Bulldozed Tree Kills Operator On Mason Farm

Fatally injured by a toppling tree on an Alaiedon farm last Friday morning was Robert C Elliott, 26, Holt.

Elliott was operating a bulldozer for Ray Sablain, Lansing, on the farm of LaVern Shoultz Hospital Work on Lamb road, Alaiedon, Sablain had the job of land clearing and assigned Elliott to it. Elliott was a nephew of the farm owner.

While Elliott was operating the bulldozer, a tree was jerked out of the ground. The trunk was evidently rotten. The upper part of the tree snapped off and a 7-"Inch limb struck Elliott on his ing of the need at the Mason Gen-Williamston, $2,079.75.

He saw his nephew slumped down, partially out of the seat, unconscious,

The farm owner ran to the Wilson Force house nearby. Force and Shoultz carried the injured man to Force's car and sped for the Mason General hospital.

When Dr. Donald Cairns at the Mason hospital discovered the extent of Elliott's injuries he realized brain surgery was necessary, and made arrangements for an emergency operation at the St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing.

Kept alive by oxygen at the Mason hospital, Elliott was transferred to a Jewett ambulance, equipped with an oxygen tank. With Arthur W. # Council Plans Public Hearing On Storm Sewer

Opinions on installing min mum storm sewers on Cedar street will be reviewed at a public hearing at the city hall Monday night, November 16. The hearing

Mason's city council called for the hearing to comply with charter regulations.

The storm sewer would be a companion project with the Cedar street curb and gutter which has already been approved at a public hearing and sanctioned by the council,

"Before the state highway department will permit the city to construct curb and gutter along the route, there must be adequate drainage." City Engineer Walter Zimmer told the councilmen.

When councilmen first discussed the curb and gutter profect, no mention was made of the need for the companion storm sewer projects.

According to plans submitted by Zimmer, the minimum sewer requirements will boost the overall project by $8,219.75. It would be financed through a special assessment.

The curb and gutter will cost about $5,600, sending the total cost of the project to about $14,-

The curb and gutter would extend from Columbia street south along both sides of Cedar street to Ash street. The sewer plans include a 36-inch tile which will cross under the pavement near the Sycamore street intersection. This tile will be put to capacity use in the event that the area west of Cedar street is brought into the city sewer system.

If the sewer system and curb and gutter projects are approved decorations. at the public hearing, work will. Street decorations this year probably be started next spring, call for more Christmas lights be done." councilmen indicated.

However, because of the cost dropped, according to Mayor he added. Clairmont Everitt.

At the present time there is an niunction standing against the city which forbids it to add any more guard posts on Cedár street. The injunction procedure was initiated by Cedar street merchants who declared that the guard posts harmed their businesses and lowered property values.

"The cost of the guard posts, the new sidewalk and the legal fees may make this project costly enough without adding the new $14,000 curb, gutter and pany's testimonial school, a token sewer," Councilman C. H. Hall of more than 25 years' represent stated. "However, because it will be primarily an assessment venture, the city will probably go along with whatever the property owners want."

BIG FISH DESCRIBED

David Bradway, owner of the Paramount Coffee Co. in Lansing, appeared before the Mason Kiwanis club Tuesday night to show pictures of mammoth fish. Bradway and his son fished the White river in Arkansas in June. That's where the mammoth alligator gars are caught. Bradway said the smallest gar caught was 60 lb and others ranged on up to 160. Some were more than 7 and we wish to acknowledge your feet long. Bradway had movies showing the landing of some of the fish.

No matter how you see it—vitamin A has eye appeal. It plays a role in keeping eyes and skin healthy, Lack of this vitamin produces night

The victim of night blindness is the motorist who in the twilight strains to see approaching traffic, or the theatre-goer who upon coming into the dimly, lit movie from the bright foyer gropes blindly for his seat. This difficulty in seeing in dim light or adapting to darkness is the most clear-cut effect of the lack of vitamin A. Night blindness is a dietary disease. It can be cured by eating foods rich in this vitamin.

The role of this vitamin is also skin deep. Too little vitamin A may cause dryness, itching and scaliness of the skin over the entire body. Shortly after this vitamin was discovered, it was thought to have some effect on control of colds and respiratory infections. Research, however, has failed to show that fewer colds occur among persons re-ceiving supplements of vitamin A than among those persons who eat

B vitamins, minerals and protein from the bread, and energy from both. Vitamin A, as such, does not occur in plants, but is present in the form of a brilliant yellow substance—carotene. Yes, this carotene paints the carrot orange, and carotene received its name from this vegetable. The body produces vitamin A from carotene. Vitamin A is a fat soluble vitamin and needs the help of a digestible fat for its absorption. Fish liver oils have long been known as rich sources of vitamin A. However, it is manufactured extensively in the laboratory today.

Farmers are streamlining their production methods to combat high costs and labor scarcity, according to a review of agricultural infor-

The trend towards increased efficiency is affecting methods used in all types of farming, but per-haps is most strikingly illustrated by the manner in which dairy farmers can make more money by planning operations so that they cut down on work in providing the

This is an outstanding performance. In order to accomplish it Mr. Kupferschmid has had to plan his hay and pasture programs carefully. He has had to select the types of grasses best suited to his requirements and his land's ability to produce the high quality and quantity of forage needed. As his forage program centers so highly about ladino and alfalfa, he obviously has had to plan his liming and fertilizing programs with care as both of these legumes draw large quantities of calcium and other plant nutrients from the soil. For example, a 15 acre field was prepared for seeding last year by the application of 32 tons of limestone and other fertilizers were added this spring.

which is owned by George Causey and managed by Harold Deering in Wakefield, Rhode Island. This farm consists of about 100 acres of which 75 are tillable. An average of 100 tons of limestone were used annually for the past two years in addition to large quantities of other fertilizers and manure to replace the minerals removed by Third place went to Richard Fox of Fryeburg, Maine. Farms in Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire placed fourth, fifth and sixth in the order given.

It is farmers like these who lead the way in demonstrating to their neighboring farmers that hay and pasture programs must be carefully planned and carried out and that in addition these crops must be grown on soils which are adequately limed and fertilized.

Every one . . . who shall confess me before men, him will also confess before my Father who is in heaven. (Matthew 10:32. A. S. V.) Read Acts 5:27-32.

All passengers on a ship, so the story goes, had been ordered below because of a storm at sea. They became alarmed as the waves dashed over the vessel. At last, one of them crept up on deck and came to the pilot, who was faithfully and confidently doing his duty. The pilot saw the terrorstricken man and gave him a reassuring smile. The passenger then went below to comfort the others, saying, "I have seen the face of the pilot, and he smiled. All is well.

There is nothing so effective or so simple as an honest vitness—telling what we have seen and heard, and witnessing in our lives to what the Lord has done for us. The power of the Holy Spirit makes us witnesses of Christ, able to confess Him boldly so that our confession honors Him and brings plessings to others and to ourselves. We have a glorious promise that those who confess Him here, He will confess pefore the Father at the day of judgment. PRAYER

Work Thou in us, O Lord of life. By the power of Thy Holy Spirit, help us to be Thy faithful witnesses that men may see Thy light shining in our lives and find the way out of their darkiess. For Thy name's sake. Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

More glamour, more comfort, more performance are in store in the new 1954 DeSoto Automatic. which goes on display November 5 at the Ingham Motor Sales showroom at 220 West Ash street,

In combination with such previous DeSoto advancements as full-time power steering and power brakes, the 1954 DeSoto with PowerFlite is an "automatic" automobile reaching new peaks in style, comfort and perform-

In the styling category, clean smooth-flowing body lines blend to produce a longer, wider car with a low, road-hugging look. A forward-motion styling theme dominates the exterior appearance o fthe new DeSoto from sparkling new "floating" grille and smoothly-contoured new bumper to distinctive new taillight clusters.

Interior styling of the 1954 De-Soto is completely new. Interior colors are keyed to exterior finishes and new instrument panels and garnish mouldings are with over-all color blended

An important contribution to the new DeSoto's riding comfort is no-sway ride control suspension, minimizing body "lean" and eliminating tire squeal on turns, while providing improved control and all-around stability. A stiffer frame, redesigned front and rear body mountings and new read spring mountings are also contributing factors to this new controlled ride.

DeSoto's new PowerFlite transmission is an outstanding performance advancement. The culmination of years of research and development work with automatic transmissions, PowerFlite is an unmatched combination of

Phone Customers Do Own Dialing On Long Distance

The Michigan Bell Telephone company on November 20 will inaugurate a plan at Birmingham which will make it possible for telephone users in that com-munity to dial their own long-distance calls to many points all over the country.

Under the plan, Birmingham customers will be able to dial direct to more than 13,000,000 telephones in the metropolitan areas of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago, Baltimore, San Francisco, Milwaukee, New Haven (Conn.), Newark, Washington D. C., Sacramento and Oakland.

A revolutionary method of speeding long-distance service, customer toll dialing was first inaugurated in Englewood, New Jersey, 2 years ago.

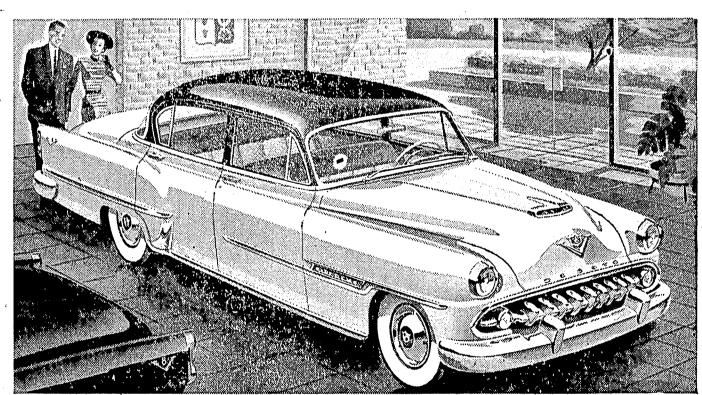

Birmingham was chosen as the second community in the nation to come under the plan because it is served by a particular type of central office equipment which is readily adaptable to long-distance dialing. Further, Birmingham customers, the company said, place a high percentage of toll calls per capita-and to a wider range of cities throughout the country than do subscribers in many exchanges.

Automatic accounting equip ment will register each step of a customer-dialed long-distance call for billing purposes.

Key to the long-distance dialing plan is what telephone engineers call a "4A Toll Crossbar Machine." One of these hugealmost human mechanical brains has been installed in Michigan Bell's headquarters building, in Detroit. When a call is dialed in to it, it automatically searches out an available circuit and rings any telephone in most of the nation's major cities in a matter of seconds.

In addition to making it possible for Birmingham customers to dial long-distance, the 4A machine permits Michigan Bell operators to dial more toll calls directly through to the called telephone without the assistance of an intermediate operator. It also guides calls originated by operators all over the country to the proper telephone in Detroit, Lansing, Saginaw, Flint, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Grand Rapids, Pontiac, Petoskey, Kalamazoo, and other outstate exchanges.

Turkey Prices Up Slightly For Holidays

That holiday turkey is going to cost you slightly more than you paid last year.

Henry Larzelere, Michigan State college agricultural economist, cites these reasons: Consumer incomes are at an all-time high. Turkeys are available in more attractive form in more stores for longer periods than they used to be. Birds now are displayed frozen and ready to cook. And, adds Larzelere, since beef, pork and lamb prices are expected to be as high or slightly higher than a year ago, the demand for turkey will be boosted. especially for the Christmas trade.

A Whirlwind on Wheels The Caldwell Rotary

Brush & Stalk Cutter

Caldwell's S-2 Rotary Brush Cutter is a sensationally new pasture tool of proven performance. Since its introduction it has been universally accepted by farmers and ranchers, and by others having need for a cutting implement of the S-2's demonstrated ability.

The S-2 Cutter mounts a 57-inch Spring Steel Blade of a special alloy geared to 600 r. p. m. It will cut any and all weeds, brush and similar growths up to two inches thick at ground level, and do the job so thoroughly that quick rotting is assured. Scrub brush, grass, rank weeds are cut down in a single pass.

Easy Running

A 16 h. p. tractor with conventional power take-off gives ample pulling power. It is easy running. All of the larger moving parts are equipped with Timken Tapered Roller Bearings, and the smaller parts with needle bearings.

All gears are steel, are machine cut and heat-treated for hardness. The Universal Joint is a Blood Bros. product. The frame is electrically-welded, and is covered with 12-gauge steel. The revolving mechanism is equipped with a quickly replaceable shear pin to keep breakage from undue stress at the minimum. 15 or 16-inch wheels are optional. The cutter is sold without tires. Parts are always available.

Commercial corn acreage allotments, nationally, probably will be cut 15% to 20% below the planted acreage this year. Full 90% of parity supports for corn will be continued next year. That's the law.

The cattlemen who journeyed to Washington a week ago didn't sell the secretary of agriculture on high support prices for cattle. Top administration farm officials figure the worst of the price slump has passed. Government buying of beef will coninue, some 250,000,000 lb to be contracted for by December 15.

Packinghouse officials say 1.-

400,000,000 lb of beef would have to be taken out of consumer channels next year to lift beef prices up to 90% of parity level. That's enough beef to feed the entire U. S. population for a month. It's enough beef to feed the combined populations of Illinois and California for almost a year. The packing house officials say if this amount of beef were frozen, it would require more than twice the amount of freezer space now available And 1,400,000,000 lb of beef canned, would more than meet present consumption require ments for all kinds of canned meat for 6 months.

There are only 2 alternatives for disposal of the large supply coming along: Give the stuff away-or price it low enough so that people will eat a lot more meat than they are now in the habit of eating.

Secretary Benson's proposed reorganization plan for USDA has brought a storm of pro tests from friends of Soil Conservation Service. the past, acreage allotments have followed on the heels of marketing quotas.

Acreage allotments can seriously hamper our Michigan sugar industry, an industry which brings millions of dollars into this state each year!

Because sugar beets are such a high-profit, eash crop, you certainly don't want to be left out in the cold with a small acreage, or none at all, when allotments go into effect. You want to be able to put a healthy amount of land into beets. Here's how you can do it.

Plant a good-sized acreage into sugar beets next year. In the past, recent farm history of a crop has meant a great deal when allotment formulas were made out. The higher the number of acres you can show the allotment board, the higher the number of beet acres they'll allow you to plant. It's as simple as that.

Next time you get a chance, take your sugar company fieldman aside and ask him for the facts straight. Then put a healthy number of your farm acres into sugar beets. THE VERY LAST OPPORTUN-ITY FOR YOU TO CREATE A FARM HISTORY WILL PROBABLY COME IN 1954, SO MAKE IT A BIG YEAR!

These are not just idle words. Ask any Farm Bureau member who has for his $10 membership fee a partnership in the feed seed, petroleum, equipment and insurance divisions of the Farm Bureau. As a partner he and his family share in the obvious advantages of any partnershipservices at less cost, available even when normal economies might mean that he would have to be deprived of them.

The size of these Farm Bureau subsidiaries makes it possible for them to buy in quantity and by virtue of known support from Farm Bureau members; to sell at the lowest possible cost and still stay profitably in business.

This one feature of Farm Bureau membership alone is worth many times the cost of a year's membership because it offers the farmer a chance to buy without paying the top dollar and at the same time, buy quality and lependability.

Profits made on the sale of hese commodities, and services goes right on working for farmnembers in research and expansion. Research goes on day after day to find better, easier, faster ways to do farm work. These findings are passed along to members. It's a kind of magic circle that goes around and around always to encircle members in an organization that works for them, with them and to their continuing bet-

November 10, 1953, marks the 178th anniversary of America's colorful and fighting service . . . the United States marines. For nearly 2 centuries . . . since November 10, 1775 . . . the Leathernecks have been in the forefront of the battle for freedom. Two battalions of marines were authorized by the Continental Conress on November 10, 1775. Recruits for these battalions were to be "good seamen or so aquainted with maritime affairs as to be able to serve to advantage at that black November, America faced a mighty opponent. For, in addition to a powerful and victorious army, England possessed what was probably the greatest navy affoat. It was paramount, then, that the American colonists quickly equip themselves with ships of their own . . . and fighting marines to man them.

A fortnight after congressional authority was given to establish the marines, volunteers followed green clad marine drummers and fifers to the first Leatherneck recruiting rendezvous, picturesque old Tun Tavern on Philadelphia's Water street. A few months later, those sworn into service at Tun Tavern stormed British forts in the Bahamas, capturing large stores of desperately needed war supplies. The Leathernecks served with distinction when they fought at Trenton . . . at Prince on, and in numerous other engagements . . . until the star of American independence rose high in the heavens . . . to be seen by

From the dark days of the American Revolution, the United States marines founded a tradition that has grown into one of the proudest histories of fighting nen everywhere . . . a tradition to be first to fight . . . to carry the battle to the enemy . . . and to always stand ready to defend the principles that have established America as a heaven for the oppressed and a beacon of liberty for all.

The marines in Michigan are celebrating their 178th birthday with a buffet supper and dance to be held at the U. S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, East Jefferson street, Detroit. Michigan. The party will feature a cake-cutting ceremony, the senior officer present doing the honors in cutting the first slice of cake. Honors will also be paid to the oldest and youngest marines present.

A small and select organization, the Leathernecks nave made up for what they acked in size with flerce determination and crack training. In heir darkest hours, they have been victorious and have sent the traditional message to the folks at home that the situation is indeed well in hand.

Twenty minutes ago, the man you see in this picture came out of a long and harassing conference—tired, tense and with a bit

And he said to himself—"I'll take the long way home, and drive out by the waterfront, and let the Cadillac relax me!"

And that's just what he's doing.

If you own a 1953 Cadillac, you know exactly what's taking place. But if you don't—let's see what happens as he climbs into the driver's seat and lets his wonderful car begin its magic.

It's relaxing just to look over that long, beautiful hood into the beckoning distance.

The seat cushions hold him in buoyant comfort; the slender wheel fits naturally into his hands; great areas of glass surround him and let each glance reveal a panorama.

And, of course, he's proud and happyfor it's an endless satisfaction to own and command such a respected possession.

The School Is Paid For

There is no need to blush over a bond issue, and maybe there's no good reason to gloat over the fact that public buildings can be erected without bonding. It could be that Mason put off its school expansion program longer than it should Those days are now a long time the horses were ready at the uled programs were as yet unhave, that what was saved in bond interest may have been back down the years. By raising increased millage over a period of five years, by keeping operational costs as low as consistent with sound management, we can build up a fund for another school. The fund will earn interest. Then when we need to build we can go ahead without having to pay interest. That way we only have to pay for a school once.

The Matter of Charity Fame

What policy should the Red Feather executives use in acknowledging contributions?

Should the list of contributors and the brackets in which they find themselves be published in the newspaper? Or should the collectors just say "Thanks," and keep still about

"Contempt of fame begets contempt of virtue," said Ben Johnson long before there were any Red Feather campaigns. On the Johnson theory the names should be published to build up respect for virtue. "Do good by stealth, and blush to find it fame," was the opposite view expressed by Pope.

Outside of linotype operators and proofreaders, there are probably few people who have followed the columns of agate day; in greater contrast with the and I have no idea how many type listing contributors. So it is probably a waste of valuable newspaper space.

It should be said that the State Journal makes no charge for the setting of the type or the space. It is free to the Red Feather campaign. But is it a good thing?

If the publication of the names is a reward for generosity, en some of the most generous people are willing to forego it. If the publication of the lists is an inducement for people to strain to get their names in a higher bracket, then the publishing of the lists takes on a mercenary aspect. If the publishing of the lists is to punish those who can't or won't contribute more, then it becomes unfair and uncharitable even though the publishing is done in the name of charity.

In any event many contributors to the Red Feather camtape to use at group meetings all Times, regarded by many as and the amount they leave to the New Policy cases have some the regarded by many as and the amount they have some the regarded by many as and the amount they have some the regarded by many as and the amount they have some the regarded by many as and the amount they have some they h paign regard the listing of contributors and the amount they contribute as an invasion of privacy whether or not the courts so hold.

Corn Attracts Rats

Where there's corn the rats gather.

Detroit newspaper writers have no reason to be surprised that gangsters and racketeers are muscling in on Michigan racetracks. They should have known that the demand for legalized betting at Michigan tracks, made as part of a New Deal promise in Michigan 20 years ago, was to sweeten and attract the gamblers.

The ones who profit most from horse racing at Michigan tracks are men who care nothing for racing as a sport, or care for horseflesh. They are interested in the cash, in the chance to fleece the gullible people who crowd up in front of the parimutuel windows. The ones who reap the big profits don't often see the races. Their interest is in suckers, not the part-time farmer," said one man. and that apple juice is apt to Holt and Fowlerville will share

On the sports pages of the Detroit newspapers day after day the editors bait on the public. They print the odds. They induce betting on the races. They are as much responsible for the development of the racing rackets as anyone, more so than most. Without all the free publicity the racetrack sucker crop would be disappointing to the gambling operators.

Newspaper readers ought to gag at the front-page disclosures of the Detroit newspapers. The newspaper editors knew a lot before he went to col- thrive on it. They are now able saved their stories on racetrack graft until the Michigan racing season closed. Yet even while one department of the newspaper is using the front page to expose the gambling farm. He is now one of the top flety that newspaper is using the front page to expose the gambling farm. He is now one of the top flety that the farmers in Ingham county, and a favored when he set out the orsports pages to keep the sucker list at full strength.

Racetrack gambling is no different than other kinds of gambling. The smart operators are not content with regular or honest odds. They rig the games or the races to favor talks well because he thinks well.

Where racetrack gambling or any other kind of gambling is countenanced, tolerated and promoted the racketeers will move in. Corn attracts the rats, and under Michigan racing laws the corn crop is always good.

If racketeering at Michigan parimutuel tracks is half as bad as Detroit newspapers say it is, and they ought to know, the legislature should repeal the law which makes such larceny legal.
