COMMAND DIARY FOR JUNE 1952

Maps: (1) KOREA, 1:50,000 AMS L751, Sheets 6427 I and II; Sheets 6527 I, II, III, and IV; Sheets 6528 II and III.

I SUMMARY

In the western sector of the Eighth Army's front in Korea, the Chinese Communist Forces opposing the 1st Marine Division continued to conduct defensive operations. Although little action of significance took place in the Division's sector, the enemy persisted in his probing actions while building up defensive positions. The 1st Marine Division continued the mission of actively defending LINE JAMESTOWN in sector, at the same time, improving defenses and engaging the enemy by aggressive patrolling.

There was indication of reorganization by the CCF in their rear areas, and it was accepted that a definite relief of units on line had taken place when the 40th CCF Army relieved the 64th CCF Army in front of the 1st Commonwealth Division. However, enemy units opposing the 1st Marine Division remained the same. Divisions on line for the enemy were (left to right) the 193rd and 196th of the 65th Army; the 189th and 187th of the 63rd CCF Army, deployed along the general line from BS 8287 to CT 1111. The 194th Division of the 65th CCF Army was in reserve in an area north of KAESONG.

The enemy's "creeping" tactics continued. (See 1st MarDiv Command Diary, May 1952.) Taking advantage of every opportunity, the Chinese Communists reduced the "no man's land" between his lines and the Division MLR. This was particularly noted to be taking place in the vicinity of CT 010052. (See CG I Corps dispatch 180302I, Appendix I.)

The enemy displayed ability and accuracy with his artillery. This was demonstrated on 15 June when a concerted effort was made to silence medium and heavy artillery units located in the Division's sector. It was noted that the enemy was employing artillery other than 76mm and 122mm in support of the 63rd CCF Army. Most of the incoming fire was 122mm; six rounds of 85mm were received in the 11th Marines area, and a 152mm dud landed in the 17th Field Artillery Battalion's area. The identification of the 152mm dud indicated that the enemy was employing heavier artillery in order to bring fire to bear on such deep targets as friendly eight-inch guns. Observers reported the rapid withdrawal of some of the enemy's artillery. This indicates that the 85mm fire received came from 85mm self-propelled guns employed to thicken the fires of the artillery and to reduce the effectiveness of friendly counterbattery fire.

Although the creeping action brought the enemy closer to the front of the 1st Marine Division, there was little change in the enemy's general capabilities:

(1) To defend on present frontline positions with 24 infantry battalions supported by approximately 12 artillery battalions, making a total infantry strength of 25,176 men.

DECLASSIFIED

DOD DIR 5200.10

- (2) To launch a limited objective attack at anytime for the purpose of improving observation of friendly rear areas.
- (3) To attack with not more than 57 battalions supported by 12 artillery battalions and 40 tanks or SP guns.
- (4) To reinforce the attacking forces with the reserve division, 40th CCF Army, an unidentified NK Division, and the 64th CCF Army within 24 hours.
- (5) To employ chemical or biological warfare at anytime.
- (6) Conduct limited airborne operations with a reinforced regiment of approximately 3,000 men.
- (7) Conduct limited river crossing operations of battalion strength on KIMPO Peninsula or in the vicinity of the HAN-IMJIN junction.
- (8) To attack troop movements, front lines, and installations in the rear at anytime with fighter, attack, and light bomber aircraft.

Of these capabilities, the most probable was to defend on present positions with 24 infantry and 12 artillery battalions. That the enemy could launch a limited objective attack anytime was considered the next most probable course of action. As the enemy continued his creeping action, it became more apparent that this second capability could easily be executed.

The state of enemy morale was re-evaluated on 20 June and changed from "excellent" to "good". Interrogation of deserters who had surrendered to the 1st Marine Division indicated that the morale within opposing units was not excellent. Since 1 April, an average of one enemy deserted every nine days. It was also stated that there were many ex-Chinese Nationalist Army troops among the CCF in Korea who were watched cautiously by their superiors. (See 1st MarDiv PIR #602.)

The 1st Marine Division was one of three infantry divisions in the I U.S. Corps, Eighth U. S. Army in Korea. KANGHWA-DO Island was on the left of the Division's sector. It was occupied by units of the ROK Army and indigenous guerilla forces. Tied-in on the right division boundary was the 1st Commonwealth Division. (See Appendix VI for Division Task Organization.)

Units on line for the 1st Marine Division during the first half of June were; left to right, Kimpo Provisional Regiment, 1st Amphibian Tractor Battalion, 1st KMG Regiment, 7th Marines, and the 1st Marines. On 16 June, the 5th Marines relieved the 1st Marines on position, and the 1st Marines went into division reserve; the 3rd Battalion, 1st relieved the 3rd Battalion, 5th, on KIMPO Peninsula.

Minor changes were made within the 1st Marine Division sector during the month. However, the mission of the Division remained the same, to continue to organize, occupy, and actively defend LINE JAMESTOWN. When the period began, the 7th and 1st Marines were on line; the 5th Marines were in division reserve. One battalion of the 5th Marines was attached to the Kimpo Provisional Regiment, acting as the mobile force to move into blocking positions in support of the units on line in the KPR sector.

The Commanding General, Eighth Army, directed that continuous efforts be made to secure identification and changes in the enemy's order of battle. Accordingly, the Commanding General, I U.S. Corps, directed the 1st Marine Division to prepare plans for launching swift, vigorous, and violent raids of battalion and regimental size to capture prisoners and intelligence material, to destroy enemy positions, or to conduct limited objective attacks to improve LINE JAMESTOWN. (See CG, I U.S. Corps, dispatch 100245Z, and I U.S. Corps LI, dtd 12 June 1952, item 36, Appendix I). In compliance, the Division submitted plans, BUCKSHOT 2 Able and 2 Baker. (Appendix II, items 40 and 41.)

Division Training Order 12-52 directed that the battalion attached to the KPR would conduct a two weeks training program based on amphibious landings. Culminating in a four day wet net training exercise in the vicinity of TOKOHOK-TO (BS 047022), the operation provided additional training for individuals, units, and staff members in functioning as members of a battalion landing team. The wet net exercise, known as MARLEX, was a simulated amphibious assault of an island. Helicopters were employed to lift one company and equipment to the landing area. The training program was scheduled to run through September. To date, the 2nd Battalion, 7th Marines; 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines; and the 3rd Battalion, 1st Marines, have completed the training. (2/7 did not, delete.)

A minor change was made in the boundary between the 1st Marine Division and the 1st Commonwealth Division on 1 June. The boundary was adjusted to permit the Division to assume full responsibility for the ridge line west of the NULLORI-CHON stream. Another change was made in the 7th Marines sector. On 24 June, the MLR in the 1st Battalion, 7th, was moved forward between 700 and 1,000 meters to include the high ground previously held by combat outposts. (For these changes, see Overlays for 1 June and 25 June, Appendix VIII.)

Although the Division was primarily on the defense, combat patrols, ambushes, and reconnaissance patrols were dispatched daily. The size of these patrols and ambushes varied from reinforced squads to reinforced companies. Raiding parties of reinforced platoon size were dispatched during the month with the mission to capture prisoners. With the enemy attempting to close the gap between their lines and the Division's, it was essential that the enemy's forces be continually observed. Frequently, friendly outposts were probed by the enemy. The resultant fire fights involved the exchange of small arms, artillery, and mortar fires. Hand to hand combat occurred during some of these probes.

The Peace Conference at PANMUNJOM was additional influence in the plans of the 1st Marine Division. The responsibility for the rescue of the United Nations delegates, should the negotiations suddenly collapse, was given the Division. The mission was assigned to the regiment occupying the sector of the division's front which covered the PANMUNJOM road. Occupying the commanding ground overlooking PANMUNJOM, a rescue task force of a reinforced company was provided to assist the delegates, and the security force stationed at PANMUNJOM, to withdraw down the PANMUNJOM Corridor if such action became necessary. During the meetings, a mechanized force was assembled at a rendezvous area from which they could move forward on order. Tank elements, in support of the regiment, were also assigned to move out on order. 7/16/52

SECRET

Psychological warfare was employed at frequent intervals along the division front. Using both broadcasts and artillery propaganda shells, information concerning the themes; "Three Reports and One Criticism," Red Cross aid to China and Korea, and Communist refusal to Red Cross aid, was disseminated to the enemy's Troops. Three enemy deserted to the Division during the month. Interrogation of these prisoners indicated that the psychological warfare program had not influenced their desertion.

Supporting arms played a decisive role again in the defense of the 1st Marine Division's sector. Artillery continued the employment of their counter-counterbattery plan, roving guns were effectively used to confuse and negate the enemy's counterbattery fires. Because the enemy had increased his artillery fires, and with improved accuracy, friendly artillery was forced to displace to alternate positions frequently. However, when friendly artillery was needed in support of patrols, it was able to deliver fire which inflicted heavy casualties upon the enemy. Sightings of enemy activities by forward observers from the artillery batteries were made continually, and artillery fires were called which resulted in considerable destruction to enemy positions. A total of 2,393 observed missions was fired by artillery during the month, in direct and general support of the regiments. (See Appendix V for damage summary.)

Also providing both general and direct support to the regiments were the tanks of the 1st Tank Battalion. Employed in frequent tank-infantry patrols, the tanks proved to be very effective. They were used mostly in the KMC's sector in that role because the ground in that area was best suited for tank operations. During the month, 14 tank-infantry patrols were dispatched. There were 494 support missions fired by other tanks across the division's front. (See Appendix V for damage summary.)

The training program which began in May provided the bulk of the air support sorties. MAG-12 flew three, four-plane missions daily except when weather or priority operational commitments intervened. Thirty-four requests for close air support, in addition to the daily training missions, were submitted and nine of these were answered. A total of 331 aircraft flew air support sorties for the Division, 299 Marine and 32 Air Force. That total included 27 aircraft which flew MPQ-14 missions in Operation Pinpoint ABLE, a Fifth Air Force evaluation project for MPQ-14. Seven requests for immediate close air support were answered, with an average time lag of four hours and 43 minutes.

There was no change in the locations of the Division's railhead, airhead, or truckhead.

Marine casualties for the month amounted to 38 killed in action, 11 died of wounds, 199 wounded (evacuated), 221 wounded (not evacuated), and 5 missing in action. <sup>199</sup> <sub>221</sub>

KMC's suffered 11 killed, 43 wounded, and none missing in action.

Enemy losses to the 1st Marine Division were as follows: 6 prisoners were taken, 632 killed, an additional estimated 585 KIA, and 1,630 WIA. <sup>632</sup>

Brigadier General R. O. BARE replaced Brigadier General M. B. TWINING as Assistant Division Commander. <sup>221</sup>

Brigadier General JEROME, Commanding, 1st Marine Aircraft Wing visited the Division Command Post on 2 June and 10 June remaining overnight on both occasions.

General Mark CLARK, Commander-in-Chief, Far East; General VAN FLEET, Commanding Eighth Army; and Lieutenant General O'DANIEL, Commanding I U.S. Corps, visited the Division Command Post at 0815 on 3 June, attended a briefing, and departed at 0905. (See Appendix IX for text of General SELDEN'S briefing.)

Brigadier General LAMSON SCRIBNER, Assistant Wing Commander, 1st Marine Aircraft Wing visited the Division Command Post on 7 June and remained overnight.

Rear Admiral MC INERNEY, Commander, Amphibious Forces Far East and Commander Amphibious Group 3, visited the Division Command Post on 10 June.

The Division Command Post remained at YONGJI-RI, CT 103886.

II CHRONOLOGICAL NARRATIVE

- Note: (1) Attention is invited to Appendix VIII, Operation Overlays, for reference to pertinent unit locations, boundaries, etc.
- (2) For complete and detailed account of subordinate unit actions, attention is directed to regimental, battalion, and separate and attached unit historical diaries, and daily unit reports.
- (3) For pertinent casualty compilations, see Appendices IV(a) and IV(b). A supporting arms daily summary is contained in Appendix V.

1 June.

An ambush from the 7th Marines made contact with an estimated seven enemy at CT 035050. A 20 minute fire fight ensued in which small arms, automatic weapons, and mortar fire was exchanged. An estimated two enemy were killed. The boundary between the 1st Marine Division and the 1st Commonwealth Division was adjusted this date. (See Appendix VIII.)

2 June.

An estimated squad of enemy employing small arms, automatic weapons, and mortar fire attacked a 7th Marine outpost at CT 024044. The outpost, with the aid of artillery illumination, returned small arms and automatic weapons fire. A reinforced squad was sent to aid the outpost. The enemy withdrew leaving three dead. An estimated three enemy were wounded.

A 7th Marine patrol found two enemy dead in the vicinity of CT 024043. An examination revealed that they were wearing Marine green, winter service, trousers and dungaree jackets under their regular uniforms. They were without identification or papers of any sort and it was believed that they were killed as a result of the above mentioned action in the vicinity of CT 024044. Intelligence sources report that the enemy has previously used small diversionary actions for the express purpose of detracting attention from infiltrators. This could have been such a diversion (PIR #586, 3 June 1952).

3 June.

Four contacts were made in the Division zone of action; three outposts were hit in the 1st KMC sector and one in the 1st Marine sector. These contacts consisted of five-minute fire fights in which small arms, and automatic weapons were used. In all cases contact was broken at 2320.

The USNS GENERAL W. WEIGEL arrived at Inchon, Korea with the 21st Replacement Draft. The draft consisted of 184 Marine officers, 1,886 enlisted Marines, 9 U.S. Naval officers, and 73 enlisted Naval personnel.

The 17th Rotation Draft, consisting of 98 officers and 1,198 enlisted men, departed aboard the USNS GENERAL WEIGEL.

4 June.

Active patrolling continued but no contacts were made with the enemy.

5 June.

A 1st Marine ambush was brought under small arms and automatic weapons fire by an unknown number of enemy. In a five-minute fire fight, three enemy were killed and one other possibly killed.

6 June.

An estimated 15 enemy employing small arms and hand grenades engaged a 7th Marine outpost in the vicinity of CT 018037. The outpost called in mortar fire and returned small arms and automatic weapons fire. The enemy suffered five dead before withdrawing.

A 1st Marine outpost at CT 104108 was attacked by an unknown number of enemy. The outpost called in artillery and mortar fire while small arms and automatic weapons fire was exchanged. After a 30-minute fire fight, in which nine enemy were killed, the enemy withdrew.

7 June.

At about 0300, 70 enemy again attacked the 1st Marine outpost at CT 104108. A fire fight ensued in the vicinity of CT 107110 and CT 102109. After a fire fight of one hour and 15 minutes the enemy withdrew. The enemy suffered 19 KIA, 10 KIA (estimated), and 15 WIA (estimated).

8 June.

In the vicinity of CT 007040, a 7th Marine reconnaissance patrol was attacked by an estimated five enemy. After a brief fire fight in which small arms, automatic weapons, and hand grenades were employed, the patrol broke contact.

SECRET

9 June.

An estimated one enemy was killed in a fire fight between a 1st Marine ambush and an estimated three enemy. The fire fight took place at CT 120104.

Nine enemy were killed and one wounded as a result of action that took place at CT 094105. A 1st Marine combat-reconnaissance patrol engaged approximately 18 enemy. After employing small arms, automatic weapons, and artillery fire, the patrol disengaged.

10 June.

Approximately 12 enemy attacked a 7th Marine outpost at CT 020039. The fire fight lasted 15 minutes and the enemy withdrew.

11 June.

No contacts were made with the enemy. Seventy-seven officers assigned to the 1st Division arrived by air and 77 left the division for the states aboard the same transportation.

12 June.

No contacts were made with the enemy.

13 June.

A platoon-sized raiding party from the 7th Marines made contact with an estimated enemy squad in the vicinity of CT 006040. After a 50-minute fire fight, the raiding force broke contact. Enemy casualties were one KIA and an estimated three WIA.

A company-sized raiding force from the 7th Marines engaged an estimated 40 enemy in a 15-minute fire fight. This action took place in the vicinity of CT 044064 and resulted in one enemy WIA.

In the 1st Marines sector there were two contacts with the enemy. In the vicinity of CT 058073, an estimated enemy company engaged a friendly raiding party of company size in a 55-minute fire fight. When the raiding party broke contact, there were 53 enemy dead, an estimated 50 wounded, and one wounded prisoner. Friendly casualties were two dead, 25 wounded, and six missing in action. A two squad recovery group supported by two tanks found no signs of the marines missing in action.

The other contact consisted of a brief fire fight between a friendly ambush and an unknown number of enemy in the vicinity of CT 083093.

The 11th Marines fired heavy defensive and counterbattery fires throughout the night in support of patrols in the 1st Marine and 7th Marine zones of action.

Brigadier General Robert O. BARE joined the 1st Marine Division and assumed the duties of Assistant Division Commander.

14 June.

One engagement in the 1st Marine sector resulted in four enemy dead and an estimated seven wounded. A 40-minute fire fight took place when a company-sized raiding party was attacked in the vicinity of CT 090106 by approximately 26 enemy.

The 11th Marines fired 100 observed missions for a total of 3,141 rounds.

15 June.

A 7th Marine squad-sized combat reconnaissance patrol in the vicinity of BT 966034, observed seven persons in civilian clothing carrying "A" frames. The patrol came under mortar fire, and received small arms fire from three of the civilians. An estimated enemy squad at BT 966042 opened up with small arms and automatic weapons engaging the patrol in a sporadic fire fight which lasted three hours and 15 minutes. Enemy casualties were estimated at six dead and six wounded.

The 5th Marines began the relief of the 1st Marines. Helicopters were used in the relief to transport elements of the 1st and 5th Marines across the IMJIN River.

During the night 15-16, 1,112 rounds of artillery, 2,070 rounds of mortar and 82 rounds of mixed artillery and mortar fire fell in the division sector. Six hundred and fifteen rounds of the artillery were accurately directed against friendly artillery positions. One hundred and eighteen of these rounds were the first to fall south of the IMJIN River since the Division occupied this sector. The bulk of the incoming was identified as 122mm; however, six rounds of 85mm were received in the 1st Battalion, 11th Marines area and a 152mm dud was identified in the 17th FA Battalion area.

16 June.

At CT 016034 an estimated enemy squad probed a 7th Marine MLR position. The enemy withdrew after a 20-minute fire fight and lost an estimated two wounded.

A 7th Marine outpost was attacked by an enemy squad in the vicinity of CT 014037. After a fire fight of one hour and 20 minutes, the outpost broke contact and returned to the MLR. There was no estimation of enemy casualties.

A raiding party from the 7th Marines was engaged by an unknown number of enemy in the vicinity of CT 001037 and CT 005040. The enemy employed machine gun and mortar fire in a 30-minute fire fight before withdrawing. The enemy suffered four dead and an estimated five wounded.

At 0450, the 5th Marines assumed the responsibility of the 1st Marine sector. The 1st Marines assumed the mission of the division reserve.

17 June.

A sporadic fire fight between an unknown number of enemy and a friendly ambush lasted one hour and 35 minutes in the 1st KMC sector. The action took place in the vicinity of CT 958972. The enemy was forced to withdraw and their casualties were unknown.

In the 7th Marine sector, an estimated reinforced platoon of enemy attacked a friendly raiding party. After an hour and 45 minute fire fight in the vicinity of CT 019051, the raiding party disengaged and returned to the MLR. Enemy casualties were one KIA, an estimated one KIA, and an estimated two WIA.

A 5th Marine outpost engaged an unknown number of enemy at CT 069079 in a sporadic fire fight which lasted six hours and 30 minutes. Enemy wounded were estimated at seven.

18 June.

In the 7th Marines sector an estimated four enemy probed friendly positions. After a brief fire fight in the vicinity of CT 046048, the enemy withdrew.

Artillery fire from the 2nd Battalion, 11th Marines was directed against 100 enemy in the open at BT 995035 in the 7th Marines sector. The fire resulted in 35 enemy KIA and an estimated 20 WIA.

19 June.

A 7th Marine outpost was fired on by an unknown number of enemy in the vicinity of CT 024044. The firing ceased when the outpost directed mortar fire on the enemy.

In the 5th Marine sector a 30-minute fire fight took place between an estimated enemy squad and a friendly outpost. The enemy was forced to withdraw with one killed (estimated) and four wounded (estimated).

The 1st Marines participated in Exercise Eveready initiated by I Corps to test communications, the mobility of units, and the efficiency of current counterattack plans. The 2nd Battalion, 1st Marines passed to operational control of I Corps at 0630I. Their mission was to occupy the left sector of the WYOMING Line in the Rockwell sector near CT 225155. They departed by truck at 0814I and arrived at the assembly area at 0935I. The exercise was secured at 1229I and the battalion returned to the reserve area at 1539I.

Unidentified aircraft was reported at GS 103979 and at GS 042948.

20 June.

In the 1st KMC sector an unknown number of enemy employing automatic weapons and mortar fire engaged a friendly raiding party in a five-minute fire fight in the vicinity of BS 942911.

Two enemy were engaged by a 5th Marine position in a fire fight which lasted 15 minutes before the enemy was forced to withdraw.

Another 5th Marine outpost inflicted an estimated five casualties when an unknown number of enemy were engaged at CT 067079 in a 20-minute sporadic fire fight.

Five reports of unidentified aircraft were received. These reports were made during the period of 200004I and 200147I. Of particular significance is the report that 12 rounds of 122mm counterbattery fire was received at CS 093043 during the period 200004I to 200009I. Intelligence sources indicated that hostile aircraft may have been observing fire in the area (PIR #603, 20 June).

An unidentified aircraft was heard in the vicinity of CS 083894 which approached from the north above an overcast. An explosion occurred at CS 083894; a bomb crater and fragments were found. The crater was within the MUNSAN-NI three-mile circle. At that time no friendly aircraft were known to have been in the area (PIR #605, 22 June).

21 June.

There was one contact in the 5th Marine sector in which an estimated enemy platoon engaged a 16 man ambush in a 15 minute fire fight. This action took place in the vicinity of CT 069082. The ambush disengaged and in returning to the MLR was separated into small groups. Although 14 members of the ambush sustained wounds, the entire ambush was successful in returning to the MLR.

22 June.

A 7th Marine squad sized reconnaissance patrol engaged an unknown number of enemy in a brief fire fight at BT 986023. There was no estimate of enemy casualties.

A platoon-sized raiding party from the 7th Marines observed an estimated four enemy cutting communication wire at CT 015036 and engaged them in a brief fire fight in which two enemy were wounded (estimated).

A company-sized rescue patrol from the 5th Marines conducted Operation Sleeper. This operation was planned to bring in the remains of a friendly KIA. After recovering the body, they were engaged by an estimated 55 enemy. A fire fight ensued for one hour before the patrol disengaged. This action caused the enemy an estimated 20 dead and an estimated 15 wounded, while the patrol suffered one dead and one wounded.

23 June.

An unknown number of enemy in the vicinity of CT 068080 engaged a 5th Marine outpost in a five-minute fire fight. Friendly small arms and automatic weapons fire forced the enemy to withdraw.

A 15-minute fire fight took place in the vicinity of CT 069083 when 60 enemy attacked a 5th Marine ambush. Enemy casualties were two KIA, an estimated five KIA, and an estimated 20 WIA.

24 June.

A platoon-sized raiding party of the 1st KMC's engaged an unknown number of enemy in a five-minute fire fight in the vicinity of BS 946927 before disengaging. Fifty minutes later, the raiding party returned to the area and was fired on by heavy machine guns. The raiders disengaged and returned to the MLR.

The only action in the 7th Marine sector consisted of a ten minute fire fight between a platoon-sized raiding party and an unknown number of enemy. The action took place in the vicinity of CT 013037. No estimation was made of enemy casualties.

An estimated enemy company, supported by heavy artillery and mortar fire, assaulted 5th Marine outpost positions at CT 069079 and CT 074078 with the main effort directed against CT 069079. The friendly units, supported by artillery, forced the enemy to withdraw.

25 June.

The action in the 5th Marine sector resumed at 0310I when a reinforced enemy company again attacked outpost at CT 069079 and CT 074078. A two hour and fifteen minute fire fight ensued before the enemy was forced to withdraw. The enemy casualties for the complete action (night of 24-25 June) were 26 KIA, 50 KIA (estimated), and 100 WIA (estimated).

During the period 241800I to 250400I, 1,445 rounds of mixed mortar and artillery fire fell in the vicinity of the above mentioned action.

One other contact was made on the division front. It consisted of a brief fire fight between a 1st KMC ambush and an estimated two squads of enemy.

The 7th Marine Regiment advanced its MLR in the 1st Battalion sector. (See Overlay of 25 June, Appendix VIII.)

26 June.

There were no contacts with the enemy.

27 June.

An estimated 26 enemy in the vicinity of BS 954978 attacked a 1st KMC ambush. A five-minute fire fight resulted in three enemy dead, and estimated four wounded, and one wounded prisoner.

The only other action on the division front occurred when an unknown number of enemy threw hand grenades into 7th Marine positions at CT 013087.

28 June.

There were no enemy contacts along the division front.

29 June.

A 7th Marine squad-sized reconnaissance patrol was fired on by an unknown number of enemy in the vicinity of BT 976039.

The patrol directed artillery and mortar fire on the enemy and withdrew. There was no estimate of enemy casualties.

An unknown number of enemy fired on 7th Marine positions but were forced to withdraw when their fire was returned.

In the 1st Marine sector an unknown number of enemy directed machine gun fire on friendly positions. Small arms fire was returned with unknown results.

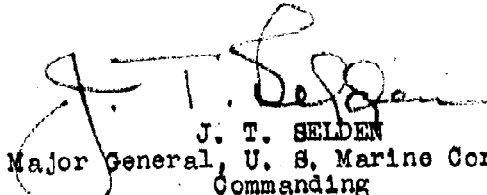

30 June.

In the 1st KMC sector a platoon-sized raiding party engaged 50 to 60 enemy in bunkers and trenches in the vicinity of BS 952967. The action resulted in hand to hand combat and lasted for 25 minutes before the raiding party disengaged. Flame throwers were used and accounted for the destruction of seven enemy bunkers. Enemy casualties were nine dead and an estimated four wounded.

A brief fire fight took place between a 7th Marine squad-sized reconnaissance patrol and an unknown number of enemy in the vicinity of CT 999027 before the patrol disengaged and called in artillery and mortar fire on the enemy.

A reconnaissance patrol from the 5th Marines engaged a four man enemy working party at CT 071082. The patrol killed the enemy and returned to the MLR.

Major General John T. SELDEN, Commanding General, 1st Marine Division, gave the opening address to 35 officer students who began two weeks instruction in Military Justice at the Division CP. The course was supervised and conducted by the Division Legal Section. It was the first of three classes scheduled for the indoctrination course. The purpose of the school is to provide training to at least three officers in each command having the authority to convene Special Courts-Martial. These officers will be instructed in the duties of investigating officer, trial counsel, and defense counsel. Special emphasis is to be placed on procedure and modes of proof for trials by Special Courts-Martial. This instruction will also enable the officers to assist their respective commanders in matters pertaining to discipline.

J. T. SELDEN
Major General, U. S. Marine Corps
Commanding

1. It is directed that each division prepare plans for launching swift, vigorous and violent large scale raids to capture prisoners, to gain intelligence, to destroy enemy positions and material and/or strong limited objective attacks to improve and strengthen Line JAMESTOWN.

2. a. Code name for these plans is BUCKSHOT. Numbers for division sectors are allotted as follows:

1st MAR Div -----BUCKSHOT 2
1 COMWEL Div -----BUCKSHOT 3
1st ROK Inf Div -----BUCKSHOT 4
45th Inf Div -----BUCKSHOT 5

b. Plans within division sectors will be further identified by adding letters after numerical designation.

c. Plan BUCKSHOT 1 is reserved for use by this headquarters.

3. The size of attacking force is limited to battalion or regiment (brigade) with appropriate armor and artillery support.

4. a. Submit, by 21 June 1952, plans for one or more such raids in your respective sectors.

b. Include the following in all plans:

(1) Desired air support for preplanned missions with requested targets and timings, and desired air support on strip alert or air alert during the operation.

(2) Estimated amounts of allocated types of ammunition required.

c. Execution of submitted plans on order of this headquarters.

5. SHARPEN YOUR BAYONETS

BY COMMAND OF LIEUTENANT GENERAL O'DANIEL:

J. F. FALCINELLI
LtCol AGC

PLAN FOR 5th BATTALION COMPANY SIZED RAID BUCKSHOT 2 ABLE

1. TASK ORGANIZATION

53rd Company (Reinf) (-)
2 Rifle Platoon (Reinf)
1 Section 81mm Mortar Platoon

2. MISSION

To capture prisoners and obtain information of enemy position.

3. PLAN

The Raid Company moves to line of departure and supporting position under cover of darkness for maximum surprise. Supporting fires, including preparation, will be on-call to be employed only if required. One platoon assaults objective and overruns the enemy positions therein. The support platoon covers by fire the approach, assault, and withdrawal of the assault platoon. It is planned that the Raid Company return to the MLR prior to daybreak.

4. DATE AND TIMES

(a) Raid Company will be prepared to conduct raid during period, 30 Jun - 2 July. A later date would either involve excessive moonlight for a surprise attack or a very limited time on the objective. The 53rd Company will be relieved from its MLR position during the night preceding the raid by a company of the Reserve Battalion (3rd).

(b) Time of departure MLR - ~~2000~~
Time of crossing river - ~~2300~~
Estimated time of attack - ~~0045~~
Time of return to MLR - ~~0430~~

5. SUPPORTING UNITS

(a) 81mm Mortar Section supports raid by prearranged on-call fire.

(b) Korean Marine Corps Artillery Battalion, reinforced by ITM Battery, 11th Marines, will be prepared to support raid with following fires:

(1) Prearranged on-call fires to cover approach to line of departure.

(2) Preplanned on-call five (5) minutes preparation on targets adjacent to objective commencing at the time assault platoon crosses line of departure.

(3) Prearranged on-call fires to support assault and cover withdrawal.

(c) KING Battery, 11th Marines will support raid from present position by counter-battery fire.

PLAN BUCKSHOT 2 BAKER

Mission: To capture enemy prisoners and inflict maximum damage on enemy personnel and installations

Plan: 1/7: Attack with one rifle company reinforced (Charlie Co) to seize Obj 1, Obj 2, and Obj 3, successively; attack with one rifle platoon reinforced (Baker Co) to seize Obj 4; attack with a tank-infantry force (Able Co) consisting of an infantry platoon, tank platoon, and a section of flame tanks to create a diversionary and screening action to left of Obj 1; occupy COP Green.

2/7: Support Action by fire in sector.

3/7: Support Action by fire in sector; furnish two guides with each of attacking elements; furnish FO's for artillery, 81mm mortars, and 4.2" mortars to support and/or accompany attacking elements; assist in occupation of COP Green.

Details: 1. How Hour 062200I.

2. CHARLIE Co and BAKER Co cross LD same time.

3. ABLE Co (Tk-Inf) move to attack on order when first contact made by other elements.

4. One squad reinforced from ABLE Co on each of COP WHITE AND BLUE; one squad reinforced from BAKER Co on COP GREEN.

5. CHARLIE Co will attack in column of platoons. 2nd, 1st, and 3rd Platoons in order; 1st and 3rd Platoons prepare to pass through 2nd Platoon as required. When Obj 1 has been secured and advance through Obj 2 and 3 has reached point where Obj 1 can be cleared one squad reinforced with such units as flame throwers and LMG that have expended most of fuel and/or ammunition, walking wounded, litter cases, etc, will retire behind LD 1 via route taken out. All other elements of CHARLIE will continue the attack and return to MLR through LD 2.

6. BAKER Co platoon will be reinforced with 3 LMG's; will move out through YELLOW and down to right of Obj 4; occupy defensive position to protect flank of CHARLIE's advance.

7. ABLE Co's tank-infantry team will move up THREE-FINGERS via right finger and attack by fire Hill WILLIAM and enemy positions on OPLR-3. Team will retire over same route on order.

8. Special intelligence personnel teams with units as follows: ABLE - one man, BAKER - two men, CHARLIE - five men.

9. Special arrangements for POW transfer and handling; tape, stretchers, guards, etc.

APPENDIX VI TO DIVISION COMMAND DIARY FOR JUNE 52

TEXT OF MAJOR GENERAL SELDEN'S BRIEFING PRESENTED TO THE COMMANDER
IN CHIEF FAR EAST 3 JUNE 1952

General CLARK, General VAN FLEET, General O'DANIEL, gentlemen. Before proceeding with a very brief briefing of this Division's activities, I would like, on behalf of the 1st Marine Division, to say that we are honored at having our new Commander-in-Chief aboard, but very sorry that your initial visit, General CLARK, does not permit a trip to the front lines. We look forward with pleasure to having you return for a more lengthy stay and trust that it will be at an early date.

The 1st Marine Division is opposed by two, top-flight Chinese Communist Armies; namely, the 63rd and 65th, for a combined T/O strength of some eighty-odd thousands. Each army is composed of three divisions - all well trained, well equipped, and well supplied, and whose combat efficiency we can attest to.

Since our arrival on the western front, the enemy has tightened and improved his defense considerably, evidencing a good deal of apprehension at our being here. His main concern seems to be to defend his command, communication, and supply center in the so-called neutral city of KAESONG. He has demonstrated, to a considerable degree, an ability to conduct well coordinated small unit probes and to place heavy concentrations of artillery and mortar fire accurately and in a short space of time. He retains a substantial attack and/or reinforcement capacity which he could execute at a moment's notice. Recent indications are not sufficient, however, to make this his most likely course of action at this time.

The enemy's most probable course of action is to continue to defend with 24 battalions, supported by 12 battalions of artillery. This will give him a local reserve of 30 infantry battalions, plus one armored battalion, all of which he could commit within eight hours.

On the 12th of March, this division was holding a section of the main line of resistance on the eastern front. On that date, General VAN FLEET visited my CP and announced his decision to detach the division from the Tenth Corps and to move it into the left sector of the I Corps, the move to be made by truck, (heavy equipment and tracked vehicles by sea) and to be accomplished prior to 1 April. On 16 March, Tenth Corps published the relief order. On 17 March, the First Korean Marine Regiment, at that time occupying the left of the division sector, entrucked and moved into position on the left of the new sector on 20 March. By the night of 24 - 25 March, the division had three of its four infantry regiments in the new sector and at 0400, the 25th, I assumed sector responsibility [of] LINE JAMESTOWN.

It was readily apparent that the relieved ROK Division had not been conducting an aggressive defense. Well populated villages existed between opposing lines. Farmers were cultivating their fields in full view of both forces. Traffic across the river was brisk. The ROK Division was in no position to hold LINE JAMESTOWN and, in fact, only expected to delay on it.

The sector of the main line of resistance assigned this division falls on unfavorable terrain, as it offers the enemy several main avenues of approach. Abnormal frontage precludes any appreciable depth and the position has the additional handicap of having a formidable obstacle, the IMJIN River, at its back.

APPENDIX IX - DIVISION COMMAND DIARY -

SECRET

In actual frontage, from its right boundary to the First Korean Marine Regiment's left boundary, we have 19 and 2/10 miles of MLR. To the south, an additional area, held by the LVT battalion and Reconnaissance Company, totals 8 and 1/10 miles and on the KIMPO Peninsula, where I have a Provisional Regiment, we have 8 and 2/10 miles of frontage; making a total of 35 and 1/2 miles of actual frontage.

During its occupancy of this sector, the division has endeavored to conduct as active and aggressive a defense as possible. This is being accomplished by vigorous patrolling and full employment of supporting weapons, despite the handicaps imposed by the neutrality zone, the no-fire lines, the no-fly line and ammunition restrictions. An additional and very severe handicap has been the tremendous number of mines found in this sector - both enemy and unmarked friendly. The casualties caused by mines, from 23 March to 10 April, amounted to 58 per cent of the total battle casualties, and from 10 April to 1 June, 17 per cent; or an average, since we have been in this area, of mine casualties, totaling 35 per cent.

In addition to active operations, the division begins, this month, refresher training in amphibious operations. It is planned that one battalion every two weeks will participate in landing exercised on one of the islands off INCHON. One CVE, one APA, an LSD, and two LST's will be employed in these operations.

One of the questions you asked, General CLARK, on your last visit, was whether or not I had my air with me. You may remember that, while I answered in the affirmative, I qualified it with the statement that they were not under my control, but under the control of the 5th Air Force. This has resulted in being required to submit requests for close air support through JOC. 87 such requests have been made (in compliance with existing directives) since our arrival in this sector, of this number, 42 requests were answered; 19 of the requests being furnished by Marine planes. The remaining 45 requests brought forth no aircraft.

The average time lag between origin of request and planes on target has been three hours and 39 minutes. The present system, from a Marine's point of view, is most unsatisfactory as too often the planes, even when they report, are not properly armed for the assigned mission. The scarcity of planes being furnished this Division has materially affected the proper coordination and training of both forward air controllers and pilots. This division has, at all times, complied with orders issued by the Commanding General, 8th Army, which were published in November 1951, and on many occasions where close air support was desirable, requests were not submitted because they were not one hundred per cent in conformity with existing policies. The policy that I speak of is that aircraft will be available for close air support only to attack targets of opportunity which cannot be effectively engaged by artillery, such as troops in the open and definitely located artillery or tanks.

In all fairness to the Commanding General, 5th Air Force, I wish to bring to the attention of the Commander-in-Chief that, as of two weeks ago last Saturday, the Commanding General, 1st Marine Air Wing, obtained the approval of employing three divisions (four planes per division) daily over the 1st Marine Division sector for a period of thirty working days. This was done in order that the pilots and forward air controllers would once again become proficient in this most difficult and important technique of attack. While this token offering is appreciated, it is definitely not sufficient for this division, or, in my opinion, what is required for any other division on the 8th Army front. It is my earnest recommendation that the 1st Marine Air Wing be relieved of all deep support missions and this highly trained unit be assigned the mission of furnishing close air support across the 8th Army front. During the period 21 May to 1 June, 12 days, the First Wing flew 131 close support sorties. During this period the following damage was inflicted on the enemy:

66 bunkers destroyed, 49 personnel shelters, 6 observation posts, 53 counted killed in action, 27 mortar positions, one command post, 10 supply shelters, 5 artillery positions, 2 mortars, 4 artillery pieces and numerous other smaller installations, plus 7 secondary explosions that were observed.

This division is fortunate in having a squadron of large helicopters temporarily attached. Headquarters Marine Corps sent this squadron to the Division for the purpose of developing helicopter tactics. Since its arrival, the squadron has been employed in two different operations in the presence of the enemy. Both proved highly successful. In addition, on the eastern sector, front line battalions were supplied and rotated by these helicopters. Since arrival on this coast, the Marine Reserve Battalion and the Korean Marine Battalion on KIMPO were rotated by the use of helicopters and one battalion of the Division Reserve was moved across the IMJIN River. It is contemplated utilizing the squadron during amphibious training. They will move one company from the CVE to the beach.

While the defensive attitude dictated by the situation is foreign to this division, we are maintaining the offensive spirit by taking as much offensive action as permissible. We have control of the tactical situation and we expect to retain it.

Our supply plan is simple and flexible. In general, supplies arrive at the division railhead at MUNSAN-NI or ASCOM CITY where distribution to the unit is made by utilizing the organic means of the division. In addition to supporting a reinforced Marine division, we are also responsible for the support of the First Korean Regiment, totalling 192 officers and 4,274 enlisted, and some 7,309 U.S. Army and Korean units; making a total of 38,986 individuals. This support does not mean that we furnish them with all classes of supply. There are certain units that only receive class one, others one and three, still others one, three and five.

We maintain 110 miles of road in this sector, plus 40 miles of the KIMPO Peninsula. Due to the scarcity of lumber for engineering missions, we are now operating a logging camp in rear of the First ROK Division. All organization and field maintenance is performed on vehicles in the Division by organic maintenance units. Laundry, bath, shoe repair, textiles, typewriter repair facilities and fresh bread are handled by our Service Battalion. It is therefore quite obvious that we relieve, and reduce to the minimum, the cost on army service units not so completely equipped. However, the Army has been most helpful when our facilities were taxed to the maximum.

This Division has a Medical Battalion consisting of a Headquarters Company, three Medical Companies and a Clearance Company. Our wounded and sick are usually evacuated, either by rail or helicopter, to the Naval Hospital Ship off INCHON. This procedure reduces the burden on MASH Hospitals.

In summation, I think it is safe to say that the morale of the First Division is excellent. The 1st Marine Division is ready and willing to move forward on order. We have written orders to defend LINE JAMESTOWN and it will be defended. We would likewise be happy to have the enemy attack down the SAMI-CHON Valley. That historical corridor is closed to Chinese traffic.

If there are any questions, I would be very glad to attempt to answer them. If, however, I am unable to do so, I am sure that members of my staff will be glad to take over.
