High Drain Costs Stir Supervisors

A precedent was set at the Monday meeting of the Ingham county board of supervisors' meeting at the county court house. The board will no longer ball out the drain commission when preliminary engineering costs exceed the $400 limit.

With this petition the commissioner is authorized to start the study costing up to $400. In the case of the 2 before mentioned drains, costs for Cooldige exceed the $400 limit by $167 and for the Eberly costs were over the $400 limit by $4,958.

Robert Robinson, Meridian township supervisor, said he couldn't understand how $5,000 could be spent on a drain when no actual work had begun, much less having had no public hearing.

The correct procedure is for a petition to be presented, a preliminary study made of the proposed drain area, a public hearing held and then the complete engineering plans drawn up.

Gilbert C. Glover, Ingham supervisor, said in the case of the Cooldige drain the $8,000 included the entire cost of engineering with the survey, construction drawing plus the specifications.

The catch was that the drain commission had proceeded without conducting the public hearing.

"We are paying for a complete study rather than a preliminary one even before we have a public hearing," Harold Slater, Lansing township supervisor, said. "I wouldn't object if only a preliminary study had been conducted followed by a public hearing, but this isn't the way things go."

Glover, who is chairman of the drain committee, said the supervisors had no authority over the drain commissioner and could only advise the commissioner or provide money to bail him out.

Donald Reisig, county prosecuting attorney, said the legality of the drain and costs is a matter of individual cases, but that the board could not bail out a district. The cost of the engineering had to be assessed against the district or the drain petitioners, he said.

"I can't see the alternative of reaching into the public pocket to pay for a particular drain," Reisig said.

In a vote of 21 to 14 the supervisors approved a resolution to assess the Cooldige costs against the petitioners. For the Eberly drain, the costs were levied against the district.

To prevent a continual drain on the county's revolving fund, supervisors passed a resolution about 6 months ago requiring that a check of $500 accompany any petition for drain improvements. The Cooldige and Eberly drains are 2 that were started before this resolution was adopted.

City Council Hides Away For 3 Hours

The Mason police officer, the city clerk, the city treasurer, the superintendent of public works, a citizen and 2 newspaper reporters twiddled their thumbs in a barren city council chamber at the city hall last Monday night while the city fathers hid themselves away in secret session.

For 180 minutes by the clock they struggled behind closed doors and then, like the mountain, produced a mouse.

The police chief, city treasurer and superintendent of public works were on hand because they are required to attend by law. The city clerk was present to record the minutes of the session and the 2 news representatives were attempting to represent the people by reporting any happenings at the meeting.

Once out of the closed door session all the business of the evening was conducted in a fleeting 15 minutes.

Following the lengthy closed door gathering the council emerged to give a nod of approval to a proposed 84-unit mobile home park which is being promoted by Don VanderVeen of Mason.

Permission was granted for the building permit issuance.

The park is to be located west of US-127 on the north side of Columbia street inside the city limits.

Covering 11 acres with all utilities to be underground, the park construction cost is estimated at $100,000. Approval by the health department of the park plans was received last week.

Bids were opened for a new air compressor and tamper for the city with 4 companies submitting prices. The bids were referred to committee for study.

An $800 budget expenditure for emergency sirens and lights for the volunteer firemen's vehicles was also approved at the meeting. Hugh Silsby, fire chief, was authorized to make the purchase.

Resolutions for the purchase of snow removal equipment were also approved.

In reply to a letter from the Mason board of education requesting a joint meeting with the council to consider the closing of Oak street, the council asked the police chief to consult with the superintendent about traffic controls and report back if any new problems should arise.

The Ingham Intermediate School Study committee has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, September 28 in the cafeteria of Okemos high school at 8 p.m. to consider the transfer of certain school areas of the county to other school districts. The proposed transfers would include:

Business Changes Hands

The Modern Cleaners of Mason, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bement for 13 years, will change hands on October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ackerman, who lived in Mason in 1962 and 1963, will take over the reins from the Bements. This past week the Ackermans established their residence in Mason in the same home on Elm street in which they lived before.

The first time the Ackermans came to Mason he was an employee of General Motors corporation and Mrs. Ackerman worked for the Ingham County News.

With the purchase of the Modern Cleaners, the Ackermans are following an old family trade tradition. Mr. and Mrs. Bement will help at the cleaners until the new owners become accustomed to the operation.

Kiwanis Sale Big Success

A profit in the neighborhood of $1,500 is expected from the Friday and Saturday Kiwanis rummage sale staged in the police building.

Expected lines of people waiting to snatch up bargains offered at the 7th annual sale materialized on the first day for the early bird beginning at 7 a.m. By Friday afternoon a relatively small amount of merchandise remained.

Thousands of items were on display for the 2 day extravaganza including such things as a milk cape, enough house hold furnishings to fill up 3 houses, television sets and any number of odds and ends.

Success hasn't gone to the Club's head. An auction to clean up the remaining rummage sale items will be held next Tuesday night at 7 p.m. in the police building on S. Jefferson. Arthur Good will be the auctioneer.

Proceeds for the sale are earmarked for the benefit of the Mason area. Profits are tentatively slated for helping less fortunate boys and girls in the area; recreation for crippled children and aid for various youth activities.

County Would Buy Land Near Jail

The county may acquire some new land in the near future.

At the Monday meeting of the Ingham county board of supervisors the building and grounds committee was asked to investigate the possibility of buying a parcel of land on N. Cedar street.

Located directly in front of the county's new $1.75 million jail, the property is owned by Arthur Jewett of Mason.

This action was prompted when Joe Kiersey, Delhi supervisor, complained of the weed over-growth hiding the new sheriff's residence.

At first supervisor's considered asking the Mason city council to see that the weeds were cut, but after some discussion decided it might be a good idea for the county to try and purchase the land.

Board members felt that commercial buildings would probably be constructed on the site in the future, hiding the jail facility. For the time being the building grounds committee will consult with Jewett and see if the weeds can be chopped down.

In other business a new position of circuit court officer-research clerk for Ingham county was created. The term of office is limited to one year and requires a law degree.

Referred to the zoning committee was a proposed zoning change for 107 lots in Meridian township. The creation of a planning commission in Delhi township was approved.

Appointments for various office terms which are to expire December 31, 1965 were approved by the supervisors' board of social welfare. Da-

Kiwanians worked throughout the year collecting, sorting and fixing up all the donated articles so the sale would be success.

As an added attraction a bake goods and snack stand was manned by the wives of Kiwanis club members. Now the event is over, club members are already anticipating next year's sale and wondering which items sold this year will come back for re-sale in 1966.

Casualty in Viet Nam War Strikes Home, Mason Youth Shot

The war in the rice paddies, jungles and mountains of Viet Nam struck home to Mason this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan, 3385 W. Kipp road, were advised by the American Red Cross, September 13 that their son, Pfc Robert Jordan Jr., 19, of the United States Marines was wounded in the foot during a skirmish near Dnang airforce base September 9.

He was brought to the naval hospital at Great Lakes, Illinois where he is under treatment. He is the first Mason casualty from the war zone.

Jordan was shot in the foot and the bullet came out at the ankle. He is expected to be hospitalized for several weeks. Mrs. Jordan spent last weekend with her son at the hospital. His father is physically handicapped.

He had served in Viet Nam for about 3 or 4 months. Prior to that he had served several months on Okinawa.

Jordan enlisted in the Marines in February 1964, but did not enter service until June of that year after he graduated from Mason high school.

He was born in Lansing but moved to the Mason area and attended the Harper and Kipp elementary schools before enrolling in Mason high school.

PFC. ROBERT JORDAN

He was flown from Viet Nam to Clark Airforce Base in the Philippines and later from there to Great Lakes. His parents were advised of his arrival at Great Lakes by the commander of the station there on September 16. He arrived there September 15.

His father said his Marine buddy in the Ranger troop with which they served was killed in action one day before Jordan was wounded.

Among Semi-Finalists

2 Mason High Seniors in Line For Coveted Merit Scholarships

Principal Robert Prudon announced today, that 2 seniors at Mason High School have been named Semifinalists in the 1965-66 Merit Scholarship competition.

The students cited for their high achievement are Margaret Bolton and Andrew Gilpin.

They are among the highest-scoring students in the state of Michigan on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, administered last March in over 17,600 schools nationwide. More than 14,000 Semifinalists were appointed across the country.

To become Finalists, the students must substantiate their qualifying test performance on a second examination, submit recommendations by their schools, and fulfill routine requirements. All Merit Scholars for 1966 will then be selected from the Finalist group.

"Much of our future leadership will come from these young people," said John M. Stalaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. "Semifinalists are representative of our country's most intellectually able young people."

"In honoring them, we should remember that others have contributed significantly to their success by encouraging the characteristics which produce high achievement, including energy and hard work. The Semifinalists bring honor not only to themselves, but also to their families, their teachers, and their communities."

To increase their opportunities for financial assistance if they need it, NMSC sends the names of semifinalists to all regionally accredited colleges and universities and to other scholarship-granting agencies and sources of financial aid. Studies show that about half of the Semifinalists in former years have obtained financial aid from sources other than the Merit Program.

At least 97 percent of past Semifinalists have become Finalists. Each Finalist receives a Certificate of Merit in recognition of his outstanding performance in the program. Finalists are eligible for scholarships sponsored by NMSC and over 280 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations, other organizations, and individuals.

Names of the Merit Scholars chosen from among the Finalists will be announced about April 27, 1966. The exact number will depend on the extent of sponsor support. In 1965, over 2000 Merit Scholarships were awarded.

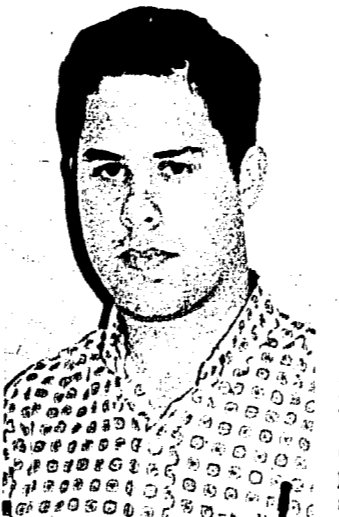

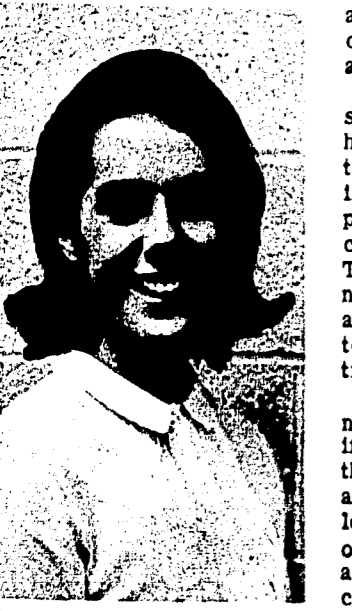

High school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and school citizenship of the students are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting Merit Scholars. Winners of sponsored awards also meet sponsor criteria.

Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award covering the undergraduate college years. The winner's stipend is tailored to his need, up to a maximum of $6000 for the four years in most cases. For the student already financially able to attend the college of his choice, the award is $400 for the four years. Winners choose their own colleges and courses of study.

In many cases, the colleges attended by Merit Scholars also receive supplementary grants accompanying the scholarships.

More than 11,000 students won Merit Scholarships in the first decade of the program, which was founded in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Supervisors Approve Council Watershed Idea

The proposed Grand River Watershed council gained another supporter following the Monday meeting of the Ingham county board of supervisors.

Up to as many as 48 governmental units including Mason are expected to participate in the council which would replace the Grand River Watershed committee. Formation of the council is subject to the approval of the Michigan Water Resources commission.

Jerrold H. Keyworth, vice chairman of the committee, informed the supervisors of the council's purpose which is to clean up the Grand River and all the tributaries flowing into it.

"The importance of a clean water supply for private uses and to service industry is of great importance to the future of the Grand River valley and the state as a whole," he said.

Only 3 governmental unit's support is necessary to bring such a proposition before the Michigan Water Resources commission, but Keyworth noted that he already had the approval of over 30 such units. Should the council be established it would include 17 counties and would be governed by a 174-member board made up of representatives from the local governments.

Remember the last day to turn in your centennial stock at either the Dart National bank or the Mason State bank is September 30. About half of the outstanding stock has already been turned in.

Names Added

Additional names have been drawn from the hat to bolster the jury list for the September term of Circuit Court.

They include Kenneth Bar-to, city of Mason; Virginia Ketchum, city of Williamston; Ethel Thorburn, Alaledon township; Mabel Akers, Aurelius township; Goldie Skirpan, Bunker Hill township; Charles Cooley, Delhi township, and Mrs. Rodney Felton, Ingham township.

We must vote yes on the school bond issue, because of the necessity of improvements at the Junior High School, and the need for more classrooms at the Senior High School.

Dollar for dollar we receive for more value financing our schools at the local level than we would if we sent our money to Washington for the federal government to extract their share and return a small portion of our money to us with a large portion of control.

From the very beginnings of our form of government, education has been recognized as a cornerstone in a free democratic society. A well informed citizenry is a must in order for our system of government to work effectively. It is the responsibility of citizens throughout this country to provide for the best education possible for its younger citizens. Our area is growing rapidly as are other areas throughout the country and in order to provide adequate educational opportunities, we must provide the necessary classrooms and operational expenses to meet our responsibility to the boys and girls of this community. We would not be doing our duty as adult citizens if we did not provide our children with that opportunity to develop to their fullest potential. I will vote "yes" in the coming millage election. I urge you to do likewise.

I have given this bond issue thoughtful consideration and have decided that no matter how much one desires to pay more taxes and wonders if he can find money to do it the fact remains that we shall certainly have more children each year to house. The law requires all children to attend school. It is the responsibility of the school district to furnish adequate and safe housing. This we are told we do not have at the present time. So there is no other way to meet these requirements but to vote for the bond issue which will provide the funds necessary for making our school houses meet the standards required. And after all - what more precious asset has a community than its children. What we are tomorrow depends on this!

At Last! A Girl

Will the vests in Jack Davis's store fit him today? Jack is bursting with pride since Monday morning early when a baby girl was born to him and Mrs. Davis at St. Lawrence hospital. She weighed 8 lbs. 7 oz. and surprised the Davises so they didn't even have a name chosen for her. They just didn't expect to have a girl, it seems. The Davises have 5 boys at home. Congratulations!

Study Club Has Night Out

The Mason Junior Child Study club met September 15 at the home of Mrs. Peter Stid, Co-hostesses were Mrs. Harold Franklin and Mrs. Howard Becker, Jr.

This meeting, the first of the year, was a salad meeting, each member bringing her own salad specialty. Two new members were welcomed into the club, Mrs. Dale McCalla and Mrs. Carson Minshall. The children's art classes will not be continued this fall as art is now offered in the school.

Mrs. U.B. Shoemaker spoke on the subject of Children's Literature. She mentioned throughout her talk several important points for mothers to keep in mind; a child's mind is much like his body; that which goes into it determines its growth; the brain that is empty is like the stomach that is empty; much more susceptible to poison; it is important to read to your children, no matter what their ages - especially prose and poetry. At the same time, don't push good literature at them. The child's mother should bring home a variety of library books dealing with his more active interests and let the books lie around where he will find them. Finally, the value of a book is the feeling it leaves inside of us.

Michigan, presided at the guest register.

Van De Moortel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Achiel Van De Moortel of Mason. Miss Schmid was granted her B.A. degree last August from the University of Michigan. MRS. DONALD KAST

Local Pair Exchange Vows On Saturday

Before an altar decorated with white gladioli, flanked with tiffany baskets of white gladioli and palms, Miss Linda Ann Elya exchanged vows with Donald Lee Kast on September 18 at 2 p.m. in the Dansville First Methodist church. Dr. Carpenter officiated at the sacred, double-ring rites. The bride's father escorted her down the aisle.

Miss Elya is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Elya, 2009 Phillips road, Mason. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Kast, 3145 E. Holt road, Mason.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of satin acetate. The bodice featured a boat neckline accented with Alencon lace and seed pearls. The long sleeves ended in a point at the wrist. Alencon lace and seed pearls also accented the front panel of the floor-length skirt and the full chapel train. There was a rose at the fitted waistline. A cluster of silk organza roses with hand-rolled edges secured the elbow length veil of pure silk English illusion. She carried a colonial cascade bouquet of white gladioli and small white flowers with cascading English ivy.

Mrs. Kenneth Sandri, cousin and very close friend of the bride served as matron of honor. Mrs. Sandri is from Muskegon Heights and formerly of Dansville. She was gowned in a floor-length dress of paradise blue with a white, lace-covered bodice. She carried white gladioli with white tinocchio pompons in a colonial cascade design. Her circlet pill box hat matched her dress.

Miss Sharon Hayes of Mason and Miss Lorna Wilcox of Lansing, both friends and schoolmates of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They were dressed identically to

ID System Helps Find Lost Items

With a false sigh of relief homemakers watched their toddlers and teenagers troop off to school. Visions of extra time and many things to be accomplished danced in their heads — But — what they didn't realize is with the starting of school all the organizations and social events swing into high gear.

Half the battle with maintaining a successful and active organization is publicity. Early last spring you hesitatingly offered to submit the minutes of the meeting to the local paper — Well; this isn't really going to do the job.

To get people talking about your club someone has to blow her horn about its entertainment value, constructive activities carried on by the group and primarily getting the club name before the public.

Here's a few tips for the ambitious publicity director. Don't do the work yourself. Just briefly outline the meeting details and things of interest the club members are doing and submit it to the Ingham County News for our society, feature or women's pages. Let us do your work.

Have you ever heard the expression "Mason is a chubby town?" Well it is and the News can't possibly keep up with all the activities unless someone helps keep us informed.

First rule for the publicity chairman — Notify the newspaper about any and everything your group is doing.

Now in that news tip try including the 5 "Ws": Who, What, When, Where and Why. Also try and slip in a "How" if it is possible.

Have you ever had your name misspelled in the newspaper? Kind of grates on you doesn't it? Make sure this doesn't happen to any of your club member friends, use complete names and make sure of the spelling and legibility.

Names are really a problem in the newspaper business. Being a small town paper people assume that the Ingham County News staff knows who Bette Smith is — but this is not so all the time. Our job would be much easier if the women would give their complete names and addresses: Mrs. Reginald Smith, 123 Highway street, Mason, for example.

A little tip for those who really like to be proper — a widow continues to use her husband's name. Such as Mrs. Reginald B. Smith until the time she should remarry.

Technically, only a divorcee drops her husband's Christian name and replaces it with her maiden family name; Mrs. Taylor Smith.

We don't have celebrities visit in Mason too often, but it does happen. Should the opportunity come up, remember women in public life may use their professional or maiden name. It is perfectly correct to say "Joan Crawford", but don't use either "Miss" or "Mrs."

A quick formula to successful publicity: Supply us with the information and we will write it; use proper names spelled correctly and most, MOST of all get your news in by Monday noon preceding the Wednesday edition.

Don't feel discouraged if you followed all these rules and your news item is nowhere to be found in the paper that Wednesday, the county court house may have burned down during the week (heaven forbid) and there just wasn't room for your article.

Keep checking, 9 times out of 10 you will find it in the following edition. Here's hoping some of these things will help the inexperienced publicity chairman and some of the accomplished ones too.

P.S. If your club is in the midst of a special project you think will make a good picture give us a buzz at OR 7-9011 in plenty of time for the edition coming up. We will try to be expert "Shutter Bugs" getting only flattering pictures of your club members.

You don't write because you want to say something. You write because you've got something to say.

Mrs. Schaeffer To Leave Post

Things won't be the same at the county extension office after the first of October — Mrs. Annette Schaeffer, extension agent in home economics family living will be leaving to take a position with state as a Michigan State university extension program specialist, subject to the approval of the State Board of Trustees who meet Thursday.

For 16 years she has been the county homemaker's friend and aid. In her new position she will be assigned to the Rural Man Power center, now being organized on the campus. Operating under a special legislative grant, this center is charged with marshalling total university resources to aid in solving the problems currently plaguing the farm-labor picture.

Over the years Mrs. Schaeffer urged homemakers to be informed and keep re-educating themselves independently so they might more easily cope with the complexities of raising a family in the modern world. Through her efforts and encouragement many women discovered their potentialities as community leaders and teachers.

A special program on extension safety education for rural school children was responsible for Mrs. Schaeffer being selected for the Florence Hall award in 1956. This award was one of 4 given in the nation by the National Home Demonstration Agents association.

A hum of activity follows the county homemaker wherever she goes. She has been secretary for the State Home Economics Extension Agents; and is currently chief of Alpha Psi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Phi, a state-wide extension honorary for extension veterans, plus receiving her M.S. degree in Extension education in 1960 from Michigan State.

That Mrs. Schaeffer is a veteran with many experiences both rewarding and humorous is accepted without question. "I always enjoyed my job which never had a dull moment, but my greatest joy was the people I met and with whom I worked," she said. "In my position I met people of all ages and was in all kinds of homes—rural, urban, modest and opulent."

The 16 years as home economics agent has given Mrs. Schaeffer many pleasant memories. She fondly recalls the young waitress who recognized her voice and told the agent how she always remembered what Mrs. Schaeffer had once said about hamburger—good, nutritious food, etc.

Then there was the time she spoke at the old American Legion building in Williamston during a cold spell. Mrs. Schaeffer said the weather was so frigid that the mice were half frozen and one mouse in search of warmth jumped in her open purse and was so cold he couldn't muster up even enough energy to jump out when discovered.

Among her experiences are flagging down motorists to make a meeting on time; getting lost—even with a county map—witnessing women who have had heart attacks, strokes, epileptic seizures; square dancing and chaperoning groups of 4-H youngsters. She even helped a plumber fix a pump at the 4-H camp after midnight.

In the lien of her job Mrs. Schaeffer has directed scores of tours: kitchen remodeling, landscaping and sightseeing tours to industries all over southern Michigan.

Announcing her resignation Mrs. Schaeffer mentioned some women who aided the extension program in so many ways and yet never received credit for it. Some of them were Mrs. Ted Fay, Stockbridge; Mrs. Delmar Carr, Whiteoak; Mrs. Morrell Fox, Lansing; Mrs. Russell Lielis, Okemos; Mrs. Ralph Kitchin, Leslie; Mrs. Harry VanKuren, rural Mason; Mrs. Alvin Boor, now residing in Florida; Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Williamston and Mrs. Leonard Blood, Mason.

Dutch Teen-Ager Enjoying Mason

Hanneke Lyklema, an 18 year old Dutch girl was among the 3,200 and more students who enrolled at Mason high school last week.

She comes from Apeldoorn, Holland, where she graduated from the Gymnasium, which corresponds to an American high school, last June, but will take an added year as a senior at Mason high.

She is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Loren F. Shoemith, 528 W. Columbia street and their daughters, Joan, also a senior at Mason high school this year and Yvonne, a 9th grader in Mason Junior high school.

Miss Lyklema's father is head of the Lyceum, which comprises 3 schools including the Gymnasium in her home town of Apeldoorn, a city of 11,000 inhabitants about 60 miles southeast of Amsterdam in the central part of Holland.

She will receive her American diploma next June.

She arrived about 4 weeks ago after a flight from Amsterdam with some 70 or more other students coming to Michigan all under the Youth for Understanding program. The trip from Amsterdam to Detroit took 18 hours with stops at Shannon, Ireland and Newfoundland, she said.

Miss Lyklema finds some things different here from those in her own country. "The houses are much larger in Holland than they are here and set very close together. Most people live in apartments," she said.

She finds foods here somewhat similar to those in her homeland but the combination of foods here is different.

Miss Lyklema has 2 brothers and 3 sisters, all older than she. Both of her brothers are chemists. Her eldest brother, Johannes, spent a year in Los Angeles about 3 years ago as a guest profes-

Williamston Women's Club Starts Year

The Williamston Woman's club opened the new club year Friday with a tea at the home of Ruth Traver.

There was an added interest to the opening meeting in a musical treat provided by Lois Guiles who gave several selections chosen from favorite songs of the past. Some of these old favorites brought out a spontaneous response from club members resulting in group participation. Mrs. Guiles accompanied herself on her autoharp.

The tea table was attractive. Lulu Youngs poured at the table. Guests were Sally Newmann, Alice Dolph, Betty Traver and Eunice Gubry.

The retiring president, Lois Brokaw, presented the gavel to the new president, Eunice Sparkman. The president responded with some plans for the new year. The hostess was assisted by the executive committee.

Officers Re-Named By WCTU

HOLT — Holt Women's Christian Temperance Union has re-elected its 1964-65 slate of officers to serve for the 1965-66 term. Returning to office are Mrs. Leona Kinney, president; Mrs. Keith Hamilton, vice-president; Mrs. Max Goodrich, secretary; Miss Betty Kinney, treasurer; Miss Eva Young, legislative chairman; Mrs. Alfred Quettele, christian life outreach; Miss Jackie Hartig, social service chairman; Miss Margaret Rose, historian.

Miss Rose presented the devotional talk on Spiritual Blindness. The group discussed coming events, the W.C.T.U. County convention at Dansville September 28 and the W.C.T.U. 6th district convention to be hosted by the Holt union at the Sycamore Street Baptist church in Holt, October 12.

Bedrooms Larger

Bedrooms are getting bigger because Americans use them for reading, TV viewing and as a place to relax away from the family, recent surveys indicate. The growing popularity of king-size bedding has contributed to the need for larger bedrooms. The National Association of Bedding Manufacturers reports that Americans are replacing under-six mattresses at a record rate.

Potatoes, Anyone?

Polka Dot Potatoes create a pretty fall vegetable dish. Simply dice 2 medium potatoes and 4 large carrots. Boil together until tender, about 10 to 15 minutes. Drain. Place 1/2 cup ReaLemon bottled lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter and 1 tablespoon brown sugar in small saucepan. Heat just until sugar dissolves. Stir sauce into vegetable and serve.

As any psychologist will tell you, the worst thing you can possibly do to a woman is to deprive her of a grievance. Nichols Patience, persistence and pride in workmanship are 3 essential requisites for getting ahead in the clothing project, according to the 4-H'ers.

While in Mason high school she will study speech, government, vocal music, home economics, Spanish and typing.

"I like America very much," she said. "The people here are very kind, friendly and very hospitable."

She hopes while in Michigan to visit some of the Holland people who live in the western part of the state.

Presbyterians To Honor Conley Family

Mason Presbyterians and others in the community are going to honor Rev. and Mrs. James Conley and their family Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Conley, minister of education, has tendered his resignation to the Session, and, at the same time, has accepted a position as instructor of speech at M.S.U.

He has been a vital part of the church for the past 2 years. He came as the minister of education, and then added to his duties the responsibility of filling the pulpit during the interim between the Rev. Paul Arnold and the present pastor, Rev. Philip Hirtzel.

Rev. and Mrs. Conley, Tammy and Greg will be guest of honor at a reception to be given Sunday, September 26 from 2 - 3:30 P.M. in the Memorial room at the church.

Rev. and Mrs. Conley reported, "that it was the most satisfying 2 years ever spent anywhere and we hope that we have not seen the last of all the wonderful people in Mason".

Pretty Clothes, Pretty Girls Go Together

Pretty clothes on pretty girls are a common sight in 4-H circles, particularly among the Ingham county 4-H'ers and the more than 3/4 million girls from 9 to 19 enrolled in the national 4-H clothing program.

Sketched here are some of the fashions that 4-H girls are putting into their fall and winter wardrobes. In their clothing projects they learn how to sew on and care for new fabrics.

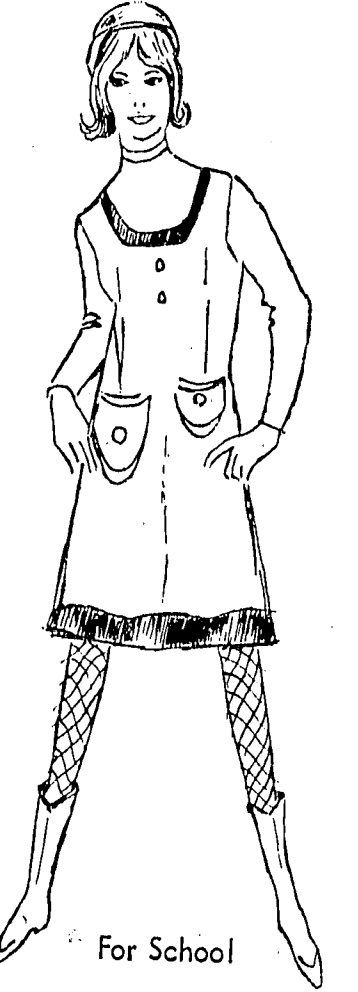

The youngsters also learn to choose color, line and design. The "learning-by-doing" is guided by local volunteer clothing leaders and extension home economists.

Numerous workshops for extension personnel are conducted by Miss Mamie Hardy, head of educational field activities for Coats & Clark, incorporated. Her newest is called "The Shape of Things" which teaches how to get different shapes in garments by use of various interfacing, backings and linings.

Several years ago stiffeners used in garment construction gave exaggerated shaping and made the garment uncomfortable. Today's inner fabrics have changed to keep pace with the many new types of outer fabrics designed for contemporary living.

"The secret of good lines is knowing which type to use to achieve a softer and more comfortable effect," Miss Hardy said.

Workshop techniques will in turn reach local 4-H leaders who will pass them on to the girls.

Seasonal Mix Up

There are those who maintain that Mother Nature's schedule of seasons this year has left much to be desired. Not only did the mixed up weather fool campers but it also is fooling plant life. Mrs. Fred Richter of Route 4, Mason, reports a forsythia bush in full bloom this week.

Ambitious Program Set By Future Homemakers

HOLT — Under the leadership of new officers, the Holt high school chapter of the Future Homemakers of America has planned an ambitious program for the 1965-66 school year. New officers are Peggy Duling, president; Ginger Barnes, vice president; Candy Clark, secretary; Sherry Lawry, treasurer and Helen Teugh, historian. Faculty advisor is Mrs. Charles Wilson.

An orientation meeting for new members took place last Thursday. Girls who have had at least one semester of home economics in junior or senior high school are eligible for membership.

Activities planned for the new year are a candy sale, bake sale, a float in the football homecoming parade, an after game dance during basketball season, a Daddy Date Night, a family dinner, a Mother-Daughter Tea, and making favors for the Holt Home.

Rams Show Power In Initial Start

Holt played their first football game of the season Friday night.

The Rams defeated Michigan Center 20-0. Co-captain Lynn Ried scored two touchdowns and passed for another to lead the Rams to victory. This was the ninth consecutive win for the Rams, who won the Capital Circuit title last year with Ried a 5-9, 150-pound halfback, as one of the key players.

Ried passed to Ed Walsh for 20 yards to get Holt rolling in the first quarter and Jim Hanson ran the point for a 7-0 lead. The Rams struck again in the second quarter when Ried ran three yards.

Terry Parry turned in a fine defensive game along with Craig Schultz. He tackled a Michigan Center player in the end zone for a safety in the third quarter to increase Holt's lead to 15-0.

Ried ran two yards and Mike DeChelbor ran the point for Holt's third touchdown in the fourth quarter and Tom Greenhoe completed the point parade with a one-yard plunge with DeChelbor again running the point.

As the new football season approaches Holt takes stock of its team members and the members lost through graduates. The 1964-65 season was a success, as the Rams went through a perfect season, earning the Capital Circuit crown and high mention in state rankings. Coach Darold Briggs lost 19 seniors, including 8 of his 11 offensive starters from the championship team. Even so the team is not in too bad a situation. There are 16 lettermen back and the coach is optimistic about finishing high in the race again.

Returning to the backfield are halfbacks Tom Drumheller, 5-9, 140 pounds; Jim Hanson, 5-6, 138 pounds; Co-captain, Lynn Ried, 5-9, 150 pounds; at full back, Joe Bochenek returns for his second season of competition. Bochenek is 6 feet, 180 pounds. Mickey Rhines, 5-7, 145 pounds, a senior; Mike DeChelbor, 5-7, 132 pound senior are quarterbacks.

Other returnees include ends John Adams, 6-1, 158 pounds and Ed Walsh, 5-10, 150 pounds, a senior; guards Joe David, 5-9, 170 pounds; Jim Mills, 5-7, 162 pounds; Terry Parry, 5-9, 172 pounds and Jack Thomas, 5-8, 167 pounds.

Tackle slots are expected to be taken by Craig Schultz, 6-1, 237 pound senior; Dan Peacock, 5-10, 285 pounds senior or co-captain Mike Patton, 5-9, 186 pound senior. At center will be Mike Rodebaugh, 5-9, 170 pound senior.

DeChelbor is being switched from his regular halfback position to quarterback. Juniors Tom Greenhoe, 5-9, 160 pounds and Mike Rapelle, 5-9, 170 pounds might be the surprise.

Last season Holt scored 172 points while rolling up 1,903 yards. The Rams held opponents to 40 points and 1,149 yards.

The team members graduating were quarterback Ron Carr, end Mary Burt, tackle, Bob Platt, and backs Mike Bostrom and Bob Bochenek. All were named to the Circuits All-Star team.

MASON'S ROSS GINTER had a good night against St. Johns in spite of the Mason loss. Here the camera catches him in a familiar pose as would-be tacklers try to stop the churning Ginter legs.

Howell Gets Its Lumps In 26-6 Loss to Fenton

Howell for the last few years has established a reputation for sharp line play. In the opener Friday night Fenton found the Highlander forward wall an easy mark and using miscues pushed to a 26-6 victory.

Six losses of the ball -- three by fumbles and three by pass interceptions -- were significant in Fenton's second straight decisive victory over Howell in as many years after losing the previous two.

And mentor Gil O'Doherty, in his first season as head coach, feels that inadequate line play was the difference. "We expected some mistakes, but we made so many that we were never able to get our offense sustained," he observed Monday prior to the start of another week's practice leading up to the league opener.

Howell blanked Okemos 18-0 in last year's game, the second consecutive shutout after a 7-0 verdict the year before.

But, if the success is to continue, O'Doherty feels his line must come up with a vastly improved performance this week.

Although Howell didn't get its lone score against Fenton until it was already trailing 26-0 in the final minutes of play, it was the kind of offensive thriller that lends encouragement to try another game.

The Highlanders moved 98 yards in less than a minute for the score including half-back Mike Yost's return of a Fenton kickoff to the 37 yard line.

A penalty and two dive plays put the ball on Fenton's 40 from where junior quarterback John Thiel completed successive passes to halfback Denny Cunningham, one for 27 yards to the 13 and another into the end zone for the score.

Ray Fredenburg's effort to kick the extra point conversion failed.

Fenton collected its first touchdown in the second quarter on a 43-yard pass play from Dave Gulbault to Bob Niles and held a 7-0 halftime lead.

It increased that to 19-0 in the third period with two touchdowns, both on one-yard blasts by Don Madden.

The first came at the end of a 70-yard drive and the next after a 35-yard pass play from Gulbault to Terry Barnes put the ball on the one. The latter was set up by a fumble by Yost on Howell's 37.

A blocked punt with Chuck Pennel attempting the kick at the three-yard line gave Fenton its final score on a two-yard plunge by Mike O'Berry. O'Berry singled out middle linebacker Norm Paton's defense and Cunningham's pass receiving as among the few Howell bright spots of the game.

Leslie Shines In Defeat

Leslie's Blackhawks forced a larger Jackson Northwest squad to go all out Friday night in the opener before finally falling before the big city boys 20-12.

The Blackhawks will not be in action this week but next week will start the Ingham County league action against Williamson.

It looked as if Leslie was going to be swamped when Jackson Northwest opened with 2 touchdowns plus a couple of extra points right at the start but the Blackhawks put on the stopper and in the third period came to within 2 points of the Northwesterners when Bob Schulz passed to Lon Cooper on a play covering 30 yards and Schulz went over from the 7.

Jackson Northwest managed one more touchdown, though, to provide a cushion.

Leslie could give the Ingham County league teams trouble this season. The Blackhawks have a new attack to go with new coach Bob VanDyke. In addition there is plenty of speed and hustle.

Back for another season is a topnotch passing combination with All-League end Lon Cooper on the receiving end and Schulz and Chuck Lay doing the passing.

There isn't much size in the line but there is plenty of mobility.

Spartans Lose

Webberville's opener Saturday at Detroit Country Day was spoiled when the Spartans came out on the short end of a 13-6 score. Fumbly was a big problem for the Ingham county team. Two of the Webberville miscues ended up as touchdowns for the opponent. Ron Viacelle scored Webberville's touchdown from the 3-yard line. The Spartans will entertain Morrice Friday.

On to Eaton Rapids

St. Johns Speeds Past Mason for 31-12 Victory

Some of Mason's football questions were answered in the opener against St. Johns Friday night and some of the answers weren't too pleasing to Coach Roger McIntosh. The results of the first test left Mason on the short end of a 31-12 score.

Defensively Mason showed promise, especially against a running attack. There was some room for improvement in the pass defense department.

Offensively the Bulldogs have the potential to grind it out although there is no breakaway runner to set opponents on their heels in a sudden blow. These are all problems which can be solved or overcome by building up strength in other departments and there is strength.

Just how well the Bulldogs learned the lessons of last Friday night will be proved this week when the Bulldogs take on Eaton Rapids at the Greyhound field. With the rain of this week the Greyhound field is quite apt to be sloppy which should lend itself to the Mason style of play.

Eaton Rapids didn't do too well in its opener. The Charlotte Orioles ended a 17-game losing streak at the expense of the Greyhounds.

The Greyhounds are a young team with only 8 lettermen answering the call of Coach Elmer Rosa. Among the missing is quarterback John McHugh, one of the top signal callers of all-time at Eaton Rapids who gave up football this season.

The Eaton Rapids team boasts size in the line. In the backfield will be Bill Gayton at quarterback, Dave Salisbury, Larry Winegar, Tom Lovejoy and Dave Bresky will do the ball carrying.

Mason will not bump into as well-coached and quick a team the rest of the season as St. Johns.

The Red Wings were light but agile and hard hitting. Led by Gary Boyce a 150-lb package of dynamite at fullback, the Red Wings used their speed to keep Mason off balance.

Two of the Red Wing touchdowns were of the unearned variety. An intercepted pass set up one Red Wing touchdown after Mason had started its first sustained offensive.

On a punt situation Brian Doolittle bobbled the ball, hurried a kick and saw it slither off the side of his foot and into the hands of Boyce waiting in the flat at the line of scrimmage. He raced down the sidelines to score without a hand being placed on him.

Boyce left no doubt as to his scoring ability. He scored 3 times and booted an extra point.

Bob Every, another fancy stepper, scored the first touchdown when he went over from the 10 after Randy Humphrey intercepted a pass.

In the second quarter Boyce went 56 yards with the wayward punt and a few minutes later went over from the 15. Early in the third quarter Boyce again scored, this time from the 9.

Then Mason came alive offensively. With Ross Ginter grinding out the yards through the middle and Larry Zigler, Steve Strickland, Ron Underwood and Ron and Dan Webster hitting off tackle and around the ends, Mason moved in toward the goal line. Dan Webster sneaked the ball over to put Mason on the board.

St. Johns got in its ticks one more time when Tom McKenzie broke loose for 51 yards. Mason came back on a storybook touchdown play when Ron Webster tossed a perfect pass to Paul Allaire on a play covering 6 yards.

Mason will give opponents a rough time if defensive play stays at the level it was Friday night. Paul Jancha was a standout performer in the line.

For defensive effort, though, Coach McIntosh singled out the linebacking of Barry VanderVeen. The Mason senior, playing with a bruised shoulder, had a hand in most of the tackles.

Offensively the work of all the Mason backs was impressive but the lack of a breakaway speed merchant was evident.

Both on defense and offense the Rocks were superior and showed mid-season form.

That this is no idle chatter is proved by the statistics. On offense the Rocks rolled to 11 first downs, gained 204 yards on the ground and 50 yards through the air. They did this in spite of picking up 90 yards in penalties.

On defense the Rocks held the Comets to 3 first downs and gave up only 16 yards in the air. It was on the ground that the Comets bumped into the roughest time. They ended the night with a minus 25 yards.

Just how powerful the Rocks are will be determined Friday night when they travel to Holt in what could go a long way toward determining the best of the circuit.

Grid Picker Earns $10

Warren Rogers is the winner of the first football winner picking contest of the season. He can pick up his $10 check at the Ingham County News.

Rogers wasn't an easy winner, though. He had to resort to the tie-breaker to edge Freddie Sears of Lansing. Rogers is from Eaton Rapids.

Get in on the fun. Be your own football expert by entering this week's football contest.

Against Charlotte Eaton Rapids could not muster any kind of sustained drive although the defenses appeared capable.

Charlotte set up its first touchdown when Pete Green broke loose and raced 75 yards before being tripped up. Ken Pabst went over from the 7 for the score.

Then in the third quarter Green again showed his open field running style when he returned a punt 56 yards for the touchdown.

Aggies Take Bath With Team Power

Dansville established itself as a challenger to perennial champ Fowlerville by taking the Aggie opener against Bath 26-0.

There was no doubt as to the outcome right from the start. Jack Prince started the festivities out right by plunging over from the one.

Then Jerry Ernst pitched a pass to Jim Mullins on a TD play covering 27 yards. At the half the Aggies had a 12-0 lead.

In the third quarter Ernst again plunged across from the one with Prince running the extra point.

The final Aggie score came on a 2-yard plunge in the fourth quarter with Collin Curtis running the ball and Prince adding the extra point.

While the Aggies are plagued with their usual problem -- too few candidates -- those who are on hand have size and ability. Barring injuries this could be the year at Dansville.

The line will rely on the strength of All-League tackle Dale Dillingham who comes in at 235. Mullins, Dave Beaty and Rick Cornell are experienced partners in the line.

Prince, another all-league selection last year, sparks the offense from his fullback spot. Ernst and Curtis also have experience in the backfield.

Friday Dansville will try another non-league foe when BVS comes to town. If the Aggies pass this usually rough test -- watch out.

Haslett Edges Glads

The first inter-league win of the football season went to the Capital Circuit. Haslett of the Capital Circuit downed Fowlerville, ICL champs, 7-0 Friday night.

A pass interference call against the host Gladiators on a fourth-and-11 situation early in the final frame set up the decisive score after Fowlerville's defense appeared to have met the challenge. The penalty left the ball on Fowlerville's five-yard line.

The loss marred an otherwise respectable performance by the Gladiators eleven innew head coach Chuck Brigham's debut.

But, Brigham reported Monday that he will emphasize offensive workouts strongly this week in preparation for a trip to Chelsea this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

"We got only 112 yards in the game and 77 yards of that was by passing -- 40 yards on one play," Brigham said. "It's obvious we need much more offensive work although Haslett should be given credit for having a good defense, too."

Dave Rossetter and Rich Dey shared the quarterbacking duties for Fowlerville and connected on eight of 12 passes tried between them. Rossetter threw the 40-yard gain in the game, but the Glads couldn't convert it into a score.

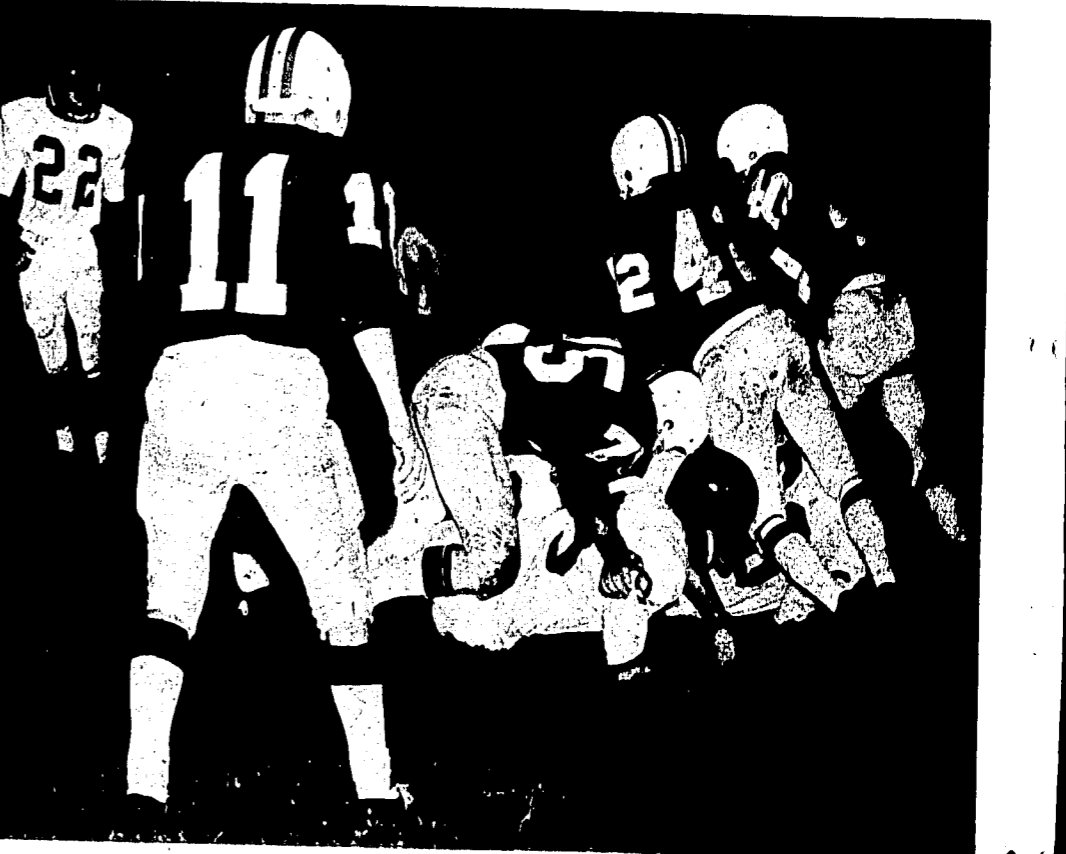

Fowlerville lost tackle Al Grostick with a head concussion early in the game and he is a doubtful starter. Terry Ganton, the other tackle, was one of the bright spots in Fowlerville's performance and Brigham cited him for outstanding work both ways.

Fowlerville and Chelsea, this Friday's foe at the Chelsea field, have not met in recent years. Chelsea replaces Chesaning on the schedule this year and pounded out a 28-6 victory over Stockbridge in its opening game last week. Fowlerville plays Stockbridge next week.

No Decision

O'Rafferty, a team which has been mentioned as one of the favorites in the Capital Circuit race, battled Waverly Saturday with the outcome a draw. Neither team was able to score a point although both squads booted away several scoring opportunities.

The Raiders from O'Rafferty will have a chance to get off to a good start in the Capital circuit race Friday night but it won't be easy. The Raiders will tangle with Haslett which surprised Fowlerville in the opener.

THERE MUST BE A BALL CARRIER somewhere in this pile. This was a typical scene as Mason runners tried to crack the St. Johns defenses Friday night in the opener. At the right is Mason's Steve Strickland, No. 22. The only identifiable blocker is Ron Webster. St. Johns players are No. 11, Lee Hill; No. 75, Al Koenigshnecht; No. 42, Bob Every; and No. 40, Gary Boyce.

You Don't Say

BY SALLY ROBINSON

Each week the News Inquiring Reporter asks a question of 5 persons picked at random in Mason. This week's question is:

"Do you think the Tigers will finish in second place this year?"

Dewayne R. Evans, 766 Maple street, Mason, area manager for Consumers Power company:

"No, I don't think the Detroit Tigers will end up in second place. I don't have any confidence in them any more. Every August I have the feeling they are going to drive through and win, but they are always letting me down.

Evans

"The Tigers wait too long to put on a rally, sort of like a country club golf player, they wait until the 18th hole to make a showing."

Mrs. Nellie Edgar, 4132 W. Barnes road, Aurelius:

"I have been listening and watching the Tigers for many, many years, but I don't consider myself any expert on the subject. I'm afraid they won't quite make second place - I wish they could.

"Really haven't given it much thought, but think the Tiger team has suffered from a lot of unexpected injuries which could explain why they haven't done better."

Harold Barnhill, 709 Hall boulevard, Mason, City Clerk:

"The season just isn't long enough now for the Detroit Tigers to pull second place out of the hat. If it hadn't been for injuries they might have given even Minnesota a good run.

Barnhill

"Another thing that might have made a difference in their standing would be if they had left Bob Swift in when Charlie Dresen had his heart attack."

Robert Ware, 602 S. McRoberts, Mason, Ware's Drug and Camera:

"I'm not the most loyal, but nonetheless I am a Tiger fan and I don't feel they will walk off with second place. They just lost an important series with Baltimore and are still plagued by injuries to good players.

"They seem to be more interested in letting the younger and more inexperienced members get out on the field in hopes of having a better season next year. Plus they don't want to jeopardize their chances next year by playing one of the experienced men who isn't up to par."

Robert Darrow, 460 Rogers, Mason, part owner of Darrow's Standard Service:

"Nope! The Tigers won't take second place because of their pitching staff and manager. The pitchers just can't go the distance of a full 9 innings.

"Their manager doesn't pull the pitchers in time. They should have left Bob Swift in as manager at the beginning of the season and sent Dresen back to the hospital."

"Want to the baseball game with my wife. One fellow hit the ball over the fence, and she said, 'I'm glad they got rid of it, now we can go home.'"

Mason Girl Writes:

West Berlin Progressing, East Berlin Depressing

This the last and concluding chapter of a Mason girl's story of the Michigan Chorale's trip to Europe this summer. In this installment she tells of a visit to both East and West Berlin. She found West Berlin a progressive, modern city, but East Berlin, she says, was depressing with little progress visible.

On Friday, July 30, we officially started the last leg of our trip. We entered Germany, our last country. Our first stop was Stolberg. We were two days late in getting there because of a mix-up in the Youth for Understanding Office, so we had to cram 4 days of singing and sightseeing into the remaining 2 days.

My host family didn't live right in Stolberg, but in a neighboring city, Eschweiler. Their name was Bongart. The Bongarts had two young girls, Gisela, 6, and Annette, 4; and one son, Winfried, 9. Stolberg is quite a large town in central-western Germany near Aachen. Aachen is a very interesting place. For one thing, it is the home of the world famous mineral water and spas baths. When we visited Aachen, we were given samples of the mineral water. It was warm, smelled like sulfur, and tasted like... well, it's taste is hard to describe; I'd just like to say that I'd hate to have a steady diet of it.

While in Aachen we were shown the Aachen Cathedral and the Charlemagne Exhibit. Aachen is the city where Charlemagne was crowned, and where he had a castle. The throne in which Charlemagne was crowned Holy Roman Emperor in the Ninth Century, is in the Aachen Cathedral. It doesn't look any different from any other chair. There are no jewels or gold on it. It's just a plain, simple chair. The Charlemagne Exhibit which is in the town hall, has Charlemagne's crown, cross, helmet, and other things that Charlemagne owned. It was all very interesting.

We gave two outdoor concerts and one indoor concert while in Stolberg. The one indoor concert was one of our best. The temperature was comfortable, the piano was in tune, and the audience was very responsive.

On Sunday, August 1, we left Stolberg, but before we headed for our next destination, Iserlohn, we gave a church concert during a church service. The service was in both German and English. The minister would speak in German for a while, then someone else translated what he said into English for us. It was very thoughtful of the Stolberg people to do this for us. After the church service ended we left for Iserlohn, going through Koin (Cologne) and Bonn. In Koin, we went through the world famous Koin Cathedral. It was more beautiful than you'd ever imagine. Inside, among the other beautiful artifacts, is a golden cask which is supposed to contain the skulls of the Three Wise Men.

In Bonn we stopped to see the house where Beethoven lived as a child. The house, which usually was open for tours, was closed while we were there, so the only thing we got to see was the front door.

We arrived in Iserlohn at 6 p.m. and were introduced to

As I See It

By Hayden Palmer

For years many Americans have been taking a bath once a day. Believing that cleanliness is next to Godliness, they have religiously doused themselves with water and soap at least once every 24 hours.

Now comes Dr. Ralph V. Plateu, chairman of the department of pediatrics at Tulane Medical school who declared in a speech this week in Memphis, Tennessee, that daily baths are not necessary and could be harmful.

There are natural skin secretions which are beneficial to the body, he said, and today's strong soaps can remove many of them, which is harmful.

"We should be bathed where we are dirty and only when needed," a news dispatch quoted him as saying, "Otherwise we should leave our skin alone."

Dr. Plateu should stand ace high among the youngster set, many of whom in their childhood days rebel at bathing.

A nurse in a Lansing hospital caused a flurry of excitement one evening last week.

She heard a buzzer and jumped to the conclusion the building was on fire. Rushing to a phone she called the fire department and in moments 5 trucks with sirens screaming moved into the hospital property.

There was no fire. The buzzer the nurse had heard was on an elevator.

The dispatch doesn't say so, but it may be assumed her face was a trifle red.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents from 4 cities swept into action this week to locate a figure named Curly who disappeared while on a plane trip to Phoenix, Arizona.

Curly is a wooden dummy, the property of Miss Vonda Kay VanDyke, the Miss America of 1965 who stepped down from a year's reign last week at the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City.

She placed Curly and the crown she wore in a bag which could not be found when she arrived in Phoenix. She had used Curly in a ventriloquist act in talent competition. It played a part in winning for her the coveted Miss America title. At last reports, Curly had not been located although agents from Phoenix, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Dallas joined in the search.

For the past 3 years Timothy Tasker, 76, of London, has been saving small sums out of his $11.20 a week old age pension. He planned to use the money to get married. It was hard going and there didn't appear much chance of the nuptials taking place this year.

Then Timothy invested 2 cents in a soccer pool bet. He correctly predicted the outcome of last week's soccer games and was notified he had won $30,158.

He called his fiancée and told her they could have a Christmas wedding and would go to Italy on their honeymoon. "I won the soccer pools," he told his intended bride-to-be.

But Timothy won't keep all the money. He has a whole flock of relatives and he announced that he will share the $30,000 with them.

"I'll see that they'll all get something," said the generous Mr. Tasker.

A justice of the peace out in Dinuba, California, who retired, has just been informed that by giving up his office he no longer has the authority to perform a marriage.

The justice who thought otherwise, is now busy trying to locate the 13 couples he has "married" since he left office.

Just in case you're interested, the language of Bareteland, down Southern Rhodesia way, has a new word. It's Ku-Makmirana. Translated into English this means "to discuss at great length and appear to get nowhere". The word may be new but the meaning is as old as time.

Dairy Farming Requires Brains

"Managing a commercial dairy farm requires brain power, not muscle. An office center and library is often more help than a pitchfork," claims Leonard Kyle, Michigan State university agricultural economist.

He offers the following check list for management competence:

- Acquaint yourself with the steps involved in management and check yourself for proficiency.
- Recheck and become more specific in the objectives you plan to accomplish.
- Learn where to find factual information and accumulate it on the items you are apt to need in making decisions.

— Learn the procedures for analysis of various types of common business problems.

— Take active control of your business and spend the time needed to be a business executive. Control the operation through better decisions based on modern analysis of planning.

"Modern management is not something you buy," added Kyle. "It is something which you can learn to do better. A good farmer improves his managerial skill to stay competitive."

Get Set for the Future, Growers Are Told

Pork producers who are in the most favorable period for many years, should take advantage of the opportunity to make more money now and get ready for the future thinks J. A. Hoefler, Michigan State University swine researcher.

They can do this by following these six practices.

1. Sell big, heavy sows after they have weaned their pigs. Replace the sows with gilts. The income from a 500 lb. sow is almost double that of a 220 lb. gilt, but the tax liability is about the same. An animal kept more than one year is reported as a long term capital gain in income (only half of income).
2. Invest some 1965 profits in new facilities and equipment. Now is the time to modernize the plant and get ready for narrow profits which are sure to follow.
3. Start a breeding program that calls for a better boar. Pigs from a good boar gain faster on less feed and sell for more money. A poor boar is an expensive investment.
4. Push hogs to best selling weights now. Sell before November, when a break in market is more likely.
5. Watch the weather. High temperatures depress pig performances and the market and increase shipping losses.
6. Breed as many gilts as can be handled for winter farrowing.

or even a manager. "There are three jobs at good pay awaiting every graduate that wants a farm job," Henneman adds.

Wages run from $250 to $500 a month along with a house for the family.

What happens to the other 10 per cent? They get so enthused about college they transfer to a four-year course which leads to a degree in some field of agriculture, Henneman reports.

Enrollment for the new term is open and courses begin October 19. Courses continue through March 4 with a Christmas-New Year's break. R. C. Loti, Ingham county Extension Director said.

Short Course Grads Return To the Farm

Dr. Harold Henneman, director of the agricultural short courses, says 80 per cent of them return to the family farm. Another 10 per cent take one of the many jobs that awaits them on another farm as a "second man"

Open House Planned

An open house at the Mason senior high school is planned for the evening of Friday, October 22 to which parents and all other interested persons are invited to visit the school, Robert Prudon, principal, said this week. The open house will make it possible for all visitors to meet the teachers, counselors and administrators and to see the facilities and equipment in all departments.

Further details of the open house will be forthcoming later, Prudon said, and any questions regarding it may be directed to his office.

Hog Disease Confuses Scientists

A recent experiment shows what happens to a pig when it has parakeratosis—a sickness of hogs which results in orange-like skin lesions and retarded growth. But the men who conducted the test are still not quite sure why some of these things happen.

A team of Michigan State University researchers reported that the zinc deficiency which produces parakeratosis increases the number of red and white blood cells.

They also noted that the diseased hogs experience a shrinking of their thymus gland—a gland located in the neck and upper chest which is prominent in the young pig. This gland produces antibodies which fight off disease. The shrinking of this gland indicates that the zinc deficiency probably has some effect on the production of antibodies.

The MSU scientists who conducted these experiments were Elwyn R. Miller, R. W. Luecke, B. Z. Baltzer, Duane E. Ullrey, B. E. Brent and J. A. Hoefler.

They found severe parakeratosis developed within three weeks in all pigs receiving a zinc deficient diet. And supplemental zinc, reported the researchers, did not decrease the severity of the disease.

The ineffectiveness of copper in this experiment is the direct opposite of findings in some earlier studies. The MSU research team cannot be quite certain why this happened, and they plan more research to investigate this and other factors related to parakeratosis.

Check Credit Sources Farmers Are Advised

Farmers have a lot of credit sources available for buying machinery. However, the borrower should know which lenders are best for the particular loan plan and repayment schedule he wants. That's the advice of Dr. John R. Brake, Michigan State university agricultural economist.

Dr. Brake recently completed a survey of 216 farm machinery dealers throughout the state. He found a great variety of credit sources and installment plans and a wide range of interest charges.

"Our study indicated that commercial banks have nearly half of the farm machinery finance business in Michigan," he says. "Company-affiliated financing plans (those affiliated with machinery manufacturing companies) seem to have about one-fourth of the total machinery financing."

"There are also non-company, but commercial financing corporations, which have about one-eighth of this financing business. Production credit associations have about 10 per cent; while the remainder of the financing is done by dealers, Farmers Home administration, individuals and small loan companies."

"Analyzing these figures in a slightly different way, machinery financing corporations of one sort or another apparently do over a third of the total business, but they do not have quite as large a share of the business as the commercial banks."

Dr. Brake points out that 7 of the 8 complete-line farm machinery companies have their own financing corporation which is part of the parent company. He also found around 62 specialized lines of equipment being carried by the dealers - sprayers, forage equipment, chain saws, etc. - of which at least 23 had a company financing plan available.

The most common repayment plan for farm machinery purchases is the installment type. Dealers surveyed estimated that about one-quarter of the repayment plans are paid in monthly installments, another 25 per cent are quarterly or semi-annual payment types and still another quarter are paid off in annual installments.

"The balance of the payment plans might be called non-regular installments," says Dr. Brake. "With these plans, the payment dates are chosen by the borrower. For example, he might choose to have two payments per year and to make the payments in August and November.

"He would not have a payment coming due every 6 months. Rather, there are 2 payments per year, but they come due on dates chosen by the borrower."

The MSU agricultural economist emphasizes that it's important for the farmer-borrower to know what kind of repayment schedule he wants; a monthly installment loan, a quarterly payment plan or setting his own payment dates.

"Then, I would suggest that he shop around for credit to compare repayment terms available, and the flexibility and cost of the plan," said Dr. Brake.

Combined Roughage Produces Gains

A combination of corn silage and haylage produces beef more efficiently than either roughage fed alone, a pair of Michigan State university animal husbandry researchers report.

"Apparently, the combination is more palatable than either roughage fed individually," according to Hugh Henderson and H.W. "Bill" Newland. "Cattle ate more in our experiments and this, no doubt, accounts for a better performance of these cattle."

In their most recent feeding trials reported at MSU's Beef Cattle Day, Henderson and Newland found that the combination of roughages produced 100 pounds of gain for 20 cents less than corn silage and almost 30 cents less than haylage fed alone. There was very little difference between any of the rations in the quality of carcass produced.

Farm Views And News

By JIM MULVANY

Progress makes history and history makes problems. That's what happened to Michigan's potato industry in the past year. A number of Ingham county farmers observed the progress and problems of the potato country near Greenville last week.

They included George Rouse, Mason; Bill Nottingham, Stockbridge; Harold Sheathelm, Orla Sheathelm, Dansville, and Hugh Elsworth, Mason. Progress was observed in the successful production of the Russett Burbank variety in Michigan.

This variety commonly called the Idaho baker has never been raised in Michigan to any extent until this past spring when it was brought in by the Ore-Ida Foods, Inc. plant at Greenville. For a start 9,000 acres were raised on land owned and leased by Ore-Ida.

Yields are reported running 300 cwt. per acre and of best quality. About 10 percent of the best of the crop will be on our grocery shelves this winter under the trade name Ore-Ida.

This is progress. Problems, however, are noted as to whether or not other Michigan growers can improve the quality of their varieties to hold the market. Marketing specialists seem most concerned in solving the bruising problems caused by rocks in the fields during harvest. Ingham county farmers attending the potato program were most interested in the irrigation systems. Most of those at the meeting had some experience with irrigation.

John Cadey, fieldman for Ore-Ida, said irrigation complete with wells and equipment cost about $75 per acre of potato ground. This is what our county farmers spend per acre to get rid of water with tiling systems.

Could it be profitable to make this investment for getting water to the plants on dry summer days?

Most crop people don't think the irrigation would pay off on our soils. As Leon Cowdry said to me, "You can irrigate a crop of beans in July and lose them the next month due to heavy rainfall during harvest season." This has proved true this season alone.

However, one farmer is reporting white bean yields of 30 bushels per acre after dumping on only one inch of water in July. Time will tell and one more dry year like 1965 will bring some more irrigation into Ingham county. Wanna wager a bet?

Motorists Start Buildup Of New Insurance Funds

One of the most far-reaching and important citizen-protection laws ever enacted in Michigan will go into operation starting this January 1.

It is the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act, passed by the 1965 legislature. Its function is to protect innocent victims of uninsured drivers by setting up a fund of more than $11-million to pay claims.

The fund is administered by the secretary of state through a major division of the Michigan department of state.

Although claims against the new fund will not start until the first of the year, there is another important target date . . . November 1. This is the day that Michigan motorists begin to purchase 1966 Michigan license plates. And along with their plates, they will also pay into the Accident Claims Fund.

Each uninsured motor vehicle owner pays $25 into the fund.

All insured owners, on the other hand, pay only $1.00 into the fund.

The uninsured motorist receives absolutely nothing for his $25 fee. This is not insurance. Actually, this is a penalty he pays for the option of remaining uninsured.

On the other hand, the insured driver does get something for his $1.00 fee . . . insurance protection. This protection is much like the uninsured motorist rider which is sold through private insurance companies and which costs several times more than the $1.00.

Secretary of State James M. Hare urges motorists to get double protection by purchasing the private uninsured motorist rider.

"The Fund offers excellent protection on accidents with uninsured motorists here in Michigan," says Hare, "but does not apply outside of Michigan. This is where the private option pays off."

Hare estimates there are between 500,000 and 600,000 uninsured vehicles in Michigan, about 15 percent of the total number in the state.

"There is no way to provide an exact count of persons who do not carry liability insurance," Hare said. "Our estimate is based on samplings of accident reports to our department."

Hare further figures that if Michigan follows the pattern established by other states, about half of the current uninsured drivers will get into the insured class before they contribute into the fund.

"This leaves about 300,000 uninsured and 3.7-million insured and adds up to about $11.2-million to start the Fund," Hare asserted.

Will the fund end up in the red? Hare said he didn't know . . . that it depended on too many intangibles. He cited these intangibles as possible amendments to the law, such as increasing minimum claims from $50 to $200 or $300 and removing claims on hit-and-run property damage accidents.

"The fund is patterned after one which has been highly successful and solvent in Ontario, Canada," Hare said.

USDA offers grazing and haying privileges in 29 counties of Michigan. Orville L. Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture, has just announced that Menominee county, Michigan has been approved for emergency grazing and haying because of adverse weather conditions.

Menominee county is the 29th county in the state and only county of the Upper Peninsula approved for this program. The other 28 counties, as previously announced, cover an area in the east central and northeast central part of the Lower Peninsula.

As of this date, approximately 300 farms are cutting hay or grazing land that had previously been retired from production. The total acreage released under the emergency program is about 4,000 acres with a reduction in program payments amounting to $8,000.

Never before have drought conditions created so great a shortage of forage.

In addition to the grazing and haying privileges, these same counties will be eligible for emergency livestock feed and counties are now making application for USDA-owned grain. This grain will be made available so that livestock producers can maintain their foundation herds at about 25 percent less than normal market value of grain.

MSU Sees Enrollment Of 35,000

Michigan state university will open its doors to some 35,000 students on Monday, September 27, the beginning of final orientation sessions for freshmen and registration for upperclassmen.

Orientation and registration continue through Wednesday, September 29, and fall quarter classes begin at 8 a.m., Thursday, September 30.

An influx of more than 7,500 new freshmen will start Saturday, September 25, when the first-year students move into residence halls. On Sunday afternoon (September 26), MSU President John A. Hannah will address parents of new students. He will welcome new students the same evening. Both gatherings will be in MSU's auditorium.

Enrollment on the East Lansing campus will include about 2,000 transfer students and nearly 2,000 new graduate students.

While there will be no increase in MSU's dormitory costs or student fees, many other campus changes await this year's students.

One change that affects all students is a 20-minute break between each class. Until this year, students had only 10 minutes between classes.

Many University College--first two years--courses at MSU are taught in coeducational academic-residence halls.

The number of coeducational living units--men in one wing and women in another--will be expanded to seven this year. The concept began at MSU in 1961 with the building of Case halls. It was then that MSU officials decided to offer some classes in the dormitories and provide maximum utilization of facilities.

Holmes halls, the newest dormitories, will open for the first time this fall. The $6.8-million structure will house 1,276 students, bringing MSU's total number of students in residence halls to about 18,000.

Educators Studying Plan To Aid Parochial Schools

Educators and boards of education throughout Michigan are giving study to a newly enacted law passed by the 1965 state legislature covering auxiliary services to non-public schools in the state. Immediate compliance with the law has been suggested, but educators generally feel that this is virtually impossible because of the complex nature of the rules governing the services and the time required to put them into effect.

The law requires that these auxiliary services must be available on an equal basis to all non-public school pupils during an established school day.

The services identified in the act include: Health and nursing services and examinations in all activities in the field of physical and mental health which are instructive. These consist of dental, medical, psychiatric and nurse service in the nature of examination, evaluation and diagnosis, which shall be provided for children enrolled in school and for children in anticipation of their enrollment for the first time.

Ried said that through the years the girls have slowly become the predominant members of his handicraft club and that the Horstmyer boy is the only masculine entity in the organization this year.

The program cannot be put into operation until given approval by the State Board of Education and the attorney general's office. This has not yet been done.

A meeting is to be arranged soon of representatives of the Ingham Intermediate board of education, the Lansing Board of Education, the East Lansing board of education and the Waverly district board of education to study and discuss the proposed set of rules.

Later, intermediate school district officials said, it is expected a meeting with representatives of the non-public schools will be set up.

When the program does go into operation 17 non-public educational facilities will be eligible to receive the auxiliary services. These 17 include Holy Cross, Immaculate Heart of Mary, Lansing Christian, Gabriel and O'Rafferty high schools, Our Savior Lutheran, Resurrection, St. Casimir, St. Gerard, St. Mary, St. Therese, Seventh Day Adventist and Wood Haven Center, all located in Lansing, and St. Thomas Aquil-

2 Enter Albion College

Mason has 2 representatives beginning their freshman year this fall at Albion college, Albion, Michigan. They are Heather A. Stribley, 752 E. Maple street, and John Douglas McPhee, 3011 Carter.

KEITH HAYNES OF MASON shows off new method of storing corn silage.

New Method To Store Corn Silage Cheaply

Silage is a big thing this year, due to the draught and its effect on the corn crop. To offset the cost of buying the entire winter's supply of feed, farmers are chopping up the corn stalks and scattered ears of grain for fodder.

Keith Haynes and his mother Mrs. Lynn Haynes of Mason are among those putting up fodder the modern way: by piling it in a field and covering it with sheets of plastic. This past week Keith has piled up about 175 tons of corn silage under a 30 x 80 section of plastic in an open field where it can be self-fed to steers and helters during late fall.

About one-half of our county livestock feed for dairy and beef animals is made of corn silage. Ingham farmers are now working hard to get it chopped and ensiled. Jim Mulvany, county agent, says the major problem involved is moisture. "The good September weather has brought us through most of the month without any frost to kill the fodder and thus dry down the crop," he said.

As a result many silos have been filled with corn too wet as most farmers are pressed to get the big job done.

Corn chopped at 80 per cent moisture will stabilize at 72 per cent in tower silos because of pressures from the silage that packs as it ferments. The outcome is about 30 gallons of water per ton that must seep out the silo. "Along with this water runs a saturated solution of nitrates which are the protein portion of the final feed," Mulvany said. Many costly silos are ruined as the highly acid waters cut through the silo walls. Moisture does further damage by inhibiting the proper temperature rise needed to produce lactic acid. Butyric acid is produced instead, giving unpalatable poor silage. Silage should go in at about 65 per cent water, he said.

Furthering the argument for plastic covered silage, Mulvany said, trench, bunker or plastic covered piles give a good solution to the moisture problem. Using these types of silos lessens the packing pressures and moisture can drain away more easily.

About $100 worth of plastic will cover 175 tons of silage, he said. For good success with plastic covered silos take the following steps:

1. Pile on concrete or well drained areas.
2. Pack by driving lengthwise as well as cross-wise on the pile.

3. Cover the pile with tires to keep carbon dioxide gas from raising plastic up so winds will rip it.

4. It can be used to refill tower silos or be fed out before spring thaws.

Mason Boys To Compete In P. and K. Contest

Mason area boys from 8 through 13 years of age can pit their football skills against thousands of other boys throughout the nation in the 5th annual punt, pass and kick competition which will culminate with a trip to Washington, D.C., and an appearance at the National Football league play-off bowl game for the top 12 winners.

The Mason area punt, pass and kick competition is sponsored by Roy Christensen Ford sales in cooperation with the Ford Motor company and the National Football league and is co-sponsored by the Mason Jaycees and the Kiwanis club of Mason.

Mason area boys will be tested for their ability to punt, pass and place-kick on the same day as thousands of other boys all over the country. For 8, 9, and 10 year olds, warm-up jackets, helmets, and footballs will be given as first, second, and third prizes for each age group. Boys 11, 12, and 13 will receive gold, silver, and bronze trophies. Scores throughout the country then will be compared to determine the six top winners in each of the 362 Ford zones - a total of 2,172 zone winners.

Zone winners will meet in 37 Ford district competitions at which 222 District champions will win trophies. The 222 runners-up also will receive trophies. All 222 District champions will compete for area championships in the 14 NFL-city areas.

The 42 eastern NFL-area champions will compete in Dallas, Texas, on Saturday December 11, to decide the 6 eastern division champions (one for each age group). The 42 western NFL-area champions will compete in Los Angeles, Saturday, December 18, to determine the six western division champions (one for each age group).

The 6 eastern NFL division champions, and the 6 western division champions, accompanied by their mothers and fathers, will go on a "tour of champions" to Washington, D.C. They then will travel to Miami, Florida, site of the annual NFL play-off bowl game, for half-time competition to determine the six national PP&K champions.

Tom Christensen pointed out that PP&K involves no body contact, there is no charge for entering and no special equipment is needed. "Registration will be open through October 8," he said, "with Roy Christensen Ford sales as registration headquarters."

"In 1964, 601,459 boys entered the competition, a program which has received the commendation of the president's Council on Youth Fitness."

Each boy should bring some proof of age when registering and at that time he will receive a booklet of PP&K competition tips written by Bobby Walden, Minnesota Vikings' punter; Frank Ryan, Cleveland Browns' star quarterback; and Jim Bakken, St. Louis Cardinals' place-kicker.

Included in the illustrated booklet are recommended tips on physical fitness.

Each participant also will receive a PP&K tie-lapel pin. Mason area boys will compete only against others their age in punting, passing, and place-kicking skills.

Christensen said entrants will be judged on distance and accuracy of their punting, passing, and kicking. Points will be awarded for each foot of distance the ball travels on the fly, and points will be subtracted for each foot the ball lands to the right or left of a center line. The Mason competition will be at the Steele street football field on Saturday, October 9.

The scores will be played off on the day of competition. Ties for top spot in zone and district standings also will be played off during special contests. District winners will receive trophies. Area winners vie for the top 12 division championships. The six national winners receive PP&K championship trophies. The other six will receive national runner-up trophies. All 12 finalists will go on the "Tour of Champions".

our new host families. I stayed with the Heumann family. I had two brothers, Horst 18, and Hans, 16. We lived in a village near Iserlohn called Kalthof. We were in Iserlohn for 4 days and gave 3 concerts in and near town.

One day we (the Chorale) went to see the 1964 Olympic gold medal winner, Harry Boldt, and some of the award winning horses he jockeyed. It was very interesting.

On Wednesday, August 4, we left Iserlohn and headed for Hannover where we boarded a plane for West Berlin. The bus ride was 4 hours long, but the plane ride was only 45 minutes long.

We arrived in Berlin at 4 p.m. and after doing a short program for television, reporters, and photographers, we were introduced to our families. This time I'm the guest of the Hibler (Heubler) family. We lived in the southern most part of Berlin.

Berlin is divided into little counties. I was in Lichtenrade and I had over an hour bus ride ahead of me every time I wanted to get into the center of town.

On August 5, we took a four hour bus tour of West Berlin. Ordinarily, we would have hated a four hour tour, but this truly was an exception. The tour was positively wonderful.

It was hard to believe that West Berlin ever was devastated. The people have almost completely rebuilt their city. Buildings are going up everywhere. The people of West Berlin are trying to forget and erase all of the traces of World War II. They're planning far into the future, and they're so optimistic about the future that they include East Berlin in the planning.

After the reconstruction started, a contest was held among the most famous architects in the world. Each one was to design an apartment building. The best designs were chosen and were erected in what is known as the Hansaquarter. The buildings are all very beautiful.

One night, we gave an outdoor concert at the German-American Volkfest on the U.S. Army post in Berlin. It was quite a lot of fun. It was like our county fair only a bit larger.

On August 8, Herr Hibler took me to see the border that is the dividing line between West Berlin and East Germany. West Berlin is like a tiny democratic-free island in a communist sea. It is completely surrounded by fences, mines, and barbed wire, and is very heavily guarded. When we were near the border, we could be certain that we were under constant surveillance by the communist guards that were hidden in every nook and cranny.

On August 10, we went through "Check-point Charlie", which is the only point where foreigners can cross from West Berlin into East Berlin, and entered the other half of the one-time capital of all of Germany.

The first sights were quite depressing. East Berlin, in comparison to West Berlin, has hardly started reconstruction. The buildings are still in ruin. The best looking building in East Berlin was the Russian embassy.

The tour was very depressing. That's the only word to describe it. Some good did come of it, though; it made 75 Americans glad they were Americans. We were all pretty grateful for all that we had at home waiting for us, and for all that we had the opportunity to get. We were all glad and relieved to get back into West Berlin.

The next day, we visited the German Interlochen, Jeunes-sess Musicales, which is actually fashioned after Michigan's Interlochen. It was very interesting, and we were glad to see and talk to some American students that were enrolled there.

During our stay in Berlin, we were the guests of the Eddy Rhein choir. We were especially close to them, because Eddy Rhein got his idea of a choir from the 1963 Michigan Chorale.

On August 12, we lost another one of our members. John Hall (Ypsilanti) was called home because of an illness in the family.

On August 12, we left Berlin and headed for our last destination - Oldenburg. We took an airplane from Berlin to Hamburg, then took buses to Oldenburg.

My tenth and last family's name was Glombitza. I had a sister, Karin, 16, and a brother Carstein, seven. Mr. Glombitza was an officer in the German air force so we lived on the German air force base.

One afternoon, Karin and I were watching television when a program came on that really proved to be interesting. The title was "Der Cowboys", I was so surprised to find out that it actually was the American version of "Rawhide" with German voices dubbed in. I also was surprised when Karin told me that about ten American westerns are on German television, along with Lassie, and other shows.

On August 18, we gave our final European concert. We were all quite sad; but, we managed to pull a few tricks on Mr. Pratt. All during our tour he had referred to "I Dream of Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair" as "I Dream of Brownie with the Light Blue Jeans". So, we (without his knowing it beforehand) say "I Dream of Brownie . . ." instead of "I Dream of Jeannie . . ."

On our way home from this last concert we stopped at a Stone Age graveyard, and were given a brief tour and lecture of some 4,000 year old graves.

On Friday, August 20, we left Oldenburg and Germany. We took buses from Oldenburg to Hamburg. Then we boarded a plane (which was 3 hours late) and took off at 8 p.m.

We made two stops on the way home. The first was in Shannon, Ireland. Misfortune struck us here again. Jane Kenyon (Ann Arbor) and Mrs. Pratt had to stay in Shannon because Jane had an appendicitis attack. They returned home the following week.

Our second stop was in Gander, Newfoundland. While we were there most of us called home to tell our parents that our plane would be almost 5 hours late. I had to call collect, because by this time, like everyone else, I was broke!

Our plane landed at Metropolitan airport, Detroit, at 2 p.m. August 21. It took us less than 30 minutes to get through customs and get our passport stamped; health certificates checked, etc. but it seemed like eternity to us. It was so good to get home.

In summing up my trip, I'd like to say that it was a wonderful experience - one that I'd gladly redo.

I have many happy memories, and a few unpleasant memories. The unpleasant

The Big Marriage Rush

The recent increased draft calls have had some very definite and disturbing effects. One result is increased objections to United States involvement in Viet Nam, and they have also brought the reality of the war in Southeast Asia closer to home than it was before. But probably the most disturbing effect of the recent callups is the great marriage rush which they prompted.

For nearly half a century, since our entry into World War I, the free nations of the world have looked to us as their invincible leaders. We have assumed that responsibility. We must continue to assume that responsibility if we, ourselves, are to remain free. Should we be unwilling to continue assuming this responsibility, then we shall, ourselves, undoubtedly fall before the hammer and sickle.

We find ourselves, then, not simply fighting a jungle war in some far-off country because we feel sorry for a few people who have never seen since they have been invaded and threatened by their northern neighbors. We find ourselves fighting the aggression, the oppression, and the communism which threatens to enslave the memories, however, made me realize how fortunate I am to be an American, and live in a wonderful country like the U.S.A. I learned things this summer that I could never have learned from a school text book or a lecture.

I had the kind of education this summer that very few people my age have the opportunity to get, and I feel very proud that Youth for Understanding felt that I was qualified enough to be a student ambassador, to interpret American and American to the Europeans.

In closing, I'd like to thank everyone who helped me get this chance: Mr. Emrick, Mrs. Elliott, Rev. Arnold, and especially my parents and sister who sacrificed a lot so that I might have this once in a lifetime chance to see Europe from a different viewpoint than tourists get. Also, thanks to everyone who wrote to me and expressed interest in my trip. I really appreciate it. Thanks - to just everyone!

Maybe, someday in the future, everyone will have a chance like I've had. I certainly hope so.

world. Our armed forces are engaged in the necessary business of making the world safe for democracy. They are fighting for us that they might halt aggression of any kind, anywhere, in order that such threats to world peace might not be posed in the future. They are attempting to conquer the enemy that in the end the enemy might not conquer the world. In essence, they are fighting for freedom.

The disturbing thing about the great marriage rush, then, is that by seeking to avoid their military service, America's newest husbands have turned their backs on the millions of people in the free world depending on them. They have expressed their indifference to the boys who are fighting for them, and they have shirked their responsibilities to those who have, in the past, died that this nation shall remain strong and free.

It is enough to make one wonder whether or not we do live in "the home of the brave."

For these reasons I feel that the law which sanctions the drafting of fatherless husbands is one of the most commendable pieces of legislation passed by this session of Congress.

The books include extra copies of volumes at the library and gifts for which the library could not find use, plus a large number of children's books.

Wires Crossed Siren Wails, But Not for Fire

Mason residents must have thought the town was burning up last Friday afternoon. Twice within an hour the fire siren let go with its screeching and moaning but no one could find the fire.

The sheriff's department said they had known nothing about any fires that afternoon. Some thought it was vandals, others that the unusual heat of the day might have set the thing off.

Sheriff's officers finally located the trouble. A telephone crew discovered that their wires had crossed those which operate the siren with the result that the fire signal was set off.

Agriculture in Action

Apple boughs hang low on Peach Ridge. Fruit is heavy and color and size leave little to be desired. Some trees have become so burdened that they have split apart under the weight of tons of apples, their shattered limbs mute testimony to this year's excellent crop.

Far too old to be bothered by such burdens are a few truly old trees still producing among the new varieties in the Kraft Orchards. "They are older than I am -- and that means better than 70 years," reports George Kraft, on whose farm Michigan's first apple cold-storage plant was built in 1912. The idea of some form of controlled-atmosphere storage for apples has grown to gigantic proportions in the half-century which has followed.

It was on the Kraft farm where father George and son Merlin, together with their wives and family members, were hosts to the annual "Apple Smorgasbord" -- held under the laden trees on farms of the Sparta area for the past fifteen years. There, about 300 members of the apple industry, growers, processors, "first-handers" and others joined members of the press in an outdoor luncheon featuring apple products in production.

"Over the back fence" was the theme of this year's event, sponsored by the Peach Ridge Apple Growers' Association -- and over the back fence, literally, the apple growers and their wives told guests about the goodness of their fruit.

Fort-lift tractors brought and arranged stacks of apple crates for seating the crowd and the effortless manipulation of the lift was in sharp contrast to an exhibit of old-time apple storage barrels. It took strong backs to lift and stack the barrels.

New, too, in the orchards of Peach Ridge are the co-operative marketing activities now under way through the "Michigan Agricultural Co-operative Marketing Association." MACMA members grow a majority of the state's processing apples, and price-prospects look good, according to Robert Braden of the association's processing apple division. "Michigan sales of fresh apples continue to grow and demand for processing apples remains strong," Braden reports.

Apple-lovers, tasting the fresh baked fritters and the caramel apple rolls which were this year's smorgasbord specialties, obviously agreed that no matter what price, Michigan "Flavorbest" apples are a real bargain.

Zach Chandler Club To Hear Sen. Hruska

Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain (R-Mich.) announced this week in Washington that Senator Roman L. Hruska, Republican of Nebraska, had accepted the invitation of the Zach Chandler club of Lansing, to be the principal speaker at its annual dinner, October 19 at the Lansing Civic Center.

In making the announcement, Congressman Chamberlain stated, "I am delighted indeed that Senator Hruska, a dynamic speaker and Republican leader in the Senate, as well as a personal friend, will be coming to my hometown next month. The senator is an experienced, dedicated, and respected lawmaker and I am certain he will have a sound and timely message dealing with both national and international issues, as well as sage advice for the strengthening of our two-party system. Ingham County Republicans are indeed fortunate to have a political leader of such national prominence to address our club."

Before his election to congress in 1952, Senator Hruska practiced law in Omaha, Nebraska. After serving for 2 years in the house of representatives, he went on to the senate where he has earned a reputation for tackling tough problems and coming up with clear answers. He has been particularly active in his service on both the senate appropriations and judiciary committees.

The Zach Chandler club was named in honor of one of Michigan's early United States senators, who served during the Civil War. Tickets to the dinner are available at Ingham County Republican headquarters, Hollister building, Lansing.

Farm Official Advises:

Think of Agriculture As It Affects All U.S.

"We must think of agriculture and agricultural programs as they affect the entire country," Dean Quirin, state executive director, Michigan Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, says. In meeting with the Michigan Farm Bureau Resolutions Committee, Quirin pointed out that Michigan farmers must also think of wheat farmers in the plains states, corn farmers in Iowa, and peach farmers in Georgia, in formulating resolutions.

"What is good for Michigan may not be best for the consumer and remainder of the United States," he said. As an illustration, Quirin pointed out that we have considered Michigan wheat production by itself. Hiding behind the fact that great amounts of our wheat are exported annually. This has led Michigan wheat producers to feel they had an unlimited market and that the hard red wheat producers were causing the entire problem. However, Quirin noted that Charles Schuman, President Farm Bureau Federation, testified before the Senate Agricultural Committee that it was actually the hard producers who produce bread flour, who are discriminated against.

"Forming an agricultural program for the entire country that will (1) maintain the family farm, (2) provide the greatest return to farmers, and (3) be the least cost to taxpayers, is a difficult problem," he said. "But," he added, "this administration is committed to this task."

"We believe in a positive approach, and so do you, or you couldn't face up to the year-after-year, season-in-season-out hazards of farming," he said. "We can sense a growing appreciation among the public for farm programs that provide rural American stability, an abundance of food at fair prices, and the opportunity to help give the hungry of the world not only a source of food, but know-how to improve their own abilities."

Cleaning Advice for Egg Quality

Improper washing may actually increase bacterial contamination of eggs, warn two Michigan State University poultry scientists. J. H. Wolford and C. C. Sheppard point out that contamination occurs when improper washing breaks down the egg's chemical defenses located primarily in the cuticle and shell membranes beneath the shell. To keep this from happening, they offer these recommendations:

In dry cleaning of eggs, care should be taken to prevent breakage. Egg yolk and egg white are excellent sources of food for bacteria.

When a wet method of cleaning is used, eggs should be washed in a detergent-sanitizer. If the eggs are rinsed after washing, a sanitizer should be included in the rinse solution so that the sanitizer remains on the shell. Wolford and Sheppard remind egg producers that the presence of iron in washing solutions can cause both discoloration and spoilage under certain conditions.

Eggs should not be stored under conditions which may cause them to sweat. Moisture on the surface of eggs allows the bacteria to grow rapidly and to enter the pores in the egg shell.

As a sort of check list for proper egg cleaning, Wolford and Sheppard list these step-by-step procedures for preventing contamination:

1. Use only clean equipment
2. Use only clean wash water and change solutions frequently.
3. Use odorless cleaning materials and a sanitizer in the rinse.
4. Use iron-free water.
5. Use wash water at a temperature of 115-120 degrees F.
6. Immerse eggs for only short periods--no longer than three minutes.
7. Dry eggs thoroughly.
8. Pack in clean containers.
9. Follow instructions for machinery, detergents, and sanitizers.

IMPROVEMENT
Great strides in community treatment of the mentally ill are expected to result from a legislative change made this year.

The law, known as Act 54, previously provided for a 50-50 matching plan between the state and the locality establishing a community mental health care center.

At the strong urging of the state mental health department and many local planning agencies, the legislature this year raised to 75 per cent the maximum state contribution.

Many communities, some spokesmen said, just did not have the funds to establish meaningful programs under the 1964 law at the 50 per cent level.

State Mental Health Director Dr. Robert A. Kimmich encouraged the adjustment in the funding provision of the law.

He contended during discussion of the 1965 change that Michigan could substantially improve its total mental health program by making the community services law effective.

The year ahead will just begin to tell the story of whether this law, somewhat a pioneer effort in the nation, is now written as needed to make community mental health programs meaningful.

LCC Offers Real Estate Course

Real estate essentials is a new 6-weeks offering at Lansing Community College.

It has been developed by the Lansing Real Estate Board education committee and the college. The individual topics will be presented by instructors who are specialists in that area.

Classes will begin September 27 and will meet Monday and Wednesday between 4:00 and 6:00 in Room 201 at Lansing Community College, 419 N. Capitol Avenue.

Course fees will be $10 plus $2 registration.

ANOTHER OLDTIMER
Evolving from rather modest beginnings, Wayne State University has come to be one of the "Big Three" in state institutions of higher learning. It will mark its 100th year in 1968.

University officials describe its history thusly: "The simple unpretentious beginnings of medical education in Detroit 100 years ago did not forecast either the size or prestige of the medical center here or the extent of Wayne's commitment to a program of teaching, research and service within that center. During the first 50 years only two other colleges emerged to stand beside medicine."

"The second 50 years have seen half a score of colleges, divisions and schools come into being. This expansion in program . . . in synopsis the history of Wayne, is the measure both of the growth of organized knowledge in these decades and of the efforts made to provide the education which today is so important to students and so vital to the community."

Back in 1868, a college of medicine and a college of education were in operation. Later years saw the addition of colleges of liberal arts, pharmacy, engineering and a graduate school under jurisdiction of the Detroit Board of Education.

Wayne University became an entity in 1933 when these several units were united. Thereafter the Detroit City Law School became part of the University and primary units were added to provide degrees in social work, nursing and business administration. The latest addition, in 1959, was Monthé College, a kind of honors college.

The "State" designation was added in 1956 when the Legislature started a gradual change from city to state support of the 10 schools and colleges. Many of Wayne's some 50,000 students still are commuters but its changing character has made it much more than the "streetcar campus" title it bore in fairly recent years.

DEATH THREATS
The approach of winter brings many hazards to the unwary. Not the least of these are the icy highways and thin-iced waterways.

Another, more consistently deadly danger, however, does its worst damage in the winter months and requires real vigilance to detect before it is too late.

This is the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning, described by the experts as the "silent killer."

Warnings are issued widely each year at the start of winter against this cold-weather hazard but still the headlines annually relate many needless deaths from this cause.

"Everyone must realize that this deadly enemy lurks in wait in many places," says State Health Director Dr. Albert E. Heustis. "It awaits unsuspecting victims in homes, garages, cars, schools, factories, motels, house trailers and even fishing shanties."

Carbon monoxide is present wherever there is combustion; in canned heat, gas refrigerators, furnaces and auto engines. To protect against this colorless, odorless poisonous substance adequate ventilation is required and annual checks of gas furnaces and appliances is recommended.

Are You WANDERING

We have a goal to make, a peace to seek, a life to live and Heaven to reach. But without DIRECTION you won't attain any of them. You won't get many places WANDERING around.

A plan, a program, a blueprint is absolutely necessary. Have you lost the influence of hour of worship in your church each week? Have you lost interest in people and the Christian pleasure you derive from helping others? If so, you are without direction. You are a wanderer. You are headed for the ditch. Your destiny is a miserable failure and your life will be futile. You need to open The Old Book and read a few of those signboards printed in red. Stop wandering! Let God have a talk with you.

You In The Church
The Church Is You - form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity. Be a faithful worker. Be a daily Bible reader. Be an altar server. Be a church member.

DR. FRANKLIN L. TROOST
Medical society honors Holt Physician

HOLT - Michigan's outstanding physician of 1965 is Dr. Franklin L. Troost of Holt. He was given the honor last Sunday at the centennial session of the Michigan Medical Society in Detroit.

The award is a new one instituted by the society this year. It was made to Dr. Troost Tuesday at a ceremony in Detroit's Cobo hall before the assembled delegates.

The award was presented to Dr. Troost for his services on the Michigan Board of Registration in Medicine, as a former member of the Michigan State Medical society house of delegates and for his 34 years of service as the Holt school team physician.

He has been active in civic work in Holt for many years and was lauded for his services as a former member of the Delhi township board chairman of the Delhi zoning board and as a delegate to his political party conventions.

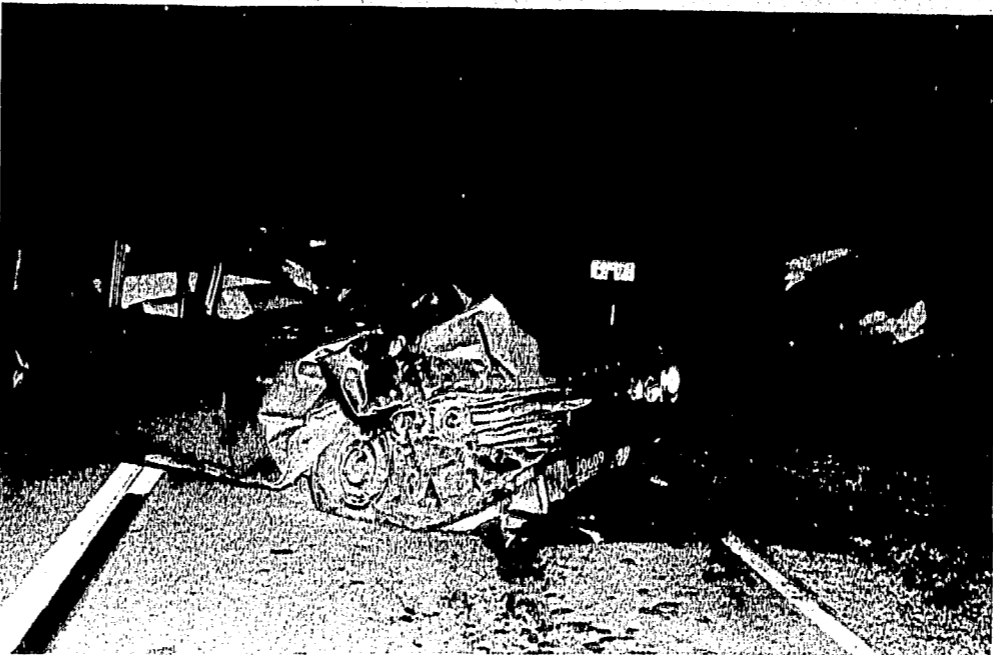

Dr. Troost came to Holt 35 years ago. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and interned at St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing. He is a native of London, Ontario.

Dr. Troost retired last year as the school team physician, but continues his practice in Holt.

"During my 34 years as team physician" he once said, "I have met a lot of boys and enjoyed being with them. I like to be around young people."

When he "blew into town" (his own words) he was Holt's only physician.

Last year he was honored at a reception in the high school for his many years of unselfish service to the community.

Ground Water Study Explained to Council

LESLIE - Representative of the Tri-County Planning commission, explained some of the work being done by the commission at the meeting of the Leslie village council Monday night.

Robert Young spoke of the ground water study being made by the United States Geological Survey, the total cost of which will be $127,000. Of this amount $40,000 is to be paid by local units. The sum of $30,000 has been raised, Young said, and suggested that Leslie pay its assigned share of $232. The matter was referred to the committee.

Young also discussed zoning and planning funds available to local units and suggested that the township and village jointly petition for a zoning map and long term planning at an estimated cost of $8,250 of which 2/3 would be paid by the federal government.

"We badly need a long term plan as a basis for a zoning map", he said.

Several township officials present spoke in favor of the survey.

In other action, the board: Referred to the village attorney a request by Donald Karn, building inspector that portion of the building code referring to furnace locations be revised. He believes the regulations should be eased now that automatic furnaces are generally in use.

Referred to the sidewalk committee complaints voiced by residents on the west side of Pennsylvania street who complained that the sidewalk is too low now that the street has been repaved. At least one resident requested that new sidewalks be installed at village expense.

Government by Guess

There are times when a public body can and should discuss public business in the environment of a "committee of the whole." There are times when the public is best served by a discreet discussion behind closed doors and, of course, the law clearly provides for these times. There is no provision in the laws, however, for a cloud of secrecy to envelope the day-in-day-out processes of government or embarrassing matters which are best discussed in public.

At this week's Mason city council meeting, the council left the council room and reformed in a secret session. At the conclusion of this "walk out" matters of relatively little importance were quickly passed without discussion and the public portion of the meeting was closed.

No one in the room really believed that the forthcoming actions in the public portion of the meeting occupied all of the time consumed in the previous 3 hours of secrecy. It is a fair guess that other more intimate matters involving the citizens' interest were discussed.

What could it be that would take 3 hours to discuss in secrecy? We taxpayers, voters, property owners and plain interested citizens will never really know unless some councilman breaks his oath to tell. But we can do a lot of guessing about what went on in the secret session. Did the councilmen discuss the pro-

What Are You Doing Monday?

It's decision time again for voters in the Mason school district. On Monday they will go to the polls to face up to another bond issue for school plant expansion.

This time the board of education is asking for a bonding program of $460,000. If approved this bonding program will provide $358,400 for a 12-classroom addition at the high school plus $101,600 for work at the Jefferson Street school.

At the Jefferson Street school there is no choice. The work called for is a must, according to the state fire marshal inspectors. It's either do the work or face the possibility of having the building closed.

There is no logical arguposed new city hall and fire station? Did they discuss the present city hall project? Did they discuss the purchase of the old Chevrolet garage?

Is there a shortage in the general fund? Are we fixing traffic tickets in town? Is a street caving in? Has the council got itself into something it can't get out of? Has a councilman got egg on his face?

Government by Guess is wrong. If Mason people are to effectively take part in city government they cannot do it without all of the facts — no matter how ugly they are.

The people of Mason have a right not to be treated as "too dumb to understand." The people have a right to the FULL knowledge of city government activities. To be spoon-fed the good things done in city government and denied the knowledge of the less-glimmering side of city government does no favor to the people — and lends no stature to the men around the council table.

Mayor Gilson Pearall, you can put an end to this callousness. The next time a councilman moves for a secret session at a public meeting, ask him to state why the public should not be included in the discussion. If his reason is that it will embarrass the council if the subject is discussed in public, refuse to crawl into the Secrecy Tent.

That will end government by guess in Mason.

ment that the high school expansion is not needed. It stands by reason that if enrollment climbs there is a need for more classrooms.

Mason school district voters have established a reputation down through the years of facing up to the responsibilities of providing school facilities and school programs. It isn't easy paying for these facilities and programs but if Mason youngsters are going to continue holding their own in this era of education emphasis.

No matter how you think on this educational issue, though, don't sit idly by and let others decide the question. Your place Monday is at the polls.

Will you be there?

Guest Editorial

14-B and the Church

The Franklin (N.C.) Press

The National Council of Churches recently went on record as favoring repeal of Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act. Under this section of the federal statute, states may legalize the closed union shop or outlaw it.

The stand taken by this national church body raises some questions.

Whether 14-B should be repealed is not a spiritual question. It is not a moral question — unless the right of the individual to freedom of choice is a moral issue. It is a political question.

Moreover, this is a question on which there is honest difference of opinion. Thus it is one on which it is entirely possible for honest men to be wrong — to get on the side that time may prove is the wrong side. Is it proper for churches to throw their great influence, in a purely political matter, to a side that may be the wrong one?

There is no doubt about their legal right to do so. And the church member, since he is a citizen as well as a churchman, has a duty to take a stand on political issues. But should the church, as an organization, do so? Then there is the question of whether the church should engage in any political activity. There are two ways to change the world. One is to change conditions, including laws. The other is to change men. The first brings quick, direct, tangible results. The second is slow, indirect, and it affects men's actions by affecting their spirits. Yet the church has always been most effective in changing conditions by changing men's hearts. Is it frittering away its energies when it seeks to operate in the political field, for which it is unequipped, instead of the spiritual area, for which it alone is equipped?

Finally, in this specific case, has the National Council of Churches, however unintentionally, misrepresented the situation? There is no point in its taking a stand, unless it represents somebody. Yet whom does it represent? Does it represent all the members of all the denominations that hold membership in the Council? Obviously, it does not. Yet it is made to appear to do so.

There must be many churchmen who are convinced that the Council is on the wrong side of this issue. More important, there must be millions who resent the Council's presuming to speak for them without authorization.

Down by the Sycamore

What falls on one ear as being out of tune sounds musical to another. A few weeks ago I talked with a woman who has a horror of aint. She worried lest her child fall into the grievous habit of saying aint. I prophesied that before the woman's son is long in kindergarten the mother will be willing to settle for aint or even haint. Boys and girls learn lots of worse words. Aint is much better and more musical than the "aren't I" combination which is accepted in some schools.

It's good to have another man in the family. For two years I have been the only male in the household and that changes the food situation considerably. For breakfasts for two years I have had tasty meals of poached eggs, hot or cold cereals and fruit. With Jim home the breakfast menu includes such nourishment as ham and eggs and pancakes and sausage. We get up a half-hour earlier and spend the time eating. It is time well-spent.

January 9, 1947
When my brothers and sister and I used to ride back and forth between Mason and the farm with Grandpa DeCamp we learned who was boss along the route. Grandpa would point out the new coat of paint and the flowerbeds around the house and remark, "Poor old Jim. His wife runs things. He needs fencing but he won't get it this year. He also needs to go over his corn once more but there he is puttering around the flowers."

Going past a farm where the barns were in good shape even though the house lacked paint, Grandpa might observe, "Will has things pretty much his own way. His stock looks good. His crops are clean. It wouldn't hurt him, though, to spruce things up a bit around the house. His wife has a hard time — nothing much to do with."

When both the barn and the house and their surroundings looked good Grandpa was sure the husband and wife were pulling together, that the wife set a good table and ran the household end of the business while she left to her husband the management of the farm.

Good public relations is really nothing more than presenting a picture of integrity to the general public. It follows that one of the best ways to demonstrate integrity is to be open and above board.

With that little treatise out of the way the next remark is directed at the Mason city council.

The general public would feel better and I am sure there would be more of a spirit of cooperation between councilmen, department heads, employes and most important, the general public, if the closed door committee sessions were abandoned.

It might be that citizen participation in city government and citizen support for city government would be more in evidence if citizens could see the city government in open operation.

There are some areas such as personnel discussions, land acquisition and other situations in which private council discussions are necessary but certainly such items of business as buying snow parts, okaying a trailer park, the Oak street closing discussion, authorization for sirens for firemen and similar items of business doesn't necessitate a couple of hours of closed door committee work.

Proper and correct information is what makes for smooth relationships between individuals, between individuals and organizations and between organizations. Units of government are not exceptions to the rule.

So how about doing the committee work of the council out in the open as it was done for years. One by-product might be a better working relationship with the citizens and with city employes.

There are those who claim that tax reform is dead because the state of Michigan is in the unhealthy position of having a surplus showing on the books.

Tax reform proponents have a glimmer of hope for their pet project. The ray of hope came with the conjecture that ex-Gov. G. Mennen Williams may challenge Gov. Romney for the top state job. With Soapy back in command with his brand of fiscal integrity and spending policies, the surplus would disappear and we could return to the payless paydays of his previous administration.

Then us paupers could all jump on the band wagon for tax reform. Frankly, that's getting tax reform the hard way.

Tuesday I had the opportunity of hearing another boy wonder, Mayor Jerry Cavanaugh of Detroit. He certainly gives the impression of a man in motion and he gives the impression that Detroit is in motion.

He had me convinced until I got outside the hotel ballroom and in my car during the rush hour. I swear there wasn't a thing moving in Detroit at 5 p.m. on Tuesday except for the lips of drivers as they discussed the traffic situation with each other through open windows with such statements as "Drop dead."

country and town

An annual event looked forward to with great relish is the football party of Hal and Jim Gross out at WJIM. This year's event was Saturday. "Just a small party", as the famous Mike Todd (you know, the one before Eddie and Richard) used to say — and "small" it was. There was the tinkle of glasses around the Country House patio and pool with a small orchestra to handle background music, a fabulous smorgasbord and finally air conditioned buses to take the WJIM party from the station to within 25 feet of Spartan stadium.

While others staggered down the ramps after a parboiling session in the stadium, the WJIM party romped to the waiting buses to drink in the air conditioned atmosphere.

We sat in the back of the bus with Martha Dixon, WJIM's Copper Kettle cook. Frankly, I haven't been too interested in her television kitchen work, but from now on I plan to sit right before the TV set and take down every one of her recipes.

Thirteen months ago, the United States Controller of the Currency approved an application of Dart National bank to establish a branch bank in Delhi township. Just about everyone in the township seemed happy about the needed services for the area — all except American Bank & Trust which forthrightly blocked the up-starts at Dart National with an injunction against the Controller. In Grand Rapids district court better than a year ago, Dart bank representatives agreed not to erect temporary quarters in the township on the condition that the case would be quickly settled in court.

If a year and more is the court's idea of a speedy trial, I suppose the folks at Dart National are tickled to death that they don't have to look forward to slow legal procedure! At any rate, the fight is still on and for the record, that ought to be mentioned. Sometimes when disputes drag on, reasons for the disputes become hazy. The once brightly-painted sign erected by Dart National bank on the Delhi branch bank site is starting to lean and the paint is peeling. It's in the process of being repainted and straightened up. The township of a year ago now has more people to be served by banks than ever and those who hoped for a new taxable banking facility in the township now want it more than ever.

The wheels of justice move slowly and for those in the federal government, at Dart bank and in the township who want to see the injunction broken and a new bank begun are agreeing that it's been a long year of waiting without a lot of hope that any quick solution is forthcoming.

Okemos Sets Up Student Court System

Snake Dance and Rally Start Leslie On Way

By JOE ELLINWOOD
Okemos High School

OKEMOS -- Sometime within the last two years, when a discussion on discipline was taking place among some Okemos high school students, the idea of a student court came out. These students liked the idea, developed it, and the idea soon found its way to the student council.

JOEL

Dansville Classes Select Officers

By CHERI RUEST
Dansville High School

DANSVILLE - Each class met during the first period last Monday for their first class meeting of the year. Each class elected new officers as follows:

SENIORS

Rick Cornell, president; Larry Wright, vice president; Martha Freer, secretary; Keith Merindorf, treasurer; Donna Tabachki, assistant treasurer; Jerry Ernest, student council representative; Connie Galbreth and Jolynne Maynard, co-chairmen of the senior magazine sale.

JUNIORS

SOPHOMORES

FRESHMAN

Steve Forman, president; Gail VanPatten, vice president; Susie Regis, secretary; Brenda Rouse, treasurer; Liz McPhee, student council representative.

8th GRADE

Cindy Chapman, president; Linda McCann, vice president; Lori VanPatten, secretary; John Monroe, treasurer; Steve Botsford, student council representative.

7th GRADE

Randy Ruest, president; Richard Rice, vice president; Jean Battige, secretary; Brenda Mason, treasurer; John King, student council representative.

Donald Mueller, Dansville high school principal, also met with the juniors and seniors during their class meetings. He discussed the P.S.A. tests which will be given to them suit Okemos and write a charter for a proposed court. The committee realized the idea was not new, for in the years directly after the concept of student government was first tried, many schools adopted a student court as well, but because these courts neglected many important aspects of discipline most were dropped. The students on the committee investigated the successes as well as the failures of the courts on which they were able to get information, thought up many new ideas of their own, and designed their court to avoid the pitfalls of the others.

The committee finished its job late this summer and now the charter for the student court is on the long road to acceptance by the students, faculty, and administration of Okemos high. Several members of the faculty have seen the charter and have expressed interest in it. Mrs. Virginia Travis, English teacher, said, "The fact that the court is in existence will be the biggest step forward in settling student grievances, and even in the eventuality that it is not often used, it is still a good public relations measure for student-faculty relations." Mr. Earl Zetterholm, physics teacher, added, "It is as good as something like this can be without seeing exactly how it would work in operation."

The principal, Mr. Warren Dolson, who helped the committee in the final development of the philosophy of the court, stated, "The charter itself looks all right, but whether or not it will work can only be seen after it is put in operation."

The genuine opinion of the students will only be known after the special election to be held sometime in the coming weeks, but D. J. Drake, student council president, expressed the student outlook on the court thusly, "If the student court passes, the students of Okemos High school will get something they've wanted for a long time, more freedom to govern themselves."

Okemos student court may not fulfill all the goals and ideals set forth by its founders but it will certainly be a success if it can live up to this section of the court's charter, "To encourage an awareness and respect for the background and basic processes of law."

Leslie High School

LESLIE - The first evening activity for Leslie high school students turned out to be a big hit. It was a pep rally with a snake dance and bonfire, and many students attended.

This special pep rally sponsored by the cheerleaders, started at the high school last Thursday night. Students formed a line by joining hands. This line followed the band through town swerving from one side of the street to another.

The march ended at the football field where several pep talks were given and the cheerleaders led some cheers.

Seniors at Leslie spent most of the morning last Wednesday sending in their proofs and ordering their senior pictures.

The official activities day started Wednesday. All clubs and organizations were to meet to make plans for the year.

Several of the FFA boys went to Brighton for the junior hereford field day last Saturday. This annual event was at Hi-Point Hereford Farms.

The journalism class has been working hard on the first issues of "The Blackhawk". The school paper will be sold next Friday. Jeannene Whitney and Sharon Grinnell were elected co-editors.

The entire student body at Leslie wishes to offer its sincere sympathy to Sallie Chapman in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Chapman who died Friday.

The first pep meeting, in the gym Friday afternoon, proved students have better school spirit than last year. At the pep meeting all the football players were introduced by Coach Robert Van Dyke. Pep talks were given by Van Dyke, and co-captains of the team, Jim Bobzien and Bob Bodeil. A cheer and the school song ended the pep meeting.

Leslie High's school spirit was downed slightly when we lost to Northwest 20 to 12, but we have seen that we do have a good team and our spirits are up because we know the team is better than last year's team.

Students have finally had their schedules straightened out. Some changes were made in classes so more freshmen could take general math, Friday, September 17, was the final day for any change in classes.

Mason Athletes Cheered On At Years First Pep Rally

By PAT O'BRIEN
Mason High School

One of the two pep assemblies planned for football season was held Friday afternoon. The cheerleaders first led the school in cheers and then Coaches McIntosh and DePue introduced the team. The assembly ended on a high note with the pep band playing the school song, and with everyone in high spirits, a waiting first game that night.

PATRICIA

St. Johns won the game, 31-12, but despite the score, Coach Bruce DePue was satisfied with the team's efforts. Last year St. Johns was rated 4th in the state and because they lost few players this year and still have all-state quarterback, Gene Rademacher, they have more speed and experience than the young Mason team which leans heavily towards juniors. Barry VanderVeen, a defensive end, was successful in stopping Rademacher, and Larry Ziegler, halfback, broke loose through St. Johns' lines frequently to gain the most yardage. Ron Webster was the most valuable player during the game. DePue said that the boys played pretty well and he thinks they will improve each game to end up with a good season, and will pose a threat to all opponents.

The first student council meeting was last Tuesday in the auditorium. Various committees were organized, including the welcoming, dance, and assembly committees, and the police force. Then suggestions were given for student council activities this year. These included: a student court, having various educational weeks such as National Affairs Week, and Music and Arts Week, a code of dress and behavior for students, and helping welfare groups.

The homecoming date is October 15, and Carol Hayes and Robin Bobzine, chairmen, will be busy thinking of new ideas for this big event. It was decided at the council meeting that two elections be held; one for deciding the king and queen. Ideas for the game and dance were discussed.

The journalism class, taught by Mrs. Green, was told that the school paper, "The Hi-Life," probably will not be printed until about October 16. The last two weeks the class has been busy organizing, and studying other papers for ideas. Ted Glyn was chosen editor, and Matthew Elsworth, assistant editor.

Both the square dance club and the G.A.A. met last week to choose new officers and to plan the year ahead. The G.A.A. played softball after the meeting Tuesday.

Annuals were passed out to last year's seniors last Thursday. The seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen will get their annuals Friday, September 24. From what I have seen of them they are well worth the money.

The teachers of Holt planned an introduction assembly when the teachers were introduced to the students.

Welcome back to school to teachers and students.

Those students interested in joining the Future Homemakers of America attended a meeting last Wednesday, in the homecoming room. The girls voted on future activities for the school year.

Other editors were also chosen and have started articles for the first edition.

The junior class had a meeting Thursday to discuss the magazine sale with the company representative, and to receive materials. The goal for this year is $3,500. Each homeroom was urged to sell $500 worth of magazines.

The 1965-66 Anchor's are now on sale at noon, and the staff members are selling ads to Mason merchants for this year's book.

Both the square dance club and the G.A.A. met last week to choose new officers and to plan the year ahead. The G.A.A. played softball after the meeting Tuesday.

The first public appearance of the band this fall will be Saturday, September 25 when the group will play in the University of Michigan stadium as part of the university's "Band Day" program. Bands from all over the state will also take part in the program. Two of the numbers to be played are "You're a Grand Old Flag", and "Anchors Aweigh".

Other appearances by the band include half-time shows at all the home football games including homecoming on October 8.

The Washington Club met Thursday the 16 to discuss this year's magazine sale. The club includes students in grades nine through 12. All members are required to pay dues of $10 per year for three years and $15 in their senior year.

One of the biggest projects of the year for the club is the annual magazine subscription sale. Last year the goal was set at $2000 and the total was $3398. This year the goal was set at $4000.

A pep assembly was prepared by cheerleaders for the first football game. The assembly was called during homeroom period last Friday. Darold Briggs, the varsity football coach, introduced the members of the team and the other coaches.

Stockbridge high school marching band has been working hard preparing for the fall schedule.

The band has a new director this year in the person of Charles Davidson, a graduate of the University of Michigan. Davidson told the band members, "I'm crazy about a good marching band and I've always wanted to have one of my own."

S.H.S. Marching Band Set for Fall Schedule

STOCKBRIDGE - The 1965 Stockbridge high school marching band has been working hard preparing for the fall schedule.

The band has a new director this year in the person of Charles Davidson, a graduate of the University of Michigan. Davidson told the band members, "I'm crazy about a good marching band and I've always wanted to have one of my own."

The first practice took place last Wednesday at the football field. The band will practice every Wednesday evening throughout the fall, preparing programs for the home football games. Davidson has introduced several new ideas regarding marching technique.

The first public appearance of the band this fall will be Saturday, September 25 when the group will play in the University of Michigan stadium as part of the university's "Band Day" program. Bands from all over the state will also take part in the program. Two of the numbers to be played are "You're a Grand Old Flag", and "Anchors Aweigh".

Other appearances by the band include half-time shows at all the home football games including homecoming on October 8.

The Washington Club met Thursday the 16 to discuss this year's magazine sale. The club includes students in grades nine through 12. All members are required to pay dues of $10 per year for three years and $15 in their senior year.

One of the biggest projects of the year for the club is the annual magazine subscription sale. Last year the goal was set at $2000 and the total was $3398. This year the goal was set at $4000.

A pep assembly was prepared by cheerleaders for the first football game. The assembly was called during homeroom period last Friday. Darold Briggs, the varsity football coach, introduced the members of the team and the other coaches.

Stockbridge high school marching band has been working hard preparing for the fall schedule.

The band has a new director this year in the person of Charles Davidson, a graduate of the University of Michigan. Davidson told the band members, "I'm crazy about a good marching band and I've always wanted to have one of my own."

Groups Work Toward Better Pep Assemblies

By MARCIA CAMPBELL
Haslett High School

HASLETT - The Haslett high school band, cheerleaders, and pep club have been working together in order that Haslett may have better pep assemblies than in previous years. This year different clubs and organizations within the school will be presenting skits that will coordinate with coming games. The Haslett-Lake Lansing Business Men's Association have contributed their share of the pep too. They have donated 250 miniature gold footballs with a Viking printed on each one. The cheerleaders use the footballs in yelling contests during the pep assemblies.

Haslett Vikings defeated Fowlerville 7-0 in their opening game of the season at Fowlerville. This Friday Haslett takes on O'Rafferty.

The Haslett Student council had its second meeting of the year Tuesday, September 14. President John Snell presided. Among the business brought up was the accepting of various club constitutions such as; Pep club, Future Teacher's of America, Future Nurse's club, and Girl's Athletic association.

After a discussion, committees were appointed to update the track board, since last year 5 new records were set, and label the entrances of the school north, east, south and west. This will help when telling students which fire exits to use in fire drills throughout the year.

Smiles

This is a pearl of wisdom from the lips of Gary Moore, radio and television personality, which he voiced in a radio "Dimension" program a few days ago. He said it is the answer to any argument of any kind anywhere at any time. Here it is:

"I know you believe you understand what you think I said, but I am not sure that you realize what what you heard is not what I meant."

Harvest Home Festival Real Community Affair

OKEMOS - Plans are now complete for the 9th annual Harvest Home Festival at the Ingham County hospital and Rehabilitation Center Sunday on Doble road, Okemos. Mr. and Mrs. R. Woodrow Shinn, general chairmen, expressing gratitude to the many committee chairmen and staff workers, contributors of time and zeal, said indications are that this year's Harvest Home will be the biggest and best yet. An attendance of more than 4,000 persons is expected.

A corps of members of the American Legion -- representing the following posts: Williamston No. 296, Stockbridge No. 510, Lansing No. 517, Leslie No. 491, Mt. Moriah, No. 460, Nuarins No. 535 and Chief Okemos Post of Haslett -- will supervise the games.

The principal award to be made is a color television set valued at slightly less than $500.

Pony rides, on pretty, well-mannered mounts supplied by Coltswoot Farms, and drawing carts and phaetons, will be among the main attractions -- which will include a grand-scale chicken barbecue to be supervised by Russell W. Robinson of Haslett. This activity is sponsored by the Haslett-Okemos Rotary club. Many attending the Harvest Home will have their Sunday dinners on the scene.

Other rides will have a singular attractiveness -- behind St. Bernard dogs from Birchwood Kennels, trained to pull carts in which children will ride, and on a miniature circus train replete with clowns.

Good flowers and handicraft products will be on sale. The Sweet Adelines, female barbershop chorus, is scheduled to provide some of the Harvest Home music. Bob Dost's band will play throughout the afternoon -- the Harvest Home hours are 1 to 5 p.m. The band's services are provided through the public-spiritedness of Lansing chapter of the Federation of Musicians, of which C.V. "Budd" Tooley is executive secretary.

The Lansing Civic Players and the Community Circle Players have been invited to provide skits and dramatic excerpts.

Artists from the Lansing Art Guild, under the supervision of Mrs. Ned E. Doane, will sketch portraits of members of the big Harvest Home audience. Among the Art Guild portraits are Joseph Wheat, Katherine Smith, Mary Louise Smithers and Mrs. Donald W. Hadwin.

Richard Johnson of Lansing will perform tricks of magic.

Television and radio promotion is supervised by Mrs. John Stevenson with the cooperation of Winnifred Olds of WILX and Martha Dixon of WJRT's Woman's World.

Entertainment for children will include a fish pond, darts, and ring toss.

The Oldsmobile Division of General Motors Corporation will provide 45 tables.

Mrs. Doris Ellis of East Lansing will be in charge of the Pie Walk and the Cake Walk will be supervised by Naomi Sherman, representing the auxiliary to Chief Okemos Post of the American Legion.

The Okemos Women's club is sponsoring the dessert booth, with Dorothy Sulder in charge.

Many attractive objects of art and utility will be on sale at the Stop and Shop booth, in charge of Mrs. C.R. Fleming of Lansing.

Everett Sherman of Chief Okemos post will help coordinate the Legion activities.

Floral splendor will invite attention to the garden booth, with its display of late summer and early autumn flowers, under the supervision of Mrs. John H. Dodge of Haslett.

The Country Kitchen, source of many prized recipes and delectable foods, will be supervised by co-chairmen, Kay Davis and Mrs. T. Walter Ellis. Leonard Face, administrator of the hospital, will provide tents. Girl Scouts will help with the popcorn booth, supervised by Mrs. Harry Hartman of Okemos and the cotton candy booth conducted by Mrs. Jerry Durst and Boy Scouts and Explorers will help direct parking and serve as messengers, as directed by John T. Eman.

Marilyn Holos of the hospital staff will have charge of patient handicraft sales. Stuart A. Bartlett of the Okemos branch of the East Lansing State bank, will be the Harvest Home treasurer.

Enrollment Down

The Dansville Agricultural school began last Wednesday with a slight decrease in enrollment from last year. The enrollment by grades is as follows: kindergarten 91; first grade, 94; second grade, 80; third grade, 82; fourth grade, 86; fifth grade, 64; sixth grade, 86; seventh grade, 78; eighth grade, 77; ninth grade, 93; tenth grade, 68; eleventh grade, 57; twelfth grade, 57; and Type A, 13. This is a total of 1028 or a decrease of 18 from last year.

The big event, a project of the hospital auxiliary, will provide funds with which to purchase therapeutic aids and entertainment, including tours, for the patients -- things not available from county funds.

Detailed plans have been made for the facile handling of traffic, with the much-appreciated cooperation of the state police.

The attractive posters, inviting attention to the Harvest Home, have been provided by the Okemos-Haslett Kiwanis club.

The Harvest Home is an achievement of community spirit at its best.

School Crowded, Bode Moves Office Downtown

LESLIE -- The office of the Leslie superintendent of schools has been moved from the junior high school building to a suite of rooms on the 2nd floor of the People's Bank of Leslie.

The move was occasioned by the crowded conditions at the junior high school. The office of Superintendent Charles Bode is to be remodeled into a classroom to house a class in mathematics, which is being moved from its old quarters to provide space for a 6th grade classroom.

The board of education Monday night voted to make the change because of the shortage of classroom space in the building. The board will pay $50 a month plus heating costs for the new downtown office of the superintendent.

A proposal to rent or buy mobile classrooms was rejected by the board. Such units cost $2,125 a year to rent and $10,000 to purchase.

The board also agreed to pay 50 percent of the tuition fee of 26 Leslie teachers who will take a course to train them to supervise student-teachers. The course costs $39 per teacher, half of which the board has agreed to pay.

Friends From Lands Of Ice and Snow Meet in Williamston

WILLIAMSTON - The Far North (Alaska, Newfoundland, Iceland) was united this week when Mrs. Don Wagner and Miss Mary Adams dropped in recently to chat with the William E. Brokaws from Anchorage, Alaska who were house guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Brokaw, Meridian Road.

These people had much in common in discussing life in the far north. Mrs. Wagner lived in Newfoundland and taught in the Naval Base school while her husband was in the service in the navy, stationed at St. Johns.

Mary Adams toured Iceland this summer with a native family under the sponsorship of the A.F.S. Mary learned much of the habits and customs of the Icelanders and she gathered much information, firsthand, about their religion, education and government, sports entertainment and of the romantic background of these people - the legendary story of the Vikings - an historical story they are proud to preserve.

The Brokaws have made their home in Alaska for about 5 years. When in U.S. service Brokaw served 19 months at the Alaskan Base in Anchorage. Having served his hitch in the army he took up his work in merchandising for which he was fitted in his college course. After their marriage the young Brokaws went to Anchorage to establish a home.

Both have entered into the civic life of the town as well as the church, social and business activities. Brokaw is manager of a store, and both he and his wife are active in church work, and both have interest in all affairs that are good for their city. Brokaw is vice president of the city league softball association. Mrs. Brokaw plays on the women's team.

These young people knew all of the answers about our countries to the north, east or west. As they compared notes they were amazed at similarities and occasionally at sharp contrasts.

Food is something one has to learn in any of these countries. Fruit is scarce and prohibitive in price; meat is mutton, moose, horsemeat. Fish is something you learn to like very much or never want to see again.

An astounding fact brought out in discussion was that the stores in all 3 countries are equal to those in our cities here for variety and quality of merchandise. The young people dress much the same as here, the course of study in the schools is similar to our own schools, Catholic and Lutheran churches predominate in the islands. Almost any denomination can be found among the 55 churches in Anchorage.

Mrs. Wagner and Miss Adams have many pleasant recollections of the far north. Mr. and Mrs. William E.

Brokaw and young son Danny have spent a month vacationing in Michigan, Indiana and California and looking forward to going back to their Alaskan home.

All agreed that the people in far away countries are not so different from our own. They have a different approach to some problems. All want a better world - better understanding and world peace.

Study Plan Of Training Facility

The Ingham Intermediate Board of Education Tuesday night discussed with architects the plan for the new Ingham County Training facility to be built on a 40 acre tract of land in the southeastern section of Lansing near Forest and Aurelius roads and adjacent to the Forest View school.

When completed, expected about next year, the facility will be operated for trainable mentally handicapped children throughout the Ingham Intermediate school district.

The work at the facility will be a comprehensive approach for retarded children. Over a period of years it is planned to expand the program in an effort to provide a "continuum" of care for each retarded person at progressive life stages.

Included in this first building will be a training and evaluation center, an evaluation clinic, a day care treatment center, a trainable school, a host school, recreation facilities.

Two aspects of the program are built into parent and community education, professional training and research, all in the field of retardation. The building will contain 67,000 square feet of floor space.

The board Tuesday night also discussed implications of Act 343 which provides for auxiliary services for non-public schools as far as it applies to Ingham county.

The new proposal plus the estimated levies for 1966 amounts to 7.46 mills as contrasted with 7.91 mills in 1959.
