DELTA TAU DELTA

Gemology and Robert M. Shipley

A NEW and successful profession has been conceived and established by Robert M. Shipley, Beta Gamma (Wisconsin), '09, of Los Angeles, California. Now in its ninth year—gemology, the science of gems—is revolutionizing the standards of the jewelry trade. Gemologists are the scientific gem specialists of today.

A former jeweler, Bob Shipley became convinced that the average retail jeweler lacked knowledge about his merchandise, and that much of the information held in common belief in the trade had been handed down by hearsay and tradition. It had been found in other vocations that such information was really quite unsatisfactory and factually unsound, and moreover, often left the most honest merchant open to accusations of questionable practice. This is especially true in these days when many young men and women are studying scientific subjects and often know more about merchandise than does the merchant himself. So convinced of this need for scientific facts in the jewelry trade was Bob Shipley that he entered upon an intensive period of study and research, going abroad for two years to carry on this work in the gem centers of Europe. During this time he not only studied the scientific end of the work, but spent many months visiting museums and factories, and studying the decorative arts. He then passed the examinations of the National Association of Goldsmiths, a British organization, and received its diploma in gemology—the science of gemstones.

When Shipley returned to America, he continued his intensive study and research, lecturing on this new scientific subject he was developing at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. These talks proved so valuable to the jewelers in and around this district that he was persuaded to widen his field of activity and gave these special lecture courses along the Pacific Coast. Then the idea of the written courses was born, and all this information was condensed, organized, and written into courses which could be studied by mail. That there has been little change in the general outline of the courses, apart from the constant revision to keep them up-to-date, speaks well for the efficiency of their organization.

To make this education available, Robert M. Shipley founded the Gemological Institute of America. A group of far-sighted and progressive jewelers from some of the leading firms in America became its first members and Mr. Shipley its president. The new profession which resulted spread rapidly, and it was found necessary in 1934 to form a society of the membership—The American Gem Society—which soon was extended to other countries. The courses were divided into steps. Those who completed the fundamentals of gemology and certain additional courses in jewelry, silverware, salesmanship, merchandising, etc., became Registered Jewelers of the American Gem Society while those who completed the more advanced work became Certified Gemologists, the scientific gem specialists of the jewelry trade. Educational displays, lectures, and authenticated booklets on gems were prepared for members, and a concerted campaign to advertise the value of the titles was supported by each member.

In nine years the membership has grown to over 800 and the number of jewelry firms who are affiliating in the United States, Canada, and other nations is increasing every day. Members of the American Gem Society must be passed on by International and Regional Certification Boards and title holders must pass an examination each year for re-registration. The advertising and business policies of members is checked and must meet certain approved standards. Terms which describe merchandise are being standardized for the protection of the public and members must adhere to them. The Society supplements the work of the Better Business Bureau and the Federal Trade Commission with which it closely cooperates.

One of Mr. Shipley's greatest accomplishments was to establish the examinations for the titles. To establish titles which would be accepted and respected throughout the world, it was necessary to obtain the voluntary services of the outstanding gem mineralogists in universities, the curators of museums, and diamond mining geologists on the one hand and appointees of all the outstanding trade organizations on the other. In the beginning each group had little respect for the other but today all important American gem scientists and trade associations are represented on these boards which also include most important European, African and Asiatic gem authorities.

This spring marked another step in the history of the gemological profession. A new modern building was erected to house headquarters of the Institute and Society. Rooms and fixtures were specially designed for efficiency in handling the ever-increasing business of the organizations. Chief in interest to those who visit the Institute is the gemological laboratory, equipped with scientific gem-testing instruments.

The new headquarters are in what is believed to be the largest building in the world devoted exclusively to gemology. The building is the only one in America occupied solely by a jewelry trade organization and it has the best equipped gemological laboratory in the world. A part of this new, modern laboratory is the diamond grading room, finished in neutral gray and black, for the scientific grading of diamonds. Many jewelry firms unaffiliated with this new gemological profession are patterning their diamond rooms on this. Diamond grading will eventually become standardized in North America.

The Gemological Institute publishes the technical journal, Gems and Gemology, in which are carried the results of gemological research and reports of new gem species and substitutes.

The news of the gemological profession is printed in the magazine, Guilds, which is issued by the American Gem Society.

In 1938 the profession gained further prestige when a prominent Canadian jewelry firm enrolled twenty-seven students from nine stores and introduced gemology into Canada. Other students from foreign lands have completed the courses, including residents of Manila, Mexico, Finland, India and Switzerland. Students have already journeyed to Los Angeles from Switzerland, Mexico, the Philippines and Ceylon to obtain advanced laboratory work.

Robert M. Shipley has done great things for the jewelry trade. He and his son, Robert, Jr., have developed scientific technique for the identification of genuine or imitation gems and for the grading of diamonds which is revolutionizing the jewelry trade. He has united in a common purpose the finer firms of America and Canada, in raising the standards of knowledge to that of a new profession. He has made the customer conscious that jew-

A Crop That Cheers

By Karl Detzer

Reprinted by permission of THE COMMONWEAL and READER'S DIGEST

Editor's Note: Charles J. Birt is a former chapter adviser of Beta Gamma chapter at the University of Wisconsin. The article uses the descriptive "go-getting" for this Good Delt—it fits him so well for his service to Delta Tau Delta. A champion for results, Birt proved a guiding influence of importance to the undergraduates during his term of three years at the helm.

ONE day last November, Charles J. Birt, Gamma Xi (Cincinnati), '26, secretary of the Madison (Wis.) Community Union, answered his telephone, heard an eager voice say: "Listen, Charley. This is Joe Small. Put me down for a garden right away."

"Plenty of time, Joe," Birt replied. "We don't even start plowing for five months."

"Sure," Joe said. "But remember, don't leave me out. I want to start early. By the way, I'm going in for crop rotation next year."

Joe is one of Madison's 405 citizens who in 1939 raised $20,000 worth of vegetables in eight community garden tracts scattered across the town. His own plot of borrowed land measures exactly 50 by 100 feet, like all the other 404 gardens. From it last summer he supplied his family with fresh vegetables, and his wife canned enough to last all winter, too.

Like most of the gardeners, Joe has a large family and could not possibly feed it on his limited income from part-time work. Value of the gardens, however, cannot be measured in dollars alone. Public health is improved when low-income families get fresh green food and keep out in the sun all summer. More important, their morale is bolstered by growing their own food instead of having to accept relief rations.

Cost of the 405 gardens last year was $300, paid by the Community Union, and eight months' wages for one WPA employe.

When young Charley Birt, go-

getting community chest secretary, fathered the gardens in 1932, some 600 other towns were trying the same experiment. Most failed and in many communities the WPA took them over and still operates them, paying workers by the hour to raise and can vegetables for relief distribution. The cost of food thus produced often equals retail prices of similar grades, but Madison last year grew nearly $60 worth of vegetables for every dollar spent.

"Our people grow things because they like to," Birt explains. "It isn't just 'made work' to them. And the results belong to them personally, not to a hazy thing called 'the government.' They make a game of gardening, and there's a lot of rivalry about who will raise the largest potatoes or the first batch of peas, or who has the prettiest border of flowers."

The eight tracts are all private property, held for investment, and range in size from a block of vacant lots cut into 20 gardens, to a 115-plot tract. All are in parts of town convenient to people who pay low rents.

Yet "no stigma of 'welfare' or 'relief' attaches to these gardens," Birt points out. "Anyone may have a plot, as we have plenty of land. So the unemployed, the small wage earner, and now and then a man with a good job, work side by side; all have equal amounts of soil, sun and rain. It's democracy in action."

People objected last spring when a university professor took a garden and worked in it daily from dawn till noon. They complained that a man with money enough to buy food should not cost the community money. (His share of the project, by the way, cost 70 cents.) Objectors did not know that the professor was giving his crops to a family which otherwise would have been on relief. The job did wonders to his waistline.

Last season the gardeners raised 3727 bushels of potatoes, 1140 pumpkins, 9800 heads of cabbage, 1385 bushels of beans. Germans and Negroes, Finns and Russians, Poles and Italians swap recipes and delicacies, praise their favorites (the Italians their squash, the Negroes their yams) and show each other how to raise them. There's democracy in that, too.

The gardeners enforce their own rules and rarely have to call on either the police or their friend Charley Birt. They know they will lose their garden if they are caught selling vegetables, stealing their neighbors' produce, or letting weeds grow in their own plots. The latter is the crime of crimes, because weeds spread from poor gardens to good ones. Last year no one was charged with stealing or selling, and only half a dozen, after two warnings, were ejected for letting weeds grow.

Crop rotation, intensive cultivation, fertilizer from family garbage pails hoed into the soil, use of every square inch of land, coupled with the enthusiasm of the gardeners, result in immense yields, in spite of the fact that no water is piped to any garden.

"We take our chances of rain, like other farmers," one worker said. However, he was not doing it. Each morning for a cloudless midsummer week, he and others had been out at sunrise, hoeing the night's dew into the soil.

Small as the gardens are, Madison's workers find room for flowers. From spring till late fall, all eight tracts are checkerboards of bloom, with individual lots outlined in narrow flower beds.

Any summer morning the streets leading to them are thronged with families, from grandmothers to toddlers, carrying tools to their work. They labor as family groups, each member doing his part, each enjoying life in the sun, each feeling a sense of independence and of personal accomplishment.

Thus Charley Birt's gardens not only help solve Madison's economic problems and improve public health; they encourage diligence, foster self-respect, speed the democratic process through neighborliness, and help people knit closer their family ties.

New President of the Northern Division

By Randall M. Ruhlman, Zeta (Western Reserve), '23

Secretary of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter

CLEMENS R. FRANK, Zeta (Western Reserve), '19, the new President of the Northern Division, has been living, thinking, eating, sleeping, and working for  $\Delta T \Delta$  since the day a pledge pin was placed on his lapel back in September of 1915.

There are some men wearing the Square Badge who are willing to enjoy the fellowship and pleasure of the Fraternity and only render service when called upon to do some special task. Not so with Clem Frank. His ability to see when, where, and how things should be done, and his love of the Fraternity create in him a constant urge and desire to be doing something to advance the purple, white, and gold banner. In his life  $\Delta T \Delta$  comes first and the little matter of earning a living seemingly comes second.

Clem is an attorney by profession and at present is an Assistant Attorney General for the State of Ohio. After graduating from the law school of Western Reserve University he engaged in the private practice of law until 1939 when he accepted his present post on the staff of Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert, Zeta (Western Reserve), '15. His domestic status is that of a happily married man and the proud father of a future Delt.

As an undergraduate at Zeta he brought many honors to  $\Delta T \Delta$  with his excellence in scholarship, athletics, and numerous campus activities. Since graduating from college he has been constantly and continuously in the service of the Fraternity, as chapter adviser at Zeta and as a member of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter giving yeoman labor on committees, Karneas, and Division Conferences.

During the regime of Jack Finicum as President of the Northern Division, Clem served as secretary, and when Kleber Hadley was elected President of the Division, Frank was chosen as one of the vice-presidents. Following the death of Brother Hadley, Clem was named by Paul G. Hoffman as President of the Division. At the Northern Division Conference, held in Columbus in February of this year, he was elected to the position he now holds.

Personally, Clem Frank is a mild-mannered, calm, and quiet spoken gentleman. He accomplishes his objectives by persuasion, logic, co-operation, and understanding of the other fellow's point of view; but underneath this quiet exterior there is plenty of courage, fire, determination, a knowledge of how to crack

New Field Secretary Appointed

The newest addition to the personnel of  $\Delta T \Delta$ 's regular field secretary staff is Garth B. Slater, Gamma Upsilon (Miami), '38. Garth has been serving in special field assignment since graduation. His appointment to the regular staff will widen the scope of his travels.

Garth is a West Virginian. He was born and received his primary and secondary education in Parkersburg. He worked four years following high school graduation, then entered Miami University. His activities in college included football, publications, and organization work. He was honored by the faculty by his selection as "Representative Miamian." Garth led Gamma Upsilon his senior year. With all of these activities he found the time and energy to follow a self-help program which included washing dishes, firing furnaces, clerking in a drug store and a book store, waiting table and working in the university vice-president's office.

Delts will delight in meeting this fellow. If his performance in the job is at all proportionate to the size of the man who has accepted the job, you undergraduates and alumni will recognize action when Garth walks up to your door. He is another of those genial gents who has his heart set on rendering a service that will report progress for all of  $\Delta T \Delta$ .

Another field secretary appointment will be announced in the August number. The new man will replace John W. Fisher, II, who is resigning from the staff to enter Harvard Business School in the fall.

In getting things done Clem follows the formula of his baseball days, playing the game hard and clean, but when he comes racing from third to home plate with that winning run he comes in with plenty of speed, his spikes flashing, and woe unto the opposition blocking his pathway.

The writer feels that there never has been a more sincere, faithful, and loyal Delt, and during his term of office the Northern Division will find that it has chosen wisely.

clers, like the members of other professions, can be absolutely accurate about the merchandise they buy and sell, that the purchaser has a right to demand this accurate knowledge and thus be protected in his purchases of diamonds, other gems, silverware and jewelry. The organizations he has founded make available examinations, the passing of which, by jewelers, assures this added protection.

So when you shop for jewelry, if there is an emblem on the jeweler's window reading either Certified Gemologist or Registered Jeweler, American Gem Society, tell the jeweler that a Fraternity brother of yours founded that profession, for most of its members know Shipley personally.

New Eastern Division President

By Norman MacLeod, Gamma Sigma (Pittsburgh), '17

Past President of Delta Tau Delta and Member of Distinguished Service Chapter

G. HERBERT McCracken, who has been appointed President of the Eastern Division to fill the vacancy created by the death of George W. Brewster, was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh (Gamma Sigma) in 1921. At the present time he is vice-president of The Scholastic Publishing Company in New York.

As an undergraduate, McCracken was one of Pitt's outstanding football players in the days when "Pop" Warner, nationally renowned coach, was compiling a record perhaps unexcelled in modern football.

In addition to McCracken's work on the gridiron, he was active in various student activities while on the campus and was one of the University's outstanding students. His performance has been acclaimed by the university administration as an unusual influence, existing even after he departed from Pittsburgh.

Upon graduation from the University, he became head football coach at Allegheny College, later moving to Lafayette College where he succeeded Dr. John B. Sutherland as head coach. In addition to his coaching activities, he affiliated himself with another member of the Fraternity, M. R. Robinson, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '19, who had just organized The Scholastic, a magazine for high school students. After a ten year period at Lafayette, McCracken resigned his coaching duties to devote full time to the publishing business. His organization publishes three magazines in the high school field—The Scholastic, Scholastic Coach, and Junior Scholastic.

Herb, as he is familiarly known to a great host of people throughout the Fraternity, comes to the position of President of the Eastern Division with a rich background of experience in dealing with university and college youth. During his residence in Pittsburgh he served as chapter adviser of the University of Pittsburgh chapter. His work among young people has been recognized by his appointment as chairman of the National Hi-Y committee of the Y.M.C.A. The Fraternity is to be congratulated on being able to find such a man willing and ready to serve. The chapters of the Eastern Division are going to enjoy the leadership of this dynamic personality.

THE DELT AUTHORS

ARARAT. By Elgin Groseclose. Delta Alpha (Oklahoma), '24.

THIS book was reviewed in the November, 1939, number of THE RAINBOW. The New York Times of February 14, 1940, tells of this book receiving one of the four awards given annually by the American Booksellers Association.

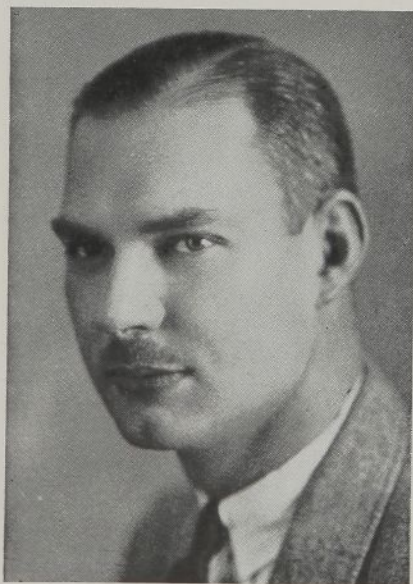

"Winners in four classifications of the National Book Awards for 1939 were announced yesterday at a book and author luncheon, in the Hotel Astor, of the American Booksellers Association, which sponsors the awards, and The New York Herald Tribune.

"Heading the list announced by Harry Hansen, book critic, was Ararat, a novel of adventure in Armenia, by Elgin Groseclose, which was chosen as the Booksellers' Discovery, the award for a book of 'outstanding merit' which failed to receive adequate sales and 'recognition . . .'

"Engraved bronze paperweights in the form of an open book were presented to the winning authors or their representatives. Seventeen persons who, at the last book and author luncheon, guessed three out of the four winning books, received copies of Ararat, the one they failed to pick."

Another press notice tells of more honors for Elgin Groseclose:

"The Foundation for Literature of the Friends of American Writers in Chicago announces that its 1940 award of $1,000 has been made to Elgin Groseclose for his novel Ararat."

ELGIN GROSECLOSE

Elgin Groseclose had Delt company when the 1939 awards were presented. "Johnny Got His Gun, by Dalton Trumbo Beta Kappa (Colorado), '28, screen writer, a book depicting the horrors of war, received the award for the Most Original Book."

"The unfinished novel by Dalton Trumbo Beta Kappa (Colorado), '28, The General Came to Stay, for which Paramount paid him $30,000, gets William Holden (what again?), Lynne Overman, and Betty Field—if she is through in time with her stage assignment—for the top rôles. The story is unusual and amusing. The leading character is a humble bookkeeper in a small town. One of his ancestors saved the life of General Jackson at the battle of New Orleans. The bookkeeper discovers one day that his books show a deficit of $1,200. While he is worrying what to do about it, he is visited by the spirit of Jackson, who tells him that the best way out of his difficulty is to tell the authorities. The bookkeeper does—and is arrested for the theft.

"The spirit of Jackson is furious and comes to the jail accompanied by the ghosts of Jefferson, Lincoln and—of all ghosts—that of Jesse James! They advise the bookkeeper on his defense and give him permission to use their best speeches. He does; he confounds judge and jury and is acquitted. But the boy's troubles are not yet over. The Jackson ghost accompanies him on his honeymoon!"—Indianapolis Star.

MILLS OF THE GODS. Title changed by Saturday Evening Post editors to SECOND WIND. By Talbert Josselyn's, Beta Rho (Stanford), '09, Beta Omega (California), '10, January 27, 1940, issue of the Post. Below is sketch of the author.

"I WAS born in Massachusetts, but grew up in San Diego, California. Had an uncommon school education, with not a single complete scholastic year, my father believing in going traveling or camping along in May and continuing this until October, with no protest from me. Thought I was in for a full year when I entered Stanford University, but the earthquake of 1906 shook me out a month early. Later, attended the University of California, this giving me a chance to yell for two football teams. (Very little yelling during the season of 1939.)

"Ranched in the Salt River Valley, near Phoenix, Arizona. Prospected and mined from Idaho to Mexico. Was in the roaring camp of Goldfield the night they opened their new opera house with prize fights. One hundred of the fair sex, wearing hats of ostrich plumes, nearly caused the biggest fight by refusing to take these hats off.

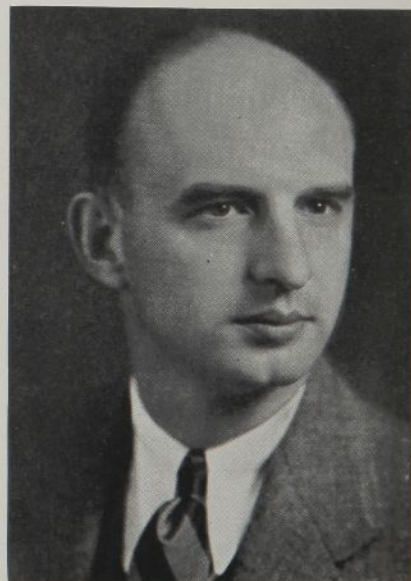

They dared the unfair sex just to start something, each lady brandishing a foot-long hatpin. Right there my interest in prize fights began.

"Started writing while ranching in Arizona. When the sheets of manuscript paper curled into a cylinder around my pencil-gripping hand, under the intense heat, and so many bugs fell into the lamp that they put it out, decided to forgo writing for a while. Later, living in Carmel, California, started writing again, with the stories coming back so fast that I've always been under the impression they were headed off at Denver. Conditions finally improved and one day I was amazed to find myself in print. That was a good deal over twenty years ago.

"Have been in Carmel since 1914. Married, with a daughter who's growing up too darned fast. And I'm very pleased to have a story in the Post."—Saturday Evening Post.

SADDLE AND RIDE. By Ernest Haycox, Gamma Rho (Oregon), '23. Pp. 291. Boston: Little, Brown and Company. $2.

ERNEST HAYCOX would belong on any short list of superior Western writers. He has sterling merits as a drawer of open-space scene and character, and his soberness and restraint make his works much more impressive than most; for that matter, a few more light and airy passages might help—but we can't have everything. What's more, he is one of the few in his line who are not to be charged with a touch of goofiness in one way or another. The current Haycox hero is Clay Morgan, a serious sort of cowman inclined to defend underdogs against such ruthless fellows as Ben Herendeen, with whom he has an old grudge to settle. Seems that Clay's wife, dead these ten years, confessed that she really loved Ben, and Clay has to work that out of his system somehow, besides making up his mind about Ann McGarrah and Catherine Grant, both of whom care deeply. In this one you'll meet a fine lot of strong men and brave women out around War Pass, near the Powder Desert and the Mogul Hills, all behaving pretty much the way humans do behave.—New York Herald Tribune.

ENGLISH LITERATURE AND ITS BACKGROUNDS. Edited by Stith Thompson, Beta Zeta (Butler), '07, and Dr. Bernard D. N. Grebanier.

THE second volume of "English Literature and Its Backgrounds," edited by Dr. Stith Thompson of the Indiana University English department and Dr. Bernard D. N. Grebanier of Brooklyn College, is just off the press. Book No. 1 made its appearance in September.

"In preparing a new kind of anthology we have thought of our work less as pioneering than as supplying an important want," the authors explained. "The very nature of the undertaking made it important to agree at last that whereas merit was a great consideration in the choice of the English pieces, it was influence rather than quality which must determine the inclusion of others."

Realizing that many teachers prefer to present a comprehensive survey of English literature, Drs. Thompson and Grebanier have seized the opportunity of introducing some variations into the traditions of anthology making and have offered selections from the minor as well as the major writers.—Indianapolis Star.

COME SPRING. By Ben Ames Williams, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '10. Pp. 866. Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company. $2.75.

BEN AMES WILLIAMS has outdone himself in a brave new fiction set against a background of Maine woods during Revolutionary days. And once more he shows that he can do pretty well what he wills with his pen. He is able to break with his own writing traditions or go back to them with enviable ease. What is more notable is that he is able to take great slices of what is called reality and transform them into fiction that seems even more real.

And that is precisely what he has done in "Come Spring" (Houghton Mifflin). For here, according to his own telling, "is an historical novel in the sense that most of the major incidents related actually happened, and that every person named in this book actually lived and wore the name he here wears." And those people who actually lived in Southeast Maine from 1776 onward live again for us in a new immortality, attained without any strain or artifice of which the reader of the chronicle is conscious.

Living was a real hardship for American families about Boston in 1776, and there, as elsewhere in America, soldiers were constantly leaving their regiments to do a bit of spring plowing or harvesting in autumn. And Philip Robbins finally decided to remove his family from this danger zone to the Maine forests, there to hew out a farm where his children could live in peace. He took with him a large family, to the wooded acres he had bought, and of these the eyes of men and women along the way dwelt longest upon Mima.

And that interest in Mima carries through. In her is the blood of the pioneer, "trying to do a job the straight, true way; making a straight path for his sons to judge him by." For her, as for most of her kind, the Revolution was a nuisance, necessary no doubt, but something that hindered the real business of planting, building, rearing a family, making a nation. And the distant war serves here as a backdrop against which one sees and feels those things that made for the greatest of America.

A satisfying, honest book is "Come Spring." A book that is good to live with; a novel whose characters live with you in a comfortable, easy manner; neither intruding nor permitting themselves to be forgotten. The reading of it adds to the sum of your pleasures and to the knowledge of your country's history.—Paul Jordan-Smith, Los Angeles Times.

GOLDEN PORTAGE. By Robert Ormond Case, Gamma Rho (Oregon), '19. Pp. 276. New York: Doubleday, Doran & Co. $2.

No one today writes better of the Alaska-Yukon region than does Robert Ormond Case, who has staked out a large fictional claim of his own away up there in the neighborhood of the Arctic Circle and works it with skill and profit. He apparently knows that country up and down and across. His vivid descriptions are at times of almost startling intensity. Convincing, too, are his characterizations of men and women who go adventuring there.

Here he tells the story of Steve Bentley, a young gold prospector of the Upper Porcupine, who was accused (falsely) of murdering a deputy marshal while drunk. As the only means of escape he was induced to impersonate a dead chechahco and go over into the Yukon after a cache of nine thousand ounces of gold, which, one of the conspirators had learned from a letter the dead man carried, was ready to be brought out. It's a good story, and a lively one, plausibly and most graphically told, filled with action and with suspense piled upon suspense until the reader's interest is gripped and held to the very end.—New York Herald Tribune.

Seniors—Check the Fundamentals

A business executive was interviewed during the past winter to obtain some facts to pass on to you. This man is in a position which requires interviews with hundreds of men each year—young men applicants for positions which require college training. Many are turned down. Why?

To the question, "What are the most prevalent weaknesses in the applicants?" came the reply, "Fundamentals." The business executive called his secretary for a file of letters received from applicants. When this ammunition arrived the attack started.

In the margins of each letter were penciled notations of impressions the executive had formulated during the personal interviews with the applicants. On the first letter was noticed "Failed to smile once during interview." This brought some verbal comment from the executive. "How in the world does a young man think he is going to get into business today without a good sincere smile? Business of all kinds, positions of all kinds require salesmanship. A smile is the best introduction to a sale. This fellow had a degree, but no smile. No sale."

On letter number two was the notation, "Letter kills him for present opening." "This man," he explained, "made the grade in the personal interview but his letter indicates that the English training leading up to his degree had been forgotten." Here was a man who turned in a stereotyped letter, poorly spaced, poorly typed, and not neat. Now the executive was not after a typist but he said, "the position called for accuracy and I couldn't see that characteristic in this applicant's letter."

Letter number three: "Minus in dress." The explanation offered on this case was interesting. "This young man wore a suit that was well chosen in color and style but it appeared as if he had slept in it. Now, appearance is a negative point with too many applicants. I will give just as much time to a man in a twenty-dollar suit as to the one in a sixty-dollar suit—neither man is interesting to me if his suit needs pressing. A young man can borrow an iron from his mother or from his landlady and do his pressing if he hasn't the funds to send it out. For ten cents he can purchase the necessary materials to keep his shoes neat for months."

Letter number four: "Too much ego." "Here was a young man who had an idea that a college degree made him indispensable. Now I am looking for college men. Why? Because our company needs executives and we appreciate that a good educational background should hasten the development of experienced employees. What concerns me in so many applicants is the attitude that a degree takes the place of experience. It should be a simple analysis that a new employee will need training just as a man who has worked twenty years needs training if he enters a new field. Why don't more applicants figure that way?"

Letter number five: "Here is a letter that is typical of too great a percentage of those received." He handed me the letter to read. When I had finished reading he asked, "Does that sound like conversation?" The answer was, "No!" The personnel director pointed out that the author of this letter had made a miserable attempt to make an impression by the use of many syllable words. The personal interview had been a complete contradiction. "Why not write letters that make the reader visualize your personality as if you were seated across the desk?"

Another letter taken from the file brought the comment, "This young man indicated a lazy attitude." "At the close of the interview I suggested that the applicant submit a formal letter of application but explained that I could not offer immediate employment. I frequently include this statement to obtain the reaction. This fellow said, 'Conditions are bad—no employment.' I asked how many applications he had submitted. The answer was six. Well, that is better than an answer of one or two, but why not send twenty or thirty letters—fifty letters?"

"These college men study salesmanship then dismiss it from their minds when they write letters of application or accept personal interviews."

Letters of application and personal interviews are vital. Know yourself, you are what is to be sold. Study your prospect, the employer, and plan your salesmanship to convince him that you can fill the requirements. Then do not let "fundamentals" trip you. Smile, be clean, neatly dressed, get a good night's sleep before the interview. The manner in which you walk, sit, and talk are under observation. Make fundamentals work for you, not against you.

Finally, smile again; shake a hand like you meant it—a fishtail handshake may kill your chances before you say a word. Be sincere: in your smile, in your handshake, and in your display of confidence. Sincerity is honesty—honesty is a primary of the fundamentals that your prospective employer will be thinking about and seeking.

There is plenty of opportunity for you. A representative of a large company told the writer that his company is looking for one thousand college men. The men chosen will use fundamentals. That is just one company. Good luck.

WILBUR C. MUNNECKE

WILBUR C. MUNNECKE, Gamma Gamma (Dartmouth), '25, is in the news again on the commerce and finance pages of the Chicago and New York papers. In the May, 1939 number of THE RAINBOW was presented a brief of his rapid rise in the executive organization of Marshall Field & Co. One year later is reported his election as vice-president in charge of the manufacturing division.

The March 9, 1940 issue of Collier's carried a story, The Trail of the Torch, by George Brent, which told of the good work of A. BRUCE BIELASKI, Director of the Arson Squad of the National Board of Underwriters. Bruce, Gamma Eta (George Washington), '04, is a past President of  $\Delta T \Delta$  and a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter. If you missed this article, dig it out of your library or borrow it from a neighbor—you will want to read it twice.

The name CLYDE JEFFREY, frequently found on the daily press sports pages, identifies a Beta Rho (Stanford), '40 Delt. His performance in the 100-yard dash at the Long Beach Relays, March 16—9.4 seconds, earned a petition to the national governing committee of the A. A. U. to place his name along with the names of Frank Wykoff and Jesse Owens as coowners of the world record.

I. R. WATTS, Zeta (Western Reserve), '03, has been appointed assistant manager of the National Wildlife Federation in Washington, D. C. His duties include work on the organization of National Wildlife Week, sponsored annually by the Federation, and the sale of wildlife stamps. Watts has been secretary of the Cuyahoga County Conservation Council during the past year. His home is in Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

WILLIAM B. OGDEN, Beta Kappa (Colorado), '96, is the Grand Master of Masons in the State of California.

HAROLD R. FRANKENBERG, Beta Phi (Ohio State), '23, is president of the Lumbermen's Club of Columbus, Ohio, for 1940.

PAUL G. HOFFMAN, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '12, President of  $\Delta T \Delta$ , president of Studebaker Corporation, has been appointed chairman of the highways committee of the Automobile Manufacturers Association. He succeeds James D. Mooney, vice-president of General Motors Corporation, who will continue as a committee member.

FRANZ R. SACHSE, Beta Rho (Stanford), '31, has been appointed assistant director of the Department of Public Works for the state of California.

HOWELL CULLINAN, Gamma Eta (George Washington), '19, whose voice is heard daily in the Boston Traveler news broadcast over station WEEI and is known to thousands of New Englanders, celebrated his thirteenth anniversary as a news broadcaster, February 7, 1940.

Popular with a great radio audience he received many cards and other messages of congratulation in recognition of the anniversary, some from those who know him personally but even more from those who know him only as a familiar and friendly voice.

CLARENCE E. EDMONDSON, Beta Alpha (Indiana), '12, Dean of Men at the University of Indiana, successfully defended his national faculty cue title in February. He has held the billiards championship since 1935. This year he defeated Prof. Harry C. Carver of the University of Michigan 150 to 123. Dean Edmondson is a past president of the National Association of Deans of Men. His contributions of service to  $\Delta T \Delta$  have been continuous through the years, for which he has been cited to the Distinguished Service Chapter.

MARK EGAN, Beta Pi (Northwestern), '29, executive vice-president of the Cleveland Convention and Visitors' Bureau, was honored by the Junior Association of Commerce of Cleveland as the outstanding young man of the city for 1939.

MARK EGAN

The Omaha World Herald of March 10, 1940, presented a story captioned "Damon and Pythias Say They'll Still be Pals."

"Nearly fifty years of close friendship didn't come to an end, but only took a new turn when ADAM McMULLEN, Beta Tau (Nebraska), '96, of Beatrice and ARTHUR J. WEAVER, Beta Tau (Nebraska), '95, of Falls City found themselves opposing each other for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

"At sixty-four and sixty-six, respectively, McMullen and Weaver date their friendship back to 1893, when both were members of the first pledge class of  $\Delta T \Delta$  at the University of Nebraska. That pledge class included three future governors—McMullen and Weaver, and the late GEORGE H. DERN, Beta Tau (Nebraska), '97, who served as governor of Utah and later as secretary of war.

"Both received bachelor's degrees and Weaver also received a law degree. McMullen went to George Washington University for his law training.

"Trained for law, both men turned much of their energies to the land—McMullen to farming, Weaver to his orchards. Weaver and another ex-governor, John Morehead, have been partners in an orchard for forty years, but have always been on opposite sides of the political fence.

"Weaver was a member of the house in the legislature of 1899 and served as county attorney, then dropped out of public life until 1920, when he was elected to the constitutional convention and served as its president. McMullen was a member of the house in 1905 and 1907, was elected to the state senate in 1917.

"Next step in political life for both was the governorship. McMullen served two terms, 1925-29, to be followed by Weaver, who served one term.

"This campaign is the first in which the two have opposed each other. Because both are interested in their pet issues and not in personalities, the campaign may be clean and sportsmanlike, but with no punches pulled.

"McMullen's big interest is the farm problem. His equalization fee plan offers a way to give American farmers an American price, he believes.

"I had hoped someone else would file who would support the plan I favor,' he explained, 'but no one did, so I filed at the last minute. I'm running strictly on the one big issue and if a man believes in an issue he can't think about his friends.'

"Weaver has become prominent in water conservation and development. He has served as president of the Missouri River Navigation Association and as chairman of the board of directors of the Mississippi Valley Association.

"Both men supported Senator Norris during his campaign as an independent candidate four years ago.

"Both have denied the stories that they conferred before filing in an effort to avoid meeting in the primaries. They ascribe the fact they are opponents to a gradual divergence of interests during the past decade.

"Will victory for one make any difference in their friendship?

"Not in the least,' they declare."

In the coming political conventions there will be Delts active in both parties. Here are a number who have been receiving advance press notices of prominence: GLENN FRANK, Beta Pi (Northwestern), '12, chairman of the Republican Program Committee; BENNETT C. CLARK, Gamma Kappa (Missouri), '13, Democratic Senator from Missouri; ALBEN W. BARKLEY, Beta Epsilon (Emory), '00, Democratic Senator from Kentucky; HENRY A. WALLACE, Gamma Pi (Iowa State College), '10, Secretary of Agriculture; RALPH L. CARR, Beta Kappa (Colorado), '10, Governor of Colorado; RAYMOND E. BALDWIN, Gamma Zeta (Wesleyan), '16, Governor of Connecticut.

ROBERT C. GOWDY, Gamma Xi (Cincinnati), '06, has been appointed Dean of the College of Engineering and Commerce and Director of the School of Applied Arts at the University of Cincinnati.

JOHN S. WALLACE, Alpha (Allegheny), '92 and Beta Lambda (Lehigh), '96, is Lieutenant Grand

Commander of the Supreme Council of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite for the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction of the United States. This Delt lives in Newcastle, Pa.

The honor of speaking before the folklore division of the anthropological sciences section of the eighth American scientific congress to be held in Washington, D. C., in May has been extended to Dr. Stith Thompson, Beta Zeta (Butler), '07, of the Indiana University English department, recognized authority on folklore. Dr. Thompson recently was elected president of the Indiana Folklore Society and is a past president of the American Folklore Society. He will be official delegate from the American Folklore Society to the congress and will preside over the folklore division session.

CHARLES W. LOUNSBURY, JR., Upsilon (Rensselaer), '40, has been awarded a Tau Beta Pi Fellowship. Eight awards were made this year from a field of one hundred. These Fellowships carry stipends of six hundred fifty dollars, and permit the recipient to take a year of graduate work in the field of his selection at any college or university he chooses. This year's group increases to seventy-four the number of such Fellowships granted by Tau Beta Pi since 1928.

Beta Omicron (Cornell) is celebrating its Fiftieth Anniversary, May 18, 1940. An alumni reunion is planned and many of the chapter's alumni will return to Ithaca.

Two Chapter Houses Destroyed by Fire

Pi at Mississippi lost its new home late in April.

Gamma Nu's home at Maine burned to the ground early in May.

No casualties were reported. Both losses were covered by insurance.

Akron

THE INCREASED interest and progress made during the past year under Jim Fitch as president is carrying on. Under the new leadership of "Bid" Edmund this year promises as good if not a better response from the alumni.

The plan, as set up for this year by president Edmund calls for one of the alumni to plan the program and entertainment for one monthly meeting during the year. A list of those in charge and the meeting for which they are responsible was sent to all the alumni. The men listed will have the help of the officers and any others they wish to draft for service.

A step ahead of the proclaimed date, we held the Founders Day meeting at the Akron City Club, February 22. It was a lively meeting with a good attendance ending with a couple of interesting technicolor sound movies.

For the March 27 meeting, we were entertained in the beautiful new home of Walt Keith. Walt made a most desirable host in his big house and a good time was had by all. No speeches or program but several hours of congenial fellowship in the large recreation room followed by tempting refreshments. Walt's brother-in-law, Linwood I. Noyes, M.I.T. Delt, from Ironwood, Michigan, was a welcome guest.

The April meeting as planned will be another mixed party at the home of "Flipp" Fleming.

So much for the meetings, maybe it would be well to note how some of the Akron Deltas are employed and what else they are doing.

Rev. Walter F. Tunks, rector at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, has been broadcasting his regular Sunday sermon over WADC. He always has an inspiring message and a good radio delivery. In addition to the above he gave a talk before the Rotary Club recently on

EDITOR'S NOTE: The alumni news reports are increasing! Forty-six alumni chapter reports are presented in this number. The forty-seventh group is represented pictorially. Hats off to the boys who came through this time! We shall try to have over fifty reports in the August number from which you may seek mention of a classmate.

Ashtabula County

THE SPRING meeting of The Ashtabula County Alumni Chapter was held April 15 at Geneva. Twenty of the brothers assembled at the home of William T. Gallt and discussed plans for summer activity. Burdette Chapman (Ohio University) and Charles Watson (Ohio State) were named committeemen to arrange the May meeting to be held in Ashtabula. A party for rushees will be held early in the summer and a Delta "roundup" is being planned for July or August which will include brothers from the tri-state area—Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York.

A large number of Deltas were present at the Geneva meeting who had not been heard from in many years, including Ted Humphrey and Paul Clute of Williamfield, and Ronnie Pyor of Orwell. A promiment Delt in state affairs in attendance was E. N. Dietrich of Columbus, Ohio, Director of Education.

At least three births of recent date have been reported to the chapter. Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Belding and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Micheal while Mr. and Mrs. Milton R. Alfred are parents of a daughter, Jane Crosby Alfred. The Belding baby, the third son, has been named Ronald. The Micheal baby, the second son, has been named David Lee. Mrs. Alfred is the former Elizabeth Douglass of Augusta, Ga., a Pi Beta Phi from Stetson University. It is the first child.

Athens

THE ATHENS Alumni Chapter met at the chapter house for Beta's annual spring initiation, and also a belated Founders Day celebration. The boys from the active chapter showed us a fine time. This is about the only activity we have had since our last letter.

At the Northern Division Conference at Columbus there were several Beta alumni present. Among those attending were:

Bill Martindell, '32, of Indianapolis, now credit manager for Pure Oil Company in Indiana; John Galbreath, a leading Columbus sportsman, real estate dealer, and member of the State Real Estate Board; Ross Alkire, Sr., of Mt. Sterling, connected with the State Government in Columbus, whose son Ross, Jr., is an active at Beta; Fred Young, also of Mt. Sterling, in the Building & Loan business; "Marty" Miller, '39, now a leading insurance man in Middletown; John Horn, one of Detroit's leading citizens; E. T. Gilliland, '16, now with the State Tax Commission in Columbus; Raymond Connett of Athens, a music teacher in the Athens county school; "Twink" Starr II, '38, of Columbus, now a statistician with the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation of Ohio; and Bud Resch, '39, of Athens, now a graduate student at Ohio U.

Atlanta

THE LAST three meetings of the Atlanta alumni have been held at the fine new Gamma Psi chapter house and it has afforded the members the opportunity to become better acquainted with the Delts in the active chapter. The attendance at the meetings has been increasing as well as the interest shown in the alumni activities.

The Atlanta Alumni Chapter was ably represented at the Southern Division Conference in Savannah by Gordon Curtiss, G. Leonard Allen, delegates, and Grant Campbell, alternate. They reported that the conference was a big success from every standpoint.

A cup was awarded by the Atlanta alumni at their last meeting to Gamma Psi for winning a series of athletic events held last year between the three Delt chapters in Georgia. A similar cup is to be presented to Beta Epsilon at the next meeting for having won the scholarship contest held between the three chapters during the previous school year.

The next big event scheduled for the alumni is the annual May Day Outing at Vinings Country Club, May 11. Roy Petty's committee promises to furnish almost any sport the members wish to take part in, and, afterward, all the fried chicken they can hold. Over one hundred Delts are expected to be there, including members from the two local active chapters.

The brothers here in Atlanta are greatly concerned about the safety of Syd Williams and his attractive wife and daughter since the invasion of Denmark by the Germans. Syd has been living in Copenhagen for two and a half years representing the Coca-Cola Company in Denmark and Norway.

YOUR PERSISTENCE is worthy of a better response than this, but somehow or other this is the only thing I can find in "the cards."

We're on the air, in fact we're given the air, but of no avail.

Buffalo

THE BUFFALO Alumni Chapter was represented at the Rochester Alumni Founders Day Dinner, March 8, by President Bob Wilson and six other local Delts. They reported a very fine evening, and we hope that the Buffalo chapter can reciprocate in the near future.

Attendance at our weekly luncheon continues to increase, and we hope that with the arrival of summer there will be more activity in the Buffalo group.

Camden

I SUPPOSE that few of us ever read a magazine from cover to cover. We pick out those articles in which we are particularly interested and skip the balance. But as soon as I get my copy of THE RAINBOW I read every word of it, with the hope of finding a reference to someone I used to know, some of the old gang from the little green house up on Allen Street, most of whom I haven't seen for twenty years. In one of the recent issues I saw a reference in the Cleveland letter to a Judge Speers. Could that be Ray Finley Speers from Tau Chapter? Imagine Ray being a Judge.

So the thought occurred to me that someone might be looking for the names of some of us in the Camden chapter. Well, here we are and we all would like to hear from "the old gang." Beginning with the oldest, we have:

Fred C. Sweeton, Tau Prime, '94, the patriarch and most loyal member of the chapter. Fred is assistant real estate agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which company, I am told, owns a little real estate.

David I. Brown, Beta Psi, '06, on whose shoulders rests the safety of the nation—well, almost, because he is inspector in charge of the Panama Canal.

Samuel P. Riggins, Rho, '14. Sam is the representative in this district for the Hammond Organ Company and when he makes a sale, somebody has a party, either Sam or the Company.

Harold F. Stephenson, Nu, '18. Harold is a very successful mortician who always leaves our meetings early because someone chose the wrong time to die.

E. Philip Diehl, Gamma Nu, '20, is in the insurance business as supervisor for southern New Jersey for The Fidelity and Casualty Company. He plays golf all winter.

Chas. S. Hollinger, Tau, '20, is general superintendent, John Lucas and Co., Inc., manufacturers of the finest—oops, pardon me.

E. L. Richardson, Gamma Eta, '23. We call him "Dip" but I don't know why. His vocation is graphic arts with The Haddon Craftsman and his avocation, political argumentation.

Chas. H. Vose, Beta Mu, '24, is Research Engineer for Radio Corporation of America, and president of the chapter. He tries to explain television to us but we can't see it.

That accounts for about half of the gang. We'll save the rest for the next letter.

CHAS. S. HOLLINGER

Chicago

ALUMNI AND undergraduate representatives from forty-one different chapters attended the Annual Founders Day Dinner of the Chicago Alumni Chapter at the Union League Club, Chicago, Friday evening, March 1.

The guest of honor and speaker was Kurt F. Pantzer, Supervisor of Scholarship of the Fraternity, who spoke on the Delt House Plan.

In addition to the membership of Gamma Beta at Armour, and Beta Pi at Northwestern, over fifty delegates to the Western Division Conference joined in this celebration of Founders Day, which was scheduled as the highlight of the Division Conference program. H. C. Jepson, Western Division President, also addressed the Dinner and presented the Scholarship Award for the Western Division to the chapter at Oregon State College. George G. Traver, retiring president of the Chicago Alumni Chapter, acted as toastmaster.

New officers of the Chicago Alumni Chapter elected for the current year are:

President, Clarence R. Miles, Hillsdale '19, District Manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Secretary, Vernon A. Sturm, Armour '29; and Treasurer, Don Wheaton, DePauw '33.

Weekly luncheons of the Chicago Alumni Chapter are held every Monday noon at 12:15 o'clock at Hardings on the seventh floor of the Fair Store.

Cincinnati

THE CINCINNATI Alumni Chapter celebrated Founders Day, March 1, in rather unique fashion this year. The occasion was a testimonial dinner in honor of Dr. Robert C. Gowdy, Gamma Xi (Cincinnati) '09, recently appointed Dean of the College of Engineering and Commerce, University of Cincinnati, to succeed the late Herman Schneider. Sixty-two members of the alumni group gathered at the Hyde Park Country Club to pay tribute to one of Gamma Xi's charter initiates who has made good in a big way. Among the sixty-two were eight of Doc Gowdy's own classmates, Charles Cummings, Ralph Dimmick, Walter Heuck, Fred Koenig, Jimmy O'Donnell, Bud Quirk, Wally Williams and Max Zange.

Jimmy O'Donnell, now a prominent Cincinnati attorney, acted as master of ceremonies and called on several of the older members of the chapter for short speeches. The meeting was climaxed when Dad Pumphrey, on behalf of the alumni members, presented Brother Gowdy with a pair of solid bronze book ends fashioned to resemble the Delta crest.

A surprise feature of the dinner, and known beforehand to only a few of those present, was the presentation of a testimonial scroll to Dad Pumphrey. This document, printed in purple and gold on parchment paper, was 25 inches by 11 inches, and contained enough blank space at the bottom for the signatures in india ink of every man present. Bob Heuck made the presentation and Howard Fischbach did a swell job of reading the text to the assembly. The complete message was as follows:

"Fame, sought after to a greater or lesser degree by almost every man, can be of two kinds. It can be the type to receive the colorful, frantic applause of the multitude for a hero of the moment, or it can be the type to merit the quiet, heartfelt approbation of a group of men for one of their number. The former flourishes quickly and is as quickly forgotten; but the latter comes into being gradually and gains in strength with each passing year. Only a few are privileged to enjoy it.

"Difficult to express in words are feelings of sincere love and respect. And yet it is the purpose of The Cincinnati Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta to thus honor one of its members who is richly deserving.

"Clarence Pumphrey has served Delta Tau Delta long and well; and especially has he fostered Deltism in Cincinnati. To him, then, already the recipient of all of the Fraternity's known honors, in recognition not only of his work already completed, but of his future contributions to the glory of our brotherhood as well, we, the members of The Cincinnati Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta, present this simple token of our whole-hearted love and affection. As a man and as a Fraternity brother he has earned the right to be called . . . Beloved of Delta Tau.

"Given this first day of March, Nineteen Hundred and Forty at Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Cincinnati Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta
Walter Heuck,
President
Al Clark, Secretary"

Following the dinner the alumni were joined by the actives and the annual bowling party got under way. Beer kegs were tapped, tables were set up for bridge and poker, and as many as could crowd their way onto the six alleys of the Hyde Park Club began the serious business of the evening. It should be noted here in passing that "Doc" Gowdy and his eight classmates referred to above (the nine old men) betook themselves to a quiet corner of the bar and remained there until well after bedtime. No one else was allowed near the sanctuary, but it is rumored that the art of reminiscing reached a height which may never again be scaled in these parts.

The main event at every alumni-active bowling party is the annual battle between picked teams of actives and alumni. Three games are rolled, the winners being decided by the best two out of three.

The party ended with the serving of an ample dutch lunch, following which the bowlers packed up their equipment and set out for home or joined one of the poker games which flourished until nearly dawn. This was one of the best Delt parties ever to be held in Cincinnati, and memory of it is certain to linger long in the minds of many. A complete list of the alumni present follows, just for the record:

Bud Quirk, Miner Raymond, Fred Reese, Bayle Richardson, Eppa Rixey, Les Roemer, Ed Schott, Herb Schroth, Charles Schwarz, Ralph Sigmund, Jac Smith, Bill Stegeman, Vint Stegeman, Pete Stuebing, Bob Todd, Hawley Todd, John Toepfer, Wally Williams, Bob Wuerde-man, Max Zange.

AL CLARK

Clarksburg

THE CLARKSBURG Alumni Chapter has been exceptionally active during the winter months, and we are anticipating continuing meetings throughout the summer. Our luncheons are held on the second Thursday of every month, and we have an average attendance of between fifteen and twenty members. At our last meeting held in March, members voted to place the Clarksburg Alumni Chapter on an active status. Several members have ordered THE RAINBOW, and we have received notice from the Arch Chapter that we are fully recognized as being active. The idea was presented by Anthony McCue who was instrumental in bringing the next Karnea to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The Hope Natural Gas Company has recently moved its main offices from Pittsburgh to Clarksburg, and as a result our list of local Delts has been lengthened. We are most happy to welcome to our ranks S. E. W. Burnside, formerly of Pittsburgh, and Benjamin Robinson, who has been located in Pittsburgh for the past several years. L. L. Davis has also recently moved to our city, and we are happy to welcome him.

During the summer there will probably be several Delt picnics in this vicinity. We take this opportunity of extending a hearty invitation to all Delts who may be in or about Clarksburg at the time these affairs are held to attend these as well as our regular luncheon meetings.

G. BERK LYNCH

Cleveland

JOSEPH G. WOOD, Chi (Kenyon), '28, was elected President of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter at the banquet and annual meeting held February 21 at the Alcazar Hotel. The new president, who in business life is an executive of one of the large Great Lakes shipping companies, has taken the helm like a veteran shipper and is steering his craft into a busy and interesting course. Joe served his apprenticeship as vice president of the Cleveland group under the leadership of Harry Hoffman who retired after two very successful years as president. Other officers elected under the whip of a high pressure nominating committee composed of Harold Hopkins, Jack Finnicum, and Bill Mould, were Lee Roesch, vice president, Randall M. Ruhlman, secretary, A. I. Davenport, treasurer, Herman J. Bartels, assistant secretary and Richard Seaman, assistant treasurer.

Herb Bartling, Alumni Secretary of  $\Delta T \Delta$ , was the principal speaker at the banquet, and he certainly did one grand job. He was "Mr." Bartling to most of the brothers when he arrived in Cleveland, but by the time the evening was over he was "Herb" to every Delt in the city. His rapid fire oratory, his knowledge of  $\Delta T \Delta$  and his own problems as Alumni Secretary, his keen sense of humor and his ability to make friends thrilled every Delt in the hall and made the evening a red letter day in Cleveland Delt history. We certainly like this new Alumni Secretary, appreciate his coming to our banquet and we sincerely hope he will be able to come back and visit us again in the very near future.

Harry Hoffman was as splendid as usual in his dual role of president and toastmaster. He presented Dr. Robert E. Ruedy who welcomed the Delt brothers who were initiated in the afternoon at Zeta Chapter; Ed Hoffman, president of Zeta Chapter, Lee Roesch, and other speakers. Over a hundred Delts attended this affair which was undoubtedly the best of the year.

A stag party was held March 9 at Joe Wood's cabin at Lake Lucerne. During the past year there have been so many of our parties held at Joe's summer home that many of the Delts insist that it is the Delt Country Club.

Plans for the spring and summer include a golf tournament in May, at which we go through the formality of finding out that Frank Pelton is still the champion; a party in June with Zeta; a family basket picnic in July; another golf tournament in August; and a rushing party early in September.

Our monthly Bulletin, published regularly for six years, keeps the out of town Delts in close touch with our organization, and during the last couple of months we have had interesting letters from Ike Watts who is in Washington with the National Wild Life Federation, Judge

Portman from Massillon, Ray Carroll in Florida, Judge Speers in Sandusky, Roy Petty who has been sojourning in Texas, Jack Roesch, corresponding secretary for Senator Taft at Washington, Dave Shannon in Cincinnati, Ray Dolwick in Hartford, Connecticut, C. D. Russell and Duncan Wolcott at Akron, our favorite long distance member Owen Orr at Los Angeles, Clem Frank, Northern Division President, and of course, Hugh Shields, Central Office Manager, Harry Green, Editor of THE RAINBOW, and Herb Bartling.

Two deaths during the month of March brought sadness to the hearts of Cleveland Deltas. James "Toughy" Lind, Zeta '11, and Earl Griffith, Mu '09, were called to the Chapter Eternal. "Toughy" Lind was one of our most loyal and faithful members. He had also served as a chapter advisor at Zeta and was known for the help and assistance he had unselfishly given to many younger members of the Fraternity. During the regime of Mayor Harry L. Davis, "Toughy" was Chief Police Prosecutor for Cleveland, and at the time of his death he was Assistant Law Director for the city.

Earl Griffith, Secretary of State of Ohio, was not a Clevelander, but for a number of years he had considered himself a member of our alumni chapter. He was a close friend of many Cleveland Deltas, and his passing will be felt very keenly by those who wear the Square Badge.

Bill Hecker has been appointed head of a committee to provide a speaker once each month for a luncheon meeting. We had the pleasure of hearing Robert W. Champerlain, Assistant Safety Director of Cleveland, at the April 12 meeting. In May, our own Frank Moran, of the statistical staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer will be the speaker.

The May primary election has, as usual, considerable interest for local Deltas. Tom Herbert, Zeta '15, the present Attorney General for Ohio, is a candidate for re-election. Ray Hyre and Bill Barry are candidates for the State Legislature and certainly merit nomination by their respective parties, Hyre being a Republican and Barry a New Dealer.

Harold Hopkins, Mack Yost, and

Jack Finnicum were among the bloated plutocrats who have recently vacationed in Florida and all three had the pleasure of visiting Ray Carroll at his ranch at Deer Park.

"Gus" Henderson, who is the business promotion expert for the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, has located an especially attractive piece of property at Stuart, Florida. Gus has a vision of establishing a Delt colony at that spot and would like to hear from Deltas who might be interested in the idea.

Karl Ertle, who pilots his cabin cruiser about the Great Lakes, and Eddie Henckle and Ralph Cumming, who are sailboat enthusiasts, are busy getting their craft into shape for the summer season.

Ivan Davenport, recently elected Treasurer of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter, and his assistant, Dick Seaman, are staging a drive for paid-up members and from the way they are going about their task the local brothers will "pay up" or be kept in hot water during the entire year.

George Creed, Tau '31, a member of the Cleveland Parks Department, and J. Albert Stratton, Omega '29, of the Evans Lead Corporation, are newcomers to Cleveland who are taking their places in Delt activities.

John Voegtly, of the B. R. Baker Men's Store, Harold Hopkins of the H. C. Hopkins Security Company, and Jack Finnicum, Electrical Sales, have taken the lead in offering positions in their organizations to young Deltas. This is in line with the policy of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter in lending a hand to the Deltas just out of school and looking for a berth in some type of business.

Bill Mould has suggested that a summer week-end get-together of Deltas from Northern Ohio be held at some central point. President Joe Wood has appointed Mould the chairman of a special committee to make tentative plans for such an outing.

Frank Pelton has been named honorary President of the Ohio Seniors Golf Association.

Sidney Wilson spent most of the winter at Beverly Hills, California, and last month attended the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter's Founders Day celebration. Mark Egan, Director of the Cleveland Convention and Visitors Bureau, has been appointed by Mayor Burton to head a special committee to study the operation and possible competition of Cleveland's great municipal Public Hall. The Mayor believes that Mark may be able to furnish the answer to a greater use for this wonderful auditorium.

The Cleveland Alumni Chapter again wishes to invite all Deltas in the Cleveland area to affiliate with us; and whether or not you can attend our functions we will be very happy to have your name on our roll, to inform you of our activities and to send you our Bulletin if you will send your name and address to the Secretary.

RANDALL M. RUHLMAN

Columbus

DURING JANUARY and February, the Columbus alumni were busy making final preparations for the 1940 Northern Division Conference held in Columbus, February 22, 23, and 24, 1940. Congratulations to Allan W. Greene and his committee, the active chapter at Ohio State, and the Central Office for a most educational and entertaining program. President Paul Hoffman and Brother Bill Dougherty of the Standard Oil Company of New York, together with the Honorable John W. Bricker, Governor of Ohio, were greeted with rousing cheers as they spoke at the final dinner meeting of the Conference.

The alumni of all Ohio suffered a great loss March 30 in the death of Brother Earl Griffith, Secretary of the State of Ohio. Brother Griffith was an enthusiastic Delt, a wise and helpful counselor, and a competent and faithful public servant. The State of Ohio and  $\Delta T \Delta$  will miss him.

Brother Ed Schorr, Republican State Chairman of Ohio, presided over the State Republican Convention at Columbus April 3. Brother Tom Herbert, Attorney General of Ohio, is a candidate for re-election.

HOWARD S. STERNER

Dallas

THE MOST important event in Dallas since the beginning of the year was the annual Founders Day

Banquet held Friday, March 1. There was a great turn out and a number of new faces were seen among those who have been present at our monthly meetings. Elmer Scott, a member of  $\Delta T \Delta$  for fifty-four years, made the main address. The following new officers were elected: Webster Snyder, president; Dallas Addison, vice-president; Sam W. Clark, secretary-treasurer. It was announced that Dean Parlin, College of Arts and Sciences, University of Texas, was to receive a citation to the Distinguished Service Chapter at the dinner to be held in Austin that night. Congratulations were sent to the Dean, signed by each member present.

Great enthusiasm has been shown by the members attending the meetings, and the prospects of a good year are bright. Plans for a new house for our undergraduates at Austin are almost complete, and the Dallas alumni expect to aid greatly in the rushing this summer.

Of new interest in Dallas is the Square Dance group which meets twice a month at the Dallas Tennis Club. "Fonse" Ragland and Allen Wight, as well as Michaux Nash, are some "rug cutters." This craze has hit Dallas by storm and gives the executive who sits in his office all day a chance to use his excess energy.

SAM W. CLARK

Denver

THE DENVER Alumni Chapter held its annual Founders Day Banquet, Saturday, March 2. One hundred twenty-seven Deltas (the largest Denver Delt attendance—outside of the Karnea) were present at what turned out to be a most spirited and very worth-while function.

Entertainment was provided by "Doc" Yegge, his four gorgeous hussies, and Tommy Trollop, Beta Kappa's ace tap dancer, who successfully followed the gals' routine, even to the hip swinging. A speech by Governor Ralph L. Carr, Beta Kappa '10, was the highlight of the evening.

Officers elected at the banquet for 1940-41 are: president, Spencer L. Baird, Kansas University '11; vice-president, H. P. Wolfe, Northwestern University '25; secretary and treasurer, A. Blaine Ballah, Jr., Oregon University '37; and corresponding secretary, Edward A. Sproul, Colorado University '39.

The main objective of the alumni chapter throughout the spring and summer is to coöperate with Beta Kappa for a bang-up rushing season.

A Spring Dinner and Card Party has been planned as the next activity for Delt wives, mothers, sweethearts, and any strong-hearted rushee who thinks he might stand the gaff.

A Beef Steak Fry this summer in Boulders beautiful Flat-Iron Mountains is next on the list. This annual outing is planned primarily for rushees, as they can get an early, and first-hand perspective of the chapter, the house, and the University.

The final activity to wind up the rushing season will be a dinner dance in Denver.

An outstanding group of officers in both the active and alumni chapters is working together in what will be a successful year for Colorado Deltas.

EDWARD A. SPROUL

El Paso

FOUNDERS DAY was celebrated in El Paso with a buffet supper at Hotel Paso del Norte March 2. This was the first Fraternity activity here in several years and all Deltas in town were glad to rally 'round. Fifteen men attended, which is a good turn out for these parts, including Dr. McBride, who drove down from Las Cruces, N. M. The only absentee was Brother John C. Roseborough, class of 1871 at Bethany, and 93 years young. He planned to attend, but was discouraged by a change in the weather. However, an invitation was extended to hold the next Delt meeting at his home. Incidentally, we submit Brother Roseborough as the oldest living Delt and probably the oldest living Fraternity man in the United States; has anyone any other candidates for this honor?

At the suggestion of "Skinny" Darbyshire (Baker) we plan to hold a rush meeting for the desirable high school graduates this spring.

The meeting was then devoted to electing officers, getting acquainted, and consuming food. Hart Ponder (Alabama) was named president of the El Paso Deltas and your correspondent, secretary-treasurer. We determined to meet for lunch on the first Monday of each month at the Paso del Norte. All and any Deltas who happen to be in town on meeting days are cordially invited to attend.

Among those present at the Founders Day meeting were Dr. Scurry L. Terrell, a member of the Rainbow Fraternity at Mississippi and a charter member of the Delt chapter there; his son, Frank; Dr. Harry Varner (Virginia); Orin Toole (DePauw); Jim Howell (Emory), a native of the Gone With the Wind country; Don Rankin (Kansas) and a charter member of Gamma Tau. C. C. Stevens (Baker), who is associated with "Skinny" Darbyshire in the foundry and structural steel business; Jack Weaver (Cincinnati), who recently moved here from Los Angeles; Bill Ramsey (Washington & Lee), who wrangled a couple of good news stories about our meeting; and Tom Turner and Paul Van Cleave, both members of the chapter at Boulder, Colorado.

The meeting closed with a rendition of that perennial classic, Delta Shelter.

FORREST BOECKER

Fort Lauderdale

THE FORT LAUDERDALE Alumni Association had a Founders Day luncheon. The minutes of the Karnea held at Estes Park, Colorado, were read. Many of the brothers expressed their regrets that they could not attend the Southern Division meeting in Savannah. It is rather difficult for members to get away during this season of the year. However, several of the members are making plans to attend the 56th Karnea at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia.

Fox River Valley

THE FOX River Valley Delt alumni met with the former local chapter (Delta Iota) alumni March 7, at the Conroy Hotel. After dinner, the main business of the evening became the disbanding of the former alumni association, and the creating of a new Delta association. The main reason for the action was to facilitate the local chapter's action in providing financial support for the new interfraternity quadrangle project.

The Delts from this section are helping the active chapter to raise sufficient funds necessary to finance their share of the quadrangle. So from this section there will soon be coming the sound of carpenters' hammers, ripping saws, and cheery laughs of Delts.

We understand that when completed the quadrangle will be a unique fraternity housing feature, exclusive to Lawrence College. Is it any wonder the local alumni are beginning to stir and respond to such an idea?

CLIFFORD BURTON

Greater New York

THE ANNUAL Founders Day banquet was held by the New York alumni March 1, 1940. Don Mofett, our president, presided. Over one hundred Delts, representing nearly every chapter of the Fraternity, assembled for a very enjoyable evening. It was thought that Paul G. Hoffman, President of the Fraternity and the Studebaker Corporation, and George W. Brewster would address us. Unfortunately, business matters prevented Brother Hoffman from being present and the untimely death of Brother Brewster left us without speakers.

The committee arranged an interesting entertainment program. Undoubtedly "Popeye" was the outstanding event of the evening. His performance kept the crowd chuckling and laughing throughout and his versatility amazed everyone. This man can do more things with his voice than any six people we know of. The Spanish dancers, the baritone, the male quartet, the soprano, and the rest of the entertainment made it a full evening.

Dave Reeder called the chapters. We heard Omega called so many times that finally we all stood up for Pennsylvania. Cornell did its best to compete, but it was outmaneuvered.

The official part of the dinner ended about 10:30 with a Walk-Around led by Brother Hunt, the oldest Delt present. Brother Hunt can always be counted upon to support our activities and merits a sincere salute. Johnny Tynan, Upsilon '27, worked hard to make this Founders Day banquet the big success that it was. Our hats are off to Johnny! The committee and officers thank the many sponsors who helped greatly in making the banquet a success. I am telling all the alumni in the Metropolitan area that they missed one grand party if they were not present.

As is usual, a great many Delts assembled in the foyer and unburdened themselves of the happenings during the past year. I don't know what time the last one left, but in past years it has been about 4:30 in the morning. Presumably it was as late at this dinner. There is so much to talk over with those whom you haven't seen in some time.

We are continuing our luncheons at the Cornell Club at 107 E. 48th Street. These luncheons are worth anybody's time, so come out and attend them.

We had such a grand time at the final meeting outing last June, which was held at the Pelham Country Club, that it was unanimously voted to celebrate our last meeting in June with an outing and dinner to be again held at the Pelham Country Club. It is an ideal spot for this sort of meeting. The golf course is sporty enough for anyone. The tennis courts are fast and well kept. There is a swimming pool for you to dunk in after golf or tennis, or dunk in all afternoon if you choose. A good dinner out on the terrace overlooking the swimming pool tops the day. A bridge table was set up for Bill Hyatt and others who still had enough energy left to indulge in this game. Last year's outing was a mighty pleasant one and those who did not attend missed a very worth-while gathering. If you like the association and friendship which  $\Delta T \Delta$  offers you, it is your loss if you do not attend the coming outing meeting in June.

The Interfraternity Conference is planning a big dinner in New York, November 29, 1940, at the Commodore Hotel, commemorating its 30th Anniversary. Dave Reeder, who is Secretary of the Conference, announced at our last luncheon that it is expected that 2500 will attend.  $\Delta T \Delta$  has been allotted fifty places at this dinner.

JOHN M. MONTSTREAM

Indianapolis

UNDER THE able leadership of Dale Hodges, Beta Zeta '21, president of the local alumni chapter, and Jess Pritchett, Jr., Beta Zeta '32, vice-president in charge of membership, we have already practically doubled our membership of last year, with more coming in every week.

Three hundred Delts gathered for the annual Founders Day Banquet and Dance held at the Columbia Club, March 2. The principal speaker of the evening was Albert R. Brunker, Omega '03, president and/or past president of practically all of the better known companies throughout the United States. Another feature of the banquet was the awarding of Distinguished Service Citations to two well known Indianapolis Delts, Joe Morgan, Beta Zeta '89, probably the best known and best liked Delt in Indiana, and Henry Hoss, Gamma Lambda '05, whose work through the years has done more to establish his chapter in its present enviable position than that of any other man. After the banquet a dance was held to the music of no less a personage than Warpy Waterfall.

A welcome addition to the Delts of Indianapolis has been Donald B. White, Epsilon '37, now affiliated with Charles B. Dyer, Beta Zeta '03.

One of the leading nuptial events of the spring season will be the marriage of Herbert H. Smeltzer, Beta Zeta '36, to Rebecca Blackley, Delta Gamma '37. In this same vein, it might be added that Kirk Yockey has departed from the ranks of the bachelors and is now a full-fledged, "toe the mark" benedict.

At various times during the course of the winter we have lost, among others, to the lures of the southland Fred Tucker, Beta Beta '08, Jess Pritchett, Jr., Beta Zeta '32, and Dale Hodges, Beta Zeta '21.

Chancing repetition we would again like to extend a most cordial invitation to all Delts in or around Indianapolis on any Friday to stop up at the Columbia Club and have lunch with us.

Kansas City

THE MOST important event in the Kansas City alumni winter activities was the Founders Day Banquet March 8. This affair is planned as an annual get-together of the alumni with the actives of the five chapters located nearby.

The banquet was held at the Hotel Muehlebach, where the Trianon Room was just large enough to take care of the crowd numbering one hundred thirty-five.

President Ken Bates introduced Forest Hanna, who served as toastmaster. Introductions brought out the splendid attendance from the active chapters as follows: Gamma Tau at Kansas University, twenty-two; Gamma Theta at Baker University, eight; Gamma Kappa at Missouri University, twelve; Gamma Chi at Kansas State at Manhattan, one; Delta Omicron at Westminster College, ten.

Prof. Scotty MacFarland, Northwestern Delt, now Dean of Men at K.S.T.C., Emporia, was the speaker of the evening, giving an interesting and inspiring address.

Roscoe Groves then took charge, presenting citations to the Distinguished Service Chapter to Dick Gelvin and Bill Hornbuckle for distinctive service to their respective chapters.

During the evening spirited rivalry broke out between the actives present, which kept things moving at a lively pace.

The final event of the program was the initiation of their honor pledge, Kenneth Nicolay, by the Kansas University chapter.

After this burst of formality, the Kansas City alumni have subsided to their customary level, which we invite you to investigate at one of our Thursday luncheons at the Hotel Continental.

Lexington

THE LEXINGTON Alumni Chapter has developed remarkably the last few months. The chapter has held its regular monthly meetings and the response has been very encouraging. The attendance at these meetings reached a new high in February with twenty-three members present.

At the luncheon meeting held in March we were glad to welcome Jimmy Chapman of Ashland. He dropped in on his way home from Frankfort where he had been a member of the State Legislature.

In April the chapter held a dinner dance for alumni and actives. Among those present were Len Weakley, Walter Vest, and Lawton Daley from up near Cincinnati, and Eddie Beck from Louisville. Alumni and actives present numbered about fifty and all agreed that it should be made an annual event.

Plans are now under way to make this year's Founders Day bigger and better than ever. The possibility of a dinner for the seniors of Delta Epsilon is being considered but no definite plans have been made.

JOHN M. THORN, JR.

Long Beach

A NUMBER of Long Beach alumni joined the Los Angeles group for the annual Founders Day Banquet in Los Angeles. They reported a real Delt "get-together." Otherwise, all is quiet on the Delta activity front in Long Beach.

A. BATES LANE

Los Angeles

MARCH 1 found the Los Angeles chapter gathered one hundred eighty strong at the Elks' Club to celebrate Founders Day and to witness the initiation of eight pledges by the Delta Iota chapter. This attendance figure has been exceeded on only one other occasion.

Many factors contributed to make this one of the outstanding Founders Day Banquets of all time. Brother Right Reverend Robert L. Harris was kind enough to come all the way from San Diego to make the principal address of the evening. Brother Harris is an inspiring speaker, and, while we all enjoyed it to the utmost, his discourse made a particularly profound impression on the newly initiated men.

A significant feature of the evening's entertainment was an unpremeditated exchange of badges between Dr. Hovey L. Shepherd, Beta Sigma '92, and Ex-President Barry Hillard, Gamma Eta '17. Brother Shepherd was so touched at receiving one of our citations for fifty years of service through Barry Hillard that he presented his very old and valuable jeweled badge to Barry in exchange for his. This act climaxed a lasting and close friendship between these two.

Events contemplated in the near future include: (1) Attendance of many alumni at the Annual Delta Tau Delta-Delta Gamma Ball, given by those Houses on the U.C.L.A. campus; this affair to take place at the Ambassador Hotel on May 4; and, (2) Plans are now being made for an important luncheon on May 7 to welcome President Paul G. Hoffman to his old alumni chapter, of which he is one of the past presidents. We are also in the midst of planning our annual Spring Golf Tourney, which will be held during the first part of May.

Memphis

IT is clearly evident that when Editor Green asks an alumni secretary for a letter, he might as well let his hair down and tell all. No use to procrastinate for Harry will keep writing until you send him something.

Memphis Delts extend to all brothers a cordial invitation to drop in and see us during Cotton Carnival Week, May 14-18, a real carnival comparable only to the New Orleans Mardi Gras.

Lieut. Henry J. Amen, Beta Tau, made a quick visit to Memphis Karnea friends recently. He has completed his aviation instruction and is a real army skyman.

Chas. B. McKenzie, Gamma Iota '37, is a new Delt in Memphis. As general agent of the Minnesota Mutual Life Insurance Company, he has Paul Sawrie of Beta Theta as an understudy.

Come graduation in June we are looking forward to the acquisition of some new alumni blood bubbling with enthusiasm.

Miami

JUST BEGINNING to recover from a heavy winter. Local group expects to have several rush parties this summer.

JOHN G. THOMPSON

Milwaukee

THE MILWAUKEE Alumni Chapter celebrated Founders Day March 1, with a banquet held at the City Club. Thirty-three members were present, including one representative from each of the two Wisconsin chapters, Lawrence College and the State University.

Following the dinner colored movies of Mexico were shown under the sponsorship of the American Express Company. Bert Nelson then gave us his version of a Mexican bullfight. Everyone enjoyed his very realistic presentation. Bert, you know, has traveled considerably in the land "south of the border" and never misses a thing.

Representatives from the two Wisconsin chapters told us about rushing plans for the coming summer. They conferred with Stan Guth who is chairman of the alumni rushing committee, and agreed to work with us this year in order to accomplish more for their chapters in the Milwaukee area. Plans were tentatively made to line up some of the best of the graduating seniors in Shorewood and Milwaukee High Schools and have them introduced to key men representing both the active chapters and the alumni group. Brief discussion was also given to the matter of holding a fraternity picnic this summer.

Shelley Watts, who was initiated into  $\Delta T \Delta$  at Beta Zeta about 1896, spoke briefly on the founding of the Fraternity, its growth and development through the years, and its enviable record in scholarship made possible through efforts of the Arch Chapter and coöperation of the undergraduate chapters. Brother Watts is one of our loyal "old-timers" and we can always count on him to be present at Delt functions and to participate actively in the program when called upon to do so.

It was just recently learned that Oscar W. Schmidt, 2448 West Kilbourn Street, Milwaukee, has been ill for the past three years and has been quite seriously ill the past three months. Some of his old college and Fraternity associates might wish to call on him or write him a note of cheer.

Walter Becherer is leaving shortly for an extended tour of Mexico and we all wish him luck. Understand he will be gone for some little time. Hope to see him at the City Club on his return. We'll be waiting for those colored movies we know he will take on this trip. Walter does a lot of globe-trotting and treated us on one occasion to colored movies taken during his tour, "From Capetown to Cairo."

We are continuing our luncheons each Tuesday noon at the City Club. It is hoped that more out of town Delts will take time to drop in and chat with us.

PHILIP K. BERGER

Minnesota

SO MANY worth-while things are being accomplished by the active chapter and the alumni organization at Minnesota that we will not attempt to chronicle them here. The outstanding gathering at the chapter house, February 17, however, should not go unnoticed. The house was full to the point of overflowing with good-natured Delts, wives, and sweethearts. A further tribute to the virile new spirit which has swept Beta Eta during the past two years.

The first Wednesday of each month all good Delts in Minneapolis gather at the Cafe Exceptionale for lunch. When you are in Minneapolis, why not join with us?

FRANK KIEWEL

Nashville

THE NASHVILLE Alumni Chapter held its regular February meeting at the Noel Hotel, Monday the nineteenth. Despite severe weather conditions, twenty-three members were on hand to greet Brother Ken Penfold of the central office. Brother Penfold identified the personnel of the Arch Chapter, the condition of the Fraternity financially and scholastically, and gave a thumbnail sketch of each chapter in the Southern Division.

We consider this meeting as the first important step in restoring Lambda at Vanderbilt. Brother Penfold outlined with us a number of items and procedures that would be necessary in restoring the chapter and for the first time we really feel constructive work has begun.

Present for the first time at one of our meetings were Harold Kapp of Butler and A. E. "Hoot" Gibson of Georgia Tech.

In accord with Brother Penfold's suggestions, various committees were formed and we are looking forward to our next meeting to see the results of several investigations. It is needless to say everyone enjoyed Ken's visit very much and we are hoping he can be with us again very soon.

National Capital

HAVING DISCONTINUED our weekly luncheons this year, opportunities for Washington Delts to get together have been somewhat infrequent. However, as a starter, we had a turn out of fifty alumni at a luncheon in honor of our new president, Paul G. Hoffman, who visited the National Capital in November. At that time plans were made for a Founders Day Dinner. More than eighty alumni celebrated Founders Day with a banquet March 1, at which that old wheelhorse of  $\Delta T \Delta$ , Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, delivered an inspiring address. We also heard from Commander Irving McDaniel, president of the Southern Division, Prof. Norman B. Ames, one of the vice-presidents of the division, and last, but not least, Vic Cahill, who urged, nay, demanded, more and better alumni gatherings. A surprise visitor, and guest, was a former leader of the Washington Alumni Chapter, Carl Fairbank. Camden McAtee, as toastmaster, kept things moving throughout the evening.

A feature of the anniversary celebration was the initiation of ten freshmen by Gamma Eta Chapter. Included in the group of neophytes were the sons of Tom Jackson and Commander David Mitchell, two of the alumni present. We also had the annual election of officers and if the new officers live up to their promises there should be more doings than we have been having.

Washington is a cosmopolitan city. It would be safe to say that ninety per cent of our chapters have alumni here at one time or another. Our alumni directory changes faster than a woman's mind. We will appreciate it if new arrivals in Washington get in touch with the officers of the alumni chapter so as not to be left off our mailing list when we send out notices of forthcoming events.

CLARENCE ARATA

New Orleans

IT IS with a great deal of pleasure that I have this occasion to recount the activities of the alumni chapter of Tulane University in the recent past. I understand that no letter has appeared in this space in recent months and so I would like to report the recent history of our chapter since its reorganization some two years ago.

At that time a small group of Deltas who felt that the alumni organization in New Orleans had begun to lag, banded together and proceeded to gather into their fold a nucleus of about twenty-five alumni who pledged themselves to maintain an active interest in the Fraternity and to attend a weekly luncheon. With this nucleus the luncheon club got under way and has functioned uninterruptedly for two years. At times the attendance has reached large proportions as the result of membership drives and various other enticements engineered by this organized group. At times we have had guest speakers and at other times specific pieces of entertainment, as the movies of our Sugar Bowl game. The organization has been entirely successful in its aim to reunite the various members of the Fraternity in New Orleans, whether from this chapter or not, and we have all keenly enjoyed our association.

In recent weeks we have had the pleasure of having as guests at our luncheons Owen C. Orr, former treasurer, "Pinky" Tomlin, well-known orchestra leader, and John Fisher, traveling secretary.

Our most recent function has been the annual spring undergraduate initiation. It was held this year at the Country Club and was followed by a banquet. The alumni organization took an active part in the initiation for the first time in many years and the occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

In closing, I should like to remind all wandering Deltas that whenever they are able to visit New Orleans the chapter will always be open to them and our regular Tuesday luncheon club will have a place reserved for them.

Peninsula

THE NEWLY formed Peninsula Alumni Association claims a record! A mailing list of less than sixty—a membership of twenty-one. What Metropolitan group can make that claim? At least it's unapproachable in local Delt circles.

The Peninsula, for the information of all non-Californians, is a suburban area extending south from San Francisco to San Jose some fifty miles distant. It embraces Burlingame, San Mateo, Redwood City, Palo Alto, and San Jose.

The new association was conceived to provide Delt activity for alumni finding it impossible to attend the noon meetings with the San Francisco alumni. Instrumental in the founding of the organization were Jud Crary, for many years an Arch Chapter member and Hans Jepsen, President of the Western Division.

The association meets every six weeks for dinner at the Beta Rho chapter house in Palo Alto. Officers are Fred Glover, president, Philip Meyer, vice-president, and Al Horn, secretary.

The last meeting was held during March, in San Jose in an effort to increase the membership among the brothers in the southern part of our realm. One of the worst storms of the year (Chambers of Commerce in Florida and elsewhere please ignore) cut down the attendance somewhat but enthusiasm remained in high gear.

Phil Meyer and Duncan O'Neil deserve a great deal of credit for planning and publicizing the event. Speaker of the evening was Lieut. Carl "Tex" Polifka, army flyer stationed at Moffat Field. "Tex" told some of the "tall ones" that seem to be an aviator's stock in trade.

Although the association is comprised largely of Stanford alumni, enough Californians are represented to have a voice in the bragging over the relative merits of the local chapters. At any rate all arguments end pleasantly enough with the observation that both Beta Rho and Beta Omega give their alumni good reason for pride.

We hope that any readers of THE RAINBOW south of San Jose who have been missed in our mailings will write the secretary at 310 Lorton Avenue, Burlingame, so that we can have you with us at our next meeting. As far as we're concerned the Peninsula Alumni Association can just as well embrace the Monterey Peninsula.

A. T. HORN

Philadelphia

AFTER A SERIES of very successful luncheons at the Robert Morris Hotel in Philadelphia, the alumni brought their season to a climax with the Founders Day Banquet. This celebration was held at the University Club in Philadelphia, March 2, 1940. We had exactly the same number in attendance that we had last year in spite of the rain and snow.

If any of you Deltas want to hear a good, lively, selling introduction of a salesman, you should have heard Gordon Gauthier, Tau '14, chairman of the banquet committee, introduce Edward Rankin, Beta Chi '12, president and toastmaster. The introduction really set off the program with a bang. Our speakers were Alvin E. Duerr, Chi '93, David K. Reeder, Omega '12, and Byrum Samm, ace sports announcer who presented highlights in the 1939 football season with a sporting movie, announced by Mr. Samm. Omega chapter was with us to celebrate both Founders Day and their own initiation. Frank Gardner, Omega '39, furnished music by playing his xylophone and Frank is an artist on that instrument.

The alumni group from Camden, N. J. joined in our banquet and we feel sure that they enjoyed the evening of good Delt fellowship. After the party ended with a Walk-Around, several groups adjourned to one of the club's "special" rooms where stories were exchanged and a few songs sung for another hour.

We all agree that this banquet was one of the best the Philadelphia alumni have had in recent years. Thanks go to the committee for its work and to the speakers of the evening for carrying through an excellent sociable Delt Founders Day.

CHARLES C. GRAY

Pittsburgh

THE PITTSBURGH Alumni Chapter held its annual Founders Day Banquet at the Roosevelt Hotel March 9, at which one hundred fifty local Deltas attended.

A special highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Distinguished Service Citation to Nelson G. Brayer, Beta Omicron '05, and to Walter B. Nissley, Tau '10. The Scholarship Plaque of the Eastern Division was presented to Delta Beta of Carnegie Institute of Technology. Just prior to the banquet the University of Pittsburgh chapter put on an initiation.

Portland (Maine)

THE PORTLAND chapter has been revived and held three meetings so far. One in December, 1939, one in February, and a grand meeting on Founders Day. A temporary organization was effected and a permanent group of officers will be elected at our next meeting in June. Severe weather conditions which unexpectedly arose prevented more Deltas from taking part in our winter program.

Plans are under way for monthly luncheon meetings and we hope to have many more good times together.

O. H. SCHRADER

Portland (Oregon)

THE ONLY group activity we have had in the past month or two has been the monthly bridge parties which are attended by a large percentage of the members. They are very popular out here where it rains once in a while.

Robert Ormond Case, the Saturday Evening Post writer, who is probably familiar to all Deltas, is running for the Portland School Board this month and has the entire alumni chapter out getting petitions signed. For the amount of work we have done, he could be made president.

The other nationally known alumnus, Ernest Haycox, the movie writer, has been in the papers quite a bit of late.

Other than that, nothing has happened except our rushing activities are well under way and should prove effective. We are also planning a Delt smoker that is going to make history as far as we are concerned.

JAMES H. ZILKA

Rochester

WITH THE first long-overdue, anxiously, even profanely awaited signs of spring beginning to remove some of the snow which has long since worn out its welcome, comes the summons to report the late winter activities of the chapter. We can safely say that things in Rochester haven't slowed down any since the last report.

After having started the year with a series of stag events, the boys decided in January that it was time the ladies had an evening out. It was no sooner said than done, and the evening of January 23 a dozen couples gathered for dinner and bridge at the University Club. It turned out to be good business to invite the ladies; they all went home satisfied that their husbands, sweethearts, or what have you, are not falling in with evil companions at the stag affairs.

Next came February and the bowling party. About fifteen Deltas turned out to get themselves some exercise, and if the scores weren't high, the fellowship was. Our hearts were gladdened by the return to the fold of "Doc" Buckley and Howard Cather, who, as far as we'd been able to tell, had been hibernating for the last couple of years.

With the bowling party out of the way, the decks were cleared for some real action in getting ready for the Founders Day Banquet. A change of plans about the middle of February left us in an embarrassing position as far as a speaker was concerned. An SOS to the Central Office met with ace cooperation from Ken Penfold, who, on practically no notice, made arrangements to have Herbert W. Bartling, our Alumni Secretary, come from Chicago to speak at our dinner March 8. From that point on, things were exciting, with Buffalo and Syracuse men to be contacted and some of the local hermits to be persuaded to come out of seclusion. But all the work was rewarded when the big night arrived and forty-four Deltas sat down to dinner with both of our neighbor cities represented, as well as the active chapter at Cornell. Having satisfied the inner man and harmonized on a few of the good Delt songs, the crowd sat back to listen to what the speakers had to say. "Prexy" Herm Norton extended the welcoming hand and outlined the activities and plans of the chapter, and Bob Wilson of Buffalo, "Wit" Witmeyer of Syracuse, and Joe Griesedieck of Cornell, responded for their chapters. And then came Warren Parks, dean of Rochester Deltas, who told us what the Fraternity means to him after forty-seven years of membership. Then came the introduction of Herb Bartling. The pièce de résistance of the program proved to be worth all the work involved to those who had arranged the dinner, and just that much more to those who "just came." The picture Herb painted, of the present position and security of the Fraternity, and future plans for consolidation and expansion in activity was an inspiration to all of us to do our bit toward achievement of the ends in view. The formal dinner ended with the singing of Delta Shelter and a plenty noisy Walk-Around, but nobody went home—for awhile.

Just to round out a good Delt week end, some of the boys dropped down to Ithaca the day following the dinner for the initiation and banquet at Beta Omicron, arranged in connection with our dinner so Bro. Bartling could lend official presence at both events. The initiation was nicely done, and the banquet was a grand party. The half dozen or so who made the trip won't soon forget the cordial and friendly way they were received and treated by the Cornell boys.

And so end the winter activities here in Rochester. But we "ain't daid yet" and come spring we'll prove it with more get-togethers.

CHARLES H. HARPER

St. Louis

EARL PAGE, Missouri, rejoined the regular luncheon group after a two-week visit in Florida. Strictly business according to Earl.

We are glad to welcome Brother Lake, Missouri '39, as a regular at the Monday meetings. Lake is working with the Remington Typewriter office in St. Louis.

Cullen Coil, Missouri, who has been out because of the press of his law business, expects to be a regular attendant for the next few months while the courts are in recess.

The recent installation of the chapter at Westminster has given us five new Delts in St. Louis. So far only Charles Drake has been attending our Monday meetings. We hope to see the others during the summer vacations.

G. H. Buchanan, Jr., North Carolina, enjoyed a nice visit with Mr. and Mrs. Don Holt at Graham, North Carolina, in January. Don is also a North Carolina Delt.

There has been little of special interest since the last issue of THE RAINBOW. We again want to ask that all Delts in St. Louis and vicinity turn out at Monday meetings.

G. H. BUCHANAN, JR.

San Francisco

EVERYTHING is very quiet here in the San Francisco Alumni Association. We had planned on a spring smoker honoring Paul Hoffman, but as his visit never materialized we were forced to cancel this event temporarily, at least. We had A. J. Murphy, Jr. with us at our luncheon last week at which time we had a very interesting informal discussion on the "Delt House System" which plan, by the way, has certainly met with the full approval of our association here. Wish to again stress that the Golden Gate International Exposition of 1940 will open May 27 and we welcome all visiting Delts to lunch with us every Wednesday at the Merchants Exchange Club in the basement of the Merchants Exchange Building at 465 California Street at noon.

Savannah

OVER ONE HUNDRED Delts, representing chapters throughout the South, gathered in Savannah February 14, 15 and 16 to attend the Southern Division Conference. The conference was one of the most successful of all the affairs sponsored by the Savannah Alumni Chapter.

The smokers, luncheons, dances, and oyster roasts, together with the business meetings, were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Our bi-monthly luncheons and business meetings are continuing with great success, our alumni chapter being the only one in this city that can boast of meetings at regular intervals. February 29, the following new officers were elected: Dr. J. W. Hesse, Jr., president, Dr. T. A. Peterson, vice-president, George F. Hoffman, treasurer, and H. W. Coolidge, secretary.

H. W. COOLIDGE

Seattle

THE NORTHWEST Initiation and Banquet sponsored by the Portland alumni, and held February 10 at the Multnomah Hotel, Portland, was a great success. Eighteen Delts from Seattle made the trip.

Friday, March 8, the Founders Day celebration was observed at the Shelter, and approximately twenty-five alumni attended dinner with the active chapter.

The familiar flag pole, that so many pledges enjoyed painting, is no more. The old landmark was removed several weeks ago and Ed Campbell and his gang who carried the seventy-foot splinter from Lake Washington to the chapter house, can enjoy the warmth and luxury of the fireplace and revive old memories. That is, if the boys get around to cutting it up in lengths to burn.

Eddie Feck and Jim Ryan have plans arranged for the big Golf Picnic and Banquet to be held Friday, May 10, at Lakewood Golf Club. Incidentally, Jack Garrett operates the club and promises a real banquet.

Please reserve your tickets if you are in or near Seattle May 10, as this party has all the earmarks of a big time.

BOB WATT

Spokane

HERE IS all the news for the present. E. E. "Spud" Worth of Beta Rho at Stanford—long time stamping ground of Herbert Hoover—is very proud of the arrival of a new son, which is to be named Thomas E., after New York's dynamic racket buster, Dewey.

Tampa

THE MEMBERS of the Tampa Alumni Chapter of ΔΤΔ and a delegation from Delta Zeta at the University of Florida met in Tampa the night of March 8 for the annual Founders Day Banquet.

Alumni members present were:

Royce E. Goodbread; Frank Carter, President Tampa Chapter; A. K. Dickinson, Secretary Tampa Chapter; Harry R. Hewitt; Walter B. Polen; G. W. Emory; Gail Baughman; Bruce Campbell; Dr. George F. Weber; John O. McKinley; John L. Fisher; Hugh K. Jameson; H. Marion Monroe; George C. Lee; Dr. Ross Armour; E. W. Richardson; Burwell Jordan; Jesse L. Keene; and Syd Lenfesty.

Members of the active chapter at Gainesville attending were:

T. J. Drake; Clem C. Crossland; M. N. Owen; Robert C. Sheldon; George E. Allen; Frank Cushman; Richard Howes, Jr.; John J. Diem; Robert A. Cushman; Jim Mitchell; and Jack Jourdan.

Reports of the Karnea at Estes Park and of the meeting of the Southern Division Conference at Savannah were made by Brothers Weber and Jourdan respectively, and colored movies of Delta Shelters throughout the South and a colored film of the Karnea proved very interesting to all of those who attended this happy get-together.

Members of the Tampa chapter are planning to meet in St. Petersburg with Delt members there and other Delts of Pinellas County. One of the purposes of this meeting will be to arouse the interest and secure the coöperation of Delts in Pinellas County in helping the Tampa chapter to put on a sub-freshman dance this fall.

Any Delts travelling through this part of the country will be most welcome at any of our monthly meetings which are held, as stated before, the first Friday in each month at the Bay View Hotel, and the writer will be glad to have any visiting Delts stop in to see him at the Tampa Chamber of Commerce.

A. K. DICKINSON

Toledo

THE TOLEDO Alumni Chapter, I regret to report, has been inactive. A few attempts have been made to arouse the interest of some seventy to eighty good Delts in this vicinity but only recently was found the necessary spark plug in Robert B. Evans, now chief sports announcer of radio station WSPD located here. Bob has been very insistent that we reorganize. I believe his enthusiasm has created sufficient interest among a few of the brothers so that we may be hopeful of being able to report an active alumni association at an early date.

R. W. DIEMER

Toronto

THE YEAR'S activities at Toronto have as usual been up to the same high standard. President Hardy has done an excellent job as head of the alumni. He has now been appointed chapter adviser to the active chapter, which will be our loss and their gain in the executive field.

Nothing like a pat on the back for the old morale.

Two meetings have come and gone since our last letter. One was a wow and the other just a semi-wow. The meeting at Jack Wilson's was both profitable and entertaining, the chapter securing two new rugs as a result. The formal party under the direction of the actives was poorly attended by the alumni.

Our April meeting will find Stew Graham as host at the Victoria Club where curling will be the attraction and for the capitalists brothers of the chapter billiards may be enjoyed for a small fee.

The Army, Navy, and Air force are still claiming many of our members—even the active chapter is contributing honor students before their examinations.

The deadline is now upon us so the remainder of this most interesting little report is slashed. Anyone wishing further gossip of the doings may find it out by paying their fees and inquiring from the treasurer.

CHAS. E. HAWKE

Tulsa

DON EMERY, vice-president and general counsel of Phillips Petroleum Corporation, Bartlesville, was about the only Delt in these parts who did not attend the annual Founders Day dinner at the University Club. Don, who was to have been the principal speaker, had to rush off to New York City at the last moment on business. Our good brother Everett R. Filley of Houston, Texas, surprised us by arriving in time to give an excellent account of Delt history. Frank Long, Judge Redmond S. Cole, Harvey Heller, and J. C. Pinkerton started the program with interesting and witty tales of college days on their respective campuses.

On the heels of our Founders Day came the final preparations for our annual Easter Dance which was given March 23 in the spacious ballroom at the University Club. Four hundred members and guests of the Tulsa Alumni Chapter danced and frolicked to the sweet music of Don Victor and his eighteen swingsters. Dance Chairman Bob Bates spared no effort to make this dance a really outstanding event.

All evening cameras clicked and lights flashed as photographers attempted to capture on film the spirit of gaiety which permeated the scene within the replica of a spring garden which the decorations committee had so elaborately and beautifully provided to such an extent that they had ordered thousands of real spring flowers imported from sunny California.

Jack Harbin, Norbert Proctor, Bill Grimshaw, Lawrence Wilson, Bert Bass, John Hoover, and Burdette Smith spent days and days working on the dance and their efforts were well rewarded by the many comments of extreme satisfaction expressed by members and guests that such a well-organized dance could be put over by an alumni group of a Fraternity. The great amount of good will which resulted from such a fine dance will aid, to no little extent, in our fall rush program and adds again to the high esteem to which dear old Delta is looked upon in these parts. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bates headed the receiving line which was taken over by Lawrence Wilson and Ronald Johnston when guests began arriving in large numbers filling the ballroom to capacity. Dave Stafford and Byron Cain headed committees which kept the party going smooth. There was just nothing left undone and recognition can not be given to all who deserve it, individually, because everyone did all they could to make it such a successful party. Park Davis, Major Perrine, J. C. Pinkerton, G. H. Galbreath, Dr. J. O. Lowe, Harlan Trower, John Wamsley, Gene Buchanan, Clark Taylor, Lawrence Ries, Russell Pride, Jack Reilly and Herrick Babcock were among those who had large tables for themselves and guests.

Robert Van Horn was host for visiting actives from the University of Oklahoma and surrounding chapters. Over twenty-five from Delta Alpha were present with their beautiful coed dates from all over the state. During an intermission Cleve Hall, blond crooner from O. U., sang the Pansy Song of Delta Tau, the beautiful Delta song that "Pinky" Tomlin wrote when an active at Norman. A few choruses of good old Delta Shelter brought to an end as fine an event as this alumni chapter can expect to sponsor—until that day when we'll be your hosts at a Karnea.

Wichita

PERHAPS THE most important thing we have accomplished since the first of the year is our regular (and I do mean regular) monthly luncheons. They are held the last Wednesday of the month at the Wichita Club and we have had from twenty to twenty-five at every luncheon so far.

In January we had election of new officers: Max L. Hamilton, Gamma Tau, is president; Bob Dice, Gamma Chi, is vice-president; S. R. Hawes is secretary; and Jack Spines, Jr. is treasurer. These new officers have done a fine job to date in getting such a good attendance to the luncheons and I think that with the renewed interest the Wichita Alumni Chapter will be much more active than it has been for the last several years.

We are especially proud of the four boys from Wichita who pledged Delt this year and we are planning some good rush parties during the summer in the hope that we will be able to keep up the standard in years to come.
