ESTIMATED OBLIGATIONS OF THE UNITED NATIONS

IN RESPECT OF UNFICYP

The United Nations obligations in respect of UNFICYP during the period 27 March through 26 June 1964 are estimated at $5,130,000 on the assumption that all troops and police will be repatriated from Cyprus by commercial air charters at the end of the period. The estimate would be reduced by approximately $1 million to a total of $4,130,000 for this period if the U. S. or other governments provided the return air-lift without charge to the United Nations, or if the UNFICYP troops and police now in Cyprus remained for a further three months period without being rotated.

The United Nations obligations for a second three months period (i.e. 27 June through 26 September 1964) are estimated at $5,640,000 on the assumption that there will be no rotation of the troops and police now in UNFICYP, that the United Nations will pay none of the expenses for U.K. or Canadian troops nor for the pay and allowances of the Irish, Australian or New Zealand troops and police, and on the assumption, again, that the entire Force will be repatriated in September by commercial air charters. This estimate would be reduced by approximately $1 million to a figure of $4,640,000 if the U.S. or other governments provided the return air-lift of UNFICYP troops and police without charge to the United Nations.

Since voluntary contributions pledged to date for UNFICYP total $5,443,290, if the first period obligations amount to only $4,130,000, it would be necessary to receive additional financial support in the amount of approximately $4,327,000 to cover the total obligations of UNFICYP through 26 September 1964 assuming the cost of repatriation of the troops and police would be a United Nations cost.

SUBJECT: Estimated Obligations of the United Nations - UNFICYP

- 1. In my note last week regarding "Estimated obligations of the United Nations in respect of UNFICYP" I indicated that the costs to the UN during the period ending 26 June 1964 might be estimated at $4,130,000 if the troops and police now in Cyprus remained for a further three months' period without being rotated, or if any required rotations were arranged without charge to the UN.
- 2. Within the past two days we have been infored by Mr. Hedin of the Swedish Mission to the United Nations of certain "preliminary figures" which represent amounts his Government may claim as reimbursable costs in respect of salaries, equipment and supplies for its troops in UNFICYP. The total of these "preliminary costs" exceed by approximately $775,000 the total amount we had assumed as the costs of the Swedish contingent in UNFICYP for the first period in making our estimate last week.
- 3. The increases in the Swedish costs over the amounts we had calculated for them in our estimates arise in the main from what Mr. Hedin describes as "one time costs in respect of Swedish equipment and supplies taken to Cyprus", but as yet we have no information as to the basis on which these "preliminary costs" have been calculated by the Swedish authorities.
- 4. In view of the fact that the Danish contingent has also brought to Cyprus very substantial quantities of supplies and equipment it is entirely possible that in our estimate of last week we have underestimated the amounts the Danish authorities may claim if they take the same position in this matter as the Swedish authorities have done. On this assumption it might be prudent to increase last week's estimate of the UN obligations for UNFICYP for the first period by $1,300,000 to a new total of $5,430,000, which is the approximate amount of pledges received to date.
- 5. The "preliminary figures" given us by Mr. Hedin as the reimbursable costs to Sweden for the three month period from 27 June to 26 September 1964 total approximately $1,650,000, of which $1,300,000 represents salary costs and $350,000 the costs of supplies. If similar costs are to be claimed by Denmark and Finland, it would appear that the estimates in my note of last week relating to the second three month period should be increased, on the assumptions stated in the first sentence of paragraph 2 of my note, by about $1,650,000 to a new total of, say, $7,300,000.

6. In view of the fact that it would now appear that all pledges received to date will be required to cover the obligations incurred in the period ending 26 June 1964 we shall require on the above basis new financial support in an amount of $7,300,000.

S.G.

Attached paper was prepared by Bruce Turner on the financial status of UNFICYP.

FINANCIAL STATUS OF THE UNITED NATIONS FORCE IN CYPRUS

1. Financial Arrangements

The resolution of the Security Council of 4 March 1964 establishing UNFICYP provided under operative paragraph 6 that all costs pertaining to the Force should be met in a manner to be agreed upon between Governments providing the contingents and by the Government of Cyprus. The Secretary-General was also authorized to accept voluntary contributions for this purpose.

2. Estimated Costs

In the Secretary-General's report to the Security Council on 15 June 1964 (S/5764) the Council was informed that the provisional estimate of United Nations financial obligations for the operation of UNFICYP for the 3-month period anding 27 June totalled $5,430,000. It was further informed that should the Force be extended for a second three months, additional costs would approximate $7,300,000. Thus for the full 6-months period to 27 September 1964 total estimated expenditures as advised to Member Governments in the light of which voluntary contributions have been pledged, amount to $12,730,000. The estimate of $7.3 million for the second period however inadvertently included provision for repatriation of troops at the end of the six months period which estimated costs had already been provided for at least in substantial part in the first period estimates. In fact, therefore, the 6-months estimate might safely be reduced to a round figure of $12 million. This figure would be susceptible to further reduction to something approaching $11 million in the event of the United States undertaking to arrange for the repatriation of the troops without charge. It must be strongly emphasized however, that these estimates continue to be highly tentative until such time as we receive firmer advice from Sweden, Norway and Finland particularly, as to the level of their reimbursable costs. So far all we have is a preliminary indication from the Swedes.

Our recommendation would therefore be that for fund-raising purposes, that is to say, for discussions with Governments, we use the upper rather than the lower estimate of six monthly total expenditures, i.e. $12 million. For our own internal purposes however we doubt that we would be incurring any undue risk if the limit of the resources that are foreseeable were not to exceed say, $11 million.

The estimates for the second 3-months period were based on the assumptions that the Force would remain at approximately its present size and composition, that the arrangements for reimbursement of costs to Governments providing contingents would remain the same as those pertaining to the first period and, as indicated above, that the UNFICYP Special Account would bear the costs of repatriating certain contingents at the end of their period of service but would not be required to bear the costs of any rotation of the troops presently serving in the Force. The Swedish contingent was in fact rotated at the end of the first 3 months but the rotation by air was carried out by the United States Air Force at no cost to the United Nations.

3. Voluntary Cash Contributions

Details of cash contributions pledged or paid are annexed hereto.

The total pledged by Governments in the course of the initial period ending 26 June 1964 totalled $5,154,890. For the reasons indicated hereunder this figure excludes the pledge equivalent to $280,000 by the Government of Cyprus, which amount has in fact been included in previous contribution reports. Contributions pledged to date in respect of the second period total $5,289,615. This latter figure includes amounts of $40,000 and $100,000 from Austria and Turkey respectively, which are not at this stage in the nature of formal pledges but have been included as a result of informal assurances given Dr. Bunche by the two Permanent Representatives. It also assumes a minimum contribution from the United Kingdom for the second period of $1.3 million.

There is thus firmly pledged or reasonably assured for the six months a total of approximately $10,445,000, of which $1,971,000 has so far been actually paid.

Based on discussions which have taken place with the Permanent Representatives concerned we would hopefully anticipate receiving additional pledges of approximately $300,000 as follows: Belgium, $100,000 (as for the first period); Italy say, $125,000 (this is about half the amount pledged for the first period. It might be a little more but the advice received by Dr. Bunche is that while the prospects are extremely good, the amount will be appreciably less than previously; this is not altogether unexpected but in any event, it may be some weeks before we get final word in view of the current political situation in Italy.) Japan, perhaps $50,000 (this again is about half the earlier pledge which however, according to the Delegation here, was raised from $50,000 to $100,000 in expectation of the Force continuing for at least six months. The Foreign Office accordingly anticipates some difficulty and delay in persuading their Treasury to contribute a second time.) Luxembourg, $5,000 (as for the first period. I am not sure if the Delegation has been approached in terms of repeating their first period pledge.) Morocco, $10,000 (this has been informally promised as part and parcel of an overall settlement of their ONUC accounts but we are awaiting formal confirmation.)

Thus, there seems to be happefully in sight as of to date cash resources in a total amount of $10,735,000. The prospects of any appreciable increase over this figure would seem, however, rather remote. A few other Delegations have been contacted with the fellowing results:

New Zealand for a repeat pledge has responded very negatively. The matter was taken up by the Permanent Representative with the Prime Minister on the occasion of his recent passing through New York. There is in my judgement no point in pressing the matter for the moment, although we might return to it in a few weeks time;

Finland has been urged to follow the example of the other Scandinavians and has taken the matter up with Helsinki, although no answer is expected for some two or three weeks;

I understand there is some possibility of Libya making at least a token contribution in which event and in the light of Morocco's interest, Tunisia might also be approached.

4. Veluntary Contributions in Kind.

The following Governments which are furnishing contingents have volunteered to bear the costs of their contingents as follows:

Australia has agreed to bear costs of pay, everseas allowances, equipment brought to Cyprus, arms, ammunition, travel costs outside of Cyprus and any compensation in event of injury or death of the 40 policemen provided to the Force.

Canada has agreed to bear all costs of its contingent of approximately 1,100 men furnished to UNFICYP.

Ireland has agreed to bear costs of pay, overseas allowances, supplies and equipment sent from Ireland, including uniforms and any other expenses arising in Ireland.

New Zealand has agreed to bear costs of pay, overseas allowances, equipment brought to Cyprus, arms, ammunition, travel costs outside of Cyprus and any compensation in the event of injury or death of the 20 policemen provided to the Force. During the second period beginning 27 June the Government of New Zealand will request reimbursement for overseas allowances.

United Kingdom has agreed to bear all costs of its contingent which amounted to approximately 1,240 men as at 13 July 1964.

In addition, the United States Government has provided air services to UNFICYP by transporting the Irish, Danish, Finnish and Swedish troops from their home countries to Cyprus and also the airlift relating to the rotation of the Swedish contingent at the end of the initial period.

In addition, the Government of Cyprus has provided what seems to be tantamount to a credit in the amount of £100,000 ($280,000) against which we can draw for local supplies, services and facilities. The situation with respect to this pledge is however confused. Initially, the Delegation here intimated that of this amount $70,000 would be available in cash. This apparently was a misunderstanding. Our initial cost estimates were prepared on the assumption that it would be the responsibility of the Cyprus Government to make available certain local services and facilities without charge and the Cyprus pledge therefore will not have the effect of reducing correspondingly our estimated costs, although it may well be that perhaps something upwards of $100,000 of the amount pledged will be expended on supplies, etc. for which we had made budgetary provision. The situation with respect to the Cyprus contribution is being looked into by Mr. McCaw in the course of his present 3 or 4 day visit.

5. Conclusion

The situation in terms of our ability to meet anticipated commitments is not too bad insofar as we have reasonably solid grounds for anticipating cash resources of slightly better than $10.7 million against estimated obligations of $11-$12 million. But since there continue to be so many unknown factors, this office would feel a good deal more comfortable if additional pledges of the order of $1 million could somehow be secured. It is difficult to avoid the conclusion, however, that further assistance of this order is not likely to be forthcoming unless the United Kingdom can be persuaded to increase its second period pledge beyond $1.3 million. I doubt very much whether the United States will go further insofar as cash is concerned, certainly in the absence of a bigger effort on the part of the United Kingdom.

A Note on UNFICYP Financing

In view of the unlikehood of any change being approved by the Security Council in the existing financial arrangements for UNFICYP and in order to ensure strict compliance with the arrangements for financing UNFICYP pursuant to operative paragraph 6 of the Security Council's resolution of 4 March 1964 (S/5575), and its resolution of 20 June 1964 (S/5778), it appears necessary either to secure additional pledges of contributions for the maintenance of the Force during the sixmonth period ending 26 September 1964, or to negotiate reductions in the amounts of the claims which are expected to be received from Governments providing contingents or goods and services to the Force, or both.

Since responsibility for the solicitation of voluntary contributions for UNFICYP has been assigned, except to a very limited extent, to others than the Controller and his staff we are not in a position to know the extent to which further pledges may be expected. If, however, it appears unlikely that these further pledges will be sufficient to close the gap of perhaps $2 million between total pledges received to date and the estimated costs of UNFICYP for the six-month period ending 26 September 1964, or that sufficient pledges would be forthcoming to cover the estimated costs for an extension of the Force for a further period of three months, then it may be considered appropriate to consult with the Governments providing contingents or goods and services for which they will seek cost reimbursements from the Organization in an endeavour to reduce the amounts to be claimed to bring the total UNFICYP expenses down to the level of the assured pledges.

Despite a number of efforts to obtain reliable estimates of the reimbursements likely to be claimed for pay and allowances and contingent owned equipment by certain Governments providing contingents, principally the Nordic Governments, we have gotten only the most general indications of the total amounts likely to be claimed and it has been necessary in arriving at over-all cost estimates for UNFICYP to make fairly generous assumptions on rather uncertain bases regarding the possible amount of these claims.

Since the estimate of such claims represents between twothirds and three-quarters of the total UNFICYP estimated costs it may be considered desirable either to request the Governments concerned to send representatives to UN Headquarters prior to 26 September to consult and, hopefully, reduce the amounts to be claimed, or for representatives of the Secretary-General to consult or negotiate with the authorities of the Governments concerned in their own capitals.

In any such discussions it might be useful for the Secretary-General's military advisor and a representative of this office to participate since the former could appraise the original costs and depreciation allowances for contingent owned equipment and supplies and the latter the pay and allowance elements in the estimates bearing in mind previous United Nations experience in this respect.

Pledge, which is subject to confirmation, consists of the equivalent of $70,000 in cash and $210,000 in kind.

^{2/} Payment will be effected in whole or in part by means of offset against governments claims for reimbursement of its costs.

^{3/} Excludes an amount of up to $400,000 pledged by U.K. for second three-month period on a two-to-one matching basis.

^{4/} Maximum amount pledged, part of which may be dependent on contributions of other governments.

1. The arrangements for financing the costs of UNFICIP to set forth in operative paragraph 6 of the Security Council's resolution of 4 March 1964 which reads:

"Recommends that the stationing of the Force shall be for a period of three months, all costs pertaining to it being met, in a manner to be agreed upon by them, by the Governments providing the contingents and by the Covernment of Cyprus. The Secretary-General may also accept voluntary contributions for that purpose."

The arrangements in its 4 March 1964 resolution were reaffirmed by the Security Council in each of its subsequent resolutions extending the period during which the Force was to be stationed in Cyprus.

- 2. The costs of UNFICIP. over and above the costs which Governments providing contingents have agreed to bear at their own expense, are satimated by the Secretariat as totalling %41.5 million for the twenty-one much period from the inception of the Force to 26 December 1965.
- 3. The voluntary contributions pledged to data total $54.2 million. (The amounts pledged and paid to date are shown in Annex I.)
- 4. The gap between UNFICYP costs and the amount pledged to date is approximately $7.3 million. While some additional pledges may be anticipated from Governments which pledged amounts for earlier periods but have not yet made pledges for the period from 27 June to 26 December, it were everly optimisable to hope that such additional pledges would amount to as much as $1.5 million.

Sir,

I have the honour to refer to the financing of the United Nations Peace-Keeping Force in Cyprus concerning which I last communicated with you on 18 June 1965. As you know, the arrangements for meeting the costs of the United Nations Force in Cyprus are set forth in operative paragraph 6 of the Security Council resolution of 4 March 1964, which provides that "all costs pertaining to it being met, in a manner to be agreed upon by them, by the governments providing the contingents and by the Government of Cyprus. The Secretary-General may also accept voluntary contributions for that purpose". These arrangements were reaffirmed by the Security Council in each of its subsequent resolutions extending the period during which the Force was to be stationed in Cyprus.

In my last report to the Security Council on the financial situation in respect of UNFICYP, submitted on 23 September 1965 (S/6702), I pointed out that "In view of the gap of $9,616,000 that now exists between the estimated costs to the Organization of maintaining the Force until 26 December 1965 and the amount of financial support pledged to date to cover such costs, I feel that it will be incumbent on me, if substantial additional pledges are not received in the immediate future, to notify the Security Council and thereby indirectly also the governments which are providing men, material and services to the Force on an extra-cost reimbursement basis that there cannot be any assurance that the Organization henceforth would be in a position to fulfil the commitments it has previously undertaken to reimburse them for their extra costs."

It requires no repeating that UNFICYP is carrying out its function in Cyprus under a unanimous vote of the Security Council and is present in the island in the interest of international peace and security.

In the light of the foregoing, you will understand that I feel it incumbent upon me once again to appeal to all governments for further voluntary contributions to meet current easts of UNFICYP. These costs, over and above those which governments providing contingents have agreed to bear at their own expense, are estimated as totalling $41.5 million for the twenty-one-month period from the inception of the Force up to 26 December 1965, which is the concluding date of the current extension of UNFICYP. The voluntary contributions pledged to date total $34.2 million. The gap between the estimated costs of UNFICYP and the amounts pledged to date is approximately $7.3 million.

It is to cover this deficit that I once again urgently appeal to your Government for a first voluntary contribution in support of this very important operation. I feel strongly that this operation, which serves so well the interests of international peace and security, constitutes a burden which in all fairness should be shared among all governments.

In concluding, may I express the hope that your Government may see fit to make a positive response to this further appeal.

Accept, Sir, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Le 28 octobre 1965

Monsieur le Ministre,

J'ai l'honneur de me référer au financement de la Forcé des Nations Unies à Chypre, sujet à propos duquel je vous ai écrit pour la dernière fois le 18 juin 1965. Comme vous le savez, les arrangements prévus pour couvrir les dépenses de la Force sont exposés au paragraphe 6 de la résolution du Conseil de sécurité en date du 4 mars 1964, qui dispose que "toutes les dépenses y relatives seront à la charge, selon les modalités dont ils conviendront, des gouvernements qui auront fourni les contingents et du Gouvernement chypriote. Le Secrétaire général pourra aussi accepter des contributions volontaires à cette fin." Le Conseil de sécurité a réaffirmé ces arrangements dans chacune de ses résolutions ultérieures par lesquelles il a prorogé la présence de la Force à Chypre.

Dans mon dernier rapport au Conseil de sécurité sur la situation financière en ce qui concerne la Force des Nations Unies à Chypre, rapport que j'ai présenté le 23 septembre 1965 (S/6702), je faisais observer qu'en raison de l'écart actuel de 9.616.000 dollars entre le montant estimatif des dépenses que l'Organisation aurait à faire pour maintenir la Force jusqu'au 26 décembre 1965 et le montant de l'appui financier promis à ce jour pour couvrir ces dépenses, je croyais devoir, si d'importantes contributions supplémentaires n'étaient pas annoncées dans un proche avenir, informer le Conseil de sécurité et, partant, indirectement aussi les gouvernements qui fournissent des hommes, du matériel et des services à la Force moyennant remboursement des dépenses supplémentaires, qu'il ne pouvait y avoir aucune assurance que l'Organisation serait désormais en mesure de respecter les engagements pris antérieurement de leur rembourser leurs dépenses supplémentaires."

Je n'ai pas à rappeler que c'est en vertu d'un vote unanime du Conseil de sécurité que la Force des Nations Unies s'acquitte de ses fonctions à Chypre et qu'elle se trouve dans l'île dans l'intérêt de la paix et de la sécurité internationales. Il est évident que la Force a contribué de façon capitale à la paix en prêtant tout son concours pour mettre fin aux combats à Chypre.

Eu égard à ces considérations, j'estime qu'il est de mon devoir, vous le comprendrez, de demander de nouveau à tous les gouvernements de bien vouloir verser des contributions volontaires pour couvrir les dépenses courantes de la Force des Nations Unies à Chypre. Les dépenses de la Force, outre celles que les geuvernements qui fournissent des contingents ont accepté de couvrir en mêmes, sont estimées à 41,5 millions de dollars au total pour la période de vingt et un mois comprise entre la création de la Force et le 26 décembre 1965, date jusqu'à laquelle la mission de la Force a été pour le moment prorogée. Les contributions volontaires annoncées à ce jour se chiffrent à 34,2 millions de dollars. L'écart entre le montant estimatif des dépenses de la Force et les contributions annoncées à ce jour est donc de 7,3 millions de dollars environ. C'est pour couvrir ce déficit prévu que je m'adresse à votre Gouvernement pour lui demander de bien vouloir verser une nouvelle contribution volontaire. Un appel analogue est adressé à tous les gouvernements qui n'ont pas encore versé de contributions volontaires.

En concluant, je tiens à exprimer à votre Gouvernement toute ma gratitude pour les contributions qu'il a déjà généreusement versées en vue d'appuyer l'opération de Chypre, et j'espère qu'il jugera bon de répondre de façon positive à ce nouvel appel.

Veuillez agréer, Monsieur le Ministre, les assurances de ma très haute considération.

28 de octubre de 1965

Excelentísimo Señor:

Tengo el honor de referirme a la financiación de la Fuerza de las Naciones Unidas para el mantenimiento de la paz en Chipre, cuestión acerca de la cual me dirigí a Vuestra Excelencia por áltima vez el 18 de junio de 1965. Como sabe Vuestra Excelencia, el sistema adoptado para sufragar los gastos de la Fuerza de las Naciones Unidas en Chipre figura en el párrafo 6 de la parte dispositiva de la resolución del Consejo de Seguridad de fecha 4 de marzo de 1964, en el que se dispone que todos los gastos que origine la Fuerza "sean sufragados, de la forma que convengan entre ellos, por los gobiernos que proporcionen los contingentes y por el Gobierno de Chipre. El Secretario General también podrá aceptar contribuciones voluntarias a tal efecto". Ese sistema fue confirmado por el Consejo de Seguridad en cada una de las resoluciones subsiguientes por las que se prorrogó el plazo durante el cual había de estar estacionada la Fuerza en Chipre.

En mi último informe al Consejo de Seguridad sobre la situación financiera de la Fuersa, presentado el 23 de septiembre de 1965 (S/6702), señalé que "En vista de la diferencia de 9.616.000 dólares que existe en este momento entre los gastos que se supone representaría para la Organización el mantenimiento de la Fuerza hasta el 26 de diciembre de 1965

y el total de apoyo financiero prometido hasta la fecha para atender a dichos gastos, creo que me incumbe, en caso de que no se reciban en el futuro inmediato nuevas promesas, notificar al Consejo de Seguridad, y con ello indirectamente también a los gobiernos que suministran hombres, material y servicios a la Fuerza, a base de reembolso de los gastos extraordinarios, que no puede haber seguridad alguna de que la Organización se encuentre, de ahora en adelante, en condiciones de complir los compromisos que había contraído previamente de reembolsarles esos gastos extraordinarios".

Innecesario es repetir que la Fuerza está desempeñando su función en Chipre en virtud de una votación unánime del Conse jo de Seguridad y que se encuentra en la isla en interés de la paz y de la seguridad internacionales.

En vista de todo lo que antecede, Vuestra Excelencia comprenderá que considero mi deber dirigir una vez más un llamamiento a todos los gobiernos para que hagan nuevas contribuciones voluntarias con objeto de sufragar los gastos corrientes de la Fuerza. Se estima que estos gastos, sin incluir los que han convenido en sufragar a sus expensas los gobiernos que proporcionan contingentes, ascienden en total a 41.500.000 dólares en el período de veintiún meses comprendido entre la creación de la Fuerza y el 26 de diciembre de 1965, que es la fecha de expiración de la actual prórroga de las funciones de la Fuerza. Las contribuciones voluntarias prometidas lasta la fecha se elevan en total a 34.200.000 dólares. La diferencia entre los gastos estimados de la Fuerza y las sumas prometidas hasta la fecha es de aproximadamente 7.300.000 dólares.

A fin de enjugar ese déficit, hago nuevamente un urgente llamamiento a su Gobierno para que entregue una primera contribución voluntaria en apoyo de esa importantísima operación. Tengo la firme convicción de que la operación, que tan adecuadamente responde a los intereses de la paz y de la seguridad internacionales, constituye una carga que en justicia debe ser compartida por todos los gobiernos.

Para concluir, permítaseme expresar la esperanza de que el Gobierno de Vuestra Excelencia considere oportuno responder positivamente a este nuevo llamamiento.

Aprovecho la oportunidad para reiterar a Vuestra Excelencia las seguridades de mi consideración más distinguida.

The financial position in respect of UNFICYP may be summarized as follows:

- 1) For the two years from the inception of the Force on 27 March 1964 to 26 March 1966 the estimated costs to the Organization total $44,825,000, the amount paid or pledged to cover these costs now totals $42,138,140, and there is therefore at present a deficit of $2,686,860.
- 2) For the additional three-month period from 27 March 1966 to 26 June 1966 during which, in accordance with the Security Council's decision of 16 March 1966, the Force is to remain stationed in Cyprus the estimated costs to the Organization, including the costs of repatriating the troops, total $5,700,000 and the amount pledged to date to cover these costs total only $1,000,000.
- 3) Accordingly, new pledges totalling $7,386,860 must now be received if the Organization is to be in position to honour in full its past commitments and to cover the costs involved in maintaining the Force during the next three month period.

Note No. 3483 6 December 1968

NOTE TO CORRESPONDENTS

The following statement was made today by a United Nations spokesman:

It has become apparent that a story, which appeared in the New York Times on 4 December 1968, concerning an alleged plan to further reduce by 10 per cent the United Nations Peace-Keeping Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP) has given rise to some serious misunderstandings and has misleading implications both for UNFICYP and for the Secretariat. It is therefore necessary to clarify the actual situation.

Any reduction of the Force in Cyprus could be effected only by a decision at United Nations Headquarters in New York. The fact is that no further reduction of the Force at the present time is being or has been contemplated here. The situation in Cyprus itself is the sole basic consideration which determines all Secretariat actions concerning the strength of the Force. The maintenance of UNFICYP at its present strength continues to be determined only by the Cyprus situation and not by military or other considerations unrelated to that situation, as was implied in the above-mentioned article in the New York Times.

UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL

Distr. GENERAL

S/10268/Rev.1*

ENGLISH ONLY

LETTER DATED 14 JULY 1971 FROM THE SECRETARY-GENERAL TO GOVERNMENTS 1/ CONTAINING A FURTHER APPEAL FOR VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS FOR THE FINANCING OF THE UNITED NATIONS PEACE-KEEPING FORCE IN CYPRUS

I have the honour to address once again an appeal to your Government for a voluntary contribution to meet the costs of the United Nations Peace-keeping Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP).

On 26 May 1971, in its resolution 293 (1971), a copy of which is attached, 2/
the Security Council extended the stationing in Cyprus of the United Nations Peace-keeping Force for a further period ending 15 December 1971. The basis for the financing of UNFICYP as decided by the Security Council is, as you know, by voluntary contributions. Even so, having in mind that the Force has been indispensable in restoring and maintaining quiet in Cyprus and continues to be there at the request of the parties and the unanimous decision of the Security Council, it would seem clear to me that there is a certain moral obligation for all peace-loving States to provide the United Nations with the financial means necessary to maintain that Force.

I make this renewed appeal for contributions because of the serious financial plight of UNFICYP, which is due largely to insufficient response to previous appeals for voluntary contributions.

The cost of maintaining the Force for the period from 16 June to 15 December 1971, inclusive of repatriation and liquidation costs, is estimated at $6,429,000. UNFICYP's deficit at this time is of the order of $20,900,000. This figure was arrived at on the basis of the costs of UNFICYP to the United Nations for the period from the inception of the Force to 15 December 1971 and takes into account the voluntary contributions paid or pledged by Governments to meet those costs, excluding those pledges of one Government which are conditioned on a matching requirement which so far has not been met, as well as miscellaneous income of the UNFICYP Special Account. The conditional pledges referred to amounting to approximately $11,725,000, are available for release to UNFICYP when, and to the extent that, additional contributions are received from other Governments on a two to three matching basis.

Revised version issued for technical reasons.

^{2/} Circulated as document S/RES/293(1971).

The attached table lists the voluntary contributions paid or pledged to the UNFICYP Special Account since the beginning of the operation in March 1964, as well as the pledges received so far for the current period and the immediately preceding period of the stationing of UNFICYP, covering the costs of maintaining the Force from 16 December 1970 to 15 December 1971. In addition, Governments contributing contingents are continuing to bear at their expense considerable extra costs incurred as a result of this operation. Based on their reports, it is estimated that these absorbed costs would total approximately $2,760,000 for the current six-month period.

For the past several years I have drawn the attention of the Members of the Organization to the continuing and growing deficit of UNFICYP, which jeopardizes the proper support for the Force and may even put its continued existence in doubt. My responsibility in regard to UNFICYP can be discharged only if Governments are prepared to provide the necessary support for this important United Nations peace-keeping effort. The above figures make it all too clear that this support has been forthcoming to an increasingly inadequate degree, as indicated in particular by the diminishing number of countries making voluntary contributions. Unless this situation is substantially corrected during the next few months, I shall be obliged to report to the Security Council on its serious implications with regard to the future of UNFICYP.

I might add that UNFICYP's contribution to maintaining peaceful conditions in Cyprus is of particular importance at the present time, since the continuation and ultimate success of the intercommunal talks would be seriously endangered by any recurrence of violence. The United Nations Peace keeping Force in Cyprus is carrying out its task "in the interest of preserving international peace and security", which is the joint responsibility of all States Members of the United Nations. I therefore appeal again to the Governments of all States Members of the Organization or members of specialized agencies to respond promptly and generously with voluntary contributions to provide the necessary financial support that will enable UNFICYP to carry on its important function.

Accept, etc.

(Signed) U THANT
Secretary-General

MEMORANDUM

Ambassador Bush TO:

THROUGH: Mr. Newlin MM FROM: F. H. Sacksteder

SUBJECT: Talking Points: UNFICYP Financing - Your

Meeting with the Secretary General July 20, 11:30 a.m.

We are very concerned over the future prospects of stability and continued peace in Cyprus. We understand that the Secretary General shares our concern over the continued lack of progress in the inter-communal talks (between the representatives of the Greek and Turkish Cypriots), over the uncompromising position taken by Archbishop Makarios, and over the impatience with this situation manifested by the new Turkish government. About the only reassuring element in the situation is the presence in Cyprus of UN Forces in Cyprus (UNFICYP). UNFICYP could prove to be the major deterrent to a further outbreak of violence between Greek and Turkish Cypriots and eventually the Greek and Turkish governments. UNFICYP could also prove to be the only significant deterrent to the killing of minorities caught in each others areas of control if violence breaks out again between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Unfortunately, UNFICYP is broke. Since it was set up by the Security Council and its mandate was renewed approximately every six months as the result of a Security Council decision, the financing of UNFICYP has been on the basis of voluntary contributions. Some important UN members, including such Security Council Permanent Members as the USSR and France, have refused to contribute on "political" grounds. Óther countries have pledged more than they have paid. Many contributors paid in the past but have ceased pledging recently. The United States is limited by the wish of the Congress to furnishing not more than forty percent of the total. The lack of sufficient additional pledges to make up the remaining sixty percent has resulted in our inability to make payment on $16.8 million of our total pledges to date. Cumulative deficits in the UNFICYP account now total nearly $21 million and have resulted in the UN's failure to pay certain troop contributor countries, i.e. Finland and Ireland, the amounts due them with the result that these two members have threatened the withdrawal of their contingents. As of July 6, 1971, the Secretary General had only received pledges for the period June 16 through December 15, 1971 from three countries; $50,000 from Australia, $1.5 million from the UK and $2.4 million from the United States. It would take $3.6 million in pledges by others to permit the utilization of the $2.4 million we have just pledged. Yet the total of other pledges for the coming half year is only $1.55 million.

On July 14 the Secretary General addressed an appeal to Member States for a voluntary contribution to meet the costs of UNFICYP. His appeal makes your approach to him on this problem particularly timely.

The Department instructed us to consult the UK and the Canadian Missions and to request that they support our approach to the Secretary General. Both Missions have told us that they will do so.

You should tell the Secretary General that we fully share his concern over the financial situation of UNFICYP and that we believe it is particularly important to preserve its viability at this time. You should urge the Secretary General to appoint a special representative to make direct and personal appeals in capitals for additional contributions sufficient to meet the current UNFICYP deficit.

This representative should seek contributions from a variety of potential contributors. First, Security Council permanent members who vote for the renewal of UNFICYP's mandate but do not contribute, i.e. France and the USSR. Second, from countries with security interests in the Eastern Mediterranean, i.e. Greece, Turkey and Italy. Third, countries which have not contributed in recent years, i.e. the FRG, Iran, Japan, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway and Switzerland. Finally, countries which have never contributed, i.e. Spain and perhaps some Latin Americans. We are prepared to support the Secretary General's representative's efforts in appropriate capitals.

Our objective and the Secretary General's should be to obtain additional contributions from others which would enable us to utilize the amounts we have pledged, i.e. by matching our contributions in accordance with the sixty percent to our forty percent formula. At present and in the recent past, contributions from others have not been sufficient to match the amounts we have pledged and have resulted in a steady increase in the deficit.

You may also inform the Secretary General that if his efforts result in additional commitments which would place UNFICYP's financing on a sound and sustainable basis, the United States might consider the possibility of a one-time additional contribution. We would define sound and sustainable as a condition where further increases in the UNFICYP deficit are eliminated and the full amount of our regular pledge is matched by enough pledges to permit its use. We would look at the response to the Secretary General's appeal and if this was significant we would consider the form this additional contribution would take. We would not expect this additional contribution to be matched by additional contributions of others according to the forty percent-sixty percent formula.

Note for the record

In a telephone conversation with Liu on 19 July Mr. Sacksteder of the United States Mission stated that Ambassador Bush had requested a meeting with the Secretary-General for 20 July in order to discuss the financial aspects of UNFICYP. During the proposed meeting Ambassador Bush intended to raise the following points:

- (1) He would suggest that the Secretary-General consider appointing a Special Representative who would visit selected capitals in order to obtain additional contributions for UNFICYP. The United States Government would support the efforts of such a Special Representative. It had consulted the Governments of Canada and the United Kingdom, both of which supported this initiative.
- (2) The United States Government was considering the possibility of making a "one time additional contribution" provided that there was an assurance that other contributions could be obtained and the financial situation of UNFICYP could be placed on a sound and sustainable basis. This additional contribution might or might not be subject to the matching provision.
