Burnette benefit brings community-wide support

by Melissa B. Turmo
Staff Writer

When Dave Burnette learned of plans to hold a fund raiser to help in his recovery, he could not imagine more than 100 of his friends and family attending.

Tears welled up in his eyes when he heard just how many did turn out.

"It seemed like every single person from the community was there," remarked his sister, Jeanne Nicol, about Eat a Dog for Dave Night. "It just seemed there was a continuous flow of people."

Judging from the number of plates and take-out boxes gone at the end of the evening, fund raiser organizer Janet Severance said nearly 750 friends, family and community members joined to show their support July 25 — just 4 weeks after Burnette was admitted to the hospital.

"We thought possibly 500," Severance said. "And we were more than pleased."

And even after Shabbona

United Methodist Church members finished serving hot dogs and Polish sausages at roughly 9 p.m., adults stayed to visit while their children took advantage of Cass City Recreational Park's playground equipment.

"At times the pavilion got quite full. I mean, you had to search to find a seat," Severance commented. "It just seemed to be a really nice community evening."

Nicol, who videotaped the entire event for Burnette, said Friday she's waiting to tell her brother exactly how much money was raised. Donations for the event, sponsored by the Shabbona United Methodist Church, exceeded $5,000 and are still coming.

"I think it's a good tribute to Dave," Severance commented. "He's just a nice guy."

Burnette has lived in Cass City nearly all of his 24 years. He began working at Walbro Corp. during college at General Motors Institute in Flint; he now works in the company's accounting department.

GOOD PROGRESS

Nicol said her brother has shown great progress since he entered St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw.

Burnette has been diagnosed with encephalomyelitis. This infection in his brain and spinal cord temporarily paralyzed him, and he spent roughly 17 days in a coma.

He has gained use of his arms and shoulders, has feeling in his legs and can sit up for short periods of time. He communicates with his family, including his wife Caren, by writing notes on their hands.

"Caren has been with him day and night, Nicol said. "She's been just great." Dave's parents, Dave and Thresa Burnette; brother

Don Burnette; sister Janice LaPonsie, and Caren's parents, Bill and Judy Britt, also have been a support.

"I think it's just a miracle; it just continues to be a miracle to me," Nicol said of his recovery so far. At first, doctors were unsure whether Dave would survive the illness.

Nicol, a registered nurse at Allen Health Care, said this time was especially difficult because the medical signs were so unfavorable.

"The sister in me was just hoping and praying he would get through it," she said.

And her prayers were joined by others in the community. "I know every church in town has been praying for him," she said.

New school boilers to cost district $112,700

In an emergency special session Monday morning the Cass City School Board authorized new boilers for the Willis Campbell Elementary School at a cost of $112,700.

Attending the meeting was Joseph P. Day, vice-president of the Joseph M. Day Co., which conducted an examination of the boilers servicing the Campbell school.

He told the board that the bottom 12 to 18 inches of the 2 boilers that heat the building, one 44 years old and the other 35 years old, have rotted through and repairing them was estimated to cost about $15,000 each.

The board authorized the new boilers without a bid for several reasons. The primary reason was the time involved. If the normal routine were followed and an architect hired to make drawings, bids advertised and contracts approved, the work would be delayed until well into the winter.

When the work was authorized Monday, Day said that the new units could be in operation by early October.

Day explained to the board that he could not guarantee that the price quoted would be the best that could be obtained. "I said that he has checked the work against similar work in other schools and said that it is in line with the cost of these projects.

Doing the work will be Fisher and Wright Co. of Flint, the same concern that is working in the construction of the building addition at Walbro Corporation.

The new boilers will be large enough to care for possible future expansion. They will be much more efficient than the present boilers, which operate on 60 to 65 percent efficiency. However, the savings in fuel will not be enough to make a complete payback of the cost, Day explained.

A hole in the older boiler was discovered at the end of the heating season last year, Supt. Ken Micklash said, and the plan was to repair it this summer, before it was determined that both units needed more than a patch job.

The money for the project will come from the school's healthy contingency fund.

STAFF CHANGES

The board approved the appointment of Edward Pasant as new Deford principal and special project coordinator at a salary of $49,900 yearly. Pasant will spend all of his time at Deford, but half of the time there will be devoted to preparing and administering government grants. Micklash estimated about half of Pasant's salary will be charged to the grants.

The school is in a healthy financial condition because of the new state financing plan. Cass City was spending significantly less than the amount authorized when the plan was adopted. For this reason, in addition to the state aid, the school receives an extra 10 percent until it reaches the level authorized by the legislature.

The money enables the board to hire a half-time elementary arts teacher for Deford School and the kindergarten and grades one, two and three at Campbell Elementary.

The teacher is Rebecca Hirn of Harbor Beach. Last year

Hirn taught art at Reese School and was highly recommended by the administration there, Micklash said. She moved last spring to Harbor Beach when she was married. She will be paid on the 9th step of the salary schedule and will be paid $19,000 and receive half of the benefit package.

Inspectors for the September election were appointed. They are: chairman Elwyn Helwig, Joan Little, Iva Hartwick, Yvonne LeValley and Jessie Goodall. Alternates are Pat Wells and Helen Lorentzen.

Plea bargain: no jail for Westerby

Kingston trucker Daniel Westerby won't serve one day in jail under a plea bargain agreement announced last week.

Westerby, who was charged in connection with a fatal traffic accident that claimed 3 lives last November, has pleaded no contest to one count of attempted negligent homicide, a simple misdemeanor.

Westerby, 39, was originally arraigned on 3 counts of negligent homicide after his car-hauling tractor-trailer crashed into vehicles stopped for President Clinton's motorcade on I-75 Nov. 7.

The impact caused a fiery chain-reaction crash involving 8 vehicles. Killed were a 35-year-old Saginaw woman and her passenger, a 23-month-old boy, and a 41-year-old Detroit woman.

Westerby was tried on the charges last spring, but a mistrial was declared by Genesee Circuit Court Judge Judith Fullerton after the jury announced it was deadlocked. Genesee County prosecutors later decided to try the case a second time, and an Aug. 29 date was set.

Westerby's sentencing is scheduled for Sept. 13 at 10 a.m. at the McCree Center in Flint, according to Genesee County Chief Assistant Prosecutor Robert Yuille, who noted the case has been remanded to 67th District Court Judge Arthalu Lancaster.

Yuille explained the original charges against Westerby were circuit court misdemeanors, punishable by a maximum 2 years in prison and/or a $2,000 fine. Attempted negligent homicide, however, is a simple misdemeanor that carries a maximum penalty of one year in jail, a $2,000 fine and 2 years of probation, or any combination of the 3.

But Westerby won't serve any jail time, according to his counsel, Flint attorney Michael P. Manley.

Manley said Westerby entered what is called a "Cobbs plea" in which, based on a preliminary evaluation requested by Manley, the judge has indicated she won't sentence him.

"If she decides to give him jail time, Mr. Westerby has the absolute right to withdraw his plea, so he is protected," Manley explained.

Westerby's plea of no contest is not an admission of guilt, although it is treated like a conviction in the court system.

Manley said Westerby told investigators he was a substantial cause of the accident, but "that was never an issue; we admitted that. The issue was, was he negligent or was he faced with an emergency?"

Manley called the plea agreement a complete victory for his client, who is now charged with what amounts to a 2-point traffic offense, and in 5 years he will be eligible to ask the court to expunge the offense from his record.

"We're very pleased with the outcome," he continued. "All of our goals were met. This is what we've been holding out for."

Westerby returned to his job last week at Commercial Carriers Inc., Pontiac, but he isn't driving.

Manley said Westerby's driver's license has been suspended by the secretary of state, however, he is awaiting an appeal of that action.

If the appeal is denied, the attorney added, a law suit will be filed to reinstate the license.

Summer class advances 30 at risk students

Cass City High School can add roughly 15 more ninth graders to its roster this fall, students that until this year would have stayed in the middle school building.

And about 15 more of last year's seventh graders will start eighth grade with their classmates.

For the first time in Cass City Middle School principal Donald Schelke's memory, summer school gave some 30 Cass City Middle School students a second chance to be promoted to the eighth and ninth grades.

"We were able to go back and get them up to speed on what they missed," Schelke said.

For 3 weeks, students spent 3 hours Monday through Thursday mornings catching up on math and language arts skills with teachers Laura Schinnerer and Stacey McCreedy.

"Most of the credit for the success of the program should go to the teachers," Schelke offered. "They were wonderful."

Their experience as special education teachers gave them the skills needed to teach each student individually — none of the participants were special education students however.

One student might have been working on fifth grade level math problems, while his neighbor learned seventh grade math skills, Schelke explained. This allowed students not accustomed to succeeding in school the chance to master their schoolwork and earn A's and B's.

"We brought the level of instruction to their needs," Schelke remarked. "Their self-esteem were real high."

Students qualified for the program if they failed 2 or more of 4 core classes — math, language arts, social studies and natural sciences.

Although students may have been held back for social reasons, "we were able to provide the opportunity for those that wanted to take

M-53 road repair to end Aug. 25

With M-53 construction proceeding according to schedule, a summer-long detour through Cass City is scheduled to be lifted Aug. 25.

And although the road surface is smooth, drivers are being advised to stay off M-53 between M-81 and Deckerville Road for safety reasons, said Michael Hemmingsen, resident engineer for the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The shoulders are still rough and the center dividing line has not been painted.

In addition, the top course — or final layer of asphalt — needs to be applied between M-81 and Severance Road. This section of road was widened from 24 to 30 feet.

The road shoulders also must be graded and covered with gravel.

Traffic continues to be detoured down Cemetery Road.

Construction workers from the Saginaw Asphalt Paving Co. spent most of last week working on other area projects. As primary contractors on the project, they were scheduled to return to the M-53 project Tuesday, Hemmingsen said.

The summer's sometimes extreme weather conditions have not significantly altered project plans, he said.

The construction continues to stay within its $1,353,311.10 price tag.

A FINAL LAYER OF ASPHALT has yet to be added to M-53 between M-81 and Severance Road, but a look at the pavement Thursday showed it to be mostly smooth. After roughly a week away from the project, construction workers were to return Aug. 1.

If you don't know a homonym from a synagogue, you may not know what a palindrome is.

I'm not sure why, but some people put a lot of time and effort into making up phrases or sentences that read the same backwards and forwards. You may have heard some of the better known, such as "Able was I ere I saw Elba", or "Madam, I'm Adam." Those are palindromes.

Jon Agee is apparently a hopeless palindromatic. He spent a whole year working on them, and has written 2 children's palindrome books. His latest, "So Many Dynamos", even has a palindromic price, 12.21. His creations are accompanied by drawings depicting whatever sense can be made of a palindrome. One shows a confused gunman wondering "borrow or rob?"

Another is a drawing of a man with a shovel standing in a large hole. His palindrome is "won't I panic in a pit now?"

The title of his first book of palindromes is "go hang a salami! I'm a lasagna hog." I was going to try to come up with a clever palindrome to the effect that Mr. Agee just has too much time on his hands, but discovered that

Rabbit Tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help.)

Doris Mester found 1946 copies of area daily papers recently and brought them to the Chronicle. They were probably of special interest because they announced that 11 top Nazis had been hanged.

Interesting to note was a story about lifting of meat price controls. Prices shot up about 60 percent for hogs to $27 per hundredweight and 20 percent for cattle to $28, although there were few steers on the market.

Unemployment rates increased slightly in area counties in June, the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported. For the Saginaw-Bay-Midland area the average was 6.6 percent.

The Upper Thumb counties didn't fare quite as well. The figures are: Tuscola, 7.9 percent, and Huron and Sanilac counties, 8.7 percent.

The detour on M-53 is not complete. Sunday we drove along it to try and see what progress was being made. There is asphalt over 4 miles of the 6-mile stretch. However, it appears that another coat will be necessary as all along the highway surveyor disks protrude from the roadway.

Construction was halted last week and an unconfirmed report was that construction was to begin again Tuesday.

Here's a little trivia item from the "Michigan Trivia" book. Take a guess. What was the first carbonated soft drink and when was it produced?

No, it wasn't Coca-Cola. It was ginger ale introduced in 1866 by a Detroit pharmacist, James Vernor.

What's more, we know several people who lived in Michigan, moved out of state and make a point of picking some up when they return for a visit.

McDonald's construction set

Construction of a McDonald's restaurant in Cass City will get underway this fall following recent approval of a zoning permit and site plan.

Construction of the restaurant, to be located on a 2.4-acre site at the southeast quadrant of M-81 and Doerr Road (next to the Walbro Corp. Machine Tool Center), is set to begin in October. Officials expect to open in January 1996.

Clean Sweep big success

Michigan's successful "Michigan Clean Sweep" program has collected and disposed of nearly 200 tons of unusable or unwanted pesticides since the program began 5 years ago. The program, run by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, helps farmers safely dispose of crop protection chemicals and has served as a model for other states.

The building will total nearly 3,000 square feet, with another 1,432 feet set aside for a McDonald's "PlayPlace." Cost of the building and site are estimated at $640,000.

The restaurant will seat 55 to 60 people and employ 60 to 70 full- and part-time workers.

The Cass City store will be among more than 15,000 McDonald's restaurants worldwide, including 450 in Michigan. McDonald's officials claim a growth rate of one new restaurant built every 7 hours, or 3 per day.

The Haire Net

Considering the health precautions not taken over the years, it's a wonder that most senior citizens haven't left this vale of tears long ago.

Like most members of my generation, there has been at best little thought given to the myriad requirements necessary for a supposedly long, healthy life. Ignored because of lack of will power (nothing is better than a good, medium rare prime steak) or just plain ignorance.

It was almost a ritual each spring to strip to the waist and get broiled in the sun and only my inability to lie down on the beach and do nothing kept me from becoming another baked beach bunny.

When I was a kid, the amount eaten wasn't much of an issue. But leaving any scrap on the plate was a real no-no. Just about any older can recall hearing about all the hungry people in the world when they tried to slip away without a clean plate.

Growing up, there was the smallpox vaccine and little else. It was a wonder we survived because no other immunization was available, leaving us susceptible to diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, haemophilus B, polio, measles, mumps, rubella, hepatitis B, flu and pneumonia.

Another health hazard ignored was mosquitoes. The pesky critters were annoying and in some folks raised welts. Uncomfortable, but for most no real problem. Now in Michigan they have become feared carriers of Lyme disease and sleeping sickness.

Health officials warn against nature jaunts unless garbed head to foot in protective clothing, wearing a big wide-brimmed hat while avoiding the sun at all costs.

There's no doubt that the standard immunizations required today of all kids before entering school are beneficial.

What bugs us is the change in health fads. Vitamins have slipped in and out of popularity. Cholesterol has been an indicator of heart trouble, then a non-indicator and now an indicator again.

Certain foods have been placed on the health danger list, taken off the list and then replaced.

Reading stories about long-lived people and personal observation of folks who have aged slowly leads to my own strictly unscientific opinion that the way for a long, healthy life is moderation. Sort of going with the flow and not worrying too much about tomorrow.

Folks who do that and pick parents and grandparents who lived to a ripe old age are the ones that are still around after the rest are long gone.

No matter how many shots we get along the way.

Joy of children worth any risk

By Jim Fitzgerald

The mid-afternoon phone call was from my daughter Ferd next door. She said Adam and Gracie, who were supposed to be playing in the backyard, were instead missing in action. Were they by any chance bugging me while I was trying to work?

No. But they often do, usually noisily, but sometimes sneakily.

Gracie is my 3-year-old great-granddaughter. When she chooses to, Gracie can move about in astonishing silence. One morning her mother yelled down the stairs to my basement office, looking for Gracie. I said I hadn't seen her.

But a few minutes later, I happened to look down from my computer screen, and there was Gracie, sitting on the floor under my desk, smiling slyly. She'd apparently been there at least 10 minutes, silently enjoying her triumph over a grown-up's awareness.

Recalling that successful stealth, I decided to make sure I was right in telling Ferd the two kids weren't at my house. I searched every room. No sign of them.

By this time, as I saw through the windows, two mothers, one grandmother, one aunt and two older siblings were searching the neighborhood, including a nearby park and wooded area. It wasn't an unusual occurrence, because of Adam.

LEADER OF THE PACK

Adam is my 4-year-old grandson and the leader of a gang of wild marauders whose only member is Gracie. Adam is preoccupied with disappearing. He has subsequently been found in such disparate locations as a church to which his family does not belong, a school in which he is not enrolled, and homes to which he gained entrance by knocking on doors opened by people who never saw him before.

Following his rescues, Adam is always sternly banished to his bedroom to reform. He always promises to never do it again. He always does it again. Why?

Adam's latest answer was reminiscent of former TV comedian Flip Wilson, who said the devil made him do it.

"I don't want to, but my heart makes me do it," Adam explained.

On this particular afternoon, the rescue was more gratifying — and heart-stopping — than usual. I'd searched my house, but not the attached garage. Gracie's mother was more thorough. She discovered the two kids had locked themselves inside my car, and they didn't know how to unlock it.

All the doors were closed and it was hot inside the garage. Naturally, I thought about the many children who every summer, left alone by ignorant adults, suffocate inside locked cars. Adam and Gracie were sweating, but otherwise fine. But what if... I don't want to think about it.

MAKING IT ALL WORTHWHILE

Adam, as honest as he is housebound, told his mother that Grandpa locked him and Gracie inside the car. When I asked him why he fibbed, he said it was that darned heart again.

Sometimes I wonder why most people want to be parents and grandparents. The inevitable little problems can be handled. But there is always the certain knowledge that some lost children are lost forever, and some families are devastated forever.

Why risk such ultimate despair?

For lucky me, an answer to that question is always handy. The latest answer is Lainie, my 1-year-old, curly-haired granddaughter. Validating the cliché, Lainie literally takes my breath away. Every day, when we first see each other, she laughs with her mouth and eyes, and she lunges to get into my arms.

Lainie will stay in my hug for only a few seconds before squirming to the floor, but it's plenty long enough to be reminded that such joy is worth any risk.

Barcia to participate in TATV groundbreaking

Robert Townsend, Director of Regional Educational Media Center #10, Cass City, says Congressman James Barcia will participate in the Thumb area television groundbreaking, Aug. 21, at 10:30 a.m. at the transmission tower site off Schell Road behind the Walbro manufacturing plant.

The groundbreaking symbolizes the end of years of planning and the highly visible construction of a 460-foot transmission tower for Thumb Area Television (TATV). TATV is the broadcasting service of REMC in Cass City and serving all schools within Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola Intermediate School District areas. TATV expects to be broadcasting by November.

Congressman Barcia assisted REMC Director Townsend in obtaining a federal grant which pays for a portion of the project. Funds from the area, including ISD's, participating local schools, companies and foundations make up two-thirds of the project cost.

TATV will broadcast 2 channels of distance learning opportunities for K-12 students, teachers and administrators within our schools. The system will also be available in up to 20,000 homes courtesy of the 5 cable companies which are providing "last mile" distribution for TATV. Those cooperating cable companies include Harron, CableVision, Falcon Telecable, Cable Properties and C-TEC Cable.

IT SEEMS LIKE SOME BANKS TAKE LONGER TO APPROVE YOU THAN YOUR IN-LAWS.

You know how it is. You do everything you can to prove you're trustworthy. But they always keep you feeling like you should be doing a lot more than you are.

At Farm Credit Services, we're eager to loan you money for a new home building site or other property. So we won't keep you waiting for approval. Our Express Loan process is so fast we can give you a decision within hours, instead of days, like most banks.

Unlike some banks, we'll finance up to 85 percent of the value of the property. Our rates are very competitive, too. So if you'd like a quote on financing a new homesite, give us a call. Unlike your in-laws, we're always happy to hear from you.

Thumb National

Local bank joins FHLBI

Thumb National Bank and Trust Company of Pigeon has joined the Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis (FHLBI). Thumb National has a total of 3 offices in Pigeon and the surrounding area, including one in Cass City.

As a member, Thumb National will be able to borrow funds from the FHLBI to use in its home mortgage lending programs. The bank also is eligible to participate in the FHLBI's affordable housing and community investment programs which support low-income housing construction and rehabilitation, and economic development.

Thumb National had $98.8 million in assets as of Dec.

31, 1994. It holds approximately 17 percent of its assets in residential mortgage loans and mortgage-backed securities.

The FHLBI is part of the Federal Loan Bank System, a national wholesale banking network of 12 regional, shareholder-owned banks. All commercial banks and credit unions active in home mortgage lending and all thrift institutions in Indiana and Michigan are eligible to join the FHLBI. With more than $14 billion in assets as of June 30, 1995, it provides wholesale mortgage funds to make home mortgages affordable and available to all Americans by working through its member financial institutions. It also provides correspondent banking services. Since 1932, it has continued its role of Helping House America.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for the defendant, who was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's department. Sentencing is to be scheduled.

Sticken closes out 35-year career at Hills and Dales

There isn't a square inch of Hills and Dales General Hospital that Janet Sticken isn't familiar with.

And for good reason; she was on staff when the first baby was delivered at the hospital. She worked under the first administrator and board of directors, and in the 35 years since the doors opened, has served the hospital in a host of capacities ranging from registered nurse to assistant administrator.

About the only place she hasn't worked is the operating room, but she's had a lot to do with ensuring patients and staff alike are protected from infection.

Last week, Sticken ended her lengthy tenure, retiring with plans to spend more time with husband Arnie — also a former longtime Hills and Dales employee who retired 5 years ago — as well as granddaughter Rachel Brief, 8.

"I was here the night they opened. They opened with a day shift and I was here as night supervisor," Sticken recalled Thursday, her last day on the job.

Sticken's nursing career has spanned 40 years, with the first year spent at Saginaw General Hospital, followed by 4 years at Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe.

She began her career at

Kratz certified advisor

James Kratz of Caro was recently certified by the Michigan Certified Crop Advisor Program.

The Certified Crop Advisor (CCA) Program is designed to establish base standards of knowledge for individuals who advise growers on crop management and production inputs.

To achieve certification, individuals must pass both the state and the national CCA exams and must have at least 2 years of crop advising experience and a Bachelor of Science Degree in agriculture or have a minimum 4 years of crop advising experience. The certification program is intended for everyone who makes nutrient, pesticide, crop or environmental recommendations to producers.

James Kratz is one of over 75 Certified Crop Advisors in Michigan and one of over 1,000 Certified Crop Advisors nationwide.

Kratz is employed as a Soil Conservation Technician with the Tuscola Soil Conservation District in Caro.

Hills and Dales as a nurse, but over the years has taken on a variety of other positions. Her titles have included night and day shift supervisor, in-service director, assistant director of nursing, interim nursing director, infection control coordinator, director of medical services, assistant hospital administrator, and quality assurance director.

At one time, she served as both assistant hospital administrator and director of medical services, which encompasses medical records, utilization review, infection control and patient representative.

But in recent years she has scaled back her responsibilities to infection control coordinator and patient representative, duties she takes much pride in doing and doing well.

"I'm a perfectionist and I demand perfection," she said, "so I'm as hard on myself as I am on everybody else."

The result, she added, has been an ability to keep up on the latest medical standards and practices. "We've always been ahead of the game."

In her role as patient representative, Sticken served as liaison between patients and the hospital, answering patients questions and dealing with complaints — in short, helping people work their way through the hospital maze.

NETWORKING

Throughout the years, Sticken, the only patient representative serving a Thumb hospital, has made good use of networking in her field.

She has been active in both state and national patient representative societies, and is a past secretary of the state organization.

Your neighbor says

Supporting local stores important

Elfrieda Guinther was on her way into Coach Light Pharmacy when she said she does as much shopping as possible in Cass City.

She and her husband William buy groceries, clothing and flowers in the village, but they go out of town when they can't find what they're looking for.

Although she shops at large chain stores when she needs to, Elfrieda doesn't approve of businesses such as Walmart that she said come in and take business away from smaller local stores.

After 49 years of marriage and residence in Cass City, the Guinthers know many local business owners. Elfrieda said she feels she's supporting the village by keeping most of her business in town.

Elfrieda did not know how Cass City's business district could be strengthened, but residents and business owners will be able to give their views on the subject at a "Town Hall" meeting scheduled for Aug. 14.

The Guinthers raised 2 sons and a daughter in their home on Doerr Road.

Thank You for your patience during our remodeling. Please continue to patronize us during this project.

Letters to the editor

Helped avoid waste

"No" voters were well informed on school vote

Letter to Editor

I would like to respond to your Haire Net article last week in the Chronicle. I must disagree with the statement you made saying, "Many taxpayers can't or won't differentiate between operating funds and capital improvement funds." In view of the last three millage proposals, how can you possibly come to that conclusion, John? As I recall, the first two proposals were for "capital improvements" and they were soundly defeated. Obviously the majority of voters felt our need for capital improvements were not quite as great as those improvements which were offered to us. Then we had a third election which was for operating funds and guess what? Our well-informed voters of Cass City, knowing full well the need for these operating funds did, in fact, pass this millage. Once again, I see this as your liberal way of explaining away people that don't agree with you by assuming that they are uninformed and just don't understand the issues.

You cannot compare Cass City's ability to fund a new facility with that of Caro, Bad Axe, Sebawaing or Sandusky since we do not have the same tax base that these larger cities enjoy. I'd like to think that our conservative community has been a leader among our neighboring communities by the way we've chosen to spend our limited resources.

And John, by the school board's own admission, the new proposal will save our district approximately six million dollars over the original plan. Had we followed your advice and the demands of the over-anxious members of this community, we would have wasted in excess of six million dollars! Now I think that is a substantial savings and certainly worth waiting for. Don't you? It's certainly a step in the right direction. Ultimately it would seem as if the no voters were very well informed forcing the school board to come up with a better idea, "setting the pace" and not just "keeping up with the Joneses."

Sincerely,
Sandy Papovich

Publisher's note: The writer failed to get the facts. Five area schools have new school buildings. Four of the 5 have smaller evaluations than Cass City's. Cass City's 1994 valuation is $127,225,448. Vassar is at $110 million, Caro is $143,650,111, Sandusky about $10.5 million and Bad Axe $115.5 million.

The operation tax was approved easily because it cost home owners and farmers nothing more than 6 mills already approved. Essentially the vote made it possible to tax business and industry at 18 mills.

Many helped make '95 fest a success

Cass City has done it again! It has been exactly one month since our annual festival ended. Each year, we hope to exceed the previous year in events, attendance and excitement. Judging from records and the fact that we still are getting compliments, this year's Fourth of July weekend was another "great."

Help us to credit the festival's success this year to the cooperation of businesses, residents, volunteers and everyone who, in any way, supported and participated in our village's largest annual event. Without such spirit, Cass City could not have offered such a memorable festival.

Everyone who helped in any way also deserves a big

Thank You! The '95 festival is just one more way we all can brag about our exceptional villagers and community.

Gratefully,

Duke, Jim, Jane
and the '95 Committee

Pre-Teen Michigan will award over $5,000 in educational bonds, prizes and awards.

Sponsoring Jessica are All Seasons Rent-All, Cass City Floral, Cass City Tire, Kelly and Company, Hair Benders and Sally Doerr Dance Studio.

Church organ in tour spotlight

Cass City's First Presbyterian Church and its historical Henry Erben Tracker Organ will be the focal point at 2 recitals Aug. 9, attended by more than 200 persons from a national convention of the Organ Historical Society meeting in Ann Arbor.

The group will make Cass City an important stop that day in a Thumb bus caravan that will also include visits to Lapeer, Sandusky and Marine City. During the group's Aug. 6-12 convention, attendees will hear recitals performed on 35 historical organs throughout the state.

The 2 recitals at the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City will be at 1:30 p.m. and approximately 3:15 p.m. The general public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Playing the organ will be Thomas Brown, organist at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Litchfield, Conn. He is no stranger to Cass City, having played this organ at several Bach Festivals held at the church.

Because neither church is large enough to accommodate all of the visitors at one time, the 2 groups will then switch locations to hear second recitals at approximately 3:15 p.m. The day's last stop will be in Marine City.

The Henry Erben Tracker Organ at the Cass City Presbyterian Church was built in 1865 and was purchased by the Cass City congregation in the early 1900s from the First Presbyterian Church of Pontiac.

It was restored in 1978 by organ builder, Dana Hull of Ann Arbor, who is helping to plan the society's national convention. She made arrangements for the visit here and will be present at one of the recitals.

Henry Erben, who lived 1800-1884, was an important organ builder of his time. He did much of his work in the East and was described as "the standard by which New York organ builders measured themselves and each other." Of the approximately 800 Erben organs built, only 65 still exist. The Erben organ in Cass City is the last of 11 in Michigan to survive.

A tracker organ is so named because of its direct mechanical connection between the keys and valves under the pipes. The organ here has been a key part of the church's strong music program. Dr. Eric P. Nisula, professor of music at Saginaw Valley State University, is organist and choir director. One member of the Historical Society has called the organ "one of the finest period instruments in our state." The Society's Historic Organs Committee presented a plaque in November 1978 recognizing this organ as an historical instrument.

The Rev. David A. Smith, pastor of the church, will greet attendees and extend the congregation's warm welcome. The church is located one block north of the village's traffic light.

Trio charged in motorcycle theft

A trio of Millington men were recently arraigned in Tuscola County District Court on charges stemming from the alleged theft of a motorcycle June 23 in Vassar Township.

David J. Brannam, 18, Justin J. White, 19, and Michael G. Knapp, 20, each faces charges of unlawfully driving away an automobile, conspiracy to unlawfully drive away an automobile, and possession of stolen property valued at more than $100.

Bond for each defendant was set at $2,500. Preliminary examinations were scheduled for 9 a.m. Friday.

In other recent felony arraignments: *Derek M. Theaker, 17, Caro, was charged with 2 counts of breaking and entering a tent camper July 12 in Caro and 2 charges of larceny of property valued at less than $100 (fire extinguisher and sleeping bag).

Bond was set at $1,000 and a preliminary exam was slated for Friday morning.

*Bradley S. Plowman, 30, Caro, was arraigned on charges of uttering and publishing allegedly involving a $196.92 check drawn on First National Bank and making false certification to an application for a Michigan driver's license May 21 in Indianfields Township.

Plowman, whose bond was set at $5,000, faces a preliminary exam Friday morning.

*Inmate James C. Satek, 52, faces one count of being a prisoner in possession of a weapon (knife) July 23 in Indianfields Township.

Bond was set at $5,000 and a preliminary exam was scheduled for 9 a.m. Aug. 11.

Vandals hit golf course

Vandals struck at the Northwood Shores Golf Course in Cass City for the second time last week.

Officials at the golf course reported July 25 that the steering column cover on a golf cart had been damaged. Police indicated it appears the culprit(s) were attempting to steal the cart. No damage estimate was available.

Golf course officials had earlier reported one golf cart missing and another damaged July 17, 18 or 19.

The incidents remain under investigation.

Also last week, Russell Bradley of Cass City reported his son's bicycle was stolen while parked at the village pool Friday afternoon. The bike, valued at $50, is a 24-inch boy's model, silver in color.

Arrest driver

Cass City police reported making one traffic-related arrest last week.

According to reports, a vehicle driven by Judy M. Jacques, Caro, was stopped for speeding on Seeger Street near Garfield Street at about 3:40 p.m. July 24, and Jacques was arrested for driving while her license was suspended.

Burnette benefit very successful

Dave, and Caren found it easy to take the needed time off work from Walbro, according to Nicol.

"No matter where any of us go, there's someone asking how he's doing," she added.

Severance said Erla's Food Center supplied some of the food for the event free of charge and allowed church members to store food at the store. The Colony House provided paper products and allowed food to be prepared in its licensed kitchen. The event organizers never asked that supplies be donated.

Although the church has held fund raisers before, Severance said they never have been so successful.

The idea to sponsor a fund raiser came just over a week before the actual event at the end of a weekend camping trip.

Severance said church members were quick to volunteer time and ideas. Dave's family was contacted, fliers were printed and health regulations were checked.

Roughly 19 women gathered to prepare salads in the Colony House kitchen the day before the event.

As for Dave's immediate future, Nicol said he's expected to move from the intensive care unit to a progressive care unit. From there, he's expected to start rehabilitation — possibly in Ann Arbor.

He's even growing a mustache for the first time in his life.

FOR A DONATION, family, friends and neighbors took home a plate of homemade cookies from the fund raiser that brought more than $5,000 in donations to Dave Burnette and his family. Helen Copeland and Virginia Heronemus stayed busy filling people's orders.

Class aids 30 at risk pupils

advantage of it," Schelke said.

And they all did well enough to advance to the next grade — only a few students still need to make up summer school classes they missed because of vacation.

The Cass City Board of Education provides for the establishment of a summer school program to teach students skills they did not master during the regular school year, but lack of money has prevented the schools from running one.

So, when the Michigan Department of Education allocated money to the district designated to help "at-risk" students, plans for summer school could be realized. Local taxes were not used to finance the program.

The "at-risk" money has also been used for tutoring and the purchase of computer equipment, Schelke said.

As for the future of the summer school program, Schelke said he expects the funding to continue into the next few years.

He said he would like to expand the program to include more hours of classroom time or to last 4 or 5 weeks. Another possibility is to teach social studies and natural sciences.

Walbro adds Dyno's business

Walbro Automotive Corporation, a leading designer and manufacturer of automotive fuel system products, announced recently that it has completed the acquisition of the fuel systems business of Dyno Industrier AS, Oslo, Norway.

Dyno's fuel systems business supplies plastic fuel tanks to most European vehicle manufacturers through production facilities in Gent, Belgium; Cergy, France; Ettlingen, Germany; Kongsvinger, Norway; Pamplona, Spain, and Deeside, Wales. Dyno's fuel systems sales approximated US $147 million in 1994.

The price of the acquisition of Dyno's fuel systems business was approximately US $124 million, according to L.E. Althaver, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Walbro Corporation.

Walbro Automotive's parent corporation, Walbro Corporation, financed the acquisition through the combination of a private placement of $110 million in 10-year senior notes and a new $135 million credit facility with a group of commercial banks.

"This acquisition will position Walbro as a major factor in the European fuel system supply base," Gary L. Vollmar, president, Walbro Automotive said.

"The acquisition of Dyno's plastic fuel tank operations is an important part of Walbro's strategy to offer complete fuel storage and delivery systems to automakers around the world," Vollmar explained. "We have significantly expanded our fuel storage and delivery systems capabilities in North America with the addition of plastic fuel tank manufacturing, and this strategy is now being extended into Europe."

"The acquisition of Dyno's fuel tank plants logically complements Marwal Systems, S.A., our European joint venture with Magneti Marelli," Vollmar noted. "Marwal Systems is a supplier of fuel pumps, fuel modules and fuel level sensors that are part of the fuel tank assembly. These components can now be combined with the tank and a complete fuel storage and delivery system can then be shipped to a customer from one of 6 tank plants in Europe."

"We are especially pleased to acquire an organization as efficient and well-respected as Dyno's fuel systems business," Vollmar said. "These facilities have won many quality awards from their customers, including General Motors 'Supplier of the Year' for 4 years running, an exceptional performance."

"We plan to retain Dyno fuel systems business employees after the acquisition, to provide continuity for customers and to maintain Dyno's manufacturing expertise," Vollmar said. "The organization will be known as Dyno/Walbro Automotive."

"We plan to quickly build on Dyno/Walbro Automotive's strengths, with expanded production capacity and added technical capabilities. In addition, we will introduce our multi-layer plastic tank technology in Europe through Dyno/Walbro Automotive. A new European systems center that will pull together the expertise of Dyno/Walbro Automotive and Marwal Systems is on the drawing board as well," Vollmar noted.

FAITH LAPONSIE was one of nearly 750 people who helped themselves to salads, chips, hot dogs and cookies while helping Dave Burnette in his recovery.

7 vying for Huron Bean Queen crown

Seven contestants were interviewed recently in Bad Axe to decide who would become this year's Huron County Bean Queen. For the next year, the winner will participate in various events and parades. She will also represent Huron County at the State Bean Queen Contest in Fairgrove on Labor Day.

Amanda Roggenbuck, 1994 Huron County Bean Queen, was present at the judging to share her experiences as queen with the contestants and the Huron County Bean Growers Board. The Bean Growers Board sponsors the local contest with the support of the elevators of Huron County.

Contestants for this year are: Tracy Smithers, Elkton, daughter of Orville and Karen Smithers (no sponsor); Renee Pionk, Ubyly, daughter of Roman and the late Marie Pionk, sponsored by Wruble Elevator, Ubyly; Melanie Jimkoski, Kinde, daughter of John and Alberta Jimkoski, sponsored by Co-operative Elevator Company; Racheal Braun, Port Hope, daughter of Steve and Marilyn Braun (no sponsor); Amber Schelke, Harbor Beach, daughter of David and Irene Schelke, sponsored by Thumb Farm Service; Jodi Wolschleger, Harbor Beach, daughter of Gary and Joann Wolschleger, sponsored by Wruble Elevator, Harbor Beach, and Jennifer Gottschalk, Filion, daughter of Fred and Debra Gottschalk, sponsored by Farmer's Cooperative Grain Company.

Crowning of the 1995 queen will take place during Fair Week in the arena of the Huron Expo Center Monday, Aug. 7, following the 4-H Talent Show and 4-H King and Queen crowning, which begin at 7:30 p.m.

Admission is free and everyone is invited to come see who will represent Huron County and its bean industry during 1995.

2 die in county traffic accidents

Traffic accidents claimed 2 lives in Tuscola County last week.

An Ohio man was killed and a Florida couple injured in a 2-vehicle crash last Wednesday in Juniata Township.

According to Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies, Richard F. Sotomayor, 31, Cleveland, Ohio, was driving west on Dixon Road at about 9:45 p.m. when he failed to yield at Higgins Road and was struck broadside by a northbound vehicle.

The driver of the other vehicle was identified as Clifford R. Carmer, 59, of Citra, Fla.

Sotomayor was transported by Fairgrove Ambulance to Caro Community Hospital. He died as a result of injuries suffered in the crash.

Carmer was taken by FlightCare Helicopter to St. Mary's Medical Center, where he remains listed in critical condition. Also injured was Carmer's passenger, Shirley R. Carmer, 55, who was taken to St. Luke's Hospital by Mobile Medical Response. She was admitted for treatment and later discharged.

Deputies were assisted at the scene by the Fairgrove fire fighters, who used the

Readers to be feted at carnival

A carnival is slated for Thursday, Aug. 3, at 1 p.m. at the Cass City Recreational Park for those children who participated in the summer reading program, "Books Under the Big Top," at Rawson Memorial Library.

There will be clowns, games and prizes. Hot dogs, chips and drinks will be served. Certificates will be awarded to those who completed the program.

All children enrolled in the program are invited to attend.

Jaws of Life to extricate the Carmer from their vehicle.

Investigators said Sotomayor was not wearing a seat belt. Both Clifford and Shirley Carmer were wearing seat belts.

Earlier in the week, a Vassar girl died in another 2-vehicle accident about 4 miles west of Fairgrove July 24.

Troopers at the Michigan State Police post in Caro reported Frederick Kausch, 56, of Owendale, was driving south on M-138 at about 5 p.m. when he failed to stop at the Bradleyville Road intersection. Troopers said a westbound pickup truck, driven by Ruth Ann Fackler, 32, of Vassar, struck Kausch's milk tanker truck.

Fackler's daughter, Sabrina, 9, was pronounced dead at the scene. Fackler, who suffered multiple injuries, was transported to Bay Medical Center, Bay City, where she remains listed in critical condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Also injured were Kausch and his 2 passengers, Bryan Baker, 18, and Amanda Sheufelt, 17, both of Owendale. All 3 were also transported to Bay Medical Center. Baker and Sheufelt were treated and released, and Kausch was admitted and discharged a day later.

Investigators said Fackler and her daughter were both wearing seat belts. Kausch and his passengers were not. Troopers have forwarded a report on the accident to the Tuscola County Prosecutor's Office for review.
