCE

CGL insurance.See comprehensive general-liability insurance under INSURANCE.

CGL POLICY

CGL policy.1. See commercial general-liability policy under INSURANCE POLICY. 2. See comprehensive general-liability policy under INSURANCE POLICY.

CH.

ch.abbr.1. Chapter. 2. Chancellor. 3. Chancery. 4. Chief.

CHACE ACT

Chace Act.Hist. Copyright. An 1891 statute giving U.S. copyright protection to the citizens of other nations that in turn gave a similar degree of reciprocal protection to U.S. citizens. • The Act was invoked by presidential order or by treaty, primarily with European countries. Under the Act's manufacturing clause, English-language books and other printed matter had to be produced in the U.S. or Canada in order to qualify for domestic protection. — Also termed 1891 Copyright Amendment Act.

CHAD

chad. The small bit of precut paper that is attached to a punch-card ballot by several points and punched out by a voter to cast a vote. • Because most punch-card ballots are machine-read, the chad must be completely separated from the ballot for the vote to be counted. The results of the closely contested 2000 presidential election were delayed for several weeks because more than 40,000 ballots with partially attached chads had to be hand-counted.

dimpled chad.A chad that is bulging but not pierced, with all its points attached to the ballot. — Sometimes termed pregnant chad.

hanging chad.A chad that is attached to the ballot by a single point.

pregnant chad.See dimpled chad.

swinging-door chad. A chad that is attached to the ballot by two points.

tri-chad. A chad that is attached to the ballot by three points.

CHAFEWAX

chafewax (chayf-waks). Hist. A chancery officer who heated (or chafed) wax to seal writs, commissions, and other instruments. • The office was abolished in 1852. — Also spelled chaffwax.

CHAFFER

chaffer (chaf-<<schwa>>r), vb. To bargain; negotiate; haggle; dicker. For offer to chaffer, see INVITATION TO NEGOTIATE.

CHAIN-CERTIFICATE METHOD

chain-certificate method. The procedure for authenticating a foreign official record by the party seeking to admit the record as evidence at trial. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 44. [Cases: Evidence 341. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 879–880, 893, 895; Patents § 179.]

CHAIN CONSPIRACY

chain conspiracy. See CONSPIRACY.

CHAIN GANG

chain gang. A group of prisoners chained together to prevent their escape while working outside a prison.

CHAIN OF CAUSATION

chain of causation. 1. A series of events each caused by the previous one. 2. The causal connection between a cause and its effects. Cf. CAUSATION. [Cases: Negligence 432. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 203–208.]

CHAIN-OF-CAUSATION RULE

chain-of-causation rule. Workers' compensation. The principle that an employee's suicide is compensable under workers'-compensation statutes if the employee suffered an earlier work-related injury that led to a mental disorder resulting in the suicide. [Cases: Workers' Compensation 546, 603, 799. C.J.S. Workmen's Compensation §§ 313, 361, 482–483.]

CHAIN OF CUSTODY

chain of custody. 1. The movement and location of real evidence, and the history of those persons who had it in their custody, from the time it is obtained to the time it is presented in court. [Cases: Criminal Law 404.30; Evidence 188. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 846; Evidence §§ 789–791, 794, 796.]

“Chain of custody requires testimony of continuous possession by each individual having possession, together with testimony by each that the object remained in substantially the same condition during its presence in his possession. All possibility of alteration, substitution or change of condition need not be eliminated. For example, normally an object may be placed in a safe to which more than one person had access without each such person being produced. However the more authentication is genuinely in issue, the greater the need to negate the possibility of alteration or substitution.” Michael H. Graham, Federal Rules of Evidence in a Nutshell 402 (3d ed. 1992).

2. The history of a chattel's possession. — Also termed chain of possession.

CHAIN OF TITLE

chain of title. 1. The ownership history of a piece of land, from its first owner to the present one. — Also termed line of title; string of title. 2. The ownership history of commercial paper, traceable through the indorsements. • For the holder to have good title, every prior negotiation must have been proper. If a necessary indorsement is missing or forged, the chain of title is broken and no later transferee can become a holder.

CHAIN-REFERRAL SCHEME

chain-referral scheme. See PYRAMID SCHEME.

CHAIR

chair. Parliamentary law. 1. A deliberative assembly's presiding officer <the chair calls for order>. See PRESIDE. 2. The presiding officer's seat <take the chair>. 3. The officer who heads an organization <the treasurer reports directly to the chair>. — Also termed chairman (of a male chair, in senses 1 & 3); chairwoman (of a female chair, in senses 1 & 3); chairperson (in senses 1 & 3); moderator (in sense 1); president (in senses 1 & 3); presiding officer (in sense 1); speaker (in sense 1). — chair, vb.

“The term the chair refers to the person in a meeting who is actually presiding at the time, whether that person is the regular presiding officer or not. The same term also applies to the presiding officer's station in the hall from which he or she presides, which should not be permitted to be used by other members as a place from which to make reports or speak in debate during a meeting...” Henry M. Robert, Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised § 47, at 433 (10th ed. 2000).

chair by decree. A chair appointed by an outside authority rather than elected by the deliberative assembly being presided over.

chair pro tempore. A chair elected or appointed during or in anticipation of the regular presiding officer's (or officers') absence from the chair, and whose service ends when a regular presiding officer resumes the chair. — Often shortened to chair pro tem. See PRO TEMPORE.

CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEES OF THE WHOLE HOUSE

Chairman of Committees of the Whole House. The member of Parliament who presides over the House of Commons when it is sitting in committee.

CHAIRPERSON

chairperson. See CHAIR.

CHAIRWOMAN

chairwoman. See CHAIR.

CHALLENGE

challenge, n.1. An act or instance of formally questioning the legality or legal qualifications of a person, action, or thing .

as-applied challenge. A claim that a law or governmental policy, though constitutional on its face, is unconstitutional as applied, usu. because of a discriminatory effect; a claim that a statute is unconstitutional on the facts of a particular case or in its application to a particular party.

Batson challenge. Procedure. An objection that an opposing party has used a peremptory challenge to exclude a potential juror on the basis of race, ethnicity, or sex. • It is named for Batson v. Kentucky, 476 U.S. 79, 106 S.Ct. 1712 (1986), a criminal case in which the prosecution struck potential jurors on the basis of race. The principle of Batson was extended in later Supreme Court cases to civil litigants (Edmonson v. Leesville Concrete Co., 500 U.S. 614, 111 S.Ct. 2077 (1991)) and to criminal defense attorneys (Georgia v. McCollum, 505 U.S. 42, 112 S.Ct. 2348 (1992)). The Court also applied it to peremptory challenges based on a juror's sex (J.E.B. v. Alabama, 511 U.S. 127, 114 S.Ct. 1419 (1994)). See Fed. R. Civ. P. 47(b). [Cases: Constitutional Law 221(4); Jury 33(5.15). C.J.S. Juries §§ 443, 445–446, 450–456, 460.]

constitutional challenge. A claim that a law or governmental action is unconstitutional.

facial challenge. A claim that a statute is unconstitutional on its face — that is, that it always operates unconstitutionally.

2. A party's request that a judge disqualify a potential juror or an entire jury panel <the personal-injury plaintiff used his last challenge to disqualify a neurosurgeon>. — Also termed jury challenge.

causal challenge. See challenge for cause.

challenge for cause. A party's challenge supported by a specified reason, such as bias or prejudice, that would disqualify that potential juror. — Also termed for-cause; causal challenge; general challenge; challenge to the poll. [Cases: Jury 83–108, 124. C.J.S. Juries §§ 225, 248, 367, 369–409, 415, 417–418, 420, 446.]

challenge propter affectum (prop-t<<schwa>>r <<schwa>>-fek-t<<schwa>>m). A challenge because some circumstance, such as kinship with a party, renders the potential juror incompetent to serve in the particular case.

challenge propter defectum (prop-t<<schwa>>r d<<schwa>>-fek-t<<schwa>>m). A challenge based on a claim that the juror is incompetent to serve on any jury for a reason such as alienage, infancy, or nonresidency.

challenge propter delictum (prop-t<<schwa>>r d<<schwa>>-lik-t<<schwa>>m). A challenge based on a claim that the potential juror has lost citizenship rights, as by being convicted of an infamous crime. See civil death (1) under DEATH.

challenge to the array.A legal challenge to the manner in which the entire jury panel was selected, usu. for a failure to follow prescribed procedures designed to produce impartial juries drawn from a fair cross-section of the community. • Such a challenge is either a principal challenge (if some defect renders the jury prima facie in-competent, as where the officer selecting veniremembers is related to the prosecutor or defendant) or a challenge for favor (as where the defect does not amount to grounds for a principal challenge, but there is a probability of partiality). — Also termed challenge to the jury array. [Cases: Jury 114. C.J.S. Juries §§ 355, 359, 443–444.]

challenge to the favor.A challenge for cause that arises when facts and circumstances tend to show that a juror is biased but do not warrant the juror's automatic disqualification. See challenge for cause.

challenge to the poll.See challenge for cause.

general challenge.See challenge for cause.

peremptory challenge.One of a party's limited number of challenges that do not need to be supported by a reason unless the opposing party makes a prima facie showing that the challenge was used to discriminate on the basis of race, ethnicity, or sex. • At one time, a peremptory challenge could not be attacked and did not have to be explained. But today if discrimination is charged, the party making the peremptory challenge must give a nondiscriminatory reason for striking the juror. The court must consider several factors in deciding whether the proffered reason is merely a screen for illegal discrimination. Batson v. Kentucky, 476 U.S. 79, 106 S.Ct. 1712 (1986). — Often shortened to peremptory. — Also termed peremptory strike. See STRIKE(2); Batson challenge under CHALLENGE(1). [Cases: Jury 33(5.15), 134. C.J.S. Juries §§ 344, 421, 423–424, 439, 442–443, 445–446, 450–456, 460.]

principal challenge.A for-cause challenge that arises when facts and circumstances support a conclusive pre-sumption of a juror's bias, resulting in automatic disqualification. See challenge for cause.

3.Military law. An objection to a member of the court serving in a court-martial case. • A military judge can be challenged only for cause. [Cases: Armed Services 47(4); Military Justice 884, 889. C.J.S. Armed Services § 178; Military Justice §§ 138–139, 151–152, 154–155, 345, 347.]

challenge,vb.1. To dispute or call into question <the columnist challenged the wisdom of the court's ruling>.

challenge the vote.See DIVIDE THE ASSEMBLY.

2. To formally object to the legality or legal qualifications of <the defendant challenged the person's eligibility for jury service>.

CHAMBER

chamber, n. 1. A room or compartment <gas chamber>. 2. A legislative or judicial body or other deliberative assembly <chamber of commerce>. 3. The hall or room where such a body conducts business <the senate chamber>. — chamber, adj.

judge's chamber. (usu. pl.) 1. The private room or office of a judge. 2. Any place where a judge transacts official business when not holding a session of the court. See IN CAMERA. [Cases: Judges 27. C.J.S. Judges § 58.]

lower chamber. In a bicameral legislature, the larger of the two legislative bodies, such as the House of Representatives or the House of Commons. [Cases: States 26. C.J.S. States § 40.]

Star Chamber. See STAR CHAMBER.

upper chamber. In a bicameral legislature, the smaller of the two legislative bodies, such as the Senate or the House of Lords.

chamber, vb. Slang. (Of a judge) to sit in one's chambers at a given location < Chief Judge Kaye chambers sometimes in New York City and sometimes in Albany>.

CHAMBER BUSINESS

chamber business. Official judicial business conducted outside the courtroom. [Cases: Judges 27. C.J.S. Judges § 58.]

CHAMBERLAIN

chamberlain (chaym-b<<schwa>>r-lin). A treasurer; originally, the keeper of the royal treasure chamber. • The term has been used for several high offices in England, such as the Lord Great Chamberlain, Lord Chamberlain of the Household, and Chamberlain of the Exchequer.

CHAMBERLARIA

chamberlaria (chaym-b<<schwa>>r-lair-ee-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Chamberlainship; the office of chamberlain.

CHAMBER OF ACCOUNTS

chamber of accounts. French law. A court responsible for adjudicating disputes concerning public-revenue collection. Cf. COURT OF EXCHEQUER.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

chamber of commerce. An association of merchants and other business leaders who organize to promote the commercial interests in a given area and whose group is generally affiliated with the national organization of the same name.

CHAMPERTOR

champertor (cham-p<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>r), n. A person who engages in champerty; one who supports and promotes another person's lawsuit for pecuniary gain. — Also termed (archaically) campiparticeps.

CHAMPERTOUS

champertous (cham-p<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>s), adj. Of, relating to, or characterized by champerty; consti-tuting champerty .

“In England and many other countries, the contingent fee is prohibited as a form of champerty because it permits a client to carry on litigation in exchange for a promise to the lawyer of a share in the recovery. Although most states in the United States prohibit a lawyer from accepting an assignment of a percentage of the client's cause of action as a legal fee, they do not similarly condemn, as champertous, contingent fees whereby the lawyer receives a percentage of the recovery as a fee and no fee at all if there is no recovery.” Robert H. Aronson & Donald T. Weckstein, Professional Responsibility in a Nutshell 271–72 (2d ed. 1991).

CHAMPERTY

champerty (cham-p<<schwa>>r-tee), n.[fr. French champs parti “split field”] 1. An agreement between an officious intermeddler in a lawsuit and a litigant by which the intermeddler helps pursue the litigant's claim as consideration for receiving part of any judgment proceeds; specif., an agreement to divide litigation proceeds between the owner of the litigated claim and a party unrelated to the lawsuit who supports or helps enforce the claim. — Also termed (archaically) campipartia. Cf. BARRATRY; MAINTENANCE(6). [Cases: Champerty and Maintenance 14. C.J.S. Champerty and Maintenance, Barratry and Related Matters §§ 2, 5.]

“There is disagreement in the American courts as to what constitutes champerty. (1) Some courts hold that an agreement to look to the proceeds of the suit for compensation is champerty.... (2) Some courts hold that in addition the attorney must prosecute the suit at his own cost and expense to constitute champerty.... (3) Some courts hold even in a case like (2) that there is no champerty.... (4) All authorities agree that a contract for a contingent fee is not champerty if it is not to be paid out of the proceeds of the suit.... (5) In some states it is declared that the common law doctrines of maintenance and champerty are unknown ... ; in some the matter is regulated wholly by statute.... [A]nd in most there is a marked tendency to narrow the doctrines of champerty or to evade them.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 294 n.2 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

“The rule as to champerty has been generally relaxed under modern decisions and a majority of courts now recognize that an agreement by which the attorney is to receive a contingent fee, i.e., a certain part of the avails of a suit or an amount fixed with reference to the amount recovered, is valid as long as the attorney does not agree to pay the expenses and costs of the action.” Walter Wheeler Cook, “Quasi-Contracts,” in 1 American Law and Procedure 129 (1952).

2.Hist. A writ available to the party who is the target of a champertous action.“Champerty is a writ that lies where two men are impleading, and one gives the half or part of a thing in plea to a stranger, to maintain him against the other; then the party grieved shall have this writ against the stranger.” William Rastell, Termes de la Ley 76 (1st Am. ed. 1812).

CHAMPION

champion.Hist. A person chosen to represent a defendant in trial by combat. • If the champion lost, the defendant was adjudged guilty. A champion who survived was fined for intentionally or ignorantly defending an unjust cause; one who died was buried in unhallowed ground. See TRIAL BY COMBAT.

CHANCE

chance,n.1. A hazard or risk. 2. The unforeseen, uncontrollable, or unintended consequences of an act. 3. An accident. 4. Opportunity; hope.

CHANCE BARGAIN

chance bargain.Contracts. A transaction in which the parties mutually agree to accept the risk that facts and circumstances assumed by the parties at the time of contracting may not actually be what the parties believe they are. • If no fraud or misrepresentation is involved, a court will uphold a chance bargain. For instance, in a chance bargain involving a land swap, each deed may describe a tract as containing a number of acres "more or less." If the tract is actually larger than described, the seller can't demand more money for the excess. And if the tract is actually smaller, the disappointed buyer cannot ask for a reduced price to make up for the deficiency.

CHANCELLOR

chancellor,n.1. A judge serving on a court of chancery. 2. A university president or CEO of an institution of higher education. 3. In the U.S., a judge in some courts of chancery or equity. 4.Scots law. The presiding juror. 5.Eccles. law. A law officer who presides over the bishop's court. • The chancellor advises and assists the bishop in all matters of canon law, both juridical and administrative. — chancellorship,n.

CHANCELLOR, LORD

Chancellor, Lord.See LORD CHANCELLOR.

CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER

Chancellor of the Exchequer.In England, a government minister who controls revenue and expenditures. • Formerly, the Chancellor sat in the Court of Exchequer.

CHANCELLOR'S FOOT

chancellor's foot.A symbol of the variability of equitable justice. • John Selden, the 17th-century jurist, is thought to have coined the phrase in this passage, from his best-known book: "Equity is a roguish thing. For law we have a measure, know what to trust to: equity is according to the conscience of him that is Chancellor, and as that is larger or narrower, so is equity. 'Tis all one as if they should make the standard for the measure the Chancellor's foot. What an uncertain measure would this be! One Chancellor has a long foot, another a short foot, a third an indifferent foot; 'tis the same thing in the Chancellor's conscience." Table Talk (1689).

CHANCE-MEDLEY

chance-medley. [fr. Anglo-Norman chance medlee “chance scuffle”] A spontaneous fight during which one participant kills another in self-defense. — Also termed chaud-medley; casual affray. Cf. MEDLEY.

“But the self-defence, which we are now speaking of, is that whereby a man may protect himself from an assault, or the like, in the course of a sudden brawl or quarrel, by killing him who assaults him. And this is what the law expresses by the word chance-medley, or (as some rather choose to write it) chaud-medley; the former of which in its etymology signifies a casual affray, the latter an affray in the heat of blood or passion: both of them of pretty much the same import; but the former is in common speech too often erroneously applied to any manner of homicide by misadventure; whereas it appears ... that it is properly applied to such killing, as happens in self-defence upon a sudden rencounter.” 4 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 184 (1769).

CHANCE-OF-SURVIVAL DOCTRINE

chance-of-survival doctrine. The principle that a wrongful-death plaintiff need only prove that the defendant's conduct was a substantial factor in causing the death — that is, that the victim might have survived but for the defendant's conduct. [Cases: Death 17. C.J.S. Death §§ 41–42.]

CHANCER

chancer (chan-s<<schwa>>r), vb. To adjust according to equitable principles, as a court of chancery would. • The practice arose in parts of New England when the courts had no equity jurisdiction, and were compelled to act on equitable principles.

“The practice of ‘chancering’ is a very old one. A forfeiture could be ‘chancered’ under a law of 1699.... Adjudged cases in 1630–1692 may be found in the Records of the Court of Assistants of Massachusetts Bay Colony. The early laws of Massachusetts provided for ‘chancering’ the forfeiture of any penal bond.... In Rhode Island an act of 1746 provided for ‘chancering’ the forfeiture ‘where any penalty is forfeited, or conditional estate recovered, or equity of redemption sued for, whether judgment is confessed or otherwise obtained.’ ” 1 John Bouvier, Bouvier's Law Dictionary 456–57 (8th ed. 1914).

CHANCERY

chancery (chan-s<<schwa>>r-ee). 1. A court of equity; collectively, the courts of equity. • The term is derived from the court of the Lord Chancellor, the original English court of equity. — Also termed court of chancery; chancery court.

“Chancery's jurisdiction was complementary to that of the courts of common law — it sought to do justice in cases for which there was no adequate remedy at common law. It had originated in the petition, not the writ, of the party who felt aggrieved to the Lord Chancellor as ‘keeper of the King's conscience.’ In its origins, therefore, Chancery's flexible concern for justice complemented admirably the formalism of a medieval system of common law which had begun to adhere strictly, perhaps overstrictly on occasion, to prescribed forms. By 1800, however, Chancery's system was itself regarded as being both consistent and certain.” A.H. Manchester, Modern Legal History of England and Wales, 1750–1950 135–36 (1980).

2. The system of jurisprudence administered in courts of equity. See EQUITY. [Cases: Equity 1. C.J.S. Equity §§ 2–5, 7–8, 10.] 3.Int'l law. The place where the head of a diplomatic mission and staff have their offices, as distinguished from the embassy (where the ambassador lives).

CHANCERY COURT OF YORK

Chancery Court of York.Eccles. law. The ecclesiastical court of the province of York, responsible for appeals from provincial diocesan courts. • This court corresponds to the Court of Arches in the Province of Canterbury. Cf. COURT OF ARCHES.

CHANCERY GUARDIAN

chancery guardian.See GUARDIAN.

CHANCE VERDICT

chance verdict.See VERDICT.

CHANGE IN CIRCUMSTANCES

change in circumstances.Family law. A modification in the physical, emotional, or financial condition of one or both parents, used to show the need to modify a custody or support order; esp., an involuntary occurrence that, if it had been known at the time of the divorce decree, would have resulted in the court's issuing a different decree, as when an involuntary job loss creates a need to modify the decree to provide for reduced child-support payments. — Also termed change of circumstances; changed circumstances; material change in circumstances; substantial change in circumstances; change of condition. See MODIFICATION ORDER. [Cases: Child Custody 555–556; Child Support 233–234; Divorce 245(2). C.J.S. Parent and Child § 231; C.J.S. Divorce §§ 405–413.]

CHANGE OF CONDITION

change of condition. 1.Workers' compensation. A substantial worsening of an employee's physical health occurring after an award, as a result of which the employee merits an increase in benefits. [Cases: Workers' Compensation 2005–2012. C.J.S. Workmen's Compensation §§ 1509, 1511–1525, 1558–1560.] 2.Family law. CHANGE IN CIRCUMSTANCES.

CHANGE-OF-OWNERSHIP CLAUSE

change-of-ownership clause.Oil & gas. A provision in an oil-and-gas lease specifying what notice must be given to a lessee about a change in the leased land's ownership before the lessee is obliged to recognize the new owner. — Also termed assignment clause.

CHANGE OF VENUE

change of venue.The transfer of a case from one locale to another court in the same judicial system to cure a defect in venue, either to minimize the prejudicial impact of local sentiment or to secure a more sensible location for trial. — Also termed transfer of venue. See VENUE. [Cases: Venue 34–84. C.J.S. Trover and Conversion § 719; Venue §§ 128–316.]

CHANGE ORDER

change order. 1. A modification of a previously ordered item or service. 2. A directive issued by the federal government to a contractor to alter the specifications of an item the contractor is producing for the government. [Cases: United States 70(25.1).]

CHANGING FUND

changing fund. See FUND(1).

CHANNEL

channel. 1. The bed of a stream of water; the groove through which a stream flows <digging a deeper channel was thought to help protect the river from flooding>.

main channel. The bed over which the principal volume of water flows; the deepest and most navigable part of a channel.

natural channel. The naturally formed bed and banks of a stream.

natural flood channel. A channel through which floodwaters naturally accumulate and flow downstream.

2. The line of deep water that shipping vessels follow . 3. A water route between two islands or an island and a continent <the English Channel>. 4. A mode of transmitting something <the news channel>.

CHANNEL OF DISTRIBUTION

channel of distribution. See DISTRIBUTION CHANNEL.

CHANNEL OF TRADE

channel of trade. See DISTRIBUTION CHANNEL.

CHANTRY

chantry (chan-tree), n. Hist. Eccles. law. 1. A benefice endowed for the saying of Mass by chantry priests for the soul of the founder or his designees. • This practice was abolished in England by the Chantry Acts of 1545 and 1547. 2. A chapel or part of a church so endowed. — Also spelled chauntry.

CHAPTER

chapter (chap-⟨schwa⟩-t⟨schwa⟩r). [Law French] Hist. A list of matters drawn up by the king to be pre-sented before the justices in eyre, justices of assise, or justices of the peace. — Also spelled chapitre. Cf. AR-TICLES OF THE EYRE .

CHAPTER 7

Chapter 7. 1. The chapter of the United States Bankruptcy Code allowing a trustee to collect and liquidate a debtor's nonexempt property, either voluntarily or by court order, to satisfy creditors. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2251. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 50.] 2. A bankruptcy case filed under this chapter. • An individual debtor who undergoes this type of liquidation (the most common type of bankruptcy) usu. gets a fresh financial start by receiving a discharge of all debts. — Also termed (in sense 2) straight bankruptcy; liquidation bankruptcy.

“A Chapter 7 case has five stages: (1) getting the debtor into bankruptcy court; (2) collecting the debtor's property; (3) selling this property; (4) distributing the proceeds of the sale to creditors; and (5) determining whether the debtor is discharged from further liability to these creditors.” David G. Epstein et al., Bankruptcy § 1–7, at 9 (1993).

CHAPTER 9

Chapter 9. 1. The chapter of the United States Bankruptcy Code governing the adjustment of a municipality's debts. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3481.C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 361–367.] 2. A bankruptcy case filed under this chapter.

CHAPTER 11

Chapter 11. 1. The chapter of the United States Bankruptcy Code allowing an insolvent business, or one that is threatened with insolvency, to reorganize its capital structure under court supervision (and subject to creditor approval) while continuing its normal operations. • Although the Code permits individual nonbusiness debtors to use Chapter 11, the vast majority of Chapter 11 cases involve business debtors. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3501.C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 368.] 2. A business reorganization conducted under this chapter; REORGANIZATION(1).

CHAPTER 12

Chapter 12. 1. The chapter of the United States Bankruptcy Code providing for a court-approved debt-payment relief plan for family farmers with a regular income, allowing a farmer's net income to be collected by a trustee and paid to creditors. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3671. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 416.] 2. A bankruptcy case filed under this chapter. — Also termed (in sense 2) family-farmer bankruptcy; farmer bankruptcy.

CHAPTER 13

Chapter 13. 1. The chapter of the United States Bankruptcy Code allowing a person's earnings to be collected by a trustee and paid to creditors by means of a court-approved debt-repayment plan if the person has a regular income. • A plan filed under Chapter 13 is sometimes called a wage-earner's plan, a wage-earner plan, or an income-based plan. Chapter 13 allows the debtor to propose a plan of rehabilitation to extend or reduce the balance of any obligations and to receive a discharge from unsecured debts upon completion of the payments under the plan. A plan made in good faith will be confirmed if the creditors receive what they would have received under Chapter 7, and if the plan pledges all of the debtor's disposable income for three years. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3701. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 433.] 2. A bankruptcy case filed under this chapter.

CHAPTER 20

Chapter 20.Slang. Bankruptcy. A debtor who files a Chapter 7 petition and receives a discharge, and then immediately files a Chapter 13 petition to deal with remaining nondischargeable or secured debts.

CHAPTER 22

Chapter 22. Slang. Bankruptcy. A debtor, usu. a corporation, that files a second Chapter 11 petition shortly after a previous Chapter 11 petition has failed, because the debtor has become insolvent again or is again threatened with insolvency.

CHAPTER-SURFING

chapter-surfing.Slang. A debtor's movement from a filing under one United States Bankruptcy Code chapter to a filing under another. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2235. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 48.]

CHARACTER EVIDENCE

character evidence.See EVIDENCE.

CHARACTERIZATION

characterization. 1.Conflict of laws. The classification, qualification, and interpretation of laws that apply to the case. — Also termed qualification; classification; interpretation. [Cases: Action 17. C.J.S. Actions §§ 18–20; Conflict of Laws §§ 2–3, 12, 15, 20, 23, 27–32, 34–40, 42–48, 50–65, 96–97, 100, 102, 105–107.]

“In a conflict-of-laws situation, a court must determine at the outset whether the problem presented to it for solution relates to torts, contracts, property, or some other field, or to a matter of substance or procedure, in order to refer to the appropriate law. In other words, the court must initially, whether consciously or not, go through the process of determining the nature of the problem; otherwise, the court will not know which choice-of-law rule to apply to the case. This process is generally called ‘characterization,’ and sometimes ‘classification,’ ‘qualification,’ or ‘interpretation.’ ” 16 Am. Jur. 2d Conflict of Laws § 3, at 12 (1998).

2.Family law. The process of classifying property accumulated by spouses as either separate or marital property (or community property).

CHARACTER LOAN

character loan.See LOAN.

CHARACTER-REFORMATION CONDITION

character-reformation condition.See conditional bequest under BEQUEST.

CHARACTER WITNESS

character witness.See WITNESS.

CHARGE

charge,n.1. A formal accusation of an offense as a preliminary step to prosecution . — Also termed criminal charge. [Cases: Criminal Law 208.1.] 2. An instruction or command .3.JURY CHARGE <review the charge for appealable error>.4. An assigned duty or task; a responsibility <the manager's charge to open and close the office>.5. An encumbrance, lien, or claim .6. A person or thing entrusted to another's care .7. Price, cost, or expense <free of charge>.

delinquency charge.A charge assessed against a borrower for failing to timely make a payment.

finance charge.See FINANCE CHARGE.

late charge.An additional fee assessed on a debt when a payment is not received by the due date.

noncash charge.A cost (such as depreciation or amortization) that does not involve an outlay of cash.

special charge.An ordinary cost of business excluded from income calculations. • The term is meaningless under generally accepted accounting principles because “special charge” expenses do not meet the GAAP test for ex-traordinary items. — Also termed one-time charge; unusual charge; exceptional charge. See extraordinary expense under EXPENSE; operating earnings under EARNINGS.

8.Parliamentary law. A deliberative assembly's mandate to a committee. — Also termed committee jurisdiction.

charge,vb. 1. To accuse (a person) of an offense <the police charged him with murder>.2. To instruct or command <the dean charged the students to act ethically>.3. To instruct a jury on matters of law <the judge charged the jury on self-defense>. [Cases: Criminal Law 769; Trial 182, 213. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1302–1305; Trial §§ 484–486, 488, 492, 498, 500, 548.] 4. To impose a lien or claim; to encumber <charge the land with a tax lien>.5. To entrust with responsibilities or duties <charge the guardian with the ward's care>.6. To demand a fee; to bill <the clerk charged a small filing fee>.

CHARGEABLE

chargeable,adj. (Of an act) capable or liable of being charged as a criminal offense <taking that money for personal use would be chargeable>.

CHARGE ACCOUNT

charge account.A credit arrangement by which a customer purchases goods and services and pays for them periodically or within a specified time. See CREDIT(4).

CHARGE AND DISCHARGE

charge and discharge.Equity practice. Court-ordered account filings by a plaintiff and a defendant. • The plaintiff's account (charge) and the defendant's response (discharge) were filed with a master in chancery.

CHARGE AND SPECIFICATION charge and specification. Military law. A written description of an alleged offense. [Cases: Armed Services 47(2); Military Justice 950–971. C.J.S. Armed Services § 164; Military Justice §§ 180–191.]

CHARGE-BACK

charge-back, n. A bank's deducting of sums it had provisionally credited to a customer's account, occurring usu. when a check deposited in the account has been dishonored. UCC § 4-214. [Cases: Banks and Banking 126, 127, 142, 158. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 322, 362–363, 383–384, 395–397, 399, 402, 404.]

CHARGE BARGAIN

charge bargain. See PLEA BARGAIN.

CHARGE CONFERENCE

charge conference. A meeting between a trial judge and the parties' attorneys to develop a jury charge. — Also termed prayer conference. [Cases: Trial 263. C.J.S. Trial §§ 679, 711, 713–714.]

CHARGÉ D'AFFAIRES

chargé d'affaires (shahr-zhay d<<schwa>>-fair). [French “one in charge of affairs”] A diplomat who is the second in command in a diplomatic mission (hence, subordinate to an ambassador or minister). — Also spelled chargé des affaires. Pl. chargés d'affaires. [Cases: Ambassadors and Consuls 3. C.J.S. Ambassadors and Consuls §§ 15–23.]

acting chargé d'affaires. A chargé d'affaires who performs mission functions when the leader of the mission is not available to do so or when the position is vacant. — Also termed chargés d'affaires ad interim.

permanent chargé d'affaires. A chargé d'affaires with a high enough rank to head a mission (if there is no ambassador or minister). — Also termed chargé d'affaires en pied; chargé d'affaires en titre.

CHARGED WITH NOTICE

charged with notice. Imputed with knowledge or awareness that is legally binding <the defendant was charged with notice of the defect yet failed to act before the plaintiff was injured by it>. — Also termed put on notice.

CHARGE

chargee (chahr-jee). 1. The holder of a charge on property or of a security on a loan. 2. One charged with a crime.

CHARGE OFF

charge off,vb. To treat (an account receivable) as a loss or expense because payment is unlikely; to treat as a bad debt. See bad debt under DEBT.

CHARGE SHEET

charge sheet. 1. A police record showing the names of all persons brought into custody, the nature of the accusations, and the identity of the accusers. 2.Military law. A four-part charging instrument containing (1) information about the accused and the witnesses, (2) the charges and specifications, (3) the preferring of charges and their referral to a summary, special, or general court-martial for trial, and (4) for a summary court-martial, the trial record. [Cases: Armed Services 47(2); Military Justice 950. C.J.S. Armed Services § 164; Military Justice § 180.]

CHARGING INSTRUMENT

charging instrument.A formal document — usu. either an indictment or an information — that sets forth an accusation of a crime. — Also termed accusatory instrument.

CHARGING LIEN

charging lien.See LIEN.

CHARGING ORDER

charging order.Partnership. A statutory procedure whereby an individual partner's creditor can satisfy its claim from the partner's interest in the partnership. [Cases: Partnership 186. C.J.S. Partnership § 181.]

CHARITABLE

charitable,adj.1. Dedicated to a general public purpose, usu. for the benefit of needy people who cannot pay for benefits received <charitable contribution>. [Cases: Charities 1–50; Taxation 241.1. C.J.S. Charities §§ 2–70; Taxation §§ 323–338.] 2. Involved in or otherwise relating to charity <charitable foundation>.

CHARITABLE BEQUEST

charitable bequest.See BEQUEST.

CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTION

charitable contribution. 1. A contribution of money or property to an organization engaged in charitable activities. 2. A contribution to a qualified nonprofit charitable organization. • Charitable contributions are deductible for certain tax purposes.

CHARITABLE CORPORATION

charitable corporation.See CORPORATION.

CHARITABLE DEDUCTION

charitable deduction. See DEDUCTION.

CHARITABLE GIFT

charitable gift. See GIFT.

CHARITABLE IMMUNITY

charitable immunity. See IMMUNITY(2).

CHARITABLE LEAD TRUST

charitable lead trust. See TRUST.

CHARITABLE ORGANIZATION

charitable organization. Tax. A tax-exempt organization that (1) is organized and operated exclusively for religious, scientific, literary, educational, athletic, public-safety, or community-service purposes, (2) does not distribute earnings for the benefit of private individuals, and (3) does not participate in any way in political candidate campaigns, or engage in substantial lobbying. IRC (26 USCA) § 501(c)(3). — Also termed charity; 501(c)(3) organization. [Cases: Charities 1–50; Internal Revenue 4048–4069. C.J.S. Charities §§ 2–70; Internal Revenue §§ 462–464, 466–468, 470, 472–474.]

CHARITABLE PURPOSE

charitable purpose. Tax. The purpose for which an organization must be formed so that it qualifies as a charitable organization under the Internal Revenue Code. — Also termed charitable use. [Cases: Internal Revenue 4048, 4172(2). C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 533.]

CHARITABLE REMAINDER

charitable remainder. See REMAINDER.

CHARITABLE-REMAINDER ANNUITY TRUST

charitable-remainder annuity trust. See TRUST.

CHARITABLE-REMAINDER TRUST

charitable-remainder trust. See TRUST.

CHARITABLE-REMAINDER-TRUST RETIREMENT FUND

charitable-remainder-trust retirement fund. See charitable-remainder annuity trust under TRUST.

CHARITABLE TRUST

charitable trust. See TRUST.

CHARITABLE USE

charitable use. 1. CHARITABLE PURPOSE. 2. See charitable trust under TRUST.

 CHARITY

charity, n. 1. CHARITABLE ORGANIZATION. 2. Aid given to the poor, the suffering, or the general community for religious, educational, economic, public-safety, or medical purposes. 3. Goodwill.

CHARLATAN

charlatan (shahr-l<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>n), n. A person who pretends to have more knowledge or skill than he or she actually has; a quack or faker. — charlatanism, charlatanry, n.

CHARTA

charta (kahr-t<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Hist. 1. A charter or deed. 2. A token by which an estate is held. 3. A royal grant of privileges or liberties.

CHARTA DE FORESTA

Charta de Foresta. Hist. A charter that defined the extent of the Crown's rights and privileges in the royal forests, granted the common people some rights to use the forests, and reduced the penalties for crimes such as poaching. • The charter was first promulgated in 1217 and revised in 1225. — Also termed Carta de Foresta; Carta Forestae.

CHARTAE LIBERTATUM

chartae libertatum (kahr-tee lib-<<schwa>>r-tay-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Charters of liberties. • This term refers to the two great sources of English liberties: Magna Carta and the Charta de Foresta.

CHARTEL

chartel. See CARTEL.

CHARTER

charter, n. 1. An instrument that establishes a body politic or other organization, or that grants rights, liberties, or powers to its citizens or members <Charter of the United Nations>. 2. An instrument by which a municipality is incorporated, specifying its organizational structure and its highest laws; specif., a written document making the persons residing within a fixed boundary, along with their successors, a corporation and body politic for and within that boundary, and prescribing the powers, privileges, and duties of the corporation. • A city charter trumps all conflicting ordinances. — Also termed municipal charter. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 8. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 14, 17–18.]

“Municipal Charters. — The charter issued to a municipality is in the nature of a constitution to it, being superior to all ordinances enacted by that municipality, though inferior in rank to all State laws of every kind.” Frank Hall Childs, Where and How to Find the Law 8 (1922).

home-rule charter. A local government's organizational plan or framework, analogous to a constitution, drawn by the municipality itself and adopted by popular vote of the citizenry. See

HOME RULE. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 65. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 122, 140–141, 143.]

3. A governmental act that creates a business or defines a corporate franchise; also, the document evidencing this act.

bank charter. A document issued by a governmental authority permitting a bank to conduct business. [Cases: Banks and Banking 5–6. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 8, 15–18.]

corporate charter. 1. CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION(1). 2. A document that one files with the secretary of state upon incorporating a business. • The corporate charter is often the articles of incorporation. [Cases: Corporations 18. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 26, 33–35, 41, 559.]

special charter. Hist. A legislative act creating a private corporation as opposed to a public, charitable, or educational corporation. • Special charters were common until the 19th century, when legislatures enacted general incorporation laws that allowed private corporations to be formed without legislative action.

4. The organic law of an organization; loosely, the highest law of any entity. Cf. ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION. 5. A governing document granting authority or recognition from a parent organization to a subordinate or constituent organization, such as a local affiliate or chapter, organized under the first organization's authority; or the instrument granting such authority or recognition. See governing document under DOCUMENT(1). 6. Hist. The writing that accompanies a livery of seisin. • Rather than being an operative element of transfer, the writing was merely evidence of it. 7. The leasing or hiring of an airplane, ship, or other vessel. [Cases: Shipping 34–58. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 74–146, 148, 379.] 8. CHARTER PARTY.

bareboat charter. A charter under which the shipowner surrenders possession and control of the vessel to the charterer, who then succeeds to many of the shipowner's rights and obligations. • The charterer, who provides the personnel, insurance, and other materials necessary to operate the vessel, is known either as a demise charterer or as an owner pro hac vice. — Also termed demise charter. [Cases: Shipping 41. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 92–101.]

“The ‘demise’ or ‘bareboat’ charter is conceptually the easiest to understand. The charterer takes possession and operates the ship during the period of the charter as though the vessel belonged to the charterer. The bareboat charter is thus analogous to the driver who leases a car for a specified period or a tenant who rents a house for a term of years. The charterer provides the vessel's master and crew (much as the lessee–driver personally drives the car) and pays the operating expenses (much as the lessee–driver buys the gasoline).” David W. Robertson, Steven F. Friedell & Michael F. Sturley, Admiralty and Maritime Law in the United States 371–72 (2001).

demise charter. See bareboat charter.

gross charter. A charter under which the shipowner provides all personnel and pays all expenses.

slot charter. A charter for one or more slots on a container vessel. • Each slot accommodates a 20-foot container. A slot charter is a form of vessel-sharing agreement. Cf. space charter.

“Slot charters (and vessel-sharing agreements) have become increasingly popular in the container trades, as they enable two or more carriers to combine their capacities and offer more frequent service on their routes. If three carriers all serve the New York to Rotterdam route, for example, and each devotes one vessel to the route every three weeks, they can implicitly (with slot charters) join forces and each offer weekly service.” David W. Robertson, Steven F. Friedell & Michael F. Sturley, Admiralty and Maritime Law in the United States 377 (2001).

space charter.A charter for a part of a vessel's capacity, such as a specified hold or deck or a specified part of the vessel's carrying capacity. • A space charter is a form of vessel-sharing agreement. Cf. slot charter.

time charter.A charter for a specified period, rather than for a specific task or voyage; a charter under which the shipowner continues to manage and control the vessel, but the charterer designates the ports of call and the cargo carried. • Each party bears the expenses related to its functions and for any damage it causes. Cf. voyage charter. [Cases: Shipping 40. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 92–101.]

voyage charter.A charter under which the shipowner provides a ship and crew, and places them at the disposal of the charterer for the carriage of cargo to a designated port. • The voyage charterer may lease the entire vessel for a voyage or series of voyages — or may (by “space charter”) lease only part of the vessel. Cf. time charter. [Cases: Shipping 41. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 92–101.]

“The fundamental difference between voyage and time charters is how the freight or ‘charter hire’ is calculated. A voyage charter party specifies the amount due for carrying a specified cargo on a specific voyage (or series of voyages), regardless of how long a particular voyage takes. A time charter party specifies the amount due for each day that the vessel is ‘on hire,’ regardless of how many voyages are completed.” David W. Robertson, Steven F. Friedell & Michael F. Sturley, Admiralty and Maritime Law in the United States 377 (2001).

charter,vb.1. To establish or grant by charter <charter a bank>.2. To hire or rent for temporary use <charter a boat>.

CHARTER AGREEMENT

charter agreement.See CHARTERPARTY.

CHARTERED LIFE UNDERWRITER

chartered life underwriter.See UNDERWRITER.

CHARTERED SHIP

chartered ship.See SHIP.

CHARTER-LAND

charter-land.Hist. See BOOKLAND.

CHARTER MEMBER

charter member. See MEMBER.

CHARTER OF AFFREIGHTMENT

charter of affreightment. See AFFREIGHTMENT.

CHARTERPARTY

charterparty. A contract by which a ship, or a principal part of it, is leased by the owner, esp. to a merchant for the conveyance of goods on a predetermined voyage to one or more places or for a specified period of time; a special contract between the shipowner and charterer, esp. for the carriage of goods at sea. — Often shortened to charter. — Also written charter-party; charter party. — Also termed charter agreement. [Cases: Shipping 37. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 76–77.]

“Charter partie (charta partita) is nothing but that which we call a paire of indentures, containing the covenants and agreements made between merchants, or sea faring men touching their marine affaires.” John Cowell, The Interpreter (1607).

“The instrument by which a vessel is leased is a charter party. The term is derived from charta partita, i.e., a deed of writing divided; in earlier times the charta partita, like the indenture agreement, was prepared in two parts, the ship owner retaining one part and the charterer the other... While a charter party need not be in writing, most charters today are detailed written documents drawn to accommodate the particular needs of shipper and carrier in a certain type of trade or commerce.” Frank L. Maraist, Admiralty in a Nutshell 44–45 (3d ed. 1996).

CHARTIS REDDENDIS

chartis reddendis (kahr-tis ri-den-dis). [Latin “for returning charters”] Hist. A writ seeking the return of a charter of feoffment from a person who has been entrusted with the charter but who has refused to deliver it as instructed. See FEOFFMENT.

CHARTOPHYLAX

chartophylax (kahr-tof-<<schwa>>-laks). Hist. A keeper of records or public instruments; a registrar.

CHASE

chase. Hist. A franchise granted by the Crown empowering the grantee to keep, within a certain district, animals for hunting, i.e., the objects of the chase. • This franchise was also known as a free chase to contrast it with a chase royal — a chase held by the Crown.

common chase. A chase in which everyone is entitled to hunt.

CHATTEL

chattel (chat-<<schwa>>l). (usu. pl.) Movable or transferable property; personal property; esp., a physical object capable of manual delivery and not the subject matter of real property.

“That Money is not to be accounted Goods or Chattels, because it is not of it self valuable Chattels are either personal or real. Personal, may be so called in two respects: One, because they belong immediately to the person of a Man, as a Bow, Horse, etc. The other, for that being any way injuriously withheld from us, we have no means to recover them, but Personal Actions. Chattels real, are such as either appertain not immediately to the person, but to some other thing, by way of dependency, as a Box with Charters of Land, Apples upon a Tree, or a Tree it self growing on the Ground.... [O]r else such as are issuing out of some immoveable thing to a person, as a Lease or Rent for the term of years.” Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary (1670).

chattel personal. A tangible good or an intangible right (such as a patent). — Also termed personal chattel. [Cases: Property 4. C.J.S. Property §§ 14–21, 23.]

chattel real. A real-property interest that is less than a freehold or fee, such as a leasehold estate. • The most important chattel real is an estate for years in land, which is considered a chattel because it lacks the indefiniteness of time essential to real property. — Also termed real chattel. [Cases: Property 4. C.J.S. Property §§ 14–21, 23.]

chattel vegetable. A movable article of a vegetable origin, such as timber, undergrowth, corn, or fruit.

local chattel. Personal property that is affixed to land; FIXTURE.

personal chattel. See chattel personal.

real chattel. See chattel real.

unique chattel. A chattel that is absolutely irreplaceable because it is one of a kind.

CHATTEL LIEN

chattel lien. See mechanic's lien under LIEN.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE

chattel mortgage. See MORTGAGE.

CHATTEL-MORTGAGE BOND

chattel-mortgage bond. See BOND(3).

CHATTEL PAPER

chattel paper. A writing that shows both a monetary obligation and a security interest in or a lease of specific goods. UCC § 9-102(a)(11). • Chattel paper is generally used in a consumer transaction when the consumer buys goods on credit. The consumer typically promises to pay for the goods by executing a promissory note, and the seller retains a security interest in the goods. See SECURITY AGREEMENT. [Cases: Secured Transactions 88, 142. C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 59, 90.]

“ ‘Chattel paper’ means a record or records that evidence both a monetary obligation and a security interest in or a lease of specific goods or of specific goods and software used in the goods.

The term does not include a charter or other contract involving the use or hire of a vessel. If a transaction is evidenced both by a security agreement or lease and by an instrument or series of instruments, the group of records taken together constitutes chattel paper.” UCC § 9-102(a)(8).

electronic chattel paper.Chattel paper evidenced by a record or records consisting of information stored in an electronic medium and retrievable in perceivable form. UCC § 9-102(a)(31).

tangible chattel paper.Chattel paper evidenced by a record or records consisting of information that is inscribed on a tangible medium. UCC § 9-102(a)(78).

CHATTEL PERSONAL

chattel personal.See CHATTEL.

CHATTEL REAL

chattel real.See CHATTEL.

CHATTEL VEGETABLE

chattel vegetable.See CHATTEL.

CHAUD-MEDLEY

chaud-medley (showd-med-lee). See CHANCE-MEDLEY.

CHAUNTRY

chauntry (chon-tree), n. See CHANTRY.

CHEAPGILD

cheapgild.Hist. See ORFGILD(1). — Also spelled cheapegild.

CHEAT

cheat,n.1.CHEATING. 2. A person who habitually cheats; a swindler.

cheat,vb. To defraud; to practice deception.

CHEATER

cheater. 1. A person who cheats. 2.ESCHEATOR.

CHEATING

cheating. The fraudulent obtaining of another's property by means of a false symbol or token, or by other illegal practices. — Also termed cheating at common law; common-law cheat; cheat. See FRAUD.

cheating by false pretenses.The intentional obtaining of both the possession and ownership of money, goods, wares, or merchandise by means of misrepresentations, with the intent to defraud. See FALSE PRETENSES. Cf. larceny by trick under LARCENY. [Cases: False Pretenses 1;

Larceny 14. C.J.S. Larceny §§ 7, 36, 50.]

CHECK

check,n. A draft signed by the maker or drawer, drawn on a bank, payable on demand, and unlimited in nego-tiability. • Under UCC § 3-104(f), an instrument may be a check even though it is described on its face by another term, such as “money order.” — Also spelled cheque. See DRAFT. [Cases: Banks and Banking 137; Bills and Notes 15, 149. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 328, 330; Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 6, 9, 18, 133.]

bad check.A check that is not honored because the account either contains insufficient funds or does not exist. — Also termed hot check; worthless check; rubber check; bounced check; cold check; bogus check; false check; dry check.

blank check.A check signed by the drawer but left blank as to the payee or the amount, or both.

bogus check.See bad check.

bounced check.See bad check.

canceled check.A check bearing a notation that it has been paid by the bank on which it was drawn. • A canceled check is often used as evidence of payment. — Also spelled cancelled check.

cashier's check.A check drawn by a bank on itself, payable to another person, and evidencing the payee's au-thorization to receive from the bank the amount of money represented by the check; a draft for which the drawer and drawee are the same bank, or different branches of the same bank. [Cases: Banks and Banking 189. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 452–458.]

certified check.A depositor's check drawn on a bank that guarantees the availability of funds for the check. • The guarantee may be by the drawee's signed agreement to pay the draft or by a notation on the check that it is certified. [Cases: Banks and Banking 145. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 364–368.]

cold check.See bad check.

crossed check.A check that has lines drawn across its face and writing that specifies the bank to which the check must be presented for payment. • The same effect is achieved by stamping the bank's name on the check. The negotiability of the check at that bank is unaffected, but no other bank can honor it. Cf. open check.

depository-transfer check.An unsigned, nonnegotiable check that is used by a bank to transfer funds from its branch to the collection bank.

dry check.See bad check.

e-check. A paper check that is supplied by a consumer to a payee (usu. a merchant) who uses the check to make an electronic funds transfer. • The payee electronically scans the check's magnetic-ink character-recognition coding to obtain the bank-routing, account, and serial numbers, then enters the amount of the check. This is usu., but not always, done at a point-of-sale terminal.

Cf. e-money under MONEY.

false check.See bad check.

hot check.See bad check.

memorandum check.A check that a borrower gives to a lender for the amount of a short-term loan, with the understanding that it is not to be presented for payment but will be redeemed by the borrower when the loan falls due.

open check.A check that may be cashed by any bank. Cf. crossed check.

personal check.A check drawn on a person's own account.

postdated check.A check that bears a date after the date of its issue and is payable on or after the stated date.

raised check.A check whose face amount has been increased, usu. without the knowledge of the issuer — an act that under the UCC is considered an alteration. UCC § 3-407. See RAISING AN INSTRUMENT.

registered check.A check purchased at a bank and drawn on bank funds that have been set aside to pay that check.

rubber check.See bad check.

stale check.A check that has been outstanding for an unreasonable time — more than six months under the UCC. • Banks in jurisdictions adopting the UCC may choose not to honor such a check. UCC § 4-404. [Cases: Banks and Banking 137; Bills and Notes 404. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 328, 330; Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit § 208.]

teller's check.A draft drawn by a bank on another bank or payable at or through a bank. [Cases: Banks and Banking 189. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 452–458.]

traveler's check.A cashier's check that must be signed by the purchaser at the time of purchase and countersigned when cashed; an instrument that (1) is payable on demand, (2) is drawn on or payable at or through a bank, (3) is designated by the term “traveler's check” or by a substantially similar term, and (4) requires, as a condition to payment, a countersignature by a person whose specimen signature appears on the instrument. UCC § 3-104(i). • Traveler's checks, which are available in various denominations, are typically purchased from a bank or financing company. [Cases: Banks and Banking 189. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 452–458.]

worthless check.See bad check.

check,vb.1. To control or restrain <handcuffs checked the defendant's movement>.2. To verify or audit <an accountant checked the invoices>.3. To investigate <the police checked up on the suspect>. • In this sense, check is typically used with up, on, or out. 4. To leave for safekeeping with an attendant <the diner checked her coat at the door>.

CHECK-KITING

check-kiting. The illegal practice of writing a check against a bank account with insufficient funds to cover the check, in the hope that the funds from a previously deposited check will reach the account before the bank debits the amount of the outstanding check. — Also termed kiting; check-flashing. [Cases: Banks and Banking 150. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 349–352, 358.]

“Check kiting consists of drawing checks on an account in one bank and depositing them in an account in a second bank when neither account has sufficient funds to cover the amounts drawn. Just before the checks are returned for payment to the first bank, the kiter covers them by depositing checks drawn on the account in the second bank.” United States v. Stone, 954 F.2d 1187, 1188 n.1 (6th Cir. 1992).

CHECK-OFF SYSTEM

check-off system. The procedure by which an employer deducts union dues directly from the employees' wages and remits those dues to the union.

CHECKPOINT SEARCH

checkpoint search. See SEARCH.

CHECKS AND BALANCES

checks and balances. The theory of governmental power and functions whereby each branch of government has the ability to counter the actions of any other branch, so that no single branch can control the entire government. • For example, the executive branch can check the legislature by exercising its veto power, but the legislature can, by a sufficient majority, override any veto. See SEPARATION OF POWERS.

CHEFE

chefe (chef). [Law French fr. French chef “head”] See WERGILD.

CHEQUE

cheque. See CHECK.

CHERRY-STEM ANNEXATION

cherry-stem annexation. See ANNEXATION.

CHEVAGE

chevage (chee-vij). [fr. French chef “head”] Hist. An annual tribute payment from a villein to a lord. • Chevage was commonly exacted from villeins for permission to marry or permission to work outside a lord's domain. — Also spelled chivage; chiefage.

“Chevage, (chevagium) commeth of the French (chef. i. caput). It signifieth with us, a summe of money paid by villeins to their Lords, in acknowledgment of their slaverie.... It seemeth also to be used, for a summe of a mony, yearly given by a man to another of might & power, for his avowement, maintenance, and protection, as to their head or leader.” John Cowell, The Interpreter (1607).

CHEVANTIA

chevantia (ch<<schwa>>-van-shee-<<schwa>>). [Law French] Hist. A loan of money.

CHEVISANCE

chevisance (chev-<<schwa>>-zints). [Law French] Hist. 1. A composition; an agreement between a creditor and a debtor. See COMPOSITION. 2. An unlawful or usurious contract; esp., a contract intended to evade the statutes prohibiting usury.

CHEVRON<TT> DEFERENCE

Chevron deference. A two-part test under which a court will uphold a federal agency's construction of a federal statute if (1) the statute is ambiguous or does not address the question at issue, and (2) the agency's interpretation of the statute is reasonable. • If the court finds that the legislature's intent is clearly expressed in the statute, then that intent is upheld. The U.S. Supreme Court enunciated the rule in Chevron U.S.A., Inc. v. Natural Res. Def. Council, Inc., 467 U.S. 837, 842–43, 104 S.Ct. 2778, 2781–82 (1984).

CHEZE

cheze (shayz). [French chez “at the home of”] Hist. 1. HOMESTEAD. 2. A homestall; a farmyard.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

Chicago Board of Trade. The commodities exchange where futures contracts in a large number of agricultural products are made. — Abbr. CBT; CBOT. [Cases: Commodity Futures Trading Regulation 3–31. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 453–468, 470, 477, 479–480, 482.]

CHICAGO BOARD OPTIONS EXCHANGE

Chicago Board Options Exchange. The predominant organized marketplace in the United States for trading options. — Abbr. CBOE.

CHICANERY

chicanery (shi-kay-n<<schwa>>r-ee), n. Trickery; deception. — Also termed chicane. — chicanerous, adj.

CHIEF

chief, n. 1. A person who is put above the rest; the leader <chief of staff>. 2. The principal or most important part or position <commander-in-chief>. — chief, adj.

CHIEF ADMINISTRATIVE PATENT JUDGE

chief administrative patent judge. See JUDGE.

CHIEFAGE

chiefage. See CHEVAGE.

CHIEF BARON

chief baron.Hist. The presiding judge of the English Court of Exchequer. • Upon the death of Chief Baron Kelly in 1880, the office was abolished. Through the Judicature Act of 1925, the Lord Chief Justice of England became the presiding judge. See BARONS OF THE EXCHEQUER.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE

chief executive.See EXECUTIVE.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

chief executive officer.A corporation's highest-ranking administrator, who manages the firm day by day and reports to the board of directors. — Abbr. CEO. [Cases: Corporations 300. C.J.S. Corporations § 469.]

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

chief financial officer.The executive in charge of making a company's accounting and fiscal decisions. — Abbr. CFO.

CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER

chief information officer.The executive who supervises a company's informational infrastructure, including the system for retaining and destroying records. — Abbr. CIO.

CHIEF JUDGE

chief judge.See JUDGE.

CHIEF JUSTICE

chief justice.See JUSTICE(2).

CHIEF JUSTICE OF ENGLAND

Chief Justice of England.The former title of the Lord Chief Justice of England.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE COMMON PLEAS

Chief Justice of the Common Pleas.Hist. Formerly, the presiding judge in the Court of Common Pleas. • The Judicature Act of 1875 reduced the Court of Common Pleas to the Common Pleas Division. In 1881 the last Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, Lord Coleridge, was appointed Lord Chief Justice of England, merging the Common Pleas Division and the Queen's Bench Division. The Lord Chief Justice of England now exercises the powers formerly belonging to the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas. Cf. LORD CHIEF JUSTICE OF ENGLAND.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE UNITED STATES

Chief Justice of the United States.The formal title of the officer who is the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. — Often shortened to the Chief Justice.

CHIEF JUSTICIAR

chief justiciar. See JUSTICIARY(2).

CHIEF LEASE

chief lease. See HEADLEASE.

CHIEF LORD

chief lord. Hist. The immediate lord of a fee, to whom the tenants were directly and personally responsible.

CHIEF MAGISTRATE

chief magistrate. See MAGISTRATE(1).

CHIEF OF PROTOCOL

Chief of Protocol. An officer in the U.S. Department of State responsible for managing the Office of Protocol and advising the President, Vice President, Secretary of State, and other U.S. officials on matters of diplomatic procedure governed by law or international custom and practice.

CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

chief operating officer. A manager who supervises a company's day-to-day operations and who usu. reports to the chief executive officer. — Abbr. COO.

CHIEF RENTS

chief rents. Hist. A small, fixed, annual rent payable to the lord by a freeholder of a manor; annual quit rent. • Chief rents were abolished in 1922. See QUIT RENT.

CHIEFRY

chiefry (cheef-ree). Hist. A small rent paid to the sovereign by a feudal landholder. — Also spelled chiefrie; chiefery.

CHIEF USE

chief use. A standard for determining a proper tariff classification in which a commodity's use is understood by examining the intended users as a whole, rather than individually.

CHILD

child. 1. A person under the age of majority. 2. Hist. At common law, a person who has not reached the age of 14. 3. A boy or girl; a young person. 4. A son or daughter.

“The word ‘children’ is normally used to denote issue of the first generation only.” Restatement of Property § 267 cmt. c (1940).

5. A baby or fetus. See JUVENILE; MINOR. Pl. children.

abortive child. Civil law. A stillborn child or a child born so prematurely that it cannot and does not survive 24 hours.

abused child.A child who has been subjected to physical or mental neglect or harm. See child abuse under ABUSE.

adopted child.A child who has become the son or daughter of a parent or parents by virtue of legal or equitable adoption; ADOPTEE. See ADOPTION.

afterborn child.A child born after execution of a will or after the time in which a class gift closes. — Also spelled after-born child. See afterborn heir under HEIR. Cf. posthumous child. [Cases: Wills 524. C.J.S. Wills §§ 980–989, 991–993, 995–1004.]

battered child.A child upon whom physical or sexual abuse has been inflicted, usu. by a relative, caregiver, or close family friend. See child abuse under ABUSE; domestic violence under VIOLENCE; BATTERED-CHILD SYNDROME.

biological child.See natural child.

child in need of supervision.A child who has committed an offense that only children can commit, such as being ungovernable and disobedient to parents, running away from home, violating a curfew, being habitually truant from school, violating age restrictions on the purchase or possession of liquor or tobacco, or the like. — Also termed person in need of supervision; minor in need of supervision. — Abbr. CHINS.

child out of wedlock.See illegitimate child.

child with disabilities.Under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, a child who needs special-education or related services because of (1) mental retardation, (2) a hearing, language, or visual impairment, (3) a serious emotional disturbance, or (4) another health impairment or specific learning disability. See INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES EDUCATION ACT.

delinquent child.A child who has committed an offense that would be a crime if committed by an adult. • A delinquent child may not be subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court if the child is under a statutory age. Cf. child in need of supervision. Cf. JUVENILE DELINQUENT. [Cases: Infants 153. C.J.S. Infants §§ 33–35, 41–42, 64, 67.]

dependent child.A needy child who has been deprived of parental support or care because of the parent's or other responsible person's death, absence from the home, physical or mental incapacity, or (in some cases) unemployment. • This definition was formerly found in Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), 42 USCA § 606(a). When that program was replaced with Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF), the definition was eliminated although sections of TANF refer to it (see, e.g., 42 USCA § 672(h)).

deprived child.A child who (1) lacks proper parental care or control, subsistence, education, or other care and control for his or her physical, mental, or emotional well-being, (2) has been placed for care or adoption in violation of the law, (3) has been abandoned, or (4) is without a parent, guardian, or legal custodian. Unif. Juvenile Delinquency Act, 18 USCA §§ 5031 et seq. Cf.

neglected child.

disobedient child. See incorrigible child.

foster child. A child whose care and upbringing are entrusted to an adult other than the child's natural or adoptive parents, usu. by an agency. • A foster child may receive informal, voluntary care by someone (often a grandparent, other relative, or neighbor) who enters into an agreement with the parent or who simply substitutes for the parent as necessary to ensure the child's protection. More formally, the child may be part of the federal–state foster-care program that identifies, trains, and pays caregivers who will provide family care for children who lack parents or cannot safely remain with their biological parents. — Also termed (archaically) fosterling. See foster parent under PARENT. [Cases: Infants 226. C.J.S. Adoption of Persons §§ 10–12.]

genetic child. See natural child (1).

handicapped child. A child who is mentally retarded, deaf or hearing-impaired, speech-impaired, blind or visually disabled, seriously emotionally disturbed, or orthopedically impaired, or who because of specific learning disabilities requires special education.

illegitimate child. A child who was not conceived or born in lawful wedlock, nor later legitimated. • At common law, such a child was considered the child of nobody (nullius filius) and had no name except one that was gained by reputation. Being no one's child, an illegitimate child could not inherit, even from the mother, but all states now allow maternal inheritance. In cases such as Levy v. Louisiana, 391 U.S. 68, 88 S.Ct. 1509 (1968), and Glonn v. American Guar. & Liab. Ins. Co., 391 U.S. 73, 88 S.Ct. 1515 (1968), the Supreme Court held that limitations on a child's right to inherit from his or her mother were unconstitutional. As a result, states changed their laws to permit full maternal inheritance. Full paternal inheritance is permitted if the child can prove paternity in accordance with state law (the proof varies from state to state). This burden of proof, uniquely imposed on an illegitimate child, is constitutionally permissible. Lalli v. Lalli, 439 U.S. 259, 99 S.Ct. 518 (1978). — Also termed bastard; child out of wedlock; nonmarital child; (archaically) natural child. Cf. BASTARD. [Cases: Children Out-of-Wedlock 1. C.J.S. Children Out-of-Wedlock §§ 2–11.]

incorrigible child. A child who refuses to obey his or her parents or guardians. — Also termed disobedient child.

intended child. The child who is intended to result from a surrogacy contract. See surrogate parent under PARENT; surrogate mother under MOTHER; intentional parent under PARENT; legal father under FATHER; SURROGACY CONTRACT.

legitimate child. 1. At common law, a child conceived or born in lawful wedlock. 2. Modernly, a child conceived or born in lawful wedlock, or legitimated either by the parents' later marriage or by a declaration or judgment of legitimation. [Cases: Children Out-of-Wedlock 1. C.J.S. Children Out-of-Wedlock §§ 2–11.]

mantle child. Hist. A child born out of wedlock and later legitimated when the parents are married, traditionally by standing under a cloak with the parents during the marriage ceremony.

“Our law ... has no need to distinguish between various sorts of illegitimate children. A child is either a legitimate child or a bastard.... In the sharp controversy over this principle ... the champion of what we may call the high-church party alleged that old English custom was in accord with the law of the church as defined by Alexander III. Probably there was some truth in this assertion. It is not unlikely that old custom, though it would not have held that the marriage in itself had any retroactive effect, allowed the parents on the occasion of their marriage to legitimate the already existing offspring of their union. The children were placed under the cloak which was spread over their parents during the marriage ceremony, and became ‘mantle children.’ We hear of this practice in Germany and France and Normandy; but we have here rather an act of adoption than a true legitimation ... and it would not have fully satisfied the church.” 2 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, The History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 397–98 (2d ed. 1899).

natural child. 1. A child by birth, as distinguished from an adopted child. — Also termed biological child; genetic child. 2. A child that is genetically related to the mother and father as opposed to a child conceived by donor insemination or by egg donation. 3. Archaic. An illegitimate child acknowledged by the father. 4. Archaic. An illegitimate child.

neglected child. 1. A child whose parents or legal custodians are unfit to care for him or her because of cruelty, immorality, or incapacity. [Cases: Infants 156.] 2. A child whose parents or legal custodians refuse to provide the necessary care and medical services for the child. Cf. deprived child.

nonmarital child. See illegitimate child.

posthumous child. A child born after a parent's death. • Ordinarily, the phrase posthumous child suggests one born after the father's death. But in at least one case, a legally dead pregnant woman was kept on life-support machines until the child could be safely delivered; so it is possible for a mother's posthumous child to be born. Cf. afterborn child.

quasi-posthumous child. Civil law. A child who becomes a direct heir of a grandfather or other male ascendant because of the death of the child's father.

special-needs child. 1. A child with medical problems or with a physical or emotional handicap. 2. A child that is likely to be unadoptable because of medical problems or physical or emotional handicaps, or by reason of age or ethnic background. See ADOPTION ASSISTANCE AND CHILD WELFARE ACT.

stepchild. The child of one's spouse by a previous marriage. • A stepchild is generally not entitled to the same legal rights as a natural or adopted child. For example, a stepchild has no right to a share of an intestate stepparent's property. [Cases: Parent and Child 14. C.J.S. Parent and Child §§ 351–356.]

unborn child. A child not yet born, esp. at the happening of some event.

CHILD ABUSE

child abuse. See ABUSE.

CHILD-ABUSE AND -NEGLECT REPORTING STATUTE

child-abuse and -neglect reporting statute.Family law. A state law requiring certain persons, among them healthcare providers, teachers, and child-care workers, to report suspected child abuse. • By 1967, every state had adopted some form of reporting statute. In the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (42 USCA §§ 5101–5157), Congress provided federal funding for all states that implement federal standards in their reporting statutes and defined child maltreatment broadly. See CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION AND TREATMENT ACT .

CHILD ABUSE PREVENTION AND TREATMENT ACT

Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act.Family law. A federal statute that provides limited funding to states for preventing, identifying, and treating child abuse and neglect. • Enacted in 1974, the Act was amended in 1996 to reinforce an emphasis on child safety. The Act established the National Center on Child Abuse and Neglect in the Department of Health and Human Services. Its function is to study child abuse, conduct research into its causes, and make grants to agencies for the study, prevention, and treatment of child abuse. 42 USCA §§ 5101–5157. — Abbr. CAPTA. See CHILD-ABUSE AND -NEGLECT REPORTING STATUTE .

CHILD-ACCESS PREVENTION STATUTE

child-access prevention statute.See SAFE-STORAGE STATUTE.

CHILD- AND DEPENDENT-CARE TAX CREDIT

child- and dependent-care tax credit.See TAX CREDIT.

CHILD APPLICATION

child application.See PATENT APPLICATION.

CHILD-BENEFIT THEORY

child-benefit theory.See STUDENT-BENEFIT THEORY.

CHILD-CARE FUND

child-care fund.Family law. State-government funds set aside to reimburse counties for part of the payments for children's foster care and expenses.

CHILD-CARE RULES

child-care rules.Family law. State administrative rules for the care of foster children. • In most states, depart-ments concerned with social services establish and enforce the rules governing the welfare of foster children. A few states have created agencies expressly dedicated to services for children.

CHILD CUSTODY

child custody.See CUSTODY(2).

CHILD DESTRUCTION

child destruction.1.FETICIDE. 2.INFANTICIDE(1).

CHILD ENDANGERMENT

child endangerment.The placing of a child in a place or position that exposes him or her to danger to life or health. — Also termed endangering the welfare of a child. [Cases: Infants 13, 156. C.J.S. Infants §§ 5, 92–93, 95–98.]

physical child endangerment.Reckless behavior toward a child that has caused or could cause serious physical injury. — Sometimes shortened to physical endangerment.

CHILD IN NEED OF SUPERVISION

child in need of supervision.See CHILD.

CHILD-KIDNAPPING

child-kidnapping. See KIDNAPPING.

CHILD LABOR

child labor.The employment of workers under the age of majority. • This term typically focuses on abusive practices such as exploitative factory work; slavery, sale, and trafficking in children; forced or compulsory labor such as debt bondage and serfdom; and the use of children in prostitution, pornography, drug-trafficking, or anything else that might jeopardize their health, safety, or morals. Some writers restrict the term to activities forbidden by the International Labor Organization's minimum-age conventions. See ILO Minimum Age Convention ch. 138 (1973). See FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT. Cf. CHILD WORK.

oppressive child labor.Under the Fair Labor Standards Act, the employment of workers under the age of 16 in any occupation, or the employment of those 16 to 18 years old in particularly hazardous occupations. 29 USCA § 203(1); 29 CFR § 570.1(b). The Secretary of Labor may assess civil penalties of up to $10,000 per violation. 29 USCA § 216(e). — Also termed harmful child labor.

CHILD-LABOR LAW

child-labor law.A state or federal statute that protects children by prescribing the necessary working conditions for children in a workplace. See FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT. [Cases: Infants 14. C.J.S. Infants § 99.]

CHILD MALTREATMENT

child maltreatment.See child abuse under ABUSE.

CHILD MOLESTATION

child molestation.See MOLESTATION.

CHILDNAPPING

childnapping. See child-kidnapping under KIDNAPPING.

CHILD NEGLECT

child neglect. See NEGLECT.

CHILD ONLINE PROTECTION ACT

Child Online Protection Act. A 1998 federal statute designed to control child pornography on the Internet by prohibiting Internet speech that is "harmful to minors." • Unlike the Communications Decency Act, COPA does not apply to e-mail or chat-room communications. Among other things, COPA applies to sexually explicit material that appears to depict minors, even if the people are actually over 18 or the images are computer-generated and do not depict living people. The Supreme Court struck down portions of the Act in Ashcroft v. American Civil Liberties Union, 535 U.S. 564, 122 S.Ct. 1700 (2002). — Abbr. COPA.

CHILD OUT OF WEDLOCK

child out of wedlock. See illegitimate child under CHILD.

CHILD PORNOGRAPHY

child pornography. See PORNOGRAPHY.

CHILD PROTECTIVE SERVICES

Child Protective Services. A governmental agency with responsibility for investigating allegations of child abuse and neglect, providing family services to the parent or guardian of a child who has been abused or neglected, and administering the foster-care program. — Abbr. CPS. — Also termed (in some states) Department of Social Services.

CHILD-REARING

child-rearing. Family law. The practices and customs followed in the upbringing of children, whether in a particular family or in society generally. — Sometimes written childrearing.

CHILDREN'S COURT

children's court. See juvenile court under COURT.

CHILD'S ATTORNEY

child's attorney. See attorney ad litem under ATTORNEY.

CHILD-SEXUAL-ABUSE ACCOMMODATION SYNDROME

child-sexual-abuse accommodation syndrome. The supposed medical and psychological condition of a child who has suffered repeated instances of sexual abuse, usu. from a relative or family friend. • This so-called "syndrome" has been repudiated by the scientific community. It cannot be validated and thus cannot discriminate between abuse and nonabuse cases. — Abbr. CSAAS. — Also termed child-sexual-abuse syndrome. [Cases: Criminal Law 474.4(4).]

CHILD'S INCOME TAX

child's income tax. See kiddie tax under TAX.

CHILD-SLAYING

child-slaying. See INFANTICIDE.

CHILD'S PART

child's part. An inheritance that, by statute in some states, a widow may claim in lieu of dower or what she would receive under her husband's will. • The amount is calculated by counting the widow as a child of the decedent, sharing equally any entitlement with any other child. [Cases: Descent and Distribution 52–67. C.J.S. Descent and Distribution §§ 60–67.]

CHILD-STEALING

child-stealing. See child-kidnapping under KIDNAPPING.

CHILD SUPPORT

child support. Family law. 1. A parent's legal obligation to contribute to the economic maintenance and education of a child until the age of majority, the child's emancipation before reaching majority, or the child's completion of secondary education. • The obligation is enforceable both civilly and criminally. [Cases: Child Support 22.] 2. In a custody or divorce action, the money legally owed by one parent to the other for the expenses incurred for children of the marriage. • The right to child support is the child's right and cannot be waived, and any di-voicedecree provision waiving child support is void. Cf. ALIMONY. [Cases: Child Support 1–669. C.J.S. Parent and Child §§ 156–191, 193–256, 359–377.]

decretal child support. Child support provided for in a divorce decree or modification order.

CHILD-SUPPORT-ENFORCEMENT AGENCY

child-support-enforcement agency. Family law. A governmental agency that helps custodial parents collect child support. • Under Title IV(D) of the Social Security Act (42 USCA § 654), states are required to establish child-support-enforcement agencies to collect support for obligee parents. Although the agencies are governed by a set of federal standards, each state has its own central registry. The CSE agency may operate through the state's Department of Human Services, its Department of Justice, its tax agency, or its Attorney General's office. The agency can help locate a missing parent and establish paternity. The agency works to establish support orders and to enforce those orders. — Abbr. CSE agency. — Also termed IV-D agency. See OFFICE OF CHILD-SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT.

CHILD-SUPPORT GUIDELINES

child-support guidelines. Family law. Statutory provisions that govern the amount of child support that an obligor parent must pay. • Child-support guidelines have been developed in every state in response to the creation of the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families program. 42 USCA §§ 601–603a.

CHILD SUPPORT RECOVERY ACT OF 1994

Child Support Recovery Act of 1994. A statute that made it a federal offense for a person to willfully fail to pay past-due child support for a child who lived in another state. • This Act has been replaced by the Deadbeat Parents Punishment Act. 42 USCA § 228. See DEADBEAT PARENTS PUNISHMENT ACT.

CHILDWIT

childwit. Hist. A fine levied by a master on a servant who became pregnant without the master's consent.

CHILD WITH DISABILITIES

child with disabilities. See CHILD.

CHILD WORK

child work. A minor's salutary employment, esp. within the family. • This term is sometimes used in contrast to child labor, the idea being that child work within the family unit can be a positive experience. Some scholars and courts note that child work can facilitate vocational skills and social adaptation, and is often viewed as an ex-expression of family solidarity. Cf. CHILD LABOR.

CHILL

chill, vb. To inhibit or discourage <chill one's free-speech rights>.

CHILLING A SALE

chilling a sale. The act of bidders or others who combine or conspire to discourage others from attempting to buy an item so that they might buy the item themselves for a lower price.

CHILLING EFFECT

chilling effect. 1. Constitutional law. The result of a law or practice that seriously discourages the exercise of a constitutional right, such as the right to appeal or the right of free speech. 2. Broadly, the result when any practice is discouraged. — Also termed chilling bidding; chilling the bidding.

CHILLING THE BIDDING

chilling the bidding. 1. CHILLING EFFECT. 2. CHILLING A SALE.

CHIMEL SEARCH

Chimel search. See protective search under SEARCH.

CHIMNEY MONEY

chimney money. See HEARTH MONEY(1).

CHINESE WALL

Chinese Wall. See ETHICAL WALL.

CHINS

CHINS.abbr.See child in need of supervision under CHILD.

CHIROGRAPH

chirograph (kI-r<<schwa>>-graf), n.1.Civil law. A handwritten instrument. 2. A written deed, subscribed and witnessed. — Also termed cyrographum. 3. Such a deed in two parts from a single original document separated by an indented line through the word chirographum, each party retaining one part. 4.Hist. FOOT OF THE FINE. — Also termed (in sense 4) cyrographarius. — chirographic,adj.

“Formerly, when deeds were more concise than at present, it was usual to write both parts on the same piece of parchment, with some word or letters of the alphabet written between them; through which the parchment was cut, either in a straight or indented line, in such a manner as to leave half the word on one part and half on the other. Deeds thus made were denominated syngrapha by the canonists; and with us chirographa, or hand-writings.” 2 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 295–96 (1766).

CHIROGRAPHER OF FINES

chirographer of fines (kI-rogr-r<<schwa>>-f<<schwa>>r) Hist. A Court of Common Pleas officer who engrossed court-ordered fines and delivered indentures of the fines to the parties. See INDENTURE OF A FINE.

“Chirographer of fynes... signifieth in our common lawe, him in the common bench office, that ingrosseth fines in that court acknowledged, into a perpetuall record, after they be acknowledged, and fully passed by those officers, by whome they are formerly examined; and that writeth and delivereth the indentures of them unto the party. This officer also maketh two indentures, one for the buier, another for the seller; and maketh one other indented peece, containing also the effect of the fine, which he delivereth over to the custos brevium, that is called the foote of the fine.” John Cowell, The Interpreter (1607).

CHIROGRAPHUM

chirographum (kI-rogr-r<<schwa>>-f<<schwa>>m). [Latin fr. Greek] Roman law. A handwritten document, usu. an undertaking or acknowledgment of debt written in the debtor's own hand. Cf. TYPOGRAPHUM. Pl. chiro-grapha.

CHIT

chit. 1. A signed voucher for money received or owed, usu. for food, drink, or the like. 2. A slip of paper with writing on it.

CHIVAGE

chivage. See CHEVAGE.

CHIVALRY

chivalry (shiv-<<schwa>>l-ree).Hist. Tenure held by knight-service; tenure in which a person held land in ex-change for military service of the highest order. See KNIGHT-SERVICE.

“Chivalry is a tenure of land by knight's service: for the better understanding whereof it is to be known, that there is no land but is held mediately or immediately of the crown by some service or other; and therefore all our free-holds that are to us and our heirs are called fees, as proceeding from the bounty of the king for some small yearly rent, and the performance of such services as originally were imposed upon the land at the giving thereof.... And these services are all by Littleton divided into two sorts, chivalry and soccage: the one martial and military; the other clownish and rustical.” Termes de la Ley 83–84 (1st Am. ed. 1812).

CHOATE

choate (koh-it or -ayt), adj.1. Complete in and of itself. 2. Having ripened or become perfected. Cf. INCHOATE. — choateness,n.

CHOATE LIEN

choate lien.See LIEN.

CHOICE

choice. See FREEDOM OF CHOICE.

CHOICE OF EVILS

choice of evils.See NECESSITY(1).

CHOICE-OF-EVILS DEFENSE

choice-of-evils defense.See lesser-evils defense under DEFENSE(1).

CHOICE-OF-EXCLUSIVE-FORUM CLAUSE

choice-of-exclusive-forum clause.See FORUM-SELECTION CLAUSE.

CHOICE OF JURISDICTION

choice of jurisdiction.Conflict of laws. The choice of the state (or country) that should exercise jurisdiction over a case. [Cases: Action 17.C.J.S. Actions §§ 18–20; Conflict of Laws §§ 2–3, 12, 15, 20, 23, 27–32, 34–40, 42–48, 50–65, 96–97, 100, 102, 105–107.]

CHOICE OF LAW

choice of law.The question of which jurisdiction's law should apply in a given case. Cf. CONFLICT OF LAWS. [Cases: Action 17. C.J.S. Actions §§ 18–20; Conflict of Laws §§ 2–3, 12, 15, 20, 23, 27–32, 34–40, 42–48, 50–65, 96–97, 100, 102, 105–107.]

CHOICE-OF-LAW CLAUSE

choice-of-law clause.A contractual provision by which the parties designate the jurisdiction whose law will govern any disputes that may arise between the parties. Cf. FORUM-SELECTION

CLAUSE. [Cases: Contracts 129(1).C.J.S. Contracts §§ 229, 238–240.]

CHOICE VOTING

choice voting. See single transferable vote under VOTE(1).

CHOP-SHOP

chop-shop, n. Criminal law. A garage where stolen automobiles are dismantled so that their parts can be sold separately. [Cases: Receiving Stolen Goods 1. C.J.S. Receiving or Transferring Stolen Goods and Related Offenses §§ 2, 10–12, 15–16.]

CHOREPISCOPI

chorepiscopi. See SUFFRAGAN.

CHOSE

chose (shohz), n. [French] A thing, whether tangible or intangible; a personal article; a chattel. See THING.

chose in action. 1. A proprietary right in personam, such as a debt owed by another person, a share in a joint-stock company, or a claim for damages in tort. [Cases: Property 5.5. C.J.S. Property § 22; Trading Stamps and Coupons § 2.] 2. The right to bring an action to recover a debt, money, or thing. 3. Personal property that one person owns but another person possesses, the owner being able to regain possession through a lawsuit. — Also termed thing in action.

“Chose, or, thing in action is, when a man hath cause, or may bring an action for some duty due to him; as an action of debt ... and because they are things whereof a man is not possessed, but for recovery of them is driven to his action, they are called things in action.” Termes de la Ley 85 (1st Am. ed. 1812).

“The term chose in action has been in common use for a long time, but some doubts have been recently raised as to its precise meaning. (See Law Quarterly Review for 1893, 1894, 1895.) A Divisional Court, however, has now given us the following definition: ‘“chose in action” is a known legal expression used to describe all personal rights of property which can only be claimed or enforced by action, and not by taking physical possession.’ Torkington v. Magee, [1902] 2 K.B. p. 430. The phrase ‘rights of property’ does not seem a very happy one, but it is quite clear that the court meant to include under the term chose in action rights under a contract and rights of action arising from breach of contract.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 362 n.(b) (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

chose in possession. Personal property for which title and possession unite in the same person. — Also termed thing in possession.

chose local. A fixed chattel.

chose transitory. A movable chattel.

CHRISTIANITATIS CURIA

christianitatis curia (kris-tee-an-<<schwa>>-tay-tis kyoor-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin "Christian court"] See ec-clesiastical court (2) under COURT.

CHRISTIAN NAME

Christian name. See personal name under NAME.

CHURCH COURT

church court. See ecclesiastical court under COURT.

CHURCH LAW

church law. See CANON LAW(2).

CHURCH RATES

church rates. Hist. Eccles. law. A tax levied on parishioners by churchwardens and other representatives of the parish to raise funds for the repair and maintenance of the parish church. • The power to set and collect such taxes was abolished in England in 1868.

CHURL

churl (ch<<schwa>>rl). See CEORL.

CHURN, BURN, AND BURY

churn, burn, and bury, vb. (Of a stockbroker) to make numerous risky trades in (an account) and, as a result, squander the customer's money. • The term denotes the action involved in particularly reckless churning.

CHURNING

churning, n. 1. Securities. A stockbroker's excessive trading of a customer's account to earn more commissions rather than to further the customer's interests; an abuse of a customer's confidence for personal gain by frequent and numerous transactions, disproportionate to the size and nature of the customer's account. • Under securities laws, the practice is illegal — a violation of § 10(b) of the Exchange Act (15 USCA § 78j(b)). But because the fraud is the activity as a whole and there is no communication between the broker and the customer about a specific sale of securities, there is not normally a right of action for fraud based on churning. [Cases: Brokers 21; Securities Regulation 60.32(3). C.J.S. Brokers § 52; Securities Regulation §§ 164, 197–198, 217, 222.] 2. Tax. A transfer of property that does not result in a significant change of ownership or use of the property, usu. to make the property eligible for amortization or a more favorable method of depreciation. See ANTICHURNING RULE . — churn, vb.

CIA

CIA. abbr. CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY.

CID

CID. abbr. CIVIL INVESTIGATIVE DEMAND.

CIF

CIF.abbr.COST, INSURANCE, AND FREIGHT.

CIF DESTINATION

CIF destination.See COST, INSURANCE, AND FREIGHT.

CIF PLACE OF DESTINATION

CIF place of destination.See CIF destination under COST, INSURANCE, AND FREIGHT .

CINQUE PORTS

Cinque Ports (singk ports). [Fr. "five ports"] The five English ports — Hastings, Romney, Hythe, Dover, and Sandwich — that were important defenses against French invasion. • They received special privileges and were obliged to furnish a certain number of ships for use in war. See COURT OF SHEPWAY.

"Cinque ports ... are those special havens that lie towards France, and therefore have been thought by out kings to be such as ought most vigilantly to be proserved [sic] against invasion. In which respect they have a special Governor or Keeper, called by his office, Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports." Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary [n.p.] (1670).

"[M]ost of the seaport towns, or at least the more important ones, had local, as distinguished from national or centrally controlled, courts with jurisdiction over the administration of the local sea law. Among these ports was one group which was particularly notable, called the Cinque Ports, or Five Ports — 'cinque' being the French word for five. These five ports were of particular importance as naval bases because of their nearness to the continent. In exchange for special naval assistance to the king in time of war, they were not only permitted to acquire but also to keep a position of special importance in the field of maritime law, and with it a considerable measure of local, independent jurisdiction, which served as a reminder in later centuries of the original local character of English admiralty jurisdiction." Charles Herman Kinnane, A First Book on Anglo-American Law 362 (2d ed. 1952).

CIO

CIO.abbr.1. The Congress of Industrial Organizations, which merged with the AFL in 1955. See AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR AND CONGRESS OF INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATIONS . 2.CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER.

CIP

CIP.abbr.1.CONTINUATION-IN-PART. 2.CARRIAGE AND INSURANCE PAID TO.

CIPPI

cippi (sip-I). [Law Latin] Hist. See STOCKS.

CIRCA

circa (s<<schwa>>r-k<<schwa>>), prep. [Latin] About or around (a date, esp. an ancient one); approximately <the book was written circa 1938–1941>. — Abbr. ca.; c.

CIRCLE CONSPIRACY

circle conspiracy. See wheel conspiracy under CONSPIRACY.

CIRCUIT

circuit, n. 1. A judicial division in which hearings occur at several locations, as a result of which judges often travel to different locations. [Cases: Courts 45. C.J.S. Courts § 105.] 2. A judicial division of the United States — that is, one of the 13 circuits into which the U.S. courts of appeals are organized. 28 USCA § 41.

CIRCUIT COURT

circuit court. See COURT.

CIRCUIT EXECUTIVE

circuit executive. The chief executive officer of a federal judicial circuit responsible for daily administration of the courts. • The circuit executive is the highest-ranking nonjudicial officer within a circuit.

CIRCUIT JUDGE

circuit judge. See JUDGE.

CIRCUIT JUSTICE

circuit justice. See JUSTICE(2).

CIRCUIT MEDIATOR

circuit mediator. An attorney-employee of a U.S. court of appeals who mediates civil cases, usu. before oral argument. — Also termed preargument-conference attorney; settlement counsel.

CIRCUIT-RIDING

circuit-riding, n. The practice of judges' traveling within a legislatively defined circuit to hear cases in one place for a time, then another, and so on. • The American practice of circuit-riding was based on the English eyre system, in which justices rode between the shire towns to hold assizes.

“The Judiciary Act of 1789 required that the justices of the Supreme Court serve also as judges of the circuit courts. The justices complained that circuit riding caused serious physical hardships and diverted them from more important duties in the nation's capital.... Congress in 1801 abolished circuit riding on grounds of efficiency, but a year later a new Jeffersonian Republican majority restored the practice, obliging each justice to hold circuit court along with a district judge. Gradually, however, improved communications, increasing business in the nation's capital, and the strengthening of American nationhood following the Civil War rendered circuit riding anachro-nistic. Congress in the Judiciary Act of 1869 established a separate circuit court judiciary, although the justices retained nominal circuit riding duties until the Circuit Court of Appeals Act of 1891. Congress officially ended the practice in 1911." The Oxford Companion to the Supreme Court of the United States 145 (Kermit L. Hall ed., 1992).

CIRCUIT-RIDING JUSTICE

circuit-riding justice. See JUSTICE(2).

CIRCUITY OF ACTION

circuitry of action. A procedure allowing duplicative lawsuits, leading to unnecessarily lengthy and indirect liti-gation, as when a defendant fails to bring a counterclaim, but later brings a separate action to recover what could have been awarded in the original lawsuit. • Civil-procedure rules have eliminated many problems associated with circuitry of action. [Cases: Equity 52. C.J.S. Equity § 42.]

"Circuitry of action is, when an action is rightfully brought for a duty, but yet about the bush, as it were, for that it might as well have been otherwise answered and determined, and the suit saved: and because the same action was more than needful, it is called circuitry of action." Termes de la Ley 87 (1st Am. ed. 1812).

CIRCULAR LETTER OF CREDIT

circular letter of credit. See LETTER OF CREDIT.

CIRCULAR NOTE

circular note. See LETTER OF CREDIT.

CIRCULATING CAPITAL

circulating capital. See floating capital under CAPITAL.

CIRCUMDUCTION

circumduction (s<<schwa>>r-k<<schwa>>m-d<<schwa>>k-sh<<schwa>>n). Annulment; cancellation.

CIRCUMDUCTION OF THE TERM

circumduction of the term. Scots law. A judicial declaration that the time allowed for the parties to present evidence has expired.

CIRCUM SACRA

circum sacra (s<<schwa>>r-k<<schwa>>m say-kr<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Hist. Eccles. law. Concerning sacred things. • The phrase appeared in reference to the church's supreme jurisdiction over questions of doctrine, as distinguished from a civil court's jurisdiction over other ecclesiastical matters.

CIRCUMSPECTE AGATIS

Circumspecte agatis (s<<schwa>>r-k<<schwa>>m-spek-tee <<schwa>>-gay-tis). [Latin “that you act cir-cumspectly”] Hist. A directive from the king to his justices detailing the boundaries of ecclesiastical jurisdiction. • The directive, issued circa 1285, was originally in the form of a writ, but over time acquired statutory authority. The title Circumspecte agatis derives from the first few words of the writ: “Rex talibus iudicibus salutem; Cir-cumspecte agatis....”

CIRCUMSTANCE

circumstance, n. (often pl.) An accompanying or accessory fact, event, or condition, such as a piece of evidence that indicates the probability of an event. — circumstantial, adj.

aggravating circumstance. 1. A fact or situation that increases the degree of liability or culpability for a criminal act. 2. A fact or situation that relates to a criminal offense or defendant and that is considered by the court in imposing punishment (esp. a death sentence). • Aggravating circumstances in death-penalty cases are usu. pre-scribed by statute. For a list of aggravating circumstances in a capital-murder case, see Model Penal Code § 210.6(3). — Also termed aggravating element; aggravating factor; aggravator. Cf. mitigating circumstance; MITIGATOR. [Cases: Sentencing and Punishment 53, 589, 1652. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1460, 1465, 1472, 1479, 1492–1493, 1495, 1524, 1526, 1530–1532, 1534–1538, 1541–1543.]

attendant circumstance. A fact that is situationally relevant to a particular event or occurrence. • A fact-finder often reviews the attendant circumstances of a crime to learn, for example, the perpetrator's motive or intent.

exigent circumstances. 1. A situation that demands unusual or immediate action and that may allow people to circumvent usual procedures, as when a neighbor breaks through a window of a burning house to save someone inside. 2. A situation in which a police officer must take immediate action to effectively make an arrest, search, or seizure for which probable cause exists, and thus may do so without first obtaining a warrant. • Exigent cir-cumstances may exist if (1) a person's life or safety is threatened, (2) a suspect's escape is imminent, or (3) evidence is about to be removed or destroyed. — Also termed emergency circumstances; special circumstances.

extenuating circumstance. See mitigating circumstance.

extraordinary circumstances. A highly unusual set of facts that are not commonly associated with a particular thing or event.

incriminating circumstance. A fact or situation showing either that a crime was committed or that a particular person committed it.

mitigating circumstance. 1. A fact or situation that does not justify or excuse a wrongful act or offense but that reduces the degree of culpability and thus may reduce the damages (in a civil case) or the punishment (in a criminal case). [Cases: Damages 59; Sentencing and Punishment 54, 590, 1653. C.J.S. Damages §§ 167, 169–170, 172, 174.] 2. A fact or situation that does not bear on the question of a defendant's guilt but that is considered by the court in imposing punishment and esp. in lessening the severity of a sentence. A court's or jury's power to consider mitigating circumstances cannot be limited by statute. See Lockett v. Ohio, 438 U.S. 586, 606, 98

S.Ct. 2954, 2965 (1978). For a list of mitigating circumstances in a capital-murder case, see Model Penal Code § 210.6(4). [Cases: Sentencing and Punishment 54, 590, 1653.] 3.Contracts. An unusual or unpredictable event that prevents performance, such as a labor strike. — Also termed extenuating circumstance. Cf. aggravating circumstance.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE

circumstantial evidence. See EVIDENCE.

CIRCUMVENTION 1

circumvention. 1.Copyright. The act of bypassing, avoiding, removing, deactivating, or impairing a technological measure or device that controls access to a work protected by U.S. copyright law. • Circumvention of technology that effectively controls access to a work protected by a U.S. copyright is prohibited under 17 USCA § 1201. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 67.3. C.J.S. Copyrights and Intellectual Property §§ 41, 45, 55, 97.] 2.Scots law. FACILITY AND CIRCUMVENTION .

CIRLISCUS

cirliscus (s<<schwa>>r-lis-k<<schwa>>s). See CEORL.

CITABLE

citable,adj. Authorized by a court to be used as legal precedent. • In general, published opinions are citable, but unpublished ones are not. — Also written citeable. Cf. NONCITABLE.

CITATIO AD REASSUMENDAM CAUSAM

citatio ad reassumendam causam (sI-tay-shee-oh ad ree-as-yoo-men-d<<schwa>>m kaw-z<<schwa>>m). [Latin “citation to take up a cause again”] Civil law. A citation issued to revive an action that was abated upon one party's death. • The citation issues against the deceased party's heir. Cf. bill of revivor under BILL(2).

CITATION

citation,n.1. A court-issued writ that commands a person to appear at a certain time and place to do something demanded in the writ, or to show cause for not doing so. 2. A police-issued order to appear before a judge on a given date to defend against a stated charge, such as a traffic violation. — Also termed appearance ticket. [Cases: Automobiles 351.1. C.J.S. Motor Vehicles §§ 1344, 1365–1371, 1397–1400, 1443, 1473, 1486–1487, 1496, 1508, 1518, 1526, 1532, 1543–1544, 1546–1547, 1550.] 3. A reference to a legal precedent or authority, such as a case, statute, or treatise, that either substantiates or contradicts a given position. — Often shortened to (in sense 3) cite.

parallel citation.An additional reference to a case that has been reported in more than one reporter. • For example, whereas a Bluebook citation reads “Morgan v. United States, 304 U.S. 1 (1938),” the same reference including parallel citations reads “Morgan v. United States, 304 U.S. 1, 58 S.Ct. 773, 82 L.Ed. 1129 (1938),” in which the main citation is to the U.S. Reports and the parallel citations are to the Supreme Court Reporter and to the Lawyer's Edition.

pinpoint citation. The page on which a quotation or relevant passage appears, as opposed to the page on which a case or article begins. • For example, the number 217 is the pinpoint citation in Baker v. Carr, 369 U.S. 186, 217 (1962). — Also termed jump citation; dictum page; pincite.

4. A reference to another document in support of an argument, as in a patent prosecution in which a party trying to defeat a claim of patentability refers to a previous patent or a publication to show that the invention lacks novelty or nonobviousness. See REFERENCE(4).

front-page citation. Patents. A citation of prior art listed on the front page of a patent application and disclosing a patent or publication that is material to the patentability of any of the application's claims.

textual citation. Patents. A reference to a work containing prior art listed in a patent application's body.

CITATIONAL

citational, adj. Of or relating to a citation (esp. a reference citation) < citational analysis >.

CITATION ORDER

citation order. The appropriate ranking of the various authorities marshaled in support of a legal proposition.

CITATIONS, LAW OF

Citations, Law of. Roman law. An A.D. 426 decree of Emperor Valentinian III listing Papinian, Paul, Gaius, Ulpian, and Modestinus as juristic writers who could be cited authoritatively in court. • If a majority of the writers agreed on an issue, the judge was bound to follow the majority view. The Law of Citations allowed the judge to use discretion only if the writers were equally divided and Papinian (whose view prevailed in a tie) was silent on the issue.

“In 426 came the famous lex de responsis prudentium — the Law of Citations.... This law lessened the difficulties of the courts in dealing with juristic literature. It excluded a huge mass of conflicting doctrine, the relative value of which had not been determined, and which yet had to be used by the judges as a source of principle on which to base their decisions.” W.W. Buckland, A Text-Book of Roman Law from Augustus to Justinian 33 (Peter Stein ed., 3d ed. 1963).

CITATION SIGNAL

citation signal. See SIGNAL(2).

CITATOR

citator (sI-tay-t<<schwa>>r). A catalogued list of cases, statutes, and other legal sources showing the subsequent history and current precedential value of those sources. • Citators allow researchers to verify the authority of a precedent and to find additional sources relating to a given subject. Citators were originally printed on gummed paper and pasted next to the report of a cited case. Today, citators are published in volumes and are also available online; the two most popular are Shepard's and KeyCite.

“A citator is a compilation showing where certain cases have been cited in other cases, and whether the provisions of constitutions and statutes have been repealed, amended, or otherwise affected, or have been judicially construed, or have been cited.” Frank Hall Childs, Where and How to Find the Law 61 (1922).

CITATORY

citatory (sI-t<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj. Of, relating to, or having the power of a citation or summons <letters ci-tatory>.

CITE

cite,n. See CITATION(3).

cite,vb.1. To summon before a court of law <the witness was cited for contempt>.2. To refer to or adduce as precedent or authority <counsel then cited the appropriate statutory provision>.3. To commend or honor <the soldier was cited for bravery>.

CITEABLE

citeable. See CITABLE.

CITIZEN

citizen,n.1. A person who, by either birth or naturalization, is a member of a political community, owing allegiance to the community and being entitled to enjoy all its civil rights and protections; a member of the civil state, entitled to all its privileges. Cf. RESIDENT; DOMICILIARY. [Cases: Citizens 1. C.J.S. Citizens §§ 7, 12.]

citizen by naturalization.See naturalized citizen.

federal citizen.A citizen of the United States.

natural-born citizen.A person born within the jurisdiction of a national government.

naturalized citizen.A foreign-born person who attains citizenship by law. — Also termed citizen by naturalization. [Cases: Aliens 60–70. C.J.S. Aliens §§ 276–315, 326.]

2. For diversity-jurisdiction purposes, a corporation that was incorporated within a state or has its principal place of business there. 28 USCA § 1332(c)(1). [Cases: Federal Courts 297.]

CITIZEN-INFORMANT

citizen-informant. See INFORMANT.

CITIZEN'S ARREST

citizen's arrest.See ARREST.

CITIZENSHIP

citizenship, n. 1. The status of being a citizen. 2. The quality of a person's conduct as a member of a community.

corporate citizenship. See CORPORATE CITIZENSHIP.

dual citizenship. See DUAL CITIZENSHIP.

CITIZENSHIP CLAUSE

Citizenship Clause. The clause of the U.S. Constitution providing that all persons born or naturalized in the United States are citizens of the United States and the state they reside in. U.S. Const. amend. XIV, § 1, cl. 1. [Cases: Citizens 1–11. C.J.S. Aliens § 281; Citizens §§ 2–13, 19, 21–22, 24–29.]

CITIZEN SUIT

citizen suit. An action under a statute giving citizens the right to sue violators of the law (esp. environmental law) and to seek injunctive relief and penalties. • In the 1970s, during the heyday of antipollution statutes such as the Clean Water Act and the Clean Air Act, legislators believed that regulators sometimes become too close to the industries they oversee and, as a result, lack the aggressiveness that individual citizens bring to litigation. The statutes therefore authorize, among other things, “private attorneys general” (citizens) to protect the environment. This includes not only injunctions to stop pollution but also penalties to be paid to the U.S. Treasury. A federal plaintiff must sue under a statutory citizen-suit provision and also satisfy constitutional-standing requirements. See STANDING. [Cases: Environmental Law 20.]

CITOLOGY

citology. See LEGAL CITOLOGY.

CITRA CAUSAE COGNITIONEM

citra causae cognitionem (sit-r<<schwa>> kaw-zee kog-nish-ee-oh-n<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Hist. Without investigating the cause; absent a judicial investigation.

“Citra causae cognitionem.... Formerly all interdiction was judicial, and proceeded upon an investigation of the facts and on its necessity or expediency being made out to the satisfaction of the Court. No other kind of interdiction was allowed, but voluntary interdiction, without such investigation, was afterwards admitted.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 78 (4th ed. 1894).

CITY

city. 1. A municipal corporation, usu. headed by a mayor and governed by a city council. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 1.1. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 2–7.] 2. The territory within a city's corporate limits. 3. Collectively, the people who live within this territory. Cf. TOWN.

CITY ATTORNEY

city attorney. An attorney employed by a city to advise it and represent it in legal matters. —

Also termed mu-nicipal attorney; city counsel; corporation counsel; city solicitor. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 214(3).]

“There may have been a time in this country when the function of the City Attorney of the average city consisted mainly of advising the Council, preparing an occasional ordinance or handling an infrequent lawsuit. The legal business of the average city is no longer so simple, so infrequent and so nonconsuming of the time of the City Attorney. Every action of the City must be justified by its legal powers, and the City Attorney is the municipal officer whose responsibility it is to decide whether any act or action is within the city's legal powers. The demands of citizens for augmented municipal services, and the resulting diversification of city operations have increased the volume of work to the point where the City Attorney, in many cities, has become a central consultant of the city officers and employees on a day-to-day, hour-to-hour basis.” Allen Grimes, The City Attorney: A Practice Manual 6 (1978).

CITY CLERK

city clerk.See CLERK(1).

CITY COUNCIL

city council.A city's legislative body, usu. responsible for passing ordinances, levying taxes, appropriating funds, and generally administering city government. — Also termed (in some states) board of aldermen. [Cases: Mu-nicipal Corporations 80. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 208–210, 213–219.]

CITY COUNSEL

city counsel.See CITY ATTORNEY.

CITY COURT

city court.See municipal court under COURT.

CITY JUDGE

city judge.See municipal judge under JUDGE.

CITY SOLICITOR

city solicitor.See CITY ATTORNEY.

CIV. CT.

Civ. Ct. See civil court under COURT.

CIVIC

civic,adj.1. Of or relating to citizenship or a particular citizen <civic responsibilities>.2. Of or relating to a city <civic center>.

CIVIL

civil,adj.1. Of or relating to the state or its citizenry <civil rights>.2. Of or relating to private rights and remedies that are sought by action or suit, as distinct from criminal proceedings <civil litigation>. [Cases: Action 18. C.J.S. Actions § 68.] 3. Of or relating to any of the modern legal systems derived from Roman law <Louisiana is a civil-law jurisdiction>.

CIVIL ACTION

civil action.See ACTION(4).

CIVIL ARREST

civil arrest.See ARREST.

CIVIL ASSAULT

civil assault.See ASSAULT.

CIVIL-AUTHORITY CLAUSE

civil-authority clause.Insurance. A clause, esp. in a fire-insurance policy, insuring against damages caused by firefighters, police, or other civil authority. [Cases: Insurance 2157, 2163. C.J.S. Insurance § 1074.]

CIVIL BAIL

civil bail.See BAIL(1).

CIVIL CODE

civil code. 1. A comprehensive and systematic legislative pronouncement of the whole private, noncommercial law in a legal system of the continental civil-law tradition. 2. (cap.) The code that embodies the law of France, from which a great part of the Louisiana civil code is derived. — Abbr. CC. — Also termed Code Civil. See NAPOLEONIC CODE. 3. A codification of noncriminal statutes.

CIVIL COGNATION

civil cognation.See COGNATION.

CIVIL COMMITMENT

civil commitment. 1. A commitment of a person who is ill, incompetent, drug-addicted, or the like, as contrasted with a criminal sentence. [Cases: Chemical Dependents 10; Mental Health 31. C.J.S. Chemical De-pendents §§ 10–11; Insane Persons §§ 45, 47, 53.] 2. A public demonstration by two people of their intent to be bound together in a marriage-like relationship. • The demonstration is usu. in the form of a ceremony, often identical to a wedding, but the relationship is usu. not legally recognized and can be dissolved without legal formalities. See CIVIL UNION .

CIVIL-COMMITMENT STATUTE

civil-commitment statute.A law that provides for the confinement of a person who is mentally ill, incompetent, drug-addicted, or the like, often a sexually violent predator. • Unlike criminal incarceration, civil commitment is for an indefinite period.

CIVIL COMMOTION

civil commotion. A public uprising by a large number of people who, acting together, cause harm to people or property. • A civil commotion usu. involves many more people than a riot. — Sometimes shortened to commotion. Cf. RIOT. [Cases: Riot 1. C.J.S. Riot; Insurrection §§ 2–10.]

CIVIL CONSPIRACY

civil conspiracy. See CONSPIRACY.

CIVIL CONTEMPT

civil contempt. See CONTEMPT.

CIVIL CORPORATION

civil corporation. See CORPORATION.

CIVIL COURT

civil court. See COURT.

CIVIL-DAMAGE LAW

civil-damage law. See DRAM-SHOP ACT.

CIVIL DAY

civil day. See artificial day under DAY.

CIVIL DEATH

civil death. See DEATH.

CIVIL DEFENSE

civil defense. 1. The practice of protecting civilians from dangers caused by hostilities or disasters and helping them recover from the immediate effects of such events. 2. The policies that underlie this practice.

CIVIL DISABILITY

civil disability. See DISABILITY(3).

CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE

civil disobedience. A deliberate but nonviolent act of lawbreaking to call attention to a particular law or set of laws believed by the actor to be of questionable legitimacy or morality.

“Social protest and even civil disobedience serve the law's need for growth. Ideally, reform would come according to reason and justice without self-help and disturbing, almost violent, forms of protest.... Still, candor compels one here again to acknowledge the gap between the ideal and the reality. Short of the millennium, sharp changes in the law depend partly upon the stimulus of protest." Archibald Cox, Civil Rights, the Constitution, and the Courts, 40 N.Y. State B.J. 161, 169 (1968).

CIVIL DISORDER

civil disorder. A public disturbance involving three or more people who commit violent acts that cause immediate danger or injury to people or property. See RIOT. [Cases: Riot 1. C.J.S. Riot; Insurrection §§ 2–10.]

CIVIL EMBARGO

civil embargo. See EMBARGO(2).

CIVIL FORFEITURE

civil forfeiture. See FORFEITURE.

CIVIL FRAUD

civil fraud. See FRAUD.

CIVIL FRUIT

civil fruit. See FRUIT.

CIVILIAN

civilian, n. 1. A person not serving in the military. 2. A lawyer practicing in a civil-law jurisdiction. — Also termed civilista. 3. A scholar in civil or Roman law. — civilian, adj.

CIVIL IMPEDIMENT

civil impediment. See IMPEDIMENT.

CIVIL IMPRISONMENT

civil imprisonment. Hist. See IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT.

CIVIL INFRACTION

civil infraction. See INFRACTION.

CIVIL INJURY

civil injury. See INJURY.

CIVIL INVESTIGATIVE DEMAND

civil investigative demand. 1. A request for information served by the U.S. Attorney General on any person who may have documents or information relevant to a civil antitrust investigation or to an investigation authorized by § 3 of the International Antitrust Enforcement Assistance Act (15 USCA § 6202). • A civil investigative demand can be issued before a civil or criminal action is begun, and can be served on anyone — not just potential defendants — thought to possess information pertinent to the investigation. If the Attorney General begins a civil or criminal action, this demand may not be served on persons within the scope of the proceeding. 2. A similar request for information served by a different governmental entity, esp. a state attorney general. — Abbr. CID.

CIVILIS

civilis (s<<schwa>>-vI-lis), adj.[Latin] Of or according to civil law.

CIVILISTA

civilista (siv-<<schwa>>-lis-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. See CIVILIAN(2).

CIVILITER

civiliter (s<<schwa>>-vil-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r), adv.[Latin “civilly”] 1. By a civil, as distinguished from a criminal, proceeding. Cf. CRIMINALITER. 2. Civilly; as a citizen.

civiliter mortuus (s<<schwa>>-vil-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r mor-choo-<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Civilly dead <the wife of a man civiliter mortuus had similar rights>. See civil death (1) under DEATH.

CIVILIZATION

civilization. The transformation of a criminal matter to a civil one by law or judgment. Cf. CRIMINALIZATION(1).

CIVIL JUSTICE

civil justice. The methods by which a society redresses civil wrongs. Cf. CRIMINAL JUSTICE(1).

CIVIL LAW

civil law. 1. (usu. cap.) One of the two prominent legal systems in the Western World, originally administered in the Roman Empire and still influential in continental Europe, Latin America, Scotland, and Louisiana, among other parts of the world; ROMAN LAW. • In reference to Romans, civil law (commonly referred to as jus civile) denotes the whole body of Roman law, from whatever source derived. But it is also used to denote that part of Roman law peculiar to the Romans, as opposed to the common law of all peoples (jus gentium). — Also termed jus civile; Roman law; Romanesque law. Cf. COMMON LAW(2). 2. The body of law imposed by the state, as opposed to moral law. 3. The law of civil or private rights, as opposed to criminal law or administrative law. — Abbr. CL.

“The difference between civil law ... and criminal law turns on the difference between two different objects which the law seeks to pursue — redress or punishment. The object of civil law is the redress of wrongs by compelling compensation or restitution: the wrongdoer is not punished, he only suffers so much harm as is necessary to make good the wrong he has done. The person who has suffered gets a definite benefit from the law, or at least he avoids a loss. On the other hand, in the case of crimes, the main object of the law is to punish the wrongdoer; to give him and others a strong inducement not to commit the same or similar crimes, to reform him if possible, and perhaps to satisfy the public sense that wrongdoing ought to meet with retribution." William Geldart, Introduction to English Law 146 (D.C.M. Yardley ed., 9th ed. 1984).

CIVIL LIABILITY

civil liability. See LIABILITY.

CIVIL-LIABILITY ACT

civil-liability act. See DRAM-SHOP ACT.

CIVIL LIBERTY

civil liberty. (usu. pl.) Freedom from undue governmental interference or restraint. • This term usu. refers to freedom of speech or religion. In American law, early civil liberties were promulgated in the Laws and Libertyes of Massachusetts (1648) and the Bill of Rights (1791). In English law, examples are found in Magna Carta (1215), the Petition of Right (1628), and the Bill of Rights (1689). — Also termed civil right. [Cases: Civil Rights 1027. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 4–5, 8, 13.]

CIVIL LIST

civil list. An annual sum granted by Parliament for the expenses of the royal household.

CIVIL MARRIAGE

civil marriage. See MARRIAGE(3).

CIVIL MONTH

civil month. See MONTH(1).

CIVIL OBLIGATION

civil obligation. See conventional obligation under OBLIGATION.

CIVIL OFFENSE

civil offense. See public tort under TORT.

CIVIL PARTNERSHIP

civil partnership. See CIVIL UNION.

CIVIL PENALTY

civil penalty. See PENALTY(1).

CIVIL POSSESSION

civil possession. See POSSESSION.

CIVIL POWER

civil power. See POLITICAL POWER.

CIVIL PROCEDURE 1

civil procedure. 1. The body of law — usu. rules enacted by the legislature or courts — governing the methods and practices used in civil litigation. • An example is the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. 2. A particular method or practice used in carrying on civil litigation.

CIVIL PROCESS

civil process. See PROCESS.

CIVIL REMEDY

civil remedy. See REMEDY(1).

CIVIL RIGHT

civil right. (usu. pl.) 1. The individual rights of personal liberty guaranteed by the Bill of Rights and by the 13th, 14th, 15th, and 19th Amendments, as well as by legislation such as the Voting Rights Act. • Civil rights include esp. the right to vote, the right of due process, and the right of equal protection under the law. [Cases: Civil Rights 1027. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 4–5, 8, 13.] 2. CIVIL LIBERTY.

“At common law a person convicted of a felony became an outlaw. He lost all of his civil rights and all of his property became forfeited. This harsh rule no longer prevails. Under modern jurisprudence the civil rights of a person convicted of a crime, be it a felony or misdemeanor, are in nowise affected or diminished except insofar as express statutory provisions so prescribe.” Alexander Holtzoff, “Civil Rights of Criminals,” in Encyclopedia of Criminology 55 (Vernon C. Branham & Samuel B. Kutash eds., 1949).

CIVIL-RIGHTS ACT

civil-rights act. One of several federal statutes enacted after the Civil War (1861–1865) and, much later, during and after the civil-rights movement of the 1950s and 1960s, for the purpose of implementing and giving further force to the basic rights guaranteed by the Constitution, and esp. prohibiting discrimination in employment and education on the basis of race, sex, religion, color, or age. [Cases: Civil Rights 1002, 1102. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 2–5, 7–9, 11–13, 18, 22, 26–27, 30–31, 33–34, 37, 41–42, 44, 67.]

CIVIL-RIGHTS REMOVAL

civil-rights removal. See REMOVAL.

CIVIL SERVICE

civil service, n. 1. The administrative branches of a government. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 11. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 63–65, 71–74.] 2. The group of people employed by these branches. — civil servant, n.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

Civil Service Commission.A former independent federal agency that supervised the government's personnel system. • The agency was created in 1883 and abolished by Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1978. Its functions were transferred to the Merit Systems Protection Board and the Office of Personnel Management. See MERIT SYSTEMS PROTECTION BOARD; OFFICE OF PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT . [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 72.20. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 143, 195.]

CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM

civil-service reform.The use of business principles and methods instead of the spoils system in the conduct of the civil service, esp. in awarding contracts and appointing officials.

CIVIL SOCIETY

civil society.See SOCIETY.

CIVIL TERM

civil term.See TERM(5).

CIVIL UNION

civil union.Family law. A marriage-like relationship, often between members of the same sex, recognized by civil authorities within a jurisdiction. • Vermont was the first state to recognize civil unions. In December 1999, the Vermont Supreme Court ruled that denying gay couples the benefits of marriage amounted to unconstitutional discrimination. Baker v. State, 744 A.2d 864 (Vt. 1999). Several months later the legislature passed a civil-unions law, which took effect on July 1, 2000. — Also termed civil partnership. Cf. DOMESTIC PARTNERSHIP; same-sex marriage under MARRIAGE(1).

CIVIL WAR

civil war.See WAR.

CIVIL WRONG

civil wrong.1.WRONG. 2.TORT. 3.DELICT.

CIVIS

civis (siv-is). [Latin] Roman law. A Roman citizen; a person entitled to the public and private rights associated with Roman citizenship. • Female citizens had only private rights. — Also termed civis Romanus; civis Romana.

CIVITAS

civitas (siv-<<schwa>>-tas), n. [Latin] Roman law. 1. A state. 2. An organized community; a territorial unit.

CIVITATIS AMISSIO

civitatis amissio (siv-i-tay-tis <<schwa>>-mish-ee-oh). [Latin] Hist. Loss of citizenship.

C.J.

C.J.abbr.1. See chief justice under JUSTICE(2).2. See chief judge under JUDGE. 3. See circuit judge under JUDGE. 4.CORPUS JURIS.

CJC

CJC.abbr.CODE OF JUDICIAL CONDUCT.

CJE

CJE.abbr.CONTINUING JUDICIAL EDUCATION.

C.J.S.

C.J.S.abbr. Corpus Juris Secundum. — Also written CJS.

CL

CL.abbr.CIVIL LAW.

CLAFLIN TRUST

Clafin trust.See indestructible trust under TRUST.

CLAFLIN<TT>-TRUST PRINCIPLE

Clafin-trust principle.The doctrine that a trust cannot be terminated by the beneficiaries if the termination would defeat one of the settlor's material purposes in establishing the trust, even if all the beneficiaries seek its termination. • The Clafin rule, which derives from Clafin v. Clafin, 20 N.E. 454 (Mass. 1889), is often cited as the purest illustration of “deadhand control,” in which the wishes of the now-dead settlor prevail over the wishes and needs of living beneficiaries. If the settlor is alive and consents to the modification or termination of the trust, the trust may usu. be terminated, unless it is irrevocable. Trusts in the Clafin category are spendthrift trusts, support trusts, trusts in which the trustee has discretion to make distributions, and trusts in which the beneficiary is entitled to income until a certain age, at which point the beneficiary will receive the principal.

CLAIM

claim,n.1. The aggregate of operative facts giving rise to a right enforceable by a court <the plaintiff's short, plain statement about the crash established the claim>. — Also termed claim for relief. 2. The assertion of an existing right; any right to payment or to an equitable remedy, even if contingent or provisional <the spouse's claim to half the lottery winnings>.3. A demand for money, property, or a legal remedy to which one asserts a right; esp., the part of a complaint in a civil action specifying what relief the plaintiff asks for. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 680; Pleading 72. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 110–115.]

donation claim.Property law. A claim for ownership of land under a donation act or bounty-land warrant. See DONATION ACT; BOUNTY-LAND WARRANT.

honest claim. A claim made by someone who believes, however unreasonably, that he or she has a right to something or that there is a chance that such a right exists.

liquidated claim. 1. A claim for an amount previously agreed on by the parties or that can be precisely determined by operation of law or by the terms of the parties' agreement. 2. A claim that was determined in a judicial proceeding. — Also termed liquidated demand. [Cases: Accord and Satisfaction 10; Interest 39(2.15). C.J.S. Accord and Satisfaction §§ 44–45.]

matured claim. A claim based on a debt that is due for payment.

stale claim. A claim that is barred by the statute of limitations or the defense of laches. — Also termed stale demand. [Cases: Equity 67; Limitation of Actions 1, 165. C.J.S. Equity §§ 128–132; Limitations of Actions §§ 2–4, 10–11.]

unliquidated claim. A claim in which the amount owed has not been determined. [Cases: Accord and Satisfaction 10; Interest 39(2.15). C.J.S. Accord and Satisfaction §§ 44–45.]

4. An interest or remedy recognized at law; the means by which a person can obtain a privilege, possession, or enjoyment of a right or thing; CAUSE OF ACTION(1) <claim against the employer for wrongful termination>.

ancillary claim. A claim that is collateral to, dependent on, or auxiliary to another claim, such as a state-law claim that is sufficiently related to a federal claim to permit federal jurisdiction over it. • The concept of ancillary federal jurisdiction is now contained in the supplemental-jurisdiction statute, 28 USCA § 1367. See ancillary jurisdiction and supplemental jurisdiction under JURISDICTION. [Cases: Federal Courts 14, 20.]

colorable claim. 1. A claim that is legitimate and that may reasonably be asserted, given the facts presented and the current law (or a reasonable and logical extension or modification of the current law). 2. A claim in which the debtor and property holder are, as a matter of law, not adverse. • One example of a colorable claim is one made by a person holding property as an agent or bailee of the bankrupt.

contingent claim. A claim that has not yet accrued and is dependent on some future event that may never happen.

counterclaim. See COUNTERCLAIM.

cross-claim. See CROSS-CLAIM.

frivolous claim. A claim that has no legal basis or merit, esp. one brought for an unreasonable purpose such as harassment. Fed. R. Civ. P. 11(b).

supplemental claim. A claim for further relief based on events occurring after the original claim was made.

5. Bankruptcy. A right to payment or to an equitable remedy for breach of performance if the breach gives rise to a right to payment. • It does not matter whether the right has been reduced to judgment or whether it is liquidated or unliquidated, fixed or contingent, matured or unmatured, disputed or undisputed, or secured or unsecured.

creditor's claim.Bankruptcy. A claim that a creditor has against a debtor. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2825.]

involuntary gap claim.Bankruptcy. A claim that accrues in the ordinary course of business after an involuntary bankruptcy petition has been filed but before the order for relief or the appointment of a trustee. • The Bankruptcy Code gives priority to creditors with claims of this type to encourage creditors to continue dealing with a debtor until the debtor has a chance to challenge the involuntary petition. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2833. C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 240.]

priority claim.Bankruptcy. An unsecured claim that, under bankruptcy law, must be paid before other unsecured claims. • The Bankruptcy Code sets forth nine classes of claims, to be paid in order of priority: (1) administrative expenses of the bankruptcy estate, (2) involuntary gap claims, (3) wage claims, (4) contributions to employee benefit plans, (5) claims of grain farmers and fishermen, (6) consumer deposits, (7) alimony, maintenance, and child-support claims, (8) tax claims, and (9) capital requirements of an insured depository institution. [Cases: Bankruptcy 2951–2972. C.J.S. Bankruptcy §§ 201–202, 255–267, 287, 351, 353, 259.]

secured claim.A claim held by a creditor who has a lien or a right of setoff against the debtor's property. [Cases: Secured Transactions 1. C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 3, 7–9, 23, 37.]

unsecured claim. 1. A claim by a creditor who does not have a lien or a right of setoff against the debtor's property. 2. A claim by a creditor to the extent that its lien on or right of setoff against the debtor's property is worth less than the amount of the debt.

6.Patents. PATENT CLAIM.

CLAIM AND DELIVERY

claim and delivery.A claim for the recovery of specific personal property wrongfully taken or detained, as well as for any damages caused by the taking or detention. • This claim derives from the common-law action of replevin. See REPLEVIN. — Sometimes written claim-and-delivery. [Cases: Replevin 1. C.J.S. Replevin §§ 2–7.]

CLAIMANT

claimant,n. One who asserts a right or demand, esp. formally; esp., one who asserts a property interest in land, chattels, or tangible things.

occupying claimant.See OCCUPYING CLAIMANT.

CLAIM CHECK

claim check.A receipt obtained for bailed or checked property and surrendered by the holder when the bailee returns the property.

CLAIM DIFFERENTIATION claim differentiation. Patents. A canon of construction presuming that each claim in a patent is different in scope and meaning from all other claims; the presumption that different terms in separate claims must have different meanings if one of the claims would otherwise be rendered superfluous. • The doctrine cannot be used by the patentee to broaden claims, and a court will ignore it when convinced that its interpretation of the claims is correct. The presumption is strongest when a different interpretation would be the only way to make a dependent claim more limiting than the independent claim it refers to. — Also termed doctrine of claim differentiation. [Cases: Patents 165(5). C.J.S. Patents §§ 283, 287, 290, 293.]

CLAIM DILUTION

claim dilution. Bankruptcy. The reduction in the likelihood that a debtor's claimants will be fully repaid, including considerations of the time value of money.

CLAIM FOR RELIEF

claim for relief. See CLAIM(1).

CLAIM IN EQUITY

claim in equity. Hist. A summary proceeding created to eliminate protracted pleading procedure in simple cases. • The claim in equity was established in England in 1850 and abolished in 1860.

CLAIM-JUMPING

claim-jumping. 1. The extension of the borders of a mining claim to infringe on other areas or claims. [Cases: Mines and Minerals 26. C.J.S. Mines and Minerals §§ 101–107.] 2. The filing of a duplicate claim to take advantage of a flaw in the original claim.

CLAIM LIMITATION

claim limitation. Patents. In a patent application, a statement that describes the means for performing a specified function without reciting the structure, materials, or acts that support that function. • Claim limitations define the invention by distinguishing it from prior art. [Cases: Patents 101(3).]

CLAIM OF APPEAL

claim of appeal. See NOTICE OF APPEAL.

CLAIM OF COGNIZANCE

claim of cognizance. Hist. An intervention seeking the return of a case to the claimant's own court. • Cognizance may be claimed by a person, city, or public corporation granted the right to hold court. — Also termed claim of conusance. See COGNIZANCE; CONUSANCE.

CLAIM OF CONUSANCE

claim of conusance. See CLAIM OF COGNIZANCE.

CLAIM OF LIBERTY

claim of liberty.Hist. A petition to the Crown, filed in the Court of Exchequer, seeking the Attorney General's confirmation of liberties and franchises.

CLAIM OF OWNERSHIP

claim of ownership. 1. The possession of a piece of property with the intention of claiming it in hostility to the true owner. [Cases: Adverse Possession 68. C.J.S. Adverse Possession §§ 61–63, 65, 67–69.] 2. A party's manifest intention to take over land, regardless of title or right. — Also termed claim of right; claim of title.

CLAIM OF PRIORITY

claim of priority.See BENEFIT OF AN EARLIER FILING DATE.

CLAIM OF RIGHT

claim of right. 1.Hist. A criminal plea, usu. to a theft charge, by a defendant asserting that the property was taken under the honest (but mistaken) belief that the defendant had a superior right to the property. • The claim of right could also be raised in defense against bigamy if a defendant honestly believed that an earlier marriage had been legally dissolved. It has been superseded by a defense of honesty. 2.Hist. An owner's action to recover unjustly taken land in fee simple by employing a writ of course. See WRIT OF COURSE. 3.CLAIM OF OWNERSHIP.

CLAIM-OF-RIGHT DOCTRINE claim-of-right doctrine.Tax. The rule that any income constructively received must be reported as income, whether or not the taxpayer has an unrestricted claim to it. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3086, 3118. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 53–54, 63.]

CLAIM OF TITLE

claim of title.See CLAIM OF OWNERSHIP.

CLAIM PRECLUSION

claim preclusion.See RES JUDICATA.

“[T]he principal distinction between claim preclusion and issue preclusion is ... that the former forecloses litigation of matters that have never been litigated. This makes it important to know the dimensions of the ‘claim’ that is foreclosed by bringing the first action, but unfortunately no precise definition is possible.” Charles Alan Wright, The Law of Federal Courts § 100A, at 723 (5th ed. 1994).

CLAIM-PROPERTY BOND

claim-property bond.See replevin bond under BOND(2).

CLAIMS ADJUSTER

claims adjuster.See insurance adjuster under ADJUSTER.

CLAIMS-CONSCIOUSNESS

claims-consciousness,n. The quality characterizing a legal culture in which people have firm expectations of justice and are willing to take concrete steps to see that justice is done <claims-consciousness in the United States has resulted from certain social changes, not from any character deficiency>. — Also termed rights-consciousness. — claims-conscious,adj.

CLAIMS COURT

claims court.See court of claims under COURT.

CLAIMS COURT, U.S.

Claims Court, U.S. See UNITED STATES COURT OF FEDERAL CLAIMS.

CLAIMS-MADE POLICY

claims-made policy.See INSURANCE POLICY.

CLAIM THE FLOOR

claim the floor.Parliamentary law. To address the chair for the purpose of being recognized as entitled to speak. See FLOOR(1).

CLAM

clam (klam), adv.[Latin] Roman & civil law. Secretly; covertly. • Under Roman law, an act (such as occupying or altering the condition of someone else's property) was committed clam when it was done with the intent to conceal it in an effort to avoid liability. See INTERDICTUM QUOD VI AUT CLAM.

CLAMEA ADMITTENDA IN ITINERE PER ATTORNATUM

clamea admittenda in itinere per attornatum (klay-mee-<<schwa>> ad-m<<schwa>>-ten-d<<schwa>> in I-tin-<<schwa>>-ree p<<schwa>>r <<schwa>>-tor-nay-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “claim to be admitted at the eyre by an attorney”] Hist. A writ from the king commanding the justices in eyre to permit by attorney the claim of a person employed in the king's service who cannot attend court in person.

CLAMEUR DE HARO clameur de haro (klay-m<<schwa>>r dah-roh). [French] An outcry recognized in the Channel Islands as a protest against trespass to land. • The clameur de haro is a legal remnant of when the Duchy of Normandy held the islands before England took control in the 13th century. The victim's cry of haro (repeated 3 times) is popularly supposed to be an abbreviation of Ha Rollo, the first Duke of Normandy. The full cry, Haro, Haro, Haro, a l'aide, mon prince, on me fait tort, when registered at the local records office, enjoins the offender from possessing the land. See HARROW; HUE AND CRY; GRAND COUTUMIER DE PAYS ET DUCHÉ DE NORMANDIE .

CLAMOR 1

clamor. 1.Hist. A lawsuit; a claim. 2.HUE AND CRY(1).3.Civil law. A claimant. 4.Civil law. The thing claimed from another.

CLANDESTINE

clandestine (klan-des-tin), adj. Secret or concealed, esp. for illegal or unauthorized purposes.

CLANDESTINE MARRIAGE

clandestine marriage.See MARRIAGE(1).

CLARE CONSTAT

clare constat (klair-ee kon-stat). [Law Latin] Scots law. It clearly appears. • The phrase appeared in reference to a precept, later a writ, for the grant of seisin to a vassal's heir, so called because the opening lines in the declaration stated that it clearly appeared that the grantee was the proper heir.

“A Precept of Clare Constat is a deed executed by a subject-superior, for the purpose of completing the title of his vassal's heir to the lands held by the deceased vassal, under the granter of the precept.... The precept of clare constat proceeded on any evidence, whether judicial or not, which satisfies the superior that the person claiming the entry is heir of the last vassal.” William Bell, Bell's Dictionary and Digest of the Law of Scotland 185 (George Watson ed., 7th ed. 1890).

CLARITY

Clarity. An international association of lawyers and other professionals who advocate plain language in legal and official documents. • Founded in 1983, it has members in more than 25 countries and a system of country representatives. It publishes a journal called Clarity.

CLASS

class,n.1. A group of people, things, qualities, or activities that have common characteristics or attributes  <the upper-middle class>.

protected class.A class of people who benefit from protection by statute, such as Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits discrimination based on race, sex, national origin, or religion. [Cases: Civil Rights 1007, 1107, 1152, 1165. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 2–5, 7–9, 11–13, 18, 22, 26–27, 30–31, 33–37, 41–42, 44, 67, 88.]

2. The order or rank that people or things are arranged in <she flew first class to Chicago>.3. A group of people, uncertain in number .

testamentary class (tes-t<<schwa>>-men-t<<schwa>>-ree or -tree). A group of beneficiaries who are uncertain in number but whose number will be ascertainable in the future, when each will take an equal or other proportionate share of the gift. [Cases: Wills 521. C.J.S. Wills § 967.]

4.Civil procedure. A group of people who have a common legal position, so that all their claims can be efficiently adjudicated in a single proceeding . [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 161–189; Parties 35.1. C.J.S. Parties § 28.]

opt-out class. A plaintiff class, certified under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(b)(3), from which class members may choose to exclude themselves if they do not want to be bound by the decisions or settlements reached in the case. • Rule 23(e) permits courts to dismiss class members who request exclusion. Class members may wait until the settlement's terms are announced before choosing to opt out.

settlement class. Numerous similarly situated people for whom a claimant's representative and an adversary propose a contract specifying the payment terms for the class members' claims in exchange for the release of all claims against the adversary. • During the 1980s and 1990s, mass-tort defendants began using settlement classes as a means of foreclosing claims by some unknown number of existing and future claimants. See, e.g., Amchem Prods., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 117 S.Ct. 2231 (1997).

CLASS ACTION

class action. A lawsuit in which the court authorizes a single person or a small group of people to represent the interests of a larger group; specif., a lawsuit in which the convenience either of the public or of the interested parties requires that the case be settled through litigation by or against only a part of the group of similarly situated persons and in which a person whose interests are or may be affected does not have an opportunity to protect his or her interests by appearing personally or through a personally selected representative, or through a person specially appointed to act as a trustee or guardian. • Federal procedure has several prerequisites for maintaining a class action: (1) the class must be so large that individual suits would be impracticable, (2) there must be legal or factual questions common to the class, (3) the claims or defenses of the representative parties must be typical of those of the class, and (4) the representative parties must adequately protect the interests of the class. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23. — Also termed class suit; representative action. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 161–189; Parties 35.1–35.89. C.J.S. Parties §§ 28–38, 40, 55.]

“The class action was an invention of equity ... mothered by the practical necessity of providing a procedural device so that mere numbers would not disable large groups of individuals, united in interest, from enforcing their equitable rights nor grant them immunity from their equitable wrongs.... By rule 23 the Supreme Court has ex-tended the use of the class action device to the entire field of federal civil litigation by making it applicable to all civil actions.” Montgomery Ward & Co. v. Langer, 168 F.2d 182, 187 (8th Cir. 1948).

hybrid class action. Hist. A type of action in which the rights to be enforced were several and varied, but the object was to adjudicate claims that affected or might have affected the specific property in the action. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 166; Parties 35. C.J.S. Parties § 73.]

spurious class action. Hist. A former category of class action in which the interests of class members are several, not interdependent, and joinder is allowed to avoid multiplicity of suits. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 166; Parties 35. C.J.S. Parties § 73.]

CLASS-BASED ANIMUS

class-based animus. See ANIMUS(1).

CLASS DIRECTOR

class director. See DIRECTOR.

CLASS GIFT

class gift. See GIFT.

CLASSIFICATION

classification. See CHARACTERIZATION(1).

CLASSIFICATION OF PATENTS

classification of patents. Patents. 1. The sorting of inventions by type into broad classes and narrow subclasses, as an aid in patent searches. 2. Any one of the several classes into which the inventions are sorted. — Also termed (in both senses) office classification; (in sense 2) field of invention; field of search.

CLASSIFIED BOARD OF DIRECTORS

classified board of directors. See staggered board of directors under BOARD OF DIRECTORS .

CLASSIFIED INFORMATION

classified information. Data or material that, having been designated as secret or confidential, only a limited number of authorized persons may know about.

CLASSIFIED RISK

classified risk. See RISK.

CLASSIFIED TAX

classified tax. See TAX.

CLASS LEGISLATION

class legislation. See local and special legislation under LEGISLATION.

CLASS LOTTERY

class lottery. See Dutch lottery under LOTTERY.

CLASS OF STOCK

class of stock. A category of corporate shares used when more than one type of stock is issued. See preferred stock and common stock under STOCK. [Cases: Corporations 62. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 126, 128, 148–151.]

CLASS-ONE INSURED

class-one insured. See INSURED.

CLASS RATE

class rate. See RATE.

CLASS REPRESENTATIVE

class representative. See REPRESENTATIVE.

CLASS SUIT

class suit. See CLASS ACTION.

CLASS-TWO INSURED

class-two insured. See INSURED.

CLASS VOTING

class voting. See VOTING.

CLAUSA REBUS SIC STANTIBUS

clausa rebus sic stantibus (klawz-<<schwa>> ree-b<<schwa>>s sik stan-t<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Int'l law. 1. A treaty provision stating that the treaty is binding only as long as the circumstances in existence when the treaty was signed remain substantially the same. 2. A doctrine by which the law supplies such a provision to a treaty that does not expressly contain one; REBUS SIC STANTIBUS. • The doctrine may be invoked when a fundamental change in circumstances (1) alters the essential basis for the parties' consent to be bound by the treaty, and (2) radically transforms the extent of the parties' performances under the treaty. But the doctrine does not apply to treaties establishing boundaries. Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties art. 62 (1155 U.N.T.S. 331, 8 I.L.M. 679 (1969)). — Often shortened to clausa. — Also termed clausula rebus sic stantibus; clausula.

CLAUSE

clause, n. 1. A distinct section or provision of a legal document or instrument. 2. ITEM(3). — clausal, adj.

enacting clause. The part of a statute stating the legislative authority by which it is made and often the date when it will take effect. • A typical enacting clause begins with the words "Be it enacted that...." The enacting clause of a federal statute is, "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled." Some state constitutions specify the enacting clause for legislation, without which the legislation is void. In codifications of statutes, enacting clauses generally appear not in the text of the statutes but in historical or legislative notes. [Cases: Statutes 210.]

operative clause. A provision under an enacting or resolving clause; a provision that is not a mere recital or preamble. See resolving clause.

resolving clause. The clause that introduces a resolution's operative text, usu. beginning with "Resolved, That...." • A resolving clause is comparable to a statute's enacting clause. — Also termed operative clause. See enacting clause; RESOLUTION(1). Cf. PREAMBLE(1).

whereas clause. 1. RECITAL(2). 2. PREAMBLE(1).

CLAUSED BILL OF LADING

clausd bill of lading. See BILL OF LADING.

CLAUSE OF ACCRUAL

clause of accrual. A provision, usu. found in a gift by will or in a deed between tenants in common, that grants a predeceasing beneficiary's shares to the surviving beneficiary. — Also termed clause of accruer.

CLAUSE PARAMOUNT

clause paramount. Maritime law. A provision in a charterparty that specifies what jurisdiction's law will govern the agreement, typically incorporating the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act into the charter. See CHARTERPARTY; CARRIAGE OF GOODS BY SEA ACT . [Cases: Shipping 39(1). C.J.S. Shipping §§ 85, 88, 9.]

CLAUSE POTESTATIVE

clause potestative (poh-tes-tay-tiv). French law. A contractual provision in which one party reserves the right to annul the contract.

CLAUSE ROLLS

clause rolls. Hist. Sealed rolls containing royal writs (close writs) and other documents that the sovereign deemed inappropriate for the public record. — Also termed close rolls. See close writ under WRIT.

CLAUSULA

clausula (klawz-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>), n. [Latin] A clause; a sentence or part of a sentence in a written instrument or statute.

clausula codicillaris (klawz-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> kod-<<schwa>>-si-lair-is). [Latin] Roman law. A codi-cillary clause; a codicil that, having been confirmed by a will (even in advance), operated as part of the will. • An unconfirmed codicil created directives that could be effective even in the absence or failure of a will. See FI-DEICOMMISSUM.

clausula derogativa (klawz-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> d<<schwa>>-rog-<<schwa>>-tI-v<<schwa>>). [Latin] See DEROGATORY CLAUSE.

clausula derogatoria (klawz-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> d<<schwa>>-rog-<<schwa>>-tor-ee-<<schwa>>). See DEROGATORY CLAUSE.

clausula rebus sic stantibus (klawz-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> ree-b<<schwa>>s sik stan-t<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>s). See CLAUSA REBUS SIC STANTIBUS.

clausula tenoris (klawz-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>> te-nor-is). [Law Latin] Hist. The clause of tenure — that is, the clause in a charter describing the nature of a tenure.

CLAUSUM

clausum (klawz-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩m). [Latin “close; closed”] Hist. 1.CLOSE(1). — Also termed clausura. 2. See close writ under WRIT.

CLAUSUM FREGIT

clausum fregit (klawz-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩m free-jit). [Latin “he broke the close”] See TRESPASS QUARE CLAUSUM FREGIT.

CLAUSURA

clausura (klaw-zhuur-⟨⟨schwa⟩⟩). See CLAUSUM(1).

CLAWBACK

clawback,n.1. Money taken back. 2. The retrieval or recovery of tax allowances by additional forms of taxation. — claw back,vb.

CLAYTON ACT

Clayton Act.A federal statute — enacted in 1914 to amend the Sherman Act — that prohibits price discrimination, tying arrangements, and exclusive-dealing contracts, as well as mergers and interlocking directorates, if their effect might substantially lessen competition or create a monopoly in any line of commerce. 15 USCA §§ 12–27. [Cases: Monopolies 12, 17, 17.5, 20.5. C.J.S. Monopolies §§ 19, 26–27, 62–63, 99, 104–105, 167.]

CL. CT.

Cl. Ct.abbr.1.UNITED STATES COURT OF FEDERAL CLAIMS. 2.United States Court of Claims Reporter.

CLE

CLE.abbr.CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION.

CLEAN BILL

clean bill.See BILL(3).

CLEAN BILL OF LADING

clean bill of lading.See BILL OF LADING.

CLEAN DRAFT

clean draft.See DRAFT.

CLEAN-HANDS DOCTRINE

clean-hands doctrine.The principle that a party cannot seek equitable relief or assert an equitable defense if that party has violated an equitable principle, such as good faith. • Such a party is described as having “unclean hands.” For example, § 8 of the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act contains an unclean-hands provision that forbids a court from exercising jurisdiction in a child-custody suit in certain situations, as when one party has wrongfully removed a child from another state, has improperly retained custody of a child after visitation, or has wrongfully removed a child from the person with custody. The clean-hands doctrine evolved from the discretionary nature of equitable relief in English courts of equity, such as Chancery. — Also termed unclean-hands doctrine. [Cases: Equity 65.C.J.S. Equity § 102.]

CLEAN HOUSE

clean house,vb. Slang.1. To discharge a considerable number of employees, usu. in management, so that new employees may be brought in. 2. To sell securities not meeting an investor's requirements.

CLEAN LETTER OF CREDIT

clean letter of credit.See LETTER OF CREDIT.

CLEAN-SLATE RULE

clean-slate rule.Criminal procedure. The doctrine that the double-jeopardy prohibition does not apply to the retrial of a defendant who appealed and obtained a reversal of an earlier conviction. [Cases: Double Jeopardy 107.1.]

CLEANUP CLAUSE

cleanup clause.In a loan agreement, a clause that calls for a loan to be repaid in full within a given period, after which no further loans will be afforded the debtor for a specified “cleanup” period.

CLEANUP DOCTRINE

cleanup doctrine.The jurisdictional principle that once an equity court has acquired jurisdiction over a case, it may decide both equitable and legal issues as long as the legal issues are ancillary to the equitable ones. [Cases: Equity 39. C.J.S. Equity § 73.]

CLEAR

clear,adj.1. Free from encumbrances or claims. 2. Free from doubt; sure. 3. Unambiguous.

clear,vb.1. To acquit or exonerate <she was cleared of all wrongdoing>.2. (Of a drawee bank) to pay (a check or draft) out of funds held on behalf of the maker <the bank cleared the employee's check>.3. (Of a check or draft) to be paid by the drawee bank out of funds held on behalf of the maker <the check cleared yesterday>.4.Maritime law. To settle (customs, harbor dues, etc.) and obtain official permission to leave the port.

CLEARANCE

clearance. 1.Maritime law. The right of a ship to leave port, or the certificate issued by the port collector evidencing the ship's right to leave port. [Cases: Shipping 7, 15. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 11, 18–20.] 2. The time that must elapse between runs of the same movie within a particular area; a theater's exclusive right of exhibition over competing theaters.

CLEARANCE CARD

clearance card. A letter given by an employer to a departing employee, stating the duration and nature of the employment and reasons for leaving. • The clearance card is not necessarily a recommendation.

CLEAR AND CONVINCING EVIDENCE

clear and convincing evidence. See EVIDENCE.

CLEAR AND CONVINCING PROOF

clear and convincing proof. See clear and convincing evidence under EVIDENCE.

CLEAR-AND-PRESENT-DANGER TEST

clear-and-present-danger test. Constitutional law. The doctrine allowing the government to restrict the First Amendment freedoms of speech and press if necessary to prevent immediate and severe danger to interests that the government may lawfully protect. • This test was formulated by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes in Schenck v. United States, 249 U.S. 47, 39 S.Ct. 247 (1919). — Also termed clear-and-present-danger doctrine. [Cases: Constitutional Law 90(3). C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 502, 542, 546–550.]

“The ‘clear and present danger’ doctrine is concerned with distinguishing protected advocacy from unprotected incitement of violent or illegal conduct.... The conventional wisdom of the day was that speech was punishable as an attempt if the natural and reasonable tendency of what was said would be to bring about a forbidden effect. In addition, the criminal defendant must have used the words with an intent to bring about that effect, although such specific intent could be inferred from the tendency of the words on the presumption that one intends the consequences of one's speech. The formula announced by Justice Holmes easily fits within this framework. ‘The question in every case is whether the words used are used in circumstances and are of such a nature as to create a clear and present danger that they will bring about the substantive evils that Congress has a right to prevent.’ ” Laurence H. Tribe, American Constitutional Law 608 (1978) (quoting Schenck v. United States, 249 U.S. 47, 52, 39 S.Ct. 247, 249 (1919)).

CLEAR ANNUAL VALUE

clear annual value. See VALUE(2).

CLEAR CHANCE

clear chance. See LAST-CLEAR-CHANCE DOCTRINE.

CLEAR DAY

clear day. See DAY.

CLEAR ERROR

clear error. See ERROR(2).

CLEARFIELD TRUST DOCTRINE

Clearfield Trust doctrine. The doctrine describing the federal courts' power to make federal common law when there is both federal lawmaking power to do so and a strong federal interest in a nationally uniform rule. Clearfield Trust Co. v. United States, 318 U.S. 363, 63 S.Ct. 573 (1943). Cf. ERIE DOCTRINE . [Cases: Federal Courts 374.]

CLEARING

clearing. 1. Banking. The exchanging of checks and balancing of accounts. 2. Maritime law. The departure of a ship from port, after complying with customs, health laws, and other local regulations. See CLEARANCE(1). [Cases: Shipping 7, 15. C.J.S. Shipping §§ 11, 18–20.]

CLEARING ACCOUNT

clearing account. Banking. An account (usu. a temporary one) containing amounts to be transferred to another account before the end of an accounting period.

CLEARING AGENT

clearing agent. See AGENT(2).

CLEARING AGREEMENT

clearing agreement. A contract whose purpose is to facilitate the collective settlement of monetary claims between creditors and debtors in different currency areas, without resort to foreign-exchange reserves.

CLEARING CORPORATION

clearing corporation. See CORPORATION.

CLEARINGHOUSE

clearinghouse. 1. A place where banks exchange checks and drafts and settle their daily balances; an association of banks or other payors regularly clearing items. See UCC § 4-104(a)(4). [Cases: Banks and Banking 318–323. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 647–649.] 2. A stock-and-commodity exchange where the daily transactions of the brokers are cleared. 3. Any place for the exchange of specialized information. — Also written clearing house.

CLEARING LOAN

clearing loan. See LOAN.

CLEARINGS

clearings. Banking. Checks or other items drawn on a local bank and presented for payment through a clearing-house or directly to the drawee bank. See CLEARINGHOUSE(1). [Cases: Banks and Banking 137, 168, 320. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 327–328, 330, 406–407, 420, 422–424, 649.]

CLEARLY-ERRONEOUS STANDARD

clearly-erroneous standard. The standard of review that an appellate court usu. applies in judging a trial court's treatment of factual issues. • Under this standard, a judgment will be upheld unless the appellate court is left with the firm conviction that an error has been committed. [Cases: Appeal and Error 1008.1(5), 1009(1); Criminal Law 1158(1). C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 805, 810, 814–816.]

CLEAR MARKET VALUE

clear market value. See fair market value under VALUE(2).

CLEAR-REFLECTION-OF-INCOME STANDARD

clear-reflection-of-income standard. Tax. An income-accounting method that the IRS can force on a taxpayer if the method used does not clearly reflect income. IRC (26 USCA) § 446(b). [Cases: Internal Revenue 3095, 3103. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 21, 24, 26, 39–40, 52.]

CLEAR RESIDUE

clear residue. The income deriving from funds used to pay a decedent's debts, administration expenses, and general legacies. — Also termed true residue.

CLEAR TITLE

clear title. See TITLE(2).

CLEAR-TO-USE SEARCH

clear-to-use search. See INFRINGEMENT SEARCH.

CLEAR VALUE

clear value. See VALUE(2).

CLEAR-VIEW DOCTRINE

clear-view doctrine. See PLAIN-VIEW DOCTRINE.

CLEMENCY

clemency (klem-<<schwa>>n-see), n. Mercy or leniency; esp., the power of the President or a governor to pardon a criminal or commute a criminal sentence. — Also termed executive clemency. See PARDON; COMMUTATION. [Cases: Pardon and Parole 21. C.J.S. Pardon and Parole §§ 1–2, 5.] — clement (klem-<<schwa>>nt), adj.

CLEMENTINES

Clementines (klem-<<schwa>>n-tinz or -tInz or -teenz). Eccles. law. A collection of decretals of Pope Clement V, published in 1317 by his successor, Pope John XXII, and forming the fourth of the six parts of the Corpus Juris Canonici, completed in 1502. — Also termed Clementine Constitutions.

CLERGY, BENEFIT OF

clergy, benefit of. See BENEFIT OF CLERGY.

CLERGYABLE

clergyable, adj. Archaic. 1. (Of an offense) not triable if benefit of clergy is claimed. 2. (Of a person) eligible to claim benefit of clergy.

CLERGYMAN–PENITENT PRIVILEGE

clergyman–penitent privilege. See priest–penitent privilege under PRIVILEGE (3).

CLERGY PRIVILEGE

clergy privilege. See BENEFIT OF CLERGY(1).

CLERICALE PRIVILEGIUM

clericale privilegium (kler-⟨schwa⟩-kay-lee priv-⟨schwa⟩-lee-jee-⟨schwa⟩m). [Law Latin “clerical privilege”] See BENEFIT OF CLERGY.

CLERICAL ERROR

clerical error. See ERROR(2).

CLERICAL MISPRISION

clerical misprision. See MISPRISION.

CLERICI DE CANCELLARIA

clerici de cancellaria (kler-⟨schwa⟩-sI dee kan-s⟨schwa⟩-lair-ee-⟨schwa⟩). [Law Latin “clerks of the chancery”] Cursitors. — Also termed clerici de cursu. See CURSITOR.

CLERICI PRAENOTARII

clerici praenotarii (kler-⟨schwa⟩-sI pree-n⟨schwa⟩-tair-ee-I). [Law Latin “prenotary clerks”] See SIX CLERKS.

CLERICO CAPTO PER STATUTUM MERCATORIIUM clerico capto per statutum mercatorium. See DE CLERICO CAPTO PER STATUTUM MERCATORIIUM DELIBERANDO.

CLERICO CONVICTO COMMISSO GAOLAE IN DEFECTU ORDINARII DELIBERANDO

clerico convicto commisso gaolae in defectu ordinarii deliberando (kler-⟨schwa⟩-koh k⟨schwa⟩n-vik-toh k⟨schwa⟩-mis-oh jay-[⟨schwa⟩]-lee in di-fek-t[y]oo or-d⟨schwa⟩-nair-ee-I di-lib-⟨schwa⟩-ran-doh). [Law Latin “for delivering a cleric convicted and committed to gaol in defect of his ordinary”] Hist. A writ ordering the delivery of a clerk to the ordinary (i.e., a superior) after the clerk was convicted of a felony, and without the ordinary's questioning the clerk's right to claim benefit of clergy. — Also termed de clerico convicto commisso gaolae in defectu ordinarii deliberando. See ORDINARY(1); BENEFIT OF CLERGY(1).

CLERICO INFRA SACROS ORDINES CONSTITUTO NON ELIGENDO IN OFFICIUM<TT>

clerico infra sacros ordines constituto, non eligendo in officium. See DE CLERICO INFRA SACROS ORDINES CONSTITUTO, NON ELIGENDO IN OFFICIUM .

CLERICUS

clericus (kler-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin “clergyman”] Hist. 1. Eccles. law. A person in holy orders; a priest or deacon. 2. A court clerk or officer of the royal household. 3. AMANUENSIS.

CLERICUS MERCATI

clericus mercati (kler-<<schwa>>-k<<schwa>>s m<<schwa>>r-kay-tl). [Law Latin] See CLERK OF THE MARKET.

CLERK

clerk, n. 1. A public official whose duties include keeping records or accounts.

city clerk. A public official who records a city's official proceedings and vital statistics. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 170. C.J.S. Municipal Corporations §§ 391–405.]

town clerk. An officer who keeps the records, issues calls for town meetings, and performs the duties of a secretary to the town's political organization. [Cases: Towns 30. C.J.S. Towns §§ 120–125.]

2. A court officer responsible for filing papers, issuing process, and keeping records of court proceedings as generally specified by rule or statute. — Also termed clerk of court. [Cases: Clerks of Courts 1. C.J.S. Courts § 236.]

district clerk. The clerk of a district court within a state or federal system. See district court under COURT. [Cases: Clerks of Courts 1. C.J.S. Courts § 236.]

3. An employee who performs general office work. 4. A law student or recent law-school graduate who helps a lawyer or judge with legal research, writing, and other tasks. — Also termed law clerk; extern; or (depending on the time of year) summer clerk; summer associate. See INTERN. [Cases: Courts 55. C.J.S. Courts §§ 107–109.] 5. A lawyer who assists a judge with research, writing, and case management. — Also termed briefing attorney; research attorney; staff attorney. [Cases: Courts 55. C.J.S. Courts §§ 107–109.] “[M]odern American judging in all courts of national significance — the federal courts and the more prominent state appellate courts — staggers along despite the burden of bloated caseloads and the shortcomings of distinctly human judges only by the delegation of a great deal of the labor of judging to law clerks: subordinate, anonymous, but often quite powerful lawyers who function as the noncommissioned officers in the army of the judiciary.” John Bilyeu Oakley & Robert S. Thompson, Law Clerks and the Judicial Process 2 (1980).

6.Hist. A cleric.“Eventually the rule was established that ‘clerks’ of all kinds, who committed any of the serious crimes termed felonies, could be tried only in an ecclesiastical court, and therefore were only amenable to such punishments as that court could inflict. Any clerk accused of such crime was accordingly passed over to the bishop’s court. He was there tried before a jury of clerks by the oaths of twelve compurgators; a mode of trial which usually ensured him an acquittal.” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny’s Outlines of Criminal Law 75 (16th ed. 1952).

7.SECRETARY(3).

reading clerk.A legislative officer charged with reading bills to the body.

clerk,vb. To work as a clerk <she clerked for a Chicago law firm last summer>.

CLERK OF ARRAIGNS

clerk of arraigns (<<schwa>>-raynz).Hist. A deputy of the clerk of assize responsible for arraigning defendants and putting the formal questions to the jurors as they deliver their verdict. • The office was abolished in England in 1946.

CLERK OF ASSIZE

clerk of assize (<<schwa>>-sIz).Hist. An assize associate responsible for record-keeping and other clerical and administrative functions. See ASSOCIATE(3).

CLERK OF COURT

clerk of court.See CLERK(2).

CLERK OF ENROLLMENTS

clerk of enrollments.Hist. The former chief of the Enrollment Office, which the British Parliament abolished in 1879, reassigning its duties to the Central Office. See ENROLLMENT OFFICE; CENTRAL OFFICE.

CLERK OF INDICTMENT

clerk of indictment.Hist. An officer of England’s Central Criminal Court, responsible for preparing indictments and assisting the Clerk of Arraigns. • The office was abolished in 1946, when its duties were moved to the Central Office. See CENTRAL OFFICE.

CLERK OF NICHILS

Clerk of Nichils.See NICHIL.

CLERK OF RECORDS AND WRITS

clerk of records and writs.Hist. Officers of the English Court of Chancery responsible for filing documents and sealing bills of complaint and writs of execution. • The office was abolished in 1879, when its duties were moved to the Central Office. See CENTRAL OFFICE.

CLERK OF THE CORPORATION

clerk of the corporation. See SECRETARY(2).

CLERK OF THE CROWN IN CHANCERY

Clerk of the Crown in Chancery. The head of the permanent staff of the Crown Office in Chancery (of the Central Office), responsible for reading the title of Bills in the House of Lords, sending out writs of summons to peers, and issuing election writs.

CLERK OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Clerk of the House of Commons. An officer of the House of Commons who keeps the House journal, signs orders, indorses bills sent to the House of Lords, and has custody of all records. • The Clerk is appointed for life by the Crown.

CLERK OF THE MARKET

clerk of the market. Hist. The overseer of a public market, responsible for witnessing oral contracts, inquiring into weights and measures, measuring land, and settling disputes between people dealing there. • The office has become obsolete as a result of various statutes regulating weights and measures.

CLERK OF THE PARLIAMENTS

Clerk of the Parliaments. The principal permanent official of the House of Lords, responsible for the House's minutes and documents, and for advising the members on procedure.

CLERK OF THE PEACE

Clerk of the Peace. Hist. An officer of the Quarter Sessions responsible for maintaining the courts' records, preparing indictments, entering judgments, issuing process, and other clerical and administrative functions. • The office was abolished in England in 1971, when the Quarter Sessions' jurisdiction was transferred to the Crown Courts. See quarter session under SESSION(1).

CLERK OF THE PELLIS

Clerk of the Pells. Hist. An Exchequer officer who entered tellers' bills on the parchment rolls (pells), one for receipts and the other for disbursements. — Also termed Master of the Pells.

CLERK OF THE PIPE

Clerk of the Pipe. Hist. An Exchequer officer responsible for the Pipe Rolls. • The office was abolished in 1833. — Also termed Engrosser of the Great Roll. See PIPE ROLLS.

CLERK OF THE PRIVY SEAL

Clerk of the Privy Seal (priv-ee seal). Hist. An officer responsible for preparing documents for the Lord Privy Seal. • The use of the Privy Seal was abolished in 1884. See PRIVY SEAL.

CLERK OF THE SIGNET

Clerk of the Signet (sig-nit).Hist. An officer who kept the privy signet and attended the sovereign's principal secretary. • The signet was used to seal royal letters and other documents not requiring the Great Seal of the Realm. The office was abolished in England in 1851. See great seal (3) under SEAL; PRIVY SIGNET.

CLERKSHIP

clerkship. 1. A type of internship in which a law student or recent law-school graduate assists a lawyer or judge with legal writing, research, and other tasks. • In many common-law jurisdictions, recent law-school graduates are required to complete clerkships as a condition of admission to the bar. [Cases: Courts 55. C.J.S. Courts §§ 107–109.] 2.Hist. A law student's employment as an attorney's apprentice before gaining admission to the bar. • Until shortly before WWII, in many states a person could be admitted to the bar without attending law school merely by passing the bar exam.

CLERK'S RECORD

clerk's record.See RECORD(4).

CLICK-WRAP AGREEMENT

click-wrap agreement.See POINT-AND-CLICK AGREEMENT.

CLICK-WRAP LICENSE

click-wrap license.See POINT-AND-CLICK AGREEMENT.

CLIENS

cliens (kII-enz), n. [Latin “client”] Roman law. A dependent; a person who depended on another for defense in suits at law and other difficulties. • A cliens was often a freed slave or immigrant. Pl. clientes (kII-en-teez).

CLIENT

client,n. A person or entity that employs a professional for advice or help in that professional's line of work. — cliental,adj.

CLIENTELA

clientela (kII-<<schwa>>n-tee-l<<schwa>>), n. [Latin] Roman law. 1. Clientship; the relationship between a cliens and a patron. 2. A person's dependents.

CLIENT-SECURITY FUND

client-security fund.See FUND(1).

CLIENT'S PRIVILEGE

client's privilege.See attorney–client privilege under PRIVILEGE(3).

CLIENT STATE

client state. See STATE.

CLIENT TRUST ACCOUNT

client trust account. A bank account, usu. interest-bearing, in which a lawyer deposits money belonging to a client (e.g., money received from a client's debtor, from the settlement of a client's case, or from the client for later use in a business transaction). — Also termed trust account.

CLIFFORD TRUST

Clifford trust. See TRUST.

CLINCH

clinch, vb. Parliamentary law. To preclude further action on (an adopted motion or series of motions) by moving at once for reconsideration and then defeating that motion. • The clincher motion in a legislative body usu. takes the form of a motion to “reconsider and lay on the table [the motion to reconsider].” Since the motion has just been debated and passed, there are almost always enough votes to defeat a motion to reconsider. — clincher, n.

CLINICAL DIAGNOSIS

clinical diagnosis. See DIAGNOSIS.

CLINICAL LEGAL STUDIES

clinical legal studies. Law-school training in which students participate in actual cases under the supervision of a practicing attorney or law professor. • This training was first introduced in the late 1960s under the leadership of Gary Bellow and others. It provided law students with a substitute for traditional apprenticeship programs. — Often shortened to clinical studies. Cf. CLERKSHIP(1).

CLINICAL PNEUMOCONIOSIS

clinical pneumoconiosis. See PNEUMOCONIOSIS.

CLOG ON THE EQUITY OF REDEMPTION

clog on the equity of redemption. An agreement or condition that prevents a defaulting mortgagor from getting back the property free from encumbrance upon paying the debt or performing the obligation for which the security was given. See EQUITY OF REDEMPTION. [Cases: Mortgages 591(3). C.J.S. Mortgages §§ 997–998, 1000, 1003, 1005.]

CLOSE

close, n. 1. An enclosed portion of land. 2. The interest of a person in a particular piece of land, enclosed or not. 3. The final price of a stock at the end of the exchange's trading day.

close, vb. 1. To conclude; to bring to an end <the case was closed>. 2. To conclude discussion or negotiation about <close on a house>. See CLOSING.

CLOSE-CONNECTEDNESS DOCTRINE

close-connectedness doctrine. A doctrine used by some courts to deny an assignee of a negotiable note holder-in-due-course status if the assignee is too closely connected to the original holder-mortgagee. — Also termed close-connection doctrine. [Cases: Bills and Notes 341. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 177, 191.]

CLOSE CORPORATION

close corporation. See CORPORATION.

CLOSED

closed, adj. 1. (Of a class or organization) confined to a limited number  <nonunion workers were excluded from the closed shop>. 2. (Of a proceeding or gathering) conducted in secrecy  .

CLOSED ACCOUNT

closed account. See ACCOUNT.

CLOSED ADOPTION

closed adoption. See ADOPTION.

CLOSED CORPORATION

closed corporation. See close corporation under CORPORATION.

CLOSED COURT

closed court. 1. Hist. The English Court of Common Pleas, open only to serjeants-at-law. • The monopoly of the serjeants-at-law was abolished in 1845. 2. See closed session (3) under SESSION(1).

CLOSE DEBATE

close debate. Parliamentary law. To pass a motion that ends debate and amendment of a pending question or series of questions. • The synonymous shorthand “previous question,” a somewhat archaic and misleading term that several parliamentary manuals still use for this motion, has evolved over time. Two centuries ago, the motion was invented for suppressing an undesirable debate: if the original form — “Shall the main question be put?” — passed in the negative, then the body immediately stopped considering the pending question. The motion's form later became “that the main question shall now be put,” which if passed in the affirmative brought the pending question to an immediate vote, and if passed in the negative had no effect. — Also termed vote immediately. See CLOTURE. Cf. EXTEND DEBATE; LIMIT DEBATE.

CLOSED-ENDED CLAIM

closed-ended claim. See PATENT CLAIM.

CLOSED-END FUND

closed-end fund. See MUTUAL FUND.

CLOSED-END MORTGAGE

closed-end mortgage. See MORTGAGE.

CLOSED-END MORTGAGE BOND

closed-end mortgage bond. See BOND(3).

CLOSED INSURANCE CONTRACT

closed insurance contract. See closed policy under INSURANCE POLICY.

CLOSED MORTGAGE

closed mortgage. See closed-end mortgage under MORTGAGE.

CLOSED NONUNION SHOP

closed nonunion shop. See SHOP.

CLOSED POLICY

closed policy. See INSURANCE POLICY.

CLOSED SESSION

closed session. See SESSION(1).

CLOSED SHOP

closed shop. See SHOP.

CLOSED-SHOP CONTRACT

closed-shop contract. A labor agreement requiring an employer to hire and retain only union members and to discharge nonunion members. See closed shop under SHOP. [Cases: Labor Relations 251. C.J.S. Labor Relations §§ 10, 230–231, 233, 235–238.]

CLOSED SOURCE

closed source, adj. Of or related to software that does not include the source code and cannot be modified without either damaging the program or violating the software developer's ownership rights. • Proprietary software is usu. closed source.

CLOSED TESTAMENT

closed testament. See mystic will under WILL.

CLOSED TRANSACTION

closed transaction. See TRANSACTION.

CLOSED TRIAL

closed trial. See TRIAL.

CLOSED UNION

closed union. See UNION.

CLOSED UNION SHOP

closed union shop. See closed shop under SHOP.

CLOSED WILL

closed will. See mystic will under WILL.

CLOSE-JAIL EXECUTION

close-jail execution. See EXECUTION.

CLOSELY HELD CORPORATION

closely held corporation. See close corporation under CORPORATION.

CLOSE-NEXUS TEST

close-nexus test. See NEXUS TEST.

CLOSE NOMINATIONS

close nominations. Parliamentary law. To end nominations from the floor by passing a motion.

CLOSE ROLLS

close rolls. See CLAUSE ROLLS.

CLOSE WRIT

close writ. See WRIT.

CLOSING

closing. The final meeting between the parties to a transaction, at which the transaction is consummated; esp., in real estate, the final transaction between the buyer and seller, whereby the conveyancing documents are concluded and the money and property transferred. — Also termed settlement.

CLOSING AGREEMENT

closing agreement. See AGREEMENT.

CLOSING ARGUMENT

closing argument. In a trial, a lawyer's final statement to the judge or jury before deliberation begins, in which the lawyer requests the judge or jury to consider the evidence and to apply the law in his or her client's favor. • After a jury trial, the judge ordinarily instructs the jury on the law that governs the case. — Also termed closing statement; final argument; jury summation; summing up; summation. [Cases: Criminal Law 708.1; Federal Civil Procedure 1973; Trial

111. C.J.S. Trial §§ 293–294.]

CLOSING COSTS

closing costs. Real estate. The expenses that must be paid, usu. in a lump sum at closing, apart from the purchase price and interest.

CLOSING OF ESTATE

closing of estate. Wills & estates. The completion of the administration of a decedent's estate, brought about by the administrator's distribution of estate assets, payment of taxes, and filing of necessary accounts with the probate court.

CLOSING PRICE

closing price. See PRICE.

CLOSING STATEMENT

closing statement. 1. CLOSING ARGUMENT. 2. A written breakdown of the costs involved in a particular real-estate transaction, usu. prepared by a lender or an escrow agent. — Also termed settlement sheet; settlement statement.

CLOSURE

closure. See CLOTURE.

CLOTURE

cloture (kloh-ch<<schwa>>r), n. The procedure of ending debate in a legislative body and calling for an immediate vote. — Also spelled closure. [Cases: United States 18. C.J.S. United States §§ 29, 31.] — cloture, vb.

CLOUD ON TITLE

cloud on title. A defect or potential defect in the owner's title to a piece of land arising from some claim or encumbrance, such as a lien, an easement, or a court order. See action to quiet title under ACTION(4). [Cases: Quieting Title 7. C.J.S. Quieting Title § 12.]

CLS

CLS. abbr. CRITICAL LEGAL STUDIES.

CLSER

CLSer. See CRIT.

CLU

CLU. See chartered life underwriter under UNDERWRITER.

CLUB FED

Club Fed. Slang. A low-security federal prison, usu. for white-collar criminals, that has a comparatively informal, relaxed atmosphere and, reputedly, luxury facilities. • Some sources claim that “Club Fed” prisons offer weight-lifting equipment, tennis courts, cable television, computers, musical instruments, and even miniature golf.

CLUB-LAW

club-law. Government by clubs (big sticks) or violence; the use of illegal force in place of law.

CLUSTER ZONING

cluster zoning. See ZONING.

CMO

CMO. abbr. 1. CASE-MANAGEMENT ORDER. 2. COLLATERALIZED MORTGAGE OBLIGATION.

CMR

CMR. abbr. 1. Court of Military Review. See COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEALS(1). 2. COURT-MARTIAL REPORTS.

CN

CN. abbr. Code Napoléan. See NAPOLEONIC CODE(1).

CO-

co-, prefix. Jointly or together with <coowner> <codefendant>.

CO.

co. abbr. (usu. cap.) 1. COMPANY. 2. COUNTY.

C/O

c/o. abbr. Care of.

COA

COA. abbr. 1. CONTRACT OF AFFREIGHTMENT. 2. CERTIFICATE OF APPEALABILITY.

COADJUTOR

coadjutor (koh-<<schwa>>-joo-t<<schwa>>r or koh-aj-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r), n. A coworker or assistant, esp. one appointed to assist a bishop who, because of age or infirmity, is unable to perform all duties of the office. — coadjutor, adj.

CO-ADMINISTRATOR

co-administrator. Wills & estates. A person appointed to jointly administer an estate with one or more other administrators.

CO-ADVENTURER

co-adventurer. See COVENTURER.

CO-AGENT

co-agent. See AGENT(2).

COAL NOTE

coal note. See NOTE(1).

COAL NOTICE

coal notice. In Pennsylvania, a notice that must be included in deeds and other instruments relating to the sale of surface property (excepting mortgages or quitclaim deeds) detailing any severance of the ownership of coal under the land.

COASE THEOREM

Coase Theorem (kōhs). An economic proposition describing the relationship between legal rules about entitlements and economic efficiency. • The theorem, innovated by Ronald Coase, holds that if there are no transaction costs — such as the costs of bargaining or acquiring information — then any legal rule will produce an efficient result. Coase's seminal article was The Problem of Social Cost, 3 J. Law & Econ. 1 (1960).

“Nothing is more central to the study of law and economics nor more responsible for its growth than the Coase Theorem. What the Coase Theorem says, in effect, is that in many instances, the assignment of rights by courts or legal authorities may have little to do with who eventually possesses those rights. In the words of Mark Kelman, ‘the market, like an untameable river, will knock out attempts to alter its mighty course.’ ” Jeffrey L. Harrison, Law and Economics in a Nutshell 56 (1995).

CO-ASSIGNEE

co-assignee. A person who, along with one or more others, is an assignee of the same subject matter. [Cases: Assignments 32. C.J.S. Assignments § 44.]

COASTAL-STATE CONTROL

coastal-state control. Maritime law. The exercise of authority under international conventions for a state to stop, board, inspect, and when necessary detain vessels that are under foreign flags while they are navigating in the coastal state's territorial waters. • The purpose is to ensure the safety of the vessels and to enforce environmental regulations. Cf. FLAG-STATE CONTROL; PORT-STATE CONTROL.

COAST GUARD JURISDICTION

Coast Guard jurisdiction. The law-enforcement authority of the United States Coast Guard over the high seas and navigable waters over which the United States has jurisdiction, including the powers of stopping, searching, and seizing property, and arresting persons. See UNITED STATES COAST GUARD.

COASTING TRADE

coasting trade. Maritime law. Commerce among different coastal ports or navigable rivers of the United States, in contrast to commerce carried on between nations. — Also termed coastwise trade. [Cases: Shipping 14. C.J.S. Shipping § 4.]

COAST WATER

coast water. See WATER.

COASTWISE TRADE

coastwise trade. See COASTING TRADE.

COB CLAUSE

COB clause. Insurance. A coordination-of-benefits clause, which provides that the total sums paid for medical and hospital care will not exceed the benefits receivable from all combined sources of insurance. [Cases: Insurance 2525(1). C.J.S. Insurance § 930.]

COBRA

COBRA (koh-br<<schwa>>). abbr. CONSOLIDATED OMNIBUS BUDGET RECONCILIATION ACT OF 1985.

COCONSPIRATOR

coconspirator. A person who engages in a criminal conspiracy with another; a fellow conspirator. — Also spelled co-conspirator. See CONSPIRATOR. [Cases: Conspiracy 1.1, 23.1, 39. C.J.S. Conspiracy §§ 2–3, 8, 14–17, 98, 100–103, 110, 134, 137.]

unindicted coconspirator. A person who has been identified by law enforcement as a member of a conspiracy, but who has not been named in the fellow conspirator's indictment. • Prosecutors typically name someone an unindicted coconspirator because any statement that the unindicted coconspirator has made in the course and furtherance of the conspiracy is admissible against the indicted defendants. — Also termed unindicted conspirator.

COCONSPIRATOR'S EXCEPTION

coconspirator's exception. An exception to the hearsay rule whereby one conspirator's acts and statements, if made during and in furtherance of the conspiracy, are admissible against a defendant even if the statements are made in the defendant's absence. See Fed. R. Evid. 801(d)(2)(E). — Also termed coconspirator's rule. See HEARSAY. [Cases: Criminal Law 422–428; Evidence 253. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 972–977, 979–997; Evidence § 452.]

C.O.D.

C.O.D. abbr. 1. Cash on delivery; collect on delivery. • By consenting to this delivery term, the buyer agrees to pay simultaneously with delivery and appoints the carrier as the buyer's agent to receive and transmit the payment to the seller. With C.O.D. contracts, the practice of carriers has traditionally been to disallow inspection before payment. [Cases: Sales 82(3).] 2. Costs on delivery. 3. Cash on demand. — Sometimes written c.o.d.

CODA

CODA.abbr.CASH OR DEFERRED ARRANGEMENT.

CODE

code. 1. A complete system of positive law, carefully arranged and officially promulgated; a systematic collection or revision of laws, rules, or regulations <the Uniform Commercial Code>. • Strictly, a code is a compilation not just of existing statutes, but also of much of the unwritten law on a subject, which is newly enacted as a complete system of law. — Also termed consolidated laws. See CODIFICATION.

“A code is not only a collection of the existing statutory law, but also of much of the unwritten law on any subject, and is composed partly of such materials as might be at hand from all sources — from statutes, cases, and from customs — supplemented by such amendments, alterations, and additions as are deemed by the codifiers necessary to harmonize and perfect the existing system. In fact, in making a code, new laws may be added and old laws repealed in order to constitute a complete system.” William M. Lile et al., Brief Making and the Use of Law Books 18–19 (3d ed. 1914).

2. (usu. cap.) The collection of laws and constitutions made by order of the Roman Emperor Justinian and first authoritatively published in A.D. 529 (with a second edition in 534). • Contained in 12 books, the Code is one of four works that make up what is now called the Corpus Juris Civilis. — Also termed (in sense 2) Legal Code. See CODEX; CORPUS JURIS CIVILIS.

CODE CIVIL

Code Civil.The code embodying the civil law of France, dating from 1804. • It was first known as the Code civil des français to distinguish it from the other four codes promoted by Napoleon. From 1807 to 1816 it was called Code Napoléon, a title that was restored by a decree of Louis Napoleon. Since 1870, French statutes have consistently referred simply to the code civil. Cf. NAPOLEONIC CODE. See CIVIL CODE(1).

CODED COMMUNICATIONS

coded communications.Messages that are encoded or enciphered by some method of transposition or substitution so that they become unintelligible to anyone who does not have the key to the code or cipher.

CODE DE COMMERCE

Code de commerce (kohd d<<schwa>> kaw-mairs). A codification of French commercial law, enacted in 1807, dealing with commercial transactions, bankruptcy, and the jurisdiction and procedure of the courts handling these subjects. • This code supplemented the Code Napoléon. See NAPOLEONIC CODE.

CODE DE PROCÉDURE CIVIL

Code de procédure civil (kohd d<<schwa>> praw-se-door see-veel). A French civil-procedure code, enacted in 1806 and appended to the Code Napoléon. See NAPOLEONIC CODE.

CODE D'INSTRUCTION CRIMINELLE

Code d'instruction criminelle (kohd dan-struuk-see-awn kri-mi-nel). A French criminal-procedure code, enacted in 1811 and appended to the Code Napoléon. See NAPOLEONIC CODE.

CODEFENDANT

codefendant. One of two or more defendants sued in the same litigation or charged with the same crime. — Also termed joint defendant. Cf. COMPLAINTIFF.

CODE NAPOLÉON

Code Napoléon (kohd na-poh-lay-awn). See NAPOLEONIC CODE.

CODE NOIR

Code Noir (kohd nwahr). [French “black code”] Hist. A body of laws issued by Louis XIV and applied in French colonies. • The Code regulated slavery and banned Jews and non-Catholic religious practices from the colonies.

CODE OF CONDUCT

code of conduct. A written set of rules governing the behavior of a specified group, such as lawyers, government employees, or corporate employees. [Cases: Attorney and Client 32(2); Officers and Public Employees 110. C.J.S. Attorney and Client § 44; Officers and Public Employees §§ 234–245.]

CODE OF FEDERAL REGULATIONS

Code of Federal Regulations. The annual collection of executive-agency regulations published in the daily Federal Register, combined with previously issued regulations that are still in effect. — Abbr. CFR. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 407. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure § 113.]

CODE OF HAMMURABI

Code of Hammurabi (hah-m<<schwa>>-rah-bee or ham-<<schwa>>-). The oldest known written legal code, produced in Mesopotamia during the rule of Hammurabi (who reigned from 1792 to 1750 B.C.). • The code consisted of nearly 300 provisions, arranged under headings such as family, trade, real property, personal property, and labor.

CODE OF JUDICIAL CONDUCT

Code of Judicial Conduct. The body of standards governing the professional ethics and behavior of judges. • The American Bar Association drafted a Model Code of Judicial Conduct and formally adopted it in 1972. In 1973, the U.S. Judicial Conference used the code as the basis for the Code of Conduct for United States Judges. Portions of the code are also found in federal law (see, e.g., 28 USCA § 455). The 1972 ABA Code has been superseded by the 1990 ABA Model Code of Judicial Conduct. Each state has a code of judicial conduct, based on the 1972 or 1990 model code or a blend of both. A state's highest court is responsible for drafting and enacting the code. — Abbr. CJC.

CODE OF JUSTINIAN

Code of Justinian.See JUSTINIAN CODE.

CODE OF MILITARY JUSTICE

Code of Military Justice.The collection of substantive and procedural rules governing the discipline of members of the armed forces.10 USCA §§ 801 et seq. — Also termed Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ). [Cases: Armed Services 42.1; Military Justice 502. C.J.S. Military Justice § 3.]

CODE OF PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Code of Professional Responsibility.See MODEL CODE OF PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY .

CODE OF WAR

code of war.Legal rules that regulate international armed conflict. • A code of war may arise from many sources, including custom, treaties, scholarly writings, and domestic legislation. One of the earliest known treatises on rules governing the conduct of war was written by Sun Tzu in the 4th century B.C.

CODE PÉNAL

Code pénal (kohd pay-nal). The fourth of five codes promoted by Napoleon, enacted in 1810, setting forth the penal code of France. See NAPOLEONIC CODE.

CODE PLEADING

code pleading.See PLEADING(2).

CODE STATE

code state.Hist. A state that, at a given time, had already procedurally merged law and equity, so that equity was no longer administered as a separate system; a state in which there is only one form of civil action. • This term was current primarily in the early to mid-20th century. Cf. NONCODE STATE .

CODEX

codex (koh-deks). [Latin] Archaic. 1. A code, esp. the Justinian Code. 2. A book written on paper or parchment; esp., a volume of an ancient text.

CODEX GREGORIANUS

Codex Gregorianus (koh-deks gri-gor-ee-ay-n<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Roman law. A collection of imperial con-stitutions compiled by the Roman jurist Gregorius and published in A.D. 291. — Also termed Gregorian Code.

“The imperial enactments, rapidly increasing in number, covering, at hazard, the whole range of law, and, by reason of difficulties of communication and imperfect methods of promulgation, not always readily ascertainable, created a burden for the practitioner almost as great as that of the unmanageable juristic literature. Something was done to help him by two collections published privately about the end of the third century, the Codex Gregorianus and Codex Hermogenianus. These collections do not now exist: what is known of them is from citations in later literature....” W.W. Buckland, A Manual of Roman Private Law 20–21 (2d ed. 1939).

CODEX HERMOGENIANUS

Codex Hermogenianus (koh-deks h<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>-jee-nee-ay-n<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Roman law. A collection of imperial constitutions compiled by the Roman jurist Hermogenianus and published in A.D. 295. • The Codex Hermogenianus supplemented the Codex Gregorianus. — Also termed Hermogenian Code.

CODEX JUSTINIANUS

Codex Justinianus. See JUSTINIAN CODE.

CODEX REPETITAE PRAELECTIONIS

Codex Repetitae Praelectionis (koh-deks rep-<<schwa>>-tl-tee pri-lek-shee-oh-nis). [Latin “code of the resumed reading”] Roman law. See JUSTINIAN CODE.

“By the time when the Digest and Institutes had been completed it was obvious that the Codex, published little more than four years earlier, was incomplete, since in the interval Justinian ... had promulgated other new con-stitutions. Tribonian, therefore, was appointed to revise the Code, so as to bring it fully up to date, and at the end of the year A.D. 534 this new Code, known as the Codex Repetitae Praelectionis, was promulgated, and is the only Code which survives to the present day. Justinian seems to have laboured under the erroneous impression that the system he had framed would be adequate for all time. But as there is nothing static about law, further legislative enactments, termed Novellae Constitutiones, were issued during his reign.... In modern times Justinian's various compilations came to be called collectively the Corpus Juris Civilis: the Corpus being regarded as a single work, made up of the Institutes, the Digest, the Codex Repetitae Praelectionis, and the Novels.” R.W. Leage, Roman Private Law 44 (C.H. Ziegler ed., 2d ed. 1930).

CODEX THEODOSIANUS

Codex Theodosianus (koh-deks thee-<<schwa>>-doh-shee-ay-n<<schwa>>s). [Latin] See THEODOSIAN CODE.

CODICIL

codicil (kod-<<schwa>>-s<<schwa>>l or -sil). A supplement or addition to a will, not necessarily disposing of the entire estate but modifying, explaining, or otherwise qualifying the will in some way. • When admitted to probate, the codicil becomes a part of the will. [Cases: Wills 99.C.J.S. Wills § 214.]

“A Schedule or supplement to a Will, or some other writing; some Writers, conferring a Testament, and a Codicil together, call a Testament a great Will, and a Codicil a little one; and compare a Testament to a Ship, and the Codicil to the Boat tied to the Ship.” Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary (1670).

“A codicil, from codicillus, a small codex, a little book or writing, may be defined as a writing by the testator intended as a supplement or addition to his will, the effect of which may be either to enlarge or restrict it, or to annul or revoke it altogether. It may add to or subtract from provisions of the will, may explain or alter, confirm or revoke them wholly or in part; or, when the will itself is invalid, may by a valid re-execution and republication revive and renew the will.” 1 H.C. Underhill, A Treatise on the Law of Wills § 7, at 11 (1900).

CODICILLARY

codicillary (kod-<<schwa>>-sil<<schwa>>-ree), adj. Of or relating to a codicil.

CODICILLUS

codicillus (kod-<<schwa>>-sil<<schwa>>s), n. [Latin “little document”] Roman law. 1. An informal document instructing an heir to carry out a certain performance, usu. the payment of money or the transfer of property to a third person. • During the reign of Augustus (27 B.C.–A.D. 14), directives (fideicommissa) contained in codicilli became legally binding. See FIDEICOMMISSUM. 2. An imperially granted appointment or special privilege.

CODIFICATION

codification (kod-<<schwa>>-fi-kay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The process of compiling, arranging, and systema-tizing the laws of a given jurisdiction, or of a discrete branch of the law, into an ordered code. 2. The code that results from this process. [Cases: Statutes 144–148, 231. C.J.S. Statutes §§ 266–275, 374–375.] — codify (kod-<<schwa>>-fl), vb. — codifier (kod-<<schwa>>-fl<<schwa>>r), n.

CODIFYING STATUTE

codifying statute. See STATUTE.

COEFFICIENT CLAUSE

Coefficient Clause. See NECESSARY AND PROPER CLAUSE.

COEMPTIO

coemptio (koh-emp-shee-oh), n. [Latin] Roman law. A form of civil marriage in which the husband “purchased” from a woman's father — by fictitious sale — the right to exercise marital power (manus) over the woman. • The father conveyed his daughter to her husband through the technical procedure of a sale of res mancipi. The imaginary sale took place in the presence of five adult Roman citizens and a balance-holder (libripens). The husband or fictitious purchaser was termed the coemptionator or coemptior. The importance of coemptio as a method of civil marriage had faded by the end of the Republic period. Pl. coemptiones (koh-emp-shee-oh-nee-z). Cf. CONFARREATIO; USUS(3).

COEMPTION

coemption (koh-emp-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The act of purchasing the entire quantity of any commodity. 2.COEMPTIO. — coemptional, coemptive,adj.

COERCE

coerce (koh-<<schwa>>rs), vb. To compel by force or threat <coerce a confession>.

COERCED CONFESSION

coerced confession.See CONFESSION.

COERCION

coercion (koh-<<schwa>>r-zh<<schwa>>n), n.1. Compulsion by physical force or threat of physical force. • An act such as signing a will is not legally valid if done under coercion. And since a valid marriage requires voluntary consent, coercion or duress is grounds for invalidating a marriage.

criminal coercion.Coercion intended to restrict another's freedom of action by: (1) threatening to commit a criminal act against that person; (2) threatening to accuse that person of having committed a criminal act; (3) threatening to expose a secret that either would subject the victim to hatred, contempt, or ridicule or would impair the victim's credit or goodwill; or (4) taking or withholding official action or causing an official to take or withhold action. [Cases: Extortion and Threats 1, 25.1. C.J.S. Threats and Unlawful Communications §§ 2–20.]

implied coercion.See UNDUE INFLUENCE(1).

moral coercion.See UNDUE INFLUENCE(1).

2. Conduct that constitutes the improper use of economic power to compel another to submit to the wishes of one who wields it. — Also termed economic coercion. 3.Hist. A husband's actual or supposed control or influence over his wife's actions. • Under the common-law doctrine of coercion, a wife who committed a crime in her husband's presence was presumed to have been coerced by him and thus had a complete defense. Courts have abolished this doctrine. — Also termed doctrine of coercion. — coercive,adj. — coercer,n.“Although as an abstract statement any action or restraint imposed upon one by another may be spoken of as coercion, there has been a tendency in the criminal law to employ the word ‘compulsion’ for the general field and to reserve the word ‘coercion’ to indicate the exercise of such influence (actual or presumed) over a married woman by her husband. And since the latter is not merely a specific instance of the former, but is something which differs from it in kind so far as common-law consequences are concerned, there are important reasons for retaining this difference in the meaning to be assigned to these terms.”

Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 1018 (3d ed. 1982).

COERCIVE RELIEF

coercive relief. See RELIEF.

COEXECUTOR

coexecutor (koh-eg-zek-y<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r). See joint executor under EXECUTOR.

COEXISTENCE

coexistence. Int'l law. The peaceful continuation of nations, peoples, or other entities or groups within an effective political-military equilibrium.

COEXISTING MOTION

coexisting motion. See MOTION(2).

COGENT

cogent (koh-j<<schwa>>nt), adj. Compelling or convincing <cogent reasoning>. — cogency, n.

COGNATE

cognate, adj. See COGNATIC.

cognate, n. One who is kin to another. • In Roman law, the term means a blood relationship and implies that the kinship derives from a lawful marriage. In Scots and later civil law, the term implies kinship from the mother's side. Cf. AGNATE.

COGNATE NUISANCE

cognate nuisance. See NUISANCE.

COGNATE OFFENSE

cognate offense. See OFFENSE(1).

COGNATI

cognati. See COGNATUS.

COGNATIC

cognatic (kog-nat-ik), adj. (Of a relationship) existing between cognates. — Also termed cognate.

COGNATIO

cognatio (kog-nay-shee-oh), n. [Latin] Roman law. The relationship between people having a common ancestor; a blood relationship; cognates. Cf. AGNATIO.

COGNATION

cognation (kog-nay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. Relationship by blood rather than by marriage; relationship arising through common descent from the same man and woman, whether the descent is traced through males or females.

“ ‘Cognition’ is ... a relative term, and the degree of connexion in blood which it indicates depends on the particular marriage which is selected as the commencement of the calculation.” Henry S. Maine, Ancient Law 122 (17th ed. 1901).

2.Civil law. A relationship existing between two people by blood, by family, or by both.

civil cognition.A relationship arising by law, such as that created by adoption.

mixed cognition.A relationship that combines the ties of blood and family, such as that existing between brothers who are born of the same marriage.

natural cognition.A blood relationship, usu. arising from an illicit connection.

3. Relationship between persons or things of the same or similar nature; likeness.

COGNATUS

cognatus (kog-nay-t<<schwa>>s), n. & adj.[Latin] Roman law. A cognatic relative; a person related to another by a common ancestor. — Also termed cognate. Cf. AGNATUS. Pl. cognati.

COGNITIO

cognitio (kog-nish-ee-oh), n. [fr. Latin cognoscere “to know”] 1.Hist. The acknowledgment of a fine, or the certificate of such an acknowledgment. 2.Roman law. See COGNITIO EXTRAORDINARIA. Pl. cognitiones (kog-nish-ee-oh-nee-z).

COGNITIO EXTRAORDINARIA

cognitio extraordinaria (kog-nish-ee-oh ek-stror-di-nair-ee-<<schwa>> or ek-str<<schwa>>-or-). [Latin] Roman law. A type of legal proceeding, arising at the beginning of the Empire, in which a government official controlled the conduct of a trial from beginning to end, as opposed to the earlier formulary system in which a magistrate shaped the issues and then turned the issues of fact and law over to a lay judge (a judex). — Sometimes shortened to cognitio. — Also termed cognitio extra ordinem (kog-nish-ee-oh ek-str<<schwa>> or-d<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>m).

“The cognitio extra ordinem or cognitio extraordinaria is a collective name for all those legal procedures in which the trial consists of one stage only and in which judgment is given by the emperor or by an imperial official acting on behalf of the emperor. The disputes that were settled by means of the cognition procedure could be of very different kinds: not only could they be about matters concerning private law and criminal law, but they could also be disputes between citizens and government officials.” Olga Tellegen-Couperus, A Short History of Roman Law 90 (1993).

COGNITIONIBUS MITTENDIS

cognitionibus mittendis (kog-nish-ee-oh-n<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>s mi-ten-dis). [Latin “cognizance of pleas to be released”] Hist. A writ ordering a justice of the Common Pleas to certify a fine that the justice had imposed but refused to certify.

COGNITIONIS CAUSA TANTUM

cognitionis causa tantum (kog-nish-ee-oh-nis kaw-z<<schwa>> tan-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “for the purpose of ascertaining a debt against the estate”] Scots law. A creditor's action against a deceased debtor's estate to ascertain the amount of the debt.

COGNITIVE TEST

cognitive test. Criminal law. A test of the defendant's ability to know certain things, specif., the nature of his or her conduct and whether the conduct was right or wrong. • This test is used in assessing whether a defendant may rely on an insanity defense. [Cases: Criminal Law 48.]

COGNITOR

cognitor (kog-ni-tor), n. Roman law. A person formally appointed to represent another in a civil trial. Cf. PROCURATOR(1).

COGNIZABLE

cognizable (kog-ni- or kog-nI-z<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj. 1. Capable of being known or recognized <for purposes of establishing standing, a plaintiff must allege a judicially cognizable injury>. 2. Capable of being identified as a group because of a common characteristic or interest that cannot be represented by others <American Indians qualify as a cognizable group for jury-selection purposes>. 3. Capable of being judicially tried or examined before a designated tribunal; within the court's jurisdiction <the tort claims are not cognizable under the consumer-protection statute>.

COGNIZANCE

cognizance (kog-ni-z<<schwa>>ns), n. 1. A court's right and power to try and to determine cases; JURISDICTION. [Cases: Courts 2. C.J.S. Courts § 16–17.] 2. The taking of judicial or authoritative notice. [Cases: Evidence 1. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 8–11, 106.] 3. Acknowledgment or admission of an alleged fact; esp. (hist.), acknowledgment of a fine. See FINE(1); FINE SUR COGNIZANCE DE DROIT. 4. Common-law pleading. In a replevin action, a plea by the defendant that the goods are held in bailment for another. Cf. AVOWRY. [Cases: Replevin 64.]

COGNIZEE

cognizee (kog-ni-zee). Hist. The grantee of land in a conveyance by fine. — Also termed conusee; conuzee. See FINE(1).

COGNIZOR

cognizor (kog-ni-z<<schwa>>r or -zor). Hist. The grantor of land in a conveyance by fine. — Also termed conusor; conuzor. See FINE(1).

“Next comes the concord, or agreement itself, after leave obtained from the court; which is usually an acknowledgment ... that the lands in question are the right of the complainant. And from this acknowledgment, or recognition of right, the party levying the fine is called the cognizor, and he to whom it is levied the cognizee.” 2 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 350–51 (1766).

COGNOVIT

cognovit (kog-noh-vit). [Latin “he has conceded (a debt or an action)”] An acknowledgment of debt or liability in the form of a confessed judgment. • Formerly, credit contracts often included a cognovit clause in which the consumer relinquished, in advance, any right to be notified of court hearings in any suit for nonpayment — but such clauses are now generally illegal. See CONFESSION OF JUDGMENT. Cf. WARRANT OF ATTORNEY. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2396; Judgment 54. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 140, 143–144, 170.]

“A cognovit is an instrument signed by a defendant in an action actually commenced confessing the plaintiff's demand to be just, and empowering the plaintiff to sign judgment against him in default of his paying the plaintiff the sum due to him within the time mentioned in the cognovit.” John Indermaur, Principles of the Common Law 8 (Edmund H. Bennett ed., 1st Am. ed. 1878).

COGNOVIT ACTIONEM

cognovit actionem (kog-noh-vit ak-shee-oh-n<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin “he has confessed the action”] A de-fendant's written acknowledgment of the plaintiff's claim, authorizing the plaintiff to take a judgment for a named sum; a cognovit.

COGNOVIT CLAUSE

cognovit clause. A contractual provision by which a debtor agrees to jurisdiction in certain courts, waives notice requirements, and authorizes the entry of an adverse judgment in the event of a default or breach. • Cognovit clauses are outlawed or restricted in most states. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2396; Judgment 54. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 140, 143–144, 170.]

COGNOVIT JUDGMENT

cognovit judgment. See JUDGMENT.

COGNOVIT NOTE

cognovit note. A promissory note containing a cognovit clause. — Also termed judgment note. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2396; Judgment 54. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 140, 143–144, 170.]

COGSA

COGSA. 1. abbr. CARRIAGE OF GOODS BY SEA ACT. 2. Maritime law. A country's enactment of the inter-national convention popularly known as the Hague Rules. • The acronym is used even when the country's statute has a different title; for example, the Canadian Carriage of Goods by Water Act is referred to as the “Canadian COGSA.”

COHABITATION

cohabitation (koh-hab-<<schwa>>-tay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. The fact or state of living together, esp. as partners in life, usu. with the suggestion of sexual relations. [Cases: Marriage 13, 22. C.J.S. Marriage §§ 10, 19–20, 24–25.] — cohabit (koh-hab-it), vb. — cohabitative (koh-hab-<<schwa>>-tay-tiv), adj. — cohabitant (koh-hab-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>nt), cohabitor (koh-hab-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r), n.

illicit cohabitation. 1. The offense committed by an unmarried man and woman who live together as husband and wife and engage in sexual intercourse. • This offense, where it still exists, is seldom prosecuted. 2. The condition of a man and a woman who are not married to one another and live together in circumstances that make the arrangement questionable on grounds of social propriety, though not necessarily illegal. — Also termed lascivious cohabitation; lewd and lascivious cohabitation. Cf. FORNICATION. [Cases: Criminal Law 45.40; Lewd-ness 1. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 7.10; Lewdness §§ 2–9.]

lascivious cohabitation. See illicit cohabitation.

matrimonial cohabitation. The living together of husband and wife.

notorious cohabitation. Archaic. Illicit cohabitation in which the parties make no attempt to hide their living arrangements. — Also termed open and notorious cohabitation. See illicit cohabitation. [Cases: Lewdness 1. C.J.S. Lewdness §§ 2–9.]

COHABITATION AGREEMENT

cohabitation agreement. A contract outlining the property and financial arrangements between persons who live together. — Also termed living-together agreement. Cf. PRENUPTIAL AGREEMENT.

COHABITING UNMARRIED PERSON OF THE OPPOSITE SEX

cohabiting unmarried person of the opposite sex. See CUPOS.

COHAN<TT> RULE

Cohan rule (koh-han). Tax. A former rule that a taxpayer may approximate travel and entertainment expenses when no records exist if the taxpayer has taken all possible steps to provide documentation. • Since 1962, travel and entertainment expenses have been only partly deductible and must be carefully documented, but courts may apply the Cohan reasoning to other items. Cohan v. Commissioner, 39 F.2d 540 (2d Cir. 1930). [Cases: Internal Revenue 3377, 4536. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 647, 671, 673, 799.]

COHEIR

coheir (koh-air). See HEIR.

COHEIRESS

coheiress (koh-air-is). Hist. A female coheir.

COHEN<TT> DOCTRINE

Cohen doctrine (koh-<<schwa>>n). See COLLATERAL-ORDER DOCTRINE.

COHERES

coheres (koh-heer-eez), n. Roman law. A coheir. Pl. coheredes (koh-heer-<< schwa>>-deez).

COHORT ANALYSIS

cohort analysis (koh-hort). A method of measuring discrimination in the workplace by comparing, at several points in time, the pay and promotions of employees of different cognizable groups. • Cohort analyses are often used in employment-discrimination cases. [Cases: Civil Rights 1543. C.J.S. Civil Rights § 170.]

COIF

coif (koyf).1. A white linen headpiece formerly worn by serjeants-at-law (barristers of high standing) in com-mon-law courts. 2. The rank or order of serjeants-at-law. See ORDER OF THE COIF.

COINAGE CLAUSE

Coinage Clause.The provision in the U.S. Constitution (art. I, § 8, cl. 5) granting to Congress the power to coin money. [Cases: United States 34. C.J.S. United States §§ 162–163.]

COINCIDENT INDICATOR

coincident indicator.See INDICATOR.

COINDICTEE

coindictee. One of two or more persons who have been jointly indicted. See joint indictment under INDICTMENT.

COINED MARK

coined mark.See fanciful trademark under TRADEMARK.

COINED-NAME CLAIM

coined-name claim.See PATENT CLAIM.

COINED TERM

coined term.See fanciful trademark under TRADEMARK.

COINED TRADEMARK

coined trademark.See fanciful trademark under TRADEMARK.

COINSURANCE

coinsurance. See INSURANCE.

COINSURANCE CLAUSE

coinsurance clause. A provision in an insurance policy requiring a property owner to carry separate insurance up to an amount stated in the policy to qualify for full coverage. — Also termed contribution clause. [Cases: Insurance 2170. C.J.S. Insurance § 1110.]

COINSURER

coinsurer. An insurer who shares losses sustained under an insurance policy. See coinsurance under INSURANCE. [Cases: Insurance 2285. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1137–1143.]

COJUDICES

cojudices. Archaic. In England, associate judges.

COLA

COLA. abbr. COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT.

COLD BLOOD

cold blood. A killer's state of mind when committing a willful and premeditated homicide . See COOL BLOOD. Cf. HEAT OF PASSION.

COLD CHECK

cold check. See bad check under CHECK.

COLD-COMFORT LETTER

cold-comfort letter. See COMFORT LETTER(1).

COLD-WATER ORDEAL

cold-water ordeal. See ordeal by water (1) under ORDEAL.

COLEGATEE

colegatee (koh-le-g<<schwa>>-tee). A joint legatee; one of two or more persons who receive a legacy under a will. Cf. LEGATEE. [Cases: Wills 708–872. C.J.S. Wills §§ 88–92, 96, 99–101, 451–452, 1613–1620, 1622–1808, 1822–2025.]

COLI

COLI. See corporate-owned life insurance under LIFE INSURANCE.

COLIBERTUS

colibertus (kol-i-b<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>s). [Law Latin] Hist. A serf in free socage; that is, a serf who is nominally freed but is still subject to certain servile conditions. • A colibertus occupied a position in society between servile and free tenants. — Also spelled collibertus. Pl. coliberti. See SOCAGE.

COLLAPSIBLE CORPORATION

collapsible corporation. See CORPORATION.

COLLAPSIBLE PARTNERSHIP

collapsible partnership. See PARTNERSHIP.

COLLATE

collate (k<<schwa>>-layt), vb. Civil law. To return (inherited property) to an estate for division <the grandchildren collated the property they had received>. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 294. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators § 545.]

COLLATERAL

collateral (k<<schwa>>-lat-<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>l), adj. 1. Supplementary; accompanying, but secondary and subordinate to <whether the accident victim was wearing a seat belt is a collateral issue>. 2. Not direct in line, but on a parallel or diverging line of descent; of or relating to persons who are related by blood but are neither ancestors nor descendants <an uncle is in a collateral, not a direct, line>. Cf. LINEAL. — collaterality (k<<schwa>>-lat-<<schwa>>r-al-<<schwa>>-tee), n.

collateral (k<<schwa>>-lat-<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>l), n. 1. A person collaterally related to a decedent. [Cases: Descent and Distribution 37; Wills 499. C.J.S. Descent and Distribution §§ 44–49; Wills §§ 909, 915–916.] 2. Property that is pledged as security against a debt; the property subject to a security interest or agricultural lien. See UCC § 9-102(a)(12). — Also termed (in sense 2) collateral security. [Cases: Secured Transactions 11, 115. C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 3, 11, 84.]

as-extracted collateral. 1. Oil, gas, or other minerals that are subject to a security interest that is created by a debtor having an interest in the minerals before extraction and that attaches to the minerals as they are extracted. UCC § 9-102(a)(6)(A). 2. An account arising out of the sale at the wellhead or minehead of oil, gas, or other minerals in which the debtor had an interest before extraction. UCC § 9-102(a)(6)(B).

cash collateral. Collateral consisting of cash, negotiable instruments, documents of title, securities, deposit accounts, or other cash equivalents. 11 USCA § 363(a).

cross-collateral. 1. Security given by all parties to a contract. 2. Bankruptcy. Bargained-for security that in addition to protecting a creditor's postpetition extension of credit protects the creditor's prepetition unsecured claims, which, as a result of that security, obtain priority over other creditors' prepetition unsecured claims. • Some courts allow this procedure, which is known as cross-collateralization. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3037.]

COLLATERAL ACT

collateral act. Any act (usu. excluding the payment of money) for which a bond or recognizance is given as security.

COLLATERAL AFFINITY

collateral affinity. See AFFINITY.

COLLATERAL-AGREEMENT DOCTRINE

collateral-agreement doctrine. See COLLATERAL-CONTRACT DOCTRINE.

COLLATERAL ANCESTOR

collateral ancestor. See collateral ascendant under ASCENDANT.

COLLATERAL ASCENDANT

collateral ascendant. See ASCENDANT.

COLLATERAL ASSIGNEE

collateral assignee. See ASSIGNEE.

COLLATERAL ASSIGNMENT

collateral assignment. See ASSIGNMENT(2).

COLLATERAL ASSURANCE

collateral assurance. See ASSURANCE.

COLLATERAL ATTACK

collateral attack. An attack on a judgment in a proceeding other than a direct appeal; esp., an attempt to undermine a judgment through a judicial proceeding in which the ground of the proceeding (or a defense in the proceeding) is that the judgment is ineffective. • A petition for a writ of habeas corpus is one type of collateral attack. — Also termed indirect attack. Cf. DIRECT ATTACK(1). [Cases: Judgment 470–523. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 499–533.]

COLLATERAL-BENEFIT RULE

collateral-benefit rule. See COLLATERAL-SOURCE RULE.

COLLATERAL CONDITION

collateral condition. See CONDITION(2).

COLLATERAL CONSANGUINITY

collateral consanguinity. See CONSANGUINITY.

COLLATERAL CONSEQUENCE

collateral consequence. A penalty for committing a crime, in addition to the penalties included in the criminal sentence. • An example is the loss of a professional license. When a collateral consequence exists, a defendant's appeal of a conviction does not become moot when the criminal sentence is completed.

COLLATERAL CONTRACT

collateral contract. See CONTRACT.

COLLATERAL-CONTRACT DOCTRINE

collateral-contract doctrine. The principle that in a dispute concerning a written contract, proof of a second (usu. oral) agreement will not be excluded under the parol-evidence rule if the oral agreement is independent of and not inconsistent with the written contract, and if the information in the oral agreement would not ordinarily be expected to be included in the written contract. — Also termed collateral-agreement doctrine. [Cases: Evidence 440. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 1249–1251, 1283.]

COLLATERAL COVENANT

collateral covenant. See COVENANT(1).

COLLATERAL DEFENSE

collateral defense. See DEFENSE(1).

COLLATERAL DESCENDANT

collateral descendant. See DESCENDANT.

COLLATERAL DESCENT

collateral descent. See DESCENT.

COLLATERAL ESTOPPEL

collateral estoppel (e-stop-<<schwa>>1). 1. The binding effect of a judgment as to matters actually litigated and determined in one action on later controversies between the parties involving a different claim from that on which the original judgment was based. 2. A doctrine barring a party from relitigating an issue determined against that party in an earlier action, even if the second action differs significantly from the first one. — Also termed issue preclusion; issue estoppel; direct estoppel; estoppel by judgment; estoppel by record; estoppel by verdict; cause-of-action estoppel; technical estoppel; estoppel per rem judicatam. Cf. RES JUDICATA. [Cases: Judgment 634, 713, 948(1). C.J.S. Judgments §§ 697–703, 707, 779–782, 803–806, 834, 930–931, 933.] administrative collateral estoppel. Estoppel that arises from a decision made by an agency acting in a judicial capacity. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 501. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 155–156.]

defensive collateral estoppel. Estoppel asserted by a defendant to prevent a plaintiff from relitigating an issue previously decided against the plaintiff. [Cases: Judgment 632. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 828, 831, 834–836, 841.]

nonmutual collateral estoppel. Estoppel asserted either offensively or defensively by a nonparty to an earlier action to prevent a party to that earlier action from relitigating an issue determined against it.

offensive collateral estoppel. Estoppel asserted by a plaintiff to prevent a defendant from relitigating an issue previously decided against the defendant. [Cases: Judgment 632. C.J.S.

Judgments §§ 828, 831, 834–836, 841.]

COLLATERAL FACT

collateral fact. See FACT.

COLLATERAL FRAUD

collateral fraud. See extrinsic fraud (1) under FRAUD.

COLLATERAL HEIR

collateral heir. See HEIR.

COLLATERAL-INHERITANCE TAX

collateral-inheritance tax. See TAX.

COLLATERAL ISSUE

collateral issue. See ISSUE(1).

COLLATERALIZE

collateralize (k<<schwa>>-lat-<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>l-iz), vb. 1. To serve as collateral for <the purchased property collateralized the loan agreement>. 2. To make (a loan) secure with collateral <the creditor insisted that the loan be collateralized>. [Cases: Secured Transactions 1. C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 3, 7–9, 23, 37.] — collateralization (k<<schwa>>-lat-<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>l-<<schwa>>-zay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.

COLLATERALIZED MORTGAGE OBLIGATION

collateralized mortgage obligation. Securities. A bond secured by a group of mortgage obligations or pass-through securities and paid according to the payment schedule of its class (or tranche). • CMOs are issued by the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, and benefit from predictable payments of interest and principal. — Abbr. CMO. See pass-through security under SECURITY; TRANCHE.

COLLATERAL LIMITATION

collateral limitation. See LIMITATION.

COLLATERAL LINE

collateral line. See LINE.

COLLATERAL LOAN

collateral loan. See secured loan under LOAN.

COLLATERAL MATTER

collateral matter. Evidence. Any matter on which evidence could not have been introduced for a relevant purpose. • If a witness has erred in testifying about a detail that is collateral to the relevant facts, then another party cannot call witnesses to contradict that point — cross-examination alone must suffice. [Cases: Evidence 99; Witnesses 405. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 2–5, 197–199, 204, 206; Witnesses § 770.]

COLLATERAL MISTAKE

collateral mistake. See unessential mistake under MISTAKE.

COLLATERAL MORTGAGE

collateral mortgage. See MORTGAGE.

COLLATERAL NEGLIGENCE

collateral negligence. See NEGLIGENCE.

COLLATERAL-NEGLIGENCE DOCTRINE

collateral-negligence doctrine. The rule holding that one who engages an independent contractor is not liable for physical harm that the contractor causes if (1) the contractor's negligence consists solely of the improper manner in which the contractor's work is performed, (2) the risk of harm created is not normal to the work, and (3) the employer had no reason to contemplate the contractor's negligence when the contract was made. [Cases: Master and Servant 315, 319. C.J.S. Employer–Employee Relationship §§ 231–236, 239–240, 242, 244–246, 248, 251–252, 254–255.]

COLLATERAL NOTE

collateral note. See secured note under NOTE(1).

COLLATERAL OBLIGATION

collateral obligation. A liability undertaken by a person who becomes bound for another's debt. — Also termed accessory obligation.

COLLATERAL-ORDER DOCTRINE

collateral-order doctrine. A doctrine allowing appeal from an interlocutory order that conclusively determines an issue wholly separate from the merits of the action and effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment. — Also termed Cohen doctrine (fr. Cohen v. Beneficial Indus. Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541, 69 S.Ct. 1221 (1949)). See appealable decision under DECISION. [Cases: Appeal and Error 72; Federal Courts 572.1. C.J.S. Appeal and Error §§ 89, 109, 113.]

COLLATERAL POWER

collateral power. See POWER(5).

COLLATERAL PROCEEDING

collateral proceeding. See PROCEEDING.

COLLATERAL PROMISE

collateral promise. See PROMISE.

COLLATERAL RELATIVE

collateral relative. See RELATIVE.

COLLATERAL SECURITY

collateral security. See SECURITY.

COLLATERAL-SOURCE RULE

collateral-source rule. Torts. The doctrine that if an injured party receives compensation for the injuries from a source independent of the tortfeasor, the payment should not be deducted from the damages that the tortfeasor must pay. • Insurance proceeds are the most common collateral source. — Also termed collateral-benefit rule. [Cases: Damages 59. C.J.S. Damages §§ 167, 169–170, 172, 174.]

COLLATERAL TRUST BOND

collateral trust bond. See BOND(3).

COLLATERAL TRUST CERTIFICATE

collateral trust certificate. See collateral trust bond (1) under BOND(3).

COLLATERAL USE

collateral use. See USE(1).

COLLATERAL WARRANTY

collateral warranty. See WARRANTY(1).

COLLATIO BONORUM

collatio bonorum (k<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh b<<schwa>>-nor-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “collation of goods”] Civil law. The bringing into hotchpot of goods or money advanced by a parent to a child, so that the parent's personal estate will be equally distributed among the parent's children. Pl. collationes bonorum. See HOTCHPOT.

“[I]f the estates so given them, by way of advancement, are not quite equivalent to the other shares, the children so advanced shall now have so much as will make them equal. This just and equitable provision hath been also said to be derived from the collatio bonorum of the imperial law: which it certainly resembles in some points, though it differs widely in others. But it may not be amiss to observe, that, with regard to goods and chattels, this is part of ... the common law of England, under the name of hotchpot.” 2 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 516–17 (1766).

COLLATION

collation (k<<schwa>>-lay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The comparison of a copy with its original to ascertain its correctness; the report of the officer who made the comparison. 2. The taking into account of the value of ad-vancements made by an intestate to his or her children so that the estate may be divided in accordance with the intestacy statute. Cf. HOTCHPOT. [Cases: Descent and Distribution 93–118. C.J.S. Descent and Distribu-tion §§ 69, 95–111, 116.] 3.Eccles. law. The act (by a bishop) of conferring a benefice in which the bishop holds the right of advowson, thus combining the acts of presentation and institution. — Also termed collation to a benefice. See advowson collative under ADVOWSON. — collate (k<<schwa>>-layt), vb. — collator (k<<schwa>>-lay-t<<schwa>>r), n.

COLLATIONE FACTA UNI POST MORTEM ALTERIUS

collatione facta uni post mortem alterius (k<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh-nee fak-t<< schwa>> yoo-nI pohst mor-t<<schwa>>m al-teer-ee-<<schwa>>s [or awl-]). [Law Latin “by collation to a benefice made to one after the death of the other”] Hist. A writ directed to the Court of Common Pleas, requesting that the court order a bishop to appoint a clerk in place of another who had died pending appointment.

COLLATIONE HEREMITAGII

collatione heremitagii (k<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh-nee her-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>-tay-jee-I). [Law Latin “by collation of hermitage”] Hist. A writ by which the Crown conferred the keeping of a hermitage on a clerk.

COLLATION TO A BENEFICE

collation to a benefice.See COLLATION.

COLLATIO SIGNORUM

collatio signorum (k<<schwa>>-lay-shee-oh sig-nor-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin “comparison of signs”] Hist. A method of testing a seal's genuineness by comparing it with another known to be genuine.

COLLATIVE FACT

collative fact.See investitive fact under FACT.

COLLECTABILITY

collectability. The ability of a judgment creditor to make a judgment debtor pay the amount of the judgment; the degree to which a judgment can be satisfied through collection efforts against the defendant.

COLLECTING BANK

collecting bank.See BANK.

COLLECTION

collection.Banking. The process through which an item (such as a check) passes in a payor bank. See payor bank under BANK(1). [Cases: Banks and Banking 156–175. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 317, 319, 322–325, 327, 372–374, 379, 382–400, 402–412, 414, 416, 419–428, 430–432, 434, 437–438.]

COLLECTION INDORSEMENT

collection indorsement. See restrictive indorsement under INDORSEMENT.

COLLECTION ITEM

collection item. An item (such as a documentary draft) taken by a bank for a customer's account, but not credited until payment for the item has actually been received. See documentary draft under DRAFT(1). [Cases: Banks and Banking 158, 161(1). C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 317, 319, 322, 327, 383, 385–386, 388–392, 395–397, 399, 402, 404, 407, 409–410, 414.]

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

collective bargaining. Negotiations between an employer and the representatives of organized employees to determine the conditions of employment, such as wages, hours, discipline, and fringe benefits. See CONCESSION BARGAINING. [Cases: Labor Relations 171. C.J.S. Labor Relations § 148.]

“Collective bargaining means the joint determination by employees and employers of the problems of the employment relationship. Such problems include wage rates and wage systems, hours and overtime, vacations, discipline, work loads, classification of employees, layoffs, and worker retirement. The advent of collective bargaining does not give rise to these problems. Rather they are germane to the industrial relations environment, and exist with or without unionization.” Benjamin J. Taylor & Fred Whitney, Labor Relations Law 3 (1971).

COLLECTIVE-BARGAINING AGREEMENT

collective-bargaining agreement. Labor law. A contract between an employer and a labor union regulating employment conditions, wages, benefits, and grievances. — Abbr. CBA. — Also termed labor agreement; labor contract; union contract; collective-labor agreement; trade agreement. [Cases: Labor Relations 241. C.J.S. Labor Relations § 217.]

COLLECTIVE-LABOR AGREEMENT

collective-labor agreement. See COLLECTIVE-BARGAINING AGREEMENT.

COLLECTIVE MARK

collective mark. See collective trademark under TRADEMARK.

COLLECTIVE MEASURE

collective measure. Int'l law. An activity undertaken by more than one country to achieve an agreed-upon end. • The countries involved may undertake a collective measure either in an ad hoc manner or through an institutionalized association.

COLLECTIVE PUNISHMENT

collective punishment. A penalty inflicted on a group of persons without regard to individual responsibility for the conduct giving rise to the penalty. • Collective punishment was outlawed in 1949 by the Geneva Convention.

COLLECTIVE TRADEMARK collective trademark. See TRADEMARK.

COLLECTIVE WORK

collective work. See WORK(2).

COLLECTOR OF DECEDENT'S ESTATE

collector of decedent's estate. A person temporarily appointed by a probate court to collect assets and payments due to a decedent's estate, and to settle other financial matters requiring immediate attention. • A collector is often appointed to look after an estate when there is a will contest or a dispute about who should be appointed administrator. The collector's duties end when an executor or administrator is appointed. [Cases: Executors and Administrators 22. C.J.S. Executors and Administrators §§ 951–952, 954–956.]

COLLEGA

collega (k<<schwa>>-lee-g<<schwa>>), n. [Latin] Roman law. A person invested with joint authority; a colleague or associate. • Collega usu. referred to a member of an association (collegium) or a coheir. See COLLEGIUM.

COLLEGATARIUS

collegatarius (k<<schwa>>-leg-<<schwa>>-tair-ee-<<schwa>>s), n. [Latin] Roman law. A colegatee.

COLLEGATARY

collegatary (k<<schwa>>-leg-<<schwa>>-ter-ee). A colegatee; a person who shares a common legacy with one or more other persons. — Also termed collegatarius (k<<schwa>>-leg-<<schwa>>-ter-ee-<<schwa>>s).

COLLEGE

college. 1. An institution of learning that offers instruction in the liberal arts, humanities, and sciences, but not in the technical arts or in studies preparatory to admission to a profession. [Cases: Colleges and Universities 1. C.J.S. Colleges and Universities §§ 2–3, 9.] 2. An assembly of people, established by law to perform some special function or to promote some common purpose, usu. of an educational, political, ecclesiastical, or scientific nature.

COLLEGE OF ADVOCATES AND DOCTORS OF LAW

College of Advocates and Doctors of Law. See DOCTORS' COMMONS.

COLLEGE OF ARMS

College of Arms. See HERALDS' COLLEGE.

COLLEGE OF JUSTICE

College of Justice. Scots law. The body of judges and lawyers created in 1532 to constitute the Court of Session, the superior civil court of Scotland.

COLLEGIUM

collegium (k<<schwa>>-lee-jee-<<schwa>>m), n. [Latin] Roman law. An association of at least three people having the right to assemble and enact rules concerning membership, organization, and the rights and duties of members. • Collegia were formed for professional, cultural, charitable, and religious purposes. Pl. collegia.

collegium illicitum (k<<schwa>>-lee-jee-<<schwa>>m i-lis-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>m). A collegium that either is not sanctioned by law or assembles for some purpose other than that expressed in its charter.

collegium licitum (k<<schwa>>-lee-jee-<<schwa>>m lis-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>m). An assemblage of people empowered to act as a juristic person in the pursuit of some useful purpose or business.

COLLISION

collision. Maritime law. 1. The contact of two or more moving vessels. [Cases: Collision 1. C.J.S. Collision §§ 1–2, 5–7.] 2. ALLISION.

COLLISION INSURANCE

collision insurance. See INSURANCE.

COLLITERALES ET SOCII

colliterales et socii (k<<schwa>>-lit-<<schwa>>-ray-leez et soh-shee-I). [Law Latin “assistants and associates”] Hist. In England, the former title of assistants to the Chancery judges (i.e., masters in chancery).

COLLOBIUM

collobium (k<<schwa>>-loh-bee-<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. A hood or covering for the shoulders, formerly worn by serjeants-at-law.

COLLOQUIUM

colloquium (k<<schwa>>-loh-kwee-<<schwa>>m). 1. The offer of extrinsic evidence to show that an allegedly defamatory statement referred to the plaintiff even though it did not explicitly mention the plaintiff. [Cases: Libel and Slander 82. C.J.S. Libel and Slander; Injurious Falsehood §§ 4, 129, 137.] 2. The introductory averments in a plaintiff's pleading setting out all the special circumstances that make the challenged words defamatory. [Cases: Libel and Slander 82. C.J.S. Libel and Slander; Injurious Falsehood §§ 4, 129, 137.] Pl. colloquiums, colloquia. Cf. INDUCEMENT(4); INNUENDO(2).

COLLOQUY

colloquy (kol-<<schwa>>-kwee). Any formal discussion, such as an oral exchange between a judge, the prosecutor, the defense counsel, and a criminal defendant in which the judge ascertains the defendant's understanding of the proceedings and of the defendant's rights.

COLLUSION

collusion (k<<schwa>>-loo-zh<<schwa>>n), n.1. An agreement to defraud another or to do or obtain something forbidden by law. [Cases: Fraud 30.] 2. As a defense to divorce, an agreement between a husband and wife to commit or to appear to commit an act that is grounds for divorce. • For example, before the advent of no-fault divorce, a husband and wife might agree to make it appear that one of them had committed adultery. Cf. CONNIVANCE(2); CONDONATION(2); RECRIMINATION(1). — collude, vb. — collusive, adj. — colluder, n.

tacit collusion. Antitrust. See CONSCIOUS PARALLELISM.

COLLUSIVE ACTION

collusive action. See ACTION.

COLLUSIVE JOINDER

collusive joinder. See JOINDER.

COLLYER<TT> DOCTRINE

Collyer doctrine (kol-y<<schwa>>r). Labor law. The principle under which the National Labor Relations Board will refer an issue brought before it to arbitration if the issue is arbitrable under the collective-bargaining agreement. Collyer Insulated Wire, 192 NLRB 837 (1971). Cf. SPIELBERG DOCTRINE . [Cases: Labor Relations 509. C.J.S. Labor Relations §§ 510, 515–516.]

COLONIAL LAW

colonial law. 1. Law governing a colony or colonies. 2. The body of law in force in the 13 original U.S. colonies before the Declaration of Independence.

COLON–SEMICOLON FORM

colon–semicolon form. Patents. A style of writing patent claims that uses a colon after the preamble and semi-colons between every two elements. Cf. OUTLINE FORM; SINGLE-PARAGRAPH FORM; SUBPARAGRAPH FORM.

COLONUS PARTIARIUS

colonus partiarius (k<<schwa>>-loh-n<<schwa>>s pahr-shee-air-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “tenant farmer sharing produce” or “a sharing landholder”] Roman law. A farmer who gave a fixed portion of the farm's produce as payment (instead of money) to the landlord. Cf. SHARECROPPING.

COLONY

colony, n. Int'l law. 1. A dependent territorial entity subject to the sovereignty of an independent country, but considered part of that country for purposes of relations with third countries. 2. A group of people who live in a new territory but retain ties with their parent country. 3. The territory inhabited by such a group. Cf. MOTHER COUNTRY. — colonize, vb. — colonial, adj.

COLOR

color, n. 1. Appearance, guise, or semblance; esp., the appearance of a legal claim to a right, authority, or office <color of title> <under color of state law>. 2. Common-law pleading. An apparent, but legally insufficient, right or ground of action, admitted in a defendant's pleading to exist for the plaintiff; esp., a plaintiff's apparent (and usu. false) right or title to property, the existence of which is pleaded by the defendant and then attacked as defective, as part of a confession and avoidance to remove the case from the jury by turning the issue from one of fact to one of law. See GIVE COLOR. [Cases: Pleading 133.]

“It is a rule of pleading, that no man be allowed to plead specially such a plea as amounts only to the general issue, or a total denial of the charge; but in such case he shall be driven to plead the general issue in terms, whereby the whole question is referred to a jury. But if the defendant, in an assise or action of trespass, be desirous to refer the validity of his title to the court rather than the jury, he may state his title specially, and at the same time give colour to the plaintiff, or suppose him to have an appearance or colour of title, bad indeed in point of law, but of which the jury are not competent judges. As if his own true title be, that he claims by feoffment with livery from A, by force of which he entered on the lands in question, he cannot plead this by itself, as it amounts to no more than the general issue ...not guilty in an action of trespass. But he may allege this specially, provided he goes farther and says, that the plaintiff claiming by colour of a prior deed of feoffment, without livery, entered; upon whom he entered; and may then refer himself to the judgment of the court which of these two titles is the best in point of law.” 3 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 309 (1768).

express color. Hist. A defendant's admission that the plaintiff has an apparent right to something coupled with an assertion that the plaintiff's right is legally inferior to the defendant's right to the same thing. • This pleading was typically used in cases of trespass to land by making fictitious allegations that put the plaintiff's ownership of the land in question. For instance, the defendant would admit that the plaintiff had shown apparent ownership of the land by possessing it but then claim that the plaintiff's title was somehow defective, so that the plaintiff did not actually own the land. This pleading was abolished by the Common-Law Procedure Act of 1852, 15 & 16 Vict., ch. 76, § 64.

“Express color is a fictitious allegation, not traversable, to give an appearance of right to the plaintiff, and thus enable the defendant to plead specially his own title, which would otherwise amount to the general issue. It is a licensed evasion of the rule against pleading contradictory matter specially.” Benjamin J. Shipman, Handbook of Common-Law Pleading § 202, at 351 (Henry Winthrop Ballantine ed., 3d ed. 1923).

implied color. 1. A defendant's tacit admission of a plaintiff's prima facie case by failing to deny it. 2. An apparent ground of action that arises from the nature of the defense, as when the defense consists of a confession and avoidance in which the defendant admits the facts but denies their legal sufficiency. • This is a quality inherent in all pleadings in confession and avoidance.

COLORABLE

colorable,adj.1. (Of a claim or action) appearing to be true, valid, or right <the pleading did not state a colorable claim>.2. Intended to deceive; counterfeit <the court found the conveyance of exempt property to be a colorable transfer, and so set it aside>.

COLORABLE ALTERATION

colorable alteration.Intellectual property. A modification that effects no real or substantial change, but is made only to distinguish an invention or work from an existing patent or copyright; a small change made in a product or process solely to avoid literal infringement of an earlier patent's claim. — Also termed colorable deviation. [Cases: Patents 174; Copyrights and Intellectual Property 53(1). C.J.S. Patents § 308.]

COLORABLE CLAIM

colorable claim.See CLAIM(4).

COLORABLE DEVIATION

colorable deviation.See COLORABLE ALTERATION.

COLORABLE IMITATION

colorable imitation.Trademarks. Any mark, whether or not created with an intent to deceive, whose resemblance to a registered mark is likely to cause confusion or mistake. See SIMILARITY. [Cases: Trade Regulation 181.C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 169, 172.]

COLORABLE-IMITATION TEST

colorable-imitation test.Trademarks. A test for a trademark violation in which a court determines whether an ordinary person who is not allowed to compare the two items side by side could recognize the difference between the two. [Cases: Trade Regulation 340.1. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 89, 91.]

COLORABLE TRANSACTION

colorable transaction.See TRANSACTION.

COLORABLE TRANSFER

colorable transfer.See TRANSFER.

COLORADO RIVER ABSTENTION

Colorado River abstention.See ABSTENTION.

COLOR BOOK

color book. Archaic. Int'l law. An official compilation of diplomatic documents and internal papers and reports of a government, the purpose of which is to inform the legislature and the public about foreign policy, esp. during foreign crises. • Color books reached their height of popularity in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. They are now little used in most countries.

COLORE OFFICII

colore officii (k<<schwa>>-lor-ee <<schwa>>-fish-ee-I). [Latin "by color of office"] See COLOR OF OFFICE.

COLOR OF APPARENT ORGANIZATION

color of apparent organization. The appearance of corporate authority, including the assumption and exercise of corporate functions in good faith, even though the corporation's organizers did not fully or substantially comply with the terms of the corporate charter or the statutory requirements for incorporation. See de facto corporation under CORPORATION.

COLOR OF AUTHORITY

color of authority. The appearance or presumption of authority sanctioning a public officer's actions. • The authority derives from the officer's apparent title to the office or from a writ or other apparently valid process the officer bears. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 41. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 11, 342.]

COLOR OF LAW

color of law. The appearance or semblance, without the substance, of a legal right. • The term usu. implies a misuse of power made possible because the wrongdoer is clothed with the authority of the state. State action is synonymous with color of [state] law in the context of federal civil-rights statutes or criminal law. See STATE ACTION. [Cases: Civil Rights 1323. C.J.S. Civil Rights §§ 92–94.]

COLOR OF OFFICE

color of office. The authority or power that is inherent in an office, esp. a public office. • Acts taken under the color of an office are vested with, or appear to be vested with, the authority entrusted to that office. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 121. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 329–334.]

“The starting point in the law of bribery seems to have been when a judge, for doing his office or acting under color of his office, took a reward or fee from some person who had occasion to come before him, — and apparently guilt attached only to the judge himself and not to the bribe-giver.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 527 (3d ed. 1982).

COLOR OF PROCESS

color of process. The appearance of validity and sufficiency surrounding a legal proceeding that is later found to be invalid.

COLOR OF TITLE

color of title. A written instrument or other evidence that appears to establish title but does not in fact do so. — Also termed apparent title.

COM

com.abbr.COMPANY.

COMAKER

comaker. One who participates jointly in borrowing money on a promissory note; esp., one who acts as surety under a note if the maker defaults. — Also termed cosigner. Cf. MAKER. [Cases: Bills and Notes 48, 118. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 23, 80–82.]

COMBATANT

combatant (k<<schwa>>m-bat-<<schwa>>nt or kom-b<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>nt). Int'l law. A person who participates directly in hostilities. • “Legitimate” combatants are members of the armed forces or uniformed members of a militia or volunteer corps, under military command and subject to the laws of war. Cf. NON-COMBATANT.

enemy combatant (k<<schwa>>m-bat-<<schwa>>nt). A combatant captured and detained while serving in a hostile force during open warfare. • In general, the separation-of-powers doctrine prevents a U.S. civilian court from interfering with the military's handling of enemy combatants, at least as long as the hostilities continue. An enemy combatant may be detained without charge and does not have the right to legal representation. United States citizenship does not prevent a person from being designated an enemy combatant.

COMBINATION

combination. 1. An alliance of individuals or corporations working together to accomplish a common (usu. economic) goal. See COMBINATION IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE . 2. CONSPIRACY. 3. STRADDLE. 4. Patents. A union of old and new elements in an invention. • The term encompasses not only a combination of mechanical elements but also a combination of substances in a composition claim or steps in a process claim. Cf. AGGREGATION. [Cases: Patents 26. C.J.S. Patents §§ 83–84.] 5. Patents. An invention that uses two or more patented inventions to make a distinct and useful third product. • In the past, an inventor seeking a combination patent had to show “synergism,” a surprising result from the combination. But the Federal Circuit ruled that the term “combination” has no legal effect because most inventions combine and build on existing technology. Today there are no special rules for combination patents. 6. Patents. A union of elements in an invention that work together cooperatively to perform a useful function; the opposite of an aggregation. Cf. AGGREGATION.

exhausted combination. See old combination.

old combination. A combination in which an element works in a different way but performs the same function as the corresponding element in a previously patented combination. • The new element may be patentable, but the combination may not be. — Also termed exhausted combination.

COMBINATION IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE

combination in restraint of trade. Antitrust. An express or tacit agreement between two or more persons or entities designed to raise prices, reduce output, or create a monopoly. — Also termed combine. [Cases: Monopolies 12(1.3). C.J.S. Monopolies §§ 28–37, 52, 64–66.]

COMBINATION PATENT

combination patent. See PATENT(3).

COMBINE

combine (kom-bIn), n. See COMBINATION IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE.

COMBINED APPLICATION

combined application. See TRADEMARK APPLICATION.

COMBINED § 8 AND § 15 AFFIDAVIT

combined § 8 and § 15 affidavit. Trademarks. A sworn statement that satisfies the requirements of both § 8 and § 15 of the Lanham Act. — Sometimes shortened to § 8 and § 15 affidavit. — Also termed combined § 8 and § 15 declaration. See DECLARATION OF INCONTESTABILITY; DECLARATION OF USE.

COMBUSTIO DOMORUM

combustio domorum (k<<schwa>>m-bus-tee-oh d<<schwa>>-mor-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “houses burning”] Hist. See HOUSEBURNING.

COMES

comes (koh-meez). [Latin] Hist. 1. A count or earl. 2. A person who is part of a high government official's retinue. Pl. comites. See COMITATUS.

COMES AND DEFENDS

comes and defends. Archaic. Traditionally, the standard commencement of a defendant's plea or demurrer. • The phrase, now rarely used, announces the defendant's appearance in court and intent to defend against the action.

COMES NOW

comes now. Archaic. Traditionally, the standard commencement in pleadings < Comes now the plaintiff, Gilbert Lewis, by and through his attorneys of record, and would show unto the court the following>. • For a plural subject, the phrase is come now <Come now the plaintiffs, Bob and Louise Smith>. — Sometimes shortened to comes <Comes the State of Tennessee>. — Also termed now comes.

COMFORT LETTER

comfort letter. 1. Securities. A letter from a certified public accountant certifying that no false or misleading information has been used in preparing a financial statement accompanying a securities offering. • Such a letter usu. has limited effect because the CPA ordinarily attests to certain representations and warranties that the issuer has authorized the CPA to rely on. — Also termed cold-comfort letter. 2. Corporations. A letter, esp. from a parent corporation on behalf of a subsidiary, stating its support (but short of a guarantee) for the activities and commitments of another corporation. — Also termed letter of comfort.

COMFORT OPINION

comfort opinion. See OPINION(2).

COMINGLE

comingle, vb. See COMMINGLE.

COMING-TO-REST DOCTRINE

coming-to-rest doctrine. Insurance. The principle that coverage of shipped goods ends when the goods are unloaded and any cables or other links to the transporting vehicle have been disconnected. • The coming-to-rest doctrine covers only the movement of goods from the shipping vehicle to a place of rest outside the vehicle, in contrast to the broader coverage of the complete-operation rule. Cf. COMPLETE-OPERATION RULE. [Cases: Insurance 2681. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1060, 1609.]

COMITAS

comitas (kom-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin “courtesy”] See COMITY.

COMITAS GENTIUM

comitas gentium. See COMITY.

COMITAS LEGUM

comitas legum (kom-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>s lee-g<<schwa>>m). [Law Latin] Hist. Comity of laws. See COMITY.

COMITATU COMMISSO

comitatu commissio (kom-<<schwa>>-tay-t[y]oo k<<schwa>>-mis-oh). [Latin “county commission”] Hist. A writ or commission authorizing a sheriff to take charge of a county.

COMITATU ET CASTRO COMMISSO

comitatu et castro commissio (kom-<<schwa>>-tay-t[y]oo et kas-troh k<<schwa>>-mis-oh). [Latin “county and castle commission”] Hist. A writ authorizing a sheriff to take charge of a county and a castle.

COMITATUS

comitatus (kom-<<schwa>>-tay-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Hist. 1. A county or shire. See POSSE COMITATUS. 2. The territorial jurisdiction of a count or earl. 3. A county court. 4. The retinue accompanying a prince or high government official.

COMITES

comites (kom-<<schwa>>-teez). See COMES.

COMITES PALEYS

comites paleys (kom-<<schwa>>-teez pa-lays). [Law French] Hist. Counts or earls palatine; those who exercise royal privileges in a county palatine. See COUNTY PALATINE.

COMITIA

comitia (k*<<schwa>>-mish-ee-<<schwa>>*), n. [Latin “assembly”] Roman law. An assembly of the Roman people, gathered together for legislative or judicial purposes. • Women were excluded from participation.

comitia centuriata (k*<<schwa>>-mish-ee-<<schwa>>* sen-tyoor-ee-ay-t*<<schwa>>*). (often cap.) An assembly of the entire populace, voting by centuries (that is, military units) empowered to elect magistrates and to act as a court of appeal in a capital matter.

“The Comitia Centuriata, said to have been originated by the sixth King, Servius Tullius, included the whole Roman people arranged in classes according to their wealth, so as to give the preponderating power to the richest. During the regal period it was a military organisation on the basis of property: under the Republic it became a legislative body, ousting the Comitia Curiata.” William A. Hunter, Introduction to Roman Law 16 (F.H. Lawson ed., 9th ed. 1934).

comitia curiata (k*<<schwa>>-mish-ee-<<schwa>>* kyoor-ee-ay-t*<<schwa>>*). (often cap.) An assembly of (originally) patricians whose chief function was to authorize private acts of citizens, such as declaring wills and adoptions. • The comitia curiata engaged in little legislative activity.

“The oldest [of the four assemblies of the Roman people] was the Comitia Curiata. In the regal period this as-sembly consisted of the Populus Romanus in its thirty curies (or family groups): it could meet only by summons of the King; it merely accepted or rejected the proposals submitted by him, without the right of discussion or amendment; nor was any decision by it valid without the authorisation of the Senate. Under the Republic it rapidly fell into the background, though it formally existed, represented by thirty lictors, down into Imperial times: for the private law its main importance lay in its meetings under pontifical presidency to deal with matters of religious significance, such as adrogations and wills.” William A. Hunter, Introduction to Roman Law 15–16 (F.H. Lawson ed., 9th ed. 1934).

comitia tributa (k*<<schwa>>-mish-ee-<<schwa>>* tri-byoo-t*<<schwa>>*). (often cap.) An assembly of tribes convened to elect lower-ranking officials. • The comitia tributa undertook a great deal of legislative activity in the later Roman republic. Cf. CONCILIUM PLEBIS.

“The Comitia Tributa was the assembly of the whole Roman people in their tribes — a regional classification. In this assembly the influence of numbers predominated.” William A.

Hunter, Introduction to Roman Law 16 (F.H. Lawson ed., 9th ed. 1934).

COMITY

comity (kom-<<schwa>>-tee).1. A practice among political entities (as nations, states, or courts of different jurisdictions), involving esp. mutual recognition of legislative, executive, and judicial acts. — Also termed comitas gentium; courtoisie internationale. See FEDERAL-COMITY DOCTRINE; JUDICIAL COMITY. Cf. AB-STENTION.

“ ‘Comity,’ in the legal sense, is neither a matter of absolute obligation, on the one hand, nor of mere courtesy and good will, upon the other. But it is the recognition which one nation allows within its territory to the legislative, executive, or judicial acts of another nation, having due regard both to international duty and convenience, and to the rights of its own citizens, or of other persons who are under the protection of its laws.” Hilton v. Guyot, 159 U.S. 113, 163–64, 16 S.Ct. 139, 143 (1895).

2.INTERNATIONAL LAW. • This sense is considered a misusage: “[I]n Anglo-American jurisprudence, ... the term is also misleadingly found to be used as a synonym for international law.” Peter Macalister-Smith, “Comity,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Public International Law 672 (1992).

COMITY CLAUSE

Comity Clause.The clause of the U.S. Constitution giving citizens of one state the right to all privileges and immunities enjoyed by citizens of the other states. U.S. Const. art. IV, § 2, cl. 1. See PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES CLAUSE . [Cases: Constitutional Law 207. C.J.S. Constitutional Law § 649.]

COMM.

comm.abbr.COMMONWEALTH.

COMMAND

command. 1. An order; a directive. 2. In legal positivism, the sovereign's express desire that a person act or refrain from acting a certain way, combined with the threat of punishment for failure to comply.

“Commands are orders backed by threats. It is in virtue of threatened evils, sanctions, that expressions of desire not only constitute commands but also impose an obligation or duty to act in the prescribed ways.” Martin P. Golding, Philosophy of Law 26 (1975).

command,vb. To direct authoritatively; to order.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

commander-in-chief. 1. One who holds supreme or highest command of armed forces. [Cases: Armed Services 1, 4. C.J.S. Armed Services §§ 2–4, 11–12, 14, 16–19, 37.] 2. (cap.) The title of the U.S. President when acting as the constitutionally designated leader of the nation's military.

U.S. Const. art. II, § 2.

COMMANDER IN CHIEF CLAUSE

Commander in Chief Clause. The clause of the U.S. Constitution appointing the President as supreme commander of the military. U.S. Const. art. II, § 2, cl. 1. [Cases: Armed Services 1, 4. C.J.S. Armed Services §§ 2-4, 11-12, 14, 16-19, 37.]

COMMANDMENT

commandment. Hist. 1. An authoritative order of a judge or magisterial officer. 2. The offense of inducing another to commit a crime.

COMMENCEMENT

commencement. See INTRODUCTORY CLAUSE.

COMMENCEMENT OF INFRINGEMENT

commencement of infringement. Copyright. The first of a series of discrete copyright violations, such as the first of many separate sales of infringing items. See INFRINGEMENT. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 53(1).]

COMMENDA

commenda (k<<schwa>>-men-d<<schwa>>). A business association in which one person has responsibility for managing all business property.

COMMENDAM

commendam (k<<schwa>>-men-dam or -d<<schwa>>m). 1. Hist. Eccles. law. A vacant benefice held by a clerk until a regular pastor could be appointed. • Bishops and other dignitaries found commendams to be lucrative sources of income. Commendams were abolished in England in 1836. See BENEFICE. 2. Partnership in commendam. See limited partnership under PARTNERSHIP.

COMMENDATION

commendation. Hist. The act of becoming a lord's feudal tenant to receive the lord's protection.

COMMENDATOR

commendator (kom-<<schwa>>n-day-t<<schwa>>r). Eccles. law. A person holding a commendam (a benefice) as a trustee. • Commendators are so called because benefices are commended to their supervision. See COMMENDAM.

COMMENDATUS

commendatus (kom-<<schwa>>n-day-t<<schwa>>s). Hist. A person who, by voluntary oath of homage, was placed under a lord's protection.

COMMENT

comment,n.1.NOTE(2).2. An explanatory statement made by the drafters of a particular statute, code section, or rule. [Cases: Statutes 211.] — commentator,n.

COMMENTATORS

commentators. See POSTGLOSSATORS.

COMMENTER

commenter. One who comments; esp., one who sends comments to an agency about a proposed administrative rule or regulation. See NOTICE-AND-COMMENT PERIOD. [Cases: Administrative Law and Procedure 394. C.J.S. Public Administrative Law and Procedure §§ 104–105.]

COMMENT ON THE EVIDENCE

comment on the evidence.A statement made to the jury by the judge or by counsel on the probative value of certain evidence. Fed. R. Evid. 105. • Lawyers typically make such comments in closing argument, and judges may make such comments in federal court. But most state-court judges are not permitted to do so when examining a witness, instructing the jury, and the like (in which case the comment is sometimes termed an impermissible comment on the evidence). [Cases: Criminal Law 720; Federal Civil Procedure 1973; Trial 121. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1263; Trial §§ 305–307.]

COMMENT PERIOD

comment period.See NOTICE-AND-COMMENT PERIOD.

COMMERCE

commerce. The exchange of goods and services, esp. on a large scale involving transportation between cities, states, and nations.

internal commerce.See intrastate commerce.

international commerce.Trade and other business activities between nations.

interstate commerce.Trade and other business activities between those located in different states; esp., traffic in goods and travel of people between states. • For purposes of this phrase, most statutory definitions include a territory of the United States as a state. Some statutory definitions of interstate commerce include commerce between a foreign country and a state. — Also termed interstate trade. [Cases: Commerce 5. C.J.S. Commerce §§ 2, 6.]

intrastate commerce.Commerce that begins and ends entirely within the borders of a single state. — Also termed internal commerce. [Cases: Commerce 7. C.J.S. Commerce § 10.]

COMMERCE CLAUSE

Commerce Clause.U.S. Const. art. I, § 8, cl. 3, which gives Congress the exclusive power to regulate commerce among the states, with foreign nations, and with Indian tribes. [Cases: Commerce 4–6. C.J.S. Commerce §§ 2–3, 5–7.]

Dormant Commerce Clause.The constitutional principle that the Commerce Clause prevents state regulation of interstate commercial activity even when Congress has not acted under its Commerce Clause power to regulate that activity. — Also termed Negative Commerce Clause. [Cases: Commerce 10. C.J.S. Commerce § 14.]

COMMERCE COURT

Commerce Court. See COURT.

COMMERCE POWER

commerce power. Congress's constitutionally conferred power to regulate trade between the states.

COMMERCIA BELLI

commercia belli (k<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>r-shee-<<schwa>> bel-I). [Latin “commerce of war”] Commercial dealings or contracts between nations at war, or between the subjects of nations at war, under which arrangements for nonhostile dealings are made.

COMMERCIAL ACQUIESCENCE

commercial acquiescence. See ACQUIESCENCE.

COMMERCIAL-ACTIVITY EXCEPTION

commercial-activity exception. An exemption from the rule of sovereign immunity, permitting a claim against a foreign state to be adjudicated in the courts of another state if the claim arises from private acts undertaken by the foreign state, as opposed to the state's public acts. See RESTRICTIVE PRINCIPLE OF SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY; JURE GESTIONIS; JURE IMPERII. [Cases: International Law 10.33. C.J.S. International Law §§ 46–48.]

COMMERCIAL AGENT

commercial agent. See AGENT(2).

COMMERCIAL ASSETS

commercial assets. See ASSET.

COMMERCIAL BANK

commercial bank. See BANK.

COMMERCIAL BRIBERY

commercial bribery. See BRIBERY.

COMMERCIAL BROKER

commercial broker.See BROKER.

COMMERCIAL COURT

commercial court.See COURT.

COMMERCIAL CREDIT COMPANY

commercial credit company.See commercial finance company under FINANCE COMPANY .

COMMERCIAL CRIME

commercial crime.See CRIME.

COMMERCIAL DEFAMATION

commercial defamation.See trade defamation under DEFAMATION.

COMMERCIAL DISPARAGEMENT

commercial disparagement.See TRADE DISPARAGEMENT.

COMMERCIAL DIVISION

commercial division.See business court under COURT.

COMMERCIAL DOMICILE

commercial domicile.See DOMICILE.

COMMERCIAL FINANCE COMPANY

commercial finance company.See FINANCE COMPANY.

COMMERCIAL FRANCHISE

commercial franchise.See FRANCHISE(4).

COMMERCIAL FRUSTRATION

commercial frustration.See FRUSTRATION.

COMMERCIAL GENERAL-LIABILITY POLICY

commercial general-liability policy.See INSURANCE POLICY.

COMMERCIAL IMPRACTICABILITY

commercial impracticability.See IMPRACTICABILITY.

COMMERCIAL INSURANCE

commercial insurance.See INSURANCE.

COMMERCIALIZED OBSCENITY

commercialized obscenity. See OBSCENITY.

COMMERCIAL LAW

commercial law. 1. The substantive law dealing with the sale and distribution of goods, the financing of credit transactions on the security of the goods sold, and negotiable instruments. • Most American commercial law is governed by the Uniform Commercial Code. — Also termed mercantile law.

“Although the term commercial law is not a term of art in American law it has become synonymous in recent years with the legal rules contained in the Uniform Commercial Code.” Jonathan A. Eddy & Peter Winship, Commercial Transactions 1 (1985).

2. LAW MERCHANT.

COMMERCIAL-LAW NOTICE

commercial-law notice. See NOTICE.

COMMERCIAL LEASE

commercial lease. See LEASE.

COMMERCIAL LETTER OF CREDIT

commercial letter of credit. See LETTER OF CREDIT.

COMMERCIAL LOAN

commercial loan. See LOAN.

COMMERCIALLY REASONABLE

commercially reasonable, adj. (Of a property sale) conducted in good faith and in accordance with commonly accepted commercial practice. • Under the UCC, a sale of collateral by a secured party must be done in a commercially reasonable manner, or the obligor's liability for any deficiency may be reduced or eliminated. UCC §§ 9-610(b), 9-626. [Cases: Secured Transactions 231. C.J.S. Secured Transactions §§ 151, 169, 171–175.]

COMMERCIALLY SIGNIFICANT NONINFRINGEMENT USE

commercially significant noninfringing use. Intellectual property. The routine use of a product in a way that does not infringe intellectual-property rights; the judicial test for determining whether the sale of a product amounts to contributory infringement. • If the product (such as a videotape recorder) can be used in a way that does not infringe those rights (such as recording a program in order to watch it at a later time), then its sale cannot be enjoined, or its manufacturer subjected to a court-imposed royalty. See Sony Corp. of Am. v. Universal City Studios, Inc., 464 U.S. 417, 442, 104 S.Ct. 774, 789–90 (1984) (Stevens, J.). — Also termed Sony doctrine; substantial noninfringing use. Cf. PRIMARY PURPOSE OR EFFECT.

COMMERCIAL MORALITY

commercial morality. Collectively, fair practices among competitors. • Commercial espionage is often cited by courts as being below accepted standards of commercial morality.

COMMERCIAL NAME

commercial name. See TRADENAME.

COMMERCIAL PAPER

commercial paper. See PAPER.

COMMERCIAL PARTNERSHIP

commercial partnership. See trading partnership under PARTNERSHIP.

COMMERCIAL SET

commercial set. 1. The primary documents covering shipment of goods, usu. including an invoice, bill of lading, bill of exchange, and certificate of insurance. 2. The documents required under a letter of credit.

COMMERCIAL SIGNATURE

commercial signature. Trademarks. A trademark (as commonly described).

COMMERCIAL SPEECH

commercial speech. See SPEECH.

COMMERCIAL SURETY

commercial surety. See compensated surety under SURETY.

COMMERCIAL TORT CLAIM

commercial tort claim. A claim arising in tort when the claimant is either (1) an organization, or (2) an individual whose claim arose in the course of the claimant's business or profession, and the claim does not include damages arising out of personal injury or death. UCC § 9-102(a)(13).

COMMERCIAL-TRAVELER RULE

commercial-traveler rule. Workers' compensation. The principle that an accident will be treated as occurring during the course of employment if it was caused by an employee whose job requires travel, and the employee was not on a personal errand. • The commercial-traveler rule is an exception to the going-and-coming rule. [Cases: Workers' Compensation 714–715. C.J.S. Workmen's Compensation § 428.]

COMMERCIAL TREATY

commercial treaty. See TREATY(1).

COMMERCIAL UNIT

commercial unit. A unit of goods that by commercial usage is a single whole for purposes of lease and whose division materially impairs its character or value in the relevant market or in use. UCC § 2-105(6). • Under the UCC, “a commercial unit may be a single article (as a machine) or a set of articles (as a suite of furniture or an assortment of sizes) or a quantity (as a bale, gross, or carload) or any other unit treated in use or in the relevant market as a single whole.” Id. [Cases: Sales 129, 180(1). C.J.S. Sales §§ 130, 192.]

COMMETTANT

commettant (kom-<<schwa>>-t*<<schwa>>*nt), n.1. An employer. 2. The principal in an agency relationship.

COMMUNICATORIUM

comminatorium (k*<<schwa>>-min-<<schwa>>-tor-ee-<<schwa>>*m). [Latin comminari “threaten”] Hist. A clause often included at the end of a writ, admonishing the sheriff to be faithful in the writ's execution.

COMMINGLE

commingle, vb.1. To put together (as funds or property) into one mass, as by mixing together a spouse's separate property with marital or community property, or mixing together the separate property of both spouses. 2. (Of a fiduciary) to mix personal funds with those of a beneficiary or client. — Also spelled comingle. See COM-MINGLING. Cf. TRACING.

COMMINGLING

commingling (k*<<schwa>>*-ming-gling), n. A mixing together; esp., a fiduciary's mixing of personal funds with those of a beneficiary or client. • Commingling is usu. considered a breach of the fiduciary relationship. Under the Model Rules of Professional Conduct, a lawyer is prohibited from commingling personal funds with those of a client. — Also spelled comingling.

COMMISSARY

commissary (kom-i-ser-ee), n.1. A person who is delegated or commissioned to perform some duty, usu. as a representative of a superior. 2. A general store, esp. on a military base; also, a lunchroom. — commissary, adj.

COMMISSARY COURT

commissary court. See COURT.

COMMISSION

commission, n.1. A warrant or authority, from the government or a court, that empowers the person named to execute official acts <the student received his commission to the U.S. Navy after graduation>.2. The authority under which a person transacts business for another <the client gave her attorney express commission to sign the contract>.3. A body of persons acting under lawful authority to perform certain public services <the Federal Communications Commission>.

public-service commission. A commission created by a legislature to regulate public utilities or public-service corporations. [Cases: Public Utilities 141. C.J.S. Public Utilities §§ 60–61.]

4. The act of doing or perpetrating (as a crime) <the perpetrator fled to Mexico after commission of the assault>.5. A fee paid to an agent or employee for a particular transaction, usu. as a percentage of the money received from the transaction . [Cases: Brokers 39–75; Master and Servant 70(2). C.J.S. Brokers §§ 116–188, 190; Employer–Employee Relationship § 140–142, 165.]

double commission.A commission paid by both a seller and a buyer to the same person acting in different ca-pacities. [Cases: Brokers 67. C.J.S. Brokers § 182.]

COMMISSIONAIRE

commissionaire. See AGENT.

COMMISSION BROKER

commission broker.See BROKER.

COMMISSION DAY

commission day.English law. The opening day of the assizes. • On this day the commission that authorizes the judge to act is publicly read. — Also written commission-day.

COMMISSION DEL CREDERE commission del credere (del kred-<<schwa>>r-ay). The commission received by the seller's agent for guaran-teeing a buyer's debt. [Cases: Factors 29.]

COMMISSIONED OFFICER

commissioned officer.See OFFICER(2).

COMMISSIONER

commissioner. 1. A person who directs a commission; a member of a commission. 2. The administrative head of an organization, such as a professional sport. 3. See judicial officer (3) under OFFICER.

bail commissioner.See BAIL COMMISSIONER.

Commissioner for Patents.The chief operating officer of the patents section of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. • The commissioner is appointed by the Secretary of Commerce.

Commissioner for Trademarks.The chief operating officer of the trademarks section of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. • The commissioner is appointed by the Secretary of Commerce.

commissioner in bankruptcy.English law. A commissioner who is appointed by the Lord Chancellor and em-powered to proceed in corporate-bankruptcy cases.

commissioner of bail.See BAIL COMMISSIONER.

commissioner of circuit court.A court-appointed officer who helps the circuit and district courts by performing judicial and ministerial functions.

commissioner of deeds.An officer authorized by a state to take acknowledgments of deeds and other papers while residing in another state. • The acknowledgments are recognized in the state that licensed the commissioner. Cf. NOTARY PUBLIC. [Cases: Acknowledgment 14. C.J.S. Acknowledgments § 30.]

commissioner of highways.A public officer responsible for overseeing the construction, alteration, and repair of highways. [Cases: Highways 93.]

commissioner of partition.An equity-court-appointed officer who is empowered to examine a request for partition and recommend an action to the court, or to make the partition and report the act to the court.

Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.See DIRECTOR OF THE UNITED STATES PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE.

commissioner of woods and forests.Hist. An officer who, by an 1817 Act of Parliament, assumed the jurisdiction of the Chief Justice of the Forest.

county commissioner.A county officer charged usu. with the management of the county's financial affairs, its police regulations, and its corporate business. — Also termed county supervisor. [Cases: Counties 38. C.J.S. Counties § 63.]

court commissioner.An officer appointed by the court esp. to hear and report facts, or to conduct judicial sales. [Cases: Court Commissioners 1. C.J.S. Courts §§ 228–229.]

jury commissioner.An officer responsible for drawing and summoning the panels of potential jurors in a given county. [Cases: Jury 59. C.J.S. Juries § 281.]

public commissioner.See PROSECUTOR(1).

town commissioner.A member of the board of administrative officers charged with managing the town's business. [Cases: Towns 26. C.J.S. Towns §§ 82–93.]

United States Commissioner.Hist. A judicial officer appointed by a U.S. district court to hear a variety of pretrial matters in criminal cases. • Commissioners' duties have been transferred to U.S. Magistrate Judges. Cf. UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE.

COMMISSIONER'S COURT

commissioner's court.See COURT.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

commission government.A type of municipal government in which the legislative power is in the hands of a few people. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 48(1). C.J.S. Municipal Corporations § 81.]

COMMISSION MERCHANT

commission merchant. See FACTOR.

COMMISSION OF APPRAISEMENT AND SALE

commission of appraisal and sale. Maritime law. A court order requiring the sale of property in an in rem admiralty action. [Cases: Admiralty 99.C.J.S. Admiralty §§ 244–247.]

COMMISSION OF ASSIZE

commission of assize. Hist. A royal authorization empowering a person to hold court and try cases arising while the justices in eyre held court elsewhere. Cf. EYRE.

“[B]oth the presentment of crimes and the conduct of trials by assize or jury — which rapidly became a common feature of royal justice — required the presence of twelve or more men from the vicinity where the matter in question occurred.... The means of achieving this reconciliation was the frequent issue of commissions to perform judicial functions in the country.... [A]ssize commissioners had original jurisdiction to hear a case from beginning to end But the assizes, though moulded into a regular routine, never became a distinct ‘court’ in the permanent sense. The jurisdiction of the judges rested entirely on the commissions which issued for each circuit: the judges could therefore be regularly interchanged, and after 1340 it was quite normal for a Common Plea case to be tried at nisi prius by a King's Bench judge, and vice versa.” J.H. Baker, An Introduction to English Legal History 67 (3d ed. 1990).

COMMISSION OF CHARITABLE USES commission of charitable uses. Hist. An authorization issuing out of the Court of Chancery to a bishop or other person authorizing the appointee to investigate allegations of fraud or other disputed matters concerning charitable land grants.

COMMISSION OF DELEGATES

commission of delegates. Hist. A commission appointing a person (usu. a lord, bishop, or judge) to sit with several other appointees to hear an appeal of an ecclesiastical judgment in the Court of Chancery. • This commission was abolished in 1832, and its functions transferred to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS

Commission of Fine Arts. An independent federal commission that advises the President, Congress, and governmental agencies on the design of public buildings, memorials, and parks in the nation's capital so as to complement historic structures and districts. • The commission was created in 1910.

COMMISSION OF GAOL DELIVERY

Commission of Gaol Delivery. Hist. A royal appointment authorizing a judge to go on the assize circuit and hear all criminal cases of those held in county jails. See JAIL DELIVERY. Cf. COMMISSION OF OYER AND TERMINER.

COMMISSION OF LIEUTENANCY

commission of lieutenancy.Hist. A commission issued to send officers into every county to establish military order over the inhabitants. • This commission superseded the former commission of array, which provided the same powers. The commissions became obsolete with the establishment of the militia system.

COMMISSION OF LUNACY

commission of lunacy.See DE LUNATICO INQUIRENDO.

COMMISSION OF OYER AND TERMINER

Commission of Oyer and Terminer (oy-<<schwa>>r an[d] t*<<schwa>>r*-m*<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>r*). [Law French oyer et terminer “to hear and determine”] Hist. A royal appointment authorizing a judge (often a ser-jeant-at-law) to go on the assize circuit and hear felony and treason cases. Cf. DE AUDIENDO ET TERMINANDO ; COMMISSION OF GAOL DELIVERY; COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

“[U]nder the commission of Oyer and Terminer, as the judges are directed to inquire as well as to hear and de-terminer the same, they can only proceed upon an indictment found at the same assize, and before themselves; for they must first inquire by means of the grand jury or inquest, before they are empowered to hear and determine by the intervention of the petit jury.” 1 Joseph Chitty, A Practical Treatise on the Criminal Law 142 (2d ed. 1826).

COMMISSION OF PARTITION

commission of partition.An authorization appointing a person to sit with several other appointees for the purpose of dividing land held by tenants in common who desire a partition. [Cases: Partition 91. C.J.S. Partition §§ 129, 131.]

COMMISSION OF REBELLION

commission of rebellion.Hist. An attaching process that empowered a layperson to arrest and bring a defendant to Chancery to enforce obedience to a writ of subpoena or decree. • The commission of rebellion was abolished in 1841. — Also termed writ of rebellion; commissio rebellionis; breve rebellionis.

“Commission of rebellion (Commissio rebellionis) is otherwise called a writte of rebellion, (breve rebellionis) and it hath use, when a man after proclamation made by the Shyreeve upon an order of the channcerie, or court of Starre chamber, under penaltie of his allegiance, to present himselfe to the court by a certaine day, appeareth not. And this commission is directed by way of command to certain persons, to this end, that they ... apprehend, or cause to be apprehended, the party as a rebell and contemner of the kings lawes.” John Cowell, The Interpreter (1607).

COMMISSION OF REVIEW

commission of review.Hist. In England, an authorization sometimes granted in an extraordinary case to review a judgment of the Court of Delegates. • The commission of review is no longer used because the Privy Council was substituted for the Court of Delegates as the appellate court in ecclesiastical cases in 1832. See COURT OF DELEGATES.

COMMISSION OF THE PEACE

commission of the peace.Hist. An appointment of a person to keep the peace (i.e., provide police protection) on a local level. • Over time the recipients of these commissions began to acquire judicial responsibilities, and became known as justices of the peace.

COMMISSION OF UNLIVERY commission of unlivery (<<schwa>>n-liv-<<schwa>>r-ee).Hist. A court order requiring the unloading of goods from a ship so that they may be appraised.

COMMISSION ON CIVIL RIGHTS

Commission on Civil Rights.See UNITED STATES COMMISSION ON CIVIL RIGHTS.

COMMISSION PLAN

commission plan.A form of municipal government whereby both legislative and executive power is vested in a small group of elected officials. • Today, commission plans are used in only a few cities. [Cases: Municipal Corporations 48(1). C.J.S. Municipal Corporations § 81.]

COMMISSION TO EXAMINE A WITNESS

commission to examine a witness.A judicial commission directing that a witness beyond the court's territorial jurisdiction be deposed. • The commission usu. identifies the person to be deposed, when and where the deposition will be taken, and any other information that will help the commissioner to perform. — Also termed commission to take a deposition; commission to take testimony. Cf. LETTER OF REQUEST. [Cases: Pretrial Procedure 96.C.J.S. Discovery §§ 14–15.]

COMMISSION TO TAKE A DEPOSITION commission to take a deposition.See COMMISSION TO EXAMINE A WITNESS.

COMMISSION TO TAKE TESTIMONY

commission to take testimony.See COMMISSION TO EXAMINE A WITNESS.

COMMISSIO REBELLIONIS

commissio rebellionis.See COMMISSION OF REBELLION.

COMMISSIVE WASTE

commissive waste.See WASTE(1).

COMMISSORIA LEX

commissoria lex.See LEX COMMISSORIA.

COMMIT

commit,vb.1. To perpetrate (a crime).2. To send (a person) to prison or to a mental-health facility, esp. by court order. 3.Parliamentary law. REFER.

COMMITMENT

commitment,n.1. An agreement to do something in the future, esp. to assume a financial obligation <the shipper made a firm commitment to deliver the goods>.2. The act of entrusting or giving in charge <commitment of money to the bank>.3. The act of confining a person in a prison, mental hospital, or other institution <commitment of the felon to prison>. [Cases: Mental Health 31–37; Sentencing and Punishment 462, 463. C.J.S. Insane Persons §§ 45–47, 49–54, 57, 60–64, 66, 70.] 4. The order directing an officer to take a person to a penal or mental institution; MITTIMUS(1) <the judge signed the commitment after ruling that it was in the best interest of the troubled teen>.

civil commitment.See CIVIL COMMITMENT(1).

diagnostic commitment.Pretrial or presentencing confinement of an individual, usu. to determine the individual's competency to stand trial or to determine the appropriate sentence to be rendered.

discretionary commitment.A commitment that a judge may or may not grant, depending on whether the gov-ernment has proved — usu. by clear and convincing evidence — that the commitment is necessary for the well-being of the defendant or society (as when the defendant is insane and dangerous). • Most states allow discretionary commitment.

mandatory commitment.An automatically required commitment for a defendant found not guilty by reason of insanity. • This type of commitment is required under federal law, but in only a minority of states.

new court commitment.The confinement in prison of a person who is being admitted on a new conviction — that is, someone who is not being returned to prison for a parole violation.

voluntary commitment.A commitment of a person who is ill, incompetent, drug-addicted, or the like, upon the request or with the consent of the person being committed.

COMMITMENT DOCUMENT

commitment document.An order remanding a defendant to prison in order to carry out a judgment and sentence.

COMMITMENT FEE

commitment fee.An amount paid to a lender by a potential borrower for the lender's promise to lend money at a stipulated rate and within a specified time. • Commitment fees are common in real-estate transactions. See LOAN COMMITMENT .

COMMITMENT LETTER

commitment letter. 1. A lender's written offer to grant a mortgage loan. • The letter generally outlines the loan amount, the interest rate, and other terms. — Also termed letter of commitment. [Cases: Mortgages 211.C.J.S. Mortgages §§ 274–276.] 2.LETTER OF INTENT.

COMMITMENT WARRANT

commitment warrant. See warrant of commitment under WARRANT(1).

COMMITTEE

committee (k<<schwa>>-mit-ee). 1. (k<<schwa>>-mit-ee). A subordinate group to which a deliberative assembly or other organization refers business for consideration, investigation, oversight, or action <the bill was sent to legislative committee>.

“One of the outstanding characteristics of membership organizations the world over is the powerful role played by committees in setting policy and in carrying out their objectives. The Congress, state legislatures, business associations, and countless clubs and societies have traditionally conducted their work through committees of their members.” Lewis Deschler, Deschler's Rules of Order § 103, at 189 (1976).

ad hoc committee. See special committee.

arrangements committee. A committee charged with organizing the physical space in which a deliberative assembly meets.

audit committee. A committee appointed by the board of an organization, esp. a corporation, to oversee the financial reporting process, select an independent auditor, and receive the audit. • Ideally, a committee member is financially literate and wholly independent, having no financial interest (direct or indirect) in the company, no executive position, and no familial relationship with any member of the company's management or a major shareholder.

committee of one. A committee with only one member.

committee of the whole. A special committee that comprises all the deliberative assembly's members who are present. • A deliberative assembly may resolve itself into a committee of the whole so that it can take advantage of the greater procedural flexibility that a committee enjoys, usu. presided over by some chair other than the assembly's regular chair. Cf. quasi committee of the whole. [Cases: States 32. C.J.S. States §§ 48–50.]

committee on conference. See conference committee.

committee with full power. See committee with power.

committee with power. A committee to which the referring body has delegated the necessary authority for acting on the business referred, usu. without need for a prior report to the referring body. — Also termed committee with full power.

conference committee. A joint meeting of two legislative committees, one from each house of a bicameral legislature, usu. charged with adjusting differences in a bill passed by both houses in different versions. — Also termed committee on conference. See CONFERENCE(2). [Cases: States 34. C.J.S. States §§ 55–58.]

“A committee on conference from each of the two houses meeting together is not a joint committee but a joint meeting of two committees. The quorum of a committee on conference is a majority of the members of each committee. In voting in a conference committee, the committee of each house votes separately. The committee on conference from each house submits its report to the house from which it was appointed. The report, upon being received, may be treated like other reports, except that the report of a conference committee is usually given a higher precedence. Under no condition, including suspension of the rules, may the house alter or amend the report of the committee, but must adopt or refuse to adopt the report in the form submitted." National Conference of State Legislatures, Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure § 770, at 558–59 (2000).

congressional committee.A committee of the House of Representatives, a committee of the Senate, or a joint committee. [Cases: United States 23. C.J.S. United States § 39.] credentials committee.A committee charged with preparing a roster of delegates entitled to be seated, examining contested claims to such entitlement, and preparing and issuing credentials to the delegates who appear so entitled. See CREDENTIAL.

executive committee.The committee of principal officers and directors who directly manage an organization's affairs between board meetings. [Cases: Corporations 299.]

joint committee.A legislative committee composed of members of both houses of a legislature.

legislative committee.A group of legislators appointed to help a legislature conduct its business, esp. by providing careful consideration of proposals for new legislation within a particular field so that the entire body can handle its work efficiently without wasting time and effort on unmeritorious submissions. [Cases: States 34. C.J.S. States §§ 55–58.]

membership committee.A committee charged with recruiting and keeping members and getting them involved.

nominating committee.A committee charged with identifying (and perhaps recruiting) and recommending a suitable candidate or candidates for election by a deliberative assembly. — Also termed screening committee.

ordinary committee.A committee other than a committee of the whole.

parent committee.A committee that refers business to a subcommittee. • The parent committee is so called only when considered in relation to the subcommittee. See subcommittee.

permanent committee.See standing committee.

platform committee.A committee charged with developing a comprehensive statement of an organization's, usu. a political party's, public policies and principles.

program committee.The committee that plans a convention's program, usu. including both its formal business and its educational and social events.

quasi committee of the whole.A committee of the whole over which the deliberative assembly's regular chair presides.

reference committee. See resolutions committee.

resolutions committee. A committee charged with screening the original main motions offered for a convention's consideration. — Also termed reference committee; screening committee.

rules committee. A committee charged with drafting rules and an agenda for the orderly conduct of a deliberative assembly's business, particularly that of a legislative body or a convention.

search committee. A committee charged with finding a suitable choice from several options, such as candidates for employment or places for a meeting.

screening committee. 1. See nominating committee. 2. See resolutions committee.

select committee. See special committee.

special committee. A committee established for a particular purpose or a limited time. • A legislature will ordinarily establish a special committee for a nonlegislative purpose, such as writing memorials, procuring chaplains, determining the qualifications of members, and settling election disputes. — Also termed ad hoc committee; select committee; temporary committee. [Cases: States 34. C.J.S. States §§ 55–58.]

standing committee. A committee that is established for ongoing business, that continues to exist from session to session, and that is usu. charged with considering business of a certain recurring kind. • A legislature will ordinarily establish a standing committee concerned with a specific field of legislation. A legislative standing committee usu. considers basic questions of legislative policy, holds hearings on legislation, eliminates unwanted bills, and prepares favored measures for passage. — Also termed permanent committee. [Cases: United States 23. C.J.S. United States § 39.]

subcommittee. A group within a committee to which the committee may refer business, standing in the same relation to its parent committee as the committee stands to the deliberative assembly. See parent committee.

tellers committee. A committee that helps the chair administer an election or other vote by handing out and picking up ballots if necessary, counting the votes or canvassing the ballots, and reporting the result to the chair for announcement. See CANVASS(2).

temporary committee. See special committee.

2. (k<<schwa>>m-i-tee) A person who is civilly committed, usu. to a psychiatric hospital <the board determined that the committee was dangerous and should not be released>. [Cases: Mental Health 36. C.J.S. Insane Persons §§ 49–52.] 3. (k<<schwa>>m-i-tee) The guardian for the person so committed <the patient's lawyer objected to the appointment of the committee>. [Cases: Mental Health 116. C.J.S. Insane Persons §§ 123–125, 129.]

COMMITTEE AMENDMENT

committee amendment. See AMENDMENT(3).

COMMITTEE JURISDICTION

committee jurisdiction. See CHARGE(8).

COMMITTEE REPORT

committee report. See REPORT(1).

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE

committee substitute. See clean bill under BILL(3).

COMMITTING MAGISTRATE

committing magistrate. See MAGISTRATE.

COMMITTITUR

committitur (k<<schwa>>-mit-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r). [Latin "he is committed"] Archaic. An order or minute stating that the person named in it is to be committed to the custody of the sheriff.

COMMITTITUR PIECE

committitur piece. Hist. An instrument used to civilly charge a debtor already in prison, esp. by the plaintiff who had brought about the debtor's imprisonment. • The committitur piece was rendered obsolete by the 1869 Debtors Act, which abolished imprisonment for debt.

COMMIXTIO

commixtio (k<<schwa>>-miks-tee-oh), n. [Latin "mixture"] Roman law. A mixture of separable (i.e., dry or solid) items belonging to different owners, the resulting mixture being held in common or divided in proportion to the shares contributed. See CONFUSION OF GOODS. Cf. CONFUSIO(1).

COMMODATARY

commodatary (k<<schwa>>-mohd-<<schwa>>-tair-ee). [fr. Latin commodatarius] Roman & civil law. A bailee in a commodatum; borrower.

COMMODATE

commodate (kom-<<schwa>>-dayt), n. See COMMODATUM.

COMMODATI ACTIO

commodati actio (kom-<<schwa>>-day-tlak-shee-oh). See actio commodati under ACTIO.

COMMODATOR

commodator (kom-<<schwa>>-day-t<<schwa>>r), n. Roman & civil law. A lender or bailor.

COMMODATUM

commodatum (kom-<<schwa>>-day-t<<schwa>>m), n. [Latin commodare “to lend”] Roman & civil law. The gratuitous lending of goods to be used by the borrower and then returned undamaged to the lender. • This arrangement is for the sole benefit of the borrower. It is one of three types of contracts for permissive use, the other two being locatio conductio and mutuum. — Also termed accomodatatum; commodate. Pl. commodata.

“Commodatum was loan for use, the borrower being required to return the identical res. This contract was gratuitous, being usually for a limited time and a specific purpose. The borrower must use the greatest care in looking after the res but has not to answer for loss occasioned by fire or accident beyond his control, provided that there was no fault. If, however, the res was put to a use foreign to the terms of the agreement, strict liability might follow, e.g., if the res was wrongfully taken on a journey and lost through attack by enemies or shipwreck.” G.W. Paton, Bailment in the Common Law 49–50 (1952).

COMMODITY

commodity. 1. An article of trade or commerce. • The term embraces only tangible goods, such as products or merchandise, as distinguished from services. 2. An economic good, esp. a raw material or an agricultural product. [Cases: Commodity Futures Trading Regulation 7.]

COMMODITY-BACKED BOND

commodity-backed bond. See BOND(3).

COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION

Commodity Credit Corporation. A federally chartered corporation responsible for extending credit in order to stabilize farm income and prices. • Incorporated in Delaware in 1933 and operated in affiliation with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, it was transferred to the U.S. Department of Agriculture in 1939 and chartered in 1948 as a federal corporation. 15 USCA § 714. — Abbr. CCC. [Cases: Agriculture 3.5(1).]

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

Commodity Futures Trading Commission. A five-member federal commission that regulates trading in futures and options contracts and monitors the activities of commodity-exchange members, brokerage houses, commission-registered salespeople, and others associated with the industry. • The commission began operating in April 1975. 7 USCA § 2(a)(2). — Abbr. CFTC. [Cases: Commodity Futures Trading Regulation 51–61. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 469–478.]

COMMODITY LOAN

commodity loan. See LOAN.

COMMODITY OPTION

commodity option. See OPTION.

COMMODITY PAPER

commodity paper. See PAPER.

COMMON

common, n.1. A legal right to use another person's property, such as an easement. See PROFIT à PRENDRE.

common appendant (<<schwa>>-pen-d<<schwa>>nt). Hist. A tenant's right to graze animals on the landowner's land as a result of long-standing practice. See profit appendant under PROFIT(2).

“The ... common appendant is founded on prescription, and is regularly annexed to arable land.... The tenant was limited to such beasts as were levant and couchant on his estate, because such cattle only were wanting to plough and manure his land. It was deemed an incident to a grant of land, as of common right, and to enable the tenant to use his plough land.” 3 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *404 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

common appurtenant (<<schwa>>-p<<schwa>>r-t<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>nt). Hist. A landowner's right to graze animals on another's land as a result of a written grant relating to the ownership or occupancy of land. See profit appurtenant under PROFIT(2).

“Common appurtenant may be affixed to any kind of land It allowed the owner to put in other beasts than such as plough or manure the land; and, not being founded on necessity, like the other rights, ... was not favored in the law.” 3 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *404 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

common in gross. Hist. A right to graze animals on another's land as a result of a written grant unrelated to ownership or occupancy of land. — Also termed common at large. See profit in gross under PROFIT(2).

common in the soil. Hist. The right to dig and take away earth from another's land. — Also termed common of digging.

common of estovers (e-stoh-v<<schwa>>rz). Hist. A tenant's right to take necessary supplies, esp. wood, from the lord's estate; the right to estovers. See ESTOVER(1).

common of fishery. See common of piscary.

common of pasture. Hist. A right to pasture one's cattle on another's land. • The common of pasture may be appendant, appurtenant, or in gross.

common of piscary (pis-k<<schwa>>-ree). Hist. A right to fish in waters on another's land. — Often shortened to piscary. — Also termed common of fishery.

common of shack. Hist. The right of people occupying land in a common field to release their cattle to graze after harvest.

common of turbary (t<<schwa>>-r-b<<schwa>>-ree). Hist. The right to dig turf (for use as fuel in a house) from another's land.

common without stint.Hist. A right to graze an unlimited number of cattle.

2. A tract of land set aside for the general public's use. [Cases: Common Lands 1. C.J.S. Common Lands §§ 1–5.]

COMMONABLE

commonable,adj.1. (Of an animal) allowed to graze on common land. 2. (Of land) capable of being held in common.

COMMON ADVENTURE

common adventure.See ADVENTURE.

COMMON AGENT

common agent.See AGENT(2).

COMMONALITY TEST

commonality test.The requirement that members of a group certified as a class in a class-action suit share at least one issue of law or fact whose resolution will affect all or a significant number of the putative class members. Cf. COMMON-CHARACTER REQUIREMENT. [Cases: Parties 35.17, 35.61–35.89. C.J.S. Parties §§ 31, 34–35.]

COMMON ANCESTOR

common ancestor.See ANCESTOR.

COMMON AND NOTORIOUS THIEF

common and notorious thief.See common thief under THIEF.

COMMON APPENDANT

common appendant.See COMMON.

COMMON APPURTENANT

common appurtenant.See COMMON.

COMMON AREA

common area. 1.Landlord–tenant law. The realty that all tenants may use though the landlord retains control and responsibility over it. [Cases: Landlord and Tenant 123. C.J.S. Landlord and Tenant §§ 290–291.] 2. An area owned and used in common by the residents of a condominium, subdivision, or planned-unit development. — Also termed common elements. [Cases: Common Lands 1; Condominium 6. C.J.S. Common Lands §§ 1–5; Estates §§ 199, 218.]

COMMON ASSAULT

common assault.1.ASSAULT(1).2.ASSUALT(2).

COMMON ASSUMPSIT

common assumpsit. See general assumpsit under ASSUMPSIT.

COMMON ASSURANCE

common assurance. See MUNIMENT OF TITLE.

COMMON AT LARGE

common at large. See common in gross under COMMON.

COMMON-AUTHORITY RULE

common-authority rule. The principle that a person may consent to a police officer's search of another person's property if both persons use, control, or have access to the property. • Under this rule, the consenting person must have been legally able to permit the search in his or her own right, and the defendant must have assumed the risk that a fellow occupant might permit a search. See U.S. v. Matlock, 415 U.S. 164, 171 n.7, 94 S.Ct. 988, 993 n.7 (1974). See THIRD-PARTY CONSENT. [Cases: Searches and Seizures 173.1. C.J.S. Searches and Seizures §§ 113–115.]

COMMON BAIL

common bail. See bail common under BAIL(4).

COMMON BAR

common bar. See BLANK BAR.

COMMON BENCH

Common Bench. Hist. The former name of the English Court of Common Pleas. • The court was so called because it was the forum for the common people, that is, for cases between two or more subjects when the Crown had no interest. — Abbr. C.B.

COMMON-BOND DOCTRINE

common-bond doctrine. The rule that prospective members of a credit union must share some connection (such as common employment) other than a desire to create a credit union. [Cases: Building and Loan Associations 6.C.J.S. Building and Loan Associations, Savings and Loan Associations, and Credit Unions §§ 31–32, 45.]

COMMON BUSINESS PURPOSE

common business purpose. Related activity by two or more associated businesses. • If one of the businesses comes within the jurisdiction of the Fair Labor Standards Act, then another business that shares a common business purpose will also.

COMMON CALLING

common calling. 1. An ordinary occupation that a citizen has a right to pursue under the Privileges and Immunities Clause. [Cases: Constitutional Law 207(2). C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 667, 670.] 2. A commercial enterprise that offers services to the general public, with a legal duty to serve anyone who requests the services. • For example, an innkeeper or a common carrier engages in a common calling.

“It was only in a very few cases indeed that a person was under a legal obligation to enter into a contract; virtually the only example of such an obligation in fact was the person exercising a ‘common calling’ such as the innkeeper and the common carrier who were (subject to certain safeguards) legally bound to contract with any member of the public who required their services.” P.S. Atiyah, An Introduction to the Law of Contract 8 (3d ed. 1981).

COMMON CARRIER

common carrier. See CARRIER.

COMMON CAUSE

common cause. See common plea under PLEA(3).

COMMON-CHARACTER REQUIREMENT

common-character requirement. The rule that for a group of persons to qualify as a class in a class-action lawsuit, the appointment of the class must achieve economies of time, effort, and expense, and must promote uniformity of decision for persons similarly situated, in addition to sharing common questions of fact and law. Cf. COMMONALITY TEST. [Cases: Parties 35.17. C.J.S. Parties §§ 31, 34.]

COMMON COST

common cost. See indirect cost under COST(1).

COMMON COUNCIL

common council. See COUNCIL.

COMMON COUNT

common count. See COUNT.

COMMON DAY

common day. See DAY.

COMMON DEBTOR

common debtor. See DEBTOR.

COMMON-DEFEASANCE BOND

common-defeasance bond. See penal bond under BOND(2).

COMMON DESCRIPTIVE NAME

common descriptive name. See GENERIC NAME.

COMMON DESIGN

common design. 1. The intention by two or more people to join in committing an unlawful act. [Cases: Criminal Law 59(4). C.J.S. Criminal Law § 134.] 2. An intention to commit more than one crime. 3. The general design or layout of plots of land surrounding a particular tract. — Also termed common scheme; common plan. See ZONING.

COMMON DILIGENCE

common diligence.1. See due diligence (1) under DILIGENCE(2).2. See ordinary diligence under DILIGENCE(2).

COMMON DISASTER

common disaster.An event that causes two or more persons with related property interests (such as an insured and the beneficiary) to die at very nearly the same time, with no way of determining who died first. See UNIFORM SIMULTANEOUS DEATH ACT ; COMMORIENTES. [Cases: Death 5; Insurance 3485. C.J.S. Death §§ 6, 15; Insurance § 1428.]

COMMON-DISASTER CLAUSE

common-disaster clause.A provision in a dispositive instrument, such as an insurance policy or a will, that seeks to cover the situation in which the transferor and transferee die in a common disaster. [Cases: Insurance 3485; Wills 543. C.J.S. Insurance § 1428; Wills § 1034.]

COMMON DUTY OF CARE

common duty of care.A landowner's obligation to take reasonable care under the circumstances to see that a lawful visitor will be reasonably safe in using the premises for the purposes for which the visitor is permitted to be there.

COMMON EASEMENT

common easement.See EASEMENT.

COMMON ELEMENTS

common elements.See COMMON AREA(2).

COMMON-EMPLOYMENT DOCTRINE

common-employment doctrine.See FELLOW-SERVANT RULE.

COMMON-ENEMY DOCTRINE

common-enemy doctrine.Property. The rule that a landowner may repel surface waters as necessary (as during a flood), without having to consider the consequences to other landowners. • The doctrine takes its name from the idea that the floodwater is every landowner's common enemy. [Cases: Waters and Water Courses 116–119. C.J.S. Waters §§ 255, 259–264, 277–279.]

COMMON ENTERPRISE

common enterprise.See JOINT ENTERPRISE.

COMMONER

commoner. 1.BrE. An ordinary citizen; one not a peer. 2.Archaic. A member of the House of Commons. 3.Archaic. A common lawyer. 4.Archaic. A person having a right of common — that is, a right to pasture on a lord's land. 5. A person who shares a right in common.

COMMON ERROR

common error.Copyright. A mistake found both in a copyrighted work and in an allegedly infringing work, the mistake being persuasive evidence of unauthorized copying. [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 83(3.1).]

COMMON EXTERNAL TARIFF

common external tariff.See TARIFF(2).

COMMON FINE

common fine.See FINE(4).

COMMON FISHERY

common fishery.See FISHERY(2).

COMMON-FUND DOCTRINE

common-fund doctrine.The principle that a litigant who creates, discovers, increases, or preserves a fund to which others also have a claim is entitled to recover litigation costs and attorney's fees from that fund. — Also termed equitable-fund doctrine. [Cases: Attorney and Client 155.C.J.S. Attorney and Client §§ 332–335.]

COMMON GAMBLER

common gambler. 1. One who owns or is employed by a gambling establishment; a bookmaker. 2. A professional gambler. • A person who gambles but not customarily, habitually, or frequently, and who does not rely on gambling for a living, is considered a casual gambler, not a common gambler.

COMMON HERITAGE OF MANKIND

common heritage of mankind.Int'l law. The parts of the earth and cosmos that can be said to belong to all humanity, without regard for geographic location, and that should be protected and administered for its benefit. • The term embraces the ocean floor and its subsoil, and outer space. — Also termed common heritage of humankind.

COMMON HIGHWAY

common highway.See HIGHWAY.

COMMON INFORMER

common informer.A person who sues to recover a penalty in a penal action. • In some jurisdictions, such an action may be instituted either by the attorney general on behalf of the state or by a common informer. See INFORMER; penal action under ACTION(4).

COMMON IN GROSS

common in gross. See COMMON.

COMMON INTENDMENT

common intendment. See INTENDMENT.

COMMON-INTEREST DOCTRINE

common-interest doctrine. See joint-defense privilege under PRIVILEGE(3).

COMMON IN THE SOIL

common in the soil. See COMMON.

COMMON JURY

common jury. See petit jury under JURY.

COMMON KNOWLEDGE

common knowledge. A fact that is so widely known that a court may accept it as true without proof. See JUDICIAL NOTICE. [Cases: Evidence 5. C.J.S. Evidence § 45.]

COMMON-KNOWLEDGE EXCEPTION

common-knowledge exception. The principle that lay testimony concerning routine or simple medical procedures is admissible to establish negligence in a medical-malpractice action. • This is a narrow exception in some jurisdictions to the rule that a medical-malpractice plaintiff must present expert testimony to establish negligence. [Cases: Health 821(4).]

COMMON LAW

common law, n. [fr. Law French commen ley “common law”] 1. The body of law derived from judicial decisions, rather than from statutes or constitutions; CASELAW <federal common law>. Cf. STATUTORY LAW. [Cases: Common Law 1. C.J.S. Common Law §§ 1–4, 21.]

“Historically, [the common law] is made quite differently from the Continental code. The code precedes judgments; the common law follows them. The code articulates in chapters, sections, and paragraphs the rules in accordance with which judgments are given. The common law on the other hand is inarticulate until it is expressed in a judgment. Where the code governs, it is the judge's duty to ascertain the law from the words which the code uses. Where the common law governs, the judge, in what is now the forgotten past, decided the case in accordance with morality and custom and later judges followed his decision. They did not do so by construing the words of his judgment. They looked for the reason which had made him decide the case the way he did, the ratio decidendi as it came to be called. Thus it was the principle of the case, not the words, which went into the common law. So historically the common law is much less fettering than a code.” Patrick Devlin, The Judge 177 (1979).

federal common law. The body of decisional law derived from federal courts when adjudicating federal questions and other matters of federal concern, such as disputes between the states and foreign relations, but excluding all cases governed by state law. • An example is the nonstatutory law applying to interstate streams of commerce. [Cases: Federal Courts 374.]

“Notwithstanding Erie, the federal common law still lives in a number of areas. In some, such as admiralty, ... the power to create common law has been inferred from a constitutional or statutory grant of jurisdiction, where a federal common law has appeared necessary to accomplish the purposes of the grant. In other cases, on more or less persuasive evidence, the [Supreme] Court has inferred implicit damage remedies on behalf of injured parties from federal statutes imposing duties for their protection, or has found an implicit congressional delegation of authority to make common law, as in actions on collective-bargaining agreements affecting commerce under the Taft–Hartley Act, § 301.” David P. Currie, Federal Jurisdiction in a Nutshell 226 (3d ed. 1990).

general federal common law. Hist. In the period before Erie v. Tompkins (304 U.S. 64, 58 S.Ct. 817 (1938)), the judge-made law developed by federal courts in deciding disputes in diversity-of-citizenship cases. • Since Erie, a federal court has been bound to apply the substantive law of the state in which it sits. So even though there is a “federal common law,” there is no longer a general federal common law applicable to all disputes heard in federal court.

2. The body of law based on the English legal system, as distinct from a civil-law system; the general An-glo-American system of legal concepts, together with the techniques of applying them, that form the basis of the law in jurisdictions where the system applies <all states except Louisiana have the common law as their legal system>. Cf. CIVIL LAW(1).

American common law. 1. The body of English law that was adopted as the law of the American colonies and supplemented with local enactments and judgments. 2. The body of judge-made law that developed during and after the United States' colonial period, esp. since independence. — Also termed Anglo-American common law.

“Every country has its common law. Ours is composed partly of the common law of England and partly of our own usages. When our ancestors emigrated from England, they took with them such of the English principles as were convenient for the situation in which they were about to place themselves. It required time and experience to ascertain how much of the English law would be suitable to this country. By degrees, as circumstances demanded, we adopted the English usages, or substituted others better suited to our wants, until at length, before the time of the Revolution, we had formed a system of our own, founded in general on the English Constitution, but not without considerable variations.” Guardians of the Poor v. Greene, 5 Binn. 554, 557 (Pa. 1813).

3. General law common to the country as a whole, as opposed to special law that has only local application <the issue is whether the common law trumps our jurisdiction's local rules>. — Also termed jus commune. “In its historical origin the term common law (jus commune) was identical in meaning with the term general law The jus commune was the general law of the land — the lex terrae — as opposed to jus speciale. By a process of historical development, however, the common law has now become, not the entire general law, but only the residue of that law after deducting equity and statute law. It is no longer possible, therefore, to use the expression common law and general law as synonymous.” John Salmond, Jurisprudence 97 (Glanville L. Williams ed., 10th ed. 1947).

“[I]t is necessary to dispose briefly of a problem of nomenclature. European equivalents of the expression ‘common law’ have been used, especially in Germany, to describe an emergent system of national law, based on the Roman model, that came into existence before national parliaments undertook to enact laws for the nation as a whole. In this use, ‘the common law’ (gemeines Recht) was used to distinguish the commonly shared tradition of Roman law from local statutes and customs.” Lon L. Fuller, Anatomy of the Law 133 (1968).

4. The body of law deriving from law courts as opposed to those sitting in equity . • The common law of England was one of the three main historical sources of English law. The other two were legislation and equity. The common law evolved from custom and was the body of law created by and administered by the king's courts. Equity developed to overcome the occasional rigidity and unfairness of the common law. Originally the king himself granted or denied petitions in equity; later the task fell to the chancellor, and later still to the Court of Chancery.

COMMON-LAW ACTION

common-law action. See ACTION(4).

COMMON-LAW ASSIGNMENT

common-law assignment. See ASSIGNMENT(2).

COMMON-LAW BOND

common-law bond. See BOND(2).

COMMON-LAW CHEAT

common-law cheat. See CHEATING.

COMMON-LAW CONTEMPT

common-law contempt. See criminal contempt under CONTEMPT.

COMMON-LAW COPYRIGHT

common-law copyright. See COPYRIGHT.

COMMON-LAW CORPORATION

common-law corporation. See corporation by prescription under CORPORATION.

COMMON-LAW CRIME

common-law crime. See CRIME.

COMMON-LAW DEDICATION

common-law dedication. See DEDICATION.

COMMON-LAW EXTORTION

common-law extortion. See EXTORTION(1).

COMMON-LAW FRAUD

common-law fraud. See promissory fraud under FRAUD.

COMMON-LAW HUSBAND

common-law husband. See HUSBAND.

COMMON-LAW JURISDICTION

common-law jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

COMMON-LAW LAWYER

common-law lawyer. A lawyer who is versed in or practices under a common-law system. — Also termed common lawyer.

COMMON-LAW LIEN

common-law lien. See LIEN.

COMMON-LAW MALICE

common-law malice. See actual malice (2) under MALICE.

COMMON-LAW MARRIAGE

common-law marriage. See MARRIAGE(1).

COMMON-LAW MORTGAGE

common-law mortgage. See deed of trust under DEED.

COMMON-LAW PLEADING

common-law pleading. See PLEADING(2).

COMMON-LAW-PROPERTY STATE

common-law-property state. See COMMON-LAW STATE(2).

COMMON-LAW RULE

common-law rule. 1. A judge-made rule as opposed to a statutory one. [Cases: Common Law 1. C.J.S. Common Law §§ 1–4, 21.] 2. A legal as opposed to an equitable rule. 3. A general rule as opposed to one deriving from special law (such as a local custom or a rule of foreign law that, based on choice-of-law principles, is applied in place of domestic law). 4. An old rule of English law.

COMMON-LAW SEAL

common-law seal. See SEAL(1).

COMMON-LAW SPECIALTY

common-law specialty. 1. See contract under seal under CONTRACT. 2. SPECIALTY (1).

COMMON-LAW STATE

common-law state. 1. See NONCODE STATE. 2. Any state that has not adopted a community-property regime. • The chief difference today between a community-property state and a common-law state is that in a common-law state, a spouse's interest in property held by the other spouse does not vest until (1) a divorce action has been filed, or (2) the other spouse has died. Cf. COMMUNITY-PROPERTY STATE.

COMMON-LAW TRUST

common-law trust. See business trust under TRUST.

COMMON-LAW WIFE

common-law wife. See WIFE.

COMMON LAWYER

common lawyer. See COMMON-LAW LAWYER.

COMMON MARKET

common market. See MARKET.

Common Market. The European Economic Community. • Common Market is a colloquial term — not a formal designation. See EUROPEAN UNION.

COMMON MISTAKE

common mistake. See mutual mistake (2) under MISTAKE.

COMMON MONEY BOND

common money bond. See BOND(2).

COMMON-NUCLEUS-OF-OPERATIVE-FACT TEST

common-nucleus-of-operative-fact test. The doctrine that a federal court will have pendent jurisdiction over state-law claims that arise from the same facts as the federal claims providing a basis for subject-matter jurisdiction. [Cases: Federal Courts 14.]

“The modern doctrine of pendent jurisdiction, as announced by the Supreme Court in United Mine Workers v. Gibbs (1966), is much broader.... Pendent jurisdiction, the Court said, existed whenever ‘the state and federal claims ... derive from a common nucleus of operative fact,’ and when considerations of judicial economy dictate having a single trial.” David P. Currie, Federal Jurisdiction in a Nutshell 106 (3d ed. 1990).

COMMON NUISANCE

common nuisance. See public nuisance under NUISANCE.

COMMON OCCUPANT

common occupant. See general occupant under OCCUPANT.

COMMON OF DIGGING

common of digging. See common in the soil under COMMON.

COMMON OF ESTOVERS

common of estovers. See COMMON.

COMMON OF FISHERY

common of fishery. See common of piscary under COMMON.

COMMON OF PASTURE

common of pasture. See COMMON.

COMMON OF PISCARY

common of piscary. See COMMON.

COMMON OF SHACK

common of shack. See COMMON.

COMMON OF TURBARY

common of turbary. See COMMON.

COMMON ORDER

common order. See conditional judgment under JUDGMENT.

COMMON PARLIAMENTARY LAW

common parliamentary law. See PARLIAMENTARY LAW.

COMMON PLAN

common plan. See COMMON DESIGN.

COMMON PLEA

common plea. See PLEA(3).

COMMON PLEAS, COURT OF Common Pleas, Court of. See COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

COMMON PROPERTY

common property. See PROPERTY.

COMMON RECOVERY

common recovery. Hist. An elaborate proceeding, full of legal fictions, by which a tenant in tail disentailed a fee-tail estate. • The action facilitated land transfer by allowing a potential transferee who was barred by law from receiving land to “recover” the land by suing the actual owner. Common recoveries, which were abolished early in the 19th century, were originally concocted by the clergy as a way to avoid the land-conveyance restrictions imposed by mortmain acts. — Also termed feigned recovery. See MORTMAIN STATUTE. Cf. CESSIO IN JURE; praecipe quod reddat under PRAECIPE.

“Here's how [the common recovery] worked. B, with the connivance of A, would bring a real action against A claiming falsely that he, B, owned the land and demanding recovery of it. A responded by claiming, just as falsely, that he had acquired the land from C and that C had warranted title to the land. When A demanded of C, also an accomplice of A, that he defend the title, C admitted falsely that he had, indeed, warranted the title. C allowed B to take a default judgment against A for the recovery of the land, and allowed A to obtain a default judgment against himself, C, for the recovery of land of equal value. The result of this fancy feudal footwork was to leave B with title to the land in fee simple and to leave A with his judgment against C. The judgment against C was viewed by the court as an adequate substitute for the entailed land. But when it came time for O or A's lineal heirs to enforce the judgment, it would transpire that C had been selected by A because he had no land at all! (Why else would C have played along?) Did the court have any suspicion that A, B, and C were colluding? Of course they did — but how else, in the face of De Donis, could they unshackle land from the chains of the fee tail?” Thomas F. Bergin & Paul G. Haskell, Preface to Estates in Land and Future Interests 31–32 (2d ed. 1984).

COMMON-RETURN DAYS

common-return days. See dies communes in banco under DIES.

COMMON RULE EX PARTE

common rule ex parte. Hist. A court-docket entry reflecting that the case would be decided by a majority vote and would proceed even if a notified party did not appear. See Billington v. Sprague, 22 Me. 34 (1842).

COMMON SCHEME

common scheme. See COMMON DESIGN.

COMMON SCHOOL

common school. See public school under SCHOOL.

COMMON SCOLD

common scold.See SCOLD.

COMMON SERJEANT

common serjeant.A judicial officer, appointed by the city of London, who helps the recorder in criminal trials.

COMMON-SITUS PICKETING

common-situs picketing.See PICKETING.

COMMON-SOURCE DOCTRINE

common-source doctrine.The principle that a defendant in a trespass-to-try-title action who claims under a source common to both the defendant and the plaintiff may not demonstrate title in a third source that is paramount to the common source because doing so amounts to an attack on the source under which the defendant claims title. [Cases: Trespass to Try Title 11.C.J.S. Trespass to Try Title § 17.]

COMMON STOCK

common stock.See STOCK.

COMMON-STOCK EQUIVALENT

common-stock equivalent.A security that is exchangeable for common stock, and thus is considered to be the same as common stock. • Common-stock equivalents include certain types of convertible securities, stock options, and warrants.

COMMON-STOCK FUND

common-stock fund.See MUTUAL FUND.

COMMON-STOCK RATIO

common-stock ratio.The relationship of outstanding common stock to the corporation's total capitalization. • The common-stock ratio measures the relative claims of stockholders to earnings (earnings per share and payout ratio), cash flow (cash flow per share), and equity (book value per share). Cf. PAYOUT RATIO.

COMMON SUBSTITUTION

common substitution.See SUBSTITUTION(4).

COMMON SUIT

common suit.See common plea under PLEA(3).

COMMON TENANCY

common tenancy.See tenancy in common under TENANCY.

COMMON THIEF

common thief. See THIEF.

COMMON TRAVERSE

common traverse. See TRAVERSE.

COMMON TRUST FUND

common trust fund. See TRUST FUND.

COMMON VENTURE

common venture. See common adventure under ADVENTURE.

COMMON WALL

common wall. See party wall under WALL.

COMMONWEAL

commonweal (kom-*<<schwa>>*n-weel). The general welfare; the common good.

COMMONWEALTH

commonwealth. 1. A nation, state, or other political unit <the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania>. [Cases: States 1. C.J.S. States §§ 2, 16.] 2. A political unit that has local autonomy but is voluntarily united with the United States <Puerto Rico and the Northern Mariana Islands are commonwealths>. Cf. DEPENDENCY(1); INSULAR AREA; TERRITORY(2). 3. A loose association of countries that recognize one sovereign <the British Commonwealth>. • In this context, in Great Britain, the term British has been dropped from British Commonwealth; BrE speakers refer simply to the Commonwealth. — Abbr. Commw.; comm. 4. The central (federal) power in Australia. — Abbr. (in sense 4) Cwth.

COMMONWEALTH ATTORNEY

commonwealth attorney. A prosecutor in some jurisdictions, such as Virginia.

COMMONWEALTH COURT

commonwealth court. See COURT.

COMMON WITHOUT STINT

common without stint. See COMMON.

COMMORANCY

commorancy (kom-<<schwa>>-r*<<schwa>>*n-see). 1. Temporary residency. 2. English law. Permanent residency in a certain place.

COMMORANT

commorant (kom-<<schwa>>-r*<<schwa>>*nt). 1. A person who dwells in a place temporarily. 2. English law. A person who resides permanently in a certain place.

COMMORIENTES

commorientes (k<<schwa>>-mor-ee-en-teez). [fr. Latin commorior “to die together”] 1. (pl.) Persons who die at the same time, often of the same cause, such as spouses who die in an accident. [Cases: Death 5.C.J.S. Death §§ 6, 15.] 2. Civil law. The rule establishing presumptions of survivorship for purposes of succession regarding such persons. See simultaneous death under DEATH; UNIFORM SIMULTANEOUS DEATH ACT.

COMMOTION

commotion. See CIVIL COMMOTION.

COMMUNE

commune (kom-yoon), n. A community of people who share property and responsibilities.

COMMUNE FORUM

commune forum (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nee for-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “common place of justice”] Hist. The seat of the principal English courts, esp. those that do not go on circuit.

COMMUNE PLACITUM

commune placitum (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nee plas-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “common plea”] Hist. A common plea between persons, as opposed to a plea of the Crown (i.e., a criminal action). Pl. communia placita.

COMMUNE VINCULUM

commune vinculum (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nee ving-ky<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>m). [Latin “common bond”] Hist. A relationship or tie between persons; esp., the bond between lord and tenant, or the relationship between blood relatives.

COMMUNIA

communias (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nee-<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. Things owned in common, such as running water, the air, and the sea.

COMMUNIA PLACITA NON TENENDA IN SCACCARIO

communias placitas non tenendas in scaccario (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nee-<<schwa>>plas-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>> non t<<schwa>>-nen-d<<schwa>> in sk<<schwa>>-kair-ee-oh). [Law Latin “common pleas are not held in the Exchequer”] Hist. A writ directed to the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer, forbidding them from holding pleas between common persons, i.e., pleas in which the Crown was not a party.

COMMUNIA PRECEPTA

communias preceptas (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nee-<<schwa>> pree-sep-t<<schwa>>). [Latin] Hist. Common precepts; common rules.

COMMUNIBUS ANNIS

communibus annis (k<<schwa>>-myoo-ni-b<<schwa>>s an-is). [Latin] Hist. On the average of years; on the annual average.

“[T]he money arising from corn rents is, communibus annis, almost double to the rents reserved in money.” 2 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 322 (1766).

COMMUNICATION

communication. 1. The expression or exchange of information by speech, writing, gestures, or conduct; the process of bringing an idea to another's perception. 2. The information so expressed or exchanged.

conditionally privileged communication. A defamatory statement made in good faith by a person with an interest in a subject to someone who also has an interest in the subject, as an employer giving a negative but accurate job review of a former employee to a potential future employer. • The privilege may be lost upon a showing of malice or bad faith. [Cases: Libel and Slander 40. C.J.S. Libel and Slander; Injurious Falsehood §§ 57, 59, 64–65.]

confidential communication. A communication made within a certain protected relationship and legally protected from compelled disclosure in a legal proceeding. • Among confidential communications are those between husband and wife, attorney and client, and priest and penitent. See PRIVILEGE(3). [Cases: Witnesses 184–223. C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 297–389.]

ex parte communication. A communication between counsel and the court when opposing counsel is not present. • Such communications are ordinarily prohibited. [Cases: Trial 18. C.J.S. Trial §§ 91–92.]

privileged communication. A communication that is protected by law from compelled disclosure in a legal proceeding, or that cannot be used against the person who made it. • Examples include an informant's communication to a government agency and statements made in a legislative session by a legislator. See PRIVILEGE(3). [Cases: Witnesses 84–223. C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 297–389.]

COMMUNICATION RIGHT

communication right. Copyright. The power of a copyright owner to authorize or prohibit the transmission of a work to the public by way of interactive on-demand systems such as the Internet. • This right is included in the WIPO Copyright Treaty and the European Commission's Directive on the Information Society.

COMMUNICATIVE EVIDENCE

communicative evidence. See testimonial evidence under EVIDENCE.

COMMUNI CONSENSU

communi consensu (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nI k<<schwa>>n-sen-s[y]oo). [Latin] By common consent.

COMMUNI DIVIDUNDO

communi dividundo. See actio de communi dividundo under ACTIO.

COMMUNINGS

communings (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nings), n. Scots law. Contract negotiations.

COMMUNIO BONORUM

communio bonorum (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nee-oh b<<schwa>>-nor-<<schwa>>m). [Latin "community of goods"] Civil law. Commonly owned goods, esp. those held in common by a husband and wife. Pl. communiones bonorum.

COMMUNIS ERROR

communis error (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nis e-ror). [Latin] Scots law. A common error; esp., a long-standing error in practice that the court would uphold even though the practice has no legal basis. — Also termed communis error facet jus.

COMMUNISM

communism. 1. A political doctrine, based on Marxism, advocating the abolition of capitalism by ground-roots revolution; specif., a social and political doctrine advocating the abolition of private ownership in favor of common ownership of the means of production and the goods produced, each person contributing as able and receiving as needed. Cf. CAPITALISM. 2. Totalitarian government.

COMMUNIS OPINIO

communis opinio (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nis <<schwa>>-pin-ee-oh). [Latin "common opinion"] Hist. A generally accepted belief about a point of law. • If held unanimously by those learned in the law, this common belief had the force of law in classical Rome.

"Communis opinio is evidence of what the law is, — not where it is an opinion merely speculative and theoretical, floating in the minds of persons, but where it has been made the ground-work and substratum of practice." 1 Alexander M. Burrill, A Law-Dictionary and Glossary 330 (2d ed. 1867) (quoting Lord Ellenborough).

COMMUNIS OPINIO DOCTORUM

communis opinio doctorum (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nis <<schwa>>-pin-ee-oh dok-tor-<<schwa>>m). [Latin "learned common opinion"] Hist. Scholarly agreement on points of Roman law, collected by the glossators of Justinian's texts in the later Middle Ages.

COMMUNIS PARIES%

communis paries (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nis par-ee-eez). [Latin "common wall"] Civil law. See party wall under WALL. Pl. communes parietes.

COMMUNIS PATRIA

communis patria (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nis pay-tree-<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Hist. The common country; a place deemed home to all.

“Under the old diligence of apprising, directed against heritable rights, the messenger executing the diligence held his court in the head borough of the shire where the lands lay, but afterwards it became the practice to hold these courts in Edinburgh as communis patria to all Scotland.” John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 86 (4th ed. 1894).

COMMUNIS SCRIPTURA

communis scriptura (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nis skrip-t[y]oor-<<schwa>> or k<<schwa>>m-myoo-n<<schwa>>s skrip-tyuur-<<schwa>>). [Latin “common writing”] Hist. See CHIROGRAPH.

COMMUNIS STIPES

communis stipes (k<<schwa>>-myoo-nis stI-peeZ). [Latin “common trunk”] Hist. A common ancestor.

COMMUNITIZATION

communitization (k<<schwa>>-myoo-n<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>-zay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. Oil & gas. The ag-gregating of small tracts sufficient for the granting of a well permit under applicable well-spacing rules; POOLING. Cf. UNITIZATION. [Cases: Mines and Minerals 92.78. C.J.S. Mines and Minerals §§ 349, 357–359, 361, 384–386.] — communitize (k<<schwa>>-myoo-n<<schwa>>-tIz), vb.

COMMUNITY

community. 1. A neighborhood, vicinity, or locality. 2. A society or group of people with similar rights or interests. 3. Joint ownership, possession, or participation.

COMMUNITY ACCOUNT

community account. See ACCOUNT.

COMMUNITY CONTROL

community control. A criminal sentence whose terms include intensive and strict supervision of an offender in the community, as by restricting the offender's movements and activities and conducting electronic surveillance, and providing severe sanctions for violations of any of the sentence's terms.

COMMUNITY CORRECTIONAL CENTER

community correctional center. See JAIL.

COMMUNITY DEBT

community debt. See DEBT.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT FINANCIAL INSTITUTION FUND

Community Development Financial Institution Fund. A fund in the U.S. Department of the Treasury created to expand available credit, investment capital, and financial services in distressed urban and rural communities. — Abbr. CDFI Fund.

COMMUNITY ESTATE

community estate. In a community-property state, the total of the assets and debts making up a married couple's property owned in common. Cf. COMMUNITY PROPERTY .

COMMUNITY GRANT

community grant. See GRANT.

COMMUNITY LEASE

community lease. See LEASE.

COMMUNITY MARK

Community mark. See Community trademark under TRADEMARK.

COMMUNITY-NOTIFICATION LAW

community-notification law. See MEGAN'S LAW.

COMMUNITY OBLIGATION

community obligation. See OBLIGATION.

COMMUNITY OF INTEREST

community of interest. 1. Participation in a joint venture characterized by shared liability and shared opportunity for profit. See JOINT VENTURE. [Cases: Joint Ventures 1.2(7).] 2. A common grievance that must be shared by all class members to maintain the class action. See CLASS ACTION. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 165; Parties 35.17. C.J.S. Parties §§ 31, 34.] 3. Labor law. A criterion used by the National Labor Relations Board in deciding whether a group of employees should be allowed to act as a bargaining unit. • The Board considers whether the employees have similar duties, wages, hours, benefits, skills, training, supervision, and working conditions. See BARGAINING UNIT.

COMMUNITY OF PROFITS

community of profits. The right of partners to share in the partnership's profits.

COMMUNITY PATENT

Community patent. See PATENT(3).

COMMUNITY PATENT CONVENTION

Community Patent Convention. A 1975 treaty that, for patent purposes, treats the European Union as a single state and allows a patent applicant to obtain patent protection in all European Union nations through a single blanket filing and examination procedure. • If the application is approved, the European Patent Office issues a single Community patent. The treaty's full name is the Convention for the European Patent for the Common Market.

COMMUNITY POLICING

community policing. A law-enforcement technique in which police officers are assigned to a particular neighborhood or area to develop relationships with the residents for the purpose of enhancing the chances of detecting and thwarting criminal activity.

COMMUNITY PROPERTY

community property. Assets owned in common by husband and wife as a result of its having been acquired during the marriage by means other than an inheritance or a gift to one spouse, each spouse generally holding a one-half interest in the property. • Only nine states have community-property systems: Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Washington, and Wisconsin. See marital property under PROPERTY; TITLE DIVISION. Cf. COMMUNITY ESTATE; SEPARATE PROPERTY. [Cases: Husband and Wife 246–276(9).]

quasi-community property. Personal property that, having been acquired in a non-community-property state, would have been community property if acquired in a community-property state. • If a community-property state is the forum for a divorce or administration of a decedent's estate, state law may allow the court to treat quasi-community property as if it were community property when it determines the spouses' interests.

COMMUNITY-PROPERTY STATE

community-property state. A state in which spouses hold property that is acquired during marriage (other than property acquired by inheritance or individual gift) as community property. See COMMUNITY PROPERTY. Cf. COMMON-LAW STATE E (2). [Cases: Husband and Wife 246–276(9).]

COMMUNITY SERVICE

community service. Socially valuable work performed without pay. • Community service is often required as part of a criminal sentence, esp. one that does not include incarceration.

COMMUNITY TRADEMARK

Community trademark. See TRADEMARK.

COMMUNITY TRADEMARK TREATY

Community Trademark Treaty. A 1996 agreement allowing a trademark registrant to file a single application with the European Trademark Office for trademark protection in all European Union nations instead of filing a separate application in each country. • The trademark registrant does not have to be a citizen of a member nation to file an application.

COMMUNITY TRUST

community trust. An agency organized to administer funds placed in trust for public-health, educational, and other charitable purposes in perpetuity.

COMMUTATION

commutation (kom-y<<schwa>>-tay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. An exchange or replacement.
 2.Criminal law. The executive's substitution in a particular case of a less severe punishment for a more severe one that has already been judicially imposed on the defendant. Cf. PARDON; REPRIEVE. [Cases: Pardon and Parole 28. C.J.S. Pardon and Parole §§ 4, 34–41.]
 3.Commercial & civil law. The substitution of one form of payment for the other. — commute,vb. — commutative,adj.

COMMUTATION OF PAYMENTS

commutation of payments.Workers' compensation. A substitution of lump-sum compensation for periodic payments. • The lump sum is equal to the present value of the future periodic payments.

COMMUTATION OF TAXES

commutation of taxes.A tax exemption resulting from a taxpayer's paying either a lump sum or a specific sum in lieu of an ad valorem tax. [Cases: Taxation 200. C.J.S. Taxation § 273.]

COMMUTATION OF TITHES ACT

Commutation of Tithes Act.Hist. An act of Parliament that permitted tithes to be levied and collected in the form of cash rents rather than labor and goods in kind.

COMMUTATION TAX

commutation tax.See TAX.

COMMUTATIVE CONTRACT

commutative contract.See CONTRACT.

COMMUTATIVE JUSTICE

commutative justice.See JUSTICE(1).

COMMUTED VALUE

commuted value.See VALUE(2).

COMMW.

Commw.abbr.COMMONWEALTH.

COMPACT

compact (kom-pakt), n. An agreement or covenant between two or more parties, esp. between governments or states.

family compact.An agreement to further common interests made between related people or within a group that behaves as a family. • Historically, some international treaties among nations ruled by monarchs have been called family compacts because of intermarriage among the royal houses.

interstate compact.A voluntary agreement between states enacted into law in the participating states upon federal congressional approval. Cf. INTERSTATE AGREEMENT. [Cases: States 6. C.J.S. States §§ 31–32, 143.]

COMPACT CLAUSE

Compact Clause.U.S. Const. art. I, § 10, cl. 3, which forbids a state from entering into a contract with another state or a foreign country without congressional approval. [Cases: States 6. C.J.S. States §§ 31–32, 143.]

COMPANION BILL

companion bill.See BILL(3).

COMPANIONSHIP SERVICES

companionship services.Assistance provided to someone who needs help with personal matters such as bathing and dressing. • This type of service (in contrast to housecleaning) is exempt from the Federal Labor Standards Act's minimum-wage and overtime requirements.

COMPANY

company. 1. A corporation — or, less commonly, an association, partnership, or union — that carries on a commercial or industrial enterprise. 2. A corporation, partnership, association, joint-stock company, trust, fund, or organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not, and (in an official capacity) any receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, or similar official, or liquidating agent, for any of the foregoing. Investment Company Act § 2(a)(8) (15 USCA § 80a-2(a)(8)). — Abbr. co.; com.

bonding company.A company that insures a party against a loss caused by a third party.

controlled company.A company that is under the control of an individual, group, or corporation that owns most of the company's voting stock. Cf. subsidiary corporation under CORPORATION.

dead-and-buried company.A business that has dissolved, leaving no assets.

deposit company.An institution whose business is the safekeeping of securities or other valuables deposited in boxes or safes leased to the depositors. See DEPOSITARY; DEPOSITORY.

development-stage company.Securities. A company that devotes substantially all of its efforts to establishing a new business in which the principal operations either have not yet begun or have begun but are not generating significant revenue.

diversified holding company.A holding company that controls several unrelated companies or businesses.

diversified investment company. An investment company that by law must invest 75% of its assets, but may not invest more than 5% of its assets in any one company or hold more than 10% of the voting shares in any one company.

face-amount certificate company. An investment company that is engaged or proposes to engage in the business of issuing face-amount certificates of the installment type, or that has been engaged in this business and has such a certificate outstanding. See investment company.

growth company. A company whose earnings have increased at a rapid pace and that usually directs a high proportion of income back into the business.

guaranty company. See surety company.

holding company. A company formed to control other companies, usually confining its role to owning stock and supervising management. [Cases: Corporations 3. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 5–7, 62.]

investment company. A company formed to acquire and manage a portfolio of diverse assets by investing money collected from different sources. • The Investment Company Act of 1940 defines the term as an issuer of securities that (1) is, holds itself out to be, or proposes to be engaged primarily in the business of investing, reinvesting, or trading in securities; (2) is engaged or proposes to engage in the business of issuing face-amount certificates of the installment type, or has been engaged in this business and has such a certificate outstanding; or (3) is engaged or proposes to engage in the business of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in securities, and owns or proposes to acquire investment securities having a value exceeding 40% of the value of the issuer's total assets (exclusive of government securities and cash items) on an unconsolidated basis. 15 USCA § 80a-2(a)(16). — Also termed investment trust. See REAL-ESTATE INVESTMENT TRUST; MUTUAL FUND. [Cases: Securities Regulation 211–222. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 332–359.]

joint-stock company. 1. An unincorporated association of individuals possessing common capital, the capital being contributed by the members and divided into shares, of which each member possesses a number of shares proportionate to the member's investment. [Cases: Joint-Stock Companies and Business Trusts 5. C.J.S. Business Trusts § 14; Joint Stock Companies § 7.] 2. A partnership in which the capital is divided into shares that are transferable without the express consent of the partners. — Also termed joint-stock association; stock association. [Cases: Partnership 224. C.J.S. Partnership § 222.]

“The joint stock association or company developed early in English company law, the term being used to distinguish companies which operated on a joint account and with a ‘joint stock’ (in trade) of their members from companies (now obsolete) each member of whom traded on one's separate account with one's own stock in trade.... In American jurisdictions, the joint stock association is generally an unincorporated business enterprise with ownership interests represented by shares of stock.” Henry G. Henn & John R. Alexander, Laws of Corporations § 50, at 109 (3d ed. 1983).

limited company. A company in which the liability of each shareholder is limited to the amount individually invested. • A corporation is the most common example of a limited company.

limited-liability company. A company — statutorily authorized in certain states — that is characterized by limited liability, management by members or managers, and limitations on ownership transfer. — Abbr. L.L.C. — Also termed limited-liability corporation. [Cases: Corporations 3. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 5–7, 62.]

management company. Any investment company that is neither a face-amount certificate company nor a unit-investment trust. See investment company; face-amount certificate company; unit-investment trust under TRUST.

mutual company. A company that is owned by its customers rather than by a separate group of stockholders. • Many insurance companies are mutual companies, as are many federal savings-and-loan associations. See MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY. [Cases: Building and Loan Associations 1; Corporations 3; Insurance 1121. C.J.S. Building and Loan Associations, Savings and Loan Associations, and Credit Unions §§ 2–4; Corporations §§ 5–7, 62; Insurance §§ 99, 109.]

parent company. See parent corporation under CORPORATION.

personal holding company. A holding company that is subject to special taxes and that usually has a limited number of shareholders, with most of its revenue originating from passive income such as dividends, interest, rent, and royalties. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3850.1–3858, 4120. C.J.S. Internal Revenue §§ 383–386.]

railroad company. See railroad corporation under CORPORATION.

reporting company. A company that, because it issues publicly traded securities, must comply with the reporting requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. [Cases: Securities Regulation 35.23. C.J.S. Securities Regulation §§ 115–116.]

safe-deposit company. See DEPOSITARY(1).

small-business investment company. See SMALL-BUSINESS INVESTMENT COMPANY.

surety company. A company authorized to engage in the business of entering into guaranty and suretyship contracts and acting as a surety on bonds, esp. bail, fidelity, and judicial bonds. — Also termed guaranty company. [Cases: Bail 60; Principal and Surety 52. C.J.S. Bail; Release and Detention Pending Proceedings §§ 3, 101; Principal and Surety §§ 292, 295.]

title company. A company that examines real-estate titles for any encumbrances, claims, or other flaws, and issues title insurance. — Also termed title-guaranty company. See TITLE SEARCH. [Cases: Abstracts of Title 2. C.J.S. Abstracts of Title § 4.]

trust company. A company that acts as a trustee for people and entities and that sometimes also operates as a commercial bank. — Also termed (if incorporated) trust corporation. See TITLE(1), (2). [Cases: Banks and Banking 310–323. C.J.S. Banks and Banking §§ 625–649.]

COMPANY-RUN DIVIDEND-REINVESTMENT PLAN

company-run dividend-reinvestment plan. See DIVIDEND-REINVESTMENT PLAN.

COMPANY'S PAPER

company's paper. See commercial paper under PAPER.

COMPANY UNION

company union. See UNION.

COMPARABLE

comparable (kom-p<<schwa>>r-<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), n. (usu. pl.) A piece of property used as a comparison to determine the value of a similar piece of property. [Cases: Evidence 113, 142. C.J.S. Evidence §§ 227, 234–238, 774–775, 780–781.] — comparable, adj.

COMPARABLE ACCOMMODATION

comparable accommodation. A standard used for determining the maximum allowable rent in rent-regulated housing. • In applying this standard, a court reviews the prevailing rent for substantially similar housing units in the same area. [Cases: Landlord and Tenant 200.24.]

COMPARABLE WORTH

comparable worth. 1. The analogous value that two or more employees bring to a business through their work. 2. The idea that employees who perform identical work should receive identical pay, regardless of their sex; the doctrine that men and women who perform work of equal value should receive comparable pay. [Cases: Civil Rights 1175; Labor Relations 1333. C.J.S. Civil Rights § 43; Labor Relations § 1184.]

COMPARATIO LITERARUM

comparatio literarum (kom-p<<schwa>>-ray-shee-oh lit-<<schwa>>-rair-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “comparison of writings”] Hist. The act of comparing writings to ascertain authorship. • Even under Roman law, handwriting experts (comparatores) sometimes testified about a document's authenticity.

COMPARATIST

comparatist. A comparative-law scholar.

COMPARATIVE ADVERTISING

comparative advertising. See ADVERTISING.

COMPARATIVE CRIMINOLOGY

comparative criminology. See CRIMINOLOGY.

COMPARATIVE DISPARITY

comparative disparity. Constitutional law. The percentage of underrepresentation of a particular group among potential jurors on a venire, in comparison with the group's percentage of the general population. • Comparative disparity is calculated by subtracting a group's percentage of representation on the venire from the group's percentage of the population — that is, calculating the group's absolute-disparity representation — then dividing that percentage by the group's percentage-representation in the population, and multiplying the result by 100. For example, if African-Americans make up 12% of a county's population, and 8% of the potential jurors on the venire, the absolute disparity of African-Americans is 4%. And the comparative disparity is 33%, because 4 divided by 12 is .33, or 33%. Many courts criticize the comparative-disparity analysis, and favor an absolute-disparity analysis, because the comparative-disparity analysis is said to exaggerate the deviation. The reason for calculating the disparity is to analyze a claim that the jury was not impartial because it was not selected from a pool of jurors that fairly represented the makeup of the jurisdiction. See DUREN TEST; FAIR-CROSS-SECTION REQUIREMENT; STATISTICAL-DECISION THEORY Y. Cf. ABSOLUTE DISPARITY. [Cases: Jury 33(1.1). C.J.S. Juries §§ 269–273, 279, 306.]

COMPARATIVE FAULT

comparative fault. See comparative negligence under NEGLIGENCE.

COMPARATIVE HISTORY OF LAW

comparative history of law. See descriptive comparative law under COMPARATIVE LAW .

COMPARATIVE-IMPAIRMENT TEST

comparative-impairment test. Conflict of laws. A test that asks which of two or more forums would have its policies most impaired by not having its law applied in the case. [Cases: Action 17. C.J.S. Actions §§ 18–20; Conflict of Laws §§ 2–3, 12, 15, 20, 23, 27–32, 34–40, 42–48, 50–65, 96–97, 100, 102, 105–107.]

COMPARATIVE INTERPRETATION

comparative interpretation. See INTERPRETATION.

COMPARATIVE JURISPRUDENCE

comparative jurisprudence. See COMPARATIVE LAW.

COMPARATIVE LAW

comparative law. The scholarly study of the similarities and differences between the legal systems of different jurisdictions, such as between civil-law and common-law countries. — Also termed comparative jurisprudence. See INTERNATIONAL LAW.

“What is known as comparative jurisprudence — namely, the study of the resemblances and differences between different legal systems — is not a separate branch of jurisprudence co-ordinate with the analytical, historical, and ethical, but is merely a particular method of that science in all its branches. We compare English law with Roman law either for the purpose of analytical jurisprudence, in order the better to comprehend the conceptions and principles of each of those systems; or for the purpose of historical jurisprudence, in order that we may better understand the course of development of each system; or for the purpose of ethical jurisprudence, in order that we may better judge the practical merits and demerits of each of them. Apart from such purposes the comparative study of law would be merely futile." John Salmond, Jurisprudence 7–8 n.(c) (Glanville L. Williams ed., 10th ed. 1947).

descriptive comparative law. The inventory of legal systems (past and present) as a whole, as well as of individual rules that these systems establish for several categories of legal relations. • Descriptive comparative law is sometimes considered one of three subsets of comparative law, the other two being comparative legislation and comparative history of law. See COMPARATIVE LEGISLATION; COMPARATIVE LEGAL HISTORY.

COMPARATIVE LEGAL HISTORY

comparative legal history. A species of comparative law seeking to establish a universal history of law, so that the succession of social phenomena influencing the evolution of the legal world might be better understood. • This field is closely allied to ethnological jurisprudence, folklore, legal sociology, and jurisprudence. — Also termed comparative history of law. Cf. descriptive comparative law under COMPARATIVE LAW; COMPARATIVE LEGISLATION.

COMPARATIVE LEGISLATION

comparative legislation. A species of comparative law seeking to define the common link for modern statutory doctrines, concerned with the development of legal study as a social science and with awakening an international legal consciousness. Cf. descriptive comparative law under COMPARATIVE LAW; COMPARATIVE LEGAL HISTORY.

COMPARATIVE NEGLIGENCE

comparative negligence. See NEGLIGENCE.

COMPARATIVE-NEGLIGENCE DOCTRINE

comparative-negligence doctrine. Torts. The principle that reduces a plaintiff's recovery proportionally to the plaintiff's degree of fault in causing the damage, rather than barring recovery completely. • Most states have statutorily adopted the comparative-negligence doctrine. See NEGLIGENCE. Cf. CONTRIBUTORY-NEGLIGENCE DOCTRINE. [Cases: Negligence 549.C.J.S. Negligence §§ 262–264.]

COMPARATIVE NOMOGENETICS

comparative nomogenetics. The study of the development of the world's legal ideas and systems. • This term, like comparative nomoscopy and comparative nomothetics, was devised by John Henry Wigmore. See John Henry Wigmore, A Panorama of the World's Legal Systems 1121 (libr. ed. 1936).

COMPARATIVE NOMOSCOPY

comparative nomoscopy. The description of the world's legal systems.

COMPARATIVE NOMOTHETICS

comparative nomothetics. The analysis of the merits of legal systems.

COMPARATIVE RECTITUDE

comparative rectitude. Family law. Archaic. The degree to which one spouse is less culpable than the other in damaging the marriage, so that even though both spouses are at fault, the less culpable spouse may successfully petition for a separation or divorce. • Comparative rectitude tempers the doctrine of recrimination by making a divorce possible even though both parties are at fault. Comparative rectitude is now virtually obsolete because of the prevalence of no-fault divorce. See RECRIMINATION(1). [Cases: Divorce 53.]

COMPARATIVE-SALES APPROACH

comparative-sales approach. See MARKET APPROACH.

COMPARATOR

comparator (k<<schwa>>m-par-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r or kom-p<<schwa>>-ray-t<<schwa>>r). Something with which something else is compared <the female plaintiffs alleged illegal wage discrimination and contrasted their pay with that of male comparators>.

COMPARUIT AD DIEM

comparuit ad diem (k<<schwa>>m-pair-oo-wit ad dī-<<schwa>>m), n. [Latin “he appeared to the day”] Hist. A plea averring that the defendant appeared in court as required and did not forfeit the bail bond.

COMPASSING

compassing (k<<schwa>>m-p<<schwa>>-sing). Hist. The act of contriving or plotting, esp. of something un-derhanded. • The Treason Act of 1351 criminalized the act of compassing the sovereign's death. — Also termed imagining.

COMPEL

compel, vb. 1. To cause or bring about by force, threats, or overwhelming pressure . 2. (Of a legislative mandate or judicial precedent) to convince (a court) that there is only one possible resolution of a legal dispute <the wording of the statute compels us to affirm>.

COMPELLABLE

compellable, adj. Capable of or subject to being compelled, esp. to testify <an accused person's spouse is not a compellable witness for the prosecution>.

COMPELLATIVUS

compellativus (k<<schwa>>m-pel-<<schwa>>-tī-v<<schwa>>s). [fr. Latin compellare “to accuse”] Hist. An adversary or accuser.

COMPELLING-STATE-INTEREST TEST

compelling-state-interest test. Constitutional law. A method for determining the constitutional validity of a law, whereby the government's interest in the law and its purpose is balanced against an individual's constitutional right that is affected by the law. • Only if the government's interest is strong enough will the law be upheld. The compelling-state-interest test is used, e.g., in equal-protection analysis when the disputed law requires strict scrutiny. See STRICT SCRUTINY. [Cases: Constitutional Law 213.1(2). C.J.S. Constitutional Law §§ 714, 716, 718.]

COMPENSABLE

compensable (k<<schwa>>m-pen-s<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj. Able or entitled to be compensated for . — Also termed recompensable.

COMPENSABLE DEATH

compensable death. See DEATH.

COMPENSABLE INJURY

compensable injury. See INJURY.

COMPENSATE

compensate (kom-p<<schwa>>n-sayt), vb. 1. To pay (another) for services rendered <the lawyer was fairly compensated for her time and effort>. 2. To make an amendatory payment to; to recompense (for an injury) <the court ordered the defendant to compensate the injured plaintiff>.

COMPENSATED SURETY

compensated surety. See SURETY.

COMPENSATING BALANCE

compensating balance. The amount of money that a borrower from a bank is required to keep on deposit as a condition for a loan or a line of credit.

COMPENSATIO

compensatio (kom-pen-say-shee-oh), n. [Latin “weighing; balancing”] Roman law. A defendant's claim to have the plaintiff's demand reduced by the amount that the plaintiff owes the defendant. See SETOFF(2).

COMPENSATIO CRIMINIS

compensatio criminis (kom-pen-say-shee-oh krim-<<schwa>>-nis). [Latin] Eccles. law. A defendant's plea in a divorce action, alleging that the complainant is guilty of the same conduct that the defendant is charged with, esp. adultery. See RECRIMINATION(1).

“The compensatio criminis is the standard canon law of England in questions of divorce, and it is founded on the principle that a man cannot be permitted to complain of the breach of a contract which he had first violated; and the same principle, it is to be presumed, prevails in the United States. So, if the injured party, subsequently to the adultery, cohabits with the other, or is otherwise reconciled to the other, after just grounds of belief in the fact, it is, in judgment of law, a remission of the offense, and a bar to the divorce.” 4 James Kent, Commentaries on American Law *100–01 (George Comstock ed., 11th ed. 1866).

COMPENSATIO INJURIARUM

compensatio injuriarum (kom-pen-say-shee-oh in-juur-ee-air-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “the compensation of wrongs”] Scots law. The setoff in a defamation action.

COMPENSATION

compensation (kom-p*<<schwa>>n*-say-sh*<<schwa>>n*), n.1. Remuneration and other benefits received in return for services rendered; esp., salary or wages. [Cases: Master and Servant 68–72.5. C.J.S. Employer–Employee Relationship §§ 132–133, 138–153, 155–156, 163–172, 174–176.]

“Compensation consists of wages and benefits in return for services. It is payment for work. If the work contracted for is not done, there is no obligation to pay. [Compensation] includes wages, stock option plans, profit-sharing, commissions, bonuses, golden parachutes, vacation, sick pay, medical benefits, disability, leaves of absence, and expense reimbursement.” Kurt H. Decker & H. Thomas Felix II, Drafting and Revising Employment Contracts § 3.17, at 68 (1991).

2. Payment of damages, or any other act that a court orders to be done by a person who has caused injury to another. • In theory, compensation makes the injured person whole. [Cases: Damages 15. C.J.S. Damages §§ 21–22.] 3.SETOFF(2). — compensatory, (k*<<schwa>>m*-pen-s*<<schwa>>-tor*-ee), compensational (kom-p*<<schwa>>n*-say-sh*<<schwa>>-n<<schwa>>l*), adj.

accrued compensation. Remuneration that has been earned but not yet paid.

adequate compensation. See just compensation.

deferred compensation. 1. Payment for work performed, to be paid in the future or when some future event occurs. [Cases: Master and Servant 72. C.J.S. Employer–Employee Relationship §§ 146–152, 155, 175.] 2. An employee's earnings that are taxed when received or distributed rather than when earned, such as contributions to a qualified pension or profit-sharing plan.

just compensation. Under the Fifth Amendment, a payment by the government for property it has taken under eminent domain — usu. the property's fair market value, so that the owner is theoretically no worse off after the taking. — Also termed adequate compensation; due compensation; land damages. [Cases: Eminent Domain 122–150. C.J.S. Eminent Domain §§ 71–72, 86, 116–141, 144–146, 148, 151, 153, 155–156, 159–170, 172–177.]

unemployment compensation. Compensation paid at regular intervals by a state agency to an unemployed person, esp. one who has been laid off. [Cases: Social Security and Public Welfare 251. C.J.S. Social Security and Public Welfare §§ 146–150, 211.]

unreasonable compensation. Tax. Compensation that is not deductible as a business expense because the compensation is out of proportion to the services actually rendered or because it is in excess of statutorily defined limits. IRC (26 USCA) § 162. [Cases: Internal Revenue 3323. C.J.S. Internal Revenue § 162.]

COMPENSATION CLAUSE

Compensation Clause. The clause of the U.S. Constitution providing for federal judges to be paid. U.S. Const. art. III, § 1, cl. 2.

COMPENSATION PERIOD

compensation period. The time fixed by unemployment or workers'-compensation law during which an unemployed or injured worker is entitled to receive compensation. [Cases: Social Security and Public Welfare 728; Workers' Compensation 836–868. C.J.S. Social Security and Public Welfare § 292; Workmen's Compensation §§ 545–574, 582.]

COMPENSATORY DAMAGES

compensatory damages. See DAMAGES.

COMPENSATORY PAYMENT

compensatory payment. Family law. A postmarital spousal payment made by the richer ex-spouse to the poorer one and treated as an entitlement rather than as a discretionary award. • Compensatory payments are set by statute and are based on a formula using the length of the marriage, differences in postdivorce income, role as primary caregiver, and other factors. The purpose is to compensate somewhat for disparate income levels after a failed marriage. Cf. ALIMONY.

COMPENSATORY TIME

compensatory time. See COMP TIME.

COMPERENDINATIO

comperendinatio (kom-p<<schwa>>r-en-d<<schwa>>-nay-shee-oh), n. [Latin “to remand to the next day but one”] Roman law. An adjournment of an action, particularly one of the actiones legis, to hear the parties or their advocates a second time; a second hearing of the parties to a case. • The judge (judex) would decide the case at the conclusion of the second hearing. See LEGIS ACTIO.

COMPETENCE

competence, n. 1. A basic or minimal ability to do something; qualification, esp. to testify <competence of a witness>. [Cases: Witnesses 35. C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 87–88, 90, 92.] 2. The capacity of an official body to do something <the court's competence to enter a valid judgment>. 3. Authenticity <the documents were supported by a business-records affidavit, leaving their competence as evidence beyond doubt>. [Cases: Evidence 369. C.J.S. Evidence § 819.] Cf. COMPETENCY. — competent, adj.

COMPETENCY

competency,n.1. The mental ability to understand problems and make decisions. [Cases: Mental Health 3. C.J.S. Insane Persons §§ 2, 6.] 2. A criminal defendant's ability to stand trial, measured by the capacity to understand the proceedings, to consult meaningfully with counsel, and to assist in the defense. — Also termed competency to stand trial. [Cases: Mental Health 432. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 549–554.] Cf. COMPETENCE. — competent,adj.

COMPETENCY HEARING

competency hearing.See PATE HEARING.

COMPETENCY PROCEEDING

competency proceeding.See PROCEEDING.

COMPETENCY TO STAND TRIAL

competency to stand trial.See COMPETENCY.

COMPETENT CONTRACTOR

competent contractor.See CONTRACTOR.

COMPETENT COURT

competent court.See court of competent jurisdiction under COURT.

COMPETENT EVIDENCE

competent evidence.See EVIDENCE.

COMPETENT JURISDICTION

competent jurisdiction.See JURISDICTION(2).

COMPETENT WITNESS

competent witness.See WITNESS.

COMPETITION

competition. The struggle for commercial advantage; the effort or action of two or more commercial interests to obtain the same business from third parties.

fair competition.Open, equitable, and just competition between business competitors.

horizontal competition.Competition between a seller and its competitors. • The Sherman Act prohibits unreasonable restraints on horizontal competition, such as price-fixing agreements between competitors. — Also termed primary-line competition.

perfect competition.A completely efficient market situation characterized by numerous buyers and sellers, a homogeneous product, perfect information for all parties, and complete freedom to move in and out of the market. • Perfect competition rarely if ever exists, but antitrust scholars often use the theory as a standard for measuring market performance.

primary-line competition. See horizontal competition.

vertical competition. Competition between participants at different levels of distribution, such as manufacturer and distributor. — Also termed secondary-line competition.

COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE

competitive advantage. The potential benefit from information, ideas, or devices that, if kept secret by a business, might be economically exploited to improve the business's market share or to increase its income.

COMPETITIVE ADVERTISING

competitive advertising. See ADVERTISING.

COMPETITIVE BID

competitive bid. See BID(2).

COMPETITIVE CIVIL-SERVICE EXAMINATION

competitive civil-service examination. A test designed to evaluate a person's qualifications for a civil-service position. • This type of examination may be open to all those seeking civil-service employment, or it may be restricted to those civil servants seeking a promotion. See CIVIL SERVICE. [Cases: Officers and Public Employees 11.3. C.J.S. Officers and Public Employees §§ 80–85, 125, 128–129.]

COMPETITIVE INJURY

competitive injury. A wrongful economic loss at the hands of a commercial rival, such as the loss of sales due to unfair competition; a disadvantage in a plaintiff's ability to compete with a defendant, caused by the defendant's unfair competition. • Most courts require the plaintiff to show a competitive injury as an element of a misappropriation action, or to have standing to prosecute a false-advertising action under 15 USCA § 1125(a)(1)(B). — Also termed competitive harm. [Cases: Trade Regulation 409. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition § 110.]

COMPILATION

compilation (kom-p<<schwa>>-lay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. 1. Copyright. A collection of literary works arranged in an original way; esp., a work formed by collecting and assembling preexisting materials or data that are selected, coordinated, or arranged in such a way that the resulting product constitutes an original work of authorship. • An author who creates a compilation owns the copyright of the compilation but not of the component parts. See 17 USCA § 101. Cf. collective work, derivative work under WORK(2). [Cases: Copyrights and Intellectual Property 12(3).] 2. A collection of statutes, updated and arranged to facilitate their use. — Also termed compiled statutes. [Cases: Statutes 144. C.J.S. Statutes §§ 266–267, 272.] 3. A financial statement that does not have an accountant's assurance of conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. • In preparing a compilation, an accountant does not gather evidence or verify the accuracy of the information provided by the client; rather, the accountant reviews the compiled reports to ensure that they are in the appropriate form and are free of obvious errors. — compile,vb.

COMPILED STATUTES

compiled statutes.1.COMPILED(2).2.STATUTE.

COMPLAINANT

complainant (k<<schwa>>m-playn-<<schwa>>nt).1. The party who brings a legal complaint against another; esp., the plaintiff in a court of equity or, more modernly, a civil suit.

“A suit in equity, under the procedure of the English Court of Chancery, which was generally adopted in the American States prior to the code, is instituted by the plaintiff filing a bill of complaint. The plaintiff is usually called the complainant, in the Federal courts the complainant or plaintiff indifferently. The bill is in substance a petition to the chancellor, or judge of the court of equity, setting forth at large the grounds of the suit, and praying the process of the court, its subpoena, to bring the defendant into court and compel him to answer the plaintiff's bill, and, also, for such relief by decree or interlocutory remedy, by way of injunction, etc., as the plaintiff supposes himself entitled to.” Edwin E. Bryant, The Law of Pleading Under the Codes of Civil Procedure 55 (2d ed. 1899).

2. A person who, under oath, signs a statement (called a “complaint”) establishing reasonable grounds to believe that some named person has committed a crime. — Also termed affiant. [Cases: Criminal Law 210. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 326.]

COMPLAINANTLESS CRIME

complainantless crime.See victimless crime under CRIME.

COMPLAINT

complaint. 1. The initial pleading that starts a civil action and states the basis for the court's jurisdiction, the basis for the plaintiff's claim, and the demand for relief. • In some states, this pleading is called a petition. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 671; Pleading 38.5. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 94–95.] 2.Criminal law. A formal charge accusing a person of an offense. Fed. R. Crim. P. 3. Cf. INDICTMENT; INFORMATION. [Cases: Indictment and Information 54. C.J.S. Indictments and Informations §§ 68–69.]

amended complaint.A complaint that modifies and replaces the original complaint by adding relevant matters that occurred before or at the time the action began. Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(d). • In some circumstances, a party must obtain the court's permission to amend its complaint. Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a). — Also termed substituted complaint. Cf. supplemental complaint. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 839; Pleading 233, 242. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 332, 334, 355–358.]

complaint for modification.See motion to modify under MOTION.

fresh complaint. See FRESH COMPLAINT.

preliminary complaint. A complaint issued by a court to obtain jurisdiction over a criminal suspect for a hearing on probable cause or on whether to bind the suspect over for trial. [Cases: Criminal Law 208. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 324, 327.]

substituted complaint. See amended complaint.

supplemental complaint. An additional complaint that either corrects a defect in the original complaint or adds relevant matters that occurred after the action began. • Generally, a party must obtain the court's permission to file a supplemental complaint. Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(d). Cf. amended complaint. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 864; Pleading 279. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 461, 463–464, 466.]

third-party complaint. A complaint filed by the defendant against a third party, alleging that the third party may be liable for some or all of the damages that the plaintiff is trying to recover from the defendant. Fed. R. Civ. P. 14. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 281; Parties 49; Pleading 149. C.J.S. Parties § 127; Pleading § 203.]

well-pleaded complaint. An original or initial pleading that sufficiently sets forth a claim for relief — by including the grounds for the court's jurisdiction, the basis for the relief claimed, and a demand for judgment — so that a defendant may draft an answer that is responsive to the issues presented. • In federal court, a well-pleaded complaint must raise a controlling issue of federal law, or else the court will not have federal-question jurisdiction over the lawsuit. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 673; Pleading 48. C.J.S. Pleading §§ 116–124, 132–133.]

COMPLEMENTARY GOODS

complementary goods. Trademarks. Products that are typically used together, such as pancake syrup and pancake mix, or motion-picture projectors and film. • Trademark law may prevent the use of a similar mark on complementary goods because consumers may be confused into thinking that the goods come from a common source. The patent-misuse doctrine may provide a defense in an infringement suit if the plaintiff has used its patent rights to gain market control over unpatented complementary goods. — Also termed complementary products. See AUNT JEMIMA DOCTRINE; PATENT-MISUSE DOCTRINE. [Cases: Trade Regulation 182.1. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 170, 172, 185.]

COMPLEMENTARY PRODUCTS

complementary products. See COMPLEMENTARY GOODS.

COMPLETED-CONTRACT ACCOUNTING METHOD

completed-contract accounting method. See ACCOUNTING METHOD.

COMPLETED GIFT

completed gift. See GIFT.

COMPLETE DIVERSITY

complete diversity. See DIVERSITY OF CITIZENSHIP.

COMPLETED-OPERATIONS POLICY

completed-operations policy. See INSURANCE POLICY.

COMPLETE IN ITSELF

complete in itself, adj. (Of a legislative act) fully covering an entire subject.

COMPLETE INTEGRATION

complete integration. See INTEGRATION(2).

COMPLETE INTERDICTION

complete interdiction. See full interdiction under INTERDICTION(3).

COMPLETE JURISDICTION

complete jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

COMPLETELY INTEGRATED CONTRACT

completely integrated contract. See INTEGRATED CONTRACT.

COMPLETENESS DOCTRINE

completeness doctrine. See RULE OF OPTIONAL COMPLETENESS.

COMPLETE-OPERATION RULE

complete-operation rule. Insurance. The principle that goods are covered against damage at any time during the shipping process, including the loading and unloading of the goods. See WAREHOUSE-TO-WAREHOUSE COVER. Cf. COMING-TO-REST DOCTRINE E. [Cases: Insurance 2681. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 1060, 1609.]

COMPLETE OWNERSHIP

complete ownership. See perfect ownership under OWNERSHIP.

COMPLETE-PREEMPTION DOCTRINE

complete-preemption doctrine. The rule that a federal statute's preemptive force may be so extraordinary and all-encompassing that it converts an ordinary state-common-law complaint into one stating a federal claim for purposes of the well-pleaded-complaint rule. See well-pleaded complaint under COMPLAINT. [Cases: Federal Courts 241.]

COMPLETE PROPERTY

complete property. See PROPERTY.

COMPLETE VOLUNTARY TRUST

complete voluntary trust. See executed trust under TRUST.

COMPLETION BOND

completion bond. See PERFORMANCE BOND.

COMPLEX LITIGATION

complex litigation. See LITIGATION.

COMPLEX TRUST

complex trust. See TRUST.

COMPLIANCE AUDIT

compliance audit. See AUDIT.

COMPLICATED LARCENY

complicated larceny. See mixed larceny under LARCENY.

COMPLICE

complice (kom-plis). Archaic. An accomplice or accessory to a crime or immoral behavior.

COMPLICITY

complicity (k<<schwa>>m-plis-<<schwa>>-tee), n. Association or participation in a criminal act; the act or state of being an accomplice. • Under the Model Penal Code, a person can be an accomplice as a result of either that person's own conduct or the conduct of another (such as an innocent agent) for which that person is legally accountable. Model Penal Code § 2.06. See ACCOMPLICE; innocent agent under AGENT. [Cases: Criminal Law 59. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 127, 998.] — complicitous (k<<schwa>>m-plis-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>s), adj.

COMPOSITE MARK

composite mark. See composite trademark under TRADEMARK.

COMPOSITE STATE

composite state. See STATE.

COMPOSITE TRADEMARK

composite trademark. See TRADEMARK.

COMPOSITE WORK

composite work. See WORK(2).

COMPOSITION

composition, n. 1. An agreement between a debtor and two or more creditors for the adjustment or discharge of an obligation for some lesser amount; an agreement among the debtor and two or more creditors that the debtor will pay the creditors less than their full claims in full satisfaction of their claims. • The preexisting-duty rule is not a defense to this type of agreement because consideration arises from the agreement by each creditor with each other to take less than full payment. Through the performance of this agreement, the debtor is discharged in full for the debts of the participating creditors. — Also termed composition with creditors; creditors' composition; at-termoiement. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3662.100–3662.115; Debtor and Creditor 10. C.J.S. Assignments for Benefit of Creditors § 26; Creditor and Debtor §§ 84–94.] 2. The compensation paid as part of such an agreement. 3.Hist. A payment of money or chattels as satisfaction for an injury. • In Anglo-Saxon and other early societies, a composition with the injured party was recognized as a way to deter acts of revenge by the injured party. — compose,vb.

“[T]he first theory of liability was in terms of a duty to buy off the vengeance of him to whom an injury had been done whether by oneself or by something in one's power. The idea is put strikingly in the Anglo-Saxon proverb, ‘Buy spear from side or bear it,’ that is, buy off the feud or fight it out.... As the social interest in peace and order — the general security in its lowest terms — comes to be secured more effectively by regulation and ultimate putting down of feud as a remedy, payment of composition becomes a duty rather than a privilege The next step is to measure the composition not in terms of the vengeance to be bought off but in terms of the injury. A final step is to put it in terms of reparation.” Roscoe Pound, An Introduction to the Philosophy of Law 74 (rev. ed. 1954).

COMPOSITION DEED

composition deed.See DEED.

COMPOSITION OF MATTER

composition of matter.Patents. One of the five types of patentable statutory subject matter, consisting of combinations of natural elements whether resulting from chemical union or from mechanical mixture, and whether the substances are gases, fluids, powders, or solids. • This classification includes chemical compounds such as drugs and fuels, physical products such as plastics and particleboard, and new life forms made by genetic engineering. Its subject matter is always the substance itself, rather than the form or shape. — Often shortened to composition. [Cases: Patents 14. C.J.S. Patents § 22.]

“[A] composition of matter describes what most people imagine to be the goal of the typical laboratory inventor, since it is usually a new chemical invention, although it can be any composition of materials, not limited solely to chemicals.” Arthur R. Miller & Michael H. Davis, Intellectual Property in a Nutshell 21 (2d ed. 1990).

COMPOSITION WITH CREDITORS

composition with creditors.See COMPOSITION(1).

COMPOS MENTIS

compos mentis (kom-p<<schwa>>s men-tis), adj.[Latin “master of one's mind”] Of sound mind; having use of and control over one's own mental faculties. Cf. NON COMPOS MENTIS.

[Cases: Mental Health 3.1.]

COMPOSSESSIO

compossessio (kom-p<<schwa>>-zes[h]-ee-oh). [Latin] Civil law. Possession of a thing in common.

COMPOS SUI

compos sui (kom-p<<schwa>>s s[y]oo-I), adj.[Latin “master of one's self”] (Of a person) having control over one's own limbs, or having the power of bodily motion.

COMPOUND

compound (kom- or k<<schwa>>m-pownd), vb.1. To put together, combine, or construct. 2. To compute (interest) on the principal and the accrued interest. 3. To settle (a matter, esp. a debt) by a money payment, in lieu of other liability; to adjust by agreement. 4. To agree for consideration not to prosecute (a crime). • Compounding a felony in this way is itself a felony. 5. Loosely, to aggravate; to make (a crime, etc.) more serious by further bad conduct.

COMPOUND DUTY

compound duty.See DUTY(4).

COMPOUNDER

compounder (kom- or k<<schwa>>m-pown-d<<schwa>>r).1. One who settles a dispute; the maker of a com-position. — Also termed amicable compounder. See COMPOSITION(1).2. One who knows of a crime by another and agrees, for a promised or received reward, not to prosecute.

COMPOUNDING A CRIME

compounding a crime.The offense of either agreeing not to prosecute a crime that one knows has been com-mitted or agreeing to hamper the prosecution. — Also termed compounding a felony; (archaically) theftbote. See STIFLING OF A PROSECUTION . [Cases: Compounding Offenses 1. C.J.S. Compounding Offenses § 1.]

“If a prosecuting attorney should accept money from another to induce the officer to prevent the finding of an indictment against that person this would be compounding a crime if the officer knew the other was guilty of an offense, but would be bribery whether he had such knowledge or not.” Rollin M. Perkins & Ronald N. Boyce, Criminal Law 539 (3d ed. 1982).

COMPOUNDING A FELONY

compounding a felony.See COMPOUNDING A CRIME.

COMPOUND INTEREST

compound interest.See INTEREST(3).

COMPOUND JOURNAL ENTRY

compound journal entry. See ENTRY(2).

COMPOUND LARCENY

compound larceny. 1. See mixed larceny under LARCENY. 2. See aggravated larceny under LARCENY.

COMPOUND OFFENSE

compound offense. See OFFENSE(1).

COMPOUND POLICY

compound policy. See blanket policy under INSURANCE POLICY.

COMPREHENSIVE GENERAL-LIABILITY INSURANCE

comprehensive general-liability insurance. See INSURANCE.

COMPREHENSIVE GENERAL-LIABILITY POLICY

comprehensive general-liability policy. See INSURANCE POLICY.

COMPREHENSIVE INSURANCE

comprehensive insurance. See INSURANCE.

COMPREHENSIVE NONLITERAL SIMILARITY

comprehensive nonliteral similarity. See SIMILARITY.

COMPREHENSIVE ZONING PLAN

comprehensive zoning plan. A general plan to control and direct the use and development of a large piece of property. See ZONING. [Cases: Zoning and Planning 30. C.J.S. Zoning and Land Planning §§ 2, 5, 12, 39.]

COMPRINT

comprint. (kom-print). Copyright. Hist. The surreptitious and supposedly illegal printing of another bookseller's copy of a work. • Despite the word's appearance as a legal term in dictionaries since 1706, no such offense ever existed. The term, which is properly a verb meaning "to share in printing (a book)," was first given this erroneous definition by John Kersey when he produced a new edition of Edward Phillips's New World of English Words. It has occasionally been copied by legal lexicographers ever since.

COMPRISING

comprising, adj. Patents. (In the transition between the preamble and the body of a patent claim) including; having. • This term does not limit the claim to the specified elements, so a later patent applicant's product or process cannot avoid infringement by merely adding another claim element. See closed-ended claim under PATENT CLAIM.

COMPROMIS

compromis (kom-pr<<schwa>>-mee). [French] Int'l law. An agreement between two or more countries to submit an existing dispute to the jurisdiction of an arbitrator, an arbitral tribunal, or an international court. See compro-missory arbitration under ARBITRATION.

ad hoc compromis (ad hok kom-pr<<schwa>>-mee). An agreement in which countries submit a particular dispute that has arisen between them to an ad hoc or institutionalized arbitral tribunal or to an international court. — Also termed compromis proper; special agreement.

general compromis. An agreement in which countries submit all or a definite class of disputes that may arise between them to an arbitral institution, a court, or an ad hoc arbitral tribunal by concluding a general arbitration treaty or by including an arbitration clause in a treaty. — Also termed abstract compromis; anticipated com-promis.

COMPROMISE

compromise, n. 1. An agreement between two or more persons to settle matters in dispute between them; an agreement for the settlement of a real or supposed claim in which each party surrenders something in concession to the other. — Also termed compromise and settlement; (erroneously) compromise settlement. [Cases: Com-promise and Settlement 1. C.J.S. Compromise and Settlement § 1.] 2. A debtor's partial payment coupled with the creditor's promise not to claim the rest of the amount due or claimed. Cf. ACCORD; ACCORD AND SATISFACTION. — compromise, vb.

COMPROMISE AND SETTLEMENT

compromise and settlement. See COMPROMISE(1).

COMPROMISE VERDICT

compromise verdict. See VERDICT.

COMPROMIS PROPER

compromis proper. See ad hoc compromis under COMPROMIS.

COMPROMISSARIUS

compromissarius (kom-pr<<schwa>>-mi-sair-ee-<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Roman law. See ARBITRATOR.

COMPROMISSORY ARBITRATION

compromissory arbitration. See ARBITRATION.

COMPROMISSUM

compromissum (kom-pr<<schwa>>-mis-<<schwa>>m), n. [Latin “mutual agreement”] Roman law. An agree-ment to submit a controversy to arbitration.

COMPTE ARRÊTÉ

compte arrêté (kawnt a-ray-tay). [French “settled account”] An account stated in writing, and acknowledged to be correct on its face by the party against whom it is stated.

COMPTER

compter (kown-t<<schwa>>r), n. Hist. A debtor's prison.

COMPTIME

comp time. Time that an employee is allowed to take off from work instead of being paid for overtime already worked. — Also termed compensatory time.

COMPTROLLER

comptroller (k<<schwa>>n-troh-l<<schwa>>r). An officer of a business or a private, state, or municipal corporation who is charged with duties usu. relating to fiscal affairs, including auditing and examining accounts and reporting the financial status periodically. — Also spelled controller. [Cases: Corporations 303; Municipal Corporations 172. C.J.S. Corporations § 471; Municipal Corporations §§ 406–408.]

COMPTROLLER GENERAL OF THE UNITED STATES

Comptroller General of the United States. The officer in the legislative branch of the federal government who heads the General Accounting Office. • The Comptroller General is appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. See GENERAL ACCOUNTING OFFICE.

COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY

Comptroller of the Currency. See OFFICE OF THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

COMPULSION

compulsion, n. 1. The act of compelling; the state of being compelled.

“Compulsion can take other forms than physical force; but in whatever form it appears the courts have been indisposed to admit that it can be a defence for any crime committed through yielding to it and the law of the matter is both meagre and vague. It can best be considered under the heads of obedience to orders, martial coercion, duress per minas, and necessity.” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 54 (16th ed. 1952).

2. An uncontrollable inclination to do something. 3. Objective necessity; duress. — compel, vb.

COMPULSORY

compulsory (k<<schwa>>m-p<<schwa>>l-s<<schwa>>-ree), adj. Compelled; mandated by legal process or by statute <compulsory counterclaim>.

compulsory, n. Eccles. law. An order that compels the attendance of a witness.

COMPULSORY APPEARANCE

compulsory appearance. See APPEARANCE.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION

compulsory arbitration. See ARBITRATION.

COMPULSORY-ATTENDANCE LAW

compulsory-attendance law. A statute requiring minors of a specified age to attend school. • Compulsory-attendance laws do not apply to married persons. — Also termed compulsory-school-attendance law. See AMISH EXCEPTION .

COMPULSORY CONDITION

compulsory condition. See CONDITION(2).

COMPULSORY COUNTERCLAIM

compulsory counterclaim. See COUNTERCLAIM.

COMPULSORY-COUNTERCLAIM RULE

compulsory-counterclaim rule. The rule requiring a defending party to present every counterclaim arising out of the same transaction or occurrence that is the basis of the plaintiff's claim. Fed. R. Civ. P. 13(a). • Most courts hold that if a party does not timely bring a compulsory counterclaim, the party is estopped from asserting the claim.

COMPULSORY DISCLOSURE

compulsory disclosure. See DISCLOSURE(2).

COMPULSORY INSURANCE

compulsory insurance. See INSURANCE.

COMPULSORY JOINDER

compulsory joinder. See JOINDER.

COMPULSORY LABOR

compulsory labor. See FORCED LABOR.

COMPULSORY LICENSE

compulsory license. See LICENSE.

COMPULSORY NONSUIT

compulsory nonsuit. See NONSUIT(2).

COMPULSORY PILOT

compulsory pilot. See PILOT.

COMPULSORY PILOTAGE

compulsory pilotage. See PILOTAGE.

COMPULSORY POOLING

compulsory pooling. See POOLING.

COMPULSORY PROCESS

compulsory process. See PROCESS.

COMPULSORY PROCESS CLAUSE

Compulsory Process Clause. The clause of the Sixth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution giving criminal de-fendants the subpoena power for obtaining witnesses in their favor. [Cases: Witnesses 2. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 469–485.]

COMPULSORY PURCHASE

compulsory purchase. Rare. 1. EMINENT DOMAIN. 2. EXPROPRIATION(1).

COMPULSORY SALE

compulsory sale. See SALE.

COMPULSORY-SCHOOL-ATTENDANCE LAW

compulsory-school-attendance law. See COMPULSORY-ATTENDANCE LAW.

COMPULSORY SURRENDER

compulsory surrender. 1. EMINENT DOMAIN. 2. EXPROPRIATION(1).

COMPULSORY UNITIZATION

compulsory unitization. See UNITIZATION.

COMPURGATION

compurgation (kom-p<<schwa>>r-gay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. [Latin con- “together” + purgare “to clear or purge”] Hist. A trial by which a defendant could have supporters (called compurgators), frequently 11 in number, testify that they believed the defendant was telling the truth. — Also termed wager of law; trial by oath. — compur-gatory, adj.

“If a defendant on oath and in a set form of words will deny the charge against him, and if he can get a certain number of other persons (compurgators) to back his denial by their oaths, he will win his case. If he cannot get the required number, or they do not swear in proper form, ‘the oath bursts,’ and he will lose. Though oaths were used in the Roman law of procedure, this institution of compurgation was not known to it. It was, however, common to the laws of many of the barbarian tribes who overran the Roman empire. Because it was so common and so widespread the church adopted it.... The case of King v. Williams in 1824 was the last instance of its use. It was finally abolished in 1833.” 1 William Holdsworth, A History of English Law 305–08 (7th ed.

1956).

COMPURGATOR

compurgator (kom-p<<schwa>>r-gay-t<<schwa>>r).Hist. A person who appeared in court and made an oath in support of a civil or criminal defendant. — Also termed oath-helper. See COMPURGATION.

COMPUTER CRIME

computer crime.See CRIME.

COMPUTER-INFORMATION TRANSACTION

computer-information transaction.Copyright. An agreement whose primary purpose is to create, modify, transfer, or license computer information or rights in computer information.

COMPUTER MATCHING

computer matching.The comparing of computer records in two separate systems to determine whether the same record exists in both systems. • The government, for example, uses computer matching to find persons who are both employed and receiving welfare payments and to find instances in which both divorced parents are claiming the same child on their income-tax returns. See COMPUTER MATCHING AND PRIVACY PROTECTION ACT OF 1988.

COMPUTER MATCHING AND PRIVACY PROTECTION ACT OF 1988

Computer Matching and Privacy Protection Act of 1988.An act that allows governmental agencies, with certain limitations, to compare computerized records to establish or verify eligibility for benefits or to recoup payments on benefits. 5 USCA § 552a. See COMPUTER MATCHING.

COMPUTER PROGRAMS DIRECTIVE

Computer Programs Directive.See DIRECTIVE ON THE LEGAL PROTECTION OF COMPUTER PROGRAMS .

COMPUTER SOFTWARE PROTECTION ACT OF 1980

Computer Software Protection Act of 1980.Copyright. An amendment to the Copyright Act of 1976, defining “computer program” as a literary work for copyright purposes and qualifying the exclusive rights of copy-righted-software owners. 17 USCA § 117.

COMPUTER SOFTWARE PROTECTION ACT OF 1984

Computer Software Protection Act of 1984.Copyright. An amendment to the Copyright Act of 1976, enacted to protect copyrighted computer programs against illegal copying. 17 USCA § 109.

COMPUTER SOFTWARE RENTAL AMENDMENTS ACT

Computer Software Rental Amendments Act.Copyright. A 1990 statute prohibiting computer-program purchasers from leasing, renting, or lending the software for commercial gain. 17 USCA §§ 801–805.

COMPUTUS

computus (kom-py<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin computo “to count up; to reckon”] Hist. A writ to compel a guardian, bailiff, receiver, or accountant to render an accounting. — Also spelled compotus.

COMSTOCKERY

comstockery (kom-stok-<<schwa>>r-ee). (often cap.) Censorship or attempted censorship of art or literature that is supposedly immoral or obscene.

COMSTOCK LAW

Comstock law (kom-stok). An 1873 federal statute that tightened rules against mailing “obscene, lewd, or lascivious” books or pictures, as well as “any article or thing designed for the prevention of conception or procuring of abortions.” • Because of the intolerance that led to this statute, the law gave rise to an English word roughly equivalent to prudery — namely, comstockery. [Cases: Postal Service 31.1.]

CON

con.abbr.1. Confidence <con game>.2. Convict <ex-con>.3. Contra <pros and cons>.4. (cap.) Constitutional <Con. law>.

con,n. See CONFIDENCE GAME.

CONATUS

conatus (k<<schwa>>-nay-t<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Hist. An attempt, esp. to commit a crime.

CONCEALED DEBTOR

concealed debtor.See DEBTOR.

CONCEALED WEAPON

concealed weapon.See WEAPON.

CONCEALMENT

concealment,n.1. The act of refraining from disclosure; esp., an act by which one prevents or hinders the discovery of something; a cover-up. 2. The act of removing from sight or notice; hiding. 3.Insurance. The insured's intentional withholding from the insurer material facts that increase the insurer's risk and that in good faith ought to be disclosed. Cf. NONDISCLOSURE. [Cases: Insurance 2961. C.J.S. Insurance §§ 538, 591–593, 693, 701, 757, 771, 774.] — conceal,vb.

“Concealment is an affirmative act intended or known to be likely to keep another from learning of a fact of which he would otherwise have learned. Such affirmative action is always equivalent to a misrepresentation and has any effect that a misrepresentation would have” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 160 cmt. a (1979).

active concealment.The concealment by words or acts of something that one has a duty to reveal. [Cases: Fraud 16.]

fraudulent concealment.The affirmative suppression or hiding, with the intent to deceive or defraud, of a material fact or circumstance that one is legally (or, sometimes, morally) bound to reveal. — Also termed hidden fraud. [Cases: Fraud 16.]

passive concealment.The act of maintaining silence when one has a duty to speak. [Cases: Fraud 16.]

CONCEALMENT RULE

concealment rule.The principle that a defendant's conduct that hinders or prevents a plaintiff from discovering the existence of a claim tolls the statute of limitations until the plaintiff discovers or should have discovered the claim. — Also termed fraudulent-concealment rule. [Cases: Limitation of Actions 104.]

CONCEDO

concedo (k<<schwa>>n-see-doh). [Latin] Hist. I grant. • This was formerly a term of conveyance.

CONCENTRATION ACCOUNT

concentration account.A single centralized bank account into which funds deposited at or collected at out-of-area locations are periodically transferred.

CONCEPTION OF INVENTION

conception of invention.Patents. The formation in the inventor's mind of a definite and permanent idea of a complete invention that is thereafter applied in practice. • Courts usu. consider conception when determining priority of invention. [Cases: Patents 90(1). C.J.S. Patents §§ 120–122.]

CONCEPTUM

conceptum (k<<schwa>>n-sep-t<<schwa>>m). [Latin “seized”] Civil law. A theft in which the stolen item was searched for and found in someone's possession and in the presence of witnesses. See furtum conceptum under FURTUM.

CONCERTED ACTION

concerted action.An action that has been planned, arranged, and agreed on by parties acting together to further some scheme or cause, so that all involved are liable for the actions of one another. — Also termed concert of action. [Cases: Conspiracy 2, 24(1). C.J.S. Conspiracy §§ 9–15, 17, 113–116.]

CONCERTED ACTIVITY

concerted activity. Labor law. Action by employees concerning wages or working conditions. • Concerted activity is protected by the National Labor Relations Act and cannot be used as a basis for disciplining or discharging an employee. [Cases: Labor Relations 281. C.J.S. Labor Relations §§ 263–264.]

“Typical protected concerted activity involves union organizing, the discussion of unionization among employees, or the attempt by one employee to solicit union support from another employee. But concerted activity need not involve a union. Activities by groups of employees unaffiliated with a union to improve their lot at their work place are deemed protected concerted activities.” Douglas L. Leslie, Labor Law in a Nutshell 84 (3d ed. 1992).

CONCERTED REFUSAL TO DEAL

concerted refusal to deal. Antitrust. An agreement between two or more persons or firms to not do business with a third party. • The parties to the agreement may or may not be competitors. Concerted refusals to deal may violate § 1 of the Sherman Act and are analyzed under either the per se rule or the rule of reason, depending on the nature of the agreement. See BOYCOTT; PER SE RULE; RULE OF REASON.

CONCERT OF ACTION

concert of action. See CONCERTED ACTION.

CONCERT-OF-ACTION RULE

concert-of-action rule. See WHARTON'S RULE.

CONCESSI

concessi (k<<schwa>>n-ses-I). [Latin] Hist. I have granted. • Concessi creates a covenant in a lease for years; it does not warrant title. Concessi often appeared in the phrase demisi, concessi, et ad firmam tradidi (“demised, granted, and let to farm”). Cf. DEDI.

“Concessi (a word much used in Conveyances). In Law it creates a Covenant, as Dedi does a Warranty.” Thomas Blount, Nomo-Lexicon: A Law-Dictionary (1670).

CONCESSIMUS

concessimus (k<<schwa>>n-ses-<<schwa>>-m<<schwa>>s). [Latin] Hist. We have granted. • Concessimus is a term of conveyance that creates a joint covenant on the part of the grantors.

CONCESSIO

concessio (k<<schwa>>n-sesh-ee-oh). [Latin] Hist. A grant. • This is a term of conveyance used to convey in-corporeal property. Pl. concessiones.

“Grants, concessiones; the regular method by the common law of transferring the property of incorporeal here-ditaments, or, such things whereof no livery can be had. For which reason all corporeal hereditaments, as lands and houses, are said to lie in livery; and the others, as advowsons, commons, rents, reversions, etc., to lie in grant.... These therefore pass merely by the delivery of the deed.” 2 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 317 (1766).

CONCESSION

concession, n. 1. A government grant for specific privileges. 2. The voluntary yielding to a demand for the sake of a settlement. 3. A rebate or abatement. 4. Int'l law. A contract in which a country transfers some rights to a foreign enterprise, which then engages in an activity (such as mining) contingent on state approval and subject to the terms of the contract. [Cases: Treaties 8. C.J.S. Treaties § 6.] — concede, vb. — concessive, adj.

CONCESSION BARGAINING

concession bargaining. Labor law. A type of collective bargaining in which the parties negotiate the employees' giving back previously gained improvements in wages, benefits, or working conditions in exchange for some form of job security, such as protection against layoffs. — Also termed employee givebacks; union givebacks. See COLLECTIVE BARGAINING.

CONCESSIT SOLVERE

concessit solvere (k<<schwa>>n-ses-it sol-v<<schwa>>-ree). [Latin “he agreed to pay”] Hist. A form of debt action on a simple contract. • The plaintiff alleged that the defendant had granted and agreed to pay to the plaintiff the sum sued for, but had not done so. The defendant responded with a plea of nunquam indebitatus (“never indebted”). See indebitatus assumpsit under ASSUMPSIT; NUNQUAM INDEBITATUS; common count under COUNT.

CONCESSOR

concessor (k<<schwa>>n-ses-<<schwa>>r). Hist. A grantor. Cf. CONCESSUS.

CONCESSUM

concessum (k<<schwa>>n-ses-<<schwa>>m), p.pl. [fr. Latin concedere “to grant”] Hist. Granted. • Judges used this term to signify their assent to a point made in argument; for example, a court might state that a particular proposition was concessum per totam curiam (“granted by the whole court”).

CONCESSUS

concessus (k<<schwa>>n-ses-<<schwa>>s). Hist. A grantee. Cf. CONCESSOR.

CONCILIATION

conciliation, n. 1. A settlement of a dispute in an agreeable manner. 2. A process in which a neutral person meets with the parties to a dispute and explores how the dispute might be resolved; esp., a relatively unstructured method of dispute resolution in which a third party facilitates communication between parties in an attempt to help them settle their differences. • Some jurisdictions, such as California, have Family Conciliation Courts to help resolve problems within the family. — Also termed (in sense 2) facilitation; conciliation procedure. Cf. MEDIATION; ARBITRATION. — conciliate, vb. — conciliative, conciliatory, adj. — conciliator, n.

CONCILIATION COURT

conciliation court. See small-claims court under COURT.

CONCILIATION PROCEDURE

conciliation procedure. See CONCILIATION(2).

CONCILIIUM

concilium (k<<schwa>>n-sil-ee-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “council”] 1.Hist. The sitting of a court to hear argument in a case; a motion requesting a day to present an argument. 2.CONCILIIUM PLEBIS.

CONCILIIUM PLEBIS

concilium plebis (k<<schwa>>n-sil-ee-<<schwa>>m plee-bis). [Latin “assembly of the people”] Roman law. An assembly of the plebs gathered together to enact legislation. — Often shortened to concilium. See PLEBISCITUM. Cf. comitia tributa under COMITIA.

“Legislation was carried on to some extent by the Comitia Tributa and in an increasing degree by the assembly of the plebs alone, concilium plebis, which, in historical times, was also based on the tribunal organisation. This assembly, presided over by a tribune of the plebs, was active from early times and there was early legislation on constitutional questions, enacted by that body and approved by the Senate, which was regarded as binding on the whole community. Its enactments, plebiscita, were often called, as binding the whole community, leges” W.W. Buckland, A Text-Book of Roman Law from Augustus to Justinian 4 (Peter Stein ed., 3d ed. 1963).

“The pressure of plebeian agitation had led to the creation of tribunes of the plebs (494 B.C.) for the protection of individual citizens from oppression, with the right to hold meetings of an assembly called the Concilium Plebis, which eventually became identical with the Comitia Tributa, except that it comprised only the plebeian members of the Roman people, without the patricians. The resolutions of this assembly (plebiscita) at first bound the plebeians only, but by an obscure development culminating in the passing of the Lex Hortensia of 287 B.C., they came to be binding as laws on the whole people, patricians and plebeians alike.” William A. Hunter, Introduction to Roman Law 16 (F.H. Lawson ed., 9th ed. 1934).

CONCILIIUM REGIS

concilium regis (k<<schwa>>n-sil-ee-<<schwa>>m ree-jis). [Latin “assembly of the king”] Hist. A tribunal that, during the reigns of Edward I and Edward II, heard cases of extraordinary difficulty.

CONCLUDE

conclude, vb. 1. To ratify or formalize (a treaty, convention, or contract) <it can be difficult to amend a contract that the parties have already concluded>. 2. To bind; estop <the admissions concluded the party as a matter of law>. 3. Scots law. To sign (a contract, letter, etc.) for the sale of real property. • This term most commonly appears in the phrase conclude missives.

CONCLUSION

conclusion,n.1. The final part of a speech or writing (such as a jury argument or a pleading).2. A judgment arrived at by reasoning; an inferential statement. 3. The closing, settling, or final arranging of a treaty, contract, deal, etc. See OPINION(2).4.Archaic.An act by which one estops oneself from doing anything inconsistent with the act.

“Conclusion is, when a man by his own act upon record hath charged himself with a duty or other thing So if the sheriff, upon a capias to him directed, returns that he hath taken the body, and yet hath not the body in court at the day of the return, he shall be amerced” Termes de la Ley 102–03 (1st Am. ed. 1812).

CONCLUSIONAL

conclusional,adj. See CONCLUSORY.

CONCLUSIONARY

conclusionary,adj. See CONCLUSORY.

CONCLUSION OF FACT

conclusion of fact.A factual deduction drawn from observed or proven facts; an evidentiary inference. Cf. FINDING OF FACT.

CONCLUSION OF LAW

conclusion of law.An inference on a question of law, made as a result of a factual showing, no further evidence being required; a legal inference. Cf. FINDING OF FACT; LEGAL CONCLUSION.

CONCLUSION TO THE COUNTRY

conclusion to the country.Archaic. The closing part of a pleading that requests the trial of an issue by a jury. Cf. GOING TO THE COUNTRY.

CONCLUSIVE

conclusive,adj. Authoritative; decisive; convincing <her conclusive argument ended the debate>. Cf. CON-CLUSORY.

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE

conclusive evidence.See EVIDENCE.

CONCLUSIVE PRESUMPTION conclusive presumption.See PRESUMPTION.

CONCLUSIVE PROOF

conclusive proof. See conclusive evidence (1) under EVIDENCE.

CONCLUSORY

conclusory (k<<schwa>>n-kloo-z<<schwa>>-ree or -s<<schwa>>-ree), adj. Expressing a factual inference without stating the underlying facts on which the inference is based <because the plaintiff's allegations lacked any supporting evidence, they were merely conclusory>. — Also termed conclusional; conclusionary. Cf. CON-CLUSIVE.

CONCOMITANT

concomitant (k<<schwa>>n-kom-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>nt), adj. Accompanying; incidental <concomitant actions>. — concomitant, n.

CONCOMITANT EVIDENCE

concomitant evidence. See EVIDENCE.

CONCORD

concord (kon-kord or kong-), n. 1. An amicable arrangement between parties, esp. between peoples or nations; a compact or treaty. 2. Archaic. An agreement to compromise and settle an action in trespass.

“Concord is an Agreement made between two or more, upon a Trespass committed; and is divided into Concord executory, and Concord executed... ; one binds not, as being imperfect, but the other is absolute, and ties the Party.” Giles Jacob, A New Law-Dictionary (8th ed. 1762).

3. Archaic. An in-court agreement in which a person who acquired land by force acknowledges that the land in question belongs to the complainant. See DEFORCE. “Next comes the concord, or agreement itself, after leave obtained from the court; which is usually an acknowledgment from the deforcians (or those who keep the other out of possession) that the lands in question are the right of the complainant.” 2 William Blackstone, Commentaries on the Laws of England 350 (1766).

4. Hist. The settlement of a dispute.

final concord. A written agreement between the parties to an action by which they settle the action in court, with the court's permission. — Also termed finalis concordia; final peace.

CONCORDAT

concordat (kon- or k<<schwa>>n-kor-dat). 1. An agreement between a government and a church, esp. the Roman Catholic Church. [Cases: Religious Societies 29. C.J.S. Religious Societies §§ 36–37.]

“The qualification of a treaty as a concordat depends only upon its object and purpose, not upon the name or outward form chosen by the parties. Although the term originally was also used for treaties between States, it has increasingly become restricted to only those treaties concluded with the Holy See.” Heribert Franz Köck, “Con-cordats,” in 1 Encyclopedia of Public

International Law 164 (1992).

2.Hist. Eccles. law. An agreement between ecclesiastical persons concerning a benefice, such as a resignation or promotion. See BENEFICE. 3. An agreement between secular persons or entities.

CONCORDATORY

concordatory (k<<schwa>>n-kor-d<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj. Of or relating to a concordat, esp. one between church and state in France.

CONCORDIA DISCORDANTIUM CANONUM

Concordia discordantium canonum (kon-kor-dee-<<schwa>> dis-kor-dan-shee-<<schwa>>m k<<schwa>>-nohn-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “the harmony of the discordant canons”] Hist. A collection of eccle-siastical authorities compiled by Gratian, an Italian monk, ca. 1140. • Gratian analyzed questions of law by drawing conclusions from side-by-side comparisons of a variety of texts. Later canonist scholarship usu. pro-ceeded from Gratian's work. — Also termed Decretum Gratiani; Decretum.

“Another body of jurisprudence was coming into being. From humble beginnings the canon law had grown into a mighty system. Already it asserted its right to stand beside or above the civil law. The civil law might be the law of earth, ius soli; here was the law of heaven, ius poli.... Many men had been endeavouring to state that law, but the fame of earlier labourers was eclipsed by that of Gratian. A monk of Bologna, that city which was the centre of the new secular jurisprudence, he published ... a book which he called Concordia discordantium canonum, but which was soon to become for all mankind simply the Decretum Gratiani, or yet more simply the Decretum. It is a great law-book. The spirit which animated its author was not that of a theologian, not that of an ecclesiastical ruler, but that of a lawyer.... The Decretum soon became an authoritative text-book and the canonist seldom went behind it.... The canonist had for it rather that reverence which English lawyers have paid to Coke upon Littleton” 1 Frederick Pollock & Frederic W. Maitland, The History of English Law Before the Time of Edward I 112–13 (2d ed. 1898).

CONCOURSE

concourse (kon-kors orkong-).Scots law. 1. The simultaneous existence of two actions based on the same facts, esp. a civil action and a criminal action; the concurrence of a public prosecutor in a private prosecution. 2. The concurrence of the public prosecutor to a criminal prosecution by a private person.

“A private party may prosecute for the punishment of an offence perpetrated against himself, and for which the public prosecutor may refuse to prosecute at the public expense; but the concurrence of the public prosecutor is necessary, and it cannot be refused; or if refused, the case may proceed at the instance of the private party. Concourse is distinguished from Instance. In the former case the public prosecutor merely concurs or consents, whilst in the latter case he is also a principal party prosecuting for the public interest.” Hugh Barclay, A Digest of the Law of Scotland 162 (3d ed. 1865).

3. A conflict among creditors or claimants. See CONCURSUS(1).

CONCUBINAGE

concubinage (kon-kyoo-b<<schwa>>-nij), n.1. The relationship of a man and woman who cohabit without the benefit of marriage. [Cases: Marriage 22. C.J.S. Marriage §§ 24–25.] 2. The state of being a concubine. 3.Hist. A plea in a dower action made by a defendant who asserts that the plaintiff is the defendant's concubine rather than wife.

“Concubinage, in common Acceptation is the Keeping of a Whore or Concubine: But in a legal Sense, it is used as an Exception against her that sueth for Dower, alledging thereby that she was not a Wife lawfully married to the Party, in whose Lands she seeks to be endowed, but his Concubine.” Giles Jacob, A New Law-Dictionary (8th ed. 1762).

CONCUBINATUS

concubinatus (kon-kyoo-bi-nay-t<<schwa>>s), n. [Latin “concubinage”] Roman law. A permanent, mono-gamous union of a man and a woman who are not legally married. • Concubinatus was not prohibited by law, but carried fewer benefits than a legal marriage. Cf. JUSTAE NUPTIAE.

“[C]oncubinage (concubinatus) ... was something to which we have no precise analogue in modern law, for, so far from being prohibited by the law, it was regulated thereby, being treated as a lawful connexion. It is almost a sort of unequal marriage (and is practically so described by some of the jurists) existing between persons of different station — the man of superior rank, the woman of a rank so much inferior that it is not to be presumed that his union with her was intended to be a marriage.” James Bryce, “Marriage and Divorce under Roman and English Law,” in 3 Select Essays in Anglo-American Legal History 806–07 (1909).

CONCUBINE

concubine (kong-ky<<schwa>>-bIn).1.Archaic. A woman who cohabits with a man to whom she is not married. • A concubine is often considered a wife without title. A concubine's status arises from the permanent cohabitation of a man and a woman as husband and wife although without the benefit of marriage. Cf. common-law wife under WIFE; COURTESAN. [Cases: Marriage 54. C.J.S. Marriage §§ 43–44.] 2.Hist. Eccles. law. A secondary or inferior wife, usu. in a polygamous marriage, who lacks the full rights and privileges of the first wife. • Although a concubine was expected to serve all the functions of a legitimate wife, she had no authority in the family or household, and was denied certain legal protections. For instance, her husband could easily disown her, she had no dower rights, and her children could not inherit from their father if he had children by his first wife. A concubine was also barred from certain spiritual comforts, such as churching after the birth of a child.

CONCUBITOR

concubitor (k<<schwa>>n-kyoo-bi-tohr), n. One who keeps a concubine.

CONCUR

concur (k<<schwa>>n-k<<schwa>>r), vb.1. To agree; to consent. 2. In a judicial opinion, to agree with the judgment in the case (usu. as expressed in the opinion of another judge), or the opinion of another judge, but often for different reasons or through a different line of reasoning. 3. (Of a house in a bicameral legislature) to accept an amendment passed by the other house.

“When a bill has been amended in the second house and passed with the amendment, it is returned by that house to the house of its origin with a message stating the facts and requesting the house where the bill originated to concur in the amendment.” National Conference of State Legislatures, Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure § 766, at 553 (2000).

4.Civil law. To join with other claimants in presenting a demand against an insolvent estate.

CONCURATOR

concurator (kon- or k<<schwa>>n-kyuur-<<schwa>>-t<<schwa>>r).Civil law. A joint guardian or co-curator. See CURATOR.

CONCURRENCE

concurrence. 1. Agreement; assent. 2. A vote cast by a judge in favor of the judgment reached, often on grounds differing from those expressed in the opinion or opinions explaining the judgment. 3. A separate written opinion explaining such a vote. — Also termed (in sense 3) concurring opinion. [Cases: Courts 108. C.J.S. Courts § 175.] 4. Acceptance by one house in a bicameral legislature of an amendment passed by the other house.

CONCURRENCY

concurrency,n.1.Archaic. The quality or fact of being concurrent in jurisdiction; joint right or authority. 2.Criminal procedure. An identical duration for two or more criminal sentences assessed against the same de-fendant.

CONCURRENT

concurrent,adj.1. Operating at the same time; covering the same matters < concurrent interests>.2. Having au-thority on the same matters <concurrent jurisdiction>. [Cases: Courts 472, 489, 510; Federal Courts 1131. C.J.S. Courts §§ 186, 203, 222, 225.]

CONCURRENT CAUSE

concurrent cause.See CAUSE(1).

CONCURRENT CONDITION

concurrent condition.See CONDITION(2).

CONCURRENT CONSIDERATION

concurrent consideration.See CONSIDERATION(1).

CONCURRENT COVENANT

concurrent covenant.See COVENANT(1).

CONCURRENT ESTATE

concurrent estate. See ESTATE(1).

CONCURRENT FINDING

concurrent finding. See FINDING OF FACT.

CONCURRENT INTEREST

concurrent interest. See concurrent estate under ESTATE(1).

CONCURRENT JURISDICTION

concurrent jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

CONCURRENT LEASE

concurrent lease. See LEASE.

CONCURRENT LIEN

concurrent lien. See LIEN.

CONCURRENT NEGLIGENCE

concurrent negligence. See NEGLIGENCE.

CONCURRENT POLICY

concurrent policy. See INSURANCE POLICY.

CONCURRENT POWER

concurrent power. See POWER(3).

CONCURRENT REGISTRATION

concurrent registration. Trademarks. The approved recording of identical or similar marks by multiple owners if each mark was commercially used before the owners applied for registration and the risk of consumer confusion is slight. • The U.S. Patent and Trademark Office may impose restrictions on each mark's use to prevent consumer confusion. [Cases: Trade Regulation 152. C.J.S. Trade-Marks, Trade-Names, and Unfair Competition §§ 148, 153, 156–157, 160, 173–174.]

CONCURRENT REMEDY

concurrent remedy. See REMEDY.

CONCURRENT REPRESENTATION

concurrent representation. See REPRESENTATION(2).

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

concurrent resolution. See RESOLUTION(1).

CONCURRENT-SENTENCE DOCTRINE

concurrent-sentence doctrine. The principle that an appellate court affirming a conviction and sentence need not hear a challenge to a conviction on another count if the conviction on the other count carries a sentence that is equal to or less than the affirmed conviction. [Cases: Criminal Law 1177.C.J.S. Criminal Law § 1723.]

CONCURRENT SENTENCES

concurrent sentences. See SENTENCE.

CONCURRENT TORTFEASORS

concurrent tortfeasors. See TORTFEASOR.

CONCURRENT WRIT

concurrent writ. See WRIT.

CONCURRING OPINION

concurring opinion. See CONCURRENCE(3).

CONCURSO

concurso (kon- or k<<schwa>>n-k<<schwa>>r-soh), n. [Latin lit. "to run hither and thither"] Civil law. An action in which a creditor seeks to enforce a claim against an insolvent debtor.

CONCURSUS

concursum (kon- or k<<schwa>>n-k<<schwa>>r-s<<schwa>>s). [Latin "a running together"] 1. Civil & Scots law. A proceeding in which two or more creditors claim, usu. adversely to each other, an interest in a fund or estate so that they can sort out and adjudicate all the claims on the fund. See CONCOURSE (3). 2. Civil law. INTER-PLEADER. 3. Eccles. law. An examination to determine a person's fitness for parochial office.

CONCURSUS DEBITI ET CREDITI

concursum debiti et crediti (k<<schwa>>n-k<<schwa>>r-s<<schwa>>s deb-i-ti et cred-i-ti). [Law Latin] Scots law. A running together of debt and credit. • The phrase appears in reference to requirements for supporting a plea of compensation.

"Concursum debiti et crediti This is necessary to found a plea of compensation, for the parties must be debtor and creditor, each in his own right and at the same time. Thus, if A sue B for payment of a debt due by him, B may plead in compensation a debt due to him by A, and here there is the necessary concurrence. But, if the firm of which A is a partner suing B for a debt due by him to them, be met by the plea of compensation by B, on the ground of a private debt due by A, the plea will not be sustained, for there is no concursus; a company being regarded by the law as a separate person." John Trayner, Trayner's Latin Maxims 88–89 (4th ed. 1894).

CONCURSUS IN DELICTO

concurus in delicto (kon- or k<<schwa>>n-k<<schwa>>r-s<<schwa>>s in d<<schwa>>-lik-toh). [Latin] Cooperation in crime.

CONCUSSIO

concussio (k<<schwa>>n-k<<schwa>>sh-ee-oh), n. [Latin] Roman law. The offense of extorting money or gifts by threat of violence. • In modern civil-law contexts, the term is often anglicized to concussion. — concuss,vb.

CONCUSSIONARY

conclusionary.Archaic. A person who extorts from others under guise of authority; one who practices concussion.

CONDEDIT

condedit (k<<schwa>>n-dee-dit or -ded-it). [Latin “he made (a will)”] Eccles. law. A defensive plea filed by a party in response to an ecclesiastical-court libel (i.e., complaint) questioning the veracity of a will. — Also spelled condidit.

CONDEMN

condemn,vb.1. To judicially pronounce (someone) guilty. 2. To determine and declare (property) to be assigned to public use. See EMINENT DOMAIN. 3. To adjudge (a building) as being unfit for habitation. 4. To adjudge (food or drink) as being unfit for human consumption. 5.Maritime law. To declare (a vessel) to be forfeited to the government, to be a prize, or to be unfit for service.

CONDEMNATION

condemnation (kon-dem-nay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. The act of judicially pronouncing someone guilty; conviction. 2. The determination and declaration that certain property (esp. land) is assigned to public use, subject to reasonable compensation; the exercise of eminent domain by a governmental entity. See EMINENT DOMAIN.

excess condemnation.A taking of land in excess of the boundaries of the public project as designed by the con-demnor. [Cases: Eminent Domain 58. C.J.S. Eminent Domain §§ 68–69.]

inverse condemnation.An action brought by a property owner for compensation from a governmental entity that has taken the owner's property without bringing formal condemnation proceedings. — Also termed constructive condemnation; reverse condemnation. [Cases: Eminent Domain 266. C.J.S. Eminent Domain §§ 375, 377, 381.]

quick condemnation.The immediate taking of possession of private property for public use, whereby the esti-mated compensation is deposited in court or paid to the condemnee until the actual amount of compensation can be established. — Also termed quick-take. [Cases: Eminent Domain 187, 188. C.J.S. Eminent Domain §§ 210–212, 221.]

3. An official pronouncement that a building is unfit for habitation; the act of making such a pronouncement. 4. The official pronouncement that a thing (such as food or drink) is unfit for use or consumption; the act of making such a pronouncement. [Cases: Health 392. C.J.S. Limitations of Actions § 88.] 5. Maritime law. The declaration that a vessel is forfeited to the government, is a prize, or is unfit for service.

CONDEMNATION BLIGHT

condemnation blight. 1. The reduction in value that the property targeted for condemnation suffers in anticipation of the taking. 2. The physical deterioration of property targeted for condemnation in anticipation of the taking.

CONDEMNATION MONEY

condemnation money. 1. Damages that a losing party in a lawsuit is condemned to pay. 2. Compensation paid by an expropriator of land to the landowner for taking the property.

CONDEMNATORY

condemnatory (k<<schwa>>n-dem-n<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj. 1. Condemning; expressing condemnation or censure. 2. Of or relating to the use of eminent domain or expropriation.

CONDEMNEE

condemnee (kon-dem-nee). One whose property is expropriated for public use or taken by a public-works project.

CONDEMNOR

condemnor (kon-dem-noror k<<schwa>>n-dem-n<<schwa>>r). A person or entity that expropriates property for public use. — Also spelled condemner (k<<schwa>>n-dem-n<<schwa>>r).

CONDENSATE

condensate. See DISTILLATE(1).

CONDESCENDENCE

condescendence (kon-di-sen-d<<schwa>>nts), n. Scots law. A statement of facts in a civil pleading, set out in consecutively numbered paragraphs, that the claimant relies on to justify the claim.

CONDICTIO

condictio (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh), n. [fr. Latin condicere “to demand back”] Roman & civil law. A personal action in the nature of demanding something back; an action of debt. • In the sense here used, debt must be understood broadly to cover not only contractual but also quasi-contractual or tort claims. Condictio is usu. founded on an obligation to give or do a certain thing or service. — In English termed condiction; action of debt. Pl. condictiones (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh-neeZ). — condictitious, condictious, adj.

“Condition was a form of legal procedure ... first applied to the recovery of a loan of a definite sum of money, and afterwards applied to a loan of other things ('fungibles') where the return of the loan was required in quantity and quality, but not the identical things; in fact, where the borrower undertook to repay not this, but so much of the article and quality received. When condition was applied to such things, it was said to be called triticaria ('relating to wheat') from one of the most important subjects, but this action (condictio triticaria) was afterwards extended so as to include all cases where things certain, other than coined money, were redemanded. In practice the term triticaria was not used, or Justinian has cut it out." 2 Henry John Roby, Roman Private Law 76 (1902).

"The principal actio stricti juris was the condictio, a general term with many applications. It might be brought for a certain sum of money (condictio certae pecuniae), or for some other certain thing (condictio triticaria), or to assert an illiquid claim (condictio incerti). The various forms of condictio were also distinguished according to the cause which gave rise to them, as condictio furtiva, condictio indebiti, and others" R.W. Lee, The Elements of Roman Law 435 (4th ed. 1956).

condictio causa data, causa non secuta (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh kaw-z<< schwa>> day-t<<schwa>>, kaw-z<<schwa>> non si-kyoo-t<<schwa>>). [Latin "claim for recovery, consideration having been given but consideration not having followed"] Roman & civil law. An action for recovery of money paid when the consideration for the payment has not been furnished. • The classic case in Scotland concerned an advance payment for ship's engines: war broke out, the engines were requisitioned but never supplied, and the payment was held to be recoverable. Pl. conditiones causa data, causa non secuta.

condictio certi (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh s<<schwa>>r-tI). [Latin "claim for recovery of a certain sum or thing"] An action based on a promise to do a thing, where the promise is certain.

condictio ex causa furtiva (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh eks kaw-z<<schwa>> f<<schwa>>r-tI-v<<schwa>>). See condictio rei furtivae.

condictio ex lege (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh eks lee-jee). [Latin "claim for recovery under a statute"] An action arising where a statute creates an obligation but provides no remedy.

condictio furtiva (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh f<<schwa>>r-tI-v<<schwa>>). See condictio rei furtivae.

condictio incerti (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh in-s<<schwa>>r-tI). [Latin "claim for recovery of an uncertain amount"] An action to recover an uncertain amount.

condictio indebiti (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh in-deb-<<schwa>>-tI). [Latin "claim for recovery of something not due"] An action to prevent the unjust enrichment of a defendant who had received money or property from the plaintiff by mistake. — Also termed actio condictio indebiti (though strictly speaking this is a solecism).

condictio ob rem dati, re non secuta (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh ahb rem day-tI, ree non si-kyoo-t<<schwa>>). [Latin "personal claim based on a transfer made for a purpose that has failed"] Roman law. A condition for something handed over for a purpose that has failed, as for the settlement of a lawsuit when in fact the lawsuit has nevertheless continued.

condictio ob turpem vel injustam causam (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh ahb t<<schwa>>r-p<<schwa>>m vel in-j<<schwa>>s-t<<schwa>>m kaw-z<<schwa>>m). [Latin "personal claim based on an immoral or illegal cause"] Roman law. A personal claim by an innocent party to recover money or property paid for an immoral or illegal purpose. — Sometimes shortened to condictio ob turpem causam.

"The condictio ob turpem vel iniustam causam lay where the payment or conveyance had been made for an immoral or illegal purpose (e.g. to induce the recipient not to commit a crime, or to return what he had borrowed and was wrongfully refusing to return). But the plaintiff must not be equally tainted by the 'turpitude,' as he would be, for example, if the payment had been made to induce the recipient to commit a crime." Barry Nicholas, An Introduction to Roman Law 230 (1962).

condictio rei furtivae (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh ree-I f<<schwa>>r-tI-vee). [Latin "claim for recovery of a stolen thing"] An action to recover a stolen thing or its value if the thing could not be returned. • A condictio rei furtivae could be brought by an owner or pledgee against the thief or the thief's heirs. — Also termed condictio furtiva; condictio ex causa furtiva.

condictio sine causa (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh sI-nee kaw-z<<schwa>>). [Latin "claim for recovery of money or a thing given without consideration"] An action for the recovery of property transferred without consideration and in contemplation of a specific event that did not occur, such as a dowry made in view of a marriage that does not take place.

condictio triticaria (k<<schwa>>n-dik-shee-oh trI-ti-kair-ee-<<schwa>>). [Latin "claim for recovery of wheat"] An action for the recovery of a specified quantity of a named commodity.

CONDITIO

conditio (k<<schwa>>n-dish-ee-oh). [Latin] A condition.

CONDITIO SINE QUA NON

conditio sine qua non. See SINE QUA NON.

CONDITIO SI SINE LIBERIS DECESSERIT

conditio si sine liberis decesserit (k<<schwa>>n-dish-ee-oh sIsI-nee lib-<<schwa>>r-is di-ses-<<schwa>>r-it). [Latin "the condition if he should have died childless"] Roman law. An express or implied clause in a will providing that if the heir or legatee dies childless, the property is to go to another person, such as the testator's own descendants.

CONDITION

condition, n.1. A future and uncertain event on which the existence or extent of an obligation or liability depends; an uncertain act or event that triggers or negates a duty to render a promised performance. • For example, if Jones promises to pay Smith $500 for repairing a car, Smith's failure to repair the car (an implied or constructive condition) relieves Jones of the promise to pay.

[Cases: Contracts 218–227. C.J.S. Architects § 16; Contracts §§ 355–358, 362, 444–445, 450, 557–560.]

“ ‘Condition’ is used in this Restatement to denote an event which qualifies a duty under a contract. It is recognized that ‘condition’ is used with a wide variety of other meanings in legal discourse. Sometimes it is used to denote an event that limits or qualifies a transfer of property. In the law of trusts, for example, it is used to denote an event such as the death of the settlor that qualifies his disposition of property in trust. Sometimes it is used to refer to a term in an agreement that makes an event a condition, or more broadly to refer to any term in an agreement (e.g., ‘standard conditions of sale’). For the sake of precision, ‘condition’ is not used here in these other senses.” Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 224 cmt. a (1981).

“Strictly, a condition is a fact or event on the occurrence of which some legal right or duty comes into existence; a party may promise that this fact is so, or that the event will take place, but it is equally possible that no party to the contract promises this. An insurance company promises to pay £ 10,000 to an insured person if his house is destroyed by fire; the destruction of the house by fire is a condition of the insurer's promise to pay, but neither party promises to burn the house.” P.S. Atiyah, An Introduction to the Law of Contract 146 (3d ed. 1981).

“Promises and the duties they generate can be either unconditional (‘I promise to pay you $100,000’) or conditional (‘I promise to pay you $100,000 if your house burns down’). Lawyers use condition in several senses. Sometimes they use it to refer to the term in the agreement that makes the promise conditional.... However, lawyers also use condition to refer to an operative fact rather than to a term. According to the Restatement Second a condition is ‘an event, not certain to occur, which must occur, unless occurrence is excused, before performance under a contract becomes due.’ This use of the word has the support of leading writers.” E. Allan Farnsworth, Contracts § 8.2, at 519–20 (3d ed. 1999).

2. A stipulation or prerequisite in a contract, will, or other instrument, constituting the essence of the instrument. • If a court construes a contractual term to be a condition, then its untruth or breach will entitle the party to whom it is made to be discharged from all liabilities under the contract. [Cases: Contracts 218–227; Wills 639–668. C.J.S. Architects § 16; Contracts §§ 355–358, 362, 444–445, 450, 557–560; Wills §§ 1380–1424.]

affirmative condition. See positive condition.

casual condition. Civil law. A condition that depends on chance; one that is not within the power of either party to an agreement.

collateral condition. A condition that requires the performance of an act having no relation to an agreement's main purpose.

compulsory condition. A condition expressly requiring that a thing be done, such as a tenant's paying rent on a certain day.

concurrent condition. A condition that must occur or be performed at the same time as another condition, the performance by each party separately operating as a condition precedent; a condition that is mutually dependent on another, arising when the parties to a contract agree to exchange performances simultaneously. — Also termed condition concurrent. [Cases: Contracts 225. C.J.S. Contracts § 362.]

“Conditions concurrent are acts that the parties to a contract are under duties of performing concurrently, the act of each party being separately operative as a condition precedent. The act is not concurrent with the legal relation affected, but only with the act of the other party.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 412–13 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

condition implied by law. See constructive condition.

condition implied in law. See constructive condition.

condition precedent (pre-schwa-see-schwa-nt also pres-schwa-d-schwa-nt). An act or event, other than a lapse of time, that must exist or occur before a duty to perform something promised arises. • If the condition does not occur and is not excused, the promised performance need not be rendered. The most common condition contemplated by this phrase is the immediate or unconditional duty of performance by a promisor. [Cases: Contracts 221. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 356, 444–445, 450.]

“Before one gets too confused by the precedent and subsequent classifications, it might be helpful to know that in contract law there is no substantive difference between the two.... However, in the area of pleading and procedure significance may be placed upon the difference between a condition precedent and subsequent in terms of who has the burden of pleading and proof, the party seeking to enforce the promise usually being required to plead and prove a condition precedent and the party seeking to avoid liability for breach of promise sometimes being required to plead and prove the occurrence of the condition subsequent that would terminate his duty.” Claude Rohwer & Gordon D. Schaber, Contracts in a Nutshell 313 (4th ed. 1997).

condition subsequent. A condition that, if it occurs, will bring something else to an end; an event the existence of which, by agreement of the parties, discharges a duty of performance that has arisen. [Cases: Contracts 226. C.J.S. Architects § 16; Contracts § 357.]

“If ... the deed or will uses such words as ‘but if,’ ‘on condition that,’ ‘provided, however,’ or ‘if, however,’ it will generally be assumed that a condition subsequent was intended.” Thomas F. Bergin & Paul G. Haskell, Preface to Estates in Land and Future Interests 50 (2d ed. 1984).

constructive condition. A condition contained in an essential contractual term that, though omitted by the parties from their agreement, a court has supplied as being reasonable in the circumstances; a condition imposed by law to do justice. • The cooperation of the parties to a contract, for example, is a constructive condition. — Also termed implied-in-law condition; condition implied by law; condition implied in law. Cf. implied-in-fact condition. [Cases: Contracts 220. C.J.S. Contracts § 355.]

“[C]onstructive conditions are imposed by law to do justice.... The dividing line between an express condition ... and constructive conditions is often quite indistinct. Yet, the distinction is often of crucial importance. The general rule governing an express condition is that it must be strictly performed. The general rule as to constructive conditions is that substantial compliance is sufficient.” John D. Calamari & Joseph M. Perillo, The Law of Contracts § 11.8, at 402 (4th ed. 1998).

copulative condition (kop-y<<schwa>>-l<<schwa>>-tiv or -lay-tiv). A condition requiring the performance of more than one act. Cf. disjunctive condition; single condition.

dependent condition. A mutual covenant that goes to the consideration on both sides of a contract.

disjunctive condition. A condition requiring the performance of one of several acts. Cf. copulative condition; single condition.

dissolving condition. See resolutive condition.

express condition. 1. A condition that is the manifested intention of the parties. [Cases: Contracts 219.]

“[E]xpress conditions ... are conditions created through the agreement of the parties. This is so whether the intention to have the duty subject to a condition be manifested in words, or through any other conduct or type of utterance.” John Edward Murray Jr., Murray on Contracts § 143, at 290 (2d ed. 1974).

2. A condition that is explicitly stated in an instrument; esp., a contractual condition that the parties have reduced to writing.

implied condition. A condition that is not expressly mentioned, but is imputed by law from the nature of the transaction or the conduct of the parties to have been tacitly understood between them as a part of the agreement. See constructive condition; implied-in-fact condition. [Cases: Contracts 220. C.J.S. Contracts § 355.]

implied-in-fact condition. A contractual condition that the parties have implicitly agreed to by their conduct or by the nature of the transaction. Cf. constructive condition. [Cases: Contracts 220. C.J.S. Contracts § 355.]

implied-in-law condition. See constructive condition.

inherent condition. A condition that is an intrinsic part of an agreement; a condition that is not newly imposed but is already present in an agreement.

lawful condition. A condition that can be fulfilled without violating the law.

mixed condition. Civil law. A condition that depends either on the will of one party and the will of a third person, or on the will of one party and the happening of a causal event.

negative condition. A condition forbidding a party from doing a certain thing, such as prohibiting a tenant from subletting leased property; a promise not to do something, usu. as part of a larger agreement. — Also termed restrictive condition. See negative easement under EASEMENT.

positive condition. A condition that requires some act, such as paying rent. — Also termed affirmative condition.

potestative condition (poh-tes-t<<schwa>>-tiv). Civil law. A condition that will be fulfilled only if the obligated party chooses to do so. • Louisiana no longer uses this term, instead providing that this type of condition will render the obligation null. La. Civ. Code art. 1770. Cf. suspensive condition; resolutive condition. [Cases: Contracts 10. C.J.S. Contracts § 108.]

preexisting condition. Insurance. A physical or mental condition evident during the period before the effective date of a medical-insurance policy. • Typically, coverage for later treatment for such a condition is excluded if symptoms of the condition were present during the period before the policy was effective. [Cases: Insurance 2475.]

promissory condition. A condition that is also a promise.

“The distinction between a condition which is also a promise, and a condition which is not the subject of a promise, is often one of great difficulty and importance, especially where the term is implied and not expressed, and it is unfortunate that legal usage has sanctioned the word ‘condition’ for two such different concepts. It would at least be desirable if lawyers could be persuaded to refer to conditions which are the subject of a promise as ‘promissory conditions’, a usage which it is proposed to adopt here.” P.S. Atiyah, An Introduction to the Law of Contract 147 (3d ed. 1981).

resolutive condition (r<<schwa>>-zol-y<<schwa>>-tor-ee). Civil law. A condition that upon fulfillment terminates an already enforceable obligation and entitles the parties to be restored to their original positions. — Also termed resolutive condition; dissolving condition. Cf. potestative condition.

restrictive condition. See negative condition.

single condition. A condition requiring the performance of a specified thing. Cf. copulative condition; disjunctive condition.

suspensive condition. Civil law. A condition that makes an obligation mandatory only if a specified but uncertain event occurs. Cf. potestative condition. [Cases: Contracts 222. C.J.S. Contracts §§ 356–357.]

testamentary condition. A condition that must be satisfied before a gift made in a will becomes effective.

triggering condition. A circumstance that must exist before a legal doctrine applies; esp., in criminal law, a circumstance that must exist before an actor will be entitled to a justification defense.

unlawful condition. A condition that cannot be fulfilled without violating the law.

3. Loosely, a term, provision, or clause in a contract. [Cases: Sales 85(1); Vendor and Purchaser 79. C.J.S. Sales §§ 99–101, 154; Vendor and Purchaser §§ 125, 141.] “This term condition is generally used to describe any fact, subsequent to the formation of a contract, which operates to make the duty of a promisor immediately active and compelling. Such a fact may be described as such in a term of the contract or it may not. In either event, the term of the contract should not itself be called the condition.... It is not uncommon, popularly, to speak of a condition of the contract as synonymous with term or provision of the contract. This should be avoided.” William R. Anson, Principles of the Law of Contract 226 n.1 (Arthur L. Corbin ed., 3d Am. ed. 1919).

“The word ‘condition’ is used in the law of property as well as in the law of contract and it is sometimes used in a very loose sense as synonymous with ‘term,’ ‘provision,’ or ‘clause.’ In such a sense it performs no useful service.” Id. at 409.

4. A qualification attached to the conveyance of property providing that if a particular event does or does not take place, the estate will be created, enlarged, defeated, or transferred. 5. A state of being; an essential quality or status. — condition,vb.

artificial condition.A physical characteristic of real property, brought about by a person's affirmative act instead of by natural forces.

dangerous condition. 1. A property defect creating a substantial risk of injury when the property is used in a reasonably foreseeable manner. • A dangerous condition may result in waiver of sovereign immunity. [Cases: Automobiles 258; Municipal Corporations 847; Negligence 1086. C.J.S. Motor Vehicles §§ 443, 448–449, 451, 463–464, 467; Municipal Corporations §§ 805–807; Negligence §§ 469–470, 573–574, 580.] 2. A property risk that children, because of their immaturity, cannot appreciate or avoid. [Cases: Negligence 1016, 1067. C.J.S. Negligence §§ 472–495, 513.]

CONDITIONAL

conditional,adj. Subject to or dependent on a condition .

CONDITIONAL ACCEPTANCE

conditional acceptance.See ACCEPTANCE(4).

CONDITIONAL ADJOURNMENT

conditional adjournment.See ADJOURNMENT.

CONDITIONAL ADMISSIBILITY

conditional admissibility.See ADMISSIBILITY.

CONDITIONAL ASSAULT

conditional assault.See ASSAULT.

CONDITIONAL ASSIGNMENT

conditional assignment.See ASSIGNMENT(2).

CONDITIONAL BEQUEST

conditional bequest.See BEQUEST.

CONDITIONAL CONTRABAND

conditional contraband.See CONTRABAND.

CONDITIONAL CONTRACT

conditional contract.See CONTRACT.

CONDITIONAL CONVEYANCE

conditional conveyance.See CONVEYANCE.

CONDITIONAL COVENANT

conditional covenant.See COVENANT(1).

CONDITIONAL CREDITOR

conditional creditor.See CREDITOR.

CONDITIONAL DELIVERY

conditional delivery.See DELIVERY.

CONDITIONAL DEVISE

conditional devise.See DEVISE.

CONDITIONAL DIVORCE

conditional divorce.See conversion divorce under DIVORCE.

CONDITIONAL DUTY

conditional duty.See DUTY(1).

CONDITIONAL ESTATE

conditional estate.See estate on condition under ESTATE(1).

CONDITIONAL FEE

conditional fee. 1. See fee simple conditional under FEE SIMPLE. 2.CONTINGENT FEE .

CONDITIONAL GUARANTY

conditional guaranty.See GUARANTY.

CONDITIONAL INDORSEMENT

conditional indorsement.See INDORSEMENT.

CONDITIONAL JUDGMENT

conditional judgment.See JUDGMENT.

CONDITIONAL LEGACY

conditional legacy. See LEGACY.

CONDITIONAL LIMITATION

conditional limitation. See LIMITATION.

CONDITIONALLY PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATION

conditionally privileged communication. See COMMUNICATION.

CONDITIONAL OBLIGATION

conditional obligation. See OBLIGATION.

CONDITIONAL PARDON

conditional pardon. See PARDON.

CONDITIONAL PAYMENT

conditional payment. See PAYMENT.

CONDITIONAL PLEA

conditional plea. See PLEA(1).

CONDITIONAL PRESUMPTION

conditional presumption. See rebuttable presumption under PRESUMPTION.

CONDITIONAL PRIVILEGE

conditional privilege. See qualified privilege under PRIVILEGE(1).

CONDITIONAL PROMISE

conditional promise. See PROMISE.

CONDITIONAL PROOF

conditional proof. See PROOF.

CONDITIONAL PURPOSE

conditional purpose. 1. An intention to do something, conditions permitting. 2. Criminal law. A possible defense against a crime if the conditions make committing the crime impossible (e.g., "I will steal the money if it's there," and the money is not there).

CONDITIONAL RELEASE

conditional release. See RELEASE.

CONDITIONAL REVOCATION

conditional revocation. See DEPENDENT RELATIVE REVOCATION.

CONDITIONAL RIGHT

conditional right. See RIGHT.

CONDITIONAL SALE

conditional sale. See SALE.

CONDITIONAL SALES CONTRACT

conditional sales contract. See INSTALLMENT CONTRACT.

CONDITIONAL SENTENCE

conditional sentence. See SENTENCE.

CONDITIONAL USE

conditional use. See USE(1).

CONDITIONAL-USE PERMIT

conditional-use permit. See SPECIAL-USE PERMIT.

CONDITIONAL WILL

conditional will. See WILL.

CONDITIONAL ZONING

conditional zoning. See ZONING.

CONDITION CONCURRENT

condition concurrent. See concurrent condition under CONDITION(2).

CONDITION IMPLIED BY LAW

condition implied by law. See constructive condition under CONDITION(2).

CONDITION IMPLIED IN LAW

condition implied in law. See constructive condition under CONDITION(2).

CONDITIONING THE MARKET

conditioning the market. See GUN-JUMPING.

CONDITION OF EMPLOYMENT

condition of employment. A qualification or circumstance required for obtaining or keeping a job.

CONDITION PRECEDENT

condition precedent. See CONDITION(2).

CONDITIONS OF SALE

conditions of sale. The terms under which auctions are to be conducted. • The conditions of sale are usu. placed in the auction room for public viewing before the sale. [Cases: Auctions and Auctioneers 7. C.J.S. Auctions and Auctioneers §§ 2, 8.]

CONDITION SUBSEQUENT

condition subsequent. See CONDITION(2).

CONDOMINIA

condominia (kon-d<<schwa>>-min-ee-<<schwa>>). Civil law. Coownerships or limited ownerships. • Condo-minia are considered part of the dominium of the property, and thus are more than mere rights in the property (i.e., jure in re aliena); examples of condominiums include emphyteusis, superficies, pignus, hypotheca, usufructus, usus, and habitatio.

CONDOMINIUM

condominium (kon-d<<schwa>>-min-ee-<<schwa>>m). 1. Ownership in common with others. 2. A single real-estate unit in a multi-unit development in which a person has both separate ownership of a unit and a common interest, along with the development's other owners, in the common areas. Pl. (for sense 2) condominiums. Cf. COOPERATIVE(2). [Cases: Condominium 1. C.J.S. Estates §§ 193–195, 200, 203.]

“The condominium concept is not new, despite its relatively recent introduction in the United States. Ownership of individual units in buildings can be traced back to ancient Babylon; it was quite common in ancient Rome and in medieval Europe. The earliest condominium statute is Article 664 of the Code Napoleon of 1804, a very brief provision which was later substantially expanded. Condominium statutes were adopted in most nations in Europe, and in Central and South America, before any were adopted in the United States.” Roger A. Cunningham et al., The Law of Property § 2.2, at 34 n.26 (2d ed. 1993).

3. Joint sovereignty by two or more nations. 4. A politically dependent territory under such sovereignty. Pl. condominiums (senses 3 & 4).

CONDONATION

condonation (kon-d<<schwa>>-nay-sh<<schwa>>n), n. 1. A victim's express or (esp.) implied forgiveness of an offense, esp. by treating the offender as if there had been no offense. • Condonation is not usu. a valid defense to a crime. 2. One spouse's express or implied forgiveness of a marital offense by resuming marital life and sexual intimacy. • For example, one spouse might impliedly forgive the other spouse's infidelity by continuing to live with him or her. If adultery is charged as a ground for divorce and condonation is proved, the forgiving spouse is barred from proof of that offense. Cf. COLLUSION(2); CONNIVANCE(2); RECRIMINATION(1); RECONCILIATION. [Cases: Divorce 47. C.J.S. Divorce § 80.]

CONDONE

condone (k<<schwa>>n-dohn), vb. To voluntarily pardon or overlook (esp. an act of adultery). — condonable (k<<schwa>>n-dohn-<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj.

CONDUCTERE ALIQUID FACIENDUM

conducere aliquid faciendum (k<<schwa>>n-d[y]oo-s<<schwa>>-ree al-i-kwid fay-shee-en-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Roman law. To bind oneself to perform work for pay. Cf. LOCARE ALIQUID FACIENDUM.

CONDUCTERE ALIQUID UTENDUM

conducere aliquid utendum (k<<schwa>>n-d[y]oo-s<<schwa>>-ree al-i-kwid yoo-ten-d<<schwa>>m). [Latin] Roman law. To pay for the use of an object; to hire. Cf. LOCARE ALIQUID UTENDUM.

CONDUCT

conduct, n. Personal behavior, whether by action or inaction; the manner in which a person behaves. • Conduct does not include the actor's natural death or a death that results from behavior consciously engaged in but not reasonably expected to have this result. — conduct, vb.

“The word ‘conduct’ ... covers both acts and omissions.... In cases in which a man is able to show that his conduct, whether in the form of action or of inaction, was involuntary, he must not be held liable for any harmful result produced by it” J.W. Cecil Turner, Kenny's Outlines of Criminal Law 13 n.2, 24 (16th ed. 1952).

active conduct. Behavior that involves a person doing something by exerting will on the external world. Cf. passive conduct.

assertive conduct. Evidence. Nonverbal behavior that is intended to be a statement, such as pointing one's finger to identify a suspect in a police lineup. • Assertive conduct is a statement under the hearsay rule, and thus it is not admissible unless a hearsay exception applies. Fed. R. Evid. 801(a)(2). — Also termed implied assertion. [Cases: Criminal Law 419(2.10); Evidence 314(1). C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 869, 871–876; Evidence §§ 259–266, 268, 270–272, 279–280, 283–284, 319.]

contumacious conduct (kon-t[y]oo-may-sh<<schwa>>s). A willful disobedience of a court order. See CON-TUMACY. [Cases: Contempt 20. C.J.S. Contempt §§ 14, 17.]

disorderly conduct. Behavior that tends to disturb the public peace, offend public morals, or undermine public safety. See BREACH OF THE PEACE. [Cases: Disorderly Conduct 1. C.J.S. Disorderly Conduct §§ 2–5.]

“At common law there was no offense known as disorderly conduct, although the offense of breaching the peace made many public disturbances criminal. In addition, this offense could be based on behavior that might cause another to respond in a violent manner even though the party guilty of the breach of the peace acted quietly or secretly, as when a person challenged someone to a duel. The enactment of statutes making disorderly conduct punishable went beyond the common-law notion of a breach of the peace by including behavior that merely tended to disturb the safety, health, or morals of others or that was intended only to annoy another. Further definitions were added later.” Francis Barry McCarthy, “Vagrancy and Disorderly Conduct,” in 4 Encyclopedia of Crime and Justice 1589, 1589 (Sanford H. Kadish ed., 1983).

disruptive conduct.Disorderly conduct in the context of a governmental proceeding. See CONTEMPT.

nonassertive conduct.Evidence. Nonverbal behavior that is not intended to be a statement, such as fainting while being questioned as a suspect by a police officer. • Nonassertive conduct is not a statement under the hearsay rule, and thus it is admissible. Fed. R. Evid. 801. [Cases: Criminal Law 419(2.10); Evidence 314(1). C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 869, 871–876; Evidence §§ 259–266, 268, 270–272, 279–280, 283–284, 319.]

outrageous conduct.Conduct so extreme that it exceeds all reasonable bounds of human decency. See EMO-TIONAL DISTRESS. [Cases: Damages 50.10. C.J.S. Damages §§ 95, 98–104; Torts §§ 67–75, 78.]

passive conduct.Behavior that does not involve exerting will on the external world. Cf. active conduct.

tortious conduct.An act or omission that subjects the actor to liability under the principles of tort law.

unprofessional conduct.Behavior that is immoral, unethical, or dishonorable, esp. when judged by the standards of the actor's profession.

unreasonably dangerous conduct.Conduct that involves undue risk under the circumstances. — Sometimes shortened to dangerous conduct. — Also termed unduly dangerous conduct.

wrongful conduct.An act taken in violation of a legal duty; an act that unjustly infringes on another's rights. — Also termed wrongful act. [Cases: Torts 10(3), 12. C.J.S. Torts §§ 53–54, 59–65.]

CONDUCTIO

conductio (k<<schwa>>n-d<<schwa>>k-shee-oh), n. [Latin “a hiring”] Roman law. The hiring or leasing of services or property. Pl. conductiones (k<<schwa>>n-d<<schwa>>k-shee-oh-nee-z). See locatio conductio under LOCATIO.

CONDUCT MONEY

conduct money.See witness fee under FEE(1).

CONDUCTOR

conductor (k<<schwa>>n-d<<schwa>>k-t<<schwa>>r or -tor), n. [Latin “one who hires”] Roman law. 1. A lessee or a person who hires the services of another; a hirer. 2. A person hired to make a specific work; a contractor. • A contractor, esp. for the provision of public services, was also called manceps or redemptor. See MANCEPS; LOCATOR(1).

CONDUCTOR OPERARUM

conductor operarum (k<<schwa>>n-d<<schwa>>k-t<<schwa>>r [or -tor] op-<<schwa>>-rair-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “a hirer of labor”] Roman law. A person who hires another's labor, esp. manual labor, at a stated price; an employer.

CONDUCTUS

conductus (k<<schwa>>n-d<<schwa>>k-t<<schwa>>s), n. [fr. Latin conducere “to hire”] Roman law. A person or thing hired by a conductor.

CONDUIT TAXATION

conduit taxation. See pass-through taxation under TAXATION.

CONFARREATIO

confarreatio (k<<schwa>>n-far-ee-ay-shee-oh), n. [Latin] Roman law. A religious ceremony used to wed members of the Patrician class in ancient Rome. • By this ceremony, the wife was brought into the husband's family and placed under the husband's protection (manus). Pl. confarreationes (k<<schwa>>n-far-ee-ay-shee-oh-nee). See MANUS(1). Cf. COEMPTIO; USUS(3).

“Anciently, there were three modes in which marriage might be contracted according to Roman usage, one in-volving a religious solemnity, the other two the observance of certain secular formalities. By the religious marriage of Confarreation; by the higher form of civil marriage, which was called Coemption; and by the lower form, which was termed Usus, the Husband acquired a number of rights over the person and property of his wife, which were on the whole in excess of such as are conferred on him in any system of modern jurisprudence. But in what capacity did he acquire them? Not as Husband, but as Father. By the Confarreation, Coemption, and Usus, the woman passed in manum viri, that is, in law she became the Daughter of her husband. She was included in his Patria Potestas.... These three ancient forms of marriage fell, however, gradually into disuse, so that, at the most splendid period of Roman greatness, they had almost entirely given place to a fashion of wedlock — old appar-ently, but not hitherto considered reputable — which was founded on a modification of the lower form of civil marriage.” Henry S. Maine, Ancient Law 149 (10th ed. 1884).

“Confarreatio was a religious ceremony performed in the house of the bridegroom, to which the bride had been conveyed in the state, in the presence of at least ten witnesses and the Pontifex Maximus, or one of the higher priests. A set form of words (carmen — verba concepta) was repeated, and a sacred cake made of Far (farreus panis) — whence the term Confarreatio — was either tasted by or broken over the parties who sat during the performance of various rites, side by side, on a wooden seat made of an ox-yoke covered with the skin of the sheep which had previously been offered in sacrifice.” William Ramsay, A Manual of Roman Antiquities 295 (Rodolfo Lanciani ed., 15th ed. 1894).

CONFECTIO

confectio (k<<schwa>>n-fek-shee-oh), n. [Latin “a completing”] Hist. The act of making or executing a written instrument. Pl. confectiones (k<<schwa>>n-fek-shee-oh-neeZ).

CONFEDERACY

confederacy, n. 1. A league of states or countries that have joined for mutual support or joint action; an alliance. 2. An association of two or more persons, usu. for unlawful purposes; CONSPIRACY. [Cases: Conspiracy 1.1, 2, 23.1, 24. C.J.S. Conspiracy §§ 2–3, 8–17, 98, 100–103, 110, 113–122, 204.] 3. The fact or condition of being allied or associated.

CONFEDERACY CLAUSE

confederacy clause. Archaic. A clause in a complaint charging that the defendant or defendants have combined with others (who may yet be named as defendants) to defraud or deprive the plaintiff of personal rights.

CONFEDERATE

confederate, n. An ally; esp., a coconspirator or accomplice. [Cases: Conspiracy 39; Criminal Law 59. C.J.S. Conspiracy §§ 134, 137; Criminal Law §§ 127, 998.]

CONFEDERATION

confederation. 1. A league or union of states or nations, each of which retains its sovereignty but also delegates some rights and powers to a central authority. • The United States, for example, was first organized under the Articles of Confederation. Cf. FEDERATION.

“A confederation is a union, more or less complete, of two or more states which before were independent. It aims to secure a common good, external, as mutual protection against powerful neighbors, or internal, as commerce and community of justice by means of common institutions.” Theodore D. Woolsey, Introduction to the Study of International Law § 108, at 173 (5th ed. 1878).

confederation of states. A confederation involving a central government that exists and exercises certain powers but does not control all the external relations of the member states. • For international purposes there exists not one but a number of states. Cf. federal state under STATE.

2. An alliance; esp., in a negative sense, a conspiracy.

CONFEREE

conferee (kon-f<<schwa>>r-ee). See MANAGER(2).

CONFERENCE

conference. 1. CONVENTION(3). 2. A meeting between the two houses of a bicameral legislature. See conference committee under COMMITTEE.

“It is proper for either house to request a conference with the other on any matter of difference or dispute between them. When a conference is requested, the subject of the conference should always be stated. One house may request a conference to inquire or protest concerning an offense or default on the part of a member or officer of the other house. When there is a question concerning procedure, or when an unparliamentary message has been sent, instead of replying directly, a conference should be requested. When there are questions as to procedure between the two houses, the proper procedure is to discuss the matter by a conference committee; also, where one house desires to formally present a question to the other, the question should be submitted through a conference committee." National Conference of State Legislatures, Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure § 764, at 551 (2000).

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

conference committee. See COMMITTEE.

CONFERENCE OF CHIEF JUSTICES

Conference of Chief Justices. An organization consisting of the highest judicial officers of all the states in the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and the territories of American Samoa, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. • Established in 1949, the organization seeks to improve the administration of justice in various ways, as by supporting adequate judicial funding, promoting the independence and effectiveness of state judicial systems, and advancing professionalism and lawyer competence. Since 1983, the organization has operated as a nonprofit corporation. Abbr. CCJ.

CONFESS

confess, vb. To admit (an allegation) as true; to make a confession. — confessor, n.

CONFESSED JUDGMENT

confessed judgment. See CONFESSIO OF JUDGMENT.

CONFESSING ERROR

confessing error. A plea admitting to an assignment of error. See ASSIGNMENT OF ERROR .

CONFESSIO IN JUDICIO

confessio in iudicio (k<<schwa>>n-fesh-ee-oh in joo-dish-ee-oh). [Latin "confession in court"] Hist. An in-court confession.

CONFESSION

confession, n. A criminal suspect's oral or written acknowledgment of guilt, often including details about the crime. Cf. ADMISSION; STATEMENT(3). [Cases: Criminal Law 516. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 878.]

"A confession is an acknowledgment in express words, by the accused in a criminal case, of the truth of the main fact charged or of some essential part of it." 3 John H. Wigmore, Evidence in Trials at Common Law § 821, at 308 (James H. Chadbourn ed., 4th rev. ed. 1970).

“The distinction between admissions in criminal cases and confessions by the accused is the distinction in effect between admissions of fact from which the guilt of the accused may be inferred by the jury and the express admission of guilt itself.” William P. Richardson, The Law of Evidence § 394, at 268 (3d ed. 1928).

coerced confession. A confession that is obtained by threats or force. [Cases: Criminal Law 519, 522. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 893, 908.] direct confession. A statement in which an accused person acknowledges having committed the crime.

extrajudicial confession. A confession made out of court, and not as a part of a judicial examination or investigation. • Such a confession must be corroborated by some other proof of the corpus delicti, or else it is insufficient to warrant a conviction. Cf. judicial confession.

implied confession. A confession in which the person does not plead guilty but invokes the mercy of the court and asks for a light sentence.

indirect confession. A confession that is inferred from the defendant's conduct.

interlocking confessions. Confessions by two or more suspects whose statements are substantially the same and consistent concerning the elements of the crime. • Such confessions are admissible in a joint trial. [Cases: Criminal Law 528. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 983, 988–990.]

involuntary confession. A confession induced by the police or other law-enforcement authorities who make promises to, coerce, or deceive the suspect. [Cases: Criminal Law 519–526. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 882, 893–897, 901, 903, 906–912, 929–931.]

judicial confession. A plea of guilty or some other direct manifestation of guilt in court or in a judicial proceeding. Cf. extrajudicial confession.

naked confession. A confession unsupported by any evidence that a crime has been committed, and therefore usu. highly suspect. [Cases: Criminal Law 535. C.J.S. Criminal Law § 942.]

oral confession. A confession that is not made in writing. • Oral confessions are admissible, though as a practical matter police interrogators prefer to take written or recorded confessions since juries typically view these as being more reliable.

plenary confession (plee-n<<schwa>>-ree or plen-<<schwa>>-). A complete confession; one that is believed to be conclusive against the person who made it.

relative confession. Hist. A confession of guilt coupled with an accusation against another person as a participant in the crime. • If the accusation against the other person was proved, the accusing defendant was pardoned. If not, the defendant was convicted on the confession. See State v. Willis, 41 A. 820, 825 (Conn. 1898). See AP-PROVER(1).

threshold confession. A spontaneous confession made promptly after arrest and without interrogation by the police. • The issue whether the defendant's statement is a threshold confession usu. arises when the defendant challenges the admissibility of the confession on grounds that he or she suffered an impermissibly long delay before being brought before a magistrate. Courts generally admit this type of confession into evidence if the confession was given before the delay occurred.

voluntary confession. A confession given freely, without any benefit or punishment promised, threatened, or expected.

CONFESSION AND AVOIDANCE

confession and avoidance. A plea in which a defendant admits allegations but pleads additional facts that deprive the admitted facts of an adverse legal effect. • For example, a plea of contributory negligence (before the advent of comparative negligence) was a confession and avoidance. — Also termed avoidance; plea in confession and avoidance; plea of confession and avoidance. [Cases: Pleading 130. C.J.S. Pleading § 197.]

CONFESSION OF JUDGMENT

confession of judgment. 1. A person's agreeing to the entry of judgment upon the occurrence or nonoccurrence of an event, such as making a payment. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2396; Judgment 29. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 138, 152–153, 169.] 2. A judgment taken against a debtor by the creditor, based on the debtor's written consent. [Cases: Federal Civil Procedure 2396; Judgment 29–70. C.J.S. Judgments §§ 138–181, 363–369.] 3. The paper on which the person so agrees, before it is entered. — Also termed confessed judgment; cognovit judgment; statement of confession; warrant of confession; judgment by confession. See COGNOVIT. Cf. WARRANT OF ATTORNEY.

CONFIDENCE

confidence. 1. Assured expectation; firm trust; faith <the partner has confidence in the associate's work>. 2. Reliance on another's discretion; a relation of trust <she took her coworker into her confidence>. 3. A communication made in trust and not intended for public disclosure; specif., a communication protected by the attorney–client or similar privilege <the confidences between lawyer and client>. • Under the ABA Code of Professional Responsibility, a lawyer cannot reveal a client's confidence unless the client consents after full disclosure. DR 4–101. Cf. SECRET(2). [Cases: Witnesses 189–223. C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 302–312, 314–389.] — confide, vb.

CONFIDENCE GAME

confidence game. A means of obtaining money or property whereby a person intentionally misrepresents facts to gain the victim's trust so that the victim will transfer money or property to the person. — Also termed con game; con. Cf. BUNCO. [Cases: False Pretenses 16.]

CONFIDENCE MAN

confidence man. One who defrauds a victim by first gaining the victim's confidence and then, through trickery, obtaining money or property; a swindler. • The equivalent term confidence woman is exceptionally rare, even though women are often involved in confidence games. — Often shortened to con man. See CONFIDENCE GAME. Cf. BUNCO-STEERER.

CONFIDENTIAL

confidential,adj.1. (Of information) meant to be kept secret <confidential settlement terms>.2. (Of a relationship) characterized by trust and a willingness to confide in the other .

CONFIDENTIAL ADOPTION

confidential adoption.See closed adoption under ADOPTION.

CONFIDENTIAL COMMUNICATION

confidential communication.See COMMUNICATION.

CONFIDENTIALITY

confidentiality,n.1. Secrecy; the state of having the dissemination of certain information restricted. 2. The relation between lawyer and client or guardian and ward, or between spouses, with regard to the trust that is placed in the one by the other. [Cases: Witnesses 184–223. C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 297–389.]

CONFIDENTIALITY AGREEMENT

confidentiality agreement.See NONDISCLOSURE AGREEMENT.

CONFIDENTIALITY STATUTE

confidentiality statute.A law that seals adoption records and prevents an adopted child from learning the identity of his or her biological parent and prevents the biological parent from learning the identity of the adoptive parents. — Also termed sealed-record statute.

CONFIDENTIAL MARRIAGE

confidential marriage.See MARRIAGE(1).

CONFIDENTIAL RELATIONSHIP

confidential relationship.See RELATIONSHIP.

CONFIDENTIAL SOURCE

confidential source.A person who provides information to a law-enforcement agency or to a journalist on the express or implied guarantee of anonymity. • Confidentiality is protected both under the Federal Freedom of Information Act (for disclosures to law enforcement) and under the First Amendment (for disclosures to jour-nalists). [Cases: Witnesses 196.1, 216(4).C.J.S. Witnesses §§ 358, 365.]

CONFINEE

confinee. A person held in confinement.

CONFINEMENT

confinement, n. The act of imprisoning or restraining someone; the state of being imprisoned or restrained <solitary confinement>. See SOLITARY CONFINEMENT. — confine, vb.

CONFIRM

confirm, vb. 1. To give formal approval to <confirm the bankruptcy plan>. [Cases: Bankruptcy 3566.1, 3683.1, 3715(1). C.J.S. Bankruptcy § 449.] 2. To verify or corroborate <confirm that the order was signed>. 3. To make firm or certain <the judgment confirmed the plaintiff's right to possession>.

CONFIRMATIO

confirmatio (kon-f<<schwa>>r-may-shee-oh). [Latin “confirmation”] Hist. A confirmation of a voidable estate. See CONFIRMATION(3).

confirmatio crescens (kon-f<<schwa>>r-may-shee-oh kres-enz). [Latin “growing confirmation”] A confirmation that enlarges an estate.

confirmatio diminuens (kon-f<<schwa>>r-may-shee-oh di-min-yoo-enz). [Latin “diminishing confirmation”] A confirmation that decreases the services that a tenant must perform.

confirmatio perficiens (kon-f<<schwa>>r-may-shee-oh p<<schwa>>r-fish-ee-enz). [Latin “perfecting confirmation”] A confirmation that ratifies a wrongful and defeasible title, or makes a conditional estate absolute.

CONFIRMATIO AD OMISSA VEL MALE APPRETIATA

confirmatio ad omissa vel male appretiata (kon-f<<schwa>>r-may-shee-oh ad oh-mis-<<schwa>> vel mal-ee <<schwa>>-pree-shee-ay-t<<schwa>>). [Law Latin] Scots law. Confirmation (by an executor) of subjects omitted or wrongly valued in a previously provided inventory.

CONFIRMATIO CHARTARUM

Confirmatio Chartarum (kon-f<<schwa>>r-may-shee-oh kahr-tair-<<schwa>>m). [Latin “confirmation of the charters”] Hist. A declaration first made by Henry III in 1225 confirming the guarantees of Magna Carta and the Charter of the Forest. • It was not enrolled until 1297, when, during the reign of Edward I, it was enacted, thus introducing these charters into the common law. — Also spelled Confirmatio Cartarum.

“For lawyers, the really important date is neither 1215 nor 1225, when Henry's Charter took its final form, but 1297, when Edward I, in his Inspeximus, confirmed the Charter of 1225 and the Forest Charter, which was issued at the same time (Confirmatio Chartarum). The important element in the Confirmatio is the statement that the Charter might be pleaded in every royal court, either to support a claim or a defense. The Charter becomes in this way part of the law — the Common Law — which, in 1297, was already a definite concept although it was not yet quite the equivalent of the law of England. Until then, the political aspects of the Charter had been much the more important.” Max Radin, Handbook of Anglo-American Legal History 156 (1936).

CONFIRMATION

confirmation, n. 1. The act of giving formal approval <Senate confirmation hearings>. [Cases: United States 35. C.J.S. United States §§ 23, 53, 56–57.] 2. The act of verifying or corroborating; a statement that verifies or corroborates <the journalist sought confirmation of the district attorney's remarks>. 3. The act of ratifying a voidable estate; a type of conveyance in which a voidable estate is made certain or a particular estate is increased <deed of confirmation>. [Cases: Deeds 51. C.J.S. Deeds § 71.] 4. Civil law. A declaration that corrects a null provision of an obligation in order to make the provision enforceable. 5. Commercial law. A bank's agreement to honor a letter of credit issued by another bank. [Cases: Banks and Banking 191. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 341–366, 368–370, 372–376.] Cf. RATIFICATION. — confirmatory (k<<schwa>>n-f<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj.

silent confirmation. A bank's confirmation based on the request of the beneficiary of the credit rather than the issuing bank. [Cases: Banks and Banking 191. C.J.S. Bills and Notes; Letters of Credit §§ 341–366, 368–370, 372–376.]

CONFIRMATION OF SALE

confirmation of sale. A court's approval — usu. in the form of a docket entry or order — of the terms of a court-ordered sale. [Cases: Judicial Sales 31. C.J.S. Judicial Sales §§ 29–30.]

CONFIRMATION SLIP

confirmation slip. The form verifying a purchase or sale of a security, usu. mailed by the broker to the investor. — Also termed transaction slip; sold note.

CONFIRMATIO PERFICIENS

confirmatio perficiens. See CONFIRMATIO.

CONFIRMAVI

confirmavi (kon-f<<schwa>>r-may-vI). [Latin] Hist. I have confirmed. • The emphatic word in a deed of confirmation. See CONFIRMATION(3).

CONFIRMED LETTER OF CREDIT

confirmed letter of credit. See LETTER OF CREDIT.

CONFIRMEE

confirmée (kon-f<<schwa>>r-mee). Hist. The grantee of a deed of confirmation. See CONFIRMATION(3).

CONFIRMOR

confirmor (k<<schwa>>n-f<<schwa>>r-m<<schwa>>r or -mor). Hist. The grantor of a deed of confirmation. See CONFIRMATION(3).

CONFISCABLE

confiscable (k<<schwa>>n-fis-k<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l orkon-f<<schwa>>-sk<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj. (Of property) liable to confiscation; subject to forfeiture <confiscable contraband>. [Cases: Controlled Substances 164; Forfeitures 3.]

CONFISCARE

confiscare (kon-fi-skair-ee), vb.[Latin con “together” + fiscus “treasury”] Hist. To seize (property) for the gov-ernment.

CONFISCATE

confiscate (kon-f<<schwa>>-skayt), vb.1. To appropriate (property) as forfeited to the government. 2. To seize (property) by authority of law.

CONFISCATION

confiscation (kon-fi-skay-sh<<schwa>>n), n.1. Seizure of property for the public treasury. 2. Seizure of property by actual or supposed authority. — confiscatory (k<<schwa>>n-fis-k<<schwa>>-tor-ee), adj. — confiscator (kon-f<<schwa>>-skay-t<<schwa>>r), n.

CONFISCATORY RATE

confiscatory rate.See RATE.

CONFITENS REUS

confitens reus (kon-f<<schwa>>-tenz ree-<<schwa>>s). [Latin “confessing accused”] Hist. An accused person who admits committing the offense.

CONFLICT

conflict. See CONFLICT OF LAWS.

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE

conflicting evidence.See EVIDENCE.

CONFLICTING PRESUMPTION

conflicting presumption.See PRESUMPTION.

CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY

conflict of authority. 1. A disagreement between two or more courts, often courts of coordinate jurisdiction, on a point of law. 2. A disagreement between two or more treatise authors or other scholars, esp. in an area in which scholarly authority is paramount, such as public or private international law.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

conflict of interest. 1. A real or seeming incompatibility between one's private interests and one's public or fiduciary duties. 2. A real or seeming incompatibility between the interests of two of a lawyer's clients, such that the lawyer is disqualified from representing both clients if the dual representation adversely affects either client or if the clients do not consent. See Model Rules of Prof'l Conduct 1.7(a). [Cases: Attorney and Client 20.1.]

CONFLICT OF LAWS

conflict of laws. 1. A difference between the laws of different states or countries in a case in which a transaction or occurrence central to the case has a connection to two or more jurisdictions. — Often shortened to conflict. Cf. CHOICE OF LAW. [Cases: Action 17. C.J.S. Actions §§ 18–20; Conflict of Laws §§ 2–3, 12, 15, 20, 23, 27–32, 34–40, 42–48, 50–65, 96–97, 100, 102, 105–107.]

conflict of personal laws. 1. A difference of laws between a jurisdiction's general laws and the laws of a racial or religious group, such as a conflict between federal law and American Indian tribal law. 2. A difference between personal laws. See PERSONAL LAW.

false conflict of laws. 1. A situation resembling but not embodying an actual conflict because the potentially applicable laws do not differ, because the laws' underlying policies have the same objective, or because one of the laws is not meant to apply to the case before the court. 2. The situation in which, although a case has a territorial connection to two or more states whose laws conflict with one another, there is no real conflict because one state has a dominant interest in having its law chosen to govern the case — hence there is no real conflict. 3. The situation in which the laws of all states that are relevant to the facts in dispute either are the same or would produce the same decision in the case. — Often shortened to false conflict.

2. The body of jurisprudence that undertakes to reconcile such differences or to decide what law is to govern in these situations; the principles of choice of law. — Often shortened (in sense 2) to conflicts. — Also termed (in international contexts) private international law; international private law. “The phrase [conflict of laws], although inadequate, because it does not cover questions as to jurisdiction, or as to the execution of foreign judgments, is better than any other.” Thomas E. Holland, The Elements of Jurisprudence 421 (13th ed. 1924).

CONFLICT OUT

conflict out, vb. To disqualify (a lawyer or judge) on the basis of a conflict of interest <the judge was conflicted out of the case by his earlier representation of one of the litigants>. [Cases: Attorney and Client 20.1; Judges 39. C.J.S. Judges §§ 62, 98, 100–102, 107.]

CONFLICT PREEMPTION

conflict preemption. See obstacle preemption under PREEMPTION.

CONFLICTS

conflicts. See CONFLICT OF LAWS(2).

CONFORMED COPY

conformed copy.See COPY.

CONFORMING

conforming,adj. Being in accordance with contractual obligations <conforming goods> <conforming conduct>. UCC § 2-106(2). [Cases: Sales 153, 166(1). C.J.S. Sales §§ 161–162, 164, 176, 182.]

CONFORMING USE

conforming use.See USE(1).

CONFORMITY ACT

Conformity Act.Hist. An 1872 federal statute providing that the practice and procedure in federal district courts (other than in equity and admiralty matters) must conform to the practice and procedure used by the state courts for like cases. • The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (effective in 1938) superseded the Conformity Act.

“[E]ven where there was conformity, it was to be ‘as near as may be,’ and this was understood by the Court to make the Conformity Act ‘to some extent only directory and advisory’ and to permit the federal judge to disregard a state practice that would, in his view, ‘unwisely encumber the administration of the law, or tend to defeat the ends of justice.’ With all these exceptions to conformity, and with the judge left somewhat at large to decide when he would conform, it is hardly surprising that the result was, in the view of a distinguished commentator, ‘a mixture of conflicting decisions, which have served to cloud the whole subject in hideous confusion and shifting certainty.’ ” Charles Alan Wright, The Law of Federal Courts § 61, at 425–26 (5th ed. 1994) (quoting Indianapolis & St. Louis Ry. Co. v. Horst, 93 U.S. 291, 300–01 (1876)).

CONFORMITY HEARING

conformity hearing. 1. A court-ordered hearing to determine whether the judgment or decree prepared by the prevailing party conforms to the decision of the court. 2. A hearing before a federal agency or department to determine whether a state-submitted plan complies with the requirements of federal law. • This type of hearing is common in cases involving social services.

CONFRONTATION CLAUSE

Confrontation Clause.The Sixth Amendment provision generally guaranteeing a criminal defendant's right to confront an accusing witness face-to-face and to cross-examine that witness. • This right may be overridden if the witness is esp. vulnerable, as with a child who is an alleged victim of sexual abuse. Even then, the defendant's attorney must have an opportunity to examine the witness while the defendant observes by means of closed-circuit television or the like. See Maryland v. Craig, 497 U.S. 836, 110 S.Ct. 3157 (1990). [Cases: Criminal Law 662.1–662.80. C.J.S. Criminal Law §§ 1115–1133.]

CONFUSIO

confusio (k<<schwa>>n-fyoo-zhee-oh), n. [fr. Latin confundere “to pour together”] 1. Roman law. An inseparable mixture of liquid property belonging to different owners. Cf. COMMIXTIO. 2. Roman law. The extinction of a right or duty that occurs when the roles of creditor and debtor become united in one person. 3. Scots law. A doctrine whereby a lesser right is absorbed into a greater right and is thus extinguished. • For example, if a debtor acquired the rights of a creditor, the debt would become meaningless.

“When the rights of both creditor and debtor come to be vested in the one person, in the same legal capacity, as by succession, gift or purchase, the obligation is extinguished, unless the creditor has an interest to maintain the obligation in being or the intention appears that confusio was not to operate. Obligations are not necessarily extinguished confusione where there is a legal relationship, independent of the pecuniary interests thereof, capable of revival by a subsequent separation of interests, as in the case of superior and vassal, and dominant and serient tenements in relation to servitude.” 2 David M. Walker, Principles of Scottish Private Law: Law of Obligations 170 (1988).

CONFUSIO BONORUM

confusio bonorum (k<<schwa>>n-fyoo-zhee-oh b<<schwa>>-nor-<<schwa>>m). See CONFUSION OF GOODS.

CONFUSION

confusion. 1. CONFUSION OF GOODS. 2. MERGER(9).

“Confusion is the intermingling of two or more pieces of personal property so that the property rights in each can no longer be distinguished. Thereafter, no specific identification or separation of the formerly separate chattel is possible. Such an intermingling occurs most often with fungible goods like gas, oil, grain, mineral ore, or unmarked timber.” Barlow Burke, Personal Property in a Nutshell 379 (2d ed. 1993).

3. Trademarks. A consumer's mistaken belief about the origin of goods or services. See LIKELIH-OOD-OF-CONFUSION TEST.

direct confusion. See forward confusion.

forward confusion. Confusion occurring when consumers are likely to believe mistakenly that the infringing company's products are from the same source as the trademark owner's. • In forward-confusion cases, the in-fringing company is usu. smaller than the owner. Thus, consumers may believe the infringer to be an affiliate of the owner. — Also termed direct confusion.

reverse confusion. Confusion occurring when consumers are likely to believe mistakenly — usu. through wide-spread advertising and promotion by the infringing company — that the trademark owner's products are actually those of the infringer. • Reverse confusion often injures the owner's reputation and goodwill. In an action for reverse confusion, the trademark owner is typically the smaller company.

CONFUSION OF BOUNDARIES

confusion of boundaries. The branch of equity that deals with the settlement of disputed or uncertain real-property boundaries. [Cases: Boundaries 26. C.J.S. Boundaries §§ 106, 109.]

CONFUSION OF DEBTS

confusion of debts. See MERGER(9).

CONFUSION OF GOODS

confusion of goods. The mixture of things of the same nature but belonging to different owners so that the identification of the things is no longer possible. • If this occurs by common consent of the owners, they are owners in common, but if the mixture is done willfully by one person alone, that person loses all right in the property unless (1) the goods can be distinguished and separated among owners, or (2) the mixing person's goods are equal in value to the goods with which they were intermingled. Confusion of goods combines the civil-law concepts of confusio (a mixture of liquids) and commixtio (a mixture of dry items). — Also termed intermixture of goods; confusio bonorum. [Cases: Confusion of Goods 1–5. C.J.S. Confusion of Goods §§ 1–7, 13.]

CONFUSION OF RIGHTS

confusion of rights. See MERGER(9).

CONFUSION OF TITLES

confusion of titles. Civil law. The merger of two titles to the same land in the same person. Cf. MERGER(9).

CON GAME

con game. See CONFIDENCE GAME.

CONGEABLE

congeable (kon-jee-<<schwa>>-b<<schwa>>l), adj. [fr. French congé “permission”] Hist. Lawful; permissible.

CONGÉ D'ACCORDER

congé d'accorder (kawn-zhay da-kor-day). [Law French] Hist. Leave to accord. • Courts used this phrase in fictitious land-title lawsuits to grant the defendant permission to agree with the plaintiff's allegations. See FINE(1).

CONGÉ D'EMPARLER

congé d'emparler (kawn-zhay dawm-pahr-lay). [French] Hist. Leave to imparl. • This phrase was formerly used by a defendant to request leave of court for additional time to file a responsive pleading. See IMPARLANCE.

CONGERIES

congeries (kon-jeer-eez orkon-j<<schwa>>-reez). A collection or aggregation .

CONGLOMERATE

conglomerate (k<<schwa>>n-glom-<<schwa>>r-it), n. A corporation that owns unrelated enterprises in a wide variety of industries. [Cases: Corporations 3. C.J.S. Corporations §§ 5–7, 62.] — conglomerate (k<<schwa>>n-glom-<<schwa>>-rayt), vb. — conglomerate (k<<schwa>>n-glom-<<schwa>>r-it), adj.

CONGLOMERATE MERGER

conglomerate merger.See MERGER.

CONGRESS

