Oklahoma City Zoo (OKC Zoo) gorilla female Kelele and the birth of her male offspring Leom represent an interesting and heartfelt 2013 event, as the zoo's Supervisor of Great Apes Robin Newby describes below. Thanks for this contribution to this year's studbook are extended as well to photographer Thane Johnson.

In 2000, a young female gorilla, Kelele, arrived at OKC Zoo from Toledo Zoo to become part of a family group. In 2002, a silverback, Bom Bom, on loan from Audubon Zoo, also came to OKC Zoo to be the head of the same family group. This was the start of an amazing story of two remarkable animals destined to produce a third.

Bom Bom was a distinguished silverback who became a great leader at OKC Zoo. Always being sure that his gorillas were never left behind, Bom Bom was the last one to leave the dayroom or come in from the exhibit. One of his biggest challenges was Kelele. She was the lowest ranking female in the troop and never showed much interest interacting with other gorillas.

Although these two gorillas had a breeding recommendation, they never produced any offspring. Bom Bom sired a male, George, in 2004 with the matriarch of the group, Kathy (see the note on following page regarding this special gorilla). After a few more years of breeding and still no offspring, staff members thought something might be wrong with Kelele. In 2009, OKC Zoo veterinary staff and Dr. LaTasha Craig, a fertility specialist with University of Oklahoma Physicians Reproductive Medicine, performed a reproductive assessment on Kelele. Kelele was found to have a high level of prolactin, which was preventing her from becoming pregnant. Proper medication, Cabergoline, was prescribed in January of 2010 to help keep her hormone levels closer to normal.

Meanwhile, Bom Bom was diagnosed with heart disease in 2009 and was put on medication to help his condition. Over the next three years, both the ape staff and veterinary staff battled Bom Bom's fluctuating weight loss as well as hip and lower back pain. At the end of June 2012, OKC Zoo lost Bom Bom to a heart aneurism. Kelele was taken off Cabergoline since there was no longer a silverback to breed. The staff never anticipated the last surprise the "Bom" would leave them.

In October of 2012, the ape staff noticed slight changes in Kelele's appearance. She is trained to present her genitals to swab for menses and this had not been done since the beginning of May due to introductions and restructuring of the family groups. With the history of Kelele and Bom Bom not producing an offspring over many years and the passing of Bom Bom at the end of June, the chances of Kelele being pregnant were very slim. The ape staff conducted a pregnancy test on her and it was positive! Two more pregnancy tests were also positive. In the last days of his life, Bom Bom had left one more addition to his legacy.

This was Kelele's first pregnancy and she herself was hand-raised and then introduced to a surrogate mother. However, she had been around Kathy, who was a fantastic mom to George. In addition, OKC Zoo was to receive a new silverback from St. Paul's Como Zoo for the group of females that Bom Bom headed. This silverback, Togo, had been part of a bachelor group for the past ten years and had little experience with adult females or infants. Therefore, the decision was made between Gorilla SSP and OKC Zoo to move Kelele to silverback Tatu's group. Tatu is known for his tolerance toward all youngsters.

Introductions went smoothly and Kelele was doing well in her new group. She was also trained to voluntarily present her belly for ultrasounds. Staff was able to obtain two months of weekly ultrasounds before she gave birth.

Cameras were installed and birth plans were given to staff in preparation for the birth. Kelele showed no signs of labor the previous day, but staff came in on the morning of February 14, 2013, to find her cradling a baby boy. The camera showed she had given birth on her own and had done a fantastic job. Staff monitored her and the baby for 72 hours around the clock to make sure the baby and mother were doing well; nursing was occurring and she was doing a great job supporting him. Staff came up with a unique name for the baby boy. Leom was chosen as a combination of both parents' names, Kelele and Bom Bom.

Kelele was an amazing mother for about a month before her appetite declined and she started putting Leom down on the ground. She became lethargic and could not take care of Leom properly. It was decided to anesthetize her to find out what was wrong. Leom was pulled and supported by the staff for a day while OKC Zoo vet staff performed tests and an MRI with the help of a local equine center. They found that Kelele had a severe infection in her colon. Staff believed that the stress of the interaction with the other three juvenile males being so curious about Leom and trying to get so close to Kelele to see him, along with the stress of being a new mom, were factors contributing to the infection. Kelele was put on antibiotics and Leom was given back to her the same day when staff felt she was able to take care of him.

Kelele and Leom were separated from the group for a few weeks while she recovered. This also gave her time to tighten her bond with Leom. The group was reunited when the staff felt Kelele was healthy enough to resume her duties in the group. During the day the entire group is together; but overnight Kelele and Leom are separated with female Muke to give them a break from the three boys and get some solid rest

Today, Kelele continues to be an amazing mother and Leom is a six-month-old gorilla who is crawling, climbing, and enjoying his life that began in a miraculous way.

Note

At 50 years of age, Kathryn, or Kathy, died in February 2013. She had resided at the zoo since 1971, and was a popular and favorite gorilla to many zoo staff and visitors. During her lifetime, she produced eight offspring. At 41 years, she was the oldest female within a North American zoo to give birth. Additionally, she had 17 grand offspring and seven great grand offspring.

Studbook scope and format

This studbook was created using PopLink 2.4. It represents the 2013 edition of the North American Regional Studbook for the western lowland gorilla. The studbook includes the living population of individuals within the North American population. As of July 31, 2013, there are 346 individuals (166.180) at 54 locations. The studbook also documents the historic population of the species held in North American locations, representing a total of 866 individuals (419.414.33) at 75 locations.

Description of data fields

Studbook ID	North American studbook number
Birthdate	DD/MM/YYYY
Sire/Dam	Known parents are listed by studbook number WILD = individual was wild born UNK = unknown MULT = more than one possible sire or dam
Birth Date Est.	None = birthdate is known Estimated date(s) - For WILD birthdates, +/- 1 year estimate is made, followed by wild-caught +/- 6 months - UNK birthdates are estimated/calculated based on known/documentated events
Sex	Male, female, or unknown
Event	Specific occurrence - Birth - Wild capture - Transfer - Go LTF (lost to follow-up) - Death
Location	Individual's residence, indicated by International Species Information System (ISIS) mnemonic for institution
Local ID	Institution's identification number
Date	Date of event
Date Est.	None = date of event is known Estimated date(s) provided, based on known/documentated events
House Name	Institution name for the individual
