Re: MUR #7946; Complaint Against Center for Tech and Civic Life, Inc. (“CTCL”) et. al. Regarding Prohibited Contributions under 52 U.S.C. § 30119 & § 30122.

Dear Mr. Lockett:

Enclosed please find a first supplemental binder containing the follow:

- 1) Copy of the Respondent, Center for Tech & Civic Life, Inc.’s Public Disclosure Filing – Form 990, Return of Organization Exempt from Income Tax, YE January 31, 2021.
- 2) Several articles containing analysis of the data contained in the Form 990 and links in those articles to further references your department might find helpful.

There are a couple of specific things that need to be pointed out on this Form 990.

- Line I – CTCL indicates that the organization is a §501(c)(3) status.
- The return does not appear to account for the funds paid to it by the United States Elections Assistance Commission as taxable income. See, Original Complaint. The estimated amount of this taxable income would be $400 million.
- The return was prepared by a professional tax return preparer, whose name and contact information appears on page 1 of the form. The preparer may be contacted for more information.

It appears that CTCL has mischaracterized itself as a §501(c)(3)<sup>1</sup>, charitable tax-exempt organization, instead of a §501(c)(4), a social welfare organization. A 501(c)(4) is the proper choice of designation for an organization that promotes change within society. See, page 2, Part III, Form 990, Statements of Program Service Accomplishments for CTCL. A chief reason for choosing 501(c)(4), instead of 501(c)(3) is that a 501(c)(4) is allowed to lobby for legislative or regulatory changes and is also allowed to promote its agenda through public campaigns so long as these efforts do not become a primary activity of the organization. The National Rifle Association is a good example of a high profile 501(c)(4) that demonstrates an extensive engagement in political activity.

Of greater concern with the CTCL, and the main reason for the original complaint, is that de facto, CTCL is acting as a political action committee. No §501(c)(3) can be organized primarily for the purpose of influencing political campaigns.

Because of the immense consequences to the 2020 presidential elections and government of the United States of America, including its policies and actions, please consider granting top priority to the investigation of this matter. FEC action on this matter needs to be immediate to enforce laws and regulations related to federal campaign finance and for the protection of the voting rights of the United States citizens.

Please let me know if I can assist you by providing additional information.

Very truly yours,

Barbara W. Palmer

BREAKING: New IRS Disclosures Confirm Flood of Private Money to Elections Offices from Zuckerberg Grantee

by Parker Thayer, Hayden Ludwig

DECEMBER 16, 2021

Newly released filings for the Center for Technology and Civic Life (CTCL) reveal how the infamous Chicago-based nonprofit funneled hundreds of millions of dollars to local elections offices in an effort to privatize the 2020 election and put Joe Biden in the White House.

For over a year, CRC has been on the cutting edge of reporting on this “dark money” behemoth, which used the COVID-19 pandemic to support an unprecedented flood of mail-in ballots with unaccountable drop-boxes in critical Democratic cities.

The group’s IRS Form 990 filing for 2020 reveals thousands of grants to elections offices across the country. We’re still combing through them, but it’s already clear that our key findings from nine state reports earlier this year—Arizona and Nevada, Georgia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Texas, Michigan and Wisconsin, and Virginia—will be confirmed in the coming weeks.

New discoveries reveal that Mark Zuckerberg funneled $328 million through the Silicon Valley Community Foundation, the largest community foundation in America and a notable donor to left-wing causes. Zuckerberg is perhaps the single largest donor to the foundation, dumping close to $2 billion into the pass-through since 2010.

The foundation's CTCL grant was the second-largest it paid out in 2020; its Zuckerberg-backed $69.5 million grant to the Center for Election Innovation and Research (CEIR)—a CTCL ally which passed the funds on to secretaries of state—was the foundation's third-largest that year.

We've also discovered a $25 million grant from the New Venture Fund to CTCL, linking the latter to a $1.7 billion "dark money" empire run by Arabella Advisors in Washington, DC. Wherever Arabella operates, you can be sure to find the most sophisticated activist campaigns on the Left.

Partisan Is as Partisan Does

CTCL is a product of the professional Left founded by three veteran Democratic campaign operatives whose last gig was training left-wing activists for the New Organizing Institute, which the Washington Post once hailed as "the Democratic Party's Hogwarts for digital wizardry."

In late 2020, these operatives devised a strategy to unseat President Trump by boosting turnout for Democrats in Pennsylvania, Arizona, and other battleground states.

CTCL claims its COVID-19 "relief funds" were distributed on a nonpartisan basis and meant to make voting safer—never mind the $400 million Congress allocated to elections infrastructure via the CARES Act. But earlier this year, House Republicans investigating CTCL pointed out that less than 1 percent of its COVID-19 "relief funds" went to personal protective equipment (PPE).

The group's defenders—most recently the normally right-leaning Washington Examiner—try to prove CTCL's nonpartisanship by pointing out that the group gave more grants to counties which voted for Trump than for Biden.

Yet the data betrays partisan patterns favoring large, Democratic strongholds like Philadelphia, where elections officials were given early notice of CTCL grants before their counterparts in Republican counties by professional Democratic consultants.

In Pennsylvania, CTCL grants to counties Biden won averaged $3.11 per capita and just $0.57 in counties Trump won. And in Arizona, CTCL grants provided $5.83 per capita in counties Biden won versus $1.29 in counties Trump won.

“Zuck Bucks” paid for private drop-boxes across key cities to Hoover up mail-in ballots, bypassing the U.S. Postal Service in what was effectively the country’s first mail-in election—thanks to last-minute election law changes by Democratic secretaries of state and endless pressure from activist groups like the National Vote At Home Institute.

In Wisconsin, CTCL’s grant to Green Bay caused the city to effectively “take over” county election functions, according to a former local elections clerk. CTCL itself worked “primarily with our five major Democratic base cities,” she told John Solomon over the summer, breaking processes across the key battleground state:

As we got closer to the November election, we found out that this outside group had come in and was basically trying to redo our forms and documents that we use statewide. And these people were from out of state and had no business doing that.

CTCL funds even paid for Racine, Wisconsin’s “mobile voting precinct”—a $250,000 van purchased in 2021. Does CTCL plan to plague the country with “relief funds” every year?

The Tip of the Iceberg

Twelve months of steady digging by CRC and other watchdog groups has put CTCL on the defensive, with the group boasting in October that its private funding of public elections offices somehow made 2020 “the most secure election in U.S. history.”

We’ll let the facts speak for themselves.

Mark Zuckerberg, CTCL, and 2020 Election Irregularities

Best of CRC 2021

Editor's Note: For the remainder of 2021, the CRC blog will feature some of the best and most influential work produced by CRC. This is both to review some of the major successes and to give CRC staff a break before we start a new year of investigating the Left and exposing it widely.

Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg and wife Priscilla Chan gave $350 million to a “nonpartisan” nonprofit, the Center for Tech and Civic Life (CTCL), which in turn regranted the funds to thousands of governmental election officials around the country to “help” them conduct the 2020 election.

CTCL is a 501(c)(3), legally prohibited by the federal tax code from supporting partisan activities. Yet in battleground state after battleground state, CTCL grants were clearly skewed toward districts rich in Democratic votes, as research by the Capital Research Center (CRC) has demonstrated time and time again.

As a result, at least 20 state legislatures have considered, and most have enacted “Zuck Bucks” laws prohibiting or restricting private funding of government election offices.

SPECIAL REPORT

UPDATED: Shining a Light on Zuck Bucks in the 2020 Battleground States

How close were our estimates to CTCL's final disclosures?

by Parker Thayer, Hayden Ludwig

DECEMBER 31, 2021

The latest in a series exposing Mark Zuckerberg's influence on the 2020 election.

The Capital Research Center was among the first to unearth hundreds of millions of dollars in “Zuck bucks” flowing from the family of Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg to, first, the Center for Technology and Civic Life, (CTCL), and then on to thousands of local government election offices in 2020.

We were also the first to report on the secrets hidden in CTCL's financial disclosures in December 2021, which confirmed the flood of private money used to skew 2020 election turnout and unseat President Trump.

Now, after an entire year of exposing how one billionaire privatized a presidential election, we can re-examine our original findings in nine battleground states that were essential to placing Joe Biden in the White House. The results are striking—and in many cases, even worse than we initially feared.

For convenience and transparency, we've grouped the nine states CRC examined in 2020 below, with links to our original reports and data sets so the facts can speak for themselves.

Note: This article will be updated as we finish analyzing the data.

Pennsylvania

(Updated December 30, 2021) | (Our original report) | (New data set)

Total Grants:

- Our estimate: $22 million
- Their disclosed data: $25 million

Average Per Capita Grant:

- Our estimate: $0.57 Trump; $3.11 Biden
- Their disclosed data: $0.60 Trump; $2.85 Biden

Key Findings:

- Partisan distribution bias:
  - CTCL gave grants to 10 of the 13 counties Biden won statewide, one of which (Erie County) flipped from Trump's 2016 column.
  - Together, these 10 counties received $20.8 million, or over 83 percent of all CTCL grants to Pennsylvania.
  - In contrast, CTCL gave grants to 12 of the 54 counties Trump won statewide.
  - These 12 counties received just $1.73 million, a mere 7 percent of all CTCL funds in the Keystone state.
- Turnout:
  - CTCL-funded counties provided Biden with 2.5 million votes, nearly 73 percent of his statewide total.

- These same CTCL-funded counties provided Trump with 1.8 million votes, or 53 percent of his statewide total.
- Overall, in CTCL-funded counties Biden turnout surged by an additional 20 percent over 2016 turnout...
- But Trump turnout surged by only 15 percent in these same counties.
- Per capita bias:
  - The 5 biggest grants per capita in CTCL-funded counties all went to counties which Biden won:
    1. Philadelphia: $6.56
    2. Centre: $5.46
    3. Chester: $4.79
    4. Delaware: $3.77
    5. Lehigh: $2.04
  - The largest per capita grant to a Trump county, however, went to Berks County ($1.10).
- Other oddities:
  - The Pennsylvania Department of State received $2.44 million from CTCL. How those funds were spent remains unclear, though it is possible that they were eventually distributed to counties. Early research suggests that an allied organization which received $69.5 million from Zuckerberg, the Center for Election Innovation and Research (CEIR), distributed its funds to secretaries of state.
  - The Foundation for Government Accountability reports a CTCL grant of $37,104 to Somerset County, unlisted in CTCL's IRS Form 990 filing (possibly an error). CTCL's preliminary grants list includes a grant of unknown size to Somerset County.

Georgia

Updated Dec. 31, 2021 | (Our original report) | (New data set)

Total Grants:

- Our estimate: $27.8 million
- Their disclosed data: $45 million

Average Per Capita Grant:

- Our estimate: $0.98 Trump; $5.06 Biden
- Their disclosed data: $1.41 Trump; $5.33 Biden

Key Findings:

- Partisan distribution bias:
  - CTCL gave grants to 17 of the 31 counties Biden won in Georgia.
  - Together, these 17 counties received $42.4 million, or over 94 percent of all CTCL funds in the Peach state.
  - CTCL gave grants to 26 of the 128 counties Trump won statewide.
  - But these 26 counties only received $2.6 million from CTCL—less than 6 percent of all grants distributed across Georgia.
- Turnout:
  - CTCL-funded counties gave Biden 1.96 million votes, a little over 73 percent of all votes he received statewide.

- Trump, however, only received 1.35 million votes across these same CTCL-funded counties, or just over 55 percent of his statewide total.
- Biden turnout surged by an impressive 35 percent in CTCL-funded counties in 2020 as compared with Hillary Clinton's turnout in the 2016 election, netting him an additional 510,000 votes.
- Trump turnout only increased by 18 percent in these same counties over his own 2016 performance, netting him another 203,000 votes—less than half that of Biden.
- Per capita bias:
  - CTCL's 10 biggest grants per capita all went to counties which Biden won, 6 of which are part of Atlanta:
    1. Clayton: $12.88
    2. DeKalb: $12.59
    3. Douglas: $11.53
    4. Fulton: $10.01
    5. Cobb: $7.39
    6. Gwinnett: $6.69
    7. Macon-Bibb: $4.78
    8. Muscogee: $3.50
    9. Chatham: $3.49
    10. Dougherty: $3.44

- Together these 10 counties gave Biden 1.49 million votes, 60 percent of his total across Georgia and nearly 378,000 votes over Clinton's 2016 turnout here.
- In contrast, Trump only received 691,000 in these counties in 2020, an increase of just 92,000 votes over his 2016 performance.
- The biggest per capita grant to a Trump county went to Early County ($3.42), where Trump earned just 2,710 votes. Clayton County, CTCL's biggest per capita target, netted Biden over 95,000 votes.

Arizona

Updated Dec. 31, 2021 | (Our original report) | (New data set)

Total Grants:

- Our estimate: $5 million
- Their disclosed data: $5.1 million (a difference of roughly $142,000)

Average Per Capita Grant:

- Our estimate: $1.29 Trump; $5.83 Biden
- Their disclosed data: $2.16 Trump; $3.47 Biden

Key Findings:

- Partisan distribution bias:
  - CTCL gave grants to 4 of the 5 counties Biden won in Arizona.
  - These counties received $3.9 million, 75.5 percent of all CTCL grants to the Grand Canyon state.

- In contrast, CTCL gave grants to 4 of the 4 counties Trump won.
- Trump counties received just under $671,000, or 13 percent of all CTCL grants statewide.
- Critically, only one county in Arizona flipped in 2020: Maricopa County, centered on Phoenix and the state's most populous county, which broke for Biden after Trump won it in 2016. Maricopa received $1.84 million from CTCL.
- Turnout:
  - CTCL-funded counties gave Biden 1.55 million votes in 2020, a staggering 92.5 percent of his statewide total.
  - Biden grew his turnout by nearly 694,000 votes over 2016 turnout in CTCL-funded counties, an average increase of 81 percent.
  - CTCL-funded counties gave Trump 1.42 million votes, an equally impressive 85 percent of his statewide total.
  - Trump's turnout in CTCL-funded counties grew by 563,000 votes over his 2016 performance, an average increase of 66 percent.
- Per capita bias:
  - 8 of Arizona's 15 counties received CTCL grants in 2020, listed below by CTCL's per capita spending:
    1. Apache (Biden): $8.93
    2. Navajo (Trump): $5.56
    3. Coconino (Biden): $3.62
    4. Pinal (Trump): $1.11
    5. La Paz (Trump): $1.06

6. Pima (Biden): $0.91

7. Yuma (Trump): $0.89

8. Maricopa (Biden): $0.42

Nevada

(Our original report)

Total Grants:

- Our estimate: $2.7 million
- Their disclosed data: $2.7 million

Average Per Capita Grant:

- Our estimate: $0 Trump; $0.89 Biden
- Their disclosed data: $0 Trump; $0.89 Biden

We were dead-on in our Nevada report's figures. Nevada received two CTCL grants, which went only to the counties that reliably vote Democrat—Washoe County and Clark County. None went to counties won by Trump. The two funded counties also fit the urban bias of CTCL: they contain the state's eight largest cities.

North Carolina

(Our original report)

Total Grants:

- Our estimate: $5.4 million (including $1 million to the secretary of state)
- Their disclosed data: $7.2 million (including $4.3 million to the secretary of state)

Average Per Capita Grant:

- Our estimate: $0.73 Trump; $1.46 Biden
- Their disclosed data: $0.61 Trump; $1.44 Biden

Texas

Updated Dec. 31, 2021 | (Our original report) | (New data set)

Total Grants:

- Our estimate: $35.2 million
- Their disclosed data: $38.6 million

Average Per Capita Grant:

- Our estimate: $0.55 Trump; $2.95 Biden
- Their disclosed data: $0.66 Trump; $2.03 Biden

Key Findings:

- Partisan distribution bias:
  - CTCL gave grants to 16 of the 22 counties Biden won in Texas.
  - Three of these counties—Williamson, Tarrant, and Hays—flipped from Trump in 2016 to Biden in 2020. No CTCL-funded counties flipped to Trump.

- Biden counties received a stunning 94.5 percent of all CTCL grants flowing to Texas ($36.5 million).
- CTCL gave grants to 67 of the 231 counties Trump won statewide.
- Yet Trump counties only received 5.5 percent of CTCL's grants to Texas ($2.1 million).
- Trump flipped 8 traditionally Democratic counties, none of which received CTCL grants: Zapata, Val Verde, Reeves, La Salle, Kleberg, Kenedy, Jim Wells, and Frio Counties. (Although we originally believed Zapata County received a grant, CTCL's disclosures show otherwise).
- Turnout:
  - CTCL-funded counties gave Biden 4.04 million votes in 2020, or 77 percent of his votes statewide.
  - Biden turnout increased by over 1.04 million votes over 2016 turnout for Clinton in CTCL-funded counties, an average of 24.8 percent.
  - CTCL-funded counties gave Trump 3.6 million votes, 61 percent of his statewide vote total.
  - Trump's turnout also increased by 768,000 votes over his 2016 turnout, an average of 27.8 percent.
  - This is one of the very few instances we've discovered where Trump outperformed his Democratic opponent in CTCL-funded counties in the 9 states we've examined.
- Per capita bias:
  - Per capita spending was more mixed in Texas than in most other states we've looked at, with lower per capita figures overall in the top 10 counties:
    1. Webb (Biden): $8.80

2. Dallas (Biden): $5.79

3. Cameron (Biden): $4.38

4. Refugio (Trump): $2.50

5. Harris (Biden): $2.04

6. Bee (Trump): $1.91

7. Duval (Biden): $1.51

8. Dimmit (Biden): $1.48

9. Brooks (Biden): $1.30

10. Hidalgo (Biden): $1.13

- Yet the presence of 2 Trump counties in this list is somewhat misleading, since together they only gave him just under 39,513 votes.
- Altogether, Biden netted 1.76 million votes in these counties while Trump only netted 1.2 million votes here.
- Other oddities:
  - In its preliminary grants list from late 2020, CTCL reported grants to 116 Texas counties. However, its IRS Form 990 filing from late 2021 reveals grants to just 83 counties. The reason for this discrepancy is unknown.

Virginia

(Our original report)

Total Grants:

- Our estimate: $4 million
- Their disclosed data: $3.7 million

Average Per Capita Grant:

- Our estimate: $0.72 Trump; $1.14 Biden
- Their disclosed data: $0.66 Trump; $1.11 Biden

Patterns Emerge Across States

- CTCL consistently gave bigger grants and more money per capita to counties that voted for Biden.

- Some outlets, like the normally right-leaning Washington Examiner, have pointed out that more Republican counties received CTCL grants than Democratic counties, an unhelpful data point since it obscures the overall pattern of CTCL grantmaking—and the partisan turnout it created. It's no surprise CTCL funded more Republican than Democratic counties, given that Trump won about five times as many counties as Biden did.
- In multiple states, per capita grants to Trump counties averaged around $0.60 per capita. Is that a coincidence, or did CTCL have per capita guidelines when making grants to Republican-heavy counties?

What Else Is New?

Late 2021 brought the revelation that the roughly $400 million Zuckerberg and his wife, Priscilla Chan, had funneled to CTCL and an allied group—the Center for Election Innovation and Research (CEIR)—was moved through the couple's donor-advised fund housed at the Silicon Valley Community Foundation.

We've reported extensively on that foundation's financial and #MeToo woes. It was originally established to help local communities in the greater San Francisco Bay Area but has effectively become the private pass-through for a handful of left-wing billionaires, who largely fund political causes. Zuckerberg is likely the foundation's biggest donor, dumping roughly $2 billion into it since 2010.

We also discovered CTCL's second-biggest donor: the New Venture Fund, which moved nearly $25 million into CTCL. How that money was spent remains unknown. But the Arabella network's funds originate with outside donors, so it's possible that this donation also came from Zuckerberg, though why he would use two conduits to fund CTCL is unclear.

The New Venture Fund is part of a $1.7 billion "dark money" empire run by Arabella Advisors, a consulting firm for left-wing donors in Washington, D.C. CRC is the top reporter on all things Arabella; our reporting was the first to expose this massive network in 2019. Since then we've broken the story on how Arabella funneled huge sums aimed at defeating the confirmations of Justices Brett Kavanaugh and Amy Coney Barrett to the Supreme Court; created groups to push the radical Left's D.C. statehood and courtpacking schemes; and ran a shadow campaign to topple the Republican Senate majority in the 2020 election.

U.S. Election Assistance Commission - CARES Act
Quarterly Report to the Pandemic Response Accountability Committee
 October 10, 2021

The Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security (CARES) Act provided $400 million to the U.S. Election Assistance Commission (EAC) to allocate to states, the District of Columbia and U.S. Territories “to prevent, prepare for, and respond to coronavirus, domestically or internationally, for the 2020 Federal election cycle.” Section 15011 of the Act requires federal agencies to report on the use of the funds to the Pandemic Response Accountability Committee. This document provides that information.

The CARES Act provided the funds to the EAC under Section 101 of the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) which authorizes the EAC to provide funds to states to “improve the administration of federal elections.” Therefore, the EAC followed the requirements of Section 101 to allocate the funds to the states to address issues arising from the pandemic during the remaining primaries and the general election in November 2020.

The funds could only be used for costs associated with the pandemic during the 2020 election season for federal primaries and the general election in November. Funds could not be expended after December 31, 2020. States were required to report to the EAC on how they used the funds within 20 days after each primary and the general election. The EAC posted the submitted reports on the CARES page of the EAC website:

<https://www.eac.gov/payments-and-grants/2020-cares-act-grants>. Financial and progress reports covering the period from March 28, 2020 through December 31, 2020 were due from the states by February 28, 2021 and will be posted on the agency’s website as the reports are reviewed and approved. Please find below our response addressing the four required sections of the Quarterly Report.

Quarterly Report – (July – September 2021)

1. Total amount of large, covered funds received from Treasury:

The EAC received $400,000,000 and each distribution to the 56 states and territories was over the threshold of $150,000. See Appendix A for the award and expended amounts by state and territory. The data presented in Appendix A is in flux at the time of this report and will be until the reviews of submitted final grant reports is complete.

2. Amount of large, covered funds received that were expended or obligated for each project or activity:

The EAC obligated all $400,000,000 and disbursed $397,205,286 (99.3%) based on the requests for those funds by the states. Some states requested less than their full allocation due to concerns over meeting the required 20% match. Based on financial reports received to date, states spent $332,652,719 or 83.5% of the federal funds and interest earned. Due to state legislature restrictions and timing, Arizona and Oregon could not spend any CARES funds.

3. Detailed list of all projects or activities for which large, covered funds were expended or obligated:

In the guidance to the states, the EAC provided the following list of allowable activities:

- Printing of additional ballots and envelopes for potential higher levels of absentee or vote-by-mail processes
- Voter Registration List actions to improve the accuracy and currency of registrant addresses

- Upgrades to statewide or local databases to allow for online absentee or mail ballot requests or change of address
- Additional mailing and postage costs, including ballot tracking software
- Acquisition of additional voting equipment, including high speed or central count tabulators and hardware, and software associated with signature comparison of returned absentee or mail ballots
- Installation and security for absentee or mail drop-boxes
- Temporary elections office staffing
- Cleaning supplies and protective masks and equipment for staff and poll workers in early voting, vote center, or election day polling places
- Overtime salary and benefit costs for elections staff and poll workers
- Training of poll workers on sanitization procedures for in-person voting
- Public communication of changes in registration, ballot request options, or voting procedures, including information on coronavirus precautions being implemented during the voting process
- Mailings to inform the public on changes or determination of procedures of coronavirus precautions, options in voting, and other voting information
- Pre- and post-election deep cleaning of polling places
- Leasing of new polling places when existing sites must be closed
- Additional laptops and mobile IT equipment
- Additional automated letter opening equipment

States could also propose additional activities, but any such activities had to be directly in response to the pandemic. The chart in Appendix B summarizes the activities described in the progress reports submitted by the states on February 28, 2021. Since the 2020 election cycle ended, we are not expecting any more changes to this chart.

4. Detailed information on any level of subcontracts or subgrants awarded by the covered recipient or its subcontractors or subgrantees:

Due to the pandemic, states expected widespread use of absentee ballots and made many adjustments to accommodate voting safely in-person. Most states provided the funds to local election jurisdictions, which identified the specific needs resulting from the pandemic. Progress reports indicate funds were primarily spent for:

- PPE, cleaning services and supplies, signage, and plexiglass
- Additional staff hires to manage higher volume of absentee/mail ballots and to ensure polling locations are adequately staffed for social distancing and longer voting periods
- Leasing additional and/or larger polling places to accommodate social distancing and loss of existing polling places such as assisted living facilities and nursing homes
- Publications and communications to inform voters of changes in processes, such as extensions to early voting, absentee applications, and changes to in-person voting days and locations
- Costs associated with a much higher volume of absentee/mail ballots, such as printing ballots and envelopes, postage, and processing, ballot tracking software, high speed scanners and letter opening equipment, mail drop boxes, and hardware and software associated with signature comparison of returned ballots.

Appendix B

Progress Report Summaries: State Usage of CARES Act Funds

State	Progress Report Summaries
Alabama	Alabama used the funds for PPE, supplies and cleaning services for poll workers, local election officials and polling places, supplemental poll worker pay, and absentee election manager pay. The state of Alabama also used the funds to hire additional poll workers, supplement poll workers' pay, and hire additional absentee election manager assistants.
Alaska	Alaska used the funds for increasing supplies for absentee voting processes, paying additional mailing costs for printing and mailing ballots, purchasing and installing ballot tracking software, high speed scanners, and letter opening equipment, mail drop boxes, other hardware and software associated with signature comparison of returned ballots. The funds were also used to hire additional poll workers, election office staff, and temporary staff. In addition, the state used the funds to train poll workers virtually, to secure polling places; and to purchase supplies such as PPE: face shields, sneeze guard, face masks, non-latex gloves, and sanitization materials to sanitize the polling places.
Arizona	Arizona was not able to use any of the funds. Arizona statute requires that grants received by the Secretary of State from the federal government be appropriated by the legislature before the funding is spent. The legislature did not appropriate the funds.
Arkansas	The state of Arkansas used the CARES funds to advertise the absentee voting process and to protect election workers and voters throughout the election season. The state also used the funds to purchase voting equipment, such as high speed scanners; PPE and sanitization materials, such as gloves, hand sanitizers, face shields, masks, disinfectants, queuing floor stickers and styluses; and for delivery and storage costs.
California	The state of California used the funds for voting processes, including additional costs for printing and mailing ballots, ballot tracking software, high speed scanners and letter opening equipment, mail drop boxes, and hardware and software associated with signature comparison of returned ballots. In addition, the state used the funds for staffing of additional poll workers, security and training, communication to voters about changes in processes, and to purchase supplies such as PPE.
Colorado	Colorado used funds at the state level to conduct an outreach effort to voters to provide information on voting safely during the pandemic and address disinformation and misinformation about voting processes. The state also provided funds to Colorado counties to cover their costs responding to the pandemic, including to purchase PPE and other supplies to ensure the safety of election officials, cover addition costs to print and mail absentee ballots, purchase additional drop boxes, and pay for additional costs related to election judges.
Connecticut	Connecticut created a Safe Polls program through which the state provided funds to municipalities to implement emergency contingency plans. The municipalities implemented the plans, using the funds for printing absentee ballots and envelopes, postage, additional machinery for ballot processing (high speed scanners, letter opening devices), cleaning supplies and protective equipment for poll workers, compensation for additional local election officials, and costs associated with the relocation or addition of polling places. Funds were also used to notify voters of changes in the election process due to the pandemic and to mail an absentee ballot application to every eligible voter in the state for both the primary and the federal election.

Delaware	Delaware used the grant funds to purchase automation equipment needed to increase capacity and streamline preparation and assembly of outgoing mail ballot packages, given the enormous increase in volume of such requests during the COVID-19 pandemic, and with the passage of legislation by the Delaware General Assembly permitting Vote By Mail for the 2020 State Primary and General Election. The state purchased PPE for election officers, materials to preserve social distancing protocols, and cleaning supplies in bulk for distribution to polling places. CARES funds were also used for supplies for expanded absentee voting, equipment to automate the inbound and outbound ballot preparation and mailing processing, as well as equipment for the inbound processing of returned ballots. Grant funds were also used to cover the costs of temporary staffing, and tabulation of returned absentee ballots. Funds were used to notify the public of changes in registration, ballot request options, and precautions on voting procedures.
District of Columbia	The District of Columbia used the funds for voter education on vote by mail and for supplies to support the increased number of mailed ballots. DC moved major operations to its warehouse to ensure social distancing and used funds to recruit additional poll workers and temporary staff, expand voting centers, and provide PPE to poll workers and voters. The funds were also used to cover the additional costs for printing and mailing ballots, to purchase and implement ballot tracking software, “ballot on demand” machines, mail drop boxes, hardware and software associated with signature comparison of returned ballots. DC hired additional poll workers, security workers, and temporary staff.
Florida	Florida subgranted all the funds to counties to use for a variety of pandemic related costs, including the additional costs for printing and mailing more ballots, purchasing and implementing ballot tracking software, high speed scanners, and letter opening equipment, mail drop boxes, and other hardware and software associated with signature comparison of returned ballots. Counties hired additional poll workers and temporary staff, leased additional polling space, and purchased additional laptops, mobile IT equipment, cleaning supplies, and masks. The state election office also established an incentive program for state employees to serve as poll workers.
Georgia	Georgia used the funds to ramp up its absentee ballot program by sending applications to all voters. The state centralized the ballot fulfillment to take that processing burden off the counties. They also used the funds to educate voters on new election dates, how to vote by mail, and new voting equipment. They purchased masks, hand sanitizer, and gloves to distribute to counties. They also purchased styluses for use with touchscreen machines so voters do not have to touch the screens. During the federal election, the state of Georgia used the funds for voting processes such as purchasing drop boxes, communication, and for purchasing PPE and sanitization supplies.
Guam	Guam used its CARES funding to hire additional staff needed at polling sites to manage social distancing and cleaning, to purchase PPE and cleaning supplies for poll workers, election staff and polling sites, and to rent facilities necessary to conduct In Office Absentee Voting. Funds were also used for pre- and post-election cleaning of polling places.
Hawaii	Hawaii used the funds to supplement its media campaign to increase voter education about voting during the pandemic and partnered with Hawaii Meals on Wheels to distribute election materials in conjunction with their food distribution activities. The state also used the funds to relocate counting centers to larger facilities to ensure election officials and volunteers could process, open, and count the voted ballots safely. They procured cleaning supplies and equipment and personal protective equipment for election officials and voters, including disinfectant spray and wipes, face masks, face shields, hand sanitizer dispensers and refills, Isopropyl alcohol, nitrile gloves, plexiglass Barriers, and temporal scanners.
Idaho	Idaho used grant funds to cover the costs of the increase in absentee ballots and related processes. They invested in communication to educate voters on changes in the procedures.

	Idaho subgranted most of the funds to the counties which used them for upgrading voting equipment, purchasing automatic letter openers and absentee ballot sorting machines, paying overtime for poll workers, printing additional ballots and purchasing PPE such as sanitization materials, throw-away pens and pencils, face masks and sneeze guards. The state also altered existing poll locations to ensure the safety of staff and voters. At the state level, the funds were used for additional technical support and software to expedite the increase of online absentee requests.
Illinois	Illinois provided all the funds through a subgrant program to reimburse the local election authorities for the costs related to conducting a safe and secure General Election. Use of the funds varied as needed by the local election authorities and included: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Software and programming costs incurred to meet the requirements of PA 101-641 and 642 which mandated greater absentee voting, use of ballot drop boxes and increased early voting options</li> <li>• Mail processing equipment to handle increased volume of mail-in voting</li> <li>• Public communication or outreach for new or expanded VBM policy and procedures</li> <li>• PPE/Sanitization supplies</li> <li>• Temporary or part-time staff and overtime for staff</li> <li>• Online training services for poll workers</li> <li>• Purchase/installation and security for ballot drop boxes</li> <li>• Expanded or increased VBM costs</li> <li>• Required mailings and postage</li> </ul>
Indiana	Indiana spent a significant amount of the funds to secure PPE and disinfecting cleaners for all of Indiana's counties and to supplement its existing voter education campaign with greater outreach to inform voters of changes surrounding the elections, including new procedures and amended deadlines due to the pandemic. CARES funds were also made available to counties through reimbursement grants to accommodate any unexpected expenses that may arise related to the pandemic. To ensure an adequate number of poll workers were available at voting sites, the state mailed postcards to registered voters urging them to serve as poll workers.
Iowa	Iowa used its CARES funds to encourage voters to vote absentee. Iowa sent mailings and other communications to encourage the use of the absentee voting system and provided subgrants to counties to purchase PPE and cleaning supplies, social distancing signage, additional staff and voting equipment such as letter openers, ballot folders and high speed counters. Iowa also used funding to recruit Iowans to serve as precinct election officials, targeting individuals aged 17 – 35, to replace the many election officials who were over 60 years old and at higher risk of serious complications from COVID 19.
Kansas	Kansas used the funds to procure PPE kits at the state level for distribution to counties and to communicate with voters about changes in voting processes due to the pandemic. The kits included sneeze guards, gloves, masks, cleaner, disposable styluses, and hand sanitizer for every polling place in the state for both the primary and general elections. Additional funds were allocated to reimburse each of the 105 county election offices for eligible pandemic expenses. Counties used the funds for postage, additional staff and board workers, additional protective equipment and more. Prior to the general election the state procured ballot drop boxes for distribution to the counties. The counties were also reimbursed for costs of printing and mailing additional ballots, ballot tracking software, high speed scanners and letter opening equipment.
Kentucky	The Kentucky State Board of Elections distributed the majority of its CARES funds to its 120 counties to cover the cost of additional staffing and increased postage due to the pandemic and the much higher level of absentee voting. Secure ballot boxes were purchased for each of the counties in an effort to increase the security of absentee ballot drop offs. In another effort to alleviate financial stress in the counties, the printing of additional ballots and activation cards was paid with CARES funding. Counties also purchased iPads for registration and one-use items to cut back on cross-contamination.

Louisiana	The state used CARES Act funds to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Purchase high speed scanners to process increased absentee ballots</li> <li>• Purchase mobile voting units to ensure social distancing and CDC protocols at polling locations</li> <li>• Cover costs for increased staff</li> <li>• Cover hazard duty pay for Election Day commissioners and other staff working with the voting public</li> <li>• Conduct media outreach to notify voting public of changes in the election and increased precautions</li> <li>• Purchase absentee ballots and election supply items</li> <li>• Establish additional sites to ensure social distancing and their associated costs</li> <li>• Purchase, packaging, and transport of PPE across the state</li> </ul>
Maine	Maine used its CARES funds to purchase and provide PPE kits to all municipalities and to print and distribute absentee ballot envelopes for all municipalities. In addition, the state purchased ballot drop boxes for distribution to its municipalities and reimbursed municipalities that had bought drop boxes through their own sources. Finally, the state used the funds to cover printing costs for the dramatically increased number of ballots needed and to lease precinct tabulators for the municipalities to scan and tabulate absentee ballots.
Maryland	Maryland used the funds during both the primary and general election to cover postage cost to mail ballot packets to voters, ballot drop boxes, high speed scanners, and automatic letter openers to handle the increase in absentee voting, as well as PPE for staff and poll workers. Funds were also used to conduct a statewide media campaign to communicate changes in voting processes as a result of the pandemic. The funds were also used to purchase laptops to ensure staff was using updated technology and software when accessing sensitive data remotely.
Massachusetts	The state used the funds to cover printing and mailing costs for mail-in voting applications the state sent to registered voters as well as the costs of return postage and to purchase PPE, plexiglass shields and other safety equipment and signage for polling places. The state was able to lease additional voting and tabulation equipment for cities and towns to handle the increased volume of absentee ballots. In addition, the state used the funds to advertise the changes to the voting process implemented as a result of the pandemic including new deadlines, publicity of changes in registration, ballot request options, and precautions or voting procedures. They also used the funds to reimburse cities and towns for ballot drop boxes, additional PPE, and for limited postage for mailing ballots to voters.
Michigan	The state used its CARES funding to print and mail postcards to voters who had not yet applied for an absentee voter ballot prior to the November election and to provide funds to local jurisdictions to purchase PPE, ballot tabulators, high-speed scanners and other equipment needed to handle the high volume of absentee ballots received. The state also implemented an accessible absentee voter ballot for voters with disabilities and covered costs incurred by local jurisdictions to purchase absentee voter ballots, envelopes and applications, ballot drop boxes, automatic letter openers and other equipment to handle the increased level of absentee ballots.

Minnesota	The state used its funds for several major projects as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Printing and mailing absentee ballot applications to voters</li> <li>• Creating a grant program for county, city, and municipal election administrators to assist in providing safe polling places, process absentee ballots, and other election administration duties, including but not limited to: voter outreach materials, the cost of envelopes and postage for additional absentee ballot, staff overtime, additional temporary staff and election judge salaries, technology resources for additional temporary staff, voting tabulation equipment, and disinfecting/sanitizing supplies and materials</li> <li>• A public campaign to inform voters of absentee balloting options as a result of the pandemic</li> <li>• The purchase and distribution of PPE supplies and materials for use in polling places and in-person absentee balloting (disposable masks, face shields, hand sanitizer, stands for the supplies, social distancing signage)</li> <li>• Supplementing central office personnel responding to telephonic inquiries from voters about responses to COVID during the election, including absentee balloting options</li> </ul>
Mississippi	Mississippi used the funds to purchase PPE (hand sanitizer, masks, gloves, face shields, cleaning supplies, etc.) and deliver them to counties across the state; to design, produce and mail postcards to every registered voter in the state to tell them how to vote absentee and alert them of the changes in processes due to the pandemic; to reimburse counties for their own purchase of PPE, cleaning supplies and for the materials and construction of plastic barriers and other environmental safety solutions to keep people socially distanced; and to reimburse counties for increased costs for additional poll managers and temporary staff and hazard pay for election commissioners.
Missouri	The state provided most of its CARES funds as subgrants to its 116 local election authorities which used them to purchase electronic poll-pads to navigate away from paper poll books; buy single use stylus to minimize cross contamination; procure additional voting machines to allow for social distancing or to add additional machines to process absentee and/or mail-in ballots; purchase additional ballot envelopes to answer the increased absentee ballot requests; hire additional temporary employees to handle the influx of absentee and mail-in ballots; pay a hazardous pay stipend to the poll-workers/judges; and cover the costs to clean polling locations that would not otherwise permit them to utilize those locations for the election. The state also used the funds to communicate with voters about the different ways of voting and support a statewide tour by the Secretary of State to communicate directly with the public about the changes in processes resulting from the pandemic.
Montana	Montana used its funds to provide subgrants to its counties. The governor had issued two election directives allowing counties to choose whether to conduct a mail ballot election or conduct a polling place election. Counties choosing to conduct a mail ballot election used the funds to cover increased costs of envelopes, print additional ballots, purchase high-speed letter openers, pay for increased labor and temporary staff, prepare informational signage, procure ballot drop boxes, and purchase PPE and other protective gear such as plexiglass barriers and social distancing signage. Counties choosing to conduct a polling place election used the funds for PPE, protection and sanitation supplies for election offices and polling places, social distancing signage and increased labor, including election judges, unbudgeted overtime of staff and hiring temporary employees.
Nebraska	Nebraska used funds for a communications campaign to inform voters of expanded early voting and vote-by-mail options, to recruit more poll workers because of reduced poll worker availability due to the pandemic, and to obtain equipment needed to handle the higher volume of mail-in ballots, such as drop boxes, mail-in envelopes. The state also purchased and shipped a variety of PPE and other supplies to the counties for poll workers and voters to ensure their safety. In addition, funds were used for voting processes such as purchase of envelopes for mailing absentee ballots and reimbursement to counties for expenses beyond their typical cost due to COVID.

Nevada	Nevada used CARES funds to conduct a statewide voter education campaign to inform them about changes in processes due to the pandemic and to lease ballot-on-demand printers and high-speed scanners for the election offices in order to increase the speed of ballot tabulation. Nevada's primary election was conducted by mail which resulted in much higher printing and mailing costs. The state also covered postage costs for returned ballots and for additional poll workers and polling places to manage social distancing.
