MOCKSVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1928.

NUMBER 25

NEWS OF LONG AGO.

What Was Happening In Davie Before The Days of Automobiles and Rolled Hoses

(Davie Record, Jan. 3, 1900)
It still continues to be very cold. Mrs. W. B. Clement spent Monday in Winston.

J. H. Bailey and mother spent Monday in Winston.

Miss Mamie Clement left for Greensboro Female College Monday.

Miss Annie Swan Payne, of Winston visited at the Davie Hotel this week.

Miss Adelaide Gaither, of Salem Female Academy, spent Christmas here with her parents.

Miss Tossie Sain, of Dulin and Miss Essie Sain, of Oak Grove, are visiting Mrs. E. L. Griffin.

W. P. Etchison, who has been spending Christmas with his parents, left Friday evening for Ellenton, S. C.

H. L. Austin and family have returned to Mocksville to live. Mr. Austin will work in the new furniture factory.

Ed Brock, of Nebraska, is visiting relatives and friends near Farmington. Mr. Brock left Davie about twenty years ago.

Daniel Smith, of Smith Grove, killed an owl last week in Cedar creek bottom that measured 4 1/2 feet from tip to tip.

Chas. McDaniel, of New Richmond, Ind., is visiting his father, William McDaniel. He has been in the west for about four years.

P. W. Booe, who lives two miles south of town lost his barn by fire last Friday night. A good buggy and mowing machine was also burned.

June Bailey who travels for R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., left Thursday for headquarters at Savannah, Ga.

J. B. Johns, of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Gussie Knox, of Cleveland, on Thursday, Dec. 21st. They left on an evening train for an extended trip to Northern cities.

Ray Clement, of the A. & M. College, spent Christmas here with his parents.

J. F. Hanes, of Winston, spent Christmas here with his mother.

O. B. Eaton, bookkeeper for the B. F. Hanes Tobacco Co., of Winston, spent Christmas here with relatives and friends. His family accompanied him.

John G. Sterling, former printer with The Record, but now with the Twin-City Daily, spent Christmas here with relatives and friends.

Joseph Clifford, who left this section in 1889, and who now resides in Kansas is visiting his old home this week.

Master Maxie Brown, of Mocksville, visited his grandmother, Mrs. Green Leach, near Jericho last week.

C. C. Stonestreet, of Concord, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Stonestreet last week.

M. M. Kurfess, of Louisville, spent Christmas at his home near Jericho.

The newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sofley, moved to the Jericho community last week.

Miss Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Bailey died of typhoid fever at the State Normal College, Greensboro, on Wednesday, Dec. 20th. Miss Sarah the oldest daughter, died about two weeks ago. This is indeed sad.

Rev. E. W. Turner, principal of Trap Hill Institute, was united in marriage to Mrs. Mamie Williams at the residence of the bride's father J. R. Williams, Jr., Sunday morning, Rev. C. M. Cope officiating.

New One On Henry.

Old man Henry Ford says that he doesn't appreciate it, and that before a fellow will appreciate a thing he has to work for it. Henry is right. If I should walk right up to you and give you a million dollars out'n the bean patch, you would hold on to it like a bulldog and shuffle off this mortal coil for your children to blow in! That's the way it is!

I happen to know a man who wrote Henry Ford and asked him to give him a Ford car. This man was all bugged up with the rheumatics and thought if he could pick up a Ford he could be on time to his work. But Ford's secretary replied that Henry said he had so many requests for Ford's that he could not give one without giving all, and that he could not give one without giving all, and that he could not discriminate!

But this man wasn't satisfied with the reply of the secretary and wrote Henry's wife, and she delivered the letter in person. That brought a reply! And it was some reply, because Pa! Henry "saunt" this crippled man a diet sheet! This diet sheet was supposed to be a sure cure for rheumatics, or rheumatiz.

Daniel Smith, of Smith Grove, killed an owl last week in Cedar creek bottom that measured 4 1/2 feet from tip to tip.

Chas. McDaniel, of New Richmond, Ind., is visiting his father, William McDaniel. He has been in the west for about four years.

P. W. Booe, who lives two miles south of town lost his barn by fire last Friday night. A good buggy and mowing machine was also burned.

Ray Clement, of the A. & M. College, spent Christmas here with his parents.

J. F. Hanes, of Winston, spent Christmas here with his mother.

O. B. Eaton, bookkeeper for the B. F. Hanes Tobacco Co., of Winston, spent Christmas here with relatives and friends. His family accompanied him.

John G. Sterling, former printer with The Record, but now with the Twin-City Daily, spent Christmas here with relatives and friends.

Joseph Clifford, who left this section in 1889, and who now resides in Kansas is visiting his old home this week.

The Boy To Have A Chance.

Statesville Daily.

Last summer in Nash county a 14-year-old boy shot and killed a man. The killing was in open day and seem to be deliberate. In fact, on the fact of the evidence, the boy lay in wait for the man and killed him. To make it worse the murdered man was alleged to have reported the boy's father for making liquor. But the boy was ignorant, had been reared in most unwholesome environment, had no training. When the case came to trial he was convicted of a lesser offense—murder in the second degree of man-slaughter. Sentence was deferred for a time, the judge being in a quandary. At a recent term of court Judge Barnhill imposed a sentence of six years in State prison. He refused to commit the boy to the eastern North Carolina training school, saying the boys in the school would doubtless make a hero of him. In fact the report of his honor's remarks left the impression that he didn't think so much of training schools.

Immediately Governor McLean took notice. The boy will be paroled and sent to school. The State prison is for adult criminals, not for a 14-year-old boy, no matter what his faults, the Governor declared. The boy should have his chance, said the executive. The Governor's act will receive universal commendation. The boy, deprived though he may be, is entitled to a chance. He has never had that. Born amid ignorance and poverty and crime, he has lived his fourteen years under circumstances that were no fault of his. No doubt he had heard his father and others of his associates threaten death to any person who interfered with their business. He had been taught to believe that the deed which he finally committed was fully warranted. In fact the State and society have offended against conditions which permitted him to live 14 years untaught except by the ignorant and the vicious who trained him in the ways of evil; or at least evil example was the only lesson he had. It may be too late to change him. The twig may be, at the age of 14, so bent that the tree will incline that way despite efforts to straighten it. But, thank God, the boy will have a chance. No one can possibly say what the result will be, but to refuse a boy of that age an opportunity would be to add to the offence already committed against him. In the State prison he would have only sunk deeper in crime—or at least the chances are against reformation in association with hardened criminals, no matter how much effort was made to help him.

Put it down as another advance in North Carolina—ore for surpassing our material progress—this determination to give the wayward boys and girls a chance to come back; to give them, in many instances, the first opportunity they have had to learn the difference between right and wrong.

The shoulders upon these highways should be gravel elevated on the sides in such a way as to throw the drainage down the highway to cut outs, and so, when a man was forced to get off the hard surface, he would have something to hold him and bring him back, instead of a bed under him of soft slippery soil to land him upside down, or otherwise.

This New England citizen, an engineer himself, was not in a notion to be an ugly critic of the state's great road system. He was ready to praise it generally. It happened that he arrived upon it in the midst of the present rain and sleet storm and driving at night, got more thrills than he cared for by getting upon the shoulders a few times in passing cars.

Isaac Walton League.

The Izaak Walton League of America, powerful nation-wide conservation and sportsmen's organization will soon enter this community if plans of local outdoor lovers go through, it was learned today.

The League has been particularly anxious to have a chapter here, and this move is now near realization, according to word from the National Headquarters of the organization at Chicago that the interest of sportsmen of this community has been aroused and material for forming a chapter is in the hands of T. A. VanZant.

Under such expert guidance it is expected that a chapter soon will be organized, and the sportsmen and outdoor people of Mocksville banded together in interest of conservation, propagation of wild life, and other measures to insure outdoor sports and recreation for all, as well as to promote an added interest in these pastimes.

The Walton League is less than six years old, yet it now ranks among the leading public welfare associations of America. It has won such a commanding position in this country that Herbert Hoover, who is Honorary President of the League, has called it the greatest force in the country for the protection and development of opportunities for outdoor life. "Every member of the League is a soldier in our ranks fighting and organized battle for this vital thing in the nation," Mr. Hoover said.

President Coolidge has said: "The Izaak Walton League, appealing to every lover of the outdoors, has proved itself an effective educational force for intelligent conservation in this country."

The League five years ago had a membership of fifty-four enthusiastic sportsmen; today it has nearly four thousand chapters and a membership mounting toward the mark of 200,000. It has accomplished much in national, state and county conservation of a constructive nature, and is considered the most powerful organization of outdoor people that ever has existed.

Points Out State Highway Mistake.

Burlington, Dec. 8.—North Carolina made the mistake in her great road building her principal highways too narrow, and the shoulders upon those of a tricky, level, skidding type that has resulted in hundreds of accidents upon them declared a New England citizen who rode in upon North Carolina highways today.

It is to come as a matter of course that the leading highways will be widened, and it was such a matter of course that they should have been conceived too narrow. The biggest mistake of all, according to this man, has been made in the shoulders.

The shoulders upon these highways should be gravel elevated on the sides in such a way as to throw the drainage down the highway to cut outs, and so, when a man was forced to get off the hard surface, he would have something to hold him and bring him back, instead of a bed under him of soft slippery soil to land him upside down, or otherwise.

This New England citizen, an engineer himself, was not in a notion to be an ugly critic of the state's great road system. He was ready to praise it generally. It happened that he arrived upon it in the midst of the present rain and sleet storm and driving at night, got more thrills than he cared for by getting upon the shoulders a few times in passing cars.

Indifference.

By W. B. Waff.

Indifference is the great sin of our day. There is no doubt that it is hurting the churches more than any other one thing. If all the members of our Mocksville churches were to do like some of the members are doing, the churches would have no pastors, they would have no church services, Sundays would be coming and going and the church doors would be unopen. The children would be growing up in ignorance of God and his worship, lounging around home or going off somewhere learning bad things or getting into mischief and wrong doings. And the town would be rapidly going to the bad. The church is the greatest and best teacher of righteousness and truth in all the world, and nobody can afford to treat it with indifference and unconcern. Yet some do. Christ and his church are vitally connected. He is the head and the church is his body, and as we treat one so we treat the other. Indifference to the church means indifference to Christ. It has been truly said that "Christ has never lost in opposition. His church has never been defeated by persecution, or fire, or wholesale massacre. Indifference is the subtlest, deadliest enemy of them all."

When Jesus came to Calvary they hanged him on the tree, they drove great nails through his hands and feet and made a Calvary.

For those were crude and cruel days and human flesh was cheap.

When Jesus came to Mocksville they simply passed him by, they never hurt a hair of him, they only let him die;

For men had grown more tender, they would not give him pain, they only passed on down the street and left him in the rain.

"Still Jesus cried, 'Forgive them, for they know not what they do,' and still it rained the winter rain that drenched him through and through;

The crowds went home and left the streets without a soul to see, and Jesus crouched against a wall and cried for Calvary."

Yes, better calvary with its agony and pain and suffering and shame, than the indifference, ingratitude and unconcern that some in Mocksville are giving him.

O, the sadness, the sin and the shame of treating Jesus our Savior and Lord with indifference and unconcern, in view of all that he has done for us, is it? Lord, is it?

No one is ever favorably impressed with a person who is always always looking and talking about the bad in others instead of the good.

SIX MONTHS, IN ADVANCE $ 50
THREE MONTHS, IN ADVANCE $ 25

To everybody, everywhere, a happy New Year.

Politics has put many a good man out of business.

Only six months until the greatest campaign ever staged in this country will open up.

For the first time since 1921 all of our merchants closed their stores on Christmas day. This is the first time Christmas has come on Sunday in six years.

There are many mean people in this country, but Hickman, the California kidnaper and child slayer must hold the record as being the meanest man reported in 1927.

The people who remembered the poor during the holidays will have something to be thankful for throughout the entire year that is just beginning. It is more blessed to give than to receive.

The Record editor is under last obligations to J. Arthur Daniel, proprietor of the Princess Theatre, for an annual pass to this popular movie theatre. Mr. Daniel is showing high class pictures and they are new and up-to-date. The town should be proud of this theatre.

Start the New Year right by reading your local paper, paying your debts, doing unto others as you would have them do unto you, attending to your own business, boosting your town and county and saying a good word for your competitor at every opportunity. If you will do all these things life will mean more to you than ever before.

Bank Has Good Year.

The annual meeting of the directors of The Bank of Davie, was held Wednesday, Dec. 28th. During the past year this bank has done an excellent business. A 4 per cent. dividend was declared on July 1st, and a 4 per cent. dividend was also declared at the beginning of the new year. In addition to this 8 per cent. dividend, a special dividend of 2 per cent. was declared during the year making a total of 10 per cent. paid to stockholders during the year just closed. This bank was organized in 1904, with W. A. Bailey as president and T. J. Byerly as cashier, with a capital stock of $10,000. Today this bank has a capital and surplus of $110,000. E. L. Gaither is president and J. F. Moore cashier. In 1907 Mr. Byerly did all the work, which now requires the services of five people. This is one of Davie's strongest institutions.

What The Record Received.

The Davie Record received from Davie county from Dec. 1, 1926, to Dec. 1, 1927, the sum of $599.25. For this money The Record furnished all of the stationery for the various county officers, a part of the welfare office stationery and board of road commissioners stationery, all the legal notices, tax advertising and the county exhibit which is printed annually. The above amount does not include advertising the delinquent taxpayers lands, as this amount comes from the delinquent taxpayer.

Crump Homestead Destroyed.

The old Crump home in Jerusalem township was completely destroyed by fire and with house went much of the furnishings, including invaluable old heirlooms and furniture that had been in the Crump family for many years. The house was 77 years old and had housed four generations of the Crumps. Sam B. Crump, who had lived there all his life, was moving to Salisbury where he has purchased a new home but had moved very little of the furniture when the fire occurred.

P. K. Moore, principal of the Batavia, Ohio, city school, spent the Christmas holidays in town with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Moore. Paul has many friends here who are glad to know that he is making good in the Buckeye State.

Local Happenings.

Felix Harding has returned from a hunting trip in Eastern Carolina.

"The Rough Riders" are coming. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Poplin, on Monday Jan. 2nd a daughter, Kathleen.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. George Apperson, of R. 4, on Sunday Jan. 1st, a daughter, Anna.

Mrs. Nettie Wilkins has returned to her home at Courtney after spending Christmas with Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Harding.

Remember big James Oliver Curwood picture with Lon Chaney starring at The Princess Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe King, of Tampa, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. King, of Winston-Salem were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Feezor, one day the past week.

J. H. Conch, of Coolemees, and Miss Ruby Baker, of near Holman's, were united in marriage last Tuesday, Dec. 27th in this city, Esq. V. E. Swain performing the marriage ceremony.

There will be a public speaking at Smith Grove school building Friday night January 6th 1928, by M. W. Wallace, of Spencer. He is to speak on Odd Fellow Ship. The public is invited.

Miss Rebeckah Charles who is attending the Moravian Watch Services and also visiting Mrs. J. C. Crim in Winston-Salem for a few days, will spend a week or ten days in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Ruth Harding Lynn and little daughter Libby Jane, have returned to Hickory, N. C., after spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Harding, of Farmington and Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Harding.

Monday was the coldest day this section has experienced in years. Sunday was a cold day, the temperature staying under 24 degrees above zero during the entire day. Monday morning the mercury dropped to 6 degrees above zero, and remained near the zero mark during the day.

Mrs. H. M. Harris died at her home at Ephesus last Tuesday night following an illness of pneumonia. The funeral and burial services were held at Ephesus Thursday morning. Mrs. Harris survived by her husband and her father, Mr. M. A. Foster. A good woman has been called to her reward.

Mr. Henry Willyard, of near Piuo, was killed last Tuesday morning. He went to the barn to harness a mule when the mule kicked him under the shoulder just above the heart, death resulting instantly. Mr. Willyard was about 70 years old and is survived by his widow and one child. The body was laid to rest at Huntsville Wednesday.

Richard P. Clingman, a native of Davie county, died suddenly at his home in Winston-Salem last Friday evening, aged 62 years. Mr. Clingman left Davie about 45 years ago and moved to Winston-Salem, where he has spent most of his time in tobacco buying at Brown's and Piedmont warehouse. He is survived by his widow, three sons and three daughters.

There were a few auto wrecks in and around town during the holidays but so far as we have been able to learn no one was seriously injured. A few of the boys took on a little joy water, but not enough to cause them to kill their best friends. The holiday season was very quiet, but few fire works being in evidence. Nearly everybody behaved themselves and a spirit of hoppiness and good-will prevailed throughout this section.

Mrs. H. H. Blackwelder died at her home near Holman's X Roads on Tuesday, Dec. 20th. The funeral and burial services were held at Chestnut Grove church on Wednesday, the 21st. Mrs. Blackwelder was about 70 years of age and is survived by her husband, five sons and two daughters. She has been ill only a short while death resulting from congestion of the heart. A good woman has been called to her reward.

The Prize Winner.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burton, of near Fork, at 12:15 a. m., Jan. 1st, a son. So far as we can learn this is the first white child born in Davie county after midnight of Dec. 31st, and the $5 gold piece offered by The Record was mailed to this fine young fellow yesterday.

A few land posters.

Kirk-Feezor Marriage.

A quiet but beautiful wedding was solemnized Thursday at 12:30 o'clock when Mrs. Fleeta Kirk and George F. Feezor were united in marriage at the home of Miss Lucy Wommack, of Winston-Salem, the Reverend C. S. Cashwell, of Statesville, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by a small number of relatives and close friends.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for Asheville. Upon their return they will make home on Hanes Farm west of the city, where Mr. Feezor is superintendent.

Holiday Party.

"The young girls Philaetha class of Fork Baptist church delightfully entertained with a party last Tuesday evening, Dec. 27, 1927 at the home of their teacher, Miss Nora Carter. Each member of the class invited a young man as a special guest. During the course of the evening, many interesting games and contests were carried out, which were thoroughly enjoyed by all. After the games, the young people went to the dining room where they enjoyed refreshments, consisting of hot chocolate, cake, mints and salted peanuts. Immediately after partaking of the refreshments, a beautiful box of stationery was presented to Miss Nora Carter from her class, in appreciation of her loving service throughout the year. The rooms were beautifully decorated in holly and mistletoe, carrying out the Christmas spirit. Those present at this party were as follows: Misses Nora Carter, Winnie and Onell Davis, Caro Minor, Floy Williams, Kathleen Wilson, Annie Carter, Geneva and Annie Barnhardt, Annie Ruth Knott, Ester Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Barnhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Foster, Messrs. Lewis Minor, Fred and Guy Williams, Charles Barnhardt, Charles Livenood, Lester Foster, Monroe Minor, Linnet Potts, Wiley Loby and Gray Sheets.

Sheffield News.

Christmas passed off very quiet here not a single person was seen under the influence of liquor. Mrs. Wright Reeves remains very ill at the home of her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. John James. Grady Smith and Marvin Dyson, of Martinsville, Va., spent Christmas with their parents here. There are a few cases of measles North of Sheffield. Mr. and Mrs. Pink Dyson, of Winston, spent a few days last week here. Roy Lowery of Charlotte, Lester Lowery, Doris Wright and Travis Dyson, of Greensboro spent the holidays here. Will Reeves, of Asheville is visiting here this week.

See the New Chevrolet now on display!

Today, Chevrolet presents the crowning triumph of sixteen years' continuous progress—a great new automobile so impressive in appearance, performance and staunchness that it marks the opening of a new era of luxurious transportation at low cost.

Built on a 107-inch wheelbase—4 inches longer than before—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet is impressively large, low and racy. Its new Fisher Bodies are finished in new Duco colors and offer rich new upholstery and handsome appointments. Its improved valve-in-head engine has numerous impressive features such as alloy "invarstrut" pistons, hydro-laminated camshaft gears, mushroom type valve tappets, AC oil filter and AC air cleaner. The chassis also has been redesigned. As a result, the new Chevrolet provides delightful smoothness throughout the entire speed range—a wide margin of power for hills—click-of-the-heel acceleration—the ability to maintain 50, 55 and 60 miles an hour without the slightest sense of forcing or fatigue—the safety of four-wheel brakes—the steering ease that can only result from a ball bearing worm and gear steering mechanism—and comfort over all roads at all speeds due to semi-elliptic shock absorber springs—84% of the wheelbase.

How in—see the car—and learn how Chevrolet has again electrified America by creating a bigger and better motor car and offering it at prices so low as to be actually amazing!

Every feature of advanced design demanded in the finest cars now offered in the New Chevrolet! Read this partial list.

Improved valve-in-head motor.	Safety gasoline tank at rear. Larger balloon tires 30" x 4.50".	Improved Delco-Remy Dlx' tributor ignition.

STORY FROM THE START

Handsome, fastidious and wealthy—Young St. Croix Creighton awaits his sweetheart at their trysting place. She is late, this ordinary little Pennsylvania Dutch girl, Meely Schwenckton. Despite her seeming innocence and ignorance, she succeeds in keeping him at a distance, to his chagrin. Meely, in the Schwenckton home, where she is boarding, is altogether unlike the girl who meets St. Croix clandestinely. She is the teacher in the neighborhood school, of which Marvin Creighton, St. Croix's brother, is superintendent. Meely learns that Marvin was to have married his cousin, a titled English lady, but, believing she was attracted by the Creighton wealth, had refused the alliance. It is the rumor that St. Croix is to take Marvin's place and marry the English girl, St. Croix's jealousy is aroused by her hand. The girl cleverly deceives him into admitting he has no intention of marrying her.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

Ever since Mr. Schwenckton had warned her that the superintendent would be visiting her school, she had gone cautiously; had been ready, at an instant's warning, to have the children suddenly busy at the blackboard "doing tables" or something like that. But as the very afternoon of his visit that she had become so entrancingly engrossed in her wide departure from "prescribed branches" that she never heard his knock on the schoolroom door, never saw him enter—and God only knew how long he had been standing there watching her wild performance, when suddenly the faces of the children warned her. Her back was toward the door at the moment, but she did not have to turn to know he was standing there! Horror of horrors! That he should have caught her at such a moment as this, after all her precautions! She was so stunned with embarrassment she could not have turned around if her life had been the forfeit for not doing so.

Pretending to be unaware of his presence, she moved stiffly to the edge of the platform and spoke faintly, directing the several grades to the orthodox blackboard or tablet work with which she had planned to propitiate him on his visit—though she knew she was just several minutes too late, now, to deceive him. She'd been caught red-handed—oh, oh!

Seating herself at her desk, her back still toward him, she awaited his approach. But he did not come. A hope leapt up in her heart that she had been mistaken. But she was still too terrified to look around.

A step on the platform just back of her chair—and she barely suppressed a shriek. He stood before her, hat and gloves in one hand, the other held out to her. Blindly she rose and gave him her own, not daring to look up and meet his eye.

As she did not invite him to be seated, he had to take care of himself. "With your permission?" he said as he drew a chair forward and, motioning her to be reseated, sat down at her side—and she realized with fresh embarrassment her remissness in schoolroom hospitality.

Jaying his hat and gloves on the desk, he leaned back comfortably, as though settling himself to stay a while, folded his arms—and waited. "Leavens!—what was she expected to do? Perform pedagogically for his inspection, no doubt. Well, she couldn't; she wouldn't try! But just to sit here—Ought she converse with him, entertain him? She stole a swift side glance at him. His eyes were thoughtfully contemplating the schoolroom. She might pretend ignorance of who he was; take him for a parent visiting the school.

But her protracted silence seemed to give him an idea. "Perhaps I must introduce myself? Mr. Creighton, your superintendent."

"Well, I cannot tell a lie and say I'm glad to see you!" she hysterically brought out, "for I'm not!" He grinned. They all hated his visits, the county teachers, but they did not, as a general thing, frankly shriek at him! On the contrary! Flattered over him, flattered him, pretended to be pleased to death to see him.

"Why?" he asked. "Got a guilty conscience?" She repressed a start. A guilty conscience she certainly did have and with good reason, but he could not know that reason. What a cultivated voice he had—like St. Croix—but with a grave thoughtfulness in his tone that interested her. She took a bit of comfort from the twinkle in his eyes. His difference from St. Croix was conspicuous enough—here was no air of superiority, no self-consciousness; but an offhand directness which took it for granted that he was on your level, rather than that he accepted you on his. He impressed her on sight as being genuine.

"I can't teach before you!" she exclaimed, as though accusing him of our famous American "moral turpitude." "I just can't and that's all there is about it!" (She made an effort to pronounce her a's as in air rather than as in art, as her natural speech, she knew, would seem highly unnatural for a Kutztown Normal school graduate and a teacher in this vicinity.)

"But—" He turned in his chair and faced her. Such an unprofessional mien as this he had not encountered in any schoolroom of the county. "I understand, Miss Schwenckton, that you are a graduate of Kutztown Normal school. Then you ought to know a lot more about this business of teaching than I do! I'm not a Kutztown Normal graduate."

She had nothing to answer. She almost hung her head, furious at her helpless stupidity; St. Croix had never put her to such confusion—

"You are a normal school graduate, aren't you?"

She slightly nodded. She had never in the least minded telling lies to St. Croix.

He regarded her doubtfully and if she could have read his mind, she would have had another cause for uneasiness; for his brief experience as county superintendent had taught him that what normal school graduates did not know about pedagogy was negligible; their superiority and their awareness of it, their poise, their condescending pity toward the unfortunate teachers who were not normal school graduates, he had found a little oppressive. Meely did not know it, but she was behaving more like the frightened, uncertain undergraduates that were mere certificate holders who had managed to pass the county superintendent's examination than like the self-confident Kutztown graduates who were not required to take that examination.

He sat back again and folded his arms with an air of determination. "I'm here to hear you teach," he said firmly. "Please call a class and teach!"

"You teach them something," she brightly suggested. "Oh!" she ex-

Took Roundabout Trip to Escape Pursuers

One of the unnamed heroes of the South in the Civil war staged an unusual exploit that is still one of the most interesting traditions of Mobile bay. While the federal fleet lay off Fort Morgan, this Southern sailor, out in a small schooner, was chased by some of the intercept him he used them trying to intercept him he used all his sail power and nautical skill and headed eastward. For miles the chase continued and he left his pursuers behind. However, he knew they would be watching for him to return, so he kept on to the east, sailing to Apalachicola, Fla., where he loaded his craft on a river steamer and made a trip of several days up the Chattahoochee to Columbus, Ga. There he transferred to a train for Opelika, then to Montgomery, Ala. At that point he changed cars for Hurricane, claimed hopefully, "don't you want to make a speech to them?" (She knew how men loved making speeches; loved the sound of their own voices before an audience.)

"That's not what I'm here for," he returned. "I don't want to interrupt your program—what were you doing when I came in? Proceed with that."

"I—I can't!"

"But I only want to see you in your usual routine—"

"I—I was breaking the usual routine—"

"From what I observed as I entered, I must say I'm glad it was only a breaking of the usual routine! Now, will you call a class in—er—geography, will you say?"

"You'd laugh at me."

"But look here! Will you tell me what you do here all day if you don't teach?"

"Oh, I do teach—of laws—course I teach! But you see—she suddenly picked up courage and launched forth—

"I have my own original way of teaching—and if you're the conventional school man, originality would be highly offensive to you."

"Now you make me very curious! Let's have a sample of this originality!"

"You see, I hold that children should be taught," she discoursed airily, adopting somewhat the tone of a platform lecturer, "what is for their immediate use and pleasure, rather than for the future, for only so will they grow. You don't grow by what you store up, but by what you use and assimilate. So I—"

"Wait! Is this your own, or recited from some textbook of modern pedagogy?"

"Entirely my own that I've forged out for myself—though others may also have forged it out—that I can't say. The goal which I set before my pupils is not marks and grades, but knowledge."

"Excellent! Knowledge of what, for instance?"

"Of whatever interests them. They're not much interested in arithmetic and grammar and spelling. You can interest them in science, history, geography (geography only when taught entertainingly, as I teach it), poetry, stories, plays—"

"Sounds so good, I think I'll come to school to you! Do call up a geography class."

"I don't know so much about geography, really—do you know," she smiled, "until quite recently I thought the North and South of the Civil war here in the United States were divided by the Mississippi river! I—"

"She stopped short in dismay—now she had given herself away! No American on earth had ever supposed such a thing as that!"

"My sense of direction," she murmured with a nervous laugh, "was always weak! I—"

He made no comment. He had given her one swift, penetrating glance; but at her obviously painful embarrassment had merely looked away.

"Kindly call up a geography class," he urged after a moment, in a tone which, though courteous, was a command.

"I'd rather not, if you'll kindly excuse me. The one thing these children seem to need," she said, reverting to her lecture-platform tone in her effort to divert him from his yearning to hear her teach geography, "is to have their imaginations roused. Before I came they didn't know the Commonwealth, most familiar stories—Cinderella, Jack, the Giant Killer, Arabian Nights. Imagine American children so benighted! Those children knew all the multiplication tables and all the capitals of the 37 states—"

"Forty-seven."

"I mean forty-seven, of laws—course—though strict accuracy in unimportant details always did strike me as rather a fault than a virtue in a teacher, for a good teacher should have a mind above insignificant facts—"

"Ten of these United States is not an insignificant fact," exactly. I'm afraid I must insist, Miss Schwenckton, upon your calling a geography class. Everything you say makes me more and more eager every minute to hear you teach a class in the geography of the United States."

"I'm sorry not to oblige you, Mr. Creighton. I'll be very glad to allow you to examine the blackboard work—you'll find it quite creditable—"

"But this, Miss Schwenckton, is inferior! Remember I'm your superior officer!"

Most Lasting Timber

It takes between 100 and 200 years for a tank tree to reach a height of 50 feet. But tankwood makes perhaps the most lasting lumber known. The tank tree is "the most important tree in the commerce of Siam."

In Mexico men and women in the same social circle call each other by their Christian names.

Seize Man as Lunatic, 'Twas Only Toothache

Tarrytown, N. Y.—"This man isn't crazy, but he has an awful toothache which is driving him mad," a surgeon at Grasslands hospital said the other day when Patrolman Kohl of the Greenburgh police department brought in Anthony Joseph of Greenburgh, who was found wandering about acting like a wild man just over the White Plains line. Kohl started out with sufficient equipment to capture and restrain a lunatic. He was convinced that Joseph was insane until the Grasslands surgeons told him differently. The surgeon relieved the toothache for the man and he returned to his home acting perfectly normal.

PRISON ROMANCE ENDS IN MARRIAGE

Bride of Life Convict Is Social Worker.

Baton Rouge, La.—A prison romance, involving a convicted murderer serving a life term in the Louisiana state penitentiary, and a New Orleans social worker, was revealed here when it became known that E. E. Woolfero, a "trusty" in his fifth year of servitude, and Mrs. Martha B. Ogden, of New Orleans, were married recently by City Judge Dewey J. Sanchez. The groom is fifty-eight years old, the bride thirty-eight, according to their marriage license. Woolfero was sent to prison for life June 22, 1923, for murder of his son, and subsequently divorced by his wife, who now lives in New Orleans. Mrs. Ogden also is divorced and her former husband lives in New Orleans. She met Woolfero on visits to the state penitentiary office here while engaged in social work. Woolfero now is a clerk at the prison receiving station, on the outskirts of the city, while Mrs. Woolfero is reported to have taken up her residence in Baton Rouge. Under provisions of the state law defining life term, Woolfero will go free on December 22, 1933, ten years and six months after beginning his term. He has several times made unsuccessful application for pardon.

Man Wrecks Auto to Escape From Tarantula

San Francisco.—Motoring through Niles canyon, Stephen V. Weller of New Bedford, Mass., saw something crawling across the road. It was unlike anything he had ever seen in New Bedford. "Must be one of those California crabs," he said to himself, stopped his car, got out, picked up a coffee can by the roadside and induced the crawler to crawl into it. It was the size of his palm. "That's one of the biggest tarantulas I ever saw," remarked another autoist who drove up just then. "Ow, wow!" said Weller, "so that's what it is!" He drove along with his new pet, nevertheless, planning to pickle it in alcohol. A few miles on he saw the tarantula, which had climbed out of the can, about to climb up under his trouser leg. Weller didn't even wait to apply his emergency brake, but leaped from the car, which hurtled into a roadside ditch. The tarantula was still in possession of the auto when some other motorists came by and helped Weller lure it into another can—one with a cover. The giant spider wound up its exciting day by being chloroformed, mounted, and presented to Washington Union high school museum.

Clerk in Prison as Burglar Studies Law, Appeals, Wins

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—The story of how a former postal clerk sentenced to five years in the Leavenworth Federal prison on the charge of burglarizing the post office here, studied law while in prison and prepared briefs and an appeal of his case to the United States Court of Appeals has just been received here. Hayes Vandogder was accused of burglarizing the post office in 1924 and convicted of stealing two mail box keys. His appeal asserted that no one had witnessed the theft of the keys and that they had not been found on him until eighty-seven days after the theft, too late to establish a legal hypothesis that he had stolen them. The Appellate court upheld this contention and the case probably will be dropped. Vandogder was mail order clerk here for some time.

Girl, Six, Gives Her Life to Save Baby Brother

Goddard, Kan.—Irene Ayres, six years old, was credited with giving her life to save her infant brother. While her mother was taudering some clothes, Irene cared for her little brother. She was carrying the baby in her arms when she stumbled and fell backward into a washbowl filled with scalding water. Irene held the baby out of the water so that he was burned only slightly when rescued by his mother, but the girl was burned so severely that she died.

Lesson for January 8

JESUS AND THE SICK

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:21-45. GOLDEN TEXT—He hath done all things well: He maketh both the deaf to hear and the dumb to speak. PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Makes Sick People Well. JUNIOR TOPIC—John Welcomes and Baptizes Jesus. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Shows His Sympathy and Power. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus' Power to Make Whole.

The purpose of Mark in this section is to show Jesus Christ the Divine Servant bearing God's message and clothed with the power to save lost souls. Coupled with His superhuman strength is revealed His unwearied sympathy, giving itself out in helpful and saving service.

1. Jesus Teaching With Authority (vv. 21, 22).

1. The place (v. 21). It was in the synagogue in Capernaum where He with four disciples repaired "straightway" upon His entrance into the village. He availed Himself of the regular channel of instruction. Though many abuses had crept into the synagogue service, He chose to associate the new with the old order.

2. The time (v. 21). His faithfulness in observing the Sabbath brought Him to the place where the people assembled to worship and to hear the Scriptures expounded. He came not to destroy but to fulfill the law, even the law of the Sabbath.

3. The impression (v. 22). The people were astonished. Two things about His teaching impressed the hearers.

The substance of His message. The scribes, the professional teachers of the law merely quoted the authorities, but Jesus with first-hand knowledge set forth the truth with the enthusiasm of freshness and personal conviction. This distinction was quickly detected by those who heard Him.

4. Jesus Conquering Demons (vv. 23-28).

1. The outcry of the demon-possessed man (v. 23). Perhaps he interrupted Jesus while He was teaching. When the power of God is manifested there is bound to be an outcry of the evil spirits.

2. The demon's confession (v. 24). "Thou art the Holy One of God." The one whose chief business it was to waste and destroy human life was in such miserable state as to desire to have nothing to do with Christ, and was now forced to confess Him as the Holy One.

3. Christ's attitude toward him (v. 25). He asked and accepted no testimony from him, but sternly rebuked and cast out the foul spirit. He not only is Himself pure but is able to deliver others from impurity. Christ wants confession only from pure lips.

4. The obedience of the demon (v. 26). The spirit was reluctant to leave the man and malicious to the end, for he tore the man whom he had to leave. He had to acknowledge his defeat and went out in a howling rage.

5. The impression made upon the people (vv. 27, 28). The news of Christ's power spread rapidly over Galilee. The people were startled by two things:

(1) The new doctrine which He brought.

(2) His authority over demons. Law of Fever (vv. 29-31). This scene lies in the home of one of the disciples. He went home with Simon and Andrew who told Him of the condition of Peter's mother-in-law. He came at once and lifted her up and the fever departed. She immediately ministered to Him.

IV. Jesus Ministering to Many (vv. 32-34). Though the day was strenuous in its labors, He came unwearied even when the sun had set, to meet the needs of the multitudes who had gathered from all parts of the city. He healed many of their diseases, cast out demons, not allowing them to speak. The demons knew Him, but the poor, blind people knew Him not.

V. Jesus Cleansing a Leper (vv. 35-45). As Jesus preached in the synagogues of Galilee and cast out demons, His power became known. A leper came to Him saying, "If Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean." Jesus put forth His hand and touched him, saying, "I will, be thou clean," and immediately the leprosy departed and he was cleansed.

Beauty of Bible Thoughts

I am of the opinion that the Bible contains more true sensibility, more exquisite beauty, more pure morality, more important history, and finer strains of poetry and eloquence than can be collected from all other books, in whatever age or language they may be written.—Sir William Jones.

Occupation

Absence of occupation is not rest; a mind quite vacant is a mind distressed.—Cowper.

Remodel with OAK floors. Make every room like new at slight expense. Oak floors are permanent, beautiful, easy to keep clean. Write for complete free literature. OAK FLOORING BUREAU 5293 Builders' Building CHICAGO

Time Plays Wonders. Time works wonders in book values as well as many other things. When the first edition of 250 copies of FitzGerald's "Rubaiyat" was published in 1889 it proved what in modern slang is called a flop. The disgusted publisher finally put the books out on the pavement and offered them for eight cents each. Now a well-preserved copy of that edition is worth an even thousand dollars.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

When Teething Hurts — Teething Stops the Pain

"Teething is just wonderful for little babies when they are cutting teeth," writes Mrs. Fred Graham, Box 36, West Blocton, Ala. "When my baby began to cut her teeth she couldn't rest well at night and would scream out in her sleep as if she were going into a spasm. Teething ended this just as soon as I commenced giving it to her. Now she doesn't cry out any more at night, sleeps fine and seems like a different baby. Teething is a blessing to all anxious mothers who are naturally worried over baby's suffering during teething periods. For three generations it has been used to relieve pain and in the treatment of Colic, Gas, Constipation, Colds, Indigestion, Diarrhea and such baby ills. Teething not only thoroughly cleanses and regulates baby's little stomach but induces refreshing sleep without the use of any sort of opiate. All druggists sell it. Price 50c.

His Preference

A farmer took his wife to a concert, and after listening with apparent joy the pair suddenly became interested in one of the choruses: "All we, like sheep, have gone astray." First a sharp soprano voice exclaimed: "All we, like sheep?" next a deep voice uttered in a most earnest tone: "All we, like sheep." Then all the singers at once asserted: "All we, like sheep."

In the End

"What becomes of the professional parachute jumper?" "Oh, he settles down."

Coughs and Colds

are not only annoying, but dangerous. If not attended to at once they may develop into serious ailments. Boschee's Syrup is soothing and healing in such cases, and has been used for sixty-one years. 30c and 90c bottles. Buy it at your drug store. G. G. Green, Inc., Woodbury, N. Y.

EYES HURT? Don't ignore the danger signals of aching eyes, red lids, blurred vision, itching, watering, burning, stinging, soreness, or any other eye trouble. Use Dr. Peery's Eye Ointment. It is the only eye ointment that is guaranteed to relieve eye pain. 25c. Dr. Peery, 247 Waverly Pl., New York.

"Ridin', Ridin'"

WHEELER, RIDING ON HER HORSE, "BROADWAY" IN WASHINGTON

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

NOTHING so good for the inside of a man as the outside of a horse—so sayeth the doctor.

So runs an old saying (author unknown) and apparently there are a great many Americans who believe it. Of course, there aren't as many of us who answer to the call of "boots and saddles" as there were in the old days when "westward the course of empire takes its way." For this is the motor age, and today you hear more often the drone of airplane engine or the pop of automobile exhaust than you do the creak of saddle leather and the cllop-clop of horse's hoofs. But for all of that, this form of travel still retains a wide popularity and there are even those who point to a decided increase in horseback riding for pleasure, if not for business, within recent years.

For despite the fact that modern America in the main goes about its business now on pneumatic tires, there's still enough "ridin', ridin'" to keep the saddle manufacturers in business for several years yet. Perhaps one indication of a rather widespread interest in equestrianism is the amount of newspaper space that has been given within recent months to certain long-distance riding feats which have been under way. A recent news picture which was widely published was that of Frank Heath of Silver Springs, Md., standing with his horse at "Milepost One" in Washington, the point for the measurement of distances from the capital over all the highways of the United States. Mr. Heath, who is a war veteran, had been "ridin', ridin'" to recover his health and in the course of a journey of some two years and a half on his eleven-year-old horse he had covered 11,387 miles and visited every state in the Union.

Last year press dispatches carried the news that Bert J. McCloud of Fort Morgan, Colo., was about to set out on a 35,000-mile trip on his eight-year-old Arabian horse, "Chief Sitting Bull." He was to attempt the feat of riding from Denver to New York and then cross the United States and Canada several times. He, too, expected to visit every state in the Union, and at the start of his trip he estimated that he would cover the 35,000 miles in 1,200 days. So far as is known he is still "ridin', ridin'", for at the end of his trip is a prize of $25,000 if he makes it successfully and complies with all the requirements, one being that he must call on all governors at the state capitals and also upon the President at Washington. McCloud, who is fifty years old and a former cowboy and Arizona Ranger, finished a 20,000-mile trip at Phoenix, Ariz., two years ago. During this trip he crossed a strip of desert in the great Southwest in which sealed instruments recorded a heat of 180 degrees and it took him 72 hours to make 72 miles.

Up from the South another horseman is "ridin', ridin'". He is A. Felix Techiffely, an Argentine schoolmaster who started from Buenos Aires two and a half years ago and who recently arrived in Mexico City on his way to New York city. His journey was begun to demonstrate the endurance of the native horses of the Patagonian pampas and he is doing it on two of them, one seventeen years old and the other sixteen. When he has completed his journey he will have some 10,000 miles of "ridin', ridin'" back of him and a host of thrilling experiences to tell about to his friends.

But not all of these long distance riders are men. The latest one in the field is Miss Vonceil Viking, a twenty-two-year-old Roswell (N. M.) girl, who has started out to win a wager of $25,000, said to have been made with

Ridin'

There is some that likes the city—
Grass that's curried smooth
And green,
Theatres and stranglin' collars,
Wagons run by gasoline—
But for me it's haws and saddle
Every day without a change,
And a desert sun a-blastin'
On a hundred miles of range.

Just a-ridin', a-ridin',
Desert ripplin' in the sun,
Mountains blue along the sky-line—
I don't envy anyone
When I'm ridin'.

When my feet is in the stirrups
And my haws is on the bust,
With his boots a-flashin' lightnin'
From a cloud of golden dust,
And the bawlin' of the cattle
Is a-comin' down the wind
Then a fner life than ridin'
Would be mighty hard to find.

Just a-ridin', ridin', Splittin' long cracks through the air,
Stirrin' up a baby cyclone,
Rippin' up the prickly pear
As I'm ridin'.

I don't need no art exhibits
When the sunset does her best,
Paintin' everlastin' glory
On the mountains to the west,
And your opey looks foolish
When the night-bird starts his tune
And the desert's silver mounted
By the touches of the moon.

Just a-ridin', a-ridin',
Who kin envy kings and czars
When the coyotes down the valley
Are a-singin' to the stars,
If he's ridin'.

When my earthly trail is ended
And my final bacon curled
And the last great roundup's finished
At the Home Ranch of the world
I don't want no harps nor haloes,
Robes nor other dressed up things.
Let me ride the stary ranges
On a phinno haws with wings!

Just a-ridin', a-ridin',
Nothin' I'd like half so well
As a-ridin' up the simmers
That have wandered out of Hell,
And a-ridin',
BADGER CLARK.

Community Building

Several Reasons for Vitality of Village

Near large cities, of course, real estate subdivisions inflate the little settlements, and they grow out of all recognition of their former selves, going well along the way to becoming cities themselves. But farther away the contributing factors to continued existence are some extremely modern developments which one would hardly suspect. The country depends upon the automobile; the country people learn that it can take them away from their isolation and provide that temporary escape so necessary to a tranquil existence. Very well, then, what need to move away permanently from a familiar and pleasant location, where the family is comfortably settled? If they wish to go anywhere for a change there is the car.

Then, of course, radio is another influence, for it brings to the outlying districts a full measure of entertainment, information which sometimes has its monetary value, and also a bit of that sophistication that is most prized of all. Electric machinery both in the home and in the farm buildings makes existence more pleasant and less arduous, and the telephone connects friends and relatives.

Taking these things into account, the vitality of the village is not puzzling. It has survived the era of change and mastered a difficult situation by adopting the changes itself instead of resisting progress. The United States is still full of small towns, and it is safe to predict that this fortunate circumstance will continue in force for many generations to come.—Philadelphia Record.

California Has Claim to Heaviest Rainfall

Up to the time of this writing, the world's record rainfall was observed in a district on the west front of the San Gabriel range, a writer in the Kansas City Times says. Here, on April 5, 1926, a fall of 1.02 inches in one minute was measured on a weighing rain gauge and was reported by the United States weather bureau and the Los Angeles county flood-control commission, joint operators of the observation station. By chance, a second gauge of the same pattern had been installed near the other for test purposes, and as both instruments made the same record additional testimony of its accuracy was afforded. The previous rainfall record was observed in Panama, on November 29, 1911, a fall of 2.47 inches was registered in three minutes at the weather bureau station in Porto Bello.

One Out of Five

"One of every five persons in United States owns an automobile," according to figures printed in Barron's Financial Weekly. "A world survey shows a car to every 66 persons," reads Barron's. "About 95 per cent, or 27,050,267, of all cars registered were of American manufacture. Canada and Hawaii rank second to United States in proportion of population owning automobiles, with one in eleven persons. New Zealand has 1 for every 12; Australia and Denmark 1 to every 17; United Kingdom 1 to every 48; Argentina 1 to every 45, and France 1 to every 46. India, with 1 to every 3,803 persons, has the smallest proportion among the first 25 motorized countries."

Build Permanent Home

The permanence of the modern home is just as important as the permanence of all other buildings, yet you seldom find anyone as much concerned about the durability of the materials that go into homes as about those that go into schools, hospitals, office structures and the like. The mere fact of difference in size of the buildings seems to have made a difference in the public mind. Yet homes are everywhere acknowledged to be the bulwarks of the country, and the type and number of homes are usually taken as a good criterion of the stability and prosperity of a population.

Keep Woodwork Painted

The home owner who remembers that unprotected wood weathers and decays, protects it by keeping it well painted at every point. The tough flexible waterproof film which good paint forms over wood is a needed protection, rewarding the home owner by value and appearance maintained over a long period of years.

Saving Trees and Shrubs

When building a home it is advisable to make the contractor responsible for trees and shrubs you wish saved. This may be done by including a statement concerning them in the general conditions of your contract.

Fence Frames House

To the artistic eye a home is a picture with the house as the center of interest, around which group, in pleasing composition, those other elements that create an atmosphere of restful charm and quiet privacy.

Designed for Utility

The well and tree design so often seen in silver platters is intended to catch the gravy and juices from the meat so that the gravy can be served readily as wanted. The well and tree form is that which is best adapted to the purpose. The design has no other significance. The origin is unknown.

Shoes of Alexander Dumas Museum Exhibit

At Villiers-Cotterets, in France, is a Dumas museum raised to the memory of the celebrated author, who was born there. Among the exhibits is a pair of boots, and these have a history. When Dumas was a parliamentary candidate and had to address a public meeting at Sens, he noticed that his boots were down at heel and shabby. "I can't possibly address the electors in boots like these," he said to his companion Alphonse Billebault de Chaffault, "and there isn't time to buy another pair. You must lend me your boots, and I will lend you mine." The change was effected. The novelist stuck to his friend's boots and wore them out. His own boots, which would stand no more wear, were thrown away in a lumber room, and ultimately inherited by Count Georges de Chaffault, who, in response to an advertisement for relics of the illustrious writer, presented them to the Villiers-Cotterets museum.

Increase in Whaling

In recent years the number of whaling companies has increased rapidly, and no ocean is exempt from whaling operations. In excess of 10,000 whales are killed annually, the maximum yield of oil being reached in 1923, amounting to 44,000,000 gallons. Millions of gallons of whale oil now find a ready market in this country.—Scientific American.

Must Be Tight

"Why do girls go crazy over those battered football players?" "I suppose it's because of the innate feminine love of remnants."

Relief at Last for "Dry" Constipation

Here is good news for the man or woman who is troubled with that variety of constipation that is caused by a dryness or lack of intestinal juices. Dr. Hitchcock's Laxative Powder, composed entirely of vegetable laxative agents, has the peculiar property of making the "mouth water." It has the same effect upon the intestinal glands, thereby increasing the intestinal juices, making bowel movements easy and removing the cause of dry constipation.

A few doses of Hitchcock's Laxative Powder will quickly and pleasantly banish constipation, foul breath, coated tongue, sick headache, sour stomach, dizziness and indigestion by restoring the intestinal glands to their normal, healthy action. Gives joyous health to children and brightens the lives of old folks. Unlike other purgatives it has no constipating after effects. No pain nor griping. Twenty-five cents for a large box at any drug store.

Hitchcock's Laxative Powder

At Liberty in Hollywood "Are the movies making any advances?" "Not to me."

Too Much of a Good Thing "I'm never going to get married." "Why?" "Because you have to have sixteen wives. It says so right in the marriage ceremony: four better, four worse, four richer, four poorer—and four times four are sixteen."

Every time you avoid doing wrong you increase your inclination to do right.

Why Bald So Young? Cuticura will help You

To prevent loss of hair Dandruff, usually the cause of premature baldness, may be easily removed by regular shampooing with Cuticura Soap, preceded by touches of Cuticura Ointment. This treatment keeps the scalp clean and healthy and promotes hair growth.

Modern Version

Edwin, two and one-half years old, is much interested in Mother Goose rhymes. After each repetition of "Little Red Riding Hood," he would immediately beg, "Say it again!" At length his mother, becoming tired, said, "You say it for me, this time." He gave it as usual to the point where Red Riding Hood says, "Grandma, what makes your ears so big?"

Here he paused, then dramatically exclaimed:

"Grandma, what's the big idea?"—Los Angeles Times.

Accounted For

"Anger sweetens the blood" is the Literary Digest's heading of an article about the German doctor's discovery that it really increases the sugar content. Probably the extra sweetness anger puts into the blood is that which it takes out of the disposition. —Boston Transcript.

Hubert and Glenn Cartner, students at N. C. State College, West Raleigh spent the holidays here with their parents Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cartner.

Buck Allison, who is running a successful business in Wilmington, was a Christmas visitor here. Buck has many friends in these parts who are always glad to see him.

Wiley J. Smith, of near Smith Grove, says he killed the champion pig of Davie a few days before Christmas. The pig was 208 days old and weighed 262 pounds. Some pig.

Claud S. and F. L. Driver, of Newcastle Ind., spent several days last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Driver, near Cana. These Davie boys are making good in the Hoosier State.

Mr. Will Davis, of Concord, and Miss Otta Cope, of R. 2, were united in marriage on Dec. 24th, at the Methodist parsonage on Salisbury street, Rev. E. M. Avett performing the marriage ceremony.

Mr. Jese Lee Graves and Miss Cornelia Long, daughter of Mr. William Long, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, Dec. 24th, at the home of the bride's father in this city, Rev. B. D. Howell, of Advance, R. 1, performing the marriage ceremony.

The merchants who advertised in The Record report a mighty good Christmas trade the best some of them have ever enjoyed. It pays to advertise in Davie's oldest and best newspaper, for the reason that the people read it. Those who don't pay for it borrow the copy that goes into their neighbor's box.

The editor has a good friend in Florida who remembered him on Christmas eve with a steel engraving of Abraham Lincoln. Such good friends are few and far between. Our thanks are also due the Chevrolet Automobile Co., of Detroit, for an attractive morocco bill fold. This bill fold is divided into three compartments, one for $1 bills, another for $5 bills and the third for $10 and $20 bills. We will be able to use only the compartment for $1 bills.

Sometime during Christmas night some one entered C. J. Angell's jewelry store on the square and carried away several hundred dollars worth of watches, chains, fountain pens and other jewelry. Entrance was made through the front door, some kind of a bar being used to prize one of the doors open. The business men of the town offered a reward of $200 for the capture of the guilty party or parties. This loss falls heavily upon Mr. Angell. All are hoping that the thief or thieves will be captured. This is another proof that a night watchman is badly needed in Mocksville.

NEWS OF LONG AGO.

What Was Happening in Davie Before The Days of Automobiles and Rolled Hope

(Davie Record, Jan. 10, 1900)
Philip Hanes, of Winston, has been spending several days in the county.

H Daniel's house was destroyed by fire Christmas week. Nearly everything was lost.

Rufus D. Brown, of Baltimore, has sold W. R. Clement, of this City 170 acres of land near town.

A. Y. Helper was married to Miss Grimes at the court house last Wednesday, A. W. Ellis of Farmington, officiated.

Mr. Albert Miller, of Cherry Hill, was united in marriage last Wednesday to Miss Lillie Thompson.

Jas. F. Latham returned to Danville, Va., Monday after spending Christmas with relatives near Farmington.

The latte C. C. McCulloh's Crandon was burned to death last Wednesday. Its dress caught from a fire in the yard, and it died that night.

Capt. Frank Brown's family left Mocksville Wednesday for Salisbury where they will make their future home.

Harry Hobson, of Atlanta, and Hal Hobson, of this county, were in town Thursday.

A. H. Price, of Salisbury, was in town Monday on his way to visit relatives near Jerusalem.

George Dennis killed a large gray fox near Cooleemee last week. The fox weighed 12 pounds and measured 4 feet and one inch from tip to tip.

C. L. McClamroch and family, of Winston, visited relatives in this section last week.

L. G. Horn spent Tuesday in Winston.

Robert Lowery, of County Line, entered school here Tuesday.

C. Mebane is pushing the work on the Cooleemee cotton mill. It will not be long before the building will be ready for the machinery.

Deputy Collector Shore, of Yadkin county was in town last week.

Bob Beisicker, of Advance, was in town Monday.

Prof. Chas. Sheets is riding in a new buggy now. Look out Charles girls like nice young men and nice conveyances and you know you are not matrimonially inclined.

Peter Stonestreet, of Jericho, has entered school at Mocksville.

Look Here, Winston.

It is said that figures never lie, but figures certainly do not always give a true estimate of a city. This is evinced by the census bureau estimation of population which gives Charlotte a population of 77,000 and Winston-Salem 77,000.

In nearly everything worth mentioning in this state, Charlotte takes the lead. Shoppers go to Charlotte from nearly every section of the Carolinas; distributors of nationally known products invariably come to Charlotte when they invade this territory; the Associated Press has its headquarters for the Carolinas there; Charlotte's newspapers boast the largest circulation, and many consider them the most complete in the Carolinas. Many of the greatest concerns of the nation have southern or southeastern headquarters there, and the Queen City leads in many other respects. Really Charlotte has little to worry about even if her population is smaller than that of the Twin City.—Hickory Record.

An American is a man who denounces idiotic jurors while he dodges jury service.

Snow At Palm Beach.

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 3.—Large snow flakes fell in Palm Beach today, the first time since before 1886, according to pioneer residents of this resort.

Children who never saw snow before in their lives asked, "Who is throwing confetti" on their way to school.

Important To Former Tobacco Co-Ops.

The receivers of the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, under orders of court, have given notice by publication that all creditors of the association, who have not already filed proofs of their debts or claims, must file the same on or before March 1, 1928 with Hon Henry Bowden, Special Master, Norfolk, Virginia. If they claim a lien, preference or priority, the same must be set forth with particularity.

If any creditor or party interested desires to challenge or object to any claim or proof of debt already filed on or before March 1, 1928, he shall have until April 1, 1928, and no longer, to file objection or exception to the same before the special master. All claims not filed by March 1, will be barred; and all objections not filed before April 1, will be disregarded.

The holders of participation certificates are not regarded strictly as creditors. They are more nearly analogous to stockholders in a corporation. The books of the association will be considered sufficient proof of the validity of any participation certificate issued, provided the certificate remains in the hands of the original holder. Therefore the person to whom the certificate was issued and who now holds the same will not be required to make proof.

Where the certificate has been assigned, and the assignment noted on the books of the association, the assignee need not make further proof. But where a certificate has been transferred and the transfer is not shown on the books of the association, it will be necessary for the transferee to make proof before the special master. Where the transfer was not for full consideration, and both the original holder and the transferee are interested, it will be well for them to explain to the special master their interests. Where the original holder of the certificate has died, it will be necessary for his legal representative to make proof before the special master, and to file proof his representative capacity—administrator, executor, etc. He may mail to the special master the original of his letters of appointment with a request for its return; or he may send certified copy.

As far as possible, red tape and technicalities in proof will be dispensed with. Originally, an affidavit giving the date, number and amount of the certificate the original owner and the assignee, with the original certificate and a copy thereof; attached to the affidavit sworn to before a notary public, and sent to the special master, will be sufficient; and he, on request, will return the original certificate, keeping the copy.

Where the participation certificate has been assigned, and there is a dispute or controversy between the original holder and the assignee, the matter should be called to the attention of the special master; and both claimants should make affidavits setting forth their respective claims and contentions.

20 Hurt Near Spencer.

Spencer, Jan. 3.—Northbound passenger train No. 46, leaving Spencer at 4:30 this afternoon, crashed into a steam ditcher two miles north of Spencer slightly injuring perhaps a score of passengers. Four of the injured were rushed to Salisbury hospital for treatment, these including Ned Hood, of Newton, cut about the face; Dock Foster, of Cooleemee, cut about the head; Mrs. J. E. Donohoe, of Montgomery, Ala., cut about the face, and Manda Linder, negro, of Spencer, scratched by glass. It is stated at the hospital that their injuries are only slight and all will be able to return to their home in a few days. Those with minor injuries numbering a dozen or more went to their homes after the accident or continued their journey unattended.

Mt. Mitchell Was Cold.

Burussville, Jan. 3.—A new record has been brought to Western North Carolina by Mount Mitchell, highest Mountain peak east of the Mississippi, where a temperature reading of 25 degrees below zero was reached during the cold snap ushered in by the New Year. The reading, reported from the U. S. Forest Ranger station on the mountain, was said to have been the lowest in the South and possibly in the Eastern United States.

Mount Mitchell, towering 6,711 feet above sea level, is located in Yancey county, several miles from the county seat.

The Bareheaded Fad.

It is suggested by hat dealers in a recent issue of a trade journal that young men who go hatless should be informed that the habit is not conducive to college students, however, but some of them seem to be inviting the pneumonia bugs by their fondness for going bareheaded.

The hatless fad might have done very well in the caveman era, when the men grew a powerful mane of hair which would protect their heads cold. But in these days when they have their hair cut every week or so, nature's covering on the masculine head is too thin for cold weather anyway.

The custom of wearing hats probably is not due to any desire of men to decorate their heads, but to the feeling that the head needs a covering. A good hat is still one of the necessities of life.—Kingsport Times.

Has 7.416 Miles Finished Roads.

On the first of January North Carolina had 7,416 miles of roads partially or completely finished, a summary of this year's work of the state highway commission, the final tabulation for the year, given out shows.

Of this total 3,388 miles are hard surfaced, 88 gravel, and top soil untreated, 779 graded and drain but not surfaced, and 223 dirt roads. In addition to the state system. Six miles of strict county roads are used the year around.

Bond issues to date for road work in the state total $115,000,000. The expenditure on the highway system was taken over $140,000,000. Since the state road law was enacted the state has received $60,000,000 from gasoline and motor registration fees. These taxes have grown to $13,616,925 58 for last year and $7,000,000 for the first half of this fiscal year.

The man who boasts that he works with his head instead of his hands is respectfully reminded that the woodpecker does the same thing and is the biggest kind of a bore.

Scientists Nearly Froze.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 2.—A party of scientists who climbed Mt. LeConte as an epilogue to the convention of the American Association for Advancement of Science at Nashville, told shiveringly today of 20 degrees below zero weather, a sleepless night before a three foot log fire while the water froze in a bucket ten feet away, and of a abandoned automobiles whose tires had been frozen to the ground.

Which Appeals To You?

Every time you speak a good word for your town you speak two for yourself, for the home booster is always respected by home lovers.

It's an easy thing to make a nasty remark about your home town, but it is difficult to stop that remark from traveling after it has once been uttered.

The monkey in the jungle swings from limb to limb and from tree to tree at remarkable speed, but the monkey is a snail compared to the caustic remarks and comments of a chronic pessimist.

The monkey does not berate either the limbs of the trees, for they are his home—they mean safety and comfort to him. The pessimist, however, is not as considerate. His happiest moments are when he is "slamming" home town. Nothing is right. None of its numerous citizens possess the ability to perform civic duties in the proper manner. Other persons are unable to see the glaring defects that are so plain to him. He lives in darkness and radiates gloom. He is simply a pessimist, and the work of the pessimist is too often destructive.

But why a pessimist? Why not an optimist instead?

Pessimism is worse than rheumatism. The one puts a few joints out of proper working order, but the other is a drag to the mind, the body and the soul.

Station yourself on a street corner in a large city and watch the people go by for an hour. They are optimists unawares. The rays of the noontday sun are not warmer or brighter than their smiles upon their lips or the huminity in their hearts. The hundredth man be different. He may be the odd sheep in the flock, the cloud that dims the brightness of the community light. He is a pessimist and he knew it. His soul is shrouded in gloom from which he never seeks to escape. He is a bore ever to himself.

The pessimist never happy—the optimist is seldom sad. It is possible to be either, but never both. Which appeals to you?

One thing that it generally pays to put off until tomorrow is a visit to the bootlegger.

JESUS AND SINNERS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:1-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Forgives a Sinner.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Heals and Forgives.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Shows His Sympathy and Power.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus' Power to Make Whole.

1. Jesus Preaching the Word (vv. 1-2).

2. The surging crowd (v. 2).

3. So great was the crowd gathered about the house where Jesus was stopping that there was no room to receive them. As soon as it was noised about that Jesus was in the house, the multitudes gathered.

4. What Jesus preached unto them (v. 2).

5. He preached unto them the Word of God. He always preached the Word before He wrought miracles, for to make known the will of God was His supreme mission. Miracles were not an end in themselves, but to authenticate His work. The people came, some to be healed, and some out of curiosity. He gave them that which they needed, regardless of the motive which actuated their coming.

6. Jesus Forgiving Sins (vv. 3-5).

7. The man brought to Him was suffering from the dread disease of palsy, but his most deadly affliction was that of sin. This miracle was wrought by Jesus in confirmation of His message.

8. Faith coming to Jesus (v. 3).

9. The actuating impulse of the palsied man and the four friends who carried him was faith.

10. Faith overcoming difficulties (v. 4).

11. Though prevented by the crowd from coming to Jesus, they ascended the outer stairway and let the afflicted man down through the roof.

12. Faith rewarded (v. 5).

13. No word was uttered either by the paralytic or his bearers. Their action was enough. The paralytic got more than he expected. He desired healing of the body and he got bodily healing plus forgiveness of sins.

14. Jesus Answering the Scribes (v. 6-10).

15. Their objections (vv. 6, 7). They asked:

16. (1) Why does He thus speak? (2) Who can forgive sin?

17. They were entirely right in their reasonings that only God can forgive sin. Their blunder was in not perceiving Him to be God.

18. Jesus' answer (vv. 8-10).

19. He knew their inner thoughts and reasonings and manifested unto them His essential deity in that He had power to know their thoughts. He inquired, "Which is easier to say, to arise and take up thy bed and walk? Or to say, Arise and take up thy bed and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, He said to the sick of the palsy, I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house." He was willing that His power in the visible realm should be tested by His power in the visible.

20. IV. Jesus Healing the Paralytic (vv. 11, 12).

21. His healing was by the direct method—speaking the Word (v. 11). Christ's words are enough. With the command was given the strength to obey. That which Christ commands gives the strength to perform.

22. The obedience of the man (v. 12). He immediately arose, took up his bed and went forth before them all. The poor helpless man walked away with his bed upon his shoulder.

23. The people were amazed, and glorified God (v. 12). They said, "We never saw it on this fashion."

24. V. Jesus Eating With Publicans and Sinners (vv. 13-17).

25. The call of Levi (v. 14). Levi was a tax-gatherer under the Roman government. As Jesus passed by, He commanded Levi to leave his business and follow Him.

26. Jesus dining in Levi's house (v. 15). It seems that Levi, when he heard the Savior, invited many of his business associates to eat with him. This gave an opportunity to Jesus to come into touch with these sinners.

27. The perplexed scribes and Pharisees (v. 16). They asked, "How is it that He eateth and drinketh with publicans and sinners?"

28. Jesus' reply (v. 17). "They that are whole have no need of the physician. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

CARRIES DEAD WIFE ON 30-MILE DRIVE

Frightened Mate Brings Body of Bride to Mother.

Ottawa, Ill.—With the body of his girl-bride on the automobile seat beside him a few evenings ago, Louis Groves of South Ottawa, stunned with fear and grief, sped to the home of his parents at Granville, 30 miles away. Time and again as the car would swing around curves on the road that led through Peru and Spring Valley the body would roll off to the floor of the car. Without slackening the pace he would lift it back on the seat with his left hand, continuing to steer with his right.

Through the towns and villages through which he passed he narrowly missed running into pedestrians and vehicles, but he didn't even slow up. Only one thing was on his mind—to get to his mother as quickly as he could with his wife whom he was convinced had suffered some attack or stroke and was merely unconscious.

Townfolk Suspicious. He didn't know his wife was dead and that for the next 24 hours the townspeople would hold suspicions that he might have been responsible for her death and that it would take an autopsy and a coroner's jury to free him of that suspicion.

Late in summer Groves, who formerly lived with his mother at Granville, Ill., were married and took up their residence at South Ottawa, where the groom was employed by a furniture firm. The bride, a beautiful young woman, had just passed her eighteenth birthday a week before the wedding. She was a June graduate of the high school in her home town. The few months the couple lived in their cozy apartments was a real honeymoon, according to the neighbors.

A few evenings ago Louis came home from the store, ate supper with his wife, and then helped her with the dishes. He then went out to the garage to clean his car and was gone about twenty-five minutes.

When he returned to the house he found Mrs. Groves lying on the bed. He spoke to her and received no reply. Then he shook her gently and still there was no response. Her eyes were open but did not look at him. He became panic stricken. There was another family in the next apartment but his first thought and impulse was to go to his mother's home. He grabbed his overcoat and threw it about his wife and carried her to the car and was off for Granville.

It was nearly eight o'clock when he left South Ottawa and nine when he reached Granville. He was bewildered when he staggered into his mother's home, bearing his wife in his arms. He thought she was only unconscious as her body was still warm. His father immediately called a physician who pronounced her dead for more than an hour and a half.

The news of the woman's death quickly spread through Granville and many began to talk of suicide or murder. There was no sign of violence on her body, although her dress became soiled when she slipped down to the floor of the car. No evidence of acids or poison, but the story of such a sudden and mysterious death caused the state's attorney and coroner to take action.

Decide on Autopsy.

An autopsy was decided upon and this was held next day. Groves was questioned closely by the state's attorney, but stuck to his story. The autopsy, however, cleared the young man of suspicion, as the surgeon who performed it decided the young woman died from natural causes. All vital organs of the body were found normal except the thymus gland, which was enlarged to the size of an ordinary hand, and its action, called status lymphaticus, had pressed down on the heart until that organ ceased to function.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict according to the finding of the surgeon who performed the autopsy. The only doubt that was in their minds was why the husband did not call a South Ottawa physician instead of making the mad 30-mile drive to Granville. His own actions, when questioned, convinced the members that the finding of his wife, as he thought, unconscious, was such a shock to him that he was unable to act normally.

Baboons May Be Bred for Domestic Servants

London.—In case anyone should want a baboon to aid in certain household duties, such as dusting, sweeping and other simple tasks, it would take only 20 years of scientific breeding to render the animal sufficiently intelligent for this purpose.

This is the theory of Prof. Frederick Alexander Lindemann, professor of experimental philosophy at Oxford, as quoted by the marquis of Donegal, writing in the Sunday News. Regarding world progress in the next 50 years, Professor Lindemann believes that science will make the greatest strides on the physical and biological, rather than on the mechanical, side.

Car Peeved Him

East St. Louis, Ill.—Shades of departed horses had their inning when J. D. Emerson, becoming infuriated at his automobile, which stalled, beat in the hood and radiator and was arrested for disorderly conduct.

LONE PROSPECTOR ON RUBBER TRAIL

Texas Offers Best Chance of Supply of Plants.

Washington.—Backed by Thomas Edison, a quiet, one-man rubber exploration of the semi-arid lands in southwestern Texas and the adjacent territory in Mexico has been carried on during the last few weeks. Dr. J. N. Rose of the United States national herbarium was the "personnel" of the expedition and he has brought back to Washington a number of specimens of plants suspected of rubber-yielding possibilities.

"The plants I paid most attention to were those belonging to the milkweed and euphorbia or spurge families," said Doctor Rose. "The milkweed has long been known to have rubber in its milky juice, but so far it has not been found in paying quantities. The euphorbias include such familiar plants as the Christmas thorn and the poinsettia and are somewhat more distantly related to the Hevea, or Para rubber tree, now the chief source of our rubber."

"The most promising species I found was one member of the euphorbia group. A rough analysis of its latex made by a local chemist indicated a rubber content of 9 per cent. Whether this will be confirmed by more careful examinations in specially equipped laboratories I have, of course, no way of knowing just yet."

"Of course, sensational promises of great rubber plantations in Texas would be nothing but pipe dreams. Mr. Edison has made it quite plain, I believe, that what he has in mind in his present program is the development of a potential emergency supply which could be drawn upon if a war or other calamity should cut us off from the cheaper rubber of the tropics."

The Mexican part of Doctor Rose's expedition took him south along the gulf coast for about a hundred miles beyond the border. This was during the time of the recent abortive revolution; but Doctor Rose reports that this part of Mexico was not affected by the uprising and that in any case most of the region was uninhabited.

Follow Women, Improve, King's Doctor Advises

London.—Suggestion that men imitate their women folk was made by Lord Dawson of Penn, the king's physician, in a speech at the Royal Society of Arts.

"One of the best things we can do is to imitate our women folk," he said, "for not only have they added to the gladness of life by the beauty of their dress but a number of women have improved their physique out of all proportion to us males."

"Also another point worth noting is that it takes the modern girl far less time to dress and undress than it does the modern man. What would the Victorians have thought of a condition like that?"

Lord Dawson said he thought that anything which gladdens the heart of man adds to his health, and, therefore, he could not completely condemn alcohol "for it, too, plays its part of gladdening the human heart."

Quake Boon to Herring as Well as Fishermen

Cordova, Alaska.—Recent earthquakes off the Alaskan coast stirred up from the ocean's bottom great masses of shrimp spawn until it floated on the surface of bays and inlets like corn sirup. Attracted by the food the greatest runs of herring ever known here have come in from the depths. Herring feed largely on shrimp eggs and become very fat in a few weeks. Some hauls of nets have taxed fishermen's equipment, one casting yielding 700 barrels of fish. Pickled and dried salt herring in barrels is selling in Japan at record prices.

Skyscrapers Will Fall in 40 Years, Expert Says

New York.—American skyscrapers, if allowed to stand more than 40 years will certainly tumble down, says Sir Edwin Lutyens, British architect.

He says the methods employed in structural steel construction of giving the steel only a "coating of paint or one of mud and water" is where the danger chiefly lies as it gives little protection from atmospheric penetration.

Bids Dine for Buggy; Drives Away With It

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—There will be at least one buggy on the newly paved highways of Iowa next spring, drawn by a horse that is known as "some stepper."

Floyd Foss, who lives near Maynard, had a closing-out sale recently. Among the objects offered by the auctioneer was a four-wheeled buggy.

"What am I offered?" he cried. "One dime," roared some one in the crowd.

"Do I hear any more bids?" "You do not," replied the crowd in chorus.

"Sold," shouted the auctioneer, pointing an accusing finger at a man in the crowd. The buyer paid his dime, hitched a good-looking mare to the buggy and drove away.

IF GARVEY SAYS THEY CAN'T PASS THEY DON'T

New Road Blocked by Home of Football Star.

Scranton, Pa.—Johnny Garvey, hero of the Yale-Dartmouth football game and Old Eli's latest football luminary, came by his stubborn fighting spirit naturally.

Especially the stubborn part. That unshakable will to do that sent him crashing time after time through the Dartmouth line when every member of the big Green team was muttering, "He shall not pass"; that determination that he wouldn't and that conviction that he couldn't be stopped, are a natural heritage.

Stubbornness is an outstanding trait of the Garvey family, as witness what was going on at home while Johnny was booting the football around for his alma mater.

Garvey hails from the borough of Moosic, a suburb of Scranton. The road between Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, which passes through Johnny's home town, long has been described as one of the worst in the state. For years and years motorists have spilled more cuss words to the mile on this road than there are freckles on a turkey egg.

Then a new road was planned that was to provide a direct route over concrete. But the powers that be, even as the Dartmouth football team, reckoned without the name of Garvey.

Try and Get It. The Garvey homestead lay in the path of the proposed road. A Garvey had built the home 45 years ago, and a Garvey lived in it ever since. And when a Garvey makes up his mind to keep anything, whether it be a football or a three-story frame dwelling, try and get it from him.

When the new road was laid out a board of viewers appraised the property and set a valuation on it. This, the borough of Moosic claimed, was excessive and refused to pay. The borough officials have taken an appeal to the Superior court and have filed exceptions to proceedings which went on two years ago.

Meanwhile, the Garvey home stands on its original site.

The new road leads right up to its very back door, and there stops abruptly. In order to pass the Garvey barn a piece half the width of the road for the length of the barn was left out. In this niche the barn sets complacently as of yore. To pass the Garvey house the motorist is compelled to detour through a 15-foot alley running alongside the building.

The Pennsylvania department of highways has shown how it feels about the matter by posting a sign in front of the building at the point where the highway halts by reason of the obstruction and the detour begins, reading:

"This highway will be completed as soon as the Moosic borough authorities remove the house in the middle of the road."

Family Is Undisturbed. Members of the Garvey family, and especially Johnny's mother, are as unperturbed over the matter as they are over Johnny's successes on the grid-iron.

Mrs. Garvey is a quiet, motherly woman, happy in her boy's success, but seeing nothing in it over which to make a fuss.

She was asked how she felt that memorable Saturday afternoon when Johnny got his chance in the Dartmouth game and made good with such a vengeance.

"I was dusting around here in the living room," she said, "and I thought I'd see what was on the radio. I tuned it on and the first words I heard were 'Garvey's got the ball,' so I tuned it off quickly."

"When Bill (Johnny's father) came home he said, 'Did you hear about the game?'"

"I said, 'No.'"

"He said, 'Johnny made two touchdowns.'"

"But I didn't see anything to get much excited about in that. Oh, of course, I was glad he got his chance and made good. But it was," and she gave a deprecating laugh, "it was what I expected John to do. He's a fine boy in his classwork, as well as in football, and that means more to me than anything else."

And her brown eyes twinkled happily.

Kaiser Plans Theater of His Own at Doorn

Doorn, Holland.—The former kaiser is going into theatrical production. He intends to run his own private theater, now being built within the grounds at Doorn house, his residence.

The idea originated with his wife, Princess Hermine, who has long been dissatisfied with the dullness of Dutch village life and the lack of entertainment there in the evening for the invited guests, who are, becoming more numerous.

Performances by companies from the leading German theaters, especially Max Reinhardt's, are being arranged.

Drink Water to Help Wash Out Kidney Poison

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

"I was dusting around here in the living room," she said, "and I thought I'd see what was on the radio. I tuned it on and the first words I heard were 'Garvey's got the ball,' so I tuned it off quickly."

Parrots Made Trouble

Robinson Crusoe's two parrots which appeared in a film along with Crusoe's man Friday caused W. A. Wetherell, who produced the picture, to get into trouble with the police. After the film had been completed Mr. Wetherell took the birds to London and made pets of them, but they were noisy, and the neighbors objected, and the owner was summoned to a police court and fined $30 for harboring two lively nuisances.

How to Treat Colds Grippe and the Flu

In selecting a remedy for colds, grippe and influenza you should keep in mind the cause of these maladies; namely, a clogged condition of the intestinal tract. Any remedy that merely controls the symptoms but does not remove the cause cannot give you permanent relief.

as Hitchcock's Laxative Powder has become famous as the best of all corrective remedies for bad colds, grippe and flu. It removes the cause by thoroughly cleansing the bowels, relieving that clogged condition which forms a breeding place for the germs. Get a package at any drug store—only twenty-five cents.

STORY FROM THE START

Handsome, fastidious and wealthy—young St. Croix Creighton awaits his sweetheart at their trysting place. She is late, this ordinary little Pennsylvania Dutch girl, Meely Schwenckton. Despite her seeming innocence and ignorance, she succeeds in keeping him at a distance, to his chagrin. Meely, in the Schwenckton home, where she is boarding, is altogether unlike the girl who meets St. Croix clandestinely. She is the teacher in the neighborhood school, of which Marvin Creighton, St. Croix's brother, is superintendent. Meely learns that Marvin was to have married his cousin, a titled English lady, but, believing she was attracted by the Creighton wealth, had refused the alliance. It is the rumor that St. Croix is to take Marvin's place and marry the English girl. St. Croix's jealousy is aroused by Meely's report of an aged suitor for her hand. The girl cleverly deceives him into admitting he has no intention of marrying her. Marvin visits a school in his official capacity as superintendent.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

"But, you see, we modern teachers, we normal school graduates, do not believe in co-ul-clon and fawce. In my government of this school, for instance, I try to have all co-ul-clon come from within, not from without."

"I was acting out a play for them—Barrie's 'A Kiss for Cinderella.' I was at the ball—"

"Um-mm," he murmured. "Acting?" "Trying to."

"But you'll have these sectarian parents on your back! The plain people, you know, are horrified at the word 'acting.'"

"But I act everything I teach—history, spelling, grammar—it's the only way I can teach."

"Now, do you know I would like to see you act spelling?" "Well, you won't get a chance to!" "Look here! Don't you know what a county superintendent is?"

"Oh, don't!" "To you your superintendent should be as a god; one to whom you are but as a worm in wax, within his power to leave the figure or disfigure it," she dramatically recited a passage from "Midsummer Night's Dream," slightly adapted.

"Very well, then, how dare you cheek me and say you won't when I tell you to do a thing?" "Because I'd rather lose my job than have you sit there and laugh at me!"

"It's not for a mere superintendent," he shook his head humbly, "to laugh at a normal school graduate!—though I'm sure, Miss Schwenckton, that the normal school course does not include histrionics! I do know that much about normal schools! However, I congratulate you."

"On my—intelligent ideas about teaching?" "On your excellent acting." She stiffened with alarm. "But—but you've not seen it!" she objected.

"You're sure? By the way—what role were you going to play when I passed you on the road the other day dolled up like a comic valentine?" She caught her breath. "But—but you never looked at me! Do you see with your left ear?"

He laughed, rose abruptly, and held out his hand. "Good-by, Miss"—his eyes bored into hers like gimlets—"Schwenckton; I won't torture you any longer with my unwelcome presence!" "Good-by," she sighed with deep relief.

"But—a few questions before I go, if you don't mind." He took out a pencil and notebook. "Your class at Kutztown normal?" She could not answer that question offhand, apparently. "Wait a minute." She opened a drawer of her desk, took out her diploma and handed it to him. She had been prudently keeping this diploma at hand to be ready at need when he should call.

"Um-mm," he said thoughtfully, "two years ago. You didn't teach last year?" "No-no."

"Why not?" "Well—I was going to be married—but, strange as it may seem to you, I got jilted." He caught his lower lip between his teeth and stared at her. Then, with an abrupt nod, turned away and left the schoolroom.

"My G—g!" she thought, her hand pressed to her heart, "how much does he suspect?" It was, of course, her accent that betrayed her. She could perfectly disguise it when she adopted the extreme Pennsylvania Dutch dialect, but nothing short of that could hide the foreign touch of her speech.

She could only hope that her possession of this Kutztown normal diploma would throw him off the scent.

Meely and Mr. Schwenckton both loathed her uncleanliness; Meely feared her spying upon her; Sammy hated and resented her; Lizzie was afraid of her cold-blooded spite for the humiliating defeat the child had caused her; and Mr. Schwenckton was impatient to be rid of her so that he could bring home his daughter Nettie.

And at last, in spite of unsanitary conditions, and through the occasional conniving of Meely and the doctor to outwit Aunt Rosy and Mr. Schwenckton and air the house, Susie began to rally and the baby to pick up; and a week after they were brought down from the stuffy bedroom to the less confined atmosphere of the kitchen, Susie was almost as strong and blooming as she had ever been and the baby began to get fat.

Aunt Rosy was so reluctant to leave that Meely would have suspected her of having purposely prolonged Susie's

"But Nettie," Meely felt urged to warn the child, "a man in Mr. Creighton's position would never marry a girl in your—in our—place in life. So that your 'meeting up with him' would only mean unappiness for you—especially if he fell in love with you."

"But in them movies—" Susie interpolated. "All right, then!" retorted Nettie with sudden passion, "I'd sooner live three weeks with a swell gentleman that I could admire, than be respectable all my life with an old man like Pop! And I'd think more of myself for don't it, too!"

"Well, Nettie Schwenckton, if you ain't!" said Susie, only mildly scandalized; nothing could ever really rouse her to any show of feeling.

"Nettie," Meely experimentally remarked, "you know there's Mr. Marvin Creighton over at Absalom Puntz—there'd be some chance of your meeting him—and none at all, I should think, of your running into St.—Mr. St. Croix Creighton."

"Ach, that there county superintendent, he's a stiff! I often seen him a'ready and he didn't gimme no romantic feelings. He ain't nothin' like them movie actors—"

"The sound of steps on the kitchen porch interrupted her. "Pop's back a'ready," she said, with a glance at the clock whose hands pointed to ten. "He won't like it we're up so late."

She rose, yawned, and stretching wide her arms, revealed a beautifully developing young figure. Meely, looking at her, wondered whether, in case the girl's longing to meet St. Croix were ever realized, he would not find her even more irresistible than he was finding "Meely Schwenckton."

First "Topical Song" Sung by Frenchman

What purports to have been the centennial of American vaudeville was celebrated recently, and although much was said about the origin of this form of amusement, Olivier, "the fuller," a Frenchman, was left out of the picture. When Olivier was born, nobody knows, but in 1418 his booming voice went to the choir celestial on the cherubim circuit. Olivier was a poet as well as a fuller, and composed songs which he sang at his work. His songs were just frivol, yet they caught the public fancy. They were filled with hits on the foibles of the day, topical songs we would call them now. These then new lyrics, named in derision from the hamlet where Olivier lived in the valley of the River Vire, in Normandy, were called Valdevires, or Vauxdevires, and later Vaudevilles. Just as one might say today, sing us a Hicksville ballad, so fastidious Paris branded the songs of Olivier Baseelin, as of lowly provincial origin. Yet for 500 years the name has stuck, and is now considered more elegant than the American term, "variety."—John Walker Harrington, in the Smokers Companion Magazine.

Toys Thought Wonders

Less than 200 years ago, three quite ordinary, mechanical toys attracted great attention when they were exhibited. One was a figure that played the flute, another a tambourine player, and the third a swimming duck. Lifelike canaries that sing naturally when they are wound up are commonplace toys nowadays. The first of this type of toy was shown at the great exhibition of 1851 in England.

Need Law's Restraint

What a cage is to the wild beast, law is to the selfish man. Restraint is for the savage, the rapacious, the violent; not for the just, the gentle, the benevolent. All necessity for external force implies a morbid state.—Herbert Spencer.

"Say Susie, why did you marry Pop?" asked Nettie. "Ach—because."

"But why? Tell me! G'on." "Ach, well, because I did."

"Ach, Susie, you must o' had some reason."

"Ach, well, a body has to marry somebody."

"Why must you marry somebody?" "Well—if you don't want to be an old maid."

"Wouldn't you sooner be an old maid than married to Pop? I would! You couldn't o' been in love with Pop," said Nettie reflectively.

"Nettie Schwenckton, I do believe you think love is like in them movies! My sakes! That's only in them movies, Nettie. It ain't no such a thing for really!"

"But it is, too. I felt it myself a'ready!" "Ach, you just think you felt it because you seen so many of them movies whiles you was in town there with your gramma. But it ain't no such a thing for really. You only gotta look around you a little to see for yourself it ain't no such a thing."

"I won't get married," exclaimed Nettie, "unless I can meet up with such a fellow like Rudolph Valentino or Tom Mix or whoever! I wisht," she sighed longingly, "I could run into Mr. St. Croix Creighton—"

Meely looked up from her letters and watched the girl's childish, pretty face whose commonness was almost obliterated by the soft, dreamy ecstasy that lit up her vivid youth. "I seen Mr. St. Croix Creighton once or twice or so. Gee, he's some swell dresser! And ain't he a good looker! I wisht I could meet up with him!"

"Though this longing of Nettie's seemed as far as possible from immediate realization, that very night was to see it fulfilled.

"Say, Meely," Nettie appealed to the teacher, "did you ever see Mr. St. Croix Creighton?" "I—I think I did."

"You'd know it if you did! Gee, he's got the style to him! That," affirmed Nettie, "is the only kind of fellow can have me!"

Susie sniffed. "You hate yourself—I don't think! What makes you s'pose a high-stepper like him would take up with you yet? Good lands!"

"They do in the movies sometimes—when they fall good in love." "Yes, in them movies," Susie scoffed. "But, Nettie," Meely felt urged to warn the child, "a man in Mr. Creighton's position would never marry a girl in your—in our—place in life. So that your 'meeting up with him' would only mean unappiness for you—especially if he fell in love with you."

Mother! Child Gets Sick, Cross, Feverish if Constipated

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Fig Syrup" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious, "fruity laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing." Directions for babies, children of all ages and grownups are plainly on the bottle.

SPIRIT OF ENSEMBLE AND THE MODE

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

THE spirit of the ensemble has completely captured the mode, if it isn't the artist leather worker devising handbags to match our footwear, then it is the milliner who takes up the cue of establishing a relationship between something and something else, say a scarf, a bag, a belt, a kerchief, complementing, of course, these accessories with a matching chaparran.

Because of this harmony of the ensemble, which fashion demands, women in general have never presented a more obviously well-dressed appearance than they do at the present time.

Among the newest "sets" are hats and bags made of felt. Sometimes the very ambitious buy patterns which are easily available, and make their own hat and bag sets. If one happens to be clever at stenciling, or pyrography, or can paint and embroider, there is all the more incentive to undertake to make these match-felt bag—be sure to get a frame of bone or shell or some similar combination, for they are more fashionable than those of metal.

Our illustration features several very attractive matching hats and bags.

The same gold lace and filigree passementerie which appears on the dressy black velvet toque at the top of this picture to the left is repeated on the flap of its accompanying handbag which is also of black velvet.

The hat and bag set to the right at the top of the group is a French creation. An all-over patterning of somatuche braid distinguishes this ensemble.

Gorgeous gold and multi-color-brocade ribbon shows up handsomely in the set shown in the circle below.

The designer of the hat at the left ways. Here's a timely hint for the lug accessories at home, for felt is being worked in just such ingenious center in picture chose to create a very unique compose of scarf, perhaps shawl, more properly speaking, and hat. This fetching set sounds a Spanish note, not only in the flowery embroidery which appears on both hat and scarf, but particularly in the fall fringe which dangles from the edges of the scarf. The embroidery accents true Spanish coloring on a background of black crepe.

VELVETEEN APPROPRIATE FOR STUDENT OR OFFICE GIRL'S EVERYDAY OUTFIT

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Equally appropriate for the student at college or the girl who goes to an office every day, is this attractive costume of grayish green velveteen. Velveteen is a serviceable fabric, the bureau of home economics says.

Velveteen for Wear in Cold Weather.

It is made of cotton, set it is warm enough to wear until late in the fall without an extra wrap, and under an outer coat all winter. The dress illustrated is a two-piece model, and the coat is really the waist, for the tan blouse is only a vest. Corduroy,

Hints for Housekeepers

Scum on the surface of pickle brine indicates that the brine is too weak.

Fruits, vegetables and milk, are as important in the school child's lunch as any other foods.

A cash account to keep an accurate record of income and out-go, helps the housewife as well as anyone else.

Short stockings can cause almost as much trouble as short shoes. Get them half an inch longer than the feet to be sure of enough room for the toes.

Vegetables will keep their color when cooked if they are boiled in a small amount of water and cooked until they are just done, not a minute longer.

The cheapest health insurance is a sane way of living, with adequate rest and exercise, with the right variety and amounts of food and with plenty of fresh air and soap and water.

which is cotton fabric similar to velveteen but with a ribbed surface, might also have been used successfully in developing this costume.

The simulated blouse is made of beige cotton poplin. Pongee might have been used. Light tan gloves, hose and purse, harmonize with the blouse. A brown leather belt with a pearl buckle consists of green machine stitching in mercerized cotton. Chain stitch was used. Pin tucks would also be effective.

The skirt is slightly full at the sides and back and has three plaits in front to give additional walking and sitting room. It is set on an underwaist of lawn. The costume is completed by a small black hat and black shoes.

RECIPES THAT PLEASE THE WHOLE FAMILY

By NELLIE MAXWELL.

"We should encourage others by our faith and cheer, but we have no right to dishearten them by doubt and gloom."

If one desires a change from the ordinary catsup, this may be made at any time during the cranberry season.

Cranberry Catsup.—Take one quart of cranberries, one cupful of water and two cupfuls of vinegar. Tie in a piece of muslin a few cloves, three or four allspice, a tablespoonful of broken cinnamon and a bit of mace. Simmer all together until perfectly soft. Press through a colander, add one pound of brown sugar, simmer ten minutes longer, and seal.

Fine Fruit Cake.—Cream one pound of butter, add one pound of white sugar and when well blended add the yolks of six eggs; beat the mixture well. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites.

Sift seven cupfuls of flour and dredge two and one-half cupfuls of currants with a little of the flour, add five cupfuls raisins and one pound of finely shredded citron. Add one teaspoonful of soda to the flour, six teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of mace, three teaspoonfuls of cloves, three teaspoonfuls of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add the dry ingredients alternately with two cupfuls milk and one-half cupful of molasses. Fold in the fruit just at the last and add one pound of almonds, blanched and shredded. Steam two hours, then bake in a slow oven until thoroughly done. When the cake is cool wrap in waxed paper and place in a stone jar well covered. This recipe will make ten one-pound cakes, or large ones are better as they keep moist longer.

Oysters on Toast.—Pour boiling water over a pint of oysters, drain and chop them. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, turn in the chopped oysters, add salt and pepper and cook until done, but not toughened. Add two tablespoonfuls of powdered crackers, three-fourths of a cupful of cream, cook until hot and pour over toast.

When one has the main meal of the day served at noon, there is a feeling of need for a hot dish of some sort at night. Soups of various kinds will always fill that want, yet there are many kinds of foods which will serve well for a variety.

Baked Eggs.—To two cupfuls of rice potatoes, hot, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-third of a cupful of milk and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Beat vigorously three minutes, add one and one-half canned pinpointes finely minced and forced through a sieve; mix until well blended. Pile evenly on a buttered baking dish or platter and make six cavities. Drop into each an uncooked egg and bake until the eggs are set.

Shrimp Sauce.—Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter and add three tablespoonfuls of flour; mix well, then pour in gradually, while stirring constantly, one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water. Bring to boil and cook five minutes. Add three-fourths of a cupful of shrimps cleaned and cut into bits, one egg slightly beaten with pepper and salt to season. Serve poured over well-drained fish.

Pineapple Jelly.—Four two cupfuls of boiling water over half a cupful of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of gelatin soaked in two tablespoonfuls of water, then add one cupful of the pineapple juice drained from a can of pineapple and three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. When the mixture begins to thicken add one and one-third cupfuls of pineapple cut into cubes. Turn into a mold, dipped into cold water and put on ice to chill.

Brown Bread.—Take one cupful of cornmeal, one cupful of rye flour, two cupfuls of wheat flour, three cupfuls of sour milk in which is dissolved one teaspoonful of soda and one teaspoonful of salt. Beat one egg, add to the other ingredients with one-half cupful of raisins, one-half cupful each of sugar and molasses. Steam three hours. One-half this recipe will be enough for a small family.

Smoked Fish Canapes.—Cut stale bread into one-fourth-inch slices, remove the crusts and cut into oblongs four by three inches, then saute in olive oil until brown. Arrange on each slice lengthwise pieces of salmon—use two on each. Pipe round the edge a border of creamed butter, anchovy and lemon juice.

How to Make Good Cake Frosting or Icing Easily

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A cooked cake frosting or icing that always turns out well can be made very easily if the directions below, furnished by the bureau of home economics are carefully followed:

Vanilla Frosting.
1 cup granulated 1 egg white.
sugar. Pinch of salt.
4 tablespoonfuls cold ½ teaspoonful vanilla-water.

Put the sugar, water, and unbeaten egg-white into the upper part of a double boiler. Have the water in the lower part boiling. Commence heating the mixture with a dower egg beater at once and beat constantly while it cooks for about seven or eight minutes. It should then appear just like ordinary boiled frosting and should be almost thick enough for spreading. Take it from the stove and continue to beat about five minutes or until it has thickened. Add the vanilla. This is sufficient to ice a three-layer cake on the tops.

If the icing proves to be insufficiently cooked it may be placed in the double boiler and be recooked for a short time. Or if it is too stiff, add a small quantity of water and cook again.

For chocolate frosting melt two and half squares of unsweetened chocolate and pour into the above mixture just before removing it from the fire. Beat until thick and then spread. Vanilla is also used.

For caramel frosting caramelize half cupful of additional sugar, then add a few tablespoonfuls of boiling water. A thin dark sirup will result. Substitute about two tablespoonfuls of this sirup in place of two tablespoonfuls of water, or such an amount as will produce the desired flavor, and then continue as in making vanilla frosting, adding the vanilla last.

Prized His Whiskers

Leo III was the first pope to startle the world by the spectacle of a shaved pontiff. Gregory IV issued a papal bull which made shaving obligatory upon all priests. It is said that one bishop, presented with the alternative of parting with his luxuriant and treasured whiskers or his bishopric, chose to give up the bishopric.

HOME SEWING FOR SPRING AND SUMMER

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Spring sewing is not the bugbear it used to be. For one thing, few people expect to settle down to a fortnight of hard labor, either with or without a dressmaker by the day, in order to outfit the feminine members of the family for the summer months. As early as January the new spring and summer materials begin to appear in the stores, and the average woman who has a normal love of attractive and appropriate warm weather clothing for herself and her daughters, gets into the habit of picking up a dress length whenever she sees a pattern that she likes.

There is a bewildering array of cotton fabrics from which to choose this year. Styles are simple, and most of these materials are easy to work with. The majority of them have a firm, close weave and smooth finish, so that the home sewer can make rapid progress in cutting out and stitching up without much basting or other time-taking, fussy work. As fast as the new materials come home, they can be converted into pleasing dresses by utilizing odd hours. If you have a sewing machine, and a little sewing room, where you can leave half-finished work at short notice, and pick it up again when you have a bit of spare time, you will find that the spring wardrobe is completed as if by magic. Even a sewing corner in a room used for other purposes is satisfactory, if you have nearby a closet or chest of drawers for materials and partly made garments.

A generous supply of easily laundered cotton summer dresses costs but little and adds immensely to comfort and a sense of well-being during the hot months. For morning wear, the bureau of home economics suggests some of the printed materials in cheerful patterns, like zephyrs, or percales, or any of the numerous varieties of gingham, or crepe, madras, broadcloth, or cotton suitings. All of these are practical and suitable for plain household dresses, including the ever-useful bungalow aprons, and smocks; also for sports costumes or for business wear. The old idea that one couldn't go downtown on a hot day in a gingham or print dress has been abandoned. Don't limit your cotton dresses to the mornings only. Look over the tempting array of sheer fabrics like voile, plain and printed; charmeuse, batiste, dimity in dainty flower patterns, lawn printed in small figures dotted swiss, and tissue gingham. Afternoon dresses pretty enough for calling or for porch parties can be developed in any of these materials. For very special occasions and evening events, there is organdie in delicate pastel shades for the younger girls dignified voiles, net, and lace for those of mature years.

Italian Fascists Get Chance to See World

A young Italian who lately finished his university course and means to take up architecture as a profession has been one of the first to benefit by Mussolini's order that every Italian merchant ship should reserve two berths free on every voyage for young Italians desirous of seeing the world. They can choose their route and the extent of the journey, paying only about 18 or 20 lire a day. This brings "the grand tour" within the reach of the professional classes and will surely serve as a liberal education.

Upside Down Cake

Put in a skillet: ¼ C. Butter, 1 C. Brown Sugar, 1 C. Seeded Cherries, ¼ C. Raisins, 1 Egg, ¼ C. Milk, ¼ level tsp. Calumet Baking Powder, ¼ C. Flour. Mix as for any cake and pour in skillet over the above mixture. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Mrs. Bessie Mamie Foster Harris, wife of H. M. Harris, died Dec. 27, 1927 was laid to rest at Ephesus cemetery, Dec 29th at 10 o'clock. She was a devoted Christian, was always ready to go and worship her God, it made no difference how cold the weather, how far the journey, how dark the night, she was always ready to go. May God's blessings rest with the bereaved husband, Mrs. Eva Whitley and her children. She was loved by all who knew her. We are sorry to loose such a good Christian friend as Mrs. Harris. As it has been the world's loss, may it be Heaven's gain. Mrs. Harris will be missed by her friends and neighbors. God does all things well. Blessed are they that die in the Lord. Mrs. Harris was born Jan 13, 1883, was married Dec. 24, 1905 Mrs. Harris was Mr and Mrs. M. A. Foster's daughter, she being the only child.

Again - the Greatest Sensation of America's Greatest Industry

Again, Chevrolet has created an automobile so far beyond all expectations in the low-price field that it constitutes the greatest achievement of America's greatest industry.

Built on a 4-inch longer wheelbase—offering numerous improvements in performance, beauty and safety—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet marks a spectacular epoch in the development of luxurious transportation at low cost.

The engine is of improved valve-in-head design with alloy "invar strut" pistons... hydro-laminated camshaft gears... mushroom type valve tappets... AC oil filter... AC air cleaner and a new crankcase breathing system.

Throughout the entire car similar advancements are represented—from the four-inch longer wheelbase and the new semi-elliptic shock absorber springs—84% of the wheelbase, to the marvelously beautiful new Fisher bodies in new Duco colors.

Come in and drive this great new car. Drive it through traffic—and get the thrill of its darting pick-up... the smooth, certain action of its non-locking four-wheel brakes! Drive it on the open road—and test every point in the speed range for smoothness and roadability! Try it on the hills—and learn the true meaning of Chevrolet power!

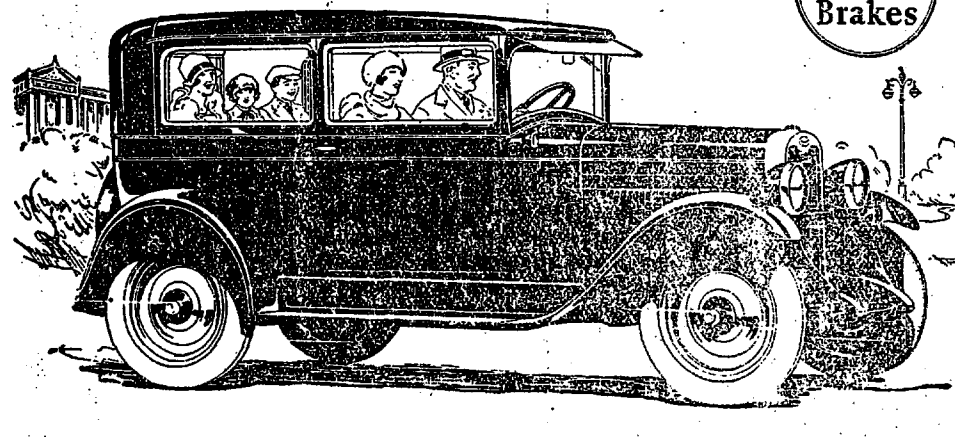

Do that—and you will agree with thousands of others that here is the world's most luxurious low-priced automobile.

NEWS OF LONG AGO.

What Was Happening in Davie Before The Days of Automobiles and Rolled Hoses

(Davie Record, Jan. 17, 1900)
Sheriff J. L. Sheek was in Winston last week on business.
Mrs. A. A. Tate, of Jerusalem, visited relatives in town last week.
Wiley S. Bailey, of Wadesboro, was in town last week.
License was issued last week for the marriage of D. M. Call to Ida Peacock, Glenn Koontz to Fannie Foster.

Mrs. T. B. Bailey's condition is somewhat improved and there is hope for her recovery.

There is almost an epidemic of pneumonia in and around Advance. Logs are being hauled to the Brown factory lot for the new furniture factory which will soon be in operation.

All of the students of the Misses Clements and Eaton school who spent Christmas at home have returned to their studies.

Lewis Bailey, of Cripple Creek, Colo., was in town Wednesday. Mr. Bailey left Davie county about 16 years ago for the West.

The smallpox case near Fork Church is reported much better.

Mr. John W. Smith, visited J. L. Sheek last week. Mr. Smith lives in Indiana. He left Davie in 1857, 42 years ago, when he was quite a young man. He says times are good in the west.

Uncle Mat. Boyer, an old colored man of Advance, died last Thursday. He was around 90 years old, and was well thought of by all in his community.

George A. Mabane, of Greensboro treasurer of the Cooleemee Cotton Mills, writes that his company has about completed its development at Cooleemee Falls and that the machinery will be shipped this month. This company intends to install an equipment of 25,000 spindles and 800 looms. The main building will be 104x422 feet in size and contract was awarded last spring. The dam developing the water power is 477 feet long.

Mrs. Henry Blake, of Advance, died night of pneumonia. She is survived by her husband and seven children. Earl Shutt also died Sunday night. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. C. Shutt, of Advance, and was a good boy well thought of by all who knew him.

Charles Orrell, of Yadkin College, was in Advance Sunday. There is something very attractive in Davie for Charlie, or at least Mr. Powell thinks so.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Green and little visited his sister, Mrs. Mamie Walker and Mrs. Lula Green near Jericho last week.

M. M. Kurfees started for Louisville, Ky., Friday after spending some time with relatives around Mocksville.

Miss May Rattledge, of Jericho, spent last week in town with her aunt, Mrs. John Curraut.

Corn is selling for 40c. per bushel, while wheat is bringing 75c. per bushel. Eason is 7c a pound and eggs 15c. per dozen.

Average Savings In America Is $220.

Equal distribution of the nation's total savings deposited in banks would give each person in the United States $220, the American Bankers association announced this week. At the end of June $26,000,000,000 was reported on deposit in saving accounts, an increase of $1,368,094,000 over the 1926 aggregate total.

New York led all other states in the per capita deposit increases with a gain of $43. Rhode Island was second with $34, and Massachusetts third with $33. More than 82 per cent of the total gain was in New England and the middle Atlantic states, the report showed.

Judge Hays Confirmed.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The appointment of Judge Johnson J. Hays was confirmed by the senate this afternoon. The speed limit was exceeded somewhat by this achievement. It is customary to permit such committee reports to remain in cold storage at least overnight, but there was a feeling that the new judge of the middle district had it coming to him, so the full judiciary committee authorized Senator Overman, chairman of the subcommittee, to report the nomination favorably to the senate, the North Carolina senator got an agreement from Senator Curtis, the majority leader, to hold an executive session for the benefit of the North Carolina jurist, and the nomination was approved by unanimous consent, under suspension of the rules.

Is History Repeating.

Last spring when the flood waters swept the country from Saint Louis to the Gulf, it was a terrible thing and those hit realize it. They know when the flow came all that could withstand and saved the day is preparedness. There are people that for a long time looked for and worked and planned against the oncoming tide of Sunday law Religious legislation. But in spite of the most earnest efforts State after State have been inundated till the nation itself is in danger. Through legislation which Congressman Langford, of Go., so he has said, determined to bring forward as soon as congress opens, now it is on. It is Bill H. R. 28, a bill for the District of Columbia in turn is to be made the basis of an effort to enforce nationwide Sunday keeping. Thousands in fact the vast majority of the common folk are opposed to Sunday Laws as soon as they understand just what is involved. But to those who do not think deeply and to whom the subject has never been explained religious laws seems plausible and desirable. What the public needs is information, instruction and knowledge concerning the workings of Sunday laws in the past and the principles involved in their passage. What the public needs to see is that Sunday laws overthrow one of the most vital principles of the American government, viz: That every man has the right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, when and where he pleases, so long as he does not interfere with the equal rights of his neighbor. What the church needs to see is that religious legislation does not stop with Sunday laws but that once the precedent is established, religious laws may be enacted. Powerful church combinations will force the conscience by securing many other laws to bolster up religion. Thus the boomerang which the ardent Sunday keeper launched forth with intent to punish his Sunday breaking neighbor, may return to wound him. What is the history of the past? Of the Inquisition? Of our own Colonial history; when they burned good women for wiches and drove the father of religious liberty of America out in the cold to freeze (Roger Williams) Bewars of the first step. If bigoted, decadent protestantism does the things that R. me did, won't it be as bad. Let us not unite church and state, but heed the Master and render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's. If we love God with the whole heart it is our delight to obey His commands and do our neighbor as we would that he should do to us. We seem to forget the past and stand ready to follow Rome and why. All this nation's fathers, Washington, Jefferson, Madison and others knew what was safe and wrought well. Let us keep the conscience free. God himself never compels to his service. May the tide be stayed till the gospel work is done and the Beast of Rev 13:12, not exercise his power yet. Protestants are getting too friendly with Rome, is the opinion of J. P. BURTON.

Justice Goes It Blind.

Larry Newsome, the negro brute who murdered the Wayne county girl on December 8, and was sentenced to die in the electric chair on January 13, for his atrocious crime gets a lease of life through the action of a little two by four attorney of Goldsboro who has taken an appeal to the Supreme court. He has no ground whatever for a new trial, it is only to prolong the life of the in human form. And to add insult to injury the negro's lawyer appealed the case in forma pauperis, the lawyer notifying the court that the negro's relatives had no funds to prosecute the appeal and the taxpayers of the State will have to foot the bill.

Is it any wonder that the relatives of the poor slain girl made an attempt to do violence to this human fiend in the Goldsboro courthouse that memorable Sunday? If the lawyer is to be floated in this manner no wonder there is an effort to resort to lynch law. Governor McLean and the other government before him have promised that speedy justice shall be done to the violators, of women and children and when a speedy trial is held and the felon gets his just deserts some little jack leg lawyer is allowed to defeat the ends of justice.

By the time the Supreme court reaches this negro's case he will be "observed" by the convenient Raleigh alienists, he will see the shadow of the electric chair across his path and insanity will be the next step and in all probability he will get by with it and justice will again be mocked!—Union Republican.

Explosion Kills 21.

West Frankfort, Ill., Jan. 9.—Twenty-one miners were killed outright in a gas explosion which wrecked a one mile chamber in the Industrial Coal company's mine No. 18 here today. The bodies, burned and mutilated by the force of the blast, were found late today and identified by the numbers on the safety lamps attached to their clothing.

Rupture Shield Expert Coming to Winston-Salem

ON Tuesday and Wed. Jan. 24th and 25th AT Zinzendorf Hotel From 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Evenings by Appointment TWO DAYS ONLY No Charge for Consultation.

Mr. C. F. Redlich, the successful expert says: The "Perfect Retention Shields," hold the rupture perfectly no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief, contract the opening in a remarkably short time and strengthen the weak tissues (the real cause of rupture) so that they frequently recover their previous natural retaining power needing no further outside support. Stomach trouble, backache and constipation often caused by Rupture promptly disappear.

Truly remarkable results have been obtained with recent and not yet fully developed ruptures and many old ones also. No legstraps or elastic belts are used. Can be worn while bathing and are highly sanitary, being impervious to sweat. Letters from highly satisfied clients available. Advertisers mail order contraptions as well as elastic belts with chafing, filthy legstraps ate absolutely worthless. Call on me and I will show you. Results on children are 95 per cent. favorable. Business engagements prevent visiting any other city in this section. C. F. Redlich, Rupture Appliance Expert, Home office 718 714 Grosse Blvd. 6th and Spring Sts., Los Angeles, Calif.

We know of at least one person who believes in doing Christmas shopping early.

Two weeks from tomorrow is a big day all over the United States—it is ground-hog day.

If anyone must get drunk once in a while it seems that they should at least choose some other day besides Sunday.

Governor McLean says that George Ross Pou is a fine prison superintendent. We want to know what The Union Republican thinks about this.

Many big Democratic leaders say that if Al Smith is nominated for president, the Democratic party will be killed. Brethren, how can you kill a thing that is already dead?

Nothing has been said recently about the Davie county fair for 1928 but we suppose it will be no secret to publish the fact that Davie will have a bigger and better fair this fall than ever before.

The Record is not particular who the Republican convention nominates for president at Kansas City next June so he is a good honest man. There are a number of strong men who would not run away from the nomination, among them being Lowden, Hoover, Dawes and others.

Politics is all right in its place as the late Sam Jones said about liquor, but there are a number of places where it pays to keep the soft pedal on when it comes to talking politics. The man who depends on the public for a living cannot deal in partisan politics and make a success at anything else. It has been tried.

We notice in our favorite newspaper where a Craven County farmer cleared $2,000 on a 70-acre farm last year growing cattle. Why should the dear public continue to worry about the farmer starving to death. If a Craven farmer can clear $2,000 a year on a 70 acre farm, how much can a Davie farmer clear on a 50 acre farm?

Davie county needs three hard-surface roads to connect us up with our neighboring counties of Rowan, Yadkin and Davidson. This county has but thirteen miles of concrete highway. It seems that we have received but little permanent road from the state. The money will soon be gone and Davie will be left in the mud. The highway from this city to the Iredell county line has been graded and the contract for the hard-surfacing of this road will be let Jan. 26th.

The good Democratic ladies in North Carolina who now march up to the polls and vote are reminded that just ten years ago last week the women's suffrage amendment was passed by Congress. They should also remember that ten Democratic Congressmen from North Carolina voted on this amendment and nine of them voted against letting the women vote. The only Democratic Congressman from this state voting in favor of women was Mr. Weaver, of the 10th district. And yet the good ladies vote for the crowd that did all they could to prevent their voting. A strange world indeed.

The year 1928 is going to be just what the majority of the people want it to be. We see no reason why business should not be good this year despite the fact that a president must be elected this fall. Why a presidential election year should have such a demoralizing influence on business is something we haven't yet been able to figure out. The country is going to keep growing—people are going to keep on eating, working and spending money for automobiles regardless of who is elected president. What we need to do is to work and boost our country more and talk less politics. Talk doesn't accomplish much these days—it takes work.

Gray followed immediately and he was pronounced dead at 11:14 p. m. They were sentenced to death last year for the murder of Mrs. Snider's husband. The woman went to the chair crying out, "Forgive them, Father, for they know not what they do." A Catholic priest had murmured a ritual as Mrs. Snider died and Gray was accompanied by a protestant minister.

Democrats To Meet In Houston.

Washington, Jan. 12.—After deciding to take their party convention into the solid south this year for the first time in history, democratic leaders from over the nation came together tonight at a Jackson day dinner designed to harmonize the difference that made for party tragedy at the Madison Square Garden Convention in 1924. The convention will be held in Houston, Texas in June. The editor of the Charlotte Observer thinks the Democrats will nominate a man for president this year who will be elected. The editor of The Record thinks the Observer editor is talking to keep his courage up.

Mr. Brown, of the Davie Nursey, whose barn was destroyed by fire last week, tells us that he believes the fire originated from defective electric wiring. In addition to the mules, harness, wagon and feed destroyed three young yearlings were also burned to death. The cows made their escape from the burning building.

GIRLHOOD TO MOTHERHOOD

Iowa Woman Found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Always Helpful

Vinton, Iowa.—"When I was seven years old I had to stay at home from school, I finally had to quit school, I was so weak. I suffered for about two years before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, then I picked up one of your books and read it. I began taking the medicine. Now I am a housekeeper with six children, and I have taken it before each one was born. I can't tell you all the good I have received from it. When I am not as well as can be I take it. I have been doing this for over thirteen years and it always helps me. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell everyone I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me."—Mrs. FRANK SELLENS, 610 7th Avenue, Vinton, Iowa.

Many girls in the fourth generation are learning through their own personal experiences the beneficial effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mothers who took it when they were young are glad to recommend it to their daughters.

For over half a century, women have praised this reliable medicine.

A Sure, Safe Way To End Baby's Cold

"When my baby was 18 months old," writes Mrs. Estell Graham, Rt. 215, Tippecanoe, Miss., "he was very sick with a bad cold. He would cough and cough until he got so weak he could hardly get up. I tried syrups and other baby medicines and they didn't do him any good. Finally I started him on Teething Tablets and within a short while he was as well and playful as ever.

"Next, Mother! At the first sign of a cough or cold give baby Dr. Moffet's Teething Tablets. Head off trouble at the start. A mother in time will save you so much anxiety later on.

"Teething contains nothing that can harm the most delicate system. It safely and positively removes all poisonous waste from the stomach, neutralizes excessive acid conditions, regulates the little liver and bowels, and helps baby build up the strength needed to quickly throw off a cold. Physicians and nurses recommend Teething Tablets. All druggists sell it. Price 50c.

A Mother's Health is of Great Importance

Augusta, Ga.—"After motherhood my health failed completely. I was left with a case of feminine trouble. I was so weak and nervous that I could scarcely move, my back ached and I suffered a great deal of distress and pain. I was a physical and nervous wreck when I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. But by the use of this wonderful medicine I was entirely relieved of all my feminine trouble and restored to health and strength. It gave me a new lease on life."—Mrs. W. B. #### JESUS AND THE LAW

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:18-3:6.
GOLDEN TEXT—Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets. I am not come to destroy but to fulfill.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Doing Good on the Lord's Day.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How to Use the Lord's Day.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Obeyed the Law.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Declares the Higher Law.

1. Jesus and Fasting (vv. 18-22).
1. The questions asked (v. 18).
The scribes and pharisees seeing Jesus eating with the publicans and sinners, raised the question as to why He did so. When Jesus heard their question He declared, "They that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick." Another question was then asked as to why Christ's disciples did not fast when the disciples of John and of the pharisees did fast? John the Baptist was now in prison, therefore his disciples were mourning for him.

2. Christ's answer (vv. 19, 20).
In explanation He raised the question, "Can the children of the bride-chamber fast while the bridegroom is with them?" He then declared that as long as they have the bridegroom with them they cannot fast. The time will come, however, when they would fast. He is now away. Fasting, therefore, is appropriate.

3. New wine in old bottles (vv. 21, 22).
The bottles mentioned here were made of skins of animals. In the fermentation of the wine there was expansion which stretched the skin. To put new wine in the bottle after it was stretched would cause it to be rent, as under when fermentation took place. The same thing, in principle, would be realized if new cloth were used on old garments. The teaching designed was to show the foolishness of imposing old customs on the new age.

The Disciples Plucking Ears of Corn on the Sabbath (Mark 2:23-28).

1. The charge made against the disciples (vv. 23, 24).
Perhaps they were on their way to the synagogue to worship when they plucked the ears of corn. For this act the pharisees accused them of lawlessness.

2. Jesus defends them against the charge (vv. 25-28).
(1) He cites a precedent (vv. 25, 26). He showed them that the very law which they charged the disciples with breaking recorded the fact that David the great king of Israel had gone into the house of God and eaten the bread which should be eaten only by the priests.

(2) He shows the nature of a Sabbath law (v. 27).
The Sabbath was made for man, therefore its right use is to be determined by the good of man. The laws of honesty, truth, purity and love differ from the law of the Sabbath and there is no circumstance or condition under which they may be departed from.

(3) Jesus is the Lord of the Sabbath (v. 28).
It was He who instituted it when creation was finished, therefore He had a right to use it as it pleased Him for man's good.

Jesus Healing a Man's Withered Hand on the Sabbath (3:1-6).

1. The place—the synagogue (v. 1).
Jesus' example shows what He did on the Sabbath. He went to the place of worship. The presence of the man with a withered hand gave Jesus an opportunity to administer a rebuke to the pharisees.

2. The pharisees watching (v. 2).
They knew that Jesus would be interested in this helpless man. They surmised that some work would have to be performed to heal him.

3. The man made an example (v. 3).
Jesus wanted the case to be open to all, so He commanded the man to stand forth where all could see him.

4. The question asked (v. 4).
"Is it lawful to do good on the Sabbath day, or to do evil, to save life, or to kill?" He made the issue clear; He plainly showed them that to fail to do good, to show works of mercy, to save life, is to be guilty of wrongdoing, even of murder.

5. The man healed (v. 5).
Christ healed him by speaking the Word, so they could not accuse Him.

6. The result (vv. 4, 6).
The pharisees were silenced. There was no ground upon which to accuse Him. But since their hearts were bent upon His destruction they sought how they might put Him to death.

Effect of One Sin

Where one sin has entered, legions will force their way through the same breach.—Rogers.

Obedience

Obedience means marching right on whether we feel like it or not.—D. L. Moody.

Christian Religion

The Christian religion is not taught; it is caught from some one who has it.—Inge.

Where Swatters Are Taboo

In Ukraina, the southern Russia province, superstitious natives hold the common house fly in reverence and make no effort to kill the pest. Many persons regard the fly as a sacred animal.

Jaywalk Into Cars

Five per cent of the automobile accidents of the country are caused by persons who walk into the sides of moving machines. Like automobiles running into the sides of trains.

NEW WHIPPET CAR A MOTOR MARVEL

One of the sensations in the automobile world is the perfected "Whippet" produced by the Willys-Overland, Inc., and it is direct evidence that John N. Willys, president of the corporation, proposes to make good on his declaration that "there can be no monopoly in the light car field." The perfected car, and the price at which it is offered, placing it directly in competition with the lowest priced cars, has centered the eyes of the automobile industry and the motor car world in general on the enterprising Toledo manufacturer. It makes him the first manufacturer of automobiles to enter the price field heretofore exclusive to but one light car manufacturer.

The "Whippet," which has been in production for more than 18 months, holds the national fuel economy record of 43.28 miles to the gallon in a test between Los Angeles and New York City, covering a distance of 3,559 miles, under official observation of the A. A. A. In a speed test on Rockingham Speedway, Salem, N. E., "Whippet" recently attained a speed of 71.6 miles an hour over a 50-mile route. This was officially timed.

The same engine that has accomplished these records is the power plant employed in the perfected "Whippet," now offered at the lowest price in the history of Willys-Overland. The "Whippet" was the first light car to be equipped with four wheel brakes, setting a new trend in the light car field. The braking area of the "Whippet's" brakes is greater than any other light car.

Details of the perfected "Whippet" disclose a wider range of colors, employment of full crown fenders, a new cadet sun visor that imparts a smart military effect, and the addition of automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, and a combination rear driving light and stop light. These additions make the "Whippet" the most fully equipped light car built in the four cylinder field.

Life's Added Problems

Life is becoming more mathematical every day. We are now urged to count our blessings before eating, our calories while eating, our change after eating and our sheep while going to sleep.—Kansas City Star.

Opportunity

Next thing for scientific breeders to do is to cross the carrier-pigeon with the parrot so that messages can be delivered verbally.—Wall Street Journal.

Various Trades Offer Occupation to Blind

Blind men are employed in many engineering factories. In one German electrical concern, says the annual report of the National Institute for the Blind, more than one hundred sightless people are employed, while double that number are being trained. Blindness, it is said, is no hindrance to a man looking after two or even three automatic machines. The average earning capacity of a blind operator in these works is considered to be about 80 per cent of that of a normal-sighted man.

Ninety blind persons employed in French engineering trades earn about 85 per cent of full wages. A motor factory in America employs 44 blind men, who are given the work for which they seem most competent.

Nature's Economy

Inventions during the next two or three centuries will, in the opinion of many experts, probably be in the direction of imitations of the wonderful economy and the simple, direct methods of nature. Take the electric eel as an example. Its electric organ is in no sense a storage battery, but a contrivance by which electric energy is liberated at the moment when it is required. At rest, the organ shows so small an electromotive force that a good galvanometer is required to detect it, but a sudden nervous impulse from the eel's spinal cord raises a potential of many volts, with very little heat, and so small an expenditure of matter as to defy the most expert chemist to weigh it. Fireflies, glow-worms and many deep sea fishes produce light without heat, at a cost which would make the price of a wax candle an extravagant outlay.

Feet and Talking

It's the fellow who can't talk on his feet who puts his foot in his mouth when he tries.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Grandfathers on Vacation

Fifteen grandfathers, whose ages totaled 1,200 years, recently enjoyed their annual two-weeks' vacation together at Littlehampton, England. They are members of the Browning Hall Grandfathers' club of London. The oldest in the party was eighty-four and the youngest seventy.

Correct the Fault

Whatever you dislike in another person take care to correct in yourself.

Migratory Bird Treaty

A resident of Ohio, who had previously raised wild fowl under a federal permit, but failed to submit the required report of operations and continued to make sales and shipments without renewal of the permit, was arraigned in Federal court at Toledo, Ohio, found guilty, and fined $300 and costs.

To engage in the business of rearing and selling migratory waterfowl, says the bureau of biological survey, United States Department of Agriculture, it is first necessary to obtain a permit from the secretary of agriculture and then to comply with all requirements of state law.

Lets the World Go By

For the seventy-fourth consecutive season, Mrs. Richard T. Auelmuthy of New York has arrived at her summer home, the Dormers, on the Lenox-Pittsfield road. She has never owned an automobile, has no listed telephone, no electric lights, no steam heat in her villa, nor a radio. She prefers to drive over the wooded roads in an open victoria. Glowing fagots in her fireplaces and kerosene lamps furnish heat and light. She is in her ninetieth year.—Boston Globe.

Not That Sick

Girl—I want a nice book for an invalid.
Librarian—Something religious?
Girl—No, not now. He's convalescent.

Cure for Optimism

The neurologist says optimists live longer than pessimists. They might if they didn't have such sublime faith in loose brakes.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Hen Lays Twin Eggs

A hen in Ulster lays two eggs at a time, sometimes three. The owner explains this by saying that the hen, a last year's pullet, had sunstroke when a month old. Since it has grown up the hen has on four days a week laid two eggs at a time, and has twice laid three.

Apotheosis of the Pancake

Sign in restaurant window—"Watson of Class and Distinction."—Boston Transcript.

Canadian Lakes Beautiful

Among the seven reservations set aside by the government of Canada in the Rocky mountains there is none more beautiful than Waterton Lakes National park, which lies on the eastern slope of the Rockies where these mountains approach the international boundary. The park forms a rough square with a long L-shaped section added to the east, the whole having an area of about 220 square miles.

Newest American Sport

Critic-baiting has become an ever-rarer and more typical American sport than framing prize fights or fixing horse races and championship baseball games. The man who practices professional criticism in this year of our Lord lives constantly in a metaphorical gashouse district, his head and seat in imminent prospect of hash and boot.—George Jean Nathan in Vanity Fair.

Profit by Past Errors

The past is gone, and gone forever. You may learn by your mistakes, but do not be guilty of the sin of constantly worrying over them. Turn your face toward the future. Give your mistakes and blunders a decent burial in the past, and let the memory of them furnish you with implements of industry by which you may operate the gold mine of future possibilities.—Exchange.

Fowls in Biblical Times

Partridges are noted in the Old Testament. The fatted fowl (1 Kings, 4:23) is interpreted as either goose or duck. Cocks and hens were brought from Persia two or three centuries before Christ. A tomb at Marissa of about 200 B. C. has a good representation of a crowing cock. Sparrows and other "twittering birds" were also used for food.

Big 4-wheel Brakes—more braking surface per pound of car weight than any other light car. You can stop from 40 miles an hour within 51 feet.

Rear Gasoline Tank—for utmost safety—with vacuum fuel feed. This costs more to build, but is much safer.

Increased Speed—Whippet superiority is also expressed in greater—and safer—speed; 55 to 60 miles per hour, and many owners say 65.

Greater Gasoline Economy—Whippet holds the A. A. A. Coast-to-Coast economy record of 43.28 miles per gallon.

Other Important Features—164 inches of springs, full force feed lubrication, faster acceleration, silent timing chain, longer leg room, adjustable steering wheel, lower center of gravity, single plate clutch, longer connecting rods, banjo-type rear axle housing with removable shaft, are among the many quality car features of the Whippet.

The BABY

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night? If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic; or constipation; or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. The doctor often tells you to do just that; and always says Fletcher's. Other preparations may be just as pure, just as free from dangerous drugs, but why experiment? Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold!

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Bunyan Tercentenary Preparations are being made for a national celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the birth of John Bunyan, which takes place this year. A pageant in honor of the event will, it is expected, be performed all over England.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on Musterole. Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

Sylvia of the Minute

By HELEN R. MARTIN

STORY FROM THE START

Handsome, fastidious and wealthy—young St. Croix Creighton awaits his sweetheart at their trysting place. She is late, this ordinary little Pennsylvania Dutch girl, Meely Schwenckton. Despite her seeming innocence and ignorance, she succeeds in keeping him at a distance, to his chagrin. Meely, in the Schwenckton home, where she is boarding, is altogether unlike the girl who meets St. Croix clandestinely. She is the teacher in the neighborhood school, of which Marvin Creighton, St. Croix' brother, is superintendent. Meely learns that Marvin was to have married his cousin, a titled English lady, but, believing she was attracted by the Creighton wealth, had refused the alliance. It is the rumor that St. Croix is to take Marvin's place and marry the English girl. St. Croix' jealousy is aroused by Meely's report of an aged suitor for her hand. The girl cleverly deceives him into admitting he has no intention of marrying her. Marvin visits school in his official capacity as superintendent and discovers how shockingly little Meely knows about school teaching.

"No," she decided, "for he is really fastidious and Nettie's a hopelessly common little thing. And yet, if he can stand me and the dope I hand out to him—"

She did not know, however, that St. Croix, to his own wonder, never felt that she was "common" or vulgar; not even when she manifested the intelligence of a sheep or twisted the English language until his nerves were rasped; not even when she sat sprawling ungracefully with her feet far apart, nor when, after tasting an apple, she drew the back of her hand across her mouth.

It was just when, relieved of Aunt Rosy's espionage, Meely was beginning to feel, in spite of the dangerous proximity of Marvin Creighton, more at her ease, less insecure in her equivocal position, that, on that very evening when she sat in the warm, bright kitchen, peacefully writing letters, she was to find the complexity and precariousness of her situation greatly increased by the outcome of an episode which was, at that same hour, in its incipency on a Sunbury street corner, eight miles distant.

Mr. Sam Schwenckton, having finished the business which had taken him to town, was about to enter his car parked on the edge of the town, and start for home, when a man standing on the corner, apparently waiting for a trolley car, approached him.

"Pardon me—how often do these cars run?" the man inquired in a tone of extreme irritation. "I've been waiting here twenty minutes!"

"It don't run no cars on this line after seven o'clock, Mister. This here trolley line ain't doin' much business anyhow, so it stops till seven a'ready. You must be a stranger here—ah!—or you'd o' knowed that."

"No—but I seldom use the trolley. Today, however, I had to leave my automobile at the repair shop. Are you, by any chance, driving out this road?"

"Yes, eight mile out." "Will you, then, for a consideration, let me go with you?"

Now as the night was raw and wet, it would, Mr. Schwenckton felt, be only a Christian act to offer this stranger a seat in his car. Also, he liked company, some one to talk to on an eight-mile drive. But the newspapers were so full of holdup stories—and he was carrying a good deal of money—wouldn't he be taking chances? The man looked so decent, however (what could be seen of him in the dimness) and Mr. Schwenckton had, as always when he traveled at night, brought his revolver with him—He felt in his pocket and surreptitiously moved his pistol from his right-hand pocket to his left.

In my chest and it near give pneumonia yet! Yes, anyhow!" The stranger made a sound expressive of his sympathy. For a while they drove in silence.

"Funny thing happened in the bank today," Mr. Schwenckton resumed conversationally. "When I went in to get a check cashed—" He stopped short in consternation—how tactless to mention having cashed a check!

"What was it?" asked his companion. "Not much—a dollar or so. I spent it," said Mr. Schwenckton pointedly. "I mean what was the funny thing that happened?"

"Oh, that! Well, a lady standin' alongside of me in the bank she handed in a check and the banker he said to her, 'What denomination?' and she says sort of snappy, 'Well,' she says, 'I'm a Presbyterian, but I don't see what business it is of yours,' she says."

The laugh in which they joined over this yarn seemed to establish between them more confidence. Mr. Schwenckton, always warm-hearted, was sorry he had been feeling so suspicious of a fellow man and tried to atone by being as friendly as possible.

"Was you ever to New York, Mister?"

"Yes." "That's a place I never seen. But my brother he was always set on seein' this here New York once, that you can read so much about in the papers. So at last his missus she says to him, she says, 'Pop,' she says, you're gettin' on in life and if you don't go soon to this here New York, you'll be too old to go.' So, then, he said he'd go once. So she helped him get ready and start off. 'Now, mind you, write,' she says to him, 'and tell me how you like it.' So after a couple of days she got such a pitcher come card from him and he'd wrote on it, 'Morn, YI, YI, YI! Pop.'"

Again their joint laughter seemed to bring them sympathetically close.

Since leaving the lighted town, the road had been very dark, for the night was cloudy and starless.

"Where do you want out, stranger?" Mr. Schwenckton presently inquired. As he spoke, he took his hand from the steering wheel to have a glance at his watch—and as he did so, the man beside him gave an uneasy start.

With a shock of some horror, Mr. Schwenckton's fingers found an empty pocket where his watch should have been! Instantly he stopped his car and jerked out his revolver. "Now, then, you hand out that there watch and then you run for your life!" he shouted.

The man obeyed with alacrity, thrusting the watch into the farmer's outstretched hand, leaping from the car and disappearing in the blackness of the road.

Mr. Schwenckton, greatly shaken by so narrowly escaping being handed by a thug, his soul heavy with sadness at the desperate wickedness of man, went on his solitary way, musing on his own folly in having let his kindness of heart get the better of his prudence.

"It ain't safe to take up strangers these days—that it ain't! And me, I was always too trusting that way! Well, this here's certainly a lesson to me! Be kind to your fellow-creatures, yes—up to the danger point. That's all the further a fellow darst be a Christian these days!"

His despair over the perfidy of our human nature deepened as he reflected upon the "gentility" of the thief: his "nice" voice, his "educated" speech, his "polite manners"—what with his "Beg pardon," "Thank you very much—"

"A slick one, he was! I can't never trust no one's appearances again!" thought Mr. Schwenckton with a sorrowful shake of his head. "That's the worst harm a crook does—he spreads abroad a mistrust of man made in the image of Gawd!" Fifteen minutes later Mr. Schwenckton, usually the most placid of men, confronted his family in the kitchen, looking so white and agitated that Meely and Nettie sprang up greatly startled, and even Susie looked at him inquiringly.

"I was held up and robbed!" he announced. "Not two mile up the road yet!"

"Ach! Was you hurt?" cried Nettie in a fright, running to him.

"No, I ain't hurt. And I ain't lost nothin' neither! I held the crook up and got back what was stole off of me! That's what I done!"

"Ach, Pop!" Nettie gasped in mingled terror and admiration. "Good thing I took my revolver with! It ain't safe, these rough times, to travel at night without a gun along!"

He told them, then, as he removed his hat, coat and gloves, just what happened—giving his story a dramatic climax. "Now, then, I says to him, 'you hand out that there watch and then you run for your life!' I says. And he did! With that there revolver of mine in his face, he done what I tol' him and pretty quick about it too! Yes, and I guess he's runnin' yet!"

"Yes, well, but," Susie stolidly spoke to him over her shoulder, "you didn't take your watch along. You let it at home. You forgot it. There it lays." She thrust her thumb backward toward a small shelf which held a convenient comb and brush for family use.

Her husband stared at her incredulously as she calmly rocked her sleeping infant—then, desperately hoping to prove her words false, he fearfully drew from his pocket the watch he demanded from the stranger, and slowly, reluctantly, he let his eyes fall upon it.

It was not his!

Such a watch it was as he could never hope, nor even wish, to own. Gold, jeweled, initialed.

In a stride he stood before the shelf and beheld his own accusing watch.

"I was sayin' to Nettie," said Susie, "that you'd be awful put out at goin' without your watch along."

"And I never once missed it!" the wretched man murmured.

"But—why, my lands!" faltered Nettie, "this here's got an awful look!—like as if you'd held that there man up and stole his watch, Pop!"

"And I don't know who it is to give it back!" Mr. Schwenckton's voice was agonized. "If I never find him, it'll make me feel awful conscientious to keep his watch! 'YI, YI, YI!' he shook his head and began agitatedly to pace the length of the kitchen.

"Oh, you'll have no trouble findin' him, Mr. Schwenckton," said Meely encouragingly. "Hell of course report to the police and they'll easily trace you up."

"Yes, and arrest me for a thief yet!" exclaimed Mr. Schwenckton.

"I'll tell you!" cried Meely. "You report to the police, Mr. Schwenckton, and tell them of your mistake—and that you want them to find the man. That will do you."

Mr. Schwenckton stopped in his agitated walking to and fro, and looked at Meely admiringly. "You're got the head on you, Meely! I didn't think that far myself. Education's a grand help to a body in this here life! That's what I'll do this self-same minute!"

He went to the telephone, but found the line "busy."

"Delay may be fatal!" said Meely anxiously. "You must report it before he does. He has had a good deal of time already—all the time you've been home unloading your car and putting it in the garage—and the time you've been in the house—"

"Yes, well, but I don't think he'll be reportin' it very soon—I started him on a good run and I guess he's still runnin'!"

It was at this instant that they were all startled by a rap on the kitchen door, and before anyone could answer it, the door opened and a wet, bedraggled and very tired-looking young man almost staggered into the room, closing the door behind him and leaning against it heavily.

"How I Regained My Health and Strength"

—MRS. H. D. QUEEN, GASTONIA, N. C.

"I suffered sixteen long years with dreadful stomach trouble, indigestion, nervous dyspepsia and constipation. My life was no pleasure to me at all. Had to take purgatives three or four times a week, and my weight went down to 98 pounds." "One night my husband brought home a package of Dr. Hitchcock's Laxative Powder. From the very first dose I began to feel better. By the time I had taken half of the first box I had gained five pounds. After continuing to take Hitchcock's Laxative Powder I weighed 125 pounds, and never felt better in all my life. I can now eat anything I want and as much as I want with all good results. I give it to my family, even to my baby. I can never praise Hitchcock's Laxative Powder enough." Mrs. Queen, and thousands of others have regained their health through the use of Dr. Hitchcock's Laxative Powder because it removes the cause of constipation—not merely giving temporary relief. You, too, can be well and strong again if you will get this wonderful vegetable laxative from your druggist and use it according to directions. Only 25c per box.

Rules That Govern Kinship of Cousins

In answering a correspondent's query, "What relation are the children of first cousins to each other? What relation to me is my first cousin's child?" the Pathfinder Magazine says:

" reckoning cousin relationships is simple if you start out right. A cousin is one collaterally related by descent from a common ancestor, but not a brother or sister. Children of brothers and sisters are first cousins to one another; sometimes they are called cousins-german, own cousins, or full cousins. The children of first cousins are 'second cousins' to one another; children of second cousins are third cousins to one another, and so on. The child of one's first cousin is a first cousin once removed; the grandchild of one's first cousin is a first cousin twice removed, and so on. Confusion sometimes arises from the custom of some people who speak of the children and grandchildren of their first cousins as second and third cousins, respectively, but the practice is only local. The correct and almost universal rule for reckoning cousins is as we have given it."

Taste and Invention

For generations past architecture has been so overlaid with extraneous matter that many authorities actually preach that in this branch of art it is in bad taste to invent. Correct architecture, they say, consists merely in reassembling borrowed forms. All of which is palpably absurd. If the Greeks had thought so there never would have been any Greek art. On the contrary, architecture, now as ever, consists in solving problems of utility as economically and appropriately as may be.—New York Sun.

Boy Is Caught in Large School Vault

New York.—It's a certainty that Albert Altwater, thirteen, of Hackensack, N. J., hereafter will pay more heed to his parents' warning that "curiosity killed a cat."

Albert's curiosity led him into a vault in the new State street school, Hackensack, and caused a lot of excitement for police and firemen when his playmate, Arnold Brupacker, eleven, accidentally closed the door and imprisoned him.

The boy's predicament turned Hackensack upside down for an hour before an official of the board of education was called from his home and opened the huge vault, which reaches from floor to ceiling. Albert was imprisoned without fresh air five minutes before firemen cut a hole in the side. Then they bade Albert be calm and prepared to pump oxygen into the vault.

RICH MAN ATTEMPTS LIFE TO END PAIN

Saw No Chance of Recovery, So Shot Himself.

Cincinnati.—An incurable malady which caused him much pain was believed to have prompted Henry Stein, seventy, believed to be from Miles City, Mont., and St. Paul, Minn., to attempt suicide in a hotel room here. Stein shot himself in the temple and his condition was pronounced critical at the hospital.

Stein is believed to be very wealthy and his papers and receipts indicated that he held stocks and bonds in large quantities and did business with several large banking institutions throughout the country.

It was reported that he closed a $1,000,000 real estate transaction in St. Paul, Minn., recently.

Notes found on his table and conversations he had with Mrs. Mary Parker, a hotel employee, indicated that he planned to take his life, police say. He told Mrs. Parker that he was disgusted with life.

A note he left read: "Suffering constant excruciating pains with absolutely no possible chance of recovery. Bury me anywhere. Prefer Jewish cemetery, Cincinnati."

Shoots Seven on Dice; Wins Freedom in Court

Birmingham, Ala.—Haled before Judge H. E. Abernathy, in the Birmingham court of misdemeanors, a negro miscreant charged with shooting dice was offered the chance to "pass" his way to freedom.

Onto his knees went the defendant with a pair of dice. From his perch on the bench Judge "Ab" peered down at the ivory clicking over the courtroom floor. A dozen wide-eyed spectators leaned forward to watch the outcome.

"Seven it is!" exclaimed the prisoner.

And the jurist who meets residents of Birmingham's negro quarter on grounds with which they are familiar pointed a finger at the kneeling man and gave his decision: "Not guilty."

Several times the judge has cut cards with prisoners of whose guilt he had some doubt. His colleagues recognize him as an authority on the psychology of the negroes with whom he often deals.

Once, when a prisoner pleaded guilty to a minor offense, Judge "Ab" directed him to get down on his knees and pray for forgiveness. A feeble voice came up.

"Louder!" directed the court. The low tone went into a sturdy bass for five minutes, and the prisoner was discharged.

Mother's Long Sleep Is Broken by Son's Violin

Long Beach, Calif.—A music treatment given by her son and his friend was accredited by the physician of Mrs. Ethel Baldwin, for her recovery of consciousness after lying in a coma for 180 hours.

Mrs. Baldwin lapsed into a coma, following the death of her husband. Discovery by Durant Baldwin, her son, who is a violinist, that his mother's hands moved when he and a friend, who is a pianist, played together, brought orders from Dr. C. E. Sneden to continue the music.

The music was continued for about 40 hours with the exception of periods when the radio was used. Mrs. Baldwin finally regained consciousness. She needs only rest to assure recovery.

"Wanted" Men Trapped by Their Home Paper

The news stands handling out-of-town papers, which are scattered throughout the midtown section of Manhattan, are frequently watched by detectives in search of men wanted by the authorities in other cities. Sooner or later the fugitive from the hinterland, who thinks that he is successfully hidden among the millions of newspapers, visits one of the stands for papers from the town where he is wanted. Crooks, says a detective who spends a lot of time in mingling with the Broadway throngs, are vain and eager to read about themselves and the crime which they may have committed. Again, he says, they grow homesick and seek to comfort themselves by reading their home-town papers. Recently a Western bank defaulter who had covered his tracks in New York for almost a year, but who finally yielded to a desire for home-town news, was tapped on the shoulder one evening in front of the out-of-town newspaper stand.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Now Synthetic Wood

Building products, like certain patented cereal foods, are now "shot from guns."

A wood fiber synthetic lumber is manufactured from sawmill waste by an explosive process which shreds the chips into a fluffy mass preparatory to molding under great pressure, into large broad boards, which may be conveniently applied as sheathing or for partitions. It also is used as tops for card tables and desks and in radio cabinets.

The "explosion" is the effect of high-pressure steam. The material is placed in the "gun," the steam turned on and hydraulic mechanism suddenly shoots it forth.

SPY IS FOUND MYSTERIOUSLY SLAIN IN HOTEL

Was Commissioned to Find Stolen Code of French Navy.

Paris.—A new victim fell recently in the continual struggle that is going on between spies and counter-spies of the different European powers over military and naval secrets.

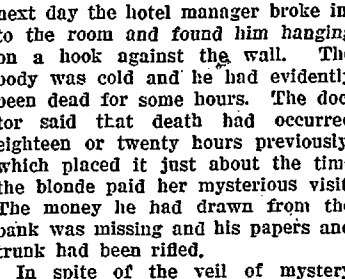

Lieut. Louis Aynard, a brilliant young French naval officer, went to his bank one afternoon, drew out 100,000 francs, returned to his modest little hotel in the Rue Francois I, told the porter he was expecting a young woman, and asked that she be shown up to his room as soon as she arrived.

A fascinating young blonde called about five o'clock, remained in his room a few minutes and told the porter on the way out that the lieutenant did not wish to be disturbed until the next morning.

Was Found Hanging.

When he did not reply at noon the next day the hotel manager broke into the room and found him hanging on a hook against the wall. The body was cold and he had evidently been dead for some hours. The doctor said that death had occurred eighteen or twenty hours previously, which placed it just about the time the blonde paid her mysterious visit. The money he had drawn from the bank was missing and his papers and trunk had been rifled.

In spite of the veil of mystery thrown over the case by the police the public assumed that it was simply an amorous drama, but then it leaked out that Lieutenant Aynard, who was a member of an important family in the south of France and a man of the highest character, was a member of the French naval counter-espionage service, whose business it is to run down the spies trying to steal French secrets.

Confidential Mission.

He had been given a confidential mission to find an important naval code stolen from the naval ministry by a French Communist spy working for Moscow. He had apparently traced the code and offered to buy it back, and the blonde had come to sell it. He had drawn the money from a special account in his bank to pay for it.

The facts seem to be well established up to that point, but not even the secret police have been able to unravel the affair any farther, or to get any indication of why he hanged himself, as it is assumed that he hanged himself.

Was he led into a trap of some sort by the blonde spy and decided that suicide was the only way to save his honor? Or was he murdered by the spy and an accomplice and simply hung up to make it look like a suicide?

The authorities may never know unless the blonde is run down, but she seems to have fled the country the day of the tragedy.

Man With Hole in Head Laughs at His Luck

Hammond, Ind.—Living with a hole completely through his head, Paul Kesty, of Hammond, Ind., today continues to laugh at the miracle and says he is a "lucky guy."

Kesty's head was pierced by a 28-foot red hot iron bar while he was at work in a steel mill recently. It entered at the base of the left jaw and came out at the right temple. Kesty pulled the bar out of his head when fellow workers became frightened and were unable to aid him.

"Sure I'm lucky," he says in his hospital bed, "I don't know how it happened, but I felt like a bull with horns when that bar was through my head. And gee, but I'm hungry."

To get the steel worker must hold his head in a certain way or the food will drop out of the hole in his left jaw. Doctors admit they took him to the hospital "to die" but they now find him recovering and his wound healing.

"It's a miracle that the bar did not strike the brain or any of the nerve cells, and that is all that saved him," one of the doctors says. He will likely recover with only slight physical impairment and can return to work."

MOTHER

A Cross, Sick Child is Constipated! Look at Tongue

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that the little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless, "fruity laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Pull directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

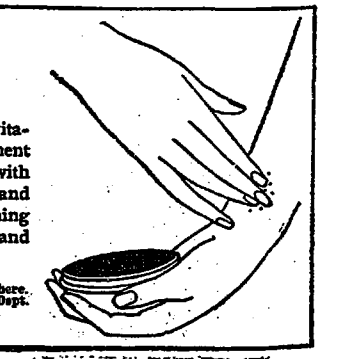

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you pre-paid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

A Corection.

In our issue of Jan. 4th, we stated that a little son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burton, of Fork was born at 12:15 a. m., Jan. 1st, and was the first white child born in Davie in 1928. The $5 gold piece was mailed to Mrs. Frank Burton.
A message received from Fork last week said that the child was born Jan. 2nd, instead of Jan 1st. The birth announcement was received over the telephone and the date was given in wrong or was misunderstood by this paper. The first child born in Davie in 1928 was a son to Mr. and Mrs. Silas K. Robins, of R. 1, at 3 a. m. Jan 1st.
The child died on Monday, Jan.
2nd, but the gold piece has been mailed to the mother, Mrs. Robins.
We are sorry that the mistake was made.

Mrs. Charles Eaton Dead.

Mrs. Charles Eaton, of Cana, died in a Winston-Salem hospital (Sunday) afternoon following an illness of three weeks, aged 42 years. The body was laid to rest at Eaton's Baptist church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Revs. V. M. Swaim, of Winston-Salem, and C. S. Cashwell, of Statesville, conducting the funeral and burial services. Mrs. Eaton is survived by her husband and two sons, her father, P. P. Green, and one sister, Miss May Green, of Winston-Salem, one brother, W. C.
Green, of Cripple Creek, Colo., also survives. Mrs. Eaton was one of Davie county's best women and her death has brought sadness to the entire community in which she spent her life.

The Fight On Judge Hayes.

When Johnson J. Hayes was named last spring by President Coolidge to become judge of the newly-formed federal district in this State there was no one at that time who had any idea but that the appointment with the advice and consent of the Senate would be made permanent in December.
Judge Hayes born and reared in Wilkes county under the shadow of the Blue Ridge had gone in and out among the people of this section his entire life and had never had the breath of scandal or wrongdoing been placed against his name.
He was solicitor for twelve years and in 1926 made a brilliant canvass of the State for United States Senator and was unanimously almost, elected national committee man from the State.
He is a prominent member of the baptist church, teacher in the Sunday School and if we are not mistaken holds a high position in the State Baptist Convention.
Yet when his name is sent to the Senate a few carrying enemies that he had made while filling the duties of his former office attempted to besmirch his good name and disgrace he and his family.
But their scheme didn't work and the judge came through with flying colors, his vindication is complete and he is now parked for life in the federal judiciary of the nation.
It is pitiful to see men and women befool their own nest but such is the case with one of the witnesses against Judge Hayes dragging in in the name of her dead husband in order to help satisfy the alleged animus of her brother-in-law. Just why the "meddlesome old woman" of Avery county had such venom is her system against the judge is not explainable unless she is one of the species who think it a greater crime to take a drink of liquor than it is to kill a man.
As to the ex-prohibition officer the least said is the best.
The people of this section are familiar with his tactics and good people everywhere whether wet or dry breathed a sigh of relief when it was reported that he had lost his job.—Union Republican.

Patronize Home Enterprise.

We note where the McLean administrator at Raleigh has imported a landscape architect from Massachusetts to improve the capitol grounds at Raleigh. We suppose there were no landscape architects in North Carolina able to do this work but then our great economical governor has a way of importing outside help as witness to New York bond lawyer who has been making his headquarters in Raleigh during nearly all the time McLean has been governor and has been paid a huge sum of the taxpayer's money for his opinions. With a landscape gardener, a bond attorney; a mansion secretary and a whole battery of other clerks and secretaries to beckon at his call our economy governor should be able to guide the old Ship of State safely thru another year.—Union Republican.

Community Suicide.

One of the strangest phenomena witnessed in most towns and small cities is the apparent eagerness with which many otherwise good citizens contribute to the tendency to commit suicide.
These citizens will often show uncommon zeal in boosting any movements, to promote the location of new industries to secure better educational facilities, and so on. Yet many of these same proud boosters will deliberately engage in a practice which nullifies all their otherwise laudable efforts—and then they wonder why their town doesn't go ahead.
We refer to the suicidal habit of buying away from home, which is largely responsible for the failure of many communities to make the progress which their natural advantages should make possible. The money that ought to be kept at home for the expansion of local trade and industry is sent away to distant cities, never to return, through the indifference or thoughtlessness of the very persons who should set an example of local pride and loyalty.
A trifling saving here and there usually more imaginary than real, is sufficient to cause the average citizen to forget his duty to his community and to himself, which if performed would mean more in the direction of local prosperity than all his other boosting efforts put together.
Why boast in one direction, while committing community suicide in another?—Bill Montgomery.

A Remarkable Sunday School Record.

St John's Lutheran church, at Salisbury, has a Sunday school record that can hardly be equalled in the state. Superintendent A. H. Snider has just compiled figures which show that during the past year there were 251 members of the Sunday school who had a perfect record of attendance.
In this number was included David Randleman, a young attorney, who has not missed a Sunday school in 21 years. Ninety-six had the record for only one year. Fifty-one had a two year record. Twenty-nine had three-year records. Twenty-two had four year records. Eighteen had a five-year record. Two had a nine-year record. And one a twenty-one-year record.
Mayor J. L. Fisher has a record of nine years and Mrs. Fisher a record of ten years. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Brown and their four sons have not missed in six years. Among the families having good records was that of E. S. Roseman and five children. One has a record of 14 years, one for 12 years, one for nine, and three for five years.—Exchange.

Store Is Closed.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy for Tharpe's Five and Ten Cent Store, of which Mr. W. W. Tharpe is sole owner, is being filed today. The store was closed this morning and an inventory is being taken.
Mr. Tharpe estimates his assets at $4500 and his liabilities at $4500. Moss and Winberry are attorneys in the petition.
The Store has been operated as a Five and Ten Cent Store by Mr. Tharpe for the past 17 years.—Statesville Daily, Jan. 16th.

The Atlanta Constitution paragraph having observed that "In other days the women wore their dresses down to their insteps and now they wear them up to their step-ins," the subject appears to have been practically exhausted.—Greensboro News.

Last Sermon by Sam Jones.

Although Sam Jones, the greatest evangelist the South has ever produced and perhaps the greatest in the Nation, has been dead for many years his works and savings live after him in a hundred years hence people will probably be talking about this quaint Georgia Character.
A religious publication Kind Words has been favored with a tract containing "The Last Sermon Preached by Sam Jones." In the preface note it was stated that after preaching this remarkable sermon the famous evangelist started for his next appointment, but died that night on the train. The text of the sermon was Proverbs 29:1 "He that being often removed hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy."
Early in the discourse, Mr. Jones gave this remarkable illustration:
"I want to say that I have preached to thousands and ten of thousands of people who have been swept suddenly and awfully into the presence of God soon after my voice died out in their ears. I was preaching at Nashville, Tenn. some years ago. On the second Sunday night Captain Ryman, a man who owned all the steam boats along the river came forward and asked to be prayed for. Shortly one of the pastors walked up to my side and said, 'Mr. Jones, that man, Captain Ryman is the most wicked man in this city and a very great sinner.' That night Captain Ryman was converted, and he walked up to me after the service and said, 'I want you to come to my house and I want you to see my wife and children.' I answered, 'I cannot come before a certain date.' He said, 'I will come for you on that day.' On the morning of the day arranged he was at the service, and after the service we got into a buggy and rode up to his splendid home. When we got out of the buggy he introduced me to the mayor of the city and three of the captains of boats which he himself owned; also to lawyers and other influential men of Nashville.
"Presently Mr. Ryman's wife walked in and I was introduced to her, and after a few moments of conversation, she said, 'Now gentlemen, dinner is ready.' As we crossed the hall into the large dining room the captain took my arm, 'Mr. Jones he said, 'not one of these four men are religious, and I want every last one of them brought to Christ.' He put me at the head of the table. The mayor of the city sat directly at my right and at his side was one of the captains—four great big stalwart men. I addressed my conversation right to those four men, pressing Christianity and the question of religion on them with all the force I could, incidentally mentioning the fact that within twelve months there would be sudden death among those sitting at the table.
After the meal was over we parted and not one of the four men were Christians or came to the meetings, I had not been away from Nashville three months before the steamboat captain who sat next to the mayor on my right hand side walked up to his home one day, and when his feet struck the front porch of his home he fell with a heavy thud and was dead when his wife and children reached him. Not three months more had passed when the man who sat on my left stepped on to his boat just as the boat started to move off. He fell on his face and never spoke another word. Not two months more had passed when Captain Ryman sent me a paper from Nashville in which I noticed that the steamship captain who sat second to my left went suddenly into the presence of God. A few days later I saw where the mayor of the city had been out hunting and while loading his gun the gun went off, putting the whole load of shot into his head. He fell forward and never breathed another breath; and before I had been away from that town twelve months those four stalwart men had been suddenly called into the presence of God.

Small Things Count.

Some twenty-five years ago a traveling salesman invented the penny scales we see in railway station, on the streets in the stores, and other public places. Have you ever wondered how they paid for themselves? This need never give you any concern from that point, for they would not be there if they were not a paying investment for someone.
We are told that approximately five million persons stepped on those scales in the last year. You are permitted to count how many dollars went into that industry in one year yourself. That traveling salesman of twenty-five years ago, however, is a retired millionaire of today.
The few pennies you spent did not make you poor, in fact it is almost impossible to think that you ever missed them; but they helped to make him rich, nevertheless. You are one of the millions of like-minded people who sent a tiny steam of copper in his direction, and the total was—well, how much?
Let us about face for a short time. You doubt sometime whether you have any influence for good. You are painfully reminded many times that your talents are very limited. Is it worth your trying to get anything of real value accomplished?
You and I have faced that question almost as frequently as we have seen our faces in the mirror. And we have been honest about it. We have not been blind as to what actually counts for in this world.
The richest man in the world could not put more than a penny in the slot of the scales so that your contribution counted for as much as his, and you helped as he did, to make a fortune for the man at the other end.
We do not all have a great amount of money; we are not all possessed with the same amount of executive ability; but we can all do our part, however small, to make a better town, county and country.—Scott County News.

Nursing A Grudge.

Six months ago a man living in the hill country of New York kicked a dog. The act was resented by the owner of the dog and there was a quarrel.
Sunday the men met again, and there was a fist fight. Then a brother-in-law of one of the principals took a hand, and pistols were brought into play. One of the combatants was killed instantly and the other two died a few hours later.
Probably the dog that was in the receiving end of the kick forgot all about being kicked and is living just as contentedly today as if he had never received anything but food and pats. Somebody has said that a dog will forget where he got a kick, but will always remember where he got a bone. That is one of the many good traits of a dog.
The men, however, or at least one of them, refused to regard the affair as a closed incident and nursed a grudge for six months. As a result the kicker of the dog, the owner of the dog and another man died violent deaths.
It doesn't pay to nurse a grudge.—Scott County News.

63 Distilleries Destroyed In December.

Sixty-three distilleries and 28 men were bagged by dry agents in the middle district during December, reports from the office of the Deputy Administration J. L. Osteen show.
The ro agents also aiding State officers in arresting five other operators. They poured out 452 gallons of whiskey, 55,845 gallons of beer, cut up 291 fermenters and seized property worth $20,000.

Big State Gasoline Tax.

During the year 1927 there was collected $9,171,000 in gasoline taxes thru the State department of revenue. Commissioner Dough-ton is counting on $10,000,000 in 1928.

Punished For Honesty.

Paul Dillon, young white man of Winston-Salem, was convicted of possessing 35 gallons of contraband spirits, on the streets in the stores, and sentenced to six months on the roads. Inferentially he was headed for the destination fixed by the court until another appeared on the scene. The party of the second part was S. J. Eller, who walked into the office of the police and explained that he and not Dillon was the guilty party. "I knew that he was suffering for something that I had done and I couldn't stand it," Eller explained. The case was reheard, Dillon was set free and Eller on his own statement, was sentenced to a year on the roads. He appealed, presumably because he thought the sentence was too severe. On the face of the position his objection is well founded. While confessing guilt to relieve an innocent party is not unknown it is not common. When one who is not suspected knows that another is suffering for his sin, and voluntarily goes to the relief of the innocent, he shows himself a man, no matter what his shortcomings. While the circumstance may not warrant a modification of punishment in every case, it does not seem that the act is worthy of recognition. In the Winston-Salem case the voluntary confession to save the innocent was rewarded by doubling the punishment. Inferentially Eller, instead of being commended for having the manhood to confess and take the place of the innocent, was punished for doing so commendable a thing. Nothing else appearing, the hope here is that the higher court will have a better conception of justice.—Statesville Daily.

Some twenty-five years ago a traveling salesman invented the penny scales we see in railway station, on the streets in the stores, and other public places. Have you ever wondered how they paid for themselves? This need never give you any concern from that point, for they would not be there if they were not a paying investment for someone.
We are told that approximately five million persons stepped on those scales in the last year. You are permitted to count how many dollars went into that industry in one year yourself. That traveling salesman of twenty-five years ago, however, is a retired millionaire of today.
The few pennies you spent did not make you poor, in fact it is almost impossible to think that you ever missed them; but they helped to make him rich, nevertheless. You are one of the millions of like-minded people who sent a tiny steam of copper in his direction, and the total was—well, how much?
Let us about face for a short time. You doubt sometime whether you have any influence for good. You are painfully reminded many times that your talents are very limited. Is it worth your trying to get anything of real value accomplished?
You and I have faced that question almost as frequently as we have seen our faces in the mirror. And we have been honest about it. We have not been blind as to what actually counts for in this world.
The richest man in the world could not put more than a penny in the slot of the scales so that your contribution counted for as much as his, and you helped as he did, to make a fortune for the man at the other end.
We do not all have a great amount of money; we are not all possessed with the same amount of executive ability; but we can all do our part, however small, to make a better town, county and country.—Scott County News.

President Coolidge was given the greatest ovation in Havana that has ever been given a foreigner in that country, according to press reports

The Jackson Training School at Concord seems to be full and running over. A sure sign that our boys are not getting better as fast as we could hope for.

Two weeks from tomorrow is the day we are due to extend a cordial welcome to the groundhog. Here's hoping that for this one day we will have more rain than sunshine.

It is said that there are 40,000 men out of employment in North Carolina. Maybe so. We wonder how many of this number are looking for jobs and how many are wanting positions. Most of the positions seem to be already taken.

There is always something doing in Burke county. The people in that mountain county are mighty good folks, but there are always enough mean men in every section to give the good people much trouble and a lot of free advertising.

There are nearly two hundred Democratic newspapers in North Carolina. We don't read all of these papers, but out of the number of Democratic papers that come to our desk we can only list two of them as being for Al Smith for President. The Hickory Daily Record and the Lexington Dispatch we judge must be for the wet candidate by the tone of their editorials.

A big boom has been started for Herbert Hoover for President. Another boom has been started for Frank Lowden and before another five months rolls around big booms will no doubt be started for many more favorite sons throughout the land. The Record is for Hughes first, Lowden second and Hoover third. In our opinion Mr. Hughes is the strongest man the Republican party has for this office. Mr. Hughes has said that he did not want the nomination, but we hope that the convention will give him the choice of refusing it or making the race.

From present indications Max Gardner, of Shelby will be the Democratic nominee for Governor this fall. If we are not mistaken Max was promised this job eight years ago but the Charlotte Observer pet was put in and Gardner laid on the shelf. Of course we want see a Republican elected to this office, but failing in that, we believe Gardner is as good a Democrat for the job as can be found in the state. The worst thing we know about Max is that he is a Democrat and lives in a town where they can shoot fireworks at Christmas and New Year's.

There is no question but that it pays to advertise. We carried an advertisement for a certain business house in every issue of our paper for at least two years. The company decided to cut out their advertising some time ago and since that time their business has fallen off at least ten to fifteen per cent. We could publish names but prefer not to do so. The merchants or business house that expects to do business these days find that it pays well to use the advertising columns of the local newspapers. The firms who use printer's ink are the ones that sell the goods. You never hear of a big advertiser having to let the sheriff do his advertising for him.

The high school basket ball team is doing some good playing this winter. Out of six games played the local team has won five games.

New Store For Mocksville.

Mr. L. M. Hinshaw, of Taylorsville, was in town Wednesday looking for a location for a branch 5 and 10 cent store. Mr. Hinshaw was favorably impressed with our town and while here leased the Horn building on North Main street, formerly occupied by the Princess Theatre. Mr. Hinshaw tells us that he will open an up-to-date 5 and 10 cent store in this building about the middle of February or the first of March. He is operating a similar store at Taylorsville and is doing a good business in that town. There is not such a store in Davie county and we believe that it will do a good business here. The Record is glad to welcome this new business house to our town, and feel sure that the people throughout the town and county will give it their patronage.

Advance News.

Several children here are having the measles we are sorry to know.

Mrs. G. H. Cornatzer has returned home after spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. T. E. Markland, of Winston Salem.

Mr. Ott Zimmerman made a business trip to Hillsboro last Tuesday to see Dr. Coleman. Mr. Zimmerman is having serious trouble with his head and eyes.

Little Blain Thompson is suffering with measles we are sorry to know.

Rev. W. B. Thompson was on the sick list a few days last week.

Mr. Charlie Carter spent Saturday in Winston-Salem shopping.

Mr. Frank Vogler, who is taking a business course in Winston, spent the week end at home.

Our girls defeated the Coolemees basketball team last Wednesday night 18 to 35. The boys score was 28 and 40 in favor of the Coolemees team.

Mr. G. H. C. Shutt, Jr., of Lexington spent Sunday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. G. H. C. Shutt.

Mrs. Flora Farley and Mrs. Alice Montgomery, of High Point and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Carter, of Raleigh, and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Owens, of Hanes were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Carter.

Sheffield News.

Charlie Reeves, Lincoln Richardson and Miss Zelma Smith have been appointed a committee to meet and confer with the groundhog on Feb. 2nd, and thank him for his kindness toward us for the past year and beg for the continuance of same throughout the coming year.

There are several cases of measles west of Sheffield.

Marshall Richardson, who has been very ill, is improving.

Joe Reavis has opened a store near Liberty church.

Vander Hodgson, who got his leg broken and was badly bruised up last October when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an auto, is still in a Statesville hospital and remains very ill.

Bob Campbell and family have moved to the Will Hendren farm near Hickory Grove church.

There is some talk here about a consolidated school for Calabash township, but it seems like the majority of the people are against it. They say they are already paying all the tax they can stand.

Mrs. Bud Richardson who has been very ill, is improving.

A number of Sheffield folks were in the county seat Saturday courting.

Mr. Peacock Dies Suddenly.

Mr. Yancey Peacock, 74 years of age, died suddenly Monday afternoon in Turnersburg township.

Mr. Peacock is survived by three sons and two daughters: Messrs. John L. Peacock and Walter Peacock, of New York City; Mr. James C. Peacock, who lives near Harmony; Mrs. Morgan Call and M. S. Neely Hudson, both of Davie county. Two brothers and a sister also survive. They are Messrs. William and Columbus Peacock, both of Davie county; and Mrs. James Brackens, who lives in Iredell county, near County Line.

DEMAND
ASPIRIN
The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Koniogscottelcdester of Salicylicacid

MOTHER!
A Child Doesn't Laugh and Play
if Constipated

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.
Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you will have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness. Beware of counterfeit fig syrups.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Sick Headache Due to Constipation

Every person who suffers with sick headache should be warned against becoming a slave to headache powders, pain tablets, etc. These agents may relieve the pain but they do not remove the cause, and their continued use may lead to serious injury to your constitution, especially to your heart and kidneys.
Years ago Dr. W. L. Hitchcock proved that constipation is usually the cause of sick headache and he devised a simple, harmless vegetable prescription that is pleasant to take and most agreeable in its effects, yet removes the cause of sick headache and constipation without any constipating after-effect. Ask your druggist for Hitchcock's Laxative Powder. You will find that it is delightful and by far the best remedy for sick headache, sour stomach, foul breath and excessive gas formation. 25c for a large box at any drug store. Satisfactory results guaranteed.

STORY FROM THE START

Handsome, fastidious and wealthy—young St. Croix Creighton awaits his sweetheart at their trysting place. She is late, this ordinary little Pennsylvania Dutch girl, Meely Schwenckton. Despite her seeming innocence and ignorance, she succeeds in keeping him at a distance, to his chagrin. Meely, in the Schwenckton home, where she is boarding, is altogether unlike the girl who meets St. Croix clandestinely. She is the teacher in the neighborhood school, of which Marvin Creighton, St. Croix's brother, is superintendent. Meely learns that Marvin is to be married by his cousin, a titled English lady, but, believing she was attracted by the Creighton wealth, had refused the alliance. It is the rumor that St. Croix is to take Marvin's place and marry the English girl. St. Croix's jealousy is aroused by Meely's report of an aged suitor for her hand. The girl cleverly deceives him into admitting he has no intention of marrying her. Marvin visits school in his official capacity as superintendent and discovers how shockingly little Meely knows about school teaching. Mr. Schwenckton, coming home from town, picks up a stranger, and finding his watch gone, demands the stranger get out and turn over his watch.

"I've been held up on the road and robbed!" he announced, his voice weak with fatigue. "May I use your phone to report to the police?"
A stunned silence on the part of the four occupants of the kitchen met this statement and request—Meely staring with wide-open eyes, her hand pressed to her fast-beating heart; Nettie's face going first red, then pale; Mr. Schwenckton trembling and pallid; Susie unmoved.
But it was Susie who broke their stupid silence. "So you see, Sam, he ain't still runnin'!"
A little hysterical squeal of laughter from Meely brought the young man's eyes around to where she stood by the table—clad in a kimono, her hair down her back in a braid. She was glad she was not dressed normally, for in her tailored school suit with her hair done up around her head, she was so transformed from the country bumpkin of her volute frock trimmed with artificial flowers and streaming ribbons that the extreme contrast would have betrayed her hopelessly as a masquerader.

For the man leaning exhausted against the kitchen door was St. Croix Creighton.
"How did you get here so soon?" quavered Mr. Schwenckton, too absorbed in his own quandary to see the flash of startled recognition with which his visitor's eyes met Meely's. She had succeeded, at an instant's notice, in assuming the look of bovine dullness which had so effectually disguised her ever since she had known him.
"Am I—is this Sam Schwenckton's farm?" exclaimed the amazed young man. "I'd no idea where I was, the road's so pitch dark! I've been groping my way for a half hour to find a house where I could telephone. That," pointing to the lamp, "was the first light I saw in five miles!"
"No, not five—not more'n two," Mr. Schwenckton's shaking voice corrected him.
"How do you know? Is this Mr. Schwenckton?" asked St. Croix, for the farmer, without his coat and hat and necktie, did not suggest to him his automobile companion of an hour ago.
"It is," Mr. Schwenckton heavily admitted. "And you, now that I see you in the light, I recognize as the younger Mr. Creighton! Yi, yi, yi, yi!"
"Yes, I am in a mess!" responded St. Croix, interpreting the farmer's exclamation as an expression of sympathy for his plight. "May I use your—"

"If it's only your watch you want, it ain't no need to phone. Here it is!" Mr. Schwenckton, with shamed, averted face, held it out to its owner.
St. Croix, amazed, took it. "You caught the thief? But how? Do tell me! I never was more taken in! He seemed the most harmless, kindly old simpleton."
"This time it was Nettie who gave a little hysterical squeal which brought the young man's eyes, for an instant, to her rosy, eager face.
"Meely!" Mr. Schwenckton appealed, "you tell him how it was! Me, I couldn't get the words together to explain such a bewilderment!"
Meely was appalled. The Schwencktons were accustomed to hear her speak good English; St. Croix had of course never heard her talk anything but the Pennsylvania Dutch dialect!
"Nettie," she murmured, "you tell him!"
Nettie, shy, but all too willing to hold the young god's attention upon herself, eagerly assumed the task of explaining her poor father's unfortunate mistake—and before she was half through her narrative, they were all laughing except Susie; and even she was feebly smiling.

"What gets me puzzled," said Mr. Schwenckton amazedly, "is that me and you, Mr. Creighton, neighbors since you was born a'ready, though five miles apart and not seeing each other often (I ain't really laid eyes on you since you was a college boy, except to pass each other in our cars)—but that us we could ride together near eight miles yet and not recognize each other—"
"I'd have known you in your farm clothes, I suppose, but—"
He did not explain how unnatural and unlike himself the farmer looked to him in his "store suit" with a collar and necktie on.

"I've Been Held Up on the Road and Robbed," He Announced, His Voice Weak With Fatigue.

"It's a good thing we're neighbors that know each other or this here thing mightn't look so funny, but very serious!" Mr. Schwenckton gravely opined.
"I didn't know," St. Croix said suddenly, when Mr. Schwenckton's subject apologies had been accepted, "that you had three daughters, Mr. Schwenckton; I thought you had only two."
"You thought right—I got only two." "Oh," St. Croix nodded, "then this young lady isn't your daughter?" His nod indicated Nettie, but as she and Meely were standing together, Mr. Schwenckton misunderstood him.
"No, she's only a distant cousin, come to school to teach here."
"Teach? Why, she looks too young! You can't tell, these days, can you, how old girls are?"
Meely realized that his look of amazement, almost of consternation, was not at all for Nettie's youth as a teacher, but for the awful English with which the children of the district must be instructed!
Nettie was delighted that no one but herself, as she supposed, perceived his mistake, for it was wonderful to have Mr. St. Croix Creighton think her old enough and "smart" enough to be a school teacher! Thankful she was indeed that Meely didn't speak in and claim the honor.
It was obvious to Meely that St. Croix was even more concerned than she was that neither he nor she should by look or word reveal to this family the relation in which they stood.
Mr. Schwenckton offered, now, to get out his car again and take Mr. Creighton home, but the young man

CHAPTER V

At breakfast next morning Meely warily watched the faces around the table for signs of newly awakened suspicions of herself. But she found nothing unusual in the demeanor of the family.
Nettie chattered excitedly about the elegance and "swellness" of Mr. Creighton's stylish clothes, his wonderful white hands, the way he said his words—"He says 'hoff' for half! It sounds awful pretty and genteel that way! And, ach, the manners he's got! The way he held my chair for me to set! Say!"—it beggared words.
"But I always say," her father spoke in, "that I don't think so much of manners—morals is so much more important."
"Gimme manners!" Nettie defiantly affirmed her choice.
"Morals and manners," said Meely, "can go hand in hand—they're not mutually exclusive!"
Meely had often noticed that her use of a word of more than two syllables invariably awed the family into a prolonged silence.
She broke the present lull by broaching a subject to Mr. Schwenckton that was weighing on her mind. "How often do county superintendents visit a school, Mr. Schwenckton?"
"Ach, about once in so often."
"Yes, but how often?"
"Not so very often. Now and then."
"But I mean," Meely patiently explained, "how far apart are 'now and then'?"
"Well, pretty far apart. You see, he's got too many to visit to come often. And the schools is spread over so much area that it takes up time to go to and from."

In Splendor, Venice Surpassed All Cities

In Venice of the Sixteenth century luxury and splendor surpassed all bounds; never before at any time nor in any city were religious ceremonies, the countless flashing candles and the play of color. When some magnificent occasion of this sort was not in progress Venice was not permitted to be dull for a moment—there was always some carnival of merry-makers on the streets and masquerades were so common they became a nuisance and met with decrees forbidding them.—Detroit News.

protested that if they would allow him to telephone home, one of the Beechlands chauffeurs would be here in a short time with a runabout.

While he was telephoning, Mr. Schwenckton ordered Nettie to make some strong hot coffee and get out some doughnuts and pie.
But what, Meely wondered, would St. Croix think of the teacher's being asked to do this instead of the daughter of the house? She considered swiftly what would be her best course to avert suspicion on both sides. To get across the kitchen to the stairway and run up to her room? Mr. Schwenckton would be bound to stop her and insist that she stay and have coffee and doughnuts with them, and if he spoke to her at all, St. Croix would notice how differently he addressed her and Nettie. To remain here, however, was more certain to invite exposure. And yet, she was afraid to go away for fear of what might come out in her absence.

Nettie, as she bustled about making coffee and setting out cups and saucers, saw, with keen chagrin, how Mr. Creighton's eyes kept turning toward Meely and never in her direction. And the expression on his face—furtive, hungry, infatuated! Was this, Nettie wondered, a case of love on sight? She was greatly puzzled, for in her opinion Meely "looked a mess" in that sloppy kimono and with a "plait" down her back.
As Mr. Creighton hung up the receiver, there was a quick movement in the room—Meely making for the stairs.
"Ach, Meely—" began Mr. Schwenckton.
"Good night," she interrupted, rushing up the steps before he could stop her—but not before she caught in St. Croix's eyes the evidence of the conflict in his mind—a passionate protest against her going, mingled with a fear of her presence.

Upstairs in her own room, while she prepared for bed, she had the exciting suspense of wondering whether they were talking about her; whether St. Croix had noticed the kimono she had on, a Japanese embroidered silk thing that a county school teacher would hardly own if she were what she should be! Yes, this kimono could be a "give-away."
"Well, when this sort of thing could happen it was evident that she could not much longer keep up her face. She must bring things to a climax as soon as possible; beguile St. Croix to lay his cards on the table; force his hand for a show-down.
The sound of the cabinet organ in the parlor below her bedroom, and Nettie's shrill voice singing, interrupted her thoughts. Nettie was invariably called upon by her father to entertain "company" with her musical accomplishments of organ and voice, and of course such distinguished company as Mr. St. Croix Creighton would have to be favored. Through Nettie's lungs and fingers the entire family found their one and only artistic expression.

London to Be Floodproof
London's great "anti-flood" scheme is nearing completion after nearly seven years' work. Parts of it have been finished and are credited with having saved the city from a possible deluge during the big storms of last summer. The scheme includes storm relief sewers, with pumping stations fitted with powerful machinery at danger points. When it is completed, experts say, London will be practically floodproof.

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys of Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.
To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Profitfulness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.
That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic; constipation; diarrhea; or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: It is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

DAINTY PARTY DRESSES

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

IN THE matter of party dresses, youth gaily flaunts the fact of its youthfulness before the eyes of an admiring world. For only the young girl dare proclaim as her own the bouffant dance frock which consumes yards and yards of frothy tulle or other airy-fairy fabric of diaphanous weave. So it is that the debutante together with Miss Sweet Sixteen are dancing to hearts' content in "picture" frocks full of skirt and slender of bodice, quite like the lovely model pictured herewith.

The newest idea is the tulle frock tiered to the waistline with flounces. The sleeveless bodice is of satin, with which is worn a cape of the tulle. Carried out in tones of yellow such a frock will number among the prettiest.

Some there are who wear tulle taffeta instead of tulle or chiffon, in which case color is made the outstanding feature. Gowns of white taffeta garnished with either white or

This dainty dress is fashioned of two tones of chiffon—pink, and then a lighter pink if you please. Aside from its bouffant styling its most distinguishing feature is its cunning cape made of the very material as the frock itself. Fashionists are making much of these capes for the young girl's party gown.

Festoons of little silk French flowers in every color of the rainbow make this lovely frock the more winsome. Silver slippers with flesh tint stockings complete the picture.

Turnips Are Source of Vitamins

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Raw or slightly cooked turnips have been found a good source of vitamins, hence it is wise to include them frequently in the diet. Some people prefer dishes that combine other flavors with the pronounced flavor of turnips, as when equal parts of mashed potato and mashed turnip are blended together. In the recipe below for quick turnip soup, the onion, parsley and milk flavors, with the raw turnip make a particularly appetizing combination.

Quick Turnip Soup.
2 cups grated raw turnip
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon parsley
1/2 teaspoon grated onion

Heat the milk in a double boiler, add the flour and butter, which have been well blended; then the turnip, the onion and the salt. Cook until the turnip is tender, or for about ten minutes. Sprinkle the parsley in the soup just before serving.

Similar to corn custard is a baked dish containing turnips which may be either grated raw or cooked and mashed. This is a substantial combination, suitable for the main dish for a luncheon or supper. The bureau of home economics supplies the recipe

A nice pie which will make a variety and is especially tasty is:

Sour Cream Pie
—Take one cupful of sour cream, add one-half cupful of sugar, the yolks of two eggs well beaten, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful of cloves, a pinch of salt and one-half cupful of raisins chopped fine. Line a pie plate, fill the crust and cover with a top crust. Bake in a slow oven. If desired, the top crust may be omitted and a meringue of the egg whites used for the top.

French Pineapple Pudding.—Take one can of pineapple, one cupful of cooked rice, two tablespoonfuls of gelatin, one-fourth cupful of cold water, one-half cupful of sugar, one cupful of whipping cream. Soak the gelatin in the cold water, dissolve in one-half cupful of pineapple juice which has been heated until hot. Add the rice sugar and one-half can of pineapple. Fold in the cream, whipped, and line a wet mold with rings of the remaining pineapple. Pour the pudding into the mold and place in ice and salt to become firm.

Popcorn Crackle.—Prepare a large pan of popcorn. Make a sliver of one cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful each of butter and vinegar. Boil slowly until the mixture is brittle when dropped into water. Pour a little at a time over the corn, mixing well until all is touched with the sirup.

Pumpkin Ramekins.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of well-steamed and strained pumpkin, add two-thirds of a cupful of brown sugar, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and ginger, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two eggs and one and one-half cupfuls of milk and one-half cupful of cream. Fill the ramekins, which have been rinsed in cold water, two-thirds full. Bake in a moderate oven until a golden brown and thoroughly cooked. Serve with whipped cream.

Versailles Filling.—Shred one-half cupful of blanched almonds and one-half cupful of candied citron. Mix with one-half cupful of sour cream and stir in confectioner's sugar to and suggests that carrots may be used in the same way.

Turnip Custard.
1 cup grated raw turnip or mashed 2 tablespoons melted butter
2 eggs Few drops of tabasco
1 pint milk

Beat the eggs lightly and add the salt, the turnip, the milk and the tabasco. Stir in the melted butter and bake in a moderate oven in a pan surrounded by water until the custard is set in the center. Serve at once. Carrot may be used in the same way as turnip.

Evening Story for Youngsters

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

The foxes build their homes with three or four entrances, and then if they are attacked from one, they can get out by another.

They are very clever and wouldn't have a home with only one front door. The foxes felt hungry.

"I shall go to the larder and bring forth some food," Mrs. Fox said.

Now the larder was a section of one of the parts of Mrs. Fox's hole home. It was the same to her, though, as the ice box is to a housekeeper.

She brought all sorts of dainties and delicacies and put them before Mr. Fox. But first she put a tablecloth of leaves on her table of earth.

"A banquet," said Mr. Fox, smacking his lips. "How hungry I am!"

"And what a fine fox you are! You know how to feed an old fellow well."

"Ah, but you bring home such good things to eat," said Mrs. Fox. "You do the marketing so well and pick out just what you know will be tender." So they ate and chatted and Mr.

They Ate and Chatted.

Fox told of the time when he had at most been caught and had jumped in palest pink flowers, number among favored types.

Tulle with velvet for the bodice is carried out effectively from the standpoint of color effect. Such is a lively frock the bodice of which is of pastel pink transparent velvet. The skirt is a billowy mass of pink tulle ruffles shading from rose to palest tint. A huge flat pink rose is posed at the waistline.

Myriads of very narrow ruffles are tiered on some of the latest models up to the very waistline. By actual count, a recent lovely frock of pale green tulle numbered twenty tiny round-and-round ruffings on the skirt. A pretty effect is attained by scattering rosebuds in various places among these diminutive ruffles. All of which goes to show the dominance of quaint picturesque effects in the youthful evening mode.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A bit of dry mustard rubbed into a ham before it is baked gives it a pleasant flavor.

Close-fitting hats are not becoming to most women who wear glasses. They tend to make the face look small and the glasses prominent.

Plenty of sunshine is a good preventive of colds. Make a point of getting out of doors in the middle of the day when the sun is warmest.

A recent invention which is a help in fire prevention is an automatic switch for the electric iron. When the iron becomes overheated the current is cut off at the switch.

The oil from walnut meats will make small scratches or pricks on furniture entirely disappear. The nuts should be finely chopped or crushed and should be rubbed on the scratch with the finger.

Curtains for the Home Are Very Easy to Make

Important Task Seems to Be in Taking Measurement.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There are the same advantages in making your own curtains as in making your own dresses. You get an individually fitted product, of color and material selected to go with other furnishings, and often you either save money by doing the sewing yourself, or get better materials for the same money.

The simple curtains used in most homes at present, generally intended to be washed and ironed when necessary, are easy to make. They may be plain glass curtains, with or without side draperies, or simple ones looped back, such as the ruffled colonial curtains, or side curtains only if it is desired merely to frame an unobstructed view. The suggestions following apply to making any of these types of curtains.

Before you buy your material, take very careful measurements. The bureau of home economics suggests that you begin by drawing to scale the window or group of windows to be curtained. Then you can plan on the drawing just what kind of curtains you will have and how they will be hung, and measure on the drawing accordingly. Glass curtains will be hung from the lowest part of the top casing and just escape the sill. If side curtains are used they should be hung from the middle of the upper casing and reach the bottom of the "apron" below the window, or to within one-half inch from the floor. The yardage you buy will depend partly on the width of the material. Some materials are sufficiently wide to allow splitting lengthwise for the two sides of the window, but ordinarily two lengths of goods are bought for each window, even if part of the width should be trimmed away. Scarf draperies are not attractive.

After the length of the finished curtain has been estimated on paper and checked on the window itself, add at least nine inches to the amount of goods required for each curtain, for hems and shrinkage. If there are to be valances, plan to have them one-sixth the length of the side hangings when finished, and allow nine inches extra in the same way. The length of a gathered valance is usually one and one-half times the width of the space it must cover.

If the material you are using has a distinct pattern it will have to be hung at each window, sometimes at every window. In this case have the length you have recorded laid off for as many curtains as you need on the goods in the bolt before cutting. There will probably be some unavoidable waste in matching. When you cut off the lengths of curtains in preparing to make them, draw a thread, if the weave permits. This will guide you in cutting absolutely straight. Otherwise the curtains will not hang straight, especially after they have been laundered. Trim off all selvages so the side edges will not shrink or sag when the curtains are washed.

Make the side hems first, then the top and bottom hems, using a card or other gauge and carefully matching both halves of each window in length. Allowance for shrinkage can be concealed in the top hem or heading, or it may be basted in as a tuck just below the top casing, or an extra hem may be turned in at the bottom. On transparent materials such as used for glass curtains, both the first and second turning of the hem should be the same width. This gives a better effect when the light shines through.

Press curtains carefully, keeping them straight with the thread of the goods, when ready to hang them. Even with the greatest care in cutting and making, curtains do not always hang evenly. Irregularities can usually be adjusted by little tucks at the upper casing.

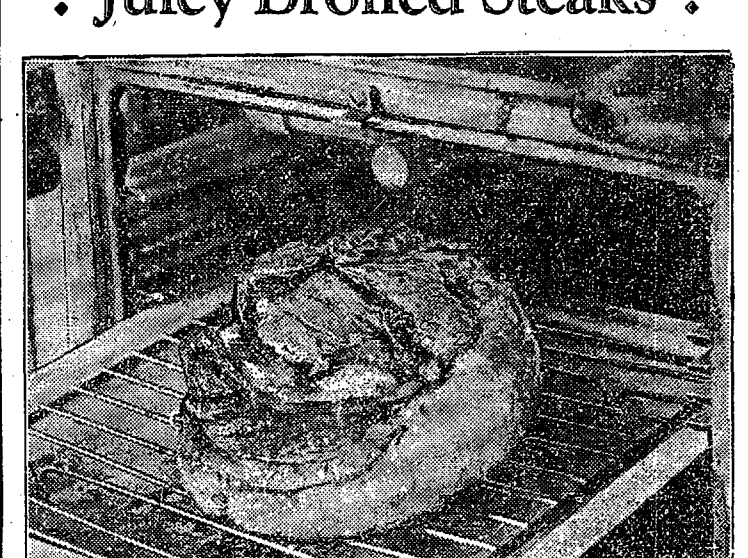

This is the time of the year when we, with great pleasure, turn to the Old-Fashioned Pumpkin Pie.

Take one and one-half cupfuls of well-steamed and strained pumpkin which is browned well. Sift to remove all the string portions, add two-thirds of a cupful of brown sugar, or the same of white, with two tablespoonfuls of molasses, one teaspoonful each of ginger and lemon extract, two lightly beaten eggs and a pint of rich milk with one teaspoonful of salt. Combine the ingredients and turn into a rich pastry shell. Bake in a moderate oven for an hour or until the pie is a rich brown. Serve on state occasions with whipped cream and grated cheese over the top.

Juicy Broiled Steaks

Steak Broiled in a Gas Oven.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Steaks and chops may be broiled with equal success in the gas oven or in a coal or gas range. In either case the meat gets that delicious broiled flavor which many persons think cannot be surpassed by any other method of cooking. In broiling the meat should be seared at high temperature first to prevent the escape of the appetizing meat juices. The bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture gives other points about broiling steaks in the gas oven.

Select a porterhouse or a sirloin steak from 1 1/2 to 2 inches thick. Trim the steak of excess fat and wipe it off with a damp cloth. Grease the rounds of the broiler and place the steak on it underneath the flame of a gas oven. Do not close the door. Sear on one side and then turn, being careful not to break the tender coating which holds in the juices. When both sides are seared turn down the flame and cook the meat, turning to cook evenly to the desired "doneness."

After searing, the steak may, if desired, be placed in the broiling oven with the door closed and the cooking finished there. This will leave the housewife's time free for other instantaneous preparations. When done place the steak on a hot platter, add salt, pepper, and melted butter. Garnish with parsley and serve at once.

No definite time can be given for cooking a steak because of varying thickness, heat of oven, and preference. A steak 1 1/2 to 2 inches thick will probably require 20 to 25 minutes to be cooked medium rare.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwiniski of 526 1st Ave. N., Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brown, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grand-children, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

Lesson for January 29

THE GROWING FAME OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 3:7-12; 6:52-56. GOLDEN TEXT—"The common people heard him gladly."

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Followed by Crowds of People. JUNIOR TOPIC—The Growing Fame of Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why the People Followed Jesus. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Secret of Jesus' Fame.

1. Jesus Ministering by the Sea (3:7-12).

1. Why He withdrew. It was because of the murderous plotting of the Pharisees against His life. So violent was their hatred against Him that they conspired with the Herodians, whom they regarded as traitors to their nation and country, to put Him to death. Their opposition was aroused when Jesus claimed to have power on earth to forgive sins (2:10). It grew in intensity when He mingled with publicans and sinners (2:16), and was fanned into a violent flame when He set at naught their false interpretations of the Sabbath law (2:23-28). Criticism and harshness causes Jesus today to withdraw from our presence.

2. To whom He ministered (v. 7, 8).

A great multitude, representing a wide stretch of territory. They came from Jerusalem and Idumaea on the south, from beyond Jordan on the east, and from Tyre and Sidon on the northwest. Jesus was the magnetic attraction—the hero of the hour. The interest of the whole country centered in Him.

3. The result (v. 9-12).

(1) So great was the pressure that lives seemed endangered by the thronging of the multitudes. Some came out of curiosity "when they heard what great things he did" (v. 8). Others came for physical benefit, to be healed of their diseases. To escape from the throng He ordered the disciples to secure a little boat for Him.

(2) The unclean spirits prostrated themselves before Him (v. 11, 12). They confessed Him as the Son of God. They had no doubt about His deity. This testimony He refused to receive because (a) the time for His declaration was not yet ripe. (b) They were not the beings to make Him known. He would not receive tribute from such a source. He would be proclaimed only by those who loved and honored Him.

(3) Jesus ministering at Gennesaret (6:53-56).

1. Jesus recognized (v. 54). The people quickly recognized Him because they had witnessed His mighty works. The feeding of the 5,000 was doubtless still in their minds. Perhaps many of them had witnessed His works in Capernaum and nearby places. They had doubtless heard Him teach also. He was recognized wherever He went. When He rules in the lives of believers today, those who come into touch with them recognize the fact. They take knowledge of them that they have been with Jesus (Acts 4:13).

2. The people ran to see Jesus (v. 55). They did not go about this in a half-hearted way. Those who really come into touch with the Lord Jesus Christ have called forth from their unusual energy. The degree of reality of our contact with Him is expressed by our enthusiasm.

3. They searched the whole region for those in need (v. 55).

Those who were found to be sick and in need were carried in beds to Jesus. Those who have come to know Christ will go about earnestly seeking for the lost to bring them to Christ. It matters not what effort is required.

4. They were made whole by His touch (v. 56). The only touch which is needed for the healing of the human soul is that of faith. When the individual is brought into touch with Him by a vital and living faith, sin is vanquished and sickness and death lose their power.

Treat Potatoes Before Planting

Solution of Corrosive Sublimate or Formaldehyde Is Effective.

Experiments have shown that potatoes can be treated for disease control in the winter while they are dormant with no delay in germination in the spring, according to C. L. Graves, plant pathologist at the Kansas Agricultural college. Graves, therefore, recommends that seed potatoes be treated as soon as practical.

There have been developed in the past few years two standard treatments for the control of seed borne diseases of the potato. Both are equally efficient in disease control. They are the corrosive sublimate treatment, and the hot formaldehyde treatment.

Corrosive Sublimate Treatment

Prepare a solution for the corrosive sublimate treatment by mixing thoroughly four ounces of corrosive sublimate in 30 gallons of water. Corrosive sublimate is deadly poison and must be kept away from children and animals. It will not injure the hands. The sublimate solution will corrode metals. Therefore, barrels, wooden tubs, or concrete vats should contain the treatment. Potatoes should not be cut before they are treated. Best results are obtained when they are left in the solution for one and one-half hours, according to the plant pathologist.

The solution should not be used for more than three batches of potatoes, unless the solution is strengthened each time. Corrosive sublimate should be added at the rate of one-half to five-eighths of an ounce to each 30 gallons of water after each treatment.

Hot Formaldehyde Treatment

For the hot formaldehyde treatment mix two pints of full-strength formaldehyde in 30 gallons of water. Unlike the corrosive sublimate treatment, this solution does not weaken with use, and no addition of formaldehyde need be added after treatment to maintain the original strength. Formaldehyde is also a deadly poison. The solution quickly dries from the surface of the tubers and the treated seed is not poisonous.

The hot formaldehyde treatment requires from three to four minutes in a heated solution 124 to 126 degrees F. Care should be taken that the tubers do not come in contact with the sides and bottom of the treating vat, says Professor Graves.

Not Difficult to Raise Orphan Pigs at Dakota

Raising of the orphan pigs that are often present in large litters is not difficult if care is taken to attend to details, W. R. Hauser, live stock specialist of the South Dakota State college extension service, says. Time spent in raising the orphans will be well paid for in the return from extra pigs matured.

Mr. Hauser has observed that pigs two days old are much easier to handle than the younger ones. A ration of one quart whole cow's milk daily, hand fed at first, with cracked corn, tankage, salt, shorts and green alfalfa hay in self-feeders as soon as the pigs will eat, makes a very good ration.

"Best results can be secured by feeding five to six times daily for the first few weeks, then gradually cutting down to three times daily," Mr. Hauser says. "As soon as the pigs begin to eat grain fairly well, the whole milk can be gradually replaced by skim milk.

"Sunlight in the pens, sufficient exercise and abundance of fresh, clean water, and strict attention to keeping feeding utensils clean and the quarters clean, dry, well bedded and generally sanitary, are important factors in achieving success."

Agricultural Notes

The garden seed catalogue is both cheap and remedy for spring fever.

The best seeds that can be bought are cheaper at any price than poor ones.

It is a waste of both labor and property to leave the farm in disorder.

Fall-freshened cows should yield annually from 10 to 15 per cent more milk than those calving in the spring.

For those who can get it handily, dried beet pulp is a good dairy feed, on the order of silage and roots—something to make up for the winter lack of pasture. It's healthful and cows relish it. Soak it before feeding.

"Cows that produce twice as much as the average cows of the United States require only 40 per cent more feed." That statement, made by the United States Department of Agriculture, and based on records of 100,000 cows, is worth thinking about.

Would you buy butter at 40 cents a pound and feed to your hogs? Crazy question! But what's the difference between doing that and using a poor separator that leaves a good deal of your butterfat in the skim milk—the butterfat that you might sell?

Big Machinery Saves Much Manual Labor

Comparison Is Made From Records in Nebraska.

One of the best reasons why big teams and big machinery are popular is given in the annual report of the farm records that were kept last year under the direction of the Nebraska Agricultural college. Two farms in Dodge county are compared to show that one man made $5.82 profit per acre from his corn while another man, even though he got a higher yield, made only $2.21 per acre.

The first man used four-horse teams and two row implements, while the second planted and cultivated his corn with two-horse teams and one row machinery. The first man had 100 acres in corn, the second only 40. The first got 50 bushels per acre yield while the second got 60 bushels, but the first spent only six hours of his own labor and 25 hours of horse labor per acre while the second man spent 12 hours of man labor and 28 hours of horse labor per acre.

In making this comparison, the agricultural college men, Mason Yerkes, and A. W. Medlar, who had charge of the farm records work, made it clear that the comparison of low two-farmers raise corn may not be a complete comparison of their entire farms' profits, but that so far as the corn crop was concerned the man with the bigger teams is actually making about five times as much net profit in the year. He had 100 acres averaging $5.82 profit per acre, or $582. The other man, worked on 40 acres and made but $2.21 per acre, a total of $88.40.

Small Flock of Sheep Found to Be Profitable

The live stock requirements of no corn belt farm are complete without at least a small flock of sheep, preferably breeding ewes. There is no other animal a farmer can own that will make use of as much feed that would otherwise go to waste, and no hired man who will mow weeds as cheerfully or as thoroughly as will the sheep. A great many farmers complain that their fences are not arranged for handling sheep, but in the main this excuse is largely imaginary. Of course in order to handle a large flock it is necessary to have good sized pastures, but for the average farmer who operates from 80 to 100 acres, the keeping of from 10 to 15 ewes requires nothing more than the ordinary barn lots, door-yard and orchard fences. Barring a mighty keen appetite for rose bushes and other shrubbery about the yard, sheep make by far the most profitable and consistent lawn mower imaginable for yards either large or small. Shrubbery of course may be protected by wire netting drawn about it, or by movable frames which may be shifted into position when it is desired to "mow" the lawn. The flock may be moved about the place from day to day as desired, and all lots may be cleaned up of noxious weeds that other stock will not eat. When the potato vines begin to die down the flock may be turned into the patch to clean up the careless weed and fox-tail which nearly always spring up after cultivation ceases, thus doing away with the necessity of having to mow and rake the patch before digging the spuds.

Bees Need Protection From Cold in Winter

Bees require protection from cold in winter the same as most animals, according to Iowa State college. For helping bees get through the winter, the minimum requirements of food for a good colony is 60 pounds, and it is better to have more. Only stores of the best quality should be used. As to the bees, the ideal condition would be to have all of them emerge just prior to the last killing frost, so that their full strength will be available for winter heat production and leave sufficient energy to give the colony a good start in the spring. It is best to introduce the queen in late summer.

Two general types of winter protection are used; the indoor or cellar and the outdoor or case. If conditions are satisfactory, cellar wintering of bees is a sound practice. Where bees are to be wintered outside, a windbreak of some kind is very important. For real outdoor protection the case method is essential.

Blighted Trees Should Be Treated in Winter

Blight is a bacterial disease caused by a bacterium growing in the inner bark. It girdles the twigs so that the top has to die and the leaves appear as though scorched with fire. The only remedy is to keep the tree as thrifty as possible but not growing too fast. It is customary to sow oats or barley between the trees in June so as to assist in ripening the apple wood in the fall. This checks the growth of the blight. Some varieties of apples blight more than others.

In the winter time all blighted wood should be cut off and burned and then the trees looked over for cankers. These are places along the trunk and larger limbs where the disease is working. From these places the germs come out next spring to spread to other trees. These may be cut out and sterilized with corrosive sublimate or formaldehyde.

Squirrels Badly Fooled

The squirrels that abound in the savannas of Ottawa park, Toledo, Ohio, must have had a disappointment when they opened their stores of nuts this winter. They have been garnering golf balls from the golf course at the park. To prove this, some golfers placed a number of slightly soiled balls on a fairway and then hid behind a clump of bushes. Sure enough, a few moments later a number of squirrels darted out into the open and dashed away, leaving not a single ball.

Old Man Shot First.

At Marion a 19 year-old husband became estranged from his wife, or rather it is said the young wife returned to the parental abode because the youthful husband couldn't hold a job and make necessary provision for the household. Walking into his father-in-law's domicile the young husband remarked that "some one is going to die." The head of the house didn't stop to debate. Evidently believing the issue was drawn he shot first, and the young son-in-law was carried to the hospital suffering from three bullet wounds. The courts will say whether the father was too hasty, too violent, or whether he simply defended his household. Without any purpose to interfere in a family affair, sympathy here is with the old man. Considering the frequent reports of disgusted husbands shooting up the family, the father-in-law was wise to take no chances. If some one had to die, as the son-in-law declared, it had just as well be the man who was forcing the issue—far better, if you ask us.—Statesville Daily.

Harmony Carries Bond Election.

Harmony, Jan. 17.—The Harmony $15,000 bond election held Saturday, the 14th, carried in favor of the bond two to one. This speaks well for the progressive spirit of Harmony and puts the town that much nearer electric power and lights. A considerable fight was put up on both sides of the question. But now that the matter is settled all parties seem disposed to be friendly.

The town council is carefully considering all points in regard to the construction of the proposed power line. The council has not definitely decided at what point it will be best to come in connection with the Southern Power Company. As the direction of the line has not been settled, no steps have been taken in regard to the right of way. The council has suggestions from different sources. These matters will be worked out as time and circumstances demand.

One thing you hardly ever hear mentioned in connection with the new automobile is the interest on the deferred payments, and in the absence of anything to the contrary it may be inferred that this feature has undergone no change.—Greensboro News.

Apropos of the political outlook, The Charlotte News reminds that the Baptist and Methodists have approximately 600,000 members in the state, 250,000 or 275,000 of them being voters. That must be about right; and the figures will be interesting to remember.—Ex.
