

Hello

Since 1994, Media UK - www.mediauk.com - has contained a full media directory. We now contain media news from over 50 sources, RAJAR and playlist information, the industry's widest selection of radio jobs, and much more - and it's all free.

From our directory, we're proud to be able to produce a new edition of the Radio Pocket Book. We've based this on the Radio Authority version that was available when we launched 17 years ago. We hope you find it useful.

Enjoy this return of an old favourite: and set mediauk.com on your browser favourites list.

Foreword

In 1975, when I was 13, I wrote to the IBA to ask for a copy of their latest publication grandly titled Transmitting stations: a Pocket Guide. The year before I had listened with excitement to the launch of our local commercial station, Liverpool's Radio City, and wanted to find out what other stations I might be able to pick up. In those days the Guide covered TV as well as radio, which could only manage to fill two pages – but then there were only 19 “ILR” stations. Nevertheless from then on I was hooked and carried my copy around with me, especially when we went on holiday. I would drive my parents mad as I fiddled with the radio every few miles to see what other distant stations I could pick up – a habit that persists and still annoys anyone I travel with.

Over the years the Guide grew, as did its BBC counterpart, first with new stations such as Radio Aire or the doomed Centre Radio in Leicester, then a doubling of choice with the end of AM/FM simulcasting and then a whole range of smaller stations. The Guide reflected the growth of a vibrant industry spreading into every part of the UK.

Today we are in the middle of a further explosion of both listener choice and ways to listen, as community radio and digital-only stations launch on a variety of new platforms: on DAB, on the internet and via TV, as well as traditional FM. Most of us can now choose from hundreds of UK stations as well as thousands from overseas. The days when I could only choose between four BBC networks, one BBC local station and one ILR station are a very distant memory. It's great to have the Guide back to help us through this wealth of choice.

Some questions answered

How this pocket book was compiled

Media UK is a user-generated directory, and has hundreds of updates a week from readers at mediauk.com. If you spot anything wrong, visit mediauk.com/fixerrors - it'll take less than two minutes. We've spent time with the major groups ensuring that our data for them is as correct as it can be.

The people we list

We only list personnel for radio stations who have approved their proof for the pocket book, and we list them in alphabetical order. Contact admin@mediauk.com if your station hasn't got anyone listed. There's plenty more people at mediauk.com

Websites and email addresses are on mediauk.com

If you want online information, we bet you'll be online anyway, and therefore our lovely website is right for you. You'll find it at mediauk.com - it's very good, it's searchable, and it's free.

Stations that just say "DAB" on them: what multiplex are they?

FM frequencies don't have coverage areas in the Pocket Book, so we don't list the multiplex areas for DAB either. You'll find a full list on mediauk.com - along with Freeview, Freesat, Sky and cable details, and links to listen.

But we own more stations than this!

We list radio stations like listeners do - by programming, not by historical or legal franchise, nor by advertising area. Some stations that share programming are treated as one station by us, just like your audience do.

How can I get more copies?

Unlike previous editions of the Pocket Book, we can't afford to give these away for free. That said, because this is produced automatically from Media UK data, we can produce any number of copies of this pocketbook for you, in any print style: including updated and filtered data, however you want it. We can even print it on a jigsaw. (A very big one). Contact admin@mediauk.com with your requirements.

Terms, legal, and copyright

Media UK has published this Pocket Book in good faith, and we've tried our hardest to get everything right. However, you use information contained herein at your own risk. We can't accept any responsibility if we've messed anything up. For our full terms, which apply to this Pocket Book, please read mediauk.com/terms

We acknowledge the original design of the Radio Authority Pocket Book, on which the layout is based. Logos and trademarks used in this book are used for identification purposes only. The appearance in this directory by any company doesn't imply endorsement of this publication by anyone, least of all them.

Credits

Thank you, Simon Hirst, for scanning the 1993 pocket book, and for his Facebook friends for egging us on to produce a new version.

Thank you to Media UK's directory editors, who are wonderful people who inexplicably give up their time to ensure that our data is right: Chris Stevens, Graeme Mullins, Martin Phillip, James Hatts and Matt Deegan, and especially Paul Easton for his knowledge, understanding and dedication.

RadioCentre

SHAPING COMMERCIAL RADIO'S FUTURE

RadioCentre

RadioCentre is the industry body for UK commercial radio. It exists to maintain and build a strong and successful commercial radio industry, and to help promote the value and diversity of commercial radio.

Founded in 2006 after the merger of the Radio Advertising Bureau (RAB) and the Commercial Radio Companies Association (CRCA), RadioCentre represents radio groups and stations from rural, small scale ventures, to household names serving major metropolitan areas.

Working with a range of stakeholders, RadioCentre works for the greater benefit of commercial radio, from lobbying on the industry's behalf with government, Ofcom and policy makers, to raising the profile of commercial radio with advertisers and their agencies, and of course, working with radio stations themselves, helping them maximise the potential of their businesses.
