Ousted official to file complaint

Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek intends to file a complaint to dispute a campaign flier because it didn't identify who paid for the literature. But one of three who signed the flier denies that he violated any election laws

By DARRELL CLEM

An ousted Wayne-Westland school board member plans to file a formal complaint accusing three of her campaign fees of violating state elections laws.

Sylvia Kozorosky Wiacek, defeated June 8, claims that campaign fliers mailed to school district residents violated state laws for failing to note who paid for them.

The fliers implied she has used her influence to secure jobs for family members and accused her of manipulating senior citizens for political power. She is the senior resources director for the city of Westland.

The fliers were signed by William Ziemba, a former city council member, Carol Gillentine, a Wayne-Westland custodial employee, and Fredric Hagelthorn, who failed in an earlier attempt to recall Kozorosky-Wiacek.

Even before the election, Kozorosky-Wiacek filed a complaint with the county elections office because the fliers didn't contain a disclaimer noting who paid for them.

"So it's not like it's sour grapes just because I lost," she said.

In response, the county told her the issue comes under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of State's office. Her campaign committee is expected to file a complaint with that office as early as this week.

Liz Boyd, spokeswoman for the state office, told the Observer that campaign literature mailed to voters must contain a disclaimer identifying who paid for it. Otherwise, fines of $1,000 can be imposed if warranted by a state investigation, she said.

Ziemba appeared to interpret the law differently and said he's protected by the First Amendment. He said the three who signed the literature never formed an official committee.

"I didn't violate any campaign laws," Ziemba said.

Boyd, however, said campaign literature must include a disclaimer whether's it's written by "an individual, a group or a committee."

Both Ziemba and Hagelthorn have denied they even know who paid for the fliers or who distributed them. Gillentine could not be reached.

"I do not know who paid for the printing or the distribution;" Ziemba

Ziemba and Hagelthorn claimed they were merely asked — and agreed — to sign the literature. But both refused to say who asked them.

City strikes up bands in summer concert series

The sound of music has been launched by a Westland group to bring popular concerts to the community.

The annual outdoor concert series began Sunday, June 7, with a performance by the Waco country/western band at the Nankin Mill, on Ann Arbor Trail near Farmington Road.

The series is planned by the Westland Cultural Society with specific organizations sponsoring individual concerts.

The concerts are held at 6 p.m. on Sundays June 28, July 12, 19 and 26, Aug. 9, 16 and 30 and Sept. 13. Locations will be rotated.

Copies of the schedule are available at municipal buildings and by contacting the recreation department at 722-7620 or the cultural society at 522-3918.

Prehistoric pair packs challenge for children: read and win prizes

Rex and Rita Saurus are back.

For the second consecutive year, the literate prehistoric pair are back to challenge children in grades one through eight in the summer Family Reading Challenge.

Sponsored by the Borders Book Shops in Birmingham and Novi, the competition challenges children to hone their reading skills and, at the same time, qualify for a prize drawing on Sept. 2.

To qualify, the children must read at least three books and three newspaper articles between June 15 and Aug. 28 and then discuss them with their parent or guardian.

All children who complete the project will receive a "Readers are Leaders" bumper sticker and qualify for the drawing. Those whose names are picked in the drawing will win a $50 shopping spree at the Birmingham or Novi Borders Book Shop or one of 25 $10 gift certificates.

Look for the entry forms available in this newspaper throughout the summer.

Fast biker gets away from cops

By Darrell Clem Staff Writer

A motorcyclist accused in a drive by shooting eluded Westland police during a high speed chase and escaped by running red lights and driving on the center line between moving cars, police said Friday.

The dramatic chase remained under investigation Friday afternoon, and a suspect was being sought. No one was injured by the reported gunfire.

Police couldn't release details of why the motorcyclist may have wanted to shoot the driver, because they were afraid of hurting the investigation.

The incident began about 6:30 p.m. Thursday when a Romulus man, 22, who had picked up a female companion observed a motorcycle following his car westbound on Spring Arbor in Inkster.

When the driver stopped at Henry Ruff Road on the Westland-Inkster border, the motorcyclist pulled up on the driver's side of the car and displayed a handgun, police reports said.

Fearing being shot, the driver pulled out at a high rate of speed, but continued to be followed northbound on Henry Ruff, west on Cherry Hill, north on Wayne and west on Ford Road, according to police reports.

The driver of the car then pulled into a preside drive at Ford and Linville, got out of his car and began running toward the back yard of a residence — only to be fired at as the motorcyclist drove by with the gun.

Neither the driver of the car nor his female companion were hit by gunfire.

Police, notified of the incident, spotted the motorcyclist moments later at the Marquette-Newburgh intersection and tried to stop-the cyclist, who then ran a red light and continued south on Newburgh.

To pass traffic and elude police, the cyclist passed traffic on two-lane Newburgh and then drove on the center line — between moving cars — when traffic approached. Police estimated the cyclist was driving at least 90 mph as he approached the Newburgh-Cherry Hill intersection, where police were caught by a red light.

The cyclist continued to speed southbound, sometimes swerving onto the shoulder of the road to clude police.
Near Glenwood, police lost pursuit.

Police noted that some witnesses questioned whether shots had actually been fired at Ford and Linville.

Pageant set

There is still two days for Westland young women to enter the annual Westland Festival Committee pageant with the winner to reign as queen during the annual summer event, scheduled for the 4th of July weekend at Central City Park. The pageant is open to young women between 17 and 23 and Westland residents who have never been married. There will be no swimsuit or talent competition, said the committee. Judging will be based on information supplied by the young woman's application, polse, personality and general appearance.

Deadline for applications, which must be accompanied by a photo, is 9 p.m., Wednesday, Applications are available at municipal government offices and

Golf benefit

The Westland police department's Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program will hold a golf benefit Aug. 20 to raise funds for prizes to be presented to elementary school youngsters next year. The benefit will offer a grand prize of a trip for two to anywhere in the continental U.S. plus Alaska and Canada. The golfer to get a hole-in-one will win a new Ford. The fee is $65 which includes a steak dinner and a golf cart. Interested persons may contact the department at 722-DARE.

Graduation time

In a related DARE activity, the officers in the program presented certificates and prizes to Lincoln School fifth and sixth graders who completed the program. There were 79 students of Mona Hubbard, Carolyn Bozyk and Christopher Smith who were honored. An estimated 50 to 75 persons attended the June 3 reception at the school which serves part of the Norwayne neighborhood.

"I don't think I want to divulge vote by absentee ballot. that information," Ziemba said.

Questions also have been raised about whether Ziemba, Hagelthorn and Gillentine should have formed a committee to distribute the fliers.

Boyd, a Secretary of State. spokeswoman, said two or more people who spend more than $500 to support or oppose a candidate must file as a committee. But it wasn't known how much was spent on the fliers - or who spent it.

The fliers were initially sent to absentee voters. The school district has about 830 people who routinely

However, Hagelthorn said he had heard that the fliers had a wider distribution.

"I really wasn't involved in the distribution of it," he said. Kozorosky-Wiacek has attributed

The fliers then stated, "Just look at what she has been able to do for herself." The literature then listed the city and school jobs of her family members, such as her husband, David, who's the 18th District Court administrator.

"Sylvia and her close friends want power, they want to control the school system for their benefit, and they don't mind using you to get that power," the flier said.

Ziemba said he stood by the truth of the literature and said if there are any inaccuracies, "We will be glad to print a retraction and apologize to Mrs. Kozorosky-Wiacek."

Tinkham Center involved in feud

By DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Reports that campaign fliers opposing a Wayne-Westland school board incumbent were stamped with voter address labels at the school district-owned Tinkham Center has stirred a controversy.

The fliers, sealed in envelopes before being brought to the center on . Venoy south of Cherry Hill sought to persuade voters not to vote for incumbent Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek, who lost her re-election bid June 8.

The fliers were mailed to school district residents amid a bitter preelection political war between Kozorosky-Wiacek and her opponents.

The address labels were put on the envelopes by mentally impaired adults who go to Tinkham to work on jobs contracted through Family Neighborhood Services, a non-profit, private agency that leases space at Tinkham from the school dis-

Except for leasing space, FNS is not affiliated with the school district. But school board member Laurel Raisanen has raised questions about whether it was proper for the fliers to be stamped on school-owned property.

Last week, Raisanen called for the school district administration to launch an investigation into the pre-election incident. She has routinely denounced the use of school property for election issues.

The envelopes had been brought to Tinkham as one of many jobs contracted for the mentally impaired adults, and FNS officials didn't even know what the envelopes contained, said Jeff Bachynski, FNS director of employee ser-

"We weren't even privy to what the information in there was," he

But "one or two" FNS employees apparently opened envelopes, read the campaign fliers and "didn't agree politically" with what they read, resulting in the subsequent controversy, Bachynski said.

He called it an "unfortunate" incident and stated emphatically that FNS officials "certainly don't have anything to do with politics," but only want to secure work for their clients.

He refuted rumors that the mentally impaired adults weren't paid to put the address labels on the envelopes.

"The clients were paid," he said.

FNS has no desire to become embroiled in Wayne-Westland politics, he said. "We were very disappointed to hear that all of this was going on."

As Bachynski explained it, "a gentleman approached us" about paying to have the envelopes stamped at Tinkham Center, and FNS officials agreed.

When later asked to name the person, Bachynski replied, "I don't even know the gentleman's name."

Bachynski repeated his desire to keep FNS out of Wayne-Westland politics, saying the program is meant only to help the 80 to 100 mentally impaired adults who attend the Tinkham program.

Isn't It A Shame?

You had no idea, did you, that a seemingly harmless piece of plastic could become an implement of death to an innocent sea creature? Yet it happens, unfortunately, on a grand scale.

. Tons of plastic material are lost or dumped into the oceans each year, imperiling the lives of hundreds of thousands of aquatic animals. Plastic bags, six-pack vokes, fishing nets and other materials can trap fish, mammals, turtles and birds, causing death by drowning or strangulation. Sometimes animals get sick or starve when they eat plastic that they mistake for food. But plastics pollution is preventable.

Area woman pens poem, designs shirts, makes calls to back Perot

By TEDD SCHNEIDER STAFF WRITER

Kathleen Bower registered to vote for the first time in her life so she could support his presidential bid.

The 49-year-old, artisically inclined resident of western Wayne County has even penned a poem and designed T-shirts for the candidacy.

She's spent endless hours on long-distance calls to his Houston headquarters and recruited a cadre of others to pound the pavement in their neighborhoods gathering signatures.

All this for a guy who hasn't even officially announced his campaign.

But Bower's efforts are typical of the support H. Ross Perot seems to be generating in Michigan and across the county.

Perot, the billionaire founder of Electronic Data Systems and longtime political activist, has said he'll run as an Independent against Republican President George Bush and Arkansas Goy. Bill Clinton, the likely Democratic nominee, this fall if backers can get his name on the ballot in all 50 states.

He's already there in Tennessee and Utah. In addition, supporters have turned in petitions bearing the required number of signatures in Delaware, Maine, New Hampshire and his home state of Texas.

Support building

In Michigan, Perot workers need to gather about 26,000 signatures by mid-July to place their candidate on November's ballot.

Bower, serving as Livonia chair for the effort, is confident, saying she see's "a rip-tide" of support building in the few short months she's been working with the

"He's asking the questions that need to be asked," Bower says of Perot. "He has a voice that needs to be

"All I'm saying is let's give him that chance and then we can all decide whether what he has to say is worth supporting."

But if Bower's words sound neutral, her feelings apparently aren't. The non-candidate has inspired her to a new level of political awareness.

She says Americans are "tired of being treated like they're stupid" by political leaders. And Perot, she says, has shown he's ready to take the public seriously.

She likes his grass-roots, common-sense approach to solving problems, she says. The national telephone poll Perot said he would implement at the White House to help him make decisions is "a damn good idea."

"My voice is too important to give to somebody unless they are truly representing me."

Bower says she first heard about Perot in the mid-1980s, from a neighbor who worked for EDS.

She recalls that some of his philosophy "sounded interesting — but I really wasn't into politics that much so I didn't give it much thought." Since then, Hower says, she's become something of a behind-the-scenes activist.

ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Sign here, please: Kathleen Bower (left) checks over signatures on Michigan petitions for possible presidential candidate H. Ross Perot with fellow committee members Les Davis and Roy Goffett.

She peppered the Michigan congressional delegation with letters and phone calls last fall, urging them to reject a bill on search and seizure.

She got involved in the ill-fated-campaign to save the GM Willow Run Assembly plant.

And she jumped on the Perot bandwagon one night after seeing early stories about his possible presidential bid on the C-SPAN cable network.

A songwriter

There's a lighter side to Bower's activism as well.

Last year, she recorded an inspirational song for Michigan troops fighting in the Persian Gulf War. Her designs have graced T-shirts and bumper stickers protesting the Willow Run closing and touting Perot's Michigan campaign.

Recently she dashed off "Shaded Smile," a poetic lament to America's current malaise and the man she thinks will change things as president.

Bush and Clinton, the two mainstream candidates, are "more of the same, more of what's hurting this country," Bower says.

"Perot's money has given him more power in this country than any president but I don't see him as power-hungry."

Bower, who comes from an Irish, working class family, was born in Detroit and raised in Milford.
Her father was a police officer and she has brothers and sisters who work for the auto companies.

She says Perot, who also had working class roots, still understands people who constantly juggle mortgage payments and other bills "just to get by."

"Right now I have the time, the money and the talent to really help somebody I believe can make a difference. And that's just what I'm going to do."

Fireworks focus: Be careful, avoid injury

By Casey Hans Staff Writer

Firefighters are hoping for a quiet Independence Day holiday - a season which runs from several weeks in June through July

For them, a busy season will mean bad burns and injuries, mostly to children.

"Over the years, these figures run pretty constant," said Dave Smith of the state Fire Marshal's office. "Parental supervision is still very important."

Due to both legal and illegal fireworks accidents in Michigan last year, there were 91 cases of burns, six eyes lost, six limbs lost, 28 lacerations and nine fractures.

Of those, 73 incidents involved children ages 7-10 and another 22 incidents involved children ages 11-16.

The Southeast Michigan Association of Fire Chiefs hosted a demonstration of illegal fireworks in Farmington Hills Monday, in which they blew up two toy dolls, burned and melted a firefighter's shirt, and sent bottle rockets and other illegal devices shooting all over a field at the Farmington Hills location.

The display showed just how unpredictable fireworks can be. Westland Fire Chief Larry Lane brought a suitcase full of Hlegal fireworks to Monday's demonstration. It had been confiscated from a Westland store.

"In this case, a kid came home with fireworks, the mother called and we checked it out," he said. "They were selling these things to kids, not adults. He was 12 years old." . L.

Lane said his city gets upwards of a dozen calls each Fourth of July season relating to illegal fireworks. "Sometimes what they're selling is legal, but usually it's not," he added.

Even legal fireworks can cause injury when not properly supervised, fire officials said. Fireworks which are legal to purchase and use include: • Paper caps with no more than .25 a grain of explosive per Toy trick noise makers, devices which contain 15 milli-· Sparklers, steel wires partially coated or tubes which shoot out sparks when lit.

grams or less of an explosive.

• Fountains, including tubes and cones which emit a shower of sparks and sometimes a whistle when lit.

• Toy snakes, which produce a large, snake-like ash upon burning.

• Smoke bombs or similar items, none of which can produce an external flame.

Rouge still among state's dirtiest sites

By Wayne Peal Staff Writer

Maybe someday the Rouge River will rank among Michigan's cleanest. But not today.

The Rouge, running through Wayne and Oakland counties, ranks among Michigan's most hazardous sites on a newly-released state Department of Natural Resources list. The ranking puts the Rouge alongside waste dumps, landfills and manufacturing sites in its threat with the environment.

With a pollution index score of 43, the Rouge tied for 22nd place among 3,396 Michigan sites polluted by toxic waste.

The entire river was ranked not just specific sites.

"It's all pretty polluted," DNR environmental quality analyst Seg Norgbey said.

The now-closed G and H Landfill in Shelby Township, near Rochester, tied with the Saginaw River and Saginaw Bay as Michigan's most toxic site. Each received a pollution index score of 48.

Y's office manager likes 'people aspect' of her job

By Leonard Poger

Pauline King likes to consider herself the "hub" of the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA which also serves the Garden City and Canton Township communities.

"Every day is different and challenging," said King, the office manager for the Y, which has three buildings on Wayne Road south of Cherry Hill and latchkey programs in Wayne-Westland schools.

King has been with the Y eight years, first as a part-time evening receptionist. Six years ago, she was promoted to office office manager, helping to keep the organization running smoothly for its 500 members and 1,500 program participants.

While King likes to point out she likes the "people aspect" of her job, she wasn't always an outgoing, gregarious personality. Actually, she admits to being a shy person until a few years ago.

The change that allowed her "to come out of my shell" came when she took a sign language class at the church she was then attending.

She enrolled in the class taught by the pastor's wife after observing several elderly deaf women in the church and wanting to communicate with them.

Later, the pastor's wife urged King to "sign" the church services for deaf persons in the congregation. King agreed, admitting she was initially nervous about standing in front of a crowd, knowing people would be watching her.

Now, King teaches a signing class at the Y.

King, 43, also commented that the people skills may have come from her mother, who was a public school teacher and "a people pershe wants to create a friendly atmosphere so people will feel comfortable there and eventually join the Y. She also gives tours of the facilities, which includes an indoor swimming pool, fitness center, an equipped room for children, a nearhy house in which the child care center is based, and a renovated barn for various activities.

As a membership organization,

As office manager, she is reponsible for the full-time staff of five persons, working with the executive director, handling the Y's major functions, like the Invest in Youth dinner, making sure board of directors run smoothly and handling money and financial records.

But every day is different, King said, and it's the variety she likes about the position.

King was born and raised in Detroit, attended Our Lady of Mercy' High School in that city. In 1966, she was in the first graduating class of the school after it moved to Middlebelt and II Mile Road in Farmington Hills. She enrolled in Ferris State College that fall and two years later married an airman and moved to Sault Ste. Marie in the state's Upper Peninsula. Divorced for 17 years, she is the mother of a son, 21, and a daughter,

Being a single parent for 17 years helps her with other single parents who come to the Y to enroll their children in the Y's organized sports programs which stress skills instruction instead of competition. "As a teen-ager and young adult, King was a stock manager for a Crowley's Department Store in Detroit. In the late 1970s, she managed a Lawson's party store on Cherry Hill east of Wayne Road.

She was jobless for several years before she approached the Wayne Metropolitan Community Services employment agency in early 1984. Several months later, she went to work for the Y as a part-time night receptionist. She was promoted to office manager in 1986.

Away from her Y office, King enjoys the collecting of antique cans in her Westland home.

"I have 200 cans, the oldest being from 1890," she said. "I enjoy going to antique auctions in Ohio, Fowlerville, and Adrian, Michigan."

Why the tin cans' collection? "Tin cans intrigue me," she said.

Marriage license fees to fund domestic counseling programs

By TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Local police would be told to take domestic violènce calls more seriously under a package of bills that breezed through the state House of Representatives Thursday.

Well, most breezed - 97-0 to

One - raising the marriage license to $30 from $20 - barely floated through on a 57.48 vote because many lawmakers rehelled against a revenue increase.

"Every time the state does something, it increases fees," complained Rep. John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, "The easiest thing in the world is to increases costs. The hardest thing is to reduce expenditures."

The $1 million or so in new revenue is supposed to pay for domestic counseling programs. County boards would allocate the money for contracted services for abused spouse shelters. Jamian and others said the goal was too vague.

Voting yes on the license increase were five of the area's women members - Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, Georgina Goss, R-Northville, and out." Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak ---

Also on hold - at least for now is SMART's plan for a regional transportation tax.

Permission would have to be granted from the state Legislature before the first-of-its-kind tax could be placed on the ballot.

But Wirgau said advance lobbying isn't occurring.

"We're not going to the Leiglsature unless the plan is pretty well concrete," he said.

The tax would likely be levied in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

From the coast of Maine to the shores of British Columbia, people are discovering the joys of sea kayaking. The sport prom

"It's popular because it's a relatively inexpensive way to get on the water." said Christopher Cunningham, editor of Sea Kayaker, a quarterly magazine.

"Like cycling it allows you to go places under your own steam."

"It's a sport anybody can do," said Lee Moyer, a co-owner of Pacific Water Sports, a kayak manufacturer in Seattle, "If white-water kayaking is like rock climbing, then sea kayaking is like backpacking."

He also conducts Bean's annual Atlantic Coast Sea Kayak Symposium, which will be in Castine, Maine, July 10 through 12. For more information call (800) 341-

"There are many misconceptions about sea kayaking. In fact, the name is a bit of a misnomer. You don't have to be out in the open sea

"Sea kayaking can be 'gunkholing, where you spend an afternoon paddling in tidal marshes and estuaries looking at blue herons."

The number of sea kayakers grows steadily each year. Tom Derrer, a spokesman for the Trade Association of Sea Kayaking (TASK), estimates there are between 200,000 and 300,000 active participants in the sport around the United States and Canada. About 50,000 new sea kayaks are sold yearly.

"The number of users is very hard to determine accurately," said Derrer, a 25-year veteran of the business and the owner of Eddyline Kayaks, a kayak manufacturer. "And the numbers don't reflect those who spend a weekend or a week sea kayaking with an outlitter somewhere.

Indeed, the growth of the sport has given rise to dozens of regional outfitters in kayaking hot spots such as Seattle, Vancouver, Alaska, the Great Lakes and Florida.

Kayaking among the 3,000 or so islands off the Maine coast became se popular that the non-profit island Institute in Rockland, Maine, set up The Maine Island Trail Association in 1988.

The organization now has 2,600 members. A $35 yearly fee allows members access to 80 islands.

For more information contact the group at 60 Ocean Street, Rockland, Maine 04841 or call (207) 594-9209.

Those who are curious about the sport but baffled by the array of kayak models offered by manufacturers may attend one of the weekend sea-kayak symposiums, which are held throughout the United States and Canada.

L.L. Bean's symposium, now in its 11th year, is always a sellout, according to Perry.

"We allow only 400 attendees and, basically, it's like a salad bar for sea kayakers. Most of the major manufacturers come here, so our participants get to try out many models and attend workshops with world-famous kayakers.

"People don't leave here as sea kayakers, but they leave with what they need to know to become one."

Sportsmen can count on spending between $1,000 and $2,000 for a good sea kayak, Moyer said. He adds that a sea kayak is an entirely different kind of craft than a white water kayak.

The big question novices always ask is about the infamous eskimo roll, a self-rescue maneuver to right... a kayak in the event it turns over. The spin leaves the paddler hanging upside down in the water.

"You can ask 10 experts that question and get 10 different and very adament answers," Perry said. For more information on sea ... kayaking, including symposiums and outfitters, contact TASK, P.O. Box 84144, Seattle, Wash. 98124 or call (206) 621-1018. Sea Kayaker is a good source of information and is $13 for four is-

Visitors value Vancouver's view

By Moira Farrow New York Times Syndicate

It would not be accurate to say Vancouver, British Columbia, has completely escaped the economic recession that has brought gloom to many North American cities.

But it would be fair to say this West. Coast Canadian city, the province's largest, has been spared the worst of it.

Vancouver's natural beauty and mild climate continue to attract visitors and immigrants by the thousands. Last year more than 33,500 people moved to British Columbia from across Canada and 25,000 came from overseas, mostly from Hong Kong, Taiwan, Indonesia and the Philippines.

The downtown skyline is spiked by building cranes, new luxury apartment suites are selling fast and restaurants are opening week-.

Another big part of the city's resilience comes from the increasingly active Vancouver-to-Alaska cruise business. Last year more than 400,000 passengers made the trip in 22 ships from 12 lines.

A new cruise ship terminal has sparked construction of two nearby hotels and several restaurants. As a result the port has been transformed into a lively place where it is possible to dine on smoked salmon while watching float planes land in the harbor or helicopters take off for Vancouver Island.

What to do

A colorful pageant of Chinese origin, the Canadian International Dragon Boat Festival takes place this year June 19 through

The big, vividly painted canoes, propelled by paddlers, will race in False Creek, an ocean inlet nearly two miles long that juts right into the middle of the city. Organizers expect even more than the 2,000 paddlers from 11 nations who took part last year. Single day admission is $5 for adults; $2.50 for children. For more information call 681-4433. (The dialing code for Vancouver is 604 and all prices are given in-United States dollars.)

More than 500 international musicians will liven up the city. June 19 to 28 for the Du Maurier International Jazz Festival. There will be concerts at 20 sites, a street festival in Gastown and a free outdoor concert at the Plaza of Nations (the former Expo site) on the closing weekend.

Performers will include the Staple Singers, the tenor saxophonist John Griffin and the blues guitarist and singer John Hammond. Some concerts are free; the top ticket price is $23.50. For more information call 682-

The Vancouver Sea Festival, July 16 to 19, has local clubs involved in events such as sailing and water-skiing displays in English Bay. There will be a "floating" parade at sea on July 18 at 10 a.m., which can best be seen from' Beach Avenue.

Timely treasure: The Gastown Steam Clock at the corner of Cambie and Water streets is the only steam clock in the world.

All events will be free and salmon barbecue dinners will be sold at several sites. For more information call 684-3378.

The waterfront meadows of Jericho Beach Park will be the site of the Vancouver Folk Music Festival July 17, 18 and 19. The eclectic program will include Saffire the Uppity Blues Women, Peggy Seeger, Roots Punta Rock from Belize and the English group Barely Works Organizers hope to hold ticket prices at last year's rates, which ranged from $22 for one concert to $63 for a weekend pass. For more information call 879-2931.

Things to see

The city's backdrop of 4,000foot peaks of the Coast Range, snowcapped into June or July, plus 10 sandy beaches within easy reach of downtown, mean that the spring and summer visitor is never short of activities.

Hiking, swimming, sailing, wind surfing and golfing are all within easy reach. Eighty miles north is the two-mountain ski resort of Whistlef Blackcomb, where glacier skiing continues into summer.

But if a visitor has only one day to spend in Vancouver it should be spent in Stanley Park.

This 1,000-acre peninsula close to downtown has forest, formal gardens that change every season and nature trails bordered by a 7mile seawall walk for cyclists and pedestrians. There are also tennis courts, pitch and putt golf, restaurants and a miniature train.

Another of the city's favorite spots is Granville Island, no longer an island because it is linked by causeway to Palse Creek. The island has a food market, art galleries, craft shops, light industry, marinas and restaurants.

Clique dashes hope for auto insurance plan had heard horror stories about Lans. ing but was skeptical until I saw it. House Speaker Lewis Dodak, D. Birch Run, single-handedly threw around more raw power than the majority of the 110 representatives, 38 senators and the Dodak twice prevented state government from dealing with a problem that has been plaguing us for years. He was just plain unfair to our representatives. And he is costing suburban auto owners money.

Here's what happened:

Michigan's no-fault auto insurance law expired in April after a legislative-deadlock. We reverted to a 1982 system of territorial. rating, whereby rates charged suburban drivers are tied to Detroit, which has the highest theft and damage experience in the state. Our bills went up.

In May the Senate passed a new no-fault bill and sent it to the House, where it was doomed. House Democratic leaders offered a version that would have been doomed in the Senate and on Gov. John Engler's desk, But June 4 the House rejected the Democratic version, 48 to 56. Abstaining - in effect voting no - were three area Democrats, James Kosteva of Canton, John Bennett of Redford and Wilfred Webb of Hazel Clearly 10 Democrats weren't going to back Dodak and would seek a compromise with Republicans. Rep. Tom Alley, D-West Branch, offered the compromise version, with Kosteva as a key co-sponsor. Alley and Kosteva are neither mavericks nor lightweights in the Democratic caucus.

The House "adopted" the Alley version - putting it on the agenda for amendments and passage. The vote was 67-39, a clear defeat for Dodak.

Dodak's clique did some fast-gavel ma-chinations. The official House journal said: "Rep. Gagliardi moved that consideration of the bill be postponed temporarily. The motion prevailed. . . Rep. Gagliardi moved that the House adjourn. The motion prevailed. . ."

A double lie. Our representatives wanted to vote but weren't allowed to Bang! They

That was a Thursday. Usually the House runs a brief Monday night session, but Dodak prohibited further action again Tuesday, June 9. Seeing no legislative action, AAA Michigan's members exercised their constitutional right and filed 600,000 initiative signatures asking that AAA's own version of a no-fault insurance law be on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Dodak's alibi: He didn't want to be blackmailed by AAA. Yef that is precisely why the state constitution provides for the initiative petition - so citizens can coerce lawmakers into acting.

So what are our choices? One is AAA's proposal. Lawmakers could pass it but won't. If they don't, it goes on the ballot.

The second choice is the current law, which shafts the suburbs.

Kosteva tells me the Legislature still could act, but he didn't convince me to bet my vacation paycheck on it.

The bills are aimed at cutting rates (maybe). The chief difference: Current law places a $5 million cap on payouts for "catastrophic claims" such as closed-head injuries. AAA's proposal drops the cap to $250,000, arguing that will cover 99 percent of claims.

The Dodak-backed plan set the cap at $3 million; the Alley-Kosteva plan at $1 mil-

When the "catastrophic claims" thing started, we paid $3 a year for it. Now we pay $111. Something has to give.

Dodak didn't take defeat like an adult. He kicked over the scoreboard twice, then pulled the plug on the game. Bad enough it cost us money, but it was dirty politics.

Tim Richard reports regularly on the local implications of state and regional events.

We've forgotten to pass on skills of our fathers

here's a picture on my desk that keeps me going. It's of my grandfather and his cousins, taken shortly after the turn of the century. They're dressed in overalls. They could be the prototype for Little Abner and the setting. Dogpatch

Perhaps they had just finished picking a field of cotton in central Arkansas, or it could have been a hog killing.

Whatever the work, they learned how to do it from their fathers or the older men in their community. Those then-young men handed down that work knowledge to their sons, one of which was my father.

Then when the time came, my father taught me those skills. We don't grow cotton in suburban Detroit, but my flower garden flourishes based on that knowledge. We don't have any barns in need of repair, but those same skills work well on a house.

That knowledge came from an apprenticeship, an apprenticeship to a father. And with the passing of Father's Day 1992, it makes me lament that the tradition is dy-

There's a reason folks are on welfare and that teenagers end up flipping hamburgers or delivering pizzas. It's that they learned nothing from their fathers or the sad sub! stitute, the schools.

The reason families stay on welfare for generations isn't just that the fathers abandon their sons and daughters, it's also because those fathers don't know how to use a screw driver, wrench or a saw.

They end up stiting in public housing projects, watching too much Oprah on TV and complaining that the government isn't keeping the place fixed up. Daytime TV makes them think they're victims of some affliction concocted by a sociologist or psychologist who is more interested in drumming up business than in helping people.

JEFF COUNTS

But back to my picture. These guys never watched Oprah. They didn't know they were victims of a vindictive government that was intent on punishing the South after the Civil War.

Jim Harrison, a Michigan novelist and screenwriter who spends much time in Arkansas, once told me that reconstruction didn't start in Arkansas until the 1930s because the Federal government thought the people were too stupid.

And because my grandfather didn't know he was a victim, he declined welfare during the Depression after losing his job on the railroad, telling relief workers offering food, "I'll grow my own."

And he did. Here's a man who never got past the sixth-grade, but was smart enough to realize that welfare is bondage to the state. Pride was certainly a factor, too. But the skill of knowing how to farm was another. It was something he had learned from

The farming was sharecropping. It was another kind of bondage, but it paid the

That's just my story. There are others. A local minister told me fondly how his father taught him to properly set a fence post. He said that helped him learn how to work with his hands, and that led to getting interested in ham radio. And from there it was a short jump to computers. And it all started with a fence post.

These are things schools can't teach. That's why education is too important to turn over to professional educators. Schools give people the tools, but fathers give their sons the will to work and learn. Without that will, there's the Oprah show, welfare and bondage.

That's why on Father's Day I'll be over my devotional tin cup of Jack Daniels and saying my prayer, "I'll grow my own," to my long-dead and uneducated grandfather who had the sense to say no to dependence.

It's just too had others didn't have a grandfather or father like that.

ur society's moral priorities have discredit, having in mind the termination of human conceptive life on demand, with the legalization of abortion -- thanks to the U.S. Supreme Court.

We've become passive, cold, lacking total compassion - part of a supposed humanity - making every feeble excuse to abort precious, innocent, unborn life - though legal, but undoubtedly erroneous!

We've pleaded we're too young, too poor, not economically healthy - yet we've failed to confront a sensible resolve! As we continue to dismiss it's defenseless life, as if it were a bubonic plague!

Whatever happened to mankind's intellect? Why have we lost the capacity to protect, defend, the right to life of every conceived unborn baby cherub, who looks to us at such a difficult time of it's life?

Pro-choice and others, consistently plead harassment, when asked to see the presence of an active, unborn baby, in the womb of the mother, through ul- Fair to reimburse city tra-sonography. They would rather put on their dark glasses, and pretend it doesn't exist . . . they refuse to see the "miracle of life" at it's very best. Furthermore, they've run out of excuses and finally, must decide to take personal responsibility, if they're to be a civil and moral society.

Why do "we" abandon the unborn cherub? Why do "we" insist on sentencing it to death by "personal choice?"

Julianne Pieknik, Westland

am writing in reference to the article by Tim Richard, "Suburban lawmakers back regional control of water board," which appeared in the June 1, 1992, issue of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. When the new water pipeline was being installed some years ago, I was living in Detroit. At the time a number of articles and editorials appeared, as I remember, concerning past experiences of such large public projects where Detroit citizens paid the large part of the bill, and then the suburban communities passed legislation to take control of it. Perhaps my memory does not serve me right, perhaps it does.

Has your staff writer, Tim Richard, researched this? If the Detroiters did pay a larger part of this bill, I would Hope that any legislation passed would include in it the reimbursement which the City of Detroit would get for the original investment which was made. If I am correct in my assumption about Detroit taking the larger burden of cost, it would only be fair to reimburse them if you plan to take the control away from them.

FAMILY READING CHALLENGE 1992

Parents: Do you wish your child would read more?

It's been proven that the child who reads during the summer months is a better reader when school begins. If you'd like your children to read more or improve their reading skills. tear this page out of your hometown newspaper. Show them Rex and Rita Saurus M who are challenging them (along with you) to join the Family Reading Challenge 1992.

All they need to do is read at least three books and three newspaper articles between June 15 and August 28 and then discuss them with you, their parent or guardian.

There's no better place to find interesting news than in your hometown newspaper.

If they are in grades one through eight and successfully complete the Family Reading Challenge, they'll receive a "Readers Are Leaders" bumper sticker and qualify for a drawing on September 2, 1992 for either a $50 shopping spree in the Birmingham or Novi Borders Book Shop or one of twenty-five $10 gift certificates.

After their reading assignments are completed, fill in the entry blank below and send it, along with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to:

Of course, Rex and Rita Saurus™, the world's leading reading dinosaurs, hope all of the Reading Challenge contestants will get so excited about reading they'll read more than three

CHEF LARRY JANES

Roll out the dough to make pocket bread

When it comes to creating food from the Middle East, my palate quickly gyrates to unique flavors and tastes of tabbouli, falafel and lamb.

Long a staple in the Janes Gang kitchen, Middle East flatbreads have played an extensive role (excuse the pun) as tasty envelopes for the above mentioned

Easy to prepare and even easier to stuff, these breads can turn a cooling, crunchy tabbouli salad into a meal with minimal fuss.

Depending on what region your taste succumbs, pocket bread can be called Armenian, Peda, Greek, Arab, Syrian or Euphrates bread.

Widely used

Widely used as pocket bread, the dough can also be made into hard rolls or long thin loaves. They can be brushed with butter and sprinkled with sesame seeds or even deep fried into a quasi-Mexican version of Needless to say, a recipe for this type of bread is multi-national and can be used in many different ways.

Baking secrets

The secret for making true Middle Eastern flat bread lies in the final baking process. The recipe is vaguely similar to a basic white bread and when experimented with in the kitchen also can be rolled

The kneading and the rising processes are the same as is the addition of some salt and a dash of sugar to bring out the richness.

As a matter of fact, about the only thing you can do wrong with this recipe is to use a non-active yeast. To make sure that doesn't happen, check the expiration dates on the packet and make sure to proof it in some very warm tap water before adding.

If you haven't invested in an instant read thermometer before now, making sure the water is between 105 and 115 degrees virtually assures a tasty finished product.

These instant read thermometers, by the way, are also infallable for grilling steaks and cooking meat in the kitchen and can be bought from any reputable gourmet or gadget shop for around $15.

Middle Eastern flat bread can also take on different shapes and textures. A recipe for Khubz Rkak (thin bread) calls for taking a basic recipe for pocket bread and rolling it out to tissue thickness before

After preheating the oven to 400 degrees, a nonstick cookie sheet is then placed on the hot coils. The thin bread is then rolled around a 1/2 inch stick and unrolled onto the hot cookie sheet, baking only for 2-3 minutes or until golden brown.

The hot bread is then folded into fourths, sprinkled lightly with water and then covered with dry cheesecloth until ready to serve. Usually served with soup or kebabs, this bread literally melts in your mouth, and since it was rolled so thin, has a unique texture.

Be creative

If you think you can only make bread with a basic Middle Eastern flat bread recipe, think again. The dough, when folled as flat as pastry, can also be used in a dish called Akras Al-Laham, also known as meat

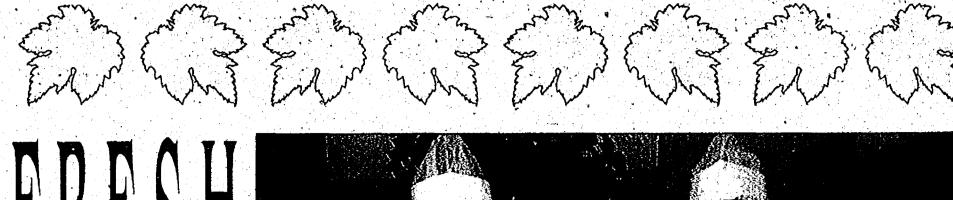

The dough can be rolled and studded with black caraway seeds if desired for additional flavor, but upon sampling, yours truly thought the caraway seemed to overpower the meat pie itself.

The basic recipe can also be fortifled with a biscuit baking mix, eggs and butter for a heavy market-type bread that is exceptional when mixed with caraway and sesame seeds.

And, if that's not enough, some milk and eggs in addition to th basic recipe, coupled with a sweet mixture of augar, cinnamon, and chopped walnuts can produce a product called Mutabakaya (sweet bread). When made into a rolled loaf, this bread can double as an exceptional coffee-type bread that is delectable when slathered with a little butter or margarine.

So if your cooking talents find you venturing into the kitchen to make a basic Middle Eastern flat bread, use your imagination and experiment with some additional flavors - you won't be disappoint-

Refreshing, light and nutritious, Middle Eastern cuisine tastes good in the summer. Now is a good time to try it.

By Keely Wygonik Staff Writer does your body good, il's hearty fresh food. it has a special flavor, when you eat this food you enjoy it," said Casper Sobh, owner of Pine Land Restaurant Middlebelt in Westland.

If you've never tried Middle Eastern food, now is a good time. "Our food is healthy," said Sameer Eid, owner of the Phoenicia Restaurant on Woodward in Birmingham. "It was healthy out of necessity. People created wonderful dishes out of the food that was available. lamb, grains and vegetables. It's so light and refreshing in the summer."

Middle East cuisine: Brothers Ziko and Casper Sobh offer a wide variety of Middle Eastern dishes including Hummous, Baba Ghanouge, Tabbouli, raw kibbee and Lebanese salad at Pine Land Restaurant in Westland.

in this area 20 years ago when Eid and blended with tahini. opened his restaurant in Highland Park. Besides Phoenicia, there was the Sheik in Detroit, and Uncle Sam's in Dearborn.

Now Middle Eastern restaurants are popping up everywhere. Two area newcomers are Pine Land which opened a year ago, and La Cedar's in the food court of Wonderland Mall, Livonia, which opened May 5. Sobh, grew up in Lebanon and studied cooking at the University of Beruit. he also studied cooking in Italy and France. "I always liked to cook," he said. His brother, Ziko works beside him in the restaurent.

A Middle Eastern meal often begins with hommous, a dip made from pureed chick peas mixed with tahini (seasame seed paste), or Baba Ghanouge, baked

Middle Eastern food was uncommon or char-grilled eggplant, peeled, mashed

Middle Eastern salads a zesty flavor. Many people are familiar with tabbouli. a mixture of parsley, mint, cracked wheat and tomatoes. Other popular salads are Fattoush, a mixture of salad greens, cucumhers, radishes, mixed with toasted and cracked pita bread, and Greek salad made with salad greens, green peppers, cucumbers, black olives and feta cheese

"These salads are especially delicious in the summer because of the availability of and freshness of Michigan praduce," said Eid.

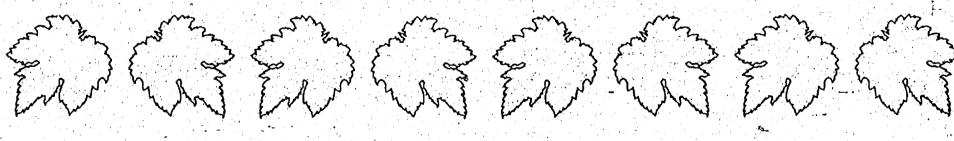

For a main course, try some of the grilled dishes like shish kabob, Shish Tawook, (chicken kabobs) or Shish Kafta, (ground lamb or beef with parsley, onions, and spices).

"Marinading tenderizes the meat and adds flavor," said Casper Sobh. Eid re-Lemon, garlic, olive oil and mint give commends a marinade of olive oil, lemon juice and garlic.

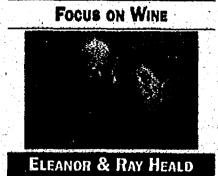

Grains are also a very important part of Middle Eastern cuisine. "We use a lot of rice and vegetables," said Lillian Shallal of West Bloomfield who is Chaldean. "You can serve a very nutritious meal, and not have a lot of fat. If you're trying to cut back on cholesterol, it's very good food.'

Some popular vegetarian entrees are stuffed cabbage and grape leaves made with a mixture of rice, parsley, chick peas and pine nuts, Mdardara, (lentils and rice topped with onions and spices), and falafel, ground chick peas. fava beans, parsley and onions that is deep fried.

Lebanese winemaker survives war

Serge Hocher, owner of Chateau Muser in Lebanon explains the dedication necessary to produce wines in his war-ravaged Middle East homeland.

able from the

"I have been producing wines in Lebananon since 1958, when I took over for my father. For years, 90 percent of my wine was sold and consumed in Lebanon, but because of the war, I now export 90 percent of Chateau Musar was founded in 1930 by Gaston Hochar, Serge's father, in an old Moorish castle named Mzar. The name was changed to Musar because of the strong French presence in Lebanon at that time. War has plundered Lebanon and local demand for Musar wines. Hochar was happy to sell most of his production in Lebanon, but when circumstances changed, he was forced to change his tactics in order to stay in business,

"This all turned out to be a blessing," Hochar said optimistically, "By entering the world market, I discovered how good my wines were compared to the great wines of the world. I showed my wines for the first time in 1979, in Bristol. They were a hit because no one expected to taste such fine wines from Lebanon."

Michael Broadbent, writing in "Decanter," the prestigious British wine journal, described Musar wines as a "full soft - a bit of claret and a touch of Burgundy."

Others have debated whether the wines are more like those of Saint Emilion or Pomerol. Let's just say Chateau Musar is akin to the Middle East's Chateau

Today, Hochar is lauded globally for overcoming the obstacles of war and producing wines that rival some of the world's best. "We made a wine every year except 1976 and 1984 because the war prevented us from trucking the grapes from the vineyards to the winery.' said Hochar. "The winery is located 15 miles north of Beirut and the vineyard is in the Bekas Valley south of Beirut - a distance of 50 miles."

In 1978, fighting out off electricity to the winery making it impossible to process the harvest. Hochar has since installed a diesel generator as insurance.

The Bekan Valley is an ideal site for wine growing. An old alluvial river valley at 2,500 feet evaluation, the Bekaa is watered by the rains and melting snows from two mountain ranges. There are 300 days of sunshine a year, with little or no rain between June and October. The altitude plus overcast summer weather act to moderate the extreme heat.

Moslem farmers also grow apples, pears, peaches, cherries, and melons in the Bekas, but because of religious laws they do not drink the wines produced.

Chateau Musar wines are a blend of cabernet sauvingnon and cineault (a variety usually associated with the southern Rhone Valley in France). According to Hochar, they show best with 12 to 15 years aging.

Florine Mark from Weight Watchers offers some ideas for Father's Day which is coming up fast on Sunday, June 21, coincidentally the first day of summer.

"If the Dad in your house has been trying to lose weight, you can help," said Mark, "Studies show that people with social support do better in a weight loss effort, so be an enthusiastic supporter of his success, and a sympathetic listener when the going gets tough. You can also help by stocking your pantry with low-calorie alternatives and by encouraging him to be more active - taking a walk each day for example."

Here is a satisfying low-calorie dish sure to please dad on his day. EASY OVEN PANCAKES

AP - Let Mom give Dad that new tie for Father's Day! What Dad really wants is something sweet to eat - like Chocolate Quickie Stickies. Kids can't do this without Mom's help, but it is a relative simple recipe to make. -

CHOCOLATE QUICKIE STICKIES

- 8 tablespoons butter or marga rine (1 stick) 34 cup packed light brown sug-
- 4 tablespoons cocoa
- 5 teaspoons water 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped nuts (optional) Two 8-ounce packages refri-
- gerated crescent dinner
- 2 tablespoons granulated suga small saucepan over low heat, melt 6 tablespoons of the butter. Add the brown sugar, 3 tablespoons of the cocoa and the water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, just until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat; add vanilla: Spoon about 1 teaspoonful of the chocolate mixture into each of 48 small muffin cups (13/4) inches in diameter). Sprinkle 1/2. teaspoon nuts, if desired, intoeach cup; set aside.

- Separate rolls into eight rectangeles; firmly press diagonal perforations to seal. Melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter; brush over rectangles. Stir together granulated sugar and remaining I tablespoon cocoa? Sprinkle mixture over all the rectangles. Starting at longer side, roll up each rectangle; pinch seams to seal. Cut each roll into six equal pieces. Press gently into prepared pans, cut side down. Bake in a 350-degree F oven for 11 to 13 minutes or until light brown. Remove from oven: cool 30 seconds. Invert onto cookie sheet. Let stand 1 minute: remove from pan. Serve warm or cool, Makes 4 dozen small rolls.

Note: Rolls can be baked in two 8-inch round baking pans. Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Cook chocolate mixture as directed; place half in each pan. Prepare rolls as directed; place 24 pieces. cut side down, in each pan. Bake in a 350 degree F oven for 20 to 22 minutes. Cool and remove pans, as directed above.

Baby carrots cloaked in gingery sauce

BABY CARROTS WITH PINEAPPLE GLAZE

3 cups baby carrots (1 pound) 3 medium leeks, sliced 1 1/4 inch thick (1 cup) 2 tablespoons water

One 6-ounce can (% cup) unsweetened pineapple juice 🐇 2 teaspoons cornstarch

1/2 teaspoon grated gingerroot. or 1/s teaspoon ground

1/s teaspoon salt (optional) 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg Plain yogurt (optional)

Trim carrots, leaving 1 to 2 inches of stem, if you like. Do not peel. In a 2-quart, microwave safe casserole combine the carrots, leeks and water. Cook, covered, on 100 percent power (high) for 9 to 11 minutes or until crisp-tender, stirring once. Drain; cover to keep warm.

For glaze, in a 2-cup glass measure stir together juice.

cornstarch, gingerroot or ginger, salt (if desired) and nutmeg. Cook, uncovered, on high for 21/2 to 3 and bubbly, stirring every minute until slightly thickened, then after every 30 seconds.

Pour the glaze over carrots: stir to coat. If desired, garnisheach serving with a dollop of plain yogurt. Makes 4 side dish servings.

DeMent's vocals reflect her life

Iris Dement is winning the praises of many a country star with her distinctive vocals and her debut album, "Infamous Angel." But there's more to those vocals than her gospel training.

By LARRY O'CONNOR STAFF WRITER

She sings to the heavens; her songs are simple and pure from the Little else would be needed to describé Iris DeMent, but her enormous singing/songwriting talents somehow require deeper exploration and understanding.

The Kansas City resident immediately sparks such a reaction listening to her stunning debut "Infamous Angel," a collection of H timeless country sounding numbers' drawn from personal trials and triumphs on Philo/Rounder records.

DeMent's distinctive voice, which is somehow both beauteous and stark, draws the most attention. Her vocals are a culmination of gospel training and emotional engulfment and has people such as John Prine and Emmylou Harris singing her praises.

"Yet DeMent's songwriting speaks volumes as an artist attached spiritually and emotionally into her immediate surroundings. As her lyrics bear testament, she doesn't shy away from the most painful of sub-

'On "After You're Gone," DeMent sings of what her life would be like without her father. She wrote the song nearly four years ago after her dad was left partially paralyzed with a stroke.

Sings DeMent plaintively: "I'll miss you, O how I'll miss you/I'll dream of you and I'll cry a million tears/But the sorrow will pass and the one that will last/ls the love that you ve given."

Tender vocals

When treated with her tender vocals, the touching acoustic number becomes so personal the moment stands still.

The realization her father, Patric Shaw, 82, had died only a few days ago of natural causes, makes the emotional impact of the number heart wrenching.

It would be painful for me to sing that right now," DeMent said in a telephone interview from her home in Kansas City. "When I wrote it. I guess it was painful for me at first but then it seemed there were people it meant a lot to when I'd sing it. When you sing in public, you can't be crying when you sing.

It's really strange," she added, her voice trailing off. "I never had somebody die, lose someone you'll never see again . . . We all have to go through it."

DeMent's connection with her parents is a profound one. Her album is dedicated to both of them and she cites her mother, Flora Mae DeMent, as one of the higgest influences on her career.

And it was her mother who held out the dream of some day singing at the Grand Ol' Opry, aptly denoted in the DeMent's endearing number "Mama's Opry."

Mom's dream

Perhaps vicariously, the daughter has helped to partially see her mother's vision to fruition. At her urging, DeMent's mom does a stirring rendition of the traditional gospel number "Higher Ground" on her debut album.

"I just thought it would be neat for her to come in and sing," DeMent said. "She didn't want to' do it at first. It was a scary thing for her to do, but she got up the courage and came in and did it."

DeMent goes into detail on the album's liner notes about her life as well. Raised in a family of 14 children, her father was a farmer and then had to turn to factory work. Things went bust there, and in something of a 1960s twist to Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath," the family moved to California. DeMent, 31, played piano and sang in the church choir, exposed to a steady diet of gospel music that her parents listened and sang to at an early age. She made up songs as a child, but didn't write one until she was 25.

"Our Town" was one of the first, poignantly capturing rural life and its psychic fallout.

"I was taking a trip, down through Kansas and Oklahoma, she said. "I saw some of those towns and saw those people who have gone onto somewhere else.

"Even though I didn't grow up in a town like that, 'Our Town' is really about change and it's about losing things, your inability to control everything around you and keep it the way you want it to be. I guess you can say that's a personal song as well."

After performing open-mike nights around Kansas City and beyond, DeMent was discovered and signed by Philco/Rounder Records... "Infamous Angel" is enjoying a groundswell of support, receiving airplay on WDET-FM.

While many immediately latch on to her singing, her songwriting is beginning to earn just praise. Either way, DeMent doesn't mind.

"I'm just glad they like something," she said.

Iris DeMent will perform Friday, June 19, as part of the La Casa Music Series at Birmingham Unitarian Church, 651 N. Woodward Ave. at Lone Pine Road. Tickets are $10 in advance; $12 at the door. For information, call 646-4950.

Dear Barbara,

I read your column on May 26 with interest. I have a girlfriend who complains constantly about the way her husband treats her. She asks me what she should do and then she says she knows she should leave him, but she Sometimes I get sick of listening to her but I've never been able to be as outspoken about this as you were in your column. So, I gave her your column and she got angry at me.

Why does she ask for advice and then get angry when I try to help? Is this a specific kind of syndrome or does it have a scientific name?

Dearc Margi,

I don't know if it has ever been identified as a special syndrome, but I recognize this collection of behaviors in patients, people I know and letters I receive from readers.

People like this are characterized by their saying "I knew I shouldn't do it, but I did it anyhow" or "I knew I should but I didn't." They say they know what is right and they also say they can't do it.

The question I ask myself and you are asking yourself is why do they come for treatment or ask friends and families for advice. The answer is they don't really want the " there is no Santa Claus. .

advice they ask for. What they do want is to be told they are fine the way they are and that they can stay that way.

They want to be told that it is the world's fault and so they want to know the secret of how to change the world. It's quite probable that if anyone could discover how to change the world, then there would be no more wars, injustices and environmental traumas. That this is an unrealistic fantasy is lost on them. They keep asking for advice and coming for treatment because they don't believe the world can't be changed or they do believe it and they want to complain about how mean a place the world is.

They are enraged to be told that Often people like this will go from therapist to therapist or friend to friend insisting that they be told what they want to hear, rather than what is the truth. One can say that they suffer from a contest with reality that cannot be won. They will never stop hitting their heads against a brick wall even if they end up unconscious.

I fully sympathize with this type of person because I, too, would like to know how to change reality and find the Easter Bunny. فيتع فيوكين بديجل فحفوي

Eric Stoltz, most memorable as the deformed Rocky in 1985's 'Mask," brings marvelous restraint to his performance. He doesn't resort to emotional outbursts, calculated to cop an Oscar nomination. He treats his character in measured tones and with dignity.

The film recalls "Mask" in other ways because it never distances itself from the physically-challenged characters. In "The Waterdance," you know these folks so well that they become intimates.

SPORTS

BRAD EMONS

Baseball will cherish Plagenhoef, Schmidt

Tying up loose ends before summer vacation:

Baseball won't be the same around here without Fred Schmidt and Vern Plagenhoef, two men we lost recently.

Schmidt, was a fixture around Ford Field and Livonia Collegiate Baseball League for years. He not only helped find players for the Tom Holzer and Delwal teams, but scouted other talent for amateur teams as well.

Fred always had a line on a high school or college player and was always willing to share it with me.

It was a nice touch to see the LCBL honor Fred when they asked Schmidt's wife and daughter throw out the ceremonial first pitch on opening day.

I did not know Vern Plagenhoef personally but heard many good things about him as a person and baseball writer.

Plagenhoef, as you know, died unexpectly on June 6 in Chicago at the young age of 45, leaving behind a wife and two sons.

He covered the baseball beat (the Detroit Tigers) for Booth Newspapers for many years while maintaining residence in Livonia. He was also preparing to cover the World Cup Soccer event before his untimely death.

Alan Trammell paid this newspaperman the highest compliment when he relayed a story on Mitch-Albom's radio show Sunday night. He said the players referred to Vern as "Scoop" because he always had breaking statistics or fresh information. He was the consummate reporter, always digging up facts.

ESPN TV's Peter Gammons also paid tribute on 'Baseball Tonight," calling him a throwback to the old baseball writers.

Soccer meat market

I hate to say this, but youth soccer organizations are really turning my stomach.

The competition for players amongst clubs is more fierce than ever, but is the competition better when glamour teams (we won't name them) gobble up all the so-called Olympic Development talent? (The parents always reason that their kids need better exposure on a national level and need better coaching.)

What happened to the good old neighborhood clubs? The fringe players are losing interest.

I think it's a joke when teams identify themselves with certain cities and then recruit players from such places as Grand Blanc, Lansing, Ann Arbor, Brigh-

Teams are also becoming more regional than ever. I get concerned when clubs from places like Dearborn Heights, Sterling Heights and Van Buren continually bombard this newspaper with tryout announcements seeking players from the Livonia area.

I ran into one disgusted parent recently who told me that the Little Caesars League his son played for a year ago was very competitive among four teams. but this year one club raided talent from those clubs and built himself a powerhouse.

"How can it be fun when one team is always winning 10-1?" the parent asked.

And to make matters worse, this particular select team coach is funneling his players toward one particular private high school. And of course, this school goes on and wins many state titles.

STAFF PHOTOS BY JIM JAGDFELD

Rockets nipped in semifinal

By Brad Emons

Westland John Glenn's trip to Battle Creek for the Class A baseball finals was short-lived thanks to the work of a cereal killer.

Brandon Reed was the culprit Friday as he led Lapeer West to a 2-1 victory over the Rockets in the state semifinals held in Kellogg's country, or Nichols for Aaron Scheffer (6-5), the latter Field to be exact. The execution was brief as the game lasted only one hour right, scattering six hits and two walks and 40 minutes.

The junior right-hander was murder on Glenn. His profile read: sharp fastball mixed in with a deadly curveball.

Reed allowed only four hits, two walks and struck out nine in running his season record to 12-1.

"He's not overpowering like some of the other kids we've faced, but we was good," said Glenn coach Norm Hoenes, whose other trip to the state semifinals also ended in a one-run loss (1-0 defeat in 1986 to Birmingham Brother Rice). "He was one of the best we've seen because of his craftiness. He kept it away from us and his control was right up there."

Reed, slimly-built at 6-feet, 3 inches and 150 pounds, outdueled Glenn junwhom pitched a fine game in his own over seven innings.

First hit of game

Glenn's Bobby Hayes collected the game's first hit when he tripled with two outs, but senior second baseman had to exit early after reinjuring his lower back. Pinch-runner Jamie Buford was ultimately was left stranded.

Catcher Scott Bradshaw, who proved to be another killer for Glenn, doubled off Scheffer with one out in the top of the fourth to collect the Panthers' first hit. He later scored on Reed's single.

In the bottom of the inning, Glenn put two runners aboard with no outs when Scheffer singled and Ward walked, but Reed got out of trouble by retiring Derek Besco, Tayo Farley and Mike Bint in order. "I wasn't going to bunt with him (Besco) up," said Hoenes of his sophomore cleanup man. "I felt we had a good shot with him swinging away.

their pitcher threw the curve to keep us off balance. He also moved the ball well up and down."

Lapeer West added a run in the sixth when Brad Pethers reached base on an infield error, stoled second and advanced to third on a Glenn throwing miscue, one of four errors on the day.

Bradshaw, a squatty 5-7 catcher with a rifle arm and a .574 batting average, then drove Pethers home with a single. his second hit of the day.

"He (Bradshaw) is the best allaround player I've eyer had," Lapeer West coach Tim Bradley said. "In 150 at-bats he only has four strikeouts."

West loads bases

The Panthers threatened to blow the game open in the seventh, loading the bases with no outs on a pair of singles and a walk, but Scheffer struck out pinch-hitter Ron Johnson, ninth hitter Beau Buzzell and got Pethers on a groundout to end the threat.

CC grad finds minors nothing to Bragg about

By Steve Kowalski Staff Writer

Greg Haeger has spent the last two summers playing minor league baseball for the Fayetteville Tigers near Fort Bragg, N.C., and he still hasn't found anything to brag about.

Haeger isn't satisfied with the way he's pitched for Class A Fayetteville, nor is he thrilled about living in Fort Bragg - a place known for military types and not much else.

"If you want to see guys with crew cuts, com on down," said Haeger, a Livonia resident who graduated in 1987 from Redford Catholic Central. "There's thousands of military guys."

Haeger, who lives in an apartment which he equates to low-income housing, has struggled in his third year with the Tigers'. At mid-week, the left-handed relief pitcher was 2-1 with one save, 32 strikeouts and a 4.60 earned run av-

Haeger has struggled with control, however, walking 27 batters in 291/2 innings. The low point came last month when he walked eight batters in 21/2 innings during an 11-4 win over Asheville, N.C. Haeger was assigned to Fayetteville on the last day of spring training after working out with Lakeland, the Tigers' top Class A club. He was 4-10 last year as a starter with Fay etteville.

"The day we broke camp (at spring training), they sent me to Fayetteville because they wanted to make sure I got my innings to pitch," said Haeger, who played from 1988 through '90 at the University of Michigan. "Last year I was just learning and this year I've done nothing but walk people. I've been pitching behind people, not getting my fastball over some days, some days not getting my curve over.

"I better start doing something impressive or I won't be playing ball much longer. The opportunity is there to succeed and open doors to the next level. If not, it's time to get out of the game and finish school."

Haeger doesn't want to consider giving up baseball because teams are always looking for pitching help from lefthanders who can throw strikes with velocity. His fastball has been clocked at 87 miles per hour. Haeger was impressive in his last outing, setting the side down in order without walking anyone in one inning of relief during Thursday's 2-0 win over Macon, Ga..

"You don't ever want to quit because too many things happen, this is such a weird game," he said. "As a left-hander, you never know, maybe I'll find the plate."

Haeger was originally drafted by the Tigers out of high school before opting to play at U-M. He skipped his senior season to sign with the Tigers as both a first baseman and pitcher.

After playing both positions during rookie ball in 1990 at Bristol, Va., the Tigers went with Haeger exclusively as a pitcher.

Haeger said he's been able to keep his mind at ease playing golf near his home.

"It was a fastball inside and I... thought it was out," Bint said. "I thought it was gone for sure. We didn't see a lot of fastballs. It was tough to detect his (Reed's) fastball from his curve. We were told to sit on the fastball." .

With one out, Martin Potter sacrificed pinch-runner Matt Howton to second with a bunt, but Reed slammed the door on Glenn's title chances when he caught right fielder Chris Kirkey on a called third strike.

Glenn season ends

Glenn; which had won 15 of its last 16 games, bowed out of tourney play with a 17-8 overall record, while Lapeer advanced to Saturday's championship game. against Birmingham Brother Rice with a 37-4 mark.

Without Reed, however, it might have been a Glenn-Rice fi-

"Brandon's got great control," said Bradley, a 1969 Redford; Thurston alum who played for Emil Majeski. "His out-pitch is his curve, but now he mixes it up with the fastball. He's developed mentally this year and become a complete pitcher,

"We knew he was tired in the sixth because it was kind of a hot; day, but we had just hoped the adrenaline would keep him-

As far as the Glenn hitters were concerned, it was more like a lethal injection from Reed.

Delwal edges Walter's Appliance, 4-3

Delwal used two runs in the sixth inning Wednesday to edge Walter's Appliance 4-3 in a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League at Ford Field.

The Delwal rally was sparked by a 2-run double from outfielder Noah Bremen, scoring Billy Hardy and Mark Temple (North Farming-striking out four. He allowed just one earned run.

Walter's (3-3) collected eight hits. Jason Gabel (Livonia Churchill and Central Michigan University), Paul Pirronello (Redford Catholic Central and Henry Ford CC) and Craig Overaitis (Livonia Franklin and Henry Ford) each drove in runs. Pirronello, bound for the University of Detroit-Mercy, had two hits, including a double.

Sean Henkel (Livonia Stevenson) suffered the loss in relief. He worked the final 2% innings. Starter Bran Pfeifer went the first 41/3 innings, allowing three hits.

Caesars triumphs

Pitcher Mark Ameyde scattered seven hits and Craig Brevik (Stevenson) collected two as Little Caesars bounced Wendy's of Ann Arbor in the nightcap of a double-header Wednesday at Ford Field.

Stevenson's Johnson paces All-Area squad

By Brad Emons Stapp Writer

Area coaches gathered recently to select Observerland's best in girls

Coach Vicky Kowalski led Farmington Hills Mercy to a 15-0 dual, meet season, a first-ever Catholic League championship, and a berth in the state Class A meet and where the Marlins finished 12th.

For her efforts, Kowalski has been named Coach of the Year. . Mercy placed two on the first team along with Livonia Franklin. The other first-team spots are filled by golfers from Livonia Ste-vensor and Livonia Churchill. Presenting the 1992 All-Area girls golf squad:

FIRST TEAM

Megan Johnson, Liv. Stevenson: The area's top individual golfer for the second straight year, Johnson tied for eighth at the state Class A meet held last month at Forest Akers in East Lansing, coming on the heels of a season-low 76 to win the regional at Oak Pointe.

Johnson, bound for Purdue University in the fall on a golf scholarship, also won the Western Lakes Activities Association title.

She was medalist in 10 of 14 matches this season and averaged 45 in dual mests.

The senior was named the No. 1 junior girls golfer in the state by Golf Digest.

She hits the ball very, very long for a young lady." Stevenson firstyear coach John Wagner said. "She's been know to practice long after practice is over. She has that kind of work ethic. She's very focused and a very professional young lady.

Kristyn Schulkins, Farm. Hills Mercy: The senior averaged 46:1 strokes per nine, including a seasonlow 42 to win the Catholic League Schulkins, headed for Michigan State, also finished second at the Monroe Invitational (45), and sixth at the regional (89). The two-time captain added an eighth place at the Oakland County Meet (99) and took 22nd in Class A (93).

Kristyn was our number one player all four years and her leadership will be missed," said the Mercy coach (Vicky Kowalski). "She was very excited when the team beat Northville, and individually when she beat Patti White (Birmingham Seaholm's defending state champ) in a dual meet.'

Colleen Hansen, Liv. Franklin: The senior was Franklin's top individual after finishing fourth in the Western Lakes Meet and ninth at the Class A state regional tournament.

Hansen also helped Franklin to a second at the Monroe Invitational. She was Franklin's medalist five times and dual meet medalist once. "Colleen began golfing just three years ago and her terrific attitude and coachability, along with marked ability, made her a pleasure to coach." Franklin coach Darlene Marohnic said.

In the regional tourney, Noechel took 11th as Franklin finished sixth in the team standings.

She was medalist in one dual meet and was the Patnots' low scorer five times. 'Nancy has been the epitome of a strategist and a competitor on the links," Marohnic said, "and these traits have helped her become a fine golfer and leader of our team." Noethel and Hansen were also members of the Franklin swim

Whitney Sald, Llv. Churchill: The senior was Churchill's first four-year varsity letter winner. She took medalist honors at the nine-hole Monroe-Jeffersion Invitational with a 44.

She also made All-Western Divisign in the WLAA after tying for seventh. Said was 25th in the regional and averaged 50.5 strokes per nine. Said is an honor student who was also a member of Churchill's 1991 state Class A championship volleyball team. She was also a member of the swim team.

Dana Deshaw, Farm, Hills Mercy: The Mercy junior averaged 51.2 per

She medaled in Mercy's first match of the year with a 46 and finished 10th at both the Oakland County and Catholic League meets with a 102 (18 holes) and 54 (nine holes), respectively.

The captain also took 19th at the regional (100) and 44th in Class A.

'Dana was instrumental in helping the team reach the state finals for the first time since 1983," Kowalski said. 'And she encourages the younger team members. Dana is dedicated to the game of golf. She practices many hours on her own and hopes to golf in college."

There's been a lot of talk lately about family values in America.

537-2292 23831 GRAND RIVER AVENUE

At Volvo, we have our own way of defining them; extraordinary lease and purchase terms on all new 1992 family sedans and wagons - each one complete with anti-lock brakes, driver's side supplemental restraint system including an airbag. energy absorbing structures, and reinforced steel paysenger cages. And all backed by our 3 year/ 50,000 mile limited warranty" and 24 hour Roadside Assistance' plan.

Well, Mr. Vice President. How does that sound to you?

VOLVO Drive safely.
