SFC Brandon Green Fires 2023 First Shot

By Sheri Trusty, CMP Feature Writer

Sgt. 1st Class Brandon Green, USA, fired the First Shot to officially open the 2023 National Matches at Camp Perry.

Army Sergeant First Class Brandon Green arrived at Camp Perry a few days ahead of the rest of his U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit (AMU) teammates. SFC Green was asked to fire the ceremonial First Shot at the National Matches on July 10, and he wanted a few days, he said, to collect his thoughts and prepare the speech he would give before the hundreds of people who would descend on the grounds to celebrate 116 years of National Matches history.

But he got sidetracked. As he walked across the Petrarca Range parking lot, he stopped to watch men and women compete in the Smallbore Prone Iron Sight Championship and to talk to CMP Smallbore Program Manager Brad Donoho.

Sgt. 1st Class Green posed with DCM Emeritus, Gary Anderson. Green fired the M70 bolt rifle used by Anderson who fired the same rifle in 1971 that set the National Matches 200-yard standing record.

“I told Brad it looked fun and said I’ll have to find a rifle,” Green said. “Brad said I’ve got a guy who has an extra rifle. I borrowed a gun and borrowed ammo and had a lot of fun.”

It was an inconspicuous entry for a highly successful soldier. He is a 20-year member of the specially-trained USAMU. He won the Interservice Long Range championships five times, the NRA National Long Range Championships two times, and the Interservice Individual Championship four times.

“His historic 2018 shooting season finished with Brandon earning four individual national records, capturing his first President’s 100 Match win in dramatic fashion. He set a new national record – a perfect score of 400, with a 20 ‘X’ count,” said First Shot Ceremony emcee and CMP Programs Chief, Christie Sewell. “That year he also won his third National Trophy Individual championship and third Mountain Man Trophy, setting a new national record.”

Green won three NRA National Highpower Championship titles, an NRA Long Range Championship, and became the first person in history to win all four individual matches in the series.

“It is an honor for me to be asked to shoot the first shot,” Green said. “As a competitor and throughout our training, we really harp on consistency – consistency in training, consistency in your diet, consistency of your shot execution, your planning of the match – but the absolute most consistent thing for me in coming here to the National Matches at Camp Perry, is that it consistently gets better every year.”

Green was given the opportunity to choose his gun for the ceremonial first shot, so he chose the bolt-action Winchester Model 70 that Director Emeritus of Civilian Marksmanship,

National Trophy Rifle Matches

A Message from the CMP:

The CMP is pleased to provide this special printed edition of the Final Results of the 2023 National Trophy Rifle Matches. We hope this publication will serve as a treasured memento of your time at Camp Perry to go along with the many memorable experiences you were able to create on and off the range.

As in past years, the 2023 National Trophy Rifle Matches was a remarkable event that included a full schedule of competitive and educational marksmanship activities for youth and adults. The noteworthy season began in July with CMP's Rimfire Sporter Rifle and Smallbore series, including three-position and prone events. The CMP Highpower, National Trophy Rifle and CMP Games events followed, with the month-long event concluding with the CMP's Long Range series in early August. For the first time, the addition of a Mid-Range 3x600 brought a new and exciting challenge to the Long Range lineup and was met with great success on the range.

Also seeing success at the 2023 National Matches were several noteworthy marksmen and women, including:

- CSM Steven Slee, 59, of Dimondale, MI, who led both the O-Class and T-Class in the Max Soviak National Rimfire Sporter Match.
- SFC Shane Barnhart, 44, of Cardington, OH, who led the Open category of the Smallbore Prone 6400 Aggregate.
- Cecilia Ossi, 21, of Annandale, NJ, who earned the overall win in the Smallbore Three-Position competition as well as in the inaugural Smallbore/Air Rifle Aggregate Match.
- SSG Verne Conant, 27, of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit (USAMU), who claimed the win in the President's Rifle Match with an incredible score of 399-20X – only one point shy of a perfect 400.
- SSG Ben Cleland, 30, of the USAMU, who earned the top spot in the National Trophy Individual (NTI) Match and earned the aggregate Mountain Man Trophy for the second year. SSG Cleland was also the overall Service Rifle winner in the CMP 2400 Highpower Aggregate.
- Junior Thomas McGowan, 18, of Hortonville, WI, who earned the Golden Eagle Trophy (High Junior NTI), the Alice Bull Trophy (President's/NTI Aggregate) and the Col. Bill Deneke Trophy (President's/NTI/Junior Team Aggregate). He was also the High Junior in the CMP 2400 Aggregate event.
- VFEMI (Alvin Bethel, Clyde Bryant, MAJ Marc Cichowicz, Robert Menuet, GySgt James Otto and CW04 Vincent Pope), who bested the USAMU by nearly 50 points for the win in the National Trophy Infantry Team (NTIT) event.
- SFC Amanda Elsenboss, 34, of Williamsburg, VA, who earned the High Woman title in the President's Match and went on to claim the Woman's Trophy in the NTI match.
- SGT Jonathan Wood, 38, of Kennar, LA, who claimed wins in the Vintage Military, Modern Military, Three-Gun and Four Gun Aggregate events in the National Rifle Games series.
- SSG Ben Cleland, who won the first-ever Mid-Range 3x600 Match fired during CMP's Long Range Rifle series.
- SSG Jarrod McGaffic, 33, of Fort Monroe, GA, who was the overall Long Range competitor in the individual aggregate competition. SP4 Dustin Carr, 22, also of Fort Monroe, GA, led the Service Rifle portion, while SP4 Adam Fitzpatrick, 27, of Columbus, GA, overtook the Palma class. Additionally, Kenneth Livengood, 69, of Palmerton, PA, led the F-Open as Jack Dean, 50, of Cape Coral, FL, led the F-T/R.

The CMP would like to extend many sincere thanks to those who made significant contributions to the 2023 National Matches, like the various organizations, school and clinic leaders, award donors and countless others essential to the success of the event. Photo galleries of all National Matches events may be viewed on our online album at cmp1.zenfolio.com. We encourage you to download your photos for free and share them with friends and family.

We'll be looking forward to seeing you back in Ohio for the National Rifle Matches in 2024 for even more memorable moments on the range. Until then, have a safe and enjoyable year, and good shooting to you all.

National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches

The National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches are the annual U. S. National Championship in service pistol and service rifle shooting. The National Trophy Matches were established by federal law in 1903, are still conducted under the statutory authority of the U. S. Code (Title 36 USC § 40725-40727) and are now governed by the Civilian Marksmanship Program. Shooters from all over the U. S., civilian and military, test their skills and compete to determine the nation's best service pistol and rifle shooters. To fulfill the CMP's statutory responsibility to "instruct citizens in marksmanship," the National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches are open to all shooters regardless of skill level. Beginners compete and learn while shooting side by side with champions. The tradition of the matches and their competitions for prestigious national trophies celebrate marksmanship excellence and provide incentives to develop individual marksmanship skills, equipment and a national competition infrastructure. The CMP National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches are held with support from the Ohio National Guard and U. S. Army Reserves who provide vital support for the matches. The CMP National Trophy Rifle and Pistol Matches and the CMP Smallbore, Air Gun, Mid-Range, and Long Range Matches are collectively known as the NATIONAL MATCHES.

Gary Anderson, used in 1972 to set the only perfect 200-yard standing slow-fire score at the National Matches.

The gun's story begins long before that historic shot.

"This gun plays a special role in the history of marksmanship," said Anderson, who attended the First Shot Ceremony. "It started as my dad's rifle and was converted to a match rifle. In 2019, I used it to shoot the first shot, so it's been here at the First Shot Ceremony a couple times."

The July 10 First Shot ceremony was attended by hundreds of marksmen, National Matches competitors, and dignitaries in the political, marksmanship and military worlds. Guest speakers were Congresswoman Marcy Kaptur (OH-09); Congressman Bob Latta (OH-05); Major General John C. Harris Jr., who serves as Ohio's Adjutant General; and Gerald O'Keefe, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of the Civilian Marksmanship Program.

Congressman Latta is a longtime marksman and National Matches competitor who plans to shoot in three matches this year. He said his father first came to Camp Perry for National Guard training, and shooting sports eventually became a family activity.

"It's important to pass that tradition down to the next generation. I was fortunate to have a dad who was a hunter and a marksman," Latta said. "Camp Perry is my very favorite place in the world."

O'Keefe talked about the impact the National Matches' long history has made on marksmanship, and he said the CMP is committed to carrying that impact into the future. CMP is tying its history and future together in its updated branding, "CMP – the Home of Marksmanship."

CMP works tirelessly to promote marksmanship through the four pillars of firearms training, safety, competitions and youth programs, and it has ambitious plans to widen the reach of shooting sports across the country. CMP is constructing a modern indoor airgun and smallbore marksmanship center in Columbia, Missouri, and is researching options for establishing a presence in the West.

CMP is embracing technology in its effort to maintain relevance and inspire the next generation of marksmen. It recently purchased two Laser Shot Simulation Systems, has plans to modernize electronic target systems, and is looking into entering the world of Esports.

As CMP carries marksmanship into the future, it will keep one eye on the past. History will always have its place at the modern National Matches, as it did when Green shot Anderson's Winchester Model 70.

"To shoot it was absolutely a huge honor," Green said. "I was shooting a piece of history."

Max Soviak National CMP Rimfire Sporter Match

By Sheri Trusty, CMP Feature Writer

When Max Soviak's family entered Camp Perry for the Max Soviak National CMP Rimfire Sporter Match on July 8, they were flooded with memories of long ago matches they competed in as a family. Max was a skilled and enthusiast marksman, and he and his family spent countless hours shooting inside the Gary Anderson Civilian Marksmanship Program (CMP) Competition Center and outside on the Camp Perry ranges.

On Aug. 26, 2021, Max, a Navy Corpsman, was killed by a suicide bomber while assisting evacuees in Kabul, Afghanistan. This year, the CMP paid homage to Max's service, sacrifice and memory by naming the annual CMP Rimfire Sporter Match in his honor.

About 240 marksmen competed in the match. Among them were his father, Kip Soviak, two siblings and a brother-in-law. It was an emotional day for the family.

"It was a lot today," Kip said. "This place has always meant a lot to us. It felt like coming home."

The family hasn't competed at the National Matches since 2014, when the kids were young and life was simpler.

"This was our family time, not just being here, but practicing before the matches and then coming here to compete," said Max's mother, Rachel. "We'd pack lunches and sit around the tent together. Our kids have a lot of memories of this place, and it stirred the memories up for them."

Amongst the sounds of shots flying down range and the laughter of families competing together, Max's memory became a little more tangible.

"The kids said they felt good coming back, and they want to keep coming back," Kip said.

During the rimfire match, the Soviaks shared information about the Corpsman Maxton W. Soviak Memorial Foundation, which provides adventures, experiences and resources to veterans and their families so they can "Live Life to the MAX". Kip and Rachel established the foundation to honor Max after his death.

While some organizations focus on meeting a specific need, the Corpsman Maxton W. Soviak Memorial Foundation wants to meet veterans where they are. The foundation funded a veteran's NASCAR trip and helped a family with a Disney vacation. It provided service dogs and emotional support dogs to many veterans to help them live happier, more independent lives.

The foundation recently rescued a Belgian Malinois dog from a kill shelter, named it Pilot after Max's dream to become a pilot, and placed it with a veteran.

"Pilot was a rescue dog. They asked us if we wanted him because 'he's 20 minutes from meeting his maker.' I took him, even though I didn't have a veteran for him yet. We were able to match him with a veteran who was very excited to get him," Rachel said. "So sometimes we help veterans, and sometimes we rescue dogs."

Although there have been many requests for dogs lately, the foundation offers much more.

"Maybe a veteran needs appliances or extra help with groceries or a ramp for their home. We want people to think outside the box. It doesn't have to be something big, grand or great," Rachel said.

For information on receiving assistance or nominating a veteran, visit www.maxtonsoviak.org.

The Max Soviak National CMP Rimfire Sporter Match was a reflection of Max's fun and adventurous personality. He loved to shoot, and he loved to be with his friends and family.

Max's brother, Griffin, fired the Cannon to start the day at Camp Perry.

Across Viale Range, marksmen were enjoying life and making memories the way Max once did on that very ground.

The Rimfire Sporter Match is a light-hearted, kid-friendly match that is more about camaraderie than competition.

“You can grab a .22 out of your closet to shoot,” said CMP Competition Manager and HR Specialist, Shannon Hand. “It’s at a National Level, but it’s fun and very family-oriented. Lots of kids shoot this one.”

Among the competitors was Sam Payne of Kingston, Georgia, who has been shooting the Rimfire Sporter Match at Camp Perry since he was 13. He shot the match with his father, Doug Payne, and his brother, Zach Payne. Sam said Rimfire is one of his favorite matches. Fun fact about Sam, he’s the only competitor to shoot a perfect 600×600 score as a junior in 2015.

“I just really enjoy it. I’ve shot the Olympian smallbore stuff, and it’s not as fun,” Sam said. “This is more recreational. It’s just for fun.”

Doug is a former 4-H shooting sports coach, and he said rimfire is a good steppingstone into marksmanship for kids.

“It’s a low-cost, entry-level sport, and a lot of 4-H state events use rimfire for their competitions,” Doug said. “CMP lets anybody who can handle a gun safely shoot rimfire, so kids can compete.”

The Payne family has traveled to Camp Perry for the National Matches for so many years because they enjoy competing at the camp.

“We come because of the atmosphere and the camaraderie,” Sam said. “It’s the most people you’ll see on the line at the same time. It’s pretty cool to see 100 people all lined up together.”

Smallbore Prone Matches Make History Utilizing Electronic Targets

By Sheri Trusty, CMP Feature Writer

The first time Mark Del Cotto of Lexington, Kentucky, stepped onto the grounds of Camp Perry, he was just a kid tagging along while his father competed in the National Matches. From 1971 to 1983, Del Cotto joined the ranks of competitors at Camp Perry, but then he graduated college and life got in the way. In 2008, Del Cotto decided it was time to return to his early passion for competing at the National Matches, and on July 8, he came in third in the Civilian Marksmanship Program (CMP) Smallbore Prone Iron Sight Championship.

"I was an early shooter, and I love it," he said.

Del Cotto is a two-time NRA Smallbore Prone Champion. When he first returned to the sport, he competed in CMP Service Rifle Matches and NRA Highpower Championships, but he found he couldn't devote space in his busy life to everything. He chose to focus on Smallbore.

"I didn't have time to do Highpower and Smallbore, so I picked Smallbore Prone," he said. "Smallbore is a better experience for me. You get to shoot more shots in a day."

The CMP Smallbore Prone Iron Sight Championship is part of a four-day competition that includes two days of Iron Sight Championship Matches and two days of Any Sight Matches.

"Each day, competitors shoot 160 record shots, all fired from prone position," said CMP Smallbore Program Manager Brad Donoho. "They do a 40-shot match at 50 meters, a 60-shot match at 50 yards, and a 60-shot match at 100 yards."

The competitors are vying for the top score of 6,400 possible points. Due to a USCG search, the last day of the Smallbore Prone Matches was cut short and the match was condensed to a 5,200 points aggregate.

"This is a big prone match," Donoho said. "It's like a marathon, and they're trying to make as few mistakes as possible."

Camp Perry is a favored competition site for marksmen due to the challenges created by the camp's proximity to Lake Erie. Lake weather can be varied and unpredictable, all in the same day.

"We had classic Camp Perry conditions today," Donoho said on day one of the Smallbore Prone Iron Sight Championship. "It started out a little overcast, nice and warm, and then a thunderstorm rolled in. We had pretty blustery conditions and a downpour. Here at Camp Perry, we're accustomed to 60s and chilly and 90-degree days."

Del Cotto said marksmen were disappointed when the NRA moved the National Smallbore Rifle Championship to Bristol, Indiana, so many of them asked CMP to create its own smallbore competition.

"It was like moving the Masters from Augusta," Del Cotto said. "Ninety-percent of competitors wanted to come back to Camp Perry. When they moved it, the level of participation went down and down.”

Smallbore Prone Matches

This year, CMP competitors had the added benefit of scoring with Kongsberg Target System (KTS) technology which relies on acoustics to determine shot location. Scoring is instantly displayed on user-friendly, touch screen monitors at the shooter’s side.

“This is a really nice setup for electronic targets,” Del Cotto said. “It’s much easier to shoot the match. It’s quicker, it saves money on paper targets, and there are no rain delays. This is an absolute treat to get to shoot like this.”

Kevin Nevius of Gibsonburg, Ohio, brought 30 years of shooting experience and six national titles to CMP’s Smallbore Prone Matches. He said Smallbore Prone competition has its own unique appeal.

“The course of fire is longer. You shoot more shots per day,” Nevius said. “There’s an element of endurance.”

Nevius is accustomed to the challenge of shooting at Camp Perry, but he said day one of the Any Sight Prone Championship was difficult.

“We just came off the line, and that last match at 100 yards was tough,” he said. “It’s really hot, and it’s really breezy. It was a hard day today, but that’s Camp Perry.”

Nevius placed second in the Smallbore Iron Sight Prone Championship and the Overall Prone Aggregate, and he had fun doing it.

“What I like about the National Matches is that I get to see all my friends. When you shoot for this many years, you meet a lot of people, and you miss them,” Nevius said. “The competition here is fantastic.”

Claudia Muzik is no stranger to Camp Perry. The Air Rifle Junior Olympian has been practicing and competing at the camp for years. She won the Smallbore Prone High Junior Iron Sight Championship and U18 Championship. She had to push through challenges that are particular to Camp Perry to seal the win.

“The wind was definitely a challenge during the match, especially at 100 yards, but that’s what Camp Perry’s known for,” Muzik said. “There were multiple cease-fires from eagles on the range and boats coming into the impact zone. You have to get off the line and then get back in and readjust the focus.”

As one of the younger competitors at the National Matches, Muzik enjoys the opportunity to shoot with a wide range of marksmen.

“The National Matches are definitely my favorite match of the year because of all the different types of people you see. I’m usually shooting with people my age,” she said. “I’m going to shoot until I can’t physically shoot, so it’s cool to see older shooters here doing what I want to do one day, and I learn from them. They share all their tips.”

Ossi Leads as CMP's National Smallbore Sees Jump in Participation

By Ashley Dugan, CMP Staff Writer

CAMP PERRY, Ohio – With a newly configured National Matches calendar, the Civilian Marksmanship Program (CMP) may have found a formula for success.

The refreshed lineup for 2023 was designed to allow individuals to compete in the Smallbore matches on Camp Perry's outdoor Petrarca Range as well as in Air Gun events within the Gary Anderson CMP Competition Center located just next door – all during the same day. The change caused participation to double in some events while also rising significantly in others.

"I was blown away by the turnout for this year's championship," said Brad Donoho, CMP smallbore manager. "We created a very ambitious schedule and somehow pulled it off."

A total of 245 individuals attended the CMP's Smallbore series this year, taking part in the mix of Prone and Three-Position aggregate and team opportunities offered to adult and junior athletes. Age awards were also presented to those under 18 and beyond, with 25 athletes over the age of 60 competing in the matches and some even over the age of 70.

The enhanced schedule is part of the persistent effort from those within CMP's Air Gun and Smallbore departments to make competitions as accessible as possible while also introducing new lifelong options for athletes of a variety of ages within the expanding world of marksmanship.

"This couldn't have been done without our spectacular staff who made it all happen," Donoho added.

Another exciting addition to the CMP Smallbore phase in 2023 was the inclusion of electronic targets for the first time at Camp Perry. Unlike past years, participants were able to view their scores on monitors placed at each firing point – with scores instantly added through an automatic software system.

"The introduction of the new 50 meter smallbore targets was a huge success," Donoho said. "There were some problems along the way, but we will learn from them and be ready to make next year even better."

With Smallbore and Air Gun events running simultaneously, the CMP created a Three-Position Smallbore and Air Rifle Aggregate Championship for those who competed in both disciplines. Earning the inaugural win in the match was Cecilia Ossi, 21, of Annandale, NJ, with a score of 2421-60X.

Back in Three-Position Smallbore, Ossi earned the top spot after firing the lead score in the qualification round and reaching the high score in the final. Following in second was SPC Jared Eddy, 22, of Midland, GA, with Griffin Lake, 18, of Emmaus, PA, landing in third.

Lake went on to earn second in the Junior final after being bested by Carley Seabrooke, Cecilia Ossi claimed the 3P Air Rifle/Smallbore Aggregate and the 3P competition. Read more about Cecelia at <https://thecmp.org/2023-smallbore-and-air-rifle-championship-cecilia-ossi/>.

16, of Helena, AL. Zachary Jackson, 20, of Madison, WV, took third.

Adding more competitive fun, the Three-Position lineup included a 4-Member team event. Earning the win by a commanding 25-point lead was the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit team of SGT Jared Desrosiers, SPC Jared Eddy, SGT Patrick Sunderman and SSG Brandon Muske. Griffin Lake, Jack Ogoreuc, Natalie Welter and Brady Fowkes joined forces to win the Junior team match with an impression gap of their own – 28 points over the second place team.

A 3-Member Elimination Match was also held during the week, with Cecilia Ossi, SSG Brandon Muske and SrA Peter Fiori forming team "P B and C" to claim the overall win over USAMU teammates Desrosiers, Sunderman and Eddy. Finding third for the bronze medal was "The Decent Three" team of Dylan Gregory, Bremen Butler and Brandon Evans.

Mowrer, Milev Claim Wins at Expanding National Air Gun Championships

By Ashley Dugan, CMP Staff Writer

CAMP PERRY, Ohio – In only its second year, the Civilian Marksmanship Program’s (CMP) National Air Gun Championships are growing, thanks in part to its new home on the National Matches schedule.

The Air Gun Championships consist of two days of 60 shot competitions for Air Rifle and Air Pistol adult and junior athletes – all fired upon the electronic targets within the Gary Anderson CMP Competition Center. Also held concurrently with the individual 60 shot matches is a four-member team championship, while a three-round Team Elimination Match adds an exciting challenge to the lineup.

In 2023, the Championships were aligned with the CMP Smallbore series to allow athletes the opportunity to compete in both disciplines during their trip to Camp Perry. The change emerged as beneficial to athletes, with Air Pistol participation remaining steady and Air Rifle expanding by 50 athletes.

“The resulting number of participants in our Smallbore and Air Gun events is exactly what we had hoped for when we made changes to the National Matches calendar,” said Katie Harrington, CMP program coordinator. “We had 130 athletes shooting both disciplines, so it only made sense to have these series take place at the same time.”

“It was encouraging to not only see those talented athletes on the range that we’ve become accustomed to,” she went on. “But it was also promising to see new faces as we work toward bringing awareness to our sport and the opportunities it presents.”

Such talented athletes participating in the Air Gun Championships included Olympians Staff Sgt. Nickolous Mowrer, 34, of Colorado Springs, CO, and Staff Sgt. Sandra Uptagrafft, 52, of Phenix City, AL, who took first and third, respectively, in the Air Pistol individual match. Finding second was Jay Shi, 44, of Gilbert, AZ.

Also displaying skill on the line was Junior Air Pistol competition leader Nick Milev, 18, of Ossona, Italy, along with Blaine Simpson, 18, of Sidney, OH, who followed in second. Elie Arkin, 15, of Falls Church, VA, claimed third.

Taking gold in the Air Rifle Elimination event was the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit (USAMU), with firing members Staff Sgt. Brandon Muske, Sgt. Patrick Sunderman and Spc. Jared Eddy. Following in second was Fast and Furious (SrA Peter Fiori, Kinga Aletto, Cecilia Ossi), as The Decent Three (Bremen Butler, Brandon Evans, Dylan Gregory) landed in third.

With Smallbore and Air Gun events running simultaneously, the CMP created a Three-Position Smallbore and Air Rifle Aggregate Championship for those who competed in both disciplines. Earning the inaugural win in the match was Cecilia Ossi, 21, of Annandale, NJ, with a score of 2421-60X.

Ossi went on to lead the Air Rifle Open Category, beating out Staff Sgt. Brandon Muske, 29, of Fort Benning, GA, by just one point. SrA Peter Fiori, 23, of Lebanon, NJ, took third.

Overtaking the Junior Air Rifle Championship was Emma Periera, 19, of Chesapeake, VA, claimed in a tight contest – surpassing Jacob St. Hilaire, 16, of Needville, TX, by five-tenths of a point. Makenzie Larson, 46, of Wellington, CO, found third.

Staff Sgt. Muske joined his teammates (Spc. Jared Eddy, Sgt. Patrick Sunderman, Spc. Levi Clark) to earn the 4-Member Team Championship with a collective score of 4983.6. The Mid Team (Julianna Hays, Bremen Butler, Dylan Gregory, Anthony Hotko) led the juniors with a score of 4926.2, landing in fourth out of 21 total teams.

Photos of the matches may be viewed and downloaded for free at <https://cmp1.zenfolio.com/f148616975>.

Like Pistol, the Air Rifle Championship featured a 60 Shot competition for adults and juniors.

The U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit rose as the top team in the Air Rifle competition.

CMP Announces Final Results of NM Air Gun Events

By Ashley Dugan, CMP Staff Writer

CAMP PERRY, Ohio – The 2023 National Air Gun events, part of the Civilian Marksmanship Program’s (CMP) National Matches at Camp Perry, saw over 400 entries throughout its month-long run – with several winners emerging from the pack. Whether to beat the heat, to gain competition practice or to take a chance at a national-level event, individuals flocked to the Gary Anderson CMP Competition Center to join in on the air gun matches.

“We had a fun and exciting National Air Gun events season this year!” said Catherine Green, CMP’s North Range Coordinator. “It was wonderful to see so many individuals of all ages taking interest in the air gun portion of our competitions and enjoying the variety of matches we had on the schedule.”

The National Air Gun Matches provide additional competitive opportunities for pistol and rifle competitors visiting Camp Perry during the National Matches while offering a glimpse into the growing world of air gun. All matches are held within the 80-point electronic indoor range at the Gary Anderson CMP Competition Center, located on the Camp Perry grounds.

Open to the public, the air gun events are meant to draw in new participants (including those who have never fired before) through a diverse set of air rifle and air pistol matches, with rental equipment and pellets available for purchase at the range for those without their own gear. The events also serve to encourage those already proficient in marksmanship to try air rifle or air pistol for more unique challenges on the range.

Air Rifle Event Results:

Thomas Kerbel, 65, of Gibsonburg, OH, brought home several overall wins during the National Air Gun events including within the 40 Shot Vintage Air Rifle Pneumatic Sniper Match, Bench League 30 Shot Precision Rifle/AiR-15 Rifle and the 60 Shot Bench Air Rifle Championships. He found his victories by tight margins, with less than five points between his score and the second place competitor in each event.

Kerbel was also the High Senior of the 60 Shot Bench Air Rifle Championship. Joyce Edwards, 72, of Marblehead, OH, earned High Woman and third place overall in the match, while Lillian Bell, 20, of Oil City, PA, claimed seventh overall and the High Junior title.

Earning the win in the 30 Shot Sporter event was Larry Kiraly, 70, of Perysburg, OH, with a score of 312.8.

Along with the 30 Shot event was a Center Shot contest, awarding prize money to the participant firing the closest to center. Reaching the feat in rifle was Jonathan Russell, 12, of Emlenton, PA.

This year’s AiR-15 Challenge, a popular air rifle event each year, attracted over 150 athletes to the line. Leading the field by a five point margin was Sgt. 1st Class Brandon Green, 38, of Box Springs, GA, with a score of 397-13X. Following in second was Thomas McGowan, 18, of Hortonville, WI, with 392-17X, as Sgt. 1st Class Amanda Elsenboss, 34, of Williamsburg, VA, claimed third. A total of $1,125 was awarded in prize money for the AiR-15 Challenge.

Photos of the National Matches may be viewed and downloaded for free at <https://cmp1.zenfolio.com/f148616975>.

Two Laser Shot Simulators are available at the Gary Anderson CMP Competition Center for competitors and visitors to try. Various firearms and games are available for a small fee. The Simulators will be available to try anytime the range is open.

Competitors are welcome to compete on their own time during the National Air Gun events.

Students Attend Rifle Small Arms

By Jennifer Green, CMP Feature Writer

The Rifle Small Arms Firing School (SAFS) kicked off with instruction from the Army Marksmanship Unit at Camp Perry on July 22 and 23rd for 310 students. This class gives new and experienced competitors alike the opportunity to learn from the best in the nation and develop their skills in a controlled and safe environment.

The class started out with two hours of instruction in Camp Perry's Hough Auditorium, complete with demonstrations and time for questions. New students were encouraged to handle the AR-15 rifle to learn the mechanics and understand marksmanship basics like sight alignment and trigger control. More experienced competitors had the opportunity to ask advanced questions.

For the next section of the class, students headed out to Rodriguez Range and use their own equipment (scope, jacket, glove, mat, etc.) for training and eventually, the Excellence-In-Competition rifle match on Day II. The AR-15 rifle, sling and ammunition were provided by the CMP for the class and match that followed. Teams of four shooters worked their coaches and began training by dry-firing. Instructors worked with students individually to teach them the basics for prone, sitting/kneeling, and standing positions.

The dry fire and position work period was followed by live fire practice. Two members from each firing point were sent to the pits to raise, lower and score targets for the two relays on the range. Pit duty is crucial because the class and match are shot on paper targets and it provides valuable scoring opportunities.

Jeff Schneider, a SAFS coach, offered his advice to his students during the live-fire practice. "Shoot like you're dry firing, focus on the front sight, follow through the trigger and repeat. Forget your last shot; focus on the one you're taking. Pretend you are Dory from Finding Nemo and 'just keep swimming'," he said.

Students John Tofil and Tyler Robinson, both of the U.S. Navy, described valuable knowledge they picked up throughout the course. Robinson explained it was his first service rifle match and the coaches helped him fine tune his technique. He said in the future he will continue to work on his standing to sitting rapid fire movement. Tofil shared that he took away a sage piece of wisdom that his coach who said, "Sometimes you need to know what shot not to take, just take your finger off the trigger and reset."

On day two of the class, all competitors reported to the firing line at 7AM for the rifle Excellence-In-Competition (EIC) Match. An EIC match awards special credits - points - to the top 10 percent of eligible participants. Those who eventually earn a total of 30 points, are awarded the Distinguished Rifleman Badge. In the case of the SAFS course, four introductory points are awarded to a select few.

During the classroom portion of the SAFS, SGT Forrest Greenwood, USA, explains the AR-15 rifle to a student.

The SAFS course of fire includes:

- 10 shots prone, slow-fire in 10 minutes
- 10 shots prone from standing, rapid-fire in 60 seconds
- 10 shots sitting from standing, rapid-fire in 60 seconds
- 10 shots standing, slow-fire in 10 minutes

The weather both days of the school and match were hot, with highs in the 80's. The chief range officer frequently reminded competitors and coaches to hydrate and even sang an occasional song of encouragement. During one of the two cease fires, due to boats entering the impact area, the competitors in Relay 4 were serenaded with a rendition of "row, row, row your boat." At one point, a threatening storm crept close to the shore of Camp Perry, but luckily it held off until the awards ceremony later in the day.

After the match, competitors were awarded their certificates of attendance and match lapel pins. The top 28 eligible competitors were awarded their first 4 EIC points towards the Distinguished Rifleman Badge. The points in this introductory match can only be earned if the competitor has no previous points. .

Members of the USAMU Rifle Team explain how scoring in the pits to students during the classroom portion.

SFC Brandon Green, USA, explains scoring in the pits to students.

Firing School at Camp Perry

The top competitor for the SAFS Rifle EIC match was Paige Sauer, 21, of Morrisville, NC, with a score of 392-13X. She did not expect to win, saying “I was trying to go into it without any numbers in my head because I get very nervous for EIC matches. I just wanted the points.”

Sauer has taken classes at Camp Perry before, including the Marine Corps Highpower Junior Rifle Clinic, and said after each class she usually adds another tool to her belt. This time, the tool was wind reading. Paige plans to compete in the National Trophy Rifle Matches and will utilize the knowledge she gained earlier in the week as she looks to gain 10 more EIC points.

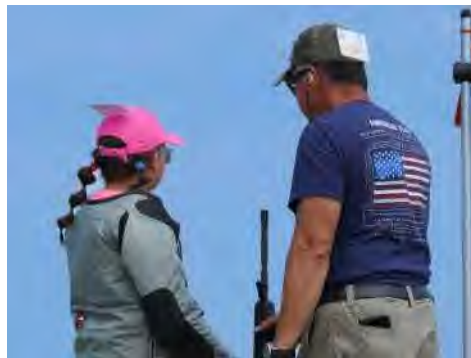

If you’re interested in attending the Rifle Small Arms Firing School next year, save the date - July 27-28, 2024. In the meantime, Jeff Schneider suggests that you visit the CMP’s indoor air-gun range at the Gary Anderson CMP Competition Center. You can practice, work on positions and marksmanship to prep for the big matches. The indoor range is open throughout the National Matches and has rental equipment available. Visitors can even participate in the National Match Air Gun Events – find out more information at <https://thecmp.org/cmp-matches/national-matches-air-gun-events/>.

After the classroom portion, students are paired up with Coaches on the firing line to dry fire and practice fire.

Carter Freeman, a sporter air rifle junior, decided to take the Rifle SAFS to explore additional options for participating in shooting sports. Carter recently graduated from High School.

The Rifle SAFS is open to anyone 12 years of age and older.

Adult, Junior Marksmen Find New

By Ashley Dugan, CMP Staff Writer

CAMP PERRY, Ohio – Each year, hundreds of visitors from all corners of the country attend the Civilian Marksmanship Program’s (CMP) National Matches, participating in the variety of traditional and contemporary rifle competitions for both adults and juniors.

Though many arrive for the competition alone, others come to hone their skills on the range through training by some of today’s best marksmen and women through high-level courses like the Advanced Highpower Clinic and the U.S. Marine Corps Junior Highpower Clinic.

More than 100 participants met on the firing line for the CMP Advanced Highpower Clinic in 2023, where they received detailed instruction in service rifle competition techniques using classroom and range discussion. The class utilizes both dry-fire training on the range as well as live-fire practice. Areas of focus include wind reading, mental management, care and use of equipment, zeroing, range safety, positioning and more.

Robert Turnquist, 60, traveled from Lincoln Park, MI, to attend this year’s Advanced Clinic. Interested in marksmanship his entire life, Turnquist, a long-time National Matches attendee, first arrived when he was invited by old friends back in 2015 and has returned on his own ever since.

“I fell in love with the place,” he said of Camp Perry. “It’s like going back to camp when you’re a kid. I drank the Kool-Aid.”

He began as a pistol competitor and added highpower rifle competition in 2016. The following year, he participated in the Rifle Small Arms Firing School, led by members of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit and military team members, where he earned his first leg points toward a Distinguished Rifleman Badge. Robert had also fired in such staple National Rifle competitions as the Hearst Doubles paired event and the famed President’s Rifle and National Trophy Individual matches.

This year was his first time attending the Advanced Highpower Clinic, hoping to learn from other Distinguished and talented marksmen and women on the firing line.

“I was told they get a little more in-depth – windage calls and stuff like that,” he explained of the Advanced Highpower course. “I can also get my D.O.P.E. (data on previous engagements) for the other matches I’m firing in for the week.”

The Advanced course is open to those who have previous service rifle competition experience and must have a CMP or NRA classification of Expert or higher. Participants must have also attended a Rifle Small Arms Firing School (SAFS). The class is led by certified CMP instructors and other national-level athletes in a one-on-one setting. During range training, instructors rotate each relay to give participants a variety of coaching on the line, leading to an abundance of techniques and advice.

One of the coaches Turnquist earned training from at this year’s clinic included Brian Williams, a decorated marksman and CMP’s new highpower specialist. He praised Brian for his attention to detail and comprehensive suggestions for his process.

“Brian gave me a lot of information,” he said. “He was watching me and found that I wasn’t shooting as well when I was taking more time. He told me, ‘Shoot a little faster, and don’t think about it.’ Which is good advice.”

Turnquist also learned how to better hold his rifle, with his long arms and long reach, as well as how to better grip the trigger.

“He polished the stone,” Robert joked of Brian’s coaching.

“I always have fun here. How can you not?” he added of the National Matches. “There are so many great people here.”

As for the CMP-USMC Junior Highpower Clinic, a group of 45 junior athletes took part in the three-day course, applying focus to more advanced training outside of fundamentals, including weather conditions, how to read wind, equipment use, shooting positions and rulebook standards – all taught by members of the U.S. Marine Corps Rifle Team. Juniors in the clinic spent one day in the classroom, followed by two days of live fire on the range at 200, 300 and 600 yards.

The clinic is open to junior marksmen with previous service rifle competition experience and who hold a Sharpshooter classification or higher and must have first attended a Rifle Small Arms Firing School. This year's USMC Highpower Clinic was filled with those who had taken the course in the past and returned to learn even more as well as those who attended for the first time.

One such junior was Devin Wagner, 15, who not only attended her first clinic but also made her first trip to Camp Perry and the National Matches.

Back home in Jefferson Hills, PA, she's the only junior highpower athlete at her local range – the Clairton Sportsmen's Club. Although she doesn't come from a family of marksmen, she got involved three years ago on a whim during the Youth Days hosted by Clairton each year. The event welcomes aspiring marksmen ages 8 to 16 to learn about shooting sports, fire-arm safety, conservation and more, for no charge. Wagner gave it a try, fell for the sport and even showed talent – marking the beginning of her new passion.

"I did really well, and they asked me to come back and shoot with them," she said.

Once she heard about the annual Camp Perry National Matches, its history and its many offerings, attending the historic event became a goal of hers. This year, she was able to make it a reality - signing up for the clinic - a suggestion from those at her home range, as well as the prestigious President's Rifle Match.

According to Devin, her time training with the Marines was certainly worthwhile, and she plans to take what she's learned onto the firing line as she continues her marksmanship journey.

"I've learned more about breathing and how to keep my feet square," she said. "You learn a lot about how to look through the scope or iron sights – a lot about positioning and how to have the sling tight enough. A lot of mechanical things."

"The instructors explain things very well," she added. "I'll be back again."

USAMU's Conant Makes Winning Look

By Ashley Dugan, CMP Staff Writer

CAMP PERRY, Ohio – Staff Sgt. Verne Conant, 27, of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit was comfortable on the historic grounds of Camp Perry – earning the overall win in the 2023 President's Rifle Match, seemingly, with ease.

The event is one of the most celebrated and honored competitions of the annual Civilian Marksmanship Program (CMP) National Matches, with Conant adding his name to a list of past winners that dates back to 1894.

In modern times, the match has come to include a qualifying round (with the Top 100 competitors earning a coveted place in the President's Hundred) as well as a shoot off for the Top 20 competitors. The individual with the highest score at the end of the shoot off is declared the winner.

A member of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit (USAMU) for over eight years now, Conant has seen his share of extensive preparation and came into the 2023 National Matches ready for anything.

"I'm always confident," he said with a cool certainty. "The way we train back home at the (US)AMU, we're always trying to push ourselves a little bit harder on the range in practice than we do in a match. That way, when you come out to a match, there should be no pressure. We put more pressure on ourselves during training than we should ever experience in a match."

The day of the President's Rifle competition was his from the beginning. Conan noted the conditions were "easy" – with little to no change in the wind during his relays.

"I was feeling fine," he said of his qualifying performance. "Just another day of training, really."

Conant finished his standing and prone positions with an incredible score of 299-11X – just one point away from a perfect 300. He took his confidence from there and went on to fire an incredible 100-9X in the shoot off, leaving him only one x-shot shy of perfection.

"Getting to the last few shots of the shoot off, I could definitely see my pulse was getting bigger, but it worked out," he joked.

His combined score from the day was an outstanding 399-20X, landing just one point short of the current national record score of 400-20X fired by USAMU teammate Sgt. 1st Class Brandon Green in 2018. Along with Green, the shoot off line in 2023 was filled with other members of the USAMU – a constant objective, according to Conant.

"Our goal is to have almost our entire team in the shoot off," he admitted. "We've got guys who can do it, but the hardest thing on the range is the mental game. Everyone out here has shot clean in almost any position you can on the range – you just have to be able to put it together."

"Today was just the day I was able to do it," he added, following the shoot off. "There have been plenty of days I haven't been able to."

Conant's closest finish in the President's before 2023 was fourth place. Finally claiming the win was a pinnacle point in a career that began as a blossoming junior in small-bore and air rifle programs at a local club in New England. The club saw his potential and connected him with coach Maureen Trickett, who adopted him as part of her travelling team. In fact, Conant's first time to Camp Perry was firing at the CMP's air gun range during the Camp Perry Open as an air rifle competitor before he even set foot on the base's historic highpower ranges.

He was ultimately introduced to high-power at his club, and a new passion was born.

"I fell in love with that sport more than smallbore and air rifle," he admitted. "Just kept getting good enough at it."

He eventually approached the USAMU, which was looking for members at the time,

Following tradition, Conant received a splash from the cooler after his win.

‘Easy’ in 2023 President’s Rifle Match and was soon hired. He now uses his status as a member of one of the best marksmanship units in the country to pay forward what he was given when he was a junior by encouraging other youth athletes on the range.

“I’m always trying to help out the kids because I was on that end of the range at one point,” he explained. “I was a kid out here, not really knowing what I was doing. The military team guys were always helping me out back then, so I’m just trying to return the favor.”

Also reaching a personal goal during the 2023 President’s event was Walter Zdon, 58, of Whiteford, Md. A long-time competitor, he made the Top 20 in the past, but that was before the now infamous shoot off was implemented.

After an impressive run in the CMP’s Highpower events in the days leading up to the President’s match, Zdon built a confidence of his own.

“This year was my goal to make the Top 20. It really was,” he said. “I was like, ‘You know what? I can do this.’”

He went through his normal routine on the range in the qualifying stage. He drank his water, mingled and talked to those around him – just as he always has.

“I’m more relaxed that way,” he confessed.

Once he reached a score of 296-11X, he turned to his scorer on the firing line, who had made the Top 20 last year, and said, “I’ll see you at the shoot off.”

Spectators were able to follow along with Conant’s incredible performance in the shoot off through the displayed targets behind the firing line.

A crowd of spectators watched as the Top 20 competed for the win in the shoot off.

He arrived there and continued his customary pre-match rituals. He went out to the large crowd of spectators gathered behind the competitors and greeted them, smiling and making small talk. Then, he walked up to the firing line and flipped the switch into competition mode.

“I sucked it in,” he said with a smile. “I stood and looked behind me – I’m not much for drawing attention, but I waved when they called my name.”

Zdon finished 14th overall as the most seasoned athlete on the shoot off line that day, completing his ambition and imbedding a pretty decent day on the range into his memory.

“I’m real happy,” Zdon said of his performance. “Especially shooting against some of the big guns here.”

One of the “big guns” was his good friend, Staff Sgt. Conant. Squaddled only a few firing points from each other during the day, the two talked constantly throughout the match, checking in on their scores. After the shoot off was over, they embraced and congratulated one another on a job well done.

After the shoot off, the Top 20 each received an award for their accomplishments.

“That’s what really neat about the whole community out here,” Zdon said. “You get to know a lot of people.”

Frank Gill Honors Late Friend by Earning Distinguished Rifleman Badge

By Sheri Trusty, CMP Feature Writer

Frank Gill of Oil City, Pennsylvania, didn't initially have much interest in earning the Distinguished Rifleman Badge that was presented to him on July 28 during the 2023 National Matches at Camp Perry. He earned his first four Excellence-in-Competition (EIC) points inadvertently after finishing in the top ten of the Small Arms Firing School in 2011, yet he still didn't make the badge a goal.

Gill had a passion for shooting and for winning, but he wasn't yet ready to do the hard work to earn the Distinguished Rifleman Badge, which is among the most prestigious awards authorized by the U.S. Government to recognize marksmanship excellence. CMP is the governing body for Distinguished Badges and CMP issues the Distinguished points and Badges to civilians. Military branches also award points towards the Distinguished Badge.

When a friend became interested in the badge, and Gill got caught up in the excitement. When his friend died, Gill carried on, hoping to honor his friend as he pushed himself to finish what the two had started.

"I'm an old pistol shooter, so I wasn't really into it. But then my best friend, Dennis, bought a service rifle, and I had to get one, too, like best friends do," Gill said. "I didn't get into this to achieve the badge. I got into it because a friend wanted me to come shoot. It just started, and it kept drawing me in."

During a 2016 competition, Gill earned an additional 10 points toward the needed 30 points, and he set his sights on the badge.

"My best friend got me into this, but he died five years ago. I felt an obligation to keep going. If he was here, I'd be doing this with him," Gill said.

Gill slowly worked toward the badge, but this year, he decided it was time to push to the finish. He earned his last qualifying EIC points during the Highpower Match at Camp Perry in June one week after his 72nd birthday.

"I felt that, because of age and unique health conditions, this was the year to do it," Gill said. "I'm kind of a logic-minded guy, so I made a plan. I planned how often each week I would do light exercise, walk, bike and go to the range. This was the year, so I really needed to lean into it."

A strong element of his preparation was match competition.

"I shot a lot of matches. In May, June and July, I competed in 12 across-the-course matches and six short-range matches, and I probably shot 2,000 rounds in practice," Gill said. "You have to practice, but you have to go to matches to really improve."

In addition to practices and matches, electronic targets also helped Gill earn the Distinguished Rifleman Badge.

"Several years ago, I bought electronic targets from Silver Mountain Targets. They're really great. They give instant feedback. I can call the shot in my head and see it on the screen," Gill said. "I wouldn't be here without the electronic targets."

There was one more element of his experience that helped push him toward earning the badge: a community of marksmen.

"I had a small group of guys – Nate, Rich and Josh – who wanted me to achieve this more than I did. They carried around an extra gallon of water for the last two years to dump on my head when I earned my leg points – like when they dump Gatorade on players at a football game," Gill said.

Gill's community of support was much bigger than his small circle of friends.

"I meet so many great people at Camp Perry. Some of them I see at regional matches and some just here, but we instantly recognize each other," Gill said. "I can honestly say all the people I've met here, I wouldn't mind living next-door to them. We help each other out. It's fun here, and it's fun when others do well."

The camaraderie at Camp Perry is part of its attraction for marksmen.

"It really is a community, a sampling of America here. It doesn't matter who you are or where you're from, you're part of a community," Gill said.

Gill has a long history at Camp Perry. He and Dennis traveled to the National Matches from 1989 to 1994 before stepping away for a time to tend to family and career obligations.

"I think about Dennis a lot when I'm here. He liked the place like I did," Gill said. "This used to be a POW camp, and we used to stay in the old, old, old huts. We'd bring stuff to repair the windows and doors. We had fun with it."

The National Matches became a getaway from the stresses of life.

"When I was a kid, I would go to Boy Scout Camp for a week. I'd go in the woods with my buddies and do things we couldn't do the other 51 weeks of the year," Gill said. "That's how my friend and I thought of Camp Perry."

As he was awarded the Distinguished Rifleman Badge on July 29, Gill was filled with gratitude.

"I thank God for the privilege to be here," Gill said. "I really thank God that we live in a country that remains free and allows us to participate in this sport, especially when I see young people shooting shoulder-to-shoulder with experienced people and doing well. That's a joy."

As grateful as Gill is to be honored with the badge, he is more thankful for the friendships he made while he worked toward it.

"It's important how you keep your priorities. It's important how you count your riches. This badge is cool, but the friendships are far richer," he said.

The Distinguished Rifleman Badge is among the most prestigious awards authorized by the U.S. Government to recognize marksmanship excellence.

USAMU's Cleland Earns Mountain Man Trophy for Second Year

By Ashley Dugan, CMP Staff Writer

With his consistent top scores on the range during the Civilian Marksmanship Program's 2023 National Trophy Rifle Matches, Staff Sgt. Ben Cleland, 30, of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit (USAMU), earned the Mountain Man Trophy for the second consecutive year. The award is a culmination of repeated excellence in the President's, National Trophy Individual (NTI) and National Trophy Team (NTT) events and a sought after recognition at the annual National Matches – especially by Cleland himself.

"I really wanted to win the Mountain Man," he said. "I had it in my mind that even if one specific match or piece of it didn't go well, I was just going to try my best at the best aggregate score I could."

"It's the biggest one for me," he went on of the Mountain Man Trophy. "It's the aggregate of all the matches, so I feel like that's kind of the most important one. It shows you were consistently good all week."

Before reaching the National Trophy Rifle events, Staff Sgt. Cleland competed in the CMP Highpower series the week prior and led the Service Rifle 2400 Aggregate. His performance gave him confidence in his equipment going into the first of the Trophy events, the prestigious President's Rifle Match, where he finished second overall.

"It could've been worse," he joked of his finish. "Obviously, you want to win everything you can, but I shot as good as I could, so, can't be mad about that."

Cleland fell just two points short of USMAU teammate Staff Sgt. Verne Conant, 27, who dropped one point overall to accumulate an incredible score of 399-20X.

Next on the schedule was the NTI, where Cleland managed to grab the overall win by x-count with a score of 496-28X.

"I've always wanted to win it. This year was just the year, I guess," Cleland said of the NTI. "It always felt like I was real close, it just wasn't quite enough."

He had struggled to reach the top of the NTI in the past, finishing in third at last year's National Matches and within the top 10 on multiple occasions. Claiming the win at last marked a longtime goal for Cleland.

"It was a relief, after trying so many times, to finally get there," he admitted. "It was a huge relief."

Now that he's met his NTI ambition, he'll continue to seek the Mountain Man Trophy in the future with the hopes of one day reaching that President's Match win.

"I'm going to continue to set my goal on the Mountain Man," he said. "I feel as a part of that, I'll win a President's along the way."

Staff Sgt. Ben Cleland earned the Mountain Man Trophy for the second consecutive year with a score of 1292-67x. SSG Cleland will receive a barrel donated by Satern Barrels and a sling donated by Eric Hollis Slings.

In junior events at the 2023 National Matches, Golden Eagle Trophy (High Junior NTI) and Alice Bull Trophy winner (President's/NTI Aggregate) Thomas McGowan, 18, of Hortonville, WI, met with partner Kacie McGowan, 15, to reach a combined score of 972-30X as WI Cheddar to overtake the National Trophy Junior Team event. McGowan also earned the Col. Bill Deneke Trophy as the leading competitor in the President's/NTI/Junior Team Aggregate.

Other team events saw USAMU members Sgt. Shane Butler and Spc. Zevin Linse blending talents to rack up a score of 590-22X for the win in the Hearst Doubles paired event, while Butler went on to join teammates Staff Sgt. Conant, Staff Sgt. Cleland, Sgt. 1st Class Brandon Green, Staff Sgt. David Bahten and Staff Sgt. Jarod McGaffic to lead overall in the NTT.

During the National Trophy Infantry Team event, civilian-led VFEMI (Alvin Bethel, Clyde Bryant, MAJ Marc Cichowicz, Robert Menuet, GySgt James Otto and CW04 Vincent Pope) bested the USAMU by nearly 50 points for the win. High junior team CA Grizzlies Team Dillon Precision took third.

Also earning notable awards was Sgt. 1st Class Amanda Elsenboss, 34, of the All Guard team and Williamsburg, VA, who earned the High Woman title in the President's Match and went on to claim the Woman's Trophy in the NTI match. For her performances, Elsenboss was named the high overall woman in the President's/NTI/NTT Aggregate.

WI Cheddar Takes Home National Junior Trophies

By Sheri Trusty, CMP Feature Writer

Siblings Thomas and Kacie McGowan outperformed 50 other two-man teams to earn the first-place spot at the National Trophy Junior Team Match during the 2023 National Matches. Their names will be added to the prestigious Freedom's Fire Trophy at Camp Perry.

Thomas, an experienced marksman who recently earned a spot on the U.S. National Rifle Team, provided an extra level of comfort for Kacie, who is an exceptional but less experienced competitor.

"It was a really great experience because Thomas is a really great shooter but also my brother, so it was less stressful for me. He has a calming personality," Kacie said.

Adding their names to the Freedom's Fire Trophy was an honor for both.

"Who doesn't want their name on a national championship trophy?" Thomas said. "It reflects the hard work we put into it."

Because this was the first time Kacie's name has been inscribed on a trophy, it was a poignant match for her.

"It's very cool, especially seeing my name next to my brother's," she said.

Kacie and Thomas joined their teammates Thomas Kirsten, James Lee, Anna Behnke and Casey Hollenbeck to win the Minuteman Trophy for the High Junior Team in the National Trophy Team Match. The team scored 2913-92X (out of 3000 points) and was coached by Kaleb Hall. WI Cheddar finished as the second junior in the National Trophy Infantry Team Match.

CMP Programs Chief Christie Sewell said the National Trophy Junior Team Match is a favored competition at the National Matches. It encompasses four elements: slow-fire standing and rapid-fire sitting or kneeling from standing at 200 yards, rapid-fire prone from standing at 300 yards and slow-fire prone at 600 yards.

"It's one of the most popular because it's teams that compete. There are 3,500 CMP shooting clubs across the U.S., and the teams that come here represent those clubs and their state associations," Sewell said.

The match is distinctive at Camp Perry for the unique camaraderie it inspires.

"What's really neat about the match is so many people that shoot here, including military personnel and elite competitors, will help. They'll coach the junior competitors and work in the pits," Sewell said. "It's really special because people want the junior competitors to have a great time. It's pretty amazing how many people help with this match."

The match began under sunny but windy conditions, and Sewell watched as a storm moved into Camp Perry, with strong wind developing into an impediment for the competitors. Lightning forced match officials to postpone the 300 and 600-yard competitions, but not before the wind played havoc with the competitors during the standing stage.

Over 50 junior teams participated in the National Trophy Junior Team Match.

Siblings Thomas and Kacie McGowan, along with Coach Kaleb Hall, received the Freedom's Fire Trophy plaques for placing 1st in the National Trophy Junior Team Match. They also received gift certificates donated by Creedmoor Sporters, triggers donated by Geissele and slings donated by Eric Hollis Slings.

"The wind conditions during standing made the skilled shooters rise to the top," Sewell said. "You really have to focus on conditions, and they powered through the wind."

Seventeen-year-old Drake Johnson of Texas was one of the competitors challenged by the wind.

"It was pushing us around. You had to catch your shot before it moved you," Drake said as he walked off the range after the storm delay. "But, so far, the match has been pretty fun."

Fun defines the match.

"We get to spend time with people on our team, and we get to shoot with friends from different states," said AJ Garner, who also shoots for Texas. "We're having fun."

One of their coaches, Kristen Morton, said Camp Perry is worth the long trip from Texas.

"The kids enjoy it, and I like working with the juniors. It keeps them interested in firearms," she said.

Wood Earns Four Overall Wins

By Ashley Dugan, CMP Staff Writer

CAMP PERRY, Ohio – At only his second attempt, Sgt. Jonathan Wood, 38, ARNG, of Kennar, LA, cleaned up at the Civilian Marksmanship Program’s (CMP) 2023 National Rifle Games – racking up four individual titles, including within two culminating events.

During the competition series, part of the annual National Matches at Camp Perry, Wood claimed the Three-Gun and Four-Gun Aggregates for his combined outstanding performances in the Garand, Springfield, Vintage and Modern Military events. Admittedly, Wood hadn’t prepared much before arriving at Camp Perry in 2023, with only two competitions beforehand and little else.

“I actually don’t practice that much,” he said, incredibly. “I just don’t have the time. And I don’t like putting on a coat in Louisiana – it’s 100 degrees outside!”

Instead, his preparation is simple.

“I just come to Camp Perry and go for it.”

Wood nabbed the Three-Gun and Four-Gun titles from last year’s winner, Brian Williams, who landed in second in the 2023 Matches. Williams, 49, of Granby, MA, is also the current national record holder for the National Vintage Military Match.

Last year was Wood’s first year competing in the Games events, finishing in seventh in Three-Gun and missing the Four-Gun win by just four points behind Williams. He came into 2023 looking to turn the tables.

“It was my goal to beat him this year,” Wood admitted with a smile. “I didn’t expect to win four things though.”

Wood not only claimed the Aggregates but also earned the overall win in the National Modern Military Match and the Vintage Military Match using his own K31 rifle. Amazingly, it was his first time using the rifle in competition.

“I just love to shoot,” he said.

Wood has been shooting all his life. He participated in three-position air rifle in high school before a seven-year career in the Marine Corps, where he began training in service rifle and reached an Expert level. After leaving the Marine Corps in 2011, he joined the National Guard in January 2012. Meanwhile, he’s been following shooting competitions with his stepdad since he was a freshman in high school, hearing all about Camp Perry and the National Matches and setting the goal of one day making it there himself.

Sgt. Jonathan Wood earned four wins in the National Games events, including the Three-Gun and Four-Gun Aggregates. Jonathan received a stock set donated by Dupage Trading.

“For years, we’ve always wanted to go to Perry. We just never got around to it,” he said.

In 2022, the pair made it happen. They decided to compete together in the Rimfire Sporter Rifle .22 match, even though his stepdad hadn’t fired in a sitting position since 1988.

“It felt good to finally get here. It was a big bonding moment,” Wood said. “He had a blast, and he was just happy he didn’t come in last.”

Last year’s National Matches also marked Wood’s final points to earn his Distinguished Rifleman Badge as well as a second place finish in the prestigious President’s Rifle Match – astonishing accomplishments for an individual who only started competing in 2019.

That year, he entered his first match at CMP’s Talladega Marksmanship Park in Alabama on a suggestion from a fellow Louisiana National Guard member. Unknowingly unprepared, he arrived with no shooting jacket or other special gear – just a Carhartt jacket, his jeans and his shoes. Luckily, the bare-essential approach seemed to be enough for him.

“I showed up to Talladega with iron sights, not knowing you could use scopes – and I won,” he said with a laugh.

The All Guard team noticed his talents in Talladega, quickly recruited him, and a new, valuable connection was made.

“I just wish I would’ve gotten with the team earlier,” Wood said. “I enjoy being with them. It’s probably the best group of soldiers I’ve ever been with.”

He looks forward to the National Matches each year and plans to return next year on the heels of his retirement from the National Guard. He hopes to bring his family along for the trip, eager to show them everything he loves about the century-old event – down to those who make it so special.

“It’s the people, really,” he said. “It’s a different type of mentality. Everyone’s competing against each other, but at the same time, everyone will help you if you need it. There are no hard feelings.”

“No one is really like that at other competitions I’ve been to,” he went on. “I enjoy it here. I mean, it's the Nationals.”

Though Brian Williams didn't earn repeat wins in the Aggregates this year, he did find a commanding victory of his own in the National Carbine Match, with a score of 380-5X – more than 10 points over the second place competitor and just two points shy of the current national record.

Other winners in the National Games events were Brian Appel, 34, of Holyoke, MA, who won both the Springfield and Springfield M1A matches by a slim margin, as well as Michael Heaberlin, 38, of North Lawrence, OH, who claimed the John C. Garand competition. Kerri Lewis, 47, of Middletown, RI, also earned multiple high woman honors for her performances in the Garand and Vintage Military events, while Cole Aussieker, 17, of Wenona, IL, was high junior of both the Garand and Springfield matches.

Leading the M16 Match that accompanies the Small Arms Firing School was Paige Sauer, 21, of Morrisville, NC, with a score of 392-13X. Sauer led the match by just one point over second place competitor and high junior of the event, Casey Hollenbeck, 17, of Marathon, WI.

Hard Leg VI (Terrence McCoy and Joseph McDonald) cleared the top spot over the field of 138 teams in the Manual class Vintage Sniper team event, with Double D (Douglas Armstrong and Glendale Rutherford) overtaking the Semi-Auto class.

Paper targets are used for the National CMP Games events. Pulling and scoring targets are required for all competitors.

Brian Williams Earns 1st GCA

By Sheri Trusty, CMP Feature Writer

In 2012, Brian Williams became the 2098th person to earn the Distinguished Rifleman Badge since the badge program was established in 1884. In June, he became the very first person to earn the Garand Collector's Association (GCA) Master Marksman Medal. Williams shot his last qualifying shot during the Civilian Marksmanship Program (CMP) D-Day Games in Talladega, Alabama, on June 8.

The GCA Master Marksman Program, which was launched in January 2023, was established to acknowledge consistently top performers at designated CMP John C. Garand Matches using as-issued M1 Garand rifles.

"The reason the Master Marksman Program was created was to draw excitement and move people into that style of shooting," Williams said.

The GCA Master Marksman Program is based on an Achievement Award point system where 10 points are classified as gold, 8 points as silver, and 6 points as bronze. To earn the Master Marksman Medal, competitors must earn a total of 40 points overall and achieve one gold and one additional gold or silver.

Mr. Andrew Hall awarded Brian Williams with a certificate and medal #1 for the GCA Master Marksman Medal.

Williams worked to earn GCA Master Marksman Medal #1 as soon as he heard the first whispers of a possible master program.

"I'd heard grumblings about it for a couple of years, and as soon as I heard the first grumblings, I said I want to have Medal #1," he said.

Williams, who typically shoots service rifles, began training with his M1 Garand months before the first match.

"I'm typically a highpower shooter, but this year has been really different," he said. "I spent a lot of time practicing with my M1 Garand. I live in Massachusetts, so my shooting season is shorter than some places, but I typically get to the range about once a week. My training was just repetition and time."

Williams had a strong advantage going into the competitions: his own ammo.

"I handload my ammo. Handloading gives you the ability to produce everything you need. With the significant shortages these past few years, it would have been impossible to keep up with practicing if I didn't reload," he said.

Handloading allows Williams to produce consistent ammo.

"I load one at a time, so I control the powder charge and the bullet weight," Williams said. "It's more accurate when it's handloaded."

Williams didn't develop an interest in guns until, as an adult, he happened upon a range where people were practicing.

"They loaned me some guns, and after my first match, I was hooked," he said. "I've been shooting highpower since 2005. I went to my first National Matches in 2011, and I've been going ever since."

In addition to the GCA Master Marksman Medal and the Distinguished Rifleman Badge, Williams has won numerous matches and medals. To become the first to earn the Master Marksman Medal required a different level of dedication and a willingness to travel to matches across the country.

He attended and earned qualifying points

Brian won the 4-Gun Aggregate at the 2022 National Games Matches at Camp Perry. He holds the record for the 4-Gun Aggregate with a score of 1160-35X that he set in 2019.

The Garand Collector's Association created the Master Marksman Medal in 2023 to recognize the top competitors in the As-Issued John C. Garand Match.

Master Marksman Medal

at the CMP Western Games in Arizona in March, the CMP Eastern Games in North Carolina in April, and the CMP D-Day Games in Alabama in June. Upcoming qualifying matches for GCA Master Marksman Medal competitors are the National Matches at Camp Perry in Ohio in July, the CMP New England Games in Vermont in September, and the CMP Talladega 600 Games in Alabama in November.

Although Williams earned the medal in a short amount of time, medal hopefuls can earn points on their own time schedule, as Distinguished Rifleman Badge recipients have done in the past.

“Some people took 25 years to earn the Distinguished Rifleman Badge. Some took less than a year, and for others, it’s a lifetime goal,” Williams said.

Williams was thrilled when he took his last qualifying shot in Alabama.

“It was very exciting,” he said. “I try never to count points when I’m in a match because it’s not beneficial to your shooting, but I found myself counting points in that last match. Once that last shot went down range, I knew I had achieved it. I was glad I was able to keep them in the middle.”

Because the GCA Master Marksman Program is so new, only a handful of people at the match recognized what Williams had accomplished.

“But a few people were aware, and I got some handshakes and fist pumps,” he said. “We’re such a small, close-knit group. I see them all over the country. I’m close friends with many of the other shooters.”

For many, like Williams, friendship defines marksmanship.

“My favorite part of the sport is definitely the people. It’s unlike anything I’ve ever been involved with before,” he said. “You’re competing against someone who would be willing to hurt their chances of winning to help you, and that’s not just one or two people. It’s almost the entirety of the whole community.”

Brian is an accomplished competitor and can be seen on the ranges shooting various rifles.

Sean Leighton also received his GCA Master Marksman Medal during the 2023 National CMP Games Matches Awards Ceremony.

To participate in the GCA Master Marksman Program, a competitor must be a current member of the GCA. Only as-issued M1 Garands may be used. For more information, visit www.thecmp.org/garand-collectors-association-creates-new-master-marksman-program/.

CMP Mid-Range Event Gains Attention at 2023 National Long Range Matches

By Ashley Dugan, CMP Staff Writer

CAMP PERRY, Ohio – The Mid-Range 3x600 event at the annual National Matches was met with great interest from individuals on the range, growing to over 100 participants in its inaugural year. Featuring three stages of slow prone record shots from 600 yards for adult and juniors, the event was part of the Civilian Marksmanship Program's (CMP) Long Range series at Camp Perry.

"We were very excited for the turnout this year," said Sara Rozanski, CMP highpower coordinator who facilitates the Long Range events. "This is a program we're looking to put more focus on, and we really hope others consider giving it a try during their trips to Camp Perry each summer."

Topping the Mid-Range 3x600 leaderboard in various classes were:

Match Rifle: SSG Ben Cleland, USA – 600-46X
Service Rifle: SSG Jacob Blackburn, USA – 598-29X
F-Open: Jason Shiew – 597-31X
F T/R: LtCol Michael Walters, ANG (ret.) – 591-23X
AR Tactical: 1LT Frank Holtzhauer, ARNG – 599-32X
Palma Rifle: SP4 Adam Fitzpatrick, USA – 600-46X

Leading the first Mid-Range 3x600 was Staff Sgt. Ben Cleland, 30, of the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit, with a score of 600-46X. Cleland admitted Mid-range is one of his favorite types of matches to shoot, with distances no different than those used in service rifle matches and added challenges that make them even more enjoyable to shoot.

"It's a true precision game," Cleland said.

"It's kind of like smallbore with a lot more wind, in my mind, so I really enjoy shooting that," he went on. "If you're on it, you can shoot some really big scores and have some great performances, but it's still very challenging."

According to Cleland, Mid-range has been growing over the last few years – gaining traction in the marksmanship community. In essence, the match can be seen as a gateway for service rifle competitors into Long Range events, using the same ranges and distances as regular highpower events.

"More people are getting interested in it," he said of the Mid-range discipline. "It's not so hard moving from one rifle to the other, as far as shooting goes. The hard part is showing up at Camp Perry with that many different guns, well prepared."

In the match, Cleland used his 6mm rifle that he built himself. It's a quality piece of equipment that gave him confidence on the firing line and helped lead him to the overall win.

"I was shooting a gun that's capable of shooting way better than I am, which makes me look good," he joked.

Also helping him to look good is, as he describes, a hectic schedule during the year to remain at the top of his game – staying late after practice to work on both himself as well as his equipment to make sure each is performing to the best of its abilities.

"You can go out and lose a match, and that's fine if someone shot better than you – that's great. They did good and you didn't do as good, that's the way it should be," he explained. "But if you go out and you feel like you had a perfect performance, but you didn't shoot well for whatever reason, whether it's equipment or something else, that's the kind of failure that, in my mind, just isn't acceptable."

Staff Sgt. Ben Cleland won the first Mid-Range 3x600 event held at the CMP National Matches.

It basically just says I didn't put enough work in in the beginning."

Scores on the line were extremely tight in the Mid-Range match, with the first seven places separated by only one point. The top three competitors were determined by x-count, with Cleland finding the win by a margin of seven Xs overall.

"For one, everybody there were really good shooters – very experienced," Cleland said of the close match scores. "The conditions were moderately challenging. It wasn't crazy windy, for Camp Perry, but it wasn't a give-me."

With plans of expansion in the future, the CMP Mid-Range program will be a fixture at the National Matches – leaving even more competitive opportunities for those individuals looking for new conquests on the range.

"I hope that it continues to happen and that it grows," Cleland added. "I think that it's a really good measuring tool for marksmanship abilities."

Outside of Mid-Range, the National Long Range events included five days of individual and team 1,000-yard matches for Long Range, Service, Palma, Match, F-Open, F-T/R and AR Tactical classes. Daily awards were presented to overall winners of each match as well as to the top junior, woman, senior and grand senior participants. Overall aggregate awards were also determined for those who competed in all events in the Long Range series.

Individual Long Range Aggregate winners included:

Long Range: SSG Jarrod McGaffic, 33, Fort Benning, GA – 1643-89X

Service Rifle: SP4 Dustin Carr, 22, Fort Benning, GA – 1615-74X

Palma: SP4 Adam Fitzpatrick, 27, of Columbus, GA – 1635-99X

F-Open: Kenneth Livengood, 69, Palmerton, PA – 1623-61X

F-T/R: Jack Dean, 50, Cape Coral, FL – 1609-58X

AR Tactical: Only one competitor participated in this class.
