One part of this strategy is to ensure that essential contracts that provide critical business services to the Commonwealth have planned for such an emergency and put contingencies in place to provide needed goods and services.*

1. Describe how you anticipate such a crisis will impact your operations.

KCG, LLC anticipates that such a crisis would have an impact on our ability to perform new work and complete new orders. The crisis would have an impact on our ability to perform onsite work in the event that our employees were incapacitated. The impact on offsite work would be less affected and if remote access is available rather limited as support would be able to be provided.

2. Describe your emergency response continuity of operations plan. Please attach a copy of your plan, or at a minimum, summarize how your plan addresses the following aspects of pandemic preparedness:

- a) Employee training (describe your organization's training plan, and how frequently your plan will be shared with employees). Training is provided yearly and all employees are required to take the training once per year.
- b) Identified essential business functions and key employees (within your organization) necessary to carry them out.

Essential Business Functions include:

- Maintenance and support of equipment, software, and other hardware.
- Maintenance and continuity of data and information related to support services
- Help desk services
- Onsite, phone, and network support

Key Personnel include:

- Julie Keyser
- Andy Keyer
- Ramana Kumar
- Britton Pyles

c) Contingency plans for:

- i. How your organization will handle staffing issues when a portion of key employees are incapacitated due to illness.

KCG, LLC has relationships with other vendors with qualified AV staff, solid relationships with multiple suppliers, and the ability to recruit staff quickly if needed. If a number of our staff were incapacitated, support services would be subcontracted out to Purdy Communications and/or Carousel Industries. They have approximately 30 technical staff that can offer support as needed.

- ii. How employees in your organization will carry out the essential functions if contagion control measures prevent them from coming to the primary workplace.

KCG, LLC has staff that telecommute, have full functionality available to them via laptops and other communication devices. Furthermore, with VPN access, phone support, and other remote methods, most systems can be supported remotely.

- d) How your organization will communicate with staff and suppliers when primary communications systems are overloaded or otherwise fail, including key contacts, chain of communications (including suppliers), etc.

KCG, LLC has communication means via Business Internet, cell phone providers, and land line capabilities. In the event that all communication methods are compromised, the geographic vicinity of employees can communicate if needed by travelling to our headquarters in Gettysburg, PA. KCG, LLC has documented methods on how to contact key individuals.

- e) How and when your emergency plan will be tested, and if the plan will be tested by a third-party.

KCG, LLC will provide yearly testing of the emergency plan, it will not involve a 3rd party. The testing will include:

- Loosing communication methods and ensuring backup communications are utilized (without prior notice).

- Testing VPN and remote access to client sites (where applicable)
- Testing other remote access methods such as remote desktop, TeamViewer, etc to be able to provide remote support
- Activating Purdy Communications employees to setup a help desk site.

IV. Tasks. Describe in narrative form your technical plan for accomplishing the work using the task descriptions as your reference point. Modifications of the task descriptions are permitted; however, reasons for changes should be fully explained. Indicate the number of person hours allocated to each task. Include a Program Evaluation and Review Technique (PERT) or similar type display, time related, showing each event. If more than one approach is apparent, comment on why you chose this approach.

A. Order and Delivery of Equipment. Offeror shall describe their order and delivery services. The Offeror, within five (5) business days after receiving an order, must notify the Commonwealth of any potential delivery delays. Evidence of inability or intentional delays will be cause for the cancellation or suspension of a contract. The Offeror must ensure all incorrect shipments are corrected within ten (10) business days. The business days of the Commonwealth are as follows; 7:30 to 5:00pm, Monday through Friday, excluding state holidays. All orders for equipment must be delivered to the inside location specified by the Commonwealth within fifteen (15) business days or on the date agreed upon by both the Commonwealth and the Offeror. Calculation of delivery time does not include the day that the purchase order is issued but does include the day of delivery. When a specific delivery date is agreed upon for a full delivery or partial delivery, delivery must occur on the requested date. The Offeror retains ownership of all equipment until the delivery is accepted. The Offeror must store all equipment in its own facilities until the agreed upon delivery date.

KCG, LLC generally uses the following process for order and delivery:

Packing slips are electronically provided and all PO numbers are clearly labeled on all packages. KCG, LLC personnel are available for asset tagging and inventory management as needed. This will be discussed with the agency.
- If the order included installation and/or services, we coordinate with the agency for availability and schedule of affected locations and key personnel. Once installation schedule is determined, equipment is ordered and shipped directly to KCG, LLC unless otherwise specified by the customer.

- At the specified time for installation and service delivery KCG, LLC will bring all equipment and necessary items for the installation/service delivery. The agency will provide staff to verify all equipment is received, asset tagging will commence, and an electronic copy of all make, model, and serial numbers is provided.
- All warranty, maintenance, and support documentation is provided.

B. Installation of Equipment. The Offeror is responsible for the installation of all equipment and shall certify readiness for operation in writing. Readiness for operation includes all features and functions requested by the Commonwealth using agency are fully operational and requested staff training has been completed.

Prior to delivery, the Offeror shall survey and review the installation location to insure the agency's desired location for the equipment meets the manufacturer's established installation criteria. Should the proposed installation location not meet established installation criteria, the Offeror and the requesting agency shall attempt to locate an alternate mutually agreeable location for the equipment.

The Offeror shall affix a label or decal for asset tracking to the equipment at the time of installation, showing the name, address, and telephone number of the dealer responsible for service of the machine.

The Offeror shall certify that the installation is tested and fully operational based on the needs of the Commonwealth using agency.

KCG, LLC generally uses the following approach for installation of equipment:

- During the bid phase a site visit is typically conducted to look at the physical space and understand the business and technical requirements

- KCC, LLC would like to respectfully ask the Commonwealth to reconsider the answer to the specific question asked as part of the question and answer session:

Question: "There is mention in several places about "AV System Design and Build" and the requirements mentioned above in our previous questions. It appears that vendors can be awarded this contract without choosing "AV Design and Build" but it is unclear what they are able to provide if that is the case so several questions: a. What equipment/services could a vendor provide if they are not qualified under "AV System Design and Build" b. If the vendor is selected to be on the contract and doesn't currently have the necessary CTS-D and CTS-I designations, if they are obtained after the award (again given they were placed on the contract), would they then be eligible to provide "AV System Design and Build" with proof of obtaining those certifications."

Answer: “a. The selected Offeror would be authorized to provide reseller services for the equipment they have submitted as part of their proposal.

b. No, the certifications must be obtained by the Offeror prior to proposal submission.”

In regards to answer b, we believe it would be in the Commonwealth’s best interest to allow vendors selected as part of this contract to be permitted to provide AV Design and Build services if they meet the recommended requirements in the future due to the following:

1. Currently there are only 70 vendors worldwide that meet the recommended standard, for one reason, this is a relatively new standard by AVIXA and there is relatively significant costs to achieving this requirement. Therefore, a company achieving the AV Provider Excellence (APEX) designation would be beneficial to the Commonwealth and ensure that they meet the highest industry standard.
2. If a company achieved the AV Provider Excellence (APEX) designation they would potentially be more qualified than companies that just had enough CTS-I and CTS-D certified individuals at the time of proposal submission.
3. CTS-I and CTS-D designations are assigned to the individual not the company, at any time a company could lose one or more of their CTS-I and CTS-D and not be in compliance with the recommended standard, including at the time of contract signing if individuals left between the time of submission and contract signing.
4. The tests for the CTS (required to get the next 2 designations), CTS-D, and CTS-I have changed recently (October 2018) to reflect newer technologies and the trends in the industry. Requiring firms to have CTS-D and CTS-I designations at the time of proposal submission means that they would not have certifications reflecting the latest trends in the industry. Note: the certifications are good for 3 years.

We respectfully request reconsidering the aforementioned answer to be modified to something that would allow a company to be in compliance by the time of contract signing and allow companies annually (1 specified time per year, or biannually when pricing guides can be modified) to be able to submit their AV Provider Excellence designation and be able to provide AV Design and Installation.
