

Ludell Cheney Gains National Recognition

Continuing interest in and leadership of 4-H clubs placed Ludell Cheney of Mason in line for national honors at the National 4-H club congress held in Chicago last week.

Ludell Cheney

The Mason man was hailed as one of 8 club alumni who have done the most for the program and their communities over long periods.

Interest in youth projects, leadership in adult organizations and success in farming or other line of work won recognition for the 8 chosen for the awards.

Cheney's interest goes back to the beginning of 4-H history in Ingham. He was a member of the first 4-H club organized in the county—the Mason Livestock club sponsored by the Mason Kiwanis club and led by B. T. Fry, then fieldman for Laboratory Products Co., now Wyeth Laboratories Inc.

In 1926 there were 3 livestock clubs formed in Ingham. Besides the Mason club, boys at Okemos and Dansville organized. Ingham did not get a county agent until the following year.

Cheney was the first president of the Mason club and continued as president for 4 years. He captured many honors. In 1927 he became a member of the county dairy judging team and went on to win fifth in the state fair judging contest. The following year he and his brother Paul won the state demonstration contest on the production of quality milk. Their demonstration also won them a trip to the National Dairy Show in Memphis, Tenn. That same year Paul Cheney placed sixth in the state fair cattle judging contest.

In 1929 Cheney won the Mason Kiwanis club award for being the outstanding boy in 4-H dairy projects. He also was sent to the National Dairy Show in St. Louis, Mo. The next year he was one of the 2 chosen from Michigan to attend the National 4-H club camp in Washington, D. C.

Most of the time for the following 15 years Cheney led 4-H clubs. His son and his daughter both made outstanding 4-H records. His daughter Phyllis was announced this week as the winner of the Mason high school D. A. R. award for good citizenship.

For all except 2 years of an 18-year period Cheney has been in dairy herd improvement association work. For 6 years he was secretary of the Ingham West DHIA.

For the past 4 years the Cheney herd of 25 cows has maintained better than a 400-lb butterfat average. He, with the help of his son Richard, operates a 291-acre farm on College road in Vevay.

Holding membership in the Ingham, Michigan and National Holstein-Friesian associations, Cheney was president of the Ingham breeders for 10 years. He has been a director of the Ingham-Mason Artificial Breeding association since its organization 10 years ago. He is also a director of the Ingham County Farmers Mutual Insurance company.

Cheney has served in township office. He's a member of the Mason Blue Lodge, chapter, council and the O. E. S. He is a past master of Mason lodge No. 70, F. & A. M.

3 Men Organize Plumbing Firm

Sam Cotton of Mason, Charles F. Gingras of Lansing and his brother Lawrence Gingras of Grand Haven have launched the Great Lakes Plumbing and Heating, Inc. The new firm, with offices at 1801 Roseland, East Lansing, is engaged in industrial and residential plumbing, heating and ventilating.

Both Cotton and Charles F. Gingras were with Dart & Cady at Mason for 5 years, Cotton as estimator and purchasing agent. Lawrence Gingras has been working as a plumber and operating a plumbing business for 27 years.

Cotton is a Mason high school graduate. During World War II he was commissioned on the battlefield for valor and leadership. He served with the army in the South Pacific, from New Guinea up to the freeing of the Philippines.

Woman's Lawyers Will File Appeal In Supreme Court

Unsuccessful in getting a new trial for Mrs. Margaret Jordan, 40, Mason, her lawyers are preparing an appeal to the state supreme court.

Circuit Judge Marvin J. Salmon in Lansing Friday denied a motion for a new trial for Mrs. Jordan. She is serving a 2 1/2 to 15-year term in the Detroit House of Correction, sentenced there November 4 on conviction of manslaughter. Her trial and conviction resulted from the death of Lenwood Stowe on Doble road in Alaledon last May.

Howard A. McCowan, Mason, and Benjamin F. Watson, Lansing, represented Mrs. Jordan in the action asking for a new trial. They based their motion on the fact that Grover Singleton of Stockbridge, the father of Mrs. Lenwood Stowe, was on the jury panel. He did not serve as a juror in the trial of Mrs. Jordan. He was called but asked to be excused and was excused.

Mrs. Jordan's lawyers offered no proof that Singleton attempted to influence the jury. They said that had Singleton's relationship to Mrs. Stowe been discovered early in the trial a continuance would likely have been asked. The relationship was not discovered until the trial was virtually completed.

Prosecutor Paul C. Younger said there was no indication that Singleton said or did anything to prejudice the jury against Mrs. Jordan.

In denying the motion for a new trial, Judge Salmon explained he reached his decision because of lack of evidence showing any prejudice. That Singleton's association with other jurors on the panel prejudiced them is an assumption not fair to any of the jurors, the judge declared.

Both Judge Louis B. Coash and Judge Salmon said they did not learn of Singleton's relationship to Mrs. Stowe until the Jordan case was practically ready for the jury.

Judge Salmon after denying the motion for a new trial remarked that in his opinion Mrs. Jordan received a fair trial and fair treatment throughout.

New Lights for Hall Boulevard Are Not Visible

If Hall boulevard residents want fancier street lights, they will probably have to pay for them. At the city council meeting Monday night, the councilmen took no action on proposals to finance new street lights on the boulevard.

At a meeting 2 weeks ago, Schuyler Smith and Lisle Morse, boulevard residents, asked that the present wooden poles be replaced by a more modern lighting system. The council referred the matter to Glen Coon, branch manager for the Consumers Power Co., and he took the facts to the meeting Monday night.

Coon said that his company will be glad to install any type of lighting agreed upon.

"However," Coon said, "the present wooden poles will look fine when the boulevard islands are planted to evergreens and bushes. Right now, the poles stand out like sore thumbs. Any type of lighting would, but when the islands are landscaped, the present system shouldn't be objectionable to anyone."

Some councilmen suggested that if the residents want boulevard lights, they can be financed through an assessment district including the property owners receiving the benefits.

Others, including Councilman Alton Stroud, contended that the boulevard is owned by all the people and that the entire city would benefit from any lighting improvements.

Coon said that his company will be willing to adjust the present light brackets so that the light will be more evenly distributed along the boulevard.

But Mayor Clairmont Everitt suggested that nothing be done until the property owners on the boulevard are informed of the situation. It may be that the residents may want to finance such a project on their own, the mayor said.

School District Will Use Ballots

Mason's school board decided to again set up a registration district where nomination for school office will be by petition, and where voting will be by printed ballot.

The Mason district used the town meeting form of election until a year ago when a registration district was declared. The merger with the Alaledon Township unit district and the Hawley and Wilson district of Vevay knocked out the registration provision for Mason. Now the school board representative of the merged district has again provided for a registration district.

Township and city clerks will provide registrations of school electors, said James H. Vandervan, school superintendent.

Neighbor Finds Lifeless Body

Robert Newman, concerned over the disappearance of his neighbor, found the lifeless body of John Avery, 75, behind the Avery house Wednesday evening. Mr. Avery lived alone at 377 Dexter trail.

Newman said he grew concerned because he had not seen Mr. Avery since Monday night. Newman found the lifeless body sprawled behind the house. Mr. Avery had apparently been going for a scuffle of coal when he was stricken with a fatal heart attack.

Coroner W. Ray Gorsline and Lt. Versie Babcock of the sheriff's department investigated the death. The coroner held that death resulted from natural causes. He said that Mr. Avery's death probably occurred from between 36 to 48 hours before the body was found.

Mr. Avery was in the trucking business in Detroit until his retirement 10 years ago when he came to Mason. He is survived by a son, Kenneth, Detroit.

The body is at the Ball-Dunn funeral home. Saturday it will be taken to the Harry Neely funeral home in Detroit. Services will be held Monday.

SQUARE DANCE STUDENTS passed semester tests at the Odd Fellow hall Saturday night. There wasn't a slip or a miss as this set obeyed Joe Roe's call to swing that corner lady. In the left foreground is Dick Ferris carrying the mail with Mrs. William E. Clark. Bob Norton and Mrs. Robert Walker are cavorting in the left background. Next to the wall James Smith is swinging Mrs. William Hart. In the right foreground Carlton Smith and Mrs. Al Newman are stepping lively.

The Mason Square Dance class meets twice a month, on the first and third Saturday nights. Roe, who has done graduate study in both dancing and calling, is the instructor. The class is open to couples who want to do square dancing in the new style, where everybody moves but not quite with such abandon as some square dancers are accustomed to. Community Clearing House Needs Children's Clothing Shoes and clothing for babies and children up to 3 and 4 years of age are needed by the Mason Community Clearing House, said Mrs. James Duell. There is presently an ample supply of garments for adults and for older children, she reported.

Toys, both used and new, are now being received for Christmas baskets. A Lansing organization last week delivered a big shipment of brand new toys for gift baskets in Mason. No broken toys can be used.

Food articles for the gift baskets are also being secured. The baskets will be delivered to homes of the needy a few days before Christmas, according to the present schedule.

People who know of families who might otherwise go without Christmas food baskets and gifts are asked to notify Mrs. Duell or pastors of any of the churches in the area.

Uninvited Guest Is Scared Away

William Bowling, 29, Grand Rapids, reported a weird experience which he said happened about 2:30 Saturday morning. As he was driving along and singing, he told state police, a man rose up from the rear seat and first demanded that Bowling stop singing. About 5 miles further on, near the intersection of US-127 and Full road, north of Leslie, the guest ordered Bowling to stop his car and alight, the driver told police. He said the man also climbed out of the rear seat and alighted. Just then, Bowling said, the lights of a truck illuminated the scene and the truck driver slowed. At that the uninvited guest fled into a field, Bowling reported.

According to Bowling, he left Grand Rapids about 11 o'clock Friday night, bound for Cincinnati. He said he stopped at Butler's restaurant north of Mason and had 4 cups of coffee. A waitress corroborated the story, police said. After Bowling resumed his journey, he stated, he started to sing. He heard a command from the rear seat, he said, to stop the singing.

Bowling said that after being silent for several miles he sought to engage the rider in conversation. The man ordered the driver to be still, he said, and then a mile north of Leslie ordered a halt.

The stranger, whom Bowling said must have climbed into the car while it was parked at Butler's, flourished his gun, the driver told police. The driver described the rider as about 5-8, hatless, wearing a dark overcoat and a light shirt with no tie.

Postoffice Open All Day Saturday

Mason's postoffice service will be available all day Saturdays until Christmas, according to Leslie B. Palmer, postmaster. Normally, the postoffice windows are closed Saturday noons, but because of the bulk of Christmas mail, the windows will be open until 6 p. m., he said. However, the money order window will close at 5, Palmer stated.

Christmas mail is earlier than ever, the postmaster pointed out. It should result in a better mail service in the final week of the Christmas holiday, he said.

Palmer asked that letters being mailed at the pick-up box in front of the postoffice have bands around those going out of town and those addressed for Mason.

Dog Tags Ready If War Develops

If the quarrel with Red China develops into war, or if the cold war becomes hot anywhere else, there'll be dog tags enough to go around.

Dart Manufacturing Co. at Mason is nearing completion on a current contract for 3 1/2 million. All told, the Mason firm has stamped out almost 9 million tags for use of the army, air force, marines, navy and coast guard.

The tags for the next war are being made out of Monel metal. After the tags are stamped out at Mason they are sent elsewhere to be stored until they are needed. Machines will then stamp in serial numbers, name, rank, unit and blood type.

25 Men Receive Draft Greetings

Pre-Christmas greetings from the army have been sent to 25 young men from Ingham. They have orders to report for induction next Tuesday, December 14. They will meet at the Veterans hall, 213 S. Capitol, at 7:10 a. m. to board a bus for an induction center.

On the list are Gerald F. Mosher, Lyle Otis Botmer, Gery Allen Knight, Dudley King, Carlos F. Cheatham, Fred Burnell Burke, James Marlin Sump, Clio Frank Sanborn, Jesus E. Padilla, Clarence Jack Nevins, Thomas Arthur Collins, George Andrew VanLoon.

A delegation of west side residents appearing before the council several weeks ago demanded that a speed control zone be established on the by-pass.

Trappers Find Mink Plentiful, Muskrat Numbers Show Decline

Trappers have good news for Washington. The 1954 mink crop is one of the best. Ingham trappers reported lots of mink and high quality of fur as the season opened.

So far the muskrat catch in Ingham is below normal, trappers said.

There are fewer trappers running Ingham lines this winter, reported Conservation Officer Walter Mutchler. Although mink prices are holding firm, the muskrat price is still low.

Jim Thorburn, back from St. Helen to operate his fur and hide business, corroborated Mutchler's estimates on mink and muskrats. He also pointed out that the raccoon fur market is getting more for raccoon carcasses than the pelts bring. There is a good market for raccoon carcasses in Lansing, Jackson and

Traffic Expert Tells Plan for By-Pass Safety

To cut accidents on US-127 by-pass at Mason the state highway department plans to make these 3 changes:

1. Raise stop sign facing east-bound traffic on Columbia by one foot. Sign now obstructs clear vision of cars approaching on 127.
2. Increase clear-vision area at Sitts road in both directions to permit adequate warning of traffic approaching on 127.
3. Suspend reflectorized sign over 127 facing southbound traffic north of cutoff showing way to Mason, and suspend overhead illuminated sign at the beginning of the divided section northbound to eliminate the over-run of the medial divider at that location.

The blinker at the intersection of 127 and Columbia will not be replaced by a stoplight, as was requested by residents of the area. The survey showed there is not now enough traffic to justify a stop signal. It would not only be foolish to make drivers stop, it might well prove more dangerous, the expert said, because rear-end collisions would likely increase. They often result in more serious injuries than head-on crashes, he pointed out.

The plan for making the by-pass safer was placed before the city council Monday night. The council took no definite action. Members expressed satisfaction with the report made by J. Carl McMonagle, director of the planning and safety division of the state highway department.

McMonagle told the council that the survey included all accidents on the 3-mile stretch of the by-pass from September 18, 1953, to September 28, 1954. During that period 26 accidents happened, according to the report.

Thirteen of the 26 accidents happened because either or both cars were out of control, were being operated in violation of stop signs or the drivers failed to yield the right-of-way. Two accidents resulted from excessive speed, the survey report set forth. For the other accidents there were no apparent reasons, according to the report.

In 1954 all the accidents reported were of cars being driven at less than 50 miles per hour, the report indicated.

Speed checks were made by the state highway department, McMonagle said, on Monday, September 20, between 9:45 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. There were 1,809 vehicles counted. The survey showed that 85% of the cars traveled between 50.0 miles per hour and 64.7 miles per hour.

In concluding his survey report McMonagle said, "We wish to emphasize that the Michigan state highway department is fully cognizant of its responsibilities to the citizens of the state as regards to traffic facilities. However, you will readily agree that a limit is eventually reached as to the facilities to be provided for the safety of motorists. In the final analysis a full share of the responsibilities must be charged to the drivers themselves."

During the survey period, crashes on the by-pass claimed one life, that of Carlton Hunter at Columbia road September 28. A few rods north of the by-pass Robert Brommer, 11, received fatal injuries September 17. On October 2, 1954, Lyle Snider was killed on 127 IR just north of the by-pass. Dewey Clark and Elmer Franklin, Sr., both suffered serious injuries at the Sitts road crossing.

Architect Shows School Sketches

Mason school board members looked at 4 sketches of the proposed new east side elementary school Wednesday night.

George Sprau of the Kalamazoo architectural firm of Stappert, Pratt, Bultus & Sprau presented the sketches. The board decided on one. Sprau now will draw preliminary plans with an estimate of cost for the sketch chosen by Mason school officials. He promised to have the preliminary plans and estimate ready within a few days.

Preliminary plans call for 8 classrooms, a kindergarten room, and a locker room. The site for the east side school is on land adjoining Athletic field on the north.

Court Decision Sets New Tax Rates

Taxes won't be affected in Ingham county by the recent supreme court decision forcing use of state equalized valuations in school districts.

Taxes in Ingham will remain the same this year because this county is one of the few which had already substituted state equalized for county equalized valuations. The decision is gratifying to school officials, though, because it provides a means generally to raise more school tax money within the 15-mill limitation.

The decision did reduce rates if not taxes. For instance, in the Okemos Consolidated district the tax rate of 48.8 on county equalized will decrease to 29.9 mills by using the state equalized rate. However, the amount of taxes raised will be the same this year.

Stockbridge had the lowest rate of school tax of any graded school district in the county. It is 8.5 mills as of today. Thursday is the day, though, that Stockbridge district voters decide on a proposal to increase the rate by 13 mills in order to go ahead with a $665,000 building and improvement program.

Leslie with a rate of 12.7 mills on the state equalized base may have to decide on an increase soon. The Leslie school board is reported as being about ready to lay an increased-millage proposal before voters.

Ingham Township Rural Agricultural school district, even with extra voted millage for improvements now in progress, is second low in tax rate. Its rate is 12.3. Stockbridge with a rate of 8.5

Three Men Die When Plane Crashes

Two Munnith men and a Gregory pilot died in the flaming wreck of their plane when it crashed alongside M-106 a mile south of Stockbridge Sunday evening.

Dead are Edward Gilmore, 38, Gregory; Thomas Whittaker, 33, Munnith; and Royce Porath, 31, Munnith.

At least 3 motorists saw the crash. Donald Krummrey of Stockbridge saw the plane shoot overhead with its landing lights on, heading north, the same direction he was going. According to Krummrey, the plane burst into flames as it struck the top of a 60-ft tree alongside the road and cartwheeled into the ditch 200 feet beyond. The light plane immediately exploded.

James A. Knight of Jackson was driving in the other direction on M-106. He saw the plane's landing lights and assumed it was attempting to land on the roadway. Both witnesses declared that flames were so hot any rescue attempt was hopeless.

Fire Chief Wendell Barber of the Stockbridge fire department was driving a half-mile away when he saw the ball of fire roll up in the air. Stockbridge firemen put out the flames but not before all 3 bodies were burned beyond recognition.

Gilmore's identity was learned first. He frequently made landings on farms in the Stockbridge area. A call was put through to the Gregory airport where it was learned that his plane was gone and his car was parked there.

The other 2 men were not identified until some time later when Turner Whittaker, father of one of the victims, arrived and told of having seen his son and Porath with Gilmore that afternoon.

The elder Whittaker had taken his first airplane ride with Gilmore that same morning.

Whittaker is survived by a widow and 3 children. Porath is survived by a widow and 2 children.

Gilmore was not married. He made his home with his parents,

Three Stockbridge area men died Sunday night when their plane crashed and burned after hitting a tree top alongside M-106 south of Stockbridge. Killed were Edward Gilmore, Gregory, pilot of the plane; and Thomas Whittaker and Royce Porath of Munnith.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gilmore, in Munnith. He was employed as a radio and television repairman for Lantis & Son appliance store in Stockbridge.

Coroner Ray Gorsline supervised the removal of the bodies from the wreckage. All 3 were taken to the Milner funeral home in Stockbridge.

Edward P. Reynolds, civil air authority representative from Jackson, investigated the crash. According to him, indications were that the pilot was stalled out and apparently attempting to land when the plane struck the tree. Landing lights had been turned on. Other men familiar with Gilmore's piloting, said he frequently landed on farms, and probably intended to land on a level field of muck adjacent to the highway.

Mrs. Darling, 68, Dies Following Long Sickness

Mrs. Lee (Cleo H.) Darling died early Wednesday morning in the Mason General hospital, following a sickness of more than 3 years. She entered the hospital Saturday and her condition grew steadily worse until death came Wednesday.

She was born June 25, 1886, in Jones, the daughter of Eckward and Luella LeMunyon Hartman, and attended school at Jones. On December 25, 1908, she was united in marriage to Lee Darling. They lived at Jones until 1924. Up to that time Mr. Darling worked for the Wilson Packing Co. at Jones. In 1924 the Darlings moved to Mason.

Mrs. Darling was a member of the Mason Order of the Eastern Star and the Mason Rebekahs, of which she was a past grand.

Surviving her is the husband, Lee.

Funeral services will be conducted from Jewett funeral home Friday afternoon at one o'clock with Rev. Raymond L. Norton, pastor of the Mason Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Poe cemetery, Jones.

Pallbearers are Curtis Dillbeck, Leo Harrison, Cordie Francisco, Jack Freeland, Lloyd Brown and Harold Darrow.

Justice Court

Deputy Donald Hynes arrested Robert Frazier and Gerald Cook on charges of illegal possession of liquor early Saturday morning. On Monday they were taken before Justice of the Peace John W. Grugel at Leslie. They pleaded guilty. Each paid a fine of $5.00 plus $9.30 costs.

At the conclusion of the examination before Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams at Mason Monday, William C. Crane of Leslie was bound over to circuit court on a manslaughter charge. Crane was the driver of the car which struck the car driven by Mrs. Victor Brenner September 17. Robert Brenner, 11, received fatal injuries in the accident, which happened near the Brenner home on US-127 north of Pryor road. The examination was opened November 8 but was adjourned to await testimony of Dr. William Mead of Lansing. Dr. Mead was the only witness to testify Monday. Crane was given his liberty under $2,000 bond.

Traffic violation tickets reported settled before Judge Adams during the week were listed by him as follows:

Demlow's Father, Has Heart Attack

On Tuesday afternoon, after having left Mason that morning, Edward Demlow suffered a heart attack in Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Demlow, whose home is in Mt. Pleasant, stopped to spend Monday night with the son, Principal Richard Demlow, at Mason. They were on the way to Florida.

The stricken man was taken to a hospital in Huntington, Indiana. His son and daughter-in-law and grandson Danny of Mason left immediately for Huntington and were still there Thursday.

Co-op Asks for Additional Poultry

With the bulk of holiday poultry already processed at the Central Michigan Poultry Processing Cooperating in Hemlock, orders are now being taken for processing regular poultry, according to John Chilson of the cooperative. The Ingham County Egg cooperative has transportation available for trucking birds to the processing plant at Hemlock, he said.

Since opening the plant last October, more than 125,000 turkeys have been processed by the cooperative. Chilson said that the cooperative should take some of the credit for easing the over-production problems in the poultry business during 1954. The Detroit market was bad enough as it was, he pointed out. But if the 125,000 turkeys had been dumped on the Detroit market, too, it would have been a lot worse, he said.

Post Leaves Zoning Board

W. Davis Post has resigned from the city zoning appeals board effective December 1. His letter was received by the city council Monday night. Post said that because his business now takes him out of Mason, it will be impossible for him to continue with the work. Davis only recently sold his Western Auto store in Mason. The mayor said he will fill Post's vacancy at the next council meeting.

Mason Beats Leslie 63-54 For Second Win of Year

Mason notched its second victory in 2 starts Tuesday night by outlasting a fighting Leslie team 63-54 in a wild and rough contest.

Friday night Mason will start playing with the blue chips on the table with the opening Capital Circuit contest on the docket over at Grand Ledge. The Comets have played one game, a sweet win over Everett.

It was again Stan Stolz who stole the scoring show for Mason. He poured in 28 points on 13 field goals and 2 shots from the free throw line. It was not one of Stolz' better nights, though, in spite of the 28 points. His scoring came in spurts at the tail end of each quarter.

Mason grabbed off the lead right at the start and never gave it up. Several times the Blackhawks closed the gap to within a few points but they never were able to catch up.

Mason commanded a 17-10 lead at the end of the first quarter and when the second period came to a close Mason was out in front 28-19.

In the third period Stolz and Art Weirauch combined their talents to push Mason out in front after the Blackhawks had closed the gap to within 4 points. At the end of the period Mason was back out in front by 10 points.

The last quarter was a rough one with the players rolling on the floor fighting for the ball. Mason added to its lead at the start of the period then the Bulldogs saw it melt away as Bill Moore started to drop in desperation shots from all over the court. In the last 2 minutes Leslie dropped in 6 field goals while Mason added just one free throw.

Moore was top man for the Blackhawks with 15 points. Don Foster came off the bench to drop in 11 and Lynn Hecksel added 10. Besides the 28-point spree of Stolz, Weirauch turned in 14

Haslett Connects For First Win

Haslett, last year's Ingham County league champion, has had tough going in the cage wars this year. In 2 times out the Lakers have been stopped by Mason and Stockbridge. Tuesday night it was a different story. The Lakers pasted Powerville 66-40.

Friday night the Lakers take on Leslie on the Haslett court. The Blackhawks will be far from a soft touch. They put a better scrap against Mason than the Lakers did.

Leslie has a bunch of ball-hawks and some good shooters from out on the floor.

Haslett's strong suit against Fowlerville Tuesday night was a balanced attack. Ron Ray collected 14 points, Bill Steinback hit for 13 and Brooks put down 10. Besides the 3 leaders 6 other Lakers got into the scoring act.

Roger Dye was top man for the losers with a total of 14 points. The rest of the Gladiators had a hard time finding the basket.

Haslett scored at will during the first 3 quarters. Only in the final period did the Gladiators take over the scoring pace, outshooting Haslett 16-10.

Dansville Fails To Stop Chiefs

Okemos kept pace with Stockbridge Tuesday night by dumping Dansville 45-33. The 2 teams have won both of their games so far this season.

Friday night the Chiefs will travel to Fowlerville in quest of the third win.

Dansville will play at Williamston. The Aggies have split in their 2 games so far. Williamston has dropped, both of its encounters.

The usual high-scoring Chiefs were cooled off by the tight defense the Aggies mustered Tuesday night. The only trouble was that the Aggies could not find a scoring attack to go with the defense.

Okemos grabbed off a 11-4 lead at the end of the first quarter and stretched it out to 27-12 by the time the half was over. In the third period both teams had a tough time getting started. Okemos managed to drop in 8 points while Dansville collected only 5.

In the last period the Aggies finally started to click. Led by Don McCabe they out-scored the Chiefs 16-10 but the damage had already been done.

McCabe was top man for Dansville with 10 points. John Gretchenberger hit for 13 for the Chiefs and teammate Garth Richey bagged 11.

Spenny Attends Meeting

Councilman Eric Spenny will represent Mason next Wednesday at a road meeting in Mt. Pleasant. The meeting has been called by a Central Michigan faction which is lobbying for an Ohio-to-the-Straits super highway which would generally follow the route of the present US-127. The Mason city council endorsed the road program several weeks ago.

Veterans Sign Up In Legion Drive

Browne-Cavender post 148, American Legion, has exceeded its 1954 membership by 8 in the drive for 1955 members, announced Commander Frank Schmidt, Jr., Thursday. The total stood at 155, he said.

The campaign schedule calls for 177 members signed up as Legionnaires by December 31. With the number of potential eligible members in the area, the Mason post has set its goal at 350 for the new year.

Car Flips Over North of Town

Jeff Whitfield, 19, Battle Creek, failed to make the turn onto Okemos road at the end of Howell road last Friday night. He was driving west and didn't notice the stop sign, he told Jim Stolz, Mason police officer. Whitfield's car did a flip in the air and rolled over twice.

Whitfield, riding alone, did not consider himself seriously injured. He hitched a ride into the office of Dr. O. K. Pauley. There it was discovered that Whitfield broke his collarbone and also cut his knee. His broken bone was set and his leg was bandaged. He then was taken to his home in Battle Creek by Jewett ambulance with Ken Merindorf at the wheel.

Vandals Smash Street Lights

Vandals are breaking Mason Street lights just about as fast as Consumers Power Co. workmen can replace them, according to Police Chief Ralph Hall. In just one night last week, 8 lights were knocked out, he said.

"We haven't had this trouble for quite a few years," Hall remarked to the city councilmen Monday night. "The practice is not only costly to the power company, but it creates a dangerous situation when the streets are darkened. The city policemen are anxious to receive any tips on who is responsible for the breakage."

Junior Cagers Pour It On

Coach Maurice Strait has come up with a pair of sharp junior high cage teams. In their first outing Tuesday afternoon over at Leslie the seventh graders tromped on the Leslie boys 53-2.

In order to cut down on the massaging the first 2 quarters were out to 5 minutes and, the last 2 were pared down to 3 minutes.

Everybody got into the scoring act. Jerry Willis was top man for Mason with 16 points. Keith Stone followed with 10.

The eighth graders didn't have such an easy time of it, though they did win 37-26.

Bruce Horton topped the Mason scorers with 21 points while Jim Hallenbeck came up with 13.

Friday afternoon the competition will stiffen just a little. Coach Strait takes his cagers over to Grand Ledge. The games start at 4:00.

Honeymoon Ends In Wreckage Along Highway

A few hours after they spoke their wedding vows Saturday night in a Detroit church the bridal pair burned to death in the wreckage of their car near East Lansing.

Marvin R. Foerster, 20, and his bride, Rhon Mae, 13, were on their way to Grand Rapids, the start of their honeymoon. Their car left the highway at the slight curve a few rods east of the Okemos-Haslett road intersection, struck a tree, bounded back onto the pavement and overturned. Flames broke out at once.

Three men in another car were at the scene seconds after the crash. They were unable to rescue the newly-married couple who were screaming for help.

The Meridian township fire department extinguished the flames. The bodies of the victims were burned almost beyond recognition. It took 2 hours to remove the bodies, reported Harry E. Leadley, county coroner. He called it the most tragic accident he had ever seen. Identification was made by the charred marriage certificate and other papers.

The newly-married couple had left Detroit after a reception attended by more than 300 people. The bridegroom had recently been released from the marine corps. He and his bride both were from St. Clair Shores.

State police gave as their opinion that the bride, who had only a temporary driving permit, was at the wheel of the car when it crashed.

LIONS SUPPORT GIRL SCOUTS

Lions Clubs are the sponsors of more than 650 Girl Scout Troops in the United States. The Boys and Girls Committees of the Lions Clubs last year completed more than 24,000 individual community projects to help the youth of their respective communities. Of these activities a large percentage was in direct support of Scouting programs. The Lions now sponsor more Girl Scout Troops than any other organization in the world.

Republicans Map Campaign Plans

Republicans will hold their state convention to nominate candidates for the April 4 spring election in Detroit, February 19.

County conventions to name 1,602 delegates to the spring convocation will be held February 7.

Chief business before the convention will be the nomination of 3 candidates for justices of the supreme court, a superintendent of public instruction, 2 members of the state board of agriculture, 2 University of Michigan regents, and one member of the state board of education, and the selection of party officials for the next 2 years.

Those whose terms expire are: Supreme Court Justices Henry M. Butzel of Detroit, and Leland W. Carr of Lansing; Superintendent of Public Instruction Clair

L. Taylor of Lansing; Regents J. Joseph Herbert of Manistique and Kenneth M. Stevens of Detroit; Stephen S. Nisbet of Fremont, state board of education; and Mrs. Sarah Van Hoosen Jones of Rochester, state board of agriculture. A successor must be chosen for the late Winfred G. Armstrong of Niles, state board of agriculture member.

In addition, the resignation of Justice George E. Bushnell, of Detroit, from the supreme court leaves a third vacancy on the court to be filled at the April election.

The convention will select a state chairman and state vice-chairman of the Republican party and the delegations from each of the 18 congressional districts will name 4 members to serve on the state central committee for the next 2 years.

Edna Doellittle and David Green are co-editors of the 1955 Anchora. Norman Austin is sports editor and Phyllis Cheney is assistant editor. Joan Hall and Tom Hemans are junior editors. Heading the solicitation crew are Lana Dart, Barbara Jewett and Norman Austin.

Rhoda Kelly Tells About Summer Spent in Greece

Tuesday night in Mason Rhoda Kelly showed colored slides and told of her experiences as an International Farm Youth Exchange student in Greece this year. She recently returned to the United States after the stay in Greece and following a trip through Europe.

Miss Kelly is a student at Michigan State college. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Kelly of Cavanaugh road, East Lansing.

In Greece the Ingham student joined farm families for a period of several days to a week, not as a guest but as a member of the family. She worked in the fields and in the homes with the women, helped carry the water morning and night from the communal wells, learned to card and spin, to do the family washing out of doors, and even how to milk sheep.

Miss Kelly spoke highly of the hospitality, kindness and generosity of the Greeks and of their devotion to their religion. They work hard, but they have many good times, too, she said. She told of long walks with young people under the stars, of folk dancing, of husking parties and of other activities in which young people and entire families participate. She also praised the Greeks for their courage in rebuilding their houses and their economy after a series of wars and after disastrous earthquakes.

Members of the Ingham County Council who attended the meeting last Friday learned about adoption procedures. To demonstrate how adoptions are handled a play was given with Mrs. Doris Hartman, Mrs. Jean Brackmann, Mrs. Myrtle Louden, Edgar Voelker and Robert L. Drake of the probate office staff and Alton J. Stroud, county school superintendent, taking the parts.

A luncheon preceded the staging of the play. The luncheon was served and the play was presented in the basement of the Hall Memorial library.

Ingham Officials Will Help Teach Special Classes

Holt's Rodocker Gets 34 Points To Tie Record

By Bill Barnhart

The Holt basketball squad passed what could be one of its toughest hurdles of the season last Friday night by downing the Howell Highlanders 63 to 53 on their court. Gary Rodocker, the Rams' crafty center, rewarded his teammates' efforts in consistently hitting the pivot, by an assembly line production of 34 points, which tied a school record set by Guard Harold Galika in 1944.

Each team racked up 20 points in the first quarter. But the Rams managed to pull ahead 42-31 at the half. Fouls contributed to Howell's downfall in the second period. Futility attempts to stop Rodocker resulted in temporarily benching center Clarence Voelm with 4 personal fouls and John McCloskey also collected 2 of his 3 personals in duty against the Holt center during the first half.

Midway in the third period Howell crept within a single point of the Rams. Pairs of free throws by Ken Blalock and Bob Tuttle and a fast break scoring play by Rodocker set Holt out front by 7 points. This led the Rams maintained throughout the rest of the game.

Howell is as good if not better than it was predicted to be. The front line averages 61" and utilizes its height both for rebounding and scoring. Moreover, Guard Eldon Haller has shown much improvement over last season and has developed an accurate out-court jump shot as well as developing into a speedy driver. Likewise, his cohort, Virgil Gillett is equally as capable. The Highlanders bench strength is also of fair caliber.

Usual Early Season Weakness Coach Danny Hovanestian was satisfied with his team's first performance, although, as was expected, they made early-season mistakes which will be ironed out during the season.

The points Holt's lanky pivot piled up might tag the team as a one-man affair. However, the game developed in such a way that feeding Rodocker was the most feasible path to a lead. The guards and forwards were consistently able to work the pivot, making it unnecessary for them to shoot as much as they usually would.

Forward Ken Blalock played a superb game offensively in driving, jump shooting, faking shots and feeding teammates, plus taking his share of rebounds from the boards. Forward George Albert's main contribution was in rebounding both boards. The guards, Bob Tuttle and Rex Merriott, handled their positions well. Tuttle's play was almost flawless. Merriott was adequate but early fouls hampered his play. His replacement, Ron Parsons, though naturally edgy in his inaugural varsity performance, did a credible job. Forward Jerry Straight, who replaced Ken Blalock late in the game, was also an active competitor on the boards.

"GLORIA IN EXCELSIS DEO"—Classic example of the Christmas Manger scene is this detail from the Presepe, or Manger, which is erected each year in the apartments of Pope Pius XII, in Vatican City. Carefully detailed, the figures are scaled in size to those of St. Joseph and the Madonna, which are about one foot in height.

MANGER SCENE COMES ALIVE—Story of the Birth of the Christ Child is reverently re-enacted in the village of Rivisonello, Italy, annually during the Christmas season on the night of the Feast of the Epiphany, Jan. 6. This was the traditional date to celebrate Christmas until the Fourth Century, when the celebration was assigned to Dec. 25. In the re-enactment pictured above, the infant is the son of a real carpenter, as was the Holy Child. Joseph is played by a 60-year-old shepherd, and a 20-year-old woman plays the Madonna.

Christmas Manger Is Italy's Cherished Gift to the World

In France it's the "Creche," in Spain the "Nacimiento," in Germany the "Krippe" and in English-speaking lands "The Crib." But, by whatever name it is known, the representation of the stable in Bethlehem on that first Christmas Night originated in Italy. St. Francis of Assisi is said to have constructed the first Presepe, or Manger, about the year 1223 in the little village of Greccio, near Assisi. Over the centuries, the Crib was adopted by peoples of other countries in southern Europe, and then its use spread to Germany and England. Pageants came into being, their purpose to vividly present the story of the Nativity at a time when written accounts were scarce, and the majority of people illiterate. To this day some villages in Italy present the ages-old story on January 6, Feast of the Epiphany, when tradition says that the Magi, bearing gifts, came to adore the Infant. Pictured at left and below is the first Christmas as seen by Italian craftsmen, actors and artists.

"THE HOLY NIGHT"—Virgin and Child, principals of the most joyful moment in the drama of Christianity, form the radiant focal point of 15th Century artist Antonio Correggio's famous painting "The Holy Night." The original hangs in Dresden, Germany.

Stand in the gate of the Lord's house, and proclaim there this word, and say, Hear the word of the Lord, all ye of Judah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord. (Jeremiah 7:2.) Read Jeremiah 7:1-7 or II Timothy 3:10-17.

One of the dramatic moments in the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II occurred when the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland presented her with the Holy Bible. Then the Archbishop of Canterbury said, "Our gracious Queen: to keep your Majesty ever mindful of the Law and the Gospel of God as the Rule for the whole life and government of Christian Princes, we present you with this Book, the most valuable thing this world affords."

The Bible is the most valuable thing the world affords. In the march of human events, it speaks to every need of mankind. It gets at the heart of things, and teaches man how to live on intimate terms with the things that abide. Here is wisdom. This is the royal law. These are the lively oracles of God.

Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy Word. We are grateful for the blessings it has brought to our world. Through Thy Son interpret it to our hearts. Lead us to establish our daily living on its eternal truths. In the name of Christ, our light. Amen.

Science Lecture Set for Lansing

Application of the understanding of God to the overcoming of individual and world problems will be the topic of a public lecture on Christian Science to be given in Lansing on Tuesday, December 14, by E. Howard Hooper of St. Louis, Missouri.

Hooper, who is a member of the Christian Science board of lecturers, will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Lansing, in Sexton high school auditorium at 8:15. His subject will be "Christian Science: The Continuity of God Revealed." The public is invited to attend. No tickets are required.

Prior to becoming an authorized teacher and public practitioner of Christian Science healing, Hooper was an executive of a steel company in St. Louis. He has been engaged in the public practice of Christian Science for 20 years and has served as Christian Science committee on publication for Missouri.

On 5 treeless, fog-bound islands in Bering Sea, the Pribilofs, the largest assemblage of wild animals to be seen anywhere on earth gathers each year. Approximately a million and a half fur seals jam the lonely dots of land in breeding season, the National Geographic Society says. More than 100,000 come ashore on a single mile of beach.

Whereas, the governor of our state has asked all of the communities to support this worthy effort;

Now, therefore, as mayor of the City of Mason, I hereby proclaim Wednesday, December 15, as 'S.D. Day' in this community, and ask all citizens to drive and walk on this day so as to keep the entire 24-hour period free of traffic accidents.

CLAIRMONT EVERITT, Mayor

have had their operating licenses suspended or revoked, 3,615 others have been placed on probation or had their licenses restricted, and 11,000 have received warning letters.

Traffic officers are handing messages out with their tickets, explaining that police officers do not enjoy writing tickets. However, said Mason Police Chief Ralph Hall, every officer has taken an oath to enforce all laws and to protect life and property to the best of his ability. One of the most effective ways of providing that protection is to enforce traffic laws, Chief Hall declared.

"Records show," said Chief Hall, "that 90% of traffic accidents are caused by violations of traffic laws. So when a motorist officer issues a ticket to a traffic law violator, he is actually attempting to save lives."

Wayne U.'s TV Weatherman Tells How to Predict Michigan Weather

Dr. Everett R. Phelps, professor of physics and astronomy at Wayne University, waits for the cue to begin his television weather broadcast over WJBK-TV, Channel 2, Detroit.

The old adage about everyone talking about the weather and no one doing anything about it probably is just as true today with television on the daily scene. Weather experts have become as popular as many TV stars for their daily interpretations and predictions of local and national weather conditions through the medium of television.

Dr. Everett R. Phelps, professor of physics and astronomy at Wayne University, and TV weatherman for station WJBK-TV Channel 2, Detroit, says that the layman can predict fairly accurately the coming weather in Michigan.

"Generally," Dr. Phelps said, "weather conditions move across the country from west to east. Since the high pressure areas called 'highs,' the low pressure areas called 'lows,' and the weather fronts move eastward at about 20 m.p.h., Michigan normally gets the weather that was experienced in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and northern Illinois the previous day."

"Therefore, by looking at the conditions in these areas on the TV or newspaper weather maps, a pretty good estimate of the Michigan weather can be made for the following day."

Storms are usually associated with low pressure areas and with the passage of cold or warm fronts. A weather front is the dividing line between two masses of air at different temperatures if the warm air is doing most of the moving, it will rise over the cold mass and the meeting of the two masses is called a warm front. Rain or snow, depending on the season, often occurs 150 miles in advance of the warm front. When cold air moves into an area it "noses" under the warm air pushing it up. Showers often occur from 50 to 100 miles in advance of a cold front and as much as 100 miles behind it.

Under certain conditions of sudden changes in pressure and temperature, violent thunderstorms occur. Occasionally arising within one of these storms will be a very rapid circulation of air called a tornado in Michigan. Tornadoes are most likely to occur during the spring months, particularly in May, and usually between the hours of 4 and 7 p. m.

Here are some interesting facts on the Michigan weather:

Record coldest was -61 degrees at Vanderbilt on February 9, 1934.

Record hottest was 112 degrees in Mio on July 13, 1936.

Annual mean temperature is 45 degrees.

Average annual rainfall is 30 1/2 inches.

Since 1916, there have been 100 tornadoes recorded in Michigan. Previous to 1953, 11 people were killed in tornado disasters. However, in 1953 alone there were 132 tornado fatalities in Michigan.

WHERE'S THE RECEPTION COMMITTEE?—This space travel is disappointing. Fellow takes off from Mars in his flying teacup, lands on earth, and what does he find? Silly Earthlings all watching a primitive waterborne Earthship undergoing an overhaul. To come down to earth, the "creature peering from the 'spacehip'" is a dockyard worker who is cleaning one of the gigantic propellers of the liner Mauretania's propellers, as she lies in drydock at Southampton.

Did You Wonder Why Santa Drops Gifts Down Chimney?

How did it come about that Santa drops his gifts down the chimney?

For the answer to this common belief about Santa and Christmas, we must go back to Saint Nicholas, responsible for so many other customs related to Christmas.

There's a story about an impoverished nobleman who was unable to find husbands for his three daughters because he could not afford a dowry for each. He was about to sell the daughters into slavery when St. Nicholas heard about it. Silently, Old Saint Nick dropped three bags of gold down the chimney. All three daughters soon married and lived happily ever after.

Thereafter, Saint Nicholas was often pictured holding three bags of gold. It is thought that he died about 343 A.D. and historians say that for 30 days after his death his genial spirit roamed the earth, filling the hearts of mankind with love and generosity.

It could be said that St. Nick and Dr. Clement Moore, who wrote "A Visit From Saint Nicholas" (now better known as "Twas the Night Before Christmas") contributed most to our present concept of Santa Claus.

Outdoor Decorations Should Not Harm Evergreen Shrubs

It won't be a chilly Christmas for many outdoor evergreens and shrubs this year, with outside home decorations expected to be even more popular than in past years.

It's nice to have bright decorations outside, tree experts say, but too many home owners give their home grounds evergreens a hot foot while stringing them with overly-powerful Christmas lights for a blinding, brilliant colorama.

They offer this advice to protect trees while utilizing them to the best advantage in achieving that beautiful outdoor display: Use only electrical fixtures designed to be strung on outdoor trees.

Use bulbs no stronger than 15-watts. They're bright enough to be gay and colorful, yet don't generate enough heat to burn foliage, even on direct contact. Check periodically to determine if needles or foliage are turning brown in vicinity of lights. If so, rearrange the lights. Not even a beautiful light display is worth marring valuable evergreens that are a source of beauty the year round.

Every year about this time we hear the same story: Christmas is getting too commercial. Last year, in fact, some grown-ups rebelled and said because of the holiday Christmas was getting "so commercial" they intended to tell their children that there was no Santa Claus.

Like little Virginia O'Hanlon, who wrote the famous "Is there a Santa" letter to the editor of the New York Sun, children are very easily disillusioned. But, like Virginia, they need only reassurance from someone they believe in to sustain their wonderful belief. It is entirely wrong for us to shatter their dreams.

Christmas is commercial in some aspects. Thousands of people earn a livelihood working the year around in toy shops or factories which produce Christmas specialties. This, in itself, does not make Christmas "too commercial." For toy makers have produced Christmas novelties for hundreds and hundreds of years. In there are little Virginias.

Christmas is for the young! How many times do we hear grown-ups make this statement? Much too often. Christmas belongs to all of us, to share, to take part in the celebration of the birth of the Saviour, the greatest event in the history of the world.

It seems to some that Christmas belongs to the young because these few fail to realize that children are not engrossed with the troubles of everyday living in the fashion of their elders. They are young at heart. For a true Christmas we need only renew our faith in the Saviour born at Christmas time. We, too, will then be young at heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern McManus, Mr. McManus is in poor health. Mr. and Mrs. William Clarke attended open house for Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bullen Sunday honoring their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Sara Clarke was a Sunday visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Swan. Mrs. Veve O'Farrell, who has been spending several weeks with her aunt, Mrs. Sara Clarke, left Friday for California.

Letters to the Editor

Hoover Proved Himself

The recent news stories which praise ex-president Herbert Hoover as a great humanitarian, brings to mind the ever-contradictory claims of politicians and historians about this man.

I can recall the years of Mr. Hoover's presidency when the country slipped into the depths of a depression equalled only, perhaps, by those during Cleveland's (D.) and Grant's (R.) of post Civil War history.

During the last half of Mr. Hoover's term and, indeed, during the 4 successful Roosevelt campaigns and Truman's—and even today—Hoover's name was used synonymously for depression, hunger, unemployment and despair by the successful politicians.

Even today the radical will warn rabidly of the dangers of "Hooverism" and there are still tens of thousands who accept that concept of the man and the party he typifies to them.

Yet, in the past few years, we have seen a vast overhaul of the federal bureaus and departments in accordance with a blueprint called the "Hoover Plan." In fact, the prestige of his name eased its passage.

How different from the decade

when Mr. Hoover was denounced as incapable of governing the nation.

To one group in the world he is a humanitarian; to the other an ogre. In one decade he is unfit to govern the nation, in the next he is its sage counselor. Whence the paradox?

Partial answers can be found in the perspective of recent history. Perhaps the whole pattern is evident there.

The 1948 presidential campaign found Mr. Truman stumping the country and bitterly denouncing the Republican controlled congress as a "do nothing" congress. The fact that it produced a quantity and quality of legislation comparable to its recent predecessors meant nothing to Mr. Truman. How reminiscent of the attacks on Mr. Hoover.

The smear, the slander, the "big lie" of Hitler were tools to use to gain the spoils of political victory. It was gutter politics on a national scale. And, of course, there was no thought by the bleeding heart radicals to censure Mr. Truman for attacking the integrity of the senate. Instead they rewarded him with the presidency.

During the last 2 years of Mr. Hoover's term (1930-1932) the Congress of the United States was controlled by the Democratic party. There was then no "noble" talk of bi-partisanship. That congress marked time. It grudgingly acted on Mr. Hoover's program.

While business failed and men lost their jobs, as farm products became worthless and perhaps a third of the people relied on relief, still the national economy was allowed to slide towards economic ruin. After 2 years of this Democratic congress plus constant attacks on Mr. Hoover for "extravagance" and "ineptness" conditions were ripe for a political revolt.

The people listened and ended divided responsibility and elected a Democratic president. At that time, March 4 was inaugural day. During this interim between election and taking office the president-elect refused to meet with Mr. Hoover to work out immediate remedies for the crisis.

In a coldly calculated effort to discredit and then destroy 2-party government, this last attempt at bi-partisanship was rebuffed.

Mr. Roosevelt saw, in the misery of the people, the perfect chance to institute the "indispensable" one-man type of government, with a subservient congress and a docile supreme court.

It was one of history's most coldly conceived plans for national supremacy. But that plan was not complete. The balance of power—executive, legislative and judicial—still were solidly based on constitutional law.

The citizen must accept the elevation of the executive above the other 2 branches of government before he is fed and paid and his dignity restored.

The citizen is still not hungry enough or desperate enough to call for the one-man mandate, so new measures are necessary. In just 2 days the citizen awakes to find his banks closed and himself at the complete mercy of one man and one party. The New Deal is successfully launched.

From the slanders of that day Mr. Hoover, in his quiet way, has lived to receive the plaudits of the civilized world.

Driver Should Get Deer
I saw by your paper where by orders of the conservation department the deer hit by the car on Bellevue road was dressed out and given to jail inmates.

Walter Howe should have been paid $100 for damage to his car and another $100 for having his deer turned over to the conservation department.

We don't need a conservation department nor should we serve venison to jail inmates. Neither should we let them play football and eat ice cream while the taxpayers are having to bear the cost.

A man told me that up in Montgomery county 100 deer were shot dead and left right on the ground to prevent their starving.

When a person's car hits a deer the deer should become the property of the driver.

We've so many officers we don't know what to do with them. Half the state police officers should be discharged. A hundred state police went to Lapeer to evict Mrs. Stevens and the Zeigenharts. Mrs. Stevens was sent to her grave.

We want honesty. We want fewer state police so our taxes will be less. Maybe we need capital punishment and the whipping post. That way we might empty our jails. We could let the women do the flogging.

Densmore's Report from Florida
If you are interested in our trip South, I will try to hit a few of the high spots. In the first place, it seems a little strange to head a letter "December 1," when it is a regular July day in Michigan.

All children in our camp are barefooted and everybody is wearing summer clothes.

We drove just an even 1400 miles coming down. A straight line would make about 1200 miles, but we made several side trips to see something we wanted to see, and some days we did not get a very early start. I think 255 miles was about the most we drove any one day.

We intended to leave Mason Monday, November 21, but did not get off until Tuesday, November 22, and about 2:30 p. m. at that.

While we were on the road we had about 2 1/2 good driving days, one day it rained all day and one day when we started from our cabin, our car was covered with snow. We were surprised to find the traffic so light.

We were on the road Thanksgiving Day and expected to find the traffic heavy, but it was very light.

We made use of the cabins each night, and there were a lot of them. The first night we were in Florida we were in the city limits of Tallahassee and they had 52 cabins in their camp. The cabins were all very nice, all strictly modern with inside toilets, etc., and the price of the cabins was from $3.50 to $5.

We are in the Largo trailer camp on the main highway and about 10 miles out of St. Petersburg and 3 miles the other way to Clearwater. I was in this same camp 4 years ago and they all gave us a friendly handshake when we drove in, as our trailer was already here and these folks knew we were on our way. There are about 50 trailers in the camp, which is in a small citrus grove, and we are to have all the fruit we can eat. That suits us. I think I could almost live on grapefruit alone.

We are only 2 blocks from the postoffice and stores, and the manager of our court is anxious to do everything for his patrons.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Bullen called on us this morning. They live 6 miles west of Mason and one mile north, and they are here for the winter in a camp about 5 miles from us. If any of our friends from Michigan come to Florida we would be pleased to have them stop and say hello. When you are enjoying (?) zero weather in Michigan, we will be eating strawberries and citrus fruit.

We found the roads fine all the way, fine blacktop roads with only one or 2 detours. I did not get tired of driving at all. We enjoyed driving through the Old South every day we were on the road. Before starting in the morning Nettie put up our noon lunch and around 12 o'clock we always found a "drive out" spot on the side of the highway to eat our lunch and have our hot coffee. We knew just what we liked to eat and that is just what we had, and we did not have to wait to be waited on.

We surely had a fine trip down and are determined to have a pleasant time while we are in Florida, drinking in the sunshine and eating all the citrus fruit we want.

Ingham 4-H Club Agents See Honors Awarded to Local Man

By M. H. AVERY
Ingham County Agent

General Van Singel and I just returned from attending the National Association of County Club Agents annual meeting in Chicago. I want to mention a few of the highlights and important events in connection with this trip because of the fact that we attended some of the outstanding 4-H Club events at the National Club Congress while there.

Two years ago a national program on 4-H club alumni recognition was started and sponsored through the national committee by the Olin Mathieson Chemical company. The program was carried out by having each county name one man and one woman who were leading 4-H clubs at the present time who had been 4-H club members or at least who were furthering 4-H club work in their communities since they have become 4-H alumni. We attended this program in Chicago held in the Sheridan Blackstone hotel, where the top 8 alumni of the country were recognized. In addition 4 people, 2 men and 2 women leaders, were listed in the program.

Ingham had one of the leaders. He is Ludell Cheney, leader of the 4-Winds 4-H club, west of Mason. He was listed as Ingham county's representative in the program because of his outstanding 4-H club work as a member. As a member he was outstanding in his 4-H project work. In addition he won state recognition in demonstration and judging work. Since he became an adult, he has furthered his interest in 4-H club work by having his whole family either as members or leaders.

Included in the recognition is the other work with organizations in the community that help to further community activities and betterment. In other words, they are recognizing former 4-H club members who are outstanding in their community from the standpoint of interest in youth work, interest in adult organizations and doing a good job of farming if that happens to be their occupation.

I thought it would be interesting for the folks in Ingham county to know who some of the other people were who were recognized and possibly what stiff competition there is among interest and leadership in 4-H club work. The 8 people recognized in Chicago were:

Dr. Gordon M. Cairns, dean of the college of agriculture, University of Maryland, a former 4-H club boy from New York state; Raymond Gary of Madill, Oklahoma, governor-elect of that State. He was the first 4-H club boy in the country to win a trip to the American Royal Livestock Show for his animal projects.

Dr. Clifford M. Hardin, now chancellor of the University of Nebraska, previously dean of agriculture at Michigan State college and formerly a 4-H club member in Indiana.

Mrs. C. L. Kirkpatrick, homemaker of Miami, Florida, a nee-president of the Miami Jackson PTA and an 8-year club member with 18 years with the 4-H club leadership in Dade county, Florida.

Val Kuska, veteran county agricultural agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, a former 4-H club member who has since had his entire family in leadership or as members in the program and with 32 years of experience in extension work.

Oscar R. Mennenga, San Francisco, California, a former club member from Colorado and now an outstanding banker, 4-H representative from California.

Mouzon B. Peters, farm editor of the Chattanooga Times. He was a former 4-H club member in Tennessee for 4 years who now is doing an outstanding job in reporting rural youth and adult activities in his paper.

Mrs. Joe A. Winkler, Jr., homemaker and local leader from Louisiana. Mrs. Winkler was a 10-year 4-H club member in dairy, health, poultry and other projects.

Mrs. Winkler attended the National 4-H club congress as a 4-H member for outstanding work. For several years she had to do her 4-H club work and at the time she attended the club congress, was in a cast from her waist to her chin. She had to do her 4-H club work under very trying conditions. Because of her outstanding work since her graduation from 4-H club work, she was awarded a special trip to the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C. and was a special guest of President and Mrs. Hoover. Mrs. Winkler gave a short talk in which she said that 4-H club work had been her life and that she was going to continue to devote a good share of her time to it as long as she lived and she intended to die with her boots on.

We are very happy that Ludell Cheney can be recognized as one of our outstanding leaders in the state with such people as mentioned above.

4-H Parade at Arena
We attended the 4-H club parade Wednesday evening, December 1 at the International Livestock arena where 1200 selected 4-H club members from the various states paraded before a huge crowd. The 4-H club members formed a large H in the middle of the arena with the band from Kansas playing the plowing song while the group sang.

The 1600 members and leaders attending the National 4-H Club Congress are the representatives of more than two million 4-H club members back in the various states, counties and communities. The members have won trips to this national event through their outstanding programs within their own communities and are in Chicago for receiving honors. We were tremendously impressed by the reception given the rural young people by Chicago. They were welcomed by outstanding people including the mayor, shown many places of interest, dined by commercial firms and literally given the key to the city all because they represent the cream of the rural youth of America. We were also impressed by the outstanding youngsters who attended the congress. At the Thomas E. Wilson banquet Tuesday evening in the Conrad Hilton hotel which was headquarters for the Congress delegation, a young 4-H girl with marvelous poise introduced important people, Secretary Dulles of Washington, D. C. was the principal speaker for that event.

At the U. S. Rubber company-sponsored breakfast for the outstanding talent members of the country, 1900 members, leaders and extension agents saw a mighty fine talent show by selected top performers from 4-H youth of the nation.

During the past 5 years this 4-H youth talent show program has grown from a small beginning. This year 40,000 numbers were given in local club units throughout the nation to entertain local people and start the elimination toward the national contest program and through which young people develop their own talent for good in the community.

This trip to the National Club Congress by the small group of about 25 members from each state makes it possible for inspiration received by these young people to be brought back to the counties to encourage other young people to attain higher goals. It then gives these young people the privilege of serving others in a way which they would otherwise not be able to do.

Twenty-Five Foreign Students Coming to Visit Ingham Homes

Michigan State college will be host to 25 foreign students attending colleges in United States over Christmas holidays.

The foreign students will be housed at Kellogg Center most of their stay from December 22 to January 1. The program planned for them includes a cross-section of typical American life. They'll visit city homes, factories and farms. Several central Michigan counties are co-operating with the college in providing farm homes for these students to visit for one day.

Ingham county has been assigned 25 students for December 28 and 29. The students will be delivered to the court house at Mason about 4 o'clock in the afternoon of December 28. Each rural family who has signed up to entertain a student may go to the court house and pick up the guest at that time. Plans call for each family to return with their foreign student guest of Kellogg Center at 5 the next afternoon. There they will be guests of Kellogg Center and mingle with other farm family hosts. Refreshments will be served and an evening program presented.

It is necessary that each family wishing to have a student have one or more children in their home, explained M. H. Avery, Ingham county agent.

Families wishing to entertain a student should make application through the Farm Bureau group or extension group. They may also contact either the County Farm Bureau, Mason 2-8291, or Co-operative Extension Service, Mason 9411.

LICENSE PLATE SALES

Automobile license plates for 1955 are on sale at the Mason branch office on first floor of court house from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. from Mondays through Fridays. Ingham plates bear designations LA through LJ for 1955.

Driver in Crash Awaits Sentence

John Dodson, 22, Lansing, pleaded guilty to felonious driving when arraigned in circuit court in Lansing Friday. He was the driver of the car which struck the car driven by Dallas Walters, Mason, at the Pennsylvania avenue-US-127 intersection November 27.

The crash sent both Mr. and Mrs. Walters and a 2-year-old son Keith to the hospital. Two other Walters children were less seriously injured. Following the crash, doctors delivered a still-born child to Mrs. Walters by Caesarean section. They stated their belief that the unborn child suffered a brain injury in the accident. State police, who investigated the accident, said Dodson had been drinking.

WEIGHT LIMIT CHANGES

Because Mason is now a first class postoffice, outgoing parcel post packages from senders living in Mason and served by box or city mail carrier are limited to 20 lbs. That maximum does not prevail for senders living on routes out of Mason or being served by any grade of postoffice lower than first class. The limit then is 70 lbs.

Just like most everyone else, Saint Nick prospered after he came to America.

In Europe, before he reached these shores, Saint Nick was a tall, angular man who rode a bony gray mare. He hadn't been in America long, however, before he had a new name, a new face, figure and a new and better mode of transportation.

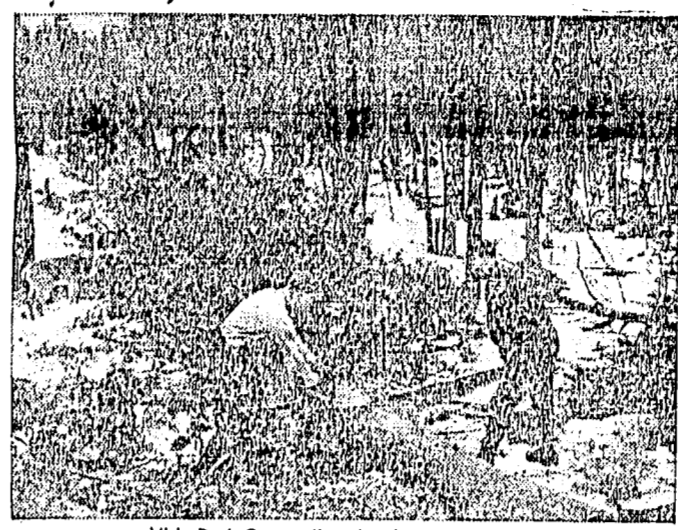

The early English settlers in this country started Santa's "new look" process. They adopted the legendary figure from the Dutch, but couldn't pronounce "Saint Nicholas." The best they could do was "Santa Kalous," which was corrupted to "Santa Claus."

In 1809, Washington Irving in his "Knickerbocker's History of New York," changed Santa's physical appearance by describing him as a jolly fellow with a broad-brimmed hat and huge britches. He also taught St. Nick to smoke a pipe, and traded his hay burner for a wagon.

Clement Moore in his famous poem, "The Visit From Saint Nicholas," went even further. He gave Saint Nick a sleigh, twinkling eyes, cheeks like roses, nose like a cherry and a round little belly.

After what I owe to God, nothing should be more dear or more sacred than the love and respect I owe to my country. De Thou.

Timber and Game are Twin Crops on Many Tree Farms

Deer thrive in areas where loggers and tree farmers carry on selective harvests. Increasing the amount of "forest edge" provides more food for deer and other game animals and birds.

Timber and game are twin crops in the United States. Sportsmen once believed virgin forests were the ideal environment for wildlife. This belief was based on accounts of the large number of wild animals early settlers found before pioneers had pushed back the forests to build a new country.

Game scarcities did exist in those days, often in the very shadows of virgin forests. When General Arnold marched to Quebec in 1751, his army nearly starved. Sufficient game just couldn't be found to augment the army's meager rations. This occurred in the deeply forested wilderness of Maine.

Today Maine is highly regarded as a deer hunting state. New England and many other parts of the United States support a greater deer population than ever before in history.

Forest Edge Provides Food
What caused this change? Thank today's tree farmers and loggers for the creation of millions of miles of new "forest edge." Today hunters know wildlife requires shelter, protection and food.

Hunters know that in an old growth forest, very little of the undergrowth, so necessary for game and bird food, exists. There is little sunlight to support browse plants. Good woodland management methods—such as selective cutting or block cutting—do promote plant growth for game food. They provide better quality trees for harvest and more and healthier game for hunters. Good forestland management, therefore, is good game management.

Fire Prevention Real Problem
Sportsmen and tree farmers have found a similarity in the problems which face them. Tree farmers know that unless their forests are properly harvested, mature trees fall prey to insects, disease or fire and many smaller trees starve for lack of growing room.

Sportsmen, likewise, know that streams and lakes have a definite population maximum beyond which fish will not prosper and grow. They know that if deer and other game are not hunted at systematic intervals, they too starve for lack of sufficient food, just as do trees in a densely crowded area.

Sportsmen and forest industries have other common interests. Protecting woodlands from fire is one. A single fire can destroy more game than hunters harvest in a game season.

No other gas pedal gets action like this!

THIS pedal does more than just feed gas to an eager and high-powered V8 engine. When you give it the extra nudge that moves it beyond the full throttle position, something happens that never happened before in an automobile.

You hear a businesslike purr, which tells you that twenty power vanes, deep inside the 1955 Dynaflo Drive,* have changed their pitch—just like the variable pitch propellers on a modern air liner.

Dansville Aggies Beat Leslie Five

The Aggies officially opened the basketball season with a 34-33 victory over the Leslie Black-hawks Friday evening in the Leslie gymnasium. It was a good game for the spectators' standpoint, the scores never varying more than 4 points at any time.

Both teams played a fast and aggressive game with more than usual defensive play. Neither team was particularly accurate from the floor on the free throw line but otherwise played good ball.

Dansville appeared a little stronger in the second half and held a slim lead the last few minutes to win by a one-point margin.

Boys who contributed to the victory were Junior Kirby, Donald McCabe, Dick Brooks, Bill Bravender, Don Brown, Larry Soule, Keith Douglas, Kaye Douglas and Bob Whitaker.

The little Aggie's inexperience cost them their game 56-21. This week the Aggies play at Okemos Tuesday and at Williamston Friday nights.

F. C. Anderson, Sr., F. C. Anderson, Jr., Robert Anderson, Eugene Gauss and Forrest Walker left Sunday night on a business trip to Lafayette, Indiana. They returned Tuesday.

Lesser Events Took Place On Christmas Day

Christmas is, above all else, the day on which we recognize the Nativity of Christ. It has been so since the fourth century, when the Western Church officially adopted December 25th as the date of the birth of the Saviour.

Since that time, this greatest of all events has completely overshadowed every historical event occurring on the same day. Ask anyone to tell you of something else in history that happened on December 25th other than the birth of Christ, and chances are they will give you a negative answer.

A few will remember that it was on this same date that George Washington crossed the Delaware. Only a true student of history will tell you that the date marks the birth of Isaac Newton, Clara Barton and Frances Blake, among others.

Actually, the fact that Washington crossed the Delaware on Christmas is all the average American should be expected to remember. But, it's interesting to note some of the other events that happened on the same day:

- In 1837, the Battle of Okcecho-bee.
- In 1941, Japanese captured Hong Kong.
- In 1492, wreck of the Santa Maria, at Haiti.
- In 1920, Hirohito became Emperor of Japan.
- It was also on Christmas day, in 1947, that China's constitution was adopted and went into effect, making the date China's National Renaissance Day. And, Christmas is also the birthday of the town of Kelo, Washington, settled on Christmas day, 1847, by Peter W. Crawford.

The Ingham-supervisor said he was proceeding south with caution, driving under 30 and close to the center line, when his car went into a skid. It left the pavement and struck a tree, demolishing the automobile.

Supervisor Woods was taken to the Mt. Pleasant hospital. The crash broke 2 ribs, blacked both eyes, jammed up his knees and injured a hip. He also received chest injuries. He was taken to his home near Dansville Saturday. Supervisor Woods was alone in the car.

Cadillac

established in 1905

The Hour Every Motorist Owes to Himself!

The happy man you see in this picture is bringing himself up to date.

Cadillac has written a whole new chapter for the book defining motor car performance, and he's taking an hour to find out what it says.

And it says plenty—of very great importance.

First of all, it tells you what it's like to have command of a 250-horsepower engine that's as smooth as velvet, and so quick and eager that you have to educate your driving toe all over again.

It tells you what it's like to have virtually every trace of unevenness in the highway completely eliminated before it is even noticeable to driver or to passengers.

And it tells you what it's like to relax amidst upholstery fabrics that are found nowhere else, save in the 1955 Cadillac—not even in the finest clubs or hotels.

All this is to say, of course, that Cadillac has made another tremendous advance in design and engineering—so great, in fact, that only a drive and a personal inspection can let you realize its significance.

And, naturally, in addition to all that is new—there is yet greater emphasis on all the long-existing Cadillac virtues:

—the endurance that enables a Cadillac owner to keep his car just as long as he elects to do so . . . and with complete confidence in its dependability—

—the amazing economy of operation and upkeep which causes many owners to maintain that it is the most economical car on the American highway—

—the great personal satisfaction that comes from owning a car which is recognized, wherever highways lead, as the Standard of the World.

We cordially invite you to come in—today—to see and drive this wonderful, wonderful car.

There are eight models—in four different series—including the sensational Eldorado.

There is one to please you—exactly. And we think you'll be surprised and delighted at how little it costs, in comparison with lesser cars.

We're waiting for you—now!

Mistletoe Once Symbol Of Evil

The mistletoe, once a weapon of death, later became to be considered as a magical medicine, is now a universal symbol of love and peace.

It was with a mistletoe arrow (according to Norse mythology) that Loki killed Balder, the sun god, after Balder's mother had obtained a promise from all living things, other than the mistletoe, that they would not harm him. Balder was restored to life and it was ruled by the gods that the mistletoe would never again be used to do harm.

Ancient Europeans considered the mistletoe a magical medicine. They carried it about with them for health and luck, and believed it a cure for ulcers and epilepsy as well as a charm promoting fertility.

The present day custom of giving a kiss of love or peace beneath the mistletoe, although a relatively modern one, is derived from the fact that down through the centuries the mistletoe has been recognized throughout the whole world as a symbol of lasting peace.

Gift-Giving Custom In Ancient England

One of the most plausible versions of the origin of the custom of giving gifts at Christmas time is the one saying it began in England.

In the days of the knights, it was custom to hang kissing rings in the great halls. These rings were decorated with mistletoe and beneath them would meet the young knights and ladies, each bringing Christmas roses to their secret love.

As times changed, so did customs, and roses gave way for other personal gifts at Christmas time.

President Johnson Issued Civil War Amnesty On Dec. 25

Christmas is traditionally a day of universal good will. Even in times of war the battlefronts are often quiet and serene, by mutual consent, on Christmas Day.

It was also on December 25th, in 1868, that President Johnson issued his Civil War amnesty. In an attempt to heal the wounds left by the great war, Johnson issued an amnesty proclamation which did not exclude any persons or classes of persons—not even the highest officials of the Confederacy.

At the time, President Johnson expressed the belief that universal amnesty would tend to secure permanent peace, order, and prosperity throughout the country and would renew and restore respect for and attachment to the national government.

The proclamation pardoned all persons who participated directly or indirectly against the United States in the Civil War "with restoration of all rights, privileges and immunities under the Constitution and the laws which have also been made in pursuance thereof."

Holiday Whirl Means Extra Work For You-Know-Who

The holiday whirl is about us again and before it is all over some of us may feel like stretching out on the sofa beneath a sign: "Do not disturb until December 25, 1955."

But, let's face it. The common casualty at this time of the year is—Mom. Who gets stuck with the job of doing all the "fixing," of food, of decorations, of practically everything? You guessed it—the first one up in the mornings and usually the last to retire at night—Mom.

Most of us could pave the way for a more enjoyable Christmas this year and a happier New Year, by making an early resolution. It could be done with the simple determination to help make Mom's Christmas an easier one. It might be done by dividing up some of Mom's "extra" duties and assigning a share to each member of the family.

Christmas is a holy season and a time of good will. Poor Mom, though, is usually so tired she doesn't even have time to think, much less relax and enjoy the spiritual blessings of the season.

Saint Nicholas Was Bishop Of Myra

Saint Nicholas lived some 1600 years ago in Turkey where he was for 17 years Bishop of Myra. Today, the place is known as Demre, province of Antalya—where his church may still be found and one may yet hear of the generous acts which made his life a great legend and gave him the "Santa Claus" character we all know today.

It is said that Saint Nicholas, a man of great virtue and piety, became the patron saint of boys when he restored to life the sons of a rich Asiatic, who had been murdered by a robber-innkeeper while they were enroute to school at Athens. It is said that he was warned of the crime in a dream, but was unable to reach the inn in time to prevent the murders. He restored the boys to life through prayer and the murderer confessed his crime.

Christmas Rose Is Hallowed By Legend

The delicate beauty of the Christmas-rose (helleborus niger) is hallowed by legend. A poor shepherd girl, the story goes, wept bitterly as she watched the Wise Men on their way to the Christ Child bearing rich gifts when she had nothing. An angel appeared. Upon learning the reason for the girl's distress, the angel caused the ground to be carpeted with shining white flowers. The young shepherdess gathered some blossoms. When she presented her gift, the infant smiled and as his fingers touched the white flowers, the petals became tinged with pink.

Leslie Bank Will Hold Open House

Open house and public inspection of the completely remodeled and enlarged offices of the Peoples Bank of Leslie is scheduled for Saturday from 3 to 9 p. m. in the afternoon.

A remodeling program which has been under way for several months has been completed and brings to the customers of the bank the most modern of banking facilities. It is the culmination of much effort on the part of the board of directors and the bank staff in shaping plans for the working quarters and adequate lobby space.

The front of the building has been finished in Indiana limestone and Roman brick in stack bond with a wide canopy of aluminum extending the width of the building above the large front

Also impressive on the outside of the building are the large stainless steel letters proclaiming "Peoples Bank of Leslie."

The entrance to the building is composed of a large plate glass door set in an attractive aluminum frame to the right of which the after-hour depository is conveniently located. A planter enhances the vestibule. Located in the front and to the left of the entrance is a room provided for the board of directors, which can also be used for a conference room if desired. An open office has been provided next to the tellers' cages, which are 5 in number.

A new vault of reinforced concrete equipped with a 7-ton Mosler door is located in the rear of the building directly opposite the entrance. A plate glass mirror covers the partition which divides the vault into 2 compartments, the spacious front portion of which houses safety deposit boxes. A coupon booth is located conveniently by the vault door to save steps for customers.

A book vault was constructed to the rear of the bookkeeping room with separate entrance which also operates on combination.

The fixtures are of mahogany, finished in a light color in keeping with the interior decorating scheme of the building. Lighting in abundance is of the fluorescent type recessed in the ceiling. The work area floor is covered with asphalt tile while the lobby area is of plinthe tile. For the convenience of customers 2 desks with a bench between have been arranged against the north wall where a refrigerated water fountain is also located. A gas-fired Carrier combination heating and air conditioning unit located in the basement will furnish year-around comfort. Furniture for the directors' room and the offices is of softone walnut.

The architectural work and general contract were handled by Bank Designers of America, Incorporated, Springfield, Illinois.

During the remodeling operations normal banking functions were carried on by the bank staff in a redecorated building at the rear of the bank. This building will now be razed and the area blacktopped to provide parking space for bank patrons.

Comets Turn Back Everett To Take Over Role of Favorite

Grand Ledge served notice to the rest of the Capital Circuit Friday night that even though 3 starters are missing from last year's championship quintet, it is still a power to be reckoned with. The Comets beat Everett 64-59.

The Vikings from the big city have been considered as the team to replace the Comets this year. The Comets had other ideas.

Bill Brooks, sharpshooting Comet ace, paired in 26 points to set the pace for the winners. Gail Shoemaker followed him with 18 points.

The Vikings present a more balanced attack, even though they did lose out in the contest. Roger Quinn tallied 16 points, Gene Gulle netted 14 and Frenchy Wilson popped in 11.

The next challenge the Comets will have to face will be from Mason Friday night on the Grand Ledge court. The game will pit the 2 top scorers in the league, according to last year's records. Stan Stolz and Brooks finished one-two in the race last season.

With each having a game under their belts so far this year, Stolz has 27 and Brooks has 26.

Brooks is the hot shot from way out on the floor. Stolz pumps in most of his from in near the basket.

The first quarter was all Grand Ledge. With Brooks hitting with uncanny accuracy the Comets moved out to a 25-14 lead by the end of the first quarter.

The second period the pendulum swung the other way and Everett took over the offensive pace. By the time the end of the first half rolled around the Comet lead had been cut to 33-31.

Brooks again started to hit in the third period and the Comets padded their slim lead adding 19 points while Everett managed to drop in 16. The last period was even with each team dropping 12 points.

The only time Everett was in the lead was for a few seconds at the start of the first half when Jerry Bider and Gulle tallied with field goals.

Grand Ledge soon took over and never relinquished the lead after that.

School Operates Two Leagues for Play Saturdays

Mason is operating 2 leagues of 4 basketball teams each for boys in the fifth and sixth grades. Games are scheduled Saturday mornings.

Spartans, Badgers, Buckeyes and Wildcats make up the Little Four league for fifth-graders. The sixth grade Big Four teams are Wolverines, Hoosiers, Gophers and Bolleermakers.

Any fifth or sixth grade boy not now enrolled may do so by reporting at the school with rubber-soled gym shoes, T shirt and shorts.

Seventh graders are playing in an intramural program.

In the opening games Saturday the Badgers beat the Spartans 8 to 2, Buckeyes defeated Wildcats, 4 to 2, Wolverines trimmed the Hoosiers 11 to 9 and the Bolleermakers took the Gophers 18 to 10.

Tom Heathman of the Bolleermakers led the scoring with 10 points. Charles Carr of the Wolverines was next with 6.

Teams, with the captains listed first, are:

Fifth Grade
Spartans, Dan Demlow, Robert Dubay, Tom Cors, Lloyd Supran, David Clark, Jerry Jones and Mark Whitney.

Badgers, Verne Elliott, Ron Schram, Charles Schartzler, Jack Cady, James Evans, Gerald Katt and Steven Garrison.

Buckeyes, David Arnold, Ron Clark, Robert Peek, Allen Williams, Roger Langham, Kieran Swaynie and Carl Buske.

Wildcats, Robert Upton, Jim Strickland, Doug Mollsen, George Mills, Dick Dubay, Robert Roebuck and Don Langham.

Sixth Grade
Wolverines, Gary Sirrine, Ron Wethy, Joe Miller, Jim Hills, Milan Waters, Stan Drushel, Dan Fry, Ron Bullen, Gary Spenny and Charles Karr.

Hoosiers, Tom Day, Gale Lamphere, Larry Jones, Roger Strayer, Bill Harris, Jim Jones, Tom Johnson, Ray Crippen, Dexter Bruno and Martin Owen.

Gophers, Bob Forche, Ron Snyder, Leroy Swift, Gary Pierce, Dave Snook, Charles Coil, Fritz

Scots Choose Miller

Bud Miller, 20-year-old junior from Holt has been unanimously elected to captain the 1954-55 Scot basketball team.

Although Bud was recently sidelined with an operation, he is expected to rejoin the team in January.

The result of losing Miller may prove to be a blow to the team as he was second in team scoring last year. His specialty is a patented jump shot, and his ability to drive makes him a constant threat.

Bud stands 6' 2" tall and weighs 180 pounds. He is majoring in business administration and will graduate in June of 1956.

Rodocker Hits Target for Holt

Gary Rodocker had himself quite a night over at Howell. The Holt forward dropped in 34 points to pace the Rams to a 65-53 win over Howell.

Rodocker's 34 points tied the school record at Holt. He now goes down in Ram athletic history along with Harold Galka, who hit 34 points back in 1944.

The Rams used a good rally in the second quarter to knock off the Highlanders. In a torrid first period both teams ended up with 20 points. It was a different story in the following quarter. The Rams closed out the first half with a total of 42 points while Howell collected only 31.

Howell attempted to get back into the game in the third quarter and did manage to cut down the Ram margin a little, but the damage had been done. The Rams came back to again outscore their rivals in the last period and won going away.

Eldon Haller was the top man for the Highlanders with a total of 16 points.

Friday night Holt will move onto its own floor to meet Eaton Rapids. The Greyhounds lost their opener to Charlotte but they did not go down without throwing a scare into the Orioles.

Okemos Defeats Hornet Cagers

Okemos moved into a challenging position in the 1955 Ingham County league cage race by downing Williamston 61-45. The win came the easy way. The Chiefs picked up a 21-point lead early in the game and then coasted through to win.

Garth Ritchey and Dick Cooper provided a 2-pronged scoring punch for the Chiefs. Ritchey dropped in 17 points and Cooper added 12. Jerry Eckman topped the Williamston shooters with 13 points. Dale Bachman aided the Hornet cause with 11 points.

After a slow first quarter which ended with Okemos out in front 11-8, Okemos opened up. During the second period the Chiefs dumped in 20 points while holding the Hornets to 8.

The third quarter was more of the same only not quite so one-sided. Okemos picked up 18 points while the Hornets garnered 12.

Williamston took over the scoring pace in the fourth quarter with a 17-point output while the Chiefs dropped down to 12.

Everett's Look Adds to Honors

Lansing Everett's Dean Look is one of the Lansing area's most publicized athletes in many a year. He was unanimously selected for the Associated Press all-state football team as a back.

Besides being an outstanding grid player Look is also one of the mainstays of the Everett basketball team and is a crack-jack baseball player and track star as well.

The sad part of the story as far as Viking opponents are concerned is that he is only a junior.

Look played left half for Coach Dean Shippey and handled most of the passing, a good share of the running, all the kicking, and a major portion of the pass-receiving when he wasn't throwing them.

Charlotte Rally Sinks Greyhounds

Charlotte put together first and fourth quarter scoring sprees to down Eaton Rapids 57-50 Friday night in its first start of the new season.

Friday night the Orioles will entertain Everett in what should develop into a close game. The Vikings are smarting after getting knocked off by Grand Ledge in their opener. Coach Ted Bauer's crew was being counted on to be the toughest team in the Capital Circuit. If that is so then the Vikings will have to start getting tough right away.

Eaton Rapids will travel to Holt for its Friday night game. The Rams are going to be good in spite of graduation losses. The ease with which they disposed of Howell Friday night indicates that fact.

John Borgman was the man most responsible for the Oriole victory over Eaton Rapids. He caught fire in the last period to pace the Orioles and lead them out in front to the winner's circle.

The Orioles went into the last quarter trailing 41-40. Then Borgman went into his act. Before the game was over he and the rest of the Orioles outscored Eaton Rapids 17-9.

Charlotte also piled up a 7-point margin in the first period, outscoring the Greyhounds 17-10. In between it was Eaton Rapids and the shooting of Claude Brinistol and Rex Harkness which stole the show.

Brinistol paced Eaton Rapids with 13 points. Harkness added 11 and Wes Whittemore collected 10.

Borgman's 18 points was the top scoring effort for the Orioles. Joel Cooper was next with 12 points and Bill Pugh collected 11.

Panthers Claw Haslett 70-53

Stockbridge established itself as the team to beat in the Ingham County league by disposing of last year's champ, Haslett, 70-53 Friday night.

It was an easy win for the Panthers. Only in the last period did the Lakers get the edge in the scoring.

The Panthers were out in front 23-16 by the end of the first period. In the second quarter they moved ahead 39-22 and in the third period padded their lead with 19 more points while the Lakers were collecting 14.

In the final period the Panthers cleared the bench and Haslett for the first time outscored the Panthers, adding 17 points while the reserves poured in 12.

Terry Ward was the big gun in the Panther attack with 23 points on 9 field goals and 5 free throws. Bob Hutson helped out with 16 points.

Ken Schailly was the top points-maker for both teams with a total of 25 points. The Haslett guard put down 8 shots from out on the floor and 9 free throws.

MASON CAN'T GET IN

Mason athletic authorities left a place open on the cage schedule for Mason's participation in the Lansing holiday cage tournament. The Bulldogs were supposed to replace Grand Ledge. The Comets expressed a desire to drop out. Mason has been notified that Grand Ledge wants to continue so Mason is out in the cold.

Dansville Wins With Late Rally

Dansville opened the cage season with a victory over Leslie Friday night. The 34-33 game was more like the 1929 version of basketball than the 1954 fast-break high-scoring type of play.

The Aggies used a good second half to score the win. Dansville opened up with 22 points in the second half to make up for a 16-12 deficit at halftime.

Leslie moved out to a 6-4 lead in the first quarter and picked up in the second period right where it left off. The first half was outstanding for the classy defensive work of both teams. There were very few legitimate shots allowed.

Dansville took over control of the game in the second half. The defensive tactics of the Aggies stopped the Blackhawks cold.

Myron Kirby was top man for the winners with a total of 10 points. Ken Wheeler topped the Leslie scorers with a total of 11.

Farmer Peck's Wife

Enjoying long winter evenings.
Oh, to gather clean eggs!
A surprise for Aunt Lelia.

I like this time of year very much! The house seems so warm and cozy and safe. . . so very much a home. Darkness comes early and there are those wonderful long evenings.

Spring, summer and fall find me busy with garden, yard, chickens and other things. Some days I'm outside practically the whole day. It's much too busy a time for reading, much sewing, letter writing or time-consuming things???? (How do you like my choice of terms?)

But now! Three months of taking it easier, of luxury, of moving at a slower pace, of enjoying life down here on the farm.

I'll still have my chicken chores that stir me from this warm nest. The new coop is not so far as the old one was. The feed is in a little room in the coop. And there is an automatic waterer. All this is heaven compared to the long water pail and countless pails of feed. And always before there was either a drift of snow or puddle of water to wade through right in front of the hen house.

Probably some of you will wonder how easy it is getting and how much more do I want. Well, to tell the truth, there is more. And any other gal with a pair of eggs staring her in the face must be thinking the same thing! It would be an absolutely spotless egg so that I could gather, and after sufficient cooling, deposit in the cases. We have done everything possible to make egg production as scientific and Michigan-State-College inspired as can be but I still have to go over every egg. Each evening finds me looking at the smooth creations . . . and oh, me, if something happens a time or 2 and 2 days' eggs pile up! This fall I console myself with the thought that egg prices won't always be this bad. And with higher prices that egg cleaning will be more fun.

We surely do like the coop so far, though a flock will have to go through a winter before we know how these new-to-us ideas prove out. We are using corncocks which were put in when the pullets were. This has been added to until there are now about 8 inches. We shovel it around as it seems to shove to one end. This past week a sack of lime was sprinkled around in the litter for the purpose of keeping it better smelling and nice and dry—which it has been so far.

This next idea certainly was very new to us and we have yet to see how it works. It's keeping the litter this deep, stirring it, adding lime. . . and clean it once a year. There are deep dropping pits. We don't know how cleaning it only that often will work. There is a straw loft with louvers at each end. The coop is 30 by 36 and we have around 300 hens, not more but less. They are Wyandotters, a large white chicken which lays a brown egg. We always thought we had to have a heavy hen with our rickety old coop. A final Leghorn could never have survived out there.

When I ordered my chicks for February 19 I wasn't sure we'd be having a new coop so still ordered heavy ones. Next time they will be Leghorns. I don't like the idea of getting 2c less for a brown egg. It sounds kind of silly when you think about it. Why anyone would rather buy a white egg and pay 2c more to do it.

This has been quite a cozy story. Didn't intend to go so longly about it. Editor Bob Myers of the Lapeer County Press suggested that folks might be interested in some phases of our farming operations. I know the most about the chicken end of it yet there are times when I think I know less every day. I forgot to tell you that we are using community nests and like

Book Talk

Hours open to the public at headquarters branch, Ingham County Library, Monday through Saturday 2-5:00; Tuesday and Thursday 7-9 p. m.; Saturday 10-12; Tuesday and Friday 11:30-12:30 (during school year).

With Unsel and cookie dough in your hair you can still be charming, says John Robert Powers. His new book, SECRETS OF CHARM, is now in the Ingham county library. Illustrated with charts, diagrams and photographs, the book's sub title should be "For Women Only." From it we learn that there is no such thing as an unattractive woman. After 385 pages, the reader realizes that there is more to being "charming" than just being half safe.

For the sincere charm of innocence, go to your children. Many of these natural charmers have no one to turn to, it is shown by Helen Doss in THE FAMILY NOBODY WANTED. The wife of a Methodist minister, Mrs. Doss relates how they adopted 10 children from all parts of the world, some of them being problem cases. Billed as the "One-Family United Nations," the Dosses have representation from Korea, Japan, the Philippines, Spain, France and from 3 tribes of American Indians.

The Dosses should find useful a copy of Sidonie Gruenberg's them fine. We are also using a roll-away which Glenn Davis had. We got it after they were using the other kind but even so, the hens use this kind too, something that folks told us would not work. We were getting quite a few floor eggs so we put this nest in the corner on the floor. I took 13 eggs from it today. Nice, big clean ones and none cracked. I still think it's a grand idea.

I've just got to tell you about Aunt Lelia's birthday party and how happy it turned out. She was flabbergasted to the nth degree. Aunt Lelia is Dad's only sister who is a nurse at the St. Johns hospital. She never had any children but she has 7 nieces and nephews and their husbands and wives who belong to her very much. She has been present when most of their children have been born and also when their tonsils were taken out, their operations taken place and then taken her days off to help further. It's been a long line of devotion beyond the call of duty. I've felt guilty wanting her there but, oh, what calm water she pours on! How much she has helped!

One of the nieces, Leona Peck, thought of having a big birthday party at the Washington Center hall near Ashley for her. She decorated the tables in pink and green and across one wall wrote out "Happy Birthday Aunt Lelia" in big foot-high letters on a poster. She also made a doll cake which was beautiful.

Cousins from Flint and Elsie also came, to make around 70 for the chicken dinner. Don't know when I had so much fun seeing anyone so happy, surprised and pleased, or more deserving!

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF CHILD CARE AND GUIDANCE. The 1,000 pages include a rather comprehensive guide, designed for use by adults working with or living with children. Sample topics included are: Left-handedness, television for children, guides for choosing a musical instrument, family relationships and thousands of others.

This isn't the time for it, but it is time to plan for FUN IN THE BACK YARD. Arthur Lawson's book is concerned with equipping the back yard for family play and relaxation, featuring items like swings, sandboxes, fireplaces, meals and games.

In these days of charges and counter-charges, even the man in the street is being run down. IN THE TREASON OF THE PEOPLE, Ferdinand Lundberg states that it is doubtful whether the "sacred common man" really wants a representative form of government. In support of his opinion Lundberg cites the American citizen's voting record, service on juries, attitude toward taxes, support of education and scientific research and the growth of a general spirit of individualistic anarchism. It's mighty discouraging, but Lundberg demonstrates that we have a long way to go before becoming a working democracy.

Abraham Lincoln had to deal with many acts of treason. And just now his one-volume biography by Carl Sandburg is, in strange company with other new biographies at the Ingham county library. In the world of books, he is now contemporary with Louis Armstrong (Satchmo: My Life in New Orleans); the Texas girl who became a bull fighter, Patricia McCormick (Lady Bullfighter); and a fugitive from a skin game at Scotland Yard, Fred Cherrill (Fingerprints Never Lie); and the former dean of sports writers, Grantland Rice (The Tumbult and the Shooting).

Popular people, these, yet they all stand in the shadow of Lincoln's outstretched hand. Sandburg has taken this biography from his monumental 6-volume work.

Post-mortems may be over with, but it's never too late to learn. Find out why you didn't get that buck by reading HUNTING WHITTAILS by Frank Edminster. He not only tells you how to hunt deer, but how to get them, and even throws in a map showing where they are. How can you miss?

If your luck is no good here, go to Africa where they use deer for bait. Alexander Lake, author of HUNTER'S CHOICE is a professional hunter. He writes about the strangest jungle beast of all—the hunter. Several good recipes, such as those for buffalo pot roast and hippo ham sauce, are included, as well as the biography of a baboon.

The "Xth MAS Flotilla" was commanded by Junio Borghese during World War II. This Italian underwater demolition team sank or neutralized over a quarter of a million tons of shipping, mostly British. Borghese tells how they did it, in SEA DEVILS. Their weapons were slow-speed torpedoes, midget submarines, frog men and explosive boats.

Fox Film Portrays New York Docks

One of the most amazing chapters in all frontier history, the stirring saga of 3 determined men who conveyed a vital cargo of repeating rifles to besieged Fort Collier through country teeming with hostile Apaches, is told in "Massacre Canyon," due as a double feature program Friday and Saturday at the Fox theatre. The cast, headed by Phil Carey and Audrey Totter, also includes Douglas Kennedy, Jeff Donnell and Guinn Williams.

"Massacre Canyon" is said to be bristling with more than the usual amount of excitement contained in outdoor action dramas. The rugged fistfights between Carey and Kennedy; the fiery battles with the Indians and an awe-inspiring dust storm contribute to the excitement.

Double Feature Friday
By far the most stirring and dramatic premise for a pirate legend ever printed or filmed, is the basis for the color adventure saga, "Capt. Kidd and the Slave Girl," starring Tony Dexter and Eva Gabor, the double featured at the Fox Friday and Saturday.

Aubrey Wisler and Jack Pollexfen wrote this story of action and romance on the high seas, which has a shock opening in the "what-would-happen-if" manner.

"Capt. Kidd and the Slave Girl" opens with Kidd escaping the gallows at Execution Dock in London in 1701, say the authors. And for all we know he might very well have done just that. Two hundred and forty-odd years have not been enough to exhaust the flow of legends tied up with this most spectacular of all pirates in history.

"Waterfront" Comes to Fox
"On the Waterfront," a drama of brass-knuckled love and terror, filmed in the jungle world where the city meets the sea, arrives Sunday and Monday at the Fox Theatre. Marlon Brando stars in the film. Elia Kazan who made, with Brando, "A Streetcar Named Desire" reportedly floods the screen with the surging violence of the waterfront. Also starred are Karl Malden and Lee J. Cobb, and "On the Waterfront" introduces Eva Marie Saint, beautiful blonde star of stage, television and radio.

Brutal realism is depicted in "On the Waterfront," starring Marlon Brando, Karl Malden and Lee J. Cobb. Eva Marie Saint makes her screen bow in the film, which was produced and directed by Elia Kazan.

One of Hollywood's most versatile and rugged young stars, Brando is said to be overpowering as the man who lives by the jungle law of the waterfront, an expugnant who has become an unthinking hanger-on of the cold-blooded murder mob lorded over by Cobb. His loyalty to the mob is shaken when he falls in love with Miss Saint, whose long-shore brother is slain before he can talk to the Crime Commission.

he loves, the entreaties of a fighting waterfront priest, the ruthless slaying of Brando's brother for violating the mob's tight discipline, bring Brando into headlong collision with Cobb. One of the most brutal fights ever filmed is the climax of this vivid drama of a manmade dockside jungle.

Fox Bills "Brigadoon"
"Brigadoon," screen version of the Broadway musical hit, filmed in CinemaScope and Anson Color, will be at the Fox for 3 days beginning Tuesday.

The new M-G-M musical stars Gene Kelly, Van Johnson and Cyd Charisse, with the supporting cast featuring Elaine Stewart, Bary Jones, Albert Sharpe, Virginia Bosler of the original stage cast, and the noted Broadway dancer, Hugh Laing, making his film debut after starring with the New York City Ballet Company. As a stage musical "Brigadoon" won the New York Critics Circle Award and ran in New York for 581 straight performances, later repeating its success in England and Scotland. Its story, drawing a fine line between reality and fantasy, tells of a Scottish village rising out of the Highland mists one day in each century and of a stranger who gives up the mundane world for love and the enchantment of the village of Brigadoon.

College Uses TV In Writing Course

High school students, planning to enter college, will have an opportunity this winter to sharpen up their writing abilities. Michigan State college will offer a winter-term telecourse entitled "A Course in Clear Writing" over WKAR-TV, Channel 60.

The course will cover such subjects as using the dictionary, avoiding cliches, writing essay exams, revising themes, and other approaches to more effective writing. The telecourse will be presented 3:30 to 4 p. m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, starting January 6.

Dr. William D. Baker, of the Michigan State college department of communication skills, will teach the course, assisted by other members of that department. Interested teachers or students may secure further information by writing to "Telecourses, Continuing Education, Michigan State."

Several experiments will be conducted with the course. Tests to measure attitudes and progress will be conducted among high school youths. And a college remedial section which will watch the program on a TV set in their classroom, will be matched against another college group taught through the regular methods.

Mason Chief of Police Praises Truck Drivers

Chief of Police Ralph Hall offered a word of consolation for automobile drivers when the streets were slippery the other morning.

"Be thankful you're not driving a big trailer truck over streets as slippery as they are now," he said. "A vast majority of truck drivers deserve great credit for the care and skill they exercise in handling their big jobs on snow and ice."

He pointed out that the thing that causes skids is momentum—the stubborn tendency of any moving object to keep going in the same direction, and at the same speed.

"Momentum is the product of speed and weight," Chief Hall said. "Because some trucks are 5 to 10 times as heavy as cars, they have exactly 5 to 10 times the momentum of cars traveling at the same speed."

are contained in a newly revised booklet entitled "Safe Winter Driving Facts for Truck Drivers." The 7 basic rules from the book follow:

1. Accept your responsibility to do all in your power to drive without accident. Don't blame the weatherman for an accident. Be prepared and meet the situation.
2. Get the feel of the road. Try brakes occasionally while driving slowly and free of heavy traffic. Find out just how slippery the road is and adjust your speed to road and weather conditions. Expert drivers don't skid.
3. Keep the windshield clear, inside and out. Be sure headlights, windshield wipers and defrosters are in top working condition. You have to see danger to avoid it.
4. Use tire chains and good tires when roads are covered with snow and ice. Get the best chains possible. They cut stopping distances in half and give 4 to 7 times more traction for starting and climbing.
5. Use sanders. They improve slow speed traction on ice and help to get started when stopped on a slippery spot. Sanders can serve where it would be a needless waste of time and expense to put on chains.
6. "Fan or feather" brakes to slow down or stop. Be particularly careful when the truck is lightly loaded or empty. It's easy to lock the wheels and throw the truck into a dangerous skid or jackknife. Remember, the key to control any vehicle is to avoid locking or spinning the wheels.
7. Follow at a safe distance. It's hard to explain how the fellow ahead was able to stop but you couldn't. Give yourself room to stop. Remember, without tire chains, it takes 3 to 12 times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry concrete.

The exciting new idea behind the motoramic Chevrolet

Maybe once in a car-buying lifetime, you come across something that breaks all the old patterns and establishes new ones. This is that kind of car. This is the true story of how Chevrolet and General Motors shaped a new idea in steel.

Like most good ideas, this one is pretty simple. Chevrolet and General Motors set out to build the first low-priced car that would:

- bring you the very freshest and finest styling to be had.
- bring you the most advanced engine design and engineering features.
- bring you the kind of performance and the kind of ride that have never been available before in a low-priced car.
- bring you the highest quality of manufacture and materials.

All this in Chevrolet's price field! That did take some doing! And isn't it logical that only Chevrolet and General Motors have the people, skills, resources and facilities, to carry out this exciting new idea? Here is how this new Chevrolet changes all your ideas about cars!

Real Show-Car Styling!

Your eye tells you the Motoramic Chevrolet is no styling "patch-up" job. A rakish, low profile . . . soft swiftness from its sleek rear fenders to its wide-eyed Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a new outlook for motoring. And that outside doesn't change when you slip inside . . . exciting fabrics and trim are harmonized with the whole car.

A Sensational Ride!

You live the new idea instantly . . . you glide . . . actually glide because spherical joints "roll with the punch" of the road in Chevrolet's new Glide-Ride front suspension. And outrigger rear springs mean new balance in turns . . . turns made so effortless by new ball-race steering. And when you stop suddenly, new Anti-Dive braking control checks that nosing down in front . . . you get "heads up" stopping. Tubelless tires mean much greater protection against blowouts. And with new high-level ventilation there's fresher air.

Power Beyond Compare!

You also feel the new idea quickly . . . quick power like a panther's paw with the new "Turbo-Fire V8" (162 h.p.) and two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. And sparking this performance is a 12-volt electrical system giving you better ignition, faster starting, greater electrical reserve for any of the power assists you might desire. You have a transmission choice of economical Overdrive and improved, automatic Powerglide (optional at extra cost) or standard shift.

Even Air Conditioning!

And if you desire the convenience of power assists (optional at extra cost) . . . you'll find new power-steering and improved power brakes on all models. Power-controlled windows and powershift seat are available on the Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models, while air conditioning may be added on V8 models.

Won't You Try It?

Here, we can only tell you how successfully the Motoramic Chevrolet expresses the new idea behind it. But the car itself can quickly show you! Come in for a demonstration drive, won't you, first chance you get.

Welcome Ever Smiles

This is the victory banquet season for candidates elected in November. This period between election and inauguration is the proper time for such affairs. Shields of the victors are now bright with new promise. They show not a dent of battle. Their swords are unnickled by performance. Festive boards are bathed in the glow of expectancy. It will be nearly a month before the countenances of guests show disappointment over broken promises or reveal envy at preference given others.

"Welcome ever smiles, and farewell goes out sighing," observed Homer, and it wasn't Homer Ferguson, although the senator might well concur.

Election winners are entitled to victory banquets. Yet it wouldn't be amiss to stage banquets for some of the men going out of office, men who have served well their state, their district or their county.

Leaving the state capitol this month will be good men who have given devoted service to the people. D. Hale Brake, state treasurer, is a notable example. Not only has he carried out the responsibilities of his own office with credit, he has induced hundreds of county officials to accept greater responsibilities in their own offices. He has educated thousands of people in their duties as citizens.

Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary, Auditor General John Martin and Attorney General Frank Millard are other men who have been a credit to the offices they hold. If the men who succeed them do half as well the people of Michigan will have little reason to complain over the election outcome.

No one, not even those who voted against him, questions Kit Clardy's courage. He drove ahead fearlessly of reprisal, unwilling to compromise, doing what he believed needed doing, doing what he believed to be right.

Here in Ingham county Prosecutor Paul Younger is leaving office with a notable record. His ability, his courage and his devotion to duty gave Ingham county one of the most muscular law enforcement arms in the entire state. Younger never hedged. He refused to temporize. He wouldn't ever look the other way. His battles cost him votes. Yet he can look back with satisfaction on his record in office.

"Welcome ever smiles, and farewell goes out sighing," said Homer. Friends of Senator Ferguson, Congressman Clardy, Brake, Millard, Cleary, Martin and Younger may not be making any banquet plans. Yet they should. We ought to say our farewells to good public officials with smiles.

Safe Driving Is No Accident

Automobile accidents happen because safe driving is no accident. Safe driving results from obedience to traffic laws and conformance to good manners.

Safe driving on this S-D Day on December 15 we're now talking about and on any other day will come about when all of us refuse to take chances with our own lives or those of others. And we'll all get to where we're going just as fast as though we ignored our own safety and that of others.

If all of us would cut our speed, if we used caution in passing other vehicles and if we were vigilant at all intersections the accident toll would drop to almost zero. If we all obeyed the laws a traffic accident would be a rarity.

Records show that one or all the principals in 90% of accidents were violating the laws.

Changed attitudes will do much to cut down accidents. The first big change should be recognition that traffic laws are enacted for the benefit of every user of the highway whether the user is in a car or truck, riding a bicycle, a motorcycle, a horse or a tractor, whether he is walking along the highway or attempting to cross it.

Better manners will also do much to reduce accidents. Too many of us forget our manners when we get behind the wheel of an automobile. We want to beat others on the getaway. We cut into lines of traffic, expecting others to give way.

If all of us on next Wednesday, December 15, obey every traffic law and use good driving manners the day will go off without an accident, just as its sponsors hope. And if we used the same care on other days an accident would really be just that—something unforeseen, an unusual event. What we call accidents now are all too often occurrences which could easily have been avoided just by changed attitudes.

Good Advice for Seniors

Tougher assignments for high school students may be on the way. At a recent meeting at Michigan State college, high school principals and college freshmen agreed that tougher high school assignments will better prepare students for college.

Failure to adopt good work habits is the principal cause of college failures, students and principals agreed. Those habits should be formed in high school and in the elementary grades. Most students who enter college without good work habits fall behind in their work, lose interest and soon want to quit.

A teacher who assigns plenty of work, who assigns tasks which challenge students to do their best, is the teacher who is living up to his responsibilities. Teachers who give easy assignments are actually building up grief for their pupils.

We are spending more money on education than ever before. Not only do we have more children in school, they stay in school longer, and we try to do more for them. Our first concern should be to develop men and women with good work habits. We ought to emphasize play less and work more. Instead of hurrying children by giving them tough assignments, we are actually helping them. We are teaching them to make the most of their time and of their opportunities.

We shouldn't wait until young men and women get into college before we recognize what is needed most in high school. We should give boys and girls what they need. That's work.

Worth a Try Here

Chicago operates 56 police department ambulances. The sirens on those 56 units are being muted for a 90-day trial period. The order to silence the sirens followed the discovery that far too many of the injured being taken to the hospital arrived in far worse shape than when they were picked up. Drivers depended upon their sirens instead of care in driving.

The Chicago experiment is worth a try here, and not only by ambulance drivers.

Just last year a Lansing township fire truck killed a Mason man. The driver of the fire truck, relying upon his siren, sped across Pennsylvania avenue, killing the Mason man and overturning the fire truck. That truck never did reach the blaze. And it happened that the run resulted from a little grass fire anyway.

Drivers of all emergency vehicles, police cars and fire trucks, along with ambulances, should use caution and common sense instead of, or at least along with, their sirens.

Chapter 3 of Onondaga History

Early Onondaga Settlers Complained About Taxes

By Vernon J. Brown

By 1838 the population of Onondaga had grown to a point where 187 votes were cast at the annual township election. At that meeting the voters agreed to provide $175 to meet township expense and to raise $250 for a bridge or bridges to be built "where the highway commissioners can get the largest subscription." The voters also approved an outlay of $10 to provide a case or cupboard to contain the township library.

The records show that a special election was held on January 4, 1864, to submit to the vote of the people the matter of raising $1,300 by sale of bonds, such funds to be used in "aiding enlistments to fill the quota of the present draft." The bonds were approved 86 to 3.

Complaints Made on Taxes

At page 340 of the Onondaga township record is found the resignation on November 2, 1865, of B. E. Sawell as township clerk. Levi Godding was appointed to fill the vacancy and on the following page he lists the items making up what he termed "this enormous tax which creates so much strife and anxiety." The total is recorded at $8,657.91.

Taxes for support of the state account for $675.81 of the total; county tax, $2,497.50; war bonds, $1,489.83; township tax, $200.00; school tax, $887.12; to pay notes, $2,190.55; and to pay volunteers, $600.00.

The foregoing may account for the results of a special election held about a year later on August 30, 1866. It had been proposed that the township issue bonds in the sum of $6,000 to "aid the Grand River Railroad company in constructing a railroad from Jackson to Grand Rapids." There were 196 votes cast, of which 128 said "no." Only 68 were recorded in favor of the project. The voting place was first fixed to be held at the school house in the village of Winfield but when the polls opened the election was adjourned to meet at the "tin shop on the south side of Main street in said village of Winfield."

Legislature Authorized Road

The last of the records found in the book loaned by the township officials for review relate to the laying out and obtaining right-of-way for a state road in Eaton, Ingham and Jackson counties. This road was authorized to be surveyed, located and opened by

Nobody makes so much out of new models as does the automobile industry.

Within the past month millions have been spent in newspapers and magazines, on billboards and over radio and TV to acquaint people with new automobile models. The automobile industry thrives on change, and exploits it. The exploitation is not selfish. It surely helps the newspaper and magazine business, radio and TV, along with paint manufacturers, the textile industry, sales organizations, finance companies and just about every other segment of our economy.

Change is as important in other fields of endeavor but alas there is not the recognition of its value.

An industry which doesn't change soon languishes. Apple growers who kept on with Russets and Baldwins lost their markets. Those who changed to Delicious found people anxious to buy. Peach growers who stayed with Elbertas and Crawfords don't go to Florida like the Alfred Wardlawists. They don't fool-around with pacers and trotters like Bob Palmer. Nor can they take off on visits to the old Country like the Jens Hansens of Aurelius. They can't even afford twins like the Red Haven Dockers of Ingham.

We are spending billions of dollars a year on education in an attempt to bring out new and better models of boys and girls and young men and young women. Churches are spending billions and ought to spend billions more on new models of all ages.

We have set up courts, probation departments, reformatories, prisons and parole systems in an effort to change models of human behavior. It's hard to make silk purses out of sows' ears but we Americans try.

We must change, we must convert, if we are going to survive.

American economy is based on fomenting discontent with the old, worshipping the new. That's why we are building new types of houses, new kinds of school buildings, new style beds and new style lawnmowers. That's why the market for featherbeds has dropped away. People demand electric blankets. Men want a motor to hum around their chin, instead of lathering away and then scraping.

That's why Wyeth Laboratories Inc. at Mason goes to all the work of converting cows' milk to SMA. Mothers like the convenience and the style of what comes in cans and finally comes out of bottles and nipples. They have a divine discontent with their own old-fashioned product.

Instead of gazing disconsolately at our 1954 automobiles with the paint still glistening and the payments just started, let's trade. Let's get something newer and better. This worship of new models is what's made America great. Have you noticed the rust spots beginning to develop on the tailpipe of your new Cadillac? Get a new one—no, not a tailpipe, a new Caddy. Be an American.

Get a new model not once a year but every week. We're talking now about the Ingham County News—52 models every year. Let us demonstrate one of our 1955 jet want ads with the Model A price.

Here at the Ingham County News $1.21 awaits some church act of the legislature of 1869. According to the record, this too led to some differences of opinion as to where, if should run, where bridges should be built, and what the grades should be.

Before I close this little review of the early history of organized government in Onondaga township I should like to return to that item found in the second installment where it is recorded that $10 was paid for a ballot box. I have that box and when I return the township records I shall take along the box.

How I came to have it is a question hard to answer. A couple of years ago, a woman I had never seen before came into the Ingham County News office and asked for me. It just happened I was downtown that day and in the print shop. This woman had a nice walnut box on the office counter before her as I came in from the back. She introduced herself as Mrs. Katherine Gibbs Crockett of Oakland Park, Florida. She told me she had once lived in Eaton county, near Onondaga and that she had been in Indiana to attend funeral services for a relative. There the family had given her the box to return to Michigan as she was to visit relatives in Jackson before her return to the South. The box had come to them by way of a relative named Campbell, of whom my visitor knew little or nothing. She wanted to unload her package and so left it with me.

According to the story as it came to me from the visitor from Florida, the box was used in the first election held in Ingham county. It may well have been because there is a box exactly like it among the records and old material at the Vevey town hall. I have been informed by other township officers that some of them have boxes like it. I know a duplicate has long been used by the county clerk from which names of jurors are picked to hear cases in circuit court. Someone must have had a contract to make a sufficient number of boxes to supply election boards and other officials of the county.

The boxes I have seen are identical in size and style. They are made of 5/16th inch clear black walnut, dovetailed on the corners with the bottoms grooved in and glued tight. The top slides in a groove with notches for the fingers to open it and with a slot in the top through which ballots could be slipped—not the bedsheet ballots of today but the 2 1/2 x 6" ballots sufficient to carry the names of all party candidates. They were used until the adoption of the secret ballot system in the 90's.

This is the third of a series of articles on Onondaga history. The fourth will appear next week. They are being written as a sequel to discovery and study of the township's early records.

Barnyard Economics Program Will Be Held Next Wednesday

"More profit from farm machinery and home equipment" is the general theme of a farm meeting to be held in Ingham county this winter. Practical problems including the income tax law with 14 new changes applying to farm people will be reviewed. Social Security for the first time is reaching into just about every farm home in the county and this will be discussed. Keeping farm earnings up during 1955 is also on the special menu.

The program is scheduled for Wednesday, December 15, at 1:30 p. m. in the court house, according to home demonstration agent Annette Schaeffer and county agent M. H. Avery. Farm management specialist John Doneth of Michigan State college is working with the county extension office on the event and will be present to participate in the program. Much local flavor will be added because 2 successful Ingham county farmers, Gerald Diamond, and Howard Coy of Mason, will participate on the program. Motion picture film will be shown. A display board showing farm facts illuminated with flood lights will be used. A panel discussion featuring farmers and a farm wife will be presented as a special treat. There will be an opportunity for questions from the audience.

John C. Doneth

The entire program has been built around items of greatest interest to farmers and their wives today, according to Avery. Farm machinery is one of the largest expense items on many of our farms now so it is an especially worthy subject to discuss in view of what appears to be ahead for farmers, he said. A similar situation occurs in the home where we have had a tremendous increase in all types of home equipment, the county agent pointed out.

Maintaining farm profits with declining farm prices is a major problem confronting anyone in the business of farming today. A substantial portion of the program will be devoted to a discussion of the adjustments Ingham county farmers should consider to meet the problem ahead.

"The income tax changes will be first on the program beginning at 1:30. By just attending this part of the meeting, a farmer can more than pay for his time, Avery pointed out. The new tax benefits to farmers are something that should be crystal-clear in the minds of all farmers before January 1, he added.

A 15-minute movie and a question period on the new social security benefits to farmers is planned to follow the tax talk.

Doneth of the MSC agricultural economics department will discuss the 1955 farm outlook in the third quarter of the program. A panel discussion by Ingham county farmers will wind up the barnyard economics meeting by 3:30, Avery promised.

"We have designed this meeting so that it will take the least possible time and still deliver the answers that farmers need right now," Avery said. "The whole program will be right to the point."

Illinois FB Offers Plan

A farm program which would require a certain percentage of the cultivated land of each farm to be placed in soil-conserving crops or practices was proposed by Charles B. Shuman, president of the Illinois Farm Bureau.

"It has proved politically unfeasible to reduce acreage (of surplus crops) sufficiently to materially affect production," Shuman said. "The present method of controlling production with acreage allotments and quotas for individual crops merely encourages farmers to shift from one crop to another and thus spread the surplus problem to more and more crops," he declared.

The plan, which Shuman introduced at the annual meeting of the Farm Bureau, would allow a farmer to choose the crops he wished to produce on the remainder of his cultivated acreage after setting aside a required acreage for soil conservation.

Senators Look At Milk Spread

Dairy price spread investigation by the senate is now a distinct possibility, say Washington reporters. It will depend upon a report, now being summarized by senate agriculture committee staff members, which will show whether last April's drop in dairy supports to 75% of partly affected price spreads in the dairy industry.

Preliminary reports of the committee's field survey show that processor profits have increased considerably as a result of lower parity prices, says Chairman Aiken. At the same time, Aiken says, producers' share of the lowered consumer price went down.

The full committee is expected to order public hearings if the final report shows this to be widespread. Investigators studied producer and distributor costs, selling prices and profits in New York, Minnesota, Washington, California and Tennessee.

Hormone Is Fed To USDA Poultry

A new female sex hormone product that you can feed to broilers, old hens and staggys roosters—to make them fatter and tastier—has just been cleared by the Food and Drug Administration.

This hormone product, designed to accomplish much the same purpose as pellets under the skin of the neck, will be easier to use, and will do an even better job, according to the manufacturer, White Laboratories, Inc., Kenilworth, N. J.

"Our development of a hormone product that can be used in mixed feed with outstanding results and complete safety is the result of 10 years of research," says Henry W. Swanson, manager of the firm's agricultural division.

The hormone, Dienestrol Diacetate, will be prepared in a feed supplement named Lipamont Estrogen Suspension.

It will be sold to feed mixers who can use scientific care in mixing small dosages uniformly throughout feed. When this hormone-treated feed is fed in the regular ration for 3 weeks before slaughter, the market birds are more tender and succulent.

Pastry shells should be baked very quickly at a relatively high temperature.

1955 Will Be Good for Most Dairy Producers

Strengthening of fluid milk prices in 1955 is foreseen by Michigan State college agricultural economists in their farm outlook for the coming year.

Based on a leveling milk production and a strong demand for dairy products, except butter, the economists say that fluid milk prices should average 15 to 20 cents a hundred pounds above those paid in 1954. Producers who ship milk to manufacturing plants will receive about the same prices in 1955 as in 1954.

What does the economic picture hold for the average dairyman? Basically, it means that he can look forward to another year in which high costs will put a squeeze on profits, the economists say.

From a farm management standpoint, efficiency would seem to be the important consideration. Farmers are striving to increase efficiency by boosting cow numbers, producing more feed per acre, and by cutting down their labor requirements through more labor-saving equipment. Twenty to 30 cows seems to be the goal of many dairymen.

The Michigan State college agricultural economists see little reason to expect that dairying will change in its relative profit position compared to other farm enterprises. Looking beyond 1955, manufactured milk markets are apparently in for a period of change as they continue to fight the battle of vegetable vs. animal fats.

In areas like Michigan, however, where large fluid milk markets are available, the future isn't so dark for the dairyman. Continued population growth, high consumer incomes and possible increases in milk consumption per person all point to an expansion in demand for fluid milk.

Wheat Will Slump In 1955 Market

Michigan State college agricultural economists see farm prices for wheat in Michigan about 30c under the loan value for the remainder of the 1954-55 season. If prices approach the loan value—ranging from $2.18 to $2.34 in Michigan—growers will start to sell.

Michigan State college farm economists point out that farmers who have wheat in good condition and in good storages will find it advantageous to use the government support program. The application deadline is January 31.

For 1955—support prices will be not less than $2.06. If yields on the allotted 55,000,000 acres are average, the production will equal the quantity of wheat used and exported this past year.

Poultrymen Hope 1955 Egg Boost

The outlook for poultry and poultry products shows the effects of low prices this year. Here is the nutshell picture:

EGGS: After a dismal year in 1954, prices of eggs are expected to be relatively higher through most of 1955. This price increase is expected, in turn, to increase supplies of eggs and hence bring lower prices in December, 1955. From March to October next year, the price of eggs will be an average of 5% higher than this year, Michigan State college agricultural economists estimate.

BROILERS AND FRYERS: The usual variations in the prices of these products is expected. Michigan State college agricultural economists estimate the same price pattern that existed in 1954 will carry over into 1955. This means strong demand for broilers the first of April and in July and early August will again occur. They estimate a weak demand in the fall months.

TURKEYS: The turkey feed ratio is less favorable than last year. Agricultural economists predict a reduction of 10-15% in turkeys raised in the U. S. in 1955.

Vegetable Demand Is Up

The carry-over of canned vegetables from the 1954 pack is expected to be smaller than for 1953, say Michigan State college agricultural economists. Therefore the processing demand for vegetables is likely to be more active in 1955 than 1954, especially for green peas. However, carry-over of snapbeans and corn may be larger in 1955. The Michigan onion crop is 29% below 1953 and opened at 50c a 50-lb sack above last year's prices. The price is expected to remain above last year through the March delivery.

Livestock Prices May Drop in '55

Michigan livestock raisers may look for a slight downturn in their profits during 1955, according to the annual outlook released by Michigan State college agricultural economists.

Careful management will be essential, they say, and often the deciding factor between profit and loss. Here is the capsule rundown on various livestock enterprises:

HOGS: Profits will not be as good in 1955 as in 1954. Supplies will be 7% to 8% larger than last year. Prices will be well below the high levels of early 1954, but not much below prices this past fall.

Feeder pig prices are expected to be lower relative to market hog prices than they were in the spring of 1954. Watch for good buys in feeder pigs, the economists advise. Feeding hogs to heavy weights probably will not pay in 1955.

CATTLE: Lower profits are expected in 1955. Prices of the higher grades of cattle will remain about the same as in 1954. Prices of cows and feeders and stockers will probably decline some.

LAMBS AND WOOL: Profits from lamb feeding will be smaller in 1955. Lamb feeding was profitable in 1954 and feeder lamb prices have been bid up, narrowing the spread. To encourage an increase in the production of wool, congress authorized supporting wool as high as 110% of parity. In 1955 wool will be supported at 62c a pound (106% of parity).

Cow Fertility Guesses Often Wrong, Test Shows

A recent survey by Dr. J. F. Bone, Oregon State college veterinarian, of dairy cows sold for slaughter because they were thought to be infertile revealed that one-third were pregnant and one-sixth had no diseases or abnormalities that would prevent them from becoming pregnant.

In other words, says Dr. Bone, about half the cows were needlessly slaughtered—they were fertile. Routine examination of herds has resulted in only about one-tenth of the cows being slaughtered that were potentially fertile.

Loss in production, in blood lines and in money from "guessing wrong" will more than repay veterinarian costs for examinations, Dr. Bone points out.

Production Credit Meeting Is Called

The annual stockholders meeting of the Farmers Production Credit association will be held Tuesday, December 14, at the Kellogg Center in East Lansing. Over 300 members and wives are expected to attend.

specialist in conservation, Michigan State college, will show colored slides of "Michigan Outdoors." A dinner will be served at noon to be followed by a business session. Fred A. Smith of Hastings, president of the local association, will preside. Allen J. Cable of Bath will report for the board of directors.

Arnold Musolf of East Lansing will give the secretary-treasurer report. Two directors will be elected at the meeting.

Charles Dietz Wins Kiwanian Praise

Once each year for the past 3 years the Mason Kiwanis club has officially honored the recipients of the Ingham Soil Conservation district's "Outstanding Farmer" award.

The annual outstanding conservation awards are made by the directors of the district in order to recognize and encourage farmers who are doing an excellent job of soil and water conservation. Charles Dietz, who owns and operates a 120-acre livestock farm near Williamston, was one of 3 Ingham farmers to receive such an award last year.

The Dietz farm has a long history. In the year 1836 a tract of virgin land, including the present Dietz farm, was purchased by Charles Dietz's great-grandfather, Peter Dietz. The farm remained in the Dietz family until 1900. And for the next 42 years the farm was rented out. A soil depleting rotation of corn, beans and wheat was followed. In 1942, 106 years from the date of the original purchase, Charles Dietz and his young wife of 2 years, the former Beth Risch, bought the farm.

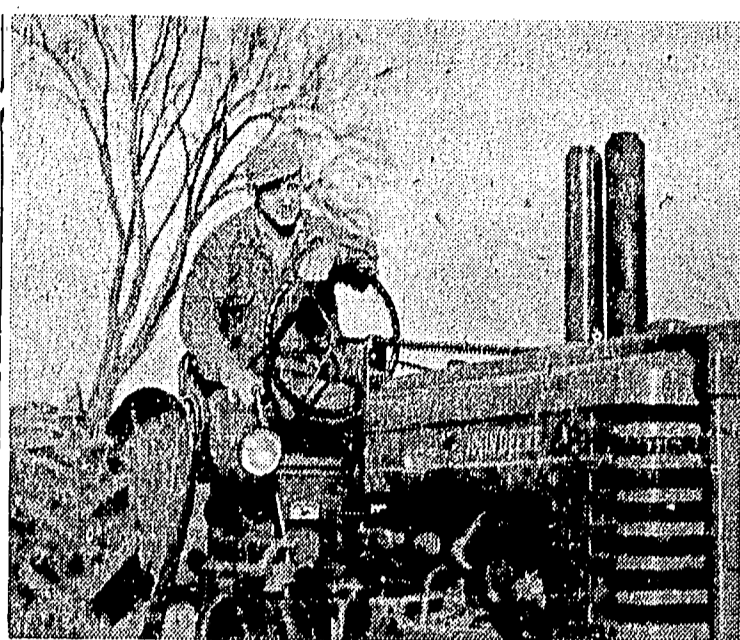

It wasn't easy for the young couple with a small amount of capital to get started in the farming business. The money to buy the farm and to improve the buildings was borrowed from the Farm Security administration now known as the F. H. A.

"It took a lot of money to start farming when we started," Dietz said. "And it takes considerably more today."

Dietz is grateful for the financial aid and the technical help he received from the F. H. A.

"With very little money to pay down," Charles claims, "the F. H. A. was about the only place we could borrow the needed money."

In less than 10 years, at the same time he was building up the soil, he paid off the mortgage. Proving again the old saying that "the soil has a way of taking good care of those who take good care of it," those years of hard farming had taken a lot out of the soil.

"Our crop yields were pretty low for the first few years on the farm," Dietz recalls. "We started out with a rotation of corn, oats and clover. We couldn't get alfalfa to grow until the drainage was improved and the soil was built up a little."

To help him with this important job of soil building and soil conserving, Dietz signed up with the Ingham soil conservation district in 1950. And the following year, with the assistance of technicians of the soil conservation service, he developed a conservation farm plan for the farm.

Dietz now follows a 4-year soil building rotation of corn, oats and 2 years of alfalfa-brome grass. When wheat is raised, it usually follows the second year of hay and is seeded to clover which serves as a green manure crop for corn the following year.

Soil tests have indicated that his soil does not need lime. Like many other farmers in the county, Dietz has increased the amount of commercial fertilizer he applies. And has found it to pay off in dollars and cents.

Oats this past season were fertilized with 250 to 300 lb per acre of 3-18-9. Corn was fertilized with 200 lb per acre of 3-18-9. In addition to the commercial fertilizer a sod was plowed under for the corn and 8 tons per acre of manure applied. Dietz plants his corn a little thicker now with good results. "But I believe one can get the corn too thick," the farmer explained, "especially if we should happen to have a dry year."

During the second year hay fields are usually top-dressed with 400 lb per acre of 0-20-20 in the spring just after out planting time. This past year he experimented with 300 lb per acre of 3-12-12.

"I know alfalfa isn't supposed to need nitrogen," Dietz said, "but I had a wonderful crop of hay this year." In addition to the 120 acres owned, Dietz rents 65 acres.

Intensive erosion control practices are not needed on the Dietz farm. The plan calls for 3 small irregular sloping areas to be kept mostly in sod. Soil structure and drainage are major conservation problems on his level, heavy-textured soils. More than one mile of tile has been installed. A good outlet for the tile is not a problem, as Dietz creek runs directly through the center of the farm. The drainage and soil structure have been greatly improved by the use of deep-rooted legumes.

In this day when the trend seems to be toward more specialization, Dietz doesn't believe in putting "all his eggs in one basket." He has 4 livestock programs—dairy, hogs, poultry and beef, all about the same size.

"If the prices fall too low in one time" Dietz reasons, "I can fall back on the others. And if things really get tough, we'll still have a good variety to eat."

At present he is milking 10 Guernsey and Holstein cows. He is in the junior D. H. I. A. The testing is being done by the Vo-Ag students of the Williamston school. Dietz doesn't claim to be a good dairyman.

"I probably would drop dairy," he said, "but I belong to a dairying family and I'm sure they would disown me if I sold the dairy cows."

His beef breeding herd consists of 11 purebred Angus cows. He raises the calves and sells them when they weigh about 1,000 lb each. He usually raises 40 to 50 hogs to sell each year. "I figure the hogs netted me the most profit last year." His poultry program consists of 250 to 300 Leghorn laying hens. In addition to each year to sell around Thanksgiving time.

The Dietz's take an active part in a number of community affairs. He is a director of the Lee school, and chairman of a local soil conservation group that meets each winter with a technician of the soil conservation service to discuss current soil problems. He is also chairman of a local young farmers group that has met 4 or 5 times each winter for the past 2 years with L. A. Cheney, Vo-Ag instructor at the Williamston school. General farm topics are discussed. Dietz has found these meetings to be helpful.

"I believe more farmers should take advantage of the Vo-Ag teachers in their community," he said.

"Mr. and Mrs. Dietz are members of the Wheatfield Grange. They have 3 children. Gene, 14, is a freshman at Williamston high school; Ruth Ann and Ronnie, 9, attend the Lee school. The Dietz's are all active members of the Williamston Baptist church."

"Everyone has a vital stake in the success of soil and water conservation and that includes the city man as well as the farmer. That is why the Kiwanians of Mason were proud to honor such an outstanding soil conservationist as Charles Dietz. For they realize that good land is the most important factor in producing a sound farm economy thus adding to the whole community's wealth and well-being."

Scotland Yard, probably the world's most famous police headquarters got its name because it stood until 1890 in a short and ancient street where, in medieval times, the kings of Scotland stayed when they came to pay homage to the English crown. Their mansion later became part of the yard of Whitehall Palace—hence Scotland Yard, says the National Geographic Society.

Country & Town

By JIM BROWN

Bigness doesn't necessarily beget coldness. Nor does smallness necessarily beget friendliness. Such attitudes, at least as far as merchandising is concerned, are based on personalities, not size. Because of this, small towns and small-town merchants don't necessarily have the corner on personalized customer service.

One of the largest merchandising enterprises in the world—Chicago's Marshall Field store—is just as accommodating a place as any store in Mason, Leslie, Stockbridge or Eden. In fact, the Field store may be even more accommodating.

Buy even a handkerchief at Field's and the clerk will put it in a box and tie a ribbon on it. Buy something that doesn't fit or something that you just don't like, and you can exchange it with no questions asked. Chicago folks can phone Marshall Field and order just about anything. It will be delivered within the hour at no cost.

In the Field candy shop, free samples are set out for customers. In the toy department, a merry-go-round is set up for children to ride. A free nursery for mama to park her playmates while she shops is in the Marshall Field store. There's even a room for changing babies and warming their bottles.

Small town merchants should never lay back on their laurels and think that folks naturally prefer small town merchants because they offer so much in the way of customer services. It isn't necessarily so.

A practical application of economics can be found at Ingham's Barnyard economics meeting next Wednesday afternoon in Mason. It's sponsored by the Ingham extension staff and Michigan State college. It's a place to get the facts on the new income tax laws affecting farmers, the new social security program for farmers and a forecast of the 1955 crop and livestock picture. It won't be just textbook answers, according to Mel Avery, county agricultural agent.

Now that the school board has signed up with an architect for an east side school, it's time to be thinking of a name for the new building. The Cedar Street school got its name because it happens to face on Cedar street. The high school, now known as the Jefferson avenue school, got its name because it faces Jefferson avenue. It would be nice to be more subtle about the naming of the east side building. It could be named after any one of the many fine men and women, either living or dead, of the Mason school district.

The east side school actually won't face any street. There will be rights-of-way to Steele street and Hall boulevard, but the school itself will be nestled back on a hill off all streets. This will be a chance for some originality. Ideas for names can be sent to the Ingham County News and they'll be passed on to the school board for judgment.

Drug Cuts Losses From Cattle Bugs

Cattle fed phenothiazine had fewer warbles. It is assumed that the young larvae are killed as they make their way through the flesh of the animals. Anyway, fewer of them reach the back and emerge through the skin.

Tests were made over a 2-year period with divided lots of cattle at the U. S. animal disease research laboratory, Auburn, Ala.

The first year, 2 steers that got the drug had an average of 5½ grubs apiece. An untreated pair that had been exposed to heel fly at the same time had 41 grubs a steer.

The second year, 6 treated steers, which had eaten from 1 gram to 2.7 grams of phenothiazine apiece daily, had an average of 8 grubs each, while the untreated steers averaged 36.

Phenothiazine is used to fight internal parasites of sheep, goats and cattle. When given to cattle, enough passes through to kill the larvae of horn flies, which breed only in dung.

Two Milk Test Groups Average 30 lb of Fat

Two dairy herd testing associations submitted their October test results to the county agricultural agent this week. Twenty-eight herds average more than 30 lb of fat for the month, according to the report.

These herds and owners were: Ernest Shaw, 16 cows, 49.6 lb fat, 1,240 lb milk; Jerry Jorgensen, 16 cows, 36 lb fat, 1,116 lb milk; Hugh Oesterle, 32 cows, 43.4 lb fat, 1,054 lb milk; W. C. Ag Department Makes Progress In Herd Clean-up

An inspection program designed to improve quality of Michigan's manufactured dairy products and thereby increase demand for them is making progress, according to F. M. Skiver, chief of the bureau of dairying of the Michigan department of agriculture.

In Michigan there are about 305,000 dairy farms that supply milk and cream to manufacturers, and there are about 35,000 supplying the fluid markets, he pointed out.

The inspection program covers conditions on the farms where milk that finds its way to plants manufacturing butter, cheese, ice cream and evaporated milk is produced. The milk going to fluid markets is under the agricultural department's inspection at all bottling plants and creameries as well as several thousand of these farm sources.

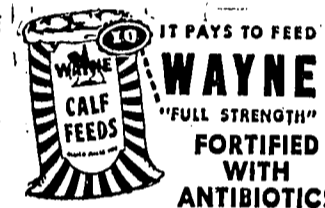

Up until a year ago when the accelerated farm inspection of milk for manufacture began, only a few such farms had been inspected. A large number still have not undergone official inspection.

"Many of these farms," Skiver said, "could stand much improvement in the methods used in cooling milk and in the care and maintenance of dairy equipment."

Popcorn Must Be Stored Right for The Best Results

"When popcorn doesn't pop, it's not always the fault of the corn; it might be with the way it was stored."

The amount of moisture in the kernel is important, explains S. T. Dexter, professor of farm crops at Michigan State college. Popcorn pops by explosion; when it is heated steam forms in the kernel and explodes it. So when there is too little moisture, not enough steam is formed and there is just a small explosion or none at all.

Too much moisture in commercially packaged popcorn is seldom found because the corn loses its moisture to the air during storage. This loss of moisture often happens in homes where the air has a low relative humidity.

When one cup of popcorn is popped, Dexter says it should have a popped volume of 30 cups.

Popcorn should ideally have 13% to 14% moisture. Dexter tells how to store popcorn so it will have this amount. Make a saturated salt solution by adding more salt to about a cup of water than will dissolve. Cut several strips of blotter about an inch wide and about a foot long. Soak the strips in the salt solution.

Roll each strip like a jelly roll and tie with a string. Put two or three of these rolls in a tight container with the popcorn. This will keep the right moisture content. The blotter rolls should stay moist unless the corn is very dry. Then, you may need to re-soak the blotters.

When corn is popped, it should pop all at once and about 98% of the kernels should explode, says Dexter.

1955-Feed Grain Will Be Plentiful

The U. S. feed grain supply will be ample for the 1954-55 feeding season, predict Michigan State college agricultural economists. But feeders will use the entire 1954 production and draw 100,000,000 to 200,000,000 bushels of corn from storage.

Drawing feed from storage means that there will be insufficient stored grain, not under loan

MR. AND MRS. RUSSELL WARNER own the farm pictured in the mystery farm series of the Ingham County News last week. The farm was correctly identified by Robert Lemon at 2:30 Thursday afternoon.

The Warner farm is located on US-127, 2 1/2 miles north of Leslie. The Warners farm 120 acres. They have 3 children. Jane, 15, and Dale, 13, attend the Leslie school. Mary, 12, attends the North Leslie school. The Warner family is active in the Farm Bureau, 4-H programs and the school. The Warners moved to the present farm 13 years ago. Before that they were farmers in Williamston. Both Mr. and Mrs. Warner were graduated from Michigan State college. Mrs. Warner majored in mathematics. Warner majored in English.

or purchase agreement to meet the feed deficit. Therefore, except for a short period during the December, 1954, harvest period, feed grain should sell generally at prices in line with the corn support price—or near $1.00 a bushel.

The record soybean production may not filter down to the farmer in lower prices. Though prices for soybean meal are expected to be lower than a year ago, the cost to farmers will be $80 to $85 a ton, if bought at elevators in ton lots. This doesn't look like the year to lay in several months supply ahead, unless prices break sharp from the expected levels.

Seed Expert Will Retire Next Year

Veteran fulltime seed analyst, Charles A. Stahl, will conclude a service record of 34 years when he retires from the Michigan department of agriculture in January.

A farewell dinner honoring him will be held December 15 by co-workers in the department after which Mr. and Mrs. Stahl will go to Florida for an indefinite stay before returning to their home in East Lansing at the conclusion of his vacation.

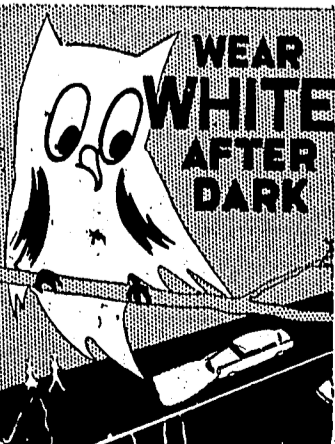

Mr. Stahl is a member of the National Association of Official Seed Analysts of which he was president in 1944. In 1953 he served as president of the North Central States Enforcement Officials conference. He also is a member of the National Weed Control conference. He is a charter member of both.

Equipment of a type not known when Stahl started with the state assists in making exacting determinations. Most of his analytical staff can at a glance identify 125 common noxious weed seeds frequently found in samples. But in a reference file nearby there are samples of 4,000 noxious weed seeds from all parts of the world in tiny phials. Some are from Europe, South America and Asia.

Soybean Prices May Drop in '55

Seasonal price increases will average much less than last year on soybeans, Michigan State college farm economists predict. In the past year the price per bushel jumped from $2.30 at harvest to $3.55 in May. But this year the crop was estimated at 27% larger—even 10% above the 1950.

Many farmers, remembering last year's sharp price rise have put much of their crop in storage. The Michigan State college economists warn that soybean prices are sensitive to export prospects. If farmers find prices are not rising, the rush to market farm-stored soybeans may cause a sharp price decline.

Republicans Seek Leader To Direct Campaign in '56

By Elmer White
Michigan Press Association

Michigan Republicans are looking for a knight in shining armor to revivify the party for 1956. Confused and hurt after their fourth straight loss to Democratic Gov. Williams, Republicans from the top to the doorbell-ringers are preaching revival.

"We've got to do more than rest on our oars and place our faith in tradition," said Treasurer D. Hale Brake.

He was the valedictorian of a sincere party stalwart who was swept out of office in the Democratic landslide after 14 years as guardian of the state's purse-strings.

He has seen politicians come and go and at one time figured to be the Republican rallying point. Others differed and rather than split the party, Brake went along.

Now, in the debris of another election in which all Republican candidates for state office met defeat, Brake is back with ideas to put the party on its feet again.

Brake wants to fight fire with fire. He suggests recruiting an outside man—"a popular figure"—as state chairman and insists he be well-versed in publicity; a man who will capture the imagination of a new kind of voter.

It's the same step Democrats took years ago with Williams, the boyish-looking idol of the young people; the trademarks of politics—the bow tie and the square dance calling.

The technique made Williams a popular vote-getter, a politician everyone would like to have live next door and it won him 4 terms in the executive office.

Democrats had the keen Paul W. Weber to guide Williams' footsteps and write his speeches. Weber feints the opposition off balance and crosses with a well-turned phrase.

It's the pattern that Michigan politics has taken in the past decade.

But who is the man or men around which this new and fresh Republican party can be constructed?

One choice is Congressman Gerald Ford, the young man from Grand Rapids. His backers say he has the energy, the youth, the foresight to breathe the new life into an old philosophy.

Others claim that because Republicans are out of the main state offices, the mantle of leadership will naturally fall to party members in the legislature.

There the Republicans have Senators Creighton R. Coleman, Battle Creek; Edward Hutchinson, Farmington; and Arthur H. Ellsworth & Deeg, Guernsey, 61 lb fat, 1060 lb milk; and Ellis Townsend, Holstein, 51 lb fat, 1220 lb milk.

Having a good set of records make income tax filing time less trouble, M. S. C. specialists point out.

PRAY BALL—Father Indalecio Aclo has two "habits," neither of which interferes with the other. His religious habit in no way impedes the priest's pitching arm, as the president of the Philippine University Athletic Association winds up a fast one in Manila.

Notice To Vevay Residents

The Vevay Township Board at a meeting held on November 17, 1954, at the township hall passed a resolution declaring its intent to proceed under the provisions of Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943 as amended, known as the Township Rural-Zoning Act.

MRS. BLANCHE WHEELER
Township Clerk

Rep. Willard T. Bowerman (R-Lansing) said he would ask the 1955 legislature to outlaw parimutuel betting at the races, wiping out a multi-million dollar operation.

Michigan gets up to $7,000,000 a year from the tracks in taxes, Bowerman said.

"That's a paltry sum when morals of our citizens are involved."

Prisons and mental hospitals are both overcrowded in Michigan and a battle is brewing over who will get the 200-bed addition to the Ionia state hospital for the criminal insane.

"We want it all," said Corrections Director Gus Harrison.

He has a law on his side, one passed 2 years ago which said that the addition would be turned over to the use of the corrections department. Mental Health Director Charles P. Wagg said: "We also need more space, and we shall see."

Late Fall Rains Boost Bean Price

Growers of navy beans in Michigan will look at the price outlook with mixed emotions, predict Michigan State college farm economists.

The supply of beans is short and the price will be higher than last year. On the other hand they will have fewer to market. The late fall rains caused an estimated $10,000,000 loss.

Since Michigan produces over 90% of the pea-bean crops competition among growers may push prices well above last year's season average price of $7.50. Growers will look back to a similar year 1947 when the 2,700,000 bushels brought a season average of $12.50, aided by heavy exports.

The navy is a rent-collecting landlord for more than 24,000 families.
