Streamline your move to HPE ConvergedSystems

HPE Education Services

Learning new technologies and implementing new, improved processes are a big part of managing major technology shifts. In today's business transformation journey, data centers are evolving from silos to a more simple, efficient, and consolidated infrastructure. With HPE ConvergedSystems, you get a single, holistic computing ecosystem that delivers faster time-to-value, reduces costs and risks, and positions you to move toward cloud-based models. Also, automating as much of your server, storage, and networking infrastructure as possible, creates a software-defined environment that frees up resources for new, innovative projects.

More and more organizations are realizing the potential of HPE ConvergedSystems as this gives them a flexible, streamlined, and enhanced IT environment. These organizations are also discovering that the real "challenge" lies in equipping their staff with the knowledge, skills, and processes needed for them to successfully implement and integrate HPE ConvergedSystems in their environment—and manage that environment once implemented. HPE Education Services help you increase the skills and knowledge of your workforce to support HPE ConvergedSystems and align your people, processes, and technologies.

Re-skill teams for technology adoption

Benefit from HPE's ownership of proprietary technologies and key partnerships to offer training from the very experts who create, manage, and enhance these technologies. These training courses help you reduce the time-to-productivity for your staff on these HPE technologies.

• HPE ConveregedSystems configuration and administration training with hands-on labs.

• HPE Hyper Converged Systems training for integrating storage, networking, compute and virtualization.

• HPE OneView training for administration, migration and jump start for the new technology.

Ordering options

Courses can be ordered individually, or—to get great value and more flexibility—can be purchased using HPE Training Credits. These prepaid services—available directly from HPE or from your nearest reseller—provide flexibility for all of our training offerings. For more information, visit hpe.com/ww/ purchaseoptions.
