*Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1899, by the J. L. HILL PRINTING COMPANY, in the Office of the Introductory.

WE present this, the 1900 edition of the Wilmington, N. C., City Directory, with the assurance to our friends and patrons that we have spared neither pains nor expense in having this work exceed, if possible, representations.

An examination of its pages will show a most accurate compilation, a feature which no other directory of the city in the past has had as exact.

Our canvassers were men of long experience and we believe thoroughly conscientious, we therefore have no hesitancy in asserting that this publication will be found far superior to its predecessors.

The opposite page gives a comparison of population figures with those of 1897. The gain is most gratifying and proves conclusively that Wilmington is progressing, even more than her most faithful adherents claim.

We take this opportunity of thanking most heartily our many friends who by their substantial aid enabled us to complete this work, and to the many others who have lent their co-operation are we also deeply indebted. With the added assurance to the people of Wilmington that we have come to stay, and that our publication will be issued regularly.

We are very respectfully.

Population Statistics.

The following table gives the number of names of each letter in this book, also that of 1897 by way of comparison. To begin with, there is 1,510 more names in this publication than that of 1897, an increase of over 19 per cent.

In 1897 the multiple $3\frac{1}{2}$ was used to ascertain the probable population, now we use the standard multiple of the country, i. e., 3. Multiplying the number of names in this book, 9,203, by this figure we are given a population for Wilmington of 27,609. This undoubtedly is very nearly correct. Should the former multiple $3\frac{1}{2}$ be used however, Wilmington would have a population of 32,210. In our opinion this is too large. To get the probable gain of population since 1897 an allowance should be made for the multiple then in use, comparing the figures produced by that multiple with the one now in use. Our estimation of the gain is about 3,000.

In view of the vicissitudes through which Wilmington has passed since our last publication, this gain is not only gratifying but surprising.

To the doubter we wish to say, the figures here speak for themselves. We invite inspection.
