...goodbye

Aloha

In the Hawaiian language, the word "Aloha" has many meanings. Love, compassion, mercy, and affection are just a few of the uses. However, "Aloha" is most commonly used to say "hello" and "goodbye". Thus, this word is a very appropriate theme for a yearbook as each year the school welcomes in new freshmen and bids farewell to the graduating seniors.

In 1893, at then Western Maryland College, the president of the college found so much meaning in this word, the yearbook was named Aloha and remained so for 72 years. While the name of this yearbook is still Pathways, we wanted to honor the classic name Aloha as the theme of this book.

GHOSTS ON

WMO ALUMNI HALL

If you decide to take in a performance in Western Maryland College Alumni Hall, be careful where you sit. You may have an apparition patron blocking your view. But, then again, you'd be able to see right through him. His name is Harvey. He's the ghost of R.O. Stone, nicknamed Harvey, who was a divinity student in 1920. Harvey was torn between his love of the theatre and his deep religious convictions. The pressure became so great that he hung himself, not in Alumni Hall, but in his dorm room in Old Main, which was razed in 1959. So when you go to Alumni Hall, check out the center seat in the first row of the balcony. You may get a glimpse of a ghostly presence!

Be careful when doing your laundry in the basement of Blanche Ward Hall. If you turn your back, you may have your clothes folded for you or thrown across the room! Who she is, no one knows, but she has two very boisterous children in tow. One student has even witnessed the laundry room door closing shut, and the woman entering through it and exiting through a wall. Who can she be? Perhaps, a former College employee.

BLANCHE WARD HALL

The year is 1863, and the setting is the College's Admissions Office, Carroll Hall. A confederate army is on their way to Gettysburg, when they are ambushed by Union troops. A young colonel from the South is wounded and taken to Carroll House, where a makeshift field hospital has been set up. The soldier dies there in one of the upstairs bedrooms, but his spirit never leaves. He seems to delight in the invention of electricity, since Campus Safety has found lights on in the building and doors unlocked after the staff have left-knowing full well that the building was secured and darkened before their departure. If you look closely at an upstairs window, you may just see someone from the past looking back.

CARROLL HALL

THE HILL

The Roaring 20's was an era of flappers, gangsters, and prohibition - a wild time indeed! Unfortunately, it was a decade that the College lost four of its students. Besides Harvey, there is the story of Elizabeth Gillelan, who took her life with a rope in the closet of her room in McDaniel Hall. It is not clear what drove her to such a horrific demise, but she has been known to walk the halls of McDaniel gasping for air ever since. She has also been spotted walking from the gazebo back to her dorm.

ELDERDICE HALL

The third student to end his life in the 1920's was Edgar Covington, the first SGA President, a star athlete and all-around "Joe College." One night on campus, for reasons unknown, Edgar hung out with his friends, bid them good night, went back to his room, and drank a bottle of poison. Perhaps he was distraught over the death of Elizabeth, since they had been classmates.

The Ward Memorial Arch has been moved twice in the College's lifetime. It was originally erected between the President's House and McDaniel Hall, where horse-drawn carriages would enter the campus heading toward Old Main. The Arch was dismantled in 1936 and moved to the corner of Main and Union Streets. With the new configuration of Main Street in 2003, the Arch was moved again. When visitors approach the College from Main Street, the Arch sits prominently at the top of the hill as part of a fitting entrance to the campus. It is rumored that on a full moonlit night, if you stand under the Arch and look back toward the College, you will see it as it was in the late 1800's.

WARD MEMORIAL ARCH

"I think everyone should be involved with a club or an organization because it is a great way to meet new people and be active on campus."

In Memory of

Katherine L. Cousins

June 20, 1948 - January 24, 2006

The College sadly announced the news of Kathy's passing in January after an extended battle with cancer. Kathy had been with McDaniel for twenty years, 18 of which she served as the Special Events Coordinator for Conference and Auxiliary Services. Kathy worked with many people on and off campus on a day-to-day basis. She will always be remembered for her cheerful smile and her heartfelt kindness.

Ten early signs that Megan would join the US Army:

1. By 8 months old, she was a Junior Fire Marshall.
2. She constructed her own gas mask by age 2.
3. She's always known how to fit in a tight spot.
4. She has a natural skill at handling dangerous weapons.
5. She always makes any uniform look good.
6. She can withstand even the cruelest weather,
7. She can really "crack the whip."
8. She's a Master of Disguise.
9. She was born for KP duty.
10. She knows how to take command.

Kelly,

You are about to begin a brand new phase of your life. Watching you grow over the past 22 years has been very precious to us. Never lose sight of your hopes and dreams. You can do anything your heart leads you to no matter which path you choose. We will always be there to support you. Ryan, Mallory, and we couldn't have asked for a better daughter and big sister. We are so lucky to have you in our lives. You are such a beautiful person, inside and out. We couldn't be more proud of the person you have become. What we wish most for is your happiness. Remember, life is an adventure and there are endless possibilities. Congratulations on your huge accomplishment. We love you so very much,

Mommy & Daddy

Congratulations Jeff Goeller!

Congratulations Sarah!

Its hard to believe that four years have gone by already. As your parents, we are extremely proud of everything that you have accomplished. It has been a joy and a pleasure observing you grow and mature. You have become an intelligent, independent, confident and creative young woman. We hope that your many experiences and varied interests at McDaniel College have given you a quality and well rounded education. We are pleased that you are such a caring and giving person. You have performed leadership roles in campus organizations and functions and always seem willing to help others in any activity. We are sure that your involvement in so many areas has been a learning experience for you and others. We have enjoyed the performances of the College Chior. We enjoy your sense of humor and positive attitude which makes every moment spent with you precious. We wish you continued success as you prepare to enter Law School and face other challenges and goals in your life.

*Love

Congratulations Michael!

You've hit your stride. As a result of all the years of hard work and dedication, your first payoff is in your hands. As you strive for the next goal, maintain your momentum, the victories all belong to you and you deserve the best. Aim high, never settle, and above all make a difference. Be kind to those around you, think through all challenges, and remember how much you are loved. You are not only beautiful, you are gifted, and without a doubt possess the most contagious laugh ever heard. Make your mark on this confounding world we live in. We are watching you with great joy and pride.

Graduation Day 2006

Dear Tamara Joy,

Four years have gone by in a flash! Your college experience has been filled to the brim with amazing events and incredible friends. That very first day you sealed a lasting friendship with your roomies and within weeks you formed a lifelong journey with girls on your fourth floor dorm. Volleyball introduced you to remarkable young women who shared a bond of commitment and love for each other. Costa Rica has been an adventure that has enabled you to meet even more friends from all over the United States. These are your college treasures.

McDaniel has given you a wonderful beginning as you step into the real world. You are leaving as a woman who has become her own special person. Throughout life, may you continue to learn, not from books, but from seashells, stars, children, and from the lives of others. True happiness lives in the soul; create your own. Find joy in little things and always stop to see the wonder everywhere. Promise us that you will always live with a happy heart. Remember the past but always look forward to the future. Claim your dreams and cherish them. Promise us that you will enjoy life day-by-day and step-by-step. A bright new dawn and infinite possibilities awaits you. Tamara, we are so proud of you. This day is a celebration of YOU! We wish you a life of love and joy and all your dreams come true. Congratulations! We love you. MOM & DAD

Dear Tammy,

"We're adults. When did this happen? And how do we make it stop?--GA!" I can't believe that the little blonde haired girl with pig tails who lived next door to me all our lives, played Barbie marathons for days, and took me on crazy adventures through the creek is graduating college! I have no doubt that you will succeed in all you do for the rest of your life because you do everything with 110% (and usually a big smile!). You are the kind of best friend only the luckiest people get to have and, lucky for me, you're mine. You'll always be my little ball of sunshine, my Taramarkins, and one of my most favorite people. Good luck with becoming an adult...the real world is tough but I know you are tougher. LGLOLT, I LOVE YOU!!!-Laura.

To Tammy Joy
(Goddughter and V' Ball Star)

Now that you have scored that diploma,
let us make some points:

Reach high for the goals you've set
and don't let the opponent block your shot.
Go out there in the world and net some money.
Bump all those who would call you a pancake.
If you find yourself under an overhead pass,
be in a ready position to show the attackers your stuff.
Life is not always a free ball; at times it's off speed.
Hit the world head on-you'll spike to the top. Follow these rules-they will serve you well. With much love in our hearts we congratulate you!!

Leon, Your optimism, faith and perseverance have been an inspiration to your entire family. You never gave up no matter what the challenge. You remained the strongest of us all. You are a positive role model, especially for your younger cousins and it is evident they love and look up to you. As you look to the future, know that we will ALWAYS be here for you. All Our Love, Uncle Lou, Coma & Uncle Ern, Uncle Dave, DiAnn/Derek, Kari, Devon, Jenna Marie, Griffin, Rick/Jenn, Giovanna, Avianna, Christopher/Erin, Anthony, Ava, Eli, Regina & Jimmy

Congratulations Kelly

Where has the time gone? It doesn't seem long ago that you were starting your first day of preschool, and now you are a college graduate! You have given us so many special memories. We're very proud of the kind, caring woman you've become. You have so much to look forward to in life!
Love always - Dad, Mom, Christy, Andrew, and Dan

Closing Remarks

Aloha Class of 2006 and congratulations! Graduating from McDaniel College has produced mixed emotions for me, as I am sure for all of you. After years of getting to know each other, working hard in school, and coming to know McDaniel as our home, we have to leave and move on. However, I have to smile after all, because in the years spent at McDaniel we have come so far and accomplished so much, it is hard not to feel happy.

The goal of this book was to capture some of the important moments of the year. From the completion of Academic Hall, to Jan Term trips, to our graduation, Aloha tells the story of a school year worth remembering. I hope that years from now, you will be able to pick up this book and remember, with a smile, the friends you have made and the fun had during your time here.

This book cannot be complete without acknowledging and sincerely thanking those who have poured countless hours into this project. To Kim Pontano, Erin Bosley, Kenny Ditto, Kelly Mackinnon, Beth Christovich, and Zach Libell, you have been a great team to work with. To Susan Gullison, our advisor, you have always supported us and pushed us to be creative with our ideas and designs. To the readers of this book, Aloha was intended to be colorful and fun and I hope you enjoy it!

It seems like only yesterday that I walked into the yearbook office here at McDaniel College. Now, four years later, I have many great memories I have gained from this experience. Susan, it has been awesome having you as our advisor. Thanks for all of the cool gifts you always give us. I will miss guarding the soda fridge. Erin, best wishes with your engagement and with taking care of the staff next year! Kenny, good luck with graduation and your future plans. Beth, Kelly, and Zach, I hope you all enjoy working on the book these next couple of years. Remember that colors are your friend! It was great working with you and getting to know you all! Nicole, although we never ever agreed on design choices (I am still waiting for that pink Cheerios cover), I enjoyed working with you and I hope Colorado will be everything you want it to be! Ski hard, play hard, and work hard too! Thanks for all of the great memories, I will miss you all!
