

She Found Golden Fleece

Rhoda Kelly Sings of Greece

Back from a summer spent in Greece, Rhoda Kelly is joyously singing the praises of the people of that ancient land. She found the Golden Fleece and wrapped in it, she said, were hospitality and love of freedom.

Miss Kelly was not in Greece as a tourist. She spent the summer and fall there as a guest in Greek homes. She toiled with Greeks in their fields. She worked with them in their kitchens. She attended feasts with them and accompanied some families to their sheep pastures high in the mountains. She spent from a few days to several weeks with different families in all parts of Greece. She returned with a deep and abiding love for a people who cherish their freedom above life itself, who live happily with little, whose thrift and frugality keep them alive in a land so often laid waste by war and whose struggles against tyranny have given them a fierce pride.

Miss Kelly, a student at Michigan State college, was chosen as a representative of IFYE (International Farm Youth Exchange). She was picked because of her farm background and her record of 4-H achievement and leadership. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Kelly, 4948 Ingham road.

While her father was assigned to India under the Point Four program she learned about India by living there. Then came the opportunity to learn about Greece as an IFYE representative. She took it. With 12 others bound for Europe and the Middle East, Miss Kelly sailed on the Italian Conte Biancamano. The ship stopped at Gibraltar and then went on to Palermo, Italy, before docking at Naples. From Naples the Ingham girl went on to Greece by rail and ship.

On her way home Miss Kelly sailed on the Italian ship Mesetia from Athens to Bari, Italy. In Rome she met 2 IFYE youths, John First of Iowa and Carl Gustafson of Massachusetts. They traveled up through Italy and into Germany where Miss Kelly visited her sister Patricia in

The rendezvous for European IFYE youths was Cherbourg in France. They boarded the Queen Elizabeth there and arrived in New York November 8. They were in New York 3 days at IFYE headquarters, making reports of their summer's experiences. Miss Kelly, John First and Norman Laakso of Chatham (he spent the summer in Finland) came on to East Lansing together. They arrived Friday noon.

At the beginning of the next term Miss Kelly plans to resume her studies at Michigan State. As soon as she gets settled down a bit she intends to write a piece for the paper, telling about the last few weeks of her stay in Greece and about her journey home, Miss Kelly promised.

Banks Send Out Holiday Checks

Smart folks who have been saving money through Christmas savings clubs all year will split a $55,000 pie Friday morning. The Dart National bank and the Farmers bank put their Christmas savings checks in the mail Thursday.

The checks were prepared about 2 weeks early this year, according to Albert Humphrey, cashier at the Dart National bank, in order to put the cash in circulation in plenty of time for Christmas buying. In the past, the checks were handed out the first week in December. With the lengthening of the Christmas season, a lot of customers have requested the earlier date, he said.

Christmas savings are up $10,000 in Mason over last year. A total of $46,000 was in Christmas savings at the 2 banks a year ago.

While many users of the Christmas savings club system use their money for buying Christmas presents, others use it to pay property taxes, income taxes and some just turn it over into their regular savings accounts, bank officials explained.

Coroner Harry E. Leadley and Lt. Versie Babcock of the sheriff's department have investigated the case. They said they are awaiting the return of Prosecutor Paul C. Younger from an out-of-county mission before deciding on the necessity for an inquest.

Lawyers Seek New Trial for Mason Woman

Because the father-in-law of Lenwood Stowe served on the jury panel, Mrs. Margaret Jordan, 39, of Mason is seeking a new trial. Stowe's father-in-law did not sit in judgment on Mrs. Jordan, however, who was convicted of manslaughter as the result of Stowe's death.

Mrs. Jordan was sentenced by Judge Marvin J. Salmon October 25 to serve from 2 1/2 to 15 years in the Detroit House of Correction. She was taken to prison the same day to begin her sentence. If the new trial is granted or if denial sends an appeal to the supreme court, her lawyers intend to ask that Mrs. Jordan be freed on bond.

Charged with first degree murder, a jury returned a verdict of manslaughter. If a new trial is granted, her lawyers insist she can not be tried on either first degree or second degree murder, but only on manslaughter.

Lenwood Stowe, 40, Mason, was killed on Dohle road near the Stowe farm on the morning of May 2 after he and Mrs. Jordan had quarreled. He was hit by Mrs. Jordan's car. The state claimed she intended to strike Jordan with her car. She insisted she bore no malice toward Stowe and had no intention of striking him.

The motion for a new trial was filed Tuesday by Howard A. McCowan of Mason. He consulted with Mrs. Jordan at the House of Correction Sunday. Benjamin F. Watson, Lansing lawyer, is associated with McCowan in the Jordan case.

Mrs. Jordan's motion for a new trial is based on the fact that Grover Singleton of Stockbridge sat as a juror at the September term of court. Singleton "held" from time to time during said term and prior to and during the trial of this case, enjoy free access to and mingled with the other members of the jury panel," the motion sets forth. Continuing, it employs this language, "Grover Singleton did ride from time to time with other members of said jury panel to and from the scene of holding court, from their residences."

Singleton was called as a juror to decide on the guilt or innocence of Mrs. Jordan. He asked to be excused and was excused although he did not assign as his reason his relationship to Stowe's widow.

First scheduled for hearing before Judge Salmon Friday, the hearing date will probably be set for after Thanksgiving, McCowan said. Prosecutor Paul C. Younger is out of the county and the hearing can not be held until his return, Mrs. Jordan's lawyer said.

Santa Is Due In City Soon

Santa Claus will be in Mason Friday, November 26, at 6 p. m. His annual visit to the town is sponsored by Mason businessmen as an official opener of the Christmas season.

Santa will have a plastic "loot" bag full of candy and other surprises for every child who comes to see him, according to Frank Guerriero, chairman of the Welcome Santa committee. If the weather is too cold, Guerriero said that Santa will greet his little friends in a downtown building. If the weather is mild he will be on a platform in front of the court house.

Guerriero said his committee has arranged for Christmas music during Santa's open house. All Mason stores will be open until 9 on Friday. Beginning December 10, most stores will remain open every night until 9 until Christmas Eve.

Mason's Christmas decorations, now last year, will be in place for Santa's visit, Guerriero promised.

War Bride Packs for Long Trip

Mrs. Donald Barto is packing for a long trip home. She plans to leave Mason for a visit to her native Australia December 2.

She has passage on the Swedish ship Oronsay, leaving from San Francisco, December 11. The ship will make port in Honolulu, the Fiji Islands, Pago Pago and New Zealand before docking at Sydney. Mrs. Barto plans to leave the ship at Sydney and go by train to Perth on the west coast.

If Mrs. Barto disembarks at Sydney and goes the 3,000 miles across the continent by rail her journey from Mason will be about 13,000 miles. If she goes by ship from Sydney to Perth she will have to travel 15,000 miles on her way home.

The first leg of the journey will be by automobile. After Mrs. Barto boards the ship the husband will return to Mason to keep the home fires burning while his wife spends a year with her family. Her parents, 3 brothers and a sister are counting the days until Mrs. Barto's arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Barto met in Perth. An electrician's mate, first class, aboard the navy submarine Skipjack, Bud Barto and his ship mates stayed on the bottom of Manila Bay when the Japanese launched their attack. Dodging depth charges and plane attacks, the Skipjack finally crawled out of the bay and went to Australia, to the big U. S. base at Fremantle, 12 miles from Perth. In 1941 Mr. and Mrs. Barto were married. They made their home at Fremantle while the Skipjack was based there. Later Bud served in the submarine Corbilla. In 1946 he was discharged and returned to Australia to rejoin his wife. For 2 years he worked on Australian railroads, and then in 1948 he and his wife came to Mason to make their home.

Councilmen Hire New Policeman

Harry Chandler, police administration graduate from Michigan State college, has joined the Mason police department. He was hired at the city council meeting Monday night. He replaces Officer Harold Larkins who will leave his post December 1.

Chandler is no newcomer to Mason. He served the city for about 3 months last winter under a Michigan State college field training course. Chandler and his family have been living in Grand Rapids. They are looking for a place to rent in Mason. Besides his wife, Clara May, there are 2 daughters, Lynn, 3, and Diana, 3.

Since graduating from Michigan State college, Chandler has been on a year-long field training program. He has served on police forces in Bay City, Kalamazoo and Detroit, in the Kent county and Berrien county sheriff's departments, in the Michigan state police identification bureau, the state police detective office and fire marshal's office at the Rockford post and in the Ford Motor Co. plant protection department in Dearborn. He has also served in the offices of the state liquor control commission, the conservation department and the secretary of state.

Chandler is an army veteran of World War II. He picked Mason to begin his police work, he said, because he liked the town the first time he was here. Chandler said he has no pet peeves. He demands only law and order.

He will serve with Tim Stolz who joined the Mason police force 2 weeks ago as full-time officers under Police Chief Ralph Hall. Dallas Langham is night officer and Emery Colby the reliever officer.

Residents Ask Fancier Lights For Boulevard

Hill boulevard folks want some of those fancy boulevard lights to go with their new curbs and gutters. Two of them told city councilmen Monday night that they want to get rid of the present wooden poles that mar the beauty of Mason's boulevard.

Schuyler Smith, boulevard resident, told the council that the late Albert Hill expressly desired metal boulevard lights in his subdivision. He also had planned on underground wiring for the lights, Smith stated. The war interrupted the completion of the master plan for the boulevard, he said.

Glen Coon, Consumers Power Co. branch manager, said Wednesday that his company is more than willing to sell the city boulevard lighting. He has arranged a meeting with district company officials and the Mason city council for Monday night.

Right now, Coon explained, the wooden poles on the boulevard cost the city nothing except for current used. However, steel poles would cost the city additional as in the past, he said.

A steel pole with 2500 lumen lighting would cost the city $25 a year. A pole with 6,000 lumen lighting costs $44. Regular boulevard fixtures with 2 or 3 arms might cost up to 150, Coon estimated.

While our company makes a policy of not over-selling cities on street lighting, we are anxious to sell any type of lighting city officials want, Coon said. "We're like any business in that respect. If city officials want steel boulevard lights and want to pay for them, they can have them. Our engineers will try to find out at the Monday meeting just what kind of lights the city officials want."

Mayor Clairmont Everitt explained to the group that the city has only recently signed a 30-year franchise with Consumers Power Co. for the lighting of the city streets. It is up to the power company, not the city, to determine what kind of light poles are used, he added.

City Attorney Howard McCowan backed him up.

The mayor appointed a 3-man committee to meet with Coon, local Consumers manager, to see what the possibilities are of improving the lighting installations on the boulevard.

"We are satisfied with the amount of light we are getting from the present lights," Lisle Morse, boulevard resident, stated. "We realize that the power company workmen put the poles on the boulevard when there was no curb and gutter. They probably did the best they could. But now we have a new curb and gutter and newly-graveled streets. The boulevard property owners have already purchased shrubs and trees to be planted in the islands. We're doing all the work ourselves. It would do a lot for the boulevard folks to have a modern lighting installation."

Both Smith and Morse said that they had requested the power company several times to have boulevard lights installed. Each time, they said, they got the brush-off.

"I'd like to see the boulevard draw decent lighting and I don't even live near it," Councilman Alton Stroud said. "I look upon the boulevard as city property—even a city park. I think the city of Mason deserves something better from Consumers."

"Those poles aren't any better than what they have in Eden," Morse said. "And they're a lot worse than any place in Lansing. Where do the Consumers folks draw the line?"

Stockbridge Schools Win Tax Suit

Stockbridge Community Agricultural school district forced the supervisors of Iosco and Unadilla townships of Livingston to use state equalized instead of county equalized assessments in the levying of 1953 building and site taxes for the Stockbridge school. Judge Paul R. Cash of the Clinton-Gratiot circuit heard the case 2 months ago. He handed down his opinion last week.

While the Stockbridge district which extends into Livingston Jackson and Washtenaw counties besides Ingham, forced the adoption of the state equalized figures for 1953 taxes, the court decision did not completely follow Attorney General Frank Millard's opinion which has caused so much discussion and some confusion throughout the state.

Millard held that in every county with school districts fractional with other counties the state equalized valuation must be used on all taxes. That would force adoption of state equalized figures in about 65% of the state's taxing units.

Judge Cash held that state figures do not have to be adopted that county equalized or any other agreed upon figures can be used instead. However, in the Stockbridge case because of the absence of any other agreement, the state figures must now be used for 1953.

"The decision means that property owners in the Stockbridge school district extending into Iosco township of Livingston must pay $393.77 more taxes, with Unadilla township property owners paying $4,794.63 additional. Supervisors of those 2 Livingston townships spread their 1953 school building and site taxes against the county equalized base. Ingham, Jackson and Washtenaw supervisors used the state equalized base for the levy.

If the supervisors of all the townships concerned had agreed to use county equalized figures they could have been used, Judge Cash decided. Had they failed to agree and had an appeal been taken to the state tax commission the use of state equalized figures would have resulted, the opinion indicated.

In his opinion Judge Cash pointed out constitutional provisions. He said, "The legislature shall enact and provide for a uniform rule of taxes on all property; and assessments on this property shall be made at its cash value, not exceeding the 15-mill limitation."

"Assessed value means equalized valuations as determined by the board of supervisors and/or the state tax commission. It means value as equalized by 'qualification boards.'"

"Uniformity of taxation is secured by equalization so that no part of the territory equalized would be compelled to pay more than its just share of taxes."

"As between individual parcels of land, uniformity is secured by local board of review; as between counties by the state board of equalization. When all the parties consent as between townships composing fractional school districts, equalization of the territory covered by the fractional school district is secured by the supervisors of all of the township composing the fractional district, equalizing the assessments of said district as the 'qualification board.'"

"After discussing the responsibilities of supervisors for equalizing assessments, Judge Cash outlined the procedures which could have been used in the Stockbridge district, but which were not.

Continuing, he said, "If there is no dispute, each supervisor in the counties having fractional school districts would levy the amount allocated to him to raise and that would have been final. If there was a dispute among the supervisors as to the equality of the assessments in a fractional school district, then they would try to reach an agreement between themselves as to a fair equalization. If, as in this case, this method was not used, then on appeal to the state tax commission the state would equalize the taxes of the fractional school district in the various counties."

Where the decision of Judge Cash departs from the attorney general's opinion is on the point of using state valuations for all taxes—county, township, village, and school, in the counties composing of fractional school districts.

"Just because a county has a school district fractional with other counties does not compel it to levy all taxes on state equalized values," Judge Cash decided in the Stockbridge case.

"Uniformity in taxes is not violated by fixing more than one assessed valuation used for the assessment of different taxes," Judge Cash set forth. "It does not necessarily follow that cash value and uniformity can only be satisfied, in a county having fractional school districts which cross county lines, by using state equalized values for the spreading of all taxes—county, township and school."

State equalization can be used if the statutory method which can be followed by supervisors fails, the judge pointed out.

"In the case at bar," stated Judge Cash, "the method of equalization by supervisors of the various townships was not used. If it had been used, and there was disagreement in equalizing the fractional school district by the supervisors, then state equalized values would have to be used the same as was done in this case. However, the state equalized value would only be used for the territory embraced in the fractional school district, and that would give taxing officials no right, simply because state equalized values were used in a fractional school district, to spread them to be used for the spread of all other taxes, such as county and township.

"If the various supervisors in townships in this instant case had been able to agree upon the equalization of the fractional school district, then the state equalization would never have been used. Inasmuch as in this particular case the supervisors did not see fit, according to the proofs, to get together and equalize the taxes in the fractional school district, the state equalized values control, in the fractional school district only."

On advice of Prosecuting Attorney Paul Younger, the Ingham tax allocation board relied upon the attorney general's opinion. The supervisors, after considerable debate, went along. All county and school taxes in Ingham county for 1954 are being levied on state equalized valuations. In the light of the decision by Judge Cash, county equalized figures could have been used. Had the county figures been used, property owners in many cases would have had to pay less taxes than is now the case.

Charles R. MacLean, Lansing attorney and former Ingham prosecutor, represented the Stockbridge school district in the mandamus action brought against the 2 Livingston township supervisors.

The decision of Judge Cash may be appealed to the state supreme court. Another appeal in a companion case from Washtenaw county is now before the high court.

"The special 5-mill tax levy prevailing in the Stockbridge district for 1953 was voted down this year. Property owners in the district outside of the 2 Livingston county townships have been assessed on state equalized figures. In the 2 Livingston townships taxes on the difference between the county equalized and state equalized values must now be levied.

Primary Money Is Disbursed to Ingham Schools

On the basis of $7.03 per 1953 school census child, the final apportionment of state primary money is being made for the year. Ingham schools will get a total of $296,897.99, reported Laurence Parker, county treasurer. He said that his department plans to send out the checks this week.

Children between the ages of 5 and 20 are included in the school census whether or not they are enrolled in public schools or any school at all.

Lansing, with 21,582 children, will get $151,721.46. East Lansing, credited with 2,385 children, will get $16,766.55.

Stockbridge with its count of 1,810 in the 4-county district will receive $12,935.20. With the addition of the Alameda Township Unit and the Wilson and Hawley districts to Mason, the Mason census count for 1953 stands at 1,387, adding up to $9,750.61 in primary money. Leslie is credited with 812 children, entitling the district to $5,708.36.

New-Type Collision Insurance

($100 Disappearing Deductible)
($50 Disappearing Deductible)

This agency is prompt to get in on the new things offered in the insurance business . . .

NOW—we have a new type of collision insurance—it is better than the so-called 20/80, better than the $100 deductible and better than the $50 deductible.

Disappearing Deductible Insurance

Here is how it works—Let's say you have $50 disappearing deductible—if you have a $10 collision you pay it, if you have a $50 collision you pay it. If you have a collision costing $60 or $10 more than your deductible, we deduct that from your deductible, or you pay $10 on a $60 collision bill. If you have a $75 collision claim you pay only $25 and if the damages are $100 we pay it all. The same goes for collision damages amounting to $500 or more.

This is a new type of coverage. Come in and ask about it.

DEER HERDS may become as famous as dairy herds in Ingham county. Within an hour and a half after the official big game hunting season opened Monday morning, 2 Ingham hunting parties had their bucks. The deer were shot in the Dansville public hunting grounds east of Mason.

In the top picture are Ronald Parisian, Forrest Wheeler, the 269-lb buck, Fred Parisian and Norma Parisian. Two of the 4 hit the deer with 12-gauge slugs within a mile of the Parisian home on Williamston road. It was 8:45 when the big buck fell. He was an 8-pointer.

Glenn Starr, is shown at the right with his buck which he shot in the Seven Gables road area in the game preserve. He said he was standing near a known deer run at 8:15 when the 8-pointer approached him. Starr used slugs for the kill.

Deer killed in Ingham county are usually corn-fed. They're heavy with meat. Starr said that corn actually rolled onto the ground as he dressed out his buck. (Ingham County News photos.)

Holt TV Business Moves to Mason

Mason will have a Firestone store plus a Spartan television sales and service headquarters beginning Thursday, December 2. Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Welch, owners of Radio & TV Center in Holt for 6 years, have made arrangements to use the former Collins Sales & Service building on Maple street.

The new Mason store will be operated as Welch's Home & Auto Supply. Collins liquidated his appliance and television business November 1. He still retains his General Electric franchise. However, the Welch's have acquired the Spartan franchise in Mason and will also hang onto the Spartan dealership in the Holt area.

Before coming to Holt, Welch was an electronics engineer at Wright-Patterson field in Dayton, Ohio.

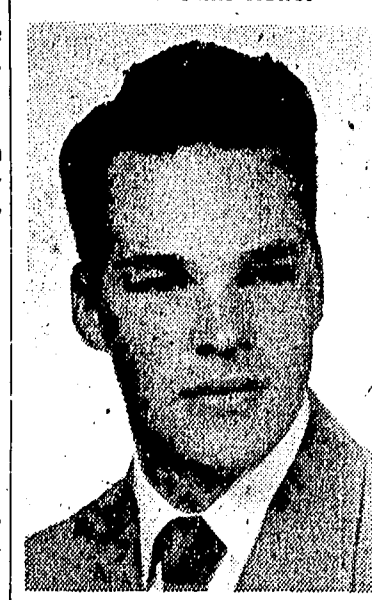

The Welch's have a son, Bob, 17, a Holt school senior; and Beatrice, 15, a sophomore; Gary, 8, a third grader at the Elliot school; and LaRue, with the air force in Texas. The Welch family will continue living in Holt at least until school is out next spring.

Welch said he will continue to do service and sales work in the Holt area although the Holt store will close for good the day before Thanksgiving.

A 3-day open house is planned at the new Mason store beginning Thursday, December 2.

Student Gains Honor

Ralph Redman

Ralph Aldrich Redman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Redman, Eden, and a 1951 graduate of Mason high school, recently was initiated into the Michigan State college chapter of Tau Beta Pi, the national collegiate engineering honorary.

Members of the honorary were selected from the upper one-fifth of the college senior engineering class. Membership in Tau Beta Pi is recognized as the highest professional engineering attainment.

The aims of Tau Beta Pi are to honor those undergraduates in engineering who've achieved high scholarship, and demonstrated high moral character and ability in their fields of endeavor.

Another Boost For Kar-Belts

Kar-Belts made in Mason were given another boost Tuesday in Atlantic City at a meeting of the American College of Surgeons.

Doctors declared that by equipping cars with safety belts and other devices that the automobile death toll can be reduced by 80%.

Now automobile passengers are in as much danger of breakage as a cup being transported unwrapped in a barrel, doctors said.

TRUCK IS RECOVERED

Over the week end somebody stole a Delhi Gravel Co. dump truck from a Holt gas station. Tuesday morning the truck was found abandoned near Cavanaugh and Cedar, Lansing. The truck was undamaged.

Two Are Injured At Intersection

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Denison of 1414 Edgar road were injured Sunday afternoon when their car was struck at the intersection of Willoughby and College roads. Both were taken to a Lansing hospital for treatment. Mr. Denison had his right elbow injured and his wife hurt her right knee.

According to sheriff's officers, the Denisons were headed north on College road and Eugene W. Ziegler, 14, was driving west on Willoughby. Officers said the Ziegler boy stopped his car and then started up, striking the Denison car. Officers tickled Ziegler for failure to yield the right of way.

Penicillin Story Shown by Wyeth

Mason Kiwanis at their meeting Tuesday night saw how West-eth Laboratories Inc. at its Westchester, Pa., plant manufactures penicillin. The picture in color and sound showed the manufacturing processes which convert molds into life-saving antibiotic drugs.

Wyeth research chemists pioneered in the penicillin field, working with the English scientist who first discovered the use of molds against harmful bacteria.

Howard Selbert, manager of Mason's Wyeth plant, gave a short talk on company operations.

McLean Joins Board

Raymond H. McLean has replaced the late Carlton P. Hunter on the city cemetery board. Hunter was killed in an automobile accident in September. McLean will serve on the board until May of 1957 when Hunter's term would have expired. McLean was appointed by Mayor Clairmont Everitt at the city council meeting Monday night.

Flames Damage Aurelius House

Faculty heating equipment damaged the Henry Smiley residence on Aurelius road, three-quarters of a mile south of Columbia road Saturday evening. The fire started in the bathroom. Damage to the house and contents was estimated at $1,000.

The Mason fire department answered the alarm. Mr. and Mrs. Smiley were not at home when the fire broke out. A guest discovered the fire and called in the alarm.

Damages Sought For Fall on Ice

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Aseltine of Mason have started suit against the Lansing Ice and Fuel Co. for $15,000.

Mrs. Aseltine was injured when she fell on the sidewalk in front of the former Lansing Ice and Fuel office on West Ash street December 6, 1952. Mr. and Mrs. Aseltine in their declaration say that the company was negligent in not keeping ice off the walk, and that the company knew or should have known of the dangerous situation.

In the declaration the Mason couple through their lawyers, Charles R. MacLean and John N. Seaman, set forth that through company negligence a triangular hole in the driveway next to the sidewalk was permitted to develop, and that water from the hole was sloshed onto the adjoining sidewalk and there froze. Mrs. Aseltine, according to the declaration, slipped on the ice and suffered a fractured hip, bruises, cuts and shock. The declaration sets forth that Mrs. Aseltine was partially crippled because of the fall, and has since been unable to perform household duties and was unable to assist her husband in his business. She underwent 2 operations, she and her husband declared.

The Lansing Ice and Fuel Co. discontinued business at Mason last year. Executives of the company were informed December 7, 1952, that Mrs. Aseltine fell on the sidewalk the night before, they said. They denied any negligence. They did not learn of any demand for damages or the start of a lawsuit until they read of it in a newspaper, they said.

For Arthritis Sufferers

Dansville, Michigan
November 16, 1954

"I would like to give my testimony in regard to Star's Rheumatic Solvent.

"Before I started taking this remedy, I was so crippled with arthritic trouble that I could not sit up or get out of bed without assistance. I had hard bony growths on my spine, hips and elbows that were so painful, I could do little sleeping or resting. Also my eyes were affected by it until I started taking Star's Rheumatic Solvent.

"Then the soreness left me, my eye sight improved and after taking it for 6 months, the bony growths on my body began to shrink. They are now entirely gone. I can walk much better and my health is greatly improved.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

No Friend of McCarthy

Very much of the nasty little boy who stands on his front porch, shrieking names at all passersby, but runs screaming to mother when one of his victims does invade the privacy of his porch to paste him in the eye.

His senatorial immunity has been his hiding place, where he could hurl his vicious and often baseless attacks. No private individual could make him answer for his abuse. No one but a jury of senators could possibly make him account for his vicious slanders. Now, of course, by his reverse sort of logic, this is termed a "lynching bee," and he has tried to give the impression that those who do not agree with his gangster methods are tools of the Communists.

Wise up, Joe! A "tool" of Abraham Lincoln, a "tool" of George Washington, is more like it. There are quite a few of us left who believe honor, decency and courtesy, have as much place in government as in private lives, and those who do not see fit to conduct themselves as gentlemen have no place in government.

Under our laws, even a murderer or rapist is innocent until proven guilty. Let's extend that privilege to John Q. Public. It will be interesting to note the activities of Senator McClellan when he takes over the so-called "McCarthy" committee.

Something tells me he will spend more time hunting Communists and less hunting headlines than his predecessor.

The Pastor's Angle

Of course I have noticed in the Ingham County News the article relative to the non-mentioning of the names and the good and Christian lives of his friends at their recent funerals. I have also noted the published letters along that line. As you know, I was the preacher of "funeral sermons" for far over a half century and I know that sometimes the "preachers" know things that the "listeners" are not aware of. Knowing Albert Hall as I did, I know that his Christian modesty may have led him to place a prohibition on the use of his name at the funeral services. I recall that I was present at the death of a deacon of a church that I was pastor of at the time, over 50 years ago. He was conscious up to the last 5 minutes of his physical life. During the last few minutes of that consciousness, he talked with me about his funeral. He gave me instructions like this, "Pastor, you will be called upon for some remarks at my funeral. Do not hold me up as an example to the people who may be in attendance. I am but a poor sinner saved by grace."

Following his instructions I made no mention of him at the funeral. The people wondered as to why I had not eulogized such a good Christian man. I have received many such instructions since during these years. Maybe the men who conducted the services mentioned were so instructed.

As Albert Hall knew none of the 150 residents of his home, save me, when he made that will, he thinks that maybe he had me in mind when he decided to bequest that $5,000 to us. It certainly can be used in finishing the new $900,000 addition which will enlarge our hospital facilities and make room for about 100 more residents.

I want to thank you for the story about me, with picture, which you published last summer. It does not seem possible that this Baptist home and hospital has been my "home" now for over 4 years. I have an incurable ailment, so the doctors say, but I keep going "after a fashion" and get to my meals regularly. They are good meals.

Yours in behalf of my brother ministers who may be following instructions of which the people have no knowledge.

Truth is Sought

One of the most unfortunate aspects of the Democratic victory is that it will now be harder than ever to get at the real truth about the decisions that have produced America's wavering course in world affairs.

This is not to say that the Republicans have ever displayed any passion to get the facts to the people. Actually, the Republicans, had they the courage, could have won the election. They had the facts about the Yalta papers but under pressure of internationalists sat on those papers until after election. Thus they brought about their own defeat.

Now the papers are promised for release next month. But there are those who say all the facts won't be disclosed; that the Yalta report is being trimmed and tailored.

The man in the Eisenhower administration who recommended suppression of the Yalta papers because it would embarrass Democrats holds a high place in government. He is more concerned with embarrassing Democrats than he is in serving his own party or even his own country.

Republicans out of fear of Bernard Baruch and other internationalists and Zionists pulled their punches in the campaign. That's why the Republicans lost. That's why the Zionists throughout the world are now exulting over the success of their strategy.

Parentage Cleared Up

I am so pleased that you printed what I sent to you. I would like a slight correction. My grandfather, Phleg Sanford Uley, bought under land patent the SW 1/4 of Section 12, Farmington, instead of Section 11.

Mary Bacon was the wife of Phleg Sanford Uley. She was born in northern New York. Both her parents were born in Scotland.

I hear that I have distant relatives by the name of Bacon living along the St. Lawrence river in northern New York. Harry McCracken is clerk of Farmington township. I have been told he was once a state senator.

My grandfather's father was of English parentage, his mother of Irish parentage, making my grandfather Uley of English-Irish parentage which makes me English, Scotch, Irish, Holland or Pennsylvania Dutch parentage.

Vows Are Said by Couple In Double-Ring Ceremony

Jaqueline Kay Lloyd and Kenneth G. Klugsley Graham exchanged nuptial vows Friday evening, October 22, in a pretty wedding at the Williamston Community Methodist church.

Rev. Louis Ellinger performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and nuptial bouquets of giant chrysanthemums tied with large satin ribbons, and flanked with lighted candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Lloyd of Williamston and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hilda E. Graham of Flint.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Skinner satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. The long sleeves extended to points over the wrists. Embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, the skirt extended into a long cathedral train. Her veil, an original Betty Walsh of fingertip length, was fashioned in bonnet style with seed pearls, orange blossoms and an edging of Irish lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white Fuji mums and baby breath into which was centered an orchid. Her pearl necklace was a gift of the bridegroom.

Attendants Dressed Alike

Mrs. Katherine Anne Graham, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, for her duties as matron of honor, wore a strapless gown of deep pink taffeta with a lace jacket of lighter pink. She carried a cascade bouquet of chrysanthemum Fuji mums with bronze button mums and limited bronze baby breath tied with cerise satin ribbon. She wore a pale pink ruffled net hat trimmed with bronze mums.

Three bridesmaids, Marsha James, Patricia Lloyd and Jeanette Foy, were attired in gowns identical to that of the matron of honor in green taffeta. They wore identical hats of green nylon. All carried cascade arrangements of chrysanthemum Fuji mums and baby breath tied with satin ribbons of yellow and orange.

Margaret Mary Lloyd, 6-year-old cousin of the bride, was dressed identical to the matron of honor. She carried a basket of rose petals. All attendants wore pearls, a gift of the bride.

Robert Graham, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and ushers were James E. McCarthy, Ralph Case and Robert McIntyre, all of Flint. Howard B. Lloyd, Jr., brother of the bride, escorted his mother and grandmother to their respective places.

Wayne Kurn, soloist, accompanied at the organ by his mother, Mrs. Caroline Kurn, who also played traditional wedding marches, sang "Always" and "Oh Promise Me." As the bride and

Church Council Asks CROP Aid

Dr. Harold N. Skidmore, president of the Michigan Council of Churches, is urging that all churches in the council support the current CROP campaign in this state.

"CROP, as the food collection agency of Church World Service," he said, "performs for us—almost effortlessly—a vital part of our Christian duty to millions of individuals in the world today who are homeless and hungry and totally without hope unless we do something about it. For any Christian individual or church to ignore the crying need for food when two-thirds of the world's population goes hungry is unthinkable."

Dr. Skidmore cited the growing refugee problem, stating that until this problem can be alleviated by providing homes and jobs for these people Americans have a job of keeping them alive through agencies such as CROP.

Dr. Skidmore said that a number of churches in the state are already co-operating with CROP, but that more support is needed. He suggested handling the problem on a ministerial association or local council level.

"Seeing that our government has offered all the surplus food currently stockpiled in this country that agencies like CROP can use, as Christian leaders we are falling down on the job if we don't support the program," he said.

The legislation he was referring to is the bill passed June 30 in congress designating farm surplus stocks stockpiled by Commodity Credit Corp. to be given without charge to private relief agencies for distribution both here and abroad.

Dr. Skidmore added that under this new legislation, a $5 contribution to CROP now will send $100 worth of surplus food to the world's disaster areas.

Mason Baptist Minister Ordained at Ceremonies

Rev. Clarence Rodd, pastor of the Mason Baptist church, was ordained in ceremonies conducted at the Mason church Tuesday afternoon and evening.

A council, presided over by Deacon Walter E. Zimmer of the Mason church, was called into session at 3 o'clock to examine the pastor. Baptist ministers and 2 delegates from each church in the district were invited to participate. Twenty-five were present for the examination.

In opening the session, Deacon Zimmer read from the 114th of Rev. Rodd's Bible a note of appreciation from the Temperance Baptist church. Following that came the reading of the recommendation from the chairman of the board of deacons at Rollin where Rev. Rodd served for 7 years. Letters of recommendation from the Lenawee Baptist association, the State Committee on Ministry and from the Mason church were read.

Following prayer, Rev. Oral Duckworth of Charlotte was chosen chairman and Rev. Maurice Harlow of Jackson was named clerk. Questions put to the candidate for ordination touched upon his conversion experience, his call to the ministry and statements of doctrine. Following a closed conference the council decided unanimously to proceed with the ordination.

Rev. Truman Cochran of Gregory presided as chairman at the evening service which began at 7:30. Following the invocation given by Rev. O. B. Ansted of Webberville, reports of Deacon Zimmer and Rev. Harlow on the afternoon's proceedings were read.

Rev. Raymond Cunningham of Morenci preached the ordination sermon, "A Good Minister of Jesus Christ." Rev. Roland Beck of Cement City read the scripture. Rev. Stanley C. McKenzie of Lansing offered the right hand of fellowship to Rev. Rodd. Rev. Ralph J. Karney, Lansing, director of town and country work, gave the charge to the congregation. Rev. Duckworth the charge to the candidate. Rev. James Lombard of Stockbridge offered the ordination prayer, while the candidate knelt. During that period the Baptist ministers placed their hands upon Rev. Rodd's head.

At Rev. Rodd's request his wife was invited to stand by his side for the benediction.

A solo, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked," was sung by the pastor's son, Roy, with a daughter, Virginia, at the piano.

Deaconesses led by the chairman, Mrs. Ralph Hall, served a supper before the evening session. On the committee besides Mrs. Hall were Mrs. Paul Richards, Mrs. Ivan Helmelman, Mrs. Russell Slee, Mrs. Robert Sturman and Mrs. Lyman Freshour. The Mason church of the Nazarene and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bartley furnished flowers for the occasion.

Eden Church Presents Candlelight Pageant

A candlelight pageant, "Holy Altars," will be presented at the Eden United Brethren church Sunday evening, November 21, at 8 o'clock.

The pageant presents a grandmother sitting in the twilight meditating. As she meditates many scenes of previous years come to her: first as a child, second as a young lady, third as a bride, next as a mother and last as a grandmother.

We hope to grow old, yet we fear old age; that is, we are willing to live, and afraid to die. Bruyere.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. (Matthew 5:9.) Read I Thessalonians 5:12-22.

We remember with gratitude those who have given their lives for peace. The best expression we can make of our appreciation for their sacrifice is to have within us that which makes for peace. If we show our longing for peace in everything we do and think, we would go a long way toward a peaceful, more Christian world.

Christ said, "Love thy neighbor as thyself." He made it clear that this was the second great commandment. Yet it is one of the most widely disregarded of all Christ's teachings! We remember our neighbor includes every person anywhere on the face of the earth.

Truly to love all people means that we would do no wrong to anyone. To be conscious of this thought is only the beginning. The next step, which is harder, is to practice Christlike love to all, to serve anywhere we are, to help anyone we can, and to love all with a deep, true love.

PRAYER
Dear Lord, help us to cleanse our hearts of our foolish, hateful ways, and replace them with a strong Christian love for all people. We pray in the name of Christ, who would have us pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Let us learn to love all men as Christ loves us! — Jim Vaughan (Minnesota)

Farmer Peck's Wife

Mrs. Peck conquers the basement.
Corn-picking time is here.
The neighbors give a house-warming.

Well, here I am, another week with life as I see it down on the farm! It's a good life, too, in spite of long hours, lots of mud and unpredictable prices. There's no other place I'd rather be... except for a week's vacation maybe along in the summer, and then maybe someday a jaunt off to Florida around Christmas time. (That won't be soon!)

Right now though I am very much in Clinton county. Today I tackled our basement. For weeks it has been haunting me. It's funny how we have some tasks that need attention. We put it off, though all the while it rumbles back in our minds. It spoils complete relaxation. It's there. It's waiting to be done. I told Pete that if I did not to let anyone in that basement.

There is the matter of getting the bushels of bulbs and roots in before freezing weather comes. But first a few changes down below. For one thing I whacked the potato bin in two. Pete made it 13 years ago before we had accumulated wagons and lawn furniture and power saws and other things like that that make a basement small and cluttered. This potato bin looked sort of like a rowboat and about the same size. And it took more room than it was worth. Each fall and spring I would look at it and think it too big of an undertaking to change.

Today I got the right amount of vitamins, must be, for tonight I should be able to lie untroubled. At least untroubled over basements. I do have to whitewash the walls though to help lighten it as there are only 3 small windows. The walls are from the original part of the old house which burned so they are not smooth and even. I tried out the whitewash and it surely brightens up the place... though I'm not sure it's a 100% good idea. Had to experiment with lime and water before the right mix developed.

I don't know how it is at your place but around here I have enough jobs lined up for Pete to do that he'd have to live to be 90 to get them all done. Some of these things I can take by the horns but others I have to wait upon. When you own your home it's a real thrill to hammer and saw and paint... and wait, it need be.

Dad and Pete are very busy these days picking corn. They have over 50 acres to do in all but have quite a bit done. The double corn cribs are full. Pete thought he would get a slanted floor above the shed/floor so he could fill them from trapdoors in the roof. He didn't though so it meant helping with the corn.

After my sad experience 2 years ago up in the crib I now remain in the wagon and guide the corn into the elevator. Pete goes above and shoves it back along the eaves... and calls uncle should it come too fast. The way they have the wagon fixed so it tips up to let the corn fall into the elevator trough (or whatever you call it) is wonderful. All you have to do is control the fall and amount and watch the golden ears whiz past. It's fascinating.

Sammy watches from the car and yells, "Corn! Corn! Corn!" He will play with an ear of corn as good as can be. When I go into the house to wait for the next load Sammy doesn't want to go with me.

This is a friendly neighborhood, I think. I'm glad we live here. Tuesday evening they had a housewarming for Elizabeth and Harold and family in their new house. It was a complete surprise. And we had such a nice evening. There were 35 and their house easily accommodated them. They were looking for us down to celebrate Sally's birthday anniversary so they were home, something to consider in planning a surprise.

They had the fireplace going and it was cozy as could be. It's a beautiful fireplace, raised about 14 inches from the floor with a seating ledge along the front and around into the kitchen. They did it themselves and did a fine job. Looks just like a magazine picture.

Cowan Leads Squad

Marine Pfc. Arthur R. (Dick) Cowan, son of Mrs. Bessie Coffey of 309 W. Elm street, Mason, is a machine-gun squad leader with the 2nd Battalion, a unit of the 1st Marine Division in Korea. He is responsible for the heavy weapons in his unit along with the safety and efficiency of the 7 men under him. Before enlisting in June, 1953, he was graduated from Mason high school and was employed by Fisher Body in Lansing.

Though their house is not done, it did not seem necessary to wait until every last nail and board were in place. I've thought about it many times since of what a good time we had. Mostly the evening was spent visiting but the men were called upon to tell how they met their wives. Milo Summer took the cake for his story. It broke the ice. Now we women are waiting for our chance to tell our side of the story. Maybe not so many laughs but more of the truth.

Book Talk

Hours open to the public at headquarters branch, Ingham County Library, Monday through Saturday 2-5:30; Tuesday and Thursday, 7-9 p. m.; Saturday 10-12; Tuesday and Friday 11:30-12:30 (during school year).

"Books makes gifts that can be opened more than once." We found this gem in a book publisher's ad last Christmas season, and we have been saving it to use. We couldn't have expressed the idea of this column better. Besides what is easier to buy and wrap than a book?

Even a very little child loves a book. Every book shop stocks a few cloth picture books with safe colors and indestructible pages. The baby likes eye-catching colors such as bright reds, blues and greens. Leave the "perfectly lovely" pastels for his mother. Objects should be familiar and simply drawn.

In a few short months this stage will be left behind, and the toddler will be ready for simple stories about familiar things and for Mother Goose rhymes. A sturdy Mother Goose book that the child can carry about with him is a source of many happy hours. If mother does not have a good store of Mother Goose rhymes, she had better acquire one to meet the endlessly repeated request to "Read this one," stubby finger pointing to gay picture. He likes the sound of mother's voice and the rhythm even if he doesn't understand all the words.

The TALL BOOK OF MOTHER GOOSE published by Harper at $1.50 is easy to handle and a favorite with the small fry. Blanche Fisher Wright's REAL MOTHER GOOSE rightly deserves its good reputation. Paper and print are good and the illustrations just right. Published by Rand McNally at $2.95, it is a good choice for the family bookshelf. It is a bit too heavy and too expensive for lugging around. However, there are some abridged editions for less money. Another good choice for this purpose is Watty Piper's MOTHER GOOSE RHYMES illustrated by Margot Austin and published by Platt and Munk at $2.00.

Anywhere from 2 1/4" to 4" the child is ready for a book with more story. LITTLE BLACK SAMBO by Helen Bannerman and the TALE OF PETER RABBIT by Beatrix Potter are classic favorites and under a dollar even with the original illustrations. A newer book enjoyed at this age is TIMOTHY TURTLE by Alice V. Davis. Margaret Wise Brown's LITTLE FUR FAMILY may seem silly to adults, but it delights the little one as do many of the tales of gentle animals which may be found among the 25c books at the supermarket. By the way, don't overlook this source of inexpensive reading for the 3 to 8's and 9's. THE LITTLE GOLDEN BOOK OF BEDTIME STORIES, if you can find it (we haven't been able to for awhile), is one of the nicest collections of familiar folk tales we have seen. THE LITTLE GOLDEN BOOK OF POETRY is also fine. One of the cutest kitten stories we have is PEPPERMINT by Mary Elting. It costs just 15c.

CHIMNEY CORNER

STORIES, compiled by Veronica Hutchinson, is one of the best collections of familiar tales. It is published by Putnam at $3.50.

Different from these but fun for the younger ones in this group are 2 new books—WHERE'S ANDY by Jane Thayer and WHAT IS ONE? by Nancy Watson. In fact, there are all sorts of new books this year that seem just right for gifts. For the younger ones see IN GAME HORACE, a good cat story by Janet Beattie. WONDERFUL THINGS by Zhenya Gay and SPARKIE AND PUFF BALL by Paul Brown, both horse stories; and a new one by Dr. Seuss, HORTON HEARS A WHO.

The GOLDEN BOOK OF INDIAN CRAFTS AND LORE published by Simon & Schuster at $1.50 is just what the doctor ordered for the Cub Scout on your list.

There is a new edition of the Wilder LITTLE HOUSE books illustrated by Garth Williams for the middle grade group, also a new edition of Kenneth Grahame's WIND IN THE WILLOWS. There are 2 new Miss Pickering stories and a new "Terrific Triple Title"—RIDDLES, RIDDLES, RIDDLES by Joseph Leeming. There are numerous new Landmark books. Then there is THROUGH THE MAGNIFYING GLASS by Julius Schwartz for the budding scientist and WORLD BOOK OF DOGS by Julie Campbell Tatham. This will please the whole family.

We're off the end of the paper now, but come in or call Mason 2-7211, and we will give you publishers' and prices on all of these. We will also give you a copy of GROWING UP WITH BOOKS; 200 books which every child should have a chance to read and enjoy. You may see several other lists, too, to help in making your selections. We even have 2 or 3 lists of good books under $1.00. Don't forget "Books make gifts that can be opened more than once."

Fine Family Picture Headlines Fox Fare

Plenty of action is in store for Fox film fans starting with the Friday and Saturday twin bill. The first feature will be the "Iron Glove" with "The Forty-Niners" winding up the bill.

Columbia Pictures' "The Iron Glove," is a swashbuckling adventure drama starring Robert Stack and Ursula Thies in color by Technicolor. A story of high adventure, flashing sword play and Machiavellian intrigue whose action takes place in early 18th century England and France, "The Iron Glove" deals with the attempt of the Scottish Prince James Stuart, pretender to the throne of England, to become king. A brilliant swordsman and dashing adventurer feared throughout all Europe as "The Iron Glove," Stack is one of James Stuart's staunchest adherents, pledged to defend the cause and life of the Prince. "The Iron Glove" tells how Stack carries out his mission, fighting to defend his Prince and himself against the machinations and attacks of the royalists in England and France. The film is said to be a swashbuckling thriller in the best tradition of derring-do motion pictures.

Wild Bill Elliott resorts to a clever subterfuge to track down 3 clever murderers in "The Forty-Niners," his new starring picture for Allied Artists. Elliott, a United States marshal, puts his badge in his pocket and poses as a professional killer in order to make the contacts which eventually lead him to his men.

Elliott plays a lone hand in his dangerous manhunt, which leads him to a lawless community where death is around every corner; a community that is in the hands of the men he is seeking, although he is not aware of this until the final exciting showdown.

Important in her role as the wife of one of the killers is Virginia Grey, one of the most popular women stars in western pictures. Other important roles are played by Henry Morgan, who is the first to put Elliott on the trail that leads to his killers, John Doucette as the owner of a crooked gambling casino, Lane Bradford as a sheriff with a criminal record and Stanford Jolley as a convict whose confession supplies the final evidence that enables Elliott to wrap up the case.

Greer Garson introduces the "new boy," Tim Considine, to his classmates in a scene from "Her Twelve Men," M-G-M attraction at the Fox Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Comedy-romance of the "miss-adventures" of the only woman teacher at a boy's school, the Anso Color picture also stars Robert Ryan and Barry Sullivan, with a group of Hollywood's outstanding juvenile actors.

Wayne Gets Top Role "The High and the Mighty," in CinemaScope and Warner-Color, plays Sunday and Monday at the Fox Theatre. John Wayne heads the 22-star-name-cast in the Wayne-Fellows production of the Ernest K. Gann bestseller for Warner Bros.

"The High and the Mighty" is the William Wellman directed screen version of the Book-of-the-Month club selection written by the prominent author. The previous Wayne-Fellows film for Warner Bros. was one of last year's outstanding action films, "Hondo," which also starred John Wayne.

The other members of the cast include Claire Trevor, Laraine Day, Robert Stack, Jan Sterling, Phil Harris, Robert Newton and David Brian. The film also introduces to the screen newcomers Doe Avedon, Karen Sharpe and John Smith.

The dramatic story takes place within a period of 12 hours. The crew and passengers are introduced as they prepare to board a plane in Honolulu. Halfway through the flight an emergency arises which unmasks the emotions and true characters of the passengers and the crew.

"Her Twelve Men," M-G-M comedy-romance starring Greer Garson, Robert Ryan and Barry Sullivan, is the attraction at the Fox Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

In striking contrast to her dramatic role as Calpurnia in "Julius Caesar," Miss Garson now reveals her comedy talent as the only woman teacher in a boy's boarding school, a "creep" to her class, but in a class by herself when the lesson is romance.

The new Anso Color picture also marks a radical departure for Robert Ryan, usually seen in rugged, two-listed characterizations, most recent of which was his role as the killer in "The Naked Spur." This time he is seen as a "hep" teacher who not only knows how to keep the boys in line, but has the girls forming one from the right.

In the third starring role, Barry Sullivan enacts the father of one of Miss Garson's students, who ends up in paying more attention to teacher than to his son.

comes an all-new General Motors masterpiece

PONTIAC FOR '55

The 1955 Pontiac is getting a royal welcome. "It's hot," they're saying all over America, "the hot car of the year." And no wonder! With its striking Vogue Two-Tone styling and dynamic Strato-Streak V-8 engine, Pontiac wraps up more beauty, luxury, size and power than a like amount of money ever bought before. The price is near the lowest, but the car is way out front in everything that makes an automobile great.

The reason lies in General Motors' vast experience. Research experience that uncovers what you want and need. Design experience that creates new trends. Engineering experience producing more dollar-for-dollar quality.

That's the background of this All-New General Motors Masterpiece. Come in, drive it, and find out what it means to you: Let your own eyes tell you that here is the smartest car on the highway. Let your own hands report its new handling perfection. And let the great new Strato-Streak V-8 whisper its own sensational news of flashing get-away and compelling power. Then get the story of Pontiac's new thrift and reliability—and how little it costs to buy this future-fashioned beauty.

Seaway Will Bring Farm Customers

By Elmer White
Michigan Press Association
Michigan farm leaders issued a warning to reduce rural worry over the coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"They agreed that untold wealth will accompany the widening and deepening of the channel from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes, bringing more people, industry and world markets.

"But we'll still need land for farming to feed all these people," said George C. McIntyre, state director of agriculture.

He said that the expansion of industry and residential suburbs possible with the Seaway boom threaten to overrun some of the better farm lands near the border lakes.

Agriculture in Michigan will be called upon to grow more food and livestock to feed the state and also to take advantage of the world markets.

"We'll need the land we have now and more probably," McIntyre said.

Michigan State college is going to test the effectiveness of flu shots it has been providing free for several years.

Each fall when the students flock to the campus, they are offered the shots free when they complete registration. Doctors believe they do the trick and keep more students in classes instead of the infirmary, but they are going to make certain in tests this winter.

People will disagree over toll highways until they are completed and paid for, a period of time which may out-distance the life span of those who are building them.

The toll theory is that those who use the roads pay for them. Free roads are financed from tax money, which often forces payment from people who never receive direct benefit.

After years of controversy, the new Michigan Turnpike Authority is getting started on a toll road between Detroit and the Saginaw-Bay City area.

It is the second try.

Monroe residents objected so strongly to the Authority taking over the Detroit-Toledo, expressway, a free road now under construction, that plans were abandoned to make it a toll highway.

Already complaints are being heard about the proposed Detroit to Saginaw-Bay City toll road.

Farmers do not want to eliminate farm-to-market roads; resort people want exit points nearby; gas-line dealers want stations on the superhighway.

The law is quite clear on most points, giving the Authority power to make contracts for gasoline service on the highways, to build the roads and sell revenue bonds to pay for them.

Public policy is expected to make certain in the legislature that farmers and resort owners, vacationists and "average" motorists are protected.

For instance, one clause in the law requires that free highways come close to paralleling the toll roads.

"In addition we can shift around and get room for 270 more, which should ease the situation considerably," he said.

1955 Cadillac Is Displayed at Robinson's

Advanced show car styling and major engineering refinements feature the 1955 Cadillac on display at Robinson Motor Sales in Mason.

"This year," according to Lowell Robinson, "Cadillac designers and engineers present to the motoring public a line of automobiles blending new functional designs with important engineering advancements.

The 1955 Cadillac is immediately identified by its distinctive front-end blending refinement of a finely etched cellular grille design with strength through the massive line of bumper, grill guards and rounded lowness of the hood. There is a whole new body side panel treatment carrying the eye to the sweeping and sharply defined fenders that are an integral part of the car and characteristically Cadillac. Lending a new touch to the distinctive Cadillac rear end, designers have added small chrome louvers with studied placement to the body panel just below the rear deck lid.

To present a sleeker overall appearance in Series 62 Sedan and Fleetwood Series 60 Special Sedan, the Florentine curve rear window design has been adapted from the Cadillac Coupe and Coupe de Ville.

Complementing 1955 Cadillac styling are 19 new colors, 2 special upper body colors and 4 exclusive colors for the Eldorado. Innumerable two-tone effects can be derived from this selection. Cadillac stylists have produced a wide range of upholstery color and trim options individually suited to the various models in our 3 series.

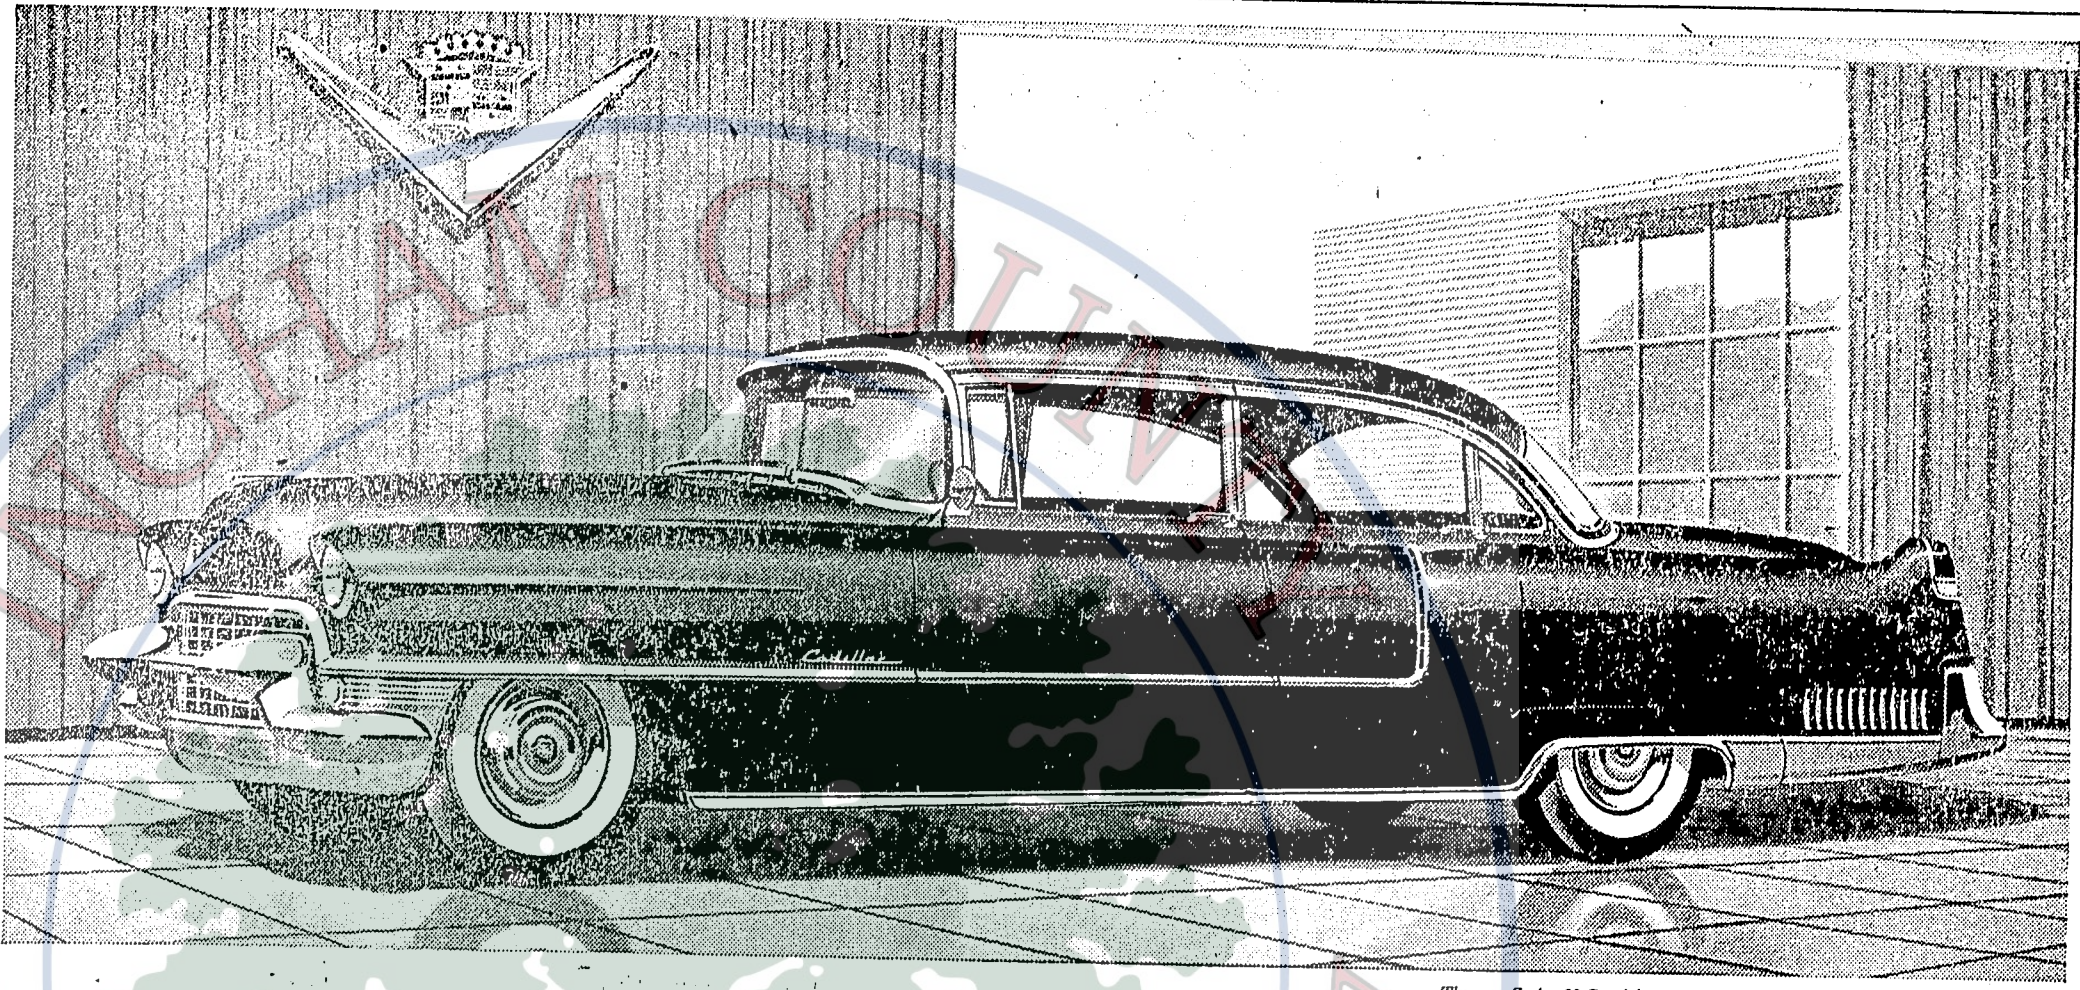

Coupled with styling advancements of the 1955 line are many major engineering refinements. Among these is the development of a 250 horsepower overhead valve V-8 engine. In developing this new engine with a compression ratio of 9:1, Cadillac has achieved a smoother application of this added power as well as increasing fuel economy and engine life.

Standard equipment on the 1955 Cadillac are such items as power steering, dual range Hydra-Matic transmission, wheel discs, and automatic windshield washer and coordinator.

At customer request, optional equipment items installed on particular models at the factory are: redesigned power brakes for more positive action, air conditioning, signal seeking pre-selector radio, heater and defroster, EZ Eye glass with an unnoticeable gray tint graduation, Autronic eye, white sidewall tires, power window lifts and horizontal power seat adjustment, vertical front seat adjuster, fog lamps, suber spoke wheels, and specially styled license plate frames.

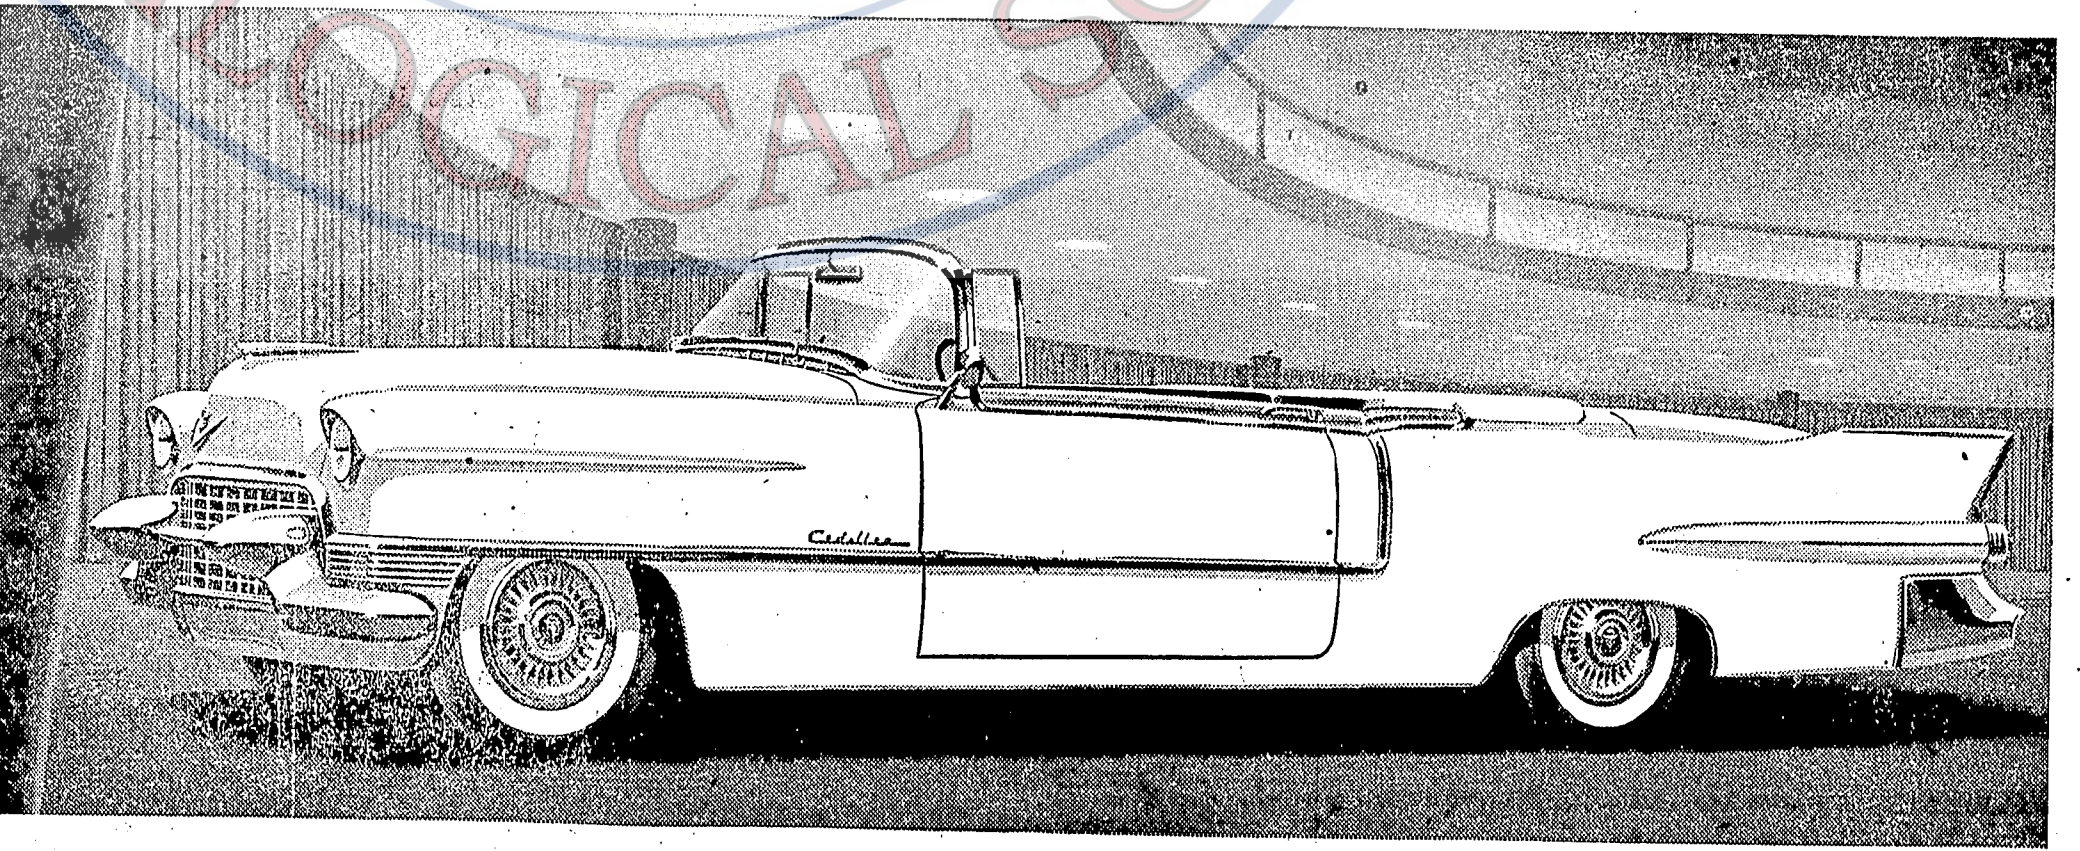

We ask God to forgive us our evil thoughts and evil temper, but rarely, if ever, ask him to forgive us for our sadness.—R. W. Dale.

The new Series 60 Special, representing the standard 1955 models, features a new Florentine-curved roof line, a new slender center post, and a great new 250-h.p. engine.

FARMER'S FRIEND
MICHIGAN'S agriculture produces approximately 10 per cent of the state's income!

And, to the Michigan farmer, motor transport is next in importance to the land itself. Over 80,000 trucks are hard at work on Michigan's farms—vital tools in all phases of farm work.

Not only are trucks indispensable to the farmer in the successful operation of his farm—trucks also form a vital link to the outside world.

The town or shopping center where the farmer does his buying is stocked by trucks and trailers which operate round the clock to bring him and his family—swiftly and economically—an ever wider selection of the necessities and luxuries of life.

'55 Plymouth Is Completely Redesigned

Plymouth's completely new 1955 cars are lower, wider and more than 10 inches longer than previous models. With either a PowerFlow Six or Hy-Fire V-8 engine, they are the most powerful cars Plymouth has ever built. They are available with a full range of automatic and power-assist devices, including electric window lifts and power front seat adjustment. Pictured here is the Belvedere sport coupe.

Plymouth's bigger and more powerful 1955 model cars will be displayed by dealers throughout the nation beginning Wednesday, November 17.

The 1955 Plymouths are entirely new, both in styling and engineering detail. They are lower, longer and wider than previous Plymouth cars.

They are the most powerful cars Plymouth ever built. The 1955 engines are a 117-horsepower PowerFlow six, a 157-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8 and a 167-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8. The latter engine also is available with a four-barrel carburetor and special manifold which increases its horsepower to 177.

Plymouth offers as optional equipment a full range of automatic and power assist devices. They include PowerFlite fully automatic no clutch transmission, a new design coaxial full-time power steering, power brakes, power-operated front seat adjustments, power-operated window regulators, and adjustable speed electric windshield wipers. Air conditioning by Airtemp also is available as special equipment.

The 1955 line is made up of 12 models, including for the first time four-door versions of the Plymouth Suburban, the all steel body "station wagon" type car which Plymouth pioneered in 1949.

The 1955 models are all new in a more basic sense than at any previous new model introduction in the company's history.

Plymouth's 1955 styling is the creation of a design team headed by Virgil M. Exner, director of styling. It is based on the premise, Exner says, that styling must first be conceived as a unity. Ornamentation is then used to accentuate existing highlights rather than to create new ones.

Among the distinctive features of Plymouth's new styling are a low silhouette, slimmness and sleekness of body lines, deeply recessed head lights and tail lights, and an overall appearance of forward motion.

Plymouth four-door sedans are 10.3 inches longer than their predecessors. They are 1.7 inches lower. Front seats are 3.2 inches wider and rear seats 5.9 inches wider.

A new Full-View wrap-around windshield, with swept back corner posts, at top and bottom, has 16 per cent more glass area. It is contoured to eliminate distortion and to give the driver maximum vision at eye level.

The new models have push button door handles. They operate with a new rotary latch which maintains the automatic self-tightening characteristic of Plymouth doors.

The fuel filter pipe has been moved from the rear to the right side of the car, with an attractive hinged door on the right rear panel. The filter pipe occupies unused space behind the spare tire. The trunk compartment has 23.8 cubic feet of useful space and the trunk compartment lid has an entirely new torsion bar hinge mechanism which provides more head clearance and a more evenly balanced deck lid.

DeSotos Go on Display at Ingham Motor Sales

Ingham Motor Sales will display for the first time 2 completely new lines of De Soto automobiles for 1955.

They are the Fireflite series of 4-door sedans, Sportsman hardtops and convertible coupes, all wholly new in every detail and powered by the new Fireflite 200 horsepower hemispheric combustion chamber V-8 engine, and the equally new Fireflite series with a new Fireflite V-8 engine rated at 185 horsepower.

Fireflite models include a four-door sedan, Sportsman hardtop, convertible coupe, special coupe, and station wagon.

The 8 new De Soto models for 1955 are dimensionally and statistically the longest, lowest, roomiest and most powerful in the history of the company (exclusive of special purpose vehicles).

Built on a newly designed chassis with a wheelbase of 126 inches, the 1955 models have an overall length of 217.9 inches; height has been reduced in the 4-door models to 60.6 inches and to 59.9 inches in the hardtops and convertibles; hip room and leg room has been substantially increased in all models, with front seats over 64 inches wide and driver leg room measuring more than 44 inches.

The 1955 De Sotos contain more styling innovations and engineering advances new to the industry than any new car since the advent of the first De Sotos in 1928.

Among the new exterior features that distinguish the 1955 models are:

New body lines—slim, clean, taut, expressive of great power and performance.

Massive grille integrated with bumper.

Recessed headlights with a distinct Continental flair.

Functional air scoop incorporating the DeSoto emblem.

As new as its name is the "styled for tomorrow" De Soto Fireflite series introduced for the first time for 1955. This all-new four-door model is lower, longer, roomier and has the most powerful engine built by De Soto—the 200 horsepower Fireflite hemispheric combustion V-8. Completely new are such features as "New Horizon" full wrap-around windshield, low-silhouette "forward motion" body design, "Flite Control" gear selector mounted on the dash, interior colors, fabrics and trim. Available also are such De Soto exclusives as Powerflite transmission, Full-Time, coaxial-type power steering, Power Brakes and Airtemp air conditioning.

Full wrap-around "New Horizon" windshield that gives driver complete range of vision at eye level where it is needed.

Sun Cap visor of heavy chrome. Javelin-like chrome strip running the full length of the car, accentuating body highlights.

Semi-flush push-pull door handles.

The new De Soto interiors offer 39 trim combinations in a choice of fabrics—nylons, vinyls, buffed and grained leathers, exclusive patterns—many of them entirely new to the industry. Fireflite carpets are luxurious and colorful of heavy denier nylon loop pile backed by a thick layer of sponge rubber.

Mechanically it is the same exciting story—new.

The frame has been redesigned and is heavier and sturdier than ever before. Rear springs are mounted on the outside of the fully boxed side rails, 5.6 inches wider apart than on previous models. Front tread is nearly 4 inches wider, and the combination of wider tread and spring suspension reduces cornering roll to a minimum.

Windshield wipers are variable-speed electric; blades park off the glass when not in use.

Steering linkage is also completely new with a new symmetrical idler arm design providing nearly constant ratio at all times and making steering virtually unaffected by vertical wheel action.

The brake pedal has been nearly doubled in width and is suspended from above for easier action and ready accessibility from accelerator.

Fireflite models have a new four-barrel carburetor which employs two barrels for economical cruising and all four for high

Police Chief Asks for Safety

"Don't wait for icy streets before getting your car ready for winter," Chief of Police Ralph Hall warned all motorists. He also reminded all drivers that President Eisenhower has declared December 15 as "S-D Day," the date on which it is hoped the public will be so careful that no serious accidents will occur.

"We join President Ike and urge all citizens to cooperate on Safe Driving Day, and show what can be done when everybody cares and tries especially hard," said Chief Hall. "Then we'd like 'em to continue trying 365 days a year."

"Pleasant fall weather lures lots of people into a sense of false security," he said. "They think it will last forever. But it won't. All motorists know that, yet every year, the first snow finds thousands of them unprepared. It might even occur on S-D Day."

It's lots easier to have brakes, headlights, and other mechanical features of the car checked before the cold weather rush starts, Chief Hall pointed out. But he added that getting the car ready for winter means more than changing the oil and grease, and putting in anti-freeze.

"It's just as important to check safety factors of vision and traction," he said. "Live rubber windshield wiper blades that don't streak, defrosters in working order, and good headlights are all vital for adequate vision in winter rains, fogs, smogs, sleet and snow."

"And for safer traction on ice or snow, there's nothing like a good pair of tire chains. National Safety Council tests proved that. And I mean full chains, not those emergency units you snap on for temporary help."

Full chains of the reinforced type are the best bet for safety on either snow or ice, even if you have mud-snow tires on your car, Chief Hall said.

Too much dependence cannot be placed in some of the so-called winterized tires, he said, particularly on hard-packed snow or ice. Also, he said, the inertia or gyro type of anti-skid devices did not show up at all well in National Safety Council tests.

Building officials in the capitol suggest that the construction cost will go somewhere near $1,000,000, and still not give the prisons the extra space they need.

The new corrections commission prefers a 1,200-man prison at $14,600,000, which would ease the strain of their problem but increase it for the taxpayers.

They believe that Michigan's prison population will exceed 10,000 before spring and will get smaller—so why not build for the future?

The 1,200-inmate figure is taken, from recommendations by the American Prison association despite the knowledge that the federal prison system sticks by the 600-man figure.

Two 600-man prisons? "Too expensive right now," said one legislator. "We might need them both anyway."

Hilton & Richards Presents 1955 Buicks

Buick will present a complete new line of cars, featuring beautiful, all-new styling and more powerful V-8 engines, plus a revolutionary new variable pitch Dynaflo transmission that greatly increases performance.

The new models will go on display at the Hilton & Richards showroom Friday.

Style-wise the new Buicks feature a new front end with a new wide-screen grille, new rear fenders that give the trunk compartment a longer, lower silhouette, new tail lights patterned after those on the experimental Wildcat II, and exquisite new interiors in many color combinations of nylon, leather and corduroy.

Many bright new exterior colors have been developed for 1955 and will be offered in attractive 2-tone and 3-tone combinations. For the first time Buick is offering a 2-tone combination under the sweepstakes program. On 2 and 4-door sedans the customer will have a choice of one color underneath sweepstakes, another above and a third color for the top.

Horsepower has been increased to 236 in the Roadmaster, Super and Century Series and 183 in the Special.

"We have made nearly as many engineering and design changes this year as we did last," said Ivan L. Wiles, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors. "Yet we have retained the outstanding styling features that made Buick the third best selling car in the nation. Our new styling, plus the spectacular increase in performance resulting from higher compression engines and our new variable pitch Dynaflo, makes the 1955 Buick the greatest value we have ever offered the car-buying public."

The panoramic windshield, pioneered by Buick last year, has been retained for 1955 along with the sloping doorbell line and full rear wheel cutout on all two-door models.

Power brakes, offered as optional equipment on all models, have been redesigned for smoother operation. A new air suspension principle gives fully adequate braking under all conditions.

BUICK'S FRONT-END, long one of the most easily identified in the automobile industry, sets a new style fashion in 1955. It paces the trend toward a more compact appearance with a recessed hood, more massive bumpers and a completely new wide-screen grille. Two "horns" protect the grille itself while smart new roll-over wing guards shield the fenders and lights. Headlights are visored in a distinctive fashion. The Buick tri-color medallion is located on a bar across the front of the grille, and the letters "B-U-I-C-K" in brilliant chrome grace the center of the recessed hood. The hood ornament, mounted on four concentric rings, symbolic of Buick's four great V-8 series, is bright chrome on the Special, Century and Super, and is finished in gold on the Roadmaster.

Improved power steering is standard equipment on the Roadmaster and Super, and optional on all other models. Previously power steering was standard on the Buick's distinctive front end styling for 1955 consists of a new wide-screen grille with honey-comb design, visored headlights and a new and larger bumper. The hood has been lowered for greater visibility.

The new, long-flowing rear fenders, which are tapered slightly to give the illusion of greater length to the trunk compartment, blend into a smart chrome bezel which houses the tail and back-up lights in a single assembly. Newly designed wheel covers, decorated in the center with the word B-U-I-C-K in chrome letters on a red background, lend a further touch of beauty to the overall appearance of the new Buick styling.

Ventports, the Buick "trademark," have been restyled with four on the Roadmaster, Super and Century Series, which are powered by the 236 horsepower engine, and three on the Special. Previously four ventports were reserved for the Roadmaster only.

The improved performance of the 1955 Buicks is attributed to the combination of the new variable pitch Dynaflo transmission and the more powerful V-8 engines with their higher compression ratios.

The new Dynaflo offers the driver greater cruising economy plus additional performance when he desires it. This is accomplished by the two different settings of the Dynaflo stator vanes. One angle is for maximum economy while cruising. The other is for performance.

Rex Gillen Heads State Counselors

Rex Gillen of Mason, teacher at West junior high school in Lansing, will serve as president of the Michigan Counselors association for 1955. He was elected Tuesday of last week at the convention of the state association held at Kellogg Center, East Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillen are both active in the Mason Presbyterian church. Mrs. Gillen is employed at Wyeth Laboratories Inc. in Mason.

PRIZE IS OFFERED
Open to all high school juniors and seniors is a contest offering $2,000 for prizes for essays on hiring the physically handicapped. Information is available at most schools.

Opinions Differ On Solution of Prison Problem

By Elmer White
Michigan Press Association

Michigan's prisons are bulging at the seams and everyone wants to do something about it.

"That's the trouble. Everyone has a different idea on how to solve the problem," said Rep. Adrian de Boom (R-Owosso).

De Boom represents one of the major legislative groups. They have separate and sometimes conflicting plans about the prisons. It is now a matter of how much money they will cost the taxpayers.

Legislators want something that will be effective but economical. Prison officials are interested in security and rehabilitation of inmates.

The "de Boom group" is interested in medium or minimum security installations away from centers of population—with wire fence barriers and low cost.

"We don't want any more prisons below the Bay City-Muskegon line," he said.

He figures that a "master plan," combining a new minimum security prison, shifting of population in existing prisons, and other factors could solve the problem for about $3,500,000.

Other legislators figure a 600-man prison at Ionia, an addition to Ionia State Reformatory, will be a stop-gap for a few years.

To that end, they appropriated $100,000 for new prison plans and specified that it should not cost more than $2,650,000.

"We won't get a 600-man prison for that kind of money," said

Corrections Director Gus Harrison.

Building officials in the capitol suggest that the construction cost will go somewhere near $1,000,000, and still not give the prisons the extra space they need.

The new corrections commission prefers a 1,200-man prison at $14,600,000, which would ease the strain of their problem but increase it for the taxpayers.

They believe that Michigan's prison population will exceed 10,000 before spring and will get smaller—so why not build for the future?

The 1,200-inmate figure is taken, from recommendations by the American Prison association despite the knowledge that the federal prison system sticks by the 600-man figure.

Two 600-man prisons? "Too expensive right now," said one legislator. "We might need them both anyway."

Despite this sentiment the corrections commission came up with tentative plans for a multi-million dollar long-range building program.

It includes, besides the new prison, a women's prison, a separate reception center for youthful offenders at Jackson, more camps and other installations.

Michigan now houses all its women prisoners at Detroit House of Corrections and pays a fee for their upkeep.

Telephone users face the chance they will pay more for their calls in the next few months.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is before the Public Service Commission for another rate increase, this time $22,000,000 a year.

Company spokesmen loathe the big figures and suggest that it be explained as 3 cents a day per telephone.

Some cities are fighting the proposed increase, figuring that rates already are pretty high but the company has said it is not getting the profit to which it is entitled, 6.5% on its investment.

The same rate request was turned down flatly last May 11 by the commission.

Shortly after, Michigan Bell became tangled in a labor dispute which ended when the company agreed to increase wages. That's why it's back with the same petition.

In addition, company spokesmen say that the profit margin is so thin that investors are not buying their stock. They display reports from other utilities and industries to back up their position.

Assistant Attorney General Robert J. Darenkowski won a point, however.

He rammed through a motion which will empower the commission—2 Democrats and a Republican—to expand the consideration to determine whether the company's existing rates are too high.

"We will make our findings known when we make the decision on the rate increase," said Chairman John H. McCarthy.

McCarn Outlines Service Program For VFW Posts

Veterans of Foreign Wars posts are stepping up community service activities throughout the state. It was announced by Max C. McCarn, of Mason, state community service director.

McCarn, state junior vice-commander of the V. F. W., said he expected all of the 430 V. F. W. posts and the more than 350 auxiliaries to report community service activities this year.

In 1953-54, V. F. W. posts in the state showed that more than 2,500 separate community activities were performed by V. F. W. posts in the state. McCarn said he hoped that the number would more than double this year.

"In order to stimulate more activity, the V. F. W. is offering incentive prizes to posts and districts which perform the best community service this year," McCarn said.

Each year the V. F. W. sponsors a scrapbook contest for posts in the state in which community service activities are graphically illustrated. Many posts have ranked high in the national ratings.

Community service activities as defined by the V. F. W. are "all activities on a community level which benefit non-V. F. W. persons." The more persons benefited the more extensive the post's contribution to community affairs.

Youth activities, such as presentations to schools of flags and the like, sponsoring sports and recreation activities, sponsoring Boy Scout and Girl Scout groups, are weighed heavily in community service ratings set up by the national organization.

McCarn said that the V. F. W., through the aid of an auto manufacturer, is setting up a state checker tournament for youngsters. The V. F. W. will hold elimination contests in each post and district and will sponsor a state tournament at the V. F. W. National Home at Eaton Rapids sometime next summer.

APPROVED BY THE GOLDEN RULE

More Than Required

There are certain services which are expected of a funeral director when he is serving a family. We, like all other funeral firms, perform these services, but we try to go much further than these basic requirements; we try to make every service unique in that we perform various special services for the family. They may be small and relatively unimportant, but they are tremendously appreciated.

We bring you
THE 1955 BUICK
New thriller in Style - Power - Performance

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower—up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepower of every Buick V8 engine—a whopping 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflo Drive.*

Up goes performance—and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway.

You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflo unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrills to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this week end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Assessment Arguments Continue

Even though Judge Paul Cash has handed down his decision in the Stockbridge school district-Livingston county tax assessment dispute, the arguments continue.

Supervisors throughout the state and politicians, too, have argued for months over Attorney General Frank Millard's opinion that counties with school districts fractional with other counties must use state equalized assessments in levying taxes.

The opinion of Judge Cash does not sustain the Millard opinion, except when complaints have been filed. If supervisors can agree upon the county equalized assessments or any other figure, then the state figure does not necessarily have to be used.

The opinion seems to make sense, unless the public reads newspaper headlines. Some newspapers say that Millard won a victory. Others claim that Millard's opinion was upset by the court ruling. School officials hail the decision as in their favor as they want the higher state values substituted for local and usually lower valuations.

The Ingham County News received word of the court's decision last Thursday. The sheaf of papers containing the decision was too thick for digestion within the time available before going to press. A study of that decision was made Friday. The Ingham County News version of the decision appears on the first page. Maybe you ought to read it, if you're interested in taxes and in schools. Yes, our version can be wrong, too.

By the way, a Mason lawyer, Assistant Attorney General William B. Dexter, wrote Millard's opinion for him in the first place.

Sharing Our Surplus

Government storehouses are filled to the brim with surplus commodities. Storage costs and spoilage mount into fantastic sums, even while millions of people in the world are dying of hunger and are miserable for lack of clothing.

Government handling of relief funds has not proved satisfactory. Too often that kind of handling gets into politics.

Now a new plan has been devised and it is working well. Through religious organizations suffering people are receiving aid entirely free from politics. They are getting that relief as human beings in need, not as pawns in national and international politics.

CROP relief is going into every part of the world where hunger stalks. Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews each have separate organizations under CROP. Under the new program, millions of pounds of surplus foods are being distributed overseas through churches. All the churches have to do is to put up the money for handling those surplus foods.

For every dollar given to CROP the U. S. government will provide $20 worth of surplus foods.

From a practical viewpoint this worldwide distribution will help us. We'll save ourselves the cost of storage and constant inspection of surplus foods. We'll remove the danger of depressing our own markets. Such distribution ought also to make friends for us abroad; friends where we now have so many enemies.

Yet that isn't the reason why the CROP program merits our support. The only reason is that millions of people are in dire need and we have it in our power to help them. It is our Christian duty to share our bounty.

A Cooling Off Period

Don't look in the legal news this week for a report of divorces started. A new policy has been adopted. The Ingham County News is going to give couples in trouble an opportunity to cool off and perhaps patch up their marriage. New divorce actions will not be listed. Divorces granted will be.

Many more divorce cases are started than are ever finished. The Ingham County News and the reading public ought to be willing to give sick marriages every possible chance of being cured. That's why our policy is being changed.

Intentions Aren't Enough

Politicians are having a field day with pledges and promises about how they're going to spend half a billion dollars on Michigan roads. They're also talking about a few hundred million needed quick for colleges and, for those who prefer to get their degrees elsewhere, other millions for prisons.

We all know the location of pavements that good intentions are used for. More paving there won't help either local or tourist traffic in Michigan.

Before we begin to spend all these millions of dollars we ought to find out where the extra money is coming from. Let's see, haven't business men been promised that the business receipts tax will expire next year?

United Becomes Untied

The same letters which make the word "united" when moved around spell "untied."

That's a fact which must be faced by the Community Chest. People give generously in the belief or hope that they are giving for worthy causes. Even before the Red Feather Community Chest drive is completed other drives are launched. That is true right now.

There is a campaign right now to raise $10,000 in behalf of retarded children in the Lansing area. The Christmas Seal campaign is being readied. There is a CROP campaign under way. They are worthy causes. They deserve support. There ought to be a way to include them with the Community Chest campaign, or Community Chest campaigners should publicly announce that people should hold back enough for other campaigns which are about ready to pop.

Original enthusiasm for the Community Chest program stemmed from the presumption that all agencies worthy of support would share in the annual campaigns. But, of course, there is no way to force all the agencies to come under the plan. And people have a clear right to give their money to any cause.

Yet somehow through some kind of persuasion or education there must be more of unity in the united effort else soon "united" will become "untied."

Down by the SYCAMORE

The greatest thing a human soul ever does in this world is to see something. Hundreds of people can talk for one who thinks, but thousands can think for one who can see. To see clearly is poetry, prophecy and religion all in one. So said John Ruskin after he had himself fitted with a pair of spectacles.

If you want a share in making a poet, a prophet or a religious man all it may cost you is a pair of outgrown or outmoded or even broken spectacles. If you've lost your glasses, try groping your way to our found department. We have spectacles in all shapes and sizes but won't have them long. All glasses not claimed before November 23 will be sent to New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., Short Hills, New Jersey. If you have any glasses around your house that you want to add to our shipment to New Jersey, bring them in.

If you have frames without lenses, or lenses with broken frames, bring them in, too. The metal frames and gold and silver of the broken glasses are sent to a refiner. The sale money goes for new prescription glasses and artificial eyes for people who can't afford to buy their own.

Glasses all in one piece are classified for future use. Simple magnifying and nearsighted glasses, sun glasses, colored glasses and good frames are distributed for reuse through hospitals, missions and welfare organizations at home and as far away as the Philippines, India and Africa.

Who knows, the spectacles that do you no good may enable an African to see cophers where now he can only dimly see elephants.

H. M. Tomlinson, a distant cousin of Sam's, said, "We see things not as they are, but as we are."

What we see depends on where we're looking and how we're looking and the kind of spectacle we're wearing. If you want to look good to somebody else make sure that somebody else sees good. Your old spectacles on somebody else will make them see better and therefore you'll look better.

A 4-color page ad in Life costs $39,600.

Ingham County News page rates are lower than either The Readers' Digest or Life. There's another advantage offered Ingham County News Advertisers, too. One of our pages is bigger than a Digest page and a Life page put together. The Ingham County News also carries more want ads than both the Digest and Life, and in the latest accounting, the Ingham County News was ahead of all New York City papers in farm machinery and livestock advertising. The want ad price here remains unchanged—50¢ for 40 words.

Approval Given Special Stamp For Centennial

A commemorative U. S. stamp which will honor both Michigan State college and Pennsylvania State University during their centennial year observances next year has been approved by postal officials.

The stamps will be issued February 12, 1955, at East Lansing. That date marks the 100th anniversary of Michigan State's founding and is also the opening day of Michigan State college's year-long centennial observance.

First day covers are to be issued that day also at Pennsylvania State. The founding dates of the 2 institutions are only 10 days apart—Michigan State college on February 12 and Penn State on February 22.

"The stamp will commemorate the 100th anniversary of the land-grant college idea, as represented in the establishment of Michigan State college and Penn State in 1855," said Alvie L. Smith, centennial director.

"It was from the pattern established by these 2 institutions, also the nation's first agricultural colleges, that the U. S. land-grant system was begun under the Morrill Act of 1862," he said.

Postal officials will announce the actual design of the stamp at a later date, according to Smith.

Significance of Vote Is Beginning to Focus

By Carl Collin

The significance of the recent election is becoming, perhaps, slightly clearer. After the first deluge of rash statements from many sections of the country, a surer opinion begins to focus along these lines:

The results of the election probably mean no major changes in farm policy from the national standpoint. There will be a lot of discussion in congress about farm legislation. But it appears now as though the Democrats, although the majority party, won't have sufficient strength to change things materially. Even though new legislation could be passed by congress, upping price supports, there's still the presidential power of veto. It takes a lot of votes to over-ride a presidential veto. And the Democratic majority in congress isn't large enough to do that, even counting the few Republicans who would join them. (There are some Democrats who won't go along, either).

It wouldn't be too surprising if some modifications were made in programs affecting individual commodities. Dairy products are an example. There's some talk that support prices on dairy products might be upped 5%. But that's far from being a sure bet.

USDA marketing specialists don't figure that hog prices have hit their lowest level yet for this season. A lot will depend on how farmers market their hogs. If they can keep hogs going to market in an orderly fashion and not crowd the markets, prices might hold up pretty well. But there are still a lot of hogs to be marketed before the end of the year.

There will be corn acreage allotments next year. Secretary Benson has until February 1 to announce them. But the USDA said last week that allotments would be in effect on the 1955 corn crop. Allotments will be effective only on farms in commercial producing states. These states turn out more than three-fourths of the nation's corn crop. Only growers who comply with their allotments will be eligible for price supports. Crops this year were at 90% of parity. Next year, under the flexible price support law, they'll be in the high 80's, according to latest estimates.

Turkey consumption per person was 96% higher in 1950-52 than in 1930-32. Chicken consumption was up 58% and egg consumption was up 32% during the same period. At the same time, beef consumption rose only 6%, lamb and mutton consumption dropped 43%. All of which shows that the poultry industry has done a pretty good job producing and marketing its products. But the industry has got to do an even better job of selling if it hopes to ward off weak prices brought on by tremendous output of all kinds of poultry products.

Butter consumption jumped 10% in September compared with the same month in 1953. During the same period, margarine consumption dropped about 4%.

Margarine production, however, will break all records. A

STANLEY BRYDE of Leslie was the first person to correctly identify the Reuben J. Sturman farm in the mystery farm series last week. Bryde called from Leslie soon after the Ingham County News was on sale in Leslie Thursday afternoon. This picture, taken by the Zekan-Robbins aerial picture service of Harlan, Iowa, shows the Sturman farm located 4 miles west of Leslie on Bellevue. It was known as the Paul Kilburn farm until the Sturmans purchased it in 1947. The Sturmans are strong in the dairy business. They milk 20 cows.

Mr. and Mrs. Sturman have 3 children and all attend the Leslie school. They are Betty, 17; Jim, 14; and Donna 12.

Reuben and his brother, Robert, came to Ingham from Arenac county in 1947. Robert settled on a farm on Ives road 5 miles southeast of Mason.

Bryde was among 50 people who tried to identify the Sturman farm. Others who made the correct identification, but too late, were Mrs. Donald Osterle, Mason; Mrs. Gaylord Dwight; Ralph Warner, Onondaga; Bob Lemon, Mason; Mrs. Leo Westphal, Mason; and Gordon Edmonds, Mason.

Bryde has received 4 free theatre tickets for being the first one with the right answer. The Sturmans have received a free picture of their farm.

Another mystery picture is in this week's Ingham County News farm section.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

Two Mason farm families got a big play in the November issue of Country Gentleman. The national magazine features tulip plantings at the farms of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Allen. Anyone who saw these farms last spring when the tulips were in bloom knows why Country Gentleman didn't hesitate to use so many full-color photographs in the magazine article.

There's still time, according to Country Gentleman, to get tulip bulbs in the ground for blooming next spring. Don't put it off too much longer, though. Snow drifts may make it tough finding your garden.

Another farm family made the big time this week. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben J. Sturman's farm was the mystery farm featured in last week's Ingham County News.

The Sturman farm is the first of a 52-farm series which is being published in the Ingham County News. The first person to identify each mystery farm receives 4 free theatre tickets. The farm family that lives on the mystery farm receives a free 5x7 picture of their place.

The weekly feature is sponsored by the Producers Co-op Elevator Co. of Williamston, the Eden Elevator and the Mason Elevator. They're paying the bill for this mystery farm series as a tribute to Ingham county farmers. If you like the feature, tell Dave, Warren or Dee.

We received about 50 calls as a result of printing the first mystery picture. Those who have used the series before claim that the calls will climb to around 100 a week. We hope we don't have to put in an extra phone.

Stanley Bryde of Leslie was the first to identify the Sturman farm. He called long distance Thursday within minutes after the Ingham County News was on sale at the Leslie drug stores. There were 17, long distance calls.

We call our dog Stumpy this week. He cut his foot on a piece of glass or metal and it took 3 Dr. Charles Hubbard's stitches to close the gap. He taped the foot to keep the dirt out and offered this advice if the dog tried to chew off the bandage (which he did try to do). Make up a solution of red pepper and water and soak it on the bandage. A few licks of the stuff will make the dog stop chewing.

It works, too. Firecracker hasn't bothered with the bandage since. The doctor uses stainless steel wire for sewing. I wrestled with the dog while the doctor did the hemming. The foot is one of the tenderest parts of a dog, so it seemed.

This was my second operation. Once before I assisted Dr. M. J. Green when he performed a Caesarean section on my sister Margaret's cat.

I favor foot surgery over obstetrics.

Evergreens Need Care in Winter

It's overcoat weather for shrubs and evergreens.

Unless you give them protection this winter you may have to buy new plants next year, warns Bill Love extension municipal forester at Michigan State college.

Love offers these hints on protecting ornamentals against drying winds, ice, heavy snow and other winter hazards:

Mulch around evergreens and shrubs with leaves, straw or something similar to stop repeated freezing and thawing and deep-freezing of the soil.

Tie up limber-stemmed plants so they won't break under snow and ice. Burlap tied around vines and roses helps protect them against cold.

Mound up soil around roses and put on mulch to cut down winter injury to grafted plants.

Plant shrubs far enough from the eaves line to keep water from dripping on them and freezing. Love adds that it's a good idea to shake the snow off evergreens after a heavy fall.

Livestock Show For 4-H Youths Will Lure 470

The "silver anniversary" livestock show in Detroit in early December will mean "silver in the pockets" for more than 470 4-H club livestock exhibitors.

It will be the 25th annual Detroit Junior livestock show at the fairgrounds on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, December 7, 8 and 9.

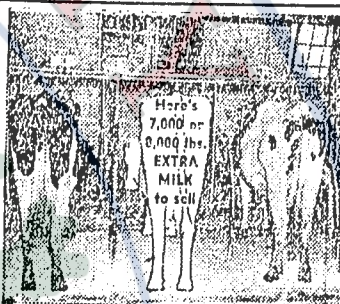

A record entry list will compete for awards and the top dollar on the auction block. Maurice Hill, assistant state 4-H club leader in charge of the event for Michigan State college, says 471 advance entries have been made from nearly 35 counties.

A total of 447 steers are entered by 342 exhibitors with Gratiot county sending the largest number. Swine will come from 19 counties with 69 pens in all. Isabella county club members have entered 15 pens to top all other counties. Tuscola county, a perennial winner in the lamb show, has the most entries with 10 pens out of the 69 entered.

Animals will be entered on Tuesday, December 7, judged on December 8 and sold at auction starting at 1 p. m. on December 9. Detroit livestock interests and business men will entertain and feté the visitors during their 3 days in the motor city.

MSC Steers Make Gains without Hay

By M. H. AVERY
County Agricultural Agent

Michigan State college has just completed a 3 1/2-month experiment on heavy feeding of silage to steers on the last 3 to 4 months of the feeding period. This steer feeding program is rather revolutionary I believe, in that the steers were dry fed but with no hay.

The steers were divided into 4 lots of equal number and equal grade in each lot. The steers weighed around 800 lb each when they went on this feeding experiment and gained an average of 2.27 lb per day. There was some variation between the lots in that they gained from 2.19 lb per day to 2.33. The important thing is that all steers gained more than 2 lb per day. Here is the ration that was fed. They received 38 1/2 to 40 lb of good corn silage each per day, from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 lb of protein supplement, mostly soy-bean meal, 3 1/2 lb corn grain, 2 of a pound of di-calcium and .05 of a pound of trace mineral salt.

At the close of the feeding period, the steers were graded by a commercial buyer. The steers were all graded from high-grade to choice, which shows that the steers were well finished and were not wastily in appearance.

Another interesting feature in this particular lot was that the steers which received the smallest amount of corn grain, 2.25 lb per day, made the greatest increase in daily gain. No doubt this experimental program will need to be carried further to find out whether a little more corn grain would have produced greater gains, but the point that is brought out is that very good gains can be gotten on good corn silage with protein supplement and a small amount of corn grain in the ration.

Take Care of Eggs
Here are some pointers given by Harry Hathaway of the poultry extension department on egg-quality. He says egg quality is best when the egg is first laid. It continues to deteriorate from that time on. He gives certain rules for getting best egg quality. Here they are:

1. Confine laying flock. The confined hens will produce better quality eggs at less feed. The laying flock should have 3 square feet per bird for the lighter breeds and 4 square feet per bird for heavier breeds.
2. Clean dry floor litter. Add lime to keep the litter dry and the odor down. There are several kinds of litter which may be used—all of them will be satisfactory.

3. Provide clean dry nesting material. Wheat screenings are one of the very good nesting materials to use. There are many others that are available.
4. Gather eggs frequently. Eggs should be gathered at least 3 times each day. Collect in wire basket.

5. Cool eggs rapidly. They should be cooled down to 50 or 60 degrees as soon as possible and retained there at a humidity of around 75 degrees if possible. Eggs kept at a higher temperature will deteriorate rather rapidly.

6. Cool before putting into cases to move to the buyers. Many poultry people want to take the clean eggs and put them in cases or cartons immediately and the eggs do not cool as rapidly. It will take up to 24 hours for eggs in the center of a large case to cool.

7. Wash only the dirty eggs. Washing eggs produces poor keeping eggs and they sour or rot. Wash only the dirty eggs, use a detergent and water, change the water every day or oftener if many eggs—possibly every 4 or 5 baskets of eggs.

If the above points are used, Hathaway reports that egg customers will continue to come back to your farm to get the very high quality eggs which you are producing.

Build Straw Silos
Cattle feeders at Michigan State college are enthused about using straw bales for silos. And they may work in Ingham county.

Beef cattleman at the college have used straw bales for 4 years and the dairymen are starting their second year. Both groups are well satisfied with the results, Avery indicates.

Avery suggests that farmers in Ingham county can make use of straw bales when they have too much silage for the silos on their farm. The straw sets can be put in the feedlot. That would save trucking silage from the permanent silo.

The college man simply stacked the bales, overlapping them like bricks and put in a steel band and stored where they will stay dry.

And here's a tip on the method of storing machinery: Arrange it so the first pieces needed next spring will be handiest. The equipment should be kept off the ground if possible. A board underneath will serve the purpose. Implements with rubber tires should be jacked up to remove the weight from the tire.

Fire Danger Increases
Defective chimneys, careless handling of combustible materials and misuse of petroleum products cause a large share of the farm fires each year.
David Steinleke, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college, suggests complete inspection and repair of chimneys and other defects in the chimney and stove pipes. Combustible materials should be protected and all members of the family instructed in the safe use of petroleum products. Metal or asbestos floor covering should be placed under wood or coal burning stoves and spark arresters installed on chimneys.

Poultry Need Ventilation
Cold weather does not lessen the need for ventilation in the poultry house. Michigan State college poultrymen warn, however, that chilling drafts should be avoided. Air intakes and outlets should be well above the birds. The rear and end walls should be closed tightly. The eave-boards also suggest keeping front windows open from the top until the chicken's water starts to freeze, but never close all windows regardless of the outside temperatures.

Automatic water warmers are the answer to the problem of how to keep water from freezing. Many successful poultrymen have found that water heaters pay for themselves in increased egg production. Cold or frozen water, even for a short time, will cut egg production.

Soil and Water Loans Are Ready
Soil and water conservation loans are now available to eligible farmers in Ingham county, according to Harold D. Gates, county Farmers Home Administration supervisor.

The loans may be used to carry out measures for soil conservation, water development, conservation and use and drainage. This will include the construction and repair of terraces, dikes, ponds and tanks, the establishment and improvement of permanent pastures, basic application of lime and fertilizer, tree planting, well drilling, and the purchase of pumps and other irrigation equipment, he pointed out.

The new loan program was made possible by legislation recently passed by the 83rd congress.

Soil and water conservation loans may be made from funds supplied by private lenders and insured by the government or from funds appropriated by congress. Loans from appropriated funds will be made only when insured loans are not avail-

Clipped Cows Boost Quality
Winter stabling creates some serious problems when you want to produce high quality milk. However, Don Murray, extension dairyman at Michigan State college says clipping the cow will help keep quality high.

There are 4 reasons, he says, for clipping dairy cows before winter stabling: First, it takes less time to keep cows clean. Second, it will reduce sediment in milk. Third, it lowers bacteria count, and 4, aids in control of lice.

Clipped hair on the udder, flanks and legs offer little chance for dust and dirt to collect. Murray points out that leading dairy companies show that clipping reduced by over 50% the rejected and otherwise low quality milk due to sediment.

There also is evidence that where udders are clipped and washed the bacteria count is reduced greatly compared with bacteria counts in milk where udders were not clipped or washed.

Murray urges farmers to clip cows during the next week or so and repeat as often as necessary to keep the hair short on the udder, flanks and belly.

Here's How to Quick Dry
If you want to dry up a cow to give her a rest, just stop milking her. It's better than drying up the cow gradually by milking once a day for a week or 2.

If the cow is still producing more than 20 lb of milk at the time you want to give her a rest, milk her out completely. Then cut down her grain ration. That's some advice added by Michigan State college dairymen.

The quick drying up method helps give the cow some added rest, Avery explains. And a cow that has had a 6- to 8-weeks drying period will produce more milk than an animal that didn't have that much rest.

If the cow you want to dry up has mastitis, treat her with an antibiotic and stop milking her. And they also suggest keeping a close watch on the cow's udder when she freshens to be sure it's not deformed.

Take Care of Machinery
Rust and corrosion damage to machinery caused by letting it stand outside all winter may cause greater damage than wear by a year's operation. Since most field machinery will not be used again until spring, Michigan State college agricultural engineers recommend spending a few days cleaning up, greasing and storing the machines.

Weeds, dirt and chaff should be cleaned off the machine and oil and grease or some other rust preventative should cover many of the exposed parts. When you store machines it is also a good time to inspect for broken or badly worn parts. These replacements should be ordered now so they can be put on during the winter or first thing next spring before field work starts.

Pre-storage care also should include filling the bearings full of grease. Gear boxes should be drained, flushed and refilled with new oil. After these operations, the machine should be run long enough to distribute the grease, and oil. Chains should be removed, cleaned with kerosene

23 Herds Make 30-lb Fat Test

There were 23 herds in the Ingham-South Dairy Herd Improvement association which averaged over 30 lb of butterfat in October. able. Loans, either direct or insured, will only be made when the applicant is unable to obtain the credit he needs at reasonable rates and terms from other sources. The Farmers Home Administration is authorized to insure loans up to a total of $25,000,000 each fiscal year. In addition, for 1955, the congress appropriated $11,500,000 for this type of assistance, Gates said.

The 3-member county committee of the Farmers Home Administration will certify the eligibility of applicants. Applications from veterans will receive preference in processing, he stated.

Soil and water conservation loans will not be available for annually recurring costs that are generally considered as farm operating expense, under the new ruling.

To be eligible for a soil and water conservation loan, a farmer must have sufficient experience or training to indicate that he has reasonable prospects of conducting successful farming operations and be unable to obtain the necessary credit on reasonable terms and conditions from private and cooperative sources.

Individuals can borrow amounts up to $25,000. It is expected that the average loan to a farmer will be less than $5,000. Water facility loans last year averaged $4,500. Loans to associations have a ceiling of $250,000. All loans will be secured by the best lien obtainable on chattels or real estate to the extent necessary to adequately protect the government's investment.

MSC Publishes New Booklet On State Farms

A new source of information about farming in Michigan is published in a new bulletin just off the press at Michigan State college.

Authored by Agricultural Economists E. B. Hill and Russell C. Mawby, the booklet gives the locations of Michigan's highly diversified agriculture crop acreages, yields per acre, the income from livestock and soil types. The information is designed for people who plan to farm in Michigan, for farm planning and development, for farmers who plan to move and farm elsewhere in the state, for the use of agricultural industries, marketing and selling agencies and for other people who want information about Michigan's agriculture. The publication is called Special Bulletin 206, "Types of Farming in Michigan." It's available at the county extension office.

Our minds are like our stomachs; they are whetted by the change of their food, and variety supplies both with fresh appetite.

Soil and Water Loans Are Ready

Soil and water conservation loans are now available to eligible farmers in Ingham county, according to Harold D. Gates, county Farmers Home Administration supervisor. The loans may be used to carry out measures for soil conservation, water development, conservation and use and drainage. This will include the construction and repair of terraces, dikes, ponds and tanks, the establishment and improvement of permanent pastures, basic application of lime and fertilizer, tree planting, well drilling, and the purchase of pumps and other irrigation equipment, he pointed out. The new loan program was made possible by legislation recently passed by the 83rd congress. Soil and water conservation loans may be made from funds supplied by private lenders and insured by the government or from funds appropriated by congress. Loans from appropriated funds will be made only when insured loans are not avail-
