Fort Stockton man convicted in wife's murder

A Fort Stockton man was found guilty of murdering his 26-year-old wife last week after a three-day jury trial.

It took less than 30 minutes for the eight-man, four-woman Pecos County Jury to find Luis Bustamante Orona guilty of first-degree murder for the July 2011 stabbing of Mayra Fernandez Orona.

"They did their job," said Jesse Gonzales, 83rd District Attorney, of the jury. "Obviously we are pleased the way it turned out."

Orona will be sentenced by a judge on April 19. The range of punishment for first-degree murder is 5-99 years or life.

The trial started on March 12 and ended March 14 in Fort Stockton.

Gonzales said the prosecution presented DNA evidence that connected Orona to the knife he used to stab his wife 26 times.

Orona stabbed that Mayra 5:30 a.m. July 9 at Stripes, 1000 N. Front St., in Fort Stockton. Mayra worked at the Stripes and was going to open the store when the homicide occurred.

Gonzales said a witness testified to seeing Orona stabbing Mayra and described the knife in his hand.

Also, Orona's former employer testified at the trial as well. Gonzales said Orona was working at Lariat Services at the time of the murder. The former employer testified that Orona called him twice that morning and that in the second call Orona admitted to stabbing his wife.

Law enforcement officials also testified that Orona admitted to killing his wife.

OHS Yearbook receives achievement award

BY LINDA THOMPSON
OHS YEARBOOK

The 2011 The Lion Yearbook, "iLion," received an Award of Achievement from the Interscholastic League Press Conference (ILPC) UIL.

"I'm very pleased with the award," said advisor Linda Thompson. "This is the third year I've submitted the yearbook for evaluation and it's the best rating yet. It's a very tough competition. We learn something new each year and try to apply it to the next yearbook. I think the yearbooks are getting better and better. We are so close to the top rating, I would not be surprised if this new staff takes it to the top."

Texas border tourist attractions work to label area as safe

BY LYNDY GONZALEZ
REPORTING TEXAS

From the coastal beachfront of South Padre Island to Big Bend National Park in the west, Texas businesses dependent on tourists say their areas are safe despite the drug-related violence in northern Mexico.

According to figures from 2009, tourism is the state's second-most important export-oriented industry, behind oil and gas production,

An 'app economy' born out of thin air and the iPhone

Welcome to the "app" economy. As the surge in popularity of wireless broadband devices like smart phones and slim tablet computers continues, there's a corresponding flood of new apps (meaning applications) that run on these devices. Even better news: This flood in apps has delivered an explosion of new jobs. According to TechNet, nearly one million apps have been created to date, and it is estimated that these apps generated nearly $20 billion in revenue in 2011 alone. TechNet also tells us that the invention of apps has created approximately 466,000 jobs. That is especially remarkable considering the number of app-related jobs was zero in 2007, when the iPhone was launched. And these jobs aren't limited to New York and California. All states have benefited from the app economy including Texas, where many groundbreaking apps have been created. DocBookMD, an Austin start-up, allows doctors to exchange texts, photos, charts, X-rays and other information over iPhones, iPads and Android phones. This app, created by husband and wife physicians Dr. Tracey Haas and Dr. Tim Gueramy, is used by 5,500 doctors in 20 states, and now they have grown to a 15-percent company. Another Texas-based tech company, Tabbedout, offers a free mobile app for iPhones and Android devices that allows bar and restaurant customers to open and close their tabs using their smart phones. Tabbedout has grown rapidly since its creation in 2009 and now serves more than 400 locations. GYLO (GetYa Learn On), headquartered in Texas, was founded in 2008 and uses apps to produce education products. GYLO found that students report higher motivation to study when using app technology. The GYLO app includes lessons, quizzes, flashcards, calculators, and glossaries. What may be the best display of Texas app power could be seen at the South by Southwest festival in Austin March 9-18. Abbreviated SXSW, this part-conference, part-festival offers an impressive experience combining music, film and emerging technologies all in one big event. It was a showcase of the latest apps. There was even an app called SXSW to help you find your way around the festival. It's pretty clear that wireless apps are opening the door to new economic growth and a cultural revolution. But to keep both going, we must continue to upgrade and enhance our wireless infrastructure, which allows such over-the-top technologies to function. Significant investments are being made as wireless providers continue to transition from 2G to 3G to 4G LTE networks.

We all need a break

We all need a break. I read an article that stated: "Although successful people enjoy what they do, they still get burnt out if they do nothing else but work. Breaks from work are good for recharging oneself and reflect on what needs to be improved to make things better. It clears your mind and prepares you for the journey ahead."

WHAT'S ON MY MIND

I totally agree. After researchers in Finland conducted a study on a group of nearly 800 workers over the span of 28 years, they found that subjects who failed to find time to recover from their workweek were more likely to eventually die of cardiovascular disease. If people are not able to relax periodically, plaques can build up in their arteries which contribute to potential heart attacks and or strokes.

Let's face it, as human beings the brain can be overloaded. Technology doesn't help. Cell phones, smart phones, Facebook, Twitter, Internet, along with the constant need to be connected, keeps our brains going 24/7. Sometimes you just need to get away. That's what many of us did last week, whether or not we had a designated spring break.

Paul and I traveled to the land of the weird, Austin. We love Austin. It's weird but it's a good weird filled with friends and good food.

It was a time to see some things, do a little shopping (hey, we stayed by the arboretum), eat some Asian cuisine (I highly recommend Drunk Fish in the arboretum) and catch up with some friends.

This was also a time to take a break from deadlines, articles, phone calls, e-mails and a little bit of social networking.

Don't get me wrong, I love my job, I love Ozona, but sometimes you need to leave familiar surroundings to appreciate what you have like being able to get anywhere in Ozona in less than 5 minutes. You can't do that in Austin.

However, you can see beautiful wildflowers and

My legs got the idea Sunday. I was sore from all the walking. I guess I need to do more to get in shape for next month's Relay For Life. Thank goodness for BioFreeze.

We even got our picture taken in front of the bluebonnets. It's nice to see green and flowers blooming this year after last year's drought.

The nice thing about our big state is you don't have to go far to get away. I know a lot of people hit Fan Fair in San Antonio over the week. Yep, saw those Facebook posts.

As I was surfing around iTunes, always on the lookout for new apps, I found an app called "Take a Breaking."

For $2.99 you can download this to your phone and it allows you to easily schedule breaks from Facebook and Twitter.

It also auto replies to your incoming communications while you are on break.

"The only way to take breaks from Facebook and Twitter without risk of losing your friends and followers and your contacts," it's website claims.

So, I have to pay nearly $3 plus tax to tell all of my Facebook and Twitter friends that I'm taking a break.

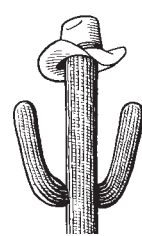

Instead of spending the money, I just simply posted to my social networks "I'm on VACATION." Enough said.

So, take a break. Let the brain reenergize and enjoy some fun.

Hmm...I think it's time to plan another break.

MELISSA PERNER is the editor and publisher of The Ozona Stockman. Hope everyone had a good Spring Break.

IT'S THE PITTS

LEE PITTS

There's one thing I simply must buy every year: The Old Farmer's Almanac. In this digital age you'll know it's the end of the world when the Almanac ceases to exist or goes totally digital. The 2012 edition is the 220th consecutive U.S. edition. Yes, it's been printed continuously for 220 of the 236 years we've been a free country!

Besides the weather forecasts, planting tables and schedules of tides, eclipses and gestation found in every issue, in 2012 we're told the best days to quit smoking, castrate, pollinate, graft (for Congressmen) and the best days to see a dentist. Although I'd submit there are no best days to see any dentist. The 2012 edition also contains interesting articles on spit, wild pigs (Ham On The Lam), the hottest peppers and biggest blowouts. The latter referring to volcanoes, not the peppers.

This year's edition has valuable information on what to do if you come face to face with a bear or a tornado, and how to properly use a broom. As a slouch I was interested to learn that men who sit slumped shouldered have lower testosterone levels than those who sit erect. And did you know 71 percent of Americans make their bed every day and crows can remember the face of a dangerous human for two years?

How can one live without knowing such things? I was also interested to learn a new way to hypnotize chickens and that the winter of 2009-2010 in Europe was the coldest winter in decades with hundreds of folks freezing to death. They could have kept warmer by burning all the books and speeches about global warming. The articles in this year's Almanac that really got my attention were the ones predicating what was going to be hot in America. And you have to pay attention to anyone's prognostications who can predict a year in advance the winter temperatures and precipitation totals with over 90 percent accuracy, like the Almanac did.

For 2012 the Almanac editors see more chocolate for breakfast and mac and cheese for dinner. They see fireplaces that rotate, bright red front doors and plants climbing up walls for cheaper insulation. On men we'll see more worn out T-shirts and garments that can be worn upside down and backwards. We'll also see women's jewelry made from rivets, nuts and bolts, but I have my doubts on that one. What do you think the average woman is going to do if, instead of a diamond engagement ring, you give her one made out of a ten penny nail? You'll get slapped and remain single, that's what!

Other things we'll be seeing more of include washable tuxedos, gold panning, indoor trampoline parks, rented clothing, pets sending get well cards, and wheelchairs for injured llamas, goats, pigs and chickens. They predict driverless cars that steer by GPS, spray-on fabrics, fingerless gloves for those who want to text in cold weather, and vending machines that sell fruits and vegetables. Although I can't see kids putting a dollar in a vending machine and getting back a banana or a stalk of broccoli. Nor do I see poor people who cannot afford a little Old Spice or Right Guard rubbing slices of lemon or lime under their arm pits like the Almanac suggested. I can however see the sport of couch surfing catching on in which people look online for folks offering up their couch to sleep on for free. I call such people your adult children.

I like the idea of fast and low lanes on sidewalks and of "technology cleanses" in which people turn off all their electronic devices for a period of time. But I don't foresee, as does the Almanac, typewriters and parlor games making a big comeback. Record players maybe, but not Smith Coronas.

My favorite quote in the entire 2012 version was this: "How is it that we put a man on the moon before we figured out it would be good to put wheels on our luggage?" Gems like that are found on every page of the Old Farmer's Almanac. Get yours today wherever wisdom and common sense are sold.

Washington rejects Texas' voter ID bill

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling | Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Texas' new law supporters say is meant to prevent voter fraud got a thumbs-down from the U.S. Department of Justice on March 12.

If the federal government had allowed the law to take effect in its present form, voters would have been required to present a state-approved identification card in addition to their voter registration card at the polls in order to cast a ballot. In a March 12 news release that came out the day the Justice Department made its decision public, the Brennan Center for Justice in Washington, D.C., stated "Texas' photo ID law could prevent hundreds of thousands of eligible voters from casting a ballot, including a disproportionate number of minorities."

Although passed by the Texas Legislature as Senate Bill 14 and signed into law in 2011, the law is subject to a higher level of scrutiny by Section 5 of the U.S. Voting Rights Act of 1965. The Lone Star State, because of its history of racial discrimination in elections, under Section 5 must receive preclearance for any changes in voting qualifications, standards, practices or procedures prior to their implementation. Preclearance can be given by the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia or the U.S. Department of Justice headed by U.S. Attorney General Eric Holder. Texas' chief elections officer, Secretary of State Hope Andrade, expressed disappointment in the Justice Department's decision but state Attorney General Greg Abbott said the action was "no surprise, given the Obama Administration's denial of a similar law in South Carolina."

Gov. Rick Perry, in a March 12 statement, said the Justice Department "has no valid reason for rejecting this important law, which requires nothing more extensive than the type of photo identification necessary to receive a library card or board an airplane."

On the other hand, Section 5 is in place to hold certain states and other jurisdictions where inequality has been a problem, to more stringent requirements to uphold the 15th Amendment's guarantee that no citizen shall be denied the right to vote on account of race or color. Several organizations came forward in support of the Justice Department's decision to deny preclearance, including the League of Women Voters, the Mexican American Legislative Caucus, the NAACP and the Texas Democratic Party. State Sen. Royce West, D-Dallas, said, "What the Justice Department said in its ruling was that Texas failed to prove that the changes in law would not have a retrogressive effect on minority voters. In other words, the new law would make it harder for minority citizens to vote than the existing requirements already set in state law."

Secretary of State Andrade, in a March 12 press release said, "My office will continue working with the Texas Attorney General's Office in seeking to implement the will of the citizens of Texas, as enacted by our duly elected representatives in the Texas Legislature."

Library reaches fund-raiser goal, campaign nearing end

The Crockett County Public Library partnered with the Ozona Chamber of Commerce to conduct a fund-raiser to supplement the county budget and the Friends of the Library fund-raising efforts to maintain the current level of service provided by our library, due to a loss in state and federal library funding. "Our goal was to raise $5,000, and we have reached that goal," said Librarian Louise Ledoux. "You still have time to help and make a contribution. We will continue taking donations until March 27. Fund-raising results will be announced at the Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held on Thursday, March 29," said Shanon Biggerstaff, Chamber Executive Director. To be a part of the fund-raiser, buy a ticket to the chamber banquet for $15 and join us at the Civic Center on Thursday, March 29. The chamber will announce the Business of the Year, our campaign results, and the Way Off Broadway Players will perform a portion of the play, "Ruthie's Café." Have a great meal, enjoy a production, and help the library all at the same time. For more information, or to make reservations, call 392-3737. "Ruthie's Café" is a musical comedy that takes place in a small town diner with a variety of colorful characters and customers. Crockett County Relay For Life to honor cancer survivors

BY KELLYE HOWARD
AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

The Crockett County Relay For Life will host its annual dinner to honor cancer survivors on Thursday, March 29.

The inspirational Survivor Dinner will take place at the Ozona United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall at 6 p.m.

"The Survivor Dinner is a great chance for cancer survivors and caregivers to gather and share their stories," said Shelly Childress, event chair.

This unique event is an open invitation to all cancer survivors and caregivers from Crockett County.

In 1985, Relay For Life began with one man who walked and ran around a track for 24 hours raising $27,000.

This year, Relay For Life will take place in more than 4,900 communities.

The American Cancer Society Relay For Life represents hope for those that have lost loved ones to cancer. It is also an opportunity to acknowledge victims of the deadly disease.

One of the ultimate goals of the cancer society is to eliminate cancer as a health problem by saving lives and preventing cancer through research, education and awareness.

ACS Relay For Life provides the community with an opportunity to commemorate the lives of those who have lost the fight to cancer, but they also ensure that the dinner does not have a melancholic atmosphere rather a celebratory one for survivors of cancer.

"We are expecting a great turnout this year," Childress said. "Each cancer survivor is able to invite one of their caregivers to attend as their guest."

For more information, call Childress at (325) 277-5381.

I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank all the volunteer coaches and referees for generously giving up a tremendous amount of their time to teach our young boys and girls the game of basketball. Thank you to all the staff that coordinated and helped open, close, and clean up gyms after each night of play. EIGHT YEARS OLD NO MAMA OR PAPA

Last Sunday I noticed a young boy throwing a fit outside the Church. His grandmother who is raising him was totally frustrated so I asked her if I could help. He said he wanted to sit with his friend but his grandmother said, "He talks in Church" I asked him if he could be quiet and that I was going to sit with him and his friend. He agreed to be quiet and kept his word. That situation reminded me of something happening today. There are over 13.7 million single parents raising over 21.8 million children today. Also over 40% of the children born in the United States are out of wedlock and with teenagers every 6 out of 7. So many dysfunctional homes and this is not God's plan, (Psalm 78:1-4). So we have a God-less society reaping what it has sown. What can be done? First, take care of our own, making sure we have Christ-like, God centered homes and families, (Ephesians 6:4) and extended families. Have like minded friends, (1 Corinthians 15:33). Have a good Church home and worship and attend there faithfully, (Proverbs 17:6). Prayer, (1 Thessalonians 5:17, John 15:7) so our Churches can try and help the children in need and whoever is trying to raise them. Pray for our Nation that it would return to God, (Psalm 78:5&8). See you in Church next Sunday.

Conscious Discipline series starts April 18

Conscious Discipline Presented by Carol White of the Region 15 Service Center is a four-part educational series for parents, teachers, daycare centers, and anyone interested in learning new discipline techniques.

This series will be presented at the Ozona Elementary Library on April 10, April 18, May 8 and May 15. The sessions will be from 6-8 p.m.

Conscious Discipline is an emotional intelligence program consisting of brain smart strategies for responding rather than reacting to life events and challenging behaviors.

Through responding, conflict moments are transformed into cooperative learning opportunities.

This training will provide an understanding of the brain and the seven basic skills of discipline that develop character, cooperation, respect and responsibility. This four-part series will allow participants to learn new skills, and then practice those skills before learning more strategies.

Door prizes will be handed out. Registration is due April 4.

For more information, or to register, call Katie Parker, OES Counselor at (325) 392-5501 ext: 5803 or e-mail katie.parker@ozon-schools.net.

according to an industry profile report by the Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts. A subsequent state report said the industry grew in 2010, after struggling through the economic downturn.

More tourists visited South Padre Island, where tourism is a big driver for the economy of the Rio Grande Valley as a whole. Hotel occupancy tax proceeds increased an estimated 5.6 percent in 2011 after rising 5.2 percent in 2010 and 4.6 percent in 2009, according to City Manager Joni Clarke.

Clarke emphasized that South Padre is safe and immune, so far, from the drug violence in Mexico.

"We are an island, and we don't have a lot of issues that you would see in the news typically," Clarke said. "We're very aware of the concern, and I know that our police department gets regular updates. We have an extremely high ratio of [officers to civilians] on the island, with 10 officers per 1,000, where it's usually normal to only have one per 1,000. Of course it's because our population spikes with tourism during summer and other events like that."

"I'm a single woman who lives alone, I walk my dogs at night, and I feel incredibly safe here," Clarke said.

She said that a stabilizing economy and recently opened air service from Monterrey, Mexico, to Brownsville by Aero-Mexico have contributed to the boost in tourism. The City of South Padre Island has adopted a marketing strategy that encourages "vacationism" and the idea of keeping consumer dollars in Texas, Clarke said.

Proximity to Mexico used to be one of the island's attractions, but day-trip tours south of the border have vanished. The Rio RV Park in nearby Brownsville states on its website that, "The free day trips ... (to) Matamoros and Progreso, Mexico, are no longer [available] due to the news media's stories."

"The entire world is aware of what's going on in Mexico,"

Clarke said. "A lot of the attraction in the area is visiting Mexico, and it's not something that we advise. We don't take an official position on the situation, but we take our stance from what the national travel advisory is."

The Texas Department of Public Safety released this year's travel advisory against travel to Mexico for spring break. DPS spokesman Tom Vinger says that the report is proactive in trying to help people make informed decisions about their travel plans, but by no means does it warn against traveling to the Texas side of the border. According to Vinger, the risk isn't comparable.

"We don't discourage anyone from going to South Padre Island," he said. "You can't compare Mexico and the United States. The violence in Mexico is far greater, far more brutal than the United States. We don't see beheadings, car bombings [or]... assassinations of police officials."

Farther west, the violence in Mexico is a concern to tourism businesses in the Big Bend National Park. The recent State Department advisory issued on Feb. 8 cautioned against visiting the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Coahuila bordering Big Bend National Park, even though it did not report any nearby violence, on either side of the border area.

Danny Ferguson, the general manager of the Chisos Mountain Lodge, located within the park, said the alerts have caused people to frequently ask: "Is it safe down there?"

Like Clarke, he uses the examples from his personal life to show how secure the area is.

"I leave my keys in my car. I leave my doors unlocked at my house," said Ferguson, who also serves on the marketing committee for the Brewster County Tourism Council. "Most people don't realize it's safe down here, and they consider all the border to be dangerous when they think of the negative issues going on."

Vinger does acknowledge that there are drug smuggling issues along the border, but they ultimately affect the entire country, not just border cities.

The foremost goal is to educate travelers planning on going to Mexico, not border attractions.

"People are going to make up their own mind," he said. "We want people to be informed, to look at multiple sources and not just people who have a financial interest in them going somewhere."

Ferguson says the statewide drought and wildfires have also decreased tourism to his area but that the re-opening of the Boquillas, Mexico, the border entry point at Big Bend, scheduled for March, should help reverse the trend.

While tourism close to the border has suffered, the violence in Mexico hasn't had a significant effect on business at the well-known Gage Hotel in Marathon, according to its general manager. If anything, Carol Peterson said, business at the hotel is improving because of the economy.

"We're still booking a lot of weddings," she said. "We had a wedding at the end of last fall and most of the people were from Juarez and El Paso, and it's an example of something that might not have happened here if it weren't for the events in that area."

Police spent 19 hours searching for Orna after he committed the crime.

Orna was still wearing the same shoes when he turned himself into law enforcement officials, and DNA evidence showed that Mayra's blood was on them, Gonzales said.

DNA evidence provided that Orna's shoes still had Mayra's blood on them.

The surveillance camera at Stripes also caught part of the incident, and was played at the trial.

"The facts were incriminating," Gonzales said.

Mayra was a 2003 graduate of Ozona High School. Her parents, Fernando and Rosa Fernandez and two sisters, Irma Ortiz and Moniqua Fernandez, live in Ozona, and her brother, Fernando Fernandez Jr., lives in Eldorado.

According to friends and family, Mayra had moved away from her family in Ozona to Fort Stockton to be with her husband and she was working at Stripes, but Mayra and her husband had trouble in their marriage.

The family was presented throughout the trial.

"This is tough for them," Gonzales said. "They are good people. It's tragic that they had to go through something like this."

Yearbooks are evaluated and awarded one of four ratings: Award of Merit, Award of Honor, Award of Achievement, and Award of Distinguished Merit.

The Lion earned the second highest award and was evaluated for eight categories ranging from Unifying Concepts to Design/Graphics/Typography.

Two categories earned the highest honor of Distinguished Merit for photography and ads/community.

Closing thoughts by the judge included a comment stating "You have a book that you and your school can be proud of..."

Balfour representative and advisor Doug Altom sent the following in an e-mail: "Keeping the same level of design-mindedness and book organization from year to year with different kids is hard enough. To make them copy editors of the pictures they are presenting is a huge task...I hope they [anyone not receiving a yearbook] realize that they are missing out on a good thing. Congratulations!...it is very deserved."

The 2011 Lion staff was led by senior editor Duncan Knox and junior editor Camille Cervantes. Staff members included Rebecca Pierce (art director), Mikey Medina, Clarissa Burciaga, and Kelsie Ramirez.

Michael Vargas medals at Regional Powerlifting Meet

MICHAEL VARGAS earned fourth place in the 132 pound class at the Region 1, Division 3 Powerlifting Meet held in Sundown on March 10. Vargas found himself in a "dog fight" after the squat and then again after the bench press, but he competed well in the dead lift and moved up in placing to garner the fourth place medal. Congratulations to Michael on a very good season.

Lions fall to Miles, Greenwood

The Ozona Lions competed in their final non-district matchups against Miles and Midland Greenwood.

The Lions had a double-hitter against the Miles Bulldogs on March 12. Miles won both games, 9-0 and 6-3.

Pitching for the Lions in both games was Glen Tinney, Saul Vargas and Adam Gonzales. Catcher was Alejandro Mendez.

Leading player was Alex Borrego who was 2 for 3.

"We had two very bad games. Defensively we could not make the plays we needed to. Offensively we hit the ball hard but it seemed to find a Miles player every time. I was very disappointed with our performance. I think we took a step backwards which is not good considering district starts this week," said Coach Ray Talamantes.

In the game against Greenwood, Ozona lost 4-1 but showed improvement.

Pitchers were Jayton Rodriguez and Chase De Hoyos; catcher Mendez.

Vargas was 2 for 3; Rodriguez 5IP, 7Ks, 2BB and 1 for 3 with 1 RBI.

"Sophomore Saul Vargas did all he could to give us a boost, but it wasn't enough. He was 2 for 3 with singles in the third and seventh inning. Freshmen Jayton Rodriguez also played well for us. He was strong on the mound going five innings. He had seven strikeouts and two walks and three earned runs. Offensively he provided the only score for us driving in Senior Alejandro Mendez in the top of the seventh inning," Talamantes said.

The Lions take on Wall at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 27, in Wall.

Lady Lions claw Grape Creek, Ballinger

The Ozona Lady Lions won their first two district games last week.

In the first game, the Lady Lions defeated Grape Creek 6-5 on March 13.

Pitcher was Adrienne Sanchez; catcher Kodi Glosson.

Sanchez scored 2 runs and had 14 strikeouts. Cynthia Garcia, Vivian Medina, Bethany Martinez and Keyanna Perez each scored one run.

"The message going into our first district game was 'do not be anxious.' Trust one another and play your best. The Lady Lions played well considering that Grape Creek put the ball in play in places that were hard to get to, they didn't do it a whole lot, but when they did it was effective for them. We just had to focus on making the play when the ball came to us, and make sure that we scored one more run than our opponent," said Coach Butch Gonzalez. "That is the challenge and fun part of competition. You never know what will happen and our team understands that. They know there is no easy way in when it comes to district play."

The Lady Lions defeated Ballinger 5-2 on March 15.

Sanchez pitched; catcher was Glosson.

Sanchez had seven strikeouts and scored a run. Glosson scored two runs and Garcia and Amy Quiroz also scored one run each.

Also playing was: Samantha De La Garza, Medina, Martinez, Stacie Quiroz, Keyanna Perez, Lexi Poindexter, Jennifer Marquez, Kyann Hernandez, Meagan Espinosa, Jade Carty, Kaylee Ramirez and Brianna Cervantez.

"Our focus going into our second district game, against an opponent who also won their first district game, was simple - 'play the game.' Don't try to do anymore or any less, play the game and see what happens. The Lady Lions won a very exciting, intense game against an opponent looking to make it into the postseason. The Lady Bearcats made a statement in their first district game by defeating interstate neighbor Sonora," Gonzalez said.

The Lady Lions will take on Wall at 5 p.m. Tuesday, March 27, in Wall.

No point totals were kept during the running events.

The Lions will be competing again on March 24 at Harper. Go Lions!

AN 18-WHEELER OILFIELD TRUCK turned on its side on March 14 off of County Road 208 north of Ozona. No serious injuries were involved. Ozona Volunteer Fire Department, Crockett County EMS, Crockett County Sheriff's Department and Texas Department of Public Safety all responded to the incident.

And history shows that the continued transition to 4G wireless technology will drive job creation and economic growth. A recent NDN study shows that the transition from 2G to 3G networks spurred the creation of roughly 1.6 million new jobs from April 2007 to June 2011.

Furthermore, NDN's analysis estimates that for each 10 percent increase in the penetration rate of 3G and 4G wireless technologies and devices, more than 231,000 new jobs could be added to the U.S. economy within a year.

As our nation's elected leaders continue to tout the need for job creation, the answer is right in front of us: technology-driven jobs. Federal and state leaders must foster policies that support and promote the investment in and deployment of upgraded wireless infrastructure. That means supporting open and competitive auctions for additional spectrum and keeping the high-tech environment free of unnecessary regulation so developers can thrive and the economy can grow.

ROBERT HOWDEN is the Executive Director of Texans for Economic Progress

right to enforce a law that is allowed under the U.S. Constitution. Section 5 cannot trump the Constitution."

COMBS TOUTS TRANSPARENCY RATING

Texas has received the top ranking for government spending transparency in an annual report on all states issued by the consumer watchdog U.S. Public Interest Research Group, Texas Comptroller Susan Combs announced March 14.

Combs' office's texastransparency.org website provides a way for citizens to keep tabs on state and local governmental finances and spending.

APPLE TO BEEF UP OPERATIONS HERE

Gov. Rick Perry on March 9 announced Cupertino, Calif.-based Apple Inc. "will expand its presence in Texas with a $304 million investment in a new campus in Austin that will create more than 3,600 new jobs."

In exchange for Apple's commitment to create these new jobs in Texas, the state has offered Apple an investment of $21 million over 10 years through the Texas Enterprise Fund managed by the governor's office.

A NEW LANDFILL HAS BEEN APPROVED OR HADN'T YOU HEARD?

Currently your government officials publish their plans and decisions in the newspaper - including where they intend to build facilities you might not want down the street.

That could change in the future because they want to bury their public notices somewhere online, on a little seen, rarely visited government website - out of sight, out of mind.

Don't let government keep you in the dark.

If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.
