REVIEW OF AUGUST.

The crops continued to make satisfactory progress, and cheerfulness and optimism remained the dominant note in trade circles. Politics and political discussions loomed large in the columns of the newspapers, but were relegated to a subordinate place in mercantile affairs, though in the financial world they were looked upon as involving important possibilities. The nominees of the two regular parties, namely President Taft and Governor Woodrow Wilson, delivered their speeches of acceptance and the advocates of the third-party scheme held a National Convention at Chicago, which was dominated in all of its work and activity by Mr. Roosevelt, and promulgated a platform of principles that met expectations in being radical in the extreme and nominated Mr. Roosevelt himself as a candidate for President and Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California as a candidate for Vice-President. The new party adopted the name of the National Progressive Party.

Mr. Taft's declarations in his speech were satisfactory and assuring, inasmuch as they laid special stress on the fact that the Presidential contest the present year was a campaign for the maintenance of our institutions and for the preservation of the Constitution, this being termed the supreme issue confronting the voters. Governor Wilson's speech also had a conservative note in it, for he expressed himself with a good deal more caution than had been looked for on some of the leading issues of the day. For instance, with reference to a revision of the tariff he said: "When we act we should act with caution and prudence, like men who know what they are about, and not like those in love with a theory. It is obvious that the changes we make should be made only at such a rate and in such a way as will least interfere with the normal and healthful course of commerce and manufacture." With reference to combinations of capital he said he was not one of those "who think that competition can be established by law against the drift of a world-wide economic tendency", nor was he one of those "who believe that business done upon a great scale by a single organization—call it corporation, or what you will—is necessarily dangerous to the liberties, even the economic liberties, of a great people like our own, full of intelligence and of indomitable energy."

There was a distinctly favorable development in the fact that Congress had at last terminated its work and definitely adjourned. Adjournment was delayed again and again, and after first continuing the previous year's appropriations for the necessary operations of the Government so as to cover the first half of August, Congress was later obliged to extend the time until the close of the month. Adjournment came on Monday, Aug. 26. Congress had been at work since the preceding December and hence the session ranks among the longest on record. Speaker Clark said that, while there are a few sessions which have exceeded it in length, he believed that Congress had been actually in session more days since the first Monday in December than any other Congress that had ever sat. Much of the delay at the close was due to the fact that Congress undertook to graft new legislation on the appropriation bills which President Taft could not approve, making it necessary to send the bills back with his veto and obliging that body to repass the measures with the objectionable features eliminated. There were also points of difference between the two Houses regarding legislative measures of large importance, which differences conference committees found it difficult to adjust.

Even before Congress definitely adjourned it became evident that all measures for a radical revision of tariff duties must fail, owing to the opposition of President Taft. This was looked upon as a hopeful circumstance by those who regard tariff changes of any kind as disturbing to business interests. A conference bill on the wool schedule of the tariff was agreed upon by the two Houses of Congress early in the month, identical with the compromise bill passed by Congress in 1911 and vetoed by the President. Mr. Taft again vetoed the scheme (Aug. 9) but on Aug. 13 the House of Representatives passed the bill over the veto by a vote of 174 to 80, 21 Republicans having joined with the Democratic majority. On the 16th, however, the attempt to pass the bill over the veto failed in the Senate, a two-thirds vote being necessary for this purpose, whereas the actual vote was only 39 to 32, notwithstanding six Republican Insurgents voted with the Democrats, namely Senators La Follette, Bristow, Clapp, Crawford, Poindexter and Works. The bill revising the metal schedule met with a similar experience; on the 3d inst. the Senate receded from certain amendments to which the House would not agree and the bill was then passed and went to the President, who vetoed it Aug. 14. The House repassed it by a vote of 174 to 83, 16 Republicans voting with the Democrats, but in the Senate the result on the motion to repass was 39 to 32—not a two-thirds majority.

The result of the vetoes in these instances made it clear that no tariff legislation could be completed at the present session and that therefore it was useless for Congress to send any more bills to the President which he did not approve. The bill revising the chemical schedule had been defeated in the Senate the previous month—July 3. The Underwood bill revising the cotton schedule passed the House Aug. 2 by a vote of 158 to 72 and the Senate Aug. 14 by a vote of 36 to 19, but the latter body added a provision repealing all sections of the Canadian Reciprocity Act except those which permit the free entry of print paper and wood pulp, and the bill therefore did not reach the President.

The President's veto of other measures also proved successful. He vetoed the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Supply bill twice—the first time because it would abolish the United States Commerce Court and also because it fixed the tenure of Government clerks in the Civil Service at 7 years. An attempt at this time to override the veto failed in the House on Aug. 15 by a vote of 153 to 107, being less than the necessary two-thirds. The bill was sent to the President with the Civil Service restriction eliminated, but with the provision abolishing the Commerce Court retained. Another veto was the result, but this time the House was successful in repassing the bill, the vote being 154 to 53. In the Senate, however, the necessary two-thirds was lacking, the vote being 34 to 27. The bill was finally sent to the President with an appropriation for the continuance of the Commerce Court until March 4 1913, in which shape it received his signature. The Army appropriation bill, which the President had vetoed in June because of objectionable features therein, was also changed so as to meet the views of the President, and particularly by the elimination of the provision which would have legislated Major-General Leonard Wood from his office of Chief of Staff of the Army. The President was not successful in saving the Tariff Board, as the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill came to him with the provisions for the maintenance of the board stricken out. In the case of the Naval Appropriation bill, the Democrats of the House of Representatives held a new caucus (the 5th) and abandoned their program of "no battleships" so far as to allow Democratic members to vote for one new battleship; the bill in that shape reached the President and was signed by him, the Senate having yielded its demand for the building of two new battleships.

As already noted, the leading crops made satisfactory development. In the case of cotton the Department of Agriculture after the close of the month showed a slight decline in condition, but it became so apparent from week to week that, barring an early frost, the crop would be a large one, even if not up to that of the previous season, that prices sharply declined, and middling upland spot cotton in this market August 30 was quoted at only 11.25 cents, against 13.20 cents July 31. In the grain markets, also, the tendency of prices was downward except in the case of the September option for corn. In this last case, owing to the strength of the statistical situation, bear operators were forced to cover their outstanding short contracts and September corn at Chicago advanced from 65½ cts. August 7 to 74¼ cts. August 30, with the close August 31 72¼ cts.; the December option closed August 31 at only 55 cts. (17 cts. less, it will be observed, than September corn), against 57¼ cts. July 31. December wheat at Chicago closed August 31 at 93 cts., against 95½ cts. July 31, and December oats at Chicago 32¼ cts., against 34¼ cts.

The Bank of England August 28 advanced its rate of discount from 3 to 4% and in this country also money rates stiffened all around. One feature was the sudden calling of outstanding demand loans by Canadian banks and the last week of the month $2,600,000 gold was taken here for shipment to Canada. There was renewed demand by Germany for American loans in this market and Berlin bid 4¾% per annum for 3 months' loans, but secured comparatively little money at this figure on the dollar basis—that is, the money being specifically repayable in dollars so as to obviate any risk to the lender from the fluctuations in exchange. New York City banks completely withdrew as buyers of mercantile paper. Though discount rates at London advanced, a number of large speculative accounts were the latter part of the month transferred from New York to London as a result of the prospect (as distinct from the actual situation) of relatively easier carrying charges expected to be available later on at the British centre. There was also considerable borrowing by New York Stock Exchange commission houses in that market by means of 90-day finance bills.

Foreign exchange see-sawed a good deal, with prices moving alternately up and down within a narrow range. At the beginning of the month there was weakness on the drawing of 90-day bills in anticipation of the cotton movement, then there was a sharp recovery on short covering by speculative interests, only to be followed by renewed weakness on the further drawing of finance bills. The continued negotiation of these finance bills finally led to the advance in the Bank of England minimum from 3 to 4%. This and the higher discounts in the open market restricted new offerings of finance bills and caused an advance in exchange, but at the close there was a downward reaction again, owing to the transfer of Stock Exchange loans from this side to London and also by the selling abroad of a block of $5,000,000 New York City 90-day revenue bonds.

On the Stock Exchange the tendency of prices was towards a higher level, but there was no uniform advance and the upward movement was not uninterrupted. Indeed, at one time the market sagged and prices of some of the leading speculative shares made sharp declines. The enactment of the Panama Canal bill seemed to be the occasion for this particular period of weakness, owing mainly to the provision in the bill forbidding ownership or control by any railroad of water lines operated through the Panama Canal or elsewhere with which such railroad does or may compete. The market quickly regained its tone, owing to the favorable crop prospects and the continued activity of trade. The volume of business, however, remained very limited throughout, extreme dullness prevailing at times, due to the fact that large interests did not view the political outlook with complacency and for that reason were disinclined to enter into large engagements. Louisville & Nashville shares were a strong feature on the value of the rights in connection with the new stock issue.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.
2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method, and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bond or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.
3. The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.
4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.
5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.
7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

In quoting street and electric railway bonds, we employ the same method as in quoting the bonds of steam railroads. The great majority of issues being quoted "and interest," we use no designating mark whatever where that is the case. On the other hand, we prefix the letter "f" where there is a deviation from this rule; in such cases the interest forms part of the price. Unless, therefore, "f" appears against a quotation, the buyer will understand that the accrued interest is to be added on. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f," and income and defaulted bonds.

MISCELLANEOUS SECURITIES.

Quotations marked "f" indicate that accrued interest is included in the price. Prices not marked are "and interest"; that is, purchaser has to pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "I" and income and defaulted bonds.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

Table with columns: Bonds, Bid., Ask., To Net., Bonds, Bid., Ask., To Net., Bonds, Bid., Ask., To Net. The table lists various municipal bonds from states like Alabama, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value. Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement. Where Names are Printed in Italics Fuller Returns may be Found in the Advertising Columns
