Tracking Error

Each of the funds listed in the table employs a “passive” investment strategy designed to replicate the performance of its benchmark index. Some of the funds attempt to fully replicate the index by holding all of the component securities, in approximately the same proportion as their weighting in the index. Other funds instead use an index sampling process, holding a representative sample of securities which approximates the full index in terms of key risk factors and other characteristics. Tracking error measures the volatility of the return difference between the fund and the index. It is calculated as the standard deviation of the tracking difference between the fund and the index (gross of fees for the trailing 36-month period, or since the fund’s inception if it does not have 36 months of performance history). Realised (ex-post) tracking error may vary from the anticipated tracking error, depending on a range of circumstances. These include transaction costs, securities lending income and withholding tax differences. The anticipated tracking error and ex-post tracking error are not expected to vary significantly under normal circumstances.

There are two types of tracking error displayed for the fund, swung and unswung. The fund uses swing pricing, which adjusts the fund’s NAV daily to ensure that no transaction costs caused by investing or redeeming clients are borne by the existing unitholders. As a result, the performance difference relative to the benchmark and therefore the tracking error will be higher on a swung basis. Unswung tracking error shows the underlying performance of the fund without swing pricing applied. Additional details regarding the swing pricing policy employed by the Funds can be found in Note 3 of the Notes to the Financial Statements.

The table below excludes adjustments for swing pricing.

Vanguard Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to track the performance of the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of companies in emerging markets.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors turned less risk-averse during the 12-month period ended 31 December 2019. While a number of concerns that marked previous periods persisted, global growth appeared more likely to slow than stall, signs emerged of progress in US-China trade talks and the UK seemed less likely to make a disorderly exit from the European Union.
- The US Federal Reserve cut its target for short-term interest rates three times during the period, and many other major central banks maintained accommodative monetary policies. The European Central Bank was among them. It held policy steady after pushing its deposit rate further into negative territory and announcing a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan pledged to maintain policy rates at very low levels. The Bank of England remained on hold, but with the markets anticipating that its next move would be a cut.
- Equity markets rallied in response and in many cases reached record highs by the end of the period. Stocks in Europe outpaced those in the Pacific region and emerging markets but trailed those in the United States.
- For the period, the fund's benchmark returned 18.44%. All 11 of the benchmark's industry sectors produced positive results. Information technology, consumer discretionary and real estate posted the highest returns.
- Among countries, China, the benchmark's largest market, produced double-digit returns, as did several other markets, including Taiwan, Russia, and South Korea.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard European Stock Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI Europe Index, which is made up of common stocks of companies located in Europe.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors turned less risk-averse during the 12-month period ended 31 December 2019. While a number of concerns that marked previous periods persisted, global growth appeared more likely to slow than stall, signs emerged of progress in US-China trade talks and the UK seemed less likely to make a disorderly exit from the European Union.
- The US Federal Reserve cut its target for short-term interest rates three times during the period, and many other major central banks maintained accommodative monetary policies. The European Central Bank was among them. It held policy steady after pushing its deposit rate further into negative territory and announcing a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan pledged to maintain policy rates at very low levels. The Bank of England remained on hold, but with the markets anticipating that its next move would be a cut.
- Equity markets rallied in response and in many cases reached record highs by the end of the period. Stocks in Europe outpaced those in the Pacific region and emerging markets but trailed those in the United States.
- For the period, the fund's benchmark returned 23.77%. All 11 of the benchmark's industry sectors produced positive returns. Information technology, industrials and consumer discretionary posted the highest returns.
- Among countries, the United Kingdom, the benchmark's largest market, produced returns above 20%, as did several other large markets, including France, Switzerland and Germany.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

(For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard Eurozone Stock Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI EMU Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks designed to capture 85% of the underlying euro zone countries' market capitalisation.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors turned less risk-averse during the 12-month period ended 31 December 2019. While a number of concerns that marked previous periods persisted, global growth appeared more likely to slow than stall, signs emerged of progress in US-China trade talks and the UK seemed less likely to make a disorderly exit from the European Union.
- The US Federal Reserve cut its target for short-term interest rates three times during the period, and many other major central banks maintained accommodative monetary policies. The European Central Bank was among them. It held policy steady after pushing its deposit rate further into negative territory and announcing a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan pledged to maintain policy rates at very low levels. The Bank of England remained on hold, but with the markets anticipating that its next move would be a cut.
- Equity markets rallied in response and in many cases reached record highs by the end of the period. Stocks in Europe outpaced those in the Pacific region and emerging markets but trailed those in the United States.
- For the period, the fund's benchmark returned 25.47%. All 11 of the benchmark's industry sectors produced positive returns. Information technology, industrials and consumer discretionary posted the highest returns.
- Among countries, France, Germany and the Netherlands, the benchmark's largest markets, all produced returns above 20%.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Global Enhanced Equity Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide a total return (income plus capital appreciation) greater than that of the MSCI World Index, while maintaining a risk profile similar to that of the index.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The fund is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The following performance information shows how the fund's returns compare with those of the MSCI World Index, a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations. Global equities ended the year generally higher.
- The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times during the year after raising them four times in 2018. The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further into negative territory and announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- In this environment, the fund underperformed its benchmark index, which returned 27.67% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019. The fund uses a proprietary quantitative approach to build a portfolio that seeks to outperform the benchmark without taking on substantially more risk.
- Financials were a net contributor to the fund's performance. Health care, industrials and communication services were the biggest detractors.
- US stocks, which represented more than half the portfolio, detracted most from relative results.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Benchmark	27.67	8.74	9.47

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

Vanguard Global Small-Cap Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI World Small Cap Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of small-cap companies in developed countries.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times during the year after raising them four times in 2018. The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further into negative territory and announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- In this environment, global equities overall ended the year strongly higher. The fund's benchmark index returned 26.19% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- Results were positive in ten of the index's 11 sectors, led by information technology, industrials and health care. Energy sagged.
- US stocks, which account for more than half the index, had double-digit returns and contributed the most to net results.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard Global Stock Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI World Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of companies in developed countries.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times during the year after raising them four times in 2018. The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further into negative territory and announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- In this environment, global equities overall ended the year strongly higher. The fund's benchmark index returned 27.67% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- Each of the index's 11 sectors recorded positive results. Information technology, industrials and financials contributed the most to returns. Energy, real estate and utilities added the least.
- US stocks, which account for more than 60% of the index, contributed most to results.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard Japan Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to track the performance of the MSCI Japan Index, which emphasises stocks of companies located in Japan.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times during the year after raising them four times in 2018. The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further into negative territory and announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- In this environment, global equities overall ended the year strongly higher. The fund's benchmark index returned 21.81% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- Results were positive in ten of the index's 11 sectors, led by information technology, health care and communication services. Utilities eroded returns.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard Pacific ex-Japan Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI Pacific ex-Japan Index, which is made up of common stocks of companies located in the Pacific region.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times during the year after raising them four times in 2018. The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further into negative territory and announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- In this environment, global equities overall ended the year strongly higher. The fund's benchmark index returned 20.54% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- Each of the index's 11 sectors recorded double-digit positive results. Financials, materials and health care contributed the most to returns. Information technology, utilities and communication services added the least.
- Australian stocks, which account for more than half the index, contributed the most to net results.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard SRI European Stock Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund aims to provide long-term growth of capital by seeking to achieve the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of large and mid-sized companies in developed countries in Europe.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors turned less risk-averse during the 12-month period ended 31 December 2019. While a number of concerns that marked previous periods persisted, global growth appeared more likely to slow than stall, signs emerged of progress in US-China trade talks and the UK seemed less likely to make a disorderly exit from the European Union.
  - The US Federal Reserve cut its target for short-term interest rates three times during the period, and many other major central banks maintained accommodative monetary policies. The European Central Bank was among them. It held policy steady after pushing its deposit rate further into negative territory and announcing a new round of open-ended bond purchases in September. The Bank of Japan pledged to maintain policy rates at very low levels. The Bank of England remained on hold, but with the markets anticipating that its next move would be a cut.
  - Equity markets rallied in response and in many cases reached record highs by the end of the period. Stocks in Europe outpaced those in the Pacific region and emerging markets but trailed those in the United States.
  - For the period, the fund's benchmark returned 26.11%. All ten of the benchmark's industry sectors produced positive returns. Industrials, technology and health care posted the highest returns.
  - Among countries, the United Kingdom, France, Switzerland and Germany, the benchmark's largest markets, all produced returns above 20%.
- All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard SRI Global Stock Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund aims to provide long-term growth of capital by seeking to achieve the performance of the FTSE Developed Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of large and mid-sized companies in developed countries.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations. Global equities ended the year generally higher.
- The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019 after raising them four times in 2018. The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further below zero and, in September, announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- In this environment, the fund slightly outperformed its benchmark index, the FTSE Developed Index, which returned 27.27% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019. The fund employs a passive management, or indexing, investment strategy designed to achieve the performance of the index by investing in all, or a representative sample of, index securities that satisfy the application of a screening process for socially responsible investing.
- Each of the index's ten sectors recorded positive results. Industrials, financials and utilities contributed the most to relative returns. Basic materials and health care were net detractors.
- US stocks, which account for more than 60% of the index, contributed the most to net results.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard U.S. 500 Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to track the performance of the S&P 500 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of US stock market performance that is dominated by the stocks of large US companies.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- US equity markets posted strong returns for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019. Sentiment improved as investors anticipated that the Brexit impasse and the US-China trade dispute would soon be resolved, despite continuing concerns about slowing global growth and geopolitical tensions.
- Faced with those concerns, a number of major central banks pursued accommodative monetary policies that increased investor appetite for riskier assets. The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019.
- Equity markets approached record highs for the year, with US stocks outpacing their non-US counterparts. In the US, large-capitalisation stocks outperformed mid- and small-caps, and growth stocks outperformed value.
- The fund's benchmark index returned 30.70%, as all 11 of its industry sectors recorded double-digit gains.
- At the sector level, information technology, financials and communication services contributed the most to the benchmark's performance. The smallest contributions came from materials and energy.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard U.S. Fundamental Value Fund

Sub-managed by Pzena Investment Management, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term capital growth by investing mainly in large companies whose stocks are considered undervalued.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The fund is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The following performance information shows how the fund's returns compare with those of the Russell 1000 Value Index, a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- US equity markets posted strong returns for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019. Despite continuing concerns about slowing global growth and geopolitical tensions, sentiment improved as investors anticipated resolutions of the Brexit impasse and the US-China trade dispute.
- To counter those concerns, a number of major central banks pursued accommodative monetary policies that increased investor appetite for riskier assets. The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019.
- Equity markets approached record highs for the year, with US stocks outpacing their non-US counterparts. In the US, large-capitalisation stocks outperformed mid- and small-caps, and growth stocks outperformed value.
- In this environment, the fund's benchmark index returned 25.56%.
- Security selection in information technology detracted most from the fund's relative performance. In contrast, selection in financials and industrials provided the biggest boost for the fund. Selection in utilities also added value.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

Vanguard U.S. Opportunities Fund

Sub-managed by PRIMECAP Management Company.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by investing in stocks with above-average earnings growth potential that is not reflected in their current market prices.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The fund is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The following performance information shows how the fund's returns compare with those of the Russell 3000 Index, a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- US equity markets posted strong returns for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019. Despite continuing concerns about slowing global growth and geopolitical tensions, sentiment improved as investors anticipated resolutions of the Brexit impasse and the US-China trade dispute.
- To counter those concerns, a number of major central banks pursued accommodative monetary policies that increased investor appetite for riskier assets. The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019.
- Equity markets approached record highs for the year, with US stocks outpacing their non-US counterparts. In the US, large-capitalisation stocks outperformed mid- and small-caps, and growth stocks outperformed value.
- In this environment, the fund's benchmark index returned 30.29% as all its sectors recorded positive results.
- Security selection in the consumer discretionary sector and an underweight allocation to energy contributed most to the fund's relative performance, while its holdings in health care, industrials and information technology detracted the most.
- The fund's holdings in non-US companies, which accounted for roughly 6% of net assets on average during the year, generally detracted from relative performance. Only China provided a small boost.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Vanguard 20+ Year Euro Treasury Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Euro Treasury 20+ Year Bond Index, a market-weighted index designed to reflect the total universe of euro-denominated euro zone treasury securities with maturities of at least 20 years and a minimum credit rating of AA–.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran, and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) pushed its deposit rate further below zero and, in September, announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases. The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019 after raising them four times in 2018. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- Within the euro zone, growth seemed to be stabilizing despite weakness in manufacturing. The region's unemployment rate remained at its lowest in more than a decade, helping to support consumer spending. Inflation weakened and then accelerated near the end of the year but was still below the ECB's 2% target.
- With government bond yields falling, especially at the long end of the maturity spectrum, the fund's benchmark index returned 15.77% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- By country, Austria and Belgium outperformed, while the Netherlands and Germany lagged.
- By maturity, bonds maturing in more than 30 years performed best. From a credit-quality perspective, AA-rated Treasury bonds did better than AAA-rated ones.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Emerging Markets Bond Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks to provide total return while generating a moderate level of income by investing primarily in bonds of issuers in emerging market countries.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The fund is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The following performance information shows how the fund's returns compare with those of the J.P. Morgan EMBI Global Diversification Index, a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- On 3 December 2019, Vanguard launched the Emerging Markets Bond Fund, an actively managed fund that invests in fixed income securities of issuers that are tied economically to emerging-market countries. The fund's holdings will have various maturities, yields and credit qualities.
- The fund seeks to have a majority of its assets denominated in or hedged to the US dollar but has the ability to invest in bonds denominated in a local currency on an unhedged basis.
- The performance of any investment vehicle over a one-month period – the length of time the Emerging Markets Bond Fund had been in operation as of 31 December 2019 – tends to be uninformative. That said, the fund's various share-class results appear below.
- Looking back at all of 2019, investors contended early in the year with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran, and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019 after raising them four times in 2018. The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further below zero and, in September, announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases.
- The fund's benchmark index, the JP Morgan EMBI Global Diversified, returned 15.04% for the 12 months ended 31 December.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Vanguard Euro Government Bond Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Euro Government Float Adjusted Bond Index, a market-weighted index designed to reflect the total universe of euro-denominated euro zone treasury and government-related securities with maturities greater than 1 year.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran, and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) pushed its deposit rate further below zero and, in September, announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases. The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019 after raising them four times in 2018. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- Within the euro zone, growth seemed to be stabilizing despite weakness in manufacturing. The region's unemployment rate remained at its lowest in more than a decade, helping to support consumer spending. Inflation weakened before accelerating in the final months of the year but was still below the ECB's 2% target.
- With government bond yields falling, the fund's benchmark returned 6.34% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- Among the larger constituents in the index, Italy, Portugal and Spain outperformed, while the Netherlands, Finland and Germany were among the laggards.
- By maturity, longer-dated bonds significantly outperformed. From a credit-quality perspective, lower-rated investment-grade bonds did better than higher-rated ones.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Euro Investment Grade Bond Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays EUR Non-Government Float Adjusted Bond Index, a market-weighted index of euro-denominated, investment-grade fixed income securities, excluding euro zone treasury and government-related securities, with maturities greater than 1 year.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran, and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The European Central Bank (ECB) pushed its deposit rate further below zero and, in September, announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases. The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019 after raising them four times in 2018. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- Within the euro zone, growth seemed to be stabilizing despite weakness in manufacturing. The region's unemployment rate remained at its lowest in more than a decade, helping to support consumer spending. Inflation weakened and then accelerated near the end of the year but was still below the ECB's 2% target.
- The fund's benchmark index returned 5.28% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- Corporate bonds, which accounted for more than half of the index, returned more than 6%. Differences in return were modest among bonds issued by financial institutions, industrial companies and utilities.
- Non-corporate bonds as a whole performed a little better than the index, while securitized debt, including mortgages, underperformed.
- Longer-dated and lower-rated investment-grade bonds performed best.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs, and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Eurozone Inflation-Linked Bond Index Fund

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Global Inflation-Linked: Eurozone – Euro CPI Index, a market-weighted index of euro-denominated inflation-linked government securities within the euro zone, designed to serve as a hedge against inflation in the euro zone region, with maturities greater than 1 year.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran, and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further below zero and, in September, announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases. The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019 after raising them four times in 2018. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- Within the euro zone, growth seemed to be stabilizing despite weakness in manufacturing. The region's unemployment rate remained at its lowest in more than a decade, helping to support consumer spending.
- With yields generally falling, euro zone government bonds, as measured by the Bloomberg Barclays Euro Government Float Adjusted Bond Index, returned 6.34% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- Inflation in the euro zone weakened before picking up in the final months of the year, helping the fund's benchmark index to return 7.13% for the 12 months.
- By country, Italy was the standout performer for euro zone inflation-linked bonds, while Germany was the biggest laggard. From a credit-quality perspective, lower-rated bonds in this category significantly outperformed higher-rated ones. Results by maturity were more nuanced.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Global Bond Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC, and sub-managed by Vanguard Investments Australia Ltd.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide returns consistent with the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Float Adjusted and Scaled Index, a market-weighted index of global government, government-related agency, corporate and securitised fixed income investments with maturities greater than 1 year.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Investors contended early in 2019 with signs of decelerating global growth, flare-ups in trade disputes, heightened international tensions with Iran, and a lack of agreement in the United Kingdom on how to exit the European Union. Even as those concerns eased later in the year, many major central banks adopted more accommodative monetary policy by the end of the period in an effort to buoy economic growth and lift inflation expectations.
- The US Federal Reserve cut interest rates three times in 2019 after raising them four times in 2018. The European Central Bank pushed its deposit rate further below zero and, in September, announced a new round of open-ended bond purchases. The Bank of Japan remained accommodative as well, pledging to maintain policy rates at very low levels.
- With global bond yields generally finishing the year lower, the fund's benchmark returned 8.60% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2019.
- By country, the United States, which has the largest weighting in the index, performed more or less in line with the index as a whole. Among the other large constituents, Italy and Spain performed well, while Japan, South Korea and Germany were among the laggards.
- By sector, Treasuries and mortgage-backed securities underperformed corporate bonds.
- From a credit-quality perspective, lower-rated bonds outperformed higher-rated ones. By maturity, longer-dated bonds outperformed.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. (For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>.) Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.
