Corn maze provides acres of Halloween fun

By Teri Stein

A new 8-acre corn maze at Boltz Family Farm, just outside of New Philadelphia, is providing plenty of fall fun with a variety of activities from a corn pit to a straw mountain and a chance to get up close with a tractor.

The Jim and Carol Boltz family built their farm market four years ago, and they have added something each year to keep growing to meet the needs of the community. This year they added the corn maze and a covered bridge to access the field where the maze is located.

This is the first year for the corn maze. The family started in early July with help from TMK Farm Services to cut the design, which includes the Boltz name and a steer pattern.

"TMK made the design for us, and then they came out and helped us mark out the pattern," Carol Boltz said. "Then we just kept mowing."

The corn was only about a foot high when they first began mowing the pattern.

"It was a lot easier to find your way through then, but once it got over your head, it was hard," Carol Boltz said.

At first a dry spell kept the corn from growing, but once rain moved in, the corn was over the family's head before they knew it. They opened the maze on Sept. 11.

Map-reading skills are a plus. Everyone receives a map of the maze before they attempt to solve it.

"If you don't get lost too many times, it takes about 25 minutes," Boltz said. "At times, we've had people in there about an hour, but most people come out earlier if they are good at reading the map. It's been lots of fun."

There also is a shorter kids maze available.

Other activities at the farm include a corn pit, straw mountain, rat rollers, a large checkerboard that uses pumpkins as markers, a cow train ride and a few spots to take family photos.

The cost of all these activities is $10 per person; children 5 and under are free. They also have a group rate available and have already had many groups complete the maze. Call the farm at 330-339-1762.

The farm has several special events coming up, but one they are most excited about is Trick-or-Treat in the corn maze on Oct. 23 and 24.

"The kids can come dressed up, and we'll have characters throughout the maze handing out candy," Boltz said.

The farm also is selling mums, and a portion of each sale goes to benefit the Rainbow Connection Seeds of Hope program, which helps women in Tuscarawas County with cancer. The benefit will continue throughout the season.

Boltz is pleased to see the farm she and her sister, Mary, grew up on grow and expand. The farm was purchased in the early 1960s by the girls' father, John Welling. He and his wife, Cora, operated the property as a dairy farm for many years. Now Boltz, her husband and their sons, Chase, 14, and Weston, 12, raise mostly beef and hogs. They also raise lettuce at a greenhouse facility in Stone Creek.

Growing lettuce started it all for the family.

"We provide lettuce for 14 restaurants in Tuscarawas and Guernsey counties," Jim Boltz said.

They also sold the lettuce each week at a local farmers market, but their customers wanted a place to buy the product during the week. The store is located just outside of New Philadelphia at 522 Hummel Valley Road SW.

Four years ago they built and opened the Boltz Family Farm Market and expanded their product line to include more than lettuce. The market now sells the beef, pork and ducks they raise, along with products from other local farmers including turkeys, chicken, rabbits, goat and bison

"We buy local, so you can buy local," Carol Boltz said.

They have a variety of seasonal produce and can get large amounts of produce for people who like to can their own food. They also have canning jars and lids available.

"We have A2 milk from Buckeye Country Creamery," Carol Boltz said. "The difference is the A2 proteins are easier to digest."

They have some customers who stop in every week just for the milk. They also have customers who have never gone back to regular shopping at grocery stores since the pandemic began. Grocery pickup at the market is convenient, and customers can shop most items online on their website.

"We are known for our pork brats, and we have lots of different flavors," Carol Boltz said.

Besides their meats, other favorites include Bubka's pierogies.

While most are still enjoying fall, the Boltz's are already looking ahead.

"We will have fresh pasture-raised turkeys for Thanksgiving. They are not frozen," Jim Boltz said. The store is already accepting orders for the turkeys.

For Christmas they will sell Christmas trees and wreaths. They will put together custom gift baskets and meat bundles. Of course, family fun is a part of everything they do.

"We have a sleigh from the late 1800s that we are having restored right now. People can come and take their family photos with it," Carol Boltz said.

The couple plans to keep growing the farm and providing more opportunities.

"We're here to work with our customers," Jim Boltz said. "Every year we have been expanding to meet the needs of the community."

They also hope to resume their popular farm dinners next year.

Historical society celebrated 100 years

By Teri Stein TheBargainHunter.com

he Tuscarawas County His-L torical Society celebrated its 100th anniversary recently at an event at the Canal Tavern of Zoar. The historical structure was opened in 1829 by the Society of Separatists of Zoar as a tavern and hotel for travelers on the canal. In 1837 the tavern was converted into a home for the miller and his family after a large mill was built along the canal. The Canal Tavern of Zoar is once again a restaurant and is well known for fine dining.

Attendees saw performances by folk singer Foster Brown of Garrettsville, who sings traditional canal era songs and many new songs about that era that he has written. Joining Brown for the event was musician Mark Szabo of Romeo, Michigan. The duo played a number of instruments including the banjo, guitar, dulcimer, mandolin and bass fiddle.

A dramatic performance by Chris Hart of Newcomerstown as Capt. Reynolds, a canal boat captain, and his boat, the Hard Cider, enthralled the audience as he told true stories of life on the canal.

66 The purpose of the society is to maintain the county archives, which is the history of this county. >>

David Hipp

Hart spoke of the difficulties of finding a boy to work as a "hoagie" on the boat for $10 a month and one such boy, James Garfield, who later became a United States president. He also discussed the hardships of being unable to move goods during the winter when the canal froze and the frustrations of waiting on the "hurry up" boat to come and fix a hole in the canal that drained the water, making travel impossible. And above all, he warned don't drink the canal water and told of the deadly results to one passenger.

TCHS President David Hipp led the group in a ½ mile hike on the Towpath Trail. He pointed out many features including the remains of the old Ohio Erie Canal system that once connected the area to Portsmouth to the south and Cleveland to the north, which then connected the area to New York. He also noted the location of the old mill that spanned overtop the canal and could easily load flour on the boats going by and the location of Lock 10.

When the TCHS was formed, its mission was much different than today. The organization was chartered April 26, 1921. Rev. Joseph Weinland, the pastor of the Dover Moravian Church, was the driving force behind its organization. Weinland was passionate about David Zeisberger's story and finding the exact site of Schoenbrunn and restoring it. Now Historic Schoenbrunn Village is owned by the Ohio History Connection and operated by the Dennison Railroad Depot Museum.

Records show the TCHS was very active from 1921-35, but then there are no records until 1970. The celebration of the bicentennial of the United States in 1976 revitalized the organization, and they became very active again.

In 1981 the Zeisberger Heckewelder Awards were created, recognizing deserving Tuscarawas County residents and organizations

The archive is open to the public and receives a variety of visitors each year. TCHS curator Kim Jurkovic enjoys helping guests find the information they need. Many times, requests for information come from outside the county.

Little Theatre opening with Noel Coward play

The Little Theatre of Tuscarawas County will open its season with "Blithe Spirit," directed by Tamora Benson.

Written by British playwright Noel Coward, it was first performed in the West End in 1941, where it ran for a record 1,997 performances before moving on to Broadway later that year. It centers around socialite and novelist Charles Condomine, who invites clairvoyant Madame Arcati to his house to conduct a seance. He hopes to use the experience to write his next book, but the plan backfires when Arcati manages to summon his late first wife Elvira. Elvira attempts to disrupt his marriage to his second wife, Ruth, who cannot see and hear the ghost. Exploring themes of deception, love, loyalty and the complex legacy of past relationships, "Blithe Spirit" is one of Coward's most acclaimed plays and has been staged on Broadway multiple times. It was adapted into a film in 1964.

Annual woodcarvers show brings wood to life at TWC

By Dave Mast

The TWC Woodcarvers Club meets on the second and fourth Saturday each month, and members share their expertise in woodcarving and woodworking. Each member presents a project they've been working on or have completed.

"These monthly projects skill levels are invited to give us the opportunity to get acquainted with many techniques as well as work with a variety of materials and styles of carving, from whittling to detailed woodburning," said mem-ber David Chapman, who said TWC members of all come and join.

While the group meets twice a month, one upcoming show will take woodcarving to the next level when the 37th annual Woodcarvers Show at The Wilderness Center will take place Oct. 16-17. The show is free to attend and will take place Saturday, Oct. 16 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 17 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Artisans will present their carvings, do demonstrations and have items for sale. There will be a variety of genres of carving including stone and wood, as well as chainsaw carvers.

"These are fantastic carvers who are not only very talented, but they're also incredibly friendly and love conversing with others about the joy of carving,' Chapman said. "Whether people have carved or would just like to get introduced to it, the event is a great chance for everyone to learn and to see the beautiful art these carvers create. It is always a really fun two days.

Chapman said visitors will get to see every type of carving, and Chapman said people will see animal carvings that look so realistic it's difficult to tell they are carvings from several feet away.

"These are gifted carvers who have devoted themselves to the art, and it shows," Chapman said. "They all share the same joy of carving, and the pieces on display are only limited to their imaginations."

David Chapman was taken under wing by a pair of master carvers and quickly learned to enjoy the art of woodcarving. The Wilderness Center Woodcarvers Club meets twice each month and invites people to join TWC and their club to learn more about the art of woodworking.

While people won't be able to try their hand at carving at the show itself, those interested can get some hands-on lessons during The Wilderness Center Woodcarvers Club every other Saturday at TWC.

"Anyone is invited, and all of the club members would be thrilled to sit down and work with others and walk them through the process of carving," Chapman said.

The club is filled with artists, each bringing their own style to the club, whether it is Juanita Bowers carving a deer scene out of an actual deer antler, Keith Shumaker's figures and faces, Aaron Burrows' nature carvings or Chapman's heirlooms.

However, what really makes the club fun is these artists welcome novices who don't know much about the trade.

"I think for every single one of us, there is great joy in giving back to those who want to learn," Chapman said

There may be no one more aware of that than Chapman himself. He said eight years ago he struck up a conversation with a man who began talking to him about woodcarving. Chapman said he never thought about it because the idea of carving wood was intimidating to him.

"The artistic part of it was intimidating, but he said it was simply a skill that could be learned if the desire is there," Chapman said.

A couple of carvers began taking him under their wings and answered what he called the "62 million questions" he had, and soon he was hooked.

"I felt so honored that they were so willing and patient with me," Chapman said. "This could be anyone's story if they are willing meeting on Oct. 23 will take to stay after it." meeting on Oct. 23 will take place at The Wilderness

Both the Woodcarvers Show and the next club meeting on Oct. 23 will take place at The Wilderness Center, 9877 Alabama Ave. SW, near Wilmot.

How Social Security works when an ex-spouse dies

Dear Savvy Senior,

Who qualifies for Social Security survivor benefits? My ex-husband died last year, so I would like to find out if me or my 17-year-old daughter are eligible for anything?

> Divorced Survivor Dear Divorced.

If your ex-husband worked and paid Social Security taxes and you and/or your daughter meet the eligibility requirements, you may very well be eligible for survivor benefits, but you should act quickly because benefits are generally retroactive only up to six months. Here's what you should know.

Under Social Security law, when a person who has worked and paid Social Security taxes dies, certain members of that person's family may be eligible for survivor benefits including spouses, former spouses and dependents. Here's a breakdown of who qualifies.

Widow(er)'s and divorced widow(er)'s: Surviving spouses that were married at least nine months are eligible to collect a monthly survivor benefit as early as age 60 (50 if disabled). Divorced surviving spouses also are eligible at this same age if you were married at least 10 years and did not remarry before age 60 (50 if disabled), unless the marriage ends.

How much you'll receive will depend on how much money (earnings that were subject to Social Security taxes) your spouse or exspouse made over their lifetime and the age in which you apply for survivor benefits.

If you wait until your full retirement age (which is 66 for people born in 1945-54 and will gradually increase to age 67 for people born in 1960 or later), you'll receive 100% of your deceased spouses or ex-spouses benefit amount. But if you apply between age 60 and your full retirement age, your benefit will be somewhere between 71.5-99% of their benefit.

There is, however, one exception. Surviving spouses and ex-spouses that are caring for a child (or children) of the deceased worker, and they are under age 16 or disabled, are eligible to receive 75% of the worker's benefit amount at any age.

Unmarried children: Surviving unmarried children under age 18, or up to age 19 if they're still attending high school, are eligible for survivor benefits too. Benefits also can be paid to children at any age if they were disabled before age 22 and remain disabled. Both biological and adoptive children are eligible, as well as kids born out of wedlock. Dependent stepchildren and grandchildren also may qualify. Children's benefits are 75% of the worker's benefit.

You also should know that in addition to survivor benefits, a surviving spouse or child may be eligible to receive a special lump-sum death payment of $255.

Dependent parents: Benefits also can be paid to dependent parents who are age 62 and older. For parents to qualify as dependents, the deceased worker would have had to provide at least one-half of the parent's financial support.

But be aware Social Security has limits on how much a family can receive in monthly survivors' benefits usually 150-180% of the worker's benefit.

Switching strategies

Social Security also provides surviving spouses and ex-spouses some nice strategies that can help boost your benefits. For example, if you've worked, you could take a reduced survivor benefit at age 60 and switch to vour own retirement benefit based on your earnings history — between 62 and 70 if it offers a higher payment.

Or if you're already receiving retirement benefits on your work record, you could switch to survivors' benefits if it offers a higher payment. You cannot, however, receive both benefits.

You also need to know that if you collect a survivor benefit while working and are under full retirement age. your benefits may be reduced depending on your earnings. See www.SSA.gov/pubs/ EN-05-10069.pdf.

For more information on survivor benefits, visit www. SSA.gov/benefits/survivors.

Send your senior questions to Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit www.SavvySenior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.
