Foreword

As we approach the end of these four golden years of college life we pause to chronicle here some of our memories. Here in this book we have attempted to portray our college, its life and its students. Our hope is that this volume may be able to bring back fond memories to those who have spent happy days here in the past, and that in later years we may be able to turn again these pages and dream of our college days.

We issue this book with the hope that it may meet with your approval. There have been some rough places along the way, but could we feel that the results of our labor might in any way serve to rekindle or keep alive in you your love for Western Maryland, we feel assured that our efforts have not been in vain.

THE COLLEGE

ALBERT NORMAN WARD, A.M., D.D., LL.D.

President of Western Maryland College
Western Maryland College, A.B., '95,
George Washington University, A.M., '01

Graduate student in English and History, George Washington University '01-'04.
Kansas City University, LL.D., '22.

Western Maryland has been singularly fortunate in the choice of her presidents. During her fifty-odd years of existence there have been only three men to occupy the chair of President. The third occupant is really just entering upon his term of office. Let us turn for just a moment to our president—Dr. Ward. A graduate of Western Maryland and later a professor he has always been more or less intimately associated with the college. Dr. Ward is a man who believes in building for the future. His firm belief is that "Where there is no vision the people perish." His mind is ever busy with plans for a greater Western Maryland, and his dream is even now partially realized by the completion of Hoffa Field and the erection of McDaniel Hall. With the cooperation of the alumni and friends of the school no doubt there will come to be situated on College Hill a Greater Western Maryland.

Nor have his efforts been confined to material things alone. Under his administration the curriculum has undergone a thorough revision, and the scholarship standard is being steadily raised. The enrollment of the school is growing by leaps and bounds. Athletics are taking a forward stride. And behind all these advancements stands Dr. Ward. Shall we not in turn stand behind him and heartily lend our best efforts to the further advancement of our beloved Alma Mater?

YELL

Ray! ree! row! rah!
 Ray! Sis! Boom! Bah!
 Ou polla, alla pollou,
 We're the class that's tried and true,
 Est altissimum, ac nobilissimum,
 Always true to W. M. C.
 Semper memor, nihil compar.
 Nineteen hundred and twenty three.

No other class united
 Like the class of twenty-three.

Chorus:

Give a cheer for three and twenty,
 Ever loyal let us be;
 Keep her memory ever with us,
 Nineteen hundred twenty-three.

CLASS SONG

We're the class of three and twenty;
 And we always do our best.
 On the field or at the college
 We have always stood the test;
 And we cheer for Western Maryland.
 Help her win the victory.

When our college days are over
 And we must asunder part,
 We will take her memory with us,
 Dear to each and every heart.
 In her spirit we will battle,
 Boldly face our every foe;
 With maroon and black our colors,
 Ever onward, upward go.

The History of the Class of 1923

And it came to pass, in the year 1919, that two monstrous events took place—the signing of the Treaty of Versailles, and the entrance of the Class of '23 into the portals of Western Maryland College. It must be admitted that there was scarcely as much publicity given to the latter, but we “young hopefuls” who were making our debut regarded that as a mere oversight. What a blow it was to find that from lofty High School Seniors we were doomed to degradation as Freshies, and (O horror of the name!) Rats.

However we were not long in recovering from the shock and proceeded to take a firm hold on the lowest rung in the ladder. From a would-be sophisticated lot we soon merged into obliging Freshmen. At the suggestion of the Sophomores the male portion of the class was known to wander out at all hours of the night in search of left-handed monkey-wrenches and yards of scrimmage line for the football coach. Our efforts in football were not limited to midnight searches for we can boast several members on the Varsity Squad. In basket-ball we held our own against the upper-classmen and gained second place in the inter-class series. Surely in the spring a young man's fancy turns to—baseball, for here again the Varsity was indebted to the Class of '23. We finished out the year with a grand and glorious cremation of dear old Virgil, dead to rise no more.

Some men are born great, others achieve greatness, and still others belong to the Sophomore Class. Such was our idea of the fitness of things when, minus a few of the original flock, we returned to W. M. C. in the fall of 1920. With a vim we plunged into the very heart of affairs. As host at the Hallowe'en Party we covered ourselves with much glory, honor, and confetti. Even Sophs must have their “downs” so our frequent class meetings were the scene of many a bitter conflict, luckily the only casualties suffered being a few bruised and wounded spirits which the kindly hand of time has long since healed. In the annual gridiron conflict we succumbed to the Freshmen, but who is great who has not tasted defeat? Undaunted we rallied our forces anew and one balmy day in spring showed the Rats their proper place in a hard-fought battle on the diamond.

As is usually the case the Junior Year found our ranks sadly thinned. Fortunately to somewhat fill the gap a few new faces came to find a place in our midst. Old and new alike plunged into the work at hand with a new note of seriousness and a resolve to conquer,—come what might. This determination showed in all our activities and we are indeed proud of the fact that the orator for the State inter-collegiate contest was taken from our midst.

The Senior year finds us firmly grasping the final rung in our college ladder. One of our worthy achievements is the producing of the Aloha, as this will be the first time for about twenty years, that books have appeared for two successive years. Busy with the work yet to be done and eagerly looking toward the future, guided by the strength of our first triumph we shall endeavor to meet whatever lies ahead on the road of life. In the years to come may our names ever bring credit and honor to our dear Alma Mater.

HARRISON MCMENAR BALDWIN
"Farmer"

Millersville, Md.

Major—Political Science

Entered Sophomore year from
 St. John's College, Annapolis,
 Maryland

Pres. Student Council; Vice Pres.
 Advisory Board; Lieut. R. O. T.
 C.; Officers' Club; Class Basketball
 '22; Class Baseball '21, '22; Varsity
 Baseball, '21, '22, '23; Rifle Team,
 '22; Varsity Club.

"None but himself could be his parallel."

In the middle of our Sophomore year this young man entered our class, coming to us from St. John's. He is the lone male member of our class from Anne Arundel County. "Farmer," as he is known by all the school, is well-liked both by girls and boys. He is always ready for a trick of any kind, whether he be the recipient or the performer. One of his greatest delights is to play checkers. No one has any idea how many games he has played at college. But it is in the military department that he shines most brilliantly, being one of the greatest friends this department has. Strikeless he has been during his stay here, but a red speck now appears on the horizon, and no one can predict whether sun or storm will follow.

ALICE ELIZABETH BILLMYER

"Alice"

Westminster, Md.

Major—History Browning

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory School

"To persevere in one's duty and to be silent."

Alice is the one silent member of our class. When a child, she was evidently drilled so thoroughly in the rule "Children should be seen and not heard," that she has never forgotten it. If anyone is ever in doubt about an assignment, Alice is the one to go to for she has a remarkable aptitude for hearing the voice of the Professor above the din of voices occasioned by the ringing of the bell. Our quiet maiden came into the lime-light on a certain Friday afternoon in Browning when, in the guise of an innocent country boy, she was "vamped" by our former classmate, Virginia Dodge. Alice has never broken a single college rule, in fact all need for such would disappear if everyone were as free from wayward thoughts as Alice.

NICEY VELMA BROOKS

"Velma"

Madison, Md.

Major—History Philomathean

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory School

President Dorchester County
Club; Secretary Y. W. C. A. '23;
Chairman of Mission Study '22;
Treasurer of Philomathean Literary Society '21; Y. W. C. A.; G. S.
G. A.; G. A. A.; J. G. C.; Dorchester County Club.

*"Only a sweet and virtuous soul
Like seasoned timber, never gives."*

Yes, we are sure of Velma. How comforting to know that she won't yield, and some night in reckless humor overthrow the bonds of student rule, and with some gallant bold and sly, sneak down town to the movies when the dean has shut her eye. But not only to G. S. G. A. is she forever true, but also for Y. W. C. A. she loyally will do just anything and everything that there is to be done. And do you want a faithful friend? Sure, Velma will be one. Some of the girls wonder how she keeps so very sweet. We've found it's from the sugar she doth plentifully eat. Good nature is her middle name—she lends things all year round—but ask her for some sugar, "Why, I just ate that pound." Her many girl friends love her but with her will not go to conference or parties for she will catch a beau—and leave them in the lurch. She is interested in the church, and for many years we thought that she would be a ministers' wife, but now we hear of one with whom she may lead a different life.

WILLIAM WILEY CHASE
"Bill"

Emmitsburg, Md.

Major—Biology Irving

Entered from Baltimore City College, Baltimore, Md.

Major R. O. T. C. Battalion;
President Irving, 1st. Term, '22;
Treas. Irving '20; Pres. Jesters '23;
Vice-Pres. '22; Pres. Frederick County Club; Pres. Rifle Club;
Asst. Business Manager Aloha; Society Prelim '20, '21, '22; Debate
'20; Contestant '22; Honorable Mention '21; Sec. Y. M. C. A. '22,
Treas. '23; Class Football '19, '20;
Inter-Collegiate Contest Prelim '22,
'23; Student Government Board
'22; Honor Board; Advisory Board;
Rifle Team; Officers' Club; Choral
Club '21, '22; Choir; Minstrels, '21.

*"How many fine people there are in this world if you only scratch
'em deep enough."*

Bill is the son of a Presbyterian clergyman, and as a rule the sons of preachers do not often have an enviable reputation but Bill is just "not that kind of a boy." In his freshman year Bill had a great liking for French, and being a practical sort of fellow he desired to make use of his learning. He was not long in meeting Amie, and for a time all was well, but later Bill had a change of Hart because he was more interested in chemistry. When in doubt as to what is going to happen the Senior Class always trots over to Bill before proceeding because he generally has the "inside dope." Bill has always been a booster of Irving, has represented her on two occasions and given a good account of himself. Probably the honor that he prizes most is his majorship in the R. O. T. C. Bill is the sort of fellow who believes in going ahead. Tell you what. Look in "Who's Who in America," 1940 edition.

WILLIAM PAUL COOPER
"Educator"

Wilmington, Del.

Major—History Irving

Entered the Junior year from Delaware College, Newark, Del.

Vice-President Irving, 2nd. Term '23; Critic Irving 1st. Term '22; Lieut. R. O. T. C.; Officers' Club.

"It would talk, Lord! how it talked."

Who is it that would give you his last shoe and then crack a joke about his having to go barefoot? Paul Cooper, junior partner in the Hooper-Cooper Company, automobiles; tail-lights a specialty. This energetic disciple of the great Munchausen arrived at W. M. C. via Delaware College in his Junior year.

"And what a dreary place 'twould be, Without his effervescent glee."

Cooper is noted for his wit and auction sales. Who has not sat in the Senior Club and listened spell-bound to Cooper's observations on diplomas or his tales of Delaware. One of Cooper's redeeming features is his interest in education. Who can forget his famous speech for education in military class? We prophesy that one day Cooper will be grinning at his own little education class in some far-away college.

Does he go to parlor? You Betty does!

SARAH ELIZABETH CORKRAN

"Bootsy"

Rhodesdale, Md.

Major—French Philomathean

Entered from Hurlock High School, Hurlock, Md.

President Philo Society '23;
Vice-Pres. Philo '22; Treasurer
Philo '22; Class Basketball Team
'20; G. S. G. A.; G. A. A.; J. G. C.; U. Y. B. E. A.; Dorchester County Club.

"The only way to have a friend is be one."

The Eastern Sho' boasts another loyal daughter in this fair lassie, demure and petite. Though so tiny, she holds her own in any company. An interesting conversationalist, Bootsy always can go you one better when it comes to swapping yarns. Her "Go-slow-on-bicycle" is quite a favorite and wins much applause. At any time of the day she goes the rounds with a cheery "Come on, girls, let's have a game," and she is always eagerly welcomed. Athletics charm her too. She will tell you that baseball is good but the most interesting thing about the game is the pitchers. How many pitchers' scalps have you, Bootsy? 'Tis quite a goodly number at any rate. The most loyal of friends is Bootsy and happy is the individual who can call her that. Blessed with a sunny disposition, she skips through life with a smile for everyone. The top of the world to you, Bootsy, forever and a day.

VIRGINIA LAVINIA EYSTER
"Lavy"

Emmitsburg, Md.

Major—French Philomathean

Entered from Thurmont High School, Thurmont, Md.

President Philo '23; Critic Philo
 '22; Local Editor Monthly '23;
 Philo Prelim '20, '21, '22; Philo
 Contestant '22; Class Basketball
 Team '21, '22, '23; Class Tennis
 Team '21; G. S. G. A.; G. A. A.;
 J. G. C.; Frederick County Club;
 U. Y. B. E. A.

*"Better be small and shine
 Than be large and cast a shadow."*

This diminutive maid hails from Emmitsburg and evidently is quite fond of the old home-town for most every week-end finds her home-ward bound accompanied by—can't you guess?—Friend Ezrie Ford. But all her time is not spent on the road. By no means. Eyster is really a busy-bee as any of her pals will assure you. Much time she spends in the library and her work stands out par excellence. In society affairs, she is a leader and is much in demand whenever originality and general ability are being sought. Last June as a contestant with the aid of her colleague she led Philo to victory and will ever be heralded in Philo Hall as a heroine. Virginia, all that can be wished for you is that the triumphs and joys of your college days may be repeated throughout your life.

CAROLINE FOUTZ

"Caroline"

Westminster, Maryland

Major—English Browning

Entered from Westminster High School, Westminster, Md.

Honorable Mention '20; Browning Prelim '20, '21; G. A. A.; J. G. C.

*"There is a garden in her face
Where roses and white lilies blow."*

Caroline, how poetic the name! And indeed, could anything be more fitting for our beautiful blonde? Does she not look like she has just stepped out of a picture frame? In fact, this actually took place one day in Browning Hall, when Caroline very successfully took the part of the Lady of the Portrait in the "Beau of Bath."

Not only in plays, however, but in real life does this modest unassuming lass capture our hearts. She doesn't make much noise but she gets there just the same—look where she stands in class work. The girls are very glad she is a doctor's daughter because she can tell us what to do in case of emergencies—fainting, for instance. But when one of us fainted we were so excited that we failed to carry out her instructions. She is an apt student in House Designing and maybe there is a need. At least a clerk thought so for one day Caroline ordered a box of stationery with the letter F but when it came it was the letter B. We wish her success and happiness.

PAUL HUGUS FRANTZ

"Paul" "Hugus"

Reisterstown, Md.

Major—History Webster

Entered from Tome Institute,
Port Deposit, Md.

Class President '21, '22; Ex-Captain Baseball '23; Varsity Baseball '20, '21, '22; Capt. R. O. T. C.; Advisory Board; Varsity Club; Officers' Club; Rifle Team '22; Class Football '20, '21; Class Basketball '21; Class Baseball '20, '21.

*"I've taken my fun when I've found it
I've rouged and I've rouged in my time."*

The above lines are an accurate description of the ex-president of our class. Ever since his coming to College Hill Frantz has been a trade mark for mischief. In his last year, however, he has calmed down (as Seniors will do) and is beginning to plan the shortest way to the white house. In his brief sojourn on College Hill Frantz has made "When you and I were young" famous by his constant repetition of it, water scarce by his ceaseless use of it, and himself popular by his—but why elaborate superfluously?

Paul has played on the baseball team all three seasons, and has done credit to our school by his skill in catching. We are sure that he will catch his opportunities just as well and win the game of life in spite of adversity's hard hitters.

CHARLOTTE GOUGH

"Charlie"

Wicomico, Md.

Major—French Philomathean

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory School.

Vice-Pres. Philo '23; Captain
Varsity Basketball Team '23; Student Government Board '23; Class
Basketball Team '21, '22; Varsity
Basketball Team '23; G. S. G. A.; G. A. A.; J. G. C.

"She was wont to speak plain and to the purpose."

An habitue of McDaniel Hall entering that corridor on which the rooms of the class of '23 are situated, and hearing gladsome noises issuing forth, will say, "Here's Charlotte," and start in the general direction of No. 13, for wherever Charlotte is, you may be sure a jolly crowd has gathered. In sports, this girl from Southern Maryland is quite a star. She is a good all-round athlete but basketball is her specialty. As Captain of the varsity six, she rallied her team in many a hard-fought game. Charlotte is an adept and frequent wielder of woman's weapon, the tongue, yet we cannot regret this ability when it is used to such good advantage as it is in her case. Many a frown has been changed to a smile by Charlotte's merry words and happy chuckle. She has a ready sympathy and a cheerful disposition that make her friendship a prized possession once it is gained.

JOHN AUGUSTUS HAVER

"Gus"

Childs, Md.

Major—History Irving

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory School.

Pres. Irving; Chairman of Class '20; Advisory Board '22, '23; Captain Football '23; Manager Baseball '23; Varsity Football '20, '21, '22, '23; Class Football '20, '21; Class Baseball '20; Boys' Student Council '23; Lieut. R. O. T. C.; Society Debate '22; Society Contest '21; Society Prelim '20; Society Contest Alternate '22; Officers' Club; Glee Club; Varsity Club.

*"I am no orator as Brutus is,
But as you know me all, a plain blunt man."*

A graduate of the "Prep" school, "Gus" has spent more years at Western Maryland than any one else. Some of us wonder whether there ever was a time that he was not a member of this institution. He has always taken a great interest in athletics, and along this line surpasses every one else in the class. No one who has had any interest in football during the past year has failed to hear the praises of Haver's men. Although plain in dress and speech, there is no one who will not admit that "Gus" has won a soft place in their hearts. Another one of his sterling qualities is his devotion to his literary society, and there is no doubt but that he has both rewarded his society and been rewarded by her.

EARLE TAYLOR HAWKINS

"Earle," "Hawck"

Churchville, Md.

Major—English Irving

Entered from Bel Air High School,
Bel Air, Md.

Editor-in-Chief Aloha; Vice-President of Y. M. C. A.; Pianist of Y. M. C. A. '21, '22, '23; Secretary Advisory Board; Musical Director Sunday School; Vice-Pres. Irving 1st. term '22-'23; Sec. Irving; Critic Irving; Pres. Harford County Club; Capt. R. O. T. C.; Librarian Sunday School '21; Honorable Mention '20, '21, '22; Class Medal '22; Elocution Medal '21; Choral Club '21, '22; Choir; Inter-Collegiate Prelim '22, '23; Minstrels '21; Jesters '22; Dramatic Club; Theological Association; Treasurer Officers' Club; Elocution Contest '20; Society Prelim '20, '21, '22; Class Tennis '20.

"All that's generous, all that's kind—Friendship, virtue, every grace."

The honors mentioned above are all that we can give to him here, but there are a great many more that could be mentioned. His large spacious room is nearly always filled with Seniors all day long, and often far into the night. Ever since his Freshman year Earle has managed to Dodge the girls, but to get away from the boys has been quite a different matter. There is no boy more popular among his classmates than this representative from Harford County. His trials in connection with the editing of the Aloha have given him experience enough to make him successful in almost anything he undertakes. Earle claims that his success is due largely to the fact that he does not frequent parlor, but we all wonder if such is really the case.

GILBERT CARROLL HOOPER

"Hoop"

Hoopersville, Md.

Major—History Webster

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory School

Pres. Advisory Board; Publicity Agent Varsity Club; Athletic Editor Aloha; Lieut. R. O. T. C.; Officers' Club; Publicity Agent Dorchester County Club; Society Prelim '22; Varsity Baseball '21, '22; Class Baseball '20, '21; Class Football '20, '21; Dramatic Club; Glee Club.

"Verily, oh man, with truth for thy theme, eloquence shall throne thee with archangels."

This young man long before he reached the halls of our Preparatory School had acquired such fame that a small island was named after him. Hooper has made considerable strides since coming on the hill. One of his greatest assets is his oratory. His acting and his adaptability to many parts bespeak success for him as an actor or convincing speaker. While not a wonderful athlete himself, he has always been interested in athletics, and his handling of athletic matters during the past year is a credit to him and to the college in general. Hooper is another of those "strikeless" Seniors, but there are many who believe that "Hoop" knows a great deal more than he says. A little more attention to details and a more intense application to work and there is no doubt that success awaits to crown his efforts.

MARY ESTELLE HOUCK

sion at Eaglesmere '22; Y. W. C.

"True worth is in being, not seeming."

Is anyone blue or discouraged?
Does anyone need a lift materially or spiritually? If so, you will see her wending her way toward Estelle's room. Immediately a cheery laugh is heard and blues simply cannot remain. The victim comes forth with a new determination to go on and "get there." This is just one of Estelle's many fine characteristics. She is so ambitious that she takes as many courses as are allowable and wishes for more, without impairing in the least the quality of her work. She is one of our stars in dramatics and excels in making stage models. We shall never forget a certain scene in "Lonesome-Like" in which Jones, in the guise of an ardent lover, carried off Estelle amid cheers and laughter from the audience. This is the only scandal we know of in connection with her, however. She also has ability in writing poetry and with this combination of talents, we believe it will not be long until Estelle will be writing her own plays, preparing her own scenery, and in short, reforming the theatre by her productions.

HOWARD MITCHELL JONES

"Jones"

Washington, D. C.

Major—History Irving

Entered from Corinth High School, Corinth, Miss.

President Irving, 2nd. Term '23; Critic and Secretary Irving; Art Editor Aloha; Manager and Capt. Tennis '23; Lieut. R. O. T. C.; Secretary Republican Club; Advisory Board; Varsity Club; Dramatic Club; Officers' Club; Minstrels '21; Irving Prelim '22; Irving Contestant '22; Class Football '19, '20; Class Baseball '19, '20; Class Basketball '19, '20; Class Tennis '19, '20; Varsity Tennis '20, '21, '22, '23.

*"O sleep, it is a gentle thing,
Beloved from pole to pole."*

Who is it sits at yonder desk typing elocution for his pupils at the Prep School? Howard Vaselino, the Sheik of Washington, D. C. and Dr. James's only rival in rehearsing the praises of our Federal City. He is well qualified to do so, for his oratorical ability is marked, and he has been honored by representing his society at the June Oratoricals.

Only one thing does Jones love better than sleep and that is military—and his life's ambition will be realized when he gets his commission.

Jones' forte is tennis and his major Parlor. In both of these he raises a racquet. Jones is also a clever typist, and is very generous with his skill, having helped us many a time with our orations and letters. King Tut described him accurately as he sang,

*"He claimed no honors in studies;
But he stood ace-high with his buddies."*

CARLOTTA ANNABEL KINNAMON
 "Carlotty"
 Easton, Md.

Major—Chemistry Philomathean
 Entered Sophomore Year from Easton High School, Easton, Md.

Treasurer Philo '22; Aloha Staff;
 Assistant Business Manager Monthly '23; Honorable Mention '21, '22;
 Philo Prelim '22; Class Basketball
 Team '22; G. S. G. A.; G. A. A.;
 J. G. C.; B. P. B.

*"Know, prudent, cautious self-control
 Is wisdom's root."*

Carlotta came here as a Soph and brought her brains all with her. And since she's been here, like as not, we thought that they just might, might wither, for the way she walks and the way she talks on the campus or in parlor, and the way she smiles and the way she whiles away the time in our summer-arbor, would an ordinary mortal's equilibrium upset, but it doesn't phase Carlotta—not a single, tiny bit. For she's just as much a shining light in chemistry and math, as she is within the parlor or out upon the path. So all the girls quote her an exception to the rule "That boys and books won't mix"—old dope oft given to those in school. In our dorm we know her by the eternal question, "What?" (Yes, she does, don't let her tell you she does not) and by slamming doors—but putting slams aside; what would we do without her who is both our joy and pride?

MARIE KATHLEEN LANGRALL

net; Sunday School Librarian '22,

*"Her eyes like mountain water
That's flowing from a rock.
How clear they are! How cool they are!
And they give me many a shock."*

We are glad to introduce Kathleen who is the only member of the class fortunate enough to win such a nick-name as "good-lookin' ". This is not her only attribute, however, for optimism is her middle name.
She is not the type of girl who is on the house tops one minute and down in the valley the next, but rather makes the "housetop" her permanent position. We feel it necessary to warn those who are not quite as familiar with her as we are that she is a "born flirt."

*"Watch boys—mind those eyes
For they work as cupid's spies."*

We know this is not acquired though, because the mere suggestion of this fact to her is our one sure way of being able to ruffle her feathers. Kathleen tells us that she intends to teach but we doubt the permanency of this proposed plan for we know of a certain letter that is mailed at frequent intervals from the college post-office to a former classmate. He gave her a little present this year which assures us that although he cannot be here in person, he intends to keep a "watch" on her.

MICHAEL DAVID LEISTER

"Mike"

Hampstead, Md.

Major—Chemistry Irving

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory SchoolSecretary Irving Literary Society, 3rd Term '23; Officers' Club; Lieut.
R. O. T. C.; Class Football '19, '20."A merry heart doeth good like a medicine."

Mike is a veteran of the Prep School and the only one of our number that has never been to parlor. Some men have their millions, others their dazzling wit—Mike has his smile.

He does not participate in athletics, but his indoor sports are quite refreshing. How many tricks he has played on his classmates we cannot say, since the "Dirty Dozen" broke our adding machine. Trying to turn a tune, and to kid his classmates with a straight face are his two besetting sins.

This native of Hampstead loves a good time, and has seen much history made on the hill which others were not permitted to see. He has been to two summer camps and likes them so well that he expects to go to another. We believe he was made for a soldier and are confirmed in our belief when Mike sprouts out in his Sam Browne and two disks. "Squads right—snap into it!"

MARTHA ELIZA MANAHAN

"Matsie"

Westminster, Md.

Major—Home Economics
Browning

Entered from Westminster High
School, Westminster, Md.

Secretary of Browning Literary Society '22, '23; Honorable Mention
'20, '21; Browning Prelim '20, '21;
Alternate '21; G. A. A.; J. G. C.

*"Grace was in all her steps, heaven
in her eyes,
In every gesture dignity and love."*

Martha is one of the most attractive girls of '23. She, like the Martha of old, is "cumbered about much serving" as she is one of our two domestic science specialists. Behind closed doors, she mixes the elements destined to tempt the appetite. The very sight of Martha's snow-white attire makes one think of calories, vitamins, and all that goes with a model domestic laboratory. Most any time you look around you can see her and Pete with their heads together scheming some new dish with which to delight the faculty. Martha declares that she is going to pass on the knowledge of her art to the rising generation, but most of us are led to think that she will be diverted from this purpose. Indeed, it is even hinted that she will have almost no need for her special knowledge for a Queen (a King's wife) manifestly would not.

GILBERT DAVID MARTIN

"Gib"

Manchester, Md.

Major—Chemistry Irving

Entered from Westminster High School, Westminster, Md.

Honorable Mention '21; Freshman and Sophomore Elocution Contest; Officers' Club; Lieut. R. O. T. C.

"The best of me is diligence."

Gib is one of the few who completed camp in six weeks. He is a scientific student and proves that it does not take a large body to have an active brain. Although a town student, Martin has made himself conspicuous on the hill by being in elocution contests in his Freshman and Sophomore years and by distinguishing himself in Irving. He and Stonesifer are always seen together, and we have a suspicion that they will both enter life together.

If silence is golden, Gib must be worth a million. He is one of the "quiet kind" who always surprise you by their unexpected remarks at an unexpected time. Chemistry is his hobby, and we hope to see him some day pacing the hall of fame with Avogadro. Go to it, Gib, and take our best wishes with you.

MARGUERITE McCANN

"Peg" "Gifty"

Street, Maryland

Major—English Philomathean

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory School

Chairman of Honor System; Vice President of Harford County Club; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; G. S. G. A. Board; Critic of Philomathean '22; Aloha Staff; Honorable Mention '20, '21, '22; Sophomore Elocution Contest; Philomathean Preliminary Contest '22; G. A. A.; J. G. C.; Y. W. C. A.; Harford County Club; S. S. S.

*"My Peggy is a young thing,
Just having passed her teens,
Fair as the day, and sweet as May,
Fair as the day, and always gay;
My Peggy is a young thing."*

When you gaze upon this youthful maiden perhaps you will think that a mistake has been made in placing her among the Seniors, but she is an honest-to-goodness graduate in spite of her bobbed hair and childish expression.

*She is Peg, our Irish lass,
One of the youngest in our class,
Full of humor, wit, and cheer,
And indeed is quite a dear.*

On account of her unusual gift of talking almost incessantly on every subject under the sun she has won for herself the nickname of "Gifty." However, Peggy is all right and just the right sort of a girl to have around to cheer us up after the strain of exams. She places such implicit trust in her roommate's judgment that when we ask her opinion on any subject she is apt to answer: "Ask Skeby. See what she thinks about it." But after all we're here to vouch for the fact that she is all that a college girl should be—good student, good sport, and good friend.

JESSE WOODALL MOFFETT
 "Moffay" "Mouse" "Becky"
 Millington, Md.

Major—Chemistry and Biology
 Webster

Entered from Chestertown High School, Chestertown, Md.

Officers' Club; Lieut. R. O. T. C.;
 Class Football '20, '21.

"I do not love much ceremony."

Did you ever notice a little mouse, how he darts here, then there, in search of fun or food? Well, that describes Moffay. Fun is the principal thing, but if food is combined with the fun, so much the better. But this human mouse has some things that the ordinary mouse does not have. What are they? Why nothing more than an obliging Ford, a scheming mind, and a happy smiling assistant. Now the scene is laid in Westminster, now Hanover, now some other near-by town, but always with the same thought uppermost—Fun. Becky seems to have gotten along very well with most of his classmates and teachers, but one day the cheese was more tempting in the dormitory than in the classroom, but the big cheese, not liking the attitude of the little mouse, proceeded to forbid him to partake of his refreshing delicacies. The little mouse was quite peeved, but expects with the aid of Johnny Ford to find another attitude.

MARY LOUISE ASHTON NUTTLE

"Pete" "Shadow"

Denton, Md.

Major—Home Economics

Philomathean

Entered from Denton High School,
Denton, Md.

President of G. S. G. A.; Honorary Member Honor Board; J. G. C.; G. S. G. A.; S. S. S.; Y. W. C. A.; G. A. A.

"Let the world slide, let the world go;

*A fig for care, and a fig for woe!
If I can't pay, why I can owe
And death makes equal the high and low."*

Anyone living on Senior Hall is quite accustomed to hearing the jingle of keys, followed by a soft rapping on the door and the following question ensuing: "Is Louise Nuttle in? Tell her to come to my room at once, please." Thus we can see how "Pete's" days are filled with the cares and tribulations of being President of the Girls' Student Government Association. Any one seeing the care-free and irresponsible "Pete" of former years would hardly believe it possible for her to change into the staid, dignified Senior that she is. She still indulges in some of her old habits, however, and so if you want to have a jolly time, just call on "Pete" for some of her wit and originality. She has come to mean to those of us who know her best, all that is typical of good humor and cheerfulness, although on several occasions she has been known to lose her temper and then we sure did look out. It is our sincere wish that she overcome this fault so that she will be able to restrict the use of the rolling pin when the time comes for it to be her chief instrument of defense.

LOUISE ELLIOTT OWENS

"Lou" "Scipiana"

Pindell, Md.

Major—English Philomathean

Entered from Western Maryland

J. G. C.; S. S. S.; Y. W. C. A.; G.
A. A."Neither too careless, nor too sad,Nor too studious, nor too glad."

"Lou" hails from Southern Maryland, having entered "Prep" as a little girl with pig-tails hanging down her back, so you can see that she is a genuine Western Maryland product, having spent over six years here. Will any of us ever forget the dialogue that took place in Economics class during J. G. C. prelims?

Louise—"Dr. James, don't you think the word obey ought to be taken out of the marriage ceremony?"

Dr. James—"What do you think about it, Miss Owens?"

Louise—"Well, I think it should be taken out but Russell thinks not, still he's only a sap (Sapp.)"

Louise is a classmate who is true blue in character and disposition and is beloved by all. She was one of the representatives to Eaglesmere and has proven herself a zealous worker on the Y. W. Cabinet this year. Her major is English but we have always thought it would have been more fitting if she had taken the Home Economics course and learned some of the principles of house-keeping. Every good wish follows her from the doors of our alma mater.

GOLDA ELIZABETH OWINGS

Avondale, Md.

Major—History Browning

Entered from Westminster High
School, Westminster, Md.Honorable Mention '20, '21, '22;
R. R. G. O. Club."In honor preferring one another."

Golda is our lassie with the long black curls. Oh no, she doesn't have long black curls now, but the time has not been long since she reluctantly tucked them up—not to stay—but to re-appear at the most unexpected moment. Through storm and calm, Golda has boarded the train at Avondale for Westminster and climbed the hill to W. M. C. She is very studious and counts her work all joy. In her opinion, "C" stands for Crime so we are not at all surprised to see only "A's" and "B's" on her reports. Golda's hobby is "dogs." Here you see her with her beloved Bobbie; and as her first reading for Smith Hall, she chose O'Henry's Memoirs of a Yellow Dog. One glance at Golda's memory book will disclose her skill in drawing. It is her intention to develop this artistic talent ere long and, true to her unselfish nature, she expects to share her talent by teaching it. With sincerity and perseverance as her oars, Golda will surely make a success.

WILLIAM FRANK REDDING, JR.
"Frank" "Old Lady"
 Asheboro, N. C.

Major—Political Science Webster

Entered Sophomore year from Davidson College, Davidson,
 North Carolina.

Vice-President Webster; Secretary and Treasurer North Carolina Club; Librarian Sunday School '22; Secretary Webster; Lieut. R. O. T. C.; Class Basketball '21; Choral Club; North Carolina Club; Officers' Club.

"I'm a Tar Heel born, I'm a Tar Heel bred.

And when I die I'm a Tar Heel dead."

From the climes of the Sunny South came this tall representative of humanity to our school, to join us in our Sophomore year. He soon wended his way into our circle of friendship and it was not long before we forgot that there ever was a time when Redding was not a member of our class. Redding still keeps strong his affection for the land of Dixie and you can find him many times poring over the last issue of a North Carolina paper.

Frank is a red-hot Republican and if you do not know anything good about the present administration we refer you to him. He has a bright, sunny disposition (except when you get him in an argument on politics), is very kind-hearted, and is always quite willing to help anyone who needs a lift.

To his studies he applies himself very well indeed. Only Redding knows what work he intends to follow, but it will not surprise any of us if we hear of his election to Congress some day.

*"I leave thy praises unexpress'd—
 I leave thy greatness to be guessed."*

No better way of expressing "Charlie's" popularity can be found than the two lines just above. What he cannot do or will not try to do has not yet been found. "Charlie" was not long in finding his way to Parlor and just as in other things he has eclipsed all others in the class so he has won his "special diploma" in this subject a great while before the rest of us. Who in the Senior Class does not know who writes the most themes at college, conducts more discussions and presents greater schemes than this genius from that great Atlantic Ocean resort? With all these things and Maryed life to help, "Charlie" should be a huge success.

"You could not blame the boys at a'

For following close by Because of the "Come hither, come hither" in her eye."

And here comes little Mary, always so spick and span, with not a wrinkle, not a spot, look how'er you can. Her nose is nicely powdered and her hair is crimped just so, but it's her eyes, my ladies, that are used to catch a beau.

Remember her in Freshman days so reticent and shy? But 'twas not long ere she began to cast a wicked eye, alluring and attracting, 'pon the men-folks she did see. Courageously she tackled first our former Doctor C. From faculty to Seniors and down along the line, she vamped them all but only for a few weeks at a time. And when she's gone the rounds up here, oh, then, what shall she do? Why, go back home to — —, her only real and true.

And as for books, she'd most excel in Speech and History, but for a lack of confidence which is a mystery, considering her ability, and this is no duplicity.

But the thing that we like best is her delicious cake and jam. And we're always welcome to her room 'cept the night before exam.

LILIAN WILLIAMEEN RINEHART
"Riney"

Westminster, Md.

Major—History Browning

Entered from Westminster High
 School, Westminster, Md.

Class Tennis Team '22; G. A. A.; J. G. C.

"Her very frowns are fairer far Than smiles of other maidens are."

Lilian, the queen! Lilian the dignified! Those were the terms in which we thought of her when first we came upon the hill. Her beauty and cool aloofness held us spellbound. But gradually as we learned to know her, how gracious she became and now she has quite "bridged" the chasm conjured by our imagination. Lilian is an ardent student of history and, if we should judge from her frequent visits to Gettysburg, quite interested in historical scenes. We wonder, though, as certain rumors reach us, if Riney is as greatly interested in past events as she is in present day affairs. We have even heard that the incentive to historical research as far as Gettysburg is concerned is but a "Chick." Can it be that this fair maiden has become a target for Cupid's shaft? We cannot predict your future, Lilian, but whatever it may bring for you, 1923 wishes you luck and happiness.

ANNA PROCTOR ROGERS

*"For she was friend of the friendless
And her heart was in her hand."*

See our old friend of Prep School days, with sweet and contradictory ways. You say, "It's fair," she says, "It's cold," she thinks, "It's new," you know, "It's old." And so it goes from morn till night—you don't know which is wrong or right. But she doesn't only use her tongue; she uses brain and muscle—some. In fact, she came here with a rep in athletics, so you may bet that basketball is her delight, in which she shows much spunk and fight. And we would have you further note: that only once did we get her goat. That was going through J. G. C.—ask her to tell what that may be.

What further? Why, to make amends, admit with her many underclassmen friends that though oft she gives our heads a whirl (by doing what we expect least in the world), still she's a treasure, a pearl, if you will, the fine, all-round type that we like on the hill.

EFFIE MAE ROWE

S. G. A.; Y. W. C. A.; Frederick County Club; S. S. S.; G. A. A.; J. G. C.

"Zealous, yet modest; innocent though free;

Patient of toil; serene amidst alarms;

Inflexible in faith; invincible in arms."

Considering the fact that "Effie" is President of the Y. W. C. A. one might suppose her to be quite a saint but when it comes to good times Effie's right there.

But seriously speaking, she has been a very successful Y. W. President this year, having made the social activities connected with the work especially interesting. Mae also has the characteristics of leadership, the qualities of a good student, and the promise of a useful and successful life. We can say, though, that if asking questions has anything to do with her progress in later years she will certainly be a whiz, for she is continually asking the whys and wherefores of things. Her hobby is to meditate upon profound philosophical subjects that would puzzle the brain of a sage.

Major—History Browning

Entered from Westminster High School, Westminster, Md.

Class Prophetess; Vice-President of Browning '23; Alpha Staff; R. G. O. Club; Browning Preliminary Contest '21, '22; Freshman and Sophomore Elocution Contests; Class Medal '20, '21, '22.

*"A violet by a mossy stone
Half-hidden from the eye!
Fair as a star, when only one
Is shining in the sky."*

Naomi will insist that her nickname is "Dummie" but somehow we can't become reconciled to the fact since

*"This unassuming little lass
Is the best student of the class."*

She was also one of the privileged few to attend the Alumni Banquet, which was quite an expensive affair, but the "Bill" she took with her was big enough to meet all demands. One of the chief characteristics of Naomi is that she is dominated by principles of highest type in everything that she does. She is quiet and steady, the dependable sort of girl who seldom speaks, but when she does, speaks with good judgment and calm consideration. Naomi is preparing to be a missionary and the class of '23 feels that the profession will not fail to appreciate one who comes to it with such honesty, hearty sincerity and practical ability.

RUSSELL WELLS SAPP
"Scipio"

Baltimore, Maryland

Major—Greek Webster

Entered from Western Maryland
 Preparatory School.

President Webster; Vice-Pres. Webster; Pres. Theological Association '23; Vice-Pres. Theological Ass'n '20, '21, '22; Treasurer Sunday School '21, '22, '23; Lieut. R. O. T. C.; Officers' Club; Associate Editor Aloha; Honorable Mention '20, '22; Class Basketball '21.

"Charm strikes the heart, but merit wins the soul."

About Scipio, as we all call him, we could say enough complimentary things to turn the ordinary person's head. But there is no danger in his case, so we'll go ahead and say them anyway. Scipio stands out as a man of sterling qualities through and through. If you want a man you can depend on under any circumstances, go to Scip. He firmly believes in his convictions and is ready to fight for them to the last ditch. If Scip went after all the honors he is capable of obtaining,—well, he'd have more than he could stand. On the contrary, he rather shuns offices of all sorts. He did become President of Theolog and boosted it as it had never been boosted before. Stick-to-it-iveness? Well, I should say so. Look at the Sapp-Owens alliance, endured so far for six years and good for many more. If we didn't have to worry over anyone's success any more than over Scip's, there would be no worrying.

MALCOLM STERLING

"Mack"

Crisfield, Md.

Major—Biology Webster

Entered from Crisfield High School,
Crisfield, Md.

Officers' Club; Lieut. R. O. T.
C.; Class Baseball '20, '21.

*"To those who know thee not no words can paint;
And those who know thee know
all words are faint."*

Stop! Look! Listen! Mack is coming. This does not mean that this young man has the characteristics to make you sit up and take notice, but that he has always something to say that may prove interesting, especially if you are interested in science. Mack has his pet theories in regard to everything; from whether an oyster really needs fins, up to how the world was created. Mack claims as the land of his birth the "garden spot of the world." It is related that a convention of oysters decided that they must have the best place in the world to live, and that they decided upon Crisfield. It is not meant by this that Mack is anything like an oyster, he being far from that, for an oyster can not talk, but Mack—well, just meet him. We are all hoping that Mack will turn out to be a great scientist some day.

DOROTHY STEPHENS

"Dot"

Westminster, Md.

Major—History Philomathean
Entered Sophomore year from Kansas City University, Kansas City, Kan.

Substitute Varsity Basketball Team; Class Basketball Team '21,
'22, '23; G. A. A.; J. G. C.; Y. W.
C. A.

"An effort made for the happiness of others lifts us above ourselves."

"Dr. Ja-a-mes, if you leave the "n" out of that word it will spell the capitol of Kansas." Yes, this is typical of "Dot". Although she has been with us for three years and is a loyal Western Marylander, her heart is still in her "dear old Kansas." Hardly a day passes that something or someone does not remind her of some joy or beauty of her beloved native state.

Dot is a member of the Senior Basketball team and is an enthusiastic athlete. Whenever a college game is on Dot is right there to lend her support to the Green and the Gold.

Since Dorothy is her father's daughter, she has a natural tendency to be philosophical, and often it is that our historical (or otherwise) discussions must be held off until Dot gets a satisfactory solution for the mental problem that is troubling her. For generosity she has no equal. She does not wait until asked to do a favor but often snatches up and carries out the very suggestion of a desire. Dot is a good sport, always ready for a frolic but possessing enough determination to make her mark in the world.

CHARLES HIRAM STONESIFER
"Toady"

Westminster, Md.

Major—Chemistry Irving

Entered from Westminster High
School, Westminster, Md.

Rifle Club; Officers' Club; Lieut.
R. O. T. C.; Class baseball '20, '21.

"At school I knew him—a youth, grave, thoughtful, and reserved among his mates; turning the hours of sport and food to labor."

Almost every morning, noon and afternoon you can see wending their way to and from school two young men of medium stature. Who are they, you might ask. Two brothers devoted to each other? Oh no, not brothers, but the best of friends, for it is none other than Toady and his friend Gib. Did you ever see one apart from the other? If you ever do, you can safely conclude that some misfortune has befallen the missing one. Toady was one of the few fortunate ones to finish camp, and we envy him. No, not because he finished, but because we must endure this misery for six more weary weeks. Toady expects to be a chemist and if intense application to details counts for anything it is certain that Toady will meet with success. It is uncertain at this time whether the Stonesifer-Martin firm will be in Westminster or some other city.

REBA ELIZABETH VANSANT
 "Skeby" "Mrs. Rip"
 Golt, Md.

Major—English Philomathean
 Entered from Western Maryland
 Preparatory School

President S. S. S.; Honorable
 Mention '20, '21, '22; G. S. G. A.; J. G. C.; S. S. S.

"Sweet nature gilded by the gracious gleam of letters."

Reba came to Prep School when she was very small. (She still is) but a Senior'd never say so, not at all. So big in our estimation she has quickly grown that her infancy's forgotten. Not a single tone reveals it any more. Remember when she oped her mouth and from it did let fall in sweet and silver cadences a soothing sort of drawl? We liked it like the singing that you cannot understand; but soon she learned to say such words as "Peggy" and "a-and." And in everything her progress was so fast that at Prep commencement our "Skeby" led the class. And since she's been in college, why just every single day she grows wiser and wiser in every sort of way. So the girls value her opinion more than that of Solomon. But list to the scandal, Skeby's oft been found, seated in a big chair, when no one was around, with, can I tell it? So many different men, Dickens, Keats and Shelly, whoever wields a pen.

FREDERICK SETON WAESCHE

"Doc" "Satan"

Sykesville, Md.

Major—Chemistry Irving

Entered from Elliott City High School, Elliott City, Md.

Pres. Officers' Club; Critic Irving
'21, '22, '23; Capt. R. O. T. C.;
Librarian Y. M. C. A. '22; Glee
Club '21; Society Prelim '21;
Society Contest Alternate '21; Class
Baseball '20, '21; Class Football '20, '21.

"Mirth, admit me of thy crew."

"Doc," as he is generally called, is not a disease chaser, nor a setter of bones, but as a rule knows all the diseases and ills accompanying the running of automobiles. But this is not the only thing that this young gentleman is interested in. He Car(c)lotta for "Kinny," in spite of all that has been done to divert his thoughts to other channels. During the first two years of his stay here "Doc" had a considerable amount of prestige with the faculty. But as there must be an end to all things even so it was with "Doc's prestige", which was only another of the vicissitudes of life. Latin is nowadays considered a dead language, but there are many who will agree that it put new life into "Doc." Another appellation that recently has been added to that of "Doc" is "Satan," because of his devilish tricks upon boys and girls alike. With his many capabilities, "Doc" is sure to make a success in the field of life.

MARY MARJORIE WELCH

"Maugie" "Farmerette"

"Slippery Slim"

Friendship, Md.

Major—French Browning

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory School

President of J. G. C.; Pres. of
G. A. A.; Pres. of Browning, 1st Term '22, '23; Vice-President of Browning, 3rd Term '21, '22; Student Government Board '20; Aloha
Staff '23; Monthly Staff, '23; Varsity Basketball Team; Class Basketball Team '20, '21, '22; Class Tennis Team '20, '21, '22; J. G. C.; G. A.
A.; G. S. G. A.; S. S. S.; Y. W.
C. A.

"Beware of her hair, for she excels all women in the magic of her locks."

Maugie is a typical college girl taking a part in all activities and excelling in athletics. She is a member of the Varsity Basketball team and has been one of the representative class players in basketball and tennis ever since her Freshman year. Since teaching in "prep" this year she tells us that she is going to change her vocation but we think this is due not to the fact that she doesn't like teaching but rather because she is becoming especially interested in agriculture, so the trend now is towards being a "farmerette." Mary has many virtues but she also has her faults and it was decided in a fault-finding meeting the other night that her chief one was her abruptness or should we call it pertness. By some she is thought to be quite reserved, so one has to learn to know her in order to appreciate her true worth. (Mary says we don't even do that). This we do know, however,

"A blushing wonder of the Senior Class,

Is Mary Marjorie, the bashful lass."

MYRTIS ETHEL WHATLEY

"Wiggley"

Opelika, Ala.

Major—English Philomathean

Entered from Opelika High School,
Opelika, Ala.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet '23; G. A.
A.; G. S. G. A.; J. G. C.; Y. W.
C. A.

"Love, sweetness, goodness in her person shined."

Here's to little Wiggley (six feet tall), hook-nosed and pigeon-toed and that ain't all. She hails from Alabama where the cotton and the coon grow profusely—and the boys know not how to spoon. And she doesn't like our northern brand, 'cept preachers, don't you know. And she's simply horrified—oh land! at the many wicked ways in which a northern girl may entertain her beau. When first she came among us, and the snow fell from the skies, she looked upon the fluffy stuff with wide and glistening eyes, and said, "I'll send a box of this home to my mammy, for rarely do they see such stuff as this in Alabamy." And since she's been among us, just to be in vogue, she's spent her spare time learning what she calls that "Nawthe'n brogue." No longer does she say a thing is "tin pinnies a pound," nor in speech, "I hoyid the moymuh (murmur) and the moymuhing sound." To further catalogue her, she's a winsome, bonny lass, who is just adored by every member in the class. And oh! how proud we are of our girl from Alabam who's going as a missionary to far-away Japan.

FRANCES ANNA WILSON

"Ann" "Tooth-pick"

Ingleside, Md.

Major—History Philomathean

Entered from Centreville High School, Centreville, Md.

Honor Board '21, '22, '23; Corresponding Secretary Philomathean Literary Society '21; Pianist Y. W. C. A. '23; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; Treasurer G. S. G. A. '22; Vice-President G. S. G. A. '23; Honorable Mention '20, '21, '22; Freshman Elocution Contest; Sophomore Norment Medal; Philo Prelim '20, '21, '22; Y. W. C. A.; G. S. G. A.; S. S. S.; J. G. C.; G. A. A.

"Of soul, sincere; in action, faithful; and in honor, clear."

Ann, (intimately "Toothpick"), simultaneously entered college and our hearts. The old saying, "To know her is to love her" glows anew when spoken of our Ann. She has a decided aversion to setting her thoughts on paper and it is the assignment of a theme or written report alone which can induce her to turn from her accustomed road of cheerfulness. On such occasions outbursts of self-depreciation are heard, after which she resolutely "tackles the dread" and overcomes it nobly.

In her Sophomore year Ann gained distinction as an Elocutionist by winning the Norment Medal. She is also a delightful musician and is indispensable as pianist on all occasions. The warmth of her frank, whole-hearted, sunny disposition makes our college a better place for having her in it.

HELEN WINE
 "Helen"

Woodside, Del.

Major—English Browning

Entered Senior Class from Blue Ridge College, New Windsor, Md.

G. A. A.; G. S. G. A.; J. G. C.;
 Y. W. C. A.

*"O blithe newcomer! I have heard,
 I hear thee, and rejoice."*

Yes, we hear her—in the dining hall, in the classroom, in the library, on the campus, we hear her whether we will or not. Her ha-halarious laugh or her sibilant whisper is continually borne upon the ether waves of College Hill. Just this year she came to join us from Blue Ridge up the way. She fairly took the place by storm within a week, a day. She's in everything that's going—she's just always in the swim—from philosophy of Browning to attendance upon gym. She's not exactly static, you go out in the halls to call, and you look and look and search for her and she isn't there at all. She's in the library digging in history or romance, And dreaming of the days she'll rove in Italy or France, —Or else, mayhap, pursuing lives of modern saints in prose, And mesmerizing with her smiles both wondering friends and foes.

ARIANNE VIRGINIA WRIGHT

"Airy"

Easton, Md.

Major—French Philomathean

Entered from Easton High School,
Easton, Md.

Critic Philo '23; Vice-Pres. Philo
'23; Class Historian '23; Sponsor of Co. A.; G. S. G. A.; J. G. C.; B. P. B.

"O sleep, it is a blessed thing Beloved from pole to pole,"

Time: Any morning about 8:15.
Anyone: "Where's Airy?"

Of all foolish questions! Who does not know that at that hour of the morning our little Arianne is ever deep in the arms of Morpheus? All efforts to awake her are in vain. She sleeps on—unless some one enters with the news that a letter awaits her at the post office. Then she registers animation. I wonder why? In psychology class, however, and in all other student activities this petite maid is very wide-awake and sets a peppy example for us all. Recently beauty clay has become quite a fad. Ask Airy to give you her theories on the subject of mud and Chalk. As an ardent advocate of Coucism, Virginia assures us that every day in every way she is becoming taller and taller. Of that we are not so sure, but we do emphatically assert that every day in every way she grows dearer to the hearts of all who know her.

WILBUR FRANCIS YINGLING

"Billy" "Detective"

Finksburg, Md.

Major—History Irving

Entered from Western Maryland
Preparatory School

Secretary Officers' Club; Lieut.
R. O. T. C.; Choral Club '21, '22;
Class Football Team '20.

*"Friend to truth, of soul sincere,
In action faithful, and in honor clear."*

Billy was a town student in his freshman year and so missed the rigors of freshman life. He claims, however, that he got his share in his sophomore year, until he took to studying finger-prints and traced them down and punished the felons. Since then Billy has lived a life of undisturbed tranquillity, and we have learned to know him as a good fellow, jolly but earnest; jocular, but wise.

Billy is the big man of the class, and if he keeps on growing he will be in a class by himself. Some time ago Billy took to electricity and made great headway until he tried to use the college current for a storage plant. This cut short Bill's circuit and he hasn't said "electricity" since, although he is still quite a radio bug.

If we can judge by college life we are sure that Billy will make a name for himself by his honesty, ambition and good-heartedness.

In Memoriam

RANDALL OTHO STONE

Born, August 23, 1897—Died, April 23, 1923

A Member of the Senior Class

President of Senior Class; Inter-collegiate Orator '22, '23; Editor-in-Chief College Monthly; Captain A Company; President Webster Literary Society; Debater and Orator for Webster; Class Medal '20, '21; Norment Medal '20.

*"Forgive my grief for one removed,
Thy creature, whom I found so fair
I trust he lives in thee, and there
I find him worthier to be loved."*

—Tennyson

Our classmate, and president of our class, but more than that, our comrade and friend. His life among us was one of manliness, unswerving loyalty, and ever firm trust in the higher things of life. He was never known to say an unkind word, do an unkind act. We looked to him for leadership, and in the memory of his life we find noble inspiration. We lament the fact that no longer will he tread the path of life with us, but we are glad that his life touched ours, for we are made nobler thereby.

Class Prophecy—Part 1

There was a great stir in the streets. The air was full of gossip. In the great Square was gathered a multitude of people, gazing curiously upon a man with long hair and beard. People said he was an angel—the spirit of '23, and that he had just awakened from a twenty years' sleep. "The best sleep I ever had," he said, "but I needed it, after my four strenuous years at W. M. C." It was said that twenty years before the old man had had a number of devotees, and he was now on his way to look them up and beg them to remember him—that was all he wanted—to be remembered.

Finally, the old man, his limbs tottering from long disuse, went into a church to escape the crowd—and behold—as he rolled up spit balls to throw at the bald-headed man in front, the organ pealed forth a wonderful anthem, and a man and woman in the choir began a duet. He looked and listened intently. Yes, it could be none other than Charles Reed and his wife. Charles has been preaching ever since he left college, but has finally given up his pastorate to be president of a theological seminary.

The air was a bit warm, and '23 began to take off his coat. People might look at him—but what's the odds? Comfort first. Noticing his discomfort, the man in the seat behind him stepped up and opened the window. He was a stern man in the uniform of the U. S. Army and '23 saw that it was Mike Leister. Mike is now commander of the Maryland National Guard. "They wanted me to take Pershing's place," he said, "but this is too easy to leave."

The service was over and the angel went out before the rest, so as not to be surrounded by the crowd. As he hurried along the street, he bumped against a burly policeman, who said, "Look here, young fellow, don't you N'omi? I ain't no plain cop, I'm a detective in disguise. Look where you're going after this." It was our old friend Yingling. "Why Bill!" cried '23, "who on earth are you after now?" "Sh!" he cautioned: "Hooper has just made a million in the show business, and he's hired me to see that he doesn't spend it all."

Proceeding on his way, our friend saw a thin man with glasses and umbrella walking along the street reading a book and talking to himself. "By Jove!" the man ejaculated. "Just got in 'Who's Who.' Won't Betty be pleased? Just listen—Cooper, Educator, Prof. of Education at Western Maryland College."

Our friend's path took him across a bridge. "What a wonderful bridge this is," he observed. "Surely the work of a genius." "Yes," said a bystander, "it was built by General Day, the successor of General Goethals. And see the statue at the other end? Day erected that for his old pal Frantz—you know Senator Frantz, who got his fame by inventing a new shower bath?"

Long had '23 journeyed, and now he was very tired—and so he went into a theatre to rest. The play was "Parlor Days," the latest sensation. And there on the stage was Howard Jones, Barrymore's successor. His leading lady is Miss A'Gee and she certainly leads him a merry chase.

As '23 listened spellbound to the orchestra that filled in between the acts, the leader swung his baton a little too strenuously and fell outside the pit. He recovered himself and looked around, and '23 saw it was Earle Hawkins. He started out by being a preacher, but people thought he was a Dodger and though he raised a Rowe about it he had to leave the ministry, so he went into the automobile business and leads an orchestra on the side.

Who was that well-dressed man in the box on the right? Surely he had seen him before. Oh, yes—it was Harrison Baldwin, president of the Baldwin Railroad—(that is the new name of the old Northern Pacific). He keeps a cattle ranch for a pastime, and spends his summers teaching bulls to fight.

After the show the audience was asked to stay ten minutes and hear a good speaker. His subject was "How I Discovered Cure-All, the New Wonder in Medicine." As the tall physician who was to give the lecture mounted the platform, '23 saw that it was none other than Dr. Seton Waesche, the eminent physician who put Sykesville on the map.

Our hero now left the theatre, resolved to retire for the night. The avenue was brilliantly lighted. A beautiful voice was heard coming from a horn projecting from a store window. It was a radio announcing the prize-fight returns. "Haven't I heard that voice before?" asked '23 of a bystander. "No doubt," grinned the man questioned, "It is Malcolm Sterling, the president of the International Broadcasting Association. He has a monopoly on two-thirds of the ether, and spends his time informing people and looking up things about which to inform them."

The old man went on. He was tired now, and looking for a hotel. What was that brilliant electric sign on top of the skyscraper across the way? Why, it was an electric picto-graph of his old friend Redding, and above it were the words, "Defeat Bryan—vote for Redding—the G. O. P. forever."

Just a little further on '23 beheld a sign, "C. Stonesifer, Undertaker," and immediately under it, "Dr. Martin, M. D." "A good combination," observed an onlooker. "Doc kills 'em and Stonesifer buries them."

Soon '23 reached his hotel and went up to the desk. "Room for one without bath," he said briefly. "Why, '23, how are you?" said a voice, and there was Moffett, owner of the biggest hotel in Millington. "Yes," he said, "I've made good. I had a hard time last year, though, and it was only the surgical skill of Dr. Chase that pulled me through. He's Maryland's foremost surgeon now, you know, and has cut his way into everybody's heart and pocketbook."

'23 started up to his room, but tripped on the step and fell backward into the arms of one whom, upon looking up, he recognized as Hafer. "Good thing I am an athlete," said Gus, "or I might not have been able to catch you. I've just signed a contract to coach Yale—$24,000 a year."

"Well!" said '23, "I've seen everyone but Sapp—old Scipio—what has become of him?" "O, haven't you heard?" replied Gus. "His name is on every tongue. He's the greatest evangelist since Billy Sunday—only his method is different. He preaches by chalk talks, drama, and movies, and is author of the radio method of taking collection."

"Ah!" sighed our friend, "now I can sleep in peace," and entering into his room he stood on his head and slept peacefully for another twenty years.

Class Prophecy—Part 11

O Muse, reveal to me the futures of the class of '23,
 Not what they are, nor yet have been, but what they all shall be.
 Alice Billmyer heads the list, both quiet and devout.
 A rural school-teacher she'll be, I wist, without a shade of a doubt.
 To India with her message sweet, shall Velma Brooks repair;
 Her first convert, her own helpmeet, before she started there.
 Elizabeth Corkran, young and fair, (by "Bootsie," we know her well)
 Shall lead young ladies anywhere, as a society belle.
 A lecturer deep at Hopkins U shall Madeline Darner be,
 In Chemistry daily finding things new, to later make others see.
 For a time, a French teacher shall Virginia Eyster be, not for long,
 however, I'm sure,
 For soon she'll embark on matrimony's sea, leaving French pour l'amour.
 Caroline Foutz, in a beautiful home, lives a happy and quiet life,
 No more enjoying her pleasures alone, being now a contented wife.

By tripping the light fantastic toe, shall Charlotte Gough her admirers delight,
With graceful gestures, now high, now low, as a happy, happy sprite.

Estelle Houck, so talented in speech, shall be the successor of Miss Lease.
Yet more than this shall Estelle teach, her upward guidance shall not cease.

Carlotta Kinnamon, a scientific star, shall take the degree M. D.
Her fame shall soon spread near and far, the pride of W. M. C.

Kathleen Langrall with eyes sparkling gay, so winsome, so loving, so true, Shall students advise for Y. W. C. A., as secretary the whole state through.

To worthy pupils, in a sunny land, shall Martha her Domestic Art bring;
But later, shall change from Manahan to the royal name of King.

Marguerite McCann, so gay and blithe, shall talents of children unmake,
As leader of Junior Chatauqua life; and besides she'll criticise plays.

Since suffrage to women has been given of late, they surely shall stand for their sex,

And make Louise Nuttle the Governor of State, her people never to vex.

Louise Owens, sympathetic girl of yore, extends a welcoming hand,
Happily standing in the open door, with the Parson, her husband.

A wielder of brush and a mixer of paints, an artist Golda Owings shall be,
Her pictures new and her pictures quaint, shall all people flock to see.

Mary Richards, donned in suitable attire, shall direct Community Plays,
By her talent, others she shall inspire, and brighten laborious days.

Lilian Rinehart with dignity and grace, shall open the portals wide, Charmingly she'll appear in the hostess' place, with the host right by her side.

Anne Rogers, climbing the ladder of fame, shall teach out in the West,
And roam o'er the country, hill and plain, where life's a continuous quest.

We shall sit by the fireside now, with a short story in our hand,
The author's name is Mac Rowe, famous throughout the land.

Naomi Royer, true to her ideal, to India shall carry the Faith.
She'll ceaselessly toil for others' weal, by worthy works of grace.

Dorothy Stephens, our gentle classmate, shall yield to the Western call,
A resident loyal to Kansas State, but still a friend of all.

Reba VanSant, of personality strong, shall appreciation of Literature teach,
And with her pen, besides, ere long, shall wrong opinions impeach.

Mary Welch, a gay, sunny lass, shall teach Gym in a finishing school.
On horseback rides she'll take her class. Then—Farmerette in the country so cool.

Ethel Whatley, our "Wiggley" dear, shall be a missionary to Japan.
Here's to a noble worker, a cheer, who ever lends a helping hand.

Anne Wilson, our classmate, beloved by all, a Supervisor of Music shall be,
The helpfulness of her every call, will be heartily welcomed, you shall see.

Helen Wine, our small, carefree lass, matrimonial life shall claim,
Her joys'll be such that none can surpass, her laughter will ring just the same.

Virginia Wright, familiarly "Airy Ann," shall teach English to French pupils wee,

Her class, a very brilliant band, love their teacher from over the sea.

The History of the Class of 1924

THE great pendulum has swung again and another year has gone to swell the past. The Class of 1924 stands before you; we have changed much since last you saw us. New faces are in our midst and old ones have passed from us. But the unconquerable spirit of '24 which has carried us forth to victory on the athletic field, in the class room, and in all college activities, is present today, and will carry us forth to highest victories in days to come.

There is not a branch of school life in which our members are not represented. The athletes of the class have been instrumental in bringing about many successes of the school on the gridiron, basketball floor, baseball diamond, and tennis court. In such organizations as the literary societies, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Student Council, the Class of '24 is not without representation.

We put on the best Hallowe'en party seen in recent years. Former students will never forget the beauty of the gymnasium that night, and the unique entertainment provided by the unsophisticated freshies. Our picnics have assumed a remarkable air of distinction, for the memories of them will be carried even to far away Japan. Our class has tasted of matrimony, and Cupid has pierced the hearts of many of our winsome lassies and bold laddies. We are the first class to re-establish the long neglected custom of holding a co-ed class banquet, and if you should ask us what further events redound to our honor and glory, we would say ad infinitum.

What pen can adequately picture our real history—our trials, our follies, our tribulations, and our victories? As a class we are, of course, what each individual member has made it. Our members are of every talent—student, orator, athlete, writer, journalist, and actor. They come from every section of the country, and even from foreign lands.

O that some poet might rise to sing the praises of our class. As we go forth from the college crowned with victory and honor, may men speak of us in highest terms, and say: "Semper audens, nihil timens."

The History of the Class of 1925

The year that has past since our first attempt to acquire wisdom in September, 1921, has been fraught with many memorable events. Our class soon learned its place in the college and was brought together in unity by the Sophomores. However, as soon as we became acclimated, we began to do things. Our athletics took form and we emerged from our several conflicts with the class of '24, bearing on our brow many of the laurels. Moreover, many of our classmates felt called to scholastic attainments and before the year closed we obtained four out of six places on the society debate, both teams being led by a member of the class of '25. Our class also developed socially and the many parties which we had, together with the trip to Gettysburg, furnished us with experiences which cannot be forgotten.

At commencement time we earned the right to say:

"We're the class that is alive, Nineteen hundred and twenty-five."

by writing and producing a little play called, "Over the Great Divide." This play set a precedent and earned us the right to go forward into the future as Sophomores.

Not all of our class returned in 1922, but a goodly number are still bound together under the banner of the blue and gray, and new epochs in our history have been written. The Hallowe'en party was the first great event of this year. Here we gave the school an enjoyable evening with the Freshman producing the entertainment. Here it was that we attempted to mix up those long established strikes, but alas! we failed. "Nor words nor schemes could sever them." Our scholastic and athletic activities are still bringing us laurels.

We have one important event yet to record, ah! we all remember; we never shall forget our first appearance on Smith Hall. This college is determined to make orators out of us.

The achievements of the class and her place in college activities have been due largely to the ability and foresight of our president, who has led us forward with an unerring hand.

Our hearts have been deeper drawn together in fellowship, and Western Maryland College has gained a lasting place in the affections of all of us throughout the year that has past. Truly we can say: "Our yesterdays are past and are now but flickering shadows, but the memory of those days will go on with us forever."

JUNE

Pleasant are the sunny days of June,
 When cooling waters run from rippling rills,
 When robins chirp in a melodic tune,
 And Nature all the air with fragrance fills;
 With golden lustre shines the summer sun,
 As, sinking 'neath the hills of sombre grey,
 It makes a thousand hues of light to run
 In perfect blend across the trackless way;
 And now unfold the roses, richly red,
 And marigold smiles forth in sweetest bloom;

A thousand flowers spring from Nature's bed,
 And scatter to the breeze their sweet perfume,
 Receive with joy the month that is fore-runner
 Unto the beaming lustre of the summer;
 Queen of all months,—from queen of gods her name,
 Fair June well earns her praise, deserves her fame.
 No fitter time in which to end our lays
 Upon this hill so fraught with love and mirth,
 Than June, the subject of ten thousand lays,
 Nor all those lays describe her matchless worth.

—C. H. Reed, '23.

The History of the Class of 1926

ONE hundred and thirty. Yes, and every one of us green Freshmen. Our class, we are proud to say, is the largest one in the history of Western Maryland College. We wonder just what we looked like when this human tide surged in from all parts of the country. We were all thrilled with anticipation of college life, the new friends we should make, and, most of all, perhaps, the knowledge that was stored up, just waiting to be imparted to us.

When it comes to athletics, no other class in the college has furnished so many men for the Varsity football and basketball teams as has the class of twenty-six. There were five sturdy lads from West Virginia who made a record for themselves and their college on the gridiron. We are proud of our athletes and proud also of the fact that we have been a prominent factor in the many successes which our school has had.

With a vim, such as we feel only the class of twenty-six can display, we have tried to enter whole-heartedly into the many activities of the college, with one goal ever foremost in our minds—that of the ever rapid spread of Western Maryland's glory. We feel that our members have proved themselves worthy of a place of recognition in the student body, for we have among us many who have been prominent in the various activities of the college. Among these is Garrett, who was selected to represent Irving in the annual inter-society debate and helped his team to win their victory. He is also picked to represent his society in the oratorical contest.

It would be unjust to consider this history complete without some recognition of our girls. Full of pep and enthusiasm, they will back everything from a football game to a tiddle-de-winks tournament. May the Freshmen boys of next year be as lucky as we have been in having such fair classmates.

COACHES

D. K. Shroyer, Athletic Director and Head Coach
H. B. Speir, Assistant Coach.

Our Coaches

COACH SHROYER

"Ken" Shroyer came to Western Maryland this fall to enter upon his duties as Athletic Director and Head Coach. He is a graduate of West Va. Wesleyan. While there he was a member of the football team for four years. During his last two years there he starred for the Methodists. He won many honors, among which was the distinction of being chosen the best tackle in state of West Virginia.

After graduating in '17 he accepted the position as Coach at the Buckhannon High School. For two years his team was high school Champion of football, and the basket-ball team had the honor of winning the Gondolan for three consecutive years.

So he came to us with quite a record, and thus far he has measured up to all expectations. He started the training camp last fall with loads of confidence. All the men were new to him. Present at the camp were only five regulars. The rest were subs, with the exception of a little new material. No time was lost. With five men as a nucleus and two weeks to go he whipped eleven men into shape that carried off the first game of the season by a score of 13 to 0. And so on throughout the season the team played a class of football that could be branded with the best in the state. With the material he had he did wonders, and Western Maryland should give this man the credit for bringing to its threshold the first successful season in three years. Next year with "Ken" at the wheel, we are confident that Athletics at W. M. C. will take another big jump. And the time isn't far off when Western Maryland will be holding the upper hand in all branches of athletics.

ASSISTANT COACH SPEIR

While we are paying tribute to the coaching staff, it would be impossible to leave unnoticed the work accomplished by our Assistant Coach. Coach Speir is an alumnus of Western Maryland, and played end for the team for a period of four years. We thought he was too good a man to lose, so immediately upon graduation he was offered a position as Assistant Mentor.

He is by no means a slouch, for his second team would often throw a score into the camp of the regulars. He also had charge of the Prep. Athletes, who won for themselves a place in the lower ranks. Coach Speir is a man of few words, but when he does speak, action very quickly results. He is a line coach of extraordinary ability. His advice was often a great help to "Ken" Shroyer and every man on the team believed in him without reserve. Coach Shroyer is very fortunate to have associated with him this clever mentor, who will some day be a great figure in the athletic world.

THE FOOTBALL SQUAD

CAPTAIN HAFER

Seven years ago came a man upon this hill who had never before seen a football. John Augustus Hafer registered at the "University." Being a strong supporter of physical education he decided to go out for football. After toiling for two years on the stonepile our worthy member of the second team found himself improving. And during his last year at the Prep School "Gus" began to come into the limelight. The next year he came back, and it was during his Freshman year that he actually entered upon his football career. Nothing more need be said. For four years he has played right guard, never missing a game. Never once was he injured, and this is a record that will stand up for many to shoot at.

"Gus" knows the game from A to Z. Whatever the coach didn't know John would tell him. He could look over the line of scrimmage and analyze a play like a professional biologist. Everyone wondered why he never once failed to play his usual good game. He never had an off-day. Only a few who know him well can explain it. "Gus" never would tell; he believes in secrets. Many critics have tried to fathom it out, but no conclusion has been reached.

Particularly this year did Gus enter the Hall of Fame. He captained the team through a successful season. In the shadow of our own goal many times did Captain Hafer call his teammates together and give them a "new lease on life," for they would go back and hold like a brick wall. They all believed in him. He was a Captain second to none in the state, for he ranks with the best of 'em. He has been compared with Everett Scott of baseball fame, but what baseball schedule is half so strenuous as 50 games of football. None of us envy him his record, for he has attained it only by good, hard conscientious work. Next year Coach Shroyer will have a hard task to find a man to fill his shoes. And as he departs he carries with him our heartiest wish that he may be as good a football coach as he was a football player.

MANAGER ROBEY

An efficient manager is a wonderful asset to any athletic team, and Robey proved himself to be such a one this past season. He succeeded in arranging a schedule surpassed by none in the state, and also succeeded in coming through the season with a respectable financial gain. He took great interest in his work and as a result it was well done.

L. L. LONG, Full-back
190 Pounds

The biggest man on the team. "Lemon," as he is known, is a full-back of no mean ability. He is not the fastest man in the world, but when his 190 pounds was once headed for a line, it was almost certain that a five-yard gain could be chalked up. No matter how many times he was called on, he always responded nobly. He was the "big gun" of the back-field. He started the Mt. St. Mary's game like a house afire, and was halted only by having a couple of ribs broken. After being on the sick list for a couple of weeks, he came back in the St. John's game, and on the second play of the game carried the pigskin for a 65-yard gain. This is only his third year, and next fall should find him the best line-bucker in the state.

154 Pounds

"Jake" was regarded this year as one of the fastest backs in the state. He has one more year with us, and it surely ought to be a corker. During his three years with Western Maryland, Kinsey has always been a dependable man. He runs back punts, bucks the line, and skirts the ends like a "wild man." Against St. Mary's he saved the game alone, running 60 yards to make a flying tackle from the rear. His specialty is catching passes. Time and time again "Jake" would pull 'em from the air and carry the ball for considerable gain. No one doubted him, and for short gains through the line, he couldn't be beat.

H. B. DAVIS, Half-back
150 Pounds

Davis came to Western Maryland from McDonogh, where he was a star in Prep School circles. He has been a member of the squad for three years. Besides being a punter, Harry carries the ball like a first-class half-back. His hobby is breaking up forward passes. He played this year's season without an injury, and toward the end of the season showed signs of becoming stronger rather than weaker. Always calm and conservative, he played the game from a scientific standpoint. At running interference he couldn't be beat.

J. F. FLANAGAN, Tackle

170 Pounds

A strong, hard-boiled gentleman who came to us from the hills of West Virginia. With many years of experience and a great "rep" behind him, Flanagan found his way to the foremost ranks of W. M. C. During the training camp his very presence inspired confidence in the followers of Western Maryland. A man who never says much but is on the job all the time. In the very first game of the season his superior qualities were a shining light. And so on throughout the season the big right tackle starred in every conflict. The fact that he was never injured is good proof that he never once met his equal. His "kick-offs" were unexcelled. Despite the fact that it was his first year in Maryland football, he was honored by a position on the Baltimore Sun's All-Maryland Second Team. Western Maryland is fortunate that he has three more years yet to play.

E. R. GROTON, End

158 Pounds

When "Toby" came to Western Maryland all he had was the desire. His experience was lacking, and so he spent the first year looking wise. After working on the farm during the summer, he came back the next fall with a determination to use his knowledge of the game. And he made his debut at right end. Last year it was different. Toby was not a player any more, but a star. He played right end in every game and he was without question one of the best ends in the state. His place on the All-Maryland Second Team was indeed no surprise. No interference was too good for him to play havoc with, and his ability to get down under punts is by no means small. We wish our next year's captain all kinds of luck.

M. O. STANLEY, Full-back

160 Pounds

Stanley was the mystery man of the team. He would walk through a line like a steamboat sails through water. Always cool, steady, and slow, Stanley would pick his way to gains, appearing to be very choicy as to where he walked. He made many a tackler grasp the atmosphere. Indeed, it was nothing for him to stand in his tracks and make three men miss him. He bore the burden of the forward passing, and did most of the punting. Despite the fact that he was not a long-distance punter, his punts would average a distance not surpassed by any in the state. This was his first year in Maryland football and we are quite sure that before his four years are up, he will be attracting some first-class attention.

W. M. DOUGLASS, Tackle

169 Pounds

At the very beginning of the season, a man came our way who was Douglass by name and a minister by profession. He travelled all the way from Pennsylvania to register at the Theological Seminary. He had hardly had time to give the place a once-over, before it was learned that he had gained considerable football experience while he was a student at Penn State. He at once expressed his willingness to don a uniform, and was seen out on the field that very day. He needs no further introduction. That man won for himself a berth, and was seen at left tackle until the season's end.

W. R. CLAYTON, End

165 Pounds

Clayton held down one of the wing positions. Whatever may be said about him, we cannot leave out the fact that he is a drop-kicker of marked ability. His educated toe many times proved the undoing of the enemy. No interference was too good for him to spill, and his tackling was excellent. He could catch forward passes, get down under punts, and block kicks like a real veteran.

C. T. HOLT, Quarterback

142 Pounds

If there is such a thing as becoming a star overnight this lad did it. Charlie, with his reputation to make, came out at the beginning of the season and was hardly noticed. His ability was unknown to everyone. But in the Villa Nova game, Holt got his chance and he made good use of the opportunity, for during the last half he threatened to score twice by carrying the ball from mid-field to the five-yard line. It was Dame Fortune smiling, for Coach Shroyer then began to realize something he had never dreamed of. From then on Charlie was known as a first-class field general. He is a brainy little quarter and his very presence inspires confidence in his team-mates. His ability to run back punts was unexcelled. Without a doubt he will be seen barking the signals for Western Maryland again next year.

G. H. DUNCAN, End
160 Pounds

Deciding that he would like Western Maryland better than the Naval Reserves, this Baltimore lad journeyed to College Hill and put in his application as a football candidate. His "N" was indeed not honorary, for he soon showed his mettle. At the end of the training camp he had won himself a berth at center. He was also an end, and he was often called on to exercise his ability at either of these two positions. Through it all he deserves much credit, for his playing was of the highest degree. His accurate passing was a feature, and his ability to pull forward passes from the air was another. He was a valuable man indeed.

E. B. WILLIAMS, Guard
185 Pounds

Another lad who hails from West Virginia. Standing 6 feet, 4 inches in height, and weighing 185 pounds, it can easily be said that Williams' stature is not to be lightly passed over, for he was one of the biggest men on the team. His chief characteristic lay in the fact that his "fighting spirit" never once laxed from the beginning to the end of the game. Not once was he injured. He had speed galore. Besides, he was old at the game, and his ability to judge plays helped his team-mates a great deal. He was to be found at left guard, and he was without a doubt a tower of strength to the line.

F. W. MESSLER, Guard
157 Pounds

Messler is a man that any team would be proud to have. For three years he has been a valuable substitute. His weight alone keeps him from being a first string linesman. In every game he gets in, he displays the sort of pep that wins football games. His value lies in the fact that he can play either tackle or guard, and never has he failed to respond whenever he was called on. Frank deserves much credit, and Western Maryland is glad to have his services for another year.

The Football Season, 1922

HE new Hoffa Field of Western Maryland College was initiated on September 23rd by the first football game of the season, and Coach Shroyer's squad started their pace by defeating the McDonogh Club of Baltimore by the score of 13-0. Grimm, Kinsey and Flanagan were the scorers.

The next two games were played on foreign fields, the Green and Gold making a wonderful showing against each team in turn and surprising its followers by holding the Villa Nova Warriors to a score of 15-0.

The second game on Hoffa Field was attended by Alumni and friends from Baltimore, Washington, and other nearby cities. All of these were more than pleased when they saw the Green and Gold get into action and went away saying that Western Maryland had the best team of the past five years. Oh, by the way, Western Maryland swamped Gallaudet that day 33-0.

In one of the best-played and hardest-fought football games ever staged at Echo Field, Mount Saint Mary's College eleven and the Green and Gold battled to a scoreless tie. This is one of the few times in the history of our athletics that Western Maryland has been able to hold Mount Saint Mary's to a scoreless tie on the latter's gridiron. This 0-0 tie is considered a "moral victory" for Western Maryland.

Western Maryland in a closely contested game defeated the heavier St. Joseph's booters on Hoffa Field. In the initial part of the game the Green and Gold got the jump on their heavier opponents and a series of forward passes and end runs, of a caliber not often seen in this state, closed their attack with a 13-0 victory. In the latter part of the game Coach Shroyer substituted his entire second team.

History repeated itself when Western Maryland lost to Hopkins. The Western Maryland lads had an off day, which accounted for their defeat at Homewood.

The Albright team came out victorious in a hard-fought game against Western Maryland. Again Western Maryland was handicapped by being much the lighter team of the day. Robey and Stanley were out of the game, and Flanagan, the mainstay of the line, was injured in the early part of the game.

St. John's arrived in Westminster with three complete teams, expecting an easy victory over Western Maryland. But through clever work on our part they were forced to accept the score of 6-0 and returned to Annapolis a rather disappointed crowd.

The game with P. M. C. was quite weird and peculiar in many respects. Forward passes were the outstanding feature of the game. P. M. C. scored their touchdown in the last 37 seconds of play.

The season closed with a game with Washington College on Hoffa Field on Thanksgiving day. This game was played before the largest crowd ever seen at any athletic event in the history of our college. Although the Green and Gold gained more ground than Washington College they were unable to score and the game resulted in a 0-0 tie.

THE BASKETBALL TEAM

Resume of the Basketball Season

Our basketball season closed marked by a splendid record—the best that has ever been chalked up against us. With our final total of thirteen victories out of nineteen games, certainly we can call this nothing but a successful season. Every day in every way our athletic outlook is growing brighter and brighter. We are the coming basketball college of Maryland.

Our Southern trip was a huge success, suffering only two defeats, and they were with some of the South's largest institutions.

Manager J. E. Stone is to be congratulated on the fine schedule he arranged, beside proving also an able and willing worker. Captain Kinsey and Harry Davis were the veterans of last year, and they kept their playing up to their usual standard. Stanley was the leading scorer, holding a very enviable record for the largest number of points scored. Flanagan was a tower of strength on the defensive and Williams proved an efficient forward. The team work was excellent, brought about by the untiring efforts of Coaches Shroyer and Speir. The substitutes were Hines, Dorsey, Duncan, and Mathews.

Watch out for Western Maryland next year.

Review of the Season of 1922

WITH a chilly wind sweeping the field Western Maryland inaugurated the 1922 baseball season by defeating Briarley Hall with a score of 5-4 in a thrilling 10-inning game.

Our next game was with St. John's and here it was seen that our ability to hit the ball when hits meant runs was found lacking. For although stubbornly contested we were forced to defeat—8-2. We journeyed to P. M. C. for our next game and, "hitting on all nine," we came off on the long end of a 13-7 score. Immediately after the game we motored to Washington College, where we were defeated. The long trip in the cold affected the pitching staff, and Dorsey, our star flinger, was nursing a sore arm. Back at home again we were successful in a game with the Westminster A. C., the score being 7-5. On Echo Field we were defeated 4-2. But the following Wednesday we got our revenge by defeating Blue Ridge at home.

Hopkins, in a hard-fought game, scored twice in the second and ninth inning, resulting in a 4-0 defeat for the Green and Gold. Our next game was with St. John's at Annapolis, who, minus "Dick" Porter, were severely trounced 11-1. We came home for our last game of the season with Washington College, when we were defeated 8-2.

Although not successful with our '22 schedule, with the addition of new material the outlook for the Green and Gold looms bright as the '23 season approaches.

The Baseball Outlook for 1923

While the big league managers are training their squads in various camps in the South, Ken Shroyer has his proteges working out in Yingling Gym. There are about forty men to answer the call, and they are very anxious to loosen up the kinks that have developed over the winter. Only three of last year's regulars will be missing: Frantz, last year's catcher; Hanzsche, right-fielder; and Leitch, last year's captain and right-fielder. Kinsey, who played shortstop last year and led the team in a batting average of .400, will in all probability be seen behind the bat when the season opens, and will be expected to do the brunt of the receiving. Clark, however, may help him in this department.

Dorsey will "dish 'em up" for us again this year. This should be his best season. The elongated right-handed attracted much big-league attention last year, and if nothing happens at the beginning of the season he should be whizzing them across in mid-season form. He has lots of speed and good control, and his hooks are very annoying to any batter. Mathews, the clever first-sacker and pitcher, will be a great asset to the team again this year. Besides being a good relief pitcher, he is a mighty wielder of the war club, rolling up an average of 380 last season. Among the recruits pitchers are Williams, Reynolds, Neale, Taylor, and Bennett. From this bunch of Yanigans Coach Shroyer should be able to make one good find, and in a couple of years develop him into a real slab artist.

The infield remains intact. With Baldwin at the hot corner, Galloway at the key-stone sack, and Mathews at the initial hassock, we have a trio that is hard to beat. It takes a good hit to get through this defense. Last year one-half the batters that faced Dorsey went out via the Baldwin-Galloway-Mathews route.

Groton is the only outfielder left. This season, however, should be the fleet-footed outfielder's best year. From Long, Kelbaugh, Hooper, Holt, Hafer, and Hines, Coach Shroyer should be able to pick two men that will be capable of circling the outer-garden in fine fashion.

Manager Hafer has arranged a good schedule, and with everyone playing in tip-top form, we should end the season with a long list of victories.

Track

Western Maryland's achievements in track for the last few years have been rather negligible, probably the principal reason being that we lacked a suitable track. Now, however, with our splendid quarter-mile cinder track, circling the new Hoffa field, we intend to show some progress in this direction. Track is a form of athletics which often appeals to many who are not interested in, or skilled in, any other branch of athletics. Inter-collegiate track meets are quite common in many schools and colleges and we trust that this spring the record of Western Maryland may be able to compare favorably with that of other colleges.

The Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest

To be on the inter-collegiate contest is one of the more important honors given at Western Maryland and our class feels proud of the fact that one of our members has been twice elected to represent the College. Randall Otho Stone has been noted for his ability in speaking ever since he entered college. In his Freshman year he headed Webster's team in the inter-society debate and won the decision. In June of the same year he won the Freshman Elocution Contest. In his Junior year he again represented his society and again led Webster to victory. But even the best of people cannot hope to always win and it is no discredit to Stone to say that he failed to gain first place in the inter-collegiate contest last spring. But with his typical tenacity he fell only to rise, and this year was again chosen to represent Western Maryland.

NOTE: Owing to the death of Mr. Stone, Mr. Richmond represented Western Maryland in the contest.

Did you shiver and shake,
 Did you quiver and quake,
 When you went through J. G. C.?
 Did you knock on the door,
 And for mercy implore,
 When you went through J. G. C.?
 Did you think it a joke,
 Or believe you would croak,
 When you went through J. G. C.?
 Were there tears that were shed,
 Or giggles instead,
 When you went through J. G. C.?

Did the shrieks fill your soul,
 Or make your eyes roll,
 When you went through J. G. C.?
 Did your hands get cold,
 As you went in the fold
 Of merciless J. G. C.?
 Was your heart in its place,
 Or in illimitable space,
 When you went through J. G. C.?
 Did you give your all
 In the Spring or Fall,
 At the call of J. G. C.?

Western Maryland! Hail, all Hail!

College Ties can ne'er be broken, Formed at W. M. C.

Far sur - passing wealth un - spoken, Ev - er may they be.

CHORUS

Western Maryland! Hail, all Hail Echo softly from each heart.

We'll be ev - er loyal to thee Till we from life shall part.

When our college days are over,
 Round our hearts shall cling Memories of our Alma Mater,
 Every day shall bring.

But our life is swiftly passing,
 Soon its course is run.
 What e'er our lot we'll ever cherish,
 Friendships here begun.

The Sheathing of the Sword

The first milestone in the march toward a greater Western Maryland was reached when, on June 10th, 1922, the new Hoffa Athletic Field was dedicated by the production of a great pageant of peace. The pageant was "The Sheathing of the Sword," and was written by Miss Dorothy Elderdice, an alumnus of the college. It was a splendid production, reflecting not only great credit to the genius of the author, but credit as well to her Alma Mater. The Pageant was heralded in the press of the country in most complimentary phrases. The Theatre Magazine recommends it as an ideal community pageant.

In the hollow of a most beautiful natural bowl many thousands of spectators, including Governor Ritchie and many other noted men of the county and state, looked down upon a never-to-be-forgotten spectacle. The audience was thrilled with a spirit of thanksgiving and peace, engendered by the vivid reproduction of scenes that had brought pride and glory to peoples of old, portrayed in a setting very similar to the amphitheatres of Greece and Rome. One by one were pictured the victories of peace through the ages, culminating in the inspiring prophecy that the sword would be forever returned to its scabbard, that ravage and plunder, hatred and warfare, were things of the past, that America as the great harbinger of peace had spread her mantle over the world, binding up the wounds of the nations and bringing peace to a weary humanity.

The dedicatory exercises were brief. After a short speech of welcome by Dr. Ward, Governor Ritchie made an address of greeting and congratulations. Then the captain of each department of athletics in the college received the symbol of his sport from the hands of one of the old letter men. And suddenly the scene changed, the minds of the onlookers were turned back a thousand years to the scenes of Greek and Roman Athletics.

A fanfare of trumpets to the four points of the compass heralded the coming of Peace, who was attended by the four ages—Ancient, Mediaeval, Modern, Future. As Prosperity and Progress danced over the level green, a messenger advanced from over the hill and announced the coming of Apollo who should restore the Olympic games.

Apollo in his chariot, attended by Amour and the Hours, twelve beautiful girls, and followed by a chorus of several hundred in Greek costume, chanting a hymn of Delphic Apollo, encircled the field. Following this came the proclaiming of the second victory, portrayed by the Roman Pax Augustus with a procession of Urban guards, consuls, senators, priests, and the vestal virgins bearing the sacred fire.

In the third episode a white-robed chorus on the hillside chanted Gloria in Excelsis, heralding the birth in Palestine of the Prince of Peace. The fourth episode was the meeting of Henry VIII and Francis I on the Field of the Cloth of Gold. The fifth episode portrayed in its first part the last grand council of the Indian chieftains in America. This was followed by a beautiful dance called the "Meeting of the Waters."

The final victory was called "Peace Universal," culminating in the assembling in the middle of the field of a constantly increasing white-robed host of people. Doves were released which soared heavenward, typifying to all the message of "peace on earth, good will to men."

This year, for the first time in many years, Western Maryland blossomed out with a successful dramatic club. While it is really an outgrowth of the Senior Speech Class it has come to be somewhat of a separate organization. But still it is a class. One of its aims is to teach the art of successfully producing plays in small theatres, in other words, not merely how to act in a play, but how to organize a dramatic group, select the plays and successfully manage them. Practically all the equipment used this year, including costumes, curtains, scenery, and lighting equipment, was made entirely by members of the class.

The first program consisted of the "Ghost Story," by Booth Tarkington, and "Lonesomelike," by Harold Brighthouse. These were given in Smith Hall and the usually bare platform was transformed into quite a respectable stage. Mr. Hooper and Miss Glotfelty starred in "The Ghost Story," and Miss Houck and Mr. Jones carried off the leading parts in "Lonesomelike." The audience heartily showed its appreciation of this variation of the usual Smith Hall recital.

On Thanksgiving night in Alumni Hall, before an audience of about eleven hundred people, the Mediaeval play "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," by Anatole France, was given by the College Players, and at the same time "The Egyptian Princess," a charming opera, was staged by the music department. Miss Hart and Mr. Hawkins held the leading parts in this quaint and amusing play.

"Two Crooks and a Lady" was the next to be enacted, in which Miss Elderdice, Miss Richmond, and Mr. Jones carried important roles. The audience registered huge enjoyment of the thrilling gun-play.

The climax of the year will be reached when "Clarence," by Booth Tarkington, will be given near Commencement. This will be the biggest undertaking of the club. It will represent something new, as it will be the first single play of any great length that the club has yet attempted. It will be produced in Alumni Hall with all new scenery and lighting effects. We feel that judging from past experiences, the dramatic club will cause Tarkington's greatest comedy to be a huge success.

Students of the college intending later to enter the ministry, feeling a need of instruction in theology, in 1880 formed themselves into a body known as the Theological Association for the purpose of getting some theological training. From this small beginning has come the Westminster Theological Seminary, which was established in 1882. The Theological Association then changed into the Stockton Literary Society of the Seminary.

In 1906, however, the President of the college called a meeting of the ministerial students and there was effected a re-organization of the old Association for the purpose of promoting friendship and creating a closer union among the ministerial students. The organization has continued ever since that time and is one of the most active organizations on the hill in the line of Christian work. Most of the members of the Association intend later to enter the ministry or missionary field, but the membership is not confined to such, as anyone interested in religious work may become a member. Meetings are conducted one night a week; that night chosen at the beginning of each year. Ministerial students, together with professors of the college and seminary, and local pastors, are secured as speakers.

Intelligence Test

Showing the test as given, and some of the results.

Part I.

- I. What is more rare than a day in June?
 A mid-winter hop at W. M. C.
 An A in English
 An F in History
 Parlor until 10:30
- II. How far is it from the sublime to the ethereal?
 As far as East is from West
 Ask Information
 One flight up
 Step overboard and walk two blocks east
- III. Why is the sea so near the shore?
 To give the fish a chance to sun themselves
 To keep the oysters from getting seasick
 To give the crabs an opportunity to ride the breakers
 It can't get any nearer
- IV. What are the chief ear-marks of History class?
 Absolute silence
 My friend, Senator France
 Dorothy and Kansas
 Charlie and his dumb arguments
 Redding and politics
- V. Why is music the expression of the soul?
 Bessie shakes a wicked adenoid
 Choir boys, choir boys
 Miss Lease's anaesthetic toe dancing
 Betting on the hymn numbers

Part II.

Indicate by making a cross your opinion as to the best answer to each of the following questions:

Why do they use wood ties instead of steel ones on the Western Md. Railway?

Because

- X they can be highly polished they make better knots in case of a flood they'll float
 they spring from the soil

In case of toothache should you

- X chew tobacco?
- drink hot water?
- rock it to sleep?
- take a mouthful of water and sit on the stove till it boils?

If you find a vacant house on fire
should you

- have it insured immediately?
- ring the doorbell?
- carefully throw the china out of the window?
- X open the windows to let the smoke out?

Why is the moon more useful than the sun?
Because

- it gives plenty of moonshine
- X it makes a quarter a week
there's moonshine in it it gets full once a month and goes out every night

Why is agriculture indispensable?
Because

- X great men must be raised on the farm poets need it for subject-matter
Western Maryland dining-room needs potatoes and tomatoes
it furnished the world's supply of peaches and chickens

If you have made a mistake
should you

- insist you are right anyway?
- keep still about it?
- blush violently?
- X put it on the bulletin board?

 Baldwin—"You won't have to worry, Miss Lease, Pete Nuttle just got through safely."

He (trying to make conversation)—"Have you many fast friends?"
 She (indignantly)—"Sir! I'm not that kind of a girl."

"What is your idea of the tightest man in college?"
 "The guy who won't take a shower because they soak you too much."

Gardner (to Evans)—"On the whole you're a nice fellow, Jesse, but there's just one thing about you that I don't like. Can you tell me what it is?"
 Evans—"I can't think, Gardie."
 Gardner—"That's just it."
