Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, instrumental in a campaign to encourage registration of local voters for the March 8 general election, will sponsor a Candidates Night Tuesday, Feb. 23, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Chelsea Milling Company's auditorium. At this time, village residents will have the opportunity to meet the 11 candidates seeking village office this coming March.

According to Chamber of Commerce President Sam Johnson. the purpose of this special event is to give interested voters the opportunity to meet those persons seeking village office, incumbents and newcomers alike. This is the first time in recent memory that such an opportunity has been afforded to the general public and the candidates scheduled to vye for their offices in March.

Chamber of Commerce Board member, William Rademacher. will serve as the master of ceremonies for Candidates Night and will ask each candidate a battery of questions. Each candidate will be notified of the questions to be posed prior to the special meeting so as to formulate some general thoughts, opinions and possible statements upon each auerie.

those questions he is planning to ask will deal with, for instance, each candidate's perceptions of the major problems facing the community at present, where he or she hopes to see the community within the next 10 to 15 years with regard to the current economic hardship that Chelsea faces, and why the candidate believes that he or she is suited to deal with these problems and any others that should arise prior to and during their term of office.

A brief introductory statement or biographical sketch of each candidate will also be heard prior to audience questions and their subsequent responses.

Both Johnson and Rademacher encourage local voters to take part in this special Candidates Night that should provide personal insights and familiarity with the candidates prior to casting ballots at the polls on Monday, March 8.

Eleven persons have filed petitions as candidates for the eight positions in Chelsea government. John W. Merkel will run unopposed for the office of village president. Education in Chelsea is not exclusively open to reading, writing and arithmetic. Instead, a wide spectrum of courses also deal with the aspect of training the individual to live independently, to enter the job market with any number of skills and to be prepared for further educational opportunities.

Vocational Education in Chelses is the one of the avenues open to the high school student who is eager to become skilled in any of more than a dozen career options and their affiliated preparatory courses. It is an educational tool adopted to prepare students for future employment.

The week of Feb. 8-12 was designated as Vocational Education Week within the South and West Washtenaw Consortium, of which Chelsea is a part. The consortium is a combination of the vocational education, guidance and administrative, resources of five school districts in Washtenaw county, including Chelsea. Dexter, Manchester, Milan and Saline.

The specific purpose of the consortium is to create and implement quality vocational education programs for the youth served by these districts. By coordinating the various physical facilities and educational resources contained in the separate school districts, the consortium is able to extend to students a large variety of training opportunities in what is broad scope scope by allowing students to enroll in courses given at the high schools in any of the five member school districts. There is a considerable flexibility offered to the students with respect to types of courses available. Thirteen career fields and more than 100 occupational choices are presently represented in the vocational education programs, each entailing a number of courses designed to teach and develop career related skills and experience. Through these courses, students are prepared alther to enter chosen vocations upon graduation form high school or to enter post-secondary training programs, such as those offered at junior colleges, technical institues or four-year colleges.

Each year, well over 900 students participate in the programs offered by the consortium. Public vocational/occupational education trains youth and adults for employment in fields ranging from the semi-skilled to the skilled, technical and semiprofessional. It also teaches consumer skills. Programs are offered at both the secondary and postsecondary levels and are administered by locally elected boards.

Training emphasis is primarily in occupations for which a demand exists in Michigan business and industry. Historically, in Michigan, manual training, agriculture, home economics, industrial and health occupations have been taught since the early 1900's.

At Chelsea High school, a number of vocational education programs are offered to interested students. These programs include agricultural production and the agricultural cooperative component, auto mechanics, building trades, the (Continued on page ten)

Ad Ruling May Lead To Lower Prices

State rules prohibiting advertising by retailers of liquor, including beer and wine prices, are unconstitutional because they violate the First Amendment protections of free speech and are an unreasonable extension of the Liquor Control Commission's police authority, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has ruled.

The ruling supercedes refusal two years ago by the legislative Joint Committee on Administrative Rules to approve proposed commission rules which would have permitted price advertising. That was part of Governor

William G. Milliken's proposal to deregulate the liquor industry in Michigan. Price advertising of liquor outside a licensed retail premise has been prohibited since the repeal of prohibition.

The Kelley ruling was criticized by the Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems and the Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers Association.

Dennis Hyberger of the wholesalers said he doubted it would mean lower prices on beer and wine while the Rev. Allen Rice, head of the alcohol problems commission, said he did not see any relationship between free speech and the prohibition of liquor advertising.

However, Dan Sparks, a Liquor Control Commission aide, said the ruling would have the greatest impact on beer and wine as the prices of spirits are controlled by law and distilleries already have the right to advertise the price of their products.

In the formal opinion, Kelley said the Liquor Control Commission does not enjoy "unfettered power to regulate traffic in alcoholic beverages." Any controls "must be exercised in a manner which is consistent with the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Bill of Rights and the Fourteenth Amendment

· vieween and the second second

the United States Constitution."

Until recently, he said, commercial speech was believed excepted from First Amendment guarantees. He noted, however, a recent series of court decisions has left no doubt that commercial speech is protected by the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech.

He further noted the court has also overturned prohibitions for advertising of prescription drugs, lawyers and established a fourpart test for determining if government regulations of commercial advertising is permitted.

The state prohibition exceeds the state's police power, Kelley said, as it violates the state's policy of promoting commerce, thus "inhibiting consumers in the exercise of cost-effective and informed purchasing."

Front-Loading Back Before Legislature

The Senate and House have separate proposals to provide taxpavers with their state property tax credits at the time their tax bills are due.

This so-called "front-loading" concept provides that the state's more than $500 million in property tax credits be given when individual's property taxes are due rather than being coupled with filing the state income tax return. The proposal is similar to one passed last year but since it was 🗰 tied to additional property tax, * relief, it was vetoed by Milliken on grounds the state budget could not afford the relief proposed.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I don't watch much television, but I got excited Saturday night when the feller that runs the country store invited the fellers by his house fer a special showing. He just got a backyard dish that picks up everthing off saterlites. Beats anything you ever saw, Mister Editor. He can git the same show on 12 channels at the same time at three different times of the day, and he can git channels where they play ball around the clock ever day. And if he wants a nap he can tune in Congress in action. It's hard to believe what he said about how all them signals are beamed up and bounced off saterlites that stay in one place all the time, but it's harder to believe what I saw on one of the sports channels. It was a basketball game between Fordham University and a school I fergit. I remember Fordham cause it's in the Bronx, where all the college recruiters go to git basketball players. Where does Fordham go? The two tallest and fastest players on the Fordham team come from Sudan, like in Africa. I have heard of shipping coal to Newcastle, but not this. I looked it up. The Sudan ain't to many jungles from Burundi and Rwanda where the Watusis. live, and they are the tallest folks on earth.

You see what I'm saying. How long before the UCLA cheerleaders will be doing the can because our power comwatusi? The conferences will have to set quotas, like no more air laws. That's not cutting off than two eight foot warriors per our nose to spite our face, Bug school per year. All of them ex said, that's cutting our throat. Green Berets we got looking fer war work over there can pick up good money scouting ball players. Just check your spears with the security guards at the airport, boys, and we'll work everthing out with the admissions office. And then how long before some smart college football coach relizes the kind of front line he could build with four of the Japanese sumo wraslers?

I mentioned this future fer recruiting during a lull while the TV was on a rerun of a House committee hearing, and Ed Doolittle said it made a case fer what he's said all along. We need to let the college players play and the college students study, cause the twain can't meet. Let the players represent the school the way the Cardinals represent St. Louis, and do away with all the pertending. If the players want to go to class, let ern work it out where it don't bother their ball, was Ed's words.

Actual, Bug Hookum said he won't be surprised when we start importing ball players, cause we already export food to grow em. Just like we ship steel to Japan and they ship back cars and cameras. We pack our leather off to Italy and git back shoes. Our cotton goes to China and Egip and back come the shirts on our backs. The worst case, Bug went on, is selling coal to Canada and buying electricity Canada makes from our coal cheaper than we panies are so bound up by clean Yours truly, Pacing the Bulldogs in the contest was Mike Bareis who contributed 22 points, 12 rebounds, three steals and four assists. Eighteen of his points came in the first half.

Others chipping in to the final Bulldog score were John Welton with 10, Marty Steinhauer with nine, Randy Krichbaum with eight, Matt Villemure with seven, David Wojcicki and Kiel with six each, Toby Boyd and Carl Pate with four and Ken Nadeau and David Mann with two points apiece.

Shooting found Chelsea hitting 56 percent from the floor on 37 of 66 attempts. Pinckney hit 40 percent or 23 of 58 shots.

From the free throw line, Chelsea hit just 50 percent on six of 12 chances while Pinckney hit 13 of 22 for a percentage of 59. The Bulldogs outrebounded their guests, 34-24.

In turnovers, Chelsea made 23 while Pinckney committed 27.

Individually, Bareis led with 12 rebounds while Carl Pate pulled down eight. In assists, Bareis, Wojcicki and Villemure led with four each while John Welton made three assists.

function as nursing assistants, thereby affording experiences which may be required to enter the chosen health field. As a direct result, students are provided with the opportunity to gain self-awareness, self-assessment, career awareness, career exploration and career decisionmaking skills. According to instructor Judy Oakes, "Our students are fortunate to have the support of community resources, specifically that of Chelsea Community Hospital, Family Practice Center and the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home. Placements in local doctor's offices have also begun this year. Positive support of these school programs contributes significantly to the success of this and all vocational education programs." Another example of the local vocational education programs is Ann O'Hagan's Consumer Home Economics courses that are designed for a number of reasons including 1.) a large segment of the population chooses homemaking as a career; 2.) everyone needs to learn the basic skills for personal, independent living; and 3.) it serves as a prepreparatory avenue for a number of other related occupations. A total of three foods classes encompass commercial foods, consumer buying and nutrition. Three clothing classes are also taught and include such things as alterations and garment construction. Interior decorating includes blueprint and floor plan reading, decorating styles, art principles and elements, colors, furniture and floral arrangement, participation in a national table setting contest and the like. A highlight to this section of the Consumer Home Economics program will include the complete design of a front window at Merkel's Furniture and Carpets. Your World and Money is the name of a popular consumer class which includes money management, insurance purchase, savings and investments and banking and includes a mock banking experience through the help of Chelsea State Bank which assists with the class-designated checking projects. A child care class provides participants with practical experience through work at the Chelsea Community Hospital Child Care Center while a parent readiness program offers. students the opportunity to understand the responsibility of parenthood including child development in the social, emotional, physical and intellectual spheres. Another class, Marriage and Family, is a course which emphasizes personal living. Of those students studying Consumer Home Economics, the foods classes are composed of boys while Your World and Money is comprised of half boys and half girls. The other courses offered are usually made up of a majority of girls. These and all vocational education classes are designed to teach participants some of the basic elements of the field(s) covered and practical field work is emphasized as a key to the learning experience.

JV WRESTLERS: Making sure that the team keeps winning, this quartet of junior varsity grapplers has contributed to the team's winning season. From left to right they include Rick Proctor, Tom Nemeth, Ed Brosnan and John Wilson. Proctor is a dedicated freshman wrestler who, according to Coach Mike Young, has had an unfortunate season thus far. Wrestling at 167 lbs., Proctor is looked upon as an asset to the team. Sophomore Nemeth, at 105 lbs., took fourth place at the Jackson Northwest Tournament and is undefeated in all of his dual meet outings this season. He sports a record of 10 and 2 and was a real strong possibility for placing at the twice postponed JV Tournament. Strong and dedicated and sporting a .500 season record, freshman Ed Brosnan came out for the team late in the season and is looked upon to do big things in the future. He wrestles in the 119-lb. weight category. John Wilson, at 112 lbs., is one of the best competitors on the team this year and holds a current record of 12 and 4. He took a fourth place medal at the Jackson Northwest Tournament, where he suffered his first defeat of the season. Wilson has helped the varsity grapplers as well, filling in for an injured Bulldog and helping the team win by pinning his Milan varsity opponent.

STOP! THE IRS BITE WITH OUR IRA.

An Individual Retirement Account (IRA) offers every wage earner a legal tax shelter from federal and state income taxes.

As a wage earner, you can deposit up to $2,000 of your wages in an IRA. $2,250 if your spouse is unemployed and $4,000 if both you and your spouse are wage earners.

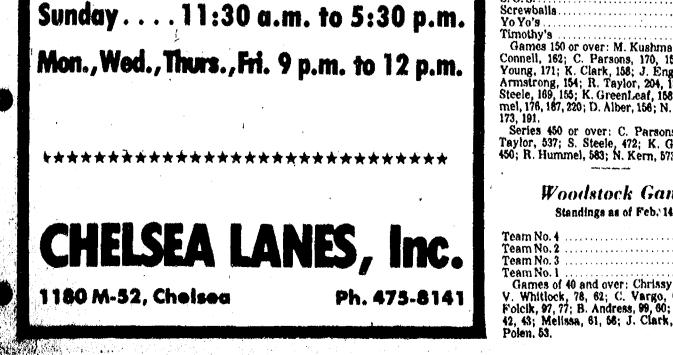

Not only can you deduct your IRA investment from income tax, interest earned is tax deferred until retirement. Your IRA account will go on and on, earning compounded interest year after year, free of income taxes until you withdraw funds.

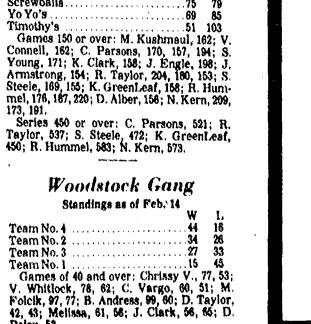

You aren't obligated to make a deposit each year, only when you can, up to the maximums noted above.

By deducting, say, a full $2,000 of your earned in-come from your taxes, or $2,250 or $4,000, with a joint return, you could well fall into a lower tax bracket adding even more to your spendable income.

Stop in, we are ready to answer the questions you have in language you can understand.

Don't delay, plan your future with an IRA from your locally directed independent bank.

will have a hard time tinding a stock that has done much better than that. I can understand your concern since that kind of record could be expected to produce a two or three times increase in the price of the stock.

As I read remarks by various security analysts, I believe the problem is that a good number of them, particularly those who heavily influence institutional buying, have come to the conclusion that the reduction in the use of oil that has taken place will soon be reflected in a big drop in the volume of drilling for oil, and this in turn will produce a substantial drop in demand for. Hughes products.

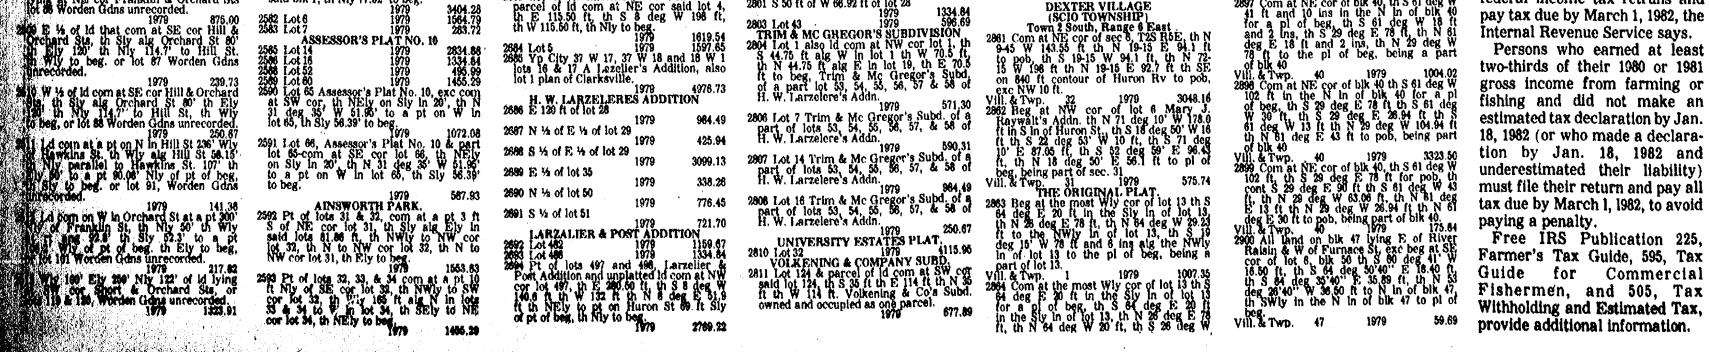

There may well be some truth in such thinking. However, I would guess that any let up in drilling for oil will be temporary. The world is still likely to continue to use oil in substantial quantities. The supply of oil in the world is limited and while a temporary glut is producing a decline in prices, it would seem like the long term trend in price and demand is still up. Also there is a lot of pressure to increase the supply. of oil in areas of the world that. are more secure for Westerna markets.

Hughes Tool has been a very well managed company, and my guess is that you will see its stock price go higher.

MRS. FLORENCE J. KIRK, CENTENARIAN Mrs. Florence J. Kirk To Mark 100th Birthday

Mrs. Florence Johns Kirk will be honored at an Open House on Sunday, Feb. 21 from 2 to 4 p.m. at St. Mary's Church Hall below the church at 210 W. Main St., in Manchester, in honor of her 100th birthday. Relatives and friends are cordially invited-no gifts, please.

The centenarian's birthday is Saturday, Feb. 20.

Hers has been a busy life. After her husband. Ferdinand's death in 1946, she and a daughter, Mildred, left the family farm south of town and moved to an apartment above her son Leonard's Appliance Store. They still live there.

Mildred is employed at the Saline Ford Plant. Each day Mrs. Kirk rises early and her daughter takes her to a nursing home in the village where she stays until Mildred returns. She enjoys many changes during the day for sne often accompanies Leonard on short trips to other communities. She values these outings and is ready to return to her apartment by the time her daughter comes for her. Shortly after the move to town she was confronted with'the prospect of taking the calls for the police and fire departments. A special phone was installed and she had the job from 1946 to 1977 when a new calling system was installed. She called it guits after 31 years on the job. She was 94 at the time.

Born at Evans Lake, she grew up in the Irish Hills and was baptised and married at St. Joseph's Shrine. She was the Optimist Club's candidate for first lady during the Bicentennial and went to the Irish Hills to talk with the drivers of the National Bicentennial wagon train lumbering along US-12.

A real traveler, she has been in most of the states. Her trips to Far Rockaway, N.Y. to see an 89-year-old cousin. Marguerite. and trips to northern Michigan to call on friends and relatives give her the most pleasure now. She spent time with them all last summer.

Her children include two sons.
