Two Delts in the Cabinet

By CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

WHAT becomes of the boys who lead their classes at college? Well, one of them is the new Secretary of Agriculture in President Roosevelt's Cabinet.

And how about the football captains? Though it does seem that the Navy needs their help more than the Army, judging by scores of recent years, the star right tackle and captain of the championship Nebraska team of '94 sits at the same Cabinet table as the Secretary of War.

Probably the class of '10 at Iowa State contained no more serious member than Henry Agard Wallace. His devotion to the soil and its products found its outlet in study at the famed agricultural college, and at graduation he stood first in his class of more than 100 members.

In the intervening years the promise of that achievement has been well fulfilled. Today he ranks with the foremost agricultural economists of the world. His book on agricultural prices, published in 1920, has never been excelled as a compilation and correlation of price-making factors. His farm journal, published at Des Moines by three generations of Wallaces, is read by thousands of farmers in Iowa and adjoining states. And President Roosevelt has picked him at 45 to combat the biggest farm problem in all history.

As he sits at his desk in a wide, oak-panelled room at the Department of Agriculture, he faces a life-sized portrait of a distinguished, red-haired, smiling man, who ten years ago occupied the same chair. It is an oil painting of his father, the late Henry Cantwell Wallace, Gamma Pi, '92, Secretary of Agriculture under Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

The position of that portrait, so conspicuous in that well appointed room, is a token of a lasting comradeship between father and son. Henry Agard Wallace is following the precepts of his sire in a manner that could not have failed to bring satisfaction to the kindly gentleman who, throughout his life, fought the same good fight for agriculture.

On the fraternity side the story of the present Wallace is not that of a legacy who followed in his father's footsteps when he entered college. The chapter of Delta Tau Delta to which Henry C. Wallace belonged at Iowa State had become extinct some years before his son entered. Henry A. Wallace joined a local group, the Hawkeye Club. Its members were ready to petition a national, and they wanted Delta Tau Delta. Needless to say, the aid of the senior Wallace, then editor of Wallace's Farmer, was readily enlisted. And a year after Wallace graduated, he went back to the campus to become a member of his father's fraternity.

No "Pennsylvania Avenue farmer" is the present head of the extensive U. S. Department of Agriculture. That is a Washington expression, used to describe the gentry who combine farm relief agitation and politics so effectively that their closest approach to the soil is an occasional round of golf. He was born and grew up on a farm and still directs the farming on 400 acres in Iowa.

Described by terse news dispatches as the new "czar of agriculture," he deprecates the term and would rather be regarded as the administrator of a plan embodying what the farmers themselves want done. That, in effect, was the purpose of the bill prepared by himself and his advisers, which is about to be enacted into law as this is written.

Hard-boiled legislators who have seen a procession of farm-relief plans come to grief are impressed by this straightforward young Iowan, who says what he thinks without evasion. Some of them have their doubts about the effectiveness of the new farm bill, but they are convinced that its provisions will be applied with firmness and decision.

His look is one of earnestness, touched with combativeness. Topped by a plume-like shock of black hair, his habitual expression is one of mental concentration; but his gray eyes have an alert quality which indicates his interest as he listens—and he listens more than he talks.

Aside from his prominence in the editorial field, Secretary Wallace has won distinction in the field of agricultural economics and in developing a higher-yielding strain of corn. Early discarding the theory that show corn must be attractive to the eye, he proceeded on the theory that yield alone was the proper objective, and his book on corn and corn growing remarks that "whether corn has smooth or rough kernels means very little more than the presence or absence of a dimple on a pretty girl."

Ability to foresee the future of American agriculture has won him the respect of his agricultural readers. In editorials published in Wallace's Farmer, of which he succeeded his father as editor when the senior Wallace was made Secretary of Agriculture in 1921, he predicted the farm crash of 1920; and in 1922 he forecast that another deflation was due when American loans to Europe stopped, unless the United States reduced its tariff or its exportable farm surpluses.

In 1914 he married Ilo Browne of Indianola, Iowa, a Delta Delta Delta from Simpson College. They have three children, Henry B., aged 17; Robert B., aged 14; and Jean B., aged 12.

His trim physical lines are the result of an addiction to tennis and badminton, at both of which he is said to be better than fair; and his summer recreation is tramping and mountain climbing in Colorado, where his mother has a cottage near Colorado Springs. But the Western vacation is probably out for this year.

And whether the farm relief plan of this administration works or not—that's Henry A. Wallace's future.

The New War Secretary

A SOURCE of pride to Secretary of War George H. Dern, Beta Tau, '95, is that group of Delt neophytes with whom he was initiated into the Fraternity in 1893 to form Beta Tau Chapter at the University of Nebraska.

Starting as representative types of Cornhusker youth, they proved they knew where they were going, not only in their choice of a fraternity, but in reaching the individual goals which destiny placed within their reach.

Of that group of ten, three became governors of states, one was a state supreme court justice, three more were eminent attorneys, and all attained a considerable measure of success.

Dern was governor of Utah from 1925 to 1933; Adam McMullen and Arthur J. Weaver were governors of Nebraska, 1925-29 and 1929-31; W. W. Wilson was a justice of the Nebraska supreme court; William M. Johnston and his brother James Johnston became leading lawyers of Billings, Montana; and E. C. Strode was a prominent lawyer of Lincoln.

Not bad for one charter chapter. But their start at Nebraska gave promise of future performance. When the Army-Navy teams meet next fall, the boys from West Point will be playing before a chief who knows his football, for the present Secretary of War was knocking 'em down at right guard and right tackle for Nebraska before they were born.

Those were the days when tackles carried the ball in addition to taking care of their general assignment, and Missouri valley rooters saw the championship Nebraska team of 1894 pile up yards with Tackle Dern toting the leather. A tackle-around-end play, a forerunner of the present criss-cross, was devised for the husky captain from Dodge county, and Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri tried without much success to stop it. The Cornhuskers of '94 had the same success as later generations of Howells and Sauers, and Dern was the first of a long line of Delt stars at Beta Tau.

The road to political success for many a Western statesman has led through the mines, and George Dern followed it, but without the political end in view. Moving West with his parents, he started as bookkeeper for a Utah mining company, and within a few years was general manager of the Consolidated Mercur Gold Mines at Mercur, Utah, a position he held until 1913.

One of his earlier western acquaintances was Theodore P. Holt, a professor of metallurgy at the University of Utah. They collaborated on an ore roasting process, trying it out in the mines Dern was managing with such success that 1901 production had reached 1,000 tons of ore a day. The mechanism became known as the Holt-Dern roaster, after the owners of the patent, and the ex-football captain was known as one of the West's highly capable mining men.

He was made vice-president and general manager of the Holt-Christensen Process Company and branched into other business activities. Shortly after he had established his home in Utah, he married the girl of his college days, Charlotte Brown of Fremont, and of this marriage five children are living, three sons and two daughters.

Aside from a term on the local school board at Mercur, his first political feint was a try in 1906 at the Utah legislature—an unsuccessful one, though he carried his own town almost solidly. Like most Nebraskans of the Bryan era, he gave his allegiance to the Democratic party, but Utah was principally Republican.

A widening range of business interests drew him to Salt Lake City, and the good Mormons of that capital showed proper appreciation of the sterling qualities of this Nebraska Congregationalist by electing him in 1915 to the state senate, where he served until 1923.

The World War gave him his first touch of martial glory, but it came to him vicariously as a member of the state counsel of defense. He had grown in the esteem of his community and state, however, to the point where the Democrats turned to him as their candidate for governor in 1924, and he won handily.

If the War Department doubts that it has a fighter at its head, it need only turn to the record of the long controversy over the Colorado River compact, in which Governor Dern made practical application of his traditional Democratic belief in state's rights. Convinced that the original compact of 1923 contained no guarantee of fair share of Colorado River water for the individual states, he persuaded Utah to withdraw its ratification and joined Arizona in a fight for a fairer agreement. His four year fight was terminated successfully by the drafting of the new six-state compact in 1929, which Utah approved.

The conference of state governors at Washington in 1930 was one of the turning points in the career of the square-jawed vigorous governor of Utah, though he did not know it at the time. His forthright outspoken manner won the esteem there of the then governor of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt. What was more, Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Dern struck up a strong friendship, and Governor Dern went back to Utah to rouse the West for his Empire State colleague.

Political gossip before the Chicago convention last year made Dern Roosevelt's favorite for the vice-presidential nomination, but expediency took a hand. There was never a doubt, however, that this Far Western statesman would be invited to some important post by the new President. And what was anticipated came true.

Secretary Dern's military training was limited to drill in the cadet corps at the University of Nebraska. But the young lieutenant who taught him squads right was named John J. Pershing, and now their offices are at opposite ends of the corridor in the War Department building at Washington.

The World's Fair Karnea

By NORMAN MacLEOD, President of Delta Tau Delta

NO SOONER had the 1931 Seattle Karnea adjourned than a group of Chicago Delts went into a huddle and started then and there to lay plans for the 1933 World's Fair Karnea.

On my way back from Seattle a wire from the committee told me that things were under way and that I had better stop off in Chicago and attend a meeting of the 1933 Karnea Committee. At this meeting I had the first real insight into the magnitude and world wide significance of this Century of Progress International Exposition. For the past five years workmen have been busy on an entire new strip of land extending along the front of Lake Michigan for some 400 acres.

Karneas are not new to Chicago. More than 1,000 members of the Fraternity gathered in Chicago for the 1911 Karnea, and the one who was responsible for the management and direction of that history-making event is again at the helm of the Chicago Committee—Charles F. Axelson. "Ax," as is he is known throughout the Fraternity, is a former member of the Arch Chapter, a trustee of the University of Chicago, and one of the foremost business leaders of the Mid-West metropolis. Other outstanding workers for the Fraternity make up a whole host of committees, whose names appear in the present number of THE RAINBOW. It is safe that the World's Fair Karnea is in the hands of some of the most able members of the entire Fraternity.

On a cold, snappy day last December I had the pleasure of being hustled into one of those long caravans that have already taken thousands of persons over the grounds, and, headed by "Ax," France Patton, and Sam Sackett, we set out on a tour of inspection. Here and there we stopped and entered the huge buildings that are to house those developments that go to mark a "Century of Progress." There stands the reproduction of old Fort Dearborn in all its historic grandeur; here numerous lagoons are being built through which boats and canoes will dash back and forth. The Hall of Science, with its fifty-seven foot ceiling—the very spirit of scientific achievement; the Travel & Transportation Building, to house the spectacle of one hundred years of transportation; the Electrical Building, that will tell the epic of electricity; the Hall of Social Science, telling the comprehensive story of the life of man from prehistoric times; the huge buildings by the auto manufacturers, where cars will be made under the very eyes of the visitors. Then on to other points on the Lake front—the golden Pavilion of Jehol; the India Pavilion; the Maya building, housing that bygone Indian civilization; the Chinese Lama Temple, and scores upon scores of other points of interest even before the Exposition was pronounced complete.

With this as a background Delta Tau Delta is calling her sons from the chapters in the North, the South, the East, the West, from the Dominion of Canada, and from the highways and the byways of life all over the globe where reside her alumni, to assemble in Chicago on August 31st, September 1st and 2nd to attend this the World's Fair Karnea.

In a recent publication from the Exposition came this interesting statement; "As is customary in anniversary celebrations, the carnival spirit will prevail; but in addition to the fun there will be serious contemplation of the past and sober consideration of the future."

Well may this be taken as the theme for the forthcoming Karnea.

While the Century of Progress Exposition marks the celebration of one hundred years of progress, Delta Tau Delta is proud of the fact that her Karnea is meeting almost on the eve of her own seventy-fifth anniversary—three-quarters of a century of progress in the life of a whole host of university and college men.

The Karnea Committee has arranged for the proper recognition of this event by setting aside a part of the program featuring the anniversary. The Fraternity, founded in 1859 at Bethany College, Virginia (now West Virginia), has no living members of the original chapter; but Dr. Herbert L.

Willett, member of the class of 1880 at Bethany and himself the father of three Delts, has agreed to preside at these anniversary exercises.

"Contemplation of the past, and sober consideration of the future." This theme will truly underlie the business of the Karnea. An important part of the deliberations will cover the adoption of the suggestions contained in the report of the Committee on Reorganization appointed following the Seattle Karnea. The establishment of a Founders' Day as part of our national program, the consideration of petitioning groups, and the whole matter of expansion will be laid before the Karnea by the various committees. The five general officers of the Fraternity are also to be elected.

All of us will look forward to the series of round table conferences that have become so much a part of recent Karneas. Here delegate after delegate will bring the experience of his chapter on a wide range of subjects from rushing plans and programs to finances. All these leaders have been selected in advance, so that the delegates will have a chance to take back to their chapters information and data that have been carefully prepared.

Those attending the Karnea, both alumni and actives, will I know be proud of the fact that during these recent years, when many long established businesses have cracked under the strain, not one chapter of Delta Tau Delta has been obliged to close its doors. True it is that our chapters have faced serious problems, and the Karnea will hear in detail of the work of the Central Office, our field staff, and of those unsung heroes in the various chapters who have been responsible for the achievements of the last two years.

Those of you who have attended a Karnea need no special urging to come again. There is something about a Karnea that grips you, makes you feel a little prouder of your Fraternity. Perhaps after all you just can't define that something; you just simply feel it and know that it is present. Here the oldest alumnus mingles with the newest freshman, greets his chums, or renews again the acquaintances he made when as an active he was the chapter's delegate.

So come out to Chicago the end of August, and there at the World's Fair Karnea amid more colored lights than are visible in any equal area or in any city of the world, stand up with the more than 2,000 other Delts and let your voice join once again in that rousing song:

*"Delta Tau Delta, Delta,
You are my safest shelter!"*

The Distribution of Life Members

YOU have heard a good deal about the Loyalty Fund, and from time to time you have seen in THE RAINBOW published lists of the Fraternity's paid-up life members.

Did you ever wonder which chapters had the best showings?

There are two classes, as it were, of this membership: one is made up of those old-time alumni who subscribed $500 or $100 or $50 straight out; the other is composed of those men who were recently in college and who have now left as paid-up life members.

It is interesting to note that some chapters who have a long list from the first class have none from the second, and, vice versa, that some chapters lack entirely in old-timer representation, but are among the larger gainers through recent graduates.

At any rate, the record reads like this:

Chapters with no representation:

Lambda	Delta Eta
Pi	Delta Iota
Beta Delta	Delta Kappa
Beta Phi

Chapters with one life member:

Gamma	Gamma Iota
Theta	Gamma Nu
Iota	Gamma Rho
Xi	Gamma Omega
Psi	Delta Delta
Beta Epsilon	Delta Theta
Beta Eta	Delta Lambda

Chapters with two life members:

Epsilon	Gamma Zeta
Beta Theta	Delta Beta
Beta Iota	Delta Gamma
Gamma Epsilon

Chapters with three life members:

Eta	Gamma Gamma
Kappa	Gamma Delta
Nu	Gamma Tau
Omicron	Gamma Psi
Phi	Delta Zeta

Chapters with four life members:

Alpha	Beta Chi
Zeta	Gamma Kappa
Mu	Gamma Pi

Chapters with five life members:

Beta Kappa	Gamma Theta
Beta Omega	Gamma Chi

Chapters with six life members:

Beta	Beta Tau
Tau	Gamma Beta
Omega	Gamma Eta
Beta Gamma	Gamma Omicron
Beta Nu	Delta Alpha
Beta Xi	Delta Mu

Chapters with seven life members:

Delta	Gamma Lambda
Beta Beta	Gamma Mu
Beta Pi	Gamma Upsilon
Beta Psi

Chapters with eight life members:

Beta Omicron	Delta Epsilon
--------------	---------------

Chapters with nine life members:

Chi	Beta Rho
Beta Mu

Chapters with ten life members:

Beta Alpha	Beta Lambda
Beta Zeta

Chapters with eleven life members:

Gamma Xi

Chapters with twelve life members:

Upsilon

Chapters with thirteen life members:

Gamma Phi

Chapters with fifteen life members:

Gamma Sigma

Chapters with sixteen life members:

Gamma Alpha

Chapters with eighteen life members:

Beta Upsilon

The total life memberships to November 1, 1932, number 385.

Chicago Awaits You!

ON WEDNESDAY, August 30th, the clan will gather in Chicago at Karnea headquarters in the Palmer House, for on this day sessions of the Southern, Western, Northern, and Eastern Division Conferences will be held. Presidents Meyer, Groves, Lincoln, and Cornell will each preside over the Conference of his Division, examining reports, questioning active chapter delegates, making sure that each chapter will start the new college year fortified to meet these unusual conditions. These four affairs will offer to each attending alumnus the opportunity to meet and talk over conditions in his chapter with the active delegates. It should prove an eventful and interesting day.

Thursday, August 31st, is official registration day with business sessions morning and afternoon. Robert L. Willett, Chicago, '17, chairman of the Registration Committee, has already arranged for registration headquarters and will install a system which will make it possible for those registering to locate anyone attending the Karnea. The Palmer House, one of Chicago's finest and most centrally located hotels, is at Monroe and State Streets, in the heart of the Loop and one block south of what is often termed "the busiest corner in the world."

A get-together smoker will be held Thursday night, and a Smoker Committee, of which D. E. Hoopengartner, Indiana, '18, is chairman, is now busy making preliminary arrangements for food and entertainment, so that this affair will provide a meeting place for all and a chance for everyone to get acquainted. Some will come early and stay late, and some will come early and leave early; but there will be no formality, and it will provide a place from which to start.

The Show Continues Friday

THE business sessions of the Karnea will resume Friday morning, September 1st, and will run all day, interrupted by two events. The first adjournment takes place at noon in order to give all an opportunity to attend the Freshman Luncheon for Dr. Frank Wieland.

For years one of the outstanding Delt events in Chicago has been Dr. Wieland's annual dinner, to which he has, with careless disregard for his pocket-book, invited all the freshmen of all the chapters to attend as his guests. The whole world is topsyturvy today; so the usual process is being reversed, and the freshmen of the Fraternity will have Dr. Wieland as their guest of honor, and everyone except Dr. Wieland will pay for his luncheon. Thus the very few Delts who do not know Dr. Wieland will have the opportunity to meet him, and all will join in doing honor to this loyal and enthusiastic Delt of whom we are so fond.

During Friday afternoon time will be given for a ceremony celebrating the seventy-fifth year of Delta Tau Delta. Dr. Herbert L. Willett, Bethany, '86, will address the Karnea and give some interesting facts concerning the founding and history of our Fraternity. Dr. Willett, who is an outstanding figure in the religious world and a finished public speaker, is one of Chicago Deltdom's few members of our Mother Chapter. His three Delt sons expect to be present.

On the night of Friday, September 1st, one of the most important events of the World's Fair Karnea will be held, as this is Chapter Reunions Night. B. S. Pease, Jr., Wisconsin, '34, chairman of the Chapter Reunions Committee, has appointed an alumnus from practically every chapter, each appointee to head up his own chapter's reunion. These reunions will be held in various places, each Chapter Reunion Committee making its own arrangements. Already it is apparent that a large number of our chapters will have sizeable reunions, and this will offer a fine opportunity for one to see old chapter-mates.

A Model Initiation

THE Karnea business sessions will occupy all of Saturday, interrupted in the afternoon by a model initiation, conducted under the auspices of the Arch Chapter and under the particular direction of Ritualist Ray Carroll. W. L. McKay, Nebraska, '98, former Ritualist and former Editor of THE RAINBOW, is chairman of the Model Initiation Committee and will co-operate with the Arch Chapter in staging this ceremony.

The World's Fair Karnea will close the night of Saturday, September 2nd, with the Karnea banquet. The Speakers' Committee, headed by Dr. Wieland, Buchtel, '90, assures that we shall have several nationally prominent Delts as speakers, but none will be more interesting than Dr. Wieland himself as our inimitable toastmaster.

Practically all these events will be included in the registration fee, which we are planning to make the lowest on record.

Though many of our members will come to Chicago primarily for the Karnea, some will be attracted to the Century of Progress, which great exposition opened on June 1st, representing an investment of more than $20,000,000 in permanent buildings alone. Located in the heart of a great city, this World's Fair shows the latest developments in science, industry, art, and amusement; in fact, it is the story of mankind's achievements in the last hundred years.

One of the most beautiful buildings of all is the Sears, Roebuck Building, where Karnea headquarters on the Fair Grounds have been provided through the co-operation of E. H. Powell, Chicago, '11, who is treasurer of Sears, Roebuck & Company.

Hotel rates will not be raised, and railroad rates have been put at bargain levels. J. Wilbur Bridge, Ohio Wesleyan, '22, chairman of the Hotel and Lodgings Committee, is prepared to correspond with Delts and suggest inexpensive places to stay. Tourists camps have been erected on the outskirts of the city, and with the exercise of a little ingenuity a trip to the Karnea and the World's Fair can be made cheaply and comfortably.

The Result of Organization

IT is doubtful if a Karnea has ever been so well organized in advance, and it is certain no city has ever offered more attractions. A general committee of fifteen members and, in addition, the chairmen of fifteen different special committees have been at work since last Fall. We have correct addresses of more than 700 Delts living in the Chicago metropolitan area, and we expect to not only break the record established at the Chicago 1911 Karnea, of 1,000 Delts in attendance, but to set another record for fraternity convention attendance. In spite of business conditions, we believe it conservative to expect a registration of more than 2,500.

The oldsters are running this Karnea; in fact, men who were pledged to the Chapter Eternal have got into the harness and are all pulling together to make this the greatest fraternity convention ever held. It will be if you not only come yourself, but make it a point to correspond with some of your best Delt friends and urge that they meet you at the World's Fair Karnea.

What Delt can resist such an invitation and such an opportunity?

Statesman Son of a Statesman Father

By CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

YOU might say he was reared in an atmosphere of statecraft, meaning a higher order of politics; but that would envisage an austere, scholarly, rhetorical legislator of the type commonly associated with the British parliament rather than a squarely built, jovial, easy-to-meet individual like Bennett Champ Clark, Gamma Kappa (Missouri), '13, son of the late Champ Clark, Theta, '63, and United States senator from Missouri.

You might think that his heritage of more fine traditions than any newcomer to the "world's greatest deliberative body" has boasted in years would tend to impress him with a sense of his own importance, but his colleagues in the Senate and the 300 critics of the press gallery haven't discovered any such manifestation.

On the contrary, they have found this heir to the mantle worn by Benton, Schurz, Cockrell, Vest, Stone, and the inimitable James A. Reed—this son of the lovable speaker of the House who reached the very threshold of the White House—as much like his distinguished father as a man can be and still possess a personality distinctly his own.

The explanation, if any be necessary, is that Champ Clark's eminence failed to handicap his son. That oft-repeated tragedy of American life, in which the son appears as a mere copy of his sire, is not the story of Bennett Clark.

And yet it might easily have been. The lure of political grandeur drew him from the Missouri campus at Columbia as an undergraduate to the national capital, where his father had been elevated to the speakership of the House and was being boomed for the Democratic Presidential nomination. That was in 1910, and Bennett had passed 20. He studied law for a year or so, saw Champ Clark's Presidential aspirations rise to the peak and then fade at Baltimore in 1912—and went back to the University of Missouri to finish his course.

The effect of his father's defeat for the Presidency—that crushing blow to a whole generation of Delts—upon his own consciousness is problematical, but his return to Washington in 1913 was the beginning of a fine maturity for Bennett Champ Clark. Made parliamentarian of the House at the age of 23, he finished his law course by study at night, told Congressmen what they could and couldn't do by day, and started upon a career which would have led him to some distinction had the speaker on the rostrum above him not been his father.

He was one of the first to enroll in the officers' training camp at Fort Myer, Va., in 1917. His instructors thought well enough of him to make him a captain, but some of his old friends in Missouri thought even better of his qualifications. Organizing the Sixth Missouri Infantry, which later became the 140th Infantry, 35th Division, they elected the ex-parliamentarian lieutenant-colonel, and that's why today he doesn't owe his title of Colonel Clark to the governor of Kentucky.

Before the war ended, he had successively served as assistant chief of staff of two American divisions overseas, the 88th and his own 35th. He wanted to command troops in action, particularly those of his old regiment; but that chance was denied him when the war ended as the 35th was all set and in position to join the Second Army in its projected drive on Metz.

His most vivid memory of the war is not a picture of martial glory; it is the sad recollection of his search for lumber in the battle area to make coffins for the scores of his own troops who were dying of flu, haggling with French authorities over price, assembling enough able bodied artisans to put together the rude boxes in which the dead were laid away.

A group of veterans who decided that no time should be lost in forming a permanent organization of those who had formed the American army in the great crisis of 1917-18 met in Paris in the spring of 1919. Like all old soldiers, they were a talkative group. A presiding officer with a knowledge of parliamentary law became the need of the hour. And who better suited to that position than Colonel (he had received his promotion in March) Bennett Champ Clark?

The Legion's First Commander

THAT meeting was the nucleus of the American Legion, and in recognition of his work there, Colonel Clark was made a past commander when formal organization was completed on home soil. He thus takes rank as the first national commander of the Legion (Ralph "Dike" O'Neill of Kansas was the second Delt to be accorded that honor).

Well, that was a pretty fair start for a young fellow who was already thinking of following in his daddy's political footsteps. But Bennett wasn't precipitate about following up that ambition. He bided his time. Friends urged him to run for Congress, for governor, for other offices; but he was doing well as a young lawyer, and incidentally acquiring a lot of potential supporters when he should choose to run for something.

He knew and had the respect of the big men in the Democratic party. One of them was the late Wilbur Marsh of Waterloo, Iowa, treasurer of the party in the campaigns of 1916 and 1920.

"I knew him for years before I learned he had a daughter," says Senator Clark, with his broad grin. But he had met that daughter before 1922, because on October 2nd of that year he escorted Miss Miriam Marsh to the altar. The wedding had been postponed six months because the prospective bridegroom was up to his ears in the campaign to re-elect James A. Reed, his greatest political mentor aside from his father, to the Senate seat he himself now occupies.

Of that marriage there are three sons—10 year old Champ and the twins, March and Kimball, aged 4½. Mrs. Clark is a graduate of Vassar.

That long awaited chance to campaign on his own came at last in 1932, and the advantage to which Bennett Clark used it is best indicated by his victory in a three-cornered primary race. Political observers had spotted one of his opponents, backed by the strongest machine in Missouri, 90,000 votes—and Clark defeated him by 96,000! His other opponent was the leading dry Democrat in Missouri, from which you may be able to figure where B. C. stands on prohibition.

Straight from the Shoulder

MISSOURIANS haven't been left in doubt at any time as to where Champ's son stands on this or that. With former Senator Harry B. Hawes, whom he succeeded recently, he declared war on the Ku Klux Klan in 1923, starting a row which flared into national proportions at the Democratic national convention at New York the following year.

It is telling no secret to say that the present centralization of power at Washington to meet the emergency is not to the liking of this states-rights Democrat, by conviction and inheritance. Some of his recent votes indicate as much.

Last year literary critics the country over praised his biography of John Quincy Adams, sixth President of the United States, and marveled that a Jeffersonian Democrat should choose as his subject a federalist like the second Adams. But Clark's interest in Adams sprang in part from his discovery that no adequate biography of the man had ever been written; he searched the records of early Congressional debates over a period of 20 years, obtaining material for his biography that had never been touched. That is his first and only book to date.

Research and study seem less typical of Bennett Clark than the fluent speech of which he is capable, though he has adhered to the tradition that freshman Senators shall be seen and not heard. But he does a lot of both, dating back to his experience at Missouri, when he was a member of the debating team and drafted the plan of student government still in use. Older Delts will recall that Champ Clark starred at many a Fraternity banquet and—well, there's another Champ Clark who doesn't seem to have any postprandial shortcomings.

The Eastern Division Sectional Meetings

By FRANK M. CORNELL

THE experiment is completed, and its success is being proclaimed to the four winds. The fifty-seven brothers of Delta Tau Delta who were so fortunate to participate in the sectional meetings of the Eastern Division are unanimous in their praise and enthusiasm for this type of yearly conference.

The reasons are obvious. The meetings were short, business-like, and efficient. The attendance at each was small, providing a free and informal basis for discussion. Every phase of chapter management was represented, and the discussions therefore were more definite and the conclusions harmonious to the progress of the chapters involved. The accommodations were pleasant, and the delegates' expenses nil—both which contributed much to the agreeable atmosphere. All in all, the delegates left with a feeling that they had got something and with much acclaim for that type of conference.

The first of the meetings was held in Boston, at the University Club, on February 18th, with Tubby Merrill, vice-president of the Division, as host. The meeting began with breakfast, at which the various delegates became acquainted over coffee and marmalade. The sessions began at 9:30, and, with the exception of an hour off for lunch, ran through to 6:30 that evening. Main topics of discussion included rushing, finances, scholarship, and house corporation management. That evening the Boston Alumni Association was revived at a banquet, to which the delegates to the meeting were invited, and sixty enthusiastic Yankees sat down to the festal board. The former president of the Division, F. Darrell Moore, was gracious enough to attend and lent the session much of his past experience. The chapters participating in this meeting were Gamma Nu, Beta Nu, Beta Mu, Gamma Phi, Gamma Zeta, Gamma Gamma, and Beta Chi.

The second meeting was held in Pittsburgh, at the Hotel Schenley, March 4th, with Buzz Doyle, vice-president of the Division, and Reggie Wilson as hosts. Alpha, Gamma Sigma, Delta Beta, Gamma, Tau, and Gamma Delta all sent representatives, and again the business session ran from 9:30 to 6:30, with occasional disturbances as the banking holiday was announced and President Roosevelt was sworn in as the guide of our destinies for the next four years. We had Ted Bergman with us. He conveyed to the delegates the best points in chapter operation in those chapters in the West from which he had just returned. As before, the most lengthy discussion centered around rushing plans and organization and finances. Those who were not entirely fagged out piled into a taxi and spent the evening at the opening of Forty-Second Street. Most of us will remember that ride—seven men and a fur coat in a Yellow—each bump causing yells of pain from those underneath. (The economy feature of this type of meeting was evidently well emphasized.)

The third meeting was held in Philadelphia, at the University Club, on March 25th, with Jordan Gauthier, vice-president of the Division. Here again the business of the meeting occupied the entire discussion and the subjects discussed included rushing and finances particularly. We were fortunate in having Norm MacLeod with us during the greater part of the day; he participated in the discussion quite as freely as the other men. Omega was holding her initiation banquet that evening, to which all the delegates were extended invitations. There we enjoyed speeches by Norm MacLeod, Alvan Duerr, Frank Brumm, and others. The slight fall of snow and the prospect of driving back in open cars could not dampen the gay feelings of the participants as the party broke up late in the evening.

The fourth and final meeting was held in Syracuse, at the Hotel Syracuse, April 8th, with George Hoy, vice-president of the Division. Delta Theta, Gamma Omicron, Beta Omicron, and Upsilon sent delegates. We had breakfast together, and immediately following began the business session, which continued throughout the day. Very active discussion centered around rushing and chapter organization, and the meeting was interested in the many unusual features of the Toronto system. After the meeting "we gathered around the banquet board" and enjoyed an excellent dinner and floor show in the main dining room of the hotel. The gathering broke up later in the evening as the delegates made reservations out, to be home for Palm Sunday. The cordiality and enthusiasm of the delegates were impressive signs that the affair was a success.

Now for some statistics. Twenty-one chapters participated in the meetings, and the possible attendance, including chapter delegates, advisers, and house corporation officials, could have been sixty-three. The actual attendance was fifty-seven, which is well nigh perfect for the first time, and an experiment at that. Other Divisions will be interested to know that the costs were slightly less than the carfare item to a regular conference, and necessitated no expense by the delegates or the chapters in any way, as is customary at the ordinary conference. Comparing the total costs of the sectional meeting with the average total costs of past conferences, the results indicate the per capita cost of attendance is about one-sixth, which indicates a considerable saving in this form of meeting. The small amount of outside entertainment allowed plenty of time for business, and the general feeling is that more ground was covered, and more efficiently, than ever accomplished at the regular Division conference.

In the small meetings the principal discussion centered around rushing, and it was possible to go into every detail of this problem to the benefit of those interested. The corporation officials were enabled to see the whole picture of chapter operation and thereby gain a better knowledge of the tie-up of chapter management. The better features of chapter house ownership and maintenance were brought out, and those handicapped by weak features got a clear picture of the entire system from those directly in charge. The advisers were enabled to participate in the discussion of chapter policies and organization, and gained a more complete knowledge of the various systems in use. All in all, the real success of these meetings resulted from the small numbers and the participation by all those interested in the operation of the various chapters, together with the complete informality of the sessions.

We of the Eastern Division are quite well pleased with the possibilities of this type of conference. If the results in the other Divisions are anything like they have been in the Eastern Division, it is quite likely that this form of meeting will be substituted for a regular conference every other year, as is being considered by the Eastern Division.

In accordance with the provisions of the Eastern Division Constitution the prescribed conference will be a perfunctory affair to be held at the time of the Karnea. The official approval of the Division is desired for the adoption of this type of Conference in years in which the Karnea is not held and approval for the temporary reduction of Division dues. All in all, the experiment was highly gratifying.

Delts Who Do Things

IV. LEONARD J. FLETCHER

V. EVERETT R. FILLEY

IN 1915 the yearbook of Iowa State College described a certain senior as a "man looking for high ideals."

The subject of the phrase was Leonard J. Fletcher, better known on the campus as "Fletch." He had entered college four years earlier, and, with a head singularly clear for a freshman, had deliberately devoted practically all his time that first year to the amazing objective of mastering his textbooks. College activities, he considered, could come later.

And so they did: his fraternity activity, his memberships in circles and forums and leagues and literary groups; his campus politics, his track work. Before he got through he had the distinction of being the first Iowa State man to make both Tau Beta Pi and Alpha Zeta, honorary engineering and agricultural organizations.

Now, not so long ago, this same man was elected president of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

It is the same old story of a long and steady climb, the successive steps built solidly on intelligence and perception and citizenship and character.

Graduating from Iowa State in 1915, Mr. Fletcher went first as an instructor at the University of Washington. From there he went to the College of Agriculture of the University of California, at Davis. Six years later he became the head of the agricultural engineering department and chairman of the California committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture.

Mr. Fletcher's next step was to become supervisor of agricultural sales for the Caterpillar Tractor Company, at Peoria, Illinois. In the meantime he had been going higher and higher in the councils of the A. S. A. E., being first chairman of the Pacific Coast section of the Society, and then becoming first vice-president and chairman of the College and the Power & Machinery Divisions.

In 1928 the Russian Wheat Trust sent a commission over to study agricultural conditions in America. The idea was that Russia wanted to organize agriculture on a factory basis. As a result the commission selected Mr. Fletcher as adviser, so that he spent 1929 in Russia, visiting innumerable projects, advising as to this and that, and even assisting the principal of the Russian school of agricultural engineering in organizing a program in connection with the development and use of machines in Russian agriculture.

"Fletcher never indulged in waste motion," says W. L. Howard, director of the College of Agriculture at Davis. "But he never took himself too seriously. He could laugh at himself just as well as at or with others. And he plays as hard as he works."

* * * *

FOLLOWING the old adage "Always do a little more than you are getting paid for and you will get paid for more than you do," Everett R. Filley, Gamma Theta (Baker), '15, now of Tulsa, Oklahoma, has become one of the most prominent figures in the oil industry of Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Kentucky.

It may have been inheritance and again it may have been environment that put the oil bug into the blood stream of Mr. Filley. Anyhow, he had it. His father, having followed the oil game in Nebraska, moved to Okmulgee, Oklahoma, when Everett was a lad. In the heart of the oil industry Everett trudged with his father to the oil derricks and became intensely interested in dad's work. After completing his public school and high school at Okmulgee he enrolled as a freshman at Baker University.

Since sophomore pledging was in vogue at Baker in those days, Mr. Filley began delving into the secrets of Delta Tau Delta his second year. During his four years in Baker he was one of the most popular men of the campus.

During the summer months his need for extra ducats and the call of the oil fields found him doing the heavy around the rigs near Okmulgee.

After completing the Bachelor of Arts work and still having his eye on the oil game he decided the fundamentals of law would be an advantage to him; so he attended the University of Kansas Law School.

Now to go back to the oil business. With his sheepskin tucked away, Mr. Filley went back to Oklahoma and started at the bottom round of the oil ladder. He took a place as a clerk in the accounting department of the Producers Oil Company, which later became the Texas Company of Oklahoma. Climbing round by round, he now stands at the top and is manager of the Kansas-Oklahoma-Kentucky Producing Company of the Texas Company.

Last December, in recognition of service to the oil industry, he was made president of the Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Mid-Continental Oil & Gas Association. Then, because he is one of those men who can carry heavy loads and never whimper, he was chosen by the executives of the active oil concerns of Oklahoma as chairman of the Oklahoma State-wide Pro-ration Committee.

To keep mentally and physically fit Mr. Filley takes his daily dozen with his boys in one of the fine swimming pools of Tulsa. During the winter months he and Mrs. Filley and some of their friends have a regular schedule for ice skating.

But the height of Mr. Filley's climbing has not dimmed his vision as to his duties to the church and civic functions. He is one of the leaders in the Methodist Episcopal Church; a trustee of Baker University, his alma mater; and at least twice annually he drops in to spend an evening or night with the boys of Gamma Theta. Just what the boys think of him can be summed up with the words of one of the actives: "He is so different. It makes no difference who is there, he is one of us. He joins our talkfests, sleeps with us, and before he leaves has given us valuable council. We are mighty happy to have Filley with us."

Baker Guards Bishop Quayle Bibles

A RARE collection of historic Bibles willed to it by the late Bishop William Alfred Quayle, Gamma Theta (Baker), '85, is carefully guarded by Baker University.

Through the courtesy of The Christian Student and the kindly assistance of Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, Mu (Ohio Wesleyan), '87, THE RAINBOW is able to give the Fraternity the story.

Bishop Quayle, an alumnus, professor, and former president of Baker, spent all the royalties from his books in collecting rare Bibles. He left at his death one of the most remarkable assemblies of copies of the Scriptures in the world. Included in it are the Roll (probably the oldest manuscript in the group), which, although undated, undoubtedly goes back to the thirteenth century; a Latin Codex of about 1225 A.D.; thirteen incunabula, the earliest dated 1469, thirteen years after the Gutenberg Bible; the Rodt et Richel Bible of 1470, with gorgeously illuminated initials; a small Bible bound in stamped pigskin from the Froben press at Basle, where Erasmus was "corrector of the press"; Bibles from most of the famous printing presses of the sixteenth century; copies of the Scriptures in a number of foreign languages, including the Arabic, Turkish, Syriac, Persian, Chinese, Gothic, Welsh, Italian, and German; and three great modern Bibles, Macklin's, the Grolier, and the Dove's Press Bible. Also to be found in the Quayle collection are Bibles once owned by Robert Browning and Robert Louis Stevenson.

A special room, equipped with unique cases, has been set aside by Baker to house the Quayle collection. In order to provide against all exigencies of fire, theft, excessive light, the moisture of human breath, and the touch of human hands, the safes in which the precious books rest were made to order. President Wallace B. Fleming of Baker describes the system as follows: "The Bibles are laid upon plush cushions in shallow drawers which have very clear plateglass coverings. On the very special occasions when detailed examination of any volume is desired by some visiting scholar, the volume to be examined may be removed from the case. Ordinary inspection is very easy, and yet the books are in the dark except when being examined."

There is a world-wide interest in the Quayle collection, men and women having come from almost every state and from at least a dozen foreign countries to see and study the rare volumes it contains.

Bishop Quayle joined the Chapter Eternal in 1925.

Two Kingpins in the Chicago Fair

IT LOOKS almost as if this Chicago Century of Progress World's Fair—an adjunct to the 1933 Karnea—would hardly have been able to get going at all if it hadn't been for Delta Tau Delta.

Apart from the fact that the Karnea, as Frank Wieland says, will probably make the Fair, one Delt, it appears, has had the job making the land on which the Fair is located, and another is its assistant director of operations and finance.

The one is George "Tim" Donoghue, Beta Upsilon (Illinois), '06, and the other is C. W. Farrier, Gamma Beta (Armour), '16.

From Urbana to Chicago

As "Tim" Donoghue the first was a prominent figure in campus life at Urbana; as George Donoghue he is an important factor in the civic life of Chicago, where his engineering training and his keen knowledge of human nature are at the service of the South Park Commissioners, for whom he is general superintendent.

On coming to Chicago visitors will learn that the Century of Progress is located on land built out into Lake Michigan by the South Park Commissioners for park purposes and turned over to the Fair management for the purposes of the Exposition. As chief executive officer of the Board Mr. Donoghue has brought his engineering knowledge into the planning and supervising of the entire lake building project, and has been responsible also for the operation of the park organization and its human engineering services.

The outstanding historic uses of Soldiers Field Stadium have been organized and carried through during his administration. The Eucharistic Congress, which packed the structure with perhaps 225,000 spectators; the Tunney-Dempsey fight, which provided well over 180,000 reserved seats; the Army-Navy football game, with more than 110,000 within the structure; the various Notre Dame contests—all were problems which called upon his organizing genius, not only in the routing and direction of traffic, but in the actual handling of the human problems.

His work is of a fortunate type, for it combines the problems with which he is best fitted to deal with things which by their nature are of the greatest interest to him personally. He has long been a keen follower of athletics; his knowledge of athletic personalities and records is encyclopedic. Now he has under his direct charge one of the world's most famous recreation systems, engaged in the promotion of athletic activities for all the people of the south side of Chicago, old and young. Himself on the Board of Governors of the National A. A. U., a position which took him out to the Coast last summer as an official in the Olympic Games, one of the pleasantest parts of his job is to lend encouragement to the park athletes and take an active interest in their sports. As a member of the World's Fair Committee on the sports program for the coming Fair he will have a busy but happy year assisting in the direction of many meets and tournaments.

A One-Armed Paper-Hanger!

IF MR. DONOGHUE is a busy man, it seems that Mr. Farrier must, at least part of the time, be even busier.

He has charge of the maintenance and operation of all the Exposition equipment—police, fire, transportation, waste disposal, and utilities, as well as the operation of all the free attractions. In addition he handles all the architectural gadgets and connecting links that are not properly the affairs of the other departments.

It was he who conceived the idea for the unusual dome of the Travel and Transport Building.

Before he took on the present job Mr. Farrier was Assistant Director of Works of the Exposition, during which time he was actively engaged in the restoration of the Mayan Temple, which is to form a striking feature of the Fair.

Sears, Roebuck Treasurer Writes of Karnea Headquarters

THE following letter has been sent to all active chapter presidents and alumni secretaries by E. H. Powell, Gamma Alpha (Chicago), '11, treasurer of Sears, Roebuck:

"The World's Fair Karnea headquarters on the Century of Progress grounds will be in the Sears World's Fair Building, and we wish to extend to you and your friends a very cordial invitation to make maximum use of this arrangement.

"Our building, centrally located, opposite the Administration Building, and planned as a meeting place as well as exhibit building, contains all the facilities to make it a convenient and comfortable base of operations.

"We are going to have a great Karnea and a wonderful Fair, and I hope I shall have the opportunity of personally meeting you and the members of your chapter who attend the Karnea."

Palmer House, Karnea Headquarters,
a Historic Hostelry

THE new Palmer House, Chicago, to be the downtown headquarters of the 1933 Karnea, is the historic hotel of the Central West.

Rebuilt after the Chicago fire as the first fireproof hotel in the world, it became the foremost gathering place for social and business life in the Central states. Today a new Palmer House stands there, with more than 2,400 guest rooms, 60 stores and shops, two ballrooms, five dining rooms—in short, it is the largest hotel structure in the world as to square feet of floor space and cubic feet of contents.

A picture in the Pictorial of this issue gives some idea of imposing attractiveness of the great hotel. Here, doubtless, most of the Karnea hosts will be registered. The business sessions will take place here, and a generous part of the hotel will be set aside for the special use of the Karnea.

Delts with Ferro Enamel Extend Karnea Invitation

THESE Delts certainly have a way of collecting. Here are four of them attached to the Ferro Enamel Corporation, in Cleveland. Bob Weaver, Chi (Kenyon), '12, is the president of the company; the other Delts are J. K. Gillett, Chi, '32; Paul Blackburn, Beta Omicron (Cornell), '20; and Dave Cable, Chi, '21.

The company, by the way, is erecting a porcelain enameled home as an exhibit at the Chicago Karnea World's Fair. Stop by and write your name and chapter on the front door, and then the hired man can come right out with a damp cloth and wipe 'em off.

Books for Chapter House Libraries

HERE is another list of books for chapter house libraries. It is not a Delta Tau Delta list, but is suggested by the library committee of the Zeta Psi Fraternity. It is, however, so comprehensive and so well selected that this magazine makes no apology for passing it on, with due credit.

This Company Can Have Its Own Delt Meetings

MAYBE if you were going along Liberty Avenue in Pittsburgh and came to No. 716 and saw a sign reading "Vacuum Oil Co., Inc.," it would be just another company. But it isn't just that to Delts who know.

The Delts there can almost have their own meetings.

First there's Sid Service, who graduated from Pitt in 1928. He's in what they call the Acquisition Department. Next there's J. W. Crandall, another Pitt Delt, who graduated in 1925. He's a wholesale salesman. Then there's J. E. Carroll, from Kenyon, '28, what they call operating manager, handling all the trucking, bulk plants, and maintenance work for the district. Incidentally he's Ray Carroll's boy. Fourth comes E. T. Morrison, who graduated from West Virginia in 1927. "Carney," as they call him, is assistant to the general manager. If you don't recognize the name, a lot of athletes who met West Virginia teams between '24 and '27 do.

Then comes the Delt who hired them all, the general manager—W. D. Sherman, Hillsdale, '17. He was at M. I. T. after that, coming home from the war.

"We thought it might be interesting," he writes, "to know that five fellows of varying ages and coming from different sections of the country should all collect in one town and work for the same company. We can meet without leaving the office!"

Wisconsin Senior Wins a Harvard Research Scholarship

JOHN STEDMAN, now a senior at Beta Gamma (Wisconsin) in law school, is announced by the Harvard Corporation as one of the twenty-five men to win the leading fellowships and scholarships.

The total value of the grants is approximately $34,500, an average of close to $2,500 each.

AROUND THE FIREPLACE

THROUGH a misunderstanding in the Dean's office at Brown our chapter there, Beta Chi, has been done an injustice.

In 1930-31 Beta Chi reached its low water mark scholastically, having an index of minus 4.347 in relation to the men's average of the institution, the official reports registering this as minus 5. A good deal of inevitable, unpleasant publicity followed this, upon which Beta Chi turned its back on a dead past and started over.

Last year, 1931-32, by dint of hard work and a good deal of heroic action Beta Chi raised this index to minus 1.029, only to have this inaccurately reported to the National Interfraternity Conference as minus 2.529.

Apprised—and not by the chapter—of the error in the official figure, THE RAINBOW hastens to set the record right and to extend to Beta Chi and its fine adviser, George W. Brewster, the heartiest of congratulations.

Great work.

NOT long ago good Nat Fitts, the born optimist and human dynamo behind Delta Iota, was moved to poetry. He wrote:

*“California is a wonderful state;
The sun shines bright; the ocean’s great;
The banks are closed. What’s that to me?
I still have my Fraternity.”*

The next week came the earthquake.

JUD CRARY, that energetic Alumni Secretary of Jours, is still after means by which Delt alumni, depression or no depression, can be brought together.

A recent suggestion is that the active chapters themselves stage informal dinners now and then costing 50 or 60 cents, and round up the nearby alumni. No speeches. Actives disappear after dinner. The old gents gather around the fireplace and enjoy themselves.

“This,” says Jud, “seems to be a fine way to build up informal, friendly contact with the alumni who want to continue to know men of the chapter, young and old, but who take no interest in banquets or high priced parties. I believe chapter heads and alumni chapter leaders can do their groups a good turn by trying it out.”

WE OWE a real debt of gratitude this time to Charles O. Gridley, a good Delt in Washington, who is a live-wire in the press gallery.

When the Delts began saving the country under the aegis of President Roosevelt, we wrote Mr. Gridley and demanded human interest stories. You’ll find two of them herein—one about Bennett Clark and one about Secretaries Dern and Wallace . . . and there are others to come.

It isn’t only that Mr. Gridley wrote the stories; but he wrote such good ones and he came across with such delightful promptitude and with such evident satisfaction at being able to help things along—if editors populated heaven, there’d be a pleasant and particularly pearly mansion for the likes of Charles O. Gridley.

IT is not often that a New York department store pays page rates in a metropolitan daily and uses the space to advertise us.

“What are these troubles of ours,” demands John Wanamaker’s store, in big, black type, “compared to the troubles that were so calmly faced by George Washington and the devoted patriots that he led?”

“We are the richest people in the world,” it continues. “Our resources are the envy of the world. We are better off than any nation that ever existed.

Our present temporary troubles will pass away. They are passing away. Look for the Rainbow.”
We thank you.

MRS. A. S. WILLIS, the charming president of the Mothers’ Club of Beta Omega Chapter at Berkeley, writes THE RAINBOW interestingly of the fine activities of the Club this year.

“Dear old Delta Tau!” she concludes. “Like a great tree may she ever flourish, with her roots striking deeper and her branches extending higher and broader, to which boys from all directions may continually and continuously come for rest and refreshment!”

Lucky boys, you chaps of Beta Omega.

* * * *

EVERY time a Karnea comes around, we find ourselves pondering on certain things we’d like to see happen in this Fraternity. Every now and then we advance some of these radical ideas, more or less tentatively, to our authoritative betters; and every time we put them forth they get uncompromisingly sat on.

But they won’t down, not in our own convictions. And as long as this Department is nobody’s but the Editor’s, with nobody else responsible for it and nobody else necessarily endorsing it, here goes for one of these convictions which we propose here and now to get off our chest.

It is what we consider the certain sort of moral spaghetti that writes down formal and formidable, unequivocal, straight-from-the-shoulder prohibitory laws, and then makes only a gesture at enforcing them.

* * * *

NO; we are not alluding specifically to You-Know-What. We are talking about principles, not particular Thou-Shalt-Nots. Or, if you must have something concrete, we’ll take the law expressly prohibiting a Delt from lending or giving his badge to a girl to wear.

Who pays any attention to it if he really is consumed with a mad desire to pin his own badge on his own Mary?

We’re not condoning his doing it. We entirely agree that there’s something inherently private—well, sacred, if you like, about our badge. We think a fellow ought to be willing to fall in line about a thing, after all, that costs him so little to agree with.

But since the fraternity system began, fraternity men have pinned their badges on their girls. Then one of these days here came Delta Tau Delta and pronounced, solemnly: "You mustn't do that with the Delta badge. Give her a sister pin."

And the fellows who were panting to part with their badges have gone right along parting with them.

* * * *

ANYTHING that allows an individual—encourages him, to be an individualist at the cost of the dignity and solidarity of a cause to which he has pledged himself is directly harmful to that cause. The essence of the fraternal relation is that men order their lives in harmony with certain reasonable group understandings.

Whether or not prohibitory laws have ever yet saved any man or any cause, there can be no salvation in such laws when they are winked at by their own enacting bodies.

If it is wise to have prohibitory laws, then let us have them and fight it out for their enforcement no matter where it hits or what it costs.

If it is not wise to fight them out, then let us scrap them and go back to principles, not prohibitions.

* * * *

YOU reply perhaps, however, that no law has ever been capable of absolute enforcement.

Granted.

Men still steal and murder.

But does the state, knowing that a man has stolen or murdered, admit that it can't do anything about it, and let it go at that?

There's the difference.

With all our heart, if only for the sake of self respect, we wish that this Karnea could find the moral courage to annul every prohibitory law of Delta Tau Delta which the Fraternity is not prepared to demand respect for.

If we have the backbone to go through with it, keep it. If we haven't, scrap it.

* * * *

WE'LL even dare to question whether any of it is worth keeping. Perhaps it is too much to hope for. Perhaps neither ourselves nor any other fraternity can be expected to face the misinterpretation that would follow, inevitably, the lifting of these merely gesticulatory Thou-Shalt-Nots.

But if they could be replaced merely by frank statements of what the Fraternity expected, had a right to expect, proposed to expect, did expect of every man—wouldn't that be a four-square and satisfactory platform for self-respecting men?

It may not be analagous—and then again it may be; but we seem to recall that the basic difference between the Old Testament and the New, the ancient order and the modern, the age of imprisonment and the age of freedom, the era of hopelessness and the era of vision—was that the old died and the new began when men burst through the bondage of Thou-Shalt-Not.

Yours,

—ED.

1st semester 1932-33: 7th of 7 fraternities

The Delt basketeers, rated as underdogs, won the intramural basketball championship. In an uphill fight from a mediocre start in the intramural league the team developed into a smooth passing team to win the three game series from Phi Gamma Delta. In the championship playoff the Fijis won the first game by a three point margin, but the boys retaliated by taking the last two games by substantial leads. The team was composed of "Duffie" Weber, Wade Jones, Philip Jacobus, "Lightning" Smith, Forrest Beighley, "Flash" Carney, "Yom Kipper" Liebondorfer, and Bob Kaiser.

In bowling the present standing of the Deltas is third place. In the future are the intramural track meet and mushball. In both events we have bright prospects.

Initiation was held March 22nd. Seven went through and were the guests of honor at the initiation banquet. There were about thirty alumni present to enjoy the festivities and to talk over old times. The following morning, Sunday, the active chapter and the newly initiated Deltas attended Stone M.E. Church in a body. The Rev. Franklin J. Kennedy, the pastor, is a loyal brother from Wesleyan and a staunch alumnus friend of Alpha. He made several brief remarks welcoming his own fraternal group to his church.

New officers are: Smitty, president; Kaiser, vice-president; Millikin, corresponding secretary; Jacobus, recording secretary; Liebondorfer, treasurer; Johnston, guide; Swartzwelder, doorman.

At present the chapter is making repairs on the house. The bathroom is being repainted and repaired; the entire second floor is to be repapered and redecorated; and a new recreation room in the basement has been begun. Earth has been removed from the floor in preparation for cementing. The chapter is indebted to the alumni committee for making these repairs possible.

Plans are under way to sponsor a Delt Mothers' Day on May 14th. Tentative arrangements include a dinner followed by a bridge party in the house Saturday evening. Our mothers will be the guests of the members of the Rainbow Guild at their homes Saturday evening. Sunday morning the chapter will take the mothers to church in a body, after which a banquet will be served in the house. The festivities will conclude with a musicale and tea on Sunday afternoon.

Every Sunday afternoon has been turned over to the alumni, at which time the chapter will hold an open house and get together with the older men.

Individual honors have not been as numerous as at other times throughout the year. The only distinctive honor was bestowed upon Jack Johnston, who was elected into Phi Beta Phi, biology. Jack was one of three men to be taken into this group.

Harry Millikin was the only Delt to reach the finals in the intramural wrestling.

We look forward to the Interfraternity Sing in May. Further to the future loom the Commencement banquet and June initiation. A large initiation class seems evident.

Rushing for the new year has been started so well that several pledges are already wearing the square pledge pin.

Our guests from out of town have included President Norman MacLeod, Hugh Shields, and Frank Cornell. The town alumni have been more than active in visiting us.

FRANK R. HELFRICH

B OHIO

At the Northern Division Conference Beta chapter stole the show by winning both the awards. The $50 attendance prize and the Division scholarship plaque were brought back by the delegates.

Carlton Welch, president; Howard Kregar, vice-president; Robert Wagner, corresponding secretary; Jack Morgan, guide; Robert Evans, recording secretary; and Tony Moore, guard, were the men selected for the various offices at the recent elections. Arthur Briggs, treasurer, and Eugene Batten, assistant treasurer, complete the list.

There were three Delts on the basketball team, which tied for the championship of the B.A.A. Harold Brown and Roy Mills earned varsity letters. Ed Byham did not play enough after he became eligible, but he has two more years. Gourley was junior basketball manager. George May, Howard Moon, and Bill Sherrard were on the freshman squad. Brown, Williams, and Finsterwald are on the varsity track team; and Mah, Martin, Morlang, and Hopkins are working for places on the freshman track team. Wipfler, Sherrard, Herrick, Dave and Bob Hughes are out for freshman baseball.

In intramurals the pledges won the fraternity championship in both baseball and basketball. Ted Hopkins set a new record for the high jump in the intramural track meet.

Arthur Briggs and Jack Morgan, business manager and editor of the annual, were recently initiated into Blue Key. Briggs was also elected president of J-Club. Morgan was chairman of the Junior Prom committee.

An alumni reunion was held March 18th-19th. At this time seventeen men were initiated. A house dance was held on March 18th. On February 17th the annual formal dance was held. Many alumni returned for the initiation and reunion. From out of the state were Lee Sellars, Kenneth Query, and Holmes Beckwith.

Albert Gardner, Merrill Davis, Robert Evans, and Tony Moore are members of the glee club, and Gardner and Davis are tenor and bass respectively of the varsity quartet. The chapter is now working in preparation for the Torch Sing, which will be held late in May.

Γ WASHINGTON & JEFFERSON

1st semester 1932-33: 4th of 10 fraternities

Formal initiation was held February 25th, and seven of the ten pledges were duly initiated.

In scholarship Gamma was able to raise her rating from seventh of ten fraternities up to fourth place, largely through the consistent efforts of Tim Poe, chairman of the scholarship committee.

In intramural sports the chapter captured the big trophy, as well as four cups and the individual point trophy.

In the first sport, volley-ball, the team showed considerable strength and amassed enough points to make a flying start. Handball followed, and the Delts, through the efforts of Intramural Manager Sam Hopper, received the cup. In wrestling the club produced a formidable team, Dan Evans winning the heavy-weight championship. In boxing Sam Hopper battled his way to the championship of the 175 pound class, and we received the boxing cup. Water-polo followed, and the chapter won the cup for the fourth time. Through the valiant efforts of C. Snee and Bubenheim and the rest of the swimming team Gamma's outfit won the swimming cup. In basketball Gamma succeeded in gaining the semi-final round, as they did also in the handball doubles. With the points won in the special gymnastic exhibition, we succeeded in taking the large trophy for the second time with a large margin of points. Sam Hopper, a participant in each sport, received the individual award as high point scorer of the year.

Carl Bubenheim has been elected wrestling captain for the ensuing year. Hopper and Thomson are likely candidates for varsity tennis, with Koenig as sophomore manager. Bill Snee received the appointment as senior football manager, Jack Thomson serves as junior manager, and Crone, pledge, is sophomore manager.

New offices are: Bill Snee, president; Bill Elers, vice-president; Chuck Snee, treasurer, house manager and steward; Koenig, secretary.

A short time ago we had a short visit from Ted Bergman.

Rushing arrangements are already being formulated under direction of Rush Captain Hays. All rushing information or assistance may be addressed to James M. Hays, 626 E. Beau Street, Washington, Pennsylvania.

F. W. KOENIG

Δ MICHIGAN

Initiation was held at the Shelter April 2nd, with several alumni present. Following the initiation a banquet was given in honor of the new Delts with Leigh Young, chapter adviser, and Chuck Boos offering the main speeches. Art Berger, chapter president, was toastmaster and introduced Woody Brace, who responded in behalf of his freshman brothers.

Delta is well represented in campus activities. Art Berger is out for varsity baseball, Don Haefe is working with the track team. Bob Colville won his freshman numerals on the wrestling team, Bill Borgmann won reserve letters on the varsity basketball squad and is now out for spring football. Dan Hulgrave is trying out for football manager.

Fred Kohl has been recently initiated into Tau Beta Pi and Phi Kappa Phi, and is publicity chairman of the military ball. Art Ebberts is an initiate of Scabbard & Blade and is also hailed "Freshman King." Scott and O'Connell are working at The Daily office, and Bob Henoch is a big shot on The 'Ensian.

Coach Mutchler's basketball team went to the finals in the interfraternity competition; he is now getting his baseball men in shape for a successful season.

Chuck Burgess is Delta's new president. Supporting him are Bob Henoch as vice-president and Bill Borgmann as secretary. A very active program has been planned for the last few weeks of school, including a tea dance, a homecoming for parents, and some intensive spring rushing.

WESTERN RESERVE

1st semester 1932-33: 10th of 14 fraternities

We were pleased to have at our initiation banquet Judge Carl V. Weygandt, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio, as guest of honor. He gave a talk on the workings of the Supreme Court.

New officers are: Howard Garnett, president; Richard Clark, vice-president; William Munn, secretary; Robert Stewart, corresponding secretary; Franklin Whitney, guide.

Ralph Gray has been accepted at the Reserve Medical School, which he will attend after graduation. Proctor Disbro will attend the Rochester School of Medicine next year.

Zeta's volleyball team, consisting of Kesselem, Gray, Tolerton, Munn, Whittlinger, Roy, and Whitney, succeeded in winning the trophy for our league. We hope to wind up the sport season successfully, as we have strong tennis, golf, and baseball teams.

Zeta has many of its men engaged in campus activities. Lawrence Kesselem is on the Junior Prom Committee. Howard Garnett is the head of the Reserve News service. Haberman, Robbins, Mezei, and Clark are members of the staff. Robert Stewart is second man and co-captain of the newly formed fencing team. We also have three track managers in the House.

Plans for the spring and fall rushing seasons are already under way.

ROBERT STEWART

HILLSDALE

The initiation of 17 men on February 11th was followed by a banquet and a program. President Ed Lincoln was toastmaster. The speeches were delivered by Don Stewart, '21; Lionel Miller, '36; Willard Johnston, '35; Willfred O. Mauck, '21; J. Lundy Parker, '22; Frederick W. Seitz, '17.

The chapter also staged a formal dance at the Hotel Hayes, in Jackson.

New officers are: president, Charles Carmichael; vice-president, Harold Weller; corresponding secretary, Ralph Johnston; recording secretary, Lorne McColl; treasurer, Harvey Wedlake; secretary of alumni, Robert Purdy; sergeant-at-arms, Stewart McIntosh; supervisor of scholarship, Lloyd Griffiths; librarian, Harry Gordon; steward, John Crissman; house manager, Harold Weller; pledge master, Lionel Miller.

Plans are under way for a Mothers' Day program. The Shelter will be turned over entirely to the mothers.

Kappa Chapter suffers the loss of only two men through graduation: Ken Linton and Malcolm Curtis, both conspicuous in campus affairs.

We are ready to give our annual serenade on the evening of the first full moon. Under the direction of Ken Linton we have mastered a group of new songs.

Chuck Carmichael and Harvey Wedlake were the chapter delegates to the Northern Division Conference and have brought many helpful suggestions.

Dwight Dunlap, for two years captain of the All-M. I. A. A. Conference football team and captain of this year's varsity, has been chosen as the school's most valuable athlete. Dunlap not only plays football, but is a letter man in baseball and a guard on the Delt championship intramural basketball team.

"Jake" Davis visited the old Shelter last week with a rushee from Caro, where Jake is teaching school.

Robert Fields and "Josh" Roach visited us recently. They are two more successful school teachers.

RALPH B. JOHNSTON

Pledges: John Leonard, Frank Leonard, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Harry Youtt, Bellmore, New York; George Houck, Buffalo, New York.

New chapter officers are: Jack Logan, president; Roger Fleming, vice-president; Frank Proctor, guide; Donald Cloak, recording secretary; J. Allen Schmick, corresponding secretary; Philip Powell, assistant treasurer; Henry Helling, alumni secretary; Branch Rickey, Jr., doorkeeper.

With track, tennis, and baseball coming on, the boys at the Shelter are busier than ever. "Champ" Goodman, Phil Allen, Frank Proctor, and Wilbur Kettell give the Deltas a strong position on the track team. Helling and Houston represent us as track managers. In baseball Branch Rickey, Jr., is in line for a steady position behind the plate. John Faust has been rewarded for three years of faithful service by being elected senior baseball manager and has on his staff Schmick and Wyker as freshman managers. Bob "Killer" Kyle and Don Cloak are making history with Wesleyan's tennis team and hope to bring the Buckeye championship to Delaware.

Our new pledges are all members of the varsity track team, Frank "Tex" Leonard holding the school record for the pole-vault with his brother John running a close second. Harry Youtt is one of the varsity discus hurlers, and George Houck is a sophomore manager.

Jack Logan, who served so well as campaign manager for the successful candidate for student body president, has received the additional honor of being appointed University social committee chairman. Roger "Scoop" Fleming has recently received the dual honor of being made senior sports editor of the campus newspaper and being elected to Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic.

The chapter committee chairmen have remained unchanged, with one exception. Howard Irwin has been appointed rushing chairman. He urges actives and alumni to co-operate with him in his efforts.

Harold Stevens, Bob Neiswander, and John Campbell all '32, are still making frequent visits to the Shelter. Glenn Gould, '30, Potter Shaw, '30, and Franny Hughes, '31, have all been back at least once this year.

J. ALLEN SCHMICK

N LAFAYETTE

Pledge: Herbert Henry Johnson

In intramural activities Nu has greatly improved her standing. The basketball team made its way into the play-offs before being eliminated, and hopes are high for next year. Harry Wright and Al Schwacke showed skill in the handball matches and reached the semifinals. Bill Yount, by dint of much grunting, won the intramural heavyweight wrestling crown and will continue his good work this spring representing the chapter in tennis, paired with Ned Sherman.

At present Nu's baseball teams are in the thick of the fight for the baseball championship.

Herb Johnson won his numerals in freshman basketball.

Yount and Bishop are working with the football team in spring practice under the tutelage of Brothers McCracken and Gourley, Gamma Sigma. Archie Mabon is junior assistant manager.

On the diamond Harry Wright is taking care of center field; Harry Barton is competing for junior assistant manager.

Captain Hackenburg is leading the tennis team, of which Edgar is a member, and Pentz, Eames, and Cochran are, respectively, senior, junior, and sophomore managers. Layng is a member of the golf team.

Bond has been elected managing editor of The Lyre, and Mabon is a member of the staff. Edgar was similarly elected managing editor of The Lafayette. Hackenburg was selected to fill the office of vice-president of the senior class. Jack Giles, under whose direction plans for next year's rushing are being made, will be the business manager for The Melange in the coming year. He also acted as delegate to the meeting of the Rho, Beta Lambda, Upsilon, and Nu chapters, held recently in Philadelphia.

A play, "Hands Across," written and directed by Bob Foth, is being presented at the Little Theatre.

Arrangements are now being made for a house dance, to be held in the latter part of May.

E. C. SHERMAN, JR.

O IOWA

With the winter season of athletics past Omicron is turning toward track, baseball, golf, and tennis. In kittenball the team, after losing a close first game, has won its next two starts, and the House is looking forward to an addition to its well stocked mantel.

Golf has its quota of followers, among whom are several aspirants for the freshman and varsity squads. Sterling Myers, Jim Parker, and John Lorenzen are the leading contenders. Bob Cook, a 440 man, and Eddie Becker, 220, are keeping Iowa's track team in the run. Omicron's water-polo team, after winning handily to the finals, lost a tough uphill battle. The House seems assured of its third and final leg on the participation trophy awarded for the greatest number of competitors in intramural sports.

A number of alumni were present for initiation and the banquet that followed. Harry Breene, recently elected mayor, was the principal speaker.

Spring formal dinner dance was a distinct success, carried out in the atmosphere of a night club with refreshments being served through the evening and entertainment by a singer and ballet dancer. With a knicker party and the spring rushing picnic coming up the chapter is making its bids for next year's freshmen.

Omicron's scholarship standing was comfortably over the University's requirements.

New officers are: Becker, president, and Parker, vice-president.

Π MISSISSIPPI

P STEVENS

Rho returned from Spring vacation to find the house receiving some very welcome redecorating. Fresh paint in the interior is a great improvement.

The most recent Delt achievement here was the Varsity Show, which had for its co-authors Jim Costigan, Fred Bissinger, and "Buck" Buckley. In the cast were Bill Darrach and "Brother John" Biernake. Richard MacHenry proved the value of his hours of cello practicing by playing it in the orchestra. Gerry Decker was also in the orchestra. Turn Varcoe helped collect tickets.

Lane Covey, our new prexy, and MacHenry came back from the Philadelphia Conference with a long report and lots of ideas.

Our annual Spring Sports Day dance was as usual a great success. How could it be anything else with such guests!

Stony Emmot, '31, and Eibe Deck, '30, are frequent visitors.

The graduating class will take with it a lot of our activity men and will give the rest of us a record to work for, with all their presidencies, editorships, etc. At present the House boasts: president of Tau Beta Pi; president and two members of Pi Delta Epsilon; president of senior honorary society; president of the student council; chairman of the Commencement Committee, and toastmaster of the senior banquet. For athletics we have a fine showing with twelve men either on the squads or out for positions.

Exams are too near for comfort, but we always have hope.

F. TURNER VARCOE

1st semester 1932-33: 25th of 43 fraternities

At the close of a successful year we immediately turn and look for those to whom we should give thanks for all our success. Al Daykin, our president, who has done a fine job in promoting harmony and a closer feeling within the Shelter. Next, Pete Brandt, rushing chairman and now our social chairman, has done fine work in both of his positions. Then honor goes to Claude Readly, who guided our finances so well through the hardest times ever encountered by fraternities. Credit also goes to George Henkel, now treasurer and who has been our scholarship chairman. Many praises go to Karl Doering, house manager, who has done much good work in improving the landscaping and also keeping the house in general good condition. We cannot overlook the help that was given us by Dink Stover, our chapter adviser; also Walt Nissley, Sally Martsof, Buzz Doyle, Frank Cornell, Jord Gauthier, and many others. We are grateful and thankful to all and really do appreciate everything that has been done.

Tau's scholarship has risen some in the first semester. We placed 31st of 49 national fraternities, which is not much of an increase, but still is going up.

Tau's activities have been numerous. Tom Slusser is football captain and boxing captain next year. Pete Brandt, our big politician, is Junior Prom chairman, president of the strongest junior clique, and is running for president of the interfraternity council. Tom Harper is striving to head the Athletic Association. Claude Readly is doing well as manager of golf and has under him Fidge Warner, who is trying for the first assistant managership. Tim Creal, John MacGregor, and Carl Miller are out for the golf team, and Creal may head this team next year. Robinson and MacGregor are representing the House in intramural golf.

Dudley Townsend was elected as first assistant manager of basketball and was also elected to Blue Key, as was Henry Peterson, our first in soccer. Rush Allen is busy taking care of the baseball team with Al Daykin, retired captain of soccer, playing on the team. George Henkel is doing well as first in lacrosse, and Ernie Kaulfuss is on the team.

Bud Stevens is running for the presidency of the sophomore class with Dick Brandt as his political adviser and press agent. Frank Waterman, Fred Locke, and Bill Kester are on the squad of the frosh baseball team.

Davis and Robinson were recently elected to Thespian Club. Kelso, Miller, and Barzler have been putting time in on the Thespian shows. Jess Fichthorn, retiring secretary of the House and of Thespians, was recently awarded a band key for four years of service. He is now the proud owner of quite a few keys and pins.

WILLARD E. FICHTHORN

Υ RENSSELAER

Up at Upsilon we are on our home stretch, finishing the year giving everything we have scholastically as well as on the athletic field.

Karl Winsmore turned over the gavel to Frank Myers a few weeks ago.

At present we rank first for the Barker Trophy. The basketball and indoor relay teams won their leagues. In the bowling competition Art Skooglund led the team to capture the championship. With outdoor relays, baseball, and a track meet, the only remaining events toward the trophy, we hope to be able to keep our lead. The championship relay team of last year is still safe within our walls, and these men should dash to victory in the sprint events in the track meet. Bob Holister and Frank Meyer will fill the field events.

In baseball we have George Ficken on the mound. He hopes to lead the team to another victory as he did last year. The only great loss to the team from graduation was the catcher, who will be replaced by Howie Finkenzeller, one of our freshmen.

Jack Voss and Bill Whitley are now hard at work on the Sophomore Soiree, the biggest social event of the year.

At the spring dance we were glad to see Charlie Olson, Bob Salle, Dick Horton, and Charlie Hollister back for a short stay.

The chapter regrets the loss of Karl Winsmore, Richard Lawrence, John Huber, Charles Gray, Alvah Thompson, and GERAL DEGAN, who graduate in June.

WASHINGTON & LEE

1st semester 1932-33: 10th of 20 fraternities

The event of greatest importance next to the initiation of the new brothers was the selection of Claude LaVarre, our ex-vice-president, to wear the coveted key of Phi Beta Kappa.

The general elections are to be held two weeks from this writing. We are running Don Wallis for business manager of The Southern Collegian. Politics remains the same as always, with secret cliques dispensing political patronage promises recklessly to any club that will join.

Our new officers are: West Butler, president; Don Wallis, vice-president; Ben Thirkield, secretary; Arthur Tonsmiere, treasurer.

The Washington & Lee rifle team completed a successful season with LaVarre and Walls as Nos. 1 and 2 men respectively. Alan Harrelson, although playing a minor part in his debut with the University Dramatic Club, stole the whole show in their production of "Louder, Please." Gerber was elected as alternate manager of wrestling by the athletic council. Joe Drake was initiated into T K I, chemistry.

Don Bestor will furnish the music for our Easter dance set. Friday night the "13" Club will be host for the opening dance of the set. LaVarre and Wallis will go in the "13" figure. Saturday night the Cotillion Club will give a dance. Graves, LaVarre, Lamar, and Gerber will go in that figure from the House. The next week-end we dance to Guy Lombardo through the courtesy of the V.M.I. Cotillion Club, which has extended Washington & Lee an invitation to the Saturday afternoon dansant.

Intramural sports are drawing to a close with baseball. We are up among the leaders and hold a light baseball workout every afternoon. The Touring Tigers, an unorganized group, holds a comfortable lead in the point column so far. Our basketball team lost in the final game of the intramural tourney to the Touring Tigers. Wally Davies and Jimmy Beale met in the finals of the 128 pound class boxing . . . they fought like anything but fraternity brothers. Davies is carrying the gold medal on his watch chain.

James Clivie Carpenter of Clifton Forge visited us last week-end and is planning on sending his son here next year.

KENYON

Pledge: Frank T. Jones, Bronxville, New York.

New officers are: president, John Adair; vice-president, Merrill MacNamee; guide, Frank Mallet; recording secretary, Robert Dhonau; corresponding secretary, Leonard Swanson.

The scholarship record of the chapter for the first semester was very satisfactory. We retained our position as the first of the nationals. The following men made the honor roll: Gray, Lindsay, MacKenzie, MacNamee, Adair, Mallet, Judge, Reid, Swanson, Stone, and Luomanen. Mallet and Adair were recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Middle Leonard repeated its performance of last year by winning the intramural volleyball tournament. Our division did not lose a game.

Lindsay and Swanson won basketball letters, Lindsay being high point man for the season. The freshman squad included Barber, Chamberlain, Luomanen, Stone, and Sherk from our division. Mallet was varsity manager.

The division is also well represented in the spring sports program. Judge and Swanson are on the baseball team and Lindsay is captain and No. 1 man on the golf team. Gray, Reid, and Hathaway will be trying for positions on the tennis team, MacNamee, MacKenzie, and Jones will be out for track.

Frank Lindsay was elected president of the Kenyon Clan, an organization of Kenyon letter men.

PENNSYLVANIA

Pledges: Clell Stein, Superior, Wisconsin; Albert Saunders, Forrest Hills, New York; John O'Connor, South Africa; Marshall Sickel, Philadelphia; Henry Fox, Newark, New Jersey; Vernon Pfile, Fairmont, West Virginia.

Evidently the depression is beginning to fade away, because sixteen pledges is—well, we think it's damn good! Anyway that's the result of one of the most successful rushing seasons Omega has had in years, under the leadership of our able rushing chairman, Tom Tracy.

New officers are: Tom Tracy, president; Kip Harshaw, vice-president; Joe Kennedy, treasurer; Tom Dewey, corresponding secretary; Dick Hallorhan, recording secretary.

The chapter has been active in campus activities this spring. Kip Harshaw is rowing at crew. Russ Runkles and Phil Coan are representing the House on the 150-pound crew squad. George Gleed and Gene Boswell are active in water polo. Chuck Hoerger held his own with the yearling swimmers. Jack O'Connor and Stew Snyder are active in freshmen boxing. Bob Elmore is playing first base on the varsity nine.

Dick Hallorhan was elected assistant manager of boxing. Bob Brod is out for baseball manager. Mac McNierney is out for lacrosse manager. Tom Dewey is trying for a place on the editorial board of The Daily Pennsylvanian. Stew Snyder is trying for a place on the business board of Punch Bowl. Duke Pfile is out for the Travel Bureau board.

Plans have been drawn for a new smoking room, to be built in the basement as an addition to the recreation room built last year. The new room would provide more adequate recreational facilities than the present single room. It would contain a ping-pong table, card tables, and several lounge chairs, and would certainly fulfill a much needed and valuable addition to the house.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Pledges: Alfred Greenman, Jr., Petersburg; William Sinclair, Montpelier; Marshall I. Hewitt, and Lester D. Borough, South Bend.

The chapter will lose the following men through graduation: Herman Brecht, Robert Rosebery, Wilbur Hedman, Pat Branman, Bob Myers, and Sam Purnell. Doug Barkley, Myers, and Don Spahr will be in medical school at Indianapolis next Fall.

New officers are: Sam Brown, president; Dick Woolery, vice-president; Robert Hammer, corresponding secretary; Don Spicer, recording secretary.

Our scholarship standing was raised somewhat last semester, yet we're still "activity conscious." Phil Byron is vice-president of the Union board. Craig has pledged Phi Eta Sigma. Kruchten was made vice-president of the Y. M. C. A., and has been throwing the javelin. Sam Brown is distance running, and Hammer is captaining the swimming squad.

The green and yellow Skull & Crescent hats of Earl Brown and Jack Johnson have been passed down to Fritz Purnell and John Hanley. Spicer acted on the frosh prom committee, and Johnson has been working on The Daily Student as well as editing The Bored Walk. Myers and Spahr were initiated into Nu Sigma Nu last month. Pond was made business manager of The Arbutus, yearbook. Brecht was made chairman of the campus dance committee and was selected as the most outstanding senior.

Alumni are urged to notify Sam Brown of all rushees for next fall. His address is 516 E. Fifth Street, Peru, Indiana. Information in regard to rush and a chapter get-together at the Karnea will be mailed to all alumni soon.

DEPAUW

The outstanding event of the spring semester was the initiation of fourteen new members on March 19th. This was one of the largest classes in recent years and included two juniors and two sophomores as well as ten freshmen. Included in the group were two freshman football numeral men, one Phi Eta Sigma, a freshman debater, several members of the University band and symphony, and one of the leading vocal artists of the campus.

Dances were held March 17th and May 20th, both very enjoyable. A sweetheart-and-relative banquet was held in February. A large number of mothers attended the annual Mothers' Day, May 13th.

Outstanding among individual honors was the election of John Wise to Phi Beta Kappa. Robert Wise, following in his brother's footsteps, made Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic. Christensen, president of the local chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, attended the national convention during spring vacation.

Loring, Burns, Williams, Beler, Wise, and Stapp were in the Monon Revue, campus musical comedy. Williams played the lead; Beler, Burns, and Stapp put on special vocal numbers.

Getty is the first-string pitcher on the DePauw nine this year, and Beler plays in the outfield. Several freshmen are out for track and spring football.

At present intramural competition in tennis, golf, and baseball is starting. Prospects are unusually good in tennis, and fair in baseball. Last year's championship basketball team failed to repeat, falling before the Independents in the final game. Getty and Oliver were chosen on the all-intramural team. Powell is the new intramural manager, replacing Bundy.

Pledging for next year under the leadership of Oliver, assisted by Wanless and Loring, has been progressing well. Already fifteen prospective freshmen are wearing the Delt pledge pin.

New officers are: William McEwen, president; Wanless, vice-president; Burns, guide; Montgomery, sergeant-at-arms; Christensen, recording secretary; Kenyon, corresponding secretary; Powell, alumni secretary.

The chapter takes this opportunity to invite all the alumni back for the annual banquet June 10th.

B Γ WISCONSIN

Pledges: Lawrence Gardener, Athens; Milton Lutz, Milwaukee; Kenneth Orchard, Madison; Francis Pichota, Wabena; Richard Reiersen, Madison; Robert Schneider, Monroe.

In March the chapter had an alumni banquet for the Madison alumni. The following turned out to talk over old times: Erick Ohnstad, '96; Alfred T. Rogers, '95; Robert J. Nickles, '31; Harold Hausmann, '32; John Stedman, '28; Bill Todd, '28; Nels Orrin, '30; Rollow Wolcott, '30; Jack McCabe, '30; George Bartlett, '22. Professor Harriot of the Spanish Department of Wisconsin, a Delta from Gamma Tau, also attended. Dean Goodnight was guest of honor.

"Psi" (Harry G.) Montgomery, '07, paid his first visit to the Shelter in a great many years the early part of March. Harry is a captain in the Air Corps at Selfridge Field.

Fritz Harbridge and Henry S. Smieding, '27, came back, bringing with them a kitten which they presented to Miss Meyer, the Delt Sweetheart. Miss Meyer has named the cat Fritz.

James Bannen, '31, returned to the Shelter during the late winter to take in a formal dance and to look over the new crop of co-eds.

Philip Holliday, '32, returned for the spring initiation. We are always glad to see Phil drop around.

Maynard Reiersen, '32, and Vic Rice, '32, returned for a weekend at the house. Maynard's younger brother Richard is one of our pledges.

The Delt basketball team came through the season with some success. Although they lost a game in the semifinals, they pulled the third place cup out of the fire by defeating a TKE aggregation 21-20 in the fastest game seen on the Wisconsin floor this season, including the varsity. Richard Hausmann, former varsity man and Waupun high school star, led the Delt to victory and was placed on the all-interfraternity basketball team. Kenneth Olson, a Delt transfer from Beta Beta, added greatly to the team's prowess. Richard Brady held down the center position. Marshall Stauffacher, Eddie Bachhuber, George Gibson, Francis Pichota, Buzz Lowrie, Bob Douglass, and Bob Mason aided in the Delt victories.

Robert Buzz Lowrie delivered a lecture before the economics school the other day. Buzz promises to be one of the leading economics instructors of the near future.

Thomas Calloway has just returned from an extended visit of some weeks. Tom has a brother in school who is also a Delt, and his visits are quite frequent. We are certainly glad to see Whimpy come into town. Tom was one of the charter members of the Club Corsair.

The spring elections were held recently. Richard Brady was elected president. He certainly has jumped into the harness with a bang. Rudy Regez has been elected vice-president, Robert Mason corresponding secretary, Jack West recording secretary, Marshall Stauffacher sergeant-at-arms. Dick Brady is also steward, assisted by Rudy Regez. Robert Mason is rushing chairman, assisted by Jack West and Nels Ross.

The spring initiation was held March 11th.

The spring season has arrived; the ice has gone out of the lake; and all the piers are up. A few brave members of the chapter have ventured to go swimming at this early date.

Delt distinctions for this semester include one member Phi

Eta Sigma; one member honorary chemistry fraternity; one member board of editors law magazine; captain golf; junior, sophomore, and freshman football managers; four varsity letter men, one golf, one track, one football, and one basketball; one member arrangements committee for Military Ball; one frosh crew man; one member Cardinal Key; one member Tumas; one member Pi Tau Pi Sigma; three members Scabbard & Blade.

ROBERT A. MASON

B Δ GEORGIA

1st semester 1932-33: 9th of 18 fraternities

With the coming of warm weather an interfraternity indoor baseball league has been organized, with Beta Delta tied for first place. The league has created much interest around school.

In February Jack Sullivan, captain of the varsity boxing squad, journeyed to New Orleans to fight in the Southeastern Conference bouts, where he not only won the junior middle-weight championship, but was also termed by newspapers as "by far the classiest fighter in the Conference." Last year Sullivan was runner-up in the Southern Conference tourney. Frank Bragg also made the New Orleans trip as boxing manager.

We are glad to welcome back Carter Peterson, who dropped out of school last quarter and went to work in the Georgia legislature.

We are all looking forward to the annual spring dances, which will be held on May 12th and 13th, and plans are being made for a house party for that week-end. We are also expecting a visit from Harold D. Meyer, President of the Southern Division, within the next few days.

Tim Cope, as business manager of the yearbook, and J. L. Benton, sophomore business manager, are hard at work on The Pandora.

The chapter has been unusually active. Whit Morris is again on the varsity lacrosse team, and Taylor Hoynes has won a place on the freshman swimming team. Jimmy James is on the varsity rifle team and is also a member of the glee club. J. L. Benton and George Longino have recently been selected as members of the International Relations Club, and Jack Sullivan initiated into Gridiron, the second highest honorary.

B E EMORY

B Z BUTLER

Pledge: John Howell, Junction City, Ohio.

The past three months of Beta Zeta's history has been one of reorganization. Our alumni have come back to give us much-needed advice and support. A committee, headed by Bill Percy, our adviser, and aided by Messrs. Richardson, Hodges, Gibson, Cassidy, and Strickland, has already increased greatly the efficiency of our chapter organization.

Initiation was held April 12th for four men. Approximately seventy-five alumni attended.

In activities Beta Zeta continues to maintain a good standing.

In track Zahn and Carr are starring on Coach Hermon Phillips's track team. Doudican and Nicewander are on the frosh squad.

Lederer has clinched a position on the baseball squad. For-noff won his numerals in basketball.

In intramurals Beta Zeta seems to have winning combinations in volley ball, track, tennis, golf, and baseball.

Emsley Johnson is putting on a fine junior prom at depression prices.

Rex Webster is to become a graduate assistant of botany at Johns Hopkins University. Dwight Billings has received a similar position at Duke. Billings was honored by being elected senior sponsor of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary.

John Howell is pledged Kappa Kappa Psi, band.

Billings and Webster are on the committee in charge of senior invitations.

Pledges: Richard Bailey, Virginia; Harry Dixon, Cloquet; Jack Hansen, Sauk Center; Edward O'Brien, South Dakota; Milton McCall, Hammond, Indiana; Orville Erickson and Florin Johnson, Holstein, Iowa; George Weber, Proctor; John McInnis, Minneapolis.

New officers are: Lloyd Sherman, president; Ben Kern, vice-president; Robert Armstrong, secretary; Ralph Rosene, corresponding secretary.

Beta Eta has been quite in the swim this year with Clint Rosene swimming for the varsity and Mike Donovan plunging for the frosh. Rosene, after earning his "M," went to the Conference meet at Chicago and placed among the 100-yard dash men. Al Sherman is still upholding our entry in the fraternity boxing division, while Don Weeks, lately from Alabama, and Bud Hancock are bidding for honors on the varsity football squad at spring practice. "Sarge" McKenzie, the dynamic terror of the range, is burning up the home plate with his speed ball, and Pledge Hansen, the new assistant baseball manager, is lugging his equipment.

The Mardi Gras, which takes the front page of the Delts' social calendar on May 19th, assumes the dismal aspect of ancient dungeons. All decorations have been thoroughly planned and are now taking form. The orchestra is to be situated on a platform surrounded by flames while two of Satan's handy men keep the fire blazing. Grotesque figures of spiders, butterflies, lizards, and beetles will be hung from a ceiling covered with huge spiderwebs. Bob Armstrong has charge of this costume ball extraordinary. Preliminary to the Mardi Gras Beta Eta men will dance to the music of the Lafayette Club Orchestra on the beautiful shores of Lake Minnetonka, the evening of May 5th.

Beta Eta is making a strong bid for first honors in the coming intramural swimming meet, which we lost by a few scanty points last year. The diamond-ball team, under the leadership of Nick Lahti, also shows promise. Bob Armstrong and Milt McCall are bringing up the front in the tennis division; Lahti and Gessner are wrapping horseshoes around the stakes in intramural competition.

The chapter will keenly feel the loss of its four outstanding seniors this spring. Henery Leveroos graduates from the law school; Rex Regan, business, Don Streeter, education, and Wally Hass, education.

Our alumni have been very active in their support during rushing this past season. The house is completely turned over to them the first Tuesday in every month for their meetings.

1st semester 1932-33: 8th of 9 fraternities

Beta Theta is now well into her third and last term of the school year. With an average for the second term the highest in several years, we are looking forward to a still higher scholastic standing for this term.

New officers are: Paul Ziegler, president; Howard Mueller, vice-president.

We have received good news. Mr. Hodges, Delta Epsilon, Kentucky, '30, will be in our midst with the opening of the school next fall. He will serve as assistant librarian in the University library.

Dunlap has recently been elected to Prowlers, dance organization consisting of the outstanding personages of the campus.

Mueller, Belford, and Ziegler are soloists in the choir. More than half of Beta Theta are members.

Rushing plans for the fall term have already been formulated under Stiles Lines.

The annual interfraternity track and field meet stands in the limelight at present. Training for the various activities has already begun.

The Shelter will be thrown open for the general use of the student body and their dates on the first night of the annual Easter dances. No formal affairs have been planned for the remainder of the year, though numerous informal gatherings are to be held from time to time.

Division President Harold D. Meyer and Harry Green were recently our guests.

RICHARD B. WILKENS, JR.

B I VIRGINIA

The graduation of Risque Plummer, Baldwin Burnham, and Bob Jones in June will be a serious loss to the chapter. Plummer has been president of the German Club, a member of the football and wrestling squads, Skull & Keys, Phi Delta Phi, the interfraternity council, Eli Society, and student senate. Among Burnham's achievements are president of the Law School, decisions editor of The Virginia Law Review, president of the Jefferson Society, glee club and Lambda Pi member, German Club, Eli Society, Raven Society, debating team, and boxing adjunct. Jones has been a member of the Trigon, Tau Beta Pi, and Raven Societies and instructor in mathematics and electrical engineering.

Angus McDonald placed second in the high hurdles in the V. M. I. track meet.

Stuart Baker was elected assistant manager of basketball. Jack Maury and Randy Brown were elected to Lambda Pi.

Easter week dances are now in progress. Two of America's leading dance orchestras, Guy Lombardo's and Don Bestor's, are being featured.

As the chapter nears the close of the 1932-33 session, we are happy to state that, in spite of the financial difficulties which have faced nearly every fraternity in the country, things are on a reasonably firm footing and the year has been, on the whole, a very successful one.

RANDOLPH A. BROWN

B K COLORADO

1st semester 1932-33: 2nd of 21 fraternities

The winter quarter is completed, and we repeated our performance of fall quarter by standing second of twenty-one fraternities in scholarship. Especial credit must be given to Louie Quam for his work as praeceptor and to Bob Lacher, who received the highest average in the University.

Joe Whalley made his letter in wrestling last quarter. Gilbert, Bailey, Whalley, and Moody are out for spring football. Bob Mills is catching for the varsity baseball team after a year's absence. Gil Maxwell is one of last year's letter men on the golf team. Bob Lesser is doing well in track, and Kim Barnes is on the tennis squad.

We fared well in intramural athletics last quarter. The basketball team reached the semifinals, and the hockey team came out on the wrong end of the score but once. Loren Swayne won the 155-lb. class championship in the wrestling tournament. Our chances this quarter in baseball, softball, and track are unusually good. Our tennis team, runners-up last year, is still intact.

Things are pepping up. Rushing has started in earnest, and under the guidance of Tommy Turner, with the much needed coöperation of the alumni, it looks as though we shall accomplish something. Plans for our spring dance are maturing, and it promises to be at least on a par with those of former years.

The annual baseball game with the alumni is not far in the future, and we are primed to avenge the defeat of last year.

The annual alumni banquet was more than a success—it was unique in its class. The food was good and, strange as it seems, so were the speeches.

HARRY JENSEN

B A LEHIGH

Pledge: John Gallhier, Washington, D. C.

The second semester is well under way, and the chapter has just completed its elections: Richard E. McLeod, president; Harold V. Wait, vice-president; Charles L. Black, secretary; Charles M. Mapes, corresponding secretary; Edward H. Ehlers, treasurer.

Dick McLeod was recently elected president of the interfraternity council. Dick is also vice-president of Cyanide, junior honorary; costume manager of the M & C Club; and is a substitute for the Penn Relays.

Tex Wait is pledged Pi Tau Sigma. Tex is trying to gain a position on the lacrosse team this spring.

At the present time baseball and track are the predominating sports. The chapter is well represented in both. Chip Dow and Tommy Burke have regular berths on the varsity baseball team. Chip is one of the mainstays of the pitching staff, and Tommy has shown up well in center field. Ed. Williams is assistant manager.

Burt Riviere, Bob Weldon, Harry Beiter, Bud Loux, Al Weigel, and Bob Custer are getting in condition for track. The varsity track team looks good, and some results may be expected from Burt in the quarter mile, Harry in the mile relay, Bob in the mile, and Bud in the field events. The freshmen are represented by Al Weigel and Bob Custer, who is on the frosh Penn Relay team. Ben Buck is junior manager of track, and Bill Crane is an assistant manager.

Bob Garret is playing No. 2 man on the varsity tennis team. Bob is a member of O. D. K. and Sword & Crescent. Both Bob Garret and Larry Danser are members of Tau Beta Pi.

Jim Fountain is a member of Sword & Crescent and Alpha Kappa Psi, business.

Bob Farnham and Lew Black responded to the call for spring football practice. Tommy Tate is out for the position of assistant manager of football.

Shorty Zabriskie won his letter last fall as manager of cross country, and Jack Jacobs will fill the position next season as manager.

Burt Riviere completes his college career this year and will leave vacant the following positions; presidency of O. D. K., presidency of Sword & Crescent, business managership of the M. & C. Club, and secretary-treasurer of the senior class.

Bill MacDonald is the new national advertising manager for The Brown & White, Bob Farnham and Chip Dow are on the editorial staff; Bill Crane, Lew Black, and Charlie Mapes are on the business staff.

Doug Gray and Joe Bray were recently awarded their numerals. Doug won his in wrestling, and Joe was on the frosh basketball team.

For three weeks this spring the chapter was the host of Mr. Tibor Gyengo, a Hungarian. After two years of study at Oxford, Mr. Gyengo, better known as Tibby, won a scholarship which entitles him to visit any of the leading technical schools in America.

Ted Bergman recently visited us and gave us some good advice about rushing. Ted was much enthused about the Karnea; some of the brothers intend to get there by hook or crook.

The chapter had an informal party with Nu Chapter in April. We are looking forward to getting together again next fall.

CHARLES M. MAPES

B M TUFTS

On February 26th Beta Mu initiated five men, one sophomore and four freshmen. The ceremony was followed by the customary banquet for which Beta Mu is famous. Prexy Ralph Miller acted as toastmaster, and Dr. Paul Warren was the guest speaker.

During the past week the whole interior of the house has been renovated. This has included refinishing the floors, new wallpaper, and new furniture. Ralph Miller and Hank Maurer deserve the bulk of the credit for these improvements, although everyone in the chapter did his share.

New officers are: Robert Claus, president; Henry Maurer, treasurer; Edward Shaw, corresponding secretary. Ralph Miller deserves heartiest congratulations for his untiring efforts and services as president during the past year.

Beta Mu's standing was well indicated by the recent nominations to class honorary societies. Clarence Scoboria, William Clopp, Paul Brookes, and Robert Claus were all nominated for the junior honorary. Mountford and Pledge Frank Hodges were nominated for the sophomore honorary.

The beginning of the spring sports schedules finds many Delts participating. Paul Brookes and Earl Pulsifer are dash men. Scibby Scoboria represents the track team in such events as the pole-vault, javelin, and quarter-mile run. On the lacrosse team Gar Morse holds down a regular berth. Bob Claus, Bob Whittaker, and John Pear are all out for regular positions on the tennis team. Bill Kemp is lending his services to the baseball team as an assistant manager.

Beta Mu had the pleasure of a visit from Ted Bergman from April 15th to April 18th. He arrived during the midst of our renovating activities, but we were able to offer him a fair measure of hospitality.

All alumni as well as active members of Beta Mu regret the death of Edward Manning, who has been chef at the Delt house at Tufts so long. "Eddy," who died on March 26, 1933, was one of the best friends and most loyal supporters the chapter has ever had.

JOHN F. PEAR

B N M. I. T.

1st semester 1932-33: 20th of 23 fraternities

Several of our alumni turned out for the initiation banquet, and many more would have been present except for the inclement weather.

The new officers are: Brad Hooper, president; Duke Hempstead, vice-president; Whit Stueck, rushing chairman.

We entered the interfraternity basketball tournament with high hopes, reinforced by three new basketeers. George Lawrence, our captain, and Pat Patitz were both members of Tech's basketball squad, and Paul Hartman, the lanky Purduean, was a center hard to outjump. We overwhelmed our first round opponent, D. U., quite easily, but in the second round, Chi Phi, one of the finalists, proved too much for us. The game was the closest of the tournament, until near the end Chi Phi slipped off to a four point lead which they maintained until the final whistle.

Whit Stueck continues to add to his list of activities. A member of the Beaver Club, sophomore honorary, he has recently been promoted to production manager of the Drama Shop, which, by the way, was given a fine writeup in Boston's leading newspaper for its last production, a revival of "Ten Nights in a Barroom." Charlie Ball was cast in the leading rôle, and stole the show. Whit has also landed No. 2 position on the varsity crew, and is a sophomore member of the Walker Memorial Committee.

Bill Mills has been elected general manager of The Voo Doo and a member of the M. I. T. Gridiron, journalism. Johnny Duff is the new treasurer of The Voo Doo, and a member of the Gridiron. Dave Reed has just completed his first season on the varsity boxing team, and his features are now rapidly recovering their normal appearance. Mal Watson succeeds Fran Doyle as squash manager, and Bill Post is next year's sophomore boxing manager. Bill, along with Fred Tone, has also been elected to the staff of The Voo Doo. Johnny Westfall is busy maintaining his slave driver reputation stroking the jay vees.

Our spring dance was extremely successful.

Pat Patitz, after many nights of labor, has finally brought forth his brain child, The 1933 Beta Nu.

Thanks to the management of Bill Mills and the aid of the House Corporation, headed by Frank Elliot, our bills have been substantially reduced, and we are able to boast one of the lowest assessments on the campus.

Alumni present at the initiation banquet were Carl Gram, '09, toastmaster; Arthur L. Shaw, '09; Herbert S. Cleverdon, '10; Edwin M. Woodward, '17; Granville L. Hancock, '18; Raymond F. Hibbert, '27; Eric A. Bianchi, '29; John T. Hallahan, '00; Fisher Hills, '29; Chester M. Turner, '30; Herbert K. Allbright, '31; Allan Prescott, '31; Ralph Wayne, '32; E. Tyler Shaw, '33; Benjamin F. Sands, '33.

Eric Bianchi, '29, and Ben Sands, '33, are both members of the Daddy Club—initiated since the last RAINBOW, too.

Chet Turner, '30, has become an inventor. He has designed a new machine for canning beans.

Tom Lathrop, '11, sends his regards to those who remember him.

Bill Beckett, '31, is back at the Institute.

Bryan F. Kenney, '29, and Hugo Kleinhaus, '31, dropped in at the Shelter for a weekend.

JOHN DUFF, 3RD

B E TULANE

Beta Xi is taking an active part in school activities these days. Carver Blanchard has just been elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce. Two of our pre-legal students, Tom Sancton and Otis Trepagnier, have been elected to Tri-Alpha, pre-legal. Ashton Phelps, elected last year, has been honored with the presidency of the organization. Marvin Harvard was elected to Beta Mu, biological. Jack O'Connor is our representative to Phi Phi, school spirit.

In a political way we have gained recognition in the Democratic Party through the nomination of Jack O'Connor as vice-president of the Arts & Science School and Carver Blanchard as president of the Commerce School.

Pledge Moore has been named captain of the freshman golf team, and Jack O'Connor is playing No. 3 on the varsity. With these two men we have the interfraternity golf tournament pretty well in hand.

Some of the boys have heard the call and are out for tennis. Our ace, Ashton Phelps, for whom we had high hopes, suffered an injury to his right hand and will be unable to participate for some time. Until this mishap we were a sure winner of the interfraternity tennis matches.

Charles Thorn, stellar track man, will be No. 1 high hurdler this year. Thorn is also a member of the varsity basketball team. Phelps is also out for spring basketball.

Fine weather has brought out all the baseball paraphernalia and stirred up a good deal of enthusiasm over the games between the various colleges in the University. Three of our Commerce students, Carver Blanchard, Shelby Freiderichs, and Ervin Cooper, are members of their school team. Byard Edwards is on the Law School team, and Lawrence Burt is a member of the Medic team.

We are having a number of rushees each Saturday night for dinner.

B. MARVIN HARVARD, JR.

B O CORNELL

First, an apology to all alumni of Beta Omicron who missed the chapter letter in the last issue of THE RAINBOW. Believe you, the correspondent was severely chastised by the chapter for being a sluggard, and he has duly looked to the ant for inspiration.

Despite the loss of several members because of financial difficulties, the active chapter is doing very well, thank you, and is maintaining a noteworthy position in regard to activities. Although Charley Shoemaker, who would have been a member of this year's student council, is not back in school, we are well represented in all other fields.

Bob Campe is assistant business manager of The Widow and is on his way to become head man next year. Bill Riddiford is a sophomore member of The Sibley Journal of Engineering board and is also competing for a place on The Daily Sun. Ray Redfield is senior editor of The Cornellian, annual.

In athletics, crew is of course the most important thing at Cornell. Well, Bill Blum has just been promoted to the varsity boat, and Bill Kellogg is stroking the first boat of the 150-lb. crew. Burke Weigel earned his "C" wrestling for Cornell in the unlimited class. Fred Meass deserted spring football practice to play the outfield on the baseball team. Dave Hamerstrom, who earned his numerals in cross country last year, and Fred Sorenson, who got 'em for pole-vaulting, have been training since the first robin appeared. Anderson has fenced in every meet and won all but a few of his matches.

Ready, who has been unable to play any hockey for two years on account of no ice, is working on the competition for lacrosse manager. On the Hotel campus Turner, Himmelman, and Ready are right in the thick of things. It seems the only thing that is needed to present a well-rounded picture is somebody on the Musical Clubs. How about you alums recommending some musicians for us to rush next year?

Now for social activities. The Junior Week houseparty was, as usual, a huge success. We spent less money this year than we have in a long time, and, believe it or not, enjoyed ourselves better. We are now preparing for a faculty tea on some Sunday in the near future. (Good old faculty!) The House has again hired that staunch craft, "Stroller II," for Spring Day. If you're going to be on hand, let us know and we'll save you a seat.

House elections have just been held and "Bing" Goulard is the new president. Since the last letter we have had a visit from Traveling Secretary Bob Davenport, and are expecting to see Ted Bergman in a few days.

Now that beer has been declared legal beverage, we are glad to learn that the Falstaff Brewing Corporation in St. Louis (Alvin Griesedieck, '16, secretary and treasurer) is humming with activity.

B Π NORTHWESTERN

Pledges: William Baum, Chicago; Louis Nettelhorst, Chicago.

New officers are: Hollis Peck, president; Frank Neunuebel, vice-president; Fred Kunkel, steward; O'Neil Proud and David Hess, rushing co-chairmen; Paul Wilde, guide; Bob Kellen, sergeant-at-arms; Jay Kurtz, social chairman; Clemens Werner, house manager; Gerald Behler, recording secretary; Cam Hitchcock, corresponding secretary.

The Delt Prom, held as usual in the Bal Tabarin room of the Sherman Hotel, proved a big success—socially, if not financially. At the final check-up the statement showed exactly a fifty-cent loss.

Intramural activities have been at a low ebb for two months, but baseball has begun to flourish. The season has just opened officially, and in our first game—the only one we have played so far—we broke through on the business end of an 8-1 score. Fisher and Werner have captured berths for themselves on the varsity squad, and Pledge Baum is slated for a numeral. Ray Stock has made the freshman golf team. Hec Hill won a place as dash man on the freshman track team.

Our Mothers' Club, newly established this spring, portends to be a great asset. At their first meeting there were eighteen present. They have planned a subscription bridge party, the proceeds of which will be directed toward refurbishing the Shelter.

We are losing only three men via graduation. Sewell Sweeney, Art Pravdiza, and Johnny Sullivan will kiss us good-bye June 3rd. Sewell has a position waiting for him with the Northern States Power Company, a unit of the Byllesby corporation.

Herb Bartling, active in the University foundation and Student-Alumni association, is head of the Beta Pi committee on chapter reunion, the date of which has been set at September 1st. A more detailed account of the get-together will be in the Dynamo, our chapter organ.

Jay Kurtz has announced his engagement to Ethel Mae Taylor, of Washington, D. C. The marriage will take place June 6th. According to a fine old custom, he was obliged to pass out cigars.

Cam Hitchcock has been elected treasurer of Sigma Delta Chi, journalistic, of which Hollis Peck is ex-president.

B P STANFORD

Beta Rho has just finished a most successful quarter any way you look at it. Scholastically Beta Rho ranked high. In intramural athletics the Delt swimming team came away with high point honors, setting new intramural records in four events. Phil Bateson was the star, winning the sprints and finishing well in the lead in the relay. Bill Erskine starred in the distance races. He is now swimming for the Athens Club, and working out for the Golden Gate swim to be held this summer.

Our pledge class has shown itself to be well up to expectations. Sheldon Bronstein is a fine sprinter, and Bob Fast is working out with the discus. Tom Boothe is showing promise of becoming a nationally known diver, while Phil Bateson makes the tank look pretty short when he gets in one of those fifty-yard free style events. Johnny Coffin is out for polo, and Ray Lewis, a star on last year's winning football team, is now working out with the varsity.

Among the actives four new block S men have but recently come to light. Frank Lombardi won his second letter in the sprints; Gus Meier, though injured before vacation, is now back in form and won his letter in the high hurdles. Fred Maggiora played some fine ball last quarter, and, though he is unable to play this quarter, was awarded his letter. And lastly George Forney in tennis has just brought home the bacon.

Beta Rho has also received its full share of circle S men. Fred Glover, the retiring captain of the boxing team, has just completed a very successful season, and Pierce MacDowell has just received his second letter in water polo.

Ollie Johnson has been elected first junior manager in football.

We are all looking forward to the semiannual picnic with the Cal-Delts. We have a fine spot picked out on the other side of the Bay with facilities for football and baseball.

On April 21st a joint initiation ceremony with Cal is to be held at California. Bill Erskine, '34, and Bob Rockwell, '32, are to be the initiates.

Though a long way off, many of us are planning to attend the Karnea and the Chicago World's Fair this summer. We'll be seeing you.

Rushing activities indicate that all possible effort is being put forth to have the largest pledge class in the history of the chapter next fall. Norman Prucka is rushing chairman. The recent Delt Spring Party was said to be one of the best of the season.

Packy McFarland, Otto Kotouc, and George Sauer are the Delts in the Bar Nothing Ranch, the show sponsored by the Kosmet Klub.

Otto Kotouc, James Heldt, and Ray Elliot were honored for outstanding scholarship in the recent honors convocation.

In spring football practice the following members of Beta Tau were among the outstanding candidates: George Sauer, Gail O'Brien, Elmer Hubka, and James Heldt. Packy McFarland was recently initiated into Pi Epsilon Pi, pep organization.

Steve Hokuf, javelin and discus, and Elmer Hubka, shot-put, are on the Nebraska track team. Both loom as potential Big Six champions in their respective events. Both will aid Nebraska in an attempt to win her fourth consecutive Big Six outdoor track championship.

Hokuf has just signed a professional football contract with the Boston Braves. He and Lawrence Ely, another Cornhusker All-American, will be playing in the national pro league next fall.

The Delt golf team is on its way to another championship in golf. We've won the plaque in three of the last five years. The members of the team are Neil Hall, Berle Sampson, Norman Galleher, and Emmett Morava.

Recently initiated into Scabbard & Blade were Norman Prucka and Al Davis, who is also vice-president of the pledge class in this organization.

ILLINOIS

1st semester 1932-33: 51st of 55 fraternities

Pledges: Ben Mains, Wichita, Kansas; Robert Moore, Chicago.

Beta Upsilon is proud to announce that Bob J. Garrard, a junior, of Champaign, has recently been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Garrard has been a consistent high point scorer in scholarship, having secured a perfect average for the last six semesters, his first semester in school being marred by three hours of B grade. Bob has received seventy-four hours of A grade.

Dwight Steele, '32, who completed his work toward graduation in February, was appointed praeceptor. Steele is taking law school work here. Under a plan adopted this semester, awards will be made to the member making the highest scholastic rating and to the member showing the biggest scholastic improvement the present year.

Howard Blue was elected to the Illinois Union Cabinet. He represents the School of Fine and Applied Arts. John Allen has pledged Phi Delta Phi, legal. Sam Keys was chairman of the Panhellenic ball. Bob Zane is chairman of the program committee of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Champaign papers named Red Gragg as the outstanding man out for spring football. Our basketball team was runner-up for the University "B" League championship, losing the final game by a score of 14 to 13. The team received an attractive trophy for winning their division championship, however.

On May 6th the chapter is planning an alumni reunion. This innovation, part of the new alumni program, is expected to draw a large group of Beta Upsilon men from all parts of the country. A Delt golf tournament, a University baseball game, and a meeting of the alumni corporation will comprise the program, the climax of which will be a banquet in the evening.

The rushing campaign for next fall is well under way under the direction of Bob Garrard. Several high school students who will be rushees next fall will be entertained by the chapter on the University's interscholastic weekend May 20th.

OHIO STATE

Officers for next year are: president, Charles Parker; vice-president, Charles Ebersold; treasurer, William Withgott; recording secretary, Charles Cochran; alumni secretary, Robert Mead; corresponding secretary, Robert Gibbs; guide, Elliot Kimberly; sergeant-at-arms, William Royer.

Mills from Mu is here this quarter, as well as Haywood from Gamma Upsilon and Johnson and Doelker from Chi.

In spring intramurals the chapter's chances for a tennis cup this year are plenty good with Haywood and Withgott entered. Our playground ball team, champions of their league last year, is centered around Keiser, L. Walters, Parker, R. Sterner, and Mills.

Pledge Whitlinger is making strides towards a position on the varsity baseball team, and Pledges Phillips, Keller, and Lord are showing up nicely in spring football practice. Pledges Stahl and Shank are out for business manager of The Sun Dial and secretary of the student senate respectively. Pledge Peebles is one of the outstanding players on the polo team. Pledge R. Anglin is doing some strong oratory for the debate team.

Benninghofen has charge of the pledges for the next year.

Plans are being carried rapidly forward for a Founders' Day banquet May 6th.

On April 27th Mr. Alvan E. Duerr, former chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference, will be the principal speaker at the annual Greek Night banquet. This is the closing event for all interfraternity work at Ohio State. The national conference of Deans of Men, to be held this week in Columbus, has been invited, and as there will be five Delt deans of men in attendance, it looks like a big night.

Vice-President Finnicum, of the Northern Division, attended our last chapter meeting to explain the new system in regard to the office of alumni secretary.

Abbott, our steward, has been appointed chairman of the publicity committee of the Fraternity Managers Association, a co-operative buying unit here.

ROBERT E. GIBBS

Beta Chi held its annual initiation and banquet on March 15th. The banquet was a gala event with many of our alumni back. Frank M. Cornell honored us by coming as the principal speaker.

As usual, Freddie Munroe and Joe Buonanno are upholding Beta Chi tradition in the spring sports events. Fred is left fielder on the varsity baseball team; Joe is on the spring track team.

Jack Raymond and Freeman Packard are out with the football squad for spring practice.

We are now anticipating a bang-up weekend in April, for we are putting on a formal and a tea-dance. It might be here stated that our new president for 1933-34, William Carl Wahlforth, Jr., has been responsible for all our unusually successful formals and tea-dances during the past year. It is he who is also making arrangements for our coming weekend.

To Charlie Eberstadt, our vice-president, are due congratulations for leading the chapter scholastically. He easily outdistanced us the last semester, although all the upper classmen did exceptionally well. At last we hope that Beta Chi, in respect to scholastic achievement, is on the road to the top.

Now that spring is here we already see signs of an earnest desire to enjoy the benefits of its health-giving ultra-violet rays. Certain of us may be seen on almost any pleasant afternoon basking in the warm spring sunshine. Nevertheless, this same atmosphere has caused new enthusiasm for Delt activities, one of the most important of which is the earnest drive to put our painting fund over the top. All of us hope to see the Shelter brightened by a new coat of paint before fall, at least. To Brother Pratt, our past president, Beta Chi owes a word of praise for his year of unselfish interest and activity for the benefit of the chapter. Not the least of his efforts has been his attempt to continue the drive for the painting fund, in spite of the depression.

Financially Beta Chi is in a sounder position than for some time past, through the sincere efforts of Fred Munroe, our past treasurer, Bob Arnott, our present treasurer, and Mr. Brewster, our chapter adviser. It is expected that we will soon have no financial worries whatsoever.

1st semester 1932-33: 5th of 9 fraternities

Beta Psi has won the first annual $50.00 scholarship award to be given by the Indianapolis Delta Tau Delta Foundation.

Jim Bales won his letter as senior basketball manager, and Bob Harman rounded out his last year playing brilliantly at guard. Rovenstine, sophomore newcomer on the varsity squad, gave the home town folks a thrill when he finished as high point man in the Notre Dame game, the last of the season.

Yeager won his numeral sweater as junior football manager.

Bob Meyers is busy with his duties as sophomore baseball manager. Romberg is doing good work at second base on the Varsity baseball team.

Ken Cole has been pledged to the Sphinx Club. Ken is also putting the finishing touches on the yearbook, which he is editing.

Bob Vogel has been pledged to Tau Kappa Alpha, debating.

Our annual spring rush party was held at Turkey Run. It gave us reason to expect a full house next year.

HAROLD A. ROMBERG

B Ω CALIFORNIA

With only formal initiation remaining between us and finals we are looking very closely to our laurels academically. With a good scholastic standing from last year to encourage us we are aiming to better it this semester. Most of us are preparing to spend a feverish two weeks pounding the books and trying to fight off a chronic case of spring fever. The Delt house at Berkeley will close April 29th for a long and well deserved rest. We are planning to intersperse swimming, and the rest of it with a vigorous rushing campaign this summer. This campaign and its vigor are prompted by the proposed raise in tuition at this University, which will seriously reduce the number of prospective fraternity men.

Internally the chapter has just concluded a hectic but fruitful year. Hectic because the depression and the California state legislature (guardian of our mighty institution) have been working on us. Fruitful because the fellows under the able guidance of our retiring officers have managed to run the House smoothly in spite of all our obstacles. As a token of esteem, Art Hyde, our president of last year, has been named delegate to the Chicago Karnea.

New officers are: Leo Battaglin, president; "Red" Christie, vice-president; Buck Slingerland, corresponding secretary; Al Horn, recording secretary; "Botchy" Beinhorn, house manager; Jim Geiger, clerk; Charlie Widemann, guard.

This season we had big "C" men in three major sports. Dana Murdock, graduating senior, was awarded a letter in basketball. Dana is a running guard, and one of the best floor men on this year's squad. The track representative is a man with whom letters are getting to be a habit. Ed Waterbury by dint of a throw of about 205 feet in the javelin last week won his third award. Ed's performances this season have marked him as one of the outstanding spear tossers in the country. The third man is George "Botchy" Beinhorn, who in everyday life is just a poor struggling house manager. Botch is a disciple of our famous Ed Salisbury. He helped the junior Varsity crew trounce U. C. L. A. last Saturday at Long Beach. His position is bow.

In addition to these three John Fried was given a circle "C" in 145-pound basketball. John is one of the niftiest little players that ever took a shot. This is his second award in that sport.

As usual several of us are out for Spring football. Russ Calkins, freshman captain two years ago, has been converted from blocking half to center. He is now playing second string to Red Christie. The race for this position next Fall will be strictly a House function. Coach Bill Ingram is grooming Arleigh Williams to assume first string duties next season as ball packing half-back. Here's a good candidate for the next year's all-Delt team. Leo Battaglin is getting in shape for a tackle job.

Ed Clark has been running with the freshman sprinters. He is improving, and planning to give ten flat an awful beating next season. Ray Hitchings, Varsity quarter miler, was forced to give up his running this quarter, but next season he'll be back stronger than ever.

Russ Calkins and Bob Evans have been elected to Winged Helmet, junior honor society. Red Christie and Leo Battaglin members of Beta Beta, senior honor society. Two of our sophomore managers have by dint of hard work earned their junior appointments. Bob Evans, after a year of dropping shells in the Estuary and catering to cranky crew men, has been rewarded with promotion. "Tiger Jim" Geiger, who can expertly mix baseball, beer, and pretzels, has also been honored.

We nominate our Beach Combers' dance as one of the social season's outstanding events. Planned by Leo Battaglin and executed in design by Ray Willis and Art Hyde, the dance was characterized by originality and brilliancy of decoration. It was attended by members of our Stanford and U. C. L. A. chapters. The latter chapter is about 500 miles away—we're not bragging, but you can see for yourself it wasn't a bad dance.

Last Sunday we were guests at a Beer Bust given by Beta Rho. The affair was a success from all angles. The food was good—the beer was good—the singing was lousy—and as they say in Hoboken, "A good time was had by all." On the night of April 21st a joint initiation is to be held with Stanford. Art Hyde and Fred Glover, presidents of the two chapters, will officiate.

In closing a year we always feel like congratulating ourselves and especially our retiring officers on a successful year. We are saying, as everyone is, that things could be better; but the thing that satisfies us is the fact that we've made the best of it. We wish Art Hyde good luck and hope he enjoys the trip to Chicago.

ALBERT HORN

Γ A CHICAGO

Pledges: Delos Cozad, Decatur; John Hopkins, Chicago; Ralph Waldo, Purcell, Colorado; Myron Cole, Chicago.

The University has just completed its first experiment combining deferred rushing with a preferential bidding system. It is still too early to offer an opinion as to its success, but the principal objection appears to be the throwing into the middle of the school year of all the rushing activity normally performed during the summer. As this goes to press, the first reports have just arrived from the front. With the novelty of the new system helping the national financial depression to cut down the field of eligible candidates by a third, the Delts were extremely fortunate in securing four fine men. John Hopkins is a four-sport man, being a member of the freshman football, wrestling, basketball, and baseball teams. Ralph Waldo is a football player, a pole vaulter, and was a member of The Cap & Gown staff until that publication succumbed to the spirit of the times. Myron Cole is a divinity student who was president of his class out in California. Delos Cozad's activities have been mainly scholastic.

New officers are: president, Stephen Straske; vice-president, Charles Vette; steward and treasurer, E. B. Brown. All of these men are active in campus affairs. With the baseball season here Straske takes his regular turn on the pitching mound for the varsity. Vette is a chorus girl with Blackfriars, and has been appointed second lieutenant in the Field Artillery unit of the Military Department. Incidentally, Doolittle and Moulton are also shavetails now. Brown, whose voice won him fame in last year's Blackfriars show, entertained at the big Delt Prom held last month in the ballroom of the Sherman House.

Other members of the chapter have not been idle. Following in the footsteps of Charles Schmidt, last year's president of the interfraternity council, Gardner Abbott has recently been elected vice-president of that organization. Abbott, who is an officer of the law school bar association, has also been initiated into Phi Delta Phi, law. John Spearing, chapter president last year, has entered medical school with advanced standing. He is hoping to win a Rhodes scholarship. Richard Pettit has also entered medical school. He and Charles Greenleaf are serving as members of the chapel council. Greenleaf is also kept busy as a member of the dramatic society and is managing the publicity for Blackfriars.

In fact, all our sophomores are active. Merrill May has written a skit which was presented by Mirror, campus dramatic organization; he has also entered the John Billings Fiske poetry contest, and at present is writing the book for a Blackfriars show which he hopes to have accepted next year. Edmund Wolfensohn, who is acting as student representative of the Placement Bureau, has been shifted from guard to tackle during spring football practice; and Wilbur Vick is now singing with the Glee Club. Edwin Irons has been made first man on the University pistol team (just a gangster gone collegiate). Frank Spearing, (a collegian gone gangster), who understudied his brother on the gridiron last year, is slated for a regular berth next fall, and expects to show the "big bum" how the game should be played. Kent Hughes has won a full scholarship, which must be quite helpful. Rowland Watts is back after a trip through the South. He reports enjoyable visits at the Tulane and Georgia Tech chapters.

In conclusion we should like to express our appreciation to those alumni who dropped in to help us out with the rushing. Among those noted were Bill Sullivan, "Duke" and "Rocky" Leonard, "Houghty" Cross, Drew, Swanson, Straffer, Bill Burns, "Hud" Moore, Chuck Schmidt, Larry Shinn, Joe Kincaid, "Heine" Kennedy, and Fred Hack, Jr.

Γ B ARMOUR

1st semester 1932-33: 3rd of 5 fraternities

One of the biggest months of the year has just rolled by. The house has been a scene of constant activity. Probation week, initiation banquet, a welcoming banquet for Dr. Hotchkiss, the new president of Armour Institute, and the annual Delt Prom were only the salient features of the month's activities.

The swelling of the active group by the addition of seven initiates made the handling of the numerous affairs of the house a simple matter.

Dr. Hotchkiss, the new president, was welcomed by a banquet which sixty Gamma Beta alumni attended at the house. Much credit is due Harry Prebensen, '26, for the manner in which he handled the affair.

Congratulations to Beta Pi for the successful Delt Prom they conducted in this the fourth year of the depression. It was one of the most entertaining of all fraternity affairs of the year.

T. C. Peavey was re-elected president for a second term. Many thanks are due him for accepting this arduous task a second full year. He has also been elected editor of next year's yearbook. Lou Streb will again captain the tennis team, with Spence Cone assured of keeping his berth for a second year on that team.

T. D. Luckett and L. W. Davidson were initiated Scarab, architectural. E. H. Doane has been chosen assistant editor of the engineering quarterly. Larry Davidson has been swinging his clubs lately preparatory to a second year as low score man of the golf team.

W. H. LARSON

Γ Γ DARTMOUTH

Under the informal freshman pledging system the rushing committee is lining up a fine 1936 delegation, which will be initiated next fall. A series of successful open houses has been held. For entertainment later in the year a short movie is being produced by the House. Ernie Hedler, Charlie Steffey, Speck Macy, and Fuzzy Lathrop are playing the principle rôles, the rest of the house appearing in mob scenes. Harry Carruth wrote the scenario, and Hank Muller is acting as director and cameraman.

A Gamma Gamma memorial library is beginning to be built up and will be composed of inscribed books donated by the graduating classes. It is hoped that eventually, the entire membership of the chapter, since its founding, will be represented.

The Delt baseball team is shaping up, and we hope to have a strong team. The handball team, composed of Bob Allabough and Bill Dimity, was successful in reaching the semifinals. Bill Huse, Ed Knap, Sam McCray, and Jack Wallace represented Gamma Gamma in the intramural squash tournament and entered the quarter-finals.

Bill Huse has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Bill Hitchcock, captain of last season's soccer team, is now out for the lacrosse team.

Dick Bowlen, '31, visited us the other day accompanied by Gwen Quimby, to whom he was recently engaged.

WILLIAM G. MARTIN

Γ Δ WEST VIRGINIA

With the Easter vacation and mid-semester things of the past, Gamma Delta has settled down to various and sundry things—be it the girl so missed during the Easter vacation, politicking for our group for the coming elections, or maintaining for the second semester the second highest grades among fraternities and first in the interfraternity council.

Of our ever-with-us shysters, Ed Bock, Bill Geppert, Charles Hoult, and Herald Shimmel, have been honored by pledges to Phi Delta Phi, proudly boasting among its members many of the nation's notables.

Gene Wright has been strutting around more than usual of late, proudly displaying his "W. V.," his pre-war stomach still more evident. John Kizer, through with his many duties as manager of the varsity basketball team, was recently pledged Phi Bettar Kapper, mock fraternity.

Al Stewart, Jack Thornton, and Roger Scott were recently initiated into Scabbard & Blade. Among its many privates the R. O. T. C. unit here boasts the name of our distinguished senior, Dave Sutton.

Gamma Delta congratulates Eddie Griffith upon his recent election to Phi Beta Kappa, a worthy honor to a worthy brother. Joe Ross and "Gibby" Henderson have been likewise honored in their election to Tau Beta Pi.

Wearing these massive crucible lids, John Borrer and Edgar Burnside displayed to the world their bid to Phi Lambda Upsilon, chemical.

An informal Depression Dance was given in the chapter house April 22nd. A number of local and out-of-town alumni were present.

ROGER B. SCOTT

Γ Ζ WESLEYAN

With all the major social activities for the year out of the way, Gamma Zeta is settling down to the task of enjoying the spring weather and preparing for final examinations. As usual, the house parties in April and February were distinct successes with the usual Delt spirit pervading the atmosphere. The Shelter each time proved to be a most popular rendezvous.

The most important function of the winter season was, of course, the annual initiation and banquet, held late in February. Gamma Zeta initiated twelve men: ten freshmen, one sophomore, and one senior. There still remain four uninitiated pledges. This event brought back many of the older alumni, including some who had not visited the Shelter in a number of years. While on this subject, we have been pleased to note that this year there has been a growing tendency among the alumni to drop in every now and then. These visits are certainly appreciated.

The Delt athletes concluded their winter season in fine fashion by winning the interfraternity basketball cup, which now stands alongside the University scholarship cup and the Eastern Division Scholarship plaque. The victorious team was captained by Dee Burr, assisted by Gil Clee, Bob Croot, Dick Overton, Johnny Cranston, and Bill Seydel. Several of the freshmen won their numerals in the winter, Emmet Wanamaker getting his in swimming and Bill Behrens and Dee Coultas being awarded theirs for basketball.

With spring sports now in the limelight, Gamma Zeta is again well represented. On the varsity baseball team the Deltas have two positions sewed up, first and third base, held down by Bob Schneider and Hook Edgar respectively. Dick Overton is high-jumping, broad-jumping, running, and being a jack-of-all-trades for the track team, of which Pat Schoonover is assistant manager. Among the freshmen Dee Coultas is playing first on the baseball team, and Bob Croot, Bill Seydel, Palmer Kipp, Halsey Warner, Bill Behrens, and Johnny Erskine are giving their support to the track outfit.

Keith Clarke is working for a job on the business board of The Argus. Gil Clee has been elected vice-president of the Paint & Powder Club and is finishing the season with a record of having had a major rôle in every production this year. Dick Overton is scuttling the business end of the same organization. Bud Hanson won the managership of the debate team. Tommy Quinn has just concluded his third year with the debate team.

In the line of scholarship the chapter is still keeping up its good work. In February two of the senior delegation of eight, John Mills and Tommy Quinn, were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, and there is a possibility that a third Delt may win this coveted honor in June.

In April new officers were elected for the coming year. Bud Hanson became president for the spring and summer term.

Γ Η GEORGE WASHINGTON

Pledges: Gaines Gough, Washington, D. C.; Maurice Lawyer, Los Angeles, California.

The famous cherry blossoms of the nation's capital have come and gone, and so has our much enjoyed spring vacation. From now on it is up to us to try to settle down for about another month and a half, and then we will bid farewell to another school year. To some of our brothers it will mean the end of their school days. Those graduating this spring are Keller, Eager, Hughes, Smith, Caredis, and Fenlon. May their battles with life be happy and prosperous! Their presence will be missed a great deal by all.

New officers are: William Beryl Hix, president; Harvey Wade Mann, vice-president; Lawson McKenzie, recording secretary; Wayne Lincoln, corresponding secretary; John B. Adams, treasurer; Kenneth Patrum, assistant treasurer; Wayne Lincoln, guide; Donald Blake, doorman; and Everett Harry Woodward, interfraternity delegate. Much credit is due our outgoing president, William Keller, for faithful and untiring work.

We were successful in bowling this year, winning the cup. Caredis climaxed the sensational playing by delivering at the opportune moment. We are happy to mention that George Washington University has organized a varsity baseball team.

The home games are to be played in the Washington American League ball park. This is interesting because it will be the only university playing in a major league ball park. Fenlon is the most outstanding prospect for the team.

Interfraternity baseball is now in order, but not much progress has been made as yet. Spring football has drawn to a close. Spirit and enthusiasm ran high. McCarver and F. Parrish of last year's team were in their usual good form. Pledges B. Parrish and Morrison came through in fine shape. Next fall the varsity will be without the services of Ras Nielsen and Wally Wilson.

We are looking forward to our annual Founders' Day formal, which is to be held the first part of May at the Beaver Dam Country Club. Everett Woodward has been pledged to Phi Delta Epsilon, journalistic. Kenneth Patrum is a student council candidate in the Junior College. Cluster, Caredis, Eager, and Keller have passed the District of Columbia bar examination.

Hix, Hughes, Adams, and Pledge Gough have become members of the commerce fraternity, Alpha Kappa Psi.

Pierce Davies from Beta Iota is living at the Shelter.

John Galliher has been appointed rush chairman. Samuel Carnes has been working diligently for the interest of Gamma Eta at the interfraternity council meetings.

Gamma Theta at present is concentrating on the spring rush party. Plans are being made to take care of a large group of rushees.

The chapter's outlook for next year, from what we can tell now, seems very good. With only two actives, Karl Spear and Harold Davis, graduating this spring, it looks as though there will be plenty of experienced hands to handle the rushing situation at the first of the next semester.

New officers are: president, Bob Mize; vice-president, Murlin Cross; corresponding secretary, Noel Wightman; recording secretary, Howard Tisdale; guide, Benjamin Totten; doorkeeper, "Alex" Myers.

In basketball Karl Spear and Jim Finley made letters, and Sam Haskin showed himself in line for some real action next year.

In spring football there are seven Delts out.

In dramatics Ralph Buffon played a rather prominent rôle in "The Black Flamingo," presented not long ago by the dramatic department.

At the recent class elections Bob Mize was elected president of the junior class; Louis Speer was chosen vice-president of the freshman class; and Jim Finley was chosen treasurer of the sophomore class.

Finally with "Diz" Cross as assistant advertising manager of the school publication, The Orange, and Bish Thompson a columnist we feel that Gamma Theta is better than holding her own.

TEXAS

Pledges: Frank Hayes, Providence, Rhode Island; Bill Brown, Holly Springs, Mississippi; David Baker, Ballinger; Jack Krimble, San Antonio; Elmo White, Stephenville; Herman Eilenberger, Palestine; George Johnson, Prairie Lea; James

Shepard, Gilmer; Jack Easthan, Waxahachie; Tom Graham, Paris.

The depths of a hitherto almost unscathed capacity for coöperation was displayed by each man during rush week. A list bearing the names of almost 150 prospects was subjected to tireless investigation and attention. Gamma Iota was rewarded for her effort by the pledging of ten men who show every promise of being a credit to the chapter and to our national organization.

Several of our pledges are showing up well in various phases of University life. Frank Hayes is a member of the Men's Glee Club and assistant intramural manager. David Baker and Bill Brown, are members of Phi Eta Sigma. Among our actives who are honor students are Webster Snyder, Winfield Holmes, and Terril Vaughan.

Gamma Iota's outstanding social event was the spring formal April 7th, the most successful ever given by any fraternity on the Texas campus. Mack Rogers and his Gunter Hotel Orchestra, of San Antonio, furnished music and novelty numbers. The dance was well attended by out-of-town alumni.

New officers are: Albert J. Coleman, president; Maurice Madero, vice-president; R. Shelley McDavid, secretary; John Pope, rush captain; Bob Stolz, recording secretary; Temple Nash, treasurer.

Albert Tarbutton now takes his place with "Tuffy" Hancock and Maurice Madero as Delta Tau Delta's representation in the Cowboys. "Tuffy" Hancock, however, graduates in law this June.

For the past week interest has centered around the polo match between Texas and Oklahoma. The Oklahoma team made a fine showing, but was out-generated. Among the visiting Oklahoma players were Gordon Watts and Kirkley Garnett of Delta Alpha. We greatly enjoyed their extended visit at the Shelter.

The student body is looking forward to the annual Round-Up. House decoration schemes are to be carried out as nearly as possible depicting events of the early frontier days in Texas. Our nine new campus structures will be formally opened for inspection.

MISSOURI

Pledges: George Hine, Richard Owen, Kansas City; Urban Karl, Middletown, New York.

Gamma Kappa stood high in scholarship last semester, ranking third among the fraternities with an average of 246.

Initiation was held March 26th.

New officers are: president, James Harper; vice-president, James Geiger; recording secretary, William Walton; alumni secretary, Harry Piper.

We have two representatives on the staff of The Missouri Student for next year, Willard Schroeder as editor and Walter Wood as associate editor. Schroeder was also initiated into Scabbard & Blade.

We are still fighting for the permanent possession of the intramural cup. Regier and Schmidt with pledge Becker won the intramural play contest with Marsh Nigger, written by George McCue.

George Stuber is in the limelight again. He is the Big Caucus candidate for the presidency of the student body.

Extensive preparations are being made for our spring formal, to be held May 5th. Harry Herbig is social chairman, and Bo Vavra is in charge of decorations.

We have had as recent alumni guests Dick Slack, Don Bishop, and Emerick Vavra. We have received the announcement of the wedding of Joseph Balmat, Jr., to Miss Inez Plumb. The groom was attended by C. Ralph Seaman as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Balmat will make their home in Springfield, Missouri.

Γ Λ PURDUE

Pledge: T. C. Borchelt, Riverside, Illinois.

With only two more months of school, everyone is hard at work both in activities and in scholarship. We are quite proud of our scholarship last semester. Only one large national fraternity was ahead of us, and that by only a slight margin.

Gamma Lambda is getting its quota of pledges in the honorary organizations. Tom Bauer is pledged Gimlet, athletic. Larry McDonald is toting a saber and a wrench, signifying his pledge to Scabbard & Blade, and to Pi Tau Sigma, mechanical engineering.

In athletics we find Dutch Fehring doing his best on the diamond, preparing for a big season with the Purdue nine, while Clyde Henley is working out daily on the track. Clyde also copped the University best fighter's trophy at the annual athletic carnival. John Burch is out for spring football practice and is promising material for Purdue's eleven next fall. John tips the scale to around 200 and is no frail person to buck up against. Scott Truitt is working out daily on the diamond getting in condition to hold down that shortstop position.

With Playshop going strong, we find Dick Shoemaker and Dave Robb, after big things in next year's line-up. Both have good chances to head Purdue's dramatic organization. Bob Buschmann is sales manager for The Debris.

Gamma Lambda is represented on the Junior Prom committee by Dutch Fehring, who is in charge of programs.

We had our annual spring formal at the chapter house March 18th. Don Campbell had charge, and every one had a fine time. The following day members of the chapter and their friends enjoyed an informal dinner at the Shelter.

New officers are: president, Roger H. Daoust; vice-president, Thomas B. Bauer; house manager, Donald Chapman; corresponding secretary, Blair Rieth; social chairman, Dave Robb; treasurer, William Traylor.

Plans are being made for Mothers' Day. Last year we had the honor of entertaining more mothers than we have had visit us for several years.

Γ M WASHINGTON

Spring is here, and the Mothers' Club again looks around the Shelter and decides that we need a few new trimmings, including a coat of paint here and there. We don't try to imagine what the house would look like without those mothers of ours.

Track again holds the stage with Walt Woodward beating all contestants for the mile. Our boy Witt graces the varsity tennis team, while John Bannick still stretches his long legs over the low and high hurdles, much to the envy of those that try to follow.

Those that are in the know say that series of 1933 Lewis and Clark expeditions are in progress about town, with headquarters at the Shelter.

Two of the brothers have found the real way to laugh off the depression. Stew Robertson and Alex Paulski have acquired an old fishing boat and are rejuvenating it. As soon as summer comes around, they'll kiss this hard-boiled world goodbye and set their sails for Alaska, where they intend to fish and hunt and earn their grub and good nights' sleep by hard work and royal fun. We hope that next fall they will be able to turn in an illustrated write-up for the editor's consideration.

Γ N MAINE

Pledges: Robert Aldrich, Winchendon, Massachusetts; Roland Blake, Brownfield; Albert Crowder, Bangor; Firth Dennett, Brownfield; Arland Fitz, East Corinth; Paul Gavin, Alfred; James Haggett, North Edgcomb; Robert Haggett, Portland; Floyd Hamlin, Hampden; Richard Higgins, Bangor; Frank Myers, Old Town; Temple Smith, Bangor; Philip Webber, Belfast.

Our winter informal, in February, was all that we could wish for. Plans are now being made for our annual spring house party in May. The services of the Harlem Knights' Orchestra have been engaged.

New officers are: Delmont Ballard, president; Edward Weeks, vice-president; Evans Page, secretary; Ambrose Keyser, treasurer.

"Dick" Captain and Ralph Copeland have been out for wrestling. They are both fine grapplers. Copeland reached the semifinals of the 145 lb. class, and Captain came out champion of the 165 lb. class.

Captain, Copeland, Vernon Packard, "Amby" Keyser, and Millard Fitzgerald are out for the tennis squad. Captain finished well up in the lead last year. Hardison, Ralph Copeland, and Ed Littlefield have been on the University band all year.

"Del" Ballard has been elected to Kappa Phi Kappa, educational. "Ken" Kimball has been pledged Alpha Chi Sigma, chemical, of which "Peany" Ramsdell is a member. Ray Gailey has been pledged Kappa Gamma Phi, journalistic.

This chapter is well represented in the R. O. T. C. unit. "Don" Blake is a captain; Allen Hamilton is a first lieutenant; "Larry" Gagnon and Ierdell Ward are second lieutenants; Vernon Packard and Evans Page are sergeants. Blake and Hamilton receive their commissions in the Reserves in June.

Γ Ξ CINCINNATI

Pledges: Robert Hawley, Pittsfield, Massachusetts; Cyrus Baxter, Cincinnati, Ohio.

As the winter season draws to a close, the Deltas find themselves in a enviable position. With intramural trophies for bowling and indoor track already won and a basketball team which was defeated only in the playoffs, the chapter is far in the lead for the intramural all-year trophy.

Our new officers are president, Robert Johnson; vice-president, William Coughlin; treasurer, Edward Stuebing; recording secretary, Frank Burdick; corresponding secretary, William Fischbach; guide, Robert Moorehead; sergeant-at-arms, William Beddoe.

With spring practice starting in the various sports, the chapter finds itself well represented on many of the varsity teams. With the football squad are Bill Coughlin, Frank Burdick, Al Davis, and Whitey Davis, all veterans. John Gibney, Fred Pressler, Bob Egan, Stan Petry, and Jim Cook are all excellent prospects coming up from last fall's freshman team. Bob Hofer, holder of the intramural for the 220, is starting as a dash man on the track team. Bob Bernhardt, Jac Smith, Frank Kugler, Bill Beddoe, and Clif Haughey are also on the track squad. Haughey has been awarded a letter in swimming. With the freshman tracksters are Hawley, Cook, and Petry. Hayden, a veteran, and Russ Bernhardt, a flashy sophomore, are on the baseball team. Fred McCaslin is both captain and manager of the golf team, on which Al Clarke also plays.

Pressler and Egan had the honor of being pledged Sophos, and Burdick and Powell were pledged Ulex.

In the annual musical comedy is Lou Mendel as assistant student director, Al Dorenbusch doing specialty dances, Gil Werner with a minor lead; Coughlin, Hixon, Smith, Baxter, Hofer and Bernhardt on the production staff.

The Mothers' Club gave a delightful tea at the chapter house on the afternoon of Palm Sunday.

Russ Bernhardt is starting his rushing program.

Γ Ο SYRACUSE

Pledges: N. L. Abell, Syracuse; E. S. Haley, New York; C. H. Klepser, Syracuse; W. J. Manton, Jr., Albany; B. V. McEvoy, New York; E. Sargent, Syracuse.

The chapter had its annual initiation banquet March 25th. The initiation in the afternoon was followed by a dinner and a dance at Schrafft's. The crowd there was the largest that has ever attended such an affair here at Syracuse. The alumni were very well represented. Among those present were Toastmaster Wolff, White (Gamma Phi), Strait, Lasher, Witmeyer, Davis, Bruns, Kierney, Casety, Dawson, Deegan, Diller, Dutton, Eckel, Ford, Gilmour, Gishler, Goodrich, Loucks, Morgan, Oot, Reed, Sargent, Smith, Steigerwald, Stone, Tucker, Schamu, Veith, Watson, and Weinheimer.

Paul Tucker presented a portrait of Sid Coleman to the chapter. It is a very fine painting and now hangs over the fireplace. The active chapter appreciates the gift.

The Northern group of the Eastern Division had its meeting here at Syracuse, April 8th.

Officers for next year are as follows: Gibson, president; Perrott, vice-president; Hanneman, recording secretary; Ferris, corresponding secretary; Tracy, librarian.

We wind up social activities for the year on April 28th with a formal dance.

The baseball team has a good chance to get the intramural cup. In addition we are out for the soft ball title.

Rendle Fussell has been holding down a place on the debate team. Red Mammoser is out for varsity football. Ken Newman is scrubbing for manager of track.

The House has gone into producing banquet managers of late. Klotz had charge of the engineers' banquet. Shenton was in charge of the initiation banquet and is chairman of the committee that ran the annual Block "S" banquet given in honor of the athletes of the University.

Klotz was designated as the most representative senior in the College of Applied Science. That makes the second Delt in the four years the distinction has been conferred. Jim Jameison was awarded the same honor in 1930.

1st semester 1932-33: 16th of 21 fraternities

Harry E. Louk was elected president for the coming year. Under the new officers our rushing has already started for the coming Fall. Charles W. Flack has been appointed the new rushing chairman.

The winter formal was a success. Many of our alumni were back for the dance, which was held at the Sheldon Munn Hotel.

The initiation banquet is to be May 6th. The banquet immediately following initiation is now instituted as an annual affair. Wallace F. McKee, '22, is to be here to present the freshman trophy to the outstanding freshman initiated. W. F. McKee was the original donor of this plaque.

Among the alumni who have visited here lately are Regnald Clock, '32; Harold Easom, '32; Jim McGlade, '25; Roland Pray, '32; and Wallace F. McKee, '22. Dwight Moore, '30, is back in school this quarter to take graduate work.

1st semester 1932-33: 6th of 13 fraternities

Since the last letter several things have happened. The bowling team was nosed out in the finals by a margin of 13 pins. Watch them next year.

In interfraternity basketball we fared somewhat better, although far from expectations. The team lost to the leaders by one point, and as a result won the third place cup. It is a fine bronze cup, but the boys had aimed a little higher than that. Doc Hartwig and Bob Hogan were named on the interfraternity all-star teams.

We are getting set for the interfraternity mushball league. Since we are defending champions, we are after the cup in a big way.

As the school year closes, so will interfraternity competition with the track meet and sweepstakes, which take place during senior week. We expect to increase our record of three consecutive victories in the sweepstakes to a total of four. There are several cups for the trackmeet also.

Our first benefit bridge party was held in the house through the co-operation of Brother Statler, the Mothers' Club, and the chapter. More than 25 couples spent an enjoyable evening, at the termination of which refreshments were served. The proceeds, something over $50, are being used by the Club to purchase many much needed articles for the house.

The Mothers' Club is functioning nicely. They are planning to include wives of alumni in it in the near future.

New officers are as follows: Robert B. Willison, president; Robert G. Hogan, treasurer; and John M. Weber, recording secretary; Frank K. Hembert, corresponding secretary.

The pledge class has been taken over by Dick Sloan and Scott Turner.

The initiation ceremony put on by the team consisting of Dan Smith, Dick Theurer, John Grove, Frank Hembert, Bob Willison, Leroy Erickson, Bill Pigott, and Jim Chalfant, March 5th at the Hotel Schenely was a great success. Mark Egan gave the charge to the eleven initiates. John Weber and Frank Hockinsmith had the distinction of having the badge placed on them by their fathers.

A series of three open forums will take place at the fraternity houses on the campus, during which prominent speakers will conduct discussions on current topics.

Spring football finds Doc Hartwig, Bob Hogan, Red Wilkins, Arnold Greene, and Bob McClure hard at work.

Dan Smith has been selected as chairman of Spring Festival Week. Under him we find Frank Marwood, senior ball committee; Doc Hartwig and Ed Breen, dance chairmen in their respective schools; Art Sroyd, acting chairman of track meet committee; Scott Turner, sweepstakes committee; Bud Baker, Bob Willison, and Bob Oneal, dance committee.

Art Sroyd has been elected treasurer of interfraternity council. Doc Hartwig has been elected to the student council from Physical Education School and Scott Turner from the Engineering School.

We are again well represented on the annual Cap & Gown Show: Bud Baker, Carl Swartz, and Pledge William Moran, cast; Dick Sloan, Scott Turner, Mac Hollingsworth, Bob McFarland, and Pledge George Hamilton, chorus. John Grove is production manager, assisted by Frank Hembert and William Harvey.

Ted Bergman spent several days at the house working with the new administration.

KANSAS

Pledges: William English, Macksville; William Veitch, Kanapolis; Richard Taylor Sellers, Denver, Colorado.

New officers are: Eugene Bernard Hibbs, president; Donald Chester Leach, vice-president; Mell Kennedy, recording secretary; Jean M. Noel, corresponding secretary; J. I. Poole, Jr., guide; William G. Howard, Jr., sentinel.

Charles Eugene Manning, one of the most outstanding members in the history of the chapter, brought a great close to his great scholastic career here by winning one of six Tau Beta Pi fellowships given in the United States for 1933-34.

Manning was one of 172 applicants. Some idea of the honor the fellowship carries may be gleaned from this excerpt in The Michigan Daily, commenting upon the contest:

"Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary society, initiated a fellowship program four years ago, through which carefully selected members were enabled to take a year of graduate work. . . . Heretofore the stipend has been $750, but this year it will be $650. The graduate schools cooperate by remitting tuition fees in practically every case.

"Fifty-seven of the 62 leading engineering colleges having Tau Beta Pi chapters were represented. Only a school's upper quarter scholars are eligible, and, of these, only such as are elected by their classmate members can join America's second oldest honor society."

Howard was elected treasurer of the all-University senior class of 1933-34 in the annual spring elections, and Pledge Joseph Mallory was elected one of two dance managers for the class of '36. Mallory and Pledge Richard Trueblood are among the assistant section editors of the university yearbook.

Reed Voran placed third in the pole vault against Haskell in the University's first dual meet of the season. Voran is now waiting for the advisory board meeting for the selection of the yearbook editor for 1933-34. He is one of four candidates for editor-in-chief.

Our intramural basketball team was uniformly unsuccessful, although it forced Phi Delta Theta, ultimate champion, into an overtime period. Pledge Grover Taylor won the open 126-pound all-University wrestling championship and was runner-up in the intramural tournament in the same division. Jim Brazil and Pledge Jess Trowbridge met in the finals of the heavy-weight division of the boxing tournament, Brazil pounding out a close decision in three rounds.

Trowbridge, regular center of the freshman football team last fall; Pledge Bill Veitch and Hibbs are out for spring football.

Charles Merwin Lewis, Gamma Theta, has been affiliated, and Wilbur Couble, also of Gamma Theta, is living in the house. "Swede" Nelson, of Beta Tau, is here for a short stay.

Hibbs has been initiated into the National Collegiate Players. He is president of the University Dramatic club.

Howard is junior member of the student committee of the eleventh annual relays carnival here in April, which affords Gamma Tau an excellent opportunity for spring rushing.

With the spring term beginning in earnest Gamma Phi has once again become a hive of activity. The spring recess has passed, and the brothers have returned for the final stretch.

Kramer was made senior business manager of The Student, semi-weekly. Kinsey gained a position on the board. Beckett and Shields are occupied with freshman track. Chase threatens to finish his career as a long distance runner on the varsity track team in a blaze of glory. Vargus leads the field in the hammer throw. Watts and Semple are after positions on the tennis team.

Bielaski appears a certainty on the frosh squad. Landry is out for golf. Our baseball and tennis teams started in the interfraternity league in fine fashion.

The House had the pleasure recently of entertaining Ted Bergman, traveling secretary, who, at a chapter meeting, painted an enlightening picture of our financial and scholastic status and offered constructive suggestions in regard to administrative policies.

The old order gave way to the new recently when officials for the coming year were installed, Choate as president and Lake as vice-president. The annual house dance is slated for April 22nd.

Γ X KANSAS STATE

As intramural basketball and volleyball champions Gamma Chi can look back on some of the achievements with pride.

New officers are Harold Ross, president, and Herman Tietze, rush captain.

During the year we had four men in the Glee Club. Joel Kesler was its president. We also had three men in the military band, with Don Porter wielding the baton.

Joel Kesler and Skradski are retiring members of the Y. M. C. A. board, and Harold Ross is one of the nominees for next year.

We are the leading fraternity with representation in the leading plays presented by the Manhattan Theater. Don Porter, Don Isaacson, and Bob Chambers have had parts in three of the four plays given so far, and Porter and Isaacson are now practicing for the next one, "The Ninth Guest."

Russell Smith, our retiring president, is president of Friars, senior.

Bob Chambers has been elected manager of The Kansas State Engineer for next year and is the first junior to hold this office.

Russell Smith, Joel Kesler, and Harold Weathers are members of Sigma Tau, engineering. Smith and Kesler served as president and vice-president respectively; Weathers was in charge of the civil engineers demonstration put on at the Engineers' open house.

Andrew Skradski and Russell Smith are members of the "K" Fraternity. Andy was the basketball captain this year. Smith got a letter in track. We have some promising material for next year in Frank Groves, our six-foot-four candidate for basketball center; Dick Armstrong, who barely missed getting a letter in both basketball and football this year, and Don McNeal in track and football. Bob Chambers missed getting a letter in swimming by one-eighth of a point.

Our spring party was outstanding, and the decorations were the most elaborate that have been seen around this school for some time.

With the closing of the year we will lose eight seniors. Their loss will be felt keenly.

ARTHUR TELLEJOHN

Γ Ψ GEORGIA TECH

New officers are: McIver Evans, president; Ralph Black, Jr., vice-president; Kalkhurst, corresponding secretary.

Having initiated five new men, Gamma Psi still has fourteen pledges, with the possibility of initiating several of these before June. Chapter Adviser Charles Pearson is conducting classes for the newly initiated men with the hope of winning the cup offered for highest average in the fraternity examination.

Gamma Psi was recently honored by the visit of H. D. Meyer, President of the Southern Division, for whom a banquet was given in conjunction with the Atlanta Alumni Chapter and the Beta Upsilon at Emory. Mr. Meyer outlined plans for the forthcoming year, urged extensive summer rushing, and likewise urged all who could to attend the Karnea.

In interfraternity baseball Gamma Psi has won five out of seven games, with three games to play.

Open house was held the last Sunday in March for the alumni and the parents of town boys. Buffet supper was served, and the affair was attended by more than fifty parents and alumni.

Gamma Psi has the prospects of three Phi Eta Sigmas, two of whom have already been awarded the key. The scholarship of the pledges is decidedly higher than at any time for three years. An organized effort is being put forth by the officers in an attempt to raise the chapter's scholarship standing.

A challenge from the Georgia chapter to play a baseball game some time in May has been accepted, and the team is warming up with the determined desire to put the Georgia Delt baseball team on the spot.

Ralph Black has been elected to represent the chapter at the Karnea. At least eight boys have expressed ideas of attending with him.

Wm. Hawkins, chapter president in '32, is now working in Atlanta. Gordon Wells is also living nearby and working for Sears and Roebuck. Bill Horne has joined the marines and is preparing to take a trip on one of Uncle Sam's new destroyers.

1st semester 1932-33: 6th of 21 fraternities

Once again spring has found Delta Alpha busy socially, scholastically, and in activities.

Socially, the last dance held at the College Shop in March was decidedly one of the best this year. The spring formal promises to be equally as good. Plans are now being made to care for rushees and alumni at that time.

John Alley and David Crockett, chapter adviser, have recently been chosen to Phi Beta Kappa. Joe Fred Gibson has just been elected editor of the Sooner yearbook.

Out of sixteen campus leaders chosen to the President's Class three were Delts. The president of the University conducts the class for those men selected for their leadership and scholastic ability. Those receiving this high honor are Joe Fred Gibson, Hirst Suffield, and Harry Alley.

Kay Garnett and Gordon Watts are making great strides in polo. Garnett has just won his letter. Watts will make a letter this semester. Harry Suffield and J. A. Mull have been initiated as Bombardiers. Harry Alley and Joe Fred Gibson are soon to be Scabbard & Blade members, bringing the total up to eight. Jerry Laudermilk is now a Beta Gamma Sigma member. H. C. Luman has been chosen as a Rough Nek. Kenneth Duff will soon receive his key for two years service in the University Mens' Glee Club.

The baseball club has made a good start in intramural competition. Tennis tournaments are soon to start. Several men are expected to enter. Jack Davis and Montieth McCormick are to represent the chapter in the swimming meet. Several men are planning to ride in the horse show.

The rush committee, headed by H. C. Luman, is progressing nicely. Everyone is interested in new material, and each week adds a few more dates with prospective men.

The eleventh annual Sooner Delt, chapter publication, will be off the press May 10th. Hirst Suffield is editing the paper, assisted by Jack Davis.

New officers are: Lawrence Wilson, president; Hirst Suffield, vice-president; Jerry Laudermilk, secretary; Kenneth Duff, corresponding secretary; George Hondras, guide; Lloyd Johnson, sergeant-at-arms.

Mothers' Day is to be observed May 7th. That week-end Delts and their mothers are planning a real time together. For two days and one night the mothers remain in the Shelter.

Bill Vandever, Dick Buchanan, Norman Anderson, D. R. Montgomery, John Alley, and Montieth McCormick graduate this spring. Delta Alpha will miss these fellows indeed.

Savoie Lottinville, winner of the Rhodes Scholarship in 1929, has returned to the campus after three years in Oxford, where he attended St. Catherine's College. He is now associated with the University Press.

Claude Mathers, Tulsa, Oklahoma, of Gamma Tau; Charles Duffy, Ponca City; Ray Bannister, El Reno; Bill McDonald, Brac McKinley, Clyde Watts, all from Oklahoma City; Collie Sullivan, Dallas, Texas; Dan Welch, Antlers, Oklahoma; and "Jelly" Hilburn of Borger, Texas, were alumni members visiting at the chapter house in the past few months.

Δ Β CARNEGIE TECH

1st semester 1932-33: 9th of 19 fraternities

A review of intramural activities shows that the Delts at Carnegie Tech have not fared very badly this year, although we have few cups to show for our efforts. After a flying start in basketball, in which we won our first three games without effort, we were stopped. Our final ranking was third in our league.

In the interfraternity singing contest, Delta Beta won first place and also permanent possession of a large three-handled silver loving cup. Last year, the first year of the contest, we won second place. The members of the singing group were Julian Calvert, director, Shorey Allan, Maurice G. Bley, John H. Davis, Frank E. Elliot, Emerson D. Gerhard, Grattan B. Giesey, Ammon B. Godshall, Elbert S. Latimore, Julian von der Lancken, Francis E. Mertz, Paul W. Pheneger, and Neal Sparks. The songs that won the prize were The Wheel of Life, My Mamma, and Delta Shelter.

We lost possession of the cup for swimming when we placed third. The cup is not lost for good, however, since we are one of the two fraternities that have one of three necessary legs on the cup.

Debating, a new intramural activity at Tech, has proved an easy contest for the Delt debaters, since they easily reached the later brackets. Paul Pheneger and William Bostick did the arguing. Mushball, under the leadership of Boots Kissel, will be in full sway shortly.

Spring football practice under the tutelage of Howard Harpster gave the football players quite a few sore muscles, but will put them in line for first-string positions next year. Lib Lewis, Joe Mihm, Joe Brewer, and Frank Sanford reported at the first call. Track is also taking the time of the athletes. Shorey Allan is out for his second varsity letter, and Graham Simpson and Howie Means for their freshman numerals. Several freshmen are out for managerial berths. Varsity letters in swimming were won by Ira Kuhn and Julian von der Lancken.

Ammon Godshall has been elected head cheerleader for next year. Johnnie Davis is assistant head cheerleader. Clyde Gischel is on the squad, and several freshmen are trying out for the squad. Henry Kroll has been named manager of freshman boxing. Godshall and Gischel are candidates for the swimming manager's berth.

Six Delts went to the Y conference at Cooks Forest, four being members of the senior Y Cabinet. Ira Kuhn, John Davis, Al Ralston, Ernest Schleusener, Henry Kroll, and Clyde Gischel were invited.

In the first school election of the year Shorey Allan was elected president of the Senate of Industries College. Since he was chosen to be president of the student council, however, he has resigned the first to accept the latter. In addition to this Allan was also elected captain of the cross country team.

The Spring Informal was held in the ballroom of the Union Building April 22nd. The room was decorated to bring out the atmosphere of Spring, with flowers and lattice work, combined with the Fraternity colors. A large group of alumni attended, including Walton H. Herman, Herman Ebsen, Glen and Kenneth Patterson, Robert Colvin, Doctor Hewitt, Don Cadwell, Roscoe and Arthur Frieberg, Walter Sarlette, and Leroy Erickson. Music was furnished by a campus band. Bob May was our social chairman. Three good Delt parties this year.

We took third in the intramural swimming meet, Gene Christol leading in points with a first in the 100-yard backstroke. Duncan Graham and Woodrow Spranger had character parts in the play "Coquette." Charles Church was initiated into Dakotans, senior honorary. Whiffer Hanson is a member of the Varsity track team. These men are in line for student offices; Boyd Knox for business manager and John Shanard for editor of The Volante, Bob May for a member of the Board of Publications, and Walter Olson for a member of the Athletic Board of Control. Robert Hoyne and Robert Meisenholder were two of the five candidates chosen for Phi Eta Sigma. The Delts are competing in the intramural baseball, tennis, and golf tournaments.

We feel that we have had a successful year, and are closing with a definite rushing program.

Pledges: Robert Mann, Knoxville; Howard Cochran, Corinth, Mississippi; Emmett Thompson, Centerville; Morris Fitts Martin, W. Arthur Smith, Gloucester, Massachusetts.

Delta Delta is completing a successful year. Delts and pledges have been active in all fields of University activities from athletics to publications and from the glee club to Y.M.C.A. work.

Pledge Pick made three numerals in the three major sports. Pledge Fitts is No. 2 man on the tennis team. Alley will hold down a guard position next fall.

Gordon Gaskill was recently appointed editor of The Orange & White. He has been active in publications since entering school. He has taken part in a number of student activities and was recently elected to the Scarrabeans, senior honorary.

Mann is a member of Phi Delta Phi and was formerly a member of the formal dance board. Pledge Thomas has been taking part not only in the University plays, but has been in demand by the dramatic clubs about the city. Morgan, who is a transfer from old Lambda Chapter at Vanderbilt, has been working with the Little Theater and coached the chapter for the fraternity sing, in which we went to the finals.

Easter Sunday our chapter held its initiation ceremony and following that we had our regular annual combined Founders' Day and initiation banquet. Dr. Meyer was able to be with us. Also a great number of the alumni were present, including Frank (Choppy) Jones, Horace Harper, Mims Thomason, F. F. (Nig) Watson, Sam Carson, Dr. Brashear, Dr. Ashley, Brother Farrow, B. B. (Befy) Bird, Charles Lawhon, Charles Tobler, Squizz Green, Dr. Kind, and Joe Morris.

New officers are: Carl Newbill, president; Conrad Currell, vice-president; John Lunsford, guide; Robert Mann, recording secretary; James Herbert, corresponding secretary; A. B. Steed, guard.

Spencer Bell will present his song Delta Sweetheart to the Fraternity for its approval at the Chicago Karnea. The song has been broadcast frequently from the local stations and is to be played at a dance soon to be given by Delta Epsilon.

Crowden of Delta Eta was with us during the Easter holidays. Rodgers and Rowe of Gamma Upsilon spent one night with us on their way to Florida. We enjoy these visits and invite any Delts dropping through to stop in and see us.

KENTUCKY

Pledges: Fred de Wilde, Baldwin, Long Island; George Nagel, Titusville, Pennsylvania.

Elections resulted as follows: George Skinner, president; Ned Turnbull, vice-president; Carroll Weisiger, treasurer; Cameron Coffman, corresponding secretary; William Nicholls, recording secretary; Combs Blanford, guide; Dick Fuller, doorman.

In the spring campus elections Ned Turnbull was chosen to succeed Coleman Smith as business manager of The Kentucky Kernel. Turnbull is the fifth consecutive Delt to hold this office in seven years. Cameron Coffman was chosen one of the three nominees for editor of The Kentuckian, yearbook. Horace Miner was recently elected an associate member of Sigma Xi. He is the second undergraduate in ten years to acquire this honor.

George Skinner, after winning varsity letters in football and basketball this year, is devoting his time to tennis and has been awarded a letter as a member of the varsity rifle team.

Wally Difford, Bill Greathouse, and Pledge Bill Strong have been initiated into Pershing Rifles. Ralph Kercheval, Ned Turnbull, and Harry Clo will soon be active members of Scabbard & Blade.

Spring athletics are under way. O. B. Coffman, Homer Crowden, and Jim Darmaby are out for spring football; C. D. Blair for basketball; Ralph Kercheval and Cameron Coffman for track; and Turner Howard, Al Miller, and George Skinner for tennis.

Our spring informal is being planned. Arrangements are being made to broadcast the dance through station WHAS in Louisville, and Combs Blanford will be the announcer. Plans are also being made for Founders' Day May 9th.

Harry Green recently spent several days at the chapter house.

A spring rushing campaign is under the guidance of Combs Blanford.

The Student Council and SUKY, prep organization, is planning a banquet in honor of C. R. Melcher, Old Phi of Hanover, '81, who will be retired as dean of men at the University next September.

Lawrence Herron has just terminated his position as editor-in-chief of The Kentucky Kernel.

Jack Shields is back in school this semester after a year's absence.

It is reported that Pledge Fred deWilde will have a lead in the annual Stroller spring review.

Bill Haag is president of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geology. Pledge Jack Hirsch is vice-president and Joe Mills secretary.

Wallace Difford has been pledged to Alpha Omega Phi, scouting, of which William Nicholls is a charter member.

Carroll Weisiger was recently initiated into Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising.

Word has just been received that Turner Howard has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. The addition of Howard, with George Skinner and Horace Miner, makes three members for Delta Epsilon this year.

Recent visitors at the Shelter include Billy Curry, Delta; Kendall Holmes, Delta Epsilon, '30; Noel Engle, Delta Upsilon, Ex '31; Nando Kelly, Delta Epsilon, '29; Lawton Daly, Delta Epsilon ex '30; and Carlos Jagoe, Delta Epsilon, '30.

The Lexington Alumni Chapter recently entertained Harold D. Meyer, President of the Southern Division, with a luncheon at the Lafayette Hotel. Hugh Shields and Harry Green were also present.

FLORIDA

1st semester 1932-33: 1st of 21 fraternities

Pledges: Hudson Bullard, Fort Pierce; H. C. (Tom) Slaughter, Palmetto; Jack Williams, Hawthorne; Trammel Smith, Mulberry.

New officers are: president, Richard G. Banks; vice-president, Zina R. Carter; recording secretary, James A. Wheeler; corresponding secretary, J. W. Kea.

A Founders' Day banquet was held in Tampa on the night of April 1st. A number of alumni from Tampa and nearby towns were present. We were honored by having as our guest and speaker Mr. N. Ray Carroll, Vice-President of the Fraternity. The pledge cup, which is given to the best all around pledge each year, was presented to Charlton Melton. The banquet was followed by a dance at the Tampa Yacht & Country Club.

After a busy campaign covering several weeks campus elections were held on March 30th, resulting in two of our men being elected to the Executive Council, Jackson representing the College of Architecture and Kea the College of Agriculture.

In the field of athletics George Gunn, who has just completed his second year as an outstanding guard on the varsity basketball team, was elected captain for next year. Syd Lynfestey stepped from the position of assistant football manager to that of manager for the coming season.

Zina Carter was recently elevated to major of the First Infantry Battalion. He is also vice-president of Delta Sigma Pi and is now serving as vice-president of the interfraternity conference. Jackson was recently elected president of the interfraternity conference for the coming year. He, as well as Melton, is a member of Bacchus. Williams and Wheeler are members of Sabers, military. Gillies and Kea are members of Alpha Zeta. Bullard is a member of Phi Eta Sigma.

House parties, which heretofore have been an annual occurrence the first part of April, are being replaced this year by a dance week-end, in late April, with Jan Garber and his orchestra playing for a series of dances. On the 29th we will entertain the members of the Pi Kappa Alpha with a dance.

Our four seniors, Fifield, McQuitty, McCune, and Toland, graduate in June. These men are our strongest asset, and the chapter will sincerely miss them.

Recent alumni visitors include Jimmy Lybass, Clyde Crabtree, I. B. Anderson, John Fisher and Burwell Jordan.

Δ Η ALABAMA

1st semester 1932-33: 6th of 29 fraternities

Delta Eta has continued forward progress by leaps and bounds.

The chapter is no longer among those resting on the lower end on the scholarship list. At the close of last year, the chapter stood twenty-eighth out of thirty-two fraternities. At the present time, she stands seventh of thirty-two fraternities. This standing places us third among the Gentile fraternities. This sudden rise in scholarship restored to us our social privileges.

The recent initiates were honor guests at the banquet given after the initiation. Dean Lancaster, Professor McCoy, Rev. T. Evans, and Clarence Ayres were among those present.

Having regained our social privileges, we immediately began our social season with a Valentine Dance. James Nix supervised the decorations, which were the most elaborate seen on the campus either before or after. Since then several supper dances in cabaret style have been given.

We wish to express our appreciation of the earnest co-operation extended by Mr. Ayres, our chapter adviser. His efforts have proved very useful and successful. The chapter paper has been dedicated to him.

Emerson Carlson, Lou Dubics, and William Miller have been taken into the Greeks, interfraternity organization. William Abshire was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce. Garrett McClaran was elected to Erosophic Literary Club.

New officers are: Emerson Carlson, president; Edward Partridge, vice-president; Lou Dubics, treasurer; John Saucier, corresponding secretary; Archie Coody, recording secretary; Clarence Anderson, guide; Joseph D. Corbera, doorkeeper.

Delta Eta has had the pleasure of having Benjamin Roden, Broadus Connatser and wife, Richard Vail, Gus King and family, Howard from Kentucky, Williams and Fant from Georgia Tech, Gene Pou, Tony Cox, Sherlock Holmes, Guidon Baird, Henry E. Dement, Hobson from Ohio State, and many others during this school year. Among the visitors, Benjamin Roden, Broadus Connatser, Gene Pou, Tony Cox, Sherlock Holmes, Guidon Baird, Henry E. Dement, are alumni of Delta Eta Chapter.

Δ Θ TORONTO

Pledges: Tom Bell, Southampton; Brill Brawley, Wingdam; Ken Clarke, Toronto; Maurice Lunau, Oakville; Gord Robinson, Toronto; Aubrey White, Toronto.

The annual threat of examinations has again descended upon Delta Theta, and the Shelter is quiet and studious save for occasional outbursts by "Demon" Crawford and the "Bells." The Engineers are in the midst of their examinations, and the rest of the men are being sober and extremely diligent in preparation.

The graduating class is a large one, thirteen in all. A most successful banquet was tendered them at the Shelter after our last initiation, at which Jim Armstrong, our hard-working retiring president, was the surprised recipient of a golden gavel. Speeches were short and to the point. We were glad to welcome Cecil Hazelid of Gamma Upsilon on this occasion.

The formal this year was held at the Royal York Hotel, and was voted the best ever. We will miss Wally Fear's organizing ability along such lines next year. It was gratifying to see so many graduates there.

It looked as though the Delta Theta's baseball team was a cinch for the interfraternity baseball championship, but someone tried to steal home in the last inning, with the bases loaded, against the Kappa Alphas.

The School of Practical Science water-polo teams this year are both practically all-Delta combinations. Elliott Carruth and Ralph Walden have been playing a snappy brand of basketball for the School of Practical Science. Our own basketball team did well till we met the Sigma Chis, most of whom played for the University first team.

It is rumoured that someone in the chapter has a job for the Summer, but nothing definite is as yet known. Congratulations are in order for Tommy Jukes, who received a National Research Council fellowship, which will take him to study in California. Carl Moesier has also secured a position outside the University.

Among the graduates, K. B. Jackson, '16, has a son; Paul Jackson, '14, a daughter; Maurice Bartleman, '34, a son. J. D. Wright, '29, married Miss Edith Wright, at McMasterville, Quebec.

The Thomas brothers took a day off to motor down to Ithaca, where they visited the Cornell chapter. George Gray and Cy Knight attended the Eastern Division round table conference at Syracuse.

This year at Toronto has been very successful for Delta Tau Delta in comparison with many of the other fraternities, chiefly because of the hard work of the executive. We look for as good a year next year, but it will require real effort on everybody's part.

CYRIL H. KNIGHT

CALIFORNIA AT LOS ANGELES

Pledges: Thomas Donlon, Oxnard; Robert Houser, Los Angeles; Brewster Broadwell, Hermosa.

With the closing of the track season Delta Iota finds a number of her members up for awards. "Pinky" McLean, veteran sprinter and local prodigy in the 220, will add another stripe to his sleeve. Woodruff's discus tossing also drew considerable notice. Among the freshmen may be numbered the numerals of Jordan, hurdler, discus thrower; Broadwell, who also hurled the discus; and Massey, pole-vaulter.

While speaking of track, it might be noted that Delta Iota placed second in the interfraternity meet, being nosed out by Sigma Nu in the last day of competition. Points were piled up by Jordan, Massey, Spindel, and Woodruff.

Now that track is drawing to a close, campus interest is shifting to the lighter thoughts of Spring, among which is baseball. Winter, is in the box again for his third year as stellar hurler for the Varsity. His relief, Rose, is unfortunately not in school this spring. Church, prominent last year at shortstop, has turned his mind to tennis, in which activity he has again gleaned his block letter. McFadden, Spindel, and Howard, are working out with the frosh nine.

Still speaking of springtime, Delta Iota takes pride in announcing that Worthington took the leading role of "Superman" in the U.D.S. spring production of Adam the Creator.

Also among the men receiving awards for the current season are Sid Nyhus, senior manager of the newly-created crew, and Pallette, senior manager of swimming and water polo.

Perhaps indicative of the super-pulchritude displayed by a certain element in this chapter is the appearance of half a dozen of the brothers in M.G.M.'s super-production, Gold Diggers of 1933.

Delta Iota will as usual spend the Spring holidays at a rush party at Balboa Beach. This, plus weekly rush affairs, should easily provide the necessary work in this line. Prospects for fall pledging are excellent.

The brothers are already starting the short daily trek to the beach from the house, with the recent coming of summer weather. Delta Iota extends an invitation to any Eastern or Northern members of the Fraternity to drop by and enjoy the facilities offered for bathing, sunning, and general enjoyment.

1st semester 1932-33: 2nd of 14 fraternities

Pledges: Clarence Armstrong, Washington, D. C.; Howard Congdon, Providence, Rhode Island; Robert Goodwin, Norway, Maine; Jack Heitman, Wilmette, Illinois; Baxter McLean, Holland, Michigan; John Plump, Pearl River, New York; Willard Wentz, Danville, Virginia.

New officers are: president, Charles Humphries; vice-president, Tom Josten; secretary, Fred Smith; corresponding secretary, Nash Herndon; treasurer, Martin Williams; assistant treasurer, George Stroud; senior Panhellenic representative, Bill Gearhart; junior Panhellenic representative, Fred Smith; guide, George Everitt; doorkeeper, Bill Brumbach.

Howard Lackey, our retiring president, was presented with a gavel by the chapter.

Bill Tuckwiller is playing the piano for Nick Laney's Duke Blue Devils.

We miss Bill Bird and John Murphy. Murf left school at the end of last semester, and Bill went to California soon after for his health.

George Stroud was one of ten freshmen to be initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, scholarship. Five of our eight freshman actives made high enough grades to be eligible for honors courses next year.

We have a pretty good team entered in intramural baseball.

Wentz looks pretty good on the freshman baseball field. He made his numeral in basketball. Stroud is pole-vaulting for the freshmen, Doerk is doing cross country, and Maher is high jumping.

In the school elections held last week Jimmy Otis won a seat on the Student Council and Martin Williams was elected to the House of Representatives. Bill Brumbach stands a good chance of being elected vice-president of the rising sophomore class.

See you in Chicago, fellows!

OREGON STATE

1st semester 1932-33: 28th of 32 fraternities

The yearbook, The Beaver, will have Ralph Coleman as its editor for 1934. When Phil Brainerd won his appointment to the editorship of The Student Directory, it was regretted that the only remaining major publication will not have a Delt to mould its policies.

An alumnus of '29 stopped at the house a short time ago who was remembered as one of the best defensive players of Western football. Carl Gilmore, better known as "Curly," was the man. As evidence of his coaching career at Redding, California, he had a coat of tan which was the envy of the group.

Pledge material is rather scarce this year, but the chapter has been in the fortunate position of having obtained a goodly share of the better men. The slight rise in the scholastic average for the past term may be partly credited to the new initiates. The struggle on this campus for subsistence of fraternity life has been exceedingly severe since the word "depression" came into general use. Thus far the chapter has held its ground.

Millard Rodman is back in school. He is doing student work in teaching at the local high school.

In the recent student body elections Wayne Chaney was voted to the Student Council as its sophomore member. Pledge Stanley Thompson received a position on the Co-op Board. Both these men won their race for office by a good margin.

BILL MORRIS

IDAHO

1st semester 1932-33: 3rd of 12 fraternities.

Last semester was very successful for Delta Mu. In full force our pledge class came through with a scholarship average well above the average of the entire freshman class. To make the story complete, every pledge was initiated, adding ten good men to our roll. The class is the only group of fraternity pledges on the campus to attain this distinction.

Our house average for the semester just completed was very satisfactory. For the half year's work Delta Tau Delta stood third among the thirteen fraternities. This does not mean that we were not in the running for first place, as we trailed the scholastic leaders by only a few thousandths of a point. Mid-semester grades are just out, and from all indications we stand well in line to crowd the present leaders closely this second semester.

New officers are: Allen Severn, president; Jack Morgan, vice-president; Robert Ford, secretary; Maurice Malin, corresponding secretary; Jim Hannah, guard; Paul Rust, guide; Ray Critchell, house manager; Robert Kercheval, treasurer; Arthur Nelson, assistant treasurer.

Nine seniors will be graduated this spring. They are Wiff Janssen, Sydney Harris, George Barclay, Howard Langley, Francis Beers, Ralph Ahlskog, Wayne Burke, Edward Hurley, and Carl Evans. To fill these empty places we will have to do some good rushing. Under Wesley Nock, new rush chairman, we have launched a rushing campaign. During spring vacation we signed up many choice men as house guests for next fall.

In the field of athletics we have done our share. Ed Hurley was one of the Vandal hoopsters who did a lot toward putting Idaho into third place in the Pacific Conference. Ed is also out on the diamond limbering up the old arm for the baseball season. Allen Severn is also out for baseball, having played at the Idaho Southern Branch his first two years. Henry and Paul Rust, campus tennis sharks, are out batting a few around and have hopes of doing big things this season. Ray Critchell, Idaho state amateur golf champion, has been burning up the local course in preparation for varsity and intramural competition.

Frank Bevington was elected freshman class president for the second semester, and was chosen scribe of the Intercollegiate Knights. He attended the Knight conference at Oregon State.

Paul Rust, "Delt Crooner," was elected president of Vandaleers, mixed chorus. This is the first time that an underclassman has held this position.

Individual scholastic honors were earned by Francis Beers and Allen Severn. Kappa Delta Pi, education, bid Beers, and Severn was pledged Alpha Kappa Psi.

Sydney Harris has for the past year successfully managed the business affairs of The Idaho Engineer. Harris and Langley are also on the executive committee of the civil engineering publication. Maurice Malin, frosh, has a good start on The Gem of the Mountains staff, and also is gaining journalistic experience on The Argonaut staff.

One of the notable social events of the year was the Delt initiation held March 25th. Unusual decorations, good music, and clever programs made it enjoyable. The frosh were thankful for one thing—they didn't have to clean up when it was all over. As the dance neared the finish, someone grabbed some of the decorations, in two minutes they were all gone; hence no clean-up. Wesley Nock has been our social chairman.

Back to sports; Louis August, captain of the varsity boxing squad, showed real championship stuff, when he k.o.'d the touted "Dynamite" Sinclair in the early minutes of the second round of their battle at the first University smoker.

We enjoyed the visit of Bill Michel and John Meredith of the Delt chapter at Oregon, and were glad to make their acquaintance.

MAURICE E. MALIN

THE DELTA ALUMNI

Atlanta Alumni Chapter

We are all set to entertain for Harold D. Meyer tomorrow night at Peacock Alley. Both Georgia Tech and Emery chapters will be there en masse. We expect a good rousing Delt party.

The weather on February 11th drove us away from the ice-bound log cabin on the Chattahoochee, and we repaired to O. W. Carpenter's commodious basement and celebrated—and how. The present demand is for a return engagement of similar proportions.

This present period of slight boom seems to have drawn us together a little more firmly, and we seem to enjoy our friends more.

Congratulations to Dave Lawson, now Papa Lawson.

We do recommend our members subscribing for THE RAINBOW, and some have done so, but all too few.

This is one association that has no dues, making each occasion pay its way. So far, we enjoy the situation of having had to make no assessments. To date we have eighty-five alumni on the rolls.

R. K. GREENE

Boston Alumni Chapter

On Saturday evening, February 18th, there was held a Delta Tau Delta dinner at the University Club of Boston. Attending this successful affair were Delta alumni of Boston and vicinity, representatives of our seven New England active chapters, their house corporations and chapter advisers and Division heads who were being entertained at an informal conference.

The banquet committee was composed of Chairman ex-officio Henry W. Merrill, vice-president Eastern Division; Kingman P. Cass, and Floyd J. Miller. Tubby Merrill also presided as toastmaster and did a grand job.

The first speaker he called on was Jim Swift, oldest living Delta in New England, having been pledged forty years ago, and Jim sure made us feel young. Frank M. Cornell, President of the Division, spoke on the good work accomplished during the informal conference, and F. D. Moore, ex-President of the Division, gave a short address. Frederick A. Crafts, assistant district attorney for the Northern District, Cambridge, told of his experiences in the courts and gave a most interesting talk.

At this dinner the Boston Alumni Chapter was organized and by-laws formed. The following officers were elected: president, Eric Bianchi (M. I. T.); secretary and treasurer, R. V. Wakeman (Cornell); executive committee: Eric Bianchi (M. I. T.), T. P. Messer (Tufts), H. R. Johnson (Amherst), Frank Kelley (Maine), Robert McMillan (Dartmouth).

A little money was left to us, and we are duly appreciative of this in such times. We hope to create greater enthusiasm among the Boston alumni and work for a larger showing at our functions as time goes on.

RICHARD V. WAKEMAN

Chicago Alumni Chapter

Having been absent from these pages for some time, we probably should have a lot to say about alumni activities in Chicago. We have a lot to say, but it is all said elsewhere in this issue by the Karnea reporters.

Our luncheons are held regularly every week at the Interfraternity Club as usual, but our real activity now is the Karnea. You will find practically our whole active membership represented in some capacity on the various Karnea committees. And those are real committees. Every one of them working at top speed to make the World's Fair Karnea the biggest and best gathering of Delts in the history of the Fraternity.

We want every Delt and Delt family to be here. Come early and stay as long as you can. There is only one Chicago, one World's Fair, and one World's Fair Karnea.

W. D. McKAY

Cincinnati Alumni Chapter

Under Tom Grace's driving power large crowds of alumni from Gamma Xi and other chapters are continuing to attend the Delt weekly luncheons. An especially good sized crowd was on hand, April 11th for the "High Spot" meeting celebrating the return of non-intoxicating beer. Brother Grace furnished the refreshments. (The fact that he was called from the meeting to attend a Community Chest Drive Dinner and left the bill to be paid by John Moescher in no wise detracted from his reputation for generosity in the eyes of the alumni—with one possible exception.)

Delt alumni have been active in the last few months in putting themselves and the city on the map. No alumnus took this task more literally than Stewart F. Ball, better known as "Stew Ball," who recently took time out from his position as art director of Jesse Harlan Advertising Agency and owner of the Ball Studios to complete a beautifully colored pictorial map of Cincinnati, lithographed copies of which are being sold in great numbers.

That virtue is its own reward or brotherly help pays big dividends (or write your own proverb) was shown by the induction into the presidency of the Cincinnati Association of John Moescher during the week following his coming to the assistance of Mr. Grace and the thirsty brethren. The Cincinnati Association, composed of one hundred outstanding Cincinnati business and professional men, has long been one of the chief forces for better government and civic progress in Cincinnati.

Dr. Bryant is trying to monopolize an issue of THE RAINBOW to print the title of the treatise that he is translating, which, for short, is called "The Pathology and Therapy of Disease of the Larynx and the Upper Air Passages," the outstanding book in the field, written by Professor M. Hajek, the head of the University Clinic of Vienna. Doctor Bryant has also this month been appointed on the staff of the General Hospital and in addition has delivered lectures on physiology of the vocal organs to students of the Cincinnati Conservatory.

The famous Cincinnati flower show enjoyed even greater fame this year, due, in no small measure, to the functions of the entertainment committee presided over by Willard Crain.

Ed Schott, general manager of Coney Island, has announced that despite the recent flood the popular amusement park would open at the scheduled time this Spring, although it was necessary to rebuild the park.

A surprise was sprung recently when the marriage was announced of Freddie Berger, that enterprising younger member of the Cincinnati bar, to Miss Elizabeth Hubbard.

Harold Lush of the class of 1919 has returned to his native heath after living in California for ten years.

Bowling minded alumni are taking vigorous workouts in preparation for the coming meet with the undergraduate chapter, which is extremely cocky, following its winning of the intramural championship.

The Cincinnati alumni are feeling very well satisfied with the world in general these days following the return of beer, the opening of banks, the return of the river to its natural channels, and the final completion of the much publicized Union Passenger Station, concededly the last word in railroad stations. Modesty prevents the local body from claiming any credit for the subsidence of the river.

JOHN R. BULLOCK

Cleveland Alumni Chapter

On January 13th the Cleveland Alumni Chapter had a grand and gorgeous party at the East Side Saxenheim, where foaming steins and steaming knockwursts were the order of events for the evening. More songs were sung and more spirit developed at this party than at any other which the chapter has had for a considerable period. It will live long in the memory of many of the brothers.

On February 22nd, as is our custom, the Cleveland Alumni Chapter in connection with Zeta Chapter had their annual initiation, together with the banquet which follows it, and the annual election of officers for the Alumni Association. This party also was a big success, and all who attended were very glad to have been there. This occurred at the University Club; approximately seventy-five attended. The new officers for the coming year are as follows: William F. Moul, president; Raymond E. Hyre, vice-president; K. J. Ertle, secretary-treasurer.

The Cleveland Alumni Chapter has decided to make a change in the place of its weekly luncheon, so that starting Friday, March 31st, the same will from then on be held at Kaase's Colonial Inn, Erie Building, 9th and Prospect Avenues.

A. V. Cannon, one of our leading Delts in the business and social world of Cleveland, has been chosen and has accepted the office of the chairman of the board for the new First National Bank, sponsored by the government here in Cleveland. Mr. Cannon, in addition to being a Delt, is a very outstanding man in every way and has received public confidence and esteem due to his work at the head of the charitable organizations in Cleveland. We are very glad to give him our best wishes for success in his new position.

Stockton Raymond, a loyal Delt from Beta Phi, has recently been appointed secretary of the Associated Charities for the City of Cleveland. Due to the existing conditions, this is without doubt the hardest position to fill in the city. We welcome him here and hope he will have a few moments to devote to our activities, in addition to his regular duties.

During the past week William A. Dougherty, also from Beta Phi, has been appointed counsel for S. A. Condon, conservator for the Guardian Bank of Cleveland. Mr. Dougherty, until this appointment has been one of the leading younger members of the firm of Tolles, Hogsett & Ginn, and has received this recommendation due to the excellent services he has rendered with that firm.

At the regular Friday noon luncheon at Kaase Colonial Inn held last Friday it was decided that the Cleveland Alumni Chapter call off its meeting for Friday, April 21st, and join with the Western Reserve University Alumni Association in its monthly luncheon where Dr. Samuel C. Lind, past president of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter will be the principal speaker."

K. J. ERTLE

Indianapolis Alumni Chapter

Affairs at Indianapolis have got away to a good start. Attendance at our luncheons has taken a leap, due principally to the efforts of Hebe Rust and George Browne in organizing the members and getting their co-operation toward seeing those who do not attend often.

Most of us enjoy being at the luncheon purely for the sake of seeing others that drop in. We have had a few interesting talks. A police reporter was present at one meeting and told of various rides in the "fast wagon" and other experiences incurred while on the job. We also had a good time listening to a manager of a local broadcasting station relate some of the mechanics of putting on a program.

We have decided to drop our social activities this winter in view of the current financial standing of many of our local chapters.

The first prize for scholastic achievement to be awarded by the Delta Tau Delta Foundation goes to Beta Psi Chapter, at Wabash College. We had hoped to have a feature on this subject for the current issue, but the award is not to be presented in time for a story to go to press.

We hope to present a writeup on this organization later, however, and relate a little of its background, its objects, and general plan of operation as well as a few photos for the Pictorial.

FOSTER OLDSHUE

Jackson Alumni Chapter

A new deal is on here as well as in Washington. The Jackson Alumni Chapter is plugging along, although Old Man Depression set us back a stride or two. We are determined to lick him and have a solidly entrenched organization.

Our foundation is two Rainbow members and Pi Chapter founders, and the following chapters have representatives: Virginia, Sewanee, Washington & Lee, Tulane, Emory, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Florida, and Alabama.

We join in the invitation which the alumni association of Memphis is sending to the World Fair Karnea that is being host to the 1935 Karnea in Memphis.

We are planning our organization dance, at which time we will also be host to Pi Chapter at Ole Miss and the George Rifle Fraternity (Delta Tau Delta petitioners) at Mississippi State.

We miss from our midst Walt Batson, who has become the secretary of Mississippi's new representative, Bill Colmer. Washington's gain is our loss.

DUDLEY COLLINS

Memphis Alumni Chapter

The summer plans for the Memphis Alumni Chapter will be a dinner at the University Club on April 25th. At this time the chapter will entertain Pi Chapter from the University of Mississippi. Just previous to the dinner we will have, as is our annual custom, an initiation ceremony, put on by a team from the University of Mississippi. We expect this to be quite a large gathering of Delta Tau Deltas in this part of the South, as all our other ceremonies have been so well attended.

At some time in July (exact date will be announced later) there will be a gathering of the alumni and actives to go over rushing plans and systematize our work in securing the best freshmen in this territory for college in the fall. In August the alumni will entertain these selected freshmen at a dinner party.

From all indications, there will be a large turnout of alumni from this section to the Karnea in Chicago.

GEORGE FAISON, JR.

Portland Alumni Chapter

The Portland Delt Alumni Chapter under the able guidance of Herbert White as president and the untiring efforts of Mark Gill as Secretary has been accomplishing many results. These results are the ambitions and desires of true Deltas demanding attention from all.

Primarily, a committee has been appointed to arrange the programs for the monthly meetings headed by Irving Brown. In this manner something of interest is always on tap for the assembled brothers. Dr. Paul T. Neely is chairman of the weekly luncheons held every Thursday noon at Kelly's Restaurant. One will always find a good crowd and may be assured of being well entertained.

Working in unison with these two committees are the social, membership, and publicity committees headed by Cris Fariss, Gene Dyer, and Edward D. Smith, Jr., respectively. Harold Llewellyn is an able assistant to Cris Fariss of the social committee, being in charge of monthly bridge tournaments for Deltas and wives or sweethearts.

Sports? Ask James Bratten, and he will tell you all about golf tournaments and challenges issued and being issued to Deltas in other communities. Of course the publicity committee will be at work all this time endeavoring to create interest for new Delt material.

There are committees working in conjunction with the active chapters at Eugene and Corvallis. Bruce Galloway is chairman of the advisory committee for the Corvallis chapter and Edward D. Smith is chairman of the advisory committee for the Eugene chapter. William Graeper is in charge of alumni rushing activities, and all communications pertaining to new material should be forwarded to him at 460 East 20th N., Portland, Oregon.

William G. Dunlap is looking after house finances, and J. Mason Dillard is in charge of the degree team. Clifford Claussen and Bob Gilley are already beginning to function to see that the 1934 banquet will be more of a success than any previous.

Last but not least the Portland alumni are forming an Employment Aid League to function at all times for the placement of unemployed brothers. This committee, consisting of representatives from each type or class of business, has many duties. To determine the adaptability and possibilities for each unemployed undergraduate or graduate in the way of advice and possible employment is perhaps its main function. However complicated this new undertaking, progress is in sight, and the good done will be unlimited.

JOHN A. STIMPSON

San Diego Group

What with one thing and another, plus a combination of both, Delta Tau Delta alumni in San Diego, California, decided at a recent luncheon meeting that for the time being, at least, the best interests of the Fraternity could be served by organizing the Southwesternmost Delta Tau Delta Alumni Chapter—if you're willing to call it that—under rules and regulations drawn by, and to suit themselves. Which may be taken by Delta Tau Delta officialdom to mean that there is no San Diego Alumni Chapter at all. The Southwesternmost answer to that is, that, anyhow, we're having a swell time.

Sporadic efforts have been made in the past to corral the forty or fifty Delts ranging this corner of the country in a dues-paying, regularly-meeting, officially-efficient group. Results of these efforts, to phrase them frankly, have been not so hot. So-o-o-o, San Diego now boasts of its first Delta Tau Delta alumni organization to last more than one meeting, full credit for which, it is felt by the membership, must be accorded to the wisdom of its constitution, by-laws, and rules, viz, i.e., and to wit:

There are no dues.

There is no regular meeting day, or place.

There are no officers.

There are no committees.

No attendant at any Delta Tau Delta alumni gathering in San Diego may, or can assume any obligation other than the fifty-cent cost of his meal.

No speeches allowed.

No projects may be presented.

No shoulders may be put to wheels.

No attendant at any Delta Tau Delta gathering in San Diego is allowed to get behind anything.

Meetings are held at the call of any Delt alumnus whose urge is sufficiently strong to move him to his telephone, whence he suggests to Gaylord Parkinson (Beta Pi) that pieces be put in the papers, telephone calls be made to all and sundry, and the steward at the San Diego Club notified that them damn' Delts are going to eat with him on whatever date the first five individuals consulted choose to set. Park has a flock of most accommodating young ladies working for him, and all he has to do is repeat in their hearing the suggestion made by the brother with the urge. Next thing anyone knows, San Diego Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta finds itself more or less assembled in unstated excommunication.

Sure, and what's more, Hasta manana, preferably, manana por las tardes.

Last time Park passed the buck to the girls they rounded up fourteen meeters-and-eaters, including two who had been living next door to one another for two years entirely unaware of fraternal rights in matters involving lawn mowers, eggs and sugar in emergencies, and scratching hens in other peoples' vegetable gardens. Parenthetically, this might appear as a weakness of the San Diego System, or lack of it. Not at all. Not at all. Far, far too long has the cut-and-Oh!-how-dried set itself up to synthesize the delights of spontaneity.

Numbered in the afore-mentioned fourteen were Gaylord Parkinson, Northwestern; Chester Kirkpatrick, West Virginia; Harry Malm, Colorado; F. M. Powell, Baker; D. A. Hayes, Ohio Wesleyan, who lives in Evanston, Illinois, but hunts his sunshine in San Diego; Don Yale, Nebraska; Stuart Lake, Cornell; George Price, Wisconsin; George Sample and William H. Hays, University of Washington; Ralph Musser, Kansas State; Henry Sutter, Washington & Jefferson; Theodore Devereaux, Iowa University; and Ralph S. "Doc" Roberts, Tulane, Stanford, University of California, and Columbia—that's right, all four of 'em.

There are forty or fifty more Delts scattered around in the outlying sagebrush who come and go to the San Diego alumni meetings as, if and when they damn' well please, notified, but unsolicited and unpestered. Anyone who thinks the group as a whole is ignorant or indifferent to the achievements of the Fraternity in the past or its hopes for the future is much more unorganized than the San Diego outfit. Why, the last time San Diego Delts met at luncheon, one of the boys who once subscribed to a Chicago newspaper reported that he thought he remembered having read that there was to be a Karnea in that city in connection with a World's Fair in 1892, or maybe it was a World's Fair in connection with a Karnea. That one flattened out under half-a-dozen hazy ideas that Karneas came only in odd-numbered years, but was pumped up to stand as corrected when the remembering reader recalled that, Oh, yes; he had it straight: the World's Fair had been postponed because Frank Wieland had a previous engagement and 1893 was to be the year of both World's Fair and Karnea. The time having been fixed with typical San Diego exactitude, agreement was reached that the San Diego Alumni Chapter of Delta Tau Delta might attend both in a body if Park could get his girls to make the arrangements.

Your correspondent was able to dig out just one more idea among the able intellects assembled, which was to the effect that all active chapters of Delta Tau Delta, all general office boys at Indianapolis, all alumni, organized or otherwise, who know of any Delta Tau Deltas, not too damn' active, living in Southern California outside the Los Angeles area—Angelenos are forever wanting to do something—mail names and addresses of such to Gaylord B. Parkinson, 208 Scripps Building, San Diego, California. Park's girls will know what to do with 'em.

This will be perfectly justifiable effort because some nice hot day this Summer San Diego's disorganized Delts will be hauled up to Doc Roberts' Rancho Raphael, whence they will amble across his backyard into Tecate. There, at an altitude of 4000 feet, it has been promised, the brothers may recline in oaken shade while Mexicans meant for that sort of thing roll out barrel after barrel of cool cerveza. And where, your San Diego brothers arouse sufficiently to inquire, is there an organized group of Delta Tau Delta alumni within the borders of the United States sufficiently so to approach that with a reason for being?

California

Alumni Contributing Editor: William W. Gay, 919 Mendocino Avenue, Berkeley, California

- '02—Parker Holt, the new executive vice-president of the Caterpillar Tractor Company, is living in Peoria, Illinois. When Mike Tobin learns that Parker's two youngest sons were pledged Beta at Illinois, the Delt chapter there will probably lose its charter.
- '07—Bob Van Sant is reported to have returned from Europe to Chicago—a quick trip to market a "fountain of youth" medicine which will make old Delts active again.
- '08—James (Jimmie) Northcroft spends eleven months of the year in Fargo, North Dakota, as agent for the Caterpillar Tractor. The other month finds him visiting in Stockton, California, and, of course, it is during duck and quail season. Too bad that the old crowd only hear of him rather than from him.
- '08—Charles (Cap) Stokes is back in Los Angeles after a hurried trip East to collect damages on a patent suit.
- '10—Harold (Fui) Brayton has outgrown his offices in the Russ Building, and is located in larger and elaborate quarters on the ground floor of that building.
- '12—Ken White, the dean of insurance men of Seattle, Washington, reports that Gus Moller, '15, and his family are living at Mercer Island—just a half hour's trip to Seattle.
- '14—Cliff Rutledge and his father are Colusa's leading attorneys—the last election found his young brother Ralph (Pierp), '22, elected district attorney for the county. Looks as though the Rutledge boys have things well in hand.

'15—Bert (Gip the Blood) Bougher is a rancher at Anaheim, California.

'15—Captain Ted Haley got away from Presidio Monterey long enough to enjoy the Big Game activities. He claims the pre-game celebration was more exciting than the game.

'15—Bert Hulting has moved back to Berkeley so that his family can be born in the shadow of the Campanile. He expects No. 1 to be a Delt prospect.

'16—Ludy Langer, the only man ever granted a Big "C" at California for swimming, is president of the Los Angeles Casing Company. You guessed it—he furnishes the covering for sausages.

'17—Edward Brett is assistant engineer of the Los Angeles County Building Department.

'18—George Parrish was recently appointed by the Governor to the Insurance Committee of the San Francisco—Oakland Bay Bridge.

'20—"Vic" Jones lives in Pasadena; sells bonds for Ellis Bishop & Co.

Dudley R. Cappellet is giving the old home town of Owensboro his best.

As superintendent of schools at Jenkins, Kentucky, C. V. Snapp has had considerable success.

William Denver DeHaven was a star tackle at the University, and he is turning out more football stars as coach at Sturgis High School.

Albert W. Kittinger is the first alumnus of Delta Epsilon to serve as president of the Louisville Alumni Association. "Abie" is in charge of the Overhead Door Company of Kentucky.

Henry R. Brown, former chapter president, married after he went to Beaumont, Texas. Soon afterwards he sent $4 or $5 to bet on the Bradley entry in the Kentucky Derby. It was one of the years the Bradley horses did not win. Probably that was our last chance ever to see Randolph, because bus lines are just as tight with passes as the railroads.

William Rudy Ferguson is residing in the old home town at La Center, and is a candidate for state representative from Ballard and Carlisle Counties.

Jackson, Kentucky, has the good fortune to retain Roy Eversole as high school principal.

James S. Shropshire probably is the best known alumnus of the chapter. He not only is secretary of alumni for the University, but he also is director of publications. Recently he has accompanied President Frank L. McVey through the State on a series of speakings. "Yimmy" is vice-president of the Fraternity's Southern Division.

James W. Chapman, attorney, is state representative from Boyd County.

Laurence Shropshire, Jimmy's little brother, married not long ago. Incidentally he is a newspaper man with The Lexington Leader. Charming wife; splendid newspaper; lucky Laurence!

William Trott developed a star basketball team as coach at Bryan Station High School. He has to produce, because Jimmy Shropshire is a member of the county Board of Education.

Daniel Fowler is a chip off the old block, having become an attorney. If he proves as good a lawyer as his dad, Delta Epsilon's legacies will be pointing to him as an outstanding alumnus.

One of the live wires at Murray State Teachers College at Murray, Kentucky, is Preston W. Ordway.

Henry C. Smith is connected with the Institute for the Blind in Louisville.

John Crosby recently was elected secretary of the Lexington Bar Association.

Novelist Sails for Big Game

GAMMA RHO, '17

EDISON MARSHALL

Seattle.—Edison Marshall, successful young novelist, sailed away from Seattle on the Dollar line's President Taft in January for another tilt with big game.

This time his locale will be the northern interior regions of French Indo-China. He will hunt big game in the Laos area. He probably will be one of the few white men ever to have explored the wild area.

Marshall, known for his novels of the northern country, has made many successful big game expeditions into little traversed areas. He will spend about a month in French Indo China. He plans to fly over the Dutch Air lines direct to Athens, after the hunt, and later will meet his wife in Germany.

His home is in southern Oregon. He attended the University of Oregon and is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. A Seattle Newspaper.

Denies Church is Dying

FRANCIS J. McCONNELL

Denying that the Protestant Church is dying, the Right Rev. Francis J. McConnell, Methodist Episcopal Bishop of New York, declared last night it had more vitality than ever in the past. He spoke before 400 persons at the annual dinner of the West End Presbyterian Church.

"There has been no time in the past hundred years when there was as much criticism of the Church as at the present hour," he declared. The New York Times.

McAndrew Assails Political Rule

DELTA, '86

WILLIAM McANDREW

Minneapolis.—William McAndrew, who was ousted as superintendent of Chicago schools several years ago after William Hale Thompson, then Mayor, charged that text books were pro-British, attacked "political domination of education" today before a group session of the department of superintendence, National Education Association.

Now editor of an educational publication and a resident of East Setauket, N. Y., Mr. McAndrew called for convention action to "show crooked school boards that the respectable sentiment of the educational profession for professional treatment amounts to something."

"Political interference with the improvement of the teaching force and with weeding out of incompetents, is a sign of clumsy superintendence," he said.

"The duty of school trustees to provide the community with full return for its money in the way of education is so weakly appreciated by most of the boards with whom I have had any acquaintance that one wonders why we continue to call them boards of education." The New York Times.

Baseball Eyes on Rickey

BRANCH RICKEY

St. Louis.—The trade which brings "Dazzy" Vance, veteran fire-ball pitcher of the Dodgers, to the St. Louis Cardinals has set baseball fans to asking: "Can Rickey do it again?"

They recall how Branch Rickey, field general of the Redbird organization, bought Grover Cleveland Alexander from the Cubs in 1926, when practically everyone thought "Old Pete" was through, and how Alex pitched the Cardinals to their first world pennant that fall.

They remember, too, how Rickey obtained Burleigh Grimes, another grizzled warrior, from Boston early in the 1930 season, and how Burleigh's stellar pitching made possible the Cards' second world title in 1931.

Rickey, rated one of the best judges of baseball talent in the business, seems to have a genius for estimating the precise degree of usefulness possessed by an athlete.

Vance, who will celebrate his fortieth birthday next month, has been 21 years in professional baseball and 10 years in the National league. He was regarded as "old" when he finally forced his way into the majors at the age of 29, but speedily made good and rose to rank as one of the sensations of his time. The New Orleans Tribune.

Praise for Newspaper Ideals

BETA THETA, '93

WILLIAM T. MANNING

The need for men of principle and conviction, with courage, ability and vision, in journalism and in the ministry was emphasized yesterday by Bishop William T. Manning at the annual exercises commemorating the birthday of Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the School of Journalism of Columbia University, held in the journalism building on the campus. The New York Times.

Miracle Operation Saves Bishop's Sight

HANS BARKAN

A miracle of modern surgery has restored the sight of Bishop Edward L. Parsons, of San Francisco, according to The San Francisco Chronicle. It is the operation for what is called retinal attachment, and was performed by Dr. Hans Barkan, head professor of Ophthalmology at Stanford, as was his father before him. The newspaper continued:

Until a few years ago the medical world had discovered no cure for this condition. Then came a few experiments in Vienna and long study by Dr. Barkan.

Experiments showed that the eyeball might be taken completely out, and a white-hot needle used to sear the rear of the eyeball. The resulting scar sometimes drew the retina back into place, and the destruction wrought by nature might be righted by another injury!

"Sometimes—" that is!

It was a desperate chance, but one worth taking. For without the operation blindness was inevitable: With it the surgeons claimed that sight might be restored to one sufferer out of three.

Bishop Parsons was that one fortunate person. He will be able to see as well as he could before his troubles began.

Preparing Immigrants for Citizenship

GAMMA XI, '06

WILLIAM QUIRK

How immigrants are prepared for citizenship in the Cincinnati public schools will be demonstrated at the All-Nations Festival in connection with the Home Beautiful Exposition in Music Hall under direction of William Quirk, principal of the Guilford School. He is in charge of the Americanization class in Guilford night school.

Following the citizenship dinner, with which the festival will open, Prof. Quirk will stage a "demonstration class" as part of the patriotic program. A group of the newly naturalized citizens, who will receive their citizenship certificates on this occasion, will constitute the class, and they will receive instructions and answer questions. It is said that the class will prove an object lesson to native Americans as well as the foreign-born in illustrating what an immigrant is expected to know before he can become an American citizen. The Cincinnati Times-Star.

Two Birds with One Stone

BETA IOTA, '14

EPPA RIXEY

Eppa Rixey, beginning his twenty-first season with the Cincinnati Reds, looks back with pride over his long and illustrious southpaw career. You've often heard of killing two birds with one stone. Eppa's the guy who actually did it! Well, he didn't exactly kill them. Just stunned them. And he didn't heave a stone, but a water pitcher. Still it was quite a feat. No wonder the lazy, drawling Virginian has that air of superiority about him!

Eppa's epoch-making feat was accomplished in a New York hotel room years ago when he roomed with Rube Bressler—ex-Red outfielder. The pair always drew the same fifteenth-floor room whenever the Cincy club invaded Gotham. And the same pair of pigeons on the window sill awakened Eppa and Rube every morning at the same unearthly hour with their cooing. It got so that Rixey and Bressler dreaded their trips to New York. One morning Eppa decided that enough was enough. Seizing a pitcher, he dashed to the window and threw it up with a whoop. The startled pigeons flew off together as one. Rixey wound up and heaved the container at the zooming birds, now fifty feet from the window. The shot was a perfect strike. It caught BOTH birds amidships. They dropped like two pieces of lead for ten stories, then righted themselves, and, screeching with outraged dignity, flew away into the morning haze. They never returned to pester Eppa and Rube! The Newark Evening News.

Our Foreign Policy Tragically Futile

GLENN FRANK

Assailing the "tragic futility" of American foreign policy in the last fourteen years and challenging the notion that the United States could operate a satisfactory economic life apart from the rest of the world, Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, declared last night that this country could not win its way back to prosperity unless the national attitude was changed toward war debts, tariffs and foreign policy.

Speaking at the thirty-second annual banquet of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Banking at the Waldorf-Astoria, Mr. Frank stressed the interdependence of the political, social and economic developments in the nation and in the world and upbraided the isolationists, saying that for fourteen years the United States had fiddled while the world burned—"a Nero among the nations."

"We cannot claim the fruits of a world power," he said, "unless we function as a world power. I narrow the case: we cannot preserve the domestic peace and stabilize the domestic prosperity of the United States save as we function realistically in concert with the rest of the world. Political anarchy and economic unrest in Europe cannot fail to bring complication and collapse in America. On the lowest level of self-interest, we have a stake in the peace and prosperity of Europe." The New York Herald-Tribune.

Seven Years of Radio Announcing

GAMMA ETA, '20

HOWELL CULLINAN

Howell Cullinan, whom you hear on those early morning broadcasts of the Boston Globe Studio of Station WEEL, is one of radio's real troupers. In all his years of broadcasting, which, incidentally, consists of seven, he has never been absent a single working day from a broadcast, nor has he been tardy.

Mr. Cullinan is a graduate of Cornell, has attended Harvard Law School, the Reserve Officers' class at Annapolis, and has served some time as an officer at sea. He has traveled through most of the States in the Union, in Europe four or five times, a trip through 16 countries and then around the world. He has been through the Maritime Provinces several times, to Labrador and along the coast of Greenland.

On the air he has described such noted incidents as the Florida hurricane, the Vermont flood, the S-4 off Provincetown and the S-51 off Block Island, the Vestris, the Robert E. Lee off Manomet, marathon runs and even political campaigns. His favorite broadcast subject was Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his flight across the Atlantic.

Mr. Cullinan is unmarried and resides at the Harvard Club in Boston in the Winter and at Winthrop Highlands in the Summer.—Radiolog.

Testimonial to "Dad" Pumphrey

CLARENCE PUMPHREY

Clarence Pumphrey, veteran insurance man and President of the Kiwanis Club back in 1921, was honored yesterday by fellow members of the Kiwanis Club at the Masonic Temple with a testimonial luncheon.

Henderson G. Hightower, former President of Kiwanis, acted as master of ceremonies, and complimentary talks were made by Thomas W. Hardesty, J. B. Mueller, L. T. Milnor, President of the Cincinnati Club; Ernest R. Gwinner and Patterson Pogue. George Campbell, song leader, led the 54 Kiwanians present in glees and a number of presents were made to the veteran officer. The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Heads New Cleveland Bank

ETA, '92

AUSTIN V. CANNON

Banking affairs in Cleveland began to clear up, according to the Cleveland press, with the appointment of Austin V. Cannon as chairman of the board of the First National Bank, which is a reorganization of the Cleveland Trust Company.

"What Goff did for the Cleveland Trust," says The Cleveland Plain Dealer, "Cannon will now do for the new National Bank of Cleveland."

One Delt Concern Shows a Profit

SEWELL LEE AVERY

All stores last year showed declining sales. Last week Montgomery Ward, no exception, issued its report showing sales for the 13 months ending Jan. 31 down to $176,000,000 compared to $211,000,000 for 13 months ended a year earlier. Significant, however, was the fact that the company's deficit fell from $9,737,000 to $5,687,000. Credit for this goes to Sewell Lee Avery, able head of U. S. Gypsum, who a year ago, nominated by J. P. Morgan & Co., was made president of Montgomery Ward. He promptly scrapped retail stores, deadwood personnel, obsolete merchandise, last summer put out a catalog divided into departments like a department store (with prices cut 18% to 25%) and displaying merchandise with style.

Quiet Sewell Avery, one of Chicago's leading citizens, able conversationalist, last week looked well worth what he costs his stockholders. His salary was not given but in his report he disclosed what had been the chief inducement offered him to take the job: an option to purchase 100,000 shares at $11 a share. He furthermore disclosed how the company got shares that it holds in its treasury against his option: 43,117 were repurchased with 5% interest from employees who had bought them on stock subscription plan—thereby saving the employes from loss; 49,178 shares were purchased last year in the open market at an average price of $8.43 a share. Thus did the company not only support the market for its stock but also placed itself in position to make a profit of $126,000 if & when Mr. Avery exercises his option. Moreover on the day when Mr. Avery became chairman of Montgomery Ward the stock of the company was sold at $10.25 or 75¢ under the option granted him, thus any other stockholder stood to make more on appreciation of the stock than Mr. Avery. With Montgomery Ward selling last week at 12½ Mr. Avery had a profit of $150,000. If it goes up to 21 he will have $1,000,000 profit.—Time.

Finds Hatred of Us in Europe

OMEGA, '02

HERBERT ADAMS GIBBONS

A black picture of the general European attitude toward the United States was given yesterday by Dr. Herbert Adams Gibbons, historian and economist, who returned on the French liner Champlain after completing two years of travel and study for a book on the French colonies.

Dr. Gibbons said that most Europeans considered us to be insincere and grasping, and that the French looked upon the United States as "welshers" on the debts.

Both Dr. Gibbons and his wife, who was returning with him to their home in Princeton, said the distrust and hatred of the United States was "incredible."

Dr. Gibbons said there were two major questions on which Europe was skeptical and distrustful, these being the failure of the United States to abolish the gold standard and the failure to enter the League of Nations officially.

He explained that Europeans felt we were "putting an oar" into the Japanese situation in Manchuria from purely selfish motives. They believe the United States is pitting the large countries against the small ones, under "the guise of international idealism, to pull our own chestnuts out of the fire," he said.

"It is positively incredible—the attitude we found abroad. Why, they don't even believe we have a depression here. They will not believe we are having a hard time, and still believe in our invincible wealth.

"They remind us that America will not make a declaration about the League to the effect that we 'are a part of this thing,' but we continue involving the rest of the world, sticking our fingers in the international pie—like meddlers, without ever actually engaging in it and taking official responsibility. We are roundly hated and distrusted for this attitude.

"Thoughtful people abroad look with scorn on the American policy of sending unofficial observers to Europe, a practice which they have resented since the days of Colonel House on down to present time.

"The French, particularly, think we have gone back on our word in the debt question. They think we are welshers and are guilty of trickery and fraud through the Hoover moratorium."

Dr. Gibbons said there was almost unanimous agreement in Europe that the United States was wrecking the League of Nations and had got it "in a tight place."

On the question of Philippine independence, Dr. Gibbons, who has visited the islands many times, said that if the American flag was "hauled down in the Philippines, the Japanese flag would replace it immediately.

"It certainly would be a great blow to our markets in the Far East, which represents one-quarter of the population of the globe," he said.—The New York Times.

Delt in Charge of Fair Golf

MU, '13

STEPHEN LADD

The thousands of golfers who visit Chicago during A Century of Progress exposition will experience no difficulty in finding a course suited to their own particular game, regardless of whence they come. This was made certain yesterday and another step in the preparedness program of the district to accommodate visitors to the exposition taken with the announcement that a special bureau for visiting golfers will be operated throughout the season.

The new bureau, to be opened shortly by the Chicago District Golf association and the monthly golf magazine, the Chicago Golfer and Country Club Review, will be located on the 15th floor of the Lytton building, 14 East Jackson Boulevard.

It will be conducted as a separate organization and will be known as A Century of Progress registration bureau. It will dispense complete information on 220 private and public courses in the Chicago district.

The registration bureau has come into being as the result of close cooperation among officials of the Association of Commerce, the Hotel Men's Association, A Century of Progress, and golfing organizations. In charge of the bureau will be Stephen Ladd, business manager of The Chicago Golfer & Country Club Review.—The Chicago Tribune.

Mind is Made by Dynamos

PSI, '02

GEORGE W. CRILE

Mind is solely a product of electricity, manufactured in the brain by a power system of generation and distribution, consisting of 4,000,000,000,000,000 (four quadrillion) individual dynamos and a distribution system vastly greater than all the lines of communication now in existence, Dr. George W. Crile, director of the Cleveland Clinic, told the fourth annual conference on interpretations of physical education at New York University last night.

The metaphysical proverb, "What is mind?—No matter," must be changed, according to Dr. Crile, to read: "Mind is a product of electricity generated by matter." Investigation in his laboratory by himself and others, he said, showed that the brain—of animals as well as of man—emitted short-wave and infrared radiations; these radiations cause the ejection of electrons from the brain protoplasm, and these electrons set up the electric current responsible for all our thinking and reasoning processes.—The New York Times.

GEORGE S. SOUTHWORTH

J—Jones, Christian. A novel. By The Rev. George S. Southworth, rector of the Church of the Advent, Indianapolis. The Fleming H. Revell Company, New York.

This is a vital and gripping tale, of about 40,000 words, with part of the scenes in the northern peninsula of Michigan, where the author served his church for some years. The characters are vividly drawn and the action is swift. Descriptions of nature throughout the book evidence insight and love of the outdoor world. As rector of a city parish, the author has had opportunity to gain understanding of conditions, material and spiritual, under which both the poor and the well-to-do in an urban population live. Without dogmatism, the spiritual interpretation of religion is vigorously presented. Here and there, glimpses into church life, both of the attractive and the repellent sort, are given. Evidently, this rector is under no illusion as to the perfection of all the present-day saints, but in his story the nobler characters have the better of the recalcitrants.

Such minds within the churches as are troubled by excessive literalism will welcome and be helped by a very beautiful and winsome presentation of the spirit of Christianity. As one reads the story, he is impressed that its author himself must be of large and tender soul, a competent guide in the things of the spirit. The author, rector of the Church of the Advent in Indianapolis, belongs to a family well known in Ohio. His father, George C. S. Southworth, was professor of English at Kenyon College for many years.—The Cincinnati Times-Star.

The art or technique of inducing people to contribute to charitable, philanthropic or other public purposes is Mr. Pierce's theme. Hitherto the operations of this process have been a mystery to the great body of outsiders who beheld vast sums systematically collected yet did not know how it was managed. Mr. Pierce is, we are told, a consultant on institutional financial campaigns; during the war he was the national director of campaigns for the American Red Cross; and under his administration millions of dollars were variously raised.

But the tenor of his book raises the question whether this war success did not leave Mr. Pierce in many respects with exuberant ideas and fixed views and methods not in accord with altered conditions. He does recognize one change in the deep-seated general opposition to "drives" with their "blatant publicity, reckless promises, sensational stunts, strong-arm approaches" and other objectionable features. He therefore advises the tactful interview method as the only intelligent, highly productive means of obtaining funds.

Directing the work of these interviewers, he says, there must be an administrator intimately knowing facts and conditions in his field. With the facts ascertained, soliciting methods require three general measures. First is the finding and listing, according to wealth and propensities, of a "selected constituency" comprising a potential group of persons assumed to be public-spirited and judged as prospective donors. Then follows the approach which Mr. Pierce counsels should not be mechanical but adaptatively persuasive. Cultivation of these prospects is the third step. Point by point Mr. Pierce elaborates the varied requisites of what he recommends as indispensable factors of a successful cash-raising campaign.—The New York Herald-Tribune.

Romany Road. By Irving Brown. Harrison Smith and Robert Haas, New York.

"Romany Road" is the story of a fourteen-year-old boy who ran away from his home in a Middle-Western town after a quarrel with his father. Pete "hopped a freight" and went out to see the world, making his way finally to New York after a variety of adventures with underworld characters encountered in box-cars and tramps' meeting-places. He had always been fascinated by gipsies, and was delighted to find, in New York, a Romany band he had known slightly before. As the boy was penniless and represented himself as part gipsy, the band adopted him and took him in their wandering which carried them to Spain, France and Mexico, into the thick of plots and broils and encounters with the law.

Towards the end of his two-year travels with the gipsies, Pete began to be homesick. He and his father are finally united, and the boy, very much of a hero, decides to go back to school. Grief and worry have turned the hair of the elder Brockhaus white and filled his face with lines, but Pete feels no remorse. He tells his father that he will not go back into the freshman class in high school; he can "hold his wine" now, and he hopes his father does not object to his smoking. The parental response is a "pained look." Then the father offers to provide a tutor for his son, and invites him to go on a fishing trip.

"Romany Road" offers somewhat doubtful fare for adolescent consumption. It is filled with interesting material about gipsies, material possibly better adapted for presentation in an adult book than in one intended for young readers. The pictures of gipsy life, both in America and Europe, are vigorous, sordid and convincing. These gipsies, camping in unrented stores in cities, living in tents or shacks on the road, fighting, thieving, drinking, cheating, are real; however, one may question the desirability of bringing young minds into intimate contact with the world of crime. Other parts of the book follow the adventure-pattern current in books for boys.

However, the nature of the ideas here presented in relation to immature minds, gives one pause. The boy reader (who will revel in the book, for it is filled with action, and holds the interest) will make an identification with Pete and regard him as a hero. Yet Pete ran away from home and left his father to grieve for him for two years; he shared in the spoils of the gipsies and aided them to recover stolen money; he became a smuggler and a kidnaper, extorting money from the bandit father of the kidnaped child. To be sure, he permitted the gipsies to keep his share, in a lordly gesture at the close of the book, but the implications are the same.—The New York Herald-Tribune.

EDISON MARSHALL

The Light in the Jungle. By Edison Marshall. H. C. Kinsey & Co., New York.

An adept in the fashioning of lively tales that combine romance and heroic adventure. Edison Marshall heretofore has placed his numerous fictions in the Far North. But last year he forsook bear-hunting in Alaska for tiger-shooting in Southern Asia, and so found a new scene and setting vastly different from any that he had depicted before. The first fruits of his sojourn on the other side of the world constitute a glamorous novel of adventure in the jungles of French Indo-China that is as spirited and as skillfully made as any he has ever written.

on the greatest gamble of his life: to avenge the murder of his father, an old missionary, and to find a fortune in jade long hidden in a ruined temple. There he unexpectedly finds Ruth Ferris, young American missionary, and together they fight the jungle and its lurking denizens. But their most sinister enemy turns out to be a degenerate Frenchman, Captain DuBois, whom the jungle has turned into a human tiger. How he traps one or both of them time and again, how they escape by the help of friendly natives, how David finds his father's grave and the jade treasure, how Ruth and David finally achieve their happiness and win their way back to civilization against daunting obstacles and rascality—these items make up an absorbing story. And this story throughout the telling is as clean and wholesome as it is exciting.—The New York Times.

The eagerly awaited twelfth (1930) edition of the only directory of American College Fraternities published is now ready for distribution. Thoroughly revised and brought up to the minute by Dr. Francis W. Shepardson, the editor, the book is a valuable reference work that should be in every fraternity house and on every fraternity worker's desk. It contains a short history, complete chapter directory, and list of famous members, of every fraternity; a short history of the fraternity movement; a list of colleges and universities and the fraternities located there; and a history of interfraternity movements, and of the present organizations.
