3 Pigs and a Baby	Dornig, Kristin	In true Unstable Fables style, the well known tale of The Three Little Pigs takes a new twist. When three pigs are the target of a special-ops team of wolves and their plan to finally infiltrate the impenetrable house of bricks, the unassuming pigs find a tiny wolf cub on their doorstep and raise him as their own. The newest addition to the family, Lucky, grows up into his teens not knowing his history, his role in the wolves' plan or the difficult choice he will have to make about the family that raised him. 3-D Wizardry: Design in Papier-Mache, Plaster and Foam	Wolfe, George (1933 -)	Now with the help of 3-D Wizardry, building puppets, masks or even larger than life sculptures can be enjoyed in the classroom, summer camp or community. Anyone with a little imagination can use this video as a "jump start" to become a sculpture artist. It introduces the media and guides the viewer through a delightful world of masks, theatrical headpieces, creatures, lifecasts and even larger-than-life sculptures. George Wolfe uses simple, clear step by step demonstrations of eleven projects in papier mache, plaster and foam. The action is fast paced and meant to motivate the viewer to do-it-himself. The video is a visual companion to the book 3-D Wizardry by George Wolfe, Davis Productions, Worcester Mass., 1995. 3-D Wizardry reveals magic (sic) in everyday materials. Use it to conjure up your own sculpture kingdom. You'll enter a dazzling world of imagination and emerge as the character of your dreams.	VHS	NB1170 3-D WIZA (VHS)

7 Visions	Reed, C. L. and Solis, Octavio	7 Visions was written by the award-winning playwright, Ocatvio Solis. The play explores the roots of Latino heritage, while honoring the Mexican holiday, Dia de los Muertos. This richly musical tale is partly narrated through whimsical and wistful corridos performed by the trio, Cascada de Flores, arranged by Richard Marriott, with characters and scenery designed by Victor Cartagena. Solis weaves a fable about the intermixture of American Indians and Europeans back when San Francisco was a mission named Dolores. A young man, named Encarnacion, is confronted by his future self -- an irreverent skeleton. The calaca leads him on a vision quest to discover his true identity. Edited from a live performance in 2002. With "behind-the-screen" interviews and special features.	DVD	PN1979.S5 S48 DVD 2006

African Art: An African Perspective	Forna, Aminatta	When first seen in the Western world in 1900, African art was viewed as strange and exotic. Yet these works, the booty of colonial wars, would influence Picasso, Matisse, and Modigliani and change the course of 20th-century art. While recognizing this impact, "African Art" introduces noted experts who explain the importance of reappraising African art within its own cultural context. Then local Malian inhabitants in the Dogon, a Bamana village, and the walled city of Djenne comment on the function of art and the role of the artist in their society.	VHS	AFRI ART 1995

Alchemist of the Surreal	Svankmejer, Jan	"Tiny esoteric masterpieces that blend together spectacular animation with good old-fashioned surrealism" -New York Times This describes the work of Jan Svankmajer, the masterful Czech animator, whose startling, brilliant films have attracted world-wide attention. Through his films, he has succeeded in creating a stunningly coherent body of mini-masterpieces -- sensuous, outrageous, provocative and disturbing. The genius of Svankmajer is in his use of a wide assortment of techniques and crafts in his animated universe; expressed through clay, painting, puppets, trick photography and a crazy assortment of objects, food shots, living creatures and cartoons. This is the first in a series of cassettes presenting the work of this great Czechoslovakian filmmaker. Alfred Hoos' the tragical history of Jackson Pollock, abstract expressionist : as performed by Yannis Philaretos.	Doxiadis, Apostolos	The Tragical History of Jackson Pollock, Abstract Expressionist is the work of Alfred Hoos, performed here by his disciple Yannis Philaretos. Both Hoos and Philaretos are fictional characters whose creator, writer and director Apostolos Doxiadis, has here provided all the missing links from fiction to reality. The work combines storytelling and puppetry in a musical form to tell the life-story of the great modern painter Jackson Pollock; his childhood in Cody, Wyoming, his early years in New York and apprenticeship at the Art Students' League his being discovered by the extravagant Peggy Guggenheim; the creation of his own, characteristic 'dripping' style; his struggle with alcoholism and his tragic death. Combining humor and pathos in the tradition of folk theatrical aesthetics, the Tragical History recounts Pollock's rise from anonymity and notoriety to posthumous fame bringing forth the archaic elements in this, quintessentially modern life.	VHS	ALFR HOOS TRAG 1999

ALICE	Svankmajer, Jan	Alice is sitting in her room full of toys reading Lewis Carroll's story, during which she too is carried off to Wonderland. As she follows the elusive White Rabbit so begins this dream expedition into the landscape of childhood, through many dangerous adventures, and ultimately to her trial before the King and Queen of Hearts. Jan Svankmajer, the Czech master of animation, has fulfilled a lifetime ambition in this personal interpretation of Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland. Svankmajer's Alice remains true to the absurdity of Carroll's original, but bears the stamp of his own distinctive style and obsessions. Combining techniques of animation and live action, he gives to this classic tale of childhood fantasies a new and fascinating dimension.	VHS	PN 1997.5 .A45 VHS 1992

Ambrosia of Immortality	Reed, C. L., and Wija, I Wayan.	Tirtha Amertha, the Ambrosia of Immortality, is a rarely seen episode from the Mahabarata, one of the central epics of Hindu mythology. Nine masked actors/shadowcasters perform with shadowmasters I Wayan Wija and Larry Reed. In Ambrosia of Immortality, a war rages between the gods, who have it all, and the demons (aka: the former gods) who want it all back. Together they must churn the Milky Ocean to create the elixir of immortality. The gods and demons succeed at this epic test of faith, but then things go wrong as they struggle for possession of the powerful ambrosia. Edited from live performances in 1998. Includes "behind-the-screen" interviews and special features.	DVD	PN1979.S5 A43 DVD 2006

Anne Frank: Within & Without	Box, Bobby	How do you survive when you have to go without your friends? Without your freedom? Without the world you know? You go within... The remarkable story of Anne Frank and the hopes, dreams and inner strength that carried her from one day to the next are given new life in this Center for Puppetry Arts world premiere. Shadow puppets, projections and figures in a large "dollhouse" create the secret annex which she and her family called home. We follow the young girl from her German birth to the "diary days" when she hid from the Nazis in Amsterdam; then, from her ironic shuffling between camps to her lasting legacy today. Inspired by a trip to The Anne Frank House, associate producer Bobby Box creates a celebratory piece that is not just about death, war or "that poor little girl," but rather acts as a meditation on hope and all that is good in humankind. For ages 12+. This show ran January 19-29, 2006.	VHS	2005/2006 BOX ANNE FRAN

Anti-Arktikos	Mogul, Judith	Combing live and stop action, puppets and children, 'Anti-Arktikos' follows the adventures of a young girl "Momo" and her penguin friend "Pipi", in a land first identified by early Greek geographers. Believing that a large continent existed at the "bottom" of the world to balance the land they knew about, early Greeks named this place 'Anti-Arktikos'. Constructed primarily out of paper, puppets and set pieces are brought vividly to life through the camera work of Jarrod Whaley and the soundscape created by musicians Dennis Palmer and Bob Stagner. Based on a dream by the artist herself, Judith Mogul has created a fantastical landscape of paper sculpted glaciers, inhabited by demons, shamons and a skeptical colony of penguins. Multiple layers of reality coexist, as we travel from two to three dimensional animation and storytelling.	DVD	ANTI ARKT DVD 2007

Babe	Miller, Kennedy	"This is the story of an unprejudiced heart and how it changed our valley forever." So begins Babe, a movie with a barnyard full of unforgettable characters. There's Fly, the sheepdog; Ferdinand, the quacky duck; Maa, the elderly ewe; and a trio of singing mice. In the world of Hoggett's farm, every creature has a preordained purpose until the orphan piglet Babe arrives and turns everything upside down. Cared for by Fly, he soon thinks he, too, is a dog. Farmer Hoggett senses something special in Babe and, though everyone thinks he's crazy, enters him in the National Sheepdog Championships. Just when the world is laughing loudest, the tall farmer and the short pig step into the arena to compete, and everyone is in for a giant surprise. Rated G	VHS	PN1997 .B12x VHS 2003

Baroque Opera, The	Forman Brothers	DVD COPY OF CPA VHS Two builders erect a chimney which quickly begins to fall down, to the displeasure of the frustrated homeowners. This brain-teasing piece is adapted from the 18th century Czech folk opera "The Little Chimney Which Was Haphazardly Built by Devious Masons." Twins Petr and Matej Forman (sons of filmmaker Milos Forman) and Milan Forman (not related) present this wordless marionette piece on a miniature replica of a traditional opera stage. With live harpsichord music. For ages 12+. This show ran January 22-24.	DVD	1998/1999 FORM BARO O DVD
Baroque Opera, The	Forman Brothers	Back by popular demand after their 1999 sold-out performances! Two incompetent masons defuse their employer's anger with a promise to rebuild the chimney they'd haphazardly constructed. Based on an 18th century Czech folk opera, this brain-teasing piece harks back to the Marx Brothers as three puppeteers maipulate the marionettes, perform rapid scene changes and appear as living doubles of the characters. With no text, but plenty of music and mayhem, the Forman Brothers supply enough kindling for fiery good fun. This show ran January 10-20, 2002.	VHS	2001/2002 FORM BARO OPER

Beetlejuice	Burton, Tim	What's a couple of likable, home-loving ghosts to do when their New England home is taken over by trendy New Yorkers? "Let's get that Beetlejuice person," they decide. So they contact the afterlife's freelance bio-exorcist to scare off the family. And everyone gets more than he, she or it bargained for! You'll get more, too. More comedy. More scares. More outlandish, gleeful wanna-see fun than ever. Because "Beetlejuice" is the name in laughter from the hereafter...and for a long, long time to come. Director Tim Burton, who guided Pee-wee Herman in "Pee-wee's Big Adventure," now teams with another irrepressible talent, Michael Keaton ("Night Shift", "Mr. Mom", "Clean and Sober"). As Beetlejuice, Keaton is a jangled juggernaut of jokes, jolts, and jive. He hurls one-liners. Spins into grotesque forms. Gobbles insects. And just can't leave the ladies (living or dead) alone. Alec Baldwin ("Knots Landing", "Married to the Mob"), Geena Davis ("The Fly", "The Accidental Tourist") and more join Keaton in a cast that puts the super in supernatural spoof. Starring, too, the movie's look. Burton and his crew create a fantastically inventive, screwloose view	VHS	V.0274

Best of the Howdy Doody Show: 20 Original Episodes, The	Smith, Bob	The Howdy Doody Show remains known by a generation of (now grown) kids who remember Buffalo Bob's greeting -- "Say, kids. What time is it?" -- and, the answer: "It's Howdy Doody Time" that came from the approximately 40 kids that squeezed each day into the studio's "peanut gallery." "The Howdy Doody Show" set numerous benchmarks for television. It was the first network kids show to air five days a week, the first show on the air each day (it was preceded by the network's color pattern), the first television show ever broadcast in color, and the first show ever to air more than 1,000 continuous episodes. While Howdy and his friends entertained American children, they also sold television sets to American parents and demonstrated the potential of the new medium to advertisers. With the assistance of NBC Universal Television executives, Mill Creek Entertainment has lovingly reassembled 20 of the most requested episodes of this iconic series that captivated generations of families. This is the first of many collections to reintroduce America's most beloved children's show to kids young and old. Four years and many late nights at Waffle Houses later, the tour took a well-deserved rest. But the good times didn't. The tour's Jeff Foxworthy, Larry the Cable Guy and Bill Engvall next brought their downhome hilarity to BLUE COLLAR TV. Now id'n you thought the Vol. 1 BLUE COLLAR TV DVD was as welcome and satisfying as ham and red eye gravy, you're only half right. 'Cause this Vol. 2 set (3 discs, 18 episodes) completes the Season 1 fun and, like the previous volume, builds each episode around a theme - like "The Human Body," "Christmas" or "Gadgets." Pass that gravy and stay awhile, friends. Y'all gonna have some right-good laughs. Borrowed Fire	Wadehra, Anurag	Borrowed Fire is a clear and poetic documentation of tol pava kuttu, the shadow theatre of Kerala, India. The film communicates the cultural context of the theatre and documents its changes in this generation, focusing on pulavar (master puppeteer) Krishankutty and his sons, whose work has been discussed in Friedrich Seltmann's Schattenspiel in Kerala (1986) and Stuart Blackburn's Inside the Drama-House (1996). The film begins with the founding myth of the theatre: the goddess Badra Kali (Durga) was unable to see the actual events of the Ramayana because she was busy fighting the buffalo-headed demon. As a result, a shadow-play version of the epic must be performed annually at her shrines as entertainment for the goddess. Calder's Circus	Vilardebo, Carlos; Calder, Alexander	Alexander Calder's fascination with the circus began in his mid-twenties, when he published illustrations in a New York journal of Barnum and Bailey's Circus, for which he held a year's pass. It was in Paris in 1927 that he created the miniature circus celebrated in this film - tiny wire performers, ingeniously articulated to walk on tightropes, dance, lift weights and engage in acrobatics in the ring. The Parisian avant-garde would gather in Calder's studio to see the circus in operation. It was, as critic James Johnson Sweeney noted, "a laboratory in which some of the most original features of his later work were to be developed." This film exudes the great personal charm of Calder himself, moving and working the tiny players like a ringmaster while his wife winds up the gramophone in the background. "The Circus" is now housed at the Whitney Museum in New York.	VHS	NB 237 .C28 V55 VHS 1990

Cameraman's Revenge and other Fantastic Tales; The	Starewicz, Ladislaw	Ladislaw Starewicz created some of the most imaginative and loveliest works of puppet animation ever filmed. While working in Russia, he directed the legendary THE CAMERAMAN'S REVENGE (1912), a story of love and infidelity among the insects, and the newly rediscovered THE INSECT'S CHRISTMAS (1913), a dazzlingly beautiful film of the Yuletide celebrations of a Christmas-tree ornament and his tiny friends. After relocating to Paris, Starewicz made the political allegory FROGLAND (1922), the gorgeous hand-colored fable VOICE OF THE NIGHTINGALE (1923), the irresistible THE MASCOT (1933), and the snowland fantasy WINTER CAROUSEL (1958). Starewicz's grasshoppers, dogs, frogs, dolls and other creatures portray heroics and follies with an exuberance of humor and invention. They will delight viewers young and old! Contents: The Cameraman's revenge. 1912 -- The Insect's Christmas. 1913 -- The Frogs who wanted a king (Frogland). 1922 -- Voice of the nightingale. 1923 -- The Mascot. 1933 -- Carrousel Boreal = Winter carousel. 1958. Castle of Holstebro, The	Sykes, Peter	The sequence in HAMLET which begins with the dialogue of the gravediggers and concludes with the outburst of the Prince against Laertes has two more protagonists: Yorick and Ophelia, the skull of the jester and the maid from whose flesh violets will grow. Two invisible characters: the others speak about them and show their lifeless remains on the stage. But the weeping of the nobels and the disenchanted song of the buffoons will be extinguished and the fury of history will roll away, leaving deserted and silent the moorland by the North sea which human beings have turned into a cemetery. Then Yorick and Ophelia will celebrate their wedding in the moonlight: serene and incestuous wedding of the Mother with the Child, of the Father with the Daughter, of the Old Man with the Virgin. Does Death, a grotesque Don Juan, seduce the girl, as in a Holbein etching? Of does the woman feed the child Death at her breast, nurturing it through the wheel of rebirth. Is this, then, what THE CASTLE OF HOLSTEBRO, a joyful performance, is about?	DVD	PT8175.O35 C37 DVD 1994

Chinese shadows: the amazing world of shadow puppetry in rural northwest China	Kouwenhoven, Frank.	What I remember of seeing shadow puppet theatre the first time? Oh, such mystery it was! Seventy-year old Hu Zhenming is a puppeteer and musician in Huanxian, a barren region in Gansu Province. In this splendid and nostalgic portrayal of an age-old village art we meet with Hu and his colleagues, who introduce the world of Chinese shadow puppetry with plenty of passion. Their rough-hewn faces and images of the arid landscape and the (equally unpolished) puppet performances determine the tone of this unique film. We follow the performers on their journey with a donkey from one village to the next, and doing shows in cave dwellings and in temples. We record the disappointment and sadness of these men over the gradual decline of a truly superb theatrical art. There's almost nobody left who would like to learn and pick up the trade. But the singing and music making during the shows is still amazingly passionate and energetic. The contrast may come as a bit of a show: on the one hand there are the finely carved and delicate shadow puppets, on the other the almost brutal force and wild shouting with which they are cast against the screen. Cinderella	The Tanglewood Marionettes	A poor cinder girl discovers that dreams do come true -- with a little help from a fairy godmother. But when the clock strikes midnight, will it all be over? The story unfolds as pages of a giant book open to reveal each beautifully painted setting. Brought to life with lavishly costumed marionettes on a Victorian set. This show ran June 12-24, 2000. Cinderella	Bob Brown Puppet Productions, Inc.	BOB BROWN PUPPET'S wonderfully wacky version of Prokofiev's "Cinderella" eliminates the evil Stepmother and introduces Humphrey, Prince Arnold's adorable stray puppy. The two bickering Stepsisters are presented as insufferably selfish and comically foolish, rather than sinister. Cinderella's transformation from waif to Belle-of-the-Ball takes place in an enchanted pumpkin patch, accomplished with the help of her highly unorthodox Fairy Godmother. The story is told by a narrator, and scene changes are accomplished as part of the action as the pages of an enormous storybook turn to reveal the next scene.	VHS	BOB BROW CIND
Cinderella	Marin, Maguy	Music by Sergei Prokofiev. Additional Music by Jean Schwarz. Choreography by Maguy Marin. Choreographer Maguy Marin's imaginative and magical version of the Cinderella story, conceived for a performed by the Lyon Opera Ballet, was an unparalleled success throughout its world tour. Marin evokes childlike wonder by envisioning her characters as live dolls, with human feelings projected upon them in the way children identify with their playthings.	VHS	MARI CIND 1989

Claymation Easter	Vinton, Will	From the creation the The California Raisins, this Emmy Award-winning Claymation special breathes personality and life into the delightful characters of this bunny tale as it tells the story of the villanous Wilshire Pig, who for his own greedy purposes has kidnapped the Easter Bunny, and will stop at nothing to become his replacement. Collected shorts of Jan Svankmajer, The	Svankmajer, Jan	For the past forty years, Jan Svankmajer (Alice and Little Otik) has been hailed as one of cinema's most consistently surprising, wildly imaginative and remarkable surrealists of our time. Utilizing a delirious combination of puppets, humans, stop-motion animation and live action, Svankmajer's films conjure up a dreamlike universe that is at once dark, macabre, witty and perversely visceral. KIMSTIM is proud to offer this collection of remarkable short works from an artist that has mesmerized audiences the world over and had inspired filmmakers from the Brothers Quay to Tim Burton and Terry Gilliam. Conspirators of pleasure = Spilenci Slasti.	Svankmajer, Jan	In this latest offering by the great Czech surrealist filmmaker Jan Svankmajer, modern-day Prague is the setting for the story of six ordinary if somewhat seedy individuals who, with almost no dialogue, obsessively and painstakingly perpare their sexual "feasts." Like fastidious but inspired chefs they concoct - with the aid of the most electic array of objects, animals, devices and processes - an orgasmic meal of hilarious and literally explosive results. A postwoman, shopkeeper, television presenter, detective and two off apartment dwellers secretly plunder and pilage their environments in search of their magical ingredients. As their solitary paths crisscross, we see how Svankmajer condenses the sexual, the social and the political in a society still breaking with the habits of a sexually puritanical past. Svankmajer relates it all with mischievous misanthropy and a brilliant array of live actaion filmmaking, special effects and animation techniques.	DVD	PN1995.9.E96 C667 DVD 199

Cosi fan tutte	Salzburger Marionettentheater	Don Alfonso, an old philosopher and cynic, is determined to prove to his two young friends, Guglielmo and Ferrando, that their fiancées, Fiordiligi and Dorabella, are not to be trusted, like any other woman. With the help of Despina, the ladies' maid, Alfonso lays his plot. First he tells them that as officers, their lovers have been called up on duty; and as a part of the old man's plan, he introduces the sisters to two Albanians, who are, of course, Guglielmo and Ferrando disguised. After inner conflicts the two women succumb to the advances of the "Albanians," forcing Guglielmo and Ferrando to concede defeat. However, Don Alfonso reveals the plot to the two deceived ladies and they are reconciled with their original lovers.	DVD	M1500 .M84 C67X DVD 2006

Death to Smoochy	DeVito, Danny	Kids love him. TV execs adore him. Sheesh, it's enough to make out-of-work kiddie-show host Rainbow Randolph puke purple. Ever since that plush, fuchsia-hued, platitude-spouting Smoochy the Rhino started Jiggy Ziggy-dancing in Randolph's time slot, he has just one mad goal: turn the rhino into a dead duck. Danny DeVito, director of the darkly twisted "Throw Momma from the Train" and "The War of the Roses", skewers children's television in the gleefully wicked "Death to Smoochy". Robin Williams, his famed wit set at warp, plays ranting Randolph. Edward Norton is the high-minded goodnik whose righteous-rhino creation becomes a sensation. And Catherine Keener portrays a jaded exec who likes successful kid-show hosts in, let's say, a grown-up way. Now add an oily agent (DeVito), a snarky honcho (Jon Stewart) and all manner of lunacy and you're ready to either do the Ziggy Jiggy, or to take the rhino by the horn.	VHS	WARN DEAT SMOO 2002

Discoveries...America: Georgia	Bennett-Watt HD Productions, Inc.	The exploration of Georgia begins in Savannah, one of the South's most gracious and hospitable communities. President Jimmy Carter grew up in Georgia and his boyhood community of Plains is now a National Historic District where visiting students learn how a small town farm boy grew up to become President of the United States of America. Once stocked as a game bird, wild Burmese chickens never prospered in other areas of the state but have taken a liking to downtown Fitzgerald. To the north, Hawkinsville Harness Racing Training Facility has been a boon to the local community. In Atlanta...Centennial Park, Stone Mountain and the Cyclorama, the world's largest oil painting that features the "Battle of Atlanta" from the Civil War. Go behind the scenes at The Center for Puppetry Arts and meet the dedicated group of puppeteers that bring their characters to life. In the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains... In this special, the Sesame Street regulars tour New York City's Metropolitan Museum of Art after they're accidentally locked in overnight. Just as the museum closes, Big Bird announces that he must stay behind to find Mr. Snuffleupagus. While the others search the entire museum for Big Bird, he and Snuffy befriend Egyptian Prince Sahu, who has been trying to solve a riddle for more than 4,000 years so that he can finally join his parents. The boy prince claims to be under a spell cast by Osiris, the Lord of the Underworld, and asks Big Bird and Snuffy to help him find the answer to the question, "Where does today meet yesterday?" The three wander throughout the museum searching for clues from ancient Egyptian drawings, while the others examine masterpieces and art objects.	VHS	CTW SESA DONT 1983

Don't Say Yes When You Really Mean No!	Stevens, Louie	Kids get tempted to do things they might not do if they just stopped and thought about it. Sometimes, peer-pressure is okay -- it can motivate a child to swing a little higher, or run a little faster. But what about harmful peer-pressure? How can we help young children to STOP and think for themselves? Enter the "Drug-Free Kids" Puppets. A young puppet finds a cigarette on the playground and offers it to her friend. Now her friend must decide what to do. Kids can watch as the "Drug-Free Kids" Puppets -- singing exciting fast-paced music video style songs, teach her how to stop and listen to her "Bodytalk," so she can choose what is best for herself. Double Life of Veronique, The	Kieslowski, Krzysztof	The Double Life of Veronique features a puppet segment by Bruce D. Schwartz. Two women... complete strangers, but strangely linked to each other... Renowned director Krzysztof Kieslowski (Three Colors: Red, White and Blue) confirmed his reputation as one of cinema's visionary filmmakers with this beautifully poetic, elegantly mysterious film that ponders the nature of intuition and the metaphysical connections between people. Irene Jacob lights up the screen as both Weronika, a deeply spiritual Polish soprano, and her double Veronique, a more earthy French music teacher. Each senses the other and is affected by each other's experiences, though they have no conscious knowledge of a double's existence. Aided by a haunting operatic score, The Double Life of Veronique is a mesmerizing masterpiece of filmmaking.	DVD	PN1997 .D68354 DVD 1991

Double Suicide	Shinoda, Masahiro	A masterpiece of Japanese New wave cinema, renowned filmmaker Masahiro Shinoda directs this brilliant modernist reworking of a famous 1720 bunraku (puppet theater) play written by Chikamatsu Monzaemon. Set in Osaka in the 18th century, the film centers on the doomed romance between Jihei (Kichiemon Nakamura), a down and out married paper merchant passionately in love with doe-eyed courtesan Koharu (Shima Iwashita), whom he cannot afford to buy out of servitude. Koharu herself has also fallen in love with Jihei; she even starts turning away other patrons to be with him. Their love is further imperiled by Tahei (Hosei Komatsu), a rich, obnoxious merchant who flaunts his ability to buy Koharu's indenture. Suicide is the only way for the two to be together. Jihei's wife Osan (also played by Iwashita) senses the couple's intent and writes Koharu a letter pleading for his life. Touched by the sincerity of the letter, Koharu feigns reservations with killing herself, prompting Jihei to tearfully renounce her. Later, as Jihei skulks about the house as his wife runs the family business, he overhears that Tahei has at last bought his former lover's	VHS	AS JP SHIN DOUB 1969

Faust : classics in miniature	Barr, Steven	This 30-minute film is a visual interpretation inspired by Goethe's Faust part one. Puppetman Steven Ritz-Barr and award winning director Hoku Uchiyama team up to create their own inspired version of the fabled medieval scholar, Faust. The exquisite, old-European style marionettes were created by Russian Puppet Master Eugene Seregin. An edgy musical score, composed by Englishman, John Greaves displays a fusion of jazz, blues, and rock, so powerful it transcends the spoken word.	DVD	FAUS CLAS MINI

Foodini the Great/ Pinhead and Foodini	Bunin, Hope; Bunin, Morey	TV pioneers HOPE and MOREY BUNIN first brought their Bunin puppets to network TV in 1948 with a 15 minute 5-day-per-week series called "Lucky Pup." The two most popular characters, Foodini and his bumbling assistant Pinhead, switched to a filmed weekly half-hour format in August 1951 for a brief run. Foodini was a magician-cum-swami who also was a hypnotist, mind reader, escape artist, monologist, and expert at card tricks. Sending Pinhead out to "borrow a cup of money," Foodini runs afoul of Phineas T. Pitch, a conman who really wants to book Pinhead for his "fork flinging" act. A juvenile favorite in the days when television itself was juvenile, Foodini actually did magic on camera (not easy for puppets!) and fascinates young and old alike even today. Watch as a rabbit pulls Pinhead out of a hat! Caution: our print has a noisy soundtrack.	VHS	BUNI FOOD PINH 1987

From the Tale of Genji; Princess Kaguya	Hori, Hiroshi	Two performances by Hiroshi Hori: 1. From the Tale of Genji -- A piece adapted from "Genji Monogatari," a classic work of Japanese literature attributed to the Japanese noblewoman Murasaki Shikibu in the early eleventh century. The work recounts the life of a son of a Japanese emperor, known to readers as Hikaru Genji, or "Shining Genji". For political reasons, Genji is relegated to commoner status (by being given the surname Minamoto) and begins a career as an imperial officer. The tale concentrates on Genji's romantic life and describes the customs of the aristocratic society of the time. 2. Princess Kaguya -- An adaptation of "Takatori Monogatari" ("The Tale of the Bamboo Cutter"), also known as "Kaguya Hime" ("The Tale of Princess Kaguya"), a 10th century Japanese folktale. It is considered the oldest extant Japanese narrative and an early example of proto-science fiction. It primarily details the life of a mysterious girl called Kaguya-hime, who was discovered as a baby inside the stalk of a glowing bamboo plant. She is said to be from Tsuki-no-Miyako ("The Capital of the Moon") and has unusual hair that shines like the moon.	VHS	AS JP HORI GENJ KAGU

God's Top 10 with Dr. Laura Schlessinger	Schlessinger, Dr. Laura	Children are the world's most valuable asset and the architects of the future! Children today need to know and understand the powerful lessons God provided for us in the Ten Commandments. In God's Top 10, we present them in clear fashion through fun characters, including Delaura the butterfly, Benny the Bunny, Roscoe the racoon, Squirk the squirrel, and Petunia the skunk, who bring each Commandment to life through story and song. God's Top 10 is divided into ten different segments (one for each Commandment) so parents and teachers can use them individually or as a whole to present, teach and discuss. I hope and pray that through this video, the power of God's laws will be taught through this video to millions of children worldwide (sic).	DVD	PZ7 .G5436 DVD 2002

Grandmother Stories	Theatre Tsvete	Two old women are trying to make a little girl fall asleep. However, she won't go to sleep without hearing a goodnight story first, so they have to make one up for her. But the girl doesn't want to listen; she wants to play and she uses the things in the room to make puppets. Trying to get the girl to sleep they invent stories where a cloth rooster fights with a sunflower lion; broom witches turn a gourd tsar into a donkey: a waistband dragon battles walking cane soldiers. Eventually the old people get so involved with acting out the stories that they forget about the girl and she, left alone, falls asleep. By combining the everyday problems of adults and children with funny stories, folk songs and dances, this production provides suitable entertainment for all ages. In Bulgarian	VHS	GRAN STOR FULL

Great Gabbo, The	Herbert, Hugh	Inspired by the dark short story "The Rival Dummy" by Ben Hecht, this uncanny 1928 drama stars Erich Von Stroheim as the cruel egotistical ventriloquist, The Great Gabbo. Mary (Betty Compson), Gabbo's beautiful assistant, loves Gabbo and sees goodness in him, despite the torrent of abuse that he heaps upon her. Incapable of expressing any human warmth except through Otto, his wooden dummy, Gabbo drives Mary away. Gabbo's career surges upward bringing him fame and fortune as a Broadway headliner while his descent into insanity accelerates along with his twisted belief that Otto, his only companion, is truly alive. Mary reappears, but when Gabbo realizes that she isn't returning to be his lover, he becomes totally unhinged in a final spectacular burst of self-destructive madness.	DVD	PN1997 .G743 DVD 2005

Great Muppet Caper, The	Jim Henson Productions	Stop the presses! The crime of the century has occurred and investigative reporters Kermit, Fozzie and Gonzo are out to crack the case in this song-filled, star-studded extravaganza directed by the legendary Jim Henson. Our heroes arrive in London to interview Lady Holiday (Diana Rigg), a high-fashion designer whose priceless diamond necklace has just been stolen. But when Kermit mistakes lovely receptionist/would-be model Miss Piggy for her aristocratic employer, it's love at first sight. Unfortunately, Lady Holiday's scheming brother (Charles Grodin) is also wooing the sultry swine - so he can frame her for another brazen jewel heist! Now it's up to Kermit and his Muppet pals to clear Piggy's name and catch the real culprits. Packed with music, remarkable production numbers and hilarious cameo performances (including John Cleese, Peter Falk, Jack Warden, Robert Morley and Peter Ustinov), this restored and remastered 50th Anniversary Edition of The Great Muppet Caper is the wackiest story ever told!	DVD	PN1997 GREA MUPP CAPE

Groark Learns About Bullying	McGee, Randel	Groark is playing with his friends when two of them start teasing and picking on a third one. As the situation escalates Groark gets drawn in, and, before he realizes it, Groark is picking on his best friend. When his friend goes off crying, Groark doesn't understand what happened until he learns from a group of real children how he and the others were being bullies, and how hurtful that was to the victim. Groark returns to the playground, convinces the other kids that they have been cruel and unfair, and together they make peace with the friend they had picked on.	VHS	MCGE GROA PRO 4 1996
Groark Learns to Control Anger	McGee, Randel	Groark becomes so angry at his own mistakes that he accidentally damages his best friend's model airplane. This leads to a heated exchange, and the two nearly come to blows. When the fight is interrupted by the school bell, Groark turns to a group of real elementary school children for a lesson in managing anger. He learns how to tell when his anger is getting out of control, how that can lead to fighting, and how to calm his anger. He uses his newfound skill to calm his friend's anger, and the two make up.	VHS	MCGE GROA PRO 1 1996

Ichinotani Futaba Gunki		Two scenes from the play "Ichinotani Futaba Gunki (The Battle of Ichinotani)," which was first staged in 1751. SCENE IV - "Wakigahama Hobiki No Dan" (At Wakigahama Beach) A mysterious young man requests that Midaroku, a stone-mason living at Mikage erect a gravestone to the memory of Atsumori. After the task is completed, the man disappears, and it is concluded that he was the ghost of Atsumori. SCENE V -- "Kumagai Jinya No Dan" (Kumagai's Camp) Kumagai is in shock over having murdered his own son, thinking it was Atsumori. He presents his son's head to Yoshitsune who recognizes it as the sons, but declares it to be Atsumori's. Atsumori, who is still alive and hidden in a chest, is to be smuggled back to safety by Midaroku (aka Munekiyo). In the House of the Sin Eater	Acheson, Matt; Kloss, Paul	A man mourns his dead wife. He weeps at her bedside. Following ancient Welsh tradition, he performs a ritual that helps the dead release their obligations to this world. He bakes a loaf of bread and places it on the body of his dead beloved. In that half-space between the Living and the Dead, her sins are magically absorbed into the bread. "In the House of the Sin Eater" creates a strangely moving world from miniature sets and hand-operated marionettes. In this tiny dreamscape, a recent widower must carry his wife's sins to the Sin Eater's house deep inside a forbidding forest. Feared and reviled by the townspeople, the Sin Eater performs his duties without complaint. And in an act of acceptance and transformation, we discover that the Sin Eater is less to be feared than treasured.	DVD	HOUS SIN EATE

In the Land of the War Canoes: A Drama of Kwakiutl Life in the Northwest	Curtis, Edward S.	Best known as one of the premiere photographers of the 20th century, Edward S. Curtis devoted his life ot documenting the disappearing world of the American Indian. In this film, originally titled "In the Land of the Headhunters", Curtis retold a tribal story of love and revenge among the Kwakiutl Indians of Vancouver Island. Curtis spent three years with the Kwakiutl to meticulously recreate their way of life before the white man came. In addition to the magnificent painted war canoes of the title, the film features wonderful native costumes, dancing and rituals - including a powerful scene of a vision quest. In 1972, the only surviving print of this film was carefully restored and an original score of music and chants was recorded by the Kwakiutls themselves. This version has now been restored by Milestone onto video using the most modern technology. Although some of the material suffers from nitrate damage due to its age, "In the Land of the War Canoes" still presents a magnificent image of a lost world.	VHS	CURT WAR CANO 1914

In Xanadu	Reed, Larry	In Xanadu is an epic love story about Khubilai Khan and his wife Chabui. They are inseparable partners. When she dies, he attempts to bring her back from the underworld. The piece blends Tibetan, Chinese and Indonesian theater techniques into a unique form of theater that recalls the language of film with lap dissolves, montages, Bermanesque horizons, and a Kurosawa style portrait of the controlled chaos of war. In Xanadu was featured at the 1997 Henson International Festival of Puppet Theater in New York, as well as at Spoleto/USA in Charleston SC. The original musical score by Miguel Frascioni includes traditional Tibetan and Mongolian music by Tashi Dhondup, Tsering Wangmo, and Chen Shi-Zheng. Edited from live performances. 1993/1994/1997 Includes "behind-the-screen" interviews and special features.	DVD	PN1979.S5 I5 DVD 2006

Jack Paar: Smart Television	Scheinfeld, John; Leaf, David	"He was one of the most controversial and provocative personalities in the history of television. Witty, well-informed and always spontaneous, Jack Paar was the embodiment of 'smart TV.' In 1957 he was hired to host TONIGHT on NBC and within a very few weeks he had invented the TV talk show. Always outspoken and emotional--no matter who the guest was--you couldn't take your eyes off Jack Paar. Over the next five years, he took the art of conversation to the highest levels, becoming an enormously influential television personality. In 1962, he left the Tonight Show, bringing his groundbreaking blend of talk, comedy and music to primetime. Three years later, he walked away from TV stardom while still on top This disc features just a few of the highlights from his legendary programs, featuring Muhammad Ali & Liberace, Woody Allen, The Beatles, Fidel Castro, Bill Cosby, Judy Garland & Robert Goulet, John Kennedy, Robert Kennedy, Oscar Levant, Vaughn Meader, The Muppets, Richard Nixon, The Smothers Brothers and Jonathan Winters. Kukla, Fran and Ollie/ "Be a Clown, Be a Clown"	Tillstrom, Burr	The circus is here! It's going to be a spectacular display of skill and daring. Aerialist Buelah Witch promises to perform on the trapeze 400 feet in the air without a net "and what's more, without a broom." Fran gets into the circus free when roustabout Ollie hires her to sell popcorn. And ringmaster Kukla keeps one act following another. Besides Buelah, who has an embarrassing off-day on the trapeze, there's Werner, the world's only trained worm, who blows a mean trumpet version of "My Country Tis of Thee." And clown Fletcher Rabbit scares the living daylights out of Buelah with the old snake-in-the-jar trick. It's a fun-filled day at the circus with Kukla, Fran and Ollie. Plus! Kukla, Fran and Ollie/"Get on the Dragon Wagon"	Tillstrom, Burr	Have you ever wanted to run for fire chief or dog catcher or even mayor but didn't know how to get started? Here's the perfect answer - Ollie's very own Do-It-Yourself Campaign Kit. Kukla and Fran are skeptical, but Ollie's sure he has a winner. Watch him demonstrate how to deflect questions from reporters that no politician wants to answer. How do politicians smile all the time? Ollie's solution - a special set of false teeth. Pop them in your mouth and you can't stop smiling. A campaign song? Ollie's composed "Get on the Dragon Wagon." Who can lose with a song like this - especially if you're a dragon. You certainly can't lose with this fun campaign of laughs and songs from Kukla, Fran and Ollie. Plus! "The Best of Kukla"	VHS	KUKL OLLI 1996 TAPE 3

Kukla, Fran and Ollie/"Kukla Discovers America"	Tillstrom, Burr	Well known legends need a twist in retelling. Ollie tries it with his Columbus Day Pageant. As King Ferdinand, he commands the entertainment "Begin!" A gypsy flamenco dancer, looking suspiciously like Buelah, whirls onto the stage to "Lady of Spain." The gypsy, gossip that she is, alerts Ferdinand that his Queen may have eyes for a certain sailor. Columbus appears (Kukla in a costume somewhat too large), and the Queen rescues her jewels from the pawn shop for him. After a near mutiny at sea, land is spotted by first mate Fletcher Rabbit. But where are the Indians to greet them? There's just Fran, in enormous sunglasses and passing out guides to Santa Barbara! This isn't a twist. Ollie's done a total rewrite! Not quite history, but lots of fun from Kukla, Fran and Ollie. Plus! "The Best of Ollie"	VHS	KUKL OLLI 1996 TAPE 5
--	------------------------	---	------------	------------------------------

Kukla, Fran and Ollie/"Madame O's Merry Musicale"	Tillstrom, Burr	A classical music musicale is a very serious undertaking, particularly when it stars that famous diva, Madame Ooglepuss. Everyone helps - with questionable results. Buelah follows Cecil Bill's instructions but manages to dump the velvet curtain into the orchestra pit. Fran can't find the flutist to accompany Madame Ooglepuss. Her ingenious solution hilariously saves the day. Taking the famous theater adage "break a leg" too literally with Madame Ooglepuss, Buelah almost causes the musicale to be postponed. This may not be a classic musicale, but it's a Kukla, Fran and Ollie classic of hilarity. Plus! "The Best of Fletcher"	VHS	KUKL OLLI 1996 TAPE 2

Kukla, Fran and Ollie/"Tis the Season to be Ollie"	Tillstrom, Burr	Christmas is caroling and decorating the tree and wrapping presents. It's all here in this joyous story, except things somehow - and hilariously - don't go just right. Take the scrawny tree Ollie brings home. He'd bought a chocolate soda and hadn't enough money to buy a good tree. But wait! There's a rustle of music and behold! It's the Christmas Fairy (or is it Buelah?) After a little trouble remembering the magic words, she makes the skinny tree glow with lights and ornaments before she disappears. Now everyone can put their presents under the tree. Ollie has a special one for Fran. So does Kukla. But Fletcher Rabbit has a problem. How can he wrap a tuba? You'll just have to see the show to find out how he does it. Merry Christmas to all! Plus! Lekce Faust	Svankmajer, Jan	Jan Svankmajer's long-awaited follow-up to his acclaimed Alice is an equally astounding version of the myth of Dr. Faustus. Merging live action with stop-motion and claymation animation, Svankmajer has created an unsettling universe presided over by Diabolic life-size marionettes and haunted by skulking human messengers from Hell. Svankmajer's Faust (movingly incarnated by one of the Czech Republic's finest actors, Petr Cepek) is an ordinary, inquisitive Everyman who, upon exiting a Prague subway station, is handed a map that draws him to his doom. Led to an abandoned theater he finds a copy of Goethe's Faust, begins to read aloud, and unwittingly summons up a devil who offers him everything his heart desires in return for his soul. With breathtaking rapidity Faust's journey takes him to the tops of mountains, drops him in the middle of lakes and sends him out onto unsuspecting streets of Prague, peopled with shape-changing demons and puppet-versions of Goethe's characters, Svankmajer's Tour-De-Force is alternately hilarious and shocking, always unique, and ultimately unforgettable.	VHS	SVAN LEKC FAUS 1994

Life and Adventures of Santa Claus, The	Baum, L Frank	See how St. Nick became the symbol of Christmas. The Wizard of Oz creator L. Frank Baum penned the fanciful story on which this wonderous animated treat is based. A babe born in the woods near the forest of Burzee is named Claus. As Claus becomes a man, the gods send him to the land of mortals to spread joy and happiness where there is none. Claus carves a small wooden cat for an orphan child and decides that all children, rich or poor, should receive toys for Christmas. Because of his good deeds, the gods make Claus a saint and once a year people all over the world find out "there is nothing so beautiful as a happy child."	VHS	PN1997.5.L544 LIFE ADVE S

LiLi	Walters, Charles	Leslie Caron is radiant as Lili, the shy young orphan who learns the truth about love with the help of a crippled puppeteer. Sweet and elfin singing the lyrical hit "Hi-Lili, Hi-Lo," naive and earnest talking with the puppets, aglow with grace in the ballet dream sequence, Miss Caron makes Lili one of the most enchanting musical fables ever seen on screen. Based on a Paul Gallico story, the film unfolds in the bright atmosphere of a traveling French carnival. Here Lili becomes a waitress, but she is fired after one night -- for spending too much time watching Jean Pierre Aumont, the handsome magician with whom she is infatuated. Lili is grief-stricken until a lame puppeteer (Mel Ferrer) uses his little friends to woo her from her sorrow. Soon she is part of his act, childishly happy with the four puppets, but unable to deal with their moody master, whom she calls "the angry man." How Lili blossoms from adolescence to womanhood with the puppets as her guides makes for a beguiling, bittersweet movie every member of the family will adore!	DVD	LILI VCD

Lou Kelly Show, The	Barnes, Tim	The Lou Kelly Show was co-produced and developed by Dick Clark Productions and MCA-TV for late-night syndication. The personality of Lou Kelly was created by puppeteer Tim Barnes, whose performance was 90% ad-libbed. Assisting behind the desk is actress/puppeteer Cheryl Blaylock, giving an uncanny un-rehearsed supporting performance. The two, working only from instinct and a monitor, create a very real talk-show host and a very performance (sic), thanks to years of talk-show training, and experience ranging from street-theatre to Muppets- yet unbelievably, they had never met, worked with or even rehearsed with each other before. Produced in under three weeks, the original concept for the host was rejected, the puppet redesigned, the support puppeteer replaced, a Director signed the day before, and a script completed the morning of, then thrown out all together. There was almost no rehearsal, not even a camera run-through. The final product is what you see - an essentially "live" performance created by the performers and the guests. Far from perfect, with "bloopers" and all. "The Lou Kelly"	VHS	NA US BARN KELL 1987

Marquis	Topor, Roland	Marquis is based on the writings of the Marquis de Sade, and conceived by satirist-caricaturist Roland Topor (the French Jim Henson). Managing to be both visually elegant and wildly raunchy, Jami Bernard of the "New York Times" says MARQUIS is, "probably the strangest, most imaginatively off-beat film you may see this year." Set in the Bastille prison in 1789 on the eve of the French Revolution, the Marquis, an aristocratic canine imprisoned for blasphemy, engages Colin, his animated, erect penis, in philosophic debates about art, politics, and sexual freedom. Surrounded by a barnyard cornucopia: the prison governor (a masochistic rooster), his mistress (Juliette, a whip-wielding filly), a lascivious prison guard (a rat) and the victim of a royal rape (Justine, a cow), the Marquis is at the center of the storm of the cultural and political revolution.	VHS	TOPO MARQ 1990

Marriage of Figaro, The	Salzburger Marionettentheater	Sir Peter Ostinov presents and narrates "The Marriage of Figaro" by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. A video recording of the production in the Salzburg Marionette Theatre. The action of The Marriage of Figaro is a continuation of the plot of The Barber of Seville several years later, and recounts a single "day of madness" (la folle giornata) in the palace of the Count Almaviva near Seville, Spain. Rosina is now the Countess; Dr. Bartolo is seeking revenge against Figaro for thwarting his plans to marry Rosina himself; and Count Almaviva has degenerated from the romantic youth of Barber into a scheming, bullying, skirt-chasing baritone. Having gratefully given Figaro a job as head of his servant-staff, he is now persistently trying to obtain the favors of Figaro's bride-to-be, Susanna. He keeps finding excuses to delay the civil part of the wedding of his two servants, which is arranged for this very day. Figaro, Susanna, and the Countess conspire to embarrass the Count and expose his scheming. He responds by trying to legally compel Figaro to marry a woman old enough to be his mother, but it turns out at the last minute that she really is his mother.	VHS	ML50 .M939 N62 VHS 1995

Mayadanawa	Reed, C. L.	Mayadanawa is the first ShadowLight giant screen shadow production to be created in Bali. The idea of using shadow masks and multiple light sources was new to the island, and a radical departure from traditional Wayang Kulit. Thirty musicians, and twenty dancers and shadowcasters from the village of Pengosekan, Ubud, brought the show to life for the 1996 Walter Spies Festival. Mayadanawa is a powerful being who insists that everyone only worship him. He creates havoc among the people who finally appeal to Indra, king of all gods, to chase him away. Each place he tries to hide from Indra becomes a famous spring or rock or village. Edited from a live performance in 1996. With "behind-the-screen" interviews and special features. McGruff the Crime Dog on Gun Safety	National Crime Prevention Council	One of the more important lessons a child can learn is how to properly act should they encounter an unsecured firearm. Whether at their home, at school or at a friend's or relative's home, learning the right response to such encounters helps ensure that a child will have the confidence to make correct decisions and to make such decisions promptly and decisively. To assist educators in teaching children about correct behavior, the National Shooting Sports Foundation, in cooperation with the National Crime Prevention Council, offers this safety video featuring the well-known safety character, McGruff the Crime Dog. Educators and children together can watch McGruff explain to his nephew, Scruff, how to deal with encountering an unsecured firearm. McGruff delivers an important and compelling safety lesson in clear language and images in a video designed specifically for viewing by young children.	VHS	NCPC MCGR GUN 2001

Mur-Mur	Dynamo Theatre	A wall, with its graffiti and its secrets, alternates as a playground and a refuge from the world for five characters. It echoes the whispers and murmurings of earlier times. Mur-Mur (The Walls) speaks of the friendships among two teenage couples and a pesky and incorrigible younger brother. With humour and sheer innocence, these five characters are swept up in an air-bound acrobatic ballet. Their flirting, teasing and fearlessness become a moving and scintillating reflection of a very special time in life, a world of young love and discovery. Dialogue is kept to a bare minimum, leaving way to soaring and explosive gymnastics. Telling of quarrels, shared schemes and stolen kisses, the acrobatic choreography allows the performers to unleash their energy as well as their acrobatic virtuosity in the exploration of the exuberant eloquence of movement.	VHS	DYNA MUR MUR

Narrative of Victor Karloch, The	McTurk, Kevin	The Narrative of Victor Karloch is a Victorian ghost story puppet short film that utilizes 30 inch tall rod puppets, traditional shadow puppetry, rotoscope and rear projection to present the adventure of Victor Karloch, an alchemist, scholar, and ghost hunter, as he battles the supernatural forces of the Unknown. In this short film (which will be the first of many tales), Victor Karloch receives a journal from a colleague who is involved in a salvage operation for a series of missing sea freighters in the North Sea. In this journal, Karloch's friend describes his descent into the abysmal deep with the use of a diving bell and his encounters with the ghosts of a lost Templar Knights ship. Nativity, The	Paul Mesner Puppets	Between the twelfth and fourteenth centuries, miracle or mystery plays began in the churches of England and France. These pageants began with the nativity and then grew to other stories from the Bible. They were first performed by the priests but eventually the guilds took over their production, and the performances moved outside of the church and became more secular. Some early references to the figures called them "motions," an early word for puppet. In France, the story goes that these dramas were called "little Marys" or marionettes. The priests and later the guilds would set up stations and the dramas could be viewed throughout the church as the audience moved from station to station. Today you get to sit still, but we hope our little play moves you as well.	DVD	NATI

Paradise	Rosensweet, Jesse	In Jesse Rosensweet's stop-motion animation Paradise, gears turn and a giant automaton whirrs to life. In an impossibly vast mid-twentieth century city, painted matel denizens buzz happily anf obediently along slotted tracks: tin toys in a tin-toy world. Paradise tells the story a man, John Small (voiced by Dave Foley), whose actions appear to be entirely predestined. Lacking free will, Small dreams of a better tomorrow, but can't find fulfillment in his suburban dysopia.	DVD	PN1997.5.Z33 P376 DVD 200

Paradise Now	Materialtheater	This puppen spiel (puppet play) told in English by the German duo Materialtheater tells the story of Adam and Eva, who are played by the performers themselves. Adam wants the performance to have a happy ending without the apple - creating a utopian paradise without destruction or intrigues. Eva disagrees and is eager for the bite into the apple to take place - not as the fall of man according to the biblical text, but as a conscious decision of free will and as proof of human sovereignty and liberty. Passover at Bubbe's	Baron, Michelle; Levitt, Len	Spring is here, and it's time to celebrate Passover at Bubbe's. From the creators of the award-winning "Chanuka at Bubbe's" comes this second in the series on Jewish holidays. The outstanding all-puppet cast again features Bubbe herself...everybody's favorite grandmother. While these delightful characters help Bubbe prepare for her annual Seder, they are surprised by a talking Haggadah and are magically whisked back to Egypt during the time of the Pharaohs. There, they personally experience the trials of captivity and ultimately, a triumphant escape to freedom. Original songs as well as traditional favorites provide a joyous Passover experience for the entire family.	VHS	MONT PASS BUBB 1993

Prokofiev Fantasy with Peter and the Wolf	Spitting Image	Peter and the Wolf is a long-established classic, but never before has it enjoyed such an unusual and exciting visual treatment. This production features Claudio Abbado, Roy Hudd (as Prokofiev) and members of the Theatre de Complicite, and introduces Henry Feagins as Peter and some fantastic new Spitting Image puppets. The result is a delightful visualization of the Russian composer and his universally beloved "musical tale." Filled with hilarious caricature, this PROKOFIEV FANTASY mixes inspired puppetry with live action. Behind it is Sting's riveting narration and, of course, Prokofiev's immortal music - the "Classical Symphony" and "Overture on Hebrew Themes" as well as "Peter and the Wolf" - in bravura performances by The Chamber Orchestra of Europe conducted by Abbado. Puphedz: The Tattle-Tale Heart	Heimann, Juergen & Kundig, Jim	Two versions of The Tattle-Tale Heart. Welcome to the Puphedz theatre of the macabre. A zany troupe of wooden puppet actors, they journey forth in their ramshackle theatre-on-wheels bringing you outrageous versions of classic tales of terror. In this first outing, they perform a take on Edgar Allen Poe's "The Tell-Tale Heart." It is the story of a young man driven to madness by his unnatural and torturous obsession with the deformed eye of the old man with whom he lives. Of course, it shouldn't be assumed that they live together for any other reason than saving rent money. Be warned, the Puphedz are students of the Grand Guignol school of theatre. A healthy amount of sappy puppet blood drips between the laughter. The principle performers in this installment are Woodrow J. Larchbottom, III, who plays the tormented young man: Peter Feidwood, who provides a suitably cantankerous performance as the old man: Douglas "Chip" Fir, lending his gluttonous talents to Policeman #1; and Leif Applebaum, setting the stage afire with his portrayal of vacuous Policeman #2. So, keep a weather eye out for the approach of the Puphedz cart. When you see the	DVD	DVD.0005

Puppet		An illuminating documentary, Puppet is a fascinating look at the history of American puppetry as well as its current renaissance. At the center of the film is Dan Hurlin's "Disfarmer," a complex puppet work. A broad look at the fraught history of American puppetry (its marginalization as children's theater and its sudden explosion as high art) with an intimate thread following Dan Hurlin, a downtown artist who is creating a complex puppet work about an eccentric, Depression-era photographer. Dan has just recovered from a scorching New York Times review, which forced his last show out of theaters prematurely. Now he faces a wider backlash against puppetry, suggesting an eerie parallel between himself and his new puppet-subject - a portrait photographer whose stunning body of work was very nearly lost forever. Puppet Master	Allen, David	Alex Whittaker, played by Paul Le Mat (MELVIN & HOWARD, THE BURNING BED), and three other gifted psychics are investigating rumors that the secret of life has been discovered by master puppeteer Andre Toulon, played by William Hickey (PRIZZI'S HONOR, THE NAME OF THE GAME). But the psychics quickly discover Toulon's secret of death in the form of five killer puppets - each one uniquely qualified for murder and mayhem. Tunneler has a nasty habit of boring holes in people with his drill bit head. Ms. Leech regurgitates killer leeches that suck her victims dry. Pin Head strangles his enemies with his powerful vice-like hands. Blade has a gleaming hook for one hand and a razor-sharp knife for the other. And Jester, the ruthless brains of the bunch, is absolutely merciless. Together, they're an army of skilled assassins, diabolically programmed to guard the deadly secrets of the PUPPET MASTER. Puppeteer, The	Schmidt, Chris & Henoch, Gary	"The Puppeteer" is a magical film about Igor Fokin, an extraordinarily talented artist and street performer. Igor captivates the imagination of both children and adults with a simple tilt of the wrist and flick of a finger. He was trained in his native St. Petersburg by the last surviving Master of the pre-Revolutionary Russian Marionette Theater. In 1994, Igor left the stifling confines of the former Soviet Union to pursue his passion in America. Igor assembles his menagerie of fanciful wooden characters on a street corner in Harvard Square and delights audiences by breathing life into his creations. He truly believes that each hand crafted puppet has its own unique character and the strings serve only to stop them from running away. "The Puppeteer" is a powerful, moving glimpse into the art of puppetry and the passion of a brilliant artist. The film treats the viewer to Igor's street corner magic and, following a dramatic turn of events, leaves us to reflect on life, art and the pursuit of dreams.	DVD	DVD.0037

Puppetmaster, The	Hsiao-Hsien, Hou	Based on the actual memoirs of Li Tien-lu, Taiwan's most celebrated puppeteer and official "national treasure," The Puppeteer tells the epic tale of one man's struggle against seemingly insurmountable adversary. Spanning the years from Li's birth in 1909 to the end of Japan's fifty-year occupation of Taiwan in 1945, this remarkable true story captures the puppetmaster's hardships as well as the tragic sweep of the war-torn era. Masterfully directed by internationally acclaimed filmmaker Hou Hsiao-hsien (Flowers of Shanghai, A Time to Live and a Time to Die), the film skillfully weaves Li's recollections with dramatic reenactments of the fateful chapters in his life. The portrait that emerges reflects the emotionally complex state of Chinese society during the first half of the twentieth century.	DVD	DVD.0087

Puppets Against AIDS	Friedman, Gary	The African Research and Educational Puppetry Program, founded in 1987, produced "Puppets Against Aids." The 20-minute play about Joe and Mary, workshops available, audience response, and the impact of the show are described. The story centers on Joe, who has many sexual encounters without the protection of condoms. He contracts HIV infection and transmits it to his wife Mary, who transmits it to her unborn baby. Scenes portray Joe receiving the news from his doctor, and Mary and Harry as a friend caring for the dying Joe. The scenes reflect compassion for the sick and debunk fears of casual contact as a means of HIV transmission. There are 2 sizes of puppets, hand puppets and puppets 2m tall. The faces of puppets are grey to depict the universality of the disease. The narrator tells the story along with background music. A condom demonstration is given and literature is distributed after the performance. A question and answer (Q and A) period is provided.	VHS	AF SA AREP PUPP AIDS

Sita Sings the Blues	Paley, Nina	Based on: The Ramayana of Valmiki. Videodisc release of the 2008 animated film. Special features include directors commentary, trailer, WNET Feb 2009 interview, bonus short, "Fetch" and DVD-ROM content. Utilizing a dazzling array of animation and narrative styles, Sita Sings the Blues incorporates Ramayana art traditions from Mughal paintings to Indonesian shadow puppets, temple sculptures to comic books. Sita enacts her story in a series of Busby-Berkley-esque dance numbers set to American blues and torch songs by 1920's vocalist Annette Hanshaw. Fabulous Indian fusion music rounds out the eclectic score, while a hilarious trio of unscripted shadow puppets provide narration and commentary. Whether encountering the Ramayana the first time or revisiting a familiar cultural icon, audiences are fascinated, entertained and moved by Sita Sings the Blues, "The Greatest Break-Up Story Ever Told." Spirit of Christmas, The	Beaton, Mabel; Beaton, Les	This is a Pre-Henson tour de force of two classic Christmas stories performed entirely in marionettes. The first story is "Twas the Night Before Christmas," the second is "The Greatest Story Ever Told, The Nativity." Both stories are beautifully recited and are staged with musical backgrounds in classic and traditional style. The marionettes created for this 50s TV Christmas classic probably represented the cutting edge of creativity in puppeteering at the time and may have provided inspiration for future successes like Howdy Doody, Kukla Fran and Ollie, and much later, the Jim Henson family of characters. These classic Christmas tales will be enjoyed by young and old alike. Children will discover them anew and adults will rediscover the warmth and charm of these classics. A Christmas must see!	VHS	BEAT SPIR CHRI 1991

Spirit of the Mask, The	Davis, Wade	"The Spirit of the Mask" unlocks the secret world of the Northwest Coast Indians, revealing the myths, rituals and ceremonies that give rise to both powerful art and a special understanding of man's relationship to the natural and supernatural worlds. This exploration of the spiritual and psychological powers of the mask features dramatic, rarely seen ceremonies and also tells the story of the Northwest Coast peoples' struggle to preserve their sacred traditions against the onslaught of European colonialism. Along the way we learn how the mask, even in contemporary culture, enables us to embody our myths and our dreams...and to give us the power of healing. The host of this extraordinary program is anthropologist Wade Davis, author of the best-selling book "The Serpent and the Rainbow," which is now a popular feature film.	VHS	SPIR MASK 1992

Stiltwalkers		A solitary fisherman carves and sketches to pass the time. But this day his drawings seem to have a life of their own. Fish fly off the pages and leap into the sea. An island appears on the watery expanse, and the poles around his boat begin to move ominously. His own creation seems to give rise to a strange, surreal and ultimately fragile two-dimensional world, guarded by a tribe of stiltwalkers. Stiltwalkers is a parable about the creative power of the mind. Rendered with extraordinary eye to detail, it is a world where people and objects flow fluidly between two and three dimensions. Filmed without words, the music and soundtrack heighten the mystery.	DVD	STIL 2002

Strings	Rønnow-Klarlund, Anders.	Anders Rønnow-Klarlund's stunning new film imagines a mythical kingdom populated entirely by stringed puppets. The Emperor of Hebalon dies a dramatic death, taking a terrible secret to the grave with him. His young son, Hal Tara, is set to take over the throne, however, his uncle leads him to believe his father was murdered by the Zeriths, their sworn enemy. Forces to set out to avenge his father's death, Hal is unaware of the perils he is facing both inside his kingdom and out. As he faces new challenges on this journey, he ends up discovering the truth about his own people - and where he least expects it - he finds true love. A dramatic tale of adventure, bondage, and liberation; of love and war, destiny and vitality, identity and common humanity, STRINGS mixes together a magical blend of themes that range from SHAKESPEARE to STAR WARS to THE LORD OF THE RINGS. Sugawara and the Secrets of Calligraphy	NHK	According to legend, Sugawara no Michizane (AD 845-903), one of two principal ministers at the imperial court in Kyoto and a master of calligraphy, was exiled by the emperor in 901 to Dazaifu in Kyushu, where he died. The malice of the other principal minister, Fujiwara no Tokihira (in the play, Shihei), was the cause for the emperor's action. Soon after Sugawara's death, natural disasters followed in quick succession until his reputation was restored and he was elevated to the position of a god ("Tenjin"). Since then Sugawara has been venerated as the patron of calligraphy and scholarship; a veneration which persists in modern Japan with students praying at the numerous Tenjin shrines for success in entrance examinations at all levels of the education system. Tales of Beatrix Potter	Royal Ballet; Royal Opera House; Covent Garden	Beatrix Potter, the children's story-teller who scaled her tales down to the size of her readers, has been well served by a film that brings the best-loved of them to the screen as a ballet. Not a word is spoken; everything is danced by the Royal Ballet to Sir Frederick Ashton's choreography. But the effect is totally faithful in reproducing the essential pleasure of Potter--the pleasure of littleness. The two Town Mice, togged-up in picnic gear, waltz over the kitchen tiles and hold up their tails like trailing ball gowns while behind them, seemingly as high as a football stadium wall, looms a brass fireplace fender. Even scenes that do not aim at a similar subtle interplay of scale and effect succeed because of the animal characteristics that dancers like Alexander Grant, Lesley Collier, Wane Sleep and Ashton himself brings to a world where mice brew tea, frogs go fishing and pigs wear smocks.	VHS	EMI BEAT POTT 1971

Tangle of Tales	Grey Seal Puppets	A variety of puppetry styles and classical music weave the unfamiliar with the familiar. In "The Frog Prince" from Germany, hand puppets show a princess who must live up to her promise. The Scandinavian tale "The Three Billy Goats Gruff" features clever goats outsmarting the not-so-evil troll. England's "The Three Little Pigs" uses rod puppets to demonstrate that being small doesn't mean you have to be a victim of the big, bad wolf. Wobblies, Blockheads and Tourists provide musical interludes to the three stories. This show ran June 11-25.	VHS	1998/1999 GREY TANG TALE

Tea at the Palace	Puppetmongers	Tea at the Palace is a delightful retelling of two classic Russian folk tales by Toronto's award-winning Puppetmongers. Exuberant folk music, medieval furniture that magically transforms like pop-up books, and a fascinating array of puppets (that range in size from 6 inches to 6 feet!) come to life in this beautiful and sumptuous theatrical production. Tea at the Palace tells the engaging story of a Tsar overcoming his servants' silly ideas of class prejudice and male superiority. First off, a Russian peasant is dragged before the Tsar's court and charged with treason simply for making tea! While the Tsar is sorting out that mess, he himself becomes smitten with a charmingly clever maid beneath his caste, and meddling servants just make things worse with their ridiculous antics. This hilarious and heartwarming story of humanity, equality and love has long been a favourite of parents and children alike.	VHS	PUPP TEA PALA

Videorecording exploring two forms of art of the Dogon and Bamana peoples in Mali, West Africa, in 1989. Videorecording produced by Staniski Media Resources for use by the National Museum of African Art in its exhibition entitled, "Icons: Ideals and Power in the Art of Africa," which was held at the Museum from October 25, 1989 to September 3, 1990. From the Smithsonian Institution Research Information System (SIRIS): http://siris-archives.si.edu/ipac20/ipac.jsp?uri=full=3100001~!97738!0 "For the Dogon peoples, the meeting house, or toguna, is the centerpiece of each village. Men gather to discuss matters involving the entire community. Its massive millet-stalk roof is supported by columns masterfully sculpted with figures in high relief." "The Bamana peoples have developed a unique form of communal theater, called cheko. The principal actors in cheko performances are colorful, animated puppets. Some of these puppets are small enough to be manipulated by hand. Others tower above the rooftops of the village and require two or more people to move	DVD	AF MA DOGO BAMA TOGU DVD

Truly Madly Puppetry	Webster, Renee	If you thought puppetry was simply a hand up a sock with button eyes, you're only half right. Just like the Lympic Games, the World of Puppetry Festival is held every four years with nations campaigning to host this unique, artistically eclectic and hilarious event. In 2008, over 10 days, the world's most dedicated puppet lovers, string savants and papier-mache masters gathered in Perth, Western Australia to celebrate the 20th World Puppetry Festival. With the finest puppeteers and artists from around the world showcasing their moving, comedic, dramatic and innovative productions, Perth itself transformed into a kaleidoscope of colour and creativity. Truly Madly Puppetry takes us deep inside the festival with wonderful performances, interviews and insights from festival participants, directors and artists revealing a world where shadows are alive with magic, wood can bring tears to your eyes and the simplest of objects animate with laughter... a world many of us left behind as children, but which welcomes us back time and again.	DVD	PN1972 TRUL MADL PUPP

Ukifune from The Tale of Genji	Hori, Hiroshi; Shinoda, Masahiro	From an insert with the cassette: "Ukifune" from the Tale of Genji (film) Ukifune, born of a lower aristocratic level, attracts the interest of Genji's stepson, Kaoru. Unfortunately, she has already begun a relationship with Prince Niou, Genji's grandson. Distraught over the situation, she attempts to commit suicide by drowning. She is rescued and retires to a convent. The tale ends when Ukifune refuses to see her brother who has a note from Kaoru and Kaoru suspects Niou has in fact spirited her away. "Ukifune" refers to a drifting boat that metaphorically recalls life's haunting uncertainties. The film, a permanent attraction of the Genji Monogatari Museum in Uji, Kyoto, was directed by the famous Masahiro Shinoda and incorporates forty-seven dolls created and operated by Hiroshi Hori. Who's afraid of opera?	Sutherland, Joan	The acclaimed soprano Joan Sutherland and her adorable puppet friends present mini-versions of two of the world's greatest opera favorites, "La Traviata" and "Daughter of the Regiment," in a program specially designed to be enjoyed by both children and adults alike. Joining the great soprano in these unique programs are three enchanting puppets: Sir William, a scholarly old goat; his nephew, little Billy; and the very boisterous lion Rudi. Joan Sutherland introduces the opera plots to her funny pals, and at key moments she returns to unfold more of the story. As Violetta in La Traviata, Joan is a beautiful Parisian courtesan in love with a penniless nobleman. Joan also plays Donizetti's Marie, found as an infant on the battlefield and adopted by a whole regiment of adoring fathers.	VHS	WHO AFRA OPER 1973

Wild Party, The	Reed, Larry	The Wild Party is a jazz shadow theater piece based on the Beat poem by Joseph Moncure March, with an original score composed by Bruce Forman. The Wild Party explores the American artistic traditions of jazz, film noir, and poetry. Written in 1926, it is a witty, risque poem about two vaudeville performers who fight, make up, throw a party and flirt with danger. It is the poem that inspired William Burroughs to become a writer. Set in shadows with a live band, the performance fuses film ideas with modern shadow techniques derived from the ancient Asian art form. Edited from live performances. 1995/1996 With "behind-the-screen" interviews and special features.	DVD	PN1979.S5 W55 DVD 2007

Yolanda and the Thief	Minnelli, Vincente	Fred Astaire is thief Johnny Riggs, a dapper con man travelling the mythical South American land of Patria. Lucille Bremer co-stars as Yolanda, a naive, sheltered young woman, and heiress to the wealthiest family in the land. Their paths cross when Johnny overhears Yolanda's plea for a guardian angel and introduces himself as the answer to her prayers. With the aid of fellow rogue Victor Trout (Frank Morgan, the lovable Wizard of Oz himself), the two attempt to enrich themselves - at the expense of Yolanda. Their scheme to steal her fortune proves successful until Yolanda steals Johnny's heart instead. Johnny is then forced to choose between ill-gotten wealth and the love of a beautiful woman. Zauberflote, Die	Salzburger Marionettentheater	Prince Tamino stumbles into the land of the Queen of Night, where he is attacked by a giant serpent. He is rescued by three ladies, who show him a picture of the beautiful Pamina, and Tamino instantly falls in love. Protected by a golden flute, he sets off with the bird-catcher Papageno to rescue Pamina from the clutches of the sorcerer Sarastro. But the sorcerer is actually a wise priest, who tells Pamina that though she and Tamino are destined for each other, they must first prove their love. When the gods instruct Tamino to take a vow of silence, Pamina fears that all is lost and contemplates suicide, but she is comforted by kind spirits and finds new strength to aid Tamino through the trials of fire and water. Triumphant over all adversity, the lovers unite, as the forces of light banish the darkness, and the magic flute carries the final melody. Narrated by Sir Peter Ustinov	DVD	M1500.M69 DVD 1994
