Carven Makes Report Sup. Walter R. Carven of Vevay gave a report of the sessions of the state association of supervisors held in Lansing several weeks ago. He declared that the state meeting is of value. The Vevay supervisor stated that the supervisors are close to the people and have first-hand knowledge of legislative needs. He charged that the legislature takes stands which are often opposite to the desires of taxpayers.

Chairman Jacob Schepers and Sup. Guy O. Doxtader of Onondaga, also gave reports of the state session. The chairman pointed out legislative problems affecting the counties.

Indifference And Lack Of Responsibility. Dr. Russell L. Finch, secretary of the Ingham county medical society, notified the board of supervisors Monday that hereafter county indigency cases except those of an emergency nature will not be given treatment in Lansing hospitals by members of the Ingham County Medical Society. The secretary of the medical association charged that the action was taken because of the indifference and lack of responsibility shown by the board of supervisors. Supervisors will meet the edict by sending indigent patients to the University hospital in Ann Arbor and perhaps to smaller hospitals within Ingham county. The breach between the board of

Too Many Parks

Readers are being regaled these days with accounts of what Michigan is to get out of the four billions which the president proposes to spend on a huge public works program. Scrutiny of the list of projects which is being poured in upon the state planning commission discloses the widest variety of ideas possible to conjure.

The NEWS has no quarrel with what cities and counties may desire to enter upon. It concedes that each locality knows its own desires best and even if in some instances mere desire develops into an actual requirement, we refuse to worry.

Neither is it to be taken too seriously in any event. It is not likely that even a government largess will be expanded to take in all the fantasies being presented.

Nevertheless the NEWS is opposed and desires now to enter its protest against some of the projects presented by the Michigan department of conservation.

The department of conservation is asking for a grant of 52 million dollars. Of this stupendous amount $23,-000,000 is proposed to be spent for lands for forest and game preserves; $17,000,000 for state parks; $17,000,000 for reforestation; $5,718,000 for the game division; $5,-939,000 for forest fire protection; and $5,000,000 for other purposes.

What should be pointed out to the conservation department is that vast areas devoted to parks, not only take vast sums of money for care and maintenance but also take vast areas from the tax rolls as well.

The NEWS desires to present a plan which will involve far less cost to the state to maintain and will make available to the people of all Michigan ample recreation spots easily accessible to all and at the same time restore to Michigan its fishing and to a great exextent its hunting areas.

Let us take Grand River as a single example. Suppose a careful survey was made of the valley of the Grand River and all its tributaries. Suppose every sewer now emptying into these streams from every city, village, and hamlet was diverted into sewage disposal plants to be constructed out of public works money and then placed on a self-liquidating basis to be paid for by those who dump sewage into them-householders, industrial plants, municipalities alike. Suppose then that every piece of unproductive land along these streams was purchased at nominal cost and every eroded hillside now pouring its soil into stream beds be planted to some kind of cover-timber if it will produce timber, native brush and shrubs if that is the best the hillside will produce, attention being given in this respect to seasonal blooms, and berries for game food. Dams might well be constructed at certain points to flood marshes to provide refuge and breeding grounds for water fowl. Smaller tributary streams might be utilized for rearing young fry which regional hatcheries would plant. Take a map of Michigan, a drainage map to be preferred. From this one can easily visualize the territory to be served by such a venture as outlined above. Then add the Saginaw valley, Huron watershed, until the whole southern part of Michigan is reclaimed. Count the thousands who would find abundant recreation at their very doors. Visualize, if one will, a Sunday or holiday when for fishing, for hunting, for flowers in the spring, for nuts in the fall, for a taste of nature at any season, the vast majority of people living in this prosperous and favored region might, if they desired, find every recreation facility within walking distance of their own homes. The trouble with the conservation plan is that it takes great regions out of habitable areas, making their upkeep and protection against fire an unjustifiable expense. Michigan already is faced with the problem of maintaining its parks system. For the past two or three years several have remained closed because the state had no money with which they might be operated for public use. From what source are these parks now being projected to be supported, once they are provided? Even as a gift, can Michigan afford their acceptance? Construction of sewage disposal plants all over Michigan will create considerable work, and the plants once constructed can be made self-supporting through use. Soil erosion as well as stream pollution must be controlled before Michigan emerges from the dark ages of spoilation which began with its lumbering and mining, days. Control of erosion in Michigan merely means the planting of steep hillsides along stream beds to prevent the washing of the earth and debris into the larger streams. Methods of tax exemption and small cash payments to owners would accomplish this and still leave the greater part of the lands under private ownership and control without the cost of state supervision. Before condemning this suggestion entirely the reader is urged to recall to mind the fact that this writer is not urging the spending of huge sums of money in public works of fantastic character. He is merely suggesting that if the money is to be spent, it be spent as cautiously as possible and that due regard be had that projects be not promoted which in turn will call upon future generations for tax support.

It would be highly inconvenient, if not impossible, to transact the business of the community if actual currency had to change hands every time a sale was made.

Then, too, the community is surprisingly dependent upon the interchange of services and products with other communities. If there were no banks it would take so long to transact business that there would scarcely be any business.

Lay it to the Drouth

Detroit residents will hereafter pay one cent more per quart for their milk. Detroit newspapers say the drouth of last summer has made hay and forage scarce and grains high and give that as the reason for the price tilt.

The editor has never engaged in the business of distributing milk to the retail trade. He has no idea how much hay, silage and grain is consumed in the processing of milk after it leaves the farm. Perhaps he is mistaken altogether but his information to date is that the drouth affects only the man who owns the herd, raises or buys the feed which the cows eat, and who puts the milk on the loading platform at the receiving stations all at his own expense.

What has caused the editor to doubt his early convictions in this respect is that while the price to the consumer went up from 11 cents to 12 cents per quart, all on account of the drouth, the dairyman who alone suffers from the drouth has his pay raised from $2.25 to $2.48, a total raise of 23 cents per hundred pounds on that portion of his product which goes into the milk bottle.

It appears that so far as the farmer is concerned there were two drouths-one last summer and the other this winter when the price of milk was adjusted. The milk distributor appears able to avoid all drouths.

While state highway crews are planting trees and out his oft-repeated pledge to the peo shrubs along trunk lines welfare workers are at work ple he will get exactly nowhere unless on other roads mowing down everything in sight.

New Charter Received

This bank is now operating under its new charter and name-First State Savings Bank.

The Banking Law enacted in 1933 provides that the capital structure of a bank shall equal one-tenth (1-10) of its deposits and in order to comply with that condition and other features of the new banking law, it was deemed best to re-organize under a new charter,

First State Savings Bank now has a capital structure of $25,000.00 common stock, $5,000.00 surplus and $30,000.00 preferred stock subscribed by the U.S. Government through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation making the total capital structure $55,000.00.

Membership in the Federal Reserve System has been granted and this carries with it membership in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation under which deposits are insured to the extent of $5,000.00 for each depositor.

All officers of the old bank were elected for the new, namely, H. J. Bond, President, F. E. Searl, Vice President. C. L. Bickert, Cashier, and E. A. Dunsmore, Assistant Cashier; the Board of Directors are H. J. Bond, F. E. Searl, H. O. Halstead, F. D. Thomas, W. H. Hanna, A. W. Jewett and C. L. Bickert.

Edwin F. Lantis

Edwin Fillmore Lantis was born in White Oak township, January 18 1876. He was next to the youngest of 11 children of Nathan and Ottilia Lantis. With the exception of two or three years spent in Stockbridge township, his whole life was spent within a mile or two of the place where he was born. He was married June 8, 1898, to Minnie Knight of Stockbridge township, and to them two children were born, Lisle at home and Irene, now Mrs. Harry Pringle of White Oak. January 28, he was tak-on very sick and the next day was taken to Sparrow hospital in Lansing where he was operated on for ap-pendicitis, but alas it was too late, the deadly poison had fastened its fangs upon him and he passed to his long nome about one-thirty, Monday morning, February 4. He was blest with a sunny disposiion, was a great lover of music, singing while at his work on the farm. Those who knew him best loved him most. His children and the dear little grandchildren were the idol of his eart. The neighborhood where he has lived so many years extend to the sorrowing family their deepest sympathy. Besides the widow and two children, he leaves four grandchildren Kenneth, Aleta, William and Roberta Pauline Pringle, two sisters, Mandy Reeves of Jackson, Sarah Clements of White Oak, two brothers, Molvin of Locke and Bert of Stockbridge township, several nieces and nephews and a large circle of friends who will greatly miss him. Funeral services were held at the Vantown M. P. church February 6, Rev. Terwilliger officiating, with burial in Alchin cometery.

Certified Seeds Pay In Michigan Fields

BETTER YIELDS AND BETTER QUALITY ARE HARVESTED.

Use of certified seeds of all kinds is one of the practices recommended by the farm crops department at Michigan State college as an aid in increas-ing farm profits.

Certified seeds cost more than ordinary field-run seeds but they are worth more. All the seeds in any lot were produced by the same variety and the same type of plant. Fields planted to certified seed grow and ripen more evenly than those in which mixed varieties are used for seed. Records kept by the crops depart-mont and by the farm management department at the college prove that certified seeds yield more bushels per acre and produce a greater proportion of No. 1 product than do ordinary Growing second grade prodseeds. ucts does not pay well in a time when prices are down and is never as profitable as producing quality crops.

Cows Find Unusual Rations In Mangers Thursday in March.

SHORTAGE INDUCES DAIRYMEN TO TRY SUBSTITUTES.

Michigan dairymen, confronted with a shortage of all kinds of feed and high prices for any kind which they might buy, are trying many kinds of unusual rations and appear to be succeeding in solving the feed problem, according to the dairy department at Michigan State college.

Dairymen in the cream selling sections are feeding skim milk back to the cows which produce it. They find that cows can be fed from 10 to 15 pounds of skim milk at a feed. Eight pounds of the skim milk is about equal in feeding value to one pound of cottonseed meal.

Farmers in the central part of the state are using cull beans, either cooked or ground and fed as meal. Ground beans can be utilized as 15 per cent of the grain mixture. Cooked beans can be fed at the rate of 20 pounds per day per cow.

Low prices for potatoes have induced some herdsmen to use them for feed. The usual practice is to chop the potatoes and feed them at the rate of 15 to 20 pounds a day to each cow. Cooking potatoes seems to be a waste of time and money as the cows readily eat the raw ones.

We are inviting the public to attend the SPRING SHOWING of our entire line of McCormick-Deering Tractors and farm equipment. We will have entertainers, lectures by officials of the International Harvester Company, and FREE LUNCH at noon. Remember the date-February 23, 1935, at our showroom.

McCormick-Deering

HERE we are with the New McCormick-Deering Farm-all 20 Tractor. This model has practically the same physical dimensions as the regular Farmall-but it has a good 10 per cent more power, 4 forward speeds, enclosed steering gears, and enclosed steering brakes.

The advantages of the additional power and extra speeds which make the Farmall 20 more flexible are appreciated when it comes to pulling 2 plow bottoms and the heavier tillage tools in tough going, operating 4-row cultivators. 2-row Farmall corn pickers, 2-row potato diggers, and all drawbar, belt, and power take-off jobs. Farmall 20 speeds are 21, 21, 31, and 31 miles per hour. You will admire the Farmall 20 when you see it at work. It has all the features that have made the regular Farmall famous. Ask us about it now.

justments or compromise of long de-linquent taxes but it is quite evident bad news. that 1934 and 1935 taxes must be paid and that in the future even more severe rules will be laid down to compel early payment of taxes or loss of property on account thereof. This, of course, is predicated on reducing the property tax to a point, where the owner can and will pay, and is especially applicable to revenue producing property now being milked by owners while government and schools ask in vain for revenues.
