The President Reports

Thanks to the efforts and skill of Dr. Fred Kershner, our Supervisor of Scholarship, and to the growing realization among undergraduates that the scholastic side of college deserves primary attention, we had more chapters above the All Men's Average last school year than for some time past. This is a solid accomplishment, but we are reminded that we have a long way to go in this direction by seeing more chapters go on scholastic probation than were removed.

An item of news which is completely on the credit side is our acquisition of Al Sheriff as Administrative Assistant, as recounted elsewhere in this issue. One of the many benefits of having a man like Al on the staff is that Hugh Shields will be enabled to devote more of his talents to long-range planning. Welcome aboard, Al!

Still another credit item is that pledging reports following fall rush indicate a universally successful rush and an apparent increase in scholastic selectivity. It is encouraging to see that more chapters realize the futility of pledging men who have no reasonable assurance of ever being initiated.

Of the seven chapters which I have been able to visit this fall, three—Santa Barbara, Whitman, and Washington State—are in desperate need of housing and at least one other—Oklahoma State—is also in the desperate category. New approaches and vigorous efforts are being made both on the local and national levels, and all concerned are determined that proper housing will be furnished in these instances. Yet, housing certainly is our most difficult problem and with building costs what they are, and the inherent limitations on what size Loyalty Fund or other loan any chapter can repay, we are faced with a gap which cannot be filled, in many cases, until the Centennial Development Fund gets off the ground. It is now just hovering over the launching pad, waiting for more of you Good Delts to get aboard.

The National Interfraternity Conference in Los Angeles pointed up the fact that Delts are not alone in practicing "lifelong allegiance, service, and loyalty" to the Fraternity, but I doubt that we are excelled. The mail

Epsilon Eta Chapter Installed At East Texas State

By FRED B. SMITHWICK, JR., Gamma Eta, '55

Epsilon Eta's charter initiates are, kneeling: RUTHERFORD, MINTER, CARR, BOND, WINGATE, CURTIS, and ATHERTON. Standing: MILLER, THOMPSON, ADAMS, EUBANKS, McCOLLUM, BEENE, MOORE, JENSEN, COOPER, BUTLER, BLACKSTONE, HARPER, and TRAPP. Not pictured are: GAITHER, ROBBINS, TURBEVILLE, and WILSON.

THE OPULENCE OF Texas hospitality was poured out again to Delta Tau Delta as Delts came from the far corners of the country—and the world—to witness the birth of our eighty-ninth chapter. Epsilon Eta was installed January sixth, 1961, in the magnificent new Sheraton Hotel in Dallas' famed Southland Center.

Delts gathered to welcome 27 new brothers of the "Purple, White and Gold" into the fold of our dynamic group of chapters in the great Southwest. Also on hand to celebrate were the 30 enthusiastic pledges of the former Cavalier Club of East Texas State College, now the home of the flag of Delta Tau Delta. East Texas State College claims residence in the little (yes!) Texas town of Commerce, known to exuberant Dallasites as a thriving suburb, 60.4 miles east of Southland Center, as the crow flies.

A relatively new organization, the Cavalier Club, now Epsilon Eta, nonetheless made its mark upon the life of East Texas State in its 11 years on the campus. Counted in its ranks are the current president and vice-president of the student senate. In a somewhat twisted relationship, Fred Wingate, president of Epsilon Eta turns out to be the vice-president, while Pledge Bob Baker holds the No. 1 spot on the East Texas State campus.

A worthy undertaking of Epsilon Eta is the establishment of a scholarship to the College, to be awarded annually, and sustained by funds earned by the chapter through various activities during the year.

Very much as if at a small Karnea, the assembled Delts displayed the true spirit of Delta Tau Delta in many ways. Even before the big day itself arrived, such loyal brothers of the Distinguished Service Chapter as "Cap" Runyan, Baker, '20 and Eldridge C. Thompson, Colorado, '21, were seen checking in and renewing old acquaintances. Brother Runyan claimed he had to come to Dallas to make up for his having to leave the Karnea early on account of illness which struck him at Swampscott. Brother Thompson required no excuse to come see the new chapter installed, for it was he who spearheaded the last such undertaking at Huntsville, Texas, when Epsilon Zeta was installed.

Then there were James Vaughan, Wayne Wilkie, Payson Adams, and Jerry Powell, of a later vintage, all actives at Delta Omicron who made the long trip from Fulton, Missouri with their spark-plug and adviser, Robert W. Kroening.

Speaking of traveling long distances, who holds the record to top that established by Gerry L. Seber, alumnus of Sam Houston State, who came all the way from London, England, just to be initiated with this group?

One could never forget that seven Delts journeyed from the University of Oklahoma to perform the Rite of Iris with such emotional impact that the word "excellent" was an enormously inadequate adjective. To Charles E. Buchner of Delta Alpha, who led the Rite of Iris, must go every credit for the impact this splendid part of our Ritual made upon the new chapter.

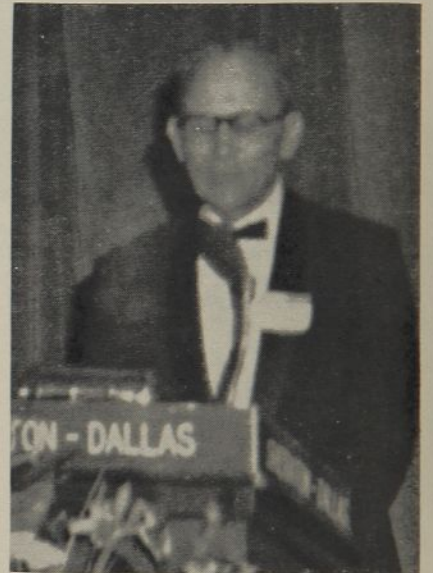

While traveling considerably less distance, the initiation team from Texas Christian University's Epsilon Beta Chapter, led by President Gary C. Hamrick, did no less a marvelous rendition of the Ritual. Brothers Krueter, Monday, Roberson, Peterson, Tillinghast, Ohlen, and Mazzard performed each penetrating section of the Ceremony of Initiation with precision, understanding, and persuasion. None could avoid the moving experience which the recalling of the Fraternal Vow brings. Especially was this true for our fine new brothers of Epsilon Eta who had worked so diligently for that hour when they, too, could say the proud words: "I'm a Delt."

But with equal feeling, if not even greater, there were three Delts sitting together who were also moved by the occasion. These were the charter members of Texas' first chapter, Gamma Iota of the University of Texas. Walter Pope, Dr. R. B. McBride, and Paul Platter had all displayed that loyalty of which President Gilley was to speak later, and joined with their brothers to give honor to Epsilon Eta.

Very much in evidence at the functions were the mainstays of the Dallas Alumni Chapter, which hosted the Fraternity. Lt. General Albert Sidney Johnson, Texas, '19, William C. Herndon, Texas, '49, Lloyd Birdwell, Texas, '40, and the Rev. Grover C. "Tex" McElyea, Ohio Wesleyan, '48, all worked long and hard to make the day a memorable one. It came as a shock to many of the Delts to see "Tex" McElyea without a cash register in front of him. Those perennial Karnea-goers always recognize Father Tex as the most trusted man in Delta Tau Delta, for he always presides over the cash register at Karnea time.

When dinner time arrived, the large group of Delts and their ladies left the conviviality of the social-reception to seat themselves to a Texas feast and get a look at all the dignitaries and officials seated at the head table. It was easy to see the obvious look of pleasure upon the faces of President Gilley, Vice-President Nichols, and the other Arch Chapter members. Those present would all agree that the momentum with which Delta Tau Delta continues to grow and forge ahead in the Southwest will pay endless dividends to the Fraternity. This is particularly true in Texas, which has received four new chapters in scarcely five years. Each new group has seemed more vibrant than the last, a tribute to the loyal alumni who seek out these clubs, and to those others who nurture them into becoming a living justification of the confidence shown when Delta Tau Delta accepts them as its own.

Epsilon Eta is very fortunate in having as its adviser, Dr. Arthur N. Pullen, Tennessee, '46. It was announced at the dinner that Dr. Pullen, who is also head of the department of biology at ETSC, had become the recipient of the Piper Award, an outstanding accomplishment granted annually to only ten professors in the United States. Under Dr. Pullen's dedicated assistance and counsel, Epsilon Eta is well on the road to great accomplishment.

On hand from ETSC also, was J. W. Rollins, dean of men. Dean Rollins graciously received Delta Tau Delta to the campus, and kindly relayed a very favorable commentary on the Fraternity. Speaking of his investigation into the suitability of Delta Tau Delta, Dean Rollins observed that when he wrote to the dean of men at the University of Texas, he received the assurance that "he could not go wrong with Delta Tau Delta." Epsilon Eta thus acquired a mighty standard to meet.

Because of the untimely arrival of a virus attack, our loyal and true brother, Justice Tom C. Clark, Texas, '22, was unable to make his scheduled appearance as the main speaker of the evening. Brother Clark probably suffered as much regret at not being able to come to Dallas as those who looked forward to seeing him and renewing acquaintances with this still active Delt. Need it be said that Brother Clark is also a loyal and true native of Dallas?

In the Justice's stead, President Bob Gilley bravely undertook the task of being main speaker and captivated his audience with a forthright statement of the meaning and purpose of Delta Tau Delta. With his usual wit and presence, Brother Gilley afforded the group an insight into the personality of Delta Tau Delta as well as its philosophical nature. Charging Epsilon Eta, he admonished the new brothers to remember always that a century of sacrifice and effort had gone into the one day just ended, and that each of them should study the Ritual they had witnessed, and then live it, every one of them, always as men.

Texas is enormously proud of its five Delt chapters, and looks forward to the future bringing at least that many more. After all, despite the brash claims of that newcomer, Alaska, Texas and Texans are still growing. The establishment of our 89th chapter in the great state of Texas proves this more eloquently than any words that might issue from the "Lone Star State."

Goodwin New Texas Tech President

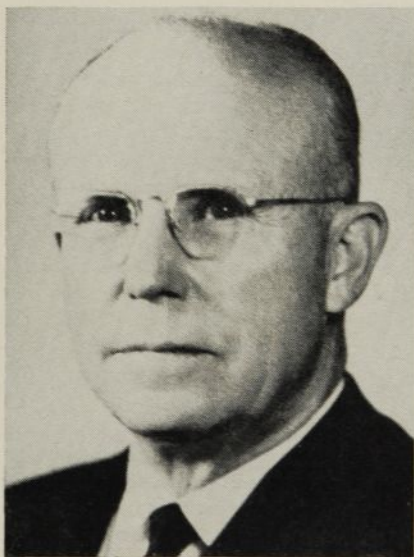

DR. ROBERT C. GOODWIN, Texas, '18, was inaugurated as the seventh President of Texas Technological College on December 9, 1960.

Dr. Goodwin was helpful in the events leading to the installation of Epsilon Delta Chapter of the Fraternity on the Texas Tech campus several years ago and has served as secretary of the Epsilon Delta House Corporation.

On the Texas Tech campus he is known as a man who gets things done. As one Tech official put it, "Maybe he will tell you no. But if he does, you get the answer in a hurry and can turn your attention to other matters."

President Goodwin is no cloud-riding academician or administrator either. As a chemist, he has been an industrial consultant as well as teacher. He is coholder of a patent on a method of accelerating vulcanization and has been recognized for his research on the removal of fluorides from public water supplies.

His administrative abilities, however, have caused him to be "drafted" from the classroom and laboratory and into Tech's graduate school deanship (1938), Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences (1945), and academic vice-presidency (1959). In September, 1959, he was named acting president of the College. This past August he accepted the presidency and was inaugurated in December.

Dr. ROBERT C. GOODWIN

A native of Brownwood, Texas, he holds a bachelor of arts degree from Howard Payne College, a master of arts degree from the University of Texas, and a doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard University. He joined the Texas Tech faculty in 1930, as head of the chemistry department, going to Lubbock from the University of Florida.

Visitors to the President's office are usually impressed by the beautiful floral arrangements. The interesting thing about these floral displays is that they are from Dr. Goodwin's garden, for he relaxes from his executive pressures by practicing horticulture as a hobby. He holds several blue ribbons from flower shows and probably is best known for his development of a special dahlia which he has named "Red Raider," the nickname for Texas Tech's athletic teams.

Dr. Goodwin is a Presbyterian, Mason, and Rotarian. He is a member of the American Chemical Society; the American Association for the Advancement of Science; Sigma Xi, a graduate research society; and numerous other professional organizations.

He served in the United States Navy in World War I and later served in the United States Army Reserve, rising to the rank of captain. In 1929, he married Constance Bishop.

Delta Tau Delta congratulates Texas Tech on its choice of a president and extends to Brother Goodwin its best wishes as he undertakes the leadership of this fast-growing, rapidly-developing West Texas college.

Sheriff Named Administrative Assistant

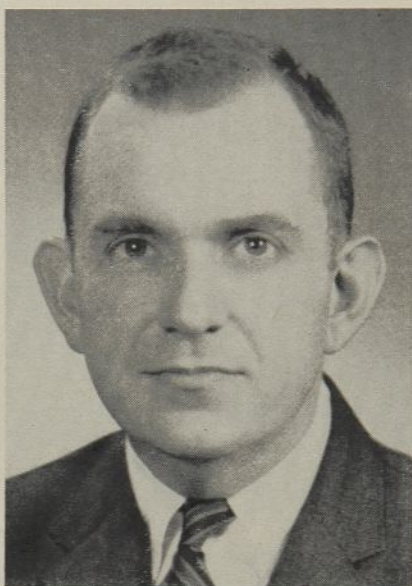

ALFRED P. SHERIFF, III, W. & J., '49, has been appointed as Administrative Assistant to Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields.

In its June meeting, the Arch Chapter passed a resolution authorizing Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields to proceed immediately with creating a post of Administrative Assistant and, without delay, to select a man to fill such new position. Indicative of the careful planning and administration of the affairs of the Fraternity, the resolution was passed for the purpose of assuring that when the time inevitably arrives that Mr. Shields retires, a successor will be already prepared to take over and continue the orderly and efficient operation of the national headquarters.

Even before the conclusion of the Swampscott Karnea, several considered to possess the necessary qualifications for the position were contacted relative to their interest in applying for the position. Throughout the remainder of the summer and early into the fall, contacts were made, interviews were held, and deliberations took place. The Fraternity was fortunate in having several candidates for the new post who possessed outstanding qualifications from both experience, educational, and personality standards.

When the Arch Chapter gathered in Indianapolis for its fall meeting, the potential candidates had been narrowed to two. These men both appeared before the Arch Chapter meeting and were interviewed for a final time. Many questions were freely asked and as freely answered. It was a difficult decision to make for either of the two men would be more than satisfactory. It was a tribute to the Fraternity that men who had achieved their status and position in the business world would be willing to give up the positions they had attained in exchange for full-time duty with Delta Tau Delta.

It is also a compliment to Al Sheriff that he survived the "cut" and was employed as Delta Tau Delta's Administrative Assistant. In his new position, scheduled to start in February, he will serve as special assistant to Hugh Shields. He will have the opportunity of participating in the operation of the Central Office and will become thoroughly familiar with its methods and policies. He will also have a certain amount of traveling to do as he visits undergraduate chapters, alumni chapters, and attends events of Fraternity interest. Such visits are contemplated to be of "special assignment" nature, as compared to the periodic or routine visits of the field secretaries.

Many members of the Fraternity have already had occasion to meet and know Al Sheriff as he is certainly no stranger to Delt activities. He served as a field secretary for three years following his graduation from W. & J. in 1949. He has also served on the Central Office staff at several of the recent Karneas, usually having the responsibility of preparing the Model Initiation team for its work. Al has been a most active member of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter, serving as its secretary, its vice-president, and its president, at one time or another.

For those Delts who have not yet had the pleasure of knowing the new administrative assistant, his educational and business background will be of interest. Al was born in Cadiz, Ohio, and was educated in the public schools there. He started his college career at Purdue, but after one semester there, he transferred to Washington & Jefferson College. He was initiated into the Fraternity at W. & J.

and served Gamma Chapter as chairman of several committees and as vice-president of the chapter. Al was an outstanding student and was a member of several honorary societies for both activities and political science, his academic major. Following his graduation, he served with distinction as field secretary for the Fraternity. His experiences in this capacity serve as an excellent background for his new connection with the Fraternity. He resigned as field secretary to enter Western Reserve School of Law, receiving his LL.B. degree in 1955. He has been admitted to practice by the State of Ohio and by the Federal District Court for Northeastern Ohio. Upon graduation from law school, Al accepted employment with the Central National Bank of Cleveland, where a brother Delt, Loring L. Gelbach, Penn State, '15, was president, and a dozen or so other Delts were employed.

After gaining general banking experience in the branch operations of the bank, Al was assigned to the operating department of the bank, which department is charged with the day-to-day operations of the main office of the bank and the branches. After approximately a year and a half in the commercial end of the bank, he joined the bank's trust department. He now comes to the Fraternity from this position. Certainly, his legal training and the varied experiences he has had in the field of banking provide Al with a wonderful source of knowledge and experience to apply to his new endeavors.

Al is an eligible bachelor, never having excursed into the field of matrimony. His hobbies and outside interests include golf, hunting, and fishing. He is a member of the Ohio and Cleveland bar associations; the estate planning council of Cleveland; the Western Reserve School of Law board of governors; the alumni council of Western Reserve University; the Cleveland Junior Chamber of Commerce; and he is a Mason.

Indeed, Al Sheriff has been a "working" member of the Fraternity. His love and enthusiasm for the Fraternity are boundless. He is an advocate of the fraternity system and a strong be-

NIC Elects Its Fourth Delt Chairman

THE 51ST ANNUAL SESSION of the National Interfraternity Conference met at the Hotel Ambassador in Los Angeles on November 24, 25, and 26, 1960. Of particular interest to members of the Fraternity was the election of Joel W. Reynolds, Tufts, '23, Past President of Delta Tau Delta, as its Chairman for the coming year. Brother Reynolds joins three other Delt who have preceded him as chairman of the NIC.

James B. Curtis, Butler, '80, the 11th President of the Fraternity, was one of the organizers of the Conference and served as its Chairman in its early days. A. Bruce Bielaski, George Washington, '04, President of Delta Tau Delta from 1919 to 1925, member of the Committee of the Distinguished Service Chapter, also served a term as NIC chairman. Alvan E. Duerr, Kenyon, '93, who followed Mr. Bielaski as President of the Fraternity, was one of the few men who have served two terms as NIC Chairman.

Those Delt who attended the Swampscott Karnea last June and recall the efficient, well-planned program of Joel Reynolds, Karnea Chairman, can well understand the logic of the Conference in selecting Brother Reynolds as its Chairman. He was first elected to the executive committee in 1956. Since that time he has served, successively, as secretary, as treasurer, as vice-chairman, and now as Chairman. He has made a notable and worth-while contribution to each of the positions he has served.

Delta Tau Delta's official delegates to the Conference were Mr. Reynolds and President Robert W. Gilley, Washington, '30. Among other members of the Fraternity in attendance were: Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields; Past President Francis M. Hughes; Past Treasurer Howard D. Mills; Editor of THE RAINBOW Edwin H. Hughes; Dean Joseph D. Boyd, DePauw, '48; Richards Barger, Indiana, '50; Dean Eldon E. Park, Nebraska, '54; Dean Wallace W. Taylor, Jr., Alabama and Emory, '46, and the following undergraduate members of the Fraternity, IFC representatives to the Conference from their respective schools: Dick Wallace, Kentucky; Phil Dunham, DePauw; George Slade, Emory; Carl Osterman, Arizona; Bill Heron, Pittsburgh; Tom Aitken and

JOEL W. REYNOLDS

Jerry Tubbs, Oklahoma, and Jim Johnson, Wabash.

In addition to the general business sessions and the panel discussion forums, the high lights of the Conference were the opening luncheon, at which Pete Newell, California's director of athletics and coach of the victorious United States Olympic basketball team, was main speaker; the Conference banquet, humorously toastmastered by Rudy Vallee and featuring outstanding addresses by Senator Barry Goldwater and Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, Chancellor of U.C.-L.A., and the Fraternity reunion luncheon, held in the world-famous Coconut Grove ballroom of the Hotel Ambassador.

It was an interesting and worthwhile Conference. It gave Delts an opportunity to be proud of one of its members, Joel Reynolds, and to be proud of their Fraternity as it measured up well in comparing and discussing the accomplishments and programs of the various member fraternities. We can all have the utmost assurance that the affairs of the National Interfraternity Conference will be well administered under the capable guidance of Brother Reynolds during the current year.

One Hundred Years Ago Today

By WILLIAM D. SHAW, W. & J.

*Now listen all Delts of great reknown,
And hear of the ride of Sutton and Brown.*

*T'was in the winter of sixty-one
That these two great Delts made their run.*

*Twenty-two miles rode Sutton and Brown
Through snow and hail to Bethany-town.*

*And the reason they rode is now common knowledge,
T'was to bring Delta Tau to Jefferson College.*

*And so it was, through the great Civil War,
That the new Gamma Chapter kept open its door.*

It was a cold, bleak, winter's day that encompassed Cannonsburg's Jef-

erson College. Rhodes Sutton and Sam Brown were sitting beside the old potbellied stove discussing the merits of being a Delt. Both men thought that now was the time that "Deltism" should move on and grow like the wild honeysuckle. So they rode to Bethany College, which was then Alpha Chapter, and were initiated into Delta Tau Delta. Following the initiation, they returned to Cannonsburg and established a new Delt chapter. Then, when Washington Seminary merged with Jefferson College, to form what is currently Washington and Jefferson College, a new name was designated, thus establishing Gamma Chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

With this great history and tradition behind us for the past century, Gamma Chapter of Delta Tau Delta has been an outstanding source of inspiration and leadership to the college community and to the Fraternity as a whole. Through her portals have passed many footsteps "great and small." The friendships and memories of these Delts have enriched and enhanced our lives in many ways.

Brother Harry Birmingham, W. & J., member of the Distinguished Service Chapter, leading member of the house corporation since his undergraduate days, will act as honorary chairman and coordinator for the Centennial Celebration commemorating our 100 years of continuous existence. With his committee, consisting of members of the house corporation, alumni, and undergraduates, Brother Birmingham is formulating plans for this historic event, which will take place in Washington, Pennsylvania, on Saturday, February 25, 1961.

Gamma Chapter extends a hearty welcome to all Delts and their ladies, to share with us this occasion. Tentative plans include a ladies' program, initiation, reception, and banquet at the George Washington Hotel.

Now join us Brother Delts and sing our song.

Of the One Hundred winters that we've come along,

*Aye! It's One Hundred years since
we've opened our door,*

And it shall be opened for ten hundred more.

So, help us to celebrate all that's been done

In the One Hundred years that Gamma has come.

DSC Cites Four Delts

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CHAPTER has cited four Good Delts to membership this fall. They are Kenneth W. Kressler, Lafayette, '16, who received his Citation at Nu Chapter's Shelter on November 18. Past President G. Herbert McCracken, Pittsburgh, '21, a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter Committee, presented the Citation to Dr. Kressler. The editor of the Fraternity's latest songbook, Carr Liggett, Ohio, '16, was presented his Citation by Henry Eccles, Ohio, '15, who had put the pledge button on Brother Liggett some 45 years previously. The presentation was made in Cleveland. During the 50th anniversary celebration of Gamma Omicron Chapter on October 29, Past President Norman MacLeod, Pittsburgh, '17, a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter Committee, presented a Citation to Clifford N. Strait, Syracuse, '23. The fourth Citation was presented in Houston, Texas, to Eldridge C. Thompson, Colorado, '21. Brother Thompson's Citation was presented by Silas B. Ragsdale, Sr., Texas, '18, a member of the DSC, who was acting on behalf of the Committee.

The texts of the four Citations are as follows:

As a Good Delt, he has brought true credit not only to the Fraternity but also to his church and to the business and civic circles of his community.

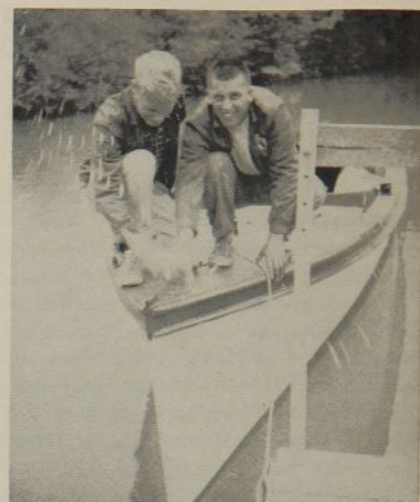

Cornell Delts Arrive by Boat

By ROBERT M. JACOBY and PETER A. EVELETH, Cornell, '61

THREE BETA OMICRON DELTS arrived at Cornell for the fall semester in a 30-foot open utility boat. The vessel, a 50-year-old Fay and Bowen, was acquired by Brothers Pete Eveleth, Schenectady, New York, and Bob Jacoby, Washington, D. C., from Camp Chingachgook, a YMCA camp on Lake George, New York, where they worked as counselors this summer. The boat, formerly owned by a fish and game club, was donated to the camp several years ago after it had been submerged three days on the bottom of Lake George. Since then the boat has been the property of the camp but has been unusable because it needed so many repairs to make it shipshape. The two Delts undertook the job of repairing the boat with the understanding that it would be theirs if they would only remove it from the premises. After spending two months laboring on the 1924, 32-horsepower Red Wing marine engine, and after repairing, caulking, and painting the hull, the two were satisfied that the boat would eventually operate, and they began plotting their trip to Cornell, in Ithaca, via the New York State barge canal system.

During the final days of preparation, the pair were joined by Brother Roger Demler, Cornell, '61, of Arlington, Virginia, for the purpose of assisting in the wiring of the boat. The three spent several days gathering the necessary provisions for the trip. Included were three deck chairs, four flashlights, one large cook kit, sleeping bags, a broom, 120 pounds of powdered milk, two tuxedos, 100 feet of line, one anchor, a Coleman gas stove, and a "partridge in a pear tree."

On Tuesday, September 13, the boat was transported 20 miles overland from the camp to Fort Ann on the Barge Canal, where it was officially christened the "Frigit," and launched.

The trip was 281 miles, a distance which took the "Frigit" through 37 locks in the canal. It was estimated that the journey would take a maximum of three days. Despite the failure of the magneto, battery, generator, water pump, Bendix gear, oil pump, steering apparatus, head gasket, and other more minor parts, the trio managed to reach Fort Edward by midnight, after going 12 miles.

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday were spent in Fort Edward, impatiently awaiting the repair of the engine. At 2:00 p.m. Friday they again embarked on their journey, and arrived in Schenectady, the home of Brother Eveleth, at 1:00 a.m. the following day. Saturday morning they were interviewed by a reporter of the Schenectady Union-Star, who wrote a feature article on the voyage. That day they travelled a distance of 108 miles to Oneida Lake, where they got a few hours of sleep. On Sunday they crossed Oneida and passed through the last lock on Lake Cayuga at nightfall. With Bob Jacoby at the helm, for the first time not in open water, they managed to get through the lock only to get entangled in the weeds of the Montezuma marsh. Bob provided much comic relief on the trip with his inept piloting of the "Frigit."

On the sixth day out, the "Frigit"

All Delt Football Team for 1960

FOR THE FIRST TIME in many a year, the attempt was made this year to select a true all-star team from the strong squad of 88 Delt footballers. One extra man was chosen for each position, resulting in an All Delt team composed of 18 outstanding performers. The team was selected from the list of players sent in by the chapters and, as might be expected, there undoubtedly are some Delt players of fine capability who have not been considered due to the fact that we did not have information concerning them. With perhaps five exceptions, the members of the team played for schools recognized as major teams. Due to the fact that these schools received more newspaper, radio, and television publicity, the men who played for them were better known and had an advantage in the selections. However, there were outstanding stars on many of the smaller school teams.

There were the usual number of team captains, all-conference selections, most valuable players, leading ground gainers, and participants in bowl and all-star games.

The complete Delt squad, as submitted, is as follows:

ENDS

A total of 20 ends provides this position with the largest number of candidates on the entire roster. Tom Hall was outstanding for Minnesota's Big Ten champs all season long and deserves special mention for his play in the Gophers' losing Rose Bowl effort. Chuck McBride dropped back from his flanker post to handle the punting chores for Colorado's team and Heywood Haser had to be content to let Pitt's other first string end receive most of the publicity and All American recognition. Dick Porter of Western Reserve was voted his team's "outstanding lineman." Ned Hobbs of W. & L. was selected to the all-state team in Virginia and Baker's John Johnson received honorable mention in all-conference selections.

First string: John Johnson, Baker; McBride, Colorado; Ron Allshouse, Penn; Haser, Pittsburgh; Rich Hearney, Stanford; Hobbs and Windy Weed, W. & L.; Porter, Western Reserve; Frank Schneider, West Virginia; and Hall, Minnesota.

Reserve: Larry LaFevers and Dennis Delay, Baker; Denny Krueger, Colorado; Bill Gerber, DePauw; Steve Wohlert, Kansas State; Jerry Winters, Stanford; Edward McCarthy, Tufts; Jack Hult, Western Reserve; Elwood

ALL DELT TEAM

Ends: Tom Hall, Minnesota; Heywood Haser, Pitt; and Chuck McBride, Colorado. Tackles: Bruce Cummings, Penn; Jack Cvercko, Northwestern; and Gene Posati, George Washington.

Guards: Gabe Hartman, Ohio State; Jack Mulvena, Minnesota; and Joe Wendryhoski, Illinois.

Centers: Todd Grant, Michigan; and Stan Yukevich, Illinois.

Quarterbacks: Mike Cotten, Texas; and Rod Sears, Stanford.

Halfbacks: Gil Dowd, Stanford; Jim Paramore, Baker; and Pete Schantz, Penn.

Fullbacks: Doug Martin, W. & L.; and Bill Seed, Lafayette.

Honorary Captain: Terry Fohs, W. & L.

Heeter, West Virginia; and Lamar Elton, Florida State.

TACKLES

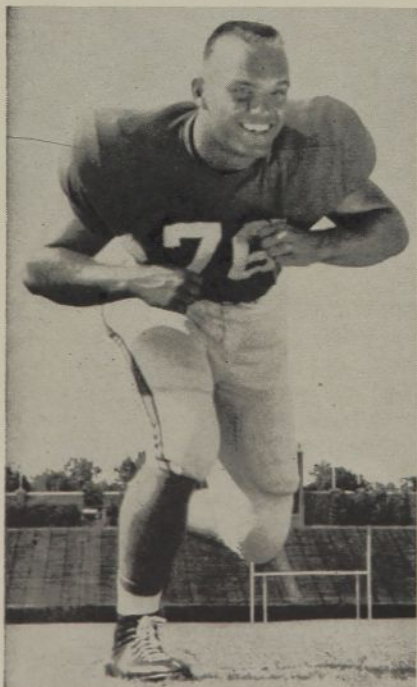

Bruce Cummings, Penn's fine tackle, was an all-Ivy selection as well as being named by Stanley Woodward to the all-East team. Gene Posati was a participant in the Gem Bowl, played in Erie, Pennsylvania, on November 25. Jack Cvercko, although but a sophomore, broke into Northwestern's starting line-up for a number of games this fall and shows great promise of recording for himself many of the honors received by his brother, Andy Cvercko, the All American tackle from Northwestern a year ago. Kent Covell and Jim McCurry of Baker, Dan Brink of Lawrence, and Bill Wheeler of W. & L., all were named to all-conference teams.

First string: William Damitz, Allegheny; Covell and McCurry, Baker; Posati, George Washington; Brink and Mike Franzen, Lawrence; Cummings and Ed Smith, Penn; Donald Curtis, Tufts; Wheeler, W. & L.; Ron Borer, Nebraska; and Cvercko, Northwestern.

Reserve: L. E. Hicks, Florida; Randy Vahan, Stanford; Henry Rodgers, Wabash; and Dean Rogers, U.C.L.A.

Gabe Hartman was a triple letter winner for Ohio State and his coach credited him with missing fewer blocking assignments than any other player on the team. Jack Mulvena was another standout for Minnesota in the Rose Bowl. Joe Wendryhoski was acclaimed as one of the best Illini guards in some time. Bud Spear was one of Baker's co-captains and gar-

Although not named as a Delt All Star at center, W. & L.'s center and team captain, Terry Fohs, was named honorary captain of the Delt team.

Terry, a junior, was not only captain of his team but was also named to the Virginia all-state team and was a third team Little All America selection. The most remarkable thing about his accomplishments is that he weighs but 145 pounds. Todd Grant was the first string center for Michigan's Wolverines and Stan Yukevich anchored the huge line of Illinois. Lloyd Williams, Baker's center, was an all-conference choice.

First string: Williams, Baker; Grant, Michigan; John Butler, Stanford; Fohs, W. & L.; and Yukevich, Illinois.

Reserve: Bob Harrold, Baker;

Charles Banks, Brown; and Jerry Hyatt, W. & L.

QUARTERBACKS

Two familiar names appear among the Delt quarterbacks. Both were listed among last year's representatives. Mike Cotten had the distinction of playing in two bowl games in the same calendar year. He quarterbacked the Texas Longhorns in the Cotton Bowl in January, 1960, and in the Bluebonnet Bowl almost a year later, in December, 1960. Stanford's Rod Sears, although an understudy again this year, is counted upon to be the next in a long line of outstanding pas-

HALFBACKS

Gil Dowd of Stanford was voted by his teammates as the "player's player" and was second in rushing yardage on the Pacific coast. Baker's Jim Paramore was named to the all-conference team for the third year and also served as co-captain with his Fraternity brother, Bud Spear. Pete Schantz is captain of Penn's wrestling team as well as first string halfback on the football team. Jack McHenry was voted by his Wabash teammates as "most valuable" and Carey Wickland, Lawrence, and Charlie Gummey, W. & L., were named to all-conference teams.

Observe 25th Annual Christmas Church Service in Pittsburgh

By WILLIAM P. RAINES, Pittsburgh, '48

ON A SUNDAY EVENING, early in December of 1936, a group of college undergraduates joined with parents, friends, and alumni of their respective schools in a Christmas service at Trinity Cathedral in downtown Pittsburgh.

On Sunday evening, December 4, 1960, a similar but larger group assembled to hear Dean N. R. H. Moor conduct the 25th annual Christmas service for members of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

A tradition believed to be unique to Pittsburgh, these annual fraternity

Christmas services were instituted by Dean Moor, who is a member of Delta Tau Delta from Kenyon College. Newly arrived in Pittsburgh in 1936, Dean Moor felt that a Christmas service of this type, uniting undergraduates with their families and predecessors would be a fitting inauguration for the holiday season.

Over the years, undergraduate Delts from the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Washington & Jefferson College, Allegheny College, and West Virginia

He comes to his new work with the belief that it is "both a privilege and a great personal challenge to play an active part" in the fraternity system and its leadership. We are convinced, without reservation, that Al Sheriff will continue the tradition of leadership and service that members of the Fraternity have become accustomed to from the executive department of our Central Office.

which crosses my desk daily is a constant reminder of the host of dedicated alumni who are expending vast amounts of time and talent in helping the undergraduates run their chapters, and without whom there could be no effective continuity of operation nor any national fraternity. And in most cases, these efforts are made without expectation of any honor or reward and only because of a conviction that the Fraternity offers to students something too valuable to risk losing.

University have come to hold this annual event in high regard, as indicated by their excellent attendance, often in face of extremely poor weather conditions.

Shortly after World War II, spontaneous group singing by the audience at the post-service reception in the parish house led to the establishment of an annual singing competition among the undergraduates representing the five local schools. Each year, sing teams vie for possession of a handsome clock trophy donated by local alumni of the Fraternity.

Among the alumni attending the 25th anniversary Christmas service at Trinity Cathedral were a number who, as undergraduates, attended the first such service, a generation ago.

THE DELT ALUMNI CHAPTERS

Boise Valley

Before this issue goes to press the annual Christmas dinner-dance of Boise Valley Alumni Chapter will have been held. The sixth annual recipient of the Allan Reeb scholarship award will have been honored. Jim Matthews is ticket chairman, John VanDeusen is arrangements chairman, and Wiff Janssen entertainment chairman. Chapter President Russ Vieweg will present the Reeb scholarship.

Now that the elections are over, we discover that Carl Burt won his seat in the state legislature. Previous to this year Carl had a seat in the Idaho state senate.

Leon R. Weeks is serving in Alaska with the U. S. Army in the Judge Advocate Corps. He is stationed in Anchorage and will be there for two and one-half years.

Considerable research was done among the old-timers and it showed that the predecessor of the Boise Valley Alumni Chapter and a group of Delta Mu alumni held regular meetings back to 1931. Prior to that a group of Beta Chi (Delta Mu local) alumni had regular meetings back to 1924. Leon Weeks told us that he attended his first Christmas party as a freshman in 1924. The advance publicity on this year's Christmas party will say that this will be the 30th annual party, which takes it back to 1931 when Beta Chi became Delta Mu of Delta Tau Delta. An interesting side light of the research was that Jim Matthews' name appeared as president eight times.

This year is an important anniversary because it is the 15th anniversary of the Boise Valley chapter, the 30th anniversary of the Delta Mu alumni group, and the 35th anniversary of the annual Christmas party (counting alumni chapter, Delta Mu alumni group, and Beta Chi alumni group).

Before the next issue deadline it is hoped that a complete list of officers of this group will be ready for posterity.

Dallas

Some 50 Delt alumni from the Dallas area enjoyed fellowship and a talk by Hugh Shields at a luncheon meeting in Dallas on November 15. The Dallas Alumni Chapter hosted the affair, held at the Mexico City Cafe, which was also attended by several members of the Fort Worth chapter.

The special guest was the Executive Vice-President Hugh Shields, who presented several major problems facing the fraternity system nationally. He also reviewed our own Fraternity's progress this year on several campuses and our standing in numerous aspects with other groups. Another special guest was Gordon Broyles, of Palestine, Texas, President of the Western Division.

The installation and initiation of an active chapter at East Texas State College, Commerce, Texas, is being planned by the Dallas chapter for January and will be staged in this city. A large number of the 200 Delt in Dallas is expected to attend the week end sessions, which will be highlighted by several gala socials. Lloyd Birdwell of this chapter and Mr. Broyles, along with others, have been instrumental in the formation of this new group.

TIPTON HOUSEWRIGHT

Denver

A large number of Denver alums and their wives attended the Colorado homecoming game October 22 at Boulder, Colorado. Following the game, dinner was served at Beta Kappa Chapter for the alumni and the actives and pledges.

The first Sunday of the month is set aside for the Denver alumni party at Cherry Hills Country Club. All Delt and their wives are welcome to attend.

Every Monday noon the luncheon is held at the Denver Dry Tea Room.

Founders Day banquet has been set for March 1, 1961 at the Petroleum Club. A very interesting evening is planned. For the first time the Denver Alumni Chapter is presenting a scholarship award to the undergraduate with the highest increase in grade average and to the pledge with the highest grade average.

Houston

Wayne Ogden has been named president of the Houston Alumni Chapter for the forthcoming year at the annual assembly which took the form of a dinner October 26 at the Sagewood Country Club. Other officers elected: Sam G. Croom, Jr., vice-president; Richard G. Nemmer, secretary; and W. P. (Buddy) Mallory, III, treasurer. Silas Ragsdale, Sr., will continue as THE RAINBOW reporter.

Feature of the meeting was the presentation to Eldridge C. Thompson, retiring president, of a Distinguished Service Chapter Citation. This was handled by Brother Ragsdale, himself a Distinguished Service Chapter Delt.

Brother Thompson, who did such a marvelous job in getting a Delt chapter established at Sam Houston State College, Huntsville, Texas, reported on the progress of that group. Several actives from Sam Houston were present.

Special guests, here for the Thompson presentation, were Gordon Broyles, Western Division vice-president, and Jack A. McClenny, field secretary. Jack also met with the new and old officers and advised with them in the matter of making our organizational work more effective.

In September, Brother Thompson was invited by the Interfraternity Council of Sam Houston to attend a smoker and to deliver the main talk. He did an excellent job.

Our September luncheon found Rice University Coach Jess Neely, a Delt from the old Vanderbilt chapter, making the talk. Jess fooled the experts this year by the strong showing which his Rice football team turned in.

We helped, as usual, with rushing during the summer and that was touched on at the meeting as was the fact that Dick Nemmer had managed to turn out a new roster of the alums in the Houston area.

SILAS B. RAGSDALE, SR.

Indianapolis

The Indianapolis Alumni Chapter gave a state-wide rush party on August 11, 1960. The Honorable Harold Handley, governor of Indiana, was host at the governor's mansion. Actives and their rushees from Beta Alpha, Beta Beta, Beta Psi, Beta Zeta, and Gamma Lambda were present. Total attendance of 170, consisted of 58 alumni, 56 actives, and 56 rushees. General chairman for the party was President Dave Englehart, assisted by the other alumni officers.

The governor's gracious wife, Barbara, personally greeted and showed those attending through the governor's mansion. A huge tent set up on the grounds served for refreshments and a generous buffet dinner. Tables were set up outside the tent in the yard where all enjoyed dinner.

After dinner the governor spoke briefly on what Delta Tau has meant to him. Amongst other distinguished Delt in attendance were Mr. Francis Hughes, immediate past President of the Fraternity Arnold Berg, Fraternity Treasurer, and Hugh Shields, Executive Vice-President of Delta Tau Delta. All in all it was a very impressive rush party.

The Indianapolis Alumni Chapter held its annual meeting on December 6 at Beta Zeta Chapter House, Butler University. The newly elected officers to serve for the next year are president, William L. Phillips; vice-president, James McDaniel; secretary, Steve Davis; and treasurer, Warren Smith.

La Jolla

With 1960 drawing to a close, we find the La Jolla Alumni Chapter 20 members strong, completing another successful year. Under Jim Whisenand, president, luncheon meetings have been held regularly on the first Tuesday of each month, with a dozen or more Good Deltas usually in attendance. The "regulars" include Kenneth Dame, who makes the 100-mile round trip from San Clemente without fail; Kirk O'Ferrall and Buck Powell, from Rancho Santa Fe; George Gilmore, from Del Mar; John D. Rich, of La Jolla; and no one can remember when Lowell Niebuhr has missed a meeting.

Over the past two years we have watched with great interest the development, planning, and final recent confirmation of the establishment of a branch of the University of California at La Jolla. In a last-minute surprise (to us) move, the name was made University of California at San Diego, but the location is still the same, less than a mile from our regular meeting place in La Jolla, and the major goal of our group remains the same, to be ready to assist in establishing a Delt chapter here at the earliest possible date.

Each year we have one meeting specifically to attract alumni throughout the area. This past spring over 30 brothers attended our Founders Day luncheon at Rancho Presideo Hotel in Mission Valley. Plans are now being made jointly with the San Diego Alumni Chapter for such a meeting in early spring, which will include Deltas from Orange County as well as all San Diego County.

BYRON B. WEBB, JR.

Long Beach

Several members of the chapter journeyed to Los Angeles on November 28 to attend a luncheon of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter, in honor of the President, Past President, Executive Vice-President, Editor of THE RAINBOW, and Joel Reynolds, Past President of the Fraternity and newly elected Chairman of N.I.C., who were attending a meeting of the National Interfraternity Conference. A large number were in attendance for a very interesting and pleasant hour of Delt fellowship.

Our Secretary, Ed Thomas, attended the Karnea as our delegate and brought to us a very complete and appreciated report.

Our chapter officers for the coming year will be Lloyd Parker, president; Frank Wheelock, vice-president; and Edwin Thomas, secretary. We shall continue to meet for luncheon on the second Tuesday of each month at the University Club and all Deltas are urged to meet with us should they be in this vicinity.

Dr. George B. Hanson, Delta Gamma, '24, has passed to the Chapter Eternal. He was a shining example of a true Delt, constant in his interest in his Fraternity and in the chapter, who thoroughly believed in and followed the precepts of The Delta Creed. His death is a personal loss to all of us who knew him as a brother and a friend.

ROBERT B. TAPLIN

Los Angeles

The Los Angeles Alumni Chapter was fortunate to be host to three of the Delt VIPs who were in Los Angeles for the annual convention of the National Interfraternity Conference. Our honored guests: Joel W. Reynolds, president-elect of the National Interfraternity Conference; Robert W. Gilley, President of Delta Tau Delta; and Francis M. Hughes, Past President of Delta Tau Delta. A luncheon preceded by a "hospitality hour" was held at the University Club and all the brothers had an opportunity to meet the "top brass" of the Fraternity.

These 12 members of the DSC, including President GILLEY, Executive Vice-President SHIELDS, and Past Presidents HUGHES and REYNOLDS, attended the Los Angeles luncheon in November.

Close to 200 Delts gathered at the Mission Room of the Pabst Brewery for our annual get-together and were fortunate to sample Tom Nikaloff's barbecued chicken and hear some authentic New Orleans Dixieland. The SC Delts got top attendance honors here.

Regular monthly luncheons continue to be held on the third Tuesday of the month at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. All Delts in the area are invited to attend. With the completion of the Ferguson-Rochester debates, members may be able to conduct some orderly meetings.

JERRY M. HARRINGTON

Minneapolis

As this letter is written, all conversation turns to the Gophers' trek to the Rose Bowl. The Minnesota chapter has five Delts on the squad, including the captain-elect.

During the early summer, the alumni were guests of the Glueck brothers in the Brewery Tavern. January 5, we return to Frank Kiewal's Minneapolis brewery. On these occasions, we have a buffet type of meal, in advance of the singing. Turnouts have been good.

The alumni house group has done a superb job. This committee includes an architect, an accountant, a heating and plumbing contractor, and an interior decorator. The Beta Eta house has never been in better shape, for which credit must be given to these alumni.

During the past summer, the alumni have endeavored to aid Beta Eta, which pledged 31 men this fall. At our regular first Thursday of the month December meeting, we had as our 11 guests, the chapter officers, football, and basketball men.

We will mail out an alumni letter January 1, and are now making plans for the Founders Day Banquet.

C. W. PORTMANN

New York

The New York Alumni Chapter's "second Thursday each month" noontime home, has seen its last few months, and sometime in the fall of 1961, the Princeton Club will fall under the "wrecker's ball." Of course, it's the spirit that counts and we'll "take on" a new home in the fall. The Princeton Club has served us well during the past years.

Charlie Keyser, our program chairman, has maintained our luncheon speaker program on its usual highly interesting level with Harry G. Waltner, Gamma Kappa, '27, telling us about his "observations on political and social trends in South America"; James Coleman, Gamma Zeta, '40, who gave us "the new aspirin for office headaches"; Charles Keyser, Omega, who was informally informal; and George Johns, Omega, '49, who optimistically insisted, "Planning can save suburbia."

Founders Day dinner, planned for March 3, 1961, will be eventful, as always.

In coming months we will have more interesting speakers and, we're sure, heated discussions.

The downtown section still meets at the Savarin Coffee Shop on the first Thursday of the month.

D. VAN SCHOONHOVEN

Oklahoma City

The Oklahoma City Alumni Chapter sponsored a rush party for the undergraduate chapters in the state of Oklahoma and Westminster on the second Sunday in August. The party was held at the Sportsman's Club, with recent graduates acting as hosts.

The next business meeting will be held

January 31 at the Sunside Inn, Route 66 by-pass, with a prominent Oklahoma City Delt as the guest speaker.

All hands are now at work planning a gala Founders Day celebration for Sunday, April 21, in the form of a dance to be held in Oklahoma City. All Delts state-wide, and their wives, are invited with the time and place to be announced later. Reservations can be made by writing the secretary, listed in the directory of THE RAINBOW.

Omega (Philadelphia)

Delta Tau Delta alumni interested in the Omega Chapter have joined together in a newly constituted group known as the Omega Alumni Society. The society held its organizational meeting at the Shelter on the University of Pennsylvania campus in conjunction with the 1960 homecoming week end and adopted a constitution and by-laws. The following alumni were elected as officers and members of the board of governors: president, John F. R. Smilgin, III; vice-president, Monroe E. Trout; and secretary-treasurer, John C. T. Alexander; Samuel R. Harrell, David K. Reeder, Maurice A. Webster, Merrill O. Blair, Barclay W. Fitzpatrick, M. Gene Haeberle, John W. Doriss, Jr., Edwin S. Fabricius, Robert D. Hompe; Wilbur L. Derby, chapter president; Craig C. Tarler, chapter advisor; and Thomas M. Wright, chapter vice-president.

The board of governors held its initial meeting in early December and, among other matters, authorized the appointment of a goals committee, charged with the responsibility of expanding upon the purpose of the society as it is found in the constitution: "To perform and encourage service which furthers the interests of Omega Chapter of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity and the University of Pennsylvania." The board also authorized an annual appeal for operating funds on a voluntary basis, the development of an address file of Omega alumni and all other Delt alumni expressing an interest in the chapter, and the periodic publication and distribution of a bulletin to be entitled The Moose Call.

This resurgence of Omega alumni activity traces its origin to the self-appointed Omega alumni steering committee, comprised of Brothers Derby, Doriss, Dugan, Hompe, Irving, Landry, Latta, Tarler, and Alexander. As a result of the committee's efforts in 1959 and 1960, the alumni were polled regarding interest in and support of an alumni organization for Omega Chapter. An overwhelmingly affirmative reply led to the formation of the Omega Alumni Society.

Interest and support of Delta Tau Delta alumni, regardless of chapter affiliation, is welcomed.

JOHN C. T. ALEXANDER

Palm Beaches

It is with great pleasure that the Delts of the Palm Beaches greet the readers of THE RAINBOW for the first time as an alumni chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

Though new on the roll of chapters, this new chapter was conceived as far back as 1951 when a few of the local Delts formed the Delta Tau Delta Society of Palm Beach County. However, no petition was ever submitted and, due to a number of circumstances, the society became inactive some months later.

A reasonably successful attempt was made in 1957 to reactivate the society, but again, it was unable to sustain life.

In 1960, because of, among other things, the tremendous industrial development in the county, the roster of Delts in the area swelled with enthusiastic new alumni. This time when the call was made by Einar "Andy" Andersen, Arthur "Toby" Allen, and Tom Bratten, the response was tremendous. Since July, the meetings held in the relaxing and comfortable atmosphere of the Palm Beach Yacht Club have seen nearly 60 per cent of the nearby Delts in attendance. Then at the fall meeting of the Arch Chapter, a petition for an alumni chapter in the Palm Beaches was approved. The first major event of the new chapter was the installation banquet held at the Beach Haven Hotel on December 13. We were proud to have as our guest, G. Sydney Lenfestey, Florida, '34, who welcomed the new chapter and installed as officers, "Toby" Allen, president; Vern Manz, vice-president; Tom Bratten, secretary; and Fred Teed, treasurer. The fine program was chairmanned by Ron York, who must be complimented for an outstanding job. Future prospects look encouraging for, with the large number of enthusiastic Delts in the area and the closer ties with the National Fraternity, it is doubtful if the group will ever be found inactive again. Plans are already under way for a boat ride in the near future and a strong rushing program for the nearby chapters.

TOM BRATTEN

Portland

The Portland Alumni Chapter has been busy with many activities since last spring. We had a very successful Founders Day banquet with Kenneth C. Penfold, Western Division vice-president and former field secretary, as the main speaker. Robert D. Holmes, ex-governor of Oregon, was toastmaster. In addition to the Founders Day program, we held our annual meeting, electing Paul Peterson, president; Don Eckman, vice-president; Bill Eigner, treasurer; Steve Gilley, secretary; Darrel Johnson, interfraternity council representative; and Dr. George Eagon, board governors. In August, Dick Emlaw and Sam Christianson co-chair-manned a Delt golf tournament that was thoroughly enjoyed. This fall the Portland Alumni Chapter sponsored a most successful reception for our National President, Robert W. Gilley. Over 100 people attended, many of whom have not been seen for years and whom we hope to see again soon. On December 22, 1960, we held our 20th annual Christmas formal dinner-dance. This year Gary Zimmerman did a fine job as chairman, and with the help of his committee put on a wonderful party. The dance was held at the Aero Club in Portland. Our Delt luncheons are held every Monday at Jake's Crawfish, 401 Southwest Twelfth, at twelve noon. The first Monday of each month we have an informal business meeting. Any Delts in the area are encouraged to come.

R. STEVENS GILLEY

St. Louis

It was a beautiful Sunday afternoon as Delts and their rushees gathered for the annual summer rush party given by the St. Louis Alumni Chapter. The bulk of the success was due to the large turnout of undergrads and their respective rushees from the University of Missouri, Illinois, and from Westminster College.

A sneak preview of coming events was presented to the rushees by the three attending colleges, on what to expect from college life and the "ever-lovin' scapegoat," the fraternity.

Returning to St. Louis after a brief tour of Paris is our illustrious alum, Mr. Crawford (Tombstone) King. Crawford served as the United States delegate to the world conference of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was bestowed with the honor of accepting on behalf of the St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce, the award for "Outstanding Service Project of 1959," for the Dr. Tom Dooley dinner, in the international relations field. I'm sure Crawford got as big a kick out of Paris as he did when he was chosen to represent the United States delegation.

Our chapter is not limited to only one vagabond. We also have another man who has burned many bridges behind him. I speak of the one and only, Mr. Robert Kroening. Bob is tickled pink with the honor of being in charge of the initiation ceremonies of the Epsilon Eta Chapter at East Texas State College. Bob tells me he plans for the program to take place January 7, 1961, at the beautiful Sheraton Dallas Hotel. If you are in the neighborhood drop in and welcome our new chapter.

GEORGE F. KENNEY, JR.

The regular monthly luncheon meetings have been temporarily discontinued. Special meetings will be called from time to time. Please check with Jack Francis, secretary, ORange 1-8060, for time and place.

JACK FRANCIS

Topeka

Governor George Docking, the most prominent member of our group, retires as governor on January 9. He has been very loyal in attending our monthly luncheon meetings, and we hope he will continue to live in Topeka.

The 1961 state legislature will convene in January, and we will have at least five members among them who are Delta Taus. These are Theo Sanborn, Glee Smith, Gordon Mark, Tom Van Sickle, and D. J. Fair. We hope to have them all at our luncheons while they are here.

Probably our most loyal member is Cliff Stratton, who has retired as Washington correspondent of the Topeka Daily Capital, and never misses a meeting.

We are on our 14th year of continuous monthly luncheon meetings, and hope to increase our attendance this year. Our election of officers comes at our January meeting.

Best wishes for 1961.

THE DELT CHAPTERS

Alabama—Delta Eta

The brothers of Delta Eta returned to school this past September to carry out one of the most effective and well-organized rush programs ever initiated on the University of Alabama campus. The program was built around an early approach plan whereby prospective rushees were contacted several times throughout the summer and entertained at parties in various towns throughout the state. Our final evaluation of the program was made at the end of rush, at which time we had pledged 35 top freshmen. This is the third time in the last four years that Delta Eta has pledged the largest pledge class on campus.

At an early meeting, the following were elected to serve as pledge class officers: Warren Mosely, president; Dee Merrill, vice-president; David Byrne, secretary-treasurer; and Steve Tapia, sergeant at arms. One of the first of several service projects to be carried out by this group was conducting a Halloween carnival for a local institution for retarded children.

Our social chairman, Brother Manley Williams, has arranged weekly pledge swaps for the pledges with various groups of new sorority pledges. In addition, he planned a very enjoyable series of events for rush, but the after-game party for the Furman game will be something to surpass. Homecoming is always enjoyed and this year was no exception. "Piano Red" and his band returned for this event and again the Shelter could not hold the crowd. The earlier part of the homecoming week end was devoted to the construction of one of the most colorful and elaborate house decorations of the year. Also, Miss Sally Burns, a Kappa Kappa Gamma sponsored by Delta Eta, was a finalist for Homecoming Queen.

Even though the year is young, Delts have begun to receive their share of honors. Brother Ronald Stewart and Buddy Drewry were initiated into Alpha Epsilon Delta, premed honorary. Scabard and Blade tapped Brothers Bill Cocks and Burwell Anders for membership in this military honor society.

As we go to press, Brothers Burwell Anders and Reggie Hammer are seeking the offices of vice-president of engineering and president of arts and sciences, respectively, in school elections.

The chapter is enjoying a very successful year in intramural thus far and should repeat again this year as a top contender for the all-sports trophy. Brother Max Wiginton, our sports chairman, has been pleased by the abundance of athletic talent in the pledge class.

With a great pledge class, a fine active chapter, and an increasingly active alumni association, Delta Eta can look to many years of leadership among Capstone fraternities.

One final personal note to you whom we met at the Karnea this past summer: we are looking forward to seeing you again when the Karnea comes south in '62.

REGGIE HAMNER

Albion—Epsilon

The Epsilon Delts started the school year off with a good beginning, having a week spent in projects on improving the Shelter. The Shelter also acquired a fine new housemother in Mrs. Vee Seymour, from Chicago. The Shelter, taking on a newer physical appearance, has also a youthful character in its active chapter, with 20 top men going through fall initiation rites, plus six men who pledged this fall. The six were not able to pledge last spring, because Albion has a deferred rushing system.

Many new campus leaders were added this fall by Epsilon Chapter. David E. Braun becomes managing editor of the school paper, along with John Helpap as the sports editor. In this election year, John Sellers was elected chairman of the Young Republican organization. Quentin Woormer becomes a hard working member of the publications council. James Leisenring was elected representative to IFC. Fred Clausen was appointed by the football coach, Morley Fraser, to be his head student manager.

The social year got under way with a highly successful swimming party held here in Albion, followed by a dance at the Shelter. Our fine new social chairman, James Catto, has a very progressive program for the months to follow.

The Delts are now working hard on the homecoming decorations with the hope of retaining the two trophies that they won last year. The homecoming week end, which is late this year, has the theme of "Myths and Legends." David Krause, the homecoming chairman, is using the Delt float to portray Ulysses and the Sirens.

The newly elected officers are James Leisenring as assistant treasurer and John Sellers as corresponding secretary. This fall the Albion swimming team is hoping to have another outstanding season. Two Delts will be back to keep their hopes high, James Russell, who last year broke the 440-yd. freestyle record for the Albion pool, and Phil Andreae, who will be swimming orthodox breaststroke.

JOHN SELLERS

Allegheny—Alpha

Alpha Chapter is starting off the new year with a strong chapter of 43 men, the largest fall enrollment in many years. As has been true in the past, Alpha has placed many brothers in campus positions. Brothers Ingram and Middleton are student counselors in the freshman dorm. Both these men are active in the democratic organization on campus. Brother Merchant is a member of the student admissions committee and Brother Damitz is Alpha's representative on the traffic committee.

On the varsity sport scene, Brother Damitz is a starter for the second-place Gator football team. Brothers Bernard, Francis, Brooks, and Denson are all slated to letter in soccer. Three brothers, Gurner, Weaver, and Hoffman, are rounding out the season on the cross country team. Brothers Ingram and Keple are among the top on the new varsity rifle team. Both are returning lettermen.

On the intramural level, the Delts are currently in second place and hope to finish above the third-place standing of last year. Alpha hopes to put forward a strong volleyball and basketball team, and then wind up the winter schedule with our first-place bowling and table-tennis teams.

The annual homecoming banquet was a great success with more than 80 people attending. The social committee, under Brother Charlie Brown, has done an excellent job of planning our social schedule. A new first for Alpha has been the parties with various sections of freshman women. We always draw a large group and all find the evening very profitable. Our fall tea for freshman women was the largest and most successful tea in many years. The social committee is presently working on our fall party, the theme of which is "House of Horrors." In the past, our parties have been unequalled on the campus and this year will be no exception.

Our holdover pledges, William Pribus, Bruce Robinson, Al Redding, and Tom

Epsilon Epsilon brothers "soaking up" Arizona sun before Christmas holidays.

Siffringer, are presently rounding out their pledge program under Pledgemaster Hagan. The rush committee, under Brother Byers, has assured the chapter a fine pledge class in February. All the brothers are putting out their best to see that this year's pledge class is the best on campus.

JIM MERCHANT

Arizona—Epsilon Epsilon

Arizona Delts returned from summer vacation with an array of descriptive stories and episodes. From Lake Tahoe and Reno came Dick Young and Ken Fones with news of waiting tables. From Colorado came Kent Dussair and Fred Neher, who reluctantly returned from Boulder and the DG national convention. Even Ed Myers, whose two-step served as a standard for Arthur Murray students, took time out from the fox trot for a week of rush.

Formal rush was hectic, complete with selective system and IBM sorting, but we finally wound up with 11 pledges. Pledge Class President Dave McCay was soon after elected IFPC treasurer. Besides its pledge class, Epsilon Epsilon welcomed another newcomer, its first housemother, Mrs. Lewis K. Oesterling.

Scholastically, Arizona Delts won back the coveted IFC scholarship trophy, symbol of scholastic superiority among UA fraternities. As a direct result, Scholarship Chairman Jim Oesterling took an extended sabbatical leave to San Antonio, Texas, and Lackland Air Force Base.

Socially, the brothers have been on a busy week end whirl since the beginning of the semester. Parties after each of the seven Saturday night football games provided most of the fall entertainment. In addition, there were exchanges with the Chi Omegas and Alpha Chi Omegas, a Mom and Dad's Day buffet at the Shelter and a dance at the Santa Rita Hotel.

On November 11, Delts and dates migrated to El Paso for the three-day week end, the football game with Texas Western, and a tour of Juarez.

Just after the Thanksgiving holiday, Hugh Shields paid a visit to the chapter on his way home from the NIC convention in Los Angeles. Brother Shields spoke to the Tucson Alumni Chapter and met with University officials before returning to Indianapolis.

On December second, the semester's social calendar was climaxed with the chapter's annual Christmas formal. Highlighting the dinner dance, held at the

ONA WASHBURN,
Epsilon Epsilon's
Delt Sweetheart

Holiday Inn, was the selection of Miss Ona Washburn as Epsilon Epsilon's Delt Sweetheart. Miss Washburn, a member of Delta Delta Delta, is from El Paso, Texas.

Aside from the dinner and dancing, Delts found time to get in the "holiday spirit" by exchanging a host of appropriate Christmas gifts.

With the Christmas holidays almost here, the brothers closed out 1960 with a bit of Yuletide cheer. On December eighth the Delts combined voices with the Pi Phi's for an evening of caroling at the Comstock Children's Hospital and the Tucson Medical Clinic. Even Santa Claus made an appearance, complete with candy canes for the youngsters.

Next came vacation, finals, and 1961—a new year with new potentials for the brothers of EE.

JOHN WARDRIP

Auburn—Epsilon Alpha

The new school year here at Epsilon Alpha began with a complete restoration of our pleasant Shelter. All of the brothers returned before our scheduled formal rush and turned to the business at hand. New paint was in order, as were new paintings, and upholstery for the furniture.

New surroundings fanned the spark of ambition to a bright glow as we eagerly looked forward to the coming year. This optimism affected all and soon paid off in dividends as the results of rush week became known. The Delts at Auburn pledged the top 28 men on campus. We hope that the names of these men will soon appear here and in other published works of Delta Tau Delta as brothers and outstanding benefactors to the Fraternity.

The rush and hurry of school's first week soon settled down to the peacefulness of classes and study. Pledges and actives alike learn that we are in college foremost to get an education. Our record this past year, of ranking fourth among the 23 fraternities, scholastically, proves this point well.

However, you can't study all the time and especially during football season. The pledges designed and constructed their annual "wreck tech" float without any aid from the seasoned actives. This float symbolizes the traditional rivalry between Auburn and Georgia Tech and is displayed in an annual parade with the other fraternities in competition. After carrying the heavy display over the two-mile course, the pledges were glad to return to the Shelter to receive their congratulations. A few weeks later, display time rolled around again in the form of the annual homecoming display. After many hours of work we managed to erect a 20' by 20' monster which took second prize despite a faulty motor.

Epsilon Alpha's fall pledges, 28 in number, were tops on Tulane campus. Here are 25 of them.

Alumni homecoming was celebrated by a banquet before the game and a victory dance and party later.

School work again dominated the scene, interspaced with Saturday parties, during the remainder of the football season. After the final game, over the Thanksgiving holidays, we had only to look toward final examinations. It was at this time of the quarter that the pledges and actives engaged in fierce battle on the field of honor for the Fraternity football honors. Stung last year by a last-minute victory by the pledges, the actives plunged headlong into the struggle. Fine line play by both teams during the first half kept the game tight and left the score 6-6 after the first 30 minutes of play. After new strategy was laid by the actives during the half-time refreshment break, they stormed back to dazzle the pledges and take a thrilling 20-6 victory.

Honors around campus this quarter found John Melzer on the debate team, Warren Jones and Noel Leon writing for the school paper, "Tip" Tipton acting as chaplain for the aerospace administrator group, many in Circle K, and the usual crowd in business and professional fraternities, military honoraries, and scholastic honoraries.

Final exams brought the fall quarter to a close. But that spark of ambition still burns bright and the new quarter looks to be better in many ways. We will probably take more pledges, improve our scholarship, and move more out on campus. Here's hoping that all our brother chapters have a year as successful as we are expecting.

JIM SHIPMAN

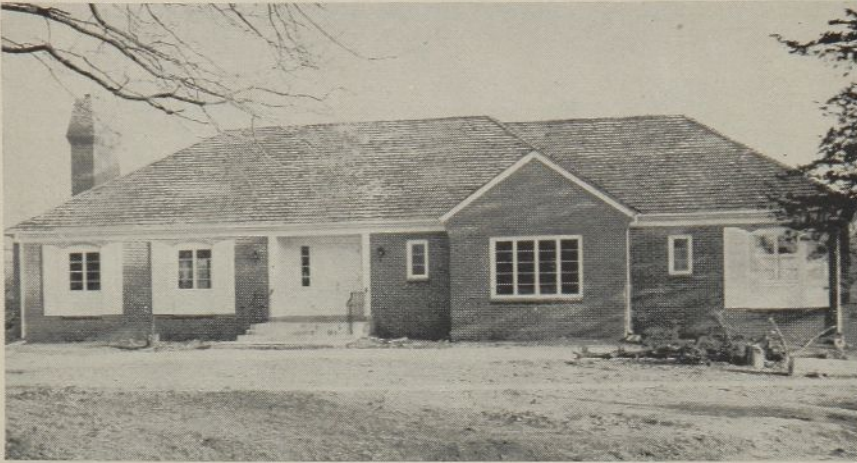

Baker—Gamma Theta

It was a long awaited day in the hearts of Gamma Theta Delts when it was announced that we could move into our new Shelter. On November fourth the move was accomplished and the Delts settled down to enjoying the living the new Shelter offered. Many were sad to leave the old house which had served as the quarters for Gamma Theta since 1903.

The bi-level Shelter contains a modern two-room suite for our wonderful house-mother, Mother Crosby. Mother has been busy getting us settled in our new Shelter. Among the other features are a modern library, wood-burning fireplaces on both levels, tiled bath facilities on each floor, a central heating system, and scenic glass doors that open onto a patio in the rear. One other attraction of the French Provincial architecture is the large recreation room in the basement. The finished Shelter was the result of many years of planning and all Gamma Theta Delts are justly proud of their new Shelter.

Under the leadership of Brother Bill Drake, Gamma Theta pledged 29 men to carry on the high ideals of Delthood. The pledge class has shown that it has many areas of interest and they are a great addition to the chapter. Gamma Theta initiated nine men this fall.

With the opening of football, the Delts, as usual, far outnumbered any other fraternity in number of players. Twenty-two Delts reported for football. As the team was broken down into the offensive and defensive units, Delts held a commanding majority. The offensive unit

Gamma Theta's new Shelter at Baker

boasted six Delts with all-conference selections, Brothers Lloyd Williams, Jim Paramore, and Bud Spear, leading the unit. The defensive unit featured seven Delts, with the forward wall composed of Delts. Baker University had five all-conference selections, three were Delts. One Delt was picked on the second team and two received honorable mention. The basketball team is again led by Delts. Brothers Babe Hawk, Lewis Roller, and Bob Sarna expect to lead Baker to another fine season.

In intramural athletics, Gamma Theta has taken the lead in points and is preparing to retire its third sweepstakes trophy. This would be the ninth consecutive year Gamma Theta has won the trophy. No other organization has ever received the honor. The Delts tied for the softball title and also tied for the volleyball title, with the "B" team winning its division. Three Delts were named to the all-star softball team. Brothers Roller, Ron Harvey, and Pledge Larry Nylund were selected. Delts have been busy in all fields. Delts received many top positions in clubs and all-school organizations. Brother G. D. Blackwood had one of the lead roles in the fall play.

The first big party of the year was the annual chicken fry. The Delts enjoyed chicken cooked by their dates. The evening was climaxed by the burning of the log pyramid. The next social function was homecoming. The Delts and the Phi Mus decorated the winning float. As Christmas time rolled around the Delts were eager for their annual Christmas formal and the opportunity to hold open house and show their new Shelter to their dates and friends. The house was decorated very attractively and the first party in the new Shelter was very successful.

The Delts are off and running toward another great year at Baker. The new Shelter was one of the most inspiring points of this short year. We are anxious to make this one of the best years for Gamma Theta in its long and glorious history on the Baker University campus.

SPOOK JACOBS

Bowling Green—Delta Tau

Among other things keeping Delta Tau Chapter busy this fall are our final plans for moving into a new Shelter next semester. The leather furnishings now in our lounges will be transferred to the new recreation room, and the new lounge will consist entirely of new pieces. The selection of the new furniture, as well as the moving plans, has been very time consuming; however, well worth it. The new Shelter will have three floors, with the upper two being sleeping quarters for 48 men. There are 24 bedrooms sleeping two men each. The main activities of the chapter will be centered on the first floor, which includes the entrance, lounge, library, sound-proof recreation room, dining room, kitchen, office, and housemother's quarters. There will be twice as much sleeping and recreational space as there is in our present Shelter.

Our last social events in our present location have been as successful as in the past. The year was started with a "Wild West" party, followed by a "Roaring Twenties," "Fun House," and Halloween parties. Our most recent party truly portrayed the holiday spirit. Twenty-three underprivileged children were transported to the Shelter for a Christmas party which featured Santa himself. Each child was given from four to six gifts under the colorful lights of the tree. After the gifts had all been opened, there were games and, of course, ice cream and cake.

The Bowling Green Delts have not been neglecting scholarship, however. Our reward was presented at the Greek Week banquet in November—the Sigma Chi Foundation scholarship award for the highest improvement in grade average over the previous year. President Buzz Bickell was pleased to accept the heavy, four-foot tall, rotating trophy, but had a little difficulty carrying it back to his seat in the audience. The Delts have taken this trophy every fifth year since its origin. We hope we can break precedent and keep it two years in a row.

Rush Chairman Dave Molchen has been working hard this semester formulating a program. Thursday night "Untouchable Hours" have been a great asset. His efforts, as well as those of the chapter, resulted in a pledge class of 14. This was one of the largest on campus in upperclass rush. They are Phil Averill, John Fihe, Jim Kerschbaum, Terry Martell, Tom Markley, Wally Mackey, Denny Marcus, Jerry Miller, Phil Manring, Don Nasca, Dave Goss, Bill Johns, Bill Pool, and Paul Virostek.

The year has progressed very well thus far, and we are hoping that it will continue to do so.

JIM DULEY

Brown—Beta Chi

Contributing to Brown sports this fall were football players Paul Krause (letter winner), Bill Caroselli (letter winner), Carmine DeGennaro, and Fred Koloc. Charlie Banks and Jack Mancuso were out most of the year with injuries. Playing for the soccer team were letter winners Howie Whitcomb and Jim Kfoury.

The Delts have again proven their prowess on the intramural athletic field by winning the fraternity championship in touch football, finishing with a 9-0 record. Offensive stars were Joe Kelly and Steve Rice, while stars of the defensive unit (which gave up only 36 points) include Fred Zeigler, Bob Keith, Tom Giddings, Ben Hall, Jay Stevens, and Dave Wallis. Expertly coached by the master football strategists, Tom Henderson, the Delts went on to beat Theta Delta Chi for the championship in a thrilling game reminiscent of the Giant-Colt classic. After battling to a hard-fought scoreless tie, the Delts finally broke the ice with a Steve Rice TD, set up by a pass interception by Freddy Zeigler. Also starring in the 6-0 win were Tom Lasko, who threw some key blocks, and Joe Kelly and Dave Wallis, who did an excellent job covering Theta Delt's tall ends.

The Delts have also gotten off to a good start in basketball, winning their first two games. The team is led by Denny Fitzgerald, Steve Rice, and Joe Kelly. Nat Giordano and Bob Nachbar round out the starting five. As one can see we are making a strong effort to win the Lampher Cup for the second consecutive year.

More honors were bestowed upon the Delts with the recent induction of Colston Chandler into Sigma Xi, Steve Rice to Brown Key, and Kayo O'Rielly winning a Francis Wayland scholarship.

Capping another successful homecoming win by Brown over Cornell, the Delts had a very enjoyable party and an excellent Sunday brunch. It offered a good opportunity to meet the alumni, especially last year's seniors.

Much of the credit for the success of our parties goes to Jim Burke, our social chairman. We should also mention that our homecoming poster (an horrendous bear) turned out to be a very artistic piece of work, thanks mainly to the efforts of the very talented Jon Richards.

Other social high lights included Bill Caroselli and his Fox Point Orchestra, which supplied the music for a whooping rock 'n roll party. To climax a great first semester, the Delts showed their true spirit of Christmas by giving a party for the kids in the neighborhood. Thanks to the fine organizing job by Frank Chiminello, the affair was a huge success. The jolly Christmas party that night was an apt conclusion to an eventful semester.

California—Beta Omega

Beta Omega continued to maintain its top position among the fraternities on the California campus by pledging 22 new men in the fall. Dave Lombardi is to be congratulated on his fine job as rush chairman, which included a vigorous summer rush originating in Tijuana.

On the social side, we have been very active this past semester which was highlighted by our traditional Viking's Party, a pledge party at the home of Steve Barrett with Ernie Hecksher's band, and a memorable Christmas party.

A lovely Alpha Phi, Chris Martin, who was sponsored by Beta Omega and given all the support the brothers could muster, was chosen to reign as queen during Big Game week.

As the year has progressed we have added many new laurels to our record. In scholarship we stayed approximately where we were last term although this semester our scholarship should be slightly higher due to an excellent study program for our pledges. We were awarded the Sigma Chi trophy for the most improvement in scholarship and participation in student government.

In athletics, we began by taking second in intramural football. Carl Bergeron, who played varsity, Jim Thompson, and Zack Powell, both playing frosh, were on Cal football teams. Dick Coveny was on the championship soccer team that played in St. Louis. Also on varsity teams were Dick Stewart, starter on the championship water polo team, and Bob Snyder on the wrestling team.

The chapter has been very active in campus politics. Brian Van Camp is presently serving as rep-at-large, and undoubtedly will be the next president, of the ASUC. Don Alves is the current vice-president of the ASUC. In addition, Whit Nicholas is one of Cal's five yell leaders, and Bill Ausfahl is president of Cal Club.

An added high light to the Christmas festivities was Cal's Santa Claus contest, in which Carl Bergeron was entered and sponsored by the Tri Delts. Since the winner of the contest was to be judged by charity money accumulated, a goose chase was held, featuring Rod Funk, our house goose. There were about 200 watching and catching people at the function. Rod proved to be not so fleet of foot and was therefore caught many times, with the result of a loss of money.

With the continuing support of our alumni, the brothers hope that work will start this spring on improvements and remodeling of the house.

All in all this has been a very successful semester and the brothers are looking forward to spring with high expectations.

Carnegie Tech—Delta Beta

As the fall semester draws to a close, the brothers of Delta Beta have much to remember and be proud of. Recently a study of the scholastic average of the fraternities at Tech was taken. We were notified by the co-ordinator of student activities that the study shows that (1) our members were more apt to perform well scholastically when living in the Shelter than when living outside it, and that (2) we were the only fraternity at Tech which showed a significant increase in the grades of men who pledged during the spring semester after having been independents during the fall semester. We would like to congratulate Gerry Anderson, our scholarship chairman, for the wonderful job he has done. Gerry has recently been initiated into Tau Beta Pi, a national engineering honorary, and Phi Kappa Phi, a national honor society.

Again the Delts had a strong intramural football team. Hit hard by the loss of several graduating seniors, we nevertheless finished second in our league and reached the quarter-finals in the play-offs for the championship. Playing outstanding ball again this year was Dave Reber, who was elected to the all-school team on both offense and defense. Prospects look bright for next year with the entire starting line-up and many reserves coming back. The Delts were represented in fall varsity sports by Bob Wendlandt on the swimming team, and Pledge Deny Denlinger who ran cross-country.

Not neglecting the social calendar by any means, this year's beatnik party was a huge success and found Reber reciting "bathtub poetry," and leading the brothers in the latest "philosophical concepts."

On November 21, rush week ended with a pledging dinner and found us with ten pledges, many of whom have already made worth-while contributions to the chapter.

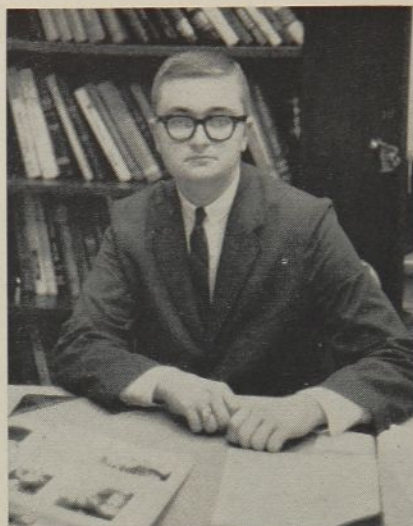

HOWARD D. MATTICK

Cincinnati—Gamma Xi

Gamma Xi Chapter commenced this school year with a hectic, but well-planned, rush program. Preceded by summer rush, the first two weeks of school were climaxed with 42 fine young men proudly displaying the Delt pledge pin. Several of the pledges are legacies or have close relatives in Delt.

Thus far, the class has participated in the Muscular Dystrophy campaign, entertaining the handicapped children for LaSertoma, and decorated the windows along the hallways at Children's Hospital with Christmas scenes. There have been a few swinging parties with sorority pledge classes. A "revolt" has been conducted. And at present, the class is planning a project to improve the inside of the Shelter.

Two weeks after the close of rush, a homecoming float trophy was proudly displayed. The theme of the float was "Everything's Coming Up Roses" for U.C. Campus opinion asserted that it was the most beautiful float in the parade.

Our intramural year began with four consecutive victories on the football field. Dreams of greatness were wafted away by two close and hard-fought losses. We anticipate good showings by the brothers in volleyball, handball, swimming, and basketball.

The social season has included fire-sides, and several unusual costume parties. Themes such as the "speakeasy" party, the "Monster" party, the French cabaret, and a November New Year's Eve party (really, another is planned at a more conventional date) have created an atmosphere for many good times.

The campus, too, has its share of active Delts. Brother Vedra is editor of the Cincinnati, the yearbook. Brothers Foley, Schroeder, and Whitney were recently initiated into Tau Beta Pi. Brother Brust was initiated into Scabbard and Blade. Several of the brothers are serving as freshmen men's advisers. Others are serving on the News Record and in various other campus capacities.

We feel a big year coming on and we invite our brothers, active and alum, to stop by and share it with us.

CHUCK STEVENSON

Colorado—Beta Kappa

Christmas is here and so far the Delts of Beta Kappa have had a very successful year, socially and intramurally. Being on the semester system we won't know grades until January. Rush week rendered the Delts 28 pledges and so far we've picked up four in open rush. Brother Larry Hamil is open rush chairman and has done a fine job so far.

Top social events include a homecoming dance, which was held at the Shelter following C.U.'s victory over Nebraska, and our "Saints and Sinners" pledge formal, which was held December 10. This was a tremendous success for we had two orchestras—one upstairs (heaven) and one in the basement (hell). Favors were alligators.

Delts at C.U. are cleaning up in intramurals this year in their bid for the all-school intramural trophy. We tied for third in the fraternity play-offs, after losing only one game all season. In wrestling the Delts came in first, winning three weight divisions while doing so. The fraternity tennis doubles championship was also won by two Deltas, Walt Brown and Paul Sayers. In water polo, the Deltas were edged out by the Phi Gams in the finals and so took a second in that sport. In handball, Delt Steve Spangler has reached the finals in singles and Dick Birmingham and George Lindner have won the doubles championship. In a preseason I.S.A. basketball tourney, we took second place, losing out in the final game by nine points. All the brothers at Beta Kappa have their fingers crossed that we can keep our favorable record going.

Politically, Hank Brown and Larry Miller have been instrumental in getting C.U. out of N.S.A. Hank is student body president and Larry is ex-president of the N.S.A. of the Rocky Mt. region.

That about sums up the top activities for Beta Kappa for this issue.

GEORGE P. LINDNER

Cornell—Beta Omicron

Arriving three days late for fall clean-up of the Beta Omicron Shelter were Brothers Pete Eveleth, Bob Jacoby, and Roger Demler. Seems they were detained at Fort Edward, New York, with motor trouble. The motor was a 1924 inboard of the thirty-foot boat in which the trio arrived in Ithaca.

Honors this fall have gone to quite a few of the BO Deltas. Roger Demler, commodore of the Cornell Yacht Club and cocaptain of the sailing team, won the Upstate New York sailing championship (MAISA) and was recently elected treasurer of the Cayuga Lake Frostbite Racing Association. Brothers Eveleth and Dave Roy and Pledge Frank Dowd have been selected for the Cornell undergraduate secondary schools committee. Eveleth was also elected secretary-treasurer of Kosmos, an industrial and labor relations honorary. Pete is vice-president and steward of Beta Omicron.

President Tony Seaver was tapped by Pros Ops, a chemical engineering honorary. John Fleischauer was tapped by Scabbard and Blade. Sophomore John Custer won his letter in soccer. Bud Fackelman joined Alpha Psi, a veterinary fraternity.

Brothers Fleischauer and Fletcher Street took part in the Cornell University Glee Club tour of the Soviet Union and England over the Christmas vacation. Concerts were given in Moscow, Leningrad, and London. The two brothers were able to get in a lot of sight-seeing and have been telling us of their endless experiences. Street is a baritone and Fleischauer manages the Glee Club as well as singing second tenor.

Our fall social calendar included five post-game parties, a big fall week end highlighted by the Saturday night formal and an impressive serenade. Our first annual reception for freshman coeds went off very well thanks to the efforts of Dick Hunter. A powerful Tri-Delt team recovered the touch football trophy by downing Delt 13-12. Santa had several very unusual gifts in his pack at a usually smooth Christmas party.

BILL HUENEFELD

Delaware—Delta Upsilon

The progress of Delta Upsilon during the fall term promises its best year in the remembrance of its undergraduate brothers. Under the leadership of President Paul Wellborn, the chapter has made significant forward strides in virtually all aspects of fraternity life. Bob Marshall's scholarship program has won the respect of the dean of students, as well as the other fraternities of Delaware, who are planning to adopt similar programs. Emerging from academics, Steve Casarino and Jim Rambo have produced what is recognized as the best social program on the campus. Our parties, starting with the spectacular freshman women's party, have been bolstered by small bands and combos and unique decorations and entertainment. The Delaware Deltas have regained their position as the social leaders on the University of Delaware campus.

House Manager Pete Coakley led the fall pledge class to a complete painting of the public rooms, as well as the party room. Inspired, the brothers followed suit by redecorating the study rooms. The Shelter is in top shape and, with the few finishing touches, will be ready for the formal spring rush, which is being engineered for the IFC by Brother Dick Bullock. Congratulations are due to the float chairmen, Jack O'Day and Cliff Simon, for the outstanding homecoming float. Only campus politics kept the Delt's pride and joy to its second-place honors and from the first place the campus as a whole felt it deserved.

MIKE LEWIS

DePauw—Beta Beta

Beta Beta records achievement and success for the fall semester. Activities, athletics, and scholarship have been an integrated part of the Fraternity.

Fall rush was most rewarding. Pledges Jim Van Winkle, Dave Scheidt, Jerry Wakefield, Rick Myer, Grahm Bell, Bart Rapp, Curt Blang, Mark English, Harry Keller, Norm James, Gary Murphin, John Duncan, Steve Miller, Tom Reed, Ave Colby, Tom Prohl, Jim Giannestras, and Dave Curtis, 16 of the top freshmen on campus and two sophomores, moved into the Shelter.

Socially, the traditional fall dance, "The Pad," was "the end." The evening featured original poetry by the brothers, pictures taken in the "pad," assorted Brothers Art Maine and Bill Gerber helped keep DePauw's football season in the winning column. Pledge Brothers Ave Colby, Mark English, Tom Reed, and Tom Prohl were first string on DePauw's freshman football team. Pledge Brothers Harry Keller and Tom Prohl are on the freshman wrestling squad. Winning the I.M. football championship, undefeated, Brothers Jim Zurcher, Dave Brock, and Al Hutchinson were named to the I.M. all-star team, and Brothers Bill Shields and Steve Barney were given honorable mention. Beta Beta won third place in I.M. swimming, with Brother Phil Dunham and Pledge Brother Rick Myer winning first and fifth, respectively, in diving. I.M. wrestling saw Pledge Brothers Harry Keller and Tom Prohl place first and second, respectively, in their divisions. With the presently undefeated I.M. basketball team, Beta Beta is a strong contender for the I.M. all-sport's trophy.

Active Deltas this semester have been Dick Schaefer, president of the Union Building, currently making plans for a winter carnival, and Brother Joe Kertis, president of SPEX, trying to keep up school spirit. Brother Tom Evans has been busy keeping the Sailing Club out of debt, Al Hutchingson is recuperating from his role in "The Pajama Game," and Pledge Brother Tom Reed, vice-president of IFC, has assisted in the leadership of the freshmen class.

This has been a semester of hayrides, sorority exchanges, fraternity sings, serenades, homecoming decorations, dances, blanket parties, football games, and basketball games. Now for the final exams!

CHIP WILHOITE

Duke—Delta Kappa

Delta Kappa has enjoyed a very successful fall semester in all respects. Social Chairman Chuck Rudiger has done a fine job in enabling us to set the social pace on the Duke campus. Some of the high lights were our "Roaring Twenties" party, Christmas dance, Sunday night legion hut parties, and cabin parties with the Tri-Delts and Thetas.

On the athletic level, Delta Kappa has also done well. Captain John Birmingham and Barry Howe sparked Duke to a fine soccer season. Louis VanDyke, Vic Braren, Staley Gentry, and Dave Blumfeldt all received letters in cross-country this fall. Now that intramural football is over, Delt "gym rats" are busy practicing for the basketball season.

Officers for this year are Al Tatum, president; Chuck Rudiger, vice-president; Pat Rogers, treasurer; Bob Turner, recording secretary; Bob Frey, corresponding secretary; and Fred Ritts, executive secretary and rush chairman. Bruce Richards, pledge master, has worked hard in instructing our off-season pledge class of Jim Scovil, Spike Sommermeyer, and Ed Sanford. Dave Parsons and Chuck Zimmer are coeditors of the renowned Delta Kappa Times, while Charlie Graham, head of the scholastic committee, has worked to reorganize our fraternity files and improve our scholastic standing on campus. The "Deltones" have continued to provide music and many grins for the brothers of Delta Kappa. The group is composed of "Big Joe" Turner, on the piano, Chuck Zimmer and Jim Alexander on electric guitars, with Vic Braren lending vocal support to the group.

Christmas vacation is now upon us, and we have a few weeks to rest up for final exams and our all-important rush season which follows soon afterward.

F. W. BARNES

Emory—Beta Epsilon

Beta Epsilon started off this year by pledging 49 men, the biggest pledge class in the history of the chapter. The chapter owes much of the credit to Chip Seagler, our rush chairman.

We were privileged to have Edwin H. Hughes, Editor of THE RAINBOW, speak at the pledge banquet.

As a result of last year's efforts, Beta Epsilon was recently presented with the interfraternity council scholarship trophy for the highest scholarship on the row last year.

Pledges Ron Carlisle, Phil Certain, David Findley, David Harden, and Bill Mock are Stipe Scholars. Brothers Joe Rainey, Bill Garland, and Toxy Purvis are also Stipe Scholars this year.

The chapter has initiated a plan to further faculty-student relationships. Every Thursday for supper, we invite two professors from the University. We feel that this is one way pledges can get to talk to their professors informally.

The chapter is also having a sorority

Florida—Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta opened the school year with a fine group of returning brothers. Through leadership and co-operation we obtained a pledge class of 70 men. In this class are football players, swimmers, basketball players, debators, and scholars.

Bob Tillinger is playing tackle on the freshman football team; Jerry Wilson is a starting guard on the freshman basketball team; Al DiBernardo was elected to the freshman executive council, and appointed to the freshman forum. Ron Poh is a starting guard on the Florida varsity basketball team. Chris Nuthall is the announcer for W.R.U.F., the university radio station. Terry Green is on the freshman swimming team, while Bill Cullen and Harry Wilder are swimming for the varsity. Bob Ewing is a freshman dinner once a week. Each week a sorority pledge class is guest at the Delt house.

Practice is now under way for the IFC Sing. Bill Kennedy will again direct the group. Under Kennedy's direction, the chapter has won the sing for the last two years.

Ben Taylor is a member of the inter-collegiate soccer team. Jim Hopkins, Gary Keats, Fred Cameron, and John Cantwell are on the swimming team.

Two brothers are editors on the Wheel and several other brothers and pledges are working on publications on campus.

versity debate team entered two freshman Delt pledges in the Southern debate tournament, Bill McCormick and John DaVault. To the delight of their coaches, Bill and John won the debate, outclassing men with three and four years of experience.

This Halloween the Deltas held a party for the mentally retarded children of the Sunnyland Training Center here in Gainesville. These boys are between six and ten years old and it was a heart-warming experience to see them enjoy themselves, as they so rarely get a chance to. Dave Tillack is the chairman of our Sunnyland project, in which we contribute just the change in our pockets and are allowed to sponsor the group of boys in cabin eight. We are glad to be able to bring at least a small amount of happiness to these deserving children.

In the interfraternity bowling league, the Delt foursome of Lee Blitch, Kent Taylor, Dave Rose, and Ron Smith are as yet undefeated. The last match saw Brothers Blitch and Taylor roll twin 223 games.

massive 'gators, a crane, and a giant machine, we reached an ultimate in motion and eye-catching appeal.

Again this year the Deltas will have a combined Christmas party with the Delta Gammas, playing host to the blind children from the institute in St. Augustine. The party last year was a tremendous success and we are all looking forward to this occasion.

As usual, there are many outstanding Deltas on the Florida campus. Brother Gavin O'Brien is serving as chancellor of the honor court, and he was chosen to the president's cabinet. Homer Spense has been tapped for Florida Blue Key; we now have five members active in Blue Key. Brother Buck Hicks was elected chief justice of the IFC tribunal. Brother Fred Frohock is the political columnist for the Alligator, the University newspaper. Brothers L. E. Hicks and Roger Seals are standouts on the Florida football team. Brother Jim Kidd is one of Florida's outstanding cheerleaders. Brother Steve McBride is Florida's candidate for all-American honors in diving.

Through the efforts of Mrs. H. N. (Mom) Sayer we now enjoy a newly decorated card room and TV room at the Delt House. These improvements made the Shelter a much more pleasant place to live.

As this semester draws to a close, we are looking forward to a fine spring semester. We would like to express good luck to all chapters in all endeavors.

GARY SORRELL

Florida State—Delta Phi

Beginning the semester with a successful rush program, Delta Phi has again gained the envy of other campus fraternities. When the shouting was over, 34 new pledges were greeted at the Shelter. Since fall rush, more men have pledged, bringing the total now to over 45—the largest pledge class on campus. The active ranks were strengthened by the initiation of 15 members of last year's pledges.

The biggest event of interest to date was the "Dogpatch, USA" party, with Big Joe Turner entertaining. Everyone enjoyed it just as much as last year's blast with Big Joe. Many, many "Daisy Mae's" and "Lil Abner's" were in attendance.

Delta Phi's annual slave auction was held this month, with the actives and pledges being sold to coeds for the highest bids. Their slavery was for one hour and they were at the mercy of their buyers. Some of the slaves would rather like to forget the experience. Proceeds from this project go into the Campus Chest.

In December we unsuccessfully attempted to defend our title at the annual "Soap Box" derby, losing in the final heat of the races by .4 second. Maybe we should have used the old wheels, at that.

Coach Jim Crosby is leading the Delt intramural athletic teams into combat. Bad luck has plagued us so far in most of the completed sports, but we are currently holding on to fourth place. With many more sports yet to be completed, we have a good chance to better our standings. Coach Crosby and his staff are now preparing the football team for the defense of our championship in that sport.

Things have been pretty quiet at Delta Phi this year. We were visited by the field secretary in October, and our new chapter advisor, Dee Eddington, was installed. Brother Spence Stewart, from Maine, is now affiliated with Delta Phi. We are glad to have Dee and Spence with us.

Delts have always been active in campus affairs. The two outstanding active Delts are Brothers Johnny Boesch and Brother Bernie Abbott. Johnny is the commander of Army ROTC at FSU, a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, Gold Key, Scabbard and Blade, commander of Pershing Rifles, and a nominee for Who's Who in American Colleges. Bernie is chief justice of FSU's Honor Court, Gold Key, and also a nominee for Who's Who. Other Delts hold campus positions, and much is expected of them in the future.

Brother Bruce Darsey was an outstanding defensive tackle and guard during the pigskin schedule. Pledge Lamar Elton was an end on the team. Pledge Ritchie Mayo earned the honor of "most valuable player" on the undefeated frosh eleven for his stellar running at halfback.

The annual Christmas party with the Alpha Xi Deltas, for underprivileged children, was held at the Shelter on December 11. Santa Claus brought joy and delight to the needy ones.

Socially, Delta Phi was not found lacking. Sorority parties, combos, and dances have been abundant. The Embers, a combo composed of Delts (Brothers Mike O'Connor, Charles Squibb, Larry Thomason, and Pledge Gary Kidwell) have furnished the Delts with many hours of musical entertainment.

Excavation of the underground "rum-pus room" is now under way by the pledges, as their project for the chapter's benefit. Having just completed the painting of the front part of the house, the pledges are to be commended for the interest shown in Delta Tau Delta.

The close of the first semester of the year is almost upon us. The men of Delta Phi hope that this year has been as successful for our fellow Delts everywhere as it has been for us.

LEWIS W. BILLUPS

George Washington—Gamma Eta

In traditional fashion, Gamma Eta copped a fine pledge class which got the fall semester off to a rousing start and boosted the chapter enrollment to almost 60 men. The new pledges are Al Avery, Gene Beverly, Glenn Cole, Dan Cul-lather, Don Cummings, Bob De Angelis, Al Forsman, Ed Gibson, Bryant Girdler, Bob Haan, Jon Hagerty, Mike Hart, Bill Keys, Jan Liwski, Dan Lowe, Hal Markham, Stu Ross, Frank Swift, and Brent Wall.

The chapter proceeded to make the fall semester a memorable one by a list of significant achievements. The pledge class float took third place in the homecoming game float parade, thanks to some frantic last-minute toiling by the harassed pledges. As usual, Gamma Eta got off to a flying start in intramurals as its football team won championship laurels, and our new intramural director, Brother "Bear" Massey, appeared determined to create a renaissance in Delt intramural participation.

Socially, Gamma Eta boasted exchanges with the Kappas, DG's, Chi O's,

Rush party at George Washington

Halloween party—we hope—at George Washington and Thetas, and our social chairman, Brother Ken Larish (assisted by Brothers Ed Hino and John Bachman), outdid himself in preparations for these events, the first three being theme-costume affairs. Attendance at our traditional bevy of open houses, usually following football games, steadily increased, until one Sunday afternoon saw practically the whole University converge on the Delt house for an impromptu party to celebrate the cancelling of Monday classes due to the snow.

Many other events kept the semester interesting. A luncheon was given at the Shelter for Delt alums in the Washington, D. C., area which was very well attended and ably co-ordinated by Brothers Jack Bailer and Bill Eilbeck; the Mothers' Alliance of Gamma Eta held its traditional fall feast, leaving Brother John Whiting and many others glad they came; we were honored to attend a reception given at the United States Supreme Court Building by Mr. Justice Tom Clark and his wife. Brother Clark, a Delt alum, has consistently taken an active interest in affairs of our chapter, and this reception was a prime example; lastly, during Religion in Life week, a function of the University, we were fortunate enough to have as guest speaker, Dr. Winfred Overholser, renowned psychiatrist and director of St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington.

No semester would be complete without the usual reciprocal pilfering of plaques, portraits, rugs, lamps, trophies, and crew oars carried on between the Thetas and ourselves. Most of the articles have now been returned in pretty fair shape. The "phantom," that mystic diety of kidnapping, haunted the pledge class throughout the semester, as the actives turned the tables on the pledges. However, the pledges can seek solace in the fact that they drove Brother Jerry Bowman into a mild state of hysteria.

JACK CLIFFORD

Georgia—Beta Delta

Beta Delta's brothers headed back to Athens early in September to meet a freshly painted Shelter, on the outside.

They promptly set to work and repainted the entire inside in preparation for rush. This, along with great rushing, paid off as the Delts pledged 26 men.

The football season got under way shortly following rush and Coach Twitch Renaud and his boys came up with two wins in their first two games as press time rolled around. Twitch got help on the field from the likes of Rhett Tanner, Joe Bowden, Carl Duvall, Jack Thompson, Lynn Hoffman, Ron Robinson, Huddy Cone, Jim Rutland, Bill Ridley, Mac Alden, and Art Murdock. The pledges showed up in strong force with Hardy Cook, Gordon Bahl, Raleigh Lee, Hank Faust, Charles Ray, and Ken Pittard.

In swimming, Burr McCulloch led the Delts into the meet with his diving skill. Others swimming were Tom Wilenchek, Jim Morrison, and Lynn Hoffman.

The Delt intramural Department is looking for a real top-notch year.

Wildcat just got under way and has already produced four new pledges: Haines Richardson, Worth Williams, Robert Murdaugh, and Larry Smith. In all phases, things are going great for Beta Delta again this year.

TOM CULPEPPER

Georgia Tech—Gamma Psi

The Delts of Gamma Psi, after missing the coveted IFC trophy last year by only two points, are already matching their performances of last year.

The year started with the brothers putting in long and tedious hours repainting and redecorating the Shelter. When rush week started, the house was in perfect shape. The dividends of the work soon became evident when more freshmen visited the Delt house than any other fraternity during the two days of open house. Thanks to the planning and work of Rush Chairman Lucian Guthrie and his committee and to the excellent meals planned by Mother Walters, rush week was a tremendous success. Pledge Sunday saw the Delts get the best, and second largest, pledge class on campus as 38 men turned in the walk. An excellent follow-up program has brought in more good men since then. After pledge Sunday, the brothers swiftly incorporated the athletically inclined pledges into their intramural teams. In tough intramural competition, the Delts captured second place in their league in volleyball and second place in the school cross-country meet.

The Delts also took second place in the annual Empty Stocking Fund charity drive by collecting over $1,000.

In campus activities, Delts are to be found in leadership positions everywhere. The Delts are especially strong in ROTC leadership this year. Out of six Army battalions, three battalion commanders, Spurlin, Walker, and Calcott, and three battalion executive commanders, Massey,

The girls helped rush for Gamma Psi at Georgia Tech.

In a recent Fraternity election, Ed Joy, who is secretary of Alpha Phalanx and fraternity editor of the school annual, was elected as the new treasurer of Gamma Psi.

During homecoming week end, the Deltas were especially active. Their representative, Connie Loy, was chosen as homecoming queen. Thanks to the hard work of Dave Crapps and his committee, the Delt entry captured first place in the "Ramblin Wreck" parade.

With practically the complete championship teams in bowling and bridge returning, plus the complete basketball team that lost the championship in an overtime play-off, the winter quarter looks as promising for the Deltas as the successful fall quarter was.

BOB MASSEY

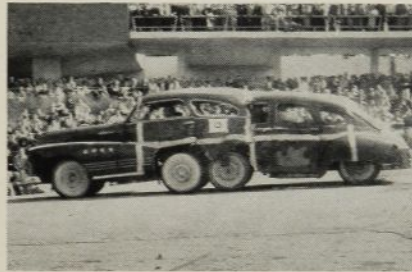

Hillsdale—Kappa

Several Deltas were elected to offices this fall. Taylor Devine was elected president of the sophomore class. Taylor is also the vice-president of the student union board. Sandy MacMechan and Phil Maxey were chosen the social chairmen of the senior and junior classes respectively. Bob McLaren was elected vice-president of the junior class.

Socially, the Deltas at Hillsdale are now making plans for the Fathers' Day festivities that will take place the week end of November fifth. The recent homecoming program at the Shelter was a huge success. Bus loads of alums were treated to fine meals and a 20-14 victory over the Albion Britains. A jam session was held in the Shelter for the rushees and Parrish, and Simmons, are Deltas. Roman Wenglowsky is on the Air Force wing staff and Charles LeMoyne is in charge of the Navy drill team.

Six brothers, Brilliant, Fletcher, Fuller, Massey, Spurlin, and Wenglowsky were elected to Scabbard and Blade, which is the highest military honor a student can receive.

The varsity cross-country team captain, Gordon Clayton, is another Delt who added to his honors this fall by breaking the school cross-country record.

In other activities, Brothers Bowen and Cain were elected to Phi Kappa Phi honorary. Bowen was recently elected president of ASME society. John Walker and Leo Parrish were highly honored when they were selected to Who's Who in American Colleges. Walker was also elected as honor board president.

their dates this week. Everyone enjoyed the Halloween setting and the good music.

Brothers Paul Christo, Dick Panasuk, and Pete Beckwith are holding up the athletic end of activities this semester. All three are on the college football team.

Ground breaking for Kappa's new Shelter is tentatively set for April of 1961. An attractive sign now stands on the lot which was painted by an artistic brother, Dick Bouchard. Another contributor that should be mentioned is Mr. John Crissman, to whom the men of Kappa would like to extend particular thanks. Mr. Crissman, who is now in his second year as Kappa's chapter adviser, has devoted a great deal of time to the building plans. For the benefit of Kappa alums, the house will be located on the southeast corner of Barber and Union Streets, directly across from the College Arboretum. Pledges of $40,000 have been received but the Shelter's estimated cost is $100,000. The new Shelter is badly needed and support of any kind will be appreciated.

Kappa's present Shelter, now decorated in holiday style, will lend itself nicely in atmosphere if not in size to the Christmas party which will be held December 14 for underprivileged children. This marks the second year that the Deltas have joined with the Pi-Phi's to make Christmas more joyful for some of the children from the Hillsdale area.

Kappa's fall pledge class consists of 11 men. They are: James Benedict, Donald Cowles, Max Goldman, Carlton Howk, John Le Saurd, Ronald Morrow, Eric Plym, Mel Ruokalainen, Ronald Simmons, Dan Thorlakson, and Gary Woodbury. Kappa is losing seven men in January. All are graduating with a bachelor of arts degree. They are: John Bayard, III, Peter Beckwith, George Hastings, Charles Kaess, Dwight Pettengill, Thomas Purdy, and Ronald Sachtleben, president for the year of 1960.

Paul Christo was voted most valuable player of the 1960 Hillsdale College football team. Intramurally in football, the Deltas were the undefeated champs this year. Their closest game was a scoreless tie with the Delt-Sigs.

Idaho—Delta Mu

When the brothers returned to Delta Mu this fall, they found the preliminary plans for a new addition to the Shelter already drawn up. The present Shelter, built in 1931, at a cost of around $35,000, was designed to house 40 brothers. We now have 53 living in and numerous members living in town that could be brought together under a new roof if the plans go through. The proposed new addition will be a 32' extension to the present Shelter structure, with the older part of the building being extensively remodeled. The cost of the new structure will run approximately $65,000 with the remaining cost being the remodeling and furniture. The cost of the added rooms will include a 60-man dining room, enlarged sleeping porch, added study rooms, a large recreation room in the basement, and new kitchen and storage facilities. The finished building will comfortably house 60 men, with new built-in dressers and wardrobes being some of the features. The architect for the job is Kenneth W. Brooks, a prominent architect from Spokane, Washington, who is a Delt alumnus from Beta Upsilon at Illinois. Brooks is associated with Paul Blanton, a member of the University of Idaho architectural staff. Brother Brody Conklin, an architectural student, was fortunate enough to work with these two men and did a good part of the preliminary drafting.

Twenty new faces are present at the Shelter this fall, as a result of the fine effort by Rush Chairman Dick Davies. The pledges have already demonstrated great ability, by capturing two trophies. The first came after building the best poster at the homecoming rally, and the second came for building the winning house decorations during the Dads' day week end.

On the political scene, Delta Mu's Bob Schumaker was elected president of the senior class. Bob's election terminated four years of activities on campus, which included Intercollegiate Knights, president of Blue Key, and homecoming general chairman. Brother John Fitzgerald is the student body vice-president and Brother Dick Rene is on the executive board. Both John and Dick were elected last spring and will be in office for this school year. Dick is also president of the interfraternity council this fall.

Rob Tyson became the first student at Idaho to be accepted into a medical school after attending the University for only two and one-half years. Rob earned his acceptance at Washington U. at St. Louis by maintaining a near 4-point average while being active in several activities on campus. Other brothers receiving acceptances were Bud McDougal, to George Washington University Medical School; Bob Schini, to the University of Oregon Dental School; and Kent Angerbaur, to Loyola University.

For the second year in a row, Delta Mu built the winning homecoming float. This year Brother Tom Schmidt was in charge of the project, and did a tremendous job in directing its construction. The theme of the float was "Vandals Delt Victory," and was one of the biggest floats that has been built in several years. The entire homecoming parade was under the direction of Duane Allred.

During the Dads' day week end, Dick Davies and Gary Michael were the MCs at the barbershop quarter contest and the beard contest. The Delt quartet, composed of Mike Watson, Jim Child, Mike Williams, and Tom Schmidt, placed second in the competition.

Ron Kulm became one of Idaho's defensive stars this fall as a sophomore. Ron plays left defensive halfback and has been called one of the most improved players on the team this year. Delta Mu's Cliff Lawrance continues to lead the Idaho swimming team. This is Brother Lawrance's senior year and promises to be his best, when he starts diving competition. Clark Clayman, one of the fine linemen on the frosh football team, is looking forward to a great career on the varsity next season.

On the intramural scene, Delta Mu is working toward its second consecutive championship. Last year the brothers won the first I.M. championship for a fraternity in several years. This year the Delta Mu nine battled to sixth place on the campus football standings. The tennis team, led by Terry Winters, took second place. The swimming team splashed through to fifth place, behind the leadership of Rob Tyson. In the cross-country meet, the trackmen finished in second place this year, after winning the trophy last year. The volleyball team, led by

Delta Mu's BOB SHUMAKER, senior class president at Idaho

Bob Henderson, Terry Ward, and Kent Angerbaur, spiked their way to the fraternity championship. Coach Vaughn Estrick also credits Bob Hall, Dan Barrett, Ray Wilms, and Bruce Anderson for their fine team play. The remaining intramural sports include those which Delta Mu has always excelled in. The I.M. basketball champs of last year are already practicing, and in the spring, the horseshoe team will be trying for its third consecutive championship.

Social Chairman Bill Scholes has been busy this year in scheduling the house social functions and presiding at the campus social coordination council meetings. The pledge dance started off the social calendar and took the appearance of a medieval castle. "Knights of the Round Table" was the theme of the dance, and the "old Delt shire castle" was complete with a drawbridge and moat. Rob Tyson directed the deconstruction on the Shelter and a rock and roll band turned the entire affair into a real stomp.

Throughout the fall, the brothers at the Shelter, have been active on campus. Vaughn Estrick, Duane Allred, Bob Schini, and Bud McDougal were tapped into Blue Key. These four, plus the four Deltos already in Blue Key, equal a quarter of the entire membership. Rob Tyson and Chuck Robertson have been elected president and vice-president of the freshman scholastic honorary, Phi Eta Sigma. Chuck was recently elected the most outstanding sophomore student in the college of letters and science. Barney Saneholtz was chosen outstanding "knight" in Intercollegiate Knights. Duane Allred and Vaughn Estrick were tapped into Sigma Tau, which is an engineering honorary. Jon King, Barry Nelson, Bob Wise, and Pat Marcuson have been pledged into Pershing Rifles. Bob Schini is president and Rob Tyson is vice-president of Helldivers, a swimming honorary. Also active in Helldivers are George Crowe and Mike Watson.

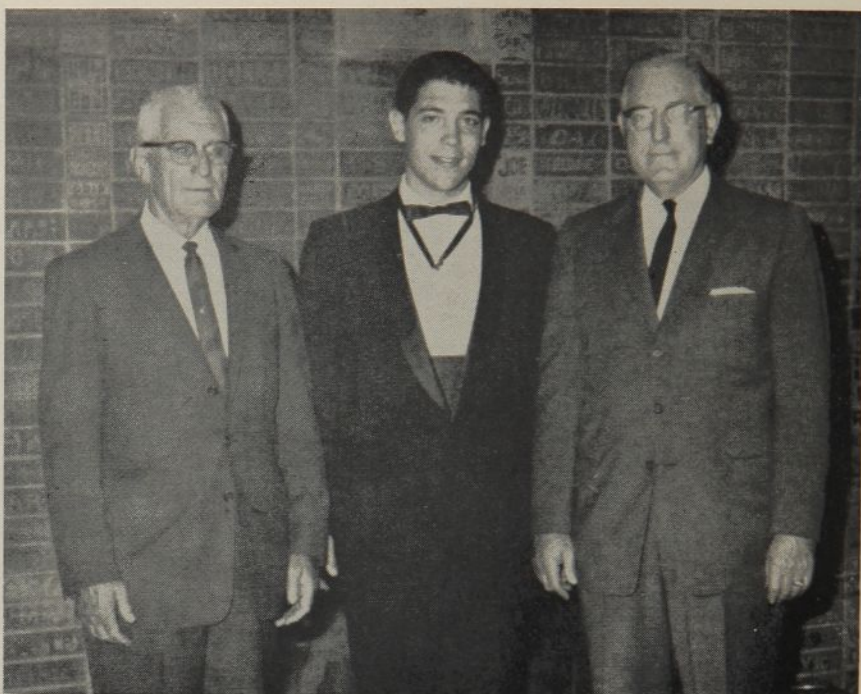

Delta Mu has had a successful fall and everyone is looking forward to the coming months.

Illinois—Beta Upsilon

Beta Upsilon Deltos started the 1960-'61 school year off with a rousing rush week, corralling 20 of the more demanded rush-ees. These pledges, under the leadership of Pledge Trainer Bill Reno, are being shaped into one of the most well-rounded pledge classes Beta Upsilon has put together in years. During freshman week, pledge exchanges were lined up with all of the major sororities on campus. The pledge dance, held in mid-October and dubbed the "Deltavian Ball," was a scintillating success.

Presently standing in fourth place in the intramural race, competing with well 50 fraternities, Beta Upsilon's football squad is rated a good chance of sweeping all honors this year. Undeclared as of this writing, the Delt gridders have been scored upon only once in four outings, upending previously undefeated ATO, 13-0, and smashing the Kappa Sigs, 27-0. In other intramural action, Delta Tau Delta gained nine I.M. points through swimming competition victories.

"Dressed up" for pledge dance at Beta Upsilon

The Fighting Illini have two able Delt representatives in their first string line-up this semester, Guard Joe Wendryhoski and Center Stan Yukevich. Wendryhoski has received much acclaim this season as one of the best guards the Illini have produced in some time.

Chairman of the Delt basketball tourney this year, Ned Tyler, has been designated on all-I.M. player for the '59-'60 net campaign. Tyler led the Deltos to victory last year in the tourney, edging out the Phi Deltos in the final game. This year's tourney, featuring the 16 best teams from last year, will also be highlighted by a queen contest, with one queen representing each house.

Activitywise, Pledge Bruce Ullock has been elected to the vice-presidency of the junior interfraternity council. Junior Jerry Manley is campus affairs chairman, permitting him to sit on student senate and on all of the major campus governing boards. Star Course, the organization bringing big name entertainment stars to campus, and probably the most sought after activity at the University, is studded with seven Deltos. Freshmen Mick Young, Bob Mason, Doug Matheson, and Jim Bettonville, along with Sophomores Steve Smith, Larry Long, and Bill Bauwles, work daily for Star Course.

A "formal" pose by Beta Upsilon Deltas.

In other campus activities, Bill Allison, one of last year's freshman senators, is chairman of the student union development and research committee. Larry Long and Terry Deiro are administrative assistants for social forums, while Tom Roos heads the University concert and entertainment board. Inno Rasina is on the I.M. board. Dave Beal edits the Illini Young Republican Newsletter, while Jerry Manley is very active in Illini-for-Stevenson circles. Mickey Gross heads student union movies, while Steve Smith is in charge of this year's John St. pajama race. For the past two years, the Deltas have won the traditional pledge speed battle.

Socially, Beta Upsilon Deltas have been treated to a top-flight social program this semester. Aside from the regularly scheduled functions, such as mystery day, winter formal, and the pledge dance, Sunday night cook-ins and informal Shelter Saturday night dances are being regularly arranged. Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Chi Omega, and Pi Beta Phi have been on the pinning serenade circuit for Beta Upsilon thus far this year.

Dean Eldon E. Park, a Beta Tau Delt and the fraternity dean here, spoke at our Dads' day banquet, after which all adjourned to the Tumble Inn for a get-together with our fathers. Also attending the banquet was Mrs. Lillian Griffith, well into another year of outstanding service as Beta Upsilon's popular house-mother.

Beta Upsilon's scholarship problem is being attacked from many different sides this semester. Dean Park is advising a hand-picked scholarship committee and the pledges and actives are under better enforced scholarship rules than the chapter has seen in some time. Most of the difficulty regarding our rather disappointing scholastic performances last semester can be directly traced to men living outside of the house. Seven men living in the house made the Dean's List last semester. Senior Tom Roos was tapped for Ma-Wan-Da, senior men's scholastic and activities honorary, while Junior Stan Yukevich was similarly tapped for Sachem, the corresponding junior men's honorary.

In general chapter news, the pledges participated in a clean-up project for the City of Champaign, receiving good coverage in the Champaign press. Pharoah I, our boxer mascot, has recovered from the danger of distemper, to the relief of the brothers. Finally, Beta Upsilon would like to extend congratulations to our brothers at Ohio State and "underdog" Minnesota for beating our Fighting Illini gridders and thereby winning skin challenges.

Illinois Tech—Gamma Beta

started the year with a very successful Rush Week giving us 20 top men.

We are proud of four of our senior brothers who have just been nominated to Who's Who In American Colleges. They are Brothers Olin, Van Santen, Meloche, and Wayte.

As in past years, the Deltas continue to lead in campus sports. Leading the varsity sports this year are Captains Mike Wayte, basketball; Dave Hollinger, cross-country; Dave McGuire, wrestling; and Bob Yoerg and Bill Miller, cocaptains of the swimming team. Also, in interfraternity sports, the Delts have finished in the top three places in the contests held so far: football, tennis, and swimming.

This year, we have living with us our faculty advisor, Mr. G. J. Gabriel, who is an electrical engineering instructor on campus. "G. J." has served us in many invaluable ways, especially in scholarship.

Socially, the Shelter has changed its atmosphere many times. At various times a Penthouse, Italian Village, and New York night club, the Shelter provided a great deal of enjoyment for all of us.

Our newly formed Parents' Club has had two successful get-togethers. We have found that this organization is an excellent way of getting to know the parents and of getting the parents to know the Delts.

Together with Kappa Phi Delta Sorority, the brothers of Gamma Beta sponsored the annual "Toy Harvest" charity dance. The dance was the most successful one given in recent years. Toys and proceeds from the dance were donated to the child patients of LaRabida Sanitarium.

In closing, the brothers of Gamma Beta

Chapter wish all of our brothers across the continent a prosperous and successful New Year.

BILL MILLER

Indiana—Beta Alpha

The fall semester at Beta Alpha has been one of intense social, academic, and political activity. The initial fury of dances, football games, and picnics has yielded somewhat to the midyear studies and elections.

Recently elected to the I.U. student senate is Brother Doug Roc. The campaign was spiced with "behind the scenes" politiking, which was actually not "behind the scenes" at all but was well covered by the campus newspaper. Doug won with an easy 30 per cent margin, however, in a near record turnout at the polls.

Initiation was held November 13, with our president, Fritz Hill, presiding at the ceremonies. Nine brothers were duly entered on the chapter roster.

Philip Morris, Inc., sponsored a contest on the I.U. campus with a prize of a new stereo hi-fi to the housing unit that collected the most wrappers from their various brands of cigarettes by the ninth of December. The company's representative in Bloomington is Al Paxton, Beta Alpha's vice-president. He launched the contest which ended with a campus total of 38,000 packages being collected. Of this total, 11,500 were collected by the brothers of Beta Alpha, sufficient to enable them to win the contest. The reward, we think, was well worth the effort for the abundant sound of stereo music now adds much to the Shelter's living room.

"Dreamland" was the theme of the annual freshman class pajama dance. The brothers and their dates entered the Shelter by way of an extension ladder to a second-story window. They then followed through a long maze, twisting through several rooms and the upstairs hall. The maze ended at the top of a well-padded staircase, which was virtually a chute into the living room. If one's date recovered from this, she could next engage in some rather vigorous dancing to the tunes provided by a living jazz band.

A Playboy party was given by the sophomores, under the direction of Jim Riddet and Tom Chase. Complete Playboy decorations included balloons, cartoons, pin-ups, and other ornaments from the magazine. A six-foot-tall rabbit and an elected "playmate" completed the scene.

Pre-Christmas activities were climaxed by the party sponsored by the juniors, under the direction of Al Ward. Christmas carols were sung by the group, accompanied at the piano by John Clark. It was, indeed, a pleasant and memorable event.

The brothers of Beta Alpha anticipate that the winter and spring seasons will be as eventful and successful for the chapter as has been the fall.

Iowa—Omicron

Omicron Delts returned to the Shelter this fall to find a myriad of new improvements made. A completely redecorated dining room, provided by the diligent efforts of brothers residing in Iowa

City for the summer session, completely renovated furniture and new rugs, combined with the group efforts of the returning brothers, added new sparkle and beauty to the solid foundations of the Shelter.

The pride from the workmanship of the improvements made itself evident in the successful formal results which the Deltas recorded. This, combined with the general congeniality, unity, and inherent Delt spirit, showed in the results as 25 men pledged their honor (and eventually their fortunes) to Delta Tau Delta.

There is little wonder, then, at the result in other areas of activities in fraternity and campus life. Before long, plans were completed for the Delt "Mungy Party," which proved to be a howling and raucous success, the dress following the general theme of the whole shebang. Of course, football week ends wouldn't be the same without the post-game parties at the traditional gathering place, the Den. Naturally, the Hawkeyes' football record this year was no damper on the Deltas' celebration. The chatter of machine-guns, revolvers, and squirt guns heralded the start of the Delt "Roarin' Twenties" house party. Fantastic and clever costumes added to the self-administered "spirit" of the party as pledges proceeded to rub out actives, naturally all in good fun. The finishing touch to the winter social program will be the Delt winter formal in January. A bus caravan will transport Omicron Deltas and their dates to the Sheraton-Montrose in Cedar Rapids for a gala evening.

The traditional boast of "athletes" held by the S.A.E.'s was sadly erased this year as the Delta Tau Delta "touch" football team romped to a fraternity championship. Pitted against a difficult and competitive field, Delt golfers won second place in all-University honors in fall play-offs.

Engaging actively in fall campus activities were Spencer Page and Pledge Dan Sears, C.P.C. subcommittees; and President Vic Yanchick, holding a post in University orientation. Athletically, the Deltas are favorably represented by the following men: Joe Reddington and Tom Purcell, varsity basketball; Mike Carr, currently working out as Iowa hurdler; Pledge Mike Carver, freshman basketball; and Jim Maurice and Howie Heid, varsity swimmers. Standout among these was Pledge George Short, who represented Canada in the Rome Olympics as a sprinter and played on the Iowa freshman football squad. Honors standout was Les Jones, initiated into the Phi Alpha Mu scholastic fraternity and Phi Lambda Upsilon, the chemist's Phi Beta Kappa.

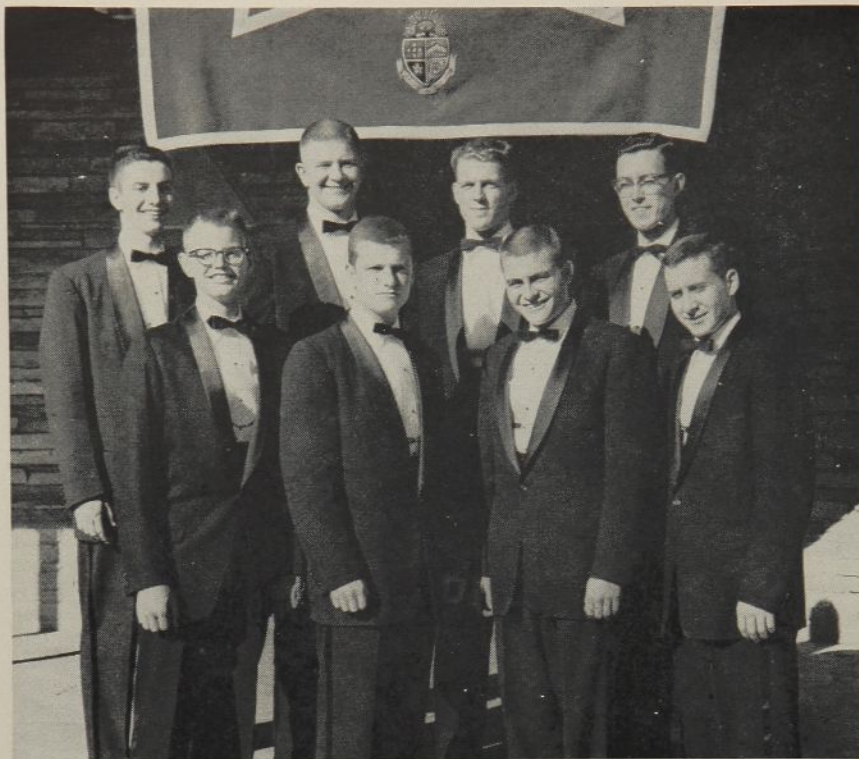

The final crowning achievement by Chapter Omicron reached the corresponding secretary just before presentation of THE RAINBOW article. As a result of personal and house intensification of scholastic achievement, the active chapter totaled the least number of delinquents per man among the social fraternities represented at Iowa City. A well-rounded chapter, then, greets visitors to Omicron, for, at Omicron Chapter, Deltas are our most important product.

Iowa State—Gamma Pi

A tremendous job of summer rushing by our full-time summer rusher, Dave Nagel, paid off in a 29-man pledge class after rush week. Dave spent the entire summer traveling about Iowa and surrounding states seeing prospective rushees in areas where no members of the chapter lived. The house was completely repainted, and combined with a warm Delt smile and a friendly handshake, helped Gamma Phi achieve one of the finest pledge classes in many years.

Hal Johnson, aided by Tom Schuppe, designed a winning homecoming display, taking third place in fraternity division. Due to a little too much rain on a little too wet water base paint job the entire top of the 30-foot high display had to be repainted by our aerial president, Jay Dockendorff, while the display was standing, finishing only five minutes before judging time.

President Dochendorff has also been honored by Greek honorary organizations, including Gamma Gamma and several engineering honoraries. Tom Kline helped bring about a fine homecoming by serving on the homecoming central committee. Even the pledges are already making their mark in activities; Diego Vietia played in the college production of the musical "First Impressions."

On October 23, eight new members of Gamma Pi Chapter were initiated.

The hard fighting intramural football team, though plagued by injuries, still captured third place in Class A, adding another honor to a very successful quarter.

JAY WOLLIN

Gamma Tau Delts and Gamma Phi Beta Sorority combined for this dance.

Kansas—Gamma Tau

With the end of midsemester exams, the men of Gamma Tau look back with pride at the accomplishments of this new school year.

A formal pledging ceremony early in the year brought 26 new pledges into the "Shelter." In addition to their many individual achievements in campus activities, the pledges were the first to serenade the sororities and women's dormitories and were in charge of the planning of the annual "paddle party" held in October. Far from the least important, the brothers of Gamma Tau are proud of their pledges for their fine scholastic record.

On October 16, in an impressive ceremony, six men became members of Delta Tau Delta.

Visitors to the Shelter are awed by the size of Thor, a Great Dane given to the house by the members of last year's pledge class. Although Thor spends most of his time at the Shelter, he still finds time to go on campus for a little social life. Thor sports a collar on which two pledge pins are implanted in a brass plate.

The Delts are fielding two intramural football teams, two bowling teams, and a tennis team. Although it is too early in the season to give any final results, our teams are showing very well among stiff competition.

Not to neglect another important phase of college life, the rigorous schedule of the men of Gamma Tau has been frequented by numerous parties and other social events. A frequent sight on the week ends is that of the Delts and their dates going "en masse" to the football games. The annual "paddle party" was held October 22 and all the brothers and their dates donned western attire and proceeded to "the barn" where they danced to the music of a "western" rock and roll band. Aches and pains were suffered at the annual roller skating party held this year with the Pi Phis. Earlier in the month, the Delts hosted the Gamma Phi Betas to a dinner served "picnic style" in the Shelter. After the meal, the rugs in the living room were rolled back and everyone danced to the music of the stereo. The Delts recently entertained a large group of rushees with a casino party held in the Shelter.

Another major rush party was held at the TeePee, where the brothers entertained rushees and their dates with a festive party. With the completion of these fine parties, we are now looking forward to the Christmas formal to be held in December.

KEN LYLE

Kansas State—Gamma Chi

With the beginning of a new school year, Gamma Chi is well pleased with the largest and, we think, finest pledge class on campus consisting of 36 men. They elected Jerry Foster, president; Bob Renfrow, vice-president; Don Kunz, secretary-treasurer; and Jack Hooker, sergeant at arms. Richard Cissna will represent the pledge class on the campus interpledge council.

The many hours of hard studying paid off. Gamma Chi was ranked fourth out of the 22 fraternities for the spring semester which was above the all-men's, all-college, and all-fraternity grade average. The grade average for the active chapter was a 2.61 and the pledges averaged a 2.2, based on the four-point system. High grade laurels in the active chapter go to Brother Larry Foulke with a 4.00 and for the pledges it was Jack Grove with a 3.00.

Again this year, the Delts are holding down more top positions on campus than any other fraternity. In the Student Union, better known as the "Delt Annex," Delts hold the following positions: the governing body of the Union, Union Governing Board, is headed by Brother Joe Kashner; other Delts on this 13-member board are Brothers Jim Fairchild, Larry Kraft, Dee Jay Hubbard, Rich Aberle, and our chapter adviser, Ward Keller. The Union program council has had a Delt as its chairman since the beginning of the Union. Keeping this line unbroken is Brother Dave All, this year's U.P.C. chairman. Three of the remaining five male members are Delts. They are Brothers Charles Kipfer, Curtis Maxwell, and Larry Bingham. Brothers Dave Rehfeld, Kent Hutchins, Gary Salyer, Duane Von Fange, and Pledge Jerry Foster hold subcommittee head positions. There are 19 other brothers and pledges who are members of various committees. A few of the top positions outside the Union headed by Delts are the following: the student activities board is headed by Brother Rich Aberle and has as members, Brothers Herb Whitney and Gene Francis; international relations board chairman is Brother Dee Jay Hubbard; Brother Jim Fairchild is chairman of Arts and Science council; and Brother Dave All is a member. Brother Joe Kashner, besides being chairman of the Union governing board, is senior class president, and a member of Blue Key, senior men's honorary.

The whole chapter is proud of Brother Jim Fairchild, who toured the Far East with the famous K-State Singers this past summer. Participating in varsity football this year is Pledge Jack Richardson, starting halfback, and Brother Steve Wollert, reserve end. Brothers Jon Thompson and Jack Grove are looking forward to another big year with the wrestling squad, as is Brother Jerry Hooker with the track team.

The social life at Gamma Chi has started in full swing with the annual

Kansas State chapter's homecoming display

"Driftwood" party, followed by the big homecoming party and the annual paddle party. The paddle party is always one of the year's biggest, presented by the pledge class for graduating seniors.

Gamma Chi made a fine showing in the homecoming decoration competition this year. Under the supervision of Brothers Rich Pieschl and John Denesha our entry won third place. With the able direction of Brother Rich Aberle, Gamma Chi placed third in this year's interfraternity sing. In the "Favorite Man on Campus" election, Brother Jerry Hooker came through with a runner-up spot. His fine campaigning was led by Brother Craig Story.

With our big start and many future activities, we are looking forward to one of our biggest and most exciting years.

GARY SALYER

Kent—Delta Omega

This fall quarter has been an excellent example of how well Delta Omega Chapter can function. We have unity within our group and active participation in most of the organizations on campus. The Stater, our campus daily, is run by Delts George Newkome, business manager; Dick Keough, assistant business manager; Joe Focer, advertising manager; Bob Farrell, sales manager; and Don Woodcock and Jack Fristoe, editions managers. Brother Ron Ross is the Business Manager of our yearbook. Tom Cook is on the board of the interfraternity council. Dick Keough is homecoming chairman for the University. Jack Huber is the president of the gold political party on campus. Dick Kahler has a lead in the campus production of "Electra."

In athletics, our group participates in all of the intramural activities. Up to this writing we have a 6-1 record in football, which earned us a second place in the fraternity division. Brother Dick Kahler is a letterman member of the indoor track team as a high and low hurdler, along with Delt teammate, John Middendorf, a sprinter. Jack Schiller is a scholarship man on the swimming team. He competes in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle. Larry Nosse, a pitcher in the Detroit Tigers organization, is back with us for his perennial one quarter again this year.

Our social functions have been the best ever this fall. Thanks to Social Chairman Chuck Vajda, this quarter's fall schedule includes a party with Beta Chapter, an "A-Rab" party, a "Big Pumpkin" party, and a Christmas party, just to mention a few. The parties serve a dual function; they are great for rush and are enjoyable associations with the brothers.

The first quarter of school is very slow for pledging because of the deferred rushing here. Our fall pledge class, under the supervision of Pledge Master Al Ardale and Rush Chairman Dave Mile-tich, has seven new members. They are Dick Campbell, Ray Hanna, Jack Kloss, Jim Martin, Dale O'Tool, Jim Russ, and Dave Stillson.

In intramural sports we have been well represented. Our volleyball team and our wrestling team each rated third place in all-fraternity competition. In over-all competition we are running just short of first place. We hope to pick up points toward the all-fraternity trophy with our basketball team. Excellent height from 6'6" John Miller, 6'4" Leo Sparr, and 6'3" Jim Russ enlighten this season's prospects.

Newly elected alumni chairman, Tom Williams, has been hard at work gathering information for a Delt alumni newsletter which will soon be published monthly. Another new idea taking form is a Delt quartet. Under the direction of Brother Jack Huber, this group will compete in the annual K.S.U. quartet contest as well as for our own entertainment at parties.

In the field of politics, Brother Tom Cooke was elected president of student council. Each member of our chapter is encouraged to participate in an activity on campus and this presidency of student council is among the most coveted offices a student can attain.

As can easily be seen, this has been a busy quarter for the brothers of Delta Omega; however, activity makes campus life more enjoyable.

LARRY NOSSE and JACK HUBER

Kentucky—Delta Epsilon

Delta Epsilon pledged 12 boys during the first-semester rush. They were Bill Conley, Larry Deters, Don Griffith, Ed Houlihan, Buzzy Hulette, Ed Majors, Cap Middleton, Wes Morris, Phil Neat, Yancey Pinkston, Dave Whitmer, and Donnie Wright.

All the boys were either upperclassmen or transfer students. Next semester's rush will include the freshmen. This is the first time that the University's fraternity system has conducted a delayed rush.

Last week the fraternity officially got into the Christmas spirit by giving a party for the children in the third grade at Lincoln School.

Tinker King played a beautiful, rotund, jolly Santa Claus. The children each received two gifts from him.

The Delts had a number of other parties this semester. They ranged from the "Neon" party, where everyone literally glowed, to several blanket parties and open houses.

Just after Thanksgiving the Delts had their annual Christmas dance, which they give with the Tri-Delts.

Playing basketball this year are two fine Delts, Jim McDonald and Herky Rupp. McDonald is seeing a lot of service because of his defensive ability.

Claude Pierce has received a fellowship which is worth $5,000. It will become effective when he is graduated in June.

Delta Epsilon takes this opportunity to hope that everyone had a tremendous Christmas and to wish that everyone has a Happy New Year.

BEN PATTERSON

Lafayette—Nu

Major renovations having been completed at the Shelter last year, the brothers of Nu Chapter found the house in good shape upon returning this September. More improvement was done by the brotherhood, the main project being the repainting of the upper two floors.

On the athletic side of our calendar, we are off to a good start. Interfraternity football saw the Delts field a squad which was no world-beater but one that was respected by all who played them. Interfraternity cross-country will be run in the near future and our runners are in top shape. Two sophomores who add to our hopes of victory are Charles Rau, a cross-country man for the freshman team, and Bob Funk, a member of last year's freshman track squad.

On the varsity level, we are well represented. Sophomore Bill Seed is the first-string fullback in Lafayette's new I-formation. An excellent blocker, Seed has been outstanding on defense. Jim Oehlert, a senior, is cocaptain of the varsity cross-country squad and has copped first place in three out of the four meets the team has had so far this season. Lafayette is undefeated so far in this department. Pete Knudsen, Barry Pullen, and Fred Vanderbeck can all be found on the soccer field, the first two being lettermen.

Our social life isn't neglected and our fall events are proof of that. The opening football game saw Nu Chapter traveling to Philadelphia for a joint party with Omega Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania. Parents' week end and Founders Day, a college celebration, was a tremendous success in all respects, with the house bulging with parents of undergraduates plus alumni who returned for the yearly event. A gala week end in Boston has been planned for us by our brothers at M.I.T. and Tufts when the Leopards meet the Jumbos. Our traditional game with Lehigh will be held in the midst of the fall week end on campus.

Pete Claussen has been named the headline's editor of Lafayette's yearbook, The Melange, and Bob Funk the photography and engravings editor. Rich Bonelli is a member of the staff which publishes the Marquis, a campus literary magazine.

Due to the new deferred rushing program, no pledging will be done until the second semester of the school year.

BRUCE VAKIENER

Lawrence—Delta Nu

Delts are in all places of importance on the Lawrence campus and are being recognized by the outside world as well. The fall opened with one of the world's most successful rush programs. Rush Chairmen Duke Watts and Chuck Engberg ushered in 26 of the finest of the class of 1964. Under the superb direction of Pledge Trainer Tom Oakland, the new members are being well indoctrinated into the great sphere of Deltism.

Delts now hold important posts in many of the college's activities. Fraternity President Motz Drew has been most influential around campus as president of the IFC. Bob Anderson planned and managed the school's most successful homecoming in years, including the crowning of a Delt girl, Miss Sheila MOTZ DREW, Delta Nu prexy, and brothers relaxing while watching Sunday television show.

Meier, as queen. George McKann planned and managed the careers conference held here recently. Al Saltzstein continues to do amazing work as sports editor of the student newspaper, the Lawrentian. The whole state of Alaska is proud of him. Dick Kauffman has been chosen to be a member of the Contributor board, the publishers of the campus literary magazine. Walt Glascoff is in charge of the very influential convocation committee. He has been responsible for bringing to the campus such people as John Ciardi, Senator William Proxmire, Conrad Adenauer, and Izzy Furd to campus. Dan Brink heads the powerful Union committee, considered the most influential student committee on campus. Brothers Steve Pfarrer and Markus Johnson organized the winning house decoration in the homecoming display in this year's homecoming contest, another first for Delta Nu.

Grades again have been stressed at the Shelter. We again are the campus leaders and with our average of 1.79, on a three-point system, we have shattered the modern record for a Lawrence College fraternity. We have achieved this enviable mark only through diligence to our work, the fine work of our scholarship chairman, Tom Weber, and a lack of other honors to work for. We also won the freshman scholarship award, the Midwest Conference scholarship award, and the Heisman Trophy.

Socially, the Delts again are tops. Brothers Chris Todd and Dan Brink are helping lead a group of Hi-Y youngsters. Don Bergman is very active in DeMolay. He and Brother Dick Pizza are also helping to expand the services of the Appleton Rescue Mission. The annual Delt-Theta Halloween party for the underprivileged children of Appleton was again a big success.

On the less-serious side of the social scene, the Delt pledge formal was a great success. Held at Menasha's fashionable North Shore Country Club, and to the swinging sounds of Ignatz Pilakowski and his Merry Men, the party highlighted an otherwise drab social season in the heart of the midwest. The chapter held a fantastic "come as you are" party in the Brown County Arena last September.

Alumnus Steve Sperry has received great renown among the teenage set. His hit record, "Summer Love," is now No. 1 in La Crosse and Poy Sippi. Alumnus Steve Crews is currently selling encyclopedias. Brother Dick Young, last year's correspondent, is spending the year at Edinburgh, while our treasurer, Ron Alwin, is touring the continent. Alumni Henry James and George Eliot, class of '58, are now working on their doctorates in English literature.

Athletically, the fall season brought much honor to the Shelter. Dan Brink was the mainstay of the powerful Viking front wall. Playing both offense and defense, he was a unanimous all-conference choice. Carey Wickland was the second highest ground gainer on the team in his first year of varsity competition. He also starred on defense, not allowing a pass to be caught from his defensive half-back position. Chris Todd and Mike Franzen were starting linemen for the team and both did a superlative job. In cross-country, Delts held the top three places. Chunky Bill Stout, next year's captain, was the team's top man and finished fifth in the conference meet. Reed Williams, a sophomore, ran consistently second, behind Stout in all the team's meets. Herb Weber, also a sophomore, ran a fine third when he finally got into shape.

Interfraternity sports again showed a Delt predominance. The touch football season ended very successfully for Delta Nu. Jeff Knox was medalist in the interfraternity golf tournament with a low total of 31. The match was called after five holes. Don Lichty captained the first all-Delt polo team, and led them to a thrilling victory over the faculty team.

Life is a never ending chase here at Delta Nu, but our brothers are doing their best to meet the challenge this dizzy world gives us. We know the brotherhood and manly ideals learned at the Shelter will lead us onward.

ALAN SALTZSTEIN

Maine—Gamma Nu

With the coming of September, the Delts returned to the Shelter in full force looking forward to another fine year. During the summer we had some notable improvements in the house. The interior and exterior were both repainted, new desks were received by the chapter, and through the effort of Brother Ron Cilley, with his wood-working skill, we were presented with a ping-pong table.

Fall is the time for football and what football season would be a success without homecoming. Gamma Nu saw many alumni return to the Shelter and relive past times. The Delts worked hard on their homecoming display and saw their efforts rewarded with first prize. The title of the winning display: "Victory Is in the Balance."

The Delts were sorry to see Brother John Grant, our adviser for the past eight years, retire. The work that Brother Grant has done for the chapter will not be forgotten. On December 8 the brothers held a banquet for Brother Grant in recognition of his fine service. A suitably inscribed plaque was presented to him. The Delts will miss Brother Grant, but we are glad to have Brother Ed Piper as our new adviser. We are sure that Ed will continue to maintain the standards that advisers before him have set.

Beginning things with a roar, our intramural basketball team has mowed through the opposition and at this writing is undefeated. Sparked by the back court play of Brothers Pete Forbush and Ron Allen and the forward strength of Brothers Stan Allain and Roger Holmes, the Delts have high hopes of winning the championship. Brothers Dave Smith, Jack Karkos, Ken Chase, Jim Bailey, Steve Ridley, and Jerry Noble are also assets to the team's performance this year.

A high point of the fall semester at Gamma Nu is the fall houseparty. With a theme of "Winter Wonderland," the Delts and their dates had a wonderful time. All left wishing that time didn't fly by so fast. The week end was far from being over as Gamma Nu held a jam session that caused jealous rumors to run rampant through fraternity row. Our thanks go to our social chairman, Brother Doug Skillin, for organizing such a fine week end.

Gamma Nu is proud of its gracious, lovable, and charming housemother, Mrs. Marion Baron, who is beginning her eighth year with us. We only hope that she continues to be as proud of us as we are of her.

Glancing into the crystal ball the Delts are looking forward to Winter Carnival and the many events which spring brings to the Maine campus. Foremost in Gamma Nu's plans is the rushing program. The Delts have elected Brother Ken Winters as rush chairman and are confident of his ability to produce an outstanding program. Although the crystal ball does not forecast Maine Day for quite a while the Delts, in order to have a winning year at the interfraternity sing, have elected Brother Peter Hayes as song leader.

The Christmas season having drawn nigh, the brothers at Gamma Nu look forward to the vacation and wish to join in and say Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all Delts.

TIM ROBBINS

Maryland—Delta Sigma

As the school year draws near the midway mark, it is appropriate now to reflect back upon some of the achievements of the Delta Sigma Chapter so far this year.

We had a very successful fall rush program, pledging 12 fine men, which increases the number of our pledge class to 25 members. Not to be outdone, our active chapter initiated two new brothers in the Fraternity. Thanks to the fine work of our rush chairman, Jim Putnam, and our pledge trainer, Kirt Bass, this year's pledge class shapes up to be one of the finest groups on campus. They have already shown their great spirit by forming the nucleus of our touch football team, which finished off the season with a six wins, three losses, and one tie record. They also organized the planning and decorations for our homecoming float this fall.

Our social program, under the direction of Wayne Keller, is in full swing. We have already had several swinging parties this semester, including a Bermuda party, a toga party, and a hobo party. High on this list of social events was the reception given us at the United States Supreme Court by our good friend and brother Delt, Tom Clark. This event was attended by both the Maryland and George Washington University Chapters. Another high light this semester was our memorable homecoming dinner and party in honor of our far-flung alumni. Held in Bethesda, Maryland, this well attended get-together gave everyone a chance to renew old acquaintances and make many new ones.

Our program is far from over, however. In the coming weeks we have planned many more parties, topped off by our annual Christmas party, at which time actives and pledges exchange gifts.

One of Delta Sigma's traditional functions on campus each fall has been to sponsor the presentation of the "Sorority of the Year" award. This year, however, due to the lack of vital information from the University, it was decided to postpone this event until sometime in the spring.

In campus affairs, we can take great pride in Brother Brad Becker. Recently elected treasurer of the student government, he was also appointed to Kalegathos, fraternity men's honorary society, and Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary. Also active in campus affairs are Neil Welty, recently elected president of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional men's advertising fraternity, and semester has been our new housemother, Mrs. Cooley, who replaced retired housemother, Mrs. Frankie Dowling. We are all more than pleased to have our new "Mom" with us.

In the past few weeks the entire chapter has pitched in to paint the inside of the Shelter. Work is progressing rapidly, thanks to the combined efforts of everyone. A special thanks should be offered to Tom Brown, Wayne Keller, and Norman Bates for the extra effort they have put in on the painting.

This is only the beginning of the many events taking place this year. I hope by the next issue that we can have some more good news for you. Until then, the best to all our chapters from Delta Sigma.

NEIL J. WELTY

M.I.T.—Beta Nu

After a spirited rush week, tensions were relieved at the traditional chapter festivities. The new pledge class contains six of the top ten men on the freshman basketball team as well as winners of Sloane and National Merit scholarships. These prospective Delts are: Mike Simpson, Bill Dreiss, Jim Simpson, Jack Downie, Jim MacMillan, Terry Setchfield, Dave Driscoll, and Bob Sandel.

Inhibitions were abandoned at many exciting Delt parties this fall. Secure in the Delt Shelter, we laughed at Hurricane Donna's howling winds with a "hurricane" party. A Bohemian party featured strumming guitars and poetry reading under the flicker of candle light. Strong coffee, exotic jungle music, pads, and a beat dancing contest, enhanced the evening. The pledge party had a Hawaiian setting, including a Polynesian feast and a hula contest in the shadows of paper palm trees. An authentic Hawaiian movie, run backwards to convert the English narration into Polynesian, concluded the festive evening. Spinning roulette wheels, chuck-a-luck, wheel of fortune, and black-jack games were all part of the Las Vegas extravaganza party. A feature of the evening was a brassy, can-can dance supplied by Brothers Mas-saro, Weber, and Fadley. Their feminine disguise failed, however, to conceal hairy legs.

Athletically this fall, Beta Nu has been only average. Our intramural football team was eliminated in the division playoffs. On the bright side, the intramural basketball team has won its division and is currently in the championships.

MOTNAHP CERVENKA

Michigan—Delta

The activities at Delta Chapter got under way this year with ten new men signing their names to the chapter roll. These new brothers have fast become an integral part of the chapter, many already assuming places of responsibility at the Shelter.

With the aid of a new rush booklet put together by Dick Knab, Delta Chapter secured, through fall rush, nine pledges which it feels are truly outstanding. These boys show a great willingness to work and an extreme amount of unity within their class, which we feel will carry over when they become actives. For the first time in many years we are now utilizing the open rushing program as specified by the IFC. Fritz Kellermann, as the spring rush chairman, has been doing an excellent job in seeing that rushees are brought out to dinners and chapter functions throughout the semester. By getting acquainted with the actives and with the Shelter now, the rushees will be familiar with the chapter when spring rush starts in February.

After getting off to an excellent start in intramural football this fall, we seemed to falter in our athletic program; however, through the hard work and persistence of our athletic chairman, Kelsey Peterson, we are making a strong comeback. We were in the finals in swimming, and hope to do at least as well in basketball.

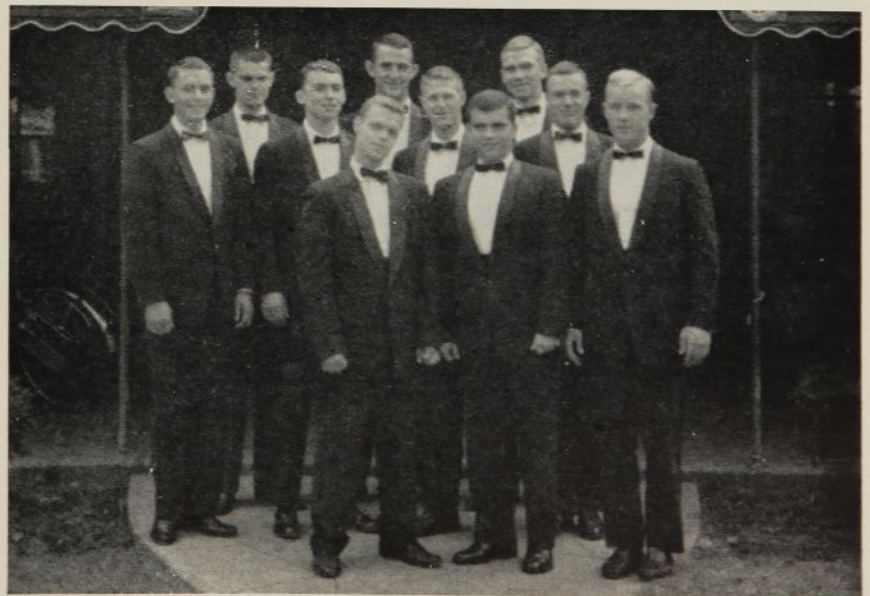

Our social activities have not been lacking this year, either. Andy Morrow, as social chairman, has done an excellent job. In addition to the regular Saturday night parties, which are always a lot of fun, we have had hayrides, pajama parties, folk-singing parties, and many others.

The big social event of the semester was the pledge formal. Kim Sebaly, as pledge formal chairman, worked very hard to see that everything was a success. The Shelter was all decked out in green boughs and roping. Blue lights played softly on the Christmas trees scattered throughout the house. On either side of the entrance was a tree laden down with the girls' corsages. With a roaring fire in the fireplace, the Shelter presented a warm air of hospitality. It was, indeed, a fitting way to pay tribute to a fine pledge class.

Nor was our responsibility to the community neglected this fall. Delta Chapter, in cooperation with the Tri-Delts, gave a Christmas party for the children at the University Hospital. Todd Grant played Delta pledges were waiters for Christmas dance at Michigan.

Santa Claus, handing out gifts and toys, while the rest of the brothers succeeded in entertaining both the children and the Tri-Delts.

At chapter meeting of December 11, the officers for the next year were elected. Unanimously elected were: Bob Benson, president; Bob Pierce, vice-president; Dave Kartalia, treasurer; Tom McAuliffe, corresponding secretary; Dave Croysdale, recording secretary; and Lars Anderson, sergeant at arms.

We were especially pleased this fall to entertain Dr. Hazel Losh of the University Astronomy department. Her well-known sense of humor, which has served her so well in taking that natural clumsiness out of teacher-student relationships, made "Doc" a favorite at the Shelter.

As one of those very, very rare opportunities Delta will also entertain Dr. Paul Tillach, the eminent Harvard theologian. Many of the brothers who have not already read Dr. Tillach's book, The Dynamics of Faith, are now reading it in preparation for an extremely interesting evening.

The chapter was honored this fall when its vice-president, Todd Grant, was one of three men tapped by Sphinx, a junior men's honorary. Another of our past officers, Jerry Smith, the ex-treasurer, was elected president of the engineering honor council.

From these few early signs the membership of Delta feels justified in predicting a big year for itself. We hope that next June the year, in retrospect, will demonstrate the promise of its early weeks.

STEVE VANDER VOORT

Michigan State—Iota

After a long, quiet summer, the Shelter at Michigan State once again came alive as the brothers returned for the new school year. Fall term passed quickly and soon the brothers were leaving for their homes to enjoy the Christmas season. Even though the quarter seemed to flash by, the men of Iota gained new recognition to bolster their high-ranking position on M.S.U.'s campus.

Fall rush, under the fine leadership of Larry Morris, went by smoothly and provided the setting for the Shelter's annual fall rush party. The house was decorated in a circus atmosphere complete with clowns and side-show booths. Several of the brothers volunteered their services as barkers and targets for cream pies. After the process of rush was completed, Iota had gained ten new pledges. Jim Bonner, John Little, Bill Jenkins, Doug Thompson, Bob Campbell, Tom Krause, Bob Sharkey, Bill Wood, and president-elect of the new class, Pat Smith, were pledged to Iota Chapter.

The M.S.U. homecoming game with Ohio State offered the Delts their first opportunity to start the fall term off on the right foot. With Jim Patterson turning in an excellent job as chairman, our homecoming display was completed in the wee hours of Saturday morning. But the long hours of hard work were rewarded when the judges presented Iota the second-place trophy. We are hopeful that the hard work put into the display will apply to all of our activities this year and that this homecoming trophy will be the first of many honors to come our way.

On the sports slate, the Delt football team, defending all-University champs, picked up where it left off last year. An all-veteran team, with Captain Jim Draves leading the attack, has won all games to date and prospects for another title seem to be bright. While on the subject of sports, the Iota hockey team is beginning to loosen up for the coming schedule. Under the direction of Gary Bell, the pucksters last year skated their way to an all-University title. Hopes are high that the team will give the opposing squads a repeat performance.

Elections dominated the campus for a while and when the smoke had cleared the Delts had placed two men in prominent positions. Brothers Bob Andringa and Bill Myers were elected to the posts of sophomore class president and junior class vice-president, respectively. Other additions to our growing list of men in campus activities are Larry Morris, who has recently attained the chairmanship of the personnel committee for all-University student government and a cabinet position on the same organization, and Jerry Myers who was appointed co-chairman of the 1961 J-Hop.

Recognition for a fine job done goes to Brothers Bill Myers, John Forsyth, Rody Sherril, John Jordan, Mike Miller, and Terry Braverman for their excellent work on Iota's yearbook, The Chronicle. Many complimentary letters were forthcoming from alums who received the publication. We hope that through this publication we can maintain closer contact with the many graduated brothers by giving them a look at our year's activities.

Rounding out a successful term was the annual Christmas tree lighting, which the Delts sponsor jointly with the Pi Beta Phi's, for the blind and underprivileged children of Lansing. Under the musical direction of John Forsyth, carols were sung around the brilliantly lit tree and the true spirit of the season seemed to prevail.

In closing, the men of Iota extend the best of the season to the chapters throughout the country and hope the new year will bring continued success for Delta Tau Delta.

BARRY BONE

Minnesota—Beta Eta

Beta Eta had one of its best fall quarters this year. All the brothers came back a week early for a work week. During rush, Beta Eta obtained 26 new pledges.

Our homecoming party was held at the new Edgewater Inn in Minneapolis after Minnesota beat Illinois. Our football team gained top national ranking after defeating Iowa. Two brothers, Tom Hall and Jack Mulvena, and three of our pledges, Don Barawski, Ross Indica, and Terry Maus are on the team this year.

This coming week end 30 of the brothers are joining together with the Alpha Phis on two buses for the traditional journey to the Minnesota-Wisconsin football game at Madison. It is one of the events that is looked forward to every year and we expect it to be better than ever this year.

Greek Week is approaching in the near future. Last year we won the all-participation trophy and if we can win it again this year it will be retired to our trophy case. Brother Jon Wicklund is the University Greek Week chairman this year. Dave Holmberg is Beta Eta Chapter's chairman. We are expecting another great and winning Greek Week.

ROSS LOUREY

Missouri—Gamma Kappa

Gamma Kappa of Delta Tau Delta is working on another successful year in all phases of college life. During rush week we ranked fifth among the 31 fraternities by taking 18 pledges. This was due mainly to the efforts of the rush chairman, Andy Kantis, and the fine job of editing the rush booklet by Brother Jim Heard. In open rush since school has been in process, we have picked up ten pledges with Mark McKinney as rush chairman.

The pledge class officers are: president, Joe Russel; vice-president, Larry Schulze; social chairman, Tom Clevenger; secretary, Barry Stuart; and treasurer, Darrel Ausherman.

The Delts are well represented in intercollegiate athletics this year. John O'Dowd is on the Missouri varsity football team; and in baseball, we have Captain Gene Orf and John Meives in the outfield with Al Laffoon behind the plate. Gene was picked for the third team NCAA All-American team last year.

In intramurals the Delts have also done very well. We won the intramural football championship, finishing ahead of the 31 fraternities on campus. We were unbeaten, untied, and unscored upon. We scored a total of 139 points for an average of 23 points a game. In the finals, the Delts beat the SAE's, the Sammies, and the Phi Delts. In the final game, which was against the Phi Delts, the only touchdown was made by our athletic chairman, John Antonio. Our successful season was due to an all-out effort on the part of the team and support of the other men of the chapter.

Socially this year, we have had parties with the Thetas, the Tri-Delts, the Chi O's, and the Alpha Chis. We played the Thetas in a football game, in which we were beaten six to nothing. The Thetas gained much ground because of the Delts' penalties for "illegal use of hands." Plans have been made for our winter formal, which will be held December tenth.

Under the leadership of Bill Elliot, the Delts are working on the homecoming decorations with the hope of a Miz-zou victory and a bid to the Orange Bowl.

The Delt basketball squad is now beginning to practice, and we feel that we have a good chance at the basketball crown to match the one we got for football. This winter, the Gamma Kappa Delts are continuing to remain at the top in all activities on the MU campus.

MARK MCKINNEY

Nebraska—Beta Tau

Beta Tau began another year with a successful climax to summer rushing by pledging 29 men after rush week. The new "squabs" are studying earnestly to make their averages and have also had a cave party and a trip to Missouri University at Columbia.

The NU Delts are looking forward to a banner year. Delts have been actively engaged in social life, activities, intramurals, sports, and scholarship.

The high light of the fall social season at the chapter was the Greek toga party. Sixty Delts and their dates attended the night's festivities, which included grapes, togas, thongs, and all.

Also on the social side, the Delts held an exchange dinner with the Delta Gammas and had several football functions.

Leading the Delts activitywise on campus this year is Brother Jim Samples. Sam is on the student council, the interfraternity council secretary, and in Kosmet Klub. He still finds time to handle the chapter treasurer's duties and maintains an 8.3 average.

Brother Roy Neil also serves on the student council and Brothers Dick Stuckey, Cloyd Clark, and Dave Wohlfarth write for the Daily Nebraskan.

Delts Dennis Novicki, Beta Tau president, and John Mitchem are cochairmen in Lincoln Project. Other Delts involved in the community projects are John Nore, Steve Joynt, Perry Dudden, Gary Auch Moedy, Harold Bauer, Gary Neff, and Steve and Mark Ellenberg.

Sophomores Joynt and Ron Bevins are Kosmet Klub workers and on the student union committees. Brother Joynt is also on the IFC rush committee.

In intramurals this fall, the Delts won their third straight first-place tennis trophy, winning the fall singles title. Playing for the Delts were Brothers Wohlfarth, Dick Gibson, Ralph Queen, John Osterlund, Corky Harold, and Mitchem.

The Delts' A and B football teams both had good seasons and currently there are three Delt teams, A, B, and C, in the intramural basketball race.

In the indoor fraternity track trials, eight Delts have advanced into the finals. Brother Ladd Hubka tied for first in the 60-yard low hurdles and Steve Pfister took firsts in the one-lap run and the 60-yard dash for the Delts.

Delt Ron Borer played tackle on the 1960 Nebraska football team and Pledges Roland Johnson and Ken Fox were members of the freshman football squad.

Fox is also out for wrestling and another pledge, Tom Nystrom, participates in gymnastics.

This spring four Delts will be out to make the tennis team. Brothers Wohlfarth, Queen, Nore, and Gibson will be stroking for the Huskers.

In track, the Delts are well represented with Sprinter Steve Pfister and Andy Steel. Golfer Bud Williamson and Baseballers Steve Smith, Pat Tooley, and Jerry Simmons complete the Delt sports picture.

In scholarship, the word is to improve on the number of squabs who make their average. Last year 17 out of 24 pledges made their averages and this looms as a big challenge for this year's pledge class.

DAVE WOHLFARTH

North Dakota—Delta Xi

Delta Xi got off to a fine start this fall. Our rush program was the most ambitious we've had in years. Brother Doug Beito, field secretary, was here during formal rush week. Doug was a great inspiration, not only because of his dy-

president

amic personality, but also his many helpful suggestions. The result—a pledge class we are extremely proud of.

Unfortunately, Brother Ron Johnson, our president, could not be with us this year. Brother Richard Platts is our newly elected president and is doing an excellent job.

Delta Xi Chapter is giving an achievement award called the "Delta Tau Delta Sorority Achievement Award." This award will be given for the first time this year during Greek Week, November 6-12. This trophy is awarded on the basis of scholastic achievement and participation in University activities. It is a gold-plated trophy, four feet high, and will be engraved with the winning sorority's name and year. It is a traveling trophy, awarded annually, and will eventually become the property of the sorority winning it the greatest number of times in 15 years.

The high lights of our fall social season are the coming "Hard Times" party, November 11, and our Christmas formal, December tenth. Our social chairman is Brother Don Schmid. Plans are now under way for our 25th anniversary celebration to be held in the spring. Brother Ed Tupa is in charge of arrangements.

Brother Don Schmid is a member of the University's public events committee. Brothers Dennis Levi, Richard Platts, and Pledge Dean Quick have been selected for the advanced course in the Air Force ROTC. Brother Paul Vondracek has been selected for the advanced course in the Army ROTC. Brother Vondracek is also a member of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity. Brother Bill Grange is in two honorary organizations—Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity and Phi Epsilon Kappa, honorary society in physical education. Pledge Dennis Torno is a member of Delta Sigma Pi, honorary association in business education.

Brother Vondracek is a member of the University concert band, and he and Pledge Bob Dahl are members of the University all male marching band. Pledge Allen Nelson is the top scorer in the intramural bowling league.

Following are the officers of the pledge class: Don Stewart, president; Russell Ochsner, vice-president; Leonard Scnitzler, secretary; Bruce Kostad, social chairman, and J. D. Mund, sergeant at arms.

Last, but not least, our chapter made great strides scholastically, with our pledge class being the highest of all housing units on campus, including the sororities. Delta Tau Delta placed third scholastically among the fraternities.

PAUL F. VONDRACEK

Northwestern—Beta Pi

Delta Tau Delta raised the curtain on Northwestern's 1960-61 social life in October with the Delt pajama race. Four speedy Sargent Hall freshmen combined to win the relay race, which preceded coronation of the 1960 Delt pajama queen, Judy Erickson. Following the coronation, the lovely queen and her court were serenaded at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

The traditional "Pig Dinner" was held at the Shelter following Northwestern's homecoming game with Michigan State. After stuffing themselves with pork, the brothers and their dates joined with alums for the annual alumni homecoming party at the Saddle and Cycle Club.

The Delt social calendar for winter quarter features various exchanges and get-togethers. Several big parties, including the pajama party, have also been planned.

A review of activities finds Beta Pi claiming many prominent positions on the campus. Ed Bryant and John Doolittle are members of the activities and organizations board. Bryant also holds a seat on the Northwestern student senate and the sophomore class council executive board. He is chairman of the academic affairs committee and is on the national student association committee. Bill Kunkle is chairman of the sophomore polling commission. Other Delts on his commission include Gary Fisher, John Monson, Fred Schlegel, and Bill Smith. Gerry Ball is vice-president, and Jim Leahy treasurer, of Sheil Club.

Dan Benninghoven and Fred Schlegel are members of the international students committee. Delt participants in the student service fund auction include Brothers Ball, Bryant, Donnelly, Kahle, Kline, DeWolf, Kunkle, Schlegel, and Wyatt. Roger Kuppinger is on Wildcat council, and Jim Leahy serves on the Operation Evanston committee.

Delta Tau Delta also maintained its leadership in the more specialized fields of endeavor. Mike Barrier and Chuck Mount are on the staff of the Daily Northwestern. Dan Benninghoven is vice-president of the Ski Club, and is a member of Kappa Psi, business fraternity. Fred Dale and John Kastner hold lead parts in the Dolphin Show. John Humbert is an officer in the Society for Advancement of Management. Jeff Kahle is in the NROTC drum and bugle corps.

Beta Pi Chapter's pajama queen for 1960, JUDY ERICKSON, center, examines trophy presented her by TOM MARZEC.

Beta Phi's TERRY HOGAN runs for a gain in IM football contest at Northwestern.

Led by Activities Chairman Bryant, Beta Pi also increased its power in student government. Brothers Adamson, Barrier, Quimby, and Walton are new members of their respective class councils. John Doolittle is the Delt representative to the interfraternity council, and Alan Grindal is treasurer of Jr.-IFC.

Nor is academic achievement lacking. Mike Barrier, Gerry Ball, George Javaras, and Fred Schlegel were on the dean's list of their respective schools last spring quarter. Brother Javaras is in Beta Gamma Sigma, business honorary society. Javaras is president, and Ball, a member, of Beta Alpha Psi, national honorary accounting fraternity. Brother Schlegel was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary, and Barrier was initiated into Sigma Delta Chi. John Maselter was initiated into the honorary engineering society.

Several Delts help hold the future for varsity teams from Northwestern University. Jack Cvercko, sophomore tackle on the football team, broke into the starting line-up in several games as a defensive specialist. Steve Newcomer was the No. 1 runner on Northwestern's newly-formed cross-country team. Frank Paris and Freshman Jim Kline are varsity wrestlers. John Humbert and Freshman John Kastner are both out for varsity swimming.

Sophomores Bill Woislaw (6' 9") and Ken Lutgens (6' 4") team up with Guards Bill Cacciatore and Tom Potter to add height to the relatively inexperienced Northwestern basketball squad. Cacciatore scored 27 points in last year's upset of Indiana.

As the fall quarter drew to a close, it was apparent to Intramural Chairman Chuck "Scoop" Mount that Beta Pi has the best chance in its history to win the intramural sweepstakes race. Delta Tau Delta is relying on its predicted dominance of 1961 spring intramural sports to gain the necessary points to finish in first place.

The Delts won the all-school swimming meet, compiling sufficient points to equal the combined total of the second- and third-place teams. Freshman swimmer, John Kastner, won both the 50-yard freestyle and 75-yard individual medley, and placed third in the 75-yard breaststroke. Fred Dale won first place in the 50-yard backstroke, second in the 100-yard backstroke, and third in the 75-yard butterfly. Veteran John Humbert placed second in the fancy diving contest.

Delta Tau Delta tied for second in the wrestling meet. Freshman Jim Kline won the 155-pound class, winning all but two matches by pins. Al Spooner took fourth place in the 165-pound class. Bill DeWolf, favorite in the 145-pound class, reached the quarter finals but was forced to forfeit by a pulled cartilage in his chest.

Brother Mount's football team reached the quarter-finals before dropping a close 6-0 contest to Phi Delta Theta. Prior to this play-off match, Delta Tau Delta had won five games in a row. The offensive team was led by Tailback Terry Hogan. Backing him up were Blocking Backs John Humbert and Dean Trafelet, Center Bill Kunkle, and Ends Tom Marzec, Dan Oefinger, and Harry Quimby. The strong Delt defensive unit included center and linebacker Gerry Ball, Ends Al Spooner, Bill Johnson, and Bill Smith, and Backs Humbert, Oefinger, and Bill Gall.

In individual intramural sports, Al McLean advanced to the semifinals in the golf singles before losing to the eventual champion 5-4. John Adamson reached the third round in the fall tennis singles.

Ohio—Beta

Beta Chapter Delts returned to Ohio University to find the Shelter extensively redecorated, thanks to a revitalized house corporation. Credit was also due to President Bob Kraft and Gary Crissey, who spent a lot of their summer vacation working on the project.

Chuck Gardner, a junior, was elected vice-president of OU's student council for the year. Chuck is also administrative vice-president of interfraternity council.

Brother Chuck Abookire was elected president of the junior class in a landslide vote following a hard campaign.

In intramurals, the Delts won the all-campus tennis championship for the second straight semester. Sophomores Bob Kunnick and Larry England, both slated for the varsity tennis team, went undefeated in singles while the doubles was handled by Vaughn Morrison and Corky Boukas.

The golf team, Tom Plummer, Jed Frost, Jim Plummer, and Dick Gatchel, won the fraternity championship.

After a successful rush the Delts had the second-largest pledge class on campus. The 14 new pledges are Bob Cribbet, Jim Query, Ed Herdendorf, Bill Lindeman, Walt Dragelevich, Tom Lynch, Tom Collins, Mickey Drake, Art Nolletti, Mel Hardin, Tom Williams, Steve Heid, Larry McQueen, and Dick Murray. The pledges elected Mickey Drake president and Jim Query vice-president. Mickey was later elected vice-president of the interfraternity pledge council.

Junior Bob Stewart is pledgemaster and Dick Littlepage is workmaster for the new pledge class.

A big homecoming was planned at the Shelter and the crowd of Delt alumni didn't disappoint the men at 32 President Street. Our house decoration was based on the election year theme and was titled "Kenn-a-day come when we'll lose; Nix-on Miami."

Chapter Advisor Frank "Coach" Gullum met with the alums and a lot of serious planning was done for Beta Chapter's new Shelter.

Jed Frost became the campus hero for a day when he was picked by sorority girls as "Mr. Comic Field Day" in the annual event. The Delt team grabbed a second-place trophy in the games before a crowd of cheering Greeks.

Vice-President Roger Wolfe is the Delts' candidate for "Mr. Fraternity" in Ohio U's Greek Week.

New rush chairman is Jerry Bannister. Neil Delfs is assistant chairman and rush for the spring semester is in full swing.

The social season at the Shelter got off to a big start with the annual Delt Bros. Circus party. The Delt dads once again took over the house on Dad's week end. The annual football game with the ADPi's resulted in the usual win for the girls.

Ohio State—Beta Phi

The men of Beta Psi started the year with a determined effort to remain the top fraternity on campus. We soon exceeded our goals and reached an all-time high in campus prestige. Thanks to an excellent summer rushing program headed by Brothers Fullen and Coryn, we pledged the largest class on campus. When combined with our pledges remaining from last year it totaled 50 men. Ten men were initiated this fall. This brings our total membership to over 100. With this record membership, the number of men desiring to live in the Shelter far exceeds our present capacity, and we are now seeking ways and means of expanding the house from its present 40 man level to around 50.

Delts were to be found in many key positions in activities at Ohio State this year as we began a revival of our long dominance in campus affairs. Brother Ray Anderson is a junior senator and member of several student commissions studying such problems as housing and discrimination. Pat McCarthy is a senior senator and also serves on many commissions. Chris Crawford was chairman of the homecoming dance committee and was largely responsible for the success of the dance which was attended by several thousand students. Our homecoming decoration was very unique and followed our reputation of being pioneers in new techniques for the campus. A picture of it appeared in the Ohio State alumni magazine, and it was awarded honorable mention in the competition.

In both varsity and intramural sports, our members were honored. Our varsity football team finished fifth in the nation and the two first-string guards, Don Young and Gabe Hartman, were Delts. They retired this year as two of the few seniors on the team who have won three varsity letters. Gabe was lauded by coach Woody Hayes for having made an incredible 95 per cent of his blocking assignments during the season. Dan Connor and Chuck Mooney were also members of the team and may well earn praise in future seasons. Our intramural football team fought its way to the finals only to be edged out by a last-minute touchdown in the last game. Several men were voted to the school all-star team. These men were Larry Fullen, Jim Butz, and Ted Freshwater. In the rough sport of ice hockey, Leif Johassen and Dick Bavetz won starting positions on the varsity team.

The Delts at Ohio State are noted for having the best parties on campus and this quarter was no exception. From our gala rush party at Darby Dan Ranch to our Bohemian party, the quarter was filled with exciting parties. We entertained nearly 100 rushees at Darby Dan with an afternoon of football, tennis, softball, and swimming. That evening we enjoyed a massive steak dinner, listened to an informal and inspiring talk by Mr. Galbreath, and enjoyed films of his famous race horse, Swaps. At our homecoming party, old alums and recent grads were welcomed back. Over Dads' Day week end some of the fathers lived in the house.

our annual tree trimming party at the Shelter. The brothers brought dates and enjoyed the homemade cakes and cookies of the wives while they trimmed the tree and sang carols before the fire. Another annual Christmas affair was our dinner, which we had the week end before finals. It was complete with appetizers, shrimp cocktail, egg nog, punch, and every course from soup to nuts.

This was indeed an eventful quarter, and after vacation there will be another. This winter we have election of officers, initiation, parties, and the Northern Division Conference, which is being held here in Columbus. The conference will not only be filled with many business sessions, but will also have many hours of entertainment. Combined in the week end will be our annual Founders Day Banquet, and all Beta Phi alumni and all Delt alumni in Franklin County are invited to attend.

We are proud of what we have accomplished this past quarter and are looking forward to the coming year.

DONALD F. WELCH

Ohio Wesleyan—Mu

Under the effective leadership of President David Rees the brothers of Chapter Mu seem well on their way to another rewarding and successful year.

An outstanding pledge class of 35 men was captured during the usual hectic rush week. The chapter is extremely proud of this large class which seems filled with men who will reflect honor on the chapter by their future academic and extracurricular achievements. Brother Richard Nesbitt, our rush chairman, deserves special plaudits for his hard work.

Fall intramural athletics again saw winning Delt teams in all sports. The upperclass volleyball and football teams posted a combined record of ten victories and only two defeats. The football season was highlighted by Brother John Welch's record-breaking 45-yard last-minute field goal which defeated the Sig Eps 9-6. The freshman volleyball team also seems well on its way to an undefeated championship season.

Homecoming week end was another triumph for the Deltas. For the seventh consecutive year Chapter Mu won the OWU interfraternity homecoming display trophy. We were extremely proud to have as our special guest for the week end Brother Branch Rickey, '04, who received the first annual "Alumni Appreciation Award" as thanks for his long and devoted service to Delta Tau Delta and his chapter.

The fall finds the brothers again active in campus activities. Brothers Lacy and Schwindt are business managers of the school newspaper and yearbook, respectively; Brother Buchanan is treasurer of the student body; Brothers Lehman and Welch are student government committee chairmen; Brother Appleyard was tapped for Omicron Delta Kappa, of which he is now secretary and Brother Cowan is director of photography for the newspaper and yearbook; Brother Gartrell is secretary of the interfraternity council; Brother Rees is on the IFC executive council; and Brother Hughes is a justice of men's court.

Brother Sell has also been chosen as Ohio Wesleyan's 1960 nominee for the Rhodes scholarship competition for study at Oxford University in Great Britain.

We have enjoyed a fine fall and are looking forward to the rest of the year.

Oklahoma—Delta Alpha

Delta Alpha cleaned up in campus activities this year at Oklahoma University, placing Delts as presidents of the four top campus organizations. Delt Jerry Tubb is president of the interfraternity council and the Big Eight IFC, Jed Johnson is president of the OU student senate, Ed Buchner is president of the Union activities board, and Bob Bascom is president of the Union activities council.

In addition, Robert Owen is president of the honorary pre-med fraternity, Ray Hall presides over the pre-law fraternity, and Dale Duncan is president of the Young Democrats organization.

Of the seven outstanding senior men on the OU campus, four are Delts: Bernie Hulme, Jerry Tubb, Jed Johnson, and Ed Buchner.

Delta Alpha pulled in a 44-man pledge class this fall, the largest out of rush week. Two pledges, John Tanton and Bob Conley, were elected student senators, and another pledge, Carrol Bowman, has distinguished himself athletically as a member of the Big Eight championship indoor track team, along with Delt Richard Sinclair.

Delta Alpha finished second in scholarship in competition with 25 other fraternities for the '59-'60 school year, and with emphasis on grades in the pledge program and in the active membership, should maintain or improve their record.

In the process of defending last year's intramural basketball championship, Delta Alpha cagers have won their first two games by 30 and 40 points. Delts won the badminton championship and placed second in intramural boxing. Two leagues in intramural football were won by Delts. Jerry Sealy is a varsity baseballer and Delt Pledge Jim Thompson is an outstanding hopeful for varsity tennis.

Social events thus far included the victory party following rush week, various house parties, and the annual fall formal. After formal pledging ceremonies, Delts and their "little brothers" celebrated with a pizza banquet and serenades of OU sorority houses with typical Delt exuberance.

Delta Alpha played host to Delt dads at the annual Dad's week end and constructed an attractive float for homecoming.

Christmas and holiday social events included the "Little Guy's" party, for underprivileged children in Norman; the Christmas dance, with presents given to Housemother Mrs. E. F. Ammons and Chapter Adviser Dr. Richard G. Fowler; and a New Year's party in Tulsa. Two big rush parties were conducted in Oklahoma City and Tulsa during the Christmas vacation.

MIKE DIRHAM

Oregon—Gamma Rho

As usual the Delts started off at a rapid pace here at the University of Oregon. Many of the new members and some of the juniors spent time in remodeling their rooms. The downstairs hall and dining room were also improved by the members.

Socially, we started the year with our annual Tri-Delt picnic. This is the first function in which the pledges participate after pledging. It was held at Armistage State Park on the McKenzie River. There were the usual picnic games, eats, and songs.

The next function this year was our annual "Sally Sunshine" contest. Every fall term we have a surprise breakfast with some sorority. This year we surprised the Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority at seven o'clock on a Saturday morning. We ate breakfast and retired to the living room for the entertainment. Here we elected Rae Hinchey as "Sally Sunshine," the most glamorous girl in the house. No girl in the sorority had any previous knowledge of the breakfast except the social chairman and the housemother. The girls were what you might call socially unprepared.

Gamma Rho's pledge class

"Surprise" breakfast at Alpha Omicron Pi house with Oregon Delts

Gamma Rho's pledge class consists of 24 men. The pledge class had a unique and very gratifying experience when they were given the pledge oath. Mr. Robert Gilley, the Fraternity President, who resides in Portland, Oregon, traveled to the Shelter and administered the pledging ceremony. Mr. Gilley also gave a speech on the value of the national fraternity system. Paul Peterson, a member of the Gamma Rho House Corporation, was also present. The pledge class and the members felt this was a great honor.

The Oregon Delts are looking forward to a very rewarding year in 1960-1961.

Oregon State—Delta Lambda

Delta Lambda is off to another successful year with the largest and best

The 1960 OSC homecoming was a tremendous success due to the combined efforts of several Delts. Tom Schooley did an outstanding job as homecoming general chairman, and Ron Kalina served as publicity chairman. Pledge Bill Holman was chairman for the freshman bonfire. Ed Ulman assisted Bill by heading up the bonfire construction committee. Bill Clarke, local disc jockey and program director for radio station KLOO, added a professional touch to the homecoming talent show as master of ceremonies. To top it all off, E. J. Clough, chairman of Delt homecoming activities, led the Delts to a second place in the homecoming sign competition and to another second place in the noise parade.

Intramural Chairman Wade Harrison has the intramural program running in high gear, as we are now in first place for the all-school championship trophy. Bill Meyenberg made a strong bid for the tennis championship, but was finally defeated by the defending champion. The intramural football team lost to the all-school champions by three points. Another hard-fought football game was played against the Gamma Rho Delts. The game ended in a 13-13 tie after a last-minute touchdown pass from "Wrong Way" Meyenberg to Ron Faia. The post-game party was also a big success. It is hoped that the football game can become an annual event. In varsity athletics, Billy Wold has been doing a good job at guard on the basketball team. Mike Helm won a letter on the freshman football team.

Several Delts have been elected to important student body and class offices. Jim Grinnell is ASOSC treasurer. Senior class treasurer is Scott McKean, and Don Wrenn is treasurer of the junior class. Pete Owens is OSC insurance chairman. Lou Parmenter is the senator from the pharmacy school, and Ed Schroeder has been active in the senate while serving as the senator from the engineering school. Pledge Jim McGhehey has been selected for the freshman rally squad.

Various honor societies have tapped many Delts for membership this term. Jim Grinnell and Tom Schooley were initiated into Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising honorary. John Joel-son was recently elected president of ADS. Tom Schooley was initiated into the national forensics honorary.

The ROTC program at Oregon State is among the best in the nation, and several Deltas have been outstanding military students. John Turner, Jim Grinnell, and Daryl Jones were selected as distinguished military students, and Grinnell was initiated into Scabbard and Blade. Kim Harmon is a new member of Arnold Air Society.

Considering our large pledge class and the many activities of our members, the Delta Lambda Deltas are looking forward to a great year.

PHIL SHULTZ

Pennsylvania—Omega

The Omega Deltas began the semester with a deservedly optimistic outlook. The social season, under the guidance of Pete Eustratiades, has been a fine one. Included were the usual post-football game parties and evening dances, a Parents' Day tea and buffet dinner, a homecoming week end for which many alumni returned to the Shelter, and the usual sorority mixers throughout the course of the semester. The semester events have been capped by the annual Christmas formal and ski trip to the Pocono Mountains.

The Deltas are once again heading the Penn campus with able leadership in extracurricular activities. Seven members of the varsity football team wear the Delt badge, five of which had berths on the starting eleven. Bob Murray, Omega's representative on the lightweight football team, was recently named to the lightweight All-American squad at halfback. Pete Schantz, as captain of the wrestling team, has able company in Dick Harkins and Jack Doubman as first-line grapplers. Sophomore Leo Rota has become the darling of Pennsylvania swimming fans, having broken two pool records in his first varsity outing. Dick Biberosch, a 6' 4" sophomore, is currently battling for a starting berth on Penn's unbeaten basketball squad.

Larry Turns has able backing from Bunky McPherson, Al Doering, and Tim String as chairman of the undergraduate council. Turns, McPherson, Doering, and String head the Christian Association, Friars, senior honor society, Hexagon, senior honor society, and the Varsity Club, respectively. Ted Irvine predicts a fine show from the Mask and Wig Club, of which he is undergraduate chairman this year, and he will be ardently supported by Delt members Bob Holt, Mike Kurg, Harry Bruder, and Larry Turns. Wil Derby and Bunky McPherson represent Omega in the Kite and Key Society, of which Wil is the current president while Connie DeSantis and Bill Gray keep pace as members of Phi Kappa Beta, junior honor society.

Rush Chairman Ted Irvine has set up a fine program for the current fall informal rushing season and prospects for formal rushing in the spring semester are excellent. Under the able leadership of Athletic Chairman Dick Welham, the Delt interfraternity teams have captured a second place in football, a fourth in track, and are currently unbeaten after five games of the IF basketball season.

On December tenth the first meeting of the board of governors of the newly formed Omega Alumni Association was held in the Shelter under the able direction of President John F. Smilgin, III.

CONRAD J. DESANTIS

Penn State—Tau

Tau is once again operating as an active chapter in good standing. Tau has seen some changes in the last year, and we feel that they have all been for the good. Scholastically, we've tightened up considerably, and all eyes will be on our chapter average for this semester. We think it's going to be a good one.

Our social pace is a relaxed one. Friday night parties, incidentally, have been eliminated, with the exception of big week ends. We've had two sorority socials this semester, and the annual Kappa Kappa Gamma-Delta Tau Delta reception for the faculty, which was held on the 16th of December, was a tremendous success. This reception at our Shelter was in charge of Brother Geisel. More than 300 faculty members attended, including the deans of the various colleges and the president of the University.

Our newest initiates, Everett Chapman, Ken Ebert, Al Haywood, and Jay Kahle, were a great help in whipping the Shelter into shape this fall and aiding in the success of this reception.

The pledge class, composed of what we feel are the top 14 men on campus, has been a strong power in establishing the "new" Tau. These 14: Ken Delahunty, Barry Fetterolf, Paul Franklin, Paul Brownback, Bob Vallance, John Ungar, Bill Stewart, Steve Sohrauer, Jim Shea, Art Reynolds, Tom Reeder, John O'Donnell, Pete Landman, and Howie Farrer, are undoubtedly the finest, most polished pledges that Tau has ever trained.

We have just entered intramurals, and the prospects look good for another undefeated season. Brothers Bowman, Mooney, Ebert, and Kohlhaas, along with Pledges Landman and O'Donnell have turned in an impressive record thus far in the win column.

As Tau swings back into action, it regains its position as the top fraternity on the Penn State campus.

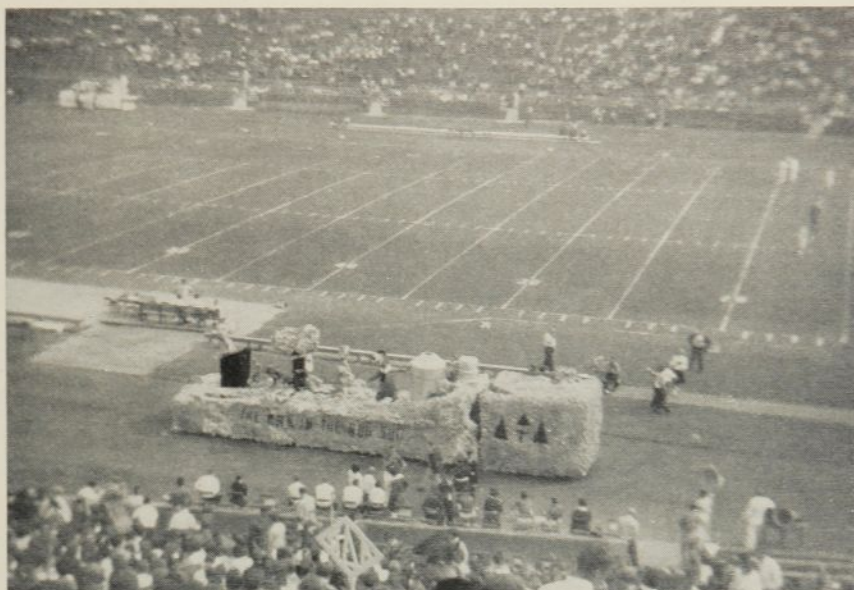

JAMES R. ABBEY

Pittsburgh—Gamma Sigma

Scholarship. This has been the by-word for Gamma Sigma this fall. While working to boost our academic standing, a new incentive of the alumni scholarship fund has been added to spur the brothers on to excellence. These scholarship awards will be made to the brothers who show the greatest improvement and the highest average. With this drive on, we are looking for great improvement in 1960-'61. Besides the scholarship drive, the fall has been filled with activities on campus in athletics, socially, and in bettering alumni relations.

In campus activities, Gamma Sigma was paced by Brothers Jim Groninger and Bill Heron. Jim has been busy directing policy as president of IFC, while Bill was representative from Pitt's IFC of 18 member fraternities with about 850 members at the 52nd annual National Interfraternity Conference held at the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles, California, November 24-26. Another campus effort, homecoming, saw us enter one of the better floats as we co-operated with the Tri-Delts, using the Broadway show "Man in the Dog Suit" as our theme.

In athletics, the IF all-sports trophy is the goal this year, and a good start has already been made to bring it to Gamma Sigma's trophy case. Our pingpong team smashed to a first place, putting us in the thick of the race. With bowling, basketball, and wrestling still to come we think our chances are bright to capture it. The recently completed football season had two of our brothers shining for the Pitt Panthers, Heywood Haser and Ray Tarasi.

Socially we have been "swinging" under the imaginative leadership of our social chairman, Joe Lehmann. The combo parties, before game luncheons, and rush parties have maintained a fine social life. The high light of our fine rush season was a midnight cruise along the Monongahela River. The sweetheart party, social high light of late fall, was as impressive as ever as Sue Phillips began her reign.

The active chapter and alumni have worked closely in several projects. In addition to the scholarship fund there was the 56th reunion of Gamma Sigma and the 25th annual Christmas service. At the reunion on November 18, four outstanding alumni were honored. These alumni are Dr. Harold Kipp, associate professor of surgery at Pitt Medical School and staff member of Mercy Hospital; Dr. Thurlow Brand, professor of anatomy, Pitt Dental School; Dr. Charles Crow, Pitt English professor; and Judge John G. Brosky, Allegheny County Court of Common Pleas. The traditional Christmas service was held December fourth, at Trinity Episcopal Cathedral. Dean N. R. H. Moor conducted the service, and afterwards at the sing competition he was honored with a silver tray commemorating the 25th such service. Other alumni news shows recent graduate and past chapter president, Jim Donahe, '60, serving as field secretary. He will serve until his induction into the Army in January.

As we enter a new year, Gamma Sigma wishes for all chapters and alumni a successful and prosperous 1961.

PETER NYCUM

Purdue—Gamma Lambda

Gamma Lambda has had a very enjoyable fall semester and has completed a long list of projects and activities. Many individual members have received campus honors, and as a unit, the chapter has kept a busy schedule of social functions. We have been able to temper the heavy extracurricular routine of college life with an emphasis on scholarship, maintaining a chapter average that is above the all-men's and all-fraternity averages.

We started the school year in an auspicious manner by taking a fall pledge class of 12 men, several more than had been planned for; three weeks after this we held initiation for last spring's pledges, adding ten more men to the active roster.

Social activities are a very important part of Delt life at Purdue, and one of the biggest social occasions of this term was the fall chapter dance. The dance this year was designed around an oriental theme, and for the week end of November 12, Gamma Lambda looked more like a Chinese night club than an American fraternity. Another important chapter function was the Delta Tau Delta-Pi Beta Phi faculty reception, held at the Shelter on the evening of December 16. This was an open house and provided an opportunity for the members of the two groups to meet the University staff in an informal atmosphere, completely removed from the influence of the classroom. Tried for the first time this year as an experiment, the reception was such an overwhelming success that it is almost sure to become an annual affair. Other social activities this fall included trade parties with Chi Omega and Phi Mu sororities, and a Christmas caroling party with Kappa Kappa Gamma.

In campus athletic competition, Gamma Lambda has constantly maintained a high ranking. Three members, Dominic Fatta, Chip Rose, and Dave Gibson, are top men on the varsity wrestling team, and Bob Holt and Tom O'Keefe are both on the swimming team; Bob Monroe is a starter on the varsity track team, and Mike Schranz and Pete Jacobsen are both active in freshman track. In intramurals, we won trophies for squash and volleyball, and placed third in softball competition. We have a high intramural standing and are in a close race for top intramural honors.

Per usual, many men in the chapter have collected individual honors for various campus activities and jobs. Juniors Chuck Stewart, Dick Capen, Bob Harrington, Jay Verneuil, Mike Savod, Larry Tolle, George Williamson, and John Dzien were all initiated into Scabard and Blade Society, a military honorary for advanced ROTC students; Niles Bruno was initiated into Skull and Crescent, a sophomore campus activities honorary; and Dan Carsello and Jack Buckman were both made members of Gimlet Club, an honorary for the top men in the senior class. Three Deltas were rewarded for their engineering student ability: Chip Rose was initiated into Pi Tau Sigma, a mechanical engineering honorary; Hal Crain was taken into the civil engineering organization, Chi Epsilon; and, Jack Stauffer was accepted into Tau Beta Pi, an honorary for the top students of all the engineering schools.

The first half of the 1960-1961 school year has been very successful for Gamma Lambda and we are looking forward to similar results from the remaining half, although we will be busy with spring pledging, trade parties, studies, and University sing competition on Mothers' Day, we should have plenty of time left over for relaxed fun and should enjoy a very profitable year.

DOUGLAS ROBY

Rensselaer—Upsilon

The Upsilon Deltas ended the formal fall rushing period by pledging a fine class of 11 men. They are: Al Bianculli, Bob Bixby, John Brownley, John Grady, Ron Kasper, Tom Luciano, Chuck Rawson, Walt Robertson, Lee Siebel, John Stevens, and Al Vossler. Special credit goes to Rush Chairmen Paul LoGerfo and Norm Stepno for their fine job.

Senior Class President Tee Kennedy added another accomplishment to his list of many by being selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. John D'Auria, president of the local chapter of the American Chemical Society, was tapped for Phi Lambda Upsilon, national chemistry honorary.

We capped an excellent fall social season with our annual Christmas party. The party was well attended by neighbors

Upsilon's basketball team, undefeated in Rensselaer IM play

From there Delt teams went on to take a third place in the intramural cross-country competition and a second place in the intramural swimming meet. Further points were gained in volleyball and wrestling, and work now begins for the basketball squad.

In social activities, the Delts have been equally busy. The fall highlight is always, of course, homecoming. The 1960 homecoming week end started out with prospects for great fun at the German, the University dance, featuring the Alabama Cavaliers, a popular Southern band; the customary jazz concert; and the traditional football game. To round off the week end, Delt activities included a and members of the faculty, and afterwards the brothers exchanged presents, the object of the gift being originality and appropriateness. Many of the brothers made the gifts themselves. Buck Maher made a jolly, though somewhat emaciated, Santa Claus.

As in the past, the Delts are well represented on the varsity sports scene here at RPI. Senior Bob Vossler was an outstanding defense man on the soccer team, and his younger brother Al, who pledged this fall, starred for the frosh booters. Captain Tom Graves of the wrestling team appears to be headed for an undefeated season. Tom has only lost to one man in his last 22 matches, and he recently tied the school record by pinning an opponent in 18 seconds. Pete Grigg, all-East defense man and captain of the water polo team, is currently getting in shape by swimming the 100-yard free style for RPI's undefeated swimming team.

At the intramural sports level, the Delts are once again in contention for the coveted Trustees' Trophy, emblematic of IF sports supremacy. We placed second in the touch football league, losing the championship in a sudden-death overtime game. Quarterback Dick Rydell and Ends John D'Auria and Hav Staggs combined to produce much of our yardage. Golfers Dave Matthes and Norm Stepno also placed high in their league. In IF hockey, Dale Corman and Steve Duffy are waging a hot battle for scoring honors, and Vic Andrade is compiling one of the most outstanding records in the league as goalie. The Upsilon basketball squad is at present undefeated, having outscored their opponents by a phenomenal six to one ratio.

TOM GRAVES

Sewanee—Beta Theta

This has been a semester of considerable activity for Beta Theta, beginning with a highly successful intramural football season, one of our best in years.

"Rainbow" banquet, followed by a "Rainbow" ball at the Shelter on Friday night, and a party Saturday afternoon. The surprise came when Beta Theta's queen, Miss Marjorie Parish, escorted by Brother Gordon Peyton, was chosen as Sewanee's 1960 homecoming queen. Marj is a junior at Wellesley and we were proud to have her represent our fraternity, and even prouder to have our queen recognized as the "fairest of them all."

In October Beta Theta welcomed a new Delt who has joined the University staff. Dr. William Lemonds, our new director of music, and his lovely wife, were honored by several hundred people at a reception given at the Shelter.

Other happenings in the chapter included the election of Brothers Gary Good and Landis Turner to the German committee (which puts on all University dances); the advancement to officer positions of Brothers Park Ticer, Gordon Peyton, and Darwin Terry in the Air Force ROTC corps; and the participation of several Deltas in the big, new University men's choir which has already made short concert tours to Athens, Alabama, and Chattanooga, Tennessee. Brother John Borders sits this year as president of the pan-hellenic council, while Brother Gil Green is serving as treasurer of the University choir.

The year ended with the annual Christmas party at the Shelter, featuring the traditional exchange of humorous gifts. Among the guests at the party were Eric Cheape, local alumnus, and his wife; Dr. William Lemonds; Senor William Lewis, chairman of the Beta Theta House Corporation; and Dr. John S. Marshall, head of the philosophy department.

With the size of the chapter ever increasing, and the scope of Delt activities widening, along with the prospect of a newly remodeled Shelter in the new year, second semester should be full of even greater successes for Beta Theta.

ALLEN C. SATTERFIELD

Delta Gamma started off the 1960 fall term with hard work which resulted in the pledging of 39 top freshmen.

Dakota Day, USD's homecoming, as usual, was the biggest event on campus this fall. Delta Gamma, as in the past, spent many long hours before "D" Day working on the float and house decorations. The results of this labor proved it worth while when the float won second prize as the most beautiful in the parade. The theme of the float was Independence Day. We thank Don Skaro and Bill Clayton for the many hours of work they put in on the float as chairmen. We are especially grateful to Mark Melcher, who conducted homecoming activities at the Shelter. The day was very successful, with alumni coming from far and near for the day's activities which included luncheon, dinner, and an excellent party. Many of the brothers agreed that it was the greatest Dakota Day ever.

We were very proud of our last year's pledge class as they won the Phi Eta Sigma award for the highest grade point of any pledge class on campus.

Intramural football is under way and again the Deltas are at the top of the heap. Sparked by the quarterbacking of Mike Howes and the coaching of Tom Kearns, our team has yet to lose a game. Outstanding members of the team include Doug Popham, John Ehret, Bob Shelton, Marv Johnson, and Ben Morrel.

Captained by Dick Tenney, our bowling team is second in its block. Keglers include Walley Koers, Tom Hallaway, Dick Zigler, and Bruce Schmaabacken.

To replace our graduating president, Leon Van Der Linden, we elected a new president and vice-president. Milt Schwartz and Mike Howes now hold the respective offices. In a fall initiation we activated seven new brothers.

We are proud of four brother Deltas who were elected to men's service organizations on the University campus. Mike Howes and Dan German were elected to Dakotans, and Irv Hoyt and Marv Johnson to Strollers.

BILL SCHERMERHORN

Stanford—Beta Rho

Once again Beta Rho has maintained its position of prominence as unquestionably the top all-around fraternity on the Stanford campus. With the acquisition of a dynamic, vastly superior pledge class, the Deltas are assured of another sensational year. Words cannot describe the strength of the chapter now, nor the unlimited potential which awaits it in the near future.

Naturally, we had quite a few members on the football team this year. John Butler, Ed Cummings, Gil Dowd, Rich Hearney, and Tom Walsh were members of the starting team. Second team, or first-team alternates, were Bob Price, O. P. Schmidt, Rod Sears, Panda Vahan, and Jerry Winters. Butler was voted "Lineman of the Week" by UPI; Dowd was a leader in Pacific Coast rushing statistics; Sears promises to establish himself next year as another of the great Stanford quarterbacks.

Now that the commencement of basketball season approaches, preseason pollsters indicate that Delt starters will be John Hendry, Slim Windsor, Pin Bowling, and Phil Kelly. In case any of these men should falter, John Fontius, Fred Pegelow, and Bill Elfving will be eager to take their place. Off Windsor's preseason showing, he should be all-Coast, and possibly an All-American candidate. In other sports, Dick Denney is a star wrestler and Bill Wakefield has signed with the St. Louis Cards for $75,000 plus. In swimming, Paul Hait was the recipient of a gold medal in the Olympics for his magnificent breaststroking.

Academically, we remain above the All-Men's Average. There are five likely Phi Betes in Bob Harrison, Craig Bushman, Mark Peery, Buster Brown, and Marcus Sisk.

However, Beta Rho has by no means forgotten the importance of an extensive social life. Marc Sisk, our social chairman, secured many entertaining notables for our numerous functions throughout the quarter. Sylvester Grisby, Pat Ma-Wheny, Penny Coombs, and Kelly Ray all presented their services to the chapter, but the high light of the quarter was the Big Game overnight at Santa Rosa with Streamline Ewing providing music. Throughout the fall, actives presented the pledges with duties ranging from waxing the floors to hosing the bushes. On the whole, the pledges were successful in beating off the threat of the actives. Bob Holgerson, especially, whipped it all quarter.

Miscellaneous high lights of the quarter included Al Hildebrand making the dean's list for his efforts in physics, Huey Zinn being voted chairman of the board of the PW association, and Chuck Wilson, Chip Miles, and John Skeen formulating the all-new Treb Theory.

Beta Rho eagerly awaits the coming year, hoping only that it shall be as active and successful as 1960.

Stevens—Rho

As fall term began, Rho Chapter found itself green in football, having lost all but one member of last year's championship team. Beginning the second week of school, the Delt squad started daily practice. As the weeks quickly passed, new talent was uncovered and gradually a good team began to jell. The team, composed of five juniors, nine sophomores and five seniors defeated Sigma Nu, Pi Lambda Phi, and a powerful Theta Xi, thus capturing the league championship.

Time out from the gridiron wars as the chapter held its annual Halloween party. The decision for the best costume was, as always, a most difficult choice. Willy Moyka captured the apple-dunking award by virtue of the fact that all the water disappeared as his head went in the tub. The next major function was the initiation of 15 new Delt brothers. During work week the house received a thorough redecorating and our new trophy case, a gift of the class of '60, was installed.

During the preinitiation festivities, the Delt volleyball team took the floor for the newly started IFC volleyball season. The Rho squad conquered Alpha Sigma Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Chi Phi, thus earning the right to meet Chi Psi in the championship match. The Delt underdogs trounced the Lodgers and thereby wrapped up the first fall award.

Strengthened by the addition of the 15 new brothers, the Deltas returned to the football field meeting Chi Psi for the IFC championship. Showing precision teamwork and tremendous spirit, the Deltas rolled to a 12-0 halftime lead. When the second-half dust cleared the Deltas were IFC champs by a 33-0 margin. Some icing was added to the cake as the Deltas, under Coach Dick Leichus and Quarterback Mike Pellet, defeated the junior interclass team for the campus championship.

Winter Carnival week end provided the Deltas with a change of pace featuring the IFC formal, with Leroy Holmes and his band. The Delt high light of the formal was when the chapter president, Paul Hausmann, took possession of the football and volleyball trophies for our new trophy case. Saturday night saw the house jumping with "the best party on campus," featuring the Smith Brothers, Harry and Al, as our own Kingston Duo. The week end also saw our social chairman, Dick Leichus, tapped by Gear and Triangle. Quiet then fell on the Delt Shelter, along with 20 inches of snow, but the noise level reached a new high with Santa and Christmas and the New Year's Eve party before a studious atmosphere was regained in preparation for January finals.

Tennessee—Delta Delta

The Delts at Tennessee have continued throughout the autumn keeping abreast of events on "The Hill," UT's campus. Several recent changes have been made around the Shelter, including the election of Richard Jones as treasurer, replacing Harry Tunison, who is spending the winter quarter in Chicago for on-the-job training. Jones, who is a rather energetic fellow anyway (he is also the intramurals manager), has brought vitality into the job and from the first started looking for ways to cut costs. To Brother Tunison we wish "good luck" on his "vacation" in Chicago, and we expect to see him again next spring.

Top news from Delta Delta this quarter is that we are at present the leading fraternity in intramurals in our league.

JANE HOLSTON is Delta Queen for Delta Delta Chapter.

Competition has been stiff, but the tireless Delts have won the tennis championship by the fine playing of Phil Gardner, Jerry Grant, and Tony Hanes. We took second place in volleyball, where the team usually consisted of about six of the following brothers and pledges: Richard Jones, Jerre Haskew, Charlie "Rooster" Hoskins, Ronnie Helms, Stan Williams, Fred Price, and Arnie Dryer. We also finished in the big No. 2 spot in bowling, due to the efforts of Bill Spielmann, Buff Evans, Jerre Haskew, Rooster Hoskins, Robin Thomas, Jerry Grant, and others.

Our social life this year has been tops, too. The Delt parties have been the high lights of the fall, and Social Chairman Bob Boyd and his committee are to be commended for keeping the chapter hopping. One of the best parties around here for a long time was Bob Boyd's "Bowery Ball," a costume affair with a prize for the best-dressed couple. Mrs. Clementine Wellman, our beloved housemother, and Chapter President Chris Clements were the judges who awarded the prize to Bob Boyd and his date as the "bowerist ballers."

The last party of the fall was, of course, the Christmas party, with everyone enjoying the jolly atmosphere and the excellent decorations of the house, done by Mrs. Wellman. Hardly anyone was surprised when Santa showed up, but since we liked the fellow so much, we pledged him and renamed him Andy Weed. Santa gave candy to all the dates and listened to Christmas requests, but we never could get him to tell what the girls wanted.

The pledge class project for the fall was the purchase of a hi-fi stereo unit for the Shelter. The outfit includes an amplifier system for the basement party room and the regular unit for the living room.

Texas—Gamma Iota

The two autumn months at Gamma Iota have proved very eventful thus far. A pledge class, now 32-men strong, is being lauded by the sororities as best on campus, thanks to Rush Captain Johnny Walker and the efforts of the whole chapter. The pledges have already had parties with the Alpha Chi Omega and Tri-Delt pledges, and more pledge parties are on tap.

The Texas Delts are bound to remain in the top bracket scholastically this semester, as concentrated study has become the byword. Two things, however, remain high on the list of attention-getters during the inevitable lulls throughout study hours: the much-loved coffees on Wednesday night, and the highly competitive intramural games, for both of which all the men grab dates.

Week ends are always enthusiastically

Twenty-one of Tennessee's 30 fall pledges

anticipated, with attention centering around Saturdays—a pregame brunch at the Shelter, a high-tension Southwest Conference football game, and casual apartment parties. Friday night always sees a party at the Shelter, and Sunday brings dates for lunch at the Shelter after church.

The eyes of Gamma Iota are on such outstanding Delts as Mike Cotten, Texas' bidder for all-Southwest Conference quarterback honors; Charlie Ward, intercollegiate drifter come to us from Colorado's Beta Kappa Chapter, who will undoubtedly run away with the trophy in the campus "Ugliest Man" contest for charity; and Gary Craig and Bob Venable, who were tapped for campus service organizations Cowboys and Silver Spurs, respectively.

EARL BOYANTON

Texas Christian—Epsilon Beta

Epsilon Beta started the year with one of the best rushes in its history. Fall rush brought 26 outstanding pledges to its halls. This pledge class elected Charles Morris as president, Roger Taylor as vice-president, Ralph Youngdale as secretary, and Tom Buckner as social chairman.

Socially, the chapter is looking forward to another year of memorable parties. The Bowery Ball is the up-and-coming party that brings back the "Roaring Twenties," and memories of the one last year. Chicago in the 20's has nothing that this party does not have. Also, many parties with sororities are scheduled along with the formal and others.

Scholastically, the chapter is on the rise. With the aid of the scholarship chairman, Bruce Mazzare, the chapter rose from eighth to third on campus with a grade point average above the All-Fraternity and All-Men's Averages.

Several honors went to the chapter this fall. Among these honors, Jeff Stevens was elected president of the junior class at T.C.U., and our president, Gary Hamrick, was nominated for the highly honored Danforth Fellowship.

Athletically, Epsilon Beta is looking forward to another year of success. This drive for success hit one snag when the football team lost its first game. This loss was the first in five years for the chapter. After winning two in a row, we are on the winning streak again and expect to come out among the top. Looking forward to the basketball season, we are anticipating one of the best teams ever to don Delt uniforms—the reason being the pledging of several outstanding high school roundballers.

The fifth annual Delt basketball tournament was held December 8, 9, and 10. Last year 25 teams from fraternities participated in this annual tournament. Teams as far as Kansas traveled to Fort Worth to play.

Epsilon Beta has been honored with the invitation to participate in the installation of the Cavalier Social Fraternity at East Texas State January 7 and 8, 1961. This chapter will be designated as Epsilon Eta Chapter. This is truly a high honor, and we are privileged to be chosen to perform this initiation.

The Delts at Epsilon Beta are looking forward to their greatest year in 1960-'61.

Texas Tech—Epsilon Delta

Epsilon Delta's fall activities have been highlighted by our annual "Playboy" formal, November 18, sponsored by Playboy Magazine. This dance was attended by over 250 members, pledges,

LANI LANGFORD, crowned Miss Playmate by Texas Tech Delts and rushees, along with their dates. The dance was highlighted by the presentation of Miss Lani Langford, a member of Delta Delta Delta, as Miss Playmate of 1960. Miss Playmate was presented by Brother J. L. Roberts.

This fall has seen us take 18 new pledges. We are proud of our new pledge class and are looking forward to their becoming brothers.

Our athletic program is ever growing, and with a few breaks, we could have easily won the fraternity football league. Our basketball outlook is bright and we have great potential. We are looking forward with great anticipation to the coming season, and hope to capture the all-College championship.

One of the biggest events concerning Epsilon Delta this fall has been the initiation of the new members. It is a great pleasure to present these new initiates of Delta Tau Delta. The new semester has also seen increasing improvement on our lodge. Many hours have been put into this lodge to make it the best on the Tech campus and we intend for these improvements to continue.

Another great honor has come to the Fraternity with the inauguration of Robert Cabaniss Goodwin as the seventh president of the college. President Goodwin is very close to the Epsilon Delta Chapter, and we are very proud to see another brother take one more step up the ladder of life. Congratulations to R. C. Goodwin. We would also like to congratulate the Cavaliers at East Texas State College on becoming the next chapter of Delta Tau Delta. Epsilon Eta will make the fifth chapter in Texas.

In closing, we wish to inform all that Epsilon Delta is looking forward to the taking of a new pledge class this spring. We feel that this will be the best rush ever to take place on the Tech campus, and it should prove to be the start of another wonderful spring for us here in Epsilon Delta.

BUDDY PEEL

Toronto—Delta Theta

As we pause on the brink of a new term, the brothers of Delta Theta have nothing but optimism regarding the future. The fall term was our most successful in some time and the pendulum is still on the upswing. With an excellent group of new members, we feel that the future is secure.

Part of the credit must be assigned to the fine scholastic record of the chapter last spring. Only two men failed to return this year for scholastic reasons, as we achieved an average far above that of the campus as a whole. Brothers Bob Ross, Al Jacobs, and Bob Roden graduated with honors from engineering physics, each standing either first or second in his option. Brother Ross received an Athlone Fellowship for graduate work at Birmingham University. Brothers Jacobs and Roden are now doing research at Toronto, with hopes of starting work next year for Ph.D's at Cambridge. In second year political science and economics, Brothers Peter Andersen and Peter

George landed very close to the top of their large class.

With the return of a strong nucleus of members, rushing got off the mark quickly and effectively. The high light of the rushing program was a week end at Trent Brookes' cottage, which proved to be a staggering success. Following this, casual get-togethers were held at the Shelter. We were fortunate enough to be able to complete our fall rushing program, pledge training, and initiation far earlier than in previous years.

The social calendar has been quite full during the fall term. We started things rolling with a three-day cleanup party to get the Shelter into shape for rushing. Following this were the rushing parties and then the football week ends. On the home week ends the Shelter was thrown open for our usual after-the-game party. On the away week ends, groups of the brothers travelled to McGill, Queens, and Western to support the team. On homecoming week end we invited the girls from Delta Delta Delta to the Shelter to help construct a display which became the talk of St. George Toronto Delts on a rush week end "up north"

Street. The same week end saw the Mother's and Wives Club tea, at which the parents and girl friends of the members were given the opportunity to become acquainted with the chapter and each other.

Another event on the social calendar was a short-shorts party, at which our treasurer, Harry Kennedy, copped the prize for the most beautiful legs. The annual pledge party was given a Roman theme, as the pledges produced a satire of the active chapter, set on the famous Trans-Gallic Highway. A basketball game between Toronto and Lawrence Tech presented an occasion for the last informal party of the term. After the game, the Delts and their dates returned to the Shelter to decorate the Christmas tree, in preparation for the Christmas party and banquet. The banquet was held following the last day of the fall term and was presided over by our president, Bob Roden. Following the banquet, Brother Jim Forgie squeezed into a Santa Claus outfit to distribute the gifts. The evening was completed with dancing and the singing of Christmas carols around the piano of Brother Rob Schultz.

Early in the fall term, a chapter golf tournament was held. As expected, the trophy went to Brother Gerry Longhurst, who had earlier captured the faculty of dentistry championship. Strong competition was afforded, however, by Brother Bob Long who finished a mere two strokes behind. Other athletic endeavors included a pledge-active hockey game and pledge-active football game.

Several of the members took part in athletics during the past term. Brother Paul Chapman again held down the position of hooker for the intercollegiate rigger team, which enjoyed a very successful season that included two shut-out victories over Cornell. Brother Kirk Thompson starred in intercollegiate swimming and waterpolo. Brothers Jim Forgie and Art Pinn represented the Delts on the football field, while Brothers Gary Ball, Gerry Longhurst, Peter George, and Gary Atkins are presently competing in the hockey arena.

For the most part, the plans for the spring term have already been formulated. Our annual formal will be held January 13 at the Granite Club. Following this will be a rushing week, Valentine's Day party, casino party, and Bohemian party. Informal parties will be held on the nights of the Blues' hockey and basketball games. In March, the Founders Day Banquet will be held at the Town and Country, to be followed by a get-together at the house. It is hoped that we will see a large number of alumni at all of these events.

Tufts—Beta Mu

Each fall Beta Mu executes an easily recognizable and predictable cycle, the first phase of which, "fix up the room and clean the house," is characterized by the initial burst of energy, invariably decreasing until work is slowed to a standstill. This phase is always followed by the "register, buy books, and drop courses phase," which initiates the intellectual activity of the year. This academic phase rolls along nicely until football comes along and disrupts the entire system.

The Jumbo's played great ball this year, losing only their last game. The 14-0 homecoming win over Lehigh, who last year tromped us 63-0, was the sweetest victory of all, and the party afterwards was the best on campus and half the campus came to it. The Delts were represented on the football team by Tackle Don Curtis and Fullback Dave Troy, both of whom lettered, and by Sophomore Ted McCarthy who, surprisingly, didn't.

Not all the early fall, however, was preoccupied with football and parties; some week ends we didn't have parties, but Gene Mayer always seemed to be around to provide more than adequate entertainment. Fall intramurals weren't outstanding, the football team never quite jelled, and only one brother managed to make his way into the tennis quarterfinals; however, we swept the cross-country and took a third in wrestling. Our volleyball team again has a good chance for first, and only by an act of God will our basketball team lose a game.

Probably the most important event was the completion of our new addition, adding 16 feet onto the dining room and basement, which will provide the brotherhood with more elbow room at meals and a larger party area, plus living accommodations for four men.

Beta Mu was, for the sixth straight semester, above the All-Men's Average and in the top third of fraternities. In fact, the rebound from the football phase to social depression and intensified academics went so far as to have Brother Bob Cipro elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Further, in a desperate move to fill the social vacuum, the chapter allowed the English department to hold a reading by a poet in our front room. Ensuing opinion was that poetry is all right, if you like that sort of thing, but we won't have another reading in the foreseeable future.

Rushing rapidly through the post-football phase we plunge into the Thanksgiving-Christmas period with renewed gusto. Just prior to Thanksgiving we had a very successful joint party with the AEPi's, including a buffet supper at their house and a rock and roll party at ours. An interesting side light on this phase is Pete Bradbury, who returned from Thanksgiving vacation with both the realization that he was 25 pounds plump and a five-pound can of the latest mystical reducing potion, Metracal.

Giving our Christmas spirits an extra boost, the Delt 40-man chorus singing "Angels o'er the Fields," under the direction of Brother Dave Buermeyer, took first place in the annual Christmas sing.

The Christmas formal was held this year at the Sherry-Biltmore Hotel.

Thus closes this phase; after Christmas we enter the postholiday doldrums and pre-exam panic; however, somehow I feel that we will find something to divert our attentions, however briefly, to matters of a more social and carefree nature.

VAN FOSTER

Tulane—Beta Xi

The first semester of Beta Xi's 73rd year at Tulane has been marked by distinctive progress and achievements, as well as by a high promise of things to come.

Rush week opened the year successfully as Beta Xi pledged 26 excellent men. This pledge class includes the president of a high school fraternity, four members of high school student councils, the editor of his high school yearbook, the captain of the high school basketball team, two presidents of the high school class, three members of the Beta Club, and 12 members of the National Honor Society.

Beta Xi's Shelter has undergone extensive remodeling this year. Added to the house were a new upstairs lounge and a fine set of beautiful, new furniture downstairs. Under the management of our new housemother, Mrs. Vera Buckley, the Delt Shelter is a smooth-running and pleasant "home away from home."

The ROTC units at Tulane are advancing under the leadership of many Delts. Mickey Michel is squadron commander in the Air Force ROTC, while Bud Noel keeps the Navy afloat as battalion supply officer. Bob Clark is company commander of the Pershing Rifles unit at Tulane, as well as commander of the Army ROTC drill team. Al Taylor is commander of the Army ROTC drum and bugle corps.

Beta Xi Delts have not been idle in campus politics and honoraries this year. Al Boudreau was elected president of the oldest organization on campus, the Glendy Burke Society, founded in 1848. Jock Dunbar, president of Beta Xi's pledge class, was elected to the Tulane dormitory house council, while his pledge brother, Eddie Dragon, was tapped for membership in Lagniappes, the outstanding social club on campus. Tim Hoff was elected as secretary to the classics honorary, Eta Sigma Phi, while Kirk Webster, last year's recipient of the Dr. Emile Naef award for scholastic excellence, was tapped for Alpha Epsilon Delta, medical school honorary. Willie Lehder brought scholastic honor to Beta Xi Chapter by being tapped for Tau Beta Phi, engineering honorary, while Bob Clark and Bud Noel were both inducted as members into Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary.

Bob Clark has joined his many Delt brothers in Tusk, Tulane's largest spirit group. Mickey Michel again has the pleasant task of coaching the Newcomb coeds in their annual Powder Puff Bowl football game.

Socially, the Delts have been tops as usual at Tulane this year. Sororities have been the feature of the first semester, with the Delts playing host to Kappa Alpha Theta and to Chi Omega at Sunday afternoon receptions. The blasts of the year, thus far, have been the costume parties. The high light of the first semester, which is being awaited with great anticipation at this writing, is the annual Christmas party with music by that famous New Orleans band, the Sheiks of Dixieland.

Alumni continue to bring honor to Beta Xi. John C. Baine, Beta Xi, '27, now of St. Louis, Missouri, was selected general chairman of the 15th annual Tulane alumni fund. He is the first chairman outside of New Orleans to direct the fund-raising operations.

Members of Beta Xi are looking forward eagerly to 1962 when the Karnea will come to New Orleans. We, who have lived in New Orleans for years, know of the many attractions it has to offer as a convention city, and we are certain that the 66th Karnea will be a great success.

Beta Xi Chapter wishes to take this opportunity to congratulate Robert Gilley on his election as President of the Fraternity and Joel Reynolds on his election as chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference. The success of these men is a tribute to our Fraternity.

NICK HODSDON

U.C.L.A.—Delta Iota

Delta Iota is putting the finishing touches to a quite successful semester with a rummage sale to be held in late January. The purpose of the sale is to raise money for the nearly depleted social fund. The biggest social function of the year was the Delt queen-initiation formal held at Ciro's on Sunset Strip. Presiding over the affair was Queen Bette Fairchild of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

The annual "French Apache" party and the Christmas dinner-dance will also remain prominent in the minds of UCLA Delts. Exchanges with the Pi Phis and Alpha Phis were also enjoyed.

The most notable achievement of Delta Iota has been the scholarship of this semester. At midterm, the chapter average was a 2.35, which is easily the best seen in recent years. This is about a half grade-point better than last year's record. The effective quiet hours are the main reason for the tremendous change.

Athletically, the name of Delta Tau Delta is prominent at UCLA. The chapter football team lost one game after the game was over, tied the all-U champs, and won the rest of their games for a fairly good season. In volleyball, both 2-man and 6-man, the Delts are well on the way to remaining the all-U champs in both sports.

On the intercollegiate level, Pledge Dean Rogers was a reserve tackle on the Bruin team. Brian Kniff is currently the sixth man on the powerful cage team.

Election of officers for the coming year was held. Steve Boyd, a junior from Pomona, is the new president, and Ken Newgard, a sophomore from San Mateo, is vice-president. The other officers will be voted upon at a later date.

JON HANSEN

U.S.C.—Delta Pi

This year has had a commensurate beginning for the Delt house at S. C., revealing our chapter unquestionably tops on the row. As the semester rolls on we find all committee reports above and beyond previous expectations. Our pledge class was the largest of all the top fraternities and contains personalities and character which would be a credit to any chapter. Socially, we are reaching previously unobtainable heights due to our extensive social program and competent guidance under the leadership of Williard Clark and Bob O'Callaghan. Among our social boasts is our annual Las Vegas formal, to be held December 23 and 24 at the luxurious Rivera Hotel. Another popular function, the "Delt Round-Up," where alumni and guests are invited, came off with alarming acceptance (over 400 attended) at the home of Jacmar Tilley.

Olympic trials were host to six of our S. C. chapter members, two of whom were fortunate enough to represent our country abroad. Lance Larson and Fred Tissue were those two men. Lance won both a gold and silver medal for the medley relay and the 100-meter free style, respectively, and Fred proved to be high scorer on the water polo team.

Another one of our illustrious compatriots is a familiar figure on the southland boxing scene. George "Bucco" Beckwith, although hampered somewhat by his height, was victorious in a semi-main event at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Politically, David Gaon has shown definite leadership qualities on campus and has assumed control of the Trojan Young Republicans.

Three of the wealthier members of Delta Pi have recently achieved membership in the world-famous Explorers Club. This summer saw these three young gentlemen, Jim Krueger, Jim Robinson, and Bob McKinley, journeying to the far-off land of the Watusi to study the social significance of the central Nigerian Fuzz tic, after which they returned to Rome, where they joined seven other brothers at the much celebrated Olympics.

Speaking for the brothers of Delta Pi, I would like to wish you best of luck and a most successful year.

RANDY HALL

Wabash—Beta Psi

Seventeen pledges, 45 returning actives, and a $15,000 kitchen, started the 1960-'61 school year off for Beta Psi with proud feelings of being the most well-rounded fraternity on campus and with hopes of improving upon the fourth place in scholarship attained last year.

Because of the large number of returning actives, Beta Psi had to limit its usual number of pledges to 17 this year, but despite the cut, we continued to be the largest fraternity on campus. Members of the 1960 pledge class, who range from as far as South Africa to as near as Crawfordsville, are Bob Barry, John Cook, John David, Heath Davis, Dennis Gibbs, Bill Hepler, Jim Kostal, Jim McCabe, Bob Mitchel, Rick Sanders, Wally Scott, Tad Sinnock, Jack Sipe, Dave Stamper, Howard Weliver, Bill White, and Dave Wrestler, Indianapolis. Junior Jack Nutting is a transfer pledge from Iowa, while Hans Van Etten is a new sophomore pledge.

Nine of Beta Psi's 18 lettermen, and a number of other brothers, saw action in varsity sports this fall and winter. With the termination of the football season, seven men hung up their pads. Leading the pack was junior and three-year letterman, Jack McHenry, who was voted most valuable player by his teammates. Sophomore John Strickland saw enough action at the fullback slot to earn a letter, as did Freshman Sanders, expected to fill in as first-string quarterback next year. Other men who saw football action were Sophomores Hank Rodgers and John Dicks and Freshmen Hepler and Sinnock.

With the recent beginning of basketball and wrestling, ten men put on the red and white colors of Wabash. Sixth man on the basketball squad, rated as one of the better small college teams around, is senior and two-year letterman, Charlie West. Sophomores Lee Nickerson, Bill Dickerson, and Bill Wilson, who earned his letter last year, are also holding down positions. Handling one of the guard positions on the freshman team is Scott, while Mitchell has seen a lot of action at the forward slot.

Two-year letterman, Al Witt, is leading the Beta Psi foursome on the wrestling mats, wrestling at 157. Other members of the foursome are sophomore letterman, John Doherty, undefeated at 147-lb., so far this year, and Sophomore Butch Rogers, handling the 131-lb. class. Van Etten lettered last year and is also wrestling at 157.

After a respectful but discouraging fourth place in intramurals last year, Beta Psi jumped off to a quick start for the 1960-'61 campaign. A 7-1 record gave us second place in football, with Brothers Lee Andreas, Ralph Carlson, Scott, Bob Templin, and Witt making the all-star team. For the fourth consecutive year we captured the cross-country title, with the help of fine running by Warren Ford, Tom McGee, Weliver, and Glen Pride. However, a poor showing in volleyball recently dropped us to fourth place, a few points out of second. With over half the I.M. season left, prospects still look good.

Another campus presidency this fall increased the number of Beta Psi men as presidents of major campus organizations to eight. Junior Terry Anderson was elected president of the Newman Club, Catholic organization on campus. Other men elected to honoraries this fall were Senior Dave Bohlin, Blue Key; and Juniors Jim Johnson and Templin, Sphinx Club. Johnson is also president of IFC and recently represented the Wabash fraternities at the IFC convention in San Francisco. Junior John Doyel was chosen president of the IFC rushing committee. Chapter president, Austin Brooks, recently received honors when he was the only Wabash undergrad to give a science paper before the Indiana Academy of Science.

Fall pledge class at Wabash

Beta Psi letterwinners at Wabash

In trying to keep a well-balanced chapter, Beta Psi men have struck out for new and old conquests in activities. Senior Andreas was sports editor of the college newspaper first semester while Senior Wayne Cobb, Doherty, and Freshman McCabe held titles of assistant sports editor and sports writers, respectively. Sophomore Ned Shorter was feature editor of the paper. Senior Tim Conlon and Doherty served on the News Bureau. Leading the Wabash cheering section are four Delt cheerleaders. Sophomore Al Stawford is in his second year while Freshmen Davis, Sipe, and White are newcomers.

Scarlet Masque, campus dramatics group, has been dominated by Delt this year. In the last production, Shakespeare's Othello, ten men had parts. Major parts were played by Junior Brent Sutton, president of the dramatics honorary, Junior Pack Carnes, vice-president of the honorary, and Freshman Stamper. Minor parts went to Cobb, Juniors Denny Greathouse and Bob Latham, Sophomores Rudy Van Loon, Mike Locey, and Dicks, and Freshman Gibbs. Helping Locey, who was also stage manager, were Freshmen Davis and David. Senior Dave Rose acted as business manager.

With the help of our long-awaited new kitchen and with clever originality by our co-social chairmen, Greathouse and Latham, the social scene has had many high points so far. Commanding the recent social spot light was our Christmas dance, where at intermission Beta Psi was blessed with a visit from Santa Claus, who eagerly took the job of passing out favors to the dates on the condition that they sit on "old" Santa's knee and tell him what they wanted for Christmas. A few blushes were witnessed from both parties and a few brothers broke out with worried looks, but since Santa was a brother, Senior Bob Damm, in disguise, nothing evolved, except maybe a few future dates for Santa.

Another social event worth remembering was our fall pledge dance with the theme of "Dreamland." Needless to say the affair was a pajama dance and the house was properly decorated for the occasion. Midway through the successful dream, Pledge Trainer Witt presented the pledge class and their dates. The recent faculty-Delt tea was tagged a success and now Beta Psi is setting its sights on the Christmas party for underprivileged children and a few sorority exchanges scheduled for the winter.

LEE ANDREAS

Washington—Gamma Mu

This summer's rush parties, organized by our rush chairman, Jim Moore, and rush week proved to be a big beginning for the 1960-'61 school year. Thirty-nine times in five days a Delt rushee became a new Delt pledge, and in the past three months have shown the spark of an outstanding pledge class. Our hats are off to Jim Moore for successfully delivering this fine pledge class.

The Delt football team this year was probably one of the best in years. Only by a stroke of luck was it that the team that placed third in the all-University championships was also in our league.

We lost to them by one touchdown. Our one consolation was the selection of Carl Olson as the all-star quarterback.

The Delt volleyball team has been the real standout, capturing the all-University championship and placing two on the all-star team, Owen Williams and Dave Williams.

Our social calendar this fall included the annual pledge dance and barn dance, a serenade, several exchanges and firesides, and recently a Christmas party with the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority. This party was really a glorified exchange, with gifts. Les Tavenner played Santa and passed gifts, bought by the Deltas, to the girls.

Scabbard and Blade initiated five Deltas this fall quarter: Phil Barr, Pete McCallum, Bill Morse, Lee Noorda, and John Templeton. Wally Tweden continues to carry out his duties as ASUW first vice-president, while Bill Morse leads yells at University sports events. Several Deltas have also been accepted into Husky Swim Club this fall.

Our new house program seems to be moving along steadily. We have hopes of living in a new Shelter next year.

Elsewhere at Gamma Mu, we have just embarked on a critique of house activities and have begun by scrutinizing Gamma Mu's Delt Development Program. Another committee is working towards improving Delt social functions by searching for original "excuses" or themes for parties.

The future looks bright for Gamma Mu. With "new house" the phrase of the year, 39 pledges, a volleyball championship, and two-thirds of the school year yet unveiled, we're expecting an outstanding year.

Washington State— Epsilon Gamma

Epsilon Gamma, after having conducted a vigorous rush program amidst very stiff interfraternity competition, succeeded in pledging a total of 12 men. These new men, plus a high percentage of members returning, have made the chapter's financial future seem much brighter and have made prospects for a new shelter improve considerably.

The chapter's social functions have again this year measured up to their usual standards of excellence. Those already passed include the pledge dance, built around a beach theme; and the annual Christmas smorgasbord, with food as the main attraction. Two firesides and numerous exchanges complete the list of social events.

Heading the list of campus leaders is Roger Milnes, chairman of the University's music committee. Other men in the chapter who participate in key roles in the campus committee program are Rich Falletto, Chuck Lucas, also on the music committee, and Max Bolte, Cub art. Departmental honoraries have a good representation of Washington State Deltas.

One activity that has received above average consideration and planning was the annual Founders Day banquet. Realizing the importance of good alumni relations, the chapter is stepping up other activities in this area. Advanced planning has been made for increasing the correspondence and contacts with these important members of our Fraternity.

One other event that deserves attention is the chapter's first annual "Sally Sunshine" contest. Borrowed from Delta Xi Chapter at our recent regional conference, this idea should prove quite unique and riotous when sprung on one of the campus sororities this spring.

W. & L.—Phi

Phi Chapter began the year with a successful freshman rush, 17 men receiving pledge pins. New pledges are Ken Brandenburgh, John Bridgeforth, Joe Burkhart, Bill Cromley, Rick Erikson, Mal Freeman, Brice Gamber, Bill Gossman, Ed Jansen, John McDaniel, John Michaelson, John Pearson, Wes Pipes, Cotton Rawls, Steve Walsh, and Eric Wilson.

McDaniel sparked the freshman football team at quarterback and was elected captain. Pearson and Gamber also played football, and Bill Gossman ran varsity cross-country. Wilson became the first freshman in five years to gain membership in the Sazeracs, W. & L.'s stellar singing group.

In other activities, Ned Ames was named to Who's Who, and John Towler was elected president of the Troubadours. Sophomore Dave Montgomery was elected to the student service society and to SWMSFC, the most select sophomore committee at W. & L. Dave and Rick Uhlig were recently taken into the Cottillion Club, and Tom Andrew was initiated into the White Friars. George Honts is serving as secretary of the assimilation committee; Ned Hobbs is also a member of this group. Billy Meyers is on the cold check committee.

This fall saw eight Deltas in first-string spots on the varsity football team. They were led by 145-pound Terry Fohs, who was team captain and was named third team Little All-America center. Fohs, Steve Suttle, and Doug Martin made the Virginia all-State team, and Ned Hobbs, Bill Wheeler, and Charlie Gummy received honorable mention. Charlie Begg and Bob Pagano held starting berths on the varsity soccer team.

After six fall sports, Phi Chapter is in first place in intramural competition among 18 fraternities. Pledge Ed Jansen led the I.M. track team to victory by winning both hurdles events. The swimming and football teams both finished fourth, and a group of pledges won the cross-country meet.

A great series of fall parties was highlighted by the formal Christmas party. We are now looking forward to W. & L.'s biggest week end, Fancy Dress, when the Isley Brothers will appear at Phi Chapter.

EDWARD A. AMES

Wesleyan—Gamma Zeta

Returning to the Wesleyan campus, the Gamma Zeta Deltas began the school year by pledging 15 outstanding freshmen in one of the most successful rushing programs in recent years. The pledge class officers are: Pres Smith, president; Al Brewster, vice-president; Bill Gilbert and Mike Jones, freshman senators.

Extracurricularly, the Wes Deltas are continuing to play an important part in campus activities. The Argus staff, Wesleyan's semiweekly newspaper, includes eight Deltas, with George McKenzie as managing editor and Jim Schroeder as circulation manager. The campus radio station, WESU, has six Deltas on its staff, including Business Manager John Huss. Currently exercising their golden tones in the Glee Club are John Harvey, Rick Armsby, and Bill Roberts. Singing in the Chapel Choir are Bill Everett and Ed Knox.

Turning to athletics, there are many Deltas participating on various Wesleyan teams. Lew Whitney, John Harvey, and Harvey Bagg are currently representing Wesleyan on the varsity swimming team, with George Walker as manager. Howie Black, Bill Roberts, and Al Brewster are holding down their respective weight classes on the wrestling team, while Don Falkenstein and Tom Howard plan to participate in winter track.

The social season started the second week end of the year when the freshmen were introduced to Mount Holyoke through a mixer arranged with a dorm there. After successful dances on pledge week end, parents' week end, and alumni week end, November fall house parties found the brotherhood dancing to a rock 'n roll band Friday, and a dance band Saturday. Throughout the football season the Wes Deltas either celebrated or neutralized the Wes scores by post home game parties.

Western Reserve—Zeta

We of Zeta Chapter returned this year intending to retain our standing on campus. We started out on the right foot, athletically, by placing three men on the football team: Dick Porter, later chosen outstanding lineman; Gary Deonise, and Jack Hulit, who was injured and had to sit out most of the season. Pledges Mike Finley, Tim Hollingsworth, and Bob Baker played freshman football. Terry Wenger is captain of Reserve's varsity basketball team, and Bob Weiss and Dave Michael are the other varsity roundballers from Zeta Chapter. Pledges Bill Novince and Joe DUBYAK play freshman ball. Brothers Porter and Nick Schrock are varsity wrestlers and Rich Morgan is a member of Reserve's swimming team.

Intramurals began on a bright note when we were, for the second straight year, presented with the all-sports trophy. In competition thus far, we have done well in football and badminton and are looking forward to the possibility of a championship in basketball.

Some other Zeta Delts who have already received distinction this year are: Joe Macys, who was tapped into ODK at Honor's Chapel; Jerry Ault, who is president of the Student Union advisory committee; Nick Schrock, who is a section head of Polemic; George Shoup, who is treasurer of Reserve's Newman Club; Jim Chatterton, who is treasurer of Student Council; and Rich Morgan, who was in charge of decorations for homecoming. Two seniors distinguished themselves indirectly by being accepted to medical school. Ed Crum was admitted here at Reserve and Joe Macys was accepted at Ohio State University.

The rushing season started off well with a summer party sponsored by the Cleveland alumni association. The end result was 24 pledges this semester. One of them, Ray Bowman, is secretary of the freshman class, and the pledge class as a whole won the skit competition with the other pledge classes on campus.

On the social side, we placed second in house decorations competition for homecoming. The undergraduate chapter combined with the Cleveland Alumni Chapter for a banquet in honor of Carr Liggett, who was recently admitted to the Distinguished Service Chapter. Our winter formal at the Park Lane Villa was a tremendous success and now we are looking forward to our annual Orphan's Party, entertaining some needy children in the area. However, one of the most outstanding social aspects of the semester is our quartet, "The Bathrobe Four," made up of Bob Weiss, Jake Fridline, Dick Porter, and Tom Reichert. The quartet sang at several gatherings and has just completed a performance at Cleveland Music Hall in connection with stunt night of Mather College.

ROBERT BOERNER

Westminster—Delta Omicron

Delta Omicron successfully launched the '60-'61 school year with its usual fine rush week performance. Thanks to Rush Westminster Delts completing preparations for their pig roast.

Chairman Bill Bennett and our summer activities we pledged 13 outstanding men. Those pledged were: Jeff Heavner, Gene Hamilton, Rich Hugo, Jim Jeppson, Andy Kenyon, Rick Mason, Dan MacDuff, Bill Nowell, Bill Robertson, Roy Sander, Whit Smith, Austin Suits, and Jim Terrell.

Our fall social schedule accelerated soon after our return, reaching the peak in our semiannual pig roast and Roman Toga party. Social Chairman Paul Doolley and his assistant, Ken Ellis, appear to be putting our social funds to the best possible use as the unanimous turnouts indicate. Among other things, the future will include a migration to Oklahoma for the O. U.-Missouri game.

The Westminster Delts opened the intramural season in high style with the softball team tying for first place. The fall efforts were summed up Dads' Day with victories in both tennis and golf, and a second place finish in track; however, our varsity representatives are also giving a superior performance as Bill Nowell lettered in cross-country, and three year letterman, Lanny Larason, two-year letterman, Bill Bennett, along with Jim Lunquist and Roy Sander, are on the conference champion basketball squad.

Delta Omicron again assumed a dominating role in campus activities as several men now hold key positions on the Hill. Included are: Ford Ross, student body secretary-treasurer and junior class secretary-treasurer; Bill Bennett, student body sergeant at arms and junior class sergeant at arms; Ken Ellis, sophomore secretary-treasurer; Wayne Wilke, Flying Club president; Lanny Larason, editor of school paper, letterman's club president, History Club president; Jim Vaughn, president of Omicron Delta Kappa and Phi Rho, an honorary medical society. Seniors Larason and Vaughn also received membership in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

In spite of the Shelter's previous successes, we have not lulled ourselves into a sense of false security. Scholarship can stand improvement from our seventh place showing last year and fourth place in the athletic supremacy contest is not indicative of our ability. But with excellent leadership from President Jim Vaughn and assistance from Chapter Advisor Bob Kroenig, we should improve our shortcomings and accentuate our strong points in order to maintain our active and respected position on the Westminster campus.

DAVE BYNUM

West Virginia—Gamma Delta

Gamma Delta Chapter, led by the seasoned veterans and supported by the top pledge class on campus, is looking forward to another successful year on the West Virginia University campus.

Outstanding leadership by Rush Chairman Dick Higinbotham and hard work by the rest of the chapter paid off in the acquisition of 34 fine pledges.

Gamma Delta is, again this year, being represented by at least one member on every athletic team and honorary on campus. Gene Heeter and Frank Schneider are both outstanding ends on the football team and Glen Hunt was captain of the cross-country team. We are very proud to have had three men initiated recently into Fi Batar Cappar, men's mock honorary, and two men selected for initiation into Mountain, ranking men's honorary. Those selected for Fi Batar were Tom Spelsberg, John Lukens, and Sam McConkey. John Bucy and John Lukens were initiated into

Gamma Delta pledge class and housemother, Mrs. DORA BEAVERS

Mountain. The chapter selected Miss Carolyn Vest, a member of Chi Omega Sorority, as its candidate for Monticola yearbook queen. One of our Delt Sweethearts won this honor last year.

For the seventh consecutive year, West Virginia Deltas have won the Trinity Sing. This competition is held in Pittsburgh each year among five Delt Chapters of the area.

Phil Lang, our social chairman, and his committee came up with the biggest hit of the season; a sewer party. The house was decorated as the inside of a sewer and the brothers and their dates came dressed as sewer rats, plumbers, etc. Our most recent social event was the Christmas Party. The evening began with a buffet dinner and was topped off with a semiformal dance.

This fall semester has been most successful and we are looking forward to the many events planned for the rest of the school year.

GORDON DEPEW

Whitman—Delta Rho

Thus far in the year, things have been going along very well at Delta Rho Chapter. By far the most important occasion was the visit of Bob Gilley in relation to a new Shelter. After talking to President Gilley and various officials of the College, we are very elated about the prospects of having new living quarters completed in time for occupancy next fall. The greatest problem now is the small one of money, and even that shouldn't be too great with the methods of collection available to us.

On the campus this year, the Delt brothers have also been doing a very fine job. With an excellent rush program we pledged 21 men, a fine group by all standards. In the sophomore class elections, Brother Tom Bayley was elected to the office of treasurer; and in student body elections last spring, Kirk Prindle was elected student body president, in which office he is now serving. On the intramural football field, the Deltas, led by Brother Lowry Gilbert and Brother Kirk Prindle, turned in a series of stunning performances to capture second place. We were especially proud of the brilliant victory over the strong Teke team. On the social scene, the Deltas, under the leadership of that marvel of organizational ability, Brother David Gregory, have had many delightful functions. The pledge dance, "Psycho," demonstrated the great potentiality of our pledge class. Also of note was the "Cowboys and Indians" party, in which, with their squaws, the brothers all had a rootin'-tootin' good time!

Wisconsin—Beta Gamma

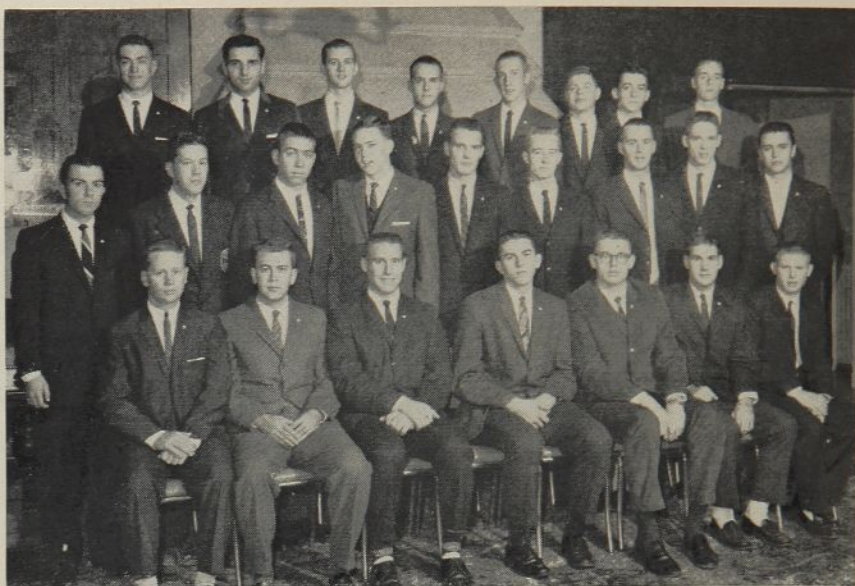

This fall, Beta Gamma has one of the finest pledge classes on the University of Wisconsin campus. Twenty-one men have been pledged in one of the most successful rushes in years. Rush Chairman John Bubolz spearheaded this year's program with some new ideas. A summer rushing program was started in which area captains were assigned to acquaint prospective rushees in their area with the Fraternity. Again this year, heavy emphasis has been placed on informal rushing. Among Beta Gamma's 25 pledges are two Scandinavian students who are studying at the University under scholarships. They are Klas Stenstrum, from Djursholm, Sweden, and Dag Tresselt, from Bloomenholmveien, Norway.

The big excitement around the chapter this fall has been the Beta Gamma Beacon. This is the chapter's new newspaper, published for alumni. Brother Arnie Roebuck got the idea and organized the staff. Brother Jim VanHorn, an honor student in journalism, was the editor; articles were contributed by undergraduate members of the chapter. The paper was printed in a publishing firm owned by the father of one of the brothers. Just after Thanksgiving a glossy, tabloid-sized newspaper, complete with pictures and big headlines was mailed to Beta Gamma's alums. The response was phenomenal. Beta Gamma alums from all over the country sent their congratulations.

Theme parties and a winter formal have made Beta Gamma's fall social season a busy one. On December 10 the chapter held its winter formal, which featured dinner at a local restaurant and dancing in a hotel ballroom. For the first time in years Beta Gamma chose a queen. She was Nancy Frailing. A farm party, a bundle party, and a hay ride have added variety to the regular Saturday night parties. One of the best parties of the season was the Christmas party with the Alpha Chi Omegas.

The big project for the Beta Gamma Delts now is Humorology. The Kappas are working with the Delts this year in the all-campus activity, which consists of six original 20-minute skits, each put on by a fraternity and sorority. Brothers Bill Staab and John Emlen are writing the script. The brothers also have high hopes for a trophy in the other big activity, Campus Carnival, which will be in the spring. Last year the Delts and the DC's took honorable mention.

Beta Gamma has a good start toward the Badger Bowl trophy this year. This is the highest award given to a University of Wisconsin fraternity in intramural athletics. After a fair football season, the Delts took first place in volleyball and are now leading the league in basketball and badminton. With excellent prospects for spring sports the brothers of Beta Gamma are looking forward to winning the 1960-'61 Badger Bowl.

Delts again are in the news in intercollegiate athletics at Wisconsin. Brother Marty Garrity, who last year was Wisconsin's leading scorer, is again breaking scoring records for the basketball team. After the basketball season, Marty will return to golf. In 1957 he won the national junior championship. Other Delts on varsity teams are Kurt Smrcina, who is a starter on the swimming team, and Chuck Meyst and Jon Stillman, who have starting berths on the gymnastics team. A large number of Beta Gamma's pledges are competing for positions on varsity teams.

Beta Gamma has been pushing grades in an attempt to raise its rank among other campus fraternities. Scholastics Chairman John Holzrichter has come up with a novel idea to provide incentive for good grades. It's a steak-hash dinner. Actives and pledges will be paired and at the end of the semester the one with the highest grade point average will eat steak, the other hash.

Elections have just been completed at Beta Gamma. The new president is Russ Kofoed; vice-president, John Eddy; treasurer, Tom Schaefer; recording secretary, Mike Wheeler; corresponding secretary, John Bubolz; sergeant at arms, Bob Schmidt; and guide, Roger Smith.

Beta Gamma is making plans for another successful year.

Dr. ROBERT J. WERT, Stanford, '44, vice-provost of Stanford University, has been named president of the recently formed Co-ordinating Council for Higher Education. The council, composed of 15 members appointed by Governor Brown of California, was set up under the California master plan for higher education. It is to co-ordinate the work of the University of California, state colleges and junior colleges, and to advise the governor and the California legislature on education programs.

The Delta Creed

- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta for the education of youth and the inspiration of maturity, so that I may better learn and live the truth.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as a shrine of international brotherhood: her cornerstone friendship, her foundation conscience, her columns aspiration, her girders self-restraint, her doorway opportunity, her windows understanding, her buttresses loyalty, her strength the Everlasting Arms.
- I BELIEVE in Delta Tau Delta as an abiding influence to help me do my work, fulfill my obligations, maintain my self-respect, and bring about that happy life wherein I may more truly love my fellow men, serve my country, and obey my God.
