Power Centers In 7 Members Of City Council

Charter commissioners are taking the wrappings off Mason's proposed new city charter.

Commissioners signed their names to the proposed charter Tuesday night and filed it with City Clerk George Kellogg.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olin West of Dansville, received that message from the navy department in Washington.

On February 13 Mr. and Mrs. West received word that their son was missing in action.

Private West, who went to Korea the last of June, had been wounded three times, first August 28, again on September 2, and a third time on November 28.

Private West is the fourth of 15 children. Two of his brothers served with the armed forces during World War II.

All profits from the sale will be used to finance the annual Halloween party for the community.

The new charter steers away from any reference to "commission" or "city manager."

Municipal powers conferred by the proposed new charter are broad and comprehensive.

Department expense showed items of $29,547.90 for the county clerk's office, $29,095.62 for the treasury with another $7,806.08 for the tax department.

Even at that, the dog business almost paid its own way. The dog tax brought in $20,912.50.

Major receipts were earmarked by the state for specific purposes: $1,318,839.78 for highways, $215,331.39 for direct relief, $848,653.61 in sales tax diversion money for schools, $936,255.12 in sales tax diversion money for townships, cities and villages.

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard also submitted his annual report Tuesday. The clerk handles the accounting of the receipts and disbursements of the general fund of the county.

His report showed total receipts of $1,041,115.29 and disbursements of $968,127.54.

School Purchases Athletic Field

A new high school athletic field has been purchased by the Leslie board of education, according to the report of the board meeting held Monday, April 9. The new field containing nine or ten acres is located in the southwest corner of Meeker and High streets about a block southwest of the school. The present athletic field will be used for the new elementary school which will be built as soon as possible, perhaps this year. The student council relinquished their rights to the athletic field on the consideration that a new field be secured.

Nineteen contract renewals have been offered to teachers for the coming year. There are 24 teachers. The teachers will not be asked to drive the school buses next year. The school board has decided to contract for the operation, maintenance and housing of the buses rather than to build a garage and hire maintenance men, though they will still hire the drivers.

The county board of education has advised that only contiguous school districts can unite, so the school districts served by the Leslie district will not be asked to take this step as has been considered.

E. O. T. C. Club Hears Reports

The closing meeting of the E. O. T. C. club year was held at the G. A. R. hall on April 10. Annual reports of officers and committees were given. Mrs. A. N. Gearing gave a legislative report. Mrs. R. O. Edwards presented the musical numbers for the evening. Miss Connie Ward, accompanied by Forrest Hampton, sang two solos, "Clouds" and "Smiling Through." Miss Janet Gearing, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. L. A. Gearing, sang "Trees" and "Alice Blue Gown."

A memorial tribute to club members who died during the year, Mrs. Naomi Latter, Mrs. Melina Maxson, Mrs. Rebecca Dennis and Mrs. Hugh Whitney, was read by Mrs. Ward Vleary.

The president, Mrs. D. D. Henderson, announced the date of the County Federation annual meeting as May 9, and named committees from the Outlook club and the E. O. T. C. club who would work together on arrangements. This meeting will be held in the Methodist church.

Mrs. Henderson presented the new officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Irvin Helme; first vice-president, Mrs. William Kinnear; second vice-president, Mrs. Leonard Rouse; treasurer, Mrs. E. C. Williams; and corresponding secretary, Miss Anna Layton. Mrs. Henderson read a "Recipe for a Good Woman's Club" and presented the gavel to the new president, Mrs. Helme.

During the social hour Mrs. E. P. Archer, Mrs. George Luecht and Mrs. H. L. Harwood served refreshments. The hostesses were Mrs. E. T. Blackmore, Mrs. L. R. Brown and Mrs. J. H. Baggerly.

Patty Woolcott Wins Talent Show Prize

Pic Plant Pete and Bashful Joe of station WJR, Detroit, were featured at the talent show sponsored by the sophomore class at the school gym on Friday, April 6. A large attendance heard musical numbers by Janice Vinson, Pat Gilney and Madeline Pouty in a trio singing "Spray" in the "Tree Top" song by Faith Sulliff and Sue Danze and a violin number by Alice Monroe. Patty Woolcott, eight-year-old, won first prize for her baton twirling. Margaret Modert received second prize for her vocal solo, "It's No Secret" and the Leslie dance band won third place. The band is composed of Ramon Lantz, Gary Burnette, Dean Kinch, Bob Stuart and Dick Harkness. Philip Frederickson played for the band and Connie Ward was soloist. Pat Holmes at the piano and Pat Coppernal on the accordion accompanied the other numbers.

Music Teachers Secured
The Leslie Music Study club through Mrs. Frederickson has been instrumental in bringing to Leslie two music teachers who at the school after school hours will give piano and vocal lessons and on Saturday morning. The piano teacher, Miss Louise Federisi is a junior at Michigan State college school of music. She can be reached by any interested persons on Monday and Friday afternoon and Saturday morning at the band room. The voice teacher, Miss Nancy Siebolt, may be seen at by appointment. Miss Siebolt is a senior at M. S. C.

Charter

one or more other administrative positions, if the council so directs. One Salaried Justice Justices of the peace now operate entirely on fees. Under the new charter Mason will have one full-time justice and one justice engaged on a per diem basis. The jurisdiction of the justice court will be increased to $500 instead of the present $300.

One feature of the old city charter remains in the proposed new one. That is the cemetery board. This is preserved in practically its present form except the appointed city clerk becomes a member of such board but acts as secretary as at present.

Financing Liberalized

There is nothing particularly new in the charters relating to elections, legislative powers conferred upon the council, general finance and taxation. Powers of the city council in respect to borrowing money on the faith and credit of the city and from pledging the returns from special assessment rolls and by issuing revenue bonds upon operating utilities and special services, are broad and in comparison with the present charter can be said to be rather liberal and unrestricted.

The right to acquire, construct and operate public utilities of every known type is expressly provided in the language of the new charter. The city is authorized to enter into the production and sale of gas and electricity and the right to contract for service entirely outside the limits of the city is expressly provided. However, the people will have to vote on any such venture into the fields of municipal ownership.

Commissioners who have worked together during much of the winter are planning many public meetings to be held during the next 60 days in order that all may have the opportunity to discuss and consider the complete proposed charter.

The text covers 108 typewritten pages of standard size and much of the language must be compared with other sections in order for readers to grasp its full meaning. Elected last November to draft the new charter for Mason were Dr. D. R. Lethbridge, who was chosen as the commission's chairman; James Vander Ven, superintendent of schools; Leo H. Harrison, former alderman and supervisor; Howard McCowan, attorney; S. A. Morrison, former mayor; John Sessard, former alderman; Frank Dakin, former alderman and supervisor; Gerald Parsons, former alderman; and Glen Coon, local manager for the Consumers Power company.

George R. Sidwell of Lansing, former attorney for the Michigan Municipal League, worked with the Mason commissioners as consultant.

Each paid a fine of $5.00 plus costs of $5.55 and was placed on probation for three months. They were represented in court by Arthur Kramer, Lansing lawyer.

Abe Wood, Jr., of Lansing pleaded guilty Saturday to not reporting property damage in an accident. Judge Adams assessed a fine of $2.00.

Ronald Parker, Alex Harpowski and Bernard R. Renfer, all of Jackson, arrested by Mason officers on Wednesday night of last week on disorderly charges, pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Thursday. Each was fined $2.00 and assessed $4.70 costs.

Joe Allen, 17, of Stockbridge was exonerated at an examination held before Judge Adams Wednesday. He had been charged with picking up a motor and selling it. Assistant Prosecutor Willard I. Bowerman, Jr., decided there was no evidence to indicate the boy knew the motor wasn't junk.

Norman Clark of Alaiedon pleaded guilty Monday to the charge of using indecent language in the presence of a woman. Judge Adams fined Clark $10.00 plus costs of $6.30 and put him on probation for six months.

Henry Yerby of Leslie pleaded not guilty when he appeared before Judge Adams Wednesday on a complaint that he failed to stop and identify himself at the scene of an accident. He denied that there was an accident. Yerby was released on his own recognizance to appear April 24.

Following examination Wednesday, Judge Adams bound Edward Szles of Lansing over to circuit court to answer a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime. Szles and Eldon Augustine of Lansing were arrested for breaking into the Howard Pontiac garage April 1. Augustine waived examination and pleaded guilty to the charge. Both men were on parole from Jackson prison when they were arrested for the breaking.

Judge Adams ordered Charles O'Neill of Mason confined to the jail for 10 days on violation of probation when O'Neill appeared in court last Thursday afternoon. He was arrested early that morning on a drunk driving charge. The judge has issued a warrant on the drunk driving charge to be served when O'Neill completes his 10 days.

Before Judge Adams Wednesday the case of John P. Lathers was taken up. Lathers was ticketed on a charge of driving too fast for road conditions January 23. He is a Michigan State college student. In January he was doing practice teaching at Holt. While driving his car on ice-coated Aurelius road he lost control and it overturned. Four passengers were injured, two of them seriously. The trial was recessed Wednesday until four o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Essay Winners Response is Good To Essay Contest

The response to the annual Americanism essay contest conducted by Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary No. 148 of Mason, was gratifying to the Unit, announces Mrs. Fred Burroughs, chairman of the committee in charge of the project. With 43 contestants submitting essays, said Mrs. Burroughs, "this was by far the largest number of entrants who have ever entered the contest."

Rev. Paul Arnold, V. J. Brown and Mrs. H. J. Bartley acted as judges of the 24 entries from the junior high and 9 from the senior high. Thomas Clark won first prize in the junior high division, second to Barbara Jewett and third to Janet Bullen. Susan Forche was first prize winner in the senior high division, second was Bonnie Walker, and third, Barbara Freeland. In each class cash prizes of $10.00, $7.50 and $5.00 were presented by the Auxiliary.

The six winning entries will be forwarded to the sixth district essay contest, and if awarded a prize, will enter in the Auxiliary's state-wide contest.

Stockbridge Man Is Found Dead

James E. Hynes of Stockbridge was found dead at his home Monday evening. W. G. Reeves and Frank Hopkins made the discovery. Mr. Hynes had been sick with the flu for over a week, but had not consulted a doctor. A heart attack is thought to have been the cause of the death of the 64-year-old man who lived alone.

Earlier Monday neighbors had suggested to the sick man that a doctor be summoned. He protested that he did not need medical attention.

When the discovery was made that Mr. Hynes was dead, the sheriff's office at Mason was notified. Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams of Mason was dispatched to Stockbridge to serve as coroner. He held that death was from natural causes and that no inquest was necessary.

Mr. Hynes was born in White Oak township October 19, 1886, the son of John Hynes and Mary Ledwidge Hynes. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lela McGuire of Ploverville, and a brother, John Hynes of Detroit.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p. m. Thursday at the Milner funeral home in Stockbridge with Rev. James Nixon of Plainfield officiating. Burial was in North Stockbridge cemetery.

Legion Auxiliary Awards Prizes to Essay Winners

Browne-Cavender American Legion Auxiliary No. 148 of Mason combined two activities at its meeting last Tuesday evening, when the contestants and judges in the recent Americanism essay contest were guests of the unit, and Mrs. Frank Guerriero presented a program on child welfare.

Mrs. Harley Ahlney, Sr., who presided at the 7:30 meeting in the auditorium of the Legion Memorial building turned the meeting over to Mrs. Fred Burroughs, Americanism chairman of the Auxiliary, who spoke briefly on the annual essay contest of the organization. Mrs. Burroughs announced that 43 high school students entered this year's competition. She then introduced the judges, Rev. Paul L. Arnold, V. J. Brown and Mrs. H. J. Bartley.

Rev. Arnold gave a brief talk on the various aspects of the contest and announced the names of the winners. Thomas Clark, Barbara Jewett and Janet Bullen were chosen to receive the awards in the junior high group and Susan Forche, Bonnie Walker and Barbara Ireland won honors in the senior high contest. In each class, the cash awards of $10.00, $7.50 and $5.00 were presented. The six prize-winning essays were read. Fernand Goudreaux, representing the Mason high school faculty, spoke briefly, commenting especially upon the time and effort spent in research by all those who entered the contest.

Mrs. Jan Geisenhof of the Ingham county sanitarium then spoke to the group on the chest X-ray campaign soon to be carried out in the city, and asked for the help of the Auxiliary in canvassing one section of Mason.

The unit then served refreshments to the guests after which Mrs. Frank Guerriero showed a color movie picture for the Auxiliary's annual child welfare program. It showed a birthday party at the Children's Billet at Otter Lake. Harry Cairns operated the projector. The Billet has been a project of the Michigan department of the American Legion for many years. It cares not only for orphans of veterans, but often gives temporary homes to children whose parents are sick or otherwise unable to take care of them.

Mrs. Frank Hazelton, Mrs. Kenneth Hill and Miss Gloria Rathburn were received as members of the unit. At the next meeting, April 24, Mrs. K. A. Zimmerman will have charge of a program on Uruguay, the 1951 subject for Pan-American study.

Two Thugs Attack Mason Passenger

Last Friday night a pair of thugs attacked Clarence Foote of Mason. They robbed him of $65, the victim told Jackson police, and then they threw him out of the car.

The Mason man said he hitchhiked a ride from Lansing to Leslie. He met two men in a Leslie beer parlor, Foote said, and they agreed to give him a lift to Jackson. As the car neared Jackson, Foote told officers the two men in the car struck him with beer bottles, took $65 out of his pocket and pushed him out of the car.

A motorist found Foote beside the pavement two miles north of Jackson. Police were summoned. They found the Mason man unconscious and ordered him taken to Foote hospital. Doctors said Foote suffered a brain concussion and had deep gashes about his head and face. He was discharged from the hospital Tuesday night.

Norman Clarke was arrested by deputy Fred Frye as a suspect in the robbery early Sunday morning on a drunk charge. Clarke pleaded guilty Monday before Justice of the Peace Roy Adams. The assessment was $10.00 plus costs of $6.30. Clarke was also put on probation for six months.

William Harris of Lansing appeared before Judge Adams Monday to demand trial on the charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

William Myers, arrested by state police Saturday night on a drunk charge, pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Monday. Myers paid a fine of $10.00 plus costs of $9.30 and was placed on probation for six months.

All Eden and Rolfe members are urged to attend with their parents, if possible, at the Rolfe school at 8 p. m.

Tonsils removed at the Foote hospital in Jackson Thursday.

The 4-H club met at the Rolfe school Friday evening with Mel Avery who showed color slides on 4-H work. The next meeting will be April 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown and family had a dinner guests Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gillett and Mrs. Ola Brown and Miss Helen Brown of Northwest Ingham. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of Howard Brown.

Mason Pupils Give Operetta

Pupils in the first six grades at the Mason school presented their operetta Friday evening under the direction of Miss Marianne Rathburn. The youngsters sang harmoniously the one-act musical make-believe, "The Kitchen Clock."

Mrs. Virginia Elliot and Mrs. Caroline Ragan assisted with the dialogue. Mrs. Elmer Juderjohn was in charge of costumes and Mrs. Herbert Howe supervised the scenery.

The leading roles were played by Suzanne Mills as Night Lady, Kim Stackland and Sheryl Harvath as sleepy children, Karen Knudstrup as Cook, Peter Haase as Kitchen Clock, JoAnn Mutchler as Tea Kettle, Dick Seibert as Dust Pan, Roberta Rice as Broom, Roland Van Steeland as Stew Kettle, Patricia Adams as Feather Duster and Andy Taylor as Rag-Tag Man.

David VanDamme, Joe Mudgett, Dale Stone, Ronnie Myrants, Tommy Mills, Delbert Rice, Richard Jones and Jerry Jones composed the Rag-Tag chorus. Louise VanHorn was accompanist.

The operetta was a credit to the school, to the children who participated in it and the teachers who directed it.

Mason Opens Play With Grand Ledge

Coach Don Carey will have his Mason baseball team in action for the first time Tuesday afternoon at the county park when the Bulldogs play Grand Ledge.

Carey has had little opportunity to see his team perform because of the cold and wet spring. This week Mason played a practice game with Leslie and Dansville.

With those performances to go on he has picked a tentative lineup. Chuck Howell, Bob Jewett and Jon Davis will do the hunting for Mason this year. Howell, the speedy left-hander, is the only pitcher with experience.

Carey will call on veteran Denny Stolz for the catching duties with Dick Christensen due to see some action.

At first base Dale Burgess gets the nod with Jim Blauvelt and Marvin Miller on tap behind him. Second base will be held down by either Herb Hovey, Montie Crowell or John Coy.

Stu Taylor, another veteran, will get the call at shortstop with Russ Rowe and Ralph Ellison backing him up. Bob Allen will handle the hot corner with Phil Parisian and Bill Rumbles slated for action.

Out in right field Carey will have Loren Shattuck and Tom McDonald to draw from while veteran Bob Thomas and Don Graves will share the center field post. Clarence Randall, Bob Arnold and Don Lyon round out the fielding crops in left field.

Bob Jewett will take a turn in the field when he is not on the mound.

Mason will play all its home games at the county park with all games starting at four o'clock.

Hicks Cleaners Starts Up in Mason

Hicks Cleaners opened its Mason establishment this week. It is located at 130 East Ash. That's where Horn's shoe store was located until it was moved to 124 West Maple.

The Hicks Cleaners plant is at East Lansing. The East Lansing plant was started in 1934.

Garments, drapes, rugs and other articles coming to the Mason establishment will be cleaned and pressed in the East Lansing plant.

The new plant formerly the location of the Horn Shoe Store has been redecorated and will be remodeled to accommodate clothing racks, Hicks said.

Dave Hicks has charge of the Mason branch. He is 21, single, and a member of the U. S. naval reserve. He was graduated from Okemos high school in 1949. Since he has been old enough to walk he has been working in the cleaning plant, the father, Earl E. Hicks, said.

The Hicks family resides on College road south of East Lansing.

Extension Club

Wilson

Wilson extension group met at the home of Mrs. Joan Burgess Friday afternoon. The lesson, "Cleaning with Ease," was given by the leaders, Mrs. Doris Eedy and Mrs. Evelyn Soule. Good equipment and materials and good body posture were emphasized as being essential in saving time and energy.

Olds Road

A lesson on oven and broiler meats presented by Mrs. Elmer Otis and Mrs. Dawn Webber was the subject of the Olds road extension club meeting which convened Tuesday evening at Mrs. Otis' home. To illustrate the lesson a broiler menu of ham slices, sweet potato halves, canned green beans, whole kernel corn, pear halves with crushed pineapple, tossed green salad, hot rolls, tea and coffee was served. Fifteen members and one visitor attended the evening event.

The next scheduled meeting will cover the lesson on lamp bases.

Holt

Holt extension women will meet April 17 at Mrs. Ruth Carpenter's home for a lesson on oven and broiler meats. Mrs. Hazel Waldofsky and Mrs. Marjorie Ellsworth will present lesson material to the members. Members are requested to bring books for the library as a special community project.

Around Aurelius

Mrs. Lawrence Dolbee

The Sunday school report Sunday, April 8, showed an improvement of 300 per cent attendance over the same day last year. The goal for Sunday is 75.

The annual election of the Aid Society replaced Mrs. Wellington Orr and Mrs. Lawrence Dolbee as president and vice-president; Mrs. Paul Rardeen as secretary; Mrs. Earl Jones as treasurer and Mrs. Stanley Hazel as chairman of the flower fund.

The cemetery association met in the library of the town hall Thursday, April 5, for the purpose of electing officers. All officers and trustees were replaced. They are Mrs. Roscoe Barry, Gladie Parish and Mrs. Lawrence Dolbee as trustees; Lynn Haynes, Cleo Palmer and John Edgar. The mapping of the cemetery is nearly complete. Plotting of the new part is the next project. The financial report found there was enough in the treasury to start the summer's work in the cemetery. Letting of the care of the cemetery was not decided. There were three bids.

Among those sick in the community this week were Mrs. Sidney Hawkins, Mrs. Ray Mathews, Mrs. Paul Rardeen, Patsy Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hill, Delores Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mathews; Mrs. Paul Zimmerman and Mrs. Clifford Hill.

The Lonesome Ladies Euchre club met at the town hall for an evening of fun Friday, April 6. Eight games of euchre were played, with the lone hand prize going to Mrs. Connor and also high score.

Rohde-Gerhardstein Vows Solemnized Saturday Evening

Webberville Methodist church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Helen Gerhardstein and Reuben Rohde Saturday evening, April 7, at 8:00 p. m. Rev. Weldon Johnson performed the ceremony before a setting of palms, candelabra and white gladioli and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gerhardstein of Webberville are the bride's parents. Reuben is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rohde of Howell.

Martha Ann Wilcox sang "Oh, Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer," preceding the ceremony, accompanied by Mrs. Elmer Nelson. Mrs. Nelson also played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her brother, Melvin Gerhardstein, the bride wore a princess-style gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The sculpted marquisette yoke was trimmed with lace and a low trimmed peplum extended to the back of the dress to form a long train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white Bible topped with white roses, and wore pearl jewelry.

Mrs. Audrey Green, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown of yellow taffeta was fashioned with a light fitting bodice with Peter Pan collar. Mrs. Betty Barron and Mrs. Dorothy Bronawaska served as bridesmaids. They wore gowns of pale green and lavender taffeta, respectively, fashioned like the matron of honor's. All three attendants wore mits of net, with matching ruffled cuffs, and carried colonial bouquets.

Karen Sue Gerhardstein, niece of the bride, and Pattie Bernier, flower girls, wore floor-length white gowns and headpieces styled like the bride's. They carried baskets of mixed flowers.

Chet Bronawaska was best man. Carlton Blackman and Don Mercer of Howell ushered the guests to their seats.

Mrs. Gerhardstein chose a navy crepe dress with lace yoke and a navy hat for her daughter's wedding. She wore a shoulder corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Rohde also wore navy blue, with a corsage like Mrs. Gerhardstein's.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Leo V. Gerhardstein cut and served the decorated wedding cake. Mrs. William Dunavin and Mrs. Fred Atkinson poured the punch. Mrs. Robert Rohde and Dorothy Harris served the groom's cake and ice cream.

Out-of-town guests were from Saginaw, Ann Arbor, Howell, South Lyon, Brighton and Toledo, Ohio.

For going away Mrs. Rohde wore a gray suit with white accessories. She pinned a corsage of white roses to the shoulder of her suit. Following a brief honeymoon the Rohdes will live at 5905 East Grand River, Howell.

Mrs. Rohde is employed at King-Seely Corporations. Mr. Rohde works for Argus, Inc., in Ann Arbor.

Ankney-Johnson Vows Solemnized Saturday Noon

Carol Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of Route 1, East Lansing, became the bride of Dale Ankney Saturday at noon. The wedding was at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley B. Ankney, Sr., at 621 East Randolph street.

Rev. Herbert Thomas, pastor of North Street Nazarene church in Lansing, performed the ceremony in the presence of 40 relatives. Mrs. Thomas played the wedding march.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Robert Bolke of East Lansing, wore a yellow taffeta street dress with white accessories. Miss Ella Mae Johnson of East Lansing, who served as her sister's bridesmaid, wore an aqua taffeta dress with white accessories. Harley B. Ankney, Jr., was his brother's best man.

A reception was held at the Ankney home following the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake, ice cream, sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. Austin Frye, Mrs. Maude Hardy and Mrs. Donald Frye.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Ankney are residing at their home on Stowell road, East Lansing.

Mrs. Florence Miller of the Ingham county library is to members of the Mason Women's club at their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. She gave reviews of religious books for both children and adults, which are available at the library.

Mrs. Elwood G. Millard and Mrs. Roger Kiewit, accompanied by Mrs. Russell McBride, sang several songs.

Mrs. Alton J. Stroud was program chairman. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. D. R. Lethbridge, Mrs. F. A. Carrier, Sr., Mrs. A. V. Smith and Mrs. N. P. Hinkley. They served refreshments of tea and decorated cakes from a table centered with an arrangement of spring flowers.

P. T. A. Hears Recreation Talk

The next meeting, which will be held May 14, is the annual meeting of the P. T. A. All officers and chairmen of committees will give reports and new officers for next year will be installed. Students in the speech department are preparing a skit for the meeting.

Saturday Nuptials Unite Couple

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND L. SNIDER

Miss Nancy Jean Spenny and Raymond L. Snider spoke their marriage vows Saturday evening, April 7, at 8:00 p. m. First Presbyterian church in Mason was the scene of the double-ring ceremony. Rev. Paul Arnold, pastor of the church, performed the rites before an altar banked with palms and baskets of white gladioli and pink snapdragons.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Spenny of 527 Hall Boulevard, Mason, are the bride's parents. Raymond is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Snider of Route 3, Mason.

Harry Spenny, brother of the bride, and William Campbell, cousin of the bride, lighted the branch candelabra.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Elwood G. Millard sang "Because," and "Through the Years." As the couple knelt at the altar she rendered "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. N. S. Davis accompanied Mrs. Millard. She also played traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white satin gown with a chapel-length train. The dress was styled with a ruffled neckline with seed pearl trim; extending from the shoulders to the waist in a V. Seed pearl trim also extended from the waist to an insert of white marquisette at the hem. A white Juliet cap with net and seed pearl trim held in place her white illusion veil edged with lace. Nancy carried a white prayer book topped with a cluster of orchids and ivy.

Joan M. Parsons, friend of the bride, was maid of honor. With her gown of pale orchid net she wore a matching net stole and mits. She carried an arrangement of white sweetpeas, pink roses and violets.

Colleen Baker and Janice Ranney of Lansing, cousins of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They wore matching taffeta dresses of lavender and lilac, respectively. They also wore stoles and mits to match their dresses and carried colonial bouquets of white roses, purple violets and ivy. All three attendants wore headaddresses styled like the bride's, to match their dresses.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Lyle Snider, to be best man. James Snider and Gerald Snider of Reed City, cousins of the bridegroom, and Pfc. Richard Spenny of San Antonio, Texas, cousin of the bride, ushered the guests to their seats.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Spenny selected a mauve dress with navy accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of sweetpeas and rosebuds. Mrs. Snider's dress was navy blue. She used pink accessories and wore a corsage like Mrs. Spenny's.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple greeted their guests at a reception in the church parlors. Miss Betty Hinkle rejected the wedding guests.

A three-tiered cake topped with a wedding bell centered with sweetpeas was served from a white linen-covered table. Layered sweetpeas and similar were garnished around the base of the cake which was flanked with crystal candelabra on either side.

Miss Mary Menovise cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Norman Jeffrey served the groom's cake. Miss Betty Snider, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Joyce Ellison, presided at the punch bowl. Miss Alberta Adams and Miss Arlene Crosby served the ice cream.

Out-of-town guests came from Grand Rapids, Reed City, Me. Pleasant, Houghton, Lake, Lansing, Diamond and Holt.

After the reception the couple left for Flint where they spent the week end. For traveling Mrs. Snider chose an aqua and grey checked suit with navy accessories.

Supervisors Decide Big Issues

Ingham supervisors went on record again Tuesday as favoring immediate construction of the St. Lawrence waterway. They passed the measure once before.

Supervisor C. G. Card of East Lansing suggested that congressmen be better situated than Ingham supervisors to pass on the merits of the seaway. The resolution to start the seaway was adopted, however, on voice vote. There were a few who voted in the negative.

It was Supervisor Card's contention that the legislature and congress have their own duties to perform and so does the county board of supervisors. He intimated that the supervisors should handle county business and permit the legislature to handle state business and congress to take care of national and international affairs. But he found himself in the minority.

The supervisors approved adoption of House Bill No. 107 which will permit judges of probate and members of their staffs to help in the making out of forms. A circuit court has recently held that a member of a probate judge's staff or the judge himself can not legally advise on the making out or filing of forms.

Also approved was a resolution requested by Keewenaw county supervisors to have tax delinquent land revert to counties instead of the state. Another Keewenaw resolution asking for abandonment of the system of having state hunters working against wolves and coyotes and doubling bounties paid private trappers was not considered Tuesday. A similar resolution was adopted by the Ingham supervisors several months ago. The Ingham board concurred in a resolution requested by Van Buren county. It asked for legislation permitting villages to spend money on maintaining cemeteries in townships outside the village limits.

Another resolution sought by Rep. Allison Green of Tuscola county would block action on calling a constitutional convention at the present time. Action on the resolution was held up to permit members of the legislative committee, headed by Supervisor Fred L. Krieger, to make further study. In a letter to the Ingham board, Green warned that sponsors of a new constitution seek to wipe out the 15-mill amendment and the sales tax diversion measure, and to centralize state and county government, probably by abandoning township government.

County Clerk C. Ross Hilliard voiced opposition to the calling of a constitutional convention now. He said that the cry for a new constitution is being made by theorists who know nothing about governmental needs and functions. A resolution was adopted covering the filing of the Delhi township zoning ordinance.

A resolution of respect for the services of former Supervisor Hugh W. Silsby, Sr., was also adopted.

Girl's Parents See Slayers Sentenced

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Drown of Stockbridge were in court in Kalamazoo Tuesday when the slayers of their daughter were sentenced. Judge Lucien Sweet sentenced Rae Lee Olson and Velorus Matheis of Vicksburg to life terms in prison.

Olson and Matheis were convicted of the rape-slaying of Carolyn Drown last November 26. The Stockbridge girl was a student at Western Michigan college of education at Kalamazoo. During a blizzard the two farm youths grabbed the girl as she was walking from an off-campus restaurant to her dormitory. Her body was discovered under a snowdrift a week later.

A Ludington farmer's tip led to the arrest of the slayers in January. The farmer had overheard the pair making veiled allusions to a crime.

Million Dollars Spent for Roads in Ingham County

Ingham county invested $1,047,305.81 in its highway system in 1950. The financial report was filed with the board of supervisors Tuesday.

All of the money came from the automobile weight tax, the gasoline tax and other state and federal sources. Property owners paid no direct tax.

The net receipts of $954,183.34 included $609,035.60 in weight and gasoline tax on automobiles, $44,147.07 in state McNitt mill money for former township roads, $124,113.37 in state trunkline maintenance refunds, $19,993.97 in Consumers Power road repair payments, $15,345.82 in special federal aid for Pennsylvania Avenue extension, and $34,845.70 in township matching money.

Local Units Share
In addition, the road commission received and immediately distributed $364,655.54 in automobile weight and gas tax money to cities and villages. Out of the total Lansing got $311,624.37. Shares of other units were: East Lansing, $25,106.07; Mason, $11,244.75; Williamston, $6,742.77; Leslie, $11,35,068.71; Stockbridge, $3,371.39; Webberville, $2,010.01; and Danville, $1,288.77.

Major items in the county disbursement column included $115,151.35 for state trunk line maintenance, $81,393.62 for new equipment, $168,604.78 for county road construction, $101,597.77 for township road construction, $288,274.55 for county road maintenance, and $297,804.16 for township road maintenance.

State maintenance averaged $1,152.01 per mile in 1950. The most expensive was US-16 concrete, where costs were $1,518.66 per mile.

County maintenance averaged $787.85 per mile, with blacktop in the Lansing suburban section costing $3,123.44. In the Mason area the cost per mile was $785.52. Township maintenance ran $400.17 per mile.

Want More Money
In concluding their report the county road commissioners, L. D. Duncel, Roy B. Moore and Guy C. Hull, declared, "The need for reconstruction of the county highway system far exceeds the funds available to do an acceptable or reasonably adequate job for the public."

"Roads and bridges are wearing out faster than we can replace them," and to this is added the problem of ever-increasing requests for more and better service. We earnestly hope that the state legislature will find it possible to provide additional funds required.

"Costs for maintaining our present roads are prohibitive, and the only solution appears to be that a higher standard of construction be undertaken as soon as possible, to provide satisfactory and safe highways for the ever-increasing volume of highway traffic."

In commenting on the investment in new equipment, the commissioners pointed out that with new purchases and overhauling of other equipment, the road commission will be able to operate under three or four years of emergency conditions without serious trouble.

Park Costs Show
Ingham county's road commissioners also serve as the park board.

The seven county parks cost $15,669.36 to maintain last year. Costs as reported were: Rayner park, Mason, $3,193.70; Ferguson, Okemos, $1,605.05; McCormack, Williamston, $4,411.24; Baldwin, Onondaga, $742.53; Lake Lansing, $1,781.00; Webberville, $148.54; and Russell park, Leslie, $1,647.96.

Official Reports Record Business

More business by far was handled in 1950 than in any previous year, reported Mrs. Ethel L. Phillips, register of deeds, Tuesday. There were 7,856 deeds and 3,915 mortgages recorded plus 17,313 chattel mortgages placed on record. In all, there were 39,790 transactions recorded.

For recording the instruments the county took in $32,626.55. Office expense amounted to $22,356.40, leaving a net income to the county of $10,570.15, Mrs. Phillips revealed.

Vault space has become a problem, the register of deeds said. More records have been filed in the last 20 years, she added, than were filed during the first 95 years of the office.

Mrs. Phillips pointed out that microfilming may be an answer. By microfilming, she said, many of the voluminous records could be done away with. Microfilming would also permit the county to have a reserve set of records should fire strike, if the reserve set were contained in a fireproof vault away from the court house, the register of deeds pointed out.

It will take legislative enactment to have microfilming of land records admitted as evidence in court, Mrs. Phillips indicated.

Most of the recording in the Ingham office is now done by photostat, but microfilming has not been legalized.

Over 10,000 cities carry out spring clean-up programs each year.

Leaves Undergoes Surgery

Clarence Howes of Lansing, formerly of Mason, underwent surgery at the Veterans hospital in Dearborn Monday. He went to the Dearborn hospital last month after treatment in a Lansing hospital. On Wednesday his condition was reported as being satisfactory.

Farmer Puts Out Blaze in Brooder

Home fire extinguishers paid off for Kenneth Bibbins at the corner of Holt and Every roads Saturday evening. Fire fed from a leaking oil line in the brooder house was eating into the floor. Bibbins used one container of powder and another of liquid. He had the fire out when the Mason department arrived.

Had the fire gained headway in the building which housed the brooder, it might have spread to the big barn, firemen said.

Early Saturday afternoon firemen made a run to the George Batleshaw house on Kelly road. Fire which started in dry grass spread over a wide area.

Rochester Paper Lads' Peg-Leg

"Peg-Leg" has become "hust" reading in the Middlesex valley of New York, according to the book review section of the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Roy W. Adams of Mason is the author of "Peg-Leg." The first scene in the book is laid in the Middlesex valley. A relative of the author presented a volume to the Middlesex Valley Central high school library at Rushville. "Peg-Leg" is the chief character in the book. He comes with other early settlers to Detroit and then on up into Ingham. The final chapters concern the hero's exciting adventures in the Ingham area.

The first edition is nearing exhaustion, the Mason author stated, and arrangements are being made for a second printing.

Hospital Chief To Give Lecture

Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent at Northville state hospital, will be the speaker at the fourth in a series of public lectures sponsored by the Ingham county chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Hygiene and the mental health committee of the Ingham County Council of Social Welfare.

Dr. Brown's subject will be "Emotional Problems After Fifty." He received his B. S. and M. D. degrees at the University of Michigan and interned at St. Luke's hospital in Cleveland. Since 1935 he has been associated with Ypsilanti state hospital.

This lecture will be held in the auditorium of the Lansing YWCA Tuesday, April 24 at 8 p. m.

Big Oil Company Promotes Brown

Russell M. Brown, formerly of Mason, has been made a vice-president of Bahrain Petroleum Company. The Bahrain Petroleum company is jointly owned by the Standard Oil Co. of California and the Texas Co.

Bahrain Petroleum company operates one of the world's largest refineries. It is in the Bahrain Islands, which are in the Persian Gulf. Brown has been general manager of the company. He went to Bahrain 14 years ago from El Paso when the Bahrain refinery was built following discovery of the oil pool there.

Whether or not Mr. and Mrs. Brown will remain on Bahrain has not been determined. The company maintains its offices in New York and London.

Announcement of the elevation of Brown to the vice-presidency was made in a telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Brown, Wednesday.

Russell Brown was graduated from Mason high school in 1922. He started work with Pasotex, a Standard Oil of California subsidiary, in 1928.

One daughter, Mrs. Louis Bozek, resides in Manila, P. I., where her husband is employed by an oil company. Another daughter Joanna is an American Air Lines hostess, based at LaGuardia airport in New York. A son, Russell, is a student at Michigan State college.

Probation Given Charles Hemans In Bribery Case

After a delay of 11 months, Judge Herman Dehnke of Harrisville sentenced Charles F. Hemans of Mason Tuesday. The Mason man, who had pleaded guilty to a bribery charge, was placed on probation for five years and was ordered to pay court costs of $1,000.

The specific charge resulted from Hemans' plea of guilt to offering a bribe to former Rep. George O. Harma of Atlantic Mines back in 1941.

Hemans was the star witness in the Cass-Sigler grand jury probe and the court trials which followed. He was granted immunity by Judge Carr to partially pay him to testify against legislators and bribe-payers. Hemans was also carried on the grand jury payroll, it was revealed later.

Hemans was not granted immunity by Judge Louis E. Coash when the judge succeeded Judge Carr, nor a supreme court justice. Judge Coash also cut Hemans from the payroll.

In Lansing Tuesday Judge Dehnke said the long delay in sentencing Hemans was because time was needed to investigate the Mason man's income tax reports. Under the terms of his probation, Hemans will not be permitted to leave the state without permission of probation officers.

Librarians Give To UN Book Fund

The Lansing Library club contributed $22.50 toward the CARE-UNESCO Children's Book Fund, at its meeting April 6, announced Dorothy Rozek, chairman. The Lansing Library club is made up of the staffs of the Lansing public library, the Michigan state library, Michigan State college library, and the Ingham county library. The meeting was held at Peoples church, East Lansing. The East Lansing Public Library entertained the group.

CARE-UNESCO Book Fund is sponsored by the American Library Association, National Council of Parents and Teachers, and the Association for Childhood Education. Through this fund packages of children's books are sent to children all over the world.

This action was taken after Alvin Bennett, a member of the Michigan UNESCO Council, showed a film and discussed the United Nations with the group. He placed special emphasis on the work of UNESCO. Bennett encouraged the group to spread the ideals of UNESCO, urged membership in the Michigan UNESCO Council and promotion of the CARE-UNESCO book fund.

ARCHERY CLUB MEETS
The Mason Archery club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Montie Woodard Saturday evening. After movies of hunting in Africa and Alaska were shown, Mrs. Woodard and Mrs. Wallace Bailey served refreshments. The next meeting will be May 5 with Mrs. Austin Frye and Mrs. Harley B. Ankney, Sr., as co-hostesses.

Don Curry in Fremont

Don Curry is in Fremont this week doing research study connected with Michigan State college. Curry is on a three-months leave of absence from his duties as county agricultural agent. Next week he will be in Petosky.

Blowout Causes Car to Overturn

Leonard English of Mason escaped unhurt from a crash that wrecked his car Saturday night.

English was driving north on Meridian road three-quarters of a mile north of M-36 when his left rear tire blew out, he told officers. The car left the highway, rambled along for 200 feet out of control and then struck a tree. It bounced back from the tree, and overturned. English was shaken up and slightly bruised.

Rural Mail Boxes Need Attention, Carriers Assert

Mason rural mail carriers are calling attention to the need for patrons to put mail boxes in good condition.

Rural mail boxes which are not properly erected or which are not in good serviceable condition retard the delivery of mail and expose it to damage from the elements, carriers pointed out.

Here are some suggestions which carriers offer to patrons: Names of box owners should be inscribed on the sides of the boxes visible to the carriers as they approach.

Boxes and supports should be kept painted.

Patrons who have unapproved boxes of top-opening, revolving-door or other types are not required to discard them, provided the boxes have been in use by the present owners for several years and are maintained in good, serviceable condition.

Any boxes not of the present standard type which are of such design that they can not be properly served by the carrier from his vehicle or are in such condition as not to protect the mail should be replaced with boxes of the approved types.

Boxes, regardless of type, should be of such design and such condition that there will be no likelihood of the carrier being injured when serving them.

The postmaster general has proclaimed the week ending May 5 as rural mailbox improvement week.

Mason Is Next for Full TB Protection

Health agencies have launched a program to stamp out tuberculosis completely in this county. The work is well under way in Lansing. Last week the program was taken to Williamston. Mason and the surrounding area is next.

Here is WHY it is needed:

You may look healthy and feel healthy, yet you can still have Tuberculosis in its early stage—the stage in which the germs can be headed off.

Tuberculosis is catching. The only way you can get it is to catch it from someone who has it. You're safe only when your friends and neighbors don't have unsuspected cases of TB.

You're never too old. Elderly people sometimes have TB without being recognized. Only a chest X-ray can show your chest walls.

Be on guard. Be sure. Be safe. Plan now to have all members of your family protected by these tests.

Approved, sponsored and financed by

INGHAM HEALTH DEPARTMENT
INGHAM TB AND HEALTH SOCIETY
INGHAM TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

X-ray Tests Are Free

No charge is made for taking chest X-rays in this county-wide program.

The mobile unit will be brought to Mason. Only a few minutes are needed for the tests. No longer is it necessary for people to undress, or to bare their chests.

It takes only one minute to be sure.

Your Part

In this mass Chest X-Ray campaign is to appear for the test and to urge others to do so. There is no charge.

Farmer Peck's Wife

Elizabeth is in a serious condition. Tractor offers reliable transportation. Susy likes money that rattles.

Elizabeth said a while ago for me not to write so much about her. . . but I write about everyday things that happen around here and how I could not mention her, I don't know.

She is better but the nature of her illness and her temperament and having five kids in school doesn't make her situation an easy one. People are always asking what ails her. Then when I tell them it's high blood pressure they don't get very excited or as though they were enough to make her like this.

The best doctors available have all said, "Hypertension, take it easy, don't get excited." And she has to take a medicine which I can't spell or find in the dictionary but it sounds like "harbathol" which knocks her out for portions of the day and which she will have to take as long as she lives if she lives that long, they conclude.

Two weeks ago she collapsed with a violent headache and pounding in her head and the doctor said it was a brain hemorrhage and she's been tossing in delirium from medicine and pain ever since. Hospitals make her worry, the smell is sickening and away from home is worse so she has been home. Right now she's almost blind, so work we feed her turn her over, do what we can and leave her alone to rest and sleep.

She asked me yesterday what day it was and when I told her April 2 she said, "Weren't we going to go somewhere nice in April? What was it?"

I told her that Grace McKinney invited us over to her place by Pompeii for dinner and to their church society. It is to be a special meeting where each member is to bring a dollar they earned and read a verse on how they earned it. Grace wrote that she was making bread.

Elizabeth said, "Oh, I thought that sounded so nice to go back to Pompeii and always liked Grace all these years. We lived across from them. But I can't go, can I, with two heads like this?"

She has that sensation and sometimes it's three of them.

Next week I'll just comment on her progress and not go on like this but many of you have asked and written about her. She's a part of Farmer Peck's family, too! It's been wonderful having a sister like her and how glad I am that we can be close like this. I've thought so much lately how the Lord had arranged it so I could be near and help out.

Fate or spring mud plays some mean tricks sometimes. We live a mile apart but we've had to go around through Eureka, four miles to get there. Then that end got plugged too so the county came out and dumped in eight loads of gravel and still we couldn't make it. I wanted to phone to see if they would fix our end by the school house but Pete said one end open was enough. But I couldn't get through with a car on either end so I've walked or driven the tractor. . . and looked just like a Plymouth Rock chicken by the time I got there.

Susy goes with me and she cries every time we get to the hole. Her snowsuit is rayon and as slippery as an eel and how I hang on for dear life. Tonight she asked me to let her walk by that mean old mean hole of a hole so I waited while she started out. Down she went and I had to pull her out and what a sight. . . then hold her the rest of the way home. Oh, but she was muddy and her pretty little red suit a mess.

An oilman from Flint had tried to get through this forenoon and I had pulled him out with the tractor. I'm not too good with chains and letting out the clutch easy. . . and without Pete there to yell directions at me I thought it was harder work than hoeing all day. . . but we made it. Pete was at his brother's helping fix the barn. I told him at the supper table that my left leg shook the rest of the day from the ordeal and he looked at me. . . well, I haven't been able to figure out that look yet. I do think though that I'll make a farmer's wife someday! You can't say I'm not trying. . .

We took Mother home to Capac Saturday. She got to coughing and looked bad. I was so frightened but we kept right on getting money and nearer and I was praying. I wondered, "Do I pray this much when everything is going along smoothly?" Well, it made me stop and look at myself. Sometimes we wonder why anyone is sick. Maybe we can't see it then but don't you think we come out of difficult or sorrowful situations the better for it? And we need to be tried and tested and prepared for even greater good and bad things that are coming.

Susy was four years old Saturday. Mother gave her a dollar for her new red pocketbook and then instead of spanking her and using up strength she didn't have she gave her four pennies. Then she gave her another five grow on and one more to be good on. Susy, the little monkey, thought more of the pennies than she did the paper money and would have traded it for 10 pennies from Sally. Later I heard her telling that she liked rattling money. Her friends like more even if it isn't. . .

More even if it isn't. . . how time flies! Pete and I would like to keep her little and cuddly like this just like all parents do when they know they can't ever have any more babies of their own. Of course, you don't really want them to stay little. It's just that they are so cute and so much fun at this age or smaller. Once they get into school and how they change—they're not your babies any more.

Our movie camera has captured many of these moments. . . A paper picture can never half show the real little girl but we wouldn't take anything for them. And I want to thank you readers again for making that possible. If you wouldn't have read this you wouldn't have had been no movie camera.

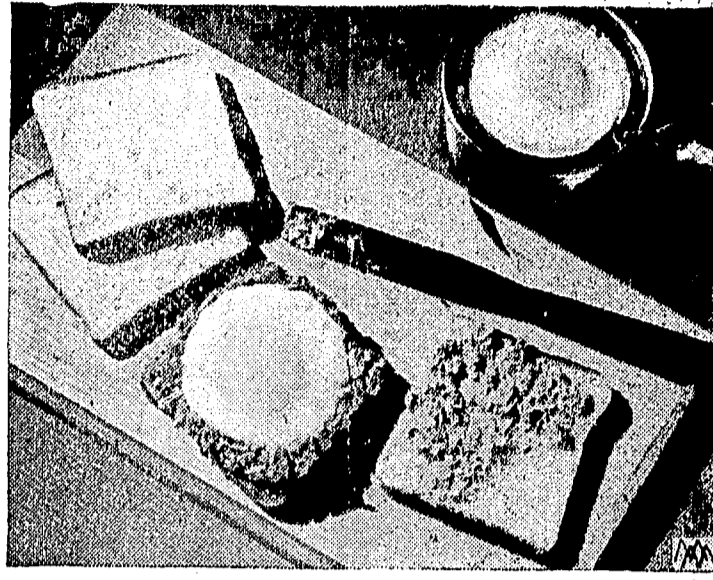

I hope we got a very pleasant occasion recorded that happened Sunday. It was Pete's folks celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. There were 70 close relatives present: seven children, 21 grand children, Aunt Lella and a cousin of Dad and their family. Their big house almost burst at the seams but what a good time we had. The children gave their folks a desk and best of all I know that through the years none of them have caused their mother and father any big heartaches.

In spite of the depression and having two or three children in high school at one time they put five through. The children were taught to work and save and be honest. There is a close family tie that knits us together in a feeling of warmth and love. I'm proud to be a part of the Peck family!

Spring is clean-up time—time to clean out the hazards around the farmstead which might cause injury, loss of time, or even disaster.

Michigan State college farm safety specialists say that unused windmills and old buildings should be dismantled before they fall and cause serious injuries.

POACHED EGG ON HAM TOAST

For any meal of the day, this would be a welcome dish. With a new emphasis on the necessity of more adequate breakfasts, this will be a variant of the ham and eggs; at luncheon time, a busy homemaker will find it quick and easy to prepare for the children coming in from school; at dinner, served with vegetables, beverage and dessert, it will form a nourishing main dish.

- 2 tablespoons shortening or margarine
- 1 1/2 teaspoons flour
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 1/2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 cup enriched, cooked ham
- 6 slices ground bread
- 6 poached eggs

Melt shortening in a saucepan. Blend in flour, mustard and horseradish. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add ham and cook for an additional two minutes. Toast one slice of bread under a preheated broiler (375° F.). Spread untoasted side with ham mixture. Return to broiler for two minutes. To serve: top each slice of Ham Toast with a poached egg.

To Poach Eggs: Break each egg into a cup. Slip into a skillet or shallow pan two-thirds full of simmering salted water. Add 1/2 teaspoon of salt for each 2 cups of water used. Be sure eggs are not crowded in the pan and that there is enough water to cover. Cover and cook gently to the desired degree of firmness. For soft poached eggs, cook for three to five minutes. Lift eggs from water with a draining spoon and place immediately on hot Ham Toast. (Note: If egg whites appear thin and runny, 3/4 teaspoon of vinegar or lemon juice added to each cup of water used will keep them from spreading). Yield: 6 Poached Eggs on Ham Toast.

Careful Planting Increases Crop

Vegetables have a definite preference as to spacing and depth of planting. Many gardeners sow too much seed and place it too deep. For handy reference, the table indicates for a number of vegetables (planted in May in the central part of the United States) the number of seeds required for one foot of row and the best depth for planting.

Crop	Depth to Cover—Inches	Seeds for One Foot of Row—No.
Pole Beans	1 1/2	4
String Beans	1/2	5
Beets	3/4	6
Carrots	1/2	20
Chard	3/4	4
Corn	1 1/2	2
Lettuce	1/2	10
Radishes	1/2	15
Squash	1	10

The planting depths recommended are for good, loamy garden soils. If your soil is heavier; that is, if it contains more clay, the seed should be sown somewhat shallower than indicated. On the very light sandy soils, they should be sown deeper. In general, seeds should be sown only deep enough to insure that they lie in soil that is moist and are covered deep enough that they will not be splashed out by an ordinary rain.

Before preparing the seed bed, broadcast complete plant food at the rate of three pounds per 100 square feet, then work this in by spading, hoeing and raking until the soil presents a fine, smooth, clod-free surface. In making rows about one-quarter to one-half inch deep for planting small seeds, the end of a handle of a rake or hoe may be drawn through the soil along the string that marks the row. For larger seeds that are to be planted an inch or more deep, the row is best opened up with the corner of a common hoe. With a little practice, you can make a bed of uniform and proper depth. Irregular depth or covering often causes an irregular stand of plants. Carefully cover the seeds, firming but not packing the soil, with a rake or hoe.

If your soil tends to pack down or form a crust that may interfere with the seedlings coming through, you should mulch the covered row lightly with peat moss, leaf mold or similar fine moisture holding material. A band of this three to four inches wide and one-half inch deep is sufficient.

Remember that thinning is very important in obtaining high quality vegetables. Beets should be thinned to three inches apart, carrots to two inches, onions three inches, and radishes one inch. These distances will allow plenty of room in the soil for root crops to develop into good sized, tasty vegetables that you can be proud of.

CANNED APPELPUCE
Canned applesauce is plentiful on grocery shelves these days, thanks to last fall's large pack. It's easy to vary the flavor so that it won't be monotonous even when served often. Give it a lift with a little grated orange or lemon rind, spice it with nutmeg or cinnamon, or add tartness with lemon juice. To make it a bit thinner and also sweeter, add honey. Serve it hot one day and cold the next. Hot spiced applesauce makes good company for pork. Hot or cold, applesauce goes well with gingerbread or spice cake. Try hot applesauce with grated cheese on top.

Cereal Products Are Big Part of Average Budget

If you wanted to serve cake for less, would the best buy be a "ready mix" bakery cake, or home baking? For an economical breakfast would you choose an uncooked wheat cereal or oatmeal?

Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist at Michigan State college, reminds us that cereal products account for about 11 per cent of the average family food budget—the average family food budget—of a home. Most of the uncooked cereals, they ranged from 12 cents a pound for oatmeal to 17 1/2 cents for a popular wheat cereal—a difference of about half a cent per serving.

The price range in the ready-to-eat cereals varied from 21 to 32 cents a pound—a difference of about one cent per serving. A serving of the higher priced ready-to-eat cereals would cost up to 2 1/2 cents more than a low cost uncooked cereal like oatmeal.

Another saving can usually be made by buying the larger packages of many items whenever storage space is available.

As for economy in the bakery vs. ready mix cakes question, we can take our choice. Bakery cakes averaged from 41 to about 60 cents a pound, the mixes from 28 to 40 cents a pound. But many of the mixes require addition of ingredients, such as milk or eggs, which adds to the cost. By the time cost of baking and frosting are added the ready mix cake is as expensive as the bakery cake.

The least expensive cakes, of course, are those made at home. Homemakers who have the time can turn out a home-made cake about 28 cents a pound with an average recipe—a saving of about one-third.

Bread, however, can be bought for little more than the cost of ingredients and fuel required for home baking. Here, home baking is largely a matter of preference with those who appreciate the flavor and aroma of the home-baked loaf.

Miss Bodwell advises buying only enriched or whole-grain breads. The B vitamins, found in greatest abundance in our grain products, are necessary for healthy nerves. Bread made from enriched flour has been re-supplied with the vitamins lost in milling and bleaching processes. Uncooked and ready-to-eat cereals are also often enriched. Look for that information on the package label.

Cereal foods of all kinds are the source of our greatest supply of calories, about a third of the protein in our diet, iron, niacin, thiamine, riboflavin and some minerals.

Food Expert at Albion

Miss Dorothy Gill, director of home economics for Albion College, will be heard in the Albion college chapel in Albion on Thursday afternoon, April 19, at 2:30 in a program entitled "The Home Economist in Food Manufacturing."

Miss Gill, who is known nationally as "Mary Hale Martin," will give a salad demonstration and follow it with a description of the work of the home economics department of Albion, McNeill & Libby. The much talked-of colored slide film "Spotlight on Careers," which was produced by the Home Economics in Business association of Chicago, will also be shown.

While home economics teachers and students from the southeastern Michigan area have received special invitations to this lecture and demonstration, Albion college wishes all others who are interested to attend without admission charges.

Miss Gill, who has been with Libby's as their "Mary Hale Martin" since 1940, is a graduate of

Apples, Oranges Favorite Fruits Of Homemakers

Apples and oranges appear to be the favorite fruits of most U. S. homemakers, according to a sample survey of consumer preferences, reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. About 80 per cent of the women interviewed said they preferred one fruit to all others, and of these, one in three favored apples and about the same proportion favored oranges. The survey was made to help producers know what consumers want in order to market their fruit to best advantage.

Apple crops have been larger in recent years, but as more apples have been produced, more have gone unused. For example, the commercial apple crop in 1949 amounted to about 133 million bushels, and 10 1/2 million bushels were not harvested because of low prices. The sale of apples has been handicapped because fewer have been exported in recent years yet imports of other fruits have been increasing.

women interviewed for preferring apples were: taste, usefulness, versatility and health. Most women said they bought apples once or twice a month. More eating apples and general-purpose apples were bought than baking or cooking apples. Typical purchases of special type apples were: 10 pounds of eating apples; 10 pounds of general-purpose apples; seven pounds of cooking apples; and four pounds of baking apples. Prices paid were from 10 to 13 cents a pound. More than half the women said they would have bought more if prices had been three to four cents at the University of Nebraska, pound lower.

Stairways and ladders should be checked and kept in good repair.

TODAY'S meditation
The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

"When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory." (Colossians 3:4.) Read Philippians 3:7-16.

Paul tells us how Christ lives among us. First in importance is to have Christ Himself live in our own individual hearts. Christians have new life because they have died with Jesus and have risen again with Him in the resurrection of life. Paul himself said he had no life in himself, but that Christ lived in him.

Paper factories gather rags and torn paper, mix them together, and the machinery turns out beautifully, clean sheets of paper. Christ takes our broken, useless lives and makes them over into chosen vessels for His use. He gives us new life.

It is eternal life begun here when in faith we look above and see the mansions built there for us and furnished with everything we need, where thieves do not break through and steal and where moth and rust do not corrupt. Our Christian hope is that someday we shall live there with Christ our Lord.

PRAYER
Our Father in heaven, Creator of our lives, we thank Thee for salvation in Jesus our Saviour. We of ourselves cannot go forward in this life. Help us, then, to come to Thee for strength. We commit our lives to Thee. Be Thou our Guardian, now and evermore. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
If I commit my earthly life to the Lord, I receive life everlasting.

Pastor Expresses Thanks
Now that we can begin to breathe properly after settling in Mason during the busiest season of the church year, I would like to express to you my deep appreciation for the splendid publicity given to the First Presbyterian church in your paper on the occasion of the erection of its edifice. It helped to make the occasion a great day in our lives. The nature of the articles suggested that our Presbyterian church is really more than a denominational enterprise—and that spirit of the churches and pastors in the community confirm that idea. Your "job" was "well done."

Elder Krietzky Visits in Mason

Elder and Mrs. M. S. Krietzky of Belleville visited Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Gretton Sunday afternoon. Elder Krietzky is a linguist and lecturer, in addition to holding three pastorates in the Detroit area.

At the close of World War II he received the commission from the general conference of Seventh Day Adventists in Washington, D. C. to spend seven months behind the Iron Curtain inspecting and supervising the distribution of the hundreds of tons of food and clothing sent there by Seventh Day Adventist churches in America.

These gifts were distributed to fellow sufferers in other protestant denominations and Catholics, as well as Seventh Day Adventists. His headquarters were at Warsaw, Poland.

Mrs. Krietzky is a registered nurse and has returned recently from the Kathryn Reynolds health studio in Bridalveil, Oregon, where she took intensive training in special methods of treating certain chronic disorders, preparatory to supervising sanitarium procedure.

M. E. A. Picks New President

Russell H. Wilson, superintendent of schools, Alpena, was elected president of the Michigan Education Association for 1951-52 at the annual M. E. A. Representative Assembly in Lansing April 6.

Wilson, vice-president of the M. E. A. for the past two years, has been a teacher in Michigan for 27 years. He was a high school teacher in Manistique, 1923-25; principal of Manistique high school, 1925-35; principal of Alpena high school, 1935-36, and has been superintendent of schools at Alpena, since 1936. A native of Traverse City, he was graduated from Alma college in 1923 and received his master of arts degree from the University of Michigan in 1930.

Dr. E. C. Beck, head of the English department at Central Michigan college of education was elected president-elect of the Michigan Education Association, to serve as president in 1952-53. Dr. Beck was chairman of the M. E. A. public relations commission, since 1943, and a member of the M. E. A. finance and membership commission, 1940-41. He also served as chairman of the public relations committee, M. E. A. department

Russell H. Wilson of classroom teachers. He was earlier associated with colleges in Nebraska, Florida, Montana, Wyoming, Tennessee, and Colorado.

Green Replacing Red On Consumer's Autos

Red will no longer be used to distinguish Consumers Power company cars and trucks. A special green has been chosen. The change was made because red soon fades.

The change from red to green will be gradual. Red cars will be continued in use until they need repainting when the change will be made to green. All new cars and trucks will be finished in the new shade, company officials announced.

For a delicious supper casserole, mix cubed corned beef with cooked vegetables and white sauce, then top with baking powder biscuits and bake in a hot oven until biscuits are done.

Book Talk

from Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library, Mason, daily, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, 2-5 p. m.; Saturday, 10-12; during school year, Tuesday, Friday, noon, 5:00-10:00 P. M.

DISCHANCEPATED, by Budd Schulberg, is the story of Monley Halliday, a prominent figure in the fabulous days of the twenties. With a glamorous wife, wealth, fame and an artistic gift, he was "sitting on top of the world." But, 10 years later, Halliday's world crashed, and we see him in the thirties, broke and broken, and nearly forgotten, desperately struggling for survival and regeneration. The story is seen through the eyes of a product of the thirties with whom he is collaborating. Although a tragic story, it is told with sympathy. It is considered one of the 50 best books of the year.

LOVED AND ENVIED by Enid Bagnold will be of interest because it is by the author of NATIONAL VELVET, but there all similarity stops. This is not a children's story, and we think will appeal to a limited adult audience. It is well written, but the story is slow paced, and rather indirect. The novel has for its central figure a woman of 52. She and her circle are bound together by birth, talent and social level. All have had their adventures, but now they are merged into one. The heroine, Lady MacLennan, is still the only woman in the room anyone looks at. One never sees her at close-up, but always through the eyes of some of her friends and enemies. The scene moves from London to Jamaica, to Scotland and finally to Paris.

LETTER TO A CHILD is another rather different story. It is built on the letters which a mother writes to her unborn child. She is an artist by profession, but the story is that of a warm human being, trying to explain something of herself to the child. It is charming and thought-provoking.

MR. LINCOLN'S ARMY by Bruce Catton is the story of the famous army of the Potomac, during the early years of the Civil War, when it was under the command of dashing General George B. McClellan. The things that made him and broke him were that he and the country became obsessed with the idea that he was divinely chosen as the instrument of the Republic's salvation. However, he made two mistakes. He failed to understand the president's problems with respect to the army, and he gave weight to a caution which finally put a tragic period to his military career. The men especially interested in Civil War stories will enjoy this.

Scouters Plan Mason Meeting

Scouts from the Ingham district of Chief Okemos Council will meet at Camp Ki-Kon-ah next Thursday night to elect officers. The election will come after a potluck supper.

Girls "Mix It Up" in New Western at the Fox

Something new in magazine background stories for the screen is offered by Universal-International's "Shakedown," which will be shown at the Fox on Saturday.

Howard Duff's portrayal is that of a renegade free-lance photographer who uses not only his camera but anyone who is handy, in his conscienceless climb toward what he considers the heights.

Brian Donlevy has the role of racketeer and underworld power who is exterminated by a rival mobster, played by Lawrence Tierney.

Special Feature "The M-G-M Story," which will be shown at the Fox Theatre Saturday, is a fascinating compilation of the studio's new product for 1951. Shown for the first time at the Theatre Owner's Association convention in Houston, Texas, in November of 1950, the film was designed to acquaint exhibitors, members of the press and radio, and the M-G-M and Loew's Inc. personnel, both here and abroad, with forthcoming Metro product and its big parade of stars.

So great was the acclaim which greeted this film that a second version of "M-G-M Story" was made. This new version also has Dore Schary both on scene and off scene as narrator, with introduction by Lionel Barrymore.

Twenty-five films, 58 stars, drama, spectacle comedy, music and romance are included in this ambitious undertaking. There are new stories, new ideas, new backgrounds, new personalities in pictures which reflect the quality and tempo of our times.

Universal-International's technical "Frenchie," which opens Sunday at the Fox Theatre, presents Shelley Winters and Joel McCrea at their colorful Western best.

The action-packed story concerns the return of Frenchie Fontaine, played by Shelley Winters, to the scene of her father's murder many years later when she has become a notorious gambling lady. She sets up a fantastic establishment, a combination of saloon and gambling house, as part of her plan to trap the two unknown murderers of her father. How she accomplishes her mission and how she almost involves the sheriff in a slight case of murder is the background of the film.

Shelley Winters and Marie Windsor hit the movie screen as Hollywood's newest glamour gladiators when they stage a knock-down, drag-thriller, "Frenchie," coming to the Fox on Sunday and Monday. Joel McCrea plays opposite Shelley in the new Western which has a strong supporting cast headed by Paul Kelly and Elsa Lanchester.

Marine Heroes "Halls of Montezuma," the Tuesday and Wednesday feature at the Fox concentrates on a platoon of marines to reveal how war affects the individual, his emotions and aspirations.

The central role of platoon lieutenant falls to Richard Widmark. Also prominent are Walter (Jack) Palance, recalled from another Widmark hit, "Panic in the Streets," and Reginald Gardiner, more accustomed to polished comedy than rugged drama. Both count heavily in the series of portrayals of men under stress unfolded by the film. As victims under fire, young Sidp Homeier, Gregory Peck's nemesis in "The Gunfighter," and astute Karl Mallery-comedy at the Fox Theatre, Thursday and Friday which introduces an hilarious new screen team in Marjorie Main, star of the "Ma Kettle" comedies, and James ("Battleground") Whitmore.

Miss Main has never been funnier than in her new role as Hattie O'Malley, who wins a radio quiz contest, sets out for New York to collect her prize money, and finds herself both a murder suspect and amateur detective when she becomes involved in the affairs of James Whitmore, playing John J. Malone, an artful, disreputable, dame-chasing and hilarious criminal.

Hattie, an inveterate reader of crime thrillers, finds herself up to the neck in one when she boards her train and becomes Mr. Malone's confederate in his search for Keppler, a paroled embezzler who has absconded with a hundred-grand, of which $10,000 is Mr. Malone's fee. Among other train passengers interested in locating Keppler are Connie, his alimony-seeking ex-wife; Myron Brynk, his crooked boss; and Tim Marino, investigator for the District Attorney.

Hattie's experiences in the world of crime start out happily when she finds two corpses dumped into her compartment and before the train concludes its Chicago-to-New York run, she has matched her wits against those of the other interested parties to prove herself the smartest crime detector of them all.

Commissioners Have Done Good Job

Nine Mason men have completed the task of drawing up a proposed new charter for the city of Mason. The nine men were chosen by the people at last November's election to study the needs of the city and to write a charter to fit those needs.

Once every week since last November, twice some weeks and three and four times other weeks, the commissioners continued their studies. They went over the present charter. They read charters of other cities. They discussed with present and former city officials what the present charter lacks or what should be added. They tried to find solutions to problems peculiar to Mason. They tried to anticipate future issues which may arise.

Those nine men completed their job Tuesday night when they handed the proposed charter to the city clerk. He must send it on to the governor for his approval. Bearing the governor's stamp of approval, the charter will be returned to Mason to be placed before the people June 12. It is up to the people to accept or reject the charter.

The commissioners by their devotion to duty have carried out the trust imposed in them last fall. They have spent all those hours without drawing a cent in pay. They expected none. They did their work for the good of the city. The charter they have prepared is what they believe the city should have.

Right here is where the responsibility of other citizens begins. Within a few days copies of the proposed new charter will be available. All of us should obtain one of those copies and read it carefully and study it seriously. That charter, if adopted, will be the one that will govern Mason for many years, perhaps for a half-century. The present one was adopted in 1873. The last major change was 20 years ago.

Yes, the commissioners have done a good job. There is only one way to repay them for the services they have rendered the city. That way is for each of us to read the proposed charter, to find out what changes have been proposed, to study out how those changes will affect us and our neighbors.

The commissioners are willing, even anxious, to tell what changes are proposed and why they believe those changes should be made. As individuals they have agreed to address groups large and small to discuss the proposed new charter.

So let's speak up. Let's do as good a job as citizens as the commissioners did in their long study of the charter. Let's ask questions, honest questions, about the new charter. That's the only way we can repay the commissioners for the hours we asked them to spend. That's the only pay they expect. And they are entitled to it.

Legislature Studies Plan To Pay Traffic Injuries

By Vernon J. Brown

Throughout the nation state legislatures are studying into the question of how best to deal with the constantly increasing death and injury toll taken by highway accidents. Some states like Michigan have adopted financial responsibility laws. These have proved not to be enough. Huge sums of public funds are consumed in paying the bills for those who are injured and paying the way for those bereft of parents or left so crippled that they can no longer care for those dependent upon them.

Several years ago Massachusetts passed a compulsory auto insurance law. No other state has followed it. The chief reason for this is the combined efforts of insurance companies who shudder at the thought of governments entering their field.

Insurance Firms Line Up Here in Michigan insurance interests have thus far successfully fought off every attempt to provide substantial funds from which death and injury claims can be paid.

A lot is heard about highway safety. Michigan has a highly paid technical staff working with various branches of highway administration seeking to make highway travel less hazardous. However, much this agency has accomplished, the slaughter of riders and pedestrians goes on.

Ontario Law Imitated A bill has been introduced in the Michigan senate patterned after an Ontario law which collects from each driver licensed a small fee from which injury claims can be paid.

The trouble is, the fee provided for in the bill already introduced is too small to do more than pave the way for some adequate revenues. Twenty-five cents from each licensee once in three years would do no more than tease and irritate the public.

A five per cent increase in license plate fees and set aside would soon create a fund sufficient to pay all legitimate claims and might also pave the way for better highway patrols. Such an increase would put about two million a year into a fund from which all legitimate claims, now a burden upon local government, could be paid and thereby place the cost exactly where it belongs. Once established and having reached a total considered sufficiently large, dividend credits might then be provided for those driving safely and not involved in accidents resulting in either bodily injury or property loss. With stiffened provisions written into our present personal responsibility law, road hazards should be lessened.

Annual Sessions With the amendment providing for annual sessions of the legislature having been adopted, it is likely that a lot of perplexing questions now confronting the 1951 legislature will go over for consideration at next winter's assembly.

This legislature is now well into its fourth month of deliberation. The number of bills which have been enacted into law is small. If the goal now set for adjournment in mid-May is reached, the amount of either legislative legislation which may be hoped for is indeed meager.

The best this legislature can do now is to provide for many study committees to work during the interim half-year following adjournment, these to devote earnest thought to questions which are important to the people of this state.

Among those important questions there is nothing more important than improvement in our laws covering responsibility for injuries arising from motor operation on the public highways and streets.

Palmer and George Lathrop of the Consumers service department went to the Scott home to plug a gas leak. Palmer was using a wrench to tighten the governor when he twisted the fitting off. Gas from the main surged into the house and exploded.

More Than Water Needed

It takes more than water to make a swimming pool. Theories that Mason youngsters could have a natural pool in the Genco gravel pit or the Brickyard pond were exploded by a representative of the state health department last Friday.

Never, and the man said never, would health officials be likely to approve either pool. They might not sit right off, he indicated, but sooner or later, probably sooner, the warning signs would go up.

Both pools were declared to be too turbid and without hope that they could ever be cleared up. The clay bottom at the Brickyard pond and clay in the gravel bottom of the Genco pool cause the turbidity.

Times have changed, the state health department official pointed out, and with the change has come a higher standard of safety and sanitation. Earlier generations may have disported in the Brickyard pond, in Teal's millpond or in gravel pit pools without endangering their health. But germs are more vicious or the youngsters don't possess the immunity which protected their fathers and grandfathers, or something.

The experts are right, of course. Youngsters should not be placed in danger either from treacherous shores, or from muddy or impure water. The good health we boast about today stems from improved public and private sanitation.

More than water is needed for a public swimming pool. The water must be clean and facilities must be provided to keep it clean. That means chlorination.

So if Mason wants a place to swim, an artificial pool appears to be the only answer. An outdoor pool with chlorination plant will cost about $75,000 at the present level of inflation.

That's where the swimming pool issue stands now.

Learning a Lesson

Stockbridge seniors are learning a lesson not found in textbooks. And they will be in a position to teach it to men most in need of learning it.

That lesson being learned is the paying of one's own way.

For three and a half years Stockbridge seniors have been working and saving for their senior trip. They have earned $2,400 with which to finance a trip to Washington.

The Stockbridge seniors are not going to borrow a school bus and just pay for the gasoline they use. They intend to pay their own way on a train. In Washington they plan to visit historic scenes and to meet some of the men and women who are running this nation. It may be that some of the men and women who appear to be obsessed with a theory that Americans want something for nothing will learn a valuable lesson from the trip of the Stockbridge delegation.

Stockbridge seniors and their faculty advisors set out for a serious goal 3 1/2 years ago. They made it. Good!

UMT Right At Home

The best plan for Universal Military Training is one built around the National Guard.

The UMT provision lopped off the draft bill Monday called for an extended period of service in time of peace.

Peacetime military conscription is against the American tradition. It is a wasteful process and it never brought peace to any nation.

A better plan is to provide military training at home, in high school and college R. O. T. C. units and in an expanded National Guard program. Young men could then keep on with their education. They would be instantly available in time of war and if war came they would be as well or better trained than they would have been had they been milling around some army camp for two years.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Dad and my brother Hugh started a Hereford herd last year. They bought heifers and this spring they are being rewarded with calves. The first was born on St. Patrick's Day and was named Pat. A week later the second calf came and it naturally was named Mike. A heifer calf was born election day and Edith chose Electra for a name. The fourth calf was to have been named Recount, but the name was changed Sunday night.

I drove out to the farm along about sundown and peeked into the barnyard to see the three little calves and their misty-eyed mothers. Over in the corner of the yard was a heifer in distress. I notified my father and we were able to get the critter onto her feet and into the delivery room.

Dad is a good man on ordinary deliveries but complications developed. And that's where having good neighbors is the best asset any farmer can have. I sped for Leslie Hodgson's place. He grabbed his can of saline and special ropes and we hurried back. Within five minutes the calf was delivered. Leslie blew down its throat and applied artificial respiration and 30 seconds later the calf's breathing became natural.

For my small part in the proceedings the name of Recount was rubbed out and the new calf was dubbed Lord Nelson.

That's Spring with a capital S on the farm. New calves, new lambs, new pigs, new chicks, new blossoms—new life sprouting everywhere. Oh, the miracle of new life and life renewed. . . the rapture of sunny days and growing things. . . the hope and promise of a new start, a better start.

Humans don't trust their instincts enough. That Hereford heifer relied on instinct. Instinctively she realized her time had come. Somehow without having any pre-natal conferences she did what was expected of her. Without any previous training or study she then climbed to her feet and took care of her calf. And the calf instinctively responded.

That's the miracle of birth and of life. There are athletes among the farmers. They witness miracles all the time.

At church services Sunday morning the pastor backed up his assertion of Infinite Oneness by pointing out that 1 times 1, times 1 on into infinity still comes out 1. But in using less than 1 as multiplier and multiplier, the sum grows smaller. 1/2 by 1/2 by 1/2 equals 1/8, while anything over 1 grows bigger, like 1 1/2 x 1 1/2 equals 3.375. That was to prove, the preacher said, that everything can't be figured out by arithmetic. The example still baffles me.

Mrs. Mathews—Wrap up a box of that stationery left over from Christmas stock and present it to Miss Marianne Rathburn. The opera she and the first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth graders presented Friday night was exceptionally well done. The sixth grade girls—and boys—who took the leads are clever youngsters.

To White Oak Voters: Don't blame Town Clerk Arlo Warfle or Supervisor Fred Marshall for the absence of printed copies of the financial statement at town meeting day. The blame rests squarely on me and my sloppy housekeeping. When the copy was handed to me I placed it on top of a pile of papers on my desk. It must have shuffled down to the bottom because I never saw it again until town meeting day when White Oak officials came in to get the printed statements.

That blunder resulted in immediate reform. I have gone down through the papers to as far back as last August and intend to clean up the rest this week end.

After confessing the blunder perhaps I should rub saline on the sore. L. N. Munroe, supervisor of the tax division for Auditor General John E. Martin, Jr., reported that he and his staff could find not a single mistake in publication of the 1951 tax sale list. The tax sale list ran in the Ingham County News for five weeks in February and March.

It's surprising the business activity there is during early hours. Because I was a witness in circuit court in Lansing on Tuesday afternoon of last week, I fell behind in my work. There were Monday's election returns to decipher and write. So I started action at 4:30 Wednesday morning. I hadn't been at work five minutes before a trucker pulled up at the Al Rice garage across the street to unload four cars. At 4:45 a driver of a tank truck entered the office to telephone Harry Freeman. Harry didn't seem too enthusiastic but he promised to meet the trucker at the Standard Oil tanks in five minutes. At 5:45 two men drove up to study auction bills posted in the window.

On Sunday morning I reported at the office at 6:00 to whip out a few lines. Five minutes later a tourist stopped to inquire where he could buy a quart of milk so he and his wife and children could have a roadside breakfast. I told him to just drive around until he found a milkman. He said his folks were all too hungry to take a chance and would push on to Lansing in the hope of finding a milk man or maid somewhere along the trail.

Thanks to Jack Eames for a gift of oranges and grapefruit he picked with his own two capable hands in Florida last week. He goes south to relax. He does it by riding a tractor for a citrus grower. "I can set doing nothing for about two days, then I want to be doing something," is the way Jack explains it.

The probable pitcher for the game will be one of the following: Bob Thompson, Leroy Brower or Jim Hedglin. The infield will be composed of Paul Oesterle, Leroy Soble, Jack Halbert, Don Douglas, Richard Brooks, Donovan Hayhoe or Larry Graham.

Fighting for outfield positions are Duane Jenks, Leroy Hills, Richard Dockett, Quentin Glynn and Dick Carter. On Thursday, April 19 Okenos will meet Dansville at Dansville for the second game of the season.

Speech Winners Attend Holt Meet

The oratorical declamation contest was held Wednesday afternoon with the following students participating: Janet Wygant, Jack Freeman, Loreen and Darlene Bohnett, Burton Kincaid, Don Erten, George Russell, Phyllis Williams and Mary Ann Minnis.

The winners of this contest were Phyllis Williams, who gave the declamation "Where The Heart Is" and Mary Minnis, who gave "The Jew-International Whipping Boy," first and second places respectively.

Thursday the dramatic declamation contest was held. Those participating were Irene Balmer, Don Williams, Darlene Weldon, Suzanne Thompson, Leora Neu, Evelyn Line, Lyle Weldon, Charles Grutz, Jean Craddock, Joan Craddock and Clarice Nelson. Clarice Nelson's "Danny's Little Tin Soldier" won first place and Joan Craddock won second with "Mary Stuart."

The winners of both contests will participate in the district contest at Holt Thursday. Others who will represent Dansville in the district contest are Carol Starkey in extemporaneous speaking and Don Williams in oratory. Superintendent Searl Briggs and Miss Elsie Cobb acted as judges for all the local contests.

Superstitious Ball Planned for 13th

Friday evening, April 13, is the date the student council has set for the superstitious ball. Gary Cutler's eight-piece orchestra has been engaged for the evening. Besides the students, parents and alumni are invited.

The proceeds from the dance will be used by the student council to print handbooks explaining the rules and traditions of the school for new students. Dancing will begin at 8:00 p. m. and conclude at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy West were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scofield of Leslie.

O. E. S. Holds Card Party
Dansville chapter No. 90 O. E. S. is sponsoring another card party to be held at the town hall next Friday evening, April 20. Playing will begin at 8:00. There will be refreshments. Everyone is invited to attend.

Rev. Whiteman Speaks Sunday

A special service will be held next Sunday evening, April 15, at the Free Methodist church when Rev. G. Edgar Whiteman will be the guest speaker.

A mixed quartet from Spring Arbor Junior college will also be present and will furnish the music. The members of the quartet will have charge of the Young Peoples service at 6:30 p. m.

Rev. Whiteman is dean of men at the college, but previous to his present position was pastor for several years and served as chaplain in Europe during World War II. He was the speaker at the Good Friday service here this year. Everyone is welcome to attend this service.

Spring Concert Will Be April 17

The annual spring concert will be held next Tuesday evening, April 17 at 8:00 in the school gymnasium.

The band, junior high, senior high and grade school choruses will participate. The program will be as follows: "Neapolitan Nights," Louise Perrine and Martha Butler; followed by "Military Escort," "Song of the Rose," "Tea For Two," and "Warming Up," by the band; "Sweet and Low" and "Humperdink's Prayer" will be presented by the junior high chorus; "All Through The Night" will be sung by Lucile Wheeler, Virginia Wilson and Evelyn Townsend, followed by "Cradle Song," "Buttercup," and "Blue Danube" by the grade chorus. "The Green Cathedral" sung by Beverly Fox, Maxine Snyder and Geraldine Underwood, "To Ra Loo Ra Loo Rai," "Ave Marie," (sols by Tom Wigle and Carol Starkey) "Goin' Home" and "Ma Little Banjo" sung by the senior high chorus will end the entertainment.

Miss Elsie Cobb and Rodney Wiggin will direct the chorus and band respectively. The public is invited.

Scarcity of Seed Beans Has Now Grown Serious

By M. H. Avery
Acting County Agent

In talking with Michigan bean growers, I find that many do not understand the system used in Michigan to maintain a good supply of navy bean seed. Foundation seed, which is the best seed available, is produced by the Michigan Foundation Seed association.

For many years this seed was grown in isolation on South Manitou Island. The last grower has moved from the island and a search is being made on the Michigan mainland for an isolated area to grow foundation fields. The foundation fields are grown under the watchful eye of the plant breeder and the pathologist of Michigan State college to see that high standards are maintained.

Foundation seed is sold to growers who agree to have their fields and harvested seed inspected by the Michigan Crop Improvement association. The Michigan Crop Improvement association certifies this seed as to variety, purity and germination and it is called certified. At present about 125 acres are grown for foundation seed. Foundation seed is planted on some 4,000 acres for certification. Certified seed plants comprise about one-fourth of the 400,000 acres planted to navy beans in Michigan. The remaining 200,000 acres are largely planted to seed that is one year or more away from certification.

Michigan bean growers are fortunate because in a program like this a good supply of high quality seed should be available every year. The year 1951 is no exception in spite of the unfavorable growing conditions of 1950. Last year much of the navy growing area had the worst infection of bean diseases that this state has seen in 50 years.

This situation was brought about by heavy rains, in some cases amounting to 7 or 8 inches in a two-day period. Bean fields were like bath tubs in which the disease organisms washed from diseased to healthy plants. Some of the yellowing of leaves that

Legume Treatment Helps Save Seed

Treatment of alfalfa seed may not increase yields, but it will help to save seed and obtain a more uniform stand, advises Ed Andrews, extension specialist in plant pathology at Michigan State college.

With alfalfa seed prices as high as they are this year, seed treatment is a wise practice. Treating seed legumes has controlled damping-off and given better stands when poor quality seed is planted in cold, wet soil. This is particularly true for large seed legumes such as soybeans when seed is cracked and damaged.

Since cost of treatment is very low per acre, Andrews believes farmers should plan to treat their legume seeds. Growers frequently will be unable to detect poor quality in seed and cannot hope to predict growing conditions at planting time.

Arasan or Spergon, eight ounces per 100 pounds of seed are used on alfalfa and clover (except sweet clover). Andrews emphasizes that sweet clover should not be treated.

For soybeans, Arasan or Spergon is used at the rate of two ounces per bushel of seed.

For small amounts of seed, shake the seed and an excess of the dust treatment material together in a suitable container. Then sift off the excess dust. Be sure that all of the dust that does not adhere to the seed surfaces is sifted from the seed. Pockets of dust tend to accumulate in the hopper of the planter and will kill young plants as the seed germinates. Use care in handling the treating material.

Treatment with the above materials can be done any time before planting. Nodulation will not be reduced if inoculation is applied immediately before planting as directed.

most growers called water damage was caused by disease.

In 1949 Huron county and part of northern Tuscola county were fairly dry. The yields of beans were reduced and weather conditions were unfavorable for the development of bean diseases. This, especially clean seed was planted there in 1950. Again Huron county did not receive the 8-inch rain in midseason. The growing conditions were favorable with excellent high yields. The weather was unfavorable at harvest but this has nothing to do with diseases. This whole area should have more good seed, not more than one year removed from certification, than required to plant Michigan's entire navy bean acreage in 1951.

There isn't much time left to look for seed beans.

Several small areas have good seed but in any case be sure you are not planting disease-infected seed.

Farm Deferments Are Up to Board

Many inquiries have been received by E. L. Anthony, dean of the school of agriculture at Michigan State college, regarding agricultural occupational deferments in the present draft for the military effort. Dean Anthony, who is a member of the Michigan Defense Production Council, says local draft boards have complete authority in connection with these deferments.

It is the dean's understanding that county mobilization committees have been advised to keep local draft boards informed on the need for farm boys in their areas. As head of the county mobilization committee, the PMA chairman is the man who can act. He can recommend, according to reports from Washington, that a person will be of more value to the nation in the production of food than in the armed forces, if such is his opinion.

Dean Anthony reported that farmers had lost much of their good "know-how" hired help to industrial plants. The only help they can depend upon are farm-reared young men who are already on farms.

The dean cited a report in the Michigan Farmer, state farm publication, that 1,523 men in Michigan had been given I-C deferments (Agricultural) as of January 31, 1951.

Manure on Farm Has High Value

Value of manure produced on a farm often comes to a high figure.

A. R. Wolcott, Michigan State college agronomist, says that a six-month accumulation of manure on a farm carrying 12 milk cows and the corresponding young stock is equal to five and one-half tons of 10-5-10 fertilizer.

That is worth approximately $300 at present day fertilizer prices.

During spring months when field work is heavy, it's easy to neglect manure spreading. Don't allow this to happen, advise Michigan State college agricultural authorities. Keeping valuable manure in circulation will mean dollars saved and higher crop yields.

Home Landscaping Should Be Simple

"Why merely admire attractive landscaping on your neighbor's farm when you can make similar improvements on your farm," asked Joseph T. Cox, landscape extension specialist at Michigan State college.

Most successful landscaping improvements narrow down to a logical arrangement of buildings, lawn areas and plantings, he said.

Most of us cannot do much about changing building locations, but we can plan better approaches to them. Does your present driveway guide guests to your favorite door? Make the driveway enough to allow parking space near your front door for two or three cars.

How are your lawn areas arranged? Having them arranged as public lawn, family lawn and service lawn provides a place for home grounds activities. Open expanses of grass with trees and flowers at the edges gives an enclosure effect. Trees for shade and relief of bareness are very desirable here.

Private lawn spaces at the side or rear of the house need screen plantings for enclosure and privacy for family activities. The service or clothing drying yard can be located in an out-of-the-way place not too far from the back door.

Plantings necessary to give your grounds a refined appearance will consist of foundation groups about the base of the house, border or enclosure masses, and trees for wind protection and shade.

Follow a program of proper maintenance for your grounds as they now exist, Cox advises. Explore the adjustments you could make to add convenience and better appearance to your farmstead.

The landscape planner recognizes that practical and convenient grounds will be attractive grounds because they require less time for upkeep.

COW HAS RECORD

With 555 pounds of butterfat and 16,253 pounds of milk to her credit, Raffron Payne Carnation, a registered Holstein cow, owned by P. C. Cheney, Williamston, has completed a 331-day production test in official Advanced Registry. She was 3 years 4 months of age when she began her testing period.

Grade Holsteins Lead Ingham 5

The herd of Ellsworth & David Ingham No. 5 in production for March, reported Leland Christensen, the tester. The 18 grade Holsteins in the herd averaged 52.7 pounds of butterfat and 1,510 pounds of milk.

There were 21 herds in all which reached the 30-pound mark for March. The other 20 were:

James Quinlan, 8 registered Holsteins, 51.0 pounds butterfat, 1301 pounds milk; George Soule, 16 grade Holsteins, 50.6 pounds butterfat, 1401 pounds milk;

Leon Cowdry, 12 grade Holsteins, 46.8 pounds butterfat, 1330 pounds milk; Donald Parks, 12 grade Holsteins, 43 pounds butterfat, 1080 pounds milk; Carroll Glynn, 17 grade Holsteins, 41.5 pounds butterfat, 1107 pounds milk; John Eldridge, 20 grade and registered Holsteins, 41.1 pounds butterfat, 1084 pounds milk; Maynard Unruh, 33 grade and registered Holsteins, 39.4 pounds butterfat, 1126 pounds milk; Donzell L. Hill, 12 grade Holsteins, 39 pounds butterfat, 1016 pounds milk;

Harold Lockwood & Son, 21

grade Holsteins, 38.1 pounds butterfat, 1131 pounds milk; Emmeson Brydo, 15 grade Holsteins, 37.1 pounds butterfat, 901 pounds milk; Andrew Kleiver, 12 grade Guernseys & Jerseys, 37.1 pounds butterfat, 837 pounds milk; Marvin Glynn, 18 grade Holsteins, 37 pounds butterfat, 1020 pounds milk; Maurice Oesterle, 20 grade Holsteins, 36.2 pounds butterfat, 942 pounds milk; Herbert Hart, 20 grade Holsteins and mixed breeds, 35 pounds butterfat, 901 pounds milk;

Lawrence Foster, 18 grade Holsteins and mixed breeds, 35 pounds butterfat, 882 pounds milk; Harris & Robert Hartwell, 19 grade Guernseys, 33 pounds butterfat, 700 pounds milk; Lawrence Stowe, 52 grade Holsteins, 31.6 pounds butterfat, 939 pounds milk; William Tomlinson, 25 grade and registered Holsteins, 30.7 pounds butterfat, 870 pounds milk; Rae Collar, 17 grade Holsteins, 30.7 pounds butterfat, 800 pounds milk; and Stanley Voss, 11 registered and mixed breeds, 30.0 pounds butterfat, 863 pounds milk.

High cows in each class were:

Six years or over: Maurice Oesterle, 85 pounds butterfat; Elwyn Collar, 72 pounds butterfat.

Five years or over: Maurice Oesterle, 81 pounds butterfat; Melvin Oesterle, 69 pounds butterfat.

Four years: George Soutles, 70 pounds butterfat; Elwyn Collar, 73 pounds butterfat.

Under three years: Carol Glynn, 68 pounds butterfat.

You'll get more for your money in a 2-plow McCormick* FARMALL* C

More year-round utility. McCormick Farmall C stars at all jobs on all crops. There's a complete line of matched McCormick implements... every machine you need for every crop you grow.

More convenient use. When you cultivate, for instance, you watch the forward-mounted gangs while you face comfortably ahead. No tiresome twisting and turning.

More complete hydraulic control. Farmall Touch-Control lifts and lowers tractor-mounted implements with a fingertip touch. But that isn't all! It holds planters and cultivators to their work. And it gives you selective control of left and right gangs or delayed lift of rear gangs.

More power at the drawbar. Farmall C weight is distributed to give top-notch performance with both pull-type and mounted implements. 54-inch high wheels have big ground-gripping surface.

More riding comfort. Your ride is cushioned by upholstery, by spring mounting, and by a hydraulic shock absorber. You sit up out of the dust zone, away from engine heat.

More years of service. More than a million farmers have found that Farmalls stay dependable year after year, and that parts and service can always be had at reasonable cost. That's why so many early Farmalls are still in regular use. It's why Farmalls have such high trade-in values, too.

It's easy to buy a McCormick Farmall C. With the Income Purchase Plan you can pay for it while it earns money for you. Ask us to show you—right in your own fields—what a Farmall can do for you.

*McCormick and Farmall are separately registered trade marks of International Harvester Company.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS

BY CARL COLLIN

Farm administrators are again in the saddle in USDA, after a lapse of six years. Brannan moved into the job, removed two top "career men" operating heads of PMA, replacing them with Gus Geisler, North Dakota wheat and livestock farmer, and Harold Hill, Wisconsin farmer. Both men came up through the ranks of the old AAA. New line-up at top of PMA in Washington presages more get-up-and-go in PMA. Effect probably will be reflected down to county levels. First big job of PMA committee will be to get farmers to plant larger acreage of feed grains this year, especially corn. Big drive will be in main corn belt.

Farm parity index jumped four points from February 15 to March 15. Increase played into hands of price control officials and others who aim to get rid of parity as legal minimum for price ceilings.

Administration proposal to peg farm prices at mid-January levels for price control purposes has run into strong opposition from USDA and farm organizations. However, there is a powerful movement to put through a plan to freeze farm prices at the January 15 level. Final outcome may be compromise between two systems.

A world record price of $70,500 was paid recently for a Hereford bull named Hillcrest Larry 4. The famed bull, calved in May, 1947, was the 1949 champion at the International in Chicago and Eastern International in Maryland. Two Hereford ranches, one in Maryland and the other in Oklahoma, purchased the animal and will share its services.

Argentina expects to increase meat production by 20 per cent and general farm production by 25 per cent. Program calls for boosting cattle herds from 60 million to 80 million. Increased crop production would depend on getting mechanized farm equipment from U. S. President Peron says he believes Argentina will sell meat to U. S. shortly.

There's an average of one to one and a half runt pigs per litter in U. S. With nearly 15 million sows crowding this year, that means about 20 million runts. It costs plenty to make these little fellows grow. According to Successful Farming magazine, a good many hog raisers figure that disposing of them right at the start is the least expensive solution.

But now we have a means of saving runts. Antibiotics combined with vitamin B-12. Farmers all over the country are using this new concentration to produce better hogs and make them grow 20 per cent faster. Successful Farming says antibiotics and B-12 save up to 50 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain.

Farm safety note: The loss of one skilled operator on the farm is equivalent to loss of one and a half skilled farm operators in pre-World War II period.

Farmers put almost 365 million bushels of grain and oilseed crops up to end of February. That's less than half as much as they put under loan during same period year earlier out through 1949 crops. The government had a little more than two and a half billion dollars invested in crops under the loan program. Up to end of February Commodity Credit Corp. had lost $231 million in price support activities over a period of eight months.

According to latest census figures, one out of every six people in U. S. lived on a farm in 1950 compared with one out of five in 1945. This means that only 15 out of every 100 persons in U. S. lived on farms last year. This change could have important political implications. Farm representation in congress is getting smaller. . . probably will continue to diminish. More political influence will be felt from urban areas. Consumers are anxious to get more food for the money they spend at the corner grocery store.

If farmers plant the acreage of crops asked for by USDA and yields are average, farm production this year will be more than 45 per cent greater than just before World War II.

Damage to winter wheat in southwest has been fairly heavy. Full extent will not be known for some time. The wheat plant is tough and can take a lot of abuse. Recent rains no doubt saved crop in some areas.

Trade sources take a pessimistic outlook on crop in parts of Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Colorado. One well known grain man said recently, "The peculiar thing is that if weather were left to grain men rather than Providence, we would probably have incessant flooding of fields, as so few people realize there has to be temperance in weather the same as in everything else, with periods of growth between rains."

Ear corn cribbed last fall with moisture content above 20.5 may begin to mold or spoil as weather becomes warmer this spring. Nearly a gallon of water must be removed from each bushel of ear corn to reduce kernel moisture to 13 per cent. This requires good circulation of air in the crib. When you check your crib, test corn located a few feet above floor and in center of crib; that's the wettest spot. You can get at this vulnerable spot with corn sampling probe. County PMA offices use these when testing corn for loans.

More than 600 million broilers came to market in U. S. last year. That's about two billion pounds of meat or about 12 pounds per capita. This is almost entirely a clear addition to meat supply for it doesn't include poultry meat from farm flocks. Broiler industry has had a phenomenal rise. In 1934 broiler production amounted to 34 million birds. 1941 production jumped to 200 million, 1948 to 350 million and 1949 to 500 million birds.

Artificial Breeders Elect New Directors

More than 465 members of the Michigan Artificial Breeders' Cooperative, meeting at Michigan State college in late March, elected directors for the coming year.

Representing Genesee production will be Frank Helm, Jackson; Jerseys, Arden Wright, Marcellus; Holsteins, Kermit Carey, Flint; and Red Danes, Thurston Powers, Battle Creek. Directors at large will be Harold Wilson, Holt, and Walter Buehler, Iron Mountain.

A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State college extension dairyman and secretary of the cooperative, reports that the group plans to construct additions to their buildings and laboratories, located on land leased from Michigan State college.

During the meeting it was voted that $60,000 be set aside as a patronage refund, to be paid to members on the basis of their business with the cooperative during 1947.

ROTO-BALER for power take-off, or engine operation by A-C auxiliary motor.

Easy BALES IT

Easy on your hay . . . easy on you. That's the labor-saving way of baling with a home-owned ROTO-BALER.

Your ROTO-BALER rolls up the hay, without pounding or shattering. High protein green leaves are sealed inside the weather-resistant bales . . . safe from shattering . . . safe from the weather. Rolled bales cannot buckle. They stand rough handling in hauling, storing or shipping. Best of all is the satisfaction of seeing livestock lick up every leaf and fine stem from rolled bales.

Save your hay in leaf-light rolled bales. Stop in and see the ROTO-BALER.

ROTO-BALER is an Allis-Chalmers trade-mark.

Phelps-Cambell Vows Repeated at St. Mary's Church

Jeannette Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Campbell, was united in marriage to Mack Phelps, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Phelps of Flint, in a double-ring ceremony Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Fr. Hugh Condon performed the ceremony at the St. Mary's Catholic church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her sister, Rose Mary Campbell, served as maid of honor. Mrs. Agnes Dexter and Mrs. Donna Campbell were bridesmaids. Claudia Campbell, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Janet Dexter served as flower girl.

Joe Dexter was the ring bearer. Stunt Moore served as best man. Ronald Dexter and Joseph Campbell ushered the guests to their seats.

Mrs. Frances Campbell accompanied Miss Shirley Murray who sang the wedding mass. Following the wedding, a reception for the 150 guests was held in St. Mary's hall. Mrs. Ivan Christensen, sister of the bridegroom, cut the wedding cake. Mrs. J. D. Randolph, another sister, had charge of the guest book.

Miss Joyce Schuchastke sang at the reception.

Following a short wedding trip to Indiana and Ohio, the couple will reside at 301 East Middle street, Williamston.

The bride graduated from Williamston high school with the class of 1944, and is employed at the McPhail Department store. The bridegroom, who served three years in the armed services during World War II, graduated from Michigan State college and is now employed at the John Bean Corp. in Lansing.

Virgil Peterson Returns to States

Virgil Peterson, son of Mrs. Frank Peterson of High Street, has returned to the United States after seven months of combat duty in Korea.

He is a boatswain's mate second class aboard the USS Henric, an attack transport of the Pacific Fleet Amphibious Force. Peterson's ship left the west coast in July, 1950, and has participated in major amphibious operations in Korea. The transport will remain in San Diego a short time before going to a west coast port to undergo routine shipyard overhaul.

Peterson joined the navy as soon as he left the Williamston school and has been in continuous service since.

Mrs. Irene Galvin in Hospital

Mrs. Irene Galvin, who had been sick for a few days, was taken to Sparrow hospital Saturday morning and underwent a major operation. Her son, Warren, went at the same time for a checkup, and is at the east unit of the Sparrow hospital and will remain there until Mrs. Galvin returns home.

Elmer Hammond of Lansing called on Edil Porter Saturday afternoon.

Election Goes Republican With 484 Votes Cast

Williamston had a light vote for the city and biennial spring election held Monday, April 2, with a total of only 484 votes cast. Two new members were elected to the council.

The highest vote for any office was 422 for Howard Gasline as city clerk. Elected to succeed themselves without opposition were Clostin Hunt, treasurer, 412; Bert Liverance, justice of the peace, 389; and Lester LaFuerie, constable, 340.

The other votes were: Councilmen, Clarence Clarke, 362; Royce Osterlie, 351; William Maher, 298; Charles Black, 295; Harry Johnson, 280; Frank Smith, 278; and K. G. Brown, 275. Those received the most votes for the seven councilmen and were elected.

Others running for councilmen were Henry Schroder, 232; Clara Hathaway, 173; and Winifred Tyler, 149. For assessor, Gust Klund received 246 votes and Thomas Custer, 175.

The entire Republican ticket carried a heavy majority on the state ballots in Williamston. State Board of Agriculture, Forest Ackers, former Williamston resident, received 389 votes; superintendent of public instruction, Thurston received 367; regent of University of Michigan, Boniwell, 350; member of state board of education, Burns, 253. Non-Partisan judicial, Boyle 258 and Ried, 262.

State propositions were voted on as follows: No. 1, Yes, 237; No. 125, No, 2, Yes, 273, No, 110. No. 3, Yes, 162, No, 197.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Robinson of Jackson spent the week end with the latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Benjamin.

Mrs. Jenn Baughan of Lansing spent the week end with her grandmother, Mrs. Mattie Ruciman.

Kenneth Beatty of Mt. Pleasant spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Beatty. Miss Ann Baur, who has been sick in the Sparrow hospital, was brought home last week and is improving rapidly.

Mrs. Hattie Dillingham spent Sunday evening visiting in Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bassett of Redford visited their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eaton, Saturday. Mrs. Ray Thatcher and daughter of Coldwater visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eaton, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hagerman of Ann Arbor spent the week end visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Bess Hagerman.

Rev. Horace James accompanied by Mrs. Lester May, Mrs. Maurice Smith and Mrs. Bernice Adams, spent Monday in Flint. Rev. James attended a ministerial conference. The women attended a Daily Vacation Bible School seminar.

Mrs. Theodore Clickner was honored on her birthday anniversary with a dinner given by her children at Marvin's restaurant in the Oak Room Saturday evening, March 31. Present were their son, Ted, Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Clickner, daughter, Janice, and Mrs. Lyle Schrey of Williamston; Mr. and Mrs. James Wright Jr., and son of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Holden of Howell and Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Gauss of Dansville. Mrs. Clickner received several gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Smith have returned home from spending the winter in Florida.

Organ Dedication Planned

On Sunday, April 29, the Methodist church members will have a dedication of their new organ during the afternoon. A program, which will include organ music, is being prepared by the committee in charge. The chimes from the organ, which are sent out over a loud speaker system from the church tower, are now heard over the city for special occasions.

Rebekahs Entertain Assembly President

Myrtle Rebekah Lodge No. 72 of Williamston entertained their Assembly vice-president, Lillian Stanley of Bay City, Tuesday evening, April 3. The luncheon which preceded the meeting was served at 7:00 by the committee consisting of Stella Comer, Lizzie Jordan and Nina Ketchum.

Following the dinner, the program chairman, Fern Shaw introduced Marguerite Volmer who gave a very interesting reading. Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Gauss entertained with several musical numbers, after which the tables were cleared and lodge was called to order by the noble grand, Reah Horstman. All officers and members of the degree staff were dressed in pastel formals.

During the business meeting plans for attending the coming district convention were discussed. Vivian Cripps, a member of the Williamston lodge, is now serving as district treasurer and is in line for the office of secretary this year. Five dollars was given to the cancer drive.

The hospital bed and equipment which the Rebekahs own is not in use at present and hereafter will be loaned gratis to persons needing them if they reside in the city of Williamston or on the Williamston mail route.

The decoration of chivalry was recommended by the lodge to be bestowed upon a member, Fern Shaw for meritorious conduct, over and above the regular call of duty. Sister Minnie Engel will at the same time receive the same decoration and receive her mother's jewel as a bequest. These decorations will be bestowed at the coming Rebekah Assembly which will be held at Grand Rapids in the late fall.

The ways and means committee with Ruth Vaught as chairman will sponsor a Mother-Daughter banquet Friday evening, May 4, at 7:00. A program has been arranged with Rev. Armistead, Sovereign Grand Chaplain of the I. O. O. F. of Battle Creek, as the speaker of the evening. Tickets may be purchased from the committee or members. The Degree Staff members put on their drill for the honored guest and members.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Butler returned Friday from Lakeland, Florida, where they spent the past three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Shirley and daughters visited Mrs. Shirley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bennett, over the week end.

Mrs. Howard Ingersoll attended the Detroit flower show last Monday.

Challengers Plan Auction

The challengers of the Methodist church is sponsoring a farm style turkey dinner in the church basement April 12, beginning at 5:30 p. m. On Saturday, April 21, they will sponsor an auction sale at the home of Clarence Morris beginning at 1:00 in the afternoon. Anyone having articles to donate may take them there or call Mrs. Harold Osterlie prior to the sale.

Patriotic Orders Make Plans for May 19 Auction

The Women's Patriotic Orders of Williamston, an organization composed of the auxiliaries to the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Blue Star Mothers and the Woman's Relief Corps, is planning an auction sale on the Williamston high school athletic field Saturday, May 19, beginning at 10 a. m.

The purpose of this organization is to remember all service men and women serving their country in the several branches of the armed services, on Christmas and birthdays. The entire proceeds realized from this sale will go for the above purpose. All work in connection with the organization is done here, leaving all money for the soldiers' boxes.

Three representatives from each organization administer the affairs of the order. On Monday evening this committee finished preliminary plans for the auction sale and committees were appointed as follows: Baked goods, chairman, Adeline Vanishing, assisted by Galvin, Nellie Wickham, Carrie Hunt and Ada Wilkins; fancy work, Fiedra White, chairman, assisted by Ann Shepler, Muriel Sadler and Suzana Baugh; rummage, Cleo Bachman, chairman, assisted by Rhoda Sloecum, Maude Eckman, Maud Heminger and Leola Rish; refreshments, Elna Glaisen, chairman, assisted by Mattie Eaton and Nina Ketchum; furniture and miscellaneous articles, Ruth Eaton, Rhoda Sloecum, Vivian Merrifield, Muriel Sadler and Warren Galvin; and publicity, Ted Thompson. Glen Casey will act as auctioneer with Lou Thurlby assisting.

The committees are busy listing the many items being received for sale. People who do not feel that they can donate the whole price of the article, however, may place it for sale on a commission basis. Those having items for sale should contact the chairman of that committee.

Those having farm tools or furniture may contact Warren Galvin, Vivian Merrifield, Rhoda Sloecum, Muriel Sadler, Ruth Eaton, Frieda White and Elna Glaisen. Farm tools, livestock, feed, harness, antiques and dishes may be listed. Glass fruit cans are not wanted as there seems to be no sale for them. A barn has been secured to store the articles in as soon as they are received.

W. S. C. S. Has Annual Meeting

The general society of the Methodist W. S. C. S. held its annual meeting Thursday, April 5, in the dining room of the church where they had a bohemian dinner at 12:30 p. m. Following the dinner, the president, Nina Hull, presided, at the business meeting, Irene Osterlie acted as secretary. Ruth Harris gave the devotionals. The district meeting held at Flint on Wednesday was explained by Gladys Wylie and Mrs. Hull. A district officers training school will be held May 25.
