WAYNE-WESTLAND teachers have received almost $30,000 in grant money from the school district for in-service training this year, according to a report compiled by the administration.

Teachers use the grants for workshops ranging from tools for improving reading and writing skills to programs on substance abuse education.

The grants are awarded by a district committee comprised of teachers and administrators. Funds come from the state.

The 1989-90 district awarded 47 mini-grants ($500 maximum) and 11 maxi-grants (maximum $2,000) for a total of $25,237.

EDNA ADAMS of Westland was one of 30 senior citizens in metropolitan Detroit nominated for a 1989 Concerned Citizens Award.

The award, sponsored by Citizens Insurance Co., is given annually to recognize seniors who have made outstanding contributions to their community.

Ms. Adams' other classes this spring will cover on all subjects paid for by two agencies in the United States.

THE WESTLAND Democratic Club will hold a "Victory '90 Rally" 7 p.m. to midnight Saturday, March 31, at the Wayne Ford Civic League.

Guests of honor will include Gov. James Blanchard, U.S. Sen. Carl Levin, U.S. Rep. William Ford, state Sen. William Faust, state Reps. Justine Burns and Bill Keith and Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard.

There will be refreshments and dancing. There is an admission charge.

For information call Homer Eldred, 722-7113.

SPRING-LIKE weather is here and that means tee-times are being set at golf courses all across western Wayne County.

With that in mind, the Westland Chamber of Commerce is taking reservations for its 19th annual golf outing, June 20 at the Fox Hills Country Club, Plymouth.

The outing features 18 holes of golf with cart, lunch, a buffet dinner and prizes.

Cost is $65 for the day and $17 for additional dinner guests.

The first 75 people to reserve spots will receive free golf tees.

To make a reservation or for information call the Chamber office, 526-7911.

U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Westland, is scheduled this morning to visit the Westland area.

Mr. Ford will be accompanied by Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard, Westland Mayor William Faust and Westland Council members.

Serious crime drops; more manpower cited

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

Major crimes in Westland declined 3.8 percent in 1989, the second straight year the rate has fallen. The drop follows a 12 percent decrease for 1988.

Westland police Inspector Michael Frayer attributed the decline to "a combination of factors," including increased police manpower and targeting high-crime neighborhoods throughout the city for special attention.

The 1989 figures, compiled by the Michigan State Police and released by Westland police last week, showed a decrease in the number of major crimes from 4,576 in 1988 to 4,401 last year.

That figure is down from 5,124 in 1987. Crime categories showing decreases in 1989 were robbery, down 48 percent; burglary, 14 percent; and lar-cy, 1 percent. Motor vehicle thefts remained almost the same.

"WE'RE BEGINNING to bring our manpower back up to where it should be and I think that's made a difference," Frayer said Thursday.

He said a concentrated police effort in several neighborhoods since last summer and deployment of the department's mobile crime unit to the downtown shopping district during the winter holidays has also helped.

Frayer said he hopes to see similar reductions in 1990 with a concentrated, high-profile effort that began March 1 in the city's southeast neighborhoods. Those areas border on a portion of the city of Inkster where the drug trade has been running rampant, Frayer said.

The Inkster police department and the Wayne County Sheriff's department are part of the joint effort, Frayer said.

City starts census alert

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

As 1990 census forms hit their mailboxes this week, Westland residents will find reminders all over town.

The city has launched a massive information campaign to persuade residents on the importance of completing and returning the forms by the April 1 deadline. Mediums for that message range from cable television public service announcements to placemats at local restaurants.

The campaign is a joint effort by several city departments and the Economic Development Advisory Commission.

"This is going to impact in particular our economic growth. That's why this group is involved," said Joseph Benyo, EDAC chairman. "The idea is to get the message across in as many ways as possible."

Because federal funds for communities are based on census population figures, Westland could gain as

Michael Kmet scholarship winner

Student recipe cooks up scholarship

Michael Kmet, a senior at the Ford Vocational/Technical Center, has cooked up a $1,000-a-year scholarship to a nationally known culinary arts college in Providence, R.I.

Kmet won the scholarship based on his recipe for a Julienne stuffed chicken, with a rice medley and pineapple garnish, in a national competition.

The senior in the Wayne-Westland school district's center was named the top Michigan entrant in the Johnson and Wales University national high school recipe contest.

MORE THAN 500 entries were

Wayne-Westland schools

received, according to college officials.

The scholarship is renewable for up to four years if the student maintains a grade point average of 2.75 or higher.

The university bill itself as one of the country's leading food service educators.

The school sponsors the recipe contest every year for high school seniors planning on a food service career.

IN HIS application for the scholarship competition, Kmet said he hopes to eventually become a chef and start his own business.

In putting together his recipe, a 6-ounce boneless chicken breast was the main ingredient for his entry, Kmet said.

The cost of all the ingredients was $6.64 for four servings, he said.

Color photos of the stuffed chicken's interior and the completed dish with the rice and garnish accompanied Kmet's winning entry.

KMET IS the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kmet of Inkster. His teacher at the Ford center is Jon Gary.

The Ford Vocational/Technical Center has a comprehensive culinary arts department, with students preparing lunches and dinners for the Marquette Room, a dining room in the center that is open to the public, a school spokesman said.

Health-O-Rama offers free tests

A series of free health tests and screenings will be held today through Thursday for local residents at Westland Center when the annual Health-O-Rama opens for business 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The program will also offer information and free testing to screen vision and detect glaucoma, measure hearing, check blood pressure, obtain pap smears, and measure height, weight and body proportion. Several tests carry a fee.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, hygienists will perform oral-dental screening.

Participants can obtain a colon rectal cancer screening home test kit for $3 and have a blood test to measure 21 different levels, including blood sugar and cholesterol.

tion, and the like are available. Testing is open to anyone 18 years of age or older.

In conjunction with the testing, Health-O-Rama will include educational exhibits by a number of area health organizations.

The Detroit Occupational Therapy Association, the Rehabilitation Institute, and the Infant Health Promotion Coalition, as well as the Cataract and Eye Care Institute, the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, the Michigan State Police Traffic Service, Taylor Ambulance, and Family Services of Detroit and Wayne County will have representatives available to distribute information and answer health and safety questions.

The project is co-sponsored by WXYZ-TV Channel 7, Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Michigan, and the United Way for Southeastern Michigan, and is a program of the United Health Organization's Project Health-O-Rama. Volunteer health testing support is being provided by Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

cop calls

A RESIDENT on the 2000 block of Dryden reported that her ex-boyfriend fired a shot at her during an altercation at her home early Wednesday.

The woman wasn't injured, police said.

The woman, 25, told police she wouldn't let her former boyfriend, a 32-year-old Canton Township man, into the house when he showed up at 2:45 a.m.

He broke out a small window in the front of the house and put what looked like a "black club" through the opening, the woman told police.

The woman said a few seconds later she heard the gun fire and a bullet lodged in her ceiling.

The woman's mother, who lives nextdoor, heard the commotion and called the police.

A witness told police she saw a man carrying a long gun, running through neighborhood backyards shortly after the incident.

A HOMEOWNER on the 32500 block of Mason told police someone broke into his house Tuesday and stole stereo components valued at $1,525 and a glass jar containing $50 in coins.

The break-in occurred between 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 p.m. while nobody was home, the man said.

Police said there was no sign of forced entry to the house.

A HOME on the 4700 block of Julius was broken into early last week, police said.

A relative of the homeowner told police the break-in occurred between Sunday and Tuesday. When he checked on the home at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday he found a back window shattered and the home ransacked, the relative told police.

The relative said he was unsure if anything was stolen during the break-in.

POLICE reported finding a small plastic bag containing suspected crack cocaine in the back of a patrol car Tuesday morning.

The bag, uncovered by an officer underneath a rear seat cushion, was turned over to the department's narcotics drop box.

Taxing decision

Ruth Van Wagoner (left) speaks with board members Mildred Rady and John Molesky during a Board of Review session. Westland homeowners appeal their property tax assessments in front of the board, which meets for three weeks each March. Final sessions have been scheduled for 1:30-5 p.m. today; 1-5 p.m. and 8:30-9 p.m. Tuesday; and 9:30 a.m. to noon and 1:30-5 p.m. Wednesday.

Westland's CATV/community relations department has produced a series of public service announcements on the census featuring local officials. Also, Del Reddy of the economic development department interviewed Kurt Metzger, U.S. Department of Commerce, Census Bureau for a program being shown on the city's cable channel.

Some 10,000 placemats touting the census have been distributed to local restaurants, Benyo said. The placemats tell residents: "If you respond to the 1990 U.S. census on April 1, you are worth $1,700 to Westland" and say the additional federal funds will provide "better schools, better housing, better transportation and more jobs."

BENYO SAID the $1,700 figure represents $170 per person per year during the 1990s.

Other census reminders will include billboards at Westland Center, letters sent to churches and service clubs and materials provided to schools, Benyo said.

Benyo said particular attention will be paid to senior citizens, with local representatives speaking at senior housing complexes throughout the city.

"Overall, there's about a 70 percent return rate (for the questionnaires)," he said. "But I've done a spot check and the rate seems to be lower with senior citizens due to the fact that some are either reluctant or unable to read and fill out the forms."

Reaction to the campaign has been positive so far, Benyo said. He said there seems to be a "good feeling" in the community about the census and that people are aware of the financial benefits to completing and returning the forms.

Seminar will look at pension plans

Business people can learn how to pick and manage pension plans at a seminar sponsored by the Westland Chamber of Commerce and Dean Witter Reynolds.

The seminar is scheduled for Friday morning at Leright's banquet hall, 626 S. Wayne Road, Westland. The seminar will start at 8:30 a.m.

Reservations can be made by calling the chamber office at 326-7222.

The seminar speakers will be Karen MacArthur, Dean Witter Reynolds account executive; John MacColl, Dean Witter Reynolds vice president; and Michael Czemy, CIGNA Corp. financial consultant.

"In certain (crime) categories -- robberies, B & E's -- a huge portion of the incidents are drug-related. (People) are either trying to get money to buy drugs, or they're committing the crimes while they're on drugs. There's been some spillover of that into Westland," Frayer said.

The inspector said Westland officers are targeting potential drug buyers who come into the area. "Get rid of the customers and you get rid of the business," Frayer said.

Although the overall crime rate is down, there are still problem areas.

Sexual assaults increased for the second consecutive year. The 46 sexual assaults in 1989 is double the number from two years ago.

THE CITY also recorded eight homicides, which matches the combined total in 1987-88.

"In the suburbs, it's hard to pin a murder rate on one or two things," Frayer said. "Most of our homicides come out of disputes where people know each other and I don't know how you prepare (police) to prevent something like that."

The 1989 homicides included two double murders.

In March, Gary Joseph Galindo shot and killed his stepbrother, Arthur Novack, and Novack's girlfriend, Sharon Sahaydak at a home on the 37100 block of Norene. Galindo was arrested in Port Huron while driving Novack's car, convicted and sentenced to life in prison without parole on two counts of first-degree murder.

In December, Ronald Gerrlor of Garden City was charged with the shotgun slayings of his estranged wife, Michele, and Jason LaCroix at LaCroix's home on the 8300 block of Fremont. He is awaiting trial on two counts of first-degree murder.

JOHN GLENN High School's senior class "cleaned up" in raising about $1,000 last week in the annual donkey basketball game, pitting graduates against the junior class.

In a local version of the "Final Four," the seniors defeated the juniors 10-8 in overtime.

Money raised will be used to defray the costs of several graduation activities this spring, such as the banquet, prom, and Cedar Point trip, said Larry Wood, assistant principal.

The "cleanup" crew consisted of sophomores for the game won by the seniors 10-8 in overtime, Wood said.

He said it was the first time that the same group of students won two straight donkey basketball benefits.

Part of the game's activities included male juniors and seniors performing to boost their fans' spirits. The senior boys also put on a pom-pom routine.

The Dick Vitale of the game was Glenn principal James Myers.

One of the activities related to the game was a slam dunk contest.

Male juniors and seniors performed their cheerleading routines for the basketball fans.

Westland woman named Wonderland Miss Winter

Winner models for mall, wins jewelry, trophy, other prizes

The 1990 Miss Winter Wonderland is Julie Owens of Westland.

Owens was awarded her crown recently at the third annual Miss Winter Wonderland pageant at Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

Before being chosen for that honor, though, Owens had to advance through the preliminaries that determine the 10 finalists who would compete on stage in the mall, located at the intersection of Plymouth and Middlebelt roads.

"The competition is getting tougher each year," said mall marketing director Laura Solaklan.

"There were several girls that were not only intelligent and talented but were extremely beautiful as well."

EACH FINALIST was judged on the basis of modeling (maximum of 50 possible points), talent (30 possible points), and an on-stage interview (20 possible points.)

The judges were looking for a winner with beauty and charm who would be able to model in the mall's fashion shows and for its photo shoots.

While scores were being tabulated, several state and national titleholders entertained the audience with their award-winning routines.

The emcee for the evening was Cindy Yanits, a former Miss Indiana from the Miss America Pageant System.

THEN THE awards were announced.

Carrie Siwiecki of Detroit was announced as a fourth runner-up. Siwiecki performed a lyrical jazz routine for the contest's talent audition.

She enjoys swimming, running and dancing.

The position of third runner-up went to Christy Anzalone of Livonia. Anzalone performed a tap dance for her talent routine.

Her hobbies are modeling, swimming and shopping.

Julie Owens, 18, of Westland is the newly crowned Miss Winter Wonderland for 1990.

Stacey Heisler of Livonia was second runner-up. She sang "Being Alive" for her talent routine.

Holly Balaban of Novi was announced as first runner-up. Balaban performed a jazz routine for her talent audition.

She enjoys dancing, singing and modeling.

AS THE tension and anticipation continued to grow, Owens was announced as 1990 Miss Winter Wonderland.

"I was shocked when I heard my name," she said.

Owens performed a tap dance routine for her talent audition.

She enjoys dancing, singing and running.

All 10 finalists received movie passes from the AMC Wonderland 6 Theatres.

The second- through fifth-place winners received flowers, trophies donated by Livonia Trophy and gift certificates from Wonderland Mall.

THE NEW queen was awarded a $100 mall certificate, a trophy, crown, banner and flowers.

She was also given a diamond bracelet, donated by Meyers Treasure Chest.

The queen now is eligible to enter the Queen of Queens Pageant at the Michigan State Fair late this summer.

GARY JAMES ZIRKLE, MICHELLE LOUISE ZIRKLE

A double service was held March 14 for a couple murdered in their Inkster home March 9.

The services were for Gary James Zirkle, 37, a longtime Garden City resident and a Garden City High School graduate who moved to Inkster a year ago, and his wife, Michelle Louise, 31, a 1977 graduate of Garden City West High School.

The double service was at Ward Presbyterian Church, Livonia, with the Rev. Brian Tweedle officiating. Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

Mr. Zirkle was paralyzed at 18 in a swimming accident. He was subsequently treated at rehabilitation centers at Harper Hospital, Detroit, and the Craig Center in Arizona.

"Gary should be an inspiration to other quadriplegics that they can overcome obstacles, according to Gary, 'if you can get your attitude right,'" said a brother, Larry.

"Gary was a fighter. He would say 'You can't give up, you've got to be a fighter, readjust, and go off in a different direction.'"

Mr. Zirkle wrote a book, "Journey to Destiny," which took about 10 years to write. The book describes his struggles as a quadriplegic. It will be published later this year by a Los Angeles company.

Besides his brother, he is survived by his mother, Bonnie; and sister, Linda.

His wife is survived by her parents, Robert Higgins and Barbara Mason; brother, Mark; and sisters, Melinda, Melissa, Marisa, Marlana and Wendy.

She was described as a caring person who started out as Mr. Zirkle's caregiver before they decided to marry 2 1/2 years ago. She loved horses and dogs, her family said.

Arrangements were by the R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Home, Livonia.

ELLEN LOUISA HENDRA

Services for Mrs. Hendra, 70, of Westland were held March 12 from the R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Home, Garden City, with Rev. Juanita Ferguson of Redford United Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Cadillac Memorial Gardens West, Westland.

Mrs. Hendra died March 8 in St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, after a lengthy illness. She was a former Garden City resident who had lived in the area for 42 years.

A native of Ishpeming, Mich., she was a member of Redford United Methodist Church and a General Motors food service cashier.

Survivors are her husband, Clyde; two sons, William and Alfred; two daughters, Charlotte Fountain and Evelyn Blanchard; 11 grandchildren; one great-grandchild; four brothers, and three sisters.

VIVIAN D. GROFF

Services for Mrs. Groff, 57, of Westland were March 14 from Salem Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Roger Kilponen officiating. Interment was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

Mrs. Groff died March 11 in Westland. She was a Crowley's Store department manager and member of Salem Lutheran Church.

HELEN L. MOLIN

Services for Mrs. Molin, 73, of Westland were March 9 from the Vermeulen Memorial Trust 100 Funeral Home, with the Rev. Emery Gravelle officiating. Interment was in Edgewood Memorial Park, Glen Mills, Pa.

Mrs. Molin died March 9 in her home. She was a retired store clerk.

HARRY THOMSON

Services for Mr. Thomson, 70, of Westland were March 12 from the Vermeulen Memorial Funeral Home, with Dr. Paul Adams of Dearborn Baptist Temple officiating. Interment was in London Cemetery in London Township, Mich.

Mr. Thomson died March 9 in Westland.

He was a retired Ford Motor Co. foreman.

James of Redford Township, Jack of Sioux Falls, S.D., and Darrale Patriots of Turlock, Calif.; two daughters, Sharon Cole of Parma, Ohio, and Kathleen Kaufman of Ladson, S.C.; 16 grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and one brother, Donald of Inlay City.

Memorials may be sent to Arbor Hospice Personalized Nursing Service. Envelopes are available at the funeral home, 980 N. Newburgh, Westland.

LEONARD S. POWERSKI, SR.

Services for Mr. Powerski, 72, of Presque Isle, were held March 12 at St. Robert Bellarmine Church, Redford Township, with the Rev. George Rutkowski officiating. Interment was in White Chapel Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Powerski died March 12 in Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

He was a former Redford Township resident who moved to Presque Isle 10 years ago. He retired as a foreman at the General Motors Hydramatic plant in Ypsilanti after being with GM for 34 years. He was a member of St. Anne Church on Presque Isle and a St. Robert Bellarmine Church usher.

Survivors are his wife, Dolores; three sons, Leonard, Jr., of Walled Lake, Dennis of Riverview, and Michael of White Lake Township; six grandchildren; three sisters, Sylvia Kopytek of Warren, Aurelia Smlencinski of Lindon, and Delphine Perkowski of Detroit, and a brother, Casimer Powerski of Garden City.

Sheriff, Pistons CEO go to jail for charity

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano and Detroit Pistons CEO Tom Wilson are going to jail.

Not really, but Ficano and Wilson will be among the area celebrities "arrested" and locked up during the American Cancer Society's Great American Lock Up, March 20-22 at various metro area sites.

For a $25 donation, contributors can have a friend or co-worker "sentenced" on a humorous charge. The accused must then raise $2,500 in ball by calling other contributors. Visa and MasterCard are welcomed.

Wayne County sites include Laurel Park Place, I-276 and Six Mile, Livonia.

Oakland County sites include the Arboretum Office Building, 12 Mile and Drake, Farmington Hills, Columbia Center, Big Beaver and Livernois, Troy and the Prudential Town Center, Evergreen and 10 Mile, Southfield.

The lock up is a fun event with a serious purpose. The Wayne County unit has set a $77,000 fund-raising goal to fight cancer. The disease claimed the lives of 37,400 Michigan residents in the past year.

Autism expert praises Burger program

By Wayne Peal
Staff writer

Burger Center, Wayne County's beleaguered school for autistic children, received a boost Thursday from a nationally recognized expert on autism.

"I was really impressed by what I saw at Burger Center; I don't think shutting it is the answer," said Temple Grandin, a Colorado-based researcher and author, in an appearance before Burger Center parents and teachers.

Grandin is considered a particular expert on the disorder. As a child, she was diagnosed as autistic and completed most of her early schooling in special education classes. As an adult, she has become a livestock consultant with a worldwide clientele, has written a book detailing her childhood experiences and has discussed autism on nationwide television talk shows.

BURGER CENTER, in Garden City, was scheduled to close after this school year, but will stay open at least one more year. An agreement between the Garden City Schools and Wayne County Intermediate School District for $155,000 repairs to the aging building will preserve the center program through June 1991.

Burger Center's crumbling walls and roof, however, are only one issue clouding its future.

Center-based classes for autistic children are also in jeopardy because of a dispute among Burger Center parents. While some want the program to remain as it is, others favor a mainstreaming approach that would place their children in regular classrooms.

The best approach, Grandin said, is one that supplements center-based programs with some degree of mainstreaming.

"Younger children (at the center) do need contact with other younger children," Grandin said. "High functioning older children can succeed outside the center, but they need a mentor — a teacher or employer who is willing to take the time necessary to help them reach their potential."

Mainstreaming, she said, should be done gradually.

Grandin's comments drew praise from parents who have been fighting to keep Burger Center open beyond the end of the 1990-91 school year.

"I think she underlined what we've been saying all along," said parent Debbie Hunt of Westland.

AUTISM IS characterized by emotional withdrawal and a failure to communicate with other human beings. The disorder has only recently been recognized and is frequently misunderstood.

Current research cited by Grandin indicates autism is a brain disorder, linked to abnormal development in the cerebellum, rather than an emotional one.

"It's considered a brain immaturity," she said.

Research also indicated the disorder is passed genetically, perhaps with genes that also produce high intelligence.

"Einstein, for instance, exhibited many traits associated with autism," Grandin said.

Newer research, she added, indicates high- and low-functioning autism could actually be separate disorders.

Her own research has indicated techniques used in handling wild animals could also be successful in countering anti-social behavior in autistic children.

Horse trainers, Grandin said, use physical contact and physical activity to break unruly colts. The same techniques, non-sexual touching and daily physical activity could help socialize autistic children, she added.

At Burger Center, teachers said, students are recently formed intramural basketball teams to aid their socialization.

Court hears check lane case

Wayne County's controversial traffic check lanes will be the subject of a hearing today in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Wayne County Circuit Judge James Rashid will hear the American Civil Liberties Union lawsuit against the check lanes, which operated briefly last year in an Inkster neighborhood.

Though considered an anti-drug measure, the check lanes actually searched for valid driver's licenses, driver's registrations and proof of insurance under terms of a 1989 U.S. Court of Appeals ruling.

The ACLU Detroit chapter has argued the check lanes were an illegally violated constitutional provisions against unreasonable search and seizure.

Sheriff Robert Ficano, who introduced the check lanes, has said they were consistent with U.S. v. McFadden, the appeals court ruling that permitted check lanes on a limited basis.

Expand understanding by listing likes, dislikes

This is a continuation of a series drawing material from Karyn Pasquel's book in progress, entitled "Marriage Passages." All rights reserved.

I give a particular exercise to my clients which I have found to be particularly useful in helping all sorts of individuals — single, married, divorced or widowed — reach a new understanding regarding past, present and future relationships.

My conviction is that as a person clearly identifies his own true inner needs, and what type of person is able to reinforce the meeting of those needs, he will be able to develop a healthier self image and, thus, will naturally be drawn toward reinforcing personalities and away from non-reinforcing ones.

It is always a joy to have people repeat the same story I, myself, experienced. That is, that after they seriously defined their needs on a list in the manner which I will describe, even those who had fallen into the temporary coping period of hanging around "down-and-outers" found themselves — usually within a year after doing the list — surrounded by a large circle of reinforcing-type friends.

They do not remember any conscious effort to rework their social world. Rather, it seemed to happen all by itself.

It is by daring to take a deep and honest look at one's inner needs and clearly defining them in listed fashion which tends to force a person to action. Identifying one's needs may be frightening, for such identification will expose certain weak areas we may not wish to acknowledge.

LIKEWISE, IT may further highlight areas of insufficiency in one's present circumstances. People do not like to "rock the boat," especially if a present relationship is already losing its steadiness. On the other hand, if communication is open and honest between two people, daring to "rock the boat" together can be just the thing to cement a relationship into a much stronger union.

Before doing this exercise, carefully follow these guidelines. If you are having a conflict within your marriage, realize that angry thoughts about that person may bias your list if you are using him/her as a guide. Remain as detached as possible. Yet, in another sense, it is all right to remember those things which stand out as personality traits which are either very enjoyable to you or those which tend to highlight and reinforce weak areas in your life.

All of us can remember a certain person who did something which really made us feel good about ourselves. The opposite is also true. Here is the key. You will not be listing those attributes which served to make you feel better about yourself. In this way, you will be identifying your needs.

Usually this listing is applied more to members of the opposite sex, but remember, friends of yours of the same sex also need to have certain qualities if they are to be able to reinforce you as your needs call for it.

A CAREFULLY done, well thought out list will serve as a very effective tool in molding your self-perception into a more positive one. You will find that in the process of identifying your needs, you will unconsciously be pointing out realistic strengths and weaknesses in your own personality.

By acknowledging the reality of these traits and putting them into practice, you will find yourself tending to surround yourself, without even realizing it, with people whose personalities reinforce your strengths and downplay your weaknesses.

One day, you will look around at your circle of friends and intimates and be amazed that they are very healthy for you — each in their own unique way. Mr. and Mrs. Perfect? They are out there, but it takes a clear identification of self-needs and personalities which complement those needs to find them.

For the exercise, take a piece of paper and divide it vertically into three columns entitled: must have, would like to have, and must not have.

In the "must have" column, list those traits which a supportive, enjoyable relationship would have. For instance, a woman who tends to feel inferior with regard to her weight must have a person who truly accepts her body as it is, not someone who just acts like he does.

In the "would like to have" column, list those things which you enjoy, but are not a must, such as being musically inclined or would like to have relationships with others with the same interest. Sports fans have to decide whether having a mate who loves sports is a must, or if that is not important as long as they are able to enjoy their sports unhindered.

In the "must not have" column, list traits which cause your weaknesses to flare up, or which irritate you. A woman with a history of eating disorder, absolutely must not hook up with a man who is greatly concerned about looks and weight.

BE HONEST with yourself. This list will be added to day by day as your own needs become more clearly defined. Keep this list in a journal if you have one.

Notice what happens to your social world over the next two years if you take this exercise seriously.

Pasquel, therapist and director of Foundational Living, conducts workshops based on her writings and holds related group therapy sessions. An eight-week group therapy session for a limited number of persons experiencing grief will begin on Saturday, March 31. Call 326-0354 for reservations.

Smoking is perilous, not poetic, for this decade

DO YOU REMEMBER the movie "Now Voyager" and the now famous scene where Paul Henreid lights two cigarettes and hands one to Bette Davis?

Was that romantic or what? If you were a young, impressionable girl, as was I, in those years, you probably swooned.

Long-legged beauties, smoking with an air of suave sophistication, were the stars of young boys' dreams. In the celluloid world, puffing was considered poetic, not perilous.

We were told to walk a mile for a Camel and to call for Phillip Morris. We teenagers struck a pose of panache and thought we were the coolest.

AH, BUT THE pendulum has swung. Saying no to cigarettes is now considered cool and very, very '90s. Not a cough in the carload is acceptable anymore.

I recently read that proposed state legislation would require larger non-smoking areas in restaurants and extending restrictions to the smallest eateries not now covered.

But restaurants are only one place where smoking is synonymous with social leprosy.

Just the other day I took my BMW for its regular checkup to Erhardt which has new quarters on Maple and Telegraph.

The comfortable waiting room, equipped with coffee pot, television set, magazines and furniture, was lacking the ash tray I used at the old BMW location in Southfield.

I asked the receptionist if smoking was prohibited in the spanking clean room. She hesitated. At those prices, the BMW customer can never be wrong.

Another customer knitting away in the waiting room glared at me and the receptionist and snapped, "Is there a no-smoking section? I'm allergic to cigarettes."

I'VE BEEN rebuffed before, but never quite in that fashion. Did I stand my ground and tell the allergic one to find her own smokeless space? I did not. I went outside to satisfy my disgusting habit.

On the way home from Florida, our pilot told us we couldn't land because of icy runways at Metro Airport. Did I panic and reach for a cigarette as we circled the sky? Not on the "no smoking" flight I didn't.

While on the verge of a nervous breakdown, did I feel noble because I wasn't blowing secondary smoke in the faces of the other passengers? You can bet your bootie I felt no such emotion.

Anti-smoking crusader Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, who introduced the tough legislation for restaurants, is out to rid the world of puffing pariahs.

If nothing else, his crusade to ban smoking everywhere but in the closet has humbled me and some of my unpopular cohorts who still indulge in the insidious imbibing of nicotine.

OF COURSE, the numbers of my smoking "co-conspirators" have dwindled down to a very few. So unless I happen to be in a restaurant with a fellow offender, I ask for the non-smoking section before my lunch or dinner companion has a chance to make that request.

All in all, I have been most considerate. I always ask the person I'm with if he or she minds if I smoke. About nine out of 10 respond in the affirmative. More people have allergies and asthma than ever before in history.

I have stayed with out-of-town friends who ban smoking in their homes, cars and at their tables in restaurants. I feel like a criminal when I sneak outside to besmirch the air with my cigarette.

I don't want to give Faxon any ideas. But in at least one restaurant in Beverly Hills, Calif., smoking is only allowed at the far end of the bar.

The good senator's proposed legislation calls for restaurants posting a floor plan approved by the state health department showing the arrangement of non-smoking seating and its proximity to the smoking area.

RESTAURANTS also would be required to provide at least 40 percent of all seating for non-smokers. I never thought in this land of the free that I would be a victim of segregation.

I have non-smoking friends who don't even want to see anyone holding a cigarette. They get upset just walking into a restaurant which would even consider serving social misfits who smoke.

They don't have special sections in public places for drinkers and non-drinkers, spitters, coughers, perfume wearers or those who forgot to use Dial.

I've never noticed a non-drinker glaring at someone sipping a Martini. If people are so concerned about everyone else's health, why is drinking acceptable?

I guess what I'm trying to say is that I and many other smokers are willing to abstain in public places because of the intolerance of others.

It's a lot easier to sit in a non-smoking section than to notice all around you fanning the air, giving you dirty looks, pretending to choke on your puffs and sniffing your nicotine fumes with irate distaste.

MOST OF THE people I know are reformed smokers. They tend to be the most self-righteous and intolerant. I wonder how they would react if the shoe were on the other foot.

I can't justify smoking. I know it's unhealthy, dirty, smelly, expensive and offensive. It's a legal drug that is frowned upon. It's addictive and dangerous. You can't cut down. Like alcohol, one cigarette is the kiss of death.

What's hot or hottest in peppers

Just how hot is hot? In addition to finding new ways for making our ice cream fat free, chemists and food manufacturers are asking themselves that question while they debate the relative merits of how to measure the heat of a pepper.

The hot pepper has both tantalized and torched palates for thousands of years. But it was not until 1912 that a scientist named W.L. Scoville came up with a systematic method for measuring the heat in a hot pepper.

Under this method, a dried pepper is dissolved in alcohol, diluted with sugar water and then given to a panel of tasters who, sipping increasingly diluted concentrations of pepper extract out of shot glasses, are asked to determine the exact point at which it no longer burns the mouth.

The hotter the pepper, the more water required, and the higher the score on the Scoville scale.

For example, a jalapeno pepper has a Scoville rating of 1,500-4,500, according to a major Southern California spice manufacturer.

A bottle of Tabasco comes in with a rating of 4,500 while the hottest known pepper to mankind, the habanero, has a whopping Scoville rating of 150,000.

Ah, but scientists are now being questioned by, of all people, computers who have developed new technology that measures a pepper's capsaicin (pronounced cap-SAY-iss-in), an organic compound that gives peppers their heat. Supposedly, the capsaicin is a powerful chemical that irritates certain nerves in the nose and mouth.

NEEDLESS TO SAY, this debate has intensified as the hot pepper has become more common in the United States.

What begins to complicate matters here is that certain peppers have Scoville scales and capsaicin ratings that fluctuate dramatically from plant to plant depending on the area in which it was grown, the climate and, most importantly, the rainfall. Sounds to me like these scientists and computers wizards can't even find a common ground between peppers, let alone their heat ratings.

Not to be outdone, of course, are the psychologists who also are sticking their tongues in the fire with reports of a theory that supposedly proves people who eat hot peppers practice a behavior of "benign masochism," in which some people have a particular fondness for pain and other negative sensations when they realize these sensations are not harmful. My, how Freudian.

"People know when they bite into a chili pepper that it could make their mouth fall off. But they like pushing their limits. Some people actually like having their eyes tear and their noses run," says Dr. Paul Rozin, a professor of psychology at the University of Pennsylvania.

There is still another theory that the hot pepper, like other painful stimuli, triggers the release of endorphins, powerful chemicals that elicit feelings of well-being.

I'M SETTING the record straight right now, folks. Yours truly would rather bite into a crisp red delicious apple than have to prove my virility with a pepper.

Experts do agree on one thing. Water will not cool the mouth after biting into an excruciatingly hot pepper. Not surprisingly, cold things work the best, especially alcoholic drinks and dairy products that contain lactic acid. I just knew there was a reason why I love Margaritas!

But for the teetotalers and lactose intolerants in our midst, never fear because the same authorities say that bread, corn, tortillas and rice also will do the trick.

My suggestion: Go with what ever soothes you. The thing to remember is the pain will eventually go away.

Celebrating St. Joseph's Day

Meatless dishes part of tradition

By Geri Rinschler
special writer

AMERICA LOVES holidays and celebrations. Just stroll through any card or candy shop during Valentine's Day, or Halloween — that is, if you can make your way through the aisles — and take note.

The cards, decorations and edible goodies become more plentiful and more elaborate each year. Commercially, American holidays are a huge success. But what about the family traditions and lore of family holidays? Is any of it being preserved or restored?

According to Peter Pellerito of Plymouth, there is one Italian celebration observed by some 400,000 Detroit-area Italian-Americans. It's St. Joseph's Day on March 19.

If you ask Italian-Americans across the country about the festivities or traditional foods of St. Joseph's Day, most of them will not remember the day with much significance, since it's celebrated primarily by Southern Italians and Sicilians.

As a second-generation Italian raised in the Detroit area, Pellerito has participated in many St. Joseph's Day celebrations at the Holy Family Church.

"Until the mid-50s the Holy Family Church (in Detroit) was the center of the old Italian district. Then, the urban renewal programs broke up the old neighborhood," Pellerito said.

OLDEST OF six kids, Pellerito started cooking at the age of 13. He continues to love cooking. Now, as a husband and father of Billie, 4, and Sam, 7, Pellerito is committed to good cooking and carrying on the family holiday's traditional foods.

According to cookbook author Helen Barolini, "Festa, the Italian word for feast and holiday, perfectly expresses the special relationship between food and celebrations." In her recently published paperback, "Festa" — recipes and recollections of Italian holidays (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Publishers) — she takes the reader through a calendar of Southern Italian holidays, with recipe collections and enchanted stories.

In the chapter on St. Joseph's Day, Barolini mentions there is a revival of the Sicilian custom known as preparing a St. Joseph's table. She explains that tables are sponsored by parishioners, and covered with feast-day specialties such as pizza rustica (a ricotta-cheese meat pie) onion tarts, oranges, marmalades, zeppoles, deep-fried pastries, biscotti, cannoli, rice fritters and more. After viewing, the foods are auctioned off, and proceeds go to charity.

As Pellerito recalls, the celebration at the Holy Family Church always included a meatless feast, prepared by parishioners and given to needy orphans, widows and beggars. "In the small villages throughout Southern Italy, everyone contributes what they can to this festival," he said.

A pageant also was an important part of the day as parishioners re-enacted St. Joseph and Mary looking for a place to stay for the birth of the Christ child, Pellerito said. Since the holiday always occurs during the Lenten season, dishes served never include meat.

DINNER AT THE Pellerito home usually begins with relishes, olives and raw vegetables served with a simple olive oil vinaigrette. Traditional dishes include a vegetable frittata, pasta with a tomato-bean sauce and crusty bread.

An Italian restaurant with distinction

With the recent proliferation of Italian restaurants, it's refreshing to find one that stands out distinctively in both atmosphere and menu.

We refer to Cafe Cortina in Farmington Hills which is characterized by a very formal, elegant setting. Dining here means being served distinctively separate courses by a waiter in a tuxedo. Dinner guests also dress for the occasion and conversations are quiet and reserved. Some patrons call a couple weeks in advance to reserve seating by the lovely fireplace. Tables have white tablecloths and candles. The aroma of fresh Parmesan cheese wafts throughout the room.

The menu is almost entirely Italian. If you study it long enough, the English clues under the main courses will tip you off to the entirely Italian listing of appetizers — or you can ask the waiter for assistance. Ours was prepared to read and explain each item.

The menu is part of Cafe Cortina's charm — but it also can be disconcerting at first. Still, once you've tasted the exquisitely fresh, homemade dishes, you'll be hooked.

EVERYTHING IS made from scratch here, from the bread and breadsticks to the pastas and sauces. We tried not to fill up on the bread, which is a little heavier than Italian bread from a bakery, but it was hard to resist. The owners, Adriano and Rina Tonon, insist on freshness. They even butcher their own veal rather than buy it frozen. The only freezer they own is for ice cream.

The veal dishes are exquisite. We thoroughly enjoyed a rolled veal entree stuffed with seasoned broccoli tips and finished with a delicate wild mushroom sauce. Another exciting entree was trout stuffed with shrimp, clams, mushrooms and herbs — a wonderful combination in which the clams deliciously flavored the trout. The fish was cooked perfectly. It broke apart with the touch of a fork.

Another interesting entree was the saute of clams and lobster in a tomato sauce. There are traditional favorites too — from fettuccine Alfredo or spaghetti primavera to veal piccante and chicken cacciatore.

Even diners who prefer beef will find something of interest — whether a sirloin seared with peppercorns and then sauteed with white wine or tenderloin medallions sauteed with onions, mushrooms, tomatoes and sherry.

The menu changes periodically, and regular guests know they can call ahead and request a special dish. Recently, Tonon prepared a rabbit and polenta entree for a small group. After de-boning the rabbit, he added tenderloin, rolled it like a salami, baked it and then sliced it to rave reviews.

St. Joseph's Day is an Italian celebration

There are always lots of fresh fruit and nuts. For dessert Pellerito prepares Budino di Ricotta, a sweet ricotta pudding baked in a fluted, ceramic mold and served at room temperature. Each guest or family member is given an orange to represent the sweetness of life, a small loaf of bread to symbolize the staff of life and a lemon or a grapefruit to represent life's bitterness.

To duplicate a St. Joseph's feast much like the Pelleritos' here are some of the family recipes.

RICOTTA PUDDING (BUDINO DI RICOTTA)

2 cups dry ricotta cheese
1 whole egg
4 eggs, separated
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon grated nutmeg

1/4 cup glace orange rind, cut into tiny dice
1/4 cup rum or maraschino liqueur butter for mold confectioners' sugar ground cinnamon

Put the ricotta into a large bowl. Beat in 1 whole egg and then 4 egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in sugar, flour, nutmeg, glace fruits and rum. Beat until smooth.

Beat the egg whites by hand or in a mixer until stiff and fold them into the ricotta mixture. Generously butter a 2-quart ceramic mold. Spoon in the batter until the mold is half full.

Bake in a preheated, moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 30 minutes or until puffed and golden. Serve hot in mold and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar and a little ground cinnamon. To unmold, allow to cool thoroughly. Then serve with confectioners' sugar and ground cinnamon. Serves 4.

PASTA DI SAN GUISEPPI

Sauce:
1 cup fava beans, canned
1 cup green lentils, canned
1 cup red lentils, canned
1 cup red kidney beans, canned
1 cup great northern beans, canned
6 cups water
1 medium onion, chopped
1 head broccoll, cleaned trimmed and chopped
1/2 medium head cauliflower, cleaned, trimmed, chopped
3 cloves garlic, peeled
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 quart jar or can crushed tomatoes
1/2 cup virgin olive oil
1/4 cup parsley, trimmed and chopped fine

Prepare a soffritto: Heat olive oil in a skillet, add onions, garlic and parsley. Saute until golden, then add broccoll and cauliflower. Stir. Cook the vegetables for 5 minutes over medium heat. Add jar or can of crushed tomatoes and cook another 5 minutes. As the sauce begins to simmer, add the beans and continue to cook for another 30 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. You may need to add additional water if it's too thick. Serve over pasta. Serves 4.

AUGUSTINE'S HOMEMADE PASTA

3 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 large eggs
1 tablespoon olive oil
1/2 to 3/4 cup water

Place flour in a large bowl, sprinkle with the salt. Make a well in the center and add eggs and oil, mix thoroughly in the well with a fork.

Add the water gradually and mix until dough cleans the bowl and forms a ball.

Put the dough on a lightly floured board. Knead with the heel of your hand until the dough is smooth, 8-10 minutes.

Place dough in a clean, oiled bowl and cover with a cloth. Refrigerate for 15 minutes. Take out the dough and cut into 4 equal parts. Roll each into a rectangular sheet that is 1/4-inch thick. Cut into linguine, or 1/4-inch-wide spaghetti-style noodles.

Cook pasta just before sauce is finished, 1-2 minutes, until al dente. Serves 4.

PEPPER AND POTATO FRITTATA

1/4 cup virgin olive oil
2 medium green, red and/or yellow sweet peppers, seeded and cut into thin strips
1 medium onion, 1/4-inch slices

2 medium potatoes, cooked, peeled and sliced thin
2 tablespoons water
6-8 large eggs, slightly beaten salt and ground pepper to taste

Heat the olive oil in a large, deep frying pan. Add the peppers and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly for 3-4 minutes or until peppers are soft. Add the onion and potatoes and mix with fork. Reduce the heat and cook, until onion is transparent.

Beat the eggs and water together and season with salt and pepper. Pour the eggs over the vegetables and stir with a fork to distribute the vegetables. Cook over low heat until the bottom is golden brown.

Heat the broiler and place frittata in the oven with door open and cook until the top is firm. Serve with sliced ripe tomatoes when available. Serves 4.

Big breakfasts popular with guests at country inns

AP - There is a nutritional theory that satisfying breakfasts are making a comeback and may be around for a long, long time.

Recipes for just such dishes are featured below. Since they are served at various inns around the country, they have proved to be doubly good.

GINGERBREAD PANCAKES (Hershey House, Ashland, Ore.)

2 1/2 cup flour
5 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 cup molasses
2 cups milk
2 large eggs, lightly beaten
6 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup raisins

In one bowl, sift together first 6

ingredients. In another bowl, mix all other ingredients except raisins. Add molasses mixture to dry ingredients. Stir just until moistened. Mix in raisins. Cook on hot greased griddle using 1/4 cup batter for each pancake. Serves 8.

MINERS BREAKFAST (The Old Miner's Lodge, Park City, Utah)

4 large russett potatoes, boiled, peeled and cubed
9 pieces crisp bacon, crumbled
1/4 cup butter
1/2 bell pepper, chopped minced garlic to taste salt and pepper to taste
8 large eggs, lightly beaten
1 cup grated cheddar cheese

Melt butter in large frying pan. Add potato cubes and pepper, brown slightly. Add garlic, salt and pepper to taste. Pour eggs over potatoes; cook until eggs form soft curds, stirring constantly. Mix in bacon and sprinkle grated cheese over top. Place frying pan in over or under broiler until cheese melts. Serves 6.

CRUSTLESS QUICHE (Petite Auberge, San Francisco)

3 tablespoons butter
2 cups chopped vegetables: onion, green pepper, broccoll, cauliflower or others as desired.
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
6 large eggs
1 1/2 cup heavy cream
1/4 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper pinch each, nutmeg and garlic powder
Parmesan cheese to taste

Preheat oven to 350. Liberally butter a quiche dish. Layer vegetables and Swiss cheese in dish halfway to top. Lightly beat together eggs, cream, salt, pepper and spices. Pour over vegetables and cheese. Bake for 30 minutes. Remove from oven; sprinkle Parmesan cheese on top. Return to oven and bake 15 minutes more. Serves 6-8.

APPLESAUCE MUFFINS (Havenshire Inn, Hendersonville, N.C.)

1/2 cup softened butter
1 cup sugar
1 large egg

1 cup unsweetened applesauce
1 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups flour
1/4 cup chopped nuts

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 24 small muffin pans. Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs. Stir in applesauce and spices. Sift together salt, soda and flour. Add to applesauce mixture, blending well. Stir in nuts. Fill muffin pans 3/4 full; bake 8-10 minutes. Yields 24 small muffins or 12 regular muffins. (Bake larger muffins 20-25 minutes.)

SLY DEVIN EGGS (The Abbey, Cape May, N.J.)

6 hard-cooked eggs
1/4 cup melted butter
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 (2 1/2-ounce) can deviled ham
3 scallions, minced sauce (recipe follows)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Butter a 9-inch casserole dish. Cut eggs in half and remove yolks. Mix yolks with butter, Worcestershire, mustard, deviled ham and scallions; blend until smooth. Stuff mixture into egg white halves. Arrange eggs in casserole. Pour sauce over top and sprinkle with some grated cheddar cheese if desired. Bake 20 to 25 minutes. Serve over toasted English muffins. Serves 6.

Sauce - 1/2 stick butter, 1/4 cup flour, 2 cups milk, salt and pepper to taste

Melt butter in heavy saucepan. Stir in flour to form a paste; cook for a minute or two. Whisk in milk and season with salt and pepper. Heat until thickened, stirring constantly.

Note: This entire dish can be assembled ahead of time, refrigerated overnight and heated just before serving.

Chef Larry suggests recipe for 'real' chili

12 red chili pods, stems and seeds removed
1 1/2 pounds round steak, cubed
2 heaping tablespoons flour
2 cloves garlic, crushed salt to taste (optional)
1 cup chili paste or 1/2 cup chili powder
1 pint water, or more

Remove stems and seed from chilies. Place chilies in a saucepan with water to cover, heating to rehydrate them. Mix in a blender or processor small portions to make a paste, set aside. Brown cubed beef in a little oil. Add salt, garlic and flour. Mix chili paste or powder with 1 pint water. Combine with beef mixture and simmer 30 minutes or until meat is tender. Stir in chili and paste. Tomato sauce may be added to cut pungency, or for a hotter taste, add more chili powder.

Layer vegetables and Swiss cheese in dish halfway to top.

Favorite recipe helps wife, mother, lawyer

I was impressed when I read an article profiling Detroit's Carole Gist, the newly crowned Miss U.S.A. What impressed me was her answer to pageant host Dick Clark, as to why she should be chosen over the two other finalists.

Her answer was this: "If you keep believing, keep striving, you can be whatever you want to be."

THAT SAME thought kept this week's Winner Dinner Winner going. Sally Adamson of Orchard Lake went to school for seven years, first earning a degree from the University of Michigan and then a law degree from the University of Detroit.

Now in her own practice, specializing in juvenile criminal defense, this mother of two grown sons took a minute out of her busy schedule to share a dinner she fed to her family at least 100 times while she was going through law school.

BECAUSE SHE had so little extra time when she was in school, Adamson would spend her Sundays preparing and freezing a week's worth of meals at a time as well as doing the family's laundry.

One dinner that was and still is a family favorite is a recipe for chicken breasts that have been marinated in picante sauce.

Quick and easy to prepare, and served with Spanish Rice-a-Roni, a fresh fruit salad and a yummy chocolate sauce that goes over vanilla ice cream, this dinner is sure to become a favorite at your house as well.

TODAY, ADAMSON is happy in the knowledge that she has achieved the goals she set for herself many years ago.

She believes she can make a difference in the lives of the teenagers she deals with, and works very hard at doing the best job she can to help them.

As a way of encouraging them to accept responsibility, she insists they, not their parents, pay her fees.

Possessing an ability to relate to these teens, Adamson feels a strong sense of responsibility to pass on to these young people the idea that one mistake does not always ruin one's life and that by setting goals and working hard, dreams can be achieved.

Sally Adamson of Orchard Lake likes the menu of Easy Mexican Chicken with Spanish Rice, Fruit Salad and Vanilla Ice Cream.

Thank you, Sally Adamson, for sharing your recipes, and continued good luck with your legal practice.

And, as a new week begins, let us all remember that the only limitations we have are the ones we place on ourselves.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to: Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012.

All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each week's winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

Recipes are printed the same size so that you may clip and save them in a three-ring binder.

Use a paper punch to make holes in the clipping, or paste the clipping on a blank sheet of three-ring notebook paper.

Another option is to simply file the clippings in a folder with pockets that will hold them.

The Observer & Eccentric® Winner Dinner

- EASY MEXICAN CHICKEN
- SPANISH RICE
- FRUIT SALAD
- VANILLA ICE CREAM WITH CHOCOLATE CRUNCH SAUCE

EASY MEXICAN CHICKEN

This tasty dish can be made quickly at the last minute or it can be made the night before, refrigerated and then re-heated. Turkey scaloppine can be substituted for the chicken breasts, if desired.

- 6 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
- 1 jar picante sauce — medium hot, 16-ounce size
- Juice of 1 lime
- flour for dredging
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

In a bowl, squeeze juice of the lime, add the jar of picante sauce and mix. Place the chicken in this mixture and allow it to marinate overnight or for 20 minutes. Heat the oil and butter in a non-stick frying pan. Shake off the marinade, dredge the chicken quickly in the flour, then brown each breast in the frying pan. Cook 5 minutes on each side, then add the marinade, cover and cook until done, approximately 5 more minutes. Put on hot plates and spoon a little of the marinade over the chicken.

SPANISH RICE

Follow the directions given on the box for Rice-a-Roni Spanish Rice. This, too, can be made in advance and reheated just prior to serving.

FRUIT SALAD

Because of the spiciness of the meal, this fruit salad will refresh your palate.

- 1 kiwi, peeled and sliced
- 1 orange, peeled and sliced
- sliced strawberries or some other red fruit (for color)

Top with the following mixture:

- 1 cup sour cream or plain yogurt
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 tablespoons flaked coconut (optional)

Pour over fruit that has been arranged on individual plates.

VANILLA ICE CREAM WITH CHOCOLATE CRUNCH SAUCE

- 2½ squares (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cups light brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla
- ¾ cups crunchy-style peanut butter

In the top of a double boiler, melt chocolate. Add milk and brown sugar and stir until smooth. Put the pan over direct heat and cook just until it bubbles. Remove from the heat, add the vanilla and cool slightly. Add the peanut butter and stir until smooth. Serve warm over vanilla ice cream.

Shopping List

- 6 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
- 1 jar picante sauce — medium or medium hot, depending on your taste, 16-ounce size
- flour
- oil
- butter or margarine
- 1 box Spanish Rice-a-Roni
- 1 can stewed tomatoes, 15-ounce size
- 1 lime
- 1 kiwi
- 1 orange
- sliced strawberries or other red fruit of your choice
- sour cream or 1 carton plain yogurt
- brown sugar
- honey
- flaked coconut (optional)
- vanilla ice cream
- unsweetened chocolate
- milk
- brown sugar
- vanilla
- crunchy-style peanut butter

Notes

Vegetables can be powerful aphrodisiacs

Everyone has heard of aphrodisiacs. But modern-day people tend to expect an aphrodisiac to be made of rare and exotic ingredients: spider webs, rhinoceros horns or Chinese ginseng.

They are often surprised and disbelieving when you suggest everyday vegetables such as peas, carrots and onions might make lust-provoking dishes.

Primitive man lived closer to the soil and recognized the magic that exists in the vegetable kingdom. Often, vegetables were used in fertility rites. In fact, they still are today in most wedding rituals.

In many European countries, peas are thrown into the lap of the bride to encourage the conception of many children. In China, melons are given to the newlyweds in the hope of an early pregnancy. Here in America, rice or other seeds are thrown at the bride and groom to represent the hope of fertility.

Some vegetables owe their reputation as aphrodisiacs to their phallic shapes. Carrots, cucumbers, corn on the cob and asparagus are all examples of these. But almost all vegetables are believed to be helpful in stimulating passion.

Tomatoes have long been called "love apples." Onions have been reputed to increase the production of sperm. Cabbage, beans, fennel, chlicory, beets, brussel sprouts, okra and celery all have been said to work wonders when properly prepared and served to the one you desire.

THESE MAY BE more to this than first meets the eye. All the essentials of a balanced diet are present in vegetables: proteins, fat and carbohydrates, as well as all the necessary vitamins and minerals needed for a healthy life.

Healthy people feel better and are more apt to enjoy frequent love-making.

Gundella

I once devoted a whole month's column to the wonders of the potato. Nothing can put a man in the mood for love quicker than a plate of real mashed potatoes. If you want to reach his heart through his stomach, forget about potato buds, or potato flakes, or anything else that comes out of a box.

Peel, boil and mash some real potatoes. Smother them with cream and butter (or non-dairy creamer and margarine). Sprinkle them lightly with salt and pepper, and watch the look of contentment spread over his face as he eats them.

And after dinner, he will want to show his affection to the cook.

Nothing is more stimulating to love than eating artichokes together. Not artichoke hearts, or artichoke bottoms that come out of a can. I mean beautiful, whole artichokes.

Tearing off tender leaves and dipping them into a dish of melted butter or hollandaise sauce that the two of you share, sucking out the sweet meat of the artichoke by squeezing it between your teeth and licking the butter off your fingers certainly sets the right mood.

IF YOU DON'T know how to cook, serve and eat a fresh artichoke, call me — and I'll explain it in detail. If enough people are interested, perhaps we can arrange a demonstration meal where you can all learn to cook and eat them.

Here are a few ideas for serving red radishes in ways you may like to try. Next time you make beef stew, add radishes and celery with your potatoes, carrots and onions. It's a great taste, and looks pretty, too.

Have you ever had a salad in which radishes were the one and only main ingredient? Here's a really good one.

RADISH SALAD

Wash and thinly slice radishes. Mix together two parts pure olive oil and one part wine vinegar.

Add salt, pepper, garlic salt and chopped parsley leaves, fresh cut or dried.

Pour over the radishes and allow to marinate about 1 hour before serving.

BOILED RADISHES

Wash radishes. Remove the tops and root tails, but leave radishes

RED RADISHES IN CREAM

Peel the radishes and blanch them in salted water. Drain and stew in butter until tender. Add one cup of cream (I use frozen non-dairy creamer), for each pound of radishes. Boil down until cream is reduced to ½ its original amount.

Serve in a deep bowl with fresh parsley.

GLAZED RADISHES

Wash radishes well, and remove tops and root tails. Blanch whole radishes in salt water for 5 minutes. Drain, and cool in cold water.

Toss radishes in butter, over a hot fire, sprinkling them with granulated white sugar. When they are light brown in color, place them in just enough water to cover. Place lid on pan and simmer until all water is absorbed. At this point, the radishes should be cooked and well-glazed.

There are good things to say about red meat

Remember when we used to think that eating a thick, juicy steak would make us big and strong?

Then researchers found that eating too much red meat might make one a candidate for health problems such as high blood pressure, heart disease or stroke. For quite a few years now, we've eaten less red meat and switched to eating more poultry and fish.

Yet is beef really all that bad for us? If we choose the right cuts, prepare it properly and eat it in moderation, meat can actually be a healthy food. It's a good source of many essential nutrients such as protein, some B-vitamins, zinc and iron. Zinc and iron are both believed to be deficient in many diets, especially in those of women who are watching their weight.

What's needed to reduce the risk of heart disease and to reduce cholesterol levels is cutting down on fat intake in our diets and decreasing the amount of all animal products we eat, including all types of meat, eggs, whole milk, cheese and butter.

Beef does have more fat than vegetables or fruits, but this is true of most protein-rich foods. The trick is to balance beef with other foods that are low in fat such as fruits and vegetables, grains, beans, potatoes and pasta. Cook up a pot of hearty, Old-Fashioned Beef Soup that is delicious and includes meat that excludes excess fat.

IT'S ALSO IMPORTANT to know what kind of meat to select — lean portions with less fat. The leanest cuts of beef include veal, top sirloin and strip, club and round steaks. Serve up Steak Champignon with a baked potato and tossed green salad for a truly satisfying way to meet your daily nutrition requirements. Or break away from the ordinary pizza routine with a unique Zucchini-Veal Pizza.

Remember to trim away all the visible fat before you cook any meat. No trimming it away when you get to the table. If you cook the meat with its fat, some of the fat that melts during cooking will actually be absorbed into the meat. So trim before cooking, then broil on a slotted tray that will let some of the remaining fat to drip away. The result is good, lean nutritious eating.

OLD-FASHIONED BEEF SOUP

2 cups water
1 cup canned Italian tomatoes (with liquid); drain, seed and dice tomatoes, reserving liquid
4 1/2 ounces pared all-purpose potato, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
3 ounces diced cooked beef
1/2 cup each sliced carrot, celery and mushrooms
1/4 cup each chopped onion and frozen whole-kernel corn
2 packets instant beef broth and seasoning mix
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley
1/2 teaspoon pepper

In a 3-quart microwavable casserole combine all ingredients except parsley and pepper; microwave on high for 15 minutes, until potato is fork-tender, stirring halfway through cooking. Stir in parsley and pepper.

Makes 2 servings, about 1 1/2 cups each.

Each serving provides: 1 1/2 Protein Exchanges; 10 Optional Calories.

Per serving: 211 calories; 17 g protein; 4 g fat; 28 g carbohydrate; 66 mg calcium; 1,196 mg sodium; 34 mg cholesterol; 4 g dietary fiber.

1 tablespoon plus 1 1/2 teaspoons rose light wine
1 tablespoon reduced-sodium soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon granulated sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt

In 10-inch skillet or a wok heat oil; add broccoli, carrots and onion and cook, stirring quickly and frequently, until vegetables are tender-crisp and onions are browned. Stir in beef strips. In small bowl combine remaining ingredients, stirring to dissolve cornstarch; add to beef mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened, 2-3 minutes.

Makes 2 servings. Instead of blanching, the vegetables may be steamed for 2 minutes.

Each serving provides: 3 Protein Exchanges; 3 1/2 Vegetable Exchanges; 1 1/2 Fat Exchanges; 15 calories Optional Exchange.

Per serving: 312 calories; 32 g protein; 14 g fat; 15 g carbohydrate; 70 mg calcium; 553 mg sodium; 77 mg cholesterol.

ARTHRITIS OF THE BACK

Arthritis of the back is not the same as arthritis of the joints. In the joints, arthritis means that cartilage is breaking down and/or the cells of the joint lining are inflamed. In the back, arthritis prompts a different response: overgrowth of bone at the site of irritation. In the joints, arthritis causes impaired function. The roughing of cartilage results in a loss of smooth gliding of bone over bone; the presence of extra fluid distends the joint and causes misalignment of its surfaces. In the back, the extra bone brings on damage by pinching against nerve roots. Muscle strain comes as the back attempts to re-set its natural curves and at the same time, bends to avoid that impingement. Muscle spasm occurs when the strain goes beyond the body's capacity to sustain it. Stopping inflammation and removing fluid help joints, but these measures have little effect on back arthritis. For the vast majority of back pains, the best therapies are heat and constant application of good mechanics in walking and lifting. Pain medication is of limited value. It must be repeated over short intervals and eventually the body becomes addicted or indifferent to the analgesia used.

5 important steps lead to superb souffles

AP — You will be surprised at how simple a glorious souffle can be. Remember these five important steps:

- Beat the egg whites until stiff peaks form (tips stand straight). Perfectly beaten egg whites will not slip and slide when you tilt the bowl.
- Add a little cream of tartar to stabilize the egg whites.
- Preheat the oven; don't open the oven door to peek during the first 20-25 minutes of baking. A cool draft can deflate a partially baked souffle.
- Have your family and guests ready at the table before souffle comes out so you can bring it to the table high, hot and handsome.
- To serve, use two forks held back to back to break the top crust into serving-size portions. Then use a large spoon to serve. Include some of the yummy crust with each serving.

BLUE CHEESE AND BROCCOLI SOUFFLE
 4 egg yolks
 1/4 cup margarine or butter
 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 dash ground red pepper dash ground dry mustard
 1 cup milk
 1 cup finely chopped cooked broccoli flowerets, drained
 1/2 cup crumbled blue cheese or finely shredded Cheddar cheese (2 ounces)

Have your family and guests ready at the table before souffle comes out so you can bring it to the table high, hot and handsome.

4 egg whites
 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar

Measure enough foil to go around a 1 1/4-quart souffle dish plus a 2-inch overlap. Fold foil into thirds lengthwise. Lightly butter one side of foil. Position foil, buttered side in, around dish, letting collar extend 2 inches above top of dish; fasten foil with masking tape.

Lightly beat egg yolks with a fork; set aside. In a medium saucepan melt margarine. Stir in flour, salt, red pepper and dry mustard. Stir in milk. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Cook and stir 1-2 minutes more. Remove from heat.

Add broccoli and cheese to sauce, stirring until cheese is melted. Slowly add broccoli mixture to egg yolks stirring constantly. Cool slightly.

In a large mixer bowl beat egg whites and cream of tartar with electric mixer on high speed until stiff peaks form (tips stand straight). Gradually pour yolk mixture over beaten egg whites, folding to combine. Pour egg mixture into ungreased souffle dish.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 35-40 minutes or until souffle jiggles when gently shaken. Do not open the oven door during the first 20-25 minutes of baking. Test for doneness while souffle is still in the oven. Makes 4 servings.

Hot dog cookout

A 500-foot-long hot dog will be featured at a free cookout on the sidewalks of downtown Farmington on Wednesday, March 21, celebrating the city's Downtown Day. Using oversized grills, downtown Farmington restaurateurs will prepare the Vienna Beef hot dog, which will stretch nearly one-tenth of a mile. The hot dog and "bed of buns" each will be cooked in three shifts, with the hot dog cut and removed to the "bed of buns" during an official ceremony at noon.

We've built something just for you.

The McAuley Family Birth Place at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor has built the most comprehensive single-room maternity care unit in Michigan. And we built it just for you.

At the McAuley Family Birth Place, all expectant parents can enjoy single-room maternity care.

Single-room maternity care

In the labor-delivery-recovery (LDR) rooms and the labor-delivery-recovery-postpartum (LDRP) rooms at the McAuley Family Birth Place, you can labor, deliver and recover in the same home-like setting without being moved at each stage of childbirth. After the birth, your new baby can stay with you as long as you'd like. Each LDR and LDRP room is private, spacious, attractively decorated and comes equipped with everything your doctor needs to assist with the birth of your child.

All this just for you.

No 3-peat for Ladywood

Blazers top Marlins but lose in final

By Ray Setlock
staff writer

Livonia Ladywood made it to the Class A volleyball final for the third consecutive year Saturday, but the Blazers didn't have reason to celebrate this time.

Ladywood walked away with state championships the last two years, but the 1990 crown belongs to East Kentwood, which defeated the Blazers two games to none at Kalamazoo Central High School and claimed its first state championship.

"This is a great win," said East Kentwood coach Bud Cole following the Falcons' 15-10, 15-6 victory. "We play a lot of tough teams throughout the season, but Ladywood was one of the toughest."

The Blazers (49-12-2) established themselves early in the first game, taking a 5-2 lead. But Ladywood's momentum was short-lived, as East Kentwood rallied to tie the score at seven.

The remainder of the game was controlled by the Falcons, who took leads of 11-3 and 12-10 before finishing off the Blazers.

"I WAS worried during that first game," Cole said. "But that's my job. We didn't play to our capabilities."

Ladywood coach Tom Teeters was pleased with his team's performance in the opening game.

"I think we had them thinking after that first game," Teeters said. "It's too bad we couldn't have continued our roll, but East Kentwood is just too tough a team."

The Falcons displayed their talent in the second game, dominating play more than in the first opener.

East Kentwood finishes the season with a record of 75-1-1, the most wins by a volleyball team in the school's history, shattering the old mark of 70.

"They proved that they are the best team in the state," Teeters said. "They have a lot of good athletes."

SENIOR MIDDLE hitter Amy Westhouse led East Kentwood with 10 kills and also had eight digs. Teri Wilhoit posted nine digs to lead the winners defensively.

Senior Kari Domanski guided the Blazers with 13 kills and seven digs. She had an attack percentage of .550.

"Kari Domanski was unstoppable," Teeters said. "We go to her whenever we can."

As a team, Ladywood had 21 digs, while the winners had 39. Senior hitter April Oswald recorded four service aces to lead East Kentwood. Ladywood, as a team, tallied just three service aces. Kentwood had seven team blocks, the Blazers one.

"Kentwood did all the things they needed to do to win," Teeters said.

Mariae Spender of Ladywood (left) dives for an attempted dig but can't reach the ball in time Saturday in the final of the state volleyball tournament. Ladywood coach Tom Teeters (below) consoles senior Kari Domanski after the Blazers were beaten by East Kentwood in the championship game. The Blazers, who had won the Class A title the last two years, advanced to the final with victories over Sterling Heights Stevenson in the quarterfinals and Catholic League rival Farmington Hills Mercy in the semifinals.

Quarterfinal loss ends Wayne year

By Ray Setlock
staff writer

Wayne Memorial coach Ann Kolnitys gathered her team in a circle after Friday's loss to Farmington Hills Mercy in the Class A volleyball quarterfinals at Nazareth College in Kalamazoo.

As the team listened to its coach, senior middle hitter Evette Sluder closed her eyes and sighed, probably recalling the match that had just taken place.

Wayne, which lost the first game 15-11 and won the second game 15-13, couldn't stop the Mercy attack in the third game and bowed to the Marlins 15-2, ending a season that saw the Zebras post a 40-5 record.

"OUR DOWNFALL was that we didn't score any points," Kolnitys said. "We worked together and talked more confidently in the second game, but we didn't do that in the third game and lost."

Sluder led the Zebras offensively with 16 kills. "Sluder had a great season," Kolnitys said. "She loves the game of volleyball and can play the game."

Junior Denise Walsh had 22 digs for Wayne, and sophomore Katie Corwin had four solo blocks.

"Corwin did a great job," Kolnitys said. "She isn't afraid to sacrifice her body. She's just a good sophomore player."

JUNIOR ANDREA Velthoven led the Marlins with 18 kills, and senior Jennifer Goff had 16.

"Goff got on a roll and did the job for us, especially in that third game," Mercy coach Tim DeBello said. "She's an emotional player, and when her emotion is running high it rubs off on the rest of the team."

DeBello said he was worried after the Marlins lost the middle game.

"We didn't play well in the second game, and it was frustrating," he said. "It seems like that loss proved to be our wake-up call, and we did the job in the third game."

All-Area wrestlers abound with talent

CC's Helm headlines elite group

By Bill Parker
staff writer

LED BY two-time defending Class A state champion Jay Helm, the 1990 All Area wrestling team is stacked higher than the rafters at Kellogg Arena with talent.

Seven of the 12 wrestlers gracing the team qualified for the 1990 Class A state meet held at Kellogg Arena. The remaining five wrestlers, although lacking in state meet experience this year, compiled impressive enough statistics over the course of the season to lift them to first team honors.

In all, the first team is made up of one state champion, three third place state finishers and six league champions. On the average, first team members won 82-percent of their matches. The combined season record of all 12 wrestlers is 452-98-1.

The following is a brief profile of each first team member as selected by a panel of Observersland coaches:

Dan Vaughan, Wayne Memorial, heavyweight: Vaughn, a senior, compiled a 26-17 record this season at Wayne. He earned a trip to regionals, with a second-place finish in the district tournament. He also placed second at the Belleville Invitational, third at the CC Invitational, third at the Westland John Glenn Invitational and third in the Wolverine A League.

"Dan was one of the best heavyweights ever at Wayne High, as far as technique goes," said Wayne coach Jim Daniel. "He only wrestled for three years and he didn't do much his first year. He has really come on the past two seasons. He led the team to pins with 18, and total points with 155, and was second on the team in take-downs with 37."

Dan Horvath, Garden City, 103 pounds: Horvath was forced to battle both injuries and opponents this year and the junior grappler still managed to put together a solid 18-7 personal record. He won the Redford Thurston Invitational and finished second in the Northwest Suburban League tournament, suffering an injury default in the finals. He was undefeated in league duals and 16 of his 18 victories were by pin. His career record stands at 42-18.

"Dan, unfortunately, spent much of the season hampered with injuries," said CC coach Phil Freeman. "He is relentless in his aggressive style of wrestling, putting his opponents on the defensive from the opening whistle until the match has ended."

Soren Murphy, Walled Lake Central, 112 pounds: Murphy, a senior, wrapped up his wrestling career with a

"They played their type of game to-night."

In Friday's quarterfinals, Ladywood defeated Sterling Heights Stevenson 15-12, 10-15, 15-9.

Domanski recorded 12 kills to lead the Blazers. Senior Evette Sluder led Stevenson with 16 kills. Junior Denise Walsh had 22 digs.

ON SATURDAY morning, Ladywood faced Catholic League champion Farmington Hills Mercy in the semifinals, and the Blazers, who had lost four previous matches to the Marlins this year, had their revenge, 10-15, 15-12, 17-15.

Domanski had 16 kills and Peggy Knittel 13 to lead Ladywood. Junior hitter Andrea Velthoven led the Marlins with 15 kills.

"We've enjoyed a great season," Teeters said. "The girls showed a lot of character all season long."

"We weren't as athletic as some of the teams we faced, but we always found a way to win. The girls had a lot of heart."

Jackets roll over Borgess

By Mike De Villing
staff writer

Seeing your All-America center pick up his fourth foul with 4:35 left in the third quarter might cause a lot of basketball teams to panic.

Detroit Country Day didn't even flinch Friday.

The Yellow Jackets led Redford Bishop Borgess, 38-23, midway through the third quarter when 6-foot-10 center Chris Webber went to the bench with his fourth foul. Webber never returned to the game, but the closest Borgess got the rest of the way was 13 points as Country Day wrapped up the Class B regional championship, 64-47, at Warren High.

Country Day will take a 23-2 overall record into the quarterfinal at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday against Tecumseh at Ypsilanti High School. Borgess, playing again without injured star Shawn Respert (knee), ended its season at 21-4 overall.

"I have great confidence in the rest of my team," Country Day coach Kuri Keener said. "I had a premonition before the tournament started that at some point we'd have to play without Chris Webber, whether it was because of foul trouble or injury."

Borgess coach Mike Fusco realized the Spartans benefited without Webber on the court, but knew his team still faced an uphill climb.

"They are a good team and we knew that coming in," Fusco said. "They have seven or eight quality players. We took pride in winning five or six straight games without Respert, and they took pride in playing well without Webber."

THE YELLOW JACKETS turned to backup Christ Backos to fill Webber's massive shoes. The junior center was up to the task, netting 13 points, eight after Webber left the game.

"Take a kid like Christ Backos at any other school and he'd be a prime-time player," Keener said. "He's accepted his role as a backup. He's always mentally into the game, so if he has to pick up the slack, he can."

Bowlers encouraged to submit opinions

Al Harrison

I WOULD LIKE to take this opportunity to encourage you to write me with your comments, questions and criticisms. If it's bowling questions you have, I will try to get you the answers.

Here are some of the letters I have received from readers:

I read your column about the high school tournament. The reason I'm writing you is that I'd be interested in helping with the event and thought you'd be able to help. If no help is needed, fine. Otherwise, I'd like to be of assistance. — S.S., Redford.

Dear S.S.: — The event is being organized and run by Harry Burke (881-9149) and Mike Martus (254-2748). If you contact either of them, I would expect they would be more than happy to help you.

I noticed a lot of big scores every week, but how about writing about us little guys. After all, we're trying just as hard. A low average bowler is pretty proud of shooting a good game of 180 or so. — R.K.L., Farmington.

Dear R.K.L.: The purpose of this column is to report scores and stories about what is happening in the local Observer and Eccentric bowling scene. You do not necessarily have to have a great score for your result to appear in the column. Just have your league secretary contact me with your score and if it's news, I would welcome the information.

I am 12 years old and I think I'm pretty good for my age. I bowled a 234. Where can I find out about getting into a good league, with good competition and bowling with kids in my own age group. — B.A., Livonia.

Dear B.A.: Every bowling center has excellent youth programs. Check with the bowling center near you. Most action takes place on Saturdays. These leagues are Y.A.B.A. sanctioned and are well organized. They offer good competition at all age levels.

I read about blind bowlers in your column a while ago and was wondering how they know where to aim the ball. How do they do it. — P.C., Westland.

Dear P.C.: The blind bowlers have a 15-foot guide rail that is placed on the approaches running parallel to the lanes. As the bowler walks on the approach, the free hand stays on the rail as a guide, enabling them to place the ball in the proper direction.

Participants in some sports have been able to perform better with the aid of self-hypnosis or subliminal tapes. Do you think it would be worth a try to be able to get higher bowling scores. D.R.H., Southfield.

Dear D.R.H.: I think some bowlers could gain from either hypnosis or subliminal tapes. There are a lot of people now using various tapes. Many of these tapes are available on the market. Some are even available in pro shops. I have tried tapes myself, and they did seem to improve my bowling scores. My recommended selection is Be a Better Bowler by Potentials Unlimited (about $10.00) and Sybervision, which is a combination of audio and visual tapes. These are very effective, but more costly at about $80.00.

Clover Lanes, which is on Schoolcraft in Livonia, has just completed installation of the latest state-of-the-art automatic scorers. They have the new Brunswick AS-80 Colorvision Plus.

In celebration of the new units, Clover Lanes is celebrating with a week-long "Bowl Fest." It takes place March 25-31 and offers special rates for open bowling and prizes for league bowlers.

We Need Volunteers Who Love Happy Campers!

Sun Deer campers are happy campers and it's no wonder because most severely asthmatic kids are forced to spend their summers indoors. At Camp Sun Deer asthmatic kids ages 9-12 participate in a variety of outdoor activities, but they can't do it without your help. The limitations and doubts they face can be diminished by a volunteer who cares. Your participation at Camp Sun Deer can make all the difference in an asthmatic child's summer.

Madonna spirits lifted after long trip down south

By C.J. Rieck
staff writer

It wasn't exactly how Mike George envisioned it. George imagined his Madonna College baseball team ripping the ball on its Cocoa Beach, Fla., spring trip. He knew the pitching would be better than last year, too. Other factors — defense, baserunning — he wasn't so sure of.

As it turned out, George's concerns were misplaced.

Which is hardly a criticism. The Fighting Crusaders enjoyed a superb trip, winning eight of 11 games and building a lot of confidence.

"I've had these guys since September, but we never played a team in another uniform," said George. "I knew our pitching was much better than last year, even though it's still not as deep as it needs to be."

George thought hitting would be the Crusaders' strongest element "just because we're deeper there than anywhere else." But, as it turned out...

"I was disappointed with our hitting. We should have hit the ball a lot better. This is a great hitting team; we just didn't do it. Needless to say, that's what we've been concentrating on all week."

MOST BASEBALL coaches agree, pitchers usually have the upper hand early in the season. Madonna's did in Florida; they allowed 45 runs and had a staff earned run average of 3.40, walking just 23 in 76 innings. Mike Hocking (0.97 ERA) and Craig Karankiewicz (3.07 ERA) were each 2-0.

Madonna finished its trip with four straight wins. Indeed, after losing its opening game 3-0 to Lewis University (Illinois), ranked fourth in the NCAA Division II, the Crusaders had just one bad day. They lost 17-3 to Furman and 7-3 to Lewis' junior varsity on March 6.

What pleased George was not only his team's success, but the number of people who contributed to it. "We did a great job down there," he said. "We played very, very well except for one day. And we never started the same lineup twice. Not once."

Madonna finished its trip March 8 with a 5-3 win over Keene State (from New Hampshire) and a 5-2 triumph over Mercyhurst (Pa.). Righthander Chris Kloc got the win against NCAA III Keene State, in relief. Jeremy Krol started and allowed two runs in five innings; Hocking gave up a run in one-third of an inning. Kloc retired all five batters he faced.

AFTER KEENE STATE tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth, Jim Boucher drove in the game-winning runs for Madonna with a two-run, pinch-hit single in the seventh. John Bonham and Sean Maloney each had two hits for the Crusaders.

Against NCAA III Mercyhurst, the righthanded Karankiewicz hurled a three-hitter, striking out two and walking one. Kevin Learned and Rick Gierczak each had two hits, with Gierczak scoring two runs and knocking in another.

On March 7, the Crusaders ripped Clarion (Ind.) 13-4 and — in a game many observers were billing as one of the best of the week — Madonna bested Assumption College (Mass.) 9-2.

Against Clarion: Pete Berrios proved his worth, both on the mound and at the plate. Berrios, a sophomore lefthander, relieved in the third inning and gave up three runs in 4 1/3 innings. Berrios also contributed a single, double and three RBI at the plate. Kevin O'Connor and Bonham each knocked in two runs on one hit; O'Connor also scored twice.

MADONNA TOPPED highly regarded Assumption by beating its pitching ace, Steve Clifford. The Crusaders scored all nine runs off of Clifford, including a five-run third that Berrios started with a two-run double. He finished the game with two hits and three RBI.

Ernie Bowling followed Berrios' double with another double, scoring Berrios. Boucher's single drove home Bowling. Boucher also had two hits in the game. Hocking was the winning pitcher, surrendering two runs on five hits and three walks, fanning six.

Bishop Borgess had its chances to get back in the game but failed to capitalize. The Spartans turned the ball over four times and missed 5-of-6 shots in the first four minutes Webber was out.

"We just didn't capitalize," Fusco said. "We didn't execute our offense. We had turnovers and we couldn't finish the break."

The Spartans didn't execute their offense from the outset, hitting just 2-of-11 shots in the first quarter and falling behind Country Day, 14-5.

"We expected a physical game, and wanted to use it to our advantage," Fusco said. "Instead, we rushed our shots and didn't make them play defense on us. We took a number of bad shots."

Borgess' Randy White and Artie Brown hit a basket each to open the second quarter and make the score 14-9. But Country Day answered with a 15-3 spurt to take a 28-12 lead with 3:14 left in the first half.

WEBBER STARTED the spurt with a baseline jump shot and an assist to Backos. The next 11 points came from five different Yellow Jackets who eventually took a 33-16 into the locker room at halftime.

'We expected a physical game and wanted to use it to our advantage... Instead we rushed our shots and didn't make (Detroit Country Day) play defense on us.'

— Mike Fusco
Bishop Borgess coach

Keener attributed the spurt to Country Day's depth.

"We can take out Kevin Colson and Iyapo Montgomery and still maintain the lead," Keener said. "Then to come back with Kevin and Iyapo with fresh legs, boom, boom, boom, we get some easy baskets."

Country Day took its biggest lead, 38-16, with 7:03 left in the third quarter. Bishop Borgess' closest threat was 46-33 with 7:05 left in the game.

Montgomery joined Backos with 12 points to lead the Yellow Jackets while Colson and Webber added 10 each.

Brown and White scored 11 points each for Borgess.

Rocks survive regional

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

The last time Plymouth Salem was in the quarterfinals of the boys basketball tournament, Gerald Ford was president and coach Bob Brodie was a college student.

That was 15 years ago, but the long wait for another chance ended Friday night when the Rocks won their first regional championship since 1975 at Ypsilanti High School.

Salem, 23-2, needed a come-from-behind effort, however, and used a hot-shooting second half to subdue underdog Romulus 86-73 in a game that was closer than it seemed.

The No. 8-ranked Rocks will take on No. 2 Battle Creek Central in the quarterfinals Wednesday at Jackson Lumen Christi High School. Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m. The Bearcats also are 23-2.

"By today's standards, to get a team to the quarterfinals is a pretty good accomplishment," Brodie said. "It's another challenge. There aren't anymore flukes once you get this far."

ROMULUS, finishing with a 14-11 record, may have been viewed as a fluke, considering the Eagles were last in the South Central Conference. Salem had beaten SCC co-champions Ypsilanti in the regular season and Ann Arbor Huron in the first round of the regional.

But the Eagles, who started a freshman at guard and had no one taller than 6-foot-2 on their team, played an inspired game and had Salem chasing them until late in the third quarter.

"We knew they'd make runs and we'd make runs," Salem forward Jake Baker said. "We weren't rattled. We were concerned, but we didn't lose our composure."

"I think we concentrated a little more on playing better offensively (in the second half) and waiting until things opened up."

Baker was talking about shot selection, and Salem's was just short of spectacular in the second half. The Rocks were 9-of-10 from the field in the third quarter and shot 77 percent (20-of-26) for the half.

Salem, with 6-5 Baker scoring 24 points and fellow post players 6-2 Ryan Johnson and 6-5 K.C. Kirkpatrick getting 20 apiece, was able to rally from deficits of 21-12 in the first quarter and 40-38 at halftime.

"WE HAD the size advantage, so we knew we could pound it underneath," Johnson said.

Kirkpatrick picked up the slack in the first half when Baker had only eight points and a slower start than he did against Huron. Kirkpatrick scored 12 points to help get the Rocks within two at halftime.

"Jake was coming off a 32-point game, and they had to be thinking 'Jake is most of their team,'" Kirkpatrick said. "Jake had an excellent game tonight, but RJ and I scored 20 points. That shows the rest of the team can play."

Baker, after a relatively quiet first half, turned his game up a notch in the second half. He cut loose for 10 third-quarter points and had 16 in the second half when the Rocks outscored Romulus 48-33.

Salem will no doubt return to the role of underdog against Battle Creek, which beat Benton Harbor 77-72 to win its regional. But in the quarterfinals, Molloy thinks anything is possible.

"They can play with a Battle Creek Central or a Benton Harbor," he said, "because their kids are very smart, disciplined and tough. Their kids are tough."

With each success, the Rocks ponder the next step and the possibility of reaching new heights.

"At the beginning of the year, (the quarterfinals) wasn't even one of our goals," Baker said. "But we got a lot better as the season went on, and we kept setting higher goals for ourselves."

"I hope we're the underdog at Jackson," Johnson said. "We'll be fired up to play; I guarantee that."

OU women win tourney hoops clash

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

WARRENSBURG, MO. — Ten days ago, there were lots of heroes to choose from on Oakland University's women's basketball team, after it had won its two regional games with superb play at both ends of the court.

The players deserved the credit — then. On Friday, OU took another step along what coach Bob Taylor has been calling their "yellow brick road," knocking off Central Missouri State 66-61 in an NCAA Division II quarterfinal in Warrensburg, Mo.

The Lady Pioneers, 27-4, are on their way to the NCAA II Final Four. In Friday's semifinals, they will play the winner of the Bentley (Mass.)-Bellarmine (Ind.) game.

In distributing credit for this win, though, it would be best to first echo an all-too-familiar commercial: This one's for you.

The "you" in question is Taylor. OU did not perform as it had in the regional. The Lady Pioneers did not shoot well (27 of 58, 46.4 percent, and 0-for-11 from three-point range); they did not rebound well (CMS 51, OU 42); they did not handle the ball efficiently (21 turnovers).

WHAT THEY DID do was follow Taylor's game plan. That's how they won.

"Coach did a good job drawing it out," said OU's Dawn Lichty. "He wanted us to make their third and fourth players beat us."

Good move. Particularly the way it turned out — the Jennies had a horrible night shooting the ball, making just 24-of-78 shots (30.8 percent).

But what pleased Taylor was his team's limiting the number of shots from CMS's top scorers, Barb Sorensen (seven of 12) and Dawn Thomas (one of four).

"We wanted to attack their personnel," said Taylor. "We wanted to go at them defensively so their third and fourth players were shooting. We wanted their guards to shoot."

"If their guards are shooting, it would take them out of their offense."

The strategy was sound. The Jennies' starting guards, Cathy Hagenbaumer and Shelley Lauber, combined to make just seven-of-31 shots. The problem was, OU wasn't exactly clicking on offense, particularly in the game's early moments.

"I THINK WE were a little tight," said Lichty. It showed. The Lady Pioneers had trouble holding on to the ball; with 5:35 still left in the first half, they had already made 10 turnovers.

Nine seconds later, there was more trouble. Debbie Delle, OU's All-American center, got her second foul and went to the bench. A free throw by Sorensen put CMS on top 20-19, 90 seconds later.

But that's when the game turned. Stacy Lamphere came off the bench to ignite an OU rally, scoring six points in an 11-0 run that allowed the Lady Pioneers to go to the locker room at the half with a 30-22 lead.

They never again trailed, although CMS closed it up in the second half. Five times the Jennies were within a point of OU; five times the Lady Pioneers answered.

The 11-0 run at the end of the first half put OU in command; a 10-2 run late in the second decided it. Delle was at the center of the second surge. She scored 19 second-half points, including six in the pivotal 10-2 run that pushed OU's advantage from one point to 60-51 with 1:39 left.

Delle finished with 28 points (on 12-of-17 shooting), 13 rebounds and four blocked shots. Her efforts earned her Player of the Game honors.

"I JUST WORKED hard to get open," Delle said. "Our guards were working awful hard to get me the ball, so I figured that was the least I could do."

Jennifer Golen added 12 points, Shawne Brow netted eight, and Lichty finished with six points and seven assists. Sorensen's 17 points topped CMS, which bowed out at 29-3. Robin Williams had 14, and Hagenbaumer got 11.

"I've seen us play better," CMS coach Jon Pye said. "But you've got to give Oakland credit. They came in and scrapped hard, played hard and kept their discipline. We just didn't make our shots."

Which was only part of the problem. The Jennies also had the wrong people taking them.

"Soren's secret to success was that he has terrific athletic ability and has a great desire to excel," said Central coach Carl McBride. "He worked hard and dedicated himself. He was a leader by example."

Ryan Carriere, Livonia Stevenson, 119 pounds: Enroute to running up a 29-13 personal record, Carriere, a junior, finished second in the Western Lakes Activities Association and fourth in the district tournament. He is a two-time regional qualifier and boasts a 53-23-1 career record.

"Ryan is a hard worker and a leader of his team," said Stevenson coach Don Berg. "He has overcome many obstacles on the road to the state meet. With continued hard work, the 1990-91 season will be his year."

Ken Stopa, Plymouth Salem, 125 pounds: Stopa has only wrestled for two years, but owns an impressive 62-21 career record. This year, the senior grappler compiled a 33-12 record that included winning the championship of the tough Temperance-Bedford Invitational. He placed second in the Western Lakes Activities Association, and third in the district tournament and the Salem Invitational.

"Ken was one of our top plinners," said Salem coach Ron Krueger. "When we needed six (points) in a meet you could count on Ken. He had a very tough weight class. At Lansing Sexton he wrestled the state champion for fifth and sixth place. Ken was a two year wrestler. If he would have wrestled from his freshman year on he would have been a real good wrestler. We will miss him."

Julian Sell, Plymouth Salem, 130 pounds: Sell, a senior, improved his career record to 70-18 after racking up a 38-7 record this season. He was the Western Lakes Activities Association champ and also won individual championships at both the Plymouth Salem and Lincoln Park Invitionals. Sell placed second at the district tournament and qualified for the Class A state meet with a fourth-place finish at regional.

"Julian is one of the all-time favorites. We will miss him next year," said Salem coach Ron Krueger. "He was a good wrestler and a good student with a 4.33 grade-point-average, which is first in his class."

Lucian Van Cleave, North Farmington, 135 pounds: Van Cleave, a senior, recorded 19 pins while compiling a 33-12 season record. He placed second at the West Bloomfield Invitational, third at both the Salem and Lincoln Park tournaments and third in the Western Lakes Activities Association meet. He qualified for the Class A state meet with a fourth-place finish at the regional tournament. Van Cleave is a four-year varsity wrestler at North and owns a 69-40 career record.

"Lucian might be the strongest wrestler in the state at 135 pounds," said North coach Dick Cook. "He is very powerfully built and a very tough competitor. He was a co-captain and a good leader."

Jay Helm, Catholic Central, 140 pounds: Helm successfully defended the state championship he won last year as a junior by roaring through the 1989-90 season undefeated. Enroute to winning his second straight Class A state crown, Helm won the Lansing, Kearsley, Romulus and CC Invitational titles. He was also the district and regional champion and finished with a 58-0 personal record (he was 50-2 last year).

"Jay has been wrestling since he got out of the cradle," said CC coach Mike Rodriguez. "He's not as strong as he is quick, but his technique is excellent. He's just a hungry man and that's what makes him so tenacious when he wrestles."

Erik Shellenbarger, Livonia Churchill, 145 pounds: The senior wrestler improved his career record to 68-47 after compiling a 24-7 ledger this season. This year's success led him to the championship of the Garden City Invitational, the Dearborn Fordson Invitational and the Lansing Sexton Invitational. He also qualified for the regional tournament for the second year in a row with a fourth-place finish at districts.

"Erik was a pleasure to coach," said Churchill coach Melvin Richendollar. "He had a lot of heart and contributed to the building of the Churchill program. He had a fine year and wrestled well to overcome a lot of adversity."

Adam Cook, North Farmington, 152 pounds: Cook, a senior, wrestled up weight at 160 pounds for much of the year and still managed to compile a 25-12 personal record. He won the 160-pound weight class title at the Rochester Invitational and finished second at that weight at the West Bloomfield Invitational. He missed the Western Lakes league meet due to illness, but placed second at the Salem Invitational in the 152-pound weight class and qualified for the regional tourney with a fourth place finish at district at 152 pounds. He also recorded the fastest pin at North this season in just 15 seconds.

"Adam is a four-year wrestler and an honor student. He is one of a few kids at North that wrestles," said North coach Dick Cook. "He weighed 100 pounds as a freshman and 160 as a senior. He has grown 60 pounds and close to a foot in height. He is very agile and a good leg wrestler."

Steve Burlison, Plymouth Salem, 160 pounds: The senior placed third at the state meet and finished the season with a 44-2-1 personal record. He was the champion of the 160-pound weight class at the Bedford, Salem, Lincoln Park and Lansing Sexton invitionals and also won the district championship. He is a three-time state qualifier and a two-time league and district champion who boasts a 132-30 career record.

"Steve wrestled four years on the varsity and three of those years he was a state qualifier," said Salem coach Ron Krueger. "He had a great career and I think he will do well at the college level."

Kraig Kuban, Westland John Glenn, 171: Kuban ran up a 44-5 season record en route to qualifying for the Class A state tournament. He owns a 79-27-1 career record. The senior wrestler also holds the John Glenn record for pins in one season at 32, and pins in a career at 307.

"Kraig was a consistent hard worker in practice," said Glenn coach Tom Buckalew. "His willingness to work is reflected in the quality of his senior season."

Brian Burlison, Plymouth Salem, 189: The senior wrestler dropped his only match of the season in the preliminaries at the Class A state meet and had to settle for a third-place finish. He ended the season with a 46-1 personal record. He was the champion of the Western Lakes Activities Association, the district and regional tournaments and won the East Lansing, Bedford and Plymouth Salem Invitational crowns.

"It was a real pleasure to work with Brian. He was very coachable and turned into a very fine wrestler," said Salem coach Ron Krueger. "He beat the state champion during the year. I feel Brian is the best 189-pounder in the state."

Tom Buckalew, Westland John Glenn, Coach of the Year: In his 23rd and final season as head wrestling coach at John Glenn, the veteran coach led the Rockets further than any other Observerland team in the team tournament. The Rockets won their third district title with a 33-32 upset victory over then fourth-ranked Romulus. Glenn, ranked eighth in the state Class A, was eliminated from the team tourney by top-ranked Temperance-Bedford in the opening round of the Bedford regional. The Rockets also placed second in the Western Lakes Activities Association this year.

"I did not anticipate doing this well," Buckalew said. "The team has been real super."

This page is worth a rip, clip, or snip

The following information will help you understand The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. It is designed to help you sort out our various departments and locate specific people. So feel free to snip, clip or rip this page for future use.

CIRCULATION

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers are delivered twice each week by carrier and mail. Our current audited circulation is 158,367 (9/29/88). To begin receiving your Observer or Eccentric, call:

591-0500 in Wayne County
644-1100 in Oakland
651-7575 in Rochester/
Rochester Hills

These also are the numbers to call if you experience a problem with delivery.

Office hours are from 8:30 a.m. until 5:15 p.m.

To become a carrier, call 591-0500 in Wayne County or 644-1100 in Oakland County.

ADVERTISING

There are two basic types of advertisements in The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers:

DISPLAY:

These ads are found in the main sections of the paper and are billed at a column-inch rate. We will provide layout, typesetting, and copywriting if you wish, at no additional charge. Photographs and additional artwork are available for a fee.

Our representatives are happy to visit your place of business and discuss a marketing strategy with you, along with information pertaining to deadlines, contract rates, research data, and upcoming special supplements.

Our display telephone numbers are:

644-1100 in Oakland County
591-2300 in Wayne County

Monica DiCola heads our Retail Advertising department in Oakland (644-1100 ext. 349) and Mark Lewis is our Wayne County Retail Manager (591-2300 ext. 469).

CLASSIFIED:

These ads are found in the Classified sections of the papers and are placed in columns under the appropriate classification for the item that is to be bought or sold. They are billed at a line rate. Our Classified telephone lines are open daily from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Friday.

Call:

644-1070 in Oakland County
591-0900 in Wayne County

852-3222 in Rochester/Rochester Hills

Our computerized classified phone system will route your call to one of our ad takers. We suggest that you jot down what you would like to say before calling and have your Visa or MasterCard ready if you plan to use one of them.

Classified ads are also available in display format for Real Estate and Automotive clients and are billed at an inch rate. To arrange for a classified display ad, call:

644-1100 in Oakland County
591-2300 in Wayne County

Jack Padley manages our Classified department (591-2300 ext. 487).

Dick Brady directs all advertising and promotion for The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers; 591-2300 ext. 400.

EDITORIAL

Ever wonder who to call when you have a question or comment about what you've read in your hometown newspaper?

Perhaps you've wondered how to let us know about news or photo tips?

All news tips should be called to your community editor at the telephone numbers listed in the center column of this page. If you receive no answer, call The Observer—591-2305 or The Eccentric—644-1101.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

Editorials are published every Thursday. The lead editorial is written by the community editor. Editorials printed below the lead are written by a member of the editorial department. To reach the community editor, call the number listed. To reach the county editorial staff, call the appropriate number. All letters to the editor must be legibly written and signed. Please restrict letters to 300 words. We reserve the right to condense any letter and may refuse publication.

CLUB AND FASHION SHOW NOTICES:

Notices of club activities appear in the Thursday Suburban Life section.

All notices must be written legibly and received by 5:00 p.m. Monday to be included in Thursday's paper. If you have questions, please call the appropriate Suburban Life editor.

STREET SCENE

This section, which is written for readers in the 18-35 age range, appears in our Monday paper. It focuses on activities and events throughout Detroit as well as in our 12 community circulation area. For further information, call Sue Mason, 591-2300 ext. 331

591-2300 ext. 305

This is our food section and appears in the Monday paper. Any questions regarding recipes should be directed to Ethel Simmons, food editor.

BUSINESS NEWS

591-2300 ext. 325

The business section is published Thursdays. In addition to the story coverage and columns, the section contains several calendars: Business People covers promotions, internal awards and retirements for anyone living or working in our circulation area. We will print photographs if space permits. Datebook covers upcoming meetings and courses of interest to business people. MarketPlace briefly covers new businesses, new products and other business-related items.

Submit items for these in writing by 5 p.m. Monday. For these calendars call Barry Jensen, ext. 325. For all other items call Marilyn Fitchett, 591-2300 ext. 302

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS, ANNIVERSARIES

We publish photographs and announcements of weddings, engagements and major anniversaries of local residents or former local residents. These appear as soon as possible, depending upon available space. Forms for announcing these events are available from any of our local offices, or you may model your announcement on an example you've read in the newspaper.

The best reproduction can be made from a 5" x 7" black and white photo, but others are accepted. Please avoid regular or color Poloroid pictures.

PHOTOGRAPHS

Reprints of photographs that appear in the paper are not available. However, if a photograph is used and not needed for our files, it will be made available to the first person calling in. Such photographs will be held in any of our offices for two months, awaiting pickup. To inquire about a photograph, please call the editor who ran the picture i.e.: Sports, Suburban Life, Entertainment, Creative Living, News.

RELIGION

Religious news is published Thursdays. The religion calendar is published on these pages. Calendar deadline is Monday noon. All material must be in writing. For more information call your local suburban life editor.

OBITUARIES

We publish obituaries of local residents and former local residents. Most obituary information is received from area funeral homes. If a local funeral home is not involved, please call the community editor at the appropriate telephone number. All obituaries appear at the discretion of the community editor. Obituaries are printed without charge.

CREATIVE LIVING

News of the arts appears every Thursday. Notices of gallery shows must be legibly written and submitted by the 5 p.m. Monday deadline. For more information, call the appropriate Creative Living editor.

BUILDING SCENE

591-2300 ext. 302

Construction and building news appears every Monday and Thursday. All information related to this subject should be submitted to Marilyn Fitchett, editor, one week prior to publication.

591-2300 ext. 305

Entertainment pages appear Thursday and include feature stories, theater and other entertainment reviews, Table Talk restaurant news column, and the UPCOMING calendar, which deadlines each Thursday (for items to appear the following Thursday).

Submit all information to Ethel Simmons, entertainment editor.

MOVIE REVIEWS

591-2300 ext. 331

All questions about movie reviews, which appear every Monday in our STREET SCENE section, should be directed to Sue Mason.

Steve Barnaby is Managing Editor of The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers; 591-2300 ext. 300.

PRIVATE EYES

STEVE CANTRELL/staff photographer

According to private eye Dennis M. Kearns of Birmingham, his work is "intelligence gathering and problem solving."

They see your every move

By Amy Rosa
staff writer

"If you want to know what makes me tick browse through my library," said a voice from behind the desk.

The voice belonged to a dark-haired man whose blue eyes burrowed through a ray of sun interrupted by a partially opened window blind.

He was not wearing a trench coat. Eager for a clue, the visitor scanned the shelves noting such titles as "Interviewing and Interrogation," "The Complete Spy" and "Exotic Weapons: An Access Book."

"Ahh," thought the visitor, "So this is what a private eye reads."

But more importantly, what does a private eye do?

To discover this we spent a day hanging out with one — Dennis M. Kearns, to be exact.

In addition to the above mentioned titles, Kearns' bookshelves in his downtown Birmingham office near Maple and Woodward hold a complete set of Bresser's city directories for metropolitan Detroit . . . leading one to conclude much of his work is research. It is, he said.

"Private investigation is intelligence gathering and problem solving; that's what my business is," said Kearns, 35, director of The Phoenix Group. He is quick to dispel the myth that being a private eye — or "intelligence gatherer," as he sometimes calls himself — is at all cloak and dagger.

"I usually don't use disguises," Kearns explained.

In fact, much of his day is spent doing routine phone work, rather than the kind of leg work depicted on TV shows like the now defunct "Moonlighting." Perhaps that is why it might take a reporter spending one or two weeks with an investigator before coming away with an "exciting" first-hand story — especially during the slow pre-Christmas season, Kearns said.

"Most people don't think about all this routine stuff we have to do," he added, instinctively reaching for a blue putty mass. He began a routine of squeezing the putty with his right hand, easing out the tensions of a Monday afternoon.

BUT SOME OF the stuff — he had to admit — is a writer's dream.

Take for instance a case he took in early December which made news at one Detroit daily. The case concerned a penniless Detroit family that had broken up 25 years ago, after which the father lost contact with his three children.

Through the years, the father continued living in Detroit and worked at a menial job, from which he later won a personal injury award in the millions of dollars. The man died suddenly, and his attorney hired Kearns to find his missing children, so they could receive part of their father's estate. One child was found in Omaha.

While Kearns conducts much of his research by leafing through phone books and directories, a computer sitting amid piles of paper on his desk is his most invaluable tool. That's how he tracked down the three missing children.

"The concept of information gathering is changing," he said, calling it a "library science" of sorts. Investigators now have access to oodles of data bases, some very specialized, like ones containing facts and figures on certain companies — the so-called "corporate intelligence" data base.

Another is the Information On Line Network, an organization of 180 investigators worldwide, connected by computer. Driving records, marriage licenses and the like can be traced through this

'Miss Daisy' will get nod

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

Oscar's best picture category has a problem. Motions pictures is such a rich and diverse medium that academy voters and viewers alike wind up comparing apples and oranges.

Out of the fruit salad on Monday, March 26, one of five popular, successful, well-regarded, but very different films will emerge as the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences' top choice this year.

Everyone will say, "That's the best picture of 1990." But does anyone really believe that? Maybe. Do you have your own favorite? Probably. Was your choice nominated? Unlikely.

My two top selections — "Crimes and Misdemeanors" and "Triumph of the Spirit" — were nowhere to be seen when the ballots were counted.

The academy's five nominations, however, are what we have to work with. First of all, "My Left Foot" consistently has ranked high on my rejection list for several reasons. Chief among them is the fact that Brenda Fricker (nominated as best supporting actress) as Christy's mother, remains unchanged throughout 20 years of tribulation. That is a function of her acting as well as the fault of best director nominee Jim Sheridan.

The film's continuity and structure suffers because of this so despite Daniel Day Lewis' superb acting, scratch "My Left Foot."

"Field of Dreams" is another offbeat, unexpected choice — a successful and well-acted film — but it too suffers from structural faults with pretty thin motivation for Kevin Costner's behavior.

WHILE THE film is a positive statement about humanistic values and a fine declaration of reconciliation and redemption, it falters with weak background impetus for all that follows.

We never learn what terrible thing Costner's father did to deserve ill treatment from his son who now must cleanse his guilt. Dad liked baseball? His wife died? He was unimaginative? Hardly sufficient for such high honors, so let's move on with this search for number one.

Despite the excellence of "Born on the Fourth of July" and its well-deserved eight nominations, I've been passing it up on the political grounds that Vietnam is no longer the hot issue it was when Oliver Stone and "Platoon" won.

Despite my guesstimate that it won't win, "Born on the Fourth of July" remains a significant contender. One clear hint that it is well regarded by the academy is its large number of nominations, second only to "Driving Miss Daisy."

The fact that it evokes sympathy for Vietnam veterans, celebration

Don Cherry: Hockey's Night's real 'hat trick'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Trying to keep up with Don Cherry can be the pits. But for a chance to have an audience with "Grapes"? Are you kidding?

Hockey fans would snowmobile across Saskatchewan, canoe the Welland Canal and hitchhike to Hamilton to listen to the former National Hockey League coach spew his views on the sport.

Heck, somebody might even be inclined to drop $40 on drinks and eats at his restaurant/tavern in downtown Windsor.

No one can turn up the intricacies of the ice sport the way Cherry does on TV. After all, this is a guy who before a Detroit Red Wings-Toronto Maple Leafs game admitted that he had to contain himself discussing the mayhem that was about to take place. Instead, he gleamed at the camera, shook a menacing fist and said, "It's gonna be one of these tonight."

Fortunately, Cherry's an accommodating gent in person. The "Hockey Night of Canada" commentator strolls in and he's instantly beelzebub. A chance to talk with the Don of hockey would seem out of the question, especially without an appointment.

"Sure. You're going stick around, aren't you?" said Cherry, who was dapperly attired in one of his dark blue suits with the ever-present big collar. "Wait until I say hello to a few people and then we'll talk."

HEY, WE'VE got time. We've got a wallet full of Canadian money. Serve up those nachos, waitress, and keep the Blue Light coming.

While we're waiting for Mr. Cherry, perhaps a little introduction is order. Here goes Cherry 101.

Cherry used to coach the Boston Bruins, lost a game in the Stanley Cup final against Montreal Canadiens for having too many men on the ice, later coached the now-defunct Colorado Rockies, and became a color commentator on CBC-TV's "Hockey Night in Canada."

He has a bull terrier named Blue, doesn't care for Europeans in the National Hockey League, thinks less of guys who wear face shields, says Bobby Orr was the greatest player ever.

Pugilists adore him; pacifists abhor him. He talks about the game's fighters like they were his sons. Has his own television show, "Grapevine," on Cana-

Red Wing bad boy Bob Probert: "I loved the way he played. He was an intimidator. Proving that he wasn't a rocket scientist, he threw it all away. He'll get one more chance. But he won't play this year."

The plight of the Red Wings: "The trades they made absolutely killed them. Not the one they made to Edmonton (Jimmy Carson and Kevin McClelland for Petr Klina, Joe Murphy, Adam Graves and Jeff Sharples), but the one to St. Louis (Bernie Federko and Tony McKegney for Adam Oates and Paul McLean) absolutely wiped them out."

"Why they got rid of Oates and McLean was totally unbelievable. I have no idea why they go and get two old guys. Only thing I can

MOVING PICTURES

'Handmaid's Tale' is good, but inconsistent

All three major motion pictures opening this week deal with unpleasant, aggressive human behavior — men and women's violent struggle to survive at any cost in the recent past, the present and future.

the movies
Dan Greenberg

The last of these, "The Handmaid's Tale" (B-, R, 109 minutes), opens with echoes of Auschwitz and closes with an optimism not grounded in what the film has to say about contemporary society.

It is near the end of this century in Gilead, the totalitarian, fundamentalist nation into which America has evolved because of permissiveness, pollution and radiation.

For reasons unexplained, Kate (Natasha Richardson), her husband and daughter try to cross the border. The guards kill her husband and apprehend her. She is introduced to Gilead in scenes reminiscent of sorting prisoners at Auschwitz in "Sophie's Choice" and "Triumph of the Spirit."

Civil war and rebellion rage, the world's gone mad and few women are fertile. Those who are are trained, dressed in red, named Handmaidens and assigned to commanders to bear children for their sterile wives.

There also are Marthas (kitchen servants) and aunts whose job is to discipline and train handmaidens. There are, of course, Angels and Guardians, soldiers for commanders to command in the war against Mayday rebels, Baptist guerrillas and others who haven't accepted God's word as interpreted by the government of Gilead.

Offred — the names match the uniform clothing in one of the film's better comments on autocracy — and assigned to bear children for the Commander (Robert Duvall) and his wife Serena Joy (Faye Dunaway).

It turns out that the Commander is sterile so a surrogate, Nick (Aidan Quinn), an Angel, is introduced to impregnate Kate. Then, of course, love blossoms and that, as we all know, leads to revolution.

WHILE ALL this may sound bizarre, the force of "The Handmaid's Tale" lies in the reasonable manner with which the characters accept their strange roles in this perverted society. There is considerable impact in such an approach, particularly when the roles are so well acted, especially Duvall and Dunaway.

The conceptual force behind Margaret Atwood's best-selling novel is weakened by disturbing inconsistencies in plot continuity, particularly the film's opening and closing sequences.

Peppered throughout the film are suspicious moments when freedom of movement suddenly occurs — hardly logical, but convenient for plot structure.

Several mentions that Gilead is governed by Old Testament concepts skews the focus of the work as a statement against the Moral Majority and other right-wing fundamentalists.

AN UNPLEASANT view of the present is rendered by Kathryn Bigelow (director and co-scenarist) and Jamie Lee Curtis (actress) in "Blue Steel" (C+, R, 102 minutes). In a tense but trite psychological thriller, they prove that women in films are equally capable of the macho violence generally considered to be a negative masculine trait.

A rookie cop on her first assignment, Megan Turner (Curtis), blasts away at a party store robber. One of the witnesses, Eugene Hunt (Ron Silver), a psychopathic futures trader, grabs the dying robber's gun and disappears without being noticed. Pretty thin, if you ask me.

He then sets about making life miserable for Megan by spreading death through the streets of New York and involving her. The excessive violence gets pretty unpleasant.

For women who feel deprived that most film violence is male, "Blue Steel" is the ticket. Brilliant detective work might have saved this cliched plot but, as it stands, despite some serious psychological tension, there's too much brute force throughout the film.

albeit no less pleasantly, in a Harry Hook remake of "Lord of the Flies" (B, R, 85 minutes). Based on Nobel Laureate Sir William Golding's well-regarded novel, this version was co-produced by Lewis Allen who also produced Peter Brook's 1963 version.

A GROUP OF young boys are marooned on a tropical island after the plane carrying them from their military school crashes at sea. Two natural leaders, Ralph (Balthazar Getty) and Jack (Chris Furrh) emerge, the former uses intelligent reasoning and represents organized society while the latter is symbolic of jungle strength.

Ralph thinks clearly and attempts to lead by lighting signal fires and attempting to get everyone working together. Jack hunts and kills for food. Soon a test of strength emerges between these two competing leaders. The boys first divide but later follow Jack and Ralph is left alone fighting for his life against the rest of the boys, the island's "new society."

The actors, all unknowns recruited for this production, are particularly effective — and frightening — in their quick reversion from polished military manners to primal savagery. "Lord of the Flies" moves too slowly in building its story and the boys' character and then ends abruptly leaving the viewer shocked at that abruptness. Reviewed by Kathy Guyer.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Tough choices at festival

By John Monaghan
special writer

Dancing condoms are always a surprise. But for a seven-member film selection panel, which has just suffered through an especially dry documentary on Apollo astronauts, the rubber Rockettes provoke enthusiastic applause.

"Les Plastiques," an animated short by Ann Arbor resident Michael Young, is only one of almost 300 films under consideration for this year's Ann Arbor Film Festival. At 28 years of age, the event is the longest running experimental and independent 16 mm festival in the country.

Led by hair dresser Vicki Honeyman, the panel has the monumental task of selecting approximately 50 films that will reach the big screen of the Michigan Theatre this week. These will in turn be viewed by celebrity judges, who will award cash prizes of up to $2,000.

The panel meets almost every night for five weeks in the back room of Vicki's Wash and Wear Haircuts. They're surrounded by postal crates full of movie submissions, with return addresses from as far away as New Zealand, Australia and England. Among the more intriguing titles are "Rope of Blood," "The Flora Faddy Furry Dance" and "Outrageous Taxi Stories."

THE PANEL follows a rigid schedule for viewing every frame of the films. They space out the ones they especially look forward to seeing. On this particular night, the next film on the agenda is "180-1" by Chris Shambaugh, last year's award winner for most promising filmmaker.

"Wow me, Chris" challenges one of the group as the credits roll. This short film, shot in black and white, uses live action, animation and intentionally grainy composition. In a recurring image, a man leafs through the pages of a book, which comes to life via stop-animation. It's so much an art film, in fact, that you can't tell if film scratches are intentional or not.

Reviews are mixed. Those who had seen Shambaugh's earlier film found this one technically impressive but derivative. Others, including myself, who had never seen his work, were most knocked out. This was the most heated discussion of the night — next to what to order on the pizzas.

Several local eateries donate food to the hard-working cinephiles. All it takes is a call to Pizza Bob's to have the weekly allotment delivered. The magnificent seven slide down pineapple and pepperoni slices while watching the feature-length "Growing Up in America."

Directed by Toronto-based Morley Markson, "Growing Up in America" updates the lives of counter-culture heroes Timothy Leary, Allen Ginsberg and Jerry Rubin. But it's footage of the late Abbie Hoffman (in what may be his last interview) that makes the film notable.

THOUGH ALL have extensive backgrounds in filmmaking and film viewing, panel members haven't become overly jaded and cynical. Jeffrey Conlon's "Game Point" focuses on a young basketball player's relationship with a father who has Alzheimer's disease. It's the kind of manipulative film I feel guilty for hating, but some members of the captive audience treat it kindly.

Treasure hunting is the primary motivation behind the panel. It's what keeps them going until two in the morning. By digging through reels of celluloid, they will uncover 50 amazing pictures to share with the film festival audience.

The same strategy should apply for attending the festival.

"Too many people make the mistake of attending just on winners' night," said Honeyman. "You might think you're seeing the best of the festival, but really, these are just what the judges picked."

"You may find other films much more fascinating."

NEW MUSIC

WDET's Dave Dixon hosts a new TV show Thursday nights on WADL, Channel 38.

Radio plays it safe for ratings

By John Cortez
special writer

Late last year, Boston's WFNX-FM asked its listeners to rank the top 101 songs of the '80s. "How Soon is Now?" by the Smiths topped the list, with other top spots filled by such artists as U2, New Order, the Cure, R.E.M. and the Clash.

San Diego's XTRA-FM, where Detroit new wave expatriate Mike Halloran currently resides, took the same poll and saw similar results, including the same top tune.

Such a vote by Detroit radio audiences would have markedly different results. A regular listener to Detroit rock radio must think that Husker Du is a memory game and the Smiths are brothers who make cough drops.

The truth is that they are two fine rock bands whose time has come and gone, without so much as whisper over the commercial airwaves of Detroit, "the home of rock'n'roll."

As it stands now, progressive music fans can only be sated in compact two-hour chunks on Sunday nights, or at hours when most people are either sleeping or watching David Letterman.

And put the shades away, because the future's not so bright. The odds of regularly hearing new music (music by bands who don't have hairdressers, leather stockings or "gun" in their name) on a strong-signal FM station any time soon are slightly less than the odds of Little Richard joining football's L.A. Raiders.

THE SITUATION, according to the experts, is explained by a simple equation: Financial survival equals high advertising revenue, which equals good ratings, which equals tried and true formats — the same classic and not-so-classic rock the AOR stations churn out hour after hour, day after day.

A radio station buying and selling frenzy within the last five years has incurred tremendous debts. Management has to protect its huge investments by going after the top advertising dollar, according to Fred Jacobs, the brains behind classic rock, whose company does consulting work for about 20 stations across the continent, including WCSX.

"Radio is not dictating the situation — advertising is," Jacobs said. "The reason a lot of stations in the Detroit market have a lot of the same characteristics is that they're all going after the same people."

Those "people" those advertisers want are not Lloyd Cole fans, they're Billy Joel fans who drive nice cars with lots of extra cash to spend. They're Led Zeppelin fans who drive crummy cars with no extra cash to spend, but spend it anyway.

The only way for advertisers to know if their jaunty jingles are perpetually stuck in the minds of their target audience is the all-powerful rating.

"If you're going to succeed in this business you must have good ratings in a desirable demographic," said Jacobs. "The problem is that the ratings are frequently questioned, and even if they are accurate, all they tell you is that you went up or down. You never know why."

COUNT WDET's Dave Dixon among those who questions the ratings system.

"Ratings are legalized extortion," declared

Dixon, who hosts a new TV show Thursday nights on WADL, Channel 38. "It's a system that radio doesn't have the guts to wear itself off. Stations who spend more money with the ratings people have a better chance to get higher ratings."

Dixon likened the ratings system to payola scandals involving stations taking cash to play certain records, and predicted that, as with payola, the system will be exposed.

"Someone in the ratings business will write a tell-all story," he prophesized, "and the next day radio will be as radically changed as Russia."

Will it take something as momentous as the fall of the Berlin Wall to get a station that plays more Stone Roses than Rolling Stones?

"I think a station like this can be successful in Detroit," Jacobs said, referring to a new music format called the Edge that he has developed and copyrighted. "How successful is harder to say. It's to make money, but given this debt situation, that's usually not enough anymore."

"Detroit is a real cool city — it could support a new music station no problem," said Halloran via telephone from San Diego, where the station he programs makes $12 million a year and regularly rates in the market's top five. "We've proven that you can do it and survive. It's a matter of someone in Detroit realizing that AOR is essentially a dead format and giving this a real shot."

HALLORAN BLAMED the demise of his former station WLBS (now WKSG) on lack of direction and commitment from management, and said that a station needs both to instill a new music format, something stations are wary to do.

"Fear motivates a lot of decisions that are made," said Jacobs. "But I can understand why someone who owns a $15 million radio station may not want to roll the dice."

While radio is playing craps, it must actively pursue the listening desires of its audience — and the listeners must make their opinions known. Otherwise they can only mutter to themselves in vain when they hear "Rocket Man" on three stations at once.

"It's not always easy to find out what people want," observed Jacobs. "No radio station wants to do things that people hate."

REVIEWS

WAKING ON EACH OTHER — The Elementals

"Waking on Each Other" is the latest effort by Robert Thibodeau's band, The Elementals. Thibodeau, owner of Berkley's Mayflower Bookshop, is somewhat of a local celebrity in Detroit metaphysical circles. He describes his role on "Waking on Each Other" as "songwriter, romantic-futurist, celestial navigator, mystic voyager, metaphysical and meratheric musician."

"Waking on Each Other" is the type of album that grows on you. Fans familiar with the Elementals' earlier, more rock'n'roll oriented efforts will initially be surprised, and possibly disappointed, by the new softer sound of the group. But this new sound starts sounding better and better with repeated listenings.

Thibodeau calls the album "easy listening folk-rock romance." In the old days, it would have been called "make-out music."

Thibodeau sings in a breathy fairy tale voice full of child-like wonder. This takes a little getting used to. Rarely are males singers so plainly honest, emotional or God forbid, as openly joyful as Thibodeau is on "Waking on Each Other."

Other highlights include "Soul Doctor," a song that has drawn comparisons to John Lennon's later efforts and "Whistling Chopsticks," a song about the importance of re-mainly silly.

Chris McCall of Jugglers and Thieves instantly tops her work with that band with her back-up vocals on this album. In Jugglers and Thieves, her voice is sometimes drowned out by guitar pyrotechnics, but her voice rings clear and true. She reaches breath-taking loveliness on "Woman (womb-in)," a hopeful duet along the lines of Peter Gabriel's "Don't Give Up."

Another local luminary on the album is Darryl Dybka, the co-producer and keyboard player. Dybka's credits include work with Frank Zappa, Earl Klugh and Chet Atkins.

Romantic types will find love songs a plenty on "Waking on Each Other." Nine out of the 11 songs, including "Bless Your Heart," "I'm in Love" and "Is My Love Good Enough?" deal with the ever-popular subject of love.

As Thibodeau puts it, "The Elementals just kissed you on the lips."

OUR FLAWS MAKE US PERFECT

— Sensitive Big Guys

Sensitive Big Guys in a nutshell: Loud guitars, lyrics humorous, vocals likewise and a peculiar affinity for dairy products.

From there, it's anybody's guess. Can a band be taken seriously with such neo-cosmopolitan and vexing political titles as "Cheap Beer" and "Lazy People," along with "Sour Cream" and "Yogurt" (obviously earning the Big Guys a seal of approval from the American Dairy Council)?

Let's hope not. "Our Flaws Make Us Perfect" is an example of a group that is quite content with being a guitar guttural basement band. Maybe that's not so bad. At least the Sensitive Big Guys are not guilty of pretention.

Partners in guitar, Rob Varney and Brian Russel, provide a hornet's nest of string activity from the opening number "Sour Cream" that doesn't relent. As a vocalist, Varney won't have Bono quaking in his boots. Judging by the cement mixer sound, Brian Eno (curator of music for dentist chairs) wasn't called in for production work.

There is no attempt to offset any of the eight punk guitar driven numbers with anything resembling a melody. Lyrically, the Big Guys have some bite. That is if you can hear it through the guitar mombos.

Provided in "When I Met You," a love song that microwaves the heart: "When I met you birds fell from the trees/Then the state of Texas was conquered by killer bees/Then part of California fell into the sea/Then all Kansas was conquered by leprosy." Gees, kind of makes you regret letting Hallmark do the job on Valentine's Day.

If one thing makes the Sensitive Big Guys an endearing bunch, it's their humor. You'll laugh until your ears hurt. Or your ears will hurt until you laugh.

THE SWEET KEEPER

— Tanita Tikaram

"The Sweet Keeper" by Tanita Tikaram is an album for the VH-1 generation. VH-1, for the benefit of those who aren't blessed (or cursed, as the case may be) with cable television, is an adult (read: mellow) version of the MTV video station.

But, Tikaram is a crossover artist in the sense that both aging baby boomers and their kids will like her music.

In the past, the generation gap between the over 30s and under 30s was especially apparent in musical tastes. The oldsters jammed to the likes of Perry Como and Bing Crosby, while their children listened to groups with weird names like the Who and the Doors. Not exactly a generation gap... more like a chasm.

Now, these aging thirtysomethings want to remain cool in their musical tastes, but their fast-track-addled brains don't take so kindly to fast and loud music anymore. So, artists like Suzanne Vega, Steve Winwood and the Cowboy Junkies become popular. The music is hip, but easy on the ears.

"The Sweet Keeper" is the follow-up to Tikaram's 1988 effort, "Ancient Heart." "Heart" received fairly complimentary reviews and "The "Sweet Keeper" probably will, too, since it is pretty much the same record.

Tikaram is somewhat of a rarity in the music business in that she wrote the all words and music on the album, and played many of the guitar parts herself.

The petite Tikaram also has an amazingly deep voice.

This is interesting at first because her voice is so unusual and distinctive. But, with repeated listenings, it soon turns annoying as it quickly becomes apparent that Tikaram has an incredibly small vocal range.

She talks/sings through the 10 songs on "The Sweet Keeper" in the same monotonous tone of voice.

In other words, if you like one song off of "The Sweet Keeper," you will surely like all of them because the album sounds more like one big song with minor variations than a collection of different songs.

FEAR & LOAFING

Cable manners

Karl Nilsson

If you thought the delay of the baseball season was big news, listen to this flash: The end of the world has just been postponed.

With the recent thaw on the Cold War, the International Coalition of Atomic Scientists and Beer Tasters A-Go-Go has moved the hands of the official Doomsday Clock backwards from 11:58 p.m. to 11:50 p.m.

Now that we're 10 reassuring minutes away from Armageddon, nuclear annihilation has been replaced as the "Most Disruptive Household Event" by a new threat. Of course, the awful event I'm talking about is free Cable Movie Preview Week.

Granted there was a time back in my college days when staring at a scrambled TV signal would have been considered entertaining. But lately, seeing the jumbled patterns makes me insatiably curious: What important cultural event am I missing? A triumph of the human spirit? A breakthrough in cognitive science? Frontal nudity?

The concept behind preview week is simple: Twice a year the cable companies unscrambles its premium channels and lets non-subscribers sample a typical week of programming. (To call this juiced-up schedule as "typical" is like calling Donald Trump an "average wage earner." The teaser lineup is stacked with ringers like Tom Cruise and Bette Midler. The actual schedule is more likely to feature three hours of Yoko Ono bleating like a goat.)

THEORETICALLY, once you see what you've been missing by wasting time reading, conversing and sleeping, you'll dash to the phone and sign up but quick!

To further encourage you, the teletext host (handpicked for his agoraphobia) gently explains the hazards of going out to the movies:

"Suppose someone wires explosives to your ignition switch? Is the big screen ambience worth being vaporized by a pipe bomb? Is the smell of popcorn worth being cremated alive in a blazing head-on crash with a tanker truck?"

"Remember, with cable you stay safely locked in your own home. Not to sound negative, but the theatre is just the kind of place where your car could be stolen, your purse could be snatched, and you could be pushed through a plate glass window — all in one night! Worse yet, you might have to use the public restroom.

"According to our research, the average visit to the cinema goes something like this: First, you stand in pouring rain. Next, you find a seat — directly in front of three fun-loving psychopaths hiding from a police manhunt. Crazy number one swaps shoes with your wife. Number two kicks your seat in time with the music. Number three fires his pistol into the air whenever someone on screen mentions Niagra Falls.

"You lean back just long enough to attract head lice when, suddenly, hunger strikes. Stumbling to the concession stand, you shell out $7.50 for stale Milk Duds. When you return, the Detroit Pistons' starting lineup is sitting in front of you.

"ARRIVING HOME, exhausted and broke, you discover your babysitter and Daniel Ortega, clad only in moon boots and lobster bibs, dancing fairly authentic lambada on the coffee table.

"Call now to avoid this needless tragedy. After all, would you rather be glued to the tube or glued to the sticky floor of a theater?"

How was this persuasive teletext technique perfected? A group of 40 adults who use silverware was asked to view a movie channel preview week under laboratory conditions. The transition from couch potato to brain dead was carefully monitored.

The results were conclusive: After five nights of watching Howlingly Funny Big Name Movie Greats, a viewer's brain undergoes a series of unexplained contractions until it finally shrinks to the size of a cough drop. At this point, they are unable to pinpoint their current address beyond which planet they live on.

All of which makes them the perfect candidates for a costly upgrade to a premium channel. The only problem is they can no longer dial the toll-free number.

STREET SENSE

Smoking: Individual vs. society

Dear Barbara, I am sick of hearing all of the negative brainwashing for cigarettes. Is there anyone on this planet who doesn't know that cigarettes are harmful. So, enough already.

If you haven't already guessed, I am a smoker. I assume I will quit someday, but I am not ready to right now. I wish the rest of the world would leave me be.

Who pays for all the propaganda any how? I sure hope that I am not paying for it indirectly. That would enrage me even more.

Not Yet Able to Quit

Dear Not Yet Able to Quit,

The issue that you raise is important in every community. It is that of the individual versus society. As with many issues, it is a true dilemma. That is, there is no real answer to it. Both sides have valid positions.

Since the advent of aggressive anti-smoking campaigns, many individuals have stated sentiments like yours. David Newman, the WXYT morning show host, recently complained of feeling harassed by anti-smoking messages.

Nickie McWhirter in a recent column said "unwanted health advice makes me sick." She quoted author/journalist Fran Liebowitz as saying, "Smoking is the whole reason for being grown up."

All of you have a point. The issue is not as clear as it seems to be to the anti-smoking brigade.

The issue of suicide can be compared. In many religions, suicide is considered to be a sin and the bodies are buried separate from others. Possible suicides are hospitalized so as to be protected from themselves.

On the other hand, suicide in Asian cultures was, and may still be, considered an honorable way to die. In Asian cultures, smoking is not considered a social evil, but is accepted as a person's individual choice. The other side of this issue is the societal view. Smoking costs each taxpayer $221 a year. That is, both non-smokers and smokers are paying for the illness, absenteeism and loss of productivity caused by smoking.

Your smoking habit has been at least partially influenced by the positive "brainwashing" that the cigarette companies have promulgated. Negative persuasion is needed merely to counteract it. Your taxes are paying for this through the Michigan Department of Health.

As a "bleeding heart," I hope you will decide to quit. "for your own good." But there are many individualists that would opt for you to live your life as you see fit.

network in hopes of finding missing people — to which Kearns boasts an 80 percent success rate.

Sometimes the simplest methods of gathering information is best, though. Like the time Kearns and one of his agents sat next to two undetected corporate thieves in a restaurant, and overheard their plans to bilk their company out of thousands of dollars.

STILL, COMPUTERS are a large part of the business.

The connection to worldwide sources is touted in Kearns' advertising brochure, along with The Phoenix Group's affiliation to former national intelligence (CIA) officers and various local and state law enforcement sources.

All this sounds impressive and adds to the image that "we're not the ordinary investigative agency," said Kearns.

"We're unique," he said. "We handle exotic people with wierder problems."

Then perhaps it shouldn't be a surprise to learn the group handles terrorist complaints, as the brochure claims.

"Not necessarily Germans or Arabs in ski masks," Kearns explained, "But more like employees who have been fired who call up and say 'I'm going to beat your ass.'"

He gets two or three such terrorist jobs a year.

However, Kearns reaps more employment from corporate takeover attempts.

Four years ago Kearns and a surveillance expert from Washington, D.C., practically lived in two buildings owned by a Detroit corporation, trying to sniff out bugs and taps theoretically planted by takeover gurus.

The investigators checked the company's private jets and covered every surface of headquarters with approximately $70,000 in surveillance detection equipment.

In the end, nothing was found, "although I got more gray hairs on that assignment than any other," said Kearns, who netted approximately $30,000 for the job.

OF KEARNS' Yellow Pages ad saying "rooms and telephones checked for bugs and taps," he is careful to point out the word checked. The ad draws at least 10 calls a week, but by people wanting Kearns to implement taps, not detect them.

Bugging and wiretapping have been felonies since 1968 and are punishable by up to 10 years in jail. Any detectives caught in the act would assuredly lose their licenses, Kearns said.

"Even attorneys are aghast that I can't do it," he said. "No one could

Other calls he prefers not to get are requests from men — and there have been a number — who want women's underwear tested for sperm — presumably not theirs.

"I have the labs that will do it, but I don't like to do that sort of thing," he said.

Still, the domestic scene does provide its fair share of job opportunities. Kearns is frequently asked to do work in child custody cases, by perhaps following a parent's comings and goings for evidence that he or she may be unfit.

Then there is the typical job he is asked to do during the holiday season.

"Around Christmas everyone wants to find an old girlfriend or boyfriend — but they all want to do it for $25," he said. The job actually costs $300.

Kearns was still absently squeezing the blue putty, when he was asked why he does so.

"Tension builds up when you're dealing with everyone else's problems."

THE WALLS are decorated with countless hockey photos and memorabilia. Some patrons walk around in Maple Leaf jerseys, making one wonder if he should stand up and whistle "O Canada" before eating.

OK, so where's "Grapes?" Three hours later, we spot the cult hero of hockey fans sitting at a table with a pitcher of beer. We move in to forecheck.

Although in his 50s, Cherry adroitly weaves through traffic, ducks around the corner and appears to be home free.

Suddenly, he pulls up short.

"Excuse me," he said, veering off to the downstairs restroom.

Cherry re-emerges. He ushers us through the kitchen to an office.

"I've got to fix that picture on the screen and gotta clean up that bathroom," he said, sitting down at the table. "I put out fires wherever I go."

brates the strength of human courage and includes so many talented performances doesn't hurt its chances either.

THAT BRINGS us to the top two, "Dead Poet's Society" with four nominations and "Driving Miss Daisy," leading the field with nine. All those nominations may be a clue to academy members' thinking. What other factors are at play here?

Both films were out of the mainstream in subject and production background. Both were unexpected successes at the box office. Analyzing the nominations they received shows how well regarded they were by the academy. All four "Dead Poet's Society" nominations were in major categories, while "Driving Miss Daisy" received five major and four minor nominations.

Both were nominated for best picture and screenplay — original for "Dead Poet's Society" and adapted for "Driving Miss Daisy." The latter also received nominations for best actress and supporting actor, while the former got the nod for best director. All in all, they're pretty even in the major categories.

The four minor nominations "Driving Miss Daisy" received — art direction, makeup, costume design and film editing — particularly the first three, are significant.

BUT THERE'S more to number one than how it looks. How does the winner make people feel? Winning films are upbeat in the sense that they leave audiences enriched with positive feelings.

As a matter of fact, both "Dead Poet's Society" and "Driving Miss Daisy" were successful because they avoided the mundane, drippy and obvious and celebrated the very best of human courage, tenacity and that spirit which exalts our sense of life.

But there is an important difference in the way these two films achieve those objectives. Like Greek tragedy, "Dead Poet's Society" ennobles its participants as they learn and understand the meaning of life through the implications of a tragic event that has touched their lives and ours as well.

While this is an age old and effective dramatic pattern, "Driving Miss Daisy" honors life in a happier way. The growth of the central characters — Miss Daisy and her chauffeur, Hoke — celebrates life by living and maturing.

The computation is clear. The 1990 best picture is "Driving Miss Daisy."

He can't tell a joke, but people laugh

Allan Stephan has made his mark in comedy with a sarcastic brand of conversational humor and his tough New Jersey demeanor.

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Sam Kinison slept on his floor. Jay Leno performed in a club he managed. Roseanne Barr uses his jokes.

Allan Stephan can drop names, but he prefers to stand on his own.

And stand, Stephan does. His sarcastic brand of conversational humor and his tough New Jersey demeanor make audiences laugh and take the darfs out of the heckler's arsenal.

Stephan is a comedian who admittedly cannot tell a joke. He can tell how an audience will react.

"When I first started, I was shaky," said Stephan, who will perform this week at Joey's Comedy Club & Sports Emporium in Allen Park. "Now I know how much blue material they can take, how much clean material I can use. I can tell how much I can get away with just by looking at the crowd."

"When I started I had a Don Rickles thing. I'd say to someone in the audience, 'Nice tie. Where did you get it at: a circus or something?' I didn't know how to deliver it properly."

Proper is not the word used to describe his act. Stephan is quick to point out that his routine is not offensive, though. Perhaps that assumption is made out of guilt by association. He's toured with Kinison's "Comedy Outlaws" and appeared as a drummer in the guttural screaming comedian's video "Wild Thing."

He might be friends with Kinison, the latter staying with Stephan at his apartment at one time. But there it ends.

"I CAN MAKE it work in front of a crowd of grandmas," he said. "I don't really tell dirty jokes. It's just the flow of my conversation."

Like many of those in the business, Stephan's comedic turn was a fluke. He originally left his home in New Jersey for Los Angeles to pursue acting.

For awhile, he parked cars and pumped gas while trying to find acting work. He bumped into a comedian, Mitchell Walters. Soon, Stephan was testing his stand-up act at the Comedy Store in Los Angeles.

He later managed the renowned comedy club. On a given night, it was possible to see Richard Pryor, Freddie Prinze, Steve Landesberg, Jay Leno and David Letterman on the same bill at the Comedy Store. Of the group, Stephan said Landesberg was probably the most under-rated.

"Letterman had very sarcastic material, but he wasn't that funny," said Stephan, recalling those early days. "He didn't have that much material, which is probably why he still doesn't like to do stand-up."

A lack of material has never been a problem for Stephen. He writes his own stuff, not to mention coming with material for others such as Jimmy Walker, Pryor and Barr.

The star of TV's "Roseanne" recently called Stephan to spice up her Las Vegas routine. Stephan wrote most of her earlier "female" jokes.

"ACTUALLY, YOU take what she does and move it up another level," he said. "When you write for someone else, you put yourself in their shoes."

"You hate to write, especially if the joke works. The joke goes on; the check doesn't."

Allan Stephan will perform Wednesday through Saturday, March 21-24, at Joey's Comedian Club & Sports Emporium in Allen Park. For information, call 382-7041.

Lansing: Lots to see, Lots to do

By LeAnne Rogers
staff writer

Spend a day in Lansing. OK, so it doesn't have the theater and shopping of New York or Chicago. Or even the theater of Detroit and the shopping of Birmingham.

Recognizing this town is our state capital, there must be lots of things to do. Actually, there are museums and lots of them, with something for everyone in the family.

Don't miss the Impression 5 Science Museum. This place is neat, keen and a great way to spend an afternoon for just about anyone, including someone like myself who has little grasp of science and even less interest.

Located on Museum Drive, just off Michigan Avenue in downtown Lansing, Impression 5 is the kind of museum that requires hands-on participation.

In a darkened room, visitors jump around in front of what looks like a large movie screen to create a flying shadow. A flash of light they trigger goes off, capturing their silhouette on the phosphorescent back drop.

Light sticks mounted on the wall demonstrate the concept of the persistence of vision. By moving your eyes rapidly to the side, a picture becomes visible that can't be seen by looking at the light bar straight on.

A recent exhibit at the museum was "About Faces." The computer-based exhibit has 18 activities looking at the muscles of the face and how they are used to express different emotions or reactions.

AT THE Micro Express, you sit at what looks like a video game and press a button to record yourself. The playback, which includes previous participants, compresses or stretches your facial expressions in time, highlighting movements that can be as quick 1/45th of a second.

At another computer, you can blend your features or entire face with that of well known personalities, such as Marilyn Monroe. Other parts of the exhibit, let you adjust the width and height of your face to demonstrate its lack of symmetry or prepare a composite picture of a suspect.

Other exhibits include the Big Mouth, large enough to climb into and examine the teeth. On the floor nearby, the human digestive system is laid out for the digestive game.

You can go through every day doorways and furniture in a wheel chair as part of the handicapped obstacle course.

Music instruments, such as xylophones and a bass, can be played to demonstrate sounds and tone. Only one exhibit seemed clearly designed for smaller visitors, a touch tunnel which had to be crawled through.

VARYING LIVE demonstrations and workshops are offered at the museum along with science classes. The museum is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays-Saturdays and noon-5 p.m. Sundays. There is a $3 admission fee for adults, $2.50 for students up to 18 years, $2 for senior citizens and children under 3, free. For more information, call (517) 485-8115.

The State Capitol is kind of a must see when you are in Lansing, the headquarters of the Legislature and governor are still undergoing renovations. Work on the public areas of the building aren't expected to be completed until 1992.

Taking the free guided tour of the Capitol feels rather like a school field trip as you tramp en masse up and down the rotunda. This impression was probably aided by the fact that our tour group was primarily a group from Homer High School.

The ground floor of the rotunda features a glass tiled floor. People at the basement level can see the feet of the people walking above them.

Displayed on the first floor are flags carried by Michigan military units. Some of the flags, the oldest of which are from the Civil War, have holes received during battles. Restoration work has been completed on deteriorating flags with more work scheduled in the future.

THE PORTRAITS of Michigan's governors, which had hung on different levels in the capitol rotunda, have been temporarily removed to avoid dirt or damage from the renovation work.

Decorated with paintings of Greek muses representing arts and sciences, the Capitol actually has two domes, one inside another. Until the fire marshal put a stop to it about 35 years ago, visitors could climb a ladder up into the two domes and enjoy the panoramic view.

This particular capitol building was opened in 1879 and efforts have been made to keep the hallways looking as they did when the building was opened. Drop ceilings outside the senate entrance were removed, revealing long concealed skylights. The original colors were matched for painting the restored area and period chandeliers reproduced.

And at the end of the approximately 20-minute tour, you can collect your "I visited the Michigan State Capitol" button.

Located a couple blocks southwest of the Capitol, the new Michigan Historical Museum has been open less than a year. The permanent displays take visitors on a path through the state's history from its geological formation and earliest human dwellers through the end of the 1800s.

At the atrium entrance to the permanent display is a 60-foot reproduction of a white pine tree, the state tree. Standing guard nearby are costumed Paleo Indians, the first people to come across the land bridge between Alaska and Asia to North America 14,000 years ago.

DIORAMAS AND displays outline Native American life in Michigan before the first European visitors arrived in 1620.

A wooden fort stockade is reproduced along with displays of Civil War artifacts, photographs and swords.

The natural resources which drew settlers and investors to Michigan over the years — copper, iron and lumber — receive a great deal of attention. The museum's more unusual displays include reproductions of copper and iron mines to accompany photographs and other historical documents.

You can walk inside the mines, the copper mine being a dark and shadowy tunnel with log supports. Even the burro used for the operation is included. An audio tape provides sound effects in the tunnel.

Narrated video presentations, utilizing historical photographs, provide an oral history about miners and the different jobs performed in the mine.

The lumber display includes a reproduction of a lumber mill and a wealthy lumber baron's home with a veranda, lattice work and stained glass windows.

There is also a Big Wheel — not the kid's ride, but an enormous rig designed to haul huge loads of logs out of the woods when warm weather prevented use of sleds.

FARMING AND early growth in Michigan manufacturing are also documented at the museum. Within the next few years, the museum's 20th century displays will be completed.

Temporary displays at the museum are currently "Beacons and Bravery" and "Getting There Is Half the Fun."

"Beacons and Bravery" has photographs and artifacts about the state's lighthouse keepers and water rescue crews. An early floatation device — a cork block life belt — is included. The exhibit was organized in conjunction with the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Lighthouse Service.

Another train, from 1958, transports the Shrine Circus, its cars filled with animals like lions and giraffes.

A model train with full sound effects runs through a diorama of the historic district in north Lansing. Both exhibits run through March 18.

The museum is free and open 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Portraits of Michigan's past governors are missing during the ongoing renovations, but the Greek muses who decorate the State Capitol dome can still be seen.

Getting an inside view on teeth at Lansing's Impression Five Science Museum is Patrick Barnard, 8, of Perry.

RIGHT ACROSS from the Impression 5 Science Museum is the R.E. Olds Museum, which looks at the history of transportation, as based in Lansing. The museum's namesake was a native son and founder of Oldsmobile. The museum lays claim to having the first Oldsmobile, built in 1897 and "definitely not your father's Oldsmobile." Antique REOs, Stans, Durants and other cars are displayed. The museum is open 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A display of Paleo Indians, the first people to come across the land bridge from Asia to Alaska 14,000 years ago, greets visitors at the Michigan Historical Museum in Lansing.

Tuesday-Friday and noon-5 p.m. weekends.

In Lansing, everyone gets a museum. Opposite the Olds Museum is the Michigan Museum of Surveying. This is a new museum, featuring exhibits on, you guessed it, the history of surveying in the state. Historical and modern surveying equipment is displayed along with a diorama recreating a 19th century surveying office. The museum is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., closed between noon-1 p.m.

Located at 215 W. Main Street is the Michigan Women's Historical Center and Hall of Fame. The permanent exhibits portray the lives and achievements of both historic and contemporary women who have been inducted into the hall of fame. The museum is open noon-4 p.m. Wednesday-Friday and 1-4 p.m. Sunday.

The Lansing-North Lansing Electrical Railroad Museum, 317 E. Grand River, features models of the original electric trolley and interurban steam and diesel locomotives that operated on Lansing streets until 1929. The museum is open 2-5 p.m. Tuesday-Thursday.

Wildlife art enthusiasts to gather

Russell Cobane has received many honors for his wildlife paintings, but the biggest yet is just about to happen.

Cobane, who grew up in Garden City and now lives in Clarkston, will be the 1990 Featured Artist for the Michigan Wildlife Art Festivals.

The first is taking place Thursday-Sunday in the Southfield Pavilion, in the Southfield Civic Center on Evergreen between 10 and 11 Mile roads and at the Radisson Plaza Hotel on Evergreen, just north of 10 Mile.

The three-dimensional art — carvings, bronzes, clay sculptures, porcelains, assemblage and taxidermy, will be shown at the Radisson and the two-dimensional works will be at the Pavilion.

THE SECOND Wildlife Festival will be in Grand Rapids Oct. 26-28. The Southfield festival opens with a sponsors-only reception at the Pavilion 6-10 p.m. Thursday and continues 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

There will be a wildlife seminar series at the Radisson Auditorium in conjunction with the festival starting at 10 a.m. Saturday and continuing through 3 p.m. Sunday.

Cobane, born in 1946, has been a commercial illustrator with corporate clients for the last 20 years. His longtime interests in fishing, camping and photography take him outside much of the year.

In 1983, he began entering wildlife competitions and his skill was quickly recognized. He won the Michigan Ducks Unlimited Artist of the Year competition in 1985 and the Michigan Trout Stamp Competition in 1988.

He was named Print Artist of the Year by the National Wildlife Federation in 1986 and 1989.

SINCE COBANE has a special interest in conservation, it is particularly appropriate that receipts from the art festival will help fund The Michigan Wetlands Project. Cobane said, "We should treasure our earth and its wonders and try to preserve and protect its natural state of balance."

The Michigan Wetlands Project was organized by the Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation and already includes 14 restoration and improvements throughout the state. The Foundation has approved funding for work in wetlands ranging from 50 to 500 acres in Mecosta, Lake, Monroe, Allegan, Saginaw, Mackinac, LaPeere, Livingston and Marquette counties.

The Foundation claims that more than half of the nation's wetlands have been destroyed due to land use changes and that includes nearly eight million acres in Michigan.

Russ Cobane wildlife artist

Preparing for musical elegance

Farmington Musicales will present a scholarship benefit, "Evening Elegance," at 8 p.m. Friday at First Church of the Nazarene, 21260 Haggerty, Farmington Hills.

An afterglow with the artists will follow the performance.

May D. Arvo, coordinator and concert chairman, will sing selections from opera and Broadway musicales. She will be accompanied by Mary Lewis and Beverly LaButa. John McElroy will be master of ceremonies.

Other performers include: Judith Reger, soprano, accompanied by Marie Walck; Phyllis Leitch, piano; Opus V Woodwind Quintet; John Massenburg, organ; Joanne Boraks and Alik Zachary, duo-piano; Joe LaButta & Waldo, trumpet; Mary Lewis, piano, vocal, clarinet; and the Farmington Musicales Chorus, directed by Joyce Bigelow.

The quintet members are Marilyn Van Giesen, flute; Pam Van Domelen, oboe; Lois Swanson, clarinet; Joyce Rasmussen, bassoon; and Isabel Metry, horn.

The music will range from classical selections by Handel, Chopin, Mozart and Puccini to lighter works by Gershwin, Kern, Lerner and Loewe and Rodgers and Hammerstein.

There is a $10 donation for the concert and afterglow. To make reservations, call 349-0490 or 476-4758.

How to keep informed but not overburdened

Q. I subscribe to many business and personal periodicals, but feel guilty because I don't have time to read them all. How do other people handle this problem?

A. Too many handle it just like you do — they feel guilty because they have stacks and stacks of unread periodicals. With the plethora of publications available these days, it's tempting to subscribe to too many because we want to be well informed. The problem is we don't set aside enough time to get our reading done.

With information exploding at such an incredible rate, it's impossible to read everything, so why feel guilty? If the answer is, "Because I paid for it" then quit paying for it and therefore quit feeling guilty for not reading it.

The next time you pick up a new magazine, record how long it takes you to finish it. Then set aside that length of time to read that magazine each time it arrives. Do this for each subscription you have, including your daily papers, then add up the time it would take you to keep up on all your reading. Ask yourself if you have that much time? If not, the alternatives are 1) to limit the time you spend reading each one; 2) to cancel some of the subscriptions or 3) to let them continue to pile up unread.

organizing

For must-read career information, it is imperative to schedule time to read it. Again, however, ask if you need to read everything word for word, peruse only certain articles, or if you could merely skim for highlights and forget the rest? A conscious decision ahead of time on how in-depth you will read the Wall Street Journal, for instance, could help you focus on important business issues and skip a long, non-essential article on page 14 about fish farming in Tennessee. For company paid subscriptions, ask if it is valuable enough that you would subscribe to it out of your own money? If not, ask to be deleted from the mailing list.

Notice if you have stacks of certain magazines you never read. In that case toss out the last issue when the new one arrives (read or not) or drop your subscription. Otherwise it will continue to accumulate. When there is a single article you want to read, tear it out, put it in a reading file at your favorite reading spot and pitch the publication. You could even file the article, unread, in a subject file for future reference. Be wary about loading your files with frivolous information, however.

Some people have cancelled all their non-business subscriptions and pick up just a few that interest them on the newsstand. Even at double prices, this can be less costly in the end.

Try subscribing only to important job-related periodicals and as many generic news/hobby/special interest magazines as you can read and drop the rest. You will then be well informed and entertained without the burden of receiving more than you can handle.

Notice if you have stacks of certain magazines you never read. In that case, toss out the last issue when the new one arrives (read or not)...

The Crossings At Canton.

Apartment living just got better. We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the plush landscaping when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton—and it's for you.

The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floorplans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one—the result of our recent "Capital Improvement & Upgrading" program. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.

Discover these features at The Crossings at Canton:

- Dens & Fireplaces
- Fully-applanced Kitchens
- Patios or Balconies
- Central Air Conditioning
- A Clubhouse with sauna, indoor pool, exercise room, a new party room and more!

Visit The Crossings at Canton today. We're just 20 minutes from Ann Arbor and downtown Detroit, yet comfortably away from it all. From I-275, just exit Arbor Rd. West to Haggerty Rd., follow south to Joy Rd., then east to The Crossings. Open Mon.-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 10-5, Sun. 12-5. Phone 455-2424 today.

Japanese culture influences office design

By R.J. King
staff writer

Entering the new technical center of Akebono BSEC, Inc. in Farmington Hills might be confusing — unless the visitor is Japanese.

"Konichiwa," the clerk says, greeting guests. Then reaching for a ringing phone, he answers, "Moshi, moshi."

Modern-style desks, arranged in rows, are found just behind the reception desk, green tea is available upon request and the company's annual report is printed in bold black Japanese characters, with an English translation.

This is one of the latest technical centers opened by Japanese companies in metropolitan Detroit. But, despite the subtle nuances of life in the Far East, coming to America can be a daunting — if not bewildering — task for many Japanese-based companies.

"WHEN WE came here two years ago with plans to open a research and development center to support our (brake) products, I was an engineer who had never experienced opening a new facility," said Hiro (Yoshihiro) Ishigaki, executive vice president and general manager.

"I didn't know where to build, what was a good location, what expressway was the best. It was very confusing because you had the yellow book (pages), newspapers, magazines. It was very difficult."

Through a mutual friend, Ishigaki was introduced to the Byron W. Trerice Co. in Birmingham, a commercial and industrial real estate broker, which has geared itself over the last six years to serving the Far Eastern marketplace.

By all accounts, bridging the Pacific for Akebono had become old hat XY0456 for Trerice, which has seen its share of Japanese clients rise from a "trickle" in 1984 to represent 20 percent of the firm's annual business last year.

"WE NOTICED several years ago a small increase in the number of Japanese companies coming here and we felt the market was growing, so we set out early to master exactly what the market's needs were," said Tom Lasky, co-manager of Trerice's office leasing division, and an attorney.

"A vast amount of the companies coming here (from Japan) were auto-related and most of them required high-tech facilities, which meant a mix of office and light-industrial space. The facilities, for the most part, were single story, with high ceilings and no formal offices."

Adjusting its portfolio to account for these trends was perhaps the most simple of Trerice's tasks.

More difficult was overcoming cultural differences and business imbalances.

"The Japanese tend to think a lot before they speak and they almost never say no directly," Lasky said. "Instead they suggest alternative ways of accomplishing something and it can make things very time-consuming."

"WE LEARNED after the first few exchanges that we had to tell them how we operate and allow them to tell us how they operate and then find some common ground and go from there. It really helped to speed things up."

Ishigaki agreed. "We also learned through Byron Trerice that if you have something to say, say it directly and tell everything. In Japan, we don't say everything directly. If we don't like something, we offer a series of alternatives and then wait for the other party to negotiate."

While Akebono opened its first U.S. facility in Chicago 10 years ago and recently entered into a joint venture with General Motors to produce precision brakes in Kentucky, Ishigaki said opening the Farmington Hills office was his first assignment in America.

Officially opened last October, Akebono has six engineers and one clerk at its 12,000-square-foot facility off Haggerty Road, just south of 12 Mile Road. The center plans to add seven more engineers by the end of the year.

Worldwide, the 61-year-old company employees 10,000 and has its headquarters in Tokyo.

In the last six years, Lasky said Trerice has helped 275 companies with Japanese ties find office or industrial space in Metropolitan Detroit. He expects that trend to continue, although more Japanese companies will begin to invest in real estate as opposed to leasing as they become more familiar with the market.

LASKY SAID the Japanese influx also has helped boost revenues.

In 1988, Trerice negotiated 440 sales and lease transactions representing $175 million worth of business. The figures were up roughly 10 percent from 1987, he said. With Pacific ties in place, Lasky said Trerice's future growth will come from creating new passages across the Atlantic. Already a number of American companies have opened offices in Europe, as they seek to take advantage of the lifting of restrictive trade barriers in 1992. But the number of European companies coming to America has been small, Lasky said.

American offices have been adapted to suit Japanese firms that have moved into the area. Some of the changes include more open space and desks placed in a row with partitions but not the typical contained offices found in American offices.

Condo special assessments unpopular

Can you fill me in on what requirements there are in the state with respect to reserves. There is obviously some question on the part of the board of my condominium as to what is appropriate.

The condominium statute as modified by the regulations provide that, at a minimum, the association at the time of turnover should be afforded 10 percent of the budget noncumulative by the developer of the condominium project.

Of course, the question becomes whether the budget was adequate in order to reasonably meet the needs of the association.

In a more mature condominium after turnover, the condominium bylaws normally prescribe the amount of reserve that must be maintained.

On the other hand, there is case authority, particularly in California, that adequate reserves must be established in order to meet the reasonably expected needs of the association and that in the absence of such adequate reserves, the board of directors of the association and, for that matter, the developer who controlled the board prior to turnover, will be liable.

Moreover, special assessments are not popular and to the extent that the association believes that special assessments are desirable because it would keep the regular assessments lower for marketing purposes, it is acquiescing to the potential argument against it that it is in fact low balling its own assessments against its own members.

We have a director on the board of five directors who is always undermining and bad-mouthing the management company, the attorney and the CPA.

Nothing ever seems to be done the way that suits him and he claims to be the all knowing expert when in fact all he did in his life was supervise a group of seventh graders in a gymnasium.

What do we do about this recalcitrant that is causing problems for our association?

There always is a divergence of personalities and consequently a difference of opinion on boards. Sometimes dissent which leads to constructive discussion is good.

On the other hand, there is frequently a type of board member which you are describing who, because of an egotistical drive to assert his position, whether it be in good faith or otherwise, tends to undermine the successful operation of the association.

What your director doesn't appreciate is that he may be incurring potential liability, to the extent that he is undermining the ability of the personnel retained by the association to assist in the operation of the association.

A meeting between him and the other members of the board to see whether or not his attitude can be tempered should be held.

Falling same, I would consider a censure or reprimand of the director and if that is not successful, I would threaten, subtly or not so subtly, to bring the matter to a vote of the members of the association to have him removed.

Perhaps he will see that his apparently messianic zeal to usurp control of the association and to undermine the service personnel retained by the association, presumably in good faith, will not be successful and he will temper his comments and attitudes. Good luck.

I have read recently about site condominium projects and I may wish to develop the acreage which I own now as a condominium, if I can avoid the Plat Act. What has been your experience in this regard?

Site condominiums are being developed, particularly in Oakland County, without very much opposition from the local municipalities.

There is, of course, the question of whether a site condominium is an attempt to circumvent the Plat Act, but there is some authority in the

condo queries

Robert M. Meisner

Condominium Statute which would support the basis for a site condominium.

However, there are numerous problems which can attach to the development of a site condominium which in not normally the case in a regular condominium and it is extraordinarily important that you insure that the condominium documents provide the developer and, thereafter, the association, with adequate architectural control over the nature of the condominium units constructed.

More on this in future columns.

Meisner, 30200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Birmingham 48010.

Hiro Ishigaki has settled in to the Akebono offices in Farmington Hills. Two years ago, he was charged with finding appropriate space that would provide for the Japanese cultural differences for employees who would be working in the U.S.

Pint-size room accents

(AP) — In these days of grandiose Victorian-style interiors, small is also fashionable. Pint-sized furnishings, from half-sized chairs and chests to fine miniatures are turning up in rooms by top decorators.

Children's chairs look good in a grown-up room in front of table legs, said Martha Beal of Chelsea House, a Gastonia, N.C., maker of furniture accessories. They fill in the empty spaces without adding bulk when you want a cultured English country feeling.

Chelsea House makes a Queen Anne style chair and a handpainted and lacquered 17th Sheraton reproduction.

These carefully crafted pint-sized pieces, including tables and diminutive chests which are good next to easy chairs, are sometimes called second size. They have been sold in antiques shops for years, but reproductions are filling in now that the old pieces have become more expensive and harder to find.

Because of the $485 price tag for a child's French chair known as a bergere, Judy George, chairwoman of the 10 Domain home furnishings stores on the East Coast, was surprised when it quickly sold out.

"I brought it in to have some fun, but the customers took it seriously," she said.

S U B U R B A N L I F E ' S
MONTHLY ALBUM

Monday, March 19, 1990

Just for Brides

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcements of engagements and weddings.

Engagement announcements will be accepted no later than 45 days prior to the wedding. Wedding announcements must be submitted within 60 days after the wedding. All announcements are run on a space available, first come, first served basis.

Information sent must be legible and include a contact telephone number so if there is a question the staff has a number to call.

Photos submitted should be black and white glossies, preferable 5 x 7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the Farmington Observer office, or, if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo, it will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland, Farmington and Farmington Hills are to be addressed to Loraine McClish, in care of The Farmington Observer, 21898 Farmington Road, Farmington 48024.

Inquiries are taken by McClish or Rose Butler in the Farmington Observer office, 477-5450.

Krause-Scruggs

Julie Ann Scruggs and Timothy James Krause were married March 2 by the Rev. John Blaska in St. Genievie Church, Livonia. She is the daughter of William and Norma Scruggs of Livonia and he is the son of Peter and Sharon Krause of Livonia.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Churchill High School. He is a member of the U.S. Air Force, stationed in Madrid, Spain.

About our cover

Lisa Raush and David Sybert were married by Dr. William Ritter in Nardin Park United Methodist Church, Farmington Hills. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Raush of Hamburg, Mich., and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Sybert of Dayton, Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of University of Michigan and works as a supervisor in the research department at Henry Ford Hospital. The groom is a graduate of University of Cincinnati and is a marketing sales representative for Raush Brothers Paving Co.

The couple's wedding pictures were taken by Chuck Lieberman of Lieberman Photography in Farmington Hills.

"There was no question as to who the photographer would be. Chuck took my sister's wedding pictures and we were all happy with them," the bride said.

"He and his assistant are very easy to work with. They are very pleasant people."

Lieberman's assistant is his son, Ron. Chuck Lieberman, his wife Shelly and Ron make up the family-run business that has been in operation for 15 years. The studio specializes in weddings, confirmations, bar mitzvahs, portraits, and recording corporate parties, with weddings at the top of the list. Lieberman says the studio photographs between 100-150 every year.

The newlyweds received guests in Walnut Creek Country Club in South Lyons before leaving for a honeymoon in Florida. They are making their home in Livonia.
