

Heart Attack Claims Man Long a Community Leader

Ralph S. Adams, 67, long a community leader, died Sunday night, seized with a heart attack at his home, 424 West Elm, he died an hour later at Mason General hospital.

Ralph S. Adams

Mr. Adams was born at the family home 331 West Ash, son of William J. and Franc L. Adams. He attended Mason schools, graduating from high school in 1907. Except for military service during World War I and for a short time at Flint, he lived his entire life in Mason.

He was an electrical contractor. He was engaged with his brother Roy in operating the Pastime theater in Mason and a theater in Williamston. He was one of the early mail carriers and at the time of his death was a contract star route carrier between Mason and Dansville.

Mr. Adams was the second commander of Browne-Cavender post No. 148 of the American Legion. He helped organize a county Legion council and was long active in district and state Americanism programs of the Legion. He was an elder in Mason Presbyterian church and for several years directed the choir and served as assistant Sunday school superintendent. In remodeling of the church he did much of the wiring without charging for labor. He was a past president of

Child Remains In Custody of Grandmother

After deliberation of 3 hours a circuit court jury Wednesday continued the grandmother as guardian of Douglas Robert Harris, 2.

The grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Peterson of Alpena, was named guardian of the child in probate court procedure April 3, 1956. The father, Henry (Ned) Harris of Mason appealed the probate court order making his mother-in-law the guardian. He asked for the guardianship, declaring he wanted the child cared for at the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home until he (the father) is able to establish a home.

The father was paralyzed from the waist down as the result of an automobile accident near Saginaw in May of 1955. The child's mother was killed December 9, 1955, when her car was struck by a truck on M-36, about 2 miles west of Dansville.

Presently the father is learning the watchmaker's trade at the Fine Lake school near Kalamazoo. He had a leg amputated about a year ago. Before his accident he was a mechanic at Dean & Harris in Lansing and Roy Christensen's in Mason.

Until the probate court action gave custody of the child to the grandmother, he and the father were at the home of the great-grandmother, Mrs. Chloe Anderson, 410 Ann and 509 West Columbia streets, Mason.

Jurors had 3 propositions to consider: Whether or not the father is competent and is a suitable person to have custody of his son; whether or not the grandmother, Mrs. Peterson, is competent and is a suitable person to have custody of the child; or whether neither the father nor grandmother is competent and suitable.

By the verdict, which was read by the foreman Wednesday forenoon, jurors found the father not competent or suitable and decided that the grandmother is competent and suitable. The verdict returned the guardianship of the child to probate court with the grandmother retaining custody and the guardianship.

Action, however, is not final, lawyers explained. If the father establishes a home and can show he is a suitable person he may through probate court action gain custody of his son.

Much of the time since the birth of the child the father has been in hospitals or at the Pine Lake rehabilitation center. The mother was on her way to Ann Arbor to see her husband when she was killed in the crash December 9, 1955.

James Burns of Lansing represented Mrs. Peterson in court. John P. O'Brien represented the child's father. Judge Louis E. Coash was on the bench. The trial started Monday morning. The case went to the jury about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. At 6, when jurors had not arrived at a verdict, Judge Coash excused them until Wednesday morning at 9:30.

The list of witnesses included the father, grandmother, great-grandmother, welfare investigators, garage mechanics who had worked with Harris, an Alpena pastor and his wife who testified as to the character of the Petersons, and friends and neighbors. Harris served in the navy and in the merchant marine before becoming an automobile mechanic.

Methodist WSCS will have a rummage sale at council rooms, Saturday, February 9.

Republicans Vow to Increase Efforts

7 Candidates For Council Call for Vote

Mason candidates by-passed the charter draft and have forced a primary election.

Heretofore under the recent charter there have not been enough candidates to escape use of the unique charter provision calling for the draft, never enough to force a primary.

The charter provides that if not enough candidates for council file nominating petitions that the council itself must draft enough candidates to make certain there are 2 candidates for every council post.

This year terms of 3 councilmen expire. Seven candidates filed. Had less than 6 filed, the council would have had to employ the draft. With more than 6, one of the candidates will be eliminated at the February 18 primary. From the 6 candidates who then remain voters will choose 3 April 1.

Terms of Mayor Alfred Forche and Councilmen Clifford Walcott and Bernard Cady will expire. Councilmen Walcott and Cady declined to run again after single 2-year terms. Mayor Forche is a candidate for re-election. The other 6 are Gilson Pearsall, 334 East Elm; Abe Cohn, 727 Roosevelt; Robert O. Schaeffer, 525 Holt; Harry J. Smith, 512 S. Lansing; Emery Colby, 216 N. Rogers; and Robert Tear, 128 West Oak.

Forche is a chemist at Wyeth Laboratories Inc. Pearsall and Cohn teach in the Lansing school system. Schaeffer is assistant county highway engineer. Smith is district salesman and supervisor for Ashland Oil Co. Colby is a painter and decorating contractor, a former city policeman and constable, and county school attendance officer. Tear operates Western Auto store.

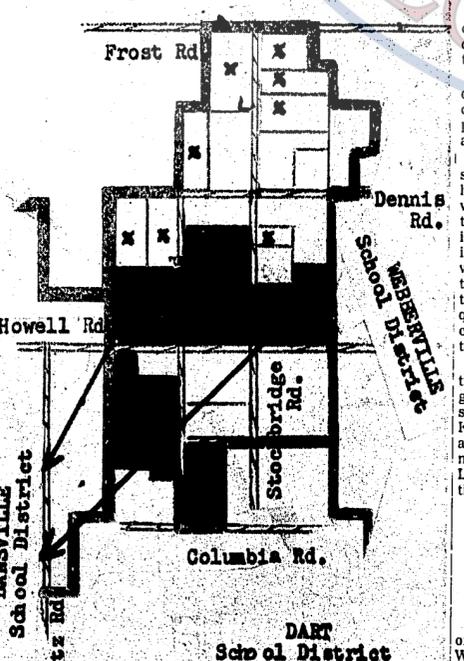

With or without the city primary, there would be an election February 18. It is the date of the non-partisan judicial primary.

Hood Flies Up At M-36 Curve

As William Bupp of Mason was driving west on M-36 at the Leslie Hodgson curve Tuesday afternoon the hood of his car popped up.

Bupp lost control of his car, which hit 2 trees, bouncing off both, and then crashing against a third tree head-on. Although Bupp's car was badly damaged, he was not injured.

WEBBERVILLE School District

NELSON DISTRICT in Leroy and White Oak townships may never be split but if it is, and follows the plan of the county board of education, only the lands printed solidly will be permitted to join Dansville. Owners of those lands and other parcels marked with X petitioned for annexation to the Dansville district. The county board of education at its meeting in Mason Wednesday night of last week denied permission of owners of the other lands marked with X to vote on annexation to Dansville. They must annex to Webberville; the county board decided. If they decide on annexation, if no vote is called, or if a vote is called and annexation is voted down, the Nelson can remain as a primary district.

WILLIAM WILSON DIDN'T HAVE TO FRET about doing chores, Wednesday morning. The Wilson dairy barn and herd of registered and grade Holsteins were destroyed by fire. Firemen from Stockbridge, Leslie and Henrietta were able to save the milk house, silo and granary. (ICN photo).

Big Barn Burns, 31 Holsteins Die

Flames put Bill Wilson of Stockbridge, one of Ingham's leading dairymen, out of business, at least temporarily, at 1:45 Wednesday morning.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed Wilson's 82x32 barn and all except one of the 32 top

Holstein dairy cows in his herd. That one cow will probably not survive. Three cows escaped but 2 had to be destroyed Wednesday noon.

The fire roared out of control for at least 30 minutes before it was discovered. Mrs. Robert Wilson, daughter-in-law, who lives on Base Line road several miles away, awoke to feed the baby. She glanced out the window and saw flames dancing on the horizon. She called her father-in-law to see where the fire was. Wilson looked out the window to find his own barn roof completely afire.

The blaze had too much of a start for firemen from Stockbridge, Leslie and Henrietta. They concentrated on saving other buildings.

Loss was estimated at $35,000. Wilson had a policy with the Michigan Farm Bureau for $5,000 on the barn and $14,000 on contents.

The big barn was 19 years old. It was built in 1938 to replace another structure destroyed by fire.

Firemen saved the milkhouse and granary. Lost in the blaze in addition to the cattle was a large quantity of hay and straw and all the milking equipment. Wilson operates the farm with the help of his son, Robert. They farm over 600 acres.

Crenshaws Enter Pleas of Guilty On Bank Charges

Just before they were scheduled to go to trial in circuit court in Jackson Monday Mr. and Mrs. Gervis Crenshaw entered pleas of guilty to a conspiracy charge. They pleaded guilty to conspiring to obtain $49,245.10 from the City Bank and Trust Co. of Jackson by false pretenses.

The charge to which they entered pleas of guilty was different than the one on which they had been scheduled to stand trial Monday. That charge covered 3 separate counts, obtaining a loan of $75,000.00 and obtaining $49,245.10 by false pretense and conspiracy to obtain the $49,245.10. They pleaded guilty only to the conspiracy count.

Action on the first 2 counts was continued to March 4. On that date the Crenshaws are to be sentenced. Judge John Simpson had denied defense motions to dismiss the charges, to discharge the entire panel of jurors, to change venue and to continue the case.

Failure of the Jackson livestock sales firm left many Ingham farmers holding checks without funds on deposit to pay them. The Crenshaws and others involved were charged with buying cattle on floating bank funds; with the buyer writing checks for the purchase of livestock, and then disposing of the livestock quickly enough to cover the checks when they were cleared through banks.

Six others involved in the transactions previously pleaded guilty and are on bond awaiting sentence. They are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rowison of Addison, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zaleski of Okemos, Roy Donald of Mason and Lawrence Wood of Rives Junction.

Polio Campaign Report Is Made

Nels Ferriby, out-county March of Dimes chairman, and Bob Ware, Mason chairman, appeared before Kwanians Tuesday night to give reports on the fund campaign.

Ferriby told of the continuing need for aid for polio victims. Pictures were also shown. Ware said that $1,600 has already been realized with the mothers' march expected to bring in much more. The dance last Friday night netted $210. Ware said, with the patron list adding $800 more. Blue crutch sales came to $80, he added, with $203 being realized from pancakes and sausage and $49 from coffee sales.

Coasting Is Good

Although skating on the creek and ponds appears to be ruined by snow and frozen slush, coasting has steadily improved. In town the most popular coasting hill is Barnes, north from the Presbyterian church. Four miles east of town the west slope of Kwanian hill is good for either toboggan or sled.

Neighbor Finds Theft Evidence

Carroll Glynn on Tuesday discovered that the house of a neighbor had been entered and ransacked.

When Mr. and Mrs. Claude Campbell of Sneedcker road in Leroy township left for a Florida vacation January 20 they asked Carroll Glynn to check their home freezer occasionally. When Glynn went to the Campbell place Tuesday to make a check he discovered that a rear window over the freezer had been broken. He also found that cupboards and drawers in the house had been pawed through and a cash box had been pried open. Two guns were also missing.

Glynn notified the sheriff's department. Sheriff Willard P. Barnes and Captain Versie Babcock investigated. Officers are checking the cash box and other articles in the house for fingerprints. The Campbells had not yet learned of the break-in Thursday. They intended to make several stopovers before reaching their destination in Florida.

Farmers Mutual Returns Board, Hears Reports

Policyholders of the Ingham County Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance company re-elected the president and all 16 directors Saturday. They also heard the report of 1956 losses.

Re-elected to his second term as president was John C. Grettenberger of Okemos. The directors re-elected to one-year terms were Ralph Stillman, Alalidon; Denton Eckhart, Aurelius; Bert Schertzing, Bunker Hill; J. W. Ried, Delhi; Robert Rae, Ingham; Richard Andrews, Lansing; Howard Sims, Leroy; Clayton Jewell, Leslie; John C. LaRowe, Locke; O. J. Becker, Meridian; Dennis Underwood, Onondaga; Lawton Heeney, Stockbridge; Ludell Cheney, Vevay; Harold Fisher, Wheatfield; Ralph Hayner, White Oak; and E. D. Brown, Williamston.

Policyholders suffered losses heavier than usual last year. The total for 1956 as reported by Louis A. Stid, secretary-treasurer, was $70,130.32.

Because of the increased losses, an increase was made in assessments. They went up 25c on both B and C classifications. They are now $3.00 on Class B and $4.00 on Class C.

Delegates Back Foster For Highway Candidate, Lindemer for Chairman

Ingham Republicans in their biennial spring convention in Mason Wednesday night vowed to perfect a township and ward organization. They endorsed George R. Foster of East Lansing, now deputy state highway commissioner, for the main job, and Lawrence D. Lindemer of Stockbridge for the chairmanship of the Michigan Republican State Central committee.

The main business of the convention was to choose delegates to the state Republican convention, in Detroit February 9. At the state convention candidates will be chosen for 3 supreme court justices, 2 regents of the University of Michigan, 2 members of the state board of agriculture, a member of the state board of education, state highway commissioner and state superintendent of public instruction.

In his keynote speech Paul C. Bagwell of Michigan State pointed to the need of perfecting a county organization with a leader in every city block and township precinct. Without such a program Ingham Republicans will soon have their backs to the wall, Bagwell said. He cited figures in recent elections to show Democratic gains among new voters.

Speaking of his own campaign, Bagwell said he had a plurality of 316,000 votes for auditor general last November before he reached the Wayne county line. He was swamped there, and lost the election by 26,000, he said.

Bagwell cited Republican legislative and congressional gains in Michigan, crediting them to energetic campaigning and party activity. He urged candidates to concentrate on independent voters and factory gate crowds.

Democrats are looking backward in planning for a welfare state, said Bagwell, shaping plans for regimentation and for continued inflation. He called the Republicans forward-looking, striving for justice for all and opportunity to develop individualism.

Ingham's 48 delegates to the state convention will be led by Russell Phillips of Delhi. He and Mrs. Archie Fraser of Okemos and C. Ross Hilliard of Mason were chosen delegates at large.

Ward and township delegates are: Ingham, Wheatfield and White Oak, John Osborne.

Officials Eye Federal Plan For Sycamore

Twenty-five state, county, township and city officials had a look at federal flood control plans for the Sycamore Tuesday night. They met in the circuit court room in Mason.

Gerald L. Graham, county drain commissioner, recently suggested to supervisors that the Sycamore be made a county drain. As such, he said, the county could receive federal aid in flood control. As a county drain, he added, the Sycamore could be kept from encroachments.

Graham, the supervisors steering committee and the drain committee set up the meeting for Tuesday night.

In on the conference were John Swanson of the Lansing city engineer's office, Lawrence O'Leary of the state water resources commission, W. S. Harrison of the state soils conservation committee, Lawrence Tripp of the Ingham soil conservation service, Bert Schertzing of the Ingham county soils management district, Phil Shirley of the county health department, I. H. Ronk and Robert H. Anderson from the state highway department, Barney Meyer, watershed chief for the state soils conservation service, Councilman Nels Ferriby of Mason and Supervisors Dean Taylor of Mason, Bernard Ward of Meridian, Carl G. Card of East Lansing, Glen Watkins of Alalidon, Paul C. Rowe of Aurelius, Austin Cavanaugh of Bunker Hill, Fred Rutledge of Leslie and Charles S. Woods of Ingham.

Graham pointed out that rivers and streams lose capacity to carry water, and cause flood conditions because of loss of cross-section due to sedimentation and encroachment. Every stream has an abutting flood plain of varying width, Graham explained. Encroachment by filling and building within this flood plain chokes down the stream, he said. Encroachment is occurring in a number of places along the Sycamore now, the drain commissioner pointed out. Development within the area to keep pace with the growth of the city and Michigan State university is bound to increase this tendency, unless right-of-way can be obtained and protected, the Ingham drain official said.

There's a provision of the drain law which permits action to be initiated and handled by municipal units, Graham pointed out. In such cases costs are assessed against municipal units on an at-large basis and outside of statutory tax limitations. Under the federal law, Meyer explained, if the Sycamore is accepted as a possible federal project, the cost of the survey and all work classified as flood prevention would be paid from federal funds.

Site of Boys School Pops Up Again

By ELMER WHITE Michigan Press Association

Boys Vocational school at Lansing, an institution caring for boys with criminal records, has been a controversial issue the last few years in attempts to find a new location.

Pressure mounted beginning years ago to move the school out of Lansing. In 1926 some land was purchased for this purpose, but later diverted to other uses. An attempt to build a new security unit for $500,000 at the present site 3 years ago was not approved by the legislature.

Last year the legislature turned an ear towards the BVS problem and appropriated money to purchase land at a new location.

A site at Whitmore lake was selected by the department of social welfare, the controlling office for BVS. W. J. Maxey, department director, explains that the choice was directed by a desire to be near the extensive medical and psychiatric facilities located in Ann Arbor, and also within a reasonable distance from Detroit—where most of the boys live.

Whitmore residents immediately protested the decision. They point out that their present resort area is developing rapidly into a community similar to the present site; that reasons which make Lansing undesirable will exist soon in Whitmore. They also refer to U. of M. hospital's already overcrowded psychiatric facilities, with the suggestion that BVS needs its own psychiatric staff wherever it is located.

Many express valid reasons for not locating BVS at Whitmore lake. They have placed considerable pressure on their state representatives to bring the matter before the legislature during the current session.

A new struggle may shape up in the legislature. The social welfare commission has authorized Director Maxey to seek a legislative appropriation for construction of a security unit at the Whitmore lake BVS site. The request for funds may be defeated by a combination of legislators representing Whitmore residents who don't want BVS, and those from other areas who would welcome the school. Such a move would serve to once again re-open the discussion of a new home for BVS.

Michigan's one-man grand jury system may be taken before the U. S. supreme court to test its constitutionality. Judge Timothy Quinn of Caro, sitting as a one-man grand jury, has ordered St. Clair Shores Mayor Thomas S. Welsh to jail for contempt after the mayor refused to answer any of the court's questions. He was ordered to testify about reports of corruption in some Detroit suburbs.

Welsh has indicated that he will fight the charge and is "deliberately" seeking a court test of the Michigan law.

Generally specific powers and purposes are vested in grand juries. They hear only testimony presented by the prosecution and by witnesses important to the specific case. Hearings are held in secret so that witnesses may be more willing to tell all they know. Testimony is not made public.

Mrs. Rosa Page Welch, first vice president of the national organization of United Church Women, was guest speaker at the annual CROP directors conference dinner on January 7. The meeting was held in the Paradise Inn, Goshen, Indiana. Others (left to right) are the Reverend Frank Hutchison, Church World Service Asia and non-European Areas director; Russell Hartzler, Michigan CROP director and toastmaster at the dinner; the Reverend Joseph Quick, Elkhart County Council of Churches executive secretary; and the Reverend Arnold Lambert, Kansas CROP director.

Leslie School Board Has Meeting

But the grand jury is limited in purpose. It does not try a case. In effect, its main power after hearing all testimony is to determine if there is enough evidence to bring the case to trial.

"Multiple-man" grand juries sit in most states. The Michigan law, passed in 1951, provides for judges to act as one-man juries. Opponents of the system say the law is now distorted from its original intended effect. They contend that grand juries now try to make a witness incriminate himself—contrary to rights guaranteed under the constitution.

In the Welsh case, the issue at point is whether or not Judge Quinn can enforce the contempt charge, thereby making the grand jury testimony public. Welsh's attorney says this is inconsistent with grand jury law.

Many Michigan crimes could not be solved without the one-man grand jury, say supporters of the law. They point out that it is the only way possible to protect witnesses from intimidation.

As a matter of policy the U. S. supreme court will not judge the constitutional aspects of a law if other ways to resolve a case can be found. The Welsh case may force the issue.

Frozen Ground Delays Decision

Action in the suit brought by Herman Martin against E. L. Matteson has been delayed by cold and wet grounds. The men own adjacent farms on Columbia road east of Mason.

Martin brought suit to recover damages and to seek relief for a drainage condition for which he blames Matteson. Martin claims that an 8-inch tile which drained his land was broken and blocked when Matteson dug a ditch, causing about 7 acres of land to be covered by water and silt.

Matteson asked permission from the court to check the tile on Matteson's land. The checking was attempted Friday but there was too much snow and frost and it was called off.

Supt. VanderLinden Called Attention to Changes in Requirements of Special Certificates by Teachers who do not as yet have their degrees at Monday evening's board meeting. Elementary teachers must now have 90 semester hours and high school teachers, 105. The changes were sent through by the Michigan department of public instruction but do not affect teachers already in the system.

The force of waves during a storm at sea is very great. In Scotland, in 1922, waves picked up and carried out to sea, a pier weighing 3000 tons, and off the Oregon Coast, the waves broke the lens of a lighthouse 176 feet above sea level.

Beechum's Final Shot Saves Game for Haslett

Haslett didn't let up in his chase of Williamston and Dausville Friday night. The Lakers couldn't have it if they wanted too. They were forced to go all out in order to squeeze past Okemos 73-72. It took a last-second basket by Doug Beechum to pull the game out of the fire for the Lakers.

Haslett maintained its hold on third place with a 62 record. The loss skidded Okemos to fifth place.

Haslett will take a breather Friday night but Okemos will play Leslie in a game at the Blackhawk gym.

Beechum was the Haslett star all through the game. He scored 30 points with 20 of them coming in the first half. Junior Sherman took second in the Haslett scoring race with 13 points.

Okemos' Max Creaser pushed Beechum for individual honors.

He scored 25 points with most of his coming in the second half. Jim Kreider also had a good night. He scored 18 points.

Neither team could gain much of a lead all through the game. In the first quarter Okemos moved in front with a 17-13 score. When the second period ended Haslett had clawed its way back to the lead. The Lakers left the floor at halftime with a one-point bulge.

Haslett's offense continued to click through the third quarter. The Lakers finished at the three-quarter mark with a 57-50 lead. Okemos didn't fold, though.

Creaser went on a 10-point scoring spree which boosted the Chieflets to the lead with a minute to go. Beechum then saved the day for Haslett and the Lakers stalled the rest of the way.

Ingham Dairymen Win State Honor At MSC Banquet

Ingham county dairymen carried off a large share of honors awarded at the annual all breed dairy banquet Monday night. The banquet was one of the features of the Farmers' Week program at Michigan State university.

Dr. N. P. Ralston, dairy department head at M. S. U. and Louise Lagoy, Michigan Dairy Princess, presented award certificates to 7 Ingham dairymen whose herds have averaged over 500 lb of butterfat for the past 5 years. Only 36 herds in the entire state achieved such results.

Top producers in the Ingham group were Hugh Osterle & Son of Webberville and J. H. Chamberlain of Leslie whose herds each averaged 531 lb of fat for the last 5 years. Others following closely were John Ellsworth, Mason; Ernest Shaw, Okemos; Robert Hunt, Eaton Rapids; W. C. Wright, Williamston; and Russell J. Kleis, East Lansing.

There were 35 from Ingham county among the 274 herds producing over 400 lb for the past 5 years.

Dr. D. V. Varner, vice-president of M. S. U., told the dairy-minded audience that he had been assured by dairy experts the dairy cow of the future would produce twice as much as today's animal. He pointed out that such improvements in technology result in a high ultimate gain not only to the dairyman, but also the consuming public. Agriculture has no choice but to fall in line with the big push toward greater knowledge. At present agriculture spends only three-tenths of one per cent of its gross sales on research while industry is already spending two per cent, he explained. Varner called for adoption of a board 5-year program of agricultural research recommended during the past year by farm leaders. These leaders have recognized the rapid change in Michigan agriculture and the increasing need for new knowledge. Varner ended his appeal for support of the program by telling his audience "The Future of Michigan Agriculture begins Today."

Two Ingham milk testers also basked in honors at the dairy banquet. Marvin Bontrager, tester in the Ingham-Williamston Dairy Herd Improvement association, received recognition from the state Artificial Breeders association for his work.

Al Cook, tester for Ingham No. 5 DHA, won kind words from National Dairy Products Co. for "efficiency of testing production."

Wildlife Stamps Are Distributed By Federation

Wildlife homes are given special attention in the 20th annual wildlife conservation stamps, the 1957 series now being distributed by the National Wildlife Federation.

Six of the 36 stamps, reproductions of water-color paintings by leading nature artists, show typical forms of natural wildlife homes. A barn owl is shown delivering food to fledglings in a hollow-tree nest. Beavers are shown constructing a lodge, and another stamp depicts the tiny underwater "erudle" built by the little fish known as the stickleback.

Another group of 6 stamps shows wildlife homes of the kind that can be provided by man in conservation projects. Separate subjects depict a nesting box for wood ducks; a multiflora rose hedge providing cover for quail and other small game; a brush pile for cottontails; marsh management for waterfowl; and a farm pond, which can provide haven for many forms of wildlife.

The subjects showing homes of wild creatures tie in with the "make-a-place-for-wildlife" theme of national wildlife week, to be observed by conservation groups March 17 to 23.

Twenty-four of the stamps follow tradition by presenting portraits of beautiful and interesting species of wild birds, mammals, fishes and wild flowers.

The wildlife conservation stamps have become an American institution since the first series was painted in 1938 by Ding Darling, newspaper cartoonist and first president of the National Wildlife Federation. Since then they have financed many educational and research projects and helped build the federation into the nation's largest conservation organization.

Reproduced in 6-color lithography for natural appearance, the stamps are distributed by mail to conservation-minded people throughout the nation.

During 1956 the wildlife stamp receipts, as in past years, paid for the federation's legislative reporting service covering all bills and actions of congress that affect natural resources. They helped finance conservation workshops for school teachers and youth groups in 14 states and provided graduate fellowships and scholarships in 6 colleges and universities. The federation also prepares and distributes teaching aids and reference materials to schools.

Parishioners Need $35,000

Canvass Begins for St. James School

By 5:00 Sunday afternoon St. James parishioners will know whether or not their $35,000 school and convent fund will be an immediate reality. Fund drive officers and Father Paul DeRose have scheduled a church canvass between 3 and 5 Sunday.

Frank Schmidt, chairman of the campaign, stated that all parish families have been asked to be at home between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m.

Harold Bell, chairman of the special gifts committee, reported that $70 had been pledged by local business and professional people. This figure is incomplete because several committee members have yet to report, he added.

While most parishioners have not given as yet, there already has been $13,375 pledged, according to Lester Palmer, publicity director.

The $35,000 will be used to remodel and equip the former Nazarene church for a parochial school and convent. Plans call for a 3-bedroom apartment for teaching nuns and 3 school rooms. The property is on West Elm.

More than 100 students are expected when school opens in September, Schmidt said.

Nolan Owen and Madelyn Rusch Married in Nuptial High Mass

Wearing a waltz-length gown of champagne lace, Miss Madelyn Faye Rusch of Mason became the bride of Nolan Martin Owen of Lansing Saturday morning in a double-ring ceremony.

The couple exchanged nuptial vows in St. James Catholic church, Mason, at 11 o'clock. Fr. Paul DeRose performed the nuptial high mass before an altar flanked with vases of pale pink carnations. Mrs. Robert Sargent of East Lansing provided music for the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rusch of Route 1, Mason. Mr. Owen is the son of Mrs. Kathryn Owen of Lansing.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride chose a princess-style gown of champagne lace over tulle in waltz-length. The fitted bodice flowed into princess lines in front, with a back accent of gathers creating a full skirt.

Her gown was topped by a boxy bolero jacket fashioned with a Peter Pan collar and fitted 3/4-length sleeves. Tiny seed pearl flowers adorned her champagne-colored hat and she carried a white prayer book topped with tiny pink tea roses from which extended streamers tied in lovers knots.

Sister Is Attendant

Mrs. Gilbert Eldred of Charlotte, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a waltz-length frock of teal chiffon styled with an empire waistline and full pleated skirt, topped by a pleated bolero jacket. A teal crown-typ hat completed her ensemble and she carried a nosegay of pink tea roses tied with pink ribbon.

Clare Lott of Mason served his brother-in-law as best man. David Fancher and Larry Chamberlain of Leslie, nephews of the bride and bridegroom, respectively, ushered the 90 wedding guests to their seats.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Rusch donned a 2-piece turquoise and black silk print which she complemented with black accessories. Mrs. Owen chose a black 2-piece dress with black and white trim, with which she used black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations and pink tea roses.

Wedding Breakfast Served

The newlyweds greeted their guests in the church parlors after the ceremony. Mrs. Edward K. Fitzgerald of Lansing presided at the guest register.

Pink and white streamers and white tapers decorated the tables for the wedding breakfast. An arrangement of white mums, heather and pink carnations centered the bride's table.

MR. AND MRS. NOLAN OWEN

After the breakfast, wedding cake, groom's cake, punch, mints and nuts were served from lace-covered tables. Mrs. Nolan Weller of Kalamazoo, sister of the bride, served the 3-tiered wedding cake which was topped by miniature bride and bridegroom. White wedding bells, from which extended streamers following the pink and white theme, hung from the ceiling directly over the cake.

Mrs. James Osborne of Lansing, cousin of the bride, served the groom's cake and Mrs. Kenneth Mathews of Leslie, sister of the bride, poured the punch.

Mrs. Norma Jewett opened and displayed the wedding gifts.

Wedding Trip East

Recipe of the Week

A special frozen fruit salad with variations by several of Mason's good cooks was served recently at a Mason Woman's Golf club bridge luncheon, and again Monday evening after Rainbow installation. By request, Mrs. Robert Colby submitted the "sort of a coop recipe."

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

1 pt. whipped cream
1 pkg. Philadelphia cream cheese
1 bottle red maraschino cherries, cut up
1 can fruit cocktail
1 bag marshmallows (or 1/2 bag of tiny marshmallows)
1 cup nuts

Thin cheese with juice from maraschino cherries.
Stir in fruit and marshmallows, and fold in whipped cream. Pour into cake pan or double-size ice cube tray and freeze.
For variation, Mrs. Frank Guerrero and Mrs. Raymond McLean used crushed pineapple instead of fruit cocktail and thinned the cheese with pineapple juice for the bridge luncheon. In keeping with the Valentine theme Monday evening the hostesses used maraschino cherry juice, which makes the dessert pink.

Pastors' Wives Receive Advice

If you are a minister's wife, the pressure is on you!

"But there are things you can do about it," said Wilbert J. McKenzie, associate professor of psychology at the University of Michigan.

"True, the pressures on pastors' wives are decreasing as communities grow larger, but even so, you're expected to be a model housekeeper, to dress not too flamboyantly and not too drably, to take a leading role in the community and to be an example of all the Christian virtues," he said. "This is obviously more than the normal human being can accomplish."

Apparently the problems of being a pastor's wife are legion. "First," said Professor McKenzie, "the woman in the parsonage has 2 strikes against her because she spends a lot of her time in church organizations where, because of her position, she can't blow off steam like other normal wives."

"Second, the minister's kids must be good examples to all the other children in the community. Sometimes they resent this and go to extremes in mischief making simply to prove they're normal."

"The pastor's home is in many ways more highly charged emotionally than other homes. I suspect it's more strongly loaded with feeling than most homes."

"The pastor's home life is pretty irregular and his schedule doesn't jibe with his wife's, what with afternoon sick calls and evening meetings. They aren't likely to have a relaxed home. Furthermore, the wife must protect her husband when the kids tease him to play Old Maid or fix a broken toy."

"Ministers wives have to realize that their husbands are likely to be the focus of strong emotional attachments in their communities. Teenagers, and sometimes middle aged persons, may get a crush on your husband and you'll have to guard against jealousy."

"You may be lonely if you lack friends with whom you can really be yourself. You may feel inadequate because you don't have time for all the things you are expected to do, and frustrated because you have too little time for your own hobbies."

"You may hesitate to discuss your own spiritual problems with your husband because his counseling load is already a heavy one."

Does all this sound pretty formidable? It is, but Professor McKenzie threw out a few life lines. If your child is expected to be a model of good behavior at all times, try training him in a few areas and forget the rest. Maybe the crucial thing is that he eat properly at a church supper. Make a game out of getting him to act well at such times and let him act natural the rest of the time.

"The same thing holds for you as the pastor's wife," the professor added. "Maybe you're a terrific baker and it's important that you contribute to the church supper. Well, then—concentrate on this and stop worrying about whether you can lead the prayer meeting."

"Learn to set limits on the demands made on you. You may have to make it a rule that you don't take any offices at all—that you will belong to just one of the women's organizations."

"Resolve to cultivate some friends with whom you don't have to worry about what you say or do. You may have to make an effort to form a few friendships outside your community."

"Try to get some privacy for yourself and your husband. You may have to get out of town one day a week. Select a vacation spot where you aren't going to run into people who will worry because you are wearing too brief a bathing suit. And don't spend your vacation as counselor at a church camp!"

"Remember, you can't love other people unless you are at peace with yourself and that means you will need some enjoyment of your own," the psychology professor concludes.

McKenzie outlined his views at the 18th annual Michigan pastors conference.

Hornets Stay at Top With Victory Over Leslie

Williamston pulled a little further away from Dansville in the race for the Ingham County League crown Friday night by dumping Leslie 63-49. The idle Aggies fell a notch behind. They have a 6-1 record while Williamston sports a 7-1 count.

Panthers Take Fourth Place

Stockbridge moved into fourth place in the Ingham County League Friday night by besting Fowlerville 43-32. The Panthers have a 4-3 record. Fowlerville has yet to win a game.

Friday night Dansville will provide the opposition for the Panthers. Stockbridge will have the home-court advantage but that is the only thing in Stockbridge's favor. The Aggies are smarting from the setback Williamston handed them. They must win every game from here on out.

Fowlerville is due to pick up some more lumps Friday night. The Gladiators take on league-leading Williamston. The Hornets are running wild since their conquest of Dansville.

Except for a relapse in the last quarter Stockbridge ruled all the way against Fowlerville. The Panthers grabbed a 15-12 lead in the first quarter and jumped it to 25-17 in the second. The third period was the best for Stockbridge. With Fredenberg doing most of the shooting the Panthers tacked on 16 points to their total while Fowlerville added 7.

Stockbridge was almost shut out in the final period, though. The Panthers came up with only 2 points. The famine didn't change the outcome as Fowlerville could manage only 8.

Fredenberg topped the winners with 17 points. Don Hale was the only Gladiator to break into double figures. He scored 11.

the pace of the past few weeks. Leslie will play Okemos Friday night. Tuesday night the Blackhaws will tangle with Eaton Rapids at the Greyhound gym.

A fast and furious attack in the second quarter broke Leslie's back and gave Williamston something to fall back on in the second half.

Both teams came up with 15 points in the first period but in the second Willie Gaffner and Al Newman opened up with a 2-pronged attack which sent Williamston out in front 35-21 at the half.

The Hornets continued to roll in the third quarter but not quite so fast or far. The Blackhaws dominated the last period. The damage was done, though, and Williamston was an easy winner.

Willie Gaffner continued to keep the scorers busy. He scored 30 points on 11 field goals and 8 free throws in 8 attempts. Newman helped the Williamston cause with 11 points.

Ed Hasbrook sparked Leslie's scorers with 17 points and Bill Durfee had 15.

Reserves Extend Winning Streak

Mason's creek reserve basketball team picked up its tenth straight win Friday night at Howell. Coach Ed Kene's boys beat the Highlanders 55-33. They have yet to taste defeat.

Mason took the scoring honors in every quarter. Bruce Horton had one of his best nights at center. He dumped in 7 field goals for 14 points. Jerry Willis, the perennial scoring star, was off slightly. He scored 11 points.

Bill Dietz added 8 points, Mike Holbrook scored 7 and Jim Halenbeck, the other starter, bagged 6.

Mason's next start will be a home encounter with Grand Ledge February 8. Mason outclassed the Comet reserves 61-38 the first time the teams met.

Howell Sinks Mason On 2 Last Ditch Foul Shots

Thanks to a pair of last second free throws Howell pulled up even with Mason and went on ahead with a 59-58 win Friday night. The victory came under the upset classification. Howell has a 2-5 record. Mason is one notch above with a 3-3 record.

Mason will not see action this week. The Bulldogs need the rest. They have gone from bad to worse in the past 3 games. Mason will not play again until Grand Ledge comes to town Friday, February 8.

Howell will try to extend its win streak to 2 games Friday night at Holt. The Rams are favored to snap it off, though. Holt has a perfect string going, too, and can not afford to stand still in its race for the title.

Tuesday the Highlanders will entertain Haslett in a non-conference game.

Jim Bippely won the game for the Highlanders. With 25 seconds remaining and the Highlanders one point down, he stepped to the free throw line and swished both shots. Mason could not overcome the lead in the remaining time.

It was a close game all the way. Howell took a 11-9 lead in the first quarter. Mason came back in the second period to end the half 27-27.

It was Howell's turn in the third quarter. With Larry Oesterle doing most of the shooting the Highlanders went out in front and started to pull away. Mason didn't find the range until late in the quarter. When the firing stopped the Bulldogs had closed the gap to 44-39.

Mason continued with its rush into the final quarter. With 2 minutes to go the Bulldogs pulled up even at 52-52. The Highlanders surged ahead to 57-53 and again Mason closed the gap and went ahead by one point. Bippely then delivered his 2 free throws to sink Mason.

Oesterle topped Howell with 23 points. Dick Ochenpaugh was next with 11 points and Doug Gerkin bagged 10.

Larry Dent had another good night for Mason. He scored 14 points. Larry Wheeler was second in the scoring column with 12 points and Dick Wheeler followed with 11. As in other Mason games this season the guards failed to deliver their share of points. Tom Clipper was the only one to score more than once from the floor.

Michigan's outdoors is enjoying a new camping boom, but it may be short-lived.

Family camping trips have become one of the most popular ways to spend a vacation. Even 2- or 3-day week ends have come to mean a chance for thousands of city dwellers to get out and spend a night in the woods.

Using conservation department camp registration figures, there has been an increase of 118% in camp visitors since 1950.

Haslett Fails to Stop Hornet's Winning Way

With the chips on the table Williamston's red hot cagers wasted no time Tuesday night in getting down to business and disposing of Haslett. The Hornets raced to a 70-49 decision.

The victory keeps Williamston at the top of the Ingham County League with an 8-1 record. Dansville, in second place, did not play a league foe. The Aggies have a 6-1 record.

The first and fourth quarters were the best for the Hornets. With Willie Gaffner dropping them in from all over the court the Hornets moved in a 22-13 lead in the first quarter. Haslett held the pace down in the second quarter but still Williamston added 2 more points to the lead.

Both teams had trouble in the third period but in the fourth the Hornets again broke out with a rash of baskets to win going away.

Gaffner, outstanding scoring star in the Ingham County League, added to his honors with 22 points. Dick Rathburn and Al Sober each hit for 14.

Doug Beechum was the only Laker to hit regularly. He scored 16 points. The Lakers did not have the services of their other scoring star, Max Creaser.

Panthers Stop Leslie 55-52

Leslie took another loss Tuesday night. This time Stockbridge did the job. It wasn't easy, though. The Panthers squeaked past the Blackhaws 55-52.

The Blackhaws fouled themselves into defeat. Stockbridge had 43 chances at the free throw line and made good on 27 of them. Leslie sank more shots than the Panthers from the floor.

It was a close contest all the way. In the first quarter the Blackhaws finished with a 20-18 lead. Stockbridge came back in the second to lead 37-31.

Leslie refused to stay down, though and recovered in the third to cut the Stockbridge lead to 43-42. In the wild last quarter the teams matched basket for basket right down to the final whistle.

Lynn Hecksel turned in the top performance of the night even if it was for a losing cause. He scored 23 points with 13 of them coming from the foul line. Stockbridge scoring honors were split. Bernard Risner, Paul Spadafore and John Mason each scored 11.

Caltrider Wins Bout

Gary Caltrider, Mason's only batter in the opening round of Lansing's golden gloves tournament, came through with flying colors. He was awarded a technical knockout in the second round. His left jab was the best in the opening round of the tournament. When the referee called the fight off Caltrider's man was draped helplessly over the ropes.

Caltrider, along with Alan Tomlinson, who drew a bye, will fight in the semifinals at Civic center Thursday night. The finals are booked for Thursday night, February 7.

Dansville Beats DeWitt

Dansville stopped DeWitt 62-52 Tuesday night in a non-league game. Dansville played controlled ball all the way and was never in any trouble, though, the lead was never great. Don McCabe came up with a stellar performance, scoring 26 points and taking charge of the backboards. Keith and Kaye Douglas each added 9 points.

Vikings Trip 'Rocks

Lansing Everett reversed an earlier decision by taking Resurrection 49-48 Tuesday night in a non-league encounter. Larry Freleink was the star of the game. He popped in the winning basket in the closing seconds. Jim Beardsley topped the Everett scorers with 15 points. Everett's Ray Bauer was the scoring star of the game. He totaled 27 points with 11 of them coming from the free throw line.

St. Johns Takes Orioles

St. Johns had an easy time with Charlotte Friday night. The Redwings won 72-58. Hoyt DeGroot topped the winners with 18 points. Gregg Allen was high man for Charlotte with 15 points. The Orioles will entertain Eaton Rapids Friday night.

Dansville Gives Alumni a Lesson

Dansville didn't have a game scheduled Friday night but the Aggies kept their eyes sharp by downing an alumni outfit 47-37.

The old grads had a hard time finding the basket. Bill Bravender and Royal Webster paced the alumni attack with 8 points each.

Don McCabe was top man for the varsity with 13 points. Kaye Douglas and Larry Soule each added 8.

The old men couldn't get started. When the first quarter ended the varsity led 11-2. The gap narrowed in the second quarter and in the third both teams came through with 15 points. The last period was just like the first the alumni ran out of gas and the varsity coasted to victory.

Rams Display Shooting Skill In Beating Comets 80-60

Holt continued to pour it on in an attempt to stay at the top of the Capital Circuit heap by dumping Grand Ledge 80-60 Friday night. The Comets were the seventh straight victim of the title-bound Rams.

Friday night the Rams will take on Howell in a game played at Holt. The Highlanders should pose no problem for Coach Danny Hovanessian's crew. The Highlanders have won just 2 games.

They surprised Charlotte Tuesday night and nosed out Mason Friday.

Grand Ledge will play at Everett Friday night. The Comets are probably in for another rough evening.

Tuttle Again Sparkles
Holt's Bob Tuttle was at it again Friday night. The Ram star, listed by many as the top basketball player in the area, dumped in 28 points on 12 field goals and 4 out of 4 free throws. Besides his offensive display he sparked the defense all the way.

Grand Ledge didn't give in easy, though. The Comets pushed the Rams all through the game. Holt took a 17-14 lead in the first quarter and jumped it to 37-28 in the second period.

The Rams won the game in the third quarter. With Tuttle and Don DeChelbor clicking on their shots Holt came up with 23 points. Grand Ledge could add only 10 points to its total.

The Comets regained their form in the last quarter but it was too late.

Even though Tuttle was a standout performer the Ram attack was far from a one-man show. DeChelbor sparked on defense and came up with 18 points and Jack Durfat bagged 16. Don DuBois added 12.

Don Lawther paced the Comet attack with 16 points. Keith Morrill, returning to limited action after a 3-week injury lay-off, scored 15. Jerry Waldrop was next with 12.

FOX

Between Heaven and Hell
Wed. and Thurs.
Love and war have been the basic ingredients of storytellers since the beginning of communication. Twentieth Century-Fox now has combined these 2 elements in its newest CinemaScope production "Between Heaven and Hell." The film takes its figurative title from the delights of love and the horrors of war.

Robert Wagner, Terry Moore, Broderick Crawford and Buddy Ebsen are stars in the film. Much of the picture was photographed on location in the Hawaiian Islands with interiors filmed at the Twentieth Century-Fox Hollywood studios.

Based on Francis Gwaltney's best-seller, "The Day the Century Ended," about a company of Army misfits who made the world change their name to the "Hell-Fighters of the Pacific," this story includes character studies reminiscent of such military themes as "From Here to Eternity" and "The Caine Mutiny."

Fox Friendly Persuasion
Sun., Mon., Tues.
"Friendly Persuasion" is the story of a Quaker couple, Jess and Eliza Birdwell, played by Gary Cooper and Dorothy McGuire, and their 3 children, Perkins, young Richard Eyer and Phyllis Love. It relates how the family suddenly finds its peace and happiness shattered by the backlash of the Civil War.

The picture drives to a dramatic and thrilling climax when Perkins is impelled to forget his Quaker principles and fight in a skirmish against a band of Morgan's raiders. He is wounded in action and Cooper then is forced to his fateful decision of whether he should fight—kill if necessary—to aid his son.

FOX

The Way Out
Friday and Saturday
"The Way Out," an RKO Radio release, stars Gene Nelson and Mona Freeman as the pivotal characters. It tells the drama of a selfish, sensual man who commits murder in a barroom brawl, and of his lovely wife who loyally tries to help him travel the criminal underground route out of the country.

Dogging them in a series of hair-raising escapades is ex-star John Bentley as a detective who blends compassionate tenderness for the wife with pitiless persecution for the hunted criminal.

FOX

The First Texan
Friday and Saturday
A picturization of the long, hard and bitter struggle of the Texans for freedom from Mexico, with Joel McCrea portraying Sam Houston, is "The First Texan," starring Cooper, Dorothy McGuire and Marjorie Main, and introducing Perkins, talented young New York stage actor. It will be at the Fox Sunday and Monday.

Planned on an epic scale and recreating the great Battle of San Jacinto, the crucial conflict which finally won the Lone Star Republic its independence, "The First Texan" is one of the year's major historical dramas.

As the picturesque Tennessee frontiersman, Indian fighter, lawyer and politician who went to Texas seeking peace and quiet and found himself caught up in the Texan revolution, McCrea gives one of his greatest performances.

"The First Texan" shows in detail the various developments as American pioneers and many Mexican settlers sought to free themselves from Mexico and set up a separate Republic.

GARY COOPER finds his son, Anthony Perkins, wounded on the battlefield after the youth has entered the fight to prove to himself that he was not a coward. The dramatic scene is from William Wyler's "Friendly Persuasion," starring Cooper, Dorothy McGuire and Marjorie Main, and introducing Perkins, talented young New York stage actor. Pastor Preaches Final Sermon At Stockbridge

Dr. Frederick G. Behner of the Stockbridge Presbyterian church preached his farewell sermon Sunday. Dr. Behner's ministry of 51 years brought him to Stockbridge in 1942. Instead of retirement, he accepted and met a challenge in Stockbridge.

He increased membership fourfold with the extent of the church's activities being reflected in the increase of the annual budget from $1,716 to $14,000.

The congregation met Sunday evening for a cooperative farewell dinner in the basement of the church. Jesse Batchelor and Herbert Dancer headed the committee with Mrs. Ray Hardt in charge of entertainment. Mrs. Raymond Dancer was in charge of the kitchen and Mrs. Sidney Beckwith and Mrs. Joe Mason had charge of dining room.

A year ago 250 friends came from many parts of the United States to attend a golden anniversary banquet celebrating his 50th year of ordination as a Presbyterian minister.

Self-taught until he was 16, he had passed county examinations at that age to become a teacher, later gaining higher education, taking 7 years work in 5 and graduating as valedictorian of his class.

Accepting an offer to become inspector of schools for the Philippine Islands, he was instrumental in breaking a cholera epidemic while there. He, too, fell prey to the disease. Recovering in Japan, he wrote a report on educational needs, subsequently accepted as his thesis for a masters degree and which brought him to an appointment to North China and led him to his listing in an edition of "Who's Who."

He joined the Presbyterian church while in the Philippines. He returned to the United States, visiting 30 countries enroute and entered seminary upon his return. He has increased the membership of every parish which he has served from 2 to 4 times.

Dr. and Mrs. Behner have been guests at many farewell dinners and parties. They have disposed of their household goods and will go to the Ormond Beach hotel, Ormond Beach, Florida, for the winter.

Dr. Behner is widely known in this area as a public speaker in club and fraternal circles and in churches of other denominations.

Mrs. Peck and Sammy Get Some Extra Rest

This morning I did something I've been wanting to do ever since Christmas vacation. Seems like I was sleepy yet from that week of going and everything. I would have liked to sleep for a week solid! So as soon as the girls were off to school I got back in bed and pulled the covers up to sleep until something made me get out of that bed. . . and it had to be something good!

Sammy sensed my mood for he crawled in beside me and snuggled down like a little mouse. We both went off to dreamland. We had a good old snooze and this afternoon I feel like a different woman.

I had been wondering lately why the old cogs didn't go around so smoothly. Guess there comes a time when we need to stop the clock. . . the time clock, that is. We rush around as though life depended on how much we can squeeze in a day. . . or we think that a certain job has to be done just so.

And maybe something most important of all is how folks always ask the same ones over and over again to do things and work on community and church committees when there are lots of people who would be willing and who could do it just as well. . . or better.

We tend to ask the same ones leaving out those who are willing, but who have sat on the sidelines so long that we don't think of them wanting to or knowing how. They say that the next time you feel that you are indispensable to an organization. . . or that you think that you can do a job a little better than anyone else. . . to stick your finger in a pall of water and see how much of an impression it makes when you pull it out!

"That's what I did this morning and I got a much needed rest-up as a result. I didn't feel selfish about it either. That would go right along with the joys of having a home of your own. It's your castle or whatever you want to call it. . . and you can do just about anything you please in it. . . almost.

Anyway having a nice little snug house on this wintery afternoon gives me a millionaire feeling! How pleasant it is to sit here typing with the smell of beans baking for supper wafting through the house. With Sammy playing putt-putt behind me so healthy and happy. And the girls coming down the road from school with the dogs barking and romping with them. Then Pete in sleep with a cookie handout. Guess I wouldn't put anything

Mothers March in Polio Fund Drive

The 1957 March of Dimes drive reaches its climactic stage Thursday night, January 31, when 5,000 Ingham county women stage their annual Mothers' March on Polio.

The campaign to raise $64,500 hinges on success of the Mothers' March, leaders declared.

Householders in every urban and rural section are urged to turn on porchlights between 7 and 8 p. m. Thursday night to serve as beacons for neighborhood women who plan to call.

Marching mothers will seek contributions as well as distribute information on the need for greater use of Salk vaccine by children and adults up to 50 to prevent paralytic polio.

The 1956 march raised $40,473 within a single hour and this year the mothers hope to raise approximately $50,000.

The annual march is being directed by Mrs. Fred Coryell, Lansing housewife and mother of 2 school-age children. Captains and lieutenants in every city block, village and rural township will assist in the undertaking.

Ernest A. Forch, bank of Lansing cashier and treasurer of the Ingham county March of Dimes, said Ingham still is short for its 1957 goal and generosity of every citizen will be needed to carry on the polio fight. Motto of the 1957 drive is "Let's Finish the Job."

In distributing information on the necessity of more widespread use of Salk vaccine as a preventative of paralytic polio, the mothers will help launch a county-wide vaccination drive scheduled February 4-9.

They will leave questionnaire forms at every home as part of a county-wide survey seeking to determine how many people have obtained the Salk serum. The survey forms will be returned to schools by pupils or may be mailed to the March of Dimes in Lansing. All county school systems, both public and parochial, are cooperating in the survey.

The county-wide vaccination drive will urge both adults and children to consult their own physicians to obtain the serum which has proven safe, effective and is in plentiful supply.

The Salk vaccine came too late last year for 17 Ingham county victims of polio, 2 of whom lost their lives to the disease. March of Dimes aid was extended during the year to 124 polio victims, many of whom were previously stricken but who require continued care on their way back to useful lives.

Area chairmen for the annual Mothers' March include:

Mrs. Nels Ferriby, Mason, for Aurelius, Vevay, Onondaga and Leslie townships.

Mrs. David Diehl, Dansville, for Ingham, Stockbridge, White Oak and Bunker Hill townships.

Mrs. B. Dale Ball, Williamston, for Williamston, Wheatfield, Locke and Leroy townships.

Report of Death Is Made by Son

In last week's Ingham County News was a report of the passing of Al Torrance. No date or place was given.

In a telephone conversation with Roy Torrance of Las Cruces, New Mexico, Tuesday forenoon he said his father died of a heart attack at his home in Covina, California, January 12. When Mrs. Torrance returned to the house after an absence she found the body of her husband lying on the floor.

Funeral services were conducted in Pasadena January 16. The body was cremated.

The son said he had visited his father in California last summer and he was then in good health and spirits. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Torrance have made their home in Las Cruces for many years. Both their daughters are married. One lives in Oregon, another in Iowa. Each has 2 children.

NO WONDER Most Guesses are Hundreds Too High!

If you think this Chieftain Pontiac looks out of place in the low-price field, you've got plenty of company. But there it stands . . . in solidly with the so-called low-priced three—a big, bold, beautiful eye-opener with not a thing to remind you of its very modest cost. Start with looks. Here's the distinction of clean, untruncated, straight-to-the-point Star Flight lines that are built in, not imposed. But it's in the performance department that the price guesses really run wild! Drive it and see for yourself. Pontiac's big 347-cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio V-8 doesn't know what strain is, no matter what you demand of it. New precision-touch handling makes "driving effort" a term only for your memory book. And the Chieftain's 122-inch-wheelbase Level-Line Ride is so smooth that only the passing road signs remind you that you're earth-bound. In fact, nothing in the low-price field even comes close in power, wheelbase or features! If you think all this is beyond your reach, a visit to your Pontiac dealer for a talk about price will put you in that wonderful club of Pontiac owners who have discovered that it's rewriting the book in the low-price field!

Profits Gain Respectability

Unlike many colleges which have used endowments to hire professors to teach the profit system is wrong, Michigan has a college where the reverse is being taught. Hillsdale college is teaching that there's nothing wrong with the profit motive. At Hillsdale young men and young women are being indoctrinated with the theory that the free enterprise system can not exist without profits; that without profits there can be only government jobs, government handouts and complete governmental control.

At a county political convention in Mason a few months ago the keynote speaker declared he knew of no "young professor of sociology or economics who will admit to being a Republican." He was a professor at Michigan State before gaining a federal elective office. After losing that office he is back in his professor's chair. At the convention he told of the infiltration made at Michigan State. Actually he boasted of it.

The fact that Hillsdale college receives its support from gifts and endowments makes it no different than Michigan State. Because Michigan State gets its funds, as do all state colleges, from the men and women, from the corporations who make profits. They get no support from firms which show only losses. There is no other way than taxation of those who make profits to get funds for operating such institutions as Michigan State, the University of Michigan, and the many other state colleges.

Without business profits there could be no colleges, either private or state. Without profits there could be no government except that kind of tyranny which exists in Russia or the kind of state socialism which has crept in elsewhere.

It is strange somehow that within a comparatively few years we have permitted so many exponents of state socialism to take over the teaching of impressionable young men and women. Stranger still that politicians have dared boast about it.

Action of Hillsdale college in reversing the trend is heartening. Among other things it proves again that private schools and colleges deserve better treatment than they have received in Michigan.

Mason Made a Wise Investment

Most Mason residents will agree that the city council acted with wisdom in acquiring the 4 acres of Griffin flats.

The 4 acres lie close to the business section. The site can be used as a park or playground. If the need arises, it can be used for a city hall, a fire station or an elementary school.

Had the city not bought the land it would probably have been sold off piecemeal for building lots. That would have been all right had the lots been suitable. But they are not. They are under water nearly every spring. It would likely have cost taxpayers more for the city at large share of drains and sewers and sidewalks than the $3,200 paid for the land.

If the city council wants to improve the property for park or playground use, fills can be made at small cost.

Incidentally, what should we call the area? It has always been known as Griffin flats. Why not call it Griffin park? It has been in Griffin ownership since the first settlers arrived. The Griffin family for more than 100 years has exerted leadership in this community. The family gave a plot of ground south of the standpipe for a city park. For years it was used only as a gravel pit and dump until the American Legion finally gained permission to use it for the building which went up in smoke 3 years ago.

Now that we have the 4-acre site, let's use it. Let's develop it by laying it out properly and by gradual planting and other improvements.

Mason has made a wise investment. We ought to make good use of it.

Ray Gets Things Done

Ray Whipple of Mason is the new president of the Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance company.

The account of his election appeared last week. In the choice of the Mason man to handle the affairs of a company doing a billion-dollar business in Michigan the directors picked a man who gets things done. Ray Whipple is no theorist. He cut his teeth on a hammer, and learned to use a saw about the time most youngsters his age started to walk. He and his father and brothers and his son worked together, and always worked hard.

The Whipples rebuilt many houses and barns which winds had blown down. They did much work for the Michigan Mutual Windstorm company and from those dealings directors learned that buildings went back up fast when the Whipples followed a tornado, that the Mason men did exactly as they said they would, that Earl and Ray and Buster and Jack were men with good judgment and anxious to work. It was only natural that they turned to Ray when they needed a new president.

Congratulations to Ray for his promotion and congratulations to Michigan Mutual directors for using such good judgment in choosing a president.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Anyway, You'll Die in Comfort

We have taken a long, long look at the new automobile models and have come to the conclusion that the driver of the 1957 car will pay more to kill himself. But he will die in luxury.

If all the horsepower under the streamlined hood sends him to his death against a telephone pole he will have the satisfaction of knowing that the last few moments of his life were spent in the most attractive automobile ever built.

Most manufacturers continue to disregard pleas from safety groups that frills in design be eliminated and safety features substituted but the public doesn't seem to mind. The average car now challenges death with upswep rear fenders, with rocket engines, and with bodies constructed of streamlined metal that bends under the pressure of one's hand.

The new cars will provide more money for the manufacturers, a comfortable living for the dealer, a thrill for the driver, and more business for the undertaker. They will require the services of more plastic surgeons, doctors skilled in mending fractures, of trained ambulance attendants and nurses. They will keep police highway patrols on their toes. Cemetery diggers will get more work.

Also auto towing services and wreckers will benefit. The junk dealers will find business better than ever, all thanks to the ingenuity of the automobile designers, the business sense of the manufacturers and the skilled phrases of the advertising agencies.

Had they combined their skills to produce a reasonably priced vehicle which would carry human beings from one place to another in comfort and safety they would be forcing their customers to save their own lives. This might develop into an unprofitable and unpopular trend. The idea today is to kill yourself in luxury. If you must bleed to death, do it on highly polished chrome and 2-toned slip covers. — Suffolk County News, Sayville, L. I.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Members of the Ingham County News staff, fore and aft, returned to their appointed tasks Monday morning still bubbling with inspiration. They got it from the annual meeting of the Michigan Press association at Kellogg Center.

On the program were the Jones boys, Gordon M. Jones, rector of All Saints church in East Lansing, and Ernest A. Jones, president of MacManus, John & Adam, Inc. That firm spent $500,000 of Pontiac money to take people to the professional championship football game in December. Ernie had the ticket stubs to prove it.

There were good food and good company. One of the most pleasant features of the convention was the acceptance of an award acclaiming the Ingham County News one of Michigan's best newspapers in the "big weekly" bracket. Here at the Ingham County News we have cast aside our usual modesty to call attention to what the judges said. (See opposite page.)

Ben Kuroki of the Williamston Enterprise also received an award. Had there been a class for newspapers making the greatest improvement within a single year Ben and his charming wife would have won a blue ribbon.

In my opinion, Congressman Judd and Ernest Jones were the best speakers with Jones talking shop and Judd talking international politics. Jones told how the passion of advertisers for TV has now cooled into affection, which struck me as being an appropriate remark for human relationships, too.

Jones also pointed out how difficult it is for a man with fixed ideas to cope with conditions in a changing world.

According to Congressman Judd, the United States must either be good enough to cooperate with Asian, African and European nations bent upon change, or savage enough to liquidate them. We taught them to yearn for progress and freedom. We can not expect them to be content with just talking about them.

Kit Clardy went to Kellogg Center to see and hear his former colleague from Minnesota. Kit said that when many congressmen rose in chambers to talk they soon had the place to themselves. Not so with Judd, Kit declared. When word went out that Judd, a former medical missionary to China, was to take the floor the chamber would fill up.

Judd praised Dulles for daring to introduce honesty and decency into international diplomacy. And the congressman explained why it is that big men in big jobs in Washington can accomplish so little. It's because all the intermediate and smaller jobs are filled by time-servers, protected under civil service.

Judd didn't have to point out that civil service here in Michigan has given the people a set of extremely well entrenched and well paid masters.

Judd made a telling point against the seniority system in government—the senility system, he called it. When a man gets senile enough he heads a committee or a department.

Real values gained at a convention are not confined to the official programs. Often the greater value comes from whom you listen to instead of who you listen to. I had good table companions at all meals. Mark Brouwer of the Lansing State Journal was one of them. I knew him away back when he published a weekly paper.

Another interesting and informative banquet table neighbor was Victor Lemmer of Ironwood. He is an expert on mine valuations and came to Lansing to share his knowledge with legislators. Lemmer and Norman Bunker, Ingham county librarian, are friends. Lemmer taught the Ingham librarian how to read well enough to leave Ironwood for Mason.

Lemmer reported 9 feet of snow so far this winter at Ironwood. Eight is about normal for the period, he said. The big job is to find places to pile the snow removed from streets. It used to be dumped down mine shafts until mine owners decided that melting snow rusted the iron ore. This year the snow is being bulldozed into a big pile to form the base for a glacier. It will be started toward Wisconsin April 15.

I came out about even on favors at the convention. I took Ink White of St. Johns a half-gallon of elder jell and received from Bill Myers of Lapeer a supply of maple syrup.

Rankings in the big weekly class gave Lapeer County Press first, the Ingham County News second and the Alma Record third. Bill said he intended giving me the syrup whether or not his paper won first.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Carstens of the Eaton Rapids Journal and Mr. and Mrs. John Gings of the Leslie Local Republican had rooms at Kellogg Center during the convention, and attended all sessions. Both couples were among the more talented dancers at the hall Saturday night.

Chaperoning the Carstens at the convention was one of their handsome daughters, Carol. She's a seventh-grader.

It was a good convention, one of the best, and you may recognize this week some of the improvements which were suggested by experts at Kellogg Center.

Cadillac

His Golden Anniversary at the Wheel!

In Texas, there is a gentleman who is currently driving out his fiftieth year at the wheel of a Cadillac car.

In New Jersey, there is another gentleman who has purchased every yearly model that Cadillac has produced over the past fifty-three years.

These are simply dramatic examples of one of the most remarkable truisms in all motordom: that once a man takes the wheel of a Cadillac, he usually remains at the wheel of a Cadillac!

To be sure, a motor car would have to offer many unique virtues in order to win so generous a place for itself in the affections of so many.

And, in the case of Cadillac, we think these virtues are self-evident.

There is, first of all, quality. No effort of styling or design or craftsmanship is ever spared to make Cadillac the finest possible motor car.

There is beauty and luxury and performance. The car's magnificent styling and interior coachwork have, over the years, brought Cadillac an inbred majesty and elegance that are entirely its own . . . and Cadillac engineering has been the industry's constant inspiration.

Finally, there is reputation. Never in automotive history has another motor car sustained such an abiding public conviction in its own goodness.

And, certainly, these basic Cadillac ingredients have this year reaped their richest harvest.

So whether you've been at the wheel of a Cadillac for half a century . . . or have yet to spend your first hour in the "car of cars" . . . you should see and drive this newest of Cadillacs.

Need we say more?

This Is What Nebraska Judges Say About YOUR NEWSPAPER

EVERY YEAR Michigan's newspapers are judged for general excellence. They are divided into classes according to circulation. Your Ingham County News is in the top circulation class, and quite close to the head of that class, as the accompanying letter shows.

For 1956 your Ingham County News was adjudged to be second in general excellence. Judges chosen by the Nebraska Editorial association wrote this letter which went with the award.

THIS IS your newspaper. The staff of the Ingham County News recognizes that without your support there could have been no prize worth having, nor any newspaper at all, for that matter.

Every reader, every advertiser, every contributor of news, has earned a share in this award. It's an accomplishment in which we all can take pride.

NEWSPAPER EXPERTS from Nebraska were judges of Michigan newspapers for 1956. They wrote the letter which is reproduced above. This newspaper has won other prizes – first, second and third – in other years. There are many good newspapers in Michigan, several in this county. And there are many judges. Six thousand copies of the Ingham County News are laid before judges every week – for the judgment of readers and advertisers. You are one of the judges.

Janet: You know, I hate to admit it but I don't feel very bright today. How about you?
Zim: Oh! I'm sharp as a tack!
Janet: Alright then, you write the ad this week—I haven't an idea in my head.
Zim: How about more wallpaper? I could write 2 or 3 ads on that.
Janet: One will be enough, we've already pretty well covered it last week and week before.
Zim: I don't remember that we said anything about guarantee of washable wallpaper for kitchens and bathrooms of the same low price.
Janet: You mean the bundle price.
Zim: And we didn't mention how effective simulated brick patterned wallpaper can be in an Early American kitchen and how often the pine pattern is used on walls as kitchen and breakfast nook dividers.
Janet: My goodness you're just full of ideas today aren't you? I guess I'll go upstairs, you exhaust me!
Zim: Coward! Running out on me when I just nicely got warmed up.
Janet and Zim together: Nothing takes the place of wallpaper, folks, except new wallpaper. Come in and see the new patterns.

THE MEASURE OF CIVILIZATION

Some folks judge civilization's progress by the kind of houses they live in.

Others point toward the giant strides of science or industry—or the striking advance of music, art, and literature.

Yet civilization is perhaps best measured by the kind of people it produces.

Picture a man who respects the dignity and rights of others, and who looks with compassion on human suffering. He is guided in all things by an abiding love for God. His moral stamina never ebbs. His spiritual courage grows stronger.

Multiply this man by the thousands... by the millions... and you'll see a civilization higher and greater than has ever existed.

The Church is the one great institution that devotes itself to the development of man's character and spirit. As long as it continues to thrive, we can expect our civilization to flourish and progress. Help extend the influence of the Church—give it your support, make it a part of your life!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible, daily.

Local 4-H Club Leaders Will Meet at Conference

Youths in 4-H club work receive many honors, but now it's time to recognize the volunteer adults who make the 4-H program possible—the local leaders.

Three hundred Michigan 4-H leaders will convene on the Michigan State university campus March 2 and 3 at the first annual 4-H leaders' conference. It will be a get-together of local 4-H club leaders from every county in Michigan, explained Russell Mawby, state 4-H club leader.

Mawby described the leadership as "an old, long-cherished idea coming to reality." Its purpose, he pointed out, is to give recognition to local leaders, to exchange ideas, to provide discussion on 4-H leadership and to give inspiration to local leaders.

Sponsored by the State 4-H Council, the cooperative extension service and the Michigan 4-H Club Foundation, the 2-day session will be attended by 2 delegates from every county. Counties with larger numbers of local leaders will send additional delegates.

Held at Kellogg Center, the leadership conference will open Saturday, March 2. That morning will feature idea-swap sessions and get-acquainted groups. Following the luncheon will be an afternoon of discussion sessions. The evening banquet will be sparked by 4-H talent and a "stem-winding" nationally known speaker.

On Sunday more discussion groups will meet. A summary of the meet will be after dinner when Mawby will point up the highlights of the conference.

Machines Cut Work In Beets

Mechanization has drastically reduced labor requirements for sugar beet harvesting. Weed control and plant thinning still require considerable labor in the spring and summer, according to C. A. Coryell, secretary-treasurer of the Monitor Sugar Beet division at Bay City.

Coryell spoke to Michigan sugar beet growers at Tuesday afternoon session of Farmers' Week. The week-long program is being held on Michigan State university campus this week.

He reports that spring planting requires less labor than it did years ago. But, better drainage and mechanization have shortened the planting season to keep pressure on labor supply.

To reduce this pressure, farmers and manufacturers will cooperate with MSU in a long term research project. Better weed control and field germination will be the program's main objectives.

The Ingham County News

Part 4

Country & Town

By Jim Brown

There was a time when I could identify every person living in Mason and could offer a family pedigree unto the third generation. But with the stir of population growth upon us, names and pedigrees come slower. Familiar faces are only occasional.

Take last Thursday for instance.

I knew I didn't know the stylish woman who stepped out of Mrs. Gerald VanSingel's car parked in front of the Ingham County News office. Her style, poise and dignity marked her at once as something out of the ordinary. Remembering that the movie star, Eva Marie Sainte, is a close friend of Mrs. VanSingel, I immediately thought of Little Eva. A quick phone call to my wife (she knows her stars better than I do) indicated that perhaps the Mrs. "X" who by this time had entered George's market with Mrs. VanSingel could be Eva Marie Sainte.

Within minutes the story of the visiting "movie star" had spread to Mrs. Winston Dancer. She and Mrs. VanSingel are neighbors and my wife thought perhaps Mrs. Dancer ought to know about the distinguished visitor.

As the 2 women talked, Mrs. VanSingel and the "movie star" drove past the Dancer home and into the VanSingel drive.

Mrs. Dancer ran to the window to see for herself.

The "movie star" was Mrs. Lowell Robinson, a neighbor of Mrs. Dancer and Mrs. VanSingel. The 2 had gone to the business district for groceries.

While I was a little disappointed to find that Eva Marie wasn't really in Mason, I sure am tickled to know that Mrs. Robinson looks like Eva Marie and even happier that she lives in Mason.

Things are looking up.

One honest John Tompkins, a hedger and ditcher, although he was poor, did not want to be richer; for all such vain wishes in him were prevented by a fortunate habit of being contented.

Another stylish woman (who ought to be men's editor) is Virginia Baird, Lansing State Journal women's editor. She and I broke bread together at the Michigan Press association convention in East Lansing Friday. Oh, there were others there, too, but I sat across from Virginia. Her recipes will taste even better now that I know who does the cooking.

Bob Ware claims the Mason-Chicago trip is faster by hitting the Indiana turnpike at Angola instead of Sturgis. I've never been to Angola. I was married in Evanston.

Four editors who attended the press convention agreed that Mrs. Ray Peck's column, Farmer Peck's Wife, is one of the most popular features in their papers. Editors who endorsed Mrs. Peck were from St. Johns, Lapeer, Ithaca and Mason.

Farmer or not, take time to see the exhibits at Farmers' Week at Michigan State university this week. If farming is your business, the information which can be gained will be valuable to you.

Conventions can be beneficial. We even learned how to write better want ads at the press convention. We saw a few new tricks for turning out good job work, for taking better pictures and for writing more interesting news. Farmers' Week can be just as beneficial for farmers... straighter rows... more production... lower costs... more money.

Soil Care Pays Off For New Corn Prince

DAVID LUX, 18, of Shelbyville, Indiana, the new Corn Prince, maintained an old family tradition when he won top honors at the recent International Grain and Hay Show in Chicago.

David is a third-generation champion in the family. His grandfather, Peter J. Lux, started it all back in the 1920's when he won the Corn King title four times. David's father Maurice, was Corn Prince twice and David Lux, the new Corn Prince his Uncle Frank, also a former Corn Prince, was named reserve grand champion corn grower at the 1956 international show. The Lux family attribute their corn growing success to careful seed selection, good management and soil fertility.

This year, David's prize winning corn was grown on a 5-acre field he had entered in the 1956 Indiana 5-acre corn growing contest. The seed was an Indiana Certified Hybrid, No. 8-44-D. Altogether, the Luxes had 115 acres in hybrid seed corn last season on the family's 400-acre farm in Shelby County, Ind. On most fields, the yields averaged better than 120 bushels per acre. Over the years the soil fertility level has been built up and maintained by adding manure, crop residues and plenty of mixed fertilizer.

Social Security can never take the place of that inner security which comes from faith and good works.

Congress Is Waiting for Corn Bill

They're lots of potatoes... Drinking habits of cows... Two chickens for every pot... Too many turkeys... Wheat price leads loan value.

The administration's corn plan for this year is expected to go to congress soon. It's expected to call for a 3-year program to coincide with expiration of the soil bank acreage reserve. The plan will call for a base acreage of 51 million acres in the commercial corn area (14 million more than in the acreage allotment program voted by growers in the December referendum).

Supports at not less than 70% of parity will be available to growers who put at least 15% of their base acreage in the soil bank—either the acreage or conservation reserve. Corn supports this year are expected to be around $1.31 a bushel if the administration's proposal is accepted by congress. That would figure out at about 74% of parity and would be 19c lower than the 1956 rate to those who cooperated.

Some observers figure that the corn program might have some tough sledding getting through congress. It faces some opposition from the south which feels that corn growers got the preferred treatment last year. In addition, because this is one bit of legislation which the administration has marked as urgent, there will be attempts to add amendments to it by supporters of special interests. So, it may take some time to get an acceptable bill through both houses of congress. And delay might become a serious point. For maximum cooperation farmers will have to know before too long just what kind of corn plan is to be offered.

How much water does a cow drink? The National Livestock Producer magazine conducted a study on this recently. It found that the average 100-pound steer consumes 5,000 gallons of water or 41 times its weight before it reaches market condition. Here are some other conclusions the magazine reports:

Cattle do most of their drinking in the forenoon and late afternoon as long as the temperature is below 80 degrees.

At temperatures of 90 degrees or above, cattle drink every 2 hours or oftener.

Halving the feed ration of cattle also cuts their water consumption in half.

Cattle seldom obtain more than a third of a gallon of water from their daily dry feed ration.

Cattle on succulent feed such as silage or pasture require measurably less water.

A 1000-pound steer or heifer gaining the normal pound a day on range requires 7 gallons at 40 degrees, 10 gallons at 70 degrees and 17 gallons when the temperature is 90.

Michigan potato growers and dealers had 7 million bushels of fall potatoes on hand January 1.

over the loan rate in many sections of the country. Farmers are selling their 1956 crop rather than keep it under loan. The story is different with corn, however. The CCC is expected to take over 460 to 480 million bushels of 1956 crop corn and more storage rooms (bins) will be needed, particularly in Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana and Illinois.

Unless chickens raised for laying flocks are reduced 8%, egg prices next fall and winter are likely to be lower than those of a year earlier.

Indications are that the turkey crop for 1957 may be 84 million birds, an increase of 10% over last year. If this number of turkeys are moved to market, prices will probably be substantially lower than in 1956.

The April-June 1957 period may offer lower prices for broilers than in 1956. January-March prices may be slightly higher, up 3 to 5 cents over the December level.

These forecasts were made by a newly-formed national group of college economists called the "Poultry Survey Committee." It's sponsored by members of the American Feed Manufacturers association.

MISCELLANY Heavy rains (up to 16 inches in a 24-hour period) recently damaged winter vegetables seriously in 2 important growing areas in Florida. The flooding means a temporary shortage of many vegetables from that area until growers can replant.

The final tabulation on the corn referendum held last De-

Oesterle Herd Reaches High Peak

By M. H. Avery
County Agricultural agent

No doubt most of you read last week the report of the Ingham county dairy banquet at Leslie which recognized high herds in the county. The Hugh Oesterle and Son herd was high for the year with a record of 605 pounds of fat for its herd average. Did you know that there were only 3 herds in the state last year that reached this high pinnacle of 600 or more pounds of fat for their herd averages.

It seems to me the most important thing about this high herd average is that the Oesterles, over a period with records dating back to 1929, have built practically all of their herd from their offspring using high-producing sires and good dairy practices to make this increase. In 1929 their herd had 6 cows with an average milk production per cow of 2,695 pounds and 280 pounds of butterfat.

They have continued in the Ingham-Williamston Dairy Herd Improvement association since that time with almost continuous increase in pounds of milk and butterfat over the years.

This program has been built through careful selection of herd sires, culling of low-producing animals and by paying close attention to management practices on the farm and in the herd.

Hugh and Bob, in partnership on a 50-50 basis on the farm, operate a total of 157 acres, 140 acres of which they do not work outside land at the present time and find that with 31 cows and doing a good job of caring for them is a full-time job for both families. Hugh said that their farm is completely tiled; that over the period of years with their large herd of dairy animals they have put back a lot of barnyard manure and plowed down green manure to improve their crop yields. Along with this they use additional amounts of commercial fertilizer to balance their soil for good crop yields.

I asked Hugh if in 1956 they had changed their practices very much over previous years to get increased yields and he said that they had not. For example in 1952 they had a herd average of 582 pounds of butterfat and then through herd difficulties had dropped down below that for the past succeeding 3 years and then this year back up to their high record. However their herd has been above 500 pounds of fat for the past 7 years.

Because of the small acreage of land which they have at the present time they are doing mostly barn or barnlot feeding of their cattle. In 1956 they pastured only 12 acres of land and the rest of the feed came from barn or barnlot feeding. They filled 2 large silos with grass silage in the spring of 1956 for summer feed then refilled these silos with corn for winter silage.

Hugh emphasized the good hay made by using a hay crusher to help in drying the hay to make it more palatable and then chopping in the field and putting the hay in the barn dry. He says he gets good results with this process.

In addition to the hay and silage the cows get grain according to the pounds of milk which they produce each day.

I believe that one of the reasons for the success of the Oesterle herd is the careful attention paid to disease spread and the good health practices carried out on the farm. Because of this careful consideration in regard to management of health practices the Oesterles have more cows staying in the herd a longer time than most farmers. It is not only longevity developed in the strain of cows but the fact that udders are not ruined by disease, especially mastitis.

In this connection Bob has arranged a dairy cart which he moves down the aisle behind the cows at milking time and carefully washes each cow's udder with water containing a disinfectant. He also wears rubber gloves to be sure that he does not carry any infection from one cow to the next. On a visit to the Oesterle farm last spring with a class from Michigan State university we found that the Oesterles had a number of third, fourth and fifth-generation cows in the herd as a result of their careful selection of cows which were producing good offspring of acceptable type.

In addition to considering the herd program I think it is also important that we consider the community activities of the Hugh Oesterle family. Many of you know that for a long period, 16 years to be exact, Hugh was leader of a large 4-H club in the Vantown area. This club under his guidance grew from a small group of 15 members to some 75 members before Hugh turned it over to a young leader about 4 years ago.

For the past 3 years, Hugh has continued on the 4-H council. Over a period of years Hugh and Mrs. Oesterle have been members of the Vantown church where Mrs. Oesterle is active in church programs. For 3 years he was a director on the Farm and Home Administration county board; and before the Webberville bank combined with the Williamston bank he was a director of the Webberville bank. Mr. Oesterle helped organize the first Farm Bureau in his community and is still a member of the organization.

Coming back to the dairy herd for a moment, the Oesterles through their careful breeding program have been able to sell excess females for helping other dairy farmers develop herds as well as some fine bulls which have been spread throughout this part of the territory to improve the herds into which they have gone.

Ingham county and the surrounding area owes much to a family that will stay as close to a herd and develop it as carefully as the Oesterles have done over this long period of time.

Self-Feeding Cows Lack Control of Feed Rations

Balanced dairy rations are next to impossible to control when self-feeding silage, claims C. F. Huffman, dairy researcher at Michigan State university.

He told a Farmers' Week group of dairymen that the solution to a balanced ration is a modification of the self-feeding program. "And, when you do this, it is no longer a self-feeding program," he declared.

"Problem is that dairymen have no control over the cow's silage, or hay, intake. This is an important consideration especially with high producers."

And, unless you know what the cow is eating, and how much, it is next to impossible for you to balance the ration with protein supplement and home-grown grain, he added.

When silage is self-fed, it is also important for dairymen to keep their animals away from silage for 2 hours before milking time. If it isn't done, milk off-flavors can develop, he said.

Six Herds Get Honors At Farm Week

Six herds were honored at Farmers' week for having an average of 500 pounds butterfat over a period of 5 years. These herds were Hugh Oesterle and Son, Webberville, with a fat average of 531.7 pounds for the 5 year period; 13,782 pounds of milk with 30.58 average cows in the herd; J. H. Chamberlain, Leslie, 531.5 pounds fat, 13,543 pounds milk and 17.12 cows per herd; John Ellsworth, Mason, 523.7 pounds of fat, 14,372 pounds milk with 20.5 cows in the herd.

Ernest Shaw, Okemos, with 521.9 pounds of fat, 13,745 pounds milk and 20.4 cows; W. C. Wright Williamston, Will-Ru Farm, with 113.6 pounds fat, 13,527 pounds milk and 41 cows; and Russell Kleis of Lansing township, 501.5 pounds fat, 12,783 pounds milk and 10.74 cows.

For 1956 the state had 735 herds on I.B.M. in D.H.I.A. work averaging 25.4 cows per herd and 10,594 pounds of milk and 403 pounds of fat. Ingham county's 81 herds on I.B.M. averaged 27.1 cows, produced 11,899 pounds of milk and 451 pounds of fat.

There were 93 herds in the state making 13,069 pounds and above in milk for 1956. Ingham county had 31 herds making this amount, or 33 per cent of the state herds. There were 3 herds in the state that made over 600 pounds of fat; Ingham county had one or 33 per cent of the state number. There were 7 herds in the state making 550 to 600 pounds of fat. Ingham county had 3 or about 43 per cent of the state herds.

There were 40 herds in the state making 500 to 550 pounds of fat. Ingham county had 13 or about 30 per cent of those in the state and there were 127 herds in the state making 450 to 500 pounds of fat. Ingham county had 30 herds or about 25 per cent of the herds in the state.

This testifies to the excellent cows in Ingham county and to the testing program which is being carried out. However, more herds should be on test and it is hoped this program can be improved.

Life flows on like a river—sometimes smoothly and majestically, sometimes over rapids and waterfalls, churning itself into foam—sometimes thru beautiful forests, lush fields, or barren deserts.

Warren Childs Dairy Herd Has Top December Average

Rabbit Hunting Ends January 31

Rabbit hunting season ends January 31 in the southern Lower Peninsula, but hunters in northern portions of the state will have another month of shooting.

Snowshoe hares and rabbits are legal game through March 1 in the northern Lower Peninsula and all of the Upper Peninsula.

The cottontail rabbit each year claims the title as Michigan's most popular small game animal. During the 1955-56 season, hunters bagged more than 1,600,000 rabbits and another 284,000 snowshoe hares.

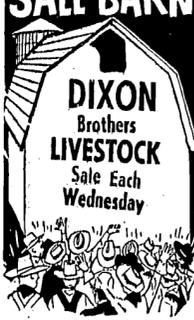

Even with heavy hunting pressure, cottontail populations continue to increase because the number bagged by hunters is far below annual rabbit production.

Trainer Shows Students How to Avert Car Crashes

Whether an impending highway crash turns into another disaster or a near miss may depend on a driver's behind-the-wheel prowess the instant after the emergency develops.

In this split-second interval, many drivers act instinctively—and often what they do is wrong. Some panic, let go of the wheel. Still others freeze, do nothing.

While thousands of youths are taught to drive in the nation's high schools, they get precious little instruction in meeting highway emergencies.

Limited surveys of driver education programs show that trained drivers have far fewer accidents than those with no training. Good as this record is, many safety educators—like Dr. Herbert J. Stack of the Center for Safety Education at New York University—believe it would be even better if drivers were taught what to do in highway emergencies. Staging crash situations with real cars to give student drivers practice in meeting emergencies on the highway would give any driver education instructor nightmares. Obviously, such a program was out of the question.

Now, however, many student drivers are receiving this vital training, thanks to a revolutionary classroom training device called the Aina Drivotrainer, which is being used in an increasing number of high schools throughout the country.

CRASH DRILLS in Drivotrainer classroom, where 15 students can be instructed at a time free of on-the-road driving hazards, teach students proper way to get out of common highway emergencies like this.

No Risk in Drivotrainer

But with the Drivotrainer, special movies that show a driver's eye view of the road ahead bring the highways into the classroom where beginning drivers—without risk to themselves or others—can learn how to avert a crash.

In the Drivotrainer, which was developed by the Aina Casualty and Surety Company, students take their behind-the-wheel training in small model cars which they learn to "drive" on highways shown on a huge movie screen the same as they would appear through the windshield of a real car.

While the Drivotrainer course covers everything from basic skills like steering and shifting to more complex techniques like parallel parking and making U and Y turns, one of the 19 special training films is devoted wholly to emergency training.

In this part of the course, students experience a nerve-ringing series of potential accident situations on the Drivotrainer's movie highways and are drilled in the behind-the-wheel maneuvers that will avoid a crash. By doing what cannot be done with conventional training methods, the Drivotrainer will help future motorists to do spontaneously the thing that will avert an accident when they're on real highways.

First used in the New York City schools, the Drivotrainer has since been introduced in Los Angeles, Oak Park, Ill., Oklahoma City, Dearborn and Lansing, Mich., Springfield, Mo., Fort Collins, Colo., Waterloo and Mason City, Ia., Freeport and East Meadow, N.Y.

If You're Like Me

You've read about "probation" and "parole" for persons convicted of a crime . . . but you didn't know the details of how the system works.

This is really a scientific matter and I may not have the whole story but, as I understand it, this is about the way it works.

After a person is convicted, the probation and parole officers investigate the circumstances of the offense for which he or she was convicted. They also look into the character and background of the offender and make their report to the court or the parole board. After it gets the report, the court decides whether to put the offender in jail, set a fine, or prescribe probation.

Probation and parole are much more than a gesture of leniency. Only good risks are granted probation and parole. Each case demands supervision that is designed to meet the needs of the individual. Supervision amounts to firm, friendly and understanding help given one human being by another; replacement in normal circumstances so far as is possible, with a job, a home and wholesome recreation. Along with this goes the discipline of living up to the conditions set by the court.

While the main purpose of probation is to adjust offenders to the family unit and to community standards, and to protect society, there is nothing to lose in probation from a dollars and cents standpoint.

Here are some figures: The average cost for care in a correctional institution is about $1,500 per year per inmate. The actual cost of probation in criminal courts now ranges from $20 to around $150 per case per year.

Read Psalm 19.
We are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works. (Ephesians 2:10.)

With reference to the word workmanship one translator points out that the word in Greek is poi-ema, meaning "poem," a thing made. In other words, we are God's handiwork, God's poems.

Words do not make poetry but poets do. Before God's Spirit can make poems out of us, we must be as ready to be put to use as the words in our language are. At the call of the poet, they leave their common, ordinary usage, and are transformed into the lovely beauty of a poem, "written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God."

The skylark, the village blacksmith, the marshes of Glynn—who would remember these but for the poems which immortalize them?

If we are to be worth anything in eternity, we must be as pliable in God's hands as words are in the poet's. Our lives will be a mere jumble of words without rhyme or reason unless we submit ourselves into His hands. Only then will He arrange them.

PRAYER
Dear God, we thank Thee that we do not need to be self-made men, but that Thou Thyself dost desire to refashion us according to Thy will. We pray Thee to make plain Thy will for us, and grant that we may allow Thee to use us according to Thy will and purpose. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Am I letting God make a poem of me?
Werner G. Marx (Honduras)

That doesn't tell the whole story, of course, but the amount saved by Michigan taxpayers each year through the proper use of probation is in the millions.

Cultivation Is Needed to Kill Weeds

Chemical weed control will help farmers do a more efficient and economical job than in the past, but they will still have to cultivate.

Milt Erdmann, Michigan State university farm crops specialist, explained a weed control program to farmers at a farm crops meeting at the Farmers' Week program on the MSU campus.

Clean seed, minimum seed bed preparation, good cultivation practices for row crops, and even the hoeing of weeds to keep them from going to seed are important parts of a weed control program, Erdmann told farmers.

For chemical weed control in row crops, Erdmann recommends the following applications: Corn, 2, 4-D ester at 1 lb per acre; field beans and soybeans, dinitro at 3-4 lb per acre; sugar beets, TCA at 8-10 lb per acre (for annual grassy weeds); and potatoes, dinitro at 3-4 lb per acre or 2, 4-D ester at 1 lb per acre.

All of these chemicals should be applied as pre-emergence sprays.

For oats and barley with no forage seeding, apply 2, 4-D amine at 3/4 to 1 lb per acre or MCP at 3/4 to 1 lb per acre when the grain is 4-8 inches tall. Use the same spray in the spring for wheat and barley.

For alfalfa seeded in oats or barley, spray with MCP at 3/4 lb per acre when the grain is 6-8 inches tall.
