The Thirty-ninth General Assembly adjourned sine die, April 8, after 13 weeks, the total number of days actually in session being 67. At the time of adjournment there had been sent to the governor in the last three days of the session 150 bills and joint resolutions, some of which had been signed before adjournment. At the time of the close of this record all bills had been signed except one that was vetoed and one yet remaining for consideration.

This Index and History is compiled from the journals of the two houses as printed and its chief value is in the citation of journal pages so that a record of every bill is obtainable. Full titles are not given, but an attempt is made to briefly state what the bill is about so as to give a clue to its actual contents

The number of bills introduced is the largest in the history of legislation in Iowa.
