Committee race highlights local election Candidates meet town's people, and the issues

Final event of campaign in township

By ABNER GOLD
The two candidates for one seat open this year on the Township Committee had their only direct confrontation of the campaign at the annual candidates' night program sponsored by the Springfield League of Women Voters last Wednesday night at the Florence Gaudineer School. They are Mayor Philip Del Vecchio, Republican, and Nat Stokes, Democrat, the winners of some 200 voters was the largest of recent years.

Del Vecchio, Stokes seek 3-year term

Tax collector will face no opposition Tuesday

A total of 9,394 registered voters will be going to the polls in Springfield on Tuesday to decide the election of candidates on the state, county and municipal level, along with two proposed amendments to the state constitution and a bond issue.

With only two candidates taking part, the format was changed from that of previous years. The moderator, Mrs. Henry Dearborn of Summit LWV, asked the candidates about specific aspects of municipal government, and each was then able to comment on the other's answer. A general question-and-answer period followed.

Asked about the town's new master plan for future growth, Stokes said that it was necessary for orderly development. He objected, however, to zoning variances which he termed "encroachment on the residential character of the community."

Del Vecchio noted that all use variances must be approved by the Board of Adjustment, and then by the Township Committee. Pointing to his own vote against a recent application filed by his friend, State Sen. Frank McGovern, the mayor said, "We must have men who will judge each application on its own merits."

BOTH CANDIDATES indicated that local traffic problems merited continuous study, particularly with the prospect of an additional road.

Flood control, Vietnam peace proposal share attention of Township Committee

The town's new flood control program and an effort to secure municipal endorsement of efforts for an immediate end to the war in Vietnam shared the spotlight at the Township Committee meeting Tuesday night at Town Hall. Some 50 citizens were in attendance.

The governing body voted unanimously to accept the flood control study and master plan compiled by its consultant, Richard J. Jeske Inc. of Springfield, and to authorize preparation of a $1.5 million bond ordinance to carry out the proposed improvements. (See other article on this page.)

The discussion on the Vietnam war began when Mayor Philip Del Vecchio reported that he had received a letter from the Springfield Committee to Stop the War in Vietnam asking the Township Committee to approve a suggested resolution.

Judge delays use of office building

Judge Milton A. Feller on Monday issued a temporary restraining injunction barring occupancy of the Westport office building at Hillside and S. Springfield avenues. The developers have two weeks to show cause why the order should not be made permanent.

The ruling came on a taxpayer's suit filed by neighbors who contended that the building violates zoning laws. Local Democrats have made the building a campaign issue, charging zoning violations and also alleging irregularities in the zoning variance to permit its construction.

Mayor sums up by citing gains, qualifications

When the chips are down, qualifications and prior service should be the sole criteria for election to the Township Committee, Mayor Philip Del Vecchio stated at a reception in his honor on Sunday.

It does not take very much talent or research to make irresponsible accusations, and in the heat of a political campaign it is not unusual for a candidate who lacks the qualifications and who is devoid of raising pertinent issues to sink into the despair of a mud-slinging effort. But should this tactic be allowed to substitute for the proper accreditation?

"I have been a member of the Township Committee for seven years and during that time my record is visible throughout the community regardless of which direction one seeks—be it the Sarah Bailey Civic Center, our new public library, our municipal pool, Mount View road or our record road improvement program that has seen 10 miles of new and improved streets over this period of time."

"I am asking the voters to consider my qualifications as a professional engineer, as a member of many local civic organizations all dedicated to the improvement of our community."

Regional board delays its expansion referendum

The Regional High School District Board of Education will not be able to present its expansion bond referendum to the voters in December, as had been tentatively planned, the board announced at its monthly meeting Tuesday night at Gov. Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights.

Because of the lack of time, the board asserted, consultants with the planning architects had not been completed, therefore causing difficulty in presenting all the necessary information to the public in time for the poll date.

Several persons posed questions about the implications of a delayed referendum date. John Walsh of Mountainside asked the board if it backed up the referendum to March, as was hinted during the course of the meeting, would there be difficulties with the school population during the construction period.

Manuel Dios, acting chairman of the Board, said that such a delay would alter the situation because of the later starting date in construction.

Mrs. Eleanor Hochle of Mountainside inquired about the future accommodation of the students now at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School-Springfield, and Gov. Livingston Regional High School.

Dr. Frederick Hagedorn, who said, "Even the erroneous projections of the town populations did not distort the school enrollment projections."

A question from the audience to the examination of new facts revealed concerning the Rissetto report was answered by Dr. Hagedorn, who said, "The accuracy or inaccuracy of the report as stressed by Mayor Wilhelm's letter will be examined and a decision will be discussed at the next meeting."

PUBLIC QUESTIONS regarding the cost of the new expansion were answered by Dios, who replied, "The cost will not be less than last year's referendum. Most likely the cost will be considerably more due to the increase in building costs."

A letter to the board from L.A. Chiffney of Mountainside presented an objection to the board approval of (Vietnam) moratorium day.

DAYTON'S FINEST—Bob Sasse, on crutches as a result of a football injury, accepts congratulations at the high school dance last Friday on his election as "Mr. Regional," outstanding senior athlete chosen in a poll of senior girls. Sasse is also a star sprinter for the Dayton track team. With him are Kathi Yeager, captain of cheerleaders, and Nina Urban, co-captain. (Photo by Jim Adams)

Stokes: Claims on sale of land 'not disproved'

In his final news release preceding election, Nat Stokes, Democratic candidate for Township Committee, issued the following statement:

"In an open letter distributed to the voters of Springfield last week, my opponent employed a technique traditionally used by those on the weak end of an argument: name calling. When reason doesn't support you and the facts don't support you, call the opponent a name. This was what Mr. Del Vecchio did in his open letter to the voters."

"Despite his accusations, my opponent and his associates have done nothing to disprove the documented facts about Township Committee irregularities that I have put before the people of Springfield. They have called me names, offered irrelevant figures and lightning arithmetic, but the basic facts of the case remain."

"I have shown the people of Springfield documented proof that (1) the town paid $45,500 to one of its own appointees for a piece of property bought three years before for $33,000 and appraised at the time of purchase at worth no more than $27,000."

"I have dug into the records and shown documented proof that (2) the Township Committee of Springfield granted variances for construction of the Five-From-Martin Avenue to Smithfield drive, with two pumping stations to carry water from the brooks and storm sewers over the dikes and into the river, and with check

Two amendments to the state constitution will also appear. They include a proposal to extend all voting privileges to all properly registered persons 18 years of age and over. The second amendment calls for the authorization for the state to conduct a state lottery, the proceeds of which would be used for state institutions and aid for education.

Who Won service by League Tuesday

The Springfield League of Women Voters will conduct a "Who Won" service Tuesday evening from 9:30 to 11 to provide voters with results of that day's elections.

The League asked residents to call only during the hours listed. For election results, readers may call the following: Mrs. Irwin Genser (376-2795), Mrs. Larry Lerner (376-8305) and Mrs. Sol Tumber (679-1207).

AFTERMATH—A fire was discovered at the Howard Johnson's restaurant on Rt. 22, Springfield, on Saturday at 12:45 a.m. by two porters working on the premises after closing hours. The fire was reportedly caused by deep fryers which had not been properly extinguished. According to Lt. Chief Robert Eby, the fire was brought under control within an hour and half. The original alarm. The roof above the kitchen was burned through as the grease ignited and traveled up the flue system and through the air ducts. The Fire Department used all available apparatus, four units in all, to fight the fire. (Photo by Es G. Cardinal) tion of a building by business associates of a member of the Township Committee that granted the variances. These variances to the zoning ordinances were granted a few months after that very same Township Committee passed the zoning ordinances.

"I have pointed-out (supported by the fact that taxpayers are instituting court action against the township) that (3) this building put up by colleagues of a member of the Township Committee was granted a certificate of occupancy by the town despite myriad violations of the variance given to build it.

"WHILE THERE HAS BEEN MUCH INVECTIVE, while there have been threats and accusations, the fact remains that there has been no refutation of the truth of these disclosures.

"In a major effort to dazzle and confuse the people of Springfield, Mr. Del Vecchio has offered figures showing that the town of Springfield received a windfall when they paid only $45,500. I think his explanation shows what little respect he has for the intelligence of the people of Springfield. How can he expect us to believe that a 450-square-foot, one-story cinder-block building with no basement, minimal heating facilities and raw cement walls interior cost $13,300 to build back in 1952 when furnished split level houses with bigger plots thrown in were being sold for less.

"If Mr. Remlinger did invest $13,300 I suggest (1) much of it was ice cream making equipment that he sold when he got $28,000 for the business. I also suggest (2) that whatever he paid to put up that structure in 1952, he depreciated in his books over the 16 years that passed until he sold it in 1968. Its value by then was a small fraction of its original cost - which in turn was a small fraction of what he has claimed. The Schlichter appraisal shows that the net proceeds suggested $2900 as improvements on the property.

"These clubby activities on the part of our Township Committee are part of the result of a one-party government that sits together, rotates the mayor's office, catenues to discuss matters coming before it and then votes as one man on issues of importance. There is no dissent, there are no questions, there is no responsibility.

"EARLIER IN the campaign, I called for a program-of-citizen participation whereby voters from the community would function in an advisory capacity in areas in which they have interests and competence. A program such as this would open up the Town Hall to new ideas and provide new perspective on some old ones.

"Had there been a citizens' committee to consider and recommend on all the conditions of the overnight parking ban, we might have been spared the extreme inconvenience many Springfield residents have had, building additions to their driveways and calling the police for permission to have a guest park on the street.

"Similarly, in areas of recreation we can employ citizens' committees as effectively as they do at one-time operated in the planning of the swimming pool facility. In the area of drug abuse, a volunteer citizens' group came into existence, but with no help from the Township Committee. Our officials should have led this fight, not trailed along behind.

"Unfortunately, all of these aspects of the campaign have been pushed into the background by the towary circumstances of the Dairy Queen and Westport Properties deals. However, they still are important in my mind and represent important changes I would like to see in our town government.

"Let the winds of change blow through Town Hall next year. Give me your vote in election day, Springfield needs a change."

of traffic expected on local streets with the opening of Rt. 78.

"On the floods which have plagued local residents in recent years, Stokes said that he was aware of all the long-range plans and drawings, but "people in town are tired of listening." Although federal, state and county agencies share responsibility, he said, the town has the job of keeping streams free of obstructions. A major problem is many areas.

Del Vecchio revised efforts to deal with the problem. He noted that the administration was about to present its plan for specific remedial measures, in coordination with projects of the other agencies involved. (See other article on page 1.)

"Discussing recreational facilities, Del Vecchio summarized expansion of the Recreation Department in the last eight years from an agency which concentrated on sports for boys to one which offered programs to suit all interests - of all ages - groups, athletic, social and cultural. He also cited the popularity of the municipal swimming pool.

Stokes pointed out that local schools should be used for expanded recreational programs. He also urged construction of new facilities at the swim pool to make the property useful all year - at the expense of those who would use it. He urged a citizens' committee to aid in recreational planning.

ASKED ABOUT suburban responsibility for urban problems, both candidates agreed that the urban crisis concerns all citizens.

"We live in a rural, social and economic area in what happens in the cities," Stokes said. "We can't build walls to keep people in. We in the suburbs can't keep running away from the problems."

Del Vecchio commented that the answer to the problem lies in education - to make the people of the ghetto financially able to move to better neighborhoods." He added, "We must get rid of our fears of our neighbors."

The first question from the floor concerned Stokes' plan for expanded swim pool facilities. He again urged a citizens' committee to provide details and cost estimates, suggesting that the pool must be kept self-supporting.

Del Vecchio said that he had made a cost estimate of the proposal for an indoor pool, steam room and other features, and that it would "treble the annual fee." He added that "we have a moral obligation to our citizens and that it would "fix the whole program in jeopardy."

THE MODERATOR LIMITED discussion of the town's purchase of the former Dairy Queen property, which has become a major campaign issue - to one question from the floor - and answers by the two candidates. Both reviewed charges and replies contained in their campaign publicity releases.

Both candidates agreed that a middle-income housing project would be beneficial for the community. Both also a step toward a solution of long-term problems as a home for senior citizens who want to stay in Springfield.

In response to another question about apartment developments, Del Vecchio said he was planning an ordinance to "enforce decent standards" for the responsible apartments we have in Springfield.

Answering another question, Stokes reviewed his campaign charges concerning the new office building at Hillside and S. Springfield avenues. Besides irregularities in connection with the variance application, he said, there were zoning violations in the actual construction.

Del Vecchio strongly denied any impropriety. He declared, "People are always looking for venality. Why don't they look at what we're trying to do, to bring in new rateables and lighten the tax load? My conscience is clear."

Summing up, Stokes stressed the need for bipartisan government. He stated, "No one party has all the answers."

Del Vecchio said he agreed, but that the "Democrats have not fielded candidates to win the confidence of the people. There are plenty of us in town - let the Democrats find them."

During board approval on the renovation and reordering of athletic equipment for the Regional District's varsity teams, Dr. Josephson pointed out, "I wonder at our sense of values in our athletics. These kids are really hurting themselves and then we spend thousands of dollars for the care of purchase of the equipment. I vote no on such approvals and make this statement as a matter of conscience."

At the close of the meeting, Frank Lombard of Mountainide asked the board, "Are we the people, really involved in the planning of expanded facilities? Has anything we have said tonight made any difference?"

The reply to this question came from Dlos who said, "Everything is taken into consideration but it is still the prerogative of the board to make the decisions. We cannot leave the actual planning to the individual citizens. It must be the majority decision."

The board also announced the locations of the next two school board meetings. They are Nov. 25, Deerfield School, Mountainide; and Dec. 23, Franklin School, Garwood.

Flooding

valves to prevent water from backing up into the storm sewers in rainy weather.

THE BRYANT-BROOK work is tentatively scheduled for completion by next October. The State Department of Transportation will construct a new, adjustable flume at the end of the culvert - carrying the brook under Rt. 78 near Lyons place and Salter street, as well as securing private property there damaged in previous floods.

The flume will divert most of the water coming through to the east branch of the brook which will be given a concrete bottom and sides. The west branch, which is able to accommodate less water, will be dredged and cleared. Hurricane fencing will be put along both branches to prevent debris from being thrown into the brook and impeding the flow of water.

The township is now seeking easements from some 200 property owners to permit the creek bed improvements, construction of the fencing and continued maintenance of the brooks.

Work on Van Winkles Creek, from the Mountain avenue area to the Railway River, with a major aim of preventing flooding in the Garden oval area, is scheduled for completion by the end of 1970. The master plan also calls for improvements for Van Winkles Creek from the Millburn line through the center of town to Mountain avenue.

The dikes along the Railway River, with much work being done by the County Engineers and the Park Commission, as well as improvements in the river bed, should be completed by the end of 1971.

BESIDES THE TOWNSHIP, Corps of Engineers and Park Commission, the Union County Board of Freeholders has pledged major repairs for five bridges to facilitate the flow of the river and its tributaries. These are at Mountain and Wabash avenues, Getwell place behind the Fire House, Salter street below Lyons place, Morris avenue at the Union line and the Railway Valley Railroad grade between Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and the Marsh building fields.

The town is seeking to have the Public Utilities Commission order the railroad to build a new bridge at that point as a major anti-flood measure.

Part of the Park Commission project will be construction of a recreational lake and ice skating area, in the Metcalf avenue vicinity, to serve as a retention basin.

The Regional High School Board of Education, Van Winkles Creek as part of its expansion of Dayton Regional, Millburn Township would also be involved in the overall plan, with some improvements to Van Winkles Creek in that community.

"WE NEED SIMULTANEOUS" cooperation from all agencies," a Township Committee spokesman said, "if we are going to cure, not alleviate, the problem."

He added that all these improvements are predicated on the state's continuing refusal minity, and not as a "book member" either, but as president of Amico, the Italian-American Cultural Society, or the Knights of Columbus, where I am active on the Building Committee, or the SACA group, of which I was a co-founder.

"These efforts that I have expended over the years constitute the type of background that a member of the Township Committee in a growing, active community should be able to offer the electorate, and these are the credentials which I offer in my bid for reelection to the Township Committee.

"A PLAN FOR THE FUTURE" should be a part of the platform that a candidate offers to the voters. I have projected a program that will continue to offer Springfield the type of leadership that has made it the type of community that is so desirable and that has encouraged so many new voters to move to our town in the past few years.

"Leadership of this nature is not an accident but a result of dedicated, well-prepared and intelligent planning and I am proud to say that I have been a part of this leadership over the years and we have a beautiful Springfield to show for the effort.

"All too often a candidate who lacks the proper credentials for election to public office creates a deliberate smoke screen of accusations and condemnations by imputing in order to cover his shortcomings," Del Vecchio continued.

"Throughout this entire campaign my opponent has not projected a realistic program that would provide for Springfield's development. He has not chosen to discuss the issues, because I feel that the outstanding record of his administration over the past eight years is behind his critique.

"May I point out that I am not content to rely on my record alone. I wish to be considered on the program that I am offering for Springfield's growth and to care for the pressing needs of a developing community. The flood control program that we have outlined will be implemented under my direction if I am re-elected, and the plans that are now under discussion for construction of a senior citizens' apartment will move forward with my support and the program of street improvements will continue with my assistance.

"I WILL BE PART OF AN ADMINISTRATION" that has provided the additional police and fire protection that has been necessary over the years and I assure you that this program will continue.

"I have been part of a team that has brought one of the finest recreation programs to our town and I will continue to be a part of the effort to provide the most interesting activities for our people of all age groups, and I will be there to provide the additional facilities as we need them and as we can afford them, without creating a hardship on our taxpayers.

The voters of Springfield have a clear-cut choice in candidates before them on Tuesday to reelect Phil Del Vecchio, a qualified responsive public servant, or to founder in the void of a candidate who shows a lack of qualifications, a lack of responsibility, a lack of leadership, and a lack of a platform on which to build a true community.

"It is my sincere hope that the electorate will carefully consider the alternatives and cast their ballot for me on line 8A," Del Vecchio concluded.

to build a giant storm sewer from Lyons place along Rt. 78 to the Railway River near Springfield avenue. If such a culvert could be built, it would ease many of the problems very substantially.

The master plan was prepared by Richard J. Jeske Inc. of Springfield, consulting engineers. The firm was first hired in May of 1969 to study local drainage problems. Following an aerial topographical survey, at a cost of $25,000, Jeske was authorized to complete the study, which cost $15,000.

Preparation of the bonding ordinance, which requires approval from Trenton, is expected to be completed so that the ordinance can be approved by the end of this year.

A copy of the complete study, including a flood plan map, is available for inspection by any interested residents or property owners in the township engineer's office at Town Hall.

Town meeting

am certain it is the President's. Whatever our differences concerning the ways and means of ending the war in Vietnam, the American people can be united, and should be united, on the basic goal of peace."

Rep. Dwyer also stated, "But to immediate and unconditional total withdrawal, I must answer 'no.' Because it wouldn't work! It wouldn't accomplish anything. Phased withdrawal, yes—faster disengagement, yes; an immediate end to the killing, by all means."

"But even if it were logistically feasible, immediate abandonment of our position in Vietnam would surely remove any remaining hope of stability and peace and independence in a country which has already suffered too greatly."

In response to several questions from the audience, Del Vecchio said that the committee would study the proposed resolution further in the next two weeks, and he indicated he would have a further statement at the next Township Committee meeting.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the governing body voted to postpone the next meeting from Tuesday, Nov. 11, which is Veterans Day, to Wednesday evening, Nov. 12.

Two probationary patrolmen in the police force were promoted to the rank of patrolman third class. They are Vern Pedersen and Alfred Parker.

Edward Cyr, town traffic consultant, reported that he had submitted a new request to the State Department of Transportation for a traffic light at Hillside and Mountain avenues, and that he expected rapid agreement under policies now in effect in Trenton.

Del Vecchio announced that he would attend a meeting next Thursday in Rahway of mayors of all towns along the Rahway River, called by Rahway Mayor John E. Marsh to seek federal legislation to remedy flood conditions in the entire area.

The mayor also accepted an invitation by Continental Post, American Legion, to attend Veterans Day ceremonies on Sunday, Nov. 9, at the new library. The ceremonies will include dedication of a plaque and flagpole at the library.

Committee member Arthur M. Falkin expressed the committee's support for the three public questions of Tuesday's ballot: to authorize a water conservation and anti-pollution bond issue and to approve two amendments to the state constitution. They would permit 18-year-olds to vote and would authorize the state to conduct a lottery.

Del Vecchio officially proclaimed November as National Retarded Children's Month in Springfield and urged all residents to support the national fund drive to aid retarded youngsters.

During the public discussion period, Ed Rall of 68 Denham rd. offered a comment on the flood control proposal, saying that he spoke as a citizen always concerned about keeping governmental costs down and as one whose home is not in an area threatened by floods.

Rall stressed that the township should make all its decisions on the matter on the basis of what would do the best job of flood relief, not on the basis of what might be cheapest.

Group assails Del Vecchio's letter on the purchase of Dairy Queen land

The open letter sent by Mayor Phil Del Vecchio to the citizens of Springfield defending the purchase by the Township of the Dairy Queen property was "another example of Republican double-talk and distortion of facts," according to a group of local attorneys, accountants, financial and real estate men. The group, including several active Democrats, stated:

"A re-examination of the pertinent facts discloses the following:

"1. Charles Remlinger 'leased' vacant land from Dr. Gabriel Lull in 1952 for a 20-year term, during which time he had an option to purchase the vacant land for $13,000.

"2. Remlinger then constructed a building on the vacant land. The building was a one-story cement block building, without a basement, without air-conditioning and without a paved parking lot, containing approximately 450 square feet.

"Remlinger and Del Vecchio say the building cost $13,500 to build, which is almost impossible to believe. Such a cost would mean that at 1952 prices it would cost the fantastically high sum of $30 per square foot to build that building. Curiously enough, the building which was owned by the local Italian operator of the Dairy Queen, and in 1965, acquired the land from Dr. Lull at the option price of $13,000. At this point he was the owner of the land and building with a windfall of $1,500 plus the interest on the proceeds of the 1955 sale and the rental income derived from the Dairy Queen operation.

"3. When finally purchased by the township in 1968, the building was 16 years old. Even if a building such as that had a useful life of 25 years, its value had depreciated 64 percent at the time of the purchase by the township.

"4. Del Vecchio, in an effort to justify the price paid by the Township, added the cost of the land and alleged cost of the building a figure of $28,000 entitled 'lease value.'

"No explanation is given as to how this figure was arrived at or who determined this value. It is merely set forth as an established fact and has no relationship to any acceptable method of appraising property. Suffice it to say that the $45,500 actually paid to Remlinger will produce far more than that amount over the remaining seven years of the lease to the Dairy Queen operator, if prudently invested.

The group commended Nat Stokes, the Democratic candidate for Township Committee, for his "diligence in bringing the true and honest facts to the attention of the community."

A spokesman for the group stated, "Nat Stokes has demonstrated, by his actions and statements, a dedication to public service of the highest degree. He has shown himself to be a highly intelligent, resourceful and concerned individual, deserving of the confidence of the Springfield electorate."

Signers of the statement were Robert Welch and Lawrence I. Lerner, attorneys; Stanley Katsch, professor of economics; Michael Di Giovanni, accountant; Martin Shermán, CPA; Neil Prager, financial vice-president, and Rubin Rytz, real estate man.

Wigs stolen from store

A theft of 16 wigs from Carlos Cottures last Friday was reported to the Springfield Police Department. The wigs, valued at $864 on the theft report, were apparently taken when a basement door was forced at the establishment and entry was made into the main floor.

Seymour Dychtwald, owner of the Dress Rack at Echo Plaza Shopping Center, reported the theft of $685.15 in merchandise to the local authorities. The items were stolen according to the police report, from a truck parked in front of the store on Thursday between 7 and 11 p.m.

A resident of Avon road, Springfield, reported the theft of a $1,400 platinum ring. According to the report, the ring was stolen from the home which was entered on Friday.

TO THE OVERWEIGHT:

This is your invitation to attend a free lecture by Mrs. Cecile Fein

One of America's most distinguished examples of successful living. This remarkable woman, who not only changed her own life but that of thousands of others in New Jersey will speak in Springfield during the regular Weight Watchers class in Temple Shalom, Slampike & Springfield Aves. this coming Tuesday evening, Nov. 4, at 7:30 P.M.

Mrs. Fein, a Newark teacher and holder of two degrees and innumerable credits from leading universities, was a victim of one of America's most crippling and humiliating diseases - overweight.

In the early 1960's she discovered Jean Nidetch and the medically sound principles on which the international Weight Watchers movement is based - and lost more than 100 lbs. More than that she discovered how to use the principles of mutual constructiveness in her own life, a principle which enables even those whose life had repeatedly been marked by failure to achieve their goals now.

In 1964 she brought the dignified Weight Watcher movement to New Jersey. The program works whether you have 10 or 100 pounds to lose. Having demonstrated its virtually infallible success in helping people lose weight the emphasis of Weight Watchers now is on how to help you for the rest of your life keep off the weight you lose in its program.

Speaking with simple eloquence, great honesty and penetrating understanding, Mrs. Fein will describe the techniques she uses and has successfully taught to others to live more successfully.

P.S. If you don't believe that our Mrs. Fein is as GREAT as we claim, phone 992-8130 and hear her taped weekly message to those in Weight Watchers. So patient, tho. Thousands are trying to get into this "Hot Line".

Support for one man, not an administration

Following a hard-fought municipal election campaign, and one which we believe has been basically on the issues, this newspaper endorses Mayor Philip Del Vecchio for re-election to the Township Committee.

The statement is easy. The explanations are a little harder, particularly since the arguments on both sides are quite plausible.

The Republicans, apparently regarding their lead as impregnable, keyed most of their campaign on the virtues of the American home and motherhood. This is the best of all possible worlds, they have maintained, and no citizen of Springfield should consider rocking the boat.

The Democrats, mounting a campaign with clarity and vigor, have maintained that the boat has not been rocked only because it is getting becalmed.

Their specific arguments have supported their thesis that the men on the governing body, being human, tend to mistake unanimity on the dais for unanimity among the citizens.

Republican hands have been on the municipal steering wheel for the past eight years, with just one Democratic member, and for only three of the eight years. An expert in any field of competitive endeavor, from tennis or bridge to salesmanship, needs constant expert opposition to keep his skills sharp.

Poliz, Connor deserve election to Assembly

Among the many positions to be filled by the voters this Tuesday are those of members of the New Jersey Assembly. Springfield citizens will vote for two assemblymen from Union County District 9C and one assemblyman at large for the county.

The value of an assemblyman depends on many factors, and one of the most important is his willingness to do his legislative homework.

Springfield Leader

with which has been merged the Springfield Sun... Second class postage paid at Springfield, N.J. Published each Thursday by Truener Publishing Corp.

Republican administration is getting too tired.

He has presented evidence in the last few weeks to indicate that the administration on occasion has been a little careless about observing all the keep off the grass signs, and that a few corners have been cut. We do not interpret this evidence to mean that there has been any outright corruption in Town Hall.

Having said all this, we feel that the undefinable need for a change should not be extended this year to the removal by the voters of the one man who has been the undisputed leader of modern Republicanism in Springfield.

Mayor Del Vecchio, whether holding that honorary title or sharing it with his colleagues, can well claim credit for most of the genuine accomplishments of the past eight years. These include the swim pool, the library, the implementation of the master plan in the new zoning ordinance, a measure of progress against traffic problems and at least a start in dealing with the perennial problem of flooding.

We believe that the campaign for a change on the Township Committee would function more efficiently with Democratic representation, has great merit.

Their major point, that the presently all-Republican Township Committee would function more efficiently with Democratic representation, has great merit.

We believe that there is an increasingly urgent need for an opposition member or members, on the municipal governing body.

We do not believe that the welfare of the community would be served by depriving its citizens of the outstanding services of Phil Del Vecchio.

We hope, however, that these comments might be remembered as a warning to Republicans and encouragement to Democrats as both parties look forward to Election Day, 1970.

Perhaps more conservative than those of many Springfield voters, he has shown a determination to understand the issues and to vote on the basis of his own conscience, rather than the desires of any party leaders.

Connor reminds many observers of the young Harrison Williams who sipped coffee on every block in the county in 1952, when he won his first election to the House of Representatives, Union County voters can play a part in launching at least an equally illustrious career this Tuesday when they send Connor to the Assembly.

Poliz, Connor deserve election to Assembly. Among the many positions to be filled by the voters this Tuesday are those of members of the New Jersey Assembly.

Letters To Editor

FROM REMLINGER The following is a copy of a letter sent by Charles Remlinger, former owner of the Dairy Queen property, to Nat Stokes, Democratic candidate for Township Committee.

My letter of Oct. 22, 1969, replying to your letter of Oct. 20, 1969, in which I requested public retractions, can be interpreted only to be an effort on your part to delay your admission to the public that your news releases and brochures are inaccurate, incomplete, and false.

Your continued attempts to deliberately withhold true facts from the public in order to have them believe the false pretenses which you put before them have only served to compound the damage to my good name and reputation.

I, therefore, repeat my demand set forth in my letter dated Oct. 20, 1969, specifically call upon you to retract all of those statements and to make known the false pretenses which you put before them without exception and through each and every one of the media which you have used to disseminate the false information.

Your further delay in making the retractions as set forth can only be construed as an attempt by you to forestall further action on my part until after election day, Nov. 4, 1970. On the advice of my attorney, all such retractions must be completed and published no later than Oct. 30, 1969, and are to have the same prominence in the various media as your previous releases have had.

Letters To Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of a political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

FALKIN REPLIES Shame on you, Mr. Nat Stokes, for making light of a person's reputation just to further your own political interests.

I have been a resident of Springfield for 13 years, a member of the board of trustees of Temple Beth Ahm for 12 years, a member of the Township Committee for eight years and I would have taken an oath that trial by "Kangaroo Court" could not happen in Springfield, but you have caused this to happen.

You have taken a set of facts that are all available to the public, and presented them in such a distorted way that they would cast aspersions on my character.

Let's look at Artie Falkin, I make my living selling plumbing supplies. But for investment purposes I am the non-salaried president of Merit Alliance Corp., which is a public corporation whose stock is held by many people including residents of Springfield.

Let's look at the record before the Board of Adjustment and according to the Township Committee as a body, not Mayor Del Vecchio as an individual, approved the variance.

Springfield is a great town, above the aura of scandal with which the Democratic candidate wishes to tar it, and its elected officials, I am proud of the progress our community has made, both in growth and planning for the future, but I am sincerely dismayed that Mr. Stokes, in an effort to create a smoke screen to cover up his lack of qualifications, has lowered himself to a mud-slinging campaign.

I have lived through these epistles before, but the nausea which sets in would certainly deter qualified candidates from offering themselves for service to Springfield in the future.

I have nothing to hide, and I regret that these charges were made so late in the campaign so that I could not publicly answer Mr. Stokes nor debate the issues.

My only hope is that the intelligent voters of Springfield will see through this camouflage and consider only the qualifications of the candidates and return Philip Del Vecchio to the Township Committee to protect the future of Springfield.

COMMENTS BY ZURAV The public, I am confident, has all the facts, not just some of them. The Democratic candidate in his statements to the press and public has been totally inaccurate.

Yes, Westport Properties and Merit Alliance Corp. are located in Hillside, New Jersey, in fact, 14 other unrelated companies, many of which are nationwide, are also located at the same Hillside address. Are these companies smeared with guilt by association? No.

Of course, these corporations are not running for Township Committee. Neither are Brunswick Capital or Avionics Investing. They are owned by Realty Equities, which is listed on the American Stock Exchange. Neither is Westport Properties a public utility. How, whose stock is traded in the over-the-counter stock market?

The purchase of an office building in Hillside is insinuated to be connected with the construction of an office building in Springfield. There are over 128,000 shares of Merit Alliance stock in the hands of the public.

In fact, a leading proponent of the Democratic candidate and a member of his brain trust, Neil Prager, is a stockholder in Merit Alliance.

I am not now, nor have I ever been, a stockholder, officer, director, attorney, or anything else in Merit Alliance. Using the same twisted set of facts as Stokes, therefore, Neil Prager "profited" in some way by the construction of the Westport building, but I did not. Therefore, he's a bad guy. I'm a good guy.

Adjustment attorney, but Stokes does not let facts stand in his way. His highly-trained secret staff of attorneys, accountants and professional politicians, hoping to be rewarded by political appointments from Stokes, do know that variances are granted and denied by the Board of Adjustment.

Why attack me, since I am not a candidate for reelection to the Township Committee? The answer, only too clearly, is to smear guilt by association.

I have at hand a letter from County Narcotics Advisory Commissioner John Surmay in which he states the use of his photo in the Leader with Mr. Stokes' political purposes was unauthorized and an unfortunate event for which he apologized on behalf of himself and "those individuals exercising liberties they did not possess."

So, again and again and again, the Democratic candidate, by insinuation, vilification, half-truth, fact distortion and implied guilt by association, seeks to accomplish his objective to create an impression of wrongdoing on the part of Mayor Del Vecchio and myself where there is none.

Surely there must be pressures on the President not only to continue the war but to escalate it. The Moratorium and the forthcoming 15 can be very helpful in sustaining the President in withstanding these pressures. If he is really intent on ending the war quickly...

For those of us who cannot go to Washington on Nov. 14 and 15, it might be a good idea to have some observations right here in town at that time to express our support for peace efforts to end the war in Vietnam now.

ENDING THE WAR As a participant in the Oct. 15 Moratorium for Peace in Vietnam, I must say it was a very emotional experience to see so many people, at long last, expressing their desire to end this horrible war...

A VOTE FOR STOKES I was present during Candidates' Night, sponsored by the League of Women Voters, in my opinion, after observing both candidates, I was thoroughly convinced that Nat Stokes deserves the vote of each and every citizen of Springfield, regardless of party affiliation.

Del Vecchio, who lost his composure and showed immaturity under pressure, did not satisfactorily explain his and his colleagues' bases for decisions. For example, the Dairy Queen transaction and the building on the property at the corner of Hillside and S. Springfield avenues, I need not explain the details, since Nat Stokes has explained them about these transactions, obviously became very frustrated. I wonder why?

I urge the people of Springfield to cast their vote for Nat Stokes. His aggressiveness, his conduct, his experience and his sincerity make him the best qualified candidate to represent all the people of Springfield.

BACKS MORATORIUM One would have to be very naive indeed to believe that Mr. Agnew was not speaking for Mr. Nixon as well when he characterized the organizers and participants in the Oct. 15 moratorium as "impudent snobs," along with other choice epithets.

I hope that a large number of my fellow citizens will respond to this gratuitous insult in the most effective way possible—namely, by joining those wonderful, idealistic kids on Nov. 15 in the nation's capital.

If this is not feasible, then join the protest in front of the Municipal Building on Nov. 15. It may even happen that Mr. Agnew will learn the truth stated by an "impudent snob" of another time and place, Voltaire, who said that "When once a nation begins to think, nothing can stop it."

THE LIBRARY'S STORY The board of trustees of the Springfield Public Library is writing this letter to furnish information relevant to the article on acquisition of the Dairy Queen property.

First, the building was completely incompatible with the development of an attractive municipal mall and library. Second, the continued operation of the Dairy Queen would present operating problems for the library, because of food being carried into the building.

Using the same tactics, one necessarily concludes that Prudential Insurance Company, which holds the mortgage on my home, cannot build an office building or do business in Springfield because I am a county freeloader and Planning Board attorney. Does the Democratic candidate state he will be disqualified from holding township office if the lending institution holding a mortgage on his house decides to build or do business in our town?

Robert W. Halsley, President of Board of Trustees Springfield Public Library

Opponents of war plan demonstration to be held Nov. 13

At a meeting of the Springfield Committee to Stop the War Now last week at the home of Don Grant, 12 Surrey Lane, the following actions were adopted:

1. A resolution was written to be presented to the Springfield Township Committee this past Tuesday night, requesting the committee to take a position on the Vietnam war. The resolution was delivered on Monday, so that the Township Committee could study the proposal before issuing a public statement on Tuesday night.
2. A public demonstration will be held on Nov. 13, in Springfield (time and place to be announced) to acquaint Springfield residents with the objections to the Vietnam war and to publicize the march on Washington to be held on Saturday, Nov. 15. The purpose of the demonstration on Nov. 13 and other actions prior to that date is to add as many Springfield names as possible to the list of those who will go to Washington on Nov. 15.
3. The next meeting of the Springfield Committee to Stop the War Now will be held next Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Molly Cuchiaro, 399 Mountain Ave., Springfield. Plans for the Washington demonstration will be completed.

Mayor on rec program: It's varied and popular

In response to recent criticism of the local recreation program, Mayor Philip Del Vecchio, Republican candidate for reelection to the Springfield Township Committee, stated that "a good recreation program is a people-to-people program."

Del Vecchio said: "The number of people participating in a diversified program that encompasses all age groups is the criterion by which a recreation program should be measured. If you have a program which caters to all age groups, both male and female, from grade school children to senior citizens, both in athletic and cultural areas, then you are serving the needs of the people."

"Our program in Springfield offers this variety and the best part is that we can proudly say that we are attracting the people. From a pre-school dance class that has 20 3 to 5-year-olds attending weekly to a modern dance class that attracts 35 children or to the 31 children who attend a weekly art class, the response has been great."

"I could also mention our sewing classes for girls and women and our gymnastic class that 16 ladies attend. All of these indicate the diversity and the interest in our schedules, and this is fulfilling our avowed purpose in reaching as many people as we can with any type of activity that will promote interest from our townscapes."

"The variety of activities for boys and girls is being expanded further. Our basketball program which starts with boys 8 to 14 will now include coaching clinics for both the boys and girls."

Miss Heady at college

Barbara Heady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Heady of 47 Colonial Ter., Springfield, is enrolled as a member of the freshman class at Mount Ida Junior College, Newton Center, Mass. She is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and will major in the pre-teaching program.

their clothes using members of the staff at Dayton Regional as instructors.

An outstanding example of group involvement is our Teen Council. The council plans all types of activities for our teens, and only through their efforts in painting and fixing was the Bailey Center ready for the use of all our kids.

"I DO NOT WISH to indicate that our recreation program has achieved its ultimate goal. We still have room for improvement and we will continue to seek other activities that will stimulate interest and draw additional people into our program further for one function or many."

"We feel that we have an excellent base from which to work and we know that as the interest grows our programming will stay one step ahead."

Del Vecchio continued: "A decent cooperative innovation between the Recreation Department and the Springfield Community Players will bring much pleasure to our Springfield residents, both for those who enjoy the performing arts, and those of us who will make up the audience."

Richard St. John elected by C of C

Richard J. St. John of Springfield, vice-president - administration and personnel for the Monroe Division of Litton Industries, has been elected president of the Orange Chapter of Commerce for 1970. Election was held by the Chamber's executive committee Oct. 20. St. John joined Monroe in September, 1966, became director of personnel in 1966, and was named to his present vice presidential position in December, 1968. Prior to joining Monroe, St. John held posts as corporate manager in personnel for the Quaker Oats Company and with the Ryder Trucking Company as a personnel administrator. Holder of a business administration degree from the University of Wisconsin, he also did graduate work at Loyola University Institute of Social and Industrial Relations. St. John is a member of the American Management Association, American Society of Personnel Administration, and the Business Equipment Manufacturers Association. Married, with two children, he lives in Springfield.

The newly organized Chamber of Commerce, with approximately 350 members, embraces the former Orange Merchants Association, the Central Avenue Businessmen's Association and the Orange Chamber of Commerce.

'Victorian Fads' to be topic of talk

The next regular meeting of the Springfield Historical Society will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 12, at 8:15 p.m. at the Cannon Ball House, 126 Morris Ave., Springfield.

Program chairman Howard W. Wiseman has announced that Miss Edwina P. Hargrove will be the guest speaker. Her topic will be "Victorian Fads and Fancies." She will demonstrate some unusual gadgets used in the home over 100 years ago and will also feature some fine glass and china of that era.

A short business meeting will be conducted by the president, Mrs. Robert D. Hargrove. Arrangements will be secured by the secretary, Mrs. M. Jordan-Petco. Members, prospective members and friends are invited to attend this meeting. Mrs. Hargrove said.

Port Authority official speaks at club meeting

Peter A. Monahan of the Port of New York Authority was the speaker at a Springfield Lions Club meeting held Friday night at the Mountaineer Inn, Rt. 22.

He discussed the Authority's role in developing and operating 23 kind, sea and air terminal and transportation facilities in the Port District, an area of nearly 1,500 square miles. Bill Koontz, Lions Club program chairman, arranged the program.

Men's Club at Y plans a program

"Dreams, Distractions, Decisions" - Weisfield's first multi-media event - will occupy the upper gymnasium of the YMCA Saturday evening from 8 to 10 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the Y Men's Club in cooperation with the Y Coffee House committee. It brings together many different media into one structural relationship, arranged in a manner to provide insights into the nature of our time.

A Y spokesman said, "Co-producers Paul Simons and Ken Hunter explain: 'Today it is not possible to be everywhere and see everything, nor has it ever been. Specialization often leads to fallacious understanding of an overall problem. Our event will deal with this modern dilemma, not by offering an answer to it but by asking the individual to decide for himself what he will see and hear.'

"This event is concerned with the nature of reality. Obviously no two people will see or hear exactly the same things, let alone share the same impressions of them. There shall be as many subjective realities as there are persons in the audience."

"No doubt at first the effect upon the audience member will be confusion and chaos. However, beneath this surface lies an order and the person who concentrates will perceive the order which he can bring to the material in a direct relationship with himself."

"Without this relationship the material means nothing, just as life is meaningless until we find our place in it," they said.

Simons, 27, teaches music at public and private school and at the Music Workshop, Westfield. A composer, he has written a symphony, a film score and chamber music. He wrote and directed "The Modern Mammal," a film produced by the Methodist Film Group, and produced a multi-media show for the National Fellowship of Methodists in Iowa last August. Hunter, 17, lives in Westfield and attends Union College. He has studied music, art and film techniques for several years and wrote and photographed a film on city conditions. He acted in "A Modern Mammal" and has done paintings, murals, drawings and sculpture.

TENTING TONIGHT — Boy Scouts of Troop 172 try out new equipment contributed by the Springfield Lions Club, troop sponsors. From left, are: knee line, Hugh Cole, Andy Gulliano, Lynn Mavitzky, Steve Hingdon, Waldor Selby and Dumon. It proposed an amendment to Article II, paragraph 3 of the state Constitution to change the qualification of a voter from 21 years to 18 years.

18-year-old voting referendum

Fact sheet from League of Women Voters

The bill which placed this amendment on the ballot for a vote was sponsored by Senators McDermott, Rinaldo, La Torre, Schifano, Gulliano, Lynn Mavitzky, Steve Hingdon, Waldor Selby and Dumon. It proposed an amendment to Article II, paragraph 3 of the state Constitution to change the qualification of a voter from 21 years to 18 years.

The proposal on the ballot reads: CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT—REDUCTION OF VOTING AGE TO 18. This amendment to the New Jersey Constitution would extend all voting privileges to all properly registered persons 18 years of age and over.

The United States Constitution does not specify the qualifications for voting. The states have the power to determine these qualifications, which vary considerably from state to state. In fact, part of the movement to reform the national Presidential elections is an attempt to standardize voting requirements.

- Major states require:
1. Voter must be citizen of the United States.
 2. Live in the area for a certain period (in New Jersey he must reside in the state for six months and the county for 30 days)
 3. Not be a convict.
 4. 46 of the 50 states require an age limit of 21; in Kentucky and Georgia, the age limit is 18; in Alaska it is 19, and in Hawaii it is 20.
- Several states are considering changing the 21 age to a lower one.

Dr. Mackay publishes new study

New Jersey, the first state to have a two-year, tax-supported county college, is among the last to create a meaningful system of community junior colleges.

Dr. Mackay, president emeritus of Union College, Cranford, and executive director of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, describes the history of the junior college movement in New Jersey in the recently published "Junior Colleges: 50 States/50 Years." The comprehensive study was published by the American Association of Junior Colleges, Washington, D.C.

Dr. Mackay blames the state's failure to move in this direction on several factors including the state's historic concept of what an institution of higher education should be, an antiquated tax structure and New Jersey's geographic location between two major metropolitan centers, New York and Philadelphia.

It was not until 1958, according to Dr. Mackay, that New Jersey took official recognition of its need for a permanent system of junior colleges and the office of Community College and Two-Year Education was created in the state Department of Education.

Juncker has been active in Scouting for 36 years during which time he worked for the Boy Scouts in Evansville, Ind., New Albany, Ind., Ann Arbor, Mich., and Elizabeth, N.J. At present, his active executive includes three councils encompassing 220 units, 2,800 adult volunteers and 7,700 boy members.

New bicycle path in Warinanco Park

Black-topped route extends for mile and a half

A bicycle path has been completed in Warinanco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle, it was announced this week by the Union County Park Commission.

The path, approximately one and one-half miles in length, has been black topped. The one-way path begins at the refreshment stand by the horseshoe courts and proceeds through Spinning Woods, across a lawn area, running along the north side of the lake, past the Chatfield garden, over a knoll, and back to the starting point. The path was designed by the commission's engineering department and constructed by its employees. The path was designed so that the bicyclists do not have to cross the park drive.

For the past three years, from April to October, the park commission closes the park drive in Warinanco Park to motor traffic on Sundays from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. to permit bicyclists to use the drive. With the construction of the bicycle path the closing of the park drive to motor traffic will no longer be necessary. "Bike path" signs will be placed in position in the near future.

Bicycling has been a popular activity throughout the park system. The program will offer family groups an opportunity to participate together in a recreation program. It is expected to have a bicycle rental service available in the spring.

THE PARK COMMISSION also announced that a new street lighting system has been installed in Cedar Brook Park, Plainfield, and placed into operation on September 19. The new system, similar in design to the system placed in service in Warinanco Park and in Echo Lake Park in recent years, is designed not only for the safety of park visitors but also in keeping with the aesthetics of the park system.

The lights were installed every 200 feet along the park drive. They consist of 28 mercury-vapor lamps mounted on ornamental wooden poles. In keeping with the park commission's policy of "if the wiring is underground."

The lighting system replaced a system in service for 42 years. It consisted of cast iron standards with incandescent lamps.

The park commission also adopted a resolution to indicate that it is willing to cooperate with the City of Elizabeth on the Elizabeth River Flood Control project as proposed by the United States Army Corps of Engineers. The resolution cited that the park commission will cooperate on the project to the extent allowable by law, subject to prior approval by the park commission of any plans, development and construction concerning the flood control project.

AT A MEETING of the park commission probationary patrolman Ronald Carter of Winfield was sworn-in to the rank of patrolman fifth class. The commission announced the advancements of patrolman fifth class Robert Klimko of Union to patrolman fourth class, and patrolman third class Salvatore Crocicci of Scotch Plains to patrolman second class. Garbage disposal requires regional approach: Connor

John T. Connor Jr., Democratic candidate for Union County assemblyman-at-large, this week advocated the establishment of regional garbage disposal facilities.

"During the coming decade," he noted, "New Jersey must face what is rapidly becoming a critical problem: where do we put our garbage? And how do we do it at a reasonable cost?"

"Our population is increasing at the rate of more than 500 per day. Due to our penchant for throwaway containers and other conveniences, the per capita solid waste generated is also rising. We have decided that open burning produces an intolerable amount of air pollution. Accordingly, most garbage is disposed in an sanitary landfill."

"But in our crowded communities," Connor pointed out, "a landfill is an unwelcome neighbor. At the same time, available land is shrinking as our solid waste increases."

"Solid waste collection and disposal will continue to be a hodgepodge of inefficiency and inefficient space utilization to be a problem unless a governmental entity larger than a municipality manages the task. I believe that regional garbage disposal facilities should be established. This can be done more effectively at the county than at the local level. Only one county now operates waste disposal facilities; two others are becoming involved."

"WE MUST HAVE ASSURANCES that solid waste disposal sites are properly located and maintained according to appropriate standards. Therefore I support the licensing of sites. As a condition of licensing, a proposed new site should be required to meet detailed specifications to ensure it isn't too close to homes; that reasonable access is available; that contamination will not result and that the site, once filled, will be useful for other purposes."

Connor also urged efforts to devise more efficient material-handling systems, to seek out new suitable disposal sites and to evaluate proposed innovations in disposal methods. "We must solve these problems or one day we'll be knee-deep in our own garbage," he said.

"Between 10 percent and 15 percent of our solid waste is still disposed of by incineration," Connor stated. "There are approximately 7,000 incinerators in hospitals, apartment houses, supermarkets, schools, industrial plants and elsewhere. Many are no better than a bonfire in a box, producing excess air pollution."

"A year ago the state adopted a code controlling air pollution from incinerators, the most stringent regulations being effective in August 1970. Most of the incinerators now in use do not conform to the requirements which will then become binding. I advocate strict enforcement of these important regulations."

CONNOR ALSO NOTED that costs of disposal have been rising at an extraordinary rate - in some communities as much as 700 percent in the last few years. "In hearings before the Public Utilities Commission last spring, questionable practices such as alleged price-gouging and collusive bidding were cited as sources of skyrocketing rates. Allegations of criminal involvement in the industry have recurred with increasing frequency."

Seminar is scheduled on cancer education

Mrs. William Backman of New Providence, chairman of the Public Education Committee of the Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society, announced this week that the first biennial teachers seminar on Cancer Education will be held Nov. 18.

The program is intended for department heads, and for teachers in science, health, physical education, and nurses of both public and private schools in Union County. Subject matter to be covered will include fundamentals of cancer education, teaching methods and presentation methods of cancer materials to the student, and the smoking problem among students today.

to ensure it isn't too close to homes; that reasonable access is available; that contamination will not result and that the site, once filled, will be useful for other purposes."

"A year ago the state adopted a code controlling air pollution from incinerators, the most stringent regulations being effective in August 1970. Most of the incinerators now in use do not conform to the requirements which will then become binding. I advocate strict enforcement of these important regulations."

CONNOR ALSO NOTED that costs of disposal have been rising at an extraordinary rate - in some communities as much as 700 percent in the last few years. "In hearings before the Public Utilities Commission last spring, questionable practices such as alleged price-gouging and collusive bidding were cited as sources of skyrocketing rates. Allegations of criminal involvement in the industry have recurred with increasing frequency."

"The slightest corruption cannot be tolerated in this vital industry. Governor Richard J. Hughes demanded broad legislation to deal with the solid waste disposal problems, including possible corruption," Connor said. "The controlled Legislature inexorably refused to act."

"As a member of this legislature, I would demand protection of the public interest through fair teaching, fair and sound regulation of the garbage industry."

Pre-ballot meeting held by Educators for Long

Lawrence Feinsod, chairman of the Educators for Thomas Long, this week asked all teachers in Union County to vote for Long, who is running for re-election.

Feinsod, a teacher in Linden, noted that the Democratic candidate has been in education for the past 19 years. Long is principal of Soehl Junior High School in Linden. His remarks came at a meeting of the group in the town of the gathering.

The organization is composed of teachers and administrators from across the county.

Feinsod, in supporting Long, said "Educators should set an example for the youth of today. This should be done through involvement, whether it be civic or governmental. Tom Long is this kind of educator. His impressive background speaks for itself. His involvement includes several areas of service, ranging from narcotics to Civil Defense to Boy Scouts."

Co-chairmen of the association are Joseph Sheare of 200 W. Webster ave., Roselle Park, and Burton Arnold of Rahway.

ODD-JOBS

Egg breakers, thumb cutters, and screen spinners are among the thousands of Americans who have odd-sounding jobs. Egg breakers work in mass-production bakeries. Thumb cutters work in glove factories. Screen spinners are workmen who tend the spinning screens that sort newly-mixed coal.

League of Women Voters data on candidates for governor

Robert B. Meyner
Democrat

BORN — 1908, EDUCATION — Lafayette College, A.B., Columbia University Law School, L.L.B., OCCUPATION — Lawyer.

QUALIFICATIONS — State Senator Warren County 1948-52, Governor 1954-62, Chairman Meadowlands Study Commission, Chairman Joint Legislative Commission of Redistricting and Reapportionment, Member Governor's Select Commission on Civil Disorders, Member Commission to study what should be done as to Soton Hall Medical School, Co-chairman N. J. Branch Intersect Council for Business Opportunity, Member President's Commission for the Observance of Human Rights Year 1968.

Please comment on the problems confronting the State of New Jersey in the following areas: Fiscal Crisis, Environmental Pollution and Urban Crisis and indicate possible solutions.

FISCAL CRISIS — The needs of New Jersey in education, transportation, health and other essential fields require increased State resources. The next Governor must exert firm leadership in meeting our clear and undeniable needs.

Of special importance are the needs of our urban and suburban communities. Increased State aid for these urban, suburban and rural communities is imperative if the burden of our local property taxpayers is to be reduced and if the entire State is to be alleviated. Before we undertake any major new revenue programs, it is imperative that we accomplish a real reform of our present antiquated tax structure, in conjunction with a firm commitment to provide this kind of increased State aid and to provide sound and efficient administration of our present and new State programs.

CRIME CONTROL — The problems of organized crime and crime in the streets demand top priority attention. The attack on organized crime requires, FIRST OF ALL, leadership that is determined to root out racketeering and leadership that sets a number of standards of integrity in government and in the prosecution of the war on crime. This is the kind of leadership that I think I was able to provide as Governor and that I seek to provide again.

The war on crime also requires crucial legal tools — such as State regulation of the garbage industry — that the Legislature has refused to provide. I shall work hard for these tools and for the best possible men to implement them.

ENVIRONMENTAL POLLUTION — Our next Governor must be actively sensitive to the threat of environmental pollution, and he must accord the highest priority to anti-pollution and conservation efforts. I pledge to press with utmost vigor our efforts to control air pollution, for the lives of our people depend on it.

URBAN CRISIS — The severe problems of our cities extend also to many of our fast-growing suburbs and some rural communities. A workable solution requires a far more substantial response than the Legislature has yet been willing to make. Clearly, we must insist on State assistance in our battle against crime, drugs and what we must require is the will, the commitment, to face up to the full range of urban problems that are weakening scores of our municipalities.

PUBLIC QUESTIONS — I strongly support the Water Bond Issue that will appear on the November ballot. This program is essential to abate the pollution of our waterways and to provide adequate water supply for our people and industries.

FISCAL CRISIS — During the past 16 years, New Jersey's taxes, debts and budget expenditures have skyrocketed. Despite this, the Democratic Administration has failed to make substantial progress in solving our most urgent problems. I am, therefore, convinced that continuing financial mismanagement has prevented the public from receiving its tax dollars worth. If New Jersey is to meet the challenges of the 70's, I believe the following approaches must be pursued: broaden Federal tax sharing, as established by the Cahill Amendments to the Federal Omnibus Crime bill; development of an increased tax-able base through decisive State programs; reorganization of the local property-State tax structure through a tax convention; economy in government through comprehensive planning and efficient budget procedures. In short, my top fiscal priority as Governor would be to insure a public which is already overtaxed, confronted by rampant inflation, and bewildered by where and how its money is being spent, that it

ENVIRONMENTAL POLLUTION — As our nation's most urbanized and densely populated State, New Jersey is increasingly threatened by environmental pollution. In my judgment, statewide and regional standards for water and air quality must be implemented and strictly enforced. Utilization of nuclear power requires our State and Federal governments to devise far-sighted plans regarding radiation and thermal discharges. Moreover, the inadequacy of municipal sewage facilities convinces me that the $271 million bond issue for water quality improvement should be approved, in brief, our State's anti-pollution efforts must be sharply increased if our present growth is to be sustained, and if our future generations are to be given a livable environment.

URBAN CRISIS — "The solutions to New Jersey's urban crisis must be found in innovative approaches for times worn precedents. I would therefore classify New Jersey's urban problems into two categories; the critical needs of the disadvantaged family, and those involving the long range restructuring of the physical city. To meet the immediate needs of the disadvantaged family, I would seek reform of the welfare system and expansion of vocational education opportunities developing job skills. I am convinced that restoring the cities will require overall tax reform to reduce the regressive property tax and revitalization of the industrial economic and tax structure. Priority should be given to the development of a comprehensive long range development plan to be sustained."

OTHER CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR
Louis VANDER PLATE — Independent Candidate
Winifred O. PERRY — National Conservative Party
Lawwood W. ERICKSON — American Independent Party
Jack D. ALVINO — Independent Candidate
Julius LEVIN — Socialist Labor Party
James E. JOHNSON — Independent Party

Biographies and statements from these other candidates for governor are available from the office of the League of Women Voters of New Jersey, 460 Bloomfield Avenue, Montclair, New Jersey 07042.

Democrat platform
EDUCATION — Education continues as a cornerstone of the Democratic Party platform. We pledge to expand the Community College system; elevate State Colleges to Liberal Arts status; increase size and quality of Educational Opportunity Fund for economically and educationally deprived; grant greater autonomy to Newark and Camden; increase the State School Aid formula; increase aid to cities for teacher recruitment; increase vocational education and use PSE for teaching. We will listen to legitimate protests, but oppose schools against any tyrannical practices.

URBAN RESPONSIBILITIES
The urban problems facing N.J. are so complex no single program will provide the answer. We will support approaches like Community Development Corporations and other non-profit, locally-oriented development groups; legislate and promote incentives to make-in-use-of-tax payments to cities to permit middle and low-income housing; municipal adoption of the State Model Housing Code, and enactment of a "Transit Bill of Rights." State government must contribute more vigorously to the support of local law enforcement. We will create a Division of Law Enforcement in the Department of Law and Public Safety; develop minimum salary schedules for police and firemen; work to shift more welfare costs from local to State and Federal levels; and to develop a workable welfare system.

FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY
We support no new taxes without fundamental reevaluation of the State's tax structure. We favor continued economy in government and further efforts to obtain more federal aid for N.J.

TRANSPORTATION
We pledge to provide N.J. with a highway system adequate only for today but the future; modernization of the rail system; extension of PATH to Newark; a program to preserve and improve essential services; but no jetport will be built without complete technical assurance that its operation will not injure natural resources in the area.

PUBLIC QUESTIONS
I Water Bond Issue — Pledge full support.
II 18-year-old vote — Support.
III Lottery — no position.

Republican platform
EDUCATION — The State school aid formula is outdated and must be replaced. Priority should be given to remedial programs in elementary schools. We support continued expansion of vocational education at county and high school level; expansion of our State and county colleges; completion of the Master Plan for higher education. College and university officials must accept responsibility, exercise firmness and meet our appropriate discipline; the actions of a few should not destroy the rights of many.

URBAN RESPONSIBILITIES
We pledge greater supervision of State monies involved in returning our cities to first class condition; more participation and sharing of responsibility by those most affected by change and most urgently in need of assistance; acceleration of efforts to find acceptable substitutions for the welfare system; careful study of possible revision of the child labor laws to allow wider employment of teenagers. We will diligently continue the expansion of opportunities for all citizens regardless of race, creed, color, age or sex. The most meaningful way is by full enforcement of statutes now enacted. We make a firm commitment to mount an effective drive against discrimination and urban despair, through effective public leadership and dedicated long-range efforts, with the necessary equipment, specialized manpower and technical and financial resources.

FISCAL PROGRAM
We pledge to enact programs to meet responsibly the clear-cut needs of our State. If additional revenue is absolutely needed, to minimum of three necessary actions, we will act responsibly to meet these needs. We are confident that we can avoid an income tax in the next four years. Tax reform will become a reality and property taxes will bear a lesser share of the tax burden.

We will gradually implement a fall-raise program to provide an adequate, manageable Medicaid program.

TRANSPORTATION
New Jersey does not want and does not need a jetport and we will not implement one. Mass-transportation and highway improvement must be foremost priorities.

PUBLIC QUESTIONS
I Water Bond Issue — Support.
II Eighteen Year Old Voting — Support.

Public questions
I — "WATER CONSERVATION BOND ISSUE"
The Water Conservation Bond Issue would authorize the State of New Jersey to issue Bonds in the principal amount of $71 million dollars. Twenty-nine million would be allocated for planning and site acquisition of water supply facilities. Two hundred forty-two million would be authorized to meet the State's share of costs of sewerage treatment facilities, making New Jersey eligible for increased federal cost sharing.

Pingry headmaster resigns

Charles B. Atwater, headmaster of Pingry School, has submitted to the institution's board of trustees the request that he relinquish his post at the pleasure of the board, "but not later than June, 1971."

Atwater, a graduate of Pingry School, returned to the Hillside institution as a teacher in 1937. He spent two years in the Navy during World War II.

"For some time," Atwater said, "it has been my belief that my years as headmaster should be limited to ten, all other things being equal." He assumed the headmastership in 1961. When the changeover takes place, the Atwaters will move to their home in Vermont. Atwater said he intends to remain in the field of education.

William M. Bristol III, president of the Pingry board, in a letter to Pingry parents, trustees, alumni and friends, expressed the "deep concern of the trustees" when Atwater's decision was made known to them. Bristol said that "efforts to dissuade the headmaster were made, but to no avail. Finally, with regret, the governing body accepted the Atwater resignation."

A trustee committee, headed by David M. Baldwin of Short Hills, has been appointed to conduct the search for a new headmaster.

Sea-sky specials at Trailside

"The Big Deep," a color sound film, will be shown at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, on Sunday at 2 p.m. The film depicts man's search for oil and natural gas under the seas.

Also on Sunday, at 3 p.m., and again at 4 p.m., Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside, and Elmer Van Gilder, educational assistant at Trailside, will present a program in the Trailside Planetarium entitled "Time and the Stars." The lecturers will discuss and show how we use the motions of the heavenly bodies to keep time. The same program will also be presented on Wednesday at 8 p.m., and on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 6 at 4 p.m.

As the Trailside Planetarium can seat but 55 people at a program it is necessary to obtain a ticket from the Trailside office on the day of the show. Tickets are issued on a first-come, first-served basis. Children under-eight years of age are not permitted in the Planetarium chamber.

The Trailside Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to visit the Nature Center, tour the live-animal area, view the thousands of indoor exhibits and participate in the scheduled programs.

Inflationary pressures seen weakening

WASHINGTON—The first essential objective in getting inflation under control — to stop its acceleration — has been successfully accomplished, according to Dr. Geoffrey H. Moore, commissioner of labor statistics.

In a statement before the Joint Economic Committee's Subcommittee on Fiscal Policy, the Labor Department official said that "we seem to be able to observe much the same sequence of developments occurring in recent months as that which was usually occurred when an inflationary period has been drawing to a close."

Dr. Moore pointed out that "this does not mean that the general price level will not advance further. It is virtually certain to do so. But it also seems reasonable to expect, in my judgment, that a gradual reduction in the rate of price increase will follow from the relatively mild reduction in demand pressures that has already occurred."

"A recession is not necessary to bring about a decline in the rate of increase in the Consumer Price Index," Dr. Moore pointed out in a review of price changes over the past 25 years.

Principal points of the Commissioner's testimony include: 1. The current inflation developed gradually over the past four years, becoming more and more pervasive. The rise in the price level began to accelerate in 1965, and acceleration continued during most of the period since 1965. Expectations that prices would continue to rise became more and more widely held.

2. There was a significant but short-lived interruption to this process during 1966. Every one of the demand-pressure indexes declined, and the rate of increase in the Consumer Price Index fell from four percent to two percent. But early in 1967 the inflationary process resumed its course. By the end of the year it had made up for lost ground, and it continued to accelerate through 1968 and early 1969.

3. All of the indexes of demand pressures, with the possible exception of inventory investment and purchasing, have begun to weaken in the past few months.

4. The rate of increase in some of the early moving price indexes — stock prices and industrial materials prices — have been declining for several months.

5. The rate of increase in the Consumer Price Index has been relatively stable for several months. It is too early to say that a decline has set in, but the highest rates to date were reached last spring or summer, at about the same time as or a bit later than the highs in the demand-pressure indexes.

6. Rates of increase in wages may also have begun to stabilize, though at a much higher level than rates of increase in output per manhour. The discrepancy, which was especially large in the first half of this year, produced sharp increases in unit labor costs.

Blind worker sought

The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped reports that a large chemical firm in Florida intentionally seeks blind workers because their highly developed senses of smell and taste allow them to perform better than machines can in testing certain chemicals.

Ask Amy
BY AMY ADAMS

HIPPIE WIFE HAVING HER HEYDAY
Dear Amy: "Not too long ago my daughter (one of today's young intellectuals with a Masters Degree) married a young, brilliant lawyer. Needless to say, I breathed a sigh of relief and comforted myself in the knowledge that at last she would settle down and put aside her notions and ideas which have had me unsettled for 4 years."

Unfortunately though, she has influenced her husband, and in a short month, he has developed a hippie personality. By day he is a commanding legal personality in his firm, but by night, he changes to hippie-style clothes and frequents all the odd-ball places in his town. Even in our conversations I have noticed that he has become a free thinker and his thinking and I wonder what detrimental effect this will have on his practice and more important, his going in life.

Instead of joining his circle of peers and helping him in making a name for himself by being active in those areas that would be most beneficial to him, she has become an aggressive influence... and he is following.

I feel it is unfair to this young man, but I am powerless to do anything. Have you any suggestions?

Her Father
Dear Father:
If your son-in-law is a social idiot, your daughter has found a lifetime mate. But I doubt it. He may find her exciting and unusual for a while, but a young man with his intelligence is bound to wake up in which case your "little red wagon" will have to conform or you will have to put out the welcome mat.

Dear Amy:
I've got more than one problem.

First: What can I do with a mother who works like a man and not like a woman? She goes out and builds a barn for our cow that is supposed to have her calf today or tomorrow. (We live on a farm.) Then she's going to work on our house that's half started. Meanwhile, I get to do all the washing, cooking and cleaning. I don't mind for a little while, but every day.

Got any suggestions?

Second: There's this guy next door. He's 15 (I'm 14) and he's got a crush on me. Something awful. He's okay for a friend but not a boyfriend, at least not for me. To put it bluntly how can I tell him to flake off and keep a neighborly friendship?

Third: Since I live on a farm, I do lots of work. A person naturally develops muscles toasting hay, chasing goats, climbing hills and so like that. Therefore some of my girlfriends use me as a "threat" such as: "You touch me and I'll have Donna pound on you". Consequently I'm a big, bad wolf and kids are afraid to be friends with me although I'm only 5 feet tall. I'm sick of being a tiger.

Donna Chapman
Dear Donna:
There's not too much you can do with your mother. She either likes what she is doing or she has to like what she is doing because she can't get anybody else to do it. By the way, where's your father?

The boy next door: If you really don't like him, tell him exactly what you told me... that is if you're sure that in a few months from now you won't change your mind.

You may have developed some pretty good looking muscles toasting that hay around, but you have to learn how to separate your work life from your social life. And you should advise your friends that while you may be very strong around the farm, you are very much a girl and you want to be treated as such.

Floating art show for Mideast peace

Nathan's project seeks funds for broadcasts

The deck of a 570-ton Dutch coaster tied up in the East River, New York, seems an unlikely spot for an art show—an art show, moreover, that features an original by John Lennon of the Beatles. To make the set of circumstances even more oddly unbelievable, the man in charge is the proprietor of a thriving art gallery and restaurant in Tel Aviv.

His present project is to convert the ship, built in 1940, and re-named "Peace," into a floating radio broadcasting station, to be anchored in the Mediterranean outside the territorial waters of Israel and the United Arab Republic. Broadcasts will be in Hebrew, Arabic, French and English, and will include news, political commentary and music, prepared by an international crew with the participation of both Israelis and Arabs.

Carrying out this plan depends on raising approximately $170,000 for the purchase of a 50-kilowatt radio transmitter and other equipment. The people of Holland raised the money for the original purchase and for the expenses to get the ship to New York.

The Sunday art auctions aboard the ship are expected to raise part of the money needed. Typical of volunteers, attracted by the concept of the peace-search and by the colorful Nathan himself, is Russell Dodworth, president of a New York public relations firm, who has been devoting almost full time to publicity for the project. Artists, secretaries, carpenters and general handymen "do their own thing" in their spare time.

Visitors are greeted with a cheery "Welcome aboard and Shalom," by an attractive student-smother youngster's award the "Peace" helping out. "When you realize that the $170,000 we are seeking," Dodworth points out, "is less than five per cent of the cost of an armed MIG fighter or Phantom jet, it doesn't seem much to ask."

NATHAN, a 42-YEAR-OLD native of Abadan, Iran, was educated in a Jesuit School in Bombay, India. After service as a fighter pilot with the Royal Air Force, India, he became a commercial pilot, and, in 1947, participated in the evacuation of refugees during the partition of India and Pakistan. The next year he emigrated to Israel and served in the air force of his adopted country, until 1951, when he went to work as a pilot for El Al, the Israeli National Airline.

Since 1959 he has owned a restaurant and art gallery in Tel Aviv.

When he ran for election to the Israeli Parliament in 1965, Nathan pledged that, if elected, he would fly his private plane, the Shalom One, to Cairo, to seek an interview with Gamal Nasser. Although he lost the election, more than 100,000 Israelis signed a petition in support of his policy. His flight in early 1966 to Port Said, brought him his first world headlines. A few weeks later he carried his campaign to Europe, the Soviet Union and the United States, appealing to world leaders to end Arab-Israeli hostilities. Before the end of 1966, Nathan had organized the first Peace March from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem, had unveiled a Peace Monument in Jerusalem paid for by himself and Israel's leading entertainers, had met with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Vice-President Dr. Zakir Husain in New Delhi, and had distributed food to 35 villages in famine-struck Bihar Province.

NATHAN'S ACTIVITIES in early 1967, as even more ominous war clouds gathered, included launching of the Shalom One Peace Foundation to create an integrated Arab-Jewish school, between Arab Nazareth and Jewish Upper Nazareth. He also journeyed to London, where he purchased another plane but delayed a planned peace trip to Egypt to return to Israel. Right after the war's end, he made another flight to Port Said, for which, upon his return home, he was charged with violation of Israeli law prohibiting nationals from entering any Arab country. Punishment assessed was $400 fine or 40 days in jail. He accepted the jail sentence, but donated the $400 to an army hospital.

During 1968, he made five trips to Biafra and in eight months he helped to raise $1 million and a half dollars in food and medical supplies for the people of Biafra.

As the result of a trip to Cairo in March of this year, Nathan faces a one-year jail sentence should he return to Israel. The successful campaign for a Peace Ship was launched in Holland in June.

"Now, as never before, when politicians are in a deadlock, people concerned must come forward and help create a 'people-to-people' dialogue that could help ease the tension," Nathan says. "That's our program and our hope."

Volunteer help is still needed, Dodworth said. "We encourage people to visit the ship and artists to come and set up their studios." For the duration of the stay in New York, expected to be about two months, the ship will be docked at 63rd street and the East River. Donations may be sent to "The Peace Ship Fund, P.O. Box 1111, Franklin D. Roosevelt Post Office, New York 10622." The telephone number is (212) 593-2145.

AN UNENVIABLE RECORD A routine fingerprint check of an applicant for an exercise bike's license by the Thoroughbred Racing Protection Bureau revealed the subject had an arrest record of 108 offenses in 24 states, ranging from bicycle theft to the sale and use of narcotics.

Christmas Club checks going out to 16,015,000

Those careful chimes that will be sounding out over America during the next few weeks won't be jingle bells—they'll be cash registers ringing at 16,015,000 (a record number) members of the country's largest club, Christmas Club, begin spending a good portion of their savings, $2,218,672,000 for a better Christmas for their families and loved ones.

This record amount is an average of $139 per member—the highest ever recorded according to Christmas Club Corporation, the organization that originated the savings plan in 1910.

A survey of Christmas Club members shows that over $200,000,000 in club savings will be spent on gifts and that more than half of the club members plan to start their shopping before Thanksgiving. Based on their nationwide survey, Christmas Club Corporation projects that almost a third of the total, or $665,600,000 will go right back into savings at over 10,000 banks and savings institutions.

University Women join campaign for water bond issue

Additional momentum for the clean water referendum drive was provided this week by the New Jersey State Division of the American Association of University Women, which through its county legislative chairman, is distributing thousands of pieces of Water Conservation Bond Issue literature in all sections of the state.

In so doing, the organization joins with such groups as the League of Women Voters of New Jersey and the New Jersey Jaycees in actively working with the New Jersey Citizens for Clean Water for passage of Public Question No. 1 on the Nov. 4 ballot.

Some of the reasons for the AAUW's support of the clean water referendum were outlined by the New Jersey State Division president, Dr. Jean Simmons, of Princeton, chairman of the Science Division at Upsala College.

"The Water Conservation Bond Issue ties in directly with the type of programming which the American Association of University Women is sponsoring throughout the country," Dr. Simmons said. "We long have been engaged in in-depth studies of this beleaguered earth and in New Jersey, in particular, these studies have centered on the sea around us. There is good reason for the general concern being expressed about water pollution in New Jersey. The clean water referendum will provide us with an excellent time in meeting our obligation to clean up the state's contaminated waterways."

The clean water referendum is for $271 million, of which $242 million would go toward the most extensive water pollution control program in New Jersey history. This is expected to generate four times that amount when federal and local funds are added to finance sewer construction, rehabilitation and repair work in communities in every section of the state. Another $29 million of the bond issue will be used to preserve reservoir sites before this valuable land disappears or the cost becomes excessive.

GRAND OPENING — Dean Pasich, manager of Great Eastern Discount Center's, Route 24, Springfield Ave., Union store, presents Union Mayor F. Edward Biernacki a facsimile set of rare American Archive Documents, including the original deed to Manhattan Island during the 10th Anniversary celebration Saturday. Looking on is Philip Rosenblatt, regional supervisor for Great Eastern Discount stores.

Local government spending is more than double that of state government Spending by local governments in New Jersey reached nearly $2 1/2 billion last year, or more than double the $1-billion general treasury expenditures for state government in fiscal 1968.

Local government expenditures totaled $2,477.8 million in 1968. This was 11 percent higher than the $2,224.1 million spent the year before. During the same period, local government gross debt rose 10 percent from $2,158.8 million in 1967 to $2,369.9 million at the end of 1968.

While both 1968 expenditure and debt totals were higher, the rates of increase tell short of the 14 percent rise in expenditures and 10 1/2 percent increase in indebtedness registered during the preceding 1967-68 period.

The findings are based upon extensive data presented individually for 1,168 municipalities, counties and school districts in the 24th annual edition of "Financial Statistics of New Jersey Local Government," a 62-page booklet published by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

AMONG LOCAL GOVERNMENT levels, expenditures of the State's 567 municipalities last year rose 9 percent to $787.6 million. Spending by the 21 counties was up 10 percent to nearly $454 million, while that of the 580 local school districts jumped 14 percent to $1,236.4 million in the fiscal year 1967-68.

TOTAL LOCAL EXPENDITURES (In millions, Add 00,000)

	1967	1968	Amount	Percent
Municipal	$ 724.9	$ 787.6	$ 62.8	9%
School	1,087.2	1,236.4	149.2	14%
County	412.0	453.8	41.7	10%

TOTAL $2,224.1 $2,477.8 $253.7 11% (Figures include payments for operations, debt service and capital purposes financed both from current budget appropriations, reserves and borrowed funds)

The $2,477,800,000 expenditures by the local government units represent a per capita cost of $347 for each of the 7,203,510 men, women and children in New Jersey's estimated population last year—the equivalent of $1,376 for the family of four.

GROSS DEBT OF THE municipalities increased 10 percent to $585.4 million during 1968; debt of the counties 16 percent to over $391.2 million, while debt of the school districts climbed 8 percent to $1,393.4 million.

GROSS DEBT (In millions, Add 00,000)

	1967	1968	Amount	Percent
Municipal	$ 530.4	$ 585.4	$ 55.0	10%

Hazards posed by parked cars

"Parked cars pose as potential traffic hazards since they often conceal pedestrians who are about to dart into traffic," R.J. Valle, general manager of the New Jersey Automobile Club, AAA, said this week. He added that they are especially hazardous when children play around them.

The AAA Club official urged parents to warn their children about the dangers of playing between parked cars. He pointed out that some motorists start backing out of a parking space before they make sure the way is clear. "Often such unhappy situations occur in the family driveway which lead to the loss or injury of a child or friend. Take a few extra moments to be sure no one is in the path of your vehicle."

Darting into the street from between parked cars is particularly dangerous, he said. The motorist finds it difficult to stop his car in time to prevent an accident. "Parents should set a good example for their children by obeying all safety rules when walking or driving," Valle said.

DAY-TO-DAY "operating expenditures" of the municipalities in 1968 totaled more than $643 million. This represented a per capita expenditure of $89.29 for each man, woman and child in the State, or approximately $7 more than in 1967. Similar items in this year's municipal budgets for operating purposes total $700 million. Making up the balance of 1968 municipal expenditures items were capital outlays totaling nearly $104 million, down 1 percent from 1967, and debt service outlays of nearly $41 million, up about $3 million over 1967.

General operating costs of the school districts (excluding county vocational schools) for the 1967-68 school year totaled more than $908 million. This represented an average of nearly $648 for each of the 1,401,643 pupils in average public day school enrollment. This year's (1969-70 school year) school budgets for general operating purposes, only, top one billion, 200 million dollars.

ON THE INCOME SIDE of the current local government fiscal picture, the compendium shows general property taxes levied in 1969 total $1.7 billion, up 10 percent over 1968. Local taxable valuations total nearly $32 billion. Also reported for each municipality are local assessment ratios, population and land area, as well as form and type of organization of municipalities and school districts. A special section of the booklet is devoted to county government statistics. Explanatory notes define the various data.

NJTA President Walter W. Hissop of Verona announced appearance of the annual publication which is based upon official government reports. He explained that the booklet "provides a unique one-package reference source of data for individual taxpayers, public officials, industrial developers, bankers, realtors and others interested in the vital statistics of their municipalities, school districts and counties."

Seminar

on traffic

When, where and how to employ traffic control devices will be the subject of a one-day seminar at the Labor Education Center Auditorium, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, on Thursday, Nov. 6.

Victor C. Garney, director of the New Jersey State Safety Council's Traffic Safety Council's Traffic Safety Division, said the purpose of the seminar is to inform county and local officials of the requirements of the National Highway Safety Program Standards as they relate to the installation of traffic lights, signs and pavement markings. The National Highway Safety Act of 1966 requires each state, in cooperation with its county and local governmental units, to have an official program relating to the use of traffic control devices. Garney said that proper application of modern traffic engineering practices and uniform standards for traffic control devices can reduce the likelihood and severity of traffic accidents.

ALLAN JONES—Vocals-actor-singer will star in "The Fantasticks," a mock-romantic musical, which ran six years in New York, and opens Wednesday at the Meadowbrook-Diner Theater in Cedar Grove.

Drama workshops held Wednesdays in Hillside

The Hillside Community Players are holding a Drama Workshop Wednesdays at 8 p.m. at the Municipal Building in Hillside. Last week's Drama Workshop featured improvisations and dramatic game exercises. The meeting for this Wednesday evening will include a talk on stage movement by Jerry Miko, and screen readings. All those interested in theater are welcome. The group will sponsor a master class in dance drama given by a member of the Alvin Nickla Dance Troupe of New York City Oct. 27. The workshops are under the direction of Ellie Newcorn.

Enrollment open for Theatre Six

Enrollment is open for the Theatre Six Workshop scheduled to begin this month at Theatre Six, Main Street and Middlesex Avenue, Morristown. It was announced by Miss Catherine Vandertuin, workshop administrator. "We are looking for people of high school age and over who are interested in performing and who would like to work with working professionals in the theatre," she said.

Students will have an opportunity to explore such elements of performing as movement, voice, sounds, lighting, costumes, environment and communication. Guest artists will work with the group in acting techniques, mime and fencing.

Miss Vandertuin, 23, will conduct the workshop once a week on weekends. A fee will be charged, but a limited number of scholarships will be available through Theatre Six. Miss Vandertuin has been with Theatre Six for the past year. She also helped conduct the Theatre Six workshop last spring. She began her career in her home state of California where she was a member of a theater dance group for 10 years. She studied music and dance at UCLA and had private instruction in dance with Gene Marinaccio and Carmelita Maracci in California and with Hanya Holm in Colorado Springs.

She also studied dance and drama at the School of Performing Arts at NYU and privately studied acting with Alan Miller of New York City.

Anyone interested in attending the Theatre Six Workshop may call Miss Vandertuin at the theatre at 548-2550. Enrollment will be limited.

'Camille 2000' on Ormont screen

"Camille 2000," (the "now" child), is the current attraction at the Ormont Theater, East Orange. The adult picture, which was produced by Radley Metzger in Technicolor and Panavision, was adapted from "The Lady of Camille" by Alexandre Dumas. The picture, which exploits sex and passion in Rome, stars Daniele Gaubert in the title role. Nino Castelnuovo co-stars. Mirrors play a big role in "Camille 2000." Michael De Forest wrote the screen play.

A MASQUERADE PARTY — Leonard Whiting and Olivia Hussey play Romeo and Juliet, respectively, in the screen adaptation of the Shakespearean play, now at the Art Theater, Irvington Center. The Franco Zeffirelli production was photographed in color.

Opera unit holds spoon-fed drive

In connection with the opening of its 1969-1970 season in Symphony Hall, Newark, Opera Theatre of New Jersey has announced that a limited number of New Jersey Centennial Silver Spoons will be given to each person contributing $1 or more to the group's production fund.

Four Westfield merchants, voters, Herbert's John Franks, and John Franks Womens Shop, in cooperation with the International Silver Company, have donated the spoons to help the opera company in its fund-raising campaign. The gift spoons may be obtained at each of the participating stores, where donations will be accepted.

Opera Theatre will open its current season with Rossini's Barber of Seville on Nov. 9, 1969 at 6 p.m. in Symphony Hall, Newark, featuring stars of the Metropolitan Opera. Later productions will include "Aida" and

Station Breaks

TURNABLE TREATS (good listening) L.O.V.E., by Paul Mauriat & His Orchestra. Love-it's a subject for poets and painters and philosophers and schoolgirls and just about everybody. Hippies wear it like flowers. Ad men sell it with toothpaste. New parents beam with it. Kid brothers tolerate it. Novelists find it in their typewriters. Hollywood tries to capture it on film. And songwriters put it to music, which brings us to Monsieur Mauriat, musician extraordinaire. Who else but a dapper Frenchman, possessor of remarkable orchestral talent, would be expected to best express the musical romantic state?

A glance at the 11 selections included on this LP album may be deceptive. Only one has the word "love" in the title. But each is directly involved with romance as Cupid's bow: "Oh Happy Day," "Get Back," "You, Love, and Me" (Tot L'Amour Et Moi), "Silver Fingertips," "Windmills Of Your Mind," "A Quietude," "Serenade To Summertime," "Catherine," "Sadness," "Goodbye" and "In Your Arms" (Through The Eyes of A Child). PHILIPS (PHS 600-320) . . .

Also on the PHILIPS label (PHS 600-315), MALANDINO - KING OF TANGO. Malandino though the word sounds Spanish, is as Dutch as the lillips of Holland. No one knows, least of all himself, why Arle Maasland (Malandino) should have taken to Latin music so completely and successfully. But he has. After hearing the 12 numbers on this LP album you will soon understand why he is regarded as the most outstanding tango composer in the world. The ear-pleasers include: "Jealousy," "O Donna Clara," "La Paloma," "El Once," "Hear My Song, Violetta," "Holando-Tango," "Blue Tango," "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame," "Tango Du Reve," "Guapita," "Poor Gigolo" and "Japanese Tango" . . .

COMING UP - Academy award-winner Anne Bancroft, who is seldom seen on television, has been signed by Monsanto to appear in her first TV special which will be aired by CBS-TV during the early part of next year. The title of the Monsanto Night is "Annie, the Woman in the Life of a Man," and in it the multi-talented Miss Bancroft will act, clown, sing and dance. Joining Miss Bancroft on this fourth spectacular Monsanto Night of the 1969/70 season will be Dick Smithers, Lee J. Cobb, Robert Merrill and David Suskind.

BIG ENOUGH FOR TWO — Shirley Maclaine sings and dances in her role as a dancehall hostess in the lavish musical, "Sweet Charity," now showing on two screens; the Parkway Theater in Rahway and the Mayfair Theater in Hillsdale.

Branch of Psychiatric Clinic located at Elizabeth General

The Elizabeth General Hospital became "home" for the Elizabeth Branch of the Union County Psychiatric Clinic this week. The clinic provides out-patient service for persons in the Eastern-Union-County-United Fund area and highway.

An exception is the Township of Union whose residents use the facilities of the Union County Psychiatric Clinic at Overlook-Hospital.

Entrance to the Elizabeth clinic is on the James street side of Elizabeth General. Patients may visit the clinic by calling for appointment or just walking in. For information, the Union County Psychiatric Clinic telephone number should be used.

Location of the clinic is the first concrete step toward the establishment of the Elizabeth General Hospital Community Mental Health Center. Another part of the center will include the recently enlarged in-patient psychiatric unit for those who need complete hospitalization.

When the center becomes fully established, probably in 1964, it will be expected to serve patients from Elizabeth, Hillside, Kentworth and Roselle Park, which comprises the official service area. Eventually it is planned that Union County will have four community mental health centers, divided according to geographical areas of service.

It is anticipated that ground will be broken early in 1970 to provide an enlarged area for out-patient service and a day center for patients needing partial hospitalization. At the day center, patients needing partial hospitalization or complete hospitalization will have therapy programs, such as recreation, occupational and group therapy.

IN APPLYING FOR government funds to establish the center, Elizabeth General Hospital, Union County Psychiatric Clinic and the State Hospital at Marlboro are co-partners. The hospital has been allocated grants from the state and federal governments, amounting to $37,848, towards the construction costs which at the time of the grant applications were estimated to be $1,100,000. The additional funds will be raised by the Elizabeth General Hospital, which is a non-profit voluntary hospital.

To qualify as a community mental health center, five services must be available to the community: in-patient service, out-patient service, partial hospitalization, consultation and education, and emergency service.

Higher ed agency to elect officers at Monday meeting

The annual meeting of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Union College, Cranford. It was announced last week by James S. Avery, chairman.

The nominating committee, comprised of Charles Mancuso of Hillside, Hugo B. Meyer of Summit, and Dr. William H. West of Cranford, Union County superintendent of schools, will submit a slate of officers.

The Coordinating Agency has signed contracts with Union College and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, to provide educational programs at the two-year college level in lieu of a county college.

The coordinating agency, which was organized a year ago so Union County could utilize its existing facilities at the two-year college level, is comprised of nine members. Avery, an executive with Humble Oil & Refining Co., and a former social studies teacher at Cranford High School, is the chairman. Edward C. Weizer of Summit, a partner in the firm of Weizer & Smith Newark, is vice-chairman, and Mrs. Anne M. Crygost of Linden, a county and state PTA leader, is secretary-treasurer.

OTHER MEMBERS OF THE agency are: George W. Kampf Jr., of Elizabeth, an inter-industrial representative of United Automobile Workers; and Thomas J. DeBenedictis of Scotch Plains, president of the Board of Education of the Union County Vocational Schools, which operates the Union County Technical Institute, Manasco, vice-president of the vocational school board, Dr. Albert E. Meder Jr., of Westfield, vice-provost emeritus of Rutgers University and trustee of Union College, and Meyer, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Union College and president of U. S. Fiber & Plastics Corporation, Stirling.

Dr. Kenneth G. Mackay, who was president of Union College for 22 years, is executive director of the Coordinating Agency.

Under this plan, Union County qualifies for state aid at the same level as other counties which have county colleges. This plan is providing state aid to Union County during the current academic year of almost $1 million.

U.S. Congresswoman FLORENCE P. DWYER Reports

Last week, in response to a request for my views on the then-approaching Vietnam Moratorium, I was asked to report as follows:

So long as it remains peaceful, so long as it provides a constructive forum for debate and education and persuasion, so long as it adheres to the American tradition of free expression and assembly, I support the October 15 Vietnam Moratorium.

An end to the killing and destruction in Vietnam must be our country's primary objective, just as I am certain it is the President's. Whatever our differences concerning the ways and means of ending the war in Vietnam, the American people can be united, and should be united, on the basic goal of peace.

The war in Vietnam affects us all, and the fruits of peace will benefit us all. We are all involved. As a free people, participating in an open and democratic society, we each have the right and responsibility to speak out.

Now, a week after the Moratorium, I believe it is fair to say that the hopes reflected in my statement have been more than confirmed. Whether Moratorium participants numbered a million or ten million or, as one enthusiast estimated, near our 200-plus million population, and whatever one's views about the war may be, the events of Wednesday, October 15, were a deeply impressive manifestation of convictions about the war which an increasing proportion of our people hold very strongly.

Only the MORATORIUM from present television that there was much that was memorable about this Moratorium: the dignity and orderliness of most of the demonstrations; the vast variety of means which participants found to express their beliefs (prayer, formal religious services, "teach-ins," speeches, discussions, singing, witness by candlelight, and song); the restraint generally shown by demonstrators and counter-demonstrators toward each other; the support it received from the "silent center" which did not march but read the literature, signed petitions and had words of quiet encouragement.

For me, however, the most striking single aspect of Oct. 15 was this: that the two sides consistently called hawk and dove seem now to be closer together than ever before. Even among the counter-demonstrators, there was no call for an expanded war. Everyone spoke, sang, shouted and prayed for peace. Each in his own way. Though Americans still express two opposing views of the war — that it is now-and-always has been morally indefensible, or that our intervention in Vietnam was legitimate and necessary to prevent communist aggression — we generally agree that the time has come to disengage. Our differences are largely ones of when and how: now or later, immediately or gradually, unilaterally or in concert with the South.

THE QUESTION REMAINS, however, whether the Moratorium position was "or-is-the-right one." It would not be wise to reply "yes" and "no," they were right to involve our people in this massive dialogue about our common problem. They were right to appeal to the national conscience. They were right to trust to freedom of expression and assembly. They were right in objecting to the killing and destruction.

But to immediate and unconditional and total withdrawal, I must answer "no." Because it wouldn't work! It wouldn't accomplish anything. Phased withdrawal, yes; faster disengagement, yes; an immediate end to the killing, by all means! But even if it were logically feasible, immediate abandonment of our position in Vietnam would surely result in the loss of our stability and peace and independence in a country which has already suffered too greatly.

It is easy, and understandable, to argue that we should never have committed our forces to war in Southeast Asia (and I agree), that the various Saigon governments have been unable to win the support of their own people and hence are undeserving of our aid, that corruption is the only thing that has flourished in South Vietnam, and that we should, therefore, get out now. But these arguments, important as they are, do not support this conclusion.

The issue is, what is best for us, for the people of Vietnam, and for peace in the world. That issue can only be defined in terms of present circumstances and present possibilities — not the past.

If we can end the war and stop the killing — the first priority — without turning the country over to the communists or without unleashing a new and bloodier civil war there (and both consequences would likely follow a hasty U.S. departure), then I believe we have an obligation to do so. I believe this is President Nixon's objective, just as it has been mine for several years. And I believe we can accomplish it.

IN OUR NATURAL ANXIETY to end our tragic entanglement in Vietnam, it is easy to minimize the danger to which this President has brought us back toward peace. He has firmly resisted all pressures to escalate the war. He has continued the halt in the bombing of North Vietnam. He has withdrawn substantial

Thursday, October 30, 1969 - V7
U.S. forces. He has significantly reduced the U.S. offensive in the South (both bombing and search-and-destroy missions). He has increased funds and personnel for the pacification and rebuilding of the country. All this in 9 months and by all the evidence (including reduced casualty lists), with considerable success.

I am not suggesting we should be satisfied with this rate of progress, encouraging as it is. We have much farther to go and little time left. Every day of unnecessary fighting and killing is a further burden on our national conscience.

This is why, for more than three years now, I have returned again and again to plead for a course of action which, to me, holds the greatest promise of the earliest end to the war — a mutual and enforceable ceasefire.

The ceasefire idea is not a new one, either for me or for many others — and, happily, the numbers of those who see the promise of this course are increasing. The President, himself, after an early repudiation of ceasefire, has recently been alluding more often and more hopefully to this possibility.

But it isn't as simple as it may sound. It's not enough to say we're for it. It won't suffice to ask the Communists to initiate it. And to try to use it as a one-shot ultimatum could be self-defeating.

AT THIS STAGE OF THE WAR, above all else we have to be convincing — convincing ourselves, to the world, and to the enemy. Which is why I have proposed that we take the initiative; that we make the first move — and not just once, but three or four or five times, if necessary.

More specifically, I have proposed that we announce to all concerned that on a date and time certain the U.S. will suspend all offensive military operations in South Vietnam; that we will hold our fire long enough (at least 3 days) for the enemy to respond affirmatively through remaining prepared to defend itself against attacks; that we will prolong such an informal ceasefire so long as the other side does the same; and that, even though hostilities resume as a result of communist action, we shall, as of another early and specified date, again cease military action — and again and again.

I do not pretend to be a military strategist. And obviously, the bare outline I have sketched above would require much careful planning. But I have been persuaded for more than 3 years now that something like this plan might work. Though there can be no assurance of success, it would seem well worth trying. For it would be convincing. It would demonstrate dramatically our desire to end the fighting. It would make it increasingly difficult for the North Vietnamese to say no. And it would entail relatively little risk, especially in light of the already lowered level of conflict.

You can lose it.
You can burn it.
You can tear it up.
We replace it.

Now, we don't suggest that you start taking U. S. Savings Bonds to parties to light your cigarettes. But if your Savings Bond is ever lost, stolen, mutilated or destroyed, all you have to do to have it replaced are these two things:

1. Notify the Bureau of Public Debt, Division of Loans and Currency, 536 South Clark Street, Chicago, Illinois 60605. Send in the serial number, if you have it, along with information about where and when you bought it. And send whatever is left of your damaged Bond.

2. Then complete and return Form PD 1048 which the Treasury will be sending you.

We'll replace your Bond with a duplicate. Or with full payment, if you like. Because Savings Bonds are an investment in your country. And there's no safer investment than that. Another thing: Savings Bonds are easy to buy, too. Just go to your bank. Or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Union County Unit, NJARC, will mark 20th anniversary

The twentieth anniversary of the Union County Unit, New Jersey Association for Retarded Children, will be observed at a dinner-dance on Saturday evening at Wally's Mountain Villa, Warren Township.

In discussing the progress of the past 20 years in the field of mental retardation, Bertram Schwartz of Westfield, president of the Union County Unit, stated: "In 1949, when our organization was formed, parents of retarded children all over the country were beginning to come together to try to remedy the almost total lack of facilities for helping their children."

IN UNION COUNTY, Schwartz said the following programs and services have been developed:

"Parents of a retarded infant can receive help from counseling and from professionally guided group discussions. A visiting nurse may help with the management of the child. A few years later an assessment of the child's abilities may be obtained at Newark State College's Evaluation Clinic."

"As a result of State legislation passed in 1954, an educable (mildly-retarded) or trainable (moderately retarded) child must receive public schooling from age five through age twenty. Should he be considered neither educable or on the trainable level, he can attend the Harry W. Kohler Day Care Center in Winfield Park, operated by the Union County Unit with subsidy from the State Department of Institutions and Agencies; here his training emphasizes development of the skills and habits needed in everyday life."

"FOR THE RETARDED ADULT, the Union County Unit provides an Independent Living Program at the Union County Rehabilitation Institute in Berkeley Heights. More capable adults may receive vocational training at one of the two locations of the Occupational Center of Union County, which the Union County Unit co-sponsors. Some will need sheltered employment at the Occupational Center's workshop, while others can go on to outside employment.

"Recreational needs of retarded people are met in a variety of ways—summer day and residential camps operated by the Union County Unit; summer playground programs run by a number of communities; after-school gym programs; swim classes; bowling groups; scout troops; and young adult social clubs."

"Many special services are also available to retarded people in this area, such as speech therapy, physical therapy, and religious instructions."

"Along with this rapid growth of facilities has come an increase in public understanding and acceptance of people with impaired intelligence, and this, too, contributed to happier lives."

"STILL ANOTHER DEVELOPMENT is the fact that scientists are learning to prevent some of the many causes of retardation. Most recently a vaccine has been developed against rubella, or German measles, which is known to cause brain damage and other major defects in the unborn child when the mother contracts it early in her pregnancy. Mrs. Robert Mosier of Elizabeth, chairman of the anniversary celebration, reports that the guests will include Mrs. Philip Elkin, outgoing president of the National Association for Retarded Children; Alvin Finkelstein, executive director of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children; Dr. Lloyd W. McCorkle, state Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies; Dr. Maurice C. Katz, director of the Mental Retardation Division of the Department of Institutions, Dr. C. Robert Kelley, President NJARC, and Union County Freeholders Donald C. Dunne, Arthur C. Manner, Walter E. Ulrich, director, Edward H. Tiller and Rev. Michael Brandy, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Elizabeth. The Union County Unit, NJARC, a United Fund Agency, has its office at 562 Boulevard Kenilworth. Mrs. Betty McGhee is the executive director.

Nurses studying clinical cardiology

More than 30 Union County nurses are taking part in a lecture course in clinical cardiology at Alexian Brothers Hospital, Elizabeth. The Union County Heart Association is sponsoring the course, which is a first of its kind in this county. Satisfactory completion of the course will entitle the participants to a special certificate. Lectures will be held every Tuesday through Dec. 23 in Grassman Hall at Alexian Brothers Hospital.

The Union County Heart Association also sponsored the participation of one nurse from each hospital in the county at a two-day seminar on coronary care units last weekend in Atlantic City. More than 30 physicians and nurses from Union County hospitals attended.

Labor growth in '70s

Labor Department projections indicate that the three states whose labor forces will grow the most between 1970 and 1990 are, in this order, Arizona, New Mexico, and Florida.

A short, brisk daily walk is good for the man who has a weight problem, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture nutritionists. A man who eats enough food to balance his energy needs can lose about five pounds a year if he doesn't change his eating habits and takes the walk every day.

Ironing job made easier with sizing

What would you do with a collection of passe mini skirts? Cut them down for your small fry? Start a patchwork quilt? Do nothing — yet. When skirts drop, it will be a subtle change, sneaking up, or down on us, gradually as did the short skirt.

Right now short-skirts fit the American woman's way of thinking and living. The youthful appearance and freedom of short skirts appeal to her as much as the convenience of durable press fabrics. She has little desire to give up either.

There is no doubt new fabrics have made more than a subtle difference in our way of life. For many women, that most disliked household chore, ironing, is cut to a minimum.

Ironing durable press garments in most instances is merely touchup work. With new irons that have special settings for durable press fabrics, and with spray sizing, even this is easier and faster. Sizing helps the iron glide over garments with little effort. Then, as the sizing responds to the heat of the iron, it restores the like-new body and finish to fabrics. But unlike starch, sizing adds no uncomfortable scratchy stiffness.

New fabrics allow us to indulge more freely in fashion's newest ideas. Thus, when Coco Chanel shows crisp white collars and cuffs on long jacketed suits, we needn't groan at the work. Our durable press adaptations launder easily and are ready to wear with the barest touch of an iron and a spray of sizing. The sizing leaves no messy buildup to cause scorching or yellowing.

New course developed

The U.S. Department of Labor and George Washington University, Washington, D.C., are developing a unique course of study in the manpower field, which will lead to a degree of management in administration. Course content is especially designed to meet professional development needs of Government personnel involved in the manpower field.

TREE GROWERS - Lt. Col. Ben-Zion Shany points to the location of the woodland established in Israel by Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield. To the left is Rabbi Israel S. Dresner, at right is Howard Kiesel, chairman of the Israel committee of Temple Sharey Shalom.

Sharey Shalom to fund woodland near Jerusalem

Temple Sharey Shalom of Springfield has voted to establish a woodland in the name of the congregation within the confines of the Jerusalem Peace Forest in Israel. The Jerusalem Peace Forest is sponsored by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, Judaism's reform denomination. The woodland is part of a 6,000-acre greenbelt around the city of Jerusalem which will be planted with 100 million trees. One hundred million trees have been planted. Rabbi Israel S. Dresner, spiritual leader of the congregation, studied in Israel during his recent sabbatical year. He has informed his congregation on the work performed by the Jewish National Fund. A great portion of Israel's food is grown on former malaria-ridden swamps and desert lands which have been reclaimed by the Jewish National Fund. Since its inception in 1901, JNF has created 680 settlements in Israel, supporting more than 875,000 persons on the land. Howard Kiesel, head of the Israel aid committee of the congregation, is in charge of the woodland project. He expressed hope that the Temple Sharey Shalom Woodland will be ready for dedication when members of the congregation make a pilgrimage to the Holy Land this February.

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

The current session of Congress may be one of the longest in history. The 76th Congress currently holds the record for the longest session with a 366-day session which extended from Jan. 3, 1940, to Jan. 3, 1941. The longest session in the last decade came in the 88th Congress which adjourned Dec. 30, 1963, 356 days after it convened. Congress has been criticized and rightly so for the slowness of the legislative pace. Yet in part this is because of the change in administrative traditions which meant that the Johnson budget was superseded by the Nixon budget which naturally took some time to prepare. It also meant that when hearings on legislative proposals were scheduled early in the session, the Administration was not ready to take a position on the measures. And, the Administration's own legislative program was naturally later than usual in reaching Capitol Hill.

ANOTHER AND IMPORTANT FACTOR is the new attitude of Congress, particularly the Senate, toward its role in the making of national policy. And in the long run, I believe the reassertion of the Senate's constitutional responsibilities will be the most significant aspect of this session of Congress. This has manifested itself in several ways, most notably the searching scrutiny of defense expenditures and the policy premises on which they rest. Debate has focused particularly on deployment of safeguard (Anti-Ballistic Missile System), the construction of another nuclear aircraft carrier, and the wisdom, in our own national self-interest, of continuing at this time with testing of MIRV (Multiple Independently Targeted Re-entry Vehicles). The controversy over the nomination of Judge Haynsworth to the Supreme Court is further evidence of the Senate's renewed appreciation of its constitutional role. The President is traditionally granted wide latitude with appointments to the Cabinet, his official "family" whose members serve at his discretion and leave office automatically when he does. But Supreme Court justices serve for life, their responsibilities are of a different nature, and the Senate is deeply serious about its joint responsibility for Supreme Court appointments.

Local Girl Scouts program observes Juliette Low Day

The Springfield Community Girl Scouts met Sunday at St. James Church to celebrate Juliette Low Day. Mrs. Lee Andrews was chairman for the day. Girl Scout Sally Gillece and Troop 273 held flow Juliette Low, founder of the Girl Scouts, had always wished that Girl Scouts could know Juliette Low in other countries. In order to make this wish come true Girl Scouts in the United States give money to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. Each Girl Scout in Springfield contributes a penny for each birthday, and at the birthday celebration Sunday the money was collected by troops. The guest speaker was Antoinette Pischke, a Senior Girl Scout from Scotch Plains, who was chosen to go on the "Juliette Low Exploration Trip" last summer. Antoinette showed slides of her trip and told about her trip to Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and France. This trip was financed by the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. The program ended with the singing.

CONGRESS HAS MADE some progress in certain other important areas. Both houses have passed bills dealing with military procurement and water pollution control and only differences between the House and Senate versions remain to be ironed out. The Senate Finance Committee is scheduled to report its version of the House tax reform bill within the next few days. Committees in both House and Senate have spent a great deal of time on postal modernization legislation and efforts are being made to get legislation to the floor in both chambers. And the House has passed a bill which would abolish the Electoral College and provide for the direct election of the President and the Vice President. But in other areas, such as welfare reform, social security, draft reform, young rights and other civil rights measures, Congress has barely scratched the surface.

On Nov. 3, there will be a Veterans' Day program in front of the library. The Girl Scouts, together with the American Legion, will participate. The Springfield Girl Scouts will contribute a floral wreath.

Post to dedicate plaque at library

Continental Post 228, American Legion, will conduct dedication ceremonies for a commemorative plaque, presentation of the colors and a new flagpole at the Springfield Free Public Library at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 9. The ceremony will be held in conjunction with Veterans Day services to honor veterans of all wars, according to Fred Rutz, Americanism chairman. Fraternal organizations in Springfield have been invited to attend the ceremony, which is open to the public, Rutz said.

About feather pillows

Really good feather pillows are 100 percent down, although pillows with a large percentage of down plus some feathers may be satisfactory. Water fowl feathers (goose and duck) are warmer by nature than land fowl feathers. They're also dried and more moisture resistant. Goose and duck feathers are springy, resilient, full and fluffy.

Invisible bunny complicates Dayton seniors' rabbitry play

Faisey Hall at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is the scene of hectic, happy, "hare brained" activity as the senior class play director, Joseph F. Trinity, puts the cast of "Harvey" through its rehearsal paces for the presentation of Mary Chase's three-act comedy. The play will be presented on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 14 and 15, at 8:15 p.m.

Director Trinity said, "The action centers around Elwood P. Dowd (Carl Goldstein) and his 'pooka,' 'Harvey,' the invisible rabbit. They provide the excitement by appearing at various social functions presided over by Elwood's sister, the matronly and probably proper, Veta Louise Simmons (Barbara Katz). Who sees and who doesn't see the pooka is the question as author Chase plots the activities of Elwood. The problem of who should be committed to Chumley Rest, a sanitarium directed by Dr. Chumley (Richard Rowitz) who is willing to do anything to get his hands on "Harvey" for his very own, is also an important part of the action.

Other cast members include: Kathy-Klohr as Myrtle Mae Simmons, Missy Biehrach as Ethel Chauvenet, Nann Tropp as Miss Johnson, Joan Curtin as Betty Chumley, Sandra Morrison as Ruth Kelly, Hank Bohm as Dr. Lyman Sanderson, Danny Weiss as Wilson, Nick Dellberato as Judge Omar Gaffney and Bernard Perlman as E. J. Loggren.

Marshall announced that there would again be the holiday party for the Cubs in December and the annual Pinewood Derby in January. He then presented achievement awards to the youngsters who had earned them during the past month.

Cubs and their parents, inducted at this meeting were: John Dry, Bobby Davis, Louis Herkalo, Andrew Warner, Jack Rowlands, Stephen Baranek, Gregory Fromkin, Mark Bootcher, John Hill, Jerry Schwertz, Eugene Wolf, Tyrone Parker, Stephen Schey, Kevin Doty, Scott Krasner, Mark D'Agostini, Gary Schaefer, Todd Malinick, Kevin Harris, Scott Miller.

For October, the theme was "Buccaneering." With humor and parody, the children offered tales and deeds of Captain Kidd, Captain Hook and their fellow pirates.

It may not be much but it's all we've got... at the moment

It's small; it looks funny; it's way back at the rear of the lot; but it's a powerhouse of financial services. It's our "mini-branch" at 580 Springfield Avenue near Route 22, soon to be replaced by a big, beautiful permanent Suburban Trust office. Although it's hard to find, it's worth looking for because you can enjoy the same banking services that are offered at all other Suburban Trust offices in this new, convenient location. Our staff is bending over backwards to be helpful... they're a little lonely and want to see their "mini-branch" grow.

Need-to-know about DRUG ABUSE

(From National Institute of Mental Health)

NEW HOPE FOR NARCOTIC ADDICTS — THE "NARA" PROGRAM

Treating and rehabilitating narcotic addicts successfully has been hampered by the fact that the addict was often treated in a hospital far from his home community, quietly followed up and helped with his problem after release from the hospital.

Means for overcoming these and other deficiencies are provided in the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act of 1966 — known as NARA. Congress established a new national policy through NARA. It calls for the treatment of narcotic addicts rather than solely prosecuting them under criminal statutes.

For the first time, Federal law provides that narcotic addicts may apply for treatment in lieu of prosecution for certain crimes and that addicts "not charged with a criminal offense may also be committed to the Public Health Service for treatment and rehabilitation.

NARA thus set in motion a new nationwide program for the supervised treatment and rehabilitation — an aftercare program of three years' duration — of addicts in the community.

The National Institute of Mental Health, Division of Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse is responsible for the examination and treatment of patients committed under provisions of NARA.

Two of them have been rid of their habits since the fall of 1967. All are either gainfully employed or receiving training, and one is attending college part-time.

Among the first to receive treatment under NARA, they were given six months of intensive inpatient treatment at an NIMH clinical research center. On discharge, they went into intensive rehabilitation programs established in their home communities. Local agencies were contracted with by NIMH to provide the services.

Currently, 58 such programs have been set up in 55 U.S. cities in 37 states. More are being added almost daily.

Now enrolled in the total program are 268 patients.

The number is growing and by summer of 1970 is expected to reach 2,000 patients, according to Dr. Sidney Cohen, Director of the Division of Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse of the National Institute of Mental Health.

Admission to NARA is always through the Federal courts. In some cases, addicts themselves request commitment proceedings be started. In others, they elect commitment to treatment rather than face prosecution on Federal criminal charges.

So far, the program has had a low dropout rate. Dr. Cohen attributes this to two factors mainly: the personal attention and intensive service received by the patients and screening out of addicts who show little hope or desire for successful rehabilitation.

HOW IS IT WORKING? A look at five "case histories" suggests that the program is off to a good start.

Robert J. started using barbiturates in reform school when he was 15. At nineteen, he was a high school dropout — and heroin addict. Jose H. is 32. He started using heroin at 15 and has been using it intermittently ever since.

John P. has been an addict since he was 19. Now 25 — he found his "habit" costing him $45 a day at the peak of his addiction; and he stole checks to support his addiction.

Bill M. is 30 years old and has a 10-year history of drug abuse. Once he was sent to jail to "kick the habit" — merely jailing him didn't work.

Another heroin addict, R.R., had been stealing $25-30 daily to pay for the drug. His family, consisting of his wife and three children, had broken up.

Before NARA, there would have been little hope for the rehabilitation of any of these five individuals. Typically they would have remained hooked on hard narcotics, stolen more and more to pay for their drugs, been jailed repeatedly.

Likely, they would have been dead within a few years from an overdose of drugs, which happens frequently among narcotic victims.

Moreover, the five — it is estimated, would have stolen $82,800 in cash or merchandise to support their habits, since the time they entered the NARA program.

Now, EACH OF THEM has been free of drugs since at least May 1968. Two of them have been rid of their habits since the fall of 1967. All are either gainfully employed or receiving training, and one is attending college part-time.

Among the first to receive treatment under NARA, they were given six months of intensive inpatient treatment at an NIMH clinical research center. Speechmaking and snakes

Student calls on his pets for help

For Tom McGuire of Elizabeth, both, choosing a topic for a speech on pre-technology English class at Union County Vocational and Technical Schools, Scotch Plains, was easy: He needed only to organize and present the material effectively. What the teacher, the class, and others had not anticipated was the appearance of two live snakes which Tom raises as a hobby in the garage of his home.

As Tom opened the first carton, a striped brown king snake slithered out, coiling and uncoiling around his wrists, arms, neck and torso. Tom explained that this was one of seven in his collection which, at present, consists of the king plus six water snakes. Tom's interest in the reptiles, at his mother's insistence, Tom shifted the focus to the basement of the garage, so she would more secure and safe. strange pet, Tom volunteered to care for it. Although his own mother was apprehensive and his father indifferent, they did not prevent him from pursuing this unusual hobby.

The snakes require little care and attention. Feeding occurs bi-weekly or monthly, but water must always be available. As they respond to being cared for and fed by a human, the snakes become relatively tame and rarely snap at their keeper.

ALTHOUGH NEIGHBORS are somewhat anxious, Tom's family has adjusted to the strange and eerie presence of the reptiles. Sen. Williams acts to free tight money

$4 billion hypo set

WASHINGTON — U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-N.J.) has won committee approval of his proposal to provide a $4-billion federal boost to the tight mortgage money market.

Sen. Williams, a member of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, offered an amendment to the Mortgage Rate Control Bill which would authorize $4-billion in Treasury Department loans to the Home Loan Bank Board. The board, in turn, would loan the money to savings and loan institutions for use in providing mortgages for home-buyers.

Sen. Williams said that using a $25,000 mortgage as the guide, his amendment would provide mortgage money for 160,000 home purchases. He said that such an increase would be a welcome boost to the sagging and seriously handicapped housing industry.

The Williams amendment was accepted by the Banking and Currency Committee, which approved the mortgage bill offering various kinds of relief to the hard-pressed mortgage market. The bill, with the $4-billion Williams amendment, now goes to the full Senate for further action.

Before Sen. Williams offered his amendment, the bill — which gives broadened and improved authority to the Home Loan Bank Board and sets other standards designed to ease the pressure on mortgage money — contained a $2-billion Treasury Loan provision.

Sen. Williams, who has repeatedly called for corrective measures to ease the squeeze on mortgage money, persuaded the Committee to adopt the higher figure.

The New Jersey lawmaker said the need for improved mortgage conditions was "one of our highest national priorities." He warned that unless steps are taken right away to free up mortgage money, the nation will be caught

Memorial General — Rabbi asks to mark 25th year

Rabbi asks vote change

Memorial General Hospital, Union, will mark its 25th year of service on Wednesday at a special silver anniversary meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Among the many events planned for commemorating the day, according to Murray Rubin, executive director, will be the offering of anniversary cake to all visitors. Board members and physicians who served the hospital during its founding year have been invited back to participate in the ceremonies.

One of the fastest-growing medical centers in the metropolitan area, Memorial General Hospital was founded in 1944 as Memorial Osteopathic Hospital in Elizabeth. It was housed in a three-story frame building that had 25 beds.

Demand for services quickly outstripped its ability to provide patient care, and 30 years later in 1974, the hospital purchased a four-acre-half acre tract of land from the Union Township Committee. A fund drive began in 1956 and ground was broken four years later on the site, which was within a few yards of Union's Five Points, a complex intersection connecting with roads leading to all communities surrounding Union.

A $1.2 million hospital with 82 beds was opened in April 1962. At the time, Memorial General was the largest hospital in Union County. The new Union County hospital to be erected in 35 years. Although the hospital opened in 1962, it had established roots in the community long before its physical arrival in the township. Members of Union's Little League baseball team have been given physical examinations free of charge by hospital staff members since the formation of the League. Boy Scout camp examinations have been administered free since the early 1950s.

Within a short time after Memorial General had opened its doors in Union, the need for additional space became apparent. Accordingly, a fund drive was quickly launched that led to the construction of the $1.75-million Leoberg Pavilion. The wing, which provided an additional 43,500 square feet of space, was opened in July, 1966.

Completion of the Leoberg Pavilion, brought the hospital's patient capacity to 174 beds. It also permitted the renovation of 5,500 square feet of floor space in the original building.

At Memorial General, the emphasis has been on expanding services and facilities. A new pathology laboratory and a new radiology department have been installed. A coronary intensive care unit with eight beds has been added. The size of the emergency room has been doubled.

James M. Meade and Joseph E. Lankford are assigned as executive directors of Memorial General Hospital. Dr. Rudi Wadell of Union is chief of the 45-member staff, which includes physicians from nearly every community in the Union, Essex, Middlesex and Morris Counties areas.

The 235-member nursing staff is headed by Mrs. Mary Motley, R.N., of Elizabeth. Memorial General is also served by a Volunteer Guild with more than 100 members. Organized in 1951, the Guild assists the professional staff by serving in all hospital departments on a volunteer basis. Mrs. Walter Grannan of Union is President.

The Hospital Auxiliary, which is headed by Mrs. Robert Maurer of Springfield, numbers 36 members. A 75-member contingent of Candy Strippers, ranging from 15 to 20 years of age, also serves on a volunteer basis.

Rabbi Israel Dresner of Springfield, president of the New Jersey Region of American Jewish Congress, this week announced support of the referendum which seeks to extend voting rights to 18-year-olds in New Jersey.

Rabbi Dresner said that "although there is a great deal of talk about bridging the generation gap, it seems that one of the most direct ways of bridging the generations together has been overlooked. Now we have an opportunity to bridge the gap by bringing our young people directly into our system of government. The 18-year-old vote is a great step forward."

Pointing out that a large segment of our population is below 25 and that proportion is growing, Dresner said, "the only way to give expression to the needs of young people is to involve them in the basic political structure of the American system."

Case endorses 7 in Assembly race

U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case of Rahway, in a letter to Union County Republican chairman Richard G. Schoel, has announced his endorsement of the Republican party's candidates for the General Assembly.

"Union County is fortunate in having five outstanding assemblymen running for reelection. They are Charles J. Irwin for assemblyman-at-large; Herbert J. Hellmann and Hugo M. Faltz Jr. in District 9B, and Peter J. McDonough and Herbert H. Klein in District 9C. Joseph Lucasio and Alan Coen, 25 candidates in District 9A, complete the Assembly ticket.

"I commend the ticket to you. This team will continue to work hard and effectively for the people of Union County. I hope you will give them your vote on Nov. 4," Case said.

As do all NARA patients, R.R. will remain in his aftercare program for 36 months. The chances of his completing the program and maintaining his progress are good, say the program authorities.

1. In 1968 I introduced legislation establishing county education coordinating agencies, which permits counties to maximize use of existing colleges and technical schools, providing education with minimal capital expenditure. The key to expanded educational opportunity is expansion of the local two-year college. The State University should expand its facilities for juniors and seniors enabling graduates of the local two-year colleges with appropriate scholastic standing to finish their education at the State University.

The Legislature must carefully avoid laws which mandate expenditures by County and local government without providing funds for said expenditures. In 1968 moved the Legislature in the Assembly which provided for return of 25% of the sales tax to municipalities. I will continue to support similar legislation as well as increased state aid to education which will lighten the property tax burden.

1. Yes, The fairest way to insure that those "who can benefit from it" are given the opportunity for higher education is to remove financial barriers, either by loans to the student directly or by a system of free colleges. I prefer a system such as California's where those who desire admission to college attend depending upon their ability as determined by objective entrance examinations. I do not think that direct aid is a sound long-range solution. New Jersey is presently known in education circles as the "cuckoo bird" state - it places its young in the nests of others.

2. The reason N.J. needs a broad-based tax, such as our sales tax, to place the local property tax in a more realistic perspective, I would have voted for income tax and not a sales tax. The sales tax is a regressive tax, hitting lower and middle income and fixed income people hardest. I feel that increase of the bank stock tax, the imposition of a stock transfer tax and efficient allocation of the proceeds of the bond issues approved last year will suffice for the next few years.

Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth, N.J. Class of 1945. Automotive Mechanic and Electrician. Life-long resident of Elizabeth. Age 44. "I feel the concept of 'free' post-high school education is in keeping with the present trend of 'free everything for everybody'." Nothing is free. Somebody has to pay and that somebody is, as always, the lowly taxpayer. The state produces nothing. Anything of value which it has can only be taken out of the labor of the people. To confiscate the earnings of citizen "A" and present them to citizen "B" for any reason, is grossly unjust.

2. Local property taxes should be based on a more realistic consideration of the problem. Assessed valuation is too arbitrary and too vulnerable to human factors. More equitable would be a tax of simple formula based on square footage plus a percentage of income on commercial, professional, and multiple type dwellings. The one family owner occupied home, which produces no income, would finally realize the tax relief so often promised, but never delivered.

1. My answer is Yes, I believe the citizens of New Jersey want their children to have education available for them. However, I still believe a student should be able to select the college of his own choosing. Therefore, on a qualifying and admission basis to be determined in advance, I would agree on providing education beyond high school to colleges, vocational and technical, deserving students.

2. First, get each municipality to govern itself in a more economic basis whenever possible. Secondly, assist neighboring municipalities to work together in purchasing and administering. Lastly, better policing of the present sales tax so that a lot more of it can be collected and a larger amount returned to the cities.

1. I believe the government, whether state or federal, should do for its citizens only those things which they can do for themselves. In the past, private organizations have shown their ability to maintain post-high school institutions with scholarships for needy students. Until it can be proven that private organizations are no longer capable of maintaining these institutions, I do not believe that the State of New Jersey has an obligation to do so.

2. The biggest tax burden on the wage earner, property owner and non-property owner alike, is the Federal Income Tax. Elimination of wasteful and useless projects of the Federal Government would result in a saving in excess of the money collected by this tax. If elected, I will introduce a resolution which has been approved by the legislatures of seven other states for passage of the Liberty Amendment, which would repeal the Federal Income Tax.

college program, post high school vocational and technical schools, all made possible by the recently passed bond program, we have made giant strides towards increased education.

2. I feel strongly that a Tax Convention should be conducted and our whole tax structure gone over. The cities and towns can no longer rely on just property taxes. If this goes on, there will only two types of citizens, the rich and the poor. The middle class property owner will be forced to give up his property. This doesn't give us a future. Administration has done nothing to cut the cost of government but has done a splendid job of adding to the cost of government.

1. New Jersey has an obligation to assure high school graduates an opportunity for post high school education. This state is at last moving in the right direction via two year college programs. Increased post-high school vocational education, the argument of our state colleges, and increased support and development for Rutgers and technical schools. This progress was made possible through capital bond issues and the annual increases in appropriations for educational purposes. New Jersey must continue and augment all these balanced programs.

Effective relief from the burden of local property taxes will only come with state government assumes greater share of its responsibilities for furnishing services to citizens of New Jersey. Some temporary relief can be given by making direct grants to municipalities. However, utilities, which are not to be found until citizens come to accept state rather than local municipalities as the source for most essential services. This trend is under way and should continue. The state will also require additional sources of revenue to pay for such services.

1. After seventeen years of service on the Hillside and Union County Vocational School Boards of Education, it is my firm conviction that is long overdue. As I recall it, the primary force behind enactment of the State Sales Tax was that its approval would provide additional state aid to local school districts and also make funds available for higher educational opportunities. Therefore, as a first step, these funds should be channeled entirely in this direction.

2. There is no question that the State's current fiscal situation places the heaviest burden upon the local property tax. The State's fiscal policies should be reviewed and analyzed by the legislature to determine whether current priorities are sound and whether or not all the possible revenue-producing sources have been explored and utilized. A State Lottery, for example, presents interesting possibilities. The

We have a definite obligation to post-high school education. Besides the County College network throughout our State, we must do more in the field of technical education. A College preparatory answer for our needs of the future; Machinists, carpenters, plumbers, etc. are already needed vocations for our future growth and prosperity. More emphasis must be placed on the needs in these technical fields by our high schools.

2. A strong lottery bill, off-track betting, more racing days are only temporary measures to relieve local tax burdens. It is extremely necessary to come to a tax convention, so that the entire tax structure of our State can be revamped on a broad base so that everyone in our state pays a fair share of the financial burden that we will all face in the future.

1. For continued progress in our County and State's involvement of providing educational facilities at all levels, I would favor students who can benefit from a post-high school education. Currently the outstanding problem is soaring welfare costs. Mandatory regulations from State and Federal agencies are increasing County costs daily, which in turn, the taxpayer must absorb. Your County government has no voice in these regulations. The Federal government should bear the entire cost of all welfare programs. Uniform payments must be mandatory in all states to eliminate population movements. A law must be enacted to set up a one-year state residency law to discourage residents moving from those states who do not meet their obligations, to those that do. The most important problem facing Union County is the continual rise in county taxation. The homeowner is being squeezed between inflation and high taxes. The county's operations should be evaluated by an outside consultant organization with a view to consolidating, reducing or eliminating functions wherever possible. Rumlens Hospital has been a political football long over to a non-profit organization to be run as the other county hospitals are. 1. Higher education must be made more accessible to all segments of society, but higher education depends on the expansion and upgrading of our colleges. If the schools are not of high caliber, no one will benefit. Programs for tutoring-motivated and intelligent but poorly prepared students must be implemented. Furthermore, we must insist on bringing high quality education to the broad segment of our citizens who can pay, but cannot afford $3500 a year.

On a statewide basis, there were 952 fatalities for the first 10 months of the year. This compares to 1,087 for a corresponding period in 1967.

Pedestrian fatalities, statewide, were 227 for the first 10 months of the year.

URGE IRWIN RE-ELECTION—U. S. Senator Clifford P. Case (right) and State Senator Matthew Rinaldo (left) of Union came out in support of the re-election of Assemblyman At-Large Charles J. Irwin (center) Sunday.

Case, Rinaldo ask re-election of Irwin to seat in Assembly

U. S. Senator Clifford P. Case endorsed the re-election bid of Assemblyman At-Large Charles J. Irwin Sunday at a cocktail party at Irwin's home, attended by more than 700 persons. State Senator Matthew Rinaldo of Union also called for Irwin's re-election.

Senator Case re-affirmed his full support for Irwin, stating that the assemblyman has proven himself to be a dedicated, responsive, responsible representative of the people of Union County and of the State. He noted that Assemblyman Irwin combined an outstanding education background as a graduate of Syracuse University and Harvard Law School with a basic common sense approach to problems derived from his employment in numerous fields leading to his political career.

Senator Rinaldo testified to his own observation of Irwin's performance in the State Legislature, saying: "As the delegation leader from Union County, Irwin successfully moved through the Assembly all of the bills sponsored in the Senate by Senator Francis McDermott and myself, including numerous bills which I sponsored and which became law, including a bill for 10 percent of the sales tax revenues to the municipalities, a bill to prohibit unauthorized projects by the New Jersey Highway Authority, and a bill to provide pay for policemen in Court. Assemblyman Irwin has the respect of his fellow Legislators and, I believe, the admiration and friendship of the people he represents."

Long assails GOP on detention center

Thomas W. Long, Democratic Freeholder candidate, this week criticized the Republican Board of Freeholders for their neglectful and unfeeling attitude towards the Juvenile Detention Center.

Speaking before a group of Republican independents in Cranford, Long charged that "the temporary quarters are horrendous" and called for "an immediate investigation into this matter."

"The temporary arrangements at John Runnels Hospital were made necessary in the first place because of Republican bungling of the courthouse garage building, which was supposed to also house the Juvenile Detention Center. As a result of this GOP fiasco the juvenile center was moved temporarily to the present, inadequate site."

Considine honorary chairman of Christmas Seal campaign

Robert B. Considine, distinguished journalist, author and lecturer, 1968 Christmas Seal Campaign. It was announced this week by Joseph B. Bagley, president of the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Central New Jersey.

The annual drive to stamp out emphysema, tuberculosis, chronic bronchitis and other respiratory diseases will open Nov. 12 in Hudson, Monmouth and Union counties, with the delivery of hundreds of thousands of Christmas Seal letters to homes and industry. Commenting on the appointment Bagley said, "we are fortunate in having the services of one of the nation's prominent newsmen to lead the 1969 crusade. Our Association has expanded its programs in tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases to include two closely related environmental factors—air pollution and cigarette smoking. Mr. Considine will provide the dynamic leadership needed to make the fund raising drive a success."

In accepting the chairmanship, Considine said, "As a newspaperman, it is my business to keep constant tabs on what is happening in the world today. News events affect all of us. So, too, does the health of the nation, which all too frequently is impaired by emphysema, tuberculosis and chronic bronchitis. I am honored to join with TB-RD Central in the 1969 Campaign and urge the citizens of the tri-county area to support the activities of their Christmas Seal organization."

Higher ed agency saving $10 million, Dr. Iversen says

Union County has obtained the use of college facilities worth more than $10 million without raising any of its own capital funds by utilizing the existing facilities of Union College, Cranford, and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president of Union College, told the Rahway Kiwanis Club last week.

Union County will have all the educational services county colleges will have, and will get them at a higher quality level and at a lower cost to the taxpayer, Dr. Iversen said. "This has been achieved through the establishment of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, which is purchasing educational services from the two existing institutions. This program not only makes use of existing facilities, but also avoids duplication of effort and programs."

Dr. Iversen said another happy result of the new program is a lower tuition rate for Union County residents attending Union College. He said the tuition rate for a full-time student who is a resident of Union County is $300 annually, while the tuition rate for a county resident who is a part-time student is $12 a credit hour.

"We probably were the only college in the country which was able to reduce its tuition this year," Dr. Iversen commented. "The trend, as every parent knows is for tuition costs to go up. This new arrangement in Union County makes a college education a reality for many more of our young people, and I urge you to bring those reduced tuition rates to the attention of as many of our citizens as possible."

Mrs. Miller accepts post

Mrs. Edward T. Miller of Maplewood has accepted the chairmanship of the annual ball of the Multiple Sclerosis Service Organization of New Jersey.

The ball, which will take the form of a dinner-dance, will be held Nov. 19, at the Short Hills Caterers, 310 Morris Turnpike, Millburn avenue, Short Hills. It will begin with a cocktail hour at 7 p.m., with a prime rib dinner at 8:30 p.m. Dancing will follow to the music of Alan Zane and his orchestra.

The proceeds from this annual function will be in the operation of the Allan A. Volkmann Memorial Hospital, Pleasant Hill road, Chester, (the only facility of its kind in New Jersey for the diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation of multiple sclerosis and other neurological disorders); the physical therapy outpatient clinic at the hospital; the information and referral center in Camden; Visiting Nurse Service to home-bound patients; and the several hundred pieces of equipment out on permanent free loan.

Regional beats Kenilworth; faces Morris Catholic next

By ARNOLD GERST

Sparked by the two touchdowns by sophomore Joe Rapuano, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team won its first game of the season at home last Saturday, defeating Kenilworth, 19-13. The Bulldogs travel to Denville this Saturday to meet Morris Catholic at 2 p.m.

Springfield scored the first time it had the ball, going 59 yards in 10 plays. The running of fullback Woody Young and Rapuano ate up most of the drive. Halfback Rapuano crashed up the middle from the six, for the Dayton score. Young kicked the extra point and Springfield led at the conclusion of the first period, 7-0.

The Bulldogs' defense, which played an outstanding game, allowed the Bears only one first down in the first half and only six in the game. Danny Silverman had 14 unassisted tackles; Tom Vasilov, who was all over the field, had 10, and Deming Marino seven to lead the Bulldogs.

Dayton's second score was set up on a Carmen Bore interception. Bore snared a Pete Vitale pass at midfield and ran it back to the 28. On the third play from scrimmage, quarterback Bob Janukowicz lofted a 32-yard bomb to senior Bill Benkus to give the Bulldogs a 13-0 lead at the half.

Late in the third period Kenilworth began a 71-yard, 10-play drive. Steve Krupinski, who was contained most of the afternoon, was the rushing star in this drive. The Bears went from the Bulldogs' 43 to the six in five plays.

From the 43, Vitale hit Rich Jeans at the 30, and the running of Krupinski and a penalty put the Bears on the 14. Krupinski went up the middle to the 14 and three plays later Brearley scored to make it 15-6.

SPRINGFIELD QUICKLY countered with a scoring march of its own. Dayton went 65 yards in eight plays, with Rapuano scoring. Joe Locke threw a pass and led over one man at the 10 to give Springfield a 19-6 lead in the fourth period.

Brearley gave the Bulldogs a score by scoring again late in the game. The big play came when Springfield was penalized 15 yards, which took Kenilworth from the 50 to the Dayton 35. Passes to jeans and Krupinski's running gave the Bears their last score of the game.

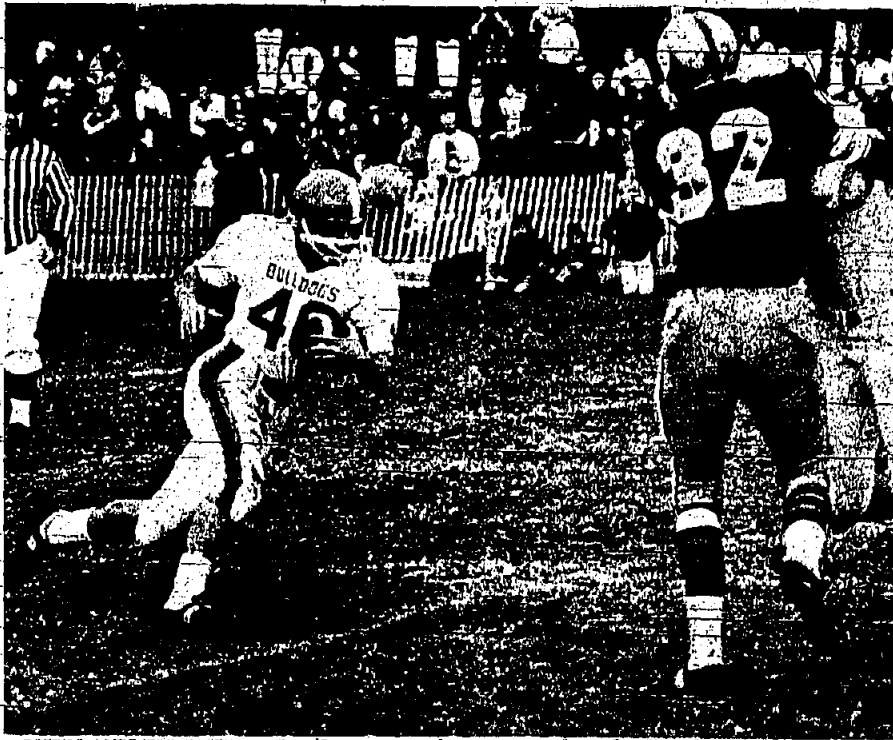

The outcome of the game was reflected in the statistics. The Bulldogs led in first downs, 10-6; in rushing yardage, 181-93; in passing yardage 44-39 (total 225-131), and in pass completion percentage, 44-58, but lost on the short-side-in-total-offensive plays, 60-59.

The Springfield running game, which has been excellent in the last two games, once again was the dominant factor in the victory. Woody Young gained 79 yards in 17 carries for a 4.5 average, and Joe Rapuano gained 78 yards in 14 carries for a 5.5 average.

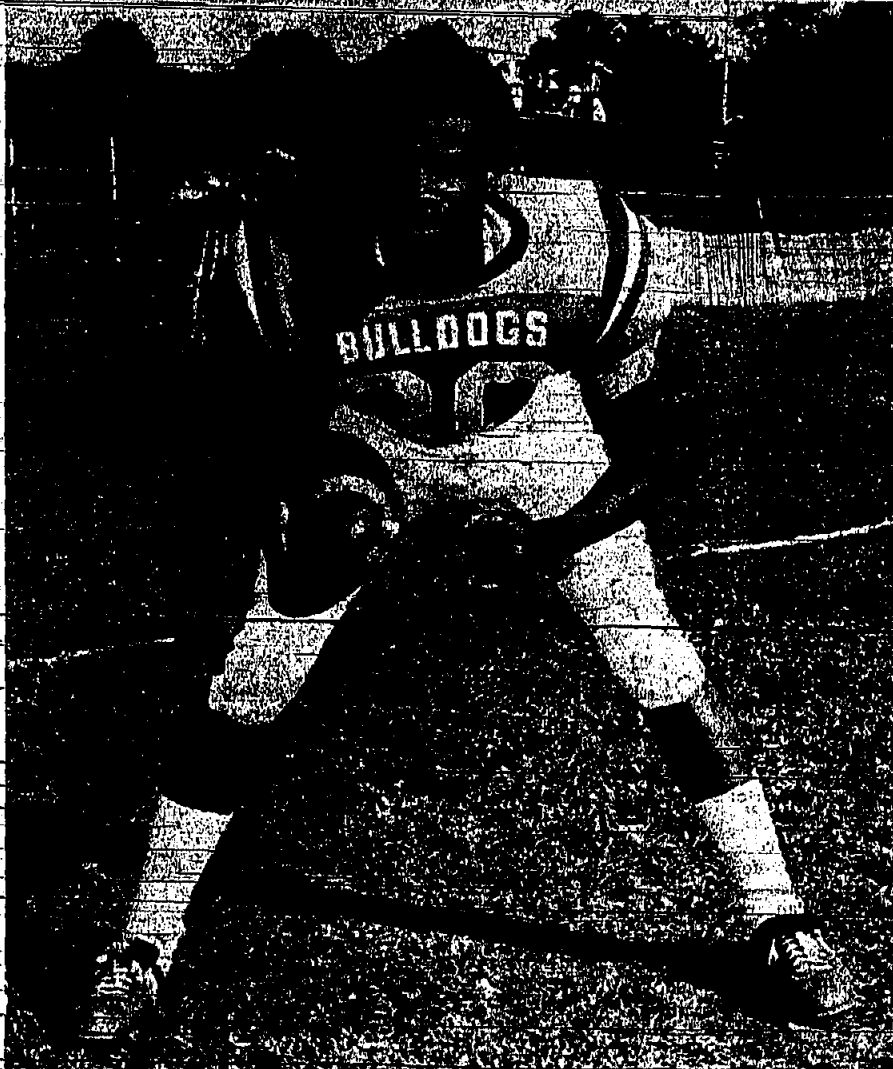

With just over half the season complete, the Bulldogs' record clearly does not match their performance. Springfield dominated the games with New Providence, Ridge and Kenilworth but could only come up with one victory and one tie.

The key game comes Saturday against a very strong Morris Catholic team, which is 3-1-1. If Dayton can defeat Catholic the prospects for a 500 or better season are much brighter.

After Morris Catholic, the Bulldogs will face Millburn, which is not strong this year; Roselle, which Dayton defeated soundly the previous two seasons; and Rahway, which is the strongest team of the three. The Bulldogs need everyone's support to help Springfield win this pivotal game Saturday.

Jayvees gain first triumph, top New Providence, 20-18

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School junior varsity football team gained its first victory by beating New Providence, 20-18. The Bulldogs (1-3) will meet Morris Catholic at home on Monday, Millburn away, Nov. 10, and Roselle at home, Nov. 17. Bill Kinder, the coach, pointed out that the Bulldogs played their best games against New Providence and Ridge, which beat Dayton, 14-0. Kinder said that his basic objective is to give every boy a chance to play.

Golf tournament winners listed

The defense Contract Administration Services District, Springfield, Golf League, has completed its annual match-play golf championship. The winners of the Scotch Hills Country Club, Scotch Plains, trophies were awarded to the first and second place winners of the women's "A" class and to the winners of the men's "A" and "B" classes.

Mildred Puzo of Newark defeated Ruth Barr of Orange 8-2 to take the women's crown. Miss Puzo advanced to the finals by defeating Arlene Malone of Westfield one-up in a one-hole sudden death overtime match.

Bob Pennella of Union defeated Don Antonellis of Passaic 4-3 to take the "A" class. Pennella birdied the 8th, 13th, 14th and 15th holes in winning his match. Antonellis proved to be a tough opponent by matching Pennella's birds on the 8th, 13th and 14th holes.

Joe Leskowski of Mountainside defeated Steve Kafcsak of Metuchen one-up to take the class "B" crown. The match was a nip-and-tuck affair with the score being all even from the 14th through the 18th. Leskowski took the match in a one-hole sudden death play off.

Undeclared harriers run streak to 14

Face Hillside, Roselle in key meet tomorrow

The so far invincible Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross country team has now compiled a 14-0 record by defeating Verona, 17-42, and David Brearley of Kenilworth, 15-47. The Bulldogs run in their most crucial meet of the season against Hillside and Roselle at Warrinanco Park tomorrow, beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Against Verona, the Bulldogs' Norm Reichardt was first in 13:29; Marty Josephs, second; Gary Street, third; Keith Thelle, fifth; Ken Hall, sixth; Mark George and Marc Hollander also placed very high for Dayton.

Last Thursday's victory over Brearley, Street was first in 12:46; Hall, second; Thelle, third; George, fourth; Hollander, fifth, and Karl Kortsosky, seventh.

Cocher Marty Taglianti said that Hollander, Thelle, Hall, George and Street are "the real big men on the team." These back-up men on the team always face tough competition and can be considered the backbone of the team.

Josephs and Reinhardt are great runners, he said, and therefore are generally ahead of the pack. The other harriers always have to battle for the remaining positions to give Springfield a victory. Taglianti noted that all of these boys are very hard workers, and that Hillside in particular has done a very good job.

Two other runners who received compliments were Karl Kortsosky and Bob Ripp. Their times continue to improve and they are running progressively better as the regular season draws to a close.

The Bulldogs continue to be in excellent physical shape. Ron Frank is bothered by a bad ankle, and freshman Rick Olsen is now hurt. Todd Herman has now started to work out with the team again.

Taglianti commented that a victory over Hillside is the key to an undefeated season. Taglianti warned that the Hillside Comets will not be pushovers and the Bulldogs must be at their best against Hillside.

If the Bulldogs can defeat Hillside and Roselle, only New Providence, which Dayton defeated, 15-45, earlier this year, lies in the path of an unblemished record.

THE STOPPER — Joel Millman, senior goalie for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer team, is expected to win all-county honors for the third year in a row.

Booters even mark; face Madison, N. Providence

By ARNOLD GERST

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer team tied Verona and Cedar Grove last week by 1-1 scores. The Bulldogs, who now have a 4-4-4 record, meet Madison today away and New Providence Tuesday at home. Springfield closes out its schedule with a road contest against Summit next Thursday.

Dayton played probably its finest game of the season against a Verona team which had defeated Springfield a 4-0 loss earlier in the season. After Verona took a 1-0 lead in the third period, Keith Prussing scored on a penalty shot to tie the game at 1-1.

Cocher Lou Piccolo reversed the game as a good effort on everyone's part. The Bulldogs, according to Piccolo, held control of the ball, got stronger as the game progressed and had a chance to win the game. He had particular praise for fullback Dave Millman, who got off tremendous boots all afternoon. Goalie Joel Millman, who played his usual superb game, and Prussing, who scored his sixth goal of the season.

Later in the week, Dayton tied Cedar Grove, which had defeated the Bulldogs earlier this year, 2-1. Springfield opened up a 1-0 lead when Prussing scored on an assist from Dave Dobby, but Cedar Grove came back midway through the third period to gain the tie. Coach Lou Piccolo noted that Dayton had control of the game and outshot the opposition, 20-10.

The Bulldogs' offense has scored 17 goals this season in 12 games; Prussing leads in the scoring race with seven. John Saracino is second with four; Dave Dobby and Alan Schaefer each have two, while Peter May and Larry Sternbach have one each.

The Dayton defense has allowed 21 goals but 12 of these came in games with Verona (4-0), Summit (3-0) and Caldwell (5-3). In the remaining nine games the opposition has scored only nine goals.

Goalie Millman has allowed only 18 goals in 12 games for a phenomenal 1.5 goals per game average.

The tie with Verona exemplified the many attributes of the 1969 soccer squad. The Bulldogs played a great game against a powerful opponent and clearly demonstrated their improved skills, determination and pride which take a team a long way.

Regional freshmen to Hillside, 28-0; face Millburn next

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School freshman football team has compiled a 1-2 record with a victory over Hillside, 28-0, last week. The baby Bulldogs will meet Millburn Monday, Nov. 10, at home, and Rahway, Nov. 14, away.

The team is made up of Len Slejk, quarterback; Ray Greenberg, safety; Al Wilburn, halfback; and Herb Baker, Neil Anderson, running back; Mark Weber, fullback and linebacker; Brian Davis, fullback and linebacker; Vic Ruff, center and end; Jim Ragucci, tackle; Charles Gagnano, guard; John Jones, defensive end; Ken Mosser, kicker; Ken Davis, defensive back; Joe Silverman, and linebacker and Scottie, guard.

The remainder of the squad includes Jim Dewey, Bruce Krow, Tom King, David Mitchell, Lewis Barb, Jeff Shomo, George Ganska, Bob Day, Bruce Honeker, Derek Gortoft, Eric Hanbacher, Mark Tasher, Rob Kelley, Jerry Deliberto, Cal Kobernick, Steve Jones, John Belliveau, Lou Mancinelli, Gary Sonnenberger and Robt Kantery.

Coaches Ollie Olson and Manuel Pereira said that the team has a good attitude and spirit and is satisfied with the team's progress.

In Dayton's two losses, one to Roselle, 8-6, and the other to Ridge, 14-0, the Bulldogs have had trouble blocking so the backs could move the ball.

The defense is very good at stopping both the run and the pass. The coaches feel that Dayton has a very sound ball club and good personnel and that the Bulldogs could very possibly have a winning season.

Upon further investigation, the officers found that another person was involved in the narcotics incident and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Michael McCloskey, 21, of Westfield. McCloskey was later arrested by the Westfield Police and turned over to the Springfield authorities.

In the course of the raid, according to the police report, approximately 17 pounds of marijuana was confiscated.
