REVIEW OF APRIL.

A new unfavorable turn to affairs was given during April by the development of a crisis in the relations between the United States and the Huerta Government in Mexico, resulting in a virtual state of war. The crisis came quite unexpectedly, but was natural, following the acute tension that had existed so long between our Government and the de facto government in Mexico. The facts will bear relating here, although they are of such recent occurrence that they are familiar to all.

On April 9 a paymaster of the U. S. "Dolphin" made a landing at Tampico with a whaleboat and a boat's crew for the purpose of getting certain supplies for his ship. While engaged in loading the boat he was arrested by an officer and squad of men of the Mexican Federals. According to President Wilson, neither the paymaster nor any one of the boat's crew was armed, and two of the men were in the boat when the arrest took place, and were obliged to leave it and submit to being taken into custody. It is stated that the boat carried both at her bow and at her stern the United States flag. While the American marines were being taken through one of the streets of the town, they were met by a Mexican officer of higher authority, who ordered his subaltern to return to the landing and await orders. Within an hour and a half from the time of the arrest the paymaster and his men were ordered released. Mr. Wilson states that the release was followed by apologies from the commander and later by an expression of regret from Huerta himself. Huerta urged that martial law was in force at Tampico at the time and that orders had been given that no one should be allowed to land. However, the United States naval commanders had not been notified of any such state of things. Admiral Mayo, the President states, regarded the arrest as so serious an affront that he was not satisfied with the apologies offered, but demanded that the flag of the United States be saluted by the military commander of the port by the fire of 21 guns.

It was the refusal of Huerta to agree to the salute, or rather his attempt to fix the conditions under which it should be given, that precipitated the crisis. Huerta suggested a simultaneous salute—by the Mexicans to the American flag and by the Americans to the Mexican flag. This was declined by our Government, which insisted on the rule laid down by Admiral Mayo that the American flag should be saluted and then, in accordance with international practice, our ships were to fire a return salute of 21 guns to the Mexican flag. Huerta was finally given an ultimatum requiring that he should signify his intention to comply with the demands of our Government by six o'clock Sunday night, April 19, and was informed that, failing to do this, President Wilson would submit the whole matter to Congress the next day and ask for authority to use the naval and military forces of the United States to compel obedience. Meanwhile, practically all the ships of the United States were ordered to proceed to Tampico and Vera Cruz to be prepared for eventualities.

At the last moment Huerta seemed to be ready to accede to the demand of our Government and his Minister of Foreign Affairs presented the draft of a protocol which the representatives of the United States were asked to sign in order that the agreement might be in written form. Our Government by this time had lost patience with him, and besides did not want to do anything that might possibly be construed as recognition of Huerta's claim to office. Accordingly, on Monday, April 20, Mr. Wilson read a special message to Congress enumerating the facts already related and pointing out that the Huerta administration had been guilty of other offenses, all of which seemed to reveal a studied purpose to offend the United States. Mr. Wilson said that a few days after the incident at Tampico an orderly from the U. S. "Minnesota" was arrested at Vera Cruz, while ashore in uniform to obtain the ship's mail, and was for a time thrown into jail. Furthermore, an official dispatch from the U. S. Government to its Embassy at Mexico City was withheld by the authorities of the telegraphic service until peremptorily demanded by the U. S. Charge d' Affaires in person. The President stated that so far as he could learn such wrongs and annoyances had been suffered to occur only against representatives of the United States. This, he urged, could not but "create the impression that the representatives of General Huerta were willing to go out of their way to show disregard for the dignity and rights of this Government, and felt perfectly safe in doing what they pleased, making free to show in many ways their irritation and contempt."

The President, accordingly, appealed to Congress and asked its approval in the use of "the armed forces of the United States in such ways and to such an extent as may be necessary to obtain from General Huerta and his adherents the fullest recognition of the rights and dignity of the United States." He expressed the hope that the U. S. Government could "in no circumstances be forced into war with the people of Mexico." If armed conflict should unhappily come as a result of Huerta's attitude of personal resentment toward our Government, we should be fighting only Huerta and those who adhere to him and give him their support. The House of Representatives took immediate action and passed a resolution the same day granting the authority requested. The Senate passed a similar resolution two days later, but with the language somewhat changed, which the House then accepted. In the meantime, however—on Tuesday, April 21—marines from the United States warships made a landing at Vera Cruz and seized the city. This was done to prevent the discharge at that port of a supposed consignment of ammunition for the Huerta Government carried by a German vessel.

Events now followed in rapid succession. On Wednesday, April 22d, Huerta delivered his passports to Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Charge d' Affaires at Mexico City, while on Thursday the Mexican Charge d' Affaires in this country was recalled. President Wilson was particularly anxious to conciliate the Constitutionals, who hold control of practically the whole of Northern Mexico, and was very much grieved to receive a message from General Carranza, sent in answer to one sent by Secretary of State Bryan, in which Carranza protested against the act of the United States in occupying Vera Cruz and characterized the step as "a violation of the rights that constitute our existence as a free and independent sovereignty and which will drag us into an unequal war, which until to-day we desired to avoid."

On Saturday, April 25, a pacific turn was given to affairs by the tender of the good offices of the Argentine, Brazilian and Chilean governments. Secretary of State Bryan at once made a favorable response and expressed the hope that they might "find those who speak for the several elements of the Mexican people willing and ready to discuss terms of satisfactory, and therefore permanent, settlement." He said that if they should find them willing "this Government will be glad to take up with you for discussion in the frankest and most conciliatory spirit any proposals that may be authoritatively formulated, and will hope that they may prove feasible and prophetic of a new day of mutual cooperation and confidence in America." He took the precaution, however, to state that "this Government feels bound in candor to say that its diplomatic relations with Mexico being for the present severed, it is not possible for it to make sure of an uninterrupted opportunity to carry out the plan of intermediation which you propose." He declared it was possible that some act of aggression on the part of those who control the military forces of Mexico might oblige the United States to act, to the upsetting of hopes of immediate peace. It was at first deemed doubtful whether Huerta could be prevailed upon to accept, but he soon accepted "in principle". General Carranza, too, indicated acquiescence. Our Government, however, expressed unalterable determination not to accept any plan of settlement that did not involve the complete elimination of Huerta himself. In the meantime the United States forces retain possession of Vera Cruz, a military form of government having been established there and the marines having been replaced by regular troops.

Our stock market suffered a large and general decline in prices. The collapse in values was not entirely due to the Mexican situation. There were many other contributing causes and the course of prices was strongly downward even before the Mexican situation reached its acute stage. One event was a further large break in Canadian Pacific shares, induced in part by the fact that the Dominion of Canada is having a setback in its industrial development, but in the main because the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada on April 7, after investigation begun two years ago, ordered substantial reductions in freight rates on roads in Western Canada, effective September 1. Lehigh Valley shares also sustained a sharp break in prices. Missouri Pacific, under enormous sales, dropped several points on rumors suggesting difficulty in meeting the company's large maturing note issues. Missouri Kansas & Texas preferred shares sold off on doubts regarding the continuance of dividends, which doubts were seen to have been well grounded when, later, the further payment of dividends was definitely suspended. The Steel shares were, on the whole, well maintained, notwithstanding the unsatisfactory state of the iron and steel trade, but nevertheless declined several points. The company's statement for the March quarter, issued April 28, showed that the company had earned nothing for the common shares in this quarter and that the 1¼% dividend had to be paid out of surplus. Mexican Petroleum shares were, of course, adversely affected by conditions down in Mexico and American Smelting & Refining stock suffered in part for the same reason. Amalgamated Copper evinced some weakness because of the less satisfactory state of the copper trade. Colorado Fuel & Iron sold off by reason of the dangerous strike situation at the coal mines in Colorado, which reached such a serious stage that the Governor of the State had to call upon President Wilson for the aid of the Federal Government in subduing lawlessness. The market took a turn for the better the latter part of the month as Mexican affairs began to assume a less warlike aspect. This, and one or two other favoring influences, brought about an upward reaction in prices, under which a part of the previous losses was recovered.

In the money market there was distinct firmness in the rates for time loans the latter part of the month, owing to the Mexican troubles and the fear that this might necessitate extensive borrowing on the part of the Government, which, in turn, might affect monetary and investment conditions. The firmness, however, was more a matter of sentiment than a rise in rates, though rates did advance fractionally.

Foreign exchange was strong throughout the month and rates for sterling bills recorded a sharp rise. The rise was caused by the stiffening of discount rates at London and by sharp bidding for gold in London by both Russia and France. Russia obtained a large portion of one of the weekly offerings of South African gold by paying a premium of 5/8 pence per ounce over the Mint price. The latter part of the month exportations of gold appeared to be clearly in sight, unless home exigencies resulting from the Mexican complications should result in pressure to discourage the movement.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1914. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security (excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. All quotations in the column headed "Price about January 2 1914" were made on that date, except those in italic which are the nearest in January 1914. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. This method of quoting bonds became effective January 2 1909.

For foot-notes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

GENERAL QUOTATIONS

OF ### BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.
2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method, and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.
3. The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.
4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.
5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.
6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.
7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

In quoting street and electric railway bonds, we employ the same method as in quoting the bonds of steam railroads. The great majority of issues being quoted "and interest," we use no designating mark whatever where that is the case. On the other hand, we prefix the letter "f" where there is a deviation from this rule; in such cases the interest forms part of the price. Unless, therefore, "f" appears against a quotation, the buyer will understand that the accrued interest is to be added on. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mar. is employed

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

MISCELLANEOUS SECURITIES.

Quotations marked "J" indicate that accrued interest is included in the price. Prices not marked are "and interest," that is, purchaser has to pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities held to maturity will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

Where Names are Printed in Italics Fuller Returns may be Found in the Advertising Columns
