STATISTICS OF UNIVERSITIES, COLLEGES, AND PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS, 1925-26

This report contains statistics of 975 universities, colleges, and professional schools for the year 1925-26. The principal items included are institutions, faculty, students, degrees, property, receipts, and some comparisons with previous reports.

INSTITUTIONS

Of the 975 institutions reporting, 154 are under public control and 821 are under private control. Rutgers University, formerly classed as an institution under private control, is now listed with those under public control. Indiana Dental College, formerly listed as an independent professional school under private control, has been absorbed by Indiana University. Independent professional schools, included above, number 156. Including both the independent professional schools and those which are departments of universities, there are 180 schools of theology, 136 schools of law, 77 schools of medicine, 43 schools of dentistry, 67 schools of pharmacy, 5 schools of osteopathy, and 12 schools of veterinary medicine.

In 1924, reports were received from 913 institutions. The addition of 62 reports in 1926 is due partly to reports from new junior colleges. The 1924 report includes 31 junior colleges under public control and 89 under private control. The 1926 report includes 47 under public control and 106 under private control, an increase over 1924 of 33 junior colleges. Eleven institutions, which have been organized in recent years, reported in 1926 for the first time.

PROFESSORS AND INSTRUCTORS

The total number of professors and instructors in these 975 institutions is 62,224, of which number 48,649 are men and 13,575 are women. In institutions under public control, 16,815 professors and instructors are men and 4,075 are women; in institutions under private control, 31,834 are men and 9,500 are women. This makes a total of 20,890 professors and instructors in institutions under public control and 41,334 under private control.

STUDENTS

The total number of students enrolled in all the institutions reporting is 822,895, of which number 509,732 are men and 313,163 are women. These totals include 33,185 men and 22,447 women in preparatory departments; 347,665 men and 247,793 women in collegiate departments; 20,159 men and 12,341 women in graduate departments; 92,591 men and 5,822 women in professional departments; and 23,211 men and 30,355 women registered as unclassified and special students. Schools of theology enrolled 13,655 students; schools of law, 40,359; schools of medicine, 19,682; schools of dentistry, 11,777; schools of pharmacy, 10,815; schools of osteopathy, 1,588; and schools of veterinary medicine 537. Schools of engineering enrolled 59,315 students. Institutions under public control enrolled 186,136 men and 104,757 women, and those under private control enrolled 323,596 men and 208,406 women. In addition to those included above, these institutions enrolled 209,454 students in summer schools, 3,772 in winter short courses, and 268,481 in extension and correspondence courses.

DEGREES

During the school year 1925-26 the universities and colleges conferred 41,106 baccalaureate degrees upon men and 30,423 upon women. These institutions and the professional schools conferred 7,700 graduate degrees upon men and 3,751 upon women. The professional schools conferred 20,096 first professional degrees, distributed as follows: Schools of theology, 1,357; schools of law, 7,938; schools of medicine, 4,122; schools of dentistry, 2,666; schools of pharmacy, 3,497; schools of osteopathy, 393; and schools of veterinary medicine, 123. In all, 1,214 honorary degrees were conferred, 3 of which were doctor of philosophy degrees. Included above in the graduate degrees are 1,302 Ph. D. degrees, 1,115 being conferred upon men and 187 upon women.

PROPERTY

In 1926 the value of grounds belonging to universities, colleges, and professional schools is reported as $225,721,958; of buildings as $911,498,850; of libraries, scientific apparatus, machinery, furniture, and other contents of buildings as $219,073,684; productive funds as $978,012,929; making a total belonging to these 975 institutions of $2,334,307,421. The total of benefactions received during the year is $118,144,084. The number of volumes in their libraries is reported as 37,549,463.

RECEIPTS

The total receipts of universities, colleges, and professional schools for 1925-26 are reported as $479,774,664, including receipts for additions to endowments. If receipts for additions to endowments are excluded, the total is $407,400,056. The following amounts were received from the sources indicated: Student fees, $101,499,120; room rent, $10,274,048; board, $32,072,876; productive funds, $49,748,999; State or city for increase of plant, $18,355,836; State or city for current expenses, $81,522,432; United States Government, $16,144,147; private benefactions for increase of plant, $29,473,324; private benefactions for additions to endowment, $72,374,608; private benefactions for current expenses, $16,396,853; all other sources, $51,912,421. The total income for the year for public institutions, including additions to endowments, is $176,205,020, and for private institutions, $303,569,644.

JUNIOR COLLEGES

Table 31 gives a summary of the statistics of 153 junior colleges located in 31 States. The schools under public control number 47, with 953 instructors and 13,850 students. Those under private control number 106 in 25 States, with 1,809 instructors and 22,660 students. In all these institutions the faculties number 2,762, and the students number 36,510. These schools do not include those which offer less than two years of college work.

COMPARATIVE STATISTICS

A study of Table 1 shows that, excluding preparatory students, 121,942 students were enrolled in higher institutions in 1890; 167,999 in 1900; 266,654 in 1910; 462,445 in 1920; 664,266 in 1924; and 767,263 in 1926. The annual rate of increase from 1890 to 1900 is approximately 4,600; from 1900 to 1910 it is 9,900; from 1910 to 1920, 19,600; and from 1924 to 1926 it is 51,438. The average annual increase in the number of strictly college students during the past six years is 50,786. Both the actual increase and the percentage increase have fallen off slightly since 1924. The increase of the 1922 enrollment over that of 1920 is 19 per cent, 1924 over 1922 is 21 per cent, and 1926 over 1924 is 15.5 per cent.

Enrollments in preparatory departments have been decreasing since 1922, the 1926 enrollment being less than that for 1900. Enrollments in graduate departments increased 47 per cent from 1920 to 1922, 25 per cent from 1922 to 1924, and 13 per cent from 1924 to 1926. Increases in the number of faculty members have not been quite as large as increases in the number of students. In 1920 the ratio of students to professors and instructors was 12.2; in 1922, 12.4; in 1924, 12.9; and in 1926, 13.2.

The number of first degrees and first professional degrees granted increased from 47,326 in 1920 to 59,873 in 1922, then to 79,582 in 1924, and to 91,625 in 1926. This is an increase of 27 per cent for the first two-year period, 33 per cent for the second, and 15 per cent for the third. The number of pupils enrolled for each one graduated was 9.8 in 1920, 9.2 in 1922, and 8.4 in both 1924 and 1926. The number of graduate degrees increased 51 per cent from 1920 to 1922, 26 per cent from 1922 to 1924, and 24 per cent from 1924 to 1926.

4. BIENNIAL SURVEY OF EDUCATION, 1924-1926

From 1924 to 1926 the total receipts increased from $388,242,587 to $479,774,664; receipts, excluding additions to endowments, increased from $341,515,910 to $407,400,056. Student fees increased from $81,171,612 to $101,499,120, and productive funds from $814,718,813 to $978,012,929 during the two periods. Excluding additions to endowments, student fees are 24.9 per cent of all college and university receipts for the year. Including additions to endowments, student fees are 21 per cent of all receipts.
