PUBLICAN MEETINGS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

COUNTY GROUP TO HOLD RALLY FRIDAY NIGHT

Young Republicans Plan Organization Meeting At Headquarters Saturday Night

Republican forces are to swing into action in this section Friday and Saturday nights. The democrats held a big rally at the court house Wednesday night. The county O. P. organization is planning an odd-time rally at the court house Friday. A group of Young Republicans is to stage a meeting at the Mason republican headquarters Saturday night.

Charles P. O'Neil, Detroit attorney and former chairman of the state central committee of the national progressive party, is the headliner for the county meeting in the circuit court room Friday night. The county officials are each to be given an opportunity to speak. The Mason high school band will furnish music for the meeting. Frank Lester, one of the organizers of the rally, says that hot coffee and fried cakes are to be served to those who attend.

The meeting is for the entire county, the committee in charge announced. It is said that many delegates from Leslie, Stockbridge, Onondaga, Danville, Williamston and Webberville are expected.

Young Republicans Meet. Members of the Young Republican club of Lansing are sponsoring a meeting in the Mason building at the corner of Maple and Park streets Saturday night. At eight o'clock a large delegation from Lansing is to form in front of the road commission garage on Cedar street and from there will parade to the Mason headquarters. It is announced.

J. Arthur Boice, former prosecuting attorney, has been secured to address the youthful politicians. George McArthur has made the local arrangements for the Saturday night meeting. Russell Searl, Lansing attorney, is head of the county organization. He says he hopes to see an active Young Republican club in every section of the county. Young voters from all sections of the county have been invited to attend the Saturday night meeting here. Mr. McArthur says. He also wants it understood that young women voters as well as men are invited.

With the election just 10 days away both major parties are in full battle array with meetings being held every night throughout the county. The republicans profess to see an upward trend since the speech of President Hoover in Detroit last Saturday night. The democrats, on the other hand, declare that the president's speech convinced only those who intended to vote the republican ticket anyway.

The speech of Vice President Curtis in Lansing Tuesday also heartened the republicans, leaders claim. But the democrats are enthusiastic and say the majorities piled up for the national and state tickets may upset the republican county ticket as well as the national and state.

PLOWING CONTEST AND HORSE SHOW PLANNED

H. H. BARNUM OF INGHAM ONE OF LEADERS

Expect Nearly 100 Horses To Take Part In Multiple-Hill Plowing Contests

Some of the best farm horses in the state are expected to be entered in the multiple-hill plowing contest, night horse show, heavy weight pulling contest and a horse sale to be held at East Lansing next Tuesday and Wednesday, November 1 and 2. H. H. Barnum, Ingham county agricultural agent, is secretary of the combined contests and shows. Four groups are co-operating in staging the contests and shows. They are the Ingham County extension service, Michigan State college, Michigan Horse Breeders' association and the Horse Association of America.

Activities open at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning when five-horse teams begin the plowing contest. In the afternoon, four-horse, six-horse and eight-horse teams go into action. Mr. Barnum says, "Judging by the entries already in view, I believe the 1931 record of 85 horses in action at one time will be equalled or exceeded."

Death Fails To Halt Blue Racers' Growth

Some peculiar snakes were discovered by three Mason men two weeks ago. At first they appeared to be common Blue Racers but are now believed to be some other species. Floyd Harkness, Lee Ware and Gus Koen were hunting squirrels near Lower Lake when the discovery was made. There were four squirrels in one tree and Floyd Harkness was sighting over a stump when he raised his eyes and saw two Blue Racers playing with the end of his gun barrel. The intrepid hunter jumped back from the stump, then took aim and fired at the snakes. Both the reptiles were killed.

The snakes were measured by the three men. One was five feet and eight inches and the other scaled four feet and six inches. But now friends of Mr. Harkness declare the snakes must have grown after death. The snake measuring five feet, eight inches, has now grown to eight feet and five inches and the reptile measuring four feet and six inches is now six feet and four inches in length.

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR THREE RESIDENTS

GRIM REAPER TAKES FOUR WELL-KNOWN HERE

Myron Holmes, Mrs. Dan Sears, Charles Coy and Will Ellsworth Die Within Week.

Death again stole into the ranks of the aged last Saturday when Myron Adelo Holmes passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Cordie Barker, after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Holmes was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Nelson Holmes and was born in a little log cabin on March 5, 1848, on the farm now owned by Earl Crittenden.

Mr. Holmes was married to Mrs. Cordie Barker in June 1888. She had one daughter, Effie, now Mrs. Cordie Barker, and a son Henry who died at the age of nine years, were born to this union. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes lived in Livingston county for several years before their marriage and came back to Ingham in 1904, when he purchased the family home in Vevey.

Besides his daughter, Mrs. Barker, Mr. Holmes is survived by a twin brother, Byron Holmes, a sister, Mrs. Lora Crittenden, and two half-brothers, Lorenzo of Perry and Norman of Powerville. Funeral services were held at one o'clock on Tuesday at the M. E. church in Danville with burial in Livingston county near his former home.

Charles Coy. Brief funeral services were held at the A. E. Ball funeral home Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock for Charles Coy, 75, who passed away Sunday morning at the home of Mrs. Maud Leonard in Vevey. Funeral services were held at the Dexter Episcopal church at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon and burial was in Dexter where his wife and son were laid to rest.

Charles Coy, the son of John and Ann Coy, was born on January 26, 1857, in the township of Lima, near Dexter. His parents were born in England and came to America in 1835.

Mr. Coy spent his early life in Washtenaw county where he married Sarah L. Goodrich. To this union one son, Athol, was born. The son passed away 14 years ago. Mrs. Coy died 12 years ago and Mr. Coy has since resided at the home of his brother, John Coy, who died a short time ago.

Mrs. Daniel Sears of Aurelius passed away at her home in Aurelius last Sunday after an illness of several weeks. A brief prayer service was held at the home Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock and additional services were conducted at the North Aurelius Union church at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Sears was 66 years of age at the time of her death. She is survived by her husband, Daniel Sears, three children, Emer Sears of Aurelius, Mrs. Maude Kenfield of Lansing and Mrs. Ada Leonard of Aurelius and other relatives.

Mrs. Sears held the esteem of the entire community. Her passing came as a distinct shock to her many friends.

Will Ellsworth. Funeral services were held in Jackson Tuesday afternoon at the Wenthrop funeral home at 2:30 o'clock for Will Ellsworth, 61, son of Pitt Ellsworth of this city who passed away Sunday at his home here. Mr. Ellsworth was a former Mason resident and has many friends here. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Will Ellsworth, his father, Pitt Ellsworth, and a brother, Elgin Ellsworth, of Mason.

He left here when a young man and went to Jackson to work for the Michigan Central Railway company where he worked for 38 years until he was forced to retire a year ago because of ill health.

EXTENSION DIRECTOR EXPLAINS CHARACTER

DR. W. D. HENDERSON SPEAKS BEFORE CLUB

Declares Character Habits Formed In Home; Praises School Athletic Programs

Dr. W. D. Henderson, head of the extension department of the University of Michigan, delivered an intensely interesting lecture to members of the Mason Child Study club and their guests at the high school Monday night. "The Art of Character" was the subject of the address which dealt with the forming of right habits of character.

The university lecturer declared that a vast difference exists between character and personality. He stated that many men and women possess good personalities without having good character.

Gives Character Traits. Dr. Henderson asserted that honesty, truthfulness, self-reliance, self-respect, courage, courtesy and love of God combined with love of man are the seven stones which make up the arch of character. He said that character can not be taught in school but comes as the result of teaching. "Character can not be taught by direct education," he said, "it is a by-product, one of those by-products more valuable by far than the principal product in view. Character is formed in the home, in the church, in the school and in the social groups."

That the home is the most important factor in the teaching of honesty was the statement made by Dr. Henderson. He said during the ages between one and six a child acquires some of his most important habits and that 75 per cent of his habits that will follow him through life are acquired before a boy or girl leaves his school.

Dr. Henderson declared that a child is born without habits, possessing only instincts and impulses, and that habits begin to form at birth. He said that the examples of parents and the home surroundings play a major part in the formation of character.

High school sports teach fair play and serve to develop truthfulness, self-reliance and courage, Dr. Henderson explained.

Concerned Over Teachers. The university professor said that parents have a right to know the effect of teachers upon their children and that parents should insist that only teachers of high character be employed. He declared that degrees are meaningless unless the teacher has the ability to mold character by example and by leadership.

Dr. Henderson said that previous conceptions of the ages during which learning is the easiest were erroneous and that a man or woman 45 years of age has the same ability to learn as a student of 22. He said that at 60 a man or woman can learn as easily as a youth of 16. The proof of the learning ability has been made through accurate tests, Doctor Henderson stated.

Talks Experiences. Dr. Henderson recalled many of his interesting experiences in the educational field since he began his career 42 years ago. For many years he was connected with the Perry Institute, when the late Woodbridge N. Ferris was at its head.

Previous to the lecture Dr. Henderson told of his childhood in Emmet county among the Indians and pioneer white settlers. He said that his education really began with the opening of a library in the county. In his lecture Dr. Henderson declared that any boy or girl or man or woman can become educated by reading the right kind of books whether or not they ever have a chance to go to high school or college.

Chicago Bank Clerks Have Costly Hunting

CAUGHT BY OFFICER WITH RESIDENT LICENSES

Robert Pearson, 24, and Richard Jackson, 25, Chicago bank clerks, returned to the metropolis of the mid-west Monday night and wiser. They left Monday after spending Sunday night in the Ingham county jail and after paying $34.40 each to William S. Seelye, justice of the peace. They were caught by Glenn Murphy, conservation officer, hunting small game with a resident license when they left Monday after spending Sunday night in the Ingham county jail and after paying $34.40 each to William S. Seelye, justice of the peace. They were caught by Glenn Murphy, conservation officer, hunting small game with a resident license when they left Monday after spending Sunday night in the Ingham county jail and after paying $34.40 each to William S. Seelye, justice of the peace.

Pearson and Jackson came out from the big city to enjoy pheasant hunting. An out-state small game license costs $10.00 while the resident fee is $1.75. Being bank clerks in a big loan bank the young men evidently thought that they could get away with a little high finance. They applied for and were issued resident licenses when they gave their addresses as Lansing. But the officers found it out and Sunday night the young men were placed under arrest. They were brought to jail in Mason where they pleaded guilty to the charges and paid their fines and costs.

Child Study Club To Sponsor Stage Play

MYSTERY DRAMA WILL BE PRESENTED HERE SOON

Members of the Mason Child Study club are sponsoring a stage presentation which will occur on the evenings of November 11 and 12 in the auditorium of the high school. The play is a three act mystery drama entitled, "Ghost House," and has been received by audiences throughout this section with much interest. It is reported.

The play will be enacted by local talent and is under the direction of H. Doris Cash, who represents the producing company. In another issue the cast of characters will be announced and more detailed accounts given.

Columbia Road Farmer Breaks Up Spud Show

It looks like the potato show sponsored by the Ingham County News is all off. A contest was inadvertently opened when accounts of one-pound potatoes were printed. The exhibits brought in began to climb toward the two-pound mark and then on Wednesday night Orrin Hall brought in a two and one-half pound potato to break up the show. The giant tuber is the product of the farm of W. A. Hall & Sons on the Columbia Road.

What a potato it is! The potato is in perfect proportions and free from disease and freak growth. It measures 17 1/2 inches in circumference the long way and 13 1/2 inches the other way.

COUNTY CLERK MAKES DELIVERY OF BALLOTS

MANY REQUESTS MADE FOR ABSENT VOTERS' BALLOTS

Preparations Made For Heavy Voting November 8, Officials To Be Instructed

County, city and township election officials are busily engaged preparing for the general election November 8. C. Ross Hilliard, county clerk and also clerk of the board of election commissioners, finished the delivery of ballots to township and city clerks Thursday. The supplies for the voting machines including ink also were delivered and the machines are being put in readiness for the balloting on November 8.

Bertha Ray, city clerk of Lansing, believes a new record will be set by absent voters. She estimates that more than 500 applications for absent voters' ballots will be received by the end of the week. Township clerks also report an increase in applications for absent voters' ballots.

In Lansing and Mason city elections will be conducted on November 8 in addition to the election of state and county officers. There are many contests on the Lansing city ticket but in Mason the candidates of the Peoples party are without opposition.

Mr. Hilliard has notified township and city election officials of a school of instruction to be held in Mason on Wednesday, November 2. Lansing city officials will also conduct a session for those in charge of the voting machines.

With nine parties represented in the general election and with eight proposals on the special amendment ballot, the election officials anticipate a strenuous election day and a long night of counting. With many new names on the registration lists it is also expected that voting will be slow to get underway.

The announcement that a sticker candidate is to make a campaign has elicited many inquiries from voters and election clerks as to proper methods of voting, the county clerk reports. Using stickers on paper ballots is a simple matter, Mr. Hilliard says, but the township clerks in Lansing the operation becomes more complicated.

In many instances the number of ballots have been increased over those furnished in previous years. Clerks are to be notified that if any danger of shortage exists that orders for extra ballots should be placed immediately.

World Temperance Is Theme Of Convention

MASON DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO MEET SUNDAY

Sunday schools of the Mason district of the Ingham County Council of Religious Education will meet in Mason on Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening. "World Temperance" is to be the theme of the meeting. Both the afternoon and evening meetings are to be held in the Methodist church.

Frank Dakin, district president, will preside over the afternoon meeting which is to begin at two-thirty. The Rev. J. H. Bancroft will have charge of the song service and devotional. The Rev. J. H. Bancroft will then deliver an address. Mrs. Henry Longyear and Mrs. Edgar Ridge will sing.

At three-thirty divisional conferences will open. The Rev. W. E. Hartzog will have charge of the administration conference. E. A. Densmore, district superintendent, will preside over the adult conference. Harold Dakin, district superintendent, will be in charge of the conference for young people, and Mrs. Carl Robb, district superintendent, will preside over the children's conference.

The afternoon schedule also includes the report of the nominating committee and music. Following adjournment a fellowship supper will be served.

J. H. Bancroft will preside at the evening service. At seven-thirty a report of the Michigan State Sunday School convention will be given. The Rev. C. M. Mullenburg, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Lansing, will deliver an address on temperance with emphasis on the repeal proposal to be voted on in November.

PAROLE COMMISSIONER STATES PRISON FACTS

RAY O. BRUNDAGE TELLS OF PRISON SYSTEM

Michigan Ranks Third In Nation In Number Of Men Inmates In Penal Institutions

Ray O. Brundage, state commissioner of pardon and parole, related some of his experiences to members of the Mason Kiwanis club at its meeting Monday night. The commissioner said that Michigan is just behind New York and Illinois in the number of men confined in penal institutions. He declared that there are about 800,000 men and women confined in prisons and jails in the United States and that in Jackson, Marquette and Ionia Michigan alone has 9,515. In addition to those in prison the populations of other state correctional institutions were given as follows: Asylum for criminal insane at Ionia, 715; state vocational school for boys, 642; colony for epileptics, 800; Coldwater school for boys and girls, 431; Adrian school for girls, 313; Leapee home for the feeble-minded, 3,408.

Mr. Brundage explained that his department is in direct touch with the state prisons and that his official duties consisted of conducting hearings for prisoners whose minimum terms are about to expire. He stressed the importance of probation supervision of prisoners granted paroles.

Pawley Sterilization. The commissioner viewed with alarm the increase in the numbers of feeble-minded. He declared that only a drastic sterilization law will cut down the increase from generation to generation. He said that Leapee now has an inmate population of 3,408 and will have more than 4,000 on a waiting list for admission. He asserted that 300 are of a vicious and dangerous type and have been on the waiting list upwards of three years but that the institution is so crowded that admission can not be gained despite the rapid increase of accommodations.

"Had a strict sterilization law been adopted 20 years ago the number of feeble-minded would have been less than 50 per cent," Mr. Brundage declared. He prophesied a change in the sterilization law within the next few years. At present, borderline cases, the most dangerous from a criminal standpoint, can be operated on only with the consent of parents, the commissioner said. He suggested that sterilization should be practiced with or without the consent of parents.

The commissioner cited cases where sterilization has resulted in sending perverts back into society where otherwise they would have spent the remainder of their lives behind prison bars.

Prison School Praised. The school at Jackson prison is utilized by inmates, Mr. Brundage said. The present enrollment in the school is 2,400, he asserted. The school gives the men a chance to learn something useful and to increase the student's self-respect, Mr. Brundage pointed out.

Economic conditions play a major part in the working of the parole system, the commissioner said, explaining that 685 inmates now eligible to parole are being confined until employment is available.

That the pardoning power has been abused by out on governor was stated in a statement made by the speaker. He said that one governor commuted the sentences of 17 murderers but that only two of them were ever re-arrested for other crimes. He declared that at least 2,000 of the men now confined in prison could be released without danger to society.

Class Parole Changes. Mr. Brundage said that 2,985 inmates were paroled from Michigan prisons last year. He explained that there is a parole officer in every county in the state with seven in Wayne county. The commissioner declared that changes should be made in the parole plan so that full-time parole officers, not police officers, may have oversight of paroled men in every county.

That 75 per cent of those paroled make good, was the statement made by Mr. Brundage. He said, "Only one out of four ever come back to Michigan prisons in other states. With a better parole system this record could be bettered."

Penal Farm Needed. Commissioner Brundage asserted that a penal farm to employ about 2,000 men is needed in Michigan. He said that such a farm where only men to be trusted would be placed would aid in returning men to society and would cut prison costs. Mr. Brundage said that some lifers at Marquette are used outside the prison walls and that no trouble has resulted from the practice. He said that lifers at Jackson are not allowed outside the walls.

The per capita cost at Jackson prison is 67c per day, Mr. Brundage said. He declared that rigid economy has reduced the per capita cost from $1.46 since 1924. The estimated cost of the new Jackson prison was $14,000,000, Commissioner Brundage said. He explained that economies reduced the estimated cost to an actual cost of $7,500,000 for the largest and one of the best prisons in the United States.

ALAEIDON FARMERS CLUB

ALAIEIDON FARMERS CLUB

The Alaieidon Farmers club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy and Ralph Stillman, October 29. C. W. Otto, secretary of Lansing Chamber of Commerce, will address the club. This is the annual business meeting and election of officers and members are urged to come early, that dinner may be served at noon. Dinner will be served by Mesdames Lawrence Smith, Floyd Straight, J. J. Morton, and Fred Foote. Suggestions for next year's program will be in order.

George McArthur was admitted to the bar before the supreme court in Lansing Saturday morning. The young attorney, a graduate this year from the University of Michigan, was attended by his father, Judge L. B. McArthur, George McArthur, success.

Republican Speaker

CHARLES F. HEMANS IS SPEAKER AT DEM RALLY

CLAIMS REPUBLICANS FAILED TO KEEP PROMISES

Alva M. Cummins Addresses Gathering, Urges Adoption of Tax Limitation Amendment

Denouncing the republican party for having failed in the keeping of campaign promises after the general election in 1928, Charles F. Hemans, prominent Detroit attorney and former Mason youth, urged his listeners to rally to the support of the democratic party when he addressed a democratic mass meeting at the court house Tuesday night. Mr. Hemans in his address stated that the dominant factors in the present campaign are the lack of faith which the republican party has exhibited, the mounting cost of government which has continued despite the repeated assertions on the part of party leaders that economy is to be the watchword, and the present tariff which is claimed to be a barrier to the recovery of business.

Claiming that the present condition of crime and the over-population of state prisons is directly caused by the prohibition policy, Mr. Hemans advocated a complete change in this amendment to the constitution. "Mr. Hoover has proven himself to be the leader of the dry force in this country in his various talks on campaign questions. How can the prohibition evil be corrected if the voters keep such a man at the head of our national government?" Mr. Hemans asked his audience.

CHANGES TARIFF LAST YEAR

THE SPEAKER ATTACKED THE SMOOT-HAWLEY TARIFF ACT AS THE "LAST STRAW" IN THE RECOVERY OF THE NATION FROM THE GRASP OF THE DEPRESSION.

Quoting from a report of the General Motors Corporation, Mr. Hemans asserted that the foreign exports of automobiles had dropped from more than one hundred thousand units to only several thousand. This drop, Mr. Hemans claimed, is the direct result of the adoption of the tariff bill.

In closing his address the speaker stated that the democratic party will carry Detroit by at least 150,000 and the state by a much greater margin. For the first time in years, he said, the people are turning out to democratic rallies. In Mason, Mr. Hemans said, for years only a handful of people would be on hand to receive the candidates. More than 300 were in attendance Tuesday night.

Explains Amendments. After introducing various candidates for county officers, chairman Claude Post called on Alva M. Cummins, prominent Lansing attorney and well-known democratic leader. Mr. Cummins addressed the audience on the amendments to the state constitution to be voted on at the polls in November. Warning the people of the dangers of adopting a new and inequitable system of taxation, which would prove beneficial, stated Mr. Cummins.

The circuit court room where the meeting was held was packed. Even the jury boxes were filled. The crowd was said to be the largest at any democratic gathering here since the days of Lawton T. Hemans, who ran for governor. Lawton T. Hemans was the father of Charles F. Hemans who spoke Wednesday.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS AT LANSING TUESDAY

MEMBERS ARE ENTERTAINED AT WOMAN'S HOME

On Tuesday the members of the Mason Woman's club held their annual meeting at the Woman's Home in Lansing. Each year they plan to gather at the Lansing home in order to entertain the inmates and to be entertained by them. There are now 22 women in the home, the oldest being 96 and the youngest 64 years of age. The local club took along the annual contribution of canned fruits and jellies.

Mrs. C. J. Whitting, Mrs. C. F. Schultz and Mrs. C. A. Parkhurst were the members of the committee in charge of the affair. The program opened with roll call which was responded to by relating some interesting feature of the place of birth of each of the club members and also to the women at the home. Some very interesting facts were related. The women of the home then entertained

CITY COUNCIL DECIDES ON FULL-TIME CLERK

OFFICE TO BE OPEN EVERY DAY IN CITY BUILDING

Clerk Is To Handle Welfare Transactions And To Purchase And Issue City Supplies

For the first time in the history of the city Mason is to have a full-time city clerk with an office to be established in the city council rooms on Maple street. Ald. Lee Darling of the first ward introduced a resolution Monday night establishing the office on a full-time basis. The resolution was seconded by Ald. Swartout of the first ward and was adopted unanimously by the five members present. Ald. William Barber was absent.

The present city clerk is George Koelberg. He was appointed without opposition at the caucus two weeks ago. He is without opposition in the election. The office will be established November 1. The present salary of the clerk is $300 a year. With other duties added it is estimated that the salary on a full-time basis will be $600 a year.

TO RUN CITY STORE

AT PRESENT THE CITY IS PAYING RENT FOR THE WELFARE STORE AND LAST YEAR PAID THE CITY CLERK FOR MANAGING IT TWO DAYS A WEEK. BEGINNING NOVEMBER 1 THE WELFARE SUPPLIES WILL BE HOUSED IN THE CITY COUNCIL ROOMS AND THE OFFICE OF THE CLERK WILL BE OPEN SIX DAYS A WEEK FROM SEVEN IN THE MORNING UNTIL NOON AND FROM ONE O'CLOCK UNTIL FOUR O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON. A STOREROOM AT THE REAR OF THE COUNCIL CHAMBERS IS BEING FIXED FOR THE STORAGE OF SUPPLIES.

Such necessities as potatoes, beans, flour, and canned goods are issued by the city. For the present the used clothing department conducted by the Community Welfare fund will be maintained in the Dart building on Maple street.

Under the new plan the city clerk will keep a careful check on all welfare cases and will investigate demands for city aid. Mayor Larson E. Taylor announced that J. H. Shafer, county superintendent of the poor and city poor commissioner as well, will co-operate with the city welfare department so that only those in actual need will be given aid. The mayor also says that only essential work to purchase actual necessities will be given to those seeking aid. If extras are needed outside work will have to be sought.

CLERK'S OTHER DUTIES

Besides caring for the welfare store the city clerk is to act as purchasing agent for city department work to be done only when proper requisitions are made out by department heads and approved by the chairman of the proper council committee.

A gasoline pump is to be installed at the rear of the city building and city trucks will be fueled there. Under this system the city will purchase gasoline in wholesale and will not have to pay any gasoline tax. Ald. Darling estimates that a considerable saving to the city will result.

At present Earl Dunsmore, assistant cashier of the First State and Savings bank, serves as collector of water rents. It is expected that in the future the water rents will be collected by the city clerk. The special collector receives a remuneration of $80 a year. This item is to be turned in toward the salary of the clerk.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED FOR HALLOWEEN PARTY

FREE CIDER AND DOUGHNUTS FURNISHED BY MERCHANTS

Monster Bonfire To Be Lighted At County Park Monday Night, Boxing Matches Planned.

Goblins and witches will hold sway at the county park Monday night at the annual Halloween party sponsored by Mason business men. The wood for the bonfire is already piled. Bonfires of cider and dozens and dozens of doughnuts have been ordered. Everything is in readiness for the hundreds of children who will be the guests of the business men that night.

Festivities are to begin at seven-thirty when the children dressed in Halloween costumes gather in front of the school. They will form in line behind the school band which will lead the parade to the county park. As the column turns into the park the huge pile of wood soaked in oil will be lighted and the party is on.

Costume Prize Offered. The boy or girl having the best costume to be awarded a prize, in committee announced. Any kind of costume is permitted in the contest. A platform is to be erected in the park. Surrounding the platform will be lights so that the fun can go on even after the bonfire dies down.

Many games and stunts are upon the program. Music will be furnished by the school band and other school musical organizations.

William F. Richards is arranging some fast boxing bouts. Youngsters of all ages are to be given a chance with the gloves. After the preliminaries a main go will be staged between two of the cleverest boxers in the city. The identity of the principals is being kept a secret until the night of the party.

Merchants Provide Funds. The money to pay for the cider and doughnuts to be served following the program was contributed by Mason business men. The business men were generous enough so that there will be plenty of cider and doughnuts for the hundreds expected.

The party Monday night will be the second annual Halloween celebration staged by the business men. Last year the event was so successful that the merchants were unanimous in their support of the party this year.

More About Rural Life

Again our Professor Walter A. Terpenning of Western State Teachers college gets under our hide—gets in our hair as Harold Teen would say. This time it is by reason of another article appearing in the Autumn number of the Michigan History magazine. This time the joke is all on the taxpayer for he not only pays the professor's salary, he actually pays the cost of printing the book in which his intellectual spleen appears. The History magazine is published quarterly by the Michigan Historical Commission, a tax supported state agency. We have no knowledge as whether any money was paid the professor for the article but we propose to find out.

The article is in no sense history nor can it be considered as such. Just why it was considered of value in a historical publication is not clear. It reshapes what was said in Mercury, referred to in our last previous issue and adds another chapter to the professor's virulent condemnation of everything rural. Below we quote a single paragraph on rural government, neglected or overlooked in his previous delirium.

"Perhaps the puniest and most sickly institution of Michigan village and open-country communities," the professor writes, "is that of government. In fact, government in rural communities comes as nearly as possible to being a monstrosity, and it is a pity that its navel cord was ever tied. It has everything wrong with it that could be wrong. It is hydra-headed, entirely lacking in unity, inefficient, wasteful, impotent. A truer figure would be to say that when rural government was conceived, the conception resulted in a whole litter of heterogeneous pups. So far as positive, governmental influence is concerned, rural communities live in a political vacuum. The difficulty is not so much that the forms of county and township governments are defective as that such communities have been and are lacking in moral unity, co-operative character, integrity, lawfulness, and other primary idealism. Moral unity is the mother of primary ideals, and the parent or parents in this case are unfitted to bring up a healthy offspring. The lack of unity and the inefficiency of rural government are mainly a reflection of the same characteristics of the general community organization."

Otherwise it appears, rural government is all right. Thank Heaven for one thing. The professor has told in this article just where he made those "intensive studies of two typical counties." He now confesses his "intensive studies" included two townships in each of Lapeer and Hillsdale counties. That clears Ingham at any rate.

"Michigan rural schools," this carping savant recites, "are still muddling along with one-room buildings, poorly equipped, and presided over by teachers who have received their training in those sad imitations of 'higher education', the 51 County Normals."

Right here the editor of the NEWS is going to challenge Professor Terpenning or in case he is too busy at journalism, then whoever is responsible for feeding him at the expense of the taxpayers, to come out to Ingham and spend a little time. We will show him township officers who know more of actual conscientious public service than he will ever know; we will show him young men and women who are so far above his moral plane they would not touch his hand at a country social; we will show him consecrated rural teachers who can take a lad and a blackboard and do more genuine teaching in a week than this product of over-education will ever be able to exude from his foul pores; we will show him some good cowhide boots which may lack in "moral unity" but one at a time properly applied and vigorously placed where they would do some good will be sufficient for the professor. We will show him some "open-country" folk who are God-fearing, law-abiding, self-supporting, self-respecting, who are as far above the level of the slime of his own ideas as the sun at noon-tide is above the sewer.

Come out to Ingham, professor. Take in a few community club meetings, sit in with the Farmers club, attend the meeting of some of our rural womens clubs, try a 4-H meeting, or a Future Farmers gathering or a rural P. T. A. meeting. Come out and try our hospitality. Let the rural folks teach you some manners.

Dr. Henderson

Dr. W. D. Henderson of the University of Michigan has lived a full life, a life enriched by adventures in the realm of education. He recounted a few of his experiences to members of the Mason Child Study club and their guests Monday night. He told of character-building. His advice was simple.

So many of us make mountains out of mole-hills. We look upon so many things, even life, as complicated. But if we take the time and step back and take a longer, calmer view so many complicated problems resolve themselves into simple equations.

Dr. Henderson's ideas and ideals are simple. He cuts through the frills and follies of life. He is concerned about the foundation. The fancy scroll work seems unnecessary to him and to those who listen to him.

The men and women of Michigan enrolled in Dr. Henderson's extension classes are fortunate. The university and the state are fortunate in having a man of Dr. Henderson's character and outlook at the head of the extension department.

Hallowe'en

The Mason Kiwanis club is again taking the lead to provide safe and sane Hallowe'en entertainment for the children and young people of the community. Last year the program was a success from every angle. The attendance was large, the interest was high and not a single destructive act was reported. This year a program even more inclusive, has been arranged for the Hallowe'en party next Monday night at the county park.

The sponsoring of the Hallowe'en party by Mason business men is not bribery. True, the children and young people are asked to refrain from soaping windows and throwing rubbish about the streets. But the party plan is not bribery. It is a generous gesture on the part of business men to provide the young people day that reaches far back into the dim past. It is an event that deserves the co-operation of every adult and youth in the community.

Voters Are Interested

There has never been a time in the history of the state when voters have so concerned themselves with constitutional amendments. With eight propositions on the amendment ballot this year it was feared that voters would be bewildered to the extent that they would not even attempt to make a study of the proposals. In some sections of the state such may be the case but in Ingham county the voters are making an honest attempt to understand the legal phraseology of the proposals.

Many of the schools of the county have been studying the proposals. The Mason high school classes have thoroughly discussed them as a part of class work. Farmers clubs, women's clubs, organizations of every kind and individuals have made requests for instruction ballots and have sought advice on what the proposals actually mean.

Eight proposals are at least four too many to place before voters. But under our system of government we will probably continue to have lengthy amendment ballots. Already petitions for the next election are being circulated. The only solution is for voters throughout the state to study the proposals as have the voters of Ingham county.

Good Hunting

Once again the pheasant season comes to a close. Once more some hunters have cheated the law and their hunting companions. Most hunters are honest. They realize that hunting laws are made to conserve their own sport. But there are too many who are selfish.

Here is a well authenticated instance from Aurelius. One hunter bagged 23 pheasants, both hens and cocks, the first four days of the season. The limit is four male birds a season. This one hunter accounted for nearly five season limits had he shot only cocks. But he killed the hens, too, thereby depreciating to an even greater extent the supply of birds for next year.

Hunters who have no regard for the hunting laws likewise have little regard for the property rights of the land owners. This is one of the principal reasons why farmers are banding together to control hunting rights.

Just one of these 23-bird killers goes a long way to spoil the sport of hundreds of honest hunters.

A Day's Doin's

Some of our college professors are complaining because country boys and girls are not taught to play. They see the destruction of the universe unless farm children know how to play "London Bridge" and tap dancing. Perhaps they should be reminded that unless the costs of higher education are brought down within reach of the farm taxpayer, there will be little time for play, organized, individual or otherwise.

An Alabama farmer has written some verse in which he described a day on his farm. Substituting items of northern diet of "pone and potlicker" the verses will do for the average Michigan farmer. The verses are entitled, "The Diary of a Clod-hopper."

Roster woke me up at the crack of dawn,
Warn't long 'fore I had my britches on
My brogans, too, and my ole wool hat,
My hickory shirt, what's left of that;
Milked four cows, throwed down some hay,
Slopped ten hogs, fed the bay,
Chopped some stove wood, gathered some greens
Drunk a pot o' coffee, et pone and beans,
Et a stack of cakes and sone belly,
Some salt rising bread and apple jelly,
Then hitched old Beck to the shovel plow,
Hopped the clods and sweated my brow;
Sun started hot and got hotter hell,
But I hopped them clods 'til the dinner bell;
Drunk bean soup and more cawn pone
Eet sone vitties, couldn't let it alone;
Drunk potlicker, et side of middlin',
Got so full, felt kind of piddlin'.
But I robbed the bees, got painfull honey,
Hunted for hen aigs, for to git some money,
Mended a rocking chair, doctored the mare,
Fixed the ash hopper, cut my own hair;
Set a trotline fer to git catfoesh,
BUILT a dog house, cemented a dish,
Put a feesh basket in the river,
Mended the engine in the dammed old flivver.
Taken the aigs and went to town,
Gasoline was up and aigs down.
Got back home, sewed on a crupper,
Chopped more wood 'til time fer supper.
Et boiled rice, drunk buttermilk,
Et succotash, felt fine as silk.
Sun went down, up come the moon,
Called the dawgs to hunt me a coon.
Not right season for ole coons yit,
But I wanted a young un to raise a pet.
On the way home, went up the holler
To git me a pint for half a dollar.
Taken a dram, read a book or two,
Gittin' awful tired of nothing to do.

Three years ago high school football was the subject of conversation in nearly every home in the Mason community. That was when Mason had a championship team. Now the subject is not so popular for during the past three years Mason has come upon evil days if defeats actually are evil. But here is something to think about—perhaps the present team and those of last year and the year before have tried even harder than did the champions of 1928 and 1929. If they have given their best then the number of games won or lost is of little consequence. Even if they don't win championships they can have the satisfaction of knowing they have done their best.

Gleaned from News Files of Years Past

Ten Years Ago
Dansville schools opened in their new building last Monday. While there is much detail of construction yet remaining to be completed, classes are functioning well, it is stated.

Wednesday morning of this week the last of the classes of Mason will have entered upon their work in the new school building. Work is still in progress on the third floor but high school classes are being accommodated without great interference with studies, Supt. Reed reports.

Thomas Bush, Civil War veteran, passes at his home in Mason.

A memorial tablet to the memory of Daniel L. Crossman, founder of the village of Dansville, and to several others prominent in the early affairs of the Dansville Baptist church was dedicated Sunday. The tablet was presented to the church by Chas. S. Crossman of New York City.

Twenty Years Ago
Albert Betts underwent an operation upon his leg at Ann Arbor hospital last week. He suffered a fractured leg last winter and the bones have not knitted as satisfactorily as it was hoped.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt is now at his Oyster Bay home where physicians have ordered him to remain. He will make no more public appearances during the present campaign, it is announced.

Walter R. Carven, county drain commissioner, appeared before the board of supervisors to explain his bill for expenses in connection with the use of an automobile in inspecting drain work. The bill was finally allowed in full.

Fifty Years Ago
An oyster supper at the Methodist church and a "milk-maid" convention at the Presbyterian, both on Friday evening, gives the city an air of social activity this week.

Some sneak thief entered the home of E. P. Rowe south of the city and made away with a silver watch and chain.

Will L. Cheney of Hanover visited among Mason friends, Sunday.

Miss Mary Mosher who is teaching in the Hawley district is home sick this week.

Farmers have their fall work well in hand. Corn is yielding from 75 to 100 bushels per acre, basket measure.

AROUND THE STATE

CRYSTAL FALLS—Otto C. Groeschel of Stambaugh, cashier of the Stambaugh bank which closed last June, has been arrested. He is charged with embezzling $16,028.53 from the bank while he was cashier.

PARMA—Roy D. Cuff, well known Guernsey breeder, was killed last week by a bull. While the bull was being led to water he charged the farmer. A collar dog drove the bull away but the farmer died from his injuries.

GLADSTONE—All upper peninsula plants of the Ford Motor Co. will be closed for two months. One iron mine is to be permanently abandoned.

HUDSON—Motion picture companies came to Hudson last week to film parade scenes. The parade was in honor of Will Carleton, who wrote "Over the Hills to the Poorhouse." The scene of the poem was near Hudson.

CARO—Probate Judge Guy C. Hill gave special permission for marriage of couple when man was near death with a broken neck. In moments of consciousness he insisted that a wedding take place with his intended bride. The bride also wished the ceremony to be performed. A priest was called and the wedding vows were spoken. The groom is not expected to live.

GRAND LEDGE—The Grand Ledge Chair company receives several large orders from dealers in eastern states.

ST. JOHNS—Clinton county supervisors deny further aid to agricultural extension work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Canandaigua, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1932.
Mr. V. J. Brown,
Dear Editor: My sister Ida wants our Mason friends to know of her afflictions. Since Feb. 29, she has been in bed, her left side helpless, from a neuritis stroke with periods of terrible pain. August 16 two men came and lifted her into a wheel chair and gave her one happy hour on the porch. I alone, help her to sit on the side of the bed with feet on a stool to eat her meals. The last two weeks she has been comfortable most of the time, and can move the leg in bed, her fingers are getting straight but she is not yet able to hold things. Every one is so kind and kind us loaded with the wonderful fruit here and dainties. Last week 2 1/2 bushels of potatoes and a spring chicken came. Every week brings us surprises. Ida has not been homesick one minute. She loves this town and our house. Her bed is by the front window in our sitting room, passers-by wave to her and the children on our street in our block (only 20) come on the porch to show her things they prize and tell her about school. It all helps to shorten the hours.
We send all good wishes to our Michigan friends.
Sincerely,
Mary and Ida Brockway.

LOANS

An important part of our business is loaning money.

Loans are made to business men and farmers of this community.

We try to know when a loan is made what our security is and when and how it can be repaid.

In the past seven years we have loaned and collected about seven millions of dollars in this community.

We are making loans to-day when the security offered is satisfactory and repayment of the loan is possible within a definite period.

Mason Escapes Defeat By Last Period Rally

MASON TIES HOWELL 13 TO 13 IN GRID TIE. Mason came from behind at Howell last Friday to escape defeat. The Howell high school team crossed the Mason goal twice in the first half to establish a margin of 13 points. Mason seemed beaten but the Maroons staged a rally in the last half and tied the score. Michitsch crashed over for both touchdowns. With the score tied at 13 to 13 Mason sought to win on a fake place kick. The play worked but the point was not allowed because under the new rules the referee claimed Bullen's knee touched the ground before crossing the goal. Howell scored on two long runs. The passing attack of the Livingston gridlers could not be solved by Mason the first half. But in the third and fourth quarters Mason kept Howell covered and played good football to tie the score. In the last half the Mason attack showed power and skill. Charles Swartout, Maroon end, played a great game. Moved from center to end at the first of the year, he is now hitting a great stride. Mason has an open date this week. Two hard games remain with East Lansing and Grand Ledge. East Lansing is undefeated while Grand Ledge has yielded only to the Trojans.

Leslie Grid Team To Play Charity Contest

HASLETT ELEVEN BOOKED FRIDAY IN WELFARE GAME. Announcement has been made of a charity football game to be played at Leslie Friday, the proceeds to be turned over to the welfare committee of the village. In cooperation with the Citizens club and the women's clubs in the interest of village welfare problems, Coach Cook's charges will engage in a gridiron battle with the Haslett high school team. Leslie is given the edge over their opponents in Friday game, although the scrappy Haslett outfit is no set-up for any team. The Haslett squad began the season by being defeated by Dimondale 46 to 0. Last week, however, they made their first showing on the winning side by drubbing Stockbridge 26 to 0. Leslie has had a slightly different story. The Dimondale aggregation won from them two weeks ago by a score of 13 to 0, being the only squad to score two touchdowns against them. Two of Leslie's games have ended in scoreless ties.

MASQUERADE DANCE.

There is to be a free masquerade ball danced at the farm of John C. Barnes, one mile west and one and one-quarter miles south of Onondaga on Saturday night. The Mason fire department responded to a call Thursday noon to extinguish a roof fire at the Fred Harvey farm four miles west and a mile south of Mason. The fire had gotten into the attic and resulted in damage to the roof and attic. It was quickly gotten under control by the firemen.

Okemos Indians Win Close Battle Friday

PLACE KICK DECIDES CONTEST WITH WILLIAMSTON. Okemos took the long end of a seven to six score when the football team entertained Williamston last week. The lone touchdown for Okemos was made toward the end of a scrappy first quarter when Milton Eicher broke loose for a 25 yard run and placed the ball on the one yard line. It was finally carried over by Royson Eicher on the fourth down. A try for the extra point place kick, securing the extra point. The second quarter Williamston rallied and, using its weight to advantage plunged through the Indians' line for gain after gain until a touchdown was made in the middle of the quarter. A try for the extra point was unsuccessful and the score stood 7 to 6 the rest of the game. The teams were so evenly matched that a high score was impossible. Okemos matched speed and skill against the weight, strength and trick plays of Williamston. There were few time outs and no injuries. The Indians will meet Lansing Eastern Reserves on the Okemos field Friday at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. J. H. Bancroft is confined to her home by illness. Paul Brown and John Lundy spent Saturday in Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Welsh announce the birth of a son on Tuesday, Oct. 25. Doug Fairbanks next Tues.-Wed.

OBITUARY

Francis Marion Stockman was born at Marion, Ohio, on June 20, 1855, and died at his home in East Lansing last Saturday evening, October 22. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon with Rev. N. A. McCune, his pastor, officiating. The burial was made at the Hurd cemetery in Dewitt township. Nearly every member of the Capital Grange was in attendance at the services, six of the younger members served as pall-bearers, and six of the older members were honorary bearers. As an early age Mr. Stockman with his mother left Ohio and came to Manistee county where he cleared a farm and later engaged in mercantile work. In 1902 he bought a farm on the outskirts of Lansing and moved his family there and was a very successful farmer. He later sold his farm and bought another in Grand Ledge and also built a home in East Lansing. Besides the widow, Dora M. Stockman, he is survived by three sons. He was chaplain of the Ingham County Pomona grange at the time of his death and had always been active in grange work as has his wife, Dora Stockman.

SENATOR VANDENBERG SCHEDULED TO SPEAK

WILL DELIVER ADDRESS AT ZACK CHANDLER BANQUET. Congressman Person Also To Have Prominent Part At Annual Affair Of Republicans.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan's junior senator in Washington, is to deliver the main address at the annual banquet of the Zack Chandler club to be held in the Masonic temple in Lansing on Saturday, November 5. The annual banquet is to be the rallying point for Ingham county republicans on the eve of one of the most hotly-contested elections in recent history. Tickets for the event are now on sale, it is announced.

They can be procured at the attorney general's office in Lansing, at the office of Floyd G. Randall at republican headquarters in Lansing, at the Mason republican headquarters or from any republican county candidate. The price has been reduced to 50c.

Reservations are being made for 1500. Republican leaders believe that with the attractive program and the lowered price the 1500 tickets will all be taken within several days.

Person Is Chairman Congressman Seymour H. Person, republican candidate for re-election, is to preside at the banquet. He will be assisted by James I. Van Keuren, the vice president, and Bernard Pierce, executive chairman.

The committee chairman in charge of the banquet are as follows: Banquet, Dr. W. T. Shaw; ticket, Paul Eger; decorations, W. W. Brown; publicity, Harry Hubbard.

The Chicken Lifters, a Masonic organization, is to serve the banquet which will begin at six-thirty.

Saturday all the county candidates are planning a tour of the county. The schedule has not been completed

Septic Tank Building Demonstration Subject

EXPECT TO TELL OF TANK BUILDING AT MEETING.

The attention of farmers and village residents interested in sewage disposal is called to a septic tank building demonstration at Ward Vicary's, section 30, Bunkerhill township, on Friday afternoon, November 4. Mr. Vicary lives on the Meridian road about four miles east of Leslie.

At the demonstration, arranged through H. H. Barrum, county agricultural agent, a Michigan septic tank will be built and its construction and operation explained. Many of these tanks are in successful operation in Ingham county and state totals now run into the thousands. Some of these built as much as 16 years, and all are giving excellent satisfaction, it is said.

It is suggested that persons interested avail themselves of this opportunity to study the tank and hear the subject of sewage disposal discussed even though they may not plan to build for some time. At two o'clock a representative of the Michigan State college agricultural engineering department will thoroughly discuss the whole proposition.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD. It has been decided by the directors of the Needlework Guild to hold no ingathering of garments this year.

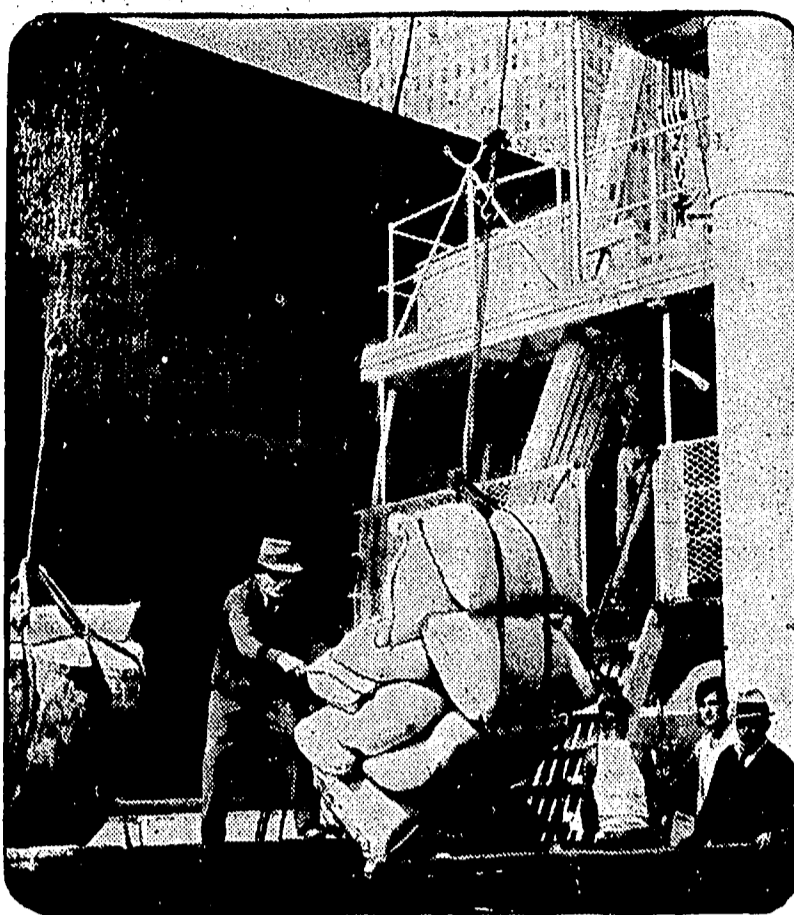

While new garments are always needed, conditions are such that many who have heretofore given are not in a position to do so. Everyone who can is asked to contribute as liberally as possible to the welfare association.

The Guild is sending a small sum to headquarters thereby keeping itself in good standing.

as yet but it is said that every section of the county is to be visited and half-hour meetings held.

Leslie And Dansville Play Scoreless Game

TEAMS LACK OFFENSIVE PUNCH FRIDAY.

Friday the Dansville and Leslie high school football teams played an uninteresting game at Leslie, neither team being within scoring distance during the game. Good defensive football was played by both teams. The tackling and blocking ability of the players was of unusual quality.

Somewhat of a punting duel was staged by the kickers of both teams and even in this department of the game the teams were evenly matched. Fumbles were numerous, the Dansville players seemingly being unable to hold the pigskin when tackled.

Norman Topping Has High Dairy Honors

STOCKBRIDGE MAN AGAIN AT HEAD OF TRI-COUNTY GROUP.

Norman Topping of Stockbridge owns the cow having the highest individual record in the tri-county Dairy Herd Improvement association for the month of September, according to report of the tester, Jack Whitman. This cow averaged 68.0 pounds of fat in 21 days, and is a grade Holstein. A two year old purebred Jersey belonging to Eugene Lyon of Mason was high in her class with 1002 pounds of milk and 48.0 pounds of fat in 28 days. The three and four year old class is led by W. L. Jewett and Wheeler and Lyon of Mason. Mr. Lyon had high herd for the period with 34.85 pounds of fat from 665 pounds of milk. The Glenbrook stock farm of Pincney with 16 purebred Jerseys hold the high herd average for large herds.

The class leaders and the butterfat production records of the high cows in each class during the month of September were as follows:

Two year old class—Eugene Lyon, purebred Jersey, 1002 lbs. milk, 48.0 lbs. fat; Eugene Lyon, purebred Jersey, 561 lbs. milk, 43.9 lbs. fat; W. A. Hall & Sons, grade Holstein, 1056 lbs. milk, 41.1 lbs. fat.

Three year old class—W. L. Jewett, grade Jersey, 849 lbs. milk, 53.9 lbs. fat; W. A. Hall & Sons, grade Holstein, 1038 lbs. milk, 39.4 lbs. fat; Eugene Lyon, grade Jersey, 675 lbs. of milk, 37.1 lbs. fat.

Four year old class—Wheeler and Lyon, grade Jersey, 675 lbs. milk, 46.5 lbs. fat; Eugene Lyon, purebred Jersey, 800 lbs. milk, 46.4 lbs. fat; Geo. Long, purebred Jersey, 777 lbs. milk, 38.0 lbs. fat.

Five years and over—Norman Topping, grade Holstein, 1194 lbs. milk, 68.0 lbs. fat; Chas. Clark & Sons, purebred Guernsey, 1065 lbs. milk, 58.5 lbs. fat; W. L. Jewett, grade Holstein, 1722 lbs. milk, 53.3 lbs. fat.

The high herds in each class are: Small herds, George Long, 5 purebred and grade Jerseys, averaging 656 lbs. milk with 31.18 lbs. fat; medium herds, Eugene Lyon, 8 purebred and grade Jerseys, averaging 634 lbs. milk and 28.15 lbs. fat.

Large herds, Glenbrook stock farm 16 purebred Jerseys, 544 lbs. milk and 28.23 lbs. fat; W. A. Hall & Sons, 29 purebred and grade Jerseys averaging 739 lbs. milk, 25.23 lbs. fat.

Difference In Motor Oils Shown In Color

S. A. MURDOCK EXPLAINS RELATION OF COLOR TO OILS.

"The human mind certainly contains some queer kinks," recently remarked Mr. S. A. Murdock of Arrow Oil Co., distributors for Sun Oil Company's products. "For instance," he continued, "I have in mind the idea we all have that dark clothing looks warmer than light colored clothes when the light cloth may be much heavier and warmer. Or there is the same general impression when you ask someone to tell you if light colored paint is as thick as a black paint and nine out of ten times they will tell you that the dark paint has more body when it actually can be far more fluid than the light paint."

"Why, do you know, this same thought even extends over into motor oils. Every time in a while we meet someone who believes that a light colored oil must be light in body and a dark oil must be heavy bodied. As a matter of fact, the body of an oil cannot be judged by color.

"As an example, take Sunoco 'Mercury Made' Motor Oil which has a beautiful golden color. This oil, grade for grade, has a heavier body than most dark oils, and, therefore, will provide a sturdy lubricating cushion between metal surfaces. I can assure you that I would personally prefer a light colored oil any time. The clear golden color is a real indication of purity. In fact, Sunoco Motor Oil is made by the Mercury Process with the result that it is the purest motor oil in the world and does not form hard carbon or crankcase sludge."

Second Leaders Meet To Be Held Tuesday

MISS GERTRUDE REIS WILL GIVE LESSON TWO HERE.

The second leaders training meeting in the home furnishing project given by Miss Gertrude Reis, specialist from Michigan State College, will be held at the court house on Tuesday, November 8, beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. The leaders of the groups in turn relay the lesson to their own community groups each month.

There are 11 groups representing the southern and central part of the county with two leaders from each group who attend this central meeting in Mason at the court house. The groups and leaders are: Aurelius, Mrs. Laurinda Clark and Mrs. Inez Clark; Aurelius center, Mrs. Letha Cremer and Mrs. Mary Droscha; Bunkerhill, Mrs. Shirley Hamilton and Mrs. E. L. McIntosh; Delhi, Mrs. Iva Wilson and Mrs. Hazel Strobel; Delhi-Aurelius, Mrs. Paul Rowe and Mrs. Marion Robb; Holt, Mrs. Emma Wilson and Mrs. Mabel Tibbitts; Ingham, Mrs. Clara Vogt and Mrs. Hazel Gillett; Mason, Mrs. Alfred Allan and Mrs. Clara Montgomery; Montgomery Plains, Mrs. Doris Puffenberger and Mrs. Fannie Price; North Aurelius, Mrs. Carrie Belt and Mrs. Lillian Anway; Stockbridge, Mrs. Louise Springman and Mrs. Warner Pickett. Nearly 200 women are enrolled in these classes.

"ILLINOIS-HOOVER" CORN

Mrs. I. J. Kellogg brought an article to the News Tuesday morning taken from the Fulton Democrat, published in Lewistown, Illinois, which tells of an ear of corn grown by her son, Atty. Lyle Thomas. The article reads as follows: "An ear of corn about four inches in diameter and 14 1/2 inches long, is on display in Isted's window. A sign announces it was grown by Atty. Lyle Thomas during the Hoover administration."

WINNER IN GEORGIA

Gov. Richard B. Russell, Jr., won the Democratic nomination for senator from Georgia, defeating Representative Charles R. Crisp.

Will Show Methods Of Grading Alfalfa

MARKETING SPECIALIST TO SHOW GRADING METHODS.

The growing importance of Michigan's alfalfa hay crop on the terminal hay markets in the East has led to arrangements made by Michigan State college to have E. O. Pollock, marketing specialist from Washington, give demonstrations in this state of the methods used by buyers in grading hay.

The first meeting where methods of grading will be shown is to be held at East Lansing, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. Other meetings will be held at Monroe, Nov. 2; Jackson, Nov. 3; and Sandusky, Nov. 4. Members of the college staff and extension agents will be given instruction at the college meeting. Farmers, hay buyers, and other interested persons are invited to attend the other three meetings.

Farmers are asked to bring samples of hay to be graded at the meetings. Samples of both poor and good quality should be taken, so the grower can see the reasons why the grades are made. A sample six inches thick and 18 inches long should be cut from the bale or mow.

Grades depend upon leafiness, color and freedom from mixture with grasses or other legumes. Some markets prefer one grade and others a different quality. Mr. Pollock will explain which grades sell best on particular markets.

Michigan alfalfa has become a factor in the eastern markets only during the past few years. Meetings held during the past few years at which good methods of curing alfalfa have been shown have helped the grade of Michigan hay.

300,000 Motorists Lack Legal Drivers Licenses

MANY OPERATORS LICENSES TO EXPIRE ON NOVEMBER 1.

Approximately 300,000 motorists are without legal operators licenses, the state police estimate in calling attention to the fact that on or before November 1, the last day of registration under the 1931 statute, must take place.

Under the present operators law, motorists are required to obtain a new license every three years. Prior to that time once a license was issued it was good until the owner lost it. The present statute became effective May 1, 1931, and under its provisions all licenses issued prior to January 1, 1928, and subsequent to December 31, 1924, expired May 1, 1932; all licenses issued subsequently to December 31, 1927, expire November 1, 1932.

While many motorists have taken out their new licenses there are literally thousands who have failed to comply with the statute. The police estimate is based on registrations under the old law, which brought in about 450,000 applications annually and a check of accident records that show one driver out of every seven involved in a collision of any kind has no license.

Wood Is Cheap Fuel When Well Seasoned

HEAT VALUE OF WOOD NEARLY ONE-HALF THAT OF COAL.

A cord of four-foot, dry oak, hickory, or maple is equal in fuel value to a ton of anthracite coal, according to the Michigan State college forestry department, which suggests that the products of home woodlots can be turned into economical fuel.

Dry wood is recommended because nearly half of the fuel value of green wood is wasted in drying the stick enough so that it will burn. Limit wood does not have as high fuel value as that cut from the trunks of the trees.

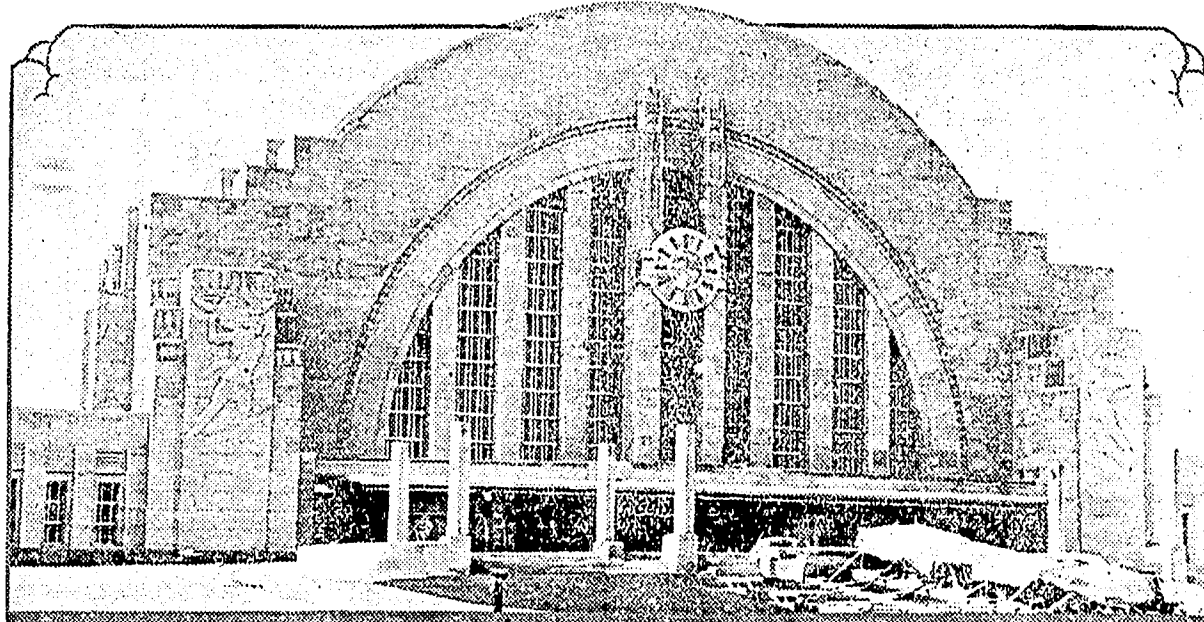

A pound of any kind of dry wood produces nearly one-half as much heat as a pound of hard coal. A four-foot cord of hickory weighs approximately 8,500 pounds, mixed wood weighs about 3,000 pounds to the cord, and Jack pine about 2,800 pounds. In burning resinous woods such as pine, a part of the heat value is usually lost in soot or smoke.

Most furnaces will burn wood successfully. If a bed of ashes can be established and left undisturbed on the grates, the furnace will burn wood all right. In some cases, it may be necessary to lay a sheet of perforated iron over the grates before burning wood.

Wood fires need attention more often than coal fires but good sized, well seasoned chunks hold fire for many hours. Many people prefer wood as a fuel, especially in kitchen ranges or for use in the fireplace where the crackling flames lend an air of hospitality to the room.

If George Hale, R. 4, will bring this item to the NEWS office before Nov. 8, he will be given a free admission ticket to the Mason theatre.

Cincinnati's New Union Rail Terminal

Huge Plane for South American Service

The new Pan-American giant Sikorsky 40-passenger amphibian plane as it was placed in the water for the first time at Bridgeport, Conn. It has four motors capable of developing 2,300 horsepower and can attain a speed of 145 miles per hour. The ship, the very latest in construction, will be used for South American passenger service.

SUMMARY OF AMENDMENTS TO BE VOTED ON NOV. 8

This is not the form in which the official ballots will appear. It is in the same proportions but the subject matter is here summarized. This summary is intended for the convenience of the voter in studying the amendments at home, in determining what his or her vote shall be, and for the use of the voter in marking his or her vote on each question submitted.

Voters are urged to clip this miniature ballot from the paper, indicate in appropriate squares their vote upon each question, take it to the booth on election day, and there mark upon the official ballot the vote decided upon at home. This will save the voter a lot of trouble in deciphering each while in the booth and help in speeding up the voting.

Nut Trees May Bear Gold Plated Fruit

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT OFFERS MONEY PRIZES FOR BEST.

Gathering the family supply of hickory nuts, walnuts, or butternuts can be turned into a treasure hunt this fall in Michigan if the hunters will take advantage of the offer made by Michigan State college to pay awards as high as $15 for the best nuts picked from Michigan trees or from those in similar climates.

First, second, and third prizes are offered for black walnuts, shellbark hickories, butternuts, Japanese walnuts, hickories, English walnuts, and Japanese chestnuts. First prize in the first two classes is $15, and $10 for the first prize in all other classes. Second prizes are one-half the amounts offered for first, and third prizes are $5 and $3.

Samples offered for prize awards should contain one dozen nuts with the shells or husks removed. Each entry should be the product of one tree but samples can be sent from as many trees as the contestant wishes. Nuts from named varieties of trees or those from trees which were awarded prizes in 1929 are not eligible.

Prizes will be given upon a basis of size of nut, thinness of shell, cracking quality, ease of extracting kernels, and quality and condition of kernel. The contestant's name and address must be on a card inclosed with the sample. Information about the location of the tree from which the nuts were taken must also be given on the card.

All samples should be mailed to Mr. J. A. Neilson, department of horticulture, M. S. C., East Lansing, Mich.

To Hold Horse Fair And Plowing Match

CONTESTS TO BE STAGED AT MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE.

Some of the best draft horses in the world will be shown in multiple hitching in the plowing contest to be held in conjunction with a horse fair at Michigan State college Nov. 1 and 2.

Plans for the meeting have been made by the Michigan Horse Breeders' Association and entries for the plowing contest and show can be made through H. H. Barnum, county agricultural agent at Mason, Mich. The plowing contest will be held Nov. 1 and a horse show and pulling contest is planned for that evening.

Four, five, six and eight horse teams will be entered in the plowing event. Most of the horses entered are part of the regular power plants used by Michigan farmers in doing ordinary farm work. Multiple hitching has become popular among farmers who have found it necessary to cut down the number of teamsters needed to handle the horses used in their farm operations.

Grand champions in both Belgians and Percherons will be on exhibit at the evening horse fair. Classes for saddle horses are also included in the show list. Ribbons only are to be awarded.

The pulling contest will bring out heavyweight teams which have held state and national records. Four teams are already entered in this event.

A sale of draft horses will be held November 2. The horses in the sale will be in the plowing contest or in the evening show.

Ingham Farmer Carries Off Potato Show Honors

FIFTY TUBERS WEIGH FULL BUSHEL, 60 POUNDS.

Mr. George Kimball, Dansville, R. F. D. 2, has on display at the NEWS office a bushel of late Potesquey potatoes which up to date carries away the honors for size and quality. 50 of them fill a standard bushel crate to rounded measure. Mr. Kimball asked the editor to say to others who have brought in their prize contestants hereafter not to bring in cull potatoes, this of course being said in fun and not to hurt any other potato growers' feelings.

Mr. Kimball owns the farm in Ingham township formerly the home of Postmaster Frank Grimes of Dansville. He secured his seed from northern Michigan growers of certified potatoes. They are free from scab or other disease, none are hollow and all have fully matured. The bushel is for sale as is the remainder of the surplus of the 1932 crop.

BEEES BEING HAULED.

Ray Beebe, field man for the Crystal White Sugar company of Lansing, reports that about one-third of the best crop has been hauled to the Lansing plant. The crop is estimated at 80,000 tons and up to Tuesday but 30,000 tons had been received.

Butter Tax Higher Than That On Oleo

MICHIGAN PRODUCERS OF BUTTER PAY HEAVY TAXES.

Figures compiled by the farm management and the dairy departments of Michigan State college show that oleomargarine will be taxed, under the new law on the November ballot, only one-fifth of the amount per pound that is already paid by farmers and manufacturers upon each pound of butter made in Michigan.

The college dairy department points out that a home industry which pays three cents a pound in taxes upon its product does not believe that a tax upon oleomargarine of 0.66 cents per pound, or less than a cent a pound, can be called discriminatory taxation.

Farmers and manufacturers who make the butter produced in Michigan paid a total of $2,268,000 dollars in taxes last year. In 1931, the tax on oleomargarine in Michigan resulted in the collection of less than $1,000 from oleomargarine manufacturers. For every dollar paid by oleomargarine, butter paid $2.268 in Michigan taxes.

Nearly one million cows are kept on 150,000 Michigan farms. These cows produce the cash income of a majority of these farmers and from this cash must be subtracted the sums which pay bills such as taxes, purchase of operating equipment, and goods consumed in the home and on the farm.

Oleomargarine contains a large percent of vegetable fats which can be imported from foreign lands at only a fraction of the cost per pound of butterfat produced on Michigan farms. There were 10,848,000 pounds of oleomargarine sold in Michigan in 1931.

Mythology

There comes to the desk of this editor each week a copy of School News, edited and published by the educational department of Michigan State prison.

In a recent number under the above caption, Inmate Kish, No. 21685, writes regarding his reaction to an article appearing in a recent number of Harper's magazine in which the daily life of a "Big Shot" gangster is portrayed. What this prison inmate says has a ring of sincerity and shade of philosophy which it seems should be passed on to those outside prison walls. It follows:

"There is only one particular point I wish to discuss, which was brought out in this article; that is, the 'nom de plume' some writers are so fond of giving me who have been in prison: 'Hughie, the Mug', 'Dago Red', 'Tony, the Vog', 'Boxcar Jack', and countless other such appellations. And of course all men that come out of prison must speak from the side of a twisted world, wear a slouch hat, and have eyes that shift. I was very surprised to find the same thing in Harper's, as I had believed that this myth was dead and buried, regarded only as a network characterization of what the slums had reared fifty and sixty years ago. I don't know whether these writers are trying to make an impression or are just simply ignorant. The layman, reading such an article in a magazine of high repute and with the supposition that the author knew what he was talking about, would most naturally believe every word of it and thereafter would make dogmatic assertions about the subject.

People, it seems, revel in the bizarre and the grotesque, and like to harbor such delusions about law-breakers as portrayed, for instance, by Packard in his 'Jenny Date' series. If I destroy these erroneous impressions and replace them with dry facts and you are disappointed in that your myths no longer exist, I am sorry. You are doing the thousand of men and boys who are in prison a gross injustice and if I can in anyway mitigate this unfairness I will feel well repaid for my efforts.

"In the first place, this prison has a population of close to 6000 men. It is one of the largest in the world. If you deal in logic you must admit that the men in here are a very good representation of what a criminal is supposed to be. Despite the fact that there are 6000 men in here, one is able to know quite a few and is able to see them all at one time, when in the yard. I think I know personally as many men in here as anyone else, and more than many, yet I do not know of one inmate that is known by any such pseudo-names as used in Harper's, and which is the popular belief. There are, I'll grant you, a few men who would very well fit the description of one 'Tony, the Vog', or 'Dago Red', but because a few unnatural men exist is absolutely no reason why they should be used as a criterion by which to judge all men.

"People are very reluctant to give up their cherished fantasies. It may not be their fault that they have such beliefs, as the magazines, and the newspapers are the educators of the public; but it is their fault when they know facts and then still persist in their aberration.

"I was never more surprised in my life than when I first came here. I had expected to see men in stripes, with a couple of armed guards every few paces. I had thought that all the men in here, each and every one, were thugs, the men the movies, the papers, the magazines, portrayed them to be. Now, I am forced to laughter at the abysmal ignorance I displayed at that time.

"If you ever visit here, instead of finding your desperate crack of sensational creation you will find a clean-cut, educated young man, intrinsically not at all different from your own boys.

OVERSIZE RADISH.

Frank Wythe claims high honors for growing large radishes. He has displayed a black winter radish at the NEWS which weighs 5 1/2 pounds, measures 10 inches around and is 19 inches in length.

Town With a History

Toklat, in Turkey, is a city of red-roofed houses and luxuriant gardens, interspersed with shabby stumps. In the Middle Ages this fortress was practically impregnable. A few men entrenched on the heights could repel an entire army. Many armies passed through this town during its long history, for it is on the pathway taken by many of the hosts which came from Asia to invade Europe or from Europe to invade Asia. Toklat now numbers about 20,000 inhabitants, many of whom are occupied in the manufacture of cotton, leather goods and copperware.

Harvest days are about over in the United States but a lot of farm handouts are still wondering just what the harvest will be.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage whereby the power of sale therein contained became operative, made by Frank C. Kye and Hazel A. Kye, his wife, to Emma S. Vandervoort and Mollie S. Vandervoort, husband and wife, or survivor, dated December 11, 1929, and recorded in the Ingham County Michigan, Register of Deeds' office on December 22, 1929, in their 301 of mortgages on page 421, upon which mortgage there is now claimed to be due and payable for principal and interest, the sum of $976.82, insurance premium of $13.50, and taxes paid on mortgaged lands of $113.50, making a total debt of $993.82, it is hereby notified that the mortgagor, by reason of the non-payment of the installment of principal and interest due on June 11, 1932, and the failure of the mortgagor to pay the mortgage, notice is hereby given that on Friday, October 28, 1932, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at north entrance to City Hall Building, Lansing, Ingham County, Michigan, (that being the place where the Ingham County Circuit Court is held), said mortgages will, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage and pursuant to the provisions of said statute in such case provided, sell at public auction the land described therein, so much as shall be necessary to satisfy the amount due thereon at time of sale, together with interest thereon at seven per cent and all legal costs, including an attorney fee of thirty dollars, the lands described as: Lot 16 of Amended Plat of Downer's Sunnyside Addition, City of Lansing, Ingham County, Michigan, section 16, T4N, R2W, 1932.

FILM NEWS
MASON THEATRE

"Roadhouse Murder," the RKO Radio picture coming Friday and Saturday to the Mason Theatre, gives a startling new development of the ever popular mystery theme. Eric Linden and Dorothy Jordan, the popular new juvenile stars, are the central figures in this entertaining drama and at the opening of the story they stumble upon a double murder in a desolate country roadhouse. Amazing complications result from the hero's weird plan of assuming the guilt of the murder, and the element of suspense centers around the uncertainty of his fate. When the evidence that would clear him disappears, the suspense reaches a tensely that never relaxes until the final fade-out. Linden plays the part of an adventurous reporter on a big city newspaper and Miss Jordan is the girl who shares his adventures. The supporting cast includes Roscoe Ates, the stuttering comedian, Gustav von Seyffertitz, Roscoe Karns, Phyllis Chase and other well known players. Ed Kennedy in "Mother-in-Law's Day" is the comedy attraction on the program.

He has a heart of gold and a hand of steel; he brought law and order to a lawless city; he became an out-cast to avenge a friend; you never met a man like him before! That gives you a rough idea of "Law and Order," coming to the Mason Theatre Sunday and Monday, with Walter Huston in the central role, supported by Harry Carey, Ralph Ince, Raymond Hatton and Andy Devine. You've seen Walter Huston in many exciting pictures, but wait till you see him as the detective marshal of Tombstone, Arizona, in this red-blooded thriller! A Chic Sale comedy and the Newsrel complete this program.

Two big attractions for the price of one are promised at the Mason theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, when the Presbyterian Ladies Aid society sponsor the presentation of "The Symphony of Six Million" and

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

By James W. Brooks

CARPENTER'S HALL

PEYTON RANDOLPH OF VIRGINIA
PRESIDENT, FIRST CONTINENTAL CONGRESS

SERIOUS business was now at hand. Washington was elected to attend the First Continental Congress at Philadelphia in 1774. The Congress was held in Carpenter's Hall, and Peyton Randolph, an intimate friend of Washington's was chosen president. The man of Revolutionary destiny was always alert but said little.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

EDMUND PENDELETON

RICHARD HENRY LEE

ON the night before his departure, Washington gave a dinner at Mount Vernon to his traveling guests, Edmund Pendleton and Patrick Henry. Richard Henry Lee followed later. As the guests were ready to mount Mrs. Washington said she hoped they would be firm. "I know George will," Benjamin Franklin's mission to London for an honorable peace was of no avail and war like temper was increasing.

HEALTH AND HYGIENE

Effects of Fear on Personality

Psychiatrists tells us that fear is the greatest single force tending to disintegrate personality, produce human failure and encourage dangerous remedies for its relief. It is the one outstanding emotion which may menace the health of a sound mind. At some time in everyone's life fear becomes a dominant factor and must be controlled by adequate remedies if happiness is to be reinstated. What are such remedies?

The greatest one undoubtedly is to gain an understanding of the cause of the fear, together with the insight that the task one is doing is worthwhile. Secondary remedies include direct action which relieves the tension of fear and offers hope of success, a sense of dependence upon some adequate protection, and a love for life and its activities.

There are physical sources of fear, such as that of loud noises, sudden falling, for certain diseases, and any violent stimulation. These may give rise to physical effects, such as fainting, trembling, paralysis, indigestion, loss of appetite, palpitation and sleeplessness.

The more remote and abstract causes of fear include things which are indefinite or uncertain—that of being blamed for something or of the danger of loss.

The first mentioned fears always are instilled in the mind during childhood. Parents who teach their children to behave through fear may do more harm in a day than later in life could be remedied in ten years by a psychiatrist. A child often is afraid of his teacher, of falling in school, of being laughed at, or any number of things. Better acquaintance with the teacher or talking over the situation with a sympathetic friend often obliterates such fears.

A knowledge of the thing we fear always dispels it. People formerly feared the night air because it was said to cause malaria. Now we know the night air was dangerous only because the mosquito had a better opportunity to bite and sleeping room windows gradually have been opened. Physicians constantly contend against the fear of heart disease, tuberculosis and cancer. The knowledge that such a disease is not present relieves the strain of fear. It is a healthy attitude of mind when medical advice is sought to assure oneself that such fears are ungrounded.

There are two great sources of fear—that of failure and that of some person or thing. Not only are such fears universal but they are deep-seated and oftentimes not definitely recognized. We conquer a fear by studying it and recognizing the reason for it. When fears are thus analyzed they become less ominous and sounder mental health is assured.

One way of judging an institution in times of depression is by the percentage of its losses. In this respect the Building and Loan Associations of the United States show most gratifying results, for the losses over the entire Country during the past year were only 26/100 of 1 per cent of their total resources.

There were no failures in Michigan during the past year.
