The three trustees supporting the sale stressed that the $1 million or more to be gained from the potential sale could be used to replace outdated textbooks and buy new computer equipment for students.

The tie vote Thursday came after

The Friends of Sassafras, formed about two years to preserve the area on the northeast corner of Palmer and Wildwood, wants the board to retain ownership and use the land for educational and environmental purposes.

But several board members felt that the potential $1 million it could gain from the sale for residential development would benefit the district through additional funds as well as more state aid for the new students.

Voting for the sale were board members Francis (Bud) Winter, Debra Fowlkes and David James. Opposed were Ed Turner, Mathew McCusker and Martha Pitsenbarger. Absent was trustee Patricia Brown who was out of the area because of a death and illness in her family.

Killer headed to prison

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A Detroit judge Wednesday sentenced former gang member Shawn Earl Nepsey to prison for 18 to 40 years for killing a 30-year-old man during a Westland neighborhood dispute.

Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Vera Massey Jones announced her sentence two months after she convicted Nepsey of second-degree murder for the Aug. 2, 1995, shooting death of Kirk Taylor.

Nepsey, a former Insane Gangster Mafia member, gunned down Taylor during a dispute in the 31400 block of Alcona Court, near Merriman and Glenwood.

John Glenn High School drama students are angry that their program will be gutted this fall because of teacher reassignments.

Students have launched a "Save Our Stage Crusade" because they are losing a drama teacher whose successor plans to discontinue afterschool productions.

Their teacher, Sheri Smith, lost her John Glenn position after only one year because a colleague with more seniority bumped into her job following layoffs.

Smith, in turn, bumped Wayne Memorial High School's drama teacher, who was among 20 Wayne-Westland teachers placed on layoff.

After-school plays are optional for high school drama teachers; therefore Smith's successor can't be forced to sponsor them.

Elf 'writes' owner

Mary Rozell of Westland has an interesting tale to share about her missing elf lawn decoration. She sent the Observer a copy of a letter from the elf. The woman has no idea who took the elf and wrote the letter in the elfs name. The elf "wrote" her:

"I am writing to let you know that I am safe and unharmed. I was picked up by a loving lady who needed company. She has decided to keep me for most of the summer, but do not worry, I will write you often.

"Please do not let my absence ruin your summer. Go out and have a good time with your friends and do not fret about me. I think I needed this little vacation. Sitting and staring at the same things from your front lawn is not my idea of a good time. I will return to you as soon as I have had time to think about what I want to do with my life."

Friends group seeks to keep preserve

BY LEONARD POGER EDITOR

The Wayne-Westland school board should keep its promise to preserve the Sassafras Trail nature area.

That was a key message Friends of Sassafras gave the board Thursday, which split on a 3-3 tie vote on selling the 64-acre nature preserve on the northeast corner of Wildwood and Palmer. (See related story above.)

The group, formed two years ago to fight for the nature area's preservation, organized a demonstration for the board meeting, which had supporters of all ages displaying posters and signs urging the board to keep the nature preserve.

Some of the posters said:

"No broken promises/no broken trees" and "Sassafras: a land of opportunity."

Some 150 people filled most of the board seats and stood along the rear wall to hear what the board members and Friends of Sassafras said.

group, said after the meeting he was disappointed that two of the board members, Francis (Bud) Winter and Debra Fowlkes, changed their positions to support the sale.

He also praised board members Ed Turner and Mathew McCusker for maintaining their position of preserving the nature area.

The one emotional point of the night came during the board members' discussion on the Pam Bauer, a Sassafras supporter who was upset that several board members were willing to sell the property, said: "Watch $30,000 walk away," as she abruptly left the board with one of her six children. The $30,000 was a reference to the state aid revenues the district would lose if she withdraws her children from the school district as threatened.

Earlier, Bauer said the nature preserve would serve as a draw to the public school district for local students who now attend parochial schools.

During the Friends of Sassafras presentation, some 10 residents urged the board to preserve the nature area and not sell the property. Jim Netter of Wayne also suggested a referendum on the issue, urging the board to "look at all possibilities, not just making. Realtors happy."

He added that the sale of the property would divide the community.

A high school student, Amanda Gosline, 16, told the board that she lives near the preserve and enjoys the fall color change.

Jack Smiley, representing the Southeast Michigan Conservancy, a private, non-profit environmental organization, told the board that the preserve now is home to several endangered species of wildlife which are regulated by federal and state agencies.

He pointed out that nearly half of the preserve is classified as wetlands, suggesting that it may be difficult for the property to be developed.

There is also an interest shown in the property by Hurley Coleman, Wayne County Parks director, he said.

and Robin Moore, winners of the June 12 school board election, take office.

Leaving the board by June 30 will be Turner, defeated in a bid for a new term, and Winter, who didn't seek a second term.

The most vocal proponent of selling the property was Winter, who pointed out that residents were that concerned about the idle nature preserve years ago when there were drug and behavioral problems among youth.

The dispute surfaced nearly four years ago, he said, when the board directed the administration to list the district's surplus property.

Later the board received an appraisal of $490,000.

Winter stressed, "The board must do what's right fiscally for the school district. We don't have the money to operate an educational center (at the Sassafras nature preserve). The new appraisal is now $1 million."

If the property is eventually developed for residential purposes, the district will get new rev-

In addition, the cities of Westland and Wayne haven't offered any monies to the district to preserve Sassafras but they also have money problems, he said.

Winter, board president, also chided the community for having little interest in the district's $92 million operating fund budget for the next school year, saying only two people spoke at the previous week's budget hearing.

He pointed out that over the discussed again after David Cox past few years, he has closed schools, including one at which he was a principal.

Fowlkes commented that "things have changed drastical; ly" since the board initially supported preserving the nature area in late 1994.

"I'd rather see more texts and computer technology in classrooms before we do any more (budget) cutting," she said.

"I won't cut buses and arts again" like the board did two years ago, she added.

James echoed her comments, adding that the district needs more students to offset the declining enrollments.

"I'd like to keep Sassafras Trail, but I do care for children and their education," he said.

Urging the board to preserve the nature area, Turner stressed that the board made a commitment to preserve the property.

"In the past 20 years, there have been many broken promises (of the school board)," he said. A sale of the property would lead to a loss of confidence of the community, he added.

McCusker said he pledged to preserve the property in late 1994 "and nothing has changed."

Echoing Turner's comments, McCusker said that the board made a commitment.

Citing the importance of preserving the nature area, McCusker said, "God isn't making any more property. The (potential) sale would only be a temporary solution to a permanent problem (of school financing)."

Staff angered by automation at post office

BY LEONARD POGER EDITOR

Westland letter carriers are protesting newly installed automated equipment which they feel would result in late mail deliveries. The problem is with the malfunctions of the equipment, they said.

A Detroit district Postal Service administrator disagreed. saying that the new equipment represents change and "changes makes people uncomfortable."

Terry Fedea, acting post office operations' manager for the district, said in a telephone interview that letter carriers "are doing a great job and our service is improving as we move into the new technology."

Fedea said some of the new equipment, similar to the UPC scanners in nearly all supermarkets, is in place with more continuing to be placed into opera-

The new equipment reduces the need for letter carriers to stand at their station in the post office and sort mail, he said.

With the new equipment, all mail is bar-coded and sorted by route, he said.

In a public show of opposition, the local branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers, AFL-CIO, Branch 2184, had many of its members staging an informational picket for nearly eight hours Wednesday at the post office on Wayne Road near Hunter.

Joe Golonka, administrative vice president of the local branch, and other letter carriers distributed letters from the national union to postal patrons that day outlining their view of the problem.

some quality and quantity problems with the new scanning equipment which reads bar codes on letters.

Management's answer to the problem is to make the public wait an extra 30 to 60 minutes for their mail.

The management, the union said, is changing the starting times of carriers which will also affect delivery times.

Fedea said that the Postal Service requires a 98 percent mark reached with the new equipment before it is released to the letter carriers for delivery.

"There are continuous problems with the remaining mail" which the Postal Service is work-

"Alternative solutions exist instead of making you wait," the union said.

The national union is continuing discussing ways with the administration to convince it that efficient and timely mail delivery shouldn't be sacrificed to the new automation program.

In comparing the new equipment to the UPC scanners in supermarkets, the union said that if their scanners malfunction, "would the grocery store make you wait another 30 minutes to an hour or more for you to check out?"

In a companion letter given to post office patrons Wednesday, letter carriers said the shortsighted management team that focuses only on the bottom line has implemented policies and programs that threaten the quality of mail service.

"Autocratic management too often harasses and intimidates letter carriers and other postal employees and is implementing They said they want the public a much-needed automation system that in ways could soon cause serious disruption of mail service."

That could lead to later deliv-The union claimed that the eries, misdeliveries and untimemanagement is running into ly deliveries, the union said.

School gets seedlings, flowers

Beautification: Madison School students had plenty of help recently in beautifying the property in the last weeks of school. With help from principal Mary Goedert (third from left) and City Council member Richard LeBlanc (second from left), who lives near the school, students planted 50 seedlings, obtained from the annual "adopt-a-tree" program held every spring by the Friends of the Westland Helen C. Schools open doors to some non-residents

By LEONARD POGER

The Wayne-Westland school district doors will be opened next fall to non-residents.

But local students shouldn't expect that the newly enacted schools of choice program will represent a two-way door.

That's because some districts are already refusing to accept non-residents and more are expected to follow this week.

The Garden City district has already acted to block non-residents from enrolling while Livonia and others in western Wayne County are scheduled to act this week. The Wayne-Westland school board took the "opt in" position Thursday night under the new state law which has a July 1 deadline. ... Under the new law, the district will accept non-resident pupils in Wayne County in schools which have available

But the problem in reciprocal treatment with other districts is basically financial, said the school board and administration.

That's because if a Wayne-Westland student, worth $5,700 a year in state aid to the district, per pupil aid, the lower figure would prevail.

Since Wayne-Westland's per pupil allotment is 28th in the county with 34 districts, few neighboring districts will be willing to accept local students.

Under the new legislation, part of the state aid package adopted the previous week, the schools of choice section gave districts the option of allowing nonresidents in their district or refusing to accept them.

Under the new law, students who switch districts have to provide their own transportation.

Superintendent Duane Moore, in outlining the administrative steps in the new program, moves to a district with a higher admitted that he earlier lobbied against the provision while it not lay off any faculty members was being considered by legisla-

> He feels the program "is discriminatory and will separate the 'haves' and the 'have nots.'"

Moore said with a student enrollment decline of 300 to 400 by next fall, there will be room: at all elementary schools, Adams and Franklin Middle, Schools and Wayne Memorial High School.

The superintendent said if: other Wayne County districts open their doors to non-residents, then Wayne-Westland may lose even more students.

A related financial problem is that under the contract with the teachers' union, the board can next fall.

There will be no space for nonresident students at John Glenn High and Marshall and Stevenson Middle Schools, Moore said.

said Dan Slee, assistant superintendent for employee services. "There's not a strong possibility" at this point, Slee said. School officials are limited in addressing the situation because of contractual obligations that guide the filling of positions.

Drama students say they don't get the same consideration as athletes.

"Drama is just as important as athletics, but it never seems to get the same response. This is unfair," the SOS Crusade statement said. "If John Glenn's Rockets were in danger, you would have sit-ins on the 50yard line and public burnings of the pictures of those who were threatening the team.

"We don't get this response," the students said. "We, the drama community, are as committed to our sport as any athlete ever was, is, or will be. We deserve the same recognition as any Rocket team. That's what we are, a team."

Students are also upset that they aren't included in the fine arts department. Rather, they are still a part of the English department.

That, in part, has caused Smith's layoff because the English department had to be cut by one teacher. Smith was bumped by a senior colleague who has a major in theater, although he hadn't been teaching it.

John Glenn has had a strong drama program for more than three decades.

"This has been a 31-year tradition at John Glenn, and that's why the students are concerned," Smith said.

Many students eagerly await their senior year in high school so that they can star in plays,

Smith isn't upset with her successor, who is simply bumping into the only position available Like her students, however, she remains hopeful that some solution can be found before the fall. During a recent school board meeting, Slee told a group of students that officials will try to maintain the drama program, but he couldn't make any promises.

We are extremely mindful of the situation," he said.

At the conclusion of Nepsey's trial in April, Jones denied a motion by defense attorney Jeffrey Schwartz to dismiss charges. Witnesses testified during Nepsey's trial that they saw him shoot Taylor during a dispute that initially involved threats with baseball bats. Taylor was visiting best friend Danny Holcomb on Alcona Court when he was killed at 4:25 p.m. Aug. 2. Witnesses said Nepsey fired four shots - two of which hit Taylor. The bullets pierced his right torso and his right hip The dispute started after became upset because reputed gang members at Nimens' house had been waving baseball bats and yelling across the street. Witnesses said Taylor walked onto Alcona Court carrying a baseball bat in each hand to confront one of Nimens' friends, Michael Polgar. Polgar, who also had a baseball bat, admitted in court that he threw a bat at Taylor and tried to hit him in the face.

Taylor ducked to avoid being hit, and then Polgar fell to the ground. Seconds later, Nepsey fired four shots, according to testimony.

Witnesses gave conflicting statements on whether Taylor was continuing to advance toward Polgar when Nepsey fired the revolver. But Jones, in convicting Nepsey, rejected claims that Nepsey fired to protect Polgar.

|Duo charged in assault

BY MATT JACHMAN

A Westland man was one of two white men charged with aggravated assault and ethnic intimidation in an attack on a black man in Livonia early Sunday morning. Witnesses told police the men punched the victim, James Earl Eady of Detroit, then kicked him as he lay in the parking lot of My Granny's restaurant on Plymouth Road. One used a racial slur and the other told Eady: "You don't belong here. You can't eat here," witnesses said.

Eady, 45, suffered bruising and swelling around his left eye and a lacerated right knee. He also appeared dazed from the attack and smelled of alcohol, a Livonia Police Department report said. An ambulance was called, but Eady refused medical treatment.

Gary Thomas Fischer, 23, of Utica and Scott Joseph McErlane, 21, of Westland were arraigned Monday before 16th District Court Magistrate Dennis Epler. They entered notguilty pleas.

each. Fischer was being held in the Wayne County Jail Tuesday. McErlane was released after posting 10 percent, or $1,000. They are due back in district court Tuesday for a preliminary hearing before Judge Robert Brzezinski.

Epler set bond at $10,000

At the time of his arrest, Fischer told police he had beat up Eady in a fight Eady provoked after a traffic altercation.

According to police reports, officers were called to My Granny's just before 2:30 a.m. Sunday on a report of a fight in progress. Two officers detained two men they saw running from the scene, and another drove into the lot, where Eady, lying on the pavement, was being helped by several witnesses.

One of the men detained, later identified as McErlane, had punched Eady and kicked him while he was on the ground, two witnesses said.

County ready to pay back portion of real estate tax

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN

If you sold some real estate in Wayne County between Jan. 11, 1990, and May 10,1996. you could be due some refund money.

Under a court decision issued earlier this year by Circuit Judge John Kirwan Wayne County must now pay back part of the money it collected in real estate transfer taxes.

The money was raised when in 1980 the state gave Wayne 'County, alone among the 83 counties, power to raise the real estate transfer tax to 75 cents from 55 cents per $500 of property value. But, a Michigan Supreme Court decision last year said the tax could only be recovered from 1990 when it was first challenged by a homeowner.

Now the county has been ordered to refund 20 cents per $500 in property value plus 2 percent interest. The average refund is expected to be around $40 on a $100,000 house.

On Thursday the Wayne County Commission approved spending $200,000 to KPMG Peat Marwick to act as project manager in making the refunds.

"This was a long, very hardfought battle," Peter Macuga, attorney for taxpayers in the class-action suit that resulted in the refund decision. To obtain a refund a seller must appear in person to apply for it. That was the best way to handle it, Macuga said.

To obtain a refund a seller must appear in person to apply for it. That was the best way to handle it, Macuga said.

"There has to be proofs on both sides," he said. Many ways to refund the money were looked at, but this was the only way to protect against someone claiming someone else's refund, he said.

The county has no idea how many people are going to seek the refund, according to Carla Sledge, chief deputy financial officer in the county's office of Management and Budget.

Temporary staff of about 20 workers will be hired by Peat Marwick to staff the refund office. The county's Register of Deeds office doesn't have enough personnel to staff the office itself, according to county officials.

The potential amount the county will end up refunding is between $2.5 million and $5 million, according to Sledge. But Macuga, says the amount is closer to $6.5 million.

Here's how to obtain a refund:

• A seller must apply for a refund in person with a Michigan driver's license or other picture identification. A seller can send a representative if the seller is not within the state, is handicapped or in the military, or is entitled to a refund as a member of a corporate legal trust.

• A tax refund claim center has been set up in the basement of the Neudeck Building, 415 Clifford, Detroit.

• The seller will be asked to fill out a form. The form has been kept simple, according to Macuga.

• If the seller has a copy of the deed he or she should bring it. If the seller doesn't have a copy of the deed, Wayne County will do a title search for free. The search will be done immediately. If the county has so many applicants that the applicant can't have a search completed at the time of application, the applicant must have a response within 60 days, Macuga said.

• Checks will be drawn on Wayne County funds.

• The refund office will be open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday July 1, 1996 to Oct. 31,1996.

Those who have questions can call Macuga's office at (313) 965-0065.

Actions of Livonia principal defended

By Marie Chestney STAFF WRITER

Parking may have been mishandled but no evidence surfaced that a Livonia district high school principal spoke to 16 tardy seniors in a derogatory manner during a recent graduation practice.

"We couldn't collaborate allegations made and printed," said school Superintendent Ken Watson Monday when pressed by audience members as to whether Stevenson principal Dale Coller used words like "stupid" and "idiots" during the rehearsal, as alleged by parents of the tardy seniors.

Watson's words came in Monday's school board meeting during which numerous supporters stepped to the podium to defend Coller after Watson had read a letter being mailed to the parrehearsal and subsequently given six hours of janitorial work as punishment.

The letter was signed by J. Stephen Smith, assistant superintendent for secondary instruction, who rescinded the punishment June 3 for those students late because of parking problems.

After the parents' allegations surfaced, both Smith and administrator Paul Derwich interviewed Stevenson students and staff to determine what happened at the May 31 rehearsal.

In his letter, Smith does not refute charges that Coller used derogatory words. He writes that Coller singled out some of the students, making comments to them from the podium. He does not specify what those comments

"The singling out of late students by Dr. Coller, including comments made at the podium, was acknowledged in more than one interview," Smith wrote. Coller has said he does not recall making the alleged comments.

Watson said some remarks were misconstrued. "If they felt embarrassed or humiliated, I can't make a judgment here. I'll not assign blame to people.

"There's not one statement from any organization that doesn't say we need to respect the dignity of all, whether they are ents of seniors late for the right or wrong. That's not a goal, but a standard."

In his letter, Smith apologized humiliated or embarrassed.

Smith criticized Coller and Stevenson on two points.

Open parking at the high school on the morning of the rehearsal contributed to students' tardiness because there weren't enough parking spaces for everyone. It was a certainty that some students would have to park elsewhere and walk to the school.

"The open parking arrangements at Stevenson High and correlated communication practices used by the school, if handled differently, may have prevented your child's problem from occurring altogether," Smith wrote.

Smith also wrote that Coller refused to talk to the late students after the rehearsal ended. "The students left the practice thinking they would not be participating in commencement. These feelings were reinforced when Dr. Coller refused to discuss their status after rehearsal."

Smith backed Coller in his right to mete out punishment, and explained why he rescinded Coller's punishment.

"While the severity of consequences bestowed on tardy students may be viewed as excessive, the right to establish and administer reasonable consequences is supported by the to parents if their child felt school board, (which serves the northern section of Westland). "In light of the extenuating circumstances surrounding the parking lot situation, the sixhour detention was lifted for those students."

Parents complained that tardy students were forced to stand up in the back of the room against a wall. Smith said none of the tardy students interviewed voiced that "as being a problem

Both Watson and Smith vow a similar parking snafu will not take place next year for the Class of '97.

"It insures almost automatically some students will not find parking," Watson said. "The parking works for final exam week, but not commencement." The district will investigate ways to deal with the parking overflow, Watson said. One possibility, he said, is to park in the lot of the church just west of the school. Parents of Stevenson seniors received a letter May 6 from Coller saying that rehearsal a.m. May 31. Coller told parents that any student late for the practice would be sent home and might not be permitted to participate in that day's rehearsal.

would begin promptly at 7:45

If Coller had sent the tardy students home, the incident would not have happened, Watson said.

Smith has taken heat from Stevenson staff for overriding a decision made by the principal and lifting the punishment. Many Coller supporters made that point Monday in their defense of the "tight ship" Coller runs at Stevenson. Watson went to Stevenson last week to talk to the upset teachers.

State approves new rules for adult ed funding

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Local school districts will be able to compete for $20 million in state grants for teaching adults under new rules approved by the State Board of Education.

Local schools will be told to develop consortia with other districts, county intermediate districts, community colleges, work force development boards and private industry.

"Basic purpose," said Arthur Ellis, superintendent of public instruction, "is to enable eligible adults to enroll in a program to obtain basic skills, learn English as a second language, prepare for the general educational development (GED) test, acquire job or employment-related skills. or complete requirements for a high school diploma."

The board voted 7-0 June 19 to approve rules under the new state aid act signed the same day by Gov. John Engler.

But board member Dorothy Beardmore, R-Rochester, saw a flaw in requiring the development of group proposals in such a short time. "To require they (other agencies) be players adds to the complexity. You have to wonder: Is this deliberately planned to fail?"

Districts have until July 1 to make their applications. The Department of Education must notify successful applicants by Aug. 1. Top officials doubt every will meet the deadlines.

"What would happen if we missed the deadline?" asked board member Gary Wolfram, R-Hillsdale. "In Treasury (where he worked before returning to Hillsdale College), we missed deadlines all of the time. They never hauled me off to jail."

"No, they (Engler) sent you here," quipped board president Clark Durant, R-Grosse Pointe. That ended all humor in the discussion.

The deadlines are "legislative time frames. The administration will do everything to help the school districts," said Dr. Ron Gillum, a deputy in charge of adult ed, hinting the department will wink at the dates.

At Engler's urging, the Republican Legislature, on almost party-line votes, cut adult education from $185 million to a total of $102 million, providing that $20 million must be awarded by competitive bids rather than mailed directly to K-12 dis-

· Local school officials and lawmakers in both parties have criticized the cuts bitterly. Democrats withheld their votes because of the adult ed cuts.

"I've attended adult ed graduations," said board member Kathleen Straus, D-Detroit. "They are very impressive. Such a crosssection of people - young, old, native-born, immigrant. I just hate to see it cut so dramatically.

"It doesn't make sense to do something so dramatic in such a short time," Straus said, referring to legislative passage in the post-midnight hours of June 7. 'We should have said more about adult ed. We said noth-

Added board member Barbara Roberts Mason, D-Lansing: "I'm concerned about the cuts. Many (districts) didn't fund their programs. I'd like to know how many will no longer offer adult ed, cut staff, cut curriculum offerings? We can also find the impact on the economy."

usually lines up solidly with Engler and Durant, recalled, "In Detroit, this was one of the hot issues." She referred to a June 17 hearing by the department to get public input on the state of the schools.

Another hearing is set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, June 20, in the Oakland Intermediate School District kiva on Telegraph Road in Pontiac. Others will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 27, in the Independence Building, Freedom Hill, Sterling Heights.

Karen Katz, executive director of the Michigan Association of Community and Adult Educators, also criticized the July 1 deadline. "We suddenly must make a formal grant proposal in one week, no matter what we've been doing in the past."

Engler, signing the school aid bill that morning, hailed the "reform" of adult education, praising the need for "input from local workforce development boards and the Michigan Jobs Commission among others.

"I look forward to working with the Legislature to meet Even board vice president their goal of 50 percent competi-Marilyn Lundy, R-Detroit, who tive grants next year," the governor said.

Four categories of grants will be made under the rules:

 Persons with a high school diploma or GED under age 20 on Sept. 1 and enrolled in the Michigan Career and Technical Institute.

• The same group not attending college and enrolled in a jobrelated program under referral by an employer.

• Persons studying English as a second language for a maximum of one year.

• Others at least 20 on Sept. 1 lacking a diploma or GED.

"Grant amounts will range between $49,500 and $2 million, based on $2,750 per participant FTE (full-time equated student) of 450 hours," say the rules.

"Last year's $4,000 was cut to $2,750 per FTE," said Gillum. "This limits the number of hours to 900 for a high-school diploma and $450 for a GED. Anything after that, you pay tuition. Local school districts set the tuition."

Engler's action was scorched by Rep. James Agee, D-Muskegon, a former school superintendent who a few years ago was a finalist for the state superintendent's job.

"It was short-sighted and cruel," Agee said. "Just a couple of years ago, adult education was funded at $385 million. The governor slashed that in the last budget to $185 million. This completes the dismantling of a worthwhile program."

Roads also made milestones in history With Detroit being the birth- first road maintenance facility, sections with traffic signals on the design, which reportedly place of the automobile, who better than Wayne County to give concrete road building industry birth to the modern road?

"Most people are not aware. that the modern era of road construction began right here in Wayne County," Nancy Darga, Wayne County design engineer and history buff, said. "In fact, much of the road-related technology we take for granted today was invented by the Wayne County Road Commission.

"So as America celebrates the 100th anniversary of the automobile this month, people should also take note that the roads' they drive their cars on have their beginning right here," Darga said.

Some firsts:

• The first mile of concrete road was constructed in 1909. When the Wayne County Road Commission paved Woodward Avenue from McNichols to Seven Mile, it was the first time a road was paved with concrete. While not as durable as the bricks that had been used, concrete was easy to lay and considerably less expensive. Nearly 90 years later, concrete remains the industry standard.

• The first modern road maintenance facility and testing lab, 1910. The county's Wayne Yard on Michigan Avenue was the and included a testing lab for the it created. The old complex will be demolished this year to make way for a new, $4 million state of the art engineering facility.

• The first center line painter, 1911. In it's first incarnation, this innovation was little more than a paint brush strapped to an arm on the back of a truck. Later versions were refined, such as one that rolled along, marking the line as the truck slowly moved along.

• The first snow plow, 1912. Like the centerline painter, this innovation seemed less than impressive at first - a board fastened to the front bumper of a truck. The idea, however, was refined and the world's first snow plow was born.

• The first traffic signal, 1920. Invented by a Detroit police officer, the traffic signal got its first use in Wayne County. Today, there are more than 1,500 inter-received a pass for two to the preview screening. Five grand prize packages consisting of a CD of music from the movie, a journal and T-shirt were awarded to - Anna Levin of Southfield; Cheryl Power of Farmington Hills, Allison Johnson of Livonia, Julie Lepsetz of Southfield, and Kerry King of Redford.

• "It was the summer before I entered junior high on a camping trip with my family that I met him. Curly red hair and freckles, definitely more "Boys Life" than "GQ." We swam and fished while trying to ditch his little brothers. He took my address with a promise to write. I used by last dime for the jukebox "Ricky Don't Lose that Number." I guess he lost it, or maybe I felt better telling myself that. Now 20 years, a husband and two kids later, I sometimes wonder what became of the boy who first stole my heart. - Allison Johnson, Livonia.

· "On our first date, we walked on a mountain top in northern California. I remember the warm summer breeze blowing me vulnerably toward him. As the land unfolded around us, we were unfolding into each other. Why do hearts get broken when you're least expecting it? Or when you need love the most?. He was a pleasant surprise. I share their heartfelt stories

• "I certainly hadn't been looking, as a matter of fact it came as a complete surprise, but when I saw her for the first time, last fall, I felt something I had never felt before. It wasn't just her golden hair or her large, expressive brown eyes, but something more. As we approached each other; me nervous - she totally confident, there was a spark, and my heart was hers. I took her home that day and we have been together ever since. I will never forget that late October afternoon, when I first met Dakota, my Golden Retriever. -

Kerry King, Redford. • "I didn't want him! I was completely prepared to hate him on sight. There was no way I was going to let some drooling little brat horn in my perfect life. I was prepared to yell, plead, or starve myself in protest; anything but accept him. However, before I could inform my parents of what they cold do with their little bundle of joy, I happened to look down. I looked down and saw my newborn brother, David. All my hate suddenly deserted me, leaving a profound love. He stole my heart then, but don't tell that to him." - Julie Lepsetz,

 "As college seniors my best friend and I traveled to the Laurels Resort in the Catskill Mountains. We were fearless because we had heart "lose your morels at the Laurels.'

Unfortunately, we deplored the Laurels, but we did meet some friendly fellahs from Boston. We gravitated to each other because they too didn't like the Laurels. Mark was the fellah I was smitten by, but after four days we all left early, said goodbye, and forfeited our week-long prepaid stay. Mark stole my heart, the Laurels took my money, and honestly - I did not lose my morels at the Laurels. -Anna Levin, Southfield.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Cooking pros share tips for great cakes took a little heat a few weeks ago when I wrote a column about making your own wedding cake. Over two dozen readers called. Many said they would never attempt a wedding cake because they never really mastered baking a cake from scratch.

Momma is known for her German Chocolate Cake, and to this day, I request it every Aug. 26 when my birthday rolls around. Aunt Ange was known for her Sour Cream Coffee Cake, and even though she has never come out and admitted it, I know there's a hint of bourbon in it. The Janes Gang is wild about my cheesecakes. I'll never forget Chef Stec and his wonderful basic Genoise, which sat on your tongue like an angel's gossamer wings, and slowly dissipated. But does anyone bake a cake from scratch anymore? It's not as hard as it sounds, especially with some tips from pros.

Nick Malgieri, noted cooking teacher and author of "How To Bake," (copyright, 1995, Harper Collins Publishers, $35) claims that one of the easiest cakes to master is a classic Genoise, otherwise known as an all purpose sponge cake. Malgieri likes this cake because "it can be used as a layer cake, as a rolled cake, a plain cake with a simple frosting and in conjunction with a cheesecake instead of a pastry dough base."

Tips for success

In his book, Malgieri explains it is critical that the oven be accurate. Also, when baking, the racks should be set in the middle of the oven. As a secret hint to success, he also suggests that all the ingredients be at room temperature for ease of mixing.

Cold ingredients may cause the batter to separate while mixing and this will cause the cake to have a rough, irregular texture instead of a smooth, tender one.

Where Malgieri's book deals with baking as a whole, including the preparation of pies, tortes, breads, pizzas and muffins, when I find myself stumped, I always turn to Rose Levy Beranbaum and "The Cake Bible," (copyright 1988, Morrow Books, $40). This a grand encyclopedic collection of cakes and everything related to them. If you bake cakes, this book not only shows you how but can also detail the preparation of butter creams, marzipan, spun sugar, chocolate ribbons and enough piped flowers to fill a florist shop. Beranbaum claims that "perfect cakes can be achieved by anyone willing to follow good recipe directions. Cake making is an exact process; the ingredients and their relation to each other are balanced like a chemical formula."

In addition, Beranbaum agrees with Malgieri about having all the ingredients premeasured and at room temperature but offers a few additional pointers. She likes to use only cake flour which does not contain any leavening (don't useself-rising flour). She also recommends the use of superfine sugar for the best texture, unsalted butter for the best taste, fresh baking powder for the best rise and finally, the use of Magic Cake Strips for even layers and maximum height. Magic Cake Strips are ribbons of aluminized fabric with Velcro type fasteners that can be soaked in water and wrapped around the sides of the cake pans during baking. These special strips slow down the baking of the sides while promoting rapid and even penetration at the bottom of the pan. They sell for under $10 at most cake decorating shops.

Low-fat options

My final source for knowing how to bake the best cakes comes from Susan G. Purdy, author of "Have Your Cake and Eat It Too," (copyright 1993, Morrow Books, $25). This book contains more than 200 luscious, low-fat cakes, pies, cookies and other desserts you thought you'd never be able to eat again.

Knowing that it's the fat in the cake that not only makes it look good but taste as good, Purdy has examined and suggested many alternatives for reducing the fat in your favorite cake recipes.

Purdy writes "when you cut back or cut out the fat, you need to readjust a whole range of elements in a carefully balanced formula." You can remove one quarter to one third of the fat in a recipe, claims Purdy. The resulting texture is only "slightly denser," especially with the use of purees, eggs or egg whites, citrus zests and occasionally, sugar. But one thing for sure, everyone agrees on the importance of accurately weighing and measuring all the ingredients.

QUAKER OATS

Elegant cake: Moist and tender Lemon Poppy Seed Oat Cake uses basic ingredients and is simple to mix and bake. By adding a lemon glaze and fresh flowers, it becomes elegant enough for the fanciest occasion.

PERFECT CAKES

Ingredients

Margarine, butter and vegetable shortening are used most often for cakes other than angel food, chiffon and sponge cake. The fat affects both flavor and texture. A cake made with shortening generally has a softer crumb and finer texture. A cake made with butter has a richer flavor. Both butter and margarine need to stand at room temperature until they soften enough to blend easily with until they soften enough to blend easily with other ingredients. Shortening is ready to use unless it has been stored in the refrigerator.

■ Sugar sweets and contributes to a cake's tenderness. Granulated or brown sugar is most often used in cakes. Powdered or confectioners' sugar usually is used in frostings and glazes. Granulated, brown and powdered sugars are not interchangeable.

■ Eggs contribute to a cake's structure and add color and richness. Use large eggs unless the recipe specifies otherwise.

Most recipes today call for all-purpose flour. All-purpose flour can be either bleached or unbleached. While they can be used interchangeably, bleached flour provides a cake with a finer texture. Because all-purpose flour is presifted, it does not need to be sifted before measuring. Some cake recipes call for cake flour, cake flour is a finely milled soft wheat flour which produces a finer textured cake. Cake flour is not presifted and should be sifted before measuring. To measure flour, spoon lightly into a dry measuring cup and level top with a metal spatula or the straight edge of a knife.

Oats. Unless a recipe specifies otherwise, either quick or old-fashioned oats may be used. The old-fashioned oats result in a cake with denser texture.

Leavening. Most cake recipes call for baking powder, baking soda or a combination of the two. These ingredients along with the air incorporated into a cake batter during mixing are responsible for a cake's volume (height) and density.

Preparing Pans

Shiny metal cake pans will result in cakes with the highest volume and most even browning. Be sure to use the pan size specified in the recipe.

For most single and double layer cake, the cake pans are greased with vegetable shortening and lightly coated with a thin layer of flour. Cakes which will be cut and served from the pan may instead be sprayed with vegetable oil cooking spray. The pan does not need to be floured.

not need to be floured. Filling Pans and Baking

■ Preheat oven at least 15 minutes before baking.

Pour or spoon batter into greased and floured cake pan(s) using the back of the spoon or rubber spatula push batter evenly into corners and against sides of pan. Cut through batter with knife to remove large air bubbles.

■ Begin testing for doneness after the minimum baking time specified in the recipe.

Insert a wooden pick in the center of the cake. If it comes out clean with just a few moist crumbs clinging to it, the cake is done.

Cooling

Except for cakes which will be cut and served from the pan, cakes are removed from the pan to cool completely.

Allow cake to sit in pan on cooling rack for the length of time specified in the recipe, usually 10 minutes. Carefully run a thin bladed metal spatula between the cake and sides of the pan to loosen. Place another cooling rack on top and invert pan; cake should drop to cooling rack. Turn upright by placing another cooling rack on top of cake layer and inverting. Cool completely before frosting.

Starting from scratch Piece of cake

By Keely Wygonik Staff Writer

irthdays, weddings and anniversaries – some of the most memorable days of our lives are celebrated with cake.

"Cake holds the distinction of comeback food of the year," said Gale Gand, owner of Chicago's acclaimed Brasserie T restaurant at the recent International Association of Culinary Professionals Conference. On an emotional level, Gand credits baby boomers' affinity for "comfort food" with cake's resurgence on the dessert menu.

"I think baby boomers remember the good things from childhood," Gand said. "Cake certainly qualifies as one of those things that made them happy as kids. Well, now that the baby boomers are grown up and loaded with mid-life responsibilities, there's a desire to latch onto childhood pleasures."

A cake you make "from scratch" is not much more difficult than one that uses a mix, and offers endless possibilities for dressing up when the occasion calls for it

A three-step mixing process results in a cake that is tender and flavorful, and has a good volume (heights).

etable shortening with the sugar and any flavorings until light and creamy incorporates air into the batter which contributes to a cake's volume.

Step two: Beating in the eggs, one at a time, incorporates additional air into the batter.

Step three: Adding the combined dry ingredients alternately with the milk (or other liquid) is the fastest way to complete the mixing process without overmixing. Overmixing can toughen a cake.

Depending on the occasion, a basic cake can be served plain or embellished in many different ways. One-layer cakes that will be served from the pan might be frosted, glazed, covered with a broiled topping or sprinkled with powdered sugar.

Serve the cake plain with a scoop of ice cream or a spoonful of whipped cream and fresh fruit.

Cakes that are baked in a tube pan or fluted tube pan frequently are drizzled with a glaze. A lemony glaze, fresh mint leaves and lemon slices are all the dressing up Lemon Poppy Seed Oat Cake, pictured above, needs. When used in baking, oats add texture and improve the keeping quality because they attract moisture. As an alternative to the lemon glaze, powdered sugar can be lightly sifted over the top of the cake just before serving.

Cake recipes are often passed down generation-togeneration, or shared between friends. Barbara Couillard of Westland, and Mary Serva of Bloomfield Hills, entered their favorite recipes in Michigan's Best Cake Contest sponsored by Zehnder's of Frankenmuth and "Michigan Living" magazine. Both were among the 18 finalists.

Couillard said her entry – Grandma's Yellow Angel Food Cake – is more like a sponge cake than an angel food cake. "It was my grandmother's recipe," she said. "I remember her making it. Mine is good, but it still doesn't taste as good as hers." Couillard said the egg whites used in the recipe should be room temperature. "It adds more volume she said."

Serva's contest entry is appropriately named – "Can I Have That Recipe" Chocolate Cake. It's a recipe everyone asks for. "One thing that makes this cake different is the frosting. It's a lot like fudge," she said. "This cake is really good for people who really love chocolate."

Although she doesn't have a lot of time to bake, Serva said she has always enjoyed it. "I was one of those kids who had an Easy Bake Oven," she said. "The chocolate cake recipe was my girlfriend's. We made it when we were kids and everyone loved it. I changed the frosting recipe so it's not so sugary. I made it richer by using sweet (condensed) milk."

Ruby Red Strawberries Michigan's Jewels

BY CHRISTINE VENEMA SPECIAL WRITER

Michigan strawberries are in season, and if you don't feel like picking them yourself, baskets of these red jewels are available at grocery stores and markets.

Legend has it that the ancestors of the strawberry come from both North and South America. However, it took several centuries and a side trip to Europe to produce the strawberry we know today.

In the early 18th century, French explorers discovered a plump, red berry being cultivated by the Indians of Chile. Several plants were brought back to the homeland where in 1714 the Chilean berry was crossed with a wild meadow strawberry discovered a few years earlier in the North American colony of Virginia. The resulting cross is the ancestor to today's strawberry.

Selecting & Storing

Shop for fully ripened, bright red strawberries as they do not ripen after picking. Choose berries that are plump and well rounded with a natural shine, rich red color and bright green, fresh looking caps.

Strawberries are best used as soon after purchasing or picking as possible to insure the most delectable flavor, appearance and highest nutritional value. Never wash strawberries or remove caps until just before using. Washing removes the natural protective outer layers. The caps protect the strawberries and help preserve flavor, texture, and nutrients.

CHOCOLATE GENOISE

- 1/3 cup cake flour
- 1/3 cup cornstarch 1/4 cup unsweetened cocoa
- powder . Pinch baking soda
- 3 large eggs plus 3 large egg yolks
- 3/4 cup sugar Pinch salt

Set the rack in the middle of the oven and preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Combine the cake flour with the cornstarch, cocoa powder and baking soda. Sift once and set aside. Whisk the eggs and the yolks in a bowl and whisk in the sugar in a stream. Mix in the salt.

Place the bowl over a pan of simmering water and gently whisk until the egg mixture is lukewarm. Whip by machine on high speed until the egg mixture is cold and increased in volume. Remove the bowl from the mixer and sift the cake flour mixture over the egg mixture.

In 3 or 4 additions, fold in the dry ingredients using a rubber spatula. Pour the batter in a 9inch round cake pan that was lightly buttered and lined with parchment paper. Smooth the top evenly with a spatula. Bake the layer for 25 minutes or until firm to the touch. Loosen the layer from the sides of the pan and invert to a rack; immediately re-invert so that the cake layer cools on the paper. Makes one 9-inch layer.

- 1/2 cup dark or light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons warm water
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract 4 large egg whites Pinch cream of tartar

Position a rack in the center of the oven and preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Coat a 9-inch bundt cake pan with cooking spray. Dust the pan with sifted cocoa and tap out the excess. Set aside.

Sift the flour, cornstarch, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and cocoa into a large bowl. Make a well in the center and add 1 cup sugar, the corn syrup, water and vanilla but do NOT blend together. Set aside. In another large bowl, with an electric mixer, whip the egg whites with cream of tartar until foamy. Add the remaining 2 tablespoons of sugar and whip the whites until stiff but not dry.

Remove the bowl of whites from the stand, shake off the beaters and return them without washing, to the mixer. With the mixer on low speed, beat the cocoa and corn syrup mixture until well blended. Stir about 1 cup of the beat whitesinto the cocoa batter to lighten. Gently fold in remaining whites. Turn the batter into the prepared Creating freezer jam is quick and easy because boiling water processing is not required. After the jam sets for approximately 24 hours, it is stored in the freezer until it's thawed and enjoyed.

FREEZER STRAWBERRY JAM

2 cups crushed, stemmed, firm-ripe strawberries (approximately 1 quart, -whole)

3 cups sugar

3/4 cup water 1 1 3/4-ounce packet fruit

In a large bowl, combine crushed strawberries and sugar. Mix well. Let stand for 10 minutes. In a small saucepan, combine water and pectin. Mix well. Heat to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Boil for 1 minute. Pour hot pectin mixture into strawberry mixture and stir vigorously for 3 minutes.

(There will be a few remaining sugar crystals).

Immediately fill hot, sterilized half-pint jars, leaving 1/2-inch headspace. Wipe jar tops and threads clean. Place lids on jars and apply screw bands. Let stand at room temperature for 24 hours or until set. Store jam in refrigerator up to 3 weeks or in freezer up to 3 months. Yield 6 half pints.

OBSERVER

Michigan Amateur results

Livonian Brian Mills was the last area survivor, reaching second-round match play in the 85th Michigan Amateur Championship held last week at Michaywe Hills Golf Club in Gaylord.

On Thursday, Mills was defeated on the 19th hole by John Tighe, Jr. of Okemos in the afternoon round after beating John Lindholm of Flint in the first-round of medal play, 4 and 3.

Meanwhile, two Westland residents went down in the opening round. Kent Coon of Stanton downed Claud Johnston.

1 up, while Franklin's Peter Green edged Matt Wiley, 2 and 1.

Wiley was the 21st qualifier out of 64 as he shot 79 and 69. Johnson was 24th with a 75 and Mills, who shot 80 and 75, was one of 13 players tied at 155, but was among five players who qualified for match play. Redford's Ron Borean, who did not reach the medal round, shot 81 and 74 for a 155.

Other area first- and second-round scorers included Plymouth's Gabriel Garcia (78-81/155); Westland's Fred Backiel (81-83/164); Livonia's Michael Moco (87-78/165).

Spring hockey champs

The Squirt Panthers of Livonia recently finished first with a 13-1-1 record in the A Division of the Farmington Hills Spring Hockey League.

Assistant coaches include Jim Hinkle and Dave Wood.

Catch the Stars

A preview party for Sparky Anderson's ninth annual Motor City Golf Classic, to benefit CATCH (Caring Athletes Team for Children's and Henry Ford Hospitals) will be Sunday, July 14 at the Dearborn Inn.

Among the celebrities scheduled to attend include Anderson, the longtime Tiger manager; Edsel B. Ford II, Mitch Albom, Vinnie Johnson, Ron Kramer, Bill Freehan, Bo Schembechler and Mickey Lolich.

A live and silent auction will also be staged with trip packages to the Carribean, Las Vegas and Florida; and sports memoribilia signed by Steve Yzerman, Alan Trammell, Joe Dumars, Grant Hill, Chris Osgood, the Russian Five, Barry Sanders, Pete Rose, Katarina Witt, Greg Norman, Anderson and others.

All-Area squad deep in talent

Veteran Redford Thurston coach Emil Majeski was honored as Observerland Coach of the Year after his Eagles finished 18-10 and reached the state Class B quarterfinals.

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER

Redford Thurston baseball coach Emil Majeski knew he'd achieve his 400th career victory this season, but nothing was certain beyond that.

Majeski, who began his 31st season at Thurston with 398 career wins, ended up celebrating Class B district and regional championships before bowing out of the state tournament with a 5-0 quarterfinal loss to Harper Woods Notre Dame.

The Eagles, who started only three seniors (twins Art and John Hoffmeyer and Chad Putnam), reeled off 11 straight wins before their season-ending loss and fin-their season-ending loss and finished with an 18-10 overall record.

For this, Majeski is Observer-land's Coach of the Year as selected by the Observer sports staff.

"The kids practiced right and started jelling and playing well at the end," Majeski said. "It was great because we had only three starters back. They really came through. It was a real team effort."

Majeski, whose Thurston team won the 1984 Class B state championship, has a 416-272 career record. His teams have won four districts and two regionals to go with 11 league or division titles.

Majeski is a native of Port Austin, near the Thumb, and a gradute of North Huron High School. A threesport letterman there, he was a defensive back on the football team at Eastern Michigan University between 1959-61.

After spending a year as a student teacher in the Willow Run school district, Majeski accepted a teaching and coaching position at Thurston.

He has coached several all-staters and players who have gone on to play collegiately. Among them were Jeff Lance (still playing, most recently at Henry Ford Community College), Art George (Evansville), Bob Russeau, Tim DeMarco (members of the state champion team), Dennis Kuschel (an all-stater in the 1970s), John Roy (Western Michigan) and Bob Holmes (Eastern Michigan).

Coaching the Eagles this season was like taking a sip out of the Fountain of Youth for Majeski, a social studies and business teacher who hasn't set a retirement date.

"After a season like this, you feel like you can go forever," said Majeski, a 23-year resident of Livonia with his wife, Nancy, and children, Emily and Matt. "The kids worked so well together. As long as I feel good and feel I can contribute, it's gratifying to see kids succeed."

Summer cooler: Metro icers ready

Now this is the way hockey is supposed to be.

Traditional.

Eight teams. No expansion. Everyone in the playoffs. May the best squad win.

That's been the format for the Metro Summer Hockey League since its inception more than a decade ago. There haven't been any major upheavels, no switching venues, no changing for change's sake.

All the games are played at the Plymouth Ice Arena, with one exception: A league semifinal, which by necessity must be at Canfield Arena in Dearborn.

The biggest thing that happened in this league was a switch in directors, when the MSHL's founder, A.J. Baker, took a job as an assistant coach at Alabama-Huntsville and left town. He turned the league over to Keith Pietila to operate.

Pietila began his third year as director when the league opened

HOCKEY

Sunday with three games. Regularseason play will continue through the remainder of June and nearly all

The first round of the playoffs will be July 29-31. The conference finals will be Aug. 1, with the title game scheduled for Aug. 4.

The names of the conferences -Eagle and Bakes - are the same. The names of the eight teams - Wolverines, Broncos, Spartans and Bulldogs in the Eagle Conference, and the Huskies, Wildcats, Falcons and Lakers in the Bakes Conference also remain intact.

"We may be a little more competitive," Pietila answered to describe what changes have been made in the MSHL. "I think we have more college-level players this year.

"It seems to be (gaining in popularity). Players are looking for ice time, I guess. And this is competi-

There will be some slight differences. For starters, the top three scorers from last year - Kris Cantu, Dave Weaver and Jason Weber aren't returning.

But don't worry. The scoring still figures to soar, as it usually does in the MSHL.

Then there's the summer league version of the Russian Five. Eugene Afanasiev, Konstantin Kalmikov, Poleg Ponasnko, Anotoli Buliga and Fedor Federov will all play with the Wildcats, courtesy of team coach Bob Nagy, whom they play for during the winter months.

And, yes, they are indeed Russian. There are some familiar names in the league, too. Like Brad Dicks, Kevin Bernard, Edward Kruschka, Thomas Taylor and Dominic Catanzarite, who played at Livonia Franklin; Mike Schmidt, Jordan McCormack, Brian Calka and Kyle McNeilance, from Livonia Stevenson; and Rickey Marnon, Jason and Jesse Hubenschmidt, from Redford Catholic Central.

Some other familiar names? How about Pietila? The league director will have three other relatives playing with him on the Lakers: Paul, Ron and Jim. Also, Dave and Aaron Daavettila, two other members of the Lakers, are cousins.

There should be plenty of talent, once again. Each team will be limited to 17 players (15 forwards and defensemen, two goalies).

"There's enough talent that every team has enough talent," Pietila

And once again, the league will offer a coup de grace: The champion will travel to Houghton to play that summer league's champion Aug. 10-

One other thing: Pietila said the league's top five scorers and top three goalies will receive jackets commemorating their accomplishments.

So there are a few new wrinkles. But not enough to change what makes the Mt HL so attractive to hockey players - the chance to play against some very good competition.

Newman to lead Stevenson cagers

The worst kept secret was made official Thursday as longtime assistant Tim Newman was elevated to the varsity boys head basketball coach at Livonia Stevenson High School, Newman, 38, becomes the third boys cage coach in school history. He succeeds Jim McIntyre, who retired this spring after going 117-122 in 11 seasons.

He is the second new Livonia varsity high school boys basketball to be named this season. Dan Robinson replaced Larry Jackson at Franklin, while Churchill is looking to replace Tom Lang.

"I'm really looking forward to this. When you're only the third guy in the school to have this job after people like George Van Wagoner and Jim McIntyre, those are really big shoes to fill.

"And I really respect Roger Frayer and our principal Dale Coller. They make my job a whole lot easier."

Newman, a 1975 graduate of Franklin, was a guard on the last. Livonia Public Schools' team to reach the Class A state quarterfinals (1974).

A recent graduate of Eastern moving to Stevenson with McIntyre Michigan University, Newman majored in special education with a tor at the Ford Skills Center.

"We'll have a good team next year," Newman said of his Stevenson club. "We're not going to be as big because we lose some size, but they'll work extremely hard. "I'll go with the same philosophy that I've had with 'Mac' since we were at Franklin. I'll change some things only from the standpoint that I've got to have my imprint on things. But the other things will stay the same. We want our kids to be good citizens, be academically proficient and be good players." Newman said his coaching staff will include Amy Rozman, who will take over the freshman team. Frayer and Newman are also in the process of naming a new JV coach. "I hope our staff will be as cohesive as it has been in the past and I hope I can help the younger coaches develop and move on to the next level," Newman said, "I don't want them to be around with me for 20

Thurston's most valuable player was a center fielder when not pitching.

"Art led by example and that was nice," Majeski said. "He has excellent control. He could get his curve over any time he wanted. You couldn't sit on his fastball. He had a sneaky fastball."

The senior leadoff batter led the team in at bats (106), hits (45), triples (five) and fewest strikeouts among starters (nine). He batted .425, drove in 22 runs and scored 25. He also showed some power with two homers.

It was a remarkable turnaround from a year ago when he hit only .219.

"He made a huge improvement." Safter said. "As a junior, he'd swing at bad pitches, take strikes. This year was the opposite. He was a good leader and hustled all the time whether we were winning or losing.

Karney also pitched, posting a 1-3 record with a 3.61 ERA. He struck out 40 batters and walked 15 in 31 innings. He has signed with U-D.

Robert Septer, Infielder, Redford Union: The three-year varsity starter had a dream senior season, breaking school records in seven categories: average (.505), hits (47), number of times on base (77), walks (30), stolen bases (27), doubles (11) and triples (seven).

The 5-foot-8, 170-pound offensive catalyst also led the Panthers with 39 runs scored and contributed 23 RBi. He was steady in the field and struck out only 16 times in 93 official plate appearances.

*Robert meant a whole lot because he was our inspirational leader along with his good play this year." RU coach Rick Berryman said. "He's not only a good hitter, but he bunts, steals and hits for power."

Septer was an All-Mega White Division selection.

Eric Pierce, Infielder, N. Farmington: The senior first baseman had an outstanding finale to a four-year varsity career. He finished the season with a .560 batting average and 36 hits, which included five doubles and one triple.

Pierce, who will be a walk-on player at Michigan State next season, had an on-base percentage of .647 (48-of-74) and 17 RBI. He also scored 14 runs and made the All-Western Lakes team.

North Farmington coach Irv Horwitz said Pierce is the best player at his position in the 12 years Horwitz has coached the Raiders.

*Eric is probably the best player we've had in the last four years," Horwitz said. "With his great dedication and leadership, he was a real asset. The kids really looked up to him. He's an amazing fielder and had an oustadning year with the bat."

C.J. Ghannam, Infielder, Harrison: The junior shortstop was a threat on the bases, setting school records with 51 stolen bases in 52 attempts and 37 runs scored.

Ghannam, another three-year starter and All Western Lakes selection, batted .416 with 35 total hits, four doubles, a triple, two homers and 12 RBI. From the leadoff position, he also walked 14

Cagnon leads 15-hit assault in 12-3 win

Little Caesars went crazy Wednesday, not with its bread, but with a 15-hit attack in a 12-3 Livonia Collegiate Baseball League victory Wednesday over Michigan Honig's at Ford Field.

Catcher Aaron Cagnon went 3for-3 and knocked in three runs as Caesars improved to 5-8 in the LCBL.

Aaron Racey (Hillsdale College) added two hits, including a triple and three RBI. Aaron Babicz (Hillsdale) contributed two hits, two RBI and scored three runs.

Other hitting heroes for Caesars include Kevin Uzarski, two hits and an RBI: Adrian Williams, two hits including a triple; Scott Carden, RBI double; and Phill Hannon, RBI single.

Winning pitcher Alex Orsette, who worked all seven innings, scattered seven hits.

Jon Marshall, who lasted 2 2/3 for winless Honig's (0-11), suffered the loss.

Honig's scored twice in the second on a double by Ryan Meredith and a homer by Robert Steinbrecher. In the third, John Miele doubled in Chris Kirian.

. HINES PARK 7, DECISION O: Steve Hornsberger turned in his second strong outing Wednesday as first-place Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury (12-0-1) blanked second-place Decision Consultants, Inc.

Hornsberger, a Brighton native and lefty from Central Michigan University, tossed a four-hitter over seven innings to notch his second straight win.

In his first LCBL start, Hornsberger carried a no-hitter into the seventh before Caesars broke up the bid with a one-out single. Against Decision, Hornsberger walked five and struck out five.

First baseman Stacy McCollum, a left-handed hitter from St. Andrew's University (N.C.), broke open a close game with a grand slam over the right field fence in the third inning off Steve Williams, the DCI starter.

Livonia Mantle topples Waterford with late comeback

Ryan Van Belle (Livonia Stevenson) knocked in the tying run with a bases loaded single and David Stando (Stevenson) forced the go-ahead run home with a walk in the seventh inning as the Livonia Baseball Club earned a 7-5 victory last week over Waterford in the Little Caesars Baseball Federation game.

The win improved LBC, a Mickey Mantle-age team (15-16) year-olds) to 4-2 in the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation (Closed Division).

John Marlin (Stevenson) picked up the win in relief of Stando, who worked the first four innings. LBC trailed 5-2 after five innings before rallying for two in the sixth and three in the seventh (capped by Marlin's steal of home.

Indians romp

The Michigan Indians, a Koufax-age (13-year-olds) team improved their league record to 8-0 with a 2-1 win Wednesday over South Farmington in a Caesars Closed Division game at the Canton Softball Complex.

The Indians were now 24-3 overall and have outscored their opponents, 249-75.

Earlier in the week, the Indians traveled to Ohio and came. away with a pair of double-header sweeps against the host 13year-old Columbus and Dublin 13-year-old squads by a cumulative score of 44-14.

The team is coached by Greg Lenhoff, Nick Marrone and Matt Smith.

Concealed starts 3.0

Redford Concealed Security's 9-10 year old Willie Mays Division baseball team remained in the winner's bracket of the Mayor's Cup Tournament in Battle Creek by winning its first three games.

Concealed won two games on Thursday, 11-0 over Q Design of Illinois and 15-2 over Novi.

Shawn Murray (Redford) was the winning pitcher against Q Design, throwing a one-hitter with two strikeouts and four walks in four innings.

Dan Kapla (Royal Oak) pitched one inning in relief, striking out all three batters he faced. Chris Rigley (Redford) went 2-for-3, including a home run, with three RBI. Greg Hocking (Farmington Hills) and Mike Monterey (Farmington Hills) each went 1-3 with two RBI.

Anthony Volpe (Farmington Hills) scattered six hits, struck out four and walked one to earn the win against Novi. Monterey went 3-3 with a homer and triple. Kyle Miller (Redford) went 2-4 with an RBI and Kapla was 2-3 with an RBI. Volpe knocked in three runs and Murray drove in two while collecting one hit each.

In Friday's 15-6 win over the Wayne Bandits, Livonia's Phil Mabey threw a four-hitter with one strikeout for the decision on the pitcher's mound.

Miller had two doubles in three official at-bats and three RBI. Monterey was 2-4 with two RBI and Brian Dutton was 2-3 with one RBI. Andrew Soley and Volpe each contributed a triple for Concealed, which improved to 13-5 heading into a late afternoon game Friday.

Now is the time to clear out those closets, attics, basements and garages and make some quick cash in the process.

How do you plan a garage sale?

It's easy! Just follow these simple guidelines:

1. Gather together the items you have for sale. Sort them into appropriate categories and price them fairly.

2. Place a classified advertisement in The Observer & Eccentric by calling one of the numbers below.

the upcoming sale. 4. Decide what to do with all the money you'll have after your sale!

3. Hang signs throughout your neighborhood alerting residents to

She's smiling because she's placing an Observer & Eccentric classified ad and knows that if someone doesn't buy her sofa in three tries, we'll run her ad three more times free.

Where can you find a bargain like that, these days?

Now is the time to look around the house, garage, basement, and/or attic and find those things that you don't use anymore, but someone would just love to give a new home.

Call us today. Our classified staff is on duty from eight o'clock in the morning until 6:00 at night.

Isuzu Rodeo is fun, yet practical

By Anne Fracassa Avanti NewsFeatures

You like sporty? You like fun-todrive? You like sport utes with power?

Then you like the 1996 Isuzu Rodeo. The quality of the build on the Rodeo, including the fit and finish, is outstanding. Those folks down in Lafayette, Ind., where the Rodeo is built, should be very proud.

Driven was the 4-wheel-drive model outfitted with the new 3.2-liter single overhead cam V6 engine that delivered 190 horsepower. That was adequate for a vehicle of this size and class.

The 3.2-liter is outfitted with fully sequential multi-point fuel injection. It gives you around 10 percent more horsepower over last year's models. The standard engine is a 2.6-liter 4-cylinder, but most people want the V6. It just makes sense for a vehicle like this.

Also standard is a manual transmission, but the V6 I drove had an automatic, which is a better choice anyway. The 4-speed automatic performed nicely during normal city driving, and entrance onto freeways was fine. There to 55 or more to merge safely.

Standard this year on the 4-wheel-drive Rodeo is shift-on-the-fly, which means you can engage the 4wheel-drive mode by pressing a button on the instrument panel — so long as you're traveling under 62 mph. It's something that all 4-wheel-drive vehicles will eventually have. Glad Isuzu

The ride is very, very nice — lots better than last year's model. Isuzu engineers increased the wheel track and changed the ratings on the shock absorbers and springs to achieve what amounts to a less-harsh ride than before.

The Rodeo also has front independent double-wishbone suspension and torsion bar springs with a stabilizer bar. Both front and rear, there are double-acting gas-assisted shock absorbers to provide a little more comfort to the your level. driver and passengers.

optional on all models. On the V6, however, you'll get 4-wheel disc brakes with rear-wheel anti-lock brakes as standard equipment. ABS is something everyone should have on their next new vehicle. The extra measure of safety ABS provides is worth the bucks. ..

Other safety features you'll find in the Rodeo — standard — are dual airbags, progressive body, frame and engine absorption, side impact guard beams and a collapsible steering col-

On the exterior, you'll find smart styling and an aggressive front stance. The Rodeo sits on new 16-inch aluminum wheels this year that are really

One of the features on the Rodeo I really liked was the swing-away rear tire carrier and how easy it was to get into the rear hatch. The door opens wide and cargo is easily accessed at

The cargo capacity with the rear Four-wheel anti-lock brakes are seat folded down is a whopping 74.9 cubic feet. About what you'll need for a weekend camping trip. With the rear seat up, you'll find about 35 cubic feet of cargo room.

> And speaking of camping, the 3.2liter engine, when outfitted with trailer brakes, allows the Rodeo to tow up to 4,500 pounds. With the 2.6-liter engine, you can only tow around 2,000 pounds.

Looks can be deceiving with the Rodeo. Although it's only 13 inches off the ground, you feel like you're high up - much like a full-sized truck - when you sit behind the wheel. It wasn't much of an effort to get in and out of the Rodeo, as well.

YAY

Some of the nicer options available include air conditioning, a sunroof, limited slip differential, a six-speaker stereo system and leather seating.

Consider the Isuzu Rodeo is a practical sport utility that's perfect for anyone who wants a fun-to-drive vehicle.

1996 Isuzu Rodeo Vehicle class: Sport-utility vehicle. Power: 2.6-liter 4-cylinder engine. V6 is available an option.

Mileage: 15 city/22 highway is the range, depending on how the vehicle is equipped.

Where assembled: Lafayette, Ind. Base price: $17,340.

Choosing Gasolines

Does higher octane premium gas mean more detergents to keep your engine healthy? Not necessarily, says the Car Care Council. In most cars premium gas adds up to wasted money and resources.

For people who believe they're doing their cars a disservice by using less-expensive "regular" gas, the Council states that all grades contain engine-cleaning detergents, and most cars seldom need more than a good quality of regular, 87-octane fuel.

Exceptions to the rule:

 An older engine that has accumulated carbon in the combustion chamber, causing knocking or pinging under load. Higher octane can help, but sooner or later a more radical procedure may be necessary to remove carbon.

 Mechanical problems, sometimes due to a vacuum leak, overheating or emissions control system malfunction. Remedy: diagnose and correct the trouble.

• The engine needs attention. Remedy: have the engine diagnosed and serviced as required. • The vehicle is designed for higher octane fuel. Remedy: use recommended grade of fuel. Besides the cost factor, highoctane gas requires more crude oil per gallon to produce. It also creates more toxic hydrocarbons, something the ozone could do without. So the next time you're debating at the pump and decide to give your car a treat with some expensive, higher octane gas, remember that a better investment of your money may be in routine preventive maintenance services.
