Julius Schmeichel, newly appointed superintendent of public works, paused on a routine check of city operations Tuesday for a picture. The ex-army officer was hired August 7 to manage the city's public works.

Schmeichel served 17 years in the army. He was released last February at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, where he was post engineer.

In addition to his duties as superintendent, Schmeichel also serves as building and zoning inspector. He and his family live at Miller road, but plan to move to Mason as soon as a house is available.

Directors Hope To Break Even On County Fair

Profit Vision Vanishes As Final Bills Roll In, Attendance Shows Drop

Hopes for a profit on last week's Ingham fair proved to be a mirage. The visioned profits of Saturday vanished when the final bills were turned in Monday and Tuesday. The officials still have hopes of breaking even, but that's all.

Attendance fell off 2,000 at the gate and the grandstand receipts dropped below those of last year. There was a slight increase in revenue from midway attractions and from commercial exhibits.

Gloomy and cold weather, frequent showers and one soaking rain cut the attendance. Secretary Joy O. Davis declared. A drizzle Monday, the opening day, resulted in a slim crowd both afternoon and night. Rain Wednesday morning cut the afternoon race crowd. Rain Friday afternoon again interfered.

There was a grandstand sell-out on Tuesday night only. That was the thrill show.

Show Took First $5,000

Kline's Revue played Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and provided afternoon grandstand acts on a guarantee of $5,000 plus half the receipts above that figure. The $5,000 net was reached but there was little left to split after it, Davis reported.

"While we would have liked fair weather all the week," President Otto Hartig said, "it could have been a lot worse. Most of the rain came after people were already in the stands. Only one of the races was rained out. We do believe that the almost constant threat of rain, though, kept many from going to the fair, and the cold nights sent them home early.

"We think it was a good fair, even if no dividends are now in sight."

Profits were made by concessionaires at the fair, but they don't go to the fair board, Hartig pointed out.

More family tickets were sold at $3.00 per ticket than were sold last year, Davis reported. The number of exhibits exceeded last year's total.

"We won't know just where we stand for several days," Davis said. "Our treasurer, Earl Dumore, is whipping his final report into shape as fast as possible. Until that is completed, we can only guess."

Under the by-laws of the Ingham Agricultural Society the annual meeting must be held within 30 days from the close of the fair. No date has yet been set, Davis said. All who bought family tickets at the fair are qualified to vote at the annual meeting.

Michigan Bell Replacing Cable For Dansville

Telephone service between Mason and Dansville will be improved. The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is spending $18,000 to erect a new cable between the two towns.

Russell H. Engelhardt, manager at Mason for the company, said the cable project would begin September 1 and would be completed in the early part of December.

The new cable will replace existing "open wire" between the two communities. Besides providing additional rural facilities, it will also permit the addition of more extended-area trunk lines between Mason and Dansville, Engelhardt explained.

State Adds Land To Hunting Area

Another 120 acres has been recently added to the Dansville public hunting area.

With the purchase of the 120-acre Jewell farm on Potter road in Ingham the total area has been expanded to 2,720 acres in Ingham and Bunker Hill townships.

Public hunting lands are bought under a joint arrangement between the federal and state governments. Money and land taxes collected by the federal government on guns and ammunition is doled out under the Pittman-Robertson law for state matching. Michigan takes its matching money from hunting license revenues. The land purchased in Ingham county is sub-marginal.

CIVIL DEFENSE IMPAIRED

Thieves stole two steel helmets, two gas masks and a first aid kit from the civil defense booth at the county fair Saturday night. An American flag was the only thing not taken, according to Civil Defense Director Frank Evans. Sheriff's officers are searching for the government equipment.

Flames Destroy Three Buildings On Vevay Farm

Cameron Glynn Sustains Big Loss Thursday Noon At Farm on Rolfe Road

Fire destroyed three buildings on the Cameron Glynn farm, three miles south of Mason Thursday noon. A farm welding outfit and other shop tools valued at $2,500, an automobile, farm tools and equipment, 600 bushels of corn and some baled hay were also lost.

Mason firemen with the help of neighbors saved the house and big barn from the flames. They also dragged some tools and equipment out of the flaming buildings.

Loss in the blaze was estimated by firemen at $8,000. Glynn carried total insurance of $1,900 on the three buildings and $3,000 on the contents. The policy is with the Ingham Farmers Mutual.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined. It was discovered at 12:10.

Fred Fanson and his daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Baker, were driving past the place when they saw smoke pouring from the tool shed roof. Fanson pulled his car into the Glynn driveway just as Mrs. Glynn ran out of the house. She had just discovered the smoke and was running to the shed, fearful that her children were there. They weren't. They were in front of the house. At that time there was no fire visible inside the building, Mrs. Glynn declared.

Fanson began at once to move equipment out of the buildings. His daughter drove one Glynn car away from the shed.

Within a few seconds, Mrs. Glynn said, the entire roof of the one building was ablaze and flames had spread to the buildings on either side.

Gordon Glynn, the oldest of the seven Glynn sons, said the smoke from the neighboring farm where he was working with Louis Shaw. The two hurried to the burning buildings to help pull tools to safety. Neighbors quickly rallied, too.

Farmers with milk cans on trucks kept the Mason pumper supplied with water. The firemen used 2,100 gallons of water to fight the blaze, Fire Chief Austin reported.

"We filled the tank truck and the pumper twice," Chief Austin said. "Without an adequate supply of water we would have had a tough time halting the spread of the flames."

Glynn was working on a bridge near Oakley Thursday and could not be reached by telephone to be advised of his loss.

Cameron operates a farm repair shop at his farm.

Son Joins Father Making Dart Rules

William A. Dart and his wife, Claire, of Arlington, New Jersey, arrived in Mason Friday. Dart will be associated with his father, William F. Dart, at the Dart Manufacturing Co.

Dart was graduated from the University of Michigan as an engineer a year ago and since graduation has worked for the DuPont de Nemours corporation in New Jersey.

The Darts were married in June and are living at 201 West Ash street.

The Dart Manufacturing Co. manufactures tape rules and is presently working two shifts to make delivery of a defense order calling for 223,000.

Mountain of Gravel Is Taken from Pit

In nine years of operation John Angell has dug 800,000 cubic yards of sand and gravel from his pit just north of Mason on US-127. He has used one acre for a base and then piled his gravel up in a pyramid the peak would have been 1,500 feet high. That would have given Mason the highest mountain in the state. But he didn't.

He sold the sand and gravel delivered to him by the last pile of 25,000 years ago load by load for streets and pavements and for constructing Lansing and Mason factories and offices. That's why Mason doesn't have a mountain. That's why there is not a Mt. Angell guarding the approach to the city from the north.

For 30 years Ingham county has been digging gravel out of the same esker on the east side of the highway. The first opening was in the Waggoner pit. Later the county acquired the Genco pit and is now operating in the Dart pit.

Peach Harvest Continues

Ingham growers are swinging into the peach harvest. Picking of Red Havens and other early varieties, which started 10 days ago, is being completed. Next week will come Hale-Havens and later varieties.

The quality of Ingham peaches is exceptionally high this year. The tree-ripened fruit is luscious. Tuesday's wind did some damage. Some trees still heavy with fruit were borne down and some of the ripe fruit was blown off other trees. Urie fruit was able to cling to the branches.

Here's a roundup of some of the principal Ingham orchards:

Powers Orchards, Dansville-Red Havens available this week. Harvesting of Hale-Haven, John H. Hale and early Elbertas will follow next week.

Ferguson Orchards, Dansville-Golden Jubilee, Red Haven and Hale-Haven varieties available this week and early next week. The Ferguson Orchards suffered winter damage. The crop is high in quality but below normal in yield.

Dockter Orchards, Dansville-Red Havens are being finished up this week, a bumper crop for the young orchard. Next week Eureka Elbertas and Hale-Havens will be picked.

Hansen Orchards, on Onondaga road, Mason-Red Havens and Hale-Havens are being picked along with early apples.

Palmer Orchards, Leslie-Picnic of Red-Havens coming up next week. Big apples are being picked and prospects now appear to be bright for a late apple crop to exceed last year's pick.

Blossom Orchard, Leslie-Red Haven peaches still available. June.

Raymond Swift Wins Fellowship

Raymond Swift, sanitarian for the Ingham county health department, has accepted a U. S. public health fellowship to the University of California.

In the continuing education program, Swift will earn his masters degree in public health work. "However, the board of supervisors must approve a nine-months leave of absence so that I will be free to go," Swift stated. "The committee will meet Thursday night."

Five men in Michigan public health service were among those accepted for the fellowship. Three will make use of the offer. Swift is the only county health department employee in the state to enter the program. John Vogt and Donald Pierce of the state health department in Lansing are the other two men to receive the fellowship.

Swift, his wife, Margaret, and son, Fred, 7, and daughter, Virginia, 1 1/2, will move to California if the leave is granted. The Swifts own a home on the bank of the Grand river in Aurelius township and will close it for the winter, he said. Swift came to Mason in 1943. He was graduated from Central Michigan college in 1940 and did graduate work at the University of Michigan in 1942. The Swifts plan to leave Mason August 30.

Skiver Will Head Wyeth Production At Idaho Plant

Wayne Skiver of Mason will become superintendent for Wyeth Incorporated at the Meridian, Idaho, plant September 15. Wyeth picked Skiver to succeed Kenneth Cline, who has been at Meridian for four years. Cline asked to be relieved at Meridian so he and his family could return to Michigan.

For eight years Skiver has been with Wyeth at Mason. He is now a supervisor in the bulk compounding department.

SMA is made for the West Coast at the Meridian plant. Meridian is located in the Boise Valley.

Skiver and Howard Seibert, general manager of the Mason and Meridian plants, plan to leave Mason Sunday for Meridian. While there Skiver hopes to secure housing for his family, which consists of his wife and a son, Bruce, 8.

Before coming to Mason eight years ago Skiver was with the Detroit Creamery Co. He was born and reared on a farm near Traverse City. After his graduation from high school at Traverse City he entered Michigan State college.

He specialized in dairy manufacturing at college. Upon his graduation in 1928 he tested dairy herds for two years in Eaton county before joining the Detroit Creamery staff.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Skiver have been active in Mason church and social affairs. They are Presbyterians.

County's Highest Mountain Sold by Load

John Angell announced Wednesday that he is halting mining operations at the East Lansing Sand and Gravel company pit at Mason.

Instead of enlarging the opening in the esker to dig out more sand and gravel, he intends to leave the dirt there so he can lay out streets and avenues and build houses.

Angell has already started his development program. Facing US-127 north of Pryor road he is erecting three new dwellings. He has plans for several others.

Around the shores of Glacial Lake, now covering five acres, will be another real estate development south of Pryor road. Angell made the lake. When a little more sand is pumped out, the lake will cover about five acres, Angell estimated. The water depth ranges from 17 to 25 feet. Except for same esker on the east side of the highway. The first opening was in the Waggoner pit. Later the county acquired the Genco pit and is now operating in the Dart pit.

Development plans on Angell's property south of Pryor road are being held up until engineers determine the exact route of the new Mason by-pass on US-127. When the new route is determined, Angell said, he intends to go ahead with plotting the adjoining property. He now expects that some of his frontage will be used for the re-location.

Angell bought the pit nine years ago. He has excavated 800,000 cubic yards of gravel, sand and fill dirt from what was once a hill and is now a canyon. There's sand there yet, but the stone and gravel can no longer be profitably processed, Angell said. He is transferring his gravel operations to his other pit on Park Lake road, a mile east and a half-mile north of East Lansing.

Development plans on Angell's property south of Pryor road are being held up until engineers determine the exact route of the new Mason by-pass on US-127. When the new route is determined, Angell said, he intends to go ahead with plotting the adjoining property. He now expects that some of his frontage will be used for the re-location.

Elevator Co-Op At Williamston Has Banner Year

Producers Cooperative Elevator of Williamston grossed $1,006,175.79 during the past year, according to President Charles Woods of Dansville. Surpassing of the million dollar mark was announced at the annual meeting of the cooperative held Saturday night.

Net profit for the year amounted to $12,386.49 which includes $5,404.52 of gas tax refund. The net profit was down from last year and is due to the poor bean crop. Woods stated. Beans were of poor quality and moisture content was high.

In spite of the lack of grain cars during the height of the wheat harvest, the elevator shipped 56 cars. Eighty-two cars were shipped throughout the year.

Frank Thomas of Williamston retired from the board of directors after serving since June, 1919. The cooperative requires that only producing members be allowed to sit on the board. Thomas was the only remaining original member of the cooperative.

He will be succeeded by Raymond Powell, Rex Hill and Max Elfer, re-elected to the board. Other members on the board are Woods, Clarence Blaise, Harold Mead, Henry Sheathelm, Will Risch and Jess Fisher. Dave Beatty manages the elevator.

Book value of the elevator equipment is $84,834.83, according to Woods. Improvements to the elevator show a book value increase of $42,000.00 in the past two years, he added.

Jim Bliss of the Michigan Elevator Exchange spoke at the annual meeting. The Michigan Elevator operates the new grain terminal at Ottawa Lake in Monroe county.

Bliss stressed the need of increasing capital stock when a business reaches the million-dollar mark such as the Producers Cooperative elevator.

The Ottawa terminal holds 500,000 bushels of grain and stands 200 feet high, Bliss said. It is composed of a head house and 22 concrete silos. Bliss said the Exchange plans to build an addition to the terminal soon. It is located two and a half miles south of Ottawa Lake on US-223.

A cash dividend on common stock of five per cent was made by the elevator this year.

Don't throw it away. Call the Kiwanis club at 21511 or 21111. We'll pick it up on September 15, 17, 18, 19 and 20 for the annual Kiwanis sale. 34w1

Ferris Surfacing Gladwin Roads

Blacktop crews of The Ferris Co. of Mason are completing 30 miles of blacktop surfacing in Gladwin county. The company has a sub-contract on 30 miles on M-61 and a primary contract on nine miles of federal aid road.

From Gladwin the two Ferris crews will move to Washtenaw county to blacktop 30 miles. The Mason contracting firm has a contract for 1.7 miles of patching and widening of US-127 north from Dart road. The work is being held up because of the lack of suitable stone. The present slab will be extended one foot on each side. The addition will be blacktop, not concrete.

The widening is preparatory to converting the stretch between Mason and Holt into a four-lane highway, according to state highway department engineers. Under the widening plan the S curve north of Harper road will be straightened. The straightening is on the 1952 program.

Young Scientist Finds Fossils

Robert Carroll of Mason added to his stock of ancient rocks on a trip to Grand Ledge a few days ago. Embedded in the rock there he found a stigmara and a calmita. He was able to dig out both.

The stigmara is the fossilized imprint of a tree fern which grew in Grand Ledge 225,000,000 years ago, according to the Mason scientist. The calmita fossil is also a relic of the same coal age era. The imprint in the rock was made by the ancestor of the swamp plant known as horsetail.

Both the calmita and stigmara are classified as Mississippian fossils, Carroll explained.

The Mason paleontologist will enter the eighth grade in September. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll. Michigan State college professors drew a map for young Carroll to follow in his Grand Ledge expedition.

State Promise Of $300,000 Still Remains

Unchanged by the special session of the legislature this week is the state's promise of $300,000 to Ingham.

A special joint committee of the state legislature agreed to allocate Ingham $300,000 toward construction of an addition to the county tuberculosis hospital. The board of control of the hospital anticipated the allocation and the four-story addition is nearing completion.

The promised $300,000 will come from the $5,000,000 bond issue voted last fall. It was included in the $65,000,000 proposal, $60,000,000 for mental hospitals and $5,000,000 for TB hospitals.

The legislative committee recommended that $2,000,000 be set aside for a state TB hospital to be built in southwestern Michigan with the rest of the $3,000,000 to be divided between Ingham and a few other counties and the American Legion hospital at Battle Creek.

When the recommendation of the legislative committee was announced, Wayne and other counties demanded shares. Governor G. Mennen Williams in his special call to the legislature for this week's session asked the additional money to be taken from the general fund to provide additional TB hospital facilities in southeastern Michigan.

The special session made $300,000 available for expansion of the Herman Kiefer TB hospital in Detroit but stopped there. Legislators tabled bills which would have appropriated $2,000,000 for TB hospitals in southeastern Michigan, $200,000 for Pinecrest at Powers, and $230,800 for Oakland county. The "Little Legislature" must still take appropriate action before Ingham and other counties get the money promised by the joint legislative committee.

Judge Holds Two On Sex Offenses

Edwin E. Wellsworth, 26, of Lansing and Joe Stornant, 20, of Bunker Hill, are being held for trial at the September term of circuit court. Both are charged with taking indecent liberties.

Wellsworth is a former inmate of the Lapeer home. His alleged victim was an 11-year-old Lansing girl. Stornant is charged with taking liberties with a four-year-old child.

The Lansing man waived examination when taken before Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams in Mason Monday night.

Upon his arrest last Thursday, Stornant demanded examination. The examination was held before Judge Adams at Mason Tuesday afternoon. Following the submission of evidence by Assistant Prosecutor J. J. McEuen, Judge Adams bound Stornant over to circuit court.

Both men are held in the county jail, Wellsworth under $5,000 bond and Stornant under a $10,000 bond. Neither Wellsworth nor Stornant is married.

School Board Studies Plans For Building

Blueprints for the proposed new elementary school have received the O. K. of the board of education.

Earl Meyer, the architect, presented the plans to the board at a recent meeting. He estimated that at Detroit prices the cost would run $80,492.00. The building should cost less in Leslie, the architect said.

The school board decided to have Meyer start action on a permit to build and to seek clearance for the purchase of scarce materials. Work on the building will be started just as soon as the site is selected and approved, the board members agreed.

The school census for the Leslie district was reported to the board as 450. The count last year was 417.

An operating budget of $194,000 has been established for the current school year.

A new coach has been hired to replace Walter Gephart, who has accepted a position in St. Joseph. The new coach is John W. McCarger, a graduate of Western Michigan college of Education, where he majored in physical education. He has a minor in history, has a major letter in football, and was a member of Theta Chi Delta. He is now working on his master's degree at Michigan State college. He is a veteran of World War II. His home town is Owosso. McCarger is married and has two children.

Another change in teachers is in the kindergarten where Mrs. Donna Soppens replaces Mrs. Paul Jupp. The location of the kindergarten has also been changed from the Congregational church chapel to the Baptist Sunday school building. A new building giving additional room for Sunday school classes makes this arrangement possible with the Baptist church. A ruling by the state department of public instruction limits the age of those attending kindergarten to children who are or will be five years on or before December 1.

The additional office clerk will be Mrs. Robert Burnette, who will have charge of the school bank. It was also voted by the board to retain Albert Thorburn as attorney to handle legal matters for the board.

New equipment for the school was also voted at the meeting. It includes a cabinet for film strip storage and a new adding machine.

Back taxes were received and $731.96 was transferred to the building and site fund. It was again agreed to let the band mothers have concessions at the games.

Army Names Head For Air ROTC

Col. Graeme S. Bond is the new commandant of the Michigan State college Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps unit. He replaces Lt. Col. G. O. Commentator as professor of air science and tactics.

A veteran of 21 years service, Colonel Bond has more than 3,000 flying hours. He received his wings at Kelly Field in June, 1931, after graduating from the University of Illinois. The 41-year-old Chicagoan has served in many administrative and flying capacities with the air force.

Before coming to Michigan State college, he was commanding officer of the 56th Air Base Group, Selfridge Air Force Base.

The new commandant will head up an expanded air ROTC program this fall which includes two new options for cadets—flight operations and general technical work.

The new course offerings are expected to increase enrollment in the air force unit at MSC from 1,000 to 1,400. The programs will result in the graduation each year of also three times the number of officers for the U. S. Air Force.

The flight operations option is designed to serve as pre-flight training for prospective air force pilots, bombardiers and navigators. Students must be physically fit for flight training and must agree to enter flying school after graduation. The general technical course will introduce cadets to the equipment used in the USAF.

Potters United 63 Years

"First 50 are part of the honeymoon..."

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Potter of Mason laugh politely when something like a fiftieth wedding anniversary is celebrated. They look upon the first 50 years of married life as part of the honeymoon.

The Potters celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last Thursday afternoon.

"The time flies," Mrs. Potter stated.

Two sons, a daughter, seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren help make the day fly for the Potters. One son, Gary Potter, lives in Lansing, and the other, Elwin Potter, lives in Mendon. The daughter, Mrs. A. W. Brown, lives in Holt.

The Potters celebrated their wedding anniversary last Thursday by going fishing at Lake Odessa. Mr. and Mrs. Potter both like to fish and they spend several days every summer fishing Michigan lakes.

They have lived most of their lives in Mason. Earlier they lived in Onondaga and Eden where they operated an apple drier and later farmed.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter were married by Rev. Walter Webster in the Leslie Methodist parsonage August 16, 1888. Helen Talmadge and Mrs. Eugene Eisenberger, sisters of Mrs. Potter, and Mr. Eisenberger stood with the couple. Mrs. Potter was born in Bunker Hill and Mr. Potter in Washtenaw county.

Mr. Potter follows court happenings closely. He often serves on juries. He sat through a five-week trial in Lansing last year. He walks from his home at 149 Okemos street up town at least once a day, trims the lawn and does odd jobs around the house for exercise. Besides keeping a neat home, Mrs. Potter crochets, makes rag rugs and does some braiding.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter also follow news events. Mr. Potter has missed only one Detroit Tiger broadcast this summer.

Mason Firemen Rank High in Fire Control

Fire Chief Austin Reports To Council on Trip to International Convention

Mason's volunteer fire department ranks with the best fire departments in the United States and Canada. That's what Fire Chief Leland Austin told Mason councilmen Monday night.

The city sent Austin to the international convention of fire chiefs at Grand Rapids for three days last week. More than 2,000 chiefs attended.

Mason's equipment is superior to two-thirds of the volunteer fire departments in the Midwest, the chief said.

The only time the chief looked glum was when he talked about how to lose fire chasers and curiosity seekers at a fire. California departments have solved the problem by installing two-way radios in each volunteer's home. Austin learned at Grand Rapids. Some radio sets are portable and may be carried to work or even on the golf course, according to the Mason chief.

"The public has made coded fire information necessary," the chief told councilmen.

Crowded conditions at the scenes of fires hamper fighting operations and the speeding cars chasing fires are dangerous anyway, Austin stated.

An important duty of any fire department is aiding fire prevention, the chief pointed out. Mason ranks high in that department, too, the chief said. Mason's volunteer department makes periodic inspections of businesses and homes and tests fire hydrants frequently.

City Buys Salt Rock salt to the tune of 20 tons was ordered by the council at the Monday meeting. The salt will be used on Mason streets during the winter. Delivery will be made October 1. A ton of salt costs $12.06.

New Superintendent of Public Works Julius Schmeichel made his first recommendation to the council Monday night and it was quickly approved.

Schmeichel saw the need for a new distributor at the disposal plant and a new one was ordered by the council Monday night. Schmeichel explained that there are two distributors at the plant. Distributors are used to spray liquid sewage over tanks of rock in the purifying process. One was installed in 1938 and the other in 1945.

State Civil Defense Leader Cites Peril of Red Attacks

Unless American people throw off their apathy they will be unprepared for a Russian attack, declared Col. A. D. Howell in Mason Tuesday night. Colonel Howell is deputy director of Michigan civil defense.

He spoke before a joint meeting of the Mason, Holt, Williamston, Lansing, East Lansing and Eaton Rapids Kiwanis clubs. The meeting was held at Mason golf course club house.

The danger of a Russian attack is imminent, Colonel Howell declared. According to high military sources in Washington, Colonel Howell said, there is some indication that Russia may attack this fall.

If Russia does attack, Colonel Howell said, two of the top targets would be Detroit and the Soo locks. Secondary targets in Michigan would be Flint, Saginaw, Lansing and Grand Rapids, according to the military.

Russia now has 400 planes capable of reaching American cities from Russian or Siberian bases, Colonel Howell said. He also said that the Reds have made enough progress in atomic bombs to have their raiding planes fully loaded.

A threat as great as atomic bombs, Colonel Howell said, is bacteriological warfare. The Reds might be able to spread germs fatal to humans, or, more likely to livestock, the retired army officer declared. He also mentioned the peril of sabotage in American industrial centers.

Colonel Howell told of his experience with Russians while serving in Austria. He characterized them as cruel, treacherous and fanatical. They are bent on world conquest, he declared.

The Michigan defense deputy deplored the trimming of civil defense appropriations by congress. He called the cut a horrible mistake.

According to Colonel Howell, Michigan ranks third behind only New York and California in the progress made in civil defense.

At a meeting held before the dinner Tuesday night, Arnold named as lieutenant-governor of a new Kiwanis district which will include the clubs represented, at Mason and others in Clinton and Gratiot counties. The Ingham clubs and the Eaton Rapids club are now part of the district which extends south to include clubs in Hillsdale and Branch counties. There was a golf tournament on the Mason course Tuesday afternoon. Prizes were awarded to Doc Collins, Al Rice and R. G. Henson of Mason and Bill Harris and Ernest Hunt of Holt.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of J. C. Sprague, who passed away one year ago, September 2, 1950. A precious one to us has gone. A voice we loved is stilled; A place is vacant in our house, which never can be filled. God in his wisdom has recalled the boon his love has given; And though the body slumbers here, The soul is safe in Heaven. He is gone but not forgotten, Never will his memory fade; Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger. Around the grave where he is laid. We loved him, yes, we loved him, But Jesus loved him more, And he sweetly called him, To yonder shining shore. The gates of Heaven were open, A gentle voice said "Come," And with farewells unspoken, He calmly entered home. Mrs. J. C. Sprague and family. 34w1p

TASTE OF TOMORROW—Well-dressed men of the far future will wear radar rings matching their ensembles and their dates will be expected to carry interplanetary telephones on their belts. This was the prediction of a recent New York City television production featuring the "Man of Tomorrow" and the "Woman of Tomorrow," who is about to make short work of a—you guessed it—"Hot Date of Tomorrow."

AND DON'T FORGET THE MUSIC—Patricia Deagen demonstrates how easy it is to pack up the portable piano unveiled by inventor Earl Gage at Chicago's convention of National Music merchants. Developed after five years of research, the four octave keyboard looks and can be carried like a piece of luggage. But after you close the top and fold the legs, don't forget to bring along your music.

Cool Weather Aids Control of Polio

Three cases of polio sprang up in Lansing this week, but none has been reported in the out-county area, according to Dr. R. Lanling, director of the Ingham county health department.

"Cool weather is on our side in this fight against polio," the doctor stated. "The weather we've been having cuts down fatigue which is a big factor in controlling polio," he added.

Last week seven cases were reported in the county. The total should be lower than last year, the doctor predicted.

Dr. Lanling recommends plenty of sleep for children during the summer and fall.

"Children who don't take naps should be taken out and rest during the afternoon anyway," he stated. "Rest is all-important."

"Good health habits such as washing hands often is a definite aid toward controlling polio. Other 'don'ts' include the prevention of chilling and not making new personal contacts during the summer."

"Children should play within their own group and not mix with strangers."

Seven New Teachers Join Stockbridge School Staff

When classes start at the Stockbridge school Tuesday afternoon, September 4, there will be seven new teachers on the staff, Supt. Jesse L. Bachelor announced.

Two new teachers have elementary grade assignments. They are Miss Rosalind May of Toledo for the first grade, and Miss LaVerne Fuller of Mattoon for the second grade.

Charles Wright, Robert Pruden, Clyde Glendinning, Mrs. Nancy Wyman and Mrs. Barbara McGregor are new members of the high school faculty.

Wright was graduated from Kalamazoo college in 1950. He helped coach football at the college last fall. At Stockbridge he will serve as football coach and will be a classroom teacher.

Pruden was also graduated from Kalamazoo college in 1950. He helped coach baseball at the college this spring and is presently a playground director in Kalamazoo. He will have charge of physical education, coach baseball team and assist in coaching the football and basketball teams.

Principal Bruce Howlett will continue to be head coach of basketball.

Both Mrs. Wyman and Mrs. McGregor are 1951 graduates of the University of Michigan. Mrs. Wyman will teach English and social studies in junior and senior high schools. Mrs. McGregor will teach Latin and English.

No pre-enrollment is scheduled at Stockbridge. Pupils are not expected to report until one o'clock Tuesday afternoon, September 4, the superintendent said. Pre-enrollment was handled before classes were dismissed in May, he explained. Buses will make their regular trips on September 4, picking the youngsters up at noon and returning them after the school session.

Football uniforms will be issued to candidates Friday and Saturday. Practice sessions will begin Monday, Principal Howlett said.

BIG REBUILDING JOB AHEAD

Mason Gridders Start Monday

Coach Lou Lori has issued a call to his Mason high school griders to report for practice Monday, August 27, at 9:30. Uniforms will be issued in the school locker room.

The call went out to hold-over varsity letter winners and members of last year's reserve team. Freshmen will not be able to report until school starts on September 5.

Lori and his assistants, Don Carey and Bob Wallis, have only three weeks in which to mold a team for the tough St. Johns opener.

The biggest task will be the job of putting together a backfield combination. Mason lost star players Denny Stolz, Bob Allen, Chuck Howell and Wayne Every. The only back with any playing experience is Phil Parisian.

Pre-season plans call for shifting some of Mason's line talent into the backfield, at least on offense.

The Mason line is the bright spot this year. It will be big, experienced and fast with such stalwarts as Bob Thomas, Bob Jewett, Bill Wasper, Jim Blauvelt, Don Lyons and Ralph Ellison. The Mason line looks to be one of the best in the Capital Circuit on paper.

Mason faces a tough nine-game schedule loaded with such powerhouses as St. Johns, unbeaten in two years, Charlotte, Howell, Everett and Belding. Five of the games will be played at Mason.

Last year Mason dropped three games to St. Johns, Charlotte and Howell.

Coach Lori asks that all boys reporting for football get their medical examination blanks and insurance forms at the school superintendent's office before reporting for practice.

Until school starts practice will be on a two-a-day schedule.

CAN DO
Wood Fasteners Have Their Story, Too

FOR YOUR OWN information—and it's information you really out to have—notice the great number and variety of wood fasteners your hardware dealer has in stock.

The term "wood fasteners" refers, of course, to nails, screws, and corrugated fasteners, principally.

The three types of nails most commonly used for the kind of work you do around the house are (1) the common nail, which has a flat head whose diameter is greater than that of the shank of the nail itself; (2) the finishing nail, with the head only very slightly larger than the shank, and (3) the brad, which is simply a small-size finishing nail.

COMMON NAIL FINISH NAIL BRAD

CORRUGATED FASTENER

Common and finishing nails vary in size from twopenny to forty-penny; they're sold in bulk at about seven cents a pound.

Incidentally, the terms "twopenny," "fourpenny" and so on, as applied to nails, originated in England a long time ago, although how, why, when and where still isn't definitely known. One reasonable explanation is that nails used to be sold at, say, 100 for twopenny or a 100 for fourpenny, etc., depending on the size of the nails. The symbol "d" after a nail number, which we still use, simply stands for "penny" or English pennies.

It's a good idea to know nail sizes in terms of "pennies," both to save yourself unnecessary trouble and to help you make a wiser selection at the hardware store for whatever job you are planning to carry out. Each penny size indicates a nail of a specific length and diameter. Here's a chart showing the penny sizes and corresponding length in inches of the nails available:

2d	1 1/4"	9d	2 3/4"
3d	1 1/2"	10d	3"
4d	1 3/4"	12d	3 1/2"
5d	2"	16d	4 1/2"
6d	2 1/4"	20d	5 1/2"
7d	2 1/2"	30d	6 1/2"
8d	2 3/4"	40d	7 1/2"

There's an easy rule of thumb that will guide you in choosing the proper nail for whatever work you have at hand: For hardwoods, the length of the nail must be twice the thickness of the wood. For softwoods it should be two and a half times the thickness of the wood to be fastened.

Artificial heat has been used successfully in dairy calf pens to prevent illness that often follows a sudden drop in temperature.

SMALL BUSINESS
By C. WILSON HARDER

Congressional revolt on control measures could be forerunner of a very healthy movement.

It could mean end to all controls. Many bureaucratic economists run around Washington today with very red faces.

Merchandise shortages, here, aided, for months, have not occurred to any considerable extent. Retailers in apparel, food, goods, appliances have taken heavy C. W. Harder price reductions the past few weeks trying to move goods. Warehouses are bulging.

Washington officialdom has come perilously close to talking country into depression.

The economy is unhealthy today.

But even a very healthy man could be made quite sick if a few quack surgeons performed drastic operations to take care of some condition they feared he might acquire in the future.

Actually, so-called control measures have been meaningless.

With fanfare the Office of Price Stabilization forced retailers to spend thousands of extra dollars making up ceiling price lists.

Yet, with so much strong competition for the consumer's dollar, or the part remaining after taxes, few, if any items, are sold at the "ceiling" prices.

Credit control is a smoke screen. Issue of whether a man should pay for a new car in 15, 18, or 21 months is a side issue on controlling inflation.

Big financial houses who have influence with Federal Reserve Board, apparently are guiding lights behind credit restrictions.

That is control of government spending.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Hot Sun, Sand and Wind Cause Special Hair and Skin Problems

By Erta Haley

HAS SUMMER weather played havoc with your nice complexion? Has it dried out and bleached your hair? Take a good look and get to work on hair and skin so that you'll be ready for new, fall clothes.

There's no magic formula for ridding yourself of these problems unless that would be care. Yes, care is the ingredient which will smooth your skin and put luster back in your sun-dried tresses. It isn't something that can happen in a day or even two, but care for a week should show you at least the beginning of some wonderful results.

If you plan to get out in the sun for at least awhile longer, then protect yourself against summer elements which can play havoc with shiny hair and smooth, silky skin. Wear hair covering if you're going to be out in the sun for any length of time. It's a good idea to shade the face with a brim of some kind, too, while you protect hair.

Protect the skin against harmful sun rays with one of the many available preparations. It's possible to tan further, even in late summer, but don't let yourself in for a painful burn in the process.

It's a good idea to cream the face thoroughly after exposure to prevent scaling and drying out which coarsens pores. Use light or heavy cream depending upon your particular skin.

Don't forget that we have to make special efforts towards cleanliness during summer and that means plenty of tub baths, showers, and frequent soap and water cleansings.

Bring out Hairbrush If Hair Has Dried

Long exposures to the sun will bleach and dry hair. If you've allowed this to happen, you know that hair is not nearly as manageable as it can be. Curls don't take as well, and you're at your wit's end to know just what should be done.

Your hairbrush can do part of the job for you, not only in cleaning the hair, but in polishing it and stepping up circulation which will bring back natural oils to the hair.

The latter is the trick, of course, which brings a normal oiliness back to hair, or putting oil on the hair is of very temporary help.

Women with really beautiful hair, actresses and models, rely on about a 15 minute daily brushing to make their locks shine. This may seem like a lot of time, but if you're at all hair-conscious, then why not try giving yourself two minutes in the evening for brushing? Five minutes is still better, but you can work up to this after you see how much good two minutes daily can do. Choose a brush with firm bristles that are flexible. Also select one that's easy to clean, as the brush should be washed at least as often as you shampoo.

Try carrying a small brush in your pocketbook so that you can brush your hair into place while out. It's a good stand-by for a quick shine, for fluffing and for smoothing stray ends wonderfully in place.

Brush with long, vigorous strokes, and don't be afraid of disturbing waves and curls. They'll spring into place better after brushing. Brush a section at a time, and then go over the whole head.

Straighten the hair after brushing and adjust to the way you want to wear it. Never go to bed with hair in disarray.

Scrupulous Cleanliness Is Essential to Hair

Whether hair is thick or fine, it must be kept clean. This is particularly important during hot weather as we perspire much more than when it's cold, and hair is apt to hold these odors unless shampooed frequently.

Summer Shampoo Care

In the good old summertime, extra shampooing care is needed to keep hair lustrous and well-groomed. Frequent exposure to hot sunlight tends to make even the smartest hair-do look parched and lifeless. Bring back the silky softness with a summer shampoo that includes a water conditioner which helps you get extra lather from soap, then helps remove every trace of soap in rinsing.

If the hair has been dried by sun and you encounter split ends place a few drops of oil on the ends for treatment. Let it remain for at least an hour before shampooing.

A good 15 minutes brushing before a shampoo will recondition hair which has been exposed to the elements. Brush vigorously with head bent towards floor and brush the hair out. This will remove much of the sand and surface dust on the hair, and make washing and rinsing so much easier.

If sun bathing and swimming have left the hair looking like a farmer's hay stack, then treat the water for a shampoo with a water normalizer which will help the tresses to return to their silken softness. A few teaspoons of water normalizer in the water when you wash the hair, and then again in the first rinse water will do the trick. You'll get abundant lather in the washing, and in the rinse water, you'll be able to strip the hair free of every trace of soap, as well as any sand or chlorine from swimming pools.

A few drops of your favorite cologne may be used for setting the hair. Add a shampoo for an extraneous touch. Avoid anything heavy which dulls as it will leave a film which suffices the natural brightness of the hair.

Though you may set the hair rigidly, brush and comb out thoroughly before emerging to the outside. Casual but neat, whether hair is long or short, is the rule.

Be Fussy About Cleansing Face

The face, just like the scalp, will perspire heavily during hot weather and will require more strenuous efforts to keep in condition. Washing the face in soap and water several times during a hot day is one of the best ways to keep it clean.

There are, however, other tips, too. Are you being as fussy as you possibly can about powder puffs? With a face perspiring and numerous pores letting out their secretions, puffs can soon look like very sorry items to use on the face. If you continue to use a soiled puff, you push dirt into pores which will break out in blackheads, always difficult to extract.

Try using disposable devices which can be discarded after each use if you want the utmost in cleanliness. These include cotton squares or cotton balls, both of which are sterile. They're extra soft, too, for faces which have been touched with sunburn.

Cream cleansings should go hand in hand with water cleansings as they will return some of the beneficial oils baked out by sun and wind. These creams can be applied at night to be left on, or you might apply them just before stepping into the bath, so they can remain on the face for a little while.

When creaming the face, don't neglect the eyelids, for these will easily add age to the face if they become dried and lined.

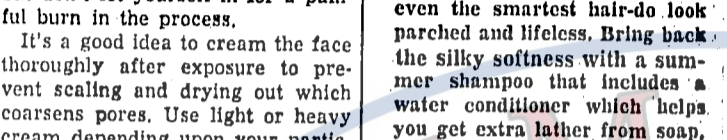

Astringent treatments for the face, so easily and pleasantly administered, are excellent for shrinking pores. You can use some ice cubes wrapped in a bit of cloth and rub over the face after it is thoroughly cleaned, if you want the simplest kind.

Avoid Face Shine With Proper Make-Up

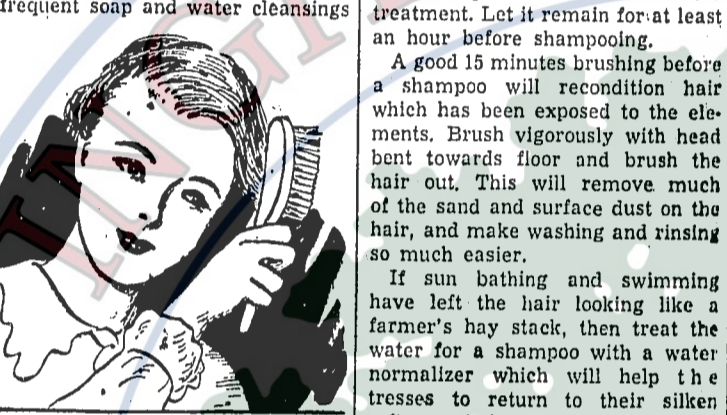

More women worry about face shine during summer than at any other time, and wonder if there's any solution for it. Make-up just will not cling to the face that perspires excessively.

If the face is properly cleaned, with soap and water and cream, and the pores closed with an astringent treatment, you will cut down a lot of the perspiration when you want to wear make-up.

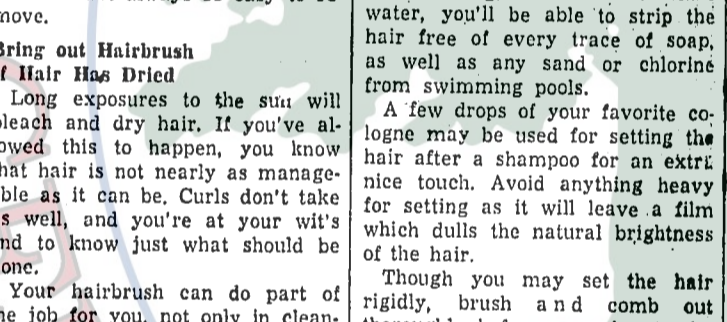

After cleansing apply a light make up foundation.

TODAY'S Meditation
 THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

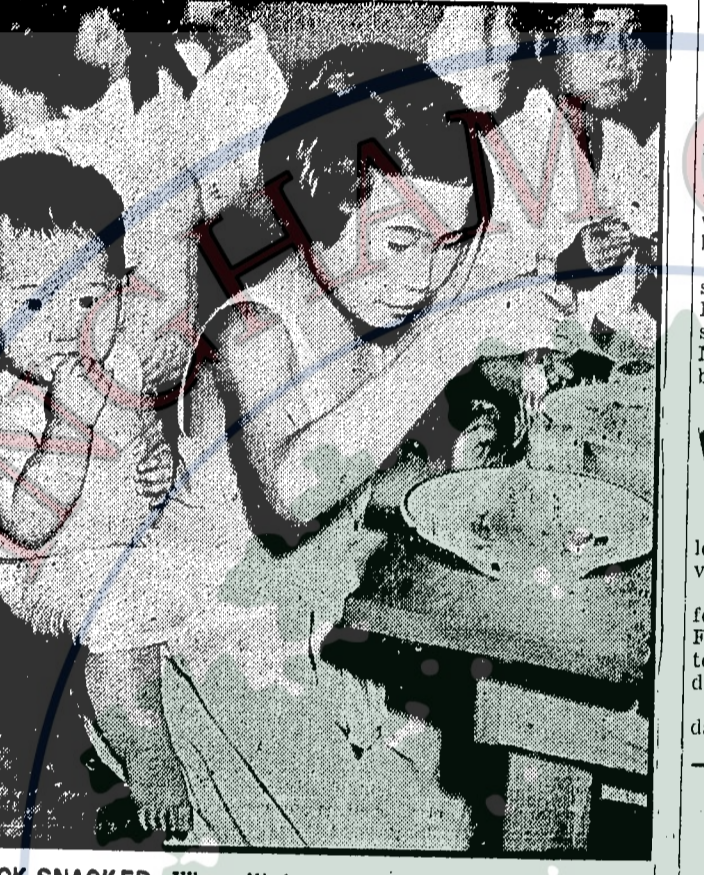

"... the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust." (I Timothy 1:11). Read I Timothy 1:12-17.

To the Apostle Paul, the gospel was something of which he was never ashamed. He regarded it as most precious. In his first epistle to Timothy, he calls it "the glorious gospel." He saw repeatedly its transforming influence upon men and women. Wherever he preached, he saw men convicted of sin and renewed in life. In his epistle to the Romans, he said he hoped to go to Rome and preach the gospel there, amid all the pomp and glory of the Roman Empire. Ashamed of it? Not he. It is the glorious gospel of our blessed God. It is the gospel that has come from God and tells of His love as revealed plainly in Jesus. It has proved itself to be the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believes.

This glorious gospel has been committed to you and to me as well as to Paul. Let us by word and deed proclaim it to others.

PRAYER
 Dear Lord and Father of mankind, give Thine our hearty thanks that Thou hast through the gospel made known the way of life. May Thy gospel go forth with power to the ends of the earth, convicting, converting, and blessing human souls. We pray that Thy peace may come upon earth. To Thee be all glory and honor, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Adventists Hold Annual Meeting

R. K. Krick, pastor of the Lansing and Ingham county Seventh Day Adventist church, and many of his members were among the 10,000 visitors to the annual Adventist camp meeting near Grand Ledge last week end.

As a part of the denomination's civil defense program, church officials arranged with the Red Cross regional blood center to collect blood from more than 500 volunteers on the camp ground Sunday to be flown direct to army medical centers in Korea this week. Twenty doctors and 30 nurses attending the meeting volunteered their services in cooperation with Red Cross personnel to carry out the all-day project.

Church leaders gave reports of the various phases of the denomination's work throughout the state. The report showed that Michigan members gave $2,218,327.71 in tithes and $728,788.00 in foreign mission offerings during the last two years. This amounted to an average yearly gift of $121.31 per member in addition to local church expenses and home missions offerings.

The camp meeting will close Saturday night. Immediately following, delegates will begin to arrive on the campground from all parts of the United States and Canada to attend the Adventists' first North American Laymen's Congress August 29 to September 1.

Announcement

Discontinuance of Fuel Service
We wish to announce that, as of August 15, 1951, we will discontinue sale and delivery of all fuels. An agreement has been made with The Lansing Ice & Fuel Company of Mason to dispose of our remaining inventory of fuels.
It is with a degree of regret that we make this announcement, but with the continual changes taking place in the business world, we feel it necessary to take this step.
We wish at this time to express our appreciation to all our patrons to whom we have endeavored to give quality service as well as quality fuels during the past 24 years we have been in the fuel business. We especially want to thank those customers who were faithful to us during and after the times of fuel short ages.
We are sure that The Lansing Ice & Fuel Company will give the same kind of service, and in many cases the same brand of fuel, that we have given.
It will be our aim to devote our entire efforts in the future to the lumber business. It is our desire to maintain the same high standards as have been established during the past 24 years of our company.

Homemakers Favor Nonfat Dry Milk

It's so easy to liquefy nonfat dry milk. Simply sprinkle the product over lukewarm water in a mixing bowl and then beat until dissolved—about a minute.

Increasing numbers of homemakers are learning of the versatility of a comparatively new product on grocers' shelves, economical nonfat dry milk.
 Nonfat dry milk, which is used for cooking, baking, drinking, with cereals and for whipping, comes in handy one-pound packages at food stores. A one-pound package will make five quarts of nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart.
 Nonfat dry milk is milk with only the fat and water removed so it contains important milk nutrients. It is a rich source of protein, calcium, riboflavin and lactose. It can be used in greater quantities to fortify food. One way of getting more milk nutrients into children is to add several tablespoons of nonfat dry milk to regular whole milk.
 It is so easy to use nonfat dry milk in cooking for it goes into most recipes which call for regular milk. It can be used as a powder in recipes in which a large part of the ingredients are dry such as cake, biscuits, muffins, by mixing with other dry ingredients and adding water as the liquid. You can liquefy nonfat dry milk at the home of her uncle, Frank Kane of Potterville.

IF you want to know why shrewd car shoppers are saying "Smart Buy's Buick," take a look at this. It's the new Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan—and it's roomier than most 4-door sedans, higher-powered than many costlier cars—and priced, as you can see, right down near the lowest.

Now, we ask you: where can you beat it for the money? Can you beat this beauty on looks and style and rich bearing in any other car near its price? Can you match, at the same money, the big power of its valve-in-head Fireball Engine (128 hp with Dynaflo Drive®)—or the big miles-per-gallon figure it delivers with such thrills?

Can you equal this traveler's roominess in any other car of comparable cost—get full-size headroom, legroom and hip-room both front and rear in any other 2-door automobile? Can you come even near the gentle levelness of its ride and the solid steadiness of its going—have coil springs on all four wheels and a torque-tube keel beneath you — except in another Buick?

And where can you top the restful ease and luxurious smoothness of this sweetheart's Dynaflo Drive® in any other automobile at any price? The answers, from a lot of

Farmer Peck's Wife

Elizabeth gets birthday cards. Phoebe has a close call. Ducklings join the Peck family. The Pecks also gain new relatives.

If Elizabeth thought you folks were getting tired of hearing about how she was, she is now thinking otherwise. Cards have been pouring in from all over for two weeks and many of the writers say they open their paper first to see how she is.

It's still a few days until her birthday and yesterday she received 30 cards, letters and handkerchiefs. It did us all good to see how happy she was and she could tell you for word what read each one herself. It took a long time but she had the children wait until she felt like going on so she could open each one herself. (They had done it for so long.) I never saw such an array of beautiful cards of all descriptions - flower gardens, and flocks of birds and butterflies that popped up when the card was opened. It made me happy, too. I know she's going to have a happy birthday Saturday.

We appreciate this mail that is bringing her so much cheer. I think each kind deed folks do brings the person who does it as well as the one who receives it - a bit of good. Don't you?

I don't know what Mrs. Dunn, who gave Phoebe to us, will think of this. But I thought it was much easier to put Phoebe on the porch as I'd seen other families there. She seemed so happy and comfortable there when cats-trophies fell or almost. Susy and Sally were playing on the porch and left their dolls and doll buggy and left them there during dinner. They also had been wheeling their kittens in the buggy and having a good time dressing them up in doll clothes. (Those kittens didn't seem to mind, either, for I was watching me happy, too. I know she's

Well, I guess having the kittens up there called the old cat. Now Phoebe had assured me that Phoebe was safe and nothing was going to happen on the porch. All at once there came such a jangling sound that we all jumped about two feet off our chairs at the dinner table. A cat had jumped from the top of the buggy onto the porch. We all dashed out and rescued Phoebe, who was in a real scared bird. Sally cried and cried. She said, "That was close enough that when you think about it we almost had no bird. I know now what almost means."

I wonder if you would be interested in knowing that Susy's duck came out with 18 little balls of yellow this week. I took movies of the girls admiring them and also of Susy picking her good. I had another duck flapping her good. I had to stop to rescue Susy who was clinging to the baby duck and the mother was going at Susy. Was Susy surprised! I didn't plan this but think it will turn out interesting. We haven't taken many movies this last year. I guess we got all the family and well-taken and it wore off. Besides it's expensive.

The other ducks are ready for eating. But who is going to eat them? I could eat every one with a contented heart as they riddled my garden every time they got near it but Sally says, "We can't eat Louie, or Louie's children. They have to be sold so we don't know who eats them."

She asked me how much she thought she would get for them and her dad told her they are worth a dollar a pound but, of course, you'll never get it. Your Mother would probably put on an even higher price!

Thank goodness there's never any question about eating cats!

My, but I've been slow in relating some very good news that happened in the Peck-Crowell families. Pete's youngest sister, Ruby, had a baby girl who is quite a chunk by now and a bright and cute as can be. They named her Phyllis Jean. That happened in March and she sits up now so you can see I am behind. They have another girl almost three named Sharon.

My brother, George and his wife had a little girl in April and she gets a lot of loving from the other three children. Her name is Janis Kay. She has the biggest dimple in her chin and is the very image of George. I think he plays and tends more to Janis than he did all three of the first ones. She is such a nice baby I can hardly get our girls to come home from here.

Then Ray's younger sister, Nellie, topped them all and had Duncan Ray who weighed 11 pounds. He is such a big little fellow. I guess there are bigger babies born but I've never seen such a big one. He is so plump and it looks like he is going to have red hair. They have four children now, two boys and two girls. Duane came by his long frame naturally. Clifford is six feet, two inches and Nellie is five feet, nine. It was inevitable, wasn't it? Duane is my "something awfully nice and interesting this week." He is two weeks old.

Donald O'Connor Is Pirate in New Comedy at Fox

In "Cuban Fireball," coming to the Fox on Saturday Estelita Rodriguez is seen as a worker in a cigar factory in Havana, Cuba. She is beloved by her co-workers because she punishes them by mimicking their tyrannical boss. She is discovered by the irascible employer during one of her impersonations and is about to be fired when a lawyer calls at the factory with the news that Estelita has inherited twenty million dollars. She is the only living descendant of a rich Californian oil man.

On the plane to Los Angeles to collect her money, Estelita figures it would be better if she arrived incognito. She has heard about American wolves and gold-seeking glasses and wig, she had used at home to mimic her employer. The companion feature on the Saturday program is "Missing Women."

Don Is Pirate

A Universal-International's technical high seas, "Double Crossbones," starring Donald O'Connor and Helena Carter and opening Sunday at the Fox Theatre, is young O'Connor's first saga of the sea, a type of role the popular comedian has hoped for since he began his screen career.

O'Connor executes the most spectacular dance routines of his career in the comedy.

Sea battles aboard merchant and pirate ships are realistic and colorful.

Returns to Comedy Mickey Rooney and post Terry Moore are teamed in Columbia Pictures' youthful rags-to-riches comedy, "He's a Cockeyed Wonder," coming Tuesday to the Fox Theatre. William Demarest has the top supporting role, with Charles

Mike Mazurki rounding out the featured cast of the picture. Mickey has one of those sure fire comedy roles in which the little guy, in love with, and beloved by, the prettiest girl in town, triumphs over his bigger and handsomer rival—in spite of himself.

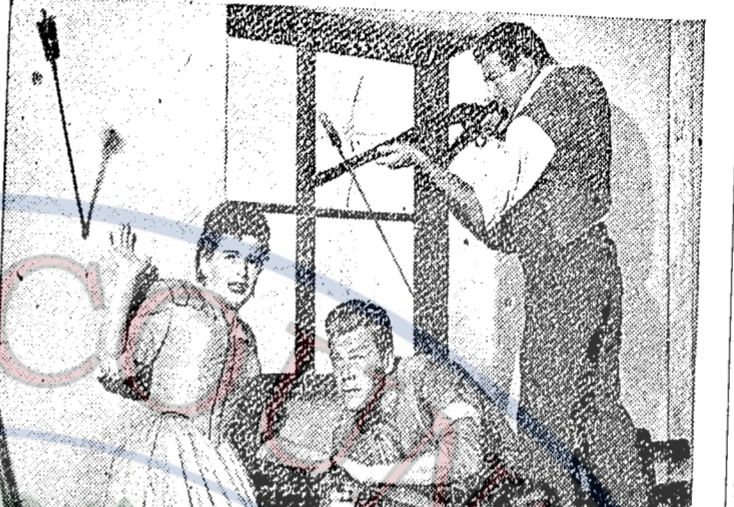

"He's a Cockeyed Wonder" starts with Mickey being fired from his job in an orange packing plant by the irascible foreman, Demarest, who prefers well-heeled Ross Ford, nephew of the packing plant as a future son-in-law. But daughter Terry remains faithful to Mickey. Mickey inherits an uncle's magic act, is interrupted by a gang of crooks while practicing for vaudeville and is kidnapped with Miss Moore. How Mickey outsmarts the gang and becomes the local hero is said to be related with a good measure of laughs and thrills.

Apache Wars A single blood-curdling incident from the long war of the Apache Indians against the encroachment of the white man is the story basis of "Apache Wars," spectacular Universal-International technicolor outdoor drama which will be shown at the Fox Theatre on Thursday and Friday with Stephen McNally and Coleen Gray in the starring roles.

Donald O'Connor as Bloodthirsty Dave, a hunted pirate of the Seven Seas, and Hope Emerson in the role of Anne Bonney, team up as a dance combination in one of the many musical numbers which "Crossbones," Helena Carter plays opposite O'Connor in the new comedy. The film will be shown at the Fox on Sunday and Monday.

Apache Wars Theme of Fox Film

Stephen McNally, right, and Coleen Gray are starred in "Apache Wars," new Universal-International technicolor Western film which depicts a single battle in the long war waged between the Apache supporting role in the new film which is scheduled for Thursday and Friday at the Fox.

Advance information that the Indian fights were actually photographed during the intense summer heat in the middle of California Mohave Desert is well substantiated on the screen which displays the oppressive atmosphere of the cracked earth as the story of a besieged frontier town unfolds. "Apache Wars" concerns the information of a gambler who finds his love again while blood-thirsty Apaches rage around the town of Spanish Boot.

The mule-pulling contest is a Wednesday forenoon feature. Harness racing fans will have an opportunity to enjoy their favorite sport on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. Dan Lincan, superintendent, has arranged for a large field of horses to compete and James Freeman, track superintendent, is all set for the trotters and pacers.

"Century Extravaganza" is the grandstand show booked for Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The heavy horse-pulling contest is scheduled for Friday, 10:00 a. m.

As usual, the grand parade of livestock, floats and farm machinery will be a Friday afternoon feature immediately following the races. A new show "International Stars" will move in for Friday and Saturday evening. There will be fireworks Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights. Saturday is veterans day and any veteran who can furnish proper credentials will be admitted free at the gate. Contests for children will be a feature on the forenoon program. At 1:00 p. m., the light horse-pulling contest is scheduled, followed by novelty team races and running races open to Eaton county horses only.

Leo and Robert LaPoint, Bellevue, each will have a team in the novelty races. They have built two chariots for the occasion.

The Charlotte American Legion again will present awards of $5.00 each to one 4-H boy and one 4-H girl in front of the grandstand Saturday evening. These will be chosen according to their 4-H achievements.

Barns and grounds will be sprayed to control flies and mosquitoes just prior to the fair. New sanitary toilets in the grove between the cow barn and the sheep barns have been made available.

Detroit's Prayers

According to the Detroit Free Press, all the priests, rabbis and the Protestant clergy of all denominations prayed for the best possible weather during the presentation of the pageant, "City of Freedom." And it only rained one night.

If Detroit received such a generous response from its mass application for fair weather during the pageant, then the priests, rabbis and Protestant ministers should get together again and quick. They should be asked to pray for better patronage on the DSR lines. They should pray for improved traffic conditions on Grand River. They should plead for a new airport so Detroiters wouldn't have to drive out to Willow Run. Maybe they could even ask that the fifth place Tigers be helped up to fourth.

John Knight with his mass circulation not only in Detroit but in Chicago, Akron and Miami, has many important connections. It may well be that he has direct word that the prayer for the long dry spell was respectfully heard and quickly granted. Yet somehow it just seems that God must be concerned with greater things than a city's 250th birthday anniversary and a play that was staged to commemorate it.

With millions of humans suffering in Korea and China, with other millions dying of hunger in India, with people throughout the world engaged in the search for more lethal weapons with which to kill and maim each other, it hardly seems reasonable that prayers for fair weather would be given priority or would even be considered seriously.

Please, God, don't have it rain during our Sunday school picnic.

We Got Ours

Ingham county has been promised $300,000 from the state toward meeting building costs at the tuberculosis hospital.

So we got ours, as was succinctly stated at a meeting of the Ingham county board of supervisors.

Now other counties are clamoring for theirs.

Ingham started out to pay its own way on remodeling the tuberculosis sanatorium. Then to woo support for the $60,000,000 mental hospital bond issue last fall someone conceived the idea of adding $5,000,000 for tuberculosis hospitals. Most people thought the $5,000,000 was for state tuberculosis hospitals.

The $5,000,000 was split: $2,000,000 for a state hospital and other sums aggregating $3,000,000 was split between a few counties and the American Legion hospital in Battle Creek.

In anticipation of the state's generosity, Ingham county went ahead with a four-story addition instead of the two-story. So we got ours.

But we got it too easy, so easy that Wayne and some other counties now want theirs. They'll get it, too. The politicians have promised it to them, and the extra $2,000,000 will come out of the state's general fund.

No, there is nothing wrong in Ingham county getting its share. There is nothing wrong in other counties getting their shares. They are as much entitled to them as Ingham.

But wouldn't it have been better had each county kept on providing its own facilities? That was Ingham's plan before the way was opened for the $3,000,000 grab. Then we would have got ours, and got it with our own money. Now after getting ours we'll have to give somebody theirs.

That's the way local government and local responsibility breaks down. We holler long and loud at state and federal controls. But we go a running when there's a chance to get in on the split.

We got ours.

The Telephone Hearing

There are several areas in Ingham where the telephone service is inadequate. One of those areas includes parts of Stockbridge and Bunker Hill townships in Ingham and part of Henrietta township in Jackson. That area is now listed as unassigned territory.

A hearing has been called for September 13 to seek a solution.

The public service commission is set up to remedy and control such situations. All parties interested have an opportunity to be heard at the hearings.

Perhaps the Dansville situation was not a companion case. Yet the public service commission could well study the record there. Five or six years ago when Dansville subscribers were paying a little for a little service there were somewhere around 100 subscribers. Then Dansville was offered good service at higher rates. They accepted it. Now there are 275 telephones in the Dansville exchange.

That might prove that people are willing to pay a good price for good telephone service.

Starting De-Emphasis

Two good places where de-emphasis of athletics can begin are the home and the school. Another one is the home-town paper.

Right now before classes start, parents can impress upon their sons that football is just play and that the only valid reason for attending school is to train and improve the mind.

The schools themselves have over-emphasized football and basketball. Too often the boy who uses his muscles gets all the glory while the boy who uses his brains is ignored, often discouraged.

It has taken the series of basketball scandals and the one at West Point to show how far we have permitted our sports enthusiasm to run away with our judgment. De-emphasis of athletics has been long overdue.

Vernon Brown Bales Up Prose

Vernon J. Brown's weekly article on the state of the nation, state affairs and conditions in general was baled up with the second cutting of alfalfa Monday.

On Monday morning he sat down before his typewriter out in Vevay. He had his head full of keen observations. But he glanced up at the sky and saw storm clouds gathering. He decided his observations instead of his alfalfa could better wait for another day or even another week. That's why readers will have to wait until next week to learn what the senior member of the editorial staff is thinking.

Down by the Sycamore

Bruce Ball's double is Earl D. Burt, who handles the book work for Roy D. Christensen. It's a common occurrence for him to be taken for Bruce. He doesn't mind. Earl came from Lansing last November to join the Christensen staff. What puzzles Bruce's friends is Earl's smoking. They mistakenly conclude that Bruce has become addicted. Earl said he might stop his smoking in public if Bruce would trade in his car for a Christensen Ford.

Another look alike is Rev. Paul Arnold of the Presbyterian church and Harold Barnhill, a Presbyterian layman. Some infrequent church attendants gasp when they think they see Barney in the pulpit. Some others gasped at the county fair when they thought they saw Brother Arnold having a whirl at some of the games of chance.

I fell suddenly sick and was as suddenly cured at the fair Saturday afternoon and I had no doubt to share the embarrassment which came my way in between.

I went to the brick building to pick up my wife's pies and knitting and Margaret's cookies. As I dodged along through the crowd toward the car I felt something trickle down my legs. The trickle grew into a stream. I walked cross-legged. I staggered toward the first aid station, wondering if the nurse on duty knew how to stop a hemorrhage. Just as I reached the door I glanced down to see what kind of shape I was in. My feeling of alarm quickly turned to pride as I noticed the aristocratic blue seeping out through my pants around the knees. Then I took another look. It wasn't blood. It was the juice from my wife's prize-winning huckleberry pie.

To reward my wife for winning blue ribbons on apple, pumpkin and huckleberry pies I took her out to supper at Andrew Haley's restaurant Saturday night. Mrs. Haley had won the top prize on cherry pie at the fair and I hoped the two women would share receipts.

Mrs. Haley's blue ribbon had brought on a rush of cherry pie orders at the restaurant, and she was completely out. We had apple pie instead. It was good.

Mrs. Haley makes 15 or 20 pies every day and even then can't keep even with the demand. Some customers eat the same kind of pie every day, others are faddish like Nathan Lentis, who works for Lyle Howlett. For five years without a miss Nate topped off his noon dinner at Haley's with a wedge of cherry pie. Mrs. Haley considered him a steady customer. Then one day a waitress came hurrying back to report that Nate wanted a piece of pineapple pie.

Mrs. Haley insisted that the waitress must have misunderstood the order. The waitress went back to ask Nate again. He replied in a voice which all within the restaurant could hear, "I said pineapple." Now for two years he has had pineapple pie each noon.

What Mrs. Haley wants to know and has not yet screwed up courage enough to ask Nate is what was wrong with the cherry pie.

It was no surprise when John Prough's team won the heavy-weight pulling contest at the fair Saturday afternoon. This is either the third or fourth time that the big team from LaGrange, Indiana, has walked off with the money. The big roan has a new partner each year. The roan weighs 2,000 and his gray partner tips the scales at 2,400.

"What can you do with such a team of hippos on your farm?" I asked Prough.

"I don't work 'em," he replied. "If they were humans instead of horses they would probably be candidates for public office. The roan has size enough to run for sheriff."

"As to working such a team," Prough continued, they would pull my arms out of their sockets and me off the seat. They would lose flesh working on plowed ground. Horses need the weight as well as muscle in these pulling contests. They need the weight when they lean into their collars to start the load."

So don't let's carry this diktat fad too far. Maybe some day we'll need to buckle down into harness and pull a load.

Just why most of the teams in the pulling contests come from the

MOTHER NATURE PUTS FLOWERS TO WORK

Moss Pink Anchors Soil

Moss Pink is a modest little plant, but a hardy one. On dry, sandy, or rocky soil, where most flowers would wither and die, it flourishes and spreads.

Moss Pink ©National Wildlife Federation

Growing in colonies, Moss Pink blankets the ground with a trailing mat of green. Reaching upward from the low parts are stems bearing thin, pointed leaves, shaped like needles. At the ends of the stems are clusters of pink, white or purple flowers, each with five petals. The plants cling close to the ground, never rising more than six inches in height.

When a mass of Moss Pink is in bloom, from April to June, it looks like a bright carpet covering the earth. Later in the season, after the blossoms are gone, the stems and leaves stay green.

According to the National Wildlife Federation, Moss Pink is found in the northeastern fourth of the United States. Although it may grow as far north as Ontario and as far south as Florida, it thrives chiefly in the region bounded by New York, North Carolina, Tennessee and Michigan. A native American plant, it is a member of the pixlox family.

When growing wild, it anchors down the soil and keeps beating rains from washing away the dirt. If it were not for the thick mats of Moss Pink, many a hill or slope would be furrowed with gullies. The plant also does well in flower beds and rock gardens, according to the National Wildlife Federation. It comes in a dozen or more varieties which are easily grown. Like its wild cousin, Moss Pink in gardens form bright patches of color in the spring.

For interesting information on other wildlife species, readers may write to the National Wildlife Federation, Washington 10, D. C.

Ancient History

One Year Ago The 1950 county fair returned a profit. The exact amount is not yet known. Attendance was up and expenses were lower than the year before.

From August 21 damaged crops on low ground. Hundreds of acres of corn, potatoes, cucumbers and melons were killed. Onions were damaged but will partially recover, growers said.

At its meeting Monday night the city council decided to submit a petition to the state legislature to have a charter commission draw up a new charter.

Richard Mead, 4, Danville lost the sight of one eye when he was struck by an arrow.

Ingham peach growers are harvesting one of the best crops in years.

10 Years Ago—1941 Leslie voters turned down the proposal for the sale of liquor by the glass, 393 to 29.

The Surplus Marketing Authority has announced that it will again buy apples to bolster the market. Five million bushels of the fruit will be shipped to Great Britain in a gift.

The barn on the 80 acres a mile north of Onondaga owned by the Prudential Life Insurance Co. was destroyed by fire August 20. It was a new barn last year. Mrs. Wilma Brown rented the place.

In order to get the streets surfaced with concrete the city council has abandoned the WPA program and will let a contract for the work. On the program for surfacing are Lansing street from Ash to North, North street from Lansing to Cedar and Rogers from Sycamore to Okemos street.

The city council has backed away from its edict that the Mason stockyards can not be used by Ridley & Marshall as sales pens. The Michigan Central, which leases the yards to the Detroit commission house, and the sellers themselves have agreed to keep the yards clean.

20 Years Ago—1931 Beavers have constructed a dam three miles northeast of Mason on Mud creek. Drain Commissioner George Graham has asked the state conservation department to live-trap the beavers so the dam can be destroyed.

Claude Reynolds has the lead in the tall corn contest. He is displaying corn 12 feet, 4 inches tall. The Wolverine Engineering Co. has entered a new field. It is now manufacturing concrete burial vaults.

Sidney Morrison, plant engineer at the SMA Corporation, has perfected and is now manufacturing milk can covers. He has applied for a patent on his invention. P. W. Launstein & Sons has acquired the routes of the Postcrest Dairy in Mason and Holt. Launsteins also bought part of the Postcrest herd.

50 Years Ago—1901 Mason's baseball team walloped the strong Echemant team of Lansing 10-2 last Friday afternoon. Eugene, Lo and Al Edgar of Aurelius added strength to the Mason lineup. Lo Edgar led Mason at the plate with three hits.

Nicholas McCann of Bunker Hill was in Mason Friday and bought of the Mason Vending Co. one of the new ball-bearing top buggies. The Dansville Creamery Co. is selling its engine and boiler and southern tier of Michigan counties or from over the line in Ohio or Indiana. It is hard to figure out. Farm mechanization reached there before it did here in the third tier of counties. Some people say that the interest in horse-pulling stems from the Hillsdale fair.

Probably those in the horse-pulling audience who can hitch or drive a team are in the minority these days. Lots of people have to go to the fair to see a horse in harness.

With interest high in horse-pulling there is good reason to believe that crowds would show the same interest in watching women work. For next year's fair a clothes-washing or clothes-ironing contest is hard to stage. Perhaps a baby-changing contest would go good.

Summertime is almost over. Mrs. Nick and Her Hayseeds will usher in the autumn social season at the Legion Memorial building Saturday night, September 8. That's a place where a little extra weight comes in handy, too.

The Lions did all right with their turtle derby. The venture returned a profit of better than $1,000, according to incomplete reports.

The most popular author this summer has been Robb White. He is best known for his sailing stories, but his most recent book, a dog story, "The Haunted Hound," has really brought him fame in Ingham county. It is the story of Pot Likker, a fox-hunting hound, who at first, refused to be domesticated. Pot Likker adopted Jonathan Barrett and from then on both the dog and boy have many adventures and prove the dog's greatness. Some like this story because it is a dog story, and others talk about their interest in Jonathan and his father and Judy and her uncle. We like it because it is exciting, full of suspense and human interest.

Firemen Stage Annual Picnic

The Williamston Volunteer Firemen held their annual picnic supper at the home of Mrs. Robert Ketchum, Friday evening, forty-nine attended. The supper was served at seven o'clock under the well-lighted big maple in the yard. Following the supper a program under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bartlett kept everyone busy until 10 o'clock, when the group adjourned into the house for hot coffee and visiting. Following this, Lester May showed colored slides of his family's trip through Arizona, Wyoming, New Mexico, Utah and the Dakotas.

A short business meeting, presided over by Chief Wilbur Smith, followed the supper. Announcement was made that the Albert Firemen's association will hold its picnic, August 26 at St. Johns. Tickets were given out to the local firemen for the Christmas project which will follow the same line as last year. Each year the local firemen raise money which is spent for the putting on of a Christmas party in the school gym for all children below the seventh grade in the city and surrounding community.

New School Ready At Williamston

The new elementary school will be completed by the opening of school with the exception of steel lockers and a few other metal items.

The formal dedication will take place after the opening of school. It is expected that the lockers will arrive soon. Registration will take place at the new school Wednesday forenoon, September 5. Children from the west end of town attending the elementary school will have an opportunity to ride the bus, which will make stops on the south side of Grand River and on Williams street, for all living north of Grand River in that section. Grade children in other sections of the city will take the bus, which will stop for them when returning from their trips to the rural areas. Regular stops will be established after the opening of school.

Garden Club to Hold Show

The Red Cedar Garden club will hold the annual fall flower show September 7 and 8 at St. Mary's hall. Residents of the community and men gardeners are urged to bring in flower arrangements and specimen blooms. The local club will try again for the national award of the Purple ribbon. Last year they won honorable mention. The theme of the show will be "Down the Garden Path" which will end at the wishing well. There are few rules, all classes being open to the public and all entries are free.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Siegels and son of Tucson, Arizona, arrived Friday for a visit with relatives and friends. The Siegels are former residents of Williamston. The Past Presidents club of the Womans Relief corps will meet for a bohemian dinner at the home of Mrs. Eva McGee Friday. Mrs. Bernice Siegels of Arizona, past president of the corps, will be the honored guest.

W. R. C. Has Meeting

The Woman's Relief Corps met Thursday evening at the city hall. Rhoda Sloan presided. The president appointed Ivah Turner and Emma Smith as aides. The next meeting those who had birthday anniversaries in May, June, July and August will be recognized. A bohemian dinner will be served at 8:30 o'clock. At this time guests from out of town will be entertained. Members are asked to take table service and a dish to pass. A meeting with the Patriotic club will be held in September. Following the business session of the W. R. C., Arvilla Porter and Emma Smith served refreshments.

Kiwanians Plan Commission Sale

The Williamston Kiwanis club will depart from its usual way of raising funds for underprivileged children this year and will, instead, hold a commission sale on a consignment basis during the months of October and November. The idea, as proposed, would be for merchants of Williamston, residents of this community and farmers in surrounding territory to consign either one or more head of cattle, farm tools or anything of a farm nature, or household appliances which they wish to sell on a commission basis. The club will handle the advertising, the auctioning of the gross receipts and pay the commission for selling.

These farmers, merchants or residents who desire to enter this plan are asked to get in touch with either Everett White, Clarence Prine, Harold Youngs or Clarence Morrice and their consignments will be recorded and the consignor contacted later regarding details. The club president, can be reached at the Williamston hardware, Prine at the Williamston Credit Bureau, and Youngs at Pontiac Sales.

Sportsmen Discuss Hunting

The Chief Okemos Sportsmen club meeting was held recently. Merrill L. Van Ostran, president of the Williamston Progressive Hunting club, was an invited guest and gave a short talk on how the local club works, its success and accomplishments over the years of its activities. The Okemos club went on record as opposed to using rifles in deer hunting south of M-46, and also to curb the use of motor boats on various lakes and streams. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Nina Ketchum, Mrs. Ruth Wilton and daughter, Dawn Ellen, were dinner guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Edith Tobias, in LeRoy township Sunday. Clyde Croel was surprised on his birthday Saturday night when friends and neighbors came in for refreshments. Mrs. Croel served refreshments, assisted by her daughters, Virginia and Loraine.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frost visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lane in Charlotte Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Porter of Lansing spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Porter. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butler and daughter, Mrs. Verne Butler of Detroit spent the week end at the M. V. Butler home.

Plans Made for School Opening On September 5

Williamston schools will reopen September 5, for a half-day session for all freshmen. Junior high and grade students, no students are to attend on Tuesday, as this is a day for the teachers to get organized and ready for the opening day.

Teachers will meet Tuesday to get their rooms in order and to hold general meetings. The first meeting will be at 10 o'clock, at the new elementary school. In the afternoon the high school teachers will meet in the home economics room of the high school and grade teachers will meet at the elementary school.

On Wednesday, September 5, the freshmen, junior high and elementary students will report for school at nine o'clock. Classes will be dismissed at noon. Each school bus will go out from the school at eight o'clock on the same route used last year. All new students should walk to the bus route, if they do not live on it, the first day. The routes will be changed to take care of the greatest number of students possible, as soon as location of students, in relation to the route, is determined, school officials said.

Driving the school buses this year will be Richard Haskill, W. R. Fowler, William Dennis, Ted Turan, Lloyd Hunt and Mr. Luack. Haskill will be in charge of all the buses, being responsible for the maintenance, for drivers and for the detailed information necessary for filing reports to the state department.

The maintenance men at the new elementary school are Ralph Norvis and George Vickers. The maintenance men at the high school are Harmon Straugh and Roy Holmes.

FFA Boys Plan Camping Trip

The August meeting of the Future Farmers of America was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Risch, Gaylord Risch was host. Plans are complete for the annual summary leadership camp, which will be held at the Cadillac state park August 20. The camp will consist of planning the year's program. The Williamston chapter has been high in state chapter competition for years.

Plans are made for the boys to swim, boat, fish and hike during the camp. Twenty-five boys will attend the camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Siebert Meerman have returned from their trip to the west coast covering nearly 7,000 miles. Indiana Horses Place First in Heavy Pulling

John Prough's giant Percheron team out of LaGrange, Indiana, won the heavy horse-pulling contest at the Ingham fair Saturday afternoon. The team of hippopotamus pulled the loaded boat 27 1/2 feet and could have kept on going. It was the only team in the contest which pulled the 9,000-pound load the full distance.

Nine other teams made courageous tries. They all started the load, John Sheathelm of Holland in-filled some of his fighting Dutch into his team. On their third try they pulled into second place with 17 feet, 1 inch.

The eight other teams which shared the money by starting the load were those of Henry Wynn, Constantine, 8-10; R. W. Richards, Reading, 8-9; Lawrence Gier, Ossau, 6-7; Dr. H. C. Cray, Pioneer, Ohio, 3-7; Harold Van Hosen, Bronson, 3-7; George Stoenan, Haren, 3-3; Fred Case, Bronson, 2-8; and Clara Stahl, Clarksville, 1-9.

Four other teams went out on lighter hauls.

Judges gave Dale Pollock of

Perry the award for top horseman-ship.

Light Horses Pull

Pound for pound, the light horses outpulled the heavies. Three thousand pounds is the dividing line in the light class, at 3,000 they must haul against the heaviest.

Al Pee of Athens won first place with his light team. They pulled the top weight of 8,000 pounds 15 feet. A team owned by Hugh Davis of Bronson was the only other one to start the load. They pulled it 3 feet, two inches. The other eight winners stopped with the 7,750 pull.

Judges gave Davis the horse-manship award.

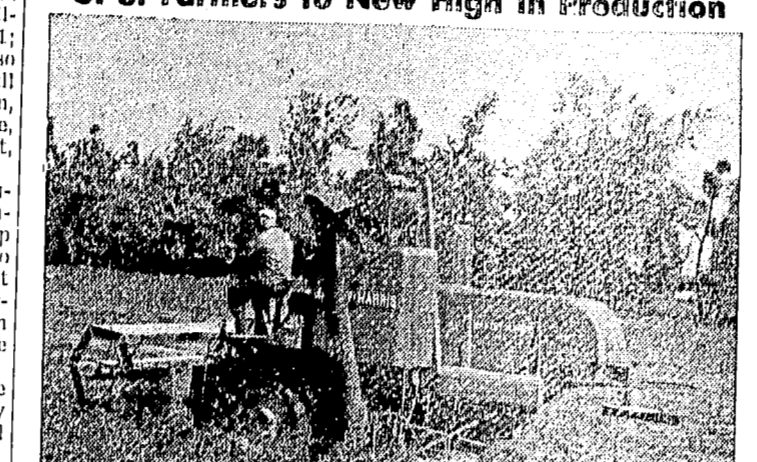

The 10 top teams, their weights and their hauls were: 8,000 load, Al Pee, 2,990, Athens, 15-9; Hugh Davis, Bronson, 3,000, 3-2; on 7,750 load, Lee Robinson, Fowler-Ville, 3,000, 20-6; Ray Overacker, Battle Creek, 3,000, 15-11; George McNitt, Middleville, both fifth and sixth places, with 2,950 team pulling 6-2 and 2,900 team pulling 5-1; Overacker's second team, also 3,000, finishing seventh with a pull of 5-1; Albert Moss, Bronson, 3,000, 2-3; and Charles Burkett, Downing, 3,000, 2-1.

Clay Hildet of Mason was superintendent of the pulling contests. He had the teams lined up and enough helpers on hand to keep the pulling moving right along. Boile Spear of Mason, Firman Head of Danville and Glen Wertz of Charlotte were the judges.

Lester Sidell of Fowlerville handled the microphone. His lusty wit was as entertaining as usual and maybe a little lustier.

Rapid Food and Fiber Consumption Forces U. S. Farmers to New High in Production

RACINE, Wis. — With the nation presently consuming at a greater rate than its farms could produce in 1950, it is estimated that the 1952 demands will be even greater than 1951 production. Farmers faced with an ever increasing shortage of manpower are looking to American industry for the labor-saving equipment necessary to meet the new and greater demands.

In wheat alone, the decline in carry-over, has fallen from the desirable 600 million bushels to 83 million bushels. The U. S. civilian population is increasing at the rate of 2 million persons per year, and the 1935-39 average. Partial military mobilization calls for a big increase in food needs and the volume of agriculture exports is up 50 per cent.

MIKE PEKRUŁ IS SCRAMBLED TOO

Farm Boys Scramble for Calves

Mike Pekrul, 14, should have scrambled faster at the calf scramble during the Ingham county fair. Mike was one of 20 boys who ran herd on 10 Hereford calves in front of the grandstand Friday night. The calves broke and headed for a weak link in the snow fence which had been strung across the track.

Mike was caught between the fence and the onrush of stampeding hoofs. He was thrown to the ground as the calves broke through to short-lived freedom.

When the dust settled, Mike remained. A hoof mark was left on the right side of his belly. He was rushed to the Mason hospital to be treated for shock and bruises but was shortly released.

Mike is a veteran in the calf scramble business. Last year he scrambled for a calf and succeeded. The calf grew to weigh

Farmers Find Straw Market

Farmers who don't want to or can't plow high straw stubble under this fall are selling it baled to paper mills. Straw is used to make paper cartons in Noblesville, Indiana and at Monroe in Michigan.

W. C. Fisher of Charlotte is buying Ingham straw for the Indiana firm. Since the harvest season, Fisher and his men are making one or two trips to Indiana each day with trailers.

Straw can be wet or dry and come from wheat, oats or rye, Fisher said.

Straw is not used to make high grade paper or newsprint, so the paper shortage has not affected the straw market, Fisher explained. Straw is used entirely for paper cartons and strawboard. It can be used for newsprint. The Chicago Tribune used up to 25% straw in making newsprint on experimental runs last year.

Apply Lime Now On Wheat Land

Applying lime now on wheat land which will be seeded to a legume next spring reduces the danger of seeding failure, loss of seed and interruption of crop rotation plans, according to James Porter, soil scientist at Michigan State college.

Liming materials should be applied only in amounts indicated by soil test.

If the soil test indicates a need for one to two tons an acre, limestone should be applied while the seedbed is prepared after plowing. If the soil is highly acid and needs more than two tons of limestone to the acre, the application should be split. Apply half the lime before and half after plowing.
